

The Signal

DEVOTED TO COUNTY NEWS AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE

Forty-first Year, 1888.
Whole Number 137.

Goderich, Ont., Friday, August 31, 1888.

J. D. McMillan, Publisher.
$1.00 a Year in Advance.

TOWN TOPICS.

"A child's sunny eye, taking notes,
As faith he'll print it."

Another lot of fine teas, etc., to hand, cheap. McMillan, Crabb's block.

Medical Lake is in Washington Territory. Its mineral water cures kidney trouble. McMillan, Crabb's block.

A GOOD PRESENT.—The most useful gift you can make is to give a Writ Pen. Apply to D. McMillan, agent, Goderich.

FINE TAILORING.—R. MacCormac has the finest assortment of goods for spring and summer suits. Order your suit and you will be pleased with it and price.

SCHOOL OPENING.—On Monday next all schools will open. A full assortment of Public and High school books and requisites on hand. Pupils buying books will receive a present at Butler's.

LIGHT AND SHADE.—Light is made up of light and shade, so are photographs. The lights and shades in the photos, turned out by Stewart are carefully studied, and render the work very attractive. Inspection is invited.

THE WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION will meet regularly for the transaction of business every Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Knox church. Every woman interested in this work is cordially invited to attend.

RETRIBUTION.—None of our young men are started at the threat of non-intercourse with the United States. They know that they can get as fashionable clothes today at F. & A. Frohman's as they can at New York, Boston or Chicago.

FRUITER FRAMES.—If you want to see a large and varied assortment of mouldings call at H. R. Sallows, the photographer. Pictures and photographs are three mounted and framed in the latest and most popular styles, in both work; best machinery and tools used.

NOVEMBER DRAWS LIKE IT.—Those who have tried Li-Quor tea say that it draws well, but leaves no trace, but the tea leaves are as all that is given for the money. Leaves of health are also presented. Replenish your library by purchasing Li-Quor tea from Geo. Rhyas, druggist, etc.

Miss Hogan, of Woodies, is the guest of Miss Trenchard.

Miss White, of McGeary, is the guest of the Misses McKay.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell, of Fort William, are visiting relatives here.

Miss Kate Watson has returned from a visit to friends in Hamilton.

Mrs. M. Doyle and daughter, of Detroit, are the guests of J. Doyle.

Miss Sara Harris of Duncannon is visiting her cousin, Miss Kate Reid.

Dr. Jenks and family, of Detroit, have been sojourning at the Park House.

Miss Stella Holmes is on a visit to natives at Goderich.—Brussels Post.

Adviser Shiel went to Goderich last Saturday with Dudley Holmes on a visit to a week.—Brussels Post.

Mr. A. P. Hopkins, of Omaha, Neb., has been spending a few days visiting at brother A. McD. Allan.

Miss Ralph, of London, has been the guest of her cousin, the Misses Ralph, during the past week or two.

James Bailey, of the Union Hotel, accompanied by Miss Maggie Bailey, has been visiting friends in Detroit.

The Blyth Standard has passed its first milestone. It is a clean little paper, and deserves hearty support.

Miss Jenny Hollinrake, of Bradford, has been filling up a portion of her vacation visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. Campion.

Mr. McLean, of Goderich, shipped several car loads of cattle from Exeter station to Montreal last week.—Times.

Kineidine is clamoring for a flouring mill. Competition with our big mill would be difficult on the part of our northern neighbor.

Mr. Walton, of Hamilton, representing the Crandall writing machine, gave a call on Thursday. Mayor Seager has purchased a Crandall.

John Knox, the auctioneer, has bought out the grocery and crockery business of T. J. Story, and is now offering goods at slaughter prices.

Harry Rees, of Fonthill, is spending a few weeks' holidays in Goderich. He is leading the flourishing business at his brother's establishment in that village.

Peet Roberts and wife, of New Orleans are spending the summer season in Goderich, and are very appreciative of the bracing air and beautiful scenery of the place.

G. Hopkins, of Lowell, Ind., a former Post Office boy and a graduate of Goderich High school, has been spending holidays at the homestead. He returned on Wednesday to Lowell, where he is superintendent of schools.

J. C. Robertson, son of W. R. Robertson, of this town, has been appointed classical tutor of Owen Sound Collegiate Institute. Mr. Robertson has made an enviable reputation for himself as a student.

John Reid, the veteran caretaker of the Court House, accompanied by Mrs. Reid, left Thursday for a week's visit to friends in Kingston, Amherst Island and other points east. Mr. Reid has kept close to his post for years, and deserves his holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McMillan and child returned to town on Wednesday evening after spending a few weeks with friends in Toronto. During the absence of the editor THE SIGNAL was under the control of his brother, who was spending his holidays in Goderich.

Among those who left on the Saturday morning train were Miss E. Ralph, who is now teaching at Orangeville; Miss A. Sherman, who has a school at Teeswater; and Miss N. MacCormac, who is taking the place of Miss Tye at Alma school until the last named young lady more fully recovers her health. The fair teachers were bidden farewell by a bevy of girl friends.

MAIN BUILDING, WESTERN FAIR, LONDON, ONT.

Thos. Dark, one of our oldest residents, has been in poor health of late.

Mrs. Charles Bates, who has been ailing for some years, died on Wednesday.

Mrs. Gen. B. Robson, of Petrolia, is in town. Mr. Robson will consequently stay a few days longer in Goderich.

The school Koflage was launched from the island last week, after being thoroughly overhauled, and largely rebuilt.

The plum crop is a failure in this neighborhood. Apples, however, are a splendid yield, and late sorts are in tip-top condition.

The Crediton correspondent of the Exeter Times says:—Miss Burrows and Miss Potter, of Goderich, are the guests of Mrs. S. Wood.

Dawson, of Wingham, charged with obtaining money under false pretences and larceny, was acquitted by Judge Tomes last week.

Mrs. T. McMillan and three children left Goderich on Saturday for Stratford, where they will spend a week before returning to their home in Toronto.

Dr. M. Nicholson, the West street dentist, makes the preservation of the natural teeth a specialty. Gas administered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the painless extraction of teeth.

A DELIGHTFUL WEEK.—Visitors to Goderich were last week delighted with the character of the weather. There was not a drop of rain, yet a September coolness prevailed. It was a glorious week.

John Watson, drug clerk, who has been with Geo. Rhyas for some years, has gone to Buffalo to fill a position in a drug store. We expect to hear of his success in the Bison city.

R. L. Walton, who has been representing the nurseries of Stone & Wellington, has quit their employ for an agency here of the celebrated Rochester firm of Ellwanger & Barry, whose name is a household word among florists and orchardists.

Mr. and Mrs. George Acheson left last week for the Northwest. Mr. Acheson is a perambulating guide-book of Manitoba and Dakota, and his good wife is in splendid company for a pleasant trip in prairie lands.

F. C. Rogers, the energetic owner of the Enterprise Salt Works, Brussels, was in town last week. He reports trade as booming in the saline line, and was in ecstasies over the glorious weather and the handsome appearance of Goderich. Mr. Rogers is one of the most pushing business men in the west.

The Provincial Treasurer was confined to his house by an attack of lumbago during a few days immediately following his return from camping in Muskoka.

We are pleased to hear that the hon. gentleman is now much improved, and can move about with comparative freedom.

E. Campion, barrister, has returned from a trip to the Soo and vicinity. He thinks the country up that way grand. He was absent several weeks and shook off several pounds of adipose tissue, but he is clear of eye, nimble on his feet, full of energy, and is in splendid condition generally.

J. T. Garrow, Mrs. Garrow and Master Ed. and Charlie returned on Saturday from a pleasant trip to England and Scotland. All were benefited physically by the trip, Mr. Garrow especially, having added over ten pounds to his weight. A week in the Highlands is among the most pleasant memories of the party.

Mr. D. Allan left this week for another trip to the Canadian Northwest. He will be absent several months, and will be unable to be present at the great fall show this year in Goderich, although he is president of the Agricultural Society. Mr. Allan has helped to boom the fall fair, however, and his absence will be unavoidable.

Miss Mary McGregor, of Detroit, a former resident of Goderich, is visiting Mrs. H. Spence.

We regret to learn that Mr. Vizard, son-in-law of J. Jenkins, of this place, is suffering from the misera of Petrolia.

W. Wesley Treleven, a former Horonite, has been spending his holidays at the homestead near Duncannon. He is now a teacher in the Detroit public schools.

The Toronto World of Wednesday last has the following:—"Yesterday forenoon an old 'cove' mate of the Mayor's, editor McMillan of THE HERON STONE, called on His Worship, and the two talked pleasantly of olden times."

TAX SALE.—The annual sale of lands for taxes takes place at Goderich, on Tuesday, Nov. 20th, at 1 p.m. In Ashfield 20 acres are to be sold, in Howick 128, in Morris 50, in McKillop 89, in Stanley 69, while there are a number of lots in the villages of Goderich, Gorrin, Manchester, Wingham, Bayfield, Blyth, Brussels and Wroxeter.

AN AMATEUR EDITRESS.—Miss Linfield, graduate of Goderich High School, who teaches school at Zurich, gets out a neat little semi-monthly manuscript journal, being aided in the editorial and reporting by her husband, her most precious pupil, Miss Linfield, who is a Colborne girl, has considerable literary ability. In 1886, shortly after entering her teens, she won the $20 prize for an original story in the Montreal Witness.

A CHANGE.—The Wingham Times says:—"Mr. T. West, P. P., will leave St. Augustine next week on a visit to his residence at Goderich, to which station he has been appointed. He will also officiate at Clinton. The members of his congregation here do not like parting with him, but, knowing his ability as a minister, and his good wife is in success and happiness in his new and larger field of labor."

LEVEL HEADED MEN.—At the recent Convention of Fairs and Exposition, among the interesting reports was one on advertising. The resolution came to that it is questionable if any other department contributes so largely to the financial success of exhibitions as judicious advertising. The convention holds that to make advertising effective it should be begun early and followed up continuously during the season. "We would," affirm the convention, "place at the head of the list the paper advertisement as the most effective and desirable." These men have pretty level heads.

OBSTRUCTIONS REMOVED.—It was stated some time ago by Capt. Robertson, of the propeller United Empire that logs or other obstructions existed in our harbor to the annoyance of the larger vessels making port. Doubt was thrown upon this statement by some local writers for the press, but last week Mr. Addison dragged the harbor and took out half a dozen logs, and some roots indicated by Capt. Robertson. The harbor is now clear and inviting; the logs were there, but thanks to the captain's warning and Mr. Addison's search they are out of the way of danger or annoyance.

SOLD HIS RANCHO.—Michael Lynn, brother of our townsman, P. Lynn, has disposed his celebrated Gabilan rancho in Upper California, 300 miles from Salinas City. This rancho consisted of 7,665 acres, 2,500 of which were under cultivation. From this tract Mr. Lynn raised 11,000 cents (a cent is 100 lbs. of A wheat, 18,000 cents of brewing barley, and 200 tons of hay, besides keeping a dairy 100 cows, 300 head of store cattle and 150 horses. Many kinds of fruit were also raised on the property, including the orange and olive. Mr. Lynn, who paid Goderich a visit last year, was formerly a resident of the township of Morris, in this county, but had been living on the Pacific Slope for over a quarter of a century.

He was LANCED.—The genial Crown-Attorney had a painful boil upon his hand lanced by the County Treasurer the other day. Mr. Lewis is now of opinion that although a boil is full of humor it is no joke all the same.

The yearly statement of the Grand Trunk Railway shows a surplus of $198,500; so railway business has not been so unprofitable as it was said to be. The result must be attributed to the excellent management of the Grand Trunk, which is now one of the best equipped lines in America.

The Wingham Times says:—H. P. Vidal, of Hamilton, has taken the position of ledger, vacated by Mr. J. D. Nichol. Mr. Vidal, a son of Senator Vidal, of Sarnia, is judge to be a young man of ability, energy and adapted to the banking occupation.

THE G. T. R. SHOPS AT STRATFORD.—Sir Henry Tyler visited the new G. T. R. shops in Stratford on Friday, and the Beacon says "that after inspecting them he was asked how he liked their appearance. He replied that he was delighted with them. They were durable, commodious, and well ventilated. He was sure they would please the company; they had pleased him at all events."

FOR MEXICO.—W. J. Long, a graduate of Goderich High School, and for some years a teacher in eastern Ontario, has been rusticated at the homestead in Ashfield for a year or so, but will leave for Mexico next week to assume a position on the Mexican Central Railway. Mr. Long is big in body and big in heart, trustworthy and obliging, and we hope to hear of his success in the southern home he has chosen for himself.

At the regular meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Methodist church in Bluevale, the chairman presiding, Rev. Arch. McKibbin was engaged as pastor for the balance of this conference year. The salary fixed was $450. Mr. McKibbin is a good preacher, an earnest worker and will render effective service.

Mr. McKibbin is a graduate of Goderich High School, and took an active part in connection with the Y. P. S. C. E. of the North Street Methodist church.

WINGHAM STRIPS AT THE POINT FARM.—The Wingham Times has the following "pointers":—"Messrs. E. F. Gerster and W. T. Yates were visitors at Point Farm, Goderich, this week. They say hundreds are going and coming every day. Mr. E. L. Dickinson, barrister, and his sister spent some days at Point Farm, Goderich, this week. Mr. M. H. McIndoo, merchant, left early this week for the Point Farm, Goderich. He will likely take a trip up the lakes before he returns."

THE VANCOUVER "WORLD."—We have received the prospectus of the Vancouver World, a new daily which will appear early in September in Vancouver. B. C. McLagan & Co., publishers. Mr. McLagan was at one time one of the owners of the Guelph Mercury, and he has also had a long and varied experience in journalism in Manitoba and British Columbia. Under his management we expect to hear of the World at once taking a place in the front rank of daily journalism in the Pacific provinces.

PHILOSOPHICAL, YET PRACTICAL.—After you get angry and stop your paper, as an exchange, just poke your finger into water, pull it out, and look for the hole. Then you will know how sadly you are misled. A man who thinks a paper cannot thrive without his support ought to go off and stay awhile. When he comes back half of his friends will not know that he had gone, and the other half will not care to know, unless he is at large kept no account of his movements. You will find things you cannot believe. A man who thinks a paper cannot thrive without his support ought to go off and stay awhile. THE POET'S CORNER.

The Hardest Time of All. There are days of deepest sorrow In the seasons of our life; There are wild, despairing moments, When the heart grows sick with hope.

A voice answers me, surely I recognize— "Margaret is that you? Where— The wind takes the sound away, but I know that God has heard my cry, and that deliverance is at hand.

The Care of House Plants in Autumn. A plant that was given fresh earth in spring, and has been kept in a pot all summer, will not need potting now. It is better, I think, to dig away as much of the upper part of the soil in the pot as can be removed without disturbing the roots, and substitute fresh soil, that it is to turn the plant out and lay bare a good share of the roots, and as necessary have to do when complete changes are made.

Answered. Person Green was one of the school committee in the town of Bridford, and one of his hobbies related to the study of geography. He contended that very little time should be spent over foreign countries, but that each pupil should leave a common school with a clear and accurate knowledge of his own State's resources and topography.

THE TRIP OF THE SPIES.

LESSON X, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 2. Text of the Lesson, Num. xiii, 17-25. Commit Verse 20-23—Golden Text, Num. xiii, 30—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

WHOSE SWEETHEART?

I had always been led to think that for user Kate would marry Bert Evans, my brother-in-law, and that he would be the one to whom she would be attached.

When an infant, on a wash-day I fell over into a tub and went straight to the bottom of it, staying there ten minutes, till found and jerked out. I often think where I should have been boarding to-day had there been any water in that tub!

More Remarkable Still. Found at last, what the true public has been looking for these many years and that is a medicine which although lately introduced, has made for itself a reputation second to none.

Simple Life Best for Children. Happiness is the natural condition of every normal child, and if the small boy or girl has a peculiar fancy for any one thing it is for self-entertainment, with certain granted conditions, of course.

THE PART FLOWERS PLAY IN DRESS.

Flowers are most affected this season. For riding, driving and walking special bodies bouquets are provided by the caterers of fashion, and a woman who is much in society now orders as many as three for one day.

Nothing but the Truth. Sirs, I have found Dr. Fowler's Extract Wild Strawberry to be the best remedy I ever used for dysentery and all summer complaints among children, and I think it is recommended to you highly.

Illustrated Cook Books. Some young ladies who have attended cooking schools during the winter have collections of their favorite receipts. The little books, made by their own hands and illustrated in water colors, are quite unique.

A Profitable Life. Few men have accomplished the same amount of work and good in this world as the celebrated Dr. Chas. Over 500,000 of his works have been sold in Canada alone.

WHOSE SWEETHEART?

I had always been led to think that for user Kate would marry Bert Evans, my brother-in-law, and that he would be the one to whom she would be attached.

HURON SIGNAL, FRIDAY, AUGUST 31st, 1888.

CANADIANS look upon the proposed "Retaliation" over the fisheries matter as a bad.

DR. WARD says that "Cleveland has subdued the Republicans." The President is not playing euchre with Canada; he is having a game of bluff.

OUR cannon along the harbor front are loaded with stones, chips and abandoned quids of tobacco, and yet Retaliation is threatened.

E. S. COX, the wrecker of the Central Bank, was arrested at Niagara on Sunday and taken to Toronto on Monday, and placed in the police cells.

If that eminent colored Canadian, Solomon Peter Hale, were to give an opinion on the Retaliation message, he would doubtless remark that the whole affair was more than ever before a matter of "de bait" both in the press and in the senate.

HON. J. S. D. THOMPSON has been created a knight. Mr. Thompson's work in connection with the Fisheries Treaty secured him the distinction.

SIR JOHN ROSE, a former Canadian Finance Minister, and a partner in the London Banking House of Morton, Bies & Co., dropped dead on Saturday while firing at a deer in Calthness.

A PERSON signing himself "A Canadian" recently sent a subscription to the Toronto Empire, and accompanied it with a note saying he was filled with disgust at "any paper that tries to belittle its own country for the sake of a few dollars."

REV. DR. WARD, a converted Jew, reared in Jerusalem and familiar with Palestine, who is now lecturing and preaching in Goderich, protests against the pictures of Christ as rendered by the Italian masters.

The brindle cow, with half-closed eyes, stands knee-deep in the tide, and with her tail whisked off the flies that settle on her hide.

THE PRACTICE OF SHORTHAND.

It is safe to say that the practice of shorthand has made greater advancement in this country during the past ten years than in all the preceding time.

The development of the stenographic art and the introduction of the writing machine have opened up an inviting avenue for women to enter as bread winners, and in this new calling many already occupy positions of trust, emolument and respect.

From our own Correspondent. Washington, August 27, 1888. Americanism certainly has the call just now. In the discussion of the fisheries treaty, the Republicans had the best of it with the public.

Those who are in the habit of preparing matter for the press, the pulpit, the platform or the halls of parliament are painfully aware of the fact that their best thoughts on the subjects they have dealt with have never been expressed.

Endeavor to arrest a vagrant thought by the slow process of longhand writ, and the chances are that it will take leg bail and disappear ere service can be performed.

The fact the House now in a deadlock over the Deficiency appropriation bill, for want of a quorum, and the Democratic leaders of the House are anxious to pass the bill giving Mr. Cleveland the authority asked for in his message.

The report of the bill to prohibit the transportation of adulterated food from one state to another, contains food for thought. It says: "Recent investigation in the Department of Agriculture of these deceptions, frauds in milk, adulterations in beer and spirits, in spices and condiments, and other things in daily use as food and beverages, emphasize the necessity for prevention or repression of these disreputable practices."

The flax crop is reported to be abundant and of good quality this year, the growth not being too rank, which frequently makes the fibre coarse and unfit for first-class tow.

He who courts and runs away, May live to court another day; But he who courts and will not wed, May find himself in court instead.

FROM WASHINGTON.

President Cleveland's Bold Move Commented Upon.

The Republicans struck between Wood and Water—The Annexation of Canada Hoisted—Festivals and Appropriations—Adaptation of Food.

Washington, August 27, 1888. Americanism certainly has the call just now. In the discussion of the fisheries treaty, the Republicans had the best of it with the public.

Whether Mr. Cleveland is in earnest or not in his professed desire for further authority to retaliate upon Canada for her treatment of American fishing and other interests, it is not my province to decide.

That something Mr. Cleveland has supplied. That it involved a complete change of base on the part of the administration matters not. The Republicans may truthfully charge that the most of the authority for which Mr. Cleveland now asks was granted him eighteen months ago.

The decision arrived at by the pension committees in both House and Senate, to reduce the amount of the pension which it is proposed to give Mrs. Sheridan from $5,000 to $3,500, seems hardly fair when the eminent services of General Sheridan are considered.

FARM, FIELD AND GARDEN.

TRUSTWORTHY MATTER PERTAINING TO A VARIETY OF SUBJECTS.

The Demand for a Better Class of Pork. The Vast Difference Between a Fattened and a Well Fed Hog—What Consumers Want.

In the majority of cases the hogs that are now being sent to market have a preponderance of fat over lean meat. The system adopted by a great many feeders has transformed the hog into a veritable lard keg. It is true that a hog should be well fattened before being placed on the market. But, says Breeder's Journal, very true there is a vast difference between a fattened and a well fed hog.

We do not overlook the fact that in some instances it may be attributed to the method practiced in breeding, but the kind and quality of the feed is answerable for a great deal. During the growing period, at least, clover, oats, milk, peas or barley, or a combination of any of them, should be used to create a tendency toward the production of lean meat. Constant feeding of corn, on the other hand, is certain to produce an adipose condition. The wisdom of discreet feeding will be apparent from this, and the aim should be with every feeder who is desirous of making the most out of his hogs to start in first with lean producing foods and leave corn to finish on. Another important thing to be considered, in connection with the feeding of hogs, is the liability of hogs to be unhealthy when in such a condition.

Fertilizers for Peach Trees. Four years' experiments with fertilizers on peach trees at the New Jersey state experiment station have given results that make it appear that an unfavorable influence upon the quantity of fruit was excited wherever nitrate of soda was used. A profit was secured from the use of plaster. Muriate of potash, when used alone, resulted in a very small profit; when used in combination with superphosphate a favorable effect was noticed. Barnyard manure resulted in a loss for this crop. Nitrogen, apparently, has been injurious—a point which seems to have been suspected by successful peach growers; for while they have used phosphoric acid and potash as freely as their means allowed, they have learned to avoid the use of excessive amounts of barnyard manure, and they also avoid complete fertilizers containing high percentages of nitrogen. An examination of the report and bulletins of this station for 1887 will show that of the six manufacturers who offer special manures for peach trees four use a formula which guarantees less than 52 per cent. of nitrogen.

In a word, then, the large profits were secured in this orchard from the use of phosphoric acid, whether alone or in combination with other kinds of plant food, as previous experiments on this orchard show this farm has shown a uniformly favorable effect from the use of this element on field crops. It can be said, therefore, that up to the present time superphosphate and plaster have been the only profitable fertilizers for peach trees on the plots reported upon.

An experiment to test the value of the different forms of phosphoric acid, carried out on this farm in 1885, showed that the forms soluble in water and in citrate of ammonia, as the New Jersey law directs, largely increased the crops, while forms of phosphoric acid excluded by these tests were of little or no value.

Hollow Horn in Cattle. The disease commonly called hollow horn, or tall ill, or wolf in the tail, is not a disease of the horn, but of the vertebrae and the filaments by which its web is sustained, and leaves it in this state as long as the weather is variable. If it elongates its threads, it is a sign of fine, calm weather, the duration of which may be judged by the length to which the threads are let out. If the spider remains inactive, it is a sign of rain; if it keeps at work during the rain, the down pour will not last long, and will be followed by fine weather. Observation has taught that the spider makes changes in its web every twenty-four hours, and that if such changes are made in the evening, just before sunset, the night will be clear and beautiful.

A Simple Barometer. One of the simplest of nature's barometers is a spider's web. When there is a prospect of wind or rain, the spider shortens the filaments by which its web is sustained, and leaves it in this state as long as the weather is variable. If it elongates its threads, it is a sign of fine, calm weather, the duration of which may be judged by the length to which the threads are let out. If the spider remains inactive, it is a sign of rain; if it keeps at work during the rain, the down pour will not last long, and will be followed by fine weather. Observation has taught that the spider makes changes in its web every twenty-four hours, and that if such changes are made in the evening, just before sunset, the night will be clear and beautiful.

Mange in Hogs. Mange, or scab, is produced by the burrowing of a small insect, which may be seen under the scabs by using a strong magnifying glass. The following is a good treatment: Give each hog half an ounce of flowers of sulphur and one dram of saltpeter once a day for ten days. Rub all over with soft soap and let it remain an hour or two; then wash clean with warm water and apply an ointment of sulphur lard and a little petroleum (kerosene oil), which should be well rubbed in. Let this remain three or four days and then wash clean with strong soap. If the difficulty is not removed repeat the treatment. The animal should be removed to clean quarters, burning all old bedding, etc.—Southern Cultivator.

DISEASES OF YOUNG PIGS.

A Swine Breeder Tells How to Treat Canker, Colds, Thumps and Scours. The season is at hand when diseases of young pigs are prevalent, and many losses occur through ignorance and neglect of the breeder. The supplementary cause of three-fourths of the deaths that occur among young pigs, according to a correspondent in Swine Breeder's Journal, are canker, colds, thumps and scours. He says: We place canker, or canker sore mouth, first on the list, as it is the result of the impaired condition of the blood in the sow, the impurities in which are taken into the pig through the milk of the dam, and on the thorough impregnation of the system of the pig with this poison, these cankerous sores break out, usually followed by death. What excuse has a breeder for permitting the systems of his brood sows, through lack of proper care, to become so deranged that their blood, instead of being pure and life giving, is a rank poison?

The second cause of death is colds; in fact a cold is the primary cause of the disease of young pigs. The best care and management are often unable to prevent this disease appearing, and it is, to a certain extent, excusable. The sudden changes in the weather, over exertion and sudden cooling off will often introduce it. The best remedy is external vigilance and the careful use of a few simple remedies. The next disease is thumps. It is claimed to be "fatty degeneration," a liver trouble and indigestion. The primary and first cause for thumps is to be found in the derangement of the digestion. The pig is naturally a glutton, and will gorge itself, time and again, on any feed suiting its taste. In some cases it is prominent in both the lungs and lungs, and other cases but slightly attacking one of these organs but very strongly defined in the other. The usual course of this disease is first, stupidity and inactivity, followed by varying appetite, then a cough, more or less prominent, depending on its cause, whether a stomach cough, result of dyspepsia, or a lung cough, result of cold. It takes several days before this disease reaches the thumping stage, and the experienced the symptoms are very clearly defined, and the following steps taken to prevent further development. The pigs are exercised regularly in warm, clear weather; their pens are kept clean and dry, and they are given all the sunshine possible to get. This matter of sunshine is an important thing, and the next step is to reduce the feed of the sow, if pigs are sucking. If not, reduce feed of the pigs. The indigestion is corrected by giving doses of castor oil, a little turpentine and sulphur, the amount of which and frequency of the doses depends on the condition of the pigs, which must be determined by the breeder. If the pig should commence to thump, then small doses of digitalis must be given. It will be noticed, by the close observer, that about the time these obstructed respirations appear, there is a slight fever rapidly increasing as the disease progresses. To combat this, sweet spirits of nitre, acetone or turpentine is used, quantity and frequency of doses determined by condition of pig. The successful treatment of thumps, and in fact all diseases of pigs, necessitate careful nursing, and close attention, and the exercise of a certain amount of knowledge, which it is to be hoped all breeders have.

Propagating Plants by Layering. You can multiply many vines and tender plants, as well as those of harder wood, by layering, which is done by bending down a branch and covering the middle portion of it with soil and fastening it down with pegs. In layering roses and other hard wood plants and grape vines, cut a slight gash in the under side just through the bark. At this point the roots will form. This is a much more certain process than setting out slips, for in this case the parent vine is aiding in the formation of the roots on the partly buried branch. The best time is in the early summer before the wood becomes too tough. Many of the tender vines and plants may be made to take root in pots.

A Self Milking Cow. It is fortunate that this bad habit is not often acquired, but after it has been it is a difficult matter to correct. Among the many devices for this purpose, many of them cumbersome and unwieldy, a spiked headstall is as good and as likely to make a lasting impression as any. Wrought iron nails two inches long, with flat heads, are driven through the leather and held in place by a second thickness of leather, which is sewed or riveted on over the nail heads. After wearing this a few weeks, sometimes a plain halter will be sufficient to prevent the attempt. If this will not effect a cure it will be best to dispose of the cow as soon as she gets in good condition for the butcher.

Shoeing Horses. The shoeing of horses has not only become general, but it has been abused; that is, there has been too much constant shoeing of farm horses, winter and summer. It has even resulted in modifying the feet of the horse, destroying the extreme toughness of the shell of the hoof, and rendering the hoof tender. If the farm horse is shod only when working on hard roads continuously, the hoofs seldom wear too thin for the ordinary work of the farm. When shod, except for icy roads, the shoes are better without calkins, and for pretty much all work on the road, summer and winter, too pieces, or rather what are known as three-quarter pieces, are better for the horse than full shoes, says Stockman.

Advice About Ducks. Because ducks entirely "take to water" many people suppose they are proof against the ill effects of dampness. This is an erroneous idea. Leg weakness results from damp quarters at night. Croup is induced by cold water. Until ducks are feathered they should be kept from ponds and other bodies of water.

Things Told by Farmers. Joseph Harris says that market gardeners and truckers are raising fewer cabbages than formerly. Their land is too valuable. He thinks cabbages are soon to become a farm crop. A crop of fodder corn will make up for lack of hay. One farmer claims to have prevented the small white maggot in squash vines by sprinkling tobacco around each plant. It has been stated by an observer that the best blue grass in Kentucky is found on farms on which sheep have been kept for years.

CARL DUNDER.

He is Rapidly Learning the Ways of the Country. "Well, sergeant," saluted Mr. Dunder in a lively way as he entered the Central station yesterday to pay his respects to Serg. Bendal. "Oh, it's you." "Yes, the vbas me. I like to haf some talk mit you." "Anything wrong?" "No, sir. Everthings vbas all o. j., and der Yankee says."

"Oh, k. you mean. Been away?" "I vbas in Cleveland. Yes, sir, I go down to Cleveland und come back alone." "And didn't get swindled? Well, I declare!" "Sergeant, vbas I green as grass? Vbas I some idiot? Vbas I crazy? Vbas I der grossest Dutchmans in all Amerika?" "I've sometimes thought so, Mr. Dunder."

"Well, maybe I vbas green sometimes ago, but dot vbas all gone. I haf to learn der country und der peoples, you know! Maybe I vbas not some razors, but I know how to take care of myself stust like a Yankee—hal hal ha!" "You feel pretty jolly."

"Well, der's so! Maybe I vbas sharper ash a Yankee. Hey?" "Tell me all about it." "Well, before I goes avhay eferpody tells me to look out for some confluence man. I keep dot in mind. When I vbas in Toledo a man comes by me und says: 'She vbas a werry hot day! I shopt him for a confidence man so queest ash dot, und I tells him: 'If you doan't fly avhay I'll knock you ofer to last week!' He goes. He fluds out dot I vbas no haystack."

"The one you have on?" "Well, vbas der train from Toledo a shentleman takes a seat beside me. He vbas an awful nice man, but he haf some bad luck. Somebody robs him of $300 in a sleeping car. Dos makes him dead broke, und maybe he doan't get out of Cleveland. Vbiell, dot vbas too bad, und pooty soon he says he shall pawn his diamond pin."

"Do vbas her. He buys her in California for $600, but if somebody lend him $30 he can hold it two weeks. If he doan't come mit der money dot pin vbas mine." "I see. It's verry odd." "Old! Vbas dot diamond old! It makes no difference how old he vbas."

"Well!" "Dot secures me, und I vbas all right. If I hold $600 he vbas come und pay me $30. He can I. Read you tell him you live in Detroit?" "I—I—maybe I said Toledo," stammered Mr. Dunder.

"I presume so. You wanted that pin for $30?" "Well, if he doan't come, of course. Pooty soon he runs out to speak mit der engineer about running so fast, und somebody man comes in. He vbas a shentleman, too. He knows me right away. He says: 'Vbiell! I vbas der vbas you. Mr. Dunder, und did you see my fadder lately! His fadder vbas Mr. Hurdlebacker, who owns der First National bank.' "Vbiell, his fadder sends him $2,000 by express, but he doan't get her. He owes a party on der train $40, und if I like to take a check for $500 on dot diamond, Greenhorns, eh! Hayseed, eh! Maybe I can come in when she rains—hal hal ha!"

It took the sergeant a quarter of an hour to convince Mr. Dunder that he had "let go" again, and, when he fully realized it, he said: "Sergeant, gaze by my eye! You vbas right. I vbas so green dot somebody ahtals off my eye winkers. I doan't know so much as cabbage. In der morning."

It is not the light summer alone that a G. H. G. The winter is the And let it winter He comes to visit us. And all our winter are His, the winter of our sorrow, the winter of our unhappiness, even the winter of our discontent."

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded" May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitter, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of migraines, headache, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time established her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for all laxative and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Sarsaparilla, it is the best medicine I have used for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel robust and stronger to go through the summer."

BILL NYE GOES CRABBING.

And James Whitcomb Riley Lifts Up His Melodious Voice.

I went crabbing last week in Pleasure bay and enjoyed it very much. It is different from hunting elephants or pulling a tiger out of his lair by the tail, being safer and less exciting. I have hunted the coon in the south with more or less success, stepped on the trail of the Indian and apologized for it afterward, supplied the regular army for two weeks with buffalo meat slain by these fair hands, snared suckers in Illinois, hunted Anarchists, spent the evening with a vigilance committee, played bean bag with some of our best people, and been arrested on the Bowway by a roundsman with a $3 Ten Nights in a Barroom breath, but I never enjoyed myself better in my life than I did crabbing on the smooth surface of the bay with a cotton string and a fish head.

James Whitcomb Riley also scabbed the cold and pusless features of a dead fish in the calm and crab infested waters. Ever and anon he would burst forth into song. The low refrain would start up kind of easy, like the beginning of an anthem, and then it would swell out in place, and arising to a height of seven or eight feet, it would then safely die away.

Sometimes he would tell me what he had been singing, and I could see by the words of the song that it was so and that he was right about it.

The sweet smell of the hay field came lightly across the water and kissed the delicate lines of our sleeping sail. The low plaint of the cuckoo clock and the gentleman from New York who had been presented with his bill was borne across the dimpled bosom of the tide.

Then James Whitcomb Riley again burst forth into song. He has a good voice. It is rich and full, with notes cut in it so that when he gets up to a high note he can hold on without slipping a cog or flapping. I tried to sing with him, but could not do so successfully at all. Our party said I had more soul than voice, while Mr. Riley seemed to run largely into voice. If I could keep my soul out of my song I would be less apt to give offense to sensitive people. But Mr. Riley's notes rise like those of a lark, mature rapidly and end in a glad blast which shakes the green apples off the trees for miles around. I did not succeed in reaching the altitude which Mr. Riley did but once, and that was when I was trying to explain to a young lady by means of a large ultramarine crab how it was that the animal could catch hold of anything and retain it in his possession for a long time.

Mr. Riley composes rapidly while crabbing, easily inventing, constructing, improvising, correcting and revising as he goes along. He also constructs an accompaniment of music while keeping his eye all the while on his sport. He is certainly a very versatile and ambitious man. I presume he wouldn't care to have me speak of it here, but to show how easily he composes I will say that he arranged for the pianoforte while we were crabbing a sort of roudoun or roudoulette set to the air of "Marching Through Georgia," which made the hot tears well up in my eyes, and they have been so dry that for years they have squeaked in their sockets. I can only recall now a few lines of the song, but they show that the song writer is born, not made. They are as follows:

Scarcely could we be restrained from busting into tears. When we saw those good old crabs we hadn't caught for years. While we went crabbing through Georgia. —Bill Nye in New York World.

The Uttered Savage.

Would Have Been Forewarned.

A family living in the western part of the city shut up the house the other day and started for the shore to spend the summer. On the eve of departure a 5-year-old member of the family observed that he had shut the cat up in the closet, thinking that it would be a good place for her to stay during their absence. If the little fellow hadn't thought to mention his consideration to the family would have been a good deal more likely to find the cat on their return than they are now. They would have known she was there even before they saw her.—Hartford Courant.

Amicably Adjusted. "I'd like that fellow over there arrested," said a man who halted an officer on Wood ward avenue the other day, and pointed across at a ragged specimen leaning against a lamp post. "What's the matter?" "He's robbed me."

"What of it?" "Well, I came here from Buffalo a month ago, and have worked up a nice little trade. That galoot jumps in here from Cleveland the other day and begins to tell the very same story I do. In fact, he's gone right to some of my best customers, and the fact of two tramps telling identically the same yarn makes me sooner or later cause suspicion and react of both of us. I have tried to make him see it that way, but he is obstinate and deaf. I now appeal to the strong arm of the law."

The officer went across to the other, who explained: "We both got the story at the same time of a Chicago tramp, and I've as good a right as him, but rather than have any one get off it and fall back on the old one."

"Is that satisfactory?" asked the officer of number one. "Perfectly. All I ask is to be treated like a gentleman and allowed my rights. Good-by, officer—good-by, professor."—Detroit Free Press.

A Story About Bartley Campbell. In these days Campbell came to owe a certain resident of Pittsburgh $30. The creditor could well afford to lose a hundred times that amount, but he pursued the reckless journalist relentlessly, dunning him day and night.

"Give it to me a cent at a time," he said. "After Bartley scored his great success in New York he betwought himself of this cruel and importunate lender, and one day the latter gentleman, while going down Fifth avenue, was very much surprised to see the dramatic step up and place a bulky package wrapped in newspaper, in his hands.

"I have the pleasure," said Campbell grandiloquently, "of returning to you a certain $30 which you, no doubt, recall. Be hold, sir—here he opened the parcel—"The accumulation of months. I have saved the sum, as you suggested, a penny at a time and you hold in your hands $300 of those small but useful copper coins of our country."

Thus speaking he walked off, leaving the astonished creditor petrified in the middle of the sidewalk, holding mechanically a breaking parcel, from which poured a glittering stream of copper cents. They littered the pavement, rolled into the gutter and drew such a mob of howling gamins that finally in disgust he hurried the balance away and made for his office.—New York Sun.

Didn't Find It. At 11 o'clock the other night a boy appeared on Michigan avenue, near Third street, with a lantern and began to search the pavement. Several men at once accosted him and asked the object of his search, but he fought shy of a reply. In ten minutes fifteen men were searching. In fifteen minutes there were four lanterns flashing around. When the crowd had increased to thirty the boy extinguished his light and slid off up Third street and entered a house. The others continued to search until an officer came along and asked what they were looking for. No one could tell, and just then it seemed to strike everybody that April fools sometimes blow somed in August, and the entire crowd stamped like a drove of steers.—Detroit Free Press.

A Child's Hunger for Love.

Delays are always dangerous, but never so irredeemably as in the case of loving words or deeds. It always proves impossible to speak tomorrow exactly the cordial or affectionate word which today demanded of us.

A mother whose child had died and died was so entirely prostrated with grief that some of the two officious friends asked her to consider if her sufferings were greater than those of others who had lost friends.

"Oh, it is not the same, it is not the same!" she cried. "My little girl was different from other children; she was so loving! She used to come to me and beg me to kiss her, or take her in my lap for a minute, and sometimes I was busy and told her to run away and play."

"I hurt her little heart. I made it shut up its little leaves when it ought to have been opened by the sunshine. I shall never forgive myself."

She never did forgive herself, and though she was almost pathetically loving to the children who were left, no lapse of time could ever erase from her mind the memory of that little girl who was hungry for love.—Youth's Companion.

A little girl named Sallie McAdams has been astonishing the people of Crawford, Neb., by the vicious manner in which she tames vicious horses. No matter how wild the horse may be she sticks to him until he is conquered, and the most expert cowboys in the region acknowledge that they cannot beat her.
