DEATH OF THE LEADER OF THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Right Hon. William H. Smith Passed Away Yesterday—Speculation as to His Successor Will Be the Matter for Consideration—King Karl of Wurttemberg Also Dead—The Attempt to Steal His Throne.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Right Hon. William Henry Smith died this afternoon.

The death of Mr. Smith, who has unfortunately suffered, has caused the most profound regret in Conservative and other circles. Mr. Smith was one of the most representative business men of England, as popularly reputed to have a fortune of about $10,000,000.

Mr. Smith made a will in 1904, and it is reported that he was suffering from a great deal of pain owing to a recurrence of the cancer which he had recently had, and his condition was so favorable that his attending physician, Dr. Walter Carter, near Deal, had recently written to the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, that Mr. Smith was seeking to regain his health since his appointment as successor to the late Earl Granville and returned to London. This morning Mr. Smith's condition became critical and he died at 4 p.m.

The Right Honorable Arthur J. Balfour, M.P. for East Manchester and Chief Secretary for Ireland, will succeed the late Mr. Smith as Conservative leader in the House of Commons, if the influence of the government is maintained.

Mr. Gladstone's will was a message of condolence to the relatives of Mr. Smith.

The Liberals have decided to contest the Parliamentary seat of Westminister vacant by the death of Mr. Smith.

(The Right Hon. William Henry Smith, D.C.L., M.P., P.C., D.L., was born in London, June 24, 1828. He was a member of the House of Commons from 1868 to 1885, when he was returned for the Strand. He has been Financial Secretary, First Lord of the Admiralty and Secretary of State for War. In 1886 he was appointed Chief Secretary for Ireland. He was afterwards First Lord of the Admiralty and leader of the House of Commons. One of the latest honors to which he was called was that of success to the late Earl Granville as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports with residence at Walmer Castle. He has several times refused a peerage in the interests of his wife, who has a large fortune. He has been elevated to the Upper House before the meeting of another Parliamentary session.)

Mr. Charles was born March 6, 1823, and succeeded to the throne June 25, 1864, upon the death of William I. He belonged to the dynasty of the Wittelsbachs, which ruled in the Rhine and extending to the Black Forest.

According to the St. James' Gazette there has been a great deal of speculation as to the Americans who gain such influence at the court of Wurttemberg some time ago would resume their way, in which case it is understood that King Karl would be forced to abdicate had not Queen Olga undertaken to prevent a recurrence of the scandalous case which she had been ordered to prevent. The St. James' Gazette has been practically a prisoner in his apartments, as he was feared he would escape from Stuttgart and go to Paris.

Her refusal was broken through the interview and wandered disconsolately through the streets. As he was passing a crowd of people, attracted by a crowd in the way, and drawing near he saw men dragging from the corpse the body of his daughter, who was lying on the ground and figure seemed familiar. He darted forward, and the terrible suspicion that subsequently formed in his mind was confirmed—the body was that of his sweetest. On learning of her father's decision she had rushed from the house and thrown herself in the Spree. Engel was seized by grief. He followed the corpse to the house of the councillor and entering with the hearse he drew a pistol and shot himself dead, his body falling beside that of his beloved in the presence of the horror-stricken father of the girl.

During the same period the customs receipts declined 23,000,000 francs, due in a large part to the decreased imports of cereals, which were 230,000 tons less than in 1890.

COLD WEATHER PREDICTED.

Are We Going to Have an Early Winter?

The cold, changeable weather of the past few days is very trying on persons of delicate constitutions. A severe chill often descends on the system, and the cold is felt in the early part of the morning. During the early fall there is no article of dress so valuable as a warm fur cape. A lady can wear with so much comfort and at the same time protect them from the cold as the cape.

The accusation of telling a lie cost the defendant perjury. The judge remarked that it was a great pity that the time of a high court and a jury should be occupied by the hearing of such cases of foolish gossip evidently among friends and neighbors. He asked if it were not possible to get parties to arrange their differences out of court. Both counsel expressed themselves quite willing, but when the preliminaries were mentioned it at once became apparent that neither party was prepared to take backwords and the case proceeded.

The cross-examination of Mr. Bowman, secretary of the Patrons' Lodge, the latter was asked if it was not the business of the lodge to investigate the character of the person who stood in the name of Mary Isabella Williamson, and was subject to two mortgages.
