Declares Explosive Turns Leaves to Iron

Dr. Munroe Also Tells of Making Fabrics Permanent by a New Method.

Washington, June 28.—Dr. Charles E. Munroe, chief chemist of the Bureau of Mines, has announced that experiments were being carried out which had as their object the making permanent, by the use of explosives, of perishable things such as leaves of trees, pieces of lace and various fabrics. The process is known as the "Munroe effect," and it is hoped to bring about developments which will be of benefit to the world industrially.

"We have not only turned leaves of trees and laces into iron," said Dr. Munroe, "but we could write words with fire—in other words, with detonated explosives—and turn them into iron, exactly as the aviator in the sky writes words with smoke."

"At the moment the explosive is detonated, this solid explosive is converted into gas, occupying the same space as the explosive, and it therefore has the same density. The molecules from which it is resolved travel at an enormous rate of speed, probably more than 20,000 feet per second. This gas is intensely hot. As the molecules strike each other, there is great turbulence. The gas assumes a vortex motion. It moves in the direction of least resistance, where there is a cavity in the explosive above the iron base on which it rests there is an impingement upon the base. There, because of the high velocity in which the molecules are moving, because of the whirl of the vortex, because of the high temperature that exists, because of all of these at the moment of detonation, which is practically the moment of impact, the metal is melted and eroded and there fore the border device (either leaves or lace or whatever is used) is reproduced and made a part of the metal base." The experiments are growing out of the increased industrial use of millions of pounds of explosives left over from the war, which are being distributed by the War Department for peace-time uses.

DOG ATTACKS ITS MISTRESS.

Finally Killed by Policeman After it Gives Pedestrians a Fright.

New York, June 28.—While Mrs. Rudolph Bruno Herter, 31 years old, an interior decorator, was leading her pet Airedale by a leash along Sixth Avenue near Fifth Street the animal suddenly leaped on her, biting her on the right shoulder.

The dog it is said, began to froth at the mouth and ran down the street barking. A number of passengers were coming down the stairs of the Fifth Street elevated station and on hearing the cry "Mad dog!" scurried inside hallways and streets.

The Airedale ran back to the Herter apartment, which is on the third floor of the Fifth Street address, and climbed out on an adjoining balcony, where it was killed by a policeman.

Mrs. Herter was taken to the Roosevelt Hospital, where she was given the Pasteur treatment.

TROPICAL CANADA. ARCTIC FOODS, INCREASING DISEASE.

Canadians sympathize with inhabitants of the tropics without realizing that Canadian summer is as hot as the tropics. This lack of realization leads to serious errors in summer diet.

We feed ourselves, for the most part, as if we lived in the Arctic, upon "heating" meats, fats, starches and sweets, while our summer foods should consist of non-starchy whole grains, milk, eggs, leafy vegetables, nuts, fruits, etc. Fats, meats, starches like white flour, refined cereals, polished rice, are called "Excess Acid" foods. Acid foods "heat the blood" or make it acid. Whole grains, milk, leafy vegetables, fruits, etc., are "Excess Alkali" foods and "cool the blood" by keeping it naturally alkaline, or non-acid. Acid blood is the forerunner or cause of much disease. Alkaline blood is Nature's immunizer against disease.

Roman Meal is the only alkaline cereal, alkaline enough to correct the acids or starchy white flour, other cereals, white sugar, fats, and meats. It keeps the blood alkaline or "cool," thus invigorates the body in hot weather and defends it against disease in Nature's own way. It keeps civilized users well in the same way that savage races keep well, by using only unrefined, alkaline foods of nature. Roman Meal hot porridge or baked products are more "cooling" than any cold, refined, acid cereal can be, but the new icy-cold BROSE-O, CHOCOL-O, JELL-E with milk, cream, whipped cream, honey, preserved or fresh fruits, are unequalled, "cooling" hot-day treats. Roman Meal prevents indigestion, positively relieves constipation. At grocers.

PASTEURIZED MILK.

A St. John paper recently quoted some extracts from an article by Dr. E. V. McCollum and Nina Simmonds of Johns Hopkins University on the subject of pasteurized milk. It may be useful to quote some other extracts from the same article, since they are essential to make clear the fact that the writers in question are unqualified supporters and advocates of pasteurized milk.

The St. John paper made much of the statement that pasteurization had been found to destroy or partly destroy vitamin C, which made the milk less desirable as a food for infants, because it might develop scurvy. It was noted that "the simple expedient of giving a baby daily a few teaspoonfuls of fresh orange juice will afford it absolute protection from scurvy," but the following quotation was omitted:—

"This is so simple and so satisfactory a means of making complete the infant's diet that there is no longer any room for objecting to pasteurized milk."

Here is another quotation: "Every home-maker is familiar with the word pasteurized on the milk bottles which are delivered daily at her door. At least this is the case if she lives in a city which is thoroughly progressive."

Here is another: "Bacteriologists and physicians have entire confidence in the protection to health afforded by pasteurizing our milk." Also the following: "Pasteurization of milk does not do away with epidemic milk-borne diseases."

"What are these diseases? They are typhoid fever, tuberculosis, scarlet fever and epidemic sore throat. We quote again:—

"Pasteurization does not kill all the bacteria in milk, but it does kill certain kinds. The kinds which are killed are those which cause the souring of milk and those which produce the diseases already mentioned."

"That is to say: Raw milk under the same conditions will sour more quickly than pasteurized milk, and to blame pasteurization for sour milk is to show ignorance of the facts. It is most important, however, that the pasteurized milk should be 'delivered in a fresh and well-cooled condition and kept cool until used.' Is that not also true of raw milk? Note especially the following quotation from the Johns Hopkins experts:—

"Experience shows that one cannot depend on farmers to produce their milk under clean conditions unless home pressure is put upon them to be careful. Nor can one rely upon the distributors of milk to handle their product in a satisfactory manner unless they are under some supervision from authorities. It is of great importance that our most valuable protective food should be produced under sanitary conditions, from healthy cows, and cooled immediately to the lowest temperature available on the farm. It should be transported to the city as quickly as possible, keeping it cold the while; pasteurized promptly, cooled, bottled in clean bottles, and delivered at the earliest moment that is satisfactory for both distributor and consumer."

As to the duty of public bodies, such as the Board of Health and City Council and all concerned, what do these two experts say? We quote again:—

"It is a matter well worth the effort of all public-spirited persons to see to it that they have a good milk supply, not only for their own homes but for the community. Insist upon pasteurization and an efficient system of farm inspection. There should be supervision of the pasteurization plants, constant testing of market milk for its bacteria content in those kinds of bacteria which are liable to be harmful. This is the function of the city and state health departments. Learn what is being done with the milk you buy, and give your support to the health officials who are trying to protect you and your children from the dangers of a bad milk supply. This is necessary because it is an easy thing for the farmers and for the city deliverer to employ careless methods."

It is not perfectly obvious that if the Johns Hopkins experts were in St. John today they would assert as Dr. Hastings, medical health officer of Toronto, did, that to oppose pasteurized milk is a crime against a community? With regard to certified milk, the same authorities point out that it is too expensive to appeal to the majority of consumers, and that is the truth.

Of the recent decline in wheat Bradstreet's says: "The cause of the decline in wheat induced the governors of seven western surplus states to call a conference of those interested in the grain trade, which met last week at Chicago to discuss the causes and possible cures for the lower prices ruling. Joint marketing, a reduction in acreage, feeding of wheat to animals, encouragement of the use of wheat, and talk of a government controlled plan of 'stabilization' were among the suggestions reported to be offered at the conference. Not the least interesting suggestion, this from outside the conference, was for the formation of a farmers' pool to handle the crop."

MORE ABOUT COAL.

Despite the fact that the production of anthracite in the United States in the first five months of this year was twice as large as that for the like period last year, and larger than in the like period for four years past, it is contended there may be a shortage even if there is no strike in September. The Halifax Chronicle remarks:—

"The fact that a Welsh coal operator secured an order from New York for one million tons of Welsh anthracite should be a reminder to all who are relying upon the United States for their winter supply to put an anchor windward, to use a nautical phrase. Perhaps the best advice is to get ready to burn the home product."

The Boston Herald submits some figures to show that there may be a shortage. It says the domestic burners of hard coal need 60,000,000 tons each year, and as supplies were exhausted last spring it is necessary to figure out next winter's supply from the middle of April. There should be produced by the middle of September (from the middle of April) about 80,000,000 tons. That is to say, fifty per cent. of the amount required would then be above ground. The rest would have to be mined and shipped during the cold weather, and if a strike comes it will mean a shortage. Summing up, the Herald says:—

"In other words, the average consumer of hard coal is fairly certain of one shoveful of hard coal for every two that he requires. This is reassuring, but it is not 100 per cent. warm. Provided there are no hard coal labor troubles and provided further that the weather permits swift and sure transportation, there is no need to worry. But the cautious man, whose family may still be suffering from the after-effects of last winter's experience, will take no risks."

The Herald's remedy is to burn more coke. The Halifax Chronicle's proposal is to get ready to burn soft coal. As usual, no doubt, a great many consumers will gamble on the possibility that a strike in the anthracite region will be averted. As one of the features of the situation south of the border it was suggested the other day in a press report that one of the strong canvasses against the Harding administration would be its utter failure to deal adequately with the coal problem. Possibly if a strike is threatened the Government may decide to do more than appoint a commission.

WILL ATTEMPT TO FLOAT CARAQUET (Canadian Press). Halifax, N. S., June 27.—The position of the Royal Mail Steam Packet liner Caraque, ashore on coral reefs about twelve miles from Hamilton, Bermuda, was unchanged today, according to advices to John Hillier, general agent of the line in Canada. The cargo was being removed and it was expected that the last of the cargo would be hoisted on to the shore by the end of the week. A lighter with pumps left Hamilton today. An effort was to be made to pump the ship dry and refloat her if practicable. With the ship's engine room flooded her wireless is out of commission.

COUGHS UP BULLET THAT HIT HIM THREE MONTHS AGO. Yonkers, N. Y., June 28.—Three months ago Daniel Healey was shot in the neck and badly wounded and two patrons of his drug store were killed. This week, in a coughing spell, Healey coughed up a bullet and turned it over to Dist. Atty. Rowland as evidence against the alleged slayer. The bullet, which was the same as that of the pair and the assailant of the druggist, McLean will be placed on trial for murder within a few weeks.

PREMIER HERE. Premier P. J. Veniot arrived in the city last evening from St. Andrews where he addressed the members of the Canadian Wholesale Grocers. He said that the road between St. John and the border was in excellent condition. While motoring down he inspected the road thoroughly and organized a complete system of road patrol for that section. More than one-half of the mail heads, he said, were now being patrolled and although the system had been in existence only about three weeks the results obtained had been marvelous.

LYNCHINGS DROP FROM 33 TO 11 FOR SIX MONTHS PERIOD.

New York, June 28.—Lynchings in the United States in the first six months of 1923 dropped to eleven, compared with thirty-three for the same period in 1922, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced this week.

The decrease was attributed to agitation for a Federal anti-lynching law, and the northward migration of negro labor in the South. Florida had three lynchings, Georgia, two, and Arkansas, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri and Texas one each.

TRAIL OF FLOUR TO KLAN RENDEZVOUS IRKS POLICE.

Morristown, N. J., June 28.—Police are seeking a warrant for the arrest of a man who acted as guide for several hundred automobiles bearing members and novitiates to the Ku Klux Klan meeting held Saturday night and early Sunday at Basking Ridge, four miles south of this city. The guide was in a machine bearing two small flags on the front and a white handkerchief in the rear. Every time he made a turn he dropped white flour on the streets.

Members of the police force are said to have recognized the man and purpose, entering a complaint of littering the streets against him.

New York, June 28.—Somewhere on the coast of Labrador a government speed boat is donning the trappings of shame. Piratical rum-rangers who lifted her by night from her snug Coast Guard berth at Highlands, N. J., are gleeful on two counts. First, the speed boat is a real speed boat and will cut down the running time to Rum Row considerably. Second, she is "with 'em and not agin' 'em any more" and smugglers launches move boldly in waters where once the trim craft waged an effectual guard.

COLLAPSES AS JURY ANNOUNCES SHE IS SLAYER.

Mrs. Buzzi Convicted of First Degree Murder in Shooting of New York Contractor.

New York, June 28.—Mrs. Anna Buzzi was found guilty of the murder of Frederick Schneider, a wealthy Bronx contractor, by a Supreme Court jury last night. She was found guilty of first degree murder. Mrs. Buzzi turned white and sagged forward when the verdict was read, but was caught by the attendants before she collapsed. She was revived and was led from the courtroom in a dazed condition.

Sentence will be pronounced on July 9, and as the verdict was first degree murder, she was expected to be sentenced to death.

Schneider was found dead in his automobile with two bullets in the back of his head on a lonely road in the outskirts of the Bronx late in the afternoon of February 26. Nick Poliner, a farmer, who was a few yards away, saw a woman emerge from the machine and walk rapidly away.

Mrs. Buzzi, with whom Schneider had lived for several years, was arrested in a passing truck, which carried her to the court room in a charge of first degree murder.

Crowd Mobs Driver As Truck Kills Boy.

Chauffeur Beaten by Men and Women—3 Other Fatalities in Day—Children Playing Ball Victims.

New York, June 28.—An enraged crowd more than a hundred men and women vented their fury on Joseph Sinson, a chauffeur, after he had run down and killed Thomas Nigido, 5 years old, driver of 142 Cherry street with a four-ton truck. The machine struck the lad, who was playing ball in front of his home.

The people of the neighborhood who were sitting on the stoops of their homes saw the car drag the boy twenty feet before it was crushed by the front and rear wheel of the truck. When the car was stopped they rushed the driver, who had not left his seat, and began beating him with sticks and bricks. When Detective Salvatore Inella came to Sinson's assistance the latter's thumb had been nearly bitten off by a woman in the crowd. The driver was taken to the Oak Street Station, where he was charged with homicide.

Levi Waldman, 7 years old, was killed when he was run over by an automobile driven by Anthony De Stranco. Louis was playing at the corner of Second Avenue and Sixty-second street when the machine struck him. Patrolman Sheehan of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station commanded a passing truck, which carried the boy to Flower Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Playing on the streets claimed a third victim when Joseph Dobias, 5 years old was run down by a taxicab after he had darted in front of the machine to recover a ball. The driver was going south on Fox street, 46th street, when he was struck by the taxicab. Patrolman Sheehan of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station commanded a passing truck, which carried the boy to Flower Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Mrs. Fay Grueber, 23 years old, was leaving the Homicide Court after having been held in $2,500 bail for examination in connection with the killing of 5-year-old Anna Gendick Saturday night by her automobile, when Mrs. Ethel Gendick, mother of the victim of the accident, attempted to attack her. Policemen and Court attendants intercepted Mrs. Gendick in the courtroom as she ran after Mrs. Grueber shouting: "You killed my little girl!" Later in the hall outside the courtroom the little girl in West 145th Street near Broadway where Anna and several other girls were playing near her home at 908 West 145th street. The Magistrate said he would hold a hearing on the charge on July 18.

TWO MEN ARRESTED AS BORDER BANDITS WHO ROBBED BANKS.

Regina, Sask., June 27.—Suspected by the provincial police of being connected with one of the other border bandit gangs, two men were arrested on the prairie provinces, two men have been arrested at Carnduff and are now held pending investigation. The men are Irvin Young and Smith R. (Nig) Collins, of Minot, N. D. When taken by a border patrol, Young was in possession of a rifle and ammunition. Both men, according to customs officials, entered the country under false pretences.

MILK PASTEURIZATION.

To the Editor of The Times: Sir—The question as to whether or not a city's milk supply should be pasteurized has been answered in emphatic affirmative in thousands of cities all over the world. The question of pasteurization is not a new problem. It was debated in the early 90's of the last century.

Such great children specialists as Doctors Jacobi, Henry Coit, Chapin and Holt insisted on feeding infants with pasteurized milk. In 1876 Denmark passed a law requiring the heating of all milk fed to calves, to 85 degrees centigrade in order to prevent the spreading of tuberculosis among the cattle. The Danish government were compelled to do this in order to prevent large economic losses due to the prevalence of tuberculosis in their cattle herds. It was an important problem with the Danish people for their livestock depended to a large extent on the dairy business. They found that heating the milk destroyed the tubercle bacillus which had decimated their herds. The Danish government then required that milk fed to babies be pasteurized in order to prevent the spread of tuberculosis among the population. As a result of this law, the authorities of Denmark not only observed a diminution of tuberculosis but also a markedly lowered infant mortality. The prevalence of "summer complaint" and diarrheal diseases among the infants was strikingly reduced.

Doctors Park and Holt in 1903 showed the remarkable effects in lowering the death rates by feeding pasteurized milk to groups of ten-month babies in New York City, as compared with the high mortality figures of feeding similar groups of babies with unpasteurized grocery store milk.

It can therefore be readily seen by the average citizen that pasteurization is not a new idea; that it is not the product of a wild theorist but it is the result of patient study and keen scientific observation of the master minds of science, men of the stamp of Dr. L. Emmett Holt, Dr. William H. Park, Dr. Chas. North, Dr. Henry Coit, Dr. Abraham Jacobi, Dr. Rowland Freeman, Nathan Strauss, Dr. Hastings and hundreds of others the world over.

These men have studied milk in the most thorough manner from the feeding, housing, milking of cattle to the feeding of babies with the milk from the cattle. They have not urged and insisted on pasteurization from sentimental reason. No, indeed. Emphatically, no. It was after years of careful observation and study in the cow barn; in the bacteriological laboratory; in hospitals; in the intensive study of the mortality figures of infant life in hundreds of cities.

Having presented some facts to indicate even to the passive mind that pasteurization of milk is not a recent idea of a month or two, but a process of treating milk that is common in its use for some two decades or more, and further to the fact that it is the result of patient painstaking, careful research of eminent minds, let us turn for a few moments to the question of raw milk. It has appeared advisable to lovers of child life that milk be pasteurized. New mothers desire that milk be heated and bottled in clean sterilized bottles. For the very striking reason that they observed that heating the milk, these fathers and mothers observed that their children were dying in less numbers. In other words, that was something in unheated milk which killed their children. Naturally these fathers and mothers insisted on pasteurization. What father and mother would not insist on any method of treating the milk that would save their child.

What are the elements in unpasteurized milk that are so deadly to infant life? Germ life and the poisons produced by the growth of germs in so favorable a culture medium as milk. It is an unusually rich food for bacterial life as it is for animal life. They thrive on it most prolifically and produce poisons analogous to ptomaines.

Reproduction of germ life is extremely rapid. One germ can reproduce itself in a minute. It can be a billion in a day. A can of milk which started with a seeding of 4,000 or 5,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter or one-quarter per teaspoonful of milk, at the time of milking can be multiplied to millions in the twenty-four hours before it is delivered to the consumer. Four thousand or 5,000 bacteria count in a very good bacterial count. Very few of the average dairymen in our province are producing clean milk.

Even with the ordinary care in cleansing the utensils and cooling the milk in transit, the milk which is subjected to bacteriological examination shows millions of bacteria per cubic centimeter.

Perhaps somebody will say the germs are harmless. Some of them may be germs of tuberculosis; typhoid fever; scarlet fever; diphtheria; streptococcus sore throat. Records dating back to 1870 show that 375 epidemics of typhoid fever, affecting hundreds of thousands of persons, have been traced to the use of unpasteurized milk.

What has been the effect of pasteurization on the prevalence of the milk-borne epidemics? In the thirteen years from 1895 to 1907 in the United States, during which time pasteurization was in vogue only in the largest cities, there were altogether 211 epidemics of the diseases mentioned above directly traceable to unpasteurized milk. In the thirteen years from 1908 to 1920, inclusive, during which years pasteurization has become widespread throughout the country, only sixty-three milk epidemics had occurred and these were traceable to unpasteurized milk supplies.

These facts even to the uninterested, are strikingly favorable results directly traceable to the pasteurization of milk. These benefits are only a part of the story. How many thousands; nay, hundreds of thousands of us have died of tuberculosis from the use of unpasteurized milk. If the Danish people thought it a wise economy to heat the milk before feeding it to the calves in order to prevent tuberculosis among their cattle herds, how much wiser is it and what a saving of millions of dollars in medical attendance, medicine and productive work is made by the simple heating of milk to prevent tuberculosis in our children and consequently in our adult population. The stream of money which is flowing in increasing volume to limit the ravages of the white plague, might not be arrested at Long Wharf, St. John on

FOLEY'S PREPARED FIRECLAY FOR LINING YOUR OWN STOVE. been quite so necessary had milk been pasteurized ages ago. To this objection to the heating of milk is raised in this day and age is hardly comprehensible to the average informed individual. Objection to pasteurization can only emanate from persons who are not informed of the benefits that have already been conferred upon the human race. You fathers and mothers of St. John who have tuberculosis in your home; you who have lost babies from "summer complaint" and other diarrheal diseases; you who have lost your dearest from diphtheria; typhoid fever; scarlet fever; streptococcus sore throat, may have lost them simply because the milk that they used was the carrier of these diseases. There is abundant and unequivocal evidence that milk may carry these infections. The situation in St. John with regard to milk has occurred time and again in other cities when pasteurization has been put into force. The advance guard of the army for health is bound to clash with selfish economic interests and cross ignorance of a part of the citizenship. The economic interests play upon the ignorance of some of the people for a while, but as this portion of the citizenry become informed of the benefits, their opposition turns into approval, and the selfish interests have their purposes brought out into bold relief because they do not have a mob to conceal them. To think that persons who willfully condemn their own children to a life of invalidism from tuberculosis is incomprehensible. To kill your own children with "summer complaint," typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, is nothing short of criminal. Those persons who preach against pasteurization know not what they say. Forgive them. They know not what they do. H. L. ABRAMSON, M.D. St. John, June 27. FLEES HAMPTON JAIL.

DENIES LEAGUE
IS DEAD ISSUE

Non-Partisan Association
Slaps Back at Harding's
St. Louis Speech—Urges
Him Not to Put Party
First.

New York, June 28.—The League of Nations Non-Partisan Association has addressed a telegram to President Harding, challenging the President's statement in his St. Louis speech "That the League of Nations is as dead as slavery." The message was signed by George W. Wickersham, president of the organization's council; Everett Kelly, chairman of the executive committee, and William H. Short, executive director.

"There are millions of people in the United States who differ from you," the message read. "Some of these are now members of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association and more are joining every day."

"In the few weeks that have passed since our president former Justice John H. Clarke, made his notable New York speech in favor of joining the League of Nations, those who believe the matter of American membership to be still an issue have created organizations in 38 states and a large number of additional branches in cities, counties and towns."

The support given to American membership in the league, the message states, makes the issue very much alive.

"You declared on Oct. 2, 1920," the telegram continues, "that the League of Nations was 'already scrapped' and not worth paying any attention to, and your administration began by trying to ignore its existence. But the logic of events has led our Government, step by step, to take part in the great humanitarian work that the League of Nations is doing and we are now proposing to go into the permanent court of international justice which the league alone was able to bring into existence after successive administrations had vainly tried ever since 1897 to do so."

"We applaud you for your enlightened attitude on this question and we feel certain that the manifest impossibility of the United States standing aloof from the rest of the world, to which you have lately so feelingly referred, will finally lead our country into full association with the league."

START WORK SOON ON NEGRO POINT BREAKWATER

Alexander Gray, resident engineer of the Federal Department of Public Works here said last evening that plans and specifications for the work of extending the Negro Point breakwater had been completed. The work, he said, would be done by tender. So soon as the Senate approved of the appropriation tenders would be invited and work begun at once. A stone filling would be used to block the channel which is about 1,500 feet wide.

BRITISH RULERS
WELL GUARDED ON CONTINENTAL TRIP

Dozens of Scotland Yard Detectives Kept Watch Over King and Queen.

London, June 1.—(By the Associated Press.—(By Mail).—Americans who were privileged to see King George and Queen Mary off for Italy were struck by the number of secret service men and guards who accompanied the British sovereigns. In England the King and Queen are relatively safe from the hands of assassins and evildoers, but when they are traveling on the Continent they are much more carefully protected than the President of the United States when he leaves the White House.

Dozens of picked detectives from Scotland Yard kept a vigilant eye on the British rulers while they were in Italy. While the police of each country through which the royal party travels are nominally responsible for the protection of their visitors, the British authorities are not satisfied with this protection and insist upon a big retinue of their own trained sleuths. They recall that it was on the Continent that an assassin attempted the life of the late King Edward. Only the prompt intervention of one of the King's guards saved the monarch.

Since Premier Mussolini came into power the Italian police have managed to keep the anarchists well in hand. Next to Britain, France is probably the safest country in which kings and queens travel. The French police, like Scotland Yard, have most anarchists marked and watched whenever a foreign potentate is on a visit. Queen Victoria declared she felt safer in France than anywhere else, even in England. She perhaps had in mind the fact that she was threatened several times in her own country, once by a madman with a stick, and on another occasion in Buckingham Palace by a

Showing the Adaptability of Dominion Battleship Linoleum
Here are two Dominion Battleship Linoleum installations showing how this durable floor covering may be readily adapted to meet varying requirements. In these instances, decorative effects were desired. These were readily obtained, and also comfort and indefinitely long wear.

DOMINION BATTLESHIP LINOLEUM
is a permanent floor. When properly laid with waterproof cement there are no cracks or openings in which water can accumulate. It is non-slippery and non-absorbent and needs only the occasional use of a reliable floor wax to maintain its brightness. Its upkeep cost is practically nil.

Dominion Battleship Linoleum is the chosen floor of many of Canada's largest banks, offices, departmental stores, schools, hospitals and public buildings. It is chosen for such buildings because of its many practical and economical features and the results are highly pleasing. It is the business floor of to-day.

Made in four standard shades—brown, green, terra cotta and grey and in special colors for large contracts.

Folder showing Dominion Battleship in actual colors will be mailed on request. Samples will also be sent to firms or individuals interested.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HALIFAX HYDRO

Report of Tramways Company Shows Quantity Used and Great Benefits Derived.

The following may be of interest in view of the statement made by P. B. Yates some time ago, and which was afterwards contradicted by one of the papers, concerning the amount of power used in Halifax. The sixth annual report of the Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Co. Ltd. for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1922, reads as follows:—

"The maximum load was 6,250 kilowatts, which is 250 kilowatts higher than in 1921. The total number of kilowatt hours was 16,744,502 in 1921 and 17,909,946 in 1922."

It was from these figures that Mr. Yates quoted and which are hereby verified.

It was also very interesting to read in this report of the President and Directors submitted at the sixth annual meeting of shareholders, the following reference to hydro power:—

"The cost of running the hydro plant is very much less than is the cost of generating the same amount of current by steam at the present price of coal, or at any price which is probable within the next few years at least. This statement is true under the present conditions, which are, that practically the full capacity of St. Margaret's Bay plant is at present developed and used."

"The question then arises: Is the saving in running costs by hydro enough to more than offset the larger interest charges on the higher construction costs as compared with the heavier running costs and lower interest charges of an alternative steam plant? The answer to this is 'Yes,' there is a saving in hydro operation notwithstanding interest charges on the large investment."

"But the whole story is not yet told. Which type of construction will last longer? This is a subject of pure speculation or guess. Either one properly constructed in the first place and constantly maintained in full operating condition will last indefinitely. This being speculation or guess, however, good business judgment requires that in either case some reserve should be set aside from earnings each year to take care of possible obsolescence and contingencies. But the Nova Scotia Power Commission is going further than this it is charging the Tramways Company each year, in addition to all other costs, a sum estimated to be enough to pay for the entire hydro development in thirty years, a period much shorter than the probable life of the development."

"But the real advantages of the St. Margaret's Bay development to the public and the Company are yet to be told."

"The load in Halifax is perhaps slowly but certainly steadily growing and it had not been for the hydro development the Company would last year have been faced with the need of expending over $200,000 for additional boiler capacity and should by this time have had plans well under way for an additional turbo-generator, auxiliary apparatus and building, etc., which would have cost over half a million dollars."

"If these large sums could be raised at all in addition to those required for other purposes, which is doubtful, it would be at very high interest rates, causing serious harm to the shareholders, and undoubtedly compelling the Company to increase its rates in order to live. This might have been the tramway fare or the lighting rate, probably both."

Hon. P. J. Veniot extended a hearty welcome to the delegates to the Province of New Brunswick. He set forth in an eloquent manner the needs of the province and said they had no intention whatsoever of disassociating themselves from the other part of the Dominion, but he took the opportunity before the delegates of Quebec and Ontario particularly the needs of New Brunswick and why they thought they had not been treated well by the rest of the country. His address was responded to by Hugh Blaine, honorary president of the association.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with the presenting of reports of the president, A. Chapat of Montreal; the secretary, Thomas H. Kinnear, and A. A. C. Pyke, both of Toronto. The convention will continue all day and be completed on Friday morning.

EARLY CLOSING BY-LAW PASSES CITY COUNCIL

Shoe Stores to Close at Six o'Clock, Except on Saturdays and on Fridays in Summer—Mrs. Lawlor Suggested for the School Board Vacancy.

A proposed by-law under which all shops selling boots and shoes retail in the city will be obliged to close between the hours of 6 p. m. and 5 a. m. every week-day except Saturday between September 15 and June 14, and every day except Friday and Saturday in the summer months, was given second reading and ordered ordained at an adjourned meeting of the Council this morning. The Mayor announced that the law would take effect twenty days after the ordination.

P. M. Levine, Alexander Wright and Harry Smythe were present in the interests of the shoe dealers.

Mr. Bullock, Mr. Wright said that second hand dealers were not taken into consideration, as they operated under a separate law.

Under the act authorizing the by-law it was pointed out that the penalty provided was a fine of from $10 to $40 or imprisonment for two months.

The council then went into committee and Commissioner Frink was authorized to purchase a new flag for Haymarket square.

Commissioner Frink notified the Council that he would have a report on the repairs required to the Spar Cove bridge next week.

The Mayor read a letter from R. D. Paterson in which he said that the Royal Bank was asking for the payment of interest of $11.91 on the balance of a note for one $800 owing in connection with money advanced to D. J. Corr and R. D. Paterson for the financing of the Winter Carnival. It was the opinion of some members of the council that the accounts of the carnival committee should be audited by the controller before the city paid over the amount to retire the debt and action was deferred until this was done. The Mayor announced that he had the report and vouchers in his office.

An invitation from W. J. S. Myles, principal of the High School asking the commissioners attend the High School closing exercises in the Imperial Theatre, was ordered received and accepted.

A telegram signed by Mrs. Maud Mulcahy, secretary, was read as follows:—

"The executive of the St. John branch of the Women's Institute recommend Mrs. J. W. V. Lawlor as their nominee for the vacancy on the School Board."

The matter was ordered to lie on the table until appointments were being considered.

Wade, of Fredericton, district medical health officer; Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist; C. E. Northrup, secretary of the Western Medical Board; Dr. G. W. Ballie, of Fredericton, medical inspector of schools; Dr. H. LeBlanc, of Moncton, medical inspector of schools; Dr. C. A. King, of Petrolia, medical inspector of schools; Dr. Cyr, of Edmundston, medical inspector of schools; Dr. Mabel Henington, medical inspector of schools for St. John; Miss Harriet T. Melville, director of public health nursing; Miss Geraldine Armstrong, strong of Chatham; Miss Martina Wallace, of Shediac; Miss Marion Maloney, of Campbellton; Miss Murray, of St. Stephen and Milltown; Miss M. G. Gasson, of Sussex and Norton; Miss Edna Gaunce, of Rile Brook; Miss Alice Hesgan, Miss Sarah Brophy, Mrs. Joyce McLean and Miss Mary Gasson, of St. John, public health nurses.

Hon. Dr. Roberts presided and welcomed the bureau members and the nurses. He spoke of the value of their meeting together and of the stimulation to the work as a result of their discussions.

Reports were read by the district medical health officers, Dr. Warwick, Dr. Wade and Dr. Desmond. Dr. Abramson said that there had been a noticeable increase in the number of school children who were suffering from the fact that the unusual spring freshet had polluted or threatened to pollute many of the supplies. Emphatic opinions were expressed in regard to some municipalities and small towns in which the water had been found dangerous and where warnings had been sent to the authorities but no action to make the supplies safe had been taken.

In some of these places there had been deaths as a result and it was felt that the authorities who had refused to comply with suggested safety measures be regarded as criminally negligent and held to account.

Reference was made to Edmundston and to the promptness with which the matter was dealt. Immediately after the outbreak, 4,000 people had been vaccinated by the local doctors and the water supply had been chlorinated with the result that the epidemic was quickly checked and brought to an end.

The report spoke of the use of insulin, the new treatment for diabetes, and of the amount of blood chemistry work involved in regulating it. There had been many blood chemistry tests made on other accounts also. It was said the insulin treatment had been found to be very satisfactory here.

POPE WRITES WORLD PROBLEMS

References to Creditors and Debtor and Suggestion of Substitute for Occupation of Territory.

Rome, June 28.—An entreaty to those who control the destinies of nations to consider the world's pressing problems, including that of reparations, "in that Christian spirit which does not separate the exigencies of justice from those of social charity," is contained in a letter written by Pope Pius XI to Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State.

Referring obviously to the reparations situation, the letter says that "the serious damage inflicted, 'displayed real good will to reach an equitable and definitive agreement by invoking partial judgment of the limits of his solvency and to undertake to supply the judges every facility for a prompt and exact scrutiny, then justice and social charity, as well as the creditors' own interests seem to require that more should not be demanded than he can give without completely exhausting his resources and productive power."

It is just that creditors should have guarantees proportionate to the importance of their claims," continues the letter, "insuring the latter's recovery, on which their vital interests depend, but we leave to them to consider if it is necessary to maintain to that end, territorial occupations as such, grave sacrifices on the occupied countries, and whether it would not be better to substitute, even progressively, other guarantees, not less efficacious and certainly less painful."

Agreement by both parties to these specific bases, adds the Pontiff, would mean the territorial occupation soon might gradually be "reduced until it ceased."

Historian Comes to Fishermen's Aid In Attack on Commons

Gallant Deeds of Stalwart Seamen During War Recalled in Effort to Save Their Fishing Grounds.

London, May 25.—(By Mail)—"It is a strange revelation of ingratitude that men should be found in the House of Commons perverse enough to question the importance of supporting British fishermen against lawless Bolshevist attacks," H. W. Wilson, naval historian, writes in "The London Daily Mail." These fishermen depend for their living as workers on their access to the fishing grounds which the Bolsheviks are endeavoring to close to them, and in the war they rendered services to the nation which cannot be overestimated.

"Lord Jellicoe stated with truth when he said that the Grand Fleet could not have existed without the trawlers."

"They not only grappled with death in the shape of the German mines, and kept the seas and channels clear; they also guarded the great barques and fought the L-boats, often with the feeblest weapons."

"They paid with their life-blood for the oversight of the nation in peace. And throughout they maintained the steady supply of fish for our food, though in the mere work of fishing 672 vessels were sunk by the enemy and 416 fishermen were killed.

"Many of them were brutally murdered. The U-boat captains took the fishermen of unarmed trawlers, placed them on the submarine's deck and then submerged, leaving the men to drown."

"They fired on them as they were taking to their boats, and they broke the oars of the boats and emptied them of food and water, leaving these brave, long-suffering, heroic men adrift to perish miserably."

"But the fishermen never quailed. I asked an admiral commanding one of the fishermen patrol forces on the most dangerous duty once during the war whether he ever found any of his crews or any man of his crews showing the white feather. He was himself famous, and rightly famous, for his restraint of speech and his magnificent courage. His answer was: 'I would go anywhere with them and trust them to do all that man can do. They are beyond human praise.'"

"Another picture comes up before me of an old fisherman in an east coast fishing port in the early days of the war. He stood there, serene and benignant, with the air of some ecclesiastical dignitary. Yet he was a fishing man who had in a sailing smack fought in succession five U-boats and sunk certain of them, not without heavy casualties to his own crew."

"It was nothing," he said; "hundreds of others have done as much and more."

"Such were the men, mostly east coast fishermen, who were faithful unto death in their resistance to the powerful German destroyers in the Channel fight of February, 1918, when eight drifters or trawlers were sunk, fighting to the last and disdainful surrender, when sixty fishermen fell in action. Their work was to guard the Dover barrage, and they never flinched. So doing, they showed that had in them, as Professor Murray has finely said, 'not merely the ordinary virtues of common life, but something high and resplendent which is associated with the stories of old saints and martyrs.'"

"Hundreds of the trawlermen today find themselves on the beach, owing to the distressed condition of the fishing industry. If the rich fishing grounds of the White Sea and the Arctic are closed to our men there will be more misery and unemployment for the humble British workmen at Grimsby and Hull and the Scottish ports. The attack on them is part of a conspiracy to secure these grounds for foreign trawlers and drifters. But what irony that British M. P.'s should be willing to condone it!"

EUROPEAN FACTIONS HAVE VARIED BRANDS OF POLITICS

Prague, May 28.—(By Associated Press, by Mail)—Due to the admixture of races in many countries of southeastern Europe, one often finds in these lands an extraordinary large number of political parties or factions, each one striving earnestly for what to it appears to be praiseworthy reforms.

Czechoslovakia, with a population of 13,500,000, counts fifty such organizations, thirty-two in the Czech provinces and Slovakia, and eighteen in Subcarpathian Russia. Of this total, twenty are represented in the Czechoslovak parliament.

The names selected are typical of their aspirations, as for instance, the Republican Party of Agrarians and Small Peasants, the Czechoslovak Socialist Party, the Communist Party of Czechoslovakia, the Czechoslovak People's Party, the Party of Merchants and Middleclass Tradespeople, the Party of Independent Czechoslovak Social Democrats, the Party of the Czechoslovak Working People, the German National Party, the German National Socialist Workers' Party, the Magyar-German Christian Socialist Party, the Magyar-German Social Democratic Party, Agriculturists and Small Manufacturers.

New parties are organized as political life develops, and today the householders of the state propose to start a party to protect their interests.

COMMONS VIEWS DEVICE TO ABOLISH BOOKMAKER

But "Totalizer" Will Add $30,000,000 to Revenues, Parliament Is Told.

London, June 28.—Members of the august British Parliament sat spell-bound in a committee room of the House of Commons this week while they watched a motion picture demonstration of a mechanical device called the totalizer, which calculates odds automatically and which is intended to displace the bookmakers and remove some of the other evils that now exist in English racing.

According to the inventor, the machine, now in use in Australia and other countries, is capable of recording thousands of bets a minute and has an arrangement for showing instantly the exact amount placed on each horse.

In New South Wales, where the device is in official use, the Government takes 7 per cent. of the total money placed on the horses, while 3 per cent goes to the Jockey Club. In a single year the Government realized more than $3,000,000 in this manner, and it is calculated that Great Britain's revenues under a similar arrangement would be in the neighborhood of $90,000,000.

Gigantic Loan Sought From Britain to Aid Waterways; New State Seeks Better Commercial Relations.

London, May 28.—(By mail).—No statesman in Europe is more confident of the future of his country than Dr. Benes, the Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, with whom I have had luncheon at his official residence, a former royal palace whose rows of windows dominate the picturesque roofs of the whole historic town of Prague, writes the Prague correspondent of The London Daily Mail.

"From what I have seen of this richly endowed land I can believe he is justified. In Czechoslovakia, wherever there is not a thriving factory or a valuable mine, there is a fertile field cultivated by the most modern machinery and methods.

"What has pleased me most about Marshal Foch's visit," said the Czech Foreign Minister, "is that he has seen Czechoslovakia. You have got to see it to believe it. If I have any reproach to make against British business men it is that not having seen they are needlessly chary of believing that this is a very rich, well-administered modern state with which it is to the advantage of both sides that Britain should have the closest commercial relations.

"We need British help, but on a perfectly sound and remunerative basis. This year we want to raise a loan of £15,000,000 in England for the installation of an electric power station in connection with our waterways and on the improvement of the canal system. It will be issued on the same terms as the loan raised last year, and these two loans will both be secured on the revenue of the state tobacco monopoly.

"We are not content to wait for our real worth to become known to the world. For the eloquence of facts will be heard in the long run, but those British capitalists are wrong who cling to the mistaken belief that all the new states of Central Europe exist under

Spaniard's Plane, Without Any Wings, Runs Like Windmill

Machine Pulled Forward by Propeller and Rush of Air Turns Horizontal 'Sails,' Keeping it All in Flight.

London, June 6.—(By Mail).—Unusual interest, writes an air correspondent to "The London Daily Mail," is being taken in reports from Madrid of man-carrying flights made recently at heights of about 100 feet by a machine invented by a young Spanish engineer, Don Juan de la Cierva. The apparatus—neither airship, airplane nor helicopter—represents the testing of a new air idea.

Windmill-flying is how the method is described. Above a normal airplane body is fixed horizontally, at the top of a vertical tube, what the inventor calls a wing-screw. Actually, to look at, the device resembles almost exactly the "sails" of a large four-bladed windmill.

When the pilot starts his engine an ordinary tractor-propeller is turned and the craft runs along on its wheels. As it does so the big horizontally turned "windmill" begins to spin round under the air pressure caused by the machine's forward movement. The windmill itself and its big blades are inclined slightly from the horizontal so as to exercise an upward lifting effect when thus spinning freely in the air-stream; and, though no power is applied to them beyond that caused by the wind of the machine's rapid movement as it is drawn forward by engine and propeller, these revolving sails have been found capable, in a number of flights at the Getafe aerodrome, of sustaining constantly in the air the entire weight of the airplane and its pilot. They re-precious, disordered and mutually hostile conditions. "Dr. Benes believes that Marshal Foch's visit has drawn his country nearer France, but it is too soon to expect this tendency to take the form of a military or other convention. He believes, too, that Czechoslovakia and place, in fact, ordinary fixed wings. The pilot relies for forward speed on his engine-driven screw, and steers and balances with ordinary controls.

It is claimed that this machine can be brought to earth at as slow a forward pace as six miles an hour, insuring safe landing in far smaller areas than have been considered feasible hitherto, and that in the event of a total failure of the engine a slow, safe, "parachute" descent can be effected.

JOFFRE IN HORIZON BLUE; GIVES UP RED TROUSERS

Paris June 28.—Marshal Joffre, four and a half years after the end of the World War, recently for the first time donned the familiar "horizon blue" adopted for the infantry after its first defeats in 1914, which were attributed to the conspicuous red trousers then worn.

Joffre stuck to the red trousers and dark blue jacket. He is very uncommittal, and no one knows just why he waited until now to discard them. Intimate friends gave as the reason why he refrained from wearing the horizon blue during the war because he felt it would have smacked of affectation for the head of the army to change the habitual color of his uniform to that worn by the rank and file which was doing the fighting and making the horizon blue popular.

Great quantities of acorns harvested from oak trees along the lower Columbia River were recently used to fatten hogs and chickens.

Tellegen Figures Again in Divorce As Corespondent

Just Through With Defense of Farrar Suit, Is Named as One of Five in Action Begun by Lew Reed, Actor.

New York, June 28.—Lou Tellegen, actor, having just got through with the experience of being a defendant in a divorce suit brought by Geraldine Farrar Tellegen, prima donna, now figures in another action as one of several co-respondents.

The suit in which the name of Tellegen has been introduced was filed by Mrs. Jessie Reed, a vaudeville actress, for a divorce from Lew Reed, also an actor. Mrs. Reed names one Dorothy Blake, with whom, she says, her husband was friendly at various places and dates. Reed has filed a counteraction, in which he accuses his wife of affairs with Lou Tellegen in 1922 in Minneapolis, in the same year with Jack Wilson in Chicago, with Harry A. Roosevelt on Thanksgiving Day in Washington and with Arthur Lyons and Jack Curtis during a period from 1919 to 1923.

Tellegen, Lyons and Wilson have filed affidavits that the charges are without foundation, insofar as they are concerned, Tellegen saying he "denies emphatically" relations with the vaudeville actress. Justice Wasservogel granted Mrs. Reed $85 a week alimony since and $500 counsel fees. She said she was receiving from $200 to $250 a week on the stage, but that she adopted that career after her marriage because her husband induced her to do so. She said Reed has not supported her since. Within the next few days, it is understood, Thomas H. Mahoney will file his report as referee in the case of Tellegen vs. Tellegen and will recommend a decree for Mrs. Tellegen. All that remains after the report is filed is its confirmation by the court, the issuance of an interlocutory decree and after a period of three months the granting of a final decree.

Chicago Civic Opera Deficit Is $351,718
Season Most Successful Ever Held in City, With Receipts $68,091 More Than Previous Year.

718-98, the trustees at their annual meeting described it as the most successful financially in the history of operation in Chicago. The total receipts for the ten weeks in Chicago and three weeks on the road were $68,091 greater than the preceding season, and the prediction is that they will be still larger next season.

The deficit to be made up among the 2,200 guarantors of the company who will be taxed only 70 per cent. of what they pledged at the beginning of the season. Twenty-six operas were presented last season and seventy-two performances were given, five more than the preceding year. Plans for the coming season are for eighty-five performances. The ten weeks in Chicago is to be extended to eleven and a half weeks, and the road tour, which lasted three weeks last season, also is to be prolonged.

ETHEL BARRYMORE SUES FOR DIVORCE AFTER SEPARATION

Papers Filed in Providence Reveal Failure of the Marital Career of Noted Actress—Peace Efforts are Futile.

Providence, June 28.—After threatening since 1911 to divorce Russell G. Colt, of this city, son of the late Colonel Samuel P. Colt, millionaire rubber king, whom she married in 1909 at Hyde Park, Mass., in the rectory of the Roman Catholic Church of the Precious Blood, Ethel Barrymore, stage celebrity for more than a quarter of a century, has actually started proceedings for divorce, it was learned here.

Papers in the suit have been filed in the Superior Court of Providence and the case is set for hearing during next week. The belief prevails here that her husband will not contest the suit.

Miss Barrymore's attorney arranged for service of the writ on Mr. Colt at the cigar stand of the Biltmore Hotel here on April 28.

Simultaneous with this information it became known that Countess Eleanor Curran Moroni has filed suit in the Superior Court for divorce from Count Girolamo Moroni. Countess Moroni, together with Mr. and Mrs. Colt and their three children, was a beneficiary under the will of Colonel Colt. She charges non-support and desertion.

Although action to divorce the son of the late president of the United States Rubber Company has seemed imminent since a few years after their marriage, the news that a suit was actually started by Miss Barrymore was a surprise to friends of the couple in this city.

Shared in Colt Estate. Under the terms of the will of Colonel Colt, Russel G. Colt, Ethel Barrymore Colt, his wife, and their three children were all named as beneficiaries. Mr. Colt, besides receiving outright $100,000, also received one-sixth of the residuary estate and Linden Place, the beautiful summer residence of the Colts at Bristol for a home for himself and his family.

In addition to a joint share with her husband in the estate owned by Colonel Colt at Mamaroneck, N. Y., and occupied by her and her children, Miss Barrymore received $25,000 in cash by the terms of the will. Each of the three children was given $50,000.

Stage the actress was playing in a Boston theatre. The ceremony, performed in March, was held with special dispensations, since it was during the Lenten season.

Met Mr. Colt in London. Previous to her marriage Miss Barrymore was several times reported engaged to others, including Laurence Irving and Captain Henry Graham. Her engagement to Mr. Colt came as a great surprise to Miss Barrymore's friends. She met Mr. Colt through her brother, John Barrymore, who became acquainted with the Providence man while the latter was a student at Yale. Mr. Barrymore introduced Mr. Colt to his sister in London.

Miss Barrymore is a daughter of the late Maurice Barrymore and Georgie Barrymore, stage celebrities of their time. She was born in 1878. Her stage debut was in 1895. Mr. and Mrs. Colt have three children, Samuel Pomeroy, named after his paternal grandfather; John Drew and Ethel Colt. The children at present make their home with their mother in New York.

A statement issued in New York on more, announced that she and Mr. Colt had separated. The announcement settled for that time the intermittent rumors of ten years. It disclosed that there would be no suit for divorce and that the actress would have the custody of the three children.

"Mr. Colt's Fault." The grounds for separation were not set forth. John Drew, Miss Barrymore's uncle, said they might be expressed as "domestic infelicity," adding that "whatever the cause is, it's Mr. Colt's fault."

Miss Barrymore was released from Flower Hospital the day the statement was issued, following operations in Cleveland and here upon her fingers and tonsils, which had become infected.

ed. The operations in Cleveland interrupted a tour of "Declasse." A month later they were together, however, both declaring they had no quarrel. No legal proceedings had been contemplated, they insisted.

One month before the separation Mr. Colt, interviewed here, while his wife was in the Ohio hospital, denied any estrangement. He served as an army lieutenant overseas during the war and has been in various business ventures.

Countess Moroni is well known in and around Providence. She formerly lived at the Providence-Biltmore and with the Colt family at the Bristol place. It was said papers in her suit were filed May 1 and served on her husband at his home in Milan, Italy, on May 22. Hearing in the case also probably will be during the week of July 2.

The Countess is a resident of Montreal. At present she is camping in Quebec. She is represented in her suit by Joseph E. Grimes and George C. Clinton, of this city, as counsel. Gardner, Moss & Haslam of this city, are attorneys for her husband. This law firm also is representing Miss Barrymore.

The first dinner dance of the season was held last night at the Riverside Golf and Country Club and was greatly enjoyed. The attendance was slightly lessened by the unfavorable weather conditions.

Postponed Game.
The Vets-St. Peter's game scheduled for last night was postponed on account of the wet grounds. There were many that made their way to the grounds because of the fine evening, but arrangements had been made in the afternoon to postpone the game.
Five Pitchers Used.
The Moncton team won their regular two-1 league fixture against the Quinny team last night at Moncton with a score of 6 to 3. The home team used two pitchers and the visitors three.
St. Peter's to Capital.
The St. Peter's team left the city last night for Fredericton where they will play a double header today with the league leaders. It is thought probable that the St. Peter's will have Green, a new pitcher, and also a new infielder, Lefty Strecker will probably be started in the afternoon.

System Run Down
Blood Out of Order
Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is, when, as a rule, it is improper circulation of the blood. All they need is a good tonic to build up the system and put the blood into proper shape. For this purpose there is nothing on the market today to equal
Burdock Blood Bitters
It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system. Mrs. H. Poole, Port Dover, Ont., writes:—"My system was run down and my blood out of order, and I suffered a great deal from pain in my head which made me feel very miserable. A friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle and before it was used I found it was doing me good. I kept on until I had taken three, and now I feel like a different woman. My husband also took it and it has built him up."

SERUM SEEMS CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

New York University Medical School Has Achieved Remarkable Success.

(New York Times) No more pain and no more crippling because of rheumatism are a possibility of the future, judging from the results obtained in the last four years from an entirely new method of treatment of the disease at the clinic of New York University Medical School, First Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street. This treatment consists of a series of serum injections administered twice a week.

More than 5,000 cases have been handled with 80 per cent. improved to a point just this side of what can be termed a positive cure, according to a statement from the school yesterday. Many of the patients, however, have reached the point of calling it a cure because they no longer suffer pain and the conditions which hindered or prevented their movements have entirely disappeared.

The serum used is a graduated series of streptococcus viridans, which the doctors in the clinic acknowledge to be the underlying cause of rheumatism. A small amount of the serum is used at the beginning and gradually built up to a comparatively huge dose. At least twenty treatments are administered and the immediate results are astonishing in some cases. One man who was brought to the clinic two weeks ago could not walk a step, and recently he hopped off the floor with both feet. This improvement followed four doses of the serum.

The doctors in charge of the clinic regard his reaction as an unusually quick one and due to his particular body acceptance of the serum. Other patients show an equally great improvement, but after a longer period of treatment. From 100 to 110 patients are treated on Monday and Friday afternoons. The patients vary from young men and women in their early twenties to those who are well past the half century mark.

Chronic sufferers from rheumatism, or "multiple infection arthritis," as medical science calls the disease, have heretofore received various kinds of treatment, ranging from baking the affected part and many forms of massage to the home remedy of rubbing with snake oil. The latter was and still is credited with magic healing powers in backwoods sections of the country.

LEPROSY AMENABLE TO TREATMENT

(United States Public Health Service.) Leprosy is in a measure amenable to treatment, says the U. S. Public Health Service. During the last ten years (1912-21) a considerable percentage of the lepers segregated at the Kalaupapa Hospital near Honolulu and on Molokai Island have been paroled; that is, they have been released as being "not a menace to the public health," but have been required to report for examination at certain intervals which vary with the individual case. Of those paroled about thirteen per cent. have relapsed and have returned to segregation; but about one-fourth of these were later paroled for the second time. In all, 242 lepers were paroled; thirty-one relapsed and seven of these were later paroled. Ten were completely released from parole.

The chance of arresting the disease decreased with the length of time that it had been allowed to go without treatment unless this period was seven years or more. Apparently patients who survive without treatment for seven years possess powers of resistance that largely increase their chances for marked improvement under treatment.

Those who desire it are treated with chaulmoogra oil and its derivatives. The parole system was begun in 1912 and has worked admirably. Those friends that the conditions existing at the hospital were good; and the mere fact that they had been released has shown that segregation might lead to cure and not to lifelong confinement, as it almost invariably did previous to 1912. As a consequence many lepers, instead of concealing the disease up to the last possible moment (and thereby spreading it through the community) are now surrendering of their own accord and taking treatment. This earlier surrender and earlier treatment hasten the degree of improvement that will secure parole and will later, perhaps, complete release. About seventy per cent. of these who have been paroled were in segregation for less than two years.

Hair Often Ruined by Careless Washing

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulafied coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and grassless, and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. You can get Mulafied coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you "Mulafied." Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.
