Menocal, who is using his influence to establish peace between the government and the insurgents, has an eye on the presidency, is vigorously denied by the leader of the Cuban veterans, Menocal adds that he does not seek the overthrow of President Palma or the moderate administration, but desires solely to see the republic at peace.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

HIRAM AT THE FAIR. Mr. Hiram Hornsbeam leaned against a post on the Pike this morning and reflected. Hiram is of a mathematical turn, and as a boy at school could trim the whole class in mental arithmetic.

"To run some of them bottles," pursued Hiram, "all you want is nerve, and five or ten dollars. But, by hen! We must have em. Did you see that fellow nicker plin' a cur's eye it looks like a quarter? I got one free. It was as young as I used to be. I don't know but I'd go into the show bizness. It's a mighty sight easier to ketch the other fellow's dollars than it is to earn 'em yourself."

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—"I want to marry Wong Goo. He has been good to me ever since I know him, and that is more than the rest of the world has been. I have been forced to make my way since I was a child and have done my best. Wong Goo offered to make me his wife and I have consented. I see no reason why there should be such an uproar or why I should not be allowed to marry the man I wish."

THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL

BY BARONESS ORCZY.

"Yes, that is so," assented Lord Antony.
"Then he will have received one such paper today?"
"Undoubtedly."
"Oh! I wonder what he will say!" said Suzanne earnestly. "I have heard that the picture of that little red flower is the only thing that frightens him."
"Faith, then," said Lord Antony, "he will have many more opportunities of studying the shape of that small scarlet flower."
"Ah! monsieur," sighed the Comtesse, "it all sounds like a romance, and I cannot understand it all."
"Why should you try, Madame?"
"But, tell me, why should your leader—why should you all—spend your money and risk your lives—for it is your lives you risk, Messieurs, when you set foot in France—and all for us French men and women, who are nothing to you?"
"Sport, Madame la Comtesse, sport," asserted Lord Antony, with his usual, loud and pleasant voice; "we are a nation of sportsmen, you know, and just now it is the fashion to pull the hare from between the teeth of the hound."
"Ah, no, no, no, no, no, no, Monsieur. . . you have a more noble motive, I am sure, for the good work you do."
"Faith, Madame, I would like you to find it then; as for me, I row, I love the game, for this is the finest sport I have yet encountered. Hairbreadth escapes—the devil's own risks!—Tally ho!—and away we go!"
But the Comtesse shook her head, still incredulous. To her it seemed preposterous that these young men and their great leader, all of them rich, probably well-born, and young, should for no other motive than sport, run the terrible risks, which she knew they were constantly doing. Their nationality, once they had set foot in France, would be no safeguard to them. Anyone found hawking or sailing suspected royalists would be ruthlessly condemned and summarily executed, whatever his nationality might be. And this band of young Englishmen, to her knowledge, bearded the implacable and bloodthirsty tribunal of the Revolution, within the very walls of Paris itself, and had sentenced and condemned victims, almost from the very foot of the guillotine. With a shudder, she recalled the events of the last few days, her escape from Paris with her two children, cape from Paris with her two children, all three of them hidden amid a heap of turnips and cabbages, not daring to breathe, whilst the mob howled "A bas le roi!" and "A bas le roi!"
It had all occurred in such a miraculous way, she and her husband had been placed on the list of "suspected persons," which meant that their trial and death was but a matter of days—of hours, perhaps.
Then came the hope of salvation; the mysterious epistle, signed with the enigmatical scarlet device; the clear, peremptory directions; the parties from the Comte de Tournay which had torn the poor wife's heart in two; the hope of reunion; the fight with her two children; the covered cart; the ghastly trophy on her hand!

The Comtesse looked round at the quaint, old-fashioned English inn, the peace of this land of civil and religious liberty, and she closed her eyes to shut out the haunting vision of that West Barrière, and of the mob retreating panic-stricken when the old hag spoke of the plague.
Every moment under that cart she expected recognition, arrest, herself and her children tried and condemned, and these young Englishmen, under the guidance of their brave and mysterious leader, had risked their lives to save them all, as they had already saved scores of other innocent people.
And all only for sport? Impossible! Suzanne's eyes as she sought those of Sir Andrew plainly told him that she thought that he at any rate respected his fellow-men from terrible and unmerited death, through a higher and nobler motive than his friend would have her believe.
"How many are there in your brave league, Monsieur?" she asked timidly.
"Twenty all told, Mademoiselle," he replied, "one to command, and nineteen to obey. All are Englishmen, and all pledged to the same cause—to obey our leader and to rescue the innocent."
"May God protect you all, Messieurs," said the Comtesse fervently.
"It is wonderful to me, wonderful!—That you should all be so brave and so English—and in France, where liberty is all in the name of Liberty and fraternity!"
"The women even, in France, have been more bitter against us aristocrats than the men," said the Vicomte, with a slight smile.
"Ah, yes, yes, yes, yes, yes, yes, yes, a look of beautiful disdain and intense bitterness about through her melancholy eyes."
"There was that woman, Marguerite St. Just, for instance. She denounced the Marquis de St. Cyr and all his family to the awful tribunal of the Terror."
"Marguerite St. Just?" said Lord Antony, as he shot a quick apprehensive glance across at Sir Andrew. "Marguerite St. Just?—Sunday."
"Yes!" replied the Comtesse, "surely you know her. She was a leading actress of the Comedie Francaise, and she married an Englishman lately. You must know her."
"Know her?" said Lord Antony. "Know Lady Blakeney—the most fashionable woman in London—the wife of the richest man in England? Of course, we all know Lady Blakeney."
"She was a school-fellow of mine at the convent in Paris," interposed Suzanne, "and we came over to England together to learn your language, I and some friends of Marguerite, and I cannot believe that she ever did anything so wicked."
"It certainly seems incredible," said Sir Andrew. "You say that she actually denounced the Marquis de St. Cyr? Surely there must be some mistake."
"No mistake is possible, Monsieur," rejoined the Comtesse, coldly. "Marguerite St. Just's brother is a noted republican. There was some talk of a family feud between him and my cousin, the Marquis de St. Cyr. The St. Justs are plebeian, and the republican government employs them as spies. I assure you there is no mistake. . . You had not heard this story?"

"Faith, Madame, I did hear some vague rumors of it, but in England no one would believe it," said Sir Percy Blakeney, her husband, a very wealthy man, of high social position, the intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, and Lady Blakeney leads both fashion and society in London.
"That may be, Monsieur, and we shall, of course, lead a very quiet life in England, but I pray God that while I remain in this beautiful country, I may never meet Marguerite St. Just."
The provincial wet-shakes seemed to have fallen over the merry little company gathered round the table. Suzanne looked sad and silent. Sir Andrew looked unamused with his fork, whilst the Comtesse, encoiled in the plate-armour of her aristocratic prejudices, sat, rigid and uncomfortable, and glanced once or twice apprehensively towards Jollyband, who looked just as uncomfortable as himself.
"At what time do you expect Sir Percy and Lady Blakeney?" he contrived to whisper unobserved, to miss host.
"Any moment, my lord," whispered Jollyband in reply.
Even as he spoke, a distant clatter was heard of an approaching coach; louder and louder it grew, one or two shouts became distinguishable, then the rattle of horses' hoofs on the uneven cobble stones, and the next moment a stable boy had thrown open the coffee-room door and rushed in excitedly.
"Sir Percy Blakeney and my lady," he shouted as the top of his voice, "they're just arriving."
And with more shouting, jingling of harness, and iron hoofs upon the stones, a magnificent coach, drawn by four superb bays, had halted outside the porch of "The Fisherman's Rest."

CHAPTER V.
Marguerite.
In a moment the pleasant oak-paneled coffee-room of the inn became the scene of hopeless confusion and discomfort. At the first announcement made by the stable boy, Lord Antony, with a fashionable air, had jumped up from his seat and was now giving many and confused directions to poor bewildered Jollyband, who seemed at his wits' end what to do.
"For goodness' sake, man," admonished his lordship, "try to keep Lady Blakeney talking outside for a moment, while the ladies withdraw." "Zounds!" he added, with another emphatic oath, "this is most unfortunate."
"Quick, Sally! the candles!" shouted Jollyband, as hopping about from one leg to another, he was hither and thither, to the general discomfort of everybody.
The Comtesse, too, had risen to her feet; rigid and erect, trying to hide her excitement beneath a more becoming sangroid, she repeated mechanically—
"I will not see her!—I will not see her!"
Outside, the excitement attendant upon the arrival of very important guests grew apace.
"Good-day, Sir Percy!—Good-day to your ladyship! Your servant, Sir Percy!"—was the cry in long, guttural phrases, which alternate more feeble tones of—"Remember the poor blind man! of your charity, lady and gentleman!"
Then suddenly a singularly sweet voice was heard through all the din.
"Let the poor man be—and give him some supper at my expense."
The voice was low and musical, with a slight sing-song in it, and a faint suggestion of foreign intonation in the pronunciation of the consonants.
Everyone in the coffee-room heard it and paused, instinctively listening to it for a moment. Sally was holding the candles by the opposite door, which led to the bedroom upstairs, and the Comtesse was in the act of heading a hasty retreat, when that enemy who owed such a sweet musical voice, Suzanne reluctantly was preparing to follow her mother, while casting regretful glances towards the door, where she hoped still to see her dearly-beloved, snow-white school-fellow.
Then Jollyband threw open the door, still stupidly and blindly trying to avert the catastrophe, which he felt was in the air, and the same low, musical voice, with a merry laugh and mock consternation—
"Bee-ee! I am as wet as a herring! Die! let anyone ever seen such a contemptible climate!"
"Suzanne, come with me at once—I wish to see the Comtesse, peremptorily."
"Oh! Mama!" pleaded Suzanne.
"My lady . . . e . . . h'm! . . . my lady!" came a feeble voice from Jollyband, who stood clumsily trying to bar the way.
"Then, my good man," said Lady Blakeney, with some impatience, "what are you standing in my way for, dancing about like a turkey with a sore foot? Get me out to the fire, I am perishing with the cold."

FOR ADVERTISERS

(From Printers' Ink, Aug. 8)

The Printers' Ink man brought specimens of the St. John dailies home with him and submitted them to the inspection of an advertiser who has had a good deal of experience in dealing with and valuing newspapers; asking him to look them over carefully, note the news, general reading matter, market reports, society, base ball, etc., together with a consideration of the advertising columns, and make known his decision by marking the papers 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 in the order of merit as it appeared to him. The papers were returned marked as directed which led to their being arranged in the following order:
The Daily Telegraph, the Evening Times, St. John Star, St. John Globe, the Sun.
For classified advertisements he reported The Daily Telegraph to be materially in advance of any of the others.

AGAINST FOREIGN DEGREES

Montreal, Sept. 5.—The Canadian Dental Association began its session this morning shortly after the Dominion Dental Council had finished its business. Between 200 and 300 delegates, among whom are several eminent dentists of the world, are to be present during the session.
The chief matter of business before the Dominion Dental Council was the question of accepting foreign degrees. Herefore the council has refused to accept these on the ground that they were of inferior standard and because Canadians are not given any standing in foreign countries. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick favored accepting foreign degrees of a standard equal to our own but the council negatived the proposition, they holding that reciprocity could not be obtained by yielding all our privileges for nothing.

BIG AND LITTLE GAME

FREIGHT RATES

In an interview published in the Daily Telegraph, Mr. James Pender states that the St. John nail factories have not been able to sell any of their product in Winnipeg for more than a year because of transportation arrangements which make the St. John freight prohibitive as compared with the freight from Montreal.

St. John to Winnipeg (1,900 miles), 70c. St. John to Victoria, B. C. (3,300 miles), 65c.

St. John to Montreal (480 miles), 16c. Fort William to Winnipeg (440 miles), 40c. Montreal to Fort William (Lake and rail), 25c.

Pittsburg to St. John (1,100 miles), 25c. Mr. Pender quotes prices to show that the Montreal manufacturers have either been selling nails in Winnipeg at or below cost for a year, or they have been getting a lake rate to Fort William lower than the published rate, and lower than St. John shippers can get.

He points out that the through rate from St. John to Winnipeg should be reduced in some such proportion as that to Victoria has been. He has no objection to Montreal getting a reasonable differential, but insists very reasonably that this city should have fair play.

The fact that Winnipeg dealers buy all their nails delivered at Fort William, instead of at Winnipeg or at the point of manufacture, suggests that lake freights are more of a consideration than appears on the surface.

The St. John nail factories have enlarged their equipment with the reasonable expectation of securing a share of the new business of the great west. It has been urged over and over again that St. John is a favorable point for manufacturing goods for the west.

But that must depend on the freight rates. The rate from Pittsburg to St. John, 1,100 miles, over three different lines, is only 25c., compared with the C. P. R.'s 70c. for 1,900 miles over one road to Winnipeg. A little comparison of the rates quoted is very suggestive. The subject is one of interest to more persons than those engaged in the manufacture of nails.

Referring to the annual report of the C. P. R., the Montreal Herald says: "The annual report of the Canadian Pacific shows, on a close analysis, that the company could have reported for 1906 a surplus equivalent to 15 per cent. on the common stock after ample maintenance. This figure may be taken to measure the surplus and equities in 1906 projected on the $121,000,000 of common stock outstanding at the present time. The showing is by far the best in the history of the company."

The company is evidently in a position to give equitable rates to the public, and the interests of the manufacturing industries of the east, as well as the farmers of the west, should be considered.

MR. HEARST

Mr. Hearst has a clever manner of presenting his case to the people. It is a manner that appeals to the dissatisfied and prompts them to hope for better conditions. An example of his effective method appears in his address to an audience of labor men in Syracuse a few days ago. We quote:

"My programme is not Socialism, or radicalism, or extreme of any kind. I call it Americanism. And to my mind it is simply a plan to put into practical operation the American theory of government. I believe in action rather than words. Let public servants promise only what can be actually performed, and then positively perform what they have promised. I believe the tariff should be modified and public ownership inaugurated, but that both should be done cautiously and conservatively, with due regard to the stability of business interests and the perpetuation of the prosperity on which we all depend. I believe in open opportunity for all men. I believe in the restraint and regulation of trusts and monopolies by law. I believe in the prison penalty for the responsible representatives of criminal combinations. One law-defying millionaire in jail will do more than any other single thing to regulate trust iniquity and elevate the moral tone of the community. I believe that the distribution of wealth is as important as the creation of wealth. I believe in good wages for good work. I believe in every measure that gives the people more direct control of their government. I believe in the direct responsibility of all representatives of the people to the people; and in terms of office so short that this responsibility will never be forgotten. I believe in purity in politics, in a free ballot and a fair count. I believe that the man who gives a bribe should go to jail, even if the wretch who received the bribe goes free."

The ordinary listener would be very much impressed by this statement of Mr. Hearst's views. Taken by itself it is admirable, and the most of it could be made with equal cheerfulness by any man seeking political advancement, whether he were Independent, Democrat or Republican. The difficulty in Mr. Hearst's case is to convince the people of his sincerity and of his ability to carry into practice the principles enunciated.

The conference of provincial premiers will be held. The Montreal Star says: "At the demonstration at Chambly on Sunday, under the auspices of Lemieux and Mercier Clubs, the announcement was made that the provincial premiers will be called together on the question of provincial subsidies. The announcement was made by Hon. R. Lemieux, and a statement by Hon. L. P. Brodeur on the subject was interrupted by the rain, but the minister promised to discuss it further at a future meeting."

Stensland, the defaulting bank president of Chicago, is reported to have been arranging to join Rasauli, the bandit, at the time of his arrest in Morocco. A meeting between these two gentlemen of the road would have been an event of historic interest. It is rather a pity late, in the form of a policeman, intervened. Which would have floored the other?

The publisher of the New Glasgow Chronicle stands on his rights and with starting boldness asserts: "We want to notify our good friends, the advertisers, that when they buy space for a year or for any time, they buy just that space. If anyone wants increased space for one or two issues he will have to pay transient rates therefor."

Thus far the attendance at the exhibition has been considerably greater than for the like number of days of the fair of 1904. Today will doubtless witness another great crowd of interested visitors. Everything has been running smoothly, and the fine weather has enabled all who have come from provincial points to enjoy their visit to the utmost.

Mr. John B. Moran succeeds in keeping himself before the Boston public in a more or less sensational manner. He is now threatening to bring a prospective candidate for the lieutenant-governorship before the grand jury. Mr. Moran believes in the value of advertising as a preliminary to a political campaign.

The Moncton Times publishes Hon. Mr. Blair's denial of the charges made against him and Senator Thompson in an article in that paper, and states that the article was printed without any personal or political ill-feeling against Mr. Blair; but was received and printed as an item of news.

The news from Cuba is a little more reassuring. The government has a chance to strengthen its position. If it fails to pacify the insurgents American intervention must follow, and after that annihilation. President Palma is on trial.

Attorney General Pugsley left last night for the west. He will not be present at the preliminary examination of Thomas F. Collins, which begins on Monday, before Magistrate Stuart.

Dr. Pugsley has been named as Premier Tweedie's or Solicitor General Jones would be with him.

Dr. Pugsley said also that the government analyst, Dr. G. A. B. Addy, had not yet finished his analysis of the stains on the article of clothing found in the value Collins left at Musquash and which was brought by Chief Clark to the city. The attorney general added that the crown had ordered an analysis of the stains found on the sleeve of the shirt which Collins is supposed to have left under the bed, in Gardiner's Hotel, again.

The stain on a pair of overalls found in the kitchen of Rutherford Macaulay's house will also be analyzed.

LONGING

(By Matthew Arnold) Come to me, my dream, and then, By day I shall be well again. For then the night will more than pay The hopeless longing of the day. Come, as thou canst a thousand times A messenger from radiant climes, And smile on thy new world, and be As kind to others as to me! Or, as thou never canst in sooth, Come now, and let me dream it, truth; And part my hair, and kiss my brow And say: My love! Why sufferest thou? Come to me in my dreams, and then By day I shall be well again! For then the night will more than pay The hopeless longing of the day.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

RITZBOERS AND RATOFF. Higgins—"Old Gotrox is a distant relative of yours, isn't he?" Wagins—"Yes; and the richer he becomes, the more distant he is."—Chicago Daily News.

EASILY ANSWERED.

Facto—"In the ages past how did they ever manage to live without telephones and the telegraph?" Philos—"They didn't; they all died—Bon Vivant."

NOT AN ORATION

"You say it was not an interesting oration?" "Not very interesting. The crowd was so orderly and did so little cheering that you could hear every word of the speech."—Washington Star.

HE SUCCEEDED.

"Lancel told me he was going out every day this week," said Goodley, "to see if he couldn't find work." "Yes," replied Newitt, "and he was successful!" "Really?" "Yes," he couldn't find it."—Philadelphia Press.

SHE WAS SATISFIED

Mrs. Baggins—"Mandy, I hear you have married again." Mandy—"Yes'm." Mrs. Baggins—"And is your second husband equal to your first?" Mandy—"Yes'm, he is as fully as equal, if not equaler."

A CASE IN POINT

"Evil communications corrupt good manners," quoted the teacher. "Now, Johnny, can you understand what that means?" "Sure!" replied Johnny. "This mornin' pa got a communication from ma's dressmaker that made him swear."—Philadelphia Ledger.

JOHN'S IMPROVEMENT.

"Will you wait here for the answer?" asked the telegraph operator in the hotel lobby. "Or shall I send it up to your room?" "Oh," replied the woman, who had telegraphed to her husband, "I guess you'd better send it to my room. It will take some time to get a reply from John; he stutters so."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE RETORT NAUGHTY.

(Toronto News) This is a story told me by one of the Hamilton aldermen, and consequently it must be true. "Your mother takes in washing," said the nasty little boy, meaning to be rude. "Of course she does," replied the pleasant girl, "she doesn't leave it out so long as your father is out of jail."

SCORED ANOTHER HIT

Robinson Opera Company Enthusiastically Received in Fra Diavolo.

The Robinson Opera Company's production of "Fra Diavolo" yesterday was unqualifiedly successful. The principals of the company are particularly strong and it is doubtful if any company which has ever appeared here was as well provided for in this respect. Frank D. Nelson, the leading man, joined the company yesterday for the first time and sprang instantly into the role of the role of Diavolo, and a better conception of the picturesque bandit hero has never been presented here. Mr. Nelson is the happy possessor of one of those voices which compels attention on the first note—a rich, resonant baritone of great strength and splendid range. His tone coloring is perfect and he sings with convincing expression. Not only is Mr. Nelson a splendid singer, but as an actor he stands head and shoulders over most operatic stars. His work in this particular was excellent and the extremely realistic finale of the third act for him rounds off a splendid performance.

Miss Kilooyne, as Zerline, was in excellent voice and her singing and acting were fully up to her usual standard. Harry Koch, in the tenor role of Lorenzo, sang nicely and acted well, while the comedy roles, in the hands of Willie Burnham and Frank Freese, were exceedingly well done. Harry Nelson and John Moore and Misses Essie Barton, Ella Fitch and May Stone also contributed largely to the success of the production.

In fact, it may fairly be said that the Robinson Opera Company of this season compares very favorably with any operatic organization ever heard here.

POLLARD'S LILLIPIANIANS

Those very clever and entertaining little folk, known as the Pollard Lilliputian Opera Company, are once more back in Canada, after an extensive tour in the United States, with all the vitality which travel and success gives, will renew their acquaintance with the St. John public, with whom the Lilliputians became favorites about a year ago. The frisky young people, with all their ardor and humor and good voices will be heard at the York, where they will begin a one week's engagement commencing Monday, the 17th instant.

For the two New York chauffeurs killed while going at the rate of more than fifty miles an hour a simple verdict of suicide will be enough.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Sister Patrick celebrated her twenty-fifth anniversary as Mother of St. Patrick's Industrial School at Silver Falls, on Aug. 23rd last. WOMEN'S POLITICAL SUFFRAGE IN FINLAND

Miss Mabel Peters has Received Most Interesting Letter from Baroness Gripenberg, Written to the National Council of Women in Canada.

Editor of The Times. Sir:—As your readers have seen by the press dispatches, the Car has recently signed the act which conferred upon Finnish women the right to vote and to be elected to all offices on terms of perfect equality with Finnish men.

WOMEN'S POLITICAL SUFFRAGE IN FINLAND

During many years there had been comparatively little opportunity for the friends of women's suffrage to work for the promotion of this idea in our country. Two organizations, "The Finnish Women's Association," started in 1884, and "The Union," started 1892, supported the movement, but very little could be done because of one political condition. The last years, however, have been of great interest in this respect.

cupied side by side with men in many different lines of work, and the experience from those dominions, as well as from women's participation in social work and in philanthropy is such that there is no reason to fear that women should not use their suffrage as well as men.

It would be impossible to explain to foreign readers all the reasons which have led our law-makers to a decision, which will, in a certain aspect, at once place our little insignificant country above the great countries of much older culture.

The following persons are excluded from the suffrage and from eligibility: Soldiers, minors (that is, persons above 24 years of age who, for some reason, are put under guardianship), those who, of other reasons than poverty, have not paid their taxes to the government the last two years, those who have not during the last three years been registered as Finnish subjects, those who get aid from the poor law guardian funds, or are inhabitants in workhouses; those who have been committed for crimes or vagabondness to imprisonment; those who are in the state of bankruptcy, who are condemned for a certain time to be without the confidence of their fellow citizens, and to which they are elected by universal suffrage.

APPOINTED CHAPLAIN OF PROVINCIAL PENITENTIARY

Father A. D. Cormier, C.S.C., has been appointed chaplain of the provincial penitentiary, and will in the very near future take up his residence in Dorchester. While there he will also attend the parish church. For many years Father Cormier has been chaplain for St. Joseph's University, and it is a well-known fact that he performed the functions of his office in a first-class manner.

CORONATION CUP RACE AT SYDNEY

The following account of the Coronation cup race appeared in Tuesday's Sydney Herald: The Yendys, designed, owned and sailed by Herriek Duggan, of whose plans many Sevanlake cup defenders have been constructed, together with the needles, Cibou, in a race that was good to look at, won the first of the series from Commodore Clarke Carruth's Micmac, which is a creation of the United States naval architect, Arthur Benning.

While the boats were jockeying for positions at the start, the wind was gradually freshening up from the northwest, until, when the Micmac went across the start 6 seconds in the lead, a half hurricane was blowing. The Micmac went about in the teeth of the gale on the starboard tack, 2 1/2 minutes from the start, followed 30 seconds later by the Yendys. The Yendys rounded the Barrington Cove buoy in 50 minutes, the Micmac turning 1 minute and 35 seconds later. The race to Livingston's Shoal flag was started with balloons and all head sail set, the latter, however, having to be taken in after a short stretch had been covered, as the boats were burying themselves in the heavy sea that was running. The Yendys jibed round the second buoy at 5.5, with the challenger coming about 2 minutes behind her.

GOLF

The maritime provinces golf championship was continued yesterday on the St. John links, and was extremely interesting. The driving competition began at 11 o'clock, with sixteen entries, as follows: Miss Thomson, the Misses Robertson, of Rothesay; the Misses Barker, Miss Steffen, Miss Vera Robinson, Miss McEwen, Miss Tiffin, Miss Sydney Smith, Miss Innes, Miss Dibbles and Miss Denison, of Woodstock; Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Edwards. The competition was very keen.

THE OAR

Entries for the single scull harbor championship to be rowed under the auspices of the Neptune Rowing Club on Saturday, Sept. 8, closed last night with Secretary C. D. Robinson. There are only two entries—W. J. Coates, of the Neptune, and Hilton Belyea, of the West End. The Neptune has put up for competition a beautiful silver cup, which will be competed for each year until won three times by one sculler. The course will be the same as rowed by Coates and Nico last in starting off the North West end and going to a buoy off the bellows wharf and back. The race should be a fine one, as both men have been doing considerable rowing of late. Each has a new shell, which, as regards weight, is about as light as one can be made.

THE RING

DAVE ACKNOWLEDGES DEFEAT.

There is little for me to say. I guess Gene is entitled to a square victory for he has done what I was doing when I landed that foul blow in the forty-second round. I was dazed and more than half blind just as the bell rang. I was too stupid to fight. I think I surprised him by staying so long, and I was in turn surprised at his endurance. I was willing to take all the punishment he could send in, confident that I would wear him down. Perhaps I made a mistake when I did this, for he succeeded in closing one of my eyes entirely, and latching up my side of my head. I am bitterly disappointed, for in my heart I felt that I was his superior. Perhaps I may have another chance to even up scores with him sometime. I did the best I could, but the cleverest man I have ever met in the ring.

BATTILING NELSON.

I won the fight, I think, fairly and squarely. There can be no question that I would have put the Dane out in another round or two. He fouled me deliberately, and it was the only way he could save himself from being sent to the floor for the count. He was half blind and all I had to do was to hit him. Only a few showers of endurance enabled him to stay from the thirty-fifth to the forty-second round. I might have done better, but I was not meant to take no chances. My task was a simple one. I had but to jab him into doing as I wished. I was extremely confident in myself, and after the first six rounds I knew that I had the best of the fight. He landed his best on me in the early rounds, and they did not affect me. I think I have proven to the public that I am a good sportsman. I gave them every advantage they could possibly ask for, and then won by square fighting. That the Dane hated much longer than I anticipated I freely admit. He is game enough and strong enough, but he lacks the knowledge to be a champion. I wish to thank George Sier. He refereed fairly and squarely. He had to repeatedly warn Nelson against hitting and using his fists. I am a good sportsman. I gave them every advantage they could possibly ask for, and then won by square fighting.

ROLLER SKATING

A CHALLENGE. Sporting Editor Evening Times: Dear Sir,—I challenge any roller skater in the province to a mile race Friday night in St. Ann's rink, or a series of races in Moncton, Amherst or Sydney. The first race Friday night of this week. Merritt preferred. Yours, NED DALTON.

MONCTON RACES.

Moncton, N. B., Sept. 5.—(Special)—There was a slim attendance at the post-race horse races here last afternoon. The track was in excellent condition and weather conditions most favorable for fast racing. The race-forest was won by Terrace Queen, which drew the pole, in straight heats. Terrace, which was looked upon to give Terrace a hard race, had hard luck. In the first heat it was in the third heat Lady Bingson, which was looked upon to give Terrace a hard race, had hard luck. SUTRO'S NEW PLAY AT THE GARRICK

(By George Henry Payne.) NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—There are not more than a half dozen men writing for the English speaking stage who have fairly grasped the idea that if the modern stage is to count for anything it must be in the fact that it mirrors modern life and not mere study of what will carry over the footlights. One of these men is Alfred Sutro, and, once having established this fact, anything that Mr. Sutro may turn out is bound to be worthy of consideration and respect.

COLLINS vs THE CITY

Suit Against City of St. John For $5000 Damages Commenced Yesterday. The case of Collins vs. the City of St. John came up in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, before Judge Landry. Adjournment was made at 6 o'clock and the court resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

DAVE ACKNOWLEDGES DEFEAT.

There is little for me to say. I guess Gene is entitled to a square victory for he has done what I was doing when I landed that foul blow in the forty-second round. I was dazed and more than half blind just as the bell rang. I was too stupid to fight. I think I surprised him by staying so long, and I was in turn surprised at his endurance. I was willing to take all the punishment he could send in, confident that I would wear him down. Perhaps I made a mistake when I did this, for he succeeded in closing one of my eyes entirely, and latching up my side of my head. I am bitterly disappointed, for in my heart I felt that I was his superior. Perhaps I may have another chance to even up scores with him sometime. I did the best I could, but the cleverest man I have ever met in the ring.

BATTILING NELSON.

I won the fight, I think, fairly and squarely. There can be no question that I would have put the Dane out in another round or two. He fouled me deliberately, and it was the only way he could save himself from being sent to the floor for the count. He was half blind and all I had to do was to hit him. Only a few showers of endurance enabled him to stay from the thirty-fifth to the forty-second round. I might have done better, but I was not meant to take no chances. My task was a simple one. I had but to jab him into doing as I wished. I was extremely confident in myself, and after the first six rounds I knew that I had the best of the fight. He landed his best on me in the early rounds, and they did not affect me. I think I have proven to the public that I am a good sportsman. I gave them every advantage they could possibly ask for, and then won by square fighting.

ROLLER SKATING

A CHALLENGE. Sporting Editor Evening Times: Dear Sir,—I challenge any roller skater in the province to a mile race Friday night in St. Ann's rink, or a series of races in Moncton, Amherst or Sydney. The first race Friday night of this week. Merritt preferred. Yours, NED DALTON.

MONCTON RACES.

Moncton, N. B., Sept. 5.—(Special)—There was a slim attendance at the post-race horse races here last afternoon. The track was in excellent condition and weather conditions most favorable for fast racing. The race-forest was won by Terrace Queen, which drew the pole, in straight heats. Terrace, which was looked upon to give Terrace a hard race, had hard luck. In the first heat it was in the third heat Lady Bingson, which was looked upon to give Terrace a hard race, had hard luck. The Pure Food Movement is very strong in Canada today. In no article of diet is its purity so important as in flour, for flour is the basis of more than half your food. It is your duty, therefore, to see to it that the flour you use is pure. "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made by a process which insures absolute purity. From the time the wheat enters the mill until the flour reaches the cook it is untouched by human hands. The grain itself is thoroughly cleansed before grinding, whilst the flour is sifted, time after time, through the finest silk cloth, in order to remove the smallest impurities. These processes render "FIVE ROSES" an easy and satisfactory flour to use, and insure better results on Baking Day than can be obtained with any ordinary brands. ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT. PROTESTANT SCHOOLS IN QUEBEC PROVINCE

Dr. Parmelee Again Shows the Almost Hopeless Condition of These Schools in Rural Districts --The Only Remedy is a Much Higher Expenditure.

Speaking at Ayerfield on Thursday last, Dr. Parmelee, secretary of the Protestant board of education in Quebec, set forth in a striking manner the wretched condition of the Protestant schools in the rural districts of Quebec. We quote from the Wilkes report: "The rural or farmers' elementary schools," proceeded Dr. Parmelee, "are about 800 in number. The most significant feature about them, speaking of them as an entity, is that they are very sparsely attended, are working for short terms only, and are in many cases superintended by unqualified teachers. There are, for instance, 29 schools with an average attendance of 5 pupils or less, 170 with from 5 to 10, 231 with from 10 to 15, and 430 schools with an average of about 12 scholars to each attendance. The children are generally speaking, except in groups of twelve or so, and, moreover, efficiently taught, the cost per pupil being excessive. For instance, in Montreal, with all its vast resources, we can only furnish, on the average, one Protestant teacher for every forty Protestant scholars, and if the Montreal Protestant School Commissioners were obliged to supply one teacher for twenty scholars, they could not continue their administration. Yet, even under administration which is held to be much more unfortunate at the present time, no fewer than 430 schools are endeavoring to provide one teacher for every twelve pupils. As a matter of fact, the cost per pupil is realized to be so heavy, so excessive, that the only way of meeting the difficulty has been discovered, not by paying more, but by reducing the duration of the school term and by obtaining a cheaper teacher."

month--both to the old, experienced teacher and to the veriest tyros in the profession. The consequence, naturally, is a lack of teaching. The remedy for these evils, Dr. Parmelee declared, rested in a marked increase in the expenditure on education, and in a more economical expenditure of the cash available. Teachers must be supplied; schools must be kept open for at least eight months in the year, at all cost. The government could do no more for education. It had an income of $5,000,000, paid over $1,000,000 for interest, and had less than $3,500,000 for all public services. It gave over $300,000 to education, and could not contribute more without an increase in its revenue. For instance, suppose the government were able to contribute, annually, $200,000 per annum to education. This was not expected by anybody who knew the resources of the province, but in any case it would be only $1 per annum for each elementary school pupil,--which was an entirely inadequate sum. Moreover, in the future the government grants would tend to go to the more remote and poorer parts of the province, where assistance was required, while increased values would not be noticed in the better parts, where school reform was urgently needed. Everywhere taxation had been largely increased during the past thirty years, and schools, in most cases, on this side of the Atlantic, were supported by local taxation. Rates of taxation could not be compared with other rates where conditions were variant, but comparisons regarding expenditure were both permissible and instructive. He showed that in Quebec, for all educational purposes and from all sources about eleven dollars per pupil enrolled for the year was spent, this including both high school and university education and the cost of inspection of schools. The cost per pupil, on a basis of average attendance, was $44.82 in New York, $30.04 in Massachusetts, $30.57 in Rhode Island, $34.13 in New Jersey, $25.29

A GREAT DOCK

That at Grimsby, England, Will Involve Five Years Work and be Finest on the East Coast.

Colonel W. C. Hamm, of Hull, says that the new dock at Grimsby, which has just been begun, will be the finest on the east coast of England, equipped with all modern improvements and capable of accommodating the largest vessels now afloat. The new dock, when finished about five years hence, will be 1,100 feet square, with a bay or arm, 1,200 feet long by 375 feet wide, at the southwest corner. The main dock and arm will have an area of 38 1/2 acres of water. Provision is made for future developments of three other bays, or arms, at the corners, bringing the total dock area to 71 acres of deep water. There will be 6,700 feet of quay space in the main dock, which will be brought up to 14,110 feet, when the four bays are completed, in all, 616 acres have been acquired for the dock, of which 79 acres will be water space, and the remaining 537 acres for land about the dock when completed. There will be a railway 4 1/2 miles long, constructed from Jamnagham to the existing company's line at the Ukeby junction, and additional railway accommodation is to be provided by a light railway which will run from Grimsby to the dock site, which is already practically finished. The depth of water in the dock will be

PEARSON'S PULP DEAL

(St. John's Newfoundland, Herald.) The Pearson deal has not collapsed as has been recently reported, but is now at a fair way of being finalized. The chief difficulty in the way, the obtaining from the Hartnworth Co., of the right to "back up" the waters of the Exploite River, for an extra two miles along land within their concession, has been gone over, and Mr. H. J. Crowe, who is carrying on the negotiations, will go to England next week to resume negotiations with the Pearsons for taking over the area under option. Mrs. O. Frederick Bogue and Miss Mary O'Donnell, of St. Stephen, are in the city on a brief visit.

Breaking it Gently

"Laura," said Mr. Ferguson, as he buttered a biscuit and passed his coffee cup for a second filling, "I don't miss anything, but after I came in last night about 11.30, I found the house had been broken into. Somebody had emptied a pane in a basement window, crawled inside and made his way up the stairs to the first floor. There hasn't been anything disturbed in the parlor, the china cabinet or the sideboard, has there?" "No," answered Mrs. Ferguson, "but mercy! Who could it have been and what do you suppose he wanted?" "I suspect," he replied, clearing his throat, "that he had my watch and that I wanted to get inside without disturbing anybody. You had all gone to bed and I had left my latch key in my other trousers. It will cost about $20 to repair the basement window. The weather man, I see, predicts possible showers for today."--Chicago Tribune.

The first round of the first match of the ladies' doubles was played on the tennis courts yesterday, Mrs. Harrison and Miss Jean Treman winning from Miss Iona Kerr and Miss F. Hazen, 7-5 and 6-4. The time for playing the finals in the first match has been extended until Tuesday next.

THE EXHIBITION

The attendance at the exhibition took another upward bound yesterday. The number of paid admissions was 16,172 as against 15,457 on the corresponding Wednesday two years ago. The total attendance to date is 42,238, which is some 3,400 in advance of the figure of 1904. Today the horse races at Moospath are expected to draw a big crowd from the city and it is likely that, until night fall there will be a smaller crowd at the exhibition than on any previous day. The evening attendance, however, should make amends as there is no doubt the outside crowd who will be attracted to St. John for the races will wind up the day seeing the sights. The judges were busy yesterday making awards in all classes except swine and poultry, which will be taken up today. It is expected that at the latest tomorrow morning will see the judging concluded and all in readiness for the grand parade of prize stock, which will follow. The judging of Ayrshire cattle took the greater part of yesterday but as no return was made to the office the awards cannot yet be given. Jersey cattle will be the principal feature in the prize ring today. The start in the butter-making competition proved of much interest and the work of the four competitors will likely attract a large crowd to the farmers' pavilion this afternoon. Judging in the fine arts, horticultural and agricultural classes was advanced another stage and will be resumed today. Among the amusement features the Boston orchestra continued to attract large crowds at all performances. The novelty of a ladies' orchestra combined with the artistic merit of the performers has proved one of the most prominent features of the exhibition. The programme was wisely selected to meet all tastes and some more classical numbers were interspersed with popular melodies. This morning A. O. Skinner and F. G. Spencer have arranged to give the members of the orchestra a drive to the principal points of interest in and around the city. The addition of two new acts to the performance in the Hippodrome insured a large attendance at all performances. He makes a specialty of balancing and his concluding feat of maintaining the equilibrium while held in midair by his teeth was the climax to an unusually clever performance. The Athens provided the other new feature, which consists of an artistic acrobatic performance in which some novel feats are introduced. They were well received and their clever work was evidently appreciated. The monkeys, dogs and cockatoos are still proving attractive. Edla and Hellmann in the smaller hall continue to mystify to the entire satisfaction of everybody and have been receiving a goodly share of the crowd's attention. The Pike and moving pictures seem to be gaining in popularity every day. There were quite a number of children who temporarily lost their friends yesterday, and found a resting place in the exhibition office. They were all disposed of by closing time. Roy Anderson, of Winslow street, was called for by his father. Evelyn Rose, living in City Road, was claimed after some little delay. A boy named Scott who came in with a relative from Penobscot, was found and taken home last night by two ladies who reside there. A little girl named Ritchie became separated from her friends and was posted as lost. She returned on her own account to the Victoria Hotel. The following list of articles lost and found has been issued by the management, with the request that they be returned or identified: Lost—A brooch and two sets of studs, removed from the woman's art department; a lady's black purse containing about $4; a small brown purse containing $3; a wallet containing a pair of glasses; a purse with name attached; a pocketbook containing a return ticket to Harcourt, a small knife and 75 cents. Found—A gold watch and chain, found by Samuel McCourt. The owner can have by applying to the chief of police; a lady's belt, picked up yesterday, is in the manager's office.

THE DOGS. Judging by the large attendance, the dog show was one of the most interesting features of the exhibition yesterday. The owners' names attached to the stalls, were examined with great interest by the ever moving throng. The canines gave ample notice of their presence by continuous yelps or yowls, and as advertisers they had the "barkers" on the Pike beat on a mile. They will be on exhibition all day today and any who have not visited this portion of the show should not fail to pay it a visit during the day. H. W. Lacy, who acted as judge, left for Boston last evening and night but the kindest feelings and appreciation of the fair and impartial work have been heard. Before leaving he purchased from Robert Blackall a three-month-old Newfoundland pup, which will be shipped to him soon by Superintendent McCullough. As previously stated, Mr. Lacy considers these dogs to be the best of their class in America. The special prizes will be awarded today. Yesterday's prize winners were: Ayrshire terrier dogs—E. F. Lemlin, 1; Wire haired fox terrier dogs—Leb. Wilson, 1 and special. Wire haired fox terrier bitches—Leb. Wilson, 1; Peter McCart, 2. Boston terrier dogs—John Condon, 1; A. L. Fowler, 2; L. Fowler, 3. BUTTER AND CHEESE Judging butter and cheese was completed yesterday morning. The butter-making competition opened in the afternoon. The awards for butter and cheese were as follows: Cheese, three colored—W. H. Leslie, Kensington (P. E. I.), 1st; Angus D. McLean, Mount Stewart (P. E. I.), 2nd; Leo Hughes, Kintora (P. E. I.), 3rd; W. H. Leslie, Kensington (P. E. I.), 4th. Cheese, three white—Leo Hughes, Kintora (P. E. I.), 1st; Cornhill Cheese and Peters & Sons, Elmhurst, 1st; Joseph Young, Silver Falls, 2nd; E. Hall, Plamewee, 3rd; J. F. Harper, Jacksonville, 4th. The butter-making competition, which started in the afternoon at 2:30 in the farmers' pavilion, proved a centre of attraction for the hour and a half that the contest was in progress. The following four competitors have entered: W. A. Reynolds, Millstreet; Edwin Robinson, Sussex; Harry Hughes, Petticoat; Linnus Crawford, Sussex. The maximum number of points which can be gained is 100, divided as follows: Preparing utensils 10 Weighing and setting 15 Working and printing 10 Quality and condition of butter 65 Total 100 The condition of the competition requires the whole process to be completed from start to finish in one hour, and one point is deducted from each competitor's score for every two minutes he is over-time. Yesterday being the first of the three days during which the competition lasts the competitors were not quite accustomed to their surroundings and all four exceeded the time limit by periods varying from twenty-four to thirty minutes. It is expected that today better time will be made. The judges are L. C. Daigle, dairy superintendent of Moncton, and Harvey Mitchell. The competing will be resumed at 2:30 p. m. today and intending visitors who are interested in butter-making would do well to be in the seats in the stand early for there is sure to be a crush. THE HORSES One of the principal centres of interest yesterday afternoon was the horse ring, where the carriage horses were judged. An interested throng of spectators lined the fence about the ring and watched the spirited animals as they were sent around the turf by their drivers. Quite a number of people occupied seats in the grand stand and viewed the proceedings from their elevated positions. Some spirited brushes were indulged in by the drivers, much to the delight of the onlookers. The major portion of classes have now been judged, and the balance will be taken up today. WHEN REUBEN CAME TO TOWN He Blew Himself to a Street Car Ride and Stowed His Valises on the Car Fender. Hiram Horne's blood brother arrived in Indianstown yesterday. He did 'b'ough. He allowed he'd see the exhibition, and find out for himself if he was all creation, as Hiram himself had been saying. He carried a couple of carpet bags, and seeing a street car bound cityward, reeled he'd take a ride. As far as he could calculate the exhibition was two miles away, and though five cents was a powerful amount to spend all in one day, he guessed he'd do it "just for once." "What's wrong, Master?" he queried, air the values too big? Then the motorman, with a shrug of impatience, explained matters, and the ornaments on the fender were removed. BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN FOUND ON DIGBY SHORE Digby, N. S., Sept. 5.—The body of a man was found at Carty's Cove, Digby Neck, on the Bay of Fundy shore by Fred Coroner Wm. Burns, of Sandy Cove, was immediately notified and an inquest held but the body was not identified. It was forwarded to Sandy Cove tonight for interment. The body had been in the water for some time and was badly decomposed. The head was off, also one arm and one leg as far as the knee. He had on two shirts and a pair of pants and wore a belt. It is supposed to be the body of a sailor or fisherman who has probably fallen overboard from some vessel in the bay. It was thought at first to be Avard Outhouse, of Iverton, who was recently drowned off Long Island, but his relative viewed the body tonight and say it is a stranger to them. TO BUILD NEW MILL J. R. Gray, of the St. George News, is in the city to see the exhibition. He remarked to The Telegram last evening that if all other places sent as large a proportion of their population to the fair as St. George has done and is doing, a new record for attendance should be made. Three different large delegations have come in, with more to follow. Mr. Gray brings the interesting news that the St. George Pulp & Paper Co. have decided to at once begin the erection of a new saw mill, to replace the one destroyed by fire. This one will be of concrete and steel, for Manager E. G. Murphy declares that he wants one that will not take fire. The new mill will employ about 75 hands or quite a number more than the former one. The people of St. George are greatly pleased with the enterprise of the company, which is doing much for the benefit of the town. S. D. Scott, former editor of the Sun, will leave on Tuesday next for Ottawa, accompanied by his family, and for the next year at least they will make their home in the dominion capital. Mr. Scott has taken a house there. He will be in the press gallery next session.

SEPTEMBER DIVIDENDS Dividend and interest payments to be made by the large industrial corporations of the United States during the month of September are unusually heavy this year, aggregating $58,040,384, as compared with $46,335,182 during the corresponding month of 1905, or an increase of $11,705,202. This increase is due largely to the fact that many industrial corporations which did not pay dividends last year have resumed the payment of dividends, while others have increased the rate. The payments of industrial corporations this year amount to $16,465,412, an increase of $5,727,363 as compared with 1905. The railroads will distribute in dividends a total of $17,779,836, an increase of $2,963,971. The dividend payments of traction and lighting companies show a decrease of $63,499, but the mining companies will pay out $3,801,480, an increase of $2,011,480. It's a great show of Ladies' new fall coats that is now on in Dowling Bros', mantle department. It is said to be the greatest in the maritime provinces. In fact it's doubtful whether the larger upper Canadian cities would show a much greater variety, although Quebec and Montreal, of course, have a dazzling profusion of styles and combinations that sometimes makes it hard for purchasers to decide just which is the greatest. Light grey tweeds are predominant.

St. Joseph's University opens today and a large number of students went back to that institution. Those going from St. John were: L. Slattery, J. Casey, J. Kelly, C. Walter A. Bailey, of this city, has accepted a position as stenographer with the British Columbia Mills Timber and Trading Co., of Vancouver, B. C., the largest lumber concern on the Pacific coast. Mr. Bailey left this city for the west (on speculation) about two months ago, with letters of introduction from the Currie Business University, Ltd. In August the employment bureau of the above school wired Mr. Bailey offering him a position worth $800 per year nearer home; but he wired declining the offer and now writes that he has accepted the above position; also stating that he has declined other good offers out there. The methods of the Currie Business University, for securing positions are certainly far reaching and up-to-date. Mr. Bailey is a son of Charles O. Bailey, wheelwright, of this city.

GO TO HALIFAX SAYS MR. JAMES

But it is Not a Profane Remark—He Says the Fair Will be a Winner all Along the Line.

"Are you coming over to Halifax, to the Dominion exhibition?" That is the question Fred. W. James has continually ready to present, and to follow with a detailed statement of the extent of the coming great fair in the sister city.

Mr. James points out that the old machinery hall and main buildings have been enlarged, and new mines and fabric buildings erected. The capacity of the grand stand has been doubled, and it will now accommodate 8,000 people.

All the space in all the buildings has been taken up, with exhibits from the vast region from the West Indies to Saskatchewan and Alberta. The upper provinces will have large exhibits.

The fruit exhibit will be very complete. There are 47 sections, compared with 15 last year. The live stock show will be an immense one. For dairy cattle, for example, there are 467 entries.

The art exhibit will be the largest ever seen east of Toronto. There will be no less than nine days of horse-racing, with $10,000 in prizes, and between the heats there will be a fine vaudeville performance in front of the grand stand, for which there is no extra charge.

The sum of $100,000 is given in premiums at the fair, which will open on Sept. 27, and last for two weeks. The people of Halifax will open their homes to visitors, to aid the hotels in accommodating the crowds. W. J. Butler, Hollis street, has charge of the housing arrangements, and attends promptly to all correspondence.

Take it as a whole, Mr. James says the Dominion fair will be a great and splendid one, that all who can should endeavor to attend.
