ASSOCIATION MATCHES.

One of the strongest arguments against the existence of the Ontario Cricket Association, or rather its policy with regard to matches, is that a club comparatively speaking weak has carried off the championship. We do not speak disparagingly of the Nelson Club, which has shown push and energy enough to place it where it is, and from that point of view deserves its reward, but at the same time it is not the best club in Ontario, nor anything like it. It may be contended that it is but a very minor object of the association to determine the best club, and that the idea is more to bring about cricket matches that would otherwise not be played. Against this the opinion of the Thamesville Club should weigh heavily, and it is this: they claim to have had less cricket and worse than if they had had the arranging of their own season's games, and will not for this reason enter the Association next year.

As a matter of fact, there have been very few matches brought about by the association this season. The winning club has played but three games, and no other club more. On the other hand, there have been five times that number of forfeits, and these have come about for the reason that clubs cannot get their best team together for the occasion, and so prefer to scratch rather than take the chances of a defeat. This is not playing cricket for cricket's sake, but rather killing in preference to acknowledging the supremacy of your adversary, who, since he would bereave you of your laurels, is a veritable foe.

THE CANADIAN TEAM.

We give the names of the team to represent Canada in the coming International match on another page. SPRAGGE, LOGAN and KIRCHHOFFER have refused to play, and so numbers twelve, thirteen and fourteen have been moved up to fill their places. SPRAGGE is not in practice this year and has fallen off in his fielding, so that perhaps his substitute is quite as good as himself. LOGAN will be more missed than anyone, especially since the bowlers are few, and if GILLEAN should fail to come off, the American score will probably go somewhere into the double hundreds. Why OGDEN was not selected we cannot see. The fact of his being now a resident American hardly outweighs the fact that he has been born, brought up and lived eighteen years in Canada, and learned his cricket at Upper Canada College. He is in splendid bowling form this year, as evidenced by his record against the ex-day boys of his old college in June last. Without KIRCHHOFFER the team is without a captain, for this gentleman was chosen more because of his experience and generalship than for any other reason. That he is not playing is the fault of the secretary, who did not notify him till too late for him to upset his engagements in the North-West, though, expecting a place on the team, he waited a week to be told of his nomination.

SMITH is more an American than a Canadian citizen, for he hails from Colorado, and has lived longer there than on this side of the Niagara River. His having been selected in the face of OGDEN's being left off, points to a little inconsistency in the modus operandi for selecting men.

We can find no reason for GAMBLE's selection. He is out of practice, and did nothing last year. This year he only played once, and did nothing. HALL, of Guelph, would have been a good substitute, and there are many average bats whose bowling, in addition, would have made one of them a valuable acquisition to the team as it now stands. BEHAN, in practice, or as he is now, would have been a better man. DUDLEY, of Napanee, is a good all-round man, and sometimes a very destructive bowler, and is never much punished.

A better man than J. WRIGHT, of Toronto, could not be taken on twelfth, and now that a captain is wanted, and another bowler, he has more recommendations to the place than anyone else. Failing his selection, it is probable that either GAMBLE or BROWNING will be asked to act as captain. One thing is sure, that neither will try their own bowling. BROWNING is not half the man BADGLEY would have made, but the latter could not play.

The eleven, as it now stands, is a strong batting and fielding team, and, bar GILLEAN'S possible failure to come off, has good bowling. It is much stronger than last year, which was characterized by the remarkable number of fossils it contained. The majority of the men are new to their opponents, and this will, perhaps, puzzle them a little. Other things being equal, the team stands as good a chance as our neighbours of winning the match.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The letter from Orillia, on another page, implies strong grounds for complaint against the association management. By Rule XV. the winners of ties should be drawn against each other most decidedly; and if, as Mr. Scadding states, Orillia forfeited to the Nelsons without having been officially pitted against them, they have been unfairly treated. If the secretary wrote that the association had nothing to do with second and third ties, he was ignorant of the constitution, unless such has been amended unknown to us. Then again, forcing Orillia to play against clubs that were not association clubs by virtue of their not having paid their fees, is unexplainable. How many clubs have paid their dues we would like to learn from the secretary, as also to hear from him an explanation of Mr. Scadding's objections. The letter plainly shows that, so far as the north is concerned, the association has militated against cricket.

It seems an extraordinary thing that a club, after having its challenge accepted, should have to telegraph at the last moment "can't play; cannot possibly get team." The date is fixed by their choice as is the place of playing; the other side takes the trouble to arrange satisfactorily their part of the bargain, and then the whole thing falls through at the last moment, because the challenging party finds it inconvenient to act up to its agreement. It would place such a club in a far less degrading position to be beaten as a weak team than to upset their arrangements because of supposed weakness. It should moreover be learned beforehand that an eleven can be got to play before a game is arranged, otherwise it is obviously unfair to make overtures for a match. It is not easy to say how clubs doing that sort of thing might be treated under such circumstances, but if they were left to their own sweet way for the season it might teach them a lesson that would prevent a recurrence of their former mistake.

THE INTERNATIONAL TEAM.

The following will comprise the Canadian team for 1882, as far as is known at present:

A. GILLESPIE (Hamilton).—Has a good defence, and hits finely to leg. Although he has not been so successful with the bat as last year, his bowling is as good if not better. Obtained double figures in each innings in the International last year.

A. H. STRATFORD (Winnipeg).—James Lillywhite says the following of him: "A useful man all-round; a free hitting bat at times; an effective slow round-arm bowler; and a good field." While John & James, in their Guide, gave this opinion: "A very hard hitter, but uncertain bat; not so good as he might be in the field; a slow round-hand bowler, with very great power of twist—also break, but his pitch is not regular." He is also recorded in the former annual with making 121 (not out) for Hertfordshire against Shropshire in 1881. He had the highest average of the Winnipeg eleven, and will prove a source of strength to the team.

G. N. MORRISON (Toronto).—Has well earned the title of "Phenomenon," inasmuch as he is the fastest scorer when started, the freest hitter in the Dominion, besides having the quickest eye, finest wrist play, and most impregnable defence (peculiarly his own) to be seen. Is also a fair change bowler; a good wicket-keeper to slow bowling, and a sharp field, especially at point. Has the highest batting average to-day in Canada, has this year thrice scored over 50, and topped the century on two occasions.

D. W. SAUNDERS (Guelph).—Decidedly the most painstaking bat in Canada; possesses great powers of defence and clean hitting. Has made two large scores this season of 107 and 84 (both not out) in faultless style. A very good wicket-keeper, but rather slow in other positions in the field.

A. H. LEMMON (Guelph).—Has an average of twenty and some odd runs for Guelph. Is a sure bat and field. Was one of the so-called Canadian team which visited England.

A. BROWNING (Montreal).—Came out from Cambridge with a high character, and opened with an innings of 204. Since then he has not been heard much of, probably through want of practice. Is expected to begin practice at once and regain his old form.

J. GILLEAN (London).—A very fast bowler and brilliant field, but cannot bat. Was not a success last year at Hamilton; but did good work the year before; is requested particularly to do good work this year.

H. B. MORPHY (St. Marys).—Has a good, though not pretty defence. His square-leg hitting is very fine; a good field. Has been scoring well this season.

H. P. SMITH (Toronto).—Used to play for Sussex. The prettiest bat on the team. Uncertain, but when well set he scores off every ball, though never in a reckless manner. His square-leg hitting is magnificent, and he occasionally makes a fine on drive. A very straight bowler (slow over), with great command over the ball, and considerable break. A very good field.

H. C. WRIGHT (Winnipeg).—Had secured third average for the Winnipeg team. Has unusual powers of low driving, and has done great things in the past, if we are to believe all we hear. A rather slow field, and cannot throw.

R. D. GAMBLE (Brampton).—A brilliant field (anywhere) and pretty, free bat, but is very much out of practice. Had the best average for the Canadian team of 1880. Is advised to get himself into form for the coming event.

COMMUNICATION.

A VEXED QUESTION.

ORILLIA, 28th August, 1882.

To the Editor of the Canadian Cricket Field.

DEAR SIR, -In last week's issue you say, "The result of the association ties are as follows up to date: Guolph being head of Districts 3 and 4, has forfeited to Thamesville champion of 1 and 2 Districts; Nelson and Port Hope are winners of 5 and 6, and 7 and 8, respectively. Thus the final tie will be between Thamesville and the victor in the Nelson-Port Hope match." If this is the result of the association matches, I would like to know how it has been arrived at. Rule No. 15 says that the winners of the first ties shall be drawn against each other by the committee; as that was not done, and no match played between 5 and 6, and 7 and 8, I fail to see how the Nelsons and Port Hope can be champions of those Districts. The Orillia Club became champion of their district by default, and were awaiting the official notice from the secretary of the association as to what club they were drawn against in the second ties, when a challenge was received from the Nelsons for an association match. The Orillia Club declined to recognize the challenge, and insisted upon the rules of the association being carried out, when a letter was received from the secretary, saying that the committee had nothing to do with the second or third ties, and that we must play the Nelsons. Now, while it would have given us pleasure to play against the Nelsons, we could not undertake the match unless we were pitted against them as provided in Rule No. 15. We therefore protest against the Nelsons being proclaimed champions of No. 5 and 6, as we were ready to play them, had we been instructed by the secretary of the association that the second drawing resulted in our being drawn against each other. The Ontario Cricket Association was formed for the purpose of advancing and encouraging cricket in Ontario, and it was reported at the opening of the season that the association numbered twenty-seven clubs, and were much stronger than the American association. Can you inform me, Mr. Editor, how many of these clubs were bona fide members of the association, and had paid their fees? By the rules the fees must be paid before or at the annual general meeting, or they are not eligible to be drawn in the first drawings for districts. In our district, No. 5, Orillia, Barrie and Stayner, were placed together. The Orillia Club was the only one in existence in that district, a fact that must have been apparent to the committee, because they reported their fees unpaid at the time of the division into districts. For the past two years the Orillia Club found great difficulty in arranging matches in consequence of association matches having to be played first; we were compelled therefore to join the association, and the result has been that we have played only one match this season, and no association matches at all. You can easily imagine our disgust, after having paid our fees, to find that we were placed in a district with clubs that did not exist. A representation of this was made to the association, but there was no redress, and so we were left out in the cold, and now, by the non-compliance with the rules by the committee, we are again shut out in the second ties. Rules and by-laws were passed for the governing of the association, but up to the present some of them have been dead letters, and others have not been understood by the committee.

I have always contended, Mr. Editor, that the association was a drawback to cricket, and I have yet to learn that my contention is erroneous. The result of this season's work ought to consign it to oblivion, and I for one would be glad to see it. What is wanted in Canada is the formation of county elevens, and there is no reason why almost every county in Ontario should not have its eleven. The best matches in England are the county matches, and there is not a week passes in the season that there are not three and sometimes four county matches played. There are a large number of first-class cricketers in this country who would be brought to the light by such matches, and the selection of a first-class eleven for our international matches would be rendered an easy matter.

Yours truly,
H. S. SCADDING,
Secretary Orillia Cricket Club.

ALBANY v. WESTERN ELEVEN.

The Albany Cricket Club may justly feel proud of their success in their one day's match with the Western Association team. The game commenced at eleven o'clock, the Westerners winning the toss. There not being time to play out the match for two innings, the result of the contest reverted to the first innings total, in favour of the Albany club. Score:

ENGLAND

It is said that 70,000 people paid admission to see the game at the Oval, August 10-12, Players v. Australians.

By his innings of 207 against Surrey—which is the highest score in a first-class match except that of Murdoch against Sussex—at the Oval, August 7th and 8th, Shrewsbury raised his average from 16 to 32, becoming second best of the season thus far to Ulyett, whose average is 34.13. Ulyett has, however, played 40 innings against Shrewsbury's 16, and has made 1,237 runs against the latter's 448.

The English cricketers who are to visit Australia in the winter under the command of the Hon. Ivo Bligh, I learn, will have to leave England nearly a month earlier than was originally intended. According to the first arrangement they were to start in the second week of October, but it is now found that they will have to sail in the P. and O. Steamer Peshawar, leaving Gravesend on the 14th September. A difficulty had arisen with regard to the four professionals who stipulated for first-class instead of second-class passages as proposed, but the committee of the Melbourne Club, the promoters of the trip, have conceded the point, and with Bates, Barnes, Barlow and Morley, the team is now definitely completed. Bates and Barlow are down to play for Shaw's Eleven against the Australian Eleven at the Oval, but as they can leave London on the 22nd of September in time to catch the rest of the travellers at Suez, they may be able to arrange matters so as to have a last turn with Murdoch and his men before their departure.

THE AUSTRALIANS v. THE PLAYERS OF ENGLAND.

The victory of the Players in this match at Kennington Oval was eminently satisfactory to English cricketers, for more than one reason. It was some compensation in the first place for the defeat experienced by the Gentlemen of England on the same ground in June. Then, again, it tended to show that Australian cricketers were not, as some critics have tried to represent, much, if at all, superior to a thoroughly representative team, and there was certainly much consolation in the thought. The Gentlemen were beaten chiefly by the manifest weakness of their bowling, and those who argued that the superiority of the Players in this respect would make them more of a match for the Australian team, proved to be quite correct. When it is remembered that in the absence of Barlow and Midwinter the Players were deprived of two of their most useful all-round men, their success is all the more creditable. Their victory it must be admitted was won by sheer hard work and good all-round play, and it will hardly detract from the brilliance of their achievement to say that they had the best of the luck. In winning the toss, a side always has a certain advantage, but as the light is late in the day at the Oval, and as the wickets have worn this year, the first innings goes a long way towards winning the game. On the first day the ground played very easily, and the Australian bowlers, with Spofforth away, certainly appeared rather stale, to judge by the comparative ease with which they were met by the batsmen. The Players began very badly, losing four of their best wickets for 37 runs. Had the Australian fielding only been up to its usual mark, in all probability the English team would not have reached a large total. As it was, Bonnor at short-slip gave Read and Barnes, who made the stand of the innings, each a life, and had these chances only been taken, the game would have presented a very different aspect. Up to luncheon time the batting had shown a noticeable lack of confidence, but afterwards Read and Barnes played with any amount of nerve, and while they were together they put on as many as 159 runs. Barnes's 87 was the better innings of the two, but although Read was badly missed at long-on when he had got 87, his hitting all round, particularly to leg, was very well timed, and his score of 130—the highest, he it added, as yet made against this Australian team—was immensely popular with the spectators, so much so indeed that a collection of upwards of £41 was raised for him on the ground. AUSTRALIANS v. AN ELEVEN OF ENGLAND.

Another drawn game attended the efforts of the Australians in this match. The England Eleven was fairly strong in batting, but deficient in bowling, with only Barnes, Flowers, Shaw, and Mycroft of any account. Most of the English Eleven scored fairly in the first innings, and eight got double figures; Mr. Tylecote, who was so successful against the Australians last week at Canterbury, again playing well for fifty-six, the highest contribution. At the end of the second day the game did not look very uneven, as the Australians were only 72 behind, with Horan in and four wickets still to fall. Murdoch, who has not been very successful of late, was again to the fore with a rather lucky innings of 70, and Jones also was fortunate, though the pair made a useful stand, adding 125 runs while they were together. On the second night there seemed very slight chance of the game being completed, but the rain caused the wicket to play very treacherously yesterday, and in all nineteen wickets fell for 201 runs. The Australians, when they went in, had 129 to win, and when the play ceased they still wanted 38, having lost half their wickets. It will be noticed that Mr. Tylecote caught 5 Australians out the first innings behind the wickets, an unusual performance. Score :

THE SCORER.

The score of the final tie match between Thamesville and Nelson is unavoidably held over.

UNIONVILLE v. TORONTO.

Was started early last Saturday, but not finished the same day. The home club were rather unsuccessful to begin with, and Paton made the only stand. The bowling was weak, and should have been punished at will. The Unionville men may be fairly classed as sticks. They showed no form, and simply blocked, which defence proved rather difficult to break through. Good straight bowling was no use, as they seldom hit at it and continually poked. When they did hit they usually chose the best balls and pulled them across, and Merritt, when he went on, soon got most of the wickets with slow twisters. Keefer knocked the last few down, for they couldn't even block. They fielded well, especially against Toronto's second, which produced 89. Burns and Morrison hit well and Paton came off again. The three champion pokes had been disposed of for 13 when night put a stop to the game. The visitors seemed to know less about cricket than most country clubs. Score:

BRAMPTON v. TORONTO.

Another match played at Brampton by Toronto on Saturday last. In order to make an even game Lockwood and Saunders were brought from Guelph to assist the Brampton. The chief event of Toronto's innings was a drive by Behan, not only over the boundary fence, but into the field on the other side of the road. Score:

GUELPH v. ST. MARY'S.

Played at St. Mary's on 17th inst.; an unexpectedly easy victory for Guelph. The wicket was very uncertain, and the bowling of both teams being very good, the scoring was small, though six of the visitors got double figures. Adams, in St. Mary's 2nd innings, played a very useful innings of 30. Score:

GUELPH v. PENINSULAR.

The Guelph Club had a very enjoyable game with the Peninsulars on Friday, the 18th, and their stay in Detroit was made very pleasant by the hospitality of the members of the Peninsular Club. Unfortunately the home club could not make this a two days' match, and the game was left unfinished. Morphy, for the visitors, played two good innings, and Lockwood, Lemmon and Ogden, are all deserving of praise for their batting in the second innings. Bamford and Calvert made their respective scores very carefully; Dale knocked off his 14 without waiting to see what the bowling was like. Dale's bowling was very straight throughout, and though he pitched, as a rule, very short, his great pace carried him through, and on a rather uncertain wicket made him difficult to play. Paton got three men in his first over, but was not successful afterwards. Henry and Hutchinson bowled consistently well. Score:
