A SURE BELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS.

10 Days' Treatment Free.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened, and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female trouble, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one of the most successful treatments. A free trial treatment, enough for 10 days, will be sent free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.

CHAPTER XXXI.

Raymond Ashton was always an outsider. There! I won't say another word. You've come home, and that's all that matters.

It was only when they were safely up in the room with the mauve cushions that she flung her hat down on the sofa and drew a long breath.

"Well, I never thought we should be here together again," she said tragically. "It seemed like the end of everything when I found your note on the telephone. I don't know what I should have done if it hadn't been for Micky."

"I don't know what I should have done either," Esther said. She met June's eyes and flushed crimson. "I've been horrid about him, I know," she added bravely. "And now I'm sorry."

June said "Humph." She sat for a moment staring at the floor, then she got up and searched for the inevitable cigarettes.

"You ought to go to bed," she said in her most matter-of-fact tone. "Where did you sleep last night?"

"Nowhere—at least—we were in the train all night. I did sleep a little, but not much."

June took her by the shoulders. "Of you go to bed, and don't argue. I've had a fire put in your room, and Charlie is there with a new bow on. I'll come and tuck you up when you're ready, and—"

But Esther refused to move. "I couldn't sleep if I went to bed. I want to tell you about—about what's happened. . . ."

"She paused breathlessly, but June was not going to help her.

"I don't want to hear anything," she said flatly. She looked at Esther and saw the tears in the younger girl's eyes. She put an arm round her, drawing her down to the sofa.

"Tell me all about it, then," she said. "I'm just—just longing to know."

"What there isn't much to tell, except—"

Esther held out her left hand. "I'm not engaged any more," she said with a faint attempt to laugh. "He—Mr. Ashton—is married. . . ."

"I know—Micky told me before we went to Enmore. I hope he's married a nice who's lead him an awful dance. It would serve her right to let her know the sort of man he is—to let her know the sort of letters he's been writing to you—to show him up properly."

Esther hid her face in the mauve cushions. "Oh, but he has never written to me," she said chokingly. "I've never

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Owen Sound, Ont.—"I suffered for ten years with female organic trouble, neuralgia and indigestion, and was weak and had such bad pains I could hardly walk or stand up at times. When I would sweep I would have to go and not sleep at night, and would wander around the house half the time. I tried everything but nothing did me any good, and the last doctor I had told me he never expected me to be on my feet again or able to do a day's work. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband said I should try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God I did, for it relieved me, and I am now well and strong. I think there is no remedy like the Vegetable Compound for anyone who has my troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. You can publish my letter for the benefit of those I can't reach."

—Mrs. Elsie A. Mirreault, 1707 7th Ave., East, Owen Sound, Ont.

If you have any symptom about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

curly. "And of course, I didn't know—if I had, I should have told him that he was a fool to waste his time and money on a girl who thought nothing of him," she added flatly. Her voice changed all at once. "Oh, isn't he just splendid!" she said emotionally. "I don't understand it in the very least, why he has done it, or how he managed it, or anything, but I think it's the finest thing in all the world—"

Esther turned away.

"I knew him before we met here—he wanted to tell you, but I asked him not to—"

She stopped and dragged on again.

"I met him on New Year's Eve—I was so miserable—there seemed nothing to live for, and he was kind and so . . . so . . . I told him a little of what was wrong, and I suppose he guessed the rest."

"And when he went to Paris that time it was all for your sake, and it was for your sake he kept coming here—oh!"—June rose to her feet with a gesture of intolerance—"If you don't just get up and go home, he walks on!" she said, "you ought to, and that's all I've got to say."

Esther made no answer; she was looking into the fire with eyes that as yet saw only the ruins of a dream that had been so beautiful, the rapidly receding shadow of the man whom she had once made a giant figure in her life.

"I never want to care for any one again," she said presently in a hard voice. "You told me once that people were happier if they didn't love, and I think you were right."

"I was an idiot to ever say such a thing," June cried in a rage. "And you're a bigger idiot if you pretend to think I was right. There's nothing better in the whole world than being loved—"

Her face flushed like a rose. "If Micky had cared for me even a quarter as well as he does for you I would have married him, and that's the truth," she declared. "It was only because I knew he hadn't anything except friendship to offer me that I knew it wasn't fair. . . ."

She tried to cover the seriousness of her words with a laugh. She lit another cigarette. "And now, having got rid of my heroics, let's talk sense," she added more calmly. "But you ought to go to bed. You look worn out. You'll be a wreck in the morning."

"I don't want to go to bed. I have such a lot to tell you. I shall have to leave here, of course; I haven't got any money. I must try and find a post. I thought of asking Eldred's to take me, back; there might be a vacancy now. . . ."

But her voice sounded weary and hopeless.

June swooped down on her. "You poor tired baby, come along to bed and don't worry any more. You've got me whatever happens, and if the worst comes to the worst there's always June Mason's wonderful skin food for both of us to live on."

They went upstairs together.

"There's nothing like sunshine to put you on good terms with yourself," she said philosophically. "Whenever I'm in the dumps or feel that I'm looking particularly plain, I put on my best hat and go out in the sunshine, and I assure you I'm a good-looking woman when I come home again."

"You're always better than good-looking," Esther told her.

Three Women Had Corns

and this is what they did

One simply pared them and kept them. She never knew an hour without corns.

One used a harsh, unscientific treatment. It was inefficient and it often caused soreness.

The third applied Blue-jay, liquid or plaster, was done in a moment and it stopped the pain. In a little while the whole corn loosened and came out. Millions of people now use Blue-jay. It is ending at least 20 million corns yearly. Those folks never keep corns—never suffer corn aches.

Why don't you join them? Learn the right way to treat corns.

Blue-jay is a scientist's invention. It is made by a world-famed laboratory.

It comes in the form you like best—either liquid or plaster. Cease out-of-date methods and try this.

Imperial Government Committed to Action.

Failure of Negotiations With Miners--Germany Outdistances Trade Competitors--Mayflower Will Fish in Gulf of St Lawrence.

GERMAN PROPOSALS NOT SATISFACTORY.

LONDON, April 28. Premier Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons today that the British Government was committed to action as far as the Westphalian coal fields were concerned, if the German reparations proposals were unsatisfactory. He added, "It is not for me to say whether another opportunity will be given Germany or not. Speaking of the German offer Lloyd George said, "I very much regret to say that they are thoroughly unsatisfactory, and I wish it had been possible for me to say they alter the situation."

MINERS ARE OBDURATE.

LONDON, April 28. The Miners' Federation, by an overwhelming majority, rejected the Government's new offer looking to settlement of the coal strike by increasing temporarily the subsidy to the industry from seven million four hundred thousand pounds to ten millions.

DEADLOCK REACHED.

LONDON, April 28. Negotiations which have been in progress with the purpose of endeavoring to end the coal strike, reached another complete deadlock today when the Miners' Federation rejected the Govt's latest offer. Rejection was made by an overwhelming majority of the Miners' Delegates, because the offer "fails to concede the fundamental principle for which we stand." All delegates of mine workers who have been attending the conference in London, are returning to their respective districts.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

LONDON, April 28. The Cabinet held a special emergency meeting this evening to consider measures for the maintenance of essential services in connection with the coal strike. Among the new orders, according to the Daily Mail, is the establishment of the Garfrew, compelling lighting and heating companies to withdraw supplies at a fixed hour each night.

GERMANY OUTSTRIPPING ALLIES.

NEW YORK, April 28. Germany, through economy and the sacrifices of her working people, has set down to real production, and is outstripping the United States and Allied nations in the fight toward normality. Charles M. Schwab declared today in an address before the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, "Germany today can put a ton of steel in England at a price twenty dollars cheaper than England can make it and a better quality," he said, "and is selling pneumatic tools in Detroit, where formerly we shipped such machinery to Germany and sold it cheaper than she could make it. The difference is solely a matter of labor costs. It is estimated that five million men are out of work in this country. It is accordingly of supreme importance to the working man as well as to the capitalist to restore our prosperity."

BRITAIN'S UNEMPLOYED.

LONDON, April 28. According to returns published by the Labor Department of the Board of Trade, there was at the beginning of the present week a million eight hundred thousand persons out of employment in the United Kingdom. The increase over the previous week was eight thousand. Unemployment figures have been greatly augmented as a consequence of the miners' strike, but even an early settlement of that trouble holds little prospect of absorption of the vast army of unemployed, who are presenting a problem of increasing difficulty and danger.

PAYING UP.

CUTTING WAGES.

MAYFLOWER ON MAIDEN TRIP.

BOSTON, Mass., April 28. The schooner Mayflower, Boston's candidate for the International Fishing Vessel Race, next fall, will set out today on her maiden salt fishing trip to the Magdalen Islands, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. As she slipped out of port in a haze, she was hailed by ships' bells, sirens and fog horns. At her wheel was Captain Henry Larkin, her skipper, and beside him stood Carl Francis Adams, who sailed the Resolute to successful defence of America's Cup in the International Yacht Races last year. Adams, who is a member and director of the syndicate that built the Mayflower, was to try the fisherman under his hand during the run down the coast before stepping ashore at Gloucester.

A BLOODY HOLD-UP.

In the bloodiest payroll hold up in the history of the oil fields of Mexico, a band of fifteen Mexican bandits held up officials of the Agow Oil Co. and obtained approximately thirty-five pesos in Mexican gold near Tampico, April 21, according to delayed advices reaching Houston. Ten persons were killed, including two bandits in the fighting that accompanied the hold-up.

BRIAND DOUBTS GERMANY'S GOOD FAITH.

PARIS, April 28. "The German propositions are also lately unacceptable and made under such conditions as to justify us in doubting Germany's good faith," Premier Briand declared to press correspondents here this evening. He added, "the presence of America in our council would help immensely in the settlement of many questions. The German Government is unable to rid itself of the reactionary element that dominates its policy. Well, we are going to help them get rid of that element and we are going to do it in the right manner."

SERIOUS RIOT IN INDIA.

Civic Commission Weekly Meeting.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Acting Mayor Mullaly presided and Councillors Morris, Peet, Ayre and Jackman were present.

After the reading of minutes of the previous meetings the following matters were considered. A communication was read from Solicitor R. T. McGrath in reference to the road now being opened by the R. C. Corporation, Merrymeeting Road. It is expected satisfactory arrangements for the transfer of this property will be concluded in a day or two.

W. F. Coady asked reconsideration of his claim for compensation owing to his premises being flooded through chinking of sewer, John Street. The Council adheres to its previous decision in this matter.

E. G. Cousins requested attention be given the "piling" which supports the new South Side Road. The road referred to was built by the Government some years ago, and is therefore a matter for the Department of Public Works.

J. C. Wheeler asked attention to Road Quidi Vidl Terrace. This was referred to the Road Inspector.

A. S. Rendell & Co., Fire Insurance Agents, solicited share of Insurance on Municipal property. Application was ordered filed.

W. B. Jennings asked attention be given light Blackmarsh Road.

Alex. Stewart referred to necessity of new light being placed on Water Street, near Brennan Street.

Thos. Rumsey will be given permit to repair dwelling Hamilton Avenue. Application of N. J. Murphy to repair house, Hitchings Street, was referred to the Engineer.

H. J. Stabb & Co. applied for permission to install gasoline tank near their premises. This matter was referred to the Inspector General.

Job Bros. & Co. asked if provision would be made for traffic across the Long Bridge while proposed alterations were in progress. Same will be provided for.

The following plans were passed subject to the Engineer's approval: Geo. Walters (extension), 160 Beaumont St.; Dr. G. N. Murphy (extension), Duckworth St.; W. Crane (garage), Waterford Bridge Road; F. G. Chislett (garage), LeMarchant Road.

Residents Sudbury Street asked that concrete drains and other improvements be made to this street. If petitioners are prepared to contribute half the cost of these improvements according to the frontage of their properties, the work will be undertaken.

Properties on Pleasant Street which project on street lines, are to be excavated for street widening purposes.

Supt. Dwyer reported on the work done in connection with the cleaning of city streets, etc., and of the satisfactory manner in which this work was carried out. The motor truck which was used in the cartage of mud, etc., cost the city $17.51 per day which included the wages of the driver, labor attending, etc. Upwards of 2,000 loads were carted by the truck from the city streets within ten days.

City Engineer Ryan reported on the new 6-inch main which is being extended to the Poor Asylum, Sudbury Street; that the Torpedo Head recently imported for trunk and other sewers was giving general satisfaction; and that progress was being made on the new road from Merrymeeting to Freshwater.

After the reading of the reports of Health Officer Brehm, and heads of other departments and the passing of pay rolls and bills, the meeting adjourned.

Snowed Up.

Railway Passengers have Faced Some Unpleasant Dilemmas in Severe Winters of the Past.

Curiously enough, some of the worst instances of trains being snowed up have occurred at a time when spring might be considered to be well on its way.

During the last days of April, 1908, a violent snowstorm raged over the whole of the country, being especially severe in Scotland. A train from Glasgow to Port William was snowed up not far from Rannoch Station for a day and a half, early attempts at rescuing the passengers having failed.

This occurred during Saturday evening, but as the train was heated by steam the passengers felt no alarm, as they expected an early rescue. A snow plough with a gang of railwaymen proceeding to the relief was delayed, and a second breakdown gang sent from Glasgow was, in its turn, snowed up the other side of Rannoch.

Fifteen Feet Deep.

The stranded passengers thought their troubles were over when an engine and plough reached them from Port William, but the snow drifted again, and prevented its return.

It was only late on the Sunday afternoon that the relief gang managed to clear away the snow sufficiently to allow the train to return to Rannoch.

A day or two after Christmas, in 1906, people travelling between England and Scotland had a lively time. Six trains were snowed up near Hawick, and one which left Kyle of Lochalsh ran into a drift fifteen feet deep, the locomotive being covered.

A train from Dundee to Edinburgh found its way blocked, and the fourteen passengers spent an uncomfortable night, cold and hungry. A relief train shared the same fate. The next day provisions from St. Andrews reached them, but it was several hours before they were able to leave the train.

More fortunate were the passengers of a train snowed up for three days in Derbyshire. Partly derailed by the snow, the driver's attempt to get on with one coach failed. Fortunately, there was an inn not far away, and to this the passengers struggled, the driver and fireman stopping with the train until it was dug out.

The "Great Blizzard."

The "Great Blizzard" of March, 1891, is famous in West Country annals. It was on this occasion that six unfortunate passengers—two women and four men—were snowed up in a train on Dartmoor from Monday night until Wednesday morning, a period of thirty-six hours. The first night they spent huddled together in one carriage, and at seven in the morning the lamp, their only source of warmth, went out.

Then the guard and fireman set out for Doustand, and managed to struggle to the station. At three in the afternoon three railwaymen turned up with a bottle of brandy and water, cocoa, bread-and-butter, and cake. There was only one piece for each of them, but it was a welcome relief, and with care, the brandy lasted until eight in the evening.

Almost frozen, and famished with hunger, they spent another miserable night, this time in the dark, but next morning, when it grew light, they were pleasantly surprised to see a man close to the line. This proved to be a farmer searching for sheep as the weather had moderated. Although his farm was only some two hundred and fifty yards from the train, the weather had been so bad he was quite unaware of its presence; but he soon made the passengers as comfortable as possible.

Feet Warmers as "Duck-Boards."

By this time the engine was quite hidden by the snow, which the wind had driven into most of the carriages, so that in several of them it was as high as the hat-racks, though doors and windows were shut tight.

Railway travellers seldom have a good word for the old-fashioned foot-warmer, and most of them rejoice losing the way, in all probability, but some bright mind suggested that they might make a bridge across the drift by means of foot-warmer. Newfoundland's Birthday.

WHY NOT CELEBRATE IT?
Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—The twenty-fourth of June has for centuries, if not since 1497, been looked upon as the date of the discovery of Newfoundland. The historians tell us so, tradition has handed it down, our fathers have brought us up in this faith, and whether it is true and whether it is not, it does not matter to-day. June the twenty-fourth will always be regarded as the natal day of Newfoundland, and so of the British Empire or Commonwealth. Like an alluring lady who tells us she loves us and while we know that she is lying, we love the lie and the liar and would not change it for her. That much being settled, do we intend forever to allow the country's birthday to pass unnoticed. Have we no birthday gift to give her. Newfoundland's motto is, "Bring gifts to thee." Now then what gifts will her sons and daughters bring to her. There is one gift that we can bring, and that is the gift of appreciation, pride in our birthplace. We are all proud of it or should be, because it is God's own country. Where can you surpass her in natural resources, scenery, climate or any other quality necessary to produce great men and women? How can we show our appreciation? By keeping her birthday a holiday. Then celebrate the holiday. How? Very simply. I have been informed by some of the leading officers of our Regiment that, whether it is a holiday or not they intend parading on that day. The people of this country want to see our gallant soldier and sailor-lads under circumstances where they can raise a cheer that is not subdued. Up to date when we have seen them, they are walking to funerals or something similar. We want to see them with their flags flying, their banners waving, their drums beating, their heads held high, joy in their hearts, pride on their faces for the noble things that they have done. We want to express our gratitude to those who have fought that we might stay comfortably at home, to those who have died that we might live. We want to honour those who came back, those who fought and fell, those who offered for service but were rejected. All are equally heroic whether they got or did not get the V.C. I have no doubt that for one on whom the V.C. was bestowed, it was earned a hundred times. I know the men of this country. They are heroes all because the evocations of the country call for heroes, and only men of heroic blood and ancestry can survive in this Newfoundland or ours. This is not a country of weaklings, but of men of noble mould. If they, the men of the Regiment parade, I am sure the men of the Naval Reserve will also parade. The rejected men will join in, and I am certain that all the Brigades with their bands would be delighted to make one gala day in honour of the brave lads who have fought so nobly and so well. If that were so, I do not think the Importers or other association, the Government or whoever has the granting of it, would dare not to keep a holiday the twenty-fourth of June.

I hope this day will never again be allowed to pass unnoticed. It is too great a day in the history of the country. It more than corresponds to the United States' fourth of July. It is far more than that. That is the birthday of a nation. The twenty-fourth of June is the birthday of an Empire or a Commonwealth, as it looks like. If the new designation of that-complexion, the people is destined to be called. Let us then keep the day, and may I be pardoned for suggesting that it be known as Commonwealth Day. Could we get it observed throughout the Empire what an advertisement it would be. Every-where in the British Dominions would be known that, on the twenty-fourth of June, Newfoundland was discovered. Newfoundland the great fish country, the first of that Empire on which the sun never sets and over

The "Horrors of the Rhine" Fake.

(Presbyterian Witness.)
Almost every new move of the German Government to turn the sympathy of the world against the Allies and to evade responsibility for Germany's crimes is more despicable than the last. Few German takes surpass in turpitude the stories invented about the outrages committed by the black troops of France on the Rhine. The German press gave wide circulation to these so-called "horrors," and a violently anti-British paper, the New York Nation, filled its columns with this disgusting stuff. The persistence with which this propaganda of falsehood was pressed by the German press and pro-German agencies in the United States led to an investigation of these stories by which they have been utterly discredited. Marshal Foch has given out a statement that "For several months there has not been a single black soldier on the left bank of the Rhine." An impartial witness, Madame Karen Bramson, one of the most famous authoresses, made a trip of several weeks along the Rhine, and having heard of the famous outrages supposed to have been committed by the black troops, resolved to investigate the matter on the spot. She visited the principal towns, interrogated the inhabitants, questioned the authorities, examining the reports most carefully. On her return to Sweden she published the results of her patient investigation showing that the charges against the black troops were utterly without foundation. She quotes articles even from German Christian people of the better class, exonerating the black soldiers from all blame, and placing responsibility for any improprieties complained of upon "shameful young German girls" whose conduct was most reprehensible. One German paper, the Volkinger Nachrichten, declares that those "shameless women ought to be flogged." The German burgomaster of Sarrebruck denied a letter over his own signature one of the most terrible of these stories. Thus another German plot has been exposed; but as an old French saying runs: "Culminate, culminate, culminate, something always remains!" The lie has got the start and will doubtless keep ahead of the truth for some time.

which the flag of freedom triumphantly flies.
Yours sincerely,
GEO. W. B. AYRE.

PEANUT SHELLS.
Some may ride in limousines and some in fine sedans. But let me have the common car which is the happy man's. The car which once was new and fine, but now is new no more. The good old car with peanut shells strewn on the floor.

I do not hunger for a rig which costs so very much. I want no polished body which the children must not touch. I like to see the sticky prints emblazoned on the door. And see the last ride's peanut shells still strewn upon the floor.

Oh, let me have the popcorn car, with candy papers, too. And I'll not envy him at all whose bus is ever new. Though I would be a tidy man, somehow when 'day is o'er' It's good to put the car away with shells upon the floor.

It's good to have a battered car to drive along the street. A car which shows to every eye the marks of little feet. It's good to have a happy car, with gladness running o'er. And there's no richer sign of joy than shells upon the floor.

Raised Lid of His Coffin.

Thinking a man run over by a heavy truck in Beaulieu Street, recently, was dead, police officers called for the "dead wagon" from the County Morgue, loaded the "corpse" into the basket-like coffin, and started it for the mortuary chamber. As the attendants were drawing the box out of the vehicle the cover was pushed up, the "dead man" arose and asked where he was. Without waiting to answer any question, the wagon was started full speed for the Receiving Hospital, where the man was examined and found to be internally injured. The truck had passed over the abdomen and his injuries were fatal. He died soon after being admitted.

Kills Himself to Avenge Insult.

The people of China, even the soldiers, are docile and complacent under imposition until some little incident crops up which excites them beyond control. Blows the lid off the seething kettle, and starts them upon a career of violence which nothing will check.

According to the soldiers in Pao-tung, such an incident occurred a few days ago when an old man from the famine district came to the provincial capital starving and exhausted, to look for his son, who was a soldier in Chang P'ai's organization. He found his son, but the soldier had no money and no place to borrow it. The son took his father to the commissary kitchen and asked them for a little food for the old man. This was refused. After some disturbance, the soldier and his companion were ejected from the kitchen. By way of protest in the Chinese fashion, the soldier went to his quarters and shot himself. It is said that the old man died of starvation in the streets. This incident angered the troops in the company to which the man belonged. After arming themselves, they rushed out of the barracks looking for their officers. They encountered a captain and murdered him.

The natural sequel to such an affair under ordinary circumstances would have been the looting of the city, but the soldiers announced that they had too good an understanding of the situation to rob the shopkeepers. They said that when they were ready to revolt, they would go directly to the Tuchun's yamen, kill Teao Kun and then proceed to loot all the government offices and official residences. Reconsideration Suggested.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—May I avail of the courtesy of your columns to appeal to the members of the Longshoremen's Protective Union to reconsider the decision, which in the heat of their enthusiasm they arrived at on Wednesday night in regard to the proposed reduction of wages. While conditions may be such as to justify almost any action on their part, it must be admitted that under the present circumstances the step to be taken is very unwise. Several points may be submitted to substantiate this argument. In the first place we know that as a result of the experiments of the present Administration and the deplorable condition of the market, consequent upon their blundering, the business men of this country have suffered severe financial reverses. This is an important fact, which I think the Secretary of the Employers' Association unfortunately omitted in his communication, merely stating that the figures in his possession warranted the reduction, and intimated that in order to restore business to a proper basis it was necessary that something along these lines be done, but no reference whatever was made to the adverse financial circumstances of the various concerns which he represented. The Longshoremen's Protective Union is composed of a sane and intelligent body of men, and had the Secretary done so, I have no doubt that it would have received their earnest consideration and the decision arrived at would have been different from that which now threatens to deliver a severe blow at the already tottering commercial structure of this country. Now it must be admitted that while the labouring man is undoubtedly in a necessary equipment to the commercial success of this country, capital is none the less essential. A former may be the shaft that swings the wheels of commerce, but his power lies in the force of capital, without which he cannot exist. If for an motive, malicious or otherwise, he should cause a break in the industrial cylinder which would tend to exhaust that force, then who shall say what will happen? I submit, Mr. Editor, with all due deference to that body that the decision which they reached on the occasion of that meeting is not in conformity with present-day conditions. No man would favor a reduction in wages under ordinary circumstances, but if this country is to survive the present critical period, united effort must be made all round. Proletarians and others who play an important part in the carrying out of its commercial enterprise must be willing to undergo any process which would tend to elevate it to its former position, and in speaking thus I think I voice the sentiments of the majority of those who attended that meeting. These men fully realized the gravity of the situation, and felt the delirium of themselves upon the subject, but refrained from doing so because the opposing parties who displayed very pugnacious disposition towards those who ventured to express an opinion contrary to theirs. This regrettable, for had they been allowed to finish without interruption, the result undoubtedly had imparted a certain portion of the audience a better understanding of the matter than they evidently possessed. I don't wish it to be inferred from these few observations that I am opposed to the principles of the Union. On the contrary I am endeavoring to sustain them, for is not the Union devoted entirely to its members, and are not those men by adopting such measures seeking to undermine the industrial fabric of this city, and thereby violating its principle. The reason for jotting down these few remarks is because I am firmly convinced that had the matter received the consideration it deserved, or been put to a vote, we would not now be contemplating the probability of a strike on Monday, and further because we are now at the apex of a serious crisis when the country needs the loyal co-operation of every individual who wishes to see her return to a state quo.
Sincerely yours,
THOS. BRADBURY

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING YOUNG.

"What a lot of wrinkles she has for her age," said someone speaking of a neighbor of ours.
"And yet how young she seems in spite of it and how all the young people do love her," said someone else.
And it was true. There is no elderly woman in the neighborhood whom the young people enjoy more than they do this woman. They tell her of their adventures and their good times and their ambitions. They have an idea she could tell some mothers and fathers things they don't know about their offspring. She is the favorite chaperon for picnics, etc. (and not because she is the kind "who has learned from Cupid just enough blindness to be sweetly stupid," either.)
I think they are wrong. Looks Well Preserved Rather Than Young.
You might not at one casual glance think she was a day over 40 but after a few glances you would know she was, even if she didn't look it. She is one of those people whom you instinctively feel looks young for their age. You aren't in the least deceived about the reality of their age, you just feel that they are well preserved. There are two distinct ways of looking young.
One is the well preserved way, a carefully tended outer youth without any inward youth of the spirit to match it.
The other is to have one's face lit up by an unquenchable inner youth.
You Realize She is Your Own Age.
We all know people of both kinds. I have in mind two sisters, both over 80, who represent these opposite types. One might pass for 70 on a first glance but you would soon realize she was older. The other whose face is a network of wrinkles, out of which shine indomitable brown eyes, shows her full 85 years at first but after you know her you realize she is really your own age.
Of course there is no reason that one should not have both kinds of youth. But very few people do. Those whose privilege it is to know and admire such are greatly blessed.
The burnt edges of muffins and cakes can be neatly trimmed by the kitchen scissors.
Tough pieces of meat may be used up in a highly seasoned, well-cooked casserole.
When making hot biscuits, handle the dough as little as possible and cut out quickly.

Old Looking and Yet Young Looking.
Yet she is not at all young looking in one sense of the phrase. She has a great many wrinkles for her age and her hair is grey.
But in another sense of the phrase she is young looking. Her eyes shine with interest and intelligence, and there is an eagerness and hopefulness about her expression which expresses youth as much as an unlined face or pink cheeks.
This woman has another neighbor who has scarcely a wrinkle in her face. She is what one calls well preserved.
People often say of her "Why you wouldn't think she was a day over 40."

C. L. B. Cadets.

Last night's parade of the C.L.B. Cadets was a very successful one. There was a large attendance of all ranks including the following officers:—Lt-Col. R. P. Goodridge, Capt. N. Henry, H. Outerbridge, J. Snow, F. Miles, Lieuts. P. B. Rendell, H. C. Hayward, A. G. M. King, G. Hunt, L. Hayward, W. Mott, and A. B. Perlin.
Company drill was taken by Capt. Snow, A. Co. and Capt. Miles, F. Co., whilst the Recruits carried on under Lieut. L. Hayward and the Brigade School was conducted by Lieuts. Hunt and King.
"A" Company was in particularly good form last night and is rapidly progressing under its very efficient company officers. During the last few weeks the strength of this company has rarely been under 50 of all ranks. A large squad of recruits was posted to this company last night. The following are extracts from orders for the week ending May 5th.
Orderly Officer for Week—Lieut. P. B. Rendell.
Next for Duty—Lieut. H. C. Hayward.
Duty Section—No. 3 F. Co.
Duty Chaplain—Rev. J. Brinton.
The Battalion will parade as strong as possible on Thursday, May 5th. Until further orders only one parade a week will be held.
The following are struck off the strength of F. Co. for non-attendance:—No. 1908 F. Neider, 1944 W. Evans, 6012 J. Candow, 6008 H. Boker, 6036 S. Harnum, 6099 J. Herder, 1930 A. Chaytor, 1927 C. Bishop, 6066 A. King, 6064 W. Bishop, 3447 C. Barnett, H. Youden.
The following are transferred to Reserve to date 28th inst.—1870 L. Cpl. G. Brown, 6018 Pte. A. Reid.
The Athletic Association is holding its indoor sports Tuesday, May 3, and they will probably make a great success of them. A large number of competitors have entered for the various events and there are some very interesting items on the programme.
The Old Comrades are still going strong and there are always a large number in attendance at their room in the Armoury. They intend to have their photographs taken at the next Church Parade which will be held some time in May.
The Ladies' Auxiliary are working very energetically and the Bridge they are holding on Monday night next promises to be a huge success.
The matter of the annual dinner of the Officers Mess is now under the discussion of a special committee and a report is expected shortly.

The Scottish Coronation Stone.

John Balliol, the successful claimant to the crown of Scotland, having been irritated by frequent summonses to London in 1296, renounced his allegiance to Edward I, who then invaded Scotland at the head of a large army. He besieged and took Berwick-on-Tweed, defeated Balliol at Dunbar, and seized several castles, including those of Edinburgh and Stirling. He then swept through the kingdom from south to north, finding none to resist him. Balliol abjectly submitted, and after being publicly deposed, he resigned his crown into the hands of Edward, who committed him and his son as prisoners to the Tower of London, on April 27. On his departure, Edward left the Earl of Surrey as Guardian of the kingdom. The regalia of Scotland and the ancient coronation stone (a rough block of red sandstone, which stood first in Dunstaffnage Castle, Argyshire, and was thence carried to Scone) were brought to Westminster, where it still remains and forms part of the coronation chair. At the same time all Scottish records which might keep alive the spirit of the nation were destroyed. The regalia, however, was restored to Scotland in the reign of Edward III. In the following year, at the head of a band of patriots, William Wallace, the Scottish champion, retook from the English nearly all the fortresses north of the Forth. After defeating the Earl of Surrey in the Battle of Stirling Bridge, and driving the English across the border, he ravaged the north of England, and on his return was proclaimed Guardian of Scotland. News of these doings having reached Edward in Flanders, he hastened home, marched into Scotland with a large army, and defeated Wallace at Falkirk in 1298. By

Sports "Diseases."

Have You Suffered from "Tennis Elbow," "Football Knee," or "Rower's Heart?"
Seeing that exercise is the road to health, and that it is only through games and sports that most of us can arrive at fitness, it seems a bit absurd to talk of sports "diseases."
But the fact is, of course, that you can always have too much of a good thing, and that over-indulgence in any form of sport is sure to cause trouble to the foolish person who does not know his or her own limitations.
Nearly every game has its particular physical penalties. Take tennis, and consider how many fine players have been crippled by "tennis elbow." In every case it is started by a strain, a strain which, in the heat of play, is neglected, and which revenges itself by giving terrible trouble.
"Football knee" is one of the commonest of ailments. It usually results from damage to one of the cartilages of the knee, the one most frequently affected being the "inner semi-lunar." If the injured player lies up at once he will probably recover entirely, but if not he may be condemned to wearing a bandage for the rest of his life.
The Rigger Rash.
A peculiar form of rash often afflicts Rugby football-players. It is supposed to be caused by abrasions from other players' jerseys in the scrum. In any case, it is not easy to cure.
You would hardly think that golf had any penalty, yet, as a matter of fact, it has several. The commonest is probably "golf knee." The left knee suffers from overstrain in driving and from too much pivoting.
Then there is "plano wrist," from which one of the young aspirants in the recent Girls' Golf Championship suffered. Perhaps, however, this is rather a fault than a disease. It merely means that the left wrist, instead of being turned inwards at the beginning of the swing, is arched outwards as in striking the keys of a piano.
Many golfers suffer from corns on their hands or from split fingers. A well-known amateur, belonging to a South London club, is obliged to keep the second finger of his right hand constantly strapped with sticking-plaster. If he omits this precaution he splits the tip of the finger in most painful fashion.
People who ride a great deal often suffer from what is called "riding muscle." This is an affection of the muscles—or, rather, one particular muscle—of the thigh, which is abominably painful, and very difficult to cure. A well-known West End specialist treats dozens of cases of this trouble during each successive hunting season.

King George of U. S. A.

The cessation of Sovereign rule in America, said to date from the time when the Emperor of Brazil left the throne, but it is interesting to discover that the last known king in America was his Majesty King George.
His Majesty's full name was, "H. M. George William Albert, King of the Mosquito Coast," and in May, 1897, he had just reached fifty years of age.
The events which led to his compulsory abdication were unfortunate, for the Nicaraguan Republic held paramount authority over him. That was the outcome of a treaty between England and the United States, the condition being that that Republic paid his Majesty and his heirs for ever an annuity of £1,000 English money. This agreement, which was made in 1860, was carried out till 1894, when various international complications caused Nicaragua to stop its payment.
As a result, King George left his throne to look after itself, and took refuge under the British Government

Your Daughter

IS your daughter at that critical age, approaching womanhood, when nothing is so important to her as mother's care and mother's advice?
It is during this time that her whole future health and happiness may be at stake.
With most girls this important development takes place at a time when school work is most exacting and the nervous system is consequently under a most severe strain.
An enormous quantity of rich, red blood is necessary to meet the demands of the system, and, this failing, there is the development of anaemia, chlorosis or some form of nervous trouble, such as St. Vitus' dance.
Most mothers now know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and the promptness with which it enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system of the growing girl.
It is mother's duty to see that a reasonable amount of rest and sleep is obtained, that the food is wholesome and nutritious, and that the treatment is used regularly and persistently so as to keep up an abundant supply of pure, rich, nourishing blood.

Woman Suffrage in Iceland

In Iceland we find a nation of seventy-three thousand people, in whom men and women are in every respect political equals governed by representatives elected by men and women together. The future citizens are taught by their mothers, and in whole island not a single illiterate to be found, every child being able to read, write and cipher by the time he has reached the age of seven. A these voting mothers who educate their own children have produced a nation in which there are no prisoners, no thieves, no enormous rich, no miserably poor; just a plain, temperate, chaste, educated and intelligent people.

Pauperising A Country.

From every section of the country comes reports of destitution, a destitution not brought about by any act of the people themselves, but produced by a series of errors on the part of the Government, since its assumption of office in November, 1919. Almost from the very day that the Liberal-Reform Party succeeded the late Administration a blight has fallen upon Newfoundland, and even at present no man may foretell the end. Destitution prevails. Government Relief is being sought for by men who have fish in their stores which they cannot sell, a condition unprecedented in the trade of the Colony. There was never a time when dry codfish was not a saleable commodity at some price, until the years of grace 1920-21; years the blackest of any in colonial history. Requests, appeals and demands are piling in as day succeeds day for relief supplies, and the Government—the Liberal-Reform Government from which so much was expected—instructs its Relieving Officers to dole out allowances of Flour and Molasses only, weekly, according to the schedule covering such issue per family. There is not a district in which people have not been obliged to swallow their pride and make application for the articles of food named, in order that body and soul may be kept together until such time as a brighter day dawns and a stable form of Government established in Newfoundland. A Government that will restore confidence at home and abroad, and bring the country out of the slough of despond into which it has been plunged by those who should have adhered more sedulously to their pledges and not have permitted themselves to be seduced by smooth tongues and plausible promises.

Of all the districts, perhaps, those comprising the Western section of the country are in the worst case. Members in the House of Assembly have repeatedly declared that numerous requests had been received by them, soliciting Government assistance. These requests did not come from the permanent poor, but from able-bodied fathers of families, who as a last resort were obliged to seek charity, because they could not dispose of the products of their labor, the whole fish industry having been strangled by the imposition of the Fishery Regulations, and exporters forbidden to ship their cargoes to foreign markets, when ready, at the usual time. Placentia and St. Mary's, Burin, Fortune Bay, Burgeo and La-Poile. These are the principal sufferers, as the only industry in which the people engage is codfishing. Hence their sole welfare depends upon the catching and marketing of that product of the sea. Last year they were prevented from doing this freely, and this year they are not embarking on the voyage to any great extent, simply because there is no one to buy fish after it is caught. Poor Relief seems to be the rule rather than the exception, and men who would rather do anything than seek such aid, have been obliged for the sake of their wives and children to have their names placed on the Emergency Relief List, and take their weekly order for the apportioned quantity of Flour and Molasses allotted them. It is an intolerable condition, and no burden of life could impose its weight more heavily upon the hitherto independent fishermen of the districts named than that of having to accept such bare rations as are handed out by and with Government authority.

More able-bodied poor relief has been issued in the district of Burgeo and LaPoile this year than ever before, and able-bodied relief is different and distinct from permanent and casual. It is distressing to read the many letters coming from all parts of that district all complaining of the hopelessness of the outlook and lamenting the hard fact that dire necessity alone compels the people to accept the naked charity offered by the Government. Not so very long ago the member for this district made a public statement that he had ordered but twenty-five barrels flour to be sent there on Government account. That may be quite all right, but the official answer to a question tabled in the House of Assembly on this subject, shows that one hundred and eighty barrels of flour have been shipped to various settlements to be given out under authority of the relieving officers, not including some broken lots supplied by a local dealer to the value of over four hundred dollars, the latter being charged to the Government at the rate of sixteen dollars and fifty cents per barrel, and some molasses issued by the same dealer was entered at a price of one dollar and seventy cents per gallon. These issues do not cover the total for the whole district, nor are the returns of the four relieving officers for Burgeo and LaPoile included. They will tell a tale of their own. One hundred and fifty barrels of this flour were shipped from St. John's by a Commission Merchant, and it is said, by a clerk in a grocery store who is a well-known partisan of the Prime Minister. He filled an order for seventy barrels, while the Commission Merchant put through a shipment of eighty. Dealers in the district supplied but thirty barrels and some broken lots. In this connection we make the contention that where there are dealers in the district carrying adequate supplies, their stocks should be drawn upon to relieve existing distress, and that the preference, if any, should be given these men, rather than that favorites in St. John's should be permitted to ship flour on Government account, thus interfering with the legitimate business of recognized merchants and suppliers.

Octette Scores
Another Success.

The St. John's Octette repeated their St. George's night concert in the Methodist College Hall last night before a large and appreciative audience. The different items on the programme were faultlessly rendered. The violin solo by Mrs. (Dr.) Murphy and the recitations by Mrs. H. Outerbridge were enthusiastically received both having to respond to several encores, whilst handsome bouquets were presented to both ladies as a small token of appreciation for their splendid services. The proceeds of last night's concert as that of the previous one will be devoted to city charities under the direction of the Llewellyn Club. The St. John's Octette has established itself in musical circles and future appearances will draw packed houses.

800 Unemployed Registered.

At the Unemployment Bureau nearly 800 men have registered up to today. Of the total number 230 have been placed to work. Preparations for opening up other jobs of work are under way, but the Council seems handicapped for the want of necessary pipes, etc. These are, however, expected to arrive shortly. In the meantime the gang of men now employed will be paid off and another batch of 200 or so take their places. This seems to be the only possible solution for the present time. The registrar, Mr. Edward Whitty, informs us that a surprising number of the men are in very poor circumstances, and the conditions of a large number is something terrible.

Civil Actions.

A Defective Chimney.—A man was charged with having a defective chimney in a house owned by him. He said he was going to tear down the house. His Honor said he would continue the hearing of the case next week.
Sues for Passage Money.—A most interesting case was that of a man who sued the Daily Star for the amount of his passage home to England. It appears that this man came out here over a year ago as a hand compositor for the Star, with the understanding that he was to receive his passage money after a year, if he did not wish to stay. He was laid off in March owing to there not being sufficient work for him, and the Star now refuses to pay the passage money agreed upon. Hon. M. P. Gibb, K.C., for defendant company, asked for a postponement. Mr. G. W. Ayre, for the plaintiff objected. It was decided to postpone the case until Tuesday next.

To Reduce Milk Prices.

The farmers of the surrounding country held a largely attended meeting in the British Hall yesterday. Matters in connection with seeds, fertilizer, etc., were discussed. The matter of reducing the price of milk was also considered. The meeting decided to sell milk at 20c per quart, retail after the first of June. This is a reduction of 16 cents per gallon on the cost during the period of high price feeds.

Obituary.

MYRTIS LIND.
There passed away at the General Hospital, on Tuesday morning last, Myrtis, daughter of Harry J. and Julia Lind, of Grand Falls, at the early age of 21 years. Miss Lind had been an inmate of the Hospital for some weeks, undergoing treatment for valvular heart trouble, but spite of all that could be done by skill and love death supervened, and a bright young life was snuffed out. Deceased was a niece of the late Frank T. Lind, so well known in the annals of the Royal Nfld. Regiment and in local journalism. Left to mourn are a father, mother, several brothers and one sister; to all of whom the deepest sympathies go out. Funeral takes place on Saturday afternoon from the General Hospital.

Strange Requests.

Strange and sometimes pathetic are the requests that deceased people occasionally leave behind them. Only the other day a farmer was borne to his grave on a farm-cart drawn by his favourite pony.
Some time ago a lady, who was a brilliant pianist, asked in her will that she might be buried in her piano instead of a coffin. Another lady was buried at sea, by her special wish, and the coffin borne thence in a fishing-boat by two fishermen who had known her since her childhood.
In an open field not very far from London there is a solitary grave of one who was an ardent lover of the surrounding country. This, again, was a woman who did not wish to be buried in the crowded cemetery of the city. And one cannot help feeling that she was a little wise, for where she rests the countryside is full of peace.

House of Assembly.

NOTICE OF MOTION.
Hon. The Prime Minister—To ask leave to introduce a Bill entitled, "An Act to Amend the Protesting Act, 1920."

NOTICE OF QUESTION.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, if any reports have been received from the codfish inspectors who for months past have been working under authority of his department in this port and elsewhere around the coast inspecting fish for export, which describe the condition of the fish, and the results of the so called policy of standardization, and if so, to lay on the table of the House, copy of same, and if not whether any instructions were issued to these officials to make such reports, and if not why not, and if such instructions were issued, to lay on the table of the House a copy of the same, and to say why they were not acted upon?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, in his capacity of Chairman of the Railway Commission, how many men could have been employed in the Reid machine shops the past winter in the construction of six locomotives imported from Philadelphia if their construction had been undertaken here, and what amount of money would have been paid them; and to lay on the table of the House a statement in detail of the reason why the policy of building the locomotives here was not undertaken.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, if in the event of the passing of the Act now before the House for the Repeal of the Fish Regulations, the agreement between George Hawes and certain fish exporters in this Colony made on the 2nd of October, 1919, will continue to receive endorsement or approval of facilities for the carrying it out from the Government of this Colony, and if exporters, not parties to that agreement, can be assured that this will not operate to their prejudice hereafter?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of Hon. the Minister of Finance and Customs, if it is intended to undertake this year a revision of the tariff (if the said revision is to be in the interests of the manufacturers only, and if the Government will undertake to provide that the representations of the working classes generally may be recorded as well as those of the manufacturers?)

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, in his capacity of Chairman of the Railway Commission, to lay on the table of the House a copy of a report made by Mr. J. A. Powell, General Superintendent, to the Commission at its meeting on September 10th, 1920, dealing with the ballasting of the track, any fencing and general repairs to bridges, trestles and crossings.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister what further steps, if any, the Government proposes to take with a view to assisting the fishermen of the country in obtaining supplies to enable them to prosecute that industry during the coming summer, and if, in the event of any action being taken, it is intended that the fishermen generally shall benefit by any such arrangement that is made, or will such be confined, as in the matter of purchasing Labrador fish last fall, to members of the F.P.U. and members of the House of Assembly like the Hon. member for Harbor Grace, Mr. Gosse.

Sir J. C. Crosbie—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of Hon. the Minister of Finance and Customs, to lay on the table of the House the amounts paid from the Treasury for S. S. Watchful, S.S. Senef, S.S. Daisy, and S.S. Malakoff and amount of exchange paid on purchase of said steamers.

Sir J. C. Crosbie—To ask the Minister of Shipping to lay on the table of the House the day-book, Journal, and Ledger of the S.S. Watchful, S.S. Sebastopol, S.S. Daisy, S.S. Senef and S.S. Malakoff, and that all entries be made up to the 25th of April, and if not entered up to that date why it has not been done?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries in his capacity of Chairman of the Railway Commission, what steps are being taken to promote the building of hotels through the country to which end the Commission turned its attention in September last as according to an official report of a meeting of the Commission held on September 10th, 1920.

Mr. Sullivan—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to inform this House what price the Government intends to charge the fishermen for the government salt now on the way here and the price at which the Government salt now in stock in Newfoundland will be sold?

Mr. Higgins—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister:

(1) If the Government has yet received any amount of Prize Money due Newfoundland Reservists?

(2) If nothing has been received in there any correspondence to be tabled on the subject, or does the Government anticipate receiving any such payment and if so when?

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

DIED OF MALARIA.

CAPE TOWN, S.A., April 28. Lord Alastair Leveson-Gower has died in hospital at Johannesburg from malaria, contracted during a big game hunting expedition in Rhodesia.

ADMIRAL HARDING.

OLD POINT COMFORT, V.A.

April 28. Appearing for the first time in his role of Commander-in-Chief of the United States Navy, President Harding to-day reviewed the Atlantic fleet as it returned to this port from battle manoeuvres in "Southern" waters. From the Bridge of the yacht Mayflower, Harding watched the fighting ships go by, and received the Presidential salute of twenty-one guns. After the review Harding addressed the officers of the fleet on the flagship Pennsylvania. He expressed the hope that the United States Navy might never again fire a gun in war. "America wants only that which is righteously her own, and by the Eternal, we mean to have that," said he.

MIXING THINGS.

LONDON, April 28. Germany's attempt to clarify certain of her reparation proposals, in compliance with the request of the British Foreign Office, was said in official circles to-day to have resulted in greater confusion. Great Britain has asked for a further explanation.

FIXING THE PENALTY.

PARIS, April 28. The application of further penalties to Germany, and the tracing of new boundaries between Poland and German Upper Silesia, will be discussed at a meeting of the Supreme Allied Council in London on Saturday, it was learned to-day. United States, it is understood, will be invited to send a representative to this meeting. Premier Briand, it is understood, will not undertake the occupation of Ruhr District without the approval of the Allies. In any case, the occupation could not be effected before a week or two after orders are given.

THANKS U.S. GOVT.

LONDON, April 28. It was announced by Reuters, Limited, to-day, that France had instructed Ambassador Jusserand in Washington to thank United States Government for its "assurance that United States would not deliver German reparations note without approval of the Allies."

BANK RATE REDUCED.

LONDON, April 28. Announcement was made at the Bank of England this morning that

APPROVES JAPANESE ALLIANCE.

LONDON, April 28. If Great Britain can arrange a satisfactory alliance with Japan, which can be extended to America, it means an annual saving of millions of pounds sterling to Australia, Premier Hughes declared in a farewell speech, before leaving for London to attend a conference of Empire Premiers.

NO DECREASE.

OTTAWA, April 28. There is an increase in the cost of living to the average man of about ten per cent. in the past two years, according to G. G. Grant McNeill, Dominion Secretary O.W.V.A.

IS IT BLUFF?

BERLIN, April 28. Addressing the Reichstag yesterday, Dr. Walter Simons, Foreign Minister, asserted he had made every effort to acquaint himself with the viewpoint of Germany's opponents, with the result, seemingly, that the present German step was regarded, as it was intended, as a perfectly honorable resolve to abide by arbitration of the question of reparations. "An understanding with France on reparations appears almost impossible, but I have not yet abandoned hope that negotiations will ensue, based on our proposals," said Simons.

NEW OFFICE FOR CARSON.

LONDON, April 28. Sir Edward Carson, who has lately retired from Leadership of the Ulster Unionist Party, has accepted the post of Lord of Appeal, according to the Daily Mail.

PASSENGER SHIP ASHORE.

LOCK ISLAND, R.I., April 28. The Portuguese steamer, Mornurago, with four hundred and forty-eight passengers, went ashore on Black Rock, on the west side of Block Island, in a thick fog early to-day. She is reported leaking slightly, but not in a dangerous position.

WILL RESUME CONVERSATIONS.

LONDON, April 28. Conversations between the Earl of Derby and Sinn Fein representatives will be resumed in a few days, when the Earl returns to Ireland, says the London Times to-day. He will take no written proposals from the British Government, but will be empowered to speak as the Envoy of Lloyd-George.

UNITED SUPPORT.

PARIS, April 28. Premier Briand left for London early to-day, to attend the meeting of Supreme Council on Saturday.

He will appear before that body with the support of the French Parliament and press, which is unanimous in demanding direct action in enforcing penalties against Germany in her default of reparations.

A Fixed Easter.

(Daily Telegraph, London.)

For some time past the practical inconvenience of having a movable Easter have been felt not only by commercial communities, but also by the authorities at universities and public schools and the community at large. The subject was brought before the House of Lords by Lord Desborough in July last year, when the Archbishop of Canterbury made a sympathetic speech, and the Earl of Onslow explained why, at that particular moment, the question could not be taken up by the Government. A few weeks ago Lord Desborough introduced his Bill in the House of Lords in accordance with which the Feast of Easter is to be "kept and observed" on the second Sunday in April in the year 1922 and in all subsequent years. It is further provided that "all movable feasts and days of fasting dependent on Easter shall be kept and observed on dates ascertained by reference to the date of Easter and fixed by this Act."

Now that once more attention has been drawn to the matter there seems to be a very general consensus of opinion that some steps should be taken for forwarding the proposal without delay. The two obvious points on which some decision ought to be reached are: First, the establishment of a fixed date for the celebration of Easter; and, second, the reform of the calendar which necessarily follows upon any change. We have said that the commercial communities are much interested in this question. There seems not the slightest doubt that the vast majority of the organizations representative of business interests have passed resolutions in favor of a fixed date for Easter and Whit-tide, and any other alterations which the reform of the calendar may involve. Lord Desborough, in the House of Lords, said a year ago that a very large number of Chambers of Commerce and other mercantile bodies have come to definite conclusions for a number of years past; and in June last year the Congress of the International Chambers of Commerce met in Paris and unanimously passed resolutions in favor of the change.

Apart, however, from commercial opinion we believe that a considerable portion of the community at large feels so decidedly the inconvenience of the present system that they are anxious to see it changed. Easter is the central festival of the Church, and upon Easter depend not merely the festivals and holy days of the Church which follow, but also those which precede Easter. Now, under the present system, it is possible—as Lord Desborough pointed out—for that central festival of the Church to vary no less than thirty-five days, that is to say, between March 22, which is the earliest possible date after the Spring Equinox, and April 25. It need scarcely be explained how greatly a variation of this kind affects schools, universities, law terms, and the great national holidays of the people. So widespread is the inconvenience that most of the schools now fix their holidays independently of Easter, and there is a danger that the lay festival may be finally divorced from the ecclesiastical celebration, which in the opinion of most of those who have considered the subject is a consequence much to be deplored.

Household Notes.

Asparagus will keep fresh for several days if you bury it in cool, damp soil. Thin cotton Georgette crepe makes nice summer curtains for the living room. Attractive wash curtains can be made of children's dress goods, especially solsette. Oicleth and linoleum will last twice as long if they are varnished every spring.

JOYFUL EATING

Unless your food is digested without the aftermath of painful acidity, the joy is taken out of both eating and living.

KI-MOIDS

are wonderful in their help to the stomach troubled with over-acidity. Pleasant to take—relief prompt and definite.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE, MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

Maximus for the Married

Never give a man as much as he wants, and he will always want more. However beautiful you are, have dinner ready at the right time. Remember, no laughter will ever make a man forgive something that really hurt before it.

It is useless being charming for an evening, if you are hateful for a week. It is far better to do one really kind action than talk religion, and make your husband go to church three times a day.

Calif-love is a sort of vaccination which sometimes prevents people taking the disease badly a second time. The operation need not necessarily be performed by a doctor.

A clever woman learns something from every love affair. The great thing in love is to know what to give and how to take.

Marriage is like a garden. One must try to keep up the imagination and ideals of the Past, good hopes for the Future, and the sunshine of smiles. It is only with great tact and sympathy that one can avoid thorns growing up in between.

It needs a clever woman to marry a poor man and keep him and herself happy. Generally the only way is to make him get rich.

Amateurs are failures in everything except love, and then—if they are women—they are often the greatest success.

There is nothing on earth greener and younger than the spring hedges—unless, perhaps, it is a sentimental youth at his first love affair.

In marriage, anticipation is far more beautiful than realization; but, luckily for the world's history, everyone thinks his or her case will prove the exception.

Remember, marriage is like gardening. You can't expect a gardenia from a cabbage stock. See the grandmother! The successful husband is he who can show most appreciation and hide most disappointments.

The most successful wife is the one who can make her husband the most comfortable and, at the same time, let him think he is the instigator of it all.

Dug Their Own Graves.

Fearful that investigations of Government detectives would result in the accusation that he held his negro employees in slavery, John Williams, owner of a 2300 acre plantation in Jasper County, Georgia, has been charged by the coroner's jury, together with two of his negro overseers, with murdering 11 negroes, and forcing several of them to dig their own graves or throwing them manacled together into the swift flowing neighbouring river. To date five bodies have been recovered from small graves on Williams' plantation, six bodies have been taken from the river, and as the police daily uncover additional bodies, rumours are rife that the total number of victims will reach forty before all the negroes who have mysteriously disappeared in that section of the country have been accounted for.

As a result of the horrible disclosures, it is believed that the Grand Jury will order a thorough investigation into the condition of negroes throughout the State of Georgia for the purpose of putting an end to the state of "peonage," said to exist among the negroes on many large plantations in violation of the anti-slavery laws of the country. Clyde Manning, a negro overseer for Williams, is said to have confessed that, acting on his master's instructions, he personally killed five negroes with an axe. The method was to order the victim to dig a fence hole or well, and when the excavation was sufficiently deep, Manning struck with his axe, and buried the corpse as it lay. Other negroes were shot down in cold blood, and it is alleged, by Williams, Manning, Chisholm, the latter a negro overseer who, it is stated was subsequently killed by Williams or Manning. The bodies of two negroes were dragged from the river bed on Sunday, bound together with ropes and chains, weighed down with heavy legions, and as a result an order has been issued to drag all the neighbouring streams for additional bodies. Medical examinations showed that the negroes had been cast into the water alive. Williams first came under suspicion of practicing "peonage" on March 1, when two agents of the Department of Justice visited the plantation, but when the officers visited a neighbouring farm belonging to Williams' son they are said to have seen four or five negroes at work with Leroy Williams, another son, guarding them with a gun. It is alleged that Williams, frightened at the prospect that his negroes would talk, ordered them to be killed immediately after the Government agents had left.

How Prisoners Are Flogged.

If the "cat" is to be brought into general use in order to cope with the present epidemic of crimes of violence, as has been advocated, the authorities would be well advised to standardise the instruments used to inflict the floggings, which else will be apt to vary greatly in their severity.

In some few goals, for instance, the old Army-pattern cat-o-nine-tails still survives. This is a truly terrible instrument, made of whipcord, and furnished with "blood knots." A man flogged with it carries the scars to his grave.

In most goals, however, and in all convict prisons, though the "cat" is in use has nine tails, these are not made of whipcord, but of a sort of very stout twine, bound with silk at the ends to prevent it unravelling. Also, they are minus the cruel "blood knots," so that they cannot lacerate the flesh.

Shakespeare and Sport.

Did you know that the one and only William Shakespeare was a football enthusiast? Perhaps he played centre-forward for some team. That we know not, but here are some quotations which seem to prove that he was a keen follower of the great pastime:

"Down! Down!"—"Henry VI."
 "Well played!"—"Henry V."
 "An excellent pass!"—"The Tempest."

"A touch, a touch, I do confess!"—"Hamlet."
 "I do command thee to their backs!"—"Macbeth."

"More rushes, more rushes!"—"2 Henry IV."
 "Pell-mell, down with them!"—"Love's Labour's Lost."
 "I'll catch it ere it come to ground!"—"Macbeth."

"We must have bloody noses and cracked crowns!"—"1 Henry IV."
 "Being down, I have the placing!"—"Cymbeline."

Beaver Boarding is just that simple.

These big, flawless panels of built-up lumber go up quickly and easily, without muss or litter—on new studing or over old walls and ceilings.

Then they are ready for the most decorative finishes. Once painted, they are good as long as the building lasts—wash them with soap and water whenever you wish.

Beaver Board is just as applicable to a beautiful living-room built by carpenters as it is to the simple finishing of an attic. It is just as economical in the new home as in brightening up the old home.

The result is sure if genuine Beaver Board is used. You can identify it by the Beaver Quality trade-mark on the back of every panel.

Falls Unconscious When Ghost Walks.

Some months ago John Koch, of Trenton, O., killed himself after shooting and seriously wounding Theodore Opendaker in a garage. Mrs. Koch and her four small children have since lived at 419 Ferry Street. The suicide's alleged ghost made its alleged first appearance about two weeks ago, according to members of the household, when Mrs. Koch awoke with a scream and declared she had seen her husband. A few nights later she again groused occupants of the house by her screams. The night following, it is said, every one was awakened by a crashing noise in the kitchen, but investigation showed nothing amiss. To soothe the Koch children, who were terrified and sobbing, their uncle, Stephen Hannan, volunteered to sleep downstairs on a couch. Last Monday night, he says, he was aroused by loud and insistent clicking of the latch on the kitchen door. He ran toward the door. The noise stopped. But when he turned around he was confronted by what he declared to have been the form of Koch. "I will be back on Friday night. I will then leave for one hour, but I will return," the ghost is alleged to have stated. With a shriek of terror, Hannan seized a lighted oil lamp and hurled it at the apparition. The lamp merely dented the wall. He picked up another and hurled it at the vaporous form and then fell to the floor in a faint. There the family found him. Ephraim Cordwell and his wife, who live in the house, were aroused by the tumult, and Cordwell began an all-night vigil with Hannan. One took up a position on one side of the door and one on the other. Presently, they say, the latch began to jiggle and both rushed to the door. They opened it and confronted each other. Then they tied the latch securely with heavy twine. Even this did not keep it from clicking, and, investigating, they found the cord cut in several places. Friday night, at the time the alleged ghost said it would return, three oil lamps were mysteriously and simultaneously extinguished and Hannan called in Mrs. Henry Blizzard and her daughter of 424 Ferry Street, who also saw the dancing latch. Saturday night the entire household was again roused by the sound of falling furniture, but nothing was out of place. Last night passed quietly. But the Kochs, the Hannans and the Cordwells were in a state bordering on terror as bedtime approached to night. Mrs. Koch during the day had visited a doctor, her nerves being shattered by the uncanny events.

His name is seen on every list of givers to The Cause; and people often wot and wist that he is Santa Claus. To brighten up the world he strives, he'll brighten it or bust; he's prominent in all the "drives" that call for people's dust. But if he owes you iron men he seems to hate to pay; you'll have to call, again, again, and chase him day by day. I don't indorse the frequent "drives" that bore us everywhere, that pester voters and their wives for coin they cannot spare. I do not give to every Jay who tags me in the mart, and Biffkin has been heard to say that I've a calloused heart. But when a man presents his bill for anything I've bought, I take the rubbles from the till, and pay him on the spot. No merchant bones me for the sale upon the public street, and no collectors, on my trail, wear out their useful feet. I pay up every cent I owe, that creditors may thrive, before I dig up any dough to help along a drive. I may be Biffkin's course is right, and mine is badly wrong, but Biffkin's credit is a sight, and mine is good and strong.

House of Assembly.

April 28th.
The discussion of several Bills, particularly the Amendment to the Lottery Act, took up the greater part of yesterday's session of the House. Several unimportant Bills passed the committee stage and were ordered to be read a third time at next session. The Amendment to the Lottery Act which was introduced by the Minister of Justice was, at his request, ordered to be given its third reading on Monday. This Bill provoked a considerable amount of discussion, some of it amusing and some developing surprising information.

Sir J. C. Crosbie thought a man should be allowed to dispose of his animals by lottery. The Lottery Law was a farce and he particularly objected to the section which ordained that the informer got half the fine. He asked that the Bill be wiped out all together. He said that the whole commercial life of Newfoundland was a lottery.

Mr. Higgins supported Sir John's suggestion and said the very evil to be cured by the second section was brought about by the Lottery Law. He thought a Department of Lotteries would be made necessary by the Bill. Mr. Bennett supported some of Mr. Higgins' suggestions but did not think the Act should be entirely obliterated. The Minister of Justice was not prepared to repeal the Act.

Mr. Walsh gave it as his opinion that the Bill was a farce and the Minister of Public Works said, with a great deal of truth, that if every law had to be repealed because it was broken it would be necessary to repeal the Ten Commandments.

Mr. Macdonnell was of the contrary opinion and felt convinced that it was not possible to legislate people into Heaven. Anything decent in ethics, morality or religion would not be aided by legislation. He was opposed to state intervention in matters of this kind.

The Speaker was of the opinion that the original Act should not be altered beyond making a greater penalty for those who broke it. He greatly amused the House by telling how he had been fined for breaking the lottery law unwittingly and said it proved that as the Magistrate who tried the case had not accepted his explanation, that it would be a mistake to trust to the discretionary powers of these officials.

The Minister of Justice accepted Mr. Fox's suggestion. He had been surprised to hear of the Speaker being convicted of a breach of the Lottery Act and he added a small pleasantry by saying he was pleased Hon. Mr. Penney had paid the fine and so saved himself from undergoing the indignity of having to shovel the snow at Government House gate. He asked that the Bill be given its third reading on Monday. The Bill respecting the Pension Commissioners went through the Committee stage with little discussion. The Bill respecting the Protection of Delinquent Children was severely dealt with by Mr. Macdonnell. In introducing the Bill the Minister of Justice said he did so at the request of Revs. Hemmen, Bolt, and Greene. It was practically a copy of the English Act passed with the same object. The main object of it was to have children who commit offences tried in private, and, if necessary, to hand them over to the care of certain people appointed for the purpose.

Mr. Macdonnell commented very strongly on the Bill. He said that the fact that the Bill was modelled on the English one was reason enough for its rejection. The acts of the probation officers in England forced the working women to form the Mothers' Defence League. The officials under the act should be ordinary police constables. He would fight this provision to the limit in the committee stage. The independent people of this country would not put up with such a Bill.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries thought it better, under the circumstances, to have the Bill rescinded by its promoters. The Minister of Justice asked that the Debate on the Bill be adjourned till Monday and Mr. Fox therefore, moved the adjournment.

The Act respecting the High Commissioner's Office was next taken up and got its second reading. The Act to confirm the agreement between the Government and the Dominion and Nova Scotia Iron and Steel Companies was given a formal second reading and will go into the committee stage on Monday.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries moved the second reading of the Bill for the Repeal of the Codfish Exportation Act. He informed Sir John Crosbie that the Italian Consorzio had no intention of giving up control over imports of fish until their present stocks were consumed. He had made efforts recently to have the control taken off shore fish but had not been successful. The present stocks in Italy would last until the end of July. He told Sir Michael Cashin that the Government would not repeal the Standardization Act, but would not enforce it. He also informed Sir Michael that the export tax of 30 cents per quintal could not be removed.

Sir John Crosbie did not think it was fair to tax the fisherman—for this was what it amounted to—on low priced fish. He was informed that some of the Trade Commissioners would be kept on and he said it would be better to bring these men home and find some more useful work for them. On a motion for adjournment, Mr. M. S. Sullivan brought up the supplies question and said it was about time the Prime Minister defined some policy to enable this difficulty to be overcome. The Opposition, he said, would be ready to help in the working out of some programme.

Mr. Sullivan's remarks were fully endorsed by Sir Michael Cashin who said the offices of Water, Street and of the outport merchants were already besieged with applicants for supplies and very little or nothing at all is being given. He had wanted the Government long ago as to what would happen but it had not taken heed. Some 20,000 men will be looking for supplies this spring and he wanted to know as a representative of the people what the Government was going to do about it. He wished to say to the Government that any assistance that he could give that would relieve the situation either by suggestion or advice would be given cheerfully. It was time something was done. It was not for him to devise ways and means to get over the difficulty; that was the job of the Government, but he would give all the assistance possible.

Sir John Crosbie was in accordance with what Sir Michael had said. Mr. Bennett also expressed himself in similar terms. He brought up the matter of the loan to the Council from the Royal Bank of Canada and said he had been informed there was some hesitancy on the Bank to advance the money. That being so he would advocate the introduction of resolutions enabling the Governor-in-Council to raise a loan to meet the emergency. It could be done by Act of the Legislature and to get the money he advocated that the necessary legislation be asked for.

The Prime Minister thanked the Opposition for the offer of co-operation. He would like to inform Mr. Bennett that the Royal Bank of Canada showed no disposition to advance the money. He was convinced that the Management of the Royal Bank of Canada were a bunch of "Shylocks" who were attempting to take advantage of the present labour situation to squeeze the city and the Government. This statement of the Prime Minister greatly surprised the House and Sir John Crosbie took exception to it, especially as the Management of the Bank were not present to defend themselves.

The Prime Minister said he deliberately made the statement and his reason for so doing was that in his application to Mr. Jubien, the manager of the Royal Bank, he was told that the loan would only be forthcoming on a Minute of Council being passed guaranteeing the repayment of the $150,000, which was proposed to borrow, together with the amount of over $300,000.00 now owed; by the Council on current account by the 31st day of December, 1921. He had put forward a counter proposal that the Government would guarantee that the total would be paid back in one year or less, but by December 31st, 1922. This the Bank would not entertain but demanded that the actual cash be paid back by December 31st of this year. He consequently looked upon them as he did before as a bunch of Shylocks who had set out to squeeze the city, taking advantage of the labour situation to do it. As regards the co-operation of the Opposition proposals, suggestions, or anything they had to offer would be welcomed during the coming debates when important matters would be under consideration.

Sir John Crosbie asked the Prime Minister to withdraw his statement and that gentleman said the Supervisor of Debates might delete it, but nevertheless, the words, he said, formed his actual opinion.

Mr. Walsh asked for a secret session of the House to discuss several important matters. Adjournment was then taken until Monday next. During the session Petitions were presented by Messrs. Walsh, Winsor, Higgins and Jones.

The following Bills were put through the Committee stage, besides those already mentioned:—
The Sheep Farming Bill and the Crown Lands Act Amendment.
The "Marine Courts of Enquiry" bill and the "Terra Nova Sulphate Co." bill were given their third reading.

The following answers to questions were tabled.
The Minister of Marine and Fisheries told Sir M. P. Cashin that "Mr. Col. Ilesha visited Washington with Mr. J. M. Devine to ascertain particulars relative to the proposal to place a tax on fish imports. Any report would be made to the Colonial Secretary. Mr. Col. Ilesha was to be paid fare from New York to and from Washington and total expenses while at Washington. No bill has yet been presented."

The Hon. Minister also stated that he was not taking any steps to organize banks as he advocated last fall. Sir Michael Cashin called the attention to numerous important questions that had not yet been answered. He asked that they be answered without delay as the House wanted the information before it could intelligently proceed with the business of the country.

FISHERMEN GETTING READY.
The shoremen who prosecute the fishery on the local grounds are getting their boats in readiness and during next week fit a likely good number will be ready to have a try outside the heads. Fresh herring, for bait, are plentiful and, with fine weather some good hauls should be made.

Brotherhood Movement.

LAST NIGHT'S SERVICE.

A great congregation and a magnificent address may be accepted as indicating last night's service in Gower St. Church. Rev. Mr. Williamson was at his best and the audience was thrilled with the message. The solo entitled "Judge Not" was thought-arresting and together with the service of songs prepared the congregation for what followed. A few moments of silent prayer drew the people near to God, and then the preacher announced his text, taken from Mark 12:17, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." In introducing his subject the preacher undertook to disabuse the minds of his hearers of the idea that he was attempting to meddle in our local affairs. He quoted approvingly the statement of William Jennings Bryan where he said that if "Pussyfoot" Johnson went over to set the English people right he deserved to lose an eye; and he certainly had no intention of attempting to interfere with or instruct us. He stood, however, on the broad principle that righteousness exalteth a nation and sin is a reproach to any people; and that the effect of national righteousness is national security. One hope of the world is found in the fact that the world's great political leaders are Brotherhood men. Among these are Messrs. Lloyd George, H. H. Asquith, General Smuts, Arthur Henderson and others. He quoted ex-President Wilson as saying, "We are particularly anxious to see the world in the life of the world." The interests of all nations are ours also. We are partners with the rest. What affects mankind is inevitably our affair as well as the affair of the nations of Europe and Asia. The fact is—the world is no longer divided into little circles of interest. John R. Mott was right when he said, "The nineteenth century made the world think only of themselves. The twentieth century to make it a Brotherhood." That is the way to save Newfoundland, to save the Empire, to save the world.

The danger to-day is that of class consciousness, of men thinking only of their class, of themselves. It is not good enough for merchants, laboring men, farmers or fishermen, to think only of themselves. The idea of competition between men of the same class must give way to co-operation between them; in a word the Christ spirit must excite the Cain spirit if our country is to be safe. And then in eloquent terms he proceeded:

"Great was the glory of Israel and mighty its formative energy. But Israel fell from justice as from truth, and therefore it was broken and scattered, its cherished home became a desolation, its glorious temple a ruin and its people a by-word amongst the nations of the earth. God sits upon the Throne to-day. He is trusting us to be good and to do good. In the earlier centuries Christianity substituted hospitals and orphanages for the tortures of the slave and the cruel spectacles of the amphitheatre, and in the years to come it will sweep all the brutalities out of our pleasures and make them as pure as they are exhilarating. It wiped out the curse of slavery. It has to abolish war and the institutions that support it. It has to remove the crying evil of drunkenness from amongst us. It has to convert the mental processes into the means for the recovery of lost mankind. It lifted the slave into a serf, made toll a dignity and a duty. It has to base labor on the sure foundation of justice to all who engage in it, take out of it what crushes the soul and so moderate it that it shall uplift and not lower, increase life and not deplete it, become in itself a real joy and an abiding benediction. These things are worth living for. If these things are worth living for, the war has made the world safe for democracy. It now remains for Brotherhood to make democracy safe for the world. We need the gospel of reconciliation."

"The ultimate test of this Christian Brotherhood is that of individual Christian character. Religion after all is primarily concerned with men not as workers nor as citizens, nor as voters, nor as social reformers, but as men, and the final test of religion to-day as it has always been is that it produces good men. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link. One weakling may wreck the world. The greatest service you can render to your fellows is to cultivate your own Christian character and practice the Christian virtues in all your personal relations. Woe to that man who falls here, 'twere better for him had he never been born."

At this point Mr. Williamson told with great effect the story of the forty wrestlers dying of cold out of fidelity to Jesus Christ, and closed with the following quotation, as a sure way of national safety:—"God give us men a time like this requires. True hearts, strong minds, true faith and willing hands. Men whom the lust of office cannot kill. Men who have honor, men who will not lie. Men who have opinions, men who possess a will. Men who can stand before the demagogue. And scorn his treacherous flatteries without blinking. Tall men, sun crowned, who stand above the fog in public duty and in private thinking. To-night closes the services of the week, and a great time is confidently anticipated."

SWEAR OFF TOBACCO
"No-To-Bac" has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a cigarette, cigar, pipe, or for a chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead, to help relieve that awful desire. Shortly the habit may be completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's a easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question.

Marking Time

The Stock Market continues sluggish although some issues have recorded splendid advances, but nothing yet like what might reasonably be expected.

We urge our clients and investors generally not to let this opportunity go by of getting good dividend-paying issues while still low in price. Without question, the market must soon turn strongly upward, when big profits will be taken.

Use this Company in any way that you wish in connection with information, quotations, executions, etc.
