AVIATION CAMP FOR BRANTFORD---REPORT ON COST OF BREAD IN CANADA

Fresh Thrust This Morning Nets British Gains

BOLA PASHA WAS SECRET HUN AGENT

French Master Spy Was in Pay of Count Von Bernstorff.

ARRESTED IN FRANCE

Investigation Into His Activities May Have Big Developments.

By Courier Leased Wire.

New York, Oct. 4.—The investigation of Paul Bolo Pasha's secret activities and bank accounts here by State Attorney-General Lewis is expected to go far to reveal the entire structure of German plotting in the United States.

Proof that German money was supplied in this country by Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador, to Bolo Pasha, was to be forwarded today to Jules J. Jusserand, French ambassador, to be communicated by him to his government. Bolo Pasha is under arrest in Paris as a spy, his detention following the disclosures contained in Mr. Lewis' preliminary report to Ambassador Jusserand on Bolo Pasha's activities here. Included in the documentary proof, according to Attorney-General Lewis are photographs—reproductions of checks, bank records, letters, cablegrams and other evidences of the disposition of the German money furnished Bolo Pasha in this country by ex-Ambassador Bernstorff.

The investigation by Attorney-General Lewis began eleven days ago. The amount of money which Bernstorff, through his financial agents, used in this country to Bolo Pasha totalled $1,683,500, the money coming into possession of Bolo Pasha after it had passed through a carefully prearranged system of transfers from one bank to another to hide its origin, and to make it impossible for any bank to know what part the other institution had in the transfer.

The banking institutions which formed what the attorney-general terms "the circle around which the money travelled on its way to Bolo Pasha" were the Deutsches Bank, the National Park Bank, the Guaranty Trust Company, J. P. Morgan and Company, and the Royal Bank of Canada. With the exception of Adolphe Paventest, none of the New York bankers had any reason to believe, it is said, that there was anything strange in the transaction. Paventest was examined yesterday by Mr. Lewis.

As soon as the money reached the Royal Bank of Canada, New York branch, in which it was deposited to the credit of Bolo Pasha, the latter began to check it out.

The attorney-general emphasized in his statement that the developments in no way reflect on any of the banks named, the Deutsches Bank, of course, excepted.

The evidence collected by Mr. Lewis also shows that Bolo Pasha called at the home of William Randolph Hearst, complimented Mr. Hearst on the beauty of his dwelling place, and a few days before leaving for Europe was present at a dinner in Sherry's at which Mr. Hearst was also a guest. It is also indicated that Bolo Pasha met the publisher of The American on other occasions.

East of Ypres British Attacked on a Wide Front This Morning, and are Recording Satisfactory Progress During the Day--Britain to Take Reprisals For Air Raids

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Oct. 4.—Field Marshal Haig has begun a new offensive east of Ypres. The official statement from British headquarters in France, issued to-day says that the British attacked at six o'clock this morning on a wide front and are making satisfactory progress. A number of prisoners already have been taken.

ADOPT POLICY OF REPRISALS.

London, Oct. 3—(Delayed)—According to The Standard a policy of reprisals for German air raids has been decided upon.

That such a decision had been reached by the British Government was indicated by Premier Lloyd George's statement on Tuesday that Germany would be bombed with compound interest.

QUIET ON FRENCH FRONT.

Paris, Oct. 4—"The night was calm," says to-day's official statement, "except on the right bank of the Meuse, where the artillery on both sides was very active."

HUNS SURRENDER BY HUNDREDS.

British front in France and Belgium, Oct. 4—(By The Associated Press)—Field Marshal Haig's forces in the offensive begun to the east of Ypres this morning in some places have penetrated the German lines to a depth of one mile and have over-run the crest of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt ridge. At an early hour the Germans were surrendering by hundreds.

SUMMARY OF SITUATION.

Striking again on a wide front east of Ypres, the British this morning began another drive at the German lines in Flanders. Field Marshal Haig in his early report announced that satisfactory progress was being made. Already a stream of German prisoners is being sent to the British rear.

The renewal of the Flanders drive comes after an eight day interval. On Wednesday of last week the British swept forward over on both sides of the Ypres-Menin road, advancing from a half-mile to a mile at various points along the line.

Some of the heaviest fighting in the war on the western front followed the Germans making assault after assault in desperate attempts to regain the valuable high ground they had lost. Almost every inch of it, however, was held intact by the British, who were preparing for the next forward push.

To-day's renewal of the drive, the battle of Flanders is growing more and more to resemble last year's battle on the Somme, which was followed by the memorable Hindenburg "strategic retreat." The same general tactics now being pursued of persistent driving at the same point in the line are evidently expected by the British to achieve a similar result. This time, however, the ground which would have to be abandoned would be far more valuable to the Entente and its loss correspondingly a heavy blow to the Germans, for the German-held Belgian coast line, with its submarine and aerial bases is at stake, together with the great French manufacturing city of Lille and wide stretches of territory in northern France and Flanders.

PRICE OF BREAD HAS INCREASED IN CANADA BECAUSE OF USE OF CONTRACT FLOUR BY BAKERS THIS SUMMER

Interim Report Submitted By W. F. O'Connor, Acting Commissioner on High Cost of Living, to Minister of Labor, Gives Figures on Production of Bread in Various Parts of the Dominion—Use of Contract Flour Entailed an Increase this Summer, Despite Drop in Wheat—For Brantford, Average Cost of Flour During July was $11.14 Per Barrel.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Mr. W. F. O'Connor, K.C., acting commissioner on high cost of living in Canada, has issued an interim report to the minister of labor, giving some figures on the cost of production of bread in Canada. Mr. O'Connor has been conducting an investigation during the past six months into the milling industry in Canada, on which he will make an exhaustive report to the minister of labor shortly.

The table showing the present cost of production of bread in the principal cities of Canada, reveals that cost of bread per pound is highest in Vancouver and New Westminster, B.C., viz. 7.38 cents per pound. In Montreal the cost is 7.68 cents; in Halifax 7.53 cents, Winnipeg 6.85, Toronto 6.60 and in Ottawa 6.44.

Mr. O'Connor in his report notes that an increase in retail price of bread has occurred during the month of August and September in nearly all the largest cities of Canada. He says: "The reason is obvious. Except in the case of St. John and Winnipeg, the cost to the bakers of the flour used in the month of August was higher than that used in the month of July. Despite the drop in the price of flour and the drop in the price of wheat. The reason for this is that the bakers were using contract flour ordered in many cases last fall. The supplies of this contract flour are now practically all exhausted. Toronto, Ottawa, London and Vancouver purchased flour for current use at the current price in August. With the fixed price of wheat will come without doubt a fairly uniform price of flour, which the previous calculation will show to be about $11.40 in Ontario and Quebec for first patent flour. In the event of the fixing of the price of flour some supervision should be exercised to insure that a standard quality is maintained.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Mr. O'Connor's report to the minister is, in part, as follows: "A report concerning the milling industry of Canada is approaching completion and I expect to deliver it to you very shortly. In the meantime, however, the investigation into bread costs and prices, is sufficiently advanced to enable the delivery of the following interim report.

"Many of the producers of bread throughout Canada have in the course of the past six months been induced to so provide that they could make returns as to the actual cost of bread production, with the result that I am now able to cite precise costs in the various cities within Canada where, in any variance in cost exist, the same ought to be apparent. For immediate purposes I submit a table (No. 1), showing bread costs as of this day in six Canadian cities extending from east to west. This table is based upon the bread production of one barrel of flour at to-day's price of flour. The bakers use first and second patents, so that the table is prepared upon the basis of to-day's cost of one half barrel of first patent and one half barrel of second patent flour. I take into consideration the cost of flour for one pound of bread, the ordinary ingredients, the cost of baking, of delivery, management and depreciation, per pound. No other elements, so far as the reports of the bakers show, enter into the production and delivery to a buyer of a pound of bread.

"The figures shown are the composite cost made up from all the reports of the particular cities mentioned in the report.

"I am absolutely satisfied of the correctness of the returns made so far as they deal with materials and ingredients, and I have no reason to doubt though, I am not as well able to judge as respects any other particulars thereof. The relations as to materials and ingredients have been compared with a formula of costs of material, which, to my knowledge, is that used by the baking trade generally. The formula is based upon a yield of 260 pounds of bread per barrel, that being the yield which experience has shown is ordinarily to be anticipated as realizable from one barrel of flour. This formula when applied to the current price of flour to bakers in car lots, or mixed car lots, namely $11.40 per barrel, for first patent and $10.90 per barrel for second patents, results in a cost of bread, for flour and ingredients of 4.838 cents in Ontario; and approximately 4.88 cents in Montreal and Quebec, 5.1 cents in the Maritime provinces, 4.8 cents in Fort William and the western provinces, and 4.84 cents in Vancouver.

"For obvious reasons I do not include the formula within this report, but I retain it for the purpose of checking all future relations.

"Manufacturing and delivery costs quite naturally vary in different centres. In Montreal, for instance, delivery costs run high, as compared with those of Ottawa or Toronto. In all probability the greater delivery distances and the hilly nature of the city of Montreal furnished the reason for the variance.

"I have worked out the results on a pound basis. In cities where the ordinary loaf is one and a half pounds or two pounds, by reference to the table, the proper cost of such a loaf in such cities can be easily ascertained.

"I do not undertake in this interim report to deal with selling prices. Having furnished a statement of true cost per pound of bread right up to the minute, it will be able to know about what bread is costing delivered at his door. The costs shown are fair examples of those which ought to prevail in the immediate locality of the cities mentioned in the table.

The report contains a table showing the cost of bread per pound in ten cities, based on actual cost for the month of July and August as shown by returns received from the bakers. In each case more than 50 per cent. of the total amount of bakers' bread sold in these cities is reported on.

Beginning with Halifax, the table shows the average cost of flour used in baking during the month of July to be $8.20 and $9.25 in August. The cost of flour, ingredients, bakers' bread per pound of bread was 5.767 cents in July and 6.533 cents in August.

For Montreal the average cost of flour per barrel used in baking during July was $9.61, and in August $10.14. Manufacture and delivery per pound loaf, was 8.241 cents in July and 7.264 cents for August. Average cost of purchased flour was $9.20 in July and $10.39 in August.

For Toronto the average cost of flour per barrel used in baking during July was $11.19 and in August $11.95. Cost of manufacture and delivery was 6.561 in July and 6.847 in August. Average cost of flour per barrel used in baking during July was $9.81 and $11.81 in August.

For London the average cost per barrel was $12.04 in July, August not reported. Cost of manufacture and delivery in July was 6.471. August not reported.

For Brantford, the average cost of flour per barrel used in baking during July was $11.44; August not reported. Cost of manufacture and delivery in July was 6.364. August not reported.

LABORITES APPEAL TO ARMY MEN

German Military Leaders Urged to Hasten Munition Production.

ISSUE IS VERY GRAVE

Hindenburg's Birthday is Overlooked in Stress of Situation.

REFORMS ARE DEAD

Proposed Re-Division of Reichstag Has Flivvered Out.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—Leaders of various groups of German labor were received at main army headquarters this week not for the purpose of congratulating Field Marshal von Hindenburg on his birthday, as first was intimated, but in an effort to have German workmen speed up the production of munitions. The leaders emphasized to General von Ludendorff, the chief quartermaster-general, the complaints of the laboring classes. These dealt particularly with the operation of the compulsory labor service law. A lengthy conference was devoted to discussing the possible improvement of the conditions of labor and maintenance of the output of munitions which General von Ludendorff declared was the cardinal duty of the hour.

Recently private, but trustworthy reports have been received by the Associated Press that the German authorities were experiencing difficulty in preventing a falling off in the production of munitions owing to the lowering of the working capacity of the individual, underfed workmen and the scarcity of certain raw materials, notably, the more rare metals used in the manufacture of high grade steels. There have been persistent reports that nickel was embarrassingly short in Germany. It is doubtful also if Germany will be able to keep pace with further increases in Anglo-American production if indeed, it is now even holding its own.

Reliable reports from so widely separated sectors of the western front as Flanders and the Argonne say that the German artillery has strict orders to spare ammunition in every way possible.

Produce Materials

Amsterdam, Oct. 4.—Fears that Germany might possibly be unable to continue flight owing to the lack of raw material, have been answered by Major-General Schuerh, the new minister of munitions, who, according to a despatch from Berlin, says: "Regarding the supply of raw materials, particularly those required for the manufacture of guns and munitions, we are not dependent solely on the stock in hand, which, moreover, was not exhausted in order to produce them, and this production is proceeding satisfactorily."

General Schuerh admitted that production was interrupted temporarily last year because of transport difficulties. Although these seem to have been overcome the minister of munitions expects a probable recurrence the coming year.

Reforms Ditched.

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—German newspapers report that the project for granting additional representation to overgrown reichstag districts and for introducing the principle of proportional representation in the large cities is on the rocks. The government, while flastly rejecting all other proposals of the reichstag and for introducing the principle of proportional representation in the large cities is on the rocks. RAID IN MACEDONIA.

London, Oct. 4.—A successful raid by British airplanes on hostile positions on the Macedonian front, is reported in an official statement from the War Office to-day. The statement says: "Our airplanes made a most successful raid on an extensive scale, bombing the enemy's camps and dumps on the Belaschita-Plana. Four troops were scattered by machine gun fire and one of several enemy airplanes which attacked our formation was brought down. All our machines returned safely."

BRANTFORD FAIR A WINNER DESPITE THE WEATHER

Agricultural Exhibit of South Brant Yesterday the Mecca of Three Thou- sand Visitors—Splendid Array of Exhibits—The Prize List

(By a Staff Reporter.)
Brantford, Oct. 4.—In spite of inclement weather, and the recent disaster of the burning of the buildings on the fair grounds, the Brantford Fair this year, as on former occasions, rose superior to all obstacles, and notched another success in its long career. From all sections of the county and from outside points visitors flocked throughout the day to this, the greatest event during the year in South Brant agricultural circles. The attendance numbered over three thousand, and the results of the various classes, a decrease of $300, as compared with last year.
This deficiency will be made up by the Government rain insurance, from which a maximum of $300 can be claimed.
"Considering the weather, we've done simply wonderfully," declared the indefatigable secretary-treasurer,
W. F. Miles, last evening, in discussion the exhibition of 1917. "The directors and officers were completly satisfied at the result of their efforts and in spite of the double disaster of burnt buildings and poor weather, are exceedingly optimistic regarding the prospects for a greater and better event next year."
The horses were the feature of the exhibit, and the light harness horses were especially good. The entries were numerous and competition keen. Judge Frank Brock, of Crofton, an experienced horseman, stated last night that he had not in the last five years witnessed such a fine collection of horses in action in any one ring. The poultry and stock classes were a little less than in former years, the labor situation probably being the cause of this falling off in exhibits. Fine arts and ladies' work exhibits were first class in quantity and quality and showed to quant advantage in the new building. In view of the poor crop for this year, the fruits were also very good.
Grain and roots were somewhat short. Dairy and provisions were much better than in former years.

THE SITUATION
 The expected new offensive of the British on the Western front is now taking place. It was launched early this morning east of Ypres, and is reported to be proceeding satisfactorily, with many prisoners already taken. Yesterday the Germans made vigorous attempts to regain the ground recently lost in the same region, but without result.

The official figures with regard to losses to British vessels by submarines last week make very encouraging reading. The total was eleven over 1,600 tons, and two under that figure, and is the smallest yet recorded since the Huns started to cut loose with the avowed intention of starving out the Old Land.

The Italians still continue to keep matters well in hand on their front, and to beat off counter attacks of the Austrians.

It is generally felt that the action of Great Britain in placing a complete embargo on shipments to the northern neutrals of Europe will serve to still further enhance the strangle hold upon supplies for the Teutons. The hearty co-operation of the United States is going to help still further in this respect.

The Germans are stated to be experimenting with a big tank in order to try and offset the British variety.

Speaking at the Canadian Club in Toronto yesterday, Lord Northcliffe stated it as his opinion that the submarine menace was still the chief problem, and the need of ships most urgent. He doubted whether even the United States was yet cognizant of the importance of shipping for the transport of her troops. During his remarks he paid a high tribute to the magnificent work of the Canadian troops.

THE Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN.

The effort to wipe out the $45,000 of debt still resting on the Brantford Y.M.C.A. should meet with cordial support on the part of those able to give.

It is just fifty years ago that a branch of this splendid organization was established in Brantford and the amount of good accomplished under its auspices cannot be computed in words.

In addition to other comprehensive operations the association has also been a tower of strength in connection with war activities. The accomplishments of the "Y.M." at the front have received the most cordial endorsement and unstinted praise from generals to privates in the ranks, and the home institutions have thrown their doors and their advantages wide open to the men in khaki. The Brantford branch has especially taken a foremost part in this respect and is still keeping up the good work in an unrestricted manner.

It is worthy of note that while Mr. I. Cockshutt was the foremost figure in establishing the institution here thirty years ago, his son, Lieut.-Col. Harry Cockshutt, is chairman of the Citizens' Committee, which is now endeavoring to wipe out the existing indebtedness. With the hearty co-operation of the members and goodwill of the citizens, the ob-

THE REAL RENEGADES

The Peterboro Examiner becomes exceedingly wrathful over a statement issued from Ottawa, that some "win the war" Liberals may be included in a re-organized Cabinet.

It says with reference to names mentioned, that they "are not Liberals, or if they are, they are renegade Liberals, who have denied the faith."

As an illustration of extreme and narrow-minded partisanship, during a period of Empire peril, the remarks of the Examiner certainly take high rank.

That paper seems to consider any move of a coalition nature as a Conservative dodge. In what way? Does the Examiner so regard the act of existing ministers in placing their resignations in the hands of Premier Borden so as to give him clear scope in negotiations leading towards the bestowal of Portfolios upon Liberals? That certainly has not constituted a partisan act upon their part, any more than any one, except of the most jaundiced vision can believe, that any Liberals prepared to join hands on behalf of the great cause are thereby stultifying themselves and their political beliefs.

Hon. George Brown, when it came to the Confederation issue, sunk his animus towards Sir John Macdonald. He resumed it later, it is true, but he was big enough to merge his political prejudices in view of a great national undertaking. The present life and death struggle transcends by far anything which has ever previously faced Canada, or the Empire, and to that much greater extent mere partyism, as such, should be obliterated. They have done that in the Old Land, and why not here? But, perhaps, the Examiner thinks that Balfour, Bonar Law, and other Conservatives have agreed to serve under a Liberal Premier because they also have some diabolical party plot in hand.

To call such men "renegades" would be an insult, and it is equally an insult to apply such a term to men in the Dominion, who are sincerely anxious, regardless of anything else, to have Canada maintain her proper part in the vital fray.

As a matter of fact they are the patriots while those of the Peterboro Examiner type belong to the renegade class.

LAURIER TO RETIRE
 Premier Borden has labored long and earnestly to bring about a fusion government at Ottawa on a "win the war" basis. Falling in the first place to secure the co-operation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he at once opened negotiations in other directions meeting with more than one rebuff, but still adhering closely to the object he had in view. As the outcome Lt.-Col. C. C. Ballantyne, a prominent Montreal Liberal, was yesterday sworn in as Minister of Public Works, and Mr. Guthrie, M.P., also a Liberal, is likewise to enter the Cabinet.

On top of this there is the announcement that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is more than likely to retire from the Liberal leadership. The Toronto Globe, in connection with such an event, says a "united Liberal party is now in prospect," but that is not the point to be emphasized. It is that political opponents are joining hands in an administration to deal with the present great Empire crisis.

After a short time he deserted from there. LAURIER ANXIOUS TO RESIGN LEAD Liberal Chieftain Would Remain in Politics, But in Minor Capacity.

By Courier Leased Wire
 Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has notified a number of prominent Liberals his desire to be relieved of the office of leader of the party, which he has held for thirty years. He is, however, still leader and has insisted upon the acceptance of his resignation immediately. Before he makes his final decision he will consult party associates in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario. He left Ottawa for Montreal this afternoon and will go to Toronto.

Sir Wilfrid communicated his desire to retire to a gathering of party friends at his own home last night. The party included P. P. Pardee, M.P., the chief Liberal whip in the Commons; E. M. Macdonald, M.P. for Pictou; E. B. Carvell, M.P. for Cardston, N.B.; and Hon. James A. Calder, of Saskatchewan. These gentlemen were present at the meeting of Liberals called by Sir Wilfrid and held in Montreal last week. At the conference plans for the approaching election were discussed. On his return to Ottawa, however, Sir Wilfrid called Messrs. Calder, Carvell, Macdonald and Pardee to meet him in the capital.

The Liberal leader, it is stated, frankly discussed the situation. He did not, however, offer his resignation of his office as he did after the defeat of his party in 1911.

He expressed a wish to relinquish the leadership of the party, but to be a candidate at the coming election and later to serve as a lieutenant to a new leader in the House of Commons.

Some of those present at the conference took the position that Sir Wilfrid continued in public life and acted as the Quebec leader in the Commons, it would be impossible to install another in the position he now holds. Moreover, it was argued that the arrangement might be construed as simply an attempt to retain the support of anti-conscriptionists in Quebec and to secure that of conscriptionists in other Provinces.

FIELD DAY

Tomorrow afternoon the annual field day of sports, open to the students at the Collegiate Institute, will be run off at Agricultural Park. The list of entries this year promises to be large and considerable interest is being taken in the event. The field day has not proved as popular in the past with the students as might have been the case, but from year to year a greater interest in being exhibited and the true merit of the day is recognized.

Besides containing the best grades of leather, our shoes are made by some of the best Canadian factories, and by experienced men.

If 20 to 30 per cent is money to you, buy your shoes during this sale. A few of our bargains are listed as follows:—
 Men's Shoes, good styles, reduced from $2.50 up.
 Boys' Shoes, a good line—from $2.00 up.

"How Many of our Men are Liable to be Drafted?"

The Canadian business man is asking this question often, now that the Military Service Act is the law of Canada. A simple means of answering it at once is being provided.

Medical Boards are in process of formation throughout the country for the free physical examination of all men who apply. The first class liable to call includes all single men and widowers without children between the ages of 20 and 34 inclusive, all men married after July 6, 1917, being classed as single for the purposes of the Act. In a very short time, the average employer may learn how many of his staff are liable for selection. Those adjudged physically unfit will be given a certificate which will secure them exemption from any Exemption Tribunal. Those found physically fit may still apply for exemption on any ground. The employer will be given a chance to decide if he should seek exemption for any employee whose physical condition renders him liable for selection.

This early medical examination, which quickly decides if a man is liable for selection or not, is a feature of the operation of the Military Service Act calculated to appeal strongly to the business community. It assists in definite planning for the future, enabling an employer of labor to learn at once what men will be left at their work and those who may be removed for military service. Haphazard withdrawals, the nightmare of business men of method and precision, are insured against by this timely arrangement.

Every employer of labor will find it to his advantage to note carefully the formation of Medical Boards in his locality and to be sure that his employees secure as early as possible this very important information as to their status under the Military Service Act.

THE FIRST DRAFT

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The first class of recruits under the Military Service Act will be governed, October 13. A proclamation will be issued on that date notifying men in class one that within a specified time they are either to report for military duty or to file a claim for exemption.

Those who have attained the age of twenty years and were, not born earlier than the year 1883 and are unmarried or are widowers but have no children.

With the proclamation calling up the men will also be published regulations by which tribunals appointed to hear the application for exemption may be governed. There will be between three and four weeks delay, after the issue of the proclamation in which applications for exemption may be filed. This will bring the tribunals into full operation, it is expected, early in November, and probably by the middle of the same month, the first batch of men—there are many who will not claim exemption—will be with the colors.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Preparations for the enactment of the Military Service Act in Canada are nearing completion. Negotiations are under way. It is understood, between Ottawa and Washington with a view to bringing Americans of military age resident in Canada within the scope of the draft law. Canadians resident in the United States would similarly be affected under the American law.

Families which have lost several members in the war will receive special consideration when drafts are called under the military service act. A definite regulation on the point has not been laid down, but military representatives will be instructed not to oppose a claim for exemption made to a local tribunal on such grounds. No doubt is felt further that tribunals will recognize the validity of a bona fide claim of this nature.

Men of alien birth and still retaining their foreign citizenship will not be required either to report or claim exemption, that is if he comes within the class called out by proclamation. Men of alien enemy origin, naturalized since 1902 are disfranchised under the war time elections act and under the same act, are given exemption, same, however, must be claimed by filling in a claim in the ordinary way.

P.T.E. TRUCKLE WOUNDED. Mrs. H. Truckle, 52 Nelson street, has received word that her son, P.T.E. Willie Truckle, is in a hospital in France suffering from wounds in his legs. He left with the 125th Battalion and went with the first draft from that regiment. He has seen much heavy fighting, including Vimy. He was with the Wm. Davies Co., Colborne street, at the time of his enlistment.

OBJECT TO FEE. Another complaint has been registered at the office of the City Clerk by Firth Brothers, clothiers, in regard to the treatment accorded them by the city in making them pay a permit of $100 was made when the store was first opened, but since then Mayor Bowley intimated that the amount should have been $50. As the firm intends to remain permanently in the city, a remission of the sum is requested.

MILITARY DEGREE. Several candidates for the military degree will be the recipients of that honor at to-night's meeting of the Mohawk Lodge, I. O. O. F. The degree team has been practicing faithfully and the proceedings are expected to be most entertaining. A large attendance and an interesting night's program are anticipated.

NO RUMOR IN RUMOR. The rumor is being circulated throughout the city, and used in opposition to the food pledge cards, that those who sign them and display the cards are liable to have any preserved goods that they have on hand, beyond a certain quantity, seized by the food controller. Needless to say, the rumor is an absolute falsehood, and the manner in which it has been sent from city to city in Canada would indicate that it is of German origin and designed to hinder the food conservation campaign, and the people may sign the pledge cards without any thought of such a ridiculous thing happening as that suggested.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS. Eighteen patients, for whose treatment the city is liable, received a total of 373 days' care at the Brantford General Hospital during the past month. At seventy cents per day the account amounts to $265.30.

HOUSE NUMBERS ON POLES. Toronto Globe: It was a happy thought the decision to put the street numbers on the Hydro poles in the residential districts. The numbers are white on a black background, and day or night it is now possible for motorists to see the house numbers without getting out of their cars. There is a Hydro pole every 50 yards or so, and the number of the house before which it stands is on the pole. It is therefore not hard to pick out the numbers of the houses between the poles.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN. Arrangements are being rapidly completed for the grand opening of the Y. M. C. A. Semi-Centennial campaign, with a supper on Tuesday evening, October 9th, at 6.30. The Ladies Auxiliary are taking charge of the catering for this as well as the supper for the teams in the three days of the campaign. Members of the campaign committee visited Toronto yesterday arranging for the speakers. They secured Mr. Geo. A. Warburton, of that city, who will give the principal address. He also hopes to have accompany him Mr. Phos. Finlay, General Manager of the Massey-Harris Company, and Mr. Thomas Bradshaw, city controller of finance, Mr. Lloyd Harris and Mr. John Penman of Paris, will also be specially invited guests. The latter laid the corner stone of the new building. The campaign executive meet to-day at 5 o'clock to complete plans.

CHILDREN'S WELFARE. During the early part of November, Brantford is to be the scene of an exhibition of child's welfare work, and a conference on that subject. The provincial health authorities are willing to co-operate with the local officers of the Children's Aid Society, and the plan suggested is that a store, centrally located, be secured for an exhibition of the work, and that prominent clergymen and doctors be requested to give short addresses. Moving pictures would also be shown. The conference should the present plans materialize, will be combined with the annual meeting of the Brant County Children's Aid Society.

B. C. I. RUGBY. Daily work outs are being given the B. C. I. Rugby squad at the C. S. B. grounds each afternoon by Coach Jack McIlvey of Hamilton who has four Canadian championship crests to his credit. The boys are shaping up well, and although "Mac" is putting them through a stiff grueling, they are coming through handsomely without a murmur. They are determined to nail this year's pennant to the B. C. I. mast. The personnel of the 1917 team has not yet been selected, and the players will probably not be chosen until next week. The league opens at Guelph on Saturday, when Galt and the Royal City aggregation will clash. Brantford goes to Galt on the following Saturday, October 13, for the first game, insofar as the locals are concerned. The race this year promises to be a tight one, for the teams are fairly well matched, and all are out for the championship.

VISITED OHSEWEEK. Departmental Supt. Scott of Ottawa attended the Six Nations Council at Ohseweek this morning. This afternoon he visited the Ohseweek Agricultural fair.

PATROL STRANDED. The mud and sand of Terrace Hill proved too much for the police patrol on Tuesday night of this week, when the "Black Maria" was taken up to bring back some law breaker. Assistance was secured and the "toy wagon" was once again placed on firm ground.

POLICE COURT. Fines of $50 and costs were imposed in the police court this morning by Magistrate Livingston on J. Hagerman and Melvin Halliday, merchants of the village of Scotland, who were charged with a breach of the War Revenue Act. They had neglected to affix the war tax stamp as required by law to some packages of stock food, that are included in the list of proprietary medicines.

LACK EQUIPMENT. Lack of equipment is all that is delaying the installation of the hydro electric power into the township of Brantford. Supt. Rieckny has completed arrangements for the necessary equipment, which is now on the way, and the work will be proceeded with immediately upon the arrival of the material requisite to the installation.

LIBRARY INSTITUTE. Two splendid speakers will deliver addresses at the afternoon and evening sessions of the Library Institute of this district that will meet in the city to-morrow afternoon and evening, in the Conservatory of Music, and to which the public are cordially invited. In the afternoon, Geo. H. Locke, chief librarian, Toronto, will speak on "Condition and Activities Needed in Connection with Library Work." Mr. Locke is recognized as one of the foremost librarians in America at the present time, and his address is anticipated with eagerness by library workers. "The Means of Promoting Better Reading" will be the topic of a brief speech by Miss M. J. L. Black, librarian at Port William, who is described as being a powerful and eloquent speaker. Mr. Locke will speak again at the evening session. Many important and interesting subjects pertaining to libraries and library work will be discussed that will be of general interest.

CYCLISTS FROM ALL PARTS OF CANADA COMING. Champion Riders of Dominion Will Be Here on Thanksgiving. At least thirty of the best bicycle racers in Pointe Claire, among the competitors at the Red Cross race meet in Brantford on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day. In addition there will be riders here from London, Montreal, Hamilton, Galt and other centres. In fact, all the Canadian stars of wheelmen will be seen in action at the local track next Monday afternoon. Not only are all the great racing men coming for the big meet, which is being staged under the direct sanction of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, but a great many of the widely-known bicycle authorities have arranged to take in the race. The referee will be Alderman Louis Rubenstein, of Montreal, one of the greatest sporting authorities in the world, and a former champion of the track, track cycling, swimming and other sports. Toronto officials who have promised to come include Fred A. O. Johnston, Harry Rinaldi, Bob Falconer, Jack Smith and "Bicycle Bill" Glauish, all sport celebrities of the Queen City.

A unique feature of the occasion is that the fifteen riders of the Macdonald Bicycle Club of Toronto, who have entered for the coming races, have planned to make the trip in a motorbus, which they intend to take to ride from Toronto to Brantford in two hours and fifteen minutes. In a practice spin a few days ago, Martin rode through heavy traffic between Toronto and Hamilton in one hour and fifty minutes. He says that he can make far better time than that. Martin expects to win the ten mile road race, which is one of the features of the holiday meet. One of the entrants for the half-mile high wheel race is Fred St. Onge, of Montreal, the original tramp cyclist, and former sprint champion of the United States. St. Onge has been winning bicycle races for almost thirty years.

FOUR THOUSAND TO ITALIAN RED CROSS. Completed Returns Here. Largest Outside of Toronto and Hamilton. Returns of the recent campaign in Brantford on behalf of the Italian Red Cross Fund being about completed, the Board of Trade, under which auspices the campaign was organized, reports that the total amount contributed to the fund is $4,000. President Logan M. Waterous announces that the results of the "Italian Tag Day" on Saturday, September 22nd, which concluded the three-day campaign totalled over $1,100 for which credit is due the Women's Patriotic League, assisted by Brant and Dufferin Rifle chapters of the Daughters of the Empire. The City Council grant of $600 and the total of $240 brought in through the efforts of the men of the "A.R." Club in their canvass of factories and shops, are the other large entries on the books of Treasurer F. W. Bain at the Royal Bank of Canada.

The balance remaining of $2,000, resulted from the canvass by the business men's teams, or one-half the total. "The special thanks of the committee are due to the women's organizations, the City Council and the "A.R." Club, said President Waterous. "This is the largest total raised outside of Toronto and Hamilton in Ontario for the Italian Red Cross," said Divisional Director L. Corbett Moore this morning. "The result is most gratifying and the citizens of Brantford, have most generously given to this Italian, and thus allied branch of the great Red Cross, which is international in its spirit of service. "Particularly is the Italian Red Cross campaign movement grateful to the City of Brantford and its Board of Trade for the use of its office and chambers in the Temp. Building as headquarters for Southern and Western Ontario, voluntarily offered, and from which the present many campaigns are being directed." Director Moore returned last night from Galt, where an Italian Red Cross campaign for $2,000 opens to-day. Preston Town Council granted $200 on Monday, opening the campaign there which will be conducted as was the fund at Paris—by grants and voluntary subscription. Mayor C. B. Robinson of Paris, as treasurer of that fund, remitted $600.29 to Welland divisional treasury of the Italian Red Cross last week as the Paris total, the total being $500. Hespeler will conduct a campaign within the next two weeks. Director Moore left for Shawanigan in Montreal, where a campaign for the Italian Red Cross, larger than any thus far held in Canada, will be conducted late this month, or early in November.

EXPERIENCES IN BERLIN DURING 3 YEARS OF WAR

"Interned in That Horrible Place of Cold, Eternal Twilight, Hunger and Prussian Bullying Which the German Newspapers Call the Idyllically Situated English Camp of Ruhleben."

By F. Sefton Delmer. In the September Nineteenth Century. It seems strange to think that I, an Australian, born in 1865 in Hobart, Tasmania, with a father an Irish sea captain of County Anagh, should have spent so many years in exile in Prussia. For exile my Australian wife and I increasingly felt our souls torn there to be as they were in self-defence against an alliance of powers jealous of German progress, German science and German success, and bent upon Germany's overthrow and spoliation, had done its work.

The Times Most Respected It thus came about that the German Government could, within a few months of the outbreak of war, allow cafe readers to have access to enemy newspapers with perfect safety. The Times, in spite of the abuse the Germans shower upon it, is undoubtedly the most respected and the most attentively read of all the English newspapers in Berlin. I even know of German schoolmasters who have the Times read and discussed in class as an English text-book. The Daily News and Manchester Guardian, though never seen in the cafes, are regarded as the most useful for purposes of quotation in the German press. In some cafes, instead of the Times, one meets with the Daily Telegraph, or the Daily Mail.

As a rule, English papers were at least five days old before we saw them, and one must add there were frequent gaps, perhaps intentional, when they did not get through at all. In February, 1917, when the U-boats began their new campaign, the coeksure waiters, who knew that I was English, rather laughed at me for imagining that the London papers would continue to come through. I enjoyed their discomfiture when after a week or so they once more to hand me out The Times. Its arrival, though irregular, showed that the seas were not yet entirely closed to British shipping, as the German public then fondly believed.

Dropped the Title. French and Italian papers, too, such as Le Figaro, Le Temps, Le Matin and the Corriere della Sera, were diligently read as their thumb-ed and ragged appearance signified. The Swiss, Dutch and Scandinavian papers were also much read. The Swiss, Dutch and Scandinavian papers were also much read. The Swiss, Dutch and Scandinavian papers were also much read.

This nondescript journal has since the beginning of the war, been subsidized by the German Government and used by the English people into a state of fanatical suspicion against everything English, Russian and French, every American displayed his colors on his hat top hole as a protection. I do not remember the rumors of the fact that the English had been murdered even by the papers, until at last it was found that the mob in its zeal for the safety of England had mauled and ill-treated even irrepresible German officers who happened to be wearing some less familiar uniform!

Some of the men in Ruhleben too, who were marched across the Potsdamer Platz on their way to the Berlin jail on the fatal 6th of November, tell how they walked in fear of their lives, prodded with bayonets, struck with sticks and spat upon by the jeering crowd. After the internment of the English and French this "anti" to a great extent died down for lack of objects on which to vent itself. But even to-day, on every railway platform and in every railway carriage, in buses and trams, in theatres and concert halls, in every cafe and place of business, down to the most insignificant little green grocer shops, the police have posted up in two-inch letters "Vorrecht der Spionensfahr!" Mind what you say—there may be spies about. I have no doubt there are also such placards in London and elsewhere, but if there are, I have not yet had time to search them out.

COAL CARDS FOR CANADA DAMAGED BY LABOR COLLISION T. & L. Last Evening Voiced Demand for Action on Fuel Question.

ASK STANDARD PRICE Fuel Committee to Undertake Equal Distribution in Municipality.

Whereas, while we are within three months of zero weather, hundreds of families in the city of Brantford are without their usual supplies of fuel, many have no fuel at all, and coal dealers are unable or unwilling to guarantee delivery of any quantity, and are refusing to take orders. And whereas, no systematic effort is being made by the responsible authorities to meet the probable contingency of fuel being considerably short of the legitimate needs of the householders of the city. Be it therefore resolved, that the Council make the following suggestions to the Fuel Controller with the urgent request that the same, or some satisfactory alternative plan be adopted and put into effect without delay:

(1) That the Fuel Controller immediately obtain power authorizing him to expropriate or regulate the distribution, on an equitable basis, of domestic coal from the Canadian mines or the ports of entry into Canada of foreign coal.

(2) That power be obtained by the Fuel Controller to fix the price of coal for domestic use to be charged by the retailer to the consumer, the same to be based upon the cost price at the initial point of control, plus freight and a fixed and reasonable gross profit for retail distribution.

(3) That every municipality be required, where the Fuel Controller is satisfied of the need, to appoint a local fuel committee with complete authority to undertake whatever steps are necessary to avoid suffering, such as making an inventory of all fuel in the possession of private individuals as well as dealers and the taking over the same, at a reasonable price, the introduction of a card system entitling consumers to obtain deliveries from dealers in such quantities as the local committee may consider necessary or equitable for the individual consumer, and the prohibition of dealers distributing any coal except under the supervision and direction of the municipal fuel committee, and on the production of cards issued by them.

(4) That the municipalities be required at their own expense to provide the machinery to carry into effect the directions of the local fuel committees, and that local powers be given such committees to enforce their requirements by fines and imprisonment in case of breaches thereof.

Consideration of the above resolution was the main business before the Trades and Labor Council last evening. Introducing the motion, Hon. J. Keen reminded the Council that the City of L. Committee, which did such good work last winter, was organized on their initiative, that as long ago as December last an interim report to the City Council had recommended procuring powers to establish food and fuel depots, and that a comprehensive report dealing with the whole situation submitted in March last urged, among other things, the appointment of a standing committee to negotiate prices, and, if necessary, to establish depots, but the same had been ignored by the City Council. He felt that the belated action of the civic Food and Fuel Committee was not intended to meet the situation. He urged that while it was a scandal it should be so, the right to borrow money for civic purposes was created by statute in preparation for the emergency of war, and that such statutory right could not be abrogated by any government commission. Even if it were mistaken in this, and if it were found on a successful referendum the city were empowered to open a depot, the necessary arrangements to commence business would absorb much time, and even then, as he pointed out, the necessary arrangements would be lost in getting in the supplies, a position which would be aggravated by the obstruction of private dealers. It must, therefore, be manifest to any thinking man that this line of policy would not produce relief next winter, and that some other urgent steps are now necessary. In the interests of humanity, it was incumbent upon the proper authorities that systematic arrangements should be made in advance to cope with the contingency of there being a deficiency of supply during zero weather. It would be too late, starting to make such arrangements then. If there were not sufficient coal to meet the needs, it should be equitably distributed among all our citizens, so that there would be no actual physical suffering. That day he had phoned five of the leading dealers. One had no coal and could not say when he would have any; a second had pea coal only and was not expecting furnace or chestnut for some time; the third had and fourth had no coal to sell, and the fifth was Alderman Symons, in seconding, said that while he thought the Fuel Controller had some of the powers indicated there were others he had not, and ought to have. He would, therefore, support the motion in its entirety. He felt that the suggestion of local fuel committees was a good one, as there were sufficient honest men in the community to see that the coal was fairly distributed.

Delegate Morien did not see that the resolution would increase the supply any, and would like to know why there was a shortage. Delegate Brown thought the resolution was the best move they had yet made in the interests of the people. Delegate Keen in summing up, said there was a combination of causes for the shortage, such as the withdrawal of foreign coal miners to fight for their native countries, a general shortage of labor which affected coal mines and railroads as well as other industries, and the use of freight space on railroads for various military purposes, which was in itself an abnormal condition. The point he wished to emphasize was that, as there was a shortage in any event which would not be overcome, it was necessary the authorities should see that the people controlling distribution should not overcharge, and that the supplies should be distributed in proportion to the real needs of each consumer, and not on the basis of the social or business influence of consumers with the distributing dealers. He felt that the

New York, Oct. 3.—Both Giants and White Sox are finishing with their brushing up course for the world's series. The Giants play another doubleheader with the Phillies today and then will make a quick jump to Chicago, where they will play an exhibition game with the Cubs tomorrow. That will wind up their preliminary work.
The White Sox complete their course with an exhibition game with Cleveland Indians at Comisky Park today.
A feature of the big series which most critics as well as baseball men appear to have overlooked in their pre-world series impression is that no one actually can tell how the Giants will act when hard pressed. This really is the big question mark of the series. It is easily the most important psychological factor, says The Sun.
Johnny Evers, smart ballplayer that he is, recognized this when he said a few days ago:
"The Giants never have been put to the actual test. I believe they can show even better ability in world's series than during the regular season.
There never was a time this season that the team was forced to let itself out to the last notch. Despite the fact that the Phillies look fairly close to the Giants now in the standing, the 1917 race was one of the easiest to win in the entire history of the National League.
Clarence Rowland, manager of the White Sox, says he feels his team will win because he knows just what they can do when they have to win. In discussing the series, he said:

"We just knew we had to win and did win."
Rowland referred to a time in August when after a series of setbacks Boston passed the Chicago team. Then the White Sox launched a drive which netted them fifteen out of sixteen games and so left the Red Sox far behind. Rowland also calls attention to the fact that practically every series between Chicago and the Red Sox this season was for blood, all advertised as crucial series. At a time when Boston was supposed to start its great fall drive, the White Sox won four out of five. He thinks the White Sox gathered enough impetus during that pennant drive to carry them through the series the same as the Boston Braves drive in 1914 enabled the Braves to sweep up the mighty Athletics in four straight games.

Mr. MacBride has extended the list of delegates who have come under the ban of his august displeasure. The third delegate is Secretary-Treasurer Brown, who for many years has enjoyed the respect and confidence of the Trades and Labor Council. It seems strange that Mr. MacBride cannot appreciate the inconsistency of objecting to the legitimate activities of several individual members of the T. & L. Council, when it is his own settled policy to magnify his own importance at the expense of the other members of the City Council. One would imagine by his attitude that he considers Mr. MacBride and the City Council are interchangeable terms. Whatever action is taken by the T. & L. Council, the same as a body gets credit, and not individual members. It is otherwise with the Food and Fuel Committee. One thing for which the T. & L. Council is entitled to credit, was the agitation which brought into existence the High Cost of Living Committee last winter. That Committee did much valuable work and made concrete recommendations for solving food and fuel problems. Had Mr. MacBride been as active in March last in insisting upon that report receiving prompt attention, the fuel problem would probably have been solved long ago. The alderman, however, started in late with a "red herring across the trail." It gave him more limelight.
This fuel question is a very serious one to hundreds of householders in Brantford, and it is a pity that it should be exploited to gratify the ambitions of any individual. New Year's Day is usually zero weather. The people will be unable to keep themselves warm with a referendum on that day, if it is successful. I strongly urge the City Council as a whole to work together, and without any more delay, in the interests of the citizens, energetically and intelligently to settle this fuel question so that the people may rely upon coal before the New Year, and not to have to depend upon the empty satisfaction of a popular vote. I shall not write again on this subject.

GRANDMA USED SAGE
TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.
Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.
While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.
This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—A protest against school youths being allowed to join military regiments was made last night by Principal R. E. Howell of Westmount.
The principal said many members of the school had joined local militia units since the war had begun.
"This," he said, "distracts attention from the school work and the frequent drill periods and consequent late hours send the boys' school in neither mental nor physical condition to undertake serious study. The association of boys with older men results in the acquisition of habits of thought, speech and action with form an influence tending to lower the general tone of the school."

Reasons Why $45,000 SHOULD Be Raised NOW to Free the Building of Debt

- 1.—The original Mortgage, carried on the hands of the directors matures in 1918.
It was caused by differences between architects estimate and contract price—the increase being approved of by subscribers before contract was let. The Building in normal times is none too large for Growing Brantford.
- 2.—The annual interest charges of $2,800.00 must be secured in subscriptions. The debt would hamper the progressive program projected, for returned soldiers; for men who are yet to go and for the men and boys compelled to remain at the "Home Base."
- 3.—Every returned soldier is given a free membership for six months and helped in every possible way.

- 4.—The enlistment of over 50 per cent of Senior Members has decreased that revenue. This will continue until the close of the War.
- 5.—Financial conditions are better now than they will be after the War with its uncertain conditions.
- 6.—This is the Semi-Centennial year of the Brantford Y. M. C. A. It is the opportunity of the generation of to-day to worthily complete the work of its founders and promoters during half a century.

(From Wednesday's Issue.)
 Savage was now chalky pale. He seemed to strive to say more, but failed for the constriction of his throat. For another instant he stared incredulously, then, without a word of explanation or apology, he turned and flung himself headlong down the steps.

Before reaching the middle landing, however, he checked himself on the reflection that must avoid attracting attention, and went on more slowly if still with every symptom of nervous haste.

At the bottom he turned aside and was quickly lost in the crowd. Unable to pursue, dressed as she was, Sally went on to her room in a mood of dark perplexity.

Surely it would seem that Savage must have been engaged in some very damnable business indeed, and have given himself away irremediably to Mrs. Gosnold, thinking her Sally, to exhibit such unmitigated consternation on discovery of his error.

But what could it have been? Sally could imagine nothing in their admittedly singular relations which, being disclosed to the aunt, should so completely confound the nephew. Mrs. Gosnold had suggested no insufferable resentment of the deception practised upon her when informed of it by Sally. And why, therefore, Mr. Savage should comport himself as if the heavens had fallen on learning that he had betrayed himself unconsciously to his aunt, passed Sally's comprehension.

And the strange flavor of the affair alarmed her; first, Mrs. Gosnold's unexpected (but, after all, not inexplicable) failure to return to her room on time; then this panic of Savage's.

It was patently the girl's immediate business to find one or the other or both of them and make sure that nothing was radically wrong after all.

By happy chance her very prettiest evening frock didn't hook up the back; she was able to struggle into it not only without assistance, but within a very few minutes.

Then, scurrying back to Mrs. Gosnold's room, she read in the apprehensive eyes of the maid, even before this last could speak, the news that the mistress was still missing, and on starting down-stairs, began industriously to quarter the house and the grounds.

By this hour few signs were wanting that the festival was on its wane; already cars were arriving and departing laden with the very youngest and the oldest people; there was perceptibly more room on the dancing floor of the verandah, which was populated chiefly by the younger set; in the supper-room the more rowdy crowd hung on with numbers undiminished and enthusiasm unabated. If liberally damped, about the grounds there was far less movement, far more lingering in sequestered nooks and shadows. Ecstasies, for one, had folded her tent, liberated her black cat to the life of a confirmed misanthrope, and vanished into the shades of night.

But nowhere was any sign to be found of any one of those three whom Sally sought—Mrs. Gosnold or Savage or, falling these preferences, Mrs. Standish.

Now, when she had nearly completed one exhaustive round of the grounds, and she was wondering where next to turn, with neither warning nor expectation she came ground one end of a screen of shrubbery and stopped just short of surprising another sentimental table set, staged in the selfsame setting used for Mr. Trego's declaration and cast with a change of but one mummer.

And in the instant marked by the cognition of that selfsame marble seat commanding that same view of silvered sea and bathed in the light of that same heartless moon, Sally seemed to hear the echo of her destiny's sardonic laughter.

The gentleman was Mr. Trego, the lady Mrs. Artemas; and they were ignorant of Sally's observation for the simple reason that Mr. Trego's back was toward her and the head of Mrs. Artemas was pillowed on his shoulder—her arms a white band around his neck.

And as if this were not enough, Sally's discovery of them anticipated by the barest moment the appearance of another couple around the farther end of the dump of shrubbery—two people who happened to be husband and wife and known to Sally as recent additions to the house-party.

These, too, stopped sharply and would have considerably withdrawn but for the fact that, standing as he did, Trego could not escape seeing them. He spoke a word, presumably, in the ear so near his lips, and Sally noted that her eyes were bright with tears—of happiness, of course.

"Oh!" she cried, laughing and confused. "Is it you, Mrs. Warren? No, please don't run. It's too late now—isn't it?—when you've caught us in the act! You and Mr. Warren will be the first to know of our happiness—"

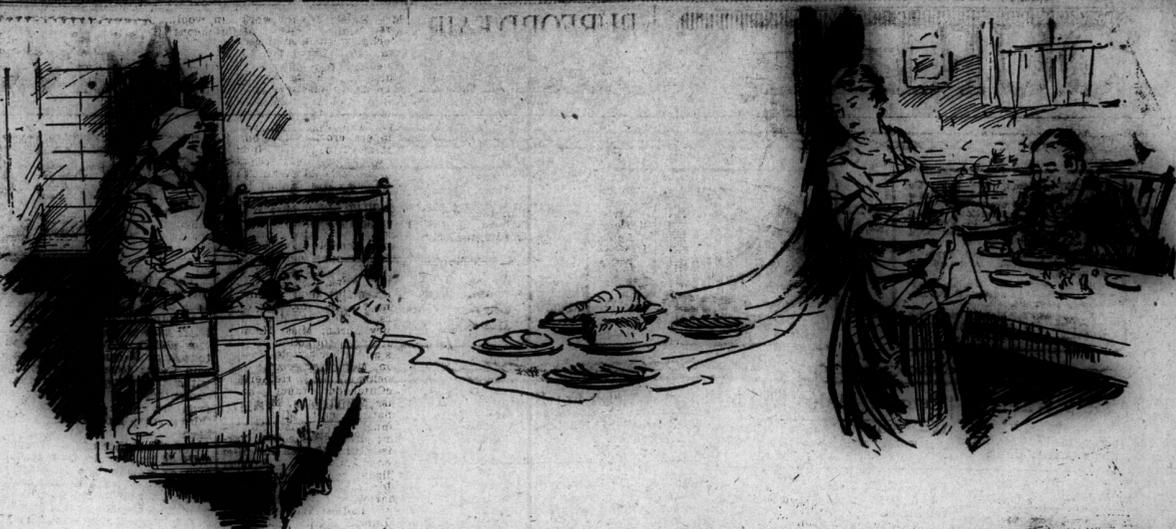

Sally heard no more. The scene vanished from her vision as if the moonlight had been extinguished. It was some moments before she realized that she was running madly, as if hoping flight might help her exercise that ironic vision. But when she did realize what she was doing, she but ran the faster; let people think what they would; she no longer cared; their esteem no more mattered, for she was finished with them one and all—yes, even with Mrs. Gosnold!

Blindly instinct led her back to her room, again via that side door. She flung tempestuously into its friendly darkness, locked herself in, and dropped, spent and racked, upon the edge of the bed, clenching her hands into two hard, tight fists, gritting her teeth, and fighting with all her strength to keep back the storm that threatened of sobs and tears and nervous laughter.

It wasn't as if she had really cared for the man—it was worse. It was the sum of all the blows her poor, struggling pride had suffered in the course of the last twenty-four hours beginning with her awakening to the worthlessness of Lytleton and realization of the low esteem in which he held her, and culminating in this fact from one whose love she had returned, but not the less prized for the comfort it gave her.

Nor was this all. In addition to the writhings of an exacerbated vanity, she was conscious of a sense of personal loss, as if a landmark had been razed in the perspective of her life. In spite of those faults and shortcomings, so unduly emphasized through the man's own deliberate intent, and so inexcusable in one who appreciated so well what was expected of a man in his position, Sally had subconsciously from the very first felt Trego to be one whose faith and loyalty were as a rock, whose friendship might be counted upon as an enduring tower of refuge.

And to have him go from her, protesting passionate patience, leaving her exalted with the consciousness that she was wanted, to have him go thus from her and straightway fall into the trap which Mrs. Artemas unaffectedly baited—the trap of which he had not once but many times obliquely alluded to in half-humorous, half-genuine terms of

HOW TO BUY

Go to the store yourself. Select for yourself the article you desire to purchase. Inquire its price.

If quality and price please you, be sure that you get in weight or measure the amount you buy. Watch the scale. Watch the measure.

You are entitled to all the bone and the trimmings of the piece of meat that you buy. You should take home and make use of such bone and trimmings. The fat can be rendered and used for cooking purposes; the bone and trimmings used for soup or stew. When the trimmings are not taken home, the butcher throws them into a box under the counter and sells them to someone else. They belong to you and you should have them.

In buying meat, don't go in and ask for 25c worth of meat, and leave the butcher to decide how much meat you should have for a quarter. Select your piece of meat, ask the price per pound; say how many pounds you want; have it weighed; see that you get your weight and that the butcher's calculation as to how much meat you have, at a certain price per pound, is correct. Many a penny is lost to the customer by neglecting the above simple precautions.

Don't buy in small quantities if you can possibly avoid it. Buy for cash and buy in large quantities foods that are not perishable. Buy where you can do the best.

Wherever possible, buy in bulk and not in package.

You will find it cheaper to buy your vinegar by the gallon than by the bottle.

Have you ever stopped to figure out how much more you would get for your money if you bought certain articles of food by the pound instead of by the package?

Food that is wrapped and sold in attractive-looking packages must of necessity cost more than the same food sold in bulk, which means sold by the pound. There are several reasons why so many foods are put up in packages.

First. The package looks pretty, appeals to the eye, and makes the food seem more appetizing.

Second. Most of the packages are air-tight and dustproof, and for sanitary reasons a great many people prefer food that is done up in packages.

As a matter of fact, it is possible for your grocer to keep on hand, in bulk, exactly the same foods as the packages contain, and it is also possible for him to keep them in bulk in sanitary, dustproof containers, so that the foods should be clean when they get to you.

It was, it seemed to be intolerable!

The waves of burning emotion that swept across her were altered moments of rage and chagrin.

Granted the opportunity, she could easily conceive herself as dealing very vigorously with the man—indeed, some one rattled the knob of her door. Startled, Sally jumped up, and with her wadded handkerchief dabbed hastily and superfluously at her eyes, which were quite dry as yet.

She did not answer, but eyed apprehensively the dark recess in which the door was set at the end of the unlighted room.

A knock followed the noise of the knob. Still she hesitated to reply. Uncertainly she moved toward the nearest wall-sconce and lifted her hand to the switch. She was sadly confused and unstrung, her thoughts a whirl and nerves a tangle. The last thing she wished just then was to meet and talk to anybody.

Still it might be Mrs. Gosnold or her messenger. And that lady was Sally's one remaining friend on earth. She swallowed hard, took herself firmly in hand, and when the knock was repeated was able to answer in a tolerably even voice: (Continued in Friday's Issue)

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON.

WALT TALK.

I leave my work to roast the Kaiser throughout the neighborhood; my wife remarks that I'd be wiser if I would saw some wood. She says I ought to feed the cattle and dig spuds with a spade, while I am planning siege and battle, retreat and ambushade. "Is ever thus with wives, my masters, great things they do not heed; they care no hoot for war's disasters, if there are cows to feed. To plan great wars I'm amply able, and wish to, but wife begs that I will crawl beneath the stable and gather all the eggs. Oh, there are times when I'm disgusted because I have no chance to point out all the punk, dinged-out boneheads they've pulled in France. I know just why the war goes slowly, and I could tell them how to put an end to strife unholy, and break the Germans now. But when I start my explanation, my wife gets on my trail, and drags me from my congregation, to peck a water pail. She doesn't care to hear of trenches, or of the German slump; she says I ought to take some wrenches and fix the kitchen pump. She doesn't care about the navy that sails the dark blue sea; she says I'll have to stir the gravy while she is brewing tea. And thus the patriot's rewarded, who loves the rag to chew; there's always something punk and sordid that he is billed to do.

DIVINE DEAD

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 3.—Dr. Chas. Forbes, inventor of individual communion cups, died here yesterday aged 73 years. The invention came out in 1893 and was adopted by most Protestant churches at once. One English paper at that time declared it to be the most important innovation in the church ritual since the reformation.

BOYS' SUIT.

By Anabel Worthington.

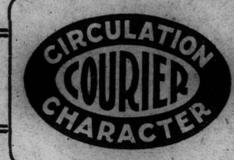

The coat of this very good looking suit seems to be closely related to the well known Norfolk jacket, but the plaits in this case are only applied trimming bands. There are two in front and two in back, giving the effect of box-plaits. The belt ends at the front plaits in tiny pockets. Four buttons with bound buttonholes fasten the single breasted closing. The long sleeves may be finished with or without cuffs. Straight pants are included in the pattern. Galatea, kindergarten cloth, linen, Indian Head, poplin or duck are suitable materials for this suit.

The suit pattern, No. 8354, is out in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. The four-year size requires 1 1/2 yards 36 inch material with 1/4 yard 36 inch contrasting goods and 1/4 yard 36 inch lining.
 To obtain this pattern send ten cents to the office of this publication.

SIDE TALKS

BY RUTH CAMERON

NOTHING ELSE QUITE SO PITIFUL

There is something infinitely pitiful to me about the unfulfilled desires of an old man or woman. Nothing in the world wrings my heart strings quite so sorely.

A child's unfulfilled desires are touching. I can never see a child who wants some toy or some treat without wanting to play the fairy godmother and gratify him.

Perhaps that expression is too strong. When one is old one does not want things with the same passion the child feels. One has learned so many bitter lessons in not wanting things too hard.

One wonders sometimes if, when the day comes that there is nothing they can give the old father or mother but flowers, the vision of their lost opportunity will come to them too late with blinding force.

A woman who was making something of a sacrifice to fulfill her mother's dearest wish, once said to me, "Yes I wanted terribly to use the money for myself. And then I thought that some day a day would come when if I should think, 'All her life she wanted a piano and now she can never have it.' I should just about go mad. So you see I am selfish after all."

"Too bad there isn't more of that selfishness in the world."

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Street

A WISE LITTLE SQUIRREL.

Betty and Jimmy were up bright and early every morning gathering the hickory nuts.

"We'll have to hurry or the squirrels will get them all," said Betty.

"Let me see one hanging around and I'll fire stones at him," cried Jimmy. "We want every nut for ourselves."

"It seems too bad not to share with the squirrels," said mamma. "That's the only way they have of storing their winter food."

"There's plenty of trees besides ours," answered Betty.

Jimmy made a rush outside and fired a stone at a big gray squirrel on the limb of the hickory tree. Mr. Squirrel ran down the other side of the tree and disappeared under the stone wall.

Before long, Betty and Jimmy had a great pile of hickory nuts spread out on the attic floor to dry.

"Seems like the pile keeps getting smaller instead of larger," said Betty one morning, but Jimmy laughed at her.

"How could it?" he asked. Betty shook her head.

Several days later Betty went into the attic and found their big pile of hickory nuts had dwindled to only a few and these were scattered here and there over the floor.

She ran to the stairs and called Jimmy. He came running up three steps at a time.

Where do you suppose they could have gone? Maybe mamma moved them," he suggested.

"Why not? I haven't been in the attic since you put the nuts there," said mamma, and she went up to the attic to see for herself.

They gathered the few remaining nuts together and looked into every corner of the attic.

"There's only one thing I can think of. You left the window open and Mr. Gray Squirrel has found his way in and has helped himself," laughed mamma. She turned over an old trunk that had fallen so the lid remained open, and a hickory nut fell out.

"Here they are!" whispered mamma. "Now don't make any noise, for Mr. Gray Squirrel might be in here."

The children tiptoed over to the trunk and peeped in. All cozy and nice in one corner of the trunk were piled the lost hickory nuts.

"Clever little fellow!" exclaimed mamma. "He probably watched you from the branch near the window and when he saw the way clear, he stole in quietly and put them in a place where he could find them easily."

"Maybe he thought we gathered them for him," cried Betty. "Any way, he can have them every one, can't he, Jimmy?"

"Yes, and we'll close the window when he comes in again and have him for a pet," exclaimed Jimmy.

The little squirrel soon found that the children were his friends and he certainly enjoyed his winter quarters.

The children kept him supplied with water and food and in a short way Jimmy was eating peanuts out of Betty's hand. So everyone in the house behind the hickory tree, whose lovely nuts were made for everyone, big children and little squirrels, too, were happy together.

"For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I had frequent Dizzy Spells, and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints, and my hands swollen."

CONCILIATION BOARD IN TORONTO

Scavengers' and Street Cleaners' Strike May End By Arbitration.

By Courier Leased Wire Toronto, Oct. 3.—With control Cameron protesting vigorously the Board of Control this morning adopted a resolution agreeing to submit the dispute of the scavengers and street cleaners to a conciliation board. Meantime the men are supposed to return to work. The findings of the conciliation board will not necessarily be binding. The board flatly refused to meet the men's continued demands for the dismissal of Wilson. In the meantime Toronto's "ones and alleys" are becoming blocked with garbage. Heavy showers to-day mercifully cleaned the roadways to some extent. They have been unwept for weeks.
