CHAPTER XXI.

Enforced Separation.

"No, my lord—sir," replied Forbes. "Ah, yes, there is. Your sudden coming, Master Harry, has quite scattered my poor wits. There was a gentleman called here a few days ago inquiring after you."

"Oh!" said Lashmore. His face grew grave, for he suddenly struck him that Sir Talbot might have traced him and come to make inquiries. "What name did he ask for?"

"Strangely enough, sir, he asked for Lord Herdale."

Lashmore looked graver. "What was his business, Forbes?"

"He didn't say, sir, he wouldn't say. I was all in a flutter, as you may suppose, my lord, but I asked him his business, and he wouldn't say. He wanted your address."

"Which you didn't give him," interjected Harry.

"Certainly not, my lord. He tried me all he knew, but I stood firm."

"What was his name?" asked Lashmore.

"Levison, sir."

Lashmore repeated the name several times; then shrugged his shoulders. He was too relieved to find that it was not Sir Talbot to feel much interest or curiosity in the unknown visitor.

"If he comes again, keep your mouth shut, Forbes," he said; and he threw himself back in the comfortable chair and lit his pipe and thought of Kittie. He was going to write to her before he went to bed.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Man Who Was Rejected.

You may lead or drive a horse to the water, but it is quite another thing to make it drink. You may, by cunning and duplicity, snare a young girl into promising to be your wife, and may, indeed, succeed so far as to actually marry her; but winning her love is quite another thing. Herdale soon discovered the truth of this axiom, and was, of course, not only unreasonably disappointed, but full of resentment at the fact that, though Eva had, so to speak, fallen into his net, she refused to nestle up to the bosom of her captor, but, like a state-bird, a young eagle, held herself aloof and would not be coaxed even into the show of affection.

This disappointment of Herdale's, though unreasonable enough, seeing that he had only schemed for the possession of her body and not her heart, increased day by day. Like most men who have obtained the desire of their hearts by unlawful means, his resentment increased with his disappointment, and, of course, he considered himself to be a hardily used man.

In the eyes of the world Eva appeared to be all that a newly engaged man could desire in his fiancée; she was seen with him in public, at receptions, dances, balls; she drove and walked in the park with him; and never by the quiver of an eyelid did she reveal the fact that she was an unwilling captive of Lord Herdale's bow and spear. She was pale, but she had never been wont to go about with flushed cheeks, and there was an absent, preoccupied look in her eyes, and a certain gravity about her lips; but Eva had never been one of the grinning girls, and the majority of her friends applauded her for not gushing or crowing over her good fortune, for the young Earl of Herdale was indisputably a good part, and innumerable unmarried girls unashamedly envied her.

Of all her intimates perhaps Aunt Emily was the only one who had a suspicion that all was not well with the girl, and that she was not as happy as she would have been; but it was only a vague suspicion, and Lady Lorchester did not feel warranted in voicing it to any one, especially to Eva, of whom she had become of late just a little afraid.

Herdale happened to be standing beside her, and saw the signs of the violent emotion which thrilled her. He said nothing, but his keen, cold eyes scanned the crowd, and, with the instinct of jealousy, he instantly divined that the sight of Owen Osborne had been the cause of Eva's agitation.

When the fire of passion, either of love, hate, or jealousy, seizes upon a cold nature, it often burns more fiercely and consumes more utterly than in a warmer one; and at that moment the fire of jealousy flamed malignantly in what Herdale called his heart. But the smile did not leave his face, and he was careful to look away from both Eva and Owen Osborne; and presently he left her side and went to another part of the room, and, of course, watched them.

Now, Owen Osborne had, it is needless to say, been much impressed by Mr. Levison's parting words and injunctions. Impressed is scarcely an adequate term to describe the effect which Mr. Levison had produced. A man in love will catch at straws, and something like a vague hope, to vague to be called hope, had sprung up in his bosom. There had ever something about Mr. Levison ever more impressive than his words; he seemed to be what is called a reliable man, a man who chose both steps and words with caution; and he had, as good as intimated to Owen Osborne that, though Eva Lyndhurst was engaged to another man, he Owen, might still hope. Vague as the whole thing was, Owen felt that he could not leave England until something more tangible had discovered itself. He had intended never seeing Eva again, but now he abandoned that intention and felt drawn toward her, as if she needed protection.

He had decided upon the manner to adopt when he first met her, and had so schooled himself that he now made his way through the crowd toward her with apparent calmness. though, he sure, his heart was beating with a variety of emotions, in which love predominated.

Eva saw him approaching, and was apparently as calm as himself though she was very pale.

"How do you do, Miss Lyndhurst?" he said, bending over her hand as he never bent over any other woman's.

"What a horrible crush! I think it gets worse and worse; the late comers will surely have to cut their way in with a hatchet. Some one is going to sing; shall we go into the lobby?"

"Do you dislike music so much that you want to avoid it?" she asked, with an attempt at levity which was belied by her serious, downcast eyes.

"I love music," he said, "and that's why I wanted to get out of sound of that poor woman, whose voice, one of the best in Europe—I suppose Lady Merryvale must have given her at least fifty guineas—will be almost drowned by the senseless chatter of this empty-headed mob. Don't you feel like that? Well, let us go then."

Eva wanted to refuse, but over her came that powerlessness which assails all women when they are requested to do something by the man they love; for then the request is a command, and woman's natural attitude toward the beloved one is that of instant obedience; so she rested the tips of her fingers on his arm and went with him into the comparatively empty lobby. Osborne had come prepared to say something if he chanced to meet her, and he said it at once—said it quietly and calmly, even with a smile, friendly, somewhat protective.

"I am glad I have met you to-night, Miss Lyndhurst. It's useless, for me at any rate, to try and ignore what—what passed between the other night at Lady Lorchester's. I suppose it's the usual thing for a man who has been rejected, especially when he finds that the woman he loves—I beg your pardon," he broke off as he saw the color rise to her face, and felt, rather than saw, that she winced. "I won't use the word again. I won't refer to my unhappiness. Don't be afraid. What I was going to say was that a man in my case usually flies off, or, at any rate, avoids the lady who has had the good taste and sense to refuse him. But, somehow, I don't feel like doing that. I think the fellow who said that if you can't have a rose it is rather a good thing to be near it was pretty sensible. If I had been lucky enough to win you, I should have counted myself the happiest mortal on earth; but, next to your love, I value your friendship. To tell the whole truth, your companionship, your society, is very precious to me. It sounds absurd, of course, but I am trying to console myself for my great loss with the reflection that some day or other I may be of service to you."

He paused, for he felt that to Eva who had not been present at his interview with Mr. Levison and heard his vague warning, his offer of assistance, of service, must sound inexplicable, if not ridiculous. She had listened with throbbing heart and downcast eyes. His words might have sounded inexplicable, but to her they did not appear ridiculous, for nothing he could have said or done would have seemed so to her.

"Those are my sentiments, as the orator said," he went on, forcing a pliant tone, "and I hope you won't punish me, as probably I deserve, by cutting or avoiding me when we chance to meet."

"I don't want to cut or avoid you," said Eva, in a low voice.

Household Notes.

Rhubarb is one of the best spring tonics.

Workers should always relax and rest before eating.

French fried potatoes should always be salted after frying.

The waxed paper drinking cups can be used for gelatine molds.

All fruit salads should be thoroughly chilled before serving.

A bread with nuts and chopped prunes in it is very wholesome.

Before cooking rice, grease the pan and the rice will not stick.

Any form of brown bread, pretty nearly, is preferable to white bread.

To banish roaches, use equal parts of plaster of paris and powdered sugar.

Fruit should never be classed as a luxury—it is emphatically a necessity.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

WHAT THE KIDNEYS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR

The function of the kidneys is to purify the blood. Every three minutes, the entire blood stream passes through the kidneys and is relieved of its impurities by these busy organs. When the kidneys fail in their work, poisons accumulate in the blood—poisons are felt in the back, the head aches, the urinary system is deranged, the joints and muscles are apt to swell and there is grave danger of rheumatism, sciatica, and lumbago.

Gin Pills restore the kidneys to their normal activity, and the symptoms indicated above are felt. Gin Pills soothe and heal the kidneys. Don't neglect kidney troubles—you will only suffer needless pain.

All druggists sell Gin Pills—50c. a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. A sample will be sent free upon request to

A Solution to Sea Mice

Minister of Marine Picked up receipt of this message from T.B.:

"The boat referred to in the Telegram some time ago, from St. John's Without, who was hunting and had to leave the boat as a signal in home was picked up and restored to owner."

This solves the mystery of the boat, which was off Grate's Cove, Bay of Trinity, recently, having driven the ice from St. John's. It also accounts, we are told, of the three men's coats, found in the boat and on the Marine and Fisheries Office.

Savage Dogs and

In the interests of human the police endeavour to exterminate the vicious dogs that infest the neighbourhood of York Streets? Almost daily reports of people being bitten by the mongrels. Only yesterday had the flesh of his hamster woman was set upon and mangled. At night time the howls of the canines are so annoying. Generally speaking the mice in the vicinity menace to the lives of in particular and the should see that this danger moved immediately. The cause of the savagery of these dogs that are bound up with them to long a time as they are not overfed.

C. M. B. C.
To-morrow will be an interesting day with the Cathedral Men's Bible Class. As in other years on the first Sunday in May, the Harbour and Wharf Mission will be opened, and the Class closed for the season. The men will make their corporate Communion at the Cathedral at 8 a.m., when special intercession will be made in the interests of the work in hand. This service being ended, the men will proceed immediately to the wharf of Messrs. Bowring Bros., at 9 a.m., where a short address will be given by Rev. Canon White. Members of the other city parishes are also cordially invited to be present. The boat and wharf committees will then be formally sent off to engage in the distribution of literature, which is so heartily welcomed by our hardy toilers.
The final meeting of the class for this present season will take place in the afternoon, in the Synod Building, at the usual hour. The address will be given by the Chairman who will speak to the men on the Mission of repentance and Hope, which is being planned to take place throughout the diocese in the near future.

A Solution to Sea Mystery.
Minister of Marine Piccott is in receipt of this message from Southport, T.B.:
"The boat referred to in the Evening Telegram some time ago, is Green's, of St. John's Without, who went seal hunting and had to leave the boat, coats and seals behind. He hoisted the sail as a signal in hopes she would be picked up and restored to the owner."
This solves the mystery surrounding the boat, which was picked up off Grate's Cove, Bay de Verde District, recently, having driven there in the ice from St. John's Without. It also accounts, we are glad to say, for the three men's coats, which were found in the boat and are now at the Marine and Fisheries Office.

Savage Dogs at Large.
In the interests of humanity will the police endeavour to exterminate the vicious dogs that at present infest the neighbourhood of York and Wood Streets? Almost daily there are instances of people being attacked by the mongrels. Only yesterday a child had the flesh of his hand torn and a woman was set upon and badly frightened. At night time the hideous howls of the canines are most provoking. Generally speaking their presence in the vicinity mentioned is a grave menace to the lives of children in particular and the authorities should see that this danger is removed immediately. The apparent cause of the savagery of these dogs is that they are bound up by their owners to long at a time and meanwhile are not overfed.

NEW A. G. A. LAMP.—One of the improved A. G. A. lamps which will be installed up north shortly was tested at the King's Wharf by the Marine and Fisheries Department officials yesterday afternoon and was found to be in good working order. The lamps light and extinguish themselves automatically during the night, but at the first peep of daylight the artificial light is extinguished by the natural light.

She is Always Ready To Tell Reason Why
SHE IS RECOMMENDING DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.
Miss E. Demers States They Cured Her of Sick Headache and Rheumatism From Which She Suffered for Six Months.
Hull, Que., May 4th.—(Special).—Cured of chronic indigestion, sick headache and rheumatism, from which she had suffered for six months, Miss E. Demers, of 190 Maisonneuve St., here, gives all the credit for her cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills. She is recommending them to all her friends who suffer from kidney troubles of any kind.
"I am always ready to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for me," says Miss Demers. "I am never without them in the house. My case was one of the worst."
"I had tried several medicines from the doctor and was getting no better when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took seven boxes and all my rheumatism, sick headache and indigestion was gone."
"When father saw how much good Dodd's Kidney Pills had done me he began to take them for kidney trouble. He is better now."
Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys. Healthy kidneys strain all the impurities, all the poison, out of the blood. They are the greatest of all tonics.

Obituary.
Richard Voisey, 1st Nfld. Regiment, 1 Hagerly's Street, this city, was killed in action "somewhere in France" on April 14th. This young hero, who has paid the supreme sacrifice, is one of four brothers who have volunteered for active service—three in the army and one in the navy. Truly a splendid record for one family, and one which must make the grief-stricken relatives proud of their name and race. To Mrs. Voisey, her sons and daughters, we extend sincere sympathy.

The Tarvia Question Again.
Following Thursday night's meeting of the Civic Board and their decision not to have anything to do with tarvia paving this season for financial reasons, we understand that there is yet a possibility that some work will be done in that line on Duckworth Street. Because of the Council's attitude, Mr. Manning, representing here the Carriffe Paterson Manufacturing Co. of Halifax, is now interviewing personally, accompanied by one or two members of the Council Board, every owner and occupier of business and residential places with a view to inducing them to guarantee to pay for a new tarvia street a reasonable amount per foot, according to frontage. We learn the tarvia contractor is being favourably received and the people generally are in favor of his proposition. When he collects a sufficient amount of guarantee the matter will again be discussed by the Council Board. According to the estimates of the contractor, the Council will only be asked to contribute an amount equivalent to what would be paid the city in return by the contractor for broken stone and labor. From what we hear it is not improbable that the paving of Duckworth Street under the tarvia method will be gone ahead with this summer.

A Story of the Uhlans.
German lack of originality is well shown in the selection of some prominent military terms. The title "Kaiser" is itself a borrowed plume. Whatever value it may happen to possess really belonged to Franz Josef, the recently deceased Emperor of Austria, who traced his descent, through the house of Hapsburg, from the Caesars of the Holy Roman Empire. But the German "All-Highest" has stolen the specious sobriquet, apparently, without protest from its rightful and accommodating owner.
The term "Uhlans" has also been borrowed and annexed. It was originally used by the Tartars to designate a species of light cavalry, armed with lances on which were carried small coloured flags, meant to frighten the horses of enemies. And the title was adopted from Tartary by the Prussians.
Since the first few weeks of the war we have heard much about the Prussian Uhlans. But in earlier wars they played a characteristically rough and brutal part. In the Franco-German War of 1870 they wrought great havoc with the French telegraph wires. On arriving at a village they would ride up to the telegraph office, cut its connections, and either carry off the apparatus or employ it to deceive the enemy. On one occasion, however, they were outwitted, and by a woman.
Mlle. Dohu, a girl of eighteen, was director of the telegraph station at Pithiviers, where she lived with her mother, when the Uhlans entered the town. They at once took possession of the station, and turning out the two women, confined them to their dwelling-rooms on a higher floor. It happened that the wires in the office, in running to the pole on the roof, passed the door of the girl's room. She conceived the idea of tapping the Prussian messages; and having contrived to keep a telegraph instrument, she carried out her purpose by means of a derivation from the wire. Telegrams of much importance were thus obtained from the enemy, and these were secretly communicated to the sub-prefect of the town, who in turn conveyed them across the Prussian lines to the French commander.
Mlle. Dohu and her mother were eventually both arrested, and proofs of their guilt were discovered. They were brought before a court martial, and the sentence had to be confirmed by Prince Frederik Charles, who, having heard the description of Mademoiselle, desired her to be produced. He inquired the motive of so grave a breach of the laws of war. "Je suis Française," the brave girl replied. The prince confirmed the sentence upon her; but, happily, before she was executed, news of an armistice arrived and saved her life. In 1875 this telegraphic heroine was decorated with the Legion of Honor by Marshal MacMahon, the then President of the French Republic.—Tit-Bits.

Matinee at Rossley's.
There is a special matinee to-day at Rossley's under the distinguished patronage of the little Misses Davidson. There is some specially selected pictures and the very amusing sketch by Miss Clara Squires, Miss Florence Baird and the wonderful child actress, Miss Kathleen Barnes. There is no mistake the members of Mrs. Rossley's selected troupe are improving wonderfully and with their constant and steady work are fast becoming very proficient. These clever girls can now be entrusted with speaking parts; their lessons in elocution is of great benefit to them. The Country Store, on Tuesday is going to be a wonder all right; some real handsome Battenburg table cloths will be given and many other useful and ornamental goods. In preparation Indian novelty, beautiful new Indian costumes for entire company.
FOR THE HOSPITAL.—A Young man belonging to Flat Island, P.B., was removed from his boarding house, Convent Lane, yesterday to the Hospital, suffering from measles. Mrs. LeMoine, who for the past three weeks has been in the city waiting an opportunity to get into the Hospital, was admitted to the institution yesterday.

Germans Burning Lens by Systematic Process.
The Incendiaries Have Also Extended their Operations to Other Centres of the Mining Districts—Wreck and Ruin Everywhere in the Souche Valley.
(By Stewart Lyon, Special Correspondent of the Canadian Press.)
Canadian Army Headquarters, April 23.—The burning of Lens by the enemy is a most thorough and systematic process. Beginning in the southern end of the town incendiaries yesterday extended operations to the northern district. Simultaneously Avion and other centres of the mining district adjoining Lens, are being destroyed with all the appliances by the enemy. Where he has been driven out and can no longer apply the torch he neglects even our working parties to make targets of the overhead plant of mines and the houses of miners.
A trip up the Souche valley through the mining region, furnished evidence that the enemy is hanging on solely for the purpose of completing his destruction. Everywhere in the valley are ruin and desolation, some of it caused by our guns before the taking of the Vimy Ridge, but much of it by the enemy. In his hurried flight he left many unburied dead and many others hastily interred, whose bodies have been again brought to view by German shells. The narrow valley between Lorette Ridge and Vimy Ridge is a charnel house of the bodies of thousands of both sides who died during the great French offensive of 1915. Once more the tide of war has swept up the valley and added horror to horror.
Nowhere is the utter wreck made by the long continued bombardment of heavy guns so apparent as at Souche, which is itself crumbling into heaps of unrecognizable rubbish. A notice board placed on a point proclaims that spot as Souche square. All over this region one hears the roar of our guns and encounters groups of enthusiastic British and Canadian gunners, who work overtime in the mining villages in the valley between Souche and Lievin.
No two cases of shell effect on the houses are alike. This mining village presents a far wider apportionment of ruin than one may see at Arras itself. The enemy can still observe the effect of his fire without the use of aeroplanes. His aerial observers have an increasingly unhealthy time of it. This morning two of his planes tried to destroy one of ours, which was being used for observation rather than fighting. One was destroyed and the other left the vicinity hurriedly. Of twenty-six enemy aeroplanes seen yesterday only five crossed our front.
Our patrols out on the Douai plain pushing near his outposts in the night. During these affairs the enemy makes a fearful row with his barrage fire, being in nightly fear of an attack in force. His trouble may be diagnosed as a bad case of "Neurosis Vimyana."

How "Tiz" Gladdens Tired, Aching Feet.
No more sore, puffed-up, tender, aching, feet—no corns or callouses.
"Happy! Happy! Use Tiz!"

"Tiz" makes sore, burning, tired feet, fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters, bunions and chilblains.
"Tiz" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you remain on your feet, "Tiz" brings restful foot comfort.
"Tiz" is magical, grand, wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Ah! how comfortable, how happy you feel. Your feet just sing for joy; shoes never hurt or sting tight.
Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" now from any druggist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet, and happy. Just think! a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents.

SATURDAY, May 5th, 1917.

Russia.

It may be no exaggeration to say that the whole issue, certainly the further duration, of the war hangs in the balance to-day in Petrograd. The world was amazed when the great revolution was effected so silently, so swiftly and so easily, but it has since swallowed its amazement a little too readily. The agitation which is now disturbing the country was an inevitable as anything in the course of nature. Democracy won a great victory, but now we see the inherent defect of all democracies manifesting itself—jealousy of superiority in any form. A Government is necessary and a Government must exercise control, but many of the people are for the present in no mood to be controlled. The tremendous task of the provisional government is increased by the inevitable burden it bears of the blunders of its predecessors, and thousands among the people are not enlightened enough to see it. To-day's messages have a distinctly hopeful ring. There have been demonstrations against the Government but stronger counter demonstrations in its favor. Most encouraging of all is the news that the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Deputies has accepted the official ending of the note to the Allies promising Russia's continued co-operation and is satisfied with the reasons given. They must be fairly plain and to most ignorant. Separate peace for Russia would not end the war but greatly prolong it, and for the doubtful friendship of Germany and her Allies she would have the enmity of the rest of the world that counts for anything. Whatever the aims of the masses, they are not to be achieved in this way, and even the masses can see it. The thing most to be feared from Russia is not peace-making but internal dissension ending in anarchy. Two things may prevent it, a strong man and preoccupation with the war. The former may be already found in M. Mikhokoff, the Foreign Minister, who figures more largely every day in the news and has given proof several times of the courage and firmness that are needed. The latter, fortunately, should soon be supplied. We have proof from Napoleon's time how little internal revolution need affect the efficiency of an army opposing foes from without, and the time for military operations is again at hand. There can be little doubt that Russia's new rulers, who have so far almost the full confidence of the army, will set it in motion at the first opportunity as the best means of reuniting the warring factions. They have every encouragement from the outside. The moral support of the American Republic is theirs, and its active support also should soon be felt. On the other side of the war theatre their Allies are pounding the Germans mercilessly, and the weakening of the lines that face them must be known to them. The British have stayed their attack again and are taking huge toll of the foe from their former counter attacks, to drive ahead again when their big guns are in position. The French have taken Creanne and so pushed ahead the line between Laon and Rheims. In the face of such a situation the Russian leaders must see the madness of permitting domestic jealousies to rob them and their Allies of the fruits of the victory that comes daily nearer to their grasp. An offensive against Austria and Germany is necessary for Brusiloff's armies, and we should need to feel no more anxiety over Russia.

Coal.

We learn that the price of coal locally has advanced sharply, so that soft coal is selling at over $14 a ton. This is another matter in which the community seems to be drifting unconcernedly along, and the authorities that should act are doing nothing. It may not fall within the bounds of the Food Commission's functions, but if it does not, they should be extended to include it. The result should be a quick and sharp reminder to the Government that its action is immediately necessary. It is freely predicted that there will be no coal at all obtainable here next winter, and if this overshoots the truth it cannot do so by much. The duty of the Government is then obvious. It should take steps at once to ascertain the available supply for as long as this can be ascertained, and on that basis proceed to ration it. If this is not done there will be inconceivable distress in the city next winter, for it would be the impudence that is too common. We understand that many who have foreseen the shortage and can afford it are laying in big stocks of coal. This should be stopped at once. If carried far enough it will rapidly exhaust the supply and send prices soaring. It is hoarding. If there is a limit to our supply of coal—and there certainly is—the authorities should see that everyone gets a fair share and not a ton more, as is being done in England.

In the meantime, with the advent of summer and the warm weather, householders would be well advised to seek relief from high prices in the use of oil for cooking purposes. It is far more economical, cheaper and cleaner than coal, and its wide use would go far towards easing the coal situation. In any case, if too much dependence is placed in the coal supply, we cannot give too emphatic a warning of the serious situation that will confront us before another winter sets in.

McMurdo's Store News

SATURDAY, May 5th, 1917. American Cabbage Seed does splendidly in this climate and in our soil. Experience ranging over nearly thirty years has proven that the following sorts are most suitable for Newfoundland conditions. Early Spring, Early Jersey Wakefield, Early Summer, Chaleston Wakefield, Succession, Drumhead, and Flat Dutch. We stock all this list, and cannot do better than recommend a selection from it for use on the farm, or in the garden. Price 30c. an ounce.

Prisoners of War.

Hon. J. R. Bennett, Colonial Secretary, has forwarded us for publication the following communication, which we feel sure will be read with special interest at the present time, when it is thought that a number of our men missing since the last drive on the Western Front are probably in captivity in Germany.

58 Victoria Street, Westminster, April 4th, 1917. The Hon. The Colonial Secretary, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Sir—At the meeting of the Executive Committee on the 31st ult. Sir Edgar Bowring suggested that it might be well to assure the friends and relations of our Prisoners that we are taking advantage of the facilities offered by the Central Prisoners of War Committee, and that every thing possible for the men to receive is being sent to them regularly by this Association through the Channel, which is now only authorized.

From a postcard received from one of our Prisoners, Barron, written on the 12th February, we know that they are receiving their parcels regularly, and we feel sure from all we learn on the subject, that the delivery to the prisoners of parcels under this new scheme is working satisfactorily.

We hope this information will enable you to satisfy any enquiries you may have on this matter. I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, Hon. Secretary, HENRY REEVE.

The Terror in Syria.

"I thought I was passing through a part of Hell! What I have seen and heard passes all imagination. As far as the eye can reach are mounds where two or three hundred corpses are buried pell-mell."

Thus writes a missionary from Derel-Zor, in the Syrian Desert. Another tells how he called upon the Governor of Lebanon, who thanked him for the work done and begged for further relief. He was told that two hundred thousand had died in Lebanon alone. "And God only knows," he adds, "how many more will have starved by the time you receive this letter." "We are in a position of dreadful responsibility," he further declares. "Hundreds of thousands are dependent upon us for a little bread day by day."

Train Notes.

Thursday's outgoing express reached Port aux Basques at 6 a.m. to-day. The incoming express left Notre Dame Junction at 8.15 a.m. to-day. The local from Carbonear reached the city at 12.45 p.m. to-day.

AGAIN AT WORK.—A gentleman in the city received a message from Grand Falls yesterday afternoon saying that work in the paper mills had been again resumed and the majority of men laid off had been reinstated.

MR. STEER'S THOUGHTFULNESS.—The Naval Reservists who reached the city by yesterday's train speak highly of the treatment they received from Mr. C. R. Steer, who was a passenger on the same train. At Curling Mr. Steer bought flags and decorated the engine and cars, and at Bishop's Falls he purchased a football with which the men enjoyed a game for several hours while the train was being delayed. On his leaving the train at Mount Pearl the naval boys crowded the brakes and gave Mr. Steer three hearty cheers for his kindness.

WILL RISE FROM ASHES.—Construction work on the new steel fish plant is progressing at a rapid pace. The concrete base for the walls and sides has almost been completed, and more than half the iron parts of the supports have also been made ready for the interior of the building. To make this possible it was necessary to remove several hundred tons of artificial earth consisting of ashes and other refuse, which for a number of years has been deposited in that locality, which was formerly an open basin. So it might be said that this promising enterprise has its foundation in ashes, but like the railway station, the dry dock and surrounding premises, it will be filling a long felt want in the community and the country at large.

Fish and Brewis Fund.

The following letter from Rev. Fr. Nangle to Mr. C. F. Ayre, of the Fish and Brewis Fund, will, we think, be read with interest, not alone by all subscribers to the Fund and by the friends of the men who enjoyed the delicacy, but by the public generally.

1st Battalion, Newfoundland Regt., B. E. F., 18th/17.

Chas. P. Ayre, Esq., Hon. Sec. Fish and Brewis Com. St. John's.

Dear Sir—I am directed by Col. Robertson to convey to your committee and to the contributors to the fund the thanks and appreciation of every member of the First Battalion.

It is unnecessary for me to tell you that the "Home Produce" was looked forward to by the men, and it would be hard to find in the whole British Army a more contented unit than the boys from Newfoundland, on that Sunday morning we had Fish and Brewis for breakfast. The men enjoyed the meal to such an extent that even in the line Col. Robertson has made arrangements for them to have this ration once a week while it lasts. That it was cooked properly, let it suffice to say that our cooks are Newfoundland cooks, know their business, and did it properly.

Again thanking you and your committee and all who helped in any way to give this treat to the men.

Yours faithfully, T. NANGLE, C.F.

Recruiting Committee DEFENDS CAPT. JENSEN. The following has been forwarded by the Secretary of the Recruiting Committee for publication: Captain Philip Jensen, c/o Winters Sons, at 64 Wall Street, New York. Dear Captain Jensen—Your letter of the 7th ultimo addressed to Mr. F. J. Morris was handed to me on the 27th of the same month and was read to the Recruiting Committee; and I was directed to send you a reply embodying the unanimous views of those who were present. It falls to the lot of few people not to be misunderstood, or to be misrepresented; and generally speaking the best plan to adopt is to let adverse criticisms pass without notice. If, however, the effect of these is far reaching, or if it is believed that you may really injure an individual or the cause for which he stands, then a contradiction is quite in order. As you appear desirous to put yourself right in the eyes of the public of Newfoundland who very largely are deeply interested in you, or towards you entertain feelings of respect and friendship, then the Committee think that as your request is more reasonable and as you desire a vindication, that their course is to put on record this letter of confidence in you; and furthermore to publish in the press a copy of it. We do not credit the statement that you made any objectionable reference to any section of this community or of their kith or kin elsewhere. Men who have fought and bled with their comrades, home or Colonial, and have thereby cemented the blood tie which binds together all subjects of King George are not likely to be guilty of uttering anything defamatory of those who have helped to uphold the honour of their country and who in many cases have sealed their devotion to duty by the highest sacrifice that men can offer. We acquit you of this. It is unthinkable that you would disparage men who have "played the game" like yourself. *If and when you come back to St. John's you can place your services at our disposal, we shall gladly welcome your co-operation. So far from dropping you we are proud to have been associated with you and our regret is that we were unable on account of your bodily debility to make further calls upon your generous services. Finally I am directed to congratulate you on the promotion which you

MARSHALLING AMERICA'S RESOURCES.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

The direction of America's vast commercial resources in the common struggle against Germany formed the basis of the second formal conference between American officials and the British mission held to-day at Secretary of State Lansing's office at the State Department. Two general subjects were taken up: How best and most economically to marshal those resources for the aid of the Allies. How most certainly further to restrict all products getting through to aid the enemy. While no definite decisions were reached the conference went over such problems as trading with the enemy, export restrictions, rationing Holland and Scandinavia, the means of arriving at accurate statistics to show how much of the different lines the Allies need and how much this country can supply. The United States has begun to point out to the Allies some of its own great necessities in certain trade lines for which this country was entirely dependent on them up to the time the United States entered the war. Many products could be imported here only if there were surplus at the point of production over the needs of the Allies, also on condition that agreements be signed that the products be not allowed to fall into the hands of the enemy. Balfour to-day received a deputation of Irish-Americans who laid their views before him and called attention to the favorable impression that a solution of the Irish situation would have on this country. Balfour said that while he had no power to speak for the Government he could say that everything possible was being done to bring Ulster, the Redmonites and the Sein Fein elements together, and that the British Parliament stood ready to agree to any solution which the Irish themselves found acceptable. He promised to report the meeting fully to his Government.

SITUATION EASIER IN RUSSIA.

PETROGRAD, To-day.

Following an all-night joint secret session of the Ministers of the Government and the Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Deputies at the Marinsky Palace, the Council announced to-day that another mass meeting would be held to-night at which the result of the conference would be announced. Their constituents at the meeting expected the future attitude of the Council towards the temporary Government would be determined. The appearance of Cabinet Ministers Milukoff, Shugoroff, and Nekrasoff and their addresses from the steps of the Palace to the assembled crowd at midnight in which they explained the meaning of the recent note, appeared to have the effect of abating the antagonism of the rank and file of the populace, who during the afternoon marched with banners demanding the resignation of Foreign Minister Milukoff. The words of the ministers were loudly cheered at times and there was at most no unkindness in evi-

WHEAT CORNER AT WINNIPEG.

OTTAWA, To-day.

The corner in the Winnipeg wheat market which is causing wild fluctuations in prices may result in Government action to protect dealers and the public. This corner has been unintentionally brought about by agents of the British wheat commission who have made unusually large purchases of the contract grades of wheat. There is not sufficient contract wheat available to fill the orders placed by British buyers and dealers have been caught short. They now seek to be relieved from their contracts promising to deliver all available contract grades and to make up the balance out of lower grades at a price based on their milling value. Grain men state that number four grade is almost as good for milling purposes as number three, and if the British commission will accept delivery of number four they can carry out their contracts. Sir Thomas White told Parliament yesterday that the Winnipeg corner was causing artificial inflation in the price both of wheat and flour and that he had cabled Sir Geo. Perley to take the matter up with the British Wheat Commission and to insist on action being taken at once to relieve the situation.

FORGING THE CHANCELLOR'S HAND.

LONDON, To-day.

The Exchange Telegraph Co.'s Amsterdam correspondent wires that according to travellers from Germany popular discontent because of the Government's silence concerning Germany's war aims is forcing the German Imperial Chancellor soon to make a definite statement of policy. The Chancellor, it is stated, has been discussing the question with Emperor William and Talaat Pasha, Premier of Turkey, while Count George von Hertling, Bavarian Prime Minister, has discussed the matter with the Austrian-Hungarian Cabinet at Vienna. The Chancellor, it is added, is now awaiting a complete agreement before delivering his promised speech to the Reichstag.

which a number of shots were fired. An officer and a girl are reported killed and several wounded. The city is in a turmoil of excitement. A series of demonstrations developed during the afternoon both for and against the Government. Motor trucks crowded with soldiers and civilians traversed the streets in support of the Provisional authorities. Detachments from both camps are appearing in increasing numbers and the agitation is increasing in intensity. The Council of Workmen and Soldiers Delegates have accepted the Government's explanation of its May Day note by a vote of 34 to 19 and has decided that the incident is closed. An anti-government demonstration was completely swamped by gigantic pro-government demonstrations. Friday evening there were some clashes but no serious incidents.

CHINA'S EARLY ENTRY INTO WAR INEVITABLE.

PEKIN, To-day. The entry of China into the war at an early date seems inevitable. Prince Li Yuan Hung and the Senate are opposed to such a step, but the House of Representatives, the Premier and the Conference of Military Governors are urging war. The dissolution of Parliament is threatened if Parliament fails to declare a state of hostilities. Owing to the great power exercised by the military party, the Senate probably will yield to the war party. Hon. Shih Ying, Minister of Communications, has resigned.

Patriotic Concert at Brookfield.

The good people of Brookfield have long been noted for their liberality, and for the many excellent entertainments which from time they have held in aid of some worthy cause. And so it was on Wednesday evening last when a fine programme was rendered before a full house. The concert was under the direction of Mrs. Edward Lester and Mrs. Andrew Glendinning, and they were loyally assisted by their friends and neighbors around. The total receipts went above the hundred dollar mark, and out of this amount a cot is to be presented to the Soldiers' Home at Waterford Hall, and to be known as the Brookfield Cot. The balance of the receipts will be donated to some equally patriotic fund. We congratulate the good ladies upon their success.

While playing on a gallery near the residence of Mr. McKelley, Springfield, two boys named Hunter and Duffy met with an accident. The railing of the gallery gave way and the boys fell to the ground, a height of twelve feet. Hunter escaped practically unhurt, but Duffy, the son of Mr. M. E. Duffy, was not so fortunate and was badly injured about the body. He is now confined to his home under the care of Dr. Anderson.

Another Medical Man Charged

Nicholas Caron, a fisherman of Point Lance, who was arrested two days ago for being drunk, told the police that when he came to town he visited the surgery of Dr. McDonald and got a prescription for three bottles of liquor, which he procured from the public dispensary and drank to excess. In consequence the medical man was summoned last evening on a charge of violating the Prohibition law. The case is set down for Tuesday next.

The New Tactics.

(From the New York Post.)

In the fighting in France, and particularly on the British front, a new tactical method is emerging. Instead of a hurricane assault dying down after a few days into the old trench-grubbing and quiescence, we have the attack in waves at comparatively short intervals as measured by the previous rate of progress in trench warfare. Just two weeks after the British assault north of Arras, we have the announcement of a new attack on a wide front, with initial gains of a mile and a half north of the Scarpe, as measured from Baillet-Latour to Gavrelle, and a mile south of the river from Wancourt to Guemappe. Still further to the south the occupation of Tressaut measures a similar advance in a few days. These new tactics consist in not trying to squeeze the last ounce of profit out of the first assault, with resultant exhaustion, but in a pause, the bringing up of artillery and a renewed attack. Part of the plan is the alternating attack conducted by the British and French. When Haig stopped to take breath after the conquest of Vimy, the battle of the Aisne began. Now that Nivelle is slowing down Haig begins.

FRENCH CAPTURE CRANON.
PARIS, May 4.—Northwest of Rheims the French troops pierced the German line in front of 2½ miles, capturing 1500 prisoners in operations on the eastern end of the Vauillers Plateau. A statement from the war office evening adds that the village of Cranon has been captured by the French. More than 150 prisoners as well as several points of supply and north of Craonne also fell into the hands of General Nivelle.

RUSSIA.
PETROGRAD, May 4.—When Foreign Minister Buzarevich saw the banners inscribed with the words, "Down with Milukoff," he dressed the demonstrators on the balcony of the Palace saying a fearful not for Milukoff but for the Fatherland. If the inscription expressed the feelings of a majority of the people, he asked, what must be the condition of Russia? The Emperor we say Russia had betrayed her. At the end of the war, the Provisional Government cannot see the view of things, continued to say, "I declare to you the Provisional Government and myself, as the Minister of Foreign Affairs, will defend the position so that no one will charge Russia with treason. No shall Russia consent to a peace which is a sailing vessel which will move with the help of the wind. Look then for your trust, which we wind that is to make our way forward. I hope you will support us that breeze, that your confidence aid us, propelling Russia toward liberty and prosperity and uphold the dignity of our great Fatherland." The words of the Foreign Minister caused heavy cheering.

PRISONERS TAKEN BY BRITISH.
LONDON, May 4.—The war office this evening announced the number of German prisoners captured exceeds 500, including officers. During the day the British strengthened their position in the sectors of the Hindenburg line captured yesterday and have pressed eastward along the enemy's front, killing many Germans.

No Skin Off Our Noses.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Why do things do which don't really harm or concern us sometimes bother us so much? For instance, I have a friend who takes a peep at the end of a book while she is reading it. Now of course that doesn't hurt me any,—no skin off my nose, as the saying goes,—and yet it irritates me beyond words to have her do it.

She Looks At The End Of The Story. It is such a foolish thing to do, such a pleasure-destroying trick. Here she is reading the book for the sake of the development of the story (I know that all books are not read solely for that purpose but the ones she reads are), and she throws away all the element of surprise and mystery by looking at the end.

Again, it troubles me to see people who have machines and do not use them, except when every condition is just so. I do not refer to people whose going out would mean that I might go too. It would be obvious that I should mind their staying in. I mean people whose cars I never have or never expect to be in. It maddens me to see them spend hours polishing and fussing over their machines, when they might be out in the blessed sunshine.

A Mother Who Idealizes Her Favorite Child. Again, I know a woman who has a very ordinary daughter. No, on second thought, I should not call her ordinary. I think she is extraordinarily lazy and selfish, far less worth-

A Kingdom in Pawn.

It is not generally known that the Orkney Islands, though supposed to be part and parcel of the British Empire, are, in reality, held by us exactly as the pawnbroker holds the watch of the impetuous individual who has temporarily parted with that useful article. These islands are only held by us in pawn, and Norway, as it were, holds the ticket.

Long ago Orkney, together with the Hebrides on the west coast of Scotland, belonged to Norway. After the battle of Largs, Norway ceded the latter to Scotland for a cash payment of 4,000 marks and an annual tribute of 100 marks. This tribute, known in history as the Annual of Norway, had to be paid regularly under a penalty.

In 1297, Norway, Sweden, and Denmark were united under one crown, and when Christian became king of the united realms, Scotland had neglected the annual payment for forty years, incurring a penalty of over 40,000 marks. King Christian promptly sent in his account for the whole sum, with a request for immediate

A Friend of Democracy Grand Falls Again in the Lead.

It is perhaps as well that no "pent-up Utica" of politics confines the powers of the statesman who represents Great Britain this week at the conference in Washington. A more many-sided man than Arthur James Balfour it would be hard to find in any of our Anglo-Saxon communities the world over. That he is a musician of no mean ability, can hold his own at the golf links and makes an excellent presiding officer at the gathering of scientific societies is little known to many who recognize his leadership in public affairs. We read of his fondness for a good detective story, but it is more to the point that he has produced three books which are likely to live in the literature of higher thought—a "Defence of Philosophic Doubt," "Foundations of Belief," and "Theism and Humanism." In youth, like Gladstone himself, Mr. Balfour ran the gauntlet of adverse comment. Not a few of his parliamentary colleagues regarded him as a sort of dilettante, more intent upon making phrases than on furthering the matter in hand. But he has since filled some of the highest positions of delegated power in the British system, and with such efficiency that Dr. Hugh Chisholm can write of his "wide range of knowledge, his intellectual finesse, his personal hold upon his supporters, and statesman-like grasp upon imperial problems, and his oratorical ability." Listening to Mr. Balfour in the Gifford lectures, Harold Begbie dwelt on the effect of the speaker's handsome presence, refined voice, dignified carriage and splendid profile, but was constrained to admit that "there is something in Mr. Balfour, some trick of personality, which makes him very nearly a supreme figure in public life."

Among the things pertinent to Mr. Balfour's presence here to-day is his long-time friendliness for the United States, especially shown by his sympathetic attitude toward us during the Spanish-American war; another is the gradual development in his mind of the belief that the American and British peoples are sooner or later destined to co-operate in great world tasks. The hope for both was cherished long before the invasion of Belgium, but the outbreak of the European war gave it a more definite form and a more emphatic expression. In a statement on the freedom of the seas" made only last May, Mr. Balfour touched the very issue which forced this nation into the conflict—the effort of Germany to paralyze all sea-power to save her own. Outlining it as essentially a struggle between Prussianism and democracy, he reminded Americans of their deep interest in the outcome. Was the Anglo-Saxon ideal to triumph? Then the communities which accepted it must work together toward the goal "upon whose progressive realization the happiness and peace of the world largely depend." And this is really the message which Mr. Balfour now brings to the Washington conference.—Boston Herald.

FRENCH CAPTURE CRAONNE.

PARIS, May 4. Northwest of Rheims the French troops pierced the German line on a front of 2 1/2 miles, capturing 600 prisoners in operations on the eastern end of the Vauliers Plateau. The statement from the war office this evening adds that the village of Craonne has been captured by the French. More than 150 prisoners as well as several points of support east and north of Craonne also fell into the hands of General Nivelle's forces.

RUSSIA.

PETROGRAD, May 4. When Foreign Minister Milukoff saw the banners inscribed with the words, "Down with Milukoff," he addressed the demonstrators from the balcony of the Palace saying he was fearful not for Milukoff but for Russia. If the inscription interpreted the feelings of a majority of the citizens he asked, what must be the condition of Russia? The Entente would say Russia had betrayed her Allies and had struck her name off the list of the Allied Powers. The Provisional Government cannot accept that view of things, continued Milukoff. "I declare to you the Provisional Government and myself, as Minister of Foreign Affairs, will defend the position so that no one will dare charge Russia with treason. Never shall Russia consent to a separate peace. The pan-German league has sent circulars to its branches throughout the country, asking them to organize meetings everywhere in the interests of German peace, against the Socialists' peace programme. The Conservatives introduced an interpellation in the Reichstag in an endeavor to smoke out Von Bethmann Hollweg and force him to declare himself for or against the Scheidemann programme. The pan-German league and army and navy leagues are demanding peace with indemnity, increased territories and greater power for Germany. The Socialists, on the other hand, are making and strengthening public opinion for peace with no indemnities and no annexations. It looks as if Von Bethmann Hollweg will be forced in self-defence to make a further statement of Germany's peace proposals, but he has wide possibilities for the

PRISONERS TAKEN BY BRITISH.

LONDON, May 4. The war office this evening says the number of German prisoners captured exceeds 900, including 28 officers. During the day our troops strengthened their positions in the sectors of the Hindenburg line captured yesterday and have progressed eastward along the enemy's trenches killing many Germans and taking several prisoners. A number of successful bombing raids were carried out by our airplanes yesterday resulting in severe fighting in the air. Three hostile machines were brought down by our airplanes and five others driven down out of control. Two other German machines were shot down by fire from the ground and another was compelled to land beyond our lines. Two of ours are missing.

TRAINING OFFICERS.

WASHINGTON, May 4. A full outline of the plans for the training of the first ten thousand officers for the 600,000 troops to be raised by selective conscription, was made public to-day by the War Department. After three months' instructions in training camp the 10,000 officers for sixteen infantry and two cavalry divisions will be selected on merit from a total of 40,000, and assigned to the regiments which would be called to the colors a month or two later. The other thirty thousand men who are qualified will be commissioned officers of reserve corps called out for duty as needed.

VON BETHMANN HOLLWEG.

COPENHAGEN, May 4. If the silence of the German Imperial Chancellor, Von Bethmann Hollweg, concerning Germany's peace terms, is as it is declared, based on the desire to avoid disrupting the unity of feeling in the country by a discussion of such a contentious question, and not as some uncharitable German critics assert, upon the absence of a definite Government peace policy, it has failed of its object. An acrimonious controversy is now raging in Germany between the big annexationists and the little annexationists and the advocates of no annexations and indemnities whatever. The pan-German league has sent circulars to its branches throughout the country, asking them to organize meetings everywhere in the interests of German peace, against the Socialists' peace programme. The Conservatives introduced an interpellation in the Reichstag in an endeavor to smoke out Von Bethmann Hollweg and force him to declare himself for or against the Scheidemann programme. The pan-German league and army and navy leagues are demanding peace with indemnity, increased territories and greater power for Germany. The Socialists, on the other hand, are making and strengthening public opinion for peace with no indemnities and no annexations. It looks as if Von Bethmann Hollweg will be forced in self-defence to make a further statement of Germany's peace proposals, but he has wide possibilities for the unclear and generalized declarations to which he is addicted.

ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION.

WASHINGTON, May 4. Sir Geo. E. Foster, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, said to-day: Any plans for fixing the prices of wheat on the North American continent to be carried on jointly by the States and Canada, would depend on the extent of the food control the States Government takes as a result of the bills now pending in Congress. One of the main topics of discussion before the British mission here is more complete economic co-operation between the States and Canada in the war against Germany. The States and Canada, Sir Geo. Foster said, should form practically a single economic unit. An enormous saving could be effected, he said, by centralized control and wide co-ordination of resources. Sir George Foster intimated that the present conference while reaching agreements in principle, might not lead to public announcements for some time especially because the control was still in process of construction. It was quite possible, however, that a group of control committees might be built up in each country to co-operate with one another and with the Allies. At the present time, Sir George said, there is no price-fixing in Canada.

INDIAN UPRISING.

PERU, May 4. An Indian uprising is in progress in the Sancha region, gold mine district, in southeast Peru near the Bolivian border. Many owners of estates and their employes have been killed by raiding tribesmen.

HAITI NEXT.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 4. President Argueave has sent a message to the Senate and Chamber of Deputies of Congress, demanding a declaration of war against Germany. A committee has been appointed to consider the question. His action was taken in consequence of the fact that among the victims of the torpedoed French steamer Montreal were five Haitian members of the crew and three Haitian passengers. The Montreal was plying between Bordeaux and Haiti. She was 3,242 tons gross, and 345 feet long. No previous report here of her destruction had been received.

BRITISH DESTROYER SUNK.

LONDON, May 4. An Admiralty statement issued to-night, says: The Admiralty announces that a destroyer of an older type struck a mine on May 2 in the English Channel and sank. One officer and 61 men are missing, and are presumed to have been drowned.

erican farmer has grain to sell he will sell it to neutrals if he cannot sell it to England.

ON THE WAY HOME.

NEW YORK, May 4. Count Adam Tarnowski, Viscount now, unrecalled Austrian Ambassador, sailed this afternoon for home on the Holland-American liner Ryndam, accompanied by over 200 diplomatic consular representatives of the Central Powers, who had assembled at New York from cities of the United States, from Cuba and from China, waiting for arrangements to sail on a ship which would be given safe conduct by the Entente Allies.

FRENCH ENVOYS AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 4. The French envoys arrived here at noon. Marshal Joffre and former Premier Viviani were greeted with cheers as they stepped from the train. Major-General Barry, Commander of the Central Department of the U.S.A., and Staff-Major Thompson welcomed the visitors to Chicago. They were protected at the pier by a large force of secret service and customs officials.

AMERICAN PROPERTY SEIZED.

PARIS, May 4. American schools and a printing establishment at Beirut, have been seized by the Turkish Government, according to information received here from a semi-official source.

BERLIN NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

AMSTERDAM, May 4. The Berlin Zeitung, under the caption "Embarrassment at the Capital," discusses the results of the Anglo-French mission to Washington, and says that "after the beautiful speeches and grand general promises the members of the missions have come down to hard facts to find that the United States cannot produce ships by magic. Besides, the ocean is ruled by the German submarines." The newspaper adds the loans to France and Italy so far amount to a mere tip in order to keep those countries quiet. We do not underestimate the American danger where it really exists, namely, after war on the commercial question, says the paper. For the Entente's momentary needs America has nothing to offer but a blown egg-shell. Therefore the whole fury of the party assembled at Washington has burst over the neutrals. Food that cannot be shipped to England, they say, shall not be shipped to Scandinavia, Holland and Switzerland. The alleged reason is light crops, but more probably political revenge for the refusal of these neutrals to come under their heel. Neutrals should not be unduly alarmed. It is an empty threat, for if the American farmer has grain to sell he will sell it to neutrals if he cannot sell it to England.

COMPULSORY SERVICE FOR SWEDEN.

STOCKHOLM, May 4. The Swedish Government will ask the Riksdag to adopt a proposed law establishing compulsory civilian service for males and females between the ages of 15 and 60.

CANADIAN LIEUT-COL. DEAD.

TORONTO, May 4. A cable announces the death in action of Lieut-Col. Russel Britton, of Gananodue. In January he was awarded the D.S.O.

IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 4. Herbert C. Hoover, Director of the Belgian Relief, and now Chairman of the Food Committee of the Council of National Defence, arrived here to-day to report on the food situation abroad. He will present a comprehensive summary of the conditions in Allied countries as a basis for working out a plan for apportioning American food shipments. There was serious food shortages both in England and Italy. France was faring somewhat better, but is in need of coal. Hoover's report will also deal with conditions in Northern Europe and neutral countries and will show how much food must be sent from the United States.

IN PETROGRAD.

PETROGRAD, May 4. At three o'clock this afternoon many hundreds of factory workers men, women and boys, preceded by a double file of soldiers, marched down Nevsky Prospect with a banner inscribed "Away with the temporary Government." Otherwise the city has been normal throughout the day, though the tenesness caused by the situation yesterday still prevails.

STEAMER STRIKES ROCKS.

SYDNEY, N.S., May 4. The steamer Lord Antrim, with a cargo of flour for an English port, limped into Louisburg to-day with her bottom ripped from stem to stern. The Lord Antrim went on the rocks two and a half miles off the coast in a heavy fog and was with the greatest difficulty brought into Louisburg. It was necessary to beach her in order to save her. Her cargo is being removed, and after a few temporary repairs are made, she will be taken to Halifax. She was bound from an American port.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, May 4. Further progress was made by the French last night on the Champagne front, says to-day's official announcement. The statement follows: The night was marked by great activity of the military on the front northwest of Rheims. In Champagne we made progress in the wood west of Mont Cornillet and repulsed a grenade attack on one of our small posts. On the left bank of the Meuse on the Verdun front, two surprise attacks on the German lines, one at Deadman Hill and the other in Avicourt Wood enabled us to take prisoners. West of Deadman Hill we checked the German attack promptly. The night was calm on the remainder of the front. Yesterday our pilots brought down five German airplanes.

STILL FIGHTING.

LONDON, May 4. Throughout the night guns continued to boom without intermission on the Arras battlefield and frequent bursts of machine gun and rifle fire told of three attacks and counter attacks along various parts of the front of the British offensive. Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters telegraphs this morning that apparently there has been little change since the official communication of last evening issued by the British. They made a small but important progress at several points.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE.

WASHINGTON, May 4. British forces on the western front

Salves Can't Cure Eczema.

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this. Don't impute the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all excruciating diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. The D. D. Prescription is a new skin discovery which is becoming famous throughout Newfoundland and Canada. It is a simple wash, compounded as a scientific antiseptic remedy for Eczema, Bad Leg, Ulcers, Sores, Pimples and all skin eruptions. This wash penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done. Don't delay—this wash will cure. Get a bottle of D. D. Prescription to-day. are two weeks ahead of their attacking schedule, according to a cablegram received here to-day by Secretary Balfour from the Foreign Office. The advance, it said, has been much faster than expected and losses smaller. The losses were said to be only one-half as large proportionately, as those on the Somme offensive last year. This is attributed by the members of the mission to an incomparably better artillery preparation and the fact that the men are not allowed to outrun the guns.

WEEK-END NOTES.

(L. C. M.)

The question of cold storage has been before the public more or less some years past, and like most enterprises it has had to suffer its usual delay, and pass through the usual vicissitudes of expediency. In turn it has suited the different political parties to support it, and in turn it has suited them to oppose it; thus the scheme has been well played for party gain, but badly played for the scheme itself.

But now the game seems to be up, and practical business men have taken a hand in, and have put their shoulder to the wheel. This should be cause for rejoicing, and for congratulations on all sides, for it indicates that the days of suspense in this respect are past, and that at last something practical is about to be instituted. It means that the long-looked-for process of preserving and marketing a portion of our great staple is to have a chance to prove its worth; and further, it means also that we have capitalists in our midst who have faith in this process, and who have liberally subscribed in order to test its possibilities. Nor has this been done in haste; but rather has mature consideration been given to it, and the inquiry made about it.

Of course there are more ways than one in which to look at the problem of cold storage; hence we find that quite a diversity of opinion exists about it. Some look upon it as being of great benefit to the trade of the country; and they see great good in it; others take an opposite view of it, and see serious loss in it. But like marriage, whether for better or worse, the day of cold storage has come for Newfoundland, and it will claim and get its portion of trade.

And the Worst is Yet to Come

our is the chief basis of the earning power of the people, and anything which threatens to invade their interest in this direction must of necessity arouse opposition.

But, as already stated, objection or no objection, cold storage is coming, and coming to stay. It seems to be the order of things that it should come, and thus help forward the new day which is in store for Newfoundland, and which has yet to burst upon her.

To those of us who have studied the history of Newfoundland, and who, for the last half century, have been in touch with her trade and commerce, and who therefore understand the conditions, it seems very evident that a much larger volume of trade should have been done than was done. It is also evident that the best was not done for Newfoundland generally, and that neither her capitalists, nor her working classes, got their rightful share. Somehow, there was a narrowness which often resulted in financial loss to business men and therefore loss to the people. But there is now a safer medium for all concerned, and many improvements are already with us, and our condition to-day is better than ever before. These conditions will continue to improve and the newer ideas of the age, and the advanced methods of the times, will have much to do with our future prosperity, and amongst these methods that of cold storage will have a place.

Canadian Freighter Sunk

The Durley Chine Collided with British Steamer Off Sandy Hook.

The Canadian freighter Durley Chine, bound in ballast from a Canadian port to an American port, was rammed and sunk yesterday morning in collision with an outward bound British freighter about sixty-five miles east of Sandy Hook. The latter vessel returned to New York with her bow stove in leaking badly forward and brought in the Captain and the twenty-eight men of the crew of the Durley Chine. She will probably discharge her cargo and go into dry dock for repairs.

According to the Captain of the damaged vessel, he left New York on Saturday afternoon. His vessel struck the Durley Chine amidstships and almost cut her in two. The Durley Chine was a single screw steamer of 1,318 gross tonnage, built in Sunderland in 1913 and owned by the Canadian Government. She was 279 feet long, 40 feet 1 inch beam, and 18 feet 4 inches depth of hold—N. Y. Times, April 23.

The Durley Chine was a freight carrier well known in St. John's and was here a couple of times last year with general cargoes.

Clergyman Has Recovered

Was Unable to Fill Appointments and Greatly Discouraged by Continued Ill-health.

Gannaque, Ont., May 5th.—The many friends of Rev. George Alton are pleased to learn of his recovery after a long period of ill-health from biliousness, stomach troubles, and severe headaches.

Mr. Alton had become very much discouraged over his inability to obtain relief, and thought he would have to quit the ministry, when fortunately he read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and began their use. He tells the particulars of his case in this interesting letter:

Rev. George Alton, Gannaque, Ont., writes: "I had been suffering from bilious attacks for four years. I was very weak, had headaches, and my stomach was so bad that I could hardly eat anything without being troubled by it. I had tried many cures, herbs, pills and salts, and was under the doctor's care for some time, but instead of getting better I seemed to get weaker. I was unable to fulfill my appointments on Sabbath and had to secure help. I used to take dizzy spells and could not walk across the door straight. I had almost given up all hope, and my wife said that I did not get better we would have to quit the work of the ministry. However, in looking over the 'British Whip,' the well-known Kingston paper, I saw Dr. Chase's advertisements in it, and read how Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills had helped others who were troubled as I was. I resolved to give these Pills a trial, and I must say that in a short time I obtained relief. I continued taking them for some time, and now I am able to resume my work again. From the benefit I have obtained from these pills, I would recommend them to all who suffer as I did."

Broke His Neck.

Particulars, though meagre, of how a young man named James Chaytor met his death at Grand Falls, as previously alluded to, are contained in an official message from the Magistrate there. The tragedy occurred on Wednesday afternoon last. Chaytor, an employee of the A. N. D. Co., was engaged repairing a wood conveyor. A board, which he had been resting his weight against, gave way and he fell a distance of about sixty feet, death being instantaneous. An examination of the body showed that his neck, both legs and arms were bruised, while other parts of his body were badly battered. Deceased belonged to Greenspond, was only 24 years of age and had been married less than six months. Magistrate Fitzgerald of Grand Falls is conducting an enquiry.

Little Stephano Launched Yesterday.

The little namesake of the once proud ship Stephano was launched at Shelburne, N.S., yesterday and was christened "Little Stephano," according to a message received by her owner, Capt. A. Kean, yesterday afternoon. The christening ceremony was performed by Mrs. Irwin, wife of Mr. R. Irwin, M.P.P. The schooner will be in charge of Capt. Wes. Kean, who left a few days ago with a crew to take charge of the vessel.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a step saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

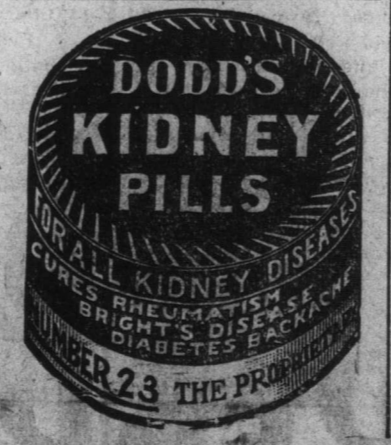

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares. Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture. Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

Outlashed the Huns.

We learn from the twenty-two Royal Naval Reservists that returned yesterday and whose names appeared in the Telegram on Thursday, that on leaving the Old Country the troop-steaming directly in the track of a German submarine, which however, was fortunately seen by the British destroyers which had accompanied them on the start of the voyage. The captain of the transport received a wireless shortly after from one of the destroyers saying that the Huns were now resting on the bottom and not likely to rise before the war is over.

Big Advance in Price of Coal.

Coal has made an enormous advance in price, according to the quotations given us by some firms in the city. Messrs. A. J. Harvey & Co., Ltd., and H. J. Stabb & Co. are now selling at $14.20 a ton a sudden increase of almost $3 on a ton. Where is it all going to end? Is such an enormous jump in price warranted and justified? Has the price of coal advanced at the mines recently to such a staggering extent?

Austria May Quit Central Allies

Is Seeking Way to Cast Off German Fetters, Well-Informed London Circles Say—Sees Futility of War—Suggestion That in This Event Berlin Might Hurl Strategic Reserves Against Her.

London, April 25.—From specially well-informed sources The New York Times representative learns that there is some ground for believing that the days of the Quadruple Alliance are numbered. No statement of the kind can of course be predicted definitely, but it is believed to be certain that Austria is looking around for ways and means of shaking off the German fetters which bind her to a continuation of the war, from which she can expect no solid gain.

A clear distinction is drawn between the secret move by Austria in the direction of freedom from German shackles and the illusory "peace moves" which Berlin is generally ready to foster with the object of opening up divergences between the Allies. There is no danger, for instance of Italy accepting proposals from Austria without the fullest consultation and agreement with the other signatories of the London agreement. The terms and spirit of that document will be most loyally adhered to. The London agreement, however, while precluding any Entente Power from making separate peace does not prevent the Entente Powers together making peace with separate members of the Central Alliance.

It is unnecessary to go into details of the reasons which may be presumed to be actuating Austria, for the changes which the revolution in Russia and the entrance of America into the war have brought about in respect of territorial questions, particularly concerning Austria-Hungary, are obvious.

There was a period of the war when it was the common boast of Germany that her Austro-Hungarian ally was a dead weight around her neck. Austrian defection now would be calculated to create a different feeling which might translate itself into an attempt to employ in a "unitive" expedition such as the German military mind rejoices in, against the former ally that strategic reserve of which Hindenburg boasted and which in the view of some people here is already being drawn upon to repair the wreckage on the western front.

Ran-dom Reels.

Sunshine is a priceless commodity which is used to ripen the growing corn and also to sweeten the disposition of irate customers who insist that they paid for vegetable silk and received lisle thread. It is the most valuable asset of that patient beast of burden, the dry goods clerk, and is worth more to the management than the refunded railroad fare.

Sunshine is manufactured by the sun and distributed by people who absorb it before it strikes the ground and pass it around on the wings of a contagious smile. Some people absorb more than others and are always in demand at the sick bed. A patient who has wearied of the quinine capsule and the hot water bag will often be restored to complete health by a sunny neighbor who drops in once or twice a day, and deals out generous doses of encouragement and good cheer. The ailing customer who has a neighbor of this description would not exchange her for a nine-room flat within four blocks of the nearest remnant sale.

The most popular and costly form of winter climate is that which contains 99.4 per cent. of sunshine. Samples of this climate are found in great abundance on the Pacific coast, and are eagerly pursued by eastern tourists whose money is invested in bright-hued bank stock. If California could bottle her surplus sunshine and ship it east along with the seedless orange and the nutritious prune, she would have a source of revenue that would make Hetty Green's income look like the proceeds of a Mite Society social.

Sunshine is caused by the earth's surface coming in contact with the large central heating plant known as the sun. This is the only heating plant known which does not charge meter rates or figure condensation as pure profit. There are times when the sun is several million miles away from the earth and sheds about as much heat as a gas log, while at other times its action can be felt distinctly at a distance of a few feet. The south coasts secure a large amount of this heat which it carries over into the north winter and sells to northern visitors whose enthusiasm for the saw-tooth blizzard has waned.

The best use for sunshine is in the family circle at the close of a hard day, when there is a tendency to look for trouble. There are times when a little extra pressure on the sunshine pedal is worth more than a theatre box or a wrist watch, and will be remembered long after both are forgotten.

Ensigns of Allies Enigma to New York

Most Conspicuous Errors, Because Least Expected, Committed With British Flag.

Strange things are being perpetrated, with the most laudable intentions, by many New Yorkers who have been moved by the recent flare of patriotism to put up on their homes or office buildings the flags of our allies. In the two months between the rupture of relations with Germany and the President's war address the city flowered with American flags as perhaps never before over an extended space of time, but foreign ensigns were notably absent except here and there the tricolor of France.

Since war became a fact there has been a widespread eagerness to emphasize our solidarity with the Allies by putting their flags on display, and with respect to the two greatest among them this movement has been accelerated by the imminent visit to New York of the Anglo-French commission. But the rush to put up standards of nationalities whose flags were not often seen here found New York ill-prepared. Except for occasions like the annual dinners of certain societies whose purposes spanned the Atlantic, and now and then a bazaar of all nations for some charitable purpose or other, there had been but little call for certain national emblems. Consequently there was a pardonable uncertainty as to just what certain flags stood for.

The most conspicuous errors, because the least to be expected, have been those committed with the British flag. The Union Jack—the blue field with red and white crosses vertical, horizontal, and oblique—is the only British flag used for military or civil purposes on land. But the first British banner displayed on the streets of New York since the war started was hung out, along with the Stars and Stripes and the French tricolor, from a house in West Tenth street on the day after the President made his war address; before that three years of sympathy with England had had no visible sign. The one place where New York has been used to seeing the British flag is on shipping in the harbor, and this shipping flies the merchant marine ensign—a red field with the Union Jack in the corner.

Consequently about half the British flags flying on Fifth Avenue are the merchant marine flag, which all propriety prohibits for use ashore. Now and then is seen the Naval Reserve flag, the same as the ensign except the blue field, or even the naval flag, with a white field and the red cross of St. George. Even when the Union Jack has been flown it has sometimes been impossible to get one of the proper size, and here and there one may see a large American flag and beside it a Union Jack no bigger than the blue field of stars.

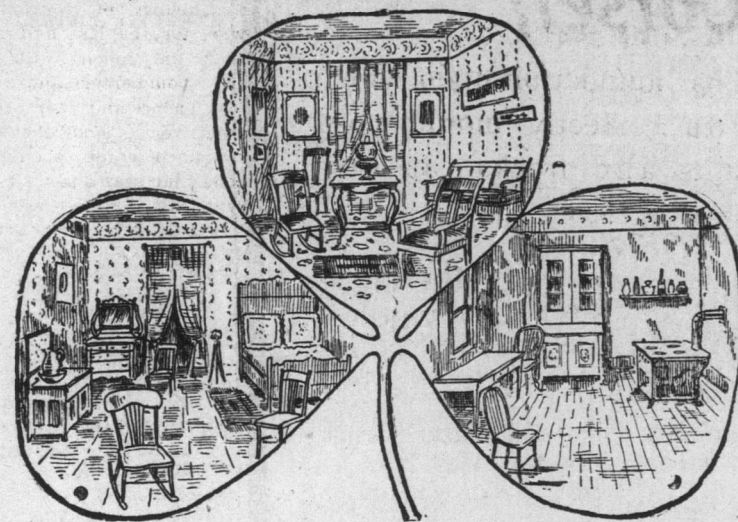

The flag of the Russian Republic is likewise singled against in the banners on display and the clusters which many automobilists fly on their hoods. The Russian ensign at present—since the revolution of last month—is the red flag which has stood for revolution in all countries. And the only place in New York where the red flag is flying just now is on the Union League Club. Elsewhere most people keep the old Russian flag of the dethroned empire—white, blue and red bars; and a few display the Russian naval flag, a white field with the blue cross of St. Andrew.

Another mistake made now and then is the use of the brilliant naval flag of Japan—a red sun with sixteen rays reaching out to the border of a white field—for the national ensign, which has no rays.

The flags of the minor countries, where they can be obtained at all, are usually right, and many Americans are getting acquainted for the first time with the ensigns of Portugal, Panama and Roumania. The only place in the central part of the city which has them all, is the Union League Club, where a big American flag jutting from a staff is flanked by a row of banners against the wall—the Union Jack and the red, white, and blue of France; then the red flag of Russia and the Italian tricolor; and ranged beyond these the red, blue, and white of Serbia and Montenegro, differentiated by the arms of the ruling houses; the red and green of the Portuguese Republic, the blue, yellow and red of Rumania, and the flags of Japan, Belgium, Cuba, and Panama.

French flags are still the most numerous; they were down here before the war for much the same business purpose as the American flag in England and France, and since its outbreak sentiment has kept them affluter in many places.—N. Y. Times.

The IDEAL Home!

THE IDEAL HOME is first of all a Comfortable Home, with an inviting air of restfulness about it, cosy and cheerful. It is of course an artistically furnished home, showing taste and judgment, each article pleasing in itself and in harmony with the surroundings; but it requires knowledge of Stores as well as of Furniture in order to secure all these elements in the furnishing of one's home, without it calling for an extensive outlay of cash. It is for this reason that appeals particularly to that large portion of St. John's home-loving people who have excellent taste but are economical.

Let us make a cosy, comfortable and artistic home for you, or make the home you have a little more cosy, a little more comfortable, or a little more artistic.

Hammering Due For Enemy.

London, April 26.—Far greater battles than those raging in the Arras region are impending in the immediate future.

This statement is heard from many reliable sources to-day, when the question arises whether the British have reached the climax of their artillery work.

Field Marshal Haig's plans apparently are developing excellently, and he is forcing von Hindenburg to do just what the British anticipated. They knew he would wait until he thought the Allies had reached the highest point of efficiency and then throw in enormous masses of reserves to catch them on the down grade. Reports indicate that the Germans already have used two-thirds of their reserve forces without gaining a single objective. At this rate, their force will be spent in futile counter attacks before the Allies reach the mightiest force of their arms. The British have already a wide front on which to deploy, and this soon will be extended.

There is not a single officer in London who believes that the affairs on the Arras front will take a dramatic course, but all are assured that the British are going to give the enemy the worst hammering ever delivered to an army.

Your Boys and Girls.

Somewhere in a convenient corner of the sewing-room table or other stated place should be kept a small notebook with a page devoted to each of the various members of the family. Such a list is invaluable to any mother of a numerous family. A glance at the little book shows that Bobby's last shoes were No. 8, width E, and it needs only a telephone or a note to the shoe shop to order and dispense with the necessity of dragging Bobby to town.

Maria wears a No. 5 nightgown, and father wears a 16 collar—all discovered by a glance at the useful little volume without a vain hunt over garments and a tiresome jolting of the memory, followed, nine times out of ten, by a long wait at the exchange desk next day.

The general measurements needed for underwear, length of skirts, sizes of gloves, stockings, shoes, dress measurements, and, in these case of boys, size of hat and length of coat and trousers.

Household Notes.

Nuts which have grown dry can be freshened by soaking in warm water. To improve the light of a lamp, put a small piece of camphor in the reservoir.

The Infamous Bissing.

(From the Boston Transcript.)

The rule about saying nothing but good of the dead will be generally suspended in the case of Baron von Bissing, military governor of Belgium. He has won a title of infamy which his death in the harness of his tyranny cannot set aside. All that could be said in palliation of Bissing's deeds is that, in committing them, he was merely obeying orders. But that he was entirely willing to obey these orders, and even to improve on them a little in the direction of rapine, of slaughter, of slave-catching and slave-trading, has been plainly apparent. He takes with him to the bar of judgment, not only the infamy of his master, but a red burden of his own. His selection for an odious task was evidently not without reason; his characteristics were at Potsdam; he began to exhibit them from the moment that his rude Prussian foot was set upon Belgian soil; he burned and pillaged; he shot down innocent citizens for the alleged offences of ne'er-do-wells; he tore women and girls as well as men and boys from their homes, and dispatched them into bitter slavery in Germany; he sent Nurse Cavell before the firing squad; he has made his name, which suggested its fate in its very orthography, a hissing an astonishment, a reproach and a shame among all the nations forever. It cannot be said of Bissing that nothing in his life became him like the leaving of it, for he has departed this life on a bed and not on a gibbet. But by his death now he has anticipated the judgment of a certain military court which one day will sit in Belgium's capital. He has gone to his reward betimes. He leaves the crime of Belgium to be expiated by others. No one can sorrow for him, but Justice may mourn because fate has deprived her of her proper function.

Why You Should Choose the British-Made.

CHAPPELL PIANO

You are not invited to purchase this instrument merely for patriotic motives, but because the CHAPPELL PIANO has won its world-wide reputation in competition with the most celebrated foreign makes, and is recognized throughout England as second to none in splendid qualities of tone and touch.

Gasoline at Six Cents a Gallon.

One pint of MAGIC MOTOR GAS is sufficient to treat 80 gallons of Gasoline and

Will make that 80 Gallons equal to 105 Gallons.

MAGIC MOTOR GAS is guaranteed not to contain any ingredients that will in any way injure the motor and it will do all that is claimed for it, namely: increase your mileage, neutralize all Carbon deposits, increase the power of your motor and prolong the life of your Engine. It gives you a perfect running motor under any and all conditions.

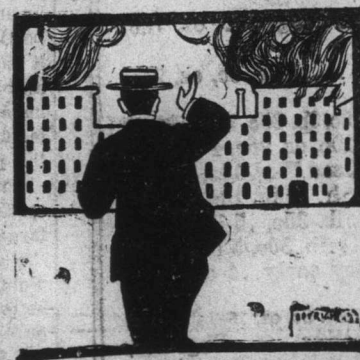

Follow the simple directions carefully:— To each 5 gallons of Gasoline add two tablespoonfuls of MAGIC MOTOR GAS. Give your Carburettor lots of air, especially after running the first ten miles, after treatment.

You will be Amazed at the Result Obtained.
