KENTVILLE, FRIDAY NOV. 8th, 1918

"Over the Top" -- To Victory

THE word has been passed down the line, "Stand ready to go 'over the top.'" But not as our soldiers do--to face gunfire and bayonets. We, here in Canada, do not have to go over the top with bayonet or bomb.

Our campaign is a campaign of SUPPORT. Money must be forthcoming for the support of our men at the front, for the thousands of needs of the war which is being fought for freedom and for us.

While we await the word to advance, we consider our actual needs, we figure just how much we can spare as a loan to our country, and when WE go over the top it is with our open pocket-books in our hands, to loan on the best security in the world, the money that will help to bring Victory, and after Victory, Peace!

Kentville has been asked to raise $150,000. When that amount has been subscribed we shall have earned our Honor Flag, we shall have earned the right to place one Honor Crown on our Flag, and an additional crown may be added for each twenty-five per cent. subscribed over our quota.

How Many Crowns Shall We Have?

It is up to each one of us individually and to all of us collectively. We have to get that Honor Flag and get it quickly. First let us wear the Victory Loan Button, and have our names on the Honor Roll in our place of business.

The Honor Flag will fly with more than two crowns on it if we all do our part and go

OBITUARY

Esty B. Bishop

Mr. Esty B. Bishop, who formerly lived at Greenwich and Wolfville, died in Winnipeg Man. on Oct. 23rd, after a long illness. He was 75 years old, and the third son of Mr. Jessie Lewis Bishop.

Some years ago he removed to Toronto Ont. and thence to Strassburg, Sask where his two sons, Walter and Morley, still live.

During the latter part of his life he and his daughter Grace, made their home in Winnipeg.

The body was brought to Toronto for burial beside that of his wife, formerly Miss Alice Davison, of Greenwich, who died some years ago.

Mr. Bishop, had many friends and relatives in Wolfville, and Greenwich, where he was well known.

A Chance For Canadian Consumers

Consumers of Canada have now an opportunity of ascertaining whether the prices they pay for foodstuffs are reasonable and fair or possible extortions by alleged profiteers. All they have to do in each municipality in Canada is to ask their municipal council to appoint a Fair Price Committee to investigate the prices asked by retailers and to draw conclusions as to whether these prices are fair and reasonable. These Fair Price Committees will then publish their findings in the form of lists.

In this way the consumers will make sure whether they are paying prices which are unreasonable and unfair or not. It may be that the prices which the Committee considers to be fair and reasonable will not be any lower than the present prices charged by retailers. In some cases they may be higher. But that need not bother the consumer so long as he is satisfied through the investigation of the imperial Fair Price Committee within his own municipality that the prices published indicate a fair and reasonable standard to guide both consumer and retailer, having in mind war conditions and the unsettling of pre-war prices.

If there is a desire on the part of the consumers to find out just where they stand in regard to prices which they have to pay for foodstuffs, they now have a golden opportunity to have the matter dealt with once and for all under the provisions of the recent Order-in-Council, fathered by the Department of Labour relative to the appointment of Municipal Fair Price Committees.

In some quarters it is said that Fair Price Committees will not solve the food problem present in most households. It will be pertinent to suggest that municipal Fair Price Committees first should be given a chance to show that they can find a solution before the principle of municipal Fair Price Committees is condemned to remain. It is a good rule to support measures that seem to tend in the right direction. A similar program has been effected in the United States.

The virtue of this Order-in-Council, giving authority to municipalities to appoint Fair Price Committees to investigate the prices consumers have to pay lies in the publicity that will be given to the findings. In this way public opinion will be informed, and enlightened public opinion may be trusted to cooperate in all national food efforts if it knows the facts. You can always give anything a thorough trial once.

News From the Noble 85th Letter From Greenwich Boy Full of Interest

The following letter is from Everett Fraser of Greenwich to his relatives.
He refers frequently to his brother Kenneth who is a Corporal in the same Battalion.

Blighty, Sept. 30th., 1918.
DEAR HOME FOLK:—
Arrived here last night or at least this morning, and guess I might as well tell you the whole history.

Last Wednesday Sept. 25th afternoon we left our rest billet and marched four miles to Arras station where we were to board the train for a trip up the line. We were to go by train some distance, then march four more miles to trenches about three miles behind the front line. The following night we were to go three miles to the assembly points, and the next morning go over the top. The Brigade landed at Arras about six o'clock and as the train was expected in a half-hour, we all went into some old freight sheds.

The moon came up about nine and it was a lovely night,—just the kind of night that Hennie likes to come over and drop bombs. Of course we were all packed in there thick. The bands were playing, fellowly talking and laughing etc., so on account of the noise we did not hear his machines. Ken, another guy and myself were standing in the middle of the floor chewing the rag, when Ken glanced up thru the skylight and said, "Hennie is over," and went on talking. He had hardly spoken the 'w' when, WHANG! WHANG! two big aerial torpedoes dropped, one on either side of the building both striking within two feet of it.
The floor sat up about three feet off the ground on a wall. If it had not been for that there would not have been many of us left.

Where Ken and I were standing was about twelve feet from where one struck and twenty-five feet from the other. Concussion knocked us flat. Big timbers, iron cross-beams, tiled roofing and everything else kept falling for what seemed like five minutes, but in reality was about one minute. When things stopped falling I found I was piled up on top of somebody, so I yelled, "That you Ken?" "Ye," he answered. "Are you alright?" I asked. "Jake-a-boo!" said Ken. We had to grope around until we found our steel lids, then I commenced to feel a stinging in my left arm. We both helped to lift beams, iron crosspieces and other things off the fellows, helped dress wounds etc. In the darkness we became separated but after a time I went outside then I heard Ken giving orders to his platoon. He had taken them over in a field and scattered them about in shell-holes in case any more bombs were dropped. His sergeant got hit, so he, being first corporal, had to take the platoon as platoon sergeant I went over where he was for awhile then joined my own platoon which was also in shell-holes.

Our search-lights picked Hennie up in their beams and held him there until our planes or anti-air-craft guns got onto their job, and it was not long before we saw two of them coming down in flames.
After I had rejoined my platoon awhile, I began to think something must have penetrated my arm by the way it was feeling, so I got a fellow to feel and sure enough he found a hole thru my greatcoat and tunic and got his fingers smeared with blood. We took off the coats and he put on a field dressing. A lot of fellows had beat it a long time before that to a field ambulance over farther in the town, so I decided to go too. I suppose it was a good thing I did as it turned out, as going in the line with that piece of shrapnel in my arm might have caused blood-poisoning. I went back to say goodbye to Ken, but he had moved somewhere else and I did not have time to hunt him up. However he would know before they started that I had gone out, and it would not surprise him as I had told him that I got hit some time. They inactivated all of us at the field ambulance, gave us cocoa, bread and jam etc. then sent us by motor ambulances to belong to the 4th Can. division. Here they fed us again, gave us more cocoa, pieces of chocolate etc. and as fast as they could they ripped off the dressings and redressed our wounds

They took me in a room next to the operating room, stripped me, put me, into a pair of pyjamas and one of those shirts that button from the bottom up, laid me on a stretcher and covered me with blankets. "Go to sleep Jock" he then said, so I obeyed orders and did so. (all kilties are called Jock by other fellows) Well my turn in the operating room did not come until after daylight, then they carried me in, laid me on the table, held some blooming thing over my nose until I passed into a blissful slumber, slushed it out, sewed it up again and when I came to they had the bandage nearly all on.
"You've got a dandy Blighty there, Jock," the M. O. said to me, "You will go down to the base today and from there you will soon be sent to Blighty." Afterwards they presented me with the piece of shrapnel the doctor had taken out of my arm, I will send it home for a souvenir. No train came that day, but the next day we went. Arrived at No. 4 Stationary Hospital at 1.30 A. M. was marked for Blighty that day and left again at 4 the next morning for Calais where we boarded the Hospital ship. We landed at Dover at 1.30 p. m. boarded the train again and arrived here at midnight last night. The first thing was supper, then a bath and into bed. This is not as good a place as the hospital I was in last winter, but this is only a clearing hospital, we only stay here a few days then they send us out to V. A. D's. which are in towns near here. If you remember I was in a V. A. D. last winter, they are the best hospitals in England. The Field Ambulance at Arras was a Imperial, the C. C. S. was Canadian the Hospital at Etapes, Imperial and this one is Imperial.

Some think Hennie saw the lights of the fellows smoking that night but I believe he was aiming to bomb the railheads, that is what he gets after the most. Of course we would not have all been crowded into buildings if train had not been expected so soon. "C" Co'y had the most casualties as we were the nearest to where they struck. Fred Abbot was wounded that night by the bombs, don't know how badly, but I think he must have been a stretcher case, as I did not see him among our casualties (in the batt.).
I heard our casualties in the whole Brigade about 340. It would kind of weaken them for going over the top, but I expect they got reinforcements. I was talking to some of the boys of the Bde. down at the Base who had been wounded going over, they said the 85th had our trouble taking their objective. Our objective was the town of Baurou just to the left of Baurou Woods.
The town had three hundred houses and every one had a cellar under it all of which were connected by tunnels. Then there was a long tunnel which ran five miles back of the German lines, and all the tunnels from the cellars were connected with it.
According to last night's paper, our line is now miles beyond that town —part way into Cambria.

Good news in last night's paper, Official report that the Bulgarians have surrendered unconditionally.
That is the beginning of the end, Turkey will cave in next then Austria Germany won't be able to do much alone. The morale of her troops for the most part is rotten; they won't fight. Our casualties in all our fighting this summer were small after all when one comes to think about it. When we were advancing toward him, (us out in open) he would be dug into trenches or shell-holes or somewhere we couldn't get a crack at him, and would be pumping lead just as fast as his old machine guns could work. It would seem by the hail of bullets that no man could live to get across. But we always did get across—lots of us and the reason was this. He had his "wind up," was so badly scared his knees would be knocking together and he couldn't shoot straight.
When we got too close lots of them would leave their machine guns and run like sheep for the rear—couldn't see their heels for dust—few of them got very far the some of them would run toward us with both hands up, we would send them to our rear where somebody would collect. Sometimes off them. Others would stick to their guns firing at us with one hand while the other hand was stuck up in the air, and they would be yelling, "Mercy Kamarad." These guys got a lot of mercy, believe me. They say they are liable to be shot by their own officers if Victims of La Grippe Left Weak Disheartened and an Easy Prey to Other Troubles.

If you have had an attack of la grippe, or Spanish influenza you are not out of danger until your blood is restored to normal.
Influenza leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion, and over-sensitive nerves. In this condition the system becomes an easy prey to deadly pneumonia, bronchitis, nervous prostration, rheumatism and even consumption. Ask anyone who has had an attack of Influenza what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer "Since I had grippe I have never been really well." This general feeling of weakness will continue until the blood is built up again, and for this purpose nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. William's Pink Pills. From first to last these pills make new rich red blood which reaches every organ and nerve in the body, and through this weak, despondent victims of influenza are transformed into cheerful, healthy, happy men and women.
Among the many victims of la grippe who proclaim the value of Dr. William's Pink Pills is Mr. Amos Kaulback, of Petite Riviere, N. S. who says:—"I was taken down with a severe attack of la grippe or influenza. After a time the early symptoms of the trouble left me, but I did not regain my usual strength, and I had always been a strong man. There were times when I felt I could hardly crawl about and I was so run down I could scarcely go about my business. I continued taking medicine but it did me no good. Then I found the trouble was affecting my digestion and the disagreeable feeling from this added to my general misery. I was finally advised to take Dr.
William's Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. I had only been taking the pills a few weeks when I found my strength and still continuing the use of the pills a few weeks more found me restored to my old-time vigor. I can most strongly recommend Dr. William's Pink Pills to all who have passed through an attack of influenza, as a safe medicine for renewing their strength."
You can get Dr. William's Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. William's Medicine Co. Brockville Ont.

Well this is getting to be quite a history; so guess I had better quit.
Bye-bye, love to all from,
Everett.

Epidemic Influenza

(Issued by the Department of the Public Health, Nova Scotia)

The public is warned against placing faith in the use of camphor bags, gargles, throat sprays, etc., as preventives of Influenza. It should be realized that the germs of Influenza, and of the pneumonia which so often complicates it, will resist immersion in strong germicidal solutions for several minutes, and could not possibly be destroyed by the odour from a camphor bag or similar device. Gargles and throat sprays may do harm rather than good, by irritating the mucous membrane and rendering it less resistant to bacterial invasion, so they should not be used except upon the advice of a physician.

It cannot be too strongly urged that safety lies particularly in avoiding colds association with those who are ill, and as many cases are mild and strongly resemble ordinary colds, those who have colds should be kept at a distance. The infective agent is given off in the discharges from throat and nose, and in the fine spray which is ejected in the acts of coughing, sneezing and loud talking. Such spray is ejected to a distance of from four to five feet. Keep out of its range.

The number of the organisms of influenza or pneumonia which float about in the open air or in the air of well ventilated and uncrowded rooms can usually be taken care of by the healthy individual. "Invasion in mass" however, may overcome the resisting power of even the strongest man. Such invasion is only likely when one comes within range of the cough or sneeze of an infected person.

Resistance to attack by the small number of germs which may be present in the air of well ventilated places depends mainly upon the general health. This should be maintained at the highest possible standard by avoiding excesses of any kind getting a sufficient amount of food plenty of sleep, a modern amount of outdoor exercise, and an unlimited supply of fresh air. Clothing should be warm, chilling should be avoided and wet clothing, including foot wear, should be exchanged for dry at the earliest possible moment.

There is grave danger in neglect of what may appear to be an ordinary cold. Mild cases of Influenza are scarcely to be distinguished from this minor ailment. Those who lightly regard what they think to be a mere cold may not only subject themselves to great risk, but endanger all with whom they associate.

The most important item in the treatment of Influenza is to go to bed at once and to remain there until the doctor advises otherwise. This is the surest way to escape dangerous complications.

Germany Accepts Wilson's Conditions for an Armistice.

New York, Oct. 21st.—The Associated Press this afternoon issues the following: Germany has replied to President Wilson's note saying she accepts his conditions for an armistice. She declares Germany now has a parliamentary form of government. Germany says orders have been given submarine commanders not to sink passenger steamers henceforth.

The German reply, received by wireless in London, says Germany agrees with the President that the military leaders shall arrange an armistice and the terms for the evacuation of occupied territory. Denial is made that the Germans have been unnecessarily destructive in retiring from occupied territory.

It is admitted the German people previously had no word in making war and peace. The new Government recently formed under Prince Maximilian, the reply says, is responsible to the Reichstag and is supported by the German people and it is this Government with which the President is dealing. The new Government, it is declared, has undertaken to alter the constitution of the German Empire to give the representatives of the people power over the Government.

The Armies Fight on

In the war theatre the Allied armies have taken no heed of the efforts underway for the re-establishment of peace, but are continuing to force back the Germans at vital points along the lines in Belgium and France. In these endeavors the British and Americans are for the moment taking the principal parts. The British have approached to within two miles of Valenciennes, and the Americans, to the northwest of Verdun, have succeeded in occupying two highly important positions in their operations aimed at an advance northward. American and British troops have crossed the Oise Canal on a wide front in the face of desperate resistance and further successes in this sector will menace the Germans both to the north and south.

The Use of the Apple

Those who make a liberal use of apples will serve the dual purpose of saving for shipment overseas such articles of food as are fit for that purpose and at the same time furnish a useful and valuable food for the household.

The apple without question is the king of fruits, whether fresh, dried, evaporated or canned, it is a wholesome food, easily prepared, attractive and palatable at all times.

"Always cook apples in earthen or granite utensils and use silver, granite or wooden spoons for stirring. The use of the apple as a basis for all manufactured jam is well known. This is due to the large amount of pectose which it contains. There is no waste to a good apple; even the paring and core may be utilized for jelly. Fruits are classified as flavour fruits and nutritive fruits. The apple comes under both of these heads." Extracts from a little booklet issued by the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture giving 160 recipes for the use of the apple. The book can be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Influenza Some Interesting Facts About its History Prevention and Treatment.

The anti-microbe properties of quinine are well known and its use as described before at once relieves the symptoms of sore throat, which result from the strain of the fight between the white blood corpuscles and the invading germs in the tonsils the body's first line of defence. Quinine is also given internally with success as a preventive. In one of the more recent outbreaks in Europe, an experiment was tried in which the men of one squadron of a regiment of cavalry were each given 7 1/2 grains of quinine in 1/2 ounce of whiskey daily for 22 days, whilst those of the other squadrons were given none. The latter squadrons had from 22 to 44 cases each of influenza, whilst the squadrons treated with quinine developed only 4 cases. Inhalations of oil of eucalyptus, thymol, oil of mountain pine and the like are also valuable as preventives.

How to Treat it—When a person is struck by influenza, only one course lies open. That is to take to bed with the least possible delay, and call a doctor. Rest, warmth and quiet are three sovereign remedies of the primary disease, and the best preventive of its more deadly complication, of which pneumonia is the most frequent. While there is no specific for influenza, yet there are many drugs which play a useful part in relieving it, such as quinine, aspirin and various tonics, anti neuralgic, antiseptic and heart medicines, to be prescribed by the physician in charge.

What to Eat—The dietetic rules which apply to any fever apply equally to influenza. Liquid foods at first solids a little later on in a gradually ascending scale from lightly boiled fresh eggs to chicken, roast joints, etc. Water, cold or hot may be sipped or "egg water" may be given. This excellent dish is prepared by blending with a pint of cold water, the whipped whites of 2 or 3 eggs, flavoured with salt or cinnamon. Then the animal broths may be given. There are many cases in which even the lightest foods are spurned with loathing and a common sense must be used in adapting diet to the particular case in hand.

Died at Halifax

The sad death of the only child of Mr. Clifford Murphy who is engaged to the N. S. Sanatorium is referred to in the Herald last week as follows:— A Baby's Death—A wide circle of friends sympathize deeply with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Murphy, Kentville in the death of their little daughter, Marian Gertrude Bingay, aged 21 months, who, while on a visit to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. John Bingay, 227 Barrington Street, was seized with an attack of croup, which, with almost incredible rapidity, developed into pneumonia, the condition of the baby defying all the efforts of the doctors and nurses. The small girl was brought to the city by her father's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Murphy, 28 Morris St. by whom she was taken to Mrs. Bingay. She was the idolized darling of parents and grandparents, her mother being almost overwhelmed by her sudden death. A really beautiful child, with an indescribable sweetness of nature, full of beguiling baby ways, and moreover an only child, the gap created in the home by her swift passing will be readily appreciated by all parents. The baby's funeral, at which Dean Llywd officiated, took place yesterday afternoon, the Dean being assisted by Rev. Mr. Wright. Happily Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, the parents, arrived to be with her at the end, having been summoned by telegram. The tiny casket was wrapped in flowers sent by sorrowing friends.

WEDDING.

Symons—Thorn. The residence of Dr. F. W. Stevens, Queen street, Dartmouth, was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday evening, October 23rd, when James W. Symon, of Dartmouth, was united in marriage to Miss Sarah F. A. Thorne, of Kentville, Rev. Noel Wilcox, rector of Christ Church, officiating. The bride who was given away by her brother, E. L. Thorne, wore a charming gown of white crepe de chine, with an underdress of cream colored brocade satin, and carried a bouquet of white and yellow chrysanthemums. A number of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present among those from out of town being Lieutenants Clarence Thorne, C. A. M. C. of Granville. The groom is a member of the office staff of the Starr Manufacturing Co. and was presented by his colleagues with a morris chair. His gift to the bride was a set of pearl ear-rings. Many valuable presents were received. During the evening a telegram of congratulation arrived from twenty-five Kentville friends. The bride's travelling costume was a navy blue broadcloth suit with hat to match Morning Chronicle

Precautions Against Influenza

- (1) The sick should be separated from the healthy. This is especially important in the case of first attacks in the household. (2) Discharges from the nose and mouth should not be allowed to get dry on a pocket handkerchief or inside the house, office or factory. They should at once be collected in paper or clean rags and burned. If it cannot be done, they should be dropped into a vessel containing water. (3) Infected articles and rooms should be cleansed and disinfected. Use disinfectants everywhere. Wash the hands frequently. (4) Those attacked should not, on any account, mingle with other people for at least a period of ten days from the commencement of the attack. In severe cases, they should remain away from work for a longer period. (5) Special attention should be given to cleanliness and ventilation. Warm clothing should be worn, the feet should be kept dry and all unnecessary exposure avoided.

Pictou Co. Indian Recommended for Victoria Cross.

To have disposed of seventy-one German snipers on the Western front is the proud record of Stephen Toney, a Nova Scotia Indian, and a former member of the Nova Scotia Highland Batt. who returned home this week. Although he has received no official word, Toney states that it seemed generally known, and was told to him by officers at Bramshott Camp, that he was recommended for the Victoria Cross. He arrived in the city Thursday, and left for his home at Pictou Landing, Pictou Co. yesterday afternoon.

Sniper Toney enlisted in the 193rd. regiment, when the Nova Scotia Highland Brigade was being formed. On account of being a good shot, he was immediately placed in the sniper's platoon. He went overseas with the Brigade, and was transferred to an Upper Canadian Batt. but was soon transferred back to the Nova Scotia Highland Batt. He performed his services at Vimy Ridge, Triangles and Mericourt.

At Vimy Ridge on April 9th, he disposed of fourteen German snipers. He was shifted to Triangles where he shot off thirteen. It was at Triangles that he received the congratulations of the general commanding the Brigade, who was watching the effect of Toney's work through a periscope. After watching him shoot thirteen Germans, the general told Toney he was the man they were looking for, and that he would do the best he could for him.

Toney was next moved to Mericourt, and here continued his good work. One of his victims was known as a bad sniper, and it took Toney two hours to locate his man, and of course, when he did, the German was a dead one.

Toney was gassed at Triangles on June 12th, 1917, and was sent to England for treatment. When he reached Bramshott Camp the officers there informed him of his having won the Victoria Cross. He explained that he had not received any official word about the award, and had not received the cross. After spending some time in England, he once again crossed to France, took up sniping, but on account of being gassed he was unable to stand it. The gas even affected his eyesight, and this of course hindered him in firing at night. Everywhere he went on reaching France the second time he was hailed as a V. C. man.

"I did not go over there for anything," he said at Pier Two yesterday. "I went over to help the Empire the best way I could and I have done the best I can." He explained that should he not receive the cross it would not affect him. Previous to enlisting he was working at his home, doing coopering work, and said yesterday that if he could not go back at that work, he would have to work with his fiddle—Morning Chronicle.

Fifty Eight Years Ago

From a copy of the Halifax Reporter dated July 26th., 1860 we note the preparations made at Halifax, at that time for the arrival of the week of the Prince of Wales, who was our late King Edward. His Royal Highness' Squadron consisted of His Majesty's Ships Hero, Ariadne and Flying Fish. The nature of the public reception regatta government ball's sports and review of troops and warships were described. It was a great time in Halifax. Some noted members of the press were in Halifax, at that time including E. H. House of the N. Y. Tribune Mr. Andrew artist for Illustrated London News, Mr. Woods of London Times, and Dr. Rawlings of Frank Leslie's Illustrated. Halifax, had erected about 20 arches on the different city streets. One arch at Junction of Barrington and Spring Garden was erected by Archbishop Connolly, at his own expense costing over 150 pounds.

Grand Celebration Expected Soon

A large number of citizens assembled in the Town Hall on Thursday evening to make arrangements for the Grand Celebration to take place in Kentville just as soon as official word is received. No further bells will be rung until the news is confirmed. Then joy bells will ring, bonfires blaze and the sky be lit up with fireworks Kentville will celebrate in such a way that it will be a day never to be forgotten by our people and especially the children.

Celebrating too Soon

On the strength of a cable to New York that the Armistice had been signed at 2 o'clock on Thursday, the public in cities and towns throughout America started peace celebrations.

Wolfville commenced its celebration right afternoon and about three o'clock Kentville followed suit though no official confirmation could be obtained. Bells rang whistles blew, and soon the Street was thronged with a merry cheering crowd in parades around the square on foot in autos and in teams and all sorts of noises guns horns etc were heard. Flags everywhere were in evidence and joy seemed unbounded for a time. The excitement ceased in the evening when a bulletin was issued that the news was unconfirmed and no further celebration would take place until word was officially received.

St. Paul's Church

The people of St. Paul's congregation will meet on Sunday at 11 a. m. to praise God for His goodness, and to acknowledge His protection in this war now about to end. The subject for thought will be "Divine Protection." In the evening the subject will be "The profits from the Investment of Self."

Sunday School will meet after the morning Service. Xmas Boxes for our boys overseas have been prepared, and forwarded.

Confronted as we are by those who have given their all, dare we set a limit to our own sacrifices in Freedom's cause?

The smoke from Canada's factories signals to the world that Canada's army of workers is "carrying on."

These fires must be kept burning

As long as Canada is busy at home she can continue her glorious part in the war.
Canada's factories are a source of great national strength to-day.
They send across the sea a steady stream of vitally needed war supplies.
They employ our people at home at good wages.
They enable Canadians to earn the money to carry on the war.
To let those factories slow down now would be a crime against the boys in France—a disaster to the great army of workers at home.
The fires under the boilers must be kept burning.
That is one of the great purposes of the Victory Loan 1918.

How Sergt. Mc'Neil Won Decoration

Awarded Military Medal He is Later Killed in Action

Lieut. Col. V. Ralston of the 85th. battalion in a letter to Mrs. Mary McNeil, Sydney pays high tribute to her husband Sergt. A. R. McNeil, D. C. M. who was killed in action.

As an original member of the 85th. says Col. Ralston, your husband has left behind him a shining record of service which will ever be cherished by the Battalion and of which you may well be proud. With the exception of seven months evacuation to England, consequent to being wounded he has been with the Battalion from the time of its mobilization and has taken part in every action of note in which the Unit has been engaged. On the 26th. June, 1916 he was promoted to the rank of Corporal, which was followed on the 30th., May 1917, by the full rank of Sergeant. During the operations at Passchendaele on the 30th. October 1916 he was wounded and was therefore evacuated to England for a period of convalescence and rest. He rejoined the battalion on the 30th., May 1918. For his splendid work during the fighting of the latter part of June last year, he received public recognition in the award of the D. C. M. the official recommendation for which reads as follows:

"For conspicuous gallantry during the operations of the latter part of June, 1917. The situation demanding it, this N. C. O. took charge of his Platoon and showed great courage and devotion to duty. During the attack on the first object he handled his men most skilfully and annihilated the garrison on his front. During the second attack he so skilfully handled his men that he incurred no casualties and placed all posts along the line of consolidation with great rapidity. During the night he went out and patrolled all the ground in front of his position and brought in valuable information. Although he had been on duty continuously for 36 hours and had been in two attacks, he volunteered and went out with a patrol in daylight although under heavy machine gun fire.

"This N. C. O. took part in the fighting on April 9th. and in that action showed great courage and coolness. He has always been exceedingly conscientious and his work has always been done cheerfully and well."

His company or his platoon commander has no doubt, written regarding the circumstances surrounding his death. Briefly, they are as follows: At about 11.00 a. m. on the 2nd. inst. while advancing with his Company (D Company) through enemy position, during the recent successful operations of the Canadian Corps, he was hit by an enemy machine gun bullet causing his instant death.

The sympathy of all the officers, N. C. O's and men of the battalion is extended to you in your bereavement which, I trust, is somewhat lightened by the knowledge of his commendable life, his heroic death and the cause for which the sacrifice was made. He was the first non-commissioned officer in the battalion to receive the D. C. M. and we were very proud of him. He was one of those of whom it may be truly said that he knew no fear at the same time he was not foolhardy but when he considered that his duty called him to a certain place he went regardless of condition. I knew him personally and admired him.
