BRITISH Army Recaptures Village of St. Eloi CANADIANS WON DISTINCTION IN FIRST BAYONET CHARGE

DESTRUCTION OF RAIDER DRESDEN UNIQUE EXPLOIT

British Warships Forced Surrender After Five Minutes of Fighting.

ALL OF CREW RESCUED

Success Off Fernandez Island Fills Britain With Keen Elation.

Canadian Press Despatch.

LONDON, March 15, 11 p.m.—"The Dresden has been sunk." The British are holding the Germans in their efforts to retake Neuve Chapelle and Epinetto. "Russians continue in possession of Prasnysk."

These were the headlines which attracted the attention of the English people today and tonight.

The announcement of the sinking of the German cruiser Dresden came after nightfall, but the news spread quickly thru the theatres and restaurants, and there was much rejoicing that the commerce raider, whose whereabouts have been a mystery since her escape after the Falkland Islands engagement in December, had at last been sent to the bottom.

The fact that all the crew of the Dresden were saved sets a new record for rescue after an action at sea, and a naval battle of five minutes' duration is probably another record. The details furnished by the admiralty are scant, but apparently the British ships were not even hit for no damage whatever is recorded.

Fought Five Minutes.

The British admiralty's statement is: "On March 14, at 9 a.m., H.M.S. Glasgow, Capt. John Lane, R.N.; H.M. Auxiliary Cruiser Orana, Capt. John R. Segrave, R.N., and H.M.S. Kent, Capt. John D. Allen, C.B., R.N., caught the Dresden near Juan Fernandez Island.

"An action ensued, and after five minutes' fighting the Dresden hauled down her colors, and displayed the white flag. She was much damaged and set on fire, and after she had been burning for some time her magazine exploded and she sank."

"The crew were saved. Fifteen badly wounded Germans are being landed at Valparaiso.

"There were no British casualties, and no damage to the ships."

A Stern Chase.

British and Japanese warships have been in quest of the Dresden since the German cruiser escaped the fate of the Schornhorst, Gneissau, Leipzig and Nürnberg, in the naval battle with Sir Frederick Sturdee's squadron off the Falkland Islands early in December.

The Dresden, which was of 3000 tons, was 35 feet long and carried 321 men. Her armament was ten 4.1-inch guns, eight 5-pounders, four machine guns and two torpedoes.

Only Two Left.

The Dresden was sister ship of the British cruiser Cocos, which was sunk in the Indian Ocean by the Australian cruiser Sydney after an adventurous career. The sinking of the Dresden leaves at large on the high seas, so far as is known, only the cruiser Karlsruhe, last reported as operating in the West Indies, and the auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, which is still raiding commerce in the South Atlantic.

Juan Fernandez Island, near which the Dresden was finally run down, is a Chilean dependency in the Pacific Ocean, about 400 miles off the mainland.

SERBIAN ARMY AGAIN IN FINE FIGHTING TRIM

Austrian Invaders Reduced to Remnant—Typhoid Outbreak Exaggerated.

Canadian Press Despatch.
LONDON, March 15, 11:41 p.m.—Official information has been received by the Serbian legation here, which, according to the legation, indicates that the reports of the outbreak of typhoid in Serbia have been greatly exaggerated.

The legation further announces that the Serbian army has been strengthened by the addition of two fresh classes and has received new supplies and equipment. The military authorities are well satisfied with the situation, and the Austrian forces arrayed against Serbia, it is added, being merely the remnants of those previously defeated.

The Great Moving Picture Show Begins!

The greatest event in this war, at least in so far as it will make a decisive turn in the situation, will happen within the next fortnight if we are to take the word of the British admiral in command of the allied fleets, and that will be the clearing out of the passage of the Dardanelles and the occupation of Constantinople. Our own belief is that the fleet has made a more progress than we have been told by the cable, and we have heard nothing yet as to what the Russian fleet is doing from the Black Sea end, where they have large ships and munitions and plans of assault from the Bosphorus. This will be the great naval event of the war up to date notwithstanding the splendid victories that have taken place at sea, including the ending of the career of the Dresden on Sunday. It is not wise to count one's chickens before they are hatched, but all indications point to this great spectacle coming off almost immediately. All Europe will be at the show. Only the Kaiser and the Germans will not be there.

What the Public Will See.

These two events in the Dardanelles are likely to constitute the greatest spectacles Europe has seen for many a day, and there will be such a showing and applauding as has not been heard for a thousand years as an immediate result. Italy is to come into line as a first-class power.

Turkey in Europe is to disappear. Russia is to occupy Constantinople and have free passage to the Mediterranean by way of the Dardanelles forever.

Greece will rank next to Italy in the Mediterranean.

Austria will be of less account. The Balkan States will assert their complete independence.

It will be the first lifting of the cloud of war over Britain since last August, and it will be more than a silver lining. Don't begin shouting too soon, you say? We recognize that; but events have been so clearly moving in the direction above indicated, that the immediate results are beyond question. They are now in process of unfolding. But more than that is doing; Italy and Greece are being forced to choose between the two, and on the side of the allies. Not only is Constantinople to fall, but Turkey is to be abandoned, as the Austrians are to be driven out of what is to be taken from Austria and Greece, and the islands in the Aegean Sea and beyond. Austria will be a mere name, and must come in and be at the dismemberment.

The Next Naval Panorama

And as we have said we do not want to be carried too far ahead, but if the Dardanelles are to be cleared up, and the next great naval spectacle is set in the waters of the Dardanelles, it will assemble either on Heligoland and its associated fortifications or on the Kiel peninsula, where the enormous character of these fortifications, we believe the British navy will eventually be able to batter them down and then out of business; and the same method applied to the Dardanelles will be applied to the Dardanelles, and the rapidity of the movement will be governed altogether by the ability of the factories to produce shells and explosives and all other necessities. It is not to be expected that it will be in hand no let-up occurred, with the clearness of the atmosphere.

Kitchener's Ammunition

Kitchener's army for the campaign to be directed against the German lines in Belgium and France will also turn largely on ammunition of all kinds, as well as men and guns. The mobilization of Kitchener's army is now well under way and there is good reason for believing that the ammunition is being sent forward and it will be in such a quantity as will enable our troops and artillery to pour an incessant rain of shot and shell on the Germans in the trenches.

The Kaiser's Jolt

Kaiser William is going against it; mostly everything is going against him, notwithstanding the boastfulness of his generals and diplomats and newspaper press; he is now in the eighth month of the war, and hasn't got to any place yet, although he started out for Paris, and for the Russian fortresses adjacent to Austria and East Prussia; his mission to the United States for sympathy failed; his mission to South Africa failed; his negotiations in the direction of Ireland and the Middle East, his embassies to India and to Asia, not to mention his special envoys to Italy and Turkey, have all been disappalting. England only hope seems to be the interlocking of trade vessels of Great Britain and her allies, and even neutral, but he could blow up four third-class steamers a day for two months, and he wouldn't affect the fighting qualities of the British army and the allies a penny's worth. Even his aircraft has proved disappointing. But the blockade imposed by England will be to him a serious matter; in fact he is getting himself more and more into the trap.

Yes, the show is to open in the Mediterranean, not in Berlin, as some predicted, but fall, or rather, in Paris; as predicted by the Kaiser last August. Then it was to move over to London, and Wilhelm was to be the stage manager, and the managers of the show seem to be in London, and they play the events there and fix the dates. They will play the show to full houses in the applauding nations and people.

BLOCKADE WILL DULY RECOGNIZE NEUTRAL RIGHTS

Ships of Nations Giving Proper Guarantees Will Be Unmolested.

ORDER IS NOT IRONCLAD

Proceeds of Sale of Cargoes Will Later Revert to Owners.

Canadian Press Despatch.

LONDON, March 15.—Great Britain made known to the world today in a formal order, signed in council by the King and issued from Buckingham Palace, how she proposes to sever all the arteries of sea commerce to and from Germany during the period of the war.

As in Premier Asquith's speech forecasting the order, the term "blockade" is not used and no prohibited areas are defined. Nevertheless the extent of the order makes plain England's intention to prevent commodities from reaching Germany during the period of the war. British officials tonight frankly called the movement a blockade, the foreign office describing it as an effective blockade, differing from the effective blockade of history, only in that the property seized will not be confiscated outright, but sold, the proceeds eventually going to the owners.

In the last clause of the proclamation it is the proposal most interesting to neutrals. This is the flat agreement to lift the "blockade" in case any nation will certify that the ships flying its flag shall not carry goods to Germany, or originating therein or belonging to subjects of that country.

DUBLIN'S FREEDOM MEYER'S NO MORE

City Council of Ireland's Capital Disapproves Anti-British Campaign in U.S.

GROSS INSULT TO IRISH

Had Urged Formation of Irish Brigade From Prisoners in Germany.

Canadian Press Despatch.

DUBLIN, via London, March 15, 9:20 p.m.—The Dublin City Council, by a vote of 30 to 18, withdrew today from Kuno Meyer of the University of Berlin, the freedom of the city, in order to indicate disapproval of the anti-British campaign he has been conducting in America.

Ald. Quaid moved that Meyer's name be stricken from the roll of Dublin freemen because of the speeches he had made in America, from which it appeared that during the 19 years he was professor in a Liverpool university he had kept a diary in which he recorded everything he came across in England. "No greater insult," he declared, "could be offered the Irish people."

Kuno Meyer, who is a German and has been professor of Celtic at the University of Berlin since 1911, was for a time director of the School of Irish Learning at Dublin. He is a teacher of Celtic philosophy and founded the School of Irish Learning at Dublin, for the promotion of the old Irish language and literature. For his work in promoting Celtic interests he was made an honorary freeman and Burgess at the Cities of Dublin and Cork. During a recent visit to the United States Prof. Meyer delivered several addresses in behalf of Germany.

CHIEF EASTERN PRZEMYSL LINE FINALLY TAKEN

Russians Carry Strong Defences Three Miles From Heart of Fortress.

POSITIONS STORMED

Whole Battalion of Enemy Surrendered at First Charge in Blizzard.

BY FREDERICK RENNET.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
PETROGRAD, March 15.—All the middle Carpathian passes are still locked in a snow blizzard and the Austrians are making desperate efforts to extricate themselves from the blocked railways among the river sources flowing into the valley stretching to the region of Przemyśl, the Stry River and Lemberg which are storm-wracked. In this region also the Russians promptly seized their advantage amid the hurricane and snow to charge into the chief eastern defence of Przemyśl, only three miles from the heart of the fortress. The position there is held by a strong force of infantry and artillery, but the vehemence of the Russian onslaught was such that an entire battalion surrendered at the first charge. The others maintained a confused resistance, frequently shooting their comrades. Then they fled in a panic, leaving machine-guns embedded in the snow-drifts. The siege ring is now drawn much tighter.

The Germans in the north evidently dread the possibility of a thaw. Their large forces on the border of Poland have been practically halted. The weather would permit of a general offensive, but the movement of artillery and heavy cavalry, but the season has reached the time when a complete thaw is probable. This would prove a disaster to the German army in a half developed movement near the swamps near northward.

QUIET IN BUKOWINA.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
BUCHARST, March 15.—The staff of the Russian army in Bukovina is installed in the Village of Bojan and the good people of the left bank of the Pruth as far as Czernowitz, the Austrians being on the opposite side of the valley. The Pruth is the scene of desultory cannonading, but up to today neither belligerent has attempted to cross the river. An offensive is only possible higher up the river where the declivities are not so marked and the declivities are shallower. Some Austrian troops of the second order occupied the line from Tzurenau to Enovitz and have constructed defensive works surrounded by wire entanglements. Fighting continues north of Czernowitz, but the results of this fighting so far have been favorable to the Russians and will decide the fate of Czernowitz.

UNWARLIKE TEUTONS POUR INTO DENMARK

They Have "Left Their Country for Their Country's Good."

Canadian Press Despatch.

COPENHAGEN, via London, March 15, 9:22 p.m.—The hotels and the better class boarding houses here are crowded with well-to-do Germans who are ineligible for military service. It is said that these people, responding to an appeal from the government, are leaving Germany in large numbers in order that there will be fewer people to feed while the war lasts.

It is reported from Sweden and Norway that many Germans of similar class have arrived in those countries.

CZERNOWITZ IS STILL IN AUSTRIAN HANDS?

Canadian Press Despatch.
VIENNA, March 15, via Berlin to London, March 15, 1:09 a.m.—Official denial has been issued here of the widespread report that Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, was abandoned by the Austrians on March 12.

TORONTO LOSES TWO OF OLDEST RESIDENTS

Toronto has lost two of its oldest residents. On Saturday Elizabeth Hasson, wife of the late John Hasson, in her 74th year, died at her late residence, 174 West Adelaide street, and was buried Monday.

Yesterday her husband, John Hasson, a pioneer of York, aged 82, died at the above address.

Thirty Thousand Japs Have Left for China

This Move May Precipitate International Troubles in China Where Feeling Reaches a Dangerous Pitch.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

TIENTSIN, March 15.—Peking is considerably alarmed and excited by reports that thirty thousand Japanese, under cover of a naval squadron, have left for China. There is nothing in the diplomatic situation to justify the despatch of troops at this juncture. Indeed, such a movement may precipitate international troubles in China, where feeling reaches a dangerous pitch.

Forty-Eighth Highlanders Did Spell of Eight Days Before Last Week.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

LONDON, Mar. 15.—The Duchess of Connaught's Canadian Hospital at Cliveden received Sunday the first batch of Canadian wounded from the front. Nearly seventy patients were sent there from Southampton, fourteen being Canadians. In due course when the new buildings are completed the hospital will become the principal receiving hospital for the Canadian contingent and the good people of the Duchesse's Canadian Light Infantry Dominion who have so generously provided for it would be proud were they able to see it now, even in the present limited state, limited however, in nothing but size. The large covered terrace court which has been converted into wards is certainly not one whit behind any hospital in this country (Continued on Page 2, Column 1.)

GERMANS PREPARE FOR THE RETREAT

Arrangements Made for Reception of Troops in Border Towns.

GREAT EVENTS PENDING

Something Big is Going to Happen Soon in Belgium.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

ROTTERDAM, March 15.—There is considerable excitement and speculation in the Dutch frontier province of Zeeland as to what will happen in Belgium during the next few days. Everybody along this interesting strip of country is being convinced that great events are pending on the Belgian side of the frontier. Every town and village and commune during the week-end has been hastily prepared for the reception of troops, and the people are eagerly asking whether it is not the beginning of preparations for a retreat rather than the advance of new troops, which, if they were coming from Germany, would be sent west and not billeted in eastern Flanders. Now that the allies have commenced the offensive at Middelburg, where the garrison was formerly 200, accommodation is being made for 600 men. In the neighborhood of Beaulieu arrangements are being made for the reception of a big force. At Beaulieu, as in other villages, even churches are being cleared to receive troops. In Middelburg, West Cappelle, Knooke and Soynt similar activity is noticeable.

Blockhouse Demolished. A blockhouse was demolished near Bagatelle in the Argonne region, and the site occupied by French infantry, who also repulsed two attacks by the Germans. Two attempts of the Germans to take the French lines between Four de Paris and Bolante were also checked, as two others earlier in the day had been.

The infantry in the French army operating near Vanuquois succeeded in an attack on that village, and tonight occupy the western part of it. They took a considerable number of prisoners in the fighting.

Four advanced trenches at Bois le Pretre were blown up by the Germans and completely destroyed by mines. The enemy lodged himself in the excavations made by the explosion, but he was driven out of two trenches and part of a third. Fighting is still proceeding in this district. Between Bois le Pretre and Font-a-Mousson the Germans were defeated in an attack upon Dieupt Height.

ST. ELOI FALLS AGAIN BEFORE BRITISH ARMS

Town Near Ypres Which British Evacuated Under German Attacks, Recovered.

WIN NORTH OF ARRAS

French Troops Had Day of General Success With Several Advances.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.
PARIS, March 15.—St. Eloi, from which the British army had been compelled to fall back before German attacks, was recaptured with almost all the neighboring trenches this afternoon despite several stubborn counter-attacks by the enemy while the advance was in progress. St. Eloi is a Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry were in the trenches for several weeks at this village and it is believed that they took part in this engagement.

Fifty dead Germans were left on the ground as a result of an attempt to capture a redoubt near Lombersyde in Belgium, which had been taken from the Germans a few days ago. The French losses in repelling this attack were insignificant.

Three Lines of Trenches Taken. Three lines of trenches were captured by the French infantry in a brilliant attack on German positions north of Arras on the spur of Notre Dame d'Artois. The French corps have now reached the edge of the plateau in this region. In this action they took 100 prisoners, several officers, captured two machine-guns, and blew up an ammunition store. Further south of this point they blew up several German trenches near the road to Lille at Escuris and Rockcourt.

The Germans exploded a mine under a French trench near Carnoy, Albert district, and occupied the position, but were driven out. They came back and were driven out again, and the French troops have since firmly established themselves on this ground and put all their defensive works in order.

Near Vaasens, in the Aisne Valley, two German companies (500 men) were caught by French fire and suffered heavy losses.

Gain Ground in Champagne. Ground was gained in the woods northeast of Souain and northwest of Perthes, in the Champagne district, by French soldiers, who also repulsed two counter-attacks on a bridge northeast of Meaulx, where a trench network was captured and the position extended.

First Contingent Distinguished Itself at Neuve Chapelle, When Every Man Fought Like a Hero and All Were Highly Praised.

Direct Cable to The Toronto World by John A. MacLaren.

NORTHERN FRANCE, March 15.—In one of the greatest British advances of the war when the Germans were driven back nearly a mile, the Canadians distinguished themselves. They were fighting alongside British and Indian battalions and they displayed wonderful ability, coolness and daring equalling that of the famous British first line regiments.

When put to the test of using the bayonet they showed superiority over the enemy by capturing trench after trench and flinging the enemy's force back to Neuve Chapelle.

When the goal was reached they effectively repulsed heavy counter-attacks.

Splendid Fighters

"Every officer was proud to lead such splendid fighters," said an officer in the Queen's Own who was slightly wounded. "They swept everything before them, fighting gallantly, and almost as coolly as tho they were in Selbrius instead of in Flanders. True, we suffered considerably, but nothing compared with what we did to the Germans. The Canadians are great soldiers. Every man a hero."

This officer, whose name the censor would not permit me to publish, described the gallantry of the first contingent and the Princess Patricia's. He was slightly wounded at Neuve Chapelle during the advance five days ago.

Perfect With Bayonets

"Every man used his bayonet to perfection," he said, "and fought with the greatest enthusiasm. The Canadians occupied one flank, with the Patriciales between them, and the British. They charged desperately in a long attack, and never once were repulsed, capturing and occupying one German trench, and then charging and taking the next."

Artillery Effective

"The artillery always fired effectively, time and again firing the enemy out of his position.

"Between the trenches there was mud and slime, and in some places holes which had been made by huge shells, had filled with water, into which men fell and were pulled out by their comrades."

The Canadians' first bayonet charge was on the day before the notable British victory. Battalions from Toronto and district, including the Patriciales, charged over 500 yards of ground, but were twice repulsed by a superior force. Pte. Arthur Herbert of Georgetown, states that his first taste of real action was on Wednesday last. "Fighting in the trenches was easy," he said, "but this was fierce. In the trenches the only danger is in entering and leaving, or going over the parapet, when snipers get busy. If anyone says the Germans are poor shots he's crazy."

Drove Them Back

"On Wednesday all our bunch was ordered to charge the left trench sections. By fighting a short distance and then flopping down in the mud we advanced blazing away, at 800 yards. Then we used the bayonet, on the Germans coming out to meet us. Others who were coming up in the rear then turned their machine guns on us, so we retired slightly. Soon we returned to the attack, but our main force refused to come out. I broke my bayonet and had to use my life butt. The next day we went at them hard, and they never stopped retreating until they reached Neuve Chapelle. Our men enjoyed the charge. It was just what they wanted."

The splendid conduct of the Canadians was greatly praised by the British as well as by our own Canadian officers.

Former criticism of the Canadians being lacking in discipline was shown to be absolutely unfounded, and is now forgotten.

TRENCH BATTALIONS FIRST OF CANADIANS IN TRENCHES

Toronto Units Marched Directly From Debarcation Point to Battle Front, Doing Sixty Miles in Four Days, and Defeated Charge of Prussian Guards.

John A. MacLaren, one of the World's greatest correspondents with the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

BOULOGNE, France, via London, March 15.—Three privates stepped off the train which drew into the station from the north. They were the first of the trench battalions to arrive. Their clothes were caked with mud, their faces grimy, and their eyes were clear, they had undergone a terrific strain.

They were sick, and the other had a headache, and he heard. He was wounded Canadian to come from the clearing hospital behind the battle line to the base. A bullet had passed through the loophole where his rifle had rested and clipped his scalp.

From them I learned the story of the Canadians' first week in action. The men conducted themselves with a coolness and fearlessness shown by every Canadian who fought in that war.

The First Morning Home.

SHALL never forget Mary's pretty fever of energy that first morning in our new house. Whether or not it was the house or the trim little blue and white gown I don't know, but I know she was full of joyous sparkle as the sunlight light danced upon the silver on the sideboard. I think women have a better sense of pictures than men—a better imagination. I suspected my little wife that morning of doing her breakfast table in the most picturesque way so that she might to my masculine gaze fit better in the domestic picture.

Leaves, Not Vanity.

"Why," I said to her with considerable amusement once, "do you stand over there by the window to measure the coffee? Isn't the sun warm?" "Yes," said Mary absently, "very." "I insisted," so that the sun will fall on your hair and make it absolutely radiant? It does, you know." "You mean—?" "You mean—?" "That I did want to look awfully nice this first morning getting your breakfast, and I know you always said you liked to see the sunlight on a woman's hair." "Vanity!" I jeered. "But Mary came over and put her lips to my hair with a curious little gesture of apology." "Not vanity," she said simply, "just nervousness for everything, Peter. Everything."

Clara Morris Says—

THAT THE TRUE AND FAITHFUL DOG IS MAN'S BEST ANIMAL FRIEND

It is a cause of wonder to many that nowhere between the covers of the Bible can there be found one single pariah dog, starving, skulking and wolfish things, for the Jews to have been so ignorant of canine love, fidelity and gratitude. "Every dog has his day." So? Then that must have been the black Friday of the whole dog race. Then the dog—still in trouble—got mixed up with superstitions, and our poetical friend, Horace, was disturbed by meeting a black dog, and frightened sick if she were accompanied by a pug. A dog's howling meant death. A dog baying at the moon presaged disaster, etc. However, in early medieval art the dog is having his innings. We see him with St. Roch, St. Bernard and others—companion and friend. But the growing nearness of the dog to men and women is plainly shown by his prominence in monumental art, for many a Crusader lies in stately effigy, feet resting on his crouching dog, eternally on guard. Just as the lion symbolizes "courage and magnanimity," so the dog symbolizes "fidelity and affection." Is it a survival of the old-time contempt that makes us use "dog" as a prefix to so many inferior plants, such as dog fennel, dog cabbage, the scentless dog violet, etc? Well, he has a star all to himself—Sirius—so that is "going some." But it is in proverb and fable that the dog really strikes his gait. "Let sleeping dogs lie." "Barking dogs seldom bite." "Love me, love my dog." "Old dogs don't learn new tricks." These proverbs are many, and are familiar in every civilized language extant. I believe. Today the dog has come into his own, the loved and trusted companion, often friend of man. His very bark gives pathetic proof of what that companionship has done for him, since no wild dog can bark. Smart howl, but barking dog's speech that only came after years and years of the give and take, of loving service between man and dog as servant, playmate, friend, ever loyal. Honest to goodness, don't you at least feel "Love me, love my dog?"

NOVELS IN A NUT-SHELL

Daniel Defoe's "ROBINSON CRUSOE" Condensed by AUGUSTA SHELBY

ROBINSON CRUSOE, a courageous young Englishman having a desire to visit other lands, decided that he would go to sea. Accordingly, he embarked on a ship which became the prey of a band of Corsairs. He was not destined, however, to remain long in the hands of the bandits, for during a heavy storm the boat was shipwrecked, and after clinging to drift-wood and being buffeted about in the waves for hours, Robinson was finally washed ashore. When he had regained his strength, Robinson started on a tour of exploration, and discovered the land to be an uninhabited island, located he knew not where. Accepting his fate in a sensible manner, and possessing an ingenious mind, he immediately began to do what he could to make life as comfortable as possible on the island. He first built himself a home and furnished it with articles fashioned by his own handiwork. Then he raised food enough to supply his needs, and managed to live his lonely life in comparative happiness. Using the driftwood from the wrecked vessel to construct a raft, he visited the wrecked vessel, procuring many things that were of use to him. One day while wandering about the island 18 years after he was washed ashore, Robinson Crusoe discovered the imprint of a human foot in the sand. This caused him to fear that the island might be inhabited by cannibals. He made a thorough search, but never encountered the cannibals until six years later. Upon this occasion the inhuman men were about to kill their victims when one of them escaped and Robinson Crusoe saved his life. The grateful man became the servant and devoted companion of his benefactor, who called him Friday, after the day on which he was rescued. The coming of Friday added interest to the life of Robinson, and he took great pleasure in teaching the man English and craftsmanship. Thus Robinson Crusoe and his "good man Friday" lived happily together on the island for several years. Finally a ship chanced to sail near the island, and Robinson managed to signal to it. The ship proved to be bound for England, and after 28 years of existence on a lonely island, Robinson Crusoe sailed for merry England. He finally reached home in safety, where he married and lived to enjoy happiness and the wealth accumulated during his strange adventures. The story of Robinson Crusoe, one of the oldest works of fiction in the English language and easily the most popular, is supposed to have been built around the adventures of Alexander Selkirk, a Scottish sailor, marooned on the island of Juan Fernandez, off the western coast of South America, where he remained for several years. It is calculated that more than 500 deserted island stories have been written in various languages, based upon Defoe's fanciful tale.

Crusoe visited the wrecked vessel bringing back many useful things.

The Good-Night Story

THE FOUR-LEAVED CLOVER :: By Vernon Merry

YOU have all heard that the finding of a four-leaved clover brings good luck, and this is what happened to Margerie. She was on her way to her grandmother's when she happened to spy a four-leaved clover growing in a clump of its three-leaved sisters. She picked it and placed it in her shoe, as she had seen her pretty aunt do. Then she went singing and skipping over the fields. Suddenly she stumbled over a stone which rolled down the hill, and where it had lain Margerie saw something glitter. Stooping down she picked up three gold pieces. "How lucky! Three gold pieces to spend!" she cried, dancing about. "One will buy mother the silver teapot she has wanted for so long. Another will get grandmother a new silk dress. And the last I'll spend for a bracelet for Aunt Kitty." She ran to the village, purchased her gifts, and made her mother, grandmother and aunt very happy. The next day she wished that she had another gold piece left to buy shoes for the poor boy who sold needles and pins, and at that very moment she stumbled over another stone and found the wished-for gold piece. This happened several times, and soon Margerie learned that whenever she thought of others and wished to give them happiness she was sure to stumble over a stone and find exactly what she wanted beneath it. For this reason she grew to be the most unselfish and lovable little girl in the whole village, even after she had lost the four-leaved clover and no longer found gold pieces under stones.

How to Do Your Hair the Newest Way

By LUCREZIA BORI, Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

One prominent society woman was having her tresses combed in the new high crown fashion, and I paid strict attention to the seemingly intricate yet simple process. First the hair was combed down about the face and sides and back from the crown of the head. It is understood, of course, that previously the hair had been brushed, waved and perhaps treated with a little brillantine to give it a sheen. Then the hairdresser described a circle with the comb about the centre of the crown, and tied the hair thus divided with a small piece of black ribbon.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

I am a young girl, 19 years of age, and have been keeping company with a young fellow for a year. I have been engaged to him six months, and now I find out that he has been keeping company with another girl. He is always talking to me about this girl, but he says he loves me best, and wants me. Still, I am doubtful about him. What shall I do? BREAK with him, little girl; break with him now, today. He isn't worth a serious thought. And when you break with him, go up to your room and lock the door and have a good long cry—cry hard—and get done with it. Then get up and dry your eyes and comb your hair and put on a pretty frock and go downstairs and have a good time being thankful that you didn't marry him before you found him out. Don't let him talk you over. A liar is a liar, born and bred, and nothing you can say or do will ever change him into an honest man. Cheer up, little girl, you've had a narrow escape.

How to Give First Aid in Cases of Suffocation

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins.)

THE soul is said to sit closely and silently within the web of the human textile. From the very fibers of the flesh it spins, and, spider-like, you feel the tender touch and every breath of motion round about. You are positive that you are you, and nobody else, and on this certainty, the most necessary and fundamental of all certainties, you try your utmost to keep body and soul together. There is an extraordinary stability in the attachment between the living form and the vital spirit within. The tendency to adhere is so inborn that mankind may be maltreated with cruel medicines, woful mixtures, talismans, laying on of hands, superstitions and traditions, and yet survive to praise fallaciously and spread the gospel of efficacy. That is to say, he still lives and has his being ninety times in the hundred, and wrongly ascribes it to the herbs, the potions or the unguents used.

Yet all the while it was the tenacity of the soul to stick to the trenches, despite the onslaught of a triple enemy, the wrong drug, the gonial doctor, and the dire disease. Luckily, the life and growth of the whole human race do not always depend upon the doctor's "doing something." Emergencies are often met in the absence of the medical police. Do Not Delay. All of these facts and a few others are emphasized by Dr. Charles A. Lauffer, the medical director of the Westinghouse Electric Company, in his researches upon shock, drowning and asphyxiation from any cause. Suffocation may have many other origins than gas poisoning and drowning. If the blood and tissues are in any manner wanting in the air and oxygen necessary to keep life in the human fabric, whether it be from gasoline fumes in a garage, fire-damp in a mine, ammonia in an ice plant, vapors from an electric furnace, water in a river, or an electric shock, bad air in a bank vault, or coal gas, something must be done immediately. There is no reason to delay until a medical man, a policeman or a hospital orderly has arrived. The best interval one elapsed may bridge the gulf between life and death. Charon will lose no time in ferrying across the straits if you wait too long to resuscitate the shocked, poisoned or drowned one. Any one, alone, may revive a victim of asphyxiation. Water and the excretions of the windpipe and lungs can be gently and steadily expelled by squeezing the floating chest-ribs once every five seconds with three seconds of pressure. The nearer you exert pressure upon the chest-ribs these lower or unattached ribs the better success you will have.

Answers to Health Questions

Mrs. C. M. Q.—Is there anything that can be done for gall stones besides an operation? A.—Drink distilled and a pure carbonated water, three quarts daily, also olive oil. Eat fats, unseasoned food, green vegetables without much starch, whey, buttermilk, and take a Bulgarian tablet after meals. Also eat fresh fruits, oatmeal, shredded wheat, cereals, carrots, salads, fish and poultry. Avoid tea, coffee, seasoned foods, solid food, constipation and inactivity. Take ox gall, ox bile or bile salts, in small quantities, under a doctor's prescription, and active exercise several hours daily. Mrs. J. S. Q.—What shall I do for pain in my heart region? I cannot lie on my right side. 2.—What shall I do for eyes that are weak and watery and sometimes have dark spots before them? A.—These pains are not uncommon. You should have pillows on that side or train yourself to lie on your back or right side. Wear a pad of absorbent cotton. 2.—You might wash them with a solution of warm water and boracic acid water. Your eyes should be examined. You probably need glasses. W. D. G. Q.—I have a violent itching all over the body each morning. What can I do to relieve myself of this? A.—Each night apply to the itching parts: Calamine, 3/4 dram; zinc oxide, 5 drams; glycerine, 3 drams; phenol, 1/2 dram; lime water and rosewater enough to make 8 ounces. Mrs. J. Q.—I have a baby 1 1/2 years old who gets a cold nearly every other day. He had a rattling noise in his throat all winter, and now he has had cough now, I always wrap him up well when out. What would you advise? A.—He should not be taken out while he has a cough. Give him air indoors, bundle him up and have the windows open and the sunlight in the room. Never have the room dry, and in the room have a basin of steaming water in which you should put a teaspoonful of eucalyptus or eucalyptus oil.

Method of Resuscitation.

The victim must rest flat upon the ground face down. The face forward, with arms in a bow above the head. Never wait to move the person unless you are sure of the victim's resuscitated safe spot. Straddle the patient on bent knees. With the flat of the hands on each side of the lowest ribs—never touch the hip bones or the spine—the rescuer must exert a rhythmic pressure from the shoulders through the "heel" of both hands. Of course, the arms are held straight. The person who applies this first aid resuscitation should exert pressure for three seconds by the watch and a resuscitated pressure of two seconds for over an hour, even if there have been no signs of reward. Infinitely longer if there is even the most discouraging signs of returning life. The heart often ceases to beat an hour before any pulse appears. Victims reported dead of electric shock and accidents have been fully resuscitated three hours later, thanks to friends sceptical of the superior knowledge of the excellent physicians who pronounced them absolutely dead.

Diary of a Well-Dressed Girl

By SYLVIA GERARD

MAKING OVER A CAPE INTO A STUNNING TOP-COAT. WE held a rummage sale yesterday for the benefit of the unemployed, and it was successful beyond our wildest hopes. We departed from the usual order of rummage sales by remodeling the out-of-date clothes to meet the latest demands of fashion. Each one of us agreed to make a dress covered with the material. I was right in my element selling millinery. I trimmed six hats—all of them were as pretty as they could be—and made a top coat from my gray broadcloth evening cape. The latter was really one of the best looking things at the sale. The cape was one of the wide, circular models, so I had plenty of material to work with. Nancy washed it for me, and when it was pressed the broadcloth was as good as new. I cut the material over a pattern with a full back and belted-in front. The coat gradually lengthens toward the back and grows wider from the shoulders. The high collar is rolled down at the top, and wide revers extend from the shoulders to the belt. The upper edges of the revers are trimmed with cloth-covered buttons and simulated buttonholes formed of a cord covered with the material. The narrow belt is clasped in front with a buckle, and below it is a vest effect produced by crossing two sections of the broadcloth one over the other. The skirt of the coat hangs in full ripples along the lower edge, and both the front and back are trimmed with rows of buttons and buttonholes.

Smart Topcoat of Gray Broadcloth. Think this will be my next effort in the sewing line. I really need a coat of this type, for it is suitable for morning or afternoon wear. The coats of white serge, homespun or Bedford cord are considered very smart, and for dressy occasions white tulle is the material used.

OTTAWA CHAMPIONS GO WEST AFTER CUP Given Good Send-Off by Capital City Fans—Hockey News and Gossip.

OTTAWA, March 15.—Three hundred hockey fans gave the Ottawa hockey team, N.H.A. champions, a rousing send-off for the coast this morning.

Seven-man hockey will be played in the coast but for the discovery of the fact that he was ineligible, he not having been signed by the Ottawa prior to Feb. 1. The team will reach Chicago tomorrow, and will arrive at Vancouver some time on Friday.

New York Herald: With the St. Nick's winning amateur hockey league honors in such clever style, New York hockey fans are looking forward to seeing the American champions win up their seasonal honors.

The St. Nick's have already beaten four of the best amateur teams in Canada, and the only defeat chalked up against the regular St. Nick's team was at the hands of the Boston A.A. early in the season.

A Winnipeg despatch says: A special meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association was held here today.

Famous Ball Players Started in the Battery

The old Baltimore team of 1894-55 was of the greatest teams ever gotten together, originators of the new style of ball play, was a galaxy of athletes who were endowed with brains and brawn, and made them count in the game of baseball. With a pitching staff composed of such mediocre hurlers as Hemming, Esper and Hopper, with the old stars who were in the team and yellow, such as Tony Mullins, "Kid" Gleason and "Dumpling" Malahan, the team won three pennants. Later it added Arlie Pond and Jimmy McNamee. All these hurlers made records in games won owing to the brilliancy of the team behind them.

A most peculiar fact about the famous Baltimore team of 1894-5 was that they were all at one time or another battery men. John McGraw began his career on the diamond as a pitcher, and was credited with being very tricky, but a fierce kicker. Hugh Jennings was no false alarm as a catcher, and his friends declare that he made a mistake when he switched for an infield position. "Wee Willie" Keeler was a left-handed hurler, but lacked weight for pitching, but seemed to have the necessary avoirdupois to hit a ball as hard as the best. The noted Ed. Hanlon, manager of the team, used to pitch before taking to the outfield. Then there was J. Kelley, ex-manager of the Toronto. When Joe was a full-fledged circle he played the outfield, but Mr. Kelley won considerable fame as a hurler of curves and otherwise. Even "Big Dan" Brodies began his baseball career as a pitcher, but that was away back. Reitz, the second baseman, also infielder P. Bonner were good catchers and spent part of their minor league days behind the bat, and the famous Walter (Steve) Brodie, was a clever backstopper at one time. So every player on that famous old team won his spurs either as a pitcher of curves or as a receiver of them.

Four of the greatest managers in the game, and "Kid" Gleason is in line for a big league job as manager, and it is not to be wondered that the Baltimore team of those days won pennants with J. McGraw, Hugh Jennings, Willie Robinson, Joe Kelley in its ranks and Edward Hanlon, the manager of managers, at the helm.

RUN FIRST BRITISH CLASSIC THIS WEEK

Grand National Steeplechase Friday at Liverpool—Lincolnshire Next Week.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The first of big feature races of the English turf season will be held at Liverpool on Friday of this week, when the Grand National Steeplechase will be run at Aintree course. The effect of the European war is clearly shown in the entry list of jumpers in place of the usual entry ranging from 40 to 80 horses. From an American standpoint interest will attach to the running of Postboy, the six-year-old entry of Alexander Smith Cochran.

Postboy is the representative American entry with an excellent record to his credit but the Cochran steeplechaser will meet a formidable field, in which quality will make up for the quantity of past Grand Nationals. The years 1850 and 1907, when the international tinge since in addition to the American entry Australia is represented by Bullwarrar, one of the best jumpers over a distance course that the Antipodes has ever turned out, and two French entries in Marteau II. and Citrus.

That the winner of the Grand National must have both speed and stamina goes without saying since the race is twice around the Aintree course, giving a total distance of close to four and one-half miles. This race is one of the most picturesque events of the English turf year and an extremely trying one upon the entries. But a small percentage of the starters cross the finish line, for the long course over a distance course that the Antipodes has ever turned out, and two French entries in Marteau II. and Citrus.

This race, first run in 1839, has been held without a lapse for 75 years. The largest number of starters was in the years 1850 and 1907, when 32 jumpers went away for the long race. The Colonel holds the record of winning twice in succession, capturing first place in 1914. His owner and trainer is said to be highly sanguine of his ability to make it two straight. E. Stokes, who rode the horse to victory, will ride him again.

Outram's chances are thought to be enhanced by the withdrawal of Postboy, the jumper who raced at Saragossa two years ago, because of a too heavy impost. If Outram repeats, it will not be the first time in history that the same horse has won the Lincolnshire Handicap twice in succession. Ob, a French thoroughbred, accomplished the feat many years ago, which led to the belief at that time that the French method of developing jumpers was superior to that in vogue in England.

Toronto Revolver Club Again Defeats Montreal
The second inter-city shoot of the Toronto and Montreal Revolver Clubs took place, each team shooting ten men, two were each shot at a distance of 20 yard targets. While the Montreal team did not come up to their standard, being minus one of their best men, the locals made just one point less than in their former shoot, their veteran shot, Margate, who has passed the three-score age mark, putting on a 90. Club sports, suitably engraved, are exchanged for the high average on each team. Following are the scores:

This car will win the decision from the man who measures his expenditures—his demands the fullest value for his dollar—who buys only after thorough investigation.

Beach Hockey League Winds Up Great Season

The Beaches Hockey League, which wound up its regular scheduled season last week, had one of the most successful seasons since its organization, despite the unsettled conditions which have prevailed since the war began. The brand of hockey played in all series was very fast and the competition very even, as in fact no less than four groups extra games were necessary to decide a winner, and after several hard fought games the Kew Beach club finally won the senior and junior championships, E. Toronto the intermediate, and St. Simons the juvenile. While nothing definite has been decided upon, it is likely that the league will hold a banquet in the near future to wind up a most successful season. The standing of the teams in the various groups at the end of the season was as follows:

I KNOW SOMETHING!

News from the Timiskaming Mine last night foretells the most phenomenal development of the Cobalt camp in years. On the 530-foot level this remarkable vein is now opened up over 130 feet, with ore averaging 6000 ounces to the ton.

I HAVE SEEN THE ORE! A 30-ton shipment will be despatched early next week, which, I am semi-officially advised, will contain over 175,000 ounces silver. I predict a sharp advance in Timiskaming stock, as same is warranted upon mine development.
