FRESH TROOPS FAIL TO ADVANCE

French Reserves Repulse Determined Enemy Attacks, While British Retain Their Strong Positions---Rheims Beset on Three Sides, But Still Holds Out---Submarine Warfare Brought to the American Coast, and Nine U. S. Ships Are Sunk.

NEW OFFENSIVE MAY PREVENT ANOTHER DRIVE ON CHANNEL

Prolongation of Fighting in Champagne Makes Another Effort in Flanders or Picardy Unlikely---German Prisoners Declare Hindenburg Will Fail to Achieve Decisive Victory.

With the British Army in France, June 3.—German prisoners captured by the British in the battle of the Aisne declare they do not believe that Von Hindenburg will achieve a decisive victory in his new drive, but that the situation will stabilize, as it did in the north. These prisoners attribute much of the success attained by their troops thus far to their intimate knowledge of the ground over which they have been fighting.

French Official Report

Paris, June 3.—The battle in France was resumed with great intensity during the night and the course of the day, according to the war office announcement this evening. The Germans, with fresh troops, attacked between the Oise and the Ourcq with redoubled violence.

Whether these statements reflect the opinion of the enemy higher command is, of course, problematical, but it seems probable, according to the opinion held here, that when Von Hindenburg began his assault in the Aisne region he was prepared to abandon it abruptly if it showed signs of failure, and strike again for Amiens or elsewhere in a big push on the British front.

"The battle was resumed with great intensity during last night and the course of the day. The Germans, bringing up fresh troops, attacked between the Oise and the Ourcq with redoubled violence.

Everything was in readiness at that time for offensive operations in the latter zone, and there still seems a possibility that were the Germans to be held up immediately in the present attack they would switch to the north.

"To the north of the Aisne the enemy attacks were concentrated at Mount Choisy, which for the fifth time was captured by our troops. All the other enemy troops between the Oise and the Aisne, notably north of Meulincourt, Touvent and Vignac, failed.

Would Exploit Success. Continuation of their progress on the French front, however, might mean that their success would be exploited to the full and that the troops which were intended for the Amiens drive would be used in the bid for Paris.

"Between the Aisne and the Ourcq the Germans made desperate efforts to penetrate the great of Villers Cotterets from the north and east. Our troops heroically sustained the shocks of the enemy attacks on front and broke their advance, inflicting upon them sanguinary losses.

Every day that the fighting continues on the Aisne battlefield from now on will detract from the power of the enemy to recuperate for a drive further north, and the conflict has already reached a stage which would greatly lessen the force of any blow which the Germans might deliver on the British front.

"The Germans attacked in great strength to the east and west of Craonne and in a very short time reached the bridge over the Aisne at Maisey. Consequently, when some of the British troops retired from Craonne, they found the enemy already at the bridge and some groups were compelled to surrender.

The Germans began their drive with about 25 divisions, and up to May 30 over 40 divisions had been definitely identified. Undoubtedly a considerable number of other enemy divisions had been employed and others were held in immediate reserve.

"The German air force had been conspicuous by their absence along this part of the front prior to the attack, but as soon as the attack had started forty or fifty hostile planes appeared over the Craonne sector and began bombing and machine-gunning.

From the British 50th division, which was holding a sector of the French line about Craonne when the offensive started, come some interesting details concerning the initial onslaught. The attack was fully expected at Craonne the night before the Germans advanced.

"The allied troops were ordered to the alert, and for hours stood waiting with grim patience for the battle to begin. It was a time to try the soul of the sturdiest fighter.

Most Hopeful Report Since Battle Started

For First Time in a Week Enemy Gained No Ground During the Day.

London, June 3.—"Tonight's report is the most hopeful since the beginning of the battle. For the first time since last Monday it can be said that the enemy gained no ground during the day," says Reuter's correspondent with French headquarters in France.

Winnipeg Barbers Threaten To Strike for Higher Pay

Winnipeg, June 3.—Winnipeg's barbers are demanding an increase in wages and shorter working hours, and threaten that unless their demands are met tomorrow to go on strike on Wednesday morning. They ask an increase of from $18 to $20 a week, with pay for holidays and a bonus on individual business over $25 per week, with working hours of 4.30 to 6.30 every day except Saturday, when the closing hour shall be 9 o'clock. This would mean a shortening of the week's working hours by six and a half hours a week. One hundred and thirty-nine shops in Winnipeg are involved.

London Garbage Collectors Threaten to Go on Strike

London, Ont., June 3.—The city council at its meeting tonight decided to grant garbage collectors an increase of ten cents a day, making their wages $2.85, and refusing the $3.00 the men demanded. If the garbage men adhere to their plans they will go on strike Tuesday morning. If the men do this the councillors declare they may abolish civic garbage collection altogether, refusing to be held up every little while for more money.

THE STRIKE IS OVER.

Vancouver, June 3.—Senator Oideon Robertson announced today that he had succeeded in arranging with R. P. Butchart, in charge of shipbuilding on the coast, for retroactive pay for the employes as from February 1, on the new scale and that the strike was practically over. The men will return to work tomorrow morning.

STEAMER TEXEL SUNK.

Atlantic City, N.J., June 3.—The steamer Texel was sunk by a German submarine Sunday afternoon, sixty miles off the coast. The crew of 36 men landed here tonight.

GREATEST PRESSURE ON WESTERN FLANK

Germans Concentrate on Line From Soissons to Chateau Thierry.

SITUATION NOT STABLE

But First Impulse of Offensive is Coming to an End.

London, June 3.—The military correspondent of the British wireless service writes as follows concerning the operations on the western front: "The Germans still show their greatest pressure on the western flank of the Aisne salient, their efforts yesterday being again on the front between Soissons and Chateau Thierry. Their progress, however, has not been very marked, and their advances have been more in the nature of local movements.

BIG SUBMARINE HUNT BEGINS OFF NORTH ATLANTIC COAST

"BOTH ADVANCES WERE BROKEN"

French Repulse Violent Attacks West of Chateau Thierry and at Meaux.

Paris, June 3.—Bouresches, in the vicinity of which village French troops last night broke up a violent German attack, about two and one-half miles west of Chateau Thierry on the north side of the River Marne. Troops of the German crown prince launched strong columns in the direction of Meaux, twenty-seven miles northeast of Paris, on each side of the road between Chateau Thierry and the French capital. One column followed the north bank of the Marne, making for Charly and La Ferté-sous-Jouarre. Another column went to the north of the high road, pushing in the direction of the River Ourcq. Both advances were broken by the French.

SMALL BOY DROWNS NEAR BLOOR VIADUCT

William Ablett Sinks in Don and Gordon Peacock Has Narrow Escape.

William Ablett, aged 11, of 14 Bertmount avenue, was drowned, and Gordon Peacock, aged 10, of 58 Bertmount avenue, had a narrow escape from death when the two boys fell into the Don River just south of the Bloor street viaduct yesterday afternoon at 2.30.

IMPORTANT STATIONS BOMBED BY BRITISH

Twenty-Two German Machines Brought Down and Damage Done at Railway Centres.

London, June 3.—The official report on aerial operations tonight says: "Yesterday our airplanes carried out a good deal of observation for the artillery and took many photographs. Eighteen tons of bombs were dropped by our airplanes, and heavy machine gun fire from the air was directed upon a great variety of targets. Eight German machines were destroyed in air fighting and 14 were driven down out of control. Three of our machines are missing.

FIVE SUBMARINES SEEN ALONG ATLANTIC COAST

Norfolk, Va., June 3.—Naval officers here said tonight their reports indicated five German submarines had been operating along the Atlantic coast, and that two had been sighted off the Virginia capes. Rear-Admiral Fechteler, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, said two boats had been sighted off the coast of North Carolina. Neither officer had been advised of any engagement between American warships and U-boats.

GERMAN RESORTS BADLY WANT FOOD

Some Advise Visitors to Bring Sauerkraut With Them.

Amsterdam, June 3.—The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger publishes the result of a canvass it has made of the food condition in various German summer and holiday resorts. Virtually all the popular Harz mountain resorts complain of a shortage of milk, meat and butter. Some of them advise prospective visitors to have parcels of food, especially sauerkraut, sent to them from their homes.

ENEMY ADVANTAGE NOW VANISHING DAY BY DAY

Germans Now Forced to Attempt Massed Attacks Against Strong Positions.

London, June 3.—Reuter's correspondent at French headquarters, telegraphing Sunday at midnight, says: "Until today it was only possible to hold the enemy from hour to hour. The enemy's numbers enabled him to man, to manoeuvre and go round obstacles in his path; but his numerical advantage vanishes from day to day, and we have now arrived at the stage where the formation of a continuous line forces the Germans to attempt massed attacks against strongly held positions, instead of turning them."

KING REPLIES TO HAIG.

National Spirit Will Carry Britain Thru to Triumph, End.

London, June 3.—Replying to birthday congratulations from Field Marshal Haig, King George said: "My heart is more than ever with the troops. I know how splendidly they are now fighting. Come what may, the national spirit will carry us thru to a triumphant end."

MUCH ARTILLERY FIGHTING.

British Troops Raid Austrians South of Asiago in Italy.

Rome, June 3.—"Artillery actions have been frequent in the Val Arsa from Zenson to the sea," says the official announcement from general headquarters today. "South of Asiago a British party penetrated the enemy line, inflicting considerable losses and bringing back prisoners. At Capo Nis an attack attempted by the enemy was driven back. One hostile airplane was brought down."

Survivors Picked Up.

Fifteen survivors of U-boat attacks were brought to an Atlantic port tonight on a steamship which picked them up from small boats. Their dispositions were taken by government officials, and they were held incommunicado on the steamship, which remained at anchor all night. There were reports that they had been aboard a steamship, and two schooners, but the names of these vessels were not obtainable. It was said also that some of them had been kept prisoner eleven days aboard the submarine, and then turned adrift in a small

Three American Steamers Reported Sunk, Others Feared Lost to U-Boat Attack---Six Schooners Sent to Bottom---No Transports Attacked.

New York, June 3.—Nine American vessels were known tonight to have been sunk by German submarines off the north Atlantic coast since May 25.

The largest to fall prey to the raiders, which are seeking to prevent the sailing of transports with troops for the battlefields of France, was the New York and Porto Rico liner Carolina, of 8,000 tons, which was attacked Sunday night about 125 miles southeast of Sandy Hook. The fate of her 220 passengers and crew of 150, who took to the boats when shells began to fall about the vessel, was unknown late tonight, but there was hope they had been picked up by some passing ship or would reach shore safely in the small boats. Only one life was lost in the sinking of the other ships.

Besides the Carolina the known victims of the U-boats are the Atlantic Regatta Company tanker Herbert L. Pratt, the steamship Winneconne, of 1,800 tons; and six schooners, the largest of which were the Hauppauge, a new ship of 1,000 tons, and the Edward H. Cole. The crews of these eight vessels have been landed at Atlantic ports.

Reports brought ashore by the survivors indicated that the Winneconne and nearly all the schooners were sunk by the same U-boat, which had been lurking in the path of shipping off the New Jersey coast and the Delaware capes since late last month. The stories told by the skippers of the schooners indicated that the commander of the submarine was unusually humane for a German officer. In no instance, so far as known, was a lifeboat shelled, and in all cases reported the crews were given opportunity to escape or were taken aboard the submarine, where some of them were kept prisoner for eight days before they were turned adrift to be picked up by a passing vessel.

Out of the flood of reports which swept thru the maritime district after the Associated Press first flashed the news that two cruiser submarines were operating 75 miles southeast of the Highlands of New York, these facts stood out:

The steamship Carolina of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company has been sunk. Nothing is known of the fate of the 220 passengers and crew of 150, who took to the boat when the underwater craft began shelling the liner.

The schooner Edward H. Cole, of Boston, has been sunk by bombs, and Captain H. J. Newcombe, of Boston, with his crew of ten, have been landed here after being rescued from the boat in which they were given an opportunity to escape.

The schooners Jacob M. Haskell, of Boston; Isabel P. Wiley, of Bath, Maine; Hattie Dunn, of Thomaston, Maine; and Samuel W. Hatnaway, have been sunk. The crews of all schooners were saved.

The Savannah Line steamship City of Columbus is reported to have been sunk, but no definite news of her fate has been received.

boat. All of them were picked up by a coast liner.

A government hydro-airplane, which alighted near Beach Haven, N.J., reported that 25 miles off shore it had sighted three lifeboats filled with people pulling slowly towards the coast and had seen other lifeboats floating about empty.

The Atlantic Refining Company tanker Herbert L. Pratt was sunk four miles off Cape Henlopen, Del., by a submarine. The crew was landed at Lewes, Del.

Transports Still Safe.

It was learned authoritatively that no attacks have been made on American transports off the American coast. All ships were held in ports along the coast, however, as a precaution.

There were reports that as many as 15 vessels had fallen prey to the raiders, but there was no verification of them. There also were unconfirmed reports of battles between warships and submarines.

Some fear was felt for the fate of the 350 persons aboard the Carolina, a vessel of 8000 tons, running between Porto Rico and an Atlantic port. An S.O.S. call sent by the steamship at 7 o'clock last night said she was being shelled by a German submarine and that passengers and crew had fallen to the boats. Officers of the company assume she was sunk, but have no definite information to that effect. They place her position at the time she was attacked from 125 to 150 miles southeast of Sandy Hook.

They have every hope that the boats full of passengers will be able to reach shore, even if they are not picked up by some passing ship, which is considered highly likely. They point out that even in the time which has elapsed since the attack they would not have been able to row ashore. The greatest fear is that the supply of water and provisions kept in the boats for an emergency may not have been adequate for such an emergency, and that the victims of the submarine may have suffered severe hardships. The weather has been warm and the sea calm, however, and these are regarded as hopeful auguries. It was considered possible that the boats reported sighted 25 miles off the New Jersey coast by an aviator might be from the Carolina.

The passenger list of the Carolina was not available here, but it was known that among those on board were several American graduates of the officers' training school conducted on the island.

Rumors of Attack.

The Savannah line officials said they were without confirmation of reports that the City of Columbus, a vessel of 6422 gross tons, had been attacked. She left Seattle on Friday under command of Captain Diehl and was due in Boston this morning. She was a sister ship of the City of Athens, sunk off the coast of France last month in collision with a French warship, with heavy loss of life.

The navy threw a veil of wartime secrecy about the steps it was taking to counteract the menace of the sea pirates, but Secretary Daniels made the confident announcement that measures had been taken to meet the danger to shipping.

While the details of naval operations were withheld, it is known that destroyers, fleets of submarine chasers, and other vessels are flashing their searchlights tonight over the waters along the coast and far out at sea from Maine to Florida.

Aircraft Search.

Hydro-airplanes and airplanes rose like flocks of great birds from every naval station along the Atlantic coast as soon as the warning was flashed to them and soon were scouting over the waters where it was believed submarines would be most likely to be lurking. Foreign aviators and American students, as well as the regular American fliers, eagerly volunteered for service and there was no lack of men to man the aircraft.

More than a hundred airplanes and dirigible balloons left Hazelhurst aviation field alone to scout for submarines or for lifeboats from vessels which might have been sunk. Nearly all of the aircraft were manned by regular army aviators. They circled over Long Island Sound and off the Atlantic from Sandy Hook to the eastern extremity of Long Island. Some of the planes flew as far as 20 miles out to sea and remained up until nightfall.

To Arm Aircraft.

In their flights today the aircraft were not armed, but in a short time they will be equipped with bomb dropping mechanisms and machine guns. The machines pressed into patrol service today had been used for training purposes. Officers of every steamship company with vessels at sea which might be in the danger zone kept anxious vigilance at their offices all night awaiting news of their ships. There was no way of determining how many craft might be in the path of danger nor how many would be carried. The only way of hearing from them if they were in peril was by the flash of their wireless. Even if news of S.O.S. calls were received there was nothing to be done except to wait for following the stern and heart-breaking rule of the sea no merchant vessel could go to their aid thru fear of their own destruction. But it was known that the never sleeping operators of the American navy would pick up the calls and that destroyers at other craft would steam full speed to the rescue.

The Clyde Line was worried tonight about the safety of the steamship Monawk of that line which left Charleston yesterday afternoon with approximately 250 passengers. No word had been received from her today and it was considered possible she might have been in the path of the submarine.

How Many U-Boats.

The main point of discussion on the maritime exchange tonight was concerning how many of the submarines are operating on this side of the Atlantic. The general opinion was that a fleet of them have been sent over in the former hope of no further American shipping that they will be able to check the steady flow of troops to France. Naval officials, speaking unofficially, declared there was no danger of such a result and pointed to the fact that no attacks have been made on transports near home waters.

There was much speculation as to the size of the raiders. The crew of the Cole declared the boats they saw were about 250 feet long and carried guns fore and aft. Reports recently from abroad, which predicted raids on the American coast, told of submarines 450 feet long, heavily armed, capable of a speed of 28 knots on the surface and 15 knots submerged, with a cruising radius of thousands of miles.

Known for Several Days.

It became apparent tonight that the navy department has been aware for several days that at least one submarine was operating in waters close to the United States. Secretary Daniels admitted tonight that the schooner Edna, found bottom up off the Delaware capes and towed into Lewes, Del., May 27, was a victim of a submarine. The crew was rescued and brought to New York.

When the news of the submarine activities became current in shipping circles the belief was expressed that it solved the mystery of the fate of the missing collier Cyclops, which vanished from the sea without leaving a trace. It was considered almost certain that the giant vessel, which was the last word in her type of naval construction, had been torpedoed and sunk with all on board.

Cover Wide Area.

Frequent reports have been brought to port recently of vessels having sighted submarines, but they have lacked official verification. If all these stories have been well founded, and some of them were told with a wealth of detail, it would indicate that the German vessels' operations have covered a wide area, but they evidently had been singularly unsuccessful in their quest for victims until recently when the Cyclops fell prey to them.

The chief fear expressed by army and navy officials was that the coming of the German boats to the Atlantic seaboard would cause needless fear to the relatives of men in the service who are about to be sent to the battle lines in France. They were confident in their assertions that there was no more occasion for alarm than there has been hitherto, pointing out that if American warships could control the other side without the loss of a man there was every reason to believe they would be equally successful nearer home.

Admission of Failure.

Washington, June 3.—Germany at last has brought her submarine warfare to the shores of the United States, apparently in a forlorn hope of striking telling blows on this side of the Atlantic, and of drawing home some of the American navy's forces from the war zones where the U-boat menace is being slowly but surely strangled to death.

In the attacks upon coasting vessels almost in sight of the New Jersey shore reported today, navy officials see a frantic admission from Berlin that the submarines have failed. American armed power is rolling overseas in ever-increasing force, despite the utmost exertions of the undersea pirates off the coasts of Europe.

Now the raiders have crossed the seas and lurked for days near America's greatest ports. They no doubt were sent to sink transports, but here again they failed. Blocked off the troop ships by convoy craft, they have turned in fury against defenseless coasters. In all the record of destruction they have written, no raiding party has struck at no vessels bound overseas, and therefore armed for a fight. Only ships that could not hit back have been attacked. The only one of half a score of vessels probably sent to the bottom that had any real military value in ship or cargo was an oil tanker.

Submarine Record.

Up to a late hour tonight the destruction of five sailing craft and the tanker Herbert L. Pratt was the record of losses officially reported to the navy department. The fate of the coastwise liner Carolina, which reported by wireless yesterday she was being shelled, was still unknown. The crews of some of the craft destroyed have been brought into port with a story of 11 days' imprisonment aboard an enemy submarine. During that period scores of troop and supply ships have passed in and out on the business of crushing the German army in France. The U-boat would no weak link in the chain of armed craft that guard them.

Secretary Daniels went to the capitol during the day to tell members of the house naval committee that the raid was designed to frighten the American people into demanding the return of war vessels from the other side. He gave assurance that congress need have no apprehension as to protection of the American coast, and that there will be no recall of forces from the war zone.

Official Information.

Tonight Mr. Daniels summarized the information reaching the department as follows: "Navy department reports show that the following vessels have been sunk: Jacob M. Haaskell, schooner, 1262 tons, hailing from Boston, sailing for

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

In France the battle rose to a high pitch of fury during the past 24 hours, but the French broke all the enemy assaults. On the French left, between the Oise and the Ource, the Germans threw in fresh troops and redoubled the violence of their attack, but the French checked them west of Soissons, recapturing Faves, rollers, broke up their advance against the Villers-Cotterets Forest, near the Aisne, and defeated all their attempts north of the Aisne as far as the Ource, especially north of Moulinsous-Touvent and Vingre. In the center the enemy remained inactive on the Marne upon a front of 14 miles. On the French right the enemy could not drive British and French troops from their gains Sunday in the region south of Ville-en-Tardenois. From Rheims, on the extreme right, the French or the Germans. It is known to be hard pressed on three sides, but the allies there are making a gallant defense.

Thus the German check continues. The allies keep growing stronger on the new front and are restoring the balance of force. The enemy, when he achieved such a rapid advance in the first few days of his attack and gained the banks of the Marne evidently believed that he had a promising field for exploitation, for he fed his spearheads with fresh troops and renewed the battle with fury on Sunday night. It lasted all yesterday and apparently is proceeding to stalemate. A British army has gone to the front of the Champagne to fight alongside the French.

The most remarkable thing about this battle is the speed of the allied counter-concentration. It has probably been a surprise to the enemy and an upsetting of their calculations, for it has been at least as smooth and efficient as any German concentration and has caused the enemy to make note of it in his official communication. Since the enemy has had his advance checked, it is uncertain what he will attempt next, whether still to force his fighting or to be content with the lack of any strategic gains, whether to attempt a further advance upon Paris at every cost, or to be content to allow his troops to stand where the allies have allowed them to flow.

It is probable that the enemy had originally intended this operation in the Champagne as a diversion, and only aimed at pressing on with it should it promise him a strategic and perhaps decisive victory, which is one of the wildest of generals, understood the working of the German mind, so he first of all concealed the enemy a large extent of territory from the Allies to the Marne along the narrow front, in order to entice his opponent, Von Hindenburg, into putting more men into the venture than he had first intended. The Germans took the bait, threw in fresh forces to renew the battle, and then discovered that the French had deceived them, having secretly and rapidly replaced their tired troops with fresh troops. This offensive has already dragged in one-half or more of the German strategic reserve and, moreover, it has led the enemy into the blunder of dividing his reserve.

Another blunder of the enemy consists in ignoring the fact that the chief strategic position of northern France is not Paris, but Amiens. The position of Amiens is that it commands the routes of invasion of northern France. These run down the valleys of the Scarpe, the Oise, the Scheldt, and over the watershed to the Aisne and the Oise, and thence down to Paris. The enemy in choosing the Champagne for the theatre of his offensive, chose a cross-country route from advanced bases dependent on the principal railways from Berlin by Lille and Cambrai. He thus went against the principal allied concentration of reserves, around Amiens. Thus he is taking a tremendous risk, for he has large open reserves, and the enemy throws most of his into the fighting south of the Aisne. Foch may have an opportunity for a counter offensive from Amiens towards Cambrai, so as to intercept an allied army between the main German army and Berlin.

British general headquarters report that a total of 238 prisoners were taken in the British night operations southeast of Strazeele. At one point the British captured two strongly fortified farms. They took 30 machine guns, several trench mortars and an anti-tank gun. French troops who hold a sector east of Bailleul repulsed hostile raids. The local successes are good spade work for ulterior operations.

The appearance of German submarines off the north Atlantic coast of America is not surprising to students of the situation. Drive out of European waters the enemy has sent his U-boats far afield in search of prey. He is trying to create alarm in the United States by the fears of the safety of American transports. These, however, all under protection, and any destruction of these is likely to be limited. The news of the submarine arrival has already brought out a large force of American submarine hunters. The chief thing, however, to do to eliminate them is to find their base of supplies.

another steamship appeared close up to the submarine, which fired five times, before she altered her course, the men of the Cole reported. The ship then changed her course, directly for Charleston, and after running a short distance, stopped. About 15 minutes afterwards, we heard explosions like those that took place on the Cole, and then the steamer settled in the water. About 5.30 p.m. we heard firing a little more to the southward, and about the same time heard firing to the westward. About 5 we were picked up by the Bristol, and heard more firing to the southward."

Two U-Boats.

Mr. Daniels pointed out to members of the naval committee that the statement of the captain of the Cole that he had seen the periscope of a second U-boat was the only report in-dealing that more than one raider was off the coast. The close proximity of the sinkings to each other, with the exception of those several days ago off the Virginia capes, indicates the activities of a single submarine, which has consistently saved its supply of torpedoes and used only bombs and gunfire so far as known.

Apparently the Germans took care of each instance to give the crews a chance for their lives. Holding men aboard the raider under the conditions that surrounded her was an unusual display of humanity. It was pointed out, which did not conform to German practices in the war zones abroad. The fact that these prisoners were later released and sent ashore lent color to the idea that once the mask was off, the Germans wished to advertise their doings off the coast to the fullest possible extent.

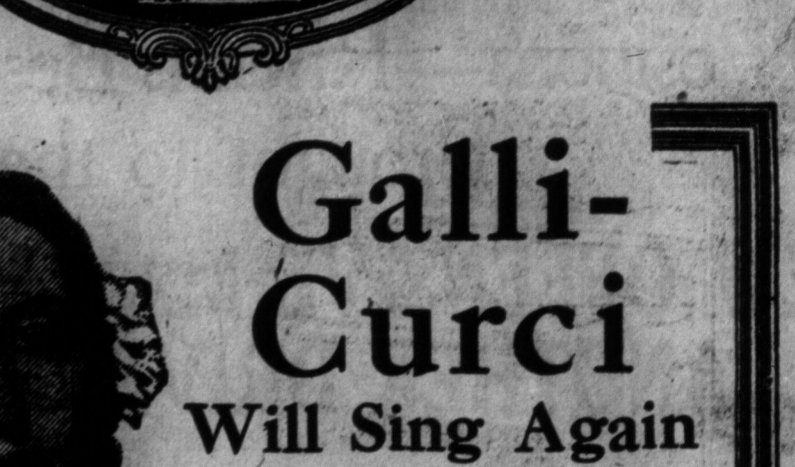

Designed to Impress U. S. The attack on the Cole was well timed, it was noted with the probable arrival of the men released about four miles from the submarine, conditions that the whole program of yesterday and today was designed to impress the American people by its suddenness and the number of craft reported destroyed within a few hours time. Apparently time for the arrival of the released men was calculated and the open attacks started so as to become known at about the same moment.

Another evidence of the object of the raid being other than to destroy shipping and set up a blockade on this side of the ocean was seen in the type of U-boat described. A 200-ton vessel would be an 800-tonner, similar to the U-55 which visited the United States before the war, calling at Newport and leaving a trail of sunken allied merchant craft behind as she scuttled for home.

It is now known that intimations of the intention of the German authorities to raid Atlantic waters on this side had reached the British officials, and thru them the Washington government some time ago. The vessel that brought Prince Arthur of Connaught to this country en route

Do You Know the Leonard "Cleanable" Refrigerator?

It is a Perfect Marvel of Scientific Construction, Splendidly Insulated, With One-Piece Porcelain Lining, Which Can Be Cleaned as Easily as a China Dish

These warmer late spring days, when the lettuce begins to wilt, the butter to grow soft, and the meat to take on a moist appearance—when every patriotic housewife is more keenly alive than ever to the duties of conservation, how to keep food in really good condition is one of her daily problems.

But the "Leonard Cleanable" Refrigerator is a very good solution, for so splendidly is it constructed, so well insulated, that it is extremely economical in the use of ice—a matter for due consideration in these days of limited ice supply. Other good points you should carefully note are these:

1. The porcelain lining, made in one piece, with neither corners nor crevices in which germs can collect, is very easily cleaned. Nowhere on the inside is there any wood exposed to become mouldy or sour.

2. The new self-closing, air-tight trigger lock, which shuts the door as soon as you push it either with hand or foot.

3. The new patented waste pipe and trap, which not only serves the ice chamber, but will drain the provision chamber—a great convenience, which, being detachable on the inside, does away with all stooping to clean.

A small "Leonard Cleanable," 24 1/2 inches wide by 62 1/2 inches high, lined with blue-grey porcelain, has 2 adjustable wire shelves, with ice chamber at the top. Price, $35.50.

An exceedingly good white porcelain lined refrigerator for the family of large size, 35 inches wide and 47 high, possesses a four-shelf provision chamber at the side, a smaller one beneath the ice chamber and a porcelain water cooler, which is filled from the top, the water being drawn off by a tap on the outside. Price, $45.50.

An excellent Leonard Cleanable, beautifully finished with 2 provision chambers below the ice chamber; 68 1/2 inches, is $86.50.

$31.50

D. Brantford refrigerator, splendid for the family of average size. It has a polished ash case, is lined with white enamel, the provision chamber provided with three wire shelves. One of the features of these refrigerators is that the doors and nickel-plated locks fit splendidly, so that there is little waste of ice. Price, $31.50.

C. "Quality Brantford," of ash, lined with opal glass, a large double-door refrigerator, width 48 1/2, height 60 1/2 inches, splendid for a large family, for boarding houses, etc., with 7 non-rustable wire shelves, distributed between 2 provision chambers. Price, $109.00.

WILL MEET NEXT AT KITCHENER

Hamilton Conference Selects City for Next Year's Gathering.

MISSIONS REPORT

Committee Recommends That $1,000,000 Be Church's Objective.

June 3.—Trinity Church, Kitchener, was the next place of the Hamilton Methodist Conference, that city being selected when conference resumed its sessions this morning.

The majority of the time was devoted to the receiving of reports and routine exercises. Rev. S. D. Chown, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, briefly addressed the conference on the importance of the coming general conference in Hamilton next October.

He stated that an erroneous opinion had been circulated that the general conference would cost something like $60,000, and called his listeners' attention to the fact that last general conference had only cost $19,000, and even if this year it cost twice as much, which would not be the case, the cost would be far below the amount circulated.

Rev. T. L. Kerruish, of Hamilton, was elected treasurer of the sustentation fund. Rev. Dr. Ross presented the report of the sustentation fund, which was a lengthy one, and was discussed until adjournment.

The election of ministerial delegates to the several conferences was completed this afternoon, the following ministers being elected: Revs. G. A. Barker, J. H. McBain, A. L. Melville, J. A. MacLachlan, J. B. Ross, T. A. Moore, S. E. Marshall, J. D. Fitzgerald, J. Laidman, J. W. Cooley, H. B. Christie, W. S. Daniels, G. W. Henderson, A. J. Irwin, D. A. Motz, W. Sparling, C. D. Draper, H. J. Harwell, J. A. Jackson, J. T. Trevelyan and A. A. Cooper.

The standing committee on missions presented a lengthy report this afternoon, laying out a comprehensive program for the year. They recommended a missionary conference connecting with each district meeting and a missionary campaign with several important features, that should be the objective of the year 1918, that the standard of missionary giving to be kept before the church be not less than ten cents per week per member, that the objective of $1,000,000 for the whole church be adopted, that the objective for this conference be $70,000, that pastors use missionary topics at least twice a quarter.

The following laymen were elected members of the standing missionary committee: G. Wedlake, C. P. McGregor, J. S. Barker, Fred Mann and J. M. Denice. A memorial service was held for the six members who had died during the year: Rev. W. S. Guffin, D. D.; Rev. W. C. Watson, M.A.; Rev. A. K. Kirks, B.A.; J. P. Bell and Rev. J. F. Ockley.

Rev. C. A. Eddy, of Beamsville, tendered his resignation from the Methodist Church and Hamilton Conference, and it was regrettably accepted. Several ministers spoke of him in the highest possible terms. It is understood he will enter the ministry of the Anglican Church, and become a lecturer at Ridley College, St. Catharines.

ONTARIO TO HAVE BIG APPLE CROP

British Columbia and Nova Scotia Reports, However, Not So Favorable.

Ottawa, June 3.—The crop report for the month of May, issued by the fruit commissioner's branch of the agriculture department, states that throughout Ontario the weather has been very favorable for fruit growing. In Nova Scotia it was dry and hot, and in the greater part of May, but heavy rain occurred in the latter part of the month, followed by cooler weather. A slight frost occurred in the Annapolis Valley on May 24th, but apparently little damage was done. Conditions in British Columbia were favorable until May 24, when a very heavy frost struck the coast and inland valleys. Tomatoes were particularly affected, and strawberries were also seriously hurt. As far as can be judged at the present time, the injury to apples and pears was not so serious as the other fruits. Damage is reported to stone fruits in certain districts.

GREAT PROGRESS OF METHODISM

State-of-the-Work Report is Presented at Meeting of Montreal Conference.

WOMEN'S MISSIONS

By a Standing Vote, Delegates Pass Vote of Loyalty to King George.

Ottawa, June 3.—This afternoon's was one of the busiest sessions of the Montreal Methodist conference, when numerous reports of committees were presented and adopted. One of the most important of these from the point of general interest was that of the state of the work committee, submitted by Rev. W. J. Johnston, of West Shefford, Que., showing that Methodism had taken a bigger stride forward during the past year than in the previous 12 months, both in point of financial receipts and increased membership. It was reported that during the conference year $574,052 was raised for all purposes in all districts, compared with $517,198 in the preceding year, or an increase of $56,854 or 10.99 per cent. The deficit in salaries was reduced by over two thousand dollars.

Rev. Mr. Johnston reported the number in full membership of the church in the conference to be 41,086, and on probation 518, making a total of 41,604, compared with last year's membership of 41,202, and showing a net increase during the year of 402 members. The report was accepted with applause. One of the most pleasant features of the afternoon was the adoption by a standing vote of a resolution moved by Rev. Dr. J. C. Antill, of Montreal, to His Majesty King George on the occasion of the 54th anniversary of his birth.

Rev. A. A. Radley, of St. Lambert, presented the report of the work of the deaconesses during the year, Miss Barnes, in charge of the work in Montreal, giving a general outline of what had been done there. All the Whiting being chosen to fill the place left vacant by the death of Dr. J. E. Mavity of Ottawa.

Report of Trustees. Rev. Dr. Melvin Taylor, of Montreal, moved for the presentation of the report of the conference trustees board, which was duly adopted, showing total assets of $1,471. The receipts for the year were $547.50 and the disbursements $75.92, leaving a balance in the bank of $771.58. Rev. Dr. Melvin Taylor, secretary, presented a report on the work of the board for the ensuing year, with Rev. F. A. Reed, secretary, J. W. Knox of Montreal treasurer; the last two named forming the investment committee. A splendid year's work was related by Mrs. Henderson, who presented the report of the woman's missionary society, which was duly adopted, showing total gifts for the year had amounted to $22,804, an increase of $1,046.22 over the preceding year. The report was adopted.

Reporting the year's work in the Wesleyan Theological College at Montreal, Principal James Smyth said that despite the large number of students who had been average daily attendance of $1 during the year. He said 40 students of the university, in addition to himself and Prof. Graham, who were overseas as chaplains of the 148th Battalion, had enlisted. Three were killed in action, one was taken prisoner, one decorated, and 12 are now serving in the trenches for their bravery and good work.

A deputation was then received from the Ottawa District Methodist Ladies' Aid Society, headed by Mrs. Peter Whelan. She asked the ministers of the conference for their cooperation in the extension of the work the ladies are doing, and said that the society had already passed a resolution urging that they be given the same privilege in the conference now enjoyed by laymen.

Miss Gertrude Reed, daughter of Principal Reed, of the Normal High School, is convalescing after a very serious illness, extending over a period of four weeks. Her recovery is being watched with interest by the members of the church. The doctor has advised that she will be able to return to her studies in a few days.

Miss Reed Recovering. The ideal weather of the past few days was taken advantage of by the young girl members of the class of Miss Reed, of the Normal High School, who held a bazaar at the church grounds yesterday afternoon. The affair was very successful, $45 being realized, which will be devoted to buying comforts for the boys of the church overseas. The sale consisted of homemade baking, fancy articles, flowers, etc., and in the afternoon tea and ice cream were served on the lawn. Those taking part were Misses Alice Elgie, Margery Westman, Florence Withrow, Dorothy Dove, Dorothy Kerr, Margery Kennedy and Irene Evans.

North Toronto TEMPERANCE UNION CLOSING GOOD YEAR

The W.C.T.U. of North Toronto has had a very successful year, as indicated by the reports presented at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon. During the year the union has held four public entertainments held. The society contributed $60 to Red Cross work, and $100 was contributed to the Willard Hall extension fund. The treasury and finance reports were excellent, and will be at an early date in all the North Toronto churches.

Hutchinson was dismissed, but the other two were committed for ten years in the penitentiary in the maximum sentence for the grave offense. They were taken away in charge of Major Morrison and two officers. One of these men, Charles Barker, who appeared in the uniform of a staff sergeant with two gold "wound" stripes on his arm, turned out to be a deserter from the American army, having held a position as commissioned officer. He had never been in the Canadian forces at all, but had masqueraded around Exilee Camp in the uniform for some time, being royally treated by the sergeants there.

Adam, chairman of the Collingwood district, speaking on the subject of "Church Co-operation," said that the movement is spreading in the north country, in Riverview Methodist Church, in the city, and in the city streets, recently said: "Magnificent results have been achieved since the inauguration of the movement, and the movement is spreading in old Ontario. Within the last two months 42 Methodist churches have enlisted and gone overseas." In connection with the parish, 151 members of the church have been killed overseas, of whom 13 have been killed and one has been reported missing. A large number have been wounded.

Was Brother of Clergyman. The late Corp. Stanley Smith, C.E.F., a 2nd class aviator, Riverview, who was killed in action, was the brother of Rev. Fred Smith, who is connected with the Y.M.C.A. in Mesopotamia. The late Corp. Smith was a member of the Riverview Methodist Church, corner of Gerrard and Leslie, of which Rev. J. A. Long is pastor. Will be held today at Norway Cemetery.

Progress on Viaduct. A lull yesterday was a partial holiday for the workers on the viaduct, in connection with the Bloor street viaduct during the day and progress was made in laying the concrete for the bridge. The work on the viaduct was very busy, and now covered with tarpaulins to prevent the rain from washing away the concrete on the roadside side chiefly consisted of laying water and gas mains and drains and cutting the bank and grading.

Twilight Services. Twilight services, which have been for some time a feature of St. John's Presbyterian Church, will be held at the church on the next two weeks, according to Rev. J. M. Scott, minister, who said that the proceedings would be held on the first and third of the month, and the time put back from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock.

To Repeat Pageant. The patriotic committee for soldiers' comfort connected with Riverview Methodist Church, Gerrard and Leslie, have requested the Sunday school to give a repetition of the pageant, "The World for Christ," in the church, which was performed with great success in the district church overseas. The sale consisted of homemade baking, fancy articles, flowers, etc., and in the afternoon tea and ice cream were served on the lawn. Those taking part were Misses Alice Elgie, Margery Westman, Florence Withrow, Dorothy Dove, Dorothy Kerr, Margery Kennedy and Irene Evans.

Soldiers are Optimistic. Are More Confident Than Many Remaining at Home. Pte. W. Watts, Rhodes avenue, who enlisted two years ago in a Canadian battalion, writing recently from France says: "The boys are confident and are more optimistic than I was when I first enlisted. I am particularly so of the people at home." Watts was caretaker of Dion Hall, Rhodes avenue, before enlisting and his duties are now being carried out by his wife during his absence. He is fifty per cent. of the membership of Dion L.O.L. No. 2051, have gone overseas, according to Rev. J. M. Scott, minister of Rhodes Avenue Presbyterian Church and present grand master of the lodge.

Scarboro Junction SCARBORO LANDMARK DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire broke out about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, completely destroyed the old Summer House at the corner of Danforth avenue and Kennedy road, to the east of the city. The building was a large sum, providing a source of income enough to maintain five deaconesses who are doing traveling work at the several railway depots.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Wilmer Wainwright; returned by acclamation; first vice-president, Mrs. Bowman; recording secretary, Mrs. George Sault; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hasselman; treasurer, Mrs. Smith.

ANNUAL FLORAL FETE IS AGAIN SUCCESSFUL

The annual floral fete in connection with St. Monica's Church, corner of Ashdale avenue and Gerrard street, which was held for two days in the church and closed on Saturday, was a success, according to the statement of Rev. Robert Gay, the energetic rector, who paid a high tribute to the untiring efforts of the women of the parish being very great.

The taxes on our property this year are $422, a very heavy burden to bear, with all the other calls incidental to a thickly-populated parish, and the rector, who praised the continued loyal support of the parishioners in the work of improving the buildings and surroundings. "The civic authorities have removed an old tree on the church ground, which was an eyesore to the district, and the old wire fences have been pulled down from around the sides," said Rev. Gay. "The children have planted flowers along the wall. We intend to pull the ground and sowing vegetables and in the recess Mr. Reid was struck by a car, which was a very serious accident to the church. All this work, which is a heavy burden on the congregation has done, and intends to complete, and everyone is pleased with the progress made," said the rector.

In connection with the London Sunday School, of which Rev. R. Gay is the pastor, the largest of the London Sunday School have been specially pointed, and classes are regularly held in the church. The subjects being mission study, Sunday school work, social service and Bible teaching. A branch of the Navy League is also attached to the church, and a brass band, which has been organized, was won by the members in a recent rowing contest. The Sunday school is probably the largest in numbers and least in proportion to the size of the congregation.

LECTURE ON GARDENING. George Baldwin, superintendent of the Toronto Rotary Club, gave an interesting lecture on the subject of "The Greenhouse." He presented a number of colored lantern views, at the Broadway Tabernacle, corner of Spadina and College street, in Toronto, and the auspices of the Epworth League. The speaker said that to date there were 1726 under the contract, and that the supervision of the association. There was a large attendance.

Within the last two months 42 Methodist churches have enlisted and gone overseas." In connection with the parish, 151 members of the church have been killed overseas, of whom 13 have been killed and one has been reported missing. A large number have been wounded.

MAJOR BULL DECORATED. Major Jeffrey Bull, brother of Mayor Bull, is mentioned in the birthday honors for the D.S.O. Major Bull has been recently killed in action, and is reported to have been killed on a great length of time. He has always hurried back to "carry on."

SHORTAGE OF BUILDERS. Work has been progressing but very slowly on the high school. Now there is a call for more men, and the contractor is offering 40 cents an hour for men to do the work. The shortage of getting them even at that figure.

DAY SPENT PULLING WEEDS. Monday being the King's birthday the small boy was busy on the school flats getting the switch grass out of his garden plot. An hour was spent in pulling weeds, and heavy rains have beaten him to the ground. The boy is to receive six weeks' pay for his work, and the contractor is offering 40 cents an hour for men to do the work. The shortage of getting them even at that figure.

GROWS POTATOES INSIDE. Mrs. John Cumberland set potatoes in the house in March and was able to transplant them several weeks ago. She reported that the potatoes are in blossom. A similar plan last year enabled the family to eat new potatoes in the house. The potatoes are now growing in July 6, and it was a late season for the potato crop on account of cold and wet.

BRAMPTON ORDERLY TOWN. Place Crowded Saturday Nights, But No Disturbances. Chief Herko reports that for a busy Saturday night at Brampton and taking place on a Saturday night, when the town is full of visitors, and the townpeople are out doing their shopping. On Saturday night last, from 9 to 11, new time, it was a very busy place, and the streets were crowded. The length of the main street, and every store had a full complement of buyers. But there is never anything more exciting than might happen at a church social, no matter how big the crowd. The temperance people lay the credit of this good behavior to the fact that John Barleycorn has been scotched in his lair.

Levy, terms a "spite" fence, is nearing completion, and is causing a great deal of discussion in the district. It is the latest in a dispute which began several years ago over a fence dividing their lots at the back and which Levy states Wilmot refused to repair. Wilmot then built a rather high one, which Wilmot has then erected the 30-foot fence out to the street line, which shut off Levy's view to the south. Everyone is waiting for the next move, as the railway association has appealed to the civic authorities.

CHRISTADELPHIANS WELTER GO TO WAR

Would Be Disassociated for Lifting Sword, is Testimony at Tribunal.

Two Toronto exemption tribunals sitting yesterday dealt with the cases of 102 men who sought release from military service. The claims of 49 of the men were granted and the claims of 53 refused.

In Justice Kelly's court considerable time was given to consideration of the case of Reginald Nevth, of 154 Carlaw avenue, who has been a Christianadelphian since 1915. It was argued by Wm. Smallwood, representative of the church, that Christianadelphians would rather go to jail than be taken into the army.

"Suppose the German got into Toronto and they were committing crimes against your family, what would you do?" "I would offer no resistance," said the applicant.

"If the flower of Canada's womanhood would be subject to atrocities and you raised a sword to protect them, what would happen?" asked Justice Kelly.

"They would disassociate me from the church," was the answer. The case was reserved, pending a ruling from Chief Justice.

DOMINION POLICE HAVE PLACED MANY IN ARMY

Since the commencement of their work in Toronto and the central Ontario district the Dominion police, under direction of Capt. Tom Flanagan, have placed 1,331 Military Service Act defaulters in the army. In the week just ended the Dominion police put 164 defaulters into uniform. In this district the Dominion police have investigated during the comparatively short time they have been in office, the cases of 99,600 men who were alleged to be draft act defaulters. FUNERAL OF LATE J. ROSS ROBERTSON

Former Proprietor of The Telegram Laid to Rest at Necropolis.

In the presence of the immediate family, a few living friends and members of the Telegram staff, the remains of the late John Ross Robertson were buried in the Necropolis yesterday. The funeral service, conducted by Rev. Prof. Robert Law, was of a simple character, in accordance with the wishes of the late Mr. Robertson. Although the funeral was private, there were many who could not refrain from personally expressing their sympathy and paying last tribute by their attendance in person, and at the graveside many more were gathered.

The service began with the reading of the hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," and this was followed by reading of the Scriptures. In his closing prayer Rev. Dr. Law touched upon the character of Mr. Robertson and expressed thanks for that which was accomplished thru him—his life had meant so much to the little children.

The floral tributes came from many quarters. A wreath of lilies and white and pink roses was from the Newsboys' Union. There were other offerings from the mayor and Corporation of Toronto, the Ontario Patriotic Association, Mayor T. L. Church, the physicians and surgeons of the Hospital for Sick Children, the Missionary Society, the Vancouver Daily Province, directors and members of the National Club; King Solomon Chapter, Geofrey Freceprey, Supreme Council of the Scottish Rite, the Lighthouse Hokey Club, the Grand Lodge of Canada, A. F. and A. M., the Lakeside Home, Zealand Lodge, Toronto Chapter, Nurses' Association of Toronto, the graduates of the Hospital for Sick Children, and a number of personal tributes.

At the foot of the plain black coffin was a simple spray of white flowers from The Telegram staff in affectionate memory of their esteemed employer. Much the larger portion of the floral tributes were forwarded to furnish a treat for the little ones in the Hospital for Sick Children—a thought prompted by the knowledge of what Mr. Robertson would have done for them.

Messages of sympathy were received from all parts of Canada, and one came from London, Eng. The pallbearers were J. S. Robertson, Irving E. Robertson, Courtney Kingstone, R. H. Ferment, Major Dr. L. Bruce Robertson, Geo. A. Holland and Stuart Jackson.

They have learned to know and appreciate the really great things our Canadian men have done at the front."

HEALTH GOOD IN LONDON

London, Ont., June 3.—The records show that London is a healthy city to live in, but when it comes to enquiring into the health of individual families it is found that much depends on health habits formed. Modern life is so artificial. We live so much indoors, breathe vitiated air, and take so little exercise in the open air, that means must be resorted to keep the liver active, the bowels regular and the kidneys in healthful working order.

AMERICANS APPRECIATE WORK OF CANADIANS

Oliver Hezelwood, who has been touring New York State speaking on behalf of the American Red Cross drive, says the changed attitude of the Americans towards Britain is very strongly felt. "Canadians are regarded down there as little tin gods," he said. "Anything a Canadian says goes with them now. They have learned to know and appreciate the really great things our Canadian men have done at the front."

HEALTH GOOD IN LONDON

London, Ont., June 3.—The records show that London is a healthy city to live in, but when it comes to enquiring into the health of individual families it is found that much depends on health habits formed. Modern life is so artificial. We live so much indoors, breathe vitiated air, and take so little exercise in the open air, that means must be resorted to keep the liver active, the bowels regular and the kidneys in healthful working order.

AMERICANS IN TO FINISH

Lieut. H. G. Irving, an officer of the 13th Battalion, Central Ontario Regiment, has been 12 months service in France, and who has just recently returned from a visit to Springfield and Dayton, Ohio, where he and a party of nine returned from the Davisville hospital have been working in the interests of the American war chest campaign, stated yesterday that the United States are in the way to a final victory. "The national trend of thought indicates that they are one with the government in their determination to continue in the fight, cost what it may," he declared.

RUSH FOR LICENSES BY EATING HOUSES

Office Besieged by Those Required to Get Permits Under New Order.

The office of the Retail Merchants' Association at 2 College street has been one of the busiest spots in town this week, and the secretary, W. C. Miller, has been gathering in money and handing out licenses to eating houses at such a rate that Mr. Miller wonders where all the people come from who eat in public houses in Toronto. Cafes, restaurants, caterers, boarding houses, hotels, lunch rooms and summer resorts are all now compelled by law to have a license. The date was set for June 1, but owing to the immense volume of business the food board at Ottawa wired Mr. Miller on Saturday extending the time to July 1. "The license over 12,000 dealers in food stuffs at Toronto," said Mr. Miller. "When the rest of Canada is taken into consideration, the money taken out of the pockets of the millionaires, I don't know what the government is going to do with the revenue."

FLT.-LT. R. W. LOCHED KILLED IN FRANCE

Mrs. Laura Loched, 11 Edgedale road, received the news yesterday that her son, Flight-Lieut. Ralph W. Loched, had been killed in action in France. Flight-Lieut. Later he went into business in London, Ontario, where he married in January, 1915, in the 33rd Battalion, being quartermaster-sergeant. He transferred later to Hamilton to the Mounted Rifles, and was sent overseas in a draft of 50. He went to France with the Royal Canadian Dragoons, but in September returned to England to join the flying corps. He received his commission about one month ago, and had just been in France a short time. His mother, a sister, Miss Ruby, and a small brother, reside in Toronto.

WE'RE NOT COUSINS NOW, BUT BROTHERS IN ARMS

"We are not cousins now; we are brothers in arms," was the sentiment expressed by the visiting delegates from the United States Vocational Education Bureau, who are visiting Canada as the guests of the inviolated soldiers' commission. Mayor Church presided and extended a hearty welcome to the visitors. Col. Bickford, officer commanding No. 2 M.D., welcomed the delegation on behalf of the military, and said it was impracticable to visit the military hospitals in remote districts, because of the impossibility of giving the inmates proper medical treatment. "We are glad to have you with us," he said. "We are proud of you. The critics who said you were slow in your military preparations didn't know what they were talking about."

WHEN AND WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD DRINK

Hot Bi-nesia Water Recommended

One of the simplest yet most vitally important of all rules that should be followed by those who suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and sour stomach, is to avoid drinking too much at a meal. For if you drink too much, food is not properly masticated; thus putting an extra burden on the stomach, besides causing fermentation, gas, acidity, indigestion and dyspepsia. The best plan to follow is to wait until after eating and then take a teaspoonful of pure Bi-nesia in a glass of water, gradually hot. This neutralizes the acid, soothes the inflamed stomach lining, and by giving nature a chance enables the stomach to do its work in a painless normal manner. Pure Bi-nesia is also supplied in 4-grain milk flavored tablets, two or three of which may be taken after eating or drinking plain water. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a certain and reliable form of all good druggists everywhere. It is a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Moreover, the druggist of whom you obtain Bi-nesia is a man you personally know, and he will guarantee—proof positive of its unusual merit.

TWO CHILDREN MEET DEATH IN OTTER RIVER AT EÉEN

Tilseburg, June 3.—Murray Currie and Morgan Williams, aged 12 years, were drowned this afternoon in the Otter River at Eéen, three miles from here, while fishing. Currie's younger brother tried unsuccessfully to rescue them with a fish pole. He then started for assistance two miles away. The bodies were recovered.

The Last Link in the Don Viaduct.

Commissioner Harris recommends that street car rails be laid along the new viaduct roadway (on the south bank of the Rosedale ravine) from the southern or western end of the new Rosedale viaduct at the head of Parliament street to the east end of Bloor street (at Sherbourne), a distance of 1560 feet. This new roadway parallels and is north of Howard street. It is 66 feet wide. To carry the rails along this roadway girders will have to be stretched across Glen Road, making a subway of the latter.

The commissioner also recommends that the part of this new roadway north of the rails be macadamized at a cost of $18,000, which sum includes additional girders to carry the macadam roadbed across Glen Road. This, with the street car track allowance (also filled in with broken stones rolled down), would give a driveway for vehicles of fifty feet width. The driveway on Howard street is 24 feet, most of which is occupied with the rig of storekeepers on either side of the street. Many funerals pass along this street. There is a fire hall also on it.

Controller McBride opposes this roadway, but is willing that the street car tracks go down and be carried over Glen road on girders; but he is against the macadam roadbed for wheeled traffic; he would force the wheeled traffic either down Parliament or along Howard and up Sherbourne to Bloor, a distance of 2040 feet as against 1560 feet by the Harris scheme. It also involves four turns as against none on the shorter line and along a 24-foot roadway instead of a 50-foot roadway straight across.

The recommendation of Commissioner Harris is based on:
 The original plan and intention of the viaduct, built at a cost of over $2,000,000.

The money for putting down the rails and making the macadam roadway comes out of the proceeds of the debentures issued and sold to build the viaduct. The money is on hand. It will allow a free and uninterrupted flow of the traffic, giving a choice of route: (1) Down Parliament, or (2) along Howard, or (3) straight over to Bloor on the new roadway and then either down or up Sherbourne, and (4) along Bloor to the west; and vice versa going by the viaduct across the Don.

This is the proposal that will be up in the council today, and The World believes that it will carry on the recommendation of Works Commissioner Harris. He has had full charge of the viaduct and has completed it, so far, within his estimates and within the time limit. Surely the council will support him to the finish and to the completion of the greatest civic improvement ever undertaken by Toronto.

The Y.M.C.A. and the Army.

There is a good deal of substance in the brief reply of the Y. M. C. A. authorities to the charges made by some of the returned soldiers as to the commercializing of the Y. M. C. A. canteens. It is almost sufficient to say that every cent of profit is returned into service for the soldiers. But when it is added to that for every dollar of profit gained from the sales another dollar and a half must be subscribed from private sources to keep the canteen going at all, it will be seen that there is not much room for criticism. The very considerable service of free shows and free drinks and free stationery must also be considered.

Another point is that the canteen prices are fixed by the military authorities, who do not permit the Y. M. C. A. to undersell the military canteens. All the books and accounts are audited by army field cashiers and by chartered accountants, so that it is impossible for any injustice to be done either to the subscribers or to the men who patronize the Y. M. C. A.

The authorities, from the government down, the military commanders, the chaplains, and practically everyone endorses the work of the Y. M. C. A. on the field, and the great majority of the soldiers themselves appear to be satisfied with what the Y. M. C. A. does for them. It is quite conceivable that in dealing with five or six million men, mistakes will occur and there may be friction at times. But the general testimony spread over four years of work leaves no doubt of the tremendous benefit and advantage the Y. M. C. A. is to the army.

Submarines in American Waters.
 There is more in the presence of the German submarines on the American coast than the desire to sink small coasting vessels. There is probably even more than the desire to sink United States troop transports, although that was evidently one aim in view. The sinking of the "President Lincoln," returning empty, is an indication of the game the Germans would like to play. But we believe the venture into American waters is part of a general more active naval policy adopted by the German admiralty in the presence of the desperate conditions to which Germany has been reduced by the war. This aggressive naval action is timed to assist the military drives on the western front directed, as it now appears, against Paris. The Germans, however, will be grateful for any piece of fortune that curbs up.

None of the great plans devised by the German Government have proved effective against the western allies. It is obvious to the Germans that a decision this year, the armies that the United States is preparing and sending to Europe will make certain the defeat of Germany next year. In fact, it is not at all certain that before October General Foch, with the stream of reinforcements which is crossing the Atlantic, may not be able to secure a decision with the forces available this year. Some critics think the French and British are in a somewhat tight place at present, but if the Germans were not in an exceedingly tight place themselves they would not be using up their men in the reckless and desperate way they have done since March 21.

There is some rumor of an expected naval engagement in the North Sea again. Neutral fishermen report unusual activity in the Bight of Heligoland. The British navy in conjunction with the United States navy has been making dispositions in view of the possibilities. We may be assured that if the navy ever gets as good a chance again as at the battle of Jutland, the Germans admirals will have no grounds for doubt about the result. The full accounts of the Jutland action leave no doubt that the British won a victory, but Jellicoe's exceedingly cautious left, less decisive than it might have been, under bold leadership. The Germans got an opportunity to make for harbor, and they lost no time about it.

All they might hope to do in another engagement would be to get freedom for some of their fast cruisers to escape into the Atlantic to work damage with the transatlantic supply boats and transports. They were unable to do this, if they attempted it, in the battle of Jutland, and they are not likely to be successful now. It is suggested that they may attempt landing troops in England, with the object of dividing the British fleet. But it must not be forgotten that the fleet is just twice as large as it was when the war started, and that the United States navy is a formidable reinforcement. The German navy has about as much chance as a rat with two terriers.

The submarine raid off New York need not worry anyone. The United States "Eagles," the fast cruisers designed for countering submarine attacks, are able to deal with the two boats reported. The most interesting point about their presence is the speculation as to whether they have a base in Mexico or in the West Indian Archipelago. Mexico has not been anticipated, and German gold has been freely dispensed there. Anything that would show Mexico in terms of active friendship with Germany would create an interesting situation.

KING RELEASES MEN IN ROYAL HOUSEHOLDS

London, June 3.—King George has put into effect a rule doing away with all men up to 35 years of age in the royal households. The King previously had released more than 600 men from the royal households for military service, of whom 55 have been killed and 75 wounded.

In the King's private room in Buckingham Palace a "war service roll" giving particulars of the service of all soldiers drawn from the royal employ. The places of the men who are to be withdrawn from the royal households will be largely filled by women.

CELEBRATION IN BELLEVILLE.

Belleville, June 3.—Under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. of Hastings and Prince Edward County Branch, the King's birthday was commemorated in this city by a most successful demonstration. The day was ideal and thousands of visitors thronged the city. In the morning a grand parade took place consisting of returned veterans, floats representing industrial and commercial pursuits, cañets, fire brigades and decorated autos. In the afternoon a program of sports was carried out in the agricultural park. Athletic events were competed for by soldiers of the soil.

Other People's Opinions
Athletic Expert on Shell-Shock.

Editor World: If a layman may be permitted to make a few suggestions to those who are nursing the many shell-shock cases now in various homes in Toronto, I will most gladly give my theories as to the best method of improving the general health and returning to normal those unfortunate who are suffering from that form of disaster to their bodies.

A rest for the heart is my basic theory. This may be accomplished by the following methods: (1) Massage. (2) Freedom from tight clothing. (3) Air to the skin, sun baths in clear cool days, shade on hot sweated days, barefooted as much as possible. (4) Light food, such as spinach, beet tops, Swiss chard, kale, carrots, boiled onions, raw fruits in abundance, green corn, tomatoes, gumbo, etc. (5) Moderate heavy foods in very small quantities, such as bread, cereals of all kinds. Have no flour and milk mixture with vegetables, but use cream, yolk of egg and butter, also a slight amount of salt, but no pepper. (6) Most carefully avoid all the heavy foods, such as dried beans, dried peas, meat, meats, cabbage, boiled with animal fats, milk, white of eggs. (7) Use lemon juice in the place of vinegar. (8) Absolutely avoid promoting purgatives.

The best modern medical authorities often assert that hundreds of millions of persons have met a premature death thru the use of drugs, and now there is a cry against the surgeons advising unnecessary operations. But I will venture to say that far more people have been hustled to their graves by feeding sick people heavy, bile-producing foods, such as raw milk and eggs, beef extracts, oatmeal, boiled in milk, etc. The drink-crazed man is simply a man with a stomach crying in the wilderness for fluids containing flavor without nourishment. Nourishment that is not required is a result of thickened blood, liver clogging and constipation. We are a race that is nourished to death on heavy grains, meats, etc. Let us eat more vegetables and our abnormal craving for alcoholics will cease.

Any sick person following the above directions need not call in a doctor to get well, but will give the over-worked doctors and surgeons a very much-needed rest and save them for the damaged returned soldiers. The only way to get well. A sick man is an unclean man. According to authorities the product that is thrown out by the liver is as poisonous as what is thrown out by the kidneys; and what is thrown out by the kidneys is six times as poisonous as what is thrown out by the liver. Thus four stools per diem has a tremendous purifying power and is far more normal than abnormal. Now a shell-shocked man has necessarily a weakened liver and kidneys, and his system requires light work, and as he has finished his growth long ago he does not require building-up proteins, and the delusion as to what I want the people in my home town to get rid of—don't nourish the returned soldier to death, as you would founder an unexercised horse, but give them such a diet that the glutinities will have easy work. Nervous people should always eat a large quantity of food, but it should be light, not spongy and heavy. The man who is shell-shocked that the gastric juices and colon can handle it.

Down on Buttons.

Editor World: A great number of men in "civies," both young and middle aged, are now wearing on their coat lapels buttons of many shapes and kinds (but not returned war service buttons nor war service badges). Some wear Red Cross buttons, or 50,000 Club buttons, etc., although just why they should wish to advertise their benefactors, great or small, the Lord only knows. Others wear any old thing in the shape of a button, from fraternal societies, to cheap celluloid affairs advertising chewing gum, etc., etc. Now these parties are not fooling the general public altogether, only themselves. The mothers and fathers, wives, sisters and sweethearts, who have dear ones at the front, or are fortunate to have them back home again, know what the war buttons and service buttons look like and represent, and these people referred to are only courting criticism and contempt. It is to be hoped that the authorities will take this question up. It should be made a criminal offense to wear buttons under false pretence. In the meantime sensible persons should discontinue the practice, as it should be made a fashion in deference to the men who are wearing war buttons and well honestly earned.

TWO FORTIFIED FARMS CAPTURED BY BRITISH

With the British in France, June 3.—In their local operation last night on the northern side of the Flanders salient the British wrested two fortified farms in the neighborhood of Vieux Berquin from the Germans after a brief engagement. About 150 prisoners were taken, including three officers.

MASSES DEPRESSED THROUGHOUT GERMANY

Much Drinking to Celebrate Offensive But Nothing Extra to Eat.

STARVATION AT MULHEIM

People Have Only Four Pounds of Bread Per Head to Live On.

London, June 3.—A neutral who has just returned from Rhineland has told The Times correspondent at The Hague that great endeavors were made to celebrate the German advance and to represent it as a glorious victory for the Kaiser. There was a good deal more drinking than usual, but there was nothing extra to eat, for the simple reason that it did not exist. The rejoicing was restricted to those who are over military age, who sit in cafes and discuss the fate of Europe over a pot of beer.

PRO-ALLY MOVEMENT INCREASES IN RUSSIA

London, June 3.—The movement within Russia in favor of the cause of the allies is increasing and has been strengthened by President Wilson's recent declaration of sympathy for Russia, says a Petrograd despatch to The Daily Express. The Russian democracy is also enthusiastic over recent steps taken by Great Britain to show its friendship. The Demostri, in a long article, defends the policy of the allies and expresses gratitude for President Wilson's friendly utterances.

TILL WEDNESDAY TO AGREE.

Kingston, June 3.—A board of conciliation appointed by the minister of labor to inquire into the dispute between A. Davis & Sons, tanners, and their employees is composed of Judge Gunn, Ottawa, chairman; J. L. Whiting, K.C., representing the company; Thos. Moore, the employees. After hearing evidence, Judge Gunn gave the firm and its men until Wednesday to make satisfactory settlement, and if this is not brought about he will make an award. The trouble was over the discharging of an employee, who the men claim was let go because he was instrumental in forming a union for the tanners recently. The men declare they will strike if the man discharged is not taken back.

BUT VICTORY IS NOT YET IN SIGHT

THE WOMAN WHO CHANGED
 BY JANE PHELPS

An Undesired Visit.
 CHAPTER XXVIII
 George was really quite ill for days. I had to change my mind about some things during that time. In one thing George had surprised me; he was very patient, very gentle with me, and not at all hard to wait upon. At home, when either father or the boys were sick they were terribly unreasonable. I told George so, and he replied:
 "I am glad I have them beaten in one thing; they are ahead of me in so many"—which showed that he realized that I had compared him to them to his disadvantage.
 Julia Collins called up several times during the week George was in bed. She always offered to come over and sit with him. I as regularly denied her the privilege. I was sure she had written him. Two or three letters postmarked "Narragansett" had come to him. I was sure she was in a softened mood. I dared not question him about his private affairs. Then, one day, she called. I was sitting with George. He was up for the first time. Celeste announced her. "Tell her Mr. Howard is not yet receiving visitors," I said with all the dignity I could manage, determined that she should not see him if I could prevent.
 "No, let her come up. She is always full of lively chatter; it will cheer us up."
 "Very well, monsieur!" Celeste replied, glancing at me in a commiserating way which I at once resented.
 "Aushing Entrance."
 "Oh, you poor, dear boy!" Mrs. Collins exclaimed, absolutely ignoring me until she had rushed to George, shaken hands, and inquired solicitously how he was. Then she turned to me, shaking her ringed finger at me: "You were a bad girl to try to show what a good swimmer you were! You should choose a time to do those things when someone besides George is around to risk his life trying to save you."
 "I told you over the telephone, Mrs. Collins, that I was taken with cramps—something that is liable to happen to anyone." I returned very coldly. "Helen is a perfect fish in the water." George broke in. "She has gone out much further, often. She never had any trouble before."
 "There's always the first time, you know," our visitor responded. "And it is always at such times that we put the lives of someone who cannot be spared, in danger."
 She was, as usual, trying to anger me—to make me lose what little peace and dignity I possessed. "She shall not succeed!" I said, as I rang for a cooling drink and some cakes.
 "It is quite a trip for you to take in the heat," I said, as I proffered refreshment. "We are flattered that you should take it. We know your popularity, and that you have your time all filled."
 Her eyes snapped. George smiled. Not a real smile, with his lips, but his eyes laughed, and his mouth twitched. I knew, I was sure, that "My time is never so filled that I should not take part of it from someone else to see George!"
 From that time on during her entire visit—which lasted for over an hour—we kept up a sort of sparring match. I knew George was amused, and so long as I kept within the bounds set by my being her hostess, I was sure he would not be displeased.
 When she rose to go, she said: "I am coming over every day now until you can come and see me. You won't be going to the Harbor for some time, will you?"
 "Yes, indeed!" I returned, not giving George a chance to reply. "Our plans are all made; we shall go as soon as Mr. Howard is able to travel. The doctor told me this morning we could go in two or three days, at the most." I always took particular pains to speak of George as "Mr. Howard" when the women he had known before we were married addressed him as "George."
 "I see that I shall have to make my visits to you at Bar Harbor, then," she returned, undismayed. "I shall be there now, almost as soon as you are. Your accident has made our plans similar."
 Were we never to be rid of her? I started to say something, but my lip, and let George answer: "That will be delightful. We are not apt to be as popular there as we have been here, so I shall have more time to devote to my friends. The yachting here has taken a great deal of my time. You will have to help me introduce Helen to Bar Harbor. It is an old stamping ground of Julia's," he said, turning to me. "It is nice to be so familiar with all the resorts," I said, inwardly boiling. "Perhaps when I reach your age I shall know as much. In the meantime it is delightful to have everything so new and so entertaining. I cannot become bored, as do you older people."
 "We're Methuselahs, according to your wife, George!" she laughed maliciously; "I am as much as seven years older than she."

ATTITUDE ALLOWED FARMERS IN REGARD TO FLOUR ON HAND

Must Report to Miller by Middle of Month, if They Have Excess.

NEED NOT RETURN IT

Order of Canada Food Board Makes Specific Ruling.

The World has received many inquiries from farmers living considerable distance from town, who have on hand a supply of flour in excess of the amount permitted under the orders of the food board, issued March 12 and April 24, 1918, respectively. These orders in effect provide that a person living not less than two nor more than five miles from a licensed flour dealer can have in his possession only enough flour to meet his ordinary requirements for 30 days. A person living more than five and not less than ten miles from a licensed flour dealer can have in his possession only enough flour to meet his ordinary requirements for 60 days, and a still larger quantity was permitted to a person living at a greater distance.

As a matter of fact many farmers live in their supply twice a year. In some cases the farmer takes the wheat to the mill and has it ground into flour for his own use. Not unnaturally many farmers who have more than the required amount on hand are anxious to know whether they are liable to criminal prosecution unless they suspend their seedling and other operations long enough to take the excess flour they have on hand back to the miller or village store. For their information, The World publishes an order of the Canada Food Board under date of May 17, 1918, by the terms of which the farmer with an excess of flour on hand has only to report the excess to the miller or merchant from whom he purchased the same, provided he does so by June 15. The order reads as follows:

"A bona-fide farmer shall be permitted to hold, subject to the order of the Canada Food Board, the amount of flour, made wholly or in part from wheat, he may have in his possession in excess of the amount prescribed by the above order if on or before the 15th day of June, 1918, he reports to the miller or dealer from whom it was purchased, or by whom it was manufactured, the excess amount held by him. It shall then be the duty of such miller or dealer to report all such holdings to the Canada Food Board on forms to be supplied, and at such times as he is directed."

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

GALLI-CURCI SINGS SOME OLD FAVORITES

There was a gorgeous audience in Massey Hall last night to hear Galli-Curci. The 3,800 seats were filled without exception, and the orchestra was crowded with chairs while the row at the back above the orchestra, also was filled. The minister of finance might have had an inspiration for a new source of revenue while he listened to the brilliant contralto who has been present at the most important musical events in the world.

Manuel Berenguer, who is a splendid flutist, with fine tone and execution, accompanied the singer. Benedict's La Capriera, and in the "Shadow Song" from Dinorah. He also offered Chamade's charming melodious Concerto in D major and 14 four insistent recalls but refused an encore. The excellent accompaniment of Homer Samuels also deserve mention.

"CUPID'S ROMANCE UP" AT THE HIPPODROME

"Cupid's Round-Up," the new William Fox production, featuring Tom Mix, is the star attraction at the Hippodrome this week. It takes the role of a man expert in all branches of western life, who, yet, at the same time, retains all the polish and refinement of the drawing room. The picture is full of thrilling incidents amid which is entwined humor and a particularly gripping love theme. Tom Brown's Musical Revue is the headliner of the vaudeville, and comprises a sextet of pretty and clever girls with sweet voices, assisted by dainty Marion Claire, The Tall Boys, Troupe offers "Happy Hooligan's Last Trip to Grassville," which is described as a pantomime novelty. The McMahon Sisters give a singing act and present a classical and popular up-to-date program, while the state variety turn of Boston and Vaughan, entitled "Al-mo-hu-man," is in a class by itself. Jeanette Childs, a charming character comedian, gives a selection of new songs, and Ross and Ashton give an original version of "The New Survivor," an amusing sketch. The Weekly Catche Wagon will bring it sure to please every patron.

"MIRTHFUL MAIDENS" CROWD STAR THEATRE

Filled to the brim with tuneful music and the action which is making "Pierce" production famous, "Mirthful Maidens" company opened at the Star Theatre with the usual matinee yesterday. The capacity house was a sure sign that the show is well worth while. As is not the case with the average burlesque company, Mr. Pierce realizes the necessity of dispensing plenty of the latest and best music from the best writers. The songs are catchy, and are of the kind that one is bound to whistle their positions. The comedy lines are in the hands of Bob Nugent, and his funny partner, Lou Powers. The cast is strong, and includes such favorites as Joe Lyons, Max Hymans, John Weber, Frances Tall, Evelyn Sorrell and the vivacious little soubrette, Buster Thompson. The action takes place in Paris, and gives many opportunities for novel and sensational introductions. Numerous comedies of high grade order are introduced during the second half of a very entertaining bill.

MABEL NORMAND AT MADISON.

"Joan of Plattsburg," the Goldwyn picture, starring Mabel Normand, which will be presented at the Madison Theatre again today and Wednesday, is a photoplay of great times and place in one of Uncle Sam's concentration camps in the east.

FRENCH ATTACKS TAKE MANY WAR PRISONERS

Paris, June 3.—The war office reports: Our troops continued their counter-attacks during the night along the whole front between the Ourcq and the Marne, and gained ground at several points. A violent German attack, delivered on both sides of the road between Charde-Thierry and Paris was broken up by the French fire southeast of Bourches. Everywhere else the French maintained their positions.

TO COMMAND IN QUEBEC.

Montreal, June 3.—Major J. H. Chabell, M.C., of the 22nd French-Canadian Battalion, and recently returned from the front, has been promoted to lieutenant-colonel and placed in command of the Canadian garrison battalion for Quebec tonight to take over his new command. It is stated that the appointment is the result of the great increase in the number of recruits for overseas service at Quebec during the past few weeks.

ROBINS PLAYERS FIT "GENERAL POST" ROLES

A capacity audience greeted the presentation of "General Post" at the Royal Alexandra Theatre last night, when this delightful comedy, based on the changes in England social life effected by the war was given its first stock presentation. The fact that Thomas A. Wise—the original Sir Dennis who headed the New York cast when the play was introduced in Toronto earlier this season—had been persuaded to assume his famous role at the head of the Robins company made the production a distinct improvement. Of peculiar local interest was last evening's performance when the entire proceeds were turned over to the patriotic funds of the Rosedale Chapter, I.O.O.F. The house presented a gala aspect, being packed to the doors, and handsomely decorated for the occasion with flags, draped about the boxes and gallery. The women members of the company received beautiful floral offerings, while thanks on behalf of the chapter and its regent, Mrs. Spence, were expressed by James H. Spence on behalf of both Mr. Wise and Mr. Robins had made short curtain speeches at the end of the second act.

"General Post," written by J. E. Harold Terry, is a charming story with delightful comedy situations which lend themselves admirably to the capabilities of the Robins company, and with the fine efforts on the part of Mr. Wise, whose work in the production was invaluable, a presentation far beyond the ordinary was the result. Mr. Wise's winning applause with every wry face and gesture. As the fine conservative old English gentleman, Mr. Wise played a role which captivated his new admirers and strengthened the loyalty of the old ones. Edward H. Robins made a handsome tailor-colonel, and in the role of a young man from the pat he should properly follow. There are good and bad influences, the one variety battling with the other for supremacy. There is the theme of self-sacrifice running throughout which is very strong. Trimble gets into difficulties, deserts his wife and mother, but thru a strange set of circumstances is eventually arrested as his own murderer. In the meantime his wife had been married again, believing herself to be a widow, and then realizing that she is happy in her new life, Trimble goes to his doom an innocent man.

THE PETTICOAT MINSTRELS head a splendid vaudeville bill. Their songs and jokes proved exceedingly popular. The variety of the large audiences yesterday. Guy Sampel and Lily Leonard appear with some musical productions, accompanied by Don Madeways, at the piano. Fook Mahoney, an old favorite, presents the typical Irishman, and in relating his experiences at a hot carriers' meeting, he kept the audience roaring. Dawson, Lannigan and Covert, in song and dance; The Raymonds; Mutt and Jeff in cartoon; and the Universal topic pictures add materially to the program.

LEWIS' THIS WEEK HAS GOOD PICTURE

"The Whispering Chorus," as presented at Lewis' this week, is a unique motion-picture story which shows in a novel way all the influences which go to tempt a young man from the path he should properly follow. There are good and bad influences, the one variety battling with the other for supremacy. There is the theme of self-sacrifice running throughout which is very strong. Trimble gets into difficulties, deserts his wife and mother, but thru a strange set of circumstances is eventually arrested as his own murderer. In the meantime his wife had been married again, believing herself to be a widow, and then realizing that she is happy in her new life, Trimble goes to his doom an innocent man.

STRAND DOUBLE-HEADER FEATURES TWO STARS

Charlie Chaplin in one of his most famous comedy successes, "Easy Street," which has made millions of the admirers laugh, and won millions for the Chaplin fan ranks, is again offered as the headliner of a double-header bill of unusual attraction at the Strand Theatre for the first three days of this week. Those who have already witnessed this Chaplin sensation, a word is sufficient—to those who have not, it is the greatest in high pitch. Elmo Lincoln as the man Tarzan is admirably suited to the part. His skill in climbing and his powers of endurance are indeed only that of an athlete. His fight with the baboon with the native, his friendliness with the elephants, his battle with the lion already crowned to spring at the first white woman he had ever seen—and who eventually becomes his wife—is equal to, if not away ahead of, anything of its kind yet seen in motion pictures. The orchestra presented a very pleasing program in keeping with the immensity of the feature production.

GERMAN POPULATION STEADILY ON DECLINE

London, June 3.—The drain of manpower, the fall in the numbers of births and the loss of the population thru sickness and under-feeding is now so severely by the central powers than by the peoples of the entente. Whereas the annual gain of population in Germany, in Austria and in Hungary has given place to a serious loss, the peoples of the entente have suffered a very small diminution in comparison.

TO OPEN TRENT CANAL.

Hon. Dr. Reid and Officials Are Now on Their Way.

Belleville, June 3.—Hon. Dr. Reid, accompanied by E. G. Porter, K.C., M.P. for West Hastings, and other parliamentarians in the section and a number of prominent citizens of Trenton, this morning left Trenton by way of steamer to formally open the Trent Valley Canal. This canal is now open from Lake Ontario to Lake Simcoe. The officials of the railways and canal department left Ottawa for Trenton Saturday via the Great Northern, and will start on their trip up the Trent waterway to Peterborough, where they will arrive on Tuesday. Wednesday morning Hon. Dr. Reid will continue his trip up the canal to Lake Simcoe.

REALISTIC WAR SCENES ARE SHOWN AT GRAND

"Over the Top," the graphic film from the famous book of the same name by Sgt. Guy Empey, had its initial presentation at the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon, when a holiday audience had the horrors and heroes of war shown on the screen in a manner most realistic. The story, which is based on facts, shows an intimate knowledge of life in the trenches, and provides a most realistic appeal to overwhelm and crush out forever the barbarism of Hun espionage and cruelty. A romance runs through the things of war, but it is a romance which a German, General Von Euden, abducts an American girl whose lover later also falls into his hands. In the end the girl and her sweetest escape under thrilling circumstances. One of the heart-stirring moments is when the "coward" who became so very bright on the field, redeems himself by going over the top and dies on his gun after saving the situation. The picture will be shown twice daily during the week.

"TARZAN OF THE APES" VERY THRILLING PLAY

It is some time since a more thrilling picture has been seen in Toronto than "Tarzan of the Apes," which was shown before immense audiences at the Regent yesterday. Tracing the life of the heir to the Greystoke fortunes from the time he was kidnapped from his parents in the jungles of Brazil, until he had been restored to society, the picture shows the wild life of the southern forests, its lions, monkeys, apes, baboons and elephants—with remarkable realism. How the boy was reared by an ape mother and grew into manhood, rough, rugged and strong in control of every living thing with which he came in contact, while his nephew, who being pampered and coaxed from babyhood to young manhood on the estate in England, is told in a way that holds the interest at high pitch. Elmo Lincoln as the man Tarzan is admirably suited to the part. His skill in climbing and his powers of endurance are indeed only that of an athlete. His fight with the baboon with the native, his friendliness with the elephants, his battle with the lion already crowned to spring at the first white woman he had ever seen—and who eventually becomes his wife—is equal to, if not away ahead of, anything of its kind yet seen in motion pictures. The orchestra presented a very pleasing program in keeping with the immensity of the feature production.

DOMINION POLICE MAKE SUDDEN SWOOPS IN SHORT TIME.

SIXTY MEN HELD

These Are Mostly Foreigners and Have No Papers.

IN QUEST OF DRAFT ACT DEFAULTERS, THE Dominion police, under direction of Capt. Tom Flanagan, between 8.15 and 9.45 o'clock last night "raided" fifteen poolrooms and restaurants, with the result that 64 men, practically all foreigners, were arrested and taken to No. 3 (Clarendon street) and No. 4 (East Dundas street) police stations. Sixty of these men spent the night there, and will appear this morning in the police court charged with a breach of the Military Service Act. They are liable under the latest M. S. A. regulations to a fine of $50 each for not having upon them proper military credentials and also being put into the army or kept in custody until such time as they can produce proof of exemption from service. It was the first raid held in Toronto since the announcement of the imposing of a fine on those found without military credentials.

NO CHANCES OF ESCAPE FOR THE defaulters making a breakaway while en route to the police station, the precautionary measure being the marching of those apprehended down the middle of the roadway while going to the places of custody.

FIFTEEN VISITS MADE.

Fifteen poolrooms, stores and houses were raided during the hour-and-a-half swoop by the Dominion police. Seven of the places visited were in the vicinity of Bathurst and West King streets, and eight in the East King street and Parliament street sections. All those gathered in were foreigners, most of them Greeks and Macedonians. Several private dwellings and boarding-houses, that had doors standing invitingly open, were investigated by the police, and yielded a couple of defaulters. These houses were on Niagara, King and Tecumseh streets.

ONE OF THE BIG SURPRISES during last night's operations was a visit to an upstairs auditorium on Spadina avenue, near Oxford street, where a meeting of Jews was in full swing. The meeting was halted while those who had them produced their military papers. Twelve of those present had no papers, and were taken under escort to Clarendon street police station.

THIRTY-EIGHT OF THE MEN apprehended last night were taken to No. 4 station and 26 to No. 2. At No. 4 station it was found that the contingent of defaulters overtaxed the station's accommodation and ten men were marched under escort to spend the night at the Court street station.

IN CONNECTION WITH THE work of the Dominion police in the east end, Inspector E. Bond of the city police and his staff gave every assistance.

ALIED OFFENSIVE FORESEEN IN PARIS

Generals Foch and Petain Will Display Good Striking Abilities.

PARIS, June 3.—An allied offensive manoeuvre is predicted by Le Matin and the Petit Parisien. They express the conviction that Generals Foch and Petain, who proved themselves good offensive men in subordinate commands, will display the same qualities in the supreme commands of the allied and the French armies.

ALL THE newspapers, according to a Havas agency review, believe that the permission of the inter-Allied Council established on all points of the front and that the fluctuations are growing less in extent.

THE GERMAN assault are still furious and violent, while the French resistance is fierce and energetic, with numerous strong counter-attacks. Sunday the French held the enemy in check, and even forced him to withdraw from some points.

O'LEARY'S INDICTED FOR OBSTRUCTING LAW

O'Leary on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the escape of Jeremiah O'Leary just before his trial here for publication of alleged scurrilous articles in The Bull, an anti-British paper.

John O'Leary is held on $100,000 bail on the complaint of Charles F. de Woody, chief of the New York Bureau of Investigation of the department of justice, charging him with conspiring to aid in the escape of his brother, Jeremiah, who has forfeited his $2,500 bail and is being sought as a fugitive from justice.

THE Canadian Northern seeks to increase its excursion rates to and from Niagara Falls on its lines within New York and to raise to three cents a mile its passenger rates from Minnesota and Michigan to Pacific coast United States cities from British Columbia. The C. P. R. asked for the three-cent rate of passenger traffic on its lines in Maine and Vermont.

At Detroit (American)—Holding Detroit tight, Leonard pitched Boston to a 5 to 0 victory here yesterday afternoon. Only one Detroiter reached first base, the result of the only base on balls Leonard issued. Boston hit Druce freely, bunting the blows with bases on base and errors. Ruth, sent to center field to replace Strunk, duplicated his home run of Sunday by again placing the ball in the right field bleachers. Score: Boston.....100112000—5 R.H.E. Detroit.....00000000—0 Batteries—Leonard and Schanz; Druce, Cunningham and Yale.

At Cleveland—Washington overcame a two-run lead and defeated Cleveland, 3 to 2 yesterday. Coveleskie held Washington safe until the eighth, when Miller's error allowed the visitors to tie the score. The winning run was scored in the ninth on Wambarger's error and Alpinetti's single after two were out. Johnson, who pitched eleven innings Sunday, pitched the last two innings yesterday. Score: R.H.E. Washington.....000000021—3 Cleveland.....20000000—2 Batteries—Ayers, Johnson and Pletch; Ah, Alpinetti; Coveleskie and O'Neill.

At Chicago—Russell went to pieces in the third inning yesterday and the locals scored six runs on three hits, one of which was a double by E. Collins, coupled with four bases on balls, and an error by Hannah. Chicago added a few more off Finnegan by bunting hits and won from New York, 9 to 2. The score: R.H.E. New York.....100001000—2 Chicago.....000010200—9 Batteries—Russell, Finnegan and Hannah; Clotte and Schalk.

At St. Louis—Timely hitting, combined with Greig's masterly pitching, enabled Philadelphia to win from St. Louis yesterday by a score of 3 to 1. Despite Greig's performance, holding the locals to one hit, he would have lost had not his team mates bunched shocker for four successive hits in the eighth, as Slater had stolen third and home with the only run scored up to that time. Score: R.H.E. Philadelphia.....000000020—3 St. Louis.....000000100—1 Batteries—Greig and McAvoy; Stocker and Nunamaker.

At Jersey City (International)—Binghamton made it three games in a row by winning yesterday's game from Jersey City by a score of 6 to 2. The score: R.H.E. Binghamton.....120200100—6 Jersey City.....100010000—2 Batteries—Beckvermit and Haddock; Smith; Labate, McFarland and Carroll.

At Rochester—Rochester hit Deviney and Cooper hard and defeated Buffalo, 13 to 5. The home club made 17 hits for 31 bases. Smith's hitting was a feature. He had a home run, a triple, a double and a single in five times up. Score: R.H.E. Rochester.....20202016—13 17 Buffalo.....20001000—5 Batteries—Hagan, Heitman and Smith; Reeves; Deviney, Cooper and Meyers.

Leafs Lose Games While the Manager Talks—Regular Nero and Rome Stuff

By Ida L. Webster.

So Dan Howley is still wasting his time arguing with the umpire instead of utilizing it to win ball games. Certainly if the Toronto fans are to be regaled with this sort of news every morning during the remainder of the season, they will be almost worn while, but cannot come make the young man realize that he is the lesser quality when it comes to such matters? Syracuse won the series from the Leafs while the manager was busy selling everyone who would listen just how rotten the umpiring was, and incidentally it might be mentioned that the opposing pitchers have been so good that Dan has only been able to get one hit in about 15 trips to the plate, so that it cannot all be laid to Westervelt. But at any rate it is high time that President McCaffery stepped in and put a stop to this kind of thing.

WEIRD CONTEST IS WON BY CARDINALS

Protest Thrown in for Good Measure—Giants' First Home Defeat.

At Brooklyn (National)—The game between St. Louis and Brooklyn yesterday, which the visitors won by 15 to 13 in twelve innings, was played under protest by the home club. In the sixth inning, with Baird on second, Cruise hit a liner to centre, which Hickman stopped, but the ball was not caught, and Baird reached third, thinking the ball was caught started back for second. After going back about 20 feet he cut across the diamond to the plate and scored. Umpire Rigler ruled that, after a runner had once touched third base he was not compelled to re-touch it on his way home.

At New York—New York lost its first home game of the season here yesterday, losing to Pittsburgh by a score of 3 to 2. The visitors scored their winning run in the eighth inning when Fletcher made a wild throw attempting to complete a double play. After two New York runs were scored on Miller in the first inning on three hits by Wagner, by, he did not permit another man to reach first base, retiring 26 men in order. The score: R.H.E. Pittsburgh.....10000010—3 New York.....20000000—2 Batteries—Miller and Schmidt; Tesreau, Demaree and McCarty.

At Boston—Chicago hit Neft often enough yesterday to win the second game of the series from Boston, 5 to 3. Neft hit Tyler hard in the sixth. In the seventh, Hendrix, pinch-hitting for Tyler, singled and scored two runs. Weaver finished the game. Zetter's all-round play was excellent. Score: R.H.E. Chicago.....00010100—5 Boston.....00010100—3 Batteries—Tyler, Weaver and Killiter; Neft and Henry, Tagher.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia-Cincinnati game postponed, teams missed train connections.

POPULAR ATHLETE GETS THE NEW DECORATION

Bert was one of Central Y's hardest workers and was a member of the leaders' class. He was also physical director of the Fred Victor Mission, and was also director of the Methodist Boys' Camp.

SCARBORO BEACH PARK

Tickets of admission to the Park will be distributed, without charge, to the wheelmen at the start of the run.

On Sunday, to the amazement of the Syracuse scribes, he yanked Bowman out of the game and put Anderson, who has a sprained ankle, at second. Now big Bowman may not be a speed artist in the field, but he is a sure thing at bat, and his are what this club needs. However, the "hitting fiend" was stuck on the road, and he was not able to get around in his place. Evidently it was this brand of judgment which made the Toronto club miss the season, but the Toronto management, but Toronto is a different story, and Daniel will have many a sleepless night if he does not hold his berth here for the remainder of the season. Howley has as good a club as there is in the league, but he does not know what to do with it.

Opening Lacrosse Game Proved to Be Very Fast

Opening game of the 1918 lacrosse season was played on Saturday afternoon at Scarborough Beach field before a good-sized crowd, when Riverdale, runners-up for last year's senior title, and Peaches, three times junior champions, met in an exhibition game.

The game, which was played in ideal lacrosse weather, proved to be very fast for so early in the season, and was evenly contested throughout. Up-and-down-field play was the order for the first few minutes, until finally Jack Dunn broke away, and on a neat play scored the first goal for Peaches. Riverdale pressed right from the face-off, and put shot after shot on Goalie Coutie of Peaches, who was stopping them from all angles, until Chespot finally scored on the next combination play on the part of the Riverdale home, Beaches, not to be outdone added another on the same combination, making the score at quarter-time: Beaches 2, Riverdale 1.

The second period also proved to be fairly even, with Beaches having the

ALLIES TO RESTORE BALANCE SPEEDILY

Enemy, in New Attack, Dissipates Strength Needed Later.

RAIDS INTO GERMANY

British Machines Destroy Poison Gas Factory at Ludwighafen.

Ottawa, June 3.—The following is a summary of the war situation for the past week, cabled to Canada by the British ministry of information and issued by the director of public information for publication as official news: The chief military event of the week has been the enemy attack on the front between Soissons and Rheims. The attack opened at dawn of Monday morning, May 27, simultaneously with an attack on the southern face of the Tynes salient in the Alsace region.

Back to Laffaux Plateau. Hitherto, on the west the French succeeded in holding the heights between Vauxillon and Chavignon, but were now obliged to fall back to the plateau of Laffaux. Meanwhile, the right of the allied line, which was being held by four British divisions from Croisne to Berneriville, had held its ground, only bending back a little to conform to the retirement of the French. All this time it was evident that the allied troops on this sector were heavily outnumbered by the enemy and that the withdrawal would have to continue slowly until reserves could be brought up.

The enemy through the 29th pressed his advantage hard. By nightfall he had reached Dravegny as his southernmost point and had extended his flanks to the outskirts of Soissons and Rheims. At the time of report the enemy advance still continues, and he had reached the right bank of the Marne on a front of about ten miles. Parallel to Lys. The circumstances appear almost parallel to those on the Lys during the first week in April, where a comparatively minor operation met with unexpectedly great initial success, which was rapidly taken advantage of by the Germans. On the Alsace front the situation was peculiarly favorable for the enemy. In the salient which he had created toward Amiens he concentrated a considerable body of troops concentrated. The salient in question is as deep as to give him very much the advantage of interior lines, and his railway communications in this area are excellent. It was therefore easy for him to concentrate at any point a force sufficiently superior to make an initial success a certainty and to exploit that success within the limits of time necessary to the allies to move reserves around their exterior line.

But in the locality concerned, he will have to advance a considerable distance over country of such a nature that he will have to pay a heavy price for it before he can achieve anything of a decisive strategic nature, and, should he allow himself to become too deeply involved in so doubtfully profitable an operation, he may be obliged to withdraw troops from more decisive sectors and thus dissipate in futile venture strength which he ought to economize.

MANOEUVRE RESTORED

In this particular theatre and action he has proceeded so far as to restore to the operations the element of movement and manoeuvre in which the allied generals are probably more than the equals of the enemy.

As has been said, the allies could afford, in a military sense, to give ground in the locality. Soissons has had to be evacuated, but the allied line, so rapidly withdrawn, has never lost its cohesion, and the allied higher command, which now has the advantage of unity, may be trusted to restore the situation without allowing the enemy any decisive strategic gain. On the morning of the 27th, simultaneously with the attack on the Alsace, the enemy once more attempted to break the allied line between Loos and Voormezele, using for the purpose greater forces than any hitherto. But within 24 hours he was completely deprived of his slight initial successes, and the operations limited to what was unquestionably a severe defeat for the enemy. The German attempt to characterize this engagement as a "raid" is so grossly untrue as to afford strong evidence of his disappointment.

Italian Successes. On May 28, the Italians carried out a very successful operation on the heights around the Zigolon Peak of the Tonale sector, gaining all their objectives and capturing 870 prisoners, 12 guns and other material. On the following night, by a successful coup they gained 180 metres of very valuable ground at Capo Sile, taking at the same time seven officers and 433 men prisoners, in addition to considerable material. The air ministry reports that the fine weather on the western front broke on the morning of the 23rd for several days, but before the break our airplanes did much valuable work. A number of bombing raids were carried out on a variety of objectives, including the enemy's night flying aerodromes, and nearly 70 tons of bombs were dropped in the battle zone within 48 hours. The efforts of hostile scouts to intercept our bombers were fruitless owing to the offensive tactics of our fighters and the excellent gunnery of the observers of our two-seater bombing machines.

Attacks on Bases. Outside the immediate battle zone, the enemy coastal bases at Zebrugge, Bruges and Ostend were attacked at every possible opportunity. In the course of the week an enemy destroyer was hit and shown by subsequent photographic reconnaissances to have been sunk in the fairway at Zebrugge. During the week in the battle zone and in the operations on the Belgian coast a total of 133 tons of bombs were dropped. Sixty-six enemy aircraft were brought down and 12 driven down out of control, while 14 of our machines failed to return. This week the enemy has shown some activity in bombing our back areas at night, and has not grumbled to attack one of our long established base hospitals, the exact location of which must have been well known to his air forces.

Raids into Germany. Germany this week has had a foretaste of the striking power which the new arm is developing. No less than 15 distinct raids were carried out during the week on different military objectives in German territory as far afield as Coblenz and Mannheim, in the course of which 19 tons of bombs were dropped with good effect. The poison gas factories at Ludwighafen, for example, were twice attacked, and on the second occasion the blackened girders of the buildings, gutted by fire, were clearly visible to our pilots. In home waters, despite difficult weather conditions, our seaplanes and our airships have maintained their constant watch for enemy surface and submarine craft, and have continued to work in close co-operation with our naval forces in the conveying of shipping and the detection and destruction of drifting enemy mines. In Italy the allied air ascendancy remains beyond dispute. In the Adriatic another successful raid was carried out on Durazzo by our seaplanes on the twenty-seventh, when a number of fires were started in the buildings of the seaplane station and an enemy destroyer is reported to have been sunk after a direct hit. A very successful raid was also carried out on Cattaro.

FRENCH INCREASE DEFENSIVE POWER

Enemy Shows No Intention of Crossing River Marne.

FACE TO WESTWARD

Germans Make Strongest Efforts From Noyon to Chateau Thierry.

London, June 3.—The story of the fighting of the past two days is a story of increasing heroic French resistance to the desperate German rush. The enemy has shifted the direction of his attack from south to west, apparently not now intending to cross the Marne, and although the repeated French counter-attacks come nearer to arresting the advance than at any time since the battle began, they have not arrested it.

The immediate danger point is the Noyon-Soissons-Chateau Thierry line, where the fiercest fighting is proceeding. During the week-end the enemy advance greatly slowed down, thanks chiefly to the tenacity with which the defenders clung to the outskirts of Soissons, which are the key positions. The German forces are closely packed around Soissons and unable to detach themselves. If the French can hold here a little longer their reserves, whose weight is already beginning to be felt, should turn the scale and bring the enemy to standstill.

ALLIED RESISTANCE RAPIDLY DEVELOPS

Reserves Begin to Make Presence Felt All Along Battlefront.

Some English experts express the opinion that the enemy is conducting the Marne offensive on such a scale that it is doubtful whether he will be able to manage another offensive simultaneously. Others think a further German advance would be very risky with the powerful French armies in the Champagne and Argonne regions in his rear. Others, again, think that Von Ludendorff, having secured the bank, may continue his efforts in the direction of Amiens.

The view in Paris is one of patience and confidence. It is pointed out that the sudden check of the enemy advance is remarkable, coming on the fifth day as compared with the ninth day of the offensive in March, but it is pointed out that the crown prince may be calling a halt in order to await the arrival of delayed reserves; and with forty divisions of the enemy reserves still unengaged it behooves Gen. Foch to employ his reserves in the most cautious way, otherwise while at grips with the enemy he may himself be held up at another point. The general view in Paris is inclined to be optimistic. A semi-official commentator declares that if complete stabilization is not achieved, at least the strategic balance is turning in favor of the allies.

ENEMY REACHES END OF RUSH IN FRANCE

With the French Army in France, the enemy has reached the virtual end of his rush. The ground is now given up only when the allied commanders consider it useless to hold it, and when combats occur they are fought on a much more equal basis than heretofore. The troops have never lost confidence, even in the most serious moments of their retirement, in their ability to prevent a breach in the line, and now, with British and French reinforcements arriving rapidly, the morale of the allied armies is higher than ever.

GERMANS IN ASIA

London, June 3.—The Germans steadily are pushing the tentacles of their economic control far into Central Asia where they are buying up available crops, including cotton, and placing orders for many years ahead, says The Daily Chronicle. The foundation of these developments is in the German control of Rumania and the Ukraine.

NO U. S. DEPOT CAPTURED.

Washington, June 3.—General Pershing, in a continuation of yesterday's communique, denies the German official statement that Franco-American depots at Pere-en-Tardenois have been captured. No American depots were located there, he declared.

CLEMENCEAU EXPLAINS MILITARY SITUATION

Paris, June 3.—A lengthy statement on the general military situation, the state of the present operations and the utilization of the inter-allied forces was made this morning before the army commission by Premier Clemenceau. Confidence was expressed by several members of the commission at the end of the meeting. The session of the army committee is always held behind closed doors, but Liberte says Premier Clemenceau gave detailed information with regard to British and American activities. It is expected the demand for interpellations on the military situation, of which notice has been given, will now be withdrawn or postponed.

BRITISH ADVANCE LINE NEAR THREE VILLAGES

London, June 3.—The war office reports: "Successful local operations were carried out by our troops last night in the vicinity of Villers-Bretonneux. Our line has been advanced slightly at these points, and 193 prisoners and number of machine guns and trench mortars have been captured by us. Our casualties were light. "Successful raids resulting in the capture of 20 prisoners, three machine guns and a trench mortar, were carried out by our troops southeast of Arras, north-west of Lens and west of Merville.
