CHAPTER XXII. THAT LETTER.

"Why couldn't you leave Adrian alone?" I cry, with pathetic reproach. "Why, when you found he had married another woman, couldn't you let your fancy for him die out? You must have seen that your marriage was not to be, or it would not have been prevented as it was!"

"What do you mean? Are you mad, Audrey?" she exclaims, with a perfect imitation of amazement.

"Do you think I don't know," I say, "that I have not known for some time—that Arthur St. Clair and my husband are the same?"

"Oh, you have found that out, have you?" she sneers. "Trust you to leave anything in mystery! Well, Adrian loved me first—has never ceased loving me—loves me now, as no man will ever love an insignificant creature like you. He hates the fetters that bind him to you, because they keep him from me. He curses himself for his madness in marrying you because of the likeness you bear me. Can't you see this? Won't you believe it?"

Her trade has not excited me much—it is a peculiarity of mine that as others grow angry I recover my calmness. I look at Theo now as I should at a mad woman.

"I do not believe you," I say, with slow distinctness.

"Don't you?" she says, with a triumphant smile. "Then shall I prove it to you?"

"Prove what?"

"That Adrian loves me best?"

"If you can," I return. "But when he comes home, I will ask him, and force him to say 'Yes' or 'No' before both of us."

"He will not be home until dinner time," she says; "and that is a long period to wait in suspense. If you are anxious for the truth, I can give it to you."

As she speaks, she rises, and, opening the dressing case on the table, takes from it a letter, which she tosses to me contemptuously. It falls short of my knee and drops to the floor. It crosses my mind that Theo makes a mistake when she suffers her hatred or her anger to lead her into vulgarity. I pick up the letter, and see that it is addressed simply to "Lady Lasselles." I shiver as I recognize Adrian's large, unmistakable handwriting, and I take out the enclosure, with a feeling of sickness which threatens to overwhelm me. But I dare not give way. I must read it.

The date at the top is "Wednesday evening." Surely, this is Thursday? Yes, in spite of my whirling brain and wild beating heart, I remember that. Then it was written last night—probably after we returned home!

"My own dearest Theo," the letter begins, "I have quite made up my mind that this wretched state of things cannot go on much longer. I cannot live without you any longer, darling; you must come to me, and let me be all in all to you. I dare say your people will blame you for taking this step—they are sure to do so—but, oh, my dearest, if you knew what an agony of doubts and fears I live in, you would take pity on me and come! This seeing you by stealth, this fear lest any other man should come and steal away my jewel, and, lastly, this change of quarters, are all driving me mad. If the regiment had been staying here longer, I might have waited a little; but it would only have been waiting, Theo. We were surely made for each other; so what does it matter whether we go a little sooner or later? I shall expect you to answer 'Yes' when I see you this evening, darling. What a long time it will seem till then!

"Your own—A." I read this epistle twice—Theo is quite right—there is no mistake. There is the Roman "VII." surrounded by the word "Cetrassiers," and beneath it the motto of the regiment. I am even conscious that it smells strongly of Adrian's favorite scent. I fold it up carefully and replace it in the envelope; then Theo's voice breaks the silence.

"You are satisfied, I hope?"

"Perfectly," I say, jolly. "You have proved that, as the possessor of Adrian's love, you have more right to him than I; and you shall have him."

As I rise from the chair, I cannot help seeing the gleam of joy which lights up her face.

"Give me my letter," she says, as I reach the door.

"No," I return, firmly; "to that I have the most right. I will keep it, Theo." I add, scornfully, "to remind me, if ever I should be tempted to forget it, that by right of love, Adrian belongs to you." Then I close the door softly, and go away.

I lock myself into my bedroom, with the express intention of having a good cry; but I am surprised to find myself unable to indulge in any luxury of that kind. I sit down by the window, and try to think—think of what? That the blow has fallen at last—that everything is over between us—even my vague day dreams of a reconciliation "some day," that blissful "some day" so many of us believe in. I used to say and think that if I could but be perfectly certain of Adrian's wishes and feelings, I should be more content. Well, now I am perfectly certain. I have read the proof of it, and the death warrant of my love, in his own writing—the careless, bold characters that I have kissed so often. Ah, well, I shall kiss them no more now! Now that the certainty is come, I am a little surprised to find that, after all, I do not feel so very different; I had almost expected that I should fall down and die, or feel like one who has lost a limb or an eye, but I do not. I move unconsciously more fully into the sunshine, and enjoy the warmth as much as ever. The trees wave in the summer breeze just as sweetly as they did last year; the fresh, summer flowers have just as delicate a tint as of yore; the birds—ah, there is a difference there! Is it possible that that discordant shrieking can proceed from those thin throats, or are the nerves of my ears and head out of tune?

I lean upon the window ledge, and wonder how I shall feel when Adrian comes home. And then my heart tells me that when he returns, he must not find me here. The words Teddy spoke last night force themselves upon my memory—"I would go away and hide myself." That is what I must do. I must hide my undying misery and shame from the whole world—the world which knows me, that is. Yet where can I go? My first wild thought is of "daddy." Yet I put that away; not even to him can I take my trouble. There are the old servants at home, too, who were there when we were little, happy children. I cannot face them. No; I must get quite away by myself. I must bear my trouble alone.

With eager, impatient fingers I seize my dressing case, and, opening the lower drawer, turn out the money it contains onto the table. Fortunately I have plenty; there is a roll of bank notes which "daddy" gave me on the morning I was married, and which I have had no occasion to touch. I count them over, and find they contain three hundred pounds. I have nearly a hundred more in gold and notes, and I put them away securely and fasten the drawer. I take out of this case, which was a present from my godmother, all the jewellery which Adrian has given me, or which belongs to his family, and pack them away in the larger case, which was one of his marriage gifts to me. In the middle drawer, I lay that letter, together with a large photograph of Adrian, and one of my father. Dear old "daddy," I wonder what he will say when he hears of his little lass' troubles! I look round the room in search of anything else I may wish to put in here; there is nothing. I go into Adrian's dressing room, vacantly and without any especial reason, and in a glass on the table is a tiny bunch of forget-me-nots. I kiss the simple half-withered flowers passionately, for I remember that some time yesterday he must have taken them out of the oak tray of lilies and forget-me-nots which I kept filled in the inner hall. I will take these. He has worn them, and Theo did not give them to him—she would not have chosen anything so unpretending and simple. I lay them in the same drawer with the two photographs, and my death warrant; and, having locked it I ring for Lane.

"I want you to pack me some things immediately," I say in as natural a tone as I can command.

"Yes, my lady—for how long?"

"You had better put in two dozen of everything," I answer, "and all the pocket handkerchiefs and collars you can find."

"Any dinner dresses, my lady?"

"Of course. Three will be enough—and some morning dresses; put in that velvet one which came home last week."

Lane fetches out a huge "imperial," and is soon busily engaged in filling it. I feel I must give some explanation of this sudden journey or she will be saying something downstairs.

"I am going to Thorngaby for a short time, Lane," I say, telling the untruth pretty well, considering the small amount of practice I have had in that way.

"Am I to go with you, my lady?"

"I think not, Lane. There are plenty of servants to attend to me. Whom is the carriage for?" I say, as the open carriage is driven round to the door.

"For Lady Lasselles; she is going to lunch with Mrs. Colville," says she—"so Green told me just now."

Nothing could have happened better for my purpose; probably neither she nor Adrian will return for dinner; and, as he never comes into my room while I am dressing, my flight will not be discovered until I am far beyond recall.

"When you go down tell some of the men that I want the stanophæton at one o'clock."

"Yes, my lady."

By this means I avoid taking Mary-son; so no one will know where I take my ticket for.

"You will lunch before leaving, my lady?" says Lane.

"Oh, yes! You can tell them to have it ready at half-past twelve," I answer. I am really quite cheerful, considering the general state of affairs. "It is twelve now," I add, as Lane rises from her knees and fastens the straps of my trunk.

"I think that is all, my lady," she says, looking round the room. "Yes, I think so. You had better go down and tell them what I want."

And so I am left alone—alone for the last time in the room Adrian was so sure I should be happy in.

Well, we have made a great mistake, and discovered it only when it is too late to rectify it. All I can do now is to spare Adrian the annoyance of seeing me day after day, of feeling that he can never be free from me, and myself the continual agony of witnessing his love for another.

I go down presently and eat my luncheon. I do not, as I have done so often before, make a pretense, and end by taking nothing. No; I make a better meal than I have done for weeks; chiefly, I think, because I am possessed with a wild, raging fever of excitement, and I am anxious to get to the end of my journey without breaking down. Lane brings down my seakinn coat and hat, and asks which dressing case I am going to take with me.

"The small one," I tell her; and then I look round, once more upon the home which ought to have been my earthly paradise, with eyes which take in every detail, with a hungry yearning, until a mist of tears shuts out the familiar objects, and I am fain to cover them with my shaking hand.

Three Cheers For Moving Pictures of Regatta.

The Newfoundland Catholic Association of Whitley Pier deserves credit for getting the National Regatta advertised in moving picture theatres. Before Regatta Day this summer a camera artist will likely arrive from New York to take in the Quidi Vill Races, from early morning to break up of day's events. All the boats, the cheering crowds on the banks, the crews, every incident will be there "canned" and reproduced from Boston to California and from New York to New Waterford, C. B. This will be a tremendous advertisement all over the continent for the Old Home Week Regatta of next summer, 1914.

Little Girl Seriously Injured.

SKULL FRACTURED.

Saturday afternoon a serious accident occurred at the North Battery, the victim was Maud, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Reid. She was playing around the beach, which is very rugged, and while endeavoring to reach her father's fishing stage fell. The top part of her head came in contact with a sharp point that protruded from a rock. As a result a bad wound, over an inch deep, was inflicted. The skull was fractured. The little one, who must have suffered extreme agony, was hurried to the General Hospital and all the way along was hysterical. On examination Miss Reid's injuries were pronounced to be of a very serious character and she was immediately conveyed home where she was attended by Dr. Macpherson and two other physicians. The little girl will have to undergo a critical operation in the course of a day or two to have some pieces of bones removed, as it is feared that concussion of the brain may result. This is the second serious accident that occurred at the Battery last week.

FOGOTA HERE.—The S. S. Fogota, Capt. Baxter Barbour, arrived here from Fogo, Saturday, at 2:30 p.m. She made an extra trip and had fine weather going to and coming from Change Islands. She brought a small freight but quite a number of passengers.

Shannahan and Tucker

On Government House Callers.

Tucker says "I would be a great relief to the eyesight if we could read a new list of guests at Government House. Whether it is that each succeeding Governor follows his predecessor in invitations, or not, Tucker doesn't know, but we always find the same "Old Reliabilities" in the list published in the papers.

Tucker does not want to push himself into society, for while he holds the greatest respect for the representative of His Most Gracious Majesty the King, he has no desire for "drawing-room company" and would as a matter of preference rather sit on a grubstake and smoke his T.D. than to undergo the persecution of a hardwood shirt front and a pair of tight gloves, but still he isn't "nice" enough to close his eyes to the fact that in this loyal old town we have lots of good, commonsense, decent people who never had the pleasure of having their names on the list of Government House visitors.

Tucker's object in bringing this matter forward is, that as our present Governor hasn't had time to make himself familiar with our city, or to discover the citizens who by their "deeds of valour" in the past, have merited distinctions, he may be led to believe that the former guests at Government House included all the individuals who could by their standing, honestly expect to be invited to an "At Home," and as this is far from correct, and as Tucker believes that a new list would include some of the tradesmen and workers, he therefore with the humility of a duck in a thunderstorm makes this suggestion, and will live in the hope of seeing some of the good old stock arrayed in a "cut away" at the next "At Home" at Government House.

TIM SHANNAHAN.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at Branch, on July 23rd, when Mr. Stephen McGrath led to the altar Miss Lucy Caron, only daughter of Mr. Michael Caron, of Point Lance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Coady. The bride was attired in a beautiful costume of cream silk, with hat and veil to match. The bridesmaid was Miss Margie Nash. The groom was attended by Mr. Albert Nash. After the ceremony luncheon was partaken of at Mr. John Nash's where a large number of guests were assembled. At 2:30 the happy couple started for their future home at Gull Cove. The bells pealed with the sounds of merriment and cheers of hearty good wishes.

Lintrose Passengers.

The Lintrose arrived at Port aux Basques at 6:10 a.m. yesterday bringing Mrs. A. Dickinson, Miss L. Cox, Mrs. W. Horwood, E. Elliott and wife, Miss B. Elliott, Miss M. L. Nicholl, Mrs. A. N. McDonald, Miss N. Bragg, G. W. Boyce, Miss J. M. Boyce, G. F. Boyce, W. F. Manning, T. F. Stratney, J. D. Loizeaux, A. M. Weiso, J. Dawe, W. Ashbourne, W. J. S. Donnelly, J. McPherson, Dr. Noyce, J. Cunningham, C. Bishop, W. B. Joabert, A. Curran, G. J. Wett, W. Horwood, R. Patton, G. Richards, J. J. Murphy, J. Duff, Mrs. M. Duff, Mrs. F. C. Simpson, Mrs. B. Hanlon, Miss C. Hanlon, Mrs. W. T. Farnell, Miss D. Smilms, Miss P. Spencer, T. Peet, C. Moulton, Mrs. W. Horwood and a large number in second class.

Rest at Last

King Death's a friend who puts an end to all our vain endeavour; the beastly grind is left behind forever. Death ends the pain, the grief, the strain, the grasping and the giving; when dead, no more we worry o'er the grievous cost of living. The dead men sleep while planets keep awirl, each on its axis, they do not break their hearts to make enough to pay their taxes. They do not sweat for duty and debt they have no hope of cashing or read their hair in black despair, or keep their molars gnashing. A man may write like this all night and prove that death's a daisy, but men who shirk life's care and work are timid, cheap and lazy. The men who sigh and wish to die should haste and kick the bucket; if life's a fake that makes them ache, they surely ought to chuck it. The man who's sane does not complain when troubles round him gather; he likes to show his grit and so he whips the whole blamed slather. He lives his life, enjoys the strife, and when it's time to travel, he dies a while in fussy style, and sleeps beneath the gravel.

Cable News.

LONDON, To-day.

A German clerk named Cremere-Kotel, was arrested and charged with having attempted to blackmail Lord Rothschild. It is alleged that Cremere-Kotel threatened to murder Rothschild unless he gave him $150,000.

VICTORIA, B.C., To-day.

Smashing her own record by at least two hours, the passenger liner, Empress of Russia, reached here on her second voyage to this country from the Orient. This will set a new mark of 8 days, 13 hours from Yokohama.

MEXICO CITY, To-day.

Foreign interference in conduct of the task of pacification, will not be tolerated by Provisional President Huerta. He proposes to stay in the Presidency and will brook no interference on the part of foreigners. This determination, he impressed in a statement issued by the Mexican Minister of the Interior on behalf of the President. General Huerta will not resign, Dr. Urrutia said, much less will he permit foreigners to take a hand in the question, in which is involved the honor and that of the nation. I will say more, that General Huerta has contracted an obligation with the nation and with the entire world to establish peace in the Mexican republic. This obligation is in a way of being fulfilled. If when it is realized our Government is recognized by that of the States, we shall rejoice. If not, we will lament it. We will not, however, change our attitude of defense of national honor and dignity. This declaration is regarded in political circles here as the Government's answer to the Mexican Deputies who are promoting a movement to bring about an understanding between Huerta and the rebels.

BALEARE RETURNS.—The s.s. Baleare returned Saturday evening from St. Mary's Bay, where she had been engaged with the 'Colonia' laying the Western Union Cable.

Some Persons "Flinch" When Truth Hunts Them

"If any man is able to convince me and show me that I do not think or act right, I will gladly change, for I seek the truth, by which no man was ever injured."—Marcus Aurelius, Roman Emperor.

Some shrink and try to close their eyes and ears to the haunting fact that the little  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 3 grains of Caffeine in every average cup of tea or coffee is the demon which relentlessly pursues and starts various ailments, such as biliousness, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, bowel trouble, heart failure and a long string of aches and ails, taking one form in one person and another in another.

The effect of repeated doses of tea or coffee, on those who are susceptible to caffeine poisoning, is so complex that it is difficult to foretell where its hurt will be most serious; in Heart, Head, Eyes, Nerves or where.

The stroke of trouble will come somewhere if the daily doses are persisted in.

Of course if anyone prefers to treat his body in that way it is useless to suggest relief.

Let him "follow the trail" until badly wounded.

Some go so far they can't get back to health. Others quit the foolish, losing game before fixed chronic disease sets in.

There is a mighty army of sensible ones, however, who have bravely tested the truth with their own bodies to see whether or not it was the truth that tea and coffee caused their ailments.

It's an easy test. Quit tea and coffee absolutely for 10 days. Take Postum hot and well-made and keep track of the change toward health day by day.

It's the most exquisite pleasure in the world to be perfectly well with all the delicate and beautifully adjusted machinery of the body working in harmony, not interfered with by drugs, one of the most insidious and deceptive of which is caffeine in tea and coffee.

This is Truth.

Meet it bravely with head up and a hearty handclasp.

Truth thus made welcome will prove your best friend.

These are facts without regard to our own opinion, or to whether or not you use Postum.

However it is well to consider that famous food-drink because it supplies a hot beverage of deep seal-brown color, which turns to the rich golden-brown when cream is added.

It has a snappy flavor, but there is no "sting" in it, no caffeine or other drug of any sort. It is skillfully manufactured of wheat and a trace of New Orleans molasses.

It comes in two forms. One called Regular Postum, must be boiled full 15 minutes.

The other, Instant Postum, is in powder form and a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water makes the beverage instantly. Grocers keep both kinds.

GOOD PICTURES! GOOD SONGS! GOOD MUSIC! AT THE NICKEL

Monday and Tuesday:
THE TRAP OF DEATH—A Pathe Film D' Art, hand colored; excellent story.
SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR—An uproariously funny biograph comedy, featuring pretty Mary Pickford.
 The every popular JOHN W. MYERS sings "Will o' the Wisp," a great baritone solo, and "Whistling Jim," illustrated; a novelty song.
 Interesting, Educating and Refined Amusement.

Exclusively Stylish.

The exclusive style is a humorous application given to women's clothes. Whenever a woman invests three-fourths of her husband's salary for the preceding year in an exclusive style, she can have the satisfaction of wearing it for several days before somebody's maid emerges with one just like it.
 Exclusive styles are created solely in Paris, France, by a corps of high-priest dressmakers who are caught immediately after a nightmare and allowed to produce designs which never occurred to anybody in his lucid intervals. Great economy is exercised by these designers, who can make a voluminous skirt out of half a yard of cloth and have enough left for a collar, belt and side facings. Husbands who are called upon to pay for these designs do not feel this economy at all, however.
 America does not produce any exclusive styles, but has to import all of them that have not already appeared in the patent insides of the country weekly. It is considered a great privilege to wear an exclusive earliest of these attempts was that of Dr. Mary Walker, a pioneer in the realm of the split skirt, who borrow her ideas of dress from the Sultan of Turkey. Dr. Walker did not get very far with her humane propaganda, but she has lived to see the triumph of the vital principle of her reform.

 Exclusive styles are always put on the market early, in ample time for friends of the wearer to size up its salient features and have an exact duplicate made by the time the season opens. The average life of a real exclusive style is about three weeks by the stop watch, after which it is laid away for future generations to wonder at.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer.
 Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.
 The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated.
 We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.
 The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating.

At the Citadel.

The services at the S. A. Citadel yesterday drew large crowds. At the morning service Adjutant Brace read the lesson. Rev. D. McLean, of P. E. I. was the speaker at 3 o'clock, and besides him on the platform were Magistrate Scott, of Twillingate, Mr. J. C. Puddister, of St. John's and Rev. R. K. Brace, of Charlottetown. P. E. I. Adjutant Hargrove, on behalf of the Corps, tendered the visitors a hearty welcome and then called upon Staff Capt. Cave to occupy the chair Magistrate Scott and Mr. Puddister paid glowing tributes to the work of the Army and the life and character of its workings. Rev. Mr. McLean took his text from Heb. 9 chapter, dealing particularly with those things contained in the Tabernacle. The candle stick, the show bread, the Ark of the Covenant, and Aaron's Rod that budded. Mr. McLean is a most eloquent and earnest speaker and for nearly an hour he held the undivided attention of his audience.
 Brigadier and Mrs. Morehen were in charge of the night's services. The Brigadier spoke from Heb. 2-3 and made a scathing attack on the evils which beset the path of the young men and women of to-day. At the close of the service a number came forward to the mercy sea, and with the singing of the Doxology brought to a close one of the most successful series of meetings ever held at the Citadel.

The man Reeves who mysteriously disappeared from the Lunatic Asylum, as reported in Saturday's Telegram, turned up Saturday evening. He was found by the police near Topsail wandering about. He spent the previous night in the woods.

Gordon H. James
Drowned at Binghamton, N.Y.
On August 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. James received a telegram from Binghamton, New York, containing the sad news that their eldest son Gordon, had been drowned. At the time the accident occurred, Gordon was spending his holidays with his cousin, Lincoln Bramfit, son of the Rev. Robt. Bramfit, whom many will remember connected with the Newfoundland Conference. The news comes with stunning force to the family who but recently received the news of the splendid work done by him at College during the past year. He was an old pupil of the Methodist College, and had been attending the Veterinary College at Toronto, and his examinations showed brilliant results. To the many friends who were so pleased to hear of his success the news comes as a great shock. The funeral took place Sunday, August 3rd, and the body laid to rest beside his aunt Mrs. Robt. Bramfit (nee Sarah) widow of St. John's, N.F., who died at Franklin Forks in 1904. Widespread sympathy is felt for the sorrowing family.

Coastal Boats.
REID'S SHIPS.
The Argyle arrived at St. John's at 5 p.m. yesterday.
The Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques at 9 p.m. yesterday from Placentia, and sailed at 11.45 p.m.
The Clyde left Lewisporte at 9.35 a.m. yesterday.
The Dundee left Port Blandford at 6 a.m. to-day.
The Gloucester left Port aux Basques at 7 a.m. to-day.
The Home left Lewisporte at 7.40 a.m. to-day.
The Kyle arrived at Dominio at 7.30 p.m. Saturday bound north.
The Meigie is due at Flower's Cove from the north.
The Duchess is due at Cook's Hr. from the north.
BOUING SHIPS.
The Prospero left West Port last evening, going north.
The Portia will not sail until Thursday next, for the westward.

A Hot Wave.
At noon to-day it went as high as 102 in the shade, the hottest for years. At 7 this morning it was 78 in the shade. Every other place along the line the average was 60 in the shade. This is a bad portent for the Tories. It's getting hotter every day. Getting so hot in St. John's West that some people feel very uncomfortable. There is a decided hot wave in that section.

Personal.
Mr. Charles White, the popular clerk in Bowring's hardware store, returned from a trip west by the Portia last night.
Mr. W. J. Herder, the Proprietor of the Evening Telegram, also came by the Portia from an enjoyable trip along that ship's route.
Mr. Denis Merrier, who had been ill since December last, returned to work to-day at J. Nelder's barber saloon. Denny's friends will be glad to see him back again.
Looks Like
Bad Fishery.
The Duchess arrived at Lewisporte at 12 noon, to-day. Her report is not cheering and is as follows:—
"Fine weather during the trip, no fish during the trip from Battle Harbour to Canada Day, from Canada Bay south doing well."
Plaids in silk and wool both promise to be very much with use once the fall season opens. And with the plaids comes a revival of Roman stripes.

REGATTA BETTING.—Betting is to-day quite evident on the result of the various races. In the Societies the favorites are the L.O.A. in the Fishermen's Outer Cove as usual, but general interest centres in the Brigade Race. Betting is keen in this contest with slight odds in favor of the C.I.B. The general impression is that it will be a pretty race between these two crews.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MEREDITH, N. H. To-day, Inspector General Sullivan and Mayor Ellis, of St. John's, are the chief guests of the gigantic Knights of Columbus meeting.
One Triumphal Procession.
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—The Premier, Sir E. P. Morris, with Messrs. Devereaux and F. J. Morris paid us a visit and having an inkling of their coming we were lined up on each side of the road from half-way house to Peter's River. Of course, Mr. Editor, this house is situated in the forest miles from any street, but hearing the noise and tumult of the triumphal procession, we at once stood at attention whilst this mighty concourse of people (3) passed. I was at my post two miles from half-way house being in the forefront of the line with my brother trees. As we were the only witnesses of the procession, I can vouch for the accuracy of this statement. I send you this by forest wireless, so that you will be the first to hear the great news.
Yours,
FIR TREE.
Near Half-way House.
Boy Meets Accident.
To-day a boy named Michael Hennebury, of King's Road, fell upon a glass bottle and as a result his wrist was badly cut and several arteries severed. Messrs. T. Ryan and W. Clare rendered first aid, stopping the flow of blood. Later the lad was driven to the Hospital for treatment.
Here and There.
TRAINS ARRIVE.—The express and local arrived at 12.20 p.m. to-day with several passengers.
POLICE RETURN.—Sgt. Savage and Consts. O'Neill and Larder who were on duty at the Bell Island Regatta returned to the city to-day.
TO SPEND VACATION.—Mrs. Jos. Long, accompanied by her two children, left by last evening's express for Curling, Bay of Islands, to spend a month's vacation.
Evening Telegram for sale at P. J. RAYNES, New Gower St. July 12, 1m, 6d
The Regatta Committee have decided that all crews must enter at tonight's meeting. No entries will be permitted at the lakeside, Wednesday, except for some extraordinary reason. Crews give much trouble in entering on Regatta Day and therefore all should enter to-night.
POLICE COURT.—Head Constable Dave summoned a man for having a dangerous building. The case was postponed and the place will be examined. A man, who started a fire for repairing purposes, without a permit, had to pay costs. The defendant in an assault case was fined $1 or 3 days. A woman charged with lewd and insulting language to her neighbor, was discharged.
Our examination is thorough. Our reputation is back of every pair of glasses fitted. Consult us when your eyes trouble you. R. H. TRAPNELL, Eyesight Specialist.—jy28,1f
From Capt. Barbour, of the Fogots, we learn that the trapping season from Fogo south is now practically finished. From the Grates to Fogo the trap voyage has been fair but it has been bad at the Wadhams, Tilling and some other places. Some of the traps have taken from 200 to 350 gits, which is good average work.

Children's Straw and Linen HATS

A Mean Feeling.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A young friend of mine who is an art student came to see me the other day looking very blue and depressed.

At first she insisted that there was "nothing the matter," but finally the truth came out. One of her dearest friends had won a valuable prize in an art contest.

It was a shameful reason for having the blues, wasn't it, and yet a typical one. One of the saddest facts in the human character to me, is our proneness to feel cast down at other people's successes. "If envy were a fever all the world would be ill," says a Dutch proverb, and I'm afraid this cynical statement is all too near the truth.

Show me a man who genuinely and spontaneously rejoices in his friend's achievements when these outshine his own in the same field, and you have shown me one among ten thousand.

We may school ourselves to express and even to feel some pleasure at our friend's superior achievements, but pleasure isn't the first instinctive feeling. That of the average weak human being is usually a sick sinking of the heart.

Hand in hand with our envy of other people's successes goes an even less praiseworthy feeling—complacency over other's failures and weaknesses.

Tollemache's Memories of Famous Men.

Returning in "Nuts and Chestnuts" to the manner of his "Old and Old Memories," Lionel A. Tollemache brings together a considerable amount of engaging anecdote, gossip, and informal opinions with which a long acquaintance with commanding figures in British life has filled his mind. Most of it is presented as first-hand testimony, but one bit of indirect hearsay is worth lingering over.

Long ago I had an elderly acquaintance who told me that she had formerly known an aged lady—I think an aunt or great-aunt of Dean Burgon—who in her youth had met (Dr.) Johnson at dinner. The matriarch (so to call her), being asked whether she remembered any sayings or doings of the great man, unwillingly admitted that the only trait of his which she could recall was that he took up a "saucer" (tureen of melted butter and poured its contents down his throat.

Of Tennyson it is related that at a club dinner he insisted on putting his feet upon the table before the guests had risen. All efforts to make him "behave" failed until Brookfield ("Old Brooks" of the sonnet) whispered: "Do take your legs down, Alfred. They're saying you're Longfellow!" Down went the legs.

Francis Newman, speaking of his brother, John Henry Newman's, respect for ecclesiastical rank, says that whenever he came into the presence of the Catholic bishop of Birmingham he used to kneel down and kiss the bishop's ring. "Now that my brother has become the ecclesiastical supervisor, it will be for the bishop to kneel down and kiss his ring; and I cannot help thinking that this latter arrangement will be more to my brother's taste." This regard for propriety Mr. Tollemache contrasts with the American who was presented to Leo XIII. "Sir," he exclaimed, seizing the Pope's hand and shaking it heartily, "I am glad to meet you. I knew your father, the late Pope."

Much that is both amusing and ex-not averse to it in a particular form. In certain extreme cases "Darwin" was for allowing small bottles of some poison which was at once deadly and painless to be placed in the asylum, so that the poor wretches might have the remedy within reach. Galton described with the satisfaction of a thoroughgoing eugenician a policy which he said was practised in Uganda:

When a king dies, his children are carefully examined by the doctors and other wise men. The "best and meepest" of them—to employ John's eugenic phrase—are then placed on the throne; and the rest are disposed of as drastically as Jehu eventually disposed of the sons of Ahab.

He was not loath to see the custom of primogeniture dying out in England, remarking that "the first-born of a family is seldom up to the average in strength, either physical or intellectual."

In and out of these memories fit other great figures, such as Jowett, Gladstone, Brodie, Lecky, and Lord Morley, and the reader is almost constantly in an atmosphere of vigorous intellectual activity, where, often, great ideas are seen in the making.

Ladies of Culture and Refinement Use Salvia Hair Tonic. It Makes the Hair Beautiful.

At last a remedy has been discovered that will positively destroy the pest Dandruff.

That Dandruff is caused by germs is accepted by every sensible person. Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. SALVIA will kill the dandruff germs and remove dandruff in ten days, or money back.

The manufacturer guarantees it. It will grow hair, stop itching scalp, falling hair, and make the hair thick and abundant. It prevents hair from turning gray, and adds life and lustre.

SALVIA is a hair-dressing that has become the favorite with women of taste and culture, who know the social value of beautiful hair. A large, generous bottle costs only 50c. at leading druggists everywhere. The word "SALVIA" is on every bottle. McMURDO & CO., Wholesale Agts.

Fashions and Fads.

Brick red is considered a good shade to use with black when an enlivening effect is wanted.

All-lace underwear is distinctly in the mode. Frequently such garments are made over net.

The newest collars on the fall coats are fastened up high at the neck to allow for cold weather.

Draped coats are liked for dress wear; simple, straight-cut garments for general utility purposes.

Coat chains are being made of beads; steel intermingled with cut crystal or coral are favorites.

Charming velvet tam o'shanter for autumn have great ribbon bows coquettishly placed at the back.

The most fashionable corset simulates the uncorseted figure. Stiff or constrained lines are a thing of the past.

The printed silks used in the autumn will probably show a return to the soft, artistic colors known as Persian.

AUGUST 1.
New Moon.
Days Past—215 To Come—149
SHELLEY born 1792. English poet, who ranks high among the great masters of blank verse, the most perfect medium of poetic genius. His work is filled with flame of prophecy, of noblest aspiration, of lofty ideals, and an unconquerable faith in the spiritual destiny of the race.
BATTLE OF WISSEMBOURG 1870. A town in Germany, the scene of a battle in which the Germans defeated the French.
DOMINICAN ORDER founded 1216, by Dominic de Guzman, ascetic in habits, earnest and eloquent as a preacher. A great deal of the influence of the order vanished with the growing power of the Jesuits.
All of us who are worth anything spend our manhood in unlearning the follies, or expiating the mistakes of our youth.
—Shelley.

years' delay in putting these articles on the free list, nor is there any explanation reported as to why the Premier agreed to pay the contractor in gold instead of bonds for railway construction, nor do we find any reason given for the branch railways costing twice as much as the Premier in 1910 said they would, nor any reference to the addition of some Seven Million Dollars to the Public Debt.

To make up for the absence of these apologies and explanations, we are told that "every section is rejoicing in the advantages of conscientious, honest representation," and "that agriculture has been stimulated as never before." It is true that never before has so much money been wasted in the guise of agricultural grants, but the only stimulus that the public know about is the stimulus which has been so liberally applied to one of the representatives in the form of wages and expenses for an agricultural commission. St. George's has a representative of the same kind and the Western Star is kicking hard against such a representation, which it dubs as paid patriotism to placemanship. If St. George's will not stand a Downey, is it likely Placentia will stand a Devereaux, or even a Morris?

Bell Island Regatta.
The postponed Bell Island annual regatta took place on Saturday afternoon. The races were held in a stiff breeze of wind blowing, which narrowed the contests slightly. A dense crowd of people gathered around the course and the different races proved exciting and hard fought. The races started at 2 p.m. and were continued until 7.45 when it was decided to postpone the last two races, including the inter-club race for the Hiscock Cup. The committee are deserving of congratulations for the manner the regatta was conducted, particularly Messrs. Taylor, Maine, Greene, Proudfoot, Squids, Stewart, Thompson, Butler, Murphy and Jardine. The order of the races were—

AMATEUR.
Three boats entered. The contest was even until rounding the buoy when the Eclipse, rowed by the Dominion boys, took the lead and finished five lengths ahead of the next boat. The winners were—Sweeney, Cox; Neary, Snow, Lodge and Butler.

DISTRICT RACE.
Two boats faced the starter. The Doctor, rowed by Murphy, Metcalf (2), Roberts and Gunn, came first.

JUVENILE RACE.
This was a close and interesting event. The Eclipse, Coxswain, W. Kelly, namely—Coburns, Rees (2), and Kent, won in the Doctor; A. Cull, Cox.

FOOTBALL RACE.
This was the popular event of the day—the Scotias and Dominions. The former won by a convincing vote. The winners were—Burke, George, Cahill and Woods.

SURFACE RACE.
Two crews entered. The Scotia boat came back first, but owing to an alleged foul against the coxswain no official decision was given.

UNDERGROUND MINERS RACE.
This was a surprise race. The favorite boat was badly defeated. The Doctor, coxswain by A. Murphy, won in 9.16. The winners were—Ryan, Summers, Roseworthy and Hayes.

This race was a great surprise. The Eclipse, the favorite boat, for the day, was beaten, and the Doctor, steered by Andrew Murphy, won out with the Nova Scotia crew rowing head. The boat came in nearly a length ahead.

TRADESMEN'S RACE.
Doctor, first; time 9.38. Crew—T. Whelan, Cox; J. Fitzpatrick, W. Kelly, J. Murphy, J. Kent. Eclipse second. The boats made a pretty race of this, with little difference. The Eclipse on the home stretch sprung two of her oars, but nevertheless gave the Doctor a hard race for it was only a length behind at the finish.

DOUBLE SCULL.
Doctor, first; time 11.22 1/2. Crew—Ryan and Whelan. Eclipse second. Three crews entered for this, but Ryan and Whelan had an easy victory. The postponed races will be rowed some day during the week.

CUPS WON.
The Dominion Boat Club won the Cup presented by Mr. J. Murphy. This week the Hiscock Cup will be competed for. The races were much enjoyed, and at night a dance

Coming to open at the Rossley Theatre, the J. B. Marcus Company, direct from New York City, known as The Modern Minstrel Maids, twelve in number. In the Modern Minstrel Maids we have together a group of artists whose success as musical artists is undisputed. This season they have played twelve consecutive weeks at the Park Theatre, and four weeks at the White Way Airline Theatre, New York. This musical production is without any doubt one of the biggest drawing cards on the road today. It is composed of No. 1 professional players. A chorus of comedy maidens, whose beauty is far famed. Several comedians of the peerless order as joke smiths. The troupe is made up of twelve players, who furnish a clean, refined and artistic musical production, which appeals to every taste. This company plays twenty different and distinct musical programmes. They will produce "Charming Widow," "Harvard Girl," "Blue Bird," "Winter Garden," "Prince Humbug," "The Arrival of the Theatrical Troupe," "The Aristocrat Show," "The Maid" and "The Moon," "Merry Widow" and others.

Said Mass.
Rev. Father South, who recently arrived here from New Glasgow, where he is stationed, celebrated last night at St. Patrick's Church yesterday. It is permissible for priests of the Maronite Rite to celebrate Mass in their own language instead of the Latin, generally used in the R. C. Church all over the world. This strange, though strange to our people, was beautiful and a large and devout congregation attended. The singing of the choir, under the leadership of Prof. McCarthy, was of a fine order. Father South is an indefatigable worker and pays yearly visits to the Syrian people of St. John's by whom he is greatly esteemed.

Faults in Daily Speech.

(By Frances E. Oliver.)

It came as a distinct shock to me the other day, says a writer in Harper's Bazaar, to read in a dainty, perfumed note, written on handsomely engraved note-paper, and presumably by a woman of delicate tastes, that the selection of a place for a certain meeting was up to me. It was as if expecting to find the odor of a rose in a rose, I had been surprised with the odor of asafetida. This expression is current among men and boys, but somehow, neither it nor any of its fellows seems quite womanly. A daintily gowned woman who should walk down a fashionable thoroughfare in the company of and apparently on friendly terms with a bearded and ragged beggar, would, doubtless attract attention by the incongruity of the association; and slang emanating from feminine lips is no less incongruous.

It is difficult in deed to breathe American air without taking into one's verbal circulation the germs of slang. But if our mental system is in healthy working order, there will surely be found there enough anti-toxin to render the germs harmless. A practical way to insure one's self against the use of slang is to make a list of prescribed phrases and to study decorous expressions to take their place.

The following slang is not really vulgar, and to the speech of men and boys it may even give a certain picturesqueness and color—to be all in; to go it blind; to hustle to get busy; to feel ham; to be classy; to get a grouch; to be keen about doing a certain thing; to go in for a good time; to come down hard on someone; to butt in; to kick; to get a sore head; to bet your sweet life; to raise the roof. But as womanly women leave trousers, short hair, polo, and stump speeches to men, they would do well also to regard the use of slang as a peculiarly masculine accomplishment.

Besides its pitifully offensive lack of dignity, slang is both ephemeral and narrowing. Even a temperate use of slang decreases our working vocabulary appreciably, whereas we should, along with our Ave Marie and Pater Nosters say a few prayers, for grace to add even one new word to our vocabulary each day.

On Monday we might manage, somehow, to use continued and continuous correctly, the former meaning frequently repeated, the latter, uninterrupted.

On Tuesday let us remember that one who cannot speak is dumb, while one who lacks intelligence is stupid.

On Wednesday we may become angry, but let us not become mad, lest we be sent to a retreat for the insane.

On Thursday let us not be scared of cows, though we may very properly be afraid of them.

On Friday we may suspect that our ancestors observed the Sabbath, though we may not expect that they did so.

On Saturday we may find our lost book in the library, though we ought not to locate it there.

On Sunday you may let your friend borrow a book, but it would be a sin against good usage to leave her borrow it.

Some philosopher, who has modestly concealed his name, says that "Purpose is the eternal condition of success." This means that, as we rise each morning to greet the joyous summons of a new day, we must arm ourselves with resolution to slay the demon of careless expression.

The first monster which we are likely to encounter will speak thus: Father does not approve of you going to town to-day.

Now, it is not you that father does not approve of, but the going to town of you or your going. So we should say, I cannot bear to hear of HIS being ill, not of HIM being ill; there is no harm in OUR knowing it, not in US knowing it. We cannot prevent WOMEN'S thinking, not WOMEN thinking; that has nothing to do with MY going; not with ME going are the correct forms.

If there could be a tenth Muse added to the much-apostrophied nine, we might hope to acquire the art of speaking correctly by invocation rather than effort; as supernatural power vanished at the advent of the printing-press, we are reduced to the method of the old woman who, when asked whether she was "hopin'" for the good times, said, "No, bless God, I got my sleeves rolled up, and I is workin' for 'em."

We would do well to roll up our sleeves and attack a few of these common errors: I was THAT tired that I couldn't move. Now, that is never an adverb of degree, like so, very, exceedingly, inexpressibly, and many more. We should say, I was SO tired that I could not move. Another error that stalks unashamed

The Regatta.

Nearly all the crews were on the lake Saturday evening. There was quite a breeze on the pond and the time made were not equal to that of the previous evening.

The Log Bay Juveniles were out in the Shamrock; they have improved greatly and are now the favorites in that race.

The Outer Cove and Logy Bay fishermen had a couple of spins each but did not row for time.

The Harbour Grace Brigade crew will practice on the lake this evening.

At to-night's meeting of the committee final entries will be made and buoys drawn by the coxswains.

Sovereign Grand Lodge.

CLOSE OF SESSION.

With the customary ceremony the Sovereign Grand Lodge, L.O.A., closed its three days proceedings a few minutes before two o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The session had been a successful and fruitful one, and a great deal of business appertaining to the constitutional life of the Association done. Saturday morning's gathering was mostly devoted to the election of officers, the hearing of reports and adoption of resolutions. Among the latter was one of loyal devotion to the King, to be presented through the Governor; another expressed the gratitude and appreciation of the Grand Lodge for the kindness which had been extended its members by His Excellency; another was one of thanks to the Anglo-American Telegraph Co. for placing a telephone in the British Hall for the use of Grand Lodge; another was of grateful appreciation of the courtesy, kindness and hospitality extended by the citizens of St. John's and local brethren. The Resolutions were framed in terms of sincere cordiality, and expressed the true feelings of the members of the Grand Lodge.

The election of officers was conducted by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who took occasion to state his pleasure at the success which had followed the deliberations of the session, and his thanks for the great many kindnesses that had been extended him while here. The officers for the new year are, with but few exceptions, the same as last year.

We published the list on Saturday. Most of the Canadian delegates left at 8 p.m. on Saturday by special train to Placentia, where they boarded a steamer for Sydney.

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW ORLEANS, August 3.

A sensation has been caused in Latin-American revolutionary government circles by the arrest here of G. Raymond Matthews, special agent of the States Department of Justice; J. L. Mott, assistant, and Ernesto Fernandez, acting representative here of the Constitutional party of Mexico, on a charge of blackmail. The arrests resulted from an appeal to the local police by Emmanuel Castillo Butto, former Governor of the State of Campeche in Mexico, who stated he had been approached by one of the three, with a copy of a telegram, which purported to have come from Washington, signed Mr. Reynolds, ordering Butto's arrest. Butto says he was informed $500 would extricate him from the situation. At this juncture he told local detectives. All concerned met at number 1223, St. Charles Avenue, last night, where the arrests followed. Assistant Chief Detective Moon, who filed the charges, said that he found $500 in marked money on Matthews.

LONDON, August 3. The Chronicle's Vienna correspondent wires: Optimistic, though unconfirmed, news reaches me today as to the Balkan situation. The Bulgarian Premier declares that the war may be considered finished, that there is every prospect that peace preliminaries will be signed within five days, and that the settlement of the Macedonian question would cause no insurmountable difficulties, the Powers having reserved to themselves the final decision. As to the attitude of Turkey, it is asserted that while the military party in Constantinople persistently maintain that Turkey will retire from Adrianople only if overwhelmed by force, compensations are indicated by the Porte which would cause it to consider retreat.

LONDON, August 3. The independent attitude adopted by Joe Martin, M.P., for East St. Pancras, in voting with the Opposition at the close of the Marconi debate, has brought its penalty. Martin has been asked by the local association not to seek re-election. He said he will do nothing of the kind. Rumors as to his resignation are unfounded. It is understood that the Liberal Association is withdrawing its support from Martin, who will probably start a new association in the interest of Liberal Labor.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 3. The Russian Minister of the Interior is credited by the Novoye Vremya with the intention of permitting the Holy Synod to proclaim that the Baptists are a sect especially harmful to the State, and, therefore, not eligible for registration, and not possessing the status of liberty of worship.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 3. Denials are given to sensational reports spread abroad that the Russian Government has decided to take warlike steps against Turkey. It is stated that Russia has determined to avoid isolated action. The present trend of events rather favors a rapprochement with Austria.

Bulgaria submitted counter proposals to the demands of the allies at the Bucharest Peace Conference. Bulgarian proposals stipulated the frontier line shall start at the old Bulgarian boundary, run southwards between Kumanovo and Terzopolina, thence between Vele and Islep, across Vardar River and Maribovo near Monaster, then by way of Hogen Goghed, Klish to West Serev, across Erima River to Mulofani. Such a frontier would give Bulgaria possession of Kocchana, Islip, Strumitza, Serev, Kavala. Bulgaria declined to recognize the allies' claim for indemnity or enter into any negotiations concerning that subject.

BUCHAREST, To-day. Bulgaria's counter proposals were presented at the Balkan Peace Conference here and are regarded as constituting her maximum demands, consequently their abatement to some extent is considered strictly certain. Peace will be signed according to the opinions expressed in diplomatic circles on the basis that points remaining on which an agreement cannot be reached, shall be reserved for decision by the Great Powers.

TOWER CITY, Pa., To-day. Nineteen men were killed and two injured in an explosion at East Brookside Mine at the Philadelphia Reading Iron Company near here. When a rescuing force explored an affected section of the mine, they found most of the mines alive although they were in close proximity to the explosion.

From Labrador.

The S. S. Invermore, Capt. Jacob Kean, arrived here at 7 p.m. Saturday from Labrador, and went to and from Hopedale in 9 days, 5 hours, by a very quick run. She had fine weather all through and brings a poor report of the fishery on the coast from Hopedale south. Unless a big voyage is made from that point, north to voyage will be the poorest for years. The following report was brought along:

Belle Isle—Fish struck off. Battle Hr.—Nothing for hook or line or traps. Venison Island—Nothing doing. American Tickle—No fish. Flat Island—No fish. Sandy Islands—A little doing. Griffin's Harbour—No fish. Spotted Islands—No fish. Domitio—No fish. Indian Tickle—A blank. Grady—No fish. Grosse Water Bay—Fishery here a complete failure.

Macovt—Nothing doing. At Macovt Islands Dunn's crew of Harbour Grace, were getting from 80 to 90 qts. daily and would do much better work but for the presence of lice. Other people there were doing fair.

At Sloop Cove the fishing was fair. Robert Bert's schooner, of Westleyville, reported for 500 qts., and Capt. A. Kean's for 300. Pretty well all the fleet has gone north with from 15 to 250 qts.

There is a possibility, however, that on Northern Labrador the fishery will compensate for the poor voyage on the southern ports.

YESTERDAY'S EXCURSION. Over 300 persons went out by the 2.30 p.m. train yesterday. Most of these only, however, went as far as Bowring Park which has now become a regular resort of our people.

Twice Proven Cure for Nerves

Irritable, Hysterical, Sleepless, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Restores Health.

There is a message in this letter for thousands of women who are suffering from broken-down nervous systems. Sleepless nights, much irritability, over-tired, things, nervousness, dizziness and nervous sick headaches are among the symptoms. You may not realize the nature of your ailment until your nervous system comes upon you. But, in whatever stage you find yourself, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is ready to help you. Mrs. W. J. Day, 18 Ambrose Street, Toronto, writes: "Some years ago I suffered from nervous trouble, and took Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which completely cured me. About six months ago I received a shock which again shattered my nervous system to such an extent that I was irritable and hysterical, and could not sleep nights. I began to use the Nerve Food again and was not disappointed. Improvement was apparent from the first box, and I returned to my normal health with from 600 to 1,000 qts. of fish each."

FISHERY NEWS.—The Portia reports fish plentiful along the Southern Shore. All the S.W. coast banks have used up their caplin baitings, and returned to the home ports with from 600 to 1,000 qts. of fish each.

Tragedy at Bell Island.

A sad drowning fatality occurred at Bell Island on Saturday afternoon the victim being George Muford, aged 32, a native of Clarke's Beach. The unfortunate young man was an employee of the Nova Scotia mines. He ceased work at three o'clock and in company with his brother, Robert, and another companion went swimming in a pool which was formerly used as an ore pit. Muford was a good swimmer and it is thought took a wrong turn and sank. His companions could not render aid as they were unable to swim. An alarm was given and search for the body commenced. After an hour's groping Mr. J. Fraser, of No. 3 Scotia Slope, under whom deceased worked, raised the body to the surface; artificial respiration proved unavailing. Dr. Ames held a post mortem examination. The sad happening has cast a gloom over Bell Island. Deceased was married and is survived by a wife and four children.

A Dogfish Pest.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Through the medium of your paper it would not be amiss to bring the following facts as they exist at present, in Ramea, and other places as well, before the public, hoping thereby to improve matters a little. During the spring this district has been flooded with budget speeches, etc., carefully enclosed in copies of the Herald. In one of them I noticed that a great industry was starting on this coast, whereby fish offal was to be manufactured, and to do away with the dogfish pest, as Sir Edward Morris informed us here last year. Most fishermen will agree with me that it would have been much better to have left these fish in their native element, for there at least no small arises from them. At the present time, Mr. Editor, we have about 150 barrels of these fish in a heap in a stage sprinkled with about 4 barrels of salt, and this within 30 feet of the main road of our settlement, and about the same from some half dozen families, in fact almost in the very centre of our homes. The fish have laid there some five weeks and the stench is simply unbearable. Complaints do not mend matters. The A. P. C. Societies are issuing circulars advising fresh air, sleeping with windows open, no spitting, and one hundred and one other preventatives. Ye gods what a farce! How the fishermen do laugh and what remarks are made. "Don't spit." There is no need, the droppings from these fish are sufficient.

"Get all the fresh air you can." Certainly, take it from that heap, it is really laden. "Sleep with your windows open." Of course do so and you will never wake again, except where dogfish (let us hope) do not exist.

Sir E. P. Morris remarked when here that he would be satisfied if his Government went down in history as one who exterminated the dogfish pest. Did he realize that the stench of 150 barrels of these fish, 5 weeks old, is guaranteed to kill anything that moves nearer fresh air than a ground shark in 500 fathoms of water?

We south coast fishermen are slow to take offence, and more so to act, but we do so occasionally, and this is the limit, the last straw of glass legislation that we have been forced to accept the past 5 years. Burgeo & LaPolla will be to the front in the coming fight, and its representative well knows the fact that yesterday Caesar might have ruled the world—to-day none so poor as to do him reverence.

Obituary.

Mr. John Fennessey. The death occurred Saturday evening at the residence of his son, Bulley Street, of an old and respected resident of the city in the person of Mr. John Fennessey, cooper. He deceased was a man who was well liked and was of kindly and affable disposition. He was one of the good old time type of cooper and had many friends in the city who will learn of his demise with keen regret. His wife died about a year ago. His eldest son is Mr. Patrick Fennessey, the well known musician and wharfinger at Balne Johnston & Co.'s, and the others of the family are Messrs. Thos. and Richard, coopers like their father while of daughters there are: Mrs. Patrick Brown and Mrs. James J. Barron, residing in the city and Mrs. P. P. Tierney who resides in Boston. The Telegram extends its sympathies to the bereaved family.

Many Interesting Items on Quidi Vidi Years Ago. New Defeat Nova Scotia Scull Races.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—A few evenings ago I noticed a note signed "Dobbin's Cove," which called for some incidents in connection with the boat races held on Quidi Vidi in the early days of that sport. I think that he will find in the following compilation a very authentic synopsis of the principal events which took place at the Regattas since 1840 down to last year. There are, no doubt, many things of interest which I have not collected, but on the whole, your readers will see that I have not been unkindly of the chief and more interesting ones.

NAMES OF OLD-TIME BOATS. First I shall inform your readers that the races were kept up for three days in the early years of racing, and later it was kept up for two days. The names of the boats which were rowed in the forties may be of interest. The Victoria was one of them. She was built at Halifax; then there was the Ripple, built at St. John's by Samuel Loveys, a famous builder of his day. He had a workshop at the head of Play House Hill, where he built some excellent boats. Many of the present day old-timers remember Mr. Loveys. Some of them that I know to-day rowed in his boats; one of them is Mr. Michael Linnegar, who was a reputed coxswain in his time. The Maid of the Mist, Red Rover, Lallah Rookh, Lucy Long, Gem, Quiz, Repeat, and Ferryland Lass were rowed in the forties. The Lallah Rookh was built at Halifax, and proved a good boat winning many races, until put out of business by the famous Lucy Long, the handiwork of the native builder Samuel Loveys. The Lucy Long was 36 feet in length and was a great favorite. This boat was first seen at the Regatta of 1844. The Gem, built by a man named Mosley, at Halifax, completed the same year. This boat measured the same as the Lucy Long, was painted vermilion color, with a black streak, and carried a red flag. The Lucy Long was painted white, with a red streak, and carried a white flag. ## Old-Time Regattas.

Many Interesting Items. Boat Racing on Quidi Vidi Over Seventy Years Ago. Newfoundlanders Defeat Nova Scotians in Single Scull Races.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—A few evenings ago I noticed a note signed "Dobbin's Cove" which called for some incidents in connection with the boat races held on Quidi Vidi in the early days of that sport. I think that he will find in the following compilation a very authentic synopsis of the principal events which took place at the Regattas since 1840 down to last year. There are, no doubt, many things of interest which I have not collected, but on the whole, your readers will see that I have not been unfaithful of the chief and more interesting ones.

NAMES OF OLD-TIME BOATS.

First, I shall inform your readers that the races were kept up for three days in the early years of racing, and later it was kept up for two days. The names of the boats which were rowed in the forties may be of interest. The Victoria was one of them. She was built at Halifax; then there was the Ripple, built at St. John's by Samuel Loveys, a famous builder of his day. He had a workshop at the head of Play House Hill, where he built some excellent boats. Many of the present day old-timers remember Mr. Loveys. Some of them that I know to-day rowed in his boats; one of them is Mr. Michael Linnegar, who was a reputed coxswain in his time. The Maid of the Mist, Red Rover, Lallah Rookh, Lucy Long, Gem, Quix, Repeat, and Ferryland Lass were rowed in the forties. The Lallah Rookh was built at Halifax, and proved a good boat winning many races, until put out of business by the famous Lucy Long, the handiwork of the native builder Samuel Loveys. The Lucy Long was 36 feet in length and was a great favorite. This boat was first seen at the Regatta of 1841. The Gem, built by a man named Mosley, at Halifax, competed the same year. This boat measured the same as the Lucy Long, was painted vermilion color, with a black streak, and carried a red flag. The Lucy Long was painted white, with a red streak, and carried a white flag. The Ferryland Lass was built by the greatest shipbuilder then in Newfoundland, the late Mr. Michael Kearney. She was to be called the Kate Kearney, but was afterwards called the Ferryland Lass. The Repeat was built at Halifax; she was a poor boat and never did much at the races. In 1844 a challenge race took place between the Lucy Long and the Repeat. The Lucy Long came off the victor. It was a pretty race, both boats turned the buoy at the same time, but when opposite Woodley's the Lucy Long forged ahead coming first to the winning post. The Banshee built at Halifax and imported to St. John's by Mr. Piers then a clerk in a business store in town, came to try her skill in 1850. The Banshee remained a winner here for some time, until Loveys came once more to the fore. He built the Undine, which soon left the Banshee in the lurch. The Undine was built in 1854; she was a handsome boat. A boat named Indian Chief was built the same year by Mr. Holden. The Jenny Lind rowed also. The Undine beat them all. The Indian Girl contested for the first time in 1852. A challenge race between the Banshee and Indian Girl, at the races of 1852 resulted in a victory for the latter. On June 29th, 1855, Loveys launched the Darling called after the wife of the then Governor of Newfoundland, Lady Darling. The Fly was sent here from Halifax the same year. A crew of Quidi Vidi fishermen rowed the Darling in a challenge race against the Undine on the second day of the races in 1855, for a special purse of fifty pounds. The Darling won the race. Her crew were made a present of the Darling. In the days I write on, the Regatta Committee used to meet at Toussaint's Hotel, a prominent place situated on Water Street, in the vicinity of the present King George V. Institute. The latter part of July, 1856, Loveys launched the Eugenie, a pretty boat and a winner of many races.

WOMEN ROW IN 1856.

At the Regatta of 1856, a woman's race took place. It occurred on the second day of the races. The Kitty Vitty women rowed in the Darling and a picked crew from St. John's rowed in the Undine. The Kitty Vitty girls won. Their names were Ellen Walsh, stroke, mother of Mr. George Walsh, printer, this city; Jennie King, Mary Bruce, Lizzie Haylor, Crisette Squigg, and Jessie Needham. Robert Hennebury was coxswain. It would be well if our young men who row nowadays had only half the pluck of the Kitty Vitty girls of sixty years ago.

KING EDWARD AT THE REGATTA.

The late King Edward VII. was in St. John's in 1860. He was then Prince of Wales. He visited the races on Regatta Day. His Majesty stood for a while on the bank admired by our fathers and mothers as they passed by him, as he took in the sights. The Weazel, Albert, Undine, Hawk, Elizabeth and Quickstep were the boats which contested in 1860. The Quickstep was built at Halifax; she was sold by public auction in July of the same year by the late T. N. Molloy, Esq., at one time American Consul.

NO RACES FROM 1860 TILL 1871.

There were no races held at Quidi Vidi from 1860 until the year 1871 when they again came into prominence. The following named gentlemen arranged the races of 1871:—Capt. T. H. Walters, John Meehan, Esq., Capt. Phillip Cleary, John E. Roach, Esq., Alan McDougall, Esq., Edward Kielly, Esq., John Baird, Esq., and A. S. Milroy, Esq. The names of the boats which rowed that year were:—John, Jeanette, Heneritta, Hawk, Duck, Nimrod, Elizabeth, Golden Fleecce; these were jolly boats, ships' gigs and pilot boats.

FIRST SILVER CUP PRESENTED.

The first silver cup presented for a prize at a regatta took place in 1872. At this regatta Mr. Wilson, a playwright, then at St. John's, presented two silver cups and a tea urn. One of the cups was for four-oared Amateurs, the other, for six-oared Amateurs, the other cup was for six-oared Fishermen. The Elizabeth won the silver cup in the fishermen's race, rowed by a strapping fine crew from Outer Cove. Their names were as follows:—James Hennessey, Patrick Hickey, Lawrence Boland, Walter Walsh, Walter Power, John Lewis, and Charles Lewis, coxswain; John Lewis and Charles Lewis were natives of St. John's. John Lewis rowed because one of the Outer Cove men didn't turn up in time for the race.

SECOND SILVER CUP PRESENTED.

The next cup given to oarsmen in six-oared races was presented by Governor O'Brien, in 1880. The Mascotte was the boat in which the victors pulled, some of whom, live in St. John's to-day—Thomas O'Neill, proprietor saloon, Water Street, was one of them; James Byrne (Jim), well known in the city was another; W. H. Bulger, now at Boston; and P. J. Shea, of St. John's West; R. Dooley steered the Mascotte in that famous race.

SQUIRES BEAT FERGUSON, OF HALIFAX, IN A CHALLENGE SCULL RACE.

It was in 1874 that plain Dick Squires, of Broad Cove, in the District of St. John's, gave Ferguson, of Halifax, a good beating in a single scull clampon race. Ferguson having beaten his opponents on the day of the races, was elated over his victory and thought he could beat any man in Newfoundland; he soon found out his mistake, however. Richard Squires, who is still alive and healthy, and who will have three sons at this year's races rowing in the fishermen's race, beat Ferguson half the pond.

SQUIRES' CHALLENGE TO FERGUSON—NOW ON NEVER.

I, plain Richard Squires, of Broad Cove, by this publicity do tender a challenge to Mr. George Ferguson, the successful contestant in the late sculling race on Quidi Vidi Lake, to conduct a similar race on the same waters for the sum of $50 or $100, as may be agreed upon, our mettle to be tested on Saturday next at any hour agreed to. If the challenge be not accepted to-day business will require me to leave town for my home.

St. John's, Wednesday, August, 19th, 1877.

PACENTIA FISHERMEN WIN 1877.

This year a boat was constructed at Pacentia by Mr. Sinnott, and on the day of the races she was manned by a crew from "Ye Ancient Capital." At this regatta the "Pacentia" made the quickest time; as far as I am aware up to then; 10 mins. 25 secs. was the time in which the course was rowed. The names of the crew were:—Phillip Morrissey, Daniel Morrissey, Patrick Morrissey, John Morrissey, Moses Morrissey, James Whalen; Mr. Sinnott steered the "Pacentia."

COMING OF THE DORA.

The Dora was one of the finest boats ever on the pond. This boat was built by the late Phillip Mahoney. Her crew of amateurs in 1882 rowed her in the quickest time ever made until three years afterwards when the Myrtle beat her time. The following were the names of the Dora's amateurs who took the bonus for the quickest time, 9 mins. 21 secs. John Bates, since dead, brother of James Bates, of Jas. Baird, Ltd.; J. C. Strang, since dead; Timothy Healy, who used to be at Grievess; Edward Noonan, Matthew Fleming, William Hughes, known as "Son", since dead; and John Ryan, coxswain; it was disputed afterwards in relation to the Dora's time. The junior fishermen's crew for Broad Cove who rowed the course in 9 mins. 57 secs. in the Buttercup at the same races, challenged the Dora's crew after the races for the bonus money and one pound an oar. It was not accepted. Monroe's Olivette, an imported boat, rowed the same year for the first time. The Olivette was 41 feet 4 inches long, 8 feet 6 inches broad and 12 inches deep.

THREE BOYS DROWNED IN 1884.

The Regatta of 1884 was a sad one as three youths natives of Torbay, who rowed in the Terra Nova, now called the Myrtle, were drowned. Their names were Power, Goss and Martin. The Terra Nova was just coming up the pond but unfortunately she had taken in a large quantity of water after rounding the buoy. The water was going into her very fast and a good top was also on the pond. The Terra Nova was kept close to the land fearing she would sink. However it was not God's will that all her crew should be saved. The three fine youths whose names just mentioned, were drowned; their bodies were recovered in a short while after the accident.

COAKER DEFEATS LEAHY IN SCULL RACE.

This was another famous race. It took place August 25th, 1885. The contestants were John Coaker, of St. John's, now Councillor, and Thomas Leahy, of Halifax, N.S. Leahy at the time was employed at the Post Office with contractor Brookfield. I was well acquainted with "Tommy," as we all called him; he was a good looking fellow and very quiet. Leahy took part in the scull race on Regatta Day, but owing to having broken an oar he had to drop out of the race. The race in which Leahy met his defeat was rowed two and a half miles, and at the finish Coaker, the native oarsman, came on fully twenty boats lengths ahead of the "blue nose."

Knowing that your space is limited, I will only give a few more incidents worth recording. In 1888, there were punts were on the pond, Squires, Burton and Baird rowed the winner. Two days racing took place in 1887. It was the Golden Jubilee year of the late Queen Victoria. The names of boats built since the beginning of 1890 may be of interest. John Ryan, of St. John's, the well known shipwright, built the Lily in 1891; the Glance in 1895; in 1896 the St. John's Juveniles won the bonus money for quickest time; they rowed the Iris. A fine lot of fellows they were; amongst them were Hugh Vinnicombe, of King's Road, The Shamrock built by Rev. Fr. O'Brien in 1900. The Blue Peter was built by Sexton in 1901. This year a crew of Outer Cove men in the Blue Peter covered the course in the quickest time on record, namely 9.13 4-5. This time has never been equalled. As your readers know all about the construction of the boats since the Blue Peter was built, there is no need of my going into any other details. The boats of forty years ago were as follows:—Lillian, Lady Hill, Lady of the Lake, May Glover, Volunteer. The boats rowing in the seventies were Rosetta, Pacentia, Queen of Beauty, Orient, Shamrock, Gem, Buttercup, Fly, Lurline and Lizzie. I forgot to tell you the present proprietor of the Telegram "stroked" the Olivette in the Amateur race in 1882; Mr. Charles Duder was one of the crew. He also stroked the Volunteer in the year previous. Hoping that the above may be of interest to your readers, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
JAMES MURPHY.

Economy Important.

Whether your business is in its infancy or in the hundreds of thousands its records are equally important to you in our Newfoundland trade the necessity has been proven of keeping intact the correspondence of every fall with that of the succeeding spring; so intimately do the transactions of these two seasons dovetail into each other that they practically form one record. The "Safeguard" system of the "Globe-Wernicke Co." fits the smallest as well as the most extensive business. If your needs are limited you can be suited with an economical equipment just as easily as the largest concern in Newfoundland. A single seventeen inch vertical drawer, which occupies very little floor space, will care for over three thousand papers; a twenty-five inch drawer has a capacity of five thousand papers. This unit system grows with your business and solves your filing problems for all time. Mr. Perce Johnson will take pleasure in explaining the advantages of this popular and complete filing equipment.

The broad eash, suggestive of the Japanese obi, appears on three-piece costumes. It usually starts from under the broad, square collar and falls about to the knees, the line being broken at the waist, where it is held in Gentlemen,—I beg to tender you my most sincere thanks for your liberality and promptitude in settling my claim for loss sustained by the recent fire which occurred at New Gower Street on Thursday morning, the 29th inst.

Your readiness to meet my claim and the liberal manner in which your representative acted have greatly relieved me and have tended to lighten the burden which would otherwise have been heavy.

Yours truly,

(Signed) FRED ROSE.

To Make Wire Rods For St. John Factory.

MILL PURCHASED BY MARITIME NAIL COMPANY, LTD. (From St. John Globe, July 21.)

A striking example of St. John enterprise has become known by the return from Europe of Mr. Stanley E. Elkin, manager of the Maritime Nail Co., Ltd. As is already known, this Company's plant in the North End has been considerably enlarged and improved in recent years, and under Mr. Elkin's control has been one of the most successful and best paying industries in the country. It is also well known that the Company is erecting a factory at Fort William, Ont., in order to supply the Western market more easily.

It has now become public that the Company has bought a rod mill at Voelbingen, Germany, for the purpose of supplying their Canadian nail works with rods. The mill was formerly in the German steel trust. Mr. Elkin went to Germany in June to be present when the first shipment of rods was made. The shipment of 4,000 tons is coming to St. John in the steamship Guernsey, and is the largest cargo of this kind ever brought to Canada.

Mr. Elkin found the mill in excellent working order, and is confident the new enterprise will be a great success. He succeeded in interesting leading German manufacturers in the enterprise, and has on the Board of Directors Mr. A. Roehling, President of the Stahl Works, Berhard (the steel trust); W. Moser, director of the Deutsche Draht- und Seilwerke (wire rod syndicate); and also Mr. Norton Griffiths, M.P. The German steel interest is a very large and important one—the capacity of the mills being 40,000 tons a year, and the connection with this Canadian industry may lead to investments in the Dominion.

The Maritime Nail Co., in establishing the works in Germany, will effect a large saving in cost, and will put their mills in an advanced position in these days of fierce competition. An issue of preference stock was recently made to cover the cost of the new enterprise, and it was very promptly taken up.

The mill in the North End was recently enlarged, and a warehouse is to be erected in the fall. The prospects altogether are very bright for a continuance of the success that has marked the operation of the mill in recent years.

The above news item is further evidence in support of our repeated statements that the 7 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock of the Maritime Nail Company is one of the most attractive industrial investments that has been offered in the Maritime Provinces for some time. We invite inquiries for the limited balance of our holdings—which we offer at par with a 50 per cent. bonus of Common Stock. Call or write Mr. Power for further details.
