Column of Tirailleurs Defeated in Upper Guinea.

The Abyssinian Negus Working in Behalf of Britian Against France-Denial of the Report That French Warships Were Ordered to Brest.

Paris, Oct. 18 .- The Politique Colonale publishes a dispatch from the ivory coast, Upper Guinea, saying that the French arms have received a serious check. A column of tirailleurs, dispatched to suppress a rising of the Bourbourys, was forced to retreat, with a loss of seven killed and ten wounded. The Bourbourys, the dispatch says, are preparing to march upon Jacquesville, where a number of French trading factories have been establish-

A DENIAL.

A semi-official note issued last evening says that the statements to the effect that the French warships which are being placed on a war footing have been ordered to Brest, is in-correct, and it is added that undue importance has been attached to the incident.

WORKING AGAINST FRANCE. The Rome Tribune publishes a letter from Aden, which says that French influence with King Menelek is waning and that the Abyssinian Negus is openly working in behalf of England against France. It declares that Menelek prevented the French expedition, headed by M. Bonchamp, from reaching Fashoda, where Major Marchand was to meet it, and also refused to send a force of Abyssinian troops $150,000 OF JEWELRY STOLEN. The Dowager Duchess of Sutherland, while on board a train for Calais, bound for London, lost a satchel containing jewelry worth £30,000. Her Grace left the train at Amiens and reher loss to the police. It is believed that the satchel was stolen, but there is no clue to the thief.

WHY CAVENDISH RETIRED. M. Leon Darragon, the explorer, states that he was charged by the Negus Menelek to lead an expedition of 15,000 men as far as the fourth degree of latitude, almost exactly south of Adis Abeda, with the object of cut-ting off the Cavendish expedition, which was marching towards the Nile. Mr. Cavendish consequently retired on the pretext that his expedition was badly prepared, and returned to London. It will be remembered that Mr. Cavendish, who is a relative of the Duke of Devonsnire, led an expedition towards the Nile, which was expected to come into conflict with that of Major Marchand.

Akassa Purchased by the British Government.

Terrible Railway Disaster at Barnet Junction-Irving Ill-A Dyers' Combine.

Liverpool. Oct. 18. - Advices from West Africa state that the imperial government has bought Akassa from the Royal Niger Company. Akassa has been the Niger Company's distributing point and headquarters for many years. The purchase included the company's slip-houses, sheds and wharves. It was understood that the Niger Company would change their headquarters to Buruta, where they would erect a patent slip of a larger size. About 150 men are engaged clearing away the bush about the place for the erection of sheds, etc., and it is understood that a general depot will be established there. It is also reported that Neawga, the king of the Upper Mendi country, was captured by Captain Blakeney, and brought to Freetown jail. He was one of the most powerful chiefs in the Mendi country, where the rebellion took place, and had sworn to drive the white men out of the country. In arrived at Pekin. his part of the country no hut tax was enforced. The Port Lokko chiefs, who had been in Freetown jail for the past eight months, paid the hut tax fines, amounting to nearly £100, and were released.

A RAILWAY HORROR. A terrible railway accident occurred last evening on the Great Central Railway, near Barnet, about 11 miles north of London. An express train, going at the rate of a mile a minute, came into collision with a freight train that was switching across the track at Barnet Junction. The express piled up a complete wreck. Nine dead and thirteen seriously injured have been recovered from the wreckage, and there | all quarters. are others under the debris.

RAILROADERS

Clash Between the Federation and the M. K. and T. R.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.-Because of the discharge of three freight conductors running out of Parsons, Kansas, the Federation of American Railway Employes and the M., K. and T. Railroad will lock horns today in St. Louis. Each side declare there will be no surrender, and in the event compromise fails, there may be a general strike called, extending the entire length of the railway system. Assistant Grand Chief Garretson, of the Order of Railway Conductors, has been in St. Louis since Sept. 20, conferring with the M., K. and T. officials. He has been unable to effect a settlement of the grievance in question, which was referred to the executive board of the order by the local union at Parsons. For this reason an appeal was made to a higher power, the Federation of American Railway Em-

Toronto, Oct. 18 .- A document was filed with Registrar Grant, of the court of appeal, at Osgoode Hall yesterday, containing serious and startling charges against Dr. W. A. Willoughby, the Conservative candidate in East Northumberland, who was Mr. Whitney's whip in the last house, and who was defeated at the last election by Mr. J. H. Douglas. A few days ago lengthy particulars, containing nearly charges, were filed against Mr. Douglas. Yesterday Mr. Douglas replied in charges against Dr. Willoughby, who cleams the seat. The counter-charges are filed in accordance with a provision in the statute, and are sworn to by Mr.

Douglas himself. in the Matter.

A Warm Time for the Chairmen of Committees.

Suggestion That the Bell Telephone Company Get Notice to Quit, Their Franchise Having Expired-Explanation of the Increased Cost of Stone-Orushing Unsatisfactory.

With a view to making the abolition river front at the foot of Dundas street of the ward system possible in London, notice was given by Ald. Graham at the council meeting last evening that at the next regular meeting he would

"That in the opinion of this council the Municipal Act should be so amended as to allow ratepayers by their votes to determine whether the number of their representatives at this board should not be reduced to one for each 4,000 of the population, and also whether they should not be elected in like manner as the mayor and hospital trustees, by general vote, and not by sections or wards, as at present; and that the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a petition asking that the said act be amended accordingly. And, further, that the city clerk be instructed to communicate with the city clerks of Hamilton, Ottawa and Kingston (the only cities except London debarred by the existing law from taking similar action towards municipal reform) for the purpose of securing their co-operation in procuring the legislation asked

The meeting was characterized by continual wrangling, with an occasional change of topic. Better acquaintance among the city fathers does not make their lengthy sessions more harmoni-ous. Fault-finding grows more general. Almost every alderman had every other alderman on the carpet about one thing or another. The chairmen of the various committees all came in for good, round scorings—Chairman Winnett, of the finance committee, because "he thought himself smart cutting the appropriations down so low when the rate was struck," and leaving No. 2 committee too little money to carry on the necessary work; Chairman Douglass, of the board of works, because it cost. under his supervision, nearly $3 per cord more for broken stone this year than it did last year; Chairman Taylor, of No. 3 committee, because the butchers' pavilion on the market was to be built, eating up $1,380, a big sum Ald. during the present stringency. Taylor, also, as chairman of the board of health, had to listen to criticisms to a great mistake in keeping down the the effect that the board was respon- rate of taxation. sible for the Market Lane trouble. Chairman Carrothers, of the hospital building committee, was credited with trying to block the work on the building, and Ald. Cooper was called upon man on the committee who did not take to defend his action re Mr. J. A. Thomas' long-deferred claim for damages to property. There were plenty of

When the council lined up, the mayor asked for a confirmation of the minutes of the last amount of their account with the water regular meeting and of a special meeting held subsequently about hospital negotiations with the county. 'I object to the special meeting," spoke up Ald. Carrothers, "on the ground that it was not legal, because cussed. A point which Mr. Thomas the city auditor and treasurer were not has been contending for for the past present, as called for in Ald. Taylor's

Ald. Douglass said the trouble was with the disposition of the $7,500. The committee never agreed to take less than $30,000 for general work, and that was less than for several years past. Ald. Winnett proceeded very labor-iously to fasten the blame in the matter upon the shoulders of the engineer, bringing out with special emphasis the fact that the city engineer's salary had been augmented at the beginning of the year. He wound up by saying he thought the engineer ought to be censured. Ald. Douglass said Ald. Winnett himself was to blame. He ought to know the committee never agreed to less than $30,000. The engineer was keeping within the appropriation, as he had been given to understand.

Ald. Greenlees, Dreaney, Carrothers and Cooper joined in defending the engineer. "If there is any odium to be placed on any shoulders, it ought to be on the right ones," said Ald. Green-"I am ready to shoulder my portion, but I think the blame rests chiefly with the chairman of No. 2 committee." The engineer had not so much the free hand Ald. Douglass had given the council to understand. True, he ceeded in bothering him to work through their little jobs. The chairman was to blame for not placing a statement of expenditure before the committee before the account was over-

Ald. Carrothers said the engineer was not to blame. He and the committee thought the sum at their disposal was $30,000, and not $22,500.

Ald. Cooper said it was thoroughly understood that the committee could not get along with less than $30,000, "and Ald. Winnet thought he was doing a very smart thing, but," went on the outspoken fourth warder, "we made

Ald. Douglass, in reply to Ald. Greenlees, said he had often brought in re-ports of the finances. It had been a ast mistake he continued nutting a more interest in the work than did Ald. Greenlees.

The hospital committee's report recommended that the proposal to prevent for the present the construction of the main long ward on the site of the present contagious pavilion, be not entertained This, followed by Chairman Carrothers' amendment, that the proposal be entertained, fled to a tan-It had been hinted around, he said, that he (Ald. Carrothers) wanted to stop the building of the ward at any cost. But such was not true. His only reason was to get the other portions of the building completed so far as the money went. What accommodation, he asked, would be provided if the contractors were allowed to go on with the work? It was impossible for the plastering to be done until the heating and ventilating was finished, and they had not the money for that. Ald. O'Meara seconded the motion. Ald. Taylor—This hospital business has been a great bungle, and there has been some great changing of men, since the beginning of it. Continuing, Taylor enlarged upon his oppo sition to the letting of the contracts for the hospital when they were first voted upon. He was confident the $70,000 would be exceeded, and pointed it out, he said, but the hospital committee seemed determined to go their own way, no matter what it cost. Let them get through with it now as best

Ald. Greenlees and Ald. McPhillips gave legal reasons why Ald. Carrothers' motion was out of order. No motion to adopt the report had been made, and he could, therefore, not make an amendment, it was said.

The mayor was asked several times for his ruling, but he allowed the discussion to go on. Finally Ald. Carrothers pressed for the ruling.

The mayor was sorry, but technically the motion was out of order.

Ald. Carrothers appealed. He could not stand such outrageous ruling, he Carrothers of the hospital committee said he had refused to sign a certificate for Contractor Martyn. His reason was to force Mr. Martyn to give a report of a large amount of earth which had been drawn away from the hospital grounds.

Ald. Cooper said it was about time for a report from the city hall accident committee. He was told the committee had been appointed with power, and there would be no report.

Ald. Winnett was asked why he had not called a meeting of the other comthe council for instructions. The ap- mittee chairmen to readjust the aphunt," was Ald. Taylor's pointed remark, and Ald. Winnett was saved the trouble of replying to the question.

At Ald. Nutkins' request Chairman Douglass read a report from the city engineer as to the comparative of crushing stone this year with that of last year. The figures were $8 51 this year, as against $5 60 in 1897, or an increase of $2 91 per cord. In explanation of this Ald. Douglass set forth many reasons, such as poor stone, machine in bad shape, a small quantity always costing more than a large quantity.

Ald. Nutkins was not satisfied. Ald. Taylor's motion to reconsider funnily, as all nice farces played by the question of sewage disposal was the question of sewage disposal was ruled out of order, on the objection being raised by Ald. McCallum that Ald. Taylor had voted in the minority when the subject was given a six-months' hoist. Ald. McPhillip's motion, re the Bell Telephone Company's franchise, was laid over. Ald. Wilkey moved that Ald. Carrothers be instructed to sign all certificates from the architect for con-

Ald. Carrothers. Ald. McPhillips supported the chairman.

Ald. Nutkins upheld the contractor, and said the sewer contractors had been selling earth right along. Ald. Cooper asked proof, and Ald.

Nutkins said it was reported at the council last year. Ald. Cooper—But things are different 5c to 3c. this year, my boy. For once during the evening a narmonious note was struck. It was quite evident all agreed with Ald. Cooper.

Ald. Nutkins-Isn't it more honorable for Mr. Martyn to sell that dirt for money than to sell it for votes?

This seemed like throwing down the gauntlet, and Ald. Carrothers hastened to make sure for whom the challenge was made. Ald. Nutkins admitted, after some hesitation, that he had no reference to Ald. Carrothers.

Cooper objected to three members of the council voting on hospital business, as they were sub-contract-ors, and Ald. Stevely, Gerry and Belton did not vote.

Ald. Greenlees said Ald. Douglass' statement re the stone crusher was unsatisfactory, and gave notice of motion to bring it up again. Ald. McPhillips gave notice of a motion to notify the Bell Telephone Company to remove their poles and wires from the city, their franchise having expired, and in default the engineer to have it done at their expense. Ald. Douglass gave notice to compel the street railway to run to the corner of Richmond and Regent streets, instead of turning at Wellington street. COMMUNICATIONS.

Highly Successful Amateur Entertainment at the Asylum. The opening entertainment of the amusement season was held at the aslum for insane last night. About 600 persons witnessed an enjoyable performance. The asylum band, led by Dr. Sippi, opened with the selection, "Maritana" (G. Dubois). This was rendered in good style. "Miss Madcap," a farce, was then produced as a curtain raiser. The stage effect, as the curtain went up, was worthy of a more serious effort, the artistic setting being much beyond the average attained by amateurs. Miss Ina Bucke made an exceptionally handsome "Miss Vin-cent," and put a lot of life into her part. Her brother, Mr. Pardee Bucke, portrayed the dude, "Augustus Ever-son," with faithfulness and an accent that was inimitable, while Mr. Julius Macvicar was an excellent "Philip Conway," both drunk and sober.

When the curtain went down on "Miss Madcap," amid laughter and applause, the asylum band played again. "Leave It to Me," a one-act farce, considerably longer than "Miss Madcap," was then put on the boards, and throughout held the interest of the audience. Miss Sippi proved a charmingly petite "Susan Muggins," acting the part of maid with her usual graceful simplicity, while Miss Della Gall marked her first appearance on the amateur stage by rendering the part of "Amelia Easy" with feeling and no little reserve force. Mr. Pardee Bucke again stood the brunt of the men's work, making "Mr. Easy" just as life-like as he had the dude in the pre-ceding performance. Mr. Thurling as "Joe Sprouts," the coster-monger, sweetheart of "Susan Muggins," worked hard and carried his audience well with him in all the farcial situations he attempted. Mr. England as "Mr. Quince" had an excellent make-up and produced a voice and bearing of such senility as to be quite worthy of the back halls of the asylum and to make his audience regret that he was not on the stage longer. Mr. Wooster, as "Adolphus Courtly," the lover of "Amelia Easy," lived up to his name in good style, and all ended happily and

ELASTIC SPOKES.

One of the latest ideas is an elastic spoke, which is said to increase the strength and avoid uneven tension and breakage. The usual round spoke wire is placed between corrugated dies, which impart to it a wavy formation. The bends, though slight, have a certain elasticity which is imparted to the whole wheel when the latter comes in contact with an obstruction, and the new type of spoke is said to absorb a certain amount of vibration and to check breakages.

A contest arranged for 20 rounds, between Frank Craig, the "Harlem coffee cooler," of New York city, and Billy Edwards, of Australia, took place on Monday night at the National Sporting Club, of London. Craig knocked Edwards out in the twelfth round. It was a scrambling fight throughout. The men clinched, hugged and mauled one another. Craig could never use his famous swinging right, but finished Edwards with a half-arm hit on the jaw. Except for a few intermediate flashes of attack in the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds, Edwards only watch-

Bob Fitzsimmons, the pugilist, says that he has authorized his lawyers to begin suit for $50,000 against James Breslin, proprietor of the Gilsey House, New York, for refusing to serve him a meal at the hotel. Mr. Breslin said that he did not want anybody of the prizefighter class in his hotel. He said that he did not consider them white men, although Fitzsimmons might be as good and perhaps a little better than McCoy or Corbett and some others of them. When told he was to be sued for $50,000, Mr. Breslin said: "Cheap enough."

LAWN TENNIS.

GREAT TENNIS MATCH. Brighton, Eng., Oct. 18 .- The tennis match between Pettit, of Boston, Mass., and Latham, of Manchester, for the world's championship and a stake of $5,000 a side, has begun. Latham won the first set, 6-4, 6-0, 6-1. Latham also won the fourth set. €-2, which finished the first stage of the championship. The match is to be the best of thirteen sets, with no "advantage." The players meet again on Oct. 21. The winner is to be declared champion of the world, and to be exempt from challenges by the zona. loser for one year, or by any player for six months.

PETROLIA VS. PARKHILL. Petrolia juvenile Rugby team defeated the Parkhill high school Rugby team on their own grounds at Park hill on Saturday. Score, 4 to 6.

BASEBALL. PROFIT AND LOSS.

The profits of Boston for the season have not been given out, but it is estimated that Soden, Billings and Conant will divide between $50,000 and $60,-

The loss of the Baltimore club has been heavy.

The New York team has lost no money, and after all the expenses are paid, it is said there will be money enough for a dividend to the stockholders. The Pittsburg club has lost more money than any other in the league. The war did it. The mills and workshops of the Smoky City were running day and night, turning out war material, and the loss of the club is placed at $30,000 to $40,000. The Louisville club has made a little money. The attendance at the home games have been better than for five

Exercise is an excellent thing when taken in moderation. Overexertion and exhaustion, however, weaken the system and are often the cause of consumption. It is easy to take cold after violent exercise, and such colds usually last a long time. If you are susceptible to coughs and colds and feelings of exhaustion the best thing you can do is to take Shiloh's Consumption Cure. J. O. NISSLEY, Middletown, Pa., writes:

engineer had such a cold and cough that at times it caused him to vomit. I took compassion on him and bought a 50-cent bottle of Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure, telling him to take a teaspoonful every hour. Instead, he took a tablespoonful, keeping that up all night. Next morning his cough had entirely left him. I never saw any medicine work so quick."

Shiloh's Consumption Cure is sold by all druggists on a guarantee that the purchase money will be refunded in case of failure. 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle in Canada and the United States. In England, 1s.2d., 2s.3d. and 4s.6d.

years, and it was away from home that the club lost money.

It is not known just how Brooklyn fared. Some estimate the loss as high as $15,000, and others claim that the club will break even. Manager Hurst says that St. Louis has made $7,000 this season, but that all the profits and more were used up in paying off old debts. The Washington club has lost about $15,000. The attendance in the capital was not over half of what it usually

The attendance at Philadelphia has been 75,000 less than in previous years, and Treasurer John J. Rogers says the club is about $20,000 out on the season's work.

Cincinnati has made money, and Chicago is a little ahead.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

Preventive Officer Floody, of Toronto, has located an illicit whisky still near Lindsay. The capacity of the still was twenty gallons a day. Mr. Ben Sharp, a teamster employed by Schultz Bros., Brantford, on the work at Two Fish Islands, got himself and team and wagon into the river on Saturday morning and had to swim for his life. The horses were also saved after considerable difficulty.

Rev. S. S. Bates, pastor of College Street Baptist Church, Toronto, on Sunday informed his congregation that he would not accept the call to Aylmer. The body of Thomas Wright, father of Newton Wright, Main street, Woodstock, was found floating in a creek on con 7, North Norwich, on Thursday night. Foul play is suspected, and an investigation will be held.

Penwarden House, St. Thomas, was on Saturday stricken with paralysis, and his condition is critical. Mr. Barnes went to Mr. Smith's room to call him for dinner and found him lying in bed unconscious. Charles Vesey, whose home is in Windsor, was arrested in Leamington on Saturday on a charge of non-support. When he arrived in the city, however, his wife relented and was allowed to withdraw the charge on payment of costs, $5 50.

Death came suddenly to Mrs. F. W. Byatt, who lived on Vincent street, Stratford. Saturday morning her son Alfred, who lived with her, went off to work, leaving his mother, as he supposed, asleep in bed. On reaching home about 5:30 p.m. He found his mother apparently still asleep, but it proved to be her last. Death is attributed to heart failure.

A serious shooting accident occurred in Listowel on Saturday afternoon. The twin sons of Robert Hemphill were practicing with a 22-calibre rifle, when Roy, a fourteen-year-old lad was shot by his brother, Oliver, the bullet entering Roy's breast an inch or two below the heart. The rifle was accidentally discharged after being handed over to Oliver by Roy the latter being only a few feet from his brother when it went off. The ball struck one of the unfortunate boy's ribs, shattering it, and upon a surgical examination being made it was found to have pierced the lung. It may result fatally.

Very High Pay or Conscription in Sight.

Thinking people in the United States are disposed to doubt the wisdom of the career of imperialism and colonization upon which the country has ensince its capture of Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippine Islands. The New Manchester (N. H.,) Mirror and American, an old-established Republican journal, voices the views of the fearful ones in a thoughtful article. It says the course of its party leaders at the present time is calculated to raise serious misgivings as to the future of the republic. It asks, How will it be possible for the United States to raise and permanently maintain an army of 100,000 or 150,000 men and a correspondingly large navy without conscription? Has, pertinently asks this Republican journal, the experience of the army in Cuba. Porto Rico and the Philippines been such as to make a soldier's berth for two years in either of these countries attractive? Are the stories told by the returning volunteers such as to induce their acquaintances and friends to take their places when they are mustered out? Is there anything in the prospect opened up to a private soldier which will draw the services of 800 young men from New Hampshire, every two years, and a proportionate number from every other state? In a word, is the adoption by the United States of the imperial policy of the old world, which makes necessary a large standing army, to carry with it a system of conscription, similar to that by which the flower of the youth of Russia, France and Germany are selzed and carried away to police the colonial possessions of these powers? Is the United States coming, or has it already come, to a condition of things in which the Government must regularly assert its right to lay its mailed hand upon its male citizens, when they reach the military age, and force them into the army?

These are very weighty questions, which very few of our neighbors will ment. The motion asks for legislation probably stop to answer for themselves. They are so thoroughly satisfied with their easy victory over the Spaniards mayor, water commissioners and hosthat they do not care to do anything but rejoice over their defeat of that effete monarchy. There can be no doubt of this, however: The army in the United States is very unpopular, and a very large proportion of the population are, by their training, so constituted that when they enter on military service they are never at rest till they desert it. A recent Secretary of State has asserted that while the army has afforded a situation to the colored man, it has afforded but a refuge to the white man. Though the standing army has only required 25,000 men, the desertions have been numerous, and it has been with the greatest difficulty that the men have been kept from clearing out after a few months' service. Then the quality of the physique of the young men offering for service has always been very poor. Out of 49,343 men offering in 1897, only 8,285 were accepted as fit for military

But there has been very little encouragement for young men to adopt the life of a soldier in the treatment of those who enlisted in the late war with Spain, as our New England contemporary so well points out. The State of Maine raised a regiment which was never called out of the United States. It is now mustered out. are now part of the United States. Yet its death roll in three months in camp at Chicamauga foots up to 38 men. Vermont also sent a regiment to the United States. The sugar growto a southern camp for a few weeks, and a Republican newspaper describes ing of the competition of this cheap its return with a hospital train carry- labor. Will they welcome it now being over 200 sick men, about onefourth of the regiment, as a ghastly reminder of the returning victims from Libby prison, Belle Isle, and Andersonville, during the civil war. Every state has had similar lessons of the horrors of gervice, and many have still more shocking experiences of the awful treatment meted out to troops who left the country for active service in the tropical regions in which the war was conducted.

The summing up of the whole matter is that men are not likely to be driven to serve against their will, to the number of 100,000 or more, under such revolting conditions. How, then, is the United States to get its army up to the standard demanded by those who hold that the country shall enter the lists with European nations as a military nation, bent on taking a full share in the management of all parts of the world, whether on or off this continent? There are only two waysby offering very large rewards to those who adopt the calling of arms, in the idea. This is probably true. The shape of extremely high pay, or by compulsory military service such as by an oligarchy of crafty and unthey have in European continental na- scrupulous advisers who, if they canously costly; the second might be throne mold and enforce the laws to even more costly, for from it there suit themselves. Nicholas is a wellwill scarcely look kindly on compul- the men who are nominally his sersory military service, except it be a vants, but actually his masters. positive necessity to the preservation of the Republic.

Andrew. Cleveland was a rich man

Mr. Tarte at Port Stanley. Hon. J. I. Tarte is no desk-hack. His untiring activity in the performance of his duties has taken him in the past few months through Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Western Ontario. He has inspected many important public works in these Provinces, and has been better enabled by personal observation to measure their exact value and necessity. Mr. Tarte cannot but be impressed by the requirements of the Port Stanley harbor. Provision must be made for the large and growing commerce of the port, in which the citizens of London have the chief interest. A great deal of money was spent at Port Stanley by the previous administration, not so much to improve the harbor as to improve party prospects in East Elgin. The result was that much of the money was wasted in mere patch-work, and each recurring season found things as backward as before. Mr. Tarte has promised to urge his colleagues to make another appropriation for the harbor. We hope he will see that the money is applied to genuine and permanent improvement. Hitherto continual dredging has been necessary to maintain the proper depth. The excavations of one year have been filled up in the next, largely because of the alluvion deposited between the piers by Kettle Creek. This would be pre-

Municipal Reform in London.

At the council meeting last night, Ald. Graham gave notice of a motion that should meet with the approval of all friends of good municipal governempowering the city of London to elect aldermen by general vote, as are the pital trustees, and to limit the representation to one alderman for every 4,000 of the population. This legislation can be secured for the asking, and it will then remain for citizens to declare at the polls whether they desire the proposed changes. We believe intelligent ratepayers are sick and tired of the ward system, and will welcome the opportunity to wipe it out. Ald. Graham's proposal looks to the reduction of the number of alderman from 18 to the abolition of the wards, and should only ten men to choose, the electors will use more discrimination. in marking their ballots. A council of 18 men is too unwieldy; quality, not quantity, is the desideratum.

We congratulate Ald. Graham for initiating this reform. The motion should be unopposed in the city coun-

One thing more the Government has done for the miner; it has sent troops to shoot him if he does not take his medicine quietly.-Montreal Star.

This is a sample of the Conservative attacks on the Government's administration in the Yukon. The Star, in this paragraph, plainly says that the Government is oppressing the miners by employing troops to enforce obedience to the law. The inference is that the miners are justified in refusing to take their "medicine" quietly-i.e., they are justified in resisting the law. It is an open incitement to rebellion.

Since the appearance of "John Splendid" in Blackwood's Magazine this year the critics have grown enthusiastic over the author, Mr. Neil Munro, comparing him to Stevenson and Scott, and declaring that in some respects he surpasses both. Mr. Munro has chosen a most picturesque setting for his story and the period in Scottish history richest in incident. He has caught the very spirit of the Highlands, and he pictures the Celt as he is. "John Splendid" is a most lovable character with all the strength and all the weakness of his race. The story is a faithful picture of stirring times, drawn with true genius. "John Splendid, a tale of the Highlands and the Wars of Montrose," by Neil Munro. The Copp, Clark Company, Limited, Toronto. Speaking of The Advertiser's reference to W. D. Howells' eulogy of the Canadian poets, the Hamilton Spectator says:

The approval of that dreary piler of words, Howells, is hardly "praise, indeed." Praise from the man who tries to belittle that giant, Kipling, should not be pleasant to young Canadian poets."

There is nothing to be gained by calling Howells a dreary piler of words. He is not a great author, by any means-America has none nowbut he is one of the literary lions of sential to the commercial interests of the United States, and is ranked by this city, and the growth of our take many as its most scholarly critic since port trade is a matter for congratula- Henry James went to England. The fact that Howells has spoken sneeringly of the English, because the English have never appreciated his work, only enhances the value of his tribute to Canadian poets, because it must pansion of trade would justify it. The have cut against his American pre-Government is in duty bound to do its judice. In disliking Kipling he is not alone among men of literary note, many of whom think Rudyard is too raw. Of course, this is not creditable to Howells' judgment, but the Spectator will probably admit that he is right when he prefers Canadian to American poets. We repeat that coming from Howells it is praise indeed.

Eozema All Over Head and Face. Two Doctors, No Benefit. Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES with Rapid Cure.

I was troubled several years with cutaneous diseases which developed into chronic Ec-zema, which spread all over my head, and down on my face. I took medical treatment Then I tried several lotions, etc., which we had in the store, but only received little relief from them. At times, the dreadful itching became almost intolerable. When I was heated, the Eczema became painful, and almost distracted me. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES and did so, and found them all that is claimed for them. The Eczema rapidly disappeared, and I am well, with no trace of any cutaneous disease. Shall always recommend Cuttcura to all.

Scratched Continually Our babe, two months old, broke out in sores over her face and ears. She seemed to be in great misery, and would scratch continually. I noticed your advertisement in our home paper, and supposed it would be a good thing for our Sadie. I used the CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP, and they were a great benefit to her. I did not like to give medicine inwardly to a child so young, but saw that she must have something to drive the disease out, so I got a bottle of Curioura RESOLVENT, to purify her blood, and gave her about one third of the bottle, and your medicines have done wonders for her.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17 .- There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 60 calves and 500 sheep and lambs offered the ball to be given at the auditorium for sale at the east end abattoir to-There were very few prime beasts on the market, and these sold at about 41/4c per lb. Pretty good catwere also not very plentiful, and sold from 3%c to 4c per lb. Common dry cows and thrifty young stock were and navy and their dependents. Mrs. rather numerous, and sold from 24c Potter Palmer, who conducted the arto 31/4c per lb., while some of the leaner beasts would not bring over 2c per lb. Calves were more humerous than for some time past, but most of them were "grassers," and these sold at from 3c to 4c per ib; good veals sold meagre cattle supplies, buyers of all classes today were disposed to take hold with considerable freedom, but they took advantage of the bountiful supply to force prices a little lower; choice steers, $5 40 to $5 80; medium $4 80 to $5; heef steers, $4 10 to $4 75; stockers and feeders, $3 to $4 70; bulls, $2 40 to $4 25; cows and heifers, $3 50 to $4 25; calves, $3 50 to $7 25; western rangers, $2 75 to $4 65; western fed steers, $4 to $5 50; Texans, $3 35 to $4. While the supply of hogs was on a liberal scale, there was a correspondingly large demand, and good droves sold rather actively at steady prices; fair to choice hogs sold largely at $3 75 to $3 871/2, the commonest droves selling at $3 40 to $3 50, and the best at $3 90 to $3 95; pigs sold at $2 75 to $3 75, largely at $3 25 to $8 60. There was a fairly active demand for sheep, but the liberal supply caused a weaker feeling, and prices were to a large extent 10c to 15c lower for both sheep and lambs; sheep were saleable at $3 to $3 50 for the poorest, to $4 40 to $4 60 for choice lots, western range flocks selling at $3 50 to $4 50; lambs were slower than heretofore, at $4 to $4 50 for common, up to $5.75 to $6.15 for good to choice flocks; feeding sheep, $4 to $4 15, and feeding lambs at $4 90 to $5 10; range lambs were salable at $5 25 to $5 60 for the better class. Recelpts-Cattle, 20,000; hogs, 37,000; sheep. 25,000.

EAST BUFFALO, Oct. 17.-Cattle-The market today was somewhat irregular, but generally 10c to 15c lower, with large offerings—about 300 loads. including 94 loads of Canada stockers; Canada stockers were in fair demand, at a decline of 10c at least; there were several loads of good export cattle, but no demand; there were several sales of good cattle of special quality at steady prices, but the common, coarse kinds were weak, irregular and generally lower: good to best smooth fat export steers, $5 to $5 25; good to best, $4 85 to $5 20; good to best butchers' steers, $4 15 to $4 60; common to good butchers' bulls, $3 15 to $3 35; heifers, good to best fat, $3 90 to $4 15; fair to good do, $3 40 to $3 90; fat cows, good to best, $3 50 to $4; common to good do, $3 to $3 25; stockers, choice to extra quality, $4 to $4 20: common to good do, $3 50 to $3 75; feeders, good to extra, $4 20 to $4 35; common to good, $4 to $4 10; fresh cows, choice to extra, good big. $50 to $65; good to choice, $45 to $50; springers, good to extra, $35 to $50; common and roor cows. $13 to $20; cows and springers, common to good, $20 to $25; calves, good to extra, $750 to $775; good to choice, $6 to $650; calves, heavy, $4 to Sheep and lambs-The market was in good position considering the liberal offerings, 83 loads, and the unfavorable outside reports; prices were about 10c to 15c lower; western lambs, choice to extra, were quotable at $5.50 to $5.70; good to choice, $5.25 to $5.50; to fair, $4.75 to $5.25; sheep, choice. $4 40 to $4 60: feeding lambs were in good demand and sold at $450 to $5 60; the feeder trade helped to buoy up the general trade; the close was about steady on the good kind; common lambs were in good supply, 12 loads; fair demand and sold 10c lower. Hogs-The offerings were quite liberal, 160 loads, with a fair demand throughout the day; Yorkers, $3.90 to $3.95, with some sales at $3 921/2; a fair proportion luring the day at $3 95 to $4; the close was weak, with several loads left over. PEACE JUBILEE Inaugurated at Chicago-Addressed lic Priest, a Presbyterian and a Colored Man.

Chicago, Oct. 18 .- The National Peace Jubilee of Chicago was inaugurated with a union thanksgiving service at the Auditorium. President McKinley attended and listened to addresses by a Jewish Rabbi, a Roman Catholic priest, a Presbyterion clergyman and a colored orator. The applause for the president was terrific, and at one time he was compelled to rise in his box and respond to the frantic cheering of the audience. The services, he were of a religious character. The services, however,

Twelve thousand people were within the great Auditorium, and probably as many more were outside, unable to obtain admittance. Chicago, Oct. 13 .- The great benefit ball tonight will be the climax of to-day's jubilee events. The president will attend the ball. Montreal Man Sues a Lady for Breach of Promise.

Estimates His Loss at $500, but Will Compromise for $199 70.

Montreal, Oct. 18 .- A breach of promise suit generally comes from the disappointed lady, but yesterday Mr. A E. Charron, of Montreal, entered action to recover from Miss Marie Comte the sum of $199 70, of which $70 is the amount to which he is willing to reduce his claim for compensation for the mental suffering and disappointment resulting in the lady's treatment of him, and the balance the amount of the expenses incidental to his engagement, which he also seeks to recover. Mr. Charron alleges that there were promises of marriage between himself and Miss Comte, made in December, January, February, April and June last. In consideration of such promises Mr. Charron went to certain expenses to the amount of $129 70.

Miss Comte, "without valid reason," subsequently failed to carry out her promise, declaring, on the contrary, that she was about immediately to marry another gentleman.

Mr. Charron estimates his sufferings from all this at $500, but is willing to reduce his total claim to $199 70, for which he asks judgment. TWO TEESWATER

The C. P. R. Roundhouse Burded-Sudden Death in Connection With the Affair.

[G. N. W. Special to The Advertiser.] Teeswater, Ont., Oct. 18.—The C. P. R. roundhouse here was completely destroyed by fire last night. There was one locomotive in at the time, which was badly damaged. Mrs. John E. Kennedy, who lives across the river at the north end of the village, started with her daughter to go to the fire. On reaching the bridge Mrs. Kennedy felt faint, and told her daughter to go on alone, and that she would rest and return home. About an hour afterwards, when the daughter returned home, on going upstairs she found her mother lying on sofa quite dead. It is supposed that the excitement and exertion brought on heart failure. Mrs. Kennedy's three sons went to Seattle some years ago, and her husband is also there at present.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

In Canada as Reported by Bradstreet's

Commercial Agency. Bradstreet's weekly review of Canadian trade says: Trade at Montreal was again affectfreight the past week or ten days has been the greatest in the history of the Capt. I. E. Thayer, surveyor of the port. The railways have all they can do in bringing it here, and space on ocean steamers is eagerly sought Values in nearly all lines of wholesale trade are being well maintained, and no complaints of cutting prices are neard this season. Trade at Toronto has continued quite brisk in all lines, except heavy winter goods. The sorting business now being done by the large wholesale firms is the best in years at this season. Values in all classes of goods are very by a Jewish Rabbi, a Roman Catho- firm. What is now wanted to impart a greater activity to trade is cold weather, the rainy days of the past week having interfered with business both in the city and in the country to a considerable extent.

Trade at Winnipeg has been rather quiet, the continued small deliveries of wheat at the country markets being responsible for the dullness. There is a good deal of complaint heard among wholesalers about the slow remittances from provincial points, which is, of course, owing to the small movement in wheat. The talk about damage by the rainstorms to the wheat has not tended to improve the feeling in business circles, but cool weather and a good wind after the rain tended to lessen the damage.

Business at the coast is good. Railway, logging and mining camps are busy, and the demand for supplies is good. There is still a great deal of activity in shipping, and during the good. first week of the month 40 vessels were unloading at various ports in the province. Lumber is in good demand and large sales are being made for all sorts of building operations. There is great activity in the coal market, and explorers have been prospecting for

The anniversary services of the Newbury Meth list Church will be held on Sunday, Oct. 23. Mr. Harry Meredith, foreman of the Evening Leader printing office at Menominee, Mich., was drowned on Friday morning while duck hunting at Peshtigo. The unfortunate man was 32 years of age, a member of the Macried only five months ago. A sad accident, by which Llewellyn, the youngest son of Mr. James Turner, of Parkhill, aged 11 years, lost his life, happened at Mr. Griffith's grain store-house the other afternoon. The lad fell into a large elevated bin (or hopper) containing several hundred bushels of oats. His father was loading a car with oats at the time, and opened the slide of the spout on the first floor in order to fill the truck, when he heard a scream from the bin. He immediately closed the spot and went up, but the boy was drawn down so far that it was twenty minutes before he was taken out, and all efforts to resuscitate him were in vain Big sale now on at Cole's Cut Rate Store. Be on hand for snaps.

Doan's Kidney Pills THE REMEDY SHE USED.

[From the Peterboro Examiner.] Our representative called at the residence of Mrs. E. Toole, Kent street, Lindsay, Ont., and was favored with an interview. Mrs. Toole states:

"For three years I have suffered terribly with pains in my back and limbs, and also with excruciating pains in my head and neck. I felt very dizzy, and when I awoke in the morning seemed to be in a stupid or dazed condition, so much so that it would be a couple of hours before I was able to do anything. Many a time I had to walk the floor for hours at night, on account of the pain from which I suffered. I had no appetite, and was very nervous and easily startled; sometimes feeling that I was about to faint from the fluttering and palpitation of my heart.
"All last summer I was attended by a physician, who said I had Diabetes, and I can say that I have taken a great deal of medicine, but received no benefit from the same. In fact, I was in an awful state. No one but myself knows how much I suffered! "I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and have taken two boxes of them. From the first I commenced to improve. They have worked a wonderful change for the better in my health. They have cured all the pain, restored restful sleep, strengthened my nerves, and given me a good appetite. In fact, I am sure the pills were exactly the medicine I needed; and I cannot express the joy I feel at this change in my health, which is all caused by by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills." Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or three for $1 25. The Doan Kidney Pill Company, Tor-

Montreal, Toronto A SEWAGE FARM

The City Engineer Recommends One for Toronto in Preference to Chemical Treatment.

Toronto, Oct. 18 .- City Engineer Rust yesterday handed to Mayor Shaw his report on the disposal of Toronto sewage. He countenances only two methods: Intermittent filtration, to cost $1, 730,000, and $70,000 annual cost of maintenance; and chemical purification, to cost $1,540,000 originally, and $105,000 annually for maintenance besides. Mr. Rust recommends the former system, This is the sewage farm system. Mr. Rust estimates that 600 acres of land will be required, which will allow for 400,000 people. He disparages Hamilton's chemical system.

The national anti-scalping crusade has reached Pittsburg, and as a result of a public awakening to the dangers of that evil the courts have issued 77 injunctions against Pittsburg ticketscalpers on suits by leading officials of the trunk lines entering Pittsburg.

Since the retirement of John G. Laven, of Toronto, the Michigan Central territory east of the Detroit River, with the exception of the lines west of and including Welland, has been added to the jurisdiction of W. H. Palmer, of St. Thomas. There is probably no railroad in the United States operating over 1,000 miles other than the New York, New Haven and Hartford that earns more money from its passenger traffic than from its freight traffic. The New York, New Haven and Hartford operates over 1,400 miles, and of the gross earnings for the company's fiscal year, ending story are replete with novel surprises. June 30 last, $15,901,069 was from passenger traffic, and $14,081,856 from freight traffic.

COST OF WRECKS. According to the returns filed at the state house in Albany, giving the losses sustained by the railroads operating in New York States on account of accidents and wrecks, the largest sum total paid by any company for injuries to persons was by the New York, New Haven and Hartford, which practically has not a grade crossing in the state, the abount being $248,474. with $16,837 for wrecks.

Some of the greater systems pay more for these items than some goodsized railroads receive in gross earn-The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern last year paid out for injury to persons $176,656, and for clearing wrecks $10,346. The Fitchburg had to give of its earnings $116,166 for injuries and $6,831 for wrecks, while its older and more vigorous rival, the Boston and Albany, paid but $38,899 for injuries and $2,239 for wrecks.

The Erie's tribute was $95,337 for in-juries and $17,701 for wrecks, while that of the New York, Ontario and Western was $36,400 for injuries and $2,734 for wrecks. The Long Island paid $52,222 for injuries and $1,481 for wrecks; the New England $19,293 for injuries and $4,701 for wrecks; New York, Chicago Park, and St. Louis $26,500 for injuries and The $7,058 for wrecks, and Western New York and Pennsylvania $14,216 for in juries and $1,479 for wrecks.

A GRAND ARMY.

In 1897 the total number of workmen employed by the seventeen large railway companies of the United Kingdom was 327,269 by the English, 39,676 by the Scotch and 7,202 by the Irish companies. The average wages, all grades of employment, was $6 20 in England, and slightly less in Ireland and Scotland. During the past twelve months the employes by organized effort have obtained an average advance of 10 cents per head all around per week, adding more than $30,000 per week to the wages bill of the whole kingdom.

> THE CANADIAN RAILWAY CON-TROVERSY.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson will not let the C. P. R. side of the case, as set forth in Sir William Van Horne's comments on the rate war, pass unnoticed. He is preparing a lengthy reply. All correspondence relating to the North Shore line and the rate war will be issued late tonight. In the reply it will be denied that the G. T. R. is responsible for the rate war. The blame is placed on the American roads. The Canadian Pacific Railway seeking to penalize the Grand Trunk is declared to be neither equitable nor practical. Sir Chas. Rivers-Wilson will ask for restoration of local rates, now that the transcontinental difficulty is ended. Further, the Grand Trunk president will offer to submit differences to arbitration, suggesting as the board of arbitration the joint traffic association and ex-Attorney-General Olney, of the United States, to refer all matters in

VAN HORNE TO RIVERS-WILSON. The Financial News publishes a letter from Sir William Van Horne to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, dated Montreal, Sept. 1, regarding the rate war. In this it is stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was indisputably the party attacked. As to the North Bay line dispute, a disagreement between the two roads over the price charged the C. P. R. for running rights over the Northern branch of the G. T. R., the writer says the question has no relation whatever to the transcontinental rate matter. Regarding the use of the line, owning the line, or making a shorter road, he insists that no one can be permitted to determine the question for the C. P. R. The question, he continues, is not a subject for arbitration. The Financial News expresses the opinion that if Sir William Van Horne refuses much longer to arbitrate, there will be a grave suspicion that he is swayed more by personal feeling than by real regard for the interests of the chareholders of the C. P. R. Referring to the same subject, the Financial Times says the Canadian Pacafic Railway is uttered by Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson in his recent speech.

HIGH PRAISE FOR HAYS. When Mr. Hays assumed control of President Calloway, of the New York of feeling against an American taking hold of and Americanizing the road. That he has lived down this prejudice is amply shown by an article in a late issue of the Montreal Witness, of which the following is part: Trunk is now conducted as a great business concern. In past years it was more in the nature of a family preserve. The highest official of the company today is as accessible as the humblest. Simple, direct, vigorous business methods have been employed in every department and relation. When a business man has a question to ask or a rate to discuss, or a transaction to consummate, he is met at once upon the plane of directness, simplicity and promptitude. The head of the depart-ment is not to be sought in an inner sanctuary, sheltered from the profaning gaze of the public. It is not a great favor to see the man with whom you have business. The manager himself sets the example of simplicity. He does not drive to the office at 11 in a carriage and pair. He is there at 9, and he generally walks. This is observed and copied by all in authority. The off cial now understands that the public are to be conciliated; that it is his business to produce a good impression: that the Grand Trunk is doing business upon business principles.

The effect of all this is smply wonderful. It is felt that a new spirit is at work in the Grand Trunk. It is not so much that the new blood has been infused into the system-a new ideal of work has been set up. Dawdling is a thing of the past. Alertness-that is the note which is struck throughout the general offices. It is safe to say that there is not today a listless creature in the employ of the Grand Trunk. There are no longer segments-there is one whole. There is no longer divided authority, made more ineffectual by distance. There is one man who controls the vast system. The final word is uttered by one man. Previously, managers of the Grand Trunk could only suggest -somewhat timidly. Mr. Haye plans and executes. The board of directors in London is necessary for the sake of form, necessary to sign checks and the like. The real authority is the manager.

THE PIECE OF GOLD

When Lucien Hem saw his last hundred-franc note gripped by the bankkeeper's rake, and rose from the soulette table, where he had lost the last fragments of his little fortune, collected for this supreme struggle, he felt giddy, and thought he was going

Hem, then a simple captain, had used so well in the attack of Zaatcha; then, overcome by fatigue, he sank into a profound sleep. When he arose, with a parched mouth, he saw by the clock that he had slept for barely half an hour, and felt an imperious need for breathing the night air. The clock hands marked a quarter before midnight.

At that moment old Dronski-a pillar of the gaming house, the classic Pole, wearing the threadbare hooded woolen cloak, ornamented all over with grease stains-approached Lucien, and muttered a few words in his grizzled

'Lend me a five-franc piece, monsieur. It's now two days since I've stirred out of the club, and for two days the 'seventeen' has never turned up. Laugh at me if you like, but I'll suffer my hand to he cut off if that number does not turn up on the stroke of midnight."

Lucien Hem shrugged his shoulders. He had not even enough in his pocket to meet this tax, which the frequenters of the place called "the Pole's hun-dred sous." He passed into the anteroom, took his hat and fur coat, and descended the stairs with feverish ra-

Since four o'clock, when Lucien had shut himself up in the gaming-house, snow had fallen heavily, and the street -a street in the center of Paris, very narrow, and built with high houses on either side was completely white. In the calm sky, blue-black, the cold stars glittered. The ruined gambler shuddered under his furs, and walked slowly away, his mind still teeming with thoughts of despair, and more than ever turning to He approached her, he took the remembrance of the case of pistols which awaited him in one of his drawers; but after moving forward a few steps, he stopped suddenly before a heart-wringing sight. On a stone bench, placed according to old custom near the door of a mansion, a little girl of six or seven years of age, dressed in a ragged black frock, was sitting in the snow. was sleeping, in spite of the cruel cold, in an attitude of frightful fatigue and exhaustion; her poor little head and tiny shoulder pressed as if they had sunk into an angle of the wall, and reposing on the icy stone. One of her n shoes had fallen from her foot, which hung helplessly and lugubriously before her. With a mechanical gesture, Lucien put his hand to his waistcoat pocket, but a moment afterward he recollected that he had not been able to find even a forgotten piece of 20 sous, and had been obliged to leave the club with-out giving the customary "tip" to the club attendant; yet, moved by an instinctive feeling of pity, he approached the little girl, and might, perhaps, have taken her in his arms, and given her a night's lodging, when, in the wooden shoe which had slipped from her foot he saw something glitter.

He stooped. It was a gold coin.
Some charitable person, doubtless some lady, had passed by, had seen on this night the little wooden shoe lying in front of the sleeping child, and, recalling the touching legend, had placed there, with a secret hand, a magnificent offering, so that this poor abandoned one might believe in presents made for the infant Saviour, and preserve, in spite of her misfortune, some confidence and some hope in the goodness of Providence. A gold piece! It was several days of rest and riches for the beggar, and Lucien was on the point of waking her to tell her this, when he heard near his ear, as a hallucination, a voice-> ter glancing on all sides, to make sure that he was alone in a deserted street, he bent his knee, and, carefully out-stretching his trembling hand, he stole the gold piece from the fallen shoe! Hurrying, then, with all his speed, he returned to the gambling house, scaled the stairs two and three at a stride, and, entering the accursed playroom as the first stroke of midnight was sounding, placed the gold on the green cloth, and cried: "I stake on the seventeen!" The seventeen won.

With a turn of the hand, Lucien pushed the 36 louis to the "red." The "red" won. He left the 72 louis on the same color. The "red" again won. Twice he "doubled"-three timesways with the same success. He had now before him a pile of gold and notes, and began to scatter stakes all over the board. All his bets were fortunate. His luck was unheard of-supernatural. It might have been imagined that the little ivory ball dancing In the roulette was magnetized, fascin-ated by the eyes of this player, and obedient to him. In a dozen stakes he which he had lost at the beginning of the evening.

Now, staking 200 or 300 louis at time, and aided by a strange run of luck, he was on the way to regaining, and more besides, the hereditary capital he had squandered in so few years, and reconstituting his fortune.

In his eagerness to return to the gaming table he had not taken off his fur coat. Already he had crammed the large pockets with bundles of notes and rouleaux of gold pieces, and, not knowing where to heap his winnings, he now loaded the inner and exterior pockets of his frock coat, the pockets of his vest and trousers, his handkerchief-everything that could be made to hold his money.

And still he played, and still he won, like a madman, like a drunken man! Only something like a red-hot iron was in hs heart, and he thought of nothing but of the little mendicant sleeping in the snow, whom he had robbed.

"Is she still at the same spot? Surely she must be still there. Presentlyyes. when 1 o'clock strikes-I swear it! I will quit this place. I will take her sleeping and carry her to my home. 1 will put her into my warm bed. I will bring her up, give her a dowry, love her as if she were my own daughter, care for her always, always!"

But the clock struck 1, then a quarter, then a half, and then three-quar-

And Lucien was still seated at the infernal table At length, one minute before 2 o'clock, the keeper of the bank rose abruptly and said in a loud voice: "The bank is broken, boys-enough is still there.' "Oh, how cold she is, poor little one!" He took her under the arms and raised her so that he might carry her. Her head fell back without her awaking. "How soundly children of her age

He pressed her against his bosom to warm her, and, seized by a vague inquietude and with a view to rousing her out of this heavy slumber, he kissed her eyelids.

Then it was that he perceived with terror that these eyellds were halfopen, showing the eyeballs - glassy, lightless, motionless. Upon his brain flashed a horrible suspicion. He placed his mouth close to that of the little girl. No breath came from it.

At the present time Lucien Hem is a lieutenant in the First Regiment of Chasseurs d'Afrique. He has only his pay to live on, but he contrives to make It suffice, being a steady officer, and never touching a card. It appears even that he found the means of saving, for the other day at Algiers one of his comrades, who was following him at a few paces distant in one of the hilly streets of the Kasha, saw him give something in charity to a little Spanish girl sleeping in a doorway, and had the indiscretion to see what it was that Lucien had given the child. Great was their surprise at the poor leutenant's generosity. Lucien Hem had wit into the hand of the poor child a piece of gold.-From the French of Francois Coppee.

The Ready Wit of the Man of Blood and Iron.

Cemetery That Would Not Agree With Him-Lessons in Politeness to Count Thun of Austria-A Startling Answer to an Indiscreet Question.

The sate Prince Bismarck, although known as a man of blood and iron, was remarkable for his ready wit and his never failing alertness in any emergency. A few years before his death he was surprised by a delegation of peasants from his family estate, Schoenhausen. They had come to ask him to choose their village cemetery for his final resting place.
"It can't be," replied Bismarck calmly.

The conditions of your cemetery do not agree with my rheumatism, and I have no desire to bring my gout with me into the grave."

Naturally brave and often reckless in the face of danger, Bismarck shunned nothing when a life was to be saved. As young lieutenant he risked his own life to save that of his drowning servant. He received the medal "for saving of human life," and he continued to wear it on all ceremonious occasions until he withdrew from public life. Once some high personage, proud of his titles and decorations. noticed the insignificant little medal on the breast of Bismarck and asked sneeringly, "What does that thing mean?" "Not much," said Bismarck, "only that I am in the habit of saving a life now and then."

He was a man of the world whenever he wanted to be so and an excellent talker. These qualities surprised no one more than the empress of France, who, like most of her countrywomen, was inclined to conceive Bismarck as a rude, cold blooded, clumsy brute of the old uncivilized Teutons, who led a primitive life in the virginal forests of Germany, dividing their hostile attentions between boars, bears and Romans. It was she who said of him, "Mais il est plus causeur qu'un Fran-

While Austria remained the head of the Federation of German States and Bismarck attended the federal council at Frankfort as the representative of Prussia he had many dealings and as many semihostile encounters with the Austrian president of the council, Count Thun, whom he viewed with unlimited disgust. Once he called on Thun, who received him in his shirt sleeves. Bismarck proceeded to pull off his own coat without a moment's hesitation, saying, "Indeed, count, it is very hot in your room!"

The count jumped from his chair and hastened to put on his coat, at the same time pouring out apologies. On the occasion of another visit Thun was seated at his writing desk smoking and with an open box of cigars in front of him. He asked Bismarck to wait for a few moments, but offered him nothing to smoke. Bismarck, who was an enthusiastic devotee of the weed, suffered in silence for a few moments and then walked up to the desk and deliberately picked out a cigar under the nose of the startled count, and once more that gentleman had to apolo-

Bismarck's fondness for tobacco lasted till his death in spite of all protests from his physician. All the faithful Dr. Schweninger could do was to have the strong cigars of earlier years supplanted by long stemmed, well cleaned pipes. On the day before his death Bismarck smoked five of

"He lies like an official news bureau," exclaimed Bismarck once in the Prussian Bismarck was always disliked by the diplomatists of the old school, whose tricks and conceits he despised. He confounded their clever plans time and again by an almost overbearing use of the truth. In the spring of 1866, when the war against Austria was nothing but a possibility, Bismarck, who was then president of the Prussian cabinet, attended a dinner given by the minister of Saxony. The Countess Hohenthal, who sat by his side, was inconsiderate enough to ask, "Is it true that your excellency intends to go to war with Austria?'

"Certainly, my dear countess," replied Bismarck in his blandest manner. have thought of nothing else since I entered the cabinet. Our guns are ready, and you will soon find that they are superior to the Austrian artillery."

"But, then, you must give me some friendly advice," said the countess. "I have two castles, one in Bohemia and one near Leipsic. Which one will be the safest to go to?"
"If you take my advice," answered Bismarck, "you will not go to Bohemia. Your castle is located in the very vicinity where we intend to beat the Austrians. Go to Saxony, and you will be perfectly

The countess made her indiscretion complete by telling every one of this remarkable conversation. The world was startled, and demands for an explanation came from all quarters.

"Pooh!" smiled Bismarck, with a shrug of his shoulders. "Do you pay attention to an ironical answer prompted by an indiscreet question?"

Wolff's Telegraph bureau was honored with Bismarck's attention on account of some alleged irregularities. The chancellor summoned one of the government officers, who promptly asserted that he did not know a thing about the whole matter. "You had better make a thorough investigation and give me a detailed report,' said Bismarck. "But there is no special hurry. If I have the report by tomorrow at noon, that will be time enough." Good living was one of Bismarck's weak points, and the first Countess Bismarck said sometimes that the chef de cuisine was the only one who could govern her Iron Chancellor. Certain it is that this magnate, Herr Mueller, could take liberties which would have proved dangerous to other persons. He had sent word twice on one occasion that dinner was ready.

"Not hungry yet. Wait another half hour," was the reply that came from the chancellor

The third message received from the kitchen magnate admitted of no appeal: "His excellency will have to eat now, whether he is hungry or not, for I, the premier of the kitchen, cannot keep the dishes any longer."

The premier of Prussia submitted without demurring and went to dinner at once. -Exchanga

Another Permanent Cure. THIS TIME OF A

RUNNING SORE.

B. B. B. Cares Mr. D. Burch of Renton, Ont., of a Bad Sore on the Leg in 1892.

IT HAS NEVER BROKEN OUT SINCE.

Look around you and see if you can find any other remedy with such a record of permanent cures to its credit as Burdock Blood Bitters.

Not a little patching and mending up of the system to last a short time, but a thorough renovation, whereby disease is uprooted completely and health permanently restored.

Take the case of Chronic Sores of all kinds, which everyone knows are hard to heal with ordinary remedies.

To make a thorough and permanent care the blood must be cleansed so that pure nutritious blood shall be supplied to the affected part, and supplant the decaying tissues with healthy flesh.

Sores or ulcers, no matter how large or how long standing, heal up readily when Burdock Blood Bitters is applied externally and taken internally according to directions. The statements of Mr. D. Burch of Renton, Ont., given below, prove this, and again establish the claim made for B. B. that it is the greatest remedy in existence for not only giving temporary relief, but making permanent cures. This is the letter written by him, dated February 8th, 1894: "In the year 1888 I was taken ill with Typhoid Fever. When I had recovered from the fever I got what the doctors called Phlebitus, which left my ankles a very dusky color, and my leg was swellen to the knee all the time until the spring of 1892 when it broke out half way between my knee and the ankle

"I went to the doctors and they pre-scribed for me but to no effect. I quit taking any medicine for a while when I was persuaded by some friends to try Burdock Blood Bitters.

"I had not much faith that it would do me any good, but after using it for three days I could see that my leg had started to heal up.

"I kept on using the B.B.B. until I had taken five bottles in all, when my leg was healed up completely, and as sound as ever it was. If any one wants more particulars let them write to me enclosing a three-cent stamp for retura postage and I will gladly answer them. (Sgd.) D. Burch.

The following letter, written June 30th, 1898, shows how permanent the cure made in 1832 has been : "Burdock Blood Bitters, made permanent cure in my case and I have the greatest regard for that remedy. It healed the sore on my leg in 1892 after doctors failed, and there has been no sign of it breaking out since.

"I never fail to recommend B.B.B. to persons suffering from any similar trouble and believe it to be the best remedy for purifying the blood. If there is any way I can be of service in making known the merits of B. B. B. I shall

only be too pleased to (Sgd.) D. Burch. BITTERS

RAIN TODAY; COOLER TO MORROW.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 17, 11 p.m .- The eastern storm has passed away to the Atlantic, and high pressure is spread-ing to the Maritime Provinces from the St. Lawrence valley. A storm of unusual severity, which has developed over the western states, is now cen-tered in Wisconsin, and is moving northward. A heavy easterly gale is blowing on the lakes, but as yet no rain has fallen east of Michigan. It is probable, however, that before Tuesday night it will have fallen as far east as the Ottawa Valley. Minimum and maximum temperatures: Edmonton, 16-40; Prince Albert, 3-34; Qu-'Appelle, 24—28; Winnipeg, 36—40; Port Arthur, 46—54; Parry Sound, 36—58; Toronto, 36—54; Ottawa, 30—46; Montreal, 32-42; Quebec, 32-42; Halifax,

Toronto, Oct. 18, 1 a.m.—Probabilities for the lower lakes: Easterly, veering to south-westerly gales; rain; much cooler on Wednesday.

Local temperatures—The Aghest and lowest readings of the thermometer at the observatory on Monday, Oct. 27, were 60 and 37 degrees.

Good Work Accomplished by the Protestant Orphans' Home.

Annual Meeting of the Managers-Offi cers Elected - Twenty-Five Unfortunates Placed in Homes-Financial Statement.

The board of management of the Protestant Orphans' Home held their 24th annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the Woman's Art Club rooms, over the Free Library. The reports of the various officers showed the work done among the unfortunate children was very gratifying, many having been placed in comfortable foster-homes. The finances were also in good shape.

Mrs. Morphy, president, occupied the chair, and among otherts present were Rev. Ira Smith, Mr. Andrew Thomson, Mr. Wm. Bowman, Dr. J. S. Niven, Mrs. Shuttleworth (secretary), Mrs. Gregsten (treasurer), and many other ladies who take an interest in the work. The president, Mrs. Morphy, in her report, said that it gave her much pleasure to take part in the work of placing these unfortunate children in good homes, where they would be cared for and educated. Little girls were always in demand, and it was a dist Church, officiating. The house was constant regret that she could not fill prettily decorated with flowers and folithe applications for them. Several age, and was enlivened by the presence bright boys, ranging from 21/2 to 6 of relatives and friends of the conyears, were in the home awaiting adoption. The speaker then expressed given away by her father, looked handher thanks to all who had assisted in any way during the year. Mrs. Morphy has filled the position of president for nine years, and has always been an efficient and earnest worker. The lady was accorded a standing vote of thanks. Mrs. Shuttleworth's report as secretary furnished information regarding the admissions, etc., during the year. On Oct. 1, 1897, there remained in the home 21 boys and 5 girls, and in the twelve months 28 boys and 18 girls were admitted, making a total of 49 boys and 23 girls cared for. Thirty-three boys and fourteen girls were in the home on Sept. 30. Sixteen city and fourteen county children were sheltered for the Children's Aid Soclety in the year, seven of them still being occupants of the home. Twentyfive children were placed in homes during the year. All of the children were in good health.

Mrs. Gregsten's report of the finances showed the year's receipts to have amounted to $3,518 88. Of this $243 70 was granted by the government, and $425 by the council, while the keep of the aid society's children netted $116 75. The city collections realized $946 47, besides which there was a $500 bequest by George Dawson, and a number of special donations.
After meeting all liabilities there remained a balance of $15 37 in the treasury. Over $900 was paid in salaries. The endowment fund receipts amounted to $2,249 56, made up principally of dividends on bank stock, bequests by the late George Dawson and H. Mathewson, and a balance of $715 34 from last year. The balance on hand on Sept. 30, was $1.315 54. The assets were placed at $36,072 54. The bank stock was valued at $17,000, and the buildings at $17,500.

Dr. Niven, the medical attendant of the home, reported that owing to the careful examination of the children before being admitted there had been no infectious diseases during the year, save three cases of diphtheria, at different times, all of which were treated successfully at the city hospital. Some children in an unfit condition, mentally, for the home, had been taken to the Orillia asylum, where they were doing well. Only one death occurred during the years, Mrs. Butler, a faithful attendant, having passed away in February at an advanced age. The election of officers followed the presentation of the reports. It resulted as follows:

Diamond Dye Fast Blacks, for Coloring Wool, Cotton, Mixed Goods, Silk and Feathers, Are the Best in the World.

Diamond Dye Fast Blacks for Dyeing Wool, Cotton, Mixed Goods, Silk and Feathers are the best in the world. They are the purest, strongest and easiest to use; a child who can read the directions can use them and obtain perfect results. Diamond Dye Fast Blacks never crock, fade or wash out; the colors are always brighter after being well and freely washed.

Diamond Dye Fast Blacks are so much stronger than the common adulterated package and soap grease dyes that one packet will do the work of three of any other make, and give results that the common dyes can never approach. Do not be deceived by bulky packages of adulterated and soap grease dyes; worthless ingredients do not pro-
