Such is the View of President-Elect Harding in Review of the Contest.

RUMORS REVIVE ABOUT CABINET

End of Democratic Party is Predicted, While Temperance People Are Satisfied.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Warren G. Harding spent his first day as President-elect resting from the tension of election night and reviewing returns with particular attention to the make-up of the Sixty-seventh Congress.

He expressed keen pleasure as the growing figures confirmed a Republican gain in both Senate and House, for he had told his friends that his greatest apprehension over the outcome had been that as president his hands might be tied by lack of a working party majority in the legislative branch.

Not Personal Triumph Mr. Harding was not inclined to regard his triumph as a personal one, telling his friends that the decision was made on issues rather than candidates, and that the League of Nations and the Wilson domestic administration were the determining factors.

The avalanche of congratulatory messages addressed to the President-elect and Mrs. Harding increased in proportion today. The defeated Democratic candidate, Governor Cox, sent a brief telegram, accepting the result and congratulating Mr. Harding.

Who Will Be Ministers? With the result of the election known, gossip about cabinet selections is rife and enough material to fill a dozen cabinets are mentioned, all purely in a speculative way as yet.

Names most often heard are those of E. H. Root, Senator Knox, Senator Lodge, Chas. E. Hughes, Governor Leonard Wood, Governor Lowden, Illinois, former Senator John W. Weeks, and Harry M. Dugan.

CANADA TREATS VETERANS WELL SAYS MELIGHEN

Army Was Back from Overseas Before One Party Had Its Plans Prepared.

TELLS WEST LIBERALS AGAINST FRUIT DUTY

Soldier Treatment Better Than That Given Heroes in Any Other Nation.

Sumnerland, B. C., Nov. 3.—The important decisions of the government on immense problems had been such, Hon. Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, told an audience here this afternoon that there was every reason to take pride in its achievements.

Speaking of the work of General Meighen in demobilization, the Premier declared the Canadian army was home a long time before many persons realized that fact. One party, he stated, had drawn up a platform with a plan, worked out in detail, for demobilizing, and then discovered that the entire army had been back from the front nearly three months.

Referring to the demand of Colonel Edgett, the copesitic candidate in Yale-Caribou, for protection for fruit, the Premier asked if it was common sense to run against the government on a government platform. A vote for Mackenzie King, he declared, was a vote against fruit duties, which was essential to the welfare of this valley.

PARSON OFFICER TELLS OF FIGHT WITH RUM GANGS

Rev. Mr. Spracklin in Only One Gun Battle Along the Windsor, Ont., Frontier.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, special license inspector in the Windsor district, this afternoon told the special committee of the legislature which is investigating the working of the Ontario Temperance Act the story of his campaign against rum-runners, bootleggers and keepers of "blind-pigs."

He told of having tried to get the Town Council of Sandwich to take action to put a stop to the drunkenness in that town, but the Council turned the matter over to the Police Committee, and the latter's investigation of the local police was a farce which Rev. Mr. Spracklin had refused to recognize.

Some of His Troubles. He said that on one occasion when he and his men stopped a big motor car one of the occupants said he was a member of the Police Commission, and he said that he had many six loads of liquor passed his home every day.

There was only one shooting affair, Mr. Spracklin said; on that occasion his party fired in self-defence. The Italian brothers were "good producers," Mr. Spracklin said, in answer to a question from Major J. C. Tomlin.

MINE LEADERS CALL ALL TO RESUME WORK

Coal Strike of Million Men in Britain Declared off by Executive Heads.

BALLOT SHOWS ADVERSE VOTING

Workers Are Advised to Get Back to Their Old Tasks Immediately.

London, Nov. 3.—The executive officers of the miners' federation have decided to declare the coal strike ended and advise the men to resume work. This action was resolved upon at a conference of the executive today, although the ballot of the miners showed a majority of more than 8,000 against accepting the government's settlement proposals.

Started on October 15. The coal miners strike, involving more than 1,000,000 workers in various parts of Great Britain, was begun October 15. The consequent interruption of the coal supply has caused widespread cessation of industry throughout the United Kingdom. On October 28, after an agreement by the government to re-open negotiations had resulted in the halting of the strike, it was announced that the strike had been provisionally settled by an agreement between the miners' wages, as they demanded, the permanency of the increase, however, to be contingent upon sustained volume of production.

This settlement agreement, made by the miners' executive officers with the government and mine owners, had had to be submitted to the miners themselves for approval, and today's action shows that this approval was not forthcoming by majority vote, the negative margin, however, being comparatively narrow.

How Miners Voted. Figures of balloting by the men showed a majority of 8,459 against acceptance of the government's offer, but this was not effective. The federation rules require a majority of two-thirds for a continuance of the strike.

Only four districts were against the offer, namely, South Wales, with a majority of 48,000; Lancashire, 35,000; Nottinghamshire, 1,000, and the Forest of Dean, 200. The total vote was 684,548.

One immediate result of the settlement is the resumption of mining on Friday, and the railway services will be restored. It is expected, on Monday.

"The appointment of Herbert Hoover and Billie Root, whose names are mentioned," says the paper, "would be viewed here with unqualified satisfaction."

End of Democrats

Salt Lake City, Nov. 3.—Harley P. Christensen, presidential nominee of the Farmer-Labor, sees in the victory of Senator Harding the elimination of the Democratic Party as a factor in United States national politics.

In a statement today he said: "Our vote is very satisfactory. The result means that the next fight will be between the Republican and the Farmer-Labor Parties. Democrats cannot come back. Organized Labor also has learned its lesson. We cannot hope for relief from either of the old parties. In the next fight labor will be united with the Farmers and other forward-looking people in the Farmer-Labor Party."

"Dry" Party Satisfied

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The election of Senator Harding is more pleasing to the prohibitionists than the election of Cox would have been. Virgil Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee said here this morning in his first statement of the election.

"This is because of his recent public statements made to the National Temperance Council that he would use whatever power he possessed to prevent the re-establishment of intoxicating liquors, and also his statement that his future action on prohibition should be interpreted by his vote on the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Law, Mr. Hinshaw said."

Acadia Team Won From The U. N. B.

Score Was Six to Three—Ragged, Loosely Played Game at Capital.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 3.—Acadia eliminated U. N. B. from football championship chances this season by winning today's game at College Field by two tries to one, the final score being 6 to 3. It was a ragged, loosely played game with but little good football.

In addition to getting the breaks of the game, Acadia's players showed up best and took full advantage of the laxity of the referee, Dr. H. E. Bigelow, of Mount Allison University, who was agreed to at the eleventh hour, when a deadlock over the selection of a referee existed.

Wild Passes. The Red and Black back division made themselves prominent by wild passes and fumbling. Their opponents were snappier and quicker to get away with the ball, and few wild passes were noticed in their play.

Cain and Trimble, the prominent players in the U. N. B. half line, and at the same time they committed the majority of the offenses which killed scoring chances.

Porter and Clark were the stars of Acadia's back division and scored their tries. Lounsbury played his usual good game for U. N. B., as did Burgess, the tiny quarter, and Jewett, the other of the trio of hockey stars. The former by a spectacular run and hurdle over Parker, the Acadia full back, secured his team's only try.

Were Outweighed. The U. N. B. forwards were outweighed by their opponents, and at times were pushed clean over the ball. Capt. Saunders was noticeably the best player among the Scrim men on the field, his following up and aggressive playing saving the U. N. B. team from being scored against several times. By ducking the line a number of times in the first period of play, Saunders got the ball away from his own goal line. Penalty kicks were plentiful, some fifteen being awarded in all. Of these Acadia had seven, while U. N. B. took eight, attempting goals on three of them. Two of the chances were easy an accurate kicker could thus have won for U. N. B.

TORPID LIVER FOR OVER 4 MONTHS

The duty of the liver is to prepare and excrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

When the liver becomes lazy, slow or torpid it is not working properly, and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills quickly remove the secretions, clear away the waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, and cause so many troubles.

Mrs. Alice Mehll, Napanea, Ont., writes:—"I was very badly run down, and had a torpid liver for four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials, and I am a different person today. I can safely recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to any one troubled with liver trouble."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct, on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Governor Coolidge Cheers. Boston, Nov. 3.—Governor Coolidge, tonight at one of the gratifying results of election, "has been the national support of the ticket."

Governor Coolidge spent a day at the State House attending duties as governor, and announced that he would continue to direct state affairs until his term expired on January 1.

A luncheon was tendered to Coolidge at the State House when he left the State House to attend a meeting of the executive council, he was accorded an ovation by thousands.

Wilson is Silent

Washington, Nov. 3.—President Wilson has no comment to make on the result of Tuesday's election nor did he send any message of congratulation to President-elect Harding.

The President arose early this morning, and after breakfast, studied later figures of the Republican campaign as contained in the morning papers. Later he conferred with Secretary Tamm.

Rear-Admiral Cary T. Gray, President's personal physician, a special visit to him at the White House, to inquire into the president's health apparently had not been affected by the result of the election.

Official and Diplomatic Washington, Nov. 3.—The president's public victory, in what less than two weeks of the presidential election, declared to be a "solemn referendum on the League of Nations, after the Treaty of Versailles, which the president's probable course with the League of Nations, which the Senate refused to ratify it for one time last February.

Two Courses Open

There was no one in Washington who professed to know what the president had in mind, and many courses were regarded as possible; to leave the whole question of peace with Germany and the League of Nations to the new administration which office March 4, or to re-submit the treaty to the Senate at the beginning of the new year.

Such a measure was adopted the last session, but was vetoed by President Wilson.

Whether the Republican will undertake to revive that measure to be decided by Republican leaders.

Governor Coolidge Cheered
Boston, Nov. 3.—Governor Coolidge, vice-president-elect, tonight said that one of the gratifying results of the election "has been the nation-wide support of the ticket."

Governor Coolidge spent the day at the State House attending to his duties as governor, and announced that he would continue actively to direct state affairs until his term expired on January 1.

A luncheon was tendered the Governor at the City Club this noon, and when he left the State House after attending a meeting of the executive council, he was accorded an ovation by thousands.

Wilson is Silent
Washington, Nov. 3.—President Wilson had no comment to make today on the result of Tuesday's election, nor did he send any message of congratulation to President-elect Harding.

The President arose early this morning, and after breakfast, scanned the later figures of the Republican victory as contained in the morning newspapers. Later he conferred with Secretary Tamm.

Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the president's personal physician, made a special visit to him at noon and stated subsequently that the president's health apparently had been unaffected by the result of the election.

Official and Diplomatic Washington impressed by the proportions of Republican victory, what leaders on both sides in the presidential fight had declared to be a "solemn referendum" on the League of Nations, already have begun to speculate as to the president's probable course with regard to the Treaty of Versailles, which has reposed in the White House since the Senate refused to ratify it for a second time last February.

Two Courses Open

There was no one in Washington who professed to know what decision, if any, the president had made. Two courses were regarded as open to him; to leave the whole question of peace with Germany and the League to the new administration which takes office March 4, or to re-submit the treaty to the Senate at the session beginning early in December. Unless the treaty is re-submitted to the Senate, that body at its forthcoming session could act on the question of peace with Germany only by resolution. Such a measure was adopted at the last session, but was vetoed by President Wilson.

Whether the Republican majority will undertake to revive that issue remains to be decided by Republican leaders.

Ald. Cooper stated that the committee had agreed upon the green in front of Customs House and the triangular green at the western junction of King and Brunswick streets as the site for the two guns allotted to the city. ENTENTE DEMAND FOR DISARMAMENT GERMANY JUSTIFIED

More Than 1,000,000 Rifles and Thousands of Machine Guns Found.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger.)
Berlin, Nov. 3.—The necessity of the Entente's demand at the Spa conference for the collection and destruction of hidden weapons in the possession of the German population is justified by figures which the disarmament commission communicated to the Reichstag this week answering the demand of Dr. Scheidemann, the Socialist leader, 209 canon, 11,655 machine guns, mine-throwers and flame projectors and 1,726,000 military rifles and carbines—enough equipment for an army of menacing size—have already been turned in.

The armament represents, with small exceptions, only voluntary surrenders, and there is no telling what amount of arms remains in the possession of illegal organizations of radicals and reactionaries, to whose plans and activities the papers daily devote long reports. Not do the figures embrace the number of weapons in possession of the homeguards in Bavaria and south Germany, the disarmament of which has still to be effected.

Admits Report Correct

Dr. Scheidemann demanded a reply as to whether a great store of arms had been discovered in Potsdam, which had been concealed by members of the army. The disarmament commissioner was forced to admit the report was correct, although the figures mentioned by Scheidemann, namely more than 900 machine guns and many thousand rifles, was exaggerated. The surrender of the arms has been accompanied by many serio-comic incidents. In one instance army officers, according to Vorwarts, secreted arms in the collar of a former officer whom they judged to be a trustworthy veteran. A good enough business man, he in turn gave up the weapons to the commissioners and received a reward amounting to thousands of marks, whereupon the disappointed conspirators caused his arrest on a charge of stealing.

Just now the paper is full of disclosures that a plan was to establish a new "center of order" in Saxony to organize a reactionary force known as "the steel helmets," the conspirators including various army officers who worked with great secrecy and conducted their correspondence in cipher, but the activities came to light and two leaders were dismissed from the army, while steps have been taken to break up the organization.

INCENDIARY FIRES AT FIRST HOME OF N. B. LEGISLATURE

Firemen Declare Early Blaze at Segee Building at Fredericton Was Set.

Special to The Standard
Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 3.—The frame building on Queen street, which was first used by the House of Assembly of New Brunswick on July 10, 1788, and for twelve years afterwards—one of the historic spots in Fredericton—was damaged by two fires last night, both of which are believed to have been of incendiary origin.

The lower part of the building was the scene of the first fire. The department found flames in some hay and straw tucked under a floor of a shed at the rear of the building, which were quickly extinguished by the use of the chemical extinguishers, and there was no sign of fire there when the firemen left the place. About 12 o'clock another alarm was sent in by George Aliotis, who happened to be walking down Queen street, and saw flames issuing from the side of the building.

LEAGUE PLANS WAR ON WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC

Geneva Assembly Will Adopt Strong Measures to Combat This Inhuman Business.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger.) London, Nov. 3.—Officials of the League of Nations plan to take two important steps in the interest of the health of the peoples of the world when the League Assembly meets at Geneva in November. They hope to carry out the project already approved by the council at San Sebastian for forming an international health organization and to agree on a suitable plan of action for combatting the recent increase in white slave traffic.

It will be the general purpose of the health organization of the league, the work of which is now being carried on under the direction of Dame Rachael Crowdy, the only woman head of a department of the league to deal with matters of health as they affect individual countries only in their relations with other countries. The main functions will be:

- First. To advise the league on all matters concerning health.
- Second. To bring administrative health authorities in different countries in closer relationship with each other.
- Third. To furnish means of more rapid interchange of information on matters where immediate precaution against disease may be required, and to simplify methods for acting rapidly on such information when it affects more than one country.
- Fourth. To co-operate with the international labor organization in regard to measures for the protection of the worker against sickness, disease and injury that might arise from unemployment.
- Fifth. To confer and co-operate with Red Cross societies.
- Sixth. To organize missions in connection with any matters of health at the request of the league.

Combine with Red Cross.

By combining forces with the Red Cross and securing the representation of organized labor possibilities are foreseen of putting into practice the plans of the organization on a scale that would otherwise have been impossible. It is hoped that the co-operation of labor will result in very largely reducing the disastrous effects that dangerous epidemics have had in frequent stoppage of industry.

During the period of the war traffic in white women and children from one country to another practically ceased to exist, but indications are apparent that there has been a general revival in the last two years. The increase has been especially marked in those sections of central Europe where there is a scarcity of food. Dame Crowdy, who is likewise head of this department, and combines the duties with those of the health department, stated that she anticipates the result of the presentation of this subject to the Assembly of the league will be a decision to call an international conference of official representatives from all countries to deal with this matter. In case the conference is called as expected all governments of the world irrespective of their being members or nonmembers of the league will be invited to send delegates.

Subjects that are likely to be considered at the proposed international gathering are: first, a revision if necessary of the agreement signed by the representatives of twenty-two nations at the conference of 1910, and second, passage of new legislation as the situation demands, and third, completion of the work begun at the conference of 1913, which remained unfinished because of the outbreak of the war.

SIX NEGROES ARE KILLED IN STATES' ELECTION FIGHT

Five Were Burned to Death and One Was Hanged by the Mob.

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 3.—Five negroes have been burned to death and another hung to a tree as a result of a fight which started at the polls at Ocoee, near here, last night, after election officials had refused to permit Mose Norman, a negro, to vote on the ground that he had failed to pay his poll tax. Two white men were shot and killed and several others, including a former police chief, were wounded in the fight which preceded the wholesale lynching. The negroes burned met death in houses in which they had congregated, and which were fired. The sixth negro killed was taken from a jail early this morning by a mob.

JAPAN IS BUILDING RAILWAY IN RUSSIA

Saghalien Force Has Been Reorganized and Strengthened by Japs.

Washington, Nov. 3.—It is reported in the Japanese press that preparations are in progress for the construction of a light railway in Saghalien connecting Alexandrofski and Rakho-faki via Dolvinskoi, a distance of 40 miles. It is also reported that the construction of roads for the use of the Japanese garrison, especially against emergencies during the winter season, is well under way, under the supervision of military engineers. It is understood that the Japanese garrison in South Saghalien has been reorganized, and that three companies from the Seventh Division have been assigned to the island, two companies being stationed at Toyohara and the third in the vicinity of Shikha on the Eastern Coast. The increase of the garrison is believed to have resulted from the occupation by Japan of Northern Saghalien pending a settlement by Russia for the massacre of Japanese soldiers and civilians at Nicolaevesk early this year.

The Dublin newspaper golfing society is the result of a meeting held recently in the city which was the inauguration of a golfing society, which has recently been established and embraces all departments of all the newspapers. H. A. Powell, K. C., Gives Interesting Interview on Work of Waterway Commission.

Many Sessions The Commissioners began their literary at Ottawa from which place they went to Montreal for three days, thence to Kingston, Toronto and Niagara Falls, then to Albany, Boston, New York, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Michigan, Minneapolis, Chicago, Indianapolis and Cleveland. The chief evidence given was in reference to the amount of commerce which would patronize the proposed waterway; and a very large amount of evidence was taken as to the agricultural, mining and industrial possibilities of Canada, the northwest, the United States and New England.

Appeal to Make Businesslike Preparations Threw Cold Water on Miners' Fiery Talk

London, Nov. 2.—The current issue of the Democrat, a moderate trade union organ, prints a remarkable story about the coal strike and its revolutionary aspects. The paper says: "During the discussion, which preceded the decision to admit the datum line there appeared to be a majority in favor of revolution and to those who had for years preached revolution and who at an alliance gathering expressed themselves quite ready to undertake the risks of revolution, one of the members said: 'The danger is not that you are out for revolution, in that case let us have a businesslike revolution. Name your cabinet, name the commanders of your armies and decide from what source you will obtain your machine guns and how you will keep them supplied with ammunition. Decide who are to replace the fallen, but above all, make out a list of those you intend to hang to prevent them hankering you.'"

Where Opponents Are

The opponents of the canal are chiefly to be found in the cities of Montreal and New York. Montreal opposes the scheme on the ground that a better scheme of development would be that of the Ottawa River by the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. There is evidently a fear in Montreal that if ocean-going vessels sailed between the ocean ports and the parts of the Great Lakes that trade would be carried past Montreal and its importance as a great distributing centre would be lessened. The City of Toronto, on the other hand, strongly supports the proposed undertaking, and has entered upon a vast scheme of harbor development involving upwards of $20,000,000, so that that city will be in readiness to profit by the undertaking the moment it is completed.

The opposition in New York is quite strong, and is based upon two contentions. The first is that it would injure the Erie Canal which connects the Hudson River with Buffalo on the Niagara River, and thus impair the usefulness of a great barge way which has cost the State of New York upwards of hundreds of millions of dollars.

The Erie Canal is a large canal, and its capacity at present is unequalled on the part of through-going vessels, excepting about nine feet. The second objection is upon the alleged fact that the City of New York portage about twenty-seven per cent of the total federal expenses of the United States; and it is unwilling to pay twenty-seven per cent of the cost of the canal on the Hudson River, which would injure the commercial interests of New York, and be of doubtful advantage even to the west. There is a third ground which is put forward on behalf of the interests of New York, namely, the great preponderance of resulting good from the canal which would accrue to Canada; and it is unfair to tax New York heavily for a work which would prove of tremendous advantage to a foreign country.

Fourth objection is even suggested, and that is that the St. Lawrence waterway in the event of war would accord the enemies of the United States an opportunity of invading the country from the north.

The promoters of the scheme advance the argument that New York's greatness depends not upon any impatience on the part of the United States an opportunity of invading the country from the north.

At the hearings in New York a number of prominent men, including Mr. Hoover, the strongest man before the Chicago convention for the office of president, who gave strong testimony in favor of the project and claimed that the opposition to the scheme was based upon the principle of parish politics. Mr. Hoover expressed the view that inssofar as grain was concerned, ten years hence would be the cessation of the exportation of wheat and flour from the United States entirely, unless the cause of agriculture in the west was stimulated, both by more extensive farming and thence by rail to American ports. The fact that the St. Lawrence waterway was in its infancy was a great deal of testimony was taken in New York, also as to the importance of the power development of the St. Lawrence river. In previous years four and five million horse-power would be created, of which over three million would be within Canadian territory.

This fact is used by the opponents of the scheme who claim that a portion of United States money should be used in the development of works and industries in Canada, which is a foreign country. In reply to this contention the promoters of the scheme argue that the development of the St. Lawrence river cannot be looked upon as development in a foreign country.

From the International boundary, a few miles above Montreal, to the furthest limit of the Great Lakes, the United States and Canada are both virtue of the principles of international law and by the provisions of treaties between Great Britain and the United States, owners in common of navigation and power facilities of the boundary waters, and from the international and power facilities of the boundary line above Montreal to the St. Lawrence Gulf, the St. Lawrence is open by treaty to free and unimpeded navigation on the part of citizens of the Republic, and that Canada, at the expenditure of over one hundred and fifty million dollars, provided aids to navigation which are all open to the United States and are used in some cases by Americans to a greater extent than by Canadians, although the United States has not contributed a dollar to the improvements.

Another objection which is argued to the scheme is that large ocean steamers cannot be economically or successfully navigated above Montreal and can never take the place of the lake boats, which afford the cheapest transportation of freight in the world. A good deal of evidence was given that these large vessels could not navigate the channels unless a very slow rate of speed—four or five miles per hour. Against this contention it was claimed that with the exception of about fifty miles of straitly canal navigation the whole waterway from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Duluth would be through the great expanse of the St. Lawrence, Niagara, Detroit and St. Clair rivers, all of the Great Lakes, where an ocean liner could steam at full speed just as the lake boats now steam.

THE ELECTION—AND AFTER.

Whatever efforts President Wilson may have put forth to make the world safe for democracy, he seems to have made the United States very unsafe for Democrats; for Tuesday's elections have resulted in a complete landslide in favor of the Republican party. The majority of the people have evidently had enough of Wilsonian policies and have decided that it was time for a change.

One of the first acts of the new President must be to define the United States' position with regard to the League of Nations. With his declared intention to accomplish the purpose which he and his colleagues had in view when voting for the League with the Lodge reservations, he will find when confronting the actual situation that a brand new association of nations has insurmountable difficulties and that the existing League is not only the easiest but the only practical basis for negotiation to attain that purpose. This gives good ground for belief that through his election the only possible solution of the League question, to wit, the League possibly perfected in many ways but with the obligations of Article X removed, may be secured.

Under a Republican regime, also, an upward revision of the tariff may be expected. Sore and dissatisfied on account of the Peace Treaty fiasco and the terrible demoralization of industrial life through government mismanagement, the people of the United States are in no mood to indulge in economic experiments. An Ottawa despatch indicates that it is anticipated that one result of the Republican victory will be the cancellation of the reciprocal clauses in the Underwood tariff, under which wheat, wheat products and potatoes have passed duty free between this country and the United States. The free admission of Canadian wheat into the neighboring Republic has been a source of much annoyance to the farmers of the Western States for a considerable time. A change in present conditions will also operate to the disadvantage of the New Brunswick potato growers, who would find their product penalized in the American markets.

However, we can but wait and see what time will bring forth, and it is idle to speculate on possible changes in the conditions which govern international trade.

U. S. INTERFERENCE.

Great Britain would appear to have as much right to protest against the American protectorate of Haiti as the United States has to protest against British government in Ireland, if it happened that Britain was the kind of nation that meddled in affairs that did not concern her. American occupation in Haiti has been of a character that would cause a first-class scandal had the original charges been made at a time when that nation was not in the will be heard of it later, for there is to be a formal investigation. The country has been an American protectorate since the summer of 1915. The real masters of Haiti have been United States marines. In that time it is said that 3,250 natives have been slain.

The leniency of the British Government in the present situation towards the United States is remarkable and unprecedented. It is safe to say that if the British parliament should pass a resolution calling upon the United States to evacuate Haiti, the Philippines, Porto Rico, San Domingo and Cuba, and should intimate that it was its intention to send separate ambassadors to those islands, something very like war would result in twenty-four hours. Yet what show of right has the United States to Porto Rico—to take the most glaring case of conquest I tell to the U. S., as did the Philippines, as a spoil of war. It is held by force and must continue to be held by force. Until yesterday it was not even autonomous, but was governed by military despotism.

Suppose still further, to complete the absurdity, that England should allow the natives of these conquered islands to float bonds for the ostensible purpose of buying arms and engaging in open warfare with the American republic, does any sane man suppose for a single moment that the American Government would not protest? Sometimes it would seem as though all the generosity and nobleness were on the side of England, and all the injustice, ingratitude and meanness on the side of America. The overwhelming majority of decent Americans are heartily ashamed of the whole miserable business. They hate the very name of Ireland, and bitterly recognize that the same soundbreds who are turning a peaceful and lovely land into a hell would be ready, if they dared, to carry on the same tactics in the United States. And they are right. The same Irish criminals who are bringing the fair name of Ireland into contempt would betray their adopted land and inaugurate a reign of terror south of the line. The shameful exploitations of American cities by Irish bosses for the past fifty years is a clear proof of what would obtain on a large scale should these desperadoes ever gain power at Washington. The maddening part of it is that the vast majority of the Irish race are decent, kindly, law-abiding and deeply, truly pious and reverential. It is safe to say that the Senate of the United States never sank so low as when it passed a resolution to recognize the full and complete independence of Ireland. And this from the nation that fought one of the bloodiest wars of history to preserve the Union and prevent the South from seceding! The impudence of it!

A STAUNCH OLD HATER.

Despite the fact that his sons were educated in England, Von Tirpitz, former head of the German Admiralty, remains one of the stoutest haters of the British Empire. He continues to life his voice in the old hymn of hate, and holds firmly to the opinion that "we have one foe and one alone, England." The regime of which he is so influential a member has been discredited in the eyes of the world, and one would suppose that it could have few surviving admirers, even in Germany, but if the numbers are small, the old militarist crowd are both active and noisy. Von Tirpitz appears to be their chosen spokesman. He declares that the interests of Germany and Great Britain can never be reconciled, and that sooner or later they must lead to another war, to determine which of the nations shall live. In the meantime, until Germany can get on her feet again, he recommends that she should come to an understanding with Russia, and that the two nations together should combine to build a mighty fleet which will be powerful enough to attack Britain when a favorable opportunity arises. He is not blind to the fact that Russian interests may also conflict with German interests, but intimates that they can either be adjusted or settled by war after the common enemy is destroyed.

No doubt Von Tirpitz's feelings toward England are shared by many of his fellow countrymen, but we cannot believe that there are many who will be willing to consecrate the remainder of their lives to building up a new war machine. Their taxes must be heavy enough for the next generation and the less money they are required to spend on army and navy account, the sooner will Germany become once more a self-respecting and respected nation. So long as Germany adheres to the promises made at the Peace Conference, she will find that British hostility to her is not nearly so intense nor likely to be so long continued as seemed certain while the war was on. Men like Von Tirpitz are as untrustworthy advisers for the German Republic as they were to Imperial Germany, whose downfall they so largely contributed to. Wisers words were spoken recently by Von Bendixen, a Hamburg banker, to the effect that Germany should rid her mind of hatred of her former foes, and particularly of England. Hatred breeds hatred, and if Germany hopes to do any business with England she must show that she never again can hope to succeed in a campaign of conquest.

The utterances of Tirpitz indicate that the military and naval terms forced on Germany were by no means too severe, regarded as preventives of renewed warlike preparations.

Premier Smuts, of South Africa, has apparently succeeded in effecting an alliance between the South African or loyal Dutch group and the Unionists. The last South African elections resulted in a division of strength among the South African Unionist, Nationalist and Labor groups, which rendered the task of government extremely difficult, and gave promise of even more serious complications in the future. The consolidation of the two loyalist groups establishes a strong bulwark against the persistent intrigues of Herzog's party on the one hand, and the labor extremists on the other, and is a notable achievement of statesmanship.

The Toronto Globe on the report from New York that Germany has begun to export newspaper to America remarks: "This is one of the few good deeds reported of Germany in years."

From which one may draw the impression that if it were anything but newspaper that Germany was sending it would be another matter.

Curious that these regret should not be expressed for the misguided eighteen-year-old boy who was hanged for the murder of a British soldier than for Major MacInnes.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

More Trouble Coming. (Hamilton Herald.)
 Tobacco users would do well to interest themselves in those advertised "cures for the tobacco habit." The storm is about to burst. The president of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U. admits that she has "accepted the divine commission" to conduct a crusade against tobacco as strenuous as that which has been waged against liquor.

The Cranks We Have. (Edmonton Journal.)
 A prophet may have very little honor or and be a very obscure personage in his own country and yet succeed in obtaining much publicity abroad. This is particularly the case when those who give this publicity are pleased with what he has to say. In America the papers we come across an extract from "The Canadian Nation" issued at Ottawa. It scoffs at projects for the creation of greater empire unity and adds: "Canada's most natural ally is the United States and after that, England."

Can't Satisfy 'Em.
 William Duff, himself engaged on a barn-storming trip of Western Canada, attacks Premier Meighen for not remaining seated at his desk in Ottawa. "We presume that this humorous gentleman's idea of a fair fight is for the Liberals to wander all over the Dominion throwing bricks and mud at an administration gazed and cowed at the Capital. Mr. Duff might even be willing to undertake to trim Carpenter or Dempsey if these gentlemen would consent to enter the ring, with both wrists handcuffed behind their backs."

A BIT OF VERSE

LET THERE BE NO MORE BATTLES

Edwin Markham, in "A Song of Victory."
 Let there be no more battles; field and flood
 Are weary of battle blood.
 Lay the sad swords asleep;
 They shed their fearful memories to keep.
 And fold the flags they weary of that
 The days,
 Weary of wild flights up the windy
 ways,
 Quiet the restless flags,
 Grown strangely old upon the smoking crags.
 Look where they startle and leap—
 Look where they hollow and heap—
 Now greening into glory and now thinned,
 Living and dying momentally on the wind.
 And bugles that have cried on sea and land,
 The silver blazon of their high command—
 Bugles that held long parley with the together should combine to build a mighty fleet which will be powerful enough to attack Britain when a favorable opportunity arises. He is not blind to the fact that Russian interests may also conflict with German interests, but intimates that they can either be adjusted or settled by war after the common enemy is destroyed.

THE LAUGH LINE

 Well Meaning Friend—"You let ask for trouble—you get a single man."

So Everybody's Happy.
 And this is the time of year when men ask each other, "How is your wife going to vote?" And the man answer: "She's going to vote the same way I do," and the women ask each other: "Are you going to vote the way your husband does?" And they answer, "He thinks I am."

He Didn't Mind.
 Their mother had just given the twins a bath and put them to bed. By and by one of them began to laugh.
 "What's so funny?" asked the mother.
 "You made a mistake," explained little Jimmy, "an' give Johnny two bottles an' didn't give me any."

Father Was Once a Boy.
 Johnny liked ice cream, but he drew the line at turning the freezer. One day when his mother returned home she was agreeably surprised to find him working away at the crank as though his life depended on it.
 "I don't see how you got him to turn the freezer," she said to her husband.
 "I offered him a dime to do it."
 "You didn't go at it the right way, my dear," replied her husband.
 "I bet him a nickel he couldn't turn it for half an hour."

Medical Staff Makes Complaint To Board

Hospital Commissioners Determine to Have Better Milk Supply.

The Board of Commissioners of the St. John Public Hospital held their monthly meeting at the Board room, yesterday afternoon. Those present were the chairman, Dr. Daniel, Dr. Crawford, Messrs. Kelly, Emerson, Flewelling, and Supt. Dr. Hedden.

Discussion on Complaints.
The business under discussion was largely routine, some little consideration of a thoughtful, fair-minded nature, being given to the complaints relative to the conduct of the hospital which have appeared in the public press.

It is but fair to state that the commissioners show a most commendable disposition to rectify any wrongs in the management of the institution, if any are existing, and are carrying on an investigation of their own to determine if any of the complaints lodged by certain nurses who have quit the Hospital have any foundation in fact. A tray of food prepared for one of the patients last evening was ordered brought in for examination. If such is a sample of food daily served to inmates of the Hospital, the Commissioners could see no cause for complaint. It was wholesome, well prepared and daintily served, and surely brands one of the complaints as being overdrawn.

Routine Matters.
It cost $3,595.85 for the conduct of the institution for the month of October. The bills were approved and cheques ordered drawn for payment.

The most important matter of business under discussion was relative to an auxiliary plant for lighting purposes in case of an emergency. A consulting engineer from Montreal filed a report setting forth the requirements that the hospital will need, and to provide such, he estimated an initial expenditure of $10,000.

It was the consensus of opinion that something of the nature was needed, as the sudden going out of commission, by accident or labor trouble, of the Power Company's plant, might jeopardize the patient. The question of a remote possibility, but was fully considered. The Board thought they had worried along so far, and believed it wise to plunge into a considerable outlay at this time. There was a possibility of the development of the Musquash power project, and it was deemed better to make a time and see what that development might do to the Hospital wants. However, a committee was appointed to give careful attention to the lighting plant and study to the report of the expert on lighting.

The Milk Question.
The milk question was again before the Board last night. Several tenders have been made for the supplying of milk. The Board held, they cannot be too particular regarding this important item of Hospital diet. Before contracting for supply, it was agreed that Dr. Hedden, Supt. of the Hospital, and Dr. Crawford, of the Board, should thoroughly examine into the source of supply, have the bacteriological make a report, and then contract for the best in accordance with the records secured.

Staff's Complaint.
At this point was introduced a letter from the Medical Board of the General Public Hospital complaining of a statement appearing in the Telegraph of October 21, which reflected upon the staff. The letter is as follows:

To the Board of Commissioners General Public Hospital, St. John, N. B.:
Dear Sirs:—At a meeting of the Medical Board of the General Public Hospital, held on October 29th, it was unanimously resolved that the following resolution be presented to the Board of Commissioners of the General Public Hospital:

"Gentlemen attention has been directed to an article in the St. John Telegraph of October 21, in which the following statement occurs: 'The medical staff of having the hospital standardized, but it was said at the meeting that what was required was not more accommodation in the hospital, but more intensive nursing on the part of the staff and a higher class of work.'
Your Medical Board are of the opinion that the above statements are not only injurious to the hospital, but also unfair and damaging to the members of the staff.

Under the circumstances we would be pleased to know whether the statements, as quoted, expressed the opinion of the board, and if not, whether they were the expressed opinion of one or more members of that board? We would also be glad to know by whose authority these statements were published in the daily press? It is a matter of record that the conscientiously carried out services of the staff met with such a reception.

"The Medical Board would be deeply gratified to receive a communication from the commissioners with as little delay as possible."
J. H. ALLINGHAM,
Secretary.

Medical Board Reply.
In relation to the above matter concerning the query of the Medical Board, a letter was drafted by the commissioners expressing regret that any feeling had been stirred up, and disclaiming any intent or act on the part of the board that in any way reflected on the ability and sincerity of the staff. The letter also referred the staff to a communication appearing in The Standard this morning regarding a statement made to the Telegraph by Dr. Hedden.

The letter, which speaks for itself, is herewith published:

November 3, 1920.
To the Editor of The Standard:
I desire through your paper to put before the public a correction of certain wrong impressions, arising out of a misquoted interview. On being asked over the telephone by a press reporter if it were true that the Board of Commissioners had rejected the proposition to standardize the General Public Hospital by providing increased

TAKE CARE OF THAT COUGH

Some people get a nasty cough and don't pay much attention to it, saying, "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but while it may wear off, serious injury may have been done to the lungs and respiratory organs by the protracted, harsh, racking coughing.

On the first sign of a cough or cold get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It will stop that nasty, tickle-some cough, ease the tightness across the chest, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Wm. Earnshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I caught a bad cold, had a sore throat and a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I tried quite a few remedies but they did not do me much good until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I feel that "Dr. Wood's" has no equal.

When you get Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, you are not experimenting with new and untried remedies, but one that has a reputation extending over thirty years.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three-pine trees the trade mark; price 55c and 60c, a bottle manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

accommodation, I replied that the matter of standardization of hospitals was not so much a matter of increasing the bed capacity as it was of improving the quality of work done by the medical and surgical staff with a more intensive study of cases. This was reported as follows: "The Board is desirous of having the hospital standardized, but it was said at the meeting that what was required was 'not more accommodation in the hospital but more intensive study on the part of the staff and a higher class of work.' This obviously conveys an entirely erroneous impression. As proof of my contention that it is a higher class of work that the American College of Surgeons requires, I submit the following official statement of the minimum standard for hospitals. From the above it will be seen that no reflections were made on the quality of the work performed by the medical and surgical staff of the General Public Hospital. In addition, at this time I would point out that while three nurses have resigned from the nursing staff within the last six months, that these positions have all been filled with entirely satisfactory nurses. We expect from time to time that the hospital will lose some of its nurses to other and smaller institutions by offers of increased emolument. This is a state of affairs common in all hospitals throughout the country, and also in all other lines of business. It is but natural that the St. John General Public Hospital, with the largest training school for nurses in the province, should be looked to to supply qualified nurses to other hospitals in the same territory.

Yours very truly,
HENRY HEDDEN, M. D.,
Superintendent, General Public Hospital, Saint John.

Standardization.
The following on the minimum requirements of the American College of Surgeons which is under consideration by the Commissioners:

Minimum Standard.
1. That physicians and surgeons privileged to practice in the hospital be organized as a definite group or staff. Such organization has nothing to do with the question as to whether the hospital is "open" or "closed," nor need it affect the various existing types of staff organization. The word "staff" is here defined as the group of doctors who practice in the hospital inclusive of all groups, such as the "regular staff," the "visiting staff" and the "associate staff."

2. That membership upon the staff be restricted to physicians and surgeons who are (a) competent in their character and (b) worthy in professional ethics; that in this latter connection the practice of the division of fees, under any guise whatever, be prohibited.

3. That the staff meetings, with the approval of the governing board of the hospital, adopt rules, regulations and policies governing the professional work of the hospital; that these rules, regulations and policies be specially provided:

(a) That the staff meetings be held at least once each month. (In large hospitals the department may choose to meet separately.)

(b) That the intervals for review and analysis of regular intervals the clinical departments of the hospital, such as medicine, surgery and obstetrics; the clinical records of patients free and pay, to be the basis for such review and analysis.

4. That accurate and complete case records be written for all patients and filed in an accessible manner in the hospital, a complete case record being one, except in an emergency, which includes the personal history, the physical examination, with clinical, pathological and X-ray findings when indicated; the working diagnosis; the treatment, medical and surgical; the medical progress; the condition on discharge with final diagnosis and, in case of death, the autopsy findings when available.

5. That clinical laboratory facilities be available for the study, diagnosis and treatment of patients; these facilities to include at least chemical, bacteriological, serological, histological, radiographic, and fluoroscopic service in charge of trained technicians.

Staff Gets Returns.
In commenting upon an article in The Standard of November 1st, purporting to be an interview with a prominent physician, a member of the hospital staff, Dr. Daniels, chairman of the commissioners, referred to the claim put forth regarding the work "gratefully" done by members of the staff. He thought the public was under great obligation to the physicians and surgeons of the staff, but

To the Editor of The Standard, St. John, N. B.
Sir—Permit me, through your journal to convey a word of thanks to those many friends and neighbors who, on Monday, on the occasion of a fire at the Boys' Industrial Home immediately came to our assistance. We would gladly thank each person by name, but for the fact that many who came were not known to us formerly. The combined efforts of these men, with the firemen, resulted in the safety of our lives and the recovery of a quantity of material and tools that might otherwise have been lost. To all we are most grateful.

SEA CAPTAIN HAD UNCANNY EXPERIENCE

Was Awakened Three Times by Ghostly Visitor—Obeyed Call and Rescues Crew.

In the spring of 1876 Captain Hatfield left Clearwater, Cuba, in the barkentine ship, bound for Boston with a cargo of sugar. Nothing out of the ordinary occurred during the first part of the voyage.

By this time a thunder storm had suddenly broken, but the wind still blew from a favorable quarter. Captain Hatfield went below again and was soon asleep. Again he was awakened by what seemed to be the same man.

At noon the next day the men on the watch reported an object in sight, which he thought to be a lighthouse. Knowing that there was no lighthouse near, Captain Hatfield steered in the direction of the object and soon ran down on the American schooner D. Talbot.

When Captain Hatfield related the story of his strange dream to Captain and Mrs. Amesbury, the latter confidently stated that she believed the apparition to be that of her father.

As a moment of this miraculous rescue, Captain Hatfield carries a valuable gold watch with the following inscription: "Presented by the President of the United States to Captain George A. Hatfield, of the British barkentine J. T. Smith, Parrsboro, N. S., for humanity and courage in the rescue of the crew of the sinking American schooner D. Talbot, April 21, 1876."

BIG POLICEMAN GUARDED A SAFE BY SITTING TIGHT

Montreal, Nov. 3.—A spectacle of a 250 pound policeman seated on the safe of one of Montreal's most popular downtown cafes excited considerable comment among the brokers and lawyers who frequent the Hotel Man O'War, on Notre Dame Street west, yesterday afternoon when the place was raided in search of liquor by the police.

When the police returned with an expert from a safe company, the proprietor opened the safe and in it there were found 12 bottles of scotch.

OPERA STRIKERS IN PARIS MAKE MANY DEMANDS

Committee Want Right to Criticize Merits of Conductor.

WOULD REVISE PAYMENT METHOD

Horrblowers Think They Are Worth More Money Than Violin Players.

Paris, Nov. 3.—No strikers ever presented such a complicated list of demands as those of the Paris Opera, who have been on strike for nearly a month. Two of the principal claims are that a kind of soviet of musicians and singers should have the right to criticize and judge the merit of their conductor and that the number of foreign artists engaged each year should be limited. Here are some others.

Musicians of the orchestra have drawn up a barometer of paymen which they think should be paid according to the difficulty and rarity of their instruments. Thus the players of the horn, euphonium and saxophone are to have an extra indemnity, but herein lies a further complication, that negro girls will get only three francs, while a man will get five francs. Those who have to use blue dye, as in "Salome," will also get three francs extra, as blue is more difficult to wash off than black or brown. No provision is made for those who play at the national home of French music as a part played by a redskin. Other extra payments are demanded for those who play the parts of courtesans in the second act of "Rigoletto," for those who play the parts of aged people, and for those who take the place of heroes and heroines when any special performance such as a display of strength, is needed, while actors and actresses cannot themselves undertake Operatic angels, too, are clamoring for an increase in wages. Jimmy Aubrey, newest comedy in "The Back Yard," and he has about as much fun in that vicinity as a yard of children. A dozen or so kids, some white, some not so white, assist him in the fun-making.

James Morrison, one of the best-known juvenile actors appearing on the screen, takes the part of Harry Bloomfield, the vicar's son, in "Black Beauty," the Vitaphone special production in which Jean Paige is starred. He is the only juvenile in pictures who could handle this role at the various ages and was selected after not less than fifteen well-known players had been considered.

Lumenlun Have the well-known Broadway leading man and film actor, sacrificed his crowning glory to play a role in "The Education of Elizabeth," Eddie Burke's newest Paramount picture. Mr. Hare has the role of the bearded fiance of Elizabeth (Miss Burke) and he had to have his head shaved before he could assume the part.

In two weeks the marks made will be submitted to the board of examiners, of whom Dr. W. W. White is chairman, and the successful candidates will be registered as nurses.

Most of these special claims the director of the opera is disposed to grant, but the main points of the strike are as yet far from being settled.

TODAY'S TALK

The Mind Gallery

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Mental pictures set upon the soul in quite the effective manner that actual pictures do upon the mind thru the eyes. Beautiful pictures inspire, for they visualize the real to us. I have often walked thru great art galleries and watched the effect that the wonderful pictures had upon different people. I have watched those with every evidence of wealth in jewels and raiment, as well as those who seemed to have but little in a material way. And I have noted that the effect is about the same—inspiring in every case. But the greatest gallery in the world is the one that each of us carries about in his own mind. There are the pictures of our victories as well as our defeats. There are shown every phase of our desires—some in magnificent colorings, and some in tints of quiet gray. But they all have become a part of us and we would regret to lose a single picture from this mind gallery—this Innate of Experience. But we should keep adding all the time to this mind gallery of ours—and keep improving it. What sort of pictures are you hanging there? Do you love to go to them again and again? Do you thrill at you show them. In your life actions, to your best loved friends? What kind of a collector are you, anyway? Do you like to walk thru your mind gallery?

Actors Spilled On The Stage

Voyage of Make-Believe Mayflower Almost Fatal to Its Passengers.

Two rather awkward incidents marked the first production at the Surrey Theatre of "The Mayflower," which, under influential and official patronage, formed part of London's celebration of the Tercentenary. At the end of the second act, when all the Pilgrim Fathers and Mothers had boarded the Mayflower at Plymouth, the ship suddenly capsized and spilled the actors into the stage. Three of them were slightly injured. It seems a late-comer, embarking on the ship's side instead of using the gang-plank, disturbed her balance. The first word spoken when the curtain rose for the next act: "God hath brought us safely across the ocean," raised a few laughs. Ben Greet, the producer of "The Mayflower," just before the show was handed a telegram addressed to Mr. Johns. As he couldn't find Mr. Johns, he carried the wire in his pocket all the evening. After the performance, though he had better open the telegram, it was found to contain a message from Lloyd George, to be read to the audience.

BELGIAN CABINET QUILTS
Brussels, Nov. 3.—The cabinet of Premier De La Croix resigned today. De La Croix, delivering his resignation to King Albert at two o'clock this afternoon on the King's return to Brussels after his visit to Brazil. Albert reached this city by airplane from Tours, France, at 12.35 p. m.

Conditions Bettered.
When women entered business in various numbers to make their influence felt, it was inevitable that conditions and comforts should result. They went out from the home, but instead of leaving the home spirit behind they carried it with them, and humanized the world of business. This has long been noticeable in America and is now quite evident here. In addition to the welfare work one sees everywhere an improvement in the cleanliness and order of the business world, which especially extends to city offices. One is often amazed at the uninviting offices that important business and professional Englishmen left to their own devices, will use. Frequently these offices are in old houses that were residences in the days of Dickens. To find them you take a daring plunge into a narrow, dark hall, breathlessly climb various flights of steep dusty stairs and at last find yourself in rooms that can only be adequately described after carefully assembling a goodly collection of such adjectives as "musty," "gloomy," "antid," "comfortless," "cheerless" and a lot of other words which women cordially dislike. These conditions are rapidly changing. More and more frequently we find the bright, clean, orderly, well-equipped, modern office, with polished furniture, vases of flowers, a well swept hearth and some dainty women on the staff.

Dumbells Receive Grand Welcome

Biff, Bing, Bang Delighted Crowded House Last Night—Wonderful Entertainers.

The Dumbells, the famous soldier organization which made such a hit here on their first appearance in St. John, made just as big a hit at the Imperial last evening on their second visit to this city. Certainly it was an enthusiastic welcome back which was given this talented company, which presents a very snappy revue, with every number a success. Have War Record. The title "Dumbells" is derived from the field markings of the famous 3rd Division while in France, and every member of the entertainment company has a record of sixteen months and over in the trenches, evidence that they were as good soldiers as they are entertainers. Their revue was of such merit that they were obliged to give it after the armistice for one month in England, and the performance was conceded by critics there to be in a class by itself and in rank equal to that of the big musical organization.

From the first "Biff, Bing, Bang," of the opening number, announced by bombs and flares, which showed the coming of a messenger proclaiming the armistice and a transformation scene into a dance number, to the riot of fun, "The Duchess Entertainers," which was repeated by request, the audience knew not one dull moment. They were splendidly dignified and admiration for the cleverness of the characterizations, the surprising sweetness of the men's voices, the grace of the "ladies" of the party and the artistic presentation of the entire programme.

Attractive as Ever.
Marjorie (Ross Hamilton) was as attractive as ever, and her delightfully flitting ways, as well as her charming singing, brought rounds of applause. As Madame in the skit "Behind the Lines," Charles McLean gave a most amusing impersonation of the grasping, sentimental, gay old French-woman, and repeated this success in a far different characterization, that of Miss Tres Moutard in the screamingly funny musical sketch. As the Duchess in the latter, Leonard Young was splendidly dignified and shocked at the failure of her attempts to be hospitable. The bathing number rather contradicted itself, as the "little girls" were not so "lovely by the sea." Jimmie Good, as the black-faced comedian, set his jokes over without the slightest effort and kept the house in roars of laughter, introducing local hits with good effect and embarrassing well-known citizens, who, however, heartily joined in the laugh against them. Arthur Holland, Jack McLaren, had catchy songs. Hans and Gretchen was a very pretty Dutch number, while "A Dream of Delight" was a lovely value song and was very popular. In "Where Do Flies Go To?" Albert Plunkett sang one of his laughing songs, and "Apple Dumplings," by Red Newman, was a typical silly boy number. Mr. Newman had to respond to numerous encores for his famous "Ole," "A Lovely War," which the audience insisted upon being repeated.

Chorus Well Delighted.
"The girls" costumes were the envy of many ladies in the audience. A tabloid edition of H. M. S. Pinferio by the entire company was the same as that sung in the historic performance in Brussels in aid of the distressed poor of that city in 1918. In recognition of this a representative of the King of Belgium recently presented the company with an address and a medal struck in gold. The patriotic ending of this version of the opera was heartily received.

The Imperial was filled to the doors last evening, many theatre parties being seated in the boxes. The freewheeling of laughter and applause left no doubt of the enjoyment of the audience, and indications are that today's two performances will be crowded.

Those in the company are: Red Newman, Jack McLaren, Ross Hamilton, Alan Murray, Arthur Holland, Fred Fenwick, Charles McLean, Bill Tennant, Frank Brayford, Betram Latgey, Bill Plonk, Jack Ayre, Albert Plunkett, Jimmy Good, Leonard Young, Arthur Wilham, Percy Campbell, and Arthur Nicholson.

The following poem was written by a soldier in Palestine during the war: An English town—say Chichester, West red roofs and the candlelight, Rooms where centuries blend and bur, And books galore, Contented quiet! Ah, soul of me!
Tripoli, Beirut and Magadan; Lebanon with eternal snow; Der-yeid maid Circassian— Take your choice! Not so! Not so! Waters deep and clean and cool. "Neath wide and stately English trees, And speckled trout down at the pool, O perfect ease! O perfect ease! This much for me!
Opium, musk and amber-scent, Prisoned roses and Patchouli; Fragrant spices subtly bent— Pass them by—O pass them by! Yarmouth Bridge and the river small, Tar and roak where the fishes dry, Snack of brine from the North Sea swell; These shall heal and fortify!

MARIE LOHR HAS COMPELLING CHARM
Redeems "Every Woman's Privilege," a New Play from Commonplace.
(Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)
Among the clever plays in London this season is: "Every Woman's Privilege" which, of course, the traditional one of changing her mind. Miss Marie Lohr, Berlin, Dalhia is the daughter of one of our most charming comedians and actress-managers, exercises the feminine prerogative at the Globe Theatre in a new play by J. Hastings Turner. Dalhia is a girl of the most aristocratic of the aristocracy, a Terz baroness, holds most un-forty views, and has a contempt for such trivialities as love. She spurns the advances of Mortimer Jerrod, a wealthy man of her own class, and forces Harold Glavie, a young Socialist in a camouflaged engagement, with which she expects to ward off the seduction of another. When Glavie really falls in love with her, it leaves her cold. Then Jerrod makes his grand assault with a forced entry to her rooms and ardent kisses, and she succumbs. Dalhia releases Harold, only too glad to be free, and becomes engaged to Mortimer. The play is saved from the commonplace by some brilliant dialogue, and well-acted incidents, and the compelling charm of Miss Lohr.

ACTRESS SCALPED IN AUTO ACCIDENT
Miss H. Jesmar at Point of Death—Wealthy Young Man and Students Injured.
New York, Nov. 3.—Miss Helene Jesmar, of the chorus of "The Greenwich Village Police," was at the point of death tonight in Fordham Hospital as the result of a motor smash-up early today in the New Rochelle road near Hunter's Point Bridge in Pelham Bay Park. She was seriously hurt when an automobile driven by Philip Morgan Plant, stepson of the late Commodore Morton F. Plant, multi-millionaire, and now a stepson of Colonel William Hayward, swerved from the path of another car and went head on into a tree. The actress' skull was fractured and the top of her scalp was torn off. Young Plant, who was 19 years old, suffered a fracture of the right leg and was cut deeply on the face. Norman L. Hussey, 18 years old, of Norfolk, Conn., suffered contusions, and Charles L. Morewood, 20 years old, of Chicago, received a broken nose. The two other young men in the car, David Calloun of St. Louis and Edward Hershey, of St. Paul, escaped injury. According to the stories told to the police, Plant and his party were en route to this city from New Haven. All the young men are students at the Hartford Preparatory School there. It was said the car was proceeding at a moderate speed when it came to a sharp turn in the New Rochelle road, the site of many other accidents. There it met two other cars, and some difficulty with the steering gear sent the Plant machine crashing into a big "button-bush" tree. The occupants of the car were lurch in all directions. Detective Sergeant George Booth of the City Island station, and other motorists were attracted by the cries, and Miss Jesmar and the boys were taken to the Fordham Hospital. Shortly after the accident, Colonel Hayward, who led the 15th New York Infantry overseas and was decorated for bravery, came to the hospital with Mrs. Hayward. They directed that five nurses be assigned to the injured. Miss Jesmar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jenner, of 1414 First Avenue, Seattle, Washington. She came to this city two years ago, when she was 17 years old.

The above item was clipped from "The Vancouver Daily Province" of Oct. 26. Miss Wilson was formerly of Chipman, Queens County, N. B., and is well known in St. John.

Can Never Express Gratitude for What You Did for My Wife, Husband—Never Felt Her in Life.

116 Morris, 277 University St., Montreal, P. Q. Sergeant in the Canadian Forces during the late World War whose wife accompanied him overseas as a trained nurse, comes forward an interesting statement regarding the death of his wife, Mrs. Morris, who present travelling in the interest of the Great War Veterans' Association. "I must say," said Mr. Morris, "can never fully express my gratitude to Talbot for what it has done for me. For two years she suffered indignation, lost her appetite and what little sleep she could get, and was finally disheartened and died. At times she suffered with severe asthma, and her nerves were in such a condition that even the ring-

Working Men Exhibit Pictures

English Postman and Harcourt Art Club.

By MARK ZANGWILL.
(Copyright, 1920, By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)
London, Nov. 3.—The postman painter—he was never a painter, though he may claim to be a Con-artist is not unknown. He has even treated the sacred portals in Piccadilly and managed to get a picture hung in a private house. The postman too, though properly a man of letters has knocked at the doors of the Academy in vain. And now Whitechapel Art Gallery, which does much to develop the artistic occupation of the Eastender, the Art Club is holding an exhibition which includes pictures by a working man. The exhibition is run by Hanscock, the postman referee above, and Mr. Albert J. Jeffrey, a milkman. The wind of Art blows where it pleases, and there is reason why it should go out of its way to avoid the policeman, or to tempt the postman and milkman. All three sample opportunity on their route, studying the town in its various aspects of light, color and atmosphere. Why should they not express emotions pictorially if they have the talent? Landscapes and Oil.

The postman here represented a Post-impresionist, far from work, mainly landscape, both water-color, is an sound, as he lies, and quietly to professional standards, being excellent in drawing except in the last mentioned conception. The milkman, however, belongs to a different category; his is by no means the cream of a picture; it is an expression of himself, and with difficulty. Of course is a water-colorist, but he does it in water-color, mixing it with water, which is very humorous. One cannot approve of his judging by results. He paints cottages, and seascapes with looking rocks. He seems a social. Distinctive Work.

As a whole the exhibition represents a high level, mainly owing to the young young men in poor circumstances. There is a vitality about the work which is very stimulating. Particularly striking are the water-colors by the young man, and pictures painted with water, which is very humorous. One cannot approve of his judging by results. He paints cottages, and seascapes with looking rocks. He seems a social. Distinctive Work.

PRUSSIA TO HAVE A CURFEW

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger & Newspaper Co.)
Berlin, Nov. 3.—Curfew will be 10 o'clock throughout Prussia in view of the fact that a few principal cities, where the restaurants and theaters will be closed to remain open until 11 o'clock hours were laid down. This was a measure from the minister of the Interior and probably will apply to all Prussia. The reason for the early curfew is the great possibility of increase in the coal shortage, which already forced the coal syndicates to deliver to electricity plants in the Rhineland and Westphalia, closed down a number of blast furnaces and other plants and sections of the coal industry, and electric light during the winter. The curfew is as far as possible. Where it is acute, there has been difficulty experienced in buying coal. The price of coal in Berlin, for example, is $1.00 a ton, without a coal card, is $1.50 in Berlin, provided at least a hundredweight is taken, and $1.00 a ton, including a premium for 4 ton quantity. It has been announced that approximately 400,000 tons of coal are expected to be shipped to Berlin about 40,000 tons.

Grandma Never Let Her Hair Get Gray
She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.
When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. Gray, faded hair, though so disagreeable, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

Our Travelling Salesmen Enjoy Selling Red Rose Orange Pekoe Tea

Travelling salesmen work very hard as a rule. They put in long hours, and the pleasure of travelling is not so great as to those of us who mostly live at home.

Naturally, therefore, these men must get a great deal of their pleasure and satisfaction from their work—they like to sell the finest of products and represent a good "house".

Our travelling salesmen are exceedingly critical of the products which they are asked to sell, and when we told them last January that we wanted them to sell a new tea of extra quality—much finer than has usually been sold in Canada—they were keenly interested, put the new tea to many tests amongst their friends, and gave it a lot of time and thought.

Having convinced themselves of the extra fine quality of Red Rose Orange Pekoe Tea, they started on their trips full of enthusiasm.

Their satisfaction, however, has been much greater on their later trips, because of the splendid renewal orders which are following their first sales.

Like good merchants, our salesmen enjoy selling the very finest tea—Red Rose Orange Pekoe.

Try the tea which has met with so much success.

Q., sergeant in the Canadian army during the late World War, and whose wife accompanied him overseas as a trained nurse, comes forward with an interesting statement regarding the recovery of his wife, Mrs. Morris, after present travelling in the interests of the Great War Veterans' Association.

the telephone would upset her completely, and it was impossible for her to get a good night's sleep.

"She became very weak and run down, and in fact, she was so weak and hard-pressed she endured as an army nurse caused her anything like the suffering this trouble did. We tried a number of different medicines from time to time, but nothing helped her until she got Tanlac.

"Well, she is not like the same person now. Her appetite is so good she is always ready for a hearty meal, and her stomach never gives her the least pain or distress. Her nerves are in the condition, too, and she sleeps like a child nights and is refreshed and full of energy mornings. In fact, I just received a letter from her, from Toronto, where she is spending a vacation, saying that she never really felt better in her life. Since Tanlac has done so much for her, it always gives me pleasure to say a good word for it."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

RUMANIA DRAWS PURSE STRINGS; GYPSIES STARVE

Pictureque Vagrants Find It Hard to Catch Pennies in High Cost of Living Days.

Special to The Standard.

Bucharest, Nov. 2.—Of the dozens of different peoples in Rumania, none is more picturesque than the gypsies. Like their prototype in America, they roam the country in great caravans, earning stray pennies by begging, dancing, playing and telling fortunes.

In the city they sometimes earn their "bread and butter" by shing shoes, peddling lemonade or acting as porters.

The high cost of living, which has drawn tight the strings of every purse, has brought double hardship to these wanderers. No matter how well they play their violins, no matter what good fortune they see in the stars for those about them, they find it hard to coax pennies from the empty pockets of the war-oppressed Rumanian people. Many of them have starved to death.

Working Men Exhibit Pictures

English Postman and Milkman Have Canvasses at Toynbee Art Club.

By MARK ZANGWILL.
(Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.)

London, Nov. 2.—The policeman painter—he was never a Sergeant, though he may claim to be a Constable—is not unknown. He has even penetrated the sacred portals in Piccadilly and managed to get a picture hung at Burlington House, which was only justice. The postman too, though more properly a man of letters, has not knocked at the doors of the Royal Academy in vain. And now at the Whitechapel Art Gallery, which has done much to develop the artistic conception of the Eastender, the Toynbee Art Club is holding an exhibition, which includes pictures by several working men, among them being H. Hascock, the postman referred to above, and Mr. Albert J. Jeffrey, a milkman.

The word of Art blower where it interests, and there is really no reason why it should go out of its way to avoid the policeman, or to miss the postman and milkman. All three have ample opportunity to show their studies the town in its varying aspects of light, color and atmosphere. Why should they not express their notions pictorially if they have the spirit?

MEN AND BUSINESS

(By Richard Spillane)

It will be remembered that some time ago effort was made in New York to come to agreement, so that construction work, the building of office structures, factories, apartment houses, flats and tenements—could be undertaken on a scale to relieve the vast pressing housing shortage.

—I etain ahrin emvry hqkij
Businessmen were ready to furnish the money, material men were willing to establish a price, but the labor people refused to give up their proud privilege of striking whenever they saw fit.

The reason for labor's refusal is furnished in the testimony taken by the legislative committee investigating conditions in the New York building trades. Samuel Untermyer some time ago declared if he got free scope he would lay bare a state of affairs that would startle the metropolis.

There have been only a few seasons of the committee and Mr. Untermyer's prophecy has been fulfilled. He has shown that union labor has been a pawn in the hands of grafters; that strikes were called when employers refused to pay the sums demanded by the "Business Agents" of the unions, but ended when the bosses submitted to the blackmail; that the amounts the grafters exacted depended on the size and the character of the job, and the whole matter had been reduced to science, if such a term can be employed to such a foul course of action.

"Wolves and vultures" are the characteristics used by Untermyer in describing the "Business Agents."

In some instances $25,000 was paid to the grafters.

As might be expected, the crooks did not "stay put," even when their first demands were met, but through "outlaw" unions, "sympathetic" strikes and other means mutilated their victims further and further.

It would be bad enough if this covered all the mischief, but it didn't. Another type of plunderer seems to have found opportunity to exercise his talents. A gentleman who, in addition to experience as a lawyer, had a post-graduate course of "fixes" for a traction magnate of national prominence, got various building-material men to agree to present their estimates on contracts to him. He threw out those that were low and set the price around which all should bid on the job. For his work he got a commission of 1 per cent. on the contract. If any outsider "buted in" and got the contract, he was liable to no end of trouble through strikes. The contractor in the combination saw to that and soon taught the outsiders a lesson they didn't forget.

How much more Mr. Untermyer has to reveal is not indicated further than by his statement that only the surface has been scraped.

The head devil in the whole affair, so far as organized labor is concerned, seems to be a person who came from New England some years ago, worked as a dock wallop for a time, but won such a prominence in labor circles that he has been getting $15,000 a year salary as "Business Agent" and has had aspirations to depose Gompers and become master of the American Federation of Labor.

Some labor people feel great resentment over the investigation, declaring it is inspired by Capital. That is nonsense. Honest labor should do its utmost to punish the rascals who have betrayed labor. It is not the contractor or the builder who has been robbed. It is the great body of the public. The sufferers are the people who have had to pay exorbitant rents, whether for fine officers, for factories, for apartment quarters, for hotel rooms, for flats or miserable tenements. The sufferers, too, are those who are overcrowded in dwellings, who are forced to live under insanitary conditions, whose health is impaired, who have to skimp on food to pay exorbitant rents.

The whole thing is a crime against all the people. The crime is no more of the labor greater than of the contractor or supplier who enters into a conspiracy to prevent competition; to make profit for himself at the expense of the helpless.

There is enough in the situation in cities outside New York to suggest that something like that which is being brought to light in New York obtains elsewhere.

Untermyer is doing a service of eternal good. Every honest man in the ranks of labor, organized by unions, should give to him his moral if not his material support.

Housing is one of the most serious problems confronting America today, and those who seek plunder through the corruption of labor trouble more difficult, and more costly we estimate against public welfare.

PRUSSIA TO HAVE A CURFEW LAW

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger.)
Berlin, Nov. 3.—Curfew will ring at 10 o'clock throughout Prussia this winter except in Berlin and a few other principal cities, where the cafes, restaurants and theatres will be permitted to remain open until 11 o'clock. The hours were laid down in a law passed by the minister of the interior and probably will apply to all Germany.

The reason for the early closing order is the great possibility of an increase in the coal shortage, which has already forced the coal syndicate to suspend deliveries to electric power plants in the Rhineland and Westphalia, closed down a number of blast furnaces and other plants and necessitated the greatest possible saving of gas and electric light during the winter.

While the crisis is far as rationed deliveries is acute, there has been no difficulty experienced in buying the coal desired illicitly at prices contrasted favorably with those charged in America. The price of coal and illicitly, including a premium for delivery within a coal car, is, for example, $6.50 in Berlin, provided at least fifty hundredweight are taken, and higher for smaller quantities. In Westphalia has assumed such proportions in one coal Germany that special "coal police" are about to be established by the

LANDSCAPE AND OILS

The postman here represented is not a Post-impresario, far from it: his work, mainly landscape, both in oil and water-color, is an sound, academic in lines, and quietly to professional standards, being excellent in drawing, agreeable in color and often poetic in conception. The milkman, however, belongs to a different category; his work is by no means the cream of the exhibition; he exhibits in a very stimulating and with difficulty. Of course, he is a water-colorist, but he does not use the medium purely, mixing it largely with Chinese white to give it body. One cannot approve of his method, judging by results. He paints little cottages, and seascapes with hilly looking rocks. He seems a simple soul.

Distinctive Work.

As a whole the exhibition reaches a high level, mainly owing to the numerous young men in poor circumstances. There is a vitality about their work which is very stimulating. Particularly striking are the various Chetiv types depicted, picturesque old men, women and children painted with sympathy and understanding. Very effective is the work of Messrs. Appellbaum, Goldstein, and Hyams Myer, a pencil drawing of an old woman's head by the last mentioned is an achievement. And, though deficient technically, nothing could be truer to character than the same artist's painting, "The Contrivance," between two old Hebrews wherein the facial expression and gesture of the disputants are depicted with the keenest insight and observation; the humorously impatient, and superior air of the one clearly is not to be caught by specious argument—and the deprecating, patient tolerance of the other, are admirably caught.

WOMEN'S NIGHT 8.15

Every Woman's Privilege

Every woman's privilege, which course, the traditional one of her mind. Miss Marie Lohr, our most charming comedienne, exercises the prerogative at the Globe Theatre, a new play by J. Hastings Turville Lohr, the daughter of a millionaire, holds most un-Tory and has a contempt for such things as love. She spurs the action of Mortimer Jerod, a wealthy man of her own class, and forces Glative, a young Socialist into a vulgar engagement, with which she enters to her rooms and ardently and she succumbs. Dahlia re-Harold, only too glad to be free, comes engaged to Mortimer. The play is saved from the commonplace by brilliant dialogue, and well-acted incidents, and the compelling of Miss Lohr.

Manslaughter Case Evidence Finished

Addresses to be Delivered This Morning—Case Will Probably Go to Jury.

The hearing of the evidence in the case of the six young men from St. John facing a manslaughter charge at Hampton, was concluded yesterday afternoon. Both Dr. W. B. Wallace, representing the crown, and Dr. Baxter and Hon. George Fowler, the defence, closed their cases. The addresses to the jury will be delivered this morning, and the case probably concluded today.

Owing to the fact that one of the accused missed his train in the morning, it was found impossible to go on with the case until the afternoon. There was some question as to whether the ball would be forfeited, but on the explanation and apologies of Hon. George W. Fowler, the judge consented to waive the right of the court. His Honor ordered all the accused to remain in the shiretown last night.

George M. Colby

George M. Colby, the first witness, said that he conducted a grocery store at Renforth on the left-hand side of the road leading to Rothesay. He was in the shop with four others on the night of April, the 29th, at about nine o'clock, and remembered a car hitting the shop. When he went outside he saw Margaret Garrett lying on the platform, and also Dean, who was unconscious. Miss Finley came around the corner of the shop and asked where Virginia was. After searching around with the aid of a flashlight, found the little girl in the ditch near the culvert. She was badly bruised, blood was flowing out of her mouth, and she was gasping away what little life she was left in.

Showed Photograph

Gilbert Davidson, photographer of St. John, showed photos he had taken of the accident, the day after it occurred. Dr. Baxter objected to their being used as evidence. One of the jurors claimed that the photos did not show the store in its true position. Harold Climo, Jr., told of being with the defendants on the evening of the accident, and of leaving them at about 7:30. W. E. Gunter said he parked his car in front of the Imperial at 8:30, and that when he came out after the school Harold Beverley came to him and said the car was at Renforth pretty badly damaged. He thought it had struck a child, but did not know how seriously she was injured.

Heard a Crash

A. G. Peters said that on the night of the accident he was driving from Rothesay to St. John, and about two telephone poles from Colby's store at Renforth was passed by a car. After it passed he saw the lights of a car coming from the city. When he had gone about fifty feet he heard a crash, and on reaching the store found two men picking up a little girl. She was covered with blood and badly broken up. The car that passed him was stopped by the store and his lights were as bright as when they had passed him. When he saw the car coming from the city it seemed under control, and did not appear to be going faster than 15 miles an hour, and the car was going faster than that.

Detective Biddiscombe

Patrick Biddiscombe, city detective of St. John, said he had seen all the accused on the night of the accident and had not observed any sign of liquor on any of them. He saw Currie at the hospital, where he was taken with a broken arm. He went to see Dean at his home on Wall street, and the doctor told him he was in a serious condition. He went to Beverley's home and talked with him. Acting on instructions from the police station he then placed him under arrest. He also brought Ross to the station, and found Kennedy and Wilkinson had already given themselves up.

The deposition of Frederick H. Fritts was read in court. He stated that on the night of the accident he was returning from Rothesay to the city. He passed a team 200 feet from Colby's store and noticed the lights of a car coming from the city. Then he dimmed his lights and headed to the left of the road. He did not notice the other car until he heard a crash. On stopping his car and going back he saw a little girl and a man lying on the store platform. The car was piled up on the culvert. The night was clear, but not bright. Before the accident he noticed a bright light on the front of the store. The lights of his car were equipped with reflectors, but no dimmers. At the time of the accident he was driving at about 12 miles per hour, and he was positive that he dimmed his lights.

Ada M. Finley

Ada M. Finley of St. John said she was in Renforth on the night of the accident and started to take Virginia and Margaret Garret home. She crossed the road to the lower side and noticed two cars, one coming from Rothesay, and the other from the city. She reached the store side and the children stood with their backs against it. The lights of the St. John car were acting queer. Only the left light was burning, the other went out, and then both went out. She heard a crash and saw Margaret lying at her feet, while Virginia was gone. Later she saw men lay Virginia on the store platform.

Measurements Taken

H. Wilson Daiton said he had been called to the store by phone. At the request of the St. John chief of police he had taken several measurements and gathered other information. He found the distance from the rear wheel of the car to where it hit the store nine feet from the store the front of a car leading from the store 202 feet away from where it ran off the tarris and along the side of the road.

Industrial Home Matters Considered

Governors Decided to Make Some Repairs at Once, Others in Spring.

The Board of Governors of the Boys' Industrial Home met yesterday afternoon in the Mayor's office to consider matters in connection with the recent fire at that institution. A sub-committee, which was appointed the day of the fire, made their report on the amount of damage done, and it was decided to make some repairs at once and let others wait until the spring.

The committee was given power to have the barn left standing until it was safe to rebuild. It was also given power to have the school building not be repaired until next spring.

The school will be carried on in the room in the residential building, which was used for that purpose before the big room in the burned building was fitted up.

John McCormack Found Not Guilty

Charged in County Court With Stealing Sugar—True Bill Against Steve—Prosecutor.

Evidence was taken in the County Court yesterday, in the case of John McCormack, charged with breaking and entering a sealed car in the C. N. R. yards and stealing sugar valued at about $60.

The defendant admitted having been in the car, but said he had gone there just to have a game of cards.

After spending an hour in consultation the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

A true bill was found against Steve Procopuck on three counts, breaking and entering the store of A. Gilmour, King street, and stealing cloth therefrom. This case will be taken up Monday morning.

City Officials On Fruitless Errand

Mayor and Comptroller Find No Application from Power Company to P. U. C.

The mayor and comptroller attended the meeting of the Public Utilities Commission yesterday morning to look after the city's interests in regard to the proposed issue of stock by the New Brunswick Power Company, but found when they got there they had come on a fruitless errand, as there was no application before the commission, and will be none unless the city files an objection to the issue of the bonds.

The council was under the impression that permission must be obtained by the company from the commission before issuing the stock, but it now develops that they only have to go before the Utilities Commission in the event of the city raising an objection within thirty days from the date the council received notice of the intention to issue bonds.

Speaking to the Standard yesterday the mayor said he did not think any objection would be filed, as from the information furnished by the company they needed the money for legitimate purposes, and were well within the Act in their present action.

NAVY LEAGUE CAMPAIGN. Montreal, Nov. 3.—A total of $41,000 subscribed was reported today at a meeting of the campaign executive of the Navy League in a drive to raise $100,000.

The inquest; he was badly shaken up at the time.

Jack Wilkinson was in the rear of the car. The lights of the other car so dazzled him that he put his hand to his face. He did not see the children, or the store. When the car crashed he was thrown out into the bushes.

He and Kennedy gave themselves up at the police station when they got back to town. They did not know the child was killed at the time, but knew she had been hurt.

Allen Currie was sitting in the rear seat, with Max Dean on his knee. He noticed the car approaching had a spot light as well as headlights. He did not worry, as he knew Beverley was a good driver. He remembered a crash and a falling sensation. When he got out of the car there was no one else there. His left arm was broken.

John M. Dean said the car reduced its speed going down the hill and was going at between 15 to 18 miles an hour. He noticed the three lights of the other car were very bright. He had not been drinking, nor had any of the others. He was unconscious after the accident. His arm was broken in three places, his collar bones sprained, and his ribs cut. He was unconscious for three days, and in the hospital two months. He could not say who suggested taking the car. It was decided by all. He couldn't say whether it was Beverley or himself who suggested it first.

Dean was the last witness called by the defence.
