J. H. Jones Informs Court Dry America Cause of Business.

CASE ADJOURNED

Application Made to Ontario License Board To Have Beer Returned.

J. H. Jones, wealthy American bootlegger, made an unsuccessful attempt to secure a court ruling involving the return to him of $9,000 worth of confiscated liquor in police court this morning. The stuff was seized by License Inspector Bolton on July 26 and is now being held by the Ontario government dispensary.

Evidence, developing from cross-examination of witnesses, gave an intimate insight into American boot legging methods. Jones, who lives in Niagara Falls, New York state, purchased three carloads of beer from the Carling Export Malting and Brewing Company here for the purof selling it in the United

The beer was sent to Tillsonburg, and then returned to London on in-structions from Jones, who believed it would be less difficult to get it across the border at some point other than Niagara Falls. This would have been legal according to Crown Attorney Albert Judd, had not Jones and his confederates "juggled" the consignment, using a fictitious name double liability. on the bill of lading and consigning it to fictitleus concerns in New York

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon decided to adjourn the case for eight days, during which time J. Furlong of Windsor, Jones' attorney, will make application to the Ontario board to have the beer re-Lowe shipped the liquor to Tillsonburg, but Jones, on the sug-gestion of a mysterious Mr. Burke, had it sent back to London and attempted to re-ship it over the C N. R., giving the name of a pseudo London concern as the consignor. Burke declared the stuff to be "canned meats" and sent it from the American Canning Company, a firm that does not exist.

The whole story was an involved account of how Jones expected to get the liquor across the border avoiding customs officials. His agent, Burke, had the bills of lading made out to the Webster Storage Company and the Dewaine Packing Company, which are also fictitious concerns.

Mr. Furlong claimed that the transaction was legitimate, but added that Mr. Jones was the victim of "bungling" on the part of his agent. He was just unfortunate, the Wind

Botanist's Discovery Expected to Save Thousands In Timber Losses CAUSE OF TIMBER

PARASITE FOUND

Botanists' Discovery Mean Saving of Thousands.

PROVES HIS THEORY

Canadian Press Despatch Swastika, Ont., Aug. 19.-Dr. J. H Faull, professor of botany at the University of Toronto, has made an important discovery in his battle with parasitic diseases which take an annual toll of timber in the Canadian forests comparable with the damage wrought by fire. A party of thirty octanists from the universities of Great Britain and the United States who attended the meetings of the British association in Toronto relaboratory at Bear Island during agami yesterday and saw how Professor Faull has been able to produce disease in trees by a method of inoculation. Blames Berry Bushes.

Professor Faull showed that the white pine blister rust is transmitted alternately through currant bushes to the pine trees, the mechanism being similar to the action of the parasites malaria fever in man, where the nvading organisms live first in the issues of the mosquito and then in the blood of the sufferer and are transferred back again from the numan blood stream to the mosquito when it bites a person afflicted with the fever. By inoculating the trees with the spores of fungi and exclud-ng all other means of infection the scientist has proved that the symptoms of the disease are developed and he has been able to decide what con-iferous trees are susceptible and what the alternative hosts are which permit the spread of the ravages. A species of blueberry bush has been shown to blame also for transferring he pine rust, according to the latest esearches.

The discovery indicates the steps necessary for combatting the disease. The limination of the current and blueberry bushes would stamp it out, but where this is not feasible measures can be taken to protect the crees now known to be susceptible.

Can Inoculate Trees. The proof that trees can be inoculated with the germs of disease settles a point which has been a sub-ject of debate among botanists. Con-flicting views were expressed at the Toronto meetings of the British assodistribution of plant types in Northern Ontario.

A regulated succession of cutting

QUEBEC ST. SEWER SOON A REALITY

Engineer's Department Starts Project Yesterday—500 Men on Payroll.

STORMY TIME

Work on the Quebec street storm hewer was started yesterday by the city engineer and at last after many months of playing shuttle cock back and forward between opposing camps the sewer is on the way. When the storm sewer on this street was first mentioned it was merely as a sewer. Later, the idea of pavement occurred to someone and became part of the plan. There were several objections to this on the part of the residents, which was generally thought to include the sewer.

Finally it was understood that there was no objection to the sewer.

Finally it was understood that there was no objection to the sewer, in fact that it was very much needed, and the council agreed that the work should be done, after the attorney-general and the city solicitor had been consulted as to the legality of using part of the $200,000 permitted in the city of London bill for storm sewers was obtained. It will mean that Quebec street this winter and next spring will be a passable readway. spring will be a passable roadway and that the residents will now be able to sell their canoes.

The city engineer's gangs are also starting on storm sewers on Lock-year street and Riverview Heights, and on the syphon work at the foot of Wellington street in connection with the Wellington street sewer.

Over five hundred men are now on the payroll of the city in the engineer's department, and as he says, it is quite a job to keep them all busy in the wet weather. He took on ten

French Delegation Praised For Work at International Conference.

HERRIOT CHEERED

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, Aug. 19 .- The French cabinet today unanimously approved the work of the French delegation at the international conference in London. and thanked it for the important results it had attained in the interests of France. The cabinet met this morning, and after having listened attentively to a report by Premier Herriot on the proceedings and results of the conference, gave its unqualified approva; to the accords which had been concluded at the lengthy meeting at the British capital.

It was decided that the premier should read his declaration before the senate and chamber of deputies on senate and chamber of deputies on Thursday, giving a complete resume of the work of the conference to both bodies of the legislature.

Meantime the ministers will attack an important problem of internal policy, meeting this evening to consider measures connected with the high cost of living, notably, in regard to the price of bread.

The cordial reception accorded M.
Herriot this morning by his colleagues of the cabinet echoed the enthusiasm of the vast throngs of men and women who came to greet him when he arrived from London vesterday evening.

The popular demonstration in and about the St. Lazare station when the premier arrived, was an unmistakeable expression of popular rejoicing over the accord concluded in London, but it was also, in the opinion of observers a personal tribute to M. Herriot.

The approval given by the cabinet this morning to the work of the French delegation in London is said by competent observers to augur well for the survival of M. Herriot's report through the two or three weeks of parliamentary buffeting it will

If Country Hotels Are Modernized, Major Charm of France Will Go.

HOW NOT TO TRAVEL

Julia Hoyt Appreciates and Enjoys Contrasts in Old Countries.

By JULIA HOYT. It has always been said of the and their customs with them when they travel-and probably that is a very good thing in colonizing, but it know new countries. Many Americans, too, start out with this idea. I often heard Americans abroad sadly

"Oh, this is very different from the way it would be at home," or "we wouldn't do things this way." But the majority, I hope, appreciate and enjoy the contrasts found in the old countries, and are very ready to enter in and enjoy their customs. To my mind, that is the attitude to have in

I read a piece of news in the paper while in Paris that, to me, was rather sad; it must be attributed to the enormous number of Americans travelling in Europe. In order to make the little country notels all through France more comtortable for tour-ists, they are all going to be modernized. The day that this happens the major charm of France will be lost. Why can't we appreciate this fact and, for the sake of the charm and contrast, stand being slightly uncomfortable for a few weeks out of comfortable year.

I can remember a good many years ago, before motors were as numerous as today, stopping at many little as today, stopping at many little hotels in France in which there was probably only one pathroom-hotels in which one man, or perhaps one man and his wife, took entire charge. They were always very clean places; the cooking was delicious, and the lian

My Best Recipe By Mrs. D. L. McCrae, 13 Hyatt Avenue

In a two-quart bowl or saucepan, stir two large cupfuls of warm water, one cup flour, one tablespoon sugar and a dissolved yeast cake. Cover and let stand till quite frothy (about twenty minutes). Then add one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon nice shortening, two tablespoons of sugar, and beat in flour till quite stiff. Remove spoon, cover with two or three thicknesses of towel, let rise for an hour or more (till light). Stir down and divide into two well-greased loaf tins, cover to rise again, till light (about half an hour), and bake in a rather slow oven about twenty-five minutes. If desired a pleasant change is made by adding to last loaf a half cup brown sugar, a half cup nut meats and a cup of seedless raisins. Take care neither to chill nor overheat bread when rising.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Is There a Cure for the Husband Who Is Too Lazy to Work? A New Solution to the Mother-in-Law Problem - When the Widower With Children Remarries Shall He Pick a Widow or a Single Girl?

Dear Dorothy Dix-I have been married six years and have been workng everyday to save a little money for a rainy day, but my husband hasn't worked for nearly three years. He has had an occasional job that never lasted more than a week or two, as he gives it up the minute he gets tired or anything unpleasant oc-curs. It mortifies me to death for my friends to ask me what he is doing and to have to reply: "Nothing." But he has no shame in being idle and loafing around until I come home at night from work. I am thoroughly disgusted with him. What shall I do? DISILLUSIONED WIFE.

Answer: I don't blame you for being disgusted, Disillusioned Wife. A clinging-vine woman is desnicable enough, heaven knows. but a clinging-vine man is the most loathsome thing in the world. Any able-bodied man who will sit around the house and do nothing while his wife goes out and makes the living is too contemptible to be permitted to live. Something with boiling oil in it should be done to him.

But you are face to face, my dear, with one of the strange contradicons of matrimony, and that is that a woman often cannot be as good to a husband as she would like to be without ruining him, and that she frequently cannot tell when a duty is a duty. This is especially true when a wife tries to help her husband. Yo uare trying to help yours by working to lay up a nest-egg and get a start in the world. And because he doesn't have to support you, it makes him a loafer.

So often it happens that when a woman goes to work her husband quits working, that many people believe that it is wise for the wife never to attempt to be a wage-earner, but to force the man to bear the full burden of the family support.

There is also the sentimental aspect of the case. It is undoubtedly true that men are never grateful to their wives for financial assistance. Indeed, the minute a man begins to let a woman support him, that minute he begins to hate her. You know many husbands who sponge on their wives, but you never saw one of them who treated his wife kindly. He is always a dog that bites the hand that feeds him. Nor does a woman love long the man who is too lazy and trifling to work and make his own living. She is bound to have a contempt for him, and we cannot love those for whom we

As to what to do with these parasites, there is only one remedy for the choking vine. Cut it out, root and branch. Get rid of it. Free yourself DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix-I wish women would get a law passed so that a girl would not have to live with her mother-in-law when she gets married, ecause mothers-in-law cause more trouble between a young couple than anything else. My mother-in-law has been jealous of me ever since I married her son and she is happy when we do not get along together, for then she can have him all to herself. They get off together and whisper and talk, and it makes me so unhappy I nearly die.

These widowed mothers, if they want a man to talk to, ought to get arried themselves, and not monopolize their sons and keep them from NORTH PHILADELPHIA. eing chums with their wives.

That is a great idea of yours, North Philadelphia, and it comes nearer to solving the mother-in-law problem than anything else that has ever been suggested. For it is nothing but the rock-bottom truth that the reason that so many mothers do ruin their children's pies by sticking their fingers into them is because they have no pies of their own to make. They are buttinskis because they have no interests of their own. They wreck their children's homes by going to live with them because they have no homes of their own. And the remedy for it all is for mother and have her own home and her own affairs to look after.

A great many widows refrain from marrying on account of their chil-Iren. They are afraid that they might give them a stepfather who would be unkind to them. They devote their entire lives to thir childrn, and they feel that the least that their children can do is to pay the debt they owe y devoting their own lives to mother. This might work out all right if the children did not marry. But when they do marry and the in-laws have to we with mother because she is a widow trouble begins.

Childhood isn't very long. It would be only a few years that the children would have to endure a stepfather, even if they didn't like him, so I believe that nine times out of ten it would be better for a widow with children to remarry and establish her own home than it is for her to stay single and be dependent on them when they marry. This is looking at it solely from the children's standpoint. For herself, she would, of course, be immeasurably better off with her own life and interests than being merely a hangeron of her children's and living with her uncongenial in-laws. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix-I am a widower twenty-four years of age with three children, the eldest five and the youngest three years old. My wife was a very affectionate mother to the children, so they miss her very much, and so do I. Would you advise me to marry again and, if so, to a widow or a A LONESOME WIDOWER. single girl?

Certainly I would advise you to get married again, but I would urge you to pick out a wife very carefully. Try to get one who will be a good mother to your little children. Don't marry a frivolous young girl, who would find children a burden to her. Don't pick out a hard, sour woman, who would give them no love. Don't marry a jealous woman who will hate them because they are not her own. Don't marry a widow with children of her own. She would always side with her own children against yours. Choose an amiable, jolly, domestic woman. It makes no difference whether she is maid or Leatrice Joy in "Changing Husbands" Pleases Large Audiences at Loew's.

APPEALING STORY

Leatrice Joy in "Changing Husbands" at Loew's Theatre for the first part of the week is distinctly picture above the ordinary.

Besides having the rather unusual touch of a double roll, the picture is full of human interest and one is well satisfied that everything comes well satisfied that everything comes out all right. Though it by no means takes a prominent place in the plot of the play, the divorce of the leading couples proves efficacious in the happy solution of the plot.

Miss Joy is the actress who plays the double role as Mrs. Oliver Everett and Miss Eva Graham, and she does full intrins to the two parts.

full justice to the two parts.

To disclose the exact nature of the plot, which is quite new and refreshing, would detract considerably from the pleasure of a subsequent view of the picture and so it is not attempted.

Ably Supported. Miss Joy is ably supported by Victor Varconi as her husband, Oliver Everett, and Raymond Griffith as Bob Hamilton, her lover. Others who participate in the picture are Helen Dunbar, Zasu Pitts and Wiliam Boyd. The basis of the picture, the foreword thrown on the screen, is the division of women into three classes: "Those who are dissatisfied; those who can't get what they want, and

LONDON RAILROADMEN HEAR PLAN EXPLAINED

Giant Amalgamation of Railway Unions For Advancement of Labor.

TRADE UNION WEAK

MacDonald, Vice-President of Ontario Labor Party. Addresses Meeting.

Frank Crockford, president of the local amalgamation committee of the railroad workers, presided at a mass eeting in the Labor Temple las night, under the auspices of tha body, for the purpose of acquaintin local railroad employees with th proposal for the amalgamation of al railroad unions under one head.

The address of the evening was delivered by Jack MacDonald of Toconto, member of the executive boar of the trades and labor council of the Queen City, and vice-presiden of the Ontario section of the Cana. dian Labor Party. Over 125 mer attended the meeting.

In the midst of a strong address on the subject of "Amaigamation," lasting for more than an hour, Mr. MacDonald declared that the trade union movement today was very weak and its condition an alarming one. One organization, he claimed, was the other, striving in their individual way to bring order out of chaos, when they should present a united front. He criticized the Canadian Labor Congress for failing to raise even a "whisper" at the time of the postal workers' strike. The four unions of the postal workers had had a federation, but that lasted only for a day or two, until the sec-

Mr. MacDonald questioned the payment of a salary of $5,000 per annum arate departments or sections, but under one executive head. Dues would be greatly reduced since by amalgamation of the railroad unions alone 50 per cent of the salaries paid to organizers could be eliminated. The headquarters of the international unions with their numerous efficient. unions, with their numerous officials, are maintained at fabulous and colossal cost to the labor unions, asserted Mr. MacDonald, in claiming that 75 per cent of the laboring men's money

Heavy Clouds Helping Mars Keep Secrets

Special to The Advertiser. Mount Hamilton, Cal., Aug. 18. -A great bank of clouds from the north served as a curtain which prevented observation of Mars as the planet began to swing into the closest position to the earth it has held in 200 years.

University of California scien tists, watching Mars through the Great Lick Observatory telescope here, were prepared to start a series of photographs expected to add greatly to the human knowledge of Mars, and possibly determine whether the planet is inhabited.

The observation will continue until after Aug. 22, when the distance - 34,600,000 miles - between the two planets will be shortest.

moved from trade unionism held good while the movement was in its infancy, pursued Mr. MacDonald, but as a strike spread over larger areas until today a strike becomes a na-tional movement, with the government always interfering on the pre-text of providing protection for life and property, a strike becomes politi-cal in its significance, and now few unions hold that politics should be ment of a salary of $5,000 per annum to Tom Moore as president of the Canadian Trades Congress. The majority of the unions never see him, he said. If you want to hear him you'll have to attend some Kiwanis or Rotary Club luncheon. And if he is not there he is over at Geneva, discussing legislation that would benefit the laboring class were it enacted.

Mr. MacDonald instanced the strike of railroad carshops workers about two years ago. Though the strike was practically 100 per cent among the shopmen the running crafts remained at work, running defective rolling stock, with the result that they, by their scabbing, did more to break the carmen's strike than anything the railway board or government was able to do. If ever the railroad workers are to achieve their demands they must Denies Charge.

Denying the charge that amalgamation meant the throwing of all the trade unions in a "hotch-potch," Mr. MacDonald explained that the various craft unions would operate as separate departments or sections but bines and unions.

Key of Situation. Mr. MacDonald described the railper cent of the laboring men's money went into international offices to pay the salaries of a raft of men.

The need for Canadian autonomy amongst the labor unions of this country was strongly urged by Mr. MacDonald. For various reasons, the conditions of labor in Canada are peculiar, aside from the fact that the trade unions are organically linked up with those of the United States. "We must have the assurance of the international headquarters on the other side that when we Canadian workers wish to take any action on hehalf of the Canadian working classes we may do so without interference from across the line," affirmed the speaker.

Total workers' trade as the "key" trade of the situation of today. In olden times the key trade was that around which centered the industries which produced the necessary commodities of life, but today, with an altogether different system of knitting the world together by means of transportation systems on both land and water, the railroads have become the key trade of the present day. If any of the metal trades were to shut down for a month or even two months no one would notice particularly that the economic situation had been disturbed, but were the railways to cease operating for even a day or two the entire situation road workers' trade as the "key" railways to cease operating for even a day or two the entire situation would be disturbed immediately.

Prosperity is a delicate patient, who can be nursed back to health only in an atmosphere undisturbed by chills and flurries.

Following the election of 1921 the King administration fould necessary a period of adjustment before it could attempt to introduce its Liberal convictions in Canada's policy. It was only with this year's budget, in fact, that it became possible to set forth a plan which went beyond a hand-to-mouth protection of certain industries to encourage the fundamentals of national wealth. The practicability of that plan has yet to be demonstrated, but already there are expressions of encouragement from the very people who previously most feared its consequences. To upset that plan now and to destroy that encouragement with a period of new fears in the face of everwhelming approval in the House of Commons would be unpatriotic folly.

Saturday was a day of triumph for the prime minister in his home riding of North York, and a great demonstration of the virility of Liberalism in a province which has exhibited certain Conservative tendencies. "Play cricket" was before the war the universal exhortation in England of the sportsmen to competitors. It applied to all aports, of course, and simply meant "play fair." Along with several other items of behavior it formed the code of the gentleman, and was as much observed in every-day life as on the playing fields. It forbade any unfair advantage of opponents, any recrimination of the referee, or the other team if the game was lost. It put the other team if the game was lost. Thousands at Sarnia See Vessel Reclaimed From Sydney Harbor.

GOES TO BAY CITY

Peculiar Features Tell Story of Horror of Early Days.

Special to The Advertiser,

Sarnia, Aug. 18.—Gently propelled up the St. Clair River into Lake Huron by a southerly breeze, the old British convict ship, Success, strangest and most infamous of all ships affoat, late tonight nosed her way towards Bay City, Michigan, after being on exhibition here a week, during which several thousand people from Sarnia and Port Huron visited the vessel.

The ship is privately owned, and since being salvaged from Sydney harbor, Australia, some years ago, has circled the globe.

The outside view of the old ship gives only the faintest idea of her interest. Painted a drab yellow with he British broadarrows lining her side, a hundred questions are sug-gested by the square antiquated stern, the woman figure head, the ship's solid teak sides, her rigging and the glimpses of some of the ex-

The lower deck of the vessel is below the water line and it was on this deck that solitary confinement pris-oners were held in the old days when England exiled her worst criminals. The black hole s the smallest cell on the ship, and it is the narrowest. In its confines where adults can nei-ther sit, stand or lie, prisoners were kept for as long as twenty-eight

The condemned cells are at the other extreme end of the lower deck. It was in these dark cells, heavily chained, that prisoners who had been condemned to be hanged at the yardarm were permitted a few hours before execution. These cells are a little larger than the black holes, but this was necessary because it some-times happened that three and even four unfortunates had to occupy the cell at the same time.

In all cells there are wax figures, representing long dead unfortunates who occupied them. Nowadays the Success is lit by electricity, but that only seemed to accentuate the grimness of the sights which the decks afforded viewers. The Success soon leaves for Australia and the St. Clair River is un-likely to again see this striking illus-

Sixteen Runs Against Two Angler Pitchers.

Special to The Advertiser.

Hamilton, Aug. 18.-Hamilton won a heavy hitting game from Muskegon here today by the score of 16 to 6. Welzer and Bonnely, the starting pitchers, were very wild and started the run scoring by walks, but McCallum, who relieved Bonnely, held the visitors safely afterwards. Rynearson relieved Welzer and was hit freely.

Saginaw, Aug. 18.—Saginaw broke its losing streak today and took the final game of the series from Flint 1 to 0. Carmén gétting the decision in a great pitching battle with Tatum.
The only run came in the eighth cost and the second tilt, but not the credit of hurling a pretty game. Up to the fifth and from there on the local left-hander deged Hallahan, who had as his other battery mate, a fellow "furriner" named hurphy.

Runner up in National Open cham-pionship, 1923, and the man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchinson, Sarazen, only by Sarazen. When I first came to this country

I was considered a good putter, but after the first year I lost my skill completely. I was at a loss as to what was wrong, so I determined to practice. I soon found that practice was what I lacked. Do not keep on changing putters, stance or grip. Get something that stance or grip. Get something that is comfortable and keep it. Today I putt the same as I did fifteen years ago and I am safe to say I putted short fly to left field, the runners bestored in the champion of the composition as well as any one at the champion ship at Inwood last year. See that the stance is properly set and that the backswing is slow and definite.

NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERthe stance is properly set and that the backswing is slow and definite and well-balanced. The body should be kept immovable throughout, as should the head also, and last, but not least, the ball should be struck boldly every time. Take the line to the hole and fix it firmly in your "mind's eye," and all that is left to do is go up and hit the ball.

HAINES GOOD

Hunter's Kazoos maintained their Jonah sway over the locals by taking both games of yesterday's twin bill, 4 to 2 and 4 to 3, and sweeping in full the last two series the teams have played both games of yesterdays twin bill. It to 2 and 4 to 3, and sweeping in full the last two series the teams have played. Inability to hit Hinky Haines in timely fashion after Hinkey had been generous enough with walks, even if he was sparing with base hits, was the precise cause of the Londoners' downfall in the first game.

A forced run and Beatty's timely single scoring two more runners, knotted up the abbreviated second game in the sixth inning, but after the Londoners with three men on in the seventh, failed to cinch the game, the Kazoos took back the forced run as Achenbach walked in a run. Nason crossed up the Kazoos lined up in depth in the London eighth by bunting with one gone, but Sandquist struck out and Baker drove a long fly into Becker's hands to close the series.

Off on Hitting.

Delman hurled good enough ball to win a big percentage of games, but the much off Londoners could not get much of Haines when hits meant runs. Baker' error on Becker's smash put the out fielder on second, from where he scored coaching lines.

In the fourth, Baker tripled to right, but pined away there as two went out, and a squeeze play did not function.

Murphy was safe on Sandquist's error and Hallahan on an attempted sacrifice in the fifth. Becker's sacrifice advanced them and they both came in when Gehringer let Wright's smash get through him, and on to centre field.

One in Sixth.

Willis was hit by a pitched ball in the sixth, stole second and scored on Naleway's single. Naleway stole second and went to third on Murphy's single, but Hallahan struck out to Achenbach, and another to Stimpson, filled the bases in London's sixth. Hallahan walked Tice, forcing in a run, crammed the bases with an inhed in. Tice struck out.

Walks to O'Brien and Naleway, and Bubser's sandwiched single with one gone in the overtime eighth, were the props for a Kazoo win. Achenbach made doubly sure of Hallahan, hitting him with the fourth ball, and forcing over the winning tally.

Wins Again at North Randall.

Associated Press Despatch. North Randall, Cleveland, Aug. 18.-North Randall, Cleveland, Aug. 18.— Coming back after his winning heat of Saturday, when rain caused a halt to the grand circuit program, Single G., W. B. Barefoot's 14-year-old world's champion pacer, showed his superiority by defeating three of the best pacers in training here today. Ed Allen, the Indianapolis reinsman, took Single G. the mile in 2:01 4-5.
Only once has Single G. met defeat on this track in the nine years he has appeared here twice a year. That was last year, when he was allegedly "doped." The second division of the 2:15 trot, also unfinished from Saturday, went to Rose D. which won both heats raced today. Saturday's mile went to Zoulou Man, which was never prominent today.

The first division of the 2:15 trot was declared finished, and Hollyrood Frisco, winner of the two heats Saturday, declared the victor.

If the London Orients defeat the Bards in the only other remaining game, the Orients and the Saints will be tied for the leadership of the second series.

The losers secured the only counter in the fourth on a single by Durand into center field, a sacrifice by Livermore through the box and a double by Dolson into left. Arlein was the first runner to cross the plate for the winners, making the circuit on a walk, a stolen base, Dolson's failure to take McKenzie's peg, and Billings' hit into center. In the sixth Riseborough hit safely into left field and stole second, making third base on Dolson's boot. Lindsay was safe at second, and Riseborough counted when McKenzie threw the ball over Packham's head at first. Lindsay advanced on a passed ball and scored on Arlein's hit into center field. Chicago, Aug. 19.—Although the corn Chicago, Aug. 19.—Although the corn market underwent a material setback soon after the opening today, prices quickly developed new strength. Initial quotations, which ranged from %c decline to 1%c advance, were followed by a general fall of about 2c, and then by a rally to above yesterday's finish.

Wheat values showed a downward tendency, indications pointing to the unlikelihood of further serious crop damage in Canada. After opening %c lower to 1%c advance, the wheat market suffered a decided general drop, but recovered somewhat when corn turned up-grade.

Associated Press Despatch.

Cash wheat 1c lower; corn unchanged; oats ½c to 1c up.
Wheat has more friends than corn, despite the sharp advance. It is expected to go higher, as exporters and foreigners are said to have taken a good part of the surplus off the market, leaving it susceptible to any new buying. It is a different market to what the trade is, accustomed to.
Light local frosts were reported in Manitoba Saturday night, but no damage has been reported as yet.
Not long ago Liverpool prices were 22c over Chicago. On Saturday last they were only 12 over.
Excepting further damage to the Canadian crop, the market depends on the volume and urgency of the foreign demand; therefore, the above showing suggests caution when buying.
Visible supply figures shows wheat increase of 8,846,000 bushels; corn increase, 456,000; oats decrease, 158,000s rye increase, 84,000.

Cutting of rye and coarse grains is now well under way in Manitoba and parts of Saskatchewan, but the wheat harvest will not be general through-out the West until well towards the end of August.

Altogether prospects are much brighter, and if the frost keeps off considerably more grain will be harvested than was expected in the previous report.

What London girls' softball team is entitled to claim supremacy?

Which of the leading squads in the "softball majors" can prove its right to wear London's colors in an international match against the Cleveland Favorite Knits, state champions of Ohio, at Port Stanley on Labor Day?

These are the questions to be settled at the lakeside tomorrow in the championship tournament arranged by the London & Port Stanley Railway. Valuable trophies have been offered for the winners, the runners-up and the team ranking third in the standing, and entries have been accepted from the five strongest squads on the London diamonds. The arrangements have been in charge of an independent com-mittee headed by Ald. John Greer and W. G. Blay, manager of the London Hydro Shop. Girls' softball is sweeping the continent as the most popular game of the day. It has injected into the old diamond game thrills never before enjoyed, and as a result the lady pill clouters have worked up a following that far surpasses any other sport on the list of summer pastimes. The teams to contest in comorrow's tournament are the London Brownies, who played the Favorite Knits in thrilling battles at Port Stanley on Dominion Day and Civic REVEALED IN DOCUMENTS

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are oftentimes surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ail-

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many everyday ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment-

HE DIED WITH HIS BOOTS ON. The great humorist lay dying. His face was pale; his breath came in protesting gasps; his pulse fluttered.

The famous specialists cast signifi-cant glances between themselves. "There's—no hope?" he asked them. Their heads shook, sadly and in unison: "No hope."

The great humorist beckoned to me. "Jim, old boy," he whispered in my ear, "bring me—my—shoes, please."
I carried them to the dying man's side. Weakly he thrust his foot from beneath the covers.

"Put them on for me, Jim," he begged, growing visibly weaker from the effort of speech.

I saw that the end was near. To humor him, I drew the shoes over his feet. He lay back, satisfied.

Unable to restrain my curiosity, even in the presence of death, I asked him: "Why did you have me do that?"

"So I won't stub my toes when I kick the bucket," the great humorist smilingly replied. Then, with a quiver, he died."

Truly, he died with his boots on.

The Breath of the Avenue,

GET READY FOR SCHOOL FASHIONS

The fashion trends in back-to-college wardrobes and school frocks for junior girls are reported to us by our New York fashion representatives—the Breath of the Avenue.

College-going girls who vacation near New York are getting ideas for their back-to-college wardrobes. Here, for example, is a fashion item, that gives particular promise of getting a place on the all-college list this fall.

College girls who had a flannel dress last winter—and there were few who didn't—are pretty sure to approve of this fall's new dresses of flannel, or flannel-like fabric.

The new dress of this type has enough formality to suggest itself for classroom as well as sports wear. It is made of kashmir in a tailored straight-line style with long sleeves, convertible collar, and a narrow half-way belt of selfmaterial, buckling in the back, and unbelted in the most approved fashion of this fall.

Another variation of this type, is the plaid sport frock. Plaids are widely shown in many patterns, and many weights. Light-weight plaids of cashmere finish are featured for sport frocks in the tone range of October leaves, and in the misty blues and greens of hazy moorlands.

In School Frocks for Junior Girls, brown stands out in the earliest showings as it did at the Fashion Show—warm russet browns, deep-reddish browns, the color of a much-traveled copper, and a lighter golden brown. These tones are particularly favored for the new coats.

Navy, which seems permanently connected with the schoolroom, is important again this fall. Beige, either alone or as a background for bolder colors, is also displayed, and there are many plaids in all their gay colors.
