School Concert a Great Success

Although it was Saturday night, and a very stormy one, the people of St. George packed Court's Hall to the doors to see and hear the best concert of its kind ever given in St. George. The program consists of fourteen numbers as follows: 1. Violin and Piano J. Watt E. O'Brien 2. Sunflower song Seven girls 3. Clown drill 4. Recitation Normal Stuart 5. Parol drill Group of girls 6. Recitation Leo Armstrong 7. Song Carrie Gillmor 8. Fan drill Group of girls and boys 9. Recitation Wesley Spindley 10. Tableau Ralph Dadds, six girls 11. Recitation Six boys 12. Song Laura Meating 13. Violin and Piano J. Watt E. O'Brien 14. Farce Her busy day Mrs. Newwood Mr. Newwood Mrs. Knower Kattie The Pedler Officer Eagle Roy Tom Bluff Happy Jack Nick Mike

The programme commenced about eight o'clock with an instrumental duet by Mr. James Watt and Miss Edna O'Brien. Mr. Watt is indeed talented, and with the excellent support given him by his accompanist, received a well deserved applause. The "Sunflower song" was rendered in a creditable manner and was conspicuous as a novelty. The "Clown and Parol" drills are also worthy of special mention, and were performed in a manner which won much applause. Miss Gillmor's rendering of "Mona" was exceedingly praise worthy. Her voice was clear and sweet and her effort was appreciated. Undoubtedly the most striking feature of the event was the "Fan Drill." The fact that this function of the programme was performed so successfully gives evidence of much practice. Another novel and very attractive number was the tableau, "Miss Laura Meating rendered her Indian solo in a pleasing and "sans peur" style. "Her busy day" was the last number of the programme, but it was by no means the least. The leading lady was Miss Gillmor who again distinguished herself. All parts were well taken, and much commendation is reflected on those who had charge of this part of the programme. The national anthem concluded the programme. The sum of $51.58 was cleared. We understand that the sum of $40.76 has already been placed to the credit of the school which makes a total of $92.34. The principal and teachers are to be congratulated upon their great success and the people of our town rightly showed their appreciation by the grand attendance and perfect audience which they gave every number of the programme. Noise and disorder were conspicuous by their absence, and we are sure this gratifying to the principal and staff. The discipline and instruction of the school are of tremendous import and the interest of the public is essential. Let us stand by the teachers and school. We understand that there is a probability of the concert being repeated in the near future, if so let us pack the hall again and show that we know a good thing when we see it.

St. George Big Carnival

On Wednesday evening the people of St. George enjoyed the first carnival of the season. The new rink was a scene of grandeur. The bad ice was the first advantage, one end of the rink having an inch or two of water on it, this however did not mar the event and all was merriment. About one hundred and ten were in costume, representing many different casts and characters.

The new acetylene lights proved a great success, and as the dancers glided to and fro with costumes and disguises of various hues the scene was one of magnificence to the hundreds of spectators present.

Miss Josephine captured the ladies' prize in the costume of a gypsy princess, and a special prize was awarded Miss McLaughlin by the judges who had some difficulty in deciding between these two beauties. Miss McLaughlin was attired as a nobleman.

The gentleman's prize was awarded to Mr. Joseph Clark who represented a Russian Grand Duke. The combination prize went to Mr. Leo McGrattan and his troupe, Messrs. Artie Franley, Lew McGrattan, and Hazen McGowan. Leo McGrattan as lecturer was a success, and Messrs. Franley and McGrattan acted well their parts as Perry and Cook, their arguments at times being, to say the least, quite strenuous. Mr. McGowan as the Policeman was also quite pronounced in his attempts to be amiable, especially among the gentler sex. This feature of the event was worthy of very special mention it being both novel and stupendous.

The following is the list of those representing the different characters: Bert Douglas Indian Bert Cameron Happy Hooligan H. McLartyre German Soldier J. W. Dick Mexican Ray Cavley Scotch Lassie Harold Goss Cow Boy Clare O'Neill Girl from N. S. Mrs. E. A. C. Gilchrist, Mrs. C. Hazen McGee, and Dr. H. I. Taylor, M. P. P., were very satisfactory as judges. At the conclusion of the carnival a large number enjoyed a dance at the Drageorgian Hall.

Moose Hunting in Charlotte County

All game in Charlotte County is protected by the law. The law allows a season for hunting which opens September, 15th, and closes November 30th. During this season any resident of New Brunswick may purchase from the government a licence (fee $2.00) which allows him or her to shoot, one Bull Moose, one Bull Caribou and two Deer. A non-resident for the same privilege has to pay $50.00 (quantity is restricted to a female if she shoots nothing included under this licence.)

The law also protects the bull moose to some extent. Any bull moose not fifty years old, or without not having three points on each antler, cannot be shot under a penalty not exceeding $150. The moose is a large and beautiful animal and develops a large set of antlers each year sometimes measuring 44 broad as 70 inches. These antlers drop off late in the fall thus allowing the moose to enter the thicket for shelter. They have very acute scent and hearing, and great instinct which enables them to foil the hunter.

In the first of the season we find these animals located about streams, lakes and meadow lands, feeding mostly on water grasses and lily-pads which they gather by standing in the water until it is nearly over their backs. In this part of the season they are generally hunted by calling, when calling, one imitates the call of the cow which can be heard for two or three miles on a still night. When the bull hears this call he answers and runs in the direction of the call. Having come up to close range he circles around the leeward of the call and by the use of his nostrils tries to ascertain whether it is a friend or foe. If he finds out it is an enemy he will give a snort and retreat generally in that direction he came. But the crafty hunter does not wait for him to make the circle for he sends his companion to cut him off, while he himself keeps calling.

Each fall on the 14th, September, form a party of four or five and take the train for Bonny River where we get teams and pack on bedding, provisions, stove, and tent, and start for the meadow lands which lie about seven miles from the depot. When we get there we pitch the tent, build the bunk, and cut enough wood to do over night. In the morning the caller stations the rest of the party in trees, and then gets in one himself. As the best calling is near a heath, we all have to get in trees so as to be able to see over the small heathstack, which always grow on it. The caller then starts and calls about fifteen minutes till he gets an answer and does not call any longer unless the moose is moving, so that he will not detect any difference to the call. The moose will come up to the heath and then stop and listen. The caller will then turn back to him and call low, the sound seems to be further away than it really is, and he will start again. We all wait until he is in the centre and then open fire, and as we are all in trees, there is no danger of shooting one another. Early this fall we went further up on Bonny River and called and two moose answered and came, when within a short distance of the call they met and engaged in battle. This fighting and roaring lasted until it was too dark to shoot. We returned in the morning and the place where they had been fighting. It was usually found holes that were dug, the young ones that were broken down, and a hair that was lying around. We then travelled down and called the next day. We were in a bunch on Bonny River and a b the moose to come out in the heath, the rest of us went to the other end of the heath. The caller started one by the first call which came up to the edge of the heath and then circled to get to leeward of the call. He circled and came out on the barren. The caller could see him now but would not shoot as he had said he would let the rest of them do the shooting, and still further the head did not suit him. As the moose would come no further and we could not get near enough to shoot without him hearing or smelling us, the caller had to slide to the ground, and then creep to the edge of the barren where he killed him with four shots.

Obituary

MR. ARCH MCVICAR

On Sunday night, at Northfield, Vt. death claimed as its victim one well known to all of us—Arch McVicar. He was born in St. George and lived here during the greater part of his life. Some time ago he moved to Northfield, Vt. where he followed his occupation as a stone carver. He had been in poor health for some time but it was not thought that his condition was serious and his death was a great shock to all who knew him. He was a kindly fellow, a general favorite and loved by all who knew him and the many expressions of sympathy for the bereaved ones give ample evidence of the sincere sorrow over his untimely death. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and also of the Stone Cutters Union. Although not a member of any church he was of a Baptist family and an adherent of that body. He was also a member of the St. George band while here. The survivors are his father Peter McVicar of St. George, two sisters Mrs. Edward Milliken of Vancouver, B. C., and Miss Nellie McVicar of Chicago, and a wife and little child. The body will leave Northfield on Tuesday morning for St. George, where the funeral will take place on Thursday. The deceased was thirty-four years of age. The "Greetings" wishes to express its sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

PETER JUDGE

Peter Judge, a native of St. Andrews, died at the Chipman hospital on Monday afternoon, following a short illness from pneumonia. Deceased was 60 years of age and was well known here. He is survived by three brothers.

Vowed to the service of our native

Across the Empire be our message heard,

That every loyal heart may under-

'Love without knowledge is a bar-

Let us help knowledge with this printed page,

The Mother call her daughter cross the sea,

Sisters their Sisters love and help engage,

And link the Nations of our Empire free,

Henceforth no more their separate paths to tread

But pressing onward, hands locked fast in hands,

Upon the self-same road, by Freedom led,

See the close ranks of our united lands.

Lover of concord, Thou, Who hatest

Grant that the "greater love" at length be won;

Let each for each surrender even life

And, bound in mutual service, make us one.

A Sporting Tragedy

In early youth he loved and wooed,
And oh! his ways were wondrous gentle;

For sports, which he considered rude
He did not care one continental;

But, though her heart he strove to gain

With many a tender word and deed he Found all his amorous efforts vain

Because she thought him far too weedy.

"The man who marries me must show
Some skill at outdoor exercises,
Have scored his century or so

And won his share of sporting prizes.

In time, perhaps, I'll love you well,
And may consent to have you by me,

But now you cannot even tell
A cut past cover from a stymie."

He strove to bang the hefty four,
He learned to bowl the googly twist-ter,

To lean upon the lusty oar,
Disdainful of the frequent blister,
All sports proved potent to deligh-

One who had been so limp a lover,
From over-flying Wilbur Wright
To under-studying a shover.

But, though the prospect of her hand
First turned his taste in this direction,

Sport's fascination gripped him, and Stiffed his premature affection.

The passing years have left him free;
Her words on Man are simply cutting;

A solitary spinster she,
While he's—improving in his putting.

How any Girl may Become Popular

Very easily managed, and yet how few people trouble to earn the adjective
"popular" as a prefix to their name.

It has become a threadbare platitude to state that the pretty girl is usually the most unpopular. The sad cause of her lack of fascination is also too well known.

The popular person must have an excellent temper, and a placid indifference to teasing and chaff, for the average friend in certain irritable moods finds the greatest relief in tormenting somebody, and the popular person is invariably chosen for the attack. To accept good natured ridicule with a smiling face is a sure and certain road to social success and the title "awfully sporting."

The girl who can also refrain from asking questions is sought after. Frank-cense and myrrh are offered at her shrine, and her circle of friends grows rapidly as her reputation for a sympathetic but un-inquiring listener travels quickly. The fact that they—girls—all suffer from the feminine failing, curiosity. To be able to give an attentive ear to voluntary information without interrupting with numberless "why's" and "wherefore's" is an art which should be cultivated.

The girl who can respect the secrecy of a secret and not talk scandal as a jewel beyond price, but, like so many priceless things, is extremely difficult to find. A popular person is usually the recipient of confessions, and realizes the disastrous effects of the terrible feminine accomplishment of subtle suggestion.

Between girls the individual who is termed a "girly girl" is never a general favorite. Like the "womanly woman," she overplays her part. The result is that, instead of being a sensible, jolly femate, she merges into a gushing, clinging creature who delights in those boring conversations commonly known as "brush and comb" talks.

To be popular one must pose either as an advanced woman or one of the "old fashioned type," but cultivate a perfectly natural manner, and keep any pet sankism well in the background.

Among girls there is keen rivalry as to "best boys," and the woman who is continually charming other people's male friends away is always boycotted by her own sex. The woman who does not endeavor to inveigle the fickle heart of man from the grasp of a chum is the favorite, and is invited to form a fourth at many merry meetings. The popular person must be kindly candid, and adhere to the principal that it is better to raise a laugh at your own expense than allow an assembly to become dull and bored.

The pose of many women in these days of hyperculture is one in which they profess a dislike of children. In reality it is merely a deflection, but one which detracts very greatly from their charms.

Popular people never seem conscious of their exalted position, or take advantage of its numerous privileges. Adaptability too, is indispensable, as married chums delight in inviting you to share their castle or cottage when they know you will appreciate and enjoy either with equal gratitude.

Always wear a smile, but don't mistake an inane grin for the angel's manner of expressing pleasure. The smile must be genuine and conveyed by the eyes as well as the mouth, otherwise it becomes an automatic crack in the face.

Popular people are seldom dowdy, though compelled to be shabby; for nothing is more depressing than a badly rotten friend who appears to yearn for high things than a little vanity and becoming hats.

Never act as a wet blanket on any penderiture, however mad it may be, or however loudly condemned by one's common sense.

And remember, the popular person never laughs—in the wrong place.

It Has Killed Hundreds

Strong purgatives have killed many a good man. Costiveness is bad—violent cathartics are worse. If bothered with stomach trouble or biliousness, try Dr.
Hamilton's Pills. They are so mild you can scarcely feel their action, yet so effective that the entire system is cleansed of wastes. Dr. Hamilton's Pills move the bowels gently, they tone the kidneys, assist digestion, clear the skin. For those subject to cold, biliousness, langor there is no better medicine.
Try a 25c. box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Human Laws Defined

Ordinances which such as have lawful authority, given them for that purpose, do probably draw from the laws of nature and of God, by discourse of reason aided with the influence of divine grace.

—Hooker.

Measures in respect of men whose actions they must direct, how be it such measures they are, as also have their higher rules to be measured by, which rules are two, the law of God, and the law of nature.—Thomas Aquinas.

Not a matter of original choice, but of pure necessity, brought in to fence against the mischievous effects of those con-sciences which are no law unto themselves; wisely intending, by the many provisions, made, that in all such corrupt and misguided cases, when principles and the checks of conscience will not make us upright, to supply their force, and by the terrors of jails and halters oblige us to it.—Sterne.

succeeded in making as good a reme-

UNCOVERING EGYPT.

Fish Out of Water.

A fish with very singular habits exists in New Zealand, called by the Maoris the kakawai. It is generally discovered when a man is digging out rabbit holes in the summertime, and it lies at a depth of a foot or two feet under the soil.

Jewish Marriage Custom.

"The Jews have a number of interesting marriage customs," says a writer in Cassell's Saturday Journal. "One usually takes place before the ceremony, and consists of a declaration on the part of the bride that, should her husband die before her, she will not call on his brother to marry her.

The World's Water.

The surface of the sea is estimated at 150,000,000 square miles, taking the whole surface of the globe at 197,000,000, and its greatest depth supposedly equals the height of the highest mountain, or four miles.

Highest Average of Life.

Statistics show that the highest average of life is found among agricultural workers.

Free Lances.

After the crusades a great many knights and their equines found themselves out of employment. Wandering from state to state, selling their services to any lord who was willing to pay them their price, they were given the very appropriate name of "free lances"—men who were at liberty to fight for any one who wanted them.

Preserving Terraces.

If there are terraces where heavy rains cause the soil to slip off, a good and permanent remedy is to set common barberry bushes rather closely on the terrace. The roots will hold up the ground and keep it safe from freshets.

Brushing a Hat.

A hat should always be brushed in the direction opposite to the hands of a clock. Otherwise the pile of the felt is taken out and the hat gives a cheap, poor appearance.

Brooms.

A heavy broom should always be selected in preference to a light one for thorough sweeping, as the weight aids in the process. In buying a broom, test it by pressing the edge against the floor. If the straws brittle out from bend, the broom is a poor one, for they should remain in a firm, solid mass.

Railways Expect to Handle the Crop Without Difficulty.

At the present moment the western section of Canada is claiming all the spare capacity of the Canadian Pacific in preparation for the handling of the harvest. The task is a big one, even if it is not as close as the passenger department is now busily engaged making arrangement for these trains. But this is only the beginning of the railway problem, and by no means the hardest part of it.

Not to Be Dared.

Although Johnnie's and Willie's mothers are warm friends, those boys are always fighting each other. After a recent battle the victorious Johnnie was urged by his mother to go and make friends with his fallen foe. She even offered to give him a party if he would go over and invite Willie to come to that festivity.

Wanted to Help the Little Fellow.

Two men were engaged in sawing timber in the Maine woods. One was a big, heavy and very fierce looking fellow, the other a meek and inoffensive little chap. They were using a crosscut saw. A big Irishman happened along and, after standing there a few minutes watching them pull back and forth, decided that the big one was trying to take advantage of the other. The Irishman reprimanded the big fellow, which caused a row. After Pat had given him a good thrashing he turned and said, "Now, I give ye'll let the little fellow have it, be-gorry!"—Judge's Library.

Address
GREETINGS PUBLISHING COMPANY, LIMITED
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1910

As will be seen by referring to the top of this column, Greetings starts out with this issue under a new management. Mr. Lynott, the former manager has retired and Ralph H. Young takes the Editorial Chair and T. C. Choisset becomes Manager.

The new Editor is not altogether unknown to the constituency, having been on the staff during the summer months of 1908, and by a personal canvass added many names to the subscription list. Though engaged in literary work, Editorial work is comparatively new to him, and for this reason he would crave the indulgence of subscribers until he becomes more familiar with the work. He promises to deal fairly with all and will claim the privilege of independence of dealing with questions social, religious or political.

Mr. T. C. Choisset is an expert as a printer, having been connected with the business for upwards of twenty years. Steady improvement in the make up of the paper may be expected under his management. With the Co-operation of the business men, he will make the advertising department attractive and profitable to the advertiser, to such a degree that none can afford to neglect taking space in the columns of The People's Paper. For the standing and character of Mr. Choisset we can best call your attention to the address and presentation given him upon his leaving Parrsboro, his former place of residence.

THE NEW DEAL ON THE I. C. R.

We are heartily in sympathy with the position recently taken by the 'Sun' on the policy to be adopted by the People's Railway. With the retirement of Mr. Butler from his three fold position, that of Deputy Minister, Chief Engineer and Chairman of the Board of Commissioners there must be some reconstruction. That suggested by the Sun is to the point, that is, that one good general Manager be appointed with head quarters at Moncton, rather than Ottawa, and that he be given a free hand to cope with existing conditions, in the interests both of the road as a business institution and of the territory which it serves, and that such a salary be offered him as to be an inducement to the best.

Mr. Fortinger is a good man and would be well qualified for the position, possibly his age would be against him for the full responsibility, but as Deputy Minister he would be a valuable Adviser. The one man eminently fitted for such a position is Hon. H. R. Emmerson. During his two years administration of affairs he proved himself master of the situation with his experience and practical knowledge of railroading and especially of conditions which obtain on the I. C. R., the country can ill afford not to have him as General Manager of what, under his direction, would be, a popular paying investment.

Great Britain's Strength

The following table which will be found in the recent report is commended to the kindly and serious consideration of those who would have a believe that it would send a few millions over to London in the next few weeks, that Britannia will cease to rule the waves forthwith.

Relative Order of Warship Tonnage

Name	At Present	Completed	With all Vessels
Great Britain	1,758,350	2,005,873
United States	682,785	785,687
Germany	609,700	820,692
France	602,920	766,909
Japan	396,368	489,704
Russia	259,263	412,250
Italy	216,038	257,818
Austria	114,897	167,297

In confirmation of this view, many British utterances might be quoted. Just one week ago to-day, the Chancellor speaking at Reading, paid his respects to the scare-makers "who mistook the rattling of the milkmaid's cans in the morning for the jingle of spurs of German Hussars." On the sea, he declared, Great Britain has three times as many men and three times as much material as Germany. Did these scare-makers think a German would eat three Brits as if they were three frankfort sausages?

The people who imagine that the Germans are roaring lions going about seeking whom they may devour have a difficult task on hand when they attempt to prove their case by authentic evidences. A certain labour representative has been making quite a fuss in England about German aggression, but the Rt. Hon. John Burns tells us not to worry as the man's views are warped. Otherwise no prominent voice in Great Britain argues that the danger from Germany is immediate, and few admit that it is even remote.

Those who examine the facts will be surprised to know that Germany's present fleet does not equal that of the United States. Uncle Sam could go up against the Kaiser at the present moment with a fair chance of success. And even Uncle Sam admits that Great Britain's fleet is immeasurably superior to his.

The real truth of the matter, as pointed out by the Scientific American, is that Germany had to get into a feverish haste over warship-building or the United States would have had a fleet immeasurably superior to Germany's. That journal says: "As late as a year ago, when Germany had no Dreadnoughts afloat, she actually possessed only fourteen battleships capable of fighting effectively at modern ranges, as against twenty five flying the United States flag and forty-nine under that of Great Britain."

Canada the Land of Rails

The annual report of the controller of railway statistics tabled in the Commons today contained some interesting and illuminating particulars as to the growth, mileage, business and earning power of the railways of Canada, and as to the number and character of the railway accidents during the last fiscal year.

The mileage of railways in actual operation increased 1,138 in 1909, as compared with 514 miles in 1908, exclusive of 675 miles of railway open for traffic on the new Transcontinental line which is officially returned as being still under construction. On June 30th last it was estimated that at least 300 miles were in process of being built. The total mileage on that date is given as 30,080 miles.

Comparative statistics show that Canada has the largest railway mileage in proportion to population of any country in the world, while in relation to area it has the smallest.

Canadian railways carried 32,683,500 passengers and 36,842,238 tons of freight in 1909, a decrease of 2,361,683 in the number of passengers, and an increase of 3,771,691 in the freight tonnage, as compared with 1908. The aggregate of earnings for the year were $145,056,336, a decrease of 1,861,977, as compared with 1908. Operating expenses were $104,600,084 a decrease of $3,704,058. The net revenue was $40,456,251, showing a betterment of $842,080 as against 1908.

Some interesting statistics are given in regard to accidents: There were 478 killed and 1,408 injured on Canadian railways in 1909, representing an increase of the number killed and a decrease in the number injured. Of the fatalities 36 were passengers, 182 employees, 190 trespassers, and 67 non-trespassers. Six passengers were killed in collisions and 83 injured. One passenger in every 907,869 was killed, and one in every 116,311 injured.

THE WISE BUYER

The wise buyer does not get things just because her neighbor has them. She does not get a thing because it is cheap, nor does she think that it means beauty. She does not buy things just because they are in the height of style. She purchases neither more than she needs, nor less. Both methods are the former of goods, one's temper. She gets into the habit of

The Man The Printer Loves

There is a man the printer loves
And he is wondrous wise,
Whenever he writes to the printer man
He doteth all his 's.

And when he corrects all of them
With carefulness and ease,
He punctuates each paragraph,
And crosses all his 's.

Upon one side alone he writes,
And never rolls his leaves;
And from the man of ink a smile
And mark "insert" receives.

And when a question he doth ask—Taught wisely he hath been—
He doth a goodly stamp insert,
For postage back again.

He gives the place from which he writes,
For that the printer needs;
And plainly writes his full address,
So "he that runneth" reads.

He writes, revises, reads, corrects,
Rewrites it all again,
And keeps one copy safe and sound
One to the printer man.

And thus by taking little pains,
And trifling care and cost,
Assures himself his manuscript
Will not be burned or lost.

So let all those who long to write,
Take pattern by this man;
With jet black ink and paper white,
Do just the best they can.

And then the printer man will know,
And bless them as his friends;
All through life's journey as they go
Until that journey ends.—Scraphook.

Testimonial

to
Mr. Thomas Carroll Choisset on the occasion of his removal to St. George, N. B.

The Rector and Parishioners of St. George's Church, Parrsboro, N. S.
To Mr. Thomas Carroll Choisset,
Dear Tom,—

We the Rector and parishioners of St. George's church, wish to take this favorable opportunity when we are assembled in the Rectory on the eve of our departure, to express in words, however feebly, our real regret that circumstances compel you to leave us. Also to tell you how very much your services in all branches of church work have been appreciated by us. We had become accustomed to think in the past that "bankers and parsons" may come and go, but Tom goes on forever! but this was completely "knocked on the head" when we heard that you were "pulling up your stakes", and leaving the old church and town. Since you were old enough to toddle, you have been actively engaged in church work and in matters pertaining to the betterment of the town. Leaving the acknowledgment of your services to the members, and a good work has been inaugurated which will bear fruit a hundred fold in the near future.

In our concerts, plays, and social gatherings, it was also "Tom here, and Tom there, and Tom everywhere." So when we say "Au revoir" to you we are saying it to a faithful churchman, who always "done what he could."

We ask you to accept this accompanying purse as a small token of our sincere affection and good wishes to you and your good wife and children in the days to come in your new home.

"May the Lord be with you And with His Spirit."
Signed on behalf of the parishioners,
George Backhurst
Rector.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

The Stmr. Viking is expected to arrive here on Thursday.

The situation at Glace Bay, C.B.R., seems to grow more serious, with no signs of a settlement. On Monday the striking were fired upon by the police and one man was shot. Another encounter followed and there were many injuries on both sides. It is considered as the worst strike in the history of Nova Scotia.

Clergymen in St. Stephen are agitating the repeal of the Scott Act, at least three prominent ministers have lost faith in the law and in the interests of temperance, advocate the adoption of the New Brunswick local option act. The trouble is not in the Scott Act itself but in the difficulty in finding citizens willing to enforce it. Local option is enforced by provincial officers.

The Moncton Transcript says: "The Richmond Review has changed hands, and in the future the editor and manager will be Mr. Lynott, who has been running the Granite Town Green, St. George, N. B. Mr. George A. Hatchinson, barrister, who has been devoting a portion of his time as manager of the Review, has severed his connection with the paper and in future will give all his time to practice of his profession."

The local paper is the most effective advertising medium through which to combat the mail order houses. Yet the local business men sometimes fail to utilize its columns. In some cases the home papers are obliged to accept contracts from the mail order houses to make up for advertising which should come from local sources. One of the best advertising mediums is "Greetings."

As far as can be learned, the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co. at Springhill, N. S. have fully decided not to open up any negotiations with their striking employees. It is also evident that the Company intend to resume operations as soon as possible. No matter whether one's sympathy is with men or management no one can fail to admire the loyalty of the officials to the Company. Over five months ago they left their comfortable offices, laid aside their ordinary wearing apparel and donned miner's clothes and began heavy manual work to which they were totally unaccustomed. For five months they received no extra remuneration and continued work with no complaint. After securing sufficient foreigners to afford them relief at the fire doors and around the bank heads, they then went into the mines and began coal cutting. It is rumored that their strength has been augmented by a limited number of skilled miners. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the Company have been able to bring coal to the surface. It has been learned from one of the officials that if the strike is continued the allowance to the men is barely sufficient to keep body and soul together, and if it comes to a termination, only a limited number of hands can be given employment. The condition of the town of Springhill is the question which we are discussing, and whether the strike is justifiable or not. We take no side with the Company, nor do we side with the men as there are many strong points of grievance on both sides.

St. Stephen, N. B., Jan. 24.—Nominations for town officials took place here tonight at 6 o'clock. W. A. Dinmore was nominated mayor and as there was no other candidate Town Clerk James Vro declared him elected. The new mayor has sat at the council board for ten years and has become thoroughly familiar with town affairs and will no doubt prove himself an efficient officer.

Mayor Grimmer has served the town faithfully and well and many citizens would have been pleased to have him serve the town a second term.

The councillors for Dukes ward were Councillor J. R. Sederquest and as they were unopposed they were declared elected.

There will be a three-concerned fight in Kings and Queens wards.

The Kings ward candidate are councillor J. T. Whitlock, J. P. Wry and George H. Badd.

Queens ward candidates are S. B. Mills, Eugene Thornton and Elwell DeVoll. The assessors were returned unopposed Queens ward, J. E. Douglas; Kings ward Thos. McGeachy; Dukes ward, Harry L. Wall. Word was received here to-day announcing the death of Ira Lee Wamamaker at Claresholm, Alberta. Mr. Wamamaker was a native of Apolauqui, Kings county and was connected with the Bank of Nova Scotia here and elsewhere for a number of years. Five years ago he married Miss Mercy Murray, of this town, and moved to Claresholm, Alberta, where they have since resided. Mr. Wamamaker has been conducting a successful agricultural business. A few months ago he was forced to go to Lethbridge Hospital for an operation turned to his home when he gradually became weaker and passed away. He leaves a widow, father, brother and sister all in Claresholm.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Should a Doctor Tell You the Worst

This is a question which is being asked, and it has been answered both negatively and affirmatively. According to the Lancet, the leading English medical journal, it is the physician's duty to keep from the patient the fact that he is about to die, except in a few occasional cases.

The argument is that the knowledge cannot do the patient any good and may on the other hand, work considerable harm.

"Many of those who at some time of their lives were given so many years to live," says the Lancet, "are now doing a useful share of the world's work, and in such cases nobody but the stultified prophet has been the worse for his hasty utterance."

"Most physicians engaged in insurance work have heard of such dicta, but usually in reference to family history, and we are glad to think that medical men are now far more chary in hazarding a measure of their patient's days. Not only has the medical profession realized the appalling responsibility of a hopeless prognosis, for in no matter is experience more fallacious and judgment more difficult, but it has also come to learn that the counsel of the physician should be one of encouragement rather than of despair, and that, however important it may be to know the worst, nothing but harm can result by presenting a full tale of terror to an imagination which in many cases is only too expectant of evil tidings.

"In a few special instances, it is true, circumstances may point to the expediency of appraising a patient's expectations of life and at his request, but the power of suggestion over certain physical processes cannot be denied, and in the great majority of cases the formal declaration by one in whom a sick man has confidence as a wise and expert adviser that, whatever be done to relieve his urgent distress, his days can be numbered with a fatal certainty may have a disastrous effect. There is evidence from the annals of witchcraft that a healthy person believing himself to be persecuted by an occult and evil influence can sicken and even die under a purely psychic oppression; indeed, in our own day the practice of the rites of Obeah in our own West Indian colonies has been made a penal offense, because there is no doubt whatever that the gravest physical consequences have happened to ignorant negroes who believe that they have had Obi put on them by a witch doctor at the instigation of an enemy.

"This, of course, is an extreme case, but we quote it as showing the ill that can accrue from the force of an authoritative suggestion, and we believe that a medical death sentence may shorten a sick and anxious man's remaining life. Certainly the physician who pronounces it takes a heavy responsibility upon himself. Even if a man may not arrive at recovery, it is surely better that he should continue to journey hopefully towards his end. The question then arises, 'Is a medical man ever justified in sitting as judge and recorder of his patient's days?' We think the justification can be present but rarely. In almost every instance where it is necessary that such warning should be given it can be given to the friends of the sick person, and medical attendant may very properly discuss with them the advisability of the patient of his serious he proceeds to disregard the warning systematically it may become necessary to utter the graver words, but even in such a case the wise practitioner will not attempt to prophesy the length of remaining life. Or it may be the surgeon's duty to tell a woman that she has a growth that will be ultimately fatal if it is not removed, but it is neither expedient nor useful for him to guess how long her pathological condition will allow her to live."

Canada and Canal System

The report of the department of railways and canals for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1909, and just published, contains statistics concerning the canal slip of the Dominion, which may be summarized as follows:

The expenditure on canals aggregated $3,617,531, comprising: For works of construction, $1,873,868; for maintenance, $728,124; for staff, $560,966; for repairs, $454,633. The total receipts $1,995,010, of which $183,603 was for hydraulic rents, the balance being made up for wharfage, fines, etc. By order in council, dated June 22nd, 1905, the system of charging toll for the passage of vessels and goods was abolished on all the canals of the Dominion. Records, however, are kept for statistical purposes. Since July 1, 1867, $123,069 has been expended on canals by the Dominion.

The total traffic through the several canals of the Dominion during the season of 1908 amounted to 17,292,820 tons, a decrease of 3,040,819 tons compared with the previous year. 280,820 passengers were carried, an increase of 1,631.

Taking the St. Lawrence River canals, of which the Cornwall canal is a unit, in particular, the following facts are given: 2,009,102 tons of freight were moved, a decrease of 91,564 tons compared with 1907.

Good Reasons These

Beauchamp in the Morning Chronicle recommends the following to Mr. George Wright as worth a place in a scrap book:

- "Ten good reasons why every respectable thinking man should swear just as often and as hard as he can:
 - 1 Because it is such an elegant way of expressing one's thoughts.
 - 2 Because it is such a conclusive proof of taste and good breeding.
 - 3 Because it is such a sure way of making one's self agreeable to his friends.
 - 4 Because it is a positive evidence of acquaintance with good literature.
 - 5 Because it furnishes such a good example and training for boys.
 - 6 Because it is just what a man's mother enjoys having her son do.
 - 7 Because it is such a help to manhood.
 - 8 Because it is such a good way of increasing one's self respect.
 - 9 Because it is such a help to virtue in many ways.
 - 10 Because it is such an infallible way of improving one's chances in the hereafter.

Some Remarkable Features of New Manhattan Bridge

It will have cost approximately $20,000,000 when completed. Its superstructure contains 25,000 tons of steel. Its towers contain 12,500 tons of steel. It approaches contain 16,000 tons of steel. It will have a carrying capacity over all its car lines of 240,000 people each way every hour—sometimes. Only six men have been killed on it during its construction. This is a low record. Its cables contain wire enough to more than girdle the earth.

Do Your Ears Ring?

This is the beginning of Chronic Catarrh. If not checked, the result is deafness. A simple remedy that many physicians advise is to slowly inhale "Catharine" a few times each day. The vapor of Catharine cures cerebral condition and hearing in-crease. Head noises, buzzing, etc. For Catarrhal deafness, Catharine is the only efficient.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional. Both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical and the latter—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood elements. The "Night Cure" as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes nerves and inflamed mucous surfaces, lessens local weakness and discharges, while the Restorative, once absorbed, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, brings about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well the "Night Cure".

How's This?

Catarrh cannot be cured with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

A Hopeless Courtship

She was very ordinary, country-born, slight, pretty, colorless in face and mind... the sort of girl who ages early and develops a biting tongue.

But the hot weather came to add a sort of mental prickly-heat to his confused emotions, and drove him again to seek his heart's joy, that he might forget his body's troubles.

Which happened in August, when Charles, in Miss Burton's own words later, "did every silly thing you can think of except go down on his knees."

She settled herself comfortably in her long chair as she spoke, as though that were conclusive, though she glanced at him from under her lashes, Charlie flushed the dark red that made his face so much darker, and broke out fiercely.

"That's all you've got to say for yourself after all you've led me to believe? You...you jade!" He made a step forward as though he would have thrown her, chair and all, over the veranda, then pulled himself together and in silence strode down to the gate.

The manager hesitated, looked at him curiously and said something about seeing what the burra-sahib said. Charlie cut him short.

"Pa what is heaping coals of fire?" "Something the janitor has never learned, son," Boston Herald.

"Whiskey," said the physiologist, "not only injures and discolors the skin, but it destroys the coating of your stomach."

"I see," answered Mr. Chuggins; "it damages the inner tubes as well as the outer castings." Washington Star.

Limitations for College Sport

The number of intercollegiate contests should be reduced to two in each sport during any one season, the rest of the composition in each sport being exclusively home competition.

Limitations have no tendency to make the playing of football, baseball, hockey and basket ball more general among schoolboys and students, for the fierce competition makes these games so intense that they are unsuitable for any but a small portion of the school boys and students.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

To Evangelize Entire World

The Greater New York convention of the national campaign of the Laymen's Missionary Movement was closed with a men's meeting at the Hippodrome. More than 5,000 men, representing various Protestant denominations, pledged themselves to aid in evangelizing the world in this generation.

William Jay Sheffield, chairman of the local co-operating committee of the movement, introduced the speakers. He said the evangelizing of the world does not mean the conversion of anyone, but that every being should have the opportunity to become a Christian.

George Sherwood Eddy, a Yale graduate, who has spent thirteen years in India as a missionary at his own expense, spoke on "Missions as an investment."

"In an ideal investment we seek good security and large returns," he said. "In these two respects missions present a gift-edged security. Nothing is so sure and nothing yields larger returns."

"Years ago a young Japanese named Neesima landed in Japan. Joseph Hardy sent him to China. Our trade with that country totals nearly $50,000,000 and is rapidly growing."

"A hundred years ago we sent the first missionaries to China. Our trade with that country totals nearly $50,000,000 and is rapidly growing."

"Missions are a paying proposition. Where can we find an investment that will yield a hundred fold in this life and in the world to come eternal life?"

BY THE WAY

Most people like a little patting on the back. No one is so wise but has a little folly to spare. Two social events took place last week. Keep the good times up.

"Yes," said Mr. Jones, "it's funny enough to make a donkey laugh, I laughed till I cried." And he did laugh until he saw the smile on the circle of faces around him and then he went away mad.

If the business and industrial side of St. George was as prominent as the social side during the past week what a hustling town we would have. Never mind, all things point to a prosperous year. Let us hope so.

Now that we have the rink where are the hockey players? A good hockey match with an outside team listens well. Let us get together and find a team. There is good material among the boys, if a few local matches could be arranged it would soon bring out the material.
