Backache Suffering
A wonderful medicine in this man's description of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY LIVER PILLS.
Mr. Fred Gummer, Lillies, Ont., writes: "I can honestly say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a wonderful medicine. For six weeks last fall I could scarcely walk around for pain in the back and legs, and was almost completely unfit for work. Though I tried several medicines I got no better. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and bought five boxes. After I had used three boxes, I was greatly improved and by the time I had them all taken I felt as well as I ever did. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney disease to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."
"We have also used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for bad colds and sore throat and would not be without these medicines for anything."
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a pill in a box, at all dealers or Dr. Chase, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book.

'The evil is so strong,' you say,
'So slowly with the world to fight,
So vain, so vain all I do to-day,
So soon doth fall the daylight sight.'
'Day after day the weary strife,
And still no about of victory;
Day after day the toils of life,
And care that press incessantly.'
Why think of these? Right, too, is strong,
And nearer it the years attain;
The periods of God are long,
And honest service never vain.
The faith goes on, do what we will;
We may not change the battle tide,
But we can choose for good or ill,
March in the ranks, or slink aside,
And what is asked of you and me,
When all is as the shadow of night,
Will you, relate to victory.

The Revolt of Abigail.
'The real reformer, the one that has called it, so to speak,' said Mrs. Haley, rocking comfortably in her piazza-chair, 'seldom, it ever adds, to his business of reforming that of looking after his own welfare; he is usually busy throwing himself into the breach. That is the way with Abigail Anderson. She didn't care what people thought of her personally; she always spent her whole energy on her purpose in hand.'

'She was a kind of a she mayor, in a sense, wasn't she?' asked the caller, looking away toward the large white house on the hill, where lived the character under discussion.
'Well, I will allow she had a ruling hand in most of the affairs of this town, whenever there was a crooked thing to be set right, she was always heard to say, 'Here am I, Lord, send me!' But the most powerful way she was felt was in the church. When the minister was the right one for this place, she edged her shoulder up under the ecclesiastical wheel, so to say, and the whole load moved along as easy as a launching at high tide. But now and then, for some reason, we would get a man that didn't understand the hill folks, and there would be some friction in the whole machinery which would begin to creak. Then Abigail would begin to what her social sceptre, and go out to mow down the objectors. She was bound to have harmony if she had to go to war after it. She would soon get things down to a working basis, and if the minister had to go, why, he went with a show of success behind him.'

'She did the best of her work with the choir, however. She had for quite a spell been upset by the young folks in the singer's seats. They sat right in view of the congregation. She thought they ought to reckon accordingly and wear a proper air of devotion. They were given to making all their plans and discussing all the trouble they had while the people were coming in and taking their seats. The church is small, and you could generally hear about all they said.
'Abigail went to them and told them that she liked to have kind of a peaceful hour when she came into church. She felt like laying aside wrangling and discord; she was willing to bear a hand at that at the regular sociable and the sewing circle, but she was trying to witness their battles over which was to take second part and which third, and for her part, by the time they got it settled, she felt that pretty much everything had been divided up, including temper, good manners and some character.'

'The last thing that was more than she could bear was one morning, while the bell was tolling and the folks were actually in their pews; the organist was playing the voluntary, and one of the singers, that usually took a strong alto, came in, and in stead of going up to her seat she sat right down in a pew and made a sort of pantomime that she was out of it. The soprano told the organist, who never broke in her playing, but said so everyone could hear, 'I knew she would play it on us. Go down and bring her up.' So down came the soprano and began an argument that lasted some minutes. Then she scem-

ed to deliver an ultimatum that closed the matter, so up they both went to the singer's seats. The organist played loud as though she had won a point.
'But the alto seemed to want to justify herself, so she told it up to the bass, and he to the next one, and all the time the organist was pulling stops with a movement like plucking scales.
'Abigail didn't say anything about the matter during the next week. They told she was as smooth as milk to everyone she met, but I knew that first she was mauling.

Agriculture at a Standstill.
A correspondent writes on the above caption as follows:
At the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association the President of that body in the course of his address called attention to the large growing amount of farm products which is supplied this Province from Prince Edward Island, Ontario and other Provinces. He expressed the hope that something would be done to remedy this regrettable condition. If one refers to the last census, he will be startled to find that one million Nova Scotia farms were cultivated in 1906. In 1901 there were 1,200,000 and are going back to forest, and that the value of the field crops of the Province declined in the same decade from $12,406,142 to $10,151,103, notwithstanding the general rise in food prices which the world experienced. Potatoes, a representative crop, fell off three million bushels.
There might be some consolation in the thought that a general agricultural decline was felt outside of the prairies of the West were it not for the fact that in the neighboring Province of New Brunswick, where agricultural conditions are approximately the same as in Nova Scotia, the census returns show that the value of the field crops of that Province suffered no decline. In other parts of Canada a great advance was recorded, but Nova Scotia fell behind in the greatest of industries. It is almost incredible the extent of the dependence of this Province upon the farms of other Provinces. The list of agricultural products regularly imported by wholesale grocers is amazingly long. Nova

Canada has never had such marvelous prosperity as she has enjoyed since she abandoned all ideas of reciprocity and adopted a national policy and followed that by preferences to the Empire. The meeting is also of the opinion that the unsettlement of business confidence and the disastrous effect this movement is certain to bring upon the prosperity of the country cannot be impressed too strongly upon the Government, feeling also that any arrangement with the United States will endanger our national existence and may end in the extinction of Canada as a nation.
Copies of the resolution were ordered forwarded to the Prime Minister of the Dominion and to other patriotic societies. Mr. K. E. Kingsford acted as chairman and Capt. Ewan MacDougall was secretary of the meeting.

Impoverished Blood.
A Common and a Dangerous Trouble—You Must Enrich the Blood to Escape Danger.
Anaemia is simply a lack of blood. It is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls are too frequently allowed to over-study, over-work and suffer from a lack of exercise. It is dangerous because of the stealthiness of its approach, often being well developed before its presence is recognized, and because of its tendency to grow so steadily worse, if not promptly checked, that it may run into consumption.
The value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be known to every mother in the land. These Pills make new, rich blood, tone the organs and nerves, bring a glow of health to pale, sallow cheeks, and drive away the weakness, headaches, faintness, heart palpitation and loss of energy so noticeable in young girls who are suffering from anaemia. To all such Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an actual life saver. Miss Mabel McTavish, Prince Albert, Sask., says: 'In my case I can only say that life had lost its magic; all work was a trial, and even pleasure only a task. When I went up a flight of stairs I was ready to drop from sheer weakness, and I began to think life would be a continued burden. But all this is now changed, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These were recommended to me, and after taking them for about a month I found my health renewed. I could sleep better, my appetite returned, and I was so strong and well that household work was no longer a burden to me. My sister seemed to be going the same way last summer and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were at once sent for and two boxes made her as well as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are now the prized medicine in our home, and doctor bills have been fewer since we discovered the virtues of this great medicine.'

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., FEB. 17, 1911.

The announcement has been made of the retirement of Dr. John Forrest from the presidency of Dalhousie University. Dr. Forrest has held this position for more than a quarter of a century, during which Dalhousie has grown and prospered under his administration.

Kentville is to have another civic election on March 3rd. It has been discovered by the town authorities that Capt. C. O. Allen, one of the successful candidates at the recent election, is ineligible for office, not having been a resident of the town for a full year as required by law.

Because of the fact that H. H. Wickwire was allowed to be elected unopposed in this county to fill out the unexpired term of his late colleague, government papers all over the province are seeking to find the moral that the Union Reform movement in Kings is a thing of the past. We can very readily understand how such a conclusion might be reached, but at the same time would suggest to our over-zealous contemporaries that they should not fall into the old error of "counting their chickens, &c." There's another day coming. Don't worry about Kings county, and—by the way—don't get too jubilant.

Acadia Plays Draw With U. N. B.

About six hundred spectators witnessed the game between Acadia and the University of New Brunswick last Friday night. The game ended in a draw after eighty minutes over time play, the score being 2 to 2, and was characterized by considerable rough play, both teams lacking combination but good individual work was done. They would have put up better hockey if they had spent more time on the ice and less in the penalty box. For U. N. B. Sterling, Peeney and Habbitt played the best game, while Bars, Murray and Richmond were the stars for Acadia.

In the first half play was around centre ice. Machum carried the puck up the ice, and was checked by Bars, who got one minute. Soon after this Curry scored for Acadia, time 2 minutes. In one minute Peeney evaded the score. Play was carried into Acadia's territory. Bars and Potter were sent to the "cooler" for one minute each. After they returned the puck was carried into the visitor's territory. Habbitt was given a rest. Sterling got five minutes for tripping. Richmond made a rush that failed on the shot. Bars was given a rest, and Peeney scored No. 2 for the visitors. The half ended 2 to 1 in favor of U. N. B.

In the second half Murray took Curry's place, the latter having been injured in the first half. From the face of play went to Acadia's territory. Corey rushed but lost, and plays in U. N. B.'s end. Richmond was given one minute for tripping. Barry and Peeney combined on the shot. Black and McKay were sent to the "cooler." Richmond carried the puck to U. N. B.'s end, and passed to Corey who shot Acadia's second goal. Play went to the visitor's territory where Binney stopped some hot ones. Black and Potter were sent to the boards and Barry got hurt and caused a delay of ten minutes. Black rushed but Machum tripped and went off play ended in centre ice, score 2 to 2.

After eighty minutes overplay the score still stood 2 to 2, and the men being too tired to continue, the game ended. F. Young, of Dartmouth, refereed the game satisfactorily. The line-up was as follows:

Acadia	Goal	Robinson
Binney	Point	Bars
Sterling	C. Point	C. Point
Habbitt	Rover	Black
Barry	Centre	Richmond
Peeney	R. Wing	Curry
Machum	L. Wing	Corey (Capt.)
McKay		Potter

Makes Teething Painless.

Teething time is always a time of anxiety to mothers. At this time baby becomes cross, restless and nervous. His gums pain him, he is troubled with constipation or diarrhoea, spasms, colic or convulsions. His little life is in danger unless a medicine is given him to keep his stomach sweet and pure and his bowels regular. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. Nothing can equal them during the teething period. They have lessened the sorrow of thousands of mothers. Among them is Mrs. W. A. Yesson, Halifax, N.S., who writes: "I have used no other medicine for baby, but Baby's Own Tablets and I would not be without them. Last summer baby was greatly troubled with his teeth until I gave him the Tablets. They helped him and now he is a big healthy child." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Rev. J. A. Francis, of Boston, who has been accused by Acadia University to lecture on Homicides, has arrived and begun to work here. Lectures are given in College Hall every afternoon. Dr. Francis is also conducting a very interesting series of anti-epileptic services in the Y. M. C. A. every evening.

The Reviewer.

What kind of government have Canadians? Is it not party government gone mad? We have the reciprocity spectacle just now at Ottawa, by which we are furnished the answer to our question. In answer to an invitation from our most active and aggressive trade competitor, two members of the federal government visited Washington, where, with representatives of the United States government, they framed up an agreement which is destined to vitally affect Canada's future for good or evil.

Back to Ottawa these two Cabinet ministers travel with their precious agreement under cover, its contents unknown to a single representative of the people outside possibly the charmed circle of the federal Cabinet. On a day appointed one of the two emissaries presents the document to the House of Commons with a motion for its adoption as a government measure.

Now what is the position of affairs? Simply this, that every government supporter in the House of Commons is expected to follow the rule of child hood play, open his mouth and shut his eyes, and take whatever is given him, whether its taste be pleasant or otherwise.

A private member has no freedom. Personally, as a representative of his constituency, he may be strongly opposed to the reciprocity agreement, he may see in it a menace to the people he is there to represent, and he may have learned in a dozen ways that his constituents are even more strongly opposed to it than he is himself. But under the discipline of his government system, and which is peculiar to the present federal government, he is obliged to see that it is a question of life or death to his government and that they must not under any circumstances be defeated. And for this poor, docile, private, party hack it is a case of:

His not to make reply,
His not to reason why,
His just to about ay, ay.

And this is the sort of thing men call representative government, of the people, by the people, for the people. As a matter of fact there has never been a matter of greater importance brought before parliament in Canada since the Macdonald government appeared to the people on a national policy platform. The question as to whether Canada shall enter into a reciprocity compact with the United States, is not for two men to decide, be they ever so wise. It is a question in the discussion of which the utmost freedom should be permitted to the individual representative of the people. Instead of that the muzzle is to be applied and the voice of the people is absolutely and unbearably ignored.

The Republican party in power in the United States has come to the jumping off place through just such tactics. Boss rule lasts just so long and then comes insubordination. But the day of insubordination at Ottawa has not dawned. All signs indicate that the service following will do the bidding of its masters in this case, no matter what may happen as a result. Perhaps the insubordination will have to show itself in the electorate. We believe that it will do so if the government forces the unwelcome reciprocity agreement through the house.

The New York Sun, referring to the old reciprocity treaty, makes the following statement, and a more unworthy statement no great paper could make:

"The reciprocal trade relations of 1855-66 did not weaken the tie with the mother country. They set Canada up in business and gave her confidence in her own resources. With development that confidence has steadily grown." The facts are that immediately after the treaty went into effect a period of business depression fell upon a great part of the country now the Dominion of Canada. Factories were closed, working men fled to the United States for employment, farm products went for a song, and every industry in the Upper Provinces at least was paralyzed, the cities became industrial graveyards. Mechanics begged the city authorities to let them labor in the streets for seventy-five cents a day. Those who could find the money migrated. Population decreased in the industrial centres.

Then came the civil war in the United States. Men went to the war from the farm, and indeed, from every walk of life. Money was poured out like water. All prices advanced, and all products were scarce. Canada profited by her neighbor's misfortune. Farmers could sell their produce in the United States at almost any price they choose to ask. Manufacturers found their rivals in the republic unable to produce goods for export to Canada. Then undoubtedly Canada flourished, but it was because of the war and in spite of the reciprocity. And then remember what happened. So soon as our old Uncle Sam discovered that Canada was getting the best of the bargain because of the results of war conditions, he abrogated the treaty. Vessels full loaded with produce in our ports, in expectation of further sales in the United States, were obliged to find markets elsewhere. The American farmer and manufacturer demanded the home market and for all they cared Canada might starve.

Uncle Sam to-day is not half so anxious for our farm and manufactured products as he is for that of the forest, and only when Canada lets the United States have her pulp and pulp wood without let or hindrance will the Americans let our paper, manufactured in Canada, come in free, and if the pulp and pulpwood go into the States it is a sure thing they will not want our paper. They will be making their own supply from the raw material we are foolish enough to give them. Don't imagine for a moment that anything will stop them until they get the raw material, provincial control, or not.

University Worth Millions to City.

What is the university worth to Toronto was the question Dr. R. A. Falconer set himself to answer before members of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society at the Temple Building last night.

"To begin with," he said, "the university is worth every cent of its estimates, this year $750,000. The four thousand students spend in the city on an average $350. There is also the large influx of people who come to Toronto simply to get the advantages of the university for their children. Without the slightest exaggeration, I consider that the university is worth to the city each year in cash $2,000,000. I think this city ought to pay for the support of two professors, instead of simply contributing $6,000 a year. A university is bound to be costly, but it is no extravagant, because you get a full return for your money."

Leading up to his estimate of the value of his chief educational institution to the city, its president gave an interesting survey of the history and growth of Toronto University in particular and of universities in general. He mentioned a fact not widely known—that the oldest university in Canada, and the oldest in the Empire after Oxford and Cambridge, is King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, founded 150 years ago. McGill was founded in 1820, and Toronto, the chief State university in the Dominion, seven years later.

Toronto, he pointed out, has a scheme that is not only perfectly unique, but is quite satisfactory in its working. It has by its system of affiliated colleges solved the sectarian problem so far as to keep religious difficulties from interfering with the benefits of a university course of educational training. Whilst each of the sectarian colleges—Victoria, Trinity, St. Michael's, Knox and Wycliffe—keeps its religious atmosphere and identity, the faculties of the university proper in arts, medicine, applied science, forestry, household science and education—are absolutely free from sectarian control and entirely directed by the provincial Government.—Toronto Paper.

Politics in Kings County.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN. The observations by Reviewer in the last issue of THE ACADIAN deserve more than a passing notice. Whether Kings County, Nova Scotia, is the most corrupt county in Canada is a hard question to decide, but that it deserves a prominent place in that list will generally be conceded. Unlike Adams County, Ohio, I believe the ministers of this county are, generally speaking, above reproach. I regret the same statement cannot truthfully be said of many active church members, who at election times travel very crooked courses. Among the more depraved party workers the conditions are infinitely worse.

The most hard faced corruption is rampant. Possibly some doubting Thomases may question the veracity of these statements. If so I beg to say that I know whereof I speak. I can give the names of the bribers and the bribed and many little incidents connected with the last and preceding county elections in this county, that would make very interesting reading.

It is quite time that the decent people of this county awake to the real condition of affairs political in this classic county of Kings, Nova Scotia. One Who Knows.

The news has been received by friends here of the death of the Hon. Bushrod Morse, a prominent Boston lawyer, who passed away at his home in Brookline, after a short illness. He was twice elected to the house of representatives of Massachusetts by the labor party, and held many offices of trust. He was well known here, having married Miss Sophia Gertrude, a native of Gasperau, and with her often visited relatives in the valley.

The carnival at Evangeline Rink on Wednesday evening was quite a successful affair. The attendance was good, a large proportion coming from Kentville. The ice was in fine condition and the rink looked very attractive trimmed in flags and bunting. Good music was furnished by the Kentville and Wolfville bands. Many of the costumes were pretty, but those of them were hardly up to those of other years. Miss Martin, of Kentville, as 'Reciprocity' received the lady's prize, and Messrs. Shaw and Henry, dressed as Zeus, were awarded the gentlemen's prize. A special train from Kentville brought a large number of the visitors.

Avonport.

Last Monday evening the Hopetul Division of Avonport visited and spent an enjoyable evening at Hortonville. They were the guests of the Evangeline Division and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The program was of a fine class, consisting of songs, readings, dialogues, and speeches from Drs. Chipman and Borden.

While preparations were being made last Sunday to begin Sunday school an oak was seen leaning from the church, and but for the prompt action of Mr. Otto Huntley and some others the whole building might have been destroyed. The fire originated from an overheated pipe which was too close to the wood work of the church.

Mrs. W. H. McQuarrie, of Canning, is visiting for a few days at her father's, Mr. Chas. Reid.

On Monday evening the Rev. Mr. Lane gave his lecture on Government Annuities. Mr. Brenton Borden was appointed chairman and introduced the speaker. The lecture was very much enjoyed. A very small attendance was present.

We are very sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. S. McFarlane. She was stricken down suddenly by a temporary attack of paralysis. She is somewhat better now and we hope to record soon her recovery.

Tingley, Mr. B. O. Davison filled that position.

Interesting reports were presented from the various schools and departments of work. The Provincial Field secretary, Rev. Dr. Brown, was present and gave helpful addresses, and excellent music was furnished by the choir of the church.

Halifax Happenings.

DEAR ACADIAN—A few Halifax jottings may interest your readers. The severity of the weather recently and scarcity of work for tradesmen and laborers, coupled with the high cost of living, has made the winter an unusually hard one.

The big Siliker establishment, which promised so much for our citizens, had the effect of bringing into competition with our artisans much outside labor, and when the works practically shut down those who came to the city were also left without employment. Some of our business men, too, who identified themselves with this industry, have been left with a heavy load upon their shoulders; so that, at the present time, not much benefit has accrued to the city from the project. It is anticipated that the recent change in ownership, may set the machinery in motion again. This, however, must largely depend on the success of the management in securing contracts. Those who have the good fortune to be located on snug farms know little of these fluctuations in business which overtake both employer and employed in the cities. Rents continue to go on; food and fuel must be had; it takes money to procure these, and when employment ceases the source of supply fails. More than ever we need to emphasize the slogan, "Back to the soil," for men who will work are surer of a living from the soil to-day than from the factory; surer of reaching the goal of independence, that is won by persevering and honest labor. Every morning, except Sunday, I hear at 5:45 the shrill blast of the Cotton Factory horn, calling the workers to their daily toil. At 6:30 these must all be at their looms, men, women, little boys and girls; hurrying away from a hastily cooked breakfast, to put in the busy hours until 6:30 p.m. (less one hour for dinner) amid the continuous whirl of machinery, and the flying list, and unhealthy atmosphere.

Again at 7 a.m. I hear the braying of the Sugar Refinery siren and the busy stamp of feet on the frozen sidewalk, tells me that, another small army of ill paid men are starting their daily round of toil. For 11 or 12 cents per hour they work in rooms heated in some instances to such a temperature that only a singlet and pants can be worn. In the melting rooms, char vats, or at the centrifugals, all try ear their bread by the sweat of their face for a miserable pittance, and even the privilege of earning it continuously is denied them, should the directors deem, in the future, a possibility of over production; then factories must shut down and men exist as best they may.

I see the ocean liner signalled from the Citadel pier-stuff. Many a wharf laborer is anxiously watching that signal, and forthwith a host is moving from tenement and alley to the water front, pressing close around the stevedore, who, while wanting to satisfy all, yet knows he can only employ a part of this anxious crowd. Hope which had risen up in the breasts of many at the prospect of employment, now flickers low as the disappointed ones turn with heavy steps away, to endure another weary wait, until, perchance, another freighter shall make port and bring better luck.

Such are some glimpses we get of the conditions under which many of our workers exist; and to these might be added many other pictures of squalor and misery and want. City life has its dark side as well as its glamour of light and brightness. I have now made this article so extensive on the one subject that I must drop out many others, but not until I have had a word about one.

Naval Establishment. Naval uniforms are again becoming common on our streets, and the dockyard is taking on a lively appearance. Men and boys are being enlisted as sailors, stokers, &c. If rumor be true, however, a great menace is likely to confront those who in the shape of a recreation room in the Dockyard with canteen accompaniment where 'booze' can be had. It is said that the 'booze' is there now and the canteen ready for business. It can hardly be credited that such a temptation should be allowed to exist, therefore, it is to be hoped that we are misinformed. Objection has been taken to the cognome "tinpot navy," but a 'beer pot' navy is the last thing we expected, after the advance press notices of the going away of the Niobe's grog tub. That old institution was fraught with far less danger than will be the permanent canteen, where men may congregate and drink without restraint. More anon about this as facts develop. PHN.
