Weekly Herald. SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 29.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Captain Boynton has been padding from Amiens to Abbeville, on the Somme.

Hon. Mr. Laurier will deliver the speech of the evening before the Irish Society in Montreal shortly.

Dr. Holmes writes only in the morning. He devotes three hours a day to literary work.

The appointment of the Marquis de St. Vallier as the Ambassador of France to Berlin has been made.

His Excellency, the Governor General, is expected to address an Art Society at Montreal soon.

One thousand more workers in Sheffield have ceased work in consequence of the proposed reduction in wages.

Mr. Pierpont presented his letters of recall, and Mr. Walsh his credentials as United States Minister, to the Queen on Saturday last.

The Pope, it is said, is now holding daily audiences and is even mending in health. And so a certain occupation is gone.

THE OREGON FOR 1878, printed at the HERALD ON ROOFS, is now ready and can be had at the Bookstore of Messrs. Edw. Haney & Co., King Street.

The Quebec Government last year gave $240,748 to Provincial charities, and still their balance on hand was three million dollars.

We continue to-day the publication of "Fulton-Valence," the opening chapters of which were received with so much favor by our readers generally.

Longfellow received the other day from the old South Post Office a letter of admiration of his works written in Japanese.

The Cunard Company have partially withdrawn their line of steamships sailing between Liverpool and Boston, a fact considered to indicate a great falling off in the commerce of the "Hub."

The publishers of the New York Catholic Review, a very able paper by the way, are bringing out a cheap series of Catholic works. Fabiola is the first of the series, the price being 25 cents.

The opposition in North Perth have selected Mr. T. M. Daly, a former member of Parliament, and now Mayor of Stratford, as their candidate for the House of Commons at the general elections, and Mr. John McDermott, of Wallace, for the Legislature of Ontario.

Senator Blaine is credited with saying that the Southern people are playing a policy whereby they hope to gain possession of the Government, and that harmony between President Hayes and the Republican party under present circumstances is impossible.

The newspapers of the city that have so far noticed Miss Nannary's life of Father Dunphy, speak of it in terms of approbation. We are much pleased, both on account of the work and the talented authors, that the reception given her first effort has been so hearty and cheering.

The great equity suit in England of the Singer Manufacturing Company against Newton Wilson, involving the plaintiff's right to the exclusive use of its trade-name, has just been decided on appeal by the House of Lords in favor of the Singer Company, costs decreed against defendants.

The Torch, a witty, clever, readable paper, devoted to light literature, made its appearance last Saturday morning. We have much pleasure in welcoming this new aspirant to the rank of city journalism. The Torch is ably edited by Mr. Joseph S. Knowles, a gentleman who is known to be possessed of much ardent and refined taste in all that pertains to literary work. The new paper is beautifully printed at the office of G. W. Day.

A very enthusiastic Temperance meeting was held in St. Peter's Hall, Portland, on Sunday evening, under the auspices of the Catholic T. A. Union of New Brunswick. The speakers were listened to with the greatest attention, and their remarks were evidently received with satisfaction. We are informed that many of the foremost temperance men of the city made it a point to be present at this meeting, although the fallow season to the hall is considerable. The look such tears of the Union have reason to feel themself saluted at the success of the first rally held at the Convention. The speakers on the evening were Rev. Father Ouellet in the evening, Murray, and R. J. Ritchie, Esq. President of the N. B. Union.

The revenue of the Province of Quebec, for the fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1877, was $11,111, including $2,122,016 balance on hand in 1876, and exclusive of $4,185,833, derived from railway bonds. The expenditures were $2,514,147.30, exclusive of payments to railways amounting to $2,481,570, making $5,995,817, which deducted from the receipts, leaves a balance on hand of nearly three million dollars. A nice snug little balance that! New Brunswick can hardly show such a comfortable state of things in a purely material point of view. We often hear of how very far those French Canadians are behind the age. The above statement of facts would lead sensible people to the conclusion that they are not so far, so very far behind in the matter of money-making, at least.

We have been informed by a prominent member of the Reform Club that tickets of admission to the society have been taken out by about eighty members. Notwithstanding the press reports to the contrary, backsliders so far have been fewer than was to be expected. The ladies' branch of the organization is also doing much good work. The Cadet Reform Club recently started promises well. Societies such as these, working honestly and intelligently for the reform of the drunkard, must have the best wishes of every one who takes an interest in the well-being of his fellow-man. Other temperance organizations must see with pleasure this large accession to the ranks of the temperance men of the city.

The bill facts of this scandal upon our Dominion, are as follows, as related to us from reliable sources: A number of these passengers in ships in which small pox, fever, and other epidemics had broken out, were landed and quarantined, and in some cases numbers of the crew and officers of the ships, and were interred upon the island, near the Dominion Government. As a result of the ever memorable Sazby gale a few years ago, the sea broke so violently upon the island, that the entire island, from the outer edge of the Irish emigrants' grave yard, and extending to the same, was washed out to the ends of the same, exposing the ghastly contents of skulls and bones, and in some instances washing them out; even now the curious sight which was picked up last summer, on the beach of the main bank, near St. Andrews, which he had the misfortune to witness, was supposed to be one of those washed out of the graves on Little Hardwood Island. Now, Irishmen, ought to ask themselves, whether they should spend a few dollars in performing a single act of humanity that would redound to the lasting credit of the Dominion Government, or a standing disgrace to both.

If this matter be not attended to, the Irish people, who are so proud of their country, will have to answer for the standing act of vandalism and insult to themselves and race. Mr. Gillmor, who is a subscriber and a supporter of the Government, has no power in an representation he may make, but Mr. Gillmor, who is a subscriber and a supporter of the Government, stands condemned nevertheless.

A NOBLE CHARITY. St. John can boast of many charities which tend to show that in this respect it is steadily and faithfully copying the example of the more charitable cities of the continent, but there is one to which we wish to direct the attention of our readers. It is the St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, under the direction of the Sisters of Charity, those devoted religious women, who in every land have done and are doing so much in the cause of charity. On Sunday last, in the Cathedral and in St. Peter's Church, Portland, a statement was made showing this institution to be in excellent financial standing, while the patience, zeal and devotedness of the good sisters left nothing to be desired with regard to the attention and kindness bestowed on their orphan charges. The facts thus given to the public go to show that during the year the largest number of orphans in the Asylum at one time was eighty-seven, while the average was eighty-one. The number now under the care of the Sisters of Charity is eighty-four, a large increase being due to the effects of the late disastrous conflagration, by which many poor children were left homeless. On this account there would have been a large deficit this year had not the Special Relief Committee, consisting of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, the Mayor and the President of the Board of Trade, given to the orphans $3,000 from that fund. With this and through the liberality of the Roman Catholics the Asylum was enabled to continue its good and useful labors during a year which for many reasons has been a trying one for charities of every kind.

As it is customary to find homes for the orphans in good Catholic families, principally in the country, nineteen children were placed in such homes during year, and thirty-two in all were received into the Asylum. It will be seen that the Sisters in charge of this truly noble institution are doing a really meritorious work, which fact is so much recognized that persons of all creeds and class contribute from time to time to the good work. Those who are desirous of devoting a share of the wealth with which God has blessed them to the welfare of the poor and deserving could not better do so in a more worthy object. What may be called the ordinary sources of the Asylum during the past year were the following legacies, donations, collections and investments, which latter have been accumulating for some years, until now the same amount is quite respectable.

St. Peter's Church, Portland, Christmas Day, 1877, $241.50
St. Paul's Church, Portland, Christmas Day, 1877, 125.25
St. John's Church, Portland, Christmas Day, 1877, 250.00
From the Rev. Mr. Ouellet's legacy, 644.50
From friends and relatives' gifts, 250.00
Cathedral contributions, 100.00
Wholesale contributions, 250.00
Legacies of Rev. Mr. Murray, 185.46
The Society of St. Vincent, 100.00
Legacy of Rev. Mr. Ouellet, 100.00

Total, $3,126.25
Less last year's deficiency, 125.00
Balance, $3,001.25

While the annual expenditure amounts to nearly $4,000, the usual income from all sources is generally less than that amount by some hundreds of dollars. The well-known generosity of our citizens will, we are convinced, soon remedy this gallant band, while seeking to destroy Sitting Bull and his braves, is a thing which poets will have to dwell, and the story will form an unperishable page in American history.

The loss of the war-steamer "Huron," Commander Ryan, was one of those sad, tear-inducing events, which astound the world.

In our own fair Dominion, the events of the year 1877, have been much on a par with those of 1876, - the year about which will be of a different character, as the General and Local Elections take place in it. On the whole, the country has not suffered as much as was to be expected, from the depression ruling everywhere.

Of course, honorable members of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition, as in duty bound, have preferred the usual number of charges against Mr. Mackenzie's Government during the year. The Government, on their side, have, of course, as is always the case in such matters, proved to their own satisfaction, that their opponents were the most foolish of men ever to dream of finding anything like corruption or favoritism in the ranks of the party of purity and reform. This is, at least, consoing to the average mind in the matter of utter moral depravity. Public works, beneficial to the whole Dominion, have been carried on in a manner that proves the Dominion Government to be possessed of much energy and a natural desire to leave behind them some monuments of their ability, which will sell future generations as the great Reform party once was in this Canada of ours.

1877 has witnessed the beginning of an agitation for Maritime Union in the Provinces by the sea, which, doubtless, will soon bring about the desired change.

The trade and commerce of all these Provinces have been such that we have great reason to be thankful. Lumber and the fisheries have been prosecuted with satisfactory results, which have, in many cases, been an improvement on those of former years. The decision of the Fishery Commission, held at Halifax during the year, while not settling all the questions in dispute, has arrived at a solution which is favorable to these Provinces and the whole Dominion. The Commission, in itself, is an evidence that the world is growing tired of settling difficulties between nations by the sword, and will be found in the future more disposed to have recourse to peaceful means of arbitration. While the Province during the year 1877, has reason to be thankful for the peace and contentment and plenty reigning throughout its borders, the City of Saint John, the heart of the Province, has been eminently sojourner. The year 1877 is one which will be forever memorable in our annals as the year in which the great Fire occurred. So former fire would have fearful rain to this or any other city, and it is not probable that such another really memorable event will ever be recorded in our history. Sad as the event was, it gave rise to many noble acts of generosity, showed so clearly the energy, the patriotism, the faith and the confidence of our citizens generally, that, while we cannot look upon it as a universal blessing, we have no reason to be despondent, particularly when the form of a fairer and more beautiful city is rapidly taking the place of it. Looking at what has been accomplished during the latter months of 1877, we have reason to congratulate ourselves on the progress made, and to look forward to 1878 as the most beautiful of the work of 1877. We look, then, to the new year with confidence born of past successes, hoping that for the readers of the HERALD in particular, and for all in general, it may be -

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

THE ST. JOHN COURIER FINDS A REAL IRISH GRIEVANCE.

The St. John Courier, referring to our remarks on the Hon. Surveyor General's speech, says that "Irishmen in this country don't need to be spoon-fed as Capt. Brown says, and we can point to numbers of them who have carved their way to fortune, and are the men who are making our local institutions what they are today. Such men, for instance, as the Messrs. Cullinan, Brown, Sullivan, Horan and numbers of others, who are making for themselves a reputation and a name which will be recorded in the archives of the town." The Courier is mistaken in supposing that the HERALD asked for the Irish in this Province more than what was justly their due. When we, supporting all of those formed by Irishmen as of the new settlements in New Brunswick, asked why he did not speak as kindly of those formed by Irishmen as of the colonies settled by the Scotch, etc., we did not ask that the Irish should be "spoon-fed" or pampered, but that common justice should be done them by a member of our Local Government. We are glad to state that the explanations of the Surveyor General did not do the slightest attention of doing any injustice to Irishmen. We do so for Irishmen of other lands but only what is right and just. But these matters of the Courier are more important to the Irish situation than what is called a "real grievance."

It is gratifying to observe such signs of progress in a paper which has adopted a policy of moderation and independence in dealing with almost all matters treated in its columns. The "Mystery of Fulton-Valence," which promises to be an interesting story, is commenced in the last number. It is written by Mrs. Beatrice McGowan of Chatham.

GENERAL NEWS.

A grand banquet and presentation is to be given in Toronto on the 9th of January to Sir John McDonald.

There is an unprecedented case on trial at Columbia (S. C.) Six children, the eldest only ten years of age, are accused of murder. While picking cotton one of them was struck by a young lad, whom they unitedly attacked, inflicting wounds which resulted in his death. The case is perhaps without a parallel.

It is stated that Lord Bute is about to transfer an English church to the Roman Catholics in the Rhonda Valley, Wales. It was built by the Marquis' trustees while he was a minor, but as they omitted to make it over to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners he has full power to divert it to his present use.

If we may trust the London correspondent of the Scotsman, the Government are at present greatly exercised as to what to do about the Home Rule Obstructionist next session. There, it is stated, recently increased in number from four to twenty-five, and it is their intention to obstruct every Parliamentary bill, and even every item of the estimates; but Ministers, it is added, hesitate about asking the House, jealous as it is of the rights of minorities, to assert its full power in stopping the liberty of debate, however unfairly it may be used. "A policy of conciliation," is talked of instead, the conciliation hinted at being to bring in bills for the reform of municipal government in Ireland, for increased denominational education, and so forth. If all this be true, Government seem to have before it a very pretty imbroglio.

An extraordinary case has come before the Lindsay Bench of Magistrates at Livingston. A publican named Wheatley, living at Saxby, was charged by his wife with having, in company with his brother, pounced upon her, seized her, and dragged her upstairs, where she was chained to the wall in her bedroom and kept there all night and the next day until four o'clock.

The woman said they put the chain round her body and fastened her to the wall with the padlock produced. She had just a yard of liberty. The complainant said in bed all the next day from the effects of the treatment. A domestic said she saw Mrs. Wheatley fastened up; she screamed very much during the night, but witness did not think she suffered much. She called for some one to go to her, but witness could do nothing. Her husband was with her all the time she was chained up. Another servant deposed to seeing her mistreated. She was crying to be set at liberty, but witness could not help her. She said she was suffering very much and appeared to witness to be in great pain. The chain was a heavy one. The defendant, in answer to the charge said his reason for chaining her up was that she had been drinking for some days previous. He chained her up on the advice of the village doctor, who thought the best thing he could do was to secure her properly. Dr. Rainald said the woman was constantly more or less under the influence of drink, and her husband asked him what he was to do with her. He referred her to the law, but a solicitor told the defendant the law would not assist him, and witness then told him the best plan would be to secure her while she was under the influence of drink, as she did much damage at those times, and had attempted to take her own life. He advised him to use a strap to secure her. After a long consultation the magistrate decided that the charge of assault had been proved, but in the circumstances he did not intend to impose any penalty. The magistrates were of opinion that defendant had been mistaken in the power he had over his wife. He had the right to secure her from doing violence to herself or himself, or to any one else, but not in the way it was proved he had treated her. It was a most painful and difficult case. The defendant then paid the costs, 2s., and left the Court with his wife.

Government would he so remiss in the discharge of a duty it owes to the whole country, so utterly lost to the feeling which even among savages procures for the dead decent burial. We give the Courier's statement of the case, hoping that those in a position to do so will be able to offer some satisfactory explanation of a state of things which is simply monstrous.

The bill facts of this scandal upon our Dominion, are as follows, as related to us from reliable sources: A number of these passengers in ships in which small pox, fever, and other epidemics had broken out, were landed and quarantined, and in some cases numbers of the crew and officers of the ships, and were interred upon the island, near the Dominion Government. Mr. Gillmor, who is a subscriber and a supporter of the Government, has no power in an representation he may make, but Mr. Gillmor, who is a subscriber and a supporter of the Government, stands condemned nevertheless.
