CHAPTER XVIII.

"And if you believe in my friend Stretton, you shall do it," Kemp said quickly. "Everybody knows that I am not a poor man, and it isn't often that I take a generous freak into my head, but I do this time, and you know why! In business I'm as hard as nails, but for solid friendship you take a man of my nature. Stretton, the two hundred is your, whenever you want it, and you can repay me just when you please."

"Mr. Kemp, I—"

"There! I will have no denial! I shall feel happy if you will let me do you this good turn, and must insist that you do not breathe one word to Miss Moffatt—well, not until she is Mrs. Stretton! I'll arrange how it is to be done, and how proud the bride will be of her beautiful home!"

"He showed his teeth as he laughed, and slapped the young gamekeeper on the back.

"Good-bye for the present, Stretton, and a prosperous future to you!"

He walked back to the house, and the gamekeeper toward the park.

The picture that Kemp had held before him was positively alluring. Annette did admire beautiful things, and she certainly would feel the change in being transplanted from the manse to the cottage. Kemp was quite right. Annette was no commonplace girl. She was pretty and sweet, and deserved a lovely home-nest. The more he thought of it the more determined he became to give her a surprise!

He continued through the park until he came to Jones' cottage—the cottage that would soon be his home—and here—and his heart bounded with joy.

He quickly broke the news to old Jim Jones that he was to be pensioned on. Then he strolled toward a portion of the grounds where the stables had stood half a century earlier. The spot was now a complete wilderness of trees and brambles. A complaint had been made to the head keeper that the top of a diseased wall had crumbled in, and Stretton had been told to see that it was made safe.

He forced his way through the bushes to the inclosure in which the well was situated, and came face to face with Lord George Somerton.

Lord Somerton stuck his eyes into his eye, and regarded the gamekeeper indifferently, saying:

"Ah, my bucolic friend, aren't you the fellow I saw leave the library an hour since?"

"Yes, my lord," replied Stretton, though he strongly resented his lordship's manner.

"Holding a private consultation with Miss Sterne, eh? Now, see here, my good fellow! What the deuce can the young mistress of Blairwood Park have to talk to you about? Why does she forget her position to such a lamentable degree? What is the steward doing? The butler, or even the housekeeper? I tell you, young man, you run serious risks of getting discharged without a character. Miss Sterne is not responsible for her actions, as all power is vested in me and Sir John's lawyers. I can revoke any order given by Miss Sterne, and your recent appointment to the post of head keeper will not hold water if I choose to oppose it. Now, my man, think twice before you speak, and obey me, or your projected wedding with the pretty Annette will be a mere airy dream."

He watched the keeper keenly, and continued:

"In a measure you are in Miss Sterne's confidence, Stretton. Now it has occurred to me that if you continue in that very enviable occupation you can be of great use to me, secure a firm hold upon my purse and my affections, and your future and that of the pretty Annette will be assured."

"You mean, my lord," Stretton replied, "you mean that I am to betray my mistress's actions to you, while pretending to be faithful in her service?"

"Exactly—exactly, Stretton. I see that your perceptions are sharp for one of your class!"

"I do not know your power, Lord Somerton," proceeded the gamekeeper, steadily, "but let the result be what it may, I feel some gratification in falling you that you are a despicable villain! If I lose my position at Blairwood Park, I think that I shall be able to obtain honorable employment elsewhere."

"You are a blind fool!" sneered Somerton, "and I might be inclined to chastise you for your insolence but for the danger of this open well. Look in yourself in the future, my good fellow!"

He favored Stretton with one of his baleful glances, and strode away, leaving the keeper in a very uncomfortable frame of mind.

CHAPTER XIX.

To one of Elsie Sterne's proud nature it was bitterly humiliating that so much that was mysterious and unexplainable in connection with herself should have to be shared with one of her servants.

Still she did not for one moment doubt Stretton, and the more she pondered upon Mrs. Moffatt's strange actions the more she became perplexed.

Why should he visit Blairwood at so peculiar a time? Why should he come at all in secrecy? There was the chance that the gamekeeper had been mistaken, but the pipe that the visitor had left behind, Elsie had certainly seen in Colin Braselton's possession.

It was a most imprudent thing to do so soon after the unhappy events of the past week, and in face of the cruel suspicions that had almost resulted in his arrest.

"I cannot doubt him, whatever may happen," she thought. "I know that he is good, and brave, and true. It is possible that he, too, is for a time a plaything in the hands of a malicious fate. But, oh, Colin, why do you not write to me often, as you promised? Why do you not tell me all?"

She heard a step behind her, and Lady Helena's voice exclaimed:

"Good gracious, Elsie! I believe that you have been crying! Why, your eyes are positively red and swollen. What is the matter, child?"

She looked quizzically at the girl, and Elsie replied:

"Is there anything wonderful in that, Lady Helena? I have been thinking of my father. I am hungry for news of him. This uncertainty is dreadful."

"My dear, it is useless worrying in that fashion. You may depend upon it that Markham will lose no time in sending a cablegram. Dear Sir John promised that."

There was a pause, then Lady Helena said:

"You know, dear, that I am your best friend, do you not?"

"I thought that you were honest in your professions once," replied Elsie, coldly, "but I am not of the same opinion now, Lady Freeman."

Her ladyship flushed and looked displeased.

"I am sorry for this," she said, "very sorry; but it is all through Sir John. He had no right to leave you in so false a position. I am sure that he never really meant it, but—"

"If this is all that you have to say to me, Lady Helena, I think that the interview had better come to an end," was the haughty interruption. "It is not for you to criticize my father's actions."

Her ladyship became erect at once, and proceeded:

"You force me to be cruel. Miss Sterne, and I deeply regret that it should fall to my duty to have to inform you that the reins of control have been taken out of your hands by the executors appointed by Sir John the week before he left Blairwood for India."

She glanced swiftly at Elsie's white face, and there were triumph and malice in the glance.

"Do you understand, my dear?"

"I confess that I do not, neither do I believe it," the girl said, coldly.

"Then let me explain in the briefest and kindest manner possible. Sir John appointed two executors to advise and, in fact, conduct the affairs of the estate, until you were twenty-five years of age, or had married with the consent of both guardians. You were only nominally permitted to manage affairs. These executors were the rector and Mr. Grant, the lawyer. Owing to the rector's illness, a new executor has been agreed to by both Mr. Vellange and Mr. Grant, and one in whom both have the utmost confidence."

"Was" said Elsie, questioningly, "Cannot you guess who it is?" smiled Lady Helena.

"Yes," the girl whispered, hoarsely, "I think that I can. It is the man I despise and fear more than any other creature living—it is Lord Somerton!"

Lady Helena looked away for a few moments, she felt that she dared not face the wrath and scorn in the girl's flashing eyes.

Animals as Weather Prophets

Is it going to rain? Ask the cat; he knows! Will the water be wild and stormy? Watch the sheep, and they will tell you. Whatever you want to know about the weather, or the season directly ahead, you can find out by simply gazing from the animal kingdom information which is strictly accurate, and, in fact, infallible.

The power possessed by our four-footed friends to foretell climatic conditions and variations is almost uncanny. Whether our meteorologists are expressed in the collection and classification of intricate data, and making elaborate deductions that are not always so reliable as one would wish, animals—sensitive to influences we know nothing about—indicate by distinct and not-to-be-mistaken actions the exact changes in weather that may be confidently anticipated.

To reason the matter out, and try to discover just why this should be so, would be a waste of time. All we know is that they have been endowed with an instinct which the human being either does not possess or else has, but permits to its dormant and unresponsive.

Cats are known to be exceptionally good weather prophets, but their abilities, though marvellous, are limited. It is well known that they will wash themselves right over their ears when rain is imminent, and wander from room to room when a thunderstorm is approaching; but, after that, they tell us little.

Donkeys seem to know as long as twelve hours ahead when fine weather is to give place to wet, for they will huddle in weird fashion almost continuously. Bees, again, under similar circumstances, will hustle to their hives and there stay, refusing to come out again until they are certain of rain and sun passages.

Geese who fly about in frantic haphazard fashion, and appear thoroughly restless, may be regarded as proper weather forecasters, for we may rest assured it is going to rain; and ducks that energetically search for snails in long grass predict a shower followed by sunshine.

Spiders are very sensitive to climatic changes, and by their actions foretell the weather for twenty-four hours ahead. If there is a likelihood of wind accompanied by hard rain they will spin very short webs and work with frantic haste, but if, on the other hand, a long spell of dry, warm weather is in sight they work slower and construct much more elaborate fly-traps.

Ofentimes, when thunder is "in the air," a spider will tie in a kind of asaphetic manner in the centre of his web, but he will also sit stolidly when waiting for the flies to come along. If, however, the threads of a web be short when Mr. Spider is thus taking his ease, it can be generally taken that the atmosphere is going to be disturbed.

Peacocks will make their presence known in a very shrill voice when the weather, no matter if it be fine or wet, is about to change; and swallows fly high when it is safe for us to leave our umbrellas at home, and low when it is not.

If rooks fly aimlessly amid trees, instead of taking a direct course away, the barometer can be depended upon to fall; if they fly low before sunrise or after sunset a frost can be expected.

Seagulls indicate the early or tardy approach of winter by making tracks inland a few weeks before boisterous times are due, but sheep are able to forecast just what kind of a winter it will be. If they alter their feeding ground to the lee side of a group of trees, a hill, or any other form of protection, it is a sign that acute cold will be experienced, and field-crops are usually careful to cover up the entrance to their holes under like circumstances.

Almost every living thing instinctively prepares for the advent of frost, snow, and cold rain. Even fish will refuse to feed near the surface of the water when winter approaches, and will not be attracted to the most tempting bait.

Circular ruffles on the sleeves and a small free-swinging circular cape at the back give interest to a rich wrap of mink.

Over a straight skirt of black velvet is worn a straight, knee-length coat of gray moire faced with black fur.

The "rose" vanity bag, made of tiny colored shells, set one over another, is a charming fancy.

Cream that is just "turned" can be used for tea and coffee if you add a large teaspoonful of sugar and a pinch of salt to each half-pint. Beat briskly for a minute, and use in the ordinary way.

Pepper should not be put into anything that is fried, as it causes fritters, rissoles, etc. to break.

Never mix flour with boiling milk when making a sauce, but mix it first with cold milk, and your sauce will be quite smooth.

October.

GOOD EVENING.

October is an interesting month historically, although many folks look only at the foreman of Whittier. On the 5th October, 1534, the English was granted a copy of this book is in the British Museum. On 6th October, 1789, Henry Lind, the famous singer was born. On 21st October, we have the anniversary of Trafalgar and the death of Nelson, and on the 31st the anniversary of Halloween. Another great event of October was the founding of the Grand Coliseum, a market place for the people to do their shopping. There is a large and varied stock of Hosiery, Gloves, Boots & Shoes—Two Men's Suits, $22.10 per pair; Men's Grey Coat (Sweaters) $11.15

Is Perpetual Motion Possible?

Recent demonstrations have proved that perpetual motion is not only possible, but that it is likely to become a prominent factor of life.

This achievement is only possible by means of the harnessing of radium rays. The rays that are constantly given off from radium are so powerful and so inexhaustive in their effect that it is difficult to foresee what hitherto unknown ends they cannot be directed.

A radium clock, invented by Lord Rayleigh over ten years ago, has been operating ever since without having once been repaired or altered by human hands.

The rays that are shot out from radium carry with them an electrical charge. One ray in particular, the beta ray, is negatively charged with electricity. In the clock in question Lord Rayleigh achieved his end by taking a glass tube, from which all air had been excluded, and hanging in it a quartz rod to which was attached a small tube containing a tiny speck of radium.

Secrets of Long Life

A man who desires to live to be one hundred should marry early, refrain from indoor dancing, should not be an athlete, and be neither rich nor poor, according to an address made in Chicago by Albert M. Johnson, president of the National Life Insurance Company, before several hundred Boy Scouts.

Mr. Johnson said these maxims were reached by his company following statistical computation of results from a survey on longevity under modern conditions.

Stretch Your Neck. "Our statistics show, when compiled and averaged," said Mr. Johnson, "that husbands live longer than bachelors because of their more regular habits. Actors and actresses are handicapped by long and hard hours. Heart strain is too common in the athlete. Persons earning between $400 and $1,200 a year live longer. This probably is due to the fact that moderate incomes do not give enough for dissipation but are adequate for comfort and sensible living. "Stretch your neck up. Short-necked people are better subjects of apoplexy. Stretching your neck gives the blood vessels there less chance to clog. Take mild exercise daily, regularly, and not intermittently or savagely."

There is much less drunkenness in London nowadays than there was when Mr. Pett Ridge first knew it. The alteration in drinking habits gives colour to the story of the man who applied for a situation as chucker-out at a public-house.

"Chucker-out" echoed the publican, glancing moodily at his empty saloon bar. "I don't want no chucker-out. What I need is a chucker-in!"

necked people are better subjects of apoplexy. Stretching your neck gives the blood vessels there less chance to clog. Take mild exercise daily, regularly, and not intermittently or savagely."

HEALTH

Keep your health. Always keep Minard's handy. The universal remedy for every ill.

Mr. Plowden, the magistrate, once mentioned to a woman at dinner that he had written a book called "Grains of Chaff." "I see," she said readily. "Picked up by the beak." Plowden could not understand why he had missed this obvious sub-title.

Cheap? Why, Certainly, But, They're Cheap too Often. Made to sell. Not to wear.

THE SHOE AND LEATHER MANUFACTURERS of Newfoundland urge upon the attention of the public the fact that job lots of Women's Boots have been imported into this country accompanied by invoices certifying their first cost as 75c. per pair.

It is well for the purchaser to know that the PRODUCTION OF A WOMAN'S BOOT OF FIRST CLASS MATERIAL AND AT THAT PRICE IS AN UTTER IMPOSSIBILITY.

Such Women's Boots, invoiced at 75c. per pair would pay 39c. duty. Add freight at 10c. per pair and the total landed cost is $1.24.

Now note this further fact. The Duty on materials imported for the local manufacture of Women's Boots figures out at the rate of 60c. per pair.

The labor cost of such boots in local factories is at the rate of 70c. per pair.

That is, the duty and the labor costs in connection with the local manufacture of Women's Boots, and exclusive of the cost of the imported materials, represents $1.30 per pair.

Yet, the total landed cost of the imported article of foreign manufacture is $1.24 per pair.

What is the explanation? Not the cost of Local Labour, because boot and shoe workers in local factories are paid rather less than men engaged in similar work in foreign factories.

Material, then? Let's see. THE LOCAL MANUFACTURER BACKS HIS GOODS WITH A GUARANTEE THAT THEY ARE PRODUCED BY SKILLED WORKERS FROM THE VERY BEST MATERIAL PROCURABLE.

But, the imported article here dealt with is admittedly not of such first class materials. Foreign circulars to which we have referred and from which we have quoted, show that such imported boots and shoes are for the most part of inferior material, indeed are manufactured solely to turn this inferior material to account, to prevent it from becoming utter waste in foreign factories by inducing Newfoundland purchasers to waste their money on it.

All portions of a hide are not of equal value when that hide is converted into leather. Take the case of a side of Sole Leather. From the side is cut several distinct portions and qualities known as Bends, Shoulders, Neck and Bellies. Though taken from the same side, one pair of boot soles may be worth 52c., while another pair is worth only 12c. Obviously, the 12c. soles cannot be used in first class boots. They are, really, not fit for use in any boots that have to be subjected to real wear and tear. But, they are used in much of the cheap foreign stuff imported here and sold in competition with first class local products. The soles used by the local manufacturers are value for 52c. per pair; the soles used by foreign manufacturers for making up cheap grade stuff are 40c. per pair cheaper as to price and in actual use are not worth making up into boots and shoes at all.

All the other materials entering into the cheap foreign stuff championed by some of the local retail trade in preference to superior local goods are similarly employed with an eye to cheapness of production rather than durability of wear. Moral—Shun it as the very plague itself.

COMMUNISTS THREATEN GERMAN.

LONDON, Oct. 25. Special news despatch says that an army of Communists is marching on Berlin from the country districts, and that in the Liechtenberg section of the city Communists are also assembling to assist their assaulting compatriots. Police are endeavouring to restrain the mob by isolating the gathering, but trouble is expected tonight.

IN UNHAPPY OKLAHOMA.

UNDERWOOD CAMPAIGN OPENS.

NOCOMA, Texas, Oct. 25. Senator Oscar W. Underwood formally opened his campaign for the Democratic Presidential nomination here yesterday.

FAMILY JARS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. Joseph Letter, prominent Chicago grain operator, has filed in the supreme court charges against his brother-in-law, Lord Curzon, British Minister of Foreign Affairs, accusing the latter with attacks on his good name. Letter claims that the British Minister is trying to oust him from a position as trustee of the estate of his late father, L. Z. Letter. Curzon is married to the complainant's sister.

THE EX-KAISER'S DREAM.

DOORN, Holland, Oct. 25. The visit of former Crown Prince of Prussia to his father, the former Kaiser, at Doorn Castle is being watched with interest, and many attach sinister significance to the latest activities at Doorn. Visits from military officers and attaches from Germany lead some to believe, that the situation in Germany is encouraging Royalists to hope for a return of their supremacy. It is known that Wilhelm has called in buyers from Doorn to dispose of considerable furniture, tapestries and parts of his wardrobe. The guard on Doorn Castle has been doubled and authorities are watching every move.

All Planes Dwarf

IN COMPARISON WITH BIG BARLING BOMBER.

DAYTON, O.--(A.P.)--The Barling bomber is the largest airplane. The Martin bomber, the largest airplane in use by the air service before the advent of the Barling, is a pigmy compared with it. The Barling soon is to make a tour of the country. The exact itinerary has not yet been announced, but the machine will be at New York, the latter part of October.

The Barling has a wing spread of 120 feet, a height of 23 feet and an overall length of 65 feet.

The gasoline capacity is six tons, or 2,000 gallons. The oil capacity is 1,366 pounds or 181 gallons.

Six Liberty engines are required to power the Barling.

The minimum crew required to operate the Barling consists of four men but provision is made for a crew of eight.

The weight of the airplane loaded will exceed 40,000 pounds. Specifications require that not more than 5,000 pounds of bombs shall be carried at one time, but when anything so large as a 10,000 pound bomb developed the Barling could lift it and fly for two hours.

Specifications required a flying speed of 90 miles per hour. On her initial flight the Barling accomplished 93 miles per hour without difficulty.

With 2,000 gallons of gasoline, 12 hours flight at full speed can be made. With engines throttled or some of them cut off completely, the time flight can be considerably lengthened.

A total of seven guns operated from five positions or cockpits cover the whole field in which enemy aircraft may approach. The gun de-act may approach. The gun de-act, in case the airplane is used for day as well as night bombing, for which it is planned.

The tail is a biplane structure, forming two planes 25 per cent. larger than the main wings of the D-24 airplane. There are four equal-sized rudders.

The Barling has eight wheels with tires 60x12 inches, the largest ever made. Two wheels with smaller tires are on a truck further forward under the fuselage to prevent the airplane from nosing over. A radio set has been installed in the bomber.

W. H. Barling, designer of the Barling bomber speaking of the purposes of such an airplane, says:

"Two elements have influenced the U.S. air force in investing the expenditures absorbed in the production of an airplane such as the Barling bomber. These may be classified as the known uses of such an airplane and the uses not yet known, owing to lack of experience with large airplanes."

When a large airplane is spoken of, one of some 2,000 pounds, or four times the size of the Barling bomber, one which may drop two 30,000 pound bombs, is intimated. It is not impossible that such an airplane may be the logical development of the next 10 years, the Barling bomber being a step in that direction. Hence the Barling bomber is to be looked upon as a small big airplane rather than a big small one."

Mariner Blames Strange Force for Pacific Wrecks

LOS ANGELES--Neither tidal wave nor currents of seismic origin, but some strange force was responsible for the recent wreck of seven United States destroyers and the crash a few days later of the super-dreadnought Texas and the freighter Steel Seararer in the waters off Point Arguello, north of Santa Barbara, Calif., according to Captain Alfred Davis, a mariner of the old school who sailed his clipper ship around the Horn a decade ago.

The west entrance to Santa Barbara channel, between Point Conception and San Miguel islands, always has been in ill repute among seafaring men, said Captain Davis. Its nickname, "the graveyard of ships," was earned about the time of Cabrillo, who there lost his life and was buried on one of the channel islands, according to stories which have become legends. It is said at no other point on the Pacific have so many ships met disaster, and always the cause remained a mystery.

Captain Davis said he recalls many wrecks along the coast near Point Arguello dating back to the time of the mystery disaster of the Golden Horn. Always, said the old sea captain, those who escaped alive from the wrecks, when they escaped, have had the same story to tell, of suddenly becoming enveloped in a fog and then, without warning, crashing on rocks. Invariably, he said, the navigators had thought themselves in mid-channel, their instruments showing them to be on a safe course, when in reality they were miles from their course.

"Something unexplained by scientists," declared Captain Davis, "beckons the ships to shore, and every man who has sailed this coast for any length of time knows that something will get him if he doesn't watch out."

Premier's Old Sweetheart Witnesses His Triumph

ROME, Oct. 24 (A.P.)--The commune of Fredappia, where Premier Mussolini was born, recently acquired the home of his birth and gave it to him. He was present at the ceremony, and the people acclaimed him deliriously.

In the crowd was a woman still unmarried who, years ago, said to Mussolini as he wooed her with the impetuosity of youth: "We are both as poor as popo can be, and if we married we should only bring into the world beings equally poor to suffer and want. It is better that we agree to part." "By all means," replied Mussolini, and went his way to become prime minister.

Main Bye Election

E. E. HAWCO WINS BY SUBSTANTIAL MAJORITY

The final count in the Harbor Main bye election held shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, gave Hon. Mr. H. E. Hawco a majority of 373 votes over the Hon. Mr. John St. John, who was an independent. The total vote was about 600 short of that at the general election held in the city, which only 400 were polled. The count began at 10 o'clock and the first showing was at 11:30 a.m. The final count was received at 4:30 p.m. and was as follows:

Hawco	400
St. John	184
Independent	117
Total	601

The election in certain parts of the city was keenly contested, and for most part was fought on the relative merits of the candidates. There was little doubt, however, that Hawco would win. He was elected by a majority of 373 votes, a margin which he had given in the representation of the district. The Hon. Mr. St. John, who had been appointed to the position, was having been endorsed by his constituents, and it is hoped that the reforms which he has introduced into the Department will be continued.

Earthquake Etiquette

HOW A SHOCK SIGNALIZES ITS APPROACH.

By a JAPAN RESIDENT.

A frequent question to-day to those who have lived in Japan is, "Does an earthquake give any warning of its approach?" It does, but only in the evening hours, say between dinner and going to bed. Then perhaps a minute before its arrival, never more, the evening hum of the insect life of the tropics ceases, the nightly chorus of the frogs in the neighbouring paddy (rice) fields comes to an abrupt halt, and "all the air a solemn stillness holds." The dogs, too, will get up from the veranda where they are lying with every sign of uneasiness.

The shock is on one with all its horrid accompaniment of straining, groaning house timbers, smashing crockery, and the cries of the Japanese servants as they rush into the garden crying on Buddha and frenziedly clapping their hands to call the attention of the Great Deity to their extremity.

Then may be watched the water being jerked out of the spond—in-eritable of a Japanese garden—by the upheaval of the ground and the earth opening and closing round the cobble stones which border the pond.

Lazy Indifference.

But until the shock comes no foreigner, man or woman—if English—would dream of moving an eyelid. He might allow himself to murmur to his friend, "An earthquake, dear boy," nothing more. An attitude of lazy indifference is de rigueur, and perhaps 'tis as well. Not will a move be made then if the shock is horizontal and short. Then the movement is slow. But a vertical shock—such as the recent visitation—as if the earth was in the hand of a giant who had given the globe a vicious shake, is a very different matter. Then things happen.

There is not a resident in Japan who has not waited inevitably for the great shock which should level all things. And if a quake lasts a fraction longer than instinct tells that it should, in the light of experience, then eyes look wonderingly at each other with the mute question: "Is this it?" The favourite place of refuge and safety is the doorway. Many feel more comfortable under the billiard-table, but if the roof comes in, escape is less easy.

The Japanese believe that the earth rests on the back of some unknown monster, and that an earthquake is caused by the animal stretching himself.

Not a Poor Lad

REAL STORY OF WHITTINGTON—BLOW FOR KIDDIES.

A commemorative service on the 500th anniversary of the death of Sir Richard Whittington, four times Lord Mayor of London, took place at the Church of St. Michael Paternoster, in London.

The Deputy Lord Mayor of London and the Sheriffs attended in all the glory of their official gold, braid, fur, and fine cloth, with mace-bearers and attendants.

The celebration was impressive enough to aid the imagination to span the centuries and regard the famous "Dick" as a very practical, plucky, and noble citizen rather than a fairy-story hero.

Sir Richard lies buried, together with Dame Alice, his wife, on the south side of the holy table of the church.

A prayer was offered by the Rector for "all flesh who have departed this life, especially Thy servant, Richard Whittington." Sir Richard requested in his will the prayers of his successors.

"Then there was a solemn candle-lighted procession, 'ordered according to the dignity and ceremonial of the Church, very familiar to the godly knight, Sir Richard Whittington, when he worshipped on this spot.'"

The Son of a Knight.
Sir Charles C. Wakefield, an ex-Lord Mayor, gave an address, wherein was a wealth of information about Sir Richard.

Richard, the great exemplar, was not, he said, a poor lad as legend stated. He was the son of a worthy landowning knight, and his mother belonged to a good Devonshire family.

The important thing about Whittington was not his wealth and good fortune, but how he used it.

"THE TOWN THAT FORGETS GOD" at the Majestic Monday. It proves again that the wages of sin is death.—oct26.11

The recent theatrical slump has been paralleled in the past. Cyril Maude was fond of telling of an incident which occurred when his theatre on the Embankment was struggling.

The man in the box office wore the chartered air which comes when business is not first-class. At half-past eight, in staring gloomily through the arched opening, he saw an old lady cross from the railway arch; to his joy, she made direct for the steps of the theatre. She came in and, placing twopenny on the ledge of the box-office, said:
"Third single Victoria, young man!"

Millions of Shooting Stars

Though the earth has been subjected to an aerial bombardment during millions of years, it seems little the worse for its hammering.

Anyone who takes the trouble to watch a patch of sky on a clear moonless night will see eight or ten shooting stars each hour.

It has been estimated that at least twenty million shooting stars would be visible to someone on the earth's surface if it were always dark enough and clear enough to see them.

As a shooting star, or meteor, has to be a good size to be visible at all at distances varying from forty to eighty miles, it is further computed that this number of aerial bombs must be multiplied by twenty, making the number of missiles which bombard the earth during every twenty-four hours four hundred millions.

How is it that cases of people being killed by this bombing, terrific though it is, are exceedingly rare? The answer is that the earth is almost bomb proof so far as meteors are concerned. Its armor-plate is the thin atmosphere.

It has long been a commonplace of defence that sandbags are more effective shell-stoppers than concrete, and forty or fifty miles of atmosphere proves too much for anything but the very biggest meteors.

Wave a glowing stick about in the air and watch it rekindle. Then imagine a meteoric stone entering our atmosphere at the rate of nineteen miles a second, and think how long even the hardest metal could stand the friction. When we see them they are hotter than any blast furnace could make them. Their fine debris falls slowly and harmlessly to earth, and adds its quota to the world's bulk as meteoric dust.

The Court Adjourned

Lawyer, playwright, and poet, Judge E. A. Parry is also an admirable raconteur.

One of his best stories concerns the great Lord Mansfield, who "paid little attention to religious holidays." He once even suggested that the court might sit on Good Friday. The members of the Bar were horrified, and Lord Mansfield, who was in the case, bowed in acceptance of the proposition.

"If your lordship please; but your Lordship will be the first judge that has done so since Pontius Pilate!"

Weather Seer Predicts

Thunder showers and warm rains this winter.

Kane, Penn., Oct. 15.—William O. Altman, weather seer, whose advice has been sought frequently in the past by the Weather Bureau officials in Washington, made two important announcements here to-day. One is that he would in the near future make his home in Kane, with frequent trips to the mountain fastness, which he has long made his home, and then he told the people of Kane just what kind of weather to expect the coming winter. His forecast follows:

Nov. 15 to Dec. 31, cold rains and snows without any extensive snowfall indicated, although there will be some severe cold weather.

From Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, the open part of winter will occur, with warm rains and thunder storms, growing colder toward the end of that period. From Feb. 15 to March 31, cold weather with sleet and snowstorms will rule. There will be numerous snowstorms from the northwest.

The birds and wild animals of the woods aid Mr. Altman in his prophecies. He also replies greatly on his friend the much despised caterpillar. "Watch the birds in the air and you won't go far wrong," in his way of telling how he reaches his conclusions.

Mr. Altman on his arrival here had a big meal sack full of letters containing inquiries from every section of the country—business houses, shipping firms, industrial concerns and individuals of every rank and file. All wanted to know what the weather would be on certain dates. But the old hunter said all wanted information, but none were willing to pay for it, and he could not buy tobacco on public admiration, which, "though pleasing, didn't help all the harder, which oftentimes needs help."

One of the most pertinent inquiries came from the manager of a large apartment house in Philadelphia, who wrote concerning the severity of the coming winter, saying that he had found Altman's forecasts correct, and he wished to know how large a supply of coal to order.

The old woodsman said that he "had been pestered continually with queries for information, and the Weather Bureau officials at Washington wanted some of it, as well as others."

Dread Alps Collect Heavy Death Toll

GENEVA.—The Alps take a steady toll of human life. Every summer mountain climbers come to Switzerland to scale its peaks, and every summer sees a number of tragic fatalities. Many bodies never are recovered, for the devoted mountain climber often goes out alone to find his last resting place deep in an ice crevasse or at the remote base of a precipice. Accidents have been unusually numerous this year.

Recently when a Swiss bank clerk named Goetsch, noted as a good climber, failed to return, searchers saw his body at the foot of a cliff. A rescue party, led by a priest with 400 feet of rope, finally made the descent after 12 hours of dangerous work. They found beside the body a note saying: "Kindly bury me here."

The little funeral party rolled boulders and blocks of ice so as to form a mound over the man, they placed an ice-axe at the head as a cross, and the priest read the burial service.

Useful Hints

When a cake has been approached in the baking the unsightly parts can be removed with a nutmeg-grater, which does the work much better than the usual knife.

Dry a plated teapot thoroughly inside with a cloth and place a lump of sugar in it, if it is not to be used for some time. The sugar absorbs all moisture and prevents mustiness.

Windows and mirrors have a brilliant polish if cleaned with newspapers wrung as dry as possible out of cold water to which a little ammonia and laundry blue have been added. Finish with soft, dry newspaper.

To clean gold or silver lace, tuck it to a strip of clean linen, and fill in salt and water, one cupful salt to one gallon water. Dry on the linen, then sponge with a bit of white talcum moistened in spirits of wine.

Before starting to machine silk, crepe de chine, or any fine material, put brown paper under it, and prevent puckering. The paper can be removed easily afterwards.

Verdigris can be removed quickly and thoroughly from metal surfaces, etc., by rubbing the part well with paraffin.

its leading principle, which is Turkey for the Turks. Mustafa is a very clever and an approachable man, but it must not be supposed that he has triumphed in Anatolia and on the Bosphorus for nothing. He has consented to various terms in the Lausanne agreement which bind him to respect for European interests, but there are plenty of loopholes in that agreement. . . . The Nationalists are perfectly capable of reasoning in this way. "To get the Allies out of Constantinople we have consented to many 'unwelcome' things. They are out now. Little by little we will make ducks and drakes of the undesirable items of this agreement." Certainly it does not do to be too optimistic about this settlement.

QUEBEC AND TOURISTS.

Kansas City Times: The Province of Quebec is keeping track of its tourist business. Ten years ago there was comparatively little summer travel from the United States into Quebec, and such as there was reached only the nearest and most accessible resorts. This year more than seven hundred thousand Americans have toured Quebec, many of them going far north and into the regions unfrequented a few years ago. Most of these tourists, we are told, travelled by motor car. But the advent of the motor car alone is not responsible for the surprising increase in touring. To go back again for a ten year period, there were then practically no roads on which motor cars could travel with comfort in the spring and fall. But the Province has been putting through a great, hard road. It now has six thousand miles of roads that are just as good in the spring and fall as in midsummer. And the motorists have not been long in finding it out.

Marvels in Cold Storage

In Britain there is something like twenty-five million cubic feet of cold storage space available, and it is said that twenty million eggs and one hundred and fifty thousand tons of meat may be found in cold storage any day in London alone.

But eggs and meat are not the only items which are commonly kept in cold storage for longer or briefer periods. Fabrics of all kinds, furs and silks, are kept there, where, in biblical language, "neither moth nor rust doth corrupt," and where, even if thieves did "break through and steal," they would at any rate get a very cool reception!

Then vegetables and flowers are kept in cold storage. It strikes one as peculiar that flowers should keep better in an ice-cold atmosphere than in a warm one, but it is so. Flowers and fruit can even be brought from Australia and New Zealand in refrigerating chambers.

Stresemann's Past Experience

HELPS IN NEW DIFFICULT TASK.

BERLIN—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new chancellor of the German republic, is a thoroughly experienced catch-as-can politician. He is a ready stumper, and a facile writer on political subjects.

Unlike many of the German leaders who are heavy with degrees, long on political theories, and inexperienced in the ways of mankind, Chancellor Stresemann had much training in a practical politics.

He speaks the language of the ordinary man and makes extemporaneous speeches which are so terse and direct and so thoroughly characterized by a lack of big-law-breaking words that one would never suspect him of having passed through many of the toughest courses Berlin and Leipzig University offers aspirants for doctorates.

But Stresemann has had a lot of hard experience since he deserted the universities. His first job was secretary to the Saxonian Association of Industrialists. He became a deputy of the Dresden town council and in 1907 was first elected a member of the Reichstag. He was a long time a managing member of the German-American Commercial Association, and served as head of the German Association of Industrialists.

His work has thrown him with employers and employees alike. In the universities, he specialized in economic and history and in active life he has had abundant opportunity to study the basic commercial and industrial problems which Germany faces.

Stresemann has been a receptive candidate for high political honor for six years. He had an important part in the removal of Bethmann-Hollweg, and since that time his name has always been among "those mentioned" for prominent cabinet positions.

He was an adherent of the parliamentary system even when it was regarded as impossible in Germany, but he held himself in the background till the plan for the great coalition came to the fore. He was too canny a politician to let himself be the victim of an improvised government patching up without support from the more liberal elements.

Immediately after this revolution Stresemann became the leader of the German People's Party. Backed by the main industries, that party managed to gain a strong position. Stiness and other magnates stood behind it, but Stresemann had many tiffs with the purely industrial sections of his own group.

He has always fought vigorously for the unity of the Reich, but has stood insistently for an understanding with Germany's former enemies, even if heavy financial sacrifices must be the price.

Stresemann was born in Berlin, May 10th, 1878. He is above medium height, stockily-built, wears a closely cropped mustache, is erect and well set-up, has firm blue eyes, and carries himself with the pose and assurance that characterizes business men of wide experience the world over. He is smartly bald and has a large shapely head. In every way he has the appearance of a man of action who enjoys excellent health and radiates enthusiasm.

Finds Pre-Glacial Relic

WINNIPEG, Oct. 24 (A.P.)—A fossilized oyster, believed by scientists to be a relic of the preglacial ages, has been unearthed by A. G. Shearer, plowing the top of a hill at Pope, Manitoba.

Dr. R. C. Wallace, professor of geology at the University at Manitoba, stated that, in all probability, Shearer struck a rock, carried by the ice of the glacial age and belonging to a period millions of years earlier than the ice age, as there is now neither river nor lake near Pope.

"Brighter backyards" in the city of the Gardens Guild. Then lady-love and honey-suckle should blossom there.

Marine Locks Lift Steamers Over High Hills

Trollhattan Falls, Sweden. (A.P.)—Climbing mountains in a ship was the unusual experience of many American visitors to the Gothenburg exposition when they made the trip over the historic Goets Canal from Gothenburg to Stockholm.

Marine locks in flights of five or six carry tourist ships through granite hills from river to lake, until the canal reaches an altitude of more than 300 feet in the highlands of picturesque southern Sweden, and then the ships begin their trip down stairs until they make their way to the level of the Baltic Sea, and after a short voyage on the open sea, finally enter lakes again and slip into the back door of Stockholm through fresh water.

It takes two and a half days to make the inland journey of 350 miles from Gothenburg to Stockholm. The actual canal is only 54 miles long, but 58 locks are passed in avoiding the falls in rivers and ascending to the high lakes in the interior.

Fifty miles of the trip is through the Goets River, and here at Trollhattan Falls the canal passes around the celebrated falls which give southern Sweden much of its electrical power and are the seat of some of its greatest industrial concerns. Here is the great plant which supplied the Bolshevik government with 600 locomotives, and recently sent 125 locomotives to Argentina.

In the early days of the Bolshevik government, when Lomonosoff was in charge of the effort to re-equip the Russian railways, Sweden was the other industrial nations by Bolshevik leaders, who leered at them for their failure to recognize Russia and share in the great profits promised from participation in its rehabilitation. The Swedes insisted on having gold in advance on the locomotive order. Five hundred were finally completed and delivered. Then the work stopped although the Swedish manufacturers still had Russian money which had been advanced for materials. The Swedes altered the plans for the locomotives to meet the needs of the Argentine railways, and are to-day carrying on a lively business with the South American republic which has enabled the manufacturers to return to Russia its advances on cancelled orders.

The Goets Canal was originally begun in 1800, when the Trollhattan Falls were successfully locked. The complete waterway between Gothenburg and Stockholm was first opened in 1832.

BUSY SUCKERS.

WALT MASON

These suckers keep on sending their coin to sinful sharks, in spite of my unending-sage counsel and remarks.

These suckerlike civilians who want to me give ear are blowing hard earned millions for gold bricks every year. In vain the village banker expounds the safer plan; for sudden wealth they banker, and seek the gold brick man. Of unearned coin they're dreaming, and in their sleep behold the glittering and gleaming of bricks all filmed with gold. You'd think when once they've tasted the faker's bitter draft, their coin would not be wasted again on such a graft. Betrayed by some false mucker you'd think they'd quit, but no; the sucker is a sucker while he remains below. The suckers' hopes are builded on hope of rainbow hue, on promises so gilded they never could be true. The millions that are wasted would buy the suckers homes, with goldleaf neatly pasted upon the shining domes. The millions they have squandered would buy them rich sedans, in which they might have wandered in joyride caravans. The millions sent to fakera would buy them airships proud, and they might sail through acres of space above the cloud.

THE SPORTSMAN.
When you have learned to see another's side, you will find the victory you hoped yourself to gain. To bear your failure bravely and come in. And seek not to excuse it or explain. When you can take defeat with decent grace. As one with sportsmen you shall have a place.
When joy of battle thrills you to the soul. And when the game means more than paltry prize. And a fair fight is greater than the goal. And being true excels being over-wise. When this you've learned, and practice, come what may. Men shall respect you and admire your play.
When you can make mistakes and pay their cost. When you can fail and never blame your luck. Or give some paltry reason why you lost. Seeking to strike, can smile at being struck. When you can take from others what you'd give. You will have learned just how to play and live.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Harry Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic babies and children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.

No Corns

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. Stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in clear liquid and in thin plasters. The action is the same. At your druggist.

Telltale Symptoms of Woman's Ills.

Every woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness, irregularities, displacements, irritability, or despondency should recognize in such symptoms some derangement of her system which should have attention before some more serious ailment develops. These conditions are often evidenced by a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude and sleeplessness. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been pre-eminently successful in overcoming such conditions, and it is now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Rules About Rings

For a woman to wear a ring on the third finger of her left hand is a sign that she is engaged. If she wears one on her little finger, it denotes that she intends to remain single. A man wearing a ring on his first finger means to imply that he wants a wife. He wears a ring on the second finger if he is engaged, and on the third finger if he is married. If the ring appears on the little finger, he is determined to remain a bachelor. Rings carved with the heads of deities were used by superstitious ancient Greeks to ward off evil. Ancient Britons used the figure of Saint Christopher to protect them from sickness and food, and that of St. Barbara to ward off sudden death. In the eleventh century rings made of horn and worn on the fourth finger were said to afford protection against epilepsy; while a pure gold ring was said to cure pains in the side.

British Investigators Hopeful About Russia

LONDON, Oct. 24.—(A.P.)—The general impression has been brought about as to the recovery of Russia in the hope of the government of F. D. Roosevelt, brother of the British Premier, and the leader of a group of British business men who have returned from an investigation of trading prospects in Russia. Recovery will be a long job, Mr. Roosevelt continued, "unless the Russian government gets some outside help, but if it cannot, I am sure it can pull through unaided. It is working unaided now and the general economic conditions are not too gathered the peasant is fairly contented and, after all, he is the bulk of the population. As to the factory workers, they are all paid on a piece basis and are working hard. They did before the war. Each hand labor has to be done by the country having been deprived of mechanical aids, both with regard to agricultural and factory work. On our way from Moscow, we saw many men reaping with hand sickles. It is a sad sight. In Russia for agricultural machinery and also for all things connected with transport, both railway and motor. The Russians are asking for such things as sawmill plants and building materials, while there is a normal demand for the ordinary necessities of life. The Russians, as a matter of fact, want about fifty times as much as they are getting."

What is the Difference

BETWEEN A MONSOON AND A TYPHOON?

The first is regular, the second irregular—the word "monsoon" comes from the Arabic for "season." In this country we have as a rule a change of land and sea breeze. The land gets warm with the sun's rays, the air above gets warm with the heat, so the air above it is heated a vacuum which has to be filled by the wind rushing from over the cooler sea. At the land cools faster than the sea and we get the reverse process. The same thing happens in the sea only with bigger changes of temperature and greater spaces of time. The changes are seasonal and on a large scale. In April to October the land air is warm and sea air rushes in, and for the rest of the year the reverse occurs. The seasonal winds are the monsoon, the wet monsoon accounting for the tropical rains. The typhoon, on the other hand, is a storm used in the China seas for sudden whirlwind storm of tremendous violence and irregular occurrence. In other parts of the world a similar windstorm is known as a "hurricane."

Common Aim Best Bond for Empire

ROBERT HALDANE, BRITISH MINISTER OF PARLIAMENT, SPEAKING AT THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(By Canadian Cable)—Speaking at Edinburgh last night, Viscount Haldane said the time was coming when the British Empire would have to be made in the British constitution. He said he would like to see the British Empire united in the same way and believed the duty of the government of the Empire would thereby be substantially fulfilled.

Viscount Haldane, who was taking place throughout the night. When stability of relations secured it did not come from right but from common ends and purposes and common appreciation of each other's aims and interests. He said Great Britain and the Dominions worked together, constantly working each other and developing common ends so long as they were likely held together. The moment they tried to tie up the Empire in imperial federation systems, he would appear. There would be a written or visible constitution would be wholly inappropriate to the British Empire.

NO RETURN RACE IN ENGLAND.

Zev's victory over Papyrus taken as a lesson.

The American horse, Zev, won the $100,000 race at the Belmont Park, New York, Saturday, October 20th, from the English Derby winner, Papyrus, 60,000 people witnessed the race. The track was heavy and soggy after several days of rain. After a rather bad start, Zev overtook his rival before the first quarter pole had been reached, and thereafter was never headed. He had a length at the quarter, and led by practically the same distance for 1 1/2 miles, and apparently running well within himself. Straightening out, his mount, for the finishing drive, Earle Sande, gave Zev his head, and the colt responded with a terrific burst of speed. Papyrus fell behind rapidly, apparently tired and "all out." Zev galloped under the wire fully six lengths in the van.

Zev demonstrated that he was at home in the heavy ground, while the Derby winner seemed unable to run at his best on the soggy track. The Derby winner was shod smoothly, while Zev wore boots toe and heel. Papyrus seemed to slip at the start, unable to gain firm footing. "Papyrus was not at home in the going," declared Steve Danoghue.

The time of the race, 2 minutes 35-5 seconds, was not remarkable, even with a heavy track. Previous to the start Zev was favorite at 5 to 4, with even money on the English horse.

Zev's winnings now total $254,936, which eclipses by $5,471 the winnings of Man o' War, which had the previous American record.

A London despatch says: "Ben Irish, the owner of Papyrus, took his defeat calmly, but with tears in his eyes, when his family sought to sympathize with him he remarked: 'Never mind.' Then he poured out a drink for himself and the newspapermen who interviewed him, asking them to drink a toast to Zev."

Sir Edward Hulton, noted horse owner, said: "No horse has any chance to be in condition or fit to race after he has been standing on his feet and unable to take exercise for a week," and on top of this to race under entirely new conditions. Papyrus was not fit when he ran in the St. Leger, and was not fit when he left England.

RACE 65 YEARS AGO.

New York—Two Long Island octogenarians, who are believed to be the only men alive who saw the great match race between Eclipse and Henry in 1858 at the Union course in Brooklyn, the site of which is only a few miles from Belmont Park, were spectators at the match race between Zev and Papyrus on Saturday afternoon. They are James Hicks, 88 years old, of Oyster Bay, and Halsted Frost, 93, of Hicksville. They were the guests of Major August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club, who sent them tickets when he learned that they had witnessed the great race to settle the question as to whether the North or the South had the better horse. Belppe represented the North and Henry the South. Eclipse won and took the stake of $30,000 a side.

GOLDSTEIN GOT DECISION.

New York—Abe Goldstein, of New York, won the judges' decision over Joe Burman, of Chicago, in their twelve-round match at Madison Square Garden to-night. Goldstein substituted for Joe Lynch, bantam-weight champion, although Burman was recognized as the title holder in New York State. Lynch dislocated his shoulder yesterday, his manager announced. Burman weighed 113 and Goldstein 117 1/2 pounds.

Goldstein was announced the champion from the ring, although it later was reported that a meeting of the State Athletic Commission would be held on Monday to determine Lynch's standing.

A REAL FIGHT AT MONTREAL.

Montreal—With a broken jaw, a broken nose and a bad cut on the forehead and general laceration of the face, Eliear Rioux was admitted to the hospital last night following one of the most dogged and sanguinary fights seen in this city, a battle in which the French Canadian heavyweight withstood terrific punishment from Archie Skinner, a recent arrival from Scotland. Skinner was floored four times in the first two rounds. Both men were bleeding, freely and the bout ended when Mayor Martin ordered the officials to stop the fight on the plea that there was "too much blood." No decision was given, the bout being declared "no contest."

In the carded feature Joe Burns was given the decision on points from Kid Henry. In the preliminary, Eddie Boyle, of New York, knocked out Pete Campbell, of Scotland, in the first round. In the second preliminary, Pat McAdam, of Scotland, was given the decision over Bert Noonan of Halifax.

FIRPO FINDS MEMORIES GOOD IN HAVANA, CUBA.

Havana, Oct. 26.—Luis Angel Firpo, wild bull of the Pampas, Argentine tornado and other adjectives, stacked up against an under-sized clerk of Havana, and lost on all points.

Firpo, wearing a lot of fancy new American clothes, breezed into Havana unexpectedly, acknowledged the salutes of the towns-people, promised an interview and an exhibition to newspaper men, and put up at a local hotel.

Therein he made a great strategic error. Firpo had picked the same hotel several months ago when he came here to fight Jack Harman. The management, with no respect for fame, and disgustingly long memory, brutally alleged that Luis had left without paying his bill when the Harman show was over.

There was a stormy scene when the clerk faced the Pampas terror. "Pay or we'll call a cop," was the tenor of the clerk's talk. After some delay Luis dug up the money, and then in disgust threw it at the little clerk.

BLACKHEATH AND LONDON SCOTS CLASH.

London, Oct. 19.—The feature game under the Rugby Union auspices tomorrow takes place in the metropolis when London Scottish entertain Blackheath. The Scottish have gone thus far through the year without a defeat, four straight wins being their present record. On the other hand, Blackheath, who gave considerable promise a few weeks ago, drank the bitter draught last Saturday from the hands of Newport. At that, however, the issue is not at all certain for the "Heathens" have registered five victories out of six games and while so doing they have accumulated the tremendous score of 163 points in their favor with 32 against them.

Gloucester tops the table at the moment with six wins in a row and tomorrow they will tilt against Cardiff. The game promises to be good, for Cardiff are stern fighters notwithstanding that out of their seven games four only have been won. One was lost to Bristol and two resulted in draws.

Newport, as yet undefeated and promising to retain their title of Rugby Union Champions, play Leicester. Eight points only have been scored against Newport. Leicester's record is not imposing; three defeats in eight games are chalked against them.

Crosskeys follow Blackheath in scoring ability and 145 points stand to their favor with 30 against. Tomorrow they encounter Bath. The anticipation is that they will have an easy time since Bath have suffered defeat on six occasions in nine fixtures.

The metropolitan teams, with the exception of the London Scottish and Blackheath, have done badly and the table finds them decorating the tail end. Rosslyn Park has yet to win a game, but this may come tomorrow when they meet St. Thomas' Hospital, a team that succumbed easily to Bath last Saturday. Harlequins play Cambridge University. The Light Blues opened their season a week ago with a win over Old Leysians, while Harlequins, with four games gone have been victorious only once. They were defeated twice and have drawn one game.

In the Scottish Union, the battle of the day will be between the ancient Edinburgh rivals, Watsonians and Heriots. The latter are rugby champions of Scotland, an honor which Watsonians enjoyed for many years. The advantage of terrain lies with Heriots, for the venue is their own ground at Goldenacre. Glasgow High School, who have won five out of their six encounters and drawn the other one, play Edinburgh Wanderers, a club that is now catalogued as a good "has been." High School have run up 159 points during the season, which is still young, as against 17 registered in the opposite column.

Glasgow Academicals, whose total score in six games reaches 199 points with 20 against them, meet Edinburgh University. The latter, who have not yet found their stride, lost to Edinburgh Academicals last Saturday by 11-6. Academicals play Royal High School, a team which succumbed two weeks ago to the University by 11-18. On this comparative showing, rugby men take it that Academicals will win.

The Scottish Border clubs are, for the most part, engaged in Border League games.

A quick and easy way of cleaning paint is to have two pails of water—one cold, to which a tablespoonful of ammonia has been added, and one hot, with a little ammonia and soap-water. With a soft brush wash the paint with the soapy water, then rinse with the cold, using a wash-leather wrung fairly dry.

EMPIRE INVITATION TO U.S. FOR JOINT ACTION ACCEPTED.

LONDON, Oct. 26.

The British Empire acting as a unit through the British Foreign Office extended a formal invitation to the Washington Government to cooperate in the attempt to settle the reparations difficulties. The correspondence (made public last night by the reparations office) dated Oct. 16th, said in part: "The Government of the United States is entirely willing to take part in the Economic Conference in which all European Allies who are chiefly concerned in German reparations are to participate for the purpose of considering questions of the capacity of Germany to make reparations, and to appropriate a financial plan for securing such payments." The reply emphasized that the Government of the United States has no desire to see Germany relieved of her responsibility for war, or for her just obligations.

"There should be no ground for the impression that a London Conference if called, should have any such aim, or that resistance to the fulfilment of Germany's obligations has any support. It should be evident that in an effort to obtain the ends in view regards must be had to Germany's capacity to pay and to the fundamental condition of Germany's rehabilitation without which reparation is impossible."

PLYMOUTH, England, Oct. 26.

The British Prime Minister speaking here last night before five thousand delegates of the Conservative Party sounded a warning to the French Premier, M. In the course of his speech Mr. Baldwin said the government intended to lay down cruisers as a measure of unemployment relief. POWER WITHIN THE CRADLE RULES THE WORLD—SEE THE CRADLE.

By ALBERT DEANE. It has long been a world-wide and hot contention that the "hand rocks the cradle rules the world." Many other such contentions have been ruthlessly mown down in enlightening Twentieth Century.

The Child is Supreme. For it is the child—and to the mother her child is always a child no matter how many years of its life have rolled by—which is supreme, which is the power that rules the world.

ably dissolve rapidly and the man and woman, both unearring, drift their several ways to the aethermost corners of the earth.

And though even this tragedy may happen which has been blessed with the power wielded by the child, sooner or later the power will triumph over all else and bring about a reunion so fervent and lasting, that it will never again be broken.

The Child is Supreme. For it is the child—and to the mother her child is always a child no matter how many years of its life have rolled by—which is supreme, which is the power that rules the world.

Architect Barter submitted a report on work in connection with the new sanitary stables, Hayward Ave., which he stated would be completed within a week or two.

Who then can gain the truth that while the hand which rocks the cradle is a mighty power, it is the power within the cradle—and all that the cradle itself implies—which is the greatest power in the world?

Municipal Council.

WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and the full Board of Councilors were present. Very little business came before the meeting. After the usual preliminaries, communications were read as follows:—

W. A. Reid, Secretary of the Reid Mfg. Company, informed the Council instructions had been given to have all bills and posters removed from the electric poles throughout the city, and that the matter of painting said poles was now receiving consideration.

C. A. Bourne applied for permission to make an entrance to his building from Prince's Street. Same was refused.

Mr. Andrew Payne called attention to the necessity of having drains placed in Franklin Avenue. The matter was referred to the City Engineer.

The residents of Tessier Place petitioned for a light in their locality. The Council regret they are unable to instal any further lights this year, but the petition will receive early consideration next season.

The following are to be given permits, subject to the approval of the City Engineer, and provided the applicants conform to the Municipal Act:—Alterations, St. Patrick's Convent, Riverhead; extension, T. A. Hall, Rennie's Mill Road; alterations and repairs, J. Roach and J. Doody, Water St. West.

Health Officer Brehm reported 89 new cases of Scarlet Fever in the city during the past week, and two of Typhoid. He stated there are at present in Hospital 14 cases of Diphtheria; 22 Scarlet Fever; under treatment at home, 69 Scarlet Fever and 1 Typhoid.

The City Engineer reported that examination of the concrete conduit at Winthrop Lake was progressing favourably.

Architect Barter submitted a report on work in connection with the new sanitary stables, Hayward Ave., which he stated would be completed within a week or two.

The Sanitary Supervisor reported on the work done in connection with his Department, street cleaning, gassing drains, etc., for the past week.

Requisitions for several departments were acceded to and the accounts presented ordered paid, after which the meeting adjourned.

The Screen Sensation is Coming Monday

FLORENCE VIDOR AND MONTE BLUE FEATURING "MAIN STREET"

Florence Vidor and Monte Blue, two of the most talented persons now gracing the silver screen, have the featured parts in "Main Street," the screen adaptation of Sinclair Lewis' novel, announced by the Nickel Theatre management beginning Monday.

It is doubtful if any other story has caused such a ripple of comment as has "Main Street." Even now, several years after its publication, it has its hold on the people of these States. Gopher Prairie has become as familiar as a fairy tale, and a synonym for everything good, bad and indifferent in a Main Street town, while Carol Kennicott, the young heroine, now symbolizes all women with the crusading instinct who come to small towns with a desire to make it more realistic.

"Main Street" is the story of Carol Kennicott's fight to make the natives of Gopher Prairie accept her ideas, spruce up, become advanced, and in short, change into a big town.

Supporting Florence Vidor and Monte Blue in the cast are: Harry Myers, Noah Berry, Louis Fazenda, Robert Gordon, Josephine Crowell, Gordon Griffith, Otis Harlan and Alan Hale, Harry Beaumont directed.

Personal.

Mr. M. Godden, who has been attached to the local staff of R. J. Dunn & Co. for the past three years, leaves by the Rosalind Saturday to take over the management of the Sydney Branch. The departure of Mr. Godden, who has made a host of friends in the business community, will be regretted, but his many friends congratulate him on his promotion and wish him every success in his new field.

MURPHY'S COCOA—Loose cocoa, just imported, for sale by W. J. Murphy, Rawlins' Cross, only thirteen cents a pound. A snap, who'll be without a cup of cocoa. The cheapest on the market, call and see for yourself, and be convinced.—oct26, 11

Mrs. Coates tells one of her cooking secrets

"Few housewives know what a difference the milk they use can make in cooking," writes Harriet Ellsworth Coates, practical cook and widely known authority on cooking questions.

"When I first used Libby's Milk," she says, "I was delighted at the added richness, greater smoothness and finer flavor it gave to soups, creamed meats, cocoa and puddings."

There are 7½ teaspoons of pure butter fat in every 16 oz. can of Libby's Milk. The very same butter fat that makes butter and cream such great enrichers of foods.

That's why Mrs. Coates noticed better results with it. That's why thousands of other women, too, are using Libby's Milk in their daily cooking.

In fact, this particular brand is now quite generally known as "the milk that good cooks use."

Libby's Milk is not, of course, ordinary canned milk. Nor is it milk from ordinary cows.

Cow's milk made double rich. There are, as you know, certain sections of this country famed above all else for the perfection of their dairy products.

It is not simply because nature has provided these sections with ideal pasture lands, shady slopes and well-watered meadows where grass grows in abundance for the cows.

But the men there are dairymen. That is their business. They know the kind of cows that give the richest milk and they constantly compete among themselves to see who can raise the finest herds.

By placing our plants in these favored sections we get for Libby's Milk the finest milk in the land.

And we make it double rich simply by evaporating more than half the moisture from it! Nothing is added to it; none of its food values taken away. We seal it and sterilize it in air-tight cans, for only thus can we bring it safely to you who live, perhaps, many hundreds of miles away.

You, too, will notice the difference. Get a can of this richer milk from your grocer today. Try it in one of your favorite recipes in place of ordinary milk. See what wholly new richness it gives to your cooking. And what delicious flavor.

Write for free recipe folder. Upon request we'll gladly send you a copy of a new recipe folder which shows how good cooks are making richer dishes—and saving money—with Libby's Milk.

The Prophy-lac-tic really cleans between the teeth

The ordinary tooth brush merely brushes the surfaces

Prophy-lac-tic Tooth Brush

Proper care of the teeth means four visits a year to your dentist and daily cleaning with the brush that cleans thoroughly.

The Prophy-lac-tic does this on account of the tufted bristles and curved handle.

Prophy-lac-tic Tooth Brushes come in three sizes—adults, youths and children's; and in three degrees of stiffness—hard, medium and soft.

Always sold in the yellow box. Look for the name on the handle.

Distributed in Nfld. by GERALD S. DOYLE, St. John's.

A dismal-looking horse was being led to the farm by its owner; another man was looking on over a gate.

"Ever seen a horse in this condition?" demanded the owner.

"And," eagerly, "what did you give him?"

"Paraffin!"

The next morning the owner came by again, carrying the halter. He alluded to the conversation of the evening before.

"Gave that horse of mine paraffin," he said, "and it died."

"That's what mine did!" remarked the other.

Another great attraction is Harold McGrath's sensational story, "The Ragged Edge," which delighted everybody yesterday. She was ready for the greatest sacrifice any woman can make for the man she loves. In the prison atmosphere of the home from which she had run away, they tried to keep her from the meanings of love. But now in the peril-shadowed village in a far-off land where fate had hung her, she knew that the barter of her own soul was but a small offering to make on the altar of a great love. This is just a short synopsis of one of the most interesting tales you have ever witnessed on the screen.

One day the present Bishop of London was speaking about Bethnal Green.

"When I first went to Bethnal Green," he said, "the neighbourhood was a sink, a morass, a whirlpool of iniquity. When I left it, after some years of determined labour, it was God's own fair garden."

A Hattener, seated next to the Rector of Bethnal Green, asked whether this was a true description.

"It wasn't," answered the rector, "when I left there at half-past eleven this morning."

SOME UGLIFIERS.

"Never let your harsh lines that rob it of all its attractiveness."

Worse Than Wavers.

She is the sort of woman who would never dream of letting her husband see her in the modern substitute for curl papers but I doubt if they could make her face any less attractive than it is at such times and yet she never hesitates to tell these tales to him. In fact I think she makes a special point of relating all such triumphs to him. Jealousy is another emotion which can throw the ugliest reaction on a human face.

Resentment is another. I know a woman who has been very shabbily treated by some of her relatives. I sympathize with her deeply,—except when I hear her telling about it. And then the expression of hate that comes over her changes her so completely, makes her so ugly, that my sympathy dries up, and I almost dislike her.

Any kind of pettiness, such as social scheming, brings out the unbecoming lines in the face. In Charles Norris' novel of married life, "Brass," there is a description of a husband's feeling of disillusionment when he sees his wife's face at a time when she is planning to revenge herself on some people who had snubbed her socially before her marriage.

If We Only Saw Ourselves.

If people could see their own faces at such times they would be properly horrified. But the point is they never do. You may look in the glass when you have on a clay pack and hair wavers and feel the desire not to let other folks see you. But you don't look in the glass when you are giving way to meanness or jealousy or hate. And so you do not realize that the lines such states of mind bring out, the expressions they produce, are worse uglifiers than the clay pack and the hair waver.

To-Night's Big Amateur Contest

SPLENDID PROGRAM ARRANGED AT THE CRESCENT.

The Amateur Contest which takes place at the Crescent Theatre to-night promises to equal any yet held in this city. The affair will be conducted by the popular Dan Delmar and a rare treat in amusement is assured all who attend. Robert Shields, Baritone soloist, will be heard in classy renditions. His song entitled "Anchored" was indeed well rendered last night, and this together with another very pretty ballad will be repeated with to-night's bill.

Hints for Your Home

Fish for frying should be dried thoroughly and dredged thickly with flour before being brushed over with egg and breadcrumbs.

Vinegar is useful for reviving colours. Add one teaspoonful of vinegar to each quart of boiling water. Thoroughly saturate the article, wring tightly, and dry quickly.

A sponge cake always looks more tempting if there is a nice crust on the top. This is obtained by sprinkling castor sugar over the top of the cake before putting it into the oven.

When velvet is very crumpled, hold the creased part over a basin of boiling water, with the back of the velvet next to the water. The pile will soon rise, and the material look like new.
