HOUSE AND HOME

A house is built of bricks and stones,
of sills and posts and piers;
But a home is built of loving deeds that stand a thousand years.
A house, though but an humble cot,
within its walls may hold
A home of priceless beauty, rich in Love's eternal gold.

Wedding Bells

Hull—Hockey.

At the rectory, on Wednesday, June 30, the marriage of Mrs. Gladys Hockey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Spence, Union Valley, and Mr. Eric Hull, two popular young Athens residents, was solemnized by the Rev. V. O. Boyle, M.A.

The happy event was quietly performed at three o'clock, the contracting parties were unattended.

The bride wore a dress of grey silk crepe de chine and georgette with coat and hat to match.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hull left for a short honeymoon, and since their return have taken up residence on Main St.

The Reporter joins with their many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous married life.

WRIGHT—ROWSOME

The marriage took place quietly in the Methodist Church, Athens, at noon on June 30th of Miss Betty F Rowsome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rowsome, Athens and Dr. H. Garner Wright only son of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Wright of Seattle, Wash. Rev. T. J. Vickery officiated at the ceremony which was attended by immediate relatives and friends. After the ceremony a Buffet Luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, the room being decorated with ferns and daisies.

The bride's going away suit was a navy blue tricoline with hand embroidered vestee and Bulgarian French trimmed hat to match. Dr. and Mrs. Wright motored to Brockville, leaving at 2:34 p.m. via transcontinental for Seattle, after which they will go to Fern-dale Ranch, Oregon, until the first of October, they will then reside in Seattle.

RECEPTION TO REV. S. F. NEWTON AND FAMILY.

On Friday evening an informal reception was tendered the Rev. Newton and family at the Methodist church.

The chair was taken by Mr. H. E. Knowlton, recording steward. In an able address he welcomed Mr. Newton to his new field of labor. The heads of the various organizations of the church also extended a hearty welcome to Mr. Newton and family, to which Rev. Mr. Newton very suitably replied.

A colleague of the Rev. Mr. Newton, Rev. Berton Brown, of Montreal, gave an address.

Programme.

These addresses were interspersed with the following musical numbers: Vocal solo—Marion Robinson. Motion song—Hillis children. Piano duet—Misses Cross and Cornell.

And a recitation by Miss Margaret Serviss.

At the close of the programme light refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Everette Rowsome are this week visiting friends in Montreal.

DR. WARD The Specialist

75 NIAGARA SQUARE, BUFFALO, NEW YORK.

Men, Are You in Doubt?

As to your trouble? Have you some chronic eruption that is stubborn, has resisted treatment? Is there a nervous condition which does not improve in spite of rest, diet and medicine? Are you going down hill steadily? ARE YOU NERVOUS and dependent, weak and debilitated; tired mornings; no ambition—lifeless; memory gone; easily fatigued; excitable and irritable; lack of energy and confidence? Is there falling power, a drain on the system? Consult the old reliable specialist.

SYMPTOMS OF VARIOUS AILMENTS.

Weak and relaxed state of the body; nervousness, despondency, poor memory, lack of will power, timid, irritable disposition, diminished power of application, energy and concentration, fear of impending danger or misfortune, drowsiness and tendency to sleep, unrefreshing sleep, dark rings under eyes, loss of weight, insomnia. Dr. Ward gives you the benefit of 29 years' continuous practice in the treatment of all chronic, nervous, blood and skin diseases. The above symptoms, and many others not mentioned, show plainly that something is wrong with your physical condition and that you need expert attention.

Men, why suffer longer? Let me make you a vigorous man. Let me restore your physical condition to full manhood. Don't be a weakling any longer. Make up your mind to come to me and I will give the best treatment known to science—the one successful treatment based on the experience of 29 years in treating men and their ailments.

Dr. Ward's Methods Unrivaled, Thorough and Permanent. Do you realize that you have only one life to live—do you realize that you are missing most of that life by ill health? A life worth living is a healthy life. Neglect of one's health has cost many a man his life.

I have been telling men these things for many years, but still there are thousands of victims who, for various reasons, have not had the good sense to come and get well.

Specialist in the treatment of nervous conditions, nervous exhaustion, backache, lumbago, rheumatism, stomach and liver trouble, acne, skin disease, catarrh, asthma, rectal troubles, piles, fistula and blood conditions.

OFFICE HOURS: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays—10 a.m. to 1 p.m. FREE CONSULTATION EXAMINATION.

Before beginning treatment you must make one visit to my office for a personal physical examination. Railroad fare will be considered as part payment of fee. Canadian money accepted at full value.

MOVING MOUNTAIN

(From Popular Mechanics). When an entire mountain becomes dissatisfied with its location and starts to slide, it means trouble for whatever happens to be in the way.

Anyone who has noticed how even a small slide sweeps everything before it, appreciates the force in a moving mass of earth. When the slide includes a mountain, instead of simply a loose portion of its surface, the movement may be said to be irresistible. If stopped at all, it must be attacked by engineering strategy, for no force will prevail against it.

RELIEF AT LAST

I want to help you if you are suffering from bleeding, itching, wind or protruding piles. I can tell you how, in your own home and without anyone's assistance, you can apply the best of all treatments.

PILES TREATED AT HOME

I promise to send you a FREE trial of the new absorbent, and see the difference from your own locality if you will but write and ask. I assure you of immediate relief. Send no money, but tell others of this offer.

MRS. M. SUMMERS, BOX 2, Windsor, Ont.

Between Cascade locks and Eagle creek, about 45 miles from Portland, stands the Moving Mountain. Although for the last year there has been no movement, and engineers are hoping that they have succeeded in a fight they have made through several decades, in staying its progress, they are not ready to say that the mountain is conquered.

To the layman, however, it looks very much as though the mountain had come out second best in its struggle to glide into the water of the Columbia, and that, from now on, it will remain steadfast in its present location, as a well-behaved mountain should.

There has at no time been anything very precipitate about the movement of this Columbia river peak. It might have gone on indefinitely without attracting attention, if it had not been for the construction of a railroad at its base back in 1880. The engineers who surveyed the line were greatly surprised to notice, after several months, that some action had affected their location stakes.

The change was slight, but sufficient to arouse their curiosity and apprehension. Definite observations were made from month to month, and from these it was determined that the land at this place was sliding toward the Columbia at the rate of ten to fifteen feet a year. At first, it was thought that the disturbance might be confined to a small and localized area. Experiments quickly proved this premise wrong, however.

The Moving Mountain itself borders the river for three-quarters of a mile. Its face is a series of serrations and there are several areas that have no surface outlet. Water gathering in these undrained basins sweeps through the soil, reaching bedrock at a level somewhat below the surface of the river. To this drainage water is added seepage from the river, which flows in over the bedrock where it is exposed along the bank. As a result, the mountain rests on a thin film of water that covers the bedrock under its entire base. The tremendous weight on this thoroughly-lubricated surface causes the movement.

Until recently, surface drainage was depended on to stop this. Efforts were made to drain the low areas, for it was reasoned that if the water did not permeate the mountain, the slide would stop. Surface drainage, however, proved a failure.

The new plan of attack, which has stopped the slide, at least temporarily, consists of a series of drainage tunnels. They were built in 1918. The portals of the tunnels are at about normal high-water level of the river, and have a depth of 50 feet. When the tunnels had penetrated the mountain for some distance drifts were dug at right angles to reach the most advantageous locations.

The tunnels have offered drainage for the film of water that covered the bedrock surface, and a large volume of water has been concentrated in them. As soon as the tunnels were completed last year, the slide movement ended and has not, so far, recurred.

The famous Columbia river highway now parallels the railroad at the base of the Moving Mountain. It had been built only a short time before the slide was stopped and was not affected. If the movement should begin again, frequent changes of the highway, as well as the railroad, would be necessary. However, this is a contingency that is not anticipated, for it is generally believed that the tunnels have solved the difficult permanently.

LOOKS TO SIBERIA

Other Great Gold Fields of World Have Passed On.

The golden sands of the Pactolus, in Asia Minor, have made that little river famous for all time. From that source Croesus, King of Lydia, is said to have obtained much of his wealth.

But the stream was worked until it became barren just as always happens whenever gravel rich in the yellow metal was found. The alluvial placers of California had their day, and, more recently, those of the Klondike likewise—though in the latter district dredges, washing great quantities of material, still are production of one of the progressive grades of the same kind in California literally devours the pebbly banks of streams, contributing 40 per cent. of the present gold output of that state.

Modern methods—particularly the "cyanide process," which makes possible the cheap extraction of gold from low-grade ores—have enormously increased the world's annual production of one of the precious metals, and it seems manifest that at no very distant day there will remain no great deposits of the metal to be discovered.

Even the wonderful mines of the Witwatersand, in the Transvaal, which now contribute two-fifths of the world's total output of gold, have not an indefinite "life" before them. It is reckoned that their resources will be exhausted within fifty years.

With this prospect in view, eyes are being turned in the direction of northern Siberia, where in streams tributary to the Lena river, which empties into the Arctic Ocean; there are extraordinarily rich gold-bearing gravels—the richest, indeed, ever known. One small stream, Bodaib Creek, has yielded nearly two hundred million dollars.

It is predicted that the gold output of that region will eventually equal or perhaps exceed the present production of the Transvaal. But up to now the mining methods adopted have been so primitive as to suggest a prehistoric, and not even a beginning has been made in attacking the gold-bearing rocks.

The problem is one that will engage the attention of experienced gold mining engineers from America, South Africa and Australia, as soon as political conditions in Russia render practicable the development of this great source of future wealth.

Mankind's Debt to Reading.

"Have you ever rightly considered what the mere ability to treat means?" once asked James Russell Lowell, and elaborated his own question: "That it is the key which admits us to the whole world of thought and fancy and imagination? to the company of saint and sage, to the wisest and the wittiest at their wisest and wittiest moments? That it enables us to see with the keenest eyes, hear with the finest ears, and listen to the sweetest voices of all time? More than that it annihilates time and space for us."

Flamingo Nearing Extinction.

The flamingo's happy hunting ground used to be throughout Florida and many lovely members of its family could be met with in the other hot countries. Very few of them are left now, however, anywhere in this country and many bird lovers predict that in a few years more they will have been killed off until they will be extinct.

PROHIBITION COCKTAILS

Though the demise of John Barleycorn is not recent, we may still start off our dinner with a cocktail that is strictly prohibition. The purpose of the real cocktail, to act as an appetizer, is still good in these, and though the old-time "kick" may be missing, the tastiness will tickle the palate.

BANANA COCKTAILS. Select large lemons with good smooth skin, and cut off a slice from the pointed end to make a cup. Scoop out the pulp, and set the shells aside in a cool place while preparing the cocktail. Dice some thoroughly ripe, but not too ripe, bananas, allowing about half a banana for each lemon cup. Press all the lemon juice from the lemon pulp until you get about two-thirds of a banana for each lemon cup. Add more lemon juice if the pulp does not yield enough. Put the juice and bananas together, sweeten to taste and thoroughly chill. Add ice water to make the mixture rather thin, and stir in the lemon cups with straw. The bananas will be left in the juice or removed as preferred.

OYSTER COCKTAILS. Select small but solid grapefruit, and cut each in half, scooping out the pulp. Skin the pulp from one half, cut it in small pieces and set aside in a cool place. Allow the shells to remain in the shell, draining and washing for each cup. Make a sauce by mixing the juice of one lemon and the half a grapefruit with a few drops of Worcestershire sauce, a drop of tabasco sauce, salt and pepper, with a tablespoonful of catsup. Put this in a small bowl, and set it in the grapefruit cup, pile the grapefruit pulp and oysters around it and set in a bed of ice, or served thoroughly chilled.

AN IMPROVED FRUIT COCKTAIL. After cutting the fruit for the regulation fruit cocktail, it can be greatly improved by pouring over it the juice from maraschino cherries, branded peaches—if you are fortunate enough to have any grape juice or cider.

WOMENHOOD and Motherhood

London, Ont.—"For many years Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been my most favorite medicine. I have used it for the ailments pertaining to womanhood and before my marriage. It has always proved excellent. I have also recommended it to many friends who have taken it with good results. It is the best medicine I know of today for women or girls who are weak and suffering." MRS. WM. STEEL, 179 Richmond St.

SAVED HER LIFE. St. Catharines, Ont.—"I was in a very miserable condition when I first took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription sixteen years ago. I suffered and was extremely nervous and weak. Although I was a young woman my doctor thought I was going through the critical stage of life, but after using these medicines my strength returned, another child was born, and from that time on my health was perfect and my weight increased. I really believe that Dr. Pierce's medicines saved my life, and I shall always praise them as long as I live." MRS. ELIZA OVERHOLT, 43 Broad St.

Favorite Prescription should have the full confidence of every woman in Canada because it contains no alcohol and no narcotics. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine were injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package Tablets.

Worth Knowing. When cleaning windows, mirrors and paint add a few drops of paraffin oil to the water. This, you will find makes them clean much more quickly and easily; also gives a brighter polish.

The best labor-saving device is the simple life. Make use of as few things as possible, but let them be the best of their kind. Good furniture is the easiest to clean and needs least repairing. Good household linen and personal clothing needs little mending. Good and simple food needs least work in preparing, and keeps one in good health, thereby avoiding many sickroom labors. Don't collect useless trifles or hoard things that will "come in useful some day." You will then have room for "a place for everything and everything in its place." Don't be tempted to buy silly trifles that save your money till you can afford something worth having; it pays best in the end.

There are two methods of preventing steamy windows and so saving much unnecessary window-cleaning. They are cheap and worth a trial:

- 1. Keep a box of lime in the window.
- 2. Polish the glass all over with a cloth on which has been sprinkled half a teaspoonful or more of glycerine according to the size of the window.

SALTED ALMONDS.

Prepare Your Own—Here's How It's Done. First select the nuts. Any good quality may be used. The paper-shelled ones generally have thinner shells and larger kernels.

Put over fire in cold water to cover bring water to a boil, drain almonds, through colander, then let cold water flow over them, or immerse colander for a moment in very cold water. Place almonds immediately between coarse towels and rub of brown skins.

Thoroughly dry the blanched almonds and coat with olive oil by shaking in a bowl or other vessel with two tablespoonfuls of oil to one cup of the nuts. Brown in pan over fire, stirring or shaking to get an even color; or spread the nuts on a baking sheet, and set this on the rack of a hot oven. Drain on absorbent paper.

While still hot from the fire-fit fine table salt over the nuts in the proportion of one tablespoonful to a cup of nuts.

If oil, salt and blanched nuts are mixed, and let stand overnight in the refrigerator, the salt will penetrate the nuts, instead of being on the outside only. Or the quicker method may be employed of soaking the blanched nuts in very strongly salted butter and then draining thoroughly.

Mixed Metaphors.

"Begonia" is some of the best Irish bulls are English," said an Irish M.P. not long ago, and he was right.

When the Gladstone umbrella was all the rage, an opposition candidate was heard to declare: "We, too, have an umbrella, and its voice will soon be heard; and when it speaks, it will speak with no uncertain sound."

Quite as good was the assertion of an M.P. who said: "I see a vision before mine eyes, I see the car of progress rolling along in its majesty, gnashing its teeth as it rolls."

A better known M.P. is credited with the statement that "the British lion, whether it is roaming the deserts of India or climbing the forests of Canada will not draw in its horns nor retire in its shell," while another speaker averred that "all along the untrodden paths of the future we can see the hidden footprints of an unseen hand."

It was a politician, too, who some time ago declared that "the Government kept cutting the wool off the sheep that lays the golden eggs."

Another speaker once stated that the Union of England and Ireland would turn barren hills into fertile valleys.

But one M.P. speaking on total prohibition, rather overstepped the mark when he said: "The glorious work will never be accomplished until the good ship Temperance shall sail from one end of the land to the other, and with a cry of 'Victory' at each step she takes, shall plant her banner in every city, town and village of our country."—Tit-Bits.

Hawaiian Idols Unearthed.

Of the two old Hawaiian idols lately found concealed in the earth at Hookeapu, Pankukalo, one, a female idol, is in a fairly good state of preservation. The idol is supposed to be that of Kihowahine, the Undine of Maui myths. Her haunts are the springs at Pankukalo, the Kauhaha Pond, and the matchless pools in the wooded glens around Pihilo, Makawao.

In some of the latest legends woven around her she is reputed to have lured two sailors at different times on a merry chase only to see her disappear in one or another of the deep, clear water pools among the wooded glens of Pihilo. One, a doctor, ended his aimless wanderings to her glen-wood haunts by becoming a paralytic, the other, a woodcutter, never ceased to describe the charms of this wonderful woman with the golden hair, always beaming to elude his embrace, but ever beckoning him on to her lair among the vines and trees and pools and crags of the glens about Pihilo.

Smyrna cable says: The Greek forces engaged in the offensive from the Smyrna district against the Nationalist troops of Mustafa Kemal Pasha are occupying a curving line on a radius of about 100 miles from Smyrna proper, according to to-day's official communique from Greek army headquarters, while behind this front strong parties are clearing the territory.

Smyrna, June 2.—Official communication issued at the Greek army headquarters to-day says, with regard to the fighting against the Turks:

"The very heavy enemy losses at Ala-Shehr (ancient Philadelphia) on June 25 have been confirmed. More than 2,000 dead were counted in the Gedifthal Valley of Hermos. A large number of the prisoners taken had saber wounds. Our cavalry pursued the enemy into the Gedifthal Valley.

"A large part of the inhabitants who fled into the interior are returning to Akhisar and Philadelphia, and asking the protection of the Greek army.

"In the interior Christians and Mussulmen, without distinction, have been robbed by bands of followers of Mustafa Kemal Pasha."

NO BRITISH OBLIGATION.

London, June 2.—No obligations have been entered into by Great Britain to give assistance to the Greeks in their operations against the Turkish Nationalists, Premier Lloyd George stated in the House of Commons to-day.

The Premier declared that the Nationalist army was recognized as a combatant army, subject to the laws of war.

GABY'S JEWELS.

Brought $460,000 at Auction in Paris.

Paris cable says: The jewels of the late Gaby Deslys were auctioned to-day. They brought $460,000. Some of the choice pieces, which excited lively bidding, were, with the prices they fetched:

- The famous necklace of diamonds with white and black pearl drops, set in a platinum band, $84,000. It was bought by one of the dead dancer's best friends, Harry Pilcer.
- The necklace given to Gaby by ex-King Manuel of Portugal, $70,800
- A string of pearls, 92,400
- A string of 69 pearls, 47,600
- A string of 150 pearls, 56,000
- The platinum and diamond necklace, 51,000
- A huge diamond pendant, 11,200
- An emerald set in diamonds, 19,400
- A belt with seventeen $20 gold pieces was brought for $326 by Harry Pilcer, who announced: "I shall break it up, so that it will never grace another woman."

STILL HOPEFUL.

London cable says: With a view to forcing the Government to disclose its complete financial proposals for Ireland, the Opposition members in the House of Commons to-day moved amendments seeking postponement of the clause in the Home Rule Bill repealing the 1914 act. The amendments, however, were rejected. Premier Lloyd George, taking part in the debate, was again conciliatory toward Ireland, but insisted that the body now would be dissatisfied with the 1914 act and that it was impossible to grant the demands of the Irish extremists. He was convinced that things would improve in Ireland when the genius and common sense of her people realized that the British people would never consent to the extreme demands of the Sinn Feiners and that the United States would not support the demand for an independent Ireland.

WHY SUGAR STAYS DEAR

Havana, Cuba, June 2.—

Cuban grain growers, sugar mill owners and brokers, claiming to control the sale of 2,180,000 sacks of unsold sugar, were on record to-day as definitely pledged not to offer any more sugar for sale until the price had reached 24 cents a pound, the level reached during the last half of May.

This decision was reached at a mass meeting held last night.

WANT EMPIRE WIRELESS LINES

London, June 2.—(By Canadian Associated Press)—The Imperial Wireless Telegraph Committee recommends the establishment of a system of wireless throughout the empire. Two wireless chains are outlined in the report, one to Australia, with intermediate stations, and the other to South Africa, also with intermediate stations. A similar communication with Canada must be established, but this can only be done after the conference has estimated the cost, which will be about one million and a quarter pounds. Marconi proposals were rejected chiefly on account of the prohibitive cost, and as creating undesirable monopoly.

NEW RAID INTO SOVIET RUSSIA

Copenhagen, June 2.—Private advices from Kovno, Lithuania, say that Alexander J. Guchkoff, Russian Minister of War and Navy in 1917, and associated with General Yudenitch in the offensive against Petrograd last fall, is concentrating near Koenigsburg a volunteer army of 6,000 well armed men for a new invasion of Russia.

SOUTH CHINESE TROOPS' VICTORY

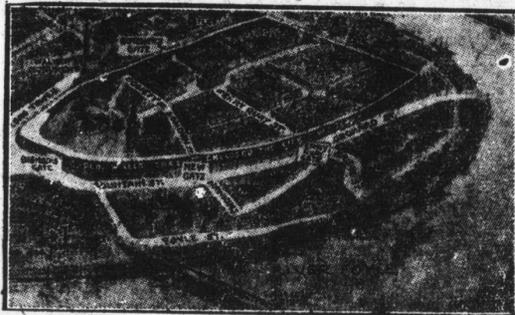

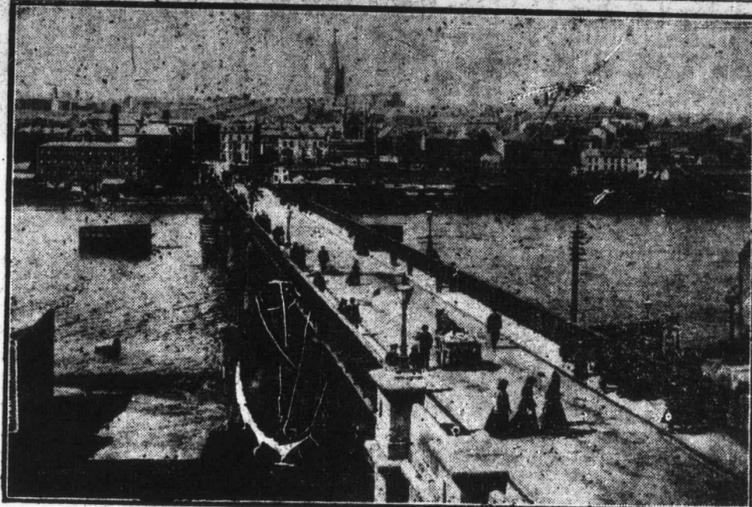

Honolulu, T. H., June 2.—Troops of South China have captured Yuen Chow, a stronghold of the North China forces, after several days of severe fighting, according to a special cable from Tokio.

Two prominent farmers of South Dorchester, Stanley and George Simpson, brothers, were seriously injured near Lyons, when a barn they were tearing down collapsed and the two men were buried beneath the debris.

THE DEFENDERS OF KILMALLOCK BARRACKS.

WHERE COMPARATIVE PEACE REIGNS AGAIN

A general view of Londonderry and, below, a drawing which provides a key to the photograph. The spire of St. Colombe's Cathedral in the background of the photograph, is just west of London street in the drawing. All the fighting occurred outside the old city walls, Longtower street, Bishop's Gate and Bishop's street, which emerges from the gate, and the district between Fountain and Foyle streets being the principal scenes of strife.

Avlona, With Garrison, Captured by Albanians

Belgrade, June 2.—A report that the Albanian city of Avlona has been captured from the Italians by Albanian insurgents has been received by the newspaper Prava in a despatch from Uskub, southern Serbia, the report adding that the entire Italian garrison was taken with the town.

SEES A SLUMP IN SUGAR NEAR

Overstocked U. S. Dealers Want to Unload.

New York, June 2.—Efforts by overstocked dealers to unload their sugar holdings are tending to bring a slump in sugar prices, according to Armin W. Riley, head of the Flying Squadron.

Applications from candy makers, soft drink manufacturers and bakers for permission to sell some of their surplus stocks have been made to Mr. Riley's office. Brokers who are over-loaded are seeking permission to make resales within the trade. These, Mr. Riley said, will be denied. "They say that forbidding them to make reasonable resales inside the trade is spoiling their chances to make good profits, but such transactions will not be allowed," Mr. Riley said. "Approving resales would enable the brokers to pass the sugar from one to another and keep up prices."

TAX STAMPS AUG. 1.

New System Not to Start Before Then.

Ottawa, June 2.—Final decision has been made by the Inland Revenue Department not to begin the collection of the new taxes by means of revenue stamps until August 1. In the meantime retailers will have to make remittances to the nearest Inland Revenue Office according to the instructions already issued. Revenue stamps for denominations from one cent to 10 cents, for 13, 15, 20, 25, 30 cents and every multiple of 10 cents up to $1 and for $1, $2, $3, $4, $5 and $10, are already printed, but it is felt that to get them in sufficient quantities for distribution throughout the length and breadth of Canada, so that they would be available for every business man and in his hands would require until August 1.

The stamps are of different colors, so that clerks can distinguish them quickly, and there are many denominations that it is possible to affix the exact amount of the tax in the majority of cases with either one or two stamps. There are a few exceptional cases where three stamps would be needed. The stamps of higher value would be useful in the case of stock transfers and the selling of expensive articles, such as a seal skin coat. On a sale of $1,000 the tax would be $20, and two stamps of $10 each would have to be affixed to the invoice. The stamps are uniform in design, bearing the bust of His Majesty, with the words "Inland Revenue" inserted above the head, and the words "excise tax" below, while the denomination of the stamp is shown on either side.

After considering all methods of cancellation, including various kinds of indelible pencils, it has been decided that the only satisfactory method will be by means of a punch. This will have to be supplied by the department at cost to all merchants, and every stamp will have to be cancelled by means of it after being affixed to an invoice or sales receipt.

Britain, through its Ministry of Health, is preparing to spend more than $250,000,000 on false teeth, which will be supplied to the free dental clinics that are being established in all parts of the Kingdom. Inquiries from all over the continent are coming to Toronto about cancer treatment.

SINN FEINERS PLAN CONTROL

Commandeer Transport If Trains Are Stopped.

Irish Ship Stops When Police Board It.

Dublin, June 2.—The Sinn Feiners are preparing for a possible stoppage of all railway traffic and arranging to commandeer motor cars, organize a food transport system and institute regular control. Up to the present the trains are running regularly, except when police, soldiers or munitions are known to be aboard. At a meeting of the Corporation of Dublin to-day the Labor members, who had the general approval of the other members, declared that the railwaymen would remain steadfast in refusing to operate trains carrying munitions or soldiers. The corporation passed a resolution creating committees in certain areas to meet the famine threatened by the stoppage of the railways. Ald. McDonough said Dublin was rapidly approaching a state of siege, and that the machinery must be created to meet the crisis.

SHIP OFFICERS COPY TRAINMEN.

Bantry, Ireland, June 2.—Refusal of the trainmen to work trains carrying soldiers and police has been followed by the officers of the Bantry Bay steamer Lady Elsie. When the vessel was ready to start for Castletown, Behaven twelve armed police came aboard and refused to leave, whereupon the officers declined to man her. She is now at the pier with police aboard.

HEAVY DAMAGE AT FERMOY.

Dublin, June 2.—Lamage amounting to hundreds of pounds was caused by rioters and window smashers at Fermoy last night. The inhabitants attribute the demonstration to soldiers, who left their barracks on hearing of the snapping of Brig-Gen. Lucas on Saturday night. Attempts to burn houses were frustrated.

POLAND FEARS THE BOLSHEVIKI

Prague, June 2.—Poland is preparing to withdraw its forces from Eastern Galicia, because of the fear of a Russian Bolshevik invasion, according to the newspaper Norodni Listy.

WEST IN NEED OF 50,000 MEN

Winnipeg, Man., June 2.—Fifty thousand farm laborers will be required to harvest the 1920 crop of the Prairie Provinces. It was estimated to-day by J. A. Bowman, Provincial Commissioner of Colonization. He estimated that Manitoba requires 15,000, Saskatchewan 20,000, and Alberta 15,000. July 10th railway officials and members of the Immigration and Colonization Department will meet to discuss a rate for laborers. Bumper crops in all three provinces warrant the increase, which is one-third greater than the number of men engaged in farm-work labor, Mr. Bowman said.

Arthur Collins, a returned soldier, was drowned Saturday in the Saskatchewan River at Prince Albert. He went swimming with a number of friends and was swept out by the swift current.

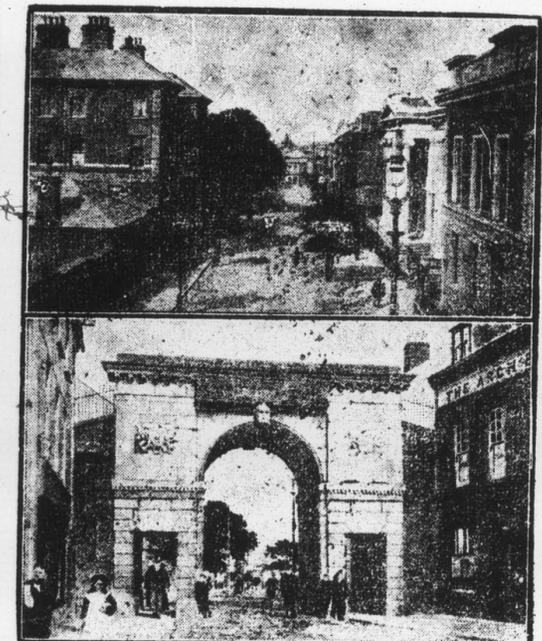

A double drowning occurred at St. John's, Que., when Albert Daniels and Philippe Mariel, both ten years of age, were standing on a raft and slipped into the Chamby Canal.

SOVIET ANSWER AGAIN ELUSIVE

London, June 2.—Leonid Krassin, Russian Soviet Minister of Trade and Commerce, had a conference with Premier Lloyd George to-night at the Premier's official residence in Downing street. The meeting lasted an hour.

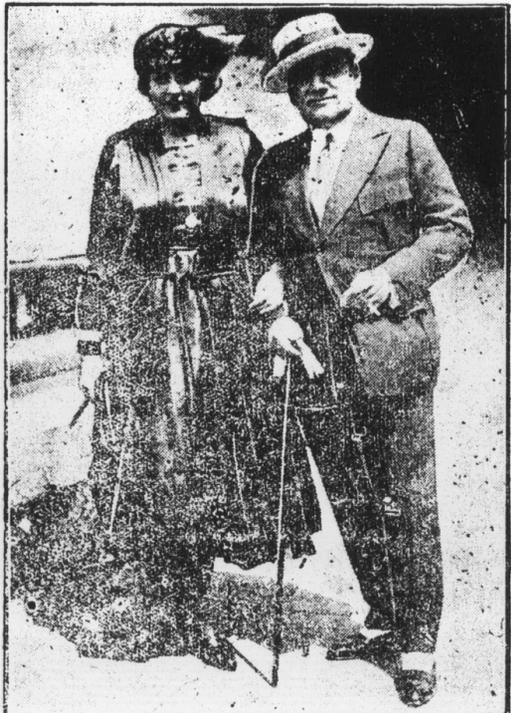

The object of M. Krassin's visit to the Premier was to submit to him Moscow's reply concerning the Soviet Government's attitude toward the foreign debt and private property of foreigners expropriated by the Russian Government.

It is said that the reply was unsatisfactory, but that the negotiations will be continued.

SCENES OF BLOODEDNESS IN DERRY.

LOST JEWELS WORTH $400,000.

Mrs. Enrico Caruso's jewel collection, valued at $400,000, was stolen from her summer home at East Hampton, L. I. Signor Caruso, her husband, has promised to replace the jewels by others. Perhaps that is what caused the smile on Mrs. Caruso's face in this picture.

Oak Leaf

One of the most enjoyable treats of the season was the ice cream social and bazaar given by the congregation of Trinity Church, Oak Leaf, at the school grounds on Tuesday evening last. Although rain threatened all day, the evening was ideal. The grounds were beautifully decorated with evergreens and the ladies served a bountiful and delicious meal with the bumper dishes of ice cream. The serving was so well organized that over 700 people were served without any delay or confusion. The hall was prettily decorated for a bazaar and many good bargains in fancy work and aprons were quickly snapped up. In all over $300 was realized.

Guideboard Corner's

Mr. E. C. Wight, Titawa, has come to spend a part of the holidays at his old home, "The Lilacs." Jack Coleman and his friend, Geo. O'Hara, Brockville, spent Sunday last with friends here.

Miss M. Wight was one of a very pleasant afternoon tea party at the home of Mrs. Herbert Stephenson, Hard Island, on Wednesday.

After an absence from the neighborhood of more than 25 years, Mr. Frank Yates and brother Sheriff are visiting the scenes of their boyhood days, with much apparent enjoyment. Mr. Frank Yates is accompanied by two fine grown-up sons.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. E. Robeson and guest, Miss Letitia Clow, were dropping in on friends, between the showers.

Those who attended the annual strawberry feté in connection with the Ladies Guild of Christ Church, report a very pleasant and profitable evening.

We sympathize with Mr. James Sheldon in the death of his brother, Mr. Harvey Sheldon.

Mr. Sheldon Lawson has returned to his old position in the Parish mill.

Mr. Campeau, of "The Bazaar," certainly deserves credit for the tasteful manner in which he decorates his refreshment rooms each Saturday evening with fresh flowers from the country, thus bringing to the enjoyment of his customers beauties that they might not take time to see otherwise.

One evening recently Miss Edna Lavay's car came to a standstill while she was turning round at the Corpers. Fortunately she received timely assistance from one of the caravanners encamped on their old ground here, and was soon gliding on her way again.

Sunday afternoon Mr. E. C. Wight passed a pleasant hour or so at the homes of Mr. Burton Algure and Mr. Phillip Yates, Hard Island.

We are all much in accord with the sentiment of the lines quoted last week by the Eloida correspondent.

Charleston

During the storm on Wednesday evening lightning struck T. Kelsey's house. No damage was done except a few clapboards were torn off. The occupants received a bad scare.

R. A. Montgomery, Lamberville, N.J., and W. Harkness, New Brunswick, N.J., arrived on Saturday to spend a week or so at the lake. This is the second visit for these two gentlemen this season.

A number attended the social at Oak Leaf on Tuesday evening and also the one at Athens on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kavanagh played for a party at Portland on Saturday night.

R. Burch, Lyndhurst, was through here last week repairing the telephone lines.

Mrs. W. Crozier, sr., seems to be improving under the treatment of Dr. Moore.

Some of the farmers have cut alfalfa and other clover, but the weather is rather wet just now.

A number from here went to Brockville on Dominion Day.

Miss Seal has closed school and returned to her home at Maple Grove.

Miss Bernice Grier and Master John E. Steacy are writing their entrance exams this week. We wish them luck.

Plum Hollow

On June 17, 1920, Mrs. W. C. Barkley died at her home, Main Street, Athens.

The late Mrs. Barkley was Miss Bernice Kilborn of Plum Hollow and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Kilborn, and would have been 23 years of age in September.

Mrs. Barkley was of a bright disposition and much loved by all who knew her, and she bore her sufferings with patience and Christian fortitude.

She is survived by her young husband, who has the sympathy of all in his great trouble, her father and two brothers, Bryce of Saskatoon and Claude at home. Her mother predeceased her some five years ago.

The funeral was held in the Baptist Church, Plum Hollow, Saturday, by Rev. Comerford, assisted by Rev. Nicholls. Interment was made in the family cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gifford and Miss Mary, Brockville, are spending a few days at his father's home.

MAJOR-GENERAL LEONARD WOOD.

Major-General Leonard Wood, who tried hard for the Republican nomination for President. His campaign funds are now being investigated by the Senate sub-committee. A record advance of $500,000 was made to Wood by Col. William Proctor, a manufacturer of Cincinnati.

TOMATO PLANTFOOD REQUIREMENTS.

To do its best the tomato requires a plentiful supply of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Nitrogen produces leaf and stalk growth and is vitally concerned with the yield of fruit. Where leaf growth is deficient, more nitrogen should be used in the fertilizer. If, on the other hand, a good crop of clover has been turned under, the amount of nitrogen in the fertilizer is sufficient. Early varieties require more nitrogen than late varieties, since early vigorous growth must be made in cool weather.

Phosphoric acid leads to early maturity and good quality of fruit. Available phosphoric acid is especially important in growing early market tomatoes where a few days' difference in maturity means the difference between a high and a low price. The West Virginia Experiment Station has shown that tomatoes respond wonderfully where available phosphoric acid is liberally used.

Phosphoric acid in the fertilizer also increases the yield of the succeeding wheat crop. Potash is necessary to produce rood, sound, well colored, better shipping fruit and to make the vine resistant to disease. Potash gives a quick start, insure quality fruit, early maturity, increased yields and profits.

Cards of Thanks

The following expression of appreciation from Mr. Wm. Landon. This is the best evidence of the results attained from a policy with The Imperial Life Assurance Company:

Mr. A. Donaldson, District Manager, Imperial Life Assurance Company:
Dear Sir—I desire to thank you for your company's scheme in settlement of my 20 pay life policy which covers a return of all the money I paid in and dividends amounting to 6 1/2% on all the premiums paid. The settlement is very gratifying indeed. The results attained under my policy and the courteous treatment accorded me have been eminently satisfactory.

I congratulate your company on its careful and economic management, which accounts for the very liberal dividends you are paying.
Your truly,
WM. LANDON.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON 11

July 11th, 1920
Jonathan Betfriends David
1 Samuel 20:1-42-30:32-42

Commentary.—I. Covenant between David and Jonathan (vs. 1-23). David became convinced that it was unsafe for him to continue in Gibeah, the seat of Saul's government, and he fled to Samuel at Ramah, a few miles west of Gibeah, where there was a school of the prophets. Saul had learned where he was and continued to seek his life. David fully realized his danger, and returned to Gibeah and sought an interview with his trusted friend, Jonathan. He asked him what he had done that Saul should seek to slay him. Jonathan assured David that his father would take no step without letting him know about it, and he would report to him any designs his father might have against him. David was aware that Saul knew of Jonathan's friendship for him and saw in that fact a reason why he would not reveal to Jonathan his plans to cause David's death. David gave utterance to the memorable words: "There is but a step between me and death" (vs. 3). Jonathan was ready to do for David whatever he desired, and when David planned a test to determine Saul's present attitude toward him, he readily consented to do his part. The new moon, or the beginning of the month, was an occasion for offering sacrifices to God. It had become a season of feasting in the king's court, and all the chief officers of the king were expected to be present. David would not expose himself to death by being present, so he planned to absent himself, and to have a report brought to him as to how the king felt toward him. Jonathan and David went into a field and consulted how information concerning Saul might be given by Jonathan to David secretly. Jonathan pledged to David that, when he had sounded his father, he would inform him whether his attitude was friendly or hostile. Jonathan seems to have known that David would succeed Saul as king, and he therefore asked a pledge from David to show kindness to him and his house forever. It was customary for a king upon ascending the throne to slay all who might have any apparent right to reign. David gave his word, as Jonathan requested, and his subsequent history shows that he remembered the covenant and kept it.

II. Jonathan's plea for David (vs. 24-31). In accordance with a plan agreed upon between David and Jonathan, David presented himself from the feast that day and hid in the field. On the first day of the feast Saul observed that David's seat was vacant, but thought he was absent because he was not ceremonially clean. His absence on the second day called forth an inquiry and he asked Jonathan for an explanation. Jonathan told him that David asked permission to attend a family feast at Bethlehem, and he had granted it. This led Saul to make unjust charges against his son. He reproached him with being the son of a "perverse and belligerent woman" (v. 30). This was a most flagrant affront to Jonathan but was not then considered a reproach upon his mother. Saul charged Jonathan with being in league with David. Then he appealed to Jonathan's ambition, declaring that as long as David lived there would be no hope of his occupying the throne of Israel, and he commanded him to have David brought to him that he might be able to slay him. Jonathan refused to do this. Wherefore shall he be slain? Although Jonathan saw that his father was angry both at him and at David, he undertook the defence of his friend. What hath he done? Jonathan asked Saul a question that he could not answer and be consistent with his determination to kill David. David had been the means of preserving the kingdom of Israel, more than once he had defeated the Philistines. He had constantly acted in the highest interests of his nation. He had not been discourteous to the king, even under the greatest provocation. He had shown himself to be brave, large-hearted and highly intelligent. It was now more than a mere fit of madness with Saul; there had come to be a settled purpose to slay David. Saul was a javelin at him. The king could not answer his son's question, and his only reply was a hurl at him the javelin that was always within easy reach. Jonathan knew—the fact that Saul would kill his own son or being a friend to David was enough to convince Jonathan that David's life was in serious jeopardy. Saul's unfitness to rule was evident from his course toward David, even overlooking his past misdeeds. He was more concerned to have vengeance upon one of whom he was more jealous than to have righteousness prevail in his kingdom. In fierce anger—Jonathan had been deeply insulted by his father, but he was overlooking that and giving attention to Saul's disposition toward his friend David. "We should probably understand this father of Jonathan's grief than of his anger, the latter clause explaining the former; for he was grieved for David. He was grieved for his father; he was grieved for his friend."—Clarke. Because his father had done him shame—Saul had wronged David publicly by speaking as if he might be plotting to gain the kingdom for himself.

III. An Affectionate Parting (vs. 35-42). In the morning—in the morning after the second day of the feast from which David had absented himself, at the time appointed with David—it was a time to which David had looked forward with intense interest, for he was to earn Saul's mind regarding him. A little lad with him—to bring back the arrows he was to shoot. He shot... beyond him—it was understood between David and Jonathan that if Jonathan should shoot the arrows beyond where David was, that Saul's mind was hostile toward him. The lad would know nothing of the purpose of the shooting, but David would understand. 37. Jonathan cried after the lad—David did not see

SUNDAY HOME

TO-DAY.
A place in the ranks awaits you. Each man has some part to play; the past and the future are nothing in the face of the eternal to-day. —Adelaide Procter.

CLEANINGS.
Optimism which fosters inaction may be as harmful as pessimism which leads to despair. Liberal theology is an effort to reach heaven by some other route than the Ten Commandments. Success in life is not so much a matter of talent or opportunity as of concentration and perseverance. Drop the subject when you cannot agree; there is no need to be bitter because you know you are right. There is a vast difference between an offensive militarism of autocracy and a defensive militarism of democracy. Sunday sports have always proved a dangerous experiment in their influence upon character, homes, and citizenship.

BE LOYAL.
Looking around for some practical rule of conduct to guide people in every sphere of life it would be hard to find two words to which more ethical principle is expressed than these: "Be loyal." The spirit of loyalty is the greatest thing in the world for it is the unifying force back of all organizations of human beings, from the smallest to the greatest, and leads right up to the throne of God. It implies that the individual has a freedom of his own, he is no slave, driven by the taskmaster's whip, and yet voluntarily and completely he devotes himself to a cause higher than himself, though it may include himself. As an individual he finds himself a member of a family. Let him be loyal to the highest welfare of his family, himself included. Let there be no ignoring of the value of any of those with whom he is bound in the middle of family life. Here is the best place for him to learn the principle of democracy: Each one for all and all for each. What domestic conflicts would be avoided, what heart-rending tragedies would be saved if this trumpet note would only ring out clear and strong in every home: Be loyal. As an individual he finds himself a member of a great business concern, whether it be in the capacity of investor, manager, or workman. It may be true that there are faults in the present industrial system which needs to be set right, and he should use his influence in every legitimate way in this direction, but this is no reason why he should throw the monkey-wrench into the machinery and dislocate the whole world. There can be no truly successful industry without a spirit of mutual loyalty between all those bound together in a common work. This is why it is so necessary to extend the principle of co-operation and partnership so as to deepen the sense of responsibility and the rendering of faithful and efficient work. Above the din of machinery should be heard the voice of conscience: Be loyal. As an individual he finds himself a member of a community. A city may be. If this city is to prosper there must be a strong community spirit amongst its people. There are hundreds of branches of service, which are not for the benefit of any one individual in particular, but for the common welfare. If he likes he can pick his way through the various windings of civic life bent only on reaching his own selfish goal, but would be this worthy of a true citizen? Let him keep before him a vision of a better city yet to be, as he follows this leading light: Be loyal. As an individual he finds himself a member of a nation. Men of various races may be gathered into this Dominion of Canada, but in this vast country there is going on a process of welding together. We have now a history behind us, a link with the past and we have before us a future bright with untold possibilities. If he likes he can answer as one did before the military tribunal when asked if he did not think he owed a duty to his country to his country, "No, I work hard enough for my living," but would this answer be worthy of his manhood? Whatever be the personal cost let him devote himself to a cause greater than himself, a cause for which the King is the visible rallying-point, and in the spirit of patriotism obey the call: Be loyal. As an individual he finds himself a member of the Universal Brotherhood of Mankind, with God as the Spiritual Father of all. He sees, therefore, that each nation is not an independent unit to live for itself alone, a false nationalism, but is a ministering member of a Society of Nations. He sees that the spirit of ethical love which show itself in mutual service, the very spirit which Christ exhibited upon the Cross when He sacrificed Himself for the good of others, is the fundamental basis of the moral universe; the great reality before which everything else fades into insignificance. And now, looking back over the long trail he has followed he makes the great discovery that loyalty to the family, the company, the community, the nation, the world of mankind, is nothing less than this: Loyalty to God. F. Du Vernet, Archbishop of Caledonia.

AutoStrop Razor

ALL safety razors seem alike because of the similarity in size and appearance. As regards the AutoStrop Razor, however, the resemblance ends there. Its peculiar and additional advantage is that, without being larger than any other safety razor, it combines within itself a self-stropping feature that enables the user to keep the blade sharp without taking anything apart. It thus prevents dull blades and the expense of buying new ones. You may not be interested in economy of blades, but surely you want a good shave and that is only possible with a stropped blade. Any dealer will demonstrate the AutoStrop Razor to you, guarantee satisfaction, or refund of purchase price. Only $5.00 complete with stropp and twelve blades in an attractive assortment of cases to suit any purpose.

POULTRY WORLD

SOME DON'T'S FOR BEGINNERS.
Much has been written in the past on how to do things, and the average beginner, while benefited if he heed the advice, overlooks many small things. There are plenty of "Don't's" which the young poultry-keeper never hears, and the result of doing those things which the expert poultry-keeper avoids is the cause of many failures in chicken-raising. To-day many are not getting fresh hen fruit because of the fact they did not heed the "Don't's." It is not good English, but it is forcible. It is surprising how many poultry-raisers take a chance that no other business man would think of taking. There is a great deal of "trust-to-luck" spirit among the chicken raisers, and especially, beginners. But luck in poultry never made a prize-winner or filled the egg basket in winter, and it is the up-to-date commercial poultry-keeper that are supplying the fresh eggs to-day, and not the average farm flock, which will commence to produce eggs in the early spring, when the price becomes lower. A good poultry building is essential. It is a well-known fact that it need not be good-looking, but it must be wind and rain-proof; yet there are many who keep poultry in such buildings. Their poultry does not keep those who have leaky roofs and houses that are full of draughts. Good, clean feed is another essential, yet many are seeking the bargain counter and getting wheat that has been spoiled, or that still full of moisture, screenings that have had the best taken from them, low-grade bran and middlings and cheap beef scraps. False economy, and one of the "Don't's" not heeded. Close culling has been advocated by those who know. Every flock, no matter how well bred or raised, will have its percentage of culls, pullets and cockerels that under no circumstances will make good. It is not so hard to get rid of the males, but the general tendency of the poultry-keeper is to keep everything in the female line, with the result that the real producers are paying for the slackers. It has been said that it takes real courage to be a good culler. But it is this kind of a poultry-keeper that is making good, for the largest part of his flock are producers, and but few dromes are carried along. How many times one sees the advice to give the fowls plenty of floor space. The evil of overcrowding is so common, even among those who know better, but take a chance, that all poultry journals and papers publishing articles on poultry constantly have this warning: It is an evil that is going to be recognized more as the time goes on. The space rule of two and one-half to three square feet of floor space for Leghorns and four square feet per bird for the heavy birds is not one bit too much. This is rather too little than too much, as some poultry-keepers claim. In summer and fall, when the fowls are out on the range or confined to yards, they can be crowded more, for the reason that only at night do they use the poultry quarters. But when winter comes they are cramped to stay inside the greater part of the time, they must be comfortable, and this is impossible when too many fowls are placed in the pen or house. A few years ago the craze was for large units; 5,000 were kept in one long house. To-day the tendency is to reduce the units and allow more floor space, and this is based not on theory, but on practical tests that better egg records made where the units are smaller. So much better that the labor question need not be considered. Do not use forcing feeds, unless they have been thoroughly tried before and found not wanting, and avoid changing feeds from time to time. More pullets have been kept from laying by changing of feeds and high feeding of beef scraps, which has impaired their health, than most poultry-keepers realize. While poultry made wonderful progress within the past few years, there is yet no perfectly balanced ration, and some feeds for which great claims have been made will give results for a time at the expense of the hen's health. Do not forget to keep the drinking water fresh and clean the floor of the poultry building well littered. Happy, contented hens are one of the factors of good egg production. They cannot be contented on dirty floors, with but a scant covering of straw.

THE USE OF ARMORIES FOR POULTRY SHOWS.
The Canadian National Poultry Association recently made representation to the Federal Department of Agriculture with a view to obtain permission from the Department of Militia and Defence to allow the use of armories for the holding of poultry shows and exhibitions. In this connection the Department of Militia and Defence state that subject to the interests of Militia Units not being adversely affected, instructions were issued some time ago to permit the loan of armories for any specific purpose by non-military organizations, subject to either fire insurance being taken out on the building by those proposing to use it, or special arrangements satisfactory to him (the General Officer Commanding the District) being made to safeguard the building. In the event of any Poultry Association wishing to use an armory for show purposes, a request should be made to the General Officer Commanding the District stating the dates upon which the show is to be held. THE USE OF TEA.

Has No Food Value, Being a Pure Stimulant.
Tea is the dried leaf of a plant, originally cultivated in China, but now grown extensively in India, Ceylon and Japan, and to a very small extent in the United States. It has no food value in itself, for it is a pure stimulant, and as such is injurious unless used in moderation. Tea and coffee have virtually the same effect on the body, and owe their stimulating properties to the same chemical substance, though it is called theine when it appears in coffee. This substance, which we may as well call by its more common name, caffeine, is present in the proportion of about three or four per cent. in tea, and about one-half to two per cent. in coffee. Since we use a larger amount of coffee than of tea to make a cupful the quantity of caffeine in a cupful of coffee about equals the quantity in a cupful of tea. Caffeine is similar in chemical composition and in stimulating properties, which is as in its power to bring about injurious effects—to create, which is present in beef tea. Judging by the fact that nearly everyone drinks either tea or coffee it is probable, that, except in unusual cases, a moderate amount of caffeine taken daily, does no special harm. Those who preach against the use of those beverages assert, however, that they contribute to the disturbances attributed to an excess of uric acid in the blood—high blood pressure, rapid pulse, headache, vertigo, insomnia, rheumatic pains and disease of the kidneys. One effect of tea or coffee taken with meals is to retard digestion, which is not always undesirable, as it prolongs the "staying power" of a meal; but when digestion is poor, often no benefit results from treatment until the patient ceases entirely to use tea and coffee.

SHILOH SINCE 1834 30 DAYS COUGHS

It was half an hour before Bill had prepared his bed just as he wanted the extinguished lamp again, and retreated to his own corner. Then darkness and stillness reigned again over the smoky interior...

"No," returned Katrine, lightly; "to-morrow night, not to-morrow." "I have my escort," she smiled at Stephen and Talbot. "I will say good-night, then," and Peter, after a slight bow to Talbot, withdrew, taking no notice of Stephen...

When he returned, Bill and the other men were all stirring, and Stephen sitting up on his trundle, rubbing his red and weary-looking eyes. "Well, pardner, what are you going to do to-day?" he asked a few minutes later, when they had the cabin to themselves for a moment.

Many difficulties had to be overcome in the production of a satisfactory compass for aerial work. Chief among these was that of neutralizing the magnetism of the engine (and in part that of the magnet), and of preventing the effect of centrifugal force, which caused the card or dial inside the compass to swing in a direction quite independent of north when the airplane was banking on a turn...

FOR THE FARMER

Collection of Annual Agricultural Statistics.

During the past three years the annual agricultural statistics of the Dominion have been based upon returns of areas planted in crops of various kinds on the farm, collected from individual farmers in the month of June. This information is obtained by means of a simple cardboard schedule, which is distributed to farmers through the agency of the rural school teachers...

"Would Say"

When you do not intend to pay a bill there is nothing like being decisive in your refusal. The other day a customer handed me an "account rendered" returned to him with the following reply across the billhead: "Dear Sir—I never ordered your beastly book. If I did, you didn't send it. If you sent it I never got it. If I got it I paid for it. If I didn't I won't. Now go hang yourself, John Jones."—Argonaut.

Still Searching for Atlantis.

Phoenician tradition ascribed to the people of Atlantis a high civilization. During the last few years scientific expeditions, in pursuit of natural history "specimens" have made explorations of the sea bottoms in that region. How interesting it would be if their drag-nets brought up from the depths some ancient relics from drowned towns of the lost continent!

Good Prospect for Corn Crop

Every one with corns will be pleased to know that Putnam's Corn Extractor is guaranteed to cure hard, soft, or bleeding corns in twenty-four hours. Painless and sure is Putnam's Extractor, 25c. at all dealers.

I am Not Poor.

Pray hold me not in scorn. I am not poor. Poor rather is the man who desires many things. Where shall I take my place? Where in a little time from henceforth you shall know. Do you answer for yourself? From henceforth in a little time.—Leonardo di Vinci (translated by Edward McCurdy).

New Zealand Lumber Vanishing.

At the present rate of increase in the consumption of native lumber in New Zealand it is estimated that the supply of standing timber will last not more than thirty years.

Worms in Residue

When the weather is very cold, during the winter months, many delicious frozen desserts can be made without the aid of the ice cream freezer and the usual rock salt and chopped ice. Simply turn the mixture to be frozen into a mould, stand outside for a stated length of time and the finished product will be found quite as satisfactory as though made with the freezer.

COFFEE CARAMEL PARFAIT.

Seal one cupful of milk with two tablespoonfuls of ground coffee. Strain and mix with half a cupful of sugar that has been caramelized and mixed to a liquid with a little hot water. Beat the yolks of three eggs until lemon-colored and add a pinch of salt and half a cupful of sugar. Blend gradually with the hot liquid and cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until well thickened. Remove from the fire, add a tablespoonful of cold water, and stir until the gelatine is dissolved. Cool, and when the mixture begins to stiffen whip well and fold in half a pint of chilled double cream, beaten solid. Turn into a fancy mould, set outside and let stand for four hours.

BANANA GRANITE.

Press three peeled bananas through the slicer and add the juice of half a dozen lemons and half a pint of thick cream. Wholly mix. Sweeten to taste with powdered sugar and add six finely-crushed macarons that have been dried in the oven. Freeze as in the previous recipe.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE.

Melt four ounces of unsweetened chocolate over hot water and add just enough hot water to make a thick syrup. Whip one pint of cream solid, add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a cupful of powdered sugar and slowly beat in the chocolate and a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Whip again until the mixture holds its shape and freeze as for the parfait.

MAPLE PARFAIT.

Boil one cupful of maple syrup to 200 degrees and pour in a fine stream on the stiffly-whipped whites of two eggs. Continue to beat until thick and cold, then fold in half a pint of double cream, whipped solid and half a cupful of chopped nut meats. Freeze as for the other recipes.

ANGEL PARFAIT.

Boil three-quarters of a cupful of water, without stirring, until it "threads," to 200 degrees on the candy thermometer. Then proceed as for the maple-parfait. Chopped, drained Marshmallow cherries may be substituted for nuts and a little of the cordial or flavoising. If the nuts are used, flavor with vanilla extract to taste.

A HEALTHFUL DRINK.

This is Convenient to Have On Hand in Warm Weather. As warm weather advances it is delightful to have a refreshing and healthful drink on hand. Try this: Over the washed peellings, eyes and cores of two fine apples, pour one generous quart of boiling water; allow to steep until cold; strain through cheesecloth, sweeten to taste, bottle and seal; tie down the corks and place bottles on their sides.

RASPBERRY VINEGAR.

Rub raspberries through a fine sieve and pour one quart of good cider vinegar over two quarts of red raspberries, and set aside for two days. Drain off the liquid and pour it over a second two quarts of raspberries. Repeat this process once more, strain carefully, and add a pound of sugar to each pint of juice. Boil five minutes and bottle.

CONDENSED MILK HELPS.

Sugar so high in price, why not use more condensed milk, as it is sugar and milk in one. For milk desserts use two tablespoonfuls of condensed milk to half a pint of water. Dissolve the milk first in a little warm water, then fill up to make your quantity.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, cholera diarrhoea and dysentery, come so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels, and are absolutely safe.

Accommodating Lily.

South America is not the only country that can boast of large leaves. In India the Victoria Regia grows leaves several feet across, and with a buoyancy sufficient to sustain the weight of a child. The edges turn up and form a sort of bow.

Pills of Attested Value.

Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of careful study of the properties of certain roots and herbs, and the action of such as sedatives and laxatives on the digestive apparatus. The success the compounds have met with attests the value of their work. These pills have been recognized for many years as the best cleansers of the system that can be got. Their excellence was recognized from the first and they grow more popular daily.

OLD HABITS PERSIST.

Bond—But, my dear, what did I do at dinner that made you so angry? Mrs. B.—You disgraced me for ever. When the charlotte russe was set before you, you tried to blow off the foam.

Kill the Germs of Catarrh

BY ACTING TO-DAY YOU CAN QUICKLY CURE CATARRH AND AVOID BRONCHITIS, HEADACHES, CONSUMPTION.

Most Agreeable and Surest Cure to Catarrh, Which Cures Every Curable Case. Catarrh proves especially good in those chronic cases where mucous drops down the throat, sickness the stomach, and polting the breath. When the nostrils are stuffed, only a few breaths through the inhaler are needed to clear the passages, and where there is coughing and sore bronchial tubes, the soothing, healing properties of Catarrhose act almost as magic.

THE HOME VOICE.

Have you ever noticed the close relationship between the home voice and the home atmosphere? And as the atmosphere is the sensitive tangible thing, it is affected by the voice, not the voice by the atmosphere.

If the head of the house, whether it be the husband or the wife, has a whining voice, the atmosphere of that home is apt to be depressed. Everything is limp, so to speak, and spineless. Even the draperies hang in dejected folds. Nothing ever is right or bright or cheery. The home is a centre of complaints.

Local Patriotism.

The extent to which all classes of society have brought their patriotism into practice has been marvelously, was a remark made by Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, V. C., in a recent conversation.

As instance of this he mentioned how cheaply yet efficiently a wounded soldier's hospital, within a stone's throw of his residence at Harlow, was run.

Sir Evelyn was actively interested in its management, and his daughter works there every day as a pantry maid, along with others similarly stationed in life. The cooking is done by three ex-cooks, who will not accept a penny for their services. The whole laundry work is done free of charge.—London Times.

Drives Asthma Like Magic. The immediate help from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems like magic. Nevertheless it is only a natural remedy used in a natural way. The smoke or vapor, reaching the most remote passage of the affected tubes, brushes aside the trouble and opens a way for fresh air to enter. It is sold by dealers throughout the land.

Time the Best Doctor.

At Lund, in Southern Sweden, there is an obelisk commemorating a great battle. It was fought between the Swedes and the Danes in 1676, and the Danes were beaten and lost the province of Schonen. Contrary to what might have been expected, this monument is not a commemoration of victory but of reconciliation. It was put up by both Danes and Swedes, and both were present at its dedication. It may be added that it took 200 years for the obelisk to be set up.

An Oil That is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over thirty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this hemisphere. There is nothing equal to it.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating," quoted the Wise Guy. "And by the same token love in a cottage isn't all cottage pudding," added the Simple Mag.

MILK FLOW DURING SUMMER PLANNING TO KEEP UP THE AND FALL

(Experimental Farms Note) Once more we are entering upon the season of the year when the dairy farmer expects the greatest yield from his cows and his pastures, and if the season is right the land will be fairly "sowing with milk and honey." Unfortunately, however, the season is not always just as right as it might be. Invariably in one section or another there is a drought with its consequent shortage of pasture and decrease in milk flow.

It is important at this time that some sort of supplementary feed be supplied, for if the milk flow is once allowed to decline, it is almost impossible to get it up to the previous high mark again. A little extra feed at this time will produce more milk than will three times the amount fed after the decline has taken place. Many will have profited by past experiences and have made preparation for the shortage of pasture by sowing a piece of annual pasture or soiling crop. Others again may have some of the previous year's crop of silage to fall back on. In any, and particularly the last of the above methods, we have a very efficient means of supplementing the pastures. For those who have not yet made any provision it is not too late to sow an extra acre of corn, some fall turnips, or even a piece of rape. The turnips may be pulled as needed and fed tops and all, while the rape may be pastured off in the late summer and fall. Where previous preparation has not been made, cuttings of the regular crop, such as green oats and peas, second cut clover and green corn will have to be made to fill the bill.

To speak of grain feeding on pasture at present prices seems absurd, and it will be found to be somewhat of an extravagance except with very high producing cows. Where the graze are obtainable a mixture of two parts bran and one each of ground oats and cottonseed meal is excellent.

Apart from the feeding of the cows there is the question of water and shade supply. Both are very necessary. When sufficient protection from the flies, in the form of shade or underbrush, is not to be found, it would be advisable to keep the animals in the stable during the hotter part of the day, allowing them out in the evening. Where supplementary feed has to be cut and hauled to the cows less waste will be occasioned when fed while inside. Where the cows of necessity have to be out all day they should have protection from the flies by spraying with some good fly repellent.

G. W. Muir,
Animal Husbandman.
