RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS OF CALGARY AND VANCOUVER TAKE UMBRAGE AT ATTITUDE OF SUPT. J. O. MACLEOD

Alert That He Disapproves of Their Organization, and That He Has Been Putting Them to Inconvenience by Disadvantageous Routings

HE railway mail clerks operating between Calgary and Vancouver are after the official scalp of Superintendent J. O. Macleod of the railway mail service, and whose headquarters are in Vancouver. There has been friction between the superintendent and the clerks for some time, and the clerks had an indignation meeting yesterday. At this meeting things were said of the superintendent which would not look well in print. The outcome of the meeting was a decision of the clerks to carry their grievances to the department at Ottawa, and a committee was appointed to handle the communication with the postmaster-general, and ask for redress.

MAN DEAD MOSQUITO IS CAUSE

Alfred T. Evans Succumbed to Injury on Forehead From the Sting of Insect, Followed by Blood Poisoning and Erysipelas During a Week

REMOVED TO ISOLATION HOSPITAL ON THURSDAY

Had Just Come to Calgary a Month Ago With His Father from Plymouth, Eng., Where They Left a Mother and Six Young Children

ALFRED THOMAS EVANS, a young Englishman of 20, only a month in Calgary, has been claimed by death in a sudden and at the same time simple fashion. A mosquito bite was the primary cause, followed by a week of suffering developing into blood poisoning, and later erysipelas. The death was a painful one indeed, arising from so slight a cause.

Evans arrived in Calgary just a month ago with his father and his brother, who is 18. They came from Plymouth, England, where they left behind the mother of the family and six young children. The father was closely connected with the Salvation Army, and on his arrival here came into contact with those who were at the head of the army. He is now one of the leading bandmen in the city.

Young Evans found employment on his arrival with the C.P.R. shops at Ogden and worked in the mechanical stores department. He lived with his father and brother at a rooming house at 1107 Tenth avenue west.

Stung by Mosquito.—Evans was on Saturday a week ago stung by a mosquito while working on the platform at his job at Ogden. The bite was right between the eyes at the top of the nose. He felt little pain at the time and considered the matter of little consequence.

His father had left him in this satisfactory condition in the morning, and great was his surprise in the afternoon when on his return home he found that during the day his son had been removed.

ARTHUR PELKEY ACQUITTED BY JURY; CONTEST WITH McCARTY FOUND TO BE A PRIZE FIGHT AND SO ILLEGAL

Jurors Absolve Arthur Pelkey, Heavy Weight Boxer, of All Blame in Connection with the Death of Luther McCarty in Big Boxing Contest near Calgary on May 24th; Law on Prize Fighting is Clearly Stated for the First Time by Chief Justice Harvey and Jurors Ask that such Fights Be Discontinued; Judge Says Law is Now Stated and will Be Observed. Tense Scene at Close of Trial.

ARTHUR PELKEY is not guilty of the death of Luther McCarty. So found the six jurymen who were sworn in for the trial of the heavyweight. Yet they found that the contest of May 24, in which came the tragic end of McCarty, was a prize fight and therefore illegal. This was sounded the death knell of such contests in Alberta, and incidentally all over Canada.

This was the first time that an authoritative pronouncement has been made in the courts of Canada on the nature of a prize fight, and it will from now on be the standard and precedent in such matters, and the long decision carefully prepared on the subject by Chief Justice Harvey is of unusual interest as being the standard for the definition of a prize fight for the Dominion of Canada.

Excitement in Court.—There was tense excitement in the court yesterday afternoon, when the final stages of the great trial were reached. This was the fourth day of the trial, and the long-drawn-out evidence, with the constant recurrence of elaborate technical terms, which meant nothing to the public at large, had begun to pall somewhat on the large numbers who attended at the trial.

First in the afternoon came the addresses of the counsel. A. L. Smith, the young defender of the accused, led off with an impassioned address full of conviction in favor of the accused. Then came James Short, with a carefully reasoned and calm presentation of the facts of the case. This brought the court up to 3.30.

Judge Reads Charge.—Chief Justice Harvey then gave his charge. So important did he consider the occasion that he read the main part from the carefully prepared document dealing minutely with the various aspects of the term "prize fight" which occupied a prominent position in the case. This was the first time that an eminent judge has declared on the point and defined with care the words "prize fight," so that the pronouncement was listened to with interest by learned lawyers and sporting men alike.

Calmy His Lordship went along government would hardly be necessary leading the minds of the jury and the verdict of the jury had clearly shown the illegality of such contests, and it now only remained for the law to be exercised and no further legislation would be necessary.

Decision of Jury.—The charge of His Lordship was listened to with great attention by all concerned in the case. At the outset he declared that the jury were to judge on all matters of fact, while the duty of the judge was to present all the legal aspects of the case and advise the jury as to the law. He then asked the jury to find whether the contest was a prize fight, and if so, whether it was illegal.

BOOKKEEPING METHODS DID NOT KEEP UP WITH CITY'S RAPID GROWTH

Lack of Guiding Hand in Affairs was Very Evident; Find Deficit in Water Works Department of $532,000 and Street Railway did not Pay Very Well; Criticize Treasurer's Department and Methods of Comptroller; Find Serious Irregularities in these Particular Cases; Have long List of Recommended Changes.

THE accounting system of the city of Calgary did not keep pace with the development of the city, and became antiquated and inadequate, is the finding of MacIntosh and Hyde, special accountants, who made a special audit of the books of the city. This finding is supported in two massive typewritten reports presented by the mayor to the city council last night. They were referred to a special committee.

There is evidence to show that the accounting ability in the treasurer's department has fallen short of the necessary standard, although the tendency has been toward improvement, "reads the report at the beginning." This, however, was too gradual to keep pace with the rapid extension of the city and its operations, especially beginning with 1909 and continuing up to the present time, and in consequence the work outgrew the system and organization in both volume and importance.

No Guiding Authority.—Coincident with the growth of the city's affairs came the development, in size and complexity, of the city's finances and, apparently, the city had no guiding authority in such matters. We found a serious intention existed to grapple with the problems involved but such efforts were often misdirected and resulted in considerable confusion.

There was a lack of coordination between departments, one department was doing what the other was doing. Despite the fact that the city was embarking on an extensive scheme of municipal ownership in connection with large sums of money, there was no reliable system of recording the detailed expenditure of the utilities was installed and the figures as to the cost of the sewer in Sunnyside and $1,923 for another item.

The rapid extension of the city's undertakings called forth the need of improved methods and some were forthcoming, but unfortunately, the benefits which should have been realized were not secured because the changes were not given proper effect. In this respect the report gives a couple of examples.

The auditors begin by complaining that very many vouchers are missing. They complain that there has been no standard form of rendering the City's Annual Statement, thereby making it impossible any annual comparison of the city's position and progress. The city's liabilities at the end of last year were $1,248,000.

The provincial government will develop a large tract of property, and have secured the services of Town Planner Dawson. Applications have been received from different religious denominations for sites whereon to erect educational institutions. The commanding situation of the city is being developed by the Government house and the remainder residential property.

Meeting of Librarians.—The 1913 convention of the American Library Association began at the Hotel Katserskill, Catskill, N.Y., today and is the largest in the history of the organization. The Hotel Katserskill has opened a week earlier than usual so that the convention would not interfere with its formal opening next week. Many prominent library men and women are attending the meeting.

Offers Journalism Course.—Madison, Wis., June 23.—The first summer session of Journalism was inaugurated at the University of Wisconsin today under Prof. Byer, as soon as appointed.

Complaint is made of the method of handling the sinking fund account. The City, Waterworks, and Street Railway were short on their reserves while the Electric Light department had overpayments.

In speaking of the treasurer's department the auditors say that many of the records kept by the treasurer are very crude and it is evident that those who had charge of the work at that time had

AVIATOR PREPARING TO CROSS THE ATLANTIC WAS DROWNED

Fell Into the Sea From a Height of One Thousand Feet, and Sank With His Machine Before His Friend Was Able to Rescue Him

London, June 23.—An aviator, Fairbairn, was drowned off Scarborough this evening. He had flown from Scarborough and was attempting to make a trans-Atlantic flight in his plane. He fell from a height of one thousand feet and sank with his machine before his friend was able to rescue him.

American Aviator Drowned.—An aviator was drowned in the straits of Dover on the morning of June 23. The aviator was flying over the straits when his machine fell into the water. Divers failed to recover the body.

Some Deliberate Overcharges.—The auditors find two overcharges in connection with the payroll in the months of April and June, 1909, where the city is charged by $100 and $200. These overcharges are all the appearance of being deliberate. Other suspicious matters are referred to in the same connection.

Reference is made to the fact that the city took the surplus of the street railway amounting to $100,000. In our opinion these utilities should be operated as a public utility, and their surplus revenues if any should be used for the purpose of betterment of the services or reduction of their rates.

The electric light department shows never totaled up and their books were found of what the city received from that source.

An examination of the accounts," says the auditors when dealing with the street railway department, "shows clearly that had it been charged with its proper share of overhead and other expenses, the result would have been much less favorable. This is notably the cost of construction of sub-stations. Other illustrations are also given of the other hand the street railway pays for the water used to water the streets which is not paid for.

Lack of System.—Complaint is made of the method of handling the sinking fund account. The City, Waterworks, and Street Railway were short on their reserves while the Electric Light department had overpayments.

The present value of the sinking fund for all departments is $794,142.22, while the sinking fund investments show only $60,847.80, but since December 31 the city has been making a sinking fund contribution of $100,000 a year and is now in excess by $100,000.

The auditors recommend a sinking fund committee composed of the mayor, a prominent citizen not connected in any way with civic affairs and a Trust company commissioner.

The commissioners find much fault with the depreciation funds. The sums shown being less than the sums actually charged to the depreciation bank accounts of the various departments. The corresponding amount of cash being transferred. In the case of the waterworks department, it would appear from the books that the sum of $4,700 had been deposited in the bank on December 31, 1912, but was shown only a journal entry and the intention as in the above cases was to deposit this sum at a later date.

Treasurer's Records Crude.—In speaking of the treasurer's department the auditors say that many of the records kept by the treasurer are very crude and it is evident that those who had charge of the work at that time had

HOLDING ARMED POSSE AT BAY, DESPITE BOLD, IN LAST EXERCISE, TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

With Home on Fire, J. H. Ethel Sends Bullet Into His Brain; From Window Keeps Up a Desperate Fight For Hours; Wounds One of the Posse

MOLSON, Wash., June 23.—Entrenched in a secret hiding place between false partitions in his home, set in the midst of a clearing cut from the heavy timber on the south slope of Mt. Hull, about 12 miles south and east of Oroville, J. H. Ethel, a fugitive from justice, desperate and determined to sell his life dearly, died from self-inflicted wounds amid the flames of his fortress about sundown yesterday, after holding a numerous and heavily armed posse at bay for hours.

Twice during the day his pursuers entered the house only to be repulsed by the cornered outlaw. Fully a thousand shots were poured into the building by the posse that surrounded the place, but apparently none of them took effect. Ethel refused to reply to either question or summons, and shot whenever his pursuers pressed him closely or exposed themselves too temptingly.

As soon as an opening was made, Ethel began shooting, wounding several of the posse. Knocking Ethel's revolver out of his hand, the posse returned to the house. Ward held Ethel at bay while Johnson, who was standing outside, began to shoot. Ethel, who was cutting Johnson's mustache, shot at Johnson in quick succession, one cutting Johnson's mustache, another striking his forehead, and a large yellow pine stump, and Ethel shot at Ethel, who in the dark house was a poor target. Ethel, whose head protruded from behind the stump while taking sight, striking Ethel in the nose and passing through the right eye and came out near the right ear. Ethel was shot about 6:30 a. m. He lay there until 5 p. m. in the sun without food or water. Johnson and Ward kept watch while Crandell went for help. As Ethel was supposed to be dead, Johnson came to the rescue of the deputy sheriff. Ethel continued shooting every time a man showed himself near the house. Henderson Rescues Ethel. At 4 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Sanger arrived from Molson with a posse and 30 minutes later Deputy Carroll of Oroville with another posse. All buildings on the house were fired from three sides and rifle fire raked the building from end to end. This fusillade kept up until 10:30 a. m. when Henderson walked 200 yards in the open and rescued Ethel, who was able to walk with assistance.

When Sheriff Sanger arrived and assumed command of the posse closed on the house, which was in the centre of a clearing. There were two half-acre tracts on each side of the four-sided roof.

LETHBRIDGE WEYBURN LINE OF THE C.P.R. HAS BIG WHEAT DAMAGE AWAITING IT

Completion of Line Will Be Boon For Farmers Who Have Been Hauling Grain 35 and 40 Miles; Crop Along Line Is Estimated at 1,500,000 Bushels

LETHBRIDGE, June 23.—Announcement of the C. P. R. Company's intention of building the Lethbridge-Weyburn line to Foremost this summer, and have it in operation for the transportation of this year's grain crop in the district east of Stirling and Warner, has caused the homesteaders of the district to supply the C. P. R. with some traffic if operations to Foremost are opened this year. Farmers would haul their grain to Foremost, cutting off from twenty to forty miles of the haul now necessary to market a crop. Dr. Duncan is boosting the July 1 celebration at Lethbridge. The committee in charge say there will be over two thousand people present, at Grass Lake, Warner, and every portion of the district will be represented. W. A. Buchanan, M. P., and F. S. Lettingwell, M. P., are billed as the leading speakers.

Three years ago there was a rush for the homestead land in the district which was tributary to the then proposed Lethbridge-Weyburn line of the C. P. R. It was not long before Lethbridge began to be frequently mentioned as the terminus of the line. The fondest hopes of the new settlers were that they would in 1913 be the crop of a district producing well to two million bushels of grain.

Dr. Duncan's Estimate. Dr. Duncan, of Altonado, vouches for the truth of the estimate. He drove to the south of this morning's train, and saw just what good the rail of Thurstall had a deluge. Secretary Wilson appeared at the joint hearing late in the day, and criticized the new measure as going beyond the necessities of the hour. He promised to file a brief with the committee later. He suggested that the only emergency legislation needed was to increase the size of the board of mediators under the Erdman act. This, he said, could be effected by an amendment to the act rather than by substituting a new one for it. He was not in favor of creating a bureau of mediation.

THE PELKEY VERDICT.

The verdict in the Pelkey case, though somewhat confusing, is quite satisfactory. It establishes clearly the fact, which heretofore has been somewhat in dispute, that the events which have been held in Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and other western cities and euphemistically called boxing bouts were prize fights, and accordingly were illegal.

This is the first time that a supreme court judge in Canada has dealt with such a case. This decision will have the result of chasing the prize fighter out of the country. And the country will not suffer by the departure. Prize fights, such as were allowed here, are not permitted in Philadelphia, Chicago, or any of the other cities in the United States, with a very few exceptions.

The jury would not say that the blow which Pelkey delivered in the ring caused McCarty's death. That is surprising. This shows the uncertainty and uselessness of expert medical evidence, which only confused the jury.

However, no person desired to see Pelkey punished. He was the innocent victim. He was playing the game, according to the rules, fairly and honestly. The satisfactory part of the finding is that the encounter, and all such encounters, are prize fights, and accordingly illegal.

Mr. William Macdonald reported as saying that the $100,000 which the people of Canada, who have been handed out as a free gift by the Canadian parliament.

Sir Sam Hughes, the greatest warrior that ever came out of the Lindsay Warder print shop, will be in our midst and he can protect us against all comers. We may rest secure tomorrow.

In Australia the new premier has a majority of one and is in the minority in the senate. What an opportunity for the unscrupulous opposition newspapers to frame up stories about the absurdity of the ramping, roaring, raving, ranting.

George M. Hall, industrial commissioner of Edmonton, has made a report on the difficulty which he has found in interesting industries in that city. The obstacles in his path are pretty much the same as industrial commissioners in all western cities discover.

In the first place, he finds that the local people will neither start industries themselves nor assist in any way which involves money investments. Until local people are willing to risk some of the money which they picked up out of the undeveloped real estate, in building up industries which will assist the city, there is but small chance of interesting outside capital to any great extent.

Mr. Hall points out that the real estate game is still strenuous, and the man with money prefers this speculation with easy profits to the real investments.

"That is unfortunate," says Mr. Hall, "and a remedy must be found before many industries can be induced to come here; now and then one will be secured, but as a rule and with comparatively few exceptions, men coming from the outside with factories or the like require to be met with some share of local support as evidence of interest and faith among the home people."

Mr. Hall also finds great difficulty owing to the abnormally high rents in Edmonton. He tells of a biscuit factory which was induced to consider Edmonton. They wanted a building costing $40,000, part of which was to be used at once and all of it later on. Men undertaking to supply the building asked for a five-year lease a rental of $70,000 a year.

Edmonton is not alone in its troubles. There are serious difficulties in securing manufacturing establishments. It requires something more than argument to get many manufacturers here. They quite understand that these western provinces and cities are to go ahead and become very populous and furnish a big market, but many are prepared to wait. Bouncing is a bad business, and the worst policy for a city. But private citizens who have made money should interest themselves in manufacturing, which is likely to pay, and the city could very well afford to make easy the rent question by erecting the buildings and giving the manufacturer good accommodation at moderate cost.

The Saskatoon merchants will be here tomorrow. They have nothing to learn in enthusiasm and enterprise, because they are about the most enthusiastic and enterprising on earth. They are not likely to fall in love with the city so badly that they will stay here for all time, for they are convinced that Saskatoon is the best city that gets sunshine. But they are among the best in the west, and Calgary will give them the glad hand.

It remained for the commissioners of the city to find out how the city might pay its debts without costing the citizens a cent. It is by cutting in on the salaries of the industrial employees and forcing them to bear the brunt of it all.

If we are not mistaken Premier Borden said when he became premier of Canada, automatically and without any delay the western provinces would get their natural rights. As the original title says that the story vexed the Premier, it is probable that the Premier is in the case, the dentist is probably the true story.

Now if Alderman Costello and the commissioners have such good intentions for the city, they would suggest that first of all they pay the men employed by the city, and begin by showing charity at home. This would encourage the employees to show their loyalty to the city.

First one evening paper declares that there is dissension in the Alberta government, and the Premier will resign. Then another evening paper, not to be outdone, retorts that the province cannot borrow money, therefore the government will resign.

Before election time a day did not pass that the senior evening paper did not have some terrible stories about crises and such like threatened dangers to the government. This crisis was always going to break out in the next few hours and sweep the government out of existence. But the crisis never got working. It never would perform as the opposition and J. K. Cornwall—since retired from public life—had planned.

An amount of that sort of speculation and exaggerated nonsense, however silly, may be expected just before election. But surely there is a limit to it.

The suggestion that the government should resign because the money market is so tight, in London that no person can secure any money, is as unreasonable as the report that there is dissension in the Alberta cabinet is untrue. The people of Alberta have just given the Sifton government a very pronounced endorsement. For a government to consider resignation after such an endorsement would be a reflection upon the people.

The government is pursuing the same policy as other governments and all wise business establishments are pursuing at this time, that is, holding its expenditure down to the limit and undertaking nothing that is not absolutely necessary.

Acting Premier Mitchell makes this statement in a Medicine Hat paper: "Owing to the condition of the money market, which is world-wide, the department of public works has decided to curtail public expenditures for this season as much as possible, as it is not considered good policy to embark on a heavy expenditure on capital account until the money market improves. Consequently, for the time being, only urgent and necessary work will be undertaken."

That is a reasonable statement to make. It is a business-like position to take. The patriotic position for a newspaper is to assist the province at this time of stress, instead of persistently nagging at it and endeavoring to injure it.

A British member of parliament says that the only Canadian politician who is welcomed in England is the one without brains, but with a large bag of money, which he is willing to spend trying to "redeem" a hopeless constituency. But that cannot be true, for so what succeeds Sir Max Aitken has been in the old country and, worse and worse, can we believe it—how anxious they were to have our R. B. Bennett as the old hand.

An Edmonton paper says that a couple of men will race up Mount Robson, one of the most inaccessible peaks of the Rockies. But that is not a man's job. They should go in for Mountain goats.

The Lethbridge newspapers upheld the traditions loyally. The cyclone turned out the lights, but the power out of business, kicked over the telephones and did divers other damage, to the great inconvenience of the newspapers, but the next day, from the cyclone cellar, the newspapers put up their heads high enough to say "it was a fine thing for the crops," which was the truth.

Now we know that a prize fight is a prize fight, and not merely athletic exercise, a sham battle or a boxing bout. That is something to know.

The Calgary fair will be well under way next week. It will be better than last year and, despite the fact that it is so markedly well from the Calgary citizens. Calgary people all should see it twice or oftener during the week. It is worth while and will help along the fair.

Western cities are complaining of the knocking down by one Payne, who said several things about the credit of the city, and cities and newspapers are protesting. Still Sir Max Aitken, the hero of the sixteen cent oats, put in just as hard a knock, particularly on Alberta, and still some of the local papers pat him on the back and say that he and his knock were pretty fine stuff.

The Poet Philosopher
By Walt Mason
A little word is but a sound, a saved-off chunk of wind; we scatter little words around from here to farther Ind. They are such inexpensive things we don't economize, and so the world we live in rings with foolish words and wise. A little word costs just a breath, the shortest breath you draw; yet it will wound someone, or be deemed the heart that's good and true. And it may wreck some man's renown, or stain a woman's fame, and bring bright castles tumbling down into the muck of shame. Your little words, like poisoned darts, may crook the world, or scatter many into loving hearts the venom dire of hate. Be not so lavish with the breath that turns the world into a madhouse, where the symbol of the life above, and of an angel's dream.

MANAGER BAKER SAYS NEW ORPHEUM BILL IS GOOD

Standardville bills such as the Orpheum are hard to beat, and in addition that the same enjoyment is possible in the Orpheum. Frequently the standard of the bills rise above the usual offerings to the extent that these people headliner and the bill that comes with the Thursday matinee is one of these.

The first of the headliners is Taylor, who for a number of seasons has been star comedian in the big Broadway productions. His latest appearance on the legitimate stage was "The Million" one of the Savage productions. He delivers a monologue that is irresistible in its humor and the distinction of being fresh and original.

Another headliner is the Bell Family, who are brothers and sisters of the stage as well as on it. There are seven of them every one of whom is especially proficient on at least one musical instrument. But instrumental music does not wholly make up the program for they can dance and sing a number of the steps and selections.

Of course, there is a sketch on the bill, and the one to be offered this week is said to be one of the best ever written. It is called "Sentence Suspended" and is ably presented by James Keir and her splendid support in the wending out process.

From this large number of ambitious young women, Mr. Waburn selected five to show the first assortment of beauties will be presented on the bill, and they will be followed by the "Winter Garden" the latter part of July.

The "Travelling Salesman" and the "Cyclope" are the two other sketches which they will offer. The "Travelling Salesman" and the "Cyclope" are the two other sketches which they will offer.

Miss Dorothy Toy, who will appear at Paget Hall tonight, the musical glitche of the Winnipeg Free Press has this to say:

Miss Toy sang her soprano songs and recited her plays, and she has a powerful, exercising that facile confidence which communicates itself to the auditors in front of her. Her mutual sympathetic conditions, magnificently satisfactory to performers and hearers.

In dramatic texture the aria from the Puccini opera easily stands foremost in the list of her recent work. Her passionate expression of the unfortunate heroine of the story, "Madame Butterfly," in a wholly different direction, came the lovely legato and pure quality which marked the singer's rendition of Bohm's well known song.

Passing over to another dramatic piece, Puccini's "Bohème," Miss Toy's soprano was used with commendable effect. Here was full breadth of the breath as actual and a wealth of feeling of such significance that might be well placed on the grand opera stage.

The fair artist may yet to be seen in emotional roles she is able to bear the strain, and the strenuous life.

Her group of songs in English were realized with exquisite taste and skill. It seems funny to associate the slight, feminine figure, elegantly dressed, and winsome in appearance, with the many tones of a full-fledged soprano. In all essential particulars she was a masculine voice, and how she produces it seems to have puzzled the most eminent musical critics.

She sang the familiar "La Donna Mobile" with equal to Bond, with a melody which gave the point to the burning words of love.

Again came a fervent version of the "Sicilian," by Mascagni, and another tender triumph in the "Aria" from "I Pagliacci," marvelous when it is considered that the tone came from a slender feminine throat.

NEW YORK DRAMATIC LETTER

New York, June 23.—The theatrical season is practically ended, but managers are rushed with the preparation of plays for next year. American managers who have returned from Europe are unanimous in the expression of their opinion that this is the year of the American dramatist's opportunity, not only here, but over there as well. It is not merely that Europe no longer produces plays adapted to the American public, but that the few plays worth its own while, either. The days when our managers could safely rely upon that source for at least part of their annual programs are past for the present, at least. This spring, going over prepared to buy, they were met by their colleagues with the question: "What do you have to sell?" Unfortunately they did not have much to sell. We ourselves are not rich in dramatic quality. Many of our young men, of course, are serious of purpose, but most of them are young men in a hurry, to whom finish of dramatic construction is a drudgery.

William A. Brady will make an early production of "Believe Me, Xantippe," at the Thirty-ninth Avenue Theatre. It is a comedy that ran twelve weeks at the Castle Square theatre, in Boston. It was produced there by John Craig, who retains an interest in the play.

Robert Mantell will revive Shakespeare's "King John," as his principal play next season. When originally done at the New Amsterdam theatre, the production was classed as one of the most beautiful ever made of the play. A London engagement is still being talked of for Mr. Mantell.

"Romance" is the latest proof of Doris Keane's superiority as a character actress. In the process play at the Maxine Elliott theatre her acting as the childlike yet crafty singer is a superb bit of characterization on the part of the actress, for the author has done little more than make adroit use of familiar material about stage women. In "Anatol" as well as in "Decorating Clementine" her parts were strongly drawn types of character, and in both of them Miss Keane triumphed. It is, on the other hand, quite impossible to conceive her as Lydia Langrish, and indeed the few conventional beauties who have attempted to incarnate in plays such as "Our World" and "Making Good" have not shown her talents to advantage.

William Raymond contributed a slight but admirable study of youthful manhood to the drama which is altogether due to the actor's skill.

Law Fields has secured the greatest hit of his career in "All Aboard," which is appearing at the new Law Fields Roof Garden in West Forty-fourth street. It is no exaggeration to state that the Roof Garden is the most unique and charming place of entertainment of this class yet seen in New York, and it is equally a fact that "All Aboard" is the most elaborate and altogether amusing of light summer productions. The piece has less than twelve different scenes, and therefore lives up to Fields' standard for magnitude in productions.

New York's newest seaside theatre, which will be called the Long Beach, will be opened at Long Beach next Wednesday.

A dramatic stock company, headed by Miss Mary Boland, late leading woman of John Drew's company, and Miss Helen Weston, will be organized in another month. The opening production will be "A Butterfly on the Wheel," to be followed by other comedy and dramatic successes.

Rumor has it that William A. Brady and Miss Toy's escapade as a tenor. "Almost the first questions anyone asked me," said Miss Toy in an interview granted recently to the Minneapolis Tribune, "are how I found out that I could sing tenor, and how long I had been doing it, also whether or not it would eventually harm my soprano voice. Answering them in the order in which they were put, I first commenced singing tenor as a child's game in imitation of my sister's. One evening when I knew my sister was expecting him and was upstairs bedecking herself in his honor, I slipped out to see if I could sing, and I found myself singing a song which he often sang. Then I slipped out to see if I could sing, and I found myself singing a song which he often sang. Then I slipped out to see if I could sing, and I found myself singing a song which he often sang.

The tender melodies of "The Red Widow" will have its next week when Raymond Hitchcock begins his engagement at the Sherman Grand for three days starting Monday, June 23, with special matinee Tuesday and Wednesday. CUSTOMS AUTHORITIES AFTER CATTLE MEN OF TABER

Had Undervalued Cattle They Brought Across the Line; Cost $1,500 to Release Them

Lethbridge, June 23.—Because they endeavored to bring in 1400 head of Mexican longhorns and beat the customs by undervaluing the shipment, J. B. Jett & Co. of Taber, 4th W. Hill, another rancher of this district, were yesterday fined for fines in the neighborhood of $1,500 imposed by the Customs department.

The money was paid forthwith, and the cattle, which had been seized pending a settlement, were allowed to remain in the possession of the owners.

The cattle were shipped across the line at Conita a couple of weeks ago, along with several thousand head being brought in by Wallace and Ross. They were allowed to pass inspection on the papers submitted by the owners to the department. However, it appeared that the valuation was considerably less than $20 per head, which is the valuation placed upon them by the Customs, and Special Officer G. H. Hughes, of Ottawa, was called in to investigate.

He ordered the contracts under which the cattle were bought to be produced, and it was then found that a considerable under-valuation had been placed on the shipment in the papers handed the department at the port of entry. The cattle were immediately seized and restriction asked.

The whole matter was finally settled yesterday, Jett & Co. and Hill paying the amount asked for by the department which amounted really to about double entry.

Had the department, wished, it could have seized and sold the cattle, and kept the whole proceeds. The cattlemen would have had no recovery. Special Officer Hughes has been in Southern Alberta for about a week working on the case.

Jogging Laziness into Activity

The merchant whose business lags in the summer has himself to thank.

To slacken the selling pace in the hot season—to lessen Advertising activity—indicates a resignation which has no place in modern business.

If we think we cannot keep our business booming in summer time, we surely will not.

What a jolt it must have been to the fur trade, when the first mid-summer fur advertisement was run in a daily paper!

Energy, linked with Advertising, has turned the month of January into the biggest selling season for white goods.

Advertising rises superior to seasons and thermometers. The right kind of Advertising strikes a responsive cord in human nature—and human nature is the same in August as in December.

There's no ranting and ranting in your back, etc. No back, neck, constipation, and should not be with a constituent held you good you ought to feel you have over-waited your vital the constitution. That's electricity will restore it.

MAWSON PLAN FOR CENTRE STREET BRIDGE IS OF EASIER GRADE AND MUCH CHEAPER

High Level Bridge Would Cost $425,400, While the Bridge Suggested by Mawson Would Cost $342,100; Residents of North Hill To Be Consulted

THE Mawson plan for a Centre street bridge allows not only an advantage of 1 per cent. in grade, but a difference of $83,300 in price, in comparison with the original high level bridge plan.

According to the estimates of the city engineer, a high level bridge 1,700 feet long, of concrete, would cost $425,400, and would have a grade of 4 1/2 per cent. The modified cost of high-level or incline bridge proposed by Mr. Mawson would cost $342,100 and would give a grade of 3 1/2 per cent. These figures include the cost of approaches on either side and the grading of the roadway on the north hill.

Ornamental iron construction in the bridges would reduce these figures 14 per cent., the cost of the high level being $364,000 and of the Mawson plan $237,800. The estimates of the city engineer, with the city engineer and the city planning commission, have so far prepared are based on a forty-foot street with two 5-foot sidewalks and two street railways. The following estimates have been prepared for the main bridge: (1) High level bridge, concrete, including grading and painting, $425,400; ornamental iron, $384,000. (2) Alternative, per Mawson plan, concrete, including grading, $342,100; ornamental iron, $327,800. (3) Across Bow at Ninth street, West—concrete, $173,000; iron, as on Langview, $120,000; ornamental iron, $110,000. (4) Across Bow at Fourth street, West—concrete, $308,000; iron, $210,000; ornamental iron, $249,000. (5) Across Bow at Fifteenth street, East—concrete, $198,000; iron, $141,000; ornamental iron, $132,000. (6) Across Bow at Fourteenth street, East—concrete, $173,000; iron, $120,000; ornamental iron, $110,000. (7) Across Bow at Fourteenth street, West—concrete, $173,000; iron, $120,000; ornamental iron, $110,000. The cost of moving the present location of the bridge to the new location would be $82,444, or to Fourteenth street West, $85,000.

C. P. R. OPERATING PROFITS WESTERN CANADA SHOWN TO BE EXTREMELY HIGH

Expert On Tariff Rates Points Out That They Are 66 Per Cent, Which Is Twice As High As C. P. R. Lines in Eastern Canada, Compared With 50 Per Cent Profit by Twenty-five Roads Operating in Western States; Interesting Statistics Presented to Dominion-Railway Commission

OTTAWA, June 23.—In closing his general outline of the lines which the counsel for the Dominion government proposed to follow in connection with their presentation of the case to the people in connection with the Western rates inquiry beginning today, Mr. J. O. Bicknell, K.C., senior counsel for the government, spoke generally of the principles which in his opinion guide the railway commission in arriving at a conclusion.

Mr. Bicknell stated that the board must deal with the rate case not as an abstract theory, but must take into consideration political exigencies in the larger sense of the word. That is, it must view the case in its natural aspect having regard to what effect a reduction of rates would have on the future of the country. Dominion counsel would not advance any particular theory, but would try to clarify matters for the board. To that end, Mr. Bicknell has prepared a detailed statement which he proposed to read before the board. This would, of course, be subject to review and criticism by those who were appearing in the case on behalf of the railways.

Mr. Bicknell stated that the statements submitted applied to the C.P.R. and that if the board were to take that company as a standard it might not be necessary to make similar comparisons respecting the Canadian Northern. Some exceptions having been taken by the board, Mr. Bicknell said: "We will have a comparison made to show how the theories which the railways proposed to take that company as a standard it might not be necessary to make similar comparisons respecting the Canadian Northern."

Mr. Bicknell asked how far his methods of computation differed from those of the board. Mr. Miller explained that the C.P.R. as a matter of courtesy had for the past few years been submitting statements to the interstate commerce commission. These were now compiled and submitted to the board. Mr. Bicknell said: "We will have a comparison made to show how the theories which the railways proposed to take that company as a standard it might not be necessary to make similar comparisons respecting the Canadian Northern."

Mr. Miller's statement of the operating expenses of the C.P.R. for the year ending June 30, 1911, Mr. Miller particularly drew the attention of the board to the fact that the operating cost per car for terminal operation is found on the Manitoba, Alberta and Pacific divisions, where it exceeds three dollars per car. On the other hand, on the eastern divisions the cost per car is considerably less than two dollars.

Mr. Miller then put in a statement showing that the gross operating profit on 25 roads operating in the eastern states in 1911 was $2,888 per cent. In 1912, $2,434 per cent. In 1913, $2,131 per cent. The C.P.R. western divisions showed gross operating profits in 1911 of 19.1 per cent. In 1912, 18.1 per cent. In 1913, 17.1 per cent.

WITHOUT WATER AND SUPPLIES, COMMANDER OF MEXICAN FEDERALS IN DESPERATE PLIGHT

General Ojeda, With 4,000 Troops, Will Probably Be Taken By the Rebels; Birdman, With Bombs, Forces Gunboats Out To Sea

NOGALES, Ariz., June 21.—Reports here today were that the constitutionalists had driven General Ojeda and his 4,000 federals from the town of Santa Rosa, some miles north of Nogales. Without water and supplies, the federal commander is reported tonight to be in a desperate condition. Fifteen hundred rebels under Colonel Alvarado have gained Ojeda's rear, according to a report to the Mexican consul here. The consul also confirmed the report that Colonel Barron, who commanded the federals in the first battle near Santa Rosa several days ago, had been killed.

General Salazar Forfeits $100,000. San Antonio, Tex., June 21.—General Jose Inez Salazar, ex-rebel commander, now a federal, forfeited a cash bond of $100,000 today when he failed to appear for preliminary hearing in district court here on a charge of violating the neutrality law. Salazar is still in Juarez.

Survey Boat Capsizes; 14 Engineers in the Employ of United States, Are Drowned. New Madrid Mo., June 23.—Nine members of a party of 14 United States engineers and other government employees were drowned near New Madrid, Mo., late today when the United States survey boat Beaver, which the party was aboard, was capsized in a windstorm. These drowned are: C. S. Williamson, chief engineer, Mason, Ohio; J. M. McConnell, of Memphis, Tenn.; Harry Scherell, master, Cottonwood, Tenn.; Phil Wray, Jackson, Tenn.; Fredman, two road men, names unknown. The Beaver, a small craft of the canal boat type, left Memphis yesterday for Snaky river, about seven miles north of New Madrid, where a survey was to be made preliminarily to the construction of embankments. The boat had proceeded to a point about four miles above the city, and was in mid-stream when the storm broke with but little warning. Before the craft could be made ready to face the wind it was overturned and sank. The men drowned presumably were caught in the wreckage and drawn down with it. Williamson's body floated to the surface within an hour.

Snaky Bend is in a remote section, and until the return of the boats sent from this city further details are improbable. Hewitt Will Die. Ascot, Eng., June 23.—Harold Hewitt, who attempted to break up the Gold Cup race, has not rallied from the tremendous operation performed upon his fractured skull and probably will die. Physicians say he has only a slight chance of recovery.
