RUIN IN FIFTEEN MINUTES.

A STORY OF THE EARLY DAYS IN THE OIL COUNTY.

One of the celebrated Oil Creek floods which swept away Fort... a man who was making from $5 to $10 a minute, day and night...

"There never was a time in the commercial history of the world, I'll bet, when so many men were making so much money as were the men who owned the big oil wells on Oil Creek in the year 1864," said a pioneer operator in the Venango county petroleum field...

CAUSES OF SKEPTICISM.

Eloquent Discourse by the Pastor of Elm Street New Jerusalem Church...

Rev. A. John Cleare, pastor Elm-street New Jerusalem Church, recently delivered an interesting discourse on "The Causes of Skepticism."

In the human body, with each moment of life, there is the breaking in of old cells, the waste of tissue, the removal of these used-up substances, and the reconstruction of the formation of new receptacles of life...

In June, 1861, the first flowing well in the history of petroleum was struck on the "Farm farm." It spouted 300 barrels a day and cleared the mumping well owners out of their wits...

"Pittsburg was then the centre of what petroleum trade there was, and we had to run our oil down Oil Creek and the Allegheny River on flatboats. Oil was so low in 1862 that very few operators shipped any oil...

"Pittsburg was then the centre of what petroleum trade there was, and we had to run our oil down Oil Creek and the Allegheny River on flatboats. Oil was so low in 1862 that very few operators shipped any oil...

"To begin back far enough for the causes of skepticism we shall find the roots of it in the history of man. Man is not born with ready-made ideas; indeed, in order that a free and rational life should be led, he is born into a state of absolute ignorance and darkness...

But it is only a partial exercise of the mind that we are given. Man is not born with ready-made ideas; indeed, in order that a free and rational life should be led, he is born into a state of absolute ignorance and darkness...

Man never fears by anything other than a truth, and it is never restful in skeptical in the face of the false until the presence of the truth has been felt, and there could not be the readiness under the galling yoke of old, false creeds and confessions...

lubbard grave, injurious fallacies, which they loved, and held as truths, because the priests, their spiritual fathers, taught them to believe that they were necessary, unwilling to part from them, as being all of moral and religious precept they had...

PARLIAMENTARY REPORTING

ROMS SINGULAR AND HUMOROUS MISTAKES.

The Telegraph often wrote to blame that the Honorable member spotted in the House...

An amusing article under this heading appears in Macmillan's Magazine for March. Some of the errors are old and old-quoted, but many are new, and the article is brightly written...

Against Heaven's hand or will, nor hate I a jot of heart or hope, but still bear up and step right onward.

Indeed the telegraph has indulged in many witticisms at the expense of the members of both Houses of Parliament. The late Mr. E. Forster, in a speech on his Irish policy...

Of the three Gods she says they are of equal substance, power and glory, the glory being the same in effect as the teaching of the Lord, and from the good love of their hearts, which had been mercifully revealed to the world...

And though these three are only one substance, power and glory, the glory being the same in effect as the teaching of the Lord, and from the good love of their hearts, which had been mercifully revealed to the world...

GODS OF THE JAVANESE.

PRINCESSES, WARRIORS AND DEMONS GIVEN TO THE LOUVRE.

The natives think they are real. Why Medicine Man Makes Them Pretend Strange Things Behind a Screen...

An express wagon the other day, jolting over the mounds of mud, moved, carried from the Lyons station to the Louvre in Paris a queer medley of strange gods, princesses, warriors and demons...

FOREIGN FUNNYS.

Clippings from the European Continent.

The First Lot are French.

At the main office of the Transatlantic Company, amid the joyful crowd gathered around the telegraph board, a gentleman gives way to a violent paroxysm of grief...

They are going to be married in a day or two.

She—And you won't regret your bachelor's life?

He—Oh, my darling, if you know how bad restaurant cooking is you wouldn't ask me that.

TELEGRAPHIC BLUNDERS.

Indeed the telegraph has indulged in many witticisms at the expense of the members of both Houses of Parliament.

A New Bond of Sympathy.

Freddy—Mamma, when are you going to let me wear long pants?

Mrs. Bloomer—I don't know, Freddy.

Freddy (ruefully)—Well, I guess you will know how I feel and want to wear long pants, too, when you've worn knee pants as long as I have.

A Cheerful Side.

He—When I was out west I saw a man hangared.

She—Wasn't it a terrible sight?

He—I don't know. He used to be a grump on a cable car.

At Belmont's.

Alberta—I believe you call a report an advanced woman, dear?

Alberta (sweetly)—Then you may tip the waiter, dear.

Easy to Learn.

"Do you mean to lie, my boy?"

"I can't tell it, my boy."

"Then take this income-tax blank and practice."

Looking at his watch.

Inspector (going to his watch)—It is time to close the ball.

Judge (of election)—Wait a bit. Two of the lady voters haven't been back yet to change their ballots.

The Impressionist Artist.

"Oh, it's beautiful exceedingly—but what is the subject?"

"It's an effort two years old, and my memory's so good that I've quite forgotten what I intended it for."

A Regular Snip.

"Why, hello, waiter! You stopping here?"

"Business must be good. I didn't know you could afford a high-priced hotel like this."

"I can't, but you see, I haven't any baggage they can hold for me. I'm a regular snip."

The Movement of Jokes.

The curious way in which newspaper jokes move across in cycles, disappearing for a time and then reappearing as original, has more than once been commented upon.

Among the Big Bells of Europe.

The famous bell of Europe are the famous bell of Erfurt, 10 1/2 ft. high and 8 1/2 ft. in diameter, cast in 1467...

COMIC ERRORS.

"These are all 'friends,' well-known 'friends,'" exclaimed Mr. Cobden, after citing the names of many authorities in support of the views he was laying before the House...

He said I was boys together. I allus use 'er school an' stan' at 'er head 'n' my class; but Saboz had 'er 'reg'lar old Satan man in 'er us'er play hooky an' go huntin' an' fishin' an' w'en his father thought he was abed, an' mo'ly win, too; an' Sunday he'd walk 'er right 'n' see 'er with his hat on 'er head 'n' his hand, whisin' an' smokin' a big black cigar. He wuz a bad boy; 'n' you know of Wordworth's profound saying, 'The 'kid' is father to the man.' I need not dwell on the vital importance to the community of imparting a sound moral and secular education to 'kids' in their impressionable years. It is for the 'kids' that this bill is introduced, and asking the House to remember that the 'kids' of this generation will be the fathers and mothers of the next I cordially appeal to it to support our proposals."

Grand and Israel.

"Ya-as, Israel, boys that don't study allus come 't some bad end," said Grandpa Kitchum, as he removed the handkerchief from his face and gazed at the ceiling after his afternoon nap on the sofa.

I allus use 'er school an' stan' at 'er head 'n' my class; but Saboz had 'er 'reg'lar old Satan man in 'er us'er play hooky an' go huntin' an' fishin' an' w'en his father thought he was abed, an' mo'ly win, too; an' Sunday he'd walk 'er right 'n' see 'er with his hat on 'er head 'n' his hand, whisin' an' smokin' a big black cigar. He wuz a bad boy; 'n' you know of Wordworth's profound saying, 'The 'kid' is father to the man.' I need not dwell on the vital importance to the community of imparting a sound moral and secular education to 'kids' in their impressionable years. It is for the 'kids' that this bill is introduced, and asking the House to remember that the 'kids' of this generation will be the fathers and mothers of the next I cordially appeal to it to support our proposals."

MODERN RAILWAY FLIERS

They are carefully watched every moment they are out.

It is so easy nowadays to be whisked from New York to Buffalo or Philadelphia or Washington at the rate of almost a mile a minute, and sometimes to travel half as fast again, with the houses, faces and telegraph poles along the way mixing themselves into a kaleidoscopic picture...

But if you happen to be interested in railroad trains because they are interesting, you will find that they are not only interesting but also very useful.

Apparently the problem of rapid transit presents fewer difficulties by rail than by water, and undoubtedly it does from the passenger's viewpoint.

Not only do they know of accidents to the Empire State Express, they know of accidents to all other trains of their division. The engineers have their eyes on the signals and the movements of all other trains.

Not all the excitement and romance of a flying trip from New York to Albany is monopolized by the men who are working the train. It doesn't require a very lively imagination to find a supervision of the train is operated. More circumstances affect it than run even the commercial traveler's aspects.

A NEW YORK TRAGEDY

Terrible story of Wand, Love and Drink

From The New York Herald, March 30. Mrs. Agnes Roseler of No. 229 Evergreen-avenue, Williamsburg, cut the throat of her husband, Ernst, with a razor ten days ago and the deed had been attempted suicide.

HER SKILLFUL ACTING. Mrs. Roseler's screams on March 13 attracted neighbors who found her moaning over her husband, who lay on a bed with his throat cut.

She appeared to be very affectionate to him, and she was very kind to him. She had been told by a neighbor that she had a husband who was a doctor.

Justice Rosenfeld paroled the prisoner in the custody of Captain Kitter and the sergeant told her she might go home. Roseler recovered and was able to leave the hospital last Friday.

He was drunk all the next day. The work he was to do was to be a trail through life, and he was to be a trail through life.

HER MURDEROUS IMPULSE. "He was drunk all the next day. The work he was to do was to be a trail through life, and he was to be a trail through life."

A Song of Fatherland. I've wandered east, I've wandered west, I've wandered north, I've wandered south.

But still my heart remains with thee, O my dear, O my dear, O my dear. I've wandered east, I've wandered west, I've wandered north, I've wandered south.

MUSIC'S DEED

The Thomas Orchestra on Friday evening

The Thomas Orchestra on Friday evening last week drew a large audience to the Massey Music Hall, who by their attention proved themselves to be a thoroughly musical crowd.

THE BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

THE CONDITIONS OF GENERAL TRADE ARE ENCOURAGING.

The Outlook for the Lumber Trade Satisfaction—A Further Advance in Wheat—Diminished Transactions on the Local Stock Exchange—Decrease in Bank Reserves—Trade Gossip.

Business conditions are favorable. The improvement noted in these columns three weeks ago has been fully sustained, and a few special cases there is a marked increase.

There is an improvement in the demand for lumber on the other side, and the market is firmer in tone. The outlook is a good one in Canada for the getting out of lumber, and some activity may be expected shortly.

WHEAT CROP PROSPECTS. The reports from competing countries do not point to excessive crop yields. In fact it looks as if in the case of Argentina and France the crop would be under the average.

There is a further advance in the rates of sterling exchange and yesterday's sale at the highest price of the year. The Canadian dollar is higher, selling yesterday at 39 5/8 in New York.

TRADE GOSSIP. Silver yesterday is higher, with sales in New York yesterday of 67 1/2 per ounce. Canadian Pacific is higher, selling yesterday at 39 5/8 in New York.

THE BRITANNIA AGENDER. Nice, March 30.—The Prince of Wales yacht Britannia left the harbor of Genoa on the night of the River Var.

BRANDING OF CHEESE

Bristol Dealers Ask Canada to Make It Compulsory.

LONDON, March 30.—The Association of Provision Traders of Bristol have signed a memorial to be forwarded to the Parliament of Canada, saying the association is strongly of the opinion that it would be to the advantage of both producers and distributors of Canadian cheese if the date and make were legibly and indelibly marked upon each cheese before it leaves the factory.

MONTEVIDEO, March 30.—As the result of a very heavy storm, the city and surrounding country have been inundated, causing a half a million dollars damage.

Consumption.

The incessant wasting of a consumptive can only be overcome by a powerful concentrated nourishment like Scott's Emulsion.

Young, old or middle-aged, who find themselves nervous, weak and exhausted, who are broken down from excess of work, resulting in many of the following symptoms: Mental depression, premature old age, loss of vitality, less of memory, bad dreams, dimness of sight, palpitation of the heart, anæmia, indigestion, pain in the kidneys, headaches, pimples on the face and body, itching or peeling of the skin, etc.

Scott's Emulsion. of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, does more to cure consumption than any other known remedy.

"PECK'S BAD BOY."

The Toronto Will Present a Rollicking Play for Their Patrons This Week.

That imp of good-natured, harmless devilry, "Peck's Bad Boy" will make his re-appearance at the Grand Opera House this week, commencing to-morrow (Monday) night, together with his partner, his chum, the German policeman...

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, April 9 and 10, Mrs. Langtry will appear at the Grand Opera House in a comedy in four acts entitled "Gossip."

The play is written by Clyde Fitch and Leo Dietrichstein. The scene of the play is laid at Trouville, during the season, the characters being principally Americans summering there.

Mrs. Langtry will play the part of the charming American woman, a divorcee, married again for the second time, who in her own course of life has had her share of bitter experience in the divorce court.

While the piece is purely a comedy, there is still a thread of serious interest running through it. The first scene of the play takes place in the drawing room of a villa at Trouville, and a very pretty scene is promised with the blue sky and white clouds of sea and the chateau and towers of Deauville in the distance.

WHERE SOUSA GRADUATED.

The Historic Band in Whose Ranks He Rose From Student to Musician's Position.

In a few days the famous Marine Band will begin a tour of the country, says the Washington correspondent of The Boston Transcript, and it will be the first time the band has left Washington since it made the tours which were the foundation of John Philip Sousa's fortune. The Marine Band has an odd history. It had a chance beginning nearly a century ago. Tradition has it that a Yankee ship captain kidnapped a band of strolling players near Naples, brought it to this country with threats and promises, and the records of the Marine Corps, there were officers of the musicians, and promises of various nature were made to them when they were brought to America on a ship.

These promises, it is said, were not fulfilled, and they demanded to be returned to their native land. The demand was refused, and they remained in the marine barracks, classified in the service as "drummers and fifers" and paid as enlisted men.

The first recognized leader was John L. Child of the sloop Lexington. He served from Aug. 18, 1815, to 1820, and he was followed by a lengthy list of celebrities down to John Philip Sousa, who was leader from 1880 to 1889.

Prof. Francioli, the present bandmaster, who will lead the band when it makes its tour.

Sousa was the most famous of all the bandmasters; in fact he brought the band to the position of pre-eminence in the country with it as an army band.

Sousa deserved the success which he has achieved. He was born to be a band leader, and participated in the bandmaster of the Marine Band from 1884 to 1889, and young John was in the band within sound of the Marine barracks when he enlisted at the age of 13 years and 6 months and served his apprenticeship in music until he was 21.

Then he went into the world to seek his fortune as a musician. He was playing in Philadelphia when the position of bandmaster of the Marine Band became vacant. Sousa was known as a musician, and he was recommended strongly for the position when Schneider was relieved of the position.

Sousa was the most famous of all the bandmasters; in fact he brought the band to the position of pre-eminence in the country with it as an army band.

Sousa deserved the success which he has achieved. He was born to be a band leader, and participated in the bandmaster of the Marine Band from 1884 to 1889, and young John was in the band within sound of the Marine barracks when he enlisted at the age of 13 years and 6 months and served his apprenticeship in music until he was 21.

Then he went into the world to seek his fortune as a musician. He was playing in Philadelphia when the position of bandmaster of the Marine Band became vacant. Sousa was known as a musician, and he was recommended strongly for the position when Schneider was relieved of the position.

He came from Philadelphia, enlisted and was made bandmaster. He occupied the position for 18 years, and he was followed by a lengthy list of celebrities down to John Philip Sousa, who was leader from 1880 to 1889.

The Historic Band in Whose Ranks He Rose From Student to Musician's Position.

In a few days the famous Marine Band will begin a tour of the country, says the Washington correspondent of The Boston Transcript, and it will be the first time the band has left Washington since it made the tours which were the foundation of John Philip Sousa's fortune. The Marine Band has an odd history. It had a chance beginning nearly a century ago. Tradition has it that a Yankee ship captain kidnapped a band of strolling players near Naples, brought it to this country with threats and promises, and the records of the Marine Corps, there were officers of the musicians, and promises of various nature were made to them when they were brought to America on a ship.

These promises, it is said, were not fulfilled, and they demanded to be returned to their native land. The demand was refused, and they remained in the marine barracks, classified in the service as "drummers and fifers" and paid as enlisted men.

The first recognized leader was John L. Child of the sloop Lexington. He served from Aug. 18, 1815, to 1820, and he was followed by a lengthy list of celebrities down to John Philip Sousa, who was leader from 1880 to 1889.
