A HAPPY WOMAN,-Men make terrible mistakes when they marry for beauty, for those who possess the magic secret of being or poor, high or low, it makes no difference; the bright little fountain of joy bubbles up just as musically in their hearts. Do they live in a log cabin? the firelight that leaps on its humble hearth becomes brighter than the gilded chandeliers in an Aladdin palace.

Have you ever watched an icicle as it Have you ever watched an icicle as it formed? You noticed how it froze one drop at a time, until it was a foot long or more. If the water was clean, the icicle remained clear, and sparkled in the sun; but if the water was but slightly muddy, the icicle looked foul, and its beauty was spoiled.—Just so our characters are forming. One little thought or feeling at a time adds its influence. If every thought be pure and right, the soul will be lovely, and will sparkle with happiness; but if impure and wrong, there will always be wretchedness.

THE DEAD COME TO LIFE AGAIN .-This morning our respected and worthy jailor was favored with a visit at the prison from a youth of some sixteen or seventeen years of age, by name Cindal Alexander Burns, supposed to have been murdered by his father and mother—residents of Bolton—about the 27th of last month. The joint Coroners, Messrs. Foster and Chamberlain, held an inquest on the occasion—the sister of the boy made the affidavit upon which proceedings were taken the burned bones of a horse were taken the burned bones of to be those of the boy, and the parties impli-cated were committed to prison. There they —the parents—still remain, and we suppose the parents—still remain, and the parents—still remain, and the nust do so, until by writ of habeas corpus they are liberated. The delight of the mother at seeing her sou—the joy of the father at being relieved from the horrible charge of murdering his child, can better be magined than discribed. There is somehing strange about this whole case—strange n the conduct of the sister—in the action of the Coroners, and in the verdict of the jury.
We are told that the father was not in his

An English journal of a late date alluding to the immediate effects and possible consequences of the strife, says:

The Bank of England, true to the instinct of self preservation, has advanced the rates of interest from five to six per cent, in consequence of the drain of bullion which the present state of things in America is producing. How far this operation will remove the cause, a little time will show; but the Bank will go further in the same direction if circumstances warrant it. On the 5th of March last, the brigantine Perservance, 195 tons, Captain Wilson, belonging to Strangford, near Belfast, Ireland, sailed from Hamburg for John's, Newfoundland, laden with a cargo consisting principally of bread in tags, consigned to Messrs. Bowring Brothers. The crew consisted of nine men, besides the captain. Everything went on fairly until the night of Tuesday, the 9th of April, when the ship got suddenly among the ice at a distance of about 150 miles from port. All hands were called upon deck, but nothing could be done to save the ship, which sunk almost immediately, being literally broken in two by the immense pressure of the ice. The crew had but a quarter of an hour in which to lower the boat and throw in a small quantity of provisions. In the morning the ten men to seve the short and throw in a small quantity of provisions. In the morning the ten men to seve the sent Ministry it has been one of the provision of the province, through, its representatives. And if there is one thing above all others which the people ought immediately to punish at the polls, this certainly is that thing; for, if left unpunished, national beggary is our unquestionable portion. And if the country is to be aaved at all, the people must themselves do it, as unfortunately there is no impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Canadian Minister for corrupt practices, as there is ne impeaching a Ca lieves ask her for me. So to make a long story short, one bitter cold night, Mose and I started for the house where Lidy lived.

It was agreed that I should stay in the wood shed, while Mose went in and sot matters right. Mose knocked at the door and went in, and I sot down on a chopping log so wait the issoo.

Captain Wilson had altogether 18 days in it. He received the greatest kindness and most judicious treatment from Captain Brown, whose hospitality he enjoyed for twenty-five days before the Lord Peter's arrived at this port, it having been found necessary to remain at Quebec several days. All that Captain Wilson now complains of is a partial paralysis in the feet occasioned by their long soaking in sea water. This, however, will take but a few days to cure.

same men have given Mr. McMicken, the steady supporter from Welland, some $2,000 without consent of Parliament, for alleged arrears, but in reality to pay him for his vote, yet there was no sudden emergency, except the certainty that its refusal by Parliament; if asked for, would have been rather sudden. And then, the casual advantages of Ryersonian notoriety, who can forget them 1—two or three nice plams of $5,000 each, of which Parliament never heard a whisper till the money was gone; where was the pressing emergency calling for the exercise of their discretion? The "advances" to the Grand Trunk (and their name is legion), of which Trunk (and their name is legion), of which three Ministers of the Crown are salaried three Ministers of the Crown are salaried officials, where were the emergencies which could not await the meeting of Parliament? Oh! the track got blocked up with snow, and they had no money to pay for clearing it off. We would ask the people of Canada in all seriousness, are we to become the hereditary snow-shovellers of the Grand Trunk? but this was mere fustion; the truth was, but this was mere fustian; the truth was, arrears were due to the servants of the company, and Messieurs Ross, Galt, Cartier & Co. wanted their pay; if the Grand Trunk had no money they knew a friend that would advance it, of course, upon the best securities, which should be approved of by Ross, Galt, Cartier, & Co., who, as they wanted their money badly, were not very technical in their scrutiny of the securities. Now this matter of advances to the Grand Trunk had become so serious, and totted up so this matter of advances to the Grand Trunk had become so serious, and totted up so many millions, that the people would no longer endure it, so at the elections which have recently taken place, it was made a test question; and when at length the people got a Minister of the Crown before them, they put the test to him in no uncertain terms. We ourselves heard Solicitor General Morrison at public meetings in Gray terms. We ourselves heard Solicitor General Morrison at public meetings in Grey senses; but it is said also there are other reasons why the charge of murder against both parents was made. As the matter is likely to furnish ground for further inquiry, we forbear observations for the present.—

criminality to advance $1,174,436 to the Grand Trunk Company. Great and multitudinous as have been the acts of corruption tudinous as have been the acts of corruption and extravagance perpetrated by the Coalition Ministry, this last gift to the Grand Trunk caps the climax. The elections are approaching, however, and let the people mark the men the supported the Ministry in this unconstitutional and criminal waste of the public money. If the people will not put their shoulders to the wheel at the elections and by their states and the states and the states and the states are the states ar tions and by their votes rid the country of the curse of Coalition rule, then they deserve to be burdened and ground down with taxation. Four years more of Coalition rule,

That was a seeming homage to the force of public opinion. In the issue before last we stated that this pledge had been substantially broken by their grant, without authority of Parliament, of $170,000 to the bankrupt line. Since then, thanks to the searching questions of Mr. Dorion, it turns out that the sum taken from the Treasury is certailly one willion are handred and out that the sum taken from the Treasury is actually one million, one hundred and seventy-four thousand dollars! We are not shocked. It is in keeping with their entire history. They defy public sentiment and trample on constitutional maxims. By a majority of ten the House has approved this plundering of the Provincial purse, and the ever ready Ministerial aids were on hand at the vote. We need not mention Messrs. Benjamin, Macbeth, McMicken, Carling and the rest; any one accustomed to study political events might have sworn they would rush to the rescue. These are facts to be remembered when the reckoning day arrives. At present the people can only look on.

From the Guelph Advertiser. When the House met, Ministers with a great show of virtue and patriotism, announced that they would not introduce any measure of relief this session, but still carefully concealed all knowledge that any aid had been given. Subsequently it was admitted that $120,000 had been advanced. Now how stands the case? On Friday last Mr. Dorion stated and Mr. Galt admitted it true, that one million one hundred and seventy-four thousand dollars had been advanced to the Grand Trunk.

We would not be understood to deny that each member would have a watchful eye stituents; but this should go no farther and is as follows :than a desire to keep them on a par with others in all that is right and just, and the interest of localities should always be suboralone, in the arguments used at elections. "You will get so much good," says one "therefore vote for me." "You will get game-protection club to the ecclesiastical corporation, "Work for us and we will work for you." "Plot for us and we will pect to see their Legislature made up, for jealousies frittering away our power when the most part, of selfish tricksters on both the time for action shall arrive." sides of the House Canada is rapidly approaching ruin in her finances. Grievous taxes are being laid on the people that must be borne for may generations, and these not the result of fair generations, and these not the result of fair, or necessary or profitable expenditures, but of sheer fraud and robbery. We doubt very much if Mr. Secretary Floyde, of Buchsman's Government, did anything more nefarious in the way of Robbing the Treasury than has been done over and over again in Canada; and our people, especially the French Canadians, seem to love to have i so. Their vote goes almost solid for any job, however gross, and to screen any fraud or swindle, however enormous. There was a number of Upper Canadian members whose votes were perfectly reliable on the same side. It is time that electors in Canada turned over a new leaf entirely, and made a stand not for local or sectional interests, for which a peculating Administration will always be ready to do most, but for public principles. Oh, that next election might prove that such a change has a last been inaugurated! Nothing else can save Canada from ruin; and if ever we have an honest Administration, the Court of Chancery will force some of our peculators to disgorge their ill-got gains, and the Court of Queen's Bench will others of them to a similar fate to await Sir John Dean Paul. They will doubtless fight hard to avert this.

Let the people rise in their majesty, and say, once for all, that their affairs must be managed for the public good, and by honest

CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE ELECTION. There is no doubt that Canada has been going backward at a fearfully rapid pace in public morality, ever since Mr. Hincks in augurated the system of what was then called "chiselling," and has since received a variety of names equally appropriate, "casual advantages" being the most delicate,—all of which merely mean turning a public posi-tion to private advantage. A few instances will illustrate what we mean.

A set of needy adventurers, by loud-mouth ed professions of patriotism, reach the posi-tion where they can control the revenue of the country. These revenues they take care greatly to increase, and then deposite large amounts with a particular Bank, not for the public interest or for the benefit of the Bank, but in order that they may levy contributions upon it at will, under the name of loans. They could not exactly take the money directly from the Tourisian and the Carried out, and thanking the people and the National Guards for their co-operation. Martino, the new Lieutenant Governor, also is and power, that a railroad whose stock is not country, and promises improvements in the worth fifty cents on the dollar is to be bought by an under-hand compact at par, and they, the very men who control the purchase, buy up the depreciated stock before any one else is let into the secret, and the difference goes into their own private pockets. The country may suffer, but such men do not suffer with it. The country may be drowned in debt, but they will be seeking for profitable invest-day, and afterwards sell out to, or otherwise divide the spoils with, those who are "in."

Such a "ring" as this can do things that would be deemed incredible by simple-minded people. They can obtain public property, for instance, at a nominal value for a public purpose, and in the process of transfer get private names substituted, and then sell a part of the same property, at an enormous price, for the very same purpose that the whole had been virtually granted for! THE COMING ELECTION.

A day or two ago it was announced, that the next General Election was to come off in about six weeks. Already many candidates have presented themselves.

Those of our readers who believe in the right of peoples to elect their own rulers must admit the correlative duty develving on each individual in a community to take a lively interest in the results of all elections. He who thinks he has a right to sit quietly by and let things take their oourse, is only it to live under a despotsum. The Junior Moderator then gave out the 122nd Psalm, 6 verse, and offered prayer, after which he gave out the 100th Psalm,

The Rev. Mr. Clerk, late Moderator of the "Free Church" Synod, proposed in a very complimentary manner, that Rev. Dr. Taylor, of Montreal, be appointed Moderator of the "Canada Presbyterian Church," [Applause.] Dr. Jennings, of the late United Presbyterian Church, seconded the nomination. The motion was adopted unanimously, and with acclamation. The two retiring Moderators, then, amid applause, introduced the new Moderator, Rev. Dr. Taylor,—after which each of them occupied a seat on each hand.

Rev. Mesars. Reid and Fraser were pointed Joint Clerks of the United Synod. (or Liberal party) elected, but hastened the next morning to the nearest stipendiary He was well aware of his own inest feelings of their nature—the spectacle of Church united in the Lord Jesus Christ. Surely, it was the Lord's doings, and was marvellous in their eyes. The union this evening, was not merely of outward form, but was one of the heart and soul, and its ements were gratitude and love to their common Redeemer. For years this great question of union had come up before the Churches, many were the hopes of success, and many the disappointments. But now the Lord has accomplished the great work, and to Him be all the praise and glory. While they were now rejoicing in the consummation of this great work, they should determine to consecrate themselves anew to the services of the Lord; and they should also remember this, that as they tried to advance the glory of God, so they would work and prosper together in harmony—as they descended to inferior matters, so surely would sectional differences arise. never be forgotten that it was in Christ they were one, and that apart from Christ there was no likelihood of harmony; the cross of Christ was a guarantee for their prosperity as a church on this earth, and of salvation hereafter. Let them avoid spiritual tyran-ny on the one hand, and popular anarchy on the other [Anniause]. He would remind ny on the one hand, and popular anarchy on the other. [Applause]. He would remind that here in Montreal the two great rivers of the Province met; let the Synods like these rivals so unite that henceforward they may flow on in peacefulness. The action of the Synods this evening would prove the falsity of the assertion that had frequently been made, that Protestantism could not work as a united system. But though united, he was well aware that the Church would not restrain its Christian sympathies; no; let them this evening extend a fraternal salute to all who follow the Lord Jesus anywhere. [Applause.] He knew he only express he sincere and overflowing desire of the rethern, when he wished grace, mercy and peace to all the friends of our Lord Jesus Christ the common Savionr.

The Rev. Mr. Ure rose and delivered an Christian who deeply studied the matter most come to the conclusion that it was the duty, not only of the Presbyterian, but of all the other evangelical churches, to unite. The word of God commanded that Christian churches should be united in the "unity of the spirit and bonds of peace;" and that love should be the governing motive. In the churches of the Apostle's time, love was laid down as an essential condition. the churches of the Apostie's time, love was laid down as an essential condition for the conversion of the world. The reverend eman went on to show, that diffe of opinion not effecting the essential principles of Christianity, would not furnish occasion for sectional differences, but for the assumption of separatists on the one side and the isolated claims on the other side, of individual brotherhoods that objects to those individual brotherhoods that objects to those who were unable to pronounce the Shibboleths. He went on to enlarge on this topic and concluded by saying it was the duty of every Christian to pray for the hastening on of that blessed day when every branch of the Christian church should be united under the Christian church should be united under one glorious Head, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Rey. Dr. Ormiston addressed the meeting at considerable length. He congratulated the Synod on the union, said its advantages would be felt in all Christian lands, that it would rebound greatly to the benefit of the Church at large, by the interfusion of a more kindly spirit into its members and its various operations. He prayed that the union would bonefit not the Synod alone, but that from this city its blessed influence would pervade the whole land; and be a beneficial example to all Churches of God.

On Sunday morning, about three o'clock a fire broke out in rear of the premises on the corner of Sparks and Elgin Streets.

It is a difficult matter to arcuse a population at such an hour, for it is then the soundest sleep is enjoyed. Before much help could be obtained, the fire had extended to a block of four or five tenements, all of wood; its progress being greatly accellerated by a connection of out-houses in rear of the premises. It was quite evident that the Post ioffice on Elgin Street and the stone building on Sparks Street, belonging to Mr. O'Donnell, would be the smallest limit to which the fire could be confined. The Fire Brigade, whose active efforts are gratefully acknowledged on all hands, turned their attention to the saving of the buildings opposite—those of Messrs.

He examined it she seut for family doctor. He examined it earefully, and finally assured her that nothing was the matter—it was a mere nervous delusion he said. Still her throat troubled her and she became so much alarmed that she was sure she would die. A friend suggested that she should call in Dr. Jones, a young man just commencing practice. She did not at first like the idea, but finally consented, and Dr. Jones was called. He was a perso of good address and polite manners. He looked carefully at her throat, asked her several questions as to the sensation at the seat of the malady, and finally announced that he thought he could relieve her. On his second visit he brought with him a very that he thought he could relieve her. On his second visit he brought with him a very delicate pair of forceps, into the teeth of of which he had secretly inserted a bristle taken from an ordinary tooth-brush. The rest can be imagined. The lady threw back her head; the forceps were introduced into her mouth; a prick—a loud screm! and 'twas all over; and the young physician with a smiling face, was holding up to the light, and inspecting with lively curiosity, the extracted bristle. The patient was in raptures. She immediately recovered her health and spirits, and went about everywhere sounding the praises of "her saviour" as she-persisted in calling the dexterous operator. So enthusiastic was her gratitude, she offered him her hand in marriage and her noble fortune. The fact that the young doctor was already married was an insuperable obstacle to this arrangement. But the lady's influence and her constant laudations.

keeps seventy swarms of Bees says that one day last summer, the whole of them commence ed a grand fight. They filled his house so that the family had to flee for safety, and they also filled the air, covering full an acre of ground. The fight lasted full three hours during which time no living thing could exist in the vicinity. They stung a large flock of Shanghae chickens, nearly all of which died, and persons passing along the road-side were oblidged to retreat to avoid their sting. A little after 6 o'clock, in the afternoon, quiet was restored, and the living bee returned to their hives, leaving the slain almost literally covering the ground. Two young swarms were entirely destroyed, and aside from the terrible slaughter of bees no other injury was done. Neither party was ctorious, and they only ceased on the approach of night, and from utter prostration.

An inmate of a mad-house being asked what brought him there, replied "a mere quibble of words sir. I said every body was mad, and every body said I was and the majority carried it.'
