RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY TRADE BOARD

HOPE IS EXPRESSED SOLUTION SOON FOR MARITIME PROBLEMS

Encouragement of Immigration Urged; Development of Coal Resources Recommended; Selection of Permanent Name Left to Referendum

A DOZEN resolutions, crystallizing the work which had been taken up during the last two days, were taken up and passed at the first annual meeting of the Canadian Board of Trade at the Admiral Beatty Hotel here this morning.

Colvin B. Brown, manager, Organization Service, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was the speaker at the noon luncheon, his subject being the development of the organization.

Members from each province in Canada were named as additional members of the executive, with the exception of that for Saskatchewan, which was deferred until later.

Co-Operative Spirit of Meet Commended

THE co-operative spirit which permeated the last day of the Winnipeg conference last year has been evident all through the sessions here," said S. B. Gundy, president of the Canadian Board of Trade, just prior to the opening of the last day's sittings this morning.

Among the resolutions passed was one which commended the action of the Canadian Government in appointing the Duncan Commission to study and report on economic conditions in the Maritime Provinces, and which expressed the hope that a solution satisfactory to the Maritimers would result.

Urging a thorough investigation into cost of government and stressing the need for economy in all public undertakings.

Recommending to the government the advisability of the establishment of national research laboratories and urging support of the National Research Council.

Recommending the amendment of the regulations covering automobile tourists so as to permit free entry and circulation for 90 days, instead of one month, as at present.

Urging a country-wide celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Canadian Confederation and suggesting that the Dominion Government express its Majesties The King and Queen the hope that they will visit Canada during the celebration.

Recommending that the members of the board assist in the relief of the "little trade of Canada"; Favoring government effort in the development of coal and coke industries to establish the use of Canadian coals in Canada.

Urging support of the policy of patronizing Canadian industries and production.

CONSTITUTION CONSIDERED. At the opening of the session the meeting went into committee and discussed the constitution. The first clause covered the name of the body which was suggested as "The Canadian Board of Trade".

It was also decided that the executive be empowered to name a Transportation Committee, with C. P. W. Schweneger of Victoria, as chairman, to take up the many questions coming under this head.

J. E. Birch of Alberton, P. E. I., who complained of the difference between the tolls charged on the ferry from Cape Tormentine to P. E. I., and the toll on automobiles from Fido, was asked to present his case to the transportation committee.

Scared Burglar Leaves Explosive Charge In Safe

Now Plant's Closed and Boss Transacting Business in Auto

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 21.—The big steel safe at the office of a local coal company remains unopened, and in the same condition as it was last Saturday night when a burglar, after preparing to blow it open, was disturbed by police and left the large receptacle packed with nitroglycerine.

AN AMUSING feature of the case is that the firm has been warned to keep the safe cool, and consequently no fires are allowed in the building, and with thousands of tons of coal just outside the door, employees were sent home as it was too cold to work inside.

Shields, pastor of Jarvis street Baptist church, here last night in answer to the resolution passed by the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec yesterday, that he must either apologize for his attacks on McMaster College for alleged modernistic teachings, or resign from its board of governors.

OBJECTION SEEN FROM DOMINIONS

Premiers Doubtfully Divided On Locarno Pact

By C. F. CRANDALL, Pres. British United Press Exclusive to The Times-Star

LONDON, Oct. 21.—What foreign policy mysteries, if any, Sir Austen Chamberlain revealed to the Overseas Premiers yesterday, when for an hour or so he took off his old diplomatic ivory mask, is still a dark secret. The morning papers only print the official "handout," not half as much as the British United Press was able to send yesterday.

The main point of the Dominion's objection is the implication that in case of aggression the guarantor powers are automatically involved in hostilities even before the League Council has an opportunity to consider the trouble. In other words, what is feared is the creation of a smaller but dynamic super-league.

HERTZOG ABSENT.

It is significant that Hertzog was not present at the banquet, and it is believed that he is on his way to the United States.

THE WEATHER

importance that our population be immediately augmented. Therefore be it resolved that the attention of the Federal Government be directed to the following recommendations:

1-That the medical examination system is unduly restrictive and should be altered, and the application should be entirely relieved from the cost of such service.

2-That present requirement that an unaccompanied woman paying her full fare shall secure a sailing permit is neither necessary nor wise.

3-That any existing administrative restriction tending to deter or unduly delay the entry into Canada of suitable immigrants should be cancelled.

4-That with the object of furthering the immigration of the Dominion Government should either financially aid in the establishment of training or testing stations for family men, boys or domestics, or pay a per capita amount for any persons so trained, accepted for immigration to Canada.

5-That the order in council affecting the movement of colonists (P. C. 138) should be amended to include the following: "Provided that the Minister may by departmental regulation define certain countries from which immigrants of the classes mentioned in paragraphs 1, 2, 3 and 4 and others may be admitted, subject to compliance with the provisions of the Immigration Act."

6-That the work of the Federal Department of Immigration should include active propaganda in the preferred countries of Europe and further effort to stimulate the movement of settlers from the United States.

7-That the government of Canada should use its influence to secure the reduction of the ocean rate for all overseas people of the agricultural class who are otherwise acceptable for settlement in Canada.

8-That realizing the value and importance of attracting an increasing number of desirable immigrants, the Dominion Government should make such increased appropriations for immigration as will be more commensurate with the economic value of the new citizens to the Dominion.

9-That each delegate to this Annual Meeting be requested, on his return home, to devote time and effort towards interesting his local board in the cordial reception of the new immigrant, and to endeavor to secure the appointment by such local board of an active colonization committee to assist in the settlement of immigrants, to the end that permanent residents may be increased.

10-That a standing committee on immigration be appointed by the executive, these five to be empowered to add to the committee one representative from each province not already represented in the five originally elected or appointed.

11-It is suggested that the permanent committee, when created, shall make a special examination of the Australian plan for the information of this board.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Whereas, the present Federal Income Tax as well as certain provincial and municipal taxes are a deterrent to investment in development and industrial enterprises.

Therefore be it resolved, that the Executive of the Canadian Board of Trade be asked to study the proceedings of this convention, and by means of representation by delegations or otherwise to the various taxing authorities secure such modifications of our laws and the regulations under which such laws are administered as will as soon as possible place this country in a position of pre-eminence with the investor at home and abroad.

NATIONAL FOREIGN TRADE CONFERENCE

Resolved, that this convention of the Canadian Board of Trade reaffirms its resolution passed at Winnipeg last year in favor of the formation of a National Foreign Trade Conference for Canada and that an invitation be extended to all interested organizations to co-operate in the calling of such a conference.

MARITIME PROVINCES PROBLEMS

Resolved, that this Canadian Board of Trade commend the action of the Dominion Government in appointing the Duncan Commission for examination of and report upon the economic conditions of the Maritime Provinces, and expresses the hope that any solution satisfactory to the Maritime Provinces may be the result.

COST OF GOVERNMENT

Whereas the general prosperity of the country should be the aim of all citizens and governments, and as this objective cannot be successfully achieved without definite plans being adopted with this purpose in view.

And whereas economy in public expenditures, thrift among our citizens and increased production by our industry are basic factors in the elements which create general prosperity.

Therefore be it resolved, that the Canadian Board of Trade recommend to our governing bodies and to the citizens of Canada the adoption of the following resolutions:

1-The practical recognition of the need for economy by all public bodies spending public monies raised by taxes or otherwise.

2-Expert examination by our governing bodies of Government expenditures with the object of eliminating wasteful expenditure of public monies.

3-A determined effort by our Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments to secure reliable information which will enable and justify the curbing of unnecessary expenditures.

DELAY ATTITUDE

CELEBRATION OF CANADIAN CONFEDERATION

Whereas, 1927 marks the sixtieth anniversary of Canadian Confederation, an event which should be commemorated by suitable celebrations throughout the length and breadth of this Dominion.

CANADIAN CATTLE TRADE

And whereas considerable progress has been made in the development of the coal industry in Canada.

THE EVENING TIMES-STAR, SAINT JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1926

POLICE FORCE OF NEW YORK TO INCREASE 1,000

Board of Estimates Provides Money for Additional Patrolmen

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Board of Estimate has provided for the addition of 1,000 patrolmen to the city's police force January 1. It was announced by Mayor Walker at the close of the meeting that an appropriation of $1,769,000 had been voted for that purpose.

Police Commissioner McLaughlin had asked for 2,654 patrolmen, which would have cost the city $4,694,000. In addition, Mr. McLaughlin was granted 20 new lieutenants at a cost of $68,000 and four new inspectors to cost $19,000.

TOTAL $4,711,111.

The Police Department had already been allowed a boost of $2,547,334 in the tentative budget over last year's allowance. With the additional increase just granted the department's budget for 1927 has thus been jumped to a total of $4,711,111 as against $3,930,177 for 1926.

"Commissioner McLaughlin desired to have 1,000 men in the police school by November 1," said Mayor Walker, "in order to have them on the streets by January 1, but this obviously could not be done because the new budget does not go into effect until January 1. The commissioner agreed at the meeting not to open any of the new station houses he had planned."

It was also announced by the Mayor that the board had added $172,000 to the allowances of the Health Department, making the total increases granted to this department $227,000, and its 1927 budget $6,119,244. The Health Department's 1926 budget was $5,791,744.

The board officially voted Dr. Louis I. Harris, the health commissioner, 75 new food and milk inspectors.

Relieved Mind

Once the Monument is ordered, there comes a relief and satisfaction that we stopped our delay in time and got everything over and done with. For it is a fact of human experience that oft repeated promises become in time mere excuses for lapses. However good one's intentions, they slacken with each postponement of action until finally they fade into forgetfulness.

And when the subject of our Memories is as precious as this, the pain of later years, in looking backward, is all the keener.

So when we avoid it all by early ordering, we have much cause for consolation.

LIFE OF EUGENE V. DEBS CLOSES IN SANTARUM

Socialist Leader Had Been Prisoner; Several Times Sought U. S. Presidency

CHICAGO, Oct. 21—Eugene V. Debs, U. S. Socialist leader, died last night in a sanitarium here, where he had retired after a nervous breakdown.

WAS 71 YEARS OLD

Eugene V. Debs, leader of the Socialist party in America and five times its nominee for the presidency, was dominated by two important factors in life.

A native of Terre Haute, Ind., born on November 3, 1855, he remained a resident of that city and obtained his first railroad position, locomotive fireman, on the Terre Haute and Indianapolis railroad working from 1871 to 1874.

Debs first came under the political searchlight in 1878, when he was elected to the Indiana legislature, where he was charged with conspiracy but was acquitted.

FRIEND OF FELLOW MEN

Debs had been a friend of every unlovable wreck he could help and helped them in their misery. He never broke a prison rule. He transformed a dank, dreary, retrograde "lifer" into an exemplary prisoner.

FOR PRESIDENCY

In 1900, his first campaign for the U. S. presidency, he polled 87,814 votes; in 1912, 901,872 and in 1920 nearly 1,000,000. And so his popularity grew. Undaunted by a penitentiary sentence, the Socialist party nominated him as its standard bearer while he was a prisoner in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., serving a ten year sentence for violation of the Espionage Act.

The Kitty-Katy Letters

Confidential Communications Between Two Charming Girls—Friends—One Married

DEAR KITTY—

I told Jack what Tom had said about him and Jack was very much pleased. Honestly, Kitty, Jack is a dear. He is so courteous and thoughtful and I am mighty proud of him.

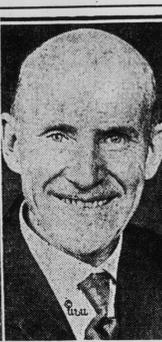

Although I remembered your advice about shopping here in Saint John, Jack and I were in Calais yesterday. Jack had some business matter to look after and while I was waiting for him, I killed time by looking around the stores.

I saw a beautiful dress of Canton crepe and a coat of blue serge trimmed with Kolinsky fur which was very attractive. But I have seen very similar things here in Saint John stores and in the items I could remember, the Saint John prices were about the same.

Jack's father is going to present us with a whole house full of furniture which we must select. Does your advice hold good when it comes to furniture buying too?

Lovingly yours, KATY (Reply in Times-Star Tomorrow)

NEW LEADER ONCE CRICKET PLAYER

Hon. Hugh Guthrie Once Was One of Stars of the Game in Ontario

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the new leader of the Conservative party, was a well-known cricketer in days gone by and an old-timer recalls some of his feats on the crease.

He was then a member of the Galt Bar. He scored 16 against Brantford and 12 against Toronto. In 1885, for Galt against Listowel, he made 6 and 32—in the Listowel eleven at that time there was no less than four batsmen in Philadelphia and while facing some of the crack bowlers of that city, he hit up 37 for the visiting Canucks, following that feat with 17 and 37 for the Canadian Zingari against Staten Island.

Republican Gov't Has No Power; Militarism Blamed

By RANDALL GOULD United Press Staff Correspondent

PEKING, Oct. 21—Flourishing militaristic domination, China appears at the present time to have sunk as far as is possible from the Occidental concepts of central repressive government with which she bravely started in 1912.

In Peking there are many fine governmental buildings, occupied by a municipal clerk and minor officials. But effective authority there is none, save what can be exercised at the point of a bayonet.

The Misguided Parents Who Wrongly Opened Their Son's Mail—What Can a Married Woman Do Whose Husband Simply Announces He Has Tired of Her?—At What Age Should a Man Marry?

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a son of 17 who went away from home to pay a visit. After he returned he received a letter in a girl's handwriting, and I steamed it open and read it. It began, "My darling baby angel boy," and was full of such slushy sentiment that I showed it to my husband, and we decided not to give it to our son. So when he inquired if there was any mail for him we said "No," and he seemed terribly disappointed. Don't you think we did right in keeping this sort of letter from a boy of his age? MRS. A.

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER:

No, indeed. I think you did a wrong thing and a most terribly unwise thing, for sooner or later your son will find out that you opened his letter and read it and lied to him, and in his heart of hearts he will never forgive you for it. With your own hands you have toppled over the altar on which he has enshrined you in his soul, and it can never be built up again. Nevertheless, he will see you again as God's child, and he will secretly despise you as two persons who will stoop to doing unbecomingly and then lie about them.

And it is a sad day for a boy and a sadder one for his parents when that happens, and his ideal of them is smashed into smithereens. Most fathers and mothers consider that they have a right to open their children's letters before the children read them. They contend that they have a right to know what sort of letters their children are receiving, but those who hold to this opinion should at least be honest and confessing, but those who hold to this opinion should at least be honest and confessing, but those who hold to this opinion should at least be honest and confessing.

Personally, I am strongly opposed to parents opening and reading their children's letters. I think that whatever little good mother and father may do as censors is as nothing to the harm they do in putting their children's sense of individual liberty and privacy.

Somehow, a letter is one of the most sacred of all things. It is a message straight from one individual to another, from one heart to another. It is not intended for the general public, nor to be read by alien eyes, and there is no one who does not feel a sense of resentment at having some one else tamper with his or her mail. And young people feel this even more than grown-ups.

Dealing with half-grown boys and girls is a series of compromises. You cannot use strong-arm methods with them. You must handle them with velvet gloves. And it is far better to let them do many things of which you do not entirely approve than it is to forbid their confidence by putting the taboo on too many things. For parents may be very sure of this: that if they are too strict with their children and keep too close a watch upon them their children will deceive them and do on the sly the things they are not permitted to do openly.

And parents do well to regard humorously instead of tragically the slushy sentimental twaddle that boys and girls write to each other. It literally means nothing. It belongs to that time of life when we all try to write poetry and when we put down on good, white paper passionate vows and desperate yearnings just because they sound grand and high-faluting.

Let us not judge the boys and girls who write this stuff too severely, because we have all done it when we were in our teens. And we got over it and made respectable, commonplace men and women.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman of 30 with a child of 4. My husband tells me that he has no fault to find with me, that I have been a good wife and easy to get along with, but that he finds he is tired of me and that he would like to get away from me. He is willing to divide what he wants to be free, and he begs me to divorce him. What shall I do? What he has with me and the child, but it isn't much. What shall I do? I have thought of taking a commercial course and fitting myself to be self-sustaining. Don't you think that is the best thing for me to do, as I can see no good in hanging on to a man who doesn't want me? MARY C.

ANSWER: It seems to me that the wisest thing you can do is simply to recognize that the game is played out and go to work and build a good living for yourself and your child. The type of man to count on your husband long supporting it. The type of man to which he belongs has no sense of moral obligations, and he will soon find that he needs all of the money he can make for his own pleasure.

It is a cruel deal that a man gives a woman when he marries her when she is young and gay and free and pretty, amuses himself with her until he is tired of her and then chucks her away as he would a toy of which he had wearied. He has taken the ten crucial years of her life, the years in which she would either have married some other man who would have given her a good home and a settled life or else in which she would have established herself in some gainful occupation.

He has blocked her opportunity in life, and he should, in honor, feel bound to make good to her what she has given up for him, for it is hard for a woman of 30 to reverse all her habits of life and thought and to start in and learn a new trade and compete with girls who are ten and twelve years younger than she. That is why the deserted wife is entitled to alimony and she is strictly within her rights if she drives the hardest bargain with her faithless husband that she can and makes him pay through the nose for his liberty.

But when a man is tired of his wife and wants to be rid of her she gains nothing by hanging on to him with a death grip. He will hate her more and more, and she will only fill her life with anxiety and jealousies and bitter quarrels.

There is a great peace in finality, and she will only find happiness when she puts him out of her life and occupies herself with other interests. And the time will come when she will realize that in losing that kind of man she has lost little.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—At what age should a man marry? ARTHUR.

ANSWER: Not before 24 or 25. A young man married is a young man married, and a boy married is a life ruined. No man should marry until he is old enough to have his taste settled and to know what he wants in a wife and who has not had his fling and got ready to settle down. And no man should marry until he is established in business and has some good way of supporting a family.

Installing Christ In A City's Heart

By ROY J. GIBBONS

GARY, Ind.—That Christ may dwell a living presence at the city's heart, a new kind of church, different in purpose, has reared its imposing Gothic head above the very centre of this steel town.

It proposes to do the Master's bidding on a basis of full twentieth-century efficiency.

The City Church, for that is its name, will be an oasis for the troubled, a gathering place for the young, a spiritual temple, and a modern house of the Lord from which seven days of the week instead of one will come ministrations to Gary's religious and creative-comfort needs.

The choir of the City Church has assigned itself to emulate what Christ would do if He dwelt on the corner where the church now stands.

NO DAYS OF IDLENESS

"Christ worked every day," says Rev. William Grant Seaman, pastor of the church, and inspiration of the dream which brought about its construction after 11 years of work and planning. "Our doors will remain open every day of the seven."

Seven distinct ministries to coordinate its work will be put into operation.

There will be a ministry of music, one of social service, education, fellowship, recreation, missionary work and pastoral duties.

The church will be built in three separate units. The worship unit is a great vaulted room 80 feet high.

SOCIAL AND EDUCATIONAL

The second unit is the social-educational wing, containing a gymnasium, co-ry rooms with fireplaces, the pastor's study, and special rooms for young people, men, women, and mothers.

The latter may take their children to service with them and be assured that the little ones will be properly cared for in play rooms.

The second unit also houses a dining room, fully equipped kitchen, showers, lockers, and rest rooms where tired working folk may drop in for a few moments to read or to pray.

The third unit is commercial, with five stores on the ground floor and two floors of offices. Rent from these will be applied to maintenance of the church and help defray its activities.

1,000 SEATS IN COMMUNITY HALL

In a community hall done in cream and black marble, 1,000 people may listen to weekly musicals, watch motion pictures, or attend amateur theatricals.

The roof of the church has been made to yield a fine open-air tennis court, which can be converted at will into an open-air theatre or covered play yard for children.

The entire cost of the various units to date has been $794,223.

Eventually the church hopes to extend its social help into the city's courts and jails.

WHERE LIFE STREAMS CONVERGE

"From the heart of a city radiates its life and influence," Dr. Seaman comments. "That is why our church was put where it is."

"The same plan of service, a plan for a church open seven days a week, a church presenting the beautiful in music and architecture, a church providing Christian educational features, healthful recreation, appealing and clean entertainment for youth and old, and, above all, a church spreading by deed and word the spirit of Christian friendliness."

NAVY WOOL CREPE IS ENLIVENED WITH CERISE RIBBON

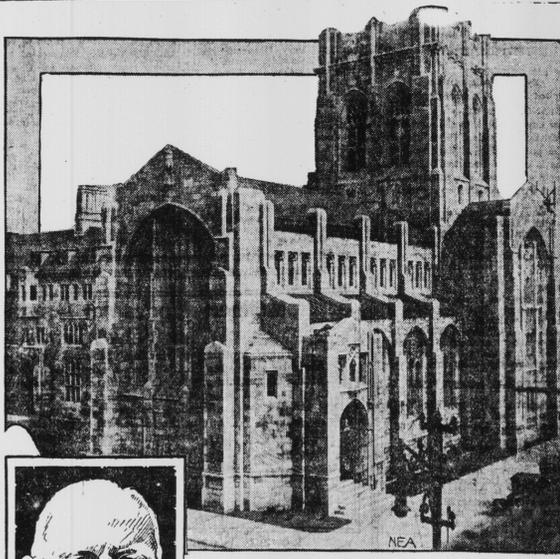

By Marie Belmont. All the new two-piece frocks have overcoats that are very long, and very tight. They are made to mould the figure, and one whose figure cannot stand this rather severe test had better wear a frock of some other type.

Above is shown a youthful little two-piece frock that is quite French in inspiration. The material is French wool crepe, the color navy, and the grosgrain ribbon which trims it a bright cerise.

With this dress is worn a navy felt hat with cerise grosgrain ribbon band.

TO OUR way of thinking there is nothing more terrorizing than a decorator with a calcimine brush unless it be a woman with a pike pole.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By DAN THOMAS

IF THERE is a woman of Hollywood who needs sympathy it is Estelle Taylor—or perhaps I should say Mrs. Jack Dempsey.

In a few weeks two really great tragedies draped themselves upon Estelle. First it was the death of Rudolph Valentino, whom she was to play opposite in "Cellini." And then came the still greater catastrophe—Jack Dempsey's drubbing in the semi-centennial stadium at Philadelphia.

One might rise to remark that placing the loss of a mere championship as a greater misfortune than death is overlooking things a bit. But I believe Estelle prized that heavyweight title as much as Jack himself did—which is slightly more than both arms with a rebuilt nose thrown in for good measure.

But despite these two unfortunate and unhappy incidents, Estelle Taylor's cinema activities will go forward with scarcely a change in plans. She is now in the east nursing and comforting Dempsey. But it is only a matter of days until she will return here to start her first picture under her new United Artists contract.

"Cellini" is the chosen story for Estelle's premier co-starring production, despite the death of the man for whom it was written. As yet no definite selection of a man to enact the role originally intended for Valentino has been made. But there is much talk that the part may go to John Barrymore.

"I am very anxious to do 'Cellini,'" Estelle told me before embarking for Philadelphia, which also starred Barrymore. While there is still plenty of opportunity for improvement, she has proved her ability to get some humanness in royal characterizations.

"I hope John Barrymore is selected for this picture," the film star said. "I have never enjoyed playing with anyone quite as much as I did with him. He is such a marvelous actor that he senses how each person should execute almost every movement. And he is very kind about helping others."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Through the room where I dwell may be shabby and poor, lacking comforts that wealth can supply, with no touches of art that could charm and allure, with no splendor to dazzle the eye, I shall be well-content though its walls may be bare of all beauty where hungry looks feast, and forget all the marks of grim poverty there if its windows but face to the east! If its windows but look towards the rise of the sun so that after the passing of night when the doubting and dread and the shadows are done, I may catch the first glimmer of light; I may open my eyes to the dazzle of dawn (when from night's sombre fancies released) and find all my fancy-woven phantasies gone, if my windows but face towards the east!

PARTY SPOKESMEN PLEDGE AID FOR PROSPERITY LEGISLATION

MALCOLM, FLEMMING PROMISE TO BACK ALL CONSTRUCTIVE MOVES

Declare at Canadian Board of Trade Dinner Here That No Factional Differences or Strife Will Clog Wheels of Progress

THE assurance of representatives of the two principal parties in the Canadian Parliament that they and their associates would support every move which was for the common good of all the people of Canada, was the high note in speeches delivered at the first annual banquet of the Canadian Board of Trade in the Admiral Beatty Hotel last evening.

Both Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, on behalf of the Government, and J. K. Flemming, M. P., of Juniper, N. B., on behalf of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, joined in the expression of a stirring Canadianism, when they declared in turn that no party differences or political strife should clog the wheels of progress when legislation tending to carry the Dominion to further heights of prosperity was being decided upon.

It was a very full day for the members of the newly formed organization. Morning and afternoon sessions were engaged in the presentation of papers on a variety of interesting and instructive subjects, which included foreign and domestic trade, taxation and the problems of several sections of the Dominion. Officers were chosen and a committee named to arrange for the making of ways and means for the carrying on of the board.

PAPERS PRESENTED. The papers presented at the afternoon session included one on the problems of the Central Provinces, by A. Dawson, Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian Board, on the problems of the east, by J. D. McKeena, of Saint John; on immigration, by Lieut.-Col. Ralph Webb, D.S.O., M.C., Mayor of Winnipeg; on the Canadian wholesale trade and its difficulties, by G. Lafoley, vice-president of the Montreal Board of Trade, and on municipal taxation with particular reference to civic management, by Dr. H. L. Dittman, director of research in the research institute of Canada, Toronto.

S. B. Gundy, of Toronto, the president of the Canadian Board, presided at the chair at the annual banquet, and the speakers were introduced by A. O. Dawson, vice-president, who presented a tribute to each as they were called upon to speak. Also seated at the lead table were: Hon. J. K. Flemming, D.S.O., M.C., Mayor of Vancouver; L. W. Simms, Saint John, also vice-president of the Canadian Board; C. W. P. Schwengers, president of the Victoria, B.C., Board of Trade; S. Royer, president of the Quebec Chamber de Commerce; Hon. Dr. W. E. Foster, Saint John; George Wilson, president of the Toronto Board of Trade; C. O. Smith, president of the Calgary Board of Trade; Col. I. E. Starke, president of the Montreal Board of Trade; D. R. Turnbull, president of the Halifax Board of Trade; E. N. Todd, of C. P. R.; H. G. Perse, Winnipeg; J. O. Hunsman, president of the Prince Edward Board of Trade; Hance J. Logan, Amherst, and Col. J. L. Regan, secretary of the Canadian Board.

About 200 delegates and members were in attendance. When the chairman, S. B. Gundy, arose to open the speaking, he said that they were fortunate in having at the first banquet of the board guests who were two such distinguished gentlemen, on both sides of the house. He paid a tribute to Hon. Mr. Malcolm and said that it could have been a more distinguished guest than he.

DAWSON SPEAKS. Speaking of the formation of the board the chairman said that in all great movements there is a certain man behind the scenes and while he was elected president, the man behind the organization of the board was A. O. Dawson, of Montreal. He paid a tribute to Mr. Dawson and called upon him to introduce the speakers of the evening.

PRaises MALCOLM. Applause greeted Mr. Dawson, who thanked them from the bottom of his heart. He had suggested that Hon. W. E. Foster would be more appropriate person to do the introducing. He said that he as one manufacturer was glad of having the opportunity of introducing another manufacturer. He said that there had been a feeling of rejoicing when Mr. Malcolm was announced as the minister of trade and commerce.

"We thoroughly appreciated it and felt safe when men like Mr. Malcolm occupied the capital," he said. He felt that the manufacturers could go ahead with a feeling of security that they would not be disturbed and he predicted stability for the next five years. He paid a tribute to Mr. Malcolm for being a Scotchman and told of his business and activities in Kinairdine, Ont., where he had been mayor.

He said that in Canada as a whole, he said that Kinairdine was going to make solid progress because Mr. Malcolm and his like were in the cabinet at Ottawa today.

MALCOLM LAUDS BOARD. After declaring the praise that he had received, Hon. Mr. Malcolm expressed his pleasure in speaking to the combined bodies of Canada as represented at the meeting. He said that the board of trade had played a big part in the growth and development of Canada, but their viewpoints had been more or less inclined to be provincial and local and therefore could not concentrate on the good of Canada as a whole. He showed them the benefit of the formation of a national board of trade, but it was due to Mr. Dawson and his foresight that the idea of a national board had culminated so successfully here tonight.

OFFICERS PRAISED. Hon. Mr. Malcolm next complimented the board on its selection of officers and said that in Mr. Gundy they had a man who was national in viewpoint and Mr. Brown was a man who was well known and in these two rested the confidence of all Canada. The opinions of the board would be national and statesmen could well afford to give good heed to those opinions. Without political rivalry the government of Canada was to have the advice of the board after all the wrinkles had been straightened out. It would be the board's duty to cooperate with the department of Trade and Commerce and the minister assured them that their views would be well received. Speaking of the birthday of the board here today he said that it had his assurance as minister of trade and commerce that he would be glad indeed to work together with it.

GROWTH OF CANADA. Hon. Mr. Malcolm said that people had heard so much of pessimism that they sometimes forgot that there was a bright side. He next proceeded to give some figures showing the growth of Canada in various ways. In 1900, he said, the population of the Dominion was 5,271,000 and in the quarter of the century ending with 1925 it had reached the figure of 9,294,000. He spoke of the growth in spite of the loss of life during the great war and the stoppage of immigration and the absence of a large number of men from the country. In spite of these handicaps, he pointed out, the population had increased 4,000,000 in that quarter of a century and the country had absorbed this increase.

He next spoke on the growth of trade in the same period and said that in 1900 the goods exported had amounted to $185,000,000. This figure accomplished in ten years if the board continued as it had started out.

INTRODUCES FLEMMING. Mr. Dawson before introducing the next speaker, Hon. J. K. Flemming, said he was much pleased that Hon. Mr. Malcolm had asked for the assistant and advice of the Canadian Board of Trade ready at all times to lend all possible assistance to the government and the Trade and Commerce department. He also paid a tribute to his friend Hon. W. E. Foster, a former premier of New Brunswick and made prophecy that before long Mr. Foster would be occupying a place of honor and responsibility in the federal government.

It gave him great pleasure, Mr. Dawson said, to have the honor of the opportunity to speak as the representative of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Federal Parliament. The opposition in any parliament had a useful function to perform but that function was not to oppose all legislation emanating from the government just because of that fact. It had never been a part of his policy to do that and never would be, on the contrary he would be ready to join hands with them in putting across any move for the prosperity of the country. He extended congratulations to Hon. Mr. Malcolm on his elevation to the cabinet and said he was assured that it would be the earnest purpose of the minister of trade and commerce to serve the best interest of the country well.

PLEASANT AT ORGANIZATION. "I am," said Mr. Flemming, "looking into the faces of men representing the business life of the Dominion and I am glad to hear that they have entered into the organization of this wonderful field in which to work. The subjects with which you have been dealing in your sessions here are too big and important to engage party division or strife and should be dealt with on their merits, irrespective of politics. "We sometimes expect too much in the way of immediate results in development, and are apt to imagine that no progress is being made. The young men do not go away because they want to but because they feel that by so doing they are bettering their condition."

NATION-WIDE BODY. "I hope the organization will go on to increasing success. It is a nation-wide body and can be of great assistance in solving the problems of the country for the good of the people of the country." Before declaring the meeting adjourned, the chairman said that it had been found necessary to curtail the trip which had been planned and it would not be possible for the delegates to visit Amherst, Moncton and Quebec at this time.

J. S. Royer, president of the Quebec Chamber of Commerce, said he was very sorry the delegates would not be able to visit the historic city at this time as they had something to show them there which he thought would be of interest to them.

Mr. McKenna speaks. The following is in part the address delivered by J. D. McKenna yesterday afternoon on "Problems of the East." "Many things have transpired in the Maritime Provinces since the last conference at Winnipeg. I have been asked to discuss Maritime problems. At the outset I might say that the problems of the Maritimes are the problems of Canada as a whole. Too much stress has been placed upon the problems of the Maritimes, of the problems of Central Canada and Western Canada. If we are prepared to view them as national problems to be solved in a national way, I believe the Canadian Board of Trade will fill a long felt want in this respect, and I believe it is a good medium to solve these problems. This Board is Canadian in its scope and comprises every section of Canada. I hope every delegate will carry with him the various messages expressed at this convention."

TO PREPARE STATEMENT. "A short time ago the Maritime Provinces were asked to prepare a statement. Continued on Page 9

Minister Speaks

HON. JAMES MALCOLM, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who addressed the first annual dinner of the Canadian Board of Trade here last evening.

In 1925 had been multiplied about six times and was now $1,226,000,000. He pointed out that this was no mean growth and that it had meant improved trade conditions all over Canada.

BANK DEPOSITS GAIN. Speaking directly to the Maritime people he showed how bankers considered that when bank deposits were increasing people were withdrawing their money from investment and were timid. When, however, bank deposits increased it showed that business was expanding and he quoted figures to show that during the period of from January to August, 1926, there had been an increase in bank deposits of $2,250,000,000. While all areas showed an increase, with Quebec the highest with 18 per cent, Ontario 14 per cent and the Maritime Provinces 12 per cent, he pointed out that in the western province and British Columbia and Saskatchewan it was only 7 per cent.

FUNCTIONS TO PERFORM. He next dealt with the export trade and said that the government had certain duties to perform. In export trade there were only two fundamental principles: the first was the removal of obstacles and the second was the application of force. To the government fell the duty of the removal of obstacles to trade. To those present, he said, fell the duty of applying the force or business which was to be promoted. He said that this organization was going to be extremely valuable in giving advice to the government as to how to promote the free flow of trade. Business must not become stagnant, he said. He declared that the ball must be kept rolling. If a ball, he said, once became flat sided it would be hard to start up again, but if it was kept rolling it would gain momentum. When business went flat it took combined efforts to get the ball rolling and keep it rolling at a steady speed.

TO AID IMPORT TRADE. The Department of Trade and Commerce was primarily to aid export business and it was his duty to see that channels of trade were opened to Canada. Many thought that Canada was exporting all its raw material, but he said that it had imported more of pulp and paper than it had exported. In 1925, for example, it had imported $150,000,000 worth of pulp and paper and this year they were importing around the $200,000,000 mark, and the end is not yet.

"Let us look at our mineral resources. Fifteen years ago the mineral production was $100,000,000 and last year it had grown to $225,000,000, an increase of more than 100 per cent in that time. In 1910 the gold produced in northern Ontario was valued at $42,000 and last year this had grown to $20,000,000. Last year the copper produced was valued at $16,000,000 and the ore in sight in western Quebec, northern Ontario and northern Manitoba give rise of making this country the chief producer of copper in the world. These facts show that Canada has a wonderful future as a producer of mineral and the surface has only been touched, as yet."

CONSERVATIVE STAND. "I would like to speak for a few minutes of one or two big party but I believe are too big for party but I believe are the attention of all interested in the advancement of the country and I will say, speaking for the Conservative party, that they will be found willing to aid in the promotion of any legislation tending to bring success to the agricultural, manufacturing and labor interests of the Dominion."

NATIONAL SENTIMENT. He spoke of the absolute need of a national sentiment and said that the young man in Canada could make as much progress, could enjoy as fine a citizenship, and develop as fine a character here as in any other part of the world. A strong faith in the country and its future was more essential than loyalty. If this faith could be created in the minds of boys it would be more than preaching sermons at them. He enlarged on the subject of citizenship and the dangers of overpopulation. He also spoke of the movement from the land to the city. He urged the board to take up the subject of national citizenship and outlined what could be done along this line.

Speaking of taxation he said that the taxes collected were less now than in 1914, if those resulting from the war were excluded. In conclusion he said that the Board of Trade would have much to do in the forming of public opinion and he urged them to take an interest in not only the material things but also the social. He looked forward with great hope and pleasure to what would be accomplished in ten years if the board continued as it had started out.

INTRODUCES FLEMMING. Mr. Dawson before introducing the next speaker, Hon. J. K. Flemming, said he was much pleased that Hon. Mr. Malcolm had asked for the assistant and advice of the Canadian Board of Trade ready at all times to lend all possible assistance to the government and the Trade and Commerce department. INTRODUCES FLEMMING. Mr. Dawson before introducing the next speaker, Hon. J. K. Flemming, said he was much pleased that Hon. Mr. Malcolm had asked for the assistant and advice of the Canadian Board of Trade ready at all times to lend all possible assistance to the government and the Trade and Commerce department. He also paid a tribute to his friend Hon. W. E. Foster, a former premier of New Brunswick and made prophecy that before long Mr. Foster would be occupying a place of honor and responsibility in the federal government.

It gave him great pleasure, Mr. Dawson said, to have the honor of the opportunity to speak as the representative of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Federal Parliament. The opposition in any parliament had a useful function to perform but that function was not to oppose all legislation emanating from the government just because of that fact. It had never been a part of his policy to do that and never would be, on the contrary he would be ready to join hands with them in putting across any move for the prosperity of the country. He extended congratulations to Hon. Mr. Malcolm on his elevation to the cabinet and said he was assured that it would be the earnest purpose of the minister of trade and commerce to serve the best interest of the country well.

PLEASANT AT ORGANIZATION. "I am," said Mr. Flemming, "looking into the faces of men representing the business life of the Dominion and I am glad to hear that they have entered into the organization of this wonderful field in which to work. The subjects with which you have been dealing in your sessions here are too big and important to engage party division or strife and should be dealt with on their merits, irrespective of politics. "We sometimes expect too much in the way of immediate results in development, and are apt to imagine that no progress is being made. The young men do not go away because they want to but because they feel that by so doing they are bettering their condition."

NATION-WIDE BODY. "I hope the organization will go on to increasing success. It is a nation-wide body and can be of great assistance in solving the problems of the country for the good of the people of the country." Before declaring the meeting adjourned, the chairman said that it had been found necessary to curtail the trip which had been planned and it would not be possible for the delegates to visit Amherst, Moncton and Quebec at this time.

J. S. Royer, president of the Quebec Chamber of Commerce, said he was very sorry the delegates would not be able to visit the historic city at this time as they had something to show them there which he thought would be of interest to them.

Minister Speaks

HON. JAMES MALCOLM, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who addressed the first annual dinner of the Canadian Board of Trade here last evening.

In 1925 had been multiplied about six times and was now $1,226,000,000. He pointed out that this was no mean growth and that it had meant improved trade conditions all over Canada.

BANK DEPOSITS GAIN. Speaking directly to the Maritime people he showed how bankers considered that when bank deposits were increasing people were withdrawing their money from investment and were timid. When, however, bank deposits increased it showed that business was expanding and he quoted figures to show that during the period of from January to August, 1926, there had been an increase in bank deposits of $2,250,000,000. While all areas showed an increase, with Quebec the highest with 18 per cent, Ontario 14 per cent and the Maritime Provinces 12 per cent, he pointed out that in the western province and British Columbia and Saskatchewan it was only 7 per cent.

FUNCTIONS TO PERFORM. He next dealt with the export trade and said that the government had certain duties to perform. In export trade there were only two fundamental principles: the first was the removal of obstacles and the second was the application of force. To the government fell the duty of the removal of obstacles to trade. To those present, he said, fell the duty of applying the force or business which was to be promoted. He said that this organization was going to be extremely valuable in giving advice to the government as to how to promote the free flow of trade. Business must not become stagnant, he said. He declared that the ball must be kept rolling. If a ball, he said, once became flat sided it would be hard to start up again, but if it was kept rolling it would gain momentum. When business went flat it took combined efforts to get the ball rolling and keep it rolling at a steady speed.

TO AID IMPORT TRADE. The Department of Trade and Commerce was primarily to aid export business and it was his duty to see that channels of trade were opened to Canada. Many thought that Canada was exporting all its raw material, but he said that it had imported more of pulp and paper than it had exported. In 1925, for example, it had imported $150,000,000 worth of pulp and paper and this year they were importing around the $200,000,000 mark, and the end is not yet.

"Let us look at our mineral resources. Fifteen years ago the mineral production was $100,000,000 and last year it had grown to $225,000,000, an increase of more than 100 per cent in that time. In 1910 the gold produced in northern Ontario was valued at $42,000 and last year this had grown to $20,000,000. Last year the copper produced was valued at $16,000,000 and the ore in sight in western Quebec, northern Ontario and northern Manitoba give rise of making this country the chief producer of copper in the world. These facts show that Canada has a wonderful future as a producer of mineral and the surface has only been touched, as yet."

CONSERVATIVE STAND. "I would like to speak for a few minutes of one or two big party but I believe are too big for party but I believe are the attention of all interested in the advancement of the country and I will say, speaking for the Conservative party, that they will be found willing to aid in the promotion of any legislation tending to bring success to the agricultural, manufacturing and labor interests of the Dominion."

NATIONAL SENTIMENT. He spoke of the absolute need of a national sentiment and said that the young man in Canada could make as much progress, could enjoy as fine a citizenship, and develop as fine a character here as in any other part of the world. A strong faith in the country and its future was more essential than loyalty. If this faith could be created in the minds of boys it would be more than preaching sermons at them. He enlarged on the subject of citizenship and the dangers of overpopulation. He also spoke of the movement from the land to the city. He urged the board to take up the subject of national citizenship and outlined what could be done along this line.

Speaking of taxation he said that the taxes collected were less now than in 1914, if those resulting from the war were excluded. In conclusion he said that the Board of Trade would have much to do in the forming of public opinion and he urged them to take an interest in not only the material things but also the social. He looked forward with great hope and pleasure to what would be accomplished in ten years if the board continued as it had started out.

INTRODUCES FLEMMING. Mr. Dawson before introducing the next speaker, Hon. J. K. Flemming, said he was much pleased that Hon. Mr. Malcolm had asked for the assistant and advice of the Canadian Board of Trade ready at all times to lend all possible assistance to the government and the Trade and Commerce department. Mr. McKenna speaks. The following is in part the address delivered by J. D. McKenna yesterday afternoon on "Problems of the East." "Many things have transpired in the Maritime Provinces since the last conference at Winnipeg. I have been asked to discuss Maritime problems. At the outset I might say that the problems of the Maritimes are the problems of Canada as a whole. Too much stress has been placed upon the problems of the Maritimes, of the problems of Central Canada and Western Canada. If we are prepared to view them as national problems to be solved in a national way, I believe the Canadian Board of Trade will fill a long felt want in this respect, and I believe it is a good medium to solve these problems. This Board is Canadian in its scope and comprises every section of Canada. I hope every delegate will carry with him the various messages expressed at this convention."

TO PREPARE STATEMENT. "A short time ago the Maritime Provinces were asked to prepare a statement. Continued on Page 9

vinces in order to present the Maritime case to the Duncan Commission appointed for that purpose some months ago, went to great trouble and care to prepare an intelligent statement which was given before this Board. Sittings were held in the principal cities and towns of the Maritimes, Halifax, Charlottetown, Amherst and Saint John. In presenting that case we were confronted with statements concerning the Confederation Pact. The best solution of Maritime troubles is the carrying out of that pact. The Confederation Pact was not the British North America Act, which was later drawn up. I will submit evidence to show the fallacy of this. Some time ago P. Patterson, of Saint John, obtained some data on the Confederation Pact. This pact was drawn up at a conference in London on December 4, 1886, a conference of delegates from the provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, at the Westminster Palace Hotel, and known as the Westminster Pact. Sir John A. Macdonald was the chairman, and H. Bernard the secretary of the conference.

IN NATURE OF TREATY.

"In the words of Sir John A. Macdonald: 'The scheme was not one framed by the Government of Canada or by the Government of Nova Scotia, but it was in the nature of treaty settled between the different colonies, each clause of which had been fully discussed and which had been agreed to by a system of mutual compromise. It was highly desirable with a view to the maintenance of British power on the continent that there should be a confederation... if satisfied with the Government that the scheme as a whole was for the prosperity and benefit of Canada.' Further down he says: 'We will have the rights of the minority respected.'"

"In the Westminster Conference report the first two clauses read: 'The best interests and future prosperity of British North America will be promoted by a Federal Union under the crown of Great Britain, provided that such union can be effected on principles just to the several provinces.'

"In the Confederation of the British North American Provinces the system of Government best adapted under existing circumstances to protect the diversified interests of the several provinces and secure efficiency.

Why Have Gray Hair?

Don't think your hair need remain streaked with gray—or even very gray. For more than ten years, gray haired men and women, whose hair at one time was brunette, blonde, red, auburn, brown or black, have used Kolor-Bak with entire satisfaction, and are no longer gray.

Kolor-Bak is a clean, colorless liquid that has restored youthful appearance to hundreds of thousands. Always apply to wet hair, it requires no experimenting with samples of your hair.

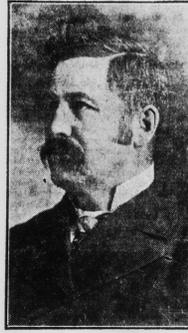

Just ask your dealer for Kolor-Bak. The one bottle is for all hair, no matter what shade of color. Results often appear in a week. And with the disappearance of the gray hair, the tonic properties of Kolor-Bak are admitted to use for dandruff and falling hair. Its tremendous success is clearly shown by the sale of nearly 2,000,000 bottles, which proves its superiority.

Dealers everywhere sell Kolor-Bak with guarantee to return your money if it does not bring desired results. No excuse now for any woman to look old, or any man to be considered too old for employment. Your druggist, or any store where toilet goods are sold, carries Kolor-Bak. Ask for it today.

LAND SETTLEMENT.

"The Provinces of Ontario and Quebec should have a carefully thought-out policy of land settlement and forest conservation. The present methods of forest ranging and fire prevention are not nearly effective enough. Annually large areas of valuable timber and pulp wood are fruitlessly destroyed.

"Touching on the subject of fire prevention and conservation of property generally, there has been too much indifference on the part of the people in the central Canadian Provinces. There is a great need for some system of supervising fire insurance risks and tracing the sources and causes of fires, with an eye to their prevention.

"Before turning from the fascinating study of these central provinces, I wish to summarize a few outstanding facts regarding them in their relation to the Dominion as a whole.

"First—Their area (not including Yukon and the Northwest Territories) represent 42 per cent. of the whole of Canada.

"Second—These Provinces contain 60 per cent. of the population of Canada.

"Third—Of the gross agricultural wealth of the entire country, including land, buildings, implements and machinery, live stock, animals on fur farms, and agricultural production, Ontario and Quebec show 46% as their share.

ONTARIO GRAIN CROP

"Fourth—In the Province of Ontario alone, there was raised this year nearly 140 million bushels of different kinds of grain.

NEARLY BROKEN.

"The Confederation nearly broke on the rock of the Constitution of this country," said Mr. McKenna. "By an agreement the members of the House of Commons were elected by unit population. Quebec was taken as a standard and was to have 65 members. The representation of the remainder of Canada was to be based on the population of Quebec and its 65 members. The Senate was first elected by provinces and equally divided among the two political parties. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were to have 12 members each, Quebec 24 and Ontario 24. Provision was made for Western Canada for 24 more when the time came. The Senate was supposed to be a non-political body, appointed for life and to serve the people. But it has been anything but non-partisan. Today it is simply a political body and the members are elected by the political party in power.

DUNCAN REPORT.

"The Duncan Commission has finished its sittings and has forwarded its findings to the government at Ottawa. We hope for much from the report of this commission. It is true that we have not been admitted to the holy of holies yet, but if the report is what we believe it is, and if the present government will not live up to its promises of fulfillment, the agitation from the Maritime Provinces will be renewed and properly renewed. We are entitled to equal partnership, according to the agreement. We have received it.

"This Board of Trade can do much to solve the problem," said Mr. McKenna, "it is somewhat like the problem of politics between Ontario and

WEST'S DEVELOPMENT.

"It is not necessary," said Mr. McKenna, "to deal with the development of the West and its increase in representation in the House of Commons and Senate, and the influence it has thereby been able to use at Ottawa. The conditions as they exist are well known to all, but what should be taken notice of is that there has developed in Canada a political condition which is a violation of the Confederation Agreement, and until this is remedied we cannot hope for national unity. How to get back to the original condition and have the Senate function as was intended is a matter which might well be considered by this convention, and I would suggest that the matter be placed in the hands of a committee with representatives from each of the nine provinces, to bring in a resolution containing the committee's recommendation of what action should be taken to effect a remedy.

EFFECT OF FAILURE.

"This was not done," said Mr. McKenna. "If this agreement had been carried out we wouldn't have any Maritime, Central Canada or Western problems to overcome today. This Westminster document contains all correspondence between the Lieut-Quebec. If it makes resolutions to the government, as we believe it will, we will see the Canada the Westminster pact called for. May we all live to see it."

Governors of the provinces and the Secretary of State for the Colonies. I may state that this was in the nature of a blue book printed in 1867 under the reign of Queen Victoria and of all the copies printed the only one known to be in existence is the one possessed by the Saint John Board of Trade. By this agreement," said Mr. McKenna, "you can see that it was originally intended that the I. C. R. was to extend not only to the St. Lawrence but to that territory designated as the Great West which meant the boundaries of the Ottawa River. If that compact had been carried out we would not today have the spectacle of seeing Canadian traffic going over American roads, as by if Canadian traffic was meant to go over Canadian roads and not via Portland or Baltimore. During 1926 to date, over 10,000,000 bushels of grain had been carried over Canadian railroads and by Canadian steamers to the elevator at Buffalo. Sir Henry Thornton, who gave testimony before the Duncan Commission admitted that the Maritimes had a written agreement and understanding with the rest of Canada. But that agreement had not been carried out. I believe I have established that the Westminster or Confederation Pact has not been carried out in either the spirit or letter.

"Fourth—These provinces produce 10% of the entire output of the minerals of Canada. This is a large percentage when it is remembered that Ontario or Quebec. For 1924 these central provinces consumed almost two and a half million tons more coal than the total production of this necessity in Canada. 80% of this total consumption was of coal imported from the United States.

now developed, or that are in process of development, will be fully occupied, and it will therefore be necessary to go further afield to tap the many fine power powers, which are as yet unharnessed. One of the easiest and most logical means of increasing the wealth of the people is by developing all the great water powers that are ours.

EXPORTS OF POWER
"In this connection the question of the export of power to the United States is one that is of vital importance to Canadian industry. Such exports should be watched with the greatest care, not only for the present but for the future.

MINE DEVELOPMENT
"By calling attention to the great development of mining in the central provinces, it is advisable to point out that adequate means of transportation is essential to this valuable industry, which, in spite of the large amount of wealth already extracted, appears to be still in its infancy.

MORE INDUSTRIES
"Let us establish more industries and let us keep those already established, busy, and the problems of immigration, emigration, and much desired increased population will solve themselves.

SURVEY WANTED.
"Again let me say that if we are to solve our problems successfully (and now I refer to the problems of the whole Dominion), some comprehensive survey of Canada's industries and potential industries—must be undertaken by the Dominion government. This survey would include recommendations for development and expansion, and might be made into a work of reference on Canadian industries. At present it is very difficult for an outside firm to obtain comprehensive information on suitable places to establish factories, where to seek for a proper supply of raw materials, or information on many other vital questions.

WATERPOWER RESOURCES.
"As the water powers of the central provinces are so vast and of such vital importance, it will not be amiss to refer to them again. As new industries are established, the water powers of the central provinces are so vast and of such vital importance, it will not be amiss to refer to them again. As new industries are established, the water powers of the central provinces are so vast and of such vital importance, it will not be amiss to refer to them again.

CLASS OF IMMIGRANTS

"Any man or woman over the age of 18 years, laid over 10 years. For climatic and assimilating purposes, preferably from the Nordic races and Central Europe.
"Physically fit (specifications to be set).

EQUAL REPRESENTATION

"Each province should have equal representation, if they wish to have it in all chief and sub-chief immigration offices in Great Britain, United States, Europe. These men should be selected for their standing, knowledge of their province; also should, if available, have originally been settlers themselves and come from the country and even the district in which they are to be stationed, as psychology enters into this work. They should visit Canada periodically to be up to date.

COLONIZATION

"Colonization is the vital factor of immigration, whether it is on the land, in the woods, the mines or in industrial life, i.e., a close touch to see and to know how they get along, and to help them along in co-operation with provincial authorities or bodies and social life, and in assimilation into Canadian life and British ideals. It is all right for some Canadian-born folks and others to say it is not necessary to be mother and father to our new Canadian, but generally speaking that is what we have got to do, and particularly those who do not speak English, nor have they our ideas—ideals—traditions; being left altogether alone is what has caused segregation by nationalities carrying on just as they did in the old lands, even to their language and living conditions. I do not believe the Federal government should have to do things on the immigrant's behalf, but rather that Provincial Boards (except wherein hard times may prevail) when they should automatically do their share to assist in solving such problems either by carrying on public works or making loans to Provincial Public Works. I am a strong advocate of, when hard times come, (and we shall have them from time to time) that the Dole system, unemployment funds or charity should never be advertised, but rather that public works should be undertaken, always of a needed character.

Lt.-Col. Webb Speaks

Lieut.-Col. R. H. Webb, Mayor of Winnipeg, in an address on immigration and emigration said in part:
"Immigration should be taken out of politics and be placed in the hands of a commission.
(a) Why? Because it is a great big business requiring a big far-sighted policy of vision extending not only from the Maritimes to the Pacific Coast, but into the distant future at least 100 years of national development, and after that into a greater status of nationalism in the future ages.

(b) Why? Because a policy of continuity must be laid down along the lines of consistency. It is not only bringing people to our shores, but (2) to make it possible for them to live a good living; (3) our own people too to make a good living, and above all (4) to keep our own people in Canada; and (5) the new Canadian to remain here. (6) to bring about a natural assimilation of all peoples into one great British Canadian nationalism (7) by means of the development of all our great national resources i.e. agriculture in all its branches, the forests, the mines, industries, transportation, education, religion and social life. (c) The policy of assimilation is perhaps as big a problem as any in so far as our future nationalism is concerned and this factor alone is justification why a commission should be appointed. One has only to look at Canada, particularly in the West, to realize how serious this factor is. It is not sufficient to call our new Canadian good fellows and sing their praises just before a civic, provincial or federal election, and after it all over call them foreigners and treat them as such and leave them all alone until the next election comes around. That is, I am sorry to say the general policy today. Therefore, how can we ever expect to develop nationally. The into being, or the Federal government if it is not, should always maintain a court of appeal similar to that for our ex-soldiers and the British Overseas Settlement Board. This would perhaps prevent exploitation and unfair dealing with the stranger within our gates.

"I believe our government in the interests of a sound and successful immigration policy must have the necessary legislation, if it has not got it already, to deal with the unscrupulous agitator, no matter what his nationality, creed or social standing, who invites to unconstitutional methods, who carries on destructive propaganda against our country, our laws, our religious, social and our business structure.

AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS.

Speaking on the agricultural problems of Western Canada, Mayor Webb declared that previous to 1914 over 70,000,000 acres of free homesteads had been given away.

"Today it is different from 1900-1914," he said. "Today practically no free homestead lands anywhere near the present railway system, so therefore our policy must be to settle up all the lands within reasonable distance of transportation facilities, and I hope that will be the policy because the West does not wish to go through i.e. overdevelopment without realization of the after effects of taxation, because railroads, highways, schools, phones, drainage, public improvements, have to be paid for and unless the settlers can get them he does not stay, and after he does get them if too far away he does not either, but the taxes are left to be paid for by those who do.

POLICY OF POOLING.

"There are millions and millions of acres available for sale within easy distance of the railroads, both in the Maritimes and in the West. A policy of pooling these lands into a central scheme or pool must be worked out, lands all surveyed, tested, investigated, tabulated, valued, so as to know all about them, i.e. What it is best adapted for and the settler best adapted to settle on it, realizing the importance of nationality and experience, religious and social life and all that enter into prosperity and happiness which leads to future good homes and citizenship.

clubs, women's clubs and generally all of the social service clubs would realize how much they could do if they would hold meetings amongst our new Canadians they would really be doing something worthy of their objectives. I find we stick together, think a lot of ourselves and tell each other so and we listen to speakers who repeat each other and tell us all about things, but generally speaking we think just as they think and so we do not get much further ahead. Cannot we realize how much more good we could be doing if the same effort was put into moulding the same thoughts, ideas, traditions, etc., amongst our new Canadians.

G. Lalfoley Speaks

The following address was delivered by G. Lalfoley, Canadian director Mark Fisher & Co., who is also first vice-president of the Montreal Board of Trade. Mr. Lalfoley had as his subject "The Canadian Wholesale Trade, Past, Present and Future," and follows:

MUST REMAIN BRITISH.

Mayor Webb then went on to say that while we must have selection of immigrants, we could not afford to turn down anyone who would make a good citizen. Many of our best citizens had come from different races, but it was essential that the Dominion be kept British.

The speaker declared that Canada's most vital problem was lack of population. The Motherland could spare one million of her people. We needed those same people and the same number.

"But," said Mayor Webb, "some of our leading men say in their speeches, one I read quite recently: 'Why be in a hurry—let us go slowly, we have lots of time.' But I believe such men have got lots of money, but are in a position to make the rest of us pay them for them. The vast majority of our people want their taxes lightened and even paid off, a large proportion of our people want some pleasure in life today or at least whilst they are alive."

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES.

On the question of Canadian industries the speaker stated that last year we imported from the United States nearly $700,000,000 worth of goods. It had been suggested that at least $400,000,000 of this amount ought to be produced in Canada.

"I have repeated many times," he continued, and shall keep on doing so, "it is up to us and we expect our government to do their duty in the best interests for the general prosperity of Canada and to see that no stone is left unturned to make it possible for our own people to stay and to make a good living in Canada, their own country, and that means naturally greater possibilities for all classes of immigration."

Mayor Webb declared that there was no need to cry for labor all over the Dominion, but the demands could not be filled because the government's immigration policy was not sound. The situation in the west this year had been deplorable. No help could be obtained for the harvest fields and the government restriction to experienced men led him to believe that there existed a distinct policy of "no immigration."

NATURAL RESOURCES.

Mayor Webb then spoke at length on the natural resources of Canada, paying particular attention to western agricultural figures, which showed tremendous increases in acreage cultivation.

Another interesting point brought out by Mayor Webb was that 34,000 Chinese had paid in head tax to Canada $25,000,000, a sum equal to the total immigration expenditures since 1911, or fifteen years.

"Man cannot and does not live on bread alone," he said, "hence today we can turn up agriculture in Western Canada, in particular Manitoba, that we produce everything on our daily menu cards from soup to nuts, wheat to wine, silks to linen, hats, clothes to furs—all from the farmer please remember."

Dr. Brittain Speaks

Dr. H. L. Brittain, director of the Dominion Bureau of Municipal Research, Toronto, in the final address of the afternoon, spoke on Municipal Taxation. This address which was listened to with much attention, follows:

TRADE IMPROVEMENTS

"In connection with improvements in the wholesale trade, I might say Commercial Protective Association, which is sponsored by the Wholesale Dry Goods Association, has to a large extent stopped smuggling of goods into the country. Particularly in the dry goods trade was this felt and today we can notice a great improvement. The hand to mouth buying today increases the amount of book debts and increases the turnover on small articles. Due to some depression the stocks of retailers at present are light and it will mean a general demand for more goods. The splendid crops assured for the west this year will have a further bearing on prosperity which will be felt throughout the country.

NAMES UNMERTED

"In years gone by a wholesale merchant was known as a merchant prince but today he is called a profiteer, a shlyok and other names that are not merited. I am sure that out of this convention of the business men of Canada great good will come and a new understanding awakened.

"I have a picture in my mind of a great building, a vision as yet, in which there are many niches and in the niches are such things as honesty in dealing, forbearance, good will, fairness in trading and other good policies. I see names written in the annals of the wholesale trade such as Mackay, McKenzie, Johnson, Greenshields, Gault, McIntyre, etc. The memory of this building gives me confidence in the fu-

MORE HOME GOODS SOLD

"In a recent talk with a prominent business man in Montreal he told me that 25 years ago he sold only 25 per cent Canadian made goods and about 75 per cent imported goods. Today it is just the reverse and he is selling 75 per cent Canadian manufactured goods. If the wholesaler were to be eliminated the retailer buy direct from the manufacturer he would lose the opportunity to compare the same kind of articles manufactured by different firms. The wholesaler carries a complete stock of all brands.

"I have a picture in my mind of a great building, a vision as yet, in which there are many niches and in the niches are such things as honesty in dealing, forbearance, good will, fairness in trading and other good policies. I see names written in the annals of the wholesale trade such as Mackay, McKenzie, Johnson, Greenshields, Gault, McIntyre, etc. The memory of this building gives me confidence in the future of the wholesale trade and I leave the building to walk out into the sunshine. On one side of the entrance is a column on which is written 'Retailer,' on the other side another on which is inscribed 'Manufacturer,' and in the centre of stone that is greater than granite or marble is written 'Wholesaler,' the keystone and arch of service."

to Federal taxation is borne clearly in mind.

WHAT IS TAXATION?

"Before we can go far in such an inquiry we must decide on what taxation is. Perhaps as good a definition as any is that a tax is a payment for public services for which a charge proportion to service rendered cannot be made at or about the time the service is rendered. Taxation is more or less based on ability to pay and may have little relation to the cost of direct services rendered.

"Municipal Taxation may be said to be that part of the municipal revenue which must be raised by general levy to make up the difference between the municipal revenue from sources other than taxation and the total proposed current expenditure.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

"In a study of municipal taxation one is helped by the facts that it is mostly direct, its results are fairly evident, and the services for which it pays are carried on in direct view of the people who pay the bills, and who, therefore, have a first hand knowledge of the local situation, a knowledge which may be quite lacking in the provincial and Dominion fields.

"While provincial and national taxation have definite effects on business and industry over the wide areas affected, the effects of municipal taxation in handicapping one municipality as a home for business and industry in comparison with another municipality are very direct and may have very serious local consequences.

THE TWO MAIN PHASES.

"A discussion of municipal taxation naturally falls under two heads:

(a) The amount of taxation.
(b) The sorts of taxation in use.

"The former topic has been too frequently ignored and interest centered on the latter. I believe this to be a great mistake as the weight of taxation is certainly as important as its incidence. In fact its weight can be readily ascertained but the incidence of a tax is very frequently not its real incidence. Often the man who actually hands in the cheque to the city treasurer bears only part of the burden or even none at all. Many taxpayers are really only convenient tax collectors for the city.

"The failure to pay proper attention to the amount of taxation is due to two main factors:

(a) A tacit assumption that taxation is unavoidable and cannot be reduced.
(b) A feeling on the part of many that their taxes are too large and that the other fellow should be made to bear a larger share.

"A belief that because taxes are unavoidable nothing can be done to relieve the situation is not based on facts.

"One way in which many municipalities can cut down their tax bills is to enforce proper collections for services for which direct charges may be made. For example, many municipalities either own hospitals or pay the deficits of public hospitals not under direct municipal control. Particularly in the out-patient departments many hospitals which used to give all treatments and even all medicines free to out-patients are now making charges where the patients can pay. This is not only good for the hospital but good for the character of the patients. Many hospitals have also employed a social investigator to determine the ability to pay of those applying for free beds. It is almost amazing what can be done in this line. Any revenues so collected diminish hospital deficits and therefore decrease the amount to be raised by public taxation. Adequate fees for overhauling signs, encroachments on sidewalks are often given insufficient consideration.

"There are other fields in which similar principles may be applied if there is a sincere desire and determined purpose to do justice both by the taxpayer and the user of services. Having augmented the revenues other than taxation if possible and as far as possible there still remains much that can be done.

"Taxes are made necessary by the cost of municipal service and anything which may be done to reduce the cost of such service immediately effects a reduction in taxation, in which case

The first question to ask, are there any services rendered by the city which should not be so rendered? If there are, these should be immediately eliminated. It may be that the services may be necessary in which case abolition is the remedy. It may be that they should be rendered by some other authority organization, in which case they should be turned over to the proper authority. Frequently services desirable in themselves are not justifiable under existing financial conditions. The private individual frequently finds that he must go without things he would like to have but does not actually need. Municipalities in the present juncture should ask themselves if all their services are based on needs or only on wants and desires. There is a continual urge on practically all municipalities to undertake new services. Sometimes these urgings come from small but noisy minorities and are taken by the people's representatives as the voice of the people. Such proposals, until Canada gets out of the woods, should be carefully examined and there should be a minute scrutiny of all services actually in existence to learn if some of them could not be at least temporarily suspended or reduced in scope without affecting the welfare of the people and their productive capacity.

ments with too high an overhead? Unless these questions can be answered satisfactorily there is inevitably waste and unnecessarily high taxation.

"While taxes may not be in proportion to the direct benefits received, the only basis for levying any taxes is the delivery or benefits. There are three main objects of benefit in taxation: "Property. "Business. "Professions.

COST OF SERVICES

"After ascertaining the necessity for existing services, inquiry should be made whether the cost of those services which it is found necessary to retain are produced at the least possible cost. For example, from 35% to 50% of all civic expenditures go to salaries and wages. Every city should ask itself whether the annual budget provides adequate financial control of the personnel and payroll of all departments. In many cities there are no complete records in available form of the number of civil employees or even of payments for personal services, or if these exist, no effective use of this information is made in budgetary control. How can any municipality really control its salaries and wage bill, its most important item of expenditure, if the financial documents for control purposes do not show the itemized facts, as to personnel and payments for personal services?"

"Again, are all employees hired on merit and promoted on merit or are other considerations allowed to influence appointments? Are individual service cards kept for all employees and made the basis of all promotions, transfers, retirements and removals from the service? Is anyone ever promoted or otherwise rewarded for outstanding good work or discharged for poor work? Unless all such questions can be satisfactorily answered, one may be sure that the spirit-decorps of the service is suffering and that there is waste in personnel and that the tax rate is affected.

CONTROL OF PURCHASING

"Of almost equal importance to the control of personnel is the control of purchasing and contracts. Are all purchases and contracts made on a competitive basis? Does each department or division do its own purchasing individually or is there centralization of price getting or purchasing? Are purchases made and contracts awarded so as to give the greatest service to the taxpayers or to distribute the good things among the boys and be of the greatest value for local political purposes? Unless all such questions can be answered satisfactorily, civic services are costing too much and the tax rate is too high.

"Again, is the civic organization such as to produce the greatest results for the least money? In the first place, is your city council so large that it degenerates into a debating society or is its membership elected so frequently as to make continuity of policy impossible? Does it confine itself to the decision of policies and seeing these policies carried out or does it interfere in the executive details of carrying out these policies by permanent officials appointed by men responsible to council for results? Are the civic departments practically self-sufficient compartments making full cooperation impossible, each standing on its own dignity and demanding that it regard its full share of money to expend? Are there too many departments with too high an overhead?"

importance, but unequal or defective assessment may even result in confusion or destruction of values and must result in injustice. If one man or business pays too little, another man or business must not only pay a full share but a part of the proper taxes of others. It is not merely a clerical or even a financial matter, it involves moral considerations. It is never right to "rob Peter to pay Paul."

"Property. "Business. "Professions. "All these receive benefits from civic expenditures through services rendered directly to them and therefore all should contribute to local taxes. Up to this point all or almost all agree, but from this on there is little agreement. Should land and buildings be assessed on the same basis? Should real and personal property be taxed at the same rate? Should tangible personal property be assessed in the same way as intangible personal property?"

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

"Granted a law on the statute books, is it fully carried out? Are all assessed who should be assessed? Are those who make the assessment paid well enough to secure the best expert service? Are the detailed records such as to make for thorough and equal assessment? Are all the facts available to enable the assessors to make a just assessment? Are assessors full time men who look upon the job as a profession or is it work which can be done as it were "with the left hand" while the other is working at something else? If all such questions cannot be answered satisfactorily all or some taxpayers are suffering the consequences.

"In conclusion, I should like to draw attention to certain phases of so-called uncontrollable expenditures. As a matter of fact all expenditures are controllable at some time, to some extent, by some authority, and because this fact has been obscured by the misuse of the word "uncontrollable" and by the fatalistic attitude it induces, the burdens of municipal taxpayers are larger today than they should be. A great part of these uncontrollable expenditures are debt charges on capital expenditures, once controllable but now not controllable. In your city is the budget of capital expenditures as carefully prepared as the annual budget of current expenditures? Are capital expenditures planned five or ten years ahead, or is each proposed improvement involving capital expenditure considered as a detached problem without reference to other commitments actual or possible? Have you a city planning organization with power to prepare a key plan to which the city can work? If not, it follows as sure as fate that the civic debt is too large, the debt charges excessive, and the taxpayers unnecessarily burdened. This does not mean that your debt should not be larger in that necessary improvements have not been made. It means only that the debt is too large for the benefits received.

"The municipal debt of Canada in 1925 was $1,100,000,000, $119 for every person in Canada and $295 for every family of five. The total municipal taxation of Canada in 1924 was $215,500,000, $23.86 for every person or $116.80 for every average family of five. Surely these facts are a sufficient warrant not only for live interest in questions connected with municipal

SCHOOL CHILDREN ARE MORE HEALTHY

Dr. Mabel Hanington, Medical Inspector, Notes Steady Improvement Among Pupils

The survey of all the pupils of the city schools by the medical inspector, Dr. Mabel Hanington, and her staff of nurses, was completed a short while ago and Dr. Hanington is now commencing her survey of the pupils of the schools in the county. She said yesterday that in the city schools each year a constant improvement was noted at the general survey. This year among the nearly 9,000 of pupils, there were only 19 cases of litch discovered and their speedy exclusion at the preliminary survey prevented the spread of the trouble to ten times that number of pupils. There was practically an entire absence of open sores among the pupils as the teachers' insistence upon the covering of all sores has been so rigid that the pupils adhere strictly to the requirements.

The splendid measure of co-operation given by the teachers is much appreciated by the medical inspector. Whereas the old-time spreading sore used to keep several children out of school for considerable periods these sores are now almost entirely absent.

Thomas Attek, of New York, arrived in the city yesterday at noon to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Powers, whose burial took place yesterday afternoon.

PREMIER FERGUSON REPLIES TO CRITICS

Declares Election Manifesto Closely Touches Welfare of People

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—Premier Ferguson will be content with any verdict the electors of Ontario may pronounce at the polls if they will in the meantime consider the proposals of the Ontario government's election manifesto "in a quiet deliberate way, dealing with the matter as a condition and not as a theory," the premier said in an interview. Mr. Ferguson said: "I have nothing to say about comment made by a number of people, because apparently, they have not criticised in any respect the grounds I've given in reaching my conclusion. I put before the public the general conditions as I see them, and am asking for a careful decision and consideration of the problem. "It doesn't serve any good purpose to simply declaim and shout 'Ferguson as tied up with the web.' All Ferguson desires of the public is to consider seriously this great question which touches so closely the moral welfare of all manhood and womanhood of this Province."

TEST FOR MUNN Nebraska Faces Strong Rival in Carter Friday Night

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—New light will be thrown on the championship aspirations of prominent young heavyweights, seeking the crown of Gene Tunney, in the second elimination tournament of Tex Rickard at Madison Square Garden, Friday night. Jim Maloney, the Boston heavy-weight who defeated Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Harry Wells, when the pair were struggling for the New England championship can join his Boston rival at the forefront of battle, by defeating Arthur De Kuh, the New York Italian whose heavy punching has brought over several opponents here. Maloney's impressive workouts have made him a slight favorite in the ten round scrap. Monte Munn, the huge Nebraskan, faces the strongest opponent of his short but exciting career in the second rounder with Carl Carter, the Cuban negro. Carter has a wide edge in experience but the westerner boasts ten straight victories, most of them by quick knockouts. The third ten round match will bring together Sandy Seifert, of Pittsburgh and Jack De Mave, the Holoken blonde, "fighting Bob" Lawson, Alabama negro will meet Yale Okun of New York.

ASKING RECALL OF GOVERNOR OF WASHINGTON

Effort Is Made to Eject Hartley on Several Charges

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 21.—A petition for the recall of Governor Roland H. Hartley of Washington has been filed with the Secretary of State. It charges him with violating his oath as governor and the commission of wrongful acts. Committees of citizens, including labor union men, immediately prepared to campaign for 97,275 signatures to the petition, the number required for holding a recall election. The petition charges the direct ouster of the dismissal of Dr. Henry Suzzallo as president of the University of Washington by vote of the members of the University Board of Regents appointed by Hartley. The petition charges the executive with appointing members of the legislature to administrative positions for the purpose of preventing the free expression of the will of the people through their representatives in the legislature. Concerning appropriations and leaves for state institutions, including institutions of higher education, it was charged the Governor "failed, neglected and refused" to enforce them and since the legislature had passed the necessary laws to prevent and has prevented their enforcement. The petition charged also that the Governor unjustly removed from office three University of Washington regents and a trustee of the Cheney Normal School in order that he might fill vacancies with his own appointees. Hartley became Governor 21 months ago and, having a recall, has 27 months to serve.

U. S. MUST BECOME FREE TRADE NATION

Head of Liverpool Cotton Assn. Predicts Change Unless Tariffs Reduced

British Union Press LIVERPOOL, Oct. 21.—The United States eventually must become a free trade nation unless her tariffs are reduced so that the American and European producers can enjoy the benefits of goods, A. S. Paton, chairman of the Liverpool Cotton Association, declared Wednesday. "It seems only natural," said Paton, who was one of the signers of the international manifesto against tariff barriers, "that Lancashire, England, should be permitted to produce fine cotton goods out of cotton brought from southern growers and exchange these goods with American consumers for their raw product. "At present American production in all lines points to the necessity of foreign markets for her surplus."

Invest to Build Canada

CANADA is a land of clearly defined destiny. And if you are watching Canadian development you must be impressed by the lengthening strides of industries based on national resources. To the big four basic industries, Agriculture, Mining, Lumbering and Fishing, must be added a new and most important factor in national growth. We possess and are harnessing the river and the waterfall with commanding success in basic industrial progress. More and more, industry on this continent is turning to water power for manufacturing stability. Our water powers, both those developed and to be developed, are a lodestone bringing to this country the great plants that build cities. Abundant electric power means the rapid development of those industries which bring consumers to the country. The shares and bonds of the big water power developments in Canada are among the soundest and most attractive of our Canadian securities. Every progressive citizen of Canada should have a part in the development of the country's basic industries.

As Hiram Sees It

"That's a good-sized craft," says Hiram, the town feller, 'pintin' to a schooner crossin' the water on moonlight on Long Reach. "That," says the town feller, "is the ghost of Louis de Amour's vessel that took part in destroyin' Fort William Henry, down the Maine coast. 'Alibon's' brother, d'Herberville, was in charge. He hed injuns from the Saint John an' from Cape Breton—an' some from Maine—an' two French war-ships. They captured a small British war-ship in Saint John harbor, but another got away. Then they crossed the bay to Port Royal to try to ketch John Alden of Boston that was tradin' with the Injuns—but he hed jist left. He was a son of John Alden of the Mayflower an' Pricill's an' dojed the French an' done a lot 'o' tradin' in the Bay o' Fundy in them times. D'Herberville he come back over the bay an' went down to Penobscot an' got more'n a hundred Injuns from there. They was two priests with the party. They went on to Penobscot an' give up with William Henry without firin' a shot. He hed a yaller streak—fer it cost twenty thousand pounds an' was the strongest English fort in Ameriky up to that time. Him an' his garrison was took prisoners an' Louis d'Amours took 'em to Boston in his schooner from the Saint John river. At that time he owned all the land at Jimsag that Soulanges hed afore he died. It was the ghosts o' him an' his craft we jist seen in the moonlight on the river. That raid took place in 1696." "Well," says Hiram, "the old Reach hes seen a lot—haint"

Month for Work and Another One for Study of Data

Dr. Horace L. Brittain, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research of Canada, this morning began the survey of the civic administration ordered by the Common Council, starting in the office of the Chamberlain. Four men will be engaged in the survey. Dr. Brittain's assistant and the accountant will join him tomorrow, and the municipal engineer will come a little later. Asked as to the probable cost of the survey, he said this was a matter for the Mayor to make public. He would say that the cost to the city would be the actual cost to the research bureau. The bureau was a citizens' organization and was not in business to make a profit, but it had to collect sufficient money to pay the running expenses from clients calling on it for service.

MOOSE PLENTIFUL IN CAMP VICINITY

J. J. McGaffigan of Saint John, and Guest, Get Nice One

The following is from the Chatham World of Wednesday: "J. J. McGaffigan of Saint John, and his friend, Henry C. Friel of Moncton, returned here at noon on Saturday with a large moose, with splendid head. These gentlemen report that moose and deer are plentiful in the neighborhood of Mr. McGaffigan's camp, 'the Caravan,' situated at the upper end of the Tilley road some distance from Tracadie.

"There are no places in the Province of New Brunswick where the moose have such excellent feeding. There are many miles of excellent hardwood forests of land, and it is noted by guides and hunters that the moose are constantly within walking distance of the villages of Tracadie, Moncton, and Joseph G. Dugay, one of the best known guides in Gloucester, accompanied the hunters. Mr. McGaffigan spends much of his time at his Tracadie camp, where, after many years of experience as a hunter and sportsman, he has provided himself with an ideal woodland retreat. He is a most generous host, and he is a most popular friend to come and spend a week with him, (and they are not few), and a royal entertainment is given when they visit him. Mr. McGaffigan is a much traveled man, learned and entertaining in his conversation, and an all-round good fellow."
