HE HAS DISAPPEARED

Resident of Wadsworth is Causing Worry to His Relatives.

Peter Koren, a man of middle age, residing at 66 Wadsworth street, has disappeared from his home. He has been in indifferent health lately and the matter has worried him considerably. The last time he was seen alive was on Tuesday last when he left his residence soon after breakfast, saying nothing of his intentions and when he had not returned by nightfall his relatives made enquiries and were not particularly anxious because they thought he might have spent the night at one of the homes of his many friends. When again he had not appeared by night, they became very anxious and searching enquiries were made, but brought no results. On account of the missing man's recent indisposition they are now exceedingly anxious as to his welfare, as some doubts are entertained as to whether or not he still lives.

Mrs. Bray was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Partridge, at Echo Park yesterday.

NEW CHALLENGER

Seems to Have Made a Favorable Impression Upon First Trial.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., June 4.—Shamock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America's Cup, went out today for her first sail stretching spin in the vicinity of Spithead. She was accompanied by Shamrock III. The wind was light and fluky and quite inadequate to test the capabilities of the challenger. Under her huge mainsail and her sloop foresail she manoeuvred handily, however, and picked up her way quickly after tacking. The towering mast of the new yacht quite dwarfed that of the older Shamrock.

Sir Thomas Lipton was on board the challenger together with Charles E. Nicholson, her designer, and William P. Burton, the amateur yachtsman, who is to command the Shamrock IV, during the cup races in American waters.

The superintendent of a Sunday school was illustrating for the children the text, "Arise and take the young child and his mother and flee into Egypt." Showing directly upon the picture she asked:

Now isn't that splendid. Here is the mother. Here is the young child. There's Egypt in the distance.

The children, however, looked disappointed, and finally a little boy piped out:

Teacher, where's the flea?—Tit Bits.

A BAND CONCERT

Held To-night in Honor of Visiting Trade Delegation From Hamilton.

The members of the Hamilton Board of Trade who have been making a noise throughout Western Ontario recently on a trip on which business and pleasure have combined will arrive in Brantford to-night at 7 o'clock on their special train. Accompanied by a Hamilton brass band the delegates will spend a couple of hours here, and the Brantford Board of Trade will also do honors with the Dufferin Rifles band. A concert will be held at the Armories, to which the public are cordially invited.

The bored youth turned to his dinner partner with a yawn.

Who is that strange looking man over there who stares at me so much he drawled.

Oh, that is Professor Jenkins, she replied, the famous expert on insanity.—Tit Bits.

SERVICES WERE VERY IMPRESSIVE

Remains of Mrs. Snyder Borne To Last Resting Place.

Impressive scenes marked the last sad obsequies attendant upon the decease of the late Mrs. Snyder. Almost every religious denomination of the city was represented in the gathering of distinguished local clerics, who congregated yesterday at the residence of the Rev. A. I. Snyder to do honor to the revered dead.

The Reverend R. D. Hamilton assisted by the Rev. T. E. Holling, conducted the services held in the late home and Rev. C. W. Rose, also assisted in the graveside ceremonies, which were listened to by many members of the Sydenham street Methodist flock, and by all sympathizers of Terrace Hill.

Interment took place in Greenwood cemetery, where all that remained of the deceased was tenderly laid to rest.

DIVERS ON WAY TO RELEASE BODIES

Will Also Attempt to Raise the Empress of Ireland, it is Stated.

QUEBEC, June 4.—A thrill of general interest passed along the water front of the city last evening, when it was learned that already salvage operations are about to commence on the sunken liner, Empress of Ireland, lying three miles off Father Point, with hundreds of bodies imprisoned in her hull.

Although there has been much talk of efforts being put forth to raise the vessel and recover a great mass of silver treasure understood to be on board, it was not until last evening that work would be commenced early to-day. It is learned that the experts called together for the work are confident of success and that the world may, within a few weeks, learn the authentic details of the disaster from divers who will probe the whole location and circumstances.

At the hour of this writing rumor states that a little tug, the Alde P. of Three Rivers is puffing hastily to ward the scene of the wreck with a huge bay barge containing complete submarine paraphernalia on board. On the tug are five expert divers from a New York salvage firm. These men will be the first on the ground and will make an exhaustive survey of the whole situation. Taking tide and distance into consideration, anchor should be dropped at an early hour this morning and an immediate descent will be planned.

C. P. R. officials refused to state the details of any salvage plans they were considering, but said that the best expert advice on the continent would be secured. When asked for corroboration that New York experts were rushing to the scene, Captain Walsh, superintendent of the marine, declined either to affirm or deny.

DON'T FORGET THE BY-LAW

Amid the election contest citizens should not lose sight of the fact that they will be asked to vote on Thursday, June 25th, on a by-law to provide for the guaranteeing of bonds of the Brantford Industrial Realty Company, Limited.

This concern is composed of enterprising citizens who put up their own money for the building and renting of factories. There is the hard-and-fast stipulation that nothing higher than six per cent. can be earned, and they run the chance of getting as much as that.

The project is on a sound business basis and capably run. In other places, such as Stratford, the municipality puts up money and takes the chance under mortgages of some industry proving successful. The Brantford method, it will be seen, is much better and much less onerous than that.

Not all agree that manufacturing plants should receive such encouragement, but the fact remains that other communities offer all kinds of inducements, and that it is well for Brantford to recognize and meet that condition of affairs. Under such circumstances the Courier believes that it is advisable to carry the measure.

OH, FIE, MR. HAM!

Our friends the enemy held a meeting on Tuesday night, and, according to the Expositor, "the ring of victory was in the air."

There is a familiar flavor about those words. The local Grit organ has used them for years, with regard to contest after contest, and has then had to sorrowfully gulp them down after the dispersal of the smoke of battle. In fact, for our cotem to support either man or measure (its earnest desire, for instance, to have the throats of Brantford citizens in the grasp of a private lighting monopoly), means for said men and said measures to be loaded down with a first-class hoodoo.

There was very little of a trenchant nature disclosed in the speeches, and no attack upon the splendid measures of the Whitney Government, because there couldn't be. Neither was there any reference to scandals, because when Whitney took hold, some nine years ago, he put a sudden and a complete stop to the debauchery which had existed under Liberal auspices. The trip of the Minnie M., burning of ballots, Cap Sullivanism and so on, ad nauseam.

Mr. T. H. Preston trotted out a lot of ancient history regarding Mowat legislation touching labor. If he had told the whole truth he would have informed his hearers, what is absolutely the fact, that it was Chief Justice Meredith, when leader of the Conservative Opposition, who advanced ideas in this regard which Mowat afterwards incorporated. Mr. Preston also took a tilt at the splendid Workmen's Compensation Act. He didn't make much of the job. What he tried to show was that the Whitney Government did not deserve as much credit for that excellent measure as did others who hadn't it in charge. That kind of talk might fool somebody, but it is very, very doubtful.

Mr. Ham was in a very merciful mood. One of the things he said was this:

"I did not get down to real work until after the last session of the Legislature, as it looked at first as though the election might be a long way off, and I wanted to give the Whitney Government a chance to make good before I asked any man for his vote."

Ye gods, what considerate restraint! Here was the Whitney Government calmly and serenely going along with its excellent legislative program without even the suspicion that Brother Ham was around the political corner with a husky wallop concealed somewhere about his person—that is, if they didn't follow out Mr. Ham's ideas. A deep shudder will shake the frames of Sir James and his colleagues when they learn of their peril, which is doubtful. It isn't every Government, you know, which stands in danger of getting pole-axed by one individual.

The Liberal candidate also intimated that there would be all sorts of wrongdoing by local Conservatives during the existing contest. That sort of talk was unworthy. Mr. Ham will find that the South Brant Tories will put up a decent fight, and he should not seek to throw out insinuations without the slightest possible warrant.

Here was another of Mr. Ham's ebullitions: "Don't be afraid of the Courier. The more it shouts the more scared it is of the result. I know that from experience. But don't become over-confident."

What experience? Mr. Ham's as a Conservative?

As a matter of fact, Courier shouting has been fully justified by events both before and afterwards.

It was justified when W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., walloped one T. H. Preston by the little matter of 719 votes.

It was justified when Mr. J. H. Fisher, M.P., redeemed North Brant for the Conservatives—a riding which had been Grit ever since Confederation.

It was warranted when Mr. W. S. Brewster won South Brant in 1911 by 384 majority.

It was warranted when Mr. J. V. Westbrook in the same election secured North Brant by 176.

It was warranted in connection with the triumph of Hydro-Electric.

The four Brants—had to have 'em; got 'em—and other things abundantly prove that Courier shouting is warranted by subsequent results.

It is also going to be equally warranted with regard to the defeat of Mr. Ham, as he will realize on the night of Monday, June 29th.

LIBERALS AND THE CANADIAN NORTHERN

In 1911 the Laurier Administration, at the tail end of the session, and on the eve of a general election, guaranteed bonds to the amount of nearly 7½ million pounds sterling for the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, the Canadian Northern under another name. The usual mortgage on the line was taken as security, but beyond this the country received nothing whatever for the vital service thus rendered to the country.

In the closing hours of the debate (May 17, 1911) Mr. Borden, then leader of the Opposition, said, amongst other things, that "inasmuch as the Government is giving very important assistance towards the construction of this railway, it would have been proper for the Government to have insisted that the people of Canada should have had some direct interest in the common stock of the railway as a consideration for the aid given."

Nor had the people obtained any control over the rates other than that vested in the Railway Board, whilst Mr. Borden, with other Opposition members, regretted that the measure was not introduced at a time when it would have been possible for Parliament to have given it the consideration and discussion which its magnitude deserves.

Mr. Borden himself gave ample time for the discussion of the present guarantee of 45 million dollars, together with copious information, and, in addition, is receiving 40 millions of the common stock of the whole Canadian Northern system as compensation, plus a number of other valuable concessions; yet Liberal newspapers are declaring that the country's interests are being wantonly sacrificed. No one doubts that if the Canadian Northern had confined itself to building from the head of Lake Superior to the end of the Prairie section, say, Edmonton, it would have been a profitable undertaking from the start.

It was the Liberal party which enabled and encouraged it to extend its line down the inhospitable North Shore, a step which, perhaps, more than any other, has landed it in the sea of trouble from which Mr. Borden is now endeavoring to rescue it in order to maintain the credit of the Dominion. Obviously the Liberals, who, having voted for the guarantee of 1911, are now railing at what Mr. Borden is doing, are playing a singularly unscrupulous and dishonest part. The party stultifies itself on every large question simply because it has no fixed policy, but is tossed to and fro and carried about by every wind of doctrine.

What's that? I never had the idea that I could paper a bedroom by myself.—Detroit Free Press.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

That's as certain as the sun rises.

Do you believe in an honest administration of affairs? If so, vote for Brewster and Westbrook.

Reports from all over North and South Brant are the same—nothing to it but Brewster and Westbrook.

Rowell hasn't the ghost of a chance in the Province at large, neither have the Liberals in the two Brants, but don't let up in the work, just the same.

If you are a British subject, 21 years old, been in the Province one year and in this city three months, you can get on the voters' list. Find out if your name is on the list; if not, Register.

The Workmen's Compensation Act, put on the statute books by the Whitney Government, is such a splendid measure that the Grits are now attempting to claim some of the credit for it. Can't be done. What the Rowellites did do was to sneer at Chief Justice Meredith as the commissioner.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

A GLANCE AHEAD.

The summertime will soon arrive, that season which is hottest; then every man in town should strive to be the leading swatting. For steam-winds and brazen skies, which make the cornfields flourish, will also multiply the flies, encourage them and nourish. And flies are such a pesky crew, they make one's reason totter; and so the first thing that you do should be to buy a swatter. The good old doctors disagree whenever they have a chance to; one doc goes haw, another gee—we can't guess where they prance to. But on this question of the flies, they speak up as one saw-bones; they tell us that we ought to raise and waste in blood and rawbones. So haste and send your little son, or, failing him, your daughter, to hardware dealer with the mon to buy a trusty swatter. And then from every lousy cot we'll drive the pesky critters, and sing and chortle as we swat, and hand the flies their bitters. And thus we'll win the race—that isn't far-fetched, is it? We'll make the world a better place in which to sit and visit.

WALT MASON.

To The Editor A Query

To the Editor of the Courier, Sir,—I notice in the Expositor that Mr. Alfred Parmenter, who has been endeavoring to form an Independent Labor Party here is quoted as deciding to vote for the Grit candidate in the approaching election.

Knowing Mr. Parmenter for many years, would like to know when that gentleman ever voted or worked for any other than the Grit cause. His conversion just now to Gritism is amusing to say the least.

Yours truly, WARD TWO.

There is on exhibition in Grafton's store window on Colborne St., a gold watch presented by Herbert Lawler's mother to him just before they left on their ill-fated journey on the Empress. The watch was in the pocket of the trousers Herbert had on while in the sea waters, and the hands ar stopped at 2.40, likely the morning of the accident. With the City Police

The business dealt with by Police Magistrate Livingston at the police court this morning was of a light character. There was a case of wounding preferred by W. Dixon against Andrew and Ray Knox, but this was amicably settled with the approval of the Crown Prosecutor, and the charges were therefore dismissed.

Mike Judge, a vagrant, will appear to-morrow and will in the meantime have his personality improved in the custody of the police.

Two drunks completed the list. I want a pair of button shoes for my wife. This way, sir. What kind do you wish, sir? Doesn't matter, just so they don't butto nin he back—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

I don't want to brag about myself, I've done many foolish things in my time, but I have been wise in one way. What's that? I never had the idea that I could paper a bedroom by myself.—Detroit Free Press.

the fortunate ones who escaped injury. Upstairs in bed, however, at the home of H. J. Lewis, 75 Booth Ave. little Tommy Lewis was sleeping in a front room directly opposite the generating building. When the explosion occurred, a shower of splintered glass from the window fell around the sleeping boy, who sustained no injuries, but his mother, who was downstairs in the kitchen, was badly shaken up and received a blow on the head.

Official Retiree. A gang of laborers arrived at the wrecked gas house soon after the explosion and proceeded to clear away debris. Twisted and wrenched machinery, however, made the task difficult.

When seen Mr. Geoffrey, superintendent of the plant, would say nothing as to the cause of the explosion. "We do not know yet," was his answer.

It was quite apparent that the workmen had been cautioned not to give any information as they proved to be very uncommunicative. The residents on Booth avenue expressed no little indignation regarding the manner in which their lives were endangered, not only by the explosion yesterday, but by frequent lesser explosions throughout the week.

Other Explosions. Mr. George Marshall of 7 Booth avenue, stated that owing to some experiments which he believed have been carried on by the Consumers' Gas Company lately more than one alarming explosion has resulted.

Loud detonations from these minor explosions were heard blocks away, consequently the community was alarmed and according to one resident a complaint was made. This was corroborated by the wife of one of the employees who stated that her husband had told her before going to work that morning that they had been having trouble in the generating room where the fatal explosion occurred.

The superintendent of the plant, however, refused to commit himself, stating that the company knew nothing regarding the explosion. Investigations regarding the origin are now being conducted.

Manager's Statement. Mr. A. E. Hewitt, general manager of the Consumers' Gas Co., declared that every precaution was taken to safeguard the workmen and to prevent such accidents, and he could not state the cause of the explosion.

The building he said, was still in the hands of the contractors, the Economical Gas Apparatus Construction Company. The owners, the Consumers' Gas Company, had not yet taken possession as contractors were still carrying on tests of the equipment. Mr. Foster, as a representative of the gas company, was present to observe the results of the test.

"Mr. Foster has been with us for a number of years," said Mr. Hewitt. "He was very bright and capable and we feel his loss exceedingly."

Mr. Foster was the brother of County Treasurer Foster of this city, and was well known and highly esteemed in Scotland village.

The Turks are particularly hard hit, and as they will not as a general rule accept relief, the foreign missionary is at a loss to mediate their difficulties. They are a peculiar sect and have it firmly rooted in their minds that they are out of work because of racial prejudices. OMNIBUS TRAFFIC

Police Commissioners Would Like to Have Additional Regulations.

A meeting of the Police Commission to place at the Court House yesterday afternoon in the Chambers of Judge Hardy. There were present: Judge Hardy, Magistrate Livingston and Chief Constable Slemm. Apart from routine business, the principal item of interest was the discussion of a new by-law to regulate the new motor omnibus traffic of the city. The buses as they now run are not under any stricter regulation than those afforded by the Motor Vehicles Act, and they are deemed insufficient to properly cover the new motor traffic. It was held that special provision should be made in the present Motor Vehicles by-law for the better regulating of the line of traffic.

The horse deal by which the police purchased a new patrol animal and sold their old one to the Parks board was confirmed.

P. C. Blanchard was present and laid complaint to the commission against being fined one dollar for being a few minutes late in arriving at the physical classes at the Y.M.C.A. Judge Hardy promised to give the matter his consideration and will give his decision at the next meeting.

The P. Cs. are not at all pleased with the compulsory attendance at the swimming lessons and intend to sign a petition asking that the practice in future be abandoned.

PEACE DELEGATES

Arc Now Awaiting Word From General Carranza.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. June 4.—While waiting to hear from General Carranza whether he would send delegates to the conference here, the mediators planned to-day to continue such work as would not be affected by the constitutionalist answer.

The peace plan on which the two sides of delegates have been working for two weeks, has been only partially completed. Much of the work will be of value even if the Constitutionalists decide to enter the negotiations. The mediation colony is absorbed, however, in the Constitutionalists' decision to give the word in respect to it is awaited with intense interest. The feeling is general that the attitude taken by General Carranza in his reply probably will shape the entire course of the mediation hereafter and perhaps have a direct effect on the Washington Government's future policy toward the two factions in Mexico.

Those who have seen the mediators note to the Constitutionalists, say it is so phased that they can find therein a dignified way of entering the negotiations notwithstanding previous objections.

PECULIAR MIX-UP

Undertaker Was Summoned to Hospital on Fruitless Errand.

"He passed a good night," is what the attendant at the Brantford General Hospital told a lady who called up from the residence of Mrs. F. James, Marlboro street, early Tuesday morning, to inquire about a relative.

"He passed away at night," is what the relative thought was said, and she at once telephoned H. B. Beckett to go to the hospital and take charge of the remains. When the undertaker arrived at the hospital he found his man very much alive. Explanations followed.

BOY TURNS UP

Leslie Drury Was Found by His Brother in City This Morning.

Leslie Drury, the 13 year old Eagle Place boy, reported missing in yesterday's Courier, was found this morning by his father, Donald Drury. He was wandering aimlessly along the G. T. E. tracks near the Massey Harris works. Leslie had evidently been sleeping out and had been as far as Hamilton. He refused however to tell even his relatives why he wandered away, and questions directed at him were in vain. The family was greatly relieved when the boy turned up at home safe and sound.

DR. HERRIDGE OF OTTAWA

Is Selected as New Mediator of the Presbyterian Assembly.

WOODSTOCK, June 4.—Rev. W. T. Herridge, for the past 32 years pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa was last night elected mediator of the Presbyterian General Assembly for 1914, to succeed Rev. Dr. Murdoch Mackenzie of Hanan, China, whose term of office as moderator expired yesterday.

Other names which went before the assembly were Principal Scrimger, of the Presbyterian College, Montreal; Dr. John Neill, of Toronto, and Principal Baird, of the Presbyterian College, Winnipeg. Dr. Bell asked to have his name withdrawn and Principal Baird was disqualified on a technicality, his name having been omitted from the list of qualified commissioners to the assembly.

Principal Scrimger was defeated in the first vote, leaving the contest to Dr. McLeod and Mr. Herridge.

An Eloquent Preacher.

The name of Mr. Herridge was placed before the assembly by Rev. Dr. William Gordon, of Quebec, who, in presenting his claims of his nominee, stated that he was known throughout the whole of Canada as one of the most eloquent and forceful ministers of the church. Rev. R. P. McKay, of Vancouver, in seconding the nomination, said: "We could not honor the office of the preacher more than by electing the man whom I feel is the conspicuous preacher of the church in Canada to-day."

Following his election the new moderator was escorted by his mover and seconder to the moderator's chair. Here he was received by the retiring moderator, Rev. Dr. Murdoch Mackenzie, and the whole assembly, which thronged the spacious galleries of Knox Church, rose to its feet to do him honor.

Moderator's Address.

His address to the assembly was extremely brief and to the point. "I am glad," he said, "that this has happened to me in this historic spot in the history of Presbyterianism. Woodstock, in Oxford County and in the Township of Zorra."

He was conscious of two disabilities in taking the responsible position. "In the first place," he said, "I am not a Scotchman, I am not responsible for that, it is my misfortune. The other disability was his con-

QUEBEC PAYS LAST RESPECTS TO THE DEAD TO-DAY

Funerals of Twelve of the Empress of Ireland Victims Took Place.

(By Special Wire to The Courier) QUEBEC, June 4—Marching to the music of military bands passing along the entire route between double rows of sorrowing spectators, hundreds of mourners, representing every class of society, from the vice-regal party to the humblest toilers, followed at ten o'clock to-day the remains of twelve of the Empress' victims to church and cemetery.

Flags are flying at half-mast on all public buildings as well as on a large number of commercial and private places and during the evening yesterday, the Irish Catholic church, where five of the bodies lay in wake, and the Anglican Cathedral, where there were seven, were thronged with a pitying flow of people.

At the Anglican Cathedral, the service this morning opened at nine and was widely attended. The victims interred from this church were: Wm. Williams, trimmer; V. Petersen, carpenter; E. Blaine, a steward; H. Newham, steward; G. J. Thompson, a plumber; and Mrs. E. Jones, stewardess.

They were interred in Mount Hermon cemetery, while the bodies that were interred from the Irish Catholic church were taken to the parish cemetery. The latter victims are: Michael McGuinness, chief fireman; N. O'Neil, fireman; Jas. Murphy; Mr. Parkinson, steward.

His Royal Highness did not personally attend the funeral, but he was officially represented by Captain Buller, his A.D.C., Sir Francois Langelier, lieutenant-governor of Quebec, attended the ceremony with Captain Victor Pelletier, his A.D.C. The federal government was represented by Hon. George Perley, while the provincial government was represented by the Premier, Sir Lomer Gouin, and members of the cabinet; Hon. J. C. Kaine, Taschereau, Caron, Devarie, His Worship, Mayor Drouin, with the council in body, followed the cortege in the ranks of which the following bodies were represented.

C.P.R., G. J. P. Moore, local manager; Captain Walsh, marine superintendent; W. A. Price, resident of the Harbor Commission, was in the lines with Harbor Commissioners, J. B. E. Letellier, A. Gravel, and their secretary, Raoul Romaul.

Captain Murray, Quebec harbor-master, former commander of the Empress of Ireland, attended the funeral. Among other C. P. R. officials present were: Mr. J. A. Webber of Montreal, and Mr. Fred McMahon, manager of the Hotel Chateau Frontenac.

A moving scene was noticed at the Anglican Cathedral, when the organ at the quietest moment of the ceremony struck the Titanic-famed hymn "Nearer My God to Thee."

The grandeur of the scene literally appalled the hundreds of sorrow-stricken mourners.

Survivors of the ill-fated Empress bent low with heads bowed down by the revival the hymn brought forth of the horrors of the Titanic disaster, so repeated in the Empress disaster.

Were Remanded MONTREAL, June 4.—Manuel Chute and Carmel Sparitti, the two sailors of the Collier Stotsdal which rammed the Empress of Ireland last Friday morning in the St. Lawrence three and a half miles from land, appeared in court this morning before Judge Leet, charged with stealing $1000 in cheques from Mr. Lionel Kent of Montreal, a survivor of the Empress disaster. Both pleaded not guilty to the charge and were remanded until June 10. No evidence was taken except that of Mr. Kent, who swore that he had made the complaint, and that he had lost $1,000.

Bank Bill Was Passed

OTTAWA, Ont., June 4—After an all night sitting the Farmers' Bank resolution to recoupe depositors to the extent of $1,200,000, was passed by the Commons this morning by a majority of 38. Three Liberal members, J. A. MacMillan, Gleggarty, Duncan Ross, and J. G. Middlesex, and E. W. Nesbitt, North Oxford, voted with the government. Paul Larmache, Conservative, Nicolet, stated that had he not been paired and unable to vote, he would have voted against the resolution.

Premier Borden, the last speaker, said that Hon. J. G. Fielding should not have issued the certificate, but as he had done so and the bank failed, the government was morally bound to aid the depositors.

KOPP STEALS HOME, BEATING BRANTFORD

With Score Tie Between the Red Sox and Saints, Speedy Outfielder Beats Lamond at Plate With Victory.

ST. THOMAS, June 4.—With the score one all between St. Thomas and Brantford here yesterday afternoon in the seventh a double steal executed by Kopp and Gadsby, won the second straight for the Saints when the former path speeder slid under Lamond at the plate with the winning run, despite the fact that the ball beat the runner to the plate.

Both pitchers were excellent with men on bases but of the latter but few reached the sacks by the visitors as only three hits were secured off Reilly. A base on balls, however, by Reilly, threatened to evolve into a run, as the only tally by the Brants was the result of a base on balls.

Ivers Scores on Lamond's Hit Ivers drew a walk in the second inning and two outs, coupled by a timely hit by Lamond drove in the run which was not overcome until the lucky seventh.

Chase kept the ten hits secured by the Saints well scattered up to the sixth, when Kading opening the frame with a triple over Dolan's head in centre field. Forgue drove him in with a two base hit to Dolan, but was left waiting at second, as the next three were easy outs.

Kopp Steals Home The seventh inning, however, proved lucky for the locals, as Kopp and Gadsby both singled to open up with and they were stationed at third and second when Hadley sacrificed. Kuskus also bunted; both runners started with the pitch and when the dust settled away Kopp was sitting on the bench with the necessary run to win. Chase threw the ball to Dencau who returned it to Lamond in plenty of time to catch Kopp, but the latter slid under while Lamond's elbow tagged the runner and not the hand with the ball. The score:

Freeman is the former Toronto player and home-run runner. He holds the major league record for home runs, having made 25 in 1899. He also holds the Eastern League record for long-distance hitting, and was the champion of the Toronto team of sluggers in 1897.

OTTAWA WINS IN VERY CLOSE GAME OTTAWA, June 4.—Ottawa defeated London here yesterday morning, 3 to 1. Rain prevented the afternoon game, and the eumsehs left for home last night with one victory out of four games played. The game in the morning was a fine exhibition. Score: Ottawa 3, London 1.

ERIE WINS ANOTHER FROM THE ATHLETICS. ERIE, June 4.—Erie made it three out of four from Hamilton, winning yesterday's game, 7 to 3. Home runs by Dawson and Gilbooley featured. The score: Erie 7, Hamilton 3.

SAINTS STRONGER FOR SERIES WITH LONDON

Slugging Infielder McNeilis Will Probably Report in Time for To-day's Game.

ST. THOMAS, June 4.—When the St. Thomas baseball club reports for their three games with the Tecumsehs in London today, they will present a much improved baseball club, over the one which has represented St. Thomas up to the present time. Manager Craven will in all probability be back in the game in the outfield, while he has secured McNeilis, who played with Lansing in the South Michigan League last season. McNeilis will probably be found either at third or shortstop positions replacing either Thrailkill or Fogue in the London series. McNeilis hit .300 in 122 games last season and had a fielding average of .953 as a second baseman. He is fast on his feet, as he stole no less than 59 bases.

Clement, Howick and Hughey will work the London series in turn on the mound, while Hammond, Steiger and Heck will, in all probability be their opponents. Umpire Bedford, who made an excellent showing here, will handle the games.

FEDERAL LEAGUE. KANSAS CITY, June 4.—Chicago won a 13-innings pitchers' battle from Kansas City today. Packard weakened after the strenuous struggle with Hendrix. Manager Stovall telegraphed President Gilmore immediately after learning of Judge Foell's decision in the Johnson case, asking if it was advisable to pitch Johnson. No answer had come when the game was called and Packard took the mound. Enzenroth who jumped the St. Louis American on Monday, caught his first game. The score: Chicago 5; Kansas City 2.

Tip-Tops Win Again. BROOKLYN, June 4.—For the third time running the league leading Baltimore yesterday succumbed to the Brooklyn, who continued their heavy batting, knocking Wilhelm and Conley from the mound in six innings. Three of the locals' hits were homers by Lafitte, Shaw and Murphy, two coming in the fourth innings. Score: Baltimore 4; Brooklyn 10.

Hoosiers Beat Sloufeds. ST. LOUIS, June 4.—St. Louis tied the score in the seventh, scoring six runs, but could not win, Indianapolis scoring three more runs in the ninth. Fred Kommers received word that his suspension had been lifted, and was in centre field for the home club. The score: Indianapolis 9, St. Louis 6.

Cannizz Beats Buffalo. PITTSBURG, June 4.—Pittsburg defeated Buffalo, 5 to 3 yesterday. Cannizz pitched for the locals and allowed six hits, most of them in the second innings. The score: Buffalo 3, Pittsburg 5.

NO PASSES ISSUED BY IRON TWIRLER

New Pitching Machine Can Certainly Shoot 'Em Over.

Alexander MacMillan, son of Prof. Charles MacMillan of Princeton University, has invented a device that pitches a baseball. It not only serves the ball to the batter, but returns it automatically when hit, to the pitcher's box. The apparatus has been set up at Princeton. The machine delivers to the batter any number of regulation balls, as fast as one in every eight seconds if the batter wants them that fast. Every one passes directly over the plate and the height and speed at which they can be thrown is regulated by a lever.

The batter stands at one end of a court, which is encased with nets on three sides, and on the fourth, that immediately in front of the batter, is a canvas stretching from the grand stand to a height of 40 feet. The pitching apparatus is composed of a throwing arm of steel pivoted in a frame, with fingers attached to one end and a strong spring to the other. Just below the finger is a catch and a trigger, the latter protruding through in such a way that when the ball drops from a chute immediately above the trigger it releases the catch and the spring forces the arm to catch the ball and hurl it across the plate. When the ball is hit fair it goes into the canvas playing field, which is marked off for one base, two base, three base and home runs. The ball rolls down this canvas after it has lost its impetus and follows the slant to a chute directly beneath the throwing machine.

But the drawback of the machine is that it won't throw curves, although the speed, the height, and the time of the ball can be regulated in such a way as to fool the batter.

MOTORCYCLISTS HURT IN HILL-CLIMBING RACE

Crashed Head-on Into Stone Wall At Hamilton—Are Now in Hospital.

HAMILTON, June 4.—The second annual hill-climbing contest under the auspices of the local motorists yesterday afternoon, was attended with two rather serious accidents. Moritz, the St. Louis professional rider, received a severe gash in his leg, necessitating several stitches, and Von Gunten, a local rider, sustained a broken collar and a number of cuts about the face. Both accidents occurred on the Joley Cut turn, the riders colliding with a stone wall. They were rushed into St. Joseph's hospital. Summary: Side car event: 1, Sturgess, 1:33; 2, McDonald, 1:33-2-5. Single car, amateurs: 1, Murray, 1:24; 2, Bawden, 2:21. *Bawden fell but remounted. Professional event: 1, McIntosh, 1:08 1-5; 2, Harold Cole, 1:09 4-5; 3, Baribeau, 1:13 1-5. Seven h.p. event: 1, Holden, 1:16; 2, Andrews, Toronto 1:17. Event for members: 1, Holden; 2, Sturgess; 3, Muray.

Cockshutt United. The Cockshutt United Football team will hold their practice on Thursday June 4th, at Bell View school grounds. All signed players are requested to be on hand. The team to play against Tutela will be picked on Saturday next.

Duffy, the St. Bonaventure College player, was at shortstop yesterday for the Beavers. The latter have also purchased Second Baseman Killilea, of Grand Rapids club. Killilea, who played with Hamilton last year, was taken south by the Leafs this spring, but was afterwards found to be the property of the Grand Rapids Club.

Umpire Frank Hallinan, who handled a hard game yesterday at the Stadium in Toronto, was perfectly right in his decision, as a ball hit into either the vacant space between the grand stand and flagpole bleachers or between the grand stand and first base bleachers goes for only two bases. This is a standing rule having been made after Jack Dunn, of Baltimore, hit the ball into the vacant territory between the right field bleachers and the grand stand. Dunn claimed a home run on a hit, but only two bases were allowed. Another standing rule is one base on a passed ball or a wild pitch.

Detroit won one game on Saturday, losing two over the week end. Bobby Kerr, well known athlete and business manager of the Hamilton Baseball Club as severed his connection with Hamilton Amateur Athletic association and Don Lyon, a former Tiger football player, has been appointed to the position of secretary of the association, formerly held by Mr. Kerr. The latter's resignation went into effect on Saturday.

Cleveland may be trailing in the mire but members of that ill-fated team are confident that a certain Nap will at last stop Ty Cobb's head-long career as leader of those who bat the ball. They refer to Joe Jackson—the slugger who has trailed Cobb for three seasons without catching up. Jackson, according to his mates, is batting in better form and with greater confidence this season than ever before. He has gradually absorbed a number of important points and a general steadiness that will help him later on when the test arrives.

Shortstop Dion, secured on Friday last by Hamilton from the Newark International league club and tried out on Saturday and Sunday has been sent back to Newark club by Manager Yates. In a letter received at baseball headquarters yesterday Yates informed the directors of the Hamilton club that Dion did not measure up at all and would not be. As he was purchased on trial, the club will not lose anything on the deal, although still lacking the players desired and which the directors undertook to secure some days ago. For over two weeks an effort has been made to secure two infielders and a pitcher, but the club to-day stands just as it was when the directors decided that new blood was needed if a rush for the pennant was to be witnessed.

BLOUNT REFUSED TO PLAY PETES FORFEIT GAME

Manager Refuses to Obey Ground Rule in Game With Toronto—Score Was 6-6

TORONTO, June 3.—The Beavers and the Petes wound up the series here yesterday before a good crowd and while a look at the box score will show that each club scored six runs, yet Toronto's were declared the winners. Peterboro secured an early lead but the Beavers caught them, and it went into extra time. In the 10th, Manager Blount of the Petes, hit a ball that lit in fair territory, but rolled into the alleyway between the stand and the bleachers. The ground rule at the island stadium has always been that this kind of a hit entitles the batter to a halfway journey round the sacks. Blount kept on running and when ordered back to second by the umpire, refused and said he would be satisfied with a home run or nothing. After a heated argument, Blount refused to play any more, and took his team off the field when the umpire ruled that it was only a two-base hit. The game was awarded to the Beavers by Umpire Hallinan. The score: Peterboro 6, Toronto 6.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL MEETS

Educational Societies Are Doing Much For the Labor Men.

The regular monthly meeting of the Brantford Trades and Labor Council was held last evening in Union Hall, with a fair representation of delegates present, President Moore in the chair.

The society of Amalgamated Carpenters sent a communication with a new list of delegates' credentials from their society, which was ordered accepted and delegates seated.

A communication was received and read from the Calgary Trades Council, regarding the Royal Commission's report on technical education, which was appointed by the Dominion Government, and which report, it was claimed, had not as yet been acted upon by the government, and asking the local council to send a resolution to the Government asking that they take steps to comply with the report of the commission.

Toronto Union Label Stores of Toronto, sent a communication regarding the class of goods they are handling, and asking co-operation in the purchase of the same.

President Moore read a lengthy report of the proceedings of the Ontario Labor Educational Association convention, which was held recently in St. Thomas. The report showed that in matters educational and otherwise this association is doing a grand work among the union men of the province. Special mention was made of the publicity campaign carried on in connection with the passage of the Workmen's Compensation Act. The report, as a whole, was interesting, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered President Moore for his able report of the same.

A resolution was passed by the council calling upon the Whitney government to appoint labor representatives on the Workmen's Compensation Board, as it was considered that the laboring classes should be well represented on such a board.

A resolution that had been left over dealing with the refusal of the Public School board to have a fair wage clause inserted in its contract in connection with the new school, was not taken up, as it was explained by the president that such a clause had been inserted in the contract before it was finally signed.

Several other matters of importance were laid over to be dealt with at the next regular meeting in July, when the annual election of officers will also take place.

A "LOCKOUT."
CINCINNATI, June 4.—Armando Marsons, outfielder, and Dave Davenport, pitcher, for the Cincinnati National League team, yesterday demanded new contracts, which will contain a new mutuality clause and likewise more money.

They informed Manager Herzog of their demands shortly before the game with St. Louis, notified him that they would give the manager two days in which to answer and that in case their demands were not met they would quit the team at the expiration of ten days.

Manager Herzog immediately ordered both of them off the field and stated that he would have to have more time to determine what other steps should be taken.

President Hiermann of the club refused to discuss the incident, stating that Herzog was in complete control.

CRICKET.
The following has been picked to play against Highfield College Hamilton on Saturday next, 2.30 p.m., at O.I.B. grounds: A. Bland, captain; W. West, F. W. Hutchings, F. W. Derbyshire, F. W. Stewart, G. Johnston, E. Winyard, Archdeacon, J. Usher, G. W. Whitwell, J. Frost.

BASEBALL FLIES.
The New York Giants have forged ahead of Pittsburgh and are now leading the National League.

Manager Kelley of Toronto Leafs arrived back in the Queen City from Buffalo. The team had a disastrous trip, winning only two out of seven games. In the five they lost they scored enough runs to win any ordinary game, but the pitchers failed to stand up, Rogge being the only winning pitcher. Herne will work for the Leafs to-day against the Royals.

"GUNBOAT" SMITH GOES TO ENGLAND FOR BOUT WITH FRENCH CHAMPION

"Gunboat" Smith, the California heavyweight, who is matched to fight Georges Carpentier, of France, in London, is shown above as he left for England. The big fellow, who was in fine condition, said that he would train in England for the bout, which will take place during the last week of June or first week of July.

Smith, who was accompanied by his bride of a few months, looked to be in fine condition and he felt confident of his ability to defeat the French champion, who is now one of the most popular boxers in Europe. If he is successful in his match with Carpentier, the "Gunboat" will seek a contest with "Jack" Johnson, heavyweight champion, who is preparing for a bout with another American, Frank Moran.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright 1913 by W. G. Chapman.

With long sweeps of his giant muscles Tarzan sent the little craft speeding toward the beach. Its prow had scarcely touched when the ape-man leaped to shore—his heart beat fast in joy and excitement as each long familiar object came beneath his roving eyes—the cabin, the beach, the little brook, the dense jungle, the black, impenetrable forest. The myriad birds in their brilliant plumage; the gorgeous tropical blooms upon the festooned creepers falling in great loops from the giant trees.

Tarzan of the Apes had come into his own again, and that all the world might know it he threw back his young head and gave voice to the fierce, wild challenge of his tribe. For a moment silence reigned upon the jungle, and then, shrill and weird, came an answering challenge. It was Sabor, the tiger, and the deep roar of Numa, the lion, and from a great distance faintly the fearsome answering bellow of a bull ape.

Tarzan went to the brook first and slaked his thirst. Then he approached the cabin. The door was still closed and latched as he and D'Arnot had left it. He raised the latch and entered. Nothing had been disturbed. There were the table, the bed and the little crib built by his father; the shelves and cupboards just as they had stood for over twenty-three years; just as he had left them nearly two years before.

His eyes satisfied, Tarzan's stomach began to call aloud for attention. The pangs of hunger suggested a search for food. There was nothing in the cabin, nor had he any weapons; but upon a wall hung one of his old grass ropes. It had been many times broken and spliced, so that he had discarded it for a better one long before. Tarzan wished that he had a knife. Well, unless he was mistaken he should have that and a spear and bows and arrows before another sun had set—the rope would take care of that, and in the meantime it must be made to procure food for him. He coiled it carefully, and, throwing it about his shoulder, went out, closing the door behind him.

Close to the cabin the jungle commenced, and into it Tarzan of the Apes plunged, wary and noiseless, once more to a savage beast hunting its food. For a time he kept to the ground, but finally, discovering no spoor indicative of nearby meat, he took to the trees. With the first dizzy swing from tree to tree all the old joy of living swept over him. Vain regrets and dull heartache were forgotten. Now was he living. Now indeed was the true happiness of perfect freedom his. Who would go back to the stifling, wicked cities of civilized man when the mighty reaches of the great jungle offered peace and liberty? Not he.

While it was yet light Tarzan came to a drinking place by the side of a jungle river. There was a ford there, and for countless ages the beasts of the forest had come down to drink at this spot. Here of a night might always be found either Sabor or Numa crouching in the dense foliage of the surrounding jungle awaiting an antelope.

was growing dark. A little to one side of the ford in the densest thicket he heard the faint sound of padded feet and the brushing of a huge body against tall grasses and tangled creepers. None other than Tarzan might have heard it, but the ape-man heard and translated. It was Numa, the lion, on the same errand as himself. Tarzan stilled.

CHAPTER XVII.

In the Jungle.
PRESENTLY Tarzan heard an animal approaching warily along the trail toward the drinking place. A moment more and it came in view. It was Horta, the boar. Here was delicious meat, and Tarzan's mouth watered. The grasses where Numa lay were very still now, ominously still. Horta passed beneath Tarzan. A few more steps and he would be within the radius of Numa's spring. Tarzan could imagine how old Numa's eyes were shining, how he was already sucking in his breath for the awful roar which would freeze his prey for the brief instant between the moment of the spring and the sinking of terrible fangs into splintering bones.

But as Numa gathered himself a slender rope flew through the air from the low branches of a nearby tree. A noose settled about Horta's neck. There was a frightened grunt, a squeal, and then Numa saw his quarry dragged backward up the trail, and as he sprang Horta, the boar, soared upward beyond his clutches into the tree above, and a mocking face looked down and laughed into his own.

Then indeed did Numa roar. Angry, threatening, hungry, he paced back and forth beneath the snapping ape-man. Now he stopped and, rising on his hind legs against the stem of the tree that held his enemy, sharpened his huge claws upon the bark, tearing out great pieces that lay bare the white wood beneath.

And in the meantime Tarzan had dragged the struggling Horta to the limb beside him. Siney fingers completed the work the choking noose had commenced. The ape-man had no knife, but nature had equipped him with the means of tearing his food from the quivering flank of his prey, and gleaming teeth sank into the succulent flesh while the raging lion looked on from below as another enjoyed the dinner that he had thought already his.

A CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

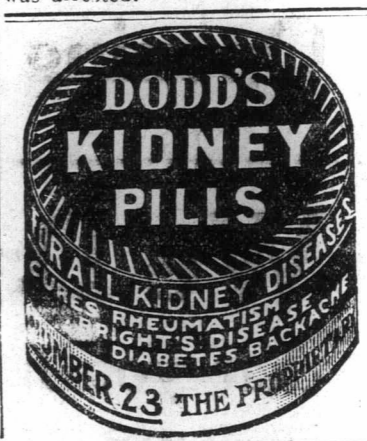

Tortured Four Years Until He Took "Fruit-a-tives"

RIDGETOWN, ONT., May 21st, 1914.
"Your 'Fruit-a-tives' cured me of Rheumatism. It was the only medicine that made any impression on me. I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism, and was laid up for four winters with Sciatica and Muscular Rheumatism, and was a cripple completely, not being able to do anything. I doctored with four different physicians, but they did not help me. Other advertised remedies were equally unsatisfactory, and I have taken several.

Some neighbor of mine told me that 'Fruit-a-tives' helped him, and I took them faithfully every day and the result was marvellous. For over two years now, I have been free from any Rheumatic pains whatever, and give 'Fruit-a-tives' the full credit for making a remarkable cure."

W. T. RACHER.

If you are subject to Rheumatic Attacks, Sciatica, Lumbago or Neuralgia, take 'Fruit-a-tives' right now and start the permanent cure which 'Fruit-a-tives' will complete if taken faithfully. Buy a box, 6 for 50c, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Gardener Twice Shot
While Joseph Conroy, a gardener employed by Mr. Wilson Lynch of Remore House, County Galway was crossing a stile three revolver shots were fired at him, one of which lodged in his chest and another went through his arm. He was taken to hospital. A man named John Letiche was arrested.

Girls Are Lowered.
The hat was a robber's varnished straw with two. If the wearer had been less resplendently fresh-faced, she would have been at the effect of the garb.

Frocks of Dimity.
It was edged in narrow, and put on with a cord. The bodice had kimono sleeves, deep white organdie cuffs, waistcoat or veste of the same material, and a row of flaring girle of black satin with a pink stripe, tied at one end of the bows pointing up bodice and two loops extended to the ruffle. At each side of where the joints of the veste and colorings are, silken draperies and ruffles and ruffles all make it possible for the knees in a simple, both smart and picturesque, num coat.

Useful Hint
By

If the edges of a sunny buttered, the contents will. When putting a stopper, always give it a half-turn. It is in. This will prevent it.

It is a good plan to help thickly just where any furniture has to rest on it, to keep motion, etc. away. The creaking of a wheel constantly stopped by a piece of soap is the looks of the paint as used.

Directly tea is split and cover the stain with warm water. For a while, and when washed all stains will have disappeared.

The reason that some men not jell is probably because they have been boiled enough. Many great deals in the world require from two to three hours.

To keep a coffee-cup sweet, spoonful of baking soda in two-thirds full of water for an hour. Then rinse well. If this is done, the pot will stay sweet and clean.

If a small piece of soap in a bowl or glass of water found to float, it will be lighted will prove it is a fact, and its smell is agreeable.

Pantalets and Close Bodices Newest Whims

By Madge Marvel

As the tunics expand in flare there is a tendency to fit the bodice close to the lines of the figure. I have seen several of the latest models with tunics that were pleated full and bodices fitted to the waist. They put a test on the wearers' figures. When one has been allowing the recent blousiness to cover whatever shortcomings of form one might have it is somewhat of a shock to find all fulness fast disappearing.

I have noticed several pantalet skirts worn on the street. They created almost a sensation. One—should one say pair—one costume on this order had the pantalets of black satin. The tunic which flared with astonishing fulness quite six inches above, was of black and white checked material. A black satin waistcoat with yellow buttons and very smart little pockets showed underneath the Eton coat of the checks, and a starched linen collar, cut somewhat on the order of the choker collars of the old-time country squire wore, flared the neck.

Girdles Are Lowered.

The hat was a cocher's hat of black varnished straw with two curling quills. If the wearer had been less youthful, less resplendently fresh-faced and less slender and graceful, one might tremble at the effect of the garb.

Another hint of future changes came to me in two imported frocks with narrow girdles, which were lowered the minutest fraction of an inch in front. In these days of style madness one has to take account of so many seemingly unimportant details. On them may hinge the big transformations. We have had fitted basques. Some of the blouses have been made to wear over the skirt, now with the addition of a dip in the front of the newest girdle, isn't it logical to expect a semi-return to the long waist with the pointed front?

It is the time when the little flimsy summer frocks are beginning to usurp the place of all more substantial attire. I cannot remember a season when so combined style and charm has been combined in these gowns. The materials and colorings are alluring and the purflings all make it possible to look both smart and picturesque at a minimum cost.

I was shown the sweetest little mulle frock at the modistes', which any clever woman could duplicate in the house with the aid of a seamstress. It was developed in that new shade known as watermelon pink. The skirt was plain with a shaped flounce applied at the knees in apron effect.

Frocks of Dimity.

It was edged in narrow black ribbon and put on with a cord of the same. The bodice had kimono sleeves with deep white organdy cuffs, a marbled waistcoat or vestee of the same and a flaring collar to match. There was a circle of black satin with a watermelon pink stripe, tied at one side with one of the bows pointing upward on the bodice and two loops extending almost to the ruffe. At each side of the bodice, where it joined the vestee, there were groups of black crystal buttons rimmed in black.

Another frock in this same establishment was of dimity, little pink and purple posies on a cream ground. It was charmingly summery, the skirt trimmed with three ruffles of the material, the topmost one having a gathered heading and being placed midway between the hips and the knees. The last was midway between the knees and the hem. The bodice was a simple kimono blouse and about the neck a maroon ribbon with white batiste. There was a girle of soft satin in the shade of purple that matched the flowers of the material, tied in a style way if she combines light crepe and plain white crepe. I have seen some lovely garments of this kind. One had the skirt of white and the tunic and Eton blouse of white and embroidered in rose.

To exterminate ants from the cupboard, wash the shelves, then dip a small paint brush in a little pure carbolic acid and smear along the edges of the shelves and bottom of the door. This will not leave an unpleasant odor and will drive the ants out.

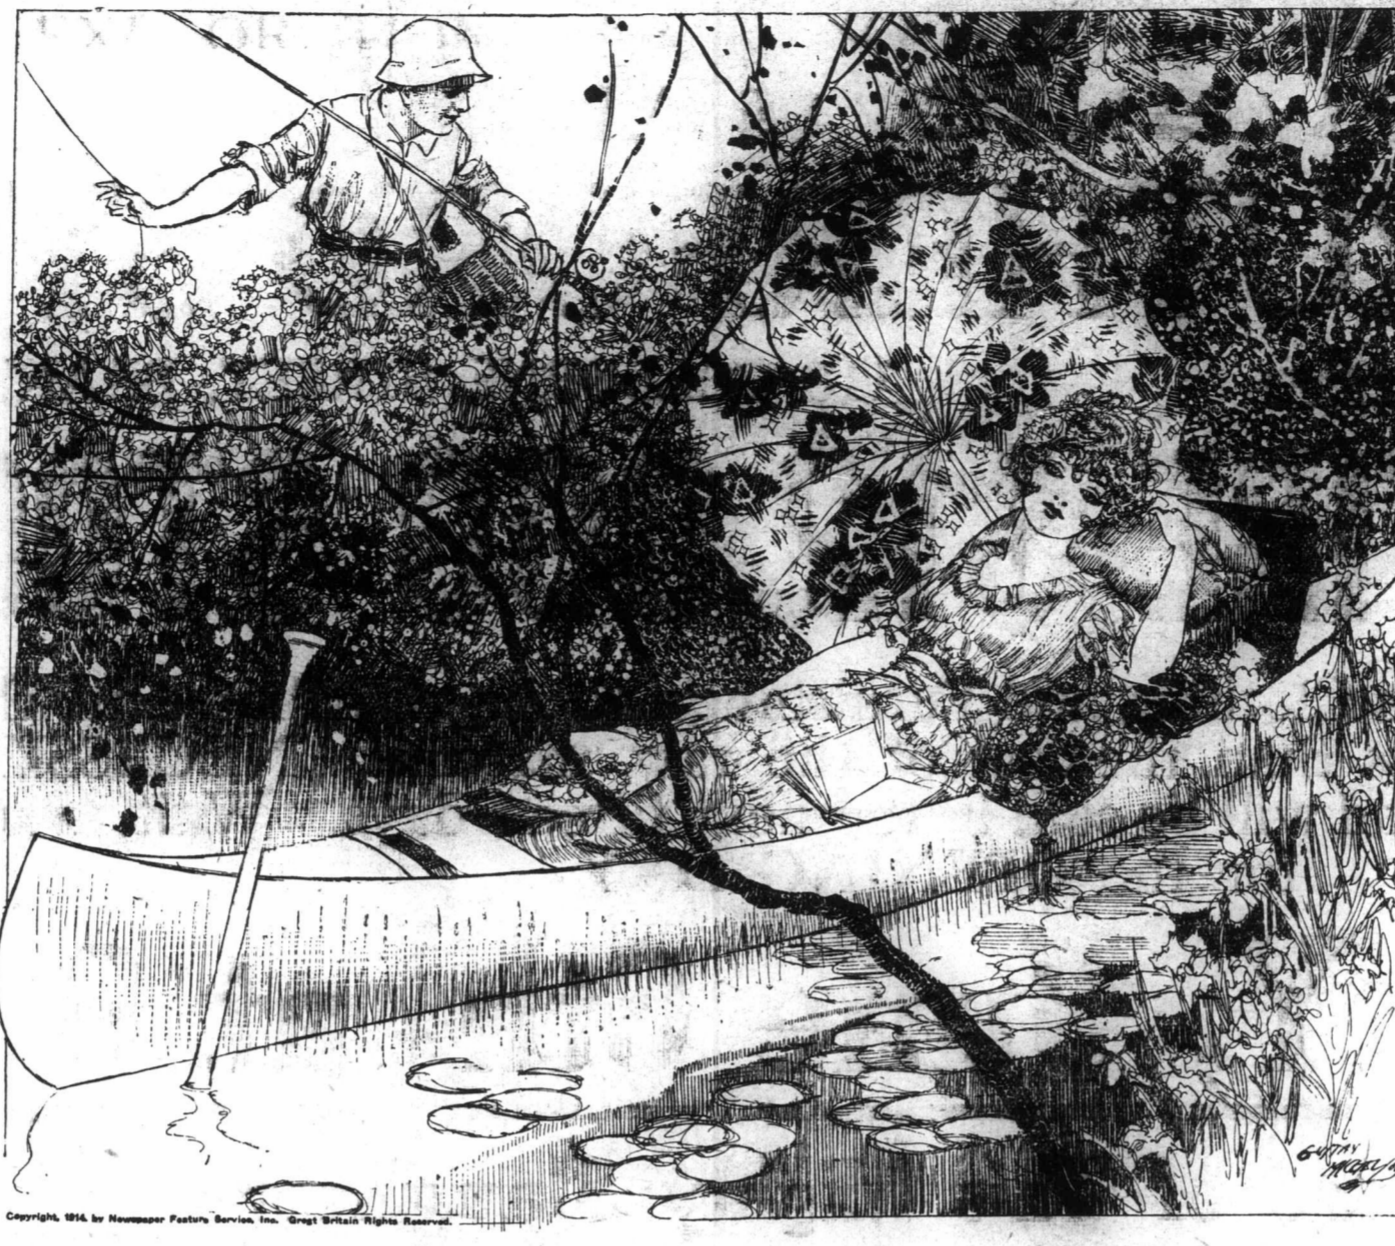

To avoid danger in canned fruits, after opening the tin, pour all the liquid into a saucpan and add a tablespoonful of castor sugar. Bring to the boil, then put in the fruit, and let it get cold in the syrup. It is then ready for use. By this process the danger of any tin flavor, etc., is destroyed, and it does not spoil the taste of the fruit.

To polish a black marble clock over with olive oil and finish with a clean chamois leather. Varnished paper on walls should be cleaned with a flannel dipped in weak tea and polished with a dry cloth. A simple, effective glue that is harmless, colorless and odorless can be made by adding ordinary tap-water to water and boiling.

When baking small cakes or buns, flour the tin instead of greasing them. The cakes will not stick to the tin, and will bake quite as well. When plates and dishes have to be washed in the oven, if a newspaper is placed underneath, it will break the heat and prevent the plates from cracking. When making a fruit pie do not put the sugar on the top under the crust, but mix it with the fruit below, otherwise it makes the crust heavy and is more liable to boil out.

EXPLORATION

By Michelson

EXPLORERS can never be sure as to what they will find. It is a gamble. If you are exploring in a canoe, and are feeling VERY lazy and comfortable, you may take a notion to shove the nose of the craft into a leafy nook, guard your bow with a paddle driven into the soft bed of the stream or lakelet, and drowse—and dream.

If you have been trout fishing and are changing your luck you may just HAPPEN to find a stranded craft. If you go softly enough, so that rustling leaves hide the sound of your approach, you may get very close without detection. But the GAME is to stumble upon the scene and "Beg your pardon!"

After that—oh, well! finish the story for yourself.

Words of Wise Men

In solitude, where we are least alone.
A beggar's rags may cover as much pride as an alderman's gown.—Spurgeon.
Men are never so easily deceived as while they are endeavoring to deceive others.—Hochetchauld.
The highest problem of any art is to cause by appearance the illusion of a higher reality.—Goethe.
Society is a wall of very strong masonry, as it now stands; it may be sapped in the course of a thousand years, but stormed in a day—no! You dash your head against it—you scatter your brains, and you dislodge a stone. Society smiles in scorn, effaces the stain, and replaces the stone.—Bulwer.
A lecture ought to be something which all can understand, about something which interests everybody. A lecture doesn't begin to be old until it has passed its 100th delivery, and some, I think, have doubled, if not quadrupled, that number. These old lectures are a man's best, commonly, they improve by age, also. One learns to make the most of their strong points, and to carry off their weak ones, to take out the really good things which don't tell on an audience, and put in the cheaper things that do. All this degrades him, of course, but it improves the lecture for general delivery. A thoroughly popular lecture ought to have something in it which 500 people cannot all take in a flash, just as it is uttered.—O. W. Holmes.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple
Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

"Is the kind you invariably adopt when I'm late. It says in the centre and trails off into a conversational moan. After that you follow up with a silence that fairly palpitates with reproach, and then we fight."
"Peter, I do wish you wouldn't be so coarse. We never fight."
"Disagree, then. More coffee, if you please."
"Last night, Peter, after the dead voice, I—I lost my temper and that made you even madder than—the married tone."
"No," I said, "it didn't. You said mother was selfish, and that did make me cross, for she isn't. As for the flash of temper, it's a good deal more human than the tone—we've been speaking about."
"You mean you'd rather have me lash out that way? Why, Peter, I don't always try to control my temper and that's why sometimes I don't say anything at all."
"Well," I exclaimed, "I'd rather a hundred times have you lash out at me than to condemn me a single of contraband in which I wonder what in thunder is the matter with you. I can't and start life over again with all the resentment out of our systems."
Moreover, marriage is teaching me a lesson. I'm going to have the courage of my convictions. I'm going to state exactly what my opinions are and not keep them holed up in a reservoir of sense of mistaken civility. And I grant Mary a similar privilege. I'll respect her conviction, she'll respect mine. That's fair enough.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie
If I want to do anything I have to beg him to do it, and if he wants me to go with him any place he gets very angry if I do not want to go. What is the matter with him, and why does he act this way? I care just as much for him as I ever did, but I know if he acts that way after we are married I would not be happy and neither would he. But he says he cares as much for me as he did when he broke our engagement.
BETH SMITH.
HONEST and true, girls, what do you really think about that letter that he writes himself, and I guess he ought to; and so he takes it out on the girl he pretends to love. What that young man needs is a good sound thrashing, and I wish that "Beth Smith" had a good big brother to give it to him. He's stubborn and conceited and self-important and bossy and fault-finding and disagreeable, and how on earth he can expect any girl with a grain of sense to look at him, I can't see. I'll warrant he's the son of a widow, and the only son at that, and he begs mother around and bosses sister at home, and they let him do it—and that's what the matter with him. Let him go on "caring for you," Beth Smith, as much as he likes; you get to start life over again with all the resentment out of our systems. What he isn't of the least importance, it is what he does that tells the truth about him, and a mighty disagreeable truth it seems to be.
Annie Laurie
Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.
Unintentional.
"It's a liberal-minded man."
"Well, he often gives himself away."
Done Easily.
Mertie—How did he propose to you?
Marie—Oh, casually.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

What Causes "Neuralgia;" Why Treatment Varies

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

MIGHTIER far than strength of nerve or sinew, the secrets of the laboratory to say that love is a flimsy, unstable, impalpable thing, and nerves are strong enough to move mountains.

Be this as it may, they cannot bar love from the vigorous body or brace up the health without strong nerves. When the pitchforks of the malignantly gleeful devils of "neuralgia" assail your fifth nerve, neither music nor the murmured words of love will all you to sleep. Even groggies shaded with green trees and hills covered with sheep offer no blandishments to the sufferer with "neuralgia."

Neuralgia is so dubbed from the Greek root neurion, a nerve, and algos, a pain. Even in pre-Aristotelian and Babylonian times, just as today, this cognomen was a veritable Joseph's coat of cover ignorance.

If there is any precise meaning at all to "neuralgia," like that loose and much-juggled absurdity, "rheumatism," it can be translated into pain. A synonym, then, for neuralgia, and for rheumatism is pain. Yet no sane person would presume to consider "pains" a definite malady.

Notwithstanding this plainly apparent fact, ninety odd individuals in every hundred you meet are well content to say neuralgia, just as they are captivated and gladdened in the cockles of their distressed hearts at the meaningless name "rheumatism."

Various indeed are the sources and causes of so-called neuralgia. It is within the memory of young medical students, as well as old medical savants, to have observed alleged "neuralgias" suddenly and unhappily materialize into, among other things:

1. Typhoid fever.
2. Nasal infections.
3. Elementary disorders.
4. Tumors.
5. Tonsillitis.
6. Cancer.
7. Meningitis.
8. "Colds."
9. Alimentary disorders.
10. Mere constipation.
11. Tipyness.
12. Overeating.

If you exclude the actual infections and inflammations of the white tissue cords called nerves—which is not properly called neuralgia—the varicose twinges, miseries, aches, pains and sorenesses called "neuralgia" may be the upshot of pressure upon the nerve of irritation from anemia, poisoning, strain, loss of sleep, foot, kidney distemper, etc. Even a broken bone, a mass of scar tissue, a swollen gland, a muscle spasm or a growth or the dislocation of a joint produce the torments known only too lightly as "neuralgia."

Treatments Differ.
Fatigue, excessive emotional outbursts, coffee, soup, beer and lemons generally, skin eruptions, tobacco, lead poisoning, illuminating gas poisoning, also those conditions of the human economy called "anaphylaxis" or "idiosyncrasies," all create tissue crises with pain.

Plains it would be less than the better part of wisdom to treat an alleged "neuralgia" as if it were a "rheumatism." Drink sour milks. Take charcoal and oxide of manganese whenever you are anxious or feel bad. Change your occupation, and work outside on a farm or in sunlight for two years. Play golf, swim, row, dance and eat a mixed diet. Chew all meats so chew before you swallow. Chew everything in proportion.

The Love-Life of the Birds
GENERALLY speaking, the social life of birds is of the happiest description. It often happens, as one famous naturalist has put it, that while some young human couple is pouring out their hearts to each other beneath the leaves of an apple tree, some feathered Romeo is making ardent love to his coy, coquetish Juliet in the branches above.

A clever student of bird life maintains that birds have a distinct social life of their own, and that the most important feature of their life is that bird marriages are permanent, implying constancy in their affections, of which proof may be found everywhere. Grief at the death of their mates is nearly always shown by birds, and some species mourn for what might seem an incredible length of time. They frequently return to the old haunts, flying about and calling as if they hoped to be able to find the lost one again. Another instance of the affection between them is the attention almost invariably shown by the males of the female, while the latter is hatching the young brood. He brings her food, sings to her, and afterwards the tenderly tending on the eggs, thereby giving her an opportunity for rest.

Three Minute Journeys
Where the Queen of Sheba Once Ruled
By TEMPLE MANNING

THERE have been printed numerous stories recently about the death of King Menelik of Abyssinia. A new king is now supposed to be on the throne. According to my knowledge, there should be plenty of news coming out of the almost inaccessible land of the Queen of Sheba. For Abyssinia may be torn by tribal wars; the kingdom may be utterly disrupted. It was the iron hand of Menelik alone that preserved peace. He alone brought his country to the attention of the world by reason of the many modern customs and inventions he imported from Europe. The different tribes are in many respects children. They seem to be at play most of the time—at least in their everyday life and when in attendance at some royal festival. The man walks about with a gun in his hand and gets into anybody's road while doing it, and has a few "bros" conversation every time the achiever's collision. What time remains to waste is employed in drinking tea. An hour or two of this pleasing occupation necessitates two or three hours repose in the nearest ditch. The Abyssinian will not tell the truth if a lie will do. He is treacherous to his neighbor, vindictive, and with no apparent moral sense. A friend of mine had two bottle washers, George and Jidwin. The latter was discovered stealing whiskey. Into one bottle was put some tartar emetic, and that night Jidwin suffered for his thefts. The next evening George rushed into my "friend's" tent. "Don't drink," he cried, "Make Jidwin drink it." The servants were poured down the bottle washer's throat. The man was dead in five minutes. The ardors of the journey and its manifold dangers turn the traveller from this spot in the old world. This way will be practicing "impossible" ones that King Menelik is a more.

Answers to Health Questions
Mrs. A. H.—Have a carbolic acid burn on my lip.
If this is a scar a skin graft can be transplanted to it and this rid you of the blemish. If not, grease paints, such as the actors use, or use milk and water colors, will not be improper or harmful.

M. C.—Unless I wear flannel underwear at night my upper limbs feel like ice. What is the cause?
The cause is the erroneous habit of rodding and pampering the skin with thick materials. Once begun, this must always be continued. You must stop this this summer and never again do so unless your health and organs are not sound.

C. D.—How can I gain weight and feel better? If I go to bed early I cannot sleep; digestion very poor.
Drink sour milks. Take charcoal and oxide of manganese whenever you are anxious or feel bad. Change your occupation, and work outside on a farm or in sunlight for two years. Play golf, swim, row, dance and eat a mixed diet. Chew all meats so chew before you swallow. Chew everything in proportion.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases.
