CITY OF LONDON ELECTION.

Polling on Friday, 28th February,
From 9 a.m. till 5 p.m.

C. S. HYMAN

The People's Candidate.

A CHANGE NEEDED.

There is not a property-holder in this city who does not know that a change of some kind is wanted. He knows that property is not saleable at anything like what it should be. That it is hard to sell at all save in the center of the city.

What we want is increase in population and increase in factories. Our citizens know now by the census returns that the population of the States about us is increasing threefold as fast as ours. They know, too, that they are constantly increasing their output of manufactured goods and employing more labor. They see that capital and population both seek the larger market and will always seek it.

Instead of building up our own country we have sent 1,000,000 of our people to the Republic in ten years. Let into the market of the continent, there would be no choice as between us and the States save as our natural advantages would give us the preference.

We are on the highway from the East to the West. Three trunk lines of railway pass our doors. Hardly any place has a better position to engage in trade with the neighboring country than London. The local center cannot change. Our city cannot hope to grow much more unless we can extend its markets.

It could have shoe factories to compete with Rochester if it had the same markets. It would not be nearly as hard competing with the higher labor of Rochester as now with the cheaper labor of Quebec. There were four men employed in shoe manufacturing here ten years ago for one now.

There were ten men employed in agricultural implement factories here ten years ago for one now.

In the factories we have, the wages are necessarily at the lowest point because competition is so restricted a market and cost of selling and distribution leave poor margins for high wages.

Mechanics, thinking, reading men, are seeing for themselves that the standard of their wages must at once rise to that of the States if we had freedom of trade with them.

And they know, notwithstanding the Free Press, that the United States standard is higher.

London is all right in her situation and would be as prosperous as she is beautiful and desirable to live in.

She would grow as do Rochester on the East or Grand Rapids on the West, if she had the same scope.

Neither of these cities has any advantage in situation over London, and yet in 1880 the population of Grand Rapids was 32,016; in 1890 it had increased to 64,149; while the population of Rochester in 1880 was 38,366; in 1890 it had increased to 133,327.

AT SIXES AND SEVENS.

President Fitzgerald, of the Conservative Association, was reported yesterday in the Free Press as having said on Saturday evening in the Conservative rooms:

"I am often asked why we did not disqualify Mr. Hyman. I will tell you. MR. OSLER TOLD US HE COULD DISQUALIFY OUR OPPONENT WITHOUT DIFFICULTY."

The Free Press says editorially in the same paper:

"It is argued that there should be sympathy for Mr. Hyman because he was unseated for any act of his own. OF COURSE HE WAS. HAD ONE TITHE OF THE ACTS COMMITTED IN HIS INTEREST BEEN DONE BY HIMSELF HE WOULD HAVE BEEN NOT ONLY UNSEATED, BUT DISQUALIFIED. Nobody knows this better than the Grit candidate himself, and HE WAS SHREWD ENOUGH TO ABSTAIN FROM ANY PERSONAL CORRUPTION."

We would suggest that the Conservative president and the Free Press editor get together, and select which story they mean to hang by. It matters little to the public, so long as there is some consistency in their yarns. As it is they seem to be about as muddled in their assertions as is Mr. Carling's Secretary, who went down to a respected minister of the Gospel on Sunday evening and grossly libeled him and another leading citizen on Monday. This system of warfare illustrates the desperation of Mr. Carling's managers most powerfully. If they had a good case, they would not indulge in so many misrepresentations.

THE HOLLOWNESS OF A CRY.

In their clubs and in private conversation, the Conservative high tax advocates admit that they are only shamming when they allege that one-half or more of the people of London, one-half or more of the people of Canada, are disloyal annexationists.

They say, with a candor that demonstrates the unscrupulous character of their spokesmen:

"We know that you Liberals are just as loyal as we are. We know that you love our institutions and in private and in public life, in church, in market, in business life, you are thorough Canadians. But we were short of a cry, and we had to have one. If we can impose upon the ignorant or easily-impressed, and get their votes, we are so much ahead. We had to do something to try to get ahead of the Liberals, who are carrying all before them."

Such is the humiliating confession that these monopolists make. It is a dastardly scheme of the discredited combines, but we much mistake the citizens of London and the people of Canada if they will fall into the spider's web so deftly provided for them by the high tax defenders.

THE SUNDAY CANVASSING.

Our city contemporary has been made to take back every one of its slanders regarding prominent Liberal citizens who, it stated, had canvassed voters on Sunday. We publish in another column a specimen letter, and here is another which appears in the Free Press to-day:

"LONDON, Ont., Feb. 22, 1892.
"Dear Sir,—In your issue of this morning's Free Press you charge me with electioneering on Sunday, the 21st of February, in the Fourth Ward."

"In refutation of this statement I desire to say that I was no further north in the city on the Sunday in question than my own home, situated on Albert street, and your informant was in error if he makes any other statement."

"Further, I never canvassed a vote in that ward in or out of any previous election. By inserting the above you will oblige, yours truly, HUGH McKAY."

What was the object for giving circulation to all these misrepresentations? It may be gathered in great measure by reciting the experience of Mr. Robert A. Tupper, of Talbot street, who called at the Advancement office last night and said: "I have seen a good deal about Sunday canvassing, and I think it due to the reputation of my friends to tell who was canvassing in my neighborhood. Mr. Henry Macklin, a well-known Conservative, came to my house on Sunday night and asked me for my vote for Mr. Carling. He said he had been sent by Dr. Roome. This is the first time anyone has canvassed me on Sunday, and I hope it will be the last."

Just as we had expected, the untruthful statements circulated by the Free Press about leading citizens who are friends of Mr. Hyman were set on foot to cover up the tracks of Mr. Carling's emissaries.

THE COAL TAX.

The duty of 60 cents per ton levied upon bituminous coal by the tariff is a serious burden upon the industries of Ontario. Of the 1,664,086 tons of bituminous coal imported into the Dominion last year no less than 1,562,518 tons came into Ontario.

Of the $539,209 paid in coal duties last year, $396,220 was paid by this Province. Every working man, who wishes to improve his position, will vote against Mr. Carling, who supports the coal tax, the iron tax, the cotton tax, the sugar tax and all the impositions that tend to make the lot of the worker a hard one.

GENERAL MANAGER SERGEANT'S SWORN TESTIMONY.

In the trial at Stratford last November General Manager Sergeant, of the Grand Trunk Railway, deposed as follows:

"I had taken no interest whatever in the political situation, but when I came to assume the office of general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway I found that it was necessary for me to consider the political situation, that is the opinions of the Conservative or Liberal party, and to see if their opinions would react on the prosperity of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway. I came to the conclusion that the general policy which was advocated by the Reform party, that is the policy of doing away with as much taxation as possible and relieving the industries of the country from as much impost as it was practicable to do, having regard to the fiscal requirements of the country, was more in accord with my views, that it was more what the Grand Trunk Railway required, that the policy of protection, which was being pursued by the other side, and I therefore lent my sympathies, I say frankly, to the general policy which has been announced by the Reform party."

General Manager Sergeant further said: "I have not hesitated to tell everybody, the moment I made up my mind on the point, that in my judgment and in the judgment of 11,000 shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway, the policy of the Conservative party has been to the detriment of the Grand Trunk, and naturally the opposite policy would be to its advantage. That is perfectly well known, and I have always discussed matters in that way with everybody."

About the funniest feature of the by-elections is the London Free Press' attack on Mr. Hyman's temperance record. The Free Press is the organ of Brewer Carling. —[Hamilton Times.]

There has really been more laughing about this branch of the campaign than about any other. Even Mr. Carling himself hides his sides when he thinks of the idea of his being a temperance advocate, so long as he has $100,000 invested in the business and he and his family are coining money out of it.

LOYAL TO LONDON.

Stirring Appeal From a Former Young Londoner.

Mr. John S. Winnett on the Benefits of Unrestricted Reciprocity.

Canadian boys are made of the right stuff. They seem to do well wherever they go.

Young Londoners are no exception to the rule. In recent years they have crossed the border by the thousand. They were loyal to Canada and her institutions, but the restrictions on international trade proved so great that they were compelled to leave for the States, and add strength and stability to the neighboring nation. Among the army of young Londoners who have gone forth, and have reflected credit on their native city, is Mr. John S. Winnett, formerly of the G. T. R. here, and till lately general agent of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City Railway Company, Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. Winnett is a son of the late Thomas Winnett, market clerk in this city, and though his home and interests are in the neighboring country, as is the home and interests of nearly 1,500,000 of the Canadian people, he still takes a lively concern in the welfare of the Forest City. Writing to Mr. Harry Ryan, of the Clarence House in this city, on the eve of this general election, Mr. Winnett said:

"I see you are going to have an election, and it seems to be a question of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States. I wish I could go and vote for the re-annexation of Canada. Every young man should vote for the party that he is sure will act promptly."

"I never voted Grit in my life, but had I vote there now you can bet your last dollar that is the way my vote would be put in. No manufacturer in Canada need be afraid of any here, and you can rest assured they are not."

"While on and till the election is over send me a paper once in a while. Yours truly, JOHN S. WINNETT."

It is evident that this progressive young Londoner is not constituted of the material that makes up the trade restrictionist apologists for the Canadian combines. He has learned by experience that Canadians can hold their own in a fair field.

The Pittsburg Post of the 12th inst., in noting a further promotion for this enterprising young man, says:

"J. S. Winnett, general agent of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City (the Maple Leaf route), with headquarters in this city, has been appointed assistant general freight agent of that line, with headquarters at Des Moines, Ia., the appointment to take effect March 1. The appointment was made direct by John M. Egan, of St. Paul, Minn., the president and general manager of the road, and is all the more complimentary to Mr. Winnett, owing to the fact of President Egan's well known civil service views in the management of the Maple Leaf, he advancing faithful and efficient employees purely on the merit system. Mr. Winnett will have charge of the freight interests in one of the most important divisions of the road, embracing the territory between the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers and comprising 350 miles of track."

And yet they argue that our young men cannot hold their own in a fair field!

Mr. Carling is responsible for the doings of his secretary, Mr. Payne. This young man, on Sunday evening last, actually went to the communion table of a city church, on his own confession, to entrap the preacher into a political discussion which he hoped to warp to his master's advantage. That he did. Worse than that, he sticks by the slander, and Mr. Carling has not a word to say in depreciation of the conduct.

THE TWO MEN.

The organ of the Carling-Meredith family compact is very bitter this morning. Its imaginary conversations must be overheard in the asylum grounds. No sane man would talk such rubbish as they in-flict upon the readers of those imaginary talks.

The Free Press seems to think Mr. Carling owns the city, and that to oppose him is criminal. Mr. Carling has had the best of it with the city—$8,000 a year, passes, perquisites, &c. He tried to sell his farm for $70,000 to the city for fair grounds, and succeeded in unloading it to the military school for $40,000—property he could not have sold for $15,000.

Talk about Mr. Hyman not having a policy and not explaining it for himself. Can anyone listen to the two men and then compare them in the same breath?

Mr. Hyman is now a first-class speaker and can hold his own with the best of them.

Mr. Carling cannot speak any better now than at first, and the master, as everyone knows, is of the weakest.

What has the policy of high taxation done for the molders of Hamilton? Is it $138 a day the year round, for work at once skilled and heavy, an adequate return? Let workmen themselves give the answer!

A PASTOR CALUMNIATED.

In Monday's issue of our local contemporary, one of Mr. Carling's secretaries, Mr. Payne, brought up from Ottawa to run the campaign, produced what he seems to have regarded as a stunning sensation.

It was to the effect that the name of the Rev. T. Clement Oliver, the esteemed pastor of the British Methodist Episcopal Church (colored), of this city, had by perjury and forgery been placed on Mr. Hyman's nomination paper.

We do not exactly see how the fact, if it were a fact, was likely to help the cause of Mr. Carling. With so many hundreds of names to choose from, the insertion of one name more or less could not possibly have been considered by Mr. Hyman's agents worth going into wrong-doing about.

However, Mr. Carling's political manager and the Free Press thought they knew better, and so the paltry allegation was brought out with as much importance as if it had been one of Mr. Carling's State papers.

But the Rev. T. Clement Oliver did not like such liberties to be taken with his good name, and promptly made a sworn attestation to the untruthfulness of every statement made by Mr. Payne.

This statement of the Rev. Mr. Oliver's was supported by the sworn testimony of Mr. John Stevenson, one of Rev. Mr. Oliver's stewards.

The Free Press, in awkwardly trying to bolster up its unfortunate position, now alludes to the fact that—

"His church people are of the red necktie persuasion by a considerable majority."

But is the fact that a majority of the Rev. Mr. Oliver's congregation are supporters of Mr. Hyman, a reason why the members of the congregation should have their respected pastor pursued with insult and calumny?

The colored electors of London remember that during the American civil war newspapers like the London Advertiser and Toronto Globe stood up every time for the colored people of the South, while every leading newspaper from Halifax to Detroit took the side of the slave-holding Confederacy.

Our esteemed contemporary has started the roach-bait industry rather earlier than usual this campaign. And probably there may be more to follow. It may sound like an hard saying, but the citizens are now justified in taking any statement made by our esteemed contemporary until after the 28th inst. with a grain of allowance.

THE BALLOT SECRET.

Our esteemed local contemporary says the ballot on Friday will be perfectly secret.

We say so, too.

There can be no doubt that the ballot is entirely secret.

One can understand that some persons, ordinarily voting on the Conservative side, yet wishing to allow Mr. Hyman to serve out the term in Parliament to which he was fairly elected, would prefer to deposit a quiet ballot for Mr. Hyman and say nothing about it.

The ballot is perfectly secret.

Our esteemed contemporary is quite right on that point.

An advocate of Mr. Carling says he ought to be elected "because of the danger that exists of Canadian cattle being again introduced into England." We do not quite catch the connection. Is there no writing paper, no sealing wax, in Mr. Carling's desk in the Senate Chamber, that he cannot write from there as well as from a desk in the Commons?

THE BEST MARKET FOR HORSES.

Despite the heavy duty imposed by the McKinley bill the London market isn't in it with the New York one, and the man here who brings a few good quality horses and ships them to England instead of across the border will find out his mistake in very rapid order. In the first place the shipment to England is a much more costly as well as risky one, and the same quality horse, that will fetch $200 in London will do a good deal better in the New York market. The talk about supplying cavalry horses to the English Government sounds all very well on paper, but there is nothing in it for the Canadian breeder or dealer, their buyers are bound by a cast iron rule not to pay more than about $180 for the best horse brought before them, and then he must be absolutely free from the slightest blemish. In fact a horse that is good enough to pass their inspection is worth 50 per cent. more money for the American market.—[Canadian Sportsman.]

Then what a glorious thing it would be for the Canadian farmer had he free access to the American market. He would still have English market anyway.

FAIR PLAY IS A JEWEL.

By voting for Mr. Hyman you simply extend to a young townsman the British Fair Play of allowing him to fill out the Parliamentary term for which he was fairly elected. By voting for Mr. Hyman you do not thereby deprive Mr. Carling of a seat in Parliament, as Mr. Carling will be reappointed to the Senate immediately after Mr. Hyman's election on the 28th.

In to-day's issue Mr. Charles Hutchinson writes a farewell letter to the ADVERTISER. Only on condition that it is not the first of a series of "farewells," after the manner of Mrs. Scott-Sidons, do we break through the rule laid down.

MR. HYMAN'S RE-ELECTION ASSURED BEYOND DOUBT.

The result of the contest in this city is not in doubt.

Money cannot buy a majority against London's already once chosen representative for this Parliament.

Influences have been worked in other constituencies that cannot and will not be effectual here.

Mr. Hyman's committees are not making mistakes. They are depending only upon what is assured and certain. Mr. Hyman's re-election by an increased majority is assured, and it will not be a surprise if that majority is overwhelming.

The three lawyers at Mr. Carling's Fourth Ward meeting each started out to criticize Mr. Gibbons' pamphlet, and each dropped the subject quickly. They could not contradict a figure nor combat a conclusion. They could sneer and cavil, but they could not answer by argument. If some of them are so clever, would they kindly put their criticisms in writing that the public might judge?

THE ESCAPED BOODLERS.

The Conservatives said, when corruption was found to exist at Ottawa, "Let every boodler be prosecuted."—[E. Meredith at the fourth ward meeting.]

Tetu, nephew of Sir Adolphe Caron, a forger and a thief, an employee in Mr. Carling's department, was simply dismissed from office. If he had been a "common letter carrier," instead of a member of "one of the best families in Quebec," as was the excuse made by Mr. Carling's deputy, Tetu would have been sent into retirement for five years.

"Let every boodler be prosecuted."

Mr. Cochrane, M.P., hoodled in offices. He sold offices in his county at $200 and $300 an office, and pocketed the money for party expenses. He was whitewashed by Mr. Carling and his friends.

"Let every boodler be prosecuted."

Mr. Lister, M.P., in his place in Parliament, made the most serious charges against Mr. Haggart in connection with the section B scandal that, once opened up, would show how utterly corrupt were the manipulations of that great public work.

At the command of Mr. Carling's friends, the investigation was buried, and it remains buried till this day.

"Let every boodler be prosecuted."

Sir Adolphe Caron is proved to have received large sums of money from the receipts from contract boodling. Was he "prosecuted?" By no means; he got a promotion at the hands of Mr. Abbott.

No phrase could be more meaningless, in the mouths of men who endorse these features of justice, than "Let every boodler be prosecuted." The specimen cases we have given is an all-sufficient answer to the fourth ward orator.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S VIEW.

Business men irrespective of politics complain of the injury this prolonged political contest has done in London. They say their own minds and those of their employees have been diverted, and that collections have been difficult. For all this unnecessary loss and derangement of business at a time when business was none too good, Mr. Carling is largely responsible personally. Here was a man occupying a life position in the Senate, with $1,000 a year, and nothing to do—so consumed by the lust of a monopolizing spirit that he could not bear to see any portion of political honor enjoyed by another. And so the business of the city has had to suffer.

REPEAL THE ACT.

(Toronto Telegram, Independent Conservative.)

The charge that unfairness is shown in the making up of the Federal voters' lists is doubtless well founded. It would be a miracle, indeed, if there were not grounds for the allegations. The officers who prepare these lists are the creatures of the Dominion Government, and it is the most natural thing in the world that they should, perhaps unconsciously, favor the power that gave them official life.

The remedy for the evil complained of need not necessarily involve a change of government. If the Liberals were in power, and the preparation of the lists still in the hands of the appointees of Government the unfairness would be just as great as it is now, only another party would get the benefit of it. What is wanted is a return to the old system of Provincial lists for Dominion elections. Nothing could be fairer than the manner in which these were made up in this Province, at all events prior to the passing of the Federal Franchise Act. The work was then in the hands of municipal officers, and it was impossible, therefore, that the partisans of either faction could control it, since the same party was not in power in every municipality.

The Dominion Franchise Act should be repealed; first, because it involves a needless expense of half a million every time it is put in operation, and secondly because it gives undue advantage to the party in power.

A MANLY APPEAL.

Mr. Hyman's Straightforward Statement to the Electors.

How He Fought and How He Won the Election.

Consider for one minute the position of this campaign in London. In 1887, I had the honor to contest this constituency with Mr. Carling. You will agree with me that we fought a fair and plucky fight. (Cheers.) But the fortunes of war were against us. We were defeated by the narrow majority of 37 votes. The committees, almost to a man, came to me, telling me of things that had been done in the campaign by our opponents that were against the law, and they strongly urged that a protest should be entered. Standing almost alone I said "No." I considered that my opponent had personally conducted a fair fight. I said that I did not desire, under the circumstances, to inflict another campaign on the city, and I told my friends to wait. We did not go around the city crying and howling because we had lost the election. We took the position of the schoolboy who got licked by the boy who was bigger than him, and who waited, without flinching, till he was big enough to tackle his antagonist, and then had a crack at him. (Loud laughter and cheers.) We were licked by a bigger fellow, and we waited, and when the fight came we thrashed him. (Loud cheers.)

What has been the position of affairs from that day? I say, without fear of contradiction, that a section of our opponents have tried, by fair and unfair means, to injure our standing, so honorably attained. (Cries of "Shame on them!") We had the Revising Officer's Court. I ask you if such an institution as it has proved to be should exist in any free land? (Cries of "No.") You had experiences of it, many of you, as I had, and you know its operations. The right to cast his vote in the way he deems best for his country, and that without inquisitorial proceedings into his private affairs, is a right which every Canadian freeman, with due respect for British fair play, should be given. (Cheers, again and again renewed.) Then we had the trial. But previous to the trial we had served upon us a voluminous document filled with charges made against me and against every prominent supporter that I have. Charges were made against ministers of the Gospel—charges were made against large numbers of us of every conceivable race and nationality. We had lawyers go around the city or London saying they would not only assist us and disgrace us, but that they would disqualify me and drive me from public life. (Cries of "Shame!") Aye, and by this means they succeeded in raising the money necessary to carry on the protest. And what did they make out of it? After days of investigation by the illegal act of one man we consented to let the seat be vacated. (Cheers.) Personally, sir, I can assure you that I did not have knowledge of one single word which would cause us to forfeit the seat, and I can tell you more than that; under the law as now amended, I would not now be forced to appear before you and ask you to continue your confidence in me. (Cheers.) But there is another respect in which, though I know we are marching on to victory—(cheers)—I consider the fight is not a fair one. I am not on fair grounds with my opponent. He was rejected by the people on March 5 last. Did he then retire into private life, as I would have to retire if I were defeated? No. He was not sooner rejected than he was given a life position in another House, out of which he comes to attack us. Is there anything fair about that? If I am beaten I must retire into private life. If he is beaten, he simply goes back to his refuge. (Cheers.) What kind of a method of carrying on responsible government, you Canadian freemen, with British blood in your veins? (Cries of "disapproval.") Is that your idea of a fair fight? (Loud cries of "No, no.") In 1891 I was elected fairly. From election day to the present I have tried to do all in my power for my native city and for this country of vast possibilities. My opponents have not, and do not now, charge one single word against me. Why should the confidence of my fellow-citizens be withdrawn now? (Loud and long-continued cheering.)—(Mr. Hyman at the great mass meeting in the Grand Opera House.)

Mr. Brownson was a native of Vermont, where he was born in 1820, remaining in the province until he was engaged in business, having started the first foundry, which he managed until it was destroyed by fire in 1860. In 1852 he started the first weekly paper, and continued its publication for the next ten years. He was a strong supporter of free schools. For thirteen years he was a member of the municipal council, being reeve of Moulton and Sherbrooke for a number of years; was 33 years a justice of the peace; and was one of the first directors and promoters of the Buffalo and Goderich Railway. In 1874 he was appointed collector of customs.

The St. Clair Tunnel Company has purchased considerable land immediately adjacent to the site of the present international tunnel, and it is said, will begin operations for the construction of another tunnel inside of 60 days. The contemplated underground passage will be similar to the present one, without the deep excavations at either of the approaches. It is plainly evident that the boring can be more rapidly accomplished and with less expenditure of money than has marked their previous undertaking. The new tunnel will be used for the westward traffic, while the old will be utilized for eastward business. It is anticipated that the new passage will be completed inside of twelve months. The new tunnel will be located 150 feet north of the present one.

SIMCOE.
Harry Jennings, of Penetanguishene, has absconded, and is believed to be in Cincinnati. The Herald says: "The insurance inspector and town auditors are hard at work trying to discover the extent of his defalcations, embezzlements and thefts. The Division Court officers are in a terrible state, and it will take some time to find out how far he has gone into moneys belonging to suitors. The express and telephone companies each lose $200 or thereabouts. Of private creditors he has a legion; but they put the exorbitant amount on the matter, as they know they will never get a cent." He was treasurer for eleven local organizations and agent for fifteen separate companies for whom moneys were passing through his hands.

Thomas Williamson, who is wanted in Canada for forgery, and who has been arrested several times and released on various legal quibbles, has been located at Reno, Nevada. He speculated, lost the money of the depositors, and finally, accumulating about $100,000 by forgery, he fled to the United States in October, 1890. He was traced and arrested near Virginia City, Nev., but crawled out through a hole in the extradition papers and got away. Other arrests in California and Nevada have since been unsuccessful. Once, when a sheriff captured the spiritual financier at a ranch in Nevada, the prisoner excused himself to change his clothes, jumped out of a window and took to the woods. Chief Rogers carries extradition papers with him, and hopes to get Williamson across the line into Canada.

The secretary was instructed to co-operate with the Sheep Breeders' Association, the Swine Breeders' Association, the Poultry Association, and other kindred associations, with a view to securing their cooperation at the Christmas fair in December next. Professor Shaw, O.A.C., and John I. Hobson were appointed a committee to confer with the Board of the Agricultural and Arts' Association of Ontario with a view to securing their co-operation and assistance in the fair. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Jas. Miller; first vice-president, H. Wright; second vice-president, Professor Shaw; secretary-treasurer, John McCordingle.

The town council of Harrison have not held a session this year owing to non-attendance.

WENTWORTH.

A number of the Wentworth county councilors have petitioned the Minister of Justice not to appoint another county judge, as one is quite sufficient in their opinion.

A private dispatch was received from Buffalo on Monday announcing the death of Edward Mitchell, one of Hamilton's most prominent and most popular citizens. He was for many years manager at Hamilton for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and on account of declining health he was obliged to decline the position of general manager which the directors of that concern offered him. He was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity.

Whatever there be between the two nations to forget and forgive is forgotten and forgiven. If the two peoples which are one be true to their duty, who can doubt that the destinies of the world are in their hands? Let America and England march in the van of freedom and progress, showing the world not only a magnificent spectacle of human happiness, but a still more magnificent spectacle of two peoples united, loving righteousness and hating iniquity, inflexibly faithful to the principles of eternal justice, which are the unchanging law of God.—(Archdeacon Farrar, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Eng.)

EPHRAIM'S COCAINE-GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws governing the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. E. has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such a beverage that a constitution may be gradually built up, until strong enough to resist every attack of indigestion. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floated around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished system. A Desperate Dodge.

Rev. T. C. Oliver Makes a Sworn Declaration.

How an Employee of Mr. Carling Misrepresented and Traduced Him.

Rev. T. Clement Oliver has made the following declaration, sworn to before R.
 K. Cowan, barrister. Its purpose will show
 the election methods adopted by a Government employee to influence the colored vote.
 People may draw their own inferences:

In the matter of certain statements published in the London Free Press in its
 issue of Feb. 22, 1892.
 I, Thomas Clement Oliver, of the city of London, in the county of Middlesex,
 minister of the Gospel, do solemnly declare:

I have read or heard read the items in this morning's Free Press purporting to be an interview between a Free Press reporter
 and myself, alleged to have taken place
 after my sermon in the Bethaniam Church
 on Sunday evening and also comments on my sermon.

I was interviewed by a person whose name I believe to be J. L. Payne. After my sermon he intimated to me that I had evidently made up my mind which I did not know either of the candidate. I did not say that I was a Carling man, as alleged.

He asked me how my name came on Mr.
 Hyman's nomination paper. In answer to which I stated that two gentlemen came to my house, and after speaking with them
 and reading over the paper, and one of them showing me the voters' list on which
 my name was as a voter, I signed my name.

The gentlemen who presented the nomination paper to me were Charles W. Andrus and William Williams, Junr.
 I never, therefore, in any way intimated
 that I had not signed the nomination paper
 or that some one had put my name there,
 and the portions of the interview stating that I was a Carling man, or that I had not signed the nomination paper are utterly false.

John Stevenson, one of my stewards, was present when the interview lasted, and I believe heard all that took place.
 My intention in preaching the sermon
 was to prevent my people from descending
 to the degrading state of being bought, and also to give the lie to the statements that had been published to the effect that their votes had been purchased at the last election.

I take no particular interest in politics,
 but I must advocate the man who makes leather in preference to the man who makes beer, and I hope that my flock will do likewise.

And I make this solemn declaration, con-
 scientiously believing the same to be true;
 and by virtue of the act respecting extra-
 judicial oaths.
 Declared before me at the city of London,
 in the county of Middlesex, this 22nd
 day of February, A.D. 1892.

R. K. COWAN, a Commissioner.

In the matter of certain statements published in the London Free Press in its
 issue of 22nd February.
 I, John Stevenson, of the city of London,
 in the county of Middlesex, laborer, do solemnly declare that I was present at the Bethaniam Church in this city on Sunday evening, the 21st instant, and was within three feet of the said parties when the interview between the Rev. T. C. Oliver and J. L. Payne took place, and heard all that was said by them. I have read the report of such interview, published in the Free Press of this morning,
 and I have heard read the declaration of the Rev. T. C. Oliver this day made.

The said declaration is true, and the said reported interview is utterly false in stating that the Rev. T. C. Oliver had stated that he was "a Carling man," or that "he had not signed Mr. Hyman's nomination paper."

And I make this solemn declaration con-
 scientiously believing the same to be true
 and by virtue of the act respecting extra-
 judicial oaths.
 Declared before me at the city of London,
 in the county of Middlesex, this 22nd
 day of February, A.D. 1892.

R. K. COWAN, a Commissioner.

The Toronto Telegram pertinently remarks: "Solely indeed does the London Free Press urge the temperance people to smite down Hyman and boost up a state-
 man whose name is writ large on a million
 gale ale and lager beer bottles."

Shattered Ships.

A Long Catalogue of Marine

Mishaps.

Probable Loss of a Crew Numbering
 Twenty-six Men.

The Steamer Kaiser Wilhelm Ashore—
 Results of the Gale on the British Coast.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—It is now believed that the steamer which was wrecked yesterday forenoon off Penzance was the Fratello
Fabris, as some wreckage with that name upon it has been washed ashore. It is thought probable that the entire crew of 26 men were drowned.

THE KAISER WILHELM ASHORE.
 A dispatch from Bremen says that the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser
Wilhelm is ashore in the Scheldt. The Kaiser Wilhelm is now engaged in the Antwerp service of the North German Lloyd. She sails between Bremen and Australia.

INCREASING LIST OF CASUALTIES.
 The list of maritime casualties due to the fierce gales which have swept over the coast of Great Britain continues to increase.
 Among the wrecks is the Norwegian timber
 bark Drowning Sophie, which went ashore
 at Galleyhead, a promontory of Ireland, in the county of Cork. Her crew of eleven men were saved.

A large steamer bound from Glasgow for South Africa is stranded at Merry's Castle, county of Wexford. She got off her course
 during the blinding storm that prevailed
 last night, and went ashore at the height of the storm. A rocket was accordingly shot across the steamer, and the crew were signalled after some difficulty and the captain and all the crew of the steamer were safely landed, not much the worse for their experience.

The yacht Surprise has been wrecked at Donaghadee, county Down.

The schooner Jane and Alice foundered
 off Dunagarry, county Wexford. Her crew were rescued.

A ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 22.—The schooner
Lord Devon at St. John, Nfld., from Fire-
 passy, was struck by a severe gale off Cape Race. The bulwarks were smashed away
 for a distance of about 25 feet on either
 quarter, all the deck fittings being washed away. The mate and captain were struck by one sea and washed overboard, the former being severely injured. They were taken on board in a condition of complete exhaustion.

During the storm another schooner was seen with her bows and fore rigging carried away, and otherwise in a badly damaged condition.

THE PENZANCE WRECK.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Later information
 from Penzance shows that the steamer lost
 off that port was the Violante (British), 500
 tons, bound from Rotterdam for Liverpool.
 The body of a man has been thrown ashore by the sea at Penzance. It is supposed he belonged to the lost steamer.

Terrible weather prevailed in St. George's channel last night.

The French steamer Trigane foundered
 off the Scilly islands and three of her crew
 were drowned.

SEVEN MEN DROWNED.
 A fishing mail boat stranded at Queensborough during a heavy fog last night. Her signals of distress were heard at Sheerness, and the British warship Scout went out in search of the vessel.
 She was sighted at the place where the
 signals were heard the vessel had disappeared.

A dispatch from Gibraltar states that during the storm the Italian bark Nina Schiraffi went ashore at Cape Spartel and was wrecked. Seven of her crew were drowned.

The British steamer St. Panoras, from New York, which arrived at Liverpool yesterday had on board the crew of the schooner Petrel. It is supposed the Petrel's crew had been drowned.

Actor Curtis' Trial Goes Over.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—The trial of
 M. B. Curtis, charged with the murder of Officer Grant, has been postponed until tomorrow, when arguments will be presented.

Brigham Young's Statue.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Feb. 22.—The Brigham
 Young Memorial Association has let the contract to sculptor Dooling, for a statue of the Mormon leader, to be erected at the southeast corner of Temple Block, at a cost of $50,000.

Unheaval in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 22.—One-third
 the area of this State is underlain with coal. In several districts deposits have been on fire for years. There are cases where the conditions have been volcanic on account of the concentration of gas in the earth. One of these disturbances has occurred on the salt water cattle range, 250 miles west of Cheyenne. More than 100 acres of surface was disturbed, and the report was heard for 30 miles. Coal and dirt was thrown into the air a great distance, and the existence of this fire has been known for twelve years.

Claim for $18,000 Against the Government.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—A son of the late Captain Allan, owner of the United States
 ship Brigwater, called on Sir John Thompson on Saturday, in reference to his claim for $18,000, which in his lifetime
 Captain Allan made for demurrage. After being repaired at Shelburne, N. S., the Brigwater was seized for customs dues
 and demurrage, was claimed for this.
 Twelve months after Captain Allan's
 death the claim was made for the vessel and his crew were lost at sea. The Government still recommend action to recover in the Exchequer Court.

Discovered Just in Time.

HAMILTON, Feb. 22.—It was noticed by the neighbors and passers-by that Mr.
 Thos. Appleton, No. 109 James street
 north, did not open up his shop this morning. It was known that the family were at home last night, and nobody had seen them go away this morning. Detective
 Doyle forced his way into the premises,
 and found the family all in bed,
 suffering from asphyxiation. The father and mother in one room, and four children in other rooms, were in a dazed condition and it was with difficulty they were aroused. The detective summoned
 Dr. Cockburn, who promptly responded and administered proper restoratives. Gas
 had escaped from the furnace and range,
 and was still escaping. They were not able
 this afternoon to explain in what position
 they had left the heaters. A short time longer would have been fatal. The family
 must have been breathing the obnoxious
 atmosphere for at least ten hours.

 Britain."—[Hon. Alex. Mackenzie.]

A London Sensation!

Prominent Men Charged with

Conspiracy to Defraud.

The French Cabinet Crisis Shows No
 Sign of Abatement—Remarkable Phenomenon in Queenstown Harbor.

Washington's Birthday.
 LONDON, Feb. 22.—Washington's birthday was celebrated by the American colony
 here in a quiet but hearty manner.

The French Cabinet Crisis.
 PARIS, Feb. 22.—The Cabinet crisis and
 the excited feelings growing out of it show
 no signs of abatement. It is rumored that the Chamber will be dissolved.

Charged with Conspiracy.
 LONDON, Feb. 22.—At the instance of the Government a summons has been issued for the appearance in court of Mr. Horatio Bottomly, Sir Henry Isaacs, ex-Lord
 Mayor of London, Mr. Joseph Isaacs, a brother of Sir Henry Isaacs, and Mr.
 Charles Dolman, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the Hansard Union
 out of the sum of $150,000.

A Peer in Prison.
 LONDON, Feb. 22.—Mendoza Cortez,
 president of the Lusitan Bank and a peer of the realm, who was arrested
 recently was yesterday examined for three hours by the President of the House of Peers, and afterward taken to prison. His arrest was due to his inability to furnish guarantees to the amount of $225,000 lacking in the accounts of the bank.

British Parliament.
 LONDON, Feb. 22.—Mr. Jackson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, introduced the Irish
 education bill in the House of Commons this evening. The Hon. Henry Chaplin introduced an agricultural holdings
 bill and explained its provisions. It aimed,
 he said, at a wider distribution of land
 among the people, to recreate or augment
 the yeoman class, which had been dwindling
 for many years. The bill passed its first reading.

Waterspout in Queenstown Harbor.
 LONDON, Feb. 23.—On Saturday there
 occurred in Queenstown harbor a phenomenon which, though often seen at sea, is seldom visible in land-locked harbors. A storm was prevailing at the time, and those who were close to the water noticed a black vapour cloud drawing near the city. As it arrived over the sea it could be seen swirling downward, and almost immediately the water beneath was thrown into a state of the most violent commotion, and there ascended a spiral column that revolved with great rapidity. Everybody watched the sight with great interest. Finally the suspended column of water and the ascending
 column came together, and immediately
 they did so the whole mass fell with a most deafening crash. No harm was done to the shipping.

THE WATCHDOG'S HONEST BARK
 Proves the Salvation of Samuel Pagu
 and His Whole Family.

WINSTON, Ont., Feb. 22.—Samuel Pagu
 and family, living on London street, had a narrow escape from cremation early this morning. They were awakened about 4 o'clock by the barking of their dog, and found the whole front portion of the house

 years of age, employed on the farm of J. C.
 Dutrich, on the Blair road, near Galt, as a farm hand, was killed to death this evening by a horse.

Killed by an Icicle.

QUEBEC, Feb. 22.—This noon a large quantity of snow and ice fell off the roof of the house occupied by J. Latham and struck a little girl passing, named Dugal, 6 years
 of age, daughter of Felix Dugal, a laborer.
 She was knocked senseless, and when picked up was found her skull was fractured. She will probably die.

A man named Bique was killed yesterday by an icicle falling from the top of a house. He died two hours after.

Chiefted Out of $200.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 22.—About six weeks ago James McCall, son of J. McCall, engaged a man to work on the farm. The man gave the name of Charles McKay. On Saturday Mr. McCall received $200 in rent.
 This he looked in a trunk in his bedroom and went out. It is alleged that the hired man came in and persisted in assisting Mrs.
 McCall in sweeping, and while sweeping
 the bedroom burst open the trunk with a chisel, took the money and made off.
 Mrs. McCall was suspicious that the man was bursting open the trunk, but was afraid to go near him. After he left she went in and found the money gone, and the chisel on the floor. Mr. McCall drove to the city and notified the police.

 is announced, to-day, was educated by
 the Jesuits for the priesthood, but ill
 health compelled him to abandon this vocation, and he devoted himself to literary

 a contribution to numerous magazines, and articles to the position of editor of Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper. He afterwards assumed the editorship of the

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other home purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

Lacrosse Prospering in England—The Chess Contest at Havana—Skating and Lacrosse Events.

LACROSSE. Lacrosse is prospering in England when two clubs are able to send out three teams each in one afternoon. That is what West London and Croydon did on Feb. 6.

Among the west London first twelve is the ex-Torontonian, Mr. J. W. Drynan.

CHESS. Steinitz won the twentieth game of the chess match, winning a hard fought battle after 41 moves. The score is now a tie again: Steinitz 8, Teichgraber 8, draws 4.

ATHLETICS. The wrestling match in the music hall, Parkhill, between G. Perrie, champion of Canada, and Ronald Currie, of Parkhill, resulted in Mr. Currie winning. Perrie won the first fall in eight and a half minutes from the start. Then he threw Currie in five minutes, when Currie threw Perrie in five minutes. The style was catch-as-catch-can for a wage of $50.

HOCKEY. Osgoode Hall defeated the Granites by five goals to nothing in the semi-final match for the hockey championship on Saturday night.

HORSE TALK. The Prince of Wales has decided to close his connection with the turf.

SKATING. Frank P. Bacon, of the Arlington Boat Club, won the figure skating championship of the New England Skating Association at Boston on Saturday, defeating Moses Rubenstein, of Montreal, by 20 points, and J. H. Evans, of Harvard, by 75 points. The final score was: Bacon, 104 points; Rubenstein, 174; Evans, 116. Rubenstein is dissatisfied with the scoring, and refuses to take second prize. Bacon says he will go to Montreal and again meet Rubenstein this evening.

FOOTBALL. Upward of 200 football matches were played in England during the week. Only one match in the course of the week was a draw. The most interesting match was played in England last week, that being between Lancashire and the Midland, Lancashire winning by two tries to none. A sensation was caused in the play for the English association cup last week, when the famous Preston North End team was beaten by the team of the Forest of Dean, who were the champions of the league.

Scotland won with one goal and one try to one try, while England disposed of Ireland with one goal and one try to nothing.

Gave His Babe Strychnine by Mistake. WILKINSON, Ont., Feb. 22.—The 2-year-old child of John Lemcke complained of being unwell and feverish. The mother, thinking that its teeth was the cause, requested her husband to go to the cupboard and mix up one of the teething powders she had bought.

Not seeing the powder was the expected to find it, he looked around and discovered a powder in a dish which he supposed was what he desired, mixed it up and gave it. Ten minutes later the child was dead. The drug was strychnine, which had been purchased a few days previous to kill mice.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery (Colic) is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints. It works fast and effectually gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Getting in a pickle is not apt to make a man look well preserved.

WARD FOUR WIRE-PULLERS.

Meeting in the Interests of Mr. Carling.

Addresses by I. F. Hellmuth, E. Meredith, A. B. Cox and Others—A Rather Tame Assembly.

A large number of boys, as many young men without votes and some electors of the fourth ward, made up the audience that half filled the old Fall Mall Street Church last evening, when the Conservatives held a meeting in the interests of their candidate, Mr. Carling. The boys did the applauding, and a long line of them, W. D. Buckle occupied the chair, and on the platform were a few local politicians.

A. B. Cox was the first speaker. There was something wrong with the Reform party judging by the results of the late bye-elections. A splendid excuse had been dished up every morning by the Advertiser and other Liberal papers. There was really something wrong with the Reform platform. The leader of the Reform party was a mere stripling in years. The policy produced by Sir Richard Cartwright had a strong smell similar to that of Goldwin Smith—one the people would not subscribe to. There were several objections to it.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright held a conference and decided that it was not going to work. This policy nearly swept the country and nearly placed the Liberal party in power. The reason it did not was because there were some cool-headed Grits, who saw that the wall between the United States and Canada were thrown down the ultimate result would be that the trade policy of the United States would be destroyed. The Hon. Wilfrid Laurier was a coward and disloyal. There was one man in this city, George C. Gibbons, who was practically the leader of the Liberal party. He had been foolish enough to write a book on the trade question. If we adopted commercial union with the United States it would mean that we would adopt the same rate of tariff against the other countries of the world as the United States had adopted. Unrestricted reciprocity without discrimination against the mother country could never be obtained.

John Drumgoole could not speak of Canada, but sang a song relating to our country.

E. Meredith, Q.C., said he thought that the large number of electors present augured the coming election of Mr. Carling. As a result of the general election on March 5 last the Conservatives had a majority in the House of Commons of 27; now they had 40, and on March 5 next they would have 50. Was it not absurd to send Mr. Hyman to Parliament? He would be in the cold shades of the Opposition. He did not agree with those who state that the election of Mr. Hyman should be protected by the "grossest corruption imaginable."

Mr. Meredith then regaled the audience with tales of pigs' feet and beer at Colborne street school house, beer at the colored band room and beer among the Italians. He urged the electors to go to the polls and exercise their own judgment and vote accordingly, and to accept no money or beer. He believed that the "black bottle brigade" was in ward 4 already, and that the Reform workers labored "all night long on the Sabbath day."

The Advertiser would not believe him when it said that Mr. Carling should be elected. To elect Mr. Carling the electors would be doing their duty to the country.

John Christie was suffering from a severe cold, but was pleased to see so many Ward 4 electors present. He knew what it meant. He wanted to see every man turn out on election day and do his duty.

H. Macklin did not expect to be called upon to speak. The more the arguments of Mr. Hyman's supporters were sifted the more their weakness was brought to light. Mr. Hyman, during his term in the House, had shown himself a capable man. The man in which the Government was treating the bootleers was in bright distinction to the way in which the Reformers treated them when they were in power. The people of London should rally around Mr. Carling when the present Government was treating the bootleers the way they were.

The pamphlets circulated by the Reform party last year had been dropped like hot potatoes. Mr. Gibbons was a clever and intelligent man, but had a deplorable idea of the state of Canada at present. This country was making wonderful progress. The speaker compared the increase in population during the last 50 years of Canada and the United States. Unfortunately, he said, the Reformers had been dragged through the political mire by their so-called loyal leaders. The electors would be mad to vote against Mr. Carling.

"I struggle here sang 'There's a Dear Spot in Ireland.'"

A. J. McCray said there were men in the Reform ranks who were trying desperate means to elect their representative. The National Policy of to-day was not so much to be admired as it was fifteen years ago. No wonder young men were leaving Canada and going to the United States. There was a premium for them there. Canada would yet be as great and prosperous a country as the United States.

I. F. Hellmuth spoke with reference to the Franchise Act. He was prepared, as soon as Judge Elliot gave his decision regarding the revision of the voters' lists, to meet any man the Liberals should see fit to appoint. The Franchise Act was not at all a bad one. A man in England who would dare to insult a revising barrister would be ducked in the nearest horsepond and told to cool off. Why did not the Advertiser discuss honestly the war and secret ballot under the Ontario Legislature. They should discuss the bogus member for Toronto by unlawful means. The Conservatives wanted a free and open election. To talk purely and to act purely were two very different things. If Conservative party compared them with our neighbors across the line, Mr. Hellmuth believed that the Conservatives were a true and better educated class of people than the Reformers.

Sam Woods sang a song that he called patriotic.

Mr. Jillett, of St. Thomas, came to the meeting by accident and did not intend to speak. Mr. Jillett had indicted on the people of East Elgin an hour of political rubbish. In strong terms the speaker eulogized Mr. Carling. Mr. Jillett is a workman who worked hard for Mr. Ingram in East Elgin and his address was of the kind that suited Conservative workmen.

The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, Mr. Carling, Mr. Hyman and the speakers.

The Ottawa Free Press says the story circulated by Conservatives to the effect that the timber limits operated by Messrs. Jas. MacLaren & Co. in Ottawa county is held in the name of Mr. J. B. Charleson is utterly devoid of truth. The story is so absurd on its face that the indications are that some practical joker has been putting up a job on Mr. Tetreau's friends. Some of the MacLaren shanties have been closed as reported.

The Department of Agriculture has decided to vigorously renew its efforts in the Dakota to induce immigrants to cross into the Dominion. Operations, however, will not be confined to the Dakotas, for it has been decided to carry on an active campaign in the border States of Michigan and Minnesota as well. For some time past the Grand Trunk Railway authorities have been keeping their eyes open, and that one eye has been specially directed on the conduct of their servants employed on train runnings between this city and Halifax. Things were evidently not all what they should have been, if it is fair to judge of the cause by the effect. Anyway the company have dispensed with the services of no less than eleven railway conductors on this route, and the request of the discharged ones for an explanation was met with a reply from the manager that "the company had no further use for their services." Attorney-General Mowat Enlightens Mr. Tooley.

The Charges Against the County Crown Attorney Too Indefinite—The Dehorn Case.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) TORONTO, Feb. 22.—In the Legislative Assembly to-day Mr. Tooley asked whether it is the intention of the Government to take any action with regard to the resolution passed at the last sitting of the Middlesex County Council with regard to the removal of Mr. Charles Hutchinson from the position of county attorney of the county.

Mr. Mowat replied that the usual action had been taken. They had called upon the county attorney for an answer to the resolution. The resolution, however, was in general terms, and the Government could not take action unless the charges were made specific.

Mr. Tooley also asked whether it is the intention of the Government to take any action in the case recently tried in London in which Mr. York and others were convicted of debauching a certain number of cattle, and if so, what action is proposed to be taken.

Mr. Mowat said that a commission would be appointed immediately to inquire into the whole question, and in the meantime the fines imposed would not be enforced.

Among the petitions presented were three by Mr. Tooley from the county of Middlesex, praying (1) that all county officials appointed by the Government be paid by salary, and that all fees derived therefrom be paid to the county treasurer to be applied to the general fund of the county; (2) for an amendment to the Municipal Act, and (3) for an amendment to the administration of justice act.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Crucity to Readers. To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: I ask to be permitted to commit one last act of cruelty to the readers of the ADVERTISER, which can hardly be denied without the well-deserved imputation attaching to the act of striking a fellow at such disadvantage as to give him no chance of defending himself—generally considered a mean thing to do. I address myself to the writer of the article headed as above which appeared in last evening's paper, and which struck me like a slap in the face, administered without notice or warning of any kind and taking me quite unprepared. However, I see now that the writer did this probably hastily and unadvisedly, while feeling resentful at what he perhaps considered my unjust aspersion on ministers he reveres. This view of the case inclines me not to take such deep offense as I otherwise might, and to let the matter pass, as perhaps soothing to his wounded feelings, and not hurting me very much.

Let, however, I should have been too outspoken in my anxiety to combat what seemed hurtful to the cause I have so much at heart, I would like to say, that as regards anything said or written to or of these ministers, I have had no other motive than the above. How could it be otherwise, indeed? I have known Mr. Murray long, and I need hardly say, favorably; while as to Mr. Clark, although I only made his acquaintance recently at one of our jail services, I was most favorably impressed by him on that occasion. Indeed it was feeling thus toward all these ministers that I was moved to write the article in question, and being openly made at the meeting of the Ministerial Association, and reported in all the papers, I had undoubtedly the right to comment upon freely.

I have little more to say except to notice the remarkable similarity in the want of similarity in your comparison of the readers of your paper to the poor, cruelly-treated cows, and in Mr. Murray's, of the cruel cutting off of a cow's horn and asking a lady to remove her tail bonnet in a theater. The readers of your paper are not obliged to read my letters any more than your editorials, so in either case they can avoid the cruelty—so also can the ladies refuse, as they often do, to remove their bonnets; but the poor cows, fastened to stanchion and windless, must perform under the cruel saw applied skilfully or otherwise as the chance may be. How the thoughts of men long associated together are apt to run in similar grooves! Notwithstanding this disagreement I hope we shall be friends again some day. Meanwhile, farewell.

The Little Minister.

By J. M. Barrie.

AUTHOR OF "WIND IN THE THIRDS," "WHEN A MAN'S SINGLE," "MY LADY NICOTINE," ETC.

"Oh, mother, I was wondering if the time would ever come when I would be a minister, and you would have an egg for your breakfast every morning."

So the years passed, and soon Gavin would be a minister. He had now solemnly prepared, and everyone of them was first preached to Margaret. How solemn was his voice, how his eyes flashed, how stern were his admonitions.

"Gavin, such a sermon I never heard. The spirit of God is in you. I'm ashamed you should have me for a mother."

"God grant, mother," Gavin said, "that I might be a minister, and you would have an egg for your breakfast every morning."

"The Lord has you by the hand, Gavin, and mind I donna say that because you're my ladie."

"Yes, you do mother, and well I know it, and yet it does me good to hear you."

That it did him good, I who would have shared those days with him, am very sure. The praise that comes of love rather than of duty, is a praise that shines in our mother's eyes as she looks at us, is about the most pathetic thing a man has to face, but he would be a devil altogether if he did not burn some of the sin out of him. Not long before Gavin preached for his kirk and got his call, a great event took place in the little room at Glasgow. The ministerial office. He was the black milk hat, that was destined to become a terror to evil-doers in Thrum, and I daresay he was rather puffed up about himself that day. You would probably have smiled at him.

"It's a pity I'm so little, mother," he said with a sigh.

"You're no want I would call a particularly long man," Margaret said, "but you're just the height I like."

Then Gavin went out in his grandeur, and Margaret cried for an hour. She was thinking of me as well as Gavin, and as it happened I know that I was thinking at the same time of her. Gavin kept a diary in those days, which I have seen, and which while he was showing himself to his mother in his black clothes, I was on my way back from Thrum, where I had gone to buy a sand-glass for the school. The one I had bought at Harrow was a little exercise book, in which Margaret had tried unknown to Gavin, to teach herself writing and grammar, that she might be less unfit for a minister. He found it accidentally one day. It was full of "I am, thou art, he is," and the like, written many times in a slanting hand. Gavin put his arms round his mother when he saw what she had been doing. The exercise book is in my desk now, and will be my little maid's when I die.

"Gavin, Gavin," Margaret said many times in those last days at Glasgow, "to think it has all come true!"

"Let the last word you say in the house be a prayer of thankfulness," she whispered to him when they were taking a final glance at the old home.

In the bare room they called the house, the little minister and his mother went on

CHAPTER III

What first struck Margaret in Thrum was the smell of eadid. The town smells of eadid no longer, but while of it may be got even now, one place the houses of the old, where the lay still swings at little windows like a great ghost pendulum. To me it is a homely smell, which I draw in with a great breath, but it was, as strange to Margaret the cleverest themselves, who, in their colored nightcaps and corduroys streaked with threads, gazed at her and Gavin. The little minister was trying to look severe and old, but twenty-one was in his eye.

"Loch, mother, at that white house with the red roof. That is the manse."

The manse stands high, with a sharp eye on all the town. Every back window in the Tenements has a light of it, and so the house of the Tenement is always better lit back of the front. It was in the front that Jamie Craik, a pitiful bachelor all his life because he thought the women proposed, kept his ferrets, and here, too, Beattie hanged himself, going straight to the clothes posts for another rope when the first one broke, such was his determination. In the front Sanders Gilruth openly boasted (on Craik's potato-pit) that by having a seat in two churches he could lay in bed on Sabbath and get the credit of being at one or another. (Gavin made short work of him.) To the right minded, the Auld Licht manse was a family Bible, ever lying open before them, but Beattie spoke for more than herself when he said, "Dagon the manse! I never give a swear but there it is glowing at me."

The manse looks down on the town from the north-east, and is reached, from the road that leaves Thrum, by a wide, straight path, so rough that to carry a spilling of water to the manse without spilling was to be superlatively good at one thing. Packages in a cart it set leaping like a trout in a fish-garden. Opposite the opening in the garden wall of the manse, where for many years there had been an intention of putting up a gate, where two big stones a yard apart, standing ready for the winter, where the path was only a rush of yellow water, the path was only a bridge to the globe dyke, down which the minister walked to church.

When Margaret entered the manse on Gavin's arm, it was a white-washed house of five rooms, with a garret, in which the minister could sleep if he had guests, and the parlor and kitchen were downstairs. The garden within high walls, and the roof facing southward was carpeted with moss that shone in the sun in a dozen shades of green and yellow. Three flags guarded the house from west winds, but blasts from the north often tore down the steep fields and skirted through the manse, banging all its doors at once. A beech, growing on the east side, lean over the roof as if to gossip with the minister, by a wide, straight path, he left it that I, who know there is good in all the world because of the lovely souls I have met in this corner of it, yet cannot but be glad that many are as near God as I am. The most glorious thing in the world is that with such capabilities, we seldom rise high. Of those who stand perceptibly above their fellows I have known very few. Only Mr. Carfrae and three women.

Gavin only saw a very frail old minister who shook as he walked as if his feet were striking against stones. Mr. Carfrae was to depart on the morrow to the place of his birth, but he came to the manse to see his successor. God speed. Strangers were so formidable to Margaret that she only saw him from her window.

"May you never lose sight of God, Mr. Diahart, the old man said in the parlor. Then he added, as if he had asked too much, "May you never turn from Him as I often did when I was a lad like you."

As this aged minister, with the beautiful face which God gives to all who love Him and follow His commandments, spoke of his youth, he looked wistfully round the faded parlor.

THE LITTLE MAN IN THE ORCHESTRA

If we should go to the play some night, you'll see in the orchestra on the right a little man.

And if he doesn't astonish you With the musical scales he goes through— Why, nobody can.

First, he plays the I-don't-know-what, whose tones Sound just as if you were hitting bones: Then with a jump, He jangles the chords of the tummy-tum, And he's sure to be back when the big bass drum Requires a thump.

Next, the what-you-may-call-it must be whacked, And then from the thingummy he'll extract A tiny sound: While the jaggermace he'll wake to life Till it sets you on edges, like a knife When it's being ground.

And there are those round brass things, you know: What the name they give 'em-of, or they go Ching-ching! Ching-ching! Whenever there comes a great big crash He uses his feet and makes 'em crash Like everything!

There's a little bald man on the other side Who stands up and looks rather dignified; But don't watch him: His fiddle's the biggest of all, true, But this is the one he can make it do "Is to go 'sim-sim'."

Bacteria in Milk and Cream.

"What are the bacteria in milk and cream that we hear so much about lately?"

John Gould replies: "Bacteria are minute organisms that exist in air, water and all substances of a vegetable character. They fall into milk, and there multiply with great rapidity, and result in sour milk, bitter cream, etc. They are the active agents that ripen cream to cream if controlled, i.e., the milk kept cool enough to cream before thickening, and the cream churned before it becomes entirely sour. Heat kills them, but cold does not. When under control, they are a benefit, and have a positive, beneficial action in the curing of cheese, ripening of cream and the promotion of desirable flavors."

"Microbes are not dangerous to the dairyman who milks, creams the milk and churns the cream when he should, nor need they dismay the alert cheese-maker. The trouble all the time is in delay and neglect, notably in the care of the dairy utensils, delay in working up the milk, cream and the like, when the microbes get the mastery, and bring loss. When under control, they are a benefit, and have a positive, beneficial action in the curing of cheese, ripening of cream and the promotion of desirable flavors."

The Relative Value of Skimmed and Whole Milk for Feeding Calves.

An experiment in calf-feeding at Iowa station indicates that:

1. A ration of skim-milk and ground flaxseed compares favorably with a new milk ration for young calves.

2. The larger gain came from the whole milk, but a part of it was partly due to the individuality of the calves, and good results and a thrifty growth were made on skim-milk and ground flaxseed.

3. The skim-milk calves were interrupted less in their growth by weaning than the whole-milk calves.

4. A saving in value of butter fat alone of $1.11 per cent on each calf was effected by substituting the ground flaxseed.

5. The cost of producing a pound of gain (estimating new milk at 87c per cent, 100 pounds, and skim-milk at 40c per cent, 100 pounds, and flaxseed at 1 cent per pound, hay $5 per ton, and flaxseed meal $4 cents per pound) was 76-10 cents for the fresh milk ration and 5 cents for the skim-milk ration.

The One-Hoss Shay.

The peculiar feature of the "one-hoss shay" was, that it was "built in such a wonderful way" that it had no weak part. The "weak part" of a woman is invariably her husband, and "female weakness" are only too common. With the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, this may be avoided, and women may be comparatively as strong as men, free from the pains, leucorrhoea, dragging-down sensations, debility, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency, are only a few of the symptoms of weakness of the female organs which the "Favorite Prescription" is warranted to remove.

Mr. R. R. Allen, upstate New York, sends the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Constipation, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and a number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Searles' Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit derived from it was beyond our expectations."

It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Little Liver Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels, is empty and causes a healthy and natural action. my own experience. Every family should have it."

"The Queen's" New Palace.

It has been customary with all successful
newspapers and publications to secure a home
for themselves by erecting a building and naming it after the publication, as soon as the success of the enterprise would permit, and it is only another indication of the success of THE QUEEN that has met with such a result. It has reached that point where larger and better quarters are required for its extensive and growing business, and that the publishers have decided to erect one of the handsomest and most complete newspaper buildings in the Dominion. A large lot has been purchased on Molindus street, and the architects are now at work on the plans of the building, which is to be in brown stone and pressed brick, with a valuable location and THE CANADIAN QUEEN
building will add one more to the substantial
business concerns which have been erected for business purposes by enterprising corporations and business concerns during the past few years.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

Water Commissioner Griffin, of St.
Thomas, was here yesterday afternoon
making inquiries as to the amount paid by the city for water, and getting other points.

Mr. Baeyeritz, the converted Jew, accompanied by her daughter, will conduct meetings in Brockville this week. From there she goes to Montreal, and thence to England on April 13.

Many of the young lady's friends will regret to hear of the death of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Pevier, eldest daughter of Mr.
James Pevier, of Petrolia, formerly of this city. Deceased was taken sick Thursday and died Sunday of inflammation. Miss Pevier had a large circle of acquaintances
in the city.

Mr. A. D. Holman, the popular manager of the Princess Skating Rink, was to have had a benefit tonight, but the unfavorable weather rendered a postponement
necessary. Meanwhile, however, Mr. Holman's many friends will doubtless do their best to secure for him a "bumper house"
when the delayed demonstration takes place.

Rev. A. C. Courtice, of this city,
preached in the Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, on Sunday morning.
It was the missionary anniversary, and he spoke chiefly on missions. He spoke of the great work the missionaries were doing,
both in the home and foreign fields; also the danger a great many of them are subject to, the trouble and labor they have, and the hardships they have to endure, especially on starting in a foreign field. He also dwelt on the subject of home missions, and
the work the missionaries have done and are still doing.

The attraction at the Grand Opera House next Friday evening, Feb. 23, will be the production of "The Nine Barons."
The piece deals with the day, and may be favorably compared with the great New York successes such as "The Widows," "Wilkinson's Widows." Many specialties are introduced, however, including the latest Parisian novelty, the mirror dance,
executed by the Lazlo sisters, the famous
English dancers, on Sunday morning.

Mr. Blake, the great tragedian, expresses himself as well pleased with his audience last night. He liked it for its size, its fashionable appearance, and the enthusiasm of the audience. "There's no
audience like an English audience," he remarked in conversation with a reporter at the Teumseh House after the play.

Mr. Blake, a president of the Ontario Theatre, was born in New York city. I played several years in England, and learned how to appreciate an English audience. I am always glad to get into Canada, for audiences here of British character, and I have been out on the Pacific coast and was delighted with my visit; you have the material of a grand country there. I am working my way eastward through the continent, and then I'll go home to end the season. You may depend upon it, the final will be welcome, though my season has not been long—27 weeks.

ity. Dorchester, it is said, has had one for some years.

The president closed with the remark
that the farmers seemed to lack interest in the meetings. If they would attend it could only result in great benefits to them. Farmers should club together and break up other combinations. Unmistakably the expression of the meeting was in favor of free trade, and some voiced it freely, although some thought it not just
the place to talk politics.

The Great Keene.

It was a full dress audience that assembled at the Grand Opera House last night.
The lower floor, balcony, and gallery were filled, and the general richness of evening attire
made the sight a pretty one, to which much charm was lent by the presence of about 75 young ladies from the college.
The play and its principal were worthy of the occasion, and it speaks well for the refinement of public taste that an event of such artistic superiority should be so well patronized. Thomas W. Keene, an appreciative and capable actor, was today to be the peer of the American stage now that Booth has retired.

The dramatization of Bulwer's great
"Richelieu" affords ample opportunity for the genius of his mind, and the subtlety
of his art. Suffice it to say his delineation of this exacting character was in keeping with the pre-eminent power and skill assigned to him. The audience was appreciative and signified both its understanding and its approval by liberal applause,
when stirred by grand climax. Mr. Keene's support is good, but of course his individuality absorbs all attention. Miss Alberta Gallatin, as Julie de Mortemar, came in for secondary honors.

Bengough as an Entertainer.

J. W. Bengough, Grip's clever editor, appeared at Victoria Hall last night under
a second engagement with the Forest City
Theatre Club for their annual concert.
Bengough is a veritable Jack-of-all-trades
in the entertainment line. He is equally good as a lightning crayon artist, a singer or a reciter, and the combination of such pleasure-giving qualities lend variety and life to the performance.
His unique sayings, laugh-
able vocal imitations, and still funnier do-
lings were the result, kept the audience
in a state of almost constant irritation,
while here and there a dash of pathos
seasoned the programme and gave compass
to their feelings. "People you know"
were rapidly caricatured, and the local notables were "hit off" to the satisfaction of the audience. The political cracks caught popular sentiment, and were greeted with roars of laughter. The concert was a decided artistic success, as Mr. Bengough's entertainments always are, and considering the present exciting period and strong counter-attractions, the attendance
was good.

Blake and McGreevy.

The Great Council to Aid in Exposing Colossal Frauds.

Documents Incriminating Ministers of the Crown Now in His Hands.

The Case To Be Laid Bare at the Bar of the House of Commons.

[SPECIAL TO THE ADVERTISER.]
MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 22.—It is understood that the object of Edward Blake's
visit here was to meet Thomas McGreevy,
whose defense he has consented to undertake before the Assizes at Ottawa. It is said, however, that Mr. Blake has only McGreevy's habeas corpus, and that he has not yet seen the documents which he has consented to place in his possession.

Mr. Blake came down to Montreal for the express purpose of examining and receiving all the incriminating evidence in McGreevy's hands.

Mr. Blake, it seems, has consented not only to defend Mr. McGreevy before the Criminal Assizes at Ottawa, but also to appear with him at the bar of the House of Commons, from which Mr. McGreevy was last year expelled for refusing to reply to certain questions put to him in the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and tending to expose his late party friends.

In order to afford opportunity for this, it is understood that a prominent Ontario Liberal will on the opening of next session
make a solemn declaration from his seat in the House incriminating several of the Conservative Ministers and leaders and connecting them directly with the charges made by Mr. Tarte against Thomas Mc-Greevy and Sir Hector last session.

It is highly probable that Mr. McGreevy
has now resolved to turn Queen's evidence
and show that, while he has not been all
that he ought to be, the men who used him
are many times worse. Startling revelations are expected.

WHERE THE BOGUS VOTERS DWELL.

The owners of the 230 bogus names which the trade restriction bosses spent many hundreds of dollars to have retained on the voters' lists—without the consent of these men, by the way—live all over creation.
An analysis of the facts brought out in the Court of Revision shows that

Twenty-three live in South London, and have votes in South Middlesex.
Forty-nine live in the city, but were proved to have no legal qualifications, being under age, etc.

Sixteen live in Toronto.
Two live in England.
Two live in Lyon.

Four live in St. Thomas.
Over twenty live in the United States.
Nine live in London West, and vote in East Middlesex.

Four live in Petrolia.
Three live in Niagara.
Five live in Hamilton.
Fourteen live in East London, and vote
in East Middlesex.

Three live in Chatham.
Six live in the Northwest and British Columbia.

And the remainder are to be found in
Ridgeway, Alton, Craig, Kingsville, Dundas, Sarnia, Ingersoll, Dunnville, Simcoe, Sea-
forth, Longwood, Ottawa, Alvinston, Thamesford, St. Catharines, Walkerville,
Port Rowan, Port Hope, Guelph, Woodstock, Brantford, and other places not yet discovered.

It was through this bogus list of 230
names that the opponents of Mr. Hyman hoped to beat him; but justice has prevailed.

THE BATTLE FOR BREAD.

How the Hamilton Molders'
Trouble Stands.

Six Non-Union Men Induced to Leave—
The Assault Charge Dismissed.

THE BATTLE FOR BREAD.
HAMILTON, Feb. 22.—The union molders
today are jubilating over their success in inducing six non-union workmen to quit work and leave town. The men had been working for the Copps, Barrow and Stewart & Milne. It is said by the members of the union that one of the six is the best of the imported molders—one of the few of them who knew enough to pound sand.
The executive members of the Molders'
Union report that things look better from their standpoint and say it is only a matter
of time before they win completely.
