LADY LAURAS' RELEASE

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER XXX.

"Is there no other way, Angela? Is there nothing you can think of—no plan you can suggest except that?"

"My darling mother, I can see no other," she replied. "It makes you very unhappy to see the captain's great friendship for Miss Rane; but, as we cannot send her away, the only thing is for us to go."

Lady Laura hesitated for some minutes. True, her husband made her very unhappy, he caused her the greatest of pain and misery—yet she loved him still.

"It is torture to be with him," she sighed; "but would it not be greater torture still to be without him?"

"You know best, mamma darling," replied Angela. "No one can answer that question but yourself. You know what you suffer now. It is daily and hourly torture; you have no respite. That which grieves you so much is continually under your notice; and away from here other things would claim your notice."

"You are right, Angel," said Lady Laura. "It will be best to go away. I would go anywhere rather than remain here to suffer as I have recently. This visit to Brighton, which I had hoped would be a pleasant one, will be remembered with pain."

"We will go to Rood Abbey, mamma; you shall not stay here a day longer."

"Will the captain be angry?" asked her ladyship, timidly.

"I don't think that need concern us, mamma," replied Angela. "We must think of you, not of him. Make up your mind to go back to Rood to-morrow. I will tell the captain you are going, and I will also tell him why."

Lady Laura was tired of her misery, yet uncertain as to whether the course she was going to take would not make her more wretched. She wanted to be away from her husband, yet with miserable tenacity her heart clung to him. At last she decided to adopt Angela's suggestion and go to Rood.

For some time mother and daughter sat discussing their plans and arrangements. Now that she had arrived at a decision, Lady Laura grew calmer, and at last Angela persuaded her to retire to rest.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are quite welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. E. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Heaven my father were there to welcome us."

"You will tell the captain, Angela—for I could not go through a scene with him."

"Yes; I will tell him, mamma, that I am going to take you back to Rood."

"He will not be angry with you, Angela, I hope."

"It will not matter if he is," replied Angela. "Even if I dreaded his anger, I would bear that and much more for your sake; but I have the utmost scorn for it."

She sat by her mother's side until the hapless lady fell asleep. Lovingly Angela regarded the beautiful face, which seemed recently to have grown so colorless and troubled. If this marriage could but be undone, if her mother could but be freed from what was now a most galling burden! But not so long as life lasted, so long must she remain the unloved, neglected wife of Captain Wynyard.

CHAPTER XXXI.

"Miss Rooden wants to see me," said Captain Wynyard doubtfully, as Angela's maid delivered her message. "Are you quite sure that there is no mistake?"

"Quite sure, sir," replied Jean.

"Miss Rooden told me to see you before you went out, and ask if she could see you."

"Certainly," said the captain, who never failed in courtesy to those about him; "tell Miss Rooden I am quite at her service."

A few minutes later Angela, in all the grace of her girlish beauty, entered the room. The captain was a stranger to fear, but he winced before the reproachful eyes of this young girl.

"You want to see me, Angela?" he said somewhat nervously.

"Yes," she replied gravely. "I will not detain you long."

He did not ask her to sit down, for she walked to the window and stood there, he following and taking a position by her side. He could better have borne twenty hysterical reproaches from his wife than the glance of his step-daughter's pure indignant eyes.

"Captain Wynyard," she began, in a clear low voice, "I do not wish to say anything that is disrespectful; but I cannot endure to see my mother suffer as she does without doing something to help her. Do you remember the promise you made on the unhappy day when you married my mother?"

"I made so many promises on that day," he replied, trying to speak lightly, "that I may be excused for forgetting one."

"I will remind you of it then," she said. "You promised me on that morning that you would make my mother happy, and you have not kept your word."

There was a straightforward simplicity about her which he found very awkward to evade.

"My dear Angela," he said, with just a trace of annoyance in his manner, "your interest in me is most charming; I am grateful to you. But do you not think it would be better that these little matters should be discussed between your mother and myself?"

"No, I do not," she replied, and her courage in speaking compelled him to listen. "My mother is not strong, and she is so sensitive that what would not affect another woman is keen pain to her."

"I know it," he said; "but I am not to blame for your mother's peculiar temperament."

"No; still, knowing it, one would have expected you to treat her with all the more kindness and consideration. Finding that you do not do so, and that you avail yourself of her great sensitiveness to wound her, I have decided to speak for her. Do you know," she continued indignantly, "that my mother is so changed, so ill, so miserable, that her very life is in danger?"

Could she be mistaken? Was it a flash of light that she saw in his eyes, an expression of relief that she noted in his face, a something that came quickly and went quickly, and was rather gladness than pain? A pang went to her heart as she noticed it.

"If it were not," she went on, "that my mother's death would be your ruin, I do not believe you would deplore it."

"That is another question," he interrupted, carelessly. "We are not discussing that now." And, as the captain spoke, he thought to himself, "What a good thing it is she knows nothing about the will!"

"I told you," continued Angela, "before you married my mother, that you did not love her, that you cared only for her money. All the love that you could spare, from yourself you gave to Miss Rane. I told my mother so, and I tried my best to save her; but she did not believe me. What has happened since your marriage proves that I was right. But it is too late for my mother to help herself; I must help her."

She spoke very gently; but there was a ring of pain in her voice which was more embarrassing to him than would have been a passionate outburst of anger.

"I wish with all my heart that my dear mother had been saved from such a disastrous fate," she went on, her voice gaining strength as she proceeded. "You married my mother for her money, and you know best how she has lavished it on you. You have all you desire; why, therefore, can you not be kind to her? Why not—poor mother!—have let her live on in her delusion as to your being great and good? She worshipped you, and thought you a hero. You are but a very commonplace man."

Her tone amazed and irritated him. He might be admired by others, but this girl's quiet contempt was most apparent.

"You might have let my mother live on in her delusion," pursued Angela, steadily, "seeing how happy it made her. You have roused her from it very rudely and very cruelly."

"That is your opinion," interrupted the captain. "You must remember I was unprepared to find your mother both jealous and suspicious."

"It is not becoming of you to speak to me of my mother's faults," retorted Angela.

"It is absolutely necessary if those faults exist, and cause the greater part of the unpleasantness that lies between us."

"That is not true," said Angela. "My mother is one of the sweetest and gentlest of women. You have broken your word and broken her heart. You promised to make her happy, and you have not done so, or even tried. You must see for yourself that my mother's life is a daily martyrdom; and it is time that her misery was ended. You know why it is unpleasant for my mother to remain in Brighton; and I wish to say that I have persuaded her to return with me to Rood."

"Just as you will," he said, carelessly.

Cox as Harding's Successor in 1924.

WRITER IN FORUM DISCUSSES CHANGE IN OPINION OF LAST DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE.

As for Cox's Limitations, it has been previously mentioned herein that he is not great. However, the Democrats will have to get along without a great man this time, always supposing that Wilson is not a candidate. Cox is a keen business man, self-educated, risen from farm boy and country school teacher to millionaire and with a Middle Western aura. Like the rest of the Middle Westerners, he thought at first that the war was something like a war between the planet Mars and the sun, so far as the United States is concerned. When we got into it, like the rest of the Middle Westerners, he promptly turned to in support of the Government and made a war record that stood a few inches higher than most of the other Governors in his section. His mind is still Middle Western and not to be called universal or catholic, but he has been studying hard and has discovered that our period of isolation is at an end. In that he is much ahead of a good many Middle Westerners, and shows an elasticity and capability of growth that was observable before—in fact, in every step of his career from the time when his horizon was confined entirely to the city of Dayton and environs.—From February Forum.

SPEAKING OF DOGS.
 A Letter Friend wonders if I like dogs. "In all the time you have been writing," she says, "I have never seen a word from you in regard to man's most faithful friend."
 I think my Letter Friend is right. Not in suspecting that I dislike dogs. Gracious goodness, no! Heaven forbid that such an idea should attach to my name. But in thinking that I have never said anything about them. And it really is one of the most extraordinary things I ever discovered about myself.
 Do I dislike dogs? Madame, I doubt if there are many people in the world who love dogs as much as I do.
 I never saw a puppy that I didn't want to possess it.
Not So Much For People.
 I have known a few dogs, perhaps three or four, to whom I didn't feel drawn but only a few, mind you, in all the hundreds and thousands of dogs I have known. Could one say as much as that for human beings?
 As for the dogs of fiction, for Red Will (whom I like better than Bob, think of me what you will) for the hero of the Bar Sinister, and for the dear adorable Bunt, I have a tenderness of heart that is almost too poignant.
 When I was a child and mother would not let me bring home some stray dog, I used to assert passionately that when I grew up I should bring home every stray dog I met and keep them until I found a home. I didn't know then that grownupness has to adjust itself to other people as well as childhood.
My Dog.
 I also said that I should possess as my own dogs besides the family of strays, one great Dane, one bull dog, one collie and one St. Bernard.
 I have attained one quarter of that felicity. I wish you could see him, the sweetest, wisest, handsomest dog that ever lived (even as your dog). You may decide which of the four he is according to your personal tastes.

 People who do not like dogs sometimes ask me what it is that I care so much about in them. "They can't talk to you and they are useless: They don't do anything for you as a horse does," they say. I have never been able to make myself articulate to people who have this deafness of the heart in regard to dogs. I wonder if the following passage from an English essayist will help any. I think it is the best thing I ever saw on the subject.
Why We Love Them.
 "We may love other animals and other animals may respond to our affection. But the dog is the only animal who has a reciprocal intelligence. As Coleridge says: 'He is the only animal that looks upward to man, strains to catch his meanings, hangers for his approval.' Stroke a cat or a dog and it will have a physical pleasure but pat Chum and call him a good dog and he has a spiritual pleasure. He feels good. He is pleased because you are pleased. His tail, his eyebrows, every part of him proclaim that 'God's in His Heaven,' and that he himself is on the side of the angels. And just as he has the sense of virtue so he has the sense of sin. A cat may be taught not to do certain things, but if it is caught out and flees, it flees not from shame but from fear. But the shame of a dog touches a misery as bottomless as any human emotion. He has fallen out of the state of grace and nothing but the absolution and remission of his sin will restore him to happiness. By his association with man he seems to have caught something of his capacity for spiritual misery."

Alberta Refuses to Guarantee Bonds.

TO ASSIST SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY
 Edmonton.—An ambitious scheme to establish a beet sugar industry in Southern Alberta, with the Government behind it to the extent of a $500,000 bond guarantee, has been nipped in the bud by the refusal of the government to entertain such a proposition at all. Some farmers in the Raymond district originated the scheme and asked Premier Greenfield for assistance along the lines indicated. Their idea was to make it a million dollar proposition, putting in 10 per cent. of their own money and the rest to be on government guarantee.

 The Premier's answer was that no part of the province could be given a double helping hand in this way.

the dry belt having already been assisted with irrigation guarantees. If a beet sugar industry was a good investment, he said, it would have to be financed on a basis of private enterprise.
 A beet sugar factory was built at Raymond some ten or twelve years ago, but was dismantled and moved across the line because the Alberta farmers found beet crops too hard work to grow as compared with wheat, and for that reason there were never enough beets to keep the plant running.

PLUTE AND PAUPER.

The plute, he rides in his rich sedan, and cares no heed for the weary man who toils on foot up the dusty road, his shoulders scarred by a heavy load. The plute rides on in his rich sedan; his chuffer's liveries' gold and tan; the shock absorbers upon his car protect his form from the slightest jar; the velvet cushions are broad and deep, they're soft and restful, inducing sleep. The plute rides on at indecent speed, and he shuts his eyes, and he gives no heed to the man on foot, in the dusty track, who packs a stove on his aching back, or a cord of wood, or a bale of hay; and such things chance on the broad highway. The plute rides on, and he heaves no sigh, for the man on-foot, for the walking guy; for the plute has griefs of his own. I wot; his string of troubles has made him hot; he has to eat what the doc prescribes, and can't chew pie like the toiling tribes; he has the gout in his swollen feet; and the throbs are fierce, and the pains repeat; the pressure's high, in his heated blood, and he's apt to cross, with a ghastly thud. If peradventure he casts an eye, from his sedan, on the footsore guy, he doubtless says to the chuffer bold, whose garb is edged with a royal gold, "I wish like him I could freely tread, and pack a stove and a feather bed; I would not envy the stall-fed man who journeys in his green sedan!"

THE WEST'S AWAKE

Monster Committee Meeting Last Night.

Government Candidate for Ferryland Spills the Beans.

Another demonstration of the popularity of the three Opposition candidates, Messrs. Cashin, Linegar and Hunt, was given last night at the West Hall, when a committee meeting had to be held on account of the exceptionally large gathering for speeches.

Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., leader of the ticket for St. John's East, was the first to speak. He stated that up to the present time, the Government were unable to secure candidates for the district. Their opponents were working with the Government for a price and this had not yet been done. One intended candidate had said to him that he hoped to be able to realize his terms to-day but he had not done so yet. This in keeping with the latest Squires policy of buying up old politicians who had grown old in the civil service. When the names upon which the latest Government candidates had been purchased are known the country will be sick to these candidates hundreds of thousands of dollars of the public money are being given in a wild hope of buying the districts to which they will go. This insult to the people will be resented because it is known that these men are going to certain defeat. The sad part of it is that this public money will be wasted by being given out to healers and because the House of Assembly is closed we shall not know the facts until this present Government is defeated in May.

THE HUMBER DEAL.

Referring to the Humber deal, Mr. Higgins said, nobody knows what it means because the Government will not let the public know the details of it. The people are asked to vote on this measure and yet they are denied the right to discuss it. The public are sick and tired of hearing that the benefits are going to be but they want to know what the terms are. If the proposition is a good one there is no loyal Newfoundland who will not give it his full support. He, Mr. Higgins, was prepared to vote for the measure at any time if it was shown that it was a good one. The word of the Government, he said, had been one of graft and incompetence and they hoped to hide it by passing the Humber and by the support of derelict politicians. The Opposition had a policy that would be outlined in its leader's manifesto and behind this policy would be the candidates who were coming forward to rid the country of those who by reckless squandering had brought ruin and hunger throughout the land. He appealed to the voters to vote the straight ticket for CASHIN, LINEGAR and HUNT.

LABOR CANDIDATE SPEAKS.

Mr. William Linegar, the popular labor candidate, was given a rousing reception on coming forward to speak. He stated that the Government supporters in the West End were going around now saying the deal was between Linegar and Squires for three places, and soliciting personal votes for the Prime Minister; but Squires was as guilty as any of the rest and he too had gone down with them for his misdeeds. In an interview after the general election with himself and Messrs. Caldwell, Foley and McGrath, he asked them as labor representatives what he would do for them. They told him to carry out the manifesto. This he promised to do even at the cost of smashing his party. The Prime Minister did not carry out the promises contained in his manifesto because he had to do as he was told by Mr. W. F. Coaker who was the real boss, and whose name to-day they fear to mention, and are endeavoring to make out that Coaker has gone clear of them; but he is still the boss, and R. A. Squires has to bow to his will. Not one pledge made in his manifesto has been carried out, and the people were deceived and betrayed. Now in the West End each is killing the other. To-day their committee room was in a cooper shop. In 1919 they would have been unable to hire it because it was a hive of industry. At that time seven men were employed there at steady wages ranging from $25 to $37 per week. What's happened since Squires and Coaker took control? Two of these men are in the States, another has gone to other parts, and the owner's brother is also out of the country and the shop is now turned into a committee room because the Coaker-Squires regulations put the coopers of this city out of business and ruined the business interests of the country. Coaker announced at his last convention that regulations were being put in force again if the Government was returned, and unless the voters of St. John's want to see the remainder of the large houses go to the wall, then their duty was to vote for the Opposition candidates. Squires was as guilty as Coaker and the rest of them for the terrible state of affairs that exist here when 1700 men are breaking rocks to earn a livelihood for themselves and families. This condition was brought upon us by those in charge whose record of bungling and incompetency has never been equalled. The people have been deceived by the Government, and it was up to the electorates once and for all to send the incapables where they can do no further harm. In conclusion Mr. Linegar referred to the meeting of young voters being held to-night. Mr. Linegar was cheered to the echo when he concluded and it goes without saying that in Mr. Linegar St. John's West will have a representative of whom they can feel proud.

MR. PUDDISTER GIVES SOME FACTS.

Mr. J. C. Puddister, who was present in the audience, was called upon to speak and was given a hearty reception. He said it was time that Newfoundland got rid of the incapables who are now in charge of the affairs of the country. Ever since they took charge, there has been one unending series of scandals and squandering, and unless there was an awakening it is impossible to say where it is all going to end. The Government's chief stock in trade now is the Humber deal, and everything else is the Humber. We are not however, told anything concerning the Humber or if the interests of the people are considered, or if it is not another big deal for the Reids. In 1921 Sir R. A. Squires was openly opposed to the Humber deal. Why is he changed to-day; and if it is the fowery proposition we are told it is why not uncover it, and why not open the House of Assembly and pass it, and give it to the people? Sir R. A. Squires would not do this; he preferred making a political football of it, in an effort to delude the electorate into sending him back to power. What interest had Coaker, Campbell, Barnes and the others in this country? It is men of the Bennett, Cashin, Crobie, Monroe, Ayre, Hickman, Long, Moore type, men who have an interest and something at stake in this country that the people look to to-day to take us out of our present sorry plight.

ASK THEM TO EXPLAIN!

Ask Sir R. A. Squires and Dr. Campbell, to explain the Humber Deal, and the Reid deal that is attached to the Humber means that Reid has to get from three to four millions of dollars before it can be passed and Mr. Puddister challenged contradiction of it from either Squires or Campbell. Is Newfoundland going to trust her destinies to men who have demonstrated their incompetence in the handling of the smallest matters. Are they fit to handle such a big proposition as the Humber-Reid deal. The speaker did not think so and neither did he believe the intelligent voter of Newfoundland thought so. The interests of the country must be conserved and in the hands of Mr. Bennett and his party Newfoundland would be given a square deal. Mr. Coaker, who boasted he had done so much for the fisheries, told the United Fishermen's delegates that the fisheries of Newfoundland only had another ten years to live and they would be a thing of the past. It only remained for the fishermen to take up their traps and head lines and head it for the Humber. Coaker to-day was a menace to this country, and in his latest move, that of getting out of the Executive he is a greater menace, as he was now free to dictate his own policy. His dictation in connection with the railway middle cost this country millions of dollars, and if it so happened by any chance that the Government was returned then it was good bye Newfoundland. Squires whose craving for power is so well known, would bow to the dictates of his boss of Port Union. This, however, is not likely, if one may judge their weakness in the matter of signing out candidates. Government officials are being forced into districts and one announced yesterday for Placentia has been given in the neighbourhood of $100,000 to if possible purchase the electorate. Another is being sent to Ferryland with $25,000 to spend, and it is just as well that the money was thrown into the sea. Taxation has gone from $85.00 per capita in 1919 to $85.00 in 1922 and still the squandering goes on. No attempt is made to economize, and the show man, Dr. Campbell keeps shovelling it out. Mr. Puddister told of some of the Coaker tactics in Bay de Verre in the bye election, when he fooled some of the people into voting for his nominee with the promise of his buying their fish, a promise that was not kept. In conclusion he referred to the removal of the Sur-tax which meant a reduction of seven cents per barrel on flour, 40 cents on pork, 38 cents on beef, one cent on molasses, 1-2 cent on tea, 1-2 cent on butter and so on. It was only an election dodge and they would put it on again as soon as the election was over in case they were returned. In closing he impressed upon his hearers to down Coakerism forever, and vote the straight ticket for CASHIN, LINEGAR AND HUNT. Mr. Puddister was enthusiastically cheered as he took his seat.

MR. HUNT SPEAKS.

Mr. C. E. Hunt was the next speaker and was given a tremendous reception, one that made the rafters ring. Mr. Hunt had only just recovered from a severe cold, and did not intend to make any lengthy address. He congratulated the Committee and the voters of St. John's West, on their enthusiasm, when without any notice whatever they assembled there nightly in their hundreds. It was a sign that the people were not losing sight of the record of graft and incompetence of the present Government. They were asked to endorse the Humber proposition and all we were certain about it was that it meant the paying over of his beautiful millions in cash to the Government or the Armstrong people. If you purchased a house, you would like to look at it before you paid for it. It was an insult to the people's intelligence to ask them to swallow all their promises after four such years of graft.

AN ERA OF SQUANDERING.

A couple of nights ago the Prime Minister said that he had been sitting hours and hours together in the Executive, which was a joke, except perhaps for the kick that Dr. Campbell has given it now and again. Dr. Campbell has been doing out thousands to party healers trying to purchase men to vote for himself and Squires. Clerks in stores are being given orders of $6000 and $7000. A majority of the men who are supporting the Government to-day are men who are bought and paid for. Grocers are being given orders for thousands of dollars, and Campbell and Squires think they can purchase the voters of St. John's West, but they cannot purchase the soul of St. John's, if he knew them right. Dr. Campbell insults such men as Ayre, Outerbridge, Monroe and Hunt, and tells an intelligent electorate that they do not love their native country, that he was the only one who loved Newfoundland. He wanted to tell Dr. Campbell that he had much more use for his native land than Doctor Campbell ever would have. One would think to-day that the people were rolling in riches to hear the way the Government candidates referred to the good times that are supposed to be with us. But what is the answer. Were men rock breaking in 1919, were men leaving the country, 10,000 of them gone to Boston and other places for work because they were faced with starvation at home. Sir R. A. Squires had made 24 promises in his manifesto, but not a solitary one has he fulfilled and then we are asked to trust the same bunch again.

A CHANGE NEEDED.

Men of the type of Monroe, Ayre and Outerbridge were insulted because they had the courage of their convictions. These men did not want to be in politics. He (Mr. Hunt) did not want to be in politics, he could make a living as his profession. They had to get into politics because they realized with sincerity that the present conditions could not continue, if we wished to live in this country. Fifteen millions had been borrowed and this could not be got out of rocks. You can't go on borrowing money and increasing taxation year after year, there must be an end. The Government has no policy to make living better, neither have they done anything to improve conditions. What we want is a change, a change that will give Water Street more confidence, and a Government that will make Newfoundland boom again. What we needed was our liberty and that could only be attained by voting for the Bennett candidates.

SIR MICHAEL CASHIN SCORES AGAIN.

Sir Michael Cashin being called upon was given a wonderful ovation. He first thanked the gathering most heartily for their reception and expressed his thanks to the Committee who are doing such excellent work, and for the manner in which they were responding each night. It was an indication of the victory that would be theirs on polling day. Sir Michael said that yesterday afternoon with his colleagues, he visited the L.S.P.U. Hall, where some seventy men were gathered and he said the reception they received was inspiring. The men stopped their amusements and listened to short addresses from his colleagues and himself, and they gave him the impression that there was little necessity of telling them their story. Continuing Sir Michael spoke of the announcement in the Government papers of their having found two more candidates, one for Placentia and one for Ferryland.

BUYING CANDIDATES.

They had been captured by those proving around with public funds to offer for candidates, and he asked his hearers to have pity upon them. Both of them were friends of his and one had been a close associate. The latter, who was going to Placentia, was being given, he had heard, $100,000 to spend in that District, and the Revenue Cruiser Daisy was being placed at his disposal, at a cost to this country of between $300 and $500 per day. He was merely being led to the slaughter, however, as Placentia was going to return three Opposition candidates, and with the rest of the shore in line there is nothing to worry about the West and South West coast. Who would deny that George Harris and his colleague would be elected in Burnt Point? George Harris is the man who brought S. J. Foote into that District and elected him in 1919, and this same S. J. Foote, who is known as the "Land Grant Member," is now going to meet defeat. George Harris is a man of outstanding character. A man whose firm does from three to four millions of dollars business on that Coast, a man whose name is a household word in Burnt Point and Placentia Bay, where he has done so much for the people. The same S. J. Foote did not come to his friend's assistance when he was needed, but to-day he is trying to save himself by endeavouring to buy up the electorate, and he (Sir Michael) knew that thousands of dollars were being handed out in Burnt Point to save Foote and his colleagues, if possible. A million dollars would probably be spent to return Coaker and Squires and the taxpayers had to foot the bill. In order to get a candidate for Ferryland District, a man was taken out of his bed on Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock, when the lights were out, and brought to a back room in the residence of Dr. Campbell, and by the light of three candles he was signed up by two Ministers of the Crown, and promised $20,000 to expend in the District, $10,000 from the Marine and Fisheries Department, and $10,000 from the Board of Works Department, and an additional $5,000 for his expenses was promised, this amount to be deposited in West End Branch of a city bank. The amusing part about it all was that at 11 a.m. on Tuesday the candidate had come to Sir Michael's office, told him he was going to contest the District, and asked him how he was going to spend the money. He further said that the Prime Minister had told him to go home, select a number of men whom he believed would likely vote for him, send in their names to the Prime Minister and he would arrange for the allocation of the $20,000. Sir Michael asked him why he did not ask for more, and he replied he thought he would get clear of going by asking for the twenty thousand, but they agreed to the figure without a murmur.

A COMIC OPERA.

The candidate went home yesterday and no doubt in the course of a day or two the letter will be forwarded the Prime Minister. "If this is not comic opera," said Sir Michael, "then what is?" This is a lovely state of affairs and Sir Michael termed the Government a bunch of political criminals, because no money should be spent unless under the authority of the House of Assembly. Temporary loans are being arranged now at the Bank of Montreal, and it is allocated in case they can capture a man to contest a district. No country in the world would return such goings on. On Tuesday afternoon, continued Sir Michael, a grocery store on New Gower Street, developed practically into a branch of the Board of Works Department. Horses with loads of splits were hauling up in front of it, and the grocer was buying the splits because the Department was too busy to handle all the customers. All the Departments were apparently supplied and this grocer was issuing orders on the Public Works Department and the splits were being dumped off behind the oil factory on Plymouth Road, and the men brought their orders to Mr. Harris at the Board of Works and got paid. Where is it all going to stop? Let Squires, Campbell and Fitzgibbon tell their followers of these transactions. Sir Michael in conclusion told of the bungling in connection with our fisheries, our herring fishery which was worth half a million dollars a year, being practically at a standstill, while throughout the country our young manhood were emigrating. Fish in 1919 was $16.00 per quintal, to-day it is $3.50 and $4.00, and a bunch of political impostors who were never any good and who caused this country untold misery are spending nearly a million to try and get themselves back for another four years of power. Throughout the land, however, the cry for honest and clean Government was being heard and Sir Michael did not fear the result on polling day. The cheering that greeted Sir Michael at the conclusion was deafening, and sounded the death knell of graft so far as St. John's West is concerned.

To-night the young voters of the District are meeting, to join up with their fathers and brothers in the fight for Bennett and Better Times.

Fish Industry in Curious Tangle.

Ottawa, March 2.—An acute division of opinion has arisen in the special committee of the House which last summer made an investigation into the British Columbia fisheries. When the inquiry into the canning interests sought an embargo on the export of fish to the United States, it was rejected. They then proposed that only fish which is cleaned, boxed and iced be allowed to be shipped. This was refused. The committee's report, however, was only interim.

A final report is now being drawn up, and it includes a provision previously refused, limiting the export to cleaned and iced fish. The fishermen claim that this will operate as a practical embargo.

A curious situation has arisen. Three members of the committee—Messrs. Neil, MacQuarrie and St. E.—are against the proposal, and three Ever with an eye to improvements,

This Store is to-day undergoing a wide spread re-arrangement of Departments.

To-day the tap of the hammer resounds in our most Eastern Store, indicating preparations for Our New Gents' Department. This Section is well underway and will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

Our Mid Store, vacated by the Gents' Department, is going to prove an attractive one inasmuch, as we plan to make it an up-to-date House Furnishing Department, thoroughly well equipped with everything pertaining to the home.

With these improvements will come improved shopping facilities, the entire elimination of over-crowding and congestion in certain sections, all tending to the making of ease and comfort shopping here.

Realizing that little inconvenience must necessarily occur during this period of reconstruction, we earnestly ask your kind indulgence in bearing with them just for a brief while.

Yours for improvements,

Mr. Jacob H. Macksey, 336 Midland Ave., Midland, Ont. writes—

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over 20 years and I feel that I owe my life to them. I suffered severely from rheumatism and heart failure. One doctor just gave me one year to live, and even told me I might be found dead at any time. A neighbor advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and I have been using them as needed ever since. I am now 70 years of age, weigh 217 pounds and can work as well as any young man."

U. F. Movement.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

Greenspond, March 12.—The meeting which was held here to hear report from delegates of the United Fishermen's Movement was better than anything ever held here by Blandford when he swept the District. A true estimate of Greenspond is as follows: Cooker 50, Winsor and Abbot 30; Opposition 200, Westleyville and Newtown about the same proportionately. Attended a meeting at Pinchard's Island. A lot of men away. The vote in this place is two to one for Opposition. Count the North Side of Bonavista absolutely safe for Opposition. CORRESPONDENT.

C. L. B. Cadets.

LIUT.-COL. WALTER F. RENDELL, C.B.E., APPOINTED OFFICER COMMANDING.

At Headquarters of the 1st Nfld. Regiment Church Lads Brigade Cadets on Tuesday, the Regimental Order for the day read by Major R. H. Tait, M.C., Adjutant, contained the following:—

LIUT.-COL. and Officer Commanding the 1st Nfld. Regt. Church Lads' Brigade Cadets—LIUT.-COL. Walter F. Rendell, C.B.E., late of the Royal Nfld. Regiment. This announcement was received by all ranks with great enthusiasm as the new Officer Commanding has seen many years service before the war in the Brigade, and now, after a lapse of time returns to the supreme command of his old regiment.

LIUT.-COL. Walter Rendell joined on the organization of C Company, Bishop Field College as a private, and by merit soon passed his efficiency exam and was promoted to N.C.O. rank, and proved one of the smartest N.C.O.'s ever trained in Field College Companies. Subsequently after leaving the school he secured his officer's commission at Headquarters, and was afterwards appointed Adjutant on the 25th March, 1905, succeeding Captain W. R. Warren, the present Minister of Justice. He took a leading part in all Executive work of the Brigade as well as in games and in athletics. He was also a member of the Committee appointed by Col. R. G. Rendell, C.B.E., Officer Commanding, to arrange for the opening ceremonies of the present armoury, Harvey Road, which took place on March 28th, 1910.

LIUT.-COL. Walter Rendell acted as Camp Adjutant in 1910, Camp Commandant in 1914, and was the organizer of the "Legion of Frontiersmen," being their Commanding Officer in 1914 when on the outbreak of the Great War, and a member of a class under the terms of engagement he was automatically for duty in any part of the Empire the moment war was declared. He was probably the first man to report for war services to the Governor Sir Walter Davidson, who promptly arranged for him and LIUT. A. W. Wakefield (medical officer) and one hundred Frontiersmen to sail promptly by the Allan liner Mongolian for England. While awaiting the steamers sailing date public meetings were held and the organization of the 1st Nfld. Regt. arranged for. His Excellency then requested the cancellation of the draft of Frontiersmen and asked them to join the Regiment. The date of LIUT.-COL. Walter Rendell's enlistment might therefore be stated to date on August 4th, 1914. Other details of his service from official records are gleaned as follows. Received Captain's Commission 1st Nfld. Regiment, 21st Sept., 1914. Appointed Adjutant September, 1914. Promoted Major, 25th April, 1915; appointed Chief Staff Officer, Dept. of Militia, 29th October, 1917. Promoted LIUT.-COL., 16th May, 1918. Awarded C.B.E., 16th Dec. 1919. Received mention in despatches of Secretary of State of War, 10th Feb. 1920. He was wounded twice, 20th Feb. 1915 (Guava Bay) 20th Sept. 1915, and in the Somme Transloy Ridge, near Guedecourt, 11th Oct. 1916.

LIUT.-COL. Rendell, C.B.E., therefore has an unique record, possibly standing alone, in the fact he has won on merit all his promotions, from Private to Lieutenant-Colonel in his old Regiment. On the nomination of his Lordship Bishop White, Regimental Chaplain (by cable) to the Brigade Headquarters, London, the new O.C. has been officially granted his commission and the London Executive has cabled their hearty good wishes through his Lordship to LIUT.-COL. Rendell on his appointment. All ranks will give a hearty welcome on taking over the command likely on Easter Tuesday, April 3rd, when the Brigade Executive hope to arrange a fitting ceremonial for the occasion.

SCHOONER ASHOBY.—Yesterday at noon hour a large schooner drifted from her moorings down the harbor and went ashore on the south side of the Narrows, near King's. It is not known if the vessel suffered any damages, but an attempt will likely be made to tow her off to-day.

PRELIMINARY CONFERENCE.
LONDON, March 21.—Representatives of the Allied Governments are meeting here to-day to consider the Turkish counter proposal concerning the Lausanne Treaty. The gathering is presided over by Lord Curzon. It is not a formal Conference but rather to give preliminary examination to the Turkish reply to the proposals of Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States.

FURTHER PRESSURE.
COBLENZ, March 21.—Expulsion of a hundred and eighty additional officials has been ordered by the occupational forces, and twenty-one more newspapers are compelled to suspend publication.

EARL OF CARNARVON.
MARSEILLES, March 21.—Lady Carnarvon abandoning the idea of going to Egypt by aeroplane and planning to be with her husband, Earl Carnarvon, who is stricken with blood poisoning, leaves here this afternoon on the steamer "Lofna." A despatch from Cairo says that Lord Carnarvon's condition is still serious, but he passed a restful night and there has been a recurrence of high temperature.

DIED FROM EXPOSURE.
HIGHLANDS, N.Y., March 21.—The motor boat "Rosie D," making tests between the outlying run and the shore, was disabled last night and drifted out to sea. She was holed up this morning with one of her crew dead and four others in a bad condition from exposure.

ROTARIAN, D.G.
HALIFAX, March 21.—H. L. Sprangler, President of the St. John Rotarian Club, was unanimously elected District Governor Rotary, at a convention to-day of thirty-second District. He is now residing in the South and was addressed by wire of his election.

Mr. J. R. Bennett Opposed Fish Regulations.

The Daily Mail and Evening Advertiser are endeavoring to convey the impression that the opposition in the House of Assembly favoured Mr. Bennett's Fish Regulations. To read those statements we republish the Advocate of May 1920 extracts, which also appear in the official debates at that time, contrasting in no uncertain manner the action taken by Mr. John R. Bennett in St. John's.

Mr. J. R. Bennett wished to have known that he was not in favor of the Fish Export Regulations and the statement that they had passed unopposed was incorrect. The opposition was against them. They were that the Government was determined to force the thing through and he was futile to oppose it at length, but the conclusion arrived at was to make the bill less objectionable and the important amendments had been accepted from the Opposition.

Mr. John Crosbie the same day he was not in the House when the Regulations went through and he wished to go on record as being opposed to the regulations. He would dare, he said, knowing as much as he did about the fish markets, to stand the country as in any way endorsing such a proposal. He believed in free trade. He was there against the Regulations.

BOHEMIA—ABANDONED AT SEA.

The following message was received by the Minister of Shipping yesterday from Commander Jones of S.S. "Bohemia," as that steamer was passing the Race:—"Have taken on board crew of schooner Bohemia, of St. John's, from schooner Admiral Drake, making St. John's. Bohemia abandoned and set on fire in lat. 45 deg. 55 1/2 N., on March 10th. Men off Green Bank. Bohemia spoke schooner Douglas B. Conrad from Liverpool, clear of ice; also sighted two coast schooners, "Ichabod" of Green Bank, name unknown. Signed JONES, Commander Arava."

The safety of the Bohemia's crew generally, while the report of the Admiral Drake, which vessel was reported 40 days out from New York to St. John's, will relieve all anxiety. The Bohemia was owned by S. Harris Ltd., St. John's.

The Menace of Coakerism.

ARTICLE XIII
 Mr. Coaker in the House of Assembly was very firm in his determination to force his now styled Intamons Fish Regulations, as will be shown by the following extract taken from the official debates in the House of Assembly during the session of 1923 when he went on record as follows:
 "The position that I occupy in the Government is an important one and a strong one. When I propose regulations in connection with our cod-fishery, and the Government is not prepared to accept them, then I will walk out of the Government. . . . I am not going to allow anyone to dictate to me what my duties are and when I made up my mind to make regulations governing the price of fish, I intended to put them through."
 Mr. Coaker did make up his mind to force his celebrated Fish Regulations despite the efforts of the Opposition, and some members of the Government to oppose him in this matter. Mr. Coaker's determination cost this Colony millions of dollars loss. It was these regulations and Mr. Coaker's spiteful conduct that drove the first wedge of depression and despair into the prosperous days that prevailed up to that day. It was these regulations that caused the crumbling of the time-honored business institutions in St. John's and throughout the Colony. It was these regulations and Mr. Coaker's spleen that beggared the West Coast districts. It was these regulations and Mr. Coaker's personal hatred of St. John's that drove many of the principal business men in Conception Bay into bankruptcy. It was these same regulations that set St. John's back to the days of the Crash. It was these same regulations that applied the whip wherewith thousands of our people were forced to pack up their belongings and flee the country to start life anew in Bermuda, Canada and United States. It was these same regulations that drove the mechanics from their workshops and the laborers from their daily employment to work for a miserable wage breaking rocks for Government dole, and prevented the war veteran from receiving his just demands from the country. First, last and always it was these regulations that have brought the Colony in the condition it is to-day, from which state only a safe, sane, clean administration can help recovery. Don't trust the Humber Deal, with Coaker and Squires, if you want it to be a success and a good proposition for Newfoundland. It is better in the hands of a government of successful men under the leadership of Mr. John R. Bennett. Away with the menace of Coakerism for all time.

SPENCER DEFEATS MERCY CONVENT.
 On Saturday morning there took place in the Prince's Rink the second girls' hockey match for the season, when Spencer met and defeated the Mercy Convent by a score of 6-3. Some excellent play was witnessed by the few spectators that attended the match and at times the girls showed that at this game they were quite the equals of their brothers. The first period, of fifteen minutes duration, showed that the Mercy girls were intent upon winning the game, and they soon notched up the first goal of the game, scored by Rose Berrigan. For some time play was evenly divided until at last the Spencer star, Dorothy Sellars, evened up the score. The second period showed some very good play and was in progress for some time when Mary Power of the Mercy scored. The goal was quickly evened by a shot from Capt. Sybil Chalker of the Spencers. The last period opened with some excellent play on the part of the Spencers, Ethel Johnston. Here it was that the Spencer team got the victory, when Dot Sellars added two more to her list and Jean Hutchings and Amelia Crawford one each.
NOTES ON THE GAME.
 We regret to say that during the game the latter player suffered a rather painful accident, in that she took a blow of a stick on her wrist and broke a small bone. This accident, though very painful, was not serious and thanks to the plucky spirit in which it was taken, did not interfere with the progress of the game. We also regret to learn that one of her opponents, Molly Kelly, also got a blow from a stick which injured her hand. Special mention must be made of Rose Berrigan, Mary Power, and Molly Kelly of the Mercy team, and Dot Sellars, Sybil Chalker, Joan Hutchings and Marion Wood of the Spencer. These showed great skill in handling the stick and proved to be very good on their blades. It will be remembered that Dot Sellars is the holder for the second year in succession of the Ladies' Skating Championship for the 1-2 and 1-4 mile. The game was refereed by Mr. Cyril Eagar of the S.B.C. team and he capably handled the post, which was one that required some tact. We might add however, that he appeared to be very lenient with regard to the "offsides."

Enjoyable Concert.

IN LECTURE HALL, GEORGE ST. CHURCH.
 The Women's Guild of George St. Methodist Church, held a very enjoyable and successful concert in the Lecture Room of the Church last night. Rev. R. E. Fairbairn, pastor of the church, in welcoming the audience, referred briefly to the excellent work already accomplished by the Ladies' Guild. He announced a sale and tea to be held on April 22nd, and asked for a record attendance. The concert programme consisted of songs and recitations contributed by many talented performers and was as follows:—Songs by Mrs. H. Small, Misses M. MacKay, J. Taylor, Mr. Karl Trapnell; a quartette by Messrs. W. Tucker, E. Fox, A. Williams and W. Herder; Instrumental Selections by Miss T. Power, violin, and Hon. A. News, cello; Recitations by Mrs. News, Miss S. Wiltshire and T. F. Halley. Mrs. A. W. News and Mr. Gordon Christian accompanied the performers. During the evening teas were served by the ladies.

Spencer College Club.

The ladies of the Spencer Club held their annual meeting at Bishop Spencer College on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Cherrington, Principal of the College, Hon. President, was present. The report of the Secretary, Miss Edith Edgar was read, giving the resume of the year's work done for the College. The members held weekly meetings, and provided refreshments, which made the club meetings very sociable and enjoyable. The Treasurer's report was then read by Mrs. F. Stirling, which showed the receipts for the past year the best in the history of the Club with a good cash balance on hand. The shipment of chairs ordered for the College Auditorium are expected by the next steamer from Halifax.
 The election of officers for the year was then conducted by the Hon. President, Miss Cherrington and resulted as follows:—
 President—Mrs. G. R. Williams, re-elected.
 Ist Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Samuel C. Thompson, re-elected.
 2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Reginald Dowden, elected.
 Treasurer—Mrs. Fred M. Stirling, re-elected.
 Secretary—Miss Edith Edgar, re-elected.
 Executive Committee—Mesdames J. Stiek, Noseworthy, George House, Piccott, Emma Baird Andrews, Fred White and Misses Calver, Worsley, Edwards, Earle, and Roll.
 Miss Cherrington then addressed the ladies on the value of a "Domestic Science" course for the girls of Spencer College and urged the great need of equipping the Institute with an up-to-date model kitchen. The Club in response to the appeal decided unanimously to devote their energies towards securing funds for this object during the coming year. The Club is holding a "young folks" dance in the College Hall on April 4th (Easter Wednesday) and a card party and dance on the following Wednesday, April 11th as a start to obtain funds for their objective, the installation of a domestic science kitchen in Spencer College.

 It is sometimes necessary in spring time to recommend merely a mild tonic laxative as a Spring Medicine, rather than more powerful remedies, and where this is the case, we suggest a few doses of our Aromatic Cascara as the most suitable medicine. Our Aromatic Cascara is prepared with great care from the finest quality of Cascara Bark, and is so skilfully blended with other laxatives and stomachics that it acts effectively, but without any griping or discomfort. And it is very pleasant to the taste. Price 40c. a bottle.

MAJESTIC THEATRE TO-DAY.

MARY PICKFORD Through the Back Door.

MAJESTIC THEATRE TO-DAY.

As the North See It.

(Twillingate Sun.)
U. F. M. LIVING UP.

Coming to the action of the Prime Minister in dissolving Parliament, the United Fishermen's committee intend to have candidates in the field at the coming election.

It seems that to gain fishery concessions, so that can be better equipped to gain a living, they intend to go before the electorate their platform advocating reform and concessions to that end.

Should the opposition consider the case and appeals of the U. F. M. committee the committee will, then, have the confidence of the people he needs to reform.

The present Government declined to hear the appeals of the Fishermen, now they may ally with the party which will hear and try to fulfill the requirements.

Mr. Michael Cashin has not severed his connection with the party, but has given up the leadership and is supported by his followers that he should take this stand.

However it is assured that he will give his full support to the Hon. J. Bennett, whose aim is to re-establish the fisheries. It is said he proposes to give a bounty on fish that will cure going away with the legal make.

This will better suit the buyers in markets and will be an encouragement to our fishermen.

RECKONING DAY COMING.

To sum up all the shortcomings of the Squires-Coaker Government would take a considerable time; and mean in figures should one be able to compile them. Many millions have been spent, with but little result and it appears that those who are entrusted with the funds of the Government are incapable of handling or managing each department of work.

How much was promised the electorate at the last election, 1917? How many promises were ever carried out? Yet to-day, again, they will adopt the same tactics. If the Humber project is a good thing, why was not the Legislature summoned instead of springing us headlong into an election campaign? It's a wonder the Government, by minute of council, which has throttled almost everything, hadn't settled, for all time, all measures that they were afraid to bring before the Legislature.

However, one thing is sure, the trustees of Government were afraid to show account of their stewardship since last session and fearing the U. F. Movement representatives, bolt all doors and apply for re-election, thinking this the only chance to pull up votes.

However, after the whirling and dancing, picnicking and gambling, comes the reckoning day, when the fullest account must be given to satisfy those who entrusted the custodians with public business.

It is said that two million has been put in Government expenditure. Now that an election has advanced, the once proclaimed impossible has now happened, if it has happened! This statement made while the House is closed may be taken seriously by some, but had the House been opened how much would have been proven to be real in principle?

The removal of the surtax is illegally done, as the Legislature can only do this permanently, and it is only a question of awaiting the decision at the polls and if elected back to power, on will go the tax again. Had no election been in prospect there would have been not even temporary reduction in anything; if otherwise, why await nearly four years? Many scraps of torn paper will be put in shape again only to be torn asunder again, pending election which is hardly probable.

STARTS AND FITS.

The Advocate likes to name everyone politically arranged against them as "Tories," and the failure of its vapourings almost give one to think that no other men or party but theirs dare come in the field for election. What a delusion to think that all are going to be frightened or bullied by such journalism. In this free country with liberty of speech and a right to walk the streets of Terra Nova, people who are even honest although "Tories," have a full right to use their own consciences, select their own men, name their own party and vote their own way.

How can the Humber project, or any important matter, be put before the electorate in a common sense way, any more than what is already flying through the columns in a distorted fashion now the game is on.

Will it be said that if you do not elect us you get no Humber deal? Like the Breakwater here. If you don't vote for Harbor Rock the money will go nowhere. This Humber Deal is twenty years old and whatever Government comes in, it may be passed, providing it is a good scheme. But the political footballs will have to be centered and kicked off in directions approved of only by those who pull the strings and the puppets of the Advocate jump in obedience.

FOR RHEUMATISM. MUSTEROLE AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

An Appeal to Common Sense and Intelligence.

In the present political contest it should be sufficient to appeal to the common sense and intelligence of the electorate on the absurdity of Coaker controlling the Legislature with hirelings who lack intelligence and experience and ordinary fitness for representative. Does it appear reasonable that this class of man is the one who would work for the general interest of the whole country. We all saw what Coaker did in 1920, when he introduced the Fish Regulations to strangle the West Coast fisherman. We know that he would attempt some legislation of a similar nature if again given the power of office. We know that Squires will be compelled to do his bidding and carry into effect the new regulations. He will have to do this to retain the leadership. It is no surprise now to find the merchants opposed to Coaker. The interests of the merchants and the fishermen are identical and Coaker is opposed to both. The Daily Mail cry of "Down With the Merchants" is now too stale a shibboleth to find favor to-day. The country needs supplying merchants just as the fishermen need supplies. Just as they know that it is useless to apply to Coaker for supplies for the fishery. From whatever angle you view the situation it is quite clear that Coaker is a menace and must be driven out of power so that he can do no more damage.

BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.

Dog Solves Mystery of "Hairless Monster."

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—G. C. Reynolds, a sailor, was exhibiting "the one and only hairless monster from South America wilds" to a crowd of seamen in a cold drink stand here last night and was profiting handsomely thereby when an inquiring dog entered the place.

The "monster" arched his back, omitted a yowl and spat at the dog.

Identification of the "wild animal" as a common house cat that had been shaved from its nose to tail resulted in a rush upon Reynolds by the spectators and the general fight which followed reached such proportions that the police had to take a hand. Reynolds was jailed.

"THE BEYOND."

Political Paragraphs.

The man who thinks that Squires and Coaker will win the election must be mentally deranged.

The sentiment favoring Bennett is growing stronger every day.

Bets are now two to one that Squires and Campbell will be defeated in St. John's West.

Cashin, Linegar and Hunt are the people's choice.

The Advocate calls Squires the Workmen's Premier and the best Squires can do for the workmen is to send them breaking stones.

The whole country is out for a change.

North, South, East and West proclaim Bennett as the winner. Bennett can't lose.

It is said that Coaker will have the fight of his life to retain his own seat in Bonavista.

It will now be up to the Daily Mail to begin publishing those messages from the Outport Districts.

Squires is dragging men out of their beds at all hours of the night to get them to stand for Ferryland, Placentia, Carbonear and St. John's East.

Bennett is winning all along the line.

With Coaker ploughing his lonely furrow at Port Union and Squires fighting for his life in St. John's West it looks as if the other Districts will safely default.

Day by day Squires realizes more and more that Coaker killed his chances of success.

It was a sorry day for Squires when he allowed Coaker to destroy the interests of the West Coast fishermen.

Burgeo, Fortune, Burin and Placentia and St. Mary's will get even with Coaker on Polling Day.

A vote for Coaker and Squires means disaster for the country. Fish will be unsaleable and workmen will be idle if Coaker gets back to power.

Now then boys, a long pull and a strong pull together for Bennett and Better Times.

Every labourer in the country knows that his prosperity depends on the defeat of the Government. It is surely time for a change.

No more Fish Regulations. No more destitution and no more Coaker.

The Government can't come back. The fishermen throughout the country are determined to defeat Coaker and Squires.

Hunger, unemployment, discouragement of trade and destruction of our fishing industry are legacies of the three years of Coaker and Squires rule.

The Government is doomed to defeat.

We don't hear anything these days of Coaker campaigning the Northern districts in the interest of Squires.

Coaker is so terrified at the change of sentiment North that he is afraid to leave Port Union.

The Northern districts realize that Coaker has been their worst enemy, and that in destroying the interests of the West Coast he has ruined the whole country.

Aye, Coakerism is lying slowly but surely.

The whole country needs a change. Bennett must win.

Squires is growing weaker and weaker every day in every way.

The outlying sections in the West End are turning over to Cashin, Hunt and Linegar more and more every day.

Three Bennett men for St. John's West is admitted by the strongest of the Government supporters.

It looks now as if Bennett will have at least 30 seats.

The attack on the merchants by the Coakerite organs is bringing the fishermen and merchants closer together in their common interests.

Wakefulness.

For those who fall asleep soon after getting into bed, but waken two or three hours afterwards, and cannot go to sleep again, a simple remedy is to get up and eat a good sized piece of bread and butter, thus engaging the nervous power in digestion, and returning to a cool bed when the piece is finished. If, on getting into bed, you are wakeful, don't "begin to think," but concentrate on resting brain and mind and body; draw the quilt over your head to promote drowsiness by breathing warm air, just as birds tuck their heads under their wings as a prelude to sleep.

ADVERTISE IN THE EVENING TELEGRAM.

Whitbourn Notes.

The woodmen have had a remarkably fine time this winter for gathering fuel. During January and February conditions were ideal for that purpose, and most people should now have a good supply of kindling. Several heavy falls of snow this month will make wood cutting and hauling much easier.

March though it came in like the proverbial 'lamb,' soon became a 'lion' and from the 2nd inst our winter seemed to begin in real earnest. February though extremely cold, was clear and bright, but March has indulged in some blizzard days, with more snow than all the earlier part of the winter, and frightened off all the trains, apparently. On Friday, 14, a train got through from Heart's Content, about 1 p.m., the first for forty-eight hours—a rotary plow, followed by a 'special' coming in from the east the same evening.

St. Patrick's Day brought a sudden and welcome change in the atmosphere; a fine mild day after the cold spell. Perhaps the new moon of that date may have been responsible.

The temperature here last week dropped to ten below zero, eighteen and twenty being the lowest temperature registered in February, we believe.

Ice three feet thick is being cut from 'Loch Leven Lake' and sold; a boon to those who have an ice-house or suitable place to store it against the warm weather. Mr. S. Sparkes is taking a large quantity.

Rabbits are very rarely taken in slips this winter. They seem to have forsaken us, almost, the past two winters, and are greatly missed. Now fresh meat cannot be bought locally.

Sunday's west bound express got in 'on time' yesterday, 18th, and was a surprise to some people. Many Moons seem to have come and gone since Sunday's afternoon express train came through.

Right Hon. Sir R. Bond returned from town on Friday, 16th.

His Lordship Bishop White is expected here sometime after Easter to dedicate a Memorial Bible for the Lectern, given to the Anglican Church by the branch of the Church Women's Association and a few friends, in memory of our fallen heroes in the late Great War. The Bible was purchased through the Incumbent from the Society For Promoting Christian Knowledge, London, England, and is beautifully bound; the names of those who gave their lives for King and Country being inscribed inside the cover.

Mr. Eleanor Jones, whom Dr. Chisholm ordered to the General Hospital, left for that institution last week. We hear the Doctors are hopeful that the Hospital treatment may prove beneficial. Mr. Jones has been almost a complete invalid the past three years or more. His many friends here hope for his restoration to health.

The S.P.A.'s framed picture, 'The Horse's Prayer,' now adorns the wall of the Anglican Schoolroom, and was presented by a lady friend of the school.

We were sorry to hear of Mr. Barter's accident some weeks ago, but are glad to see he is able to be about his work once more. —COR.

WEALTH.

You'll never find in the bank The wealth he's stored away; With millionaires he doesn't rank, But still he's rich to-day. For all along this busy street, Wherever he may go, From everybody that he meets He gets a glad "hello!"

With him the children walk along And watch him as he goes; The little fellow who's done a wrong Comes up and tells his woes. Even the dogs to feel his pat Will wag their tails in glee, And there's a sort of wealth in that, Though bankers disagree.

He owns the good esteem of all, Rich men can't own no more; He finds wherever he may call A welcome at the door. And though perhaps his purse is thin, His garments frayed and old, This kindly man is rich within— He has a heart of gold.

Here is a wealth you cannot trace Or reckon to a sum. 'Tis found on many a happy face, 'Tis light to see him come; 'Tis stored in grateful memories, And countless friends, and he Is surely rich possessing these, Though bankers disagree.

The Fishermen's Bit.

"Someone has said, 'He who draws a codfish from the sea gives to his country a piece of silver'; the thought being that the fisherman contributes to the wealth of a nation without any expenditure of resource.

This ideal is hardly correct, yet fishermen may be regarded as producers of the first order.

During the past year those of the United States contributed nearly $75,000,000 worth of 'silver.' Hardly an appropriate sum when tossed about with the huge accounts of some other industries. Yet what a tremendous figure this becomes when we reflect upon the loss of life, the suffering and the arduous toil expended in wresting from old ocean the dimes, quarters and half dollars which go to make up the glorious total."

The above, clipped from the pages of the last issue of the Atlantic Fisherman, causes us to wonder what the fisheries mean and have meant to the general revenue and conditions of livelihood in our country. Newfoundland has always been noted for its fisheries and they have been the staple industry since its discovery. Of recent years our cod fishery has been decreasing through the smallness of catches, low market price caused mostly by lack of control in the marketing of fish and consequent dumping, high prices of outfit and supplies, and the gradual breaking away of our young people from following in the footsteps of their forebears and their emigration to Canada and the United States to earn their livings with the beautiful bounty of the work done and without the element of chance which follows the fishermen. It appears that our fishery is being allowed to slide somewhat into the back waters and new resources in the way of mines, timber, water power, are being mooted and seem to be receiving most thought. The development of our resources is greatly desired, but surely there is sufficient room for their expansion and the successful operating of our fisheries at the same time. Newfoundland has, we are assured from time to time, vast mineral wealth, but it must be used and only used to the best advantage of its people and the good of the country, and there should be no repetition of the state of affairs at Bell Island where our great iron resources are being practically given away for the building up of foreign countries, the only remuneration being the amount expended in mining plus an infinitesimal royalty. On that score all should be of one mind.

To return to the fishery we believe with good fishing regulations, a practical standardization and a complete reorganization of our means of export to be followed by all exporters, getting away from the shipping of fish on consignment, and a proper control of cargoes so that each market will receive only its requirements, avoiding the arrival of several cargoes at the same time to a port with the consequent getting of prices and loss to exporters and fishermen, and the whole-hearted co-operation of merchants, exporters and fishermen, a lot could be done to foster this industry and bring it to its proper place in the life and business of our country.—Harbor Grace Standard.

Last Link Broken With Light Brigade.

THOMAS W. SHAW DEAD—WAS IN WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS CHARGE.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25.—(Canadian Press).—Thomas W. Shaw, who was believed the last surviving participant in the charge of the Light Brigade at the Battle of Balaklava, died at Victoria Hospital yesterday afternoon, aged 88.

Some days ago, the aged soldier, suffering from bronchitis, was ordered to the hospital, since that time no hope was held out for his recovery.

Mr. Shaw was born in Ireland and at an early age went to live with his parents in England. When 18 years of age he joined a cavalry regiment and at the outbreak of the war against Russia in 1854 he was summoned to the colors. The Charge of the Light Brigade took place early in the campaign and young Shaw was slightly injured some time later. He lived here for thirty-seven years. The funeral took place to-day.

England has Welcomed Lloyd George's Fall.

J. Ellis Barker in Forum Tells How England Has Welcomed a Change in Government.

England and the Empire have greeted the change from Lloyd George to Bonar Law with relief. The new Prime Minister is thoroughly representative of the best qualities of the English nation. He is a man of rare poise, balance, soundness of judgment, industry and character, and if he should keep his health, he may, in his quiet, unostentatious manner, be able to rectify the terrible mistakes which his predecessor has made, to replace chaos by order and to re-establish England's reputation for loyalty, reliability and fair dealing. I have had the pleasure of knowing the Prime Minister for a great many years, and I have every confidence in his sterling character and ability.—From February Forum.

The Screen's Most Successful Actor.

IN "WATCH YOUR STEP" AT THE NICKEL-TONIGHT.

One of the most successful screen stars of the day is Cullen Landis, who features in Golywyn's latest picture, "Watch Your Step" the main attraction at the Nickel Theatre to-night. Mr. Landis it will be remembered gave a marvelous performance in that great picture, "Where is My Wandering Boy To-night" which was shown at this theatre last fall. He also played a great role in the greatest of all "mother stories," "The Old Nest."

To-night's picture is a rural story with enough thrills to satisfy a lover of wild western comedies, and contains enough pathos to soothe the laughs. All in all it is a picture well worth seeing.

Health Hints.

If you cannot sleep through the air being close, put a dish of cold water under the bed, and with the cooler air sleep will come.

A powder strongly recommended to relieve tender or burning feet consists of five ounces powdered chalk, three-quarters ounce of oxide of zinc, 30 drops of eucalyptus oil, mixed together. Dust the inside of the stockings with the powder.

To cure blackheads, eat fruit and vegetables freely, and use liquid salts to purify the blood. Mix one part flowers of sulphur with two parts ordinary lard, put in a jar, and apply to the affected parts when going to bed.

Warm olive oil massaged well into the scalp the day before washing the hair is a cure for dandruff. A packet of rosemary powder mixed in a pint of soft water is a good remedial wash, to follow the oil.

To remove fish-bones in the throat, a lemon should be sucked. The juice dissolves the mineral part of the bone and makes it quite flexible.

Bennett will duplicate the trick in 1923.

No catch cries this time.
Present conditions and those of the past three years are too much for an overtaxed people.

Twenty-one months travelling out of forty is carrying the joke too far.

We want a Premier and a Government that will stay home and attend to the country's business.

We want the tradesmen back to their benches, business men busy and the laborers working full time with good wages.

Bennett Government will mean new industries, new business and general prosperity for all.

BENNETT, BETTER BUSINESS

BENNETT & BETTER TIMES. Successful Drama.

STAGED AT HOLYROOD.
Postponed on St. Patrick's Night owing to the inclemency of the weather, the five act drama "The Deacon" was successfully produced under the direction of Mr. John Hannon, to a capacity audience in the Star of the Sea Hall at Holyrood, on the 19th inst, the following ladies and gentlemen taking part:—Misses Genevieve Kennedy, Rita O'Neill, Nellie O'Flynn, Rose Kennedy, Madeline Veltch and Winnie Boland; Messrs. Herbert Kirby, Thomas Devereux, E. J. Veltch, Alexander Crawley, Harold Coady, P. F. Crawley and Walter Maloney. The players without exception are to be complimented on giving an excellent rendition of a difficult play. The scenery, the work of Messrs. John Hannon and Alexander Crawley, was a work of art. The different scenes being properly laid out. Songs by Misses Rose Kennedy, Winnie Boland and Mr. Alexander Crawley, were well rendered beyond the acts. A chorus by that troupe closed a very creditable entertainment. Refreshments were then served by the ladies of the Parish.—COM.

VERDICT FOR AFFIRMATIVE.
The Cathedral Young Men's Literary Association held their weekly meeting on Monday night last, a large number of members being present. The subject for debate was:—"That the hope of reward influences men more than the fear of punishment." The affirmative side was led by H. Hooker, while E. W. Best was the leader for the negative. Messrs. R. Morgan and H. Gardner supporting the respective leaders. Other speakers were Messrs. G. House, Latte Mitchell, H. Smith, H. G. Ford, S. Gill, H. Smith and Wm. Haynes. On the vote being taken the affirmative side won by a small majority. Next week, being Holy Week, the Association will not meet, the scheduled session being set for Wednesday, April 4th. The usual Wednesday night meeting will be held after Easter.

Shipping.

Schr. Little Stephano arrived at San Lucar on the 19th inst, after a good passage down. The Little Stephano loaded fish at this port for Messrs. A. E. Hickman, Co., Ltd.
S.S. Vedamore, 21 days from Liverpool, arrived here yesterday forenoon. The ship encountered considerable ice off the coast, but came through without sustaining damage. The Vedamore brought a large cargo and mail.

Household Hints.

The colder eggs are the quicker they will boil.
Silk dries quickly and should be ironed extra damp.
Lace should be ironed when damp, and over muslin.
When measuring syrup, or any sticky substance, avoid waste by dipping the cup in boiling water.
To brighten gilt frames, put enough flowers of sulphur into a pint and a half of water to tinge it golden, and boil five bruised onions in this. Strain off the liquid, and when cold apply with a soft brush to any gilding that needs brightening or restoring.
To prevent a string dish mop from becoming untied, wax a long piece of long twine thoroughly, wind it twice round the mop and draw it tight about the groove in the stick. Tie it as tightly as possible, putting the end of the twine through twice, so that it will not slip. Wrap it round twice again, and tie in another place.
When making buttonholes in any loosely woven material, one is often annoyed and the work is anything but neat because of the fraying of the material. Mark the position and the exact size of the buttonhole with one long stitch of thread. Machine with a fine stitch as close to the thread as possible. Remove the thread, and cut the hole in the centre of the rows of stitching. Quickly whip the buttonhole with a thin cotton thread, and finally button-stitch.

To all Concerned.

This Company will endeavor as far as possible to forward all freight via North Sydney and Port aux Basques, but reserves the right, whenever circumstances in the opinion of the Company require it, to forward freight, originally billed via North Sydney and Port aux Basques, and designated steamers—

Via Halifax, or

Via Louisburg, collecting extra charges over connecting lines, between North Sydney and Louisburg, and also the right to forward same by any steamer owned or chartered by the Company from North Sydney or Louisburg or Halifax, direct to St. John's, or Newfoundland ports other than Port aux Basques. SHIPPERS OR CONSIGNEES, WHEN EFFECTING MARINE INSURANCE, SHOULD BEAR THIS IN MIND AND HAVE THEIR POLICIES COVER ACCORDINGLY.

"RIM LAC"

THE LATEST THING IN OPTICAL SCIENCE.

Rim Lac on the edge of a lens greatly improves its appearance, leaving a smooth glossy finish which is most attractive, and prevents chipping of the edge, also cutting out the usual reflection of light from the edge of lenses.

MAY WE SHOW YOU THE ADVANTAGES OF RIM LAC?

SPRING OVERCOATINGS and SUITINGS

A $60 OVERCOAT FOR $48

We are specializing on the Spring Coat you require, and have it marked down to the lowest possible figure, consistent with the first-class quality of the material and workmanship. The first of the SPRING SUITINGS have arrived. English, swell effects; early choosers get the best—pick out your Suit Length and leave a deposit on it, and it will be put aside until you require it. Just a few $39.00 values left.
