

BYNG INVITED TO OPEN EXHIBITION

Toronto Veterans Preparing to Welcome Their Former Commander

BRITISH PRESS COMMENT

London Times Says Canada This Time Chose its Own Man for Post

TORONTO, June 7.—An invitation has been sent by the Canadian National Exhibition Association to Lord Byng to open the exhibition and this has been followed by cable messages to Lord Byng from the G. W. V. A., the Amputation Association and the Grand Army of United Veterans.

It is intended that if Lord Byng comes to open the exhibition Saturday, August 27 will be "Warrior's Day." The veterans are beginning to lay plans to show the gratification of the "Byng Boys" at their former commander's arrival. They have appointed successor to the Duke of Devonshire.

Byng Has Done Something

London, June 7.—The Manchester Guardian comments that the social and aristocratic appointments to the Governor-Generalship of Canada are nowadays at a discount and that Canada in particular is talking with growing eagerness about appointing her own citizens to the post. It observes in regard to the appointment of Lord Byng that this is a case when a man who has done something and who has earned something rather than a man who has only inherited something, is given the appointment.

The solution of the Governor-Generalship, it continues, to which the Dominions are tending will no doubt come before long, but in the meantime, the Guardian says, "it raises a backward constitutional issue that have not yet been resolved. Lord Byng is, in the opinion of this newspaper, a good choice for the post in the period of change. He will not, in the dry phrase of Voltaire, be shot like his famous ancestor, 'pour encourager les autres'; he is much more likely to make a useful success of his new job."

Battle of Vimy

Ottawa, June 7.—The Ottawa Journal said on Saturday:

Lord Byng of Vimy, the next Governor-General of Canada, embodied in his titular name the record of a great Canadian military achievement. Before Vimy could be fought a miracle of organization had to be evolved. How Baron Byng accomplished this is the matter of history. Canadians penetrated to a depth of six miles on a front of 8,000 yards, captured 7,000 Germans, sixty-seven guns, and the strongest enemy position on the Western front.

London Times Comment

London, June 7.—Commenting on Lord Byng's appointment The Times says: "Though the actual appointment of the Governor-General is with the King and his advisers in this country, it is hardly too much to say that in this instance the Canadian people have made their own choice. If such preferences could be expressed with the same frankness every time an appointment of the kind had to be made it would be a good thing both for this country and the Dominions."

"If epochs in a nation's life history are ever legitimately distinguished by contemporary observers, Canada is just entering consciously upon such an epoch. The commonplaces about the new relations of the Dominion which became current after the war are being subjected to most critical scrutiny in Canada. "Nothing but good can come from such an awakening of popular interest in the larger aspects of political affairs in the Dominion."

BISHOP BREWING HONORED

Frequent Visitor to Emmanuel Church Here, Now at Philadelphia

Bishop Willard Brewing, of the First Synod of Canada, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, was, during the Twenty-third Annual Council, held at Philadelphia, honored with the degree of Doctor of Divinity by the faculty of the Theology Seminary.

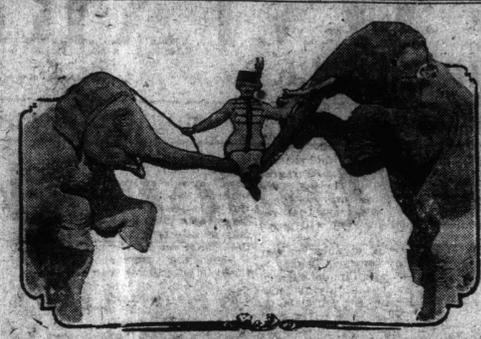

Bishop Brewing preached the sermon at the Council on the topic, "The Church of the Future." He also spoke in St. Luke's Church.

Mrs. Brewing visited the Ladies' Bible Class at Christ Church. Many of the brethren expressed regret at the absence of the Rev. A. M. Hubly who had been a faithful attendant for over thirty years.

Bishop Brewing is a frequent visitor to Emmanuel Church, Belleville.

TRAINER SWINGING ON TRUNKS OF TWO ELEPHANTS, JOHN ROBINSON-CIRCUS, WHICH PLAYS IN BELLEVILLE JUNE 13TH.

PRETTY NELSON SISTERS

Lead in John Robinson Women's Offerings

The Nelson Sisters of the John Robinson circus, are credited with being the greatest wire dancers in the world. Suspended in the air on a fine thread of wire, they perform intricate acrobatic steps that are the envy of many clever dancers on the solid stage. In the finals of one of their dances they execute a "split" not with the deliberation that one would think absolutely necessary with such a slender support and with the constant necessity of recovering their equilibrium, but with a rapidity that is said to fairly startle the spectators. The Nelson sisters are among the top-line features in the big show and the John Robinson circus is, indeed, credited with many notable novelties. In the big cities recently played, the features that attracted special attention. In addition to those already mentioned, were the aerial butterfly ballet, in which a score of young women give a startling exhibition of posing while suspended in mid-air by their teeth; the Hooley and Fisher troupe of flying folk; Beatrice Joy, who hangs 120 times in a minute while being by her teeth; Mme. Bedial, Irene Montgomery, Cecil Lowanda, the Dills and the Hoagins, all other animals, and the great number and cleverness of the clowns, led by Johnny Lowlow, Jr., the famous rod, son of the beloved Johnny Lowlow, the singing "Joey," and there will be a picturesque two mile long parade to introduce circus day in Belleville, Monday, June 13.

The coming of this big show will have an especial interest from the fact that it offers an special attraction the noted Robinson animal acts. The Oil of Power.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that it will cure every ill, but its uses are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. It has achieved that greatness for itself and its excellence is known to all who have tested its virtues and learned by experience.

COMMENCEMENT INVITATIONS AND GIFTS.

Many of my Reader-Friends are asking me these days what presents are suitable for graduation and wedding gifts, how and when they should be sent, and under what circumstances they are permissible; as well as the etiquette of invitations to commencement exercises and the marriage ceremony. I am going to attempt to answer all of these questions concerning graduations today, and concerning weddings tomorrow.

First, invitations to the graduation exercises and other commencement festivities may be sent to any relative or friend who might be interested. They should be addressed by hand, and mailed at least two weeks before the date of the festival.

Such invitations do not demand gifts in return. To be sure, many people do feel more or less obliged to send a gift, but I think that this is a great mistake. If you want to make the gift because of your interest in the girl or boy who is graduating, do so; if not, don't—just write a cordial little note of thanks for being remembered, and of congratulation and good wishes for the young graduate.

On the other hand, it is perfectly proper to send a gift if you wish even though you have received no invitation. It is always permissible to send a gift to anyone, provided that you do not embarrass the recipient by the value of that gift. In other words, if you are in doubt at any time as to whether or not a gift will be kindly received, make sure that it will be sent in a way which no one can ever resent—or some other equally impersonal and relatively inexpensive remembrance.

As to what to give for commencement presents, here are a few things that occur to me that may suggest other ideas to you more suitable for the individual gift you have in mind:

For Girls—flowers, books, a real lace handkerchief, a fan, vanity box, beaded handbag, hairpins, desk fittings, monogrammed stationery, novelties in fraternity jewelry, pictures; and of course to these things members of her family or other girl friends may add dainty articles of wearing apparel or articles for her room.

For Boys—books or book ends, fraternity jewelry, leather memo books, wallets, billfolds or tobacco pouches; silver or gold pencil or pen knife, silver key ring, fountain pen; table cover, pillows or pennants for his room at college next year; a tie knitted by hand and of a solid color; initialed handkerchiefs, or desk fittings; and to these things members of his family or boy friends may add articles of wearing apparel and more expensive jewelry.

FLY TO AMERICA WORLD BUSINESS IMPROVING FAST

Trans-Atlantic Flight by the World's Largest Rigid Airship now Planned

TWO MONTHS OF TRIALS

U. S. Will Use it as Patrol for Pacific and it Will Anchor at San Diego

Cardington Airship Station, Eng. June 7.—It is announced here that the world's largest rigid dirigible, the R-38, which has been rechristened the ZR-2, will fly to America in September. The trans-Atlantic flight will be made after two months of trials by British and American crews.

According to Air Ministry officials, the great aerial liner will be completed within three weeks and handed over to the American Commander Macfarland not later than July 1, when the trial trips will begin.

The great ship has been thoroughly inspected, under the guidance of C. I. Campbell, the superintendent of the British Government, Canadian and General Maitland will be on the airship when it sails for America.

The greatest feature of the newest service ship is the exceptional armament facilities. It carries fourteen machine guns and a one-pounder automatic in a specially constructed cage on the roof of the great bag. Superintendent Campbell said:

"This is the newest improvement. There is not a blind spot on the whole ship, which eliminates the greatest danger, because in war-time enemy scouts could easily camp on the trail of the giant airships, where they could not be seen, and pour bullets into the bag."

"The ZR-2 is the last word in airships. It carries bomb racks containing four 550-pound and eight 230-pound bombs in addition to its other armament. It carries thirty tons of petrol and has a cruising radius of 6,500 miles. There are thirty members of the crew.

"The ship is able to attain a height of 25,000 feet, which is the record. We expect that it will take 73 hours to make the flight across the Atlantic, but, if necessary, we could do it in 24 hours—in other words we could have breakfast in London and arrive in New York for breakfast the next morning.

Some Details of Equipment.

The ward room is fitted with sixteen beds, enabling the crew to get sufficient sleep. It has the latest improvements in rudder, balancers, petrol tanks, gas bags, water ballast carriers. The entire machinery of the engine is under a single electrical control system. The ship has a telephone system and electric lights. It is 695 feet long, 55 feet in diameter, and has a capacity of 2,700,000 cubic feet of gas.

The ship is fitted with six Sunbeam 350-horsepower engines, and has a cruising speed of 60 miles per hour. It is larger than any of the Zeppelins.

It is understood here that the American navy is contemplating the erection of the latest type of mooring masts near San Diego, where the ship will be eventually stationed for experiments, and for patrolling the Pacific coast.

The Yankee crew is training at Howden, and it is expected that the airship will leave from Cardington or Howden for America.

NAPOLEON WAS FREE WITH MONEY FOR WIFE

Annual Outlay for Toilet Averaged 1,000,000 Francs—Was Near Bankruptcy Recent Researches Disclose.

PARIS, June 7.—The centenary of Napoleon's death, which was celebrated with much pomp through France last week, brought to light many new features of his career, not the least interesting of which was the discovery by Frederic Masson of the Academie Francaise that the "Little Corporal" was the world's most generous character, at least in so far as a woman was concerned.

While his generosity toward other women consisted chiefly of finding husbands for them, Napoleon nearly was brought to bankruptcy trying to keep Josephine's favor. In five years Josephine spent 225,000 francs on lace, 312,000 francs on silks, 110,000 francs with her modiste, 102,000 francs on gowns, 57,000 on perfumes and 50,000 on stockings and shoes. The annual outlay for her toilet averaged more than one million francs. And that in the days when the purchasing power of the franc was ten times that of to-day.

U. S. Expert Reports Steady Economic Betterment in Europe

A BIG STEP AHEAD

More Food and Coal—Great Shortage of Clothing in Europe Seen

WASHINGTON, June 7.—World business is rapidly improving, U. S. Secretary of Commerce, Herbert Hoover declared today in a statement.

"That there has been a steady economic improvement in Europe, outside Bolshevik Russia, is well indicated by the progress made in the repeal of restrictions over consumption," said Hoover.

"With the forthcoming harvest it is expected that economic recovery will have proceeded so far, both in local production and in ability to provide the full amount of needed imports, that rationing can be practically abandoned in all countries, except possibly Austria."

"Europe will then have accomplished the first great steps in recuperation.

"There has been great improvement in production and distribution of food outside of temporary difficulties caused by the British strike, and the rationing of coal has been abandoned in all states except Germany, Italy, Austria and Hungary, and in these states there has been a great relaxation of control.

"With the recovery from the British strike coal control can probably be withdrawn in a few months. This will mark a great recovery in the second great necessity of control.

"The clothing situation in Europe has not shown the improvement of the other basic necessities. People are more scantily clad than at the time of the armistice. It is reasonable to expect that the next step will be improvement in clothing. This will mean brisk trade and large imports of textiles."

Business Well Maintained By Merchants Bank of Canada; Substantial Gain in Deposits

Profit and Loss Account Shows Satisfactory Profits for Year—Surplus of $293,375 Carried Forward After Payment of Dividends and Bonus—Current Loans Amount to $112,000,000.

The strength of the Canadian bank system during the period of deflation is strikingly reflected by the statements of the Merchants Bank of Canada. The annual report of the Merchants Bank of Canada, details of which have been made public, is the first of the larger banks to make its appearance for the fiscal year to April 30th.

This covers almost the twelve months during which deflation has progressed throughout the country, and on this account it will be of special interest to shareholders of the Bank to know that its business has been well maintained. During the war period special business for the Governments. For the past year there has been a general tendency to adjust these special undertakings and to go back to normal lines of business.

The Merchants Bank is particularly interested in the growth and development of Canadian commerce, agriculture and industry. On this account its business is closely related to the whole general public of the country. There will be special interest to see whether during the period of deflation and lessened industrial activity the people of the country have been able to keep adding to their savings. As far as the Merchants Bank is concerned, its clientele have been able to do this, as deposits bearing interest at the end of the fiscal year amounted to $120,804,548, an increase of approximately $6,000,000 for the year.

Notwithstanding the changed conditions and the lessened requirements of customers, current loans have been well maintained. These now stand at $112,269,195. Of this amount current loans and discounts in Canada total $109,183,592, and loans to cities, towns, municipalities and school districts $3,085,602.

Of the total assets of $190,367,409, liquid assets amount to $69,427,380. Included in them are Dominion and Provincial Government Securities, amounting to $11,038,328, up from $7,893,229 in the previous year while Railway and other Bonds, Debentures and Stocks stand at $5,020,059, as against $4,507,688. Canadian Municipal Securities and British, Foreign and Colonial Public Securities, other than Canadian amount to $16,158,757, practically the same figure as a year ago.

During the year the Capital of the Bank was increased to $10,500,000, up from $8,400,000. In the same period the Reserve Fund has also increased to $9,450,000, up from $8,400,000.

The Profit and Loss Account also contains a number of interesting features. Even during the period of lessened activity, all the dividends have not only been comfortably earned, but the Bank has, in addition, been able to pay a bonus to shareholders. Profits for the year amounted to $1,402,820. In addition there was received as premium on new stock $1,050,000. The amount brought forward from the previous year was $260,774. This made the total amount available for distribution $2,713,595, which was appropriated as follows:

Dividends and Bonus $1,273,635
Government War Tax on Noted Dividends 96,585
Transferred to Reserve Fund from Premium on New Stock 1,050,000 leaving a balance to be carried forward of $293,375.

The principal items in the general statement of assets and liabilities show as follows:

Total assets $197,387,855
Liquid assets 69,427,380
Current loans 109,183,592
Loans to cities, towns, municipalities, etc. 3,085,602
Deposits not bearing interest 28,733,831
Deposits bearing interest 120,904,548

It's a Gay Life at Constantinople

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 17.—(By Mail) Betting on cockroach races is one of the newest sports here. It was introduced by a Russian who has just opened a hall where a man who wants some real excitement for his money can get results.

The hall is darkened at the moment the race is to begin. Then a single electric light at the end of a runway is turned on, and the cockroaches, each in a separate track, are let loose from their cages to race for the light.

More real, old-fashioned, non-professional sport may be had here than in any other city of Europe. This is the case with the Allied troops of occupation, and the large number of British civilians who have come out for business since the armistice.

What the Russian refugees have done in the way of entertaining the city with concerts, dancing places and queer restaurants, the other Allies have done in sporting lines.

In winter there is wild boar, duck and fox hunting. There is also in and out of season, plenty of horse-back riding over the dirt roads and unfenced stretches of upland country on both sides of the Bosphorus, horse races are often held.

Both the British and the American have laid out golf courses. There are also a few tennis courts.

The troops and sailors within the city have taken charge of a large field near Taksim for the playing of Pera and there play football and baseball matches. Yachting and swimming are commonplace sports open to all.

The Russians from the Black Sea, who are accustomed to bathe naked, have increased the popularity of the beaches, especially a fine strip of sand on the Marmara north shore known as Florida. There, without let or hindrance men, women and children, undress on the open beach and bathe in costumes that seem quite conventional here.

The Turks have contributed chicken fights to the international sports.

TROURIST TRAVEL HEAVY THIS YEAR

Present indications point to a large influx of the ever-increasing brotherhood of tourists from the United States to Canada this year. From an extensive publicity campaign to advertise the resorts in Ontario, that has been carried on this season across the border by the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways, thousands of inquiries are being received from prospective travellers.

These inquiries started to come in about a month earlier than usual, and it is certain that the Province will be favored with a much larger number of summer visitors this year than ever before. To be in a position to give inquiries as full information as possible, the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways issued a series of handsome illustrated booklets dealing with the territory mentioned, and which include special publications on Muskoka, Lake of Bays, Algonquin Park, Georgian Bay, The Great Lakes, Timagami, Kawartha Lakes, Northern Ontario, Nipigon, Nainiki and Ontario. The text matter has been concisely and carefully prepared and new maps engraved and printed in colors have been added to this year's issues. Reports from many of the hotels in the districts mentioned show that the accommodation is being taken up rapidly, and the summer hotel and boarding house proprietors are optimistic of a profitable 1921 season.

MECHANICAL DEVICE USED TO DRIVE THE STAKES WHICH HOLD THE "BIG TOP" FOR JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS. THE BIG SHOW COMES HERE MONDAY, JUNE 13TH.

GENERAL AGENT OF CIRCUS Is as Busy as the Well-Known Bee

Agents of the John Robinson circus have been passing through Belleville for several weeks now, preparing for the coming of the big show on Monday, June 13, when it will exhibit here.

Circus men have come to town and contracted the show grounds, feed, supplies of all kinds, to say nothing of city licenses and billing and transference of the show. Now comes the first of the press agents, to be followed by three advertising cars, filled with bill posters, lithographers, banner men, country route and rail billers.

Other day the general agent, the show came to town quietly and studied local conditions and business prospects. He hasn't much to do except route the show, order tons of billings sent to different points every week, command the activities of one hundred men in advance, study crop reports, smooth out railroad movements each day, receive reports of advance car managers, brigade managers, route riders, audit the accounts of contracting and disbursing agents and keep shipments of paper by freight on their way even if he has to get them through by airplane or wireless, for, he it known, there are no excuses or alibis in the advance of the big show. Outside of that, the general agent of the John Robinson circus has nothing to do except visit cabarets and picture shows. But, in due course of time, the show trains roll in, the great stretches of canvas arise on the "lot," and the two-mile gaud and silver street parade, with its bands, its glittering, flashing cages and costumes, its floats and tableaux, comes down the street. The big show is here and you and I will be there. We owe that to the men of the advance, don't we?

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Maybes, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Napp, Bloomfield, spent Sunday with Mr. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams.

Mrs. Philip Ostrander spent Friday at J. H. Francis' home.

Miss Marie Morrison spent the week-end with her friend, Miss Mildred McKibbin.

Mrs. Robert Goodwin took tea at her son's home Thursday.

Rumors of a wedding soon.

Mrs. and Mr. Blakely, who was called to Belleville owing to illness of her mother, Mrs. Vandusen, returned Sunday. Sorry to report Mrs. Vandusen in a very critical condition, but her many friends hope for her a speedy recovery.

This community was shocked Saturday afternoon to hear of the sudden death of a highly respected resident of the Point, Geo. Cummings. Mr. Cummings had not been feeling very well for the past week but kept at his work. Saturday about noon he took a severe pain in his head and the doctor was summoned but shortly after his arrival he passed away, the doctor pronouncing it brain fever. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and small son, a mother and one sister, all living at Salmon Point.

Mr. James Kavanagh took dinner with his brother Sunday last.

Miss Norma Tripp spent the week end with her friend, Miss Blanche Francis.

HALLOWAY.

Mrs. Z. Palmer spent a day last week at the cheese factory the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rose.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lowery, of Madoc were guests at the home of his father, Mr. J. Lowery on Sunday last.

Mrs. Hamilton is spending a few days with Mrs. C. Spencer.

REDDERSVILLE

Our villagers are glad to see the Brockville back upon the bay route once more. The faithful old Belleville is a good reliable freighter, but since the second year of the war has given no passenger service owing to the restrictions of that momentous period. With the return of a steamer fitted with cabin accommodation, we may hope for some of the former day life of the bay ports and we believe the company will not regret the improvement in service. We learn that the change may be for a very brief time, but trust that the outbursts and sentiment will prove otherwise.

The next note of advance for our folk of the sunny southern county is the freeing of our famous bridge from tolls. Just watch July 1st, and remember that the toll officials go on a long holiday very early that morning and the hideous system goes to the shade.

Following the raid of the private sargates of Messrs. Roy Giles, Jas. Weese and W. H. Montgomery two weeks ago, we have been very forcibly reminded of how innocent suffer by the wrong-doing of others because of the absence of these public-spirited families from several of the community gatherings. We sincerely hope that the guilty parties may be brought to justice.

Mr. W. W. Hough has several workmen busily engaged in the erection of his new barn which will make a fine improvement to his property. The sale of household effects at the home of Mrs. W. E. Anderson on Tuesday last was a success. We will miss Mrs. Anderson and daughter in our midst a great deal.

Go To Sunday School Day received worthy attention from the church on Sunday 5th inst. The programme was much improved by the originality of the workers. The talk with the Primary class in which the superintendent made helpful use of a sand table and object lesson was very interesting. The Reddersville Trail Rangers gave their splendid pantomime upon "The Sleeping Saul and the Tombstone" on Friday, June 4th, which was also much appreciated. Congratulatory remarks were made by Messrs. A. E. Phillips, Supt. of Reddersville; W. Blakeley, of Adams School; L. B. Brickman, Township President; W. G. Davis, 2nd Vice-President; Miss Phoebe of Belleville; Mrs. L. Brickman, Supt. of Home Department and Mrs. W. C. Dempsey, Primary Supt. The Superintendent, Mr. Ryerson Underdonk, and all co-workers are to be complimented indeed.

Mr. Geo. Grey has added to the appearance and comfort of his residence by having it newly sided. Mr. Kelly of Belleville has been in charge of the improvement.

The baseball match between Concession and Reddersville was played off on the grounds here Saturday afternoon, the 4th inst. in the presence of a good crowd of very interested spectators. The visiting team put up a good game, showing science and experience and a good general appearance of clean sport. They have been winners in several county league games already this season but met their Waterloo however when they lined up against the famous "Greys" of Sturtevant.

The next point of interest will be West Lake, where our team takes the play with their local nine.

People are wondering what has happened our newsy little local "The Clarion." The fact is, our staff are all annually busy, the P.S. teachers preparing for examinations, and the farmer representatives crowded with agricultural duties. The expense of getting out an original weekly has been heavy and the executive has been mostly Club authorized the publishing of the paper throughout the summer months only once in two weeks. Less reading but less time to read!

A DESIRE TO EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Stomachs Can be Restored to a Healthy Condition.

When the stomach fails, but to eat whatever he pleases is the dream of every dyspeptic. No one can honestly promise to restore any stomach to this happy condition, because all people cannot eat the same things with equally satisfactory results. But it is possible to so tone up the digestive organs that a pleasing diet may be selected from articles of food that cause no discomfort.

When the stomach fails, there is no quicker way to restore it than to build up the blood. Good digestion without rich, red blood is impossible, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer the best way to enrich the blood. For this reason these pills are especially good in stomach trouble attended by thin blood, and in attacks of nervous dyspepsia.

Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of indigestion is given by Mr. John A. McDonald, Toronto, N.S., who says: "Every sufferer from indigestion has my heartfelt sympathy as I was once myself a sufferer from it. Eating at all became a trial, and at times went on, I became a mere skeleton of my former self. I took all sorts of recommended medicines, doctors' and ad-vice, but to no avail. Then a friend said to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a box and I thought before they were done I could feel a change. Then I got six boxes more, and by the time they were used I was eating my meals with regularity and enjoyment. My general health is now good, and it is no wonder that I am an enthusiastic advocate of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Indestructible Fence

Two of the greatest enemies to every farm are bugs and weeds, but if you have a properly constructed fence, you can burn out the weeds along the fence lines without damage and rid yourself of both pests.

Besides your fence is grounded wherever a steel post is used and danger to your live stock from lightning is greatly reduced," says Mr. R. S. Rider, president, Canadian Steel & Wire Company.

"The use of steel fence posts has become so general during recent years that there is no longer any question but what they are the solution of the fence post problem.

"While the wooden fence post still has many friends, it is usually not an economy because the labor in making that post and the comparatively short life of the post, makes it much cheaper to buy a steel post of the proper size for the work required of it.

"The steel post, when properly made, is heavily galvanized inside and out with an extra heavy coat of rustless zinc below the ground line.

"There is another economy and that is that you can drive the steel posts without digging the holes, and the bottom of the post automatically spreads, making a wedge-shaped anchor to hold the post firmly in place.

"The man who wishes to sell his farm would be wise to replace his old rattleback fence with a woven wire fabric on steel posts. It will enhance its value several thousand dollars and give it a look of thrift which is worth good money."

BAPTIST GIVINGS SHOW INCREASES

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Association in Session Here

AN ERROR OF TODAY Speaker Shows That Many Mistake Gospels as Only Biographies of Christ

At the opening of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Association last evening in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Miss Nicholls, director of Women's Mission Circles and Bands reported total givings for 1921 as $2,132.87, an increase of $27.70 over 1920.

The circles placed on record their deep regret at the passing of Mrs. (Rev.) W. H. Wallace of this city.

Prof. Forner, one of the outstanding figures in the Baptist Church in Canada, delivered a very powerful study of the sacrificial death of Jesus.

The women's program opened yesterday afternoon with an address by Mrs. J. Young on Mission Band work.

The lady delegates were in conference this morning.

The convention lasts until tomorrow morning.

PICKING GIRLS FROM LONDON FOR MANITOBA

WINNIPEG, June 8.—Working in co-operation with the provincial and federal departments of immigration, Mrs. S. M. Dickenson, of this city, has been appointed to represent Manitoba overseas, with headquarters in London, England.

The first party of women numbering 35 destined for Manitoba will sail in July.

FASHION NOTES SAY

That Bernard and Jenny are showing broadcloth; it is used in black only, and makes a very good variation of the tailored model.

That dark kolinsky mole, flying squirrel, seal and gazelle are a novelty, are featured in an advance Drecoll fall collection as trimming.

That on some of the new Drecoll daytime dresses in black or navy serge, a check design is carried out in fine wool embroidery in bright colors, and, too, a good deal of red and blue gelatine embroidery is used, as well as black and white soutache for trimming.

That Paris reports beadings developed in new ways are particularly strong again, and there is no doubt that this type of decoration must continue; it is used in many girdle novelties and in hand trimmings, as well as in band designs, and allover treatments, favoring very bright colors.

IT WAS WORSE THAN NAMES

From a Canadian nurse in a New York hospital comes an amusing story.

In a semi-private room, were three small girls, all about twelve—two with their legs in plaster casts, and the third, Rebecca, a pathetic wisp of humanity, who twisted and tossed with St. Vitus dance.

MILITARY WEDDING TODAY BIG SOCIAL EVENT OF THE SEASON IN BELLEVILLE

St. Thomas Church has been the scene of many brilliant weddings but of none with more appeal than the happy ceremony which took place this morning at eleven-thirty o'clock when Miss Evelyn Mary McCarthy, daughter of Mrs. G. W. McCarthy, 194 William Street and granddaughter of the late Sir Mackenzie Bowell was united in marriage to Major Arthur Lyon Johnson, M.M., accountant in the Federal Income Tax Office, son of Mrs. William Johnson, of this city.

The popularity of the bride and groom and the military atmosphere made the scene a memorable one. Long before the bride and groom were seated at the altar, the accommodation of the church was taxed to the utmost.

By eleven-thirty the large number of invited guests had arrived and at that hour the bridal party entered the church to the organ music of "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin by Wagner.

The church was decorated with sprays and daisies.

The ceremony was performed by Major the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish assisted by the Rev. A. L. Gean.

The bride, who was given away by her mother, was very beautiful in a gown of ivory kitten's ear crepe with court train lined with orchid georgette and overdress of Spanish lace and pearls and pearl ornaments.

The groomsmen were Major Ernest Gean, Major S. E. Vornilava, Capt. A. D. Harper, M.C. and Capt. Harry Alford.

The ushers were Mr. James Johnson, of Boston, brother of the groom, Capt. Harold Holton, Mr. Roy White of Napanee and Mr. Fred Jameson, of Ottawa.

Mrs. McCarthy, mother of the bride, wore turquoise blue georgette trimmed with sequin, Galahborough hat with white ostrich and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Mrs. William Johnson, mother of the groom, wore a dress of black satin trimmed with old lace, black hat and corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of the late Senator Wilson, of St. Thomas, a close friend of the family, was gowned in white embroidered crepe with black lace hat trimmed with bird of paradise and wore a corsage bouquet.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. (Col.) A. P. Allen sang "Because." As the party left the church the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March pealed forth.

Outside the porch of the church stood a guard of honor of officer companions of the groom, Col. E. D. Flynn in charge, Major S. E. Gean, Major R. D. Ponton, Capt. T. D. McManus, Capt. Gilmors and Lieut. Lorne Green.

A reception in honor of Major and Mrs. Johnson was held there. The house was decorated with pink and white peonies.

Following the reception luncheon was served. The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake which during the luncheon was cut with a sword, according to custom.

The guests' table was centered with a lace centre piece which was surmounted by a glass plaque bearing a silver basket containing pink roses.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and valuable gifts, including many cheques from friends in the city and from all parts of the province.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Boston, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson and Miss Ellen Johnson, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Cummings and the Misses Cummings, Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Gilbert, Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hallman, Toronto, Mr. Fred Jameson, Ottawa, Mr. Roy White, Napanee, Miss Nicholson, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Holton, Kingston.

During the afternoon Mrs. Johnson left on a motor tour of the western part of the province. They will reside in Belleville.

What Shall I Do?

WEDDING INVITATIONS AND GIFTS.

Yesterday I promised to discuss wedding invitations, announcements and gifts for my many Reader-friends who have written me about these things.

Invitations are issued not later than two weeks and not earlier than four weeks before the ceremony. They should be engraved, and any first-class stationer will advise you as to the proper and fashionable size and style.

The invitations are enclosed in a first envelope which is to be left unsealed and addressed, by hand, with the name only of the guest to whom it is sent.

Announcement cards may be sent to those whom the young couple wish to tell of their marriage, but who could not be invited to the small wedding. They should be posted on the day of the wedding.

HAVE You Any Broken Jewellery?

PIECES of jewellery broken and stored away in a desk or dressing table drawer or jewel cabinet are useless to you.

NOW that things of the sort are more expensive than when those broken were bought why not let us repair the broken ones so that you can put them to use again.

ANY an old broken pin or buckle or ring or bracelet could be repaired for a very low expense and make something that could not be duplicated today for a high price.

BRING us the contents of that box of broken jewelry and let us see what we can make out of it for you.

Search of Building for Bolshevics Reveals Casket Containing Ashes of "Red Boss"

LONDON, May 20.—(By Mail)—Determined efforts are being made by the British Home Office to get at the bottom of Bolshevick propaganda in this country, according to the Daily Sketch, which says that reports have been received of dangerous activities of the Bolsheviki in London and Scotland.

Raiders have been carried out by Scotland Yard detectives on alleged Bolshevick meeting places and offices and it is reported that sensational discoveries have been made.

While searching one building the detectives found a small casket containing ashes which are declared to be those of Rosa Luxemburg ("Red Rosa"), the German socialist who was killed in 1919 about the same time as Karl Liebknecht, the Communist agitator.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown of Belleville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Leach on Sunday.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenantable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

OIL FOR CANADA 98% IMPORTED

Northwest Now Hopes to End This and Make the Dominion Self-Supporting

COL. CORNWALL TALKS Finds the "East" Apathetic to His Plans for Financing New Wells

WINNIPEG, June 8.—Different companies and individuals interested in the oil fields of the north have expended close to $1,000,000 on development work, according to Col. J. K. Cornwall, who has been mentioned as a possible administrator of the Fort Norman oil district. Col. Cornwall was a recent visitor here on his way to Edmonton from New York and Montreal, where he had gone in connection with oil development work.

The people of the north do not find the attitude of other parts of Canada very encouraging in view of their great faith in the possibilities of their northern oil fields, he said. On his visit east he found very little interest was shown in the development of the latest resources of the great Canadian north.

"The initial cost of finding oil is considerable," Col. Cornwall stated. "Once it is discovered and transportation is arranged the cost of production is the lowest of any known resource with the exception of water power. Transportation to the north is not difficult. From the present end of steel at Peace River to Pine Point on Slave Lake, the southern edge of the oil field is a very fertile country. The character of the soil warrants railway construction, all itself and the possible productivity of the area would support a railway. Settlement is pushing out in that direction.

"The eastern portion of Great Slave Lake, which is practically an inland sea, is very rich in mineral prospects," Col. Cornwall said. "Gold mining machinery is going in this year. Vast copper areas lie between Great Bear Lake and Bathurst inlet. Iron deposits were discovered last season on both sides of the Mackenzie river about latitude 63 north. There is sufficient timber for all requirements of the country. Vegetables and all hardy cereals are easily grown as far as the Arctic circle. It is a healthy country and a very beautiful country. The people are happy and contented and are looking forward to seeing their country developed.

"Ninety-eight percent of the oil used in Canada at present is imported. The north looks forward to being able to stop this importation and to put Canada on the map as one of the great oil exporting countries of the world," the Colonel concluded.

BLUE FOXES COME HIGHER

Annual Fur Sale at Copenhagen Shows Varying Prices

COPENHAGEN, May 19.—(By Mail)—The annual fur sale at the Royal Greenland trade has just taken place here. The pelts of 2,102 blue foxes, 1,661 white foxes and 258 polar bears were sold at auction. The pelts of the blue foxes averaged about 30 per cent higher prices than last year, while the white foxes were 20 per cent lower and the bears' skins were 50 per cent lower.

A number of skins were purchased for America through Danish and German middlemen.

ROMAN CABDIE DEFEATS THIS BOASTFUL YANKEE

"The Man from the U.S.A." Thought St. Peter's Could Be Put Up In Two Years

ROME, May 19.—(By Mail)—They are telling a story in the Roman cafes of how an American visitor to Rome came off second best in a boasting contest with a Roman cab driver. The American undertook to see Rome in a day and used the cab driver as a guide. The American was driven to all the great Roman monuments and took great interest in the buildings, always asking how long each took to build.

"At St. Peter's, the cab driver confessed that it took 50 years to complete that structure. The American did not think that that was such a great feat for he was certain such a building could be built in America in two years. Other large churches, like St. John Lateran, the visitor said, could be built in a year or even six months.

Finally, they were passing the new massive buildings occupying several city blocks containing the Italian law courts.

"What's that," inquired the American.

"I don't know," retorted the driver. "It wasn't there last night."

HAVE AMBITIOUS PLAN TO END HOUSE SHORTAGE

Winnipeg May Erect "Wage Earners" Residential District By Wholesale

WINNIPEG, June 8.—For the purpose of reducing to a minimum the housing shortage of this city the local health department has suggested to the city authorities the construction, by means of a huge municipal building scheme, of a "wage earners" residential district on property 50 or 100 acres in extent. The district according to the scheme suggested, would be laid out in an attractive manner with good streets, boulevards, trees, parks, school site, library, picture theatre and stores, all designed and built as part of a general harmonious plan.

The proposal conforms with a former plan to construct dwellings wholesale with materials purchased in large quantities and so the same group of workmen and the same materials could be employed at one place rather than distributed in different portions of the city as is necessary when individual building operations are under way.

The report submitted by the department adds that "if, when the right time comes, a municipal building scheme is inaugurated on the right lines there is no reason it should not be successful."

NEW MOTOR HEARSE HERE

Belleville Burial Company Add This to their Equipment

Messrs Imlah and Armstrong, managers of the Belleville Burial Company, have just added to their equipment a new motor hearse built on an Oldsmobile chassis. The new burial car is thoroughly modern in its appointments and is one of the best motors ever brought into this district. Messrs Imlah and Armstrong are the well-known undertakers, who have been established in business here for some time and are, by the addition of the motor hearse, brought their equipment up to the last minute in point of service.

One Seizure of Shipment of Drug Worth Quarter of Million

HAVANA, Cuba, May 22.—(By Mail)—Seizure by Havana customs inspectors of several valuable contraband shipments of opium has given rise to the theory that a strong smuggling organization is working through the Spanish port of Barcelona. The drug captured has been found in the baggage of passengers arriving from that port.

One consignment which was found in a warehouse here is valued at about $250,000.

DROWNED IN CALABOGIE LAKE BY BOAT UPSETTING

Refrigerator—Gregorio Mattie, superintendent of the O'Brien poultry farm at Barryville for the past year, was drowned on Thursday night in Calabogie Lake. In company with M. Lafrence, an employee of the O'Brien poultry farm, he left Calabogie in a boat about 10.15 p.m., intending to row across the lake to Barryville. When about sixty yards from the shore, they decided to change places and in doing so the boat was upset. Mattie appears to have been caught in the upturned boat in some way and was drowned.

Lafrence pushed the boat to shore with the body still attached. Mattie's remains were sent to Montreal for interment.

MARRIED 3 DAYS FLEES FOR LIFE

Count Tolstol Back Home Safe, Doesn't Know Where His Bride Is

FOUGHT WITH KOLCHAK Says Bolshevism Is Sure to Foul—Russia Cannot Now Produce Anything

ROME, June 8.—Count Elias Tolstol, a grandson of the famous Russian writer, has just arrived here after a journey through China and Japan, having escaped from the Bolsheviks. In 1918, after three days of married life, he had to flee from Moscow because he was condemned to death and now he is in ignorance as to whether his bride is dead or alive.

He joined Admiral Kolchak's forces and fought against the Bolsheviks, was stricken with typhus on three occasions and was nursed in the American hospital at Omsk.

He said that his aunt, Catharine, is in prison at Moscow and another aunt, Tatiana, is a servant of a Bolshevik family.

Tolstol predicts the sure and inevitable death of Bolshevism either through demobilization or starvation of the army. The rations of the soldiers, he said, have been reduced to a quarter of a pound of bread and one-eighth of a sausage. He added that Russia could not now produce even a needle.

FREEDOM OF LONDON PROPOSED FOR MEIGHEN

Every Overseas Premier Is Given This Honor—First Conferred 14 Years Ago

LONDON, May 20.—(Canadian Associated Press)—As already announced by cable, the Corporation of the City of London has resolved, unanimously and with acclamation, to confer the Freedom of the City upon Mr. Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada, during his visit. This honor, conferred on the citizens of London has within recent years been conferred upon every Prime Minister from the dominions who has visited London in his official capacity. The custom of years ago, when the Imperial Conference had still an element of something novel, the Corporation conferred the Freedom simultaneously upon a group of the leading statesmen from overseas. Sir Robert Borden received the Freedom by himself in 1915, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Massey were honored the following year, and General Smuts and Lord Morris in 1917.

BIGGER FEET MAKE GIRLS BETTER PAIS

LONDON, June 8.—The English woman's foot is growing larger, according to London bootmakers, who say she used to wear No. 4 and now wears No. 5 shoes, and soon will wear 6s and 7s.

They attribute the development to her growing addiction to golf, tennis and other sports. The consensus of comment of the men is that the bigger the English woman grows the better chum she becomes.

WHILE CLEANING OLD RIFLE IT ACCIDENTALLY DISCHARGES

Kingston—A serious shooting accident occurred at the farm of Robt. Thompson, near Wright's school house, Lanark county, when his son, Thomas E. was wounded by the accidental discharge of an old Snider rifle. Tom was cleaning the rifle, and got the ramrod stuck in the barrel. He asked his father to hold the rifle and in endeavoring to pull out the rod, it went off, the bullet entering the abdomen and passed through the body, coming out of his back. In the hospital in Almonte an operation was performed; the bowel had been perforated in four places. Mr. Thompson is progressing favorably.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL NOT FORCE CITY TO BUILD?

Informal Meeting of Both Council and Education Board Held Last Night

TALKED, NO DECISION Mr. W. J. Diamond, Secretary-Treasurer of School Board Defines the Position

That the Board of Education could force the city to provide funds for the building and maintenance of a new school in Coleman Ward but that this body did not wish to use such measures, was the declaration of Chairman Arthur McGie of the Board last evening at a special meeting at which members of the city council were present.

"We are under a misapprehension," declared Mr. McGie. "The notice I signed was for a special meeting of the council to consider the filling of vacancies on the Board and to discuss salaries of teachers, not Coleman Ward school."

The board members said the only purpose of the meeting was to consider Coleman Ward school and how that council notice came to be sent out they did not know.

As it was the special meeting of council did not materialize as Mr. Adams could not be reached to be notified. He and Mr. Woodley were the only absentees at the meeting when the council members met the board informally on the Coleman Ward school question.

Trustee McGie referred to the question of site and pointed out the natural increase in school attendance and that due to the enforcement of the Adolescent Act.

What Defect Means Mayor Hanna explained that while as an individual he favored the building of the school, and since the council had turned it down for the present he did not wish to antagonize the council as he could not see what more could be done at present.

Enlarging Queen Mary School and Queen Victoria School to relieve the congestion in these, but not relieving the situation in Coleman Street, would cost $50,000. This was an alternative, said Mr. Sinclair, which the board turned down.

The Board of Education is in better condition and know the facts than any one else in the city, not on the board."

Ald. Fisher believed a Belleville man should have got the contract. He proposed calling for tenders again and saving perhaps $10,000. "I would then be glad to vote for the by-law," he said.

Ald. Ballinger favored the Board's attitude. Mayor Hanna said that a reading of a by-law once defeated cannot be brought up again for six months. Council Cannot Refuse, Says Mr. Diamond

Mr. W. J. Diamond, secretary-treasurer of the Board, declared the council had several steps to take. To refuse the requisition. If the board then asked to let it go to the people, council could not refuse. The council not having objected, its duty ended. The law says council cannot postpone unduly the various readings of the by-law, but that it must be passed within a reasonable time. The City Council went further and passed the first reading.

"I don't see how the council can go back. The board is not interested in bylaws but in the requisition. Ald. Wensley believed the council was bound to pass the by-law, once having accepted the requisition.

Ald. Fisher "It is postponed for six months, we would expect the board to save considerable money by calling for new tenders."

Mr. McGie "I want to count this again and come again to count this and beg of them for the money."

Ald. French "I am in favor of building the school next year and saving perhaps $20,000.

Trustee H. W. Ackerman, speaking in favor of the school, said the council was asking the board to do what they as individuals would not do themselves—delay purchasing what is needed.

Delay Till Next Year Asks Alderman Ald. Ostrom—"The citizens agree that a school is necessary. The board says that action must be taken at once. The council says that it is a question of the time of the erection of the school. The people agree upon a school for next year."

Mr. Deacon—"There's no use arguing it. All you have to do is say 'Yes' or 'No'."

Ald. Ostrom—"I know you are not pleased with me for taking the stand I did."

Mayor Hanna said the petition against the school represented the larger number of property owners, but the other petition the laboring class, who should be considered. Trustee Sinclair declared Ald. Ostrom was intensely sincere in his stand by Mr. Sinclair did not think the winter months a good time to start.

Bylaw to be Passed in November? The thought in the minds of the council was conserving public funds, said Trustee George T. Woodley. Makeshift to get around the delay would cost $5,000.

Trustee Ackerman asked what assurance there was in November. Ald. Ostrom—"The council is a unit on that."

Mr. McGie—"The council changed their minds once. What assurance have we that they will not change their minds again?"

Ald. Ostrom—"Well, leave it at that."

Ald. Fisher—"I would be willing to vote for the bylaw at any time now, provided you call for tenders."

PARLIAMENT OF NORTHERN IRELAND OPENED WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY CRAIG SELECTS HIS FIRST CABINET

AVOIDS PARLIAMENT

BELFAST, June 7.—The parliament of Northern Ireland, elected last month under the new home rule measure, was opened this morning amid impressive scenes in the council chamber of the city hall here.

None of the Nationalist or Sinn Fein members elected were present as the forty Unionists took their seats and proceeded to the organization of the House.

The ceremony occurred in the presence of a distinguished gathering. Hon. Hugh O'Neill, son of Lord O'Neill, was unanimously elected Speaker.

Premier Sir James Craig announced the following cabinet. Home Secretary—Sir Dawson Bates. Minister of Finance—H. M. Pollock. Minister of Education—The Marquis of Londonderry. Minister of Labor—J. M. Andrews. Minister of Agriculture—Hon. E. A. Archdale.

The City Hall, although architecturally one of the finest buildings in Europe was hardly adequate for the installation of parliament, nevertheless the company gathered to witness the opening ceremony appeared thoroughly representative of the northern province. Cardinal Logue being the only notable absentee.

It was the first ceremony for Viscount Fitzalan, the new viceroy. There was little outward display of public interest as the ship men and the population in general were apparently reserving any demonstration of note for the expected coming of King George V. for the state opening of Parliament on June 22.

Contributions toward the million dollar Muskoka Hospital fund have already begun in Belleville. Mr. Angus Buchanan of the Y.M.C.A. staff here is in charge. Mr. D. V. HOLLAND CHILD NOT IN COURT; AT NAPANEE WITH WHOOPING COUGH

TORONTO, Ont., June 7.—"The child is ill at Napanee, she has the whooping cough, so the mother cannot produce her here today," said James H. Spence of the Napanee Jail today when Arthur A. Holland's Habeas Corpus writ for the custody of his daughter, Elizabeth Fraser Holland, aged 8, was returned.

"The health laws, as you know, would not permit the child to travel on the train," Mr. Spence said, appearing for Holland.

The mother, Edna Fraser Holland has been down in New York, and has obtained an injunction against her, but she is domiciled at Napanee.

Mr. Justice Matheson. "Her domicile follows her husband's." Mr. Justice Matheson: "I am afraid that the child is taken out of the jurisdiction."

Mr. Justice Matheson: "A boat crossed." These things do happen so often, and in faith are sprouted away. In one case, years ago, the person turned up on the Isle of Man. I don't see what can be done.

ANGLO-GERMAN FINANCIERS FORM "ECONOMIC ENTENTE," BRITISH OPPOSE HUN ARMY

LONDON, June 7.—While British and German financiers have formed an "economic entente" to exploit Russia, the British and German troops were opposed to German troops and a clash was imminent according to two separate despatches from Berlin.

Anglo-German "Entente" The first one said: "The largest and most powerful industrial and financial groups of Germany and Great Britain have concluded what is tantamount to an 'economic entente' for the exploitation of Russia."

Hugo Stinnes, Germany's most powerful captain of industry, heads the German group. Long drawn out negotiations between the British and German interests finally came to a successful conclusion during the past week.

The first touches were put to the agreement in London. A trade entente between the two until very recently enemy countries, for the "opening of Russian trade and commerce and to co-operate along specific directive lines in assisting in reconstruction and reorganization in developing trade and concessions. The parties aim especially to work together in the matter of granting credits and agreements on payments to be made.

Second one said: "Fighting between the forces of Gen. Von Hofer, leader of the German defence troops, and the Polish insurgents, continued on the Kladnitsa River, where the Germans drove the Poles. The evident intention of the Germans was to liberate Gletwitz, in the neighborhood of which German troops are stationed. The Kladnitsa man patrols arrived. In the meantime, however, French troops had been thrown in the path of the German and British patrols were hurrying from Oppeln to support the French."

The despatch adds that the movement of these troops apparently indicated General von Hofer to halt his advance.

ASSEMBLY DELEGATE KILLED AT CROSSING Motor Car Driven by Former Friend Hit by Train

BARRIE, Ont., June 6.—The death in the Royal Victoria Hospital here of Commissioner A. Murphy of Clonard, B. C., who had been attending the sessions of the Presbyterian General Assembly, and of David Boyce, a prominent farmer, whose home was near Craigvale, five miles from here, proved the tragic sequel to a collision on Saturday morning at the station between a gravel train, which was backing up, and a motor car driven by Boyce, and empaneled by Coroner A. Small after hearing the statements of eye-witnesses. It was decided that the fatal accident had been due to negligence on the part of the driver of the automobile, and that the men in charge of the train were entirely free of blame.

THREE REBELS EXECUTED Two for Murder of R. I. C. Sergeant Third, Slayer of Magistrate

DUBLIN, June 7.—Three men convicted of participation in the recent disorders in Ireland were executed here this morning. Edward Polley and Patrick Maher went to their doom for the murder of a Royal Irish constabulary sergeant and Knocking, while Constable William Mitchell was executed for the murder of Magistrate Thomas, of Dunleavy, County Wexford.

ASSEMBLY HEARS SHARP DEBATE ON UNION; NO VOTE ESTIMATE IS 500 REAL LOSS HUGE

Big Gathering of Ministers and Elders Restless Under Cloud of Words

EAGER FOR DECISION Compromise Still Possible Despatch Says With Reference to Synod Possible

TORONTO, June 7.—The Presbyterian General Assembly is beginning to show restlessness under the plethora of argument and eloquence on the question of church union, and a ballot on the issue is looked for this afternoon.

Just before adjournment for luncheon votes were heard from all sides calling for an immediate vote, but the Moderator said he did not think it would be advisable to take a vote just yet.

When the morning Sederunt opened the assembly decided by a vote to limit each man up to ten minutes, and the result was a series of rapid speeches which greatly enlivened the proceedings.

All anti-unionist speakers this morning it was noticed advocated another vote of the people on the issue and it is not improbable that the assembly will find a way out of the present situation by a such course, or by referring it to the provincial synods for a vote.

NO HOT WATER IN HULL That is, Hull, England, Where the Coal Strike Drags On

HULL, Eng., May 20.—(By Mail) The shortage of coal has been so serious here during the strike of miners that the people were unable to obtain hot water. To meet this situation, the National Kitchen, which happened to have a supply of coal, sold hot water to the working people at one-half penny a bucket.

The shortage of coal also produced a shortage of ice as it handicapped the artificial ice plants. To obviate this, travelers were seen in Holland to bring coal which they exchanged here for ice.

TO GO TO GENERAL SYNOD Archdeacon Beamish, Rural Dean Swayne and John Elliott Named

At the synod meeting of the diocese of Kingston, Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish and Mr. John Elliott were among the delegates appointed to General Synod.

Mr. John Elliott was appointed to the Board of Religious Education and a representative on the Social Service Council.

Bishop Bidwell appointed a committee composed of Chancellor Walkem, Francis King and Rev. J. H. Coleman to deal with the distribution of the surplus funds of the Belleville rectory. The committee will have power to act.

CAPTURE 100 "SHINNERS" Battle in Mill Street, Cork, Costly to Irish Rebels

CORK, June 7.—Crown forces captured more than one hundred members of the Irish rebel army in Mill Street last night after a battle in which three Sinn Feiners were killed and twelve wounded. Crown forces casualties, it is stated, were slight.

"HAT" RAIN-MAKER IS BLAMED FOR MUD Howe Circus Elephants and Animal Wagons Sink Into Medicine Hat, Minn.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., June 7.—Colonel Howe, of the Howe Circus is pained. He thinks that he has a right to be hot under his collar. Likewise, Medicine Hatters are tickled to death, and they do not care how loud the colonel roars or duplicates his lions' tactics. It is all on account of "Rain-maker" Hatfield, who sits on the job in his lower at the "Hat," making rain, and the circus played at Medicine Hat and rain fell and the circus grounds were turned into a young lake. Also, the nine elephants of the Howe circus sank into the mud, while the heavy circus wagons imitated a like stant, wider than some of his animals. The last seen of the general old man was at the train, where he was still attempting to sue Hatfield for all that the Hatters will pay for his services.

DEATH IN FLOODED TRAIN Cars Submerged and Topples Over—Colored Porter Proves Hero

PUEBLO, Colo., June 7.—The known dead from Friday's flood in Pueblo totaled fifty-five today with three additional bodies were recovered. Chairman of the City Relief Committee, said that the estimate of five hundred killed "was as good as any."

A committee of real estate men today estimated the probable damage in Pueblo at between fifteen and twenty millions.

TRAIN WRECKED IN FLOOD AT LEAST 25 LOST LIVES. Three dead is considered the minimum death toll among the passengers of Denver & Rio Grande train No. 3 which was upturned by the flood waters of the Arkansas River in sight of the Union Station here Friday night.

T. T. Robinson, 50, a civil engineer from Kansas City, and a conductor on the ill-fated train, is authority for the statement. He declared that the conductor told him a few minutes before the coaches went over on their sides that 33 passengers were on board. When a count was made of the rescued at the Nuckolls packing plant the next day, only 70 could be located.

Robinson said the train carried four Pullmans. He was riding in the third one.

"We were in sight of the station," Robinson continued, "when the water crept up on us. We suddenly stopped. Our lights went out and it was pitch dark, except for the current flashes of lightning."

"The car began to wobble back and forth, followed by a crash, and our car toppled slowly over on its side. Hastily we broke through the windows in the top. Our Pullman porter, a negro, proved himself a real hero in that emergency. Heedless of his own danger, he boosted the girls and women up on top."

"Once on top we were comparatively safe. Through the long night hours we sat there huddled together unable to be heard because of the deafening roar of the torrent. At dawn rowlocks were seen approaching and we were removed to safety. I cannot believe that everyone who that train escaped from that night of terror all survived."

TAXIS JUST HIT ROME! Think What Capital of Caesars Must Have Missed!

ROME, June 7.—Taxicabs have just invaded Rome. New brightly painted vehicles similar to those of New York have just made their appearance, replacing as many horse-drawn cabs, which have held sway in the capital of the Caesars for centuries.

The taxicab, though welcomed with open arms by the general mass of Romans, has met for years a stone-wall opposition from the right to circulate in Roman streets. The 5,000 cab drivers and liveries men fought its use and warned the city administration that it would be defeated at election if the taxicabs were admitted.

This opposition has in a measure been overcome but there still remains some cab drivers' prejudice against motor vehicles in their business. They have insisted that the chauffeurs be mainly recruited from the cab drivers.

STOLE $29,000 AND FLEE Detroit Thugs Use Employees as Aids in Flight

DETROIT, Mich., June 7.—Three robbers who intercepted two employees of the Schiav Creamery Company on their way to the bank with a safe containing $29,959.55, at 6:15 o'clock last evening on East Baltimore Avenue, made off with the money and later kidnapped the branch manager for a driver. Later he was tossed out and the bandits made their get-away safe.

PEMBROKE RESIDENT FINDS 146 STICKS OF DYNAMITE Pembroke—Mrs. William Winters, Pembroke made a startling discovery in the yard near the house in which the family resides when she unearthed some dynamite, and later investigations revealed that no less than 146 sticks were buried there. Mr. Winters and family moved only recently to the house, which is owned by Mrs. William Bohnke. The dynamite is part of a large quantity stored some time ago from Dunlop Co's storehouse. In all likelihood the crown authorities will go farther into the matter.

BYNG A FIGHTER JUST LIKE MEN HE LED AT VIMY

New Governor-General is the Byng the Byng Boys Were Named After

MADE HIS OWN PLANS Had Both Staff College and Practical Training to Make Him Real Soldier

The appointment of Gen. Lord Byng as Governor-General of Canada recalls the fact in striking fashion that he was once before at the head of a "little company" of Canadians.

He was the Byng the Byng Boys were named for; and every soldier admires him. The first action in which the Canadian Corps took part under his guidance was fought in June 1916. On the second day of that month the enemy, after a sudden and intense artillery bombardment lasting some four hours, attacked our line, South of Hooge, gained a footing on Observatory Ridge and by occupying Mount Sorrel and part of Sanctuary and Armagh Woods seriously threatened our hold on the Ypres salient.

The Germans were in no doubt as to what they might anticipate in their new positions, for in an order captured at the time we read, "In view of the enemy's characteristics we have to expect a strong attack at any time." Early on the morning of June 13th this "strong attack" was delivered and resulted in the re-establishment of our positions in this vital section of the 2nd Army front.

That trying and anxious fortnight had given Byng a unique chance to take the measure of his lieutenants and he had now gauged to a nicety the calibre of his command, the Canadian of that day was a matchless fighter, but he was not the expert and finished soldier of a year later.

The remainder of the summer of 1916 was uneventful, but in August the 1st Canadian Division moved South to be followed shortly by the 2nd and 3rd Canadian Divisions, and early in September the Canadian Corps was committed to the Battle of the Somme which had now been in progress with varying intensity for two months. For the next six weeks the Corps formed part of Gough's Reserve Army, later known as the Fifth Army, attacking Northwards from Pozières towards Ires, at first astride and later to the North of the Albert-Bapaume Road.

The glorious story of the fighting for Hessian, Kemna and Regina Trenches, Monquet Farm and Courcellette is well known to the members of the Canadian Corps; it is a story of gallantry, endurance and sheer hard fighting in the face of heavy odds and under conditions hitherto considered impossible.

All four Canadian Divisions in succession fought under Byng at the Somme, although the Fourth which had arrived in France in August only came South to join the Corps for the first time a week before the other Divisions were withdrawn from the line. The 15th British Division also served under him for a few days and subsequently in the honour of finally capturing Regina Trench.

The end of October saw Byng in Horns' First Army, holding the line opposite the Vimy ridge with the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Canadian Divisions under him; a month later the 4th Canadian Division rejoined and the Corps returned from the Somme where it had fought for six weeks under the 11th British Corps.

Early in January preparations for the spring offensive were taken in hand, and while these were in progress an aggressive policy, which included several large and successful raids, was put into effect. The enemy soon became aware that our activities would commence on the Arras front, and for months before the actual assault took place every man in the Canadian Corps knew that the Ridge was our chief objective.

The conception of the attack on Vimy Ridge was daring in the extreme, so much so that the German Command could hardly believe that anyone would have the audacity to attempt it, but this very fact seems in a measure to have contributed against the efficient conduct of the defence.

In general, the scheme was to bombard for two weeks or more the front of attack which extended from Souchez to South of Arras on the Third Army front, carrying out a programme of systematic destruction of dugouts, rearward positions and forward trenches while harassing all lines of communication with in-range with incessant shell and machine-gun fire. The work of destruction completed every known position the battery would be passed through a rolling barrage by the field artillery; the infantry led by tanks would follow this barrage, each unit being given the task of securing a definite part of the objective. The advance was to be made in depth, as each objective was secured fresh troops following close in rear of the attacking battalions would pass through, and the forward movement would continue until the final objective, the Eastern slopes of the Ridge, was attained. Once captured, the Ridge would be held by the 1st Canadian Division.

Such an elaborate pre-arranged attack had never before been attempted, and its success depended on perfect co-ordination of action on the part of every branch of the service and of every man in the Corps. In the arduous work of preparation and rehearsal none was more active than the precise and energetic Corps Commander, who supervised with watchful care the infantry practices over taped trenches, the concentration of the artillery and the results of their fire, and the gradual collection of the great quantity of military supplies requisite for the undertaking.

GENERAL LORD BYNG, Who commanded the Canadian Corps in France and who is to succeed the Duke of Devonshire at Rideau Hall. His appointment has been hailed with delight by all ex-service men.

In working out his plan Byng could draw upon a wide and varied experience of fighting, and his Staff College training enabled him to use every means to the fullest advantage in the attainment of his object. Hitherto rehearsals of an attack had been executed by brigades and divisions; the rolling field artillery barrage had not been used at the Somme, but the idea of four divisions attacking abreast to a depth of 3,000 yards, screened all the way by a curtain of burning shrapnel, would have been scouted six months before the Battle, but there they were, few in number and had no very definite part in the general scheme, and whereas the policy of following up the infantry attack by pushing forward machine-guns and artillery to cover the consolidation of our objective in a trench to trench attack had been generally recognized as sound, it yet had to be proved in practice.

But Byng's greatest asset lay in the men he led, here were 100,000 of Canada's best, volunteers to a man, each of them ready to put forth every effort for the cause. Thoroughly appreciating the Corps Commander adopted an entirely new method of handling his troops prior to the attack, he took the man in the ranks into his confidence; instructions were issued to all units that by means of lectures, demonstrations, examination of photographs and most important of all, discussions over large scale maps, each man should thoroughly understand his part in the attack and how best to carry it out. The extent of this policy may be better realized from the fact that over 40,000 specially drawn large scale maps were issued to units of the Canadian Corps, and when Zero hour at last came, it is no exaggeration to say that every N.C.O. taking part in the attack had a general idea of the Corps scheme and could, with aid of his map, give a clear and detailed explanation of how his battalion intended to reach and retain its objective.

Now for the first time the work of the Intelligence Branch bore rich fruit; every move on the part of the enemy was noted, and by sifting the mass of information obtained from various sources detailed maps were prepared showing clearly the dispositions of his infantry and artillery, his defences, routes of approach, communications and supply dumps. To these maps were largely due the completeness and efficiency of our artillery programme, for when on the early morning of April 9th the assault was finally delivered, the thoroughness of the destruction and the mental attitude of the demoralized defenders left little to be desired.

Without entering into detailed accounts of the actual battle, it may be said that between the 9th of April and the 3rd of May, the Canadian Corps attacking on a front of 8,000 yards penetrated to a depth of six miles, capturing 7,000 prisoners and 67 guns and with them the strongest position on the British front.

Vimy, or the Battle of Arras as it is officially termed, marks an epoch in the history of modern warfare. It proved that a fortified position, no matter how strong its defences, was still capable of being pierced provided that every arm of the service was given a fitting role and that every ounce of energy was skillfully directed in carrying it out.

After the line had again become stable in June, 1917, Byng was given the Third Army. His successor in the Canadian Corps was Sir Arthur Currie, who had commanded the 1st Canadian Division since September 1915. As an Army Commander his exploits were closely followed by his old Corps, but none of the Canadian

Compromise Said to be Likely by Assembly on the Great Question

MEANS YEAR'S DELAY Synods Would be Six Times More Representative—Vote This Afternoon

TORONTO, June 6.—That the question of church union should be referred to various church synods for decision is the new proposal before the Presbyterian General Assembly. When the debate is resumed this afternoon it is expected that an amendment to Dr. Fraser's anti-union amendment will be moved, and so far as is known, it will provide for a vote of the synods on the issue.

It is argued that the synods would be six times more representative than the general assembly. On the other hand, it would mean another year's delay before the synods could vote on consummation of union. A belated formal welcome to Toronto was extended to delegates by Mayor T. L. Church at noon.

WILD ORCHIDS ADORN GARDEN ON BRIDGE ST. Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Very Proud of Profusion of Rare and Beautiful Blooms

Wild orchids in bloom in a garden on Bridge street have attracted many amateur horticulturalists and many others also who just like flowers, to the home of Dr. Marshall. This very rare and exquisite bloom he has just now in profusion.

The roots were brought from one big swamp near Picton and were obtained by the rather simple if uncomfortable method of wading across them. Today there are probably three dozen of these delicate flowers in bud or in bloom and Dr. and Mrs. Marshall, who are very keen on horticulture are naturally very proud of them.

In full bloom the orchid assumes a delicate cup-like formation, the opening at the top, with all the nuances from old rose to cream white to be seen. They are very beautiful and exceedingly rare in, as it were, captivity.

WORTH MILLIONS MORE THAN THE SYSTEM COST Hydro Claims Ontario Has Assets of $18,244,460—Finance Minister

TORONTO, June 6.—The view expressed by the Druce government that the Ontario system of hydro is not an admitted hydro official. Yet the government, which has title to the system, is considering how matters should be adjusted and it is wondering whether it should not write off, as a dead loss, the sum of $2,700,000 that was paid for intangible assets. The allowance for intangible assets was made on recommendation of Howard Ferguson and not of Sir Adam Beck.

As to the amount paid for intangible assets, it freed the streams of eastern Ontario and the Trent canal from control by 22 private companies, dominated by the Electric Power Company of Montreal. It is unreasonable to argue that these water powers, the assets, are worthless because the province is not getting a reasonable return on its money. As a matter of fact, the basis of the hydro scheme is service at cost.

More Dope on Title Bout Billed for the Second of July

NEW YORK, June 6.—With a difference in weight of about 20 pounds when they meet in the ring four weeks hence, Dempsey and Carpentier will otherwise appear almost equal in build and stature. If both were to mix in among a few collegiate athletes, football players and organizers, probably neither would be picked out as being unusually big or formidable in general make up. Dempsey stands 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches in height, just two inches taller than the French champion and while Carpentier will weigh 170 pounds in fighting condition, Dempsey expects to enter the ring slightly under 190 pounds.

The champion's shoulders are broad while Carpentier's are sloping in shape but otherwise the bodily measurements of the pair do not differ to any marked extent. Experts who have seen both men are satisfied that they will be well-matched in speed and cleverness but the majority believe that Dempsey will carry by far the heavier weight in his blows. Dempsey's suppleness are claimed as advantages for the Frenchman by his followers but just how hard a punch he can deliver is still a problem.

Dempsey showed in his bout with Willard at Toledo that his blows possess enormous punishing power but his more recent encounters with Bill Brennan at Madison Square Garden did not demonstrate that he still retains the forceful punch necessary to successfully stand off a man of Carpentier's undoubted ability and cleverness.

Just how good the challenger is or how hard a blow he can land is problematical to the majority of American fight patrons, who have seen him in action. His only bout here, that with Levinson in Jersey City last year, did not afford much of a line on Carpentier's prowess. Levinson, always a clever boxer, made practically no serious effort to defend himself on that occasion and went down and out an easy victim for the Frenchman in the fourth round.

Nearly 30 years have elapsed since Queensberry rules and glove contests were substituted for the London prize ring code governing pugilistic contests for championship titles. In most of the bouts fought for the heavyweight championship since the change took place, there was a described advantage in stature between the principals, but this did not always carry victory with it. Beginning with the Corbett-Sullivan battle at New Orleans in 1892, the big Boston man was massive in proportion to the light, supple and extremely clever Californian but the smaller man bore the big champion down and annexed the title in the 21st round. Corbett was one and one-half inches taller but 15 pounds lighter than Sullivan who stood 5 feet 10 1/2 inches and weighed about 200 pounds.

Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons were more evenly matched in height and age. Corbett was half an inch taller and four years younger than the Cornishman but he was nearly 20 pounds heavier than Fitzsimmons when the latter knocked him out and won the title at Carson City, March 13, 1897.

Two years later James J. Jeffries of huge build and outweighing Fitzsimmons by fully 50 pounds won the title in 11 rounds from Bob at Coney Island and five months later, November, 1899, Jeffries got a reference decision over Tom Sharkey in a 25-round bout in the same arena. Sharkey was several inches shorter and about 40 pounds lighter than the then champion.

Corbett challenged Jeffries twice for the title but was knocked out by the bigger man each time, once in 23 rounds and the next time in 19 rounds. Jack Johnson, the negro who defeated Jeffries at Reno, Nev., in 1910, was nearer to the big man's size than any of the other heavyweights who had met him. Johnson was three years younger, one inch shorter and only ten pounds lighter than the Ohioan. Johnson scored a knockout in 15 rounds.

Jess Willard, the giant Kansan, was by all odds the biggest man who ever held the world's heavyweight title. He stood 6 feet, 6 inches, weighed 250 pounds and had decided advantages in every way over Johnson when he won from the negro at Havana, Cuba, in 1915. When he met Dempsey, two years ago, these physical advantages did not enable him to withstand Dempsey's sudden onslaught as he confessed afterward that he did not remember much after he was knocked down in the opening round.

A Golden Wedding. OSHAWA, June 6.—With their four sons and five daughters present, representing an unbroken family, Mr. and Mrs. James Mackie, Broken Front, East Whitley, on Saturday afternoon last celebrated the 50th anniversary of an event that took place in Old Meldrum, May 1871, in Scotland, when they were united in the happy bonds of wedlock. Today, although both have passed the age allotted by the psalmist, they are in good health, and for the golden wedding celebration were able to welcome their children and grandchildren. Of the latter, is worthy of note, there are 24, all alive, and many of them present for the occasion.

BOTH KING AND QUEEN TO PAY ULSTER VISIT Will Attend in State So Belfast Despatch Says—Will Land at Bangor

BELFAST, June 6.—While Official announcement is being withheld, it is said that King George and Queen Mary will attend in State the opening of the Ulster Parliament and that they will travel to Bangor, the home of the famous Royal Ulster Yacht Club, accompanied by warships. King George has not been in Ireland since his visit to Dublin a decade ago, and has not been in Belfast since he came here as Duke of York twenty-two years ago.

RUHR ARMY DEMOBILIZED French Boys Lined up on Rhine Sent Home This Month

PARIS, June 6.—The class of 1919 recalled from their homes to line up on the border of the Ruhr Valley to make a threat of occupation, will be demobilized before the end of this month if the Germans continue to give evidence of their good faith. Minister of War, Louis Barthou, announced this afternoon.

Mr. Barthou has just returned from an inspection of the Rhine army so that he would be able to judge the needs of the situation.

WILL CROOKS IS DEAD; REAL SELF-MADE MAN In Poor House With Family When Child, Became Dominant Figure in England

LONDON, June 6.—The Right Hon. William Crooks, who served as Labor member of Parliament is dead. Will Crooks as he was affectionately known, became one of the leaders in the great Labor movement and one of the dominant figures in England. He was born in the London slum, Poplar, in 1852 and started work when only nine years of age. His father had been injured when the boy was scarcely more than a baby, and the family was forced to move to the workhouse.

It was said of Will Crooks that no one ever doubted his word and that his promise was unbreakable. He was the friend of the poorest and never forgot his Cockney friends or altered his Cockney mannerisms. Among his warm friends he numbered all the Prime Ministers of recent years and King George himself.

RANKIN'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL JURY DECLARES

Straford Doctor Was Intoxicated and Quarrelled With Brother-in-law

TESTIMONY AT INQUEST Doctor Who Examined Wound Found Glass in Abdomen, He Tells Jury

MONTREAL, June 2.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of Dr. Ramsay Rankin, of Straford, from wounds, in the Western Hospital yesterday brought in a verdict of accidental death this afternoon.

The testimony by R. W. McEachern, who had previously been charged by the coroner that he might be suspected by the police in connection with the tragedy was to the effect that he had called upon Dr. Rankin at James Gunn's apartment, St. Catharine Street, to discuss the sale of Albert Oil Land leases, but had found the doctor very intoxicated.

In a quarrel which resulted from a request by Rankin for money, the doctor accused his brother-in-law and Mr. Gunn of attempting to steal his money.

McEachern testified he then ran from the building with the Straford man after him. On reaching the street he heard a crash of glass. James Gunn's testimony was of a corroborative character while Dr. McTavish declared that the abdominal wound was undoubtedly caused by glass as some of the window glass was found in the wound.

Miss Clothilde and Miss Amyott, living in apartment ten, knew nothing of the affair except hearing the crash of glass.

The witnesses were discharged following the rendering of the verdict.

POST OFFICE HOURS FOR JUNE 3RD GIVEN Merchants Will Remain Open in the Morning but Will Mostly Close up for afternoon

Tomorrow, June 3rd, (King's Birthday) is a legal holiday but will not be generally observed by Belleville merchants during morning hours. Nearly 100 places of business, however, have agreed to close in the afternoon in connection with the G.W.V.A. celebration.

Government Now to Pay The Grand Trunk Interest

OTTAWA, June 2.—Sir Henry Drayton, the Finance Minister, has announced that all steps have been taken to transfer the control and management of the Grand Trunk Railway Company to the Dominion of Canada the interest due on the 1st of April on Grand Trunk Pacific bonds guaranteed by the Grand Trunk Railway, which was defaulted on that date, will now be paid.

The securities affected are as follows: $2,100,000 Grand Trunk Pacific prairie section, 4 per cent. bonds, due April 1, 1925.

$2,050,000 Grand Trunk Pacific mountain section, 4 per cent. bonds, due April 1, 1925.

$1,550,000 Grand Trunk Pacific, Lake Superior branch, 4 per cent. bonds, due April 1, 1925.

Coupons are due at the office of the Bank of Montreal in London, Montreal and New York and it is understood that those due on April 1 last, which were not paid, will now be honored by presentation.

1921 ASSESSMENT IS TARGET RATEPAYERS IN ANGRY MOOD; NEW DATES FOR HEARING APPEALS

City Hall is Mecca for Owners of Property and First Eminent No Business Done—Details of Stormy Scene at the Court of Appeals

The original plan of dates for hearing assessments appeals has had to be abandoned. Appellants whose names begin with A and B were before the court of revision last night and the hearing of these cases will be continued tonight.

Other appeals will not be heard this evening and dates of their hearing will be announced from day to day as the court proceeds.

The 1921 assessment was last night the centre of one of the most united attacks by the property owners in the history of Belleville.

Only appellants were present whose names began with A and B and there were between one and three hundred people crowded into the Council Chamber, many of whom being women.

Suggestions of an adjustment on the basis of five or seven and a half per cent. increase on 1920 figures, this would mean dissatisfied property owners would go before the county judge.

Sheriff Morrison, chairman of the Court of Revision was very outspoken in his remarks on the assessment. He first favored the confirmation of the rules as they stood, leaving the disgruntled taxpayers to go before the county judge.

The other members of the court are Ex-Mayor W. H. Panter and Ex-Ald. R. W. Adams.

Tribunals of Assessment. "If there were trials in connection with the assessment, it is this year," said Sheriff Morrison, in opening the court. "There has been no increase in the value of property, but a 10 per cent. increase."

"I was 31 years on courts of revision and I never saw such a thing before."

"I mean to confirm the assessment of 1921 and refer all to the county judge."

Mr. W. Carnew, acting for some appellants, said: "That will mean a lot of expense to the people."

Chairman—"I don't believe it is a proper thing for courts to go to the assessor and tell him to raise the assessment."

City Solicitor Masson—"I think you are perfectly wrong. The count will say they never said such a thing."

RALPH CONNOR NEW MODERATOR BY HEAVY VOTE

Novelist, War Veteran and Noted Speaker, Heads the Presbyterian Church

DR. BALLANTYNE'S WORDS Not Opposed to Episcopacy and Sees Unity of Churches as Only Plan

TORONTO, June 2.—Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, more widely known as "Ralph Connor," the Canadian novelist, is Moderator of the 47th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Two other ministers were nominated. These were Rev. Dr. Ephraim Scott, of Montreal, and Rev. E. D. McLarney, of Vancouver.

Both of the other two candidates' names were put to the vote for the first time the result was as follows: Dr. Scott, 138.

Dr. Gordon, 184. Dr. McLarney, 69.

Upon a second vote being taken it was evident that many votes had been transferred, Dr. Gordon gaining a "substantial majority" over both of the other two candidates.

The figures were not announced. Retiring Moderator Speaks. The Assembly opened with a statesmanlike address by the retiring Moderator, Rev. Dr. James Ballantyne, who delivered a closely reasoned and well-balanced statement on the question of Church union.

The key-note of the address was contained in one of its sentences—"There can be no going back, no standing still."

Dr. Ballantyne referred to the "competitive rivalry" between the many sects of Christendom, notwithstanding the fact that the differences were for the most part no longer fundamental.

He declared that the Church could not properly fulfill its function as the body of Christ, until a better disposition of its forces.

Not Against Episcopacy. Dealing with the Lambeth Conference appeal, Dr. Ballantyne made the striking admission that Presbyterians had no deep-rooted hostility to episcopacy, and said that while the Presbyterian form of Church government "might be best for a small town like Geneva or a small country like Scotland or Holland, it may not be best for a land of vast distances like Canada."

He suggested that force of circumstances might lead to the adoption of episcopacy again as the best for this country.

Dr. Ballantyne also spoke of the necessity for the admission to the ranks of the church, of those who are outside of its fold.

He counseled the Church to take full advantage of this "new source of strength," and put aside its prejudice against those who are outside of its fold.

Mr. Masson—"If the assessor made a mistake two years ago that was no reason why he should continue."

Mr. Morrison—"Most of the people in Belleville do not want to sell their property."

Mr. Masson—"The seventy-five per cent. of the property owners who do not appeal, are they not pretty well satisfied?"

Mr. E. J. Butler—"They say it is no use."

Mr. Carnew—"Some people are so modest they don't want to have their affairs tried in the court."

GARFIELD IS EXECUTED; SMOKES UNTIL THE LAST

WOODSTOCK, June 2.—A few minutes after he had discarded a cigarette which he smoked on his way to the scaffold, Norman Garfield, convicted murderer of Ben Johnston, Woodstock confectioner, was hanged this morning at 5.40 o'clock.

Fourteen minutes later the jail physician, Dr. MacKay, pronounced life extinct. Death was instantaneous.

The execution passed off without a hitch. At five-thirty the procession from the doomed man's cell was started.

First came Rev. Wilfrid Gaetz, and behind him Sheriff McGehee and Hangman Ellis. Behind them was Garfield, smoking a cigarette, which he did not relinquish until the executioner went to adjust the black cap.

Arriving at the scaffold Garfield ascended the steps to the platform with a steady step, after which he looked up at the noose and immediately placed himself in a position under it.

APPEALING TO JUSTICE DEPT. Two Belleville Men Lose Appeal at Osgoode Hall But Will Fight on

CONVICTED OF THEFT Hearing in Toronto Hinged on Nice Point of Law—Mr. Mikel There

Messrs. Max Marcovitch and Julian Samuels, who were on March 26th last in the county judges' criminal court for Hastings, convicted with the theft of fowls at Belleville have lost their appeal at Osgoode Hall and a new trial was refused yesterday.

The divisional court's decision hinged on the meaning of the word "verdict" as to whether that meant a trial without a jury.

The divisional court held that it did not and that hence no subsequent evidence could be heard and that only the Department of Justice could hear it.

Accordingly an appeal to the Minister of Justice is pending.

It is said the counsel for the men has discovered new evidence in the case.

Mr. W. C. Mikel represented the accused in the divisional court and Mr. E. Bayley, K. C., the Attorney-General.

JUNIOR RED CROSS BEGUN AT QUEEN VIC. School Organization Follows Along Lines Laid Down by Red Cross Society

At the organization meeting of the Junior Red Cross Society, of Queen Victoria Public School, the following officers were elected for the year: President—Raymond Bushard.

Vice-President—Ethel Adams. Sec. Treasurer—Lorne Ridley.

Five Councillors were elected to represent the five senior rooms—Ruth Empson, Alice McIntosh, Arthur Jackson, Julia Haslip, Ethel Matthews.

If the enthusiasm shown at the organization meeting can be taken as an indication, the society will be a live one indeed.

MAKE ALBERT BOYS' SCHOOL

Christian Guardian in Article on College Here Lets out the Secret

NEW BUILDING GOES ON Expect to be Ready for Use in Two Years' Time Says Guardian

The following written by G. J. Trueman, M.A., Ph. D., assistant secretary of education of the Methodist Church, on Albert College of this city appeared in this week's Christian Guardian.

Albert College is one of the older educational institutions of our Church, having been established by the Methodist Episcopal body in 1857, ten years before Confederation.

After the union of the Churches in 1883, it gave up its university powers, and became affiliated with Victoria College.

The college is now giving academic work through senior matriculation and provides good courses in music, business and art. It was one of the first of our schools to engage a man to devote his whole time to religious education, and now provides definite religious instruction for all academic students.

Albert College also gives the preliminary course in theology, as required by the Methodist Church for probationers. This brings to her halls a group of older men who are preparing for the ministry, but not yet able to attend a regular theological college.

Their presence at Albert in comparatively large numbers, has a fine steadying effect on the student body, and gives the boys an older appearance than in most other secondary schools.

Under the inspiring leadership of Dr. E. N. Baker, Albert College is preparing to erect new buildings and carry on her work in a larger way.

The City of Belleville has given the college a fine site of fifty acres a little west of the city, and on a lake front. It is now planned to start the new buildings this summer and have them ready for occupancy in two years' time.

With the exception of Mount Allison Academy, at Sackville, the Methodist Church has no boys' school doing the work of secondary education. The Ontario Ladies' College at Whitby and Alma College in St. Thomas are girls' schools, but there is not under the direction of our Church any complementary boys' school in the same territory doing similar work.

There has been a growing feeling in the Church that while co-educational schools have an important place in any system of education, there should also be colleges for boys alone.

Albert College is erecting an entirely new plant, and as the Ontario Ladies' College is doing successful work in the same Conference, it has been felt necessary that the new Albert with advantages become a boys' school.

This question was brought up at a recent meeting of the Board of Management and after full discussion it was decided to make the change.

Probably no school of its kind has done better work than Albert College, or is better or more favorably known among the Methodist people of Canada. It is to be hoped that the college will take over into its new home a large number of the old students and staff in order that the spirit and traditions which have been characteristic and powerful may continue to exert their quiet, but effective, influence throughout all time.

Among the members of the present staff is Miss Ethel Gardner, B.A., Dean of the Ladies' Residence and instructor in modern languages. Miss Gardner has been at Albert for almost half of its history and has not only an admirable record as a teacher, but is loved and respected by thousands of students, who have come directly under her influence.

WEDDINGS

VANDERWATER—O'HARA. MADOC, June 1.—(By Mail).—A very pretty wedding was solemnized on June 1st at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Madoc, when Miss fourth daughter of the late Mr. Benson of Ottawa was married to Lt.-Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O., commanding officer of the Argyll Light Infantry, Belleville, formerly second in command of the 2nd Battalion C.E.F., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanderwater, Foxboro. Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, the ceremony was very quiet, only a few of the intimate friends and relatives being present.

Rev. Wm. Higgs of Madoc officiated. The wedding march was played by Miss Minnie O'Hara, sister of the bride, and Miss Beattie Beauty of Tweed sang "Love's Coronation" during the signing of the register.

Col. and Mrs. Vanderwater left immediately after the wedding luncheon on an extended motor trip through western Canada and the northern States. On their return they will reside at Foxboro.

The marriage of Miss Gladys Emma Vermilyea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Vermilyea to Philip Henry Willis, only son of H. T. Willis and grandson of the late Thomas Willis, Church St., was solemnized this morning. The wedding took place at the bride's home, 187 Charles St., by the Rev. Dr. H. Cleaver, pastor of Bridge St. Methodist Church. Only the immediate relatives of the bride couple were present at the ceremony, after which they left for a honeymoon.

GERMANY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION

VARIOUS statistics have been compiled for the purpose of showing Germany's ability to pay reparations levies. Among the most impressive are those dealing with taxation. While the German Government has been protesting that Germany was poverty-stricken and pointing to the deficit in the national balance sheet as evidence of inability to pay, it has been collecting from the German people less than one-seventh as much in taxes as the people of Great Britain are paying.

Table with 2 columns: Country, Taxation. Includes United Kingdom $87.9, United States 56.5, France 34.6, Norway 27.9, Australia 27.8, Denmark 20.4, Holland 18.7, Sweden 18.1, Belgium 16.2, Germany 12.5, Spain 10.6, Finland 10.4, Italy 5.8.

The German people, it is seen from the figures, are bearing practically no war burden in taxation in comparison with the peoples of the Allied nations. The International Financial Conference showed the situation in another way by a comparison of the percentage of national income of principal countries collected in taxation. Figures for eight countries are:

Table with 2 columns: Country, Per Cent. Includes United Kingdom 27, France 18, Italy 13, Japan 13, Germany 12, Canada 11, Australia 9 1/2, United States 8.

There are other corroborative indications of Germany's ability to pay. Three months ago a German newspaper made the calculation that the savings bank deposits of the German people increased by 6,600,000,000 marks in 1918, by 4,500,000,000 marks in 1919, and by 6,250,000,000 in 1920. The mass of the people must be fairly well off when they can afford to lay aside such huge sums. And at the same time Germany is importing heavily of luxuries for the use of her people. In six months of last year 1,002,300,000 marks was spent for raw silk imported and 1,879,700,000 marks for raw tobacco. In fact, the general run of importations to the country evidence a well-to-do condition.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

THE subject of religious education in schools is a very important one. There is no getting around the fact that a knowledge of God and His teachings should be imparted in the schools. Without such a knowledge education at best is crippled. Discussing this subject, Rt. Rev. Bishop Bidwell in his charge to the Synod of Ontario stated a case for religious education in very clear terms when he observed:

"I feel also bound to call attention to what many acute thinkers believe to be largely the cause of the prevailing indiscipline and lawlessness which are so marked a feature of present conditions, namely, the lack of religious instruction in our public schools. In Ontario school trustees may, if they choose, permit the ministers of religion to gather the children of their own denomination together after school hours in the school house once a week for the purpose of religious instruction. This plan is hardly ever adopted, the drawbacks attaching to it rendering it well-nigh impracticable. They are obvious to anyone with even a limited experience in education. The present school hours are fully long enough for the great majority of children and ought not to be added to for any purpose whatever."

Further, this most important subject is expected to be taught to minds jaded with their secular studies, at the sacrifice of their well-earned recreation and by a teacher who might have little skill in interesting at one and the same time a number of children of different ages and intelligence. Probably not very many children would attend, but those who from parental or other pressure were induced to do so would most likely acquire a marked dislike for a subject pursued under such unpropitious circumstances. In any case, one hour a week is quite inadequate for the purpose in view.

That frequent and systematic religious instruction is a necessary and essential part of any education really worthy of the name I am convinced by experience as a teacher which extended over many years. It is the only foundation for moral and ethical training, if that training is to be of any permanent value. It should be in the hands of the regular teachers and should occupy a prominent and important place in the curriculum. The present theory seems to be that the state is concerned only with secular education so-called, and that it is the business of the churches to provide religious instruction through their Sunday schools. This theory I believe to be fundamentally wrong. The bad effects of its application are visible on all sides. I am well aware that denominational difficulties are said to stand in the way of any change. But these difficulties are by no means insuperable. There is a sufficient amount of common ground amongst all who profess and call themselves Christians to enable a valuable syllabus of religious instruction to be drawn up, which all would accept while a conscience clause would afford adequate protection to those whose parents did not wish them to receive such training. The immense advantage of this plan would be that it would ensure a religious training for practically all our future citizens, many of whom at present grow up with very little or none, to the great detriment both of themselves and of the state."

WHERE WOMEN RULE

THERE is at least one small prairie town in the American west which, if it ever had a "Main street" after the famous fictional model and had slipped into the rut of narrow thinking, has evidently determined to burn the bridge of any such association behind it and burst forward into a positive leap of new progress. When the votes of the municipal election were counted in Thayer, Kansas, it was found that an entire woman's ticket had been swept into power, and the local government of the village, containing some 400 souls, will therefore for the next year be directed by two widowed grandmothers, three housewives and a lady telephone operator. Sociological data may now be enriched with the knowledge that in this unique administration there will be in the office of mayor a widow with three children and eight grandchildren, all doubtless anxious to draw pictures and cut paper dolls on and in the municipal stationery.

DECORATION DAY OF W.O.W.

Grave of Deceased Sovereign is Covered With Flowers On Sunday afternoon the customary ceremony of decorating the grave of a deceased Sovereign, Henry J. Luscombe, who died in August 1903, was performed. Owing to the fact that the local Camp has recently re-organized the ceremony was carried out quietly in the presence of some near relatives. The following of Belleville Camp No. 142 attended and performed the ceremony: J. H. Hanna, E. T. Burnett, M. F. Armstrong, T. G. Wells, O. G. Simpson, W. S. Gerow, F. C. L. Yard, G. A. Taylor and C. B. Sherry. The decorations consisted of a beautiful wreath inscribed in the centre "W.O.W." and a splendid bouquet of white carnations.

TANTALUS AND NIOBE.

From The London Advertiser. According to Greek Mythology Niobe was the daughter of Tantalus and wife of Amphion, King of Thebes. She was proud of her children and provoked Apollo and Diana, who slew them all. Niobe herself was changed by the gods into stone. Her father Tantalus met with an even more terrible fate. When he arrived in the lower world he was punished—it is not very clear what for—by being placed in the midst of a lake, whose waters reached to his chin, but whenever he attempted to drink he found his thirst, while over his head hung branches laden with the choicest fruits, which likewise receded whenever he attempted to grasp them.

A BAD SKIP

Westminster Gazette. I regret to say that a detachment of the band of the Coldstream Guards, playing in the Guildhall on the occasion of Prince Hirohito's visit was guilty of a serious faux pas. When the Lord Mayor arrives at the Guildhall in full state, with march-bearer, sword-bearer, City Marshal, and many other attendants, it is customary for whatever band is performing in the gallery to play the march from "Scipio." I have never known any departure from this practice. To-day, however, the band went on gradually playing the music which it had begun some minutes before the Lord Mayor and Crown Prince of Japan appeared. The music was that of "Chin Chow," and the Mayor part advanced to the accompaniment strains of—"The March of the Robbers!"

MAN'S POCKET CAPACITY.

Chicago Journal of Commerce. An Eastern contemporary sees the ridiculousness of the waistcoat—the president's leading. It has been retained for many years merely because of its pockets. Men are fond of pockets as women are of silk stockings. In his waistcoat there are pockets in their trousers—two side, two hip, and one small watch pocket, and sometimes five in their waistcoat, and from five to seven in their coat. What does a man do with fifteen pockets? In his coat he carries his pocketbook, keys, tobacco and pipe, spectacles, handkerchief, handkerchiefs, in his waistcoat there are pencils, fountain pen, watch, nail equipment, emergency medical tab, chewing gum, odds and ends; in his trousers are loose change, pen-knife, keys extra handkerchiefs and glasses. When he loses his waistcoat and his four pockets he is much put to it to dispose of the essentials it carries.

Wife of A. A. Holland, Now Living at Napanee, Must Take Child to Court

TORONTO, Ont. June 8.—A. A. Holland has obtained from Mr. Justice Middleton at Osgoode Hall a writ of habeas corpus, returnable tomorrow, requiring his wife, now said to be at Napanee with their daughter, aged eight, to produce the child in court and to have the question of custody decided. In the affidavit filed at Osgoode Hall, Holland makes this statement: Working for the South American Gulf Oil Company he went to South America for the concern, expecting his wife to follow with the little girl. She didn't, so he gave up his prospects of a good position in South America and returned to Ontario. While he was looking for his wife and child a friend sent him some New York newspaper clippings to the effect that Mrs. Holland had obtained a divorce, alimony and custody of the daughter. He claims possession of the child and invokes the authority of the Ontario supreme court. Thirty mills will be the tax rate for the newly-incorporated village of Frankford.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOPE OF NATION

Presbyterian General Assembly in Toronto Considers the Youngsters Progress in Year Grading Systems Now in Practice and Vast Changes Over 10 Years Ago

TORONTO, June 6.—(By Canadian Press)—It is a tribute and true saying that the children of a church are its hope, as it may be said of a nation. This is especially true of the Presbyterian Church which is now holding its annual General Assembly in Toronto. One of the most important reports dealt with by the six hundred Commissioners constituting this Presbyterian body is that of the Board of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies. The importance of the Sunday School as an auxiliary to the Church is had in the fact that the 3390 Sunday Schools of this denomination have an enrolment of over 300,000, thus making a big army of officers, teachers and pupils. The records of this department in 1920, show a healthy increase over the preceding year.

The modern Sunday School is a far different organization than it was even a decade ago. It is more and more being conducted along pedagogical lines with a grading system that is, in part, based upon public school grading. This all makes for increased efficiency in every branch. The Sunday School of today, according to this Presbyterian report, is a much wider institution than its predecessor. There are nearly forty thousand on the Cradle Roll where they are getting their first point of contact with the Sunday School and the Church. The Home Department is a comparatively recent innovation with nearly ten thousand enrolled. Similarly, the organized Bible class has put new life into the adult end of the Sunday School, with 3,290 recorded to date. Several hundred workers attend teacher training courses. Over-half of the four thousand schools are neither graded, nor ungraded lessons. Definite special instruction is given on Missions, temperance, good citizenship and similar subjects.

It is an interesting fact that over eighty per cent of the additions to the membership of any church comes from the children and youth. The fact, therefore, that over seven thousand Sunday School scholars came into full communion with the Presbyterian Church last year is a significant one, especially as it indicates a considerable increase over 1919. The children and youth folk are also relatively generous givers. Their contribution to the Budget and the Rally Day Fund exceeded $130,000. The Young People's Organizations form another important element in any Church. The Presbyterians have three thousand, showing an exceptional increase of nearly a thousand in a year, chiefly due to the organization of older boys and girls into effective working groups under the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training and the Canadian Girls in Training. Some of the other seventy thousand young people are thus distributed to their Societies and Clubs.

There is a new Sunday School day in more ways than one. Children are being interested in the world as well as in their own parish through the dissemination of missionary literature. Many Sunday Schools and classes contribute directly to the support of a home or foreign missionary service where they receive their first training. Several new lines of social service are also drawing support from the Sunday School, affording a splendid opportunity for an expression of apostolic Christianity. The report of the Assembly further revealed a marked degree of expansion and co-operation in the realm of religious education which is more and more becoming co-operative through the Religious Education Council of Canada. The speakers at the Assembly who dealt with this department of children and youth were justified in their optimism based upon a marked advance made along practically every line in this important department of Church life and work.

EXPECT DELAY IN RAIL MERGER

G.T.R. and C.N.R. Staffs Will Carry On as Present Till Premier Returns

SEE MANY DIFFICULTIES

OTTAWA, June 6.—It is expected here today that the appointment of a permanent board of management for the government railways will be allowed to stand over until the return of the premier from England. It was unofficially intimated this morning that such would be the case. The Grand Trunk arbitration proceedings will not be concluded for some time. It is thought and present arrangements for the joint operation of the two systems will carry on until the Grand Trunk is finally taken over. Difficulties surrounding the merger of the two starts, together with other problems to be overcome, are understood to have been responsible for the delay in making permanent appointments.

LARGE GRAIN ELEVATOR DESTROYED BY FIRE

Port Hope.—The large elevator of H. Scullthorpe & Sons, situated on the Midland railway at the south end of John street, was completely destroyed by fire. The fire started in the tower floor near the electric motor and was first noticed by Capt. J. H. Peacock. He phoned Mr. Scullthorpe who at once turned in the alarm and the firemen were soon on the scene. Lines of hose were attached to all the hydrants in that section and the water was thrown on from several different angles. The flames, however, increased and in forty-five minutes the huge building collapsed.

Stricken Central Colorado Today Surveys Havoc With List of Dead and Injured Still Growing—Outside Help on Way—Denver Menaced by Rush of Waters.

PUEBLO, Colo., June 6.—Flood-stricken Central Colorado today surveys the havoc of the most disastrous flood in the history of the Western United States. An accurate estimate of the loss of life and property damage is impossible at this time. With morgues crowded to overflowing, hospitals turning patients to improvised relief stations, and thousands homeless or suffering from exposure. Every effort today was being directed towards alleviation of suffering, leaving the work of survey, and plans of rehabilitation for the attention of outside forces en route to an almost deserted community.

The local Red Cross placed the number of bodies found at approximately one hundred while the number of persons in the temporary hospitals was placed at five hundred.

New Danger on Way. State rangers were sent into Lowlands on the north side of the city early this morning to give warning of the approach of a new flood from the Swallows, sixteen miles west along the Arkansas River. The north and south sides of Pueblo are separated by a bridge, the approaches of which are flooded, so that passage between the two sections is impossible.

Denver Also Flooded. This morning the Platte River here overran its banks and is flooding several blocks of the residential district. Several police squads were sent to the locality, the houses of which are being moved from their homes. Families are being cared for at the City Hall.

DUKE AND DUCHESS SAY THEIR FAREWELL

Bill Parliament Good-bye and Speak Good Wishes to Canadian People

OTTAWA, June 6.—Parliament was able to dispose of the vast remaining items of the business of its session on Saturday and to participate in the customary prerogative ceremonies early in the evening. Senators and Commons after the Duke of Devonshire had read the Speech from the Throne, joined in expressing their regret at his approaching departure from Canada and in bidding a farewell to him, the Duke of Devonshire and his family. The Duke himself, in the speech from the Throne, alluded to the fact that he was addressing Parliament for the last time as Governor-General, and added an assurance that he would always retain a real affection for Canada and its people and watch with interest the progress of the Dominion. Later the Senate and Commons, through their Speakers, presented farewell addresses to His Excellency and the Duchess of Devonshire. The Governor-General replied felicitations and was vociferously cheered by the legislators. Finally their Excellencies shook hands with all the members present.

MARRIED THREE WEEKS—BURIED UNDER ENGINE

Frank Allen, Fireman, Fell Some Way as Mogul and Crushed to Death

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., June 6.—Frank Allen, a fireman, married 3 weeks ago, was killed and Fred Clark, engineer, was badly injured in the wreck of a Grand Trunk train near Bridgeburg, on the afternoon of Saturday. The train, a Summer special from Buffalo, discharged most of its passengers at Ridgeway and Lorraine, two stations before the wreck. The train was slowing down for Sherbrooke when the engine mounted the rails. Allen jumped the same way the engine fell, his body was buried in the mud at the foot of the trestle, with almost the whole weight of the engine on him.

JOE GOT OUT OF JAIL

Subject of Sermon by Rev. Dr. Cleaver at Bridge Street

Jail breaking having been a much talked of subject during the past few weeks, it was somewhat of a coincidence that Dr. Cleaver's story sermon on "Joseph, the Farmer's Boy" had reached the point where after many years in jail he got out without breaking jail. He vividly pictured Joseph's long term in Pharaoh's jail, his gradual promotion to overseer. His success at interpreting the dreams of the chief butler and the baker and then after long years of trial and preparation by God he emerged to interpret Pharaoh's dream and become the first man of that great and Joseph did not use any key but the key of love to break jail and that was the greatest key in the world to gain one's object when properly used.

OPPOSITION HERE TO CHEESE RULE

Compulsory Grading at Montreal is Ordered by Department of Agriculture

MEETING HERE HOSTILE

Well Known Cheese Men of This City Will Take Action to Have Rule Rescinded

Unanimous opposition to the new regulation of the Department of Agriculture to enforce grading of cheese at Montreal for export was expressed at the annual meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board on Saturday. Messrs. J. W. Crews, G. Nicholson, A. Nicholson, M. Sprague, W. S. Cook, J. S. Cook and others spoke in protest against the regulations.

It was at length decided to appoint a committee of R. Mitchell, J. W. Crews, G. Nicholson, A. Moore and F. J. Knight to draft a resolution of protest to be forwarded to the department.

It was further determined to appoint a delegation to consist of all presidents or salesmen of factories to go to Ottawa, at a date to be arranged to wait upon the Minister of Agriculture in reference to the matter. Other boards are expected to take similar action this week.

In Belleville district, in fact all this side of Kingston, factory inspection obtains and the results have been good. Cheese now remains for ten days in the factories before shipment.

Mr. John Elliott gave a talk to the board on the Dairy Standard Act.

Cheese Prices Were Easier on Saturday

Letter to the Editor

Editor Ontario: An organization that has been doing splendid work in musical circles in the city is the Bridge Street Symphony Orchestra. This association, under the capable leadership of Mr. Wm. Sills, has grown after a few months experience until it now numbers about twenty pieces. A considerable number of those taking part have been without any previous musical experience yet they are now able to present a program that is indeed remarkable for finish and expression.

The Symphony Orchestra is non-denominational and has been making no charge whatever for its services and it has graciously assisted other organizations with programs from time to time. The general public should therefore show its appreciation by giving them a bumper audience at the entertainment they are providing.

Folly and Fate

By LESLIE FOX

Her face was turned from him; he would have given a great deal to have been able to see it as she murmured with a shyness that was real or assumed—he could not decide which.

"Well—Chandos?"

He sighed with carefully exaggerated joy.

"That is heavenly!"

"Yes? You were going to ask me something?"

"To be sure. I want to know what were your thoughts at that moment?"

"If I am to speak the truth?"

"Of course. Mr. Olive must always speak the truth."

"Well, I was thinking—"

"Yes, darling? Don't be afraid!"

"I—don't think—I am—afraid—exactly. I was wondering—mind you insisted on having the truth—I was wondering if there are any fish in this big pool just below?"

She laughed and winked wickedly, he wondered whether he liked her better with a soul or without one.

CHAPTER III

It was absurd fooling, meriting beyond a doubt, the punishment it received.

In spite of Mrs. Willoughby's persuasions, Kain kept on his rooms at Edgelyne, though apparently merely for sleeping purposes. He very soon began to feel as "if" as he had ever been in his life, rejoicing in the daily work of his life, in his companion, she and Amy Willoughby, having a tent in a cosy little cove, while Jack and Chandos found a dressing-room amongst the rocks.

Lady Cleveland was too nervous to care for bathing, and Rossdale almost loathed the very sight of the sea, so the others had it all to themselves so far as these things were concerned. There were picnic motor runs, and long walks, with music to wind up the happy days for Olive and Kain, while the others played bridge.

Sometimes, when they were alone, Olive put searching questions concerning the story. When did he get time to write considering he was so often at Thurleston?

He replied with the flimsy excuse that his study of her character must be more complete before he dared venture to hope to make her live in the pages of his next book.

A week passed, and they were still enjoying their dangerous game. To the observers of this little drama Kain's wooing and Olive's coy fencing appeared so real that they never doubted it was so.

Part of its charm for the two actors lay in the fact that they had their secret to themselves; Kain declared that to share it with others would spoil everything, and Olive agreed with him.

So they walked blindly on towards the brink of the precipice carefully prepared for them by Olive, Rossdale and their own folly. Fate playing into Rossdale's hands with a cruelty which does occasionally mark her dealings.

Major Rossdale's leave expired during the following week.

He was fully resigned to leaving his revenge incomplete when he learned that his place at Thurleston was to be filled by Tom Henson, who though born and educated in England, had the good luck to be the only son of an American millionaire. The latter's dollars had purchased an English bride of high birth, from whom Tom inherited good looks and an air of thorough breeding, which, taken in conjunction with his enormous annual income, made him a most desirable prize in the marriage market—a prize which, notwithstanding encouragement from a hundred different directions, persisted in laying itself, with an obstinacy not to be controlled, at the feet of Olive Granger.

Rossdale knew this, and made use of his knowledge before his departure from Thurleston.

"Wish I could be here when Henson comes. I'd like to see his face when he finds you spooning with Miss Granger," he remarked to Kain on his last evening at Thurleston.

Kain was conscious of an unpleasant sensation, suggestive of an ice-cold finger laid on his heart.

"Mr. Henson's imagination must equal your own, my dear Rossdale, before he will be able to 'find' what does not exist. Miss Granger would allow—quoting your very objectionable word—'spooning' from myself or any other man."

The irritability in his voice was due to the double fact that Olive had successfully resisted all his attempts at "spooning," on the ground of her presumed obligations to the man called Tom, to whose coming arrival she had taken care to allude in terms which satisfied Kain—or rather dissatisfied him—that Mr. Henson, a millionaire, and her Tom were one and the same.

"No offence, old man," said Rossdale equably. "And it's very good of you to stick up for Miss Granger. Only it doesn't alter the fact that it looks a bit queer—her open encouragement of you, when some of us are waiting to know when the wedding is coming off."

It had some as far as that, then? Kain groaned in spirit as he thought to perceive where his love of flirtation—concealed under the useful cloak of pretended devotion to the interests of art—had landed him. He had not anticipated becoming genuinely attached to Olive.

Well, fight was left to him—that refuge of cowards—he had had to resort to describe it, as he had been.

He felt thankful that he had not yielded to Mrs. Willoughby's persuasions to take up his temporary abode at Thurleston. He was free to leave the neighbourhood at any moment, without having to invent an excuse for doing so.

"I don't see that my little flirtation with Miss Granger is likely to interfere with the date of Mr. Henson's wedding," he replied, "especially as I am leaving Overseas almost immediately. I cannot afford to be idle any longer, and it is impossible to work in this lotus-eating sort of place."

"Leaving, are you? I had no idea of it. Does Miss Granger know?"

"Really, Rossdale, I fail to see what business it is of yours. I don't wish you to inform Miss Granger of my coming departure. If that is what you mean." The words had no sooner escaped him than Kain realized how completely he had given himself away. Turning savagely on his torturer, he added: "If I have been a fool in imagining she was learning to care for me, it is my own fault. She told me—about—Mr. Henson at the outset of our acquaintance. Now he is good enough to talk of something else."

Rossdale was nonplussed. He could not understand why Olive should have gone out of her way to be able to regard Chandos Kain as anything more than a "staged" lover, she persistently shut her eyes to the truth concerning her actual feeling for him, and decided that they knew next to nothing of what was going on, and had no idea of the tendresse cherished by Henson for Olive Granger.

Kain's announcement, during the evening that he was leaving Overseas almost immediately was startling to all except Rossdale.

"It's no use trying to write in this place," he declared, "and I can't afford to be idle any longer. I shall have to work like a negro for weeks to come, to make up for the time I have lost."

"But I thought you meant to take a holiday," exclaimed Amy, "a whole month, you told me, and you have only been here three weeks."

Jack Willoughby joined his wife in abusing the man of letters for his inconsistency, and even Lady Cleveland had a word or two to say on the subject. But Olive was mute; she could scarcely have spoken had her life depended on it.

Glancing at her, Kain reproached himself for his abruptness, though his heart throbbed with passionate joy as he saw how it was with her; a sense of triumph—sweet, though tinged with a certain bitterness when he thought of the man called Tom.

After dinner Olive stole away to her beloved Rossdale, longing to do alone that which might acquire of her heart concerning the subject, which filled it. Kain followed her and Rossdale let him go, saying to himself:

"I'll give him five minutes, poor chap! I have no grudge against him. I wonder if she really is engaged to Henson, and if that had something to do with her refusing me? But they were not engaged at Scarborough—that I'll swear to!"

"Olive!"

She had known he would come, and she was quite ready for him. The face she raised to him was ghastly white, but there was no moon, so she had no fear of his becoming aware of that fact.

"We—Olive?"

Her tone was careless. He felt as though she had slapped him in the face.

He had joined her with his heart full of pity for her efforts, but he had imagined to himself some big, overgrown, all obstacles—in the shape of a couple called Tom—which she might try to raise up.

As he was silent, she continued: "Don't you think you might have broken the news of your coming absence a trifle more gently? I was utterly dumfounded for a moment. It has been such fun! I hate to think it is all over. Of course, Tom will console me—in a measure. I must tell him all about it. You won't mind, will you? How absurd he will be! Though I dare say he will scold me for daring to call you 'Chandos,' and for allowing you to call me 'Olive.' I must make him see that it was really necessary to the interests of art—from your point of view."

"By-the-by, what about your theory concerning the non-suddenness of things in Nature? We met this morning, you and I, we were together, if I remember rightly, for a couple of hours this afternoon. Yet you did not so much as bid me leaving the neighbourhood. In fact, you offered to row me over to Lone Island to-morrow or next day."

"I—I had a letter—a telegram. No, confound it all! I won't lie to you; I will tell you the truth. You are cold as ice. It will not hurt you. Why should it? It will not hurt you. You will tell me for my comfort that it is all my own fault."

He could not see how, as words of passionate love reached her ears, the rigid lips relaxed sufficiently to frame one sentence, which they refused to utter.

"A woman called Sylvia—Sylvia—Sylvia. A woman called Sylvia!"

"I have been no end of a fool for Kain's voice was full of scornfully repressed anguish, which he tried to turn into self-contempt. "I ought to have known how it would be. As you are prettier than the average woman—and I yours—almost more thoroughly desirable, I ought to have been warned when I found how sympathetic we were—and you and I, how invariably you caught my meaning—and I yours—almost before a word had been spoken by either of us. Yet why should I have been warned more than you? You have escaped, actresses, by some right-locked fingers of hers; they served as a revelation in the darkness and took her into his arms, with an exclamation of relief which sounded strangely like a sob.

"Darling! Darling! How could you be so cruel? If you only knew what torture I have suffered! Olive—sweetheart!"

She shivered, as she yielded for a moment to the exquisite joy of feeling his arms about her. Her head dropped on his shoulder; her quick breath fanned his cheek, and roused his voice saying, "I should advise you to try it, Lady Cleveland. You are not so used to these rocks as Miss Granger is, and the night is so confoundingly dark."

Olive struggled to her feet, calling out unthinkingly:

"Quite right, Major Rossdale! Even I am afraid to venture any further. Stand where you are and hold out your hand, and I will come to you. It is too dark for anything out here. Good-night, Mr. Kain."

Chandos Kain, deserted and repulsed, waited until their voices died away in the distance; then plunged recklessly to the beach below, risking his life at every step.

CHAPTER IV

Something told Kain that his pleading would be in vain when he met Olive next day and implored her to remember only that they loved each other. His words were stumbling and almost incoherent in the intensity of his emotion, but a word escaped him which was not a word escaped her. He was not a word escaped her. He was not a word escaped her. He was not a word escaped her.

"I should be ashamed to own publicly to one of them," she soliloquized miserably, turning on her fingers the magnificent ring which Henson had, long ago, labelled her "appropriated."

To begin with, being decidedly unhappy, she considered I might as well be wretched on cake and champagne, as on dry bread and water. Tom is rich enough to give his wife everything she chooses to ask for. He is so distinguished-looking, that kind of woman out of ten, if not ninety-nine out of every hundred, will be ready to eat for my envy. And he is certainly very fond of me. It is certainly very good of him to let me know that he thinks that you have promised to marry him because you like him well enough to wish to go through life with him the same. I really don't see that you are smaller worth of blame. You would have been content to marry that other him, if it had been possible; and he is not particularly rich, or particularly good-looking, or particularly handsome, or particularly distinguished-looking, that kind of woman out of ten, if not ninety-nine out of every hundred, will be ready to eat for my envy. FIRS INSPECTION FOR CITY POLICE IN NEW UNIFORM

Staff Caps for Senior Officers Replaces the Old "Cop" Helmet SMART, WELL-FITTING

Judge Deroche, Head of Police Commissioners, Has Glance at Local Force

His Honor Judge Deroche, Chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners, and Mayor Hanna...

The sergeant's new uniform is a very natty outfit. It is understood the men will soon also abandon the helmet.

The Commissioners were the most favorably impressed with the showing of the police. Judge Deroche referred in no uncertain way to the confidence the Commissioners had in the department and the administration of justice...

The Judge cautioned the police to be wary of their steps, avoiding the very appearance of evil, for there was a minister of the gospel in the policeman's good name.

Major Hanna added a few words of praise for the chief, his sergeant and his men, and referred to their praiseworthy occupation.

U.S. SAILORS UNRULY CHERBOURG, June 4.—United States sailors brought on a riot here by attempting to force themselves into a cafe against the protests of a woman proprietor.

RAINSTORM FAILS TO MAR HOLIDAY HUGE CROWD SEES MORNING PARADE 7000 PAY WAY INTO FAIR GROUNDS

Races Called Off in View of Bad Condition of Track—R.C.M.P. Put on Musical Ride Twice, While Nip and Tuck Ball Game Pleases Thousands—Details of Big Holiday.

WHEN King's Birthday, 1921, dawned, the outlook appeared gloomy enough for the fourth annual demonstration of the Belleville Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association...

Old Probe almost upset the plans and calculations of the hard working committee of the Veterans. The heavy showers which set in at five o'clock in the morning kept a large number away from the city...

The morning's doings were marred somewhat, but altogether exceeded expectations. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police were a feature of the big parade and lent color and romance to the crowded streets.

Thousands watched the musical ride of the Royal Mounted Police detachment from Ottawa under the direction of Inspector Frere.

The programme was in two sections, one opening and the other closing the afternoon's proceedings.

Walking Figure—Men of Harlech. Waltz—Till We Meet Again. Fox Trot—Tell Me Why. Trumpet Call—Trot.

Trumpet Call—Halt. Lance Exercise—Bridal March. Trumpet Call—Canter March.

Canter—The Campbell's Are Coming. Canter—Ye Banks and Braes. Waltz—Staircase Waltz from the Count of Luxembourg.

Canter—Sir Roger de Coverly. Canter—Bonnie Dundee. Maple Leaf Figure—The Maple Leaf for Ever.

Trumpet Call—Rally. Canter into the line-up for charge. The Storm.

Charge—Roll of drums. Exit—Oh, Canada. Trumpet Call—Prepare to dismount.

Trumpet Call—Dismount. Trumpet Call—Dismiss. Horse Races Withdrawn.

The big attraction of the program which was eliminated was the horse races. The Veterans offered the greatest card ever seen in Belleville and it was a matter of regret that the track was so sodden with rain...

SMALL MARKET IS SEEN TODAY

Strawberries were offered today at 40¢ per box and were eagerly taken up. The market today was much smaller than usual. Prices remained about the same, with the exception of eggs and butter which have advanced somewhat.

Eggs were retailed at 30¢, whole-sals at 26¢-27¢. Butter sold at 36¢ to 40¢.

Poultry sold at from $1.75 to $3.50 per pair. Hay sold at $24 per ton. Potatoes ranged from 50¢ to 60¢ per bag.

Beef hindquarters are quoted at 20¢ per pound. Lamb is quoted at 30¢.

Hogs sell at $3.00 per cwt. Young porkers bring $10 per pair. The grain market is stationary.

Hides show no changes. A Winter onions sold at 5¢ bunch, spring onions 10¢ bunch, radishes, 5¢, carrots and parsnips, 45¢ peck, rhubarb, 5¢.

A Painful Accident. Port Hope—While working out their horses, Dr. J. N. Johnson met with a very painful accident.

Kingston—In further supplementary estimates brought down by the House of Commons, an estimate of $37,543.42 has been granted for the Royal Military College, made up as follows: Royal Military College, further amount required, $35,000; civil pensions, life pension to Robert Allan, $269.52; life pension to Ronald Morrison, $330.00; life pension to Walter Pettigrew, $119.99; gratuity to Fred Emmet, $1,428.00.

Street Pavement in Napanee. Napanee—E. T. Davis, of the Standard Paving, Limited, met the Napanee council on Wednesday evening and stated that his firm were prepared to start some time next week on the paving of Dundas street, and if the delegation wait on the minister of highways to receive what they consider a satisfactory grant from the government, the work will probably commence at the east end of the town some time next week.

MANOEUVRE BRITISH TROOPS TO AVOID CLASH WITH POLES AS GERMANS CONTINUE ATTACK

OPPDLIN, June 4.—Fighting between Germans and Poles continues in the vicinity of Schimschow, about five miles northwest of Gross Strelitz. The castle owned by Count Stalwitz has been burned. The British are gradually reinforcing their troops in the plebiscite area, bringing in fresh men and many tanks.

Manoeuvres in Poland. The inter-allied commission for Silesia is reported to be considering the possibility of the Allied troops here so that clashes between the Poles and the British may, if possible, be avoided.

BELGIUM SHOWS LEAD IN PEACE

Waste no Time in Wondering How to Re-establish its Devastated Areas

DOES WORK; THINK LATER Belgium Today Enjoying More Prosperity Than Most of Her Neighbors

LONDON, June 4.—Belgium is proving a triumphant in the arts of peace as she was in the arts of war. From all quarters reports are being received testifying to the almost incredible progress made since the armistice in the reconstruction of devastated areas, the restarting of industries and the revival of trade that was stagnated.

Before 1914 there were 140,000 inhabitants in the districts now partially destroyed and 123,225 in the totally destroyed area. In 1919, 127,040 persons had returned to the first and 57,812 persons to the second district. In 1920 there were 135,739 persons in the first and 96,568 in the second. Now over the whole area there are only 30,000 few inhabitants than before the war.

In 1914 there were 66,450 agricultural dwellings. At the time of the armistice 16,602 had been partially destroyed, 36,955 completely destroyed and only 10,883 left intact. In 1920, 27,173 dwellings were registered as definitely reconstructed, 18,903 in the course of reconstruction, and 12,628 huts or temporary dwellings had been erected.

Agricultural figures show that in 1914 there were 126,715 hectares of land under cultivation; in 1919, 46,300 hectares were put back into cultivation, and in 1920, 61,476 hectares. The work of restoration has therefore now only 28,936 hectares to restore, and 97,779 are in a condition to be cultivated. As the reconstruction services are able to put in order about 6,000 per month, it will only be a few months before the whole of the agricultural restoration will be complete.

The country is now taking considerable interest in overseas enterprise, and the growing shipping, in conjunction with the increasing foreign trade, adds to this interest, and keeps it well alive. It is reported that the government will shortly issue a colonial loan for 500,000,000 francs in compensation for the public works to be carried out in the Congo.

Not all of Belgium's industries are prosperous. Like other European countries she is feeling the pinch of abnormal economic situation. There is a continuance of the drop of iron and glass prices. Glass makers are apprehensive, fearing that current prices are now below the cost of production. But taking Belgium's industries as a whole, she is enjoying far more prosperity than most of her European neighbors.

CLOWN AND CHILD LAUGHING WITH THE ROBINSON CIRCUS WHICH PLAYS IN BELLEVILLE ON JUNE 18TH.

JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS COMING AGAIN THE GLAD WORD IN BOYLAND.

"John Robinson's circus is coming." For ninety-eight years that statement, spoken by your great grandfather, your grandfather and your father in the days when they looked on the world through youthful eyes, has stood for much in the way of eager anticipation. And now John Robinson's circus is coming to you—coming on Monday, June 13, for parade that forenoon and matinee and night performances.

John Robinson's circus is on its ninety-eight annual tour of the United States and Canada, and this year four long railroad trains will steam into the city on the dawn of circus day—four trains of elephants, jungle beasts, horses, ponies, tents, curious folk, clowns, spangled celebrities, calliopes, bands and innumerable big show wonders. Under the John Robinson seven pole top seating 12,000 people, will be three rings, two stages, a hippodrome track and an aerial maze filled with the foremost aerial stunts of at least a half dozen lands. And for the kiddies there will be clowns and clowns and clowns—fat clowns, lean clowns, tall clowns, squat clowns and assorted clowns—fifty of em. Or course.

The John Robinson street parade, twenty-two city blocks in length, has many novelty sections this year, for a determined effort has been made to make this huge open air spectacle refreshing as well as impressive. There are seven bands, three calliopes, five hundred and fifty horses and four hundred zoo animals in the "march past."

On his 99th birthday Dr. Peebles walked erect only occasionally using a cane; his sight was good although he used spectacles for reading; his hearing "as good as ever"; and his appetite and digestion he declared excellent. His long white beard and hair gave him a truly venerable appearance.

HERE'S HOW TO LIVE 100; DON'T WORRY SAYS MAN 99

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 5.—Dr. James Martin Peebles, physician and author, who not long ago celebrated his 99th birthday anniversary and who wrote a book on "How to Live a Century and Grow Old Gracefully," ascribes his long life in large measure to abstinence from eating animal flesh. Dr. Peebles stopped eating meat when he was 32 years old. He wrote his book on the rules of living when he was 62.

Asked what he considered the greatest contributory cause to his long life he instantly replied: "One cannot strengthen life by living on death. I cannot bear the idea of eating dead cows and dead hogs; and it is not necessary. See how strong are horses and oxen; and they do not live on dead flesh." Other rules he made for himself and which he believed had helped him to reach his advanced years included:

"Go to bed every night at 8 o'clock and get up every morning at six. Never use tobacco. Never use intoxicating liquors. Never complain. Avoid all worry and keep an harmonious mind. Worry is among the worst things in the world. Have a strong will-power. Always look for the new. Keep calm."

On his 99th birthday Dr. Peebles walked erect only occasionally using a cane; his sight was good although he used spectacles for reading; his hearing "as good as ever"; and his appetite and digestion he declared excellent. His long white beard and hair gave him a truly venerable appearance.

Asked what his plans for the future were he replied: "To live a number of years more and to write at least one more book. This will be on the progress of Christianity as it is preached, showing how preachers are leaving hell fire, brimstone, purgatory and many other old-time dogmas behind."

"What a variety of mighty changes since my birth!" he exclaimed.

Dr. Peebles was born March 23, 1822 at Whitingham, Vt. He was educated from Oxford Academy, Chenango County, N. Y., in 1841. He has travelled around the earth five times.

FLOCK OF SNOW GEESSE ARRIVED AT CAPE TOURMENTE

The only known flock of snow-geese in existence, containing more than 5,000 weighing an average of 8 pounds each, arrived recently at Cape Tourment, Quebec, on its annual northern migration from the Southern States. Each year the birds make this spot a stopping-off place on their way to the Labrador coast, and have been known to winter here for more than 40 years. The flock has been closely protected, and the place on their way to the Labrador coast, and have been known to winter here for more than 40 years. Picked Strawberries in May.

Oshawa—Conn. and Mrs. W. L. Law, Oshawa, paid a visit to the home of their son, I. M. Law, whose fine fruit and grain farm overlooks Solina Station on the C.N.R. While there they witnessed the picking of two quarts of ripe strawberries from their son's garden, and were able to bring some home with them for supper. This is the first time that strawberries in quantities such as this have ripened in May in this locality.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-effects of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them will kill all worms, and is safe for all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels unattractive to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert the most beneficial influence in the digestive organs.

JEWEL EXPERTS SMILE AT YARN

Paris Experts Do Not Believe Story of Japanese That Pearls Can be Made

PEARLS LIKE ONIONS! Takes 50 Years for Them to Grow—Who Would Wait That Long

PARIS, June 4.—The fashionable jewelers of the Rue de la Paix are smiling over a report from London that a Japanese pearl expert had discovered a "cultivating process to produce pearls which could not be distinguished from genuine Oriental pearls and which consequently had the same value."

"In the whole history of the world," said Jacques Cartier, a prominent jewel merchant, "no one has ever succeeded in artificially producing precious stones. Man has never been able to imitate the processes of nature."

The pearl, said M. Cartier, is particularly difficult to imitate and any one could distinguish an artificial pearl from the imitation. The real pearl is composed of many concentric skins as an onion. Held up in natural light the center shows dark, with the transparency increasing in perfect gradation toward the exterior.

"The imitation, or 'Japanese pearl,'" is said to be produced by introducing into the living oyster a small stick of mother-of-pearl or a small ball of mearcham, which after several years becomes covered with several skins of the same substance as the real pearl.

"It would probably require 50 years to produce a solid pearl by this method," said M. Cartier, with a smile, "and who wants to feed an oyster 50 years?"

Foreign Missions Big Work of Church

Presbyterians Have 925 Men and Women in Orient and 1242 Native Workers

TORONTO, June 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Presbyterian Church has from its inception been a missionary Church, not only in the matter of Home Missions but equally so in the realm of Foreign Missions.

The fact was emphasized on Foreign Mission Night in the General Assembly, now in session in Toronto; and indeed it is one of the great traditions of the church, when the eyes of the six hundred commissioners are turned from the map of Canada to the map of the world.

The Canadian Presbyterian Church has over 325 missionaries at work in nearly 200 centres in different parts of the world, viz.—at three points in China—Hunan, Shanghai, and South China; in Korea and Formosa; in Trinidad and British Guiana; and in Central India and Ceylon. A small annual grant is also given to the mission work in the New Hebrides, which has a sacred interest to Presbyterians through its Canadian martyr missionaries who founded it.

The foreign mission fields above mentioned are also manned by a native staff of 1242. More and more it is the policy of the home churches to develop and train native workers.

The old conception of the foreign missionary on who devoted himself exclusively to preaching to the illiterate and naked heathen under a palm tree is less true today than ever. In the past the Presbyterian Foreign Mission Report once referred to, calls for missionary recruits along evangelistic, educational, medical, dental, industrial, agricultural, literary, business and commercial lines—a wide range of activities, all will admit and calling for expert qualifications. Twenty-eight volunteers for this department of the Presbyterian programme were received during 1920 and yet even this number fell short of the minimum requirements. Thirty-seven men are needed, urgently and immediately, to fill vacant positions such as ministers, teachers, doctors, dentists, business treasurers and commercial teacher.

The Presbyterian Church is increasingly liberal in its gifts to Foreign Missions, the annual amount being largely increased through the Forward Movement. Thank-offering Fund. The receipts for this service totalled $718,452 in 1920, viz: $545,920 direct gifts and $172,532 from the Women's Missionary Society. In addition, the native contributions amounted to a goodly sum.

For Bitter Strawberries. Until the ripest of our home-grown berries are in season, it is much better to slice large berries in several places, adding sugar and cream to them and serving. When we do this the service part which consists of the salvaged half of berries, has a better appearance, and the blend of sugar and cream is more perfect—you get no sour bits. If the sugared berries are to stand for a time, this is the best way to fix them.

Keeping the Road Open

(National Crop Improvement Service)

"The isolation of country life is becoming largely a myth. Any man who has an automobile, and every live farm family has one, will not ever feel lonely if he can any day in the year travel as many miles as his machine will make both winter and summer."

"Every community is entitled to passable roads at all times," says Mr. R. S. Rider, president Canadian Steel & Wire Co. "The road which is most satisfactory is undoubtedly built of reinforced concrete and one of its great features is that regardless of the weather, these roads can be kept open with the snow plough and are dreaked January thaw or spring breakup will lose their terrors."

"Every town and village ought to have a co-operative arrangement with the farmers to keep the roads open 365 days in the year. Being snow-bound is a relic of the past."

POISON GAS TO STAY AS METHOD OF WARFARE

No Reason Why Carbon Monoxide Should not be Scattered About Says Expert

LONDON, June 6.—Sir William J. Pope, Professor of Chemistry at Cambridge University and president of the Society of Chemical Industry, asserts in "The Chemical Age" that chemical warfare has come to stay and pleads for an open recognition by the government of poison gas research.

He says that in the war poison gas has been fatal and far less cruel than any other weapon; and points out that it would be simple to develop high explosive shells which would liberate large quantities of carbon monoxide, against which all known protective measures are useless.

"No reason," he says, "exists why a chemical should not be made which does not kill but produces focal anaesthesia, causes violent sneezing for a few hours or leads to some form of phlegm, or intoxication which may prove of great military value."

TOBACCO NOT CHEAPER!

Cuban Growers See Little Help From British Financing

HAVANA, June 6.—Cuban tobacco planters say that the suspension by Great Britain of its extra 50 per cent tax on tobacco imports will give little help in the present crisis faced in a recent meeting of planters it was stated that the British market had stocked up heavily and would require little tobacco for some time.

The planters also stated that their efforts to induce the tobacco workers' federations to accept reduced wages of scales so that Cuban tobacco could be put on the market at reduced prices had failed in so slight a reduction of rates that it was considered useless.

MANUSCRIPTS ON SALE CALLED WORLD FAMOUS

Further Portion of Yates Thompson Collection to be Auctioned in London this Month

LONDON, June 6.—A further portion of the world famous Yates Thompson manuscripts is to be sold here at the end of June.

Fifty-eight of the collection of 100 manuscripts have already been disposed of for £130,325 and, by the time the whole collection has been sold, probably over £250,000 will have been realized.

The most interesting specimen to be sold is the smallest manuscript in the collection, dated 1536. It is a costly little golden case decorated with white enamel and pink stones, like garnets, and is arranged to hang from a chair. It is the Crudo or "protestation" of the Emperor Charles V. of Rome.

The volume consists of 29 leaves, each one inch by one and three-quarter inches. The five leaves contain a prayer to the Emperor's guardian angel.

Radial Service to Buffalo.

TORONTO, June 6.—Testifying before the Ontario Radial Commission today, Thos. A. Wilkinson, Hydro Engineer, said the Hydro-Electric Commission was proposing a through radial service to Buffalo, but so estimated and yet been given as to rentals for the use of the international bridge.

On June 6 Sarnia ratepayers will vote on a by-law to spend $95,000 for waterworks purposes.

SEES FARMER AND WIFE AS BUSINESS PARTNERS; HELPS BOTH TO SUCCESS

A MOST progressive young western woman is Miss Mary P. McCallum, who has just been appointed to the very important post of assistant secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture.

For four years, Miss McCallum was associate editor of the official organ of the United Farmers of Manitoba and Alberta and the Saskatchewan Grain Grower's Guide. In this paper, which is so widely circulated among the farmers of the West, she edited the woman's section, known as "The Countrywoman," and wrote on some of the economic and political questions that are now engaging the attention of the thinking women of the farm. It takes no mean ability, indeed, to keep pace with the intellectual demands of the farm women, but Miss McCallum has proved herself equal to the occasion. She is quite conversant with the intricacies of the tariff, the Dominion Election Act, the initiative, referendum and recall, the amendment Act, and proportional representation.

Born at Oak Lake, Manitoba, Miss McCallum started out as a teacher in the rural and city schools. It was while she was teaching school in Saskatoon that she was induced to resign her position and accept the editorship of the women's page of the Regina Daily Post. Although she had had no previous newspaper experience, she made a success of her work from the very beginning. Her journalistic prowess attracted the attention of "The Grain Grower's Guide," and she was invited to join the editorial staff of that progressive paper. Her work with the Canadian Council of Agriculture, it is expected, will be instrumental in forming a woman's department of the Council, corresponding to the departments of the affiliated provincial organizations. Anything that has to do with the advancement of the interests of women is of keen interest to Miss McCallum.

"I think I really had my first initiation into public work in the Saskatoon Equal Suffrage League, of which I became secretary," she said. "It certainly gave me a different conception of my duties as a citizen."

Miss McCallum is not only a writer, but also a very convincing public speaker. She addresses many women's clubs, and she has spoken all through the West on the various social organizations. Her work is so vital a part of women's activities, that she is proud of the farmers' movement in that it accords women an equal status with men.

"In our movement," she explained, "we are trying to get away from the idea of sex, and to judge an individual solely by his or her qualifications. The man and woman on the farm are in as close partnership as two business men would be, and what affects the interests of one necessarily affects the interests of the other. One of the things we advocate in our new national policy is the opening of seats in parliament to women on the same terms as men."

A word about the Canadian Council of Agriculture to which this young woman has been elected. This is the federal body of the organized farmers. It was formed in December, 1909, at Toronto, on the occasion of the annual convention of the Dominion Grange. Its first secretary was the present Premier of Ontario. After him came two western men, and then Mr. Norman Lambert of Winnipeg, with whom Miss McCallum is acting as assistant secretary. At the session of the Canadian Council of Agriculture in December, 1916, a certain amount of reorganization was effected, which resulted in the enlargement of the Council. It is now composed of the executive officers of the United Farmers of Alberta, the Alberta Co-operative Elevator Company, The Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, The Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, The Grain Growers' Guide, The United Farmers of Ontario, and the United Farmers' Co-operative Company of Ontario, representing in all over 90,000 farmers. The headquarters of the Council are at Winnipeg. Each provincial association is entitled to a representation of five members, of which one is a woman.

With her clear, vigorous mind, and independent mode of thought, Miss McCallum may be counted upon to represent the interests of the women in the Council. She is not afraid to take her stand for what she believes to be principle and to advocate forms which she thinks are vital. One of the reforms for which she is a status for Canadian women under the Dominion Election Act. As that Act now stands, the foreign-born woman may, by going through a certain process, obtain a certificate that will entitle her to vote, but she also a higher status than a woman born in Canada, resident in Canada and married to an alien."

"It will be interesting to watch the developments, from the women's end, that take place in the Canadian Council of Agriculture, now that Miss McCallum has become so closely associated with it."
