Passing of Worthy Citizens Who Rest From Their Labors

John Frederic Herbin
The community was startled and shocked on Saturday evening last by the news of the sudden death of Mr. John Frederic Herbin, one of the best known and most highly esteemed residents of this town.

On the afternoon of that day Mr. Herbin had left his home at about three o'clock for a duck-shooting trip on the dykes, one of his favorite pastimes. Not returning at nightfall his family became uneasy and his son, Fred, on returning from his work, went to investigate and found the body of his father in the Wickville lane, not more than a hundred feet from Main Street, where he had apparently dropped and expired without a struggle.

Mr. Herbin had been a resident of Wolfville for nearly forty years during which he had displayed a lively interest and unstintingly given his support to every project which made for material or moral community advancement.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Minnie Simson, daughter of the late James Simson, of Melanson, by two sons, Frederick and Robert; two daughters, Angela and Felice; by two sisters, Mrs. Maude Robillard, New Hampshire, Mrs. McClellan, Georgia, and brothers, Charles, of Arichat, C. B., Ferdinand, of Brockville, Ont., and Frederick, of U.S.A.

Several years ago he retired from active service and he has since been a valued resident of this place.

For many years the deceased was a successful orchardist and farmer at Starr's Point, where as the result of his industry and far-sightedness one of the finest properties in the Valley was built up. As a pomologist he had few equals anywhere introduced into the country many new and valuable varieties of apples. A leader in the work of the Nova Scotia Fruit Association and wherever the interests of Annapolis Valley apples were discussed and advanced, he rendered valuable service to this section which will never be fully estimated.

After much pondering, both of life and books, I think that sixty is not a period of decay but a period when a man is at his soundest and ripest. -Dr. W. Robertson Nicoll

WEEK OF PRAYER 1924

Next week is the Week of Prayer. The Ministerial Association has approved the following program: Monday, Jan. 7, Subject: "Our Young People". Speaker, the Rev. Douglas Hemmeon, St. John's Church of England.

MISS CASSIE WESTCOTT

She passed away at Boston, Mass., December 10th, after an illness of but a few hours. Miss Cassie Westcott was a native of Gasperreau.

CHRISTMAS TREE

On Monday evening the young people of St. John's Church School held their annual supper and Christmas tree at the Parish Hall. It proved to be one of the most successful affairs in the history of the church.

SUDDEN DEATH AT WHITEROCK

A very sudden death occurred at White Rock early on Wednesday morning when Frank Benjamin, son of Mr. Allan Benjamin, passed away after a few hours illness.

COUNCIL MEETING

Decides to Purchase Fire Equipment. Meeting of Citizens Will Vote on Proposed Expenditure

The regular January meeting of the Council was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. MacDonald at the Baptist Church.

The Finance Committee recommended that no action be taken on the application of Albert Weatherbee to be released of assessment which he claimed had been wrongfully made to him.

The Town Manager reported regarding the proposed purchase of additional fire-fighting equipment. Some months ago the Council authorized an expenditure of $2300 for the purchase of a chemical engine and Ford truck.

A resolution was passed by the Council approving of the purchase of a chemical engine, chemical engine and hose, and the purchase of a Ford truck. The estimated yearly expense of the different proposals was placed at $400, $1000 and $1250 respectively.

THE YEAR 1923

Rev. Dr. J. H. MacDonald D. D. Interested a large congregation at the Baptist Church

For several years back, while pastor of the Wolfville Baptist Church, it has been the custom of Rev. Dr. MacDonald at this season to give a review of the closing year and of interpreting its significant events.

In the firmament of nations dark clouds obscured the sky throughout most of the year. It was a great day for the pessimist. He could dip his pen into the blackest ink and write in terms of despair.

The changes which took place in all these countries was due to the incompetence and inefficiency of the rulers. The curse of democracy has always been cowardice and the failure to govern with a firm and honest hand.

The following bills were read and ordered paid: Electric Commission $14.60, Street lights 719.00, Special lights 21.28, Wolfville Fruit Co. 1.14, J. D. Harris 7.54, R. E. Harris 52.00, E. F. Mahoney 41.75, Special Police 200.87

CO-OPERATIVE BOOSTING

Boosting is a game that more than one can play. "I boost you you boost me" is a good motto, and "we will boost together," is another good motto.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL SHOULD TAKE ACTION

At the risk of being regarded unduly persistent THE ACADIAN again urges that at the forthcoming annual session of the Municipal Council our County legislators should take into serious consideration the matter of providing some better method of dealing with those under sentence in our county jail.

CIVIC WATCH NIGHT SERVICE

In former times it was the custom in some churches to hold what was known as a "Watch Night Service" during the dying hours of the old year.

The program of a service of this kind held at Schnecktady, N. Y., during the past three years has been broadcasted by the General Electric Company's station and received all over the country and by the radio outfit of this paper.

The idea of a community getting together at the end of the year to discuss matters of public interest is a very good one and right with profit be applied in civic as well as religious life.

ROAD-SIDE SIGNBOARDS A NUISANCE

No longer in the State of Minnesota will road-side billboards inform the traveller what to smoke or chew or what hams are best.

In Nova Scotia our landscape is disfigured on every hand by hideous advertising signs which should not be allowed to mar the view.

In Wolfville we formerly had a by-law which prohibited the posting of bills on fences, trees and other public places, including telephone and electric poles, but this has, apparently, long been forgotten or disregarded.

suggest that such a laudable work might very well be undertaken here. Wolfville has the reputation of being the prettiest town in the Maritime Provinces and the surrounding sections are a delight to visitors.

THE OLD AND THE NEW YEAR

I mused as the hour drew nigh, and methought the Old Year stood before me. Weary and wayworn he seemed, and in his hand was an hour glass whence the last sands were falling.

"Many blessings thou hast brought me for which I give thee thanks. New they have been every morning, and fresh every moment. Thou hast indeed from my heart's garden uprooted some hopes that I had planted there: with their clustering buds they fell, and were never quickened again."

"I answered, 'Thou hast also hidden from my sight the loved and the revered; clouds are strewn upon their faces; they reply to my call no more, and the home that they made so fair, and the places that once knew them know them no more.'"

"I gazed upon his wan brow and to me it was beautiful. Fain would I have swept away the snows that gathered round his hoary temples, but he suffered me not, and stretched himself to die. By his side I knelt and said: 'Oh departing Year, and I beheld a scroll folded beneath his mantle, what witness shall it bear of me at the judgment.'"

"Then a passion fell upon me, and when again I lifted up my head, lo, the New Year stood in the place of the departed; smiling, he greeted me with good wishes and words of cheer, while round me many tokens of friendship and love; but I was afraid, for to me he was a stranger and when I would have returned his welcome my lips were silent. Then he said, 'Fear not, I have come unto thee from the Giver of all good and perfect gifts.'"

"New Year, whither wilt thou lead me? Art thou appointed to bring me joy or sorrow, life or death? He replied, 'I know not; neither doth the angel who sitteth nearest to the throne now. Only Him who sitteth there, give me thy hand and question not; enough for thee that I accomplish His Will. Make that thine own and thou shalt taste of His happiness, even here below. Promise nothing, be content with His will, and take with thee a prayer for His wisdom, this winged moment. The next may not be mine to give. Yet if we walk onward together, forget not that thou art a pilgrim for Eternity. If I bring thee a cup of joy, be thankful, and pitiful for those who mourn, and let all men be unto thee as brethren. If the dregs of bitterness cleave unto thy lips, be not too eager to receive relief lest thou betray the weakness of thy faith. God's perfect discipline giveth wisdom, therefore count them happy who endure. When the morn breaketh in the East gird thyself in the Holy Spirit's strength for thy duties, with a song of thanksgiving; for God is near to those who trust Him, and rejoice in His ways. And when the night putteth on her coronet of stars, kneel and ask that the day's sins for Christ's sake be forgiven thee, and when I myself die, thou mayst bless me as a friend and a helper on the road to Heaven."

WHAT'S THE USE OF WORRYING

It has been very truly said by some that more men and women are killed by worry than by all the wars and plagues. If it rains, we are having too much rain; if it doesn't rain the country is going to burn up; if we have a pleasant winter, someone drags out that old sophism—a green Christmas means a full churchyard in the spring; if the winter is severe the climate is becoming abominable.

Everybody knows the utter futility of worrying. Some people are never so happy as when they are miserable. It is the easiest thing in the world to fall into this wretched habit of enjoying misery. If the weather is beautiful somebody proceeds to tell us with prophetic glee: "This weather is too good; it can't last."

How much corn does Worry grow? Does he feed the stock? Worry does none of these things, but great goblin that he is, grins leeringly at the farmer and makes him think he is to spend his last days in the almshouse. Many a farmer has worried so about the season that he has not made the best of the season.

But the farmer is not the only one who bows too often to worry. Millionaires have worried themselves into their graves because they lost a few thousand dollars foolishly. The preachers have worried themselves helpless because the world doesn't reform overnight; and the statesmen have worried to last home beneath the sod as a result of a defeat at the polls.

Grocers have died broken hearted as have butchers, dry goods merchants, retailers of all kinds, when the little stock of goods is foreclosed and they face bankruptcy. Doctors, lawyers, teachers, professional men of all kinds all have been killed by Worry, the demon.

Away with Worry! He shall not rule us. Let slaves and weaklings tremble at his power. Ours is the privilege to conquer the beast and loose ourselves from his power forever. Then calm and serene, we shall face the battle of life unafraid, knowing that it is impossible for us to strike one blow amiss.

Though our sword may be broken we shall fight on, knowing that a handicap is an advantage to the courageous heart. The hosts of bygone heroes watch our work. They too have won the victory, and they wait for us to claim ours.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., has the distinction of having developed the world's largest organ plant, and by native invention and improvements evolved an instrument which receives praise from the world's first artists. An organ recently shipped by Cassavant Freres of that place to Paris, France, is absolutely the first to leave the American continent for Europe; the movement heretofore been in the opposite direction, and was so shipped because the purchaser desired the finest and most up-to-date instrument that could be secured.

You will never lose a job if you are on it all the time.

CHRISTMAS AT THE KINGS COUNTY HOME

WATERVILLE, Dec. 29.—It is possible there are others just as good, but it is not thought around here that there is any better County Home anywhere in the Maritime Provinces.

The Christmas season is pre-eminently a children's festival, and this affects the County Home, especially for although many are beyond childhood in body, yet in mind the majority of the inmates are children.

Fortunate indeed are the overseers of Kings County in having for the caretakers of the County Home such a Christian and big-hearted couple as Mr. and Mrs. Sol Slaunwhite, who apparently have adopted this large family (64 at present) of unfortunates as their own, and take a personal interest in their welfare.

Christmas comes but once a year, but before it comes in the County Home someone has been thinking of its coming and arranging and planning. Six or eight weeks before there had been commenced a little pile of "comforts"

WHOEVER YOU ARE

Teacher, perhaps—standing up long hours before a class of restless, though inwardly good and wholesome "young scamps."

Or soil man—rising early and retiring late, rough handed, honest hearted, wholesome minded. Taught by the lessons of the fields.

Or mother—with crying babies, all the time getting into trouble and calling you from this and that, healing with kisses, comforting with pats and hugs.

Or scrub woman—kneeling over dirty floors, mopping, scrubbing, wondering, wishing. Mindful of others or better days, maybe. Active while the other part of the world sleeps or is at play.

Or engineer—looking out of your cab window through rain, or fog or storm, while your passengers read or talk, or sleep in peace and thoughtlessness of you.

Or poet—writing of the sentiments, the beauties, the wonders, the mysteries. Lifting by your words great populations, cities of men and women and little children, and leading them into gardens and heavens.

Or shut-in—bearing your pain or misfortune with vital fortitude and all the time thinking of those who walk and run and play.

You are the reason there is a God—a real God. You are the "salt of this earth!"

ENGLAND'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER PASSES Great regret is expressed at the disappearance of England's oldest newspaper, the Pall Mall Gazette, which has been purchased by Lord Beaverbrook (Max Aitken) and absorbed by the Evening Standard, another recent acquisition of Beaverbrook.

There are 29,000 of the 65,000 workers in the Ford Factories of Detroit have defective vision, according to the results of a survey in the factory by the Eyesight Conservation Council of America.

there; scientists and historians like Tyndall and Freeman; political writers like Sir Henry Maine and Fitzjames Stephen and essayists like Hutton and Matthew Arnold. The Pall Mall Gazette was remarkable for enterprising news pages as well as editorial influence; it had the smartness that Thackeray suggested. Greenwood made it a popular success by a series of stunning articles. Stead went far beyond him in boldness by his lurid exposure of the white slave evil, which landed him in prison and drew much justified condemnation on his head, but did elicit remedial legislation.

The story is an overpowering reflex of American life by C. Gardner Sullivan, foremost motion picture dramatist. It represents a veritable human epic, and is, as such, interpreted by one of the most complete and brilliant casts ever assembled.

The scenes, constituting a tense succession of emotional situations, shift from the harsh and rugged New England hills to the rush and turmoil of the world's greatest metropolis: from the peace and plenty of the country

THE SECOND MILE

(By Fay Inchfawn) There is a woman in our town Who seldom wears a stylish gown; She isn't great at holding meetings, But, oh! she's fine at friendly greetings; She meets her neighbors with a smile, And always goes the second mile!

What do I mean? Why, this. If you Should ask her for a flower or two, She'll pluck for you her choicest treasure. And say it only gives her pleasure To cut that Canterbury bell, And would you like a rose as well?

And when poor tired Mrs. Brown Wants to go shopping in the town, And says, "Oh, could you mind young John For me, please Mrs. Robinson?" Then Mrs. R. is sure to say, "I'll have the baby, too, today, Don't hurry back, 'twill hurt your head!"

I'll get the darlings both to bed. And have your paper for the table; So take a rest, dear, while you're able. And then she's never known to shirk Her share at teas and sales of work; She washes plates and brews the tea And is as sweet as she can be. She doesn't get in any huff If stylish Mrs. Powder Puff Says, "Mrs. Robinson, Dear me! What a good help she seems to be."

But then" (slight cough behind her cup). "Of course, she's used to washing up!" She never feels "imposed upon This kindly Mrs. Robinson. She says it gives her joy to find That everybody is so kind. No wonder she thinks life worth while—Those do, who go the second mile! That everybody is so kind. Those do, who go the second mile!

THE PREACHER'S HARD LOT A preacher has a hard time. If his hair is white, he is too old. If he is a young man, he hasn't any experience. If he has ten children he has too many. If he has none, he should have and isn't showing a good example. If his wife sings in the choir, she is presuming. If she doesn't she dislikes her husband's work. If a preacher reads his notes he is a bore, if he speaks extemporaneously, he isn't deep enough. If he stays at home in his study, he doesn't mix with the people if he is seen around the streets he ought to be at home getting up a good sermon. If he calls on a poor family, he is playing to the grandstand. If he calls at the home of the rich he is an aristocrat. Whatever he does someone could have told him how to do it better. He has a time living off of donations which never come in. Next to being an editor it is an awful life.

That 29,000 of the 65,000 workers in the Ford Factories of Detroit have defective vision, according to the results of a survey in the factory by the Eyesight Conservation Council of America. As a result of the survey all employees having defective vision have been placed on jobs where there is no risk of injury and nothing in the job that will further endanger their sight.

Rupert Hughes is the wisest man now writing for the screen!

You'll think so when you see his latest comedy-drama of married life. "You'll say: 'It's the truth!' And you, howl at many familiar situations that strike home.

Rupert Hughes knows all the little features of domestic bliss from the early morning grouch to the monthly bill conference.

He's a wizard when it comes to prying into other people's affairs but he understands us so keenly and handles us so sympathetically that we forgive him everything.

The ladies are going to have the time of their lives at "Gimme". No wife can afford to miss this wonderful presentation of her place in the scheme of things, and every wise Mrs. will insist that hubby join her and note that Mr. Hughes believes marriage is a 50-50 arrangement with no such thing as a "hand-out" for expenses but a fair share in the family income!

"Oh, yes, it's a novel idea! That's what makes this lively comedy-drama one of the most entertaining films that's come along in many a day. Here's a picture you're going to talk about when you get back home.

Be sure and see this comedy-drama at the Orpheum.

This Friday and Saturday.

THE LIBRARIAN at a certain museum was engaged in cataloguing and arranging some ancient books that had just arrived from Egypt, when he noticed a perplexed look on the face of his assistant. "What's the matter, Brown?" he asked. "Is there anything that you don't understand?" "Yes," answered Brown. "Here is a small papyrus on which the characters are not decipherable. How shall I class it?" "Um," thoughtfully returned the librarian, examining the papyrus. "Suppose you call it a doctor's prescription in the time of Pharaoh!"

Items of Local Interest

A carload of steel for the new College building arrived last week and is being put in position.

The three-masted schooner "Stuart T. Salter" of Boston, with a cargo of 430 tons of fertilizer consigned to R. E. Harris & Sons, arrived yesterday morning.

Miss Charlotte West, who lives in one of the dwellings north of the railway track, had a narrow escape on Sunday morning.

A special meeting of the Council was held on Monday evening at which an extension of time until Jan. 9th was granted the Assessors to complete their duties.

There was a fairly representative attendance at the meeting of the Social Service Council at Kentville on Friday last.

THANK YOU

THE ACADIAN acknowledges the receipt of the following calendars:—Excelsior Life Assurance Company, Wild and Stevens Incorporated, Canada Printing Ink Co. Ltd.

GARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Emery Coldwell and family wish to thank all those who so kindly remembered them in their recent sad bereavement, all of those who sent Floral Offerings, Cards of Sympathy, letters of Condolence, and also the organist, Miss Leta Gertridge, and members of the choir who rendered such beautiful music.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

On behalf of the Children's Aid Society of King's County I wish to thank the young girls of the Rainbow Club for their very thoughtful kindness in raising through their own activities $250 towards the support of the work of the Children's Aid Society.

NO RACE SUICIDE

The comedian who walked into a London dairy which exhibited the legend in its window, "Families Supplied," and said he would take "a boy and a girl," might have been more successful in America, where comes the news that a wife has presented her husband with eight babies in one day!

In the very same week the information was forthcoming that a young waitress at Durban has given birth to four children, and the announcement was accompanied by the assurance that "all were doing well."

Some years ago a Palermo woman, Rose Salemi, presented her husband with five boys, all well formed, and, according to the doctor, "eating well and crying well. But she was a long way from wresting the record from the peasant girl, Gravata, of Tuscany, says London Tit-Bits.

Gravata was the twin daughter of a woman who was one of triplets. The daughter married a man of her class. She set the seal of the family reputation when she made her husband a present of six sons, and followed the next year with five more!

After this she had triplets twice, which were followed by a quartette. Then ensued a procession of ones and twos, and finally, came four boys all together. This brought the aggregate number of her living children up to 62, and assured her fame in obstetrical annals as the "Gravata case."

Brand's "History of Newcastle" credits a similar feat to the wife of a poor weaver in Scotland, but does not state how many children arrived at one and the same time. Her family, however, numbered 62. Of these, 46 boys and four girls survived to manhood and womanhood.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sir Robert Borden Chapter I. O. O. E. will be held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, January 8th, at 3:30 p. m. As it is a nomination meeting—full attendance is requested.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 9th, at 8.15 o'clock, in the Wolfville Baptist Church, Dr. F. W. Patterson, President of Acadia University, will deliver a lecture on the subject "Self-made Cripples." The proceeds will be for the purpose of assisting Harold Chipman, who is at Westwood Hospital undergoing treatment for infantile Paralysis. It is hoped that the public will give the lecture a generous patronage, especially in view of the circumstances. Tickets, 50 cents.

PUBLIC EDUCATION IN NOVA SCOTIA

In view of the growing interest in matters pertaining to our public schools, the writer wishes to call attention to a book entitled "Public Education in Nova Scotia," issued some two years ago, and written by James A. Bingay, M. A., supervisor of the Glace Bay schools.

This book contains much valuable information put in a readable and interesting form. The author has divided his book into two parts. The first deals with the development of the Public School from its beginning in 1866. The second deals with the evolution of our school system from 1866 to the present time.

In the second part of the book the author also offers some comments of a critical nature on the form and working of our school system.

Where Dr. Bingay deals with the history of our school system he is interesting. As a critic he is disappointing. He is neither constructive, nor destructive. He apparently has no definite opinions on the problems he discusses. Discussing the advantages or disadvantages of having a superintendent, rather than a Minister of Education with a trained Deputy Minister, Dr. Bingay says, "Probably our present plan is better on account of the smallness of our province." While we might all admit that our present plan is better, yet it is difficult for the lay mind to see the relation of the area of the province to the matter under discussion.

Referring to the Advisory Board he says, "This Board has not been altogether satisfactory." This is a definite opinion; but he does not pursue the matter. When we remember that the Advisory Board plays the chief part in framing our course of study, choosing our Text Books, and regulating the licensing of Teachers the situation is serious, indeed, if, as this authority states, the Board has failed in its work.

Dealing with the over-worked inspectors, he advises that the inspection staff be doubled. As a great part of the Inspector's work is clerical, one would think that a better solution would be to relieve Inspectors of clerical work, leaving them free to care for the schools under their charge. This clerical work should be done, as it is in other provinces, at the Education Office.

It would certainly be more satisfactory and economic than increasing the staff of Inspectors.

Dr. Bingay's plan for holding pupils in school beyond grade six, is to have a "bifurcated course." In other words to have electives introduced to pupils at the age of eleven or twelve years. He appears to have overlooked the reason why so many pupils leave school at this point.

The fact is that beyond grade five, pupils are promoted by a memory test solely. Many pupils of superior ability are often poor memorizers. Failing to advance they become discouraged. No reward is held out to the pupil for alertness of mind, quickness of perception. Ability to form correct judgments, constructive ability, or the power of persistent effort.

A modern writer has said, "We can look for no improvements in our fourteenth-century school-methods until that the College Professor, and the Academic Teacher are among the least capable of dealing with problems relating to the Common or Rural School."

PROPERLY COOKED CORN

Do you know how to cook corn? The most advanced cooks say that young corn should be put into boiling water and left to steam for 10 to 12 minutes—not boiled at all, but cobbled; so to speak, as you do an egg for the nursery. If you boil it, five minutes is the limit for your corn and seven to twelve for the older ears. Add sugar, not salt, to the water and boil gently. And do not let it stand around afterward.

Peach Stains.—A peach stain is very difficult to remove. It may be done, however, if these directions are followed. First wet the stain thoroughly, then spread cream of tartar on it. After this wash in the ordinary way. It will probably be necessary to repeat the process if the stain is very old.

Frying Eggs.—Put a spoonful of flour in the pan in which eggs are to be fried. This will not only keep them from sticking, but from breaking as well.

Stuffed Eggs.—When eggs are to be stuffed they should be put in cold water as soon as they are taken from the stove. This will keep the whites in better shape.

CANNING

Mr. Gaylord Woodworth, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spurr Woodworth has returned to St. John. Mrs. Rich, spent Christmas in Kentville, guest of her son. Mr. Judson Melvin, returned from the States on Monday, and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Melvin. Mr. and Mrs. Spurr Woodworth entertained at a delightful dance on Monday evening, in honor of their son, Mr. Gaylord Woodworth, of St. John, who is spending the Christmas vacation, with his parents. Dr. Donahoe celebrated mass, at eleven a. m. Sunday, at Woodside, a large number attending. The annual Christmas concert, of Canning, Methodist Sabbath School, was very largely attended, and greatly enjoyed. The decorations of miniature trees, were very attractive. The program was very fine, from the oldest to the youngest child, the various recitations, exercises and choruses, were well carried out. Worthy of special mention was the solo by Miss Marie Ames, who has a voice of unusual beauty. The Boy Scouts' leader, Rev. Thomas Hodgson, gave a chorus, which was particularly pleasing. Mrs. Charles Sinnett presided at the piano. Candy was distributed from a well filled tray as each child completed his or her part of the program. Miss Alice Huston, is spending a week's vacation at her home. The funeral of Mrs. George Brown, was held from her late residence, North Mountain, on Thursday morning at eleven o'clock, and was largely attended. Many coming for miles to pay their last tribute to one who had won the love and respect of the community. Rev. G. D. Hudson, pastor of the First Cornwallis Baptist church conducted the services. The speaker chose for his text, Luke 8-22, "Let us go over to the other side," and emphasized the thought that these words of Jesus were spoken, following a very busy day and our Saviour was solicitous for the comfort and needed rest of His disciples. He suggested that they leave the throng and toils of the day, and go over to the other side of the lake, where quiet and the reward of labor would be theirs. The pastor pointed out that Jesus did not say to the disciples, "Go over to the other side of the lake" neither did He go over to the other side and say "Come over." But the true companion that He was, He was with them. Mr. Hudson drew a comparison with the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord is with us, wherever we go," and said that where we pass through the Valley of the Shadow He is with us. The service was a very beautiful one touching tributes being paid to the life of the deceased, and by our so faithfully carried on by the departed sister, as Superintendent of the Baptist Sabbath School, North Mountain. Miss Ethel Hudson sang very beautifully, "Face To Face," by Herbert Johnson. The remains were laid to rest at Scotts' Bay, where large numbers followed to the grave. Scotts Lodge No. 28, A. F. & A. M., held its annual banquet, at the Waverley Hotel, on Thursday evening, Dec. 27, celebrating the Feast of St. John the Evangelist, one of the patron Saints of Masonry. More than thirty Masons, their wives and sweethearts dined together, the evening being one of unusual pleasure. The dining room was attractive with holly and evergreen, ribbons of green and red festooned crossing in the centre. Four charming girls, Misses Ruth Bigelow, Myrtle De Ellis, Margaret Bigelow and Laurabel Bigelow, assisted in serving, a dinner that was of the best and reflected credit on our host, Mr. Frank Norton, proprietor of the Waverley. Much regret was felt that Past Master Philip Brown, our esteemed member, was unable to be present. Mr. Brown, who is 93 years of age, during his 35 years membership, has been absent only from two banquets. The committee, S. T. Chipman, I. W. Slack, S. W. Spicer, L. M. Ward, H. K. Bain, is to be congratulated on the success of the evenings entertainment. The chaperons, were Mrs. W. B. Burbidge, Mrs. L. M. Ward, Mrs. Stewart Loomer. Miss Bertha Northup, accompanied by her father, Mr. Fred Northup, spent Christmas in Annapolis, guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Northup. Canning Literary Society met at the home of Mrs. Starr Eaton, on Thursday afternoon. A petition that our councillors use their influence that the service of the County Nurse, be re-installed was signed and a favorable discussion regarding temperance took place. The programme, was a delightful one, and consisted of readings by Lady Borden, Mrs. Gordon, C. Hewitt and Mrs. James Kennedy, and vocal solos by Miss Gladys Kennedy, at the conclusion of which a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Norman H. Gosse entertained at a delightful dinner party on Friday evening the guests being the members of the Ladies' Aid of Christ Church. Miss Blanche Thomas, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, returned to resume teaching on Friday. Mrs. Cyrus Steele, who has been visiting at her home in Berwick, returned on Friday. Miss Emma Bigelow, Miss Ruth Sheffield and Miss Margaret Rand are visiting in Truro. Miss Carrie Weaver, spent Christmas with her sister in Regina. Miss Lella Blenkhorn has been added to the staff of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. of Canning. Mr. Dexter Davison, we regret, is ill. Miss Harrison who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Reid Pelton, returned on Friday. Miss Gladys Kennedy, who has spent the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy, returned to Halifax on Saturday, where she is a member of the staff of the New Acadian school. Miss Vivienne Porter, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Amos Melvin, returned to Truro Normal College on Saturday. Miss Myrtle Meek, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Porter, returned to the Normal College Truro on Saturday. Miss H. T. Wright has returned from visiting in Liverpool. Mr. J. Dunlop, who has been visiting at his home in Halifax, has returned to resume teaching. Miss McKenzie has returned from Halifax. A very severe snow storm passed over our town on Friday. Mr. Henry Blanchard is building a fine barn. Miss Margaret Burbidge, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leander Burbidge has returned to resume her teaching in Lunenburg County. Messrs. Samuel Chipman, and Leo Lyons have returned from a trip to Weymouth. Minnie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Kinsman, who has been ill with pneumonia, is improving. Miss Lou Covert and Miss Ruth Harris have returned to Acadia. Messrs. Seldon Smith and Burnell Eaton, who have been visiting at their homes, returned to Acadia University. Mr. Ezra Reid attended the Masonic dinner held at the Waverley Hotel on Thursday evening. Mrs. A. S. Burgess, Miss Josephine Burgess, Mr. Montague Burgess, Mr. Lester Coit, Wolfville, spent the Christmas vacation with Mrs. Alice Atkinson. Miss Erma Goldsmith, who has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Goldsmith, returned to Perotte where she is teaching. Rev. Charles Risborough, occupied the pulpit of the United Baptist Church on Sabbath evening, his sermon being a deeply impressive one. The speaker chose for contemplation, "We Spend Our Years as a Tale that is Told," impressed on his hearers that each year of our life is a chapter, in which are recorded our sins and our virtues. That our names may be written in the Lamb's book of life, was his prayer for us all. The Greek rendering of this passage was "We bring our years to a close with a sigh or a psalm." Rev. Charles Risborough will occupy the pulpit of United Baptist church, on Sabbath evenings, during the month of January, and will conduct the weekly Wednesday evening prayer service. Mr. Kempton, of Kempt, a former Acadia student, and a graduate of Truro Normal college has accepted a position on the staff of Canning school, made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Bertha O'Brien. Miss Freda, a former teacher of Canning school, now of the teaching staff of Chester, is visiting Miss Blanche Thomas. Miss Marguerite Reid, North Kingsport, will spend a few days in Canning on her return to Mount Allison. Sackville. Miss Leah Borden, of the teaching staff of Mount Allison University, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Borden, has returned to Sackville. Miss Helen Begg is spending her vacation at Summerside P. E. I. guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Todd Begg. The electric light line is being extended from Borden St. to the warehouse of Mr. P. G. McDonald, Hillaton. Miss Jean Howard, spent the vacation in town leaving on Saturday for her home in St. John, where she will spend a month before visiting in Halifax, guest of Mrs. Jean Smith. REV. H. T. WRIGHT DENOUNCES MODERN DANCES "Can you point to me one single case of a person or community morally degraded until the dance came, and can you tell me how the advent of the dance has changed that person or community for the better?" This question Rev. H. T. Wright, speaking in the West End Baptist Church, Halifax, last Sunday evening on "Reasons Why I Do Not Dance," put to his congregation. "What phase of life has the dance permanently helped?" asked Mr. Wright. "What community has it lifted to a higher plane spiritually or morally? To what social improvement are we indebted to the dance? When or in what will I find a record for its achievement of good?" Seven reasons the speaker set forth for his not indulging in the dance and they were as follows: "The modern dance violates universally the recognized laws of health. The modern dance has contributed greatly to the emptiness and selfishness of present day social life. The modern dance assails the highest intellectual improvement of its participants and of society, when given in a group. The modern dance exerts a positive influence in withstanding the spirits of God calling human souls to Christian life. The modern dance is hostile to the highest attainment of Christian conscience. The modern dance in its nature and results is dangerous to social purity." Referring to the Bible, the speaker quoted several passages to support his contention. From the book of John, he selected the words, "love not the world, neither the things of the world." "It is," he asked, "of God, or is it of the world?" The Rev. H. T. Wright was lately the Pastor of the Baptist church of this place. SCOTT'S BAY The Union church S. S. held their annual Christmas entertainment on Thursday evening the program being one of unusual interest and pleasure and reflected credit on teachers and scholars. The Superintendent, Daniel Shaw, presided, and was assisted by Miss Cloyd Neaves. The decorations were very attractive, and gifts were distributed from a well filled tree by the never failing Santa. Each class provided entertainment, especially pleasing, being the "Plus Ultra" boys class, teacher Miss Neaves, being very fine. The choir rendered special music which was much enjoyed. The committee in charge was Mrs. Harris Thorpe, Mrs. Violet Tupper, Mrs. Wilmet Irving, Mrs. Trueman Corkum, Miss Leone Tupper, Miss Cloyd Neaves, and Miss Ruby Dickie. The success of the evening entertainment, was due to the Christmas gathering on Wednesday. A pleasing innovation by the primary teacher, Miss Cloyd Neaves, was the placing of a tiny Christmas tree on the desk of each pupil, who decorated it very attractively, the room, presenting the appearance of a miniature forest. Miss Neaves, was presented with a beautiful pair of astrachon gauntlets by the primary class, and was also the recipient of many other gifts. Miss Leone Tupper's class presented her with a very fine ever-sharp pencil in addition to other presents. Miss Tupper and Miss Neaves expressed their appreciation of these kindnesses in a feeling manner. Santa visited each member of the school wishing them a happy holiday. A group of Canadian Girls in Training, has been organized in Scotts' Bay under the leadership of our teacher, Miss Leone Tupper, of Kentville. Her motto is "Let your light so shine before men that they seeing your good works may glorify your Father who is in Heaven." "The Rays of Light," group, is showing much interest in the work, and hopes to be of practical use to our community. Scotts' Bay Division, held their enjoyable Christmas tree, and entertainment on Tuesday evening which was much appreciated. The program consisted of readings by Mrs. L. A. Huntley, Miss Cloyd Neaves, and Miss Leone Tupper. Chorus, Messrs. Benjamin Tupper, Elmer Tupper, John Huntley, Comer Strong, Miss Neaves, Miss Leone Tupper. The decorations were very attractive and Santa remembered all who were present. Nearly $20.00 was realized at the pie sale held for the cemetery fund. Mr. Hardy Corkum, making an efficient auctioneer. Mrs. Clarence Steele presided. KINGSFORT The Kingsport Congregational Church, was filled to its utmost capacity on Friday evening, when the Christmas Cantata was given. The pupils of the Sabbath School, under the guidance of Miss Juanita Loomer, and Miss Ruby Dickie, gave a very beautiful programme of songs and recitations. A march in which all the pupils took part, with Miss Loomer, presiding at the organ, while the little ones, marched through the church, was particularly interesting. The church was attractively decorated, two fine Christmas trees being filled to overflowing being robbed by Santa who bestowed gifts on all the pupils. Rev. Mr. Crosby assisting in the good work. Three prizes were presented by the Pastor, the winner amongst the girls, for attendance, being Miss Marian Nixon, George Bruscoe, winning the prize offered for the boys. These were donated by Mr. Owen Davison, and Mr. George Bruscoe, John Rafuse won the Pastor's prize. The evening was one of unusual pleasure. Many will learn with interest, of the marriage of Mabel A. Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weaver, Kingsport, who on Dec. 27, became the bride of Mr. William Cowan, of Regina. Miss Weaver, has for many years taught successfully in the west and the ACADIAN extends congratulations and good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Cowan, regretting the permanent removal of the bride. Miss Carrie Weaver, who is teaching in the West, attended the wedding. UPPER CANARD The young people, held an enjoyable sleighing party on Christmas evening. Mr. Flemon Dickie, who has been visiting in Kentville, returned to Lower Canard on Friday. Mrs. C. F. Reynolds and Miss Ada Reynolds, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dickie, have returned to Canning. Friends will learn with regret, of the accident which occurred to Mrs. Rose of Re. J. U. Bell and Mrs. Bell who with the latter, after spending several months in Upper Canard, where Rev. Bell was at one time pastor of the Presbyterian church, left for Halifax Dec. 2, to visit Miss McMillan, Harvey

St. Munro while coasting with several little lads, collided with a team, the horse inflicting an eight inch wound on the little fellow's hip. Dr. McDougal was called, and M. S. Bell hopes with her son to leave, Jan. 4, for Bermuda to join her husband, who has been transferred to the Island for 3 months. TEETH AND BREAD Modern dentistry owes everything to civilization, asserts a dental surgeon and the higher plane man reaches the more work and greater prosperity will accrue to the tooth doctors' profession. To go back to barbarism would mean their ruination. So, naturally, the dentists are for the higher civilization. The dentists' outlook on life and progress was revealed to a patient who was having his teeth cleaned. "You've got a good set of teeth for a man of your age, but you don't take care of them," the dentist remarked. "They're all covered with tobacco stains and they are beginning to show signs of decay." "You say I have good teeth but neglect is ruining them," replied the patient. "Well, may be they are abused, but they are all there and I never used a tooth brush until I was 21 years old." "That's just it," answered the dentist. "Care doesn't always mean brushing the teeth after each meal, and the fact that you have good teeth now and never used a brush until you were grown, permits me to tell you all about your early life. You were born and raised on a farm. You had corn bread at least twice a week and ate coarse country food all the time. "Ever notice these Italian workmen eating lunch on the street? Watch them gnaw into a loaf of bread. That's their main food. The bread gets ground thoroughly all through the teeth, cleansing and polishing them and exercising the gums. They don't need a tooth brush and they seldom call on a dentist. The original Indians never needed a dentist. They gave nature a chance. People nowadays eat too many soft foods and let their teeth loaf. Of course, it's a good thing for us." Argue as we may, the fact remains that a nation is born, bred and trained into greatness or littleness by its women. Miss Marie Corelli. HOW DO YOU LAUGH? A well-known psychologist has been making a study of laughter, which he says differs in its indication of character by its vowels sound. Those who laugh in "A," he says, or make a sound like "A," are loyal to their friends, frank in their speech, fond of bustle and movement, and of versatile character. People who laugh in "E," are seldom cheerful company, because they are phlegmatic and melancholy. Most children laugh in "I," and people who continue to laugh in "I," after they have grown to be men and women have childlike qualities. They are timid but affectionate, irresolute but candid, and are always obliging and ready to work for others. They are apparently not very strong characters. People who laugh on the vowel "O," are often successful in life, because they are not over-sensitive. They do not worry about public opinion, and criticism slips off their backs like water off a duck's back. They are generous, self-confident, and, in spite of their pushfulness, usually liked and trusted. Few people like laughers in "U." As a matter of fact, these individuals are very sparing in their laughter. Life for them holds little of fun and mirth. DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF HANTSPORT AND VICINITY

FRIDAY, JANUARY 4, 1924.

$2.00 per year.

Five cents per copy.

HANTSPORT

A particularly impressive New Year's service was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. The Pastor, Rev. A. B. Higgins, gave an eloquent address suitable to the occasion. The choir was ably assisted by Mrs. Harvey of Stellarton and Mr. Cyril Dalton of Boston, who were heard to great advantage in the duet, "Drifting away from God." A mixed quartette, "Master the Tempest is Raging," was impressively rendered by Mrs. Oulton, Mrs. Masters, Messrs. W. Whitman and C. Harvey.

Mrs. Keddy, of Windsor, was a recent guest of Mrs. (Dr.) Shankel.

Mrs. A. McDonald spent the New Year with her niece, Mrs. Neal Walker, Bridgetown.

Miss Margaret Hewitt is suffering from blood poisoning in the hand.

An enjoyable New Year's dance was held in the Empire Theatre on Tuesday evening. The music was furnished by the Hantsport Orchestra.

Mr. Fred Kennedy has severed his connection with the Avon Craftshops Limited.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield and two children spent the holidays at Mrs. Hatfield's former home in Matland.

Messrs. F. W. and W. Porter were in Aylesford the first part of the week attending the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Joshua Porter.

Mrs. W. Shaw, of Windsor, was the Christmas guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilson.

Beals, of Toronto, who is spending the vacation with his parents.

HANTSPORT IN 1924.

The Hantsport ACADIAN wishes all its readers and patrons, and the community generally a very happy and prosperous new year. It will be our endeavor during 1924 to serve the various interests of this section to the very best of our ability. Our desire is to co-operate with the town authorities and institutions in every project calculated to promote the prosperity and well being of the town and its citizens. We are convinced that Hantsport possesses many advantages and it will be our pleasant duty to reveal these, not only to the outside public but to the citizens as well. The fact that legitimate industries, which have had their origin here, have grown and prospered indicates that the conditions which exist are not unfavorable for undertakings along that line. Our favorable location, splendid shipping facilities and excellent fruit-growing and agricultural capabilities make not only possible but highly probable a greater prosperity than the town has heretofore known. The halcyon days of wooden shipbuilding will not likely be duplicated in our history but bigger and better things are possible. A proper loyalty to our own institutions and a well warranted faith in ourselves and our fellows will do much to make the new year the best we have known.

FIRST CANADIAN PRINCESS

A delightful romance has recently culminated in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lois Booth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Booth of Ottawa, and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. R. B. Booth, and Prince Erik of Denmark, a nephew of the King of Denmark, a distant relative of Queen-Mother Alexandra. Prince Erik is a successful Alberta rancher, and first met Miss Booth at Banff seven years ago. The Prince of Wales is said to have had a hand in making the match, and in smoothing the way to securing royal consent for the wedding.

SOAK MEAT IN VINEGAR

ly lamented gas and electric light bills of today's gay white ways. The price of gasoline did not once disturb us, but the cost of horse feed and stable hire was diabolically inflated. Those good old times had their troubles and their joys, and it is but human to remember best the joys. But remember, also, that in a comparatively brief span of time, the present trying times will, in turn, be come those same good old times we love so well to fondle. Judging present problems by the measure of past performances is a thankless and a discouraging task. The past is gone, better or worse, we cannot live in it. We must live in the present. And the quicker you denude yourself of memory's backward bending periscope, the happier you will be in that present.

To keep meat fresh for a short time, and free from flies, the following method is suggested by an English correspondent. Make a muslin bag big enough to hold a fair-sized joint of meat, and before the meat is placed in it soak it in vinegar. Hang the bag with its contents in a cool place and the meat will keep fresh even when the weather is sultry, and flies will not attempt to settle on the vinegar-soaked muslin. The muslin bag should be washed occasionally and soaked in vinegar. Whether or not this would apply in our heated summers is uncertain.

The most economical women otherwise are extravagant with their language.

A SERMON IN VERSE

Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?—Matt. 6:25.

The little cares that fretted me, I lost them yesterday, Among the fields above the sea, Among the winds at play, Among the lowing of the herds, Among the rustling of the trees, Among the singing of the birds, The humming of the bees.

The foolish fears of what might happen I cast them all away, Among the clover-scented grass, Among the new-mown hay, Among the husking of the corn, Where drowsy poppies nod, Where ill thoughts die, and good are born, Out in the fields with God.

ANONYMOUS.

A CALENDAR

"Let me see," said the bill collector, his pen hovering over the receipt, he was about to date, and his eye vainly glancing about the office for a calendar.

"Let me see, this is Thursday, is it not?"

"Mr. Brown cast a swift glance at his stenographer's hair.

"No; this is Friday."

The bill collector was puzzled. Brown laughed.

"I tell the day of the week by my stenographer's hair," he said. "Suppose it is Saturday. My stenographer has a date that afternoon with her young man. She appears at the office, her hair clustering round her head in a luxurious garland of curly golden ringlets. I never see her on Sunday, so I do not know how well the curls survive Saturday night, but by Monday they are perceptibly slacker.

"On Tuesday you would no longer call them curls, but her hair is still beautifully wavy. Wednesday makes the ravages of time still more apparent. You can't really expect the sort of 'permanent' wave my stenographer gets to last the whole week.

"By Thursday there are still traces of ripples or waves here and there, but by Friday these have entirely disappeared, and her hair hangs straight and smooth with never a hint of a curl. Tomorrow she will appear with it all done up again and I shall have an infallible calendar for another week."

WHAT ONE DRINK COST

In New York City there is a man who once paid six thousand dollars for a cocktail. He did not know it then, and he never will know it unless he happens to read this story.

A certain prosperous manufacturing company needed a new departmental manager. The salary was six thousand dollars a year. The officers of the company considered a great many candidates, and at last decided to offer the position to a clever young man of unusual business ability. He seemed to be exactly the man for the particular place. The president and general manager invited the young man to lunch with them at a down town club, ostensibly to talk over a less important business matter. They wanted to "look him over" just once more.

The man met them at the appointed hour, and the president, anxious to make the occasion a pleasant one, ordered an elaborate luncheon. The waiter was a long time in bringing the first course, and the guest began to appear ill at ease. He seemed absent-

LIVING

(By Henry Gillen)

I live in a tiny house,
Upon a winding lane,
Red-tiled roof, an inglenook
And cretonne-curtained pane;
Friendly books for reading,
A fragrant humidifier,
And a big brass knocker
On the green front door.

When the winter snowed us in,
And all the world was white,
Neighbors seldom came and called
To talk away the night;
Dreaming of the city,
The lights and gayer times—
And our only comfort
Was the granddaddy chimes.

Now it is a busy house,
With ground wires on the spout,
Visitors come thronging in—
You cannot keep them out;
Twisting round a little dial,
We twiddle and we fuss—
And the grand old other
Brings the world to us.

TRYING TIMES

(By George Brinton Peabody)

One of the greatest impediments in the way of present enjoyment is the fond memory of those good old times. Then prices were lower, winters less severe, the sun shone brighter and human ills in general were minimized. We can all remember the glorious days of five cent bread; it is more difficult to recall just how proportionately hard it was to achieve the necessary five cents. In the unremembered days of tallow dips as a medium of illumination, the purchase price of tallow and wicking came just as hard as the loud-

ROBINSON CRUSOE

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted—a ship—so he put up an ad. for one. He flung up a shirt on a pole, at the top of his island. That, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.

The circulation was small, there was no other medium, but Crusoe kept it up, despite the fact that he got no enquiries for a long time. He changed his copy, as one garment after another was frayed out, and in the end got what he wanted.

Some men would never amount to anything anyway—and others marry illustrious women.

New Lamp Burns 94% Air

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

The Port Williams Acadian

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

Miss Alice Lockwood, who has been spending the holiday season with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lockwood, returned to her work in Halifax on Wednesday.

Captain J. E. Faulkner, of the "Candian Marine", which is in port at St. John, spent a few days at his home here.

Miss Dorothy Illsey returned to her work in Boston on Friday after spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Illsey.

Miss Laura Hanson, of G. A. Chase and Co., left on Friday for a month's vacation to be spent in the different American and Canadian cities.

Mrs. Margaret Masters, of Berwick, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Geo. Illsey.

Miss Mary Vaughan has as her guest Miss Ethel King, of Bermuda, a class mate at Mount Allison.

Miss Susie Chase, B. S. A. and her brother, Robert, left on Thursday for Halifax en route to Bermuda.

Miss Maud Lane, of Truro, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Elk. Earl Graves spent his holidays with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simms, of West Gore.

The students of this place have returned to their respective schools—Wylie Collins left on Tuesday for "Harvard", Roy Chipman on Friday for "Yale", Donald Ellis left on Tuesday for "Harvard", Agricultural College; Curtis Newcombe and Lucy Cogswell for Acadia; and Mary Vaughan leaves on Monday for Mount Allison.

Miss Cassie Faulkner entertained a number of young people at an informal dance on Thursday, December 27th.

Mr. Bruce Hunt, of Lawrencetown, spent the week-end, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Gates.

Mr. A. B. Rand spent Thursday on a business trip to Halifax.

Miss Marjorie Weaver has been spending a few days in Wolfville the guest of Miss M. E. Carlson, D. C.

Mr. Geo. A. Chase has left for Cleveland, Ohio, on business trip.

Miss Mary Vaughan entertained a number of her young friends at an informal dance on Friday evening of last week.

The Port Williams Acadian extends congratulations to Mr. Percival Gates and bride (nee Miss Leah Meister), who were married at Bridgewater, December 26th. They have not yet returned from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Margaret Newcombe is spending a few weeks with her brother, Mr. N. H. Newcombe.

Mr. Charles Wood, who has been visiting relatives in Boston and vicinity, returned home last week.

The Christmas pageant entitled, "White Gifts for the King", which was presented by the Sunday School on Sunday evening was very effectively carried out. Mr. Campbell Clarke and Mrs. George Dodge impersonated Joseph and Mary while the parts of the "Wise Men", "Pilgrims", and "Shepherds" were taken by the men and boys. The only lights in the vestry were those of the "Inn" stable and the star which guides the Shepherds and Wise Men. These lights together with the Oriental costume of the participants presented a striking scene. Excellent and appropriate music was furnished by the Junior Choir. Special mention should be made of the six primary girls who came in with their candles and kneeling before the manger sang sweetly and softly Luther's Cradle Hymn. After the pageant, Rev. O. N. Chipman gave a very fitting address in touch with the presentation of the subject. Much credit is reflected upon the work of Mrs. O. G. Cogswell and Mrs. S. L. Gates, who had the pageant in charge.

The funeral procession of the late R. W. Starr passed through here on Wednesday afternoon, burial at the old Starr cemetery, Starr's Point. Mr. Starr will always be remembered here as one of the pioneer orchardists, having been an authority on fruit raising for many years. The extensive orchard at "Seaview", now owned by Durrell Sutton was planted by Mr. Starr.

Work on the interior of the Baptist Church is nearing completion. It is expected the re-opening will take place on January 13th, when Dr. Patterson, of Acadia, will speak at the morning service.

At the regular meeting of the Lily of the Valley Division, the following officers were elected for the ensuing quarter: W. P. Mr. T. J. Borden; W. A. Mrs. C. A. Newcombe; R. S. Miss Clara Cogswell; A. R. S. Miss Hilda Thomson; P. S. Mr. C. A. Newcombe; Treas., Mrs. Leander Woodworth, Jr.; Con., Mr. D. C. Clarke; Asst. Con., Mrs. Robie Murphy; S. Mr. Allison Padesley; O. S. Mr. Robie Murphy; Chaplain, Rev. O. N. Chipman; Pianist, Mrs. O. G. Cogswell; P. W. P. Mr. Henry Cogswell. It is expected that the session of the Grand Division will meet here in February.

The regular meeting of the Port Williams Women's Institute will be held in their room at Citizen's Hall on January 11th at 2:30 o'clock. The speaker for the afternoon is Rev. Mr. Hudson, of Canard, his subject being "A New Year's Message". The Roll Call will be answered by quotations on the "New Year" or "Friendship".

NEEDLESS EXERTION

Jimmy's mother was giving him a sound scolding about his unwashed neck.

"You know you haven't washed your neck," said his mother.

"Gee wizz!" said Jimmy, a note of desperation creeping into his voice "aint I got to wear a collar?"

Mrs. Newby was giving her first order to her grocer, who, by the way, was her mother's grocer as well. When it came to the item of tea her grocer said: "What kind would you like?" Her answer was: "The same kind that mother uses—MORSE'S. Now we wouldn't have any other tea in the house." The grocer smiled and said: "Yes, I guess that's right."

baby son, spent Christmas day with Mrs. Hennigar's parents, in Cassano.

Miss Esther Pearson arrived home on Monday from a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. B. L. Merry, Bear River.

Miss Joyce Harvey, spent the day on Monday, at Hantsport, a guest at the home of her grandfather, Mr. Charles Brown, one of our former Greenwich residents.

A few from here attended the hockey match in Windsor, Monday evening going on the special train.

The usual meeting of the Community League, was cancelled last Friday evening, owing to weather conditions, but meet Friday evening this week, weather permitting, and the Honorary President, Dr. Hemmon, will deliver his lecture on Bermuda, which should prove very interesting, the speaker being a resident of that place for a few years.

The news of the very sudden death of Mr. Herbin, of Wolfville, on Saturday, was received here with a shock, many knowing him well and esteeming him very highly and his bereaved family have the deepest sympathy of all.

Many of our residents went to Port Williams on Sunday evening, where they thoroughly enjoyed the Pageant on the "Birth of Christ and the presentation of 'White gifts to the King,' by several of the classes of the Sunday School. The singing was by the junior choir and the whole evening was wonderful, so we are told, well worth a trip across the dyke on a cold night.

The "Sing" on Sunday evening was held at the home of Miss Lillian Bishop.

THE FAMILY HERALD'S OFFER

Many of our readers who have known and read the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal for thirty, forty and even fifty years still marvel at the constantly increasing excellence of that remarkable farm and family journal. As each year succeeded another it seemed that as far as was humanly possible the point of perfection had been reached, but inevitably this astonishingly progressive paper would launch some new feature and make improvements here and there that would add immeasurably to its attractiveness and value. And so, for the coming season all who wisely subscribe to the old reliable Family Herald and Weekly Star may depend upon receiving even greater value than in the past, with many pleasant surprises thrown in. One of the nice surprises this year is a most beautiful picture of a remarkably lovely woman, entitled "The Wonderful Heroine", which will be given free to each new subscriber and to each present subscriber who renews in time for another year. Truly this is value heaped up, pressed down and running over.

The remarkable life of the beautiful and heroic woman who is the subject of the painting has been published in booklet form, and our readers may obtain a copy free by sending a post card to the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

JANUARY 4

THUS SAITH THE LORD that created thee, O Jacob; and he that formed thee, O Israel. Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine.—Isaiah 43:1.

JANUARY 5

TAKE NO THOUGHT saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6:31, 33.

JANUARY 6

THE WORK OF RIGHTEOUSNESS shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance for ever. And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in sure dwellings, and in quiet resting places.—Isaiah 32:17, 18.

JANUARY 7

THUS SAITH THE LORD, Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not. Behold, I will bring thee health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth.—Jeremiah 33:2, 3, 6.

JANUARY 8

ASCRIBE YE GREATNESS unto our God. He is the Rock; his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgement; a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he.—Deut. 32:3, 4.

JANUARY 9

THE PEACE OF GOD, WHICH PASSETH ALL UNDERSTANDING, SHALL KEEP YOUR HEART AND MINDS THROUGH CHRIST JESUS.—Phil. 4:7.

JANUARY 10

TRUST IN THE LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy path.—Prov. 3:5, 6.

father lived together in the small green cottage and enjoyed it. They thought a great deal of each other, but did not pretend to agree on any point whatsoever, although the disagreements, always took the form of half-serious jolly and were never unharmonized by harsh words or dark looks.

There were three things upon which the elder and younger Evans failed most disturbingly to agree. The first was Lonnie's name. Mrs. Evans had most decidedly wanted a girl and planned carefully the name of Lorna, romance drenched, perhaps, but different. But the desired girl had turned out to be decidedly a boy, and with unwavering insistence Mrs. Evans had substituted an "e" for the "a" and achieved Lonnie. Later, with the compliments of the village youngsters, became Lonnie.

Caleb always addressed his son as Lonnie, but he always thought of him as John or Bill.

The second cause of many a discussion was the car. Lonnie was openly disgusted with the degraded, though faithful Ford. He wanted a better car. Lonnie had a girl. The girl was an innocent subject for deep thought on the part of both—father and son. She was pretty, blonde, round-eyed and giggling. She had confided to Caleb that she adored candy and Lonnie. Caleb had decided right then that she could keep the candy, but not Lonnie. He needed Lonnie. He knew, too, that Lonnie was too young for marriage. Lonnie was 19. The fair Gwendolyn, at any rate, would never do.

Lonnie had bought the new machine. It hadn't cost so very much more than the Ford, but it was a brighter color and as yet unscratched. The motor in it did not hum so pleasantly as the one in Caleb's, but Lonnie didn't notice that. Gwendolyn liked it and he was going to take her for a ride—about it as he stood in the doorway looking at the battered machine and wondering why on earth his father didn't sell it—or give it away.

After Lonnie had gone in Caleb planned.

Out in the country, after miles of struggle in deep, soft mud rutted the brand-new car of Lonnie gave it up. Weary, from the top of its cheap black top to the mud-caked tires, and delicate in construction to boot, it wheezed painfully—and stalled. Lonnie smiled at Gwendolyn. "A car that wouldn't go with the girl of his heart so near. But Gwendolyn surprised him. She didn't smile back. She frowned a little.

Lonnie tinkered with the engine, tore his suit, blackened his face and cut his finger, but still smiled. Gwendolyn twisted in her seat and flushed angrily but did nothing useful. She finally could stand the monotony of waiting no longer.

"Lonnie Evans! Don't you know anything about a car? Anything!" Lonnie looked up at her. She had shrieked that last "Anything!" It might have been the unharmonious voice of a sleep-provoking cat. Under ordinary circumstances Lonnie would have spoken softly and consolingly, but as we have said he had torn his suit, blackened his face and cut his finger. "I'm in no hurry," he said evenly, his eyes unwavering in their bold direct gaze into hers.

"Really!" Gwendolyn offered, her head high. Blue, furious blue eyes, swept the car and the soiled Lonnie scathingly. Gwendolyn had not been to the movies for nothing. Her expression was faultless. Lonnie glanced at her again, secretly, and wondered why his father hadn't told him that Gwendolyn was sugar-coated only. Pills are sugar-coated; but, even in his anger, Lonnie could not refer to Gwen as such. He was sure, though, that Caleb had seen through the candy-coating to the bitter and distasteful substance beneath. Caleb had a way of finding out things like that, but usually he waited until Lonnie had seen it before they talked it over.

"Go ahead and walk," Lonnie said, ungallantly and abruptly.

Then Gwendolyn flamed unbecomingly. She stood up in her seat and delivered a lecture concerning the conduct of Lonnie and the car. Then, probably because of Lonnie's lack of response, she slumped down into her seat and beat her fists on the leather cushion. Gwendolyn was an only child. So was Lonnie. He told her to stop before she wore the finish completely off.

Then Caleb came along. The Ford was idling merrily over every rut in existence and didn't care. Caleb had Lonnie's car so that it wouldn't go very far. He looked at Gwendolyn's flushed and disagreeable countenance and Caleb started the Ford and stepped back to regard the quivering, choking, consumptive but useful little animal with dubious eyes. A Ford, in its first stages of gleaming paint and unspotted, smooth tires, shining headlights and arrogant bearing is not as Caleb wittingly but not originally put it—"a thing to be sneezed at." But a Ford, of the nature of Caleb's, unpainted, unadorned and unused, was an abjectly wretched. The mudguards, the body of the car, by sheer will-power on Caleb's part.

Caleb's son, Lonnie, came to the door of the little cottage with a frown, always inevitable when he heard the smooth, steady hum of the Ford's motor. (The motor in the little car made up for the thousand deficiencies of its external appearance.) Lonnie and his at Lonnie's sober, disillusioned face and decided that the car would be sold the next day and he and Lonnie would begin search for a dark-haired girl with sweet wise eyes and a similar disposition.

Lonnie got in front with his father. Gwendolyn climbed in back, unannounced. "Hi, Lonnie," Caleb looked wise at his son, "Not very polite, now be ye. Better get in back, don't you think?"

"Shut-up!" Lonnie said darkly, but he squeezed his father's arm so he knew he didn't mean it.

So Lonnie awakened and Caleb knew it. Gwendolyn reported miserably knowing it would do no good, and the Ford clambered over tiny hills and rocky lanes.

It didn't matter, Caleb had Lonnie. The Ford's motor hummed it, Caleb has-Lonnie.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

Chiropactic is the Science of Common Sense applied to the human machine, and the Art of Adjusting the machine when it is out of order. It is the Science of location and correction of the causes which produce ill health.

Chiropactic is the Science dealing with the cause of disease and how to eliminate it. The philosophy of Chiropactic points to the source of life and how it manifests itself in matter; the science of chiropactic locates precisely the point where the force is interrupted, producing disease. The art of chiropactic traces the relation between the point of interruption of power and the portion of anatomy which suffers because of the lack of power, and it is capable of remaining the obstruction so as to give freedom to power to reach its destination.

The most frequent cause of nerve compression is a misalignment of the bones in the spinal column from between which the nerves pass as they leave to spinal cord.
