

DEATH KNELL OF "RACING TIP BUNK" NEAR

DEATH TOLL IN THEATRE WRECK REACHES 108

Rescuers Struggle To Relieve Man Believed Alive in Ruins.

HARDING VOICES SORROW

All Washington Grieved at Tragedy in Well-Known Playhouse.

Washington, Jan. 30.—With a total of 108 dead and 133 injured removed from the ruins of the Knickerbocker Motion Picture Theatre up to an early hour today, the rescuers were still struggling with the heavy wreckage left, when the snow-laden roof of the structure collapsed during the showing of a comedy feature bill on Saturday night. Brig.-Gen. Hollis, commander of the federal troops in the district, in personal charge of the rescue work, said it might be another twenty-four hours before it could be definitely said there were no more dead or injured in the wreckage of twisted steel and concrete, which yet remained to be cleared away of the mass that was hurled down without warning on the pleasure-seeking hundreds below.

It was believed, however, that the section now being explored would yield few additions to the awful list of dead and injured, it being near the rear and under the part of the balcony which held up when the front of it crashed down to the theatre pit under the impact of the falling roof. A party of the rescuers early today had been struggling for hours to release from the part of the wreckage now being overturned, one man believed to be yet alive, although imprisoned under the mass for nearly 26 hours.

Made Rescues Slow.

The great weight of the steel beams and concrete which crashed with the roof have in many instances made the rescue of the victims a very slow and tedious process. The capital city was bowed in grief today to learn the full extent of the tragedy with the recovery of victims yesterday and last night. This was the more intensely shared by the rest of the country because of the considerable number of victims who suffered in the catastrophe. President Harding, in a statement last night, said the tragedy had left him with the "same indescribable sorrow which has come to all of Washington, and which will be sympathetically felt throughout the land."

A three-fold investigation of the cause and circumstances of the collapse of the theatre roof was in prospect today. In addition to an exhaustive inquiry ordered by the board of commissioners of the district and another to be started immediately by the grand jury, Senator Capper of Kansas, a member of the Senate District of Columbia committee, announced that he would introduce a resolution calling for an investigation of the tragedy.

The senator said he had received reports that the building code of the district had been violated in more than a few instances during the rush of construction resulting from the rapid increase of population here after the war declaration.

Government Officials Injured.

Edward H. Shughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, who was among the fourteen listed as seriously injured, was still making a fight for life today at the Walter Reed hospital. His wife and two daughters also were injured but not seriously.

Among those prominent in the list of dead as it stood today was former Representative A. J. Barchfield, formerly of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Virginia Farrand, sister of Minister Bianchi of Guatemala.

Most of the dead still lay early today in the basement of the nearby Hamilton Hospital, to which they were removed for identification. Many of the fatally injured also were taken there later to swell the total of victims.

THE BOARD OF WORKS will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday night. Only routine matters are on the agenda.

Demand Dancing Ban at School Opening

MINISTERS OF CITY PROTEST STUDENT PLAN

Pass Resolution of Investigating Committee After Keen Discussion.

MINORITY DISAGREES

Rev. John Crawford Claims Recreation Needed To Maintain School Spirit.

All discussion, investigation and controversy regarding dancing in the schools, so far as the Ministerial Alliance is concerned, came to a head this morning when the body at a special meeting called for the purpose, adopted the resolution of the committee appointed for investigation, and named a committee to recommend to the board of education that dancing be forbidden as a part of the social functions in connection with the collegiate institute.

Take Different View.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, in a preamble to his report, stated that in their investigation the committee, of which he was convener, had found that the students looked upon the question of dancing from a different angle entirely. The broadening process of education brought with it the question of broadened social activity. The nine hundred students in the collegiate institute found some sort of social functions an absolute necessity in order to maintain a spirit of school fellowship and democracy. Such a large number of students were bound to entertain a diversity of opinion. The school must be a center of community life, and provide the necessary amount of recreation which many students are unable to gain elsewhere.

The question, which had been raised, was the advisability or inadvisability of using a public building for dancing contrary to the wishes of a great many of the public.

Rev. Mr. Milson, field secretary of the Social Service Council of the Methodist Church, in speaking of the matter, took the stand that although perhaps 50 per cent of the students could come through the temptations of dancing unscathed, yet there was the 5 per cent to be considered who would receive harm. "Most decidedly I do not think that those of us who dance are going to the law-ways," declared Mr. Milson, "but I do think that it is absolutely the duty of the 5 per cent to forego what pleasure they receive from dancing in order that temptation may be removed from the paths of the 5 per cent who are weak enough to succumb to it morally. 'Jazz' is to blame. There can be no question of properly supervising a dancing floor. It is an impossible task."

Notoriety which the question has gained through the medium of the press has focussed the eyes of Western Ontario upon us, and it is necessary that we take a definite stand upon the subject. If we are to live up to Christian principles, we must deny the many that the few may be saved.

Opposes Resolution.

Rev. John Crawford offered the only opposition to the resolution, stating that he had been placed in a position where it was most difficult to maintain the school spirit de corps owing to the scattering of the various classes. Something was necessary to hold them together, and if they considered dancing necessary it would do less good to completely forbid it than to see that it was regarded as a legitimate amusement and properly supervised.

The report of the committee of investigation reads as follows:

"It is a fact at the modern trend in the amusements of our young people, which seems to be, for the great numbers, becoming apparently the chief end of life, an end in itself, instead of a factor in character-building, dissipating their main purposes for education and work."

"That this is especially true of the modern dance which makes such an attractive appeal to young folks and which is regarded by many of our citizens as most questionable and dangerous."

"It feels a just resentment against the schools lending their sanction to a form of amusement of which they cannot conscientiously approve, and which weakens and breaks down parental authority at a time when this is greatly in need of being strengthened."

Eliminate Dancing.

"It therefore recommends that the board of education be recommended to consider the advisability of eliminating the dancing from the ceremonies in connection with the opening of the New Collegiate and from subsequent official programs in the life of the school."

"It would also request that all our public institutions would set themselves against the undue multiplication of social functions."

CLAIMS OTHERS IN POISON MYSTERY

Printer of Circulars Believes James Buchanan Not Only One Implicated.

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—Claude McCarthy, the printer who identified James Buchanan as the man who left the order for the "beauty powder" circulars, thinks that the whole mystery of the poisoning of Anderson Buchanan has not been solved. When asked as to what was now mysterious about the case he said: "Who composed the original sample from which we printed the circulars? Buchanan might have done the actual composing of the circulars, but he certainly did not do the typesetting. It was the work of an expert typist. No, there is someone else connected with the mystery yet to be discovered."

It was suggested to Mr. McCarthy that it would be a simple matter for Mr. Buchanan to secure the services of a public stenographer for this work, but he replied that in such a case the work would be unusual for a stenographer and the matter would be stamped so indelibly in her mind that the minute she read of the case in the papers she would have communicated to the police what she knew of it.

"When I was in Toronto on Saturday morning," continued Mr. McCarthy, James Buchanan's daughter said: 'I never saw daddy using a typewriter. I don't think that he could.'"

Mr. McCarthy said that he had no trouble on Saturday morning in identifying James Buchanan as the man who placed the circular order with him although the identification had to be made over a lifeless body. "I was robbed of the best means of identification that I had," he said, "because his voice was peculiar and would have betrayed him in a minute. He had a slight accent. They said it was a Scotch accent, but I don't know about that. I would have been able to recognize that accent anywhere."

RESIDENTS PROTEST AT HOSPITAL NEGLIGENCE

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—Some residents on the mountain near the Mount Hamilton Hospital complain that dressings from sores and wounds of patients are thrown out with ashes from the furnace, and besides being a disgusting sight are a menace to health. Children have been seen handling such dressings innocent of the danger of infection.

DOES NOT FAVOR DIVIDING FUND AMONG JOBLESS

County Clerk John Stewart Declares Money Needed for Deserted Wives.

MANY ARE ASSISTED HERE

Mothers Not Eligible For Pensions Helped by Association.

County Clerk John Stewart, who administers the patriotic fund for the County of Middlesex, in an interview Monday morning, declared that if the fund was used for the benefit of unemployed returned soldiers, as suggested by the A. and N. veterans, it would be for but a short time and would leave nothing for the wives deserted by soldiers.

In Canada, Mr. Stewart stated, there were about 700 deserted wives and mothers who were dependant on the patriotic fund and must be looked after. These were women whose husbands had left them, within six months of being discharged from the army.

The fund for Canada was being distributed at about the rate of a million dollars a year.

In London $7,000 was expended in January by the association and similar amounts were checked out each month.

The fund was giving assistance to about 30 deserted wives here, whose husbands, it is said, are living with other women overseas, and who never returned to Canada. Ten aged mothers, whose sons were their only support, and who have since died, are also looked after by them as they are not eligible for pensions.

HALF BUDGET IS INDEMNITY CASH

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The imperial budget covering the period from April, 1922, to March, 1923, totals in round numbers 288,500,000 marks, including 187,500,000 marks for the fulfillment of the peace treaty. Under the terms of the budget bill the minister of finance is empowered to contract a loan of 183,500,000 marks to meet non-recurring extraordinary expenditures and to issue treasury bonds amounting to 12,500,000 marks to strengthen temporarily the resources of the imperial treasury.

The budget provides 19,000,000 marks for posts and telegraphs, and 7,000,000 marks for state railways. It reduces the number of state employees.

Interest payments on the special debts will require about 18,000,000 marks.

WOMAN WALKS 5 MILES IN SLEEP

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—A strange case of sleep walking was revealed Saturday when Mrs. Findlay, 200 York street, was found lying unconscious in a ditch about five miles from Campbellville. She had been visiting in Campbellville and had expected to start for home Saturday morning. Shortly after midnight on Friday, she got up in her sleep, dressed herself and started to walk home, a distance of about thirty miles. She had not wakened when found in the ditch Saturday morning.

HOLDS CHILD'S WELFARE FIRST CONSIDERATION

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Holding that the welfare of the child was the paramount issue before the court, Mr. Justice Latchford, sitting in the weekly court of the supreme court of Ontario at the courthouse Saturday afternoon, ruled that Bruce Girvan, aged nine and a half years, should continue to reside with his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Girvan, Ottawa.

Beatrice B. Girvan, the boy's mother, who is now a stenographer in a New York city commercial plant, had sought a writ of habeas corpus to secure the custody of her son.

Will Encourage Scientific Research Among Londoners

In view of the fact that Londoners who are interested or likely to become so.

At the recent initial gathering the members consulted with leading scientific and analytic chemists of the city, and discussed the use of chemistry as it relates to industry in London.

The claim was made during the meeting that London "was a city which did without science and industry." While this is not quite correct, it is said however, that the industrial interests have indeed apparently being a little tardy in seizing such opportunities as have been available.

STILL SEEKS FULL IRISH AUTONOMY

Eamonn de Valera Declares Republic Exists and Will Continue.

Paris, Jan. 30.—In a statement to the Echo de Paris, Eamonn de Valera says: "My policy in Ireland is to win full independence for which we have struggled for years. The republic of Ireland exists. An attempt is being made to substitute for this another form of government. All my efforts aim to preserve it as it is, without permitting the modification of anything essential in the constitution."

"In addition, and it is grand task, we are going to work to get the republic of Ireland recognized by foreign governments."

It was pointed out that in view of the Anglo-Irish pact it would be difficult or impossible for foreign governments to recognize the Irish republic, to which Mr. de Valera replied: "The pact in question is not only a project, not ratified by the people. Until Ireland has decided on this subject, I consider the argument null and void. In the near future—date has not yet been fixed—the men and women of Ireland will vote and thus make known their sentiments on the agreement proposed by England. That general election will decide the fate of Ireland."

LEADS SERVICE OF PRAISE FOR SON'S RELEASE

Rev. James Bullock Preaches Thanksgiving Sermon in Hamilton A.M.E. Church.

GRATEFUL TO CANADA

White-Haired Minister Finds Text in Story of Daniel and Lions.

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—Speaking yesterday afternoon in the A. M. E. church, at a service of thanksgiving for the release of his son, Matthew Bullock, Rev. Jas. Bullock drew attention to a fact, which he regarded as a particular act of providence.

For the past few years, he said, he had been unable to continue his church work during the winter owing to illness. Every October he would have to consign himself to couches, fireside chairs and beds until well on in April and leave the care of his flock to other hands. This winter, in a most strange way, he seemed to have returned to normal health just when his services were required for the protection of his son. So far he had not been compelled to miss a service until coming up to Canada last Monday.

The service itself formed an impressive and picturesque climax to the Bullock case, which has excited two countries for several weeks.

Rev. James Bullock is 59 years of age, white-haired and with a feeble frame that makes him appear far older. Rising to preach the sermon, in a weak, shaky voice, that at times was almost inaudible, he said:

Recalls Daniel's Escape.

"Brothers, had I my desire now at the end of my great anxiety, I would rather be on my knees in solicitude to my God and thanksgiving to you people for saving my boy."

Mr. Bullock took as his text the words, "Give God Time," and compared the fight to save his son from the Carolina mob with the people in the Old Testament and the miraculous escape of Daniel from the lions' den.

As he went on his fervor overcame his weakness and his sermon became the impassioned oration of a much more youthful speaker. Bullock, in the Barton street jail, waiting to be delivered to the Carolina authorities, was as Daniel thrust to the lions, and the same heavenly power that had saved Daniel of old had saved his son. The power of God was too broad, too deep and too high to permit the return of his son to Norlina.

Thanks Canadians.

Mr. Bullock interspersed his address with emphatic expressions of thanks to the Canadian people and to Rev. Mr. Howell, who, he said, would be remembered by colored folks far and wide, through his strenuous fight to save an unknown negro from a terrible fate.

"This is the first time in my 57 years that I have ever done a Canadian job," he added. "If it is any better farther on than it is here I want to go on."

In conclusion Mr. Bullock appealed to the congregation to look only to their Heavenly Father. "Turn neither to the right nor to the left," he urged, "stay away from the card table, the gambling den and the ball room."

Flux indicates an increase of 15,852 bushels.

The quantity of United States grain in store was 4,177,694 bushels, compared with 1,112,399 last year. The bulk of the former was made up of wheat and corn, viz., 1,002,085 and 2,842,234 bushels, respectively.

In the United States lake ports, decreases are shown in wheat, oats and barley of 3,219,723; 73,065 and 233,601 bushels, respectively.

The United States Atlantic seaboard ports show decreases in wheat of 227,679 bushels and rye, 29,127 bushels.

KIWANIANS HEAR OF BOYS' WORK

National Secretary, L. Buckley, Gives Luncheon Address.

L. Buckley, national secretary of boys' work, Y.M.C.A., addressed the Rotary club at its weekly luncheon in the Trenchum house. The secretary has just returned from a trip across Canada in connection with the work being done by the Y.M.C.A. and stated that he had found that the chief difficulty now was not a matter of getting the men of the country interested in boys' work, but had already been done, but that it was necessary to give guidance to that work so that it was done properly and thoroughly. The development of the boys' work in the last few years had been remarkable, said the speaker, and the life of the average Canadian boy was on a very high plain.

Boys' work was on a constructive building for the future of Canadian manhood, without better boys Canada could not get better men for the coming generations.

Mr. Buckley declared that he was not here to organize or promote anything new in the way of work among the boys but rather to see that that which had already been undertaken, was properly carried out before launching anything new.

After luncheon, the members in charge of boys, gave reports concerning the progress made by the boys during the last few months. Rev. T. S. Roy gave a short address of farewell to the members, this being the last time that he will be able to meet all the members at once.

Principal Beale, of the Technical school, gave a report on the number of students attending the special classes provided for the adolescents who are governed by the act.

PLAN BUT TWO CAMERA MEN AT ROYAL WEDDING

London, Jan. 30.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Full details of the arrangements for the wedding of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles on Feb. 28 are likely to be announced when King George returns to London within the next few days.

Westminster Abbey authorities consider that the admission of two photographers to the Abbey for the royal wedding should be sufficient to satisfy the desires of the press photographers. The latter, however, do not regard this as adequate, as they have had visions of erecting formidable apparatus in the Abbey for taking flashlights for the "movies" and so forth.

BOOST VALUE OF B. C. MINE TO $80,000,000

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 29.—Striking of a large new body of ore in the famous Premier Mine at Stewart, B. C., has increased the value of the property to $80,000,000, according to messages received here tonight from Stewart.

Officials at the department of mines expressed surprise at the estimate, it has been known for some time that the company had $10,000,000 actually in sight before undertaking recent expenditures. The Guggenheims and President W. R. Wilson of the Crow's Nest Coal Company control the mine.

ENDEAVOR TO STAY FARM FORECLOSURES

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 29.—In an effort to assist the farmers who because of stringent financial times are unable to meet interest on mortgages the provincial government has made informal representations to a number of financial institutions doing business within the province with a view to prevent foreclosures. Co-operation with the government by the companies, cabinet ministers said yesterday, had been obtained in many cases.

POSTOFFICE INSPECTOR TO TAKE ACTION

D. J. MacLean Declares Newspapers Containing Selections Cannot Be Mailed.

PROMISES QUICK ACTION

Will Clamp Lid Tight On Early Morning Newspaper.

Disregarding common decency and the best interests of the youths of the city, a London morning newspaper in its desire to cater to that which is illegal in "the sport of kings," continues to publish camouflaged racing tips, and as a result, the postal authorities have decided to take a hand in purging the columns of the newspaper in question of "selections." This was the pledge given The Advertiser today by D. J. MacLean, district postal inspector.

It was pointed out to the inspector that despite the condemnation of practically every minister of London, the paper in question has continued to publish racing "tips," which inveigle youths of the district to rashly bet their money in vain hopes of "making a killing." However, when the condemnation was at its height, some ten days ago the paper hesitated to brazenly continue open publication of tips, but bracketed the selections, such as marking the best selection (1), the next best (2), and so on.

Order Forbids "Selections."

Inspector MacLean states that an order has been issued expressly forbidding racing selections to be published by newspapers or doped sheets in this surreptitious manner. He asserts that the order forbids the mailing of papers practicing this evil on the grounds that according to the Postal Department such practice is fraud.

One or two instances of this order being disregarded have been brought to the attention of the department which is determined that they must cease. He stated that this is the third ban on mail matter carrying racing tips within the last two months. One circular printed this month has taboed the "Think Un," and a racing sheet from across the border, and in December a doped sheet printed in Baltimore was eliminated from the Canadian mails.

"We will go into the matter with them," said Inspector MacLean, referring to the publishers of the London morning newspaper. When the ban was first put into effect many publications which carried racing information immediately complied with the law.

Hard To Detect Methods.

However, such is the technique of the gamblers, armed with an intricate vocabulary and hosts of wily schemes, that it became a serious task for the postal authorities of Canada to detect their methods and clamp the lid on light. For this reason, delay has been experienced in the enforcement of the act, but undoubtedly within the next few days, Western Ontario's youth will no longer be menaced by "racing tips" published under various guises, now that the main source for the district has been scrutinized by Inspector MacLean, who promises immediate action.

CITY ASSESSORS TO BEGIN WORK AT EARLY DATE

Valuation of London Property Will Commence Earlier Than in Previous Year.

GRANT AUGMENTS STAFF

Specific Instructions in Regard to New System To Be Outlined at Conference.

On Wednesday morning the assessors of the city will start on their rounds preparing for the 1922 assessment. On Tuesday afternoon, Assessment Commissioner Grant will call all his aides, assessors and assessor's clerks together for a conference.

It is the intention to complete the assessment much earlier this year than in other years. Last year the work was particularly late owing to the adoption of the new scheme of assessment. The result was that there was a general delay. The work
this year will be heavier than others.
Mr. Grant's staff this year is to be the largest yet, and on Tuesday afternoon, all will receive their final instructions so as to be ready for a start on Wednesday.

Specific instructions have been given to every assessor. They relate to every property owner and every piece of property in the city, telling specifically how assessments shall be made. Some of them deal with interpretations of the assessment act, while others explain in part the new assessment scheme. Among the more important of Mr. Grant's instructions are:

"Sub-section 3.—To remove doubts,
it is hereby declared that the cost of a building is only one of the matters which should be considered in ascertaining the amount for which a building should be assessed, and if it is found that a building, either because of its condition as to repair or of its inappropriateness to the location in which it is found, or because of any other circumstances affecting its value, increases the value of the land by less than the cost of the building, or the cost of replacing it, such lesser sum shall be the amount for which the building shall be assessed under sub-section 2; the meaning of that sub-section being that buildings shall be assessed for the amount of the difference between the selling value of the whole property and the selling value of the land if there were no buildings on it.

Record of Building.
"There will soon be a record of every building in the city in this office.

"You must remember that you have not the opportunity in the time given for the assessment to make a valuation of all properties you meet,
but you cannot get behind the fact that when you deliver an assessment notice, you are satisfied and responsible for the valuation.

"Should you meet a property that you consider too low or too high, do not leave a notice, but report to the department, and it will be taken up by the board of assessors. You will be one of the assessors. The number of divisions has been increased from 77 to 99, the blocks have been rearranged and great care must be exercised in placing entries as well as blocks in their proper order.

"Landscape labor and dogs are quite an income to the city. Be diligent in your efforts. In many instances you will find that a dog assessed for statute labor may be liable for income tax, but that part must be adjusted in the office.

"In addition to the particulars required by the assessment act to be entered upon the assessment roll, every assessor shall enter upon the roll the names of every person who is of the full age of 21 years, a British subject, and who has been a resident of Ontario for a period of nine months prior to the date fixed for the assessor to begin to make up his roll, and who is a resident of the municipality and qualified in other respects, as the assessor believes, to vote at the elections to the assessor-ship.

"After the name of every person
so entered, the assessor shall enter the person's place of residence, occupation and condition (as "married," or "unmarried woman," "widower," "widow," "bachelor" or "spinster," as the case may be), or initials denoting such condition, and letters "L. F." (Legislative franchise).

HE DECLARES REDMAC RELIEVED HIM After Five Years of Suffering

In a few weeks Redmac had me feeling like a brand new man, and I truthfully say it is the best medicine
I ever heard of. For five years I have suffered with a pain in my back. It would take me suddenly, and I would scream with pain. My kidneys were all out of order. I had lost my appetite, and had awful headaches at times. I was a wreck. A friend of mine who had taken Redmac for indigestion, advised me to try it. I have taken three bottles, and am now feeling fine. This is one of the many testimonials we get every day. We pass it on to you. If you are feeling the same, or if your case is different,
but you are not feeling right, you have indigestion, or liver trouble, or Rheumatism, it is all the same. Red-mac is here to heal you. Go to your druggist and get a bottle today, and be sure you get Redmac. A large generous bottle can be procured for very little money. Sold by Taylor's

DEMANDS DANCING BAN AT SCHOOL

which tend through overlapping to disrupt the energies of our young people and destroy the home life.
"That the dancing in connection with the opening of the new school was to be part of a social program, prepared by the students' council for the year which permits dancing at commencement, and occasionally
at the close of other social functions of a more limited character;
that the so-called dance is not to be held on the night of the public opening but at the students' reception the following evening, and is to be but one of several entertainment features providing for the tastes of those wishing to dance and those who may not; that the reason advanced for sanctioning dancing in connection with the school is that in their judgment it is better to have the school dances where they can be properly supervised and controlled;—

Recreation Has Value.

"The committee sets forth:
Its ungrudging belief in the important place which social recreation has in the life of the young and the conviction that the time has come when the church, the home and the school should co-operate in making provision for such wholesome means of recreation as will meet the natural and proper demands of youth for amusement, play and social fellowship and on which all may agree.
"2.—It recommends further that responsible bodies such as the collegiate authorities and the Ministerial Alliance should seek conference with each other in attempting to find a solution for the problems affecting the youth of the city rather than appearing by open attacks to be a house divided. A public press, with an eye single to the welfare of the community, could aid greatly in this matter."
The committee appointed to tender
the resolution to the board was Rev.
Thomson, Rev. McKee, Canon
Sage, Rev. Martin Kelly and W. R.
McIntosh.

Sees Dangers in Modern Dancing

Preaching on "Modern Amusements," Rev. A. J. Agnew of Ridout Street Methodist Church, drew attention to the danger of the board of education putting its seal of approval to the proposed dance to be held at the opening of the Collegiate Institute.
"Once the sex element is eliminated from the dance, the dance will be put out of business," declared Mr. Agnew. "If men were required to dance with men and girls with those of their own sex, the dance halls would be closed inside of three months. The only attraction that the dance hall has is the appeal of the sexes and this breeds familiarity and tends to break down
the ideals of society."
"The public dance has always been questioned by a great many people, some of the reasons being that a great deal of time was simply wasted and energy used up by those indulging in the pastime. It often prevented promotion in business life, because the dances were rendered untidy, both in mind and body,
to do a good day's work."
The fact that people of today thought that the dance ought to be supervised was an indication that there was danger to be found in it, he said. Pleasure and recreation were essentials to every person's life, but must be balanced with work and should be the reward for work.
Wholesome amusement was a necessary to young people as a result of the food. There were certainly recreations that were never questioned by anyone, such as baseball.

Stanley Piper of 263 Dundas street

President's Visit to City May Cause New Developments.

That important developments in the local street railway situation may be expected at any moment is evidenced by the fact that President Currie, of the railway company, is in the city from Akron, Ohio.
Ald. John Ashton, a prominent member of the local street railway-men's union reiterated his contention on Monday that the next move should be by the company.
He admitted that it was quite possible that the men might, at the company's recent announcement of a three-cent reduction effective March 1, move for an increase of salary of 10 per cent.
That the situation will in time necessitate a board of conciliation is now deemed unavoidable.

POSTOFFICE HAS 4 VACANT POSITIONS

Applications for Three Have Been In For Some Time.

Tuesday night will see the local

January Sales Will End Tomorrow

In point of satisfaction and savings these sales have been a highly profitable form of investment for both your time and money during the present month, and we think have been of more significance than any previous year's events. Tomorrow is stock-listing, and besides the scheduled department sales for the last day, which are Umbrellas, Linens and Comforters, on all floors will be found clearings which are in too small quantities to advertise. The process of listing and grouping reveals many odds and ends, which rather than list in stock, are priced at fractional prices. Tomorrow may be well spent around the sale counters at this store.

MAKE NEW JUMP AT OTTAWA SKI CONTEST

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—The ski club ski jumping tournament at Fairly Lake on Sunday afternoon, produced many thrills for the onlookers and was an unqualified success.
Their excellencies, Lord and Lady Byng, with a party, arrived shortly before three o'clock, and the jumping took place immediately upon their arrival. The day was ideal and the hill in perfect shape, though the tower was affected to some extent by the brilliant afternoon sun which sloped up the skiers somewhat. The big event of the afternoon was a tandem somersault performed by John Carlton and Richard Bowker, of Dartmouth. This was the first time that these men had done this spectacular trick together. The two jumpers who are short in stature and about the same height, glided down

the tower hand in hand and soared off into space turning a complete somersault in the air, landing in a crouched position. They regained their feet and continued on down the steep landing. On previous occasions the stunt has been done singly, this being the first time it has been done double.

ESTABLISH NEW CLYDE SHIPBUILDING RECORD

London, Jan. 30.—Canadian Press Cable.—A record output has been established by the Clyde shipyards for the month of January, eight steamers, nearly all oil burners, and aggregating 52,000 tons, having been launched.

For the year 1921, 249 vessels of 511,000 tons, were completed on the Clyde. This was a decrease of 81 vessels, and 161,000 tons compared with 1920.

TWO MEN WERE admitted to Victoria Hospital Monday morning as the result of an accident. Their fingers had been caught in machinery. Henry Morris of High and Chester streets, an employee of Mc-Clary's, had two fingers smashed, and Frederick Oliver of 1172 Wilton avenue, an employee of McCormick Manufacturing Company, had a thumb smashed. It was found necessary to amputate it.

PRESBYTERIANS, Methodists and Congregationalists united in a meeting this morning to further the cause of church union. The condition in mission fields was especially deplored. There was apt to be rivalry and overlapping among denominations which greatly hindered missionaries in their work. Since the meeting was merely preliminary and nothing definite was to be decided upon, the press was excluded. Rev. D. C. Mc-Gregor placed before the meeting the steps which had been taken by various committees to further the cause of church union.

REPORTS SALE OF ABATTOIR TO DETROIT FIRM

Rumored That an American Creamery Will Locate
in London East.

REFUSE TO NAME BUYER

Building Was Formerly Home
of Canadian Packing Company.

There is every reason to believe that one of East London's familiar landmarks, the old abattoir, formerly the home of the Canadian Packing Company, has now been sold to Detroit capital. It is understood that the deal was finally consummated Saturday after several days' negotiations.

Questioned Monday morning as to the possible truth of the report that the building in question had been disposed of to a certain American creamery firm, John Greer, of the firm of A. B. Greer and Son, who are said to be the principal owners, replied: "Yes, I could say there was some truth in it."

Asked as to the identity of the purchasers, Mr. Greer explained that he was not in any position to make public any further particulars.

While it was definitely known that representatives of an outside firm, supposedly an endeavoring to secure a location in London, the officials of the Chamber of Commerce also declined to advance any information other than that they knew that such negotiations were in progress.

J. B. HAY RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE

Represented London at Chicago Rally of 1,250 Kiwanians.

The international conference of the Kiwanis Clubs held in Chicago Friday and Saturday of last week was a very enthusiastic meeting. District governors and district trustees present from 27 districts, London district being represented by J. B. Hay. More than 1,250 members attending the conference were present at the banquet, which was held in the grill room of the Congress Hotel, and is said to have been the largest Kiwanis banquet ever held.

George Ross, financial commissioner of Toronto, was the speaker of the evening, and his subject was "Closer Relationship Between Canada and United States."

A large amount of legislation was discussed and adopted at the conference.

That the work of the London district Kiwanians is attracting attention abroad, may be judged by a letter just received by Hugh F. Murray, the district secretary-treasurer, from Chas. H. Russell, secretary of the Montreal Club, which reads as follows:

"Your monthly report for December was so fine, with all that account of the good work being done throughout the district, that we did not read it to our members until the meeting yesterday, when we had His Excellency Governor-General Lord Byng as our guest-speaker."

"We had invited all the Rotarians as guests of the club and arranged for pairing them with a Kiwanian who saw his man before the meeting to make sure that he would be there to sit with him. This mixed the two gangs in great shape, and all had a splendid time. There were nearly 600 present."

"Your report gave the governor-general and the Rotarians, as well as our members, some idea of the work that is being done by Kiwanis and received hearty applause."

"We have secured the assent of his excellency to become an honorary member of the Montreal Club."

GARDENERS OF DISTRICT HEAR TALK ON SEEDS

F. G. Fuller Addresses London Branch of Ontario Veget-table Growers.

DISCUSS FAIR JUDGING

Members Want Exhibitors' Names Obscured Until Awards Are Made.

A profitable meeting of the London Branch of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association was held in the local Department of Agriculture Saturday evening.

A resolution was passed deploring the fact that a movement was on foot to withdraw the exhibits of the field crop competition at the Western Fair, this with a lengthy discussion both at this and the previous meeting gave the delegates to the annual meeting of the central organization plenty of material for discussion.

Discuss Judging.

Regarding the exhibits at the Western Fair, it was agreed unanimously that the names of the exhibitors be obscured during the judging. Some did not favor the idea of having exhibitors in the building at this time. These questions, with others, will be taken up with the fair board at the annual meeting.

F. G. Fuller gave a very interesting address on "Seeds from the Grower's Standpoint," pointing out that first class seeds were not a commercial grower wanted, rather than cheap seeds. G. H. Poole, Eli Davis and F. G. Fuller discussed seed testing, pointing out the advantage of buying sufficient seed one year to test for next year's crop, thus keeping crop up to standard.

The association is growing every year and it is the purpose of the executive to keep before the new members the best type of vegetables, and at each meeting an effort is made to have the younger vegetable growers do practical judging. On Saturday night, parsley, onions and early potatoes were judged, and Wm. Pratt an extensive exhibitor, gave a demonstration in judging and showed the others where they had "fallen down." Orders were taken for baskets and fertilizers, which are considerably cheaper this year than formerly.

About thirty-five members were present, as well as several women and other visitors.

ACADEMY HEARS FAMOUS SURGEON

Dr. Albert Carlless Speaks in Medical School Auditorium.

Members of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine are being honored Monday by the presence of a distinguished visitor, and a leader in the medical profession, Albert Carlless, C.B.E., M.B., M.S. (London), F.R.C.S., medical director of Barnardo Homes, who is on a short stay in this district.

Dr. Carlless, who is consulting surgeon to the Eastern command of the British army, emeritus professor of surgery to King's College, London, consulting surgeon to King's College Hospital, formerly examiner in surgery to the universities of Glasgow, London, Manchester, Liverpool and Leeds, and to the Royal Army Medical Corps, including Western Ontario Academy of Medicine in the auditorium of Western University Medical School Friday afternoon.

He based his remarks on a surgical topic, and as Dr. Carlless is the author of a surgical text book, which is used extensively in medical schools of Canada, including Western University, his presence has evinced great interest on the part of physicians of London and vicinity. It is understood that Dr. Carlless, who was in Canada about one year ago in connection with his duties as director of Barnardo Homes, has returned to Western Ontario on a similar mission.

WILL ORGANIZE AUTO MECHANICS OF LONDON

Harry Kerwin, of Toronto, a member of the eastern executive of the International Machineists' Union, and president of the Ontario branch of the Canadian Labor Party, will be a visitor in London labor circles this week.

In addition to addressing open meetings of rail employees he will address a mass meeting in the Labor Temple Thursday night, at which an attempt will be made to unionize the automobile mechanics of the city.

The latter are those men who are employed in the garages as well as those in the respective automobile plants in the city.

EXPECT CARDINALS TO BE LATE FOR ELECTION

On board the steamship La Lorraine, by wireless, Jan. 30.—Stormy weather is being encountered and it is expected the voyage to Rome will be late more than nine days, thus making it improbable that Cardinal Doherty of Philadelphia and Cardinal Bégin of Quebec, who are on their way to Rome for the conclave, will reach their destination before the election for the new pope is completed.

Yesterday's weather was extremely violent, preventing the cardinals from celebrating mass. The cabins of Cardinal Doherty and his secretary were flooded.

Many Londoners Enjoy Sunday Skating at Coves and in Parks

Manager Buchanan Declares Nothing Can Be Done
To Prevent Use of Rinks On Sundays.

Sunday skaters on the coves could be counted in tens in pre-war days. Now they are counted by the hundreds. All day Sunday the large sheet of ice black with skaters, from the small boy of 10 summers to the older chap with grey-streaked hair.

During the afternoon numerous "flappers" swung merrily along the banks in their galoshes, later to don their skates and swing up and down the glassy stretch of ice. The day was simply ideal for outdoor skating, and even although it was the Sabbath, many could not resist the temptation to enjoy a whirl or two on the famous coves. Automobiles were lined up on both sides of the Pipe Line road, many of the people making this their starting point.

In the evening the open-air rink at Victoria Park was crowded with skaters, and Thames Park rink was no exception to the rule. Some church-going people wondered why these bold youths were not arrested by the police. Chief Robert Birrell stated that he had no authority to arrest people for skating on Sunday.

LONDONERS TO MAKE VISIT TO WEST INDIES

Local Businessmen Will Study Conditions in Southern Country.

PLAN TRADE EXPANSION

Gordon Philip Reports Arrangements Have Been Completed.

Under consideration for several weeks' past, the proposed trip of Canadian businessmen to the islands of the West Indies is now assured, Gordon Philip, managing secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce, announced on Monday.

Several local persons have already expressed a desire to accompany this party that leaves to study Central America and the countries to be visited.

Manager Philip was informed Monday morning that arrangements are practically complete. The Londoners and others from Western Ontario must arrange to be at Halifax in time to leave on a Canadian Mercantile Marine boat Feb. 15.

The first stop will be Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 17, where Kingston, Jamaica, will be reached on the 25th. Transferring to the Megantic the Canadians will journey to Central America and thence down to Port Au Prince, arriving at the latter place March 7.

Authorities of the various countries and islands will meet the visitors and side-trips will be arranged. The return journey will be made by way of St. John, N. B.

COURT OF REVISION WILL SIT TUESDAY

Expected That Large Number of Local Improvement Appeals Will Be Heard.

The court of revision will sit on Tuesday at the city hall, when there will be quite an amount of business to be handled, a number of matters having been hanging fire for some time, which are to be cleaned up. A number of new appeals in regard to business assessment have been entered and these will also be heard.

The important appeals have to do with local assessment by-laws for the past year. It is expected that there will be a good number of appeals of this order. Many of the local improvement by-laws, in fact the majority, were put through on a two-thirds vote of the council. The result is that there is a more or less wholesale kicking against some of the work.

The Piccadilly street pavement may come to the fore again. When the residents kicked against the alleged faulty workmanship on this pavement, the council told them to appeal to the court of revision and that they might reasonably expect that their payments on the pavement might be delayed for a year to see if the prediction of the engineer, that the pavement would knit together with traffic, comes true.

URGE BROADENING OUT OF I. L. P. MOVEMENT

Hamilton, Jan. 29.—The local and district branches of the I. L. P. met on Saturday and decided to organize a Labor representation committee. The feeling of the meeting was that the I. L. P. movement did not go far enough and should broaden out. Efforts will be made to link up all I. L. P. branches, trades unions and U. F. O. organizations in Ontario.

Ten British monarchs have used the king's state barge, now 230 years old. Eighty-six thousand French soldiers contracted tuberculosis during the war.

REUNION NIGHT AT "Y" REVIVES OLD MEMORIES

Londoners From South of England Renew Associations With the Old Land.

INDULGE IN SINGSONG

Y. M. C. A. Officials Plan To Hold County Reunions
in Near Future.

Between two and three hundred Londoners, who formerly resided in the southern parts of England gathered at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night, to enjoy fond recollections of the places of their nativity that were brought forth in the South of England reunion, held by the Y. authorities.

In conjunction with the reunion, a concert was given and a musical program of some length. Of the views a large number illustrated picturesque Warwick, others Cornish scenery, and some pictures of the Kentish downs.

The selections on the musical program included a considerable number that would bring the men of South England reminiscences of the old land, such as "My Girl's a Yorkshire Girl," "She Is My Daisy," "March of the Men of Harlech," "It Is the Navy," and "Sussex by the Sea."

A sing-song under the leadership of R. P. Liddle of the Y. opened the program. The following participated in the concert: Mr. J. Burdock, concertina solos; Miss P. Burdock, dances; Mr. Tom Jones, comic numbers; Mr. J. Sullivan, old English numbers on the concertina; Miss Doris Yull, readings; Mr. G. Gill, readings; Miss Jarvis, two humorous songs. H. Edwards was the pianist and W. J. Bugler, musical director.

Dr. Hugh Stevenson delivered a brief address to the gathering. It was announced during the reunion that it will be the policy of the Y. to hold smaller reunions frequently in the future, each reunion being for some county in England, thus one night will be Lancashire night, one Yorkshire. These reunions will be especially for newly-arrived immigrants from England.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HARRIET PRIDDIS

London and Middlesex Historical Society Tender Sympathy to Relatives.

At a recent meeting of the London and Middlesex Historical Society a resolution of sympathy was tendered the friends of the late Miss Harriet Priddis of this city, founder of the society and one of its most ardent workers.

The resolution, moved by Henry Macklin and seconded by Dr. Woolverton, read as follows: "At this, the first meeting of the London and Middlesex Historical Society following the death of Miss Priddis, which occurred in the first week of the year. Many of our members have lost a warm friend and the society its actual founder."

"She was for many years one of its most active members, having contributed papers which were published in its transactions—the Proudfoot papers, and the papers on the streets of London, being alone sufficient to cause the name of Harriet Priddis to be remembered by students of London history. The society mourns her loss and feels grateful for what she has done for it."

CORRECTION IN HYDRO ADVER- TISEMENT.

In Monday morning's issue, an announcement of the Hydro Shop stated that a McClary 3-Burner Electric Range would be installed complete for only $3 down. This price should have been $15 down.

DIAMOND MINED IN BRITISH GUIANA LARGEST YET

What is believed to be the largest ever found in the Western Hemisphere is the diamond brought to New York, Jan. 10, 1922, by Professor W. J. Lavarre. Its weight is not officially announced as yet. So states the Mail and Empire. Diamonds win, hearts especially Blue. White Perfect Diamonds sold at J. A. Nash, My Jeweler's "Success Jewelry" sale, 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy."

On a general inspection of the Grand Trunk Railroad system, G. Howard Kelly, president and W. D. Robb, vice-president of that corporation will stop in London Wednesday, February 1. Although both officials have passed through the city at different times within the past few months, a considerable length of time has elapsed since they conducted any great inspection.

A complete survey of the local yards, freight sheds, round-house, car-shops and offices is scheduled.

Invite London Business- men To British Fair

LONDON business firms have been invited through the local Chamber of Commerce to send trade representatives to the British Industrial Fair, in London and Birmingham, February 27 to March 10. Exhibits have been selected to cover the entire range of British industrial production. The London fair is held under the auspices of the British department of overseas trade. The Birmingham exhibit is the result of municipal enterprise with the support of the government. It is expected that local firms will be represented.

WILL OPEN NEW HYDRO STATION

Mayor Wilson To Officiate at Inauguration of Transformer Depot.

Ready for use and heralded as one of the finest examples of modern installations on the continent, the new hydro electric transformer station, corner Cabell street and Kitchener avenue, East London, will be officially opened on Saturday afternoon next.

It is proposed at this moment that the formal ceremonies will be attended by Mayor Cameron J. Wilson, members of the Public Utilities Commission, the city council and all other civic officials as well as any of the general public who desire to attend.

But little remains to be accomplished, hydro officials reported on Monday morning, and although considerable time must yet be employed in a general clean up of the new premises it is expected that the proposed ceremonial will be enacted without a hitch.

When the new station is placed in regular service it will supply electricity to the entire section of the city lying east of Colborne street, while that portion west of Colborne street will be supplied as previously, from the Horton street station, although the East London station will be the controlling hydro centre for London.

ARRANGE ALUMNI CONGRESS IN CITY

Members of Ontario Agricultural College To Gather
On February 10.

Arrangements are being completed for a convention of the graduates of the Ontario Agricultural College. The opening session will be held on the afternoon of the 10th with a banquet at the Tecumseh House in the evening. The following day another business session will be held.

An effort is being made to bring one or two prominent speakers from outside points. It is hoped that either Sir Joseph Flavelle or Sir Thomas White will accede to the request.

It is proposed that each alternative convention hereafter will be held in Toronto with Western and Eastern Ontario following. As the Alumni of Western Ontario have already an organization and have fostered the movement from its inception, London has been selected for the first annual provincial gathering.

The building permits are starting to issue a little more rapidly than was the case during the first two weeks of the year. Two residential permits are among the latest issued which makes the total 32 permits, value $40,190. L. Camp, 959 Mainland, will spend 3,000 remodeling his dwelling and putting a new verandah on it. W. J. Smith will spend a like amount on a new frame and stucco dwelling on Emery street. Smith Furniture Co., Dundas street, will remodel their store at a cost of $250 and Dr. Tennant will reshingle a cottage, 258 Wellington street, cost $175.

BUSINESSMEN AND FARMERS GET TOGETHER

Agricultural Section of London Chamber of Commerce Outcome of Meeting.

TO STUDY PROBLEMS

Middlesex Farmers Take Lead
in Effort To Solve Rural and Urban Troubles.

With a view toward greater cooperation between the citizens of London and the residents of the neighboring rural districts, an agricultural section of the chamber of commerce was instituted at a general mass meeting of Middlesex farmers in the Tecumseh House on Saturday afternoon last.

There ensued but little opposition to the move, but one or two of the gathering being seemingly a trifle skeptical, their voice was lost in the majority of the farmers who obviously were only too willing that some definite step be taken to facilitate the better consideration of those problems arising from time to time that affect urban and rural district alike.

The proceedings on Saturday were opened with addresses by Col. Brown of the Western University, Gordon Philip, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, and Watson H. Porter, whose interest in the agricultural movement is well known throughout Western Ontario.

Farmers and the C. of C.

A suggestion by one of the visitors that the directors of the C. of C. throw open their association to admit the farmers of the county on an equal footing with the local members was first discussed, but it was reasoned that for the present at least a farmers' section would suffice.

Election of officers for 1922 and preliminary organization featured the afternoon. Although he was quite willing that a chairman residing in the country should be chosen, Watson H. Porter was ultimately elected without opposition. To that post, Harry Shore and Jas. Wheaton declining in his favor. The vice-chairmen for the year are James H. Wheaton of Thornedale and J. Walmer of Metcalfe. Messrs. Craig, Shore and Bogue were also nominated, but subsequently withdrew.

George Bogue was the unanimous choice as secretary, while the executive committee of seven was also elected by acclamation. The latter were: W. J. Ellis, London Township; Charles M. MacFie, Appin; Lyman Chapman, Lobo; Lewis Craig, Belmont; Harry Shore, Byram; D. M. Munro, Iderton; and N. Sanderson of Byron. Edward Douglas of Iderton and Richard Fitzgerald were also nominated, but withdrew.

CHOOSE MOULD AS LABOR HEAD

Election of officers for 1922 and general routine business claimed the attention of the London members of the Independent Labor party in general session in the Labor Temple Sunday afternoon.

Resolutions to be presented at the Canadian Labor party convention in Stratford Feb. 24 were outlined and considered. Ald. Henry B. Ashplant, and Fred White were appointed as delegates to represent the local party at the conference.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Honorary president, Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London; president, Arthur Mould; first vice-president, Dan Menzies; second vice-president, Ald. John Ashton; third vice-president, Ald. Watkinson; fourth vice-president, Ald. Henry B. Ashplant; secretary, J. F. Thomson; financial secretary, Fred White.

At the next regular gathering of the peace treaty as evidenced by the two international labor conferences, Washington and Geneva.

KARL'S EXILE IS NOT LIKE THAT OF BONAPARTE

Ex-Emperor of Austria Lives in Luxury On Beautiful Island.

LIFE FROM DAY TO DAY

Englishwoman Writes Exclusive Story of How Zita and Karl Live.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The first real story of the exile life of ex-emperor Karl of Austria and his wife Zita on the island of Madeira has just been brought here by Mrs. William Hartley Bevans, an Englishwoman.

Mrs. Bevans, just back from Madeira, spent much time in the company of the exiled ex-empress, and talked with her regarding the war and the chain of events succeeding it that led to the banishment of the one-time royal couple to a life of exile on the little tropical isle.

The London Advertiser gives here Mrs. Bevans' story. It was obtained just before Zita got special permission of the Allies to visit her son who is ill in Switzerland.

BY MRS. LILLIAN H. BEVANS.

EX-EMPEROR KARL, exiled with his wife Zita on Madeira Island, is a long way off from being a Napoleon. Longwood, where the Corsican was kept until his death, was little more than a plain-furnished farmhouse and the few servants were just so many warders. Karl has Zita to share his life. He lives in a beautiful villa, luxuriously appointed.

There are more than enough servants to make sure that the two exiles do not have to lift a finger to help themselves, and they are surrounded by attendant guards with all the ceremony due to royalty.

No more are they troubled with the cares of state, nor do they have the worries of the ordinary citizen.

They are spared even the trouble of going to church, for a chapel has been fitted up in the villa, and they have their private chaplain. Soon the will have their own movies.

Spent Much Time in Prayer. The exiled couple spend a great deal of their time in praying. They start the morning at 7 o'clock with prayers in the little private chapel.

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs. Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loversburg, Sask., writes:

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight, become very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a real wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39.

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and after three months use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

BE PRETTY! TURN GREY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wynell's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Half Newly Weds Brief Honeymoon "On Rods."

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—A honeymoon tour on the rods of a freight train, ended today for John Bower and his wife Helen, both 25 years old, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

After they appeared in court to answer charges of disorderly conduct, $15 was collected for them to pay their way back to Grand Rapids. Bower was married Jan. 9 and took his bride to Iowa, with the expectation of obtaining a job from his brother. He failed to obtain work, and with their funds reduced to 50 cents, decided to "beat" their way home.

Their first thought is for their absent children.

Their next plea is for the distressed people of the former Austrian empire, and then husband and wife join in a pathetic appeal to forgive personal transgressions and to clear both in the sight of the world of responsibility for the war.

The day is spent out of doors as much as possible, the exiled pair making picnics over the island, but returning to the villa for meals. When out of doors they make friends with the kiddies, and seem deeply touched by the marks of respect shown them by all whom they meet.

In the evening there is reading and music. Zita has a preference for classical pieces, but Karl seems happiest with lively jazz music that is the chief sitting-room portraits of the children of the exiles are prominently displayed, and the ex-empress has confessed to me with tears in her eyes that but for the absence of the children the peace and quiet of their life would be preferable to the noise and bustle of the world from which they have been exiled.

Planned To Take Children. She added that their natural inclination had been to take the children into exile, but they had agreed it was not fair to the children.

References to the war are not often made, but when I explained that I was returning to England, the ex-empress exclaimed: "More than anything I would like the English people to know that we did not will the war."

The only fault that can be alleged against my husband—if it be a fault—is that he succeeded to the throne too late. Had he been called to power before 1914 there would have been no war.

"His heart was with the Entente, but called into power in the middle of the great struggle he was powerless to stop it. He did what he could to mitigate its horrors, and history will yet do justice to him for that."

Bitter At Allies' Treatment. Common interest in music drew us together a good deal, and at her own request I spent several pleasant afternoons in the company of the ex-empress either on the hills or in the villa.

She gave me the impression of being subject to fits of depression, and at times spoke bitterly of the way in which the allied nations had pushed Austria.

Both cherish the hope of a return to Austria, or at least to Hungary when conditions improve.

The ex-emperor, according to his consort, has but one thought, to work for his people so that they may be relieved from the misery that has overtaken them.

The ex-emperor is preparing for ultimate publication of his private diaries of events leading up to the war, but is hampered by the absence of reference works to check important details.

SHACKLETON DIES ON BOARD QUEST

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 29.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, the British explorer, died Jan. 5, on board the steamship Quest, on which he was making another expedition into the Antarctic regions.

Death was due to angina pectoris, and occurred when the Quest was off the Grivitken station.

The body was brought to Montevideo on board a Norwegian steamer, and will be taken by another steamer to Europe.

Captain L. Hussey of the Quest will accompany the body home. Professor Gruvel and the other members of the expedition's party will continue the expedition.

Shackleton was born in 1874. He was a third lieutenant in the British National Antarctic Expedition in 1901, and in 1907-09 commanded an expedition which got to within 97 miles of the South Pole. He made his third quest of the pole in 1914.

The expedition in which he was engaged when he died was to have covered 30,000 miles of uncharted sections of the South Atlantic, Pacific and Antarctic.

SMUTS AGAIN IN PEACEMAKER ROLE

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Premier General Smuts, of the South African Union, has written to coal and gold-mine employers and workers detailing the suffering and financial hardship occasioned by a continuation of the strike and offering government mediation, says a Reuter cable from Pretoria.

Premier Smuts says the color bar was established on a basis of statutory regulations, and has never been threatened or attacked. Thus the issue was not about the color bar, but how to save the low-grade mines, which cannot operate under present high costs. Continuation of the present high costs, he said, would mean the extinction of more than half the mining of South Africa.

The premier appeals to both sides to approach the matter in a spirit of give-and-take, since no principle is at stake, but only a question of minimizing the inevitable harm to the mining industry and the community generally. He concludes by offering the good offices of the Union Government to that end.

FIRST WEEK IN MARCH SPOKEN OF FOR OPENING

New Parliament Expected To Hold First Session in About a Month.

BUSY WEEK FOR OTTAWA

Public Works To Loom Large in Cabinet Meetings of Next Few Days.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29.—(By Canadian Press.)—With practically all the members of the cabinet in the city or expected to be here by tomorrow morning, a busy week is anticipated on Parliament Hill, with decisions on several matters which have been under consideration recently.

Hon. J. H. King, who is slated for the portfolio of minister of public works, is expected to arrive in Ottawa during the week, and will, it is expected, be in a position to advise the government with respect to conditions on the Pacific coast, where work on drydocks and other contracts, awarded just previous to the general election, was ordered suspended pending investigation.

Following a conference between Mr. King and the members of the government who are already here, it is expected that there will be some announcement as to whether or not the government will allow these works to be proceeded with.

Mr. Stewart's Plans.

Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, is expected to make an announcement towards the end of the week as to his plans for finding a seat in the Commons. The minister of the interior, Mr. Stewart, has not yet come up for discussion, it is still thought that legislative plans will be sufficiently advanced to open parliament about the first week in March.

Department heads have been asked to rush along the estimates, so that the cabinet can give them a thorough inspection before they go into the commons and apply the pruning knife where such action is found advisable.

DOUBT CONTEST TO CHOOSE POPE WILL BE SHARP

English Prelate Predicts Decision Will Be Made by Fourth Ballot.

ITALIAN LIKELY CHOICE

ROME, Jan. 29.—The 261st pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church will be elected by Saturday next, according to the consensus of opinion expressed by the prelates arriving here with the cardinals attached to the conclave. They expect that the decision will be reached on the third or fourth ballot. The conclave opens on Thursday, and from present indications the work of electing a new pope will be carried on expeditiously.

"I do not anticipate a sharply-drawn contest, which some predict," said a prominent English ecclesiastic today. "Although there are naturally divergent views among the cardinals, these differences are not irreconcilable, and I am confident that the Sacred College will be able to agree upon the successor of Benedict in a relatively short time."

American and English church dignitaries consider it a certainty that the choice will fall on an Italian. They believe the best chances lie with Cardinals Maffi, Ratti, Lega and LaFontaine.

Italian Would Please.

A prominent English prelate, who asked that his name be withheld, declared it would be a great mistake to elect a foreign cardinal, as that would lead to disappointment and dissatisfaction among countries like the United States, Great Britain and France, all of whom probably felt that they merited high office, whereas the selection of an Italian would be acceptable to all.

This church official expressed the opinion that the new pope would continue the policy of Benedict XV, in the relationship with the Quirinal, but would be careful to observe the complete independence and dignity of the Vatican. He added: "The Vatican should be neither the subject nor the guest of any government, but should be scrupulously neutral and unhampered."

Neither France nor Austria nor Spain, he declared, would attempt to exercise the right of veto of the conclave's choice, which these countries have heretofore enjoyed.

With the arrival in Rome yesterday of Cardinals Mercier, Kakowsky, Dalbor and Cernoch, archbishops respectively of Brussels, Warsaw, Posen and Budapest, every nationality which was expected to have delegates at the conclave, which is to elect a successor to the late Pope Benedict XV, is now represented in Rome, with the exception of America.

Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, and Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, are now the only missing prelates regarding whose movements the Vatican authorities are so far uncertain. (Cardinal O'Connell sailed from New York last Tuesday, and Cardinal Dougherty sailed today).

The death of Cardinal Almaraz y Santos, archbishop of Toledo, a few days ago, has reduced the number of foreign cardinals to 29.

Cardinals Cavalanti of Brazil; Herera of Santiago, Spain, and Bello of Portugal, have informed the Vatican secretariat that they will be unable to attend the opening of the conclave. Cardinal Prisco of Naples, and Cardinal Francisco-Nava of Catania, both Italians, will be unable to come to Rome on account of ill-health; thus the conclave is likely to be composed of 53 cardinals.

POPULAR GUELPH BUSINESSMAN DIES

Major J. D. Doughty Succumbs Sunday Following Operation.

[Special to London Advertiser.]

GUELPH, Jan. 29.—Major James D. Doughty, a well-known Guelph businessman and veteran of the great war, died at the General Hospital here early Sunday morning, following an operation, the last of six performed since his return from overseas, where he was severely wounded in the stomach at Upton Wood in 1918.

Major Doughty went overseas with the 133rd Battalion, and saw service with the Imperials, and later with the First Canadian Battalion.

He was a prominent member of the Ontario Rifle Association and the First Wellington Battalion. He is survived by his wife, three small children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Doughty, Guelph, and one brother, John H. Doughty, mayor of Mimico.

"I wonder if Frank is ill? I can't understand why we haven't heard from him."

"Don't worry, Mother, he's all right. He has just forgotten to write."

But Mother couldn't help worrying. No letter for ten days from her "boy" at College!

"Call him up right now," said Father—"just ask for the number. The landlady will get him to the 'phone. It's half-past eight and you'll get the evening rate on a Station-to-Station call."

In just six minutes Mother and son were having a heart-to-heart talk. Frank had written a week ago—but—had forgotten to post the letter!

"Well, what a relief," said Mother, as she turned from the telephone, "and to think how simple it was to set our minds at rest. I think I'll call him every week."

She does. Both look forward to those happy few minutes, from week to week. The reduced evening rates on her Station-to-Station calls are so very low that, as Mother says, "it would be foolish to deny myself the pleasure."

East and West.

THE MANITOBA GOVERNMENT is about to take action to make it certain that the land-squeezers shall not have a chance to operate on the farmers of that province who may be more or less temporarily embarrassed by the shortage of money, due to the short price they received last season for a high-cost crop.

It is highly necessary that such action should be taken. There are firms all over Canada who can tell for a fact, after studying their business charts and sales sheets for a period of months, that the buying power of Western Canada is right now below the safety line. Once that point is reached one of two things is going to happen: (1) The farmer is going to be pressed to the point where he will sacrifice to raise cash, or quit entirely, or (2) He is going to have access to the assistance he needs, and it must be at such a rate and on such terms that it will not ride him to death for years to come.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF Western

Canada means more to Eastern Canada than many of the easterners imagine or admit. For that reason the problems of the west deserve the serious and patient study and co-operation of the east. The eastern manufacturer is shrewd enough to know that the welfare of his customers in the west is, in the last analysis, the welfare of his own business.

From information coming from most reliable sources, it is certain that many farmers in the west lost money last year on a fair crop of No. 1 hard. When the wheat started to move toward the elevators the prices were perilously close to a no-profit undertaking, but when they fell off abruptly to around 87 cents a bushel, the west knew what it was in for.

THERE IS NOT a meeting of any size in Western Canada today where freight rates are not discussed, and where there is not a crying out for relief. Where there is so much complaint there must be a very considerable degree of justification for the complaint.

Just this week there are reports that the Alberta coal fields are apt to lose much of the headway they are making in securing the coal trade of the western provinces, because freight rates made the cost so high to the consumer that United States coal came in at an advantageously lower price.

The Western Retail Lumbermen's

Association, representing 1,400 dealers, met in Winnipeg. They demanded reductions in rates, one delegate claiming that 24 cents a bushel was the freight rate on wheat from some sections of the province. On that basis of figuring, he claimed that at present market prices every fourth crop was raised for the benefit of the carrying companies.

Then, from the standpoint of the man who has livestock to market, the point was raised at the same gathering that it took the value of one steer to take two more down to market at St. Paul, the outlet for the surplus beef of the prairies.

NOW, THESE ARE facts, and although grievances always come to the surface when men gather together to tell their troubles, there is enough to show that the west needs attention. The price the man on the land receives for his produce has dropped seriously, and markets have been closed there was heretofore open. While this has taken place the price he has to pay for transportation has stayed just about where it was when wheat was three times what it is now.

If this condition is not improved

how are we going to approach the people of Britain, or of our own Dominion, and ask them to go west and start farming? The magnet that will draw men west will be the ability of the west to reward honest work with an honest reward. That would do more to advertise and develop that country than all the publicity work and immigration officers they could engage and put to work.

It is surely bad advertisement for Western Canada to have it published all over the world that the farmers who have gone there are not satisfied with the progress they are making, and are in need of financial assistance from the government to keep them from being squeezed out of their holdings.

THERE ARE, fortunately, manufacturers in the eastern part of Canada who are right now exerting their best efforts to bring the selling price of their products down to the point where the westerner can touch it. This is a cold business proposition, and these manufacturers know they cannot reach capacity production until it is accomplished and the buying power of the west restored. It is noticed that at the meeting of the Frost & Wood Company at Smith's Falls it was stated the manufacturers of farm implements "were prepared to supply cheaper machinery to farmers, giving a $55 reduction on binders, $22 on mowers and a proportionate reduction on other articles."

This probably means that the makers of agricultural machinery are prepared to clear out existing stocks at prices that are not warranted by what it cost to manufacture. Most of these places have a lot of stock on hand that was made up when steel, iron, freight, wages and everything else was at peak prices. Cutting the price, even to a loss, is their best way out to start material moving and turn their stocks into working capital again. It also shows that these firms are keenly alive to the position the farmer is facing at the present time.

To Save Interest.

EARLIER PAYMENT of taxes will save money for a city. This is an old problem, but it has never been settled satisfactorily.

HORACE L. BRITAIN, managing director of Municipal Research and Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, points out that because the credit of municipalities is good they find it very easy—too easy, in fact—to borrow money.

If any individual had the same legal right as municipalities to take money away from citizens to the amount of his expenditures, he would have equally good credit and could easily raise money in advance of his first levy on his neighbors. To a certain type of mind, it is always easier to borrow than to earn. Such men borrow as early and pay as late as possible. Many municipalities seem to belong to this class. In 1920 every one of eighteen Canadian municipalities, taken at random, paid interest on current loans. The amounts paid varied between $2,500 and $175,000, and the effect on the tax rate varied between .23 mills and 1.6 mills. In four out of the eighteen the tax rate was increased 1 mill on the dollar, or over, by interest on current loans. In seven others it was increased by over half a mill.

How to get over this trouble should not be hard—at least not impossible. The municipalities have money coming to them. They are sure of it, but it hasn't come in yet, and they must go ahead spending. That awkward interval must be eliminated.

Mr. BRITAIN suggests that a small fund for working capital, which should be in the absolute control of the city treasurer, would enable the municipalities to tide over the few weeks before the payment of the first installment of taxes, without any temporary borrowings.

This fund could be established by levying, for a term of years, a fraction of a mill, over and above the current requirements, until a fund of sufficient size is established. If necessary, provincial legislation should be secured to authorize this method. THOMAS BRADSHAW, while finance commissioner of the city of Toronto, and GEORGE ROSS, the present commissioner, have both recommended the establishment of such a fund for Toronto.

Must Have a Seat.

HON. MR. STEWART, premier of Alberta at one time, is now a member of the King cabinet, but can take no active part in the work of administration because he has not been able to find a seat that will open up for him.

This is quite different to the plan used in United States, where it is possible for the president to choose the men to assist him that he desires, and it must be admitted that United States gets some pretty big men to become actively interested in the work of looking after the nation's business.

HON. MACKENZIE KING wants to go ahead with the business of the country. It is highly important that he should do so, and that there should be nothing that would interfere with all the departments functioning to the best advantage.

Yet here we have a condition in which it is impossible for the man whom the premier wants to go ahead with the business of administering an important department, to go ahead, because he has not yet found

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM!

There are, of course, good reasons to be advanced for the form of government that we have, but here is a concrete case where it is working out to the disadvantage of the business of the country as a whole.

The Temperance Act.

PREMIER DRURY has been approached several times with the idea of making changes in the liquor laws of the province. The Hamilton Spectator makes a good point in connection with the latest move:

"PREMIER DRURY was logical, if unsympathetic to the request of a labor delegation to modify the O. T. A. in favor of beer and light wines. The province voted against such a proposal, and it is for the people at large to nullify or sustain their decision."

There is the further point that must appeal to all law-abiding citizens in connection with the administration of the temperance act in this province. It is the law of the land, approved of by a majority of the ratepayers, and as such must be recognized and enforced.

The present law may not be perfect in its workings, but the government would hardly dare change a measure of that type without the ballot approval of the people.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Now that exchange rates are on the way down what are they going to blame high costs on?

The Chatham News says it is not correct to eat peas with a knife. Certainly not. A knife should only be used when eating pie.

Rent and fuel continue to keep up living costs, and high tax rates in nearly every city is going to make cheap rents a big problem to solve.

With 66 Farmer members in the Ottawa house this year, the city council ought to start a vacant lot out competition to keep them out of mischief.

A Hamilton man would rather go to jail than live with his wife, as she would ruin him financially. In other words, he'd rather break stone than be stone broke.

The big question now is: "Can Germany Pay?" In August, 1914, Germany was prepared to pay the price for world domination, and her willingness to pay now might have much to do with her ability to pay.

A letter writer in the Hamilton Spectator speaks of an action of the city council there as "the prize fool proposition of a jelly-backed aldermanic board." Now, if the council wants to answer back what's left of the English language for them to use?

The board of health at Port Arthur refused to allow elevators to dump any more screenings, such as straw and weeds, into the bay. As a result several large buildings are burning this refuse, and cutting their fuel bills in two. Folks can do a number of sensible things when they have to.

The Montreal Gazette thinks Mr. MCGHEEN's big chance of service to the Conservative party will lie in "reverting to the sound Conservative principles upon which the party was founded, and from which it has in late years strayed." To say the least, such a program would suggest nothing in the way of political inspiration for a leader. It bears out what many have heretofore contended, viz.: That the glory of the Conservative party is in its past.

Circus men say that the fat lady, the midget, the human skeleton, the sword swallower and the human-punchion have passed out. They no longer appeal to the public. A few decades ago, the sideshow freak was the talk and marvel of the

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL

Skate! That'll Bring Health and Vigor

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

THE Dominion is a good place in which to live. On account of the numerous inland lakes and rivers, there are few of us who cannot take advantage of outdoor exercises and sports, as swimming in summer and skating in winter.

Swimming has often been proclaimed as the most healthful of outdoor exercises. In winter skating takes its place. It is by far the most healthful of winter exercises, not only because it gets one out of doors, but because it exercises a whole lot of muscles one never thought of.

You will learn his fact after the first session of skating. Every muscle in your body will be stiff and sore because they have not been used for a long time. But a few more visits to the pond will soon do away with this soreness, and the sport will bring a healthful exhilaration afterwards.

Skating not only hardens up flabby, little-used muscles, but it starts the heart to pumping the good red blood into every extremity of the body.

It serves to inject health-giving fresh air into the lungs and this, in turn, has a beneficial effect on the blood. The lungs, too, will tend to become stronger and the chest deeper.

Indoor skating on artificial ice is not nearly as healthy as skating outdoors.

Therefore, get out on the frozen pond as often as you can.

MAD ON RADIALS

For 1920, the last year for which official figures are available, the Ottawa Government had to pay out the enormous sum of $75,886,355 to railways to meet their deficits—over $9 for every man, woman and child in the country. Who's to blame?—Bowmanville News.

To which the Forest Free Press answers:

Notwithstanding these depressing facts, there is a wild scheme on foot to load the province with additional millions for the construction of hydro radials, to make steam railway conditions still worse. The Toronto Globe, which is leading the newspaper agitation for these radials, has been regarded as a national journal, but if it wants to maintain that reputation it must extend its scope of vision beyond the limits of the city of Toronto. The Drury Government can do the province a great service by smashing this radial folly.

AGED STRAFFORDVILLE
WOMAN DIES THURSDAY
STRAFFORDVILLE, Jan. 29.—Mrs. M. Stratton, a lifelong resident of Stratfordville, died Thursday morning, aged 66 years. Besides her husband, she is survived by one sister, Mrs. M. Chiverton; three sons, H. L. of Aylmer, Lee and R. W. of Guelph, and several daughters, one being Mrs. Eley, who arrived from Regina, just twelve hours before her mother's death. The funeral was held Saturday at 1:30 p.m., services in the Gospel Hall, and interment in the Stratfordville Cemetery.

ELGIN'S JUDGE

THE Dominion Government has been fortunate in its choice of a successor to the late Judge Charles Oakes Ermatinger for the honorable position of judge of Elgin county. The selection has been such as had at once commended itself to the members of the county bar and the citizens generally. Mr. Duncan Campbell Ross comes of distinguished parentage, his late father, Senator Sir George W. Ross, having been Premier of Ontario from 1893 to 1905, enjoying, too, during his life a high reputation as among the most eloquent and accomplished public speakers of his day. But though Judge Ross is not indigenous to Elgin county, he is at least next door to it, having been born and raised in Strathroy, where he attended the public and high schools preparatory to his course at the University of Toronto, where he graduated with the B.A. degree.

It was inevitable that Mr. Ross should enter politics, which he did in 1907, when elected to the Legislature for West Middlesex, changing to North Middlesex at the general election of the following year. Resigning in 1909, Mr. Ross became member in the House of Commons for West Middlesex, holding the seat till the last general election. His father represented West Middlesex in the Ontario Legislature for many years. This is an excellent record for a lawyer still in the prime of life, who enters on the duties of the bench well equipped for his onerous judicial duties. That he will be welcomed cordially is already assured, and his own expression of feeling, on hearing of his appointment, was admirably fitted to deepen the regard in which he has always been held. Judge Ross hopes to be of real service to Elgin people, and we do not doubt that his hopes will be gratified.

HUMANITY SAFEGUARDED

Refers to Recent Sentence Passed Upon London Woman.

Rev. G. A. Leichter preached a powerful sermon at Adelaide Street Baptist Church Sunday night entitled "Police Protection or Salvation." Taking for his text Isa. i, 26-27, "I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning, afterward thou shalt be called the city of righteousness, the faithful city, Zion shall be redeemed with judgment and her converts with righteousness." This text is God's pledge to his people and suggests the caption of this discussion. By the over mastery of equity and righteousness Zion was to come to the state of life desired for her from the beginning. "May I now leave any possible exegesis of the text," said Mr. Leichter, "and face with you, those things which are implied in the subject. Two things are definitely involved. 1. Police, 2. Salvation."

They may appear to be divergent issues but in reality they are the same consideration faced from different angles. They both look to the safeguarding of humanity, the one from the viewpoint of restraint and the other from the viewpoint of counter attack.

Another citizen of this city is facing a 12 year prison term for one of the most revolting crimes listed in the criminal code, and done with such dexterity and despatch, and success, as made it a profitable business, and at the bottom of which is the extinction of the race.

FRANCISCAN IDEAL PROMOTES PEACE

Fred Landon Quotes From Beaverbrook's Book in Contrast.

Public Librarian, Fred Landon, addressing the brotherhood of the King Street Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, dealt with the life of St. Francis, as an example of the practical working of the Golden Rule, a subject that is now being much discussed in the brotherhoods of the city.

Mr. Landon pointed out that whenever anyone in history had taken the commands of Christ absolutely literally they had overturned existing conditions and started mankind off on a new and better way. The Franciscan movement did this in the matter of peace when the followers of the "poor man" refused to war against their neighbors and declined to be led into massacring and looting as they had been in the past. The permanent influence of the life of St. Francis was seen in the tens of thousands today who called themselves by his name and sought to follow out his teaching.

Mr. Landon contrasted the teachings of St. Francis with those which had been set forth in a recent book by Lord Beaverbrook entitled, "Success." He quoted extracts from the Beaverbrook book: "Money which is striven for brings with it the real qualities of life: the money brain in the modern world, the supreme brain; the first key which opens the door of success is the trading instinct. Without it a man need not trouble to enter business at all but if he possesses it even in a rudimentary form, he can cultivate it in the early days when the mind is still plastic and it develops beyond all recognition."

Lauds "Glory of Commonplace" In Sermon at First Methodist

"The Glory of the Commonplace" was the title of an inspirational sermon preached at the First Methodist Church by Rev. E. I. Hart, D.D., of Toronto. The speaker chose his text from the 13th Chapter of St. Matthew, 5th verse. At the commencement of his discourse the preacher commented on the irritation usually exhibited at anything that was commonplace, declaring that the people did not want the prosaic but craved that which was exciting and extraordinary. It was very hard for the average person to realize the value of the commonplace. Today the world is much given to the worship of celebrities, forgetting the common people.

If it were not for the common people, one could not have the celebrities as it was the common people who did the work while the others got the

OUTLINES DANGERS DUE TO NEGLECT

Rev. W. H. Hiles Preaches at the Robinson Memorial Methodist Church.

"Destroyed Through Neglect," was the subject of the Sunday evening sermon preached by Rev. W. H. Hiles at the Robinson Memorial Methodist Church. Mr. Hiles's sermon was based upon Proverbs 24:30-33: "I went by the field of the slothful and by the vineyard of the man void of understanding; and lo, it was all grown over with thorns, and nettles and covered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken down. Then I saw and considered it well; I looked upon it and received instruction."

The burden of the message intended especially for the young people, is summed up in the words: "To neglect is to destroy."

Mr. Hiles pointed out that this law is a law both of the natural and the spiritual world. To the farmer or the merchant of the professional man success is always the reward of thoughtful toil. But it is also true of us when we come "to making our souls."

The man's soul is in the making. Browning interpreted the thought of the first chapters of Genesis, when he says of the human being, "A man far removed from the developed brute, a God, though in the germ." There is such a thing as soul culture. We are to work out our own salvation. To neglect our work here is to destroy our souls. There is much in this world to tempt us to this neglect. The legitimate business of life, its lawful pleasures, its sweet companionships may make us content to settle down. "Excelsior" is not in our vocabulary. We are so satisfied with God's gifts we neglect the giver. But to neglect God is to destroy our souls; for the very essence of soul-life is fellowship with the God of life.

We must watch against neglect because the processes of neglect are silent we are scarcely conscious that deterioration is going on. The discovery is often made too late. From time to time there are awful revelations of the festering decay and rottenness of souls we thought were sound and whole. Let us often examine ourselves.

The first warning will come to us by the broken down fences. When the prayer-life is broken down, when the Bible is no longer read, when the Sabbath Day is not used to help the soul, when the breaking of any of the commandments becomes a little thing to us, then we may be sure that our neglect is already working out our ruin. Let us take heed to ourselves. For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

ASSERTS ALL SUBSERVIENT TO NATURAL LAWS

Rev. Father Kelly Officiates at Services in St. Peter's Cathedral.

POINTS OUT NEED OF LOVE

Claims Observance of God's Commandments Alone Necessary for Salvation.

Rev. Father Kelly was the speaker at the different masses at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday, his text being taken from St. Paul to the Romans, Chapter xiii, verses 8 to 10. "He that loveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law."

Love of one's neighbor, said the speaker, is one of the laws of God and is found as one of his commandments. This is a law seriously recognized as necessary of fulfillment.

The speaker touched on the necessity of laws, both for the good of society and the individual. If there were no laws there would be confusion and disorder in the school, the home, everywhere. Anarchy would replace harmony.

The law of nature also demanded the same strict adherence as the laws of the land, said the speaker. One of these alone was necessary to salvation. "We owe God obedience, love and gratitude. Everything we have come from him. The observance of his commandments should be a pleasure and a privilege."

Let us seek to know God's will and law in all things as it is summed up in the ten commandments," he said. "Love God with your whole heart, as your neighbor, as yourself. Love your neighbor and you will have fulfilled the law," he concluded.

CHURCH CLUB HOLDS FISH CHOWDER SOCIAL
A jolly social of last week claimed as hostesses St. Martin's Club, when they entertained at a fish chowder social. More than three hundred were fortunate in being present. The early part of the evening was spent in cards, with musical numbers, the following taking part in the program: Tom Quirk, comic song; violin selection, Percy Lethbridge; trio, Miss Helen, John and Allan Ashwell, with Miss Phyllis at the piano; solos, Mr. Teichert, Miss J. McCarthy, Mr. Brundage and Miss Bray of the Bob White Company; comic songs by Mr. W. McKeough. The accompanists for the evening were Miss Gleeson, Miss Lethbridge, Miss Ashwell and Mrs. Cook.

About 10 o'clock the fish chowder was served on small tables, after which cakes and coffee were served. Mr. Amaro, under whom the efficient staff of chefs made the chowder, received great applause.

The latter part of the evening was danced away by the younger set. Many were the expressions of gratitude heard through the hall, all looking forward to the next social in two weeks.

MAKES APPEAL FOR CHRISTIAN BROTHERLINESS

Rev. Provost Cosgrave Preaches Eloquent Sermon At St. Paul's Cathedral.

SAYS KINDLINESS A DUTY

Declares Object of Church Congregation Should Be Successful Unity.

At the evening service in St. Paul's Cathedral, Rev. Provost Cosgrave preached most eloquently from the 84th Psalm, "They will go from strength to strength and unto the God of gods appeareth every one of them in Zion." The text is taken from a group of Psalms which are illustrative of the veneration of the devout Jew for the Temple of Jerusalem. The words, "from strength to strength" refer to the numerous stopping-places which the Jew found necessary on his long and wearisome pilgrimage to Jerusalem.

The provost drew a striking comparison between the ancient Jew and the modern Christian. He exclaimed: "Blessed are they that dwell in thy house, they will be always praising thee," and envying the priests their privilege of living in God's house, with the slackness and carelessness of modern churchgoers.

God has set Sunday apart from other days of the week that it might be a day of rest and refreshment. Sunday offers men an opportunity of resting in mind, body and spirit; nothing should be allowed to interfere with the advantages it offers. In the words of Christ, "Sunday was made for man and not man for Sunday." Sunday is a place of strength in the daily pilgrimage of life. It enables man to dedicate himself to God and to continue the battle of everyday existence throughout another week.

It is the duty of every church member to radiate a spirit of kindness and Christian brotherliness that the stranger in the church may feel warmed and strengthened, and know that the church is indeed the House of God. Men who have become tired and disheartened should go forth from church, encouraged and imbued with a new spirit of strength.

Provost Cosgrave asked: "Are we not bound in Christian duty to receive the holy communion? Should we not take advantage of the opportunity it gives us to strengthen ourselves by partaking of the body and blood of our Lord? The communion enables man to dedicate himself to God and go forth reminded again of the words of Christ, 'Come unto me all that travail and are heavy laden and I will refresh you.'"

The object of a congregation should be to unite so that the church should be successful, not only in a financial sense, upon which many churches make the mistake of placing far too much stress, but in the spiritual sense, so that man may look upon the church as the pilgrim of old looked upon the place of strength, as a spiritual home from which he may go forth each week, refreshed with a new vigor of purpose to serve God.

DECLARES FEAR AN INHERITANCE

Dr. Caton Speaks On "The Garden of the Mind" at London New Thought Society.

Speaking on the subject, "The Garden of the Mind," at the Unity New Thought Society in the Higgins block, Sunday afternoon, Dr. H. V. Caton, president of the society, declared that fear and worry, the two most troublesome weeds of the mental garden of man, very probably owed their existence to inherited ancestral memories handed down from generation to generation since the time when primitive man lived in constant fear and dread of the mastodon and other great animal monsters of the early world.

Dr. Caton illustrated and varied his address by readings from Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the famous poet of the New Thought movement.

At the close of the meetings, members of the congregation were invited to formally enroll with the society by signing a brief declaration of belief in the "brotherhood of man, the Fatherhood of God, and the power of thought" to better human conditions. About thirty present signed their New-Thought faith by signing the roll.

URGES POSITIVE VIRTUE IDEAL IN CHRISTIAN LIFE

Rev. T. S. Roy Preaches Farewell Sermons to Talbot Street Church.

PRESENTED WITH PURSE

Pastor Receives Address Testifying to Appreciation of Congregation He Leaves.

Rev. T. S. Roy concluded his ministry at Talbot Street Baptist Church on Sunday, being greeted by very large congregations at both morning and evening services. At the close of the evening service a presentation of a well-filled purse was made. Mr. Roy, who is shortly leaving the city in answer to a call from a large church in Boston. W. H. McGill, who made the presentation on behalf of the different church organizations, read an address which testified greatly to Mr. Roy's popularity among the members of his congregation and their regret at the fact that he has felt it necessary to leave the city.

Words selected from the 12th chapter of Matthew formed the text for the morning sermon: "And when he is come he findeth it empty." Life, if it were to be successful, must consist of more than reclamation of mistakes. Conversion comes to different people in different ways. In some lives it is not possible to have any great experience of change, while in others, where the previous life has been lived in the gutter and in sin, it is nothing short of a revolution, and this is accompanied by a correspondingly remarkable realization of the change.

Positive Virtue Needed.
"There is nothing so dangerous to a Christian as the attempt to exist on negative goodness. You at once experience the perils of the empty house. You have a personality, and your life must be taken up with something. Men seek wealth, pleasure and fame, and they are busy. The church must see to it that the young converts entering its ranks have something real to do or they are almost sure to go back. If you re- nounce something, create a vacancy, and put nothing better in its place, your last state will be worse than the first. When one thing goes out, be ready to crowd something else in. Be careful of the vacancy left. Our cheap places of amusement, our brothels and our places of sin are thriving and growing on the empty lives of our young people who are devoid of a positive interest in life."

"The positive life," continued the speaker, "acts as an offensive as well as a defensive. You cannot serve God and mammon, those two forces cannot occupy the life at the same time. Bring in the good and the evil must leave; joy will drive out sorrow; good reading will drive out the desire for trashy literature; when God comes in and takes possession of the life, the evil one must be driven out."

Positive Stand Defends.
"The positive life defends us against that constant question of the young Christian 'Can I do this?' or 'Can I do that?' The person who is getting the most out of the Christian life is the person who is crowding so much of useful activity into his days that he hasn't time for the trash, and thus the question is automatically settled. The wastage of energy in the kingdom of God is enormous, and it is from energy that we are not putting to work."

"Moses left the palace to go out and do the work of the Master? Jesus was walking by Galilee and saw the men at work there. He called them to, 'Follow me and I will make you to become fishers of men.' Christ never called a man to a life of idleness."

Mr. Roy also pointed out that the Master never called upon people to have their lives simply made empty, swept and clean, but filled with all that God can put into a person's life. No one can look out over the world and stand today, and see the needs, and then ask what is to be done. When one is willing to be used God is ready to put into that life all the fullness of his great love for others.

Live In Great Days.
"We are living right now in the greatest days in the world. It is a mistake to imagine that all the great times are in the past. This day has the light of 2,000 years beating upon it, and we have all the treasures of the past from which to draw."

The pastor ended his plea with a strong appeal to his hearers to live the positive life, warning them that there was nothing more dangerous than trying to live a life that had as its chief aim simply driving out and keeping out the forces of evil.

The ordinance of baptism was observed at the morning service.

States Duty of Father Is To See That Child is Educated

"Fathers" was the subject of the second of a series of sermons on the making of a Canadian home, by Rev. William Beattie of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening.

In the course of his sermon, the pastor stated that the father's obligation to his child was education, and he pointed out how little interest the average father takes in educational matters. Rev. Beattie pleaded for the selection of only the highest type of citizens for school trustees. He stated that he believed that the trustee board should be composed of a good percentage of women. No trustee board and no school inspector who leaves an inefficient teacher on his or her job is meeting his responsibility, declared Rev. Beattie. "It is up to us fathers to see that the elected authorities give our children the very best chance possible in the few brief years of their education. And in the matter of discipline we should keep a just balance between praise and blame. A well done, my son, will often do more to fortify a boy against evil than any amount of fear of the 'rod,' stated the pastor.

"Happy are the boys who have a dad they can come to in confidence and talk things over. There is nothing more incomprehensible than a father of a family excusing himself from the absolute essentials of good family life, namely, reading the Bible, praying with the children, and going to the House of God," stated Rev. Beattie in concluding his sermon.

ADVISES AGAINST UNFAIR JUDGMENT

Rev. M. Kelly Appeals For Decisions "in the Spirit of Christ."

"Christian and Unchristian judging," was the subject at the First Congregational Church, Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. M. Kelly, took his text from Luke vi, 37, in which Jesus says: "Judge not and ye shall not be judged; condemn not and ye shall not be condemned."

It was pointed out by the speaker that this could not mean the destruction of the critical faculty in Christian people, as that would mean the destruction of one of God's greatest gifts to man. It was possible, the pastor went on to say, to judge and even condemn in a way that was quite in keeping with the spirit of Christ, and indeed Christian society could never move upward without this faculty being exercised.

Need Not Be Harsh.
There is no such contradiction between nature and revelation that God would equip a mind with the ability to judge and then refuse to allow man to exercise that faculty. "Judge and condemn I must, but only in the Christian way. I cannot go through life as a good Christian or as a useful citizen, or as a worthy filler of any of the relations of life without repeatedly and even daily doing both these things; but what Jesus means is that I should not make this, which is a duty and a necessity to be my constant habit and propensity. I must judge true, but I need not always be judging," Mr. Kelly asserted.

"I must condemn, but need not always be condemning," Mr. Kelly said. No man, who wishes to use the critical faculty in a Christian way, can afford to overlook that rule for Christian guidance found in Galatians vi, "Brethren, if a man be overtaken, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in a spirit of meekness considering thyself lest thou also be tempted," said Mr. Kelly.

Scores Lynch Law.
"The kind of judging and condemning which is contrary to the spirit of Christ, is that which is of the nature of lynch law. Plummer Bullock was condemned in this way, and his brother Matthew, fears the destruction of one of God's greatest gifts to man. It was possible, the pastor went on to say, to judge and even condemn in a way that was quite in keeping with the spirit of Christ, and indeed Christian society could never move upward without this faculty being exercised."

There are people in London whose lives have been embittered by the utterances of people who take no pains to get at the truth of what they talk about, but who express themselves according to the impulse of the moment, affirmed the pastor. Christ stands for fairness of judgment. He says: "Ye judge after the flesh," that is after the impulse. "I judge no man in that way; the critical faculty can never come into its own until people see, for its use to be of any value, a sense of responsibility for the utterances that are being made," concluded Mr. Kelly.

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

"That will make up a whole quart. You put it in a quart sealer and take a tablespoonful three times a day." The return of the birds is not the only harbinger of an early spring. The tried and tested prescription for an untrailing spring tonic was waited to the ears of Aunt Maria on the clear, frosty air of the week-end market Saturday. The woman who delighted in doing a neighbor a good turn was all packed up, ready to go home—on her way, in fact, to her own Ford car. And the conversation, which was unavoidably overheard, occurred right out in the open, with the brilliant sunshine streaming on wagons, motor cars, apples, cabbages, people and things.

There was an inspiring optimism about everybody on the market, due doubtless in a measure to the crisp, frost-edged air. The people who were there to sell had an idea it was because things were moving more quickly than usual.

"We had five pigs in, today," said the woman who always sells pork, "and we have only one quarter left now."

"Now" was at high noon, in the parlance of wedding write-ups.

She had been offering pork at 18 cents a pound for front quarter, 20 cents for hind quarter, and getting it quickly. More or less than last week? Just the same, but selling was more brisk Saturday, 25th.

Less trouble was taken to display the vegetables in tempting manner than in the autumn, when there was real competition. The carrot veiled its carrot-red gold in a modest coat of drab earth dust; the potatoes, beets, oyster plants, parsnips and turnips were all unscrubbed, but people who wanted them bought them just the same, carrots at 40 cents a peck or $1.50 a bushel; oyster plant, 10 cents a bunch or three for a quarter; turnips, 5 cents each, 30 cents a peck.

"Why do you suppose one of the big fruit stores is displaying carrots among the expensive fruits?" a marketer asked of a friend who was negotiating to have half a bushel of carrots delivered at her house.

Carrots De Luxe.

"Did you see the price?" said the friend significantly. (When that had time to "sink in," she continued impressively. "Those carrots you are talking about cost 25 cents a bunch, five or six in a bunch. Why? Because they are shipped into London all the way from California.")

Now, if you want to impress upon family and friends that the carrots you serve on your table are patrician as well as good for the complexion, just mention that they are "imported" all the way from California, freight rates and all the rest of it.

Is dairy butter better than creamery butter?

"Forty-five cents a pound," came answer after answer from farm homemakers to the inquiry of Aunt Maria Saturday when she first arrived at the market. One woman, whose wares always command top-notch prices, replied apologetically, "I'm taking 45 cents a pound for butter, and I'm ashamed to do it. I got 45 cents last Saturday."

"But what is the reason you are charging 45 cents?" Aunt Maria finally asked one owner of a tempting-looking basket of rolls of butter. "Creamery butter was advertised in the papers last night at 42 cents a pound for Saturday."

"My dear," said the farmer's wife reproachfully, "don't you know dairy butter is always better than creamery butter?"

But it didn't use to be considered so when it came to price.

Butter was plentiful, if poultry scarcer than for some weeks. And many there were who sold their butter at 40 cents a pound, and excellent butter, too.

Eggs, "all laid this week," were 55 cents; at least that is what several lots of them were demanding.

A lone, lone goose at 12 o'clock wanted 35 cents a pound for itself.

Its companion bird had up and left it for somebody's Sunday dinner, and the owner pointed out the fact that the goose had been late hatched, and was consequently young and very tender.

To the Market Born.

Some salesmen are born, some are made, and doubtless some have salesmanship thrust upon them. The "born-to-the-market" salesman of the market is a slim little lad, whose eyes do not reach very far over the counter of a certain inviting market stall. In front of him were smooth-skinned, evenly-matched lemons, lettuce, parsley, water-cress at 10 cents a bunch, ruddy strawberry rhubarb, quart boxes of Brussels sprouts.

In the background of the stall were quantities of cabbages, a stall from which a painter might take a picture or John Drinkwater a poem.

"How do you sell your cabbages?" asked a possible customer. "Seven (or was it 7?) cents a pound," said the young man crisply. "By the pound?" repeated the customer-elect in surprised tone. "Yes, by the pound. Fairest way to sell them for everybody concerned."

The lady hesitated, then her eye fell upon the Brussels sprouts. Apparently they were new to her.

"How do you cook them?" she asked, when she had been told her suspicions were correct, and that they really and truly were Brussels sprouts.

"Same as cabbages," said the little man. "Wash 'em well, and put 'em on in boiling water."

On the strength of the advice a box of the sprouts was transferred to the shopping bag.

The business-like young man turned his attention to the next customer in line, and proceeded to sell two bunches of strawberry rhubarb for 25 cents, the very "best kind of rhubarb" to buy to get good results in cooking, he assured.

Talking of rhubarb reminds that something was to be said this week about the cooking. The woman who always has it as soon as it appears in the winter on the market or in shops, washes the stalks and cuts them into desired lengths without removing the peel. She puts them in an aluminum saucepan with just enough water to keep the rhubarb from sticking. She likes the rhubarb sweet, so she uses a whole cup of sugar to a bunch. That is a matter of taste, she says. In any case she pours sugar right over the rhubarb and boils it quickly, watching, of course, that it does not burn. The rhubarb comes off the fire rosy red and tempting, with clear, rich syrup and each piece intact.

"It only takes a few minutes, scarcely more than boiling up once," she says. "It must be cooked through, but a minute too long will cause it to fall to pieces."

Now, if you would have rhubarb fit to grace any table, try this method of cooking, and avoid the "mushy," uncertain colored "sauce" that rhubarb has a habit of turning out, even in the hands of very capable cooks.

During the afternoon numerous little articles were made, and an interesting program included reading by Irene Deacon, solo dances by Peggy Robbins and several songs by Mrs. W. Westcott.

TURPENTINE.

A light showering of turpentine on clothes that are liable to be moth-eaten will keep the moths out.

Milady Faithful!

— BY MARIAN HALE.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—London in the main is yet faithful to her black. Vainly do modistes try to lure her from sombre paths to those of sapphire, fuchsia, petunia and glowing flame.

"I will have that frock—but in black," says Madame, and the modiste sighs, puts the glorious colors away and begins the model in black.

But Madame makes up for the somberness of her gown with the brilliance of her jewels! Her arms are literally ablaze with bracelets, some of them wide dog collar bands of seed pearls, chip diamonds and black enamel. Others are fascinating bands of natural color flowers done in ivory and fastened together with slim bands of gold and silver.

The vogue for bracelets comes of course with the sleeveless gown. The graceful gown shown might be effectively fashioned of black velvet with collar, fringe and flower of mulberry. It might also be done in gray with petunia.

WIDE PUBLICITY GIVEN CONVENTION

Many Delegates Expected For London Educational Campaign.

Programs for the educational campaign which will be held in the city at the end of February, under the auspices of the London Union Mothers' Club, will be printed in the course of a few days, and will be mailed to organizations sending delegates all over Western Ontario.

Notices of the convention are also being sent to "37 varieties" or more of newspapers in Western Ontario. As a result of the publicity and interest awakened in the convention among home and school clubs, women's institute branches, etc., it is expected that a very large number will attend.

Dr. A. E. Marty of Toronto, Ontario's first woman school inspector, has accepted an invitation to attend the convention and deliver an address.

The subject of "Special help for special children" has been given a place in the final draft of the program. Miss May Hay and Miss F. McDowell to be the speakers in this section.

The collegiate orchestra will furnish music.

DO HONOR TO MEMORY OF VICTORIA NURSE

London delegates to the meeting of the Provincial Chapter, I. O. D. E., in Brantford last week had a special reason for being interested in the proposal that the Provincial Chapter in some way do honor to the memory of Nursing Sister Dorothy Baldwin, so far as is known, the only nursing sister who was a member of the order to make the supreme sacrifice in the great war.

Nursing Sister Baldwin was one of a number of graduates of Victoria Hospital, this city, who enlisted for overseas service.

One proposal is that the memorial may take the form of naming a chapter of the I. O. D. E. after the heroic girl who gave her life staying faithfully by her patients when the hospital in which she was on duty was being bombed. It is stated that she had been warned, and could have made her escape, but refused to leave the helpless in her charge.

DOLLAR DAY TO MAKE BUSINESS DEMAND SOUND

Will Bring Buyers and Sellers Into Closer Personal Touch With Each Other.

PUBLIC WILL UNDERSTAND

Policy of Local Merchants To Restore Confidence That Prices Are Again Normal.

Dollar Day, which will be staged in London Thursday next, Feb. 2, has become a semi-annual event in London, something of an institution. And this year Dollar Day may be regarded as a firm guarantee to the shopping public of the city that London possesses, in its retailers, some of the most alert, up-to-the-minute merchants in the country, merchants who are really alive and abreast of the times, and Dollar Day should really point this out, and impress it as a fact into the confidence of the buying public of the community.

Seldom does the general public grasp the significance of the position that real wide-awake store owners play in the progress of a city or town. It is the stores and their owners in London who, actually, by a lackadaisical slackness that leads to trade stagnation, or by a willingness to keep up the consumer's end of commerce, settle the rate progress of a city. Dollar Day is an effort at progress or business stimulation, which is the same thing.

Merchants Mean Much.

It is the merchants here now in London, and the volume of business that they do each year that decides the advance the city makes. London will not stride forward and be the premier city of Western Ontario, as it is and should be, unless the community co-operates with its retailers, to swell business volume in which case the city's natural position as a trade centre will be taken by some town to east or west.

London stores are capably-managed stores, whose first and foremost aim is to cater to the needs of the individual buyer. Few shops can be found to be behind the times, or said to be without ideas of service of the most efficient description, either in price of goods or quality of commodities. None in London, or very few indeed, lack good staffs, or proper display of goods, or are undervaluing of the fullest patronage from every citizen whose home is in the city.

Attracts Many Outsiders.

London, even now, attracts great numbers of buyers from surrounding districts, the credit for which, without doubt, may be given to the enterprise of the retailers.

It does not often occur to the casual citizen to think of the retailers of London as "our" merchants, yet it is the right of all the community to think of the retailers as "our" storekeepers, and to pride themselves upon the fact that they are men of vision, of broad outlook and of high ideals, as they must be and are, just as much as the citizens have the right to exult over a competent civic administration.

Advertising the Keynote.

London retailers advertise their wares. They push sales and make prosperity. They keep in touch with the trend of trade, the fluctuations of the world's business, and bid strenuously for business by good judgment in pricing their stocks. It requires of the merchants of the city a certain investment not only of their money, but of their confidence in London's innate possibilities of a future to purchase large stocks. They do so in the great faith that London citizens are behind them and will support them in any sacrifice that they make to put the city ahead of other urban centers. The result of this is that when the community responds an appreciable volume of business is secured.

Dollar day will show beyond shadow of doubt that our merchants possess ability and are willing to serve the community and its needs and to serve them well.

All Is Now Ready.

Preparations for dollar day have been on foot for some time. Everything is ready for Thursday's business. The merchants are doing their best to bring the world back to normality. Evidence of a great slump in prices in commodities of all classes and description are foreseen.

It is to the credit of the merchants that they have allowed their price lists to sink with equanimity in order that the total of Thursday's business city, who enlisted for overseas service.

Both the public and the merchants will gain. The public will find bargains and the merchants business. Thursday's prices will go down with a thump and a new record of merchandizing will be established as well as for good buying. Thousands of shoppers will take advantage of the reductions and grasp the big money-saving opportunity.

NIBBLE BOX.

The nibble box has arrived. A nibble box? A small, cleverly ornamented box which Milady may keep near her bed. If she is wakeful during the night, nervous from an overcrowded day, a bite or two of a sweet cake will soothe her nerves and send her off to sleep. Thus the nibble box, with its burden of small, sweet cakes, is fast becoming a part of every smartly appointed sleeping-room.

India grass rugs can be cleaned by scrubbing with boiling water in which a handful of bran and a tablespoon of soap powder have been dissolved. Rinse the rugs in clean water and hang them in fresh air to dry.

Dear Miss Grey,—Would you please send me Signet E's address in self-addressed envelope, and the words of "Peggy O'Neil," if you have them in? This is my first letter to you. Would some young girl of 22 like to correspond with me? I will leave my address with Miss Grey. What do you think of my writing "A Happy New Year to All!"

Am forwarding you Signet E's address, but the words you ask for are not on file. Your writing implies that you are of a very unsettled nature, January Thaw.

CACTUS IN BLOOM.

Dear Miss Grey: Have any of your readers crochet patterns suitable for chair backs or for sewing machines? I should like to get some and I would copy off and return as soon as possible.

Miss Grey, I wish you could see mother's Christmas cactus. It is in bloom and is just beautiful. A NEWCOMER.

I have placed your name on our family list, Newcomer, and if the patterns you refer to are sent in, I shall be pleased to forward them to you. Your mother's cactus must be lovely. They are a wonderful sight when in full bloom, aren't they?

SKATING IS THE RAGE.

Could any of the Boxites please send me a few velvet patches? I am making a cushion top, and have not enough pieces. Will pay postage and return favor in any way I can.

How many like skating? It is all the rage around here just at present. Was out skating last night and expect to go again tomorrow night. Am going to a pie social tonight. How many would like to go? Come on "Bep." I know you would, anyway.

Inclosed find mite for S. C. H. P. S.—What day did July 18, 1903 fall on? Thank you.

MISS TOOSEY.

WHO WILL HELP?

Dear Readers,—Some time ago, there was an appeal in this column from the Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. D. E., for old woolen underclothing or stockings (but clean), which they are willing to make into clothing for the little stranger that a boxite signing "A Young Mother" is expecting in the spring. The chapter has promised to call for any parcels that are sent to this office, and since they are willing to make the little garments, I think the least we can do is to hunt up some old underwear and stockings and send them to the chapter.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatism, twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. Carrington Says Normal Ears
Indicate Normal Mentality of Individuals

MAY REVEAL CHARACTER

Large Ears Often Prove Commercial Capacity and Musical Talent.

By Hereward Carrington.
[Special To London Advertiser.]
THE science that tells of reading character by the general contour and expression of the face is called physiognomy.

And physiognomy can tell us a great deal—much more than you suppose.

The ears, for instance. Though they're not as important as other organs of the face in this respect, their size, contour and color are indications of the character of the head they adorn.

The normal ear is the sign of normal mentality.

Beware Pointed Ear.
But you must beware of the pointed ear. That's a bad sign. It's thought to be his Satanic Majesty's own mark!

There are many grades of the size of the ear from the small, well-formed, finely-cut feature to the huge, coarse, shapeless ear of the lower races.

Semi-civilized races, as a rule have large ears. The small ear is a sign of refinement. But the ears naturally get larger with age.

Large ears are thought to indicate commercial capacity and musical talent. Large ears are also considered as a sign of determination and obstinacy.

A small ear, it is thought, denotes refinement and sensitiveness. An angular, pointed ear indicates a weakness of the moral nature. A well-rounded ear shows a complete and harmonious temperament.

What Lobe Shows.
The fleshy part at the bottom of the ear is known as the lobe.

If the lobe lies flat against the cheek, it denotes lack of vitality and energy.

The deep, broad lobe is a sign of commercialism.

The angle at the opening of the ear is said to be important. If it is nearly straight, it is thought to indicate deceit and fraud. Criminals are said to have this ear.

Position of Ears.
An ear set low on the head indicates indifference to the feelings of others.

An ear placed high on the head shows its possessor is cautious and secretive.

Ears placed far back on the head indicate lack of self-reliance.

A large ear, standing well out from the head, denotes an easy-going, jolly and happy disposition.

An ear sloping backward denotes ingenuity.

If the ear is thin and bloodless,
it shows lack of vitality. But if it is of fine texture and of pink color
it denotes much vitality and energy.

Liberia was recognized as a republic in 1847.

CATARRRH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS

The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas therefrom, there is constant retching,
and the meals are frequently vomited.
There is a burning pain in the stomach,
the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated,
the breath bad, constipation is generally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver,
as it holds back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets into the blood a badly disordered condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Keep your liver active and you will always enjoy good health.

Mrs. Agnes Gallant, Reserve Mines,
N. S., writes: "I had been a sufferer for eight years, from catarrh of the stomach. I tried several, so-called, catarrh remedies without relief until a friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxative Pills, which I did, and four vials completely relieved me. That was six years ago, and I have had no return of my old trouble."

GUNSIGHT PASS

by WILLIAM
MACLEOD
RAINE

CHAPTER I.
IT was a land of splintered peaks,
of deep, dry gorges, of barren
mesas burnt by the sun of a million torrid summers. The normal condition of it was warfare. Life here had to protect itself with a tough, callous rind. Only the fit survived.

Around the camp-fire the drivers of the trail herd squatted on their heels or lay sprawled at indolent ease. The glow of the leaping flames from the twisted mesquite lit their lean faces, tanned to bronzed health by the heat of an untempered sun and the sweep of parched winds.

Out of the soft shadows of the summer night a boy moved from the remuda toward the camp fire. He was a lean, sandy-haired young fellow, his figure still lank and unfilled. As he sat down on the wagon tongue the stringiness of his appearance became noticeable.

A young man waved a hand toward him by way of introduction.
"Gents of the D Bar Lazy R outfit,
Mr. David Sanders, formerly of Arizona, will make oration on the why, wherefore, and how-come-it of Chiquito's superiority to all other equines whatever."

"I'd like right well to make love to that pinto my own self, Bob," commented a weather-beaten puncher.
"Any old time Dave wants to saw him up into me at sixty dollars I'm here to do business."

"You're sure an easy mark, Buck," grunted a large fat man. His white face and soft hands differentiated him from the tough range-riders. He did not belong with the outfit, but had joined it the day before with George Doble, a half-brother of the trail foreman, to travel with it as far as Malapl. He was known as Ad Miller.

Doble backed up his partner. "Sure are, Buck. I can get cowponies for ten and fifteen dollars—all I want of 'em," he said, and contrived by the lift of his lip to make the remark offensive.

"Not ponies like Chiquito," ventured Sanders amiably.
"He's some bronc," explained Bob Hart. "Got a bagful of tricks, a nice disposition, and sure can burn the wind."

"You don't say." The voice of the fat man was heavy with sarcasm.
"And on top of all that education he can run, too?"

The temper of Sanders began to take an edge. "I don't claim my pinto's a racer, but he can travel."

"Hmp!" grunted Miller skeptically.
"Don't look to me like no racer," Doble dissented. "Why, I'd be most willing to bet that he can beat any Whiskey Bill, can beat him."

Bob Hart helped things along.
"I've got ten bucks says the pinto can beat yore Whiskey Bill."

"Go you once," answered Doble
after a moment's apparent consideration. "I got fifty dollars more to back the pack-horse. How about it, Sanders? You got the sand to cover that?"

"Fetch a month's pay—thirty-five dollars," retorted Dave.
"Might as well lose a few bucks myself, seeing as Whiskey Bill belongs to me," said Miller with his weezy laugh. "Who wants to take a whirl, boys?"

Inside of three minutes he had placed a hundred dollars. The terms of the race were arranged and the money put in the hands of the foreman.

An hour later Buck Byington drew Sanders aside.
"Dave, you're a chuckle-headed rabbit. If ever I seen tinhorn sports them two is such. They're collectin' a livin' off'n suckers. Didn't you saw that come-on stuff? Their pack-horse is a ringer. Both of 'em are crooked as a dog's hind leg."

"Maybeso," admitted the young man. "But Chiquito never went back on me yet. These fellows may be overplayin' their hand, don't you reckon?"

"Not a chanet. That tumblebug Miller is one fishy proposition, and his sidekick Doble—say, he's the kind of bird that shoots you in the stomach while he's shakin' hands with you. Me, I aim to button up my pocket when them guys are around."

CHAPTER II.
A COURSE was chosen for the race. From a selected point the horses were to run to a clump of mesquite, round it, and return to the starting-place. Doug Doble was chosen both starter and judge.

Dave watched Whiskey Bill with the trained eyes of a horseman. The animal was an ugly brute as to the head. But in legs and body it had the fine lines of a racer. The horse was built for speed. The cowpuncher's heart sank. His bronc was fast, but the little range pony had not been designed to show its heels to a nearthoroughbred.

"Are you ready?" Doble asked of the two men in the saddles.
His brother said: "Let 'er go!" Sanders nodded. The revolver barked.
Chiquito was off like a flash of light, found its stride instantly. Before it had covered seventy-five yards the pinto was three lengths to the good. Foot by foot the distance between the horses lessened to two lengths, to one, to half a length. The ugly head of the racer came abreast of the cowpuncher. With sickening certainty the range-rider knew that his Chiquito was doing the best that was in it. Whiskey Bill was a faster horse.

The halfway mark was just ahead.
The cowpuncher knew exactly how to make the turn with the least possible loss of speed and ground.
Scarcely slackening speed, he swept the pinto round the clump of mes-quite and was off for home.

Dave was halfway back before he was sure that the thud of Whiskey
Bill's hoofs was almost at his heels.

World's Highest Salaried Woman Says Orderliness Is the Keystone of a Successful Domestic Structure.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—"Have few things in the home.
"Use and enjoy them all daily.
"And, above all, keep them in order!"

These are the principles, expressed by Mary Pickford, upon which she and Douglas Fairbanks operate one of the most magnificently simple and well-managed homes in all the world.

"Orderliness is the keystone of a successful domestic structure, whether it be shack or castle," continued Mary Pickford, screen celebrity and highest salaried woman in the world.

She has an annual income of over a million and a $350,000 establishment in the fashionable Beverly Hills district.

The Fairbanks home isn't run on a rigid budget system, although economy is the watchword. Doug pays all running expenses, because,
as Mary says, "he's old-fashioned enough to want to do this without aid from his wife."

When retiring nor the korchiefs in disarray on the dresser.
"I consider that everything I do, or for which I am responsible, at all times bears my O. K. of approval for the inspection of my friends and the world. And that applies to the condition of my household from boudoir to kitchen sink."

"What one has, or rather the condition of what one has, characterizes what one is."

How To Keep House

[BY MARY PICKFORD.]
THINGS, possessions, don't make happiness.

Never buy all you can afford; keep something to wish for. The first leads to ennui;
the second makes for happiness
through pleasant anticipations.
Boast rather of how little a thing costs than how much.

Happiness can never lie in the mere possession and spending of money.

Run your home every day
as if it were to be opened for the inspection of the person whose respect you most value.
Never buy anything merely to impress someone else; buy a thing because it will contribute to your own pleasure and well-being.

Albert, major domo of the household, does all the buying, as well as the "butlering"—and that's no mean job because of the number of guests constantly being entertained.

"If I have learned any one thing from life and art which I can effectively put back into my home life and my profession," says Mary, "it is this:

"Cluttered minds make cluttered homes and cluttered homes constantly threaten happiness and wholesome development."

"It isn't the amount and cost of one's possessions that insure satisfaction. Riches lie in few and simple things acquired for use and personal culture, instead of show, and it is this constantly in mind that Mr.
Fairbanks and I manage the home which gives us daily refreshment and inspiration."

"I should feel that unless I could achieve this result measurably in a five-room bungalow on a moderate income, I should fail even more miserably in a 50-room palace on many times that income."

"What do you make here?" asked Nancy.
"Birds," said Mr. Crane.
"Birds," cried everybody together;
and Nick added, "I thought they came out of eggs."

"Oh, yes, real ones do," said the crane. "But come in and I'll tell you all about it. You see, we dye feathers of all shades and kinds here and then make them into birds that look so real that they don't move or sing. Anything from peck-parrots to jack-daws.
They're for hats."

"Hats!" said astonished Nancy.
"Yes, to put on hats. The fairies pack boxes with them and put them in the hat stores. And when Mrs.

POLLY AND PAUL— AND PARIS

CHAPTER VIII.—LIFE'S HARDEST JOB

By Zoe Beckley

AFTER lunch, Polly and Paul, like the other passengers, rooted out their ship clothes and went on deck to locate their chairs and settle into them under the plaid rugs the steward wrapped so deftly about them.

Upon the other side of Paul was a chair with a handsome rug folded on it, a large box of chocolates and several new novels. Before she looked at the name upon it, Polly felt it would be "Miss Rand," and soon the lady herself appeared and was snugly ensconced at Paul's elbow, chatting animatedly. Polly listened between paragraphs of her book.

"Oh, yes, I'm working. Magazine assignments. I'm going on with my music, too. Didn't know I sang, did you, Mr. Dawson? Well, I do. And mother has sold the old summer cottage we had at Port Stanley, so we've a little money. I have a darling flat, rented from a friend, who had to come home, or I'd never got it. You and your wife must come and see me. It'll be so cosy. I'm crazy about it. Paris is the only place, isn't it?"

As Violet rattled on, Polly felt more and more nettled. She rubbed her wrong way, and she made her feel insignificant. Yet somehow she fascinated—even Polly. She personified the great world of self-reliance, knowledge, success. She knew how to meet all sorts of people.
She understood men. How at ease
she was!

Polly felt an increasing curiosity about the ring on Miss Rand's third finger, and determined to learn its significance. So when some one came to dress Paul off the shuffleboard, she urged and insisted that he go.

"I'm so interested in your work, Miss Rand," began Polly, when they were alone, "and your cunning apartment. It is possible, then, for a girl to live independently in Paris, and—"

"—be talked about," finished Violet, briskly. "Of course it is, just as it is anywhere else. It all depends on the girl. I'm used to being independent and doing what I like. Besides, I have my maid—and my music, which is in itself a sort of chaperone."

"It's better, I suppose, to study in Paris," Miss Rand pursed her lips.
"Mm—yes. Especially in my case.
If I stayed in New York," she flashed a curious smile at Polly, then looked down at her beautiful ring and began turning it round and round. "I should have to get married. Ned's a darling, of course—but, oh, well, I don't want to marry him till I have to."

"I don't believe I quite understand," Polly covered her growing dislike with a smile.
"No, my dear, you wouldn't. Violet spoke not unkindly. "You're the kind, bless your heart, who thinks a minister's words and a wedding ring perform magic. You feel that you and your man will automatically live happily ever after, like the princess in the fairy tale—just because you are married, and have promised."

"As a matter of fact—," Miss Rand looked straight into Polly's indignant eyes—"marriage is the hardest job on earth. I'm cowardly enough to put it off till I'm through with the other things I want to do.
Then I'll feel better equipped to court
my husband."

"Court?" Polly had only breath enough left to whisper.
"Certainly—court him. Court him and hold him. It's a constant struggle; that is, unless you are content to be just a drab little wife. That's where the French women are so winning, not only sweet and good.
They know they must constantly court their husbands—or some other woman will!"

Polly could not forget the conversation. It hammered at her heart all the rest of the day, and far, far into the night.

COOKING PARSNIPS

PARSNIPS are one of the cheapest and best of the winter vegetables.
In themselves parsnips are a starchy food, but combined with egg and fried in deep fat, their food value is increased.

As parsnips are a light-colored vegetable, they should be served with a dark meat.
If plain boiled parsnips are taboo
in your family, dry dressing them up in one of the following ways:

Parsnip Balls.
Six parsnips, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup flour, 1 egg.
Wash and scrape parsnips. Boil in salted water till tender. Drain and mash. Season with butter, salt and pepper. Add flour and egg well beaten. Form into small balls.

Roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with one tablespoon water, roll again in crumbs, and fry in deep, hot fat. Drain on brown paper and serve.

Parsnip Cake.
Boil and mash parsnips as in preceding recipe. Add butter and finely rolled cracker crumbs. Form in little flat cakes and fry in a frying pan till a delicate brown. If dried bread crumbs are used and one teaspoon sugar to parsnips when seasoning.

Creamed Parsnips.
Wash and scrape parsnips. Cut into dice. Boil in salted water for half an hour. Drain. Melt two tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Add parsnips and sift over two tablespoons flour. Stir until flour, butter and parsnips are well mixed.

Then pour on slowly 1½ cups milk, stirring constantly and being careful not to crush the parsnips.
Season with salt and pepper, and cook five minutes after the sauce thickens. This amount of sauce will cover six medium-sized parsnips.

Glaced Parsnips.
Four parsnips, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 dessertspoonful sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons hot water.

Wash and scrape parsnips. Cut
in slices three-fourths of an inch thick.
Put each piece flat in a big pan or spider, with a close-fitting cover.
Sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar.

Dot with bits of butter and pour in the hot water at one side of the pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly for three-quarters of an hour or until tender. Remove cover and brown in a very hot oven.

Mashed Parsnips.
Six parsnips, 3 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.
Wash and scrape parsnips and boil in salted water until tender.
Drain thoroughly in a colander. Rub through a fine sieve. Return to the saucepan, season with salt and pepper, add butter and heat, stirring vigorously. Serve very hot.

Parsnip Fritters.
Boil parsnips and cut in slices about ½-inch thick. Dip in frying batter and fry in deep hot fat to a golden brown. To make the frying batter, sift 4 tablespoons flour and ½ teaspoon salt. Add 1 tablespoon mashed butter and stir lightly. Beat in ½ cup warm water.

Beat well for five minutes and let stand for half an hour. Fold in the whites of 2 eggs beaten till stiff and dry. Use as needed.

Spare Time Jobs for Father

WHEN you pile coffee cups one on another in the cupboard they are likely to get cracked or chipped. Also other dishes bump them and knock handles off.

A few curved-head screws will make things easier and safer. Screw them, a few inches apart, in a row along the roof of the dish cupboard and hang the cups up.

it gives rise to fermentation, clogs the bowels, and renders the blood impure.
This results in dull eyes, muddy skin,

marks. Beecham's Pills act immediately

The Victory Loan campaigns taught many financial houses the value of Daily Newspaper advertising, but Messrs. Wood, Gundy & Company, from the first day they started in business, have been liberal users of the Daily Newspapers of Canada in reaching the position they are now conceded among dealers in Government and Municipal Bonds. Such firms as these can decide with accuracy when advertising should be diminished, when increased, to maintain its true proportion in the business budget

Issued by The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Head Office, Toronto.

Yours very truly,

LARKIN SILENT ON QUESTION OF LONDON OFFER

Refuses To Either Affirm or Deny That He Has Been Tendered Appointment.

DISCUSSES OTHER TOPICS

But Says Nothing As To the High Commissioner Rumor.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 29.—P. C. Larkin of Toronto, president of the Salada Tea Company, who is here on business connected with the erection of a new building for his company, is said to have been offered the post of high commissioner of Canada at London.

Mr. Larkin, when interviewed here this evening, was somewhat reticent about discussing the matter, but when pressed for a statement affirming or denying the rumor, replied that he would not deny the post had been offered him.

Further than that, Mr. Larkin refused to discuss the rumor, preferring to turn the conversation toward the economic situation in Canada, and the opportunity for the new Canadian ministry to establish closer relations with the United States—a matter which is quite close to Mr. Larkin's heart.

"The greatest possible freedom of trade between the two peoples would greatly benefit both," he said, in response to a question as to what use the new government might make of the opportunity before it.

Obstacles to Freedom.
"Every obstacle put in the way of this freedom is a burden on the backs of the two communities," he continued. "The Liberal party, when it was last in power—in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's time—joined with President W. H. Taft in trying to remove some of the obstructions, but, unfortunately, through misrepresentation, reciprocity was defeated, and both countries were the poorer, and have been poorer as the result."

Mr. Larkin then spoke of the enormous debt with which Canada is faced as a result of her five years of loyalty to the Allied cause, the severe economic loss—to say nothing of the other and irreparable loss—of the flower of her young manhood left on the field of honor.

Canada's Debt.
"There is the debt of the Dominion government, amounting to about $2,500,000,000, the interest on which has to be met and a sinking fund provided; there are pensions and the work of looking after incapacitated men; there is the enormous provincial indebtedness, and the interest on the large amounts borrowed by companies and private individuals, all of which confront us with great burdens. But we have been able to deal with them so far, and will continue to do so. The credit of Canada stands very high. It will be difficult for us to increase our customs revenues, even with our great need, arising from the burdens that we carry. We need every source of revenue."

"However, Canadians are a hard-working, sober people, who will always produce the necessary wealth to meet all liabilities. We have wonderful resources, many of them undeveloped so far. While the war has been a great setback economically, we are recovering rapidly from its effects. I think there is no safer country in the world today for investments than Canada."

The Canadian railways problems, Mr. Larkin said, are not strikingly dissimilar from the railroad problems of America just now, and although undoubtedly great and trying ones, are being handled very ably by Minister of Railways W. C. Kennedy, to whom he paid a glowing tribute.

WILL NOT ASK FOR BEER OR WINE SALE
TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Well-known Conservatives today contradicted the Toronto newspaper story that "leaders of the Conservative party in Ontario have decided to press for beer and wine licenses."

It has been common knowledge for some time that certain Conservative members of the Legislature have felt the Ontario Temperance Act is not having the desired effect and that many respects it is promoting the business of the bootleggers rather than true temperance, but so far they have not gone further than to intimate their intention to press for modifications.

At a recent meeting of Conservatives here Dr. F. G. Godfrey, M.L.A., made it fairly clear that he would take the matter up with his colleagues in the next caucus, and others have echoed his sentiments.

On the other hand there are a number of Conservative members in the Legislature who, within the last week, have expressed themselves as opposed to the party committing itself to the beer and wine proposal, but the respective strength of the opposing factions will not be known until the caucus meets.

SHIP CREWS ASK BIG PAY INCREASE
VANCOUVER, Jan. 29.—A 40 per cent increase in wages is demanded by Chinese crews on the Pacific liners. It is declared here by officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The C. P. O. S. liner Montague, and probably the Empress of Russia may be held up in the Orient pending a settlement of the strike. Steamers with Chinese crews of all transpacific liners calling at Pacific coast points will be affected. It is said here that the demand of the Chinese will not be met.

May Be High Commissioner At London

P. C. LARKIN AND THE LATE SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

A GREAT WHITER once said that "the ideal life was that of a successful businessman with a taste for literature." If that is so, P. C. Larkin has reached the ideal.

A big man, mentally and physically, with a desire to give service, he has for years been known as the tea king of the continent. With great warehouses in Boston, Montreal and Toronto, and offices scattered all over the United States, his product, Salada, has become a household word in North and South America, and throughout Europe.

As fortune favored him he acknowledged the debt by contributing largely to public charities, both of his time and money. He was for seventeen years a trustee of the Toronto General Hospital, fifteen of which vice-chairman of the board, and was one of the few whose foresight, liberality and resource has given Toronto the largest and most modern hospital in Canada, at a cost of over $4,000,000.

Mr. Larkin has been a life-long Liberal, a close personal friend of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and always his host on his visits to Toronto, in the darkest days politically, as well as the bright ones of the "chief."

Few men had Sir Wilfrid's confidence to the same extent as Mr. Larkin, and his relationship to Premier W. L. Mackenzie King is quite as cordial as that with the former Liberal leader.

VETERANS WANT FREE ATTENTION FOR FIVE YEARS

Kitchener Convention of G. A. U. V. Asks Government To Help Sick Comrades.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
KITCHENER, Jan. 29.—The Provincial Command of the G. A. U. V. opened the provincial convention at the G. A. U. V. headquarters here Saturday afternoon, and closed this afternoon after transacting considerable important business in connection with the general interests of ex-service men. A number of resolutions were put on the records during the two-day session.

Outstanding among these was a resolution from the Port Perry branch, that medical attention and surgical treatment be given free of charge to all ex-service men for a period of five years. If this is given official sanction, it will mean a saving of thousands of dollars to ex-service men, it is claimed. The convention went on record as opposed to the burial of an unknown soldier in Canada, taking the stand that Canada was adequately represented in the burial of the unknown at Westminster Abbey.

Wants Others Excluded.
A resolution was passed criticizing the provincial government for hiring other than ex-service men in connection with fire range service. Central branch, Toronto, fostered a motion which carried unanimously, that the federal government again be requested to take up the question of providing a suitable memorial for soldiers' graves.

A motion providing that the government be asked to make pensions of all ex-service men permanent four years after being granted, a final board was turned back to the resolutions committee for further consideration.

Seek Word Change.
A resolution which will be forwarded to the next Dominion convention was passed. It provides that the word "fallen" be stricken from the order of business of the G. A. U. V. and the word "departed" substituted. This is in order to include all ex-service men who died since the close of the war.

The chair was occupied by Vice-President I. W. Irons of Hamilton in the absence of President Dr. Means of Niagara Falls.
At the concluding session this afternoon a resolution was passed, requesting the federal government to start public works at once to provide employment.
A resolution was also passed, requesting the Ontario government to provide a moratorium act for ex-service men during the present period of financial depression in order to prevent them from losing the homes which they have bought on mortgages since they returned from the war.
The officers elected are: President, I. W. Irons, Hamilton; first vice-president, A. Mercer, Kitchener; second vice-president, W. Ewer, Sarnia; third vice-president, H. Elliott, Niagara Falls; secretary, E. L. S. Ware, Hamilton.

Declare Farewell Kisses Delay Chicago Trains.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Station masters of Chicago have declared war upon the farewell kissing in railway stations.

"There have been instances where the farewell osculation has delayed trains and otherwise jarred the dignity of the station rules, so no more kissing, either inside or outside the train sheds will be tolerated."

Nothing more violent than a well-regulated chautauque salute is to be permitted. Persons who desire to kiss friends and relatives farewell must do so while on the street.

Neither will the station masters permit any more spooning in the reading rooms.

It is: treasurer, A. Gower, Hamilton; directors, W. Roberts, Port Perry; A. Davis, Toronto; C. Wittaker, Toronto; J. Carse, Kitchener; A. Stewart, Toronto; I. Green, Hamilton; A. Grimbley, Toronto; F. Landers, Hamilton; A. MacFarlane, Hamilton; J. Bryan, Toronto; A. Morton, Kitchener.

EGYPT WILL BE NEW FREESTATE ON GUARANTEES

Foreign Office Officially Announces Terms On Which Treaty Will Be Made.

TO END PROTECTORATE

Britain Wants Assurances of Imperial Safety Before Going Further Into Matter.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The basis upon which the British government would be willing to terminate the Egyptian protectorate, recognizing Egypt as a sovereign state and agree to the establishment of an Egyptian parliament, is announced in a statement officially circulated this evening by the foreign office.

"The high commissioner in Egypt," says the statement, "has been summoned to England to give full information and advice to his majesty's government as to the present situation in Egypt, and as to the communications that have been passing between him and the former Egyptian ministers with regard to the future government of the country."

"There appears to be an impression in some quarters that Great Britain has abandoned, or is about to abandon, her liberal attitude toward Egyptian aspirations, and desires to make use of her special position in Egypt to maintain a political and administrative system there incompatible with the freedom which she has declared her willingness to recognize."

"This is not the case. The policy of his majesty's government, both during and since the Adly mission to England, has been founded on the following principles:

"While unwilling to cede to disorder or violence what they were prepared to grant on its own merits, his majesty's government have explicitly stated their readiness to invite Parliament to terminate the protectorate which was declared in 1914, to recognize the existence of Egypt as a sovereign state and to agree to the constitution of an Egyptian parliament and the re-establishment of an Egyptian ministry of foreign affairs as soon as they were satisfied as to the following conditions which they regard as vital to the interests both of Egypt and the empire:

"They must have full and effective guarantees, first, that the imperial communications to which Egypt is essential are assured; second, that Great Britain retain both the right and power to afford that protection to the foreign communities in Egypt which the government of these peoples in the existing conditions look to her to supply; and, third, that Egypt is safeguarded against all foreign interference or aggression, direct or indirect."

"As soon as an agreement satisfying these conditions has been drawn up between the Egyptian government and the British government there will be no hesitation on the part of the latter in inviting parliamentary sanction to such an accord."

6 PERSONS HURT IN WINNIPEG FIRE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29.—Six persons were injured, although not seriously, following an explosion and subsequent outbreak of fire which occurred in the Strang Block, a 3-story structure on Main street, early Saturday evening. The injured were residents of the building, were unaware of the existence of the fire until they were almost shut off from means of escape. They sustained burns.

The damage is estimated at $65,000.

REPORT SWEDISH SHIP IN DISTRESS

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Jan. 29.—The Swedish steamer Thyra was reported disabled 350 miles southeast of Cape Race in a radio message received here today. The message said the steamer had lost her rudder. The steamer Rosalind for Halifax and New York last night was ordered to her assistance, and it was thought she would reach the vessel tomorrow morning.

The Thyra, a 174-ton freighter, left Tampa, Fla., Jan. 11, and cleared from Norfolk Jan. 18, for Helsingborg, Sweden.
