Local News.
A tavern on the townline between Wilmot and South Easthope was burglariously entered on the night of Tuesday, and ten dollars were taken from a room.
PICNIC.—A picnic in connection with the Scotch Church Sabbath School will take place on the 3rd prox. It has not yet been decided where it will be held.

The silver discount movement in Guelph was very weak and sickly on Tuesday last. The Signal did not expect it would survive the evening.
On Thursday last a little boy, aged about four years, son of Mr. John Ray, near Waterloo, fell off a load of wheat and was killed instantly by one of the wheels passing over his head.

A young man was accidentally wounded in the arm by the discharge of his comrade's gun while duck shooting at Belleville, on Saturday. The limb had to be amputated.

Mr. Wm. Scott, formerly of New Hamburg, but now in New Zealand, has sent back an order for a wagon to Mr. Mercer of his native village. It will be rather a costly article by the time that it arrives at its destination.

A petition is to be presented to the Normandy Council at its next meeting, asking for the withdrawal of the present by-law, and the submission of others offering aid to each road, to be voted upon at the same time.

The engine of a boiler used to drive a threshing machine, burst on a farm near Chatham, on Thursday last. The wisecrack who attended it had fastened down the safety valve. The boiler and engine were torn to fragments, and a number of men injured seriously, but none of them mortally.

WOODSTOCK AND THE FAIR MALD OF PERTH, being Nos. 21 and 22 of the cheap copyright edition of the Waverley Novels, by Messrs. A. & C. Black, of Edinburgh, are to be had at Day's bookstore, opposite the Market. Price only 15 cents per number, enabling a person to get a complete set of the Waverley for $3.75. Who would be without them?

A celebrated author once wrote:—"A French woman will love her husband if he is witty or chivalrous; a German woman if he is constant and faithful; a Dutch woman if he does not disturb her ease and comfort too much; a Spanish woman if he wreaks terrible vengeance on those who fall under her ill-will; an Italian woman if he is dreamy and poetical; a Danish woman if he thinks her native country the brightest and happiest on earth; a Russian woman if he holds all westerners to be miserable barbarians; an English woman if he is of the nobility; and an American woman if he has plenty of money."

The proceedings of the annual Wesleyan Conference in England show that the great body of the Wesleyan ministers are opposed to any plan for re-entering into the English Church.

Garden thieves are busy now. Look out for them. They ought to be publicly scourged when caught. Parents are sometimes as much to blame as the thoughtless children, who are allowed to run about at all hours without check or hindrance. Our town constables ought to keep their eyes open.

It is said that the reason why the Howland-Governor bargain cannot be ventilated is because there is a lady in the case, and it would be ungentlemanly and ungracious to tell the whole story. This is really mean; if there is no proof, say so at once; if there is proof in existence of Mr. Howland having sold himself, as many believe there is, the proof should be forthcoming "even though the heavens should fall."

PIGS RUNNING AT LARGE.—A correspondent in town complains that our authorities are very much lacking in respect of enforcing the law as regards "hogs running at large." We are aware of several gardens that have sustained serious damages from the porcine race, who are ever determined upon doing damage; and a kick therefore can never be wrongfully administered. In many parts of the town they are parading the streets in large herds, no one appearing to molest them. What are our constables about?

THE THEATRE LAST NIGHT was but meagrely attended. The acting, however, was fully up to what it was during the preceding evening. The pieces selected were a "Minstral Scene," "The Jealous Wife," the "Railroad Scene" from "Under the Gas Light," and the farce of "Smith and Brown." Mr. Goodrich gave the "Charge of the Light Brigade;" Mr. Heron sang some comic songs, and acted to perfection "Our Country Cousin," while Messrs. Little and France danced a double Irish jig. Guelph not coming up to the expectation of the managers they have decided on leaving in the hope that their efforts may be the better appreciated elsewhere.

Wesleyan Methodist Church.
The Wesleyan Methodist Chapel, in this town, has undergone a renovation which adds very materially to the beauty of the interior. It was comfortable previously, but elegance is combined with comfort now. On entering the edifice the most noticeable object is the frescoed ceiling. The work on this was done by Mr. Elliott, of Toronto, and will cost the congregation $350. The colouring of the panels is a darkish blue, but the paint has been laid on very lightly; the bars which cross from side to side are yellow, shaded with dark grey, that gradually fades into white. Much pure artistic taste and a full knowledge of the effect and laws of light and shade are easily discernible on the first glance at this highly finished ceiling. The cove, that is the curve formed by the ceiling with the walls, is painted dark blue, and on this coloring are laid flowers of gold. Three beams which brace the side walls were aforesaid visible about three inches below the plaster, but so skillfully has the frescoing been performed that the most acute observer, standing in the body of the church would fail to detect their presence. The centre piece proper, that is the large one in the middle of the ceiling is principally of plaster, ornamented outside the circumference with circles of variegated colours. But it is in the two smaller centre pieces, one on each side of the large one, that the painter made the chief exhibition of his power. There is no plaster about these, they are entirely formed of color, and yet such is the shading of the flower in the middle—the nucleus, as it might be called, round which a number of rings cluster to make up the figure—that it is difficult to believe the work to be the painter's without first having been the plasterer's, so much do the leaves appear to be raised, or rather inclined to fall, from the ceiling. All the other improvements have been made by Mr. D. Gouck, of this town. The seats have been painted a light oak colour, the pulpit and the partition which separates the organ room from the pews appropriated for the choir, of the same color, but much darker. The raised woodwork against the wall in rear of the pulpit is a splendid imitation of marble, and the walls themselves are painted stone color, and lines of light brown traversing them from top to bottom and from end to end form squares by their intersections. The floor of the porch, the stairs running up to the gallery and the spaces on each side of the carpet in the aisles have all been painted white, or rather it looks like very light drab. The basement has not been forgotten, but has come in for a fair share of the general renovation.

The Wesleyan Methodists here may pardonably indulge in a little self gratulation that they have got one of the best finished houses of worship, as far as the interior is concerned, to be found outside of the cities. We believe that the improvements are due almost, if not entirely, to the Trustees, and in no inconsiderable measure to the earnest energy of Mr. F. Prost. The entire cost of the work which has been done will, we understand, be in the neighborhood of $1200. The Trustees express their entire satisfaction with the agreeable and efficient manner in which the contractors have carried out their agreements. The church will be re-opened on Sabbath first, the services being conducted both morning and evening by Rev. Dr. Nellis, of Victoria College. A collection will be taken up at the close of each service in aid of the trust fund.

Mr. H. Cochrane, of Montreal, has imported a cow of the Duchess family, tribe of Bates, which will cost him the enormous sum of $5,250 in gold, delivered at his farm, in the eastern townships.

ROBBERY AND LYING.—A despatch from Petrolia on Thursday says: A robbery and lynching affair was committed here last night. George Putnam, hotel-keeper, about removing from here, was robbed of $400 in his own house. Suspicion pointed to one Deighton, a butcher of this place, and his brother-in-law, they were arrested and searched, but no money discovered on their persons. Deighton was forcibly taken from the lockup by some of the citizens and conveyed to a derrick, where a confession of the theft was extracted from him, after having been suspended three times, once by the wrist and twice by the neck till life was almost extinct. The money was found as he directed.

An anti-Ritualistic meeting was held in Trinity Church, Montreal, on Tuesday night, at which resolutions were passed praying the Provincial Synod to take steps to suppress the practice complained of elsewhere.

Rev. Mr. Wall's Lecture.
In accordance with previous announcement the Rev. Mr. Wall delivered a lecture for a charitable object in the Rev. Mr. Hogg's church last night. The audience was large and respectable. The proceedings were opened by praise and prayer, after which the pastor of the church in a few brief prefatory remarks introduced.
Rev. Mr. Wall, who said, that more than three years had elapsed since he had stood in the same place to advocate the cause of the poor. He then thought that that was the last occasion he should do so here, for he was about to return home to that land which a relentless war had devastated. He found the country wasted, churches destroyed and congregations dispersed, yet amid all this desolation he had a firm belief that the Lord would provide, and He has provided. The lecturer was allowed to enjoy his ministry untrammelled, he had in the goodness of Providence been allowed to revisit the scene where many friendships had been formed, and the warm greetings he had received had made compensation for much of the pain he had endured. A dear friend had requested him to speak to-night for a charitable object. Delicacy forbade him to enter into the particulars of the case, but it had no connection with his visit to the town, nor was it for anything beyond the limits of Guelph. In every community there will be those always who will be dependant on the benevolence of others. He would not despise those born to poverty, their case is not to be lightly cast aside, yet there are others that demand a greater outgo of sympathy than these. He referred to the condition of those who had fallen from affluence to penury, and had to suffer in addition to physical wants the bitter remembrance of what they had once been. In the South there are not tens, nor hundreds, nor thousands, but hundreds of thousands who were cradled in the lap of luxury, now reduced to poverty and absolute want. Such cases are indeed sad. The lecturer enumerated some that had come under his own observation. Though the great struggle in the States had not been brought about in the manner he could have wished, though it had entailed such suffering and misery, one great result had been achieved—slavery had been abolished, and he rejoiced. Had all been of his mind the negroes would have been emancipated in another way. He never loved slavery, he never said that he did, but he believed that the time had not come for giving the negroes their liberty in the manner in which they got it. They know no more than children how to use their liberty, and although he was acquainted with some respectable colored men, by far the greater number of them turn their freedom to evil account. To the honor of the North be it spoken that they have contributed to the wants of their countrymen most liberally, and not a month passes without relief being sent. But we need not go so far to look for cases deserving of charity; we have them in our midst. They may be the result of improvidence or vice, or they may arise from neither, but from unavoidable misfortune. They require that the broad hand of charity should be opened, and that the spirit of benevolence should prevail. This world is one of change, and no one can tell how soon he may be reduced to a condition similar to that of those in whose behalf they were asked to contribute. The lecturer concluded with a strong special appeal, and hoped that when he returned home his heart would be cheered by the recollection that he had been in some degree instrumental in procuring assistance for a family in distress.

After a psalm had been sung a collection was taken up, and the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

MASONIC EXCURSION.—About four hundred of the Toronto brethren of the "mystic tie" paid Hamilton a visit on Thursday. They were accompanied by the Band of the Tenth Royals. At the wharf they were met by a large representation from the various Masonic Lodges of Hamilton, headed by the City Band. Lunch had been prepared by Brother Geo. Lee, and after the guests had assembled round the board an address to the Toronto Lodges was read and presented by the R. G. W. Secretary, Brother T. B. Harris. The address was duly responded to by Right Worshipful Brother M. H. Spencer, Dep'y District Master, Toronto. After lunch speeches were made and patriotic toasts and reciprocal cheers given by the brethren of both cities, and at half-past twelve the guests, with their ladies, were conveyed to the residences of their friends and brethren in various parts of the city.

In the afternoon the visitors and many others sought the beautiful grounds connected with Dundurn Castle, where they continued to enjoy themselves until evening.

DARING BURGLARY.—On Monday night last, Messrs. Clarke & Langley's woollen factory, at Bullock's Corners, was broken into by some parties unknown, and a quantity of manufactured goods, amounting to between $100 and $150, carried off.

On Monday fortnight an action was brought at the Bloomington County Court by a domestic servant, for compensation for being discharged without notice. Her master pleaded that after the family had been served for some time with weak tea the woman was watched, and it was found that she poured out the first brew into a jug for herself, and then poured the remainder, and took it up stairs.

When taxed with the offence she was abusive, and was at once dismissed.—His Honor gave judgment for the master.

BY TELEGRAPH
Despatches to the Evening Mercury
(BY CABLE AND STEAMER.)
London, Aug. 27.—A quantity of hay sent to Liverpool market from New York by the steamer Nebraska, brought at auction from ninety to one hundred shillings per ton. English hay, same quality brings about two hundred shillings per ton.

Constantinople, Aug. 27.—Admiral Faragut gave a grand banquet yesterday on board his flag-ship the Franklin, to the members of the Turkish Ministry and the Ambassadors of the foreign powers at Constantinople.

Lisbon, 27th.—In the Chamber of Peers to-day a bill for raising a loan of nineteen million francs was passed. The Chamber has also voted a supply of 500,000 francs for the fortification of the city of Lisbon.

Turin, 27th.—The Prime Minister, Gen. Menabrea, has arrived at Nice.
Paris, 27th.—The Emperor will visit the camp at Chalons on the 22nd of September. The sale of the Figaro newspaper in the streets of Paris has been prohibited.

Copenhagen, 27th.—The Danish Government has decided against the adoption of the decimal system of coinage in the national mints.
Pesth, 27th.—Advices from Rostchuz report that the insurrectionary bands have again made their appearance in Bulgaria, and several contests have taken place between the Turkish troops and the insurgents. The result is as yet unknown.

London, 27th.—Despatches from Rome state that the Rev. Dr. Henry E. Manning, the eminent Roman Catholic divine and Archbishop of London, is to be made a Cardinal. It is also reported that Monsiegnor Joseph Berardi will soon relieve Cardinal Antonelli, Secretary of State and President of the Papal Ministry.

American Despatches.
Raleigh, N. C. Aug. 27.—Most of the white U. S. troops are being removed from the State, and one or more regiments of colored troops are being concentrated.
New York, Aug. 28.—Herald's White Sulphur Springs special says, Gen. Rosecrans yesterday addressed a letter to Gen. Lee, in which he expressed his view of the present condition of affairs in the country, and the necessity for a speedy restoration of good feeling between the men of the North and South, and asking him to give a written expression of his views as to the best way by which the era of good feeling between the sections could be restored. Gen. Lee replied, exclaiming his reverence for the Constitution of the United States, and his ardent desire for a complete union of the States as of old, and also his unqualified belief that his views and desires were shared by a large majority of the reflecting people of the South, and that the South now panted anxiously for peace and a return to a peaceful and constitutional administration of the government, that they longed more ardently for the greatest boon of American freedom, the right of self-government. That the people of these States would treat kindly and humanely the colored people among them if left to themselves. Gen. Lee however was especially emphatic in deploring the attempt to commit the political destinies of these States to these colored people at this time before they are prepared for such a mighty responsibility, an attempt which is fraught with incalculable misfortunes and calamities to the whole country, and with destruction to these colored people themselves.

New York, Aug. 28.—It is reported that Commodore Vanderbilt has bought off the corporators of the railway on the west bank of the Hudson, and the work is now suspended. Owners of real estate who would not sell at the recent high prices, are now disgusted at the great decline consequent upon the abandonment of the road.

The Brooklyn City Railroad Company have within three days lost 10 horses out of 33, which were kept in one of their stables. A veterinary surgeon pronounces the disease one of the brain and spinal column.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT.
The following extract is from the New York Herald. Coming from a paper which generally abuses Britain, especially because of her love of conquest, the article is rather suggestive:—
All our recent news, full and satisfactory as it has been, only confirms us in the opinion which we have again and again advanced, that the cause of Egypt is hopeless, unless transferred from the hands of its present rulers into the hands of the English—the only modern power that fully understands the principles of colonial government. Mr. Disraeli has said that England is now less a European than an Asiatic power. A little more reflection would have enabled Mr. Disraeli to give England her true place by calling her a cosmopolitan power. Her possessions are everywhere—in India, in Africa, in Australia, in the West Indies, in North and South America,—wherever, in fact, the light of heaven falls. It is not to be denied that the Suez canal, so far as it has gone, reflects the highest credit on the enterprise of France. By means of this canal France has made Egypt her debtor to the extent of many millions of pounds sterling. It is, as it was intended to be, a magnificent offset to the great Central Railroad and the telegraph system, both of which are the result of English enterprise, and to a large extent even now under British control. The railroad and telegraph systems have long been a success. The Suez canal is as yet only an expensive but doubtful enterprise. It may succeed, but it may not. If it does not succeed England will be still more a gainer, and the pecuniary blunder in Egypt will be a more serious blow to the prestige of Napoleon than the pecuniary blunder in Mexico. The twenty million dollar loan for the Suez canal, sanctioned by the French Chambers, may yet prove a bigger sorrow for France than the now famous junket bonds.

Our plan gets over all these difficulties. England is rich. She needs Egypt. It is the thing for which she has been watching and waiting for several generations. Long before the first Napoleon made the oft-quoted statement that the European power which held Egypt was necessarily mistress of India, English statements know and appreciated the fact. The full opportunity of England has never yet come. She is rich enough to buy up the Viceroy, to buy up the Suez canal or any other property which France may have in Egypt. France ought to be willing to sell. England ought not to be unwilling to buy.

FENIAN CONVENTION.

The Savage wing of the Fenian Brotherhood, which, according to their own story, are the only true stock, have been sitting in New York for some days past. Savage speaks as if he found it even beyond his power to infuse pristine vitality into the decaying mass, for he says, that if he had known of the weak and chaotic state to which the organization was reduced he would never have been rash enough to undertake its management. Part of his speech as condensed by the Tribune will show how much less dangerous to an enemy than formerly, even he considers Fenianism. It is as follows: "But I accepted the position of Chief Executive believing in the fulness of my heart and the hopefulness of my nature that something might be done to preserve what I regarded as the only organization which has given true and proper voice to Irish wants and Irish rights. Since '98 the Fenian organization had become in its earliest days buoyant and powerful, looking to the great achievement, and it had gone down just as rapidly after the brilliant but futile attempt had been made in the early part of 1867. Nothing could stop the descent—no force of character, no energy, no labor. It was only the natural course of all things, making every allowance for the course of events. I still did not dream that the chaos was so blinding to one that had the spirit of '98. I need not say that I was disappointed on entering upon the duties of my office, but also I need scarcely say that I did not shrink from the encounter, although I felt unequal to it. Mr. Savage then mentioned the demoralized state in which he found the circles, and he said the unforeseen circumstances, broken promises and mistaken ideas of honor led to the disasters of 1867, and then this third calamity, division in the Order supervised, and Fenianism looked like a great funeral-house."

It is consolatory to know on such high authority as that of a respectable gentleman like Mr. Savage that Fenianism, which has for some years been the bugbear of Canadians, is not the countless host of desperate ruffians, one in purpose, as they are equal in inquiry, which it was represented and believed to be. Intestine dissensions have made wreck of an organization that if bound together by laws of honesty instead of those of villainy might have proved a formidable foe. It seems pretty clear that if danger is to be apprehended at all from the Fenians it will not come from a powerful and united body, but from a few desultory warriors whose lives have not been so useful that they cannot afford to lose them.

But Savage did not leave his followers disconsolate. He told them the organization had recently been springing up vigorously, and urged them to live for various purposes, which the poet had perhaps anticipated him in naming when he spoke of

The wrongs that need resistance,
The cause that lacks assistance,
The dawning in the distance,
And the good that they may do.

It was excellent advice, and amount to this: Always hope and you will never despond.

If the Railway Commissioners are appointed next week, it is expected they will be ready by the first of November to call for tenders for the construction of such portions of the Intercolonial Railway as Mr. Sandfield Fleming shall have reported on, and as may be approved by the Privy Council. The number of miles of contract to one individual, will, it is said, not exceed 25 miles. As the contracts will not be given out until about the beginning of December, there will be really no work done this year, except in the way of preparation for next summer's operations. It is said the Railway Commissioners will at first hold their meetings in Ottawa, but that when the railway works are commenced they will sit at Quebec.

It is expected the Privy Council will appoint three new Judges in the Province of Quebec. It is said there will be no immediate changes in Ontario, as Chief Justice Draper does not intend to retire immediately.

THE VOLUNTEER CAMP.—The Globe understands that the military authorities at Ottawa have adopted the suggestion made by the Assistant Adjutant-General, and the different corps of artillery and cavalry in the district will brigade in Toronto, possibly about the last week in September. The force under arms will consist of the Welland, Toronto, and Hamilton field batteries, the Governor-General's Body Guard, the Oak Ridge, Catharines troops of cavalry, and possibly the Port Hope and Cobourg troops. It is not yet determined whether the different corps will be billeted or placed under canvas, but it is possible the latter will be adopted, in which case they will, if arrangements can be made, be furnished with supplies from the Commissariat of the regular service.

A verdict of £70 damages, for slander, has been given by a Cork jury to a national school teacher who had been called a "Fenian," by the wife of a proprietor of mills in that county.

Ought the Silver Question to be Taken up by the Government.

From the Canadian Journal of Commerce.

We have watched with the most lively interest the progress of the silver question, and its course hitherto has not been different from what we foretold a few weeks ago. The very wide spread character of the movement, the prompt action taken in great numbers of townships, the almost unanimous concurrence of respectable merchants in the effort to get rid of the nuisance by voluntary organizations; all these things show how deeply the country feels the inconvenience of the present lax and irregular system of currency. This, to our way of thinking, is a strong and unanswerable plea for government intervention. The currency of the Dominion is in an abnormal state, and to restore it to a healthy condition, is not the work of a voluntary organization of merchants, however respectable and powerful. The nuisance may be got rid of in one city for a time, but only to appear with increased violence in another. Large consignments of the precious metal will be shipped from place to place to meet temporary and fluctuating demands. A dollar will have half-a-dozen different values in as many different localities, and confusion upon confusion only can be the result, until the silver question is settled by a government enactment, which we venture to suggest is what the commercial public should now demand. There are already rumors from different cities, which have embraced the movement for a time, that the compact is likely to break down, and besides, we confess we do not think that the settlement of a question of this kind should remain entirely a question of good faith, as between merchant and merchant. Where such vast and complicated interests are at work, the motive power should be something stronger than a voluntary written agreement, subject to a short notice of withdrawal.

Let us briefly reiterate the points of our argument as to the proper method of government intervention:

1. There must be a metallic currency to supply the place of the American silver, if that be driven out. To send some six or eight millions of silver out of the country, and to substitute nothing for it, would be to hand over the country, practically, to a paper currency—itself inadequate for the needs of commerce and daily life.
2. There is too much silver in the country, and too little gold. Hence the necessity of coining gold pieces, say $2 and $5, and of creating a demand for the gold, by making silver only a legal tender in amounts of $10 and under.
3. Let government buy the surplus silver coin, and reduce it to bullion, paying for it in gold or provincial notes, payable on demand, and charging the loss, if any, to revenue.
4. Let the preferences of the country, for the half and quarter dollar be studied. These are exceedingly useful coins—a daily necessity, in fact, if you take country districts—and should be struck in sufficient quantities.
5. Or, should the government hesitate to coin more money until the question of currency, as between the provinces, be adjusted, let them make American silver a legal tender up to $10, and purchase any quantity of it that may be offered, at par, paying for it in provincial notes. This will call out the American gold coin, and as the silver becomes scarce, gold will inevitably take its place, or at least the bank note payable in gold on demand. In support of this plan, it may be urged that intrinsically there is only a fraction of difference between the value of the American and Canadian silver coin of the same denomination, and that the alteration could be made at any moment by a minute of council, and could be revoked after due notice, if it should turn out to work well.

In one of these ways, it is plainly the duty of the government to step forward and to define the proper position of American silver in this country.

THE GUELPH POLICE COURT.

Before T. W. Saunders, Esq., Police Magistrate
FRIDAY, 28th.—Nancy Dolan was brought up for vagrancy and sent to look after matters in the goal for 21 days.
Arch. Thompson was charged with assault by his wife Elizabeth. The fight was a chronic one of some years standing. Archibald indulges too much occasionally and does not provide sufficiently for his family, while the haughty Elizabeth resents the neglect by chopping up the furniture and burning the pig pen. The Magistrate thought it would not help matters much by fining the defendant, and dismissed the case. The 4 children were in Court, and their mother took leave of them, consigning them to the care of their father. She said she had supported them for a long time, and that he might try his hand now.

Pig iron, said to equal Swedish, has been received from the Moistic iron mines, and railway car axles have been manufactured at Gilbert's works in Montreal out of iron from the same place, which seem to surpass any yet imported.

The Braes of Yarrow

An Historical Tale of the Sixteenth Century.

"For our Holy Mother's sake do not blindly rush upon disgrace," he said hastily, "the alarm has been caught up and the sentinels are passing the warning-hark!"

She listened; first, like the shout of despair, the word 'treason' passed from mouth to mouth of the alarmed sentinels, who did not know in which direction to expect the appearance of the enemy. Then, like the swell of the wave upon the shore, came the distant sound of the burst of amazement and horror amongst the masquers when the terrible word 'Treason' fell upon their ears while folly was rampant.

The festivities ceased upon the instant, and every man and woman regarded each other with suspicion.

It was only an instant Mistress Douglas paused to hear all this; and then she attempted to relieve herself of Gilbert's grasp. But she had scarcely made a movement when a tall man in the dress of a red-cross knight, with rizzor drawn and sword in hand, rushed forth from the Court. He stopped at the sight of Mistress Douglas and spoke quickly in a low voice, which Gilbert recognized as that of Arran.

"We are betrayed—Captain Lindsay with the Queen's Guard have taken our friends—Fly."

"The King is no longer in danger," said Gilbert to the lady; "and my sword is at your service."

"I know you no more, Master Elliot," she responded haughtily, and with a sad glance in the bright dark eyes.

Another red-cross knight rushed from the Court.

"Why do you halt here?" he said hurriedly to Arran, "everything is lost, and nearly all our friends are taken."

"Go you, then," answered the Earl resolutely, "and bid the Countess take heed to herself in instant flight. I will go back and die with our friends."

"Madness," cried the second knight barring the way—"our hopes rest with you—away, then, and I will guard the portal. I will keep them long enough killing me to give you time to escape. Away."

"For the King's sake, I again become your debtor."

Arran hastened to the portal and passed into the Park. Spens placed himself on guard.

During the brief colloquy of the two knights, Gilbert had dragged rather than led Mistress Douglas to a path which opened amongst the shrubbery.

"If you are not bent upon destroying yourself take this path," he whispered eagerly, "it leads to the Central Garden where you will find the masquers assembled. Once amongst them you are safe."

"I will not move," she said firmly, while the clatter of armour and the hurried tramp of feet rang in her ears, and while the rapid movements of the many pursuers were indicated by the red flashes of the torches through the trees.

"You are resolved to perish," he said calmly, "while there is yet a way open for your escape? Be it so, then; I will stay with you, and at least I will give back the life you gave me in defending you."

"No, no," she cried hastily, and as if awakening from a species of torpor, "that must not be. Holy Mother help me—I think I am crazed by what happened and by thoughts of what may happen. I will do as you wish—I will save myself. Farewell—good friend—for ever."

"He had no time to speak; she sprung from him and disappeared among the shrubbery."

He rushed back toward the gate and encountered half-a-dozen men-at-arms with torches, about to take the path by which Mary Douglas was escaping.

"This way, this way," he cried confusedly, "to the portal of the Park."

The men recognized him, and without hesitation, followed him. They found the portal guarded by the red-cross knight.

"Make way there," shouted Gilbert.

"You cannot pass here, master," responded the knight coolly, and placing himself in an attitude of defiance.

"Make way or we strike."

"You cannot pass here," was the answer in the same stolid voice as before.

"Fretful, then have at you!"

Gilbert sprung upon him and their swords clashed and flashed in the torchlight. They stood an instant, each as if waiting for the other to strike. The knight quietly raised his rizzor.

"Spens," cried Gilbert, starting and withdrawing his sword in amazement. "You against the King?"

"No, Master Elliot," said Spens coldly, "I am not against the King, but against you and any one who would pass here."

"Do you not see—defence is useless."

DOMINION LIVERY STABLE

GUELPH, ONTARIO.

H. MARRIOTT

BEGS to inform the citizens of Guelph and the travelling public that he has started a Livery Stable next door to Mr. W. Armstrong's Blacksmith's Shop, Macdonnell Street, where he can supply Butter brings from 40c to 48c per lb. at St. Albans.

Thirty-nine of the most considerable weight in New York and Connecticut assembled at a feast the other day at Greenwich, in the first named State, to compare the results of their year's fattening upon clams, oysters, and the usual accompaniments. A more solid body has not met probably in our time. It weighed in the aggregate 8,766 pounds, 4 tons, the prime animal reaching the healthy standard of 315 pounds, the smaller stock running from 200 to 250 pounds a piece. There was no disturbance at the festival in spite of the number of belly-gerents.

FEMALE EMIGRANTS FOR BRAZIL.—The Anglo-Brazilian Times, printed at Rio Janeiro, calls loudly for female immigrants—for women for domestic service, women for wives, women for manufacturing purposes. It says that there is a great scarcity of women in all the large cities and towns, and that almost any number could find employment at good wages. It appeals to the government to furnish money to pay the necessary expenses attending the importation of several shiploads; upon the Empress and Princesses to lend their assistance to the scheme, and upon the citizens of Rio to organize a society to look after the interests of those who arrive. An abundance of female domestics, it is argued, will materially assist in driving out slavery and all its moral evils from the inner life of families, and will attach foreigners to the soil, when Brazil will gain in population, labor, wealth, and general morality. Here seems to be a new field open for Miss Rye and other ladies who are engaged in the female importation business.

EXPORTS OF GOLD.—The exports of gold from the States to Europe have been unusually large. Since the 1st of January last there has been shipped from New York alone sixty-four millions of specie and bullion against about forty millions for the same period last year, and this has been the cause of the recent rise in gold to 150. Another cause, says the New York Herald, lies in the continued preponderance of the foreign imports over exports. Thus the foreign imports at New York for the week ending on the 21st inst. were valued at $6,644,290 in gold, while the exports of domestic produce were valued at only $2,773,635 in currency. Here is the secret of the gold export, notwithstanding national securities have been exported to such an extent during the last few years that it is estimated seven hundred millions of them are held in Europe at the present time. The agitation on the financial question which will attend the Presidential canvass can hardly fail to materially advance the price of gold, as the speeches of leading politicians of both parties appear equally likely to create distrust of the public credit, and operate in the direction indicated.

TO CONSUMPTIVES EVERYWHERE.—Having seen much suffering from consumption, and knowing thousands of dollars are yearly spent by invalids travelling for their health, and on medicines and physicians, we propose a simple receipt by which patients may become their own physicians, and if not too far gone, will guarantee a perfect cure if made and regularly taken according to directions. The ingredients are horshoed, mullein, and molasses—ingredients that are within the reach of all, the mullein growing wild in every field, the horshoed in almost every garden, and the molasses to be had at any grocery. The directions for making are to take a large handful of horshoed and boil as strong a tea as can be made. Take up, then boil an equal quantity of mullein in the same way. Take a cupful of the tea of the mullein and mix together in a suitable vessel, then add a cupful of molasses and stow a syrup—the thicker the better. Take a tablespoonful or a large swallow three times a day. Be particular in following directions as to making and also as to taking it, and we will guarantee relief in all cases if not too far advanced. The writer does not claim this receipt as original with himself, but has recommended it in many cases with good results. As the ingredients are so common and so easily obtained, it is best not to make more than a quart at a time, particularly in warm weather, as the fresher it is the better effect will be produced. Papers of the country will confer a blessing on this, alas! too numerous class—north, south, east and west—by publishing the above receipt.—Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel.
