DUNNING GETS SOLID MAJORITY London Rolling Mills Booms Despite Tory Pessimism

LIBERALS SWEEP SASKATCHEWAN

Premier Dunning Returned To Power With At Least 43 Seats—Wins Personal Victory in Moose Jaw County, Trimming Progressive by 2,000 Majority—One Cabinet Minister Only Defeated.

FINAL RESULTS ARE DELAYED BY STORM

Canadian Press Despatch.
Regina, June 3.—Forty-four government candidates elected and nine opposition were the known results of the Saskatchewan elections at 10:30 this morning, according to a statement from Liberal headquarters.

Latest reports were said to have removed K. Robert from the list of doubtful constituencies and to have shown the election of J. A. Dowd, Liberal. A government forecast of the final result predicts the election of but twelve opposition members.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Regina, Sask., June 3.—The Liberal government of Saskatchewan, headed by Premier C. A. Dunning, was returned at the polls yesterday. While very few constituencies had reported complete results, it was indicated that the Liberals had elected 43 candidates to the sixth legislature of the province. In the doubtful seats remaining early this morning, the Liberal candidates were leading in six. The Progressives have elected four, the Conservatives two, the Independents two.

HAS UNIMPAIRED MAJORITY.
On the basis of these results, government supporters were claiming that the government would have an unimpaired majority in the next legislature. In the last legislature the government had 49 members out of a total of 63. The return of the entire Dunning cabinet, with the exception of Hon. J. A. Cross, attorney-general, who was defeated on the basis of unofficial returns, the premier himself scored a personal victory in Moose Jaw, where with 42 out of 44 polls reported, the vote stood: Dunning, 2,061; J. Flatt, 1,000, Progressive, 760.

Saskatchewan has had a Liberal government since the formation of the province in 1907.

Two By Acclamation.
Included in the 43 seats considered certain for the Liberal party are two elections by acclamation.

There was no prospect that returns would be complete before this afternoon. Roads rendered impassable by 36 hours of heavy rainfall prevented rapid transmission of the results from the rural polls, which are widely scattered in some districts.

The results in the cities were definitely known. The newly reorganized Conservative party was successful in the return of its leader, Dr. J. T. M. Anderson in Saskatoon. The vote in Regina, the capital of the province, was divided, M. A. McPherson, Conservative, defeated Hon. J. A. Cross, provincial attorney-general, and took a seat from the government.

D. A. McNiven, Liberal, was re-elected.

Blind Veteran Defeated.
The Progressive and the opposition as it existed in the last legislature, lost a leader when Harris Turner was defeated in Saskatoon. Turner, a blind veteran with a record of 25 years of service to the legislature, had been considered safe. His defeat was probably second to that of Hon. J. A. Cross in the sense that it was the first of the early complete returns.

Mrs. S. K. Ramsland, the first woman ever to be elected to the Saskatchewan legislature and who also had two consecutive victories in provincial elections to her credit, lost to Dr. C. E. Tran, Progressive, in Pelly. It was a government loss.

Premier C. A. Dunning scored another triumph in Moose Jaw county, where he gained a large majority over Progressive opposition.

Election Day Was Quiet.
In Humboldt the voters had to choose between an Independent Liberal and a straight Liberal, and in the last legislature, the Conservative government supporters were leading the seat among the victories. Another victory claimed by the government was the re-election of W. G. Baker, Liberal, who was endorsed by the Liberal party. He sat on the government side of the house in the last legislature.

The incumbent weather. No reports of rowdiness or violence were received.

GLASS COMPANY SUFFERS IN FIRE.
The interior section of the Hobbs Manufacturing Company was damaged by fire shortly after 4:30 o'clock this morning. The above picture, taken by an Advertiser staff photographer, shows the shipping room and art glass department where the greatest loss was suffered. Fire doors on either side of the room saved the remainder of the one-story building from destruction. Charred posts are all that supports the burned roof. Quantities of broken and melted glass can be seen littering the floor. The blaze, one of the most spectacular in the city, broke out in the shipping room and spread rapidly. The fire was extinguished at 8 o'clock this morning.

SAVES BROTHER AS HOME BURNS

Jean Gilchrist of St. Thomas Sounds Alarm to 15 Asleep in Burning Apartment.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, June 3.—The response to the call for assistance sent out in the city to aid the Gilchrist family, who suffered in Tuesday's fire, has been gratifying and, with a new house in sight the family are in hopes of returning to a normal state of life this week.

The home of Thomas Gilchrist and Louis Fournier, a double house at 88 and 86 Chestnut street, was destroyed by fire in the early hours of Tuesday morning. Their respective families barely escaped with their lives.

Joseph, a young lad of 16, sounded the alarm shortly after 3:30 o'clock in the morning, and attired in their night clothes the family of seven Gilchrist children, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fournier, their nine-year-old girl, Mrs. Fournier's mother, and an invalid, and a Mr. Cartwright and an infant child, rushed down burning stairways or jumped from upstairs windows to safety.

The heroine of the fire is Jean Gilchrist, a girl of 15 who imperilled her own life to make sure her brothers and sisters were awake, then grabbed her little brother aged 2 years from the bed in which he was sleeping and bore him to safety.

Returns Second Time.
She returned to the house a second time to try to save part of the effects, but was forced to leave with a coat. The property of the Gilchrist family was entirely lost with the exception of a sideboard which was situated near the door, and which Mr. Gilchrist was able to drag to safety.

Mr. Gilchrist explains the more of the property might have been saved had he been able to confine his time to that feature, but the uncertainty of the safety of the children, caused him to return to the burning building twice. The occupants of the other wing of the building were not aware of the fire until after the examination being made this afternoon.

George Clancey Is Seriously Injured in Drop From Scaffold.

George Clancey, High street, fell some fifteen feet at 11:45 this morning from a scaffold on the Park avenue building being renovated by A. R. Cairncross, and was immediately taken to Victoria hospital. Though Clancey, according to other workmen, fell on his head, he was able to call for help.

Dr. Kenneth McLean, who had the man removed to the hospital, stated that it will be impossible to tell the exact extent of Mr. Clancey's injuries until after the X-ray examination being made this afternoon.

LONDON PLANTS SUFFER IN EARLY MORNING FIRES

Mercury Back At Ninety-Two

Just before 2 o'clock today London sweltered in the greatest mid-day heat of the year, when the mercury climbed back to 92 degrees.

During the afternoon on Monday the weatherman pushed the silver column up to 92 degrees, but rains Monday night battered it down a bit and it stayed at 90 degrees yesterday. By noon today, however, it recovered lost ground, reached 92, and promised to go still higher.

The weatherman announced that he is again sending rain and thunder in a second attempt to raise the siege.

He's Sixty Years Old Today

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 3.—King George today celebrated his 60th birthday. The court came to London from Windsor yesterday for the occasion, which was marked by the customary congratulations from relatives, friends and foreign rulers and eulogistic articles in the newspapers.

The chief public celebration in London centered around the old military ceremonial, trooping the colors, the annual parade and evolutions by the brigade of Guards in St. James' park.

This spectacle always draws crowds, but they were larger than ever this year, having an added attraction in the presence of Marshal Foch, who came here at the King's special invitation to participate in the parade.

The allied generalissimo was to ride with the Duke of York, Prince Henry, the Duke of Connaught and Viscount Lascelles, behind the King at the head of the parade from the palace to the review ground and back.

ASSEMBLY TO FINISH IN PEACE

Delegates From All Canada Gather For Final Presbyterian Conference.

ANTS TO BE THERE

Hush Prevades Atmosphere As Meeting Time Draws Near.

By R. E. KNOWLES.
Special Correspondent of The Advertiser
Toronto, June 3.—On every train they come and from every point. From Victoria to Sydney delegates are arriving to attend the last general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, the first meeting of which is to be held tonight.

There have been many memorable assemblies since the day just fifty years ago when the union of the Canada Presbyterian church and the "Old Kirk" of Canada formed the great national church, whose termination under its accustomed form, and by its familiar name, has come at last after more than twenty years of constant conference, debate, concession and struggle.

Most of the early leaders who helped to launch the first movement have now passed from their labors. The youthful recruits who wonderingly watched the beginnings of the great conflict are now regarded almost as the older men of the church, the antagonists and protagonists, who at last see the great enterprise crowned with victory, if not with the measure of complete success, which has been their dream and inspiration through the long embattled years.

Hush Prevades All.
Something akin to a trembling hush seems to pervade the ecclesiastical atmosphere today. The moment is pregnant with significance and portent. Nothing of this kind has been before attempted, much less achieved in the history of the Christian church. Disembodied families of the universal church have, it is true, been reunited and recalled to the still unforgotten fireside, each bearing the common parental name.

But never before have districts and different denominations, each with a separate raison d'être, actual or inherited, made the sacrifice of what they hold dear, and have united.

Cause is Unknown.
Cause of the fire is unknown. Starting in the south end of the shipping room, facing York street, the blaze spread rapidly. At 4:30 o'clock flames were shooting through the wooden roof of the building fifty feet into the air. Lines of hose were played from both south and north ends of the one-story building, and by 5:30 o'clock the fire was well under control.

Quantities of glass, stored in the shipping room, were melted and spoiled for further use as the fire progressed. Expensive plate glass was stored in other sections of the building. This was saved by the heavy protective fire doors. The roof was completely destroyed.

135 Transfers in the City — Majestic Theatre Largest Sale.

Real estate approximating in value $300,000 changed hands in London during the month of May, according to a report just submitted to the assessment department.

There were 135 transfers, mostly residential property. The largest sale recorded was that of the old Majestic theatre on Dundas street, which was purchased from the James Duffield estate by John A. Nash, F. C. Wilson and W. E. Whitehall for a consideration of $85,000. The property was later transferred to the Arcade Bowling Academy, Limited, who will conduct a large bowling academy on the premises when renovations are complete.

The National Billiards and Bowling Company, Limited, also figured in a $15,000 deal whereby they acquired the building formerly occupied by Reid Bros. & Co. on Clarence street.

ENJOYS BUSINESS BOOM.
Frank White, Conservative member for London, has faithfully echoed Meighen's blue ruin cry. Particularly he complains at Ottawa and in this city of disaster which he declared had overtaken the iron and steel business of Canada, as result of the Liberal tariff policy. Yesterday the London Rolling Mills, of which he is superintendent, announced a large expansion program.

West Middlesex Liberals Are Expected To Select J. C. Elliott As Candidate

Utmost Enthusiasm Prevails as Delegates Gather For Strathroy Convention.

300 IN ATTENDANCE

Seven Other Stalwarts Will Be Considered at This Afternoon's Meeting.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.
Strathroy, June 3.—Delegates and Liberal enthusiasts of West Middlesex gathered in Strathroy at an early hour this morning for the nominating convention, which opened in the Lyceum at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Arrangements call for about 300 official delegates, and every part of the riding will be well represented. Indications are for the biggest and most enthusiastic convention ever held in West Middlesex.

The first business will be selection of a candidate for the next federal election. At the hour draws near possible candidates are increasing in number. The choice will likely lie amongst J. C. Elliott, K.C., Charles McFie of Appleton, James V. McDonald of Strathroy, and Dr. Bice of Delaware. Other possibilities are John A. McGugan, president of the Liberal association; Norman Newton of Parkhill; S. Little, Delaware, and J. T. Turnbull of Komoka.

Elliott is Favored.
Current opinion amongst the earlier arrivals would appear to lean towards J. C. Elliott, K.C., as the selection, with strong support in the delegations from Glencoe, Moon, Elfrid, Caradoc, Strathroy, Lobo and Adelaide. One prominent Liberal from Caradoc believed that if the convention could be assured of Mr. Elliott's acceptance, he would be the choice on a wave of enthusiasm, without a vote. The election prospects are very indefinite. The death of the late Progressive member John

BUSINESS IS BETTER FOR WHITE

London Rolling Mills Announces Plant Extension—Will Manufacture Steel.

DESPITE TARIFF CRY

London Member Sees Firm Prosper in Face of His Pessimism.

The extension of the plant is not merely good news for London, but also for the friends of Frank White, who may have been disturbed by the Conservative member's despondency as expressed in his public speeches.

In the budget debate two years ago, Mr. White was most emphatic in fearing that the Liberal tariff policy would ruin the steel and iron business in Canada, the London Rolling Mills being cited as a definite instance of woe.

In later speeches Mr. White repeated this pessimism, particularly in his recent address during the visit of Dr. R. J. Manion, M.P., and the splendid expansion of his mills, despite his despair, is expected to act as an effective tonic.

The dismal death whispers of Hon. Arthur Meighen and the Tory gloom unto at Ottawa, which reached clamorous proportions in the house of commons yesterday, had a rather humorous echo in this morning in the authoritative announcement today that the London Rolling Mills Company is preparing to extend its plant and to go into production of manufacture of steel and steel products.

Frank White is Head.
The London Rolling Mills has as its director and managing superintendent of works Mr. J. Frank White, Conservative M.P. for London, and one of Mr. Meighen's most intimate followers in the federal opposition. The vice-president of the London Rolling Mills is Sir Adam Beck, Conservative member in the provincial house. Ownership of the company is vested largely in the White and Beck groups. M.P. Adam Beck, who is now in the house of commons, has succeeded through personal financing in gaining this industry for London.

Goes Into Steel.
The London Rolling Mills since its establishment has been almost exclusively to the manufacture of bar iron. The company has found that there is a market for steel bars and steel products, including, it is claimed, structural steel. Investigation has satisfied the directors that this new field could be developed with advantage and arrangements will be proceeded with at once for the erection of an important extension to the plant at the foot of William street.

Information is not yet available as to whether the new ingots will be manufactured in a smelter or an open hearth. This morning the company experimentally rolled steel ingots secured from Wexford, and it is understood that the results established the fact that the rolling equipment is quite suitable for this work. The cost of the new extension will be in six figures.

Further and more detailed announcements of the project are expected within the coming week.

STRIKES NOT FEARED BY LONDON BUILDERS

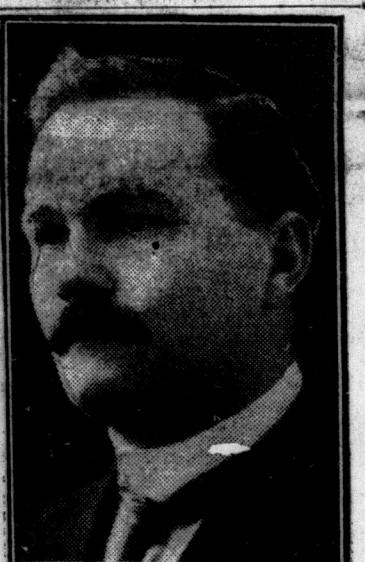

Agreements Between Contractors and Workers Have Been Drawn Up.

Building operations may now be continued here without fear of strikes or rising costs for a year at least for the agreements for rates of wages with the men in the building trades have been made for the coming year. No disturbance of the rates is expected.

Roy Fuller of the John Gray Construction Company, president of the London Builders Exchange for 1925, says, "We have made our agreement with bricklayers and plasterers for the year. The carpenters in London work for what they are worth on an open shop basis. They have no agreement with the exchange. I see that carpenters in Windsor are demanding more money but we are not anticipating anything like that here."

The agreement between the exchange and the bricklayers calls for a wage of $1.00 an hour.

GOVERNMENTS DO NOT SHARE IN CITY POLICE COURT FINES

Neither Dominion Nor Province Get Cent of Revenue During May.

CONVICTIONS LESS Total of Only $2,400 Collected—London Well Behaved.

London police court proved a poor source of revenue for both provincial and federal governments during May. Not a cent do they receive of the $2,400 collected during the past month in police court as penalties imposed by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon.

In other months of this year the governments have figured prominently in the table of court statistics. The past month, however, saw no breaches of the inland revenue act and others in which the fine is not paid to the municipality. On 123 convictions the total penalties amounted to $2,803, $345 of which was unpaid, and the offenders took the alternative of a jail term.

The government's resolve to war on wife deserters resulted in the conviction of five men to terms in the Ontario reformatory.

One fine of $1,000 imposed on a liquor conviction marked an otherwise uneventful month for the city. Fines imposed during April totaled more than $3,000.

Of 12 criminal cases tried before the magistrate, only one was dismissed. Seven were convicted on theft charges, two for burglary and two for assault. The largest sentence was one of from six months to two years in the Ontario reformatory.

Beginning with the Royal Bank picnic today and the monster public school picnic on Friday the public utilities' commission already has 64 picnics scheduled for Springbank park between now and Aug. 1.

The London and Port Stanley Railway has two of its regular picnics set with numerous others to follow.

The English picnic will be held at Port Stanley on July 11 and the retail grocers' picnic on July 15. Other picnics regularly held each year at Port are: Perin's, McCormick's, Hosiery, London Life Insurance Company, Smallman & Ingram's, Irish, and Scotch.

Last year the utilities commission inaugurated the policy of charging a nominal fee of $1 for a picnic at Springbank, which entitled the party holding it to certain grounds for their exclusive use for the afternoon and evening. The plan proved most satisfactory, both to the commission and to picnic parties, and the same time netted the commission the tidy sum of $297 for the season.

With 64 picnics already booked, this year promises to outdo last summer, which set a record for outings at the park, both as to number, people present and the distance travelled by several of the parties to picnic spots.

As usual, the churches and lodges are to the fore. Perhaps the largest picnic yet arranged by the churches of the Canadian National Railways on June 13, the continuing Presbyterians of London and district, June 14, and the United Brethren of London and district, June 15, and Red Bird bicycle on July 1.

Following the school picnic on Friday, a picnic between 8,000 and 9,000 children are expected to attend, the larger picnics which have been booked at the utilities commission office include the following: June 10, Carrothers reunion, and Elliott reunion; June 13—Arundel reunion, C. N. R. First Methodist church Sunday school, and Clandeboye Methodist Sunday school; June 17—St. John's, No. 20, A. F. and A. M.; June 24—Bryanton, Middlesex, A. F. and A. M.; June 27—Continuing Presbyterians of London district, Kilwinning lodge, A. F. and A. M.; July 1—Hamilton and Gosport, Canadian Order of Foresters, London, Dominion Stores, Hamilton road Presbyterian church, King street Presbyterian church, Southern Presbyterian church, and the Clandeboye Presbyterian church; July 4—King Solomon lodge, A. F. and A. M.; Wootley road Baptist Sunday school; July 7—London women's labor party; July 8—Springer reunion, Wellington street Methodist Sunday school, Red Bird bicycle, Knox Presbyterian church, Adelaide street Baptist church; July 9—Hale street Methodist church; July 10—First Congregational church; July 13—Forest City chapter of the Eastern Star, Ridout street Methodist Sunday school; July 16—London Pure Milk Co.; July 18—Broughdale Men's club; July 25—Lipsett reunion; July 27—Hartt reunion.

Just "Keep Cool," Advice Of City's Health Officer

Dr. W. S. Downham Warns People Against Getting Hot Mentally. DRINK PLENTY

Declares Warm Spells Are Far Healthier Than Cold Waves of Winter.

To keep cool, just "keep cool," is the advice of the city's medical health officer, Dr. W. S. Downham, meaning that the average mortal can best resist the dangers and discomforts of the present hot spell by avoiding that mental state familiarly known as "being all hot up."

Dr. Downham added other hot weather hints to his formula for keeping cool. Briefly they are: Wear light clothing, light both in color and texture; avoid unnecessary exertion and get as much physical rest as possible; or in other words, don't work too hard; make sure of getting plenty to drink; and, of course, means water, and have at least one cold shower or bath a day, more if possible.

From the standpoint of public health, Dr. Downham would rather see a hot spell than the occasional extreme cold waves of our winter season. Principally for the reason that people are out more in the open air and are also scattered about in summer dress, and the danger of heat, communicable diseases all ways show a marked falling off during the warmer months.

The complaint is not a new one with the city engineer's department, and Mr. Near proceeded to explain that there are two kinds of oil used, one a heavy asphaltic oil with good binding qualities designed to build up a road surface, and the other a dust-laying oil. The latter class is what is being complained of, but the city engineer recommends that people have patience for at least three or four days until the road surface has had an opportunity to absorb the oil.

There would be no good purpose achieved, he stated, in oiling a road to lay dust and then covering it with a layer of sand, which would speedily present a greater dust problem than ever. The situation is made still more trying by the fact that the soil of South London is clay, and roads with a clay surface do not absorb oil readily. Mr. Near states that the practice of his department is to oil only one side of a road at a time and then allow it to soak in for a period of three or four days. Any puddles then remaining are carefully sanded over as otherwise they would create slippery spots very dangerous to traffic.

Admits Mess. "I know that fresh oil on a road-way may mess but there is no way that we know of to avoid it. If we could take the road out in a field and oil it and leave it there until it was in good condition and then replace it we would gladly do it. But as things are the only thing I can recommend that people exercise patience. The job is being done as efficiently as possible, our equipment is well adapted to the work and the eventual good results more than outweigh the temporary disadvantages resulting from the application of fresh oil."

Major H. Bingle calls meeting tomorrow to talk Project.

Major Hamilton Bingle president of the mess committee of the Canadian Fusiliers has issued an invitation to all officers of the battalion to attend a luncheon meeting in the Tecumseh House tomorrow at 12:15.

It is planned to form a luncheon club of officers, to hold weekly meetings similar to those held by the various service clubs, and the hope is expressed that eventually such a club would include in its membership officers of all the militia units of the city, thus forming a Garrison Luncheon club. The project will be given a preliminary discussion at tomorrow's luncheon.

G. W. Marshall, Cincinnati, stepped on the gas on the Governor's road east of Crumlin this morning and had to come all the way back to London and pay a fine of $10 and costs in county court for exceeding the speed limit.

As a result of a race for half a mile by Motorcycle Officer T. G. P. Lucas of the provincial force, who halted the American to court.

WEDDING OF MISS DINDY COX PRETTY VICTORIA, B.C., EVENT

Former London Girl Marries Son of ex-Comptroller of Victoria. AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

Special to The Advertiser. Victoria, B. C., June 3.—Christ church Cathedral was filled with a smart congregation this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Dinky Cox, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Willis T. Cox of London, Ont., and niece of Mrs. Charles Cox of 1973 Crescent road, Victoria, to Kenneth Malcolm Raymur, son of the late James L. Raymur, former city controller and Mrs. Raymur of Stanley avenue, Victoria.

Girl friends of the bride, headed by Miss Jean Dunbar, had converted the church into a floral bower for the ceremony, blue delphinium and pink anemone predominating among the masses of early summer flowers which adorned the chancel and marked the guests' entrance.

Entering the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Charles F. Cox of Vancouver, who gave her in marriage a beautiful diamond ring, the bride wore a charming picture in her beautiful ivory gown, which was heavily white crepe and richly embroidered in silver. The lining of classic simplicity was a godet of pleated silk material on one side of the skirt, and two long stole-like points of the material finished with silver tassels falling in front.

The soft tulle veil was confined to the hair under a bandeau of exquisite old rose point lace and fell in soft folds on the floor. Her flowers were a huge bow of tulle and orchids. There were three attendants in the bride's retinue. Miss Ellen Turner of Victoria was the bridesmaid, both wearing gowns of white chiffon with godets of lace. Insert of the bride, was the older sister, Mrs. Raymur, mother of the bridegroom, who wore a smart crepe of black and white, showing touches of royal blue.

The buffet luncheon was served at a table centered with the attractive wedding cake and decorated with sunset roses and sweet peas in fragrant profusion. Later Mr. and Mrs. Raymur, mother of the bridegroom, who were a smart crepe of black and white, showing touches of royal blue.

MOTHERS DECIDE TO CARRY ON CLUB

Rectory Members Will, However, Disband If School Site Taken Over.

At the final meeting of the Rectory street mothers club, held last night, it was decided by the members that if the Rectory street school site was not taken over for a collegiate building, the club would continue in the fall. However, if the site was taken over for a collegiate, they decided they would disband, as the children would be scattered over the city.

The meeting was one of much interest. Mrs. Sherratt, the president, presided, and following a short business session six girls of the Variety Twelve gave an excellent program.

After the meeting the mothers tendered a banquet to the rifle team, which recently won the Ontario competition for the Laura Secord shield. The five boys of the team were present, Douglas Coleman, Elmer Keene, Stuart Keene, Robert North and Leslie Round. They wore their cadet uniforms, and during the evening their instructor, W. E. Hogarth, was presented with the shield by the president, Mrs. Sherratt. Mr. Hogarth made a very fitting reply, after which three of the boys, Douglas Coleman, Elmer Keene and Stuart Keene, made appropriate speeches.

The tables were most attractive with the school colors, blue and yellow, and spring flowers. Mrs. Cunningham was in charge of the arrangements. The annual picnic of the mothers club is to be held some time in July.

Hercules Barre, Canadian trade commissioner to France and L. D. Wilgrees, trade commissioner to Germany, Russia and countries bordering the Baltic.

Both commissioners are expected to arrive in London on Thursday evening and will remain all day Friday interviewing local business men who may be interested in developing export trade with the countries they represent.

"These ambassadors of Canada are men who have had years of experience and are glad to pass on information of value to all interested," stated V. H. Wood, managing secretary of the chamber today. "Hence we think it is very important that all those who have to do with shipping and all phases of detail in connection with export trade, as well as factory management, should attend this session. Opportunity will be given to all attending the luncheon to ask questions, and it is hoped to make this conference a most helpful one."

A. D. HONE MADE PRINCIPAL AT SOO

Headmaster London Tech. Gets Important Post at Sault Ste. Marie.

Canadian Press Despatch. Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 2.—A. D. Hone, M.A., of London, has been appointed principal of the Sault Ste. Marie technical school at a salary of $4,000 a year. He will report for the fall term.

While Mr. Hone has not had official communication of his appointment, it is likely that he will accept the position. Speaking on his behalf last night, Mr. Hone himself being confined to his room by a severe attack of neuritis. Mr. Hone stated that Mr. Hone was offered the post last Easter, but that he had refused to leave his classes at the technical school in the middle of a term. Mr. Hone added that if the appointment has been made now, it comes entirely unlooked upon by Mr. Hone's part.

Mr. Hone, who holds the degree of master of arts from Trinity college, Toronto, with specialist's certificate in science and physical culture, has been headmaster of the technical department at the London technical and commercial high school for the past few years. During that period the department has grown from 80 to 500 students. Meanwhile, Mr. Hone has played no small part in the splendid success achieved by the school in recent years.

Prior to coming to London in 1919, Mr. Hone was head of the science department in Peterborough college for five years. Mr. Hone was with the Coburg heavy battery during the war, and was appointed a research fellow by the honorary advisory council of research for the dominion. In this connection, Mr. Hone did some important research work in connection with agriculture, which was afterwards published by the council. The principalship of the Sault Ste. Marie technical school was rendered vacant by the resignation of L. J. Williams as an inspector.

Over Forty Officers of Western Ontario To Be in City Tomorrow.

More than 40 officers representing the 23 corps of the Salvation army in Western Ontario will be in the city tomorrow to celebrate the inauguration of funds collected during the Salvationist appeals for funds during the last few weeks.

The campaign has been launched in practically all points in the district with the exception of London, where the army does not have a distinct drive, owing to its association with the grained charities here.

All the money collected at outlying points will be brought directly to the headquarters at the Britannia, McAmmond, divisional commander, today. The requirements of the different corps will then be allocated according to submitted reports of needs.

Three city bands will provide the musical festival, which is a part of the ceremony. The instrumental numbers will be augmented with songster brigades.

$250 IS AWARDED FOR BABE'S DEATH

Judge Macbeth Upholds Jury Action in Case Against L. S. R.

Upholding the recommendations of the jury brought in yesterday afternoon, Judge Macbeth this morning assessed damages of $250 and costs against the London Street Railway company for the death of John Hugh Woodham, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodhams, who was fatally injured by a street car at Askin street and the Wharncliffe road last November.

Mrs. Woodhams, in her statement of claim, asked $2,000 damages. The jury made three attempts to arrive at a verdict extending over a period of one hour and ten minutes before finally arriving at the $250 amount.

Allege Negligence.
At the outset of the Woodhams' case, counsel for the railway company, J. C. Elliott, K.C., and J. G. Gillanders, admitted liability for damages, if any, thereby admitting as stated by W. R. Henderson, counsel for the plaintiff, that the death of the child was due to negligence upon the part of the company's employees.

Mr. Henderson then called Mr. Woodhams and Dr. Arthur Post as witnesses to prove that the child was in a healthy condition at the time of his death. Mr. Woodhams, a 20-month-old boy, testified that the expectancy of life of a boy 20 months old is 46 years. The parents stated that they had intended educating the boy and giving him a trade, and that they were expecting him to assist them financially way at the age of 16 or 17 years.

Mr. Elliott did not call any witnesses on behalf of the company, but made out any attempt to make out any case for the jury. Judge Macbeth then asked the jury to find a verdict for the plaintiff, which they did.

After being out 40 minutes, the jury under Henry McEllan as foreman, reported that they had been unable to agree. Judge Macbeth sent them back, however, pointing out the costs of the case, and charging the jury and also the fact that ten men on the jury could bring in a verdict.

Fifteen minutes later the jury brought in a verdict for damages, but the railway company to pay the expenses of the court, meaning all the costs of the case. Pointing out that it was his province to fix the costs, the judge again sent the jury back.

Fifteen minutes later the jury brought in its third verdict, this time for $250 damages.

Mr. Henderson immediately moved that judgment be entered, but Mr. Elliott reiterated his opinion that no case has been made out and that accordingly the action should be dismissed.

Judge Macbeth intimated that he personally would not have allowed any damages, but added that since the jury had seen fit to bring in a verdict for $250 he could hardly disregard that verdict.

The members of the jury sitting on the case were: Henry McEllan (foreman), Francis Putnam, Edward Heath, Wilfred Campbell, Lewis Chertoff, Clifford Freer, Earl Whitling, J. H. Kilbourne, R. H. McDonald, Norman Scott, Edward Yorke and Elmer Hughes.

The members of the grand jury were: Wilbert Young (foreman), A. C. Bateman, Wm. Bowden, C. R. Carachod, Donald Dewar, J. D. Galbraith, Hubert Head, V. Hodgins, H. K. McCormick, D. C. McTavish, C. W. Reddick, Frank Westman and E. Vining.

of the danger which threatened, until Mr. Gilchrist broke in their front door. At that time the fire was gaining fast headway, and Mr. Fournier and Mr. Cartwright had to leap from the upstairs windows.

Leaps With Babe in Arms.
Mr. Cartwright made the jump with his 16-month-old baby in his arms. Neighbors have been very kind to the family and are caring for the children while the parents secure a permanent residence. Mr. Gilchrist works on the section of the C. N. R., earning a wage of $3.20 a day, which hardly meets his family requirements. Joseph, the oldest boy, is working in the city and is able to care for himself but the rest of the family are dependents. A public subscription headed by Mayor Sloggett is opened on behalf of the two families and relief is at hand.

Letter Is Received Certifying South London Work As Real Necessity.

STILL SOME DOUBT

Delay Until City Decides If Letter Is an Order.

Commencement at an early date of the construction of a $63,000 sewer on Wharncliffe road and Beaconsfield avenue is forecasted in a letter received by the city clerk this morning from the provincial board of health. The letter certifies that the construction of an out-fall sewer on the above-named street to connect with the main sewer and sewage disposal plant is deemed to be in the interests of public health.

"City Engineer Near is of the opinion that this practically amounts to a mandatory order to proceed with the work without delay. Mr. Baker, on the other hand, takes the view that it is not a certificate, but that the provincial board approves of the construction of such a sewer."

The matter will come up for discussion at the next meeting of No. 2 committee on Tuesday of next week.

The estimated cost of the work is $63,000. The city has agreed to make a special fund on hand to take care of the work. The difficulty has been that the expenditure of an amount of this size cannot be undertaken without a vote of the ratepayers, unless the provincial board of health issues an order that the work should be proceeded with.

The situation was laid before the provincial health authorities by the city council, with the expectation that an order would be issued which would leave the city no choice but to go ahead with this needed construction. The certificate received today is, therefore, of considerable importance, but all doubt as to its meaning will have to be cleared up before any action can be taken.

of the shipping room, of wooden construction, was completely destroyed. Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning the blaze had spread itself, but a large amount of smoking straw, used as packing material, continued to smolder and necessitated constant watch for fear of a second outbreak.

Destruction of the shipping-room and art glass display will create a little inconvenience so far as business is concerned, officials of the company said today. Shipping operations will be temporarily stopped. Carpenters were at work constructing new quarters this morning. The most valuable parts of the building, the plate glass department and machinery shops, were saved.

Blaze Spectacular.
For one hour while the blaze was at its height with flames shooting high into the air and wood and straw burning furiously, the fire threatened neighboring buildings. A strong north wind prevented spread of the blaze as the fire slowly crept towards the south into an open space near the C. N. R. tracks. It was one of the most spectacular fires Chief of firemen experienced, he said today, although it was not difficult to fight due to modern factory construction.

Chief Aitken believes the fire broke out at about 3 o'clock. No evidence of fire was noticed by the company's watchmen when he inspected the shipping-room at 9 o'clock last night. Two serious fires occurred in the city last night. It was only one hour after the firemen had left the scene of a blaze at the W. A. Jenkins Manufacturing Co. that an alarm was received from the Hobbs Co.

Several thousand dollars damage, chiefly to stock, was suffered by the W. A. Jenkins Manufacturing Co. (See Also Page 12.)

ASSEMBLY TO FINISH PROGRAM IN PEACE

forego the denominational luxury which appeals to all, deliberately removed their aloof and separate existence, their distinguishing name and policy, in order to banish what they deem the sham of sectarian waste and strife, and to prove the sovereignty of the greater by the surrender of the lesser, thus to lead the world in a practical of special allegiance to the visibility of the Christian brotherhood of man.

Will Avoid Friction
This will be a great assembly. The temper of the leaders is fine and forbearing. Anti-unionists will be there in substantial numbers, and they too will, it seems, almost certain, seek in no way to mar the solemnity of this gathering with needless division and contention. I confidently predict that this assembly will remind us all of the great Lincoln's great appeal "with malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us seek to finish the work we have begun."

KING'S BIRTHDAY IS OBSERVED QUIETLY
The king's birthday was observed here quietly today, commercial houses, except banks conducting business as usual. Government offices operated on a reduced schedule, most of the civil servants employed in London enjoying the holiday. Flags flew from several staffs in honor of the British sovereign, but no public demonstrations were held. Morning drills of the various military units stationed here saw a touch of special allegiance to the king. Slackened activities marked the day, however, in military quarters.

"Getting Married" Process Now Real Obstacle Race With New Hurdle In Sight

June 13 Will See Three-Day Delay in Force—Need Birth Certificate.

"CERTAINLY I'M 18"

Amendment Will Aid Son Escape Mother's Grip, City Clerk Predicts.

The process of getting married is becoming more and more of an obstacle race, is the plaint from those with misty eyes on the vista of conjugal bliss. The murmur of grievances is again bearing one of the flood tide of noise with the newest barrier even now in sight.

This obstruction looms about as inviting as a forty-foot jump in a steepchase and must be faced on June 13. The government says it isn't cricket to try and round the nice new hurdle. There is even the nasty hint of jail.

"Why certainly I'm 18" (indignant) will no longer win for a pretty miss the faith of the license clerk. Tell it on paper is the new order. Birth certificates must be presented before the magic parchment is handed out. This will bind "the boy" as well. Where birth certificates are not procurable, affidavits must be sworn to. White lies are passed on marriage licenses, and the law will take its course should youth boost its status by a few years.

Real Bad Bogey.
Gone is the day when John can hustle into the city clerk's office, pay five dollars for a script, bustle Mary to the minister and call himself a married man in five minutes. A real bad bogey slides up in the form of a government ruling which says that three days must elapse from the time the license is bought to the ethereal hour of ceremony.

City Clerk Baker tells how many a mother has taken a healthy grip on the neck of her wayward George, marched him to the license wicket, then to the altar and the harness. Mr. Baker chuckles. "I'm sure he is thinking of the three-day delay. Three days will give a fairly smart George time to shake off that well-meaning grip."

Some Busybody.
"Someone with nothing else to do and with no idea of his subject properly thought out," says the clerk, "is the city clerk's succinct comment. 'It's a puzzle to me.'"

A marriage license means five dollars in cash. An extra five-spot opens the gate of the fast chute, if one is in a terrible hurry. Mr. Baker explains that the "why" plan can be broken by sending ten dollars to Toronto. The license will then make good time.

Many Canadians who have moved to the United States grow sentimental when times come to leave up. Mr. Baker says, and come to the home land for the ceremony. The amendment will discourage this laudatory spirit of sentimentalism, predicts, and all round, the last state will be worse than the first.

CRIPPLE SUSPENDED ON ASSAULT CHARGE
Judge Macbeth Frees Richard Brock On Bond of $100.

Richard Brock, who pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Talbot Macbeth on a charge of assaulting W. A. Hayden of the McClary Manufacturing Company, was allowed out on suspended sentence by the court this morning, after he had provided a $100 bond that he would keep the peace for one year.

Brock's counsel, J. M. McEvoy, K.C., pleaded for leniency, asking his honor to recall the representations that he had made to him on a previous occasion. Counsel pointed out that Brock had become a cripple through an accident at the McClary foundry, and was still a sick man requiring medical treatment. McClary had been to some considerable expense in the matter and a quarrel over payment of money had resulted in the assault.

Judge Macbeth pointed out to Brock the seriousness of the offence, and stated that he could sentence him to a long period of imprisonment.

"You commit a crime, and a brutal assault on a man considerably older than yourself," declared the judge. "However, you have been very unfortunate in many ways, and I have come to the conclusion, with some hesitation, that it will not be necessary to send you to prison."

"You are a cripple, and cannot do any work if you were sent to jail, and I am not satisfied that your mental condition is all that it should be. I understand that you have no money to pay a fine, and I am going to suspend sentence on you. However you must understand that you have to control your temper."

JACKSON-COWAN NUPTIALS SMART EVENT OF TODAY

Miss Kathleen Cowan Becomes Bride of B. T. Jackson of Simcoe.

IN FIRST CHURCH

Golden summer sunshine graced the wedding of one of London's loveliest brides this afternoon, when Kathleen Gordon Hadley Cowan, daughter of Mrs. Cowan and the late David James Cowan, became the bride of Bruce Thornley Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jackson of Simcoe, the Rev. (Col.) Wm. Beattie officiating.

The first Presbyterian church, scene of the wedding ceremony, was a bower of early summer bloom for the occasion. Guests numbering two hundred occupied the central pews of the church, which were marked off by clusters of mauve and white iris and shell-pink peonies, tied with large white chiffon bows. Tall standards of pink Darwin tulips, pink gladioli, iris and honeysuckle were placed in the front of the church, while the altar was banked with palms and ferns.

The bride was lovely in her nuptial robe of ivory French crepe satin, fashioned with new low, ruffles of rare old Florentine lace and trailers and knots of garden blossoms. The long, close-fitting bodice was trimmed with white lace, while the skirt, lined with apple-green georgette, fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with pearl ornaments.

Rose Point Trimming.
The bridal veil was of point d'esprit edged with rose point lace. Three and a half yards long, it was caught to the head, coronet fashion, falling to the tip of the train, where the rose point embroidery was seen again in a point of rich loveliness. The flow of rare old Florentine lace and trailers and knots of garden blossoms. The long, close-fitting bodice was trimmed with white lace, while the skirt, lined with apple-green georgette, fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with pearl ornaments.

The bride's table was centered with a lovely Italian garden with Venetian bowls filled with sweet peas, and long, close-fitting bodice was trimmed with white lace, while the skirt, lined with apple-green georgette, fell gracefully from the shoulders, where it was caught with pearl ornaments.

Gowns of Bridesmaids.
The bridesmaids wore prettily fashioned imported gowns of ecru georgette, made with a low flare at the knees and trimmed with bands of white bands of deep cream lace. Shell pink roses on shoulder and marking the waistline, added an attractive touch. Miss Kathleen wore her gown above a slip of white, while Miss Margaret McQueen of Toronto, the second bridesmaid, wore an under-slip of palest peach tone.

Their hats were made after the same pattern as the hat of the matron of honor, Miss White's, lined with green and cream, and showing a pale yellow lining. Gold shoes completed their costume, while bouquets of Columbia roses, mauve sweetpeas and lilies of the valley, caught with mauve tulle and mauve ribbons from which fell tiny showers of mauve sweetpeas.

Mr. Gordon Jackson of Simcoe, brother of the groom, acted as best man, while the ushers were Mr. Beverly Anderson and Mr. Pat Innes of Simcoe, Mr. Bill Cowley and Mr. George Grange.

Sings "Until."
During the signing of the register Miss Eleanor Kerr sang delightfully "Until." Her gown was of georgette in shades of roses shade, trimmed with lace, and she wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Birkhill, home of the bride's mother, on Talbot street. The house was fragrant with summer flowers, tall standards of Columbia roses and Laddie carnations being Reduced Charge.

Yesterday afternoon the grand jury threw out the charge against Hardy of attempted robbery with violence, but found a true bill against him on a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm. Hardy then decided to plead guilty to the assault charge which was read to him this morning by the crown attorney.

"Your counsel has made representations to me of your case which has caused me to take a more lenient view," the judge told Hardy. "It was very foolish and very wrong of you to try and take possession of the Wilkinson car, and it has led to very serious consequences. It should be a warning to you not to indulge in any further acts of that description."

The court then imposed a $50 fine and $50 court costs.

Dorothy Dix

*The Overworked Wife Whose Husband Is Too Pleasure-Loving—Shall She Marry
the Unknown Man?*

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am the young mother of two children, both babies. My husband is kind at home, makes us a fair living, but is out of town a great deal at his company's expense, with no limit to the money he can spend. He has a good time and easy work, and I have found out that he has flirtations that I am afraid to investigate for fear that I might find them worse than I know. I am worn out with caring for the house and babies and have no pretty clothes, though my husband dresses handsomely; and he objects strenuously to my hiring anyone to take care of the children, so that I might have a little outing or rest. He never takes me anywhere.

Now what am I to do? I am losing my youth and good looks. I am tired of submerging my own personality, but I hate to break up my children's home. My husband is foolish about his babies, and I am not prepared to make a living. Can you advise me?

A TIED MOTHER.

Answer: When I hear pitiful stories like yours, poor, little, tired mother, and they are told to me a dozen times a day, I wish that I could back all of such husbands as yours up against a wall and shake a little sense into their dumb, stupid heads.

For, without intending it or realizing it, they are torturing to death the wives they really love, and they are throwing away the most beautiful and priceless thing in the world.

They have all the material for happiness in their hands and they are letting it slip through their fingers. They are letting their wives' love die of neglect, and then some day they are going to wake up and wonder why marriage is a failure, and why the women they married have turned into shrews and peevish, complaining, nagging wives instead of being jolly, loving pals as they were when they were first married.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a lonely woman living in a small place where there are few men, and these few are all married. In desperation I answered an advertisement in a matrimonial paper. I have received a number of answers, but one especially interests me. Do you think I would be running a great risk to go out west to marry him? He says he is wealthy, and I never have had much. It is very alluring, but I thought I would write and consult you before deciding fully.

LOVELY.

Answer: Let me entreat you, lovely, not to do such a foolhardy thing as to go out west to marry some man whom you have never even seen and of whom you know nothing on the face of the earth. There isn't one chance in a thousand that he is even decent and respectable, to say nothing of being the kind of man that you have always thought that you would marry some day.

The right sort of men don't get their wives through advertising in papers for them. They don't want to marry the kind of women who would answer an advertisement and who would be willing to marry a man, sight unseen, because they are so crazy just to get married that they will take anything in trousers.

How can you have lived to be your age without knowing that the men who advertise for wives are nearly always crooks and adventurers, with some evil purpose in view? Don't you ever read the newspapers? If you do, you must have read of dozens of cases in which bigamists get their wives that way. There has been more than one case in which men married women with a little money and killed them, and then advertised for other

LONDON PRESBYTERY DIVIDED NEARLY EQUALLY OVER UNION

22 Congregations Have Voted To Enter New Church—
28 To Stay Out.

ONE CENTER YET

Latest Toronto Reports Show
1,673 Concurring and 667
Non-Concurring Churches.

With the date of union scarcely one week away and one center yet to report, the presbytery of London seems to have divided about evenly as to the number of congregations which will enter the United church of Canada and the number which will become units of the continuing Presbyterian church.

The most accurate figures available show that 22 congregations have voted to enter the United church, eight will automatically enter the United church by reason of their unanimous decision not to take a formal vote, while 28 congregations have voted against becoming units of the United church.

The congregations which have voted unanimously to enter the United church have a total member-

Presbyterian assembly, who will take a leading part in this week's historic conclave in Toronto.

ship of 702 persons, as follows:
Aylmer, 87; Springfield, 79; Payne's
Mills, 100; McBride's, Dunwich, 77;
Chalmers, Dunwich, 79; Kintore, 180;
Chelsea Green, 35; St. Paul's, London, 95.

The 22 congregations which voted concurrent or approval of the whole union proposal have a total membership of 5,029. Of this number, 2,807 votes were cast for union and 1,025 against union.

The 28 congregations which voted non-concurrence or disapproval of the whole union proposal have a total membership of 5,607. Of this number, 3,178 votes were cast against union and 1,273 for union.

Thus in the 50 congregations in which formal congregational votes were taken a non-concurrent majority of 123 votes is shown, the total standing 4,208 votes against union and 4,080 for union.

The vote by congregations, according to figures supplied by Rev. William Seattle, D.D., C.M.G., First Presbyterian church, London, and chairman of the presbytery's committee on church union, was as follows:

HITS COMPULSORY AUTO INSURANCE

Editor of Canadian Motorist Declares Legislature Would Increase Accidents.

Warren B. Hastings, editor of the Canadian Motorist, is not in favor of compulsory insurance for motor car owners, as advocated by many of the states in the republic to the south.
In the current number of the Canadian Motorist Mr. Hastings has the following to say:

"The 'to be or not to be' of compulsory motor vehicle liability insurance is a problem agitating motorists and law-makers the country over. In the legislatures there are bills to make the motor vehicle insurance as statutory prerequisite of licensing.

"The protagonists of compulsory automobile insurance contend that the public should be insured of in-demnification in case of personal and property damage, or damages resulting from an accident caused by a motor vehicle in which the driver is at fault.

Neutral Position.
"They point out that in many instances compensation for loss or injury to a person or possession has been impossible, due to the financial irresponsibility of some motor owners. At first it may appear paradoxical that the casualty companies are a unit in opposing the proposed laws. This seeming anomaly is explained by the fact that they are convinced that compulsory motor insurance would very soon result in state insurance, and so instead of greatly increasing their premium income, it would considerably decrease it."

"Some of the organizations of motorists have taken a neutral position in the controversy. Others are strongly opposed to the proposal.
They contend that the proposed act is 'Class' and 'paternal' legislation.
That in effect it would be adversely discriminating and subversive to the public weal."

INCREASE ACCIDENTS.

"It would be unsatisfactory because it would tend to increase, rather than decrease, accidents by virtue of the fact that a driver would know that the financial responsibility in case of accident would not be his, and because the general public would know that in face of injury, indemnifica-tion would be forthcoming.

"Thus the moral hazard—the most costly feature of liability insurance today—would be greatly increased.
Obviously this would not conduce to the public weal, and would very considerably augment the cost of personal liability and property damage insurance. In addition it would greatly increase litigation, and would impose a tax on motorists that would mount many times that of the sum of uncompensated injuries. It would burden many of one class for the benefit of a very few."

Port Stanley Resents It.

Residents of Port Stanley naturally resent having their village depicted as a "rum-runners' haven," such as was done in a recent issue of the Cleveland News. A special correspondent of that paper wrote: "The message this beer, ale and liquor resort on the edge of Lake Erie gives me to convey individually to 'Where-can-I-get-it' Clevelanders is 'We're waiting, my darling, for thee.' And take this tip from me—you can get 'fifficated' quicker here than any place in Canada I've run across."

The correspondent of the Cleveland News probably felt that, having made a trip for the purpose of getting a colorful story, he had to deliver the goods. Londoners know Port Stanley thoroughly; there are hundreds from here who spend the summer there, and they have a knowledge of conditions that the Cleveland man could not have possessed by reason of a visit of a day or so.

There is seldom a case of intoxication there, and the community itself has made excellent progress in stamping out what rum-running did exist from that port. The recent tragedy on the lake there stirred the villagers to renewed action, and reliable advice leads to the belief that they have the situation well in hand.

Ontario resents the sort of publicity that is being heaped upon it by U.S. border papers. Impetus was given to this by the government's policy on beer, and the situation has been exaggerated out of all relation to facts. Small wonder that Port Stanley is smarting under the latest deluge from the office of a paper across the lake.

The Greatest Thing In The World.

The spirit of heroism that refuses to consider self in its greater desire to protect others makes its appearance in children at a very early age. A notable example of this is furnished by a case in St. Catharines, where Rose Abdehl, aged seven, lies in the hospital, terribly burned, and with her young life hanging in the balance.

She was on the roof of her father's store with her four-year-old brother, who had found a box of matches which he proceeded to light, and his attempts were so successful that the entire box was blazing in his hands. The little sister rushed in to save the brother, and in a moment her light summer clothing was in flames. She may recover, yet the doctors hold few hopes in that direction, and add that she will be disfigured for life.

Call it what you like—explain that she should have been trained so that she could tackle the problem in greater safety—fact is that tragic incident on the roof of a fruit seller's store in St. Catharines was plain, untarnished, boundless love, and love's the greatest thing in the world.

Dr. Fosdick's New Pastorate.

The acceptance of the pastorate and the first sermon in Park avenue Baptist church, New York, by Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick has caused considerable comment in circles far outside of the Baptist denomination. Dr. Fosdick took the pastorate on condition that baptism by immersion should not be regarded as essential to church membership, and many writers seem under the impression that this is something entirely new. As a general thing Baptist churches regard immersion as the second step toward church membership, the first being conversion. There is nothing unusual in this, as practically all churches have the same idea, the point of difference arising as to the method employed.

Dr. Fosdick's church, which has in its membership such men as John D. Rockefeller and his son, J. D., is now in the ranks of the open communionists, nor is there anything particularly new about this, as the majority of Old Country churches follow the same plan. Neither is it a fact that Baptists refuse to allow members of other churches to take communion with them. There may be cases where the lines are closely drawn, but the general policy is to regard the communion service as a gathering at the Lord's table, and it is a matter for the individual to decide as to whether he should attend.

One writer in a Canadian paper, commenting on the "changes under the Fosdick pastorate," states that Baptists hold that immersion and salvation are inseparable. A little inquiry would have put the writer straight on this point. Baptists do not hold that baptism is necessary to salvation, nor do they believe that any church ordinance can have anything to do with the matter of a man's relationship with his God.

How Money Grows.

There are several ways of making a living, and one that may not be familiar to many Londoners came to light here a few days ago when a gentleman from Montreal called at the city hall with a proposition to recover money for the city, the existence of which was unknown to civic officials.

He proceeded to trace two amounts, one for $17.60 deposited by the board of health in 1854, and another item of $3.60 which stood to the credit of the "Village of London West" in the same year. The $17.60 is now worth $140, and the $3.60 has grown to about $29.

There is nothing intricate about this man's method of making a living. It's unusual, that's all, and probably others have not done the same thing because they have not the same inquiring sort of mind. He probably secures the statements of books, in which they make a report of all unclaimed amounts remaining on their books. It is then his business, and a very legitimate one, to get to work and find the owners of these unclaimed balances, taking his commission for his work according to the amounts recovered. There are cases where the work would no doubt be comparatively simple, and others where searching would require considerable time and expense. It is not difficult to understand that a person would be willing to pay a commission for the possession of a sum of money about the existence of which he previously knew nothing.

The Montreal gentleman, we understand, is carrying his operations to England shortly. It goes to show there are ways of making a living that are not written down under the usual classification of vocations. "Gold-digger" is a phrase that seems to fit and sufficiently describe this calling.

Action Is Overdue.

The mines of the British Empire Steel Corporation are still idle, and charitable individuals are sending in contributions as they have been doing for weeks to try and reduce the suffering that has followed the strike.

The last report is that there has been a suggestion to have the minister of labor act as go-between to see if there cannot be a settlement and resumption of work. This offer has been refused by the mining corporation.

Following the breaking off of negotiations in which the premier of Nova Scotia was acting as mediator, there were plain words spoken by the first man of the province, to the effect that the government would not tolerate dictation from the company, and that if necessary action would be taken to protect the interests of the people, who in this instance are the owners of the coal areas leased to the companies.

Is this Nova Scotia affair to be simply a fight to a finish, in which the miners will finally have to submit because they can no longer, to use the words of a company official, "stand the gaff"? Some definite action is long overdue in the Nova Scotia field.

They Are Both Wrong.

It makes a difference who is responsible for the statement, this one for instance, "Canada is fast going into the clutches of the United States."

The last man on record as having made it was a Mr. Morlarity, who claims to represent the communist party of Canada at the conference in Glasgow. Of course on all hands there are those ready to stand up and say he represents no person, and does not speak with authority. It is put down as the jargon of an irresponsible.

A London despatch to the Montreal Gazette points out, however, that exactly the same thing was printed in the British press a short time ago on the authority of "a leader of the Montreal stock exchange." We cannot recall any great number of people rushing in to rebuke that statement then, although it had no more foundation in fact than the more recent utterance of the communist delegate from Canada.

Small wonder that the British reader finds it hard to make up his mind definitely about the trend of public thought in Canada when he hears from both a communist and a leader of the Montreal stock exchange that this country is falling into the clutches of United States. They're both wrong, but how is the Britisher to know it?

Now, Let's See

Let's think a spell about the days that happened just four months ago, when we had mittens on our hands a-diggin' trenches in the snow.

On days like this when drops of sweat are parked in order on my snout, it be a puzzle now and then to pick the things to write about. For if I pen great gobs of truth and speak of profits and of loss, some jay will rise and holler out that such is naught but appeasement.

Or if I turn to moral truths and of the wicked men keep score, the reader wilts but half way through and makes a loud discordant snore.

We must not talk about the heat, complainin' 'bout it's so and so, because it's heat and thunder showers that make my leaks and garlic grow.

Let's reminisce a spell just now of days we had four months ago, when we had mittens on our hands and diggin' trenches in the snow. Let's speak of blizzards what we had, of days of drivin' in the sleet, when quilts was wrapped about our neck, goloshes strapped upon our feet.

You mind that mornin' when at six from off your humble couch you rose, and there was shivers in your shins and zero spots upon your toes. How you went creakin' down the stairs to see how sufferin' come about, and found how in the midnight hours the furnace fire had gone clean out.

And do you mind about the wind that scampered down from north and west, it come and swat you on the jaw and got beneath your buckskin vest—and when you got to home that night you shed your boots to thaw your toes, and how the whiskers on your chin had picked the moisture up and froze.

Before you went to bed that night you stuffed the cracks with flour and glue, you rolled a carpet to the door, put gum upon the keyhole too. You had hot bottles at your hoofs and six gray blankets on your bed, likewise you had a woolen cap pulled sixteen inches on your head.

And do you mind the cistern pump that froze up stiff in most no time, you had to tote hot water out to give the works a needed prime.

Perhaps you have forgot such things, they happened just four months ago, when we was grouchin' on the fact we had so much durned ice and snow. So think upon these things a spell, we measured snowbanks with a rule, for thinkin' on a track like that may help you start a-feelin' cool.—ARK.

To the Editor

Resents the Inference.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir—Rev. Dr. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist church, for one who belongs to the great organization which has never been known to do a mean thing, has overstepped the line when he asserts that it was the "wets" in the Presbyterian church who voted against church union and that the Presbyterian church as a whole had never been as much interested in temperance as the Methodists.

As a Presbyterian and a member of a church which went strongly anti-union, I protest against this statement and claim that the Presbyterian churches, in common with other evangelical churches, has always done its part in trying to make our dominion a temperance country, and has kept a clean record as well.

Since we wish to remain loyal to our church and wish to continue same, it appears to me, and I am sure will to others, that it was most unjust of Rev. Dr. Chown to bring the temperance question into the discussion at all, for surely no one could be a Christian if he were not interested in making our Canada a temperance country. A PRESBYTERIAN.

TWO COUNCILLORS DOUBT PROVINCE'S RIGHT TO CUT MIDDLESEX ROAD MILEAGE

West Williams' Reeve Declares District Hit Unfairly.

MAY CALL MEETING

Council Refers Motion To Special Committee On Highway Matters.

Middlesex county councillors are deeply interested in the Ontario government proposal to eliminate some 70 miles from the county road system, and are anxious for all available information from the highway department before they finally pass on the proposals.

A motion sponsored by the reeves of East and West Williams, William Ross and Thomas Elliott, that a special meeting of the council be called to discuss the matter with a departmental representative, was referred to the highway improvement committee of the council for a report, at the session yesterday afternoon.

The proposals of the department are going to eliminate a fair share of West Williams' county roads, Mr. Elliott states, and he wants to know all about it.

County Clerk John Stuart said that he had been in communication with S. L. Squires, deputy minister of highways, and that it had been found impossible to send a man to London this week to meet the council.

Charges Move Unfair.

Mr. Elliott said that he approved of the move to reduce county mileage, but didn't think that it would work out fairly for West Williams. He thought that the government should come to the council in the matter, instead of vice versa. He declared that West Williams had some township roads that were really better roads to the township than county highways.

County Engineer Charles Talbot, who was called on to explain the proposed move, said that the reduction of but 17 per cent in the mileage, or in other words, 70 miles. The engineer stated that the meeting in Toronto, asked for by the Hon. G. S. Henry, was an amicable one. There was no attempt made by the government to dictate to the county of Middlesex. Suggestions were made, however, as to the roads that should be cut out of the county system, and that good reasons were given in each case. The roads that reverted to the township system would be well taken care of this year, provision being made for them in the county estimates. There would be no changes made in the county system until next year, the engineer declared.

Wants County Post.

John Langley, Springfield park constable, requested that he be made a county constable for the summer season, in order that he would have jurisdiction outside the park. Action will be taken in the request later in the week.

A petition signed by seven ratepayers in the Lambeth school section, asking that the section be divided for public school purposes, was referred to the educational committee for consideration.

The hospital account, amounting to $1,396, was referred to Hospital Trustee Laidlaw.

Twelve of the 17 hospital patients, being cared for at the expense of the county, gave their addresses as Strathroy.

Strathroy Patients.

Councillor Pike, Strathroy, stated that some of the patients sent to the hospital had not lived in the town for any length of time. However, they had become ill, and therefore had to be looked after. Questioned by Councillor Reynolds, Mr. Pike stated that all cases were investigated by the authorities as to whether or not they could pay their way.

Daredevil Dies In Auto Jump

Canadian Press Despatch.
New Westminster, B.C., June 2.—Robert Swayne, 26, of North Bay, Ont., was instantly killed here Monday when attempting a long jump stunt with an automobile. The stunt consisted of rushing up a prepared incline at a speed of 40 miles an hour and jumping the car off an eight-foot platform, a distance of 40 yards. The car, instead of landing on four wheels, lurched to one side and struck the ground nose first, a distance of 28 feet from the platform, turned turtle, and crumpled up, a total wreck. Swayne was thrown out and landed on his head. He suffered a broken neck, fractured skull and other injuries.

Fatigued Pigeon Found At Port

Lying at Edge of Lake in Exhausted Condition.

Special to The Advertiser.
Port Stanley, June 2.—While workmen were engaged this afternoon on the beach erecting slides, they found a carrier-pigeon that, from all appearances, had travelled a great distance, as it was in a fatigued state. The bird was lying at the edge of the lake, and could not fly nor walk. Jack Wyatt, an L. & P. S. Railway employee, took the bird to his home, where he will keep it till its owner turns up. The bird carried two bands on its legs, one of rubber bearing the numbers 8845, and the other a metal band, on which was inscribed the following code: C. F. C. 24 X-1033.

Detroit, June 2.—Detroit won a battling game from Chicago here today 16-15, after the White Sox came from behind and wiped out the ten-run lead that the Tigers had at the start of the sixth inning. With the score tied at 15-15 in the ninth inning, with one out and the count three and two, Cobb asked out a home run into the right field bleachers, giving the Tigers their fourth consecutive series. O'Rourke and Kamm duplicated yesterday's feat in knocking out homers.

ROMMEL'S NINTH WIN.
Associated Press Despatch. Boston, June 2.—Philadelphia batted the Boston pitchers, Lucey and Wingfield, savagely today and took the second game of the series 15-10. Rommel had an easy time annexing his ninth win of the season. Boone clouted a long home run into the centerfield bleachers in the first inning. In the second inning, Lucey and Wingfield were hit for two runs each. Rommel and Boone, Lucey, Wingfield, Fehr and Pincich, Stokes.

GASTON TOO GOOD.
Associated Press Despatch. Cleveland, Ohio, June 2.—Milton Gaston's pitching proved too much for the Indians today. St. Louis won 8 to 2. It was a real battle for seven innings until Walter Miller, recruit outpaw, came in to pitch. With Jim Edwards pitching in the eighth, Bill Jacobs tripled two runs over the plate. In the ninth, Miller doubled three runs on Carl Yowell's first offering.

RUTH IS RIGHT THERE.
Associated Press Despatch. New York, June 2.—With a second stringer replacing slumping regulars, together with the presence and hitting of Babe Ruth, the Yankees today ended their five-game losing streak by repulsing the Senators 8 to 1. Bob Meusel knocked out his thirteenth and fourteenth home runs, the first coming in the third and the other in the eighth with two on base. Ruth's first hit of the 1925 season, singling in the fourth and doubling in the eighth, his last blow sending in the score that tied up the game.

WOODSTOCK RALLY IN 5TH BEATS BEACHVILLE

Bond Stars, Getting Homer and Triple in Slug-fest.

Special to The Advertiser. Woodstock, June 2.—A fierce battling rally in the fifth innings which netted them nine runs, the Woodstock Smoke Eaters hammered Charlie Kelly out of the box and defeated the Beachville quarrymen by a score of 12 runs to 1. In a Thames Valley league game played here this evening, Kelly pitched good ball until the fifth, but a home run by Wilson with the bases full proved his undoing. Beachville team were all but out, but a home run by Coulter to second giving them their lone tally in the sixth, after which the game was called on account of darkness. Pacesetter pitched nice ball, giving only four hits. Beachville's first hit at the bat, hitting a home run and a triple in his first two attempts at bat.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

ONE CLUB of each kind enough

some players carry TWO PUTTERS light putter for fast greens—hottler one for slower greens

Should a player have more than one masher or other club in his bag to use occasionally?

ABE G. ESPINOSA, One of America's leading professionals.

The average player claims that one club of each kind gives him proper equipment for his game, with the possible exception of the putter. Many golfers find that it helps their game to carry two putters—a light one for fast greens and a heavier one for heavy greens. While this is not absolutely essential, it might often prove very useful. Again, some players think that it helps them to have a change of putters handy, sometimes using the putting club and at other times making use of the aluminum putter. When they lose the touch with one, they shift to the other with good results.

Tecumseh's One Bad Inning Gives Kitchener Victory

Colts Put Across Four Tallies in Fatal Fourth Frame.

GAME PROTESTED

Special to The Advertiser. Kitchener, June 2.—The Kitchener Colts outthrew Mike Baker's Tecumsehs here tonight, winning 7 to 3. In the first of a three-game series, the Bakerites had one bad inning, the fourth, the homers tallying four times on a scratch hit, a well earned one, a base on balls, Allen's costly error when there was a possible double play, a single and a sacrifice. The Londoners tallied in the first frame, but the homers came back with two and after that were never headed, though the Tec had plenty of chances, eleven men being stranded on the paths, but they simply could not hit when bingles meant runs.

Conny Fields and Chuck Nosette started out on the base, but by the time they had reached first, the game was a hazy notion of the whereabouts of the plate, and Fields stopped in the fourth with the bags full. While Nosette also was derailed with the sacks full in the fifth, Delman and Brown did the relief act and they made much better of it, allowing fewer hits and having the range down fairly well. In fact, Delman allowed only five hits and one run, while Brown allowed three bingles and no runs.

The game under protest and, third, Brown stepped toward and stepping toward first threw the ball, and the umpire called a balk, but reversed his decision, and there was a warm argument, the upshot being that Mike Baker announced that the game was being protested.

Brower was the only Cockey to hit, getting three of the six bingles and bringing in two runs. Loopp, Kitchener right fielder, had a perfect day with four hits, one double, and George Orms had three singles in five trips. Baker's walk, Simpson's hit by pitcher and Brower's single gave the Tec one in the first, but the Colts came back with two in their half on a walk, a sacrifice and hits by Orms and Keating. The fourth was the disastrous one for London. One one, Loopp pitched over to Baker, the latter threw was bad, but the runner probably would have scored anyway. Loopp stole and Deleof beat a hit to second. Kitch walked, filling the bases. Nosette rolled over the plate, but the runner was through him, two scoring. Murphy's single tallied another, and the fourth was over on Knapp's sacrifice. Loopp London added two in the fourth when Vermilyea beat a punt and Simpson scored. In the fifth, Knapp pitched to Brower forced Kernan, but Vermilyea scored. Simpson tallied on Sandquist's sacrifice. In the sixth, Delman singled, filling the bases, but Delman struck out.

With one down in the sixth the Colts added another, when Knapp beat out a punt and stole, and Orms singled to left.

PLANT EVENTS SERIES.
Special to The Advertiser. Flint, June 2.—Flint bred the eeriest with Saginaw by winning today's game 5 to 3.

Hits by Jahn and Kuehl a double steal by the former and Tice, who walked, gained a lead off the bat in the second. Two singles and Tice's homer scoring Jahn with him, added three in the third, while Hruska hit for the circuit, his second in two days, to close the scoring in the fourth.

Saginaw broke up additional attacks by double plays. The Aces scored four runs in the seventh, after the game had been played by rain. Three errors, due to a slippery ball, Nunamaker's single and Inman's homer turned the trick.

off Bay City here this afternoon, 5 to 2. In a well-contested game, the locals seemed to have a had case of "charley horses," and missed several early chances. Hence, pitching for Bay City was a tough job, but the visitors do to hold the visitors down to eight blows.

The club greens will accommodate 85 rinks, but if this number is exceeded the other rinks will play on the new greens on the Ontario asylum grounds.

CROCKER PLAYING GOOD TENNIS.
Willard Crocker, who, with Jack Wright, gave an exhibition here last year on the London Tennis club courts, is apparently due for a wonderful season, judging by his form shown in a New York tourney. Of Crocker the Herald-Tribune says: "Willard Crocker, the young Canadian Davis cup player, was carried to two hard sets, at 6-4, 7-5, before he could eliminate Casper H. Nannes in the third round. Crocker was slow in getting his strokes working properly, and Nannes soon had a lead of 3-0. At this stage the Canadian steadied down and began an aggressive, hard-hitting attack, in which he forced the net position at every opportunity, winning six out of the next seven games, for the set."

AN IRISH LAUREL.
Where are the Murphy's, the Cassys, the Mulligans. Who made of baseball, all it has been; And the O'Flahertys, Doones, O'Halligans, Who gave the old game a sheen of the green?

Where the O'Malleys, the Dolans, the Hallihans, Where the O'Reillys and the O'Breens, And the O'Dyers, O'Keefes and O'Callihans, Who gave the old game a sheen of the green?

Readin' the box scores, sets me a ponderin' Ah, but it's sad and it raises me a spleen; Where are the Sullivans, that's what I'm wonderin', And all the rest of them who were the green?

For Sir Michael McTigue, the Milk Fund bouts were somewhat curdled. The main similarity between the O. H. A., the O. B. A. A. and O. A. L. A. and most of the other organizations is that they all end in "A."

WHENCE THE CHANGE.
Charles Gehrzner had no critics when here, but even his most loyal friends in London must ponder the change that Gehrzner has wrought in himself one season. Accepting 107 chances without a slip and making 34 hits in the same stretch with five homers injected here and there is a feat that seemed far beyond the big boy last year. The natural inference is that Gehrzner during the winter took a hitch on himself and decided to stop working. Working was his main handicap last year. If he made a boot, he didn't sleep and made more boots next day as the result of a sleepless night. If he went without a hit one day, he worried himself into a brief slump. Gehrzner probably decided they will promote a "back on the farm in Michigan" that this worry business was the berries.

Some of the rougher elements in baseball may have thought that Gehrzner lacked stomach as they say in baseballese. It is believed here it was thought out loud several times, but what they took for lack of courage in the crucial plays was perhaps a mixture of too much ambition and too much conscience.

THE SPANISH PRISONER.
The Spanish Prisoner letter still finds its victims and the tipster letters find theirs in daily doses. Twice bitten and some people who bet the ponies think they've got a real habit.

A breezy yet friendly letter arrived the other day: "Race-players are divided into two classes—amateurs and professionals. The amateurs GUESS; the professionals KNOW—if they didn't know the odds, they wouldn't bet diamonds and so to work. If you will guarantee me not to make any plays until thirty minutes before race time, I can let you have some real inside information—information that comes directly from professional race-speculators."

"I have a number of friends who make a business of playing the races—royal good fellows, all of them. They know I am laid up with rheumatism, and quite often, when they have something especially good, they wire me to get aboard and make myself some money. "This was dandy and fine as long as I was at my home in Cincinnati, but since the doctors ordered me to Florida, my information has been about as useless to me as a diamond necklace to a drowning man. —no papers that publish the odds and results—no one to take any bets. I am a little winter resort, in summer, dead as King Tut. Hence this opportunity for you to share my information."

Here's the dope: I do not want to make any plays until just before race time (this to prevent depreciation of the odds through money being telegraphed back to the track). I will let you have my information for $5 a wire, payable in advance—no more—no less—no other terms excepted. I do not have many plays, usually about one a week, but what they lack in quantity they sure make up in quality. Occasionally, one of the horses I am advised to play is disqualified, or prevented from winning by some combination of circumstances better than wire as for the winners. You will not regret the value of my information, and it is not necessary for me to peddle it around."

D. GOUDGE LINES GO EROU RENNIE

Men's Doubles Shows Indications of Being Feature of Tourney.

Special to The Advertiser.
Windsor, June 2.—Splendid progress was made today in the Western Ontario tennis championships. Leroy Rennie, 1923 Canadian champion, showed himself in fine form by winning two matches in the singles. He defeated D. Goudge of London, a very promising young player, and won a double match with his partner, E. A. Purkis from the Crompton brothers of Windsor. George O'Connell of Chicago, the western states indoor champion, showed a flashy tennis, and is picked to go through to the finals. One of Detroit's best players, G. E. Ewing, also very close match from Innes Taylor of Toronto after three strenuous sets. The Detroit player was very steady and outlasted his older opponent, E. Crompton of Windsor, and attractively left-hand player, after losing the first set to H. Abrams of Chatham, got on to the latter's serve shots and won the next two sets easily.

Several matches were played in the men's doubles, which show indications of being the big event of the tournament, as there are some very good pairs entered. The U. S. has two very good teams in A. Devine of Detroit and G. C. O'Connell of Chicago and the British brothers of Detroit, who won the title in 1923. The best Canadian pairs look to be the Roy Rennie and E. A. Purkis of Toronto and J. D. Cumming of London, last year's winner of the singles, and Innes Taylor of Toronto.

TWO LONDON WOMEN GOLFERS ELIMINATED

Miss Helen Baker's Match Goes To Nineteenth Hole.

MRS. HAY WINS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, June 2.—While there were surprises provided by the first round matches in the championship flight of the Ontario ladies' championship tournament at the Weston club today there were a number of close matches, one going to the nineteenth hole, and the greater number were in doubt until a few holes from home. Altogether there was a great improvement in the class of golf displayed in all eight flights, many of the players cutting ten or more strokes off their scores in the quality of play on Monday. This was particularly due to improved weather and course conditions, as well as to the players having a better knowledge of the course.

Three visiting players qualified for the championship flight, but only one, Mrs. Gordon Ferris of Hamilton, the defending champion, survived the first round, although the other two, Mrs. M. Graydon and Miss Helen Baker, both of London, were defeated in the closest matches of the round. Mrs. Graydon was eliminated 3 and 1 by Mrs. Goodie, the only successful one of the Weston club's three representatives in the flight, while Miss Baker, after being four down with five to play to Mrs. Hume Wrong of the Toronto club, won four straight holes and missed the 19th and drove out of bounds and lost the hole and the match by the next two sets easily.

Results.
Mrs. Strathairn Hay of the Toronto club, defeated Miss Helen Baker, London, by 3 and 1. Miss Margaret Walsh of the Toronto club gave the champion a strong opposition, winning only after a close 4 and 2 at the sixteenth hole.

Championship Flight Results.
Miss Ida MacKenzie, Mississauga, defeated Mrs. W. P. Dobson, Weston, 3 and 1.
Mrs. Strathairn Hay, Toronto, defeated Miss K. Christie, Lambton, 3 and 1.

Miss Margaret Laird, Toronto, defeated Miss Gladys Atkinson, Weston, 4 and 2.
Mrs. Hume Wrong, Toronto, defeated Miss Helen Baker, London, at the 19th hole.
Mrs. T. J. Agar, Mississauga, defeated Miss Margaret Langmuir, Mississauga, 7 and 5.

Mrs. J. A. Goodie, Weston, defeated Mrs. M. Graydon, London, 2 and 1.
Mrs. W. A. Whittington, Toronto, defeated Mrs. B. Mulholland, Summit, 4 and 2.
Mrs. Gordon Ferris, Hamilton, defeated Miss Margaret Walsh, Toronto, 4 and 2.

First Flight.
Mrs. W. G. Crompton, Toronto, defeated Mrs. F. A. Copus, Stratford, 5 and 4.

Local Seniors Are All Ready For Riversides

Baker or Quick To Start in Box For Seniors Today.

It was expected that either Baker or Quick would get the assignment against Preston Riversides here today.

Either one should extend the infant winning streak of the local seniors even against such heavy and free hitters as the Riversides proved themselves to be, not only against London, but against the top rung teams of the Intercounty. The locals had another workout last night and worked nicely in all departments. The pitchers especially all seemed to have a world of stuff on the ball in batting practice and the infield moved fast and with precision. The victory against Brantford heartened the locals up considerably and they should be a changed team against the Riversides.

The Riversides themselves won't be anxious to lose the game exactly, as they will have a fine opportunity of getting back up higher in the standing. With Galt and Guelph cutting each other down for the day, Stratford Barbs, flushed with their win over Guelph, should be the tough opposition for St. Thomas.

DIAMOND GLINTS

Willie Morrisette has broken into print again, but this time in a rather unpleasant way. The latest bulletin from the National Association of Professional Baseball players declares Willie an ineligible, which means that the eccentric one will not be heaving in polite society this year.

It often takes a ball player two or three years to acquire a habit. In that time he has run his career, and is lost to big league play. The latest example is Ted (Jackson) Pritchard, former star southpaw with the Flint club, Mint league. Pritchard had a habit of stepping off the pitching mound in turning his body. Ted took two short steps. It was regarded as a balk motion on numerous occasions. At other times, Pritchard was assessed balls instead of strikes. He never got over the trouble. He was sold to San Antonio, Texas league. He failed to stick because he could not get into the one-step habit. He came back and was sold to St. Paul. He started out with his two-step. He was called, and then tried to practice. This still had his balk motion. So the Saints have relegated him to class B company again. Pritchard is with Peoria, in the Three-Eye league. He still is trying to cure himself. He'll have to if he ever mounts into fast company. He has everything else, but the habit seems far away.

Emmett Brennan held St. Marys to two safeties, a double by Dick Christopher and a single by Stan Gardner. Tomorrow night St. Marys and St. Peter's will play at 6:30. The score: St. Peter's.....17 12 7 3

SEVEN HUNDRED DOCTORS CONVENE

American Physicians Inaugurate in England Most Remarkable Assembly in History.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News.

London, June 3.—Seven hundred doctors from all parts of America inaugurated here yesterday the most remarkable assembly in the history of medicine. They held their initial meeting in Wigmore hall, where the Duke of York welcomed them and praised their mission of inquiry into various phases of surgical science, which has made such extraordinary advances during and since the war.

Great Britain's most eminent medical men rallied today to assure the American pilgrimage every facility for studying at first hand every problem of interest, for hearing lectures by specialists and for witnessing operations by acknowledged masters.

One of the busiest men in London was Dr. William B. Peck of Freeport, Ill., who, acting as managing director of the assembly, guided his colleagues through the difficulties of moving from one part of London to another, helping them with their financial troubles and urging them to be prompt in attending clinics. He declared it had taken two years to organize this pilgrimage, which included thirty American women doctors, who were chiefly interested in diseases of women and children.

"We come here determined to extend in every way possible our knowledge of methods of lengthening life," said Dr. Peck. "And in this connection we intend to pay a great deal of attention to brain surgery, in which marvellous results are being achieved."

ANTI-TRUST LAWS ALLEGED USELESS

W. S. Morden, K.C., Doubts
Value at Manufacturers' Convention.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, June 2.—Four important reports were disposed of by the Canadian Manufacturers' association at its second annual business session today, and substantial progress was made in clearing up the various items on the agenda of the convention. Practically nothing of a controversial nature has so far emerged, and while varying views have been expressed on some questions by members from different parts of the country, there has been very general unanimity among the members of this "industrial parliament."

In reviewing the work of the legislative committee for the year, W. S. Morden, K.C., chairman, advanced the opinion that possibly Canada's legislative bodies held too many sessions, that were sessions held less frequently and more opportunity given to study legislation before its enactment there would not be such a flood of bills pouring each year through the legislative mills. Dealing with the combined investigation act and the suggestion that Canada should legislate further along the lines of the anti-trust laws of the United States, he declared that the experience there had been that, while many so-called combines had been dissolved, not much benefit to the consumer had resulted in the greater economy in the expenditure of public money, contending that in this direction lay the only solution of the taxation problem.

STRIFE STARTS IN SHANGHAI STRIKE

Europeans' Food Supply Cut Off by Students' Action.

By A. P. FINCH.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.
Shanghai, June 2.—Shanghai today began to feel the first effects of its general strike. Twenty-five thousand workers are out, affecting the municipal electric plant, tramways, telephones and four Chinese cotton spinning mills. It is expected that the workers in all the Japanese mills will be out tonight, as the strike is spreading. The telephone service is operated under foreign supervision. The tramways are running on restricted service. The electric plant is still operating.

The food situation is causing concern, as the foreign communities rely on the Chinese for food. All shops are closed. The municipal council, realizing the urgency of the situation, today appointed a food controller, with power to requisition all food. A transport director was also appointed to organize transportation facilities. The council is determined to maintain essential services, calling upon volunteers to assist. The trouble seems likely to last, as the students of Peking, Hangchow, Tientsin, Mukden and other cities have offered to support the Shanghai strike.

By HARRY NICHOLLS.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Mexico City, June 2.—Otto Stinnes, son of the late Hugo Stinnes, the German capitalist, has been in Mexico since Saturday, arriving at Puerto Mexico. He is reported to have closed important deals in the southern part of the region where he purchased regional products, especially coffee. He reached the capital on Sunday afternoon.

Students. They are endeavoring to make the local trouble a national issue, urging abolition of extra territoriality and foreign concessions. Shanghai students have declared a strike in all schools. The propaganda of war continues. Every house, lamp-post, door and shutter is covered with anti-foreign posters. Most of them are hand-drawn, featuring the turtle, the filthiest animal in the Chinese cosmogony.

WATERS STILL WAIT
RETURN OF AMUNDSEN

Search Party Will Start Tomorrow If Planes Not Back.

By JAMES B. WHARTON.

Special to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 2.—(Radio from steamer Farm.)—Until Thursday afternoon the remaining watchers at the Spitzbergen base will continue to hope for the return of the Amundsen-Ellsworth fliers via the air route. Amundsen, in his sealed instructions, fixed the fourteen-day limit for an aerial return, and until the last moment of that time is up, we shall keep vigil.

The weather continues so favorable that it is hard to believe the planes have failed. Today was so warm that we sprawled out on the hatch covers and dozed in a flood of tepid sunshine.

On the other hand, it is difficult to believe that Amundsen would spend a full fortnight at the pole.

fering from an attack of appendicitis and is now in a sanatorium. It is reported that he has been operated on, but this has not been confirmed.

Newspapers assert that the object of his visit is to study general conditions in Mexico, but in certain quarters the view is held that his errand is to arrange an important deal in petroleum to supply the shipping interests which he controls, especially the Hamburg-American line.

PLANT HEAD BURNED IN KITCHENER BLAZE

R. Koeber Suffers in Gasoline
Fire at Brickmaking Plant.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Danish Cities Hit By Strikes

By CHRISTIAN HUMUS.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Copenhagen, June 2.—The labor situation in Denmark again has become critical. After many unsuccessful endeavors to settle the conflict, a seamen's strike was declared last night. Sailors of Danish vessels lying in Danish ports ceased work, paralyzing all traffic between Danish and foreign ports. At present 1,000 men are affected. Exports to England probably will be maintained by volunteers. Strikes are costing the country several million crowns a day.

BISHOP SWEENEY FEARS NEW BEER

Anglican Synod Opens at Toronto—Interested in Union.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, June 2.—Bishop Sweeney, in his address to the synod of the Anglican diocese of Toronto today, expressed regret that the alcoholic content of beer on sale in the province has been increased. Commenting on church union, Bishop Sweeney said that with deepest interest the movement involving the union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational bodies as a living force and religious power in the dominion. In regard to the Ontario temperance act, Bishop Sweeney said a grave and important change had been made, he continued:

"While we appreciate the difficulties in which the government found itself in analyzing the last vote on the question as between different expressions at the polls, we could have wished that the act had remained as it was in the matter of the alcoholic content of liquor sold for beverage purposes and more time given with better and more rigorous enforcement on the part of the authorities to allow the younger generation to continue without greater opportunities for forming a habit such as the present-day provision, we greatly fear, result in."

CLEVELAND BOAT WILL STAY ON RUN

Officials Deny City of St. Ignace To Be Taken Off Route.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

Port Stanley, June 2.—Officials of the Western Reserve Navigation Company, who are operating the steamer City of Ignace between this port and Cleveland, deny reports published in London papers about taking the St. Ignace off this run. It is true that the boat company officials are dissatisfied with the condition of the harbor, but, as they have met with the best of success in regard to their freight and passenger trade so far, it is assured that the boat will be kept in operation during the coming summer.

The government is rushing work on the harbor and already a large dredge and a large number of scows are being used in the work. An additional dredge is expected to arrive here the first of next week to help with the work. It is expected that the work on the harbor will be completed early in September.

HOUSE SPURNS MEIGHEN IN GIVING GOVERNMENT GREAT MAJORITY OF 110

Liberals, Progressives, Laborites and Independents Vote Against Meighen's Want-of-Confidence Motion—Tory Leaders Exhaust Powers On High Tariff Wall Policy—Government's Greatest Margin Received With Much Enthusiasm.

PROMISES RETURN OF IMPLEMENT DUTY

By E. C. BUCHANAN.
Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.
Ottawa, June 2.—The government secured its greatest majority of the session on a want of confidence division tonight, precipitated by Mr. Meighen. Its majority was 110, the vote being 147 to 37 against the motion. Only the members of his own party voted with the Conservative leader. The Progressives, Laborites and Independents voted solidly with the government. Two members who were in the House during the debate were absent during the division. They were McCrea, Sherbrooke, Protectionist-Liberal, and Irwin, the Calgary Labor member, who voted with the Conservatives on the budget, and declared at that time that, despairing of securing free trade under the Liberals, he was willing to try protection under the Conservatives. He did not remain tonight to follow up this declaration by a vote.

Ottawa Old Question.
The huge majority was gratifyingly presented to the government by the Conservative leader. In moving at this time, after the month's debate on the budget, his protection resolution that has been on the order paper since the commencement of the session, he created a departure from established procedure, under which a question once discussed and disposed of is not revived at the same session. Although the prime minister accepted the motion as one of want of confidence, the tariff debate that ensued lasted throughout the day.

The government majority was received with tremendous enthusiasm. It came just as news was received from Saskatchewan that the Liberals there were leading in the majority of constituencies in the provincial elections. Mr. Meighen presented his resolution as an amendment to the government motion to resolve the house into a committee of supply, and discussed it for two and a half hours. In the discussion, he offered the House and the country the fiscal policy of his party. He promised, if returned to power, to revise the tariff to the extent of providing such protection for Canadian industries as they required, and to stop the diversion of raw materials, including electric power, to the United States.

Outlines Whole Policy.
Mr. Meighen, who is reported to have spent more time on the preparation of today's speech than on any of his formal utterances for some time, gave a very comprehensive outline of his fiscal policy and his conception of the requirements of Canada. As he and his lieutenants

The White Robin Is Comforted When He Meets the White Squirrel

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.
Of course no one can be made to feel that they are queer, and because they are queer are not wanted, without having their feelings hurt somewhat. While the Robin whose coat was all white didn't mind so very much being left severely alone by all the other feathered folk, there would be times when he felt badly because he was queer. Of course he didn't consider himself queer, but he knew that his neighbors did.
"If only I could find someone also queer I would feel a whole lot better," thought the White Robin. "Yes, sir, it would be very comforting to know that someone else is just as queer as I am. But by the way everybody acts I guess I am the only one who ever had an odd coat. Yes, sir, I guess I'm the only one."
Now at this time the White Robin happened to be sitting in a tree on the edge of the Green Forest. As always, his bright eyes were watching every insect that came near him, and he was very stant that no enemy might take him by surprise. Suddenly he gave a little gasp, and leaned forward that he might see better. His eyes had caught sight of something moving on the ground just within the Green Forest, and that something was white. He blinked his eyes very fast to make sure that there was nothing in them and that he was seeing all right. Then he flew over to another tree, and as he did so he saw another small person, also dressed all in white, and this small person was scurrying up a tree. When he reached with his back to that branch, and a flat, bushy tail curved over his back.
The young Robin caught his breath. "It's a squirrel!" he gasped. "It's a pure white squirrel! I never have heard of such a thing. I never have heard of such a thing, so it can't be, yet it is. He flew right over to that very tree. "Who are you?" he demanded bluntly, and most impolitely.

The little stranger in white stared at him very hard. "I don't know that it is any business of yours who I am. But if you really want to know, I'm a Red Squirrel."
"You're not, either! You're a White Squirrel," retorted the White Robin.
Right away the Squirrel lost his temper, just as Red Squirrels would. "I tell you I'm a Red Squirrel," he sputtered. "My father is Chatterer the Red Squirrel, and if that doesn't make me a Red Squirrel I don't know what would. Who are you?"
"I'm a Robin," was the prompt reply. "You're not, either," retorted the White Squirrel. "Who ever heard of a Robin with a white coat?"

"Who ever heard of a Red Squirrel with a white coat?" retorted the young Robin.
Then for a full minute they stared at each other. It had come to each that here was someone who knew exactly how the other felt. "Say," said the young Squirrel, "do folks call you queer?"
The young Robin nodded his head. "They certainly do," said he.
"And do they refer to have anything to do with you?" continued the young Squirrel.
The young Robin confessed that this was the case. Then he signed and it was a happy sigh. "Do you know," said he, "I'm feeling comforted!"
"Why are you feeling comforted?" demanded the young Squirrel.
"Because you are queer!" replied the young Robin.
"No such thing. I'm not queer," sputtered the White Squirrel, and jerked his white tail as if he would jerk it apart. "I'm no more queer than you are."
"But I am queer," replied the young Robin. "Anyway, that's what everyone says. But now I feel better."

June Ushers In a Season of Weddings

"Happy the bride that the sun shines on!" Sunny summer days assure a promising commencement for the important venture.
Not in June alone—traditional month though it is—but all through the summer, the bride will be a radiant figure.
And none more serenely beautiful than she who knows her gown, her wedding appointments, and preparations for the reception afterwards are perfect in every detail!

For the TROUSSEAU.
For the CEREMONY.
For the GUESTS.
The WEDDING TRIP.
The NEW HOME.
The FIRST RECEPTION.

Nowadays the bride chooses between the formal beauty of white satin and orange blossoms for her dress—and the informal smartness of a going-away costume.
And shapes her wedding plans accordingly! But in either case, there's a host of major details and a multitude of minor ones to which the bride—or her busy mother—must give attention.
All departments at this season are giving specialized attention to the requirements of the bride. And a shopping tour will reveal thoughtful consideration of all the wedding needs. Incidentally, a telephone call to the Shopping Service at any time can relieve a busy household of the many little needs that occur in the arid preparations.
