The WELL Man is the POPULAR Man
ABBEY'S
Effer-vescent SALT

The WELL man is invariably the LIKABLE, SUCCESSFUL fellow. He works without a handicap. The sick man makes enemies, rather than friends—doesn't even get along well with HIMSELF.

A glass of ABBEY'S each morning will do a great deal to KEEP YOU WELL. Its gentle, refreshing, beneficial action cleanses and invigorates the whole digestive and eliminative tract. Gives you health, and keeps you "FIT."

To-day is not a day too soon to start.

Physicians and Druggists have recommended it for years in all cases of Headaches, Indigestion, Biliaryness, Constipation, Neuralgia and Rheumatism.

The Lost Will; OR, LOVE TRIUMPHS AT LAST!

CHAPTER III.

"The doctor and a nurse came down," said Norton in a dull voice, "and you was born. But though I tried to keep my trouble from her, your mother got it out of me, and I think it was too much for her." His voice broke, and he cleared his throat. "You see, I was well-nigh broke up, and I must have showed it. It wasn't the loss of the swag so much as the fact that my partner, the man I'd treated like a pal, had gone back on me and robbed me. Why, we worked together, ate together, sat and smoked together for weeks and months; and I'd got to trust him and to fond of him, after the way men get to like each other when they're alone and working together. It seemed as if something had turned everything black and sour for me. I held up as well as I could till your mother died; then I was took bad. They said I was raving for a fortnight. When I come to, the gulch was thronged with diggers; for, of course, the news had spread, and they'd come down like locusts. But it warn't no use; it seemed as if that devil had taken the luck with him. I never got pay dirt out of my claim after he left, and soon the diggers, cursing the place as a fraud, up and left. I stayed on alone."

There was a pause; the tears were running down Nora's cheeks; she could not utter a word. The picture of the lonely man, bereft of his wife, betrayed by his comrade, alone there in that wild place, with a motherless child to care for, wrung her heart with pity, with a just anger.

"One day, while I was sitting on the edge of the claim, with you on my knee, a sheriff with a body of Vigilantes came riding down the valley. They were after Bradshaw. He hadn't got that hunted look for nothing. It appeared that, when he joined me, he was flying from justice. They told me the story; it was robbery and shooting, and he'd killed his man. They gave me a paper describing him. I've got it here."

He took out from the wrapper a worn but tenderly-cared-for paper, the paper he had been brooding over earlier in the evening.

"Here it is, all set down; everything; height, breadth, colour of his hair and eyes, and the rest of it. And, mind you! though he might disguise himself, there was one thing they'd always be able to tell him by, the mark of a red-hot poker on his left forearm; they'd branded him at some camp back away. I, the sheriff, couldn't help them to find him; I didn't even tell them that he'd gone off with the gold. I think they thought I was lunny, for I could tell them nothing; and all the while I was listening to them I was thinking of how I'd go in search of him and what I'd do when I found him."

He paused and relit his pipe, which had been out for some time; his hand was quite steady now, a baleful light was gleaming in his hollow eyes.

"I up stakes next morning and started with you in my arms. Thank Heaven, I'd got you, or I think I should have gone real lunny!"

Nora stretched out her hand and laid it on his knee; she had wiped the tears from her face, but could not command her voice yet.

"He seemed to have taken the luck with him all through; perhaps he'd killed the prospector's instinct in me. I never came across gold again. I dragged my way from camp to camp, working at anything just for a tin of milk for you and a crust of bread for me; and, wherever I went, my first thought was for him. In a cunning, cautious way, I made inquiries everywhere; but I never heard of him. At Swallow Camp they'd found the horse and cart in a dry gulch; but the man had disappeared. I went to Melbourne and got work in a stable; and all the time I hung about the big hotels and swell restaurants watching for my man; 'cause you see, he was rich now, and when one of us diggers has got his pile, he likes to spend it—it's natural. One day I come across his tracks; a shipping clerk I made friends with on purpose told me that a man like what I described to him had left by ship for England. He was quite certain about him, and remembered the kind of hunted look and the trick he'd got of looking sideways. The shipping clerk gave me the name of the vessel; she was bound for the Port of London, and I made up my mind to cross and follow him. It was hard times for us while I was scraping together, coin by coin, money enough for the passage and to give us a start here. I worked late at night and I got ill; it was then I got this cough and weakness of the chest."

Nora rose and drew his head to her bosom. He suffered the caress, but was too absorbed to respond; he seemed to have forgotten her presence.

"They said I was going to die; but I knew better. I knew I shouldn't die till I'd run him down and stood face to face with him; and I fought hard for life. When I got enough money together we started. Nora, when I see this big place and thought of the millions of people in it, and how impossible it seemed to get my man—well, it's that as has made me so bad. There's been times when I've been inclined to chuck up the sponge; thinking it better you should be alone without a sick man dragging on you."

"Father! father!" she exclaimed. "But somehow I'd always got a kind of feeling, a presentiment, as they call it, that I should run him down." He paused and stretched out his arms. "And I've done it; I've done it to-night!"

There was so terrible a light in his eyes, something so malignant in the thin lips drawn from the clenched teeth, that Nora shrank back for an instant.

"Father! father!" she pleaded again. "You'll make yourself ill."

"I've found him to-night," he said, with an unnatural calmness. "I knew his figure the moment my eyes rested on it; but when he turned his face—his cursed face!—with that smile in his eyes, as if he'd bought the world, I was sure. This great Mr. Chalfont, in his store clothes, with the diamond in his shirt-front, as we say coming out of that swell hotel, going to his grand motor-car, is Bradshaw, the murderer, the thief, the man who robbed me—and killed your mother!"

He stopped suddenly, his head dropped, and his hands gripped his knees. Nora went back to her chair and bent forward, her elbows on her knees, her hands covering her face. There was silence. Presently she looked up, and asked, in a voice so low as to be almost inaudible:

"What are you going to do, father?"

"I dunno; I dunno," he replied, knitting his brows. "I'd got my plan all ready; all along I've mapped out what I was going to do when I found him. If it was in some lonely place, where me and him was together, by ourselves, I meant to shoot him like a dog. If it was in a town, like this London, I'd thought as how I'd spring at his throat, and tell him, with my face close to his, that I was going to leave a hold until the police had got him."

Nora shuddered.

"But now," Norton went on slowly, and scratching the back of his rough hand, "while I was standing there a-looking at him—he paused a moment—"it seemed to me that, if I was to do that, I'd be playing the fool. He'd hang right enough; for I've got the papers which describe him, and it's different nowadays from what it was in the rough old times. Then, a man could shoot his man, do the things Bradshaw had done, and get clear off; but what with the telegraph and the detectives, and the law generally, they can rake up a man's past, and make him pay."

He paused and bit at his lips.

"Make him pay! That's what I want to do." He looked up with sudden fury. "Look at you and me—oh, well, I don't matter. My time's short. But look at you, a young girl, starting in life, poor, half-fed, in them clothes; and think of him rich and well-fed; a great man, a great man!" He laughed a horrid laugh. "I want to change things round; and—and I don't see

AutoStrop SAFETY RAZOR

Of Supreme Necessity

Every soldier's kit must contain certain things if he is to present that smart appearance which is so necessary in our Army.

Of these probably the most important is his razor—it must "stand-up" under all conditions—it must be ready at all times so that he can get a clean, valved, comfortable shave in the shortest time. This is only possible with the AutoStrop Safety Razor because it is the only one that sharpens its own blades automatically.

quite how to do it." There was something grimly pathetic in the admission of weakness. "I must think I must go over it all. Strangely enough, the sudden meeting with him, the sight of him, though I've been looking forward to it all these years, has upset me, put my brain awlirl. I must think."

He rose slowly, painfully, clasping his brow with his hands, and looked about him in a confused fashion. Nora went up to him and laid her hand on his shoulder tenderly.

"You must go to bed, father," she said, trying to keep her voice steady. "You want rest, you must have it. Don't try to think till to-morrow; try to forget this dreadful, horrible business and get to sleep."

"Yes, yes," he said, pulling himself together. "That's what I want, to sleep on it, for I'm all muddled to-night. I shall see my way clearer to-morrow."

Nora led him to the door of the adjoining room. Here he paused and, looking straight before him, began to laugh hideously; then he checked himself, and with a muttered, "I've got him! I've got him!" he went into his own room.

If bread moulds in the breadbox it is probably because there is not sufficient ventilation in the box. A strip of chamolis skin wound around the head under the bedding cap will save the hair from wetting.

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it, and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE ELZLIE, Christopher, Ill.

Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience.

If complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.

The proper care of wet shoes

The high cost of shoes makes it imperative to use every means to make them last as long as possible. Moisture is their worst enemy. It dries and cracks the leather, ruins their shape and shortens their life of wear.

You can save yourself many a dollar by using "Fitall" Shoe Trees in your shoes. They not only immediately restore them to their original shapelessness but make your shoes wear longer and give you infinitely greater comfort.

WAR REVIEW.

Thursday saw both the British and French armies in Picardy materially develop their plans for the eventual enveloping of St. Quentin and Cambrai. The British made further gains round Gouzeaucourt and east of Epehy, while the French striking southeast of St. Quentin brought the southern part of their nipper into a still better position for the squeeze against the town which daily seem to be growing nearer. More than 10,000 prisoners and in excess of sixty large guns fell into the hands of the British during the big operation begun by Field Marshal Haig, Wednesday, northwest of St. Quentin. In addition extremely heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans in the frontal attacks and during violent counter attacks made by them in an endeavour to recoup their losses of ground. So badly was the enemy hammered during this fighting that he did not attempt on Thursday to stir from his trenches, except near Epehy and Gouzeaucourt, and to give listless battle on isolated sectors to the south. North east of Soissons the Germans are counter attacking viciously against the Allied forces holding strategic positions, which are threatening the high ground along the Chemin des Dames which the enemy hopes to save as a temporary haven of refuge in the event of a forced retirement from the west and the south. Notwithstanding the strength of the onslaught the French everywhere repulsed the enemy. Likewise south of the Aisne in the region of Courland the Germans endeavoured to beat back the French, and again met with defeat the French artillery cutting the attacking waves to pieces. On the Lorraine front there has been considerable mutual artillery shelling, but no big infantry engagements. A Serb raid attempted by the Germans against General Pershing's men north west of Pont au Mousson came to naught. And British Inflict Heavy Casualties on the Western Front---10,000 Huns Made Prisoners in Latest British Advance.

WAR REVIEW.

Thursday saw both the British and French armies in Picardy materially develop their plans for the eventual enveloping of St. Quentin and Cambrai. The British made further gains round Gouzeaucourt and east of Epehy, while the French striking southeast of St. Quentin broke into the southern part of their nipper into a still better position for the squeeze against the town which daily seem to be growing nearer. More than 10,000 prisoners and in excess of sixty large guns fell into the hands of the British during the big operation begun by Field Marshal Haig, Wednesday, northwest of St. Quentin. In addition extremely heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans in the frontal attacks and during violent counter attacks made by them in an endeavour to recoup their losses of ground. So badly was the enemy hammered during this fighting that he did not attempt on Thursday to stir from his trenches, except near Epehy and Gouzeaucourt, and to give listless battle in isolated sectors to the south. North east of Soissons the Germans are counter attacking viciously against the Allied forces holding strategic positions, which are threatening the high ground along the Chemin des Dames which the enemy hopes to save as a temporary haven of refuge in the event of a forced retirement from the west and the south. Notwithstanding the strength of the onslaught the French everywhere repulsed the enemy. Likewise south of the Aisne in the region of Courland the Germans endeavoured to beat back the French, and again met with defeat the French artillery cutting the attacking waves to pieces. On the Lorraine front there has been considerable mutual artillery shelling, but no big infantry engagements. A raid attempted by the Germans against General Pershing's men north west of Pont au Mosson came to naught. In the Macedonian theatre the Bulgarians are still in full flight before the Serbians who have recaptured numerous towns taking large numbers of prisoners and great quantities of war stores. Following the usual tactics of the Teutonic Allies, the enemy is devastating the country he traverses, leaving his wilderness through the use of the torch and explosives. In European Russia the Bolsheviks and the Germans for the moment seem to have the upper hand over the Czecho-Slovaks who have been compelled to evacuate Yohk, Simbirsk and Kasan. The success of the enemy forces is attributed to a lack of ammunition and other supplies in Trans-Caucasia the British force which recently went to the relief of the besieged Armenians in Baku has been compelled to withdraw into North Persia in the face of large forces and the ineffectiveness of the Russi-Armenian aid.

BAKU TAKEN.

PARIS, Sept. 18. Turkish troops have taken Baku, according to a Basel despatch quoting a telegram from Constantinople, under date of Sept. 17th.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.

LONDON, Sept. 18. Persistent thrusts by the Austrians in the Seren valley on the northern Italian front were repulsed on Monday night by the Italians, according to an official Italian wireless message received here. At one point, however, the message says, the Italians were forced to make a slight withdrawal on one of their posts. Italian reconnoitering parties have captured an enemy post in Gabana valley.

SERBIAN PRISONERS SOLD AS SLAVES.

PARIS, Sept. 18. The Serbian Government is in possession of documents proving beyond possible question that thousands of Serbian prisoners have been sold as slaves for a specified period to Turkey by Bulgaria, Austria-Hungary and Germany, according to a Balkan agency despatch from Corfu.

SOLDIERS MUTINY.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 18. A large number of German recruits, most of them boys 18 years of age, retused to entrain for the front at Aix la Chapelle, according to Les Nouvelles, which says that the soldiers were ordered to fire on the main square of whom eight were killed and many wounded.

COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT SIGNED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. Danish-American commercial and shipping agreements which have been the subject of negotiations between the War Trade Board and the special Danish mission in Washington, were completed to-night, and signed. Similar agreements have been made with all European neutrals, except Holland.

GERMAN ROBBERY.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 18. (By the A.P.)—Efforts to organize pillaging by the German army and the transportation of loot appear from official documents and verified incidents to have been much more effective than the work of carrying out the removal of legitimate war booty during the summer's operations. The sacking of private houses and public buildings throughout the regions from which the Germans have been driven, has been done with characteristic German thoroughness by specially detailed squads.

BULGARIANS IN FLIGHT.

LONDON, Sept. 19. The Bulgarians are in flight in Macedonia and are burning stores in villages, according to a Serbian official statement received here. The Allied troops now have advanced more than twelve miles and their progress is so rapid, that they have not been able to count the prisoners and war material taken. New regiments thrown in by the Bulgarians have been forced to retreat with the others. The Bulgarians have been defeated completely and the Serbian troops are pursuing them day and night.

IMPORTANT ADVANCE.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 18 (By the A.P.)—General Mangin's army attacked along the front northeast of Soissons today and captured the Colombes farm on the plateau just east of Nancy and just south of the point where the Chemin des Dames branches off from the road leading from Soissons to Laon. A strong counter attack led by Grenadiers of the Prussian Guard was repulsed by the French, who drove the enemy back of the road leading from the plateau of Ange Gardiene to the Colombes farm. This road is less than half a mile from the Chemin des Dames. This success puts the French in possession of part of the important plateau of Ange Gardiene, which commands the ridge along which runs the famous "Lady's Way" for a considerable distance. It also drives deeper the wedge south of the Hindenburg positions in the St. Gohain region and facilitates operation in the direction of Pinon which was held by the French until the German offensive late in May. The fighting in this region has been most severe during the last few days. Prisoners are now complaining that they are frequently left in the front line to shift for themselves. Rarely do their officers stand by them when they are attacked they say.

STRIKE SETTLED.

LONDON, Sept. 19. Announcement was made this evening that a settlement had been reached between the striking railroad employees and their employers.

LABOR CONFERENCE IN LINE.

LONDON, Sept. 19. The Inter-Allied Labor Conference today unanimously accepted the report made by the International Relations Committee recommending that the Conference subscribe to the 14 points formulated by President Wilson, thus adopting a policy of clearness and moderation as opposed to a policy dictated exclusively by changes on the war map.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK.

LONDON, Sept. 19. A British armed boarding steamer was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine on Sept. 12th, the British Admiralty announced today. Fifty-eight members of the crew are missing.

HINDENBURG SPEAKS.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 19. Field Marshal Hindenburg has issued a proclamation to the German army in the field, according to the Zeitung Ammitag of Berlin, in which the German commander in chief alluded to the recent Austrian chief of staff, saying that it does not involve an interruption in the war operations. The Field Marshal adds that a readiness for peace is not in contradiction with the spirit with which Germany is waging the struggle. It is the army's duty, he said, to continue the struggle while waiting to see whether the enemy is sincere and ready for peace negotiations.

EMPEROR AND DAUGHTERS BURNED TO DEATH.

LONDON, Sept. 19. The former Russian Empress and three Princesses and the Grand Duchesses, whose names are not reported, were burned to death about a month after the Russian Emperor was shot, according to a story reaching London. The source of the story is given consideration in some quarters, and an investigation has been started. After the former Emperor was killed, the women were taken to an isolated village, according to the present report, made prisoners in a residence, and were there only a few days when a crowd of Bolsheviks attacked the house. The women barricaded the doors and the house was set on fire. All the persons in the house perished. There have been various reports as to the fate of the former Russian Empress and her daughters. A London newspaper on September 12th reported that she and her four daughters had been murdered by the Bolshevik Foreign Minister.

PRISONERS EXCEED TEN THOUSAND.

LONDON, Sept. 19. The prisoners taken by the British in the operations begun Wednesday northwest of St. Quentin now exceed ten thousand, according to Field Marshal Haig's communication to-night. More than sixty guns were taken. The text of the statement says:—Further reports confirm the heavy nature of the counter-attack which the enemy delivered yesterday afternoon north of Trescaut, and the severity of the losses inflicted on his divisions, including the sixth Brandenburg division. Fighting has taken place today in the sector east of Epehy, and also in the neighbourhood of Gouzeaucourt, where we gained ground north of Gaucho wood. On the remainder of the battlefield only local engagements are reported. We captured a few prisoners to-day in local fighting south of Aubry le Bassac, and improved our positions slightly west of Wylzheim. Hostile raiding parties were repulsed east of Neuve Chapelle and north of the Ypres-Comines canal. The prisoners taken by us in the operations begun yesterday northwest of St. Quentin, exceed ten thousand. We also captured over sixty guns. Yesterday the enemy aircraft activity was slight. Four hostile machines were brought down, and three others were driven down out of control. Four of our machines are missing. Our planes met in touch with the advancing troops and assisted in the attack by bombing and with machine gun fire as well as by reporting many targets to the artillery. During the 24 hours, sixteen tons of bombs were dropped.

GERMAN PRESS ON AMERICA'S ANSWER.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 19. The German press generally, from the Socialists to the Conservatives, regards America's answer to the Austrian peace note taken in connection with the speech of Foreign Secretary Balfour as a final proof that the Allies, so the newspapers charge, seek to complete the destruction of the Central Powers and their people and the dismemberment of their territory. The Socialist Vorwaerts of Berlin is bitter and pessimistic. It declares that the American answer and the utterances of Secretary Balfour compel the conclusion that the Entente will not hear of a peace by agreement. Mr. Balfour's speech, says the Vorwaerts, contains two points which a great many of the German people are ready to discuss and two others which will evoke powerful opposition from every German. The first two points are Belgium and the Brest-Litovsk; the other two concern the German colonies and Alsace-Lorraine. If Mr. Balfour wishes that these last two points should be fulfilled, which would be possible only through a complete military victory by the Entente, there would be a feeling left among the entire German people that they had been made the victims of a robber's warfare.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN THE STORY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. How the iron hand of the German General Staff was extended into Finland through the German-paid Russian Bolshevik Government is pictured in to-day's instalment of secret documents brought out of Russia for the American Government. There are also some pre-emptory notes from the German military intelligence service to Trotsky, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, telling more of the story of the suppression of revolutionary propaganda in Russian provinces after it had played its part in throwing the provinces into German control. When the Bolsheviks were slow about opening the way for complete sway for their masters in Finland, the German intelligence service had the honor to remind them that the withdrawal and disarming of the Russian Red Guard in Finland must be commenced immediately. Furthermore, the Russian agents were directed to send to Finland a trusty agent to deal with Yarro Haapalainen chief of the Finnish White Guards, who was disposed to be loyal to his country. This, Edgar Sisson, who procured the documents, explains in a note, accounts for the sudden withdrawal of the Red Guard last March, leaving Finland to her fate. Some of the Russians resisted disarmament, but they were beaten. A series of curt orders from the intelligence service to Tratsky calls for the removal of all agitators from the Ukraine, Estland, Lithuania and Courland, and for the restoration of rights and property to German landlords, who had been declared outlawed in Estland. Other communications throw further light on assassination compacts between the Bolsheviks and anarchists, which have figured in earlier chapters of the series. A list of anarchists hired as agents for the destruction of counter-revolutionists, include several characters of international notoriety.

FURTHER PROGRESS MADE.

LONDON, Sept. 19. The British last night made further progress in their drive into the Hindenburg line in the St. Quentin region, aimed at the encircling of that town. According to Field Marshal Haig's official statement in a continued advance north of Pontru, they reached the outpost positions of the Hindenburg line. The Australians resumed their attacks and carried the Hindenburg outposts. Many prisoners and a number of machine guns were taken by them. The town of Lempre was captured, as was Gaucho Wood.

FIRE IN AUSTRIAN FACTORY.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 19. Many persons have been killed or injured in a fire in the Woellersdorf ammunition factory in Vienna, according to an official report received here. After the fire there was a panic among the workers in the shell making section of the factory.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO ADVANCE.

PARIS, Sept. 19. French troops last night continued their progress in the region of St. Quentin and penetrated the German positions and took Cotteaucourt, three miles southwest of St. Quentin.

WILL ACT WHEN INVITED.

ROME, Sept. 17. It was stated at the Vatican to-day with reference to the subject of peace proposals that the preference of the Pope is to act in such a manner only when asked to do so by both parties. However, it was added, if a diplomatic representation were received from one of the parties inquiries would be made of the other party if it desired to receive such a representation.

The Good Ship "Armored"

LAUNCHED AT HARBOR GRACE AT FIVE O'CLOCK YESTERDAY AFTERNOON—MISS HARRIS CHRISTENS THE SHIP—CEREMONY WITNESSED BY A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE—DANCE TO WORKMEN IN THE BRITISH HALL TO COMMEMORATE EVENT.

Special to Evening Telegram.

HARBOR GRACE, Yesterday afternoon.

The scene at the Shipbuilding Company's premises to-day gave the visitors the one and only impression that it is a hive of industry and industry that we are all proud of—as every ship launched is a help in no small way to bring an end to Kaiserism and bring in an era of freedom for the whole world. It was announced that the ship just completed would leave the ways at five o'clock yesterday afternoon. The workmen began to wear their way to the shipyard, the company had kindly thrown open the gates and every department of the work was free to all the visitors. A large number of visitors from Carbonear, Brigus and St. John's were present. The workmen are still working away preparing to launch the foremen quietly seeing that everything is in readiness. The British band arrived and played some lively airs. The bottle containing the naming liquid is attached to a cord over the ship's bow; a platform has been erected for the band and another just under the ship's bow for the visitors. All is in readiness; Miss Harris and her escort arrive. She is a lovely girl, well educated and a most beautiful one, was the opinion of all present, and a number of ladies and gentlemen took occasion to be launched in the "Armored". After the ship had been launched, Captain Amosson thanked Miss Harris for naming the ship and presented her with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. He then introduced Mr. Hansen, of New York, Manager of the Steel Shipbuilding Plant there, who presented the Christiania Harnevig Co. Mr. Hansen gave a short but interesting address and assured the workmen that the sound of the hammer and the hiss of the rivets is not anxious to hear. He congratulated all concerned on the excellent ship and the successful launch.

Among the visitors present were: Miss Harris and escort; Mr. and Mrs. Duff, of Carbonear; Mr. Black, Lloyd's Surveyor, who pronounced the ship "Al in every particular"; T. C. and Mrs. Mackinson of the Conde; Mr. R. Dowden, representing the Star; Mr. T. Fagan, representing Daily News; W. A. McKay, representing Telegram; J. D. Munn, representing Standard; W. A. Munn, Capt. Geo. Stewart, of Bell Island; Mr. D. Baine, of St. John's, and a large number of other visitors. Sorry friend Shortis not with us in person but sure he was with us in spirit. The workmen of the yard are being given a sociable and dance in the British Hall to-night in honor of the event. Congratulations to Shipbuilding Company and all employed, and to Harbor Grace on having such an enterprising company settled in our midst. The "Armored" is about 400 tons, and another ship of 600 tons will be launched next month. The National Anthem was played by the band shortly after five o'clock. The water would that all the doubting Thomases who have been criticizing the workings of this company, which is such a boon to Harnevig Bay, were present to see the beautiful ship, inspect the plant and hear the National Anthem by the band. Let him who acts in this manner be successful to the company which means prosperity to Harbor Grace!

The Discovery of Hematite.

We learn that a valuable discovery of hematite iron has just been made in Bay of Islands. The exact location has not yet been ascertained, but the deposit is on a Government block and not far from local shipping facilities. The seam which shows a good width has been opened for a considerable distance and the lode appears to widen as it goes down. The mineral is said by experts to be of excellent quality. Samples were brought to Curling on Saturday, and we understand they are now in the hands of the assayer—Western Star.

Along the Waterfront.

The Fog Free Zone is now discharging lumber at Franklin's wharf for W. J. Ellis.

Hickman's large motor boat Theresa S. E. LeGrow, master, arrived in port yesterday evening from Pouch Cove with a cargo of fish. She can carry 300 qts.

The schr. Ideal, Grate's Cove, J. Cooper, master, arrived yesterday at noon with a cargo of salt fish for A. E. Hickman. She will take a general cargo home.

The Langille, from Wesleyville, Geo. Bishop, master, finished unloading her cargo of fish this afternoon. She will take back a general cargo next week.

The Ellen, Bay Roberts, Robt. Churchill, master, got in yesterday with a cargo of cod oil for Job Bros. She will take a general cargo for Bay Roberts, leaving to-night.

The Governor and Miss Armored Harris will hold a Reception at Government House on Saturday, 21st inst., at 4 o'clock. His Excellency will take the opportunity of presenting certain decorations.

As the departure of Miss Harris may be accelerated this Reception will be the last for the season, and the announcement in respect of Thursday next week is accordingly cancelled. Government House, 19 Sept., 1918. sep19,21

Herring News.

At Forteau, West St. Modeste and other parts of Labrador, herring are plentiful at present.

Adam Crocker, of Trout River, is erecting a herring packing station at Middle Arm, Bay of Islands.

There are twenty-one new herring packing stations being erected at Halls Bay, principally at Springdale.

There are very considerable splits of herring in different points in Green Bay awaiting shipment. There is also a quantity of Scotch pack.

Advices received from Labrador by last mail state there are lots of good fish at Labrador herring to be had at Hensley Hr. About one hundred barrels have already been packed there and are ready for market—Western Star, Sept. 18.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

AMERICAN LABOR BEHIND THE GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 18. At the Inter-Allied Labor Conference to-day, Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, replying to a criticism of James Ramsay MacDonald, former Chairman of the Labor Party, regarding the conference endorsing President Wilson's fourteen points for world wide peace, declaring that no one Labor Party in the Allied countries rejected the President's points. "American labor is behind our Government one hundred per cent. As behind the Allies whatever may betide." Continuing, Mr. Gompers declared, he did not approve the declaration in the Committee's report referring to the United States as the only ally which had stated its war aims. With clarity he thought this was an unwarranted criticism of Great Britain, but as the British Labor Delegates had not objected to such interference, it was not for him to protest. He favored the conference and was glad because he agreed with its construction, but because he considered it the best obtainable from the Conference. The Conference was engaged in a discussion of the resolution denouncing Allied interference in Russia, when M. Kerevsky, former Russian Premier, was invited to speak. M. Kerevsky said he was not speaking as a Partisan or a Socialist, but as a Russian, making known public opinion in his country. He asserted that Russia had not left the alliance of the Entente and said he offered once more his testimony that Russia had never recognized the peace of Brest-Litovsk and never ceased to struggle against Germany.

NO DIRECT PEACE OFFER.

LONDON, To-day. The Belgian Foreign Minister in discussing Germany's "peace approach" to Belgium, declared that the conditions cannot be taken as a basis for any serious discussion. From the details furnished from the Foreign Minister it appears that Belgium received no formal proposition, direct or indirect from the German Government, but that communications came by an indirect channel. These showed that it was Germany's intention to demand that Belgium bind herself to effect a solution of the language question in conformity with the German Imperial policy which Belgium would regard as an abdication of the right inherent in her Sovereignty to solve internal problems in accordance with the freely expressed will of the Belgian people.

AUSTRALIANS ARE BEYOND HINDENBURG LINE OUTPOSTS.

LONDON, Sept. 19. (Via Reuters' Cable Agency)—The Australians have advanced beyond the Hindenburg line outposts and are right up against the main line.

SERBIANS HAVE BROKEN BULGARIAN FRONT.

LONDON, To-day. The Serbians have completely broken the Bulgarian front and Serbian cavalry are advancing upon the important junction of Ezerovo. The front is now 25 miles wide and is regarded as a most important success. It looks likely that the Allies will clear the whole of this area.

"Ethie" Reports Cod and Herring Plentiful.

The S. S. Ethie, Capt. English, reached Curling Saturday night and reported to the Western Star that since last trip to the Star's Cove has been a good sport of cod with hook and line and trawl. At Battle Harbor, on the 11th, there was very good catching, with herring enough for bait. Reports received there from further north not very encouraging. The Star's Cove was due at Battle Harbor when the Ethie was there on Wednesday. At Hensley Hr. there is good cod fishing, boats getting from one to three quintals daily when weather permits.

At Pleasure Hr. boats are getting from three to four qts. cod daily from trawls, and herring two barrels per net.

Both cod and bait were at Cape Charles.

At Chimney Tickle bait is scarce, but when it can be obtained people do well with cod.

Traps set at Quatteau on Tuesday last, got some cod the next day, while by last catches ranged three, four and five quintals per boat, and herring from two to three barrels per net.

At West St. Modest cod is plentiful and there is a good sign of herring.

At Lance on Loup cod was scarce when the Ethie was there; but herring is plentiful, catches averaging three barrels to the net.

Not much cod fishing at Forteau. A steamer was loading 12,000 qts. cod at Blanc Sablon, and a vessel is expected there later. Whiteley's vessel left for St. John's some days ago. He is now expecting another vessel. The weather is bad for fish marking.

There is a sign of squid at Port au Choix, but none caught yet.

On the whole there is good cod fishing at most points along the Labrador side of the Straits.

The Ethie brought along a fair freight and a large number of passengers—Western Star.

ON DOCK.—The s.s. Diana went on dock yesterday morning to undergo extensive repairs.

William Weaver, of an English Regiment, who had just returned from Salonika, had passed his examination for a Lieutenancy, coming out with the highest honor. Lieut. Weaver is a son of the late Rev. Wm. Weaver, incumbent at Bell Island, and Mrs. Weaver, now resides in England. He is a former student of Bishop Field College.

FIRST AID OFFICER BACK.—Lieut. Rees, formerly of G. Knowledge's employ, now of the First Aid Corps, who went across with the last contingent as medical officer, returned a few days ago. He gave an interesting lecture last evening in the British Hall to the members of the Royal St. John Ambulance Association, and told of his experiences on the other side.

TRAIN MOVEMENTS.—Wednesday's west bound express reached Port aux Basques on Tuesday.

Yesterday's outgoing express left Howley at 2.25 a.m. to-day.

To-day's east bound express left Port aux Basques this morning.

Mr. Nelson States
His Grievance.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—During the past few weeks members of the Police Force have on several occasions interviewed me suggesting that I was under suspicion of being a German spy. I felt quite recently a prominent gentleman on behalf of the Government told me that I was under suspicion, and suggested that I should leave the country. I asked him what was wrong.
He said that there was a strong feeling against me, and gave as the reason for the strong feeling that I had joined the Newfoundland Industrial workers' Association, and had taken part in the strike in St. John's which some time ago had caused the stopping of traffic in Newfoundland, and that I had been identified in the strike which resulted in the employees of the Held Newfoundland Company receiving a considerable increase in wages some months ago.

That was the only charge which he suggested as being in existence. I asked him if he considered it wrong for me to join a labor organization if I chose to do so. He said, "Oh, no," but that I was a stranger and had no business to be interesting myself in the affairs of the country.

In fact, I have been in Newfoundland for about three and a half years, and I defy any person in Newfoundland or elsewhere to point to any act or word of mine which could leave the suggestion in the minds of any person that I was in any way unfriendly to the cause of Great Britain and her Allies in the war.

I am an American citizen and on several occasions produced my identification papers and credentials, and when asked to do so produced my American passport which the Police had in their possession and returned to me recently. As a citizen of the United States I have registered myself at the American Consulate for service in the American Army in accordance with United States Selective Draft Law.
I am not aware that British subjects in the United States who have complied with British Law with respect to Military service are being treated in the manner in which Newfoundland authorities are treating me here.

I am quite in accord with any supervision which the Police authorities may desire to exert over me and my movements, but their action in pursuing me up to the present is merely ruining my business interests, and that is not fair treatment, unless there is some reason for suspicion that I am disloyal to my own nation, which is so vigorously fighting by the side of England for the cause of democracy. I cannot think that the cause of democracy is being furthered by deportation being threatened against me because I joined a labor organization which so far as I am aware is composed of loyal Newfoundlanders, 95 per cent of whom are of Newfoundland birth, many of whom have given their best blood and effort in the country's cause, and all of whom, I believe, are loyal to the crown.

If the Police or anybody else has the faintest suggestion to make to my loyalty to the United States of America, of which I am a citizen, and my desire as the subject of an Ally of Great Britain to assist Great Britain and her cause in every manner in my power, then I would be happy if that evidence would be furnished the American Consul, to whom I am responsible for my behaviour as an American citizen and for the loyal support which I am bound to give my Country, and the Flag of my Country, Allies, and the Flag of my Country, Allies.

Yours truly,
O. K. NELSON.

Purge Our Population.

By H. H. Windsor, in the October Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Last month we considered the advantage of sending back bodily to Germany those willful spirits whose actions and utterances were so flagrant our government has been forced to intern them for the duration of the war. It might be supposed that to do so, and turning them loose again in our midst, they, impatient, will still cherish those same un-American ambitions, with a resentment added by reason of their imprisonment.

But why should we stigmatize or restrict ourselves to these few hundreds who have been found guilty in our courts of justice? For each one so convicted there are a thousand whose hearts are bitter against American principles and ideas of freedom and individual privilege. The very fact that any man or woman could live, say even five years in this country and still be loyal to the Kaiser and disloyal to the United States, is sufficient evidence that he lacks the materials which come out gold from the melting pot. He is dross, the pure gold is not in him; nor is it likely the alchemy of freedom, even such as ours, can ever make him over. And if after a few years of opportunity he has failed to respond, then it is evident he is a menace, and not worth, nor deserving, any further effort. He is a clog and drag on our civic progress, even though he may do an honest day's work and keep out of jail.

Now is our opportunity to emphasize what American citizenship means, and to declare unmistakably that any who do not and will not become one of us in our ideals of national citizenship, and share conscientiously our ideals and our freedom, is a misfit and does not belong here. Such men and women are a menace as long as they remain. Their absence, therefore, not their company, becomes desirable.

The founders of this country never intended it as a home for aliens; it was to be the home of Americans, whatever their nationality of birth. It was never intended as a sanctuary for those who wished to escape the severity of other governments without accepting the easy obligations of ours. It was not simply to provide a place where jobs could be had at better wages than at some foreign home, that the Declaration of Independence was fought for and signed. America was conceived for Americans, in the full and right sense of the word, and not for dissenters and traitors. It was not open to Germans that they might come over here and be Huns, either in word, spirit or deed.

And yet they are here, by thousands, and we permit them to remain. How long do you think a patriotic American in Germany would be allowed to denounce Germany and ascribe all the virtues to America? He would not be shipped, he would be shot, and be buried under a pile of dynamite.

We need not stoop to the cruelty of Huns, nor would we ever do the atrocious and uncivilized things they have done and are doing. We never would, or could. But why should we tolerate, a day longer than the ships can be built in which to deport them, the presence here of those who, by their own emphatic utterances, are not now and never will be, one of us?

The transition from imperialism to democracy has been so extreme, these people have despised us and our government. They have translated liberty into license and scorned us for our generosity.

It would not require so very many of the 6,000 ships now building, and to be built in the next thirty months, to bring a great light to some people. Many would then awaken from their sleep of Hunnish centuries, and begin to grasp the immeasurable benefaction of being permitted to live here. And as for the others, they are irredeemable and hopeless, and the sooner we rid ourselves of them, the better.

When one thinks of the hundreds of thousands of loyal Americans, as loyal as you or I or anyone, who, born in Germany or of German descent, are gladly sending their sons to fight the battle for freedom, and with voice and purse doing their utmost, one regrets to have to raise pen or set against some of their race. But no one more than the loyal American of German blood will approve a thorough purging, not only of disloyal Germans, but disloyal anybody, regardless of their nationality!

Send them all away, no matter who or what they are. If they are anything but Simon-pure Americans now, and having sent them away, make it impossible for them, or their children, ever to enter our gates again.

Germany Could Not Steal These.

Trades in Which She Failed.

In the years immediately before the war people used to go about with long faces, vowing that Germany had got all our trade, and that it was useless to dream of competing with her.

They were wrong. It is true that Germany had got hold of a great deal of manufacturing business that was once ours, but even in 1914 there were still a number of trades in which she could not compete with English experts.

In cotton, for instance. Although Germany was making cheap cotton for all the world, she never did learn to make the "fine counts" which are a Lancashire speciality. In woollen manufacture she could never equal the best British blankets, while well-dressed men all over the world still wear North of England suitings. The Germans pirated the patterns and copied our materials, but never came near to equaling their texture and finish.

In 1918 an expert in china, writing in a foreign paper made this remark: "I have no hesitation in saying that nowhere in Dresden or Meissen or anywhere in the great States of Saxony, Thuringia or Bavaria have I seen such glories of pottery as I have in Derby, England."

In 1872 Professor Mitscherlich, a Swede, first produced paper from bleached wood pulp on a commercial scale. The German paper industry, until, just before the war, Germany was exporting thirteen million pounds yearly. Seven-tenths of all our Christmas cards were printed in Germany.

Yet British posters were still printed at home. Those beautiful seascapes that one used to see in railway stations, the perfect reproductions of famous pictures, issued by soap and whisky firms, all these were made in England.

The Germans tried hard to beat us and take this trade from us, but failed. And the reason was that they could not make the paper, nor would they spend the necessary time on the printing.

Predicts Death of a Ruler.

Clairvoyant Sets Oct. 11 for Royal Assassination in Central Empire.

Ralph S. Keeler, a veteran Long Island Railroad passenger conductor, who lives at 107 West 107th Street, tells a remarkable story concerning the prediction he heard made on his train a few days ago. "The prediction is that the Kaiser and one of the Central Powers will be assassinated on Oct. 11 next. And what happened on his train would indicate at least that the woman who made the prediction has clairvoyant powers. Here is Conductor Keeler's story:

"One of my 'runs', pleasantly, 'beside me' in the car she entered and sat down. She had wavy, dark brown hair, and what some persons might call 'peppy' eyes. There was one vacant seat in front of her, and she sat there. She had a rather crisp-looking woman who carried a shopping bag over her arm. As the new arrival sat down, she turned to the girl and said: 'You might be interested in me, and then, a little snappishly, switched the shopping bag to the other arm.

"Oh, you needn't have done that, said the newcomer, pleasantly, 'because it was not in the least in my way, or, if you thought I might pilfer the bag, let me tell you that it doesn't contain anything of the kind.

"Indeed!" exclaimed the clairvoyant lady. 'I suppose you know just how much money I have in this bag.' 'Oh, certainly, I do,' said the newcomer, smiling. 'In the purse inside the bag you have 14 cents, and that is all the money there is in the bag.'

"The bag, however, had a very serious look in its interior and was quite flustered to find that her seatmate had assessed its money contents to penny.

"A man sitting in front of the two women turned and to the lady who could look into a closed shopping bag and see its contents, said:

"Pardon me, sir, but I couldn't help overhearing your conversation and its result, and it seems to me that you might be able to tell me some things. Perhaps you can tell me how much money I have."

"That will be quite easy," replied the clairvoyant, "the man has $45 in bills and 86 cents in change."

"The man produced his cash, counted it, and found that the lady was right," said the newcomer.

"Well, now, said the man, getting more interested, 'you are certainly some clairvoyant.' Now suppose you look in the future, as you did into my pockets, and tell us when this war is going to end."

"I can hardly do that," she said, "and she turned on a very serious expression, 'but I can tell you this: On Oct. 11 of this year a ruler of one of the Central Powers will be assassinated. You will have long to wait to find out whether I have told you truly or not.'

A short time after that we pulled into the Pennsylvania station and the lady of the vision went her way with the rest of the crowd. I never saw her before and, I don't suppose I shall ever see her again."—N. Y. Times.

Household Notes

When lace becomes torn, instead of darning it place a plain piece of net beneath the torn part and overwear. This will be far less noticeable than darning.

The gasolines of to-day is not good for cleaning clothing because these are so much petroleum in it that it is greasy.

After washing dishes rinse the hands thoroughly under the cold water faucet. This destroys the odor of the dish water.

The guest room should always have a little table beside the bed to hold a candle or flashlight, a book and a water carafe.

For salad dressing, three tablespoonfuls of oil, one and a half of vinegar, quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one-eight of pepper.

Small portions of meat can be made to serve the family a second time by adding mushrooms, which always add interest and flavor to any meat.

Old corks are good to make a low fire burn up, and pine needles—to those who live in the country—make one of the best of kindlings.

UNSHIRTED AND UNPAID.—The Municipal Council should remove the pile of sewer mud piled on the street at the junction of Victoria and Gower Streets. It is exposed, and is causing people there much annoyance.

N. I. W. A.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—A letter headed "Note from Mrs. Whelan," appeared in yesterday's issue of your paper, accusing me of making wrong statements in connection with a case which came up in the Union meeting of last week.

The little girl, Agnes Hickey, herself appeared up to the table and about the age of 10 or 11, will go to school; because there is a Girls' Branch of the N.I.W.A. in the city of St. John's, and she appealed to them, as a Union girl.

I might mention here the Mrs. Whelan that is keeping the child, works at the Ropewalk, too. I might also add that I expect opposition from the management of the Ropewalk, as I have had occasion to go in there, and will have further occasion later.

The child returned to school after I had interviewed the Sisters of the Belvedere Orphanage, and who very kindly drove out to the home to visit the child. Their opinion of the child when seeing her was that they thought and advised me to get medical advice. In fact they thought it would be wise for me to see Dr. Rendell.

Might I add also, Mrs. Whelan herself interviewed two of the clergy of her church, asking what she could do with the child, as she could not afford to keep her. I published her school-teacher's letter, and I ask you in the name of common sense, why Miss Margaret Murphy, the teacher of the Muddy Pond Road school, who is a very excellent girl, wrote that letter if the child was at school? Miss Murphy's letter: "This little girl is very smart, through loss of parents and lack of resources, has been taken from school and forced to earn her living; if only she could be left with me for two years' longest she would then be fitted for any occupation in life." Miss Murphy adds, "I am deeply interested in the child."

Again, I repeat, she has returned to school since the N.I.W.A. Girls' Branch have taken up her case.

Since the little girl told us her story, the N.I.W.A. Girls' Committee reached me the school to go down and buy the child a pair of boots, two pair stockings, and an undershirt, Mr. Whelan told the child to go to the Ropewalk and earn the boots, instead of returning to school, as you see by Mrs. Whelan's letter, but the N.I.W.A. Girls supplied the boots without the little girl having to forsake school to earn them. Gladly I went as soon as possible and bought these things, and walked with them myself to the Ropewalk Range, and put on the child the stockings and boots, also informing Mrs. Whelan at the same time to keep the little one to school regularly and I would personally pay for her schooling and her books.

Since doing this, Mrs. Whelan came into my home yesterday morning and asked me if I could get her a warm dress for the child, as she said the little cotton dress she had on was the only one she had. I told her I would do my best in securing the dress, and anything else the little one wanted, and in the face of this Mrs. Whelan sends her letter with these words, "I am willing for her to go to school, and intend doing the best I can for her, and that is more than Mrs. Hare and anyone else is likely to do for her." Isn't it laughable? After the N.I.W.A. have clothed the

To the People of Russia.

"The following Declaration by the British Government to the Peoples of Russia has been published by the British Representatives at Vladivostok, Murmansk, and Archangel:—
"Your Allies have not forgotten you. We remember all the services which your heroic armies rendered us in the early years of the war. We are coming as friends to help you to save yourselves from dismemberment and destruction at the hands of Germany, who is trying to enslave your people and to use the great resources of your country for her own ends.
"But we wish solemnly to assure you that, while our troops are entering Russia to assist you in your struggle against Germany, we shall not retain one foot of your territory. We deplore the civil war that divides you, and the internal dissensions that facilitate the German plans of conquest. But we have no intention of imposing on Russia any political system. The destinies of Russia are in the hands of the Russian people. It is for them, and for them alone, to decide their form of Government and to find a solution for their social problems.
"Peoples of Russia! Your very existence as an independent nation is at stake. The liberties you have won in the Revolution are threatened with extinction by the iron hand of Germany. Rally round the banner of freedom and independence that we, who are still your Allies, are raising in your midst, and secure the triumphs of these two great principles, without which there can be no lasting peace or real liberty for the world.
"Peoples of Russia! We want not only to stem German penetration, but to bring economic relief to your ruined and suffering country. Some supplies we have sent, and there are more to follow. It is our wish to develop the industrial and natural resources of your country, not to exploit them for ourselves—to restore the exchange of goods, to stimulate agriculture, and to enable you to take your rightful place among the free nations of the world.
"Peoples of Russia! Unite with us in defence of your liberties. Our one desire is to see Russia strong and free, and then to retire and watch the Russian people work out its destinies in accordance with the freely-expressed wishes of the people."

What They Say.

AUSTRALIA'S ANSWER.
"It is tragic to think of the misery and suffering which have overtaken Australia, with the rest of the world, in the interval between the King's first visit to the site of Australia House and his formal opening of it on Saturday," says the Daily News.
"Over 50,000 killed, over a quarter of a million wounded: it is a terrible toll for a small nation of five millions. In Gallipoli and in Flanders Australian soldiers have proved once more that there are few troops in the world to equal them."

CANADA'S ANSWER.

"The Canadians have made for themselves an imperishable name in the history of arms; they have been associated with many of the most glorious passages in the record of war, and there is no force fighting for the Alliance which has a richer share of honour," says the Telegraph.
"Four years ago Canada had an army of barely 3,000 men. Since then 400,000 men have crossed the sea to fight in the ranks of the Canadian corps, and to-day it is over its strength. That fact is announced by the Duke of Connaught."

UNITED STATES ANSWER.

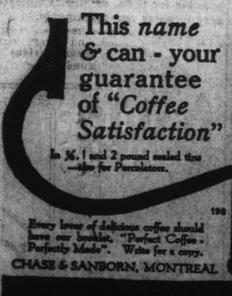

General Pershing now has 1,000,000 American troops under his direct command, as a result of transfers of American divisions which had till recently been brigaded with British troops. This announcement has been made by General Peyton March, American Chief of Staff.

Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C., who had been attending the circuit court at the north, returned last evening.

MEETING POSTPONED.—Owing to the poor attendance of members of the Khaki Guild, the annual meeting which was to take place yesterday has been postponed till next week.

A resident of the small township of Walkerville, Adelaide, South Australia, informs the Times that in a small narrow street of the township, Margaret Street, consisting of only 28 houses, there are at the front in Europe no fewer than 295 blood relations—fathers, sons, brothers, uncles, cousins—of the occupants of those houses.

An Illegal Obstruction?

We desire to draw the attention of the Municipal Council to what apparently is an illegal obstruction on the southern sidewalk of West End Water Street, just about fifty feet east of the bottom of Leslie Street. The obstruction takes the shape of a rail extending from a house corner, across the sidewalk to the drain, forcing passers-by to walk out around the end of it, into the drain, to enable them to pass along. We do not know if this is illegal or not, but we do know that it is causing much inconvenience to the public. Only three nights ago an old lady was passing along there when she stumbled against it in the dark, fortunately, however, sustaining no injuries. Have it removed, Municipal Council, no matter what the cost.

What About These Coal Shares?

The opportunity is a good one. $25,000.00 worth of stock has been placed on the market, and to the purchaser of each one of these shares three extra shares are given free of cost.

This makes the purchaser of each one dollar share the owner of four fully paid up shares in the company.

The company also guarantees that none of the above shares will be subject to any further call.

The opportunity to invest is open to everybody. Get busy before it is too late; no bonus shares will be given after the present allotment is disposed of.

You can't lose. Invest to-day. For every single dollar you invest in this proposition you get four 1 dollar shares in return.
