REPORTED MURDER OF EX-CZAR CONFIRMED

NOVITIATE HEAD SAYS GOVT. MAY SPEAK AGAIN REGARDING MACAULEY'S VISIT TO SCHOOL

Intimates That Last Has Not Been Heard Over Affair — Charges Ministerial Assn. Does Not Understand the M. S. Act, and Maintains Institution Not Refuge for Defaulters.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Guelph, June 27.—"The Government has spoken and may speak again," declared Rev. Father Bourque, when asked by The Advertiser if he had any comment to make on the statement of the Ministerial Association published today.

"Do you know definitely whether the Government will speak again?" asked The Advertiser.

"Officially I do not," replied Father Bourque, who would not commit himself further along this line.

"It is said by the Ministerial Association that no charge should be made by them, but that they insist upon an investigation of the charges made or implied in the statement of the military authorities. They say they want to know whether this is true or not."

Not Charges, Says Bourque.

"There were no charges direct or implied in Capt. MacAuley's report, which I read," replied Father Bourque. "All our novices were allowed to stay in the institution. Is not that sufficient proof that they were not defaulters? There were only two, O'Holloran and Holland, who were asked for further explanation, and then they were declared satisfactory. I repeat that the trouble lies in the fact that they do not thoroughly understand and appreciate Clause 5, in the exceptions in the military service act, which specifically excepts clergymen of all denominations, including bona fide members of an exclusively religious order. Why have our novitiates not been disturbed in any other country. We have a novitiate at Roehampton, London, England. There are 40 novices there who have never been disturbed. We have one at Poughkeepsie, near New York, with 100 novices. We have one at Florisant, near St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A., with about 50 novices. We have at least five novitiates in the States like the one in Guelph, and they have never been disturbed. They are excepted by the law. We have also one in Ireland and one in Scotland."

Harboring of Defaulters.

"In their statement, in Paragraph 5, the Ministerial Association implies that your institution harbored defaulters, when they say the association holds that the M. S. A. holds anyone responsible who shields a defaulter. An institution that claims to stand by law-abiding citizenship should not harbor a defaulter. What do you say as to that?"

"The report of Capt. MacAuley did not say we were harboring defaulters. He said he had been told before he made the raid that there were defaulters here, but in his report which I read through he made no observation that we had any defaulters. He saw all the novices, examined and questioned them. He said they were all right. Pte. O'Leary was there, and showed his returned soldiers' button, and Capt. MacAuley said he was all right. If there had been any defaulters, Capt. MacAuley would have taken them with him, or he would not have been discharging his duty."

Father Bourque denied that there had been any attempt to becloud the issue on the part of the novitiate. This morning he had not yet received any word from Father Power, superior-general of the Society of Jesus.

WILL REMAIN AT WAR UNTIL GERMAN DOCTRINE IS BEATEN TO GROUND

London, June 27, via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—Austen Chamberlain, former secretary for India, speaking at a meeting of the Victoria League at the Guildhall, said the imperial war cabinet was the creation of the war, arising out of its necessities. He was confident it would never be allowed to drop. (Cheers.) To sit on such a body was a liberal political education. If anything was needed to stir the people to sterner resolve it would be found in the speech of Von Kuehlmann. A German peace resolution was one thing, but a German peace was quite different.

"Might made right, and where there was no might there wasn't right," he (Von Kuehlmann) asserted. We would remain at war until that doctrine has been beaten to the ground."

STRONG POINT IS CARRIED BY HAIG'S TROOPS

Prisoners and Machine Guns Taken in Operation Last Night.

London, June 27.—British troops last night took a German strong point west of Vieux Berquin, east of Hazebrouck, and captured prisoners and machine guns, says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig today. The German artillery has been active on the Lys salient.

The German infantry in Flanders has been complaining of the bad shooting by German batteries. Captured German orders show many complaints of this kind, and it is indicated the German troops have been suffering badly from the British fire, one order showing that the spirit of the enemy troops had deteriorated in consequence.

Enemy Is Anxious.

A captured order signed by a colonel of a German regiment shows the anxiety of the German command to ascertain the exact strength of the allied forces opposite. The order complains of the failure to secure prisoners and recommends a new attempt by an ambush patrol because information of the dispositions of the British behind the front is scanty. The patrol went out as ordered. The officer in charge was captured by the British and the men with him bolted back to their own lines.

ITALIANS PUSH AHEAD ON THE MOUNTAIN LINE

Make an Advance of a Mile in Mont Grappa Sector.

London, June 26.—The Italians have scored an important success in their northern counter-offensive, it was learned authoritatively today.

In the Grappa sector, southwest of Monte Asolone, they advanced a mile.

Seemingly the chase of the enemy on the eastern bank of the Piave has ended, at least for the time being. In the mountains heavy bombardments are in progress in various sectors, and intensive aerial operations are going on along the entire front.

The German war office asserts that all the artillery lost by the Italians to the Austrians during the initial stage of the fighting has been recaptured.

GAINS ARE EXTENDED IN FACE OF ATTACKS.

ROME, June 26.—Italian troops on the southern part of the Piave front have not only completely reoccupied the Capo Sile bridgehead, but have extended it and held the gain against Austrian counter-attacks. The extension was effected yesterday. During the fighting nearly four hundred prisoners were taken. The war office made this announcement today.

On the remainder of the front the fighting was confined to artillery duels and patrol actions.

AMERICANS TOOK 311 IN BELLEAU WOOD RUSH

With the American Forces on the Marne, June 27.—By the Associated Press.—The number of prisoners captured by the Americans in their drive on the German positions in the Belleau Wood sector Tuesday night was officially increased today to 311. The Americans also captured eleven big machine guns, ten automatic rifles, a quantity of small arms and ammunition, and other material.

TEUTON WAR PRISONERS CONTROL AT IRKUTSK

Harbin, Manchuria, Tuesday, June 25. —Austro-German war prisoners are in complete control of Irkutsk, on the Trans-Siberian Railway, according to reports received here from that city. The prisoners are commanded by Austro-German officers.

Berlin advices transmitted through Copenhagen to London Tuesday reported that Irkutsk had been captured by Czecho-Slovak troops under Gen. Alexieff, the former Russian commander-in-chief. The Czecho-Slovaks, having served in the Austrian army, formerly were prisoners in Russia. This may account for the conflict in reports on the situation at Irkutsk.

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE, QUEBEC TO QUEEN CITY

Quebec, June 27.—It is expected that before the 15th of July a through mail circuit between Toronto, Montreal and Quebec will be made by aeroplane. It is understood that a party of officers from the Royal Air Force will arrive in Quebec shortly to look over conditions here, as well as the accommodation facilities.

Should the plans be carried out, a mail service will be established between the Queen City and the ancient capital, and under favorable conditions nine hours should cover the distance between the two cities, allowing a stop at Montreal.

STRAIGHT TALK TO THE IRISH

London, June 27.—When his proclamation calling for Irish volunteers was issued there was no idea of abandoning the possibility of conscription, Viscount French, lord lieutenant, declared in a speech on Wednesday at Belfast.

If the military requirements set for in the proclamation are not satisfied voluntarily, he added, the Government must deal with the situation in the interests of the army. Fifty thousand men would be accepted as Ireland's contribution, but if compulsion has to be resorted to the number would be regulated by population.

"I must say plainly and emphatically," Lord French asserted, "that the Government in Ireland will carry out its duty in this respect unflinchingly, without fear or favor, and in the face of whatever opposition—whether of criticism or of actual force—may unfortunately or inadvisedly be attempted."

ST. MARYS FARMER CAUGHT IN BELT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Marys, June 27.—W. Morley White, a well-known farmer near St. Marys, on the River road, Blanshard, was killed last night by having his leg caught in the belt of the rim wheel of the gasoline engine with which he was sawing wood on the farm of Frank McKenzie, on the River road.

DECIDE TOMORROW AS TO PATENT MEDICINES AND TEMPERANCE ACT

Toronto, June 27.—The Ontario Board of Health will tomrrrow announce its decision as to whether Tanlac, Campbell's Quinine Wine, Rexall Beef, Iron and Wine, Rexall Tonic of Cod Liver Oil, Wampole's Extract of Cod Liver Oil, Wincarnis, Nadruco Beef, Iron and Wine, Dr. Peter's Magnetic Blood Vitalizer, Dr. Peter's Curico and Magvigori, all of which contain over 2½ per cent of alcohol, can be sold by druggists under recent amendments to the Ontario temperance act. The clause governing these medicines reads that proprietary medicines containing over 2½ per cent alcohol must be sufficiently medicated to prevent use as a beverage. Tomorrow those interested in the medicines will meet Moscow with the Ontario License Board and the results of the board of health's analysis of the medicines will be presented.

WAR LOTTERY DRAWING FOR ANOTHER BIG ARMY AT AMERICAN CAPITAL

Washington, June 27.—The drawing of numbers to determine the order in which youths of the classes of 1918 will be called into military service was conducted here today with much the same ceremony which marked the great drawing of a year ago. The drawing was held in the conference room of the Senate office building with Secretary of War Baker, blindfolded, taking the first gelatine capsule, with a number inclosed, from the glass bowl. It was No. 246. Numbers 2168 and 818 were the second and third respectively, and thus the drawing continued to the end. Big blackboards for checking the record were placed against the wall at the rear of the room. The numbers were written on the board as drawn, and then the board was photographed to make a permanent record.

After Secretary Baker had taken out the first capsule, several senators, congressmen and military officers stepped up to draw. A woman clerk in the provost marshal general's office drew the eleventh number and proceeded to draw all the others, which represent 744,500 men, the majority of whom will be enrolled in the military forces of the United States in a few months.

CHILD IS SMOTHERED BY THE BEDCLOTHES

St. Marys, June 27. — The 1-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Squire, of con. 10, Blanshard, was smothered in the bedclothes last night. The parents left the child in the bed when they went out to do the milking. It became entangled in the clothes and suffocated to death.

CLARENCE LEVY TAKES HIS LIFE WITH GUN

St. Marys, June 27. — Clarence Levy, of near Woodham, committed suicide by shooting himself last evening. He leaves a wife and family.

ONTARIO AND BOLSHEVIKI MUCH ALIKE, CHARGES SENATOR EDWARDS PROVINCE PLUNGING INTO RUIN

Declares Quebec the Only Civilized Section of the Dominion.

Ottawa, June 27.—The Province of Ontario is going headlong into insolvency, declared Senator W. C. Edwards this morning, during the course of a brief comment on a new timber limit tariff which the Quebec Government has just put into effect. While admitting that himself and other large lumbermen would be seriously affected by the new tariff which has increased stumpage and ground rent rates as high as 100 per cent, Senator Edwards was complimentary of the Province of Quebec. "After all," he said, "the Province of Quebec is the only civilized province of the Dominion, because it is the only province that is solvent, and the only province that has a stable Government."

Heading to Ruin.

The interviewer asked: "But what about Ontario?" to which the senator replied: "There is not much difference between Ontario and the Russian Bolsheviki Government for the Province of Ontario is going headlong into insolvency."

Senator Edwards said the new tariff would have very serious effects. "It may put the lumbering men out of business," he said.

"It will mean an increase in the price of lumber eventually," said John Black of J. R. Booth Company. "We tried to point out to the Quebec Government that the trade could not stand it, but I guess the Government felt that they needed the money. It will be pretty hard for those holding timber limits for speculative purposes."

GRAND DUKE MICHAEL HEADS SIBERIA GOVT.

Amsterdam, June 27.—Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, a younger brother of the Former Emperor Nicholas, is reported in a dispatch from Moscow, received here today by way of Berlin, to have placed himself at the head of the new Siberian Government, and to have issued a manifesto to the Russian people.

Advices received from Moscow at Amsterdam on June 26 said that Grand Duke Michael had headed a movement in Turkestan, favoring the separation of that region from Russia.

TEUTONS' EXCHANGE IS STEADILY DROPPING

Geneva, June 27.—The German mark is now worth less than the French franc on Swiss exchanges for the first time in fifteen months. On the Geneva bourse allied exchanges continue to increase while those of the central powers are decreasing despite efforts by Berlin and Vienna to raise the value of their exchanges. The decrease in exchange on the central power began when news of the Austrian defeat on the Piave reached Switzerland.

RURAL REGISTRATION IN QUEBEC IMPROVES

Quebec, June 27.—According ot Romeo Langlais, registrar, the number of persons who registered in the towns of Quebec was very satisfactory, but the same cannot be said of the rural districts. Now, however, many of these latter regret that they did not obey the law, and are flocking in large numbers to the postoffices for that purpose.

The registration in Montmagny was 8,000 out of 20,000, and in Quebec City over 60,000 registered.

AMERICAN TANKER MAY BE VICTIM OF RAIDER

Halifax, June 27.—A local shipowner has received a cable from Bermuda announcing the arrival there of one of his vessels with seventeen survivors of a torpedoed steamer. The shipowner believes that the men picked up were the crew of one of the lifeboats of the American steamer reported sunk some days ago not far from Bermuda.

THE WAR SITUATION

Along the western battle line, as well as on the mountain and Piave sectors of the allied front, the allied armies await further enemy efforts. Infantry activity is confined to local actions at various points.

It is believed that the German command is about ready to launch another stroke against the allied lines. The artillery activity remains about normal on important sectors, but aerial fighting has increased markedly. Thirty-six German machines were brought down or forced to land in a damaged condition. German airplanes raided Paris on Wednesday night. There is much sickness prevalent among the German troops, but this is not believed to be having any effect on plans for a renewal of enemy offensive.

British Minor Success.

In a minor operation the British last night captured a German strong point in Flanders, west of Vieux Berquin, on the western side of the Lys salient, together with prisoners and some machine guns. Only artillery activity, which was rather lively near Coevres, southwest of Soissons, and raiding activity in the Vosges, is reported from the French front.

Unconfirmed reports received in Switzerland from Berlin are that Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann will resign in consequence of his speech in the Reichstag Tuesday.

BOLSHEVIKI KILL EX-RUSS RULER

ALLIES FINISH MANY SUBS IN HUN SEA DRIVE

Sinkings for May Highest Since Ruthless Campaign Opened.

224,000 TONNAGE LOST

Loss, as Compared With Last Year, Shows Allies Winning.

London, June 27.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa agency.)—The publication last Thursday of the admiralty's report announcing the merchant tonnage losses for the month due to enemy action shows that the marine risks totalled: British, 224,735 tons; allied and neutral, 130,939 tons, as compared with an adjusted aggregate for April of 311,456 tons and 630,336 tons in May of last year. The losses from marine risk is stated to have been unduly heavy last month. The shipping ministry announces that steamships of and exceeding 500 gross tons entering and clearing in United Kingdom ports, exclusive of coasting and channel traffic, totalled 7,777,843 tons last month.

London, June 27.—The offensive by sea was still being maintained by the Germans during the month of May, with the utmost vigor. But in spite of the unprecedented number of subs sent to sea, only 224,000 tons of tonnage was lost, compared with 374,000 last year, says Archibald Hurd, distinguished naval authority, discussing the figures for May, just published.

"In spite of the fact that losses from marine risks were "unduly heavy," it can now be said definitely that the enemy's effort to cripple us by sea by an offensive simultaneous to attacks on the western front has failed definitely.

Many Subs Sunk.

"Although exact figures are wanting of the sinkings of submarines, it is known they reached a higher figure last month than in any period since the submarine campaign began.

"Three movements are in progress, and we can view each of them with satisfaction. Firstly, the measures adopted by the admiralty last year for combatting the submarine, including thousands of mines manufactured for the Straits of Dover and for the interfering with the freedom of movement of enemy craft through the northern exit to the North Sea are proving very fruitful. Secondly, the steps taken to defend merchant shipping against mines and for providing ships with other mine protection and organizing convoys —are giving admirable results. Thirdly, apart from the wonderful record the Americans are putting up in shipbuilding, British yards are making headway owing to the fact that plans drawn up several months ago for the extension of yards and engine shops are beginning to be productive."

Mr. Hurd points out that the losses in British shipping in May exceeded the tonnage built by only 28,000 tons, and concludes: "There already is evidence to show that the situation has still further improved since the end of May. The curves are continuing a most encouraging course."

TWO DRAFTS GO EASTWARD FROM CARLING HEIGHTS

200 W. O. R. Men, Supplemented by Colored Troops, Leave City.

Two drafts from Carling Heights camp moved eastward for further training today. From the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., 200 fighting men went forth under Major J. H. Sawyer and Lieut. Norman W. Zinn, and in addition over 100 construction men from the Colored Reinforcing Depot under Lieut. L. B. Young departed.

The men entrained at the Rectory street station of the G. T. R. and left here shortly after 2 o'clock.

The draft from the colored depot practically cleans that unit out of existence, as only a few men who are on the sick list remained behind.

The colored soldiers were trained here to reinforce No. 2 Colored Construction Battalion. Lieut. Young, the O. C. of the depot, may remain with the men instead of returning after his conducting duties are over.

It is probable that the depot will continue here to train whatever colored troops may be available in this district or anywhere in Ontario.

Today's draft was the first to leave the depot battalion since that unit went under canvass at the heights, and the members looked like sun-browned veterans as they marched to the station. Friends of the men gave them a great sendoff at the station.

PRAIRIE PREMIERS ON VISIT TO EDINBURGH

London, June 27.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa agency.)—Three Canadian provincial premiers, Messrs. Norris of Manitoba, Stuart of Alberta and Martin of Saskatchewan are visiting Edinburgh. At an entertainment given by the corporation, Mr. Norris said that Canada had sent 400,000 men to war and there were another 100,000 in reserve. He anticipated that 315,000,000 bushels of wheat would be produced this year.

Premier Martin said one thing which was binding the Empire was a link of sentiment, which link was the crown.

Former Emperor Nicholas Put To Death By Bolsheviki Troops During the Retreat On Yekaterinburg.

Paris, June 27.—A dispatch from Kiev, under date of Wednesday, June 26, declares that the report of the assassination of former Emperor Nicholas of Russia has been confirmed. It is declared he was killed by Bolsheviki troops during the retreat on Yekaterinburg.

The Kiev message was received at Basel, Switzerland, and forwarded here by the Havas correspondent in that city.

TRIED AND SHOT.

Geneva, June 27.—The Ukraine Bureau at Lausanne announced today it had received confirmation of the report that the Bolshevik authorities at Yekaterinburg condemned Nicholas Romanoff, the former Russian emperor, to death after a short trial and then shot him. Details of the reported execution are lacking.

The first report of the assassination of Emperor Nicholas was received in Copenhagen through Stockholm on Tuesday, although it appears from rumors that the former emperor had been killed by the Bolsheviki, which had been circulating in Russia for some days previously. The Copenhagen message quoted the Russian newspaper Vjia as saying that Russian Red Guards had murdered the ex-emperor in his residence at Yekaterinburg, where he was removed recently from Tobolsk.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Moscow dated June 21, and received in this country on Wednesday declared there was no foundation whatever for the rumors of the assassination, and dispatches from German sources last week reported that the former emperor was not at Yekaterinburg, having been removed to Moscow for safe keeping.

PICNIC REGULATIONS NOT WELL OBSERVED

Ottawa, June 27.—The attention of the Canada Food Board has been called to the fact that the new regulations applicable to picnics are not being observed as strictly as they should.

Churches and other organizations are reminded that the regulations applicable to public eating places now apply to public entertainments, lawn socials, bazaars and tea meetings, public luncheons, dinners and picnics, fairs and exhibitions, lodge, club and fraternal societies' meetings and all such places of a like or similar character.

In some cases the regulations are being evaded by arranging for each person to bring a basket which, upon arrival at the picnic grounds, is handed to the committee who prepares the meal. This is contrary, at least, to the spirit of the order.

NO C. N. R. DECISION UNTIL BORDEN RETURNS

Ottawa, June 27.—Pending the return of the prime minister and his colleagues from overseas, it is said here no decision will be made by the Government in regard to the C. N. R. administration. The railway question has been under consideration, but no attempt is being made to determine any major question of policy during the absence of Sir Robert Borden.

HONORABLY EXEMPTED TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Quebec, June 27.—A branch of the Honorably Exempted Association, which is composed of men who have been honorably exempted from service overseas previous to the coming in force of the military service act, will be organized in Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, where the idea originated. This society would include all those, who although not called for service, willingly signed for overseas.

HOOVER PUTS AMERICANS ON SHORT SUGAR RATION

Washington, D. C., June 26.—The restriction of the American people to 1½ ounces of sugar a day for each individual during the next six months, was ordered today by Food Commissioner Herbert Hoover.

The amount is about one teaspoonful at each meal. A shortage in the sugar crop in this country, together with the absence of merchant vessels to import hundreds of thousands of tons of sugar from the Philippines, Java and other sugar-producing countries, is mentioned as the reason for the curtailment.

FIRE DEPT. PROBE CHARGES GO ON; NO BACKING UP

Move To Have Conciliation Board No Retraction. Say Men.

TALK OF STRIKE VOTE

Union President Refers to This in Letter to Committee.

The application of the Firemen's Union to have the investigation into the fire department conducted by some other tribunal than the senior county judge does not mean that those who are behind the charges into the fire department are backing up, it is claimed. There are several motives behind the most recent action.

In the first place, the delay in having the question gone into by the judge does not meet with the approval of the men. The ill-feeling which existed over the promotions of Capt. Tom Tozer and Lieut. George Aitken is said to be many times greater today than when the trouble was first aired. It is said that matters are reaching the breaking point. President George Bolton of the Firemen's Union gave the committee an inkling of this Wednesday night when he said that "some of our men are going to leave," and also, "this means that we will call a strike vote."

The men also fear that with a judge presiding he may rule out questions which they would wish to have probed at the inquiry. There is also the possibility that more or less ill-feeling would be engendered by having the firemen give evidence under oath. They believe that this would not be conducive to good-feeling between them and the chief.

Officials of the trades and labor council, who laid the charges against the department, say they are willing that their charges shall be dropped if the special committee appointed by the finance committee of the council agrees upon a board of conciliation. They believe that a board of conciliation would in every way meet with the requirements of the situation.

Of the cases complained of in the department at the time the trouble was first aired, they state that they believe the great majority of the defects have been remedied. They believe that Fire Chief John Aitken has made an honest effort to bring about a betterment. However, there are sores still existing and they contend that these must be healed before the proper efficiency of the department is restored.

On Wednesday night No. 1 committee had a letter from George Bolton, representing the men, and asking that some other mode, conciliation was suggested, be adopted to settle the matter.

Fireman's Letter.

The letter read:

"As a great majority of the members of the fire department are of the opinion that an investigation before a judge will be anything but satisfactory to the men, we would ask you to have our grievances settled by other methods and as early as possible, as some of our men are going to leave. This means we will call a strike vote. We are anxious to avoid trouble.

"Hoping your earnest consideration.

"Yours truly,

"G. D. BOLTON."

"P. S.—We would suggest our grievances be settled by a conciliation board."

Left to Committee.

The members of the committee thought that perhaps it would be better if the matter could be settled instead of having the men called to give evidence. Some of them thought that the idea might get abroad that they were trying to cover something up. However, it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the mayor. Chairman Harley and Controller Merryfield with power. The opinion was expressed that the Trades and Labor Council, to meet the wishes of the men, would withdraw its charges. Controller Merryfield said that he believed that it had so intimated to the mayor.

TRADE COMMISSION FROM BRITISH GOVT. LOOKING LONDON OVER

Steps Being Taken for Closer Imperial Union.

"One of the purposes of my visit to London is to seek information as to its attractions for British firms who may desire to establish plants in Canada after the war." Fred W. Field, the British Government's trade commissioner in Ontario, made this statement to a representative of The Advertiser in an interview last night.

The commissioner is also getting in touch with manufacturers' agents and importers who are interested in British trade in Ontario. He will be glad to meet any of them at the Tecumseh House from 2 to 4:30 today.

Broke Relations.

"Manufacturers' agents in Ontario," he said, "will be interested in the knowledge that cases have recently been brought to the attention of the department of overseas trade (development and intelligence) of the British Government by its various trade commissioners, in which United Kingdom firms have broken off their relations with their agents abroad on the ground that, owing to preoccupation on war work or other difficulties, they are unable to deliver goods for export.

"The difficulties experienced by manufacturers in maintaining their overseas trade are fully appreciated, but the department has stated it is also well to bear in mind the position of overseas agents who find themselves unable to obtain their normal supplies of goods from the United Kingdom. It will not be disputed that a good agent is as valuable an asset to a manufacturer as any unit in his manufacturing organization, and that the retention of his services may assist materially in keeping together the good-will of the manufacturer's connection, even if orders from overseas cannot be executed. It may also be pointed out that the severing of connections with a good agent must necessarily lead to the agent seeking other principals, and so transferring his services and experience to a competitor.

Arrange Commission.

"The majority of British manufacturers have no doubt taken these facts into account, and instances have been brought to the attention of our department in which the manufacturer has arranged to pay his agent a sum based on the commissions earned by him in more normal times. There have, however, been cases in which it has appeared that the position of the agent cut off from his normal supplies is not always fully realized, and the department has therefore deemed it worth while to call attention to representations made more than once by trade commissioners that a manufacturer who is unable to execute orders from abroad owing to war conditions, should give serious consideration to the desirability of taking special steps to retain the services of a good agent, whether by the payment of a retaining fee or in some other way.

Offered to Government.

"The facilities of the trade commissioner service of the United Kingdom has been offered by the British Government to the various governments of the British Empire. In the case of Canada, the offer has been accepted at points where the Canadian Government has not its own trade commissioner. This service is one of the many practical steps being taken by the Imperial and Dominion Governments to weld the various parts of the Empire in a commercial way. In the past the first benefits of our trade and natural resources have often gone to enemy countries. The tendency now is to conserve those benefits first for the Empire.

"Among the principal duties of the British trade commissioner are the keeping in close touch with the government and state authorities in the dominion to which he is attached; the visiting of the principal commercial centres in his area and the establishment of touch with the members of the commercial community (hence my visit to London), and the making of an annual general report on the conditions and prospects of trade in his area, supplementing it by special reports dealing as exhaustively as possible with particular questions which are likely to be of interest to British firms."

SENT FOR TRIAL

Express Employee Will Be Tried at General Sessions for Jewelry Thefts

William Hewitt, who appeared in the police court yesterday on two charges of theft, laid by Detective Walter Smith of the Canadian Express Company, was committed for trial at the next general sessions, and allowed out on bail which was fixed at $2,000. It was necessary to hold a special session of police court yesterday afternoon in order to complete the hearing of the evidence, after which Magistrate Graydon committed Hewitt for trial.

It is alleged that Hewitt, while in the employ of the express company, stole two watches and three diamond rings, the latter being disposed of in Detroit by a companion. Hewitt pleaded not guilty to both charges.

ITALIAN RESIDENTS OF CITY CELEBRATE BIG PIAVE VICTORY

Parade Was Followed by Speeches and Concert

PRAISE ALLIES' WORK

May Mean Beginning of the End, Says Lieut.-Col. Smith.

Led by the Marconi Club Band, local Italian residents turned out in full strength last night, and in a parade followed by a band concert and speeches in Victoria Park, celebrated the big victory achieved by their fellow-countrymen on the Piave River.

The parade, in honor of the first big victory that has fallen to the Allied arms for months, recalled the days when Italy entered the war along with the other Allies in their fight for freedom.

Forming up at the headquarters of the Marconi Band in Fullarton street, about 7:30, the revelers, 200 strong, with the band leading, moved by way of Talbot, Queen's, Waterloo, Dundas and Richmond streets to the park.

Immediately behind the band, was borne the Canadian flag, on either side of which were the Italian flag and the flag of the Italian Society. Then followed autos bearing Mayor Somerville and other officials, and other cars carrying prominent local Italians. Many in khaki from the local camps were conspicuous in the procession.

At the city hall, and again at the Advertiser and Free Press offices, the procession halted, while the band played "Rule Britannia," "O Canada," and the Italian National Anthem. Cheering crowds marked the line of march, and even from the verandas along the residential streets, cheers rang forth as they passed by.

On arrival at the park, where a large crowd had gathered, speeches were delivered by Mayor Somerville, and Lieut.-Col. H. D. Smith, representing the headquarters staff here.

Mayor's Address.

"We are gathered together for a few moments here, following the fine procession of which we are all proud, to mark the occasion of the brilliant feat of arms performed by your people," said Mayor Somerville. "The procession brings home the value of the victory not only to Italy but also to all the Allied armies.

"This victory which has been achieved by your armies is the first that has come to us for many months. All that we have been able to do for months was to hold our ground, and we are glad that our allies in Italy have succeeded in hurling the enemy across the Piave.

"The Italians who have come to the city are among the best of our citizens, and we are glad that all the Allied men are mingling together on all the fronts, as it will create a beneficial rivalry and will help the Allies to hold their own.

"As Canadians we are proud that our boys have been able to hold their own, and even to go on offensive, such as those at the Somme, Vimy Ridge and Paschendaele.

Tremendous Results.

"Such fighting as that on the Italian front will have tremendous results, and we are glad to meet our Italian friends and to help them celebrate this tremendous victory, so that the Hun nation may be put in the place where it belongs."

Lieut.-Col. Smith, after explaining that he had been directed to represent the district officer commanding, Brig.-Gen. Shannon, who had by a previous appointment been prevented from attending, congratulated those present on the magnificent victory their incomparable army had achieved on the Italian front in the past few days.

"Those who understand and study military events are not at all surprised at the showing made by our army, not only during the reverses, but also during this victory, that possibly marks the beginning of the end of the great war.

"We congratulate you also because alongside of your wonderful men are French and British troops, who were moved from France some months ago. The fact that today British, French and Italians are fighting together under one general marks a great advance.

Saved From Ruin.

"We congratulate you for another reason. We know the awful ravages that resulted from the German advance in Belgium and France. Under an Austrian advance what is probably the greatest art city in the world would have been in ruins, and it has now been saved from disaster.

"I am told that 100 or more of your race have left the city to join your army. That speaks well for you, who have come to this country to make a living, and shows that you have found in the free air of Canada an incentive to go back and fight for this country and their own.

"The result of this victory will, I have no doubt, be the demoralization of the Austrian army, and if so, it will mean the beginning of the end."

The speeches were most enthusiastically received throughout, and were punctuated by almost continual applause.

Cheers for Kings.

At the conclusion of the speeches Mayor Somerville led in giving three cheers for King Victor Emanuel III., and for Gen. Diaz and his valiant men. Master of Ceremonies Joseph J. Famularo then led with three cheers for His Majesty King George.

The arrangements were made by a committee composed of D. Cusolito, C. Catalano, and S. Sansone, of the Marconi Club, and J. J. Famularo, of the London Italian Society.

The following program was rendered by the band, under Prof. P. Venuta, during the concert at the park: Trent and Trieste, patriotic march; Risviglio, patriotic march; Trieste, symphony; Garibaldi's Hymn; Marseillaise; America, patriotic march; The Bayonet Charge, march symphonic; The Firmness of the Allies.

BOYS "RAILROADED" TO INSTITUTIONS IS CHARGE MADE BY CITY INSPECTOR

Serious Allegations of Official Presented to Finance Committee of Council.

WILL TAKE UP CASE

Children's Aid Society and Magistrate To Be Interviewed.

Are London lads, who err during their irresponsible boyhood days, railroaded to different institutions by officials of the city of London? Such an insinuation was made Wednesday night at the meeting of the finance committee. Relief Inspector J. W. McCallum was the official who made it.

The charge is a serious one. It involves not only the officials and the homes of the boys, but also the city. Mr. McCallum's allegation was that the officials in charge of this work in London were loading up institutions with boys of the city at the expense of London. Every time a boy is sent to one of these homes it means that the city must assume the cost of his keep until he reached the age of 21. This is now charged at 30 cents a day.

The committee was considering the case of a 12-year-old lad recently sent down by the magistrate. He is 12 years of age. During the discussion Mr. McCallum remarked, "There is a man in the city hall who takes a delight in saddling the city with boys sent down for trivial offences. It is time he was checked up. Only a short time ago he sent a little colored boy down there for mitching from school, and now the city must support him until he is 21 years of age."

Mr. McCallum explained that if the boys sent to these schools are apprenticed out the officials of the schools do not send the city notice. Instead they continue to charge the city for their keep.

"He is too keen at taking boys and having them sent down," declared the inspector, referring to the official.

The committee discussed the question at some length.

"If matters are going to the extremes that the inspector says they are, it is time it was looked into," declared Controller C. H. Merryfield. He believed that the heads of the Children's Aid Society and the magistrate aught to be interviewed. It was decided to refer the charges to the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. McCallum said that in many cases boys were taken before the magistrate and when they were sent down to the schools the mothers were told that they were only sent down for a month or so. One boy's mother said her 13-year-old son was gone for a month. There was a sad awakening coming to her when she found that he was there until he was 21 years of age. He also knew of another mother who was told that her son was sent down for two months. She is preparing to have him home soon. She also is doomed to disappointment.

WANTS $1,000 PAID IN BY MIDDLE OF JULY

"Earn and Give" Committee Already Has $222.70.

Up to date $2,500 has been subscribed to the "Earn and Give Campaign" by the members of the Boys' Division of the local Y. M. C. A.

The boys entered in this campaign agree to earn and give ten dollars to the Y. M. C. A. This money will be used for work overseas. An employment bureau has been arranged for so the boys may secure work in this way. Many boys have already been placed on odd jobs such as cutting grass, cleaning windows and folding letters in many business offices and banks or the city.

The committee in charge of the campaign intends to have $1,000 paid in by the 15th of July. Already $222.70 has been paid in, and the following eight boys have paid up in full: Stanley Chappell, Andrew Know, Jack Macgregor, Clifford Morgan, Gordon Morris, George Yendall, Fred Beatty and Edward Keenleyside.

The committee in charge of the campaign will try and arrange an "Earn and Give Race" at the Great War Veterans' annual field day to be held July 1 (Dominion Day).

Army 'Blue-Bonnets' Blue In Disposition Because of Orders

Distinguishing Band of Draftees' Escorters Must Be Ripped Off.

The famous "Blue Bonnets" who have guided the unwary steps of innumerable draftees through the treacherous sands andasphalts of this city to the khaki-guarded dugout at the mobilization centre, are no longer blue. The feelings of some of them, are said to be quite blue, though.

Alas! The only thing left them by the relentless army orders is their bonnets. The blue is due to disappear. No more will the gaily baby-ribbon bedecked soldiers meet trains and lead the newly-arrived soldier along the proper way for newly-arrived soldiers to go. "Plain khaki" will meet the trains in future.

Orders are adamant, and when they say that his majesty the pompous conducting sergeant must rip off the dainty blue band, and look like any ordinary common garden variety of sergeant, there's no getting away from it.

"It's pretty tough," said one of the B. B.'s, as he wiped a tear from his eye with the end of his blue band, which he had just removed from his cap. "It's tough luck, after strutting around dolled up like a jazz band for several months, to have our colors reduced. War sure is ——, but wot's the use?"

VOTE NECESSARY TO ALLOW NATURAL GAS, SOLICITOR'S VIEW

City Official Makes This Ruling—Franchise Expired?

The ratepayers of the city may be asked to vote on the question of allowing the City Gas Company to mix natural gas with its artificial supply. This has been recommended by City Solicitor Meredith. This and the statement of the solicitor that the Gas Company's franchise expired in 1914 featured the solicitor's report on the request of the council that he draw up an agreement to allow the mixing of the gas. Mr. Meredith's report to No. 1 committee last night was to the effect that in 1913 he had given Mayor Graham the opinion that the gas company has no right to lay pipes for natural gas or to introduce natural gas into its pipes without a bylaw being passed by the council granting authority so to do.

"I also stated that in my opinion such a bylaw falls within the provision of the municipal franchise act and requires the assent of the electors." He adds that still he holds that opinion."

Mr. Meredith after touching on the 1916 proposal re allowing the use of natural gas for manufacturers, said the act provides that such a bylaw shall set forth terms, conditions and period of such a right. He also calls attention to the fact that in 1917, when the city was applying for legislation respecting the City Gas Company, the claim was made on behalf of the city that the franchise, as it is called, of the City Gas Company expired on July 6, 1914, and that the term of the existence of the London Gas Light Company, which was incorporated on February 4, 1879, was 50 years from February 4, 1879.

Will Be Delayed.

The matter was referred to the special gas committee, and ask that it arrange for taking a vote of the people.

"Too bad," added Ald. Holmes, "that it will be delayed until January, as the gas will be needed before that."

City Engineer Brazier, in his check of the lights of the city, finds that there are many more lights in the city not being used than what the city was given credit for in the rebate made by the utilities commission.

Mr. Brazier's report is that there are 446 lights unlit. The utilities allowed for 295, a difference of 151 lights.

A further cut will be asked.

Food Examiner.

The committee decided to ask the minister of labor to appoint J. W. McCallum as food controller. Mr. McCallum said that he had asked the cold storages for information and was refused. This was a specific instance of a refusal to give information as was asked for by the minister.

There is another Londoner who wants wildcats in the city controlled. Walter G. Wright says these animals have played "hob" with his garden. There are others he says, who must have suffered similarly. He suggested that it be made a municipal offence to allow such animals to run at large He suggested that they be kept tied up during the period from May to October. Sarnia, he said, had found such a law a benefit.

The council has such a proposal in hand already. It is waiting on W. E. Saunders for further information on the subject.

The question of charging a higher rate for market stalls was up again. The motion to jump them up $3 resulted in a tie vote and so the matter goes back to the council.

The committee indorsed the resolution of the Toronto city council asking that the price of gasoline be fixed by the Federal Government, as the present price is "abnormally high."

Youths Charged With Assaulting Rabbi Escape in Court.

George E. Bennett, a Front street resident, appeared in police court today charged by a neighbor with trespassing on his property. Evidence was given to show that Bennett was in the habit of crossing the complainant's property while taking his horse to pasture, and it is alleged that he refused to keep off the property when requested to do so by the owner. Considerable argument was involved between the respective counsels over the title of the land in question, and Magistrate Graydon fined Bennett $2 and costs.

An auto owner, who neglected to burn the midnight oil on his car, contributed $2 to the treasury.

Three juveniles from the south end, who appeared in court charged with disturbing services at the Wellington Street Jewish Synagogue and also with assaulting Rabbi Aidenoff, were discharged with a warning by Magistrate Graydon.

PEOPLE TO VOTE ON PURCHASE OF TRACTION LINE

This Is Statment of Mayor in Discussing $279,000 Offer for Road.

If the city council approves of the recommendation of the board of control that the city pay $241,000 for the London and Lake Erie Transportation Line, and if such a price is acceptable to the company, the ratepayers will then be asked to vote on the proposal, according to Mayor C. R. Somerville.

The company has advertised for tenders for the purchase of the railway. These will be opened on July 2, the same day as the council will meet, so that it is likely that the council may know in time for the meeting, when the board of control's recommendation will be presented, whether or not the price mentioned will be acceptable to the company.

Mayor Somerville says he does not know whether or not it will be acceptable.

This is the city's first definite offer for the line. The company asked $420,000.

The city's offer, with bonuses added, will bring the price to $279,000.

GRADED CERTIFICATES WILL BE GRANTED TO ONTARIO ENGINEERS

Applications Will Be Received January 1, 1919.

Graded certificates will be granted the stationary engineers of Ontario, and applications for these will be received by the board of examiners after January 1, 1919. This announcement was made last evening at the convention of the C. A. S. E. in Hyman Hall by Dr. W. A. Riddell, superintendent of the trades and labor branch of the Ontario Department of Public Works.

There will be four grades. Fourth class certificates will be issued to firemen, night watchmen and other engineer assistants. The examination for this grade will be oral, dealing with the practical operation of boilers, etc. This certificate will be optional for some time.

The third class will correspond to the present compulsory certificate, and the present standard will obtain. Any person must have this grade before he can operate a boiler of 50 horsepower or over and carrying 20 pounds or more of steam. The examination for this certificate will be along practical lines of boiler operation

The second-class certificate will be optional, and will be one step higher than the present license requires. A written examination combining practice with theory in steam usage and requirements will be required from the applicant for this grade. Holders of the present licenses may be granted a second-grade certificate if in the opinion of the board their experience, standing and character warrant the granting of this class. The length of time the applicant must have operated steam plants before being given this certificate will be later decided by the board.

First Class Optional.

The first class certificate will also be optional to the engineers. The applicant must hold a certificate of the second class or one of equivalent value from some board other than the Ontario board of examiners. He must also have had ten years' continuous experience in the operation of steam plants. This grade can only be obtained by a written examination on questions of a highly technical and practical nature relating to power plants. While the board will receive applications for these certificates on the first of January next year they will not be general until the year 1920. After the 1st of January of that year applicants for any grade must have the certificate of the grades below or their equivalent. Failing this he must take the examinations in the lower grades first. It is the intention of the board to have all the application forms which will be returned to that body next year, classified with respect to grades by January, 1920.

Dr. Riddell told of the work of the trades and labor branch along the lines of employment offices and farm labor. He also intimated something of the investigations which are being carried out with a view to lessening the danger in factories manufacturing explosives.

Vocational Training.

Some action would be taken in the near future regarding vocational training for boys, he hoped.

Addresses were also given by Fred R. Raven, national secretary, N. A. S. E., Chicago; E. F. Valiquat, member of the stationary engineers' examining bureau for Quebec; W. C. McGhie, chairman of the examining board for Ontario; Jack Armour of New York.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the various speakers. Dr. W. A. Riddell, F. R. Lowe, F. W. Raven and A. M. Wickens were made honorary members of the C. A. S. E. The oath was administered by President Gofton.

Gordon C. Keith, secretary of the Exhibitors' Association, occupied the chair, and distributed the prizes. A box of silverware was presented him in recognition of his services on behalf of the convention. George E. Moll was also remembered and was given an umbrella as a slight token.

The drawings for the special prizes which were presented by the exhibitors occasioned much merriment. Various articles, from dolls and teddy bears to pyjamas, were drawn by women and men alike.

Picnic at Port.

As guests of the Exhibitors' Association, the delegates, accompanied by their wives and families, spent a pleasant afternoon at Port Stanley, where a good program was carried out. What was described as one of the fastest and one of the most scientific games of baseball was played by teams picked from the engineers and the supply men. The score at the end of the fifth inning, when the last call was made for supper, was 14-10, in favor of the engineers. W. G. Walters captained the engineers and L. F. Mayne led the supply men to a near-victory. The pitchers were L. F. Mayne and George F. Galloway, and the catchers were John Middleton and George Ayrscott. and others.

In the young ladies' race, Agnes England led, with Kathleen England and Florence Galloway tieing for second place. Mrs. D. R. Laver and Mrs. Dan Freedy demonstrated their speed in the potato race, winning first and second among a number of competitors.

The fat ladies' race was won by Mrs. S. Nash and Mrs. A. Clements.

Mrs. D. Freedy with John Whittaker and Mr. and Mrs. D. Laver won the prizes in the thread-and-needle race by a small margin.

In the boot-and-shoe race G. F. Galloway led, with S. Balmforth next.

John Whittaker and S. Balmforth crossed the line ahead of the rest of the fat men.

In the "over 40" class W. L. Roadhouse and John Agroff carried off the honors.

The biscuit-eating contest was won by Mrs. William Middleton and Mrs. D. R. Laver.

G. F. Galloway with J. Whittaker, and C. N. Schrag with S. Balmforth, after numerous tumbles, headed the list in the wheelbarrow race.

Mrs. D. Laver and Mrs. S. Nash for the ladies, and J. Thompson and C. N. Schrag for the men, displayed their ability in picking clothespin off a line with their teeth and beat all other competitors easily.

J. Williams of Guelph was the oldest engineer on the grounds who is actively engaged in the operation of a steam plant.

The prize for the largest family was not awarded. Apparently engineers have no families. At any rate, several who intended trying for this prize could not gather their children together at the time of the judging.

C. B. Turner and George E. Moll were the judges.

After a war luncheon served in the cafeteria, the party left for London in special cars.

GIVEN WATER SET.

On Tuesday the members of Hyatt Avenue Methodist Women's Missionary Society gathered at Springbank for their annual picnic and had a most enjoyable time. Mrs. (Rev.) H. D. Moyer president, on the eve of her departure from London for Seaforth, was presented with a beautiful cut glass water set and an address, read by Mrs. J. Grieves, secretary.

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments! Try this!

Hair stops coming out and every particle of dandruff disappears.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach, and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food, will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate, and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

SHRINERS' PICNIC

Knights of Fez Make Merry at Springbank Park.

Local Shriners, members of Mocha Temple, are at Springbank this afternoon having their annual picnic, and incidentally a good time. The Shriners band, numbering about 40, is on the scene, and the followers of the Fez have taken their wives and children along to join in the fun.

A good program of sports is being run off, commencing at 3 o'clock, after which the merrymakers will sit down together to a huge spread of good things to eat. Fancy drills by Mocha Patrol will also be on the program, and it is expected that about 800 picnickers will be present.

Invitations have been sent out to Woodstock, Chatham and other cities in Western Ontario, and there will be about 100 Shriners from out-of-town at Springbank today.

The executive looking after arrangements is as follows: Ed. Hayden, secretary; Ed. Marley, chairman, and A. E. Gibbons. The above committee has selected sub-committees to assist in making the affair a success. The public has been invited to attend.

There will be no downtown parade as a number of members motored to Springbank, but special cars were run to the park this afternoon.

YOUNG MEN CARRYING PAPERS TO INDICATE DRAFT LAW FREEDOM

Visit of Military Police to Port Dance Hall Indicates This.

In the opinion of Capt. Asa Minard, officer in charge of the civil section, military police corps, the young men of this district are beginning to realize the necessity of carrying the proper documents on their person proving their military status. Capt. Minard, with a squad of men, visited the dance hall on the beach at Port Stanley Wednesday night, and the majority of young men accosted were provided with the necessary papers, and the examination was carried out in an orderly manner.

"There were about 300 young men present," said Capt. Minard to The Advertiser, "and of this number there were only about a dozen without papers, and these were careless young fellows, who had neglected to bring their documents with them. There were no efforts are now being bent to properly defaulters in the crowd, and those accosted did all in their power to help us in our examination, thus causing no disorder, and completing the examination in record time with little loss to the proprietor of the dance hall. I think that the young men now realize the importance of carrying papers, thus saving themselves and the police much unnecessary trouble."

As it is the intention of the authorities to continue these visits, as well as accosting apparently eligible men on the streets, the young men of the city are warned to carry with them at all times the necessary information and proof of their military status.

HE'S STRONG ON ADJECTIVES IS HENRY; BARRAGE FLOORS FELLOW ALDERMEN

Oratorical Explosions Directed Against Street Railway Quite Some Mouthful.

When Ald. H. B. Ashplant was a boy at school he must have made a dead set on adjectives. He also must have specialized on those expressing indignation. On many occasions he has given exhibitions which would substantiate this conclusion. Ald. Henry has, at times, made his brother aldermen stand on their heads, figuratively speaking, in their efforts to keep up with his flow of these W. K. adjectives. He twists them, throws them, lets them squirm out, all at the same time. Sometimes they are brought to play on the auditors. On several occasions recently they have landed on the street railway. Wednesday night, however, he reached the climax of his oral accomplishments. It was a veritable barrage of adjectives.

The alderman was discussing the company's recent increase of the Springbank fares.

Some of his adjectives, there must have been a hundred in a 500-word criticism, were: "Impertinent manner," "courteous recognition," "blooming Springbank cars," "courteous treatment," "darned impertinence," "snubbed council," "ridiculed mayor," "sneering manner," etc., etc., etc.

All of which, when interpreted, were to the effect that the street railway was impertinent when it changed the fares without first asking the city. It had not accorded the city courteous treatment by breaking the existing agreement without first consulting the city. It was "darned impertinence." The council has been snubbed, and Mayor Somerville ridiculed by sneering references to him in the company's bulletin.

Ald. Ashplant contended that the company had no right to collect a five-cent fare from people boarding cars at the corner of Dundas and Richmond street. If it did he favored making it keep its "blooming Springbank cars" off the city streets, and let it run from the second cove to Springbank. He pointed out that so long as the company ran its Springbank cars on the city streets, the people were entitled to a transfer from any city line to the Springbank line, and this would carry them as far as the second cove. He suggested that the council should advertise this fact that the people might know it. He also pointed out that the new charge of the company was inequitable. The cost on some residents of the city, to go to Springbank, was only ten cents, and the charge on others was ten cents and two tickets. This was unfair.

The question will likely be discussed again at Tuesday night's council meeting.

ROTARIANS CALLED TO MAKE OUTING SUCCESSFUL EVENT

Club Members Will Treat Soldier-Patients at Byron.

London's Rotary Club will on Friday afternoon entertain the soldier patients of Byron Sanatorium at Port Stanley. Some 150 of the khaki-clad inmates of the institution will be taken to the Port, where they will be the club's guests. A special dinner will be served at the cafeteria at 5:30.

A special call has been sent out by the executive in charge of the arrangements to Rotarians and their wives to be present with their motors at the sanatorium at 1:30 Friday afternoon. The cars are needed to take the men to the London and Port Stanley depot from which the soldiers will leave at 2:20 p.m.

The same transportation arrangements will be in force for the return trip, and the Rotarians of the city are urged to have their cars at the L. and P. S. R. depot to meet the 7:40 car, so that the soldiers may be taken back to the sanatorium.

SAYS FISH EATING WILL BE NECESSARY FOR ALL CANADIANS

Scarcity of Feed To Force It, Declares Food Board Official.

Canadians will have to eat more fish, because of the increasing scarcity of meat, declares E. O. Sawyer, jun., a representative of the fish section of the Canada Food Board, who has been in London to make arrangements for this city to be used as district distributing centre.

Mr. Sawyer is more than optimistic of the way Canadians have taken to fish as a food, and declares that when the time comes for a more general use of the lake and sea foods to replace meat, the attractiveness of the fish menu will make it come easier.

"The flour regulations, just promulgated, are only temporary," says Mr. Sawyer. "Flour is a yearly crop, but it takes longer to produce meat, hence the necessity for more general use of fish. We will have to come to it more generally, sooner or later, and all efforts are now being bent to properly introduce the sea foods.

"The lake fish production is practically at a maximum. There are just so many fish to be caught every year if the supply is to be maintained in our lakes, but with sea fish it is different. This, then, is the reason the Canada Food Board has been placing so much emphasis on the introduction of sea food. Our sea fish supply is practically inexhaustible, and we want to see the people of Central and Western Ontario using more of it."

Mr. Sawyer intimated that there is a possibility that in the winter months Pacific coast "flat fish" and other varieties from British Columbia may be brought east. An effort is being made, he says, to secure as great a variety as possible in the kinds of fish being sold in Ontario in order that the people will not tire of a fish menu.

BONSER—CURNOE

Pretty Wedding at Bride's Home Wednesday Afternoon.

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Curnoe, Wellington street, when their second daughter, Beatrice, was united in marriage to Walter Bonser of this city, son of Taylor Bonser, of Manchester, England. Rev. W. J. Ashton, minister of Wellington Street Methodist Church, officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly attired in charmeuse and georgette crepe, wearing the conventional veil arranged in Juliet cap fashion. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Frances Rowe, who was gowned in white satin and carried pink roses. Earl Curnoe supported the groom.

Mrs. William Durham, who played the wedding music, was smartly dressed in grey silk. During the signing of the register Miss Rena Curnoe sang an appropriate number.

A dainty repast was served, following which the happy couple left to spend a honeymoon in Buffalo, Toronto and other eastern points, the bride traveling in a modish costume of blue with grey georgette hat. The guests, numbering about 80, included friends from Toronto, Detroit, Watford and St. Thomas. A number of beautiful and costly gifts were showered upon the bride and groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a baby grand piano; to the bridesmaid and to the pianist, crescents set with pearls, and to the best man, a pearl tiepin.

After their return, Mr. and Mrs. Bonser will reside at 452 Horton treet.

300 AT PICNIC

Epworth Leaguers of City Enjoy Springbank Outing Yesterday.

More than 300 attended the local Epworth League Union picnic at Springbank Park Wednesday afternoon During the afternoon French tag, baseball, bull in the ring, drop the handkerchief and "What did Mrs. McQueen die of?" were played. Twenty of the Epworth Leagues of this city were represented at the picnic.

The committee in charge of the picnic included Miss R. McPherson, E. W. Cairns and S. R. McCullagh.

Supper was served at 6:30, after which a large program of races were run off. The following were the prize-winners:

Banana race, Miss Fairbanks and Miss Essery; needle and thread race, Miss Williams and Miss Bowman; neck tie race, Miss Wellington and Mrs. Knight; string race, Miss Williams and Miss Markley; relay race, B. Hurbert; baseball throwing, Miss Webber and Mrs. Pilgram; coat race, Miss Chambers and Mr. Boyce; Miss Bartlett and Mr. Sproule; matrimonial race, Miss Williams and Mr. Hammond; Miss Chambers and Mr. Boyce; allied race, Miss Fritz and Miss Terry; ladies' 50-yard dash, Miss Lindsay and Miss Chambers.

Many of the young men from the Epworth League Union are now overseas, and this was the reason the crowd was not up to last year's mark.

ASSOCIATION OUTDONE.—Ald. S. R. Manness, chairman of the Vacant Lot Gardening Association of the city, after an inspection of all vacant lot gardens, declares that there is a larger acreage of gardens privately controlled, than those which come under the jurisdiction of his association. This means that there is somewhere in the neighborhood of 500 acres of idle London land being this year used to produce vegetables.

CHOIR PICNIC.—The annual choir picnic of St. Andrew's Church, which took place Wednesday afternoon at Port Stanley, was an undoubted success. After the arrival of the party at Port Stanley games were entered into and supper served on the heights, the choir members who always look forward to this picnic as one of the events of the year, entering into the enjoyment to the full.

MADE HIT IN K. C.

Juvenile Pipe Band Which Accompanied Local Rotarians Scores at Convention.

London's Juvenile Pipe Band, which accompanied the local delegation of Rotarians to the annual Rotary Clubs' convention at Kansas City, made more than a hit in the Missouri city.

The Kansas City Times of Tuesday has this to say of the organization which is directed by Pipe Major McDonald:

"The hit of the big traveling concert bill was made by the London, Ontario, Rotary Pipe Band. It was led by Pipe Major McDonald. The others in the band are children, all of them are not only musical artists but dancers. They are: Marion Stark, who plays the bass drum in an acrobatic manner with two sticks; Isabell Graham, snare drummer, and Donald Ellis and Earl MacAllister, pipers. While one of the children played, the other three children danced in the hotel lobbies, where they were loudly applauded."

IN EFFECT JULY 1

War Tax Stamp Law for Playing Cards and Matches Enforced Soon.

The war tax on matches and playing cards goes into effect on July 1, according to the instructions received at the local branch of the inland revenue department from Ottawa.

Packages of playing cards containing not more than 54 cards will be charged with eight cents' war tax and packages of not more than 108 cards will be charged sixteen cents' tax.

Regarding playing cards, the instructions state: "Playing cards which were imported or manufactured in Canada before the 1st of May, 1918, and which on that date were in stock of importers or manufacturers are not subjected to the tax, unless remaining on hands of dealers on the 1st of July.

"All playing cards imported or manufactured in Canada after the 30th of April, 1918, and the stock in hands of agents, wholesalers, retailers or other dealers on 1st of July will be subjected to the tax."

The tax on matches is one cent per package of 100 matches or less, and in proportion to more than 100 matches.

All matches sold on and after July 1 must have war tax or the package must contain a stamp bearing these words: "Tax paid by manufacturer."

DOCTOR EXPLAINS WHY RESTRICTIONS PLACED ON SOLDIERS' PICNIC

"Medical Matter Only," Declares Head of Sanatorium.

A slight hitch has occurred in the arrangements being made for the soldier-patients at Byron Sanatorium to go to Port Stanley as the guests of the London Rotary Club.

The men quartered at the sanatorium are anxious to take in all the amusements at the lakeside, including bathing and the roller coaster, but they have been informed by Dr. Kibbe, the medical superintendent, that this is impossible owing to their physical condition.

Wednesday the men decided that, unless they could be guided by their own judgment and that of their sports committee regarding their fitness to go in for the amusements that they would not go on the outing.

Dr. Kibbe explained the reasons for his decision to The Advertiser today. "It is simply a medical matter," he said, "many of the men are sick and need quietness. While some are able to go in for the amusements, the majority are not physically able to do so, and as it would be impossible to designate what this one or that one should do, the few have to give way to those who are not physically able. Those who are sick men must deport themselves as sick men. I'm sorry, as I have done my best to arrange the outing for them."

PREPARING CANVASS

A canvass will be made of the members of the Presbyterian congregations of the city in the immediate future, with a view to raising the sum of $3,000 towards the building funds of the new Knollwood Park Presbyterian Church, to be erected in the near future. At present members of the canvass committee, including Messrs. W. C. Allen, David Ross, A. S. Macgregor, John S. Moore, John Macpherson and Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore, are devoting time to obtaining the names of contributors to the various Presbyterian churches in the city, with a view to making out lists of people to be approached for subscriptions to the new building.

The canvass will be launched in the course of the next few weeks.

Sun Burned Skin

You want a healthy summer tan. But sometimes you get it too quickly and then there is a few days of suffering.

The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the stinging and burning and leaves the skin delightfully soft and smooth.

Because it is equally effective in relieving stings of insects and ivy poisoning, as well as chafing and skin irritations, it is invaluable in the summer camp.

FRONT LINE CLUB

New Returned Soldiers' Organization May Come Into Being.

It was stated today in returned soldier circles, that some of the wounded men have under consideration the organization of a Front Line Club, which would include in its membership only those who had seen service in the trenches or in the units that serve the trenches.

It was also stated that some prominent citizens were ready to finance a clubhouse for the organization. No statement as to those agitating the movement has been given out.

CONSERVING SUPPLIES

New Depot Added to Militia Headquarters' Branches.

A district stationary depot has been established at Wolseley Barracks from which all units in this district will be supplied with militia forms, militia books and stationery.

The new depot is located in the basement at the southeast corner of the barracks.

Inventories are to be made out by all units and services of all stationery and stationery articles on hand, and requisitions are to be submitted to the depot quarterly for additional supplies.

In camp orders today it is requested that the strictest economy be exercised in the use of forms, books and stationery, in order that no waste takes place. This is the more necessary owing to the fact that prices have greatly increased, and in some cases it has even become difficult to procure the papers or articles required.

Polarine

FRICTION REDUCING MOTOR OIL

"Makes a good car better"

For Piston Pins

PISTON pins receive the full force of every explosion. Unless their bearings are adequately cushioned with oil of correct body and lubricating qualities, they soon wear loose, with vibration that racks connecting rod and crankshaft bearings. Correct lubrication guards your motor against this danger.

BEWARE OF "KNOCKS"

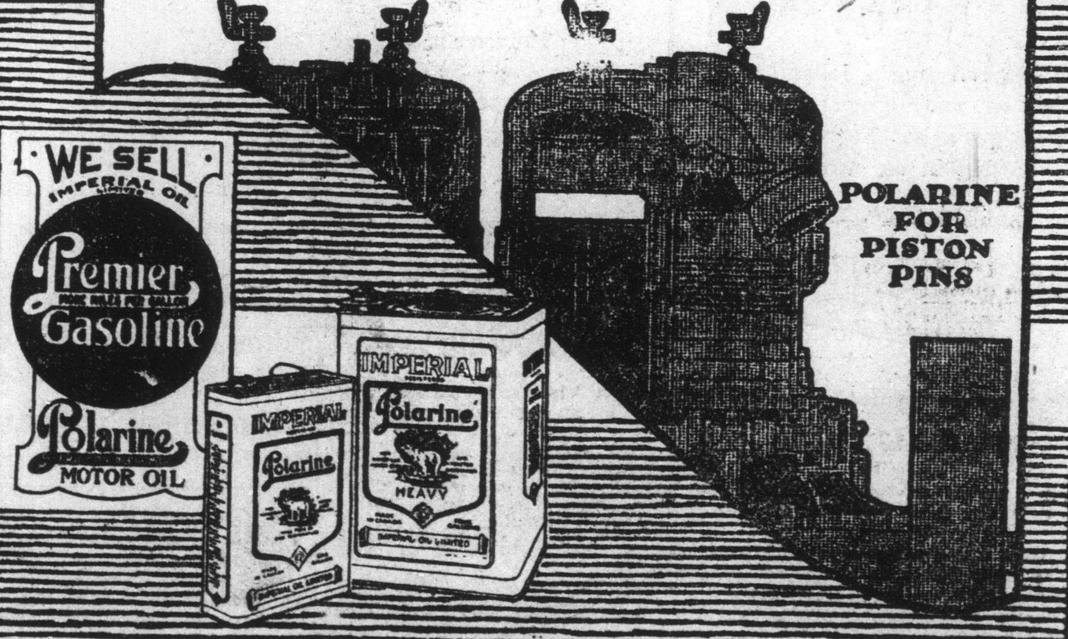

Every "knock" in your engine is a danger signal.
Knocks mean extra strain, excessive wear on moving parts. They foretell increased repairs—decreased intrinsic car value. And often the cause of these "knocks" is the use of the wrong lubricant.
Don't wait for that metallic warning from a worn part before you realize that there is a great difference between lubricants. Help save your engine to-day from that possible breakdown of to-morrow by the use of

Polarine
FRICTION REDUCING MOTOR OIL

It has both body and lubricating qualities that minimize wear and friction. It flows freely at all temperatures—does not break down and run thin when your motor heats up. It lessens carbon trouble—softens vibration—keeps your car running smoothly and delivering full power day in day out.
Polarine is made in two grades—Polarine and Polarine Heavy. It is supplied in one-half, one and four gallon sealed cans, also in 12½ gallon steel kegs, barrels and half barrels.
There are also Polarine oils and greases for effective transmission and differential lubrication.
Buy Polarine where you get Premier Gasoline—at the sign of the "Red Ball."

FOSTER, BURRELL, CROTHERS, REID DUE FOR SHELF

Sir George and Hon. Martin Burrell To Get Seats in Senate.

CROTHERS TO THE BENCH

Drayton and Robertson for Ministries of Railways and Labor.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, June 26.—Still another cabinet reconstruction is predicted when Sir Robert Borden returns from England. In fact, it is stated that when the deadwood in the still-new Union Government is lopped off and new wood grafted in, those who voted for it in December last won't know it.

Those said to be doomed to retirement include Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce; Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor; Hon. Dr. Reid, minister of railways, and Hon. Martin Burrell, secretary of state. By some it is predicted that Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, will also go, but the best guess is that he won't. He is one of those who stuck by the prime minister when the feet of the latter were slipping over the brink on many an occasion, and when others of his colleagues were turning from him or upon him. It is a safe prediction that, despite the agitation which is at present raging in certain quarters to get rid of Mr. Doherty, he will remain.

Foster Working Havoc.

Sir George Foster, as minister of trade and commerce, has succeeded in reducing the trade and commerce of the Dominion to a state of absolute and complete chaos. His forte is to spring proclamations on the country and then to revoke them. His latest creation—the war trade board—has, by a series of import embargoes, put the trade of the country in a condition of uncertainty which is fatal to good business, and as a result of which the consumer has nightmares every time he lays his head on the pillow. As a matter of fact, the trade and commerce department has become a joke.

Sir George would long ago have been in the Senate, but it was impossible to put him there while Sir Mackenzie Bowell lived, for neither had spoken to the other since the famous "nest of traitors" incident. Now the former premier is gone, and Sir George will take his place in the red chamber.

Promotion for MacLean.

It is said that Hon. A. K. MacLean, the only new member of the Government who can really be said to have shown any real "class" during the past session, will be promoted. He now lacks a portfolio. It is said he will take that of Sir George Foster.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, after years of ease in the department of labor, is now desperately attempting to appease labor by declaring that all men have a right to belong to a union and by slapping employers on the wrist. But Mr. Crothers lost his trump card when he permitted W. F. O'Connor to be driven out by the profiteers and sacrificed to the pork and other barons, and when he allowed the cost-of-living branch of his department to be wiped out of existence and its functions deadened by distributing its various sections among the price-boosting food board, the fuel controller's office and the department of trade and commerce.

Judgeship For Tom.

Senator Gideon Robertson, head of the Canada registration board, will take the department, and Mr. Crothers will become a judge in Prince Edward County, where he first saw the light of day.

Hon. Dr. Reid has served his purpose. In his time, Mackenzie and Mann have been served, the genial doctor proving a willing and ready listener to their representations.

A. W. Campbell, deputy minister of the department for many years, and a splendid administrator, will be removed and in his place will be put Major Gordon Bell, the man who prepared the figures on which Sir Robert Borden last session based his statement that the assets of the Canadian Northern exceeded their liabilities by over ninety million. Incidentally it may be said that Major Bell was the man sent to report on the nickel situation. These things having been accomplished, it is said, Dr. Reid will be replaced by some one with more subtlety and probably less rough-and-ready political ability. Sir Henry Drayton may be his successor.

Hon. Martin Burrell was minister of agriculture before union. He is at present secretary of state, not by force of ability but of circumstances. They couldn't get anyone else from British Columbia at the time. He is now slated for retirement to the red chamber or to some other haven of rest.

F. F. Pardee was to have been secretary of state, but he didn't desire any such sinecure portfolio. It was rumored that he would be postmaster-general, but that rumor proved groundless. Lieut.-Col. P. E. Blondin, though lacking a seat in the House, is still hanging on to that portfolio and the salary attached to it. He is now said to be coming back to do a little work for his salary.

The Union Government is not yet on a "fifty-fifty" basis. Conservatives are still in excess of so-called Liberals by three or four. In the shuffle it is said the number will be made equal even if more portfolios have to be created.

Among other rumors is one to the effect that Hon. A. L. Sifton, minister of customs, will become chief justice of the supreme court of Canada, and that the present holder of that position, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, will become Canada's new ambassador to Washington.

MACHIN IS STILL EMPLOYED, WHILE MINISTERS FRET

Strong Unionist Paper Calls for Retirement of Doherty, Crothers and Reid.

HAVE FULFILLED MISSION

All Yeomen for Conservative Party — Merits Qualify Them for Shelf.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, June 26.—Lieut.-Col. Machin, M.P.P., head of the military service council, is still on the job today in spite of his sensational attack upon the methods of the powers that be and in spite of his charge that a cabal existed in the Government whose object it was to oust Hon. C. J. Doherty from the cabinet. He saw the latter last evening. This morning he was found at his desk at the military service council and received some of the newspapermen in a very cheerful manner. But he had nothing to add or retract from his statements at present.

He has not, however, resigned nor has his resignation yet been asked for. Apparently the militia department has washed its hands of the whole affair, though Col. Machin is a militia officer drawing militia pay and though he said some sharp things about the department. The whole job has been left to Mr. Doherty to fix up. Meanwhile, as a consequence of the controversy, the Ottawa Citizen, Unionist, has again raised the question of cabinet reconstruction.

Should Have Made Change.

Referring to the "cabal" which Col. Machin declared existed, the Citizen says it is not influenced by any such cabal nor prompted by any antagonism to Mr. Doherty, but, it says, the change in the ministry of justice should have been made at the formation of Union Government last year when Mr. Doherty's valuable experience might have been retained for the Government in some department calling for less strenuous administrative work. Mr. Doherty has administered his department faithfully, but he is a pensioned judge. With the extra work thrown on the department within the last year and the prospect of steady increasing duties ahead, the Government should consider the advisability of transferring the burden of administration of the department of justice to Hon. A. L. Sifton.

Others Need "A Rest."

The Citizen believes also that Hon. T. Crothers, minister of labor, and Hon. Dr. Reid, minister of railways, have "borne the heat of the day as cabinet ministers long enough," and "are entitled to retirement."

"The national register throughout Canada last week," says the Citizen, "if it is to lead to anything worth while, must be developed into the direction of establishing national service, in the essential industries. Now, Mr. Crothers did not succeed to the department of labor in 1911 because of any remarkable understanding he had of the status of labor in the state, or because of being a minister who would especially inspire the confidence of labor in Canada. But the time is arriving in this country when such an appointment to the ministry of labor must be made, as it has been in the United Kingdom, and in practically every other country on the other side of the atlas.

Reid's Mission Filled.

"Dr. Reid has enjoyed office as a cabinet minister since 1911 for apparently the same reasons as Mr. Crothers. Both have been long devoted to political party service. Dr. Reid's record in the cabinet would seem to have been that of a general utility man, and so long as the Government existed as a party organization, he seemed to fill the position to the entire satisfaction of those concerned, with keeping the party in power. But an understanding of something more than party politics should be required of public men in responsible ministerial offices at this time of stress in Canada. Times are changing, and it is nothing more than every other government engaged in the present war has been compelled to do when ministers of a bygone period are retired to make way for men more abreast with the times."

HOT BARRAGE FIRE TOO MUCH FOR GOTHAS IN NEW RAID ON PARIS

Paris, June 27.—Havas Agency.—Few bombs were dropped and no casualties were caused by the German airplanes which raided Paris last night, according to the Petit Parisien's report of the German attempt at an air raid.

It appears, says the Matin there were two groups of Gothas. The greater part of them had to change the direction of their flight because of the vigorous barrage fire, and in the effort to regain their base safely got rid of their bombs rapidly.

It is pointed out that whereas the Germans had made six attacks on Paris by the air route early in June, they had made no attempts upon the city, previous to last night, since the night of June 15-16.

MANITOBA IS TALKING OF LABOR CONSCRIPTION FOR AUTUMN HARVESTS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, June 26.—Conscription of experienced farm help next fall in the event that farmers need help and not enough volunteers come forward was forecast today by Hon. Valentine Winkler, minister of agriculture for Manitoba.

More than 12,000 experienced farmhands will be available from Winnipeg district as direct results of man power registration, Mr. Winkler estimated.

"If we can't get volunteers to go," he continued significantly, "then we will have to appeal to Ottawa for the application of other means. We would rather have voluntary help, but help we must have next fall, voluntarily or forced."

KUEHLMANN SHOULD HAVE HIS ANSWER FROM ALLIED GUNS

He Is Playing Hollweg's Game Over Again—Allies Cannot Lose War on Battlefields Nor Win It Anywhere Else.

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
(Copyright, 1918, New York Tribune, Association.)

NEW YORK, June 26.—The difference between Bethmann Hollweg's proposal of peace based upon the war map and Kuehlmann's suggestion of a settlement based upon the boundaries drawn for Germany by history is a difference of methods merely. Bethmann was a "Durchhauer," who knew of no other method than to hack his way through. Kuehlmann belongs to another school. His cutting is done in the back, not in the front. Lichnowsky, seeking in London before the war to establish Anglo-German relations, has supplied ample evidence of how while he worked openly for peace Kuehlmann secretly prepared the way for war.

Turns Sharp Corners.

Kuehlmann had two problems to confront in making his speech. They are the familiar problems of every German statesman who has been permitted to speak upon the subject. He had at one time to satisfy the war party in the saddle for whom peace must be a German peace of the Brest-Litovsk order, and at the same moment to give to the outside world and to the German people a semblance of moderation. The problem was impossible of solution, and Kuehlmann has failed in oil where Bethmann failed in brick. His speech may not satisfy the military party. It cannot satisfy anybody else.

There are two things which Kuehlmann said of immediate interest:

Belgium Must Come First.

First—As to Belgium. Belgium remains the crucial question, and we shall never listen to any German offering peace who does not preface his proposals with a promise as to Belgium. The question of Belgium is the question between civilization and Germany. Germany left the ranks of civilized nations when she entered Belgium. She cannot return until she agrees to evacuate, and in his remarks Kuehlmann disclosed no German understanding of the Belgian case.

The second point of great interest in Kuehlmann's speech is his declaration, "We wish for the German people and our allies a free, independent existence within the boundaries drawn for us by history." Now what does this mean? Germany has had many boundaries drawn for her in the period between Otto the Great and William II. Does Kuehlmann mean the frontiers of the Holy Roman empire? Does he mean the ancient boundaries, which gave Germany Northern France and Northern Italy? Is he thinking of more modern history and of the boundaries drawn, as Bethmann-Hollweg suggested, "By the sword," and as the German soldiers drew the boundaries at Brest-Litovsk?

Is Certainly Smooth.

In a word, Kuehlmann has uttered a phrase equally susceptible of being interpreted as the last word in aggrandizement, and the final statement of moderation, and this is what he meant to do. But he leaves his enemies with no other choice than to play the role of history and trace the boundaries of Germany, in conformity with right and justice, and this is the work of war, not of negotiations.

There is no occasion for a closer analysis of the speech of the German foreign secretary. It is interesting that he now charges Russia with the supreme guilt for the war. This is a reversion to the old form, but it is temporary. German interests may compel saddling the guilt on somebody else tomorrow, and France may be selected, or even England. It is not beyond the realms of possibilities that the United States will yet be indicted by German statesmen seeking vindication for themselves.

The truth is that German statesmanship, speaking at this time, provides but a thin facade to cover German militarism. Germany's foreign policy and Germany's position with respect to peace are made by Ludendorff, and not by Kuehlmann. Germany's peace offers are expressed on the road to Paris and to Calais, not in Berlin.

Not Repentant Yet.

We have no repentant Germany. We have no conciliatory Germany. We have the same Germany who planned this war. Kuehlmann now solemnly tells us that given Germany's station in 1914 it would have approximated madness for her to seek by the sword what she could obtain by peaceful efforts. This is true; this has always been true; but this did not dissuade Germany, and the greater the German failure becomes the more apparent is the folly of the German bid for world power and European domination.

Tomorrow is a tragic anniversary. Four years ago the heir to the Hapsburg throne was murdered in Sarajevo. We have been told recently, and by German witnesses, how promptly after that crime there met at Potsdam the conference that willed this war. Men who were there and were in the confidence of the emperor have told us by what pledges big business was persuaded and industry shackled to militarism.

Great Reckoning Near.

It is idle for Kuehlman now to endeavor to obscure the record, no longer to be hidden as long as time runs. The great reckoning draws nearer day by day. Vienna will celebrate the fourth anniversary of a crime it welcomed as an opportunity, in famine, defeat and despair.

Meantime it remains for all the Allied nations to recognize how hollow, how empty, how insincere all the German pretentions in the directions of peace are now, as they have been at all times. We cannot lose this war now on the battlefield. We cannot win it anywhere else. If Germany escapes defeat on the battlefield we shall lose the war. Kuehlmann should have his answer. But it should be the answer of the guns.

SARNIA.—Notice has been received from Ottawa that the Goodwin Company, Limited, received a charter. The authorized capital is $40,000. The company makes gas heaters for heating water, and automatic flushers, and is just moving into larger quarters.

MITCHELL.—The funeral of Lindsay A. Butson, who died from injuries received by being crushed in a gravel pit crane, took place to the Presbyterian Cemetery, and was one of the largest held here for some time. Rev. Dr. D. M. MacRae, pastor of Knox Church, conducted the services.

HYDE PARK.—The entrance pupils of Hyde Park school presented their teacher, Miss Vera Rossiter, with a handsome cutglass fruit basket. An address was read by Miss D. Hamilton, and Miss M. May made the presentation.

GALT.—Registrar D. J. Fleming of South Waterloo this afternoon gave out a statement of the registration in his district, showing a total of 21,703, complied with law out of a population of 31,884.

PRINCETON.—A bale of hospital supplies valued at $56 was sent off yesterday by the Patriotic League, and a bale of second-hand clothing to the Friends of France.

KERWOOD.—What might have proved a serious accident happened yesterday, when Silverwood's truck ran into Mrs. McLaughlin's mail-carrier buggy, smashing it badly. Mrs. McLaughlin escaped with a shaking up and several bruises.

WOODSTOCK.—At the cheese board yesterday 575 boxes of colored cheese were offered. The highest bid was 22 cents, with no sales. On the curb the cheese sold for the same price.

SIMCOE.—The first peas of the season were delivered at the factory here on Monday evening. Threshing was in pregress yesterday, and it is expected that the first pack in the new building will be run today.

SHEDDEN.—Owing to the recent rains the crops through this district are looking fine. Some of the farmers have started to cut their hay, and report an exceptionally fine crop of clover on the new meadows, but the timothy is not as good as was expected.

WINGHAM.—In Turnberry Township statute labor now is the order of the day. Repairing of roads and sidewalks is employing a number at present.

Some nineteen Hespler district boys who have earned their "soldiers of the soil" medals, have been given their greater production badges.

Because a Blenheim merchant became suspicious of a stranger who tried to trade in an old Ford car on a new one, after repairs to the old machine had been made, he telephoned to the Chatham police, and as a result the man was arrested as a motor car thief.

Smallpox is reported to be spreading in Dawn Township and the board of health is taking active steps to halt the outbreak, which has been spread, it is claimed, by breaking of quarantine rules. There are now twelve cases in the township.

A grant of $25,000 for the Overseas Y. M. C. A. has been asked from the Grey County Council. The I. O. D. E. and Women's Patriotic Association of the county have asked for $40,000 for their work.

S. J. Parkerf, county treasurer of Grey since 1878, has tendered his resignation.

Kitchener expects to pass the $75,000 mark in its patriotic campaign which closed last night. More than $60,000 has been subscribed.

LIVER TROUBLE AND HEARTBURN
CURED BY
MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

When the liver is torpid and inflamed it cannot furnish bile to the bowels, causing them to become bound and costive.

The symptoms are a feeling of fulness or weight in the right side, and shooting pains in the same region, pains between the shoulders, yellowness of the skin and eyes, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills gently unlock the secretions, clear away all effete and waste matter from the system, and give tone and vitality to the whole intestinal track, and are by far the safest and quickest remedy for all diseases or disorders of the liver.

Mrs. A. Cummings, Manchester, Ont., writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills some time, and can faithfully recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried a great many other remedies, but they only relieved me for a time. I believe Laxa-Liver Pills to be a valuable remedy for all sufferers from liver troubles."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHINING FOR NEGOTIATIONS.

NO LONGER does Richard von Kuehlmann, German foreign secretary, expect or hope for peace through the "good German sword"; he is convinced that the weapons of war available to Germany will not succeed in beating down the defences of the Allies and making of them defeated nations. He says: "In view of the magnitude of this war and the numbers of powers, including those from overseas, that are engaged, its end can hardly be expected through purely military decisions alone and without resource to diplomatic negotiations."

In stating this point of view, Kuehlmann would have it accepted as fact that neither side can reach its objective through force of arms. The Allies are not willing to agree with this, but go only so far as to say Germany cannot reach her goal. Naturally, Kuehlmann could not admit the possibility of unconditional Teutonic defeat, but Germans know that there is a probability that he who seeks to rule by the sword shall perish by the sword.

In negotiations there is one essential which Kuehlmann recognizes and emphasizes and here lies the greatest stumbling block. He says: "Once the moment arrives, when, I care not to prophesy, that the nations which are at present locked in battle will exchange peace views, one of the preliminary conditions must be certain degrees of mutual confidence in each other's HONESTY and CHIVALRY."

After what has occurred in Belgium and France and by air raids on England, there can be no belief in German chivalry, because it has been proved non-existent. It is useless to reiterate the proofs since they are fresh in the mind of everyone. Honesty! We have only to look at Russia, where Germany was offered her latest opportunity to exhibit any shred of honesty left in her, to find that this quality is as extinct as chivalry in the official Teutonic make up.

It has been said, time and again, that negotiations can be conducted only with a new German Government which speaks for and with the full authority of the German people and is able to give acceptable pledges of its good faith and power to carry out any agreement which may be reached. This condition still remains.

There is at the beginning of Kuehlmann's speech to the Reichstag, a peculiar admission that the German Government did start the war, although in the same breath he accuses Russia of doing so. He combines this admission with an insinuation, probably unintentional, that the kaiser and his government are not responsible for their actions. He says: "I do not believe any responsible man in Germany, not even the emperor or the members of the Imperial Government, even for a moment, believed they could win the domination of Europe by starting the war," and from this goes on to show what Germany's hopes and desires embody.

ENGINEERS HONORED.

A PRAISEWORTHY practice has been inaugurated by the C. P. R. in naming after engineers with long and meritorious records the engines these men still preside over. The driver of an engine follows a hazardous and most responsible calling. He is more than a driver and much of an expert mechanic. He has always been close to the heart of the public, and there must be merited self-satisfaction in decorations such as have been received by George Blencoe of this city, whose picture appears in The Advertiser.

HONESTY, THE BEST POLICY.

IF THERE IS any position, anywhere, which required the utmost integrity possible to humanity, the broadest mind, the clearest judgment and the spirit of fairplay intensified, it is that of a high military authority who holds the fate of subordinates in his hands. Lucky, indeed, is the country in which men who maintain such standards hold the reins of power.

In almost all lines of business or endeavor, the harshly or unfairly-treated man has an opportunity to appeal judgments by his immediate superiors and to obtain justice, whether at the hands of those higher up or by the action of his fellow-employees, but in the army no such chance exists. Every war that has been fought has produced its quota of instances in which officers have been removed from commands or transferred to other posts, not because they have failed, but because the choice lay between this action and disciplining of someone higher in rank. It is a custom of the world to demand someone's head for every mishap, but it is not always the blameworthy head which falls into the basket. Nevertheless with the facts not open to the public, it is generally sufficient and satisfying that punishment is inflicted and when this has been done "the tumult and the shouting" die down.

"Honesty is the best policy." It is an old maxim, the pet of those who have succeeded, who quote it with gusto whenever their success is mentioned. None has been bold enough to say that honesty brings the best material results in this world. The individual who is honest has a store of happiness locked up in his own consciousness, into which others cannot break and which they cannot steal, but he has not invariably the biggest bank balance, the most property or the largest share of the world's applause and appreciation. If the field marshal, the general, the admiral or the head of a military or naval department were honest enough to confess his faults always and take the consequences he would stand high in his own opinion and in the opinion of some others, but he would not, under present conditions, hold his position, and he knows it. When the choice comes to him between confessing his sins or mistakes and blaming them on someone who has no "come-back," there is grave danger that he will embrace the alternative which leaves him untouched.

Honesty is the best policy. Some day the world, cleansed and purified, will realize it and demand it as a sine quo non in those who are placed in high authority. Today there is much discouragement for those who adopt the proverb for their personal guidance, but their justification will come in time.

AN ESSAY ON CRITICISM.

J. A. CROSS, a farmer residing near Brantford, was fined $500 for stating that "we had just as well be under Prussian rule as under Canadian." He also stated that the Government had treated exemptions granted to farmers before election as a "scrap of paper."

Concerning the decision The Advertiser would say:

(Censorship regulations framed by Union Government prevent it from being printed.)

Concerning the Government which thus protects itself from criticism we would add:

(Ditto regulations framed by ditto Government prevent this also from being printed.)

It's a shame to waste so much white space to indicate that one dare not discuss such a matter as the fining of the Tuela Heights farmer. But it may make the matter plain to our readers, even though it is quite dangerous to go thus far. Incidentally, this is one of the easiest ways to write editorials.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Why pick on Nicky?

Knocks at Union Government are now quoted at $500. Cheap or dear?

Austria has a new premier, but that wont feed the hungry. What she wants is a new alliance.

Hon. T. W. Crothers is now engaged in telling employers how to avoid labor troubles. Is this a "useful occupation" for him?

When a man is prohibited by regulation from stating his side of the case, the tendency of the public is to say he has "been made the goat."

That Piave River is too neutral altogether, first hindering the Austrians and then the Italians. Maybe it's always on the side of the under dog.

Nicholas Romanoff is still in the land of the living, it is said, despite the story of his murder. It would seem wanton slaughter to kill one who is now so harmless.

Editor of Forest Free Press will not be permitted to speak up in meeting, which will cause him to pass a resolution of censure upon the brethren who have locked up his favorite pastime, Free Speech.

Of course the Union Government is not Prussian. It is the most gentle and moderate and tolerant organization that ever drew breath or a big cheque. And when a man is fined $500 for calling it things, surely statements like the above in praise of it should cash in for at least a C. M. G.

LIVING WITH ONE'S SELF.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

The tiresomeness of the close affiliation of one's better nature and one's inferior nature has oppressed many pilgrims making the journey through this world. Repeatedly the higher is mortified by the lower, the angel in us is defeated by the brute, we pass from soaring to groveling. The philosopher tells us a man is entitled to be judged by what he is at his best—how often are we at our best? How long do we remain on the lofty plane of the spiritual and breathe rarefied air that tops the mount of vision? Most of the time we wander in the pestilential miasma of the valley of the shadow or the valley of decision.

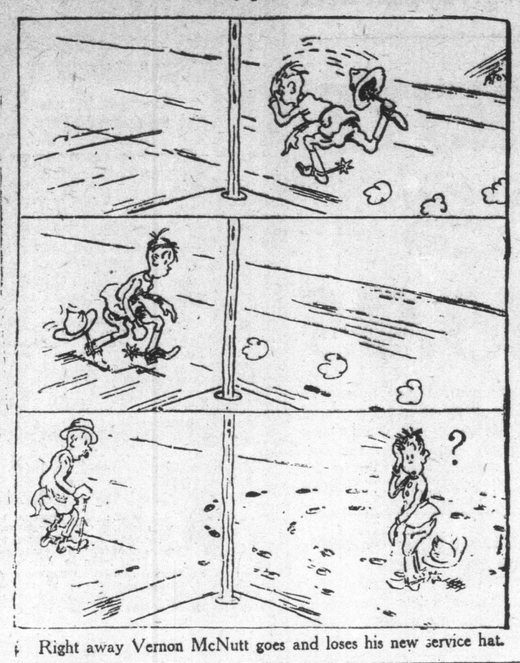

We may travel to the far ends of the earth. We cannot shake off this incubus nor divorce ourselves from this millstone of self. We must be friends with the creature or life becomes intolerable and we dwell in hell-torment unceasing. Repeatedly we long to travel back to the point where we were when we departed from the right way. If only we could reverse the action whereby we made blatant and ignominious asses of ourselves! But we have said the words we now regret, and we cannot unsay them. We have done the deed and it is past amendment. We are not dealing with a futurity, but with a past fatality—something that has occurred, irremediably.

It does no good to call a halt for morbid introspection, for a self-accusatory post-mortem. However heavy oe the heart in us, we must go on. We must turn our faces resolutely from old darkness to new light, away from eventide to the morning star. Life still is ours to live it. Every sunrise spells a fresh and fragrant opportunity. The one thing plentiful is God's forgiveness, after man's clemency is exhausted or disgusted.

In the new effort to which we must brace our being we must first come to an understanding with this recalcitrant, unruly self of ours. We must teach him that he cannot have his own way, unless his way is right. We must make no unworthy compromise, yet where we cannot force him we may persuade and lead him. We spend much time on diplomacy with strangers. We devote much effort to taking the point of view of those with whom we have dealings, social or commercial. Is it not worth while to become thoroughly acquainted with this treacherous, elusive, sly entity that dwells in our own bodies, that it may be persuaded to play fair with us, to stand by us, to befriend us? We cannot afford to have an indwelling trickster who betrays and who brings to ruin every happy dream and every holy aspiration. We cannot hope for success in the noblest reading of that term till we have made soul and body join hands and forces and work together for our good, for the help of those who toil and travail and for the sake of all this needy and suffering world of ours.

FOR THE LOVE OF PETE.

By Imes MacDonald.

Mabel Wells was as winsome as twenty, as buxom as thirty, and as wise as forty, and yet she was none of these. A woman would have said she was thirty-five—a man, twenty-five, but as a matter of fact she was none of these, either. She was entirely twenty-eight, admitted every year, month and day of it, and smiled when she did so, serenely and brightly smiled, whether you looked skeptical or doubtful.

In her graver moments, or hours, I should say, Mable was private secretary to the Honorable Peter Hobb, one time senator in the legislature of the great state of Ohio, and for all time the richest man in Bellington. The Honorable Peter Hobb, although only forty-one, was also the most dignified man north of the equator and south of the north pole. He radiated dignity—he oozed it. He lifted his hat with the same precise lift every time he met a woman of his acquaintance, and bowed his head at just the right angle, with never a variation. And during the four years in which Mabel had been his secretary he had never treated her other than as if she were a duchess at a diplomat's ball, with all the courtesy of a Chinese mandarin.

And yet notwithstanding all of this perfection of treatment on the part of her employer, Mabel had disgraced herself. She had chewed the dignified hand that fed her, as it were she had—but what's the use!

When a friendly, sprightly, here-I-am and here-I'm-not sort of a girl as was Mabel Wells, rises up in the office of her employer, shoves back the chair from her desk, slams a book down on its paper-littered top with a bang and yells out in disgusted tones right in the face of a dignified man like the Honorable Peter Hobb—"for the love of Pete! you make me sick," and then marches out of his office in the middle of the afternoon and doesn't come back the next morning, you may know that something would be liable to happen.

"I just couldn't help it," she told her mother that night. "He just lets that nephew of his work him to a standstill. It will ruin the boy, and he's too nice a youngster to be ruined that way. The idea! With all those bills coming in every month and getting bigger all the time, and he never says a word!"

"But, Mabel, just think what you said, his name is Peter, dear, and you said, 'for the love of Pete!' He'll think—oh, my, what will he think? Of course, you're fired."

"I don't care if I am," said Mabel, spunkily. "The nerve of him asking me if I'd take Billy Hobb in hand and marry him just to make him behave—even supposing I could!"

But Mabel's voice was as calm as a kitten's slumber as she answered the telephone, at ten-thirty the next morning, and I regret to say that she slipped her hand over the transmitter and giggled, when she heard the voice of her employer on the wire.

"Are you ill, this morning, Miss Wells?"

"Oh, no," blythely.

"Well—er—you were late—and—I—er thought you might be ill."

"I thought I was fired," said Mabel.

"Fired? Oh, no, and you see, I can't seem to find anything this morning. If you could arrange to get over as soon as possible, Miss Wells, I would appreciate it."

Thirty minutes later Mabel entered the office and pitched into her work. There was a pile of bills to be checked off, and checks to write for each bill, besides a dozen letters. The bills were statements from Billy Hobb's creditors, and one of the letters was to Billy himself. The letter was of Mabel's own composition, and it was to the point:

"My Dear Boy,—Needless to say, I'm covering your accounts as usual. Also I'm sending you check for a hundred, which will be enough and more to get you home. I'm expecting you to begin work at the plant on the first of the month.

"As you know, if you had displayed any particular talent in any line at all I would be glad to extend our present arrangement to that end, but such has not been the case. As far as I can see, your only talent lies in spending money and feeding chickens.

"I want to have a good time myself one of these days, and if I'm ever to have it, you've got to be able to take things in hand here. In order to do that, you'll have to get in now.

"Your Affectionate Uncle."

The Honorable Peter looked over the checks hurriedly and signed them, but he signed the letters without looking at them at all, while his secretary smiled demurely as she placed them in the mail.

Peter Hobb had ignored the surprising flareup of his secretary, and the days passed the same as before until the stiff formality and rigid curtesy of her long-time superior again got on Mabel's nerves. She had stood it for four years, and one afternoon she got frantic enough to fly.

"If he'd only swear, sometimes," she thought to herself, "or kick over the waste basket. If he'd only let go of himself once, the pompous thing."

And a smile trickled the corner of her mouth, and when a woman smiles to herself she's planning something, and when a woman is planning something, look out!

When she left that afternoon, the Honorable Peter Hobb, following his usual custom, arose from his desk and bowed to her stiffly.

"Good-night, Miss Wells," he said gravely, just as he had done every work-day night for four long years.

"Good-night, Peter Prim, you stiff thing," laughed Mabel Wells, as she vanished through the door.

And he stood there in perplexed wonderment, gazing at the door that slammed behind her, until a grin slowly spread over his sober face.

"Funny thing—a woman!" is what he said. But what he thought was entirely different. It had to do with what his private secretary might be expected to do under a given circumstance. Take kissing, for example.

But during the next afternoon, the Honorable Peter was out and his wayward nephew strolled into his uncle's private office.

"Hello, fair one!" he greeted Mabel familiarly.

"I'm glad you're here, Billy," said Mabel. "Do you know that your uncle's been trying to get me to marry you?" she laughed. "What do you think of that?"

"Honestly?" grinned Billy. "I always was a lucky guy." And forthwith he reached out and caught Mabel by the forearms.

"Behave yourself, Billy," she was laughing, when the door opened and Peter Hobb entered.

"Look here, Bill," he said grimly, "if you must hug my private secretary, kindly arrange to do it after office hours!"

"Don't be foolish, Peter," said Mabel demurely. "He wasn't hugging me at all. He was only trying to the fresh youngster. I am perfectly able to take care of myself as well as the proprieties of the office, thank you. Now, Billy," she said, squinting up her fine eyes and facing the nephew determinedly, "it's time you were helping your Uncle Peter. You will report to the foreman of the shipping department at eight o'clock tomorrow morning. Salary sixty dollars to start—a month, that is. And no fooling, understand me."

"Yours truly, Boss," laughed Billy, as he bowed low before going out the door.

For a moment the Honorable Peter Hobb started at his secretary in amazement, and then at the letter she had written to his nephew, the one he had signed without reading.

"He's a good boy," she smiled, "only you were spoiling him, Peter."

But Peter Hobb waved the subject of his nephew impatiently, and stood over his small secretary stiffly.

"A—a while ago you know," he was saying awkwardly, "I was—I guess I was jealous of the suit, Mabel dear, I—I—"

"I knew, Peter, I—I knew you were," said Mabel Wells, shyly.

While from the door, where Billy Hobb had returned to enter his blonde head for the last word, come a stern voice:

"Look here, aunty! If you must kiss my private uncle, kindly arrange to do it after office hours."

And some such arrangements were subsequently made.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren C. Partridge.

Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

JIMMY COON TAKES MRS. JIMMY ONCE MORE TO THE SHOW.

Jimmy Coon promised his wife that she should see the last performance of the Great Crane Show. On the last night there was always some extra attraction which drew a big crowd.

And Jimmy and Mrs. Jimmy went awfully early to get front seats, 'way up in that private box in the top balcony. The very first people of Mirror Pond were all there—such well-known and prominent people as the Skunks, the Possums, the Porcupines, the Beavers, the Otters and the Muskrats, all in their best clothes and their most costly furs.

Everybody craned their necks to see the Cranes. The last performance always drew a full house, and all the people went from miles around. Of all the antics you ever saw, the Great Crane Show pulled off the funniest that last night. All the Crane Family were on their highest Stilts, and there was some very high dancing that last night.

They danced and tried to show off their charms, and attract attention.

Mrs. Beaver, sitting in a private box, in her expensive furs, leaned over and whispered to Mrs. Otter, who was just as elegantly gowned. "Mrs. Otter, I am certainly shocked to see what I have seen tonight. You know, 'there is no fool like an old fool!' and it is horrid to see those oldest Bachelors, old enough to know better, skipping around like young kids. I am thankful that Mr. Beaver has some dignity, and knows how to behave, and doesn't act like a Clown!"

And Mrs. Otter nodded her head with a very knowing wink, and looked with pride at the sedate Mr. Otter, who sat in the end-seat, as straight as a ramrod. Of all the hopping and skipping and dancing you ever saw in your life, this, on the last night, was the funniest.

And all the Crane family danced on their high Stilts, and they all tried to sing. And the Crane voices seemed so high that Jimmy Coon whispered to his wife: "Mrs. Jimmy, I think the Crane voices are on Stilts too, for they are awfully high!"

And they all were such high kickers that Mrs. Skunk hid her blushing face behind her black fur fan. And as the Crane family danced and sang, or squawked, it seemed as if they were all crazy. It was like an Indian War Dance.

And the most laughable sight was to see them all get so excited and tired that you feared they would all get dizzy and fall flat. But the most shocking sight was to see the ladies in the Crane Family try to win Mates for themselves; and as they danced and tried to show off their charms, and attract attention, Mrs. Jimmy whispered, "Jimmy, I am certainly shocked to see the Ladies of the North try to win Mates! I never saw such a sight in the South. Come quick, Jimmy, I don't want you to look at such sights!"

And Mrs. Jimmy had to drag Jimmy by his left ear, to get him to leave the Great Crane Show.

RED CROSS AND C. W. C. A. COLUMN

Getting the Counties Lined Up.

There was much an interesting story in one of the papers the other day about the Red Cross work done in Lincoln County, with headquarters at St. Catharines. Those who read it could not help wishing they might see their own county and its work put into print in the same way. And now that we have our new organizing secretary, Mrs. A. T. Edwards, who is ready to bring the forces of each county into closer relationship with each other, there is no reason why we should not have a grand county review some day next autumn, and just see who bears the banner for war work in Military District No. 1.

The sooner each county is organized, the better, for it is hoped that a plan for a county grant of money for all Red Cross work can be carried through. This surely is the only right way. It really isn't fair that the women should spend the precious hours that ought to be put on socks and sheets and shirts, in rushing round getting up bazaars and teas and concerts and socials to raise money for their society. Let the men provide the money and just see what a tremendous output of work there will be.

"But won't this plan raise your taxes?" asked a friend of a farmer.

"Yes, I think my Red Cross tax would amount to about $1.50," he answered cheerfully. "I'll get it out of a couple of baskets of tomatoes."

It doesn't seem much to give to the care of our wounded men, and it really is ridiculously small, but that is because the burden will be evenly distributed. Ask the organizing secretary to come and arrange your affairs, so that no time will be lost.

Our Sisters in France.

The money for France is beginning to come in. It cannot come too fast. All our circles in Military District No. 1 are being asked to give what they can to this most needy cause. Some of us are beginning to find our own Red Cross work a bit wearing, and think what a trifle our task is compared with what the women of France must do. They have accomplished miracles. Their sacrifice and endurance will read like a tale of high romance when it is placed on the brightest pages of history. It is an honor that we Canadian women can have even a very small share in their splendid labor of love. Let us gladden the aching hearts of the women of France by a big generous gift.

"Just Like Being at Home."

"I am quite satisfied to be where I am today," says a wounded boy lying in one of our Red Cross hospitals. "Because it's just like being at home." We women are the home-makers of the world, and we surely deserve the honorable title when we have been able to bring a home to a wounded boy far away in France. He must have known that even the sheets on his bed and the little kit bag at his side with all the "comforts" in it were fashioned by mother hands far away in his home land. And that is why it was "Just like being at home."

MARIAN KEITH,
Press Secretary.

DAILY BIBLE QUESTION CLUB

May 12.—Jesus faces the cross.—Mark x., 32-52. Golden Text: "He humbled himself, becoming obedient even unto death, yea, the death of the cross."—Philippians ii., 8.

6. Verse 48.—What is the ground for assurance that God in some gracious way answers every persistent prayer? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

May 19.—Jesus exercises kingly authority.—Mark xi., 1-33. Golden Text: "All authority hath been given until me in heaven and on earth."—Matthew xxviii., 18.

7. Verse 12.—What evidence is there that Jesus had the same appetites and human passions as other normal men, and that he was subject to weariness and other human limitations?

Golden Text: "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotton Son that whosoever believeth on him should not perish but have eternal life."—John iii., 16. "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."—Matthew xvi., 16. "I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.—Romans i.,16.

PETER'S SUPERNATURAL KNOWLEDGE.

The words of our second text were spoken by Peter to Christ, and his response to these words were: "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-Jona, for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my father which is in heaven." This seems to indicate that no person can know of his own knowledge concerning the divinity of Christ, except by a supernatural process. Christ can only be known as he is revealed to us by the Holy Spirit; he may be known as a man, or, as we may say, after the flesh; but no person can actually know him as the only begotten Son of God but by special revelation. We may admire Christ as a greatly good man, as a philosopher, and a man of extraordinary power, but to know him as the Christ of God is a personal revelation.

EMBRO.—The regular weekly Embro and West Zorra Red Cross meeting was held in the council chambers, being attended by twenty-one members. The time was busily spent in knitting and sewing shirts for the soldier boys. It is the wish of this society for each member to ask some woman who hasn't been in the habit of attending to come to the meeting on Tuesday next.

BURGESSVILLE. — The summer series meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Friday afternoon, June 28, at the home of Mrs. William Holland, at 2:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all the ladies of the community.

A garden party, under the auspices of the C.O.O.F., will take place on Thursday evening, July 4, at the home of Mr. John A. Sims, the proceeds to be in aid of the Red Cross.

KINGSVILLE.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Taylor was the scene of a pleasant gathering, when the young ladies' class of the Salem Sabbath School entertained the elderly ladies and gentlemen of the community. The guests arrived early in the afternoon and were received by Mrs. Taylor and different members of the class. The afternoon was spent in old-time visiting and old-time songs, after which dinner was served. The tables were decorated with roses and sweet william. The oldest guest present was Mr. Thomas H. Wigle, aged 85, while nearly all had passed the three score and ten mark. After dinner Rev. George King addressed the company.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL BOX

Garden Party Attractions.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please give me some suggestions re attractions for a garden party? We have such booths as fishing pond and fortune-telling, but would like more.

Thanking you in anticipation, and also any reader who might be able to suggest something, I am, yours truly,
RENE.

Ans.—A "pound" booth is apt to attract, and may prove quite a source of income. Those in charge may "beg, borrow or steal" from friend or foe, provisions of any kindy whatever, weighing one pound. Thus some friend may donate a pound of rice, another a pound of tea, and so on. These may be displayed as attractively as possible, and sold at the booth at regular prices.

Another idea, and one which creates considerable amusement, is to conduct a "postoffice." The booth may be erected to simulate a small postoffice; a quantity of "letters" prepared beforehand, and a large number of blank envelopes provided. When John Jones, a popular bachelor, inquires for mail he is told that for the sum of 5 cents he may receive it. While the "postmistress" is collecting the toll, her assistant will hurriedly be addressing a letter to Mr. Jones. Upon opening the envelope he may find it to be from an admiring lady of fictitious name, of course. A parcel post department may be established, and with a little ingenuity the committee may create harmless fun, and materially add to the proceeds of the affair.

Constant Reader.

"Constant Reader."—Have handed your query to the editor of the military questions, so please watch his column for a reply.

Doing Man's Work.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is a long time since I visited the Mail-Box. I had intended writing much sooner, but was unfortunate enough to fall and break my right arm. It was most painful, but is doing well now. During the time I was unable to write or work I found The Advertiser to be a good friend. I certainly enjoyed "the page." "Sunflower" has written some most interesting letters, and I was so pleased that "Meg Hamilton" defended "Sunflower" the way she did. I, too, thought "Ianthe" too hard on "Sunflower."

I wonder how many of Mail-Box correspondents are doing a man's work? I am, and enjoy my work. No, it is not on a farm, but in a shop. The work is not heavy but steady.

Now, Miss Grey, I think this is about enough for this time, or you won't want me to call again. Sincerely yours,
MELBA.

Ans.—Oh, but we do, "Melba," just any time you feel like it. So be careful of the broken arm and pen a letter again soon.

For a Rose Jar.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please arrange to have printed in the column of the paper which you use the prescription for a pot-pourl or rose jar? I know it has been printed before, but will you please have it put in again?

Thanking you in advance, I am yours sincerely,
J. D. L. W.

Ans.—Some one asked for this the other day, and I could find no formula among my clippings. Since then, however, I have clipped this from the Canadian Countryman, and hope you find it quite satisfactory:

"Gather the blossoms on a warm, bright, sunny day, when there is no dew, separate the petals, place a layer half an inch thick in the rose jar and sprinkle a half teaspoonful of salt over them, add another half-inch layer and salt, and continue adding new petals and salt till the jar is nearly full; then let stand ten days, being careful to stir the whole each day.

One-quarter oz. mace, ½ oz. allspice (pounded in a mortar), ½ oz. cinnamon (stick broken in bits), ½ grated nutmeg, 1 oz. powdered orris root, ½ lb. dried lavender flowers.

Mix together all these spices in a bowl. Empty the rose jar of its "stock" and proceed to refill it with alternate layers of "stock" and spices, scattering a few drops of several essential oils of rose, bitter almonds or geranium on each layer as you go along. When the jar is full, pour 1 oz. of toilet water over the whole. These ingredients will fill a 2-qt. jar.

Wants Farm Work.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I am a little girl who will be fourteen years old in October, and would like very much to work on a farm. Could you find a suitable place for me among your readers? I can mind a baby, housecleaning and do garden work, for I used to stay on a farm with my aunt.

Hoping to see this in the paper soon, as I would like to go out to a farm on Friday, if possible, I am EDITH.

Which Lodge Is It?

Dear Miss Grey,—A short time ago I heard that some lodge in the city wanted to collect old newspapers, sell them and use the proceeds to buy smokes for the soldiers in the trenches. I wonder if you or any of your readers could tell me the name and address of the person in charge of the work, as we have a large supply of papers and magazines that we would like to have converted into smokes. L. W.

Ans.—Personally I have not been able to locate the name of any lodge engaged in this line of patriotic work. Should welcome any information for this reader's benefit.

A Few Questions.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is only a few days since I wrote to your page before, but I want to ask a few questions this time, please. Could I get a blue serge coat dyed black, and where?

Is there a ladies' battalion in Canada? If so, where could I write for information? Are girls of the teen age taken as recruits? A SOLDIER'S GIRL.

Ans.—No doubt any of the city dyers could do the work for you. I cannot give addresses here, but look over the advertising columns and you will be apt to find the name of a reliable firm.

2. As was explained in an article on this page last week, there is a battalion in Winnipeg, and just now steps are being taken to organize one in this city. Girls under 20 are not being accepted, however.

"Lassie's" Recipe for Peas.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you kindly reprint on your page the recipe for canning green peas. It appeared on your page last summer, and I was sure I had saved the paper, but cannot find it now. I tried a few then, and they were just fine, but I cannot remember the exact rule for the canning. The peas were put in the jars and a teaspoonful of salt and one of sugar added, but I forget the rest of it and how long they had to be steamed. Thanking you in advance and trusting that I may be able to help some one else in turn tome time, I am, sincerely yours, BECKY ANN.

Ans.—Now, while there have been more than one recipe for canned peas printed in our column, I have a "hunch" that the one "Becky Ann" asks for is that supplied last year by "Lassie." Unfortunately, I have not the clipping of this, but am sincerely hoping some one else has and will be good enough to supply it. Now, who can oblige?

Seventy Years Young.

Dear Miss Grey,—In reading the Mail-Box the other morning, I noticed "A Reader" asking for information anent the quotation, "Then the future becomes the present, and the present the past." Oddly enough, the same day I came across it in a book I was reading. As the book is of no value, I have cut out the paragraph containing the quotation and will inclose it for the benefit of "A Reader." The title of said book is "A Blonde Creole," by Alice Howard Hilton. It is not a book to be recommended; it is too mushy. The inclosed clipping, I think, is the best piece in it. Now, dear Miss Grey, please don't think I am in the habit of reading "mushy" love stories. I don't care for them at any time, and in these strenuous times it would be inexcusable to waste time on them, but I met with an accident recently, and very much against my will I am forced to be comparatively idle. I have been trying to do my bit; have been footing a sock a day on an average, besides considerable other work. Can still knit a little and hope to be able to be at full tilt again ere long. At the best, my record is small, when compared with what some other old ladies have done. With best wishes to yourself and all the pageites, I remain,
SEVENTY YEARS YOUNG."

"How easy it is to laugh in the glad broad beams of the sun's bright rays, when we think the black night of trouble and sorrow is far behind us.

"How quickly the sorrows and troubles of the past are forgotten—those troubles that we thought would ever live in our memory. And how they cease to fester and ache, as time spreads its healing balm over the wounds, and bids us smile again. Troubles of the future are often exaggerated, magnified and shunned—till they cannot be averted any longer, then the future becomes the present, and the present the past; when we laugh again and say 'they were not so bad as we anticipated.' "—From a Blonde Creole.

Ans.—Dear lady of the youthful heart, we'd be glad to hear from you, even if you read a dime novel every day! It was an odd coincidence your coming across that quotation just after reading the inquiry. Now here's a sincere hope that your "enforced holiday" may not be of too long duration.

War times are teaching us that there is no economy in buying the cheapest goods nor the fancy high priced ones. We are depending on the solid values of the good standard brands—the brands that were good in peace time and have doubly proved their worth in war time.

Red Rose Tea—costing today only about ¼ of a cent per cup—is one of the solid war time values that anyone can afford—and that everyone will enjoy.

It is truly a war time tea

Giants Shut Out Boston, While Cubs Trim Cards 1 to 0.

BOSTON, June 26.—New York had an easy time winning the third game of the series today, 9 to 0. Sallee was in fine fettle, allowing Boston but four hits. Hearne was hit hard, and Upham, who succeeded him, had his troubles, getting poor support. The hitting of Young and Zimmerman and the fielding of Fletcher featured. It was "war savings stamp day" with special exercises for the ballplayers. Zimmerman hit the $50 sign in left field, the first time it has been done. Score: R. H. E.

SECOND DAY OF SCOTCH DOUBLES TOURNEY FINDS SEVEN RINKS IN FIGHT FOR THE PREMIER HONORS

Keen Competition Marks Opening Session of Big Bowling Tournament at the Thistle Club — Many Close Finishes.

Surprises were the order at the opening day of the London Thistle Scotch doubles bowling tournament. In the first round of the first event several fine rinks were eliminated from the running. Competition was keen, however, in all games, and close finishes in many contests were recorded.

After the day's sport seven rinks found themselves still eligible for the premier honors, and these combinations commence play again this morning at 9 o'clock. The London Rowing Club is represented by three rinks which managed to survive the first three rounds. Turnbull and McDougall, winners of the first event last year, won all their games by fairly substantial margins, and play with the Ottawa rink comprising Skip Farrow and Shannon this morning. Connor and Ashplant and Webb and Hunt were the remaining L.-R. C. rinks successful in withstanding the attacks of their opponents in the opening day.

Rennie and McDonald and Vance and Taylor of Tillsonburg will offer stiff opposition in their games with the remainder of the successful bowlers today. Aikenhead and Trethewey of the London Thistles compose the only rink of the local north end club to come through the opening day without losing a game, and are sure to give a great exhibition of bowling in their games during the second session of the classic.

The sport yesterday was a great success, and today's games promise to be enjoyed to a greater degree than ever.

STRATFORD BOWLERS AFTER MINTEE CUP

Stratford bowlers have long looked with envious eyes at the Mintee trophy which reposes in the clubrooms of the Elmwood Bowling Club in this city, and they have now mustered their forces for an invasion of the local greens in an effort to carry away the precious silverware.

The natives from along the banks of the Avon River will arrive early this evening, and the first bowls will be rolled at 6 o'clock tonight at the Elmwood greens. Two rinks will make the trip from Stratford, and some snappy trundling will be in evidence before the smoke has cleared away. The Elmwood bowlers are out strong to hold the cup, and the matches should produce some keen work on both sides.

ST. LOUIS, June 26. — The St. Louis Americans may lose the services of Grover Lowdermilk, because of an injury to his pitching arm. He left today for Youngstown, Ohio, where he will consult a specialist.

HEADQUARTERS BOYS NOW LEAD MILITARY TEAMS IN FOOTBALL

An aggressive, fast game of soccer was played at Carling Heights last evening between Headquarters and the Army Medical Corps, resulting in a win for the former by 1 to 0. Competition between the two military teams has been marked since the commencement of the football season, which prompted players on both to put every effort into the game.

The winning goal was scored in the first half, when Pontin placed a sizzler between the A. M. C. posts that could not possibly have been stopped by the goal tender.

The headquarters team is undefeated, and now stands first in the Military Football League. The C. G. R. bunch come second, and the Meds are third on the list. The C. G. R. and A. M. C. teams will probably meet tomorrow and the outcome of the game will determine to a large extent whether the Headquarters team will have to fight for the Major C. O. Fairbank cup or grab the trophy without further effort. Should the C. G. R. team win they will offer serious competition for the present league leaders.

Bowes of Headquarters played a sterling game at centre, being on the ball all the time and feeding his wings regularly.

TEAMS FROM INGERSOLL AND WOODSTOCK TIE

INGERSOLL, June 26.—A ten-inning baseball game at Victoria Park tonight between a team representing the John Morrow Company and the Linderman nine of Woodstock resulted in a tie, 5 to 6. In the first of the ninth Lindermans were leading 6 to 5. Morrows tied the score in their half, and in the extra inning neither team made the circuit. A feature of the game was the pitching of Francis, a collegiate pupil here, who was a puzzle to Woodstock's heaviest hitters. The batteries: Morrow Co., Williams, Francis and Todd; Lindermann, Vance and Debrule. Umpire, W. G. Bloor.

BYRON BOYS TAKE MEASURE OF TISER BASEBALL STUDENTS

Insufficient Practice Was Too Great a Handicap for the Newspaper Nine.

Ruttle's bunch of Byron ball busters took the measure of the Terrible Tiser team at Springbank Park yesterday by 14 to 1. Fortune smiled on the khaki diamond demons, and all the breaks of the game went their way. Insufficient practice caused the newspapermen to be all pied up in the field, while they were handicapped with the hickory owing to the fact that the mascot forgot to bring along cricket bats to be used during the many emergencies that presented themselves. The lone Tiser tally was a three-bagger by Biggs, who walked home on a poor throw to third.

Tommy Bell, the brilliant moundsman of the trimmed nine, was good in the pinches, striking out no less than ten soldiers. However, poor support in the infield and practically no support in the outgarden is more than any pitcher can cope with, and Tommy was found to be no exception.

Either the ball must have been greased or padded, for the masters of journalism could not fathom Morley's delivery, which appeared to be nothing but a slow lob. Only five hits were garnered off the Byron slabman.

The Tisers specialized in errors, losing a great many more balls than they found. The muff of an easy fly in the fifth inning by the newspapermen's second baseman was unforgivable, and the offending player should have been benched for his childish exhibition.

The Byron soldiers have been feeding on raw meat for the past three weeks in preparation for the game, and their victory is therefore not extraordinary. Lack of practice and bad luck was too great a handicap for the Advertiser team, and its defeat is accepted with the knowledge that next time there will be a different tale to tell. Summary:

Sworn Statement of the Composition of the Formula of Nuxated Iron.

How It Helps To Increase Strength and Build Up Delicate Nervous, Rundown Folks.

The board of directors have authorized the broadcast publication of the sworn statement of the composition of the formula of Nuxated Iron, so that the public may examine it for themselves and judge as to its merits. It is conservatively estimated that this remarkable formula is now being used by over three million people annually. Among those who have used and strongly indorsed it are many physicians who have been connected with the best hospitals and medical societies, Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, Former Presidential Cabinet Official-Secretary of the Treasury, Vice-Presidential Nominee Chas. A. Towne, former members of Congress; distinguished U. S. Army Generals (Retired), Judge Atkinson of the United States Court of Claims at Washington and Former Health Commissioner Kerr of Chicago.

Newspapers everywhere are invited to copy this statement for the benefit of their readers. It is suggested that physicians make a record of it and keep it in their offices so that they may intelligently answer questions of patients concerning it. Everybody is advised to cut it out and keep it. A copy of the actual sworn statement will be sent to anyone who desires such. It is as follows:

Cut this Out

Sworn statement of the composition of the formula of Nuxated Iron

Iron Peptonate (Special specific standard) (Quantity given below).
Sodium Glycerophosphates U. S. P. (Monsanto).
Cascarine Bitter Magnesium Carbonate Po. Ginger U. S. P. Oil Cassia Cinnamon U. S. P. Calcium Carbonate Precip. U. S. P.

Each dose of two tablets of Nuxated Iron contains one and one-half grains of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate, of a special specific standard, which in our opinion possesses superior qualities to any other known form of iron. By using other makes of Iron Peptonate we could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost to us, and by using metallic iron we could have accomplished the same thing at less than one-twelfth the cost; but by so doing we must have most certainly impaired their therapeutic efficacy. Glycerophosphates used in Nuxated Iron is one of the most expensive tonic ingredients known. It is especially recommended to build up the nerve force and thereby increases brain power, as glycerophosphates are said to contain phosphorus in that particular state so similar to that in which it is found in the nerve and brain cells of man.

As will be seen from the above, two important ingredients of Nuxated Iron (Iron Peptonate and Glycerophosphates) are very expensive products as compared with most other tonics.

Under such circumstances the temptation to adulteration and substitution by unscrupulous persons, is very great and the public is hereby warned to be careful and see every bottle is plainly labeled "Nuxated Iron" by the Dae Health Laboratories, Paris, London, and Detroit, U. S. A., as this is the only genuine article. If you have taken other forms of iron without success, this does not prove Nuxated Iron will not help you. We guarantee satisfaction to every purchaser or your money will be refunded.

Take Nuxated Iron for Red Blood, Strength and Endurance.

In regard to the value of Nuxated Iron, Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago, and former House Surgeon Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, says it has proven through his own tests of it to excel any preparation he has ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves and strengthening the muscles. Dr. J. W. Armisted, Grove Hill, Ala., graduate of the University of Alabama School of Medicine, Mobile, 1883, says: "In the cases I used Nuxated Iron I have found more beneficial results than from any preparation I have ever used in 34 years' practice." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital (outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "Contrary to general opinion, lack of iron in the blood does not necessarily mean you do not have enough blood, but it means your blood is not of the right kind. If you feel tired in the morning; restless at night; if you suffer from weakness or lack of vitality, go to your family doctor and have him take a specimen of your blood and examine it, and if it shows iron deficiency, get him to give you a prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Do this so as to be sure that you do not get hold of some of the numerous forms of metallic iron preparations on the market which may do you more harm than good. Or if you do not want to go to this trouble, purchase an original package of Nuxated Iron and see for yourself that the words Nuxated Iron appear on the package—Not Nux and not any other form of iron than Nuxated Iron."

Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it no matter how much you eat or what you eat your food only passes through you without doing any good, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, sickly looking, just like a plant in soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous, rundown folks in two weeks' time. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

Dining in Instalments One Solution of Digestion Ills

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

You may not have trouble with your digestion as soon as you "bolt" a meal, though this very often is true if you are a naturally dyspeptic person. But this does not mean that you are going to be free for the rest of your days from pain in the stomach.

Pain may come to you one or two hours after you have eaten or five or six hours later, or it may not come to you for days. You then have what is called a delayed pain, which may grip you in the middle of the night and take you by surprise.

Delayed pain usually occurs in the abdomen—the regions of the stomach and intestines. From here the pain sometimes radiates toward the spinal column and works through the spaces of the spinal bones around the ribs. When the pain is as extensive as this, it is usually very severe, and is accompanied by a burning sensation, cramps, a sort of twisting in the abdominal regions. It is apt also to be quite as agonizing as extensive.

Symptoms and Causes.

The features of the sufferer may be drawn, his face pale, and he may experience a feeling of weakness and irritability to the extent of collapse. This may be a neuralgic pain in the stomach, and often makes the patient moan and curl up in bed, hold his stomach with both hands, while cold perspiration covers his face. His feet become cold, and altogether he is in a state of torture.

The sufferer may also have an excessive secretion of saliva which is an automatic aim of the human mechanism to neutralize some of the overabundant gas present. This is accompanied by pains in the breastoone. A feeling of nausea often culminates in actual vomiting, and when this stage is reached the patient almost invariably gets relief.

The agony of pain like this can at once be decreased if the patient is given food. If you have seen a person who suffers from digestion disorders you have probably noticed that if he is given water to drink and a few morsels to eat the pain subsides. Many persons who have so deteriorated in health as to have frequent attacks of gastric trouble can overcome their ailment very largely if they permit digestion to go on every minute of the day. To do this, distribute your meals throughout the day, so that instead of having three meals, have six. A little food, frequently taken, is much better than a great deal of food taken a few times a day.

It must be remembered, to be sure, that pain of this sort does not come to attack the individual over night. It is, as a rule, the result of a long process of deterioration, due probably, to negligence or abuse of the bodily mechanism. Like the root of many a disease, overwork enters here, too, to create mischief.

Overwork by itself is not quite as harmful as when accompanied by other circumstances. One evil, however, is hardly left to trail along without a train of other evils. Overwork is usually accompanied by lack of fresh air, an unfortunate condition, because the bodily machinery is actually robbed of its necessary spark to light the fuel in it, burn or oxidize the food, and prepare it for absorption into the tissues and muscles.

Some Simple Aids.

In addition to hard work and lack of fresh air, you will also notice that food is incorrectly eaten, and as a result, poorly digested by a person inclined to overwork. Sufficient time is usually not given to mastication, and the result is that food is swallowed in "chunks."

Not only is the food swallowed in large pieces, and not a deep breath, a few stretching exercises or a short walk taken, but you perhaps apply yourself quickly and suddenly to your work and neglect your bodily welfare and so allow mischief to begin. Thus it happens that you are the cause of your own downfall. You may feel a burning sensation once in a while," and try to ignore it, and although you perhaps work without sufficient exercise and fresh air from day to day "without feeling bad" the day of reckoning is bound to come.

If the taking of food does not give relief when the pain attacks you, take some alkaline solution such as chalk, magnesia or bicarbonate of soda. These will neutralize much of the surplus acid in your mechanism and thus give you relief. Of these powders, bicarbonate of soda is best to take, for that creates the quickest action; it works in about ten minutes.

Do not take any of these powders dissolved in water, but place them on the tip of your tongue and take a swallow of water afterward. This method will prove more effective and will bring relief sooner.

If you have been troubled two or three times with these stomach pains, put yourself on a diet of milk. Drink about four pints a day in divided doses until you have made for yourself quite a good foundation to protect yourself against the recurrence of these pains. Later you may add vegetables to your diet. Finally you may resume your ordinary diet, with precautions in taking food, against overwork and lack of fresh air.

Answers to Health Questions

GEORGE M. W. Q.—Please tell me how I can make my hair lighter.

A.—Washing the hair frequently, going without a hat, and not using soap on it will help to make the hair light.

A. P. Q.—What can I do for granulated eyelids?

A.—This is a warning to have an oculist search your eyes and a physician to look after your general health. Apply to the eyelids and eyelashes each night a little of 2 grains of yellow oxide of mercury to 1 dram of vaseline.

C. L. L. Q.—What can be done for an itching face?

A.—Try a little of the following lotion:

Pink calamine	2½ drams
Zinc oxide	2 drams
Glycerine	2 drams
Phenol	30 drops
Limewater	2 ounces
Rosewater	2 ounces

READER. Q.—Until a year ago last fall I never had a bad or tired feeling. At that time I began to have lazy and tired feelings. I lost weight from 160 pounds to 135 pounds. Please advise me.

A.—Go to a specialist or consult several of them. Loss of weight may be due to any one of several maladies that instant attention may cure.

J. E. W.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for enlarged nose pores.

A.—Massage, vibration and the use of a little harmless paste, such as lycopodium powder and glycerine, or borated cocoa butter, helps to fill them out.

A C. S., London, Ont. Q.—Would you kindly advise a remedy for numb hands?

A.—The causes of numbness in the hands or other parts of the body are very numerous. Have a physician find the cause by an examination.

How to Make Your Cleansing Creams at Home

BY LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

LUCREZIA BORI

The cold cream habit, though often carried to excess, is, nevertheless, one of the very best assurances against clogged pores. No matter how thoroughly you wash your face, or even scrub it with a soft camel's hair brush, the pores themselves cannot be cleansed thoroughly by any such a surface process. To relieve them of the particles of dust that adhere to them it is necessary to give the skin a delicate rubbing with the finger tips, lubricated by some good cream. In this way the pores are gently pressed open and cleansed. It is absolutely essential for the city women especially to give regular attention to this process, for it is impossible to avoid dust and grime in our city streets, and only a thoroughly cleansing process will keep the skin clean and clear.

Some women object to the frequent use of cold cream on the ground that "it grows hair." It is true that cold cream with a vaseline base may encourage the growth of hair, for vaseline, as is generally known, is excellent for this purpose. However, there are dozens of excellent cold creams on the market that do not contain vaseline, and which can be used regularly. However, if you prefer, you can make your own cold cream at home with little trouble.

A reader asks for some recipes for a cleansing cream that contains neither alcohol nor rosewater. Here are two that are minus these ingredients, but delightful, nevertheless:

Oriental Orange Cream.

4 ounces oil of sweet almonds.
6 drams of white wax.
6 drams of spermaceti.
2 drams of borax.
1½ ounces glycerine.
15 drops oil of neroli.
15 drops oil of orange skin.

Melt the oil of sweet almonds, the wax and the spermaceti, and add to it the orange flower water. Dissolve the borax in the mixture, and then pour it slowly into the blended fats, stirring constantly.

When applying cream to your face be sure to rub the skin upward and outward with a rotary motion, and rub very gently. Don't hold the muscles of the face rigid or in any unnatural position. Let your face relax into a natural expression, and try to remain in a restful position.

I have seen women at their dressing tables hurriedly rubbing cream into their faces, but they were so tense and so nervous that the operation was a task and a strain instead of a pleasant operation, as relaxing as a warm bath.

There is much to be said about the creaming habit as a beneficial relaxation for the muscles of the face as well as a cleanser for the surface skin. But if you don't relax and rest during the process you aren't obtaining even half the benefit you should.

Cold Cream.

75 grains sweet oil of almonds.
20 grains of virgin wax.
8 grammes of spermaceti.
Any favorite perfume.

Melt these ingredients together and stir for 20 minutes. Set aside to cool and when partly cool add the perfume.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

She Learns Just What Street Dress Will Serve the Older Woman for Many Occasions.

Mrs. Caldwell came into the studio quite late the other afternoon, and when she'd wearily greeted Madame, she said:

"I don't think it's really fair to you or to me to try and select a gown—particularly if you're as fatigued as I am."

But Madame Frances never grows weary.

"Don't you know I am inexhaustible?" she responded, smiling.

"I just delivered a lecture at one of the women's clubs and I've made a discovery," Mrs. Caldwell beamed. "I have always favored wearing a tailored suit at meetings. It seems to add a dignified bearing. But when you're in a moderate-sized room with forty or more other women, a suit isn't the most comfortable garment to wear while talking enthusiastically; therefore, tired as I was, I decided to run in and have you show me a dress that will be appropriate yet comfortable for my purposes."

"I've often wondered why you didn't select a dress that you could wear equally well on the platform and the street," said Madame. "Now I'm going to show you a model which I think particularly well suited for you."

While this was being brought into the studio Madame couldn't help noticing how exhausted Mrs. Caldwell appeared to be. So she insisted upon her resting a few minutes, then she had her try the dress on.

Mrs. Caldwell is a middle-aged woman, who must be exceptionally careful in the selection of her clothes. She cannot wear anything that's frilly or fussy, but rather a garment that has good lines, and one that emphasizes her stability.

The dress Madame had her try on was one of olive green faille silk.

"The color seems so restful," remarked Mrs. Caldwell. "It actually seems to soothe me."

"It is restful," admitted Madame, "and I think the style is very becoming. Don't you?"

The blouse is quite simple, made in jumper effect, and is outlined with a narrow silk cord of the same color.

A little pocket in the front of the skirt gives the dress a smart touch.

The skirt is plain, falling in box pleats.

The dress is finished with collar and cuffs of hemstitched organdie.

"I think the dress looks rather smart," remarked Madame, "and I'm sure it ought to be very comfortable."

"Yes," said Mrs. Caldwell, laughingly, "it might even have the effect of calming my audience as well as myself when we get into heated discussions, which happens only too frequently."

"Quite right," agreed Madame, "the effect of restful colorings is a subject well worth considering when you select a gown for yourself, Mrs. Caldwell, particularly if you have an audience that you wish to influence by the personality which your clothes reflect."

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

"There's Work To Be Done, and I've Got To—Do It!"

At my declaration that Dicky and I were very happy together, a sudden unreasoning anger flamed in the sunken eyes of the wounded officer. He half-raised himself from his pillow and his tone was almost a shout:

"Then, if that be so, why isn't he taking care of you? Where is he?"

My heart echoed his question drearily. Where, indeed, was my husband? I did not mean his geographical location, that I knew, but his soul — his heart?— Ah! that was a far more difficult question to answer!

But I knew that I must give no hint of the real condition of affairs to the weak, half-hysterical man whose burning eyes questioned me so fiercely.

He had sunk back upon his pillow weakly, and the nurse had hurried to his side.

"You mustn't excite yourself,' she said authoritatively, "or I must ask Mrs. Graham to go away."

He turned his head toward her, and I saw a gleam like ice come into his eyes. I realized in that moment, as I had when he faced the infuriated Ernest, what a man of steel he could be.

"Pardon me, please, but may I ask you to summon the interne for me? There is something I must tell him at once."

It was so patent a subterfuge to get her out of the room that I wondered if she would submit or refuse to go. But evidently she had no desire to face his displeasure. She waited a long moment, while the gleam in the sick man's eyes narrowed into a pin point of steel, then she said quietly:

"Of course, but I'm afraid he cannot come to you just now."

"Please wait for him then," he retorted, and turned his face away from her.

"Forgive Me—"

She turned away without another word and went out of the room.

As the door closed behind her he looked up at me imperiously.

"Why don't you answer my question?" he demanded. "Where is your husband?"

"The nurse gave me no chance to answer before," I returned quietly. "But the answer is very simple. My husband is away from home on a business trip, and, of course, we have not alarmed him by telling him of my accident."

He closed his eyes for a long moment. When they opened again I saw crass disbelief in them.

"That is only part of the truth," he said deliberately, then as I couldn't keep down the angry, humiliated flush that crept over my face at his words, his eyes softened.

"Forgive me, I'm a brute," he said contritely, "but all this means so much to me—you can't guess how much."

I took my courage in both hands, looking into his eyes squarely.

"Please don't misunderstand me," I said, "but if I come to see you any more there must be no more questions concerning my married happiness. Think of me only as you would of a very grateful friend—another man, for instance."

An amused smile flitted across his face.

"You're such a very masculine person," he said ironically, and then his face fell into its old, sad, stern lines and he closed his eyes again.

A Bargain Made.

I waited quietly, hoping that he would go to sleep, for I feared the effect of the excitement he had brought upon himself. But he evidently was stronger than I thought, for at the end of two or three minutes, when he again opened his eyes, the feverish excitement had gone out of them, and his voice was calm and strong.

"I fancy I have been seven kinds of a delirious fool," he said quietly, "but I'll try not to offend again."

There was something in his tone that told me he had fought a battle with himself in the moments he had lain so motionless. Before I could frame an answer to his words he was speaking again:

"You don't mind telling me why you were at the inn that day, do you? I really ought to know what happened before I came on the scene."

I looked at him in astonishment.

"Are you sure you are strong enough to go over all that now?" I asked.

"Positive." His tone was crisp, assured. "I've been a weak, half-hysterical fool long enough. There's work to be done, and I've got to get out of here and do it."

I looked at him searchingly, saw that he was speaking only the truth. From somewhere within him he had brought up his reserves of force and will power. That he would mend quickly now I was sure.

"I will make a bargain with you," I said, glad indeed that there was no longer embarrassment to me in conversing with him. "I'll tell you everything that happened before you arrived so opportunitely at the inn if you in turn will tell me of the things which happened from the time I dropped unconscious to the moment when you brought me to the hospital."

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, JUNE 28.

The indications are for a day of interest and success in commercial lines, but not so advantageous in other directions. The trine of Moon to Jupiter, one of the strongest of benefic testimonies, makes the day secure for speculation, investment and new business, for finances generally, with honors, fame and increase. But a Venus under affliction may bring anxiety into the home circle and into affectional attachments. There is a strong probability of removal, change and journeys, and these should result fruitfully, though women should undertake these with wise counsel, especially if the changes involve domestic and affectional matters. In these there is danger of a cooling or procrastinating aspect, induced by hypocrisy, deceit or indiscreet behavior.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of increase and satisfaction in business, with travel and change, but they must be discreet about their domestic, social and affectional affairs, safeguarding and cherishing them. A child born on this day will be industrious, popular and respected, and will make fine success either in business for himself or in employment.

A recent exhibition of carrier pigeons in London showed many devices used to protect the birds in their flights at the front. Several pigeons were shown painted in camouflage coloring, while gas masks for use during gas attacks were also exhibited.

Practical Suggestions on Individual Ways to Help Win the War

By ALBERT BARRETT SAYRES

Making Backyard Trees Useful.

Those who have sufficient ground in the rear of their city or country houses in which to plant trees, or who are planning to plant trees in ground on which they plan to build, will do well to consider the usefulness of the trees that are to occupy the space before deciding just what they will plant. Of course, you want trees that are beautiful, but trees may be both economically useful and beautiful. Give thought to fruit trees.

Not only are apple trees, cherry and peach trees ornamental in their shape and their foliage, but they vary the year around. They are not only as decorative as the purely flowering shrubs, but they are much more lovely than the average shrub or tree in blossom time. The green or the other soft colors of the growing fruit become more beautiful each day until the brilliant reds or ripe greens arrive at harvest time.

Of course, there is no thought of transforming grounds entirely to utilitarian uses. But why not adopt the ideas of the best landscape gardeners of Europe before the war, and of the cherry-loving—one almost might write cherry blossom worshipping—Japanese? Let a goodly portion of the trees in open spaces serve your eye with their beauty and your table with their fruit.

Enforcing Food Control.

The most powerful force for the regulation of the prices of food is made up of the housewives of the nation. Each home-maker who has signed and proudly displayed her pledge card—and what good housewife hasn't?—is a volunteer member of the food administration, not only in her own home, but wherever she goes. If you find that any dealer is asking more than a fair price, you will not only save money for yourself, but serve your community and the nation as well by learning the reason.

Of course, the dealers who give you the extra service of delivery, credit or superior quality must charge a bit more than those from whose stores you carry home your own purchases bought for cash. But you are entitled to know of any reason why you pay more than a fair price. And if you can discover no adequate reason for a higher charge, your duty is to lay the matter before the local food administrator.

In this "policewoman" work you, as a housekeeper, can aid the food administration and serve the fair and honest dealers as well as yourself and your household.

Good Night Stories

BOBBY'S INTRODUCTION TO A REAL LIVE WHIRLIGIG.

For a long time Bobby sat and watched a little bug whirling around in the water.

"Just as sure as I'm alive, he's drowning!" exclaimed Bobby, and he nearly tumbled into the water trying to reach the bug with a stick. "Oh, dear, where's Happy Giggles?"

"Here I am!" laughed a merry voice, as Happy Giggles popped up at Bobby's elbow. "Be careful, or it will be Where's Bobby?' "

"That poor little bug is almost drowned!" cried Bobby, pointing to the whirling bug.

Happy Giggles jumped upon the stone beside Bobby and looked out at the end of Bobby's stick, then he laughed merrily as the bug in the water darted and whirled away, spinning round and round like a top.

"It's no time to laugh!" exclaimed Bobby. "He'll drown in a second."

"Oh, no, he won't!" laughed Happy Giggles, waving his cap at the whirling bug, calling: "Come in, Mrs. Whirligig Beetle, and let Bobby have a look at you."

Into the bank whirled Mrs. Whirligig, and greeted Happy Giggles.

"You see, Bobby thought you were going to drown," said Happy Giggles.

"No, indeed!" laughed Mrs. Whirligig Beetle, shaking the water from her bronze-colored gown. "I always whirl that way when I'm happy. I use my hind legs for oars and my fore legs for rudders," and her four little eyes fairly danced.

"What funny eyes!" whispered Bobby, but Mrs. Whirligig heard him.

"Yes, they are queer to you, I guess," laughed Mrs. Whirligig. "There seems to be four of them, but there's really only one, divided on each side of my head. Half the eye looks up, while the other half looks down, so I can watch the birds above me and the fishes, frogs and turtles underneath me."

"But tell me, little friend, why you are so happy this morning," said Happy Giggles.

"I should be happy," replied Mrs. Whirligig Beetle, whirling like a top. "I've just tucked my eggs away on the leaves that hang over the water. Soon the little larvae will hatch and spin silken pupa cases around themselves, and hang on the leaves there until they turn into little beetles. Just think what a happy family of Whirligig Beetles I'll have then! That's why I'm happy."

Now, as Mrs. Whirligig Beetle never stays still very long at a time, she merrily whirled away to the middle of the pond, turning round and round just like a top.

"Well, that's the first time I ever saw a real live whirligig!" laughed Bobby, turning around—but Happy Giggles was nowhere in sight.

WESTERN ONTARIO BRIEFS

A farewell presentation and address was tendered Rev. A. R. Johnston of Cedar Springs by his fellow Masons in Blenheim lodge on the occasion of his departure for Kintore.

Pte. Percy Sutherland, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sutherland of Embro, who was dangerously ill in a hospital in England is progressing favorably, and is now out of danger.

Brig.-Gen. John M. Ross of Embro is enjoying two weeks leave from the front in London, England.

General crop conditions are good in Lambton County. Haying is well under way and a heavy yield is reported.

The newly-elected officers of Masonic Lodge at Princeton have been installed by Rt. Wor. Bro. James Smiley, D.D.G.M., assisted by Rt. Wor. Bro. Smoke, D.D.G.M. of Paris.

A loss of $5,000 was caused by fire when the printing plant of John Ryan was destroyed and the stock of the Brantford Stationers, badly sorched on Wednesday. The cause is unknown.

A joint waterworks system may be built by the Canadian municipalities on the Detroit River. A resolution was passed at a recent meeting of the Essex Border Utilities Commission requesting the water committee to obtain figures as to the cost, etc.

A social and business session was held by the Chatham Presbytery at the summer home of James Simon, Highbanks, yesterday.

Father Prosper of St. Joseph's Church, Chatham, was recently presented with a traveling bag in recognition of his services with the choir.

The Messenger is still being delivered in Sarnia, according to reports. It is being distributed early in the morning, regardless of the $5,000 fine to which the possessor of a copy is liable.

President Albert Hare of the United Farmers' Association of Forest says that H. J. Pettypiece has not been refused a chance to speak at the picnic there on Saturday. He asked to be allowed to occupy the greater part of the time which has been set aside for the speakers, and this was refused.

A solution to Sarnia's water problem may have been found when water was discovered at the plant of the Lougheed Machine Company while the firm was drilling for gas. A sample has been sent to Toronto to be tested.

"Capt. MacAuley's report does not name one single defaulter or deserter, nor does it charge that there are any men here eligible under the M. S. A.," says Rev. Father Bourque, rector of St. Stanislaus Novitiate at Guelph, who claims he read the report through. He admits the report mentions three novices, Nunan, Doherty and Smith, whose presence there requires an explanation.

"That the Ministerial Association of Guelph has no quarrel with the Novitiate, but that it is going to sift the whole question, in an effort to discover the standing of the 22 men now in the Novitiate, with respect to the M. S. A.," was a statement made at a meeting held last night. This body will make no retractions of any allegations made, according to reports of the proceedings of the meeting, but the issue will be carried to the end.

Volplaning on account of engine trouble, Capt. Harold Gonyou of Chatham had his 'plane fired by the Huns, but he managed to reach Belgian territory in safety, losing a small portion of his ear as a result of a German bullet.

Berries will be a small crop in Chatham district unless rain comes soon, is the report from that section. Corn, beans, oats and other crops are suffering on account of the lack of moisture.

JOHNSON WINS SECOND WHEEL RACE TO CRUMLIN

The second bicycle race of the season was held from the Perfect Bicycle Shop to Crumlin last night, and resulted in a win for Harvey Johnson. W. Godfree was placed at scratch, but came fourth, despite the fact that his time was the best of all contestants, being 25 minutes and 35 seconds. The second man was Lawrence Inch, and the competitor to get third prize was Harold Dick

Owing to the strong winds and heavy roads, good time was impossible.

The next race will be held on July 10. The men who have been entering the recent races are going in for the bicycle events slated on the sports program of the G. W. V. A. on July 1. The races held from the Perfect shop are open to everybody. About twenty entrants are expected for the next contest.

CHATHAM.—A letter has been received by the city from one of the large oil firms that road oil is not available this year, as all oil is needed for munition work. The city had planned to oil a number of strets, but this may have to be abandoned this year.

9,500 CHILDREN FREE FROM SCHOOL FRIDAY; 215 TEACHERS OFF, TOO

More Boys and Girls of City Will Be Employed This Summer.

About 9,500 pupils of the city schools will be turned loose for the holidays tomorrow, which means that some 215 teachers will also have an opportunity to enjoy a vacation.

Final examinations, in progress today, the marking of papers, adding up of marks, making out of reports and promoting pupils, are duties which furnish enough occupation for eachers, without anything added in the way of closing exercises. In any case, the prospects as a whole, glorious two months out of school, is enough for the average school boy and girl, without special "doings," even if the holidays this year in large part mean other duties.

Tomorrow the attendance at the schools will doubtless be small, only the very faithful turning up to see the old school year out.

Already, families that are in a happy position to do so, are migrating to beaches and summer cottages, to get settled for Dominion Day, taking the small folks along in their best bibs and tuckers.

While the mothers who stay at home all summers are doubtless rather dreading the holiday season, which means keeping an anxious eye on their families and seeing that they are kept amused or employed, probably more boys and girls than ever before will have duties to perform in the next couple of months, tending wartime garden and otherwise rendering wartime service.

LONDONER ELECTED

is to be held in Cincinnati in September.

Hearty votes of thanks were tendered the Exhibitors' Association for the entertainment at Port Stanley on Wednesday, to the N. A. S. E. for the silk Stars and Stripes which was brought from that body to the C. A. S. E. by Secretary F. W. Raven, and to F. W. Raven for his helpful messages to London Local No. 30; Mayor C. R. Somerville, the city council, and the citizens generally for the hospitality shown; the Ladies' Auxiliary, and the press.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is planning to organize a branch in London among the engineers' wives. A number of applications are already filled out, and it is hoped that a lodge will be started here soon. During their visit to London, the women were shown through the factories of the McClary Manufacturing Company and the McCormick Manufacturing Company. At both places they were treated to a luncheon by the respective firms.

The many delegates are leaving for their homes tonight.

DALTON—NEILSON.

St. Patrick's Church, Dundas street east, was this morning the scene of the wedding of Frank Dalton, son of John Dalton of The Advertiser, and Dagma Neilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neilson of Pottersburg. Rev. Father Barry sang the nuptial mass at 9 o'clock. Many friends and relatives including the parents, of the young couple were present in the church at the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of grey French serge, with a blue hat trimmed with cerise velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Birmingham, cousins of the groom and bride respectively, acted as best man and bridesmaid. Mrs. Birmingham wore a peacock blue crepe dress, with a white Milan hat. The bride and birdesmaid each wore a handsome corsage bouquet.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Dalton left on the Grand Trunk on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and Hamilton. On their return they will reside in the east end of the city.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pendant set with pearls. To the bridesmaid a gold brooch, and the best man a pearl tiepin. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton have been the recipients of numerous presents from friends and relatives.

The groom is a returned soldier. He served two years overseas, and was wounded twice and buried by a large German shell.

PRESENT SEASON WORSE THAN 1917 FOR STRAWBERRIES

"Last season was a bad one for strawberries and this one is still worse," stated a prominent wholesale dealer to The Advertiser today.

"Here," he continued, "the season is almost over, and we have been getting 23 to 25 cents wholesale, today, and 25 to 28 cents, retail.

"This week will pretty well finish up the crop, and only about a fifth of the supply required is arriving to meet the demand. The prospects were good for a big crop early in the season, but the cold weather came along and killed the chances.

"Added to this there are no other fruits coming in to supplement the local supply, owing to the embargo on imported fruits, and this has its effect upon the keeping up of the prices of the strawberries. No, I don't anticipate they will be any lower this year. Last year they went as low as 13 cents, and at that we thought we had a bad year."

And this means that the housewife who cannot afford to pay from 25 to 28 cents a box will be obliged to fill her family jars—otherwise her win-the-war jars—with some other fruit this season, or wreck the family finances.

The good old days were recalled by the dealer, when luscious, big berries such as have only been dreamed about this year, retailed for seven to eight cents a box, and wholesaled for four or five cents.

"Thim war the days!"

But times have changed. The wholesaler reminded that it is not only the season now that affects the price of berries, but the cost of baskets and boxes and of labor.

"It costs the grower three cents a box now to have his berries picked," said the wholesaler. "Even with a bumper crop, it is apparent that no grower could afford to pay for picking and boxes and give the wholesaler a margin of profit on four cents a box."

TILLSONBURG RINK IN FINALS FOR THE HIGHEST HONORS

Vance and Taylor of Tillsonburg managed to survive the fourth round for the first event of the Scotch doubles bowling tournament at the Thistle Club, and are now in the finals, with either Turnbull of McDougall of the London Rowing Club, or Rennie and McDonald, also of Tillsonburg.

Turnbull and McDougall, winners of the first event last year, cleaned up on Shannon and Farrow of Ottawa by 13 to 5, and at 3 o'clock were playing Rennie and McDonald of Tillsonburg for the finals.

McDougall and Turnbull have won all their games by substantial margins, and their entrance into the finals with Vance and Taylor of Tillsonburg seems assured.

Hours of labor shall not be more than nine hours a day.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR CONTINUES APPEARANCE IN MILITARY DISTRICT

Two More Booked to Appears for Court Martial Tomorrow.

The flow of conscientious objectors still continues. As fast as the military mills of justice can grind out sentences of two years of hard labor for them more of them heave into sight to disturb the calm that reigns at Carling Heights Camp.

Today's camp orders announce the sitting of another court-martial on Friday at Wolseley Barracks to try Ptes. Roy Emerson Hamachar and Thomas George Mabley of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R. Both the men concerned have expressed conscientious objections to scrapping for the old flag.

Pte. Mabley is a Quaker, and is the first of that belief to claim conscientious scruples in this district. Another Quaker, a resident of Ilderton, was this week given permission to join a noncombatant unit, being formed for members of the Society of Friends in Philadelphia, but this man has apparently, so far as is known, not asked for such permission.

Lieut.-Col. H. L. Milligan, D. S. O., will preside over the court, assisted by Capt. J. K. Pope and Lieut. Terrance St. G. Maunsell.

Capt. J. C. Fletcher and Lieut. H. W. McCrimmon will be waiting members, and Major G. N. Weekes will act as judge-advocate, while Capt. S. C. Kirkland will act as prosecutor.

PUGNACITY EVAPORATES

A Syrian, who was apprehended as unable to satisfy the authorities as to his nationality, caused no little dust to fly at the mobilization centre this morning when he refused to attach his signature to the required papers.

As no headway could be made with him at the mobilization centre, he was turned over to a burly sergeant and taken to Carling Heights camp under guard. He must have cooled off in the hot sun on the way to camp, however, for when he arrived at the orderly-room of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., he listened to the explanation of those in charge, and when convinced that he was only to be signed-up until he could prove that he was not liable, he capitulated, and was sent back to the centre to place his "John Henry" on the proper militia forms.

Strawberries were in good demand, selling from 24c to 25c a box, retail, and selling from 21c to 22c a box, wholesale. New carrots were offered at 50c a dozen bunches. Rhubarb was scarce, only a few vegetable growers offering it. Home-grown potatoes advanced to $2.25 a bag.

Green peas are lower, selling from 35c to 40c a quart.

Oats dropped back to $2.60 a cwt. A large quantity of first-class oats sold at the top price.

Hay is slow, selling from $9 to $11.25 a ton.

A shipment of live hogs was made Wednesday, $17.25 a cwt. being paid. Dressed hogs remain at $24 a cwt.

Butter is steady. Eggs are retailing at 42c a dozen, and basket lots selling at 40c a dozen, wholesale.

There is no change in the price of hides and wools. Butchers' meats remain unchanged.

Winnipeg, June 27.—Oats opened ½c higher for July at 86c; October, ⅜c higher at 72⅞c.

Chicago, June 27.—Opening: Corn—July, $1 46⅝; August, $1 48¾.

Oats—July, 72½c; August, 68¾c.

Chicago, June 27.—Excessively high temperatures in the Southwest, where cool weather was looked for, had a bullish influence today on the corn market. Besides, improved demand for cash corn was acknowledged, and some reduction of the movement from rural sources was predicted, owing to the greater need of cars for the new harvest of wheat. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c higher, with July at $1 46½@1 46¾, and August at $1 48½@1 48⅞, were followed by material gains all around.

Seaboard buying gave strength to oats. The unexpected hot weather counted, too, as a bullish factor. After opening ⅛c to ⅞c higher, with August at 68⅛@68⅝c, the market held firm near the upper side of the initial range.

WALL STREET.

New York, June 27—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The rise in specialties and war shares which accompanied yesterday's later dealings was resumed at the active opening of today's stock market. Tobaccos, leathers, motors, oils, coppers and issues of less definite character were most conspicuous, with gains of large fractions to 1½ points. United States Steel was again in demand, although advancing only a small fraction. Trading in rails was negligible, and utilities were represented by a 2-point decline in Consolidated Gas. Liberty bonds were steady.

Noon.—The market reflected various cross currents during the busy forenoon, leaders yielding fractionally in the first hour. This was followed by another upward movement, United States Steel featuring the advance on a very large turnover at a gain of almost 1 point. Many minor equipments and unclassified stocks, together with low-priced mining issues, were lifted 1 to 4 points. Meanwhile General Motors and New Haven reacted 2 points each, and Union Pacific and St. Paul fell back moderately with Marine preferred.

1:30 p.m.—Steels, oils and some of the equipments, notably American Locomotive, made new high levels in the early afternoon. Baldwin Locomotive and Sumatra Tobacco moved contrary to the general trend, however, and rails also eased slightly.

COMMANDER BACKS O'LEARY CLAIM THAT HE IS NO DEFAULTER

"All Right," Says O. C. of the Central Figure in Guelph Raid.

"He's absolutely all right," said Lieut.-Col. J. L. Youngs, O. C. of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., today, when asked by The Advertiser regarding the status of Pte. Patrick J. O'Leary, who Tuesday denied the statements made at Guelph that he was a defaulter, and was apprehended as a result of the military police raid on the Jesuit order there.

"His story is perfectly true," added Lieut.-Col. Youngs. "He was discharged as dentally unfit, and although he would not have had a board for a month yet, yesterday, at his own request, he was given a medical board and rated Category A. He is anxious to go overseas if he is in 'A,' and will remain here in training."

woven around the dashing story of a mounted policeman, showing at the Patricia today, Friday and Saturday.

Until last summer, when he joined the Essanay Company, Mr. Gardner was one of the Broadway favorites. He has played in practically all the big musical hits for the past eight or ten years and scored tremendous successes. The leading roles in "Madame Sherry," "The Chocolate Soldier," "The Belle of Mayfair," and the latest New York hit, "Oh, Boy," were among his creations.

Mr. Gardner's retirement from the speaking stage gave a considerable jolt to the theatrical world. Just why he should renounce his prominence before the footlights to take a chance for the certainly unsafe honors which lurk in the hidden caches of filmdom caused much speculation in green room circles. However, the reason, which is applicable to every case of this kind, should be obvious.

"I quit the stage for the screen," explained Mr. Gardner, "because motion pictures offer a much better opportunity to develop my work. Businessmen always are looking for the chance to enlarge the scope of their endeavors, to extend their business. Actors are just like businessmen. They are continually seeking for a wider field.

An additional attraction is a Judge Brown story of boy life, "The Rebellion," and also an Ebony Comedy.

Those who enjoy good singing will appreciate the work of Dunkin, McCarthy and Everett, the sweet singers of Georgia, who perform like real minstrel men.

RETURNED SOLDIERS HAVE WARM SPOT IN HEARTS FOR ST. MARYS

Outing to Stone Town One of Best of the Season.

About 125 local returned soldiers, patients in the Central Military Convalescent and Wolseley Barracks Hospitals, were the guests of the Canadian Club in an auto trip to St. Marys, via Granton and Prospect Hill, on Wednesday afternoon. The party left this city about 2:30 p.m., and was met a short distance from their destination by the St. Marys Highland Brass Band and citizens from the Stone Town.

Upon arrival in St. Marys the returned men lined up in front of the Methodist Church, and a speech was made by the mayor, and leading citizens welcomed the veterans on their visit. The school children, who were gathered for the occasion, sang patriotic songs, each child being armed with a flag of the Allies.

At the conclusion of the afternoon entertainment the London party sat down to supper in the Methodist Sunday school, there being seats for all. The many dainties were provided by the Ladies' Patriotic League, and the other women's organizations of St. Marys. The returned boys who participated in the trip are unanimous in stating that the trip to St. Marys was one of the best yet, especially in regar dto the excellent supper provided.

When the boys in khaki had filled up, a musical program was enjoyed, and in addition to the St. Marys talent the returned men joined in and made the entertainment much more informal. Speeches were again on the program for the evening, at the conclusion of which the party left for London, arriving in this city about 8 p.m.

Although the trip was under the auspices of the Canadian Club many other local citizens provided cars for the use of the returned men, who are very grateful for the pleasant trip. Lieut.-Col. A. A. Campbell was present as representative of the Canadian Club, and Ald. F. E. Harley and R. I. Watson also assisted in the arrangements.

The Soldiers' Aid Commission arranges these trips and next Wednesday the returned soldiers who are patients in the Byron Sanatorium will be taken for a trip about the country in the vicinity of London.

CROSS CASE MAY BE TAKEN UP BY FARMERS

Farmers all through this district are taking keen interest in the case of J. A. Cross of Tuela Heights who was fined in Brantford for criticizing the Union Government. The opinion is expressed that the Farmers' Clubs may take the matter up and press for an appeal.

"If the United Farmers' Clubs let this matter go unprotested the organization is a dead one," said one man to The Advertiser. "If everybody who criticized the Union Government was fined $500 it is likely that many millions of dollars would be collected."

Other farmers stated that the matter may be brought up for discussion at meetings of the various branches, and that resolutions would likely be sent to the main branch, urging that action be taken.

In some districts it is stated the farmers feel very strongly regarding the case.

LOBO HOME GARDENS SHOWING UP WELL

Score High in First Inspection of Judges.

The gardens of the children of Lobo Township, who are entered in the home garden contest, were inspected for the first time Tuesday by R. A. Finn and J. R. Higgins, representatives of the Ontario department of agriculture.

The following is the scale on which the points were given: General appearance 10, correct size of plot and arrangement of crops 10, freedom from weeds, diseases and insects 20, cultivation and care of plants 20, quality of vegetables, uniformity in size and shape 10, and the yield 30 points.

The majority of gardens scored high points on freedom from weeds, diseases and insects and also on the cultivation and care of plants.

The inspectors found that many gardens were out in the correct size, and it was rather early for estimating the yield. The points scored ranged from 83 to 96 points.

The gardens will be inspected again later in the season.
