REFERENDUM OF DOMINIONS ON JAP TREATY

UNION GOVERNMENT MEMBERS FOR LONDON AND MIDDLESEX SEND STRONG PROTESTS TO OTTAWA OVER APPOINTMENTS

Major Hume Cronyn, M. P., and S. F. Glass, M. P., Insist That Londoners Fill Vacancies in Postoffice Caused by Recent Superannuations — Mayor Little and President of C. of C. Also Send Wires.

Disapproval of the proposal to bring into London men from outside places to occupy vacancies created recently in the civil service was voiced today in strong messages of protest forwarded to Ottawa. Major Hume Cronyn, member of Parliament for London, has already presented to Ottawa the grievance of the postal employees relative to a successor to the position of deputy postmaster, which becomes vacant on July 1.

This morning S. F. Glass, member of Parliament for East Middlesex, forwarded by wire strong representations against the suggestion made that John C. Ross or others from outside points be brought to London to fill vacancies occurring by the late sweep in the railway mail service.

E. S. Little, on behalf of the London, and Ald. John [illegible], president of the chamber of commerce, voiced in no uncertain terms disapproval of the importations, under the present circumstances, especially.

Mr. Glass Irritated.

"I certainly made strong representations in my message this morning to the postmaster-general," asserted S. F. Glass. "I am not going to mince matters on the question for a moment. I am strongly irritated over the bare suggestion even that men might possibly be brought from outside places to take up duties such as those being relinquished by Col. Fisher, the postoffice inspector. I am assured that there are at this moment members of the London staff with years of continuous, faithful service, who could do justice to the position. If it develops that such is the case—that there is no person in the London office capable to assume the various positions—then I say that the Government has been wrong from the start. Why should it be, after all these years, that there is not one man in the local office competent to take over the work. If this is really the case, I say that it is certainly a reflection on the Government that such conditions should prevail.

"I want to make my stand clear," continued the member for East Middlesex, "After the excellent manner in which London has handled its unemployment situation to date, looking after its own citizens, it is certainly a setback for anything like this to occur. Capable Londonmen should be given the preference, and whenever feasible, returned men."

Major Hume Cronyn.

"A deputation of postoffice employees have already waited on me," declared Major Hume Cronyn, "and I made representation to Ottawa, explaining how the local situation would be affected if an outsider was placed in the position of deputy postmaster. The clerks have told me how that a move of this kind would affect them throughout the office, and hinder or perhaps eliminate their chances for promotion. Personally, however, I am not so sure that a member can influence the appointment to any appreciable degree. As I understand it is purely a matter for the civil service commission."

Another Side to Question.

"There is another side to the question, however, which may be considered without necessarily giving an opinion. If the rule was followed throughout that only local men were entitled to promotion in their own office, it would, if the plan worked both ways, accordingly prevent them from gaining better positions at Ottawa, for instance. I am not giving this as an opinion, but merely as a point worthy of consideration."

"I am positive, nevertheless, that the old system of patronage was very unfair. Men in those day were not only brought in from outside offices, but came sometimes lacking the least conception of civil service work. Under the new regime I believe that already the men of the departments have revived interest in their work to a noticeable degree. They now feel that they have some chance of promotion, whereas in the past a man might spend all his life in the department and repeatedly watch man after man coming in above him. Although the present scheme will no doubt bring probably a certain unpleasantness and may not show unusual results at a first glance, I honestly feel that the result in the long run will be that the entire service will be benefited throughout."

Doubts His Influence.

"I have made a plea of course for the London men. It is my duty as member to do so, but at the same time I doubt whether a member's influence will count for a great deal."

"It would certainly be a reflection on the department," commented Mayor E. S. Little, "if it is found necessary to bring in men from other places to fill these vacancies. Furthermore, it would certainly be, in my opinion, a slur on the city, after the masterly way in which it has handled its unemployment problem during the period of depression. We are making every effort to look after the London men, and it is decidedly unfair for the Government to bring in outsiders, more especially at a time like this. I added a strong message to that effect, to that of Mr. Glass just this morning. We must certainly look after local residents."

"Most decidedly local men in the civil service should be given the preference if they are capable," asserted John Bridge, president of the chamber of commerce. "I have not been acquainted with every detail of the case, but it is my opinion that we should know the government's real motive for making their selections from other offices. The entire plan should be explained to satisfaction from beginning to end."

MOTHER OF NOTED BRITISH STATESMAN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Lady Randolph Churchill Succumbed to Hemorrhage Early Today.

WAS MARRIED THRICE

Woman of Diversified Talents and Keenly Interested in Politics.

London, June 29.—Lady Randolph Churchill, who was Miss Jennie Jerome of New York, died here today. She recently underwent an operation on her right foot, which was injured in a fall down a flight of steps. She married Lord Randolph Churchill, second son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, and one of Great Britain's most influential political leaders of his day, in 1874.

Lady Randolph Churchill's death occurred suddenly from heart failure following a hemorrhage. Her son, Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, was with her at the end.

Lady Randolph Churchill was a woman of diversified talents, with conceded literary and artistic ability, and from the time of her marriage to Lord Randolph Churchill took a keen interest in political affairs. This interest did not cease with the death of Lord Randolph Churchill in 1895, and her influence upon the career of her son, Winston Spencer Churchill, has been generally set down as of no small importance.

Lady Churchill was thrice married, her second marriage occurring in 1900 to Lieut. George Cornwallis-West, her junior by many years. They were divorced in 1914. Her third marriage occurred in 1918 to Montagu Perch, a British army officer.

Lady Randolph Churchill was born 67 years ago. She was the daughter of the late Leonard Jerome of New York.

DE VALERA SEEKS TO COUNTER CRAIG'S INVITE TO MEET

Asks Four Other Men To Join Conference in Dublin.

CRAIG DECLINES

De Valera Claims He Must Consult Representatives of Minority.

Belfast, June 29.—Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, declined today the invitation extended him by Eamonn De Valera, the Irish republican leader, to meet De Valera in Dublin, the invitation was contained in a letter to the Ulster premier and four other eminent Irishmen outside of De Valera's party, asking them to meet him at the Mansion House in Dublin on Monday for a conference.

The other men invited by the republican leader were Earl Middleton, Sir Maurice Dockrell, member of Parliament for the Rathmines division of Dublin County, a Unionist supporter of the coalition government except as to its Irish policy of home rule; Sir Robert Henry Woods, member of Parliament for Dublin University, and Andrew Jameson. It was stated that De Valera wished to learn from them at first-hand the views on the Irish question of certain sections of the people they represent.

Smug Complaicency.

De Valera, in his reply to Lloyd George's invitation for a conference with the Ulster premier and the British prime minister, for an Irish settlement, in which the republican leader indicated he deemed Irish unity essential to a lasting peace, said he was consulting "with such of the principal representatives of our nation who are available," and added:

"Before replying more fully to your letter I am seeking a conference with certain representatives of the political minority in this country."

In his reply to the republican leader's invitation, Sir James said: "It is impossible for me to arrange any meeting. I have already accepted the prime minister's invitation to the London conference."

One Acceptance.

It was announced later that Sir Robert Woods had accepted De Valera's invitation.

The answer of Sir James Craig added that he would publish telegrams in order to obviate a misunderstanding in the press between a namesake in the Southern Irish Parliament and himself. The theory advanced here is that De Valera's invitations to a conference was really sent to Prof. Sir James Craig of Dublin, but that De Valera's attention being drawn to the confusion in names, he decided to fly at higher game.

NEW METHODIST MINISTERS WILL RECEIVE A HEARTY WELCOME BY ASSESSMENT COMMISSIONER

"However, I Doubt If Many of Them Will Be Liable For Income Tax When $2,000 Is Exempted, With $200 Additional For Every Child," Says Stephen Grant — Pastors Preach First Sermons Sunday.

Incoming Methodist ministers, who preach their initial sermons here next Sunday, will receive as part of their welcome from Londoners, an unpleasant greeting from City Assessor Stephen Grant, who has been instructed by the court of revision to immediately assess these pastors for income tax, which is payable in 1921.

Mr. Grant informed The Advertiser that he will assess the new Methodist ministers at once. "However, I doubt if more than one or two of the five or six new pastors taking over charges here will be liable, when $2,000 is exempted, with $200 additional for every child," he informed The Advertiser. "The assessment department has always assessed new ministers coming to the city, but the court of revision merely instructed us to do so, following an appeal entered against 1922 income tax by a well-known pastor, who is leaving London this year. It is very seldom that we miss a new minister on our roll."

It has been pointed out that as the new pastors in London Methodist churches do not take over their duties here until the first Sunday in July, which date is some time after the assessment roll has been prepared, and it is for this reason that their names are occasionally not entered on the roll until the following year, the minister concerned thus escaping payment of one year's income tax. To escape assessment in charges they are leaving, ministers are required, like the local pastor mentioned above, to appeal to the court of revision to have their names struck off the assessment rolls on leaving their respective charges.

ALBERTAN FARMERS ENCOURAGED BY THE MEDICINE HAT VOTE

U. F. A. Will Have Candidates in All Provincial Constituencies.

Calgary, June 29.—Canadian Press.—The success of Robert Gardiner, progressive candidate in the Medicine Hat federal by-election, has stimulated Alberta farmers to greater action in the provincial election, which will be held on July 18, and the United Farmers of Alberta will have candidates in most of the rural ridings. There is not the opposition to the Stewart Government, however, among the farmers since there is no broad question of policy at issue. It is pointed out in agrarian circles. It is quite probable that the U. F. A. and Government forces will unite on a candidate in certain constituencies.

One of the strongest riding for the U. F. A. is at Redcliffe, the seat of Speaker Pringle.

Hon. J. MacLean, minister of public works, will be given acclamation in Taber. The farmers will have a candidate against Hon. C. R. Mitchell in Bow Valley. Hon. J. R. Boyle has forsaken his riding in Sturgeon for a seat in Edmonton, and will run there.

Premier Stewart is not likely to be opposed by the U. F. A. in Sedgewick, but Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, is likely to be opposed by a farmer in Olds.

REV. CAPT. J. GARBUTT PRESENTED WITH A PURSE OF $1,000

Oshawa Citizens Show Appreciation of Pastor Who Comes to London.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

Oshawa, June 29.—A banquet, which was unique in the history of the town, was tendered to Rev. (Capt.) John Garbutt prior to his departure for his new charge in London. At the banquet were represented the Oshawa Board of Trade, Canadian Red Cross Society, Oshawa Housing Commission, Rotary Club, Community Welfare Association and the Children's Aid Society. There were also representatives of leading manufacturers, merchants, prominent citizens and representatives of every religious denomination.

Rev. (Capt.) Garbutt has been pastor of Simcoe Street Methodist Church during six years, two of which were spent overseas as chaplain with the 116th Battalion. During his pastorate in Oshawa, Mr. Garbutt became associated with every local organization for the religious and social welfare of the town.

As a tribute and tangible expression of appreciation, G. W. McLaughlin, president of the McLaughlin Motor Works, Limited, on behalf of seven local organizations and citizens in general, read an address and at the same time handed Mr. Garbutt a purse containing one thousand dollars in gold.

POSTOFFICE HOURS ON JULY FIRST

The public are hereby notified that as Friday, July 1, is a public holiday, the day will be observed in the London postoffice as follows:

The general postoffice will be closed on that day except between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 a.m., during which period postage stamps will be on sale, and the general delivery and registration wickets will be open.

There will be no delivery by letter-carriers, but special delivery letters received at the London postoffice will be specially delivered.

The outgoing mails due for dispatch after 12 o'clock noon will be closed at that hour. The night mails will be dispatched as usual. Two clearances will be made from the street letter-boxes, commencing at 7:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Money order, savings bank and postal note wickets will be closed the entire day.

KEMP HOME AGAIN.

Quebec, June 29.—Among the passengers who landed from the liner Empress of Britain, which arrived here today, was Sir Edward Kemp, minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet.

BRITISH ENGINEERS REFUSE PROPOSED WAGE REDUCTIONS

Further Conference With the Employees Are, However, Being Held.

London, June 29.—The proposals of the employers of the engineering trades for wages reductions have been voted down by a ballot of the engineering unions, it was announced this forenoon. The ballot resulted in a majority of 132,518 against acceptance of the proposals, or about two to one in the negative.

Notwithstanding the result of the ballot, it was stated that the parties to the dispute were hopeful of reaching a settlement at a meeting to be held this afternoon.

POLICE AND FIREMEN GO BACK TO WORK

Quebec Strike of Municipal Workers Ended At Noon Today.

INCREASES GRANTED

Terms of New Agreement Are Based On Arbitration Board's Report.

Quebec, June 29.—The strike of the municipal firemen and policemen here ended at noon.

Mayor Samson, announcing the end of the strike, stated that the men had agreed to return to duty on the conditions submitted to them by the city, and which were based on the report of a board of arbitration which recently inquired into the demands of the men for increases in pay.

The men will get increases of 75 cents and $1 a week, according to length of service. The wage scale of the firemen and police now runs from $18 to $26 per week.

MORE SABOTAGE IN QUEBEC STRIKE IS REPORTED

Quebec, June 29.—Further cases of sabotage in connection with the police and firemen's strike have been discovered here. While testing harness in one of the stations, volunteer firemen replacing the strikers discovered that it had been cut with a knife. A further examination of the fire fighting apparatus revealed the fact that the contents of some of the chemical extinguishers had been poured out.

All the strikers arrested by the police have been released without bail. No date has been set for the hearing of their cases, but they have been advised that they are liable to be ordered to court at any time.

All last night and this morning there were rumors that volunteer firemen were to be assaulted by sympathizers of the strikers. The city authorities were prepared to read the riot act and use the military to protect the volunteers. This was not found to be necessary, however.

MASSACRE AT ISMID FEARED BY THE ALLIES

Situation On Peninsula Is Reported As Very Obscure.

London, June 29.—The position on the Ismid Peninsula in Asia Minor, where the Greek and Turk Nationalist forces are opposed to each other, is obscure, Cecil B. Harmsworth, under secretary for foreign affairs stated in the House of Commons today. Information received this morning, however, added added that the town of Ismid had been evacuated by the Greeks and was burning, with the result that there was great panic in the district.

Mr. Harmsworth said there was danger of a considerable massacre and the Allied representatives were taking steps to prevent such an occurrence.

MORE RAIN! MORE RAIN! IS STILL CRY

Toronto, June 29.—"Give us more rain" is the cry of farmers and fruit growers in many districts of Ontario. While this week has produced heavy showers in some parts, it appears that many districts are still suffering from long continued drought and no territory in Ontario has had sufficient moisture to satisfy the husbandman. Niagara Peninsula particularly is still "hard baked" with the heat, and the production of small and large fruits there is likely to be seriously curtailed.

THE WEATHER

Weather Notes.

An area of low pressure is centered this morning over Southern Ontario and the New England States, while a trough of low pressure extends from Alberta to Arizona. This distribution of pressure has been attended by local thunderstorms in the west and showers in the vicinity of Lakes Erie and Ontario, and in some districts of the Maritime Provinces. Elsewhere in Canada the weather continues fair.

ANGLO-JAP TREATY MAY BE REFERRED TO THE DOMINIONS

Lord President of Council Declares Alliance Treaty Must Be Brought Into Line With Requirements of the League of Nations—Meighen's Speech Occupied Whole Morning Session.

London, June 29.—Debate upon the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, in which the attitude of the various overseas dominions of Great Britain will be thoroughly explained, began when the imperial conference, in session here, opened this morning. Arthur Meighen, the Canadian premier, was expected to open the debate, laying the views of Canada before the conference.

Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, laid before the conference yesterday the details of the proposed renewal of the alliance, together with the political situation bearing on the subject.

IN LINE WITH THE LEAGUE.

A. J. Balfour, lord president of the council, insisted that the alliance treaty must be brought into line with the requirements of the league of nations, saying that there should be no special British interests observed nor should there be an imperial aspect to the convention.

Premier Meighen's speech entirely occupied this morning's session of the conference. This afternoon Premier Hughes of Australia will give his views.

Refer To Dominions.

Mr. Meighen was accompanied by Lorling Christie, adviser to the Dominion Government on foreign affairs, and Capt. Armstrong, his private secretary. It is understood the proposal was made that the question of renewal of the treaty should be postponed several months—in which case it automatically would continue—in order to enable the Canadian and Australian premiers to return home to consult with their colleagues, and, if necessary, to have referendums of their people to uphold or reject the proposals settled at the imperial conference.

DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION IN VICTORIA PARK

Dr. Michael Clarke, M. P. For Red Deer, Among the Speakers.

MILITARY PARADE

Soldiers Will Reach Park At 11 o'Clock.

Officials arranging the Dominion Day celebration in London announce the line of march of the military parade as follows: Adelaide street to Central avenue, to Victoria Park entrance to Wellington street, to soldiers' monument; return by Dufferin avenue to Adelaide.

The monument will serve as the saluting and reviewing base. The parade will reach the park at 11 o'clock.

Speakers for the day will be Major Hume Cronyn, M.P., Sir Adam Beck, Mayor E. S. Little and Dr. Michael Clarke, M.P., of Red Deer.

Citizens are specially requested to display their flags. Canadian Clubs and other organizations, including school children, cadets and veterans, are invited to participate in the events of the day.

TWO CASES TYPHOID FEVER IN THE CITY

Both Contracted Outside of London, Says Dr. Downham.

Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, reports two cases of typhoid in London, having been detected this month. While among members of the medical profession an outbreak of typhoid fever is considered "a black eye" to the purity off drinking water in the municipality concerned, Dr. Downham points out that both these cases, in his opinion, were contracted out of town, and hence it casts no reflection upon London.

"One of these typhoid patients is a railway employee, and he picked up typhoid in drinking water in some other place while on a trip," he declared to The Advertiser today. "He returned to London, where the disease was discovered. The other chap was out of town during the period required to contract the disease, but returned to London just in time to be stricken with typhoid. He rides a motorcycle, and most likely contracted typhoid by drinking water from some polluted well.

"We always trace these cases as far as possible, and there has not been one develop from drinking water here in my memory. London's city water supply is pure, and typhoid from drinking it is out of the question entirely. However, there are some private wells here which are none too free of colon bacilli, one being declared unfit for human use following tests of the water conducted at the Institute of Public Health, and it will be ordered closed. Others, while not so bad, could stand improvement."

Typhoid fever is communicated to patients by polluted drinking water, epidemics often resulting from an infected public well. However, weekly tests on London's water supply have shown it to be practically free of colon bacilli, the organisms blamed for the spread of this disease.

Dr. Downham states that tourists in the summer often drink polluted water in other centers, and come to London, where they become ill, and the disease manifests itself, a period of incubation in the human digestive system being necessary ere the typhoid fever makes the patient ill.

ITALIAN WAS MURDERED.

Welland, June 28.—James Saunders, the Italian of Hamilton, Ont., whose body was found in a field near here, came to his death by some person or persons unknown, through being stabbed in the body, according to a coroner's jury here tonight. Saunders was found murdered on June 18.

MILITARY PART OF TREATY MUST BE DROPPED

London, June 29.—By Gratton O'Leary, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.—The Anglo-Japanese alliance is not to be renewed in its present form. Although the discussion of the treaty by the conference of British premiers has just begun, that much has already been made abundantly clear.

It is true that Right Hon. Arthur Balfour and Lord Curzon, the only members of the conference thus far who have dealt with the subject, used their diplomatic caution in their speeches, but according to information which may be regarded as authoritative, they left a clear impression that while the British Government would like to have some form of understanding with Japan, it is not inclined to continue the present purely military agreement.

Anglo-American-Jap.

Inasmuch, therefore, as Right. Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier of Canada, and General Smuts, premier of British South Africa, will urge against an alliance of any kind, but will advocate a British-American-Japanese understanding instead, the clear prospect is that if the alliance is renewed at all it will be little more than a shadow of its former self.

Premier Meighen is to be heard when the conference meets today. He will speak but briefly, but has prepared a stated case against the alliance, which it is understood will be circulated in the conference as a confidential document. It will not, of course, be given out for publication, but will elaborate the arguments which your correspondent has indicated in previous dispatches. General Smuts who is to follow, will support Mr. Meighen, and will, in all likelihood, attack the whole foreign policy of special alliances, and will urge instead a mutual understanding with nations through moral and intellectual sympathy.

Meighen's Principles.

The discussion of Premier Meighen's four principles respecting what ought to constitute the voice of the dominions in the foreign policy of the Empire, as already cabled, arrived at no definite conclusion. It is understood that Premier Lloyd George, while frankly subscribing to all four propositions, presented the suggestion that the demand that the advice of the dominions on all matters exclusively affecting them be final, might possibly lead to complications, and would have the effect of dividing the Empire into water tight compartments, so far as the foreign policy was concerned. Further than that nothing was said or done that could be regarded as definite.

British Emigrants.

The conference late yesterday took its first definite action when a section of it, meeting under the chairmanship of the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, appointed a sub-committee to investigate proposals for keeping British emigrants of good class within the Empire. The tentative plan is for the British Parliamen to vote $10,000,000 to aid such immigration, and the dominions to vote a like amount between them. This proposal has been turned over to the sub-committee, on which Canada is represented by Sir George Perley. A report is to be made by the sub-committee to the conference within the next ten days.

Owing to the heavy domestic troubles demanding the attention of Lloyd George, the conference is proceeding slowly. Premier Meighen yesterday, however, urged greater speed.

The result of the by-election in Medicine Hat has probably confirmed the Canadian premier in his determination to sail for home about July 21.

VETERANS TO WELCOME BYNG.

Quebec, June 29.—If plans now being prepared go through, Lord Byng, newly-appointed governor-general of Canada, will be tendered a military banquet early in August on his arrival here, to which great war veterans and officials will be invited.

BRITISH MAILS

The next mail for Great Britain and Europe will close at the local postoffice on Thursday, June 30, 1921, to be forwarded via S. S. Melita, sailing from Montreal on July 1. This mail will consist of all classes. Letter and registered matter at 10 a.m., parcel post and newspapers at 2 p.m.

MORE ATTEMPTS TO STOP BIG FIGHT

Appeal to Supreme Court At Trenton Is Likely.

Jersey City, N. J., June 29.—Another skirmish, possibly two of them, was expected today between the International Reform Bureau and Promoter Tex Rickard to determine whether Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier were to be allowed to wallop one another here Saturday.

Three Jersey courts declined yesterday to stop the contest, which Rickard calls a boxing bout, and the reformers term a prize fight. So counsel for the bureau announced that they would appear before Prosecutor Garvan and ask him to tell the grand jury that Rickard, Dempsey, Carpentier et al., were planning criminally to fracture the state boxing law, and that they should be indicted as conspirators. The grand jury, however, is not scheduled to meet before Friday.

Meanwhile other bureau representatives were expected to appeal to the supreme court in Trenton to stop the combat, by an injunction or any other legal paper that would serve the purpose.

BLENHEIM NURSE DIES IN HOSPITAL

Death of Miss Annie McKay Took Place at Victoria on Tuesday.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

Blenheim, June 29.—Seldom has the death of a young lady of this town cast such a gloom over so many as that reported yesterday from London, where one of Blenheim's esteemed trained nurses, in the person of Miss Annie MacKay, passed away in the hospital on Tuesday morning. Miss MacKay was taken to London a short time ago to undergo an operation for an affection of the head. She was thought to be getting along very nicely after undergoing the operation, and was anxiously looking forward to returning home last Saturday. But about the middle of last week she had a relapse, and her condition was considered by the physicians such that an immediate operation was the only hope of saving her life. The operation was performed, but without avail.

The funeral took place to Alisa Craig, where her mother was buried some years ago. She is survived by her father, John MacKay, of town, and three brothers and four sisters.

WILL BE EXCEPTIONS.

Quebec, June 29.—The mayor stated that no men against whom charges had been proven would be accepted back, and that, therefore, it was impossible to state at present how many of the men engaged since the strike will have to be replaced by the returning strikers.

FAMOUS BRITISH STATESWOMAN

LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL, formerly Miss Jennie Jerome, of New York, died suddenly in London today from hemorrhage. She recently underwent an operation on her right foot, which was injured in a fall.

BYNG WILL LAND AT QUEBEC, AUG. 11

News Received in Reply to an Invitation From Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., June 29.—Lord Byng of Vimy, the new governor-general of Canada, will land at Quebec August 11 from the Empress of Britain, according to advices received here by the Halifax Board of Trade, who had requested, through Hon. A. B. McCurdy, that Canada's new governor-general make his Canadian landing at Halifax.

DEFENDS GOOD ROADS POLICY.

Cobourg, Ont., June 29. — Premier Drury defended the good roads policy of the Government today in an address delivered at the Northumberland County U. F. O. picnic. The aim of the Government was to give adequate transportation to the people both rural and urban. He spoke of the hydro radial project, and claimed that the Government would not have kept faith with the people had it not made inquiry into this. The country was already suffering from too many railways piling up a great deficit, J. J. Morrison also spoke.

THREE PRISONERS RESCUED FROM SLIGO JAIL

Sligo, June 29.—The jail here was broken into last evening and three prisoners were removed from it. The removal was effected despite the fact that the full military guard was inside the prison.

MARSHAL FOCH IS EXPECTED TO ATTEND G.W.V.A. CONVENTION

Ottawa, June 29.—It is practically certain that Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies in the late war, will be guest and speaker at the Great War Veterans' convention, which is to be held the latter part of September.

The marshal has notified Secretary Lemuel Bolles, of the American Legion, that he will be present at the legion convention, which is to be held around the end of October, and it is not thought that any difficulty will arise to prevent his coming to Canada.

COMMITTEE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT INVESTIGATION

Appointed At Special Meeting of London Social Service Council.

To investigate the unemployment situation, find a remedy for it, and to make plans for relief during the coming winter, a central committee, composed of representatives from various organizations, was appointed by a special meeting of the Social Service Council last night, the committee to report at a meeting in September. Mayor E. S. Little will be asked to convene the committee.

The members of the body which will carry out this work are: Mayor E. S. Little (chairman), Rev. MC. Kelly, J. C. Spencer, Harry Wray, John Farrell, Dr. H. W. Hill, Mrs. J. A. I. Hunt, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. A. C. Joseph, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Henderson, Cordon Philip, T. D. McCullough, Miss Bessie Friend, Frank McKay, Rev. W. L. Armitage, Rev. D. C. MacGregor, and Ald. John Bridge.

After an hour's discussion on the part of the meeting, the motion was put by Rev. D. C. MacGregor and seconded by Rev. L. W. Armitage. Previous to that time, the members had been discussing economic theories, seemingly wandering farther and farther astray from the subject for which the meeting had been called.

Rev. Mr. Armitage told of the relief work carried out in Toronto in 1914 by groups called Neighborhood Workers, which reported to a central body, and thus prevented overlapping.

NOT THROWN FROM RESTAURANT WINDOW

Bert Thomas, proprietor of the De Luxe Cafe, states that the tumbler which struck and injured Richard Taylor Sunday night was not thrown from his place of business. It develops that the missile came from 184 Dundas street.

LOCATION OF HALE ST. CHURCH NOT YET DECIDED

But Large Building Is Urgently Needed For Growing Congregation.

Contrary to expectations, the exact location of a new Hale Street Methodist Church, together with the proposed plans for the same, were not announced at the annual garden party at the Hale Street Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

As the present edifice on Hale street has long since been inadequate to house it growing congregation, a site for a new structure has been secured, Rev. W. L. Reid, pastor, states, the location of which will be disclosed later. When completed it will front on the south side of Dundas street.

It is the intention that the proposed edifice will accommodate a congregation of some 500, double the seating capacity of the present one.

Tuesday evening's gathering was an unqualified success, both in attendance and entertainment. The 1st Hussars Band and the Elgar Ladies' Quartet provided a program of unequalled enjoyment. During the evening J. Freeborn, M.L.A., addressed the party, S. F. Glass, M.P., presided.

WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Webster Injured in Collision At Horton and Clarence Streets.

Mrs. W. Webster of 228 Horton street suffered serious injuries to a leg when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another motor car driven by H. Nicholls, a garage keeper, on Wellington street, about 9 p.m. Tuesday. No one was seriously hurt.

Mrs. Webster was accompanied by two young girls, and a baby in arms. One of the girls had her back injured, but the other child and the baby escaped uninjured.

STANLEY STREET PAVEMENT PROBLEM IS SHELVED AGAIN

City Council Hears Deputation But Postpones Action in Matter.

AWAIT PRESIDENT CURRIE

Head of Street Railway Will Discuss Matter With City Officials.

The Stanley street pavement bobbed up before members of the city council again Tuesday night, when a deputation of owners of property on that thoroughfare, headed by Dr. James Wilson, waited on No. 2 committee to urge that steps be taken at once to have the condition of the London Street Railway Company's track allowance discussion, the problem was shelved, pending the arrival of President Charles Currie of the London Street Railway from Cleveland, who has agreed to consult with civic authorities on the matter next week.

"We are expecting the council to do something for Stanley street," began Dr. James Wilson. "The pavement is becoming destroyed and the center is a gutter. The people living on Stanley street should be considered. We do not want the car tracks there." Ald. William Wilson, chairman of No. 2 committee, then explained that the city has no power to remove the rails, and advised the deputation to await the outcome of the consultation with President Currie. "We are going to put it right up to him," he declared.

Ald. Ashton—It will only take a week or so.

Old, Old Story.

"It's the same old thing," commented Dr. Wilson, "the old, old story." Ald. Drake declared the street to be a disgrace to Canada, and the discussion waxing warm, everyone taking part until Chairman Wilson interjected. "One of you talk at a time for God's sake." When order was restored Ald. Drake moved that Stanley street be closed until conditions are remedied, but his motion was voted down by Aldermen W. Wilson, Moss and Brighton. Ald. Ashton did not vote. The city engineer urged in his report that action on Stanley street be taken at once.

After it was explained that City Solicitor Meredith advised the council to take no action until President Currie's arrival, Dr. Wilson queried if "the city solicitor is working for the city of London or Mr. Currie." When the lawsuit with the street railway company regarding the Rectory street pavement was mentioned with a similar suit in view if the city paved the Stanley street track allowance, he said: "Send your claim to the citizens of Stanley street. They will make them pay."

"I would like to throw the track into the middle of a field," was the parting shot of Chairman Wilson as the matter was laid over. Without discussion the committee decided to close Victoria Park to autos and bicycles, concurring with the decision of No. 1 committee of the council. A request that the committee reconsider its action in reducing city teamsters' wages from $1.10 to $1 per hour was filed.

Appeal To Common Sense.

J. M. Donohue appeared before the committee requesting that members reconsider their instructions to the city engineer to pave Nelson street between Adelaide street and Dreaney avenue, declaring this one block to be in as good condition as the remainder of the street. He urged economy, and stated that he was not present to threaten legal proceedings, but to appeal to the common sense of the committee. Chairman Wilson vouchsafed the suggestion that the engineer delay paving this block, and mentioned " a love letter in the paper to Ald. Drake."

At this point Ald. Childs passed a comment which Chairman Wilson did not hear. He requested Ald. Childs to repeat his comment, but the latter refused. A storm loomed upon the horizon when Chairman Wilson addressing Ald. Childs said: "I don't think much of a man who is afraid of what he says, He is not much of a man."

"We have all heard you before," was the comeback of Ald. Childs.

"I am here to know," said the chairman, "and I did not hear what was said."

"I wasn't talking to you," shot Ald. Childs, and the discussion was closed. The committee disregarded the recommendation of No. 1 committee that tenders be called for paving Piccadilly and Adelaide streets, on the ground that this would require time, and would throw the city engineer's paving gangs out of employment. The members expressed themselves in favor of calling tenders for the paving, but felt that the civic plant should have some work in view for the future before this is done.

City Engineer Brazier was instructed to consult with President Currie of the London Street Railway Company, before going ahead with the paving of Adelaide street, between Rattle and Oxford streets, and Central avenue from Richmond to Adelaide streets, which thoroughfares are bisected by car tracks

Housing Commission.

Members of the London Housing Commission, headed by Chairman J. W. Cunliffe, addressed the committee, urging that sewer connections be laid for commission houses in the Pine Lawn subdivision and for the Ealing School. They pointed out that houses were sold on agreement that sewers would be laid, and emphasized the loss to the city if these dwellings were thrown back upon the commission by disappointed owners. City Engineer Brazier reported that a sewer for Hamilton road east, including Pine Lawn subdivision, and the new public school on Hamilton road, would cost approximately $100,000. He was instructed to report the cost of a sewer for commission houses on Pine Lawn and the Ealing School at the next meeting of No. 2 committee, leaving Hamilton road off his estimates.

It was decided to make the term of debentures for the Knollwood Park sewer 30 years, after delegations were heard from that district. The usual term of city debentures is ten years, the extension being granted to make easier payments for taxpayers of that district. The committee recommended that the entire civic paving program, excepting Ardaven Place and Egerton street, from the G. T. R. to Hamilton road, which improvements were petitioned against.

METHODIST PASTORS EXCHANGE CHURCHES

Reception Last Evening For Rev. Geo. Watts of St. Thomas.

A very largely attended gathering at Wellington Street Methodist Church last evening took the form of a farewell to Rev. W. J. Ashton, and a welcome to the new pastor, Rev. George T. Watts. Rev. Ashton leaves shortly to take over the pastorate of Grace Church, St. Thomas, which Rev. Watts is giving up to come to London.

Richard Booth, who presided, in a short address complimented Rev. Ashton upon the excellent work he has accomplished in London during his five years here. He mentioned the pleasant and cordial relations that have existed and expressed every good wish for the future of Rev. and Mrs. Ashton.

Rev. J. M. Young of Chalmers Church also spoke eulogistically of Rev. Ashton.

Rev. Geo. Watts, the new pastor, was introduced by John Watson. Mr. Watts spoke briefly, asking for the cooperation of the members.

During the evening Mrs. Ashton was presented with a handsome gold wrist watch, and the pastor was made the recipient of a club bag. The young people of the church presented George E. Ashton with a leather writing folio.

On Monday night at a meeting of the Epworth League Rev. and Mrs. Ashton were presented with a handsome silver tea service.

LIONS TO GATHER IN CITY THURSDAY

Inauguration of Local Club Attracting Visitors From Far and Near.

Hark! A low muttering and growling in the distance which grows nearer and nearer. What can it be? Why it is the Lions approaching London from Toronto, from Oshawa, from Hamilton, from Chatham, from the Border Cities, from every centre in Ontario where Lion Clubs are in existence, and they are due at the Tecumseh House not later than 12:01 tomorrow to witness the Lions Club of London get a real send-off.

Louis Livingstone, district governer, has been in the city for several days past arranging the preliminaries, and from present indications the inaugural gathering tomorrow promises to be a decided success from even the most discriminating point of view. Lion Tamers and Tail Twisters from the American Jungles (as this is an international association) are also making London their objective point Thursday and are scheduled to add manifoldly to the savage uproar.

The International Lions Clubs of America are non-political, non-sectarian organizations representative of the business and professional life of the community. Only they who evince keen interest in the welfare and progress of the city can be identified with the association. Membership is strictly by invitation and only those of high honor and standing are asked to join.

Already nearly 200 Londoners have enrolled.

LONDON NURSE AMONG GRADUATES AT GALT

Diplomas Were Presented At Largely-Attended Exercises.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GALT, June 28.—Despite the rain of the early afternoon a large number of the friends of the General Hospital gathered at the Nurses' Home for the first public graduation. The presentations of the diplomas and address to the graduates, Miss Lillian Dickie, London; Miss Margarite Fleming, Milverton, and Miss Mayme St. Clair, city; was made by Dr. J. S. Wardlaw. Munro Grier of Toronto, who is greatly interested in hospital work, delivered an address on the value of a hospital to a community, and on the work of the nurses.

The graduation exercises were followed by the formal opening of the Agnes Little Children's Ward in the hospital, for which each school in the city was represented. This ward is the outcome of a bequest from a kind friend, is suitably decorated and furnished for its purposes, and is a magnificent addition to the hospital's accommodation.

The largest class in the history of the Galt Collegiate, 227 candidates, commenced this morning writing on the entrance examinations.

NO NEW TRIAL FOR M'FADDEN; SO COURT RULES

His Counsel Will Appeal To Minister of Justice At Ottawa.

TORONTO, June 28.—Following the denial of a new trial to Roy Hotrum in connection with his conviction and death sentence for the murder of Leonard Sabine, druggist, the divisional court this afternoon "refused a stated case" for William McFadden, who is also condemned to die on August 3 for the crime.

The judges of the divisional court disposed of McFadden's case within a few minutes after opening of the court this afternoon. Fletcher Kerr, counsel for McFadden, argued that Justice Logie, who tried the case having said he was convinced that it was Hotrum who fired the fatal shot, there was good ground for a "stated case" for his client.

The court decided that as the evidence of witnesses other than the prisoners was practically the same in both cases, there was no object in hearing further argument.

After this judgment Fletcher Kerr said that ten out of twelve jurors who found McFadden guilty supported the plea for a new trial for his client. He purposed going to Ottawa to make a final appeal to the minister of justice.

PRESENTATION MADE TO CENTENNIAL PASTOR

Rev. H. T. Ferguson Is Leaving for Aylmer Charge.

Centennial Methodist Church was the scene Tuesday evening of a representative gathering of the members of the congregation of that church, the occasion being suitable presentations to the departing pastor, Rev. H. T. Ferguson and family.

On behalf of the members Mrs. Ferguson was presented with a handsome leather handbag containing a $100 bill, and to Mr. Ferguson a wallet with a similar amount inclosed. On behalf of fellow members of the choir Mrs. Harrison Link and Miss Muriel Lancaster presented Howard Ferguson with a beautiful gold pencil. Mr. Ferguson had been a valued member of the choir for some time past.

A short but enjoyable program was rendered, with the following participating: Miss Helen Thompson, Mrs. J. A. Page, Miss Edna Lancaster, and William Taylor. J. A. Page presided. Light refreshments were served by the ladies of the church to bring the evening to a fitting conclusion.

After five years with the Centennial Church, during which interval they won the sincere affection and esteem of the members, Rev. and Mrs. Ferguson are leaving for Aylmer.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES OF WESTERN

Presented by Victorian Order of Nurses.

EACH WORTH $400

Will Cover Expenses for an Eight-Month Course.

Scholarships for graduate nurses, to enable them to take the public health nurses' course of the faculty of public health of Western University, are announced as available from the Victorian Order of Nurses of Canada.

The Victorian Order had discontinued its own public health course and accepts the Western University course as given at the Institute of Public Health in its place. Western University is thus on a par with other universities of Canada in having its course accepted, and these scholarships made available to its students.

Each scholarship is worth $400, and is intended to cover fee, board and lodging, etc., during the eight-months course. According to Miss J. Charlotte Herrington, chief superintendent of Victorian Order, 104 Sparks street, Ottawa, applications may be made to her or direct to the Faculty of Public Health of Western University.

Those holding these scholarships will go into the service of the Victorian Order for one year following their graduation from the Faculty of Public Health of Western University.

SPEEDERS, BEWARE! — Believing that because of the great number of mmotorists who nightly speed between this city and Springbank that danger of accidents has become great, the county police will enforce the laws governing speeding on the Pipe Line road, it was announced today. It is expected that a close watch will be kept on all cars, and that everyone found exceeding the speed limit will be prosecuted in the county court.

WILL HEAR APPEALS.—Mary Rinehart, 483 Princess avenue, has appealed the decision of the court of revision, which confirmed the assessment on her property of $3,450, and the appeal will be heard by County Judge Talbot Macbeth at the court house on Thursday. In addition to this appeal, that of the city of London against the decision of the court of revision reducing the assessment on the Knollwood Park sewer by $11,000, and also a reduction of assessment on the Egerton street sewer will be heard by Judge Macbeth.

ENTRANCE EXAMS.—Approximately 260 public and separate school pupils of this city are writing high school entrance examinations today in seven centres. Arithmetic and literature are the main items on the menu, and the former paper brings home to the candidates the high cost of living, with eggs at 68 cents per dozen, sugar 17½ cents a pound, and smoked ham at 48 cents per pound, as prices quoted in problems. The exams will conclude on Thursday, with composition and spelling scheduled during the morning, and history during the afternoon session.

WHERE IS DOMINICK?—Joseph J. Thomas, mayor of Columbus, Ohio, has written to Mayor E. S. Little asking him to locate Dominick Caminity, whose wife and two children are in want in the Ohio city. The communication received by Mayor Little states that although there is work in Columbus for Caminity the authorities will not permit him to return to the United States as he is not naturalized. The mayor of Columbus requests Mayor Little to ascertain the status of Caminity, and advise what action can be taken to facilitate his return to Columbus. Mayor Little requests that Caminity communicate with him at his office here immediately.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM. — Last evening a very delightful program was presented at Conservatory Hall by piano pupils of Miss Pearl Godwin, assisted by Misses Frances Williams and Ruth Tanton, pupils of Miss Topley Thomas, and Masters George Tucker and Ross McKay, vocal pupils of Miss Belle Brown. Those whose names appeared on the program were as follows: Marjorie Lavery, Mary Percy, Ollene Emmons, Eileen Smith, Gladys Weekes, Betty Hammond, Lenore Carter, Nancy Hendry, Minnie Ginsberg, Irene Couch, Gertrude Trothan, Douglas Millson, Marjorie Trothan, Evelyn Summers, Edith Bowie, Edith Palfrey, Elizabeth Dewey and Alice Miller.

PIANO RECITAL. — The Masonic Temple was the scene of a very fine piano recital last night, given by the pupils of Miss Sadie Nugent of 209 Queen's avenue. The house was filled for the occasion, and the pupils who appeared on the program rendered numbers which were finished and showed excellence of training behind them. Assisting the pupils was Miss Anna Clark and Clifford Curnoe, vocal soloists. The following pupils took part: Lily Tambling, Esther Haring, Eva Williams, Marjory Curnoe, Margaret McMillay, Olive Wright, Gladys Smith, Evelyn Howson, Amelia Mascara, Jean Black, Margaret Rosenthurg, Mary Smith and Wanda Hunt.

WILL NOT RESUME AGREEMENT.

Winnipeg, June 29.—H. J. W. Powers, business agent of the Typographical Union here, yesterday stated that union printers in job printing offices may quit work on June 30 unless the 44-hour week is continued. Employing printers have declined to renew the agreement terminating June 30, and propose as an alternative a return of the 48-hour week, which prevailed prior to May 1 of this year.

SEWER CONNECTIONS FOR LONDON TP. TAXPAYERS ON HURON ST.

Will Pay 30 Cents Foot Frontage While Citizens' Cost Is 45 Cents.

For residents of London Township to have sewer connections to their homes at two-thirds the cost to local taxpayers may seem strange, but this will become an actual fact if an agreement pending between the city and the township is closed. The sewer in between Richmond and St. George between Richmond and St. eGorge streets, where residents of the south side are in the city, while their neighbors across the road reside in London Township.

The sewer was authorized to be laid for the convenience of the property owners residing on this street within the city limits. However, the township taxpayers across the road have come forward and requested that they be allowed to have access to this sewer. As it will not require any larger calibre piping to accommodate them, City Engineer Brazier has recommended that their houses be connected, and that they pay 30 cents per foot frontage, while citizens of London pay 45 cents per foot.

"It seems rather strange that township owners should have city sewer connections one-third cheaper than local citizens," explained City Clerk S. Baker. "However, it will cost no less if the township people are not accommodated. The council could refuse them the use of the sewer, but then the city would be deprived of 30 cents per foot frontage on the north side of the street, which will help pay the cost of the sewer. It is really giving the township residents a sewer that costs nothing extra to do so, and collecting 30 cents per foot frontage from them for it. It is best in the long run."

Officials at the city hall stated today that Huron street owners, taxpayers of the township, are agreeable to the scheme, and that an agreement between the city and township will be signed in the near future. This sewer which is being constructed from Sherwood avenue to Huron street, on St. George street, along Huron to Richmond, and from thence to the Victoria street sanitary sewer, has been authorized, and will cost $22,000. It is five and a half city blocks in length, and is practically completed excepting for the Huron street section, which has been held up pending an agreement with London Township. This sewer will be laid deeper than that required for houses served by it, owing to the fact that other areas will drain in it when completed.

BRAND NOT THROUGH WITH T. D. M'CULLOUGH

Would Be Glad To Attend Meeting of the Board.

That J. Brand, 1082 York street, does not consider the controversy with T. D. McCullough, secretary of the Social Service Council, as concluded is evidenced by his strong opinion registered to The Advertiser today.

Mr. Brand claimed, a few days since, that others than those of British nationality were receiving benefit under the mothers' allowance act, and added that he has secured a copy of the London pensioners. Mr. McCullough repeatedly denies the same.

"Mr. McCullough, I wish to say, considers himself infallible, and that it is impossible for him or his colleagues to make a mistake," said Mr. Brand. "I assure him that all humans are liable to err, therefore when any person points out to him what he considers to be a mistake, it is his duty as a man holding such an important office, where public money is involved, to get in touch with that person and investigate if the 'wild' remarks are worthy of consideration or not.

If Mr. McCullough therefore wishes to call a board meeting as he suggests he has the opportunity of doing so, and I might consider attending if invited. If at the meeting my assertions prove wrong it becomes me as a man to tender him and his colleagues an apology, but if I am right it becomes Mr. McCullough as a gentleman to apologize for his sarcastic remarks which appeared in Tuesday's paper.

Mr. McCullough has yet to learn that social welfare work and the public must co-operate if welfare work is to be a success, and that sarcasm will get him nowhere.

TORRENTIAL RAINS CAUSING FLOODS

Grain Fields Around Estevan Under Water After Showers.

ESTEVAN, Sask., June 28.—A torrential rain tonight has caused the Souris River to rise to an abnormal level, flooding the grain fields in the Souris valley south of Estevan. The dam south of the pumping station of the Canadian Pacific Railway is entirely submerged beneath several feet of water, while bridges below the dam which in ordinary times are from ten to twenty feet above the water level are hidden from sight beneath the murky waters. If the water continues to rise further damage will be suffered by growing crops, while already there is heavy loss through hay stacks in the flats being carried away. The lightning carried away the flagstaff of the Chippewatta Company, and a heavy hail storm passed over the town at 9:30 tonight.

LETTERS ARE ORPHAN'S ONLY POSSESSIONS

PORT ARTHUR, June 28.—Her baggage consisting of two letters, dealing with her father's war record, three-year-old Winnifred Josephine McKinley passed through here today on the Canadian Pacific Railway's trancontinental train en route to her uncle's farm in Swift Current, Sask. From her faraway home in Glasgow, Scotland, to the Canadian West, over four thousand miles, the little orphan has only the kindly directions of train and steamship officials to guide her.

SEIZE SIX BREWERIES.

New Orleans, La., June 29.—Federal prohibition agents have seized six breweries here and formally declared all the property of each plant, both real and personal, under government ownership. The seizure involves several millions of dollars. The dry agents claim the breweries had put too much kick in the beer they were manufacturing.

LEAVING FOR HUNTSVILLE.

WINDSOR, June 28.—Ensign Winnie Jones and Capt. Alice Beckwith of the Salvation Army Corps at Walkerville, will leave shortly for Huntsville. Capt. Scott of Wallaceburg will take charge of the corps in Walkerville.

LONDON'S YOUTH APPRECIATE THE PLAYGROUNDS

8,744 Children in Attendance Last Week.

That London's civic playgrounds are popular with the younger generation is evidenced by attendance figures compiled by supervisors in charge, which show that last week the total attendance at the eight playgrounds and two bathing camps reached 8,744. In addition to this number of children, 720 parents visited the recreation centres, and two Sunday school picnics were staged at Thames Park.

The latter playground leads the way with an actual attendance of 395 children last Saturday. With school closed, the supervisors on duty throughout the city look for an increased record attendance in each centre. Games of all kinds, including water sports, volley ball, baseball, French cricket, basketball, football, dodge ball and quoits, are played under proper supervision, and parents are invited to attend to see their offspring make merry each day.

LONDON MASONS WILL ATTEND FUNERAL OF DOCTOR H. S. GRIFFIN

Was Grand First Principal of Royal Arch Masons of Canada.

Royal Arch Masons of London and district were shocked today to learn of the death of Dr. H. S. Griffin, grand first principal of the Royal Arch Masons in Canada, at his home in Hamilton Tuesday night. Dr. Griffin was elected to the above office during a grand chapter session held in London last February, and he numbered a host of friends in local and district circles.

Death came suddenly to Dr. Griffin, who was one of the best-known men in Canadian Masonry. He was past district deputy of Hamilton Masonic district, a Knight Templar and a member of the Scottish Rite bodies.

His wife and three sons survive.

Officers of London Royal Arch Chapters have been notified of Dr. Griffin's death, and a delegation will attend the funeral in Hamilton, arrangements for which are now being made.

SHACKLETON TO LEAD VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY

Famous Britisher To Explore Uncharted Areas in South.

LONDON, June 28.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, who commanded the British Antarctic expedition in 1907-09, which reached within 92 miles of the South Pole, and also the Antarctic expedition in 1914-16, will be the leader on a new voyage of discovery, covering 30,000 miles of uncharted sections of the southern Atlantic, the Pacific and Antarctic seas. He will sail from the port of London the end of August in a 200-ton ship brigantine rigged, named "The Quest." He will have with him a small picked staff, includink six companions of former polar expeditions. The Daily Mail publishes this announcement.

The expedition, which will be called the Shackleton-Rowett oceanographical Antarctic expedition, will be financed by John Queller Rowett of the Agricultural Research, and Frederick Becker, a well-known paper manufacturer.

"The Quest" will be equipped for every branch of scientific research. She will carry a complete hydrographic survey and soundings, and will touch at various little-known islands, where the flora and fauna and geographical and geological structure will be studied and photographed. A specially constructed seaplane will be taken, and air currents will be charted.

MORE DONATIONS FOR ZOO

Ten-Pound Mud Turtle and Pair of Grebe.

While the Springbank zoo is not one of the seven wonders of the world, it is setting up a record for variety of specimens housed, Mayor E. S. Little receiving a communication from David Drysdale, Britton, Ont., this morning, offering to donate a ten-pound mud turtle to the city. This offer will be referred to General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, who will likely accept it on behalf of the city.

The latest addition to the zoo is a pair of Grebe, a species of strong sharp-billed swimming fowl, which according to the description of the attendant at Springbank are "like young ostriches." They were donated by a citizen who captured them, and declines to give his name for publication.

AUSTRIA APPEALS TO U. S.

Vienna, June 29.—Premier Schober has appealed to Washington, asking the United States Government formally to waive priority of payment of reparations and other credits. He states that such United States action is essential to the success of the finance plan of the league of nations and other measures contemplated for the economic rehabilitation of the Austrian republic.

LIBERTY LEAGUE NEEDS CASH.

Toronto, June 29.—A fund of $500,000 is required by the Citizens' Liberty League if it is to carry on, according to its active spirits who advanced the proposal and secured indorsement of it from a general meeting of the league, which was held last night. Wealthy citizens who are sympathetic with the league and its objectives will be asked within the next few weeks to contribute liberally to this fund.

DR. H. S. GRIFFIN DEAD.

Hamilton, June 29.—Dr. H. S. Griffin, one of the best-known physicians of the city, died last night. Dr. Griffin was a license commissioner here some years ago. He was prominent in the Masonic order, a Knight Templar, a member of the Scottish Rite and grand first principal of the Royal Arch Masons. His father, the late Rev. Dr. Griffin, Toronto, was a well-known Methodist, and for many years had charge of the Methodist ministers' superannuation fund.

GARRY PICKLES DEAD.

Brantford, June 29.—The local business was bereft of a prominent member yesterday when Garry Pickles, manager of the Brantford Laundry Company, died suddenly in the hospital, where he had been taken late on Monday, of uremic poisoning. He was a member of Brant Lodge, A., F. and A. M., and Gore Lodge, I. O. O. F.; he was also former superintendent of the Sunday school of Zion Presbyterian Church, and was an elder there. He was prominent in local business circles and in the National Laundrymen's Association.

TELLS OF HORRORS IN DEVASTATED PUEBLO

George E. Logan Returns from Convention in Des Moines.

FOREIGNERS HARD HIT

Mud Bakes Hard, Imprisoning Many Bodies.

To be a passenger on the first passenger train to wind its way over the twisted tracks of Pueblo, Colo., since that city was virtually destroyed by floods a few weeks ago, was the thrilling experiene of George E. Logan, 418 Richmond street, this city. Mr. Logan who was a delegate to the Shriners' convention in Des Moines, returned from an extended trip through the American west on Tuesday night, and this morning he gave to The Advertiser a vivid account of some of the things he saw.

The train on which Mr. Logan rode was a special carrying 300 Shriners, who were touring the country following the convention. On an improvised trestle the train crept through the heart of Pueblo one week or perhaps ten days after the floods occurred. Soon after the train passed another washout occurred, and Mr. Logan believes that no train has passed through the city since.

"Words could not describe the horrors and the devastation which are still in existence," said Mr. Logan. "Everywhere in the heart of the city and along the railway tracks houses and other buildings were badly wrenched, telephone poles and all manner of wreckage were piled high above the trains.

Three Feet of Mud.

"In the main streets of the town mud lay to the depth of three feet, and in the railway station, which was flooded by twelve feet of water, the mud was five feet deep. This mud, in the heat which followed, has baked hard, imprisoning the bodies of many dead animals.

"Perhaps the most horrible sight was that of huge piles of dead animals, cows, pigs and horses, which had been drowned while imprisoned in freight cars which stood on the sidings of the railway tracks. Like everything else the bodies were coated thick with mud."

Mr. Logan said that a horrible stench prevailed throughout the city, and despite the careful watch kept by the military in charge of the city, he could not see how the city was to escape an epidemic of disease.

"Along the flats of the river where the foreign element dwelled the loss of life and destruction of property had been the greatest. The people received only one hour's warning, and many of them had no time to escape, while no one had time to save personal belongings. In the countryside, too, the destruction was great, although the full fury of the flood seemed to centre in the city. Along the banks of the river for miles the crops had been washed out."

Saves Her Family.

Mr. Logan told of a sow which managed to save her family of little ones in a mysterious way. It is presumed that the family was in one of the stock cars when it was smashed by the rush of water. After the flood had abated the pigs were found on the top of a car of coal, safe, though hungry.

The party of Shriners had a most enjoyable time, especially touring the Yellowstone Park. They drove north from Ogden in motor cars. Snow on the mountains was still deep, and the party had the honor of being the first this year to motor through the Rocky Mountains in that famous park.

Among the many places visited were Des Moines, Omaha, Salt Lake, Ogden, Colorado, Denver and Kansas City. The trip lasted from June 15 to June 28.

Mr. Logan and William Abbott were the delegates from this city. Mr. Abbott was accompanied on the trip by his wife. They will return to London this evening, it is expected.

YOUTH MUST WORK AND PAY HIS FINE

Judge Releases Londoner At Sarnia On This Condition.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

SARNIA, June 28.—Homer Frezell, the 17-year-old London, Ont., youth arrested with Roy Carrothers, also of London, for robberies staged in this city, was fined $100 when he entered a plea of guilty before Judge F. Law in circuit court. The boy's father appeared and paid the fine. Young Frezell was told by Judge Law that he would be released on condition that he would work and pay the fine. The father agreed to see that this was done. Carrothers, who gave his name as Harold Duffy when arrested Saturday, told the judge that he did not want his father to know of his trouble. He was sent back to jail and will not be sentenced until his father is notified and appears. He has pleaded guilty.

LAVAL UNIVERSITY STUDENT FACES A SERIOUS CHARGE

Montreal, June 29.—Arthur Leger, a student of Laval University, who was yesterday sought by the police in connection with the death of Alice Lavallee, who died from the effects of an illegal operation alleged to have been performed by him, appeared today on a charge of selling drugs. Leger was believed to have fled, but he was found in Bordeaux jail under an assumed name awaiting trial on the charge of selling drugs. He pleadedv guilty to this charge and will be sentenced later. Leger was a fourth-year medical student at Laval.

HOLIDAYS ARE HERE

School Children Start Long Vacation Today.

The public schools of this city officially closed today, but London's 7,000 children were not uresent, having quit work for the summer on Tuesday. Assistant School Inspector V. K. Greer explains that examinations were concluded Monday, and that the children were granted a holiday today to permit the teachers to prepare their examination reports and complete class registers.

He states that the authorities cannot compel the pupils to attend if their parents allow them to stop school when promotion is insured, and that in his opinion there is no harm in losing the last day prior to the summer vacation. Separate schools of this city also closed for two months today.

MONTREAL PRINTERS STRIKE.

Montreal, June 29.—Preparations were made by job printers today to fill the places of their union employees who will go on strike tomorrow for a 44-hour week. It was today estimated that altogether 1,800 men will be affected by the strike.

CHILD KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Cornwall, Ont., June 29. — Annie Brown, aged 4 years, was killed yesterday by lightning, which struck the home of her grandfather, Wm. Johnston, north of Stonehouse Point.

If you have any article for sale that you want to dispose of very quickly use an advertisement in The London Advertiser.

COPIOUS SHOWERS BRING SMILES TO FACES OF FARMERS

Many Phones Burned Out, But Crops Helped Greatly.

INGERSOLL, June 28.—Thunderstorms late last night added materially to the damage caused to the system of the Ingersoll Telephone Company during the storm Monday morning. In the neighborhood of three hundred telephones were burned out. At midnight six distinct flashes of lightning struck the telephone cables at the corner of King and Thames streets. Fire followed and the spectacular display caused considerable uneasiness in the section.

Throughout the entire district farmers are rejoicing because of the copious showers, which have done much to advance the crops.

The Sunday school children of the town will this year be deprived of the pleasure of a union excursion, which was the custom for a long period. It was decided that in view of the fact that the railways require a guarantee of $400, and that last year the sum of $800 was paid to them in fares alone, that no excursion be held this year. Other local circumstances also entered into the decision of the committee. It was recommended that each Sunday school hold a congregational family union picnic in the town.

The congregations of the Methodist churches of Putnam, Mossley and Banner united Monday night in presenting a well-filled purse to their retiring pastor, Rev. J. W. Herbert and family. Mr. Herbert has been the pastor of these churches four years, and will leave shortly for Essex County. The presentation took place at the Putnam Methodist Church, the occasion being in the form of a social evening. Included in the address was a kindly reference to Mrs. Boyse, mother of Mrs. Herbert, who received a purse from the Putnam Ladies' Aid.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCANGE.

New York, June 29—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—With the exception of Mexican Petroleum, which declined 1½ points, price tendencies at the dull opening of today's stock market were distinctly upward. Speculative interest again centered in rails and steels, the chief features of yesterday's rally. Louisville and Nashville, Chesapeake and Ohio, Reading and New York Central displayed marked strength. Bethlehem and United States Steels were in demand with American Smelting, American Sugar, Sumatra Tobacco, Central Leather, American International and Allied Chemicals. United States Realty represented the obscure specialties at a gain of 2⅝ points.

1:30 p.m.—The market lapsed into extreme dullness at midday. Gains of the morning were retained, despite profit-taking, however, and in several instances further advances were made. Mexican Petroleum was the only important exception, extending is loss to 4 points.

SARNIA MAY ASK RANEY TO PROBE POLICE AFFAIRS

Petitions Are Being Circulated Asking For Public Investigation.

SARNIA, June 28.—W. J. Lannin, newly-appointed chief of police, arrived in Sarnia this afternoon and immediately went into session with the commissioners respecting the appointment of a staff of constables. Nearly 50 applications have been received, and will be considered thoroughly before any appointments are made. The resignation of the present members are effective on June 30, but whether or not any of those who made application for reappointment will be taken on under the new chief has not yet been announced.

In selecting a new force preference will be given to Sarnia men who made application and can qualify, Mayor Crawford said today. Local applicants were also requested to appear personally before the commission.

A petition requesting a complete public investigation of the police department is being curculated. It terms the recent probe unsatisfactory from a public point of view, and is addressed to Judge Albert E. Taylor, chairman of the police commission.

"We have had almost two new police forces here within six months," said one of those circulating the petition, "and the public are entitled to know all the facts. If necessary, we will ask Attorney-General Raney to come here."

BOYCOTT WILL BE WITHDRAWN

Simcoe School Board Wins Fight Against Teachers' Federation.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

SIMCOE, June 28.—Simcoe Board of Education has won its fight against the Ontario Secondary Teachers' Association. The School Teachers' Federation has agreed to publish no more boycott notices regarding Simcoe in the Toronto papers, and has offered its services in an attempt to arbitrate the difficulties existing between the board and four local teachers.

At a special meeting of the board tonight it was unanimously decided that the board would not take the four teachers back who quit recently. It was decided just as emphatically that the board will have nothing to do with the Ontario Secondary Teachers' Association, either as arbitrators or in any other way.

Will Be Replaced.

The board has already received six applications from fully qualified teachers for the four vacancies existing here, and the positions will be filled.

Chairman G. C. Murdoch stated tonight that had it not been for the boycott advertisements in the Toronto papers 25 or 30 applications would have been received.

Trustee Sutton moved that in future the board refuse absolutely to employ any teachers who are members of the federation. The motion was last.

A. L. Munroe, a member of the board, was appointed secretary-treasurer to succeed the late C. E. Curtiss. There were four applications for the positions, but that of Mr. Munroe was the only one considered.

Wants New Position.

Principal J. D. Christie, who has rendered splendid service for 33 years as principal and teacher of the department of moderns, has asked to be relieved of the principalship. This matter will likely be easily arranged, as three of the applicants for positions want the principalship, in addition to handling special subjects.

BUSINESS ROMANCE ENDS IN WEDDING

Regina Stern Becomes Bride of Windsor Court Interpreter.

WINDSOR, June 28. — At 5 o'clock this afternoon the wedding of Regina Stern, aged 50, of Detroit, to William Englander, Windsor police court interpreter, who is in his 71st year, took place in Detroit. The wedding is the outcome of a romance which started over a year ago, when Miss Stern was directed to Mr. Englander to secure advice on business matters pertaining to property which she held in Detroit.

M. E. Brian, Windsor suburban area commissioner, was notified today by W. A. McLean, deputy minister of highways, that the McDougall road and the Talbot road as far as the border of the town of Essex has been designated as a provincial suburban area highway, which means that Windsor will be called upon to hear a portion of the expense of building and maintaining the road.

George Patton was elected president of the Border Cities Lions Club, and the other officers elected are: Dr. H. I. Wiley, first vice-president; W. F. P. Hackney, second vice-president; W. A. Andrews, third vice-president; Charles B. Price, treasurer; Claude Milley, secretary; Dr. George R. Cruikshank, a member of the board of directors for two years, and Jules Lauchner and W. J. McWatters, members of the board of directors for three years.

Crerar Says Medicine Hat Has Spoken For All Western Canada

WINNIPEG, June 28.—(By Canadian Press.)—"Medicine Hat has spoken for Western Canada, and the Government and all its works have been rejected in no uncertain terms," said Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive party, when interviewed by the Canadian Press today with reference to the Medicine Hat by-election.

"The feeling in Medicine Hat is indicated by the overwhelming majority given the Progressive candidate. The Government, repeating the tactics it followed, particularly in East Elgin and York-Sunbury and other by-elections, spent money in abundance and appealed to any prejudice or passion that would likely win votes, and made the same attempt to set the city and towns against the country districts. What the voters, and particularly the labor men of Medicine Hat City, said to the Government candidate will be reiterated by Western opinion generally when the country has a chance to pronounce on the record of the Government."

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS BURIED AT DE CEWSVILLE

Inquest Will Be Held Into Recent Accident on Friday.

CAYUGA, June 28.—The funeral of Wilfred Matthews, who was killed near De Cewsville on Saturday, took place from his father's home to the De Cewsville Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Vaughan conducted the service, and a large number of friends were in attendance. The inquest into the cause of death has been postponed until Friday, July 1.

The entrance examinations opened at Cayuga on Tuesday morning with Principal Skeele, and assistant Smith of the Cayuga high school, as presiding examiners.

A handsome bronze tablet has been placed in Knox Church, Cayuga by the friends of the late Sergeant James Hannah of the 5th Battalion, Canadian Engineers, who was killed in action at Canal Du Nord on September 26, 1918.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

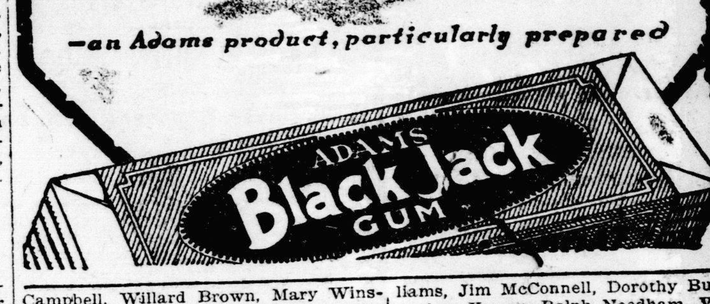

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

ANDREW WILSON & Co. LIMITED TORONTO AND MONTREAL

Very Low Price on High-Grade BICYCLES

HERE is an unusual opportunity to obtain a genuine C.C.M. Bicycle at a very low price.

We have on hand a stock of C.C.M. Export bicycles, for which there is no foreign market just now.

Rather than hold these until foreign trade brightens up, it has been decided to take a loss on them at once and let Canadian riders have them at a price that will dispose of them in a hurry.

These are the same high-grade bicycles which have built up the C.C.M. Export business in Australia, New Zealand and other countries in competition with the world.

They are of the same quality and appearance as the regular C.C.M. Canadian models, but have the C. C. M. English - type Crank Bracket fittings.

Look For This:

Every genuine C.C.M. Bicycle has the C.C.M. Maple Leaf on the rear upright bar. Look for it.

ACT QUICKLY

If you have been intending to buy a bicycle but have been waiting in the hope of getting one of good quality at less than present prices, this is your chance.

There is a C.C.M. dealer near you who will be pleased to show you these splendid models and let you judge their value for yourself.

C·C·M· Bicycles

EXPORT MODELS

Note These Features:

Frame height, 20", 22" or 24"; English tubing, strongly reinforced. C.C.M. English-type Crank Bracket fittings. Comfortable English-made saddle. Standard C.C.M. Maple Rims. C.C.M. New water-proof Enameling and rust-proof Nickelling. HERCULES Brake. Dunlop Tires. Complete with tool-bag, tools and pump. Altogether a bright, sparkling, distinctive, high-class bicycle with C.C.M. trademark and generous guarantee.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG RECEPTION FOR FRENCH MISSION

Hon. C. J. Doherty Will Officially Welcome Delegates To Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 28.—Practically all arrangements in connection with the reception to the distinguished French mission, headed by Marshal Fayolle, which will arrive in Ottawa at 12:30 tomorrow from Montreal, to express in a tangible way the gratitude of France for the services rendered by Canada in the great war, are completed.

On arrival at the union station the mission will be officially welcomed to the capital by Hon. C. J. Doherty, acting prime minister, and his colleagues. Following the reception at the union station there will be an informal luncheon at the Chateau.

At 3:30 p.m. the ceremony of the presentation of the bust La France Reconnaissante Grateful France), the work of the famous sculptor Auguste Rodin, will take place in the railway committee room of the House of Commons.

Marshall Fayolle will present the bust, which will be received on behalf of the Government by Right Hon. C. J. Doherty.

The acting premier will reply to Marshal Fayolle's address. He will be followed by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

DISPUTE CONTENTION OF BISHOP FALLON

Educational Association Is Sending Circular To French-Canadians.

OTTAWA, June 28.—An echo of the famous dispute between his lordship Bishop Fallon of London, Ontario, and a number of French-Canadian members of the Roman Catholic clergy, notably Rev. Father Cyr, which was taken to the ecclesiastical court at Rome, is contained in a circular which has just been issued by the French-Canadian Educational Association of Ontario.

The purport of this circular which has been mailed to prominent French-Canadians is to dispute the contention advanced by Bishop Fallon, in a communication he issued some time ago, to the effect that the trial at Rome had completely vindicated his attitude towards French-Canadians and bi-lingualism.

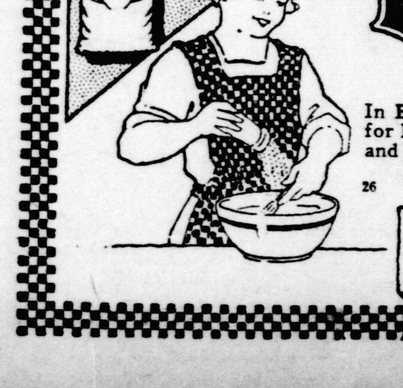

The Educational Association represents that his lordship's resume of the judgment rendered by the Holy Roman Rota, naturally favored his cause, but that if it had been more fully quoted, would have shown that the tribunal had some suspicion that his lordship was antagonistic to the use of the French language in the separate schools, and that he would do away with bi-lingualism.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION
Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.
Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.
Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF LIBERALISM.

The official campaign sheet of the National Liberal and Conservative party compares the present Liberal party with that led by Blake, Cartwright, Mowat and Mackenzie. The Tory plan is to vilify a Liberal leader when he is alive, and canonize him when he is dead. The men who are praised today, those mentioned and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, are worthy of praise, but the Tory offering is insincere. All of them were vilified when alive. Blake was said to be the unworthy successor of George Brown, whose virtues also were never discovered by Tories until he was in his grave. Laurier was assailed because of his race and religion in Ontario, while in Quebec it was said that he was no true son of the church. In Quebec he was said to be too imperial; in Ontario not imperial enough. When he went to England to attend the imperial conference his Quebec enemies said that he had become a servile imperialist, while in Ontario he was attacked for opposing crazy centralizing ideas, such as Sir Robert Borden afterwards rejected as neither feasible nor wise.

The same tactics of assassination are being used against Mr. King, while fulsome eulogies of Mr. Meighen appear in the campaign sheet. No one could object to fair and courteous criticism, however severe, but the Tory campaign is one of mere mud-slinging. No serious charge is made, but the tone is sneering. It is the attitude of little minds. It was fondly hoped that when party ties were loosened by the combination effected in 1917, and by the rise of the Farmers' party, the tone of public discussion would be raised. No such improvement can be observed in the Tory campaign. It is reminiscent of the poorest of parish politics, mean, little, and venomous as a mosquito.

For Liberals imbued with the fighting spirit, the answer to this miserable campaign of detraction should be to rally round the leader and the cause. At Ottawa this sport prevails, as is shown by the divisions.

The Government majority on the budget was only 20; on the bill to restore patronage to the civil service only 17; on Mr. Euler's amendment to the franchise act only 12. There never was a more enthusiastic Opposition. There never was one, even under the greatest of Liberal leaders, that held the Government majority down to so low a point. Measured by this test, Mr. King's leadership has been an unqualified success. It remains only for Liberals throughout the country to grasp the situation at Ottawa in order to realize that a splendid ardor is worthier than power. It is Mr. King's growing power and strength that prompts the attacks upon him, and the desperate efforts to pump up enthusiasm for the leader of the Government that has squatted upon the national domain. A tide of progressive thought is sweeping through the country. It may result in the election of a large group of Farmers, as well as of Liberals. Liberals, while recognizing the sincerity of the Farmers as rivals, not enemies, should see to it that they are fully represented in the new House of Commons, which will turn the Government out, and substitute for it one that will represent the real judgment of the Canadian people.

THE END OF THE COAL STRIKE.

The strike of British coal miners which has caused so much distress for the past three months is now happily ended, and according to the agreement arrived at the men will resume work next Monday. The resumption of operations is, however, conditional on the Government renewing their offer of $50,000,000 to relieve the strain on the resources of the workers arising from the prolonged nature of the dispute.

There seems little reason to doubt that if there had been more of the spirit of give and take at the commencement of the dispute the terrible blow which has been struck at the industrial prosperity of the country might have been avoided, but both the mine owners and the miners "got the wind up" at an early stage of the negotiations and assumed an uncompromising attitude.

It is when the spirit of implacability develops in crises such as these that irreparable harm follows. If it had not been for the characteristic level-headedness of the British public the country might have gone to pieces under the strain, but both the miners and the owners were not long in discovering that there was a limit to the patience of the people, and that while the great majority were anxious that justice should be the guiding principle in adjusting the questions at issue, the country as a whole refused to be held up by any section of the community, no matter how powerful.

It was from the day that the other two parties to the "Triple Alliance" refused to go hand-in-hand with the miners that the latter realized that the end was but a matter of time. The depletion of their funds was perhaps the greatest agent in pointing to a settlement, and although the other big trade organizations expressed their sympathy with the strikers, they refused to impoverish themselves in financing a movement, which, formidable as it was at the start, could not but end in disaster.

The strike has once more demonstrated that the British people do not very readily lose their heads when faced by a crisis of this nature. Rather than let the whole country suffer they were ready to make many sacrifices. Transportation on trains and street cars had to be rationed in a manner far more rigid than that which prevailed during the war, and housewives had to put up with a minimum of gas for household purposes. Coal had to be imported from other countries, and the supply of food was much restricted by the cutting down of transportation. But in the face of all these things the people enjoyed their legitimate recreations, and the golf courses and the cricket fields had their devotees as before.

The dropping of Government control of the mines and the scrapping of the agreements which the men regarded as their safeguards was certainly a severe test of their forebearance, but no matter what the merits of their case may have been, it was an act of folly to expect to make headway by deserting their ship and allowing it to drift on the rocks. Years must elapse before the mining industry of the country becomes normal, and the millions of treasure that the nation has lost can never be recovered. It is, however, a matter for supreme congratulation that the dispute has at last been settled, and it is to be hoped means will be found for avoiding such destructive industrial wars in the future, for they are formidable stumbling-blocks to national progress.

MEDICINE HAT.

The defeat of Col. Nelson Spencer, the Government candidate for the constituency of Medicine Hat, is one of the most overwhelming disasters that the Meighen administration has yet encountered. The majority of Robert Gardiner, the nominee of the United Farmers of Alberta, is expected to exceed 8,000, and so great is the landslide that has overtaken the Government champion that he has forfeited his deposit. It was fully expected that Col. Spencer would win out in Medicine Hat city by a very substantial majority, but his Farmer opponent has carried this center by 278.

Coming directly on top of the other reverses which the Meighen Government has sustained, the result is undoubtedly an expression of the opinion of the electorate which cannot be ignored. It is the voice of the democracy protesting against the orgy of spending and the maladministration which has disgusted all true friends of good government for many years. The so-called Union Government ceased to exist some time ago, and in its place there has developed the strangest product of political hybridization that ever sought the indorsement of the country. The people are heartily sick of being treated in this manner, and are determined that this thing of shreds and patches shall be swept away and a truly representative government put in its place.

It is said that the result has occasioned no surprise in Government circles in Ottawa; but if this be so, it is merely an acknowledgment on the part of the Meighenites that their end was already in sight, and that further manifestations of the country's disapproval were a foregone conclusion. The people refuse any longer to be deluded by the dry bones of the old Tory party, which Mr. Meighen has vainly endeavored to bring to life. His attempt has resulted in the creation of a feeling of deep resentment on the part of the electorate, which finds its outlet at the polls. The signal defeat of the Government at Medicine Hat is but another of the series of reverses which are leading up to their Waterloo.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In his home town Robert Gardiner Excelled himself.

If the lid is put on Port Stanley it threatens to boil over.

It is said that there are too many Lady Go-Divers at the Port.

A Gardiner has torn the Tory tree up by the roots in Medicine Hat.

Nelson expected that every Meighen man would do his duty, but something went wrong with the signal.

What is the proper length of Susie's bathing attire is now a live question. It depends upon the length of Susie.

The cold blast of that avalanche which struck the Government candidate out west has reached London, England.

The rain has been very welcome. Lots of fat worms for the robins, and lots of full crops for the farmers.

It is stated that the citizens of London drink 6,300,000 gallons of water daily. This figures out at 105 gallons per head. Some drinking!

Four members turned up at the opening of the South of Ireland Parliament. They should have no difficulty in catching the speaker's eye.

It is expected that the trial of the eighteen baseball players and alleged gamblers will end about the year 2000 owing to the death of all the parties concerned.

The London milk producers contemplate the establishment of a co-operative dairy in the city. This "Milky Way" has been too long in the clouds, and people will be glad when it materializes lower down.

MENNONITE MIGRATION.

The migration of the Mennonites from Canada to Mississippi is one of the largest religious migrations of modern times, the number of migrants being 150,000. The church originated in Holland, from where it spread to Germany. It was driven from there because of its objections to war. It went to Russia in the latter part of the eighteenth century, and during the nineteenth century migrated to Canada. And now, because the Canadian Government has passed laws compelling them to send the children to public schools, their agents have purchased more than 100,000 acres in the southeastern part of Mississippi, near the Alabama border, and have taken options on a hundred thousand more. A large number of the Mennonites will migrate to Mexico.

SPEED OF A COMET.

It is difficult to conceive how terrific is the speed of a comet as it sweeps around the sun. Sir Robert Ball estimated that when a comet approaches the sun its speed becomes gradually quicker and quicker until it is sometimes 20,000 times faster than an express train. It is sometimes more than 1,000 times as fast as the swiftest of rifle bullets, or at the rate of 200 miles a second. A case has been known in which a comet, after coming in for an incalculable length of time towards the sun, has acquired a speed so tremendous that in two hours it has whirled around the sun and has commenced to return to the depths of outer space.

AMERICA AND DISARMAMENT.

[Washington Post.]

The sentiment of the country apparently is strongly opposed to the sacrifice of the national interest by curtailing American armament in the mere hope that other nations will do likewise. The defence of the nation requires a navy equal to that of any other power; the great foreign trade of the United States needs the protecting arm of such a navy. If America were now to suspend construction it would give an impetus to building by European powers, so that when the time came for making proportionate reductions the United States would find its fleet in third or fourth place. This is a status which the great majority of the American people would not be satisfied to assume.

LETTERS

MOUNT PLEASANTERS KICK.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I note in your columns of the agitation to oil the Pipe Line road to Springbank and to Byron. I beg leave of space to ask: Why not oil the north road as well? I venture to say that there are as many cars go to Byron Sanatorium and Springbank or return that way as use the Pipe Line road, and if the city is to spend money, let it be on the city streets at least. The citizens are entitled to a bit for the taxes we pay. Last year a petition from the residents of Mount Pleasant avenue and the north road was presented to the council and no action taken. This year the citizens of London and a number from the county signed a petition to have it oiled and were willing to pay frontage tax to get it, and when we presented it were turned down. So far as we can see, the county folks who derive all the city benefits, such as schooling, water, light, and use of the city sidewalks, made a "holler" about having to pay a bit for street oil. This road, along with the Pipe Line and Richmond north, is one of those roads that County Engineer Talbot talks about. He said personally that so far "unless the city paid up, the city residents could eat dirt, and to tell Brazier, Wilson, et al., that no one could put any oil on any suburban road; if they did there would be a rumpus. The city clerk says this is all buncombe. Perhaps so, but the dust isn't. Giving credit where it is due, Mr. Brazier very kindly said he wished he could do something, but he didn't see how the city could if the county wouldn't pay its share. It seems if you are on one side of a suburban road you do all the tax paying and the county crowd do the getting. Already we find the residents getting fixed to hook up to the city sewers, etc., but they fight every improvement that they have to pay for. I had occasion to come home with a county resident, who was kindly criticizing the condition of our city sidewalks and the engineer's ability to do such work, but he was leading light in fighting entrance to the city when Oxford Park was taken in. The Motor Club, no doubt, would like to see all the roads oiled, but certain members of it put a spoke in the wheel when we had a chance to get it done. If speeding on the Pipe Line is rampant, it is more so on the north road (Motor cops, please note), and especially up to the cemetery. Three hundred and forty-seven cars were clocked on Forward avenue corner on Sunday between 1 and 5 p.m., and yet every little side alley, with a milk wagon down once a day, gets enough oil on it. We have had Ald. Wilson up here on it when a dusty day was on, and he said it should be kept up. J. M. Moore, chairman of the suburban area, says that if Talbot and Brazier and the commission get together, all the roads could be fixed up. This is simply a statement of conditions, and the reason why you can't get things in the city if you don't live in the section where some city official doesn't reside. The members of the county who so kindly did their share towards helping out are to be thanked for their kindliness. Yours respectfully (signed) on behalf of Mount Pleasant residents),

R. BURKE, Mount Pleasant Avenue.

P. S.—We were told by city officials that if we kicked loud enough and long enough we would get our road fixed, so we keep on kicking in the hope that we will.—R. B.

London, June 27, 1921.

METHODIST CHURCH AND LABOR.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

My attention has been called to a letter in your columns by the secretary of the Labor Forum, in which grave misstatements of fact are made concerning the attitude of the Methodist Church regarding industry. Referring to the famous declaration of the general conference the writer remarks, "The first time they are put to the test, the principle which went up like a rocket comes down like a stick." A correct knowledge would reveal that this statement is the reverse of the fact.

The declaration of the general conference affirmed for labor (1) the right to organize effectively; (2) the right to bargain collectively; and (3) the right to some share in determining working conditions.

No one of these was involved in the dispute between the employers and the printers. On the contrary, every one of these points is conceded without debate and taken for granted. On the walls of our book room are notices from the employer calling on the men to stand by the unions, and to work through the unions. And the agreement proposed by employees specifically provided for the determination of working conditions by a standing joint council. It is therefore clear that, whatever the merits of the present dispute, the principles set forth by the general conference are in no way involved.

When the church demanded the settlement of conditions by joint conference instead of by employers alone it did not mean the settlement according to the demands of the employees, whatever those demands might be. When either side rejects discussion of proposed terms or refuses to negotiate them, that party loses any ground on which it can appeal to our declaration as covering its case.

It is obviously not the work of the church to attempt to adjudicate a purely technical matter, like the number of hours, or the weekly or hourly wage, so long as there is no ethical principle or any human interest at stake. Therefore on the merits of the specific terms now in dispute, while it is confined to those terms, the church has no concern, for its principles are not involved. It is unreasonable to say that, though all the demands we made are conceded fully, we have betrayed our avowed principles if we do not accept forthwith as final the terms proposed in this case by the union. We insist that those terms be matter for amicable conference. It is unreasonable to suppose that the church, in demanding an equitable treatment of working conditions, intended to pledge itself to any demand whatever that any organization might set forth.

Your correspondent raises another question, asking how the principles set forth can be reconciled with "This desire for profit and the sacred rights of property." Now what is here referred to by "This desire for profit." During the regime of the present book steward, Dr. S. W. Fallis, it has been made clear that the objective and policy is that when the need of the church calls for the publication of a book, that book will be published even though it promises no profit. On the other hand, a book which should not be published will not be published, however great the prospective profit. This precisely conforms to the policy of the church, which recognized a demand that the basic consideration should be co-operation to serve rather than competition for profit.

When your correspondent refers apparently in irony to "the sacred rights of property," he enters a field we did not enter. May I point out to him, however, that it is not possible to draw a line between the rights of humanity and the rights of property? Property is essentially human. "Property" is the right of a person guaranteed by the state to ownership in certain things. However we may differ concerning the kind of commodities which the fact remains that in each case the right in question is the right of a human being, not of a thing. Our declaration did look to the collective ownership or otherwise of private property in commodities which each person requires for efficient personal life. Neither the issue of profits nor property is involved in the dispute over terms of pay and hours.

Our friends of organized labor do not help their cause or strengthen our hands when they suggest that because we demanded the christianization of industry we undertook a campaign for whatever one party to industry may demand. There is not the least likelihood of the church receding in any way from its ovawed principles, nor is there any apparent likelihood of the book room, so far as Dr. Fallis controls it, adopting policies which conflict with those principles.

The last point to be mentioned is the claim that "the employers promised to make the 44-hour week operative on the 1st of May last." On this point it is not my task to pass a verdict. It is only fair, however, to say that after the most careful review of the facts as presented by the Typographical Union, no evidence has been submitted to us that any body representing the Toronto employing printers made such an agreement. Such an agreement was made by a very large and representative body of employing interests. This may be urged as evidence so far as it goes in favor of the feasibility of the proposed arrangement. But no evidence has yet been adduced to show that the Toronto employers were parties to the agreement. One might wish that our employers were included in this great organization for conserving industrial peace; but if they are not, then the issue cannot be debated on the ground of an alleged agreement to which they were not a party. Some serious misunderstanding obviously exists in this matter and many fair-minded unionists have been inadequately informed on the facts of the case.

NOT DUMPING.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

On two or three occasions recently there have appeared in the columns of the London newspapers editorials and interviews with certain persons in the city in which it is insinuated that the county and township municipal authorities are in the habit of persuading indigent persons residing in the county to move into the city in order that the county or local municipality may be relieved of the obligation and expense of caring for them.

Whoever is the author of propaganda of this nature is either untruthful or ignorant of the conditions as they exist in the townships. I will be charitable enough to believe it is ignorance rather than wilful misrepresentation they are guilty of. I challenge any official or private individual in the city of London to mention one single case where the municipal authorities directly or indirectly tried to influence any person to move into the city in order that the rural municipality might be relieved of the burden of maintaining them, and I am authorized by the warden of the county to say that for every one such case that can be shown, the county will maintain ten indigent persons from the city, free of charge, at the county house of refuge.

From my experience, I know that it is so much easier for residents of the county who are poor and unable to support themselves, to procure an order for admission to the house of refuge than it is for city residents to obtain admission to their charitable institutions, that I am safe in saying that no one would be foolish enough to change their residence of their own accord with that object in view.

I will not humiliate the unfortunate individuals who are inmates of the house of refuge by publicly mentioning their names, but if any city official cares to come to my office I will give him the names of more than one man who, after a life-long residence in the city, is now an inmate of the county house of refuge at the county's expense, because in their poverty they lived for a short time in shacks just over the city boundary line in the county.

There will always be some of this drifting back and forth and, no doubt, there will be more from the county to the city than vice versa, but when it does happen that the move is from the city to the county we will accept the responsibility without accusing any city official (all of whom we believe to be honorable men) of sending them to us in order that the city may be relieved of the burden of caring for them. When the move is the other way, I hope the city officials and the city newspapers will refrain from accusing men who are in every way just as honorable as themselves of such a despicable act as "dumping indigents" on to the city.

Many city residents, as well as most of the residents of the county believe it is in the best interests of both municipalities to work in harmony. This was my desire when a member of the county council and in my position as clerk of the county, at the same time being a ratepayer of the city, I have endeavored to bring about that state of affairs, but as long as the city accuses the county of anything as unfair and indefensible and at the same time as untrue as the charge of "dumping indigents" on to the city in order to be relieved of the burden of supporting them, there is not much hope of getting together on any question. Your truly,

JOHN STUART,
County Clerk.

THE SILVER LINING

By Fullerton Waldo.

PASSING THE BUCK.

The man at the bottom may growl and kick, but there are so many of him that he can usually contrive to shift the blame. The man at the top is but one in number, and he cannot evade his responsibility. The reason he is paid more is that he cannot pass the buck.

When the pudding and the praise are being divided the attendance is 100 per cent.

But the audience is meager for a scolding.

When they're looking for the fellow on whom they wish to pin a medal, or confer a decoration, he has washed his face and hands, and brushed his hair, and is on hand in the front rank.

But it's different when they're looking for the one who left the water running or the gas burning or the nuts loose; the one who threw the lighted cigarette; the one who failed to lock the door, or forgot to give the vital message, or neglected the patient's medicine, or fell asleep at the switch, or overran the signals, or did not close the drawbridge.

Passing the buck is the chief of all unsalaried occupations—and though the buck-passers are not paid for that, they are the costliest of all to their employers.

The man that merchants and businessmen are forever looking for is the man who is as ready to take the blame when things go wrong as to take the praise when things go right.

They want the man they can find. They want the man who, right or wrong, is always on the job, and not out hunting for an alibi.

OIL WELL IN THE ARCTIC.

[Seattle Post-Intelligencer.]

Canada is experiencing something of a "rush" to the new oil fields in its Northwest territory. Petroleum in substantial quantities has been found at the edge of the Arctic Circle, more than 1,400 miles from the nearest railway, and 1,500 miles north of the nearest oil well. One gusher has been brought in, according to reports, with an output of 1,000 to 1,500 barrels daily. This well is 40 miles north of Fort Norman, a fur trading post, which has a population of about ten whites and thirty-five native families. The prospecting and preliminary work has been accomplished by private capital through the Imperial Oil Company, Limited, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

While the remoteness of the new oil field is a great handicap, plans are in the making to pipe the product to a railroad connection. The Vancouver papers see in this development increased populations, cities, towns and modern facilities of business installed in the bleak northern waste, and they propose to locate a capital for the province and give it a new name.

Oil wells in Montana give some promise of a potential field extending northward, perhaps to and beyond the Fort Norman discovery. Northern British Columbia has all the indications of a potential oil field. Similar indications are found in this state, and prospectors' drills are now at work. It is probable that the future may develop new sources of great wealth in this northwest corner of the United States and in the adjacent British Columbia country.

LIAR AND CAD.

[Ottawa Journal.]

"O. Grattan Esmonde, 'special envoy of the Irish republic to Australia,' displayed usual Sinn Fein duplicity at Montreal the other night. Debarred from landing in the Antipodes, and allowed to enter Canada by the grace of the government, on the promise of passing through without disturbance he deliberately broke his word by an incendiary harangue of the most vituperative character. His ignominious expulsion from this country should be a question of hours only."—Hamilton Spectator.

Well Canada learns that he is a liar and a cad, anyway.

BRITAIN AIDS GREECE.

[Boston Transcript.]

British support should prove an invaluable asset to Greece in the coming campaign. It will make considerably brighter her prospects of victory, and the British assurances have come at a time when Greek morale especially needs to be reinvigorated. The dispatch of a British brigade to Ismid is bound to exercise a tonic effect on the spirits of the Greek army, even though Ismid itself is far removed from the battle front. For some time past, Greek operations in Asia Minor have been virtually suspended. Greek forces have both won notable victories, and suffered costly defeats. But so far they have failed to bring about the downfall of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who continues to maintain himself in power and to defy both the treaty of Sevres and the authority of the allied powers. Even with British backing, the Greek army has a formidable task ahead of it. Unless the unexpected should happen, the Turkish Nationalists will in all probability be able to carry on a guerilla warfare for many months to come.

SCIENCE AND THE PEOPLE.

[New York Evening Post.]

Einstein has just left us, popular expositions of the new universe are still selling well, and yesterday crowds in the streets were squinting up at Venus under the impression that they were pointing a finger at the latest comet out. This simply shows that it takes all kinds of people to make up a member of the solar system. For that matter it takes all kinds of ideas to make up a single human mind. It is not improbable that a good many people who have been seeing the cosmos with Einstein were contemplating a non-existent comet yesterday with a good deal of the ancient superstition about comets, wars, pestilences, and sudden death. We are enlightened, but we find it hard to forget.

ANIMAL ACTS.

[London Spectator.]

In the House of Commons on Friday, June 3, Commander Kenworthy's bill to prohibit public performances by trained animals was defeated. It is a subject of regret that the bill should have lent itself at numerous points to very easy ridicule. It certainly was badly drafted. All the same, the intention of the bill was excellent, and we have no doubt that before long a better bill will be introduced and passed. The plumage bill, though it was competently drafted, was at first beaten, only to rise again and triumph. There is very little training of animals for public performances without cruelty. Inspection of training is next door to useless, because real cruelty is often applied only in the early stages of training. When an animal has acquired a habit it will retain it through life. Many showmen who treat their animals kindly originally taught them the tricks by disgusting cruelty. Fortunately, public opinion about these performances is improving. Few people nowadays are much amused by them. Some of us would regard them as a bore if we did not regard them as intolerable. The subject has been referred to a select committee, and the government has promised to back the decisions of that committee.

RETRENCHMENT.

[London Spectator.]

The day of reckoning is upon the government. During the past few days the whole nation, as never before, has become aware of the extraordinary gravity of the financial situation; yet the nation has long been in advance of the government in its feelings about extravagance. The new and important fact which we have to record is that the government is evidently acutely aware that if they do not pull themselves together far more than they have yet done, and reduce their spending, they will have to go out of office under a black cloud of disgrace. They will be in the position of incompetent trustees who were put in to save the estate and succeeded only in bringing it to ruin. The decision of the government to repeal Part I. of the agriculture act of 1920 is, of course, the most dramatic sign of the government panic. But there are also many other signs.

The Reserves would not have been disbanded before the coal strike was settled if the government had not felt that the time had come to save every penny, even at some public risk. Another sign is the reduction of the unemployment doles, with an accompanying demand for an increase of the contributions from both the employers and employed. Yet other signs are the cutting down of the state housing scheme and the abandonment of the program for building more employment exchanges. The result of the St. George's election was for the government a portent written in the skies. If the question had been asked, Which is the safest seat in England for a government candidate? nine people out of ten would have answered, St. George's. Yet that seat has been taken away from the government by a decisive majority

To End War by Teaching Love

[From Literary Digest.]

Firm in the faith that "love of God towers above all differences between peoples," and believing that close relationship will tend to wipe out mutual misunderstandings, several Danish citizens are soon to open the doors of an International High School for pupils from many countries. Especial effort is to be made to bring pupils from the nations engaged in the world war. This ambitious project, we are told by Marius Hansome in the Survey (New York), is the result of the tireless efforts of Hegermann-Lindencrone, son of the former Danish ambassador to the United States, now in the Danish ministry of education, and Peter Manniche, principal of the school. Denmark is considered to be eminently fitted to receive students from the nations which participated in the war, because of its location between England, Germany and Russia, its neutrality, its areal insignificance, and its "non-political ambition," and much is hoped from the school. An outline of the principles upon which the school is founded is given by the writer, who is a native of Denmark, but long resident in this country, as he obtained it from Mr. Manniche:

"Spiritually considered, the school is built upon three fundamentals—namely:

"Love of neighbor spreads its influence over national boundaries.

"Love of God towers above all differences between peoples.

"Society is like a human body, whose separate parts work each in its peculiar way toward a common existence.

"In harmony with these fundamental considerations our practical aims are these:

"The school will receive pupils from foreign countries and endeavor to awaken in them a mutual understanding and sympathy that they will carry to their homelands.

"The school will not exact any sectarian affiliation of its teachers, but it will seek to employ those who are led by a belief in a rebirth of the Christian philosophy, in a democratic direction, of a supra-national spirit, as a means to a regeneration of our social life.

"While the school will be independent of any political party, it will emphasize the importance of working together toward a just solution of social and international problems.

"Fairly mature young people, regardless of sex, religion or politics, with good common-school education will be admitted without examination. Students from trade unions, co-operative movements, Y. M. C. A.'s and other societies will be especially welcome. It is expected that such students will plan to stay at least one year's stay.

"In its method of work the school will continue the traditions which the Danish high school has created. Those traditions, simply stated, amount to this:

"The school is ethical in purpose, personal in its methods and individualistic and liberal in principles, with social understanding kept constantly in view.

"The English dormitory system will be used to house the pupils. In this way it is hoped to cultivate a wholesome fellowship.

"The course of study will be broad and inclusive, practical and elective, except in the following subjects, a study of which will be a common requirement: language, psychology, history, civics, hygiene and international problems.

"Living expenses and tuition will be 100 kroner a month to each pupil. However, those studying scientific agriculture will have ample apportunity to earn part of their expenses."

Among the internationally-known persons who have pledged financial, moral and teaching aid, are, we are now told, Arnold Rowntree of England, who has promised an annual scholarship of 2,000 kroner for three years to an English pupil; Sir Michael Sadler, rector of the University of Leeds; Professor Charles Gide of France; Sir Oliver Lodge; Professor Edward Lehmann of Lund University, Sweden, and Dr. Harald Hoggding of Copenhagen.

The school is now under the roof of a manor house just outside of the city of Elsinore. Surrounding the manor are five acres of park and forty acres of land to be devoted to agricultural purposes, the proceeds from which will be applied to financing the institution. Besides its main building, which contains twenty-six rooms for classes and living accommodations, the school owns a lecture hall, dormitory and residence for teachers, and several agricultural buildings. These were made possible, says the writer, by philanthropists of the East Asiatic Company of Copenhagen being the largest single contributor.

SPANISH DOUBLOONS

BY CAMILLA KENYON

There was truly nothing dangerous about the ledge. It was nearly three feet wide, and had an easy downward trend. Yet you heard the hungry roar of the surf below, and try as you would not to, caught glimpses of the white swirl of it. I moved cautiously, keeping close to the face of the cliff. Crusoe, to my annoyance, sprang down upon the ledge after me. I had a feeling that he must certainly trip me as I picked my way gingerly along.

An angle in the rock—a low, dark entrance-way—it was all as Peter had described it. I peered in—nothing but impenetrable darkness. I took a hesitating step. The passage veered sharply, as the diary had recorded. Once around the corner there would be nothing but darkness anywhere. One would go stumbling on, feeling with feet and hands—hands cold with the dread of what they might be going to touch. For, suddenly portentous and overwhelming, there rose before me the unanswered question of what had become of Peter on that last visit to the cave. Unanswered—and unanswerable except in one way—by going in to see.

But if by any strange chance—where all chances were strange—he were still there, I did not want to see. I did not like to contemplate his possible neighborhood. Indeed, he grew enormously more real to me with every instant I stood there, and whereas I had so far thought principally about the treasure, I now began to think with intensity of Peter. What ironic stroke of fate had cut him down in the very moment of his triumph? Had he ever reached the cave to bring away the last of the doubloons? Were they still waiting there unclaimed? Had he fallen victim to some extraordinary mischance on the way back to the Island Queen? Had a storm come up on that last night, and the weakened cable parted, and the Island Queen gone on the rocks, drowning Peter in the cabin with his gold? Then how had Crusoe got away—Crusoe, who feared the waves so, and would bark at them and then turn tail and run?

Speaking of Crusoe, where was he? I realized that a moment ago he had plunged into the passage. I heard the patter of his feet—a pause. A queer, dismal little whine echoed along the passage. I heard Crusoe returning—but before his nose appeared around the angle of the tunnel, his mistress had reached the top of the cliff at a bound, and was vanishing at a brisk pace into the woods.

With bitterness, as I pursued my way to camp, I realized that I was not a heroine. Here was a mystery—It was the business of a heroine to solve it. Now that I was safely away from the cave, I began to feel the itch of a torturing curiosity. How, without going into the terrifying place alone, should I find out what was there? Should I pretend to have accidentally discovered the cave, lead the party to it, and then—again accidentally—discover the tunnel? This plan had its merits—but I discarded it, for fear that something would be found in the cave to direct attention to the Island Queen. Then I reflected that very likely the explorers would work around the island far enough to find the sea-mouth of the cave. This would take matters entirely out of my hands. I should perhaps be enlightened as to the fate of Peter and the last remaining bags of doubloons, but might also have to share the secret of the derelict with the rest. And then my dreams of playing fairy godmother and showering down on certain heads—like coals of fire—torrents of beautiful golden doubloons, would be over.

On the whole, I could not tell whether I burned with impatience to have the cave discovered, or was cold with the fear of it.

And then, so vigorous is the instinct to see one's self in heroic postures, I found I was trying to cheat myself with the pretence that I meant presently to abstract Aunt Jane's electric torch and returning to the tunnel mouth plunge in dauntlessly.

CHAPTER XIV.

Mr. Tubbs Interrupts.

I had determined as an offset to my pusillanimous behavior about the cave to show a dogged industry in the matter of the Island Queen. It would take me a long while to get down through the sand to the chest, but I resolved to accomplish it, and borrowed of Cookie, without his knowledge, a large iron spoon which I thought I could wield more easily than a heavy spade. Besides, Cookie would be less sleuthlike in getting on the trail of his missing property than Mr. Shaw—though there would be a certain piquancy in having that martinet hale me before him for stealing a spade.

But that afternoon I was tired and hot—it really called for a grimmer resolve than mine to shovel sand through the languor of a Leeward Island afternoon. Instead, I slept in my hammock, and dreamed that I was queen of a cannibal island, draped in necklaces made of the doubloons now hidden under the sand in the cabin of the derelict.

Later, the wailing of Cookie was heard in the land, and I had to restore the spoon to free Crusoe of the charge of having stolen it. I said I had used it to dig with. But, of course, I occurred to no one that it was the lure I had expected to dig up Cookie's spoon. It was touching the universal faith in the trivial of my employments, to know everyone imagined themselves seriously occupied, while I was a girl—there is no common denominator for the qualifying adjective—who roamed ed about idly with a dog, and that no one dreamed that we had thus come to be potentially among the richest dogs and girls in these latitudes.

A more serious obstacle to my explorations on the Island Queen presented itself next day. Instead of putting to sea, Mr. Shaw and Capt. Magnus hauled the boat up on the beach and set to work to repair it. The wild work of exploring the coast had left the boat with leaky seams and a damaged gunwale. The preceding day had been filled with hardship and danger—so much so that my heart sank a little at the recountal of it. You saw the little boat threading its way among the reefs, tossed like sea-weed by the white teeth of gnawing waves, screamed at by angry gulls whose homes were those clefts and caves which the boat invaded. And all this, poor little boat, on a hopeless quest—for no reward but peril and wounds. Capt. Magnus had a bruised hand and bleeding wrist, but refused to have it dressed, vaunting his hardihood with a savage pride. Cuthbert Vane, however, had a sprained thumb which could not be ignored and on the strength of which he was dismissed from the boat-repairing contingent, and thrown on my hands to entertain. So, of course, I had to renounce all thoughts of visiting the sloop at present. I should not have dared to go there, anyway, with Mr. Shaw and the captain able more or less to overlook my motions from the beach, for I was quite morbidly afraid of attracting attention to the derelict. It seemed to me a happy miracle that no one but myself had taken any interest in her or been inspired to ask by what chance so small a boat had come to be wrecked upon these desolate shores. Fortunately in her position in the shadow of the cliff she was inconspicuous, so that she might easily have been taken for the half of a large boat or the whole of a small one, or she must before this have drawn the questioning notice of the Scotchman. As to the captain, his attention was all set on the effort to discover the cave, and his intelligence was not lively enough to start on an entirely new tack by itself. And the Honorable Cuthbert viewed derelicts as he viewed the planetary bodies—somehow in the course of nature they happened.

COTTRELL—LOWE.

A quiet wedding took place on June 27 at the Ridout Street Methodist parsonage, when Miss Ruth Olive Lowe of Ailsa Craig was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick William Cottrell, the Rev. J. A. Agnew officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Cottrell will reside in St. Thomas.

HIGGINS—GILCHRIST.

SARNIA, June 28.—A quiet wedding took place today in Our Lady of Mercy Church, when Miss Ethel Gilchrist, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gilchrist, president of the Imperial Oil Company, was united in marriage to Edmund Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Higgins of Dexter, Maine, by Monsignor J. T. Alyward.

DAY—RUMBLE.

An interesting wedding took place on Saturday, June 25, at the Ridout Street Methodist parsonage, when Edith May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Rumble of West Nissouri became the bride of Mr. Herbert Wilfred Day, son of Mr. W. W. Day of East Nissouri, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. A. J. Agnew. Mr. and Mrs. Day will make their home at the groom's farm, East Nissouri.

NICHOL—RITCHIE.

BLENHEIM, June 27.—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichol, John street, their eldest son, Senior Bruce, was married on Friday afternoon to Miss Margaret Ritchie of Dumfriesshire, Scotland. Immediate relatives and a few friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. F. Smith of Erskine Presbyterian Church. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, and the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Detroit and other points. On their return they will reside in Blenheim. The groom is building a fine residence for occupation this fall.

Mr. Nichol is a returned soldier, and while overseas in a hospital made acquaintance with Miss Ritchie, who was a trained nurse.

LASENBY—TAGG.

The marriage of Miss Jessie M. Tagg, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tagg, 571 Maitland street, and Mr. Chas. J. Lasenby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lasenby of 1040 Florence street, city, was held at the Centennial Methodist parsonage on Saturday, June 25. Rev. H. J. Ferguson officiated. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Geo. B. Tagg, wore a gown of white taffeta with veil and orange blossoms. She was attended by Miss Arva Lasenby, sister of the groom, who wore a pretty frock of pink silk. The groom was assisted by Mr. Erwin Rutledge. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The number of handsome presents given the young couple testify to the esteem in which they are held by their friends. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Lasenby will reside at the new home on Bowley street, city.

WEBBER—McCORQUODALE.

"Scotch Thistle Lodge," Embro, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCorquodale, was the scene of a happy event on June 22, when their daughter, Sarah Euphemia, became the bride of Mr. Randolph Webber of Hickson, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. L. Lane of Embro, assisted by Rev. Mr. Plyley of Hickson.

The bride looked charming in a dainty gown of white voile with bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. The only ornament was a necklace, set with an aquamarine, the gift of the groom.

The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Smith, cousin of the bride, during which the happy couple took their places beneath an arch of evergreens, prettily decorated with peonies and having for a background a bank of geraniums. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Lane sang very sweetly "Oh, Promise Me."

The groom's gift to the pianist was a pearl sunburst, and to the soloist a cut glass bon bon dish.

After the ceremony the happy couple led the way to the dining-room, which was prettily decorated in pink and white. Thirty guests, the immediate relatives of the young couple, partook of the wedding dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Webber were the recipients of many handsome gifts, among which were several checks.

The happy couple left by motor for Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara and Lockport, New York. On their return they will reside on "Evergreen Farm," Hickson.

SMITH—BARKER.

A very pretty wedding took place at Embro on Wednesday, June 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Esaw Barker, when their second daughter, Annie Ellen, was united in marriage to Victor Abrah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith of Uniondale. They were unattended, the Rev. Mr. Kitching, assisted by Rev. Mr. McGugan, officiating. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Libbie Conke, the bride, looking sweet in her wedding gown of white georgette over white satin with continual veil and orange blossoms and carrying a shower bouquet of roses, entered the parlor on the arme of her father and took her place beside the groom, under an arch of ferns, evergreens and roses. During the signing of the register, Miss Blanche Cody sang very sweetly "Oh, Promise Me."

After congratulations had been received the happy couple led the way to the dining-room which was prettily decorated with roses and other flowers of the season. Here a wedding breakfast was served to 70 or more guests. Mr. Midd of St. Marys gave a toast to the happy couple. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold wrist watch, to the organist and soloist, very pretty pearl pins. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents, including china, cut glass, silverware, linen, etc. Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left for New York and points west. The bride traveling in a navy blue tricotine suit with hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside on the groom's farm, two miles out of St. Marys.

ELLIS—McTAGGART.

The setting for the wedding which took place in the Cronyn Memorial Church yesterday afternoon was indeed lovely. It was the occasion of the marriage of Cecelia Jean, daughter of the late Dr. Alexander McTaggart and Mrs. McTaggart of this city, to Mr. George Howard Ellis, also of London, and the chancel of the church had been filled with marguerites, combined with deep blue delphinium. Across the chancel rail, in the fount and upon the altar were these attractive flowers found, with Canterbury bells appearing above the altar, and maiden-hair ferns and clusters of marguerites tied at the end of each pew. Palms and ferns were also used in the chancel to enhance the beauty of the setting. Only guests, numbering about 80 or 90, were given access to the church, through a canvas archway leading from the drive-stone to the central door of the church.

The bride was announced by the St. Cecelia Club, a surpliced choir of 16 women, under the direction of Miss Dorinda Abbott, who sang through the Lohengrin "Bridal Chorus," thus giving the guests the unusual privilege of hearing the words as well as the music of that immortal bridal song. The bride appeared on the arm of Col. W. M. Gartshore, who gave her in marriage, looking lovely in her nuptial robe of beautiful thread lace. Bodice and court train were fashioned of embroidered crepe, while the skirt fell in flounces of lace, the lace appearing again in the short sleeves. The veil, which fell in pretty folds over the face of the bride and was caught to train at the floor with orange blossoms, was caught again at either side of the head with clusters of this same bridal flower. The only touch of color in the whole costume was the shell-pink lining of the train. Ophelia roses and sweet peas ormed the bridal bouquet, which was showered with Sweetheart roses.

The only attendant of the bride was Miss Jean Macfie as maid of honor, who wore an exceedingly pretty gown of white crepe meteor, made with side panniers of silk net in all the rainbow shades—a pretty cascade of color which fell from a tiny puffing of the net at the waistline. The rose color in this exquisite combination was repeated again in a huge flat bow at the back of the costume, over which fell a lovely old cream lace shawl, belonging to the grandmother of the maid of honor. Falling plainly from the shoulders, the lace was caught up again at the sides of the skirt, forming a pretty drapery. An arm bouquet of mauve, pink and white sweet peas and a large white mohair hat with white ostrich trimming completed the costume. Mr. Wilmer Scandrett attended the groom, while Mr. George Hobart of Montreal Mr. Neville Pope, Mr. Colin Duffield and Mr. John McClary Moore acted as ushers.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. Q. Warner, Miss Minnie Raymond presiding at the organ, and during the signing of the register Miss Dorinda Abbott sang beautifully "The Crown." Mrs. McTaggart, mother of the bride wore a handsome gown of silver grey crepe de chine, a small grey mohair hat with grey ostrich trimmings and corsage bouquet of mauve sweet peas, while Mrs. Ellis, mother of the groom was in black and carried purple and white sweet peas.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Queen's avenue, the house being simply but prettily decorated with Ophelia and Columbia roses, while out in the garden greenery and flowers again lent their pretty setting to the wedding. On the bride's table Ophelia roses were used in a central silver vase, and in smaller vases at the four corners of the table.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Niblett, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Leather of Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ross of Toronto; Mrs. A. C. Tuttle of Nangatuck, N. Y.; Mrs. Wm. Dougan of St. Catharines, and others.

For going away the bride wore a tailored suit of navy tricotine, a French hat of navy mohair trimmed with French flowers and a pretty cream fur choker. After a trip to Wa Wa, Lake of Bays, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will reside in the city.

IMPROVEMENTS AT CHILDREN'S SHELTER MADE DURING MONTH

Fifty Children Pass Through Home in Past Month—Fire Escape Built.

Some interesting work is being done in connection with the Children's Shelter, as shown by this week's meeting of the Children's Aid Society, the last until the month of August. The society is expressing its thanks to the city engineer's department for filling up the ravine there, and thus extending the playground for the children and the Shelter gardens. Although the grounds and buildings are far from ideal, this work has made them more attractive. The society is also building a fire escape at the south end of the building, such a protection having hitherto been lacking in this building.

At the meeting two appointments were made to the advisory committee of the London Council for Combating Venereal Diseases—A. E. Barbour and W. E. Kelly. A. E. Barbour, the vice-president, was also made an ex-officio member of all the standing committees. The Shelter Home committee reported through Mrs. John Weld in the absence of Mrs. F. R. Hardie, the convener. The work is progressing splendidly, children to the number of 50 passing through the Shelter since the last meeting of the board. There are now 31 children in the Shelter, 20 having passed out during the past month. Mrs. F. E. Leonard reported for the Foster Home committee, a placement of five new children having been made during the month. D. H. McDermid, the president, was in the chair.

CLUB NEWS

ST. GEORGE'S GARDEN PARTY.

The Women's Guild of St. George's Church, West London, held a very successful garden party on the rectory lawn last night. Electric lights lit up the grounds, and gaily-decked stalls so that the passer-by was bound to go in and patronize them. Flags and bunting also lent their brightness to the scene, and a splendid orchestra furnished attractive music throughout the evening. At the fancy work stall a very fine assortment of children's clothing was sold, under the direction of Mrs. Copp, Mrs. Barr and Mrs. R. Talbot. Refreshments in the form of cool drinks, watermelon, buttermilk etc., were dispensed by Mrs. Garret, Mrs. Kershaw and their helpers, while a splendid array of home cooking was convened by Mrs. R. Pinchcombe, Mrs. Herbert Nichols and Mrs. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Nobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Sims had the selling of the ice cream, Miss Myrtle Hodgins, the candy, and Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins, the fruit and flowers.

ST. GEORGE'S TENNIS CLUB.

The young people of St. George's Church are most active tennis players, three splendid church courts being kept in use most of the time this summer.

W. C. T. U.

Miss Cannell occupied the chair at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the local W. C. T. U., Mrs. Ashplant, the president, being out of the city. The meeting was largely taken up with the relating of experiences at the recent Mount Brydges convention. The election of a corresponding secretary in place of Mrs. George Copeland, who has refused to take the office, was held over until the next meeting. A Bible reading was given by Mrs. Cottam.

AT CUPID'S CALL

XIV.—WHAT WAS IN THE PACKAGE?

Dick Calardin and Mary were silent after their short encounter with Julian Vandaveer. Dick looked narrowly at Mary. Vandaveer, somehow, did not seem the sort of man she would know. He had noted Mary's quick flush as she acknowledged Vandaveer's apology, and had put it down to other causes than the right one—which was that he reminded her forcibly of Eve Rochester, her rival.

Mary was filled with a strange uneasiness at this meeting with the suave and good-looking Julian Vandaveer. She did not know him. She had never seen him excepting for that moment at the railroad station whither he had gone to meet Eve Rochester when the two girls had arrived the preceding day from the country—Eve on a visit to town, and Mary returning from having delivered a package to Calardin, at the direction of her employer, Mr. Carrington Bellair. But that unerring instinct that young and inexperienced girls sometimes have, told her that he wanted no good of her—that he would use her to further his own ends. She had an uncanny feeling that he was glad they had met—almost that he had arranged this meeting, incidental as it appeared to be.

And she had another sensation—a sensation that his presence boded no good for the happiness of Calardin. And Calardin's happiness—what did that matter to her? Mary was too honest to try to cloak the fact from herself that it meant a great deal. There had been something in Vandaveer's way of looking at Calardin—something penetrating, almost as if he were looking for something—that had frightened her.

They rode to the next station silently and then Calardin's voice broke in upon her worried thoughts.

"I know a quiet little restaurant here in one of those side streets," he said. "Will it suit you? Or would you rather go to one of the places where there's a cabaret or dancing?"

"Oh, I shall like the quiet little restaurant," answered Mary, softly. Any place with Calardin—she checked her foolish thoughts and tried to look dignified and cold again. But she couldn't.

And Calardin, well satisfied with life, guided her to the quietest corner of the quiet little restaurant. And there they dined.

"We'll go to one of the dancing places afterward to see the crowd," Calardin said. But Mary would have been content if they had stayed on there for the evening. And for that matter, so would Calardin.

It was not until they were lingering over their coffee and Calardin's cigarette that Mary remembered the real reason why she had changed her mind and consented to this evening with Calardin. Then she remembered, and she told Calardin all she knew about the Mexican securities. Calardin listened carefully to her business-like explanation.

"That was awfully decent of you, Miss Drew," he said when she had finished. "I don't know how I can thank you."

"Oh," said Mary primply, "indeed it seemed only my duty to tell you."

And then they both looked at each other and laughed, and Calardin excused himself to go and telephone a belated message to Mr. Bellairs, asking him not to buy any of the Mexican shares for Calardin's account.

When he came back from telephoning, he suggested that they go to a dancing club of which he was a member. But for a while they sat on and talked.

"What I'm wondering," he said, "is why Bellairs should turn out such a villain. He's always been rather decent to me. Look."

He unfastened a little cord from around his neck. On it dtngled a diamond—big and glowing in the soft evening light. He placed it in Mary's hands. He seemed to like to see it there.

"But I shouldn't want you to wear it," he said; "it might bring its wearer trouble. It has a strange history."

Tomorrow—In the Heart of a Diamond.

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

THE SLEEPING PORCH.

Most houses now have a sleeping porch, where at least the delicate member of the family may breathe the fresh air all night long as well as all day. Devotees of outdoor sleeping claim that one hour of it is worth three inside, and that open windows are a poor approximation to real outdoors. Certainly the growing boy clamors for his outside bed, always earlier in the spring and later into the autumn, and shows its value in his improved color and vigor.

The chief points to consider in planning and furnishing the sleeping porch are protection from rain and insects, privacy, and proper shelter for the eyes from early morning light. A roofed balcony or a strong canvas awning, screens, and a dark curtain on rings so that it may be easily pulled, meet these requirements.

Good sense must be used in placing the couch, in making it comfortable, and in putting at least as much bedding under the boy's body as over it. One sometimes sees a hammock or light frame cot heaped high with blankets and perhaps one thickness of canvas or a thin mattress between the sleeper's body and the cold air, and is not surprised to hear that Johny cannot stand sleeping out, except in very warm weather.

If half the clothing were under him the other half on top, he would not get so cold. The bedding should be chosen carefully, such as will not soil too quickly, but can nevertheless be washed.

Flannelette sheets or blankets are for better than cotton or linen, except in extreme heat, but the pillow and pillowcase should be the same as used in the house. The sleeper should wear flannelette night clothes, and have woolen sleeping socks for cold nights. If his head is protected from draughts he soon becomes accustomed to the air and prefers not to wear any head covering, and it is much better that he should not.

Personal Health Service

(By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D., Noted Physician and Author.)

Eke the Common Tub.

An Iowa reader wishes to know whether any kind of infection is likely to be spread through the use of the common communion chalice in church.

The common towel, the common drinking cup, the common tooth brush, the common bathtub, and I suppose I might add the common swimming pool, the common lake, the common ocean and the common world, are looked upon with more or less suspicion by us scientific sharps. It appears that somebody isolated a few cooties and an itch mite or two from the roller towel in a classy boarding house, and that sort of shivered our timbers.

Now, this is a mighty difficult question. I must summon all my best judgment and circumspection in formulating an answer, for, referring to familiar quotations, I must ply a course between the Scylla of ultra-scientismisticness on the one hand (sometimes Friend Noah is anything but helpful) and the Charybdis of what is too often termed "common sense" on the other.

Personally, if my lip were not cracked or anything, I should as soon drink from a common drinking cup as from a cup privately owned and parked under guard.

As for a bout with the roller towel, why, it is scarcely two or three years since I was offered, on many an occasion, a fair to middling clean spot on a roller towel wherewith to wipe my hands in a hospital! And it was a first-class hospital. Sometimes I preferred to remain wet, sometimes I joined the drys, depending on the general state of the weather—cloudy weather being unfavorable to the drys.

I fear I left out of the list the most terrific of all these common adventures. The common comb, brush and the unwashed hands of the common barber or hair dresser. All the other common things pale into insignificance beside these.

Certainly it would be folly to use a drinking cup or any other utensil habitually used by a person believed to have diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, meningitis, coryza, tuberculosis, pneumonia, quinsy, syphilis, measles, smallpox, simple sore throat, acute bronchitis or infantile paralysis in the stage of invasion. Each and all of these infections are unquestionably conveyed through saliva or other secretions discharged from nose or mouth, and there is good reason to believe — we can't prove it — that the virus may survive long enough on objects contaminated with such saliva or secretions to remain virulent to the individual who shortly implants the sample in his own mouth.

Oh, yes, there's another common thing—the street car transfer—which often conveys saliva quickly from conductor to patron or from patron to conductor, via thumb moistening and the holding of the transfer in the mouth. And here should be placed the woman who holds a coin in her mouth while closing her purse and the program boy who slips you a generous gob of his saliva with every program.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Economy.

We are a childless couple 34 years of age, and never will have children of our own. Do you think it would be foolish for us to adopt a year-old baby boy of good parentage and perfect health? We are paying for our home out of an income of $160 a month, and must make that do for everything. Some folks say we would be foolish to burden ourselves with a child till in better circumstances, but I'm afraid we will be too old and selfish by that time. I am quite nervous, but I believe if I had something to think of besides myself I should be less nervous. . . . (Mrs. K. M. C.)

ANSWER—You are probably right. What's a house—can't really call it a home—without children? The baby is a better investment than any mere real estate. Adopt the baby and enjoy living.

Nervous Breakdown.

I am writing these few lines . . you claim there is no such thing as nervous breakdown . . would like to know how you explain my case and why I suffer such great mental and physical pain. . .

ANSWER—I have tried to make clear that "nervous breakdown" does not explain any failure of health. All sorts of disease conditions are dubbed "nervous breakdown" by the complacent victim, by doctors who have few diagnostic qualms, and by doctors who do not care to give out the real nature of patient's illnesses. Of course, I can't explain why you suffer, without having personally examined you and learned what is the matter. When I assert that there is no such disease as "nervous breakdown," "rheumatism" or a "cold," I am not ignoring common evidence, but merely trying to impress upon you that these terms are all vague, meaningless, misleading subterfuges, curiosity-quieting names doctors apply when they don't really know or do not care to divulge the nature of the illness.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

All green and fair the summer lies,
Just budded from the bud of spring,
With tender blue of wistful skies,
And winds which softly sing.
—Susan Coolidge.

Attention, Mother of Six.

Dear Miss Grey,—I just couldn't keep from writing any longer. I do want one of those sachets so badly which Thistle has just sent in! What a kind person she must be! Isn't it grand to be alive this lovely weather, even if we do have to house-clean? Mother of Six, I made pickles off your recipe last year, and have the pickles all used up now. Will the liquid do for this year's pickles, or must I throw this away and make fresh. We liked the pickles, and thanks for sending recipe.

I wonder if any of the Boxites have a crocheted insertion that would be nice for curtains. If any are sent in, Miss Grey, will you forward to me? Or if there are any crochet edgings or insertions in the Mail-Box I would like to have them to copy. I am inclosing a couple of narrow edgings for Mail-Box use. I do not want them back.

Have any of the Boxites ever used common sewing thread in a coarse size for crochet? The mercerized cottons do not seem to wear very well, and I was wondering how the sewing thread would look and wear. I have tried several of the cooking recipes and found them very good. FLY BLISTER.

P.S.—Inclosed find mite for C. H.

Ans.—Am mailing you a few crochet patterns. Thank you for hospital mite and edgings.

A Cinnamon Vine.

Dear Miss Grey,—Sorry, but I haven't any cinnamon vine bulbs left, but my mother visited me last week and tells me that the old vine has come up this spring thicker than ever, and this fall I will gather every seed and send in to the Mail-Box, so that those who were disappointed in not getting them this spring may have them for another year.
A CINNAMON VINE.

No Sachets.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please send me one of the sachets, Inclosed find mite for S. C. H.
A LOVER OF CHILDREN.

Ans.—I am sorry, but there are no sachets left. Thank you for mite. I am keeping your envelope on file.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I come again to bother you. I received my other requests O. K., which I appreciate very much, and now I am going to ask for one of those sachets which Thistle has just sent in and some aster seeds, and any other flower seeds you have to spare just send them along. I have a large garden and am trying to plant a variety of flower seeds. Now that I have asked for so much help I am going to offer some. I saw where someone—I can't just recall her name—wanted some baby stockings and clothes. I have some beauties which my little girlie scarcely wore. If anyone wants them they are welcome to them. My address is with Miss Grey.

I think Thistle must be a perfectly grand person to send in so many of those sachets, and I do believe they are quite expensive. I have had a lot of work and worry since I wrote before; have moved, and everyone knows what that means when one has two babies.

Well, I won't bother you any more this time. Here's a mite for S. C. H. May I come again, Miss Grey?
MARY PICKFORD'S DOUBLE.

Ans.—There are no sachets left, but am mailing some seeds and a personal note on your query. Thank you for the mite and offer to help.

Wants Slips.

Dear Miss Grey,—I never saw my letter in print, but I would like some foliage slips myself, if Ribbon Grass has them to spare. Was it an English Ivy that Peggy wanted? I can send it and also Lady Washington geranium, but I was thinking as I got my slips ready to send if each one would find out from her neighbor if she was sending to the Mail-Box, so that the slips could all be sent at once, it would save trouble and expense. I did want a slip of a house rose. I would like some of the bulbs Charmian has to give, and a few slips of the bulbs and some of the roots Mother Pearl has to spare to cover the porch. Will exchange any slip I have for them, and also some poppy seed and some of any other kind. Hoping I am not asking too much, I am still,
NANCY.

P. S.—Am inclosing dime for S. C. M. Received my sachet, and thanks very much.—N.

Ans.—Am mailing seeds. Many thanks for hospital dime.

Dear Miss Grey,—Hope you are all well as this is a lovely morning, but will not stay too long. I am anxious to get into my garden. My how the S. C. H. fund is growing. I am sending some poppy and caster beans to help, if I am not too late. The poppy is mixed and double. I have 12 little chicks and 5 little kittens. I wonder who would like one they are just beginning to play. Will send some quilt patches. They are not very good, Miss Grey, but it will help the fund. I have not been well all winter, and now it seems to be so nice to get out of doors after being in bed all winter. Will close, wishing the Mail-Box and the fund luck. Will say good-morning to all.
LOVER OF CHILDREN.

Ans.—Thank you, Lover of Children, for inclosures.

A Buffet Luncheon.

Dear Miss Grey and Boxites,—Here am I, just one more addition to your large family. I have read March Wind's letters. I really love her letters, and hope to see another in print soon, don't you, Miss Grey? I am expecting to go for a visit to the country in two weeks, to the States, so will write and tell you all how I find it. I am a lover of books and flowers, but am rather an ignoramous compared to some of you Boxites.

I had a new, little niece just two weeks ago. She is a dear little girl. Just now she is sleeping ever so soundly.

Cynthia, could you tell me the correct way to serve a buffet luncheon? I would like very much to know, as we are having a wedding very soon. I know it is not very good manners for a stranger to outstay one's welcome, so I must apologize and if you will forgive me I won't let it happen again. Inclosed is mite for S. C. H. BLUE JEANS.

P. S.—Do the guests sit at tables?—B. J.

Ans.—The lunch is served from a long table decorated elaborately with flowers and foliage. Several tables may be placed together to obtain the same effect. You may either ask friends or hire help to assist in serving. The guests do not sit down at tables. Would be pleased to hear from you from the States.

Teachers.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have never written you before but have enjoyed your page very much. Would you please send the stamped envelope to A Lonely Rose? I would like to have a discussion on schools in the Mail-Box. I do think teachers really have such a hard time, especially when the children are bad, and sometimes their tenes are altogether too easy. Of course school teachers must have a very sweet temper with an extraordinary good correction strap in the drawer, or better, hanging on a nail on the desk within easy reach, even if the children never get it, as some children it makes worse instead of better. I will close, hoping that I am not swiping anyone's pen-name I will sign myself, just a plain little JANE.

P.S.—You will find 10 cents inclosed please use 3 cents for letter and keep the rest for self.

Ans.—Am forwarding letter. Many thanks for hospital mite.

Wants Crochet Work.

Dear Miss Grey,—I would like to get some crochet edgings, and one or two wider ones if you have them, please, and I would like that lady to do some crocheting for me if she would. I will leave my address with you, Miss Grey, so as she can get it. I would like to get some foliage slips if anyone could spare me just one or two. I would pay postage for them or give any other kind of slip in return. Have you any seeds left, Miss Grey? I would like to get a few, any kind, please, and have you a quilt pattern or any patches of any kind? I am going to make a quilt. If you have a pattern, any kind, would do. I am sending 25 cents for S. C. H.
GOOD-NATURED ANNIE.

Ans.—Am mailing you seeds and patterns. Many thanks for hospital mite.

Veranda Chats.

My Dear Miss Grey,—I sent in a short epistle some time ago, but did not see it in print, and after reading the paper today I thought I would try my luck this time.

Would like very much to get some cucumber seeds (wild). Would also like to get advice about them. I had some once, and planted them but they refused to grow, and I have been unable to get any since.

I think that June Rose must have wanted the words of "Till We Meet Again." The chorus starts out with "Smile awhile." You will see that I have copied and inclosed them. I hope these are the ones she wants. Would like the words, "I know where flies goes in the winter time," "Make Believe," and "I'm Missin' Mamie's Kissin'."

I wonder, Jonah, if you are amongst this study history bunch? I myself like all of Bach's, Beethoven's and Schubert's compositions, but I don't think it is right for teachers to put these things pupils detest upon the pupils and make them learn it whether they want to or not.

Pecky, you have my sympathy when it comes to square dancing. I don't see a thing in it and I think that such old customs should be abolished, but it won't until all those old fashion ones, whoet come out once in a century, are gone, and someone up-to-date comes on the scene.

Red Wing, I have slips I could change with you for some of your vine. I hope my request comes in early enough, for I do like climbing vines, especially the one you mentioned. Don't forget that I want a package of your columbine as soon as it comes fall, and I can get it. I have always wanted columbine, and I have never seen it, but it must be very pretty.

If any of the Boxites would like fancy work done I will do it for them if they will send me goods, thread, etc. And I will send the money what they pay me to the Mail-Box. Will have to go, as I now hear someone saying well she certainly hasn't wings of a dove or she would have been gone 'fore now.

Well, good-bye for this time. I'm comin' so to bother the lot of you,
MARY MARIE.

Ans.—Kindly send in your name and address, Mary Marie. Can anyone give advice re cucumber vine. Thank you for inclosures.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again to trouble you. I wonder if I can have the sunbonnet pattern I saw where some one sent it in, and if I am not too late I would like one of Thistle's sachets. Will send self-addressed envelope and 25 cents for S. C. H.
SUNBONNET.

Ans.—Am mailing patterns, but there are no sachets left. Thanks for hospital mite.

WESTERN ONTARIO WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Address News For This Column to The Editor of Woman's Page.

PAISLEY W. I.

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute for Center Bruce district was held on Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. William Rowand, Paisley. Delegates numbering 75, represented Chesley, Kincardine, Ripley and neighboring institutes. The president, Mrs. Farley, Kincardine, presided. The reports read showed the good work that had been done during the year in the various institutes. Mrs. Patterson of Gadshill gave an interesting and comprehensive address on the W. I. as an educator, surveying its past and future policy.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Mrs. R. Conn, Paisley; first vice-president, Mrs. Farly, Kincardine; second vice-president, Mrs. Leitch, Chesley; secretary, Mrs. Graham, Ripley. A dainty tea was served at the close by the local society.

THE POOR LITTLE PRINCE.

Part Eight.

There was a big fire growing in the centre of the island, and there the witches gathered. The little Prince and his magic dog, Tingles, kept quite close to their friend the old witch. How surprised the other witches were when they spied the new arrivals.

"Who are these two strangers that have come to our meeting?" asked one witch.

"They are friends of mine, and as such should be treated with the greatest respect," the old witch spoke up. Apparently she was a witch of importance, for there was not another question asked as to why she had brought her friends. Indeed all the witches seemed quite agreeable to having the new arrivals there.

There was a great pot boiling over the fire, and into this pot each of the witches put a contribution. Each one was supposed to bring something quite difficult to find, it seemed. The head witch of all, who was taller and uglier than the rest, stood over the pot and called out the name of what was brought. What strange articles some had collected. Into the pot went—the leg of a dancing toad, the eyebrow of a blind grasshopper, the tusk of an elephant, the whisker of a mountain-goat, the wisdom tooth of an owl and dozens of other strange things. When it was all cooked and the savor of it was floating through the air, the witches started to gather knowledge.

"Who knows how to get the bag of gold guarded by the green-tailed, pink-headed dragon on the top of the fiery mountain?" asked the little prince's friend, the old witch.

"I know," answered one old witch, as she took a deep breath of the savor that was coming from the boiling pot. "The green-tailed, pink-headed dragon has been a guard on the top of the fiery mountain so long he has not had a chance to get a drink of water for years. To whoever carries him a drink of cold water he will give the bag of gold."

"But how can anyone carry a cool drink to the top of the fiery mountain? The heat from the fire in the mountain would soon make the water warm." It was the head witch who spoke these wise words.

"Not if the water was carried in a bag made from the skins of firebugs," answered the witch who knew all about the dragon. "You see, the coats of firebugs protect the firebugs from being heated up by the fire they carry, so they would certainly keep the water cool."

"Thank you for your information," Prince Philip's witch friend said.

Tingles whispered to Philip, "The fairies will catch the firebugs and then make the water bag. Have courage. The bag of gold will soon be yours to carry to the Grand Duke." And the little Prince's heart was so filled with joy he could hardly wait until it was time to go.

CARMEN ON VERGE OF NO-HIT EFFORT

CARMEN ONE MAN AWAY FROM NO-HIT PASTIME

Emmer Messed Up Proceedings With Slow Roller That Went For Hit in Ninth—Wotell Chased.

George ("Lefty") Carmen had two gone in the ninth and was on the slippery verge of a no-hit game against Flint, when Emmer floo-ied out a slow roller toward George Stutz, beating the throw, and Hunter followed with a smashing single to right field that went through Kuhn and Malmquest. The London hurler had to be content with administering a 4—0 blanking to the Vehics. It set the record for fast games this season, taking just 76 minutes.

Pretty nearly everything happened in the first two innings, and the Londoners supplied most of these. After this Sam Dodge and Carmen settled down to a nice hurling duel, which was even as far as runs were concerned.

Carmen had everything on the ball yesterday, all the way from corkscrews to floaters, and was accorded velvety support after Bill Kuhn had made a wild bowl to first in the first inning, which put Hunter on second base, where he passed away peacefully.

Two Walks.

Two walks issued by Dodge in the first phase of the battle were good for runs. Briger and Kuhn got these, and the first came in when Wotell made a sloppy throw to first of Malmquest's grounder. Kuhn and Malmquest mud-slogged it around to home-plate on Crichlow's triple to centre.

Curry added London's fourth smacker, when he singled, was sacrificed by Carmen and came in on Stutz's smart single to centre.

The Londoners were willing to provide trouble at almost any stage thereafter, but smart defensive work on the part of the Flinters and the five hits they gathered from Thamuel after the second inning didn't give them any barn-door openings.

Wotell was chased in the second frame after he had passed his opinion of the umps without putting the muffler on.

The score:

They usually call outfielders "fleet."

There are fleets of battleships, too.

* * *

Vandyke, whose wrist was hurt going into second Monday in the 6th, had a lay-off yesterday. Hence, Joe in his latest role of h'outfielder.

* * *

Crich did a lot of unnecessary running to back up Joe yesterday. Joe didn't need him. He had the signs.

* * *

Kuhn, when he juggled Ted Anderson's loud liner in the fifth with one hand for an out, and Emmer when he turned his back on the grandstand for Kuhn's texas leaguer out toward left field in the seventh, provided the fielding features of the day.

* * *

Twilight ball is having a close argument on attendance. The first day's slim crowd could be accounted for by the rain. Yesterday was better, especially in the bleachers.

* * *

Hamilton, however, tried it for two nights last week, and then went back to the 4 o'clock games.

* * *

It looked like a rotten decision when Emmer came into Stutz standing up in the ninth, and the London third-sacker was waiting with the ball. A keen-eyed fan says, however, that Stutz held the ball with one hand and tagged the runner with the other. Which is something that might cross Stutz's mind in a pinch at that.

Kitchener Telegraph: The baseball fans of Kitchener and Waterloo never had a better opportunity to boost baseball than at present. Let's all get into the game.

The Brantford Expositor generously gives space to a three-column communication from President Maines of M.-O. League. Probably this is part of the publicity campaign for which the league paid over $2,000 last season.

The Kitchener Tennis Club is making a good showing in its group of the Western Ontario League. This is certainly a sporting center.

* * *

An excellent proposition has been made to make the Kitchener ball club a twin-city organization, and have it known as Kitchener-Waterloo in the same way as the Hurons are known as Port Huron-Sarnia. The proposal will be taken up at an early meeting of the directors of the club.

CANADIAN INDIANS' TRAP SHOOT TOURNEY OPENS ON THURSDAY

NIAGARA - ON - THE-LAKE, Ont., June 28.—United States Olympic champions and members of the Canadian Olympic team are expected to attend the 13th annual trapshooting tournament of the "Canadian Indians," which takes place here Thursday and Friday of this week. There will also be a large attendance of well-known trap shots from both the United States and Canada.

WINDSOR MEETS SARNIA IN LACROSSE JULY 1

SARNIA, June 28. — Sarnia lacrosse fans are going to have another opportunity of seeing the local squad in action this week, when the fast-traveling Windsor aggregation, which has so far this season broken even on its games played, clash with the Blue and Whites at Athletic Park on the afternoon of July 1. According to Chatham advices, Windsor has two of the fastest runners they have ever started up against playing on their home, and that these two men are always dangerous. One of them plays centre field position, and will have a nifty little ground coverer to compete with in McAllister.

DICK HUGHES BLANKS BAY CITY WOLVES BRANTS TRIM ACES

SIX ERRORS FOR THE ACES

Kitchener Beavers Take the Second From Hurons.

HAMILTON, June 28.—Hamilton took the second game of a three-game series from Bay City today by a count of 2 to 0. It was a pitching duel between Dickie Hughes for the Hamiltons and Don Summers for the Wolves, and good support was what saved the day for Hughes. With Summers things were just the opposite. In the opening frame the Hams scored their two counters on boots by Hegedorn and Stumpf. From then on Summers retired the Hams in one, two, three order.

AYR WINS GROUP.

On Saturday night the last game for Group No. 13 was played here in Victoria Park, with Ayr having 16 points at the beginning of the game, and with a score of 2—0 against Roseville, their Saturday night opponents, who had a record of 11 points. The game was well played, with Ayr having the best of every move, as the good shots of Vander in the first half and Hiller in the second half, the score ended 2—0 in favor of Ayr.

The two groups (Plattsville, Roseville and Ayr) and (Strasburg, New Dundee and Blair) were united, which made the group a good size, Ayr winning 9 games and losing 1, carrying away 18 points and leading her group by 7 points. Roseville, second; New Dundee, third; Plattsville, fourth; Strasburg, fifth; ;Blair sixth.

The Ayr lineup: Goal, Nipper Spencer; sub. goalie, James Oliver; full backs, George Appleyard, Norman McLeod; forwards, Bert Muma, Richard Baxter, E. Vander, Ervin Campbell, Charles Brawley, Elmer Hiller, Alex. Lillico.

Referee of Saturday's game, Sammie Law of Galt.

45 Rinks Entered in July 1 Tourney of Elmwoods

Best Known Skips in Province Are Among Entries—Penalties For Rinks Appearing Late.

The full 45 rinks, for which Elmwoods have accommodation, are entered in the big Dominion Day tourney of the south siders. These include some of the best known skips and rinks of Western Ontario, and it marks a big stride in progress of the Elmwoods, one of the newest of the city's bowling organizations.

Lack of punctuality, the bugbear of bowling tourneys, is accounted for in penalties for those rinks who come with alibis concerning time, alarm clocks that didn't alarm and the rest of the well-known ones.

PIRATES DROP TWO TO CHICAGO CUBS

Two Cub Players Injured—St. Louis Hits Red Hurlers Hard.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Charley Hollocher, shortstopper of the Chicago Cubs, and Alex Freeman, pitcher, were forced to stop playing today by injuries, while the locals defeated Pittsburg in a double-header, 2 to 1 and 8 to 6.

In the first game Hollocher's nose was broken when Cutshaw's hot grounder took a bound. In the second game a swift-driven ball hit Freeman half an inch below the temple and bounded to Grimes at first base.

The initial contest was a pitching duel, in which Chicago was more successful than the Pirates. The locals staged a sixth-inning rally in the second game which netted them seven runs, overcoming the lead of the visitors.

The scores:

First game— R.H.E.

LYNCH DID NOT LOSE.

CHICAGO, June 28.—As decisions by referees are not permitted in Indiana, Lynch's championship title was not lost to Burman. Representatives of both Chicago morning newspapers and a majority of the afternoon papers gave Burman a slight shade.

The bout was the fourth in which the men have engaged, each having won a decision and one being declared a draw.

Andy Chaney of Baltimore was given a shade over "Bud" Christiano of Chicago, in a preliminary bout, by newspapermen. They are featherweights.

Lucan Wins First Half Group Five of Wellington League

Wins One Protested Game—Defeated Fullarton 16 to 0.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. MARYS, June 28.—The Lucan Irish Nine are winners of the first half of Group Five of the N. W. B. A. After winning a protested game from Fullarton here last evening and after the league directors had awarded a protested game a win for St. Marys instead of Lucan, the Lucan Nine remained one game ahead of the local team.

The meeting was a representative one, and the business was carried out in a splendid manner. Fullarton protested a game in which Lucan used an outside player. The league directors granted the protest, but ordered the game replayed. This was the one played this evening. St. Marys team also protested a game which Lucan won, and in which they used an outside player. The directors considered this and granted the protest in favor of St. Marys.

The players Lucan used were: Crawley of the London G. T. R. (Manufacturers' League) and McCandless of Strathroy. They were suspended from the league. A ruling was passed that no outsiders were to be used in the future.

Score 16—0.

The Irish Nine completely outclassed the Fullarton team tonight. When the game ended, the score was 16 to 0. Dundas of Lucan had the losers at his mercy at all times. McCandless, one of the disputed players, was at the receiving end for Lucan this evening. Haines and Woodlee pitched for the losers and Grimes caught. Secretary of the League R. Horning and Arnott of London were the umpires.

Jack May Fight In Queen City On Labor Day

TORONTO, June 28.—Jack Dempsey, the champion pugilist, may give an exhibition boxing match here on the night of Labor Day. He has promised Art. Edmunds of the Soldiers' and Civilians' National Athletic Association of this city to come to Toronto when desired to help the association's funds.

CLOTHIERS WIN.

Greene-Swift and McClarys staged a five-inning Manufacturers' League fixture at Queen's Park last evening, the former winning by a score of 8 to 3.

J. Wray for the clothiers held the McClary aggregation to two hits for four innings, but they got to him for two two-base hits in their half of the last frame, and these were responsible for two runs.

Andrews was no puzzle for the clothiers. They collected nine hits off his delivery, and these, coupled with five misplays, netted them eight runs. A three-base hit by J. Wray in the second canto was the feature of the game.

The score— R.H.E.

MT. FOREST TEN WIN FROM HARRISTON 3—2

Both Teams Play Good Lacrosse.

HARRISTON, June 28.—The lacrosse season opened here this evening between the old-time rivals, Mount Forest and Harriston, and resulted in a win for the home team by a 3 to 2 score. The game was fast from start to finish, and Referee M. Shannon of Mount Forest kept the game clean throughout, with only five penalties handed out during the entire 60 minutes of play. The scoring commenced with the homesters in less than two minutes, and the final score in the first period was 1—0. The visitors then came back with some nice combinations and secured two goals, while the locals tied the score. The deciding goal was notched in the final period when only a couple of minutes remained.

The teams were as follows:

Mount Forest—R. Young, Smith, F. Traplin, F. Stewart, C. Campbell, J. Obricht, W. Morrison, H. Allen, J. Murdoch, W. Brocklebank, V. Smith, N. McLarkie.

Harriston—W. Wright, J. Brandt, T. Mutheron, H. Burrows, L. Lemon, N. Dehm, H. Brandt, C. Davidson, L. Burrows, I. McLellan, N. Shortreed, J. Davidson, J. Dale.

LIGHTFOOT'S PIGEONS AGAIN WINNERS

The Forest City Racing Pigeon Club held their weekly race from Montpelior Ohio, a distance of 200 miles, last Saturday. With a wind most favorable the birds made fast time. The winning birds were owned by J. Lightfoot, making the distance in 5 hours, 3 minutes, 35 seconds. T. Westman was a close second with 5 hours and 7 minutes.

The results are as follows:
1. J. Lightfoot, 1,154 yards per minute.
2. J. Lightfoot, 1,154 A, B, C.
3. T. Westman, 1,153.
4. C. Penn, 927.
5. H. Dillon, 864.
6. J. Rawson, 749.
7. Rawson Bros., 534.

The next race takes place from Peru, Indiana, a distance of 300 miles, on Saturday, July 2, and should be a good race.

FRENCH GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Boulogne, France, June 29.—Sixty-six players, mostly British, including Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, are entered for the French open golf championship, play in which began today.

The expected entries of United States golfers, among them Jock Hutchison, winner of the British open title, and Walter Hagen were received.

INTERNATIONALS GET YANKEE PITCHER.

Rochester, N. Y., June 29.—Walter E. Hapgood, busines manager of the Rochester Internationals, today announced the acquisition of Walter Knight, a pitcher, from the New York Yankees.

MET IN WOMEN'S SINGLES.

Wimbledon, England, June 29.—Mrs. Satterthwaite, British tennis star, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of the United States, held the center of attraction at the British turf lawn tennis tournament here today. These players met in the final stage of the women's singles, and the winner will meet Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen in the challenge round. Max Woosman and Miss F. M. Howkins opposed P. M. Dawson and Mrs. Lambert Chambers in the mixed doubles, and the contest between these British players was expected to bring out some excellent tennis.

ST. JOHN'S ROVERS WILL NOT PLAY P. U.'S HERE

L. and D. Suspend Them and Order Imperials of Sarnia Into Finals Here July 9— Unfortunate Muddle.

A nasty muddle has occurred over the final game of the London and District, which was to have been staged between Public Utilities and St. John's Rovers of St. Thomas, in London, tonight.

St. Thomas Rovers were ordered to play off with P. U.'s at Tecumseh Park, neutral grounds, as the locals use Springbank Park for their games. They refused to obey the orders of the London and District, claiming that their idea of neutral grounds do not centre around Tecumseh Park, and the upshot is that the London and District Council have suspended the Rovers, and Sarnia Imperials have been ordered to play in the finals here on July 9.

It is regrettable that the incident should have occurred at the close of the most successful season ever enjoyed by soccer in this district. However, something is wrong somewhere, and these things have a habit of coming to light sooner or later. The matter will be aired before the O. F. A., and the action taken there will establish the source of the muddle.

This Off, Too.

The pick of St. Thomas against the Public Utilities for July 1 at Springbank is another soccer item dashed to smithereens by the Rovers' attitude, and instead, a team picked from the L. and D. against the Public Utilities will be the bill for the holiday.

It will probably be found that inclosed grounds were in the minds of the L. and D. Council when they ordered the play-off for Tecumseh Park. As a matter of fact, the Tecumseh Park pitch is as neutral, as far as the P. U.'s are concerned, as any other grounds.

The whole play-off was arranged in the usual way through drawing. Public Utilities drew a bye in the first round of the play-off and St. Thomas the ticket which gave them the right to play at home against Sarnia, which they did on Saturday, defeating the team from the border.

Chose Final Grounds.

The London and District Council chose the grounds for the finals, however, and their choice of Tecumseh Park is the crux of the disagreement. It would seem that the best thing the Rovers could have done in the best interests of soccer and harmony, would have been to comply with the orders of the executive, and then made their kick afterwards. However, they know their business best, and to what consequences their actions lay them open.

The team picked to play P. U.'s on Friday is as follows:

Isom,
Wilson, Taylor,
Croot, S. (Capt.), Whitworth, Astels,
Lowney, Perkins, Bearchall,
Gellatley, Allday.
Spares—Ganney, Milliken, Watkins.
Referee—Mr. Elsby.

Ruth Wishes Carp a Homer Jack Gets Secretive Too

BABE VISITS CAMP.

MANHASSET, N. Y., June 28. — "Babe" Ruth visited Georges Carpentier's camp today and wished the challenger a home-run on Saturday in the contest for the world's heavyweight boxing championship with Jack Dempsey.

Ruth was one of a small army of visitors who besieged the camp in a hand-shaking assault on the challenger, which grew to such proportions later that Carpentier sought refuge from the friendly invasion in a hurried automobile trip. Many who were waiting for the chance to greet the challenger failed to recognize him as his car sped by them.

Since early this morning, when Carpentier returned from a hard grind on the road, the visitors came in an apparently endless stream of automobiles. The report that Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul heavyweight, had been working daily with the challenger since Saturday was neither confirmed nor denied at the camp today.

JACK GROWS MYSTERIOUS.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 28.—Jack Dempsey ripped another page out of Georges Carpentier's training program today, when he staged a private workout after announcements had been made that he would box in public. He worked lightly for fifteen minutes in the old airplane shed back of his camp with only newspapermen and a few friends as spectators.

Several hundred persons sweltered in the heat outside of the camp, hoping that the champion would change his mind, but the crinkle of the dollar bills in their pockets was no lure for Dempsey.

The newspaper correspondents, however, refused to leave, as they did yesterday when Dempsey worked in secret, and became so persistent that Teddy Hayes, the champion's trainer, finally ordered the gates swung open to them.

After the strenuous high-speed workout in secret yesterday, Dempsey began the process of tapering off this afternoon, and only boxed two rounds, in addition to two rounds of bag-punching.

The experts regarded Dempsey's boxing more favorable than they did when they last saw ihm in action on Sunday. He boxed with more energy and "pep" throughout and was hitting harder, except when he penned his sparring partners in a corner.

FINALS FOR ENGLISH TENNIS TITLE REACHED

William Tilden Will Meet Either Britisher or Spanish Player.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 28.—William T. Tilden, II., the world's singles tennis champion, will meet either B. I. C. Norton of South Africa or Manuel Alonzo of Spain for the British championship at singles on turf courts.

Both of the finalists had hard matches to win in order to secure their positions. Norton defeated Francis T. Hunter, United States, in a five-set match, 6—0, 6—3, 5—7, 5—7, 6—2, while Alonzo also was carried to five sets by Zenzo Shimidzu, the Japanese expert. The score of this match was 3—6, 7—5, 3—6, 6—4, 8—6.

Both Hunter and Norton played brilliant tennis, and the South African displayed the best form he had shown during the entire tournament.

Alonzo, who is one of Spain's Davis cup representatives, played with extraordinary dexterity. The Spaniard is only 23 years old. He started erratically, and it was not until the fourth set, when the Japanese led four to one games that Alonzo showed his real strength, then he won six successive games by the most perfect net play and perfect driving.

Elizabeth Ryan of California passed successfully through the first round of the semi-finals of the women's singles, winning from Mrs. Peacock of Great Britain, 8—6, 6—4.

FIXING GREENS.

CAYUGA, June 28.—The local bowlers are having their greens improved, and had the heavy motor roller at work on it all Monday evening.

The Federals went down to defeat before the Colts in the local baseball games on Monday evening. Rev. W. G. Blake refereed the game.

WITH AMATEUR NINES

ZENDA LOSES.

BURGESSVILLE June 28.—An interesting baseball game was played at Zenda on Monday evening between Burgessville and Zenda. The score was 15—5, in favor of Burgessville.

WALKERTON SWAMPED.

WALKERTON, June 28.—Cargill defeated Walkerton at Cargill on Saturday by 19 to 9 in a rather ragged baseball game. Walkerton led until the eighth inning, when their pitcher "blew up," Cargill scoring 14 runs before the side was retired. Thompson of Brussels umpired the game.

U. S. TEAM WINS.

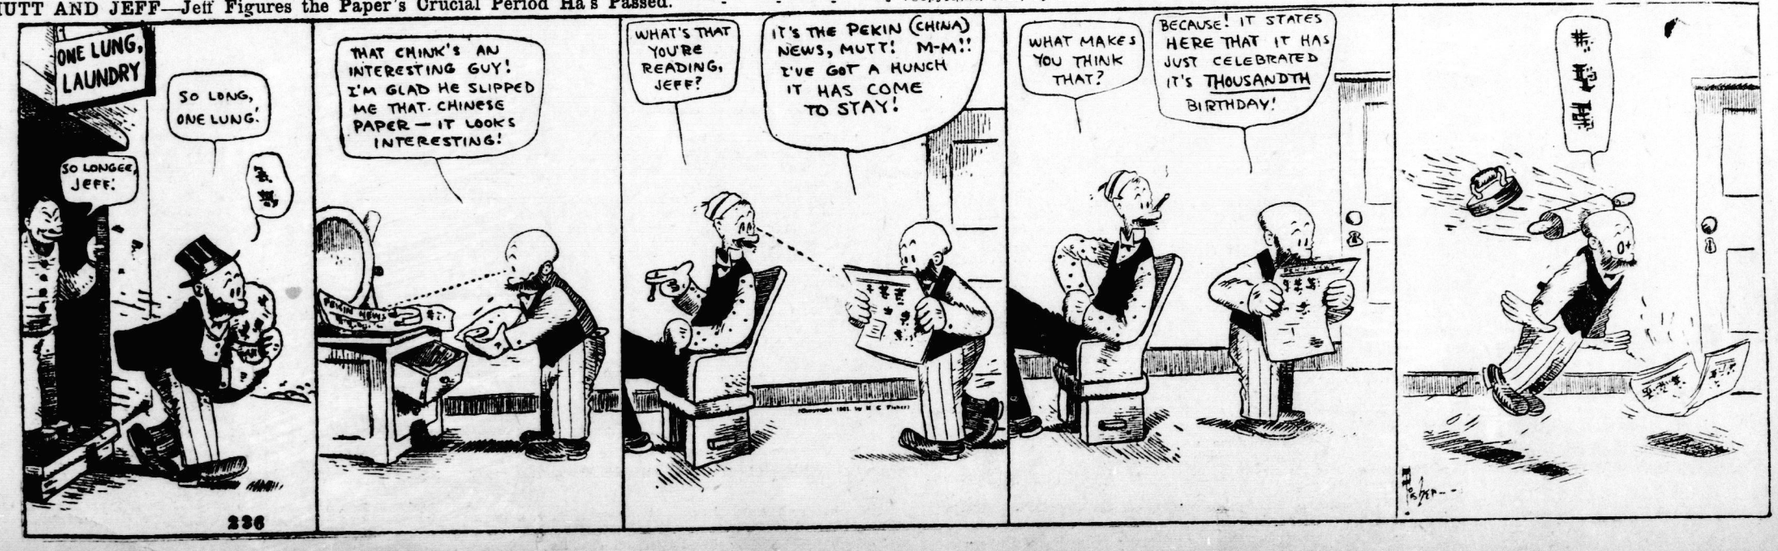

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—The Germantown cricket team defeated Ridley College of St. Catharines, Ont., in an exhibition match here today, 98 runs to 82.

DECLARES SITUATION HANDLED EFFICIENTLY

Govt. Entomologist Tells of Fight Against the Corn Borer.

OTTAWA, June 28.—(By Canadian Press).—Dr. J. M. Swaine, Dominion entomologist, when informed of the ruling of the United States Horticultural Board, preventing the export of vegetables to the United States from the sections of Southern Ontario infected by the European corn borer, said that the Canadian authorities had already taken action to prevent export of vegetables from the infected sectors. With regard to the statement alleged to have been made before the United States Board that Canada did not have sufficient field agents to conduct a survey of the situation, Dr. Swaine said that the Dominion Department of Agriculture did have sufficient agents in the field, and that the situation was being handled in the most efficient manner.

MAJORITY IS NOW 7,228

Meighen Government Candidate Being Buried Deeper All the Time.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., June 28.—The majority of Robert Gardiner, National Progressive Party, in the by-election held yesterday, had reached 7,228, with 35 polls still to hear from.

PROTEST BECK'S PLAN TO EXPORT ONTARIO POWER

Question Will Be Taken Up With the Dominion Government.

WINDSOR, June 28.—A strong protest against a movement on the part of the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario to sell power to American cities when the Chippewa project functions was voiced by F. C. Kirby at a meeting of the supporters of the Meighen administration tonight. J. C. Hodgins of Toronto stated that he would bring the matter to the attention of the Dominion Government.

A jury investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Audrey Robertson, 13 years old, tonight returned a verdict that death was caused by a gun shot wound on June 13 from a gun fired by some unknown person. Three living in the neighborhood of the fatality and possessing guns appeared before the jury and denied having fired their guns on the day of the shooting.

Recommendation that Windsor buy the site at the corner of Mercer and Ouellette streets to be used as a municipal asphalt plant was decided on tonight at a meeting of the public works committee.

Recently ratepayers indorsed a by-law to purchase this property. Following the vote residents of the district protested against the purchase, claiming that it would detract from the status of their property.

Members on the committee took the view that citizens at large had indorsed the site and will recommend that council take the necessary steps to close the deal.

RAILWAY IS BLAMED FOR MATHESON FIRE

Finding of Commissioners Made After a Complete Investigation.

TORONTO, June 28.—An interim report has been made by the commission investigating responsibility for the fire which destroyed Matheson, Northern Ontario, in 1916. Two commissioners signed the report, Judge Denton and John M. Ferguson, this city, but Commissioner Milne of North Bay, the third commissioner, did not sign it.

The interim report makes the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway responsible for some of the damage and recommends that the amount of compensation offered by the railway to the individuals concerned be accepted, but provides for further hearings in individual cases if the compensation is not accepted. It is thought the awards suggested will be acceptable to most of the sufferers.

The investigating commission was appointed last year by the Drury Government.

ASK GOVERNMENT TO STOP DREDGING AT POINT PELEE

Big Delegation From Essex Takes Matter Up With Raney.

TORONTO, June 28.—Dr. Bryant, M. P., headed a large deputation from South Essex which waited upon Attorney-General W. E. Raney today and protested against the dredging of sand and gravel from Point Pelee by United States and Canadian vessels. They stated that eight American vessels, as well as Canadian craft, were engaged night and day dredging gravel and sand, most of the material being sent to United States cities on the lake.

Pelee Point, Dr. Bryant said, was being eroded to such an extent that much of the property along the shore was in danger of serious damage. Notwithstanding that under an amendment to the beach act of 1920, no further licenses for dredging were to be issued, it was pointed out, yet three more licenses had been issued by the department of mines this spring.

Hon. Mr. Raney promised that the matter would be thoroughly investigated and action taken by his department.

RAIN CAME IN NICK OF TIME TO SAVE CROPS

Long Dry Spell Was Rapidly Threatening Heavy Damage.

TORONTO, June 28.—Reports reaching this city tonight indicate that rain, which commenced to fall early this morning and continued intermittently until mid-afternoon, has been general throughout Southern Ontario, coming at a time when a serious drought was threatening the entire province. Dispatches from Northern Ontario, while not reporting continuous precipitation, mention severe electrical storms accompanied by heavy downpours of rain of comparatively short duration.

The drought in Ontario, particularly in the eastern section of the province, was rapidly assuming large proportions and fears for the crops have been entertained for some time past. Today's rainfall, while not sufficient to allay all apprehension, is deemed of inestimable value by farmers throughout the province.

MILK IS DOWN TO EIGHT CENTS

One Tillsonburg Firm Will Sell It At Six Cents.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

TILLSONBURG, June 28.—Following the announcement that the local condensed milk factory would close on July 10 an effort is being made to dispose of the surplus milk to be thrown on the market. Today local housewives received a most pleasant surprise, in the announcement that milk dropped to 8 cents a quart delivered, while a third milk delivery will start on Saturday. A local grocer will also dispense milk over the counter at 6 cents per quart. Very strong rumors are in circulation today that all district milk plants will again cut the price to the patrons on July 1.

The entire district right through to Lake Erie enjoyed a thirteen-hour rain starting last night. The shower is worth thousands of dollars to all crops. Wheat and oats were rapidly turning but not filling as they should, while much garden stuff was almost cooked. After the rain everything points to a bumper crop for South Oxford, with no depreciation in the amount of land seeded.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

TWENTY LOADS HAY ON LOCAL MARKET

Sold From $15 to $20 Per Ton—Big Raspberry Day Thursday.

Hay was the predominating feature on the local market on Wednesday, about 20 loads being offered for sale at prices ranging from $15@20 for select loads.

The rain during the last couple of days will have a wonderful effect on the raspberry crop, and Thursday is looked to be a big day on the market. A small offering of strawberries is also expected.

There was a shipment of live hogs today, and it is understood that the price is still around $12 50 for selects.

Wheat sold at $1 60@1 65 per bushel and $2 66@2 75 per cwt. This shows a slight reduction, as it formerly sold at $1 65 per bushel and $2 75 per cwt.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE.

Montreal, June 29.—Very little trading occurred on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning. Brazilian was down a point at 26, and Brompton was up ¼ at 23¼. Dominion Steel remained unchanged at 23¼, as did also Riordon at 13. Spanish River was stronger by a point. Other leaders did not appear during the early trading.

FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 28.—Flour unchanged; shipments, 41,731 barrels.

Bran—$15.

Wheat—Cash, No. 1 northern, $1.39½@1.39½; July, $1.19½; September, $1.20½

Corn—No. 3 yellow, 45@46c.

Flax—No. 1, $1.69.

COTTON.

Liverpool, June 29.—Cotton—Futures closed quiet; June, 7.73d; July, 7.76d; Aug., 7.91d; Sept., 8.05d; Oct., 8.20d; oNv., 8.26d; Dec., 8.37d; Jan., 8.41d; Feb, 8.46d; March, 8.52d; April, 8.56d; May, 8.60d.

PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 29.—Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

Liverpool, June 29.—Hams—Short cut, 168s 6d.

Bacon—Cumberland cut, 120s ¼d; Wiltshire cut, 152s 6d; clear bellies, 114s; shoulders, square, 117s.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, 75s 6d; American refined, in pails, 79s 6d.

WOOL.

Ottawa, June 29.—Canadian Press.—The Dominion wool market report states that the Canadian wool trade has improved considerably in the week ending yesterday. Sales of graded wools amounting to 150,000 lbs have been reported, and indications point to a fairly active trade. Quotations for eastern domestic wools follow: Medium, 22@26c; low medium, 18@20c; low combing, 15@17c; coarse, 13@15c; rejects, 5@15c.

GRAIN.

Liverpool, June 29.—Wheat—No. 1 Manitoba, 18s 9½d.

Chicago, June 29.—Opening: Wheat—July, $1 13⅛; Sept., $1 17¼.

Corn—July, 57⅞c; Sept., 59⅜c.

Oats—July, 35⅛c; Sept., 47⅜c.

Chicago, June 29.—Wheat prices developed moderate strength today after a weak start. Good export business resulting from yesterday's big break in values helped to rally the market, and so, too, did continued drought and heat in the Northwest. Drought news was also received from France, Russia, Rumania and Great Britain. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1½c lower, were followed by upturns all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Corn rallied with wheat. After opening ⅛c to 1⅛c lower, the market scored substantial general gains.

Oats were lifted by the strength of other cereals, starting ⅛c to ½c off and then turning up-grade.

OILS.

London, June 29.—Closing: Calcutta Linseed—£20 5s.

Linseed Oil—34s.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

Toronto, June 29.—The stock market this morning showed very little improvement over yesterday in regard to activity, but there was a distinct improvement in sentiment. The whole list was strong and gains were scored by a number of stocks. A small lot of Dominion Canners changed hands at 24½, as compared with 20, the best bid of yesterday. Canadian Pacific, after opening lower at 122, sold up to 123¾, on sales of 150. Part of this advance was lost, however, with the clyose at 123½, a net gain of ¾ from last night's close. Brazilian, after a strong opening, lost the early gain, closing unchanged at 50½. Paper stocks were very quiet, with Abitibi changed at 25¾. Spanish River, in which no transactions were recorded, was quited at 51 bid, as compared with 48½ bid last night.

What is the use of storing up that old sideboard, when you can easily sell it through an advertisement in The London Advertiser. Clasified ars are read by everybody, and you will be able to find a customer readily.

Mr. Oliver Towne
(ALL OVER TOWN)

Oliver Towne says: "The whole nation is committed to publishing their wants in some form of advertising. For instance, if a man wants a maiden's heart, he sends her a valentine—that's advertising in a sentimental way. And if that same man is a good businessman and he wants to advertise in a serious way for a job, for a home, for help, to sell his car, or anything else, he advertises in our Classified Columns—it's getting right into the heart of the proposition because the best circulation comes from this paper."

HYDRO EMPLOYEE IS ELECTROCUTED

Richard Addley Met Instant Death At Work in Windsor.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, June 28.—Richard Addley, aged 30, 343 Wellington avenue, Windsor, an employee of the hydro-electric system, was electrocuted today, when 4,000 volts of electricity passed through his body, in an alley between Hall and Pierre avenues. He was connecting a transformer. He was married and is survived by his widow and one child.

Albert Souilliere, assistant bailiff of the seventh division court, Windsor since January, received word today that he had been appointed bailiff to succeed the late Frank St. Louis.

Mr. Souilliere is a native of the Border Cities, and is believed to be the youngest bailiff ever appointed in the Province of Ontario, being only 2[illegible] years old.

WITH THE RUNNERS

TURF NEWS AND GOSSIP

[By Bert Collyer.]

HAMILTON SELECTIONS.

First race—Whirl, Ogarite, Lottie Lorraine.

Second race—Flight Captain, Max Meadows, Candle.

Third race—Little Maudie, Spokane Queen, The Decision.

Fourth race—Giddings entry, Woodbine, Dellham.

Fifth race—Hereafter, Tarascon, Betsinda.

Sixth race—Milkmaid, Slippery Elm, Brilliant Jester.

Seventh race — Benevolent, Padua, Prospector.

LATONIA SELECTIONS.

First race—Commander Colin, Lillian Mae B., Salamander.

Second race — Fifi II, Penwell, Jacobean.

Third race—Lothair, Capt. Rees, Alex Junior.

Fourth race—Wayward Lady, Dream of Allah, James B. Brown.

Fifth race—High Cost, Miss Jemima, Darjeeling.

Sixth race—Blowing Bubbles, Botheration, Uncle Velo.

Seventh race—Dancing Spray, Cotton Blossom, Mint Cat.

Flight Captain!

Do you fancy a little "punting" on the jumping race? Very well, then, plant yours right smack on Flight Captain's nose. He has been primed and cocked for some time, and will be sent after the coon skins today. I know something! Max Meadows most likely will rule favorite in the "iron men," but that makes no difference.

Whirl has a right good chance to look the judge in the mug in the day's opener. Is just about ten pounds better than the public thinks, and will pack the stable's kale today. Ogarite and Lottie Lorraine have the balance of the purse between them.

Little Maudie is sent along by the boys who nurse the split-second watches as the pickler due to be yanked out of the brine barrel in the third. The spot has been well selected, and unless somebody throws a monkey-wrench into the works she'll be on the bill daily all the way. Spokane Queen's last was even better than the cold dope would indicate. The Decision will be knocking at the door.

Giddings has a powerful pair performing for him in the fourth, and should grab the "jack." Woodbine is a sleeper, and may be awakened here. Look out for Dellham.

The clockers make Hereafter their best bet of the day. Well, the boys are not in the habit of making many bum guesses, so better string along with the McClelland cast-off. Tarascon and Betsinda should go well.

All over but the shouting in the sixth. Milkmaid, keyed to concert-pitch, and with a good boy in the pilot-house, will take her field by the head and race it into the ground. Any old price will be a good one. Slippery Elm will take some beating. Brilliant Jester is well liked by the stable connections.

Benevolent has only to race back to recent good efforts in order to drag home the mazuma in the last. Looks like one of the surest winners of the day. Padua has a chance to trim Prospector for the place. The latter is a sleeper.

Best take-a-chance bet—Hereafter.

Best parley—Lottie Lorraine, Woodbine and Tarascon to show.

AS THE JUDGE SAW 'EM

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backache, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MINERS WILL RESUME WORK ON MONDAY

Graduated Reduction in Wages Offset by Profit-Sharing.

GOVT. SANCTIONS SUBSIDY

New Wage Scale Twenty Per Cent Above the 1914 Standard.

LONDON, June 28.—The House of Parliament tonight completed the settlement of the miners' strike by sanctioning a wage subsidy agreement which will stand until December 31, 1922, and will then be terminable on three months' notice thereafter.

Reductions in wages are two shillings in July, half a crown in August, and three shillings in September. The men are to resume work on Monday.

The men's leaders make much of having established a new principle of profit-sharing on a national basis. The owners will forego profits for three months. Afterwards, to meet general costs, the owners will take seventeen pounds sterling to every hundred paid as standard wages and the balance as profits to be divided in the proportion of seventeen pounds sterling in every hundred to the owners and 83 to the workers. Wages are assured at 20 per cent above the 1914 standard. National and district boards will be established to adjust wage matters.

Parliament's sanction to the subvention is certain, and little doubt is entertained that the miners will accept the advice of their executive and resume work forthwith.

Slightly Modified.

The settlement is only a slight modification of the terms the miners rejected by their last ballot, and covers the period up to September 30, 1922, but either side must give three months' notice of a desire to terminate the agreement, during which time the new wages will prevail.

Announcing the settlement in the House of Commons today, Premier Lloyd George justified the granting of the subsidy on the ground that the coal exporting districts were so hard hit by the collapse of the export trade that if economic conditions had full play there would be unsupportable reductions in wages. The settlement, he said, was a great and promising experiment; no such principles had ever before been applied in such a vast scale in any industry. He was hopeful that it would inaugurate new relations between capital and labor, not only in coal, but in other industries, and he believed that if it was carried out with good will it would repay the nation for all the damage suffered through the dispute.

A National Board.

A national board, with district boards, will be created, representing equally the miners and mine owners, to regulate the rather complex system of profit-sharing, under which 83 per cent of the proceeds, after the payment of standard charges, will go to the miners in the shape of wages, and the remaining 17 per cent to the owners.

The British coal industry will have been idle 94 days when the miners resume Monday. While in point of duration this closely approaches the record for a British mine stoppage established in 1897, when the strike lasted sixteen weeks, its effect upon the nation's industrial and economic life admittedly has been more disastrous. Through the enforced closing of steel mills and the curtailment of rail services and other industries closely allied or dependent upon mining, the ranks of the unemployed have been enormously swollen, and the resultant hardships have been increasingly felt by owners, investors, workers and all classes of the population.

COUNCIL ISSUES ULTIMATUM IN QUEBEC STRIKE

Board of Arbitration Award the Only Basis of Settlement.

QUEBEC, June 28.—(By Canadian Press.)—After sitting in camera four hours, the mayor and members of the Quebec city council at 8 o'clock tonight passed a resolution which is really an ultimatum to the striking police and firemen. In the resolution passed the city affirms its determination to adhere strictly to the ruling of the board of arbitration, awarding $1 a week increase to the police and 75 cents a week to the firemen, and gives the strikers until noon on Wednesday to report for duty.

Considered Separately.

The case of each striker reporting for duty will be considered by the discipline committee for the fire and police departments, and those who fail to report within the given time will be replaced by the men who are at present serving in the places of the strikers.

The members of the council were unanimous in their decision, and the resolution was delivered to the officers of the striking union men at 8:30 o'clock. The city has 117 men engaged to fill the gaps, and, with the co-operation of the militia, the authorities feel confident that they can cope with any contingency.

Damage Is Slight.

It is estimated that the damage caused since the strike began at midnight Saturday will not exceed $10,000, confined to broken windows, street lights and fire apparatus.

Fire Marshal Eugene Leclerc affirmed this afternoon that a fire in Limoilou ward, in which five families lost their homes early Monday morning, was a case of incendiarism, and he said he had witnesses to prove they saw the firebugs at work.

Everything was orderly in the city tonight.

FIVE PRISONERS BREAK OUT OF CHATHAM JAIL

Made Easy Getaway and Are Still At Large.

OFFICIALS ARE PUZZLED

Cannot Understand How First Three Obtained Keys To Doors.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, June 28.—Five men have escaped from county jail here since Sunday it was learned this afternoon when news of the escape of two criminals was reported by Sheriff J. R. Gemmim. The two men in question, William Burrows and James Brown, had just been placed in jail preparatory to being taken to the Ontario Reformatory, where they were to serve sentences of two years less one day and one year for theft.

With several other prisoners they were employed in cleaning up the jail and had just carried a large wooden construction horse into the court yard of the rear portion of the jail, which is also the entrance court yard, where prisoners are brought in. A jail warden was in the court yard and was talking to a prisoner when another prisoner gave a shout.

Ran Out of Gate.

He turned around and saw Burrows and Brown kicking off their shoes, they then made a dash out of the gate, which was wide open, broke across the jail and court house gardens and dashed down Seventh street to the river bank.

Stanley Hallam, who is serving a term in the county jail and who was wearing prison clothes, started after them, but after running two blocks he returned to the jail fearing that he might be taken for an escaping prisoner also. He reported immediately to the warden the direction the two prisoners had taken, and a few minutes later left the jail again in company with a warden and several others in chase of the escaped prisoners, who were dressed in prison clothes.

Were Easily Traced.

The trail, easily located by the marks of the stocking feet in the wet mud caused by the afternoon rain, was taken up by the posse and was traced down Seventh street to river bank, and thence along the bank to the civic dumping grounds. The trail then led across some barren land and over the Pere Marquette railway tracks to a wheat field.

From there the marks led across the C. P. R. and G. T. R. tracks to other fields, and the Catholic Cemetery. From the cemetery they evidently crossed the road and went into a school house, and from there they made a break for Wilson's bush, where it is believed they are still in hiding. A patrol was stationed around the bush and was later reinforced by county policemen under Chief Peters and Wilfrid Peters. The two men, however, got away in an empty box car on a westbound Wabash freight train. A police net is being spread all over Kent and Essex counties and their capture is hourly expected.

Others Gone Also.

Following the escape of the two this afternoon another startling announcement was made to the effect that three other young men took French leave from the county jail some time between Sunday midnight and Monday morning. The men are Harry Wilson, who was serving a four months' sentence for theft, and Gordon Smith and Ray Wilson, who were to have been tried for robbery in Wallaceburg yesterday afternoon. They are still at large.

It was learned late this afternoon that they purloined two keys in some unknown manner, one of the keys being used to open the doors to freedom. In company with another prisoner they occupied the southeastern ward in the county jail, and evidently planned their escape when there was no one around to interfere. The fourth man did not take the opportunity to escape. Their escape was not known until about 6:30 in the morning, when the warden, on making his rounds, discovered their absence. They are still at large.

Officials Puzzled.

The county jail, which is strongly built, was constructed many years ago, and is still in a fit condition to keep prisoners. County jail officials are at a loss to understand how the last three mentioned cleared out of the jail, and more so how they managed to get hold of the keys which they left behind.

Governor Davidson did not have much to say when seen by The Advertiser. "They're gone and it's going to be a job for some one to bring them back," was all he had to say.

Stanley Hallam, who with another prisoner participated in the man hunt, was cleaning mud off his shoes and prison pants when seen by The Advertiser this afternoon.

"It sure was some job," he stated as he wielded an old broom over his boots. "I caught sight of the pair once when they were making tracks for the bush and one of them (Brown) was limping. I found out later he had cut his foot."

DISTRICT VEGETABLES WILL BE EXCLUDED

United States Takes Action To Fight the Corn Borer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28.—Exclusion of shipments from Southern Ontario of certain vegetables and vegetable products likely to carry the European corn borer into the United States was decided upon today by the federal horticultural board after a hearing. Efforts will be made, it was stated, to take up the matter with the Canadian authorities with the hope of bringing about closer co-operation between the two countries in preventing a spread of the pest.

Canada has not enough field agents properly to conduct a survey for delimination of the infested areas in its corn belt in Southern Ontario, the board was told by agents of the department of agriculture.

ROYAL COMMISSION TO PROBE CHARGES

OTTAWA, June 28.—Mr. Justice Panneton, Montreal, of the Quebec superior court, has been appointed a royal commissioner to investigate the charges made in Parliament by Hon. Rodolph Lemieux with regard to the proposed payment of $60,000 to the Park St. Charles Company for land expropriated at Quebec by the Quebec harbor commission.

MAY POSTPONE RENEWAL OF JAP ALLIANCE

British Govt. Wants Time For Full Discussion of Question.

MR. BALFOUR GIVES VIEWS

Shows Importance of Alliance Co-operating With the League of Nations.

LONDON, June 28.—(By the Associated Press).—The subject of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was taken up today by the imperial conference, Lord Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, explaining in a lucid manner all the aspects of the alliance. He showed no tendency to influence the premiers of the overseas dominions in either direction, but confined himself to giving the facts, political and otherwise, needful for a full appreciation of the position as its exists today.

Among those who attended the morning session were J. Austen Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons: A. J. Balfour, lord president of the council; Lord Curzon; Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies; Lord Lee; Sir Laming Worthington Evans and Frederick E. Guest, representing the admiralty, the war office and the air service, respectively. Mr. Lloyd George presided.

Mr. Balfour's Views.

The foreign secretary was followed by Mr. Balfour, who approached the subject from the standpoint of his position as representative of the League of Nations, and therefore laid stress upon the necessity of bringing the alliance into line with the league requirements, rather than insisting upon any special British interest or emphasizing its imperial aspect. Mr. Balfour is also chairman of the defence committee ,and dealt with the subject also from that viewpoint.

Both speeches were followed with close attention and proved valuable contributions to the knowledge already in possession of the members of the conference.

May Be Postponed.

It is understood the British Government has suggested to Japan a postponement of the date for renewal of the alliance, from July to October, in order to permit full discussion here and an opportunity to consult the United States, and that the Japanese Government has agreed to this course.

The session ended soon after 1 o'clock, with the intention of reassembling later, but Mr. Lloyd George's engagements in Parliament, and in connection with the coal strike settlement prevented this. It is understood that when the conference reassembles tomorrow the Canadian premier, Hon. Arthur Meighen, will begin the debate with a statement of the Dominion's attitude.

The overseas premiers assembled at the colonial office in the afternoon, Mr. Churchill presiding, to discuss the question of immigration within the Empire.

The idea is to keep desirable British emigrants within the British Empire territory. A committee was appointed to go further into the matter.

PREMIER ABSENT.

LONDON, June 28.—(By Grattan O'Leary, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The question of the advisability of renewing the Anglo-Japanese alliance came before the conference of Empire premiers today, but, owing to the British prime minister having to attend a conference in connection with the settlement of the coal strike, discussion was limited to two brief statements by Lord Curzon and Right Hon. A. J. Balfour.

Both speeches were confidential, and at the close no communique was issued to the press, but it is understood they were of a very noncommittal character. The British foreign secretary, in fact, confined himself to a summing up of the arguments for and against renewal of the alliance, while Mr. Balfour, who played an important part in negotiating the existing alliance, gave an outline of its workings, effects and weaknesses.

The dominion premiers asked questions, but took no further part in the discussion.

Lord Lee Attends.

The conference was reinforced today by the presence of Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty, and Sir Laming Worthington Evans, secretary for war.

In the afternoon while Mr. Lloyd George was attending the miners' conference, Premier Meighen and the other Dominion statesmen attended a meeting under the chairmanship of Right Hon. Winston Churchill, to consider the report of the overseas settlement conference, appointed to inquire into the feasibility of keeping British emigrants of a desirable class within the Empire.

As a result of the meeting a subcommittee was appointed to go further in the financial aspects of the matter. Sir George Perley will represent Canada.

This evening Premier Meighen dines with Lord Byng of Vimy, Canada's new governor-general, who is expected to sail from here on August 4.

FINED FOR HAVING LIQUOR IN HOTEL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BLYTH, June 28.—Police Magistrate Charles Reid of Goderich held court here today, the case before him being against Charles Leopard and son of Wingham, proprietors of the South End Hotel, at which Mr. Pellow, license inspector, found liquor recently. Richard Vanstone appeared for the defence, and Crown Attorney Seager prosecuted. The parties pleaded guilty, and the magistrate imposed a fine of $100 on Charles Leopard, and $500 on William Leopard, with costs in both cases.

FEINERS IGNORE THE OPENING OF NEW PARLIAMENT

Function Purely Formal To Satisfy Conditions of Act.

FITZGIBBON CHAIRMAN

Continuance of New Body Is Somewhat Uncertain At Present.

DUBLIN, June 28.—The opening of the Southern Parliament this afternoon lasted less than ten minutes. The function was purely a formal one, called to satisfy the statutory conditions of the home rule act.

Lord Chief Justice Moloney and Charles O'Connor, master of rolls, represented the viceroy and read the proclamation summoning the assembly. Only a few members were present. These included four Imperialistic members of the senate from Trinity College and fifteen others elected to that body. Nearly all the members of the lower house are Sinn Feiners. They ignored the summons to attend.

Little Interest.

There was little public interest in the inauguration of the Parliament.

The proclamation said the reason for the king having summoned Parliament would be announced when a sufficient number of its members were sworn in. It added that larger numbers of members of the lower house were necessary for the election of a Speaker, but that a chairman should be chosen to direct the time and manner for taking the oath. A continuance of the Parliament could not be assured, it said, unless the oath was taken by one-half the total membership within a fortnight.

Elected Chairman.

Gill FitzGibbon was elected chairman of the House of Commons, and Sir Nugent Everard, former lord-lieutenant of County Meath, chairman of the Senate.

The senators present consisted of a portion of the viceroy's seventeen nominees. The remainder represented the Protestant churches. Men belonging to public bodies, who had declined nominations accorded them, and the lord mayors, senators and former officers, did not attend.

After the inauguration Parliament adjourned to July 13th.

CANADIAN EXPORTS TO BELGIUM SHOW $8,000,000 INCREASE

More Goods Are Also Being Sent To Australia Now.

OTTAWA, June 28. — (By Canadian Press.)—An increase of approximately eight million dollars in exports of Canadian goods to Belgium during the twelve months ended May 31, last, as compared with the twelve months' period ended May 31, 1920, is shown by the trade summary issued through the Dominion bureau of statistics.

During the twelve months ending on May 31, 1921, goods were exported to France to the total of $26,117,220, as against $57,680,945 during the previous twelve months. The imports from France during the twelve months ending with the close of last month were $17,515,224, which was approximately three million dollars greater than in the period ending with May 31, 1920, when they totalled $14,337,890.

Of the British Dominions, exports from Canada to Australia totalled $17,808,019 in the twelve months period. In the corresponding period a year ago this figure was $10,937,113. Imports from Australia during the twelve months under review were to the value of less than a million dollars, while last year they were slightly more than this amount. Exports to New Zealand rose from eight to eleven millions of dollars, while imports were approximately $3,600,000 for both periods.

M'KAY, COUNSEL FOR HYDRO COMMISSION, EXPLAINS POSITION

Says Radials Will Pay So Well Other Districts Will Clamor For Them.

TORONTO, June 28.—Robert McKay, counsel for the municipalities which favor the projected radial railways of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, began his argument before Mr. Justice Sutherland's commission of inquiry this afternoon, and will continue tomorrow. Mr. McKay followed R. S. Robertson, counsel for the municipalities opposed to the proposed lines, whose address took up the sessions of yesterday and this morning.

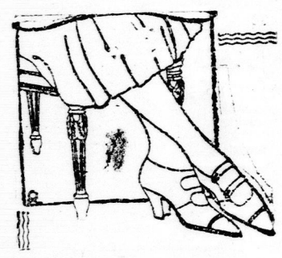

In reply to Mr. Robertson's argument that once the hydro radials have been started there will be constant demands upon the Government to guarantee more bonds for new lines, Mr. McKay said the hydro officials were aiming at exactly that—radials paying and proving so serviceable that other districts would be crying out for them.

The hydro had no desire, he said, that their lines should contribute to increase the deficits of the national steam railways, but hoped to relieve the Grand Trunk of its unprofitable business in the districts to be penetrated by the radials.

To the suggestion of opposing counsel that instead of constructing the radials the Grand Trunk should be electrified, Mr. McKay said: "It was unthinkable that the minister of railways, facing a present deficit of $70,000,000 could find $20,000,000 for the electrification of the Grand Trunk between Niagara Falls and Toronto."

Mr. McKay could not see any impropriety, as suggested by Mr. Robertson, in the hydro being at the same time trustee for the municipalities and for the province. If the commission did its duty by one party it would be doing it by the other.
