At a meeting of the Hamilton Street Railway Company Monday the matter of the transfer of the company to the John Patterson syndicate was discussed. The deal, the directors say, has not yet been positively closed.

The Question of the Union.

The question of the Union appears to be the pivot upon which the street railway controversy turns. The Company and their friends say that no corporation could submit to be dominated by the Union. Very true; but the Union asks the same forbearance from the corporation. What the Union claim is this: That the Company after the strike last fall took arbitrary means of eliminating unionism from the ranks of their employes, by admonishing each new man against joining the union and by giving preferential treatment to non-union men. These are grievnces which could be ventilated in a ourt of arbitration, and people could then judge whether the complaints are founded or not. It is said a person rarely forgives one whom he has injured, and the Company doubtless found it hard to exercise loving kindness toward the employes whom they drove into a strike last fall: but it would have paid the Company a hundred fold to have swallowed their chagrin and entered into a frank understanding with the Union, putting the latter on their honor and dignity before the public. Public opinion would not tolerate arrogant or unreasonable conduct on the part of the men-the Company may be assured of that. The men believed that the complete unionizing of the road was their only means of self-preservation; but even that was a point they were willing to submit to arbitration. We venture to say there is not a citizen of London who does not be-

The Policy of Drift.

We cannot compliment the City Council as a whole on handling the Street Railway strike thus far with anything like courage or statesmanlikeness. Those who do not believe in such a thing as hypnotic influence, must wonder why some, who a year ago appeared to wish they possessed two tongues with which to speak up for organized labor, now stand as mice might in the presence of some powerful influence. With even the most upright members of the Council men like Ald. Greenlees, for instance, there seems to be some confusion of thought. He said he did not ride on the cars, and was a sincere friend of the men; yet, on the other hand, he denied the justice of forcing people to join any union, and so on. Well, what about forbidding people, practically, to belong to a labor organization? However, Ald. Greenlees has evidently not as yet fully digested the whole situation. When he does, he will doubtless strike a firmer note: for to do him justice, it is seldom Ald. Greenlees talks on both sides of a question in one speech.

It will be necessary for the City Council as a whole to manifest greater courage, and a larger view of the rights of the citizens whose representatives they profess to be, if our municipal parliament is to retain the intellectual relieve that if the Company so desired spect of the public.

Detroit News: Walking Delegate Mc-Leod, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, has been given a week by the local union to come to an agreement with the Citizens' Street Railway Company. If he does not report favorable progress within the next two or three days it is probable that the men will vote for a

The trouble has been brewing for the last two months, and the men say that It is all attributable to the new general superintendent, Albert Stanley. The complaint which the men make is the manner in which the time tables have been arranged. "A strike at this time would be unfortunate," said Mr. McLeod today; but the men have rights which they don't care to be deprived of. Nearly ali of the men want to see municipal ownership, and they feel that a strike might prejudice the chances of success; but at the same time we don't want to be taken advantage of. This thing has been growing for the last two months, and matters have about reached a climax. We could tie up every line in the city in 40 minutes, and would if we thought it necessary. We want the time tables arranged as they have been in the past, and thus give men a chance to make a living. When men only make half trips and then have to pay their fare to get back to their car, it is carrying the matter too far. The thing has got to 20.-At a largely-attended meeting, the striking freight handlers renewed their determination to stay out until the railways agree to pay them 20 cents an hour for overtime, which the latter, it is said, absolutely refuse to do. In order to get at the grain with which a number of package freighters were loaded the scoopers have been unloading the On a protest from the freight handlers the scoopers have been instructed to keep their hands off. The Contract System Also Discussed-ADayfor Temperance To Be

Ottawa, June 20.-The chief topic of discussion before the house yesterday vas brought up by a motion by Mr. N. F. Davin, asking for copies of all orders in council respecting the letting of contracts without tender, passed since he government came into office. The discussion afforded an opportunity for Mr. Davin to make an attack upon the government for having introduced the system of constructing certain public works by the day-labor system. Mr. Tarte made a vigorous, forcible defense of the course pursued by the department of public works and some other departments. He asserted that under the day-labor system work had been and could be done cheaper and better and the workmen were better treated than by contractors.

Mr. Foster followed up the attack upon the day-labor system, and advocated the tender and contract system as a bulwark against extravagance in public expenditure and on the line of public morals. The government offered no opposition to the motion, and the papers will be brought down. In reply to a question by Col Prior,

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the question of introducing legislation constituting the full court of the supreme court of the Province of British Columbia an appellate court for the Yukon is under consideration. In reply to Mr. Prior, Sir Louis Davies stated that the Dominion Govern ment has made no expenditure upon the Quebec harbor since 1870; $3,748,519 had been expended upon it prior to that date, and that the whole of that amount, and $1,305,316 in interest, was still due to the Government. A DAY FOR TEMPERANCE.

Before the orders for the day were called, Mr. Flint asked if it would be possible for the government to grant a day for the discussion of his temperance resolution, which, he said. would not be reached during the session if left to take its place on the order paper. The premier replied that in order to have a full discussion of this very im-portant question the government had

Flint for the debate on his resolution. It was, however, not possible for the government to fix the date, even approximately, but he might say in advance that as soon as the debate on the redistribution bill was disposed of they would be able to take the matter GEORGIAN BAY CANAL SCHEME.

Mr. Casey resumed the debate on the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay Canal scheme. He indorsed it because of the splendid water power it would develop the facility it would afford for cheaper transportation of western grain and ores to the seaboard , and for the industrial activity that would follow its construction.
Mr. Mackenzie (Lib., North Renfrew) supported the scheme, and assuring the government that the guarantee of interest on $20,000,000 would be a small price to pay for the construction of this waterway. Mr. Edwards (Lib., Russell) who did not wish to throw cold water on the scheme, advocated a government survey and estimate of the cost of the undertaking as a necessary preliminary. He thought that for the present Canada has reached the limit of expenditure upon public works. Mr. Davin urged favorable consideration of the proposal to guarantee the English syndicate's offer on the ground that it would reduce by 50 per cent the cost of transporting grain from the Northwest to the seaboard. On motion of Mr. Brodeur the debate was adjourned. Mr. Richardson's bill to render liable to attachment the salaries of public officers and employes of the government was read a second time SIR SANDFORD FLEMING AC-

Chatham, June 19 (Special)-The Reds defeated the Cockneys today in an exciting game, full of brilliant plays. It was the best game of ball played on the home diamond this season. It was certainly a hard struggle for the victors to lose, as they succeeded in outbatting the locals, the latter being exceedingly fortunate in bunching their efforts. Price was in his best form and pitched superbly, and the field behind him gave him support that was at times brilliant. Cross pitched for Chatham, and also did fine work, repeatedly pulling himself out of tight holes. Twice with the bases full and two out, he struck out the third Londoner, to the delight of the spectators. There was no scoring till the fifth, when Ziegler's error on Cope's hard grounder gave him a life. He stole second on a close decision and was sacrificed to third, then Lohman's pop fly to short right scored the runner. In the following inning Mohler beat out a slow hit, was sent to third on Schwartz's two-bagger, and came in on Babbit's single.

Both teams did some phenomenal fielding, Mohler and Cope carrying off the honors for the visitors, while Ziegler and Cross were responsible for exceedingly fine fielding specialties of the circus

In the eighth Franck was injured in sliding to second, and had to retire from the game. Umpire England had a good many troubles of his own, the spectators alleging that he was partial to the visitors on several close decisions. Once he came near being jostled badly, while on another occasion Cross threw off his glove and began to drag him towards the gates. Nordyke and Lohman, however, got together and settled the dispute, England's ruling being allowed to stand. The score:

OPENING GAME AT WOODSTOCK. One thousand people saw Hamilton defeat Woodstock in the opening of the Canadian League series yesterday at Woodstock. After the win at St. Thomas on Saturday, and Hamilton's bad beating at Guelph, many were under the impression that Woodstock was going to win, but they were doomed to disappointment. The Hamilton team did their best, however, to give Woodstock the game, for they fielded in worse than agricultural style, piling up six errors, and had the scorer not been very lenient with them, they certainly would have had many more. stock's fielding was very good, but they could not find Southpaw Cristall when hits meant runs. Bad base-running also lost one or two runs for them. Hamilton found Traegar whenever they wanted to.

The British and the Boers.

It is believed President Kruger's stubbornness is bending before increasing diplomatic pressure, and that he will make concessions without waiting for a display of force by the British. The relative merits of the dispute between Great Britain and the Transvaal cannot be estimated without dipping

The British proclamation, freeing Davery, took effect in South Africa in 1834 and greatly offended her Majesty's Dutch subjects in that country. Many of these Boers sold their farms and migrated northward beyond British jurisdiction. They finally located over the Vaal river-hence the name Transvaal-and erected the republic in 1852. Great Britain recognizing its independence on condition that the Boers should abstain from slave-holding. The new republic led a troublesome life, the Transvaal Boers quarreling among themselves, and with their kinsmen in the Orange Free States. They had also many conflicts with the Kaffirs and Zulus whom they had driven out. The Boers never showed any financial capacity and in 1875 were on the verge of bankruptcy toward which they had been drifting for years. The government notes circulated at a discount of 75 per cent of their nominal value. In addition, the Boers were dispirited by tribal wars and internal strife, President Burgess being fiercely opposed by Kruger. In 1877 the Brit-1sh, who were also fighting the famous native chief, Cetewayo, annexed the Transvaal and found twelve shillings and sixpence in the national treasury, though the republic was heavily in-

The British at once began to put the finances in good shape, but they could not conquer the antipathy of the Boers, who rose in rebellion on Dec. 16, 1880. The British were defeated at Laing's Neck and Majuba Hill, owing to the guerilla tactics and splendid marksmanship of the Boers. From behind rocks and trees they poured a withering fire on the red-coats who made the mistake of fighting in the regulation stand-up style, instead of adopting go in such practices. The present systhe methods of the enemy.

At Majuba Hill Sir George Colley, the commander of the British troops, was killed while fighting desperately. He had had a brilliant military career, and a life of much promise was cut off. The Government of Great Britain hastened to make peace although there were sufficient troops in South Africa to crush the Boers. In March, 1881, the Transvaal republic was granted its internal independence though subject to British control in its foreign affairs. In 1883 Kruger was elected President, and in 1884 the London convention was signed whereby thte relations of the Transvaal and Great Britain were more exactly defined. By 1885 the Transvaal was again almost insolvent, but luckily at this time fresh discoveries of gold were made and the wealth of the Rand began to attract British capital and British subjects. This was not a forcible invasion, as the reoffered every inducement to foreigners (Uitlanders) to enter the Transvaal and develop the mining industry. The wily Kruger saw in this influx of Uitlanders the means of saving the republic from impending disaster, and he set about taxing the new-comers by every conceivable method. In twelve years the revenue of the Transvaal increased fifteenfold. The white population of the country is now estimated at 119,125, of whom 75,720 are Uitlanders. The Uitlanders pay fourteen-fifteenths of the taxes, but they have no voice in the public expenditure, or in the legislation of the republic. They are excluded from all political rights, being even denied the privilege of citizenship.

The Boers, of course, maintain that to give the Uitlanders civil rights would be practically handing over the country to the British, who, being the majority, would rule the country to suit themselves. There is some ground for this fear. As a matter of fact, the Boers must sooner or later relinquish control of the Transvaal. They are becoming every year a smaller minority. They cannot hope much longer to absolutely impose their will upon the foreign element who have created the prosperity and wealth of the Transwaal, and without whom the country would lapse into primitive stagnation and probably ruin.

The Boers would suffer nothing under the British flag-in fact, their material interests would be promoted by the increased order and security, and the rehabilitation of the finances which would follow British administration. The Boers may as well yield now to the gradual and painless absorption of their political independence, which would be the inevitable result of enfranchising the Uitlanders, as to be thrashed into submission at once. They may challenge sympathy on the plea that the country is their own, and that they have a right to resist foreign aggression, but the Boers, when they occupied the Transvaal, did not hesitate to dispossess the natives, whom they fought with savage cruelty. As a race they are undoubtedly brave, but they are inhumane; religious, but incredibly narrow, fanatical and ignorant; industrious, but utterly non-pro-The Boers, as has been aptly said, have been overtaken by civiliza-Kruger is merely illustrating Mrz. Partington again in attempting to the tide

Our Unjust Assessment Laws. There is crying need of equality in our assessment laws. At the finance committee the other evening a case in point was discussed. The well known firm of D. S. Perrin & Co. lately purchased some land on which to erect an $8,000 addition to their factory. The lot, which was sold for $1,500, had been paying taxes under its original owner. The Perrin Company claimed exemption from taxes, both on the land and the new building, because previously the firm had been granted a fixed assessment for a term of years. The city solicitor will be asked for his opinion. We merely cite this as an illustration of the irregularity of the exemption system. D. S. Perrin & Co. are merely doing what any other taxpayers would do under the same circumstances evade taxation to the full extent of their legal rights. It is gratifying to note that the Perrin Company, like most other local manufacturers, are busy and prosperous, and that they are obliged to increase their facilities. It is a reasonable inference, however, that if a company can afford a new building, they can afford to pay taxes upon it. It may also be assumed that when a business firm add to their premises they do it for their own profit, and not from the sole motive of benefiting the city. The Perrin Company can point | Gen. Wheaton's Men in a Hot Placeout, in justification of their claim, that a competing establishmentthe McCormick Company-whose factory also has been enlarged, secured a similar favor from the city. This merely emphasizes the defects of the exemption system. Every cottage owner has to help pay the taxes of the wealthy Perrin and McCormick companies, and of other firms enjoying like privileges. The cottage owner knows, too, that if he improves or enlarges his own house, he is at once fined by the assessor. It is manifestly unjust. Where is the line to be drawn? If one class can claim these exemptions, why not another?

We are not inclined to blame the beneficiaries of the exemption system, or to place the whole responsibility on the City Council. Each municipality has to face the fact that if it will not offer inducements to manufacturers, other municipalities will. This is a destructive rivalry, which both parties in the Ontario Legislature have refused to check, although a praiseworthy attempt to reduce the evil was made at the last session. We are sure that manufacturers as a class would welcome an equitable and uniform law fixing the limits to which any municipality could tem is grossly unfair to the manufacturers, as a whole. The majority get no concessions and are laboring under a serious disadvantage in competing with those who are enjoying bonuses or exemptions elsewhere. If all could be put on an equal footing, there would be no complaint from legitimate manufacturers, and a serious injustice and dangerous precedent would be removed. The cities and towns should agree to stop their insane bidding against one another to attract industries, and should join in demanding that the Legislature pass a law which would insure fair play in the future.

What Others Say.

Enterprising Canada

[Binghamton, N. Y., Republican.] The only hope for the state taxpayers is that Canada, by her greater and more national enterprise, will succeed in taking all the water business down the St. Lawrence River, and leave our made ditches without a further excuse for existance.

Kipling's Dead Daughter.

[Boston Herald.] The fact that Mr. Kipling carried the ashes of his dead daughter back to England with him in a small porphyry urn furnishes yet another illustration of the advantages of cremation in the matter of handling the mortal remains of the dead. And who will say that ashes are not just as sacred as the lifeless clay?

An Unfair Livision.

[Springfield, Mass., Republican.] The present tariff on dutiable articles averages neary 60 per cent and it is the opinion of Mr. Havemeyer, of the sugar trust, that 10 per cent is all that is wanted to make good the difference in cost of production in the States as compared with This is to say that the Dingley tariff is 50 per cent for the trusts and ten per cent for the people; and the great eagerness everywhere exhibited to organize trusts tends to support this view of the matter.

Girls Judged by Their Music. [Pall Mall Gazette.]

It is possible, it seems, to judge a woman's character by the music she plays. To those of the male persuasion who are anxious to choose a wife, wisely and well, one who is musical, but who at the same time possesses all the domestic virtues, the following may be useful: If the girl manifests a predilection for Strauss, she is frivolous; for Beethoven, she is unpractical; for Lizst, she is too ambitious; for Verdi, she is sentimental; for Offenbach, she is giddy; for Gounod, she is lackadaisical; for Gottschalk, she is superficial; for Mozart, she is prudish; for Flotow, she is commonplace; for Wagner, she is idiotic. The girl who hammers away at the Maiden's Prayer and Silvery Waves may be depended upon as a good cook and healthful; and if she includes the Battle of the Prague, you ought to know that she has been strictly nurtured. But last of all, pin thou thy faith upon the calico dress of the girl who can play Home, Sweet Home.

HALTON ELECTION

Mr. Barber (Lib.), M.P.P., Retains His Seat.

A woman can hold her head quite high, even though she hasn't a penny in her pocketbook, but a man without money is absolutely without courage.

the true philosophy of life.

ATTACKED BY FILIPINOS

Severe Fighting-Short of Shot.

Manila, June 20 .- A battalion of the Fourth Infantry, which left Imus, where Gen. Wheaton is in command, to reconnoiter towards Peres das Marinas, where it was believed most of the rebels who escaped from Paranaque and Bacoor had fled, was attacked by apparently friendly natives in the rear, which brought on a sharp engagement, lasting several hours. It resulted in five Americans being killed and about 25 being wounded. The loss of the rebels was very heavy.

RAN OUT OF AMMUNITION. The battalion soon exhausted its ammunition, and at 2:30 this afternoon Gen. Wheaton and his staff, with the second battalion, two mountain guns and one field piece, went to reinforce the troops attacked. Gen. Wheaton was fired on in a road, and had a narrow escape. Later.-The third battalion was ordered to the front, and formed on the Das Marinas road. Heavy firing on both sides followed, the artillery being freely used. The enemy was located in the woods at 4 o'clock, showing signs of retiring, as the rebels were being pressed very hard. One gun of the Sixth Artillery, in an advantageous position, did great execution. The fighting was still in progress at 5 o'clock, at which time the Americans had secured a quantity of Filipino arms, which had been abandoned in the woods. The scene of the fight is over twenty miles from Manila.

ATE HUMAN FLESH!

Suffering on the Yukon Trail-Pros pectors Reduced to Cannibalism.

Circle City, Alaska, May 29, via San Francisco, June 19 .- A story of possible cannibalism and death on the Yukon trail has just reached here. Three men left Dahl River on Dec. 5, for Jimtown. Nothing was heard of them till the steamer Rideout brought terrible tale of suffering and horror. The men were Michael Daly, Victor Ediar and M. Provost, from Providence and Woonsocket, R. I., and Production Mass respectively. Their Brockton, Mass., respectively. Their bodies were discovered 17 miles from the mouth of Old Man's Creek. Having left Dahl River with only three weeks' food they were soon reduced to starvation. Daly's body was found partly eaten on a stove in a tent, just as it was left when death overtook the others. Some scraps of moose hide and moccasin were found, of which they had evidently been endeavoring to make a stew. Daly's body was identified by the clothes. The other two men were found dead five miles from the tent. The fact of the tent flaps being shut down when found, would seem to preclude the possibility of Daly's body having been eaten by animals. The other men doubtless were driven by hunger to the awful extremity of cannibalism.

CURISTS THAT DID NOT CURE

How a Walkerton Man Lost His Right Arm-Mrs. E. L. Gilson's Sad Death.

Bridgeport, Wash., June 20.-Albert Morrell, formerly of Walkerton, Ont. had his right arm amputated last week. While at his work Morrell received a slight cut on the finger end. It was a very small cut-a mere scratch-and Morrell did not pay the least attention to it. In a week his hand and arm began to swell, and Morrell took to his

It was evident that poisoning had set in, but medical assistance was not summoned, as Morrell had become converted to Christian Science, and the Wilshes, where he boarded, were ardent Christian Scientists. They would not allow a doctor near him. Finally Morrell became delirious, and his moans attracted a neighbor, who in company with several others demanded admittance to the sick man. Seeing the unfortunate condition of Morrell, the neighbors hastened and procured doctors, and had the arm immediately amputated close to the

Elgin, Ill., June 20.—The funeral of Mrs. Ellen E. Gilson was held yesterday at Blue Island. Her death is a day at land of the was made dramatic ending of one who was made mad by faith cure. Mrs. Gilson died on Friday in the Illinois Hospital for the Insane in this city. Her daughter Gertrude is an inmate of the institution in which she died. Her brother Elmer E. Day, occupies another ward in the same institution. Both are hopelessly insane. All of them were persons of keen mind, but there was no trace of madness until they took up the study of Christian Science. The family tree shows no limbs tainted with madness. Mrs. Gilson was a large property owner in Blue Island; her daughter was a kindergarten teacher in the public schools of Chicago. Day was a druggist in Elgin, with a large business. He, too, was well-to-do. He was at one time an alderman of Elgin. It was in 1897 that Mrs. Gilson and her daughter became interested in Christian Science. They attended meetings called by the Rev. J. C. F. Grumbine, then of Chicago, but now of Syracuse, and soon they were ardent believers in his teachings. Then Mrs. Gilson got her

IS THE PLACE TO BUY BINDER' TWINE.

Local Market. London, Tuesday, June 20.

Offerings were light at the market this morning and prices as a mained firm. Butter has advanced since Saturday and many rolls brought 16 cents per pound retail. The supply of poultry was scarce, but prices remained unchanged. Few strawberries were offered. Quite a thriving business has been done for some time past and is still being done in ferns, pitcher plants and moss. Garden stuff was moderately active. Beef continued to sell at a comparatively low figure, and there was practically no change in the prices of other meats offered. Quotations:

CURTAILMENT OF ORATORY

Some Presbyterian Clergymen Talk Too Long, Some People Think,

Hamilton. June 19 .- At the opening of the sederunt of the General As-sembly this morning, the opinion was expressed that some of the commissioners had talked too long in dis-cussing reports presented, and the committee on bills and overtures suggested that hereafter speakers make their speeches shorter.

TEMPORARY PREACHERS. Quite a discussion arose over the report of the committee on the distribution of probationers, presented by Rev. Dr. Torrance. The filling of vacant pulpits throughout the assembly limits and keeping an account of the men available for this class of work, are the principle duties of this committee, and interesting clauses of this report were as follows: "Your committee began this year with 22 names on the roll. To these eight were added at their meeting in September, three in December, three in March, and one since, making a total of 37. Of these eleven had settlements either in mission fields or regular pastoral charges; four have withdrawn, five have been removed for one cause or another, and there are now seventeen on.

'Of the full list three names were sent in by the Presbytery of Hamilton, six by that of Barrie, the same by Toronto, two each by the Pres-byteries of Brockville, Peterboro, London, Kingston and Sarnia, and one each by Stratford, Guelph, Orangeville, Portage La Prairie, Calgary, Melita, Ottawa, Maitland, Halifax, Lindsay and Saugeen, one name not yet cer-The report further stated that the Presbyterians had not been loyal to the committee, and Rev. Dr. Milligan, in moving the adoption of the report, pointed out, at some length, the value of the system. He held that the scheme was the best that could be adopted for the filling of vacancies, and he deplored the fact that many were prone to think that a man placed on the probationers' list immediately became practically a nobody. The scheme, at any rate, was far better than the guerilla warfare carried on by some churches in the effort to fill

A scheme brought in by the committee for the definition of its duties, and those of Presbyteries and probationers, in line with the purposes of the committee, including a table of robationers' remunneration, was referred to a committee.

Halifax was the place chosen for the next meeting of the general as-sembly, that being the only place which extended an invitation. The report of the Sabbath school was presented by Rev. Dr. Fotheringham. It showed there are 2,500 schools, 19,000 teachers and 160,000 scholars.

HEARD THE BACPIPES At the evening session the attendance of commissioners was not so large, as many attended the garden party given in honor of the delegates to the assembly at John Proctor's residence. Bagpipe music was a feature of the

At the assembly the business was re-ceiving of reports of Young People's Societies of the church. There was a falling off in the membership, but the contributions were as large as last rear's. Rev. Drs. Sutherland and Miller read the report of the east augmentation fund. The receipts and expenditure were about $10,000. The west report was presented by Rev. Dr. Campbell. About $25,000 was raised and distributed. MINISTERS' ANNUITIES.

The report of the aged and infirm ministers' fund (western section) was presented by Mr. J. K. Macdonald, of Toronto. The ordinary receipts of the fund were $20,178 07, and the dis-bursements the same. The total capital fund investment was $145,624 74. The report continues: In regard to the ordinary fund, comparison with the previous statement affords ground for congratulation, inasmuch as congregational contributions show an increase of $1,525 84, over that in last

Have It Checked and the Inflamation Allayed by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

It is appalling how many people in the course of a year are hurried into untimely graves by an attack of dysentery.

It comes on so suddenly, its course is so rapid, its action on the system so weakening, its termination so quickly fatal, that any treatment must be administered promptly and the disease checked effectively at the outset. The only remedy that anyone would think of relying on in such an emergency as that, is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. For a generation and a half it has been curing all forms of bowel complaints of children and adults, and during that time has saved thousands of lives and many doctor's bills. Never be without it in your It's cost is trifling, only 35c, house. but the pain and weakness, yes, even death, it may save you from some day, or some of your family, is worth more to you than ten thousand times its

Mrs. Richard Gilbank, Coldwater, Ont., says: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and found it a reliable remedy for Summer Complaint, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and Cholera Morbus. I know it to be a grand remedy in the case of children and heartily recommend it." THE WEATHER TODAY-Generally fine and very warm, report, and in interest an increase of $885 35; but it will be necessary to bear in mind that the previous report only included a period of eleven months, while the present report covers the full twe've months. In minis-ters' rates there is a falling of, as compared with last report, of $436 15. Eighty-three members have drawn benefit from the fund to the extent of $15,967 21. These payments were made on the modified scale. Had the annuities been settled on the full scale under the rules, a total income of $19. 000 would have been required by the committee in charge of the fund.

The following were recommended to be added to the list of annuitants: Revs. John Mackie, Montreal; Robt. Knowles, Lanark and Renfrew; A. D. McDonald, D.D., Huron; A. T. Colter, Chatham; Arch. Stewart, London; J. M. Munro, London; and Wm. Peattie, Toronto. Mr. Macdonald announced that Rev. Mr. Munro had gone to his last long sleep since the report was prepared.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

Interesting Meetings in Progress at the Auditorium.

The first meeting of the conference now being conducted by instructors of the Toronto Bible Training School was held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Dr. Smith, of the First Methodist Church, presided, and interesting and helpful addresses were delivered by Dr. Stewart on the "Names of God in the Old Testament," and by Dr. Harris on the "Epistle to the Hebrews." There was a good attendance from the different churches, and the audience, Bible in hand, followed very closely the clear and suggestive instruction of the lecturers.

This afternoon the conference is continued in the same place, with the well-known Dr. Wardrope, of Guelph, an ex-moderator of the Canada Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Stewart as the speakers. Topight will be in some respects the chief meeting of the series, with Drs. Wardrope and Harris conducting the exercises. Tomorrow afternoch at 3 o'clock, will be held the closing meeting of the session, with Dr. Harris and Dr. Stewart as lecturers, the latter dealing with the very important and practical theme of "How to Study the Bible." The meetings are growing in interest, and the Y. M. C. A. of the city have done a good work in arranging such a conference for Bible students and Christian workers.

Rheumatism Can't Exist

When the kidneys are kept healthy and vigorous by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It is uric acid left in the blood by defective kidneys that causes rheumatism. Dr. A. W. UNION LABEL AN THE SENATE

J. D. O'Donoghue's Plea for the Bil -Supported by Hon. David Mills-The Senate Hostile.

[C. P. R. Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, June 20 .- The union label bill came up again today before the senate committee on banking and commerce. D. J. O'Donoghue, Toronto, pointed out that the adoption of the bill would materially assist in relieving the working classes from the growing evils of the sweating system, unduly low wages, long hours and labor under unsanitary condition. Mr. O'Donoghue denied, as suggested by Senator Mc-Mullen, that the bill would dictate as to how business men were going to run their establishments. He (O'Donoghue) here made an earnest plea for the bill pointing out that the laboring classes had been asking for legislation for six years, and it was not yet obtained. Senator McMullen did not think that Mr. O'Donoghue would live long enough to see the bill become law. Mr. O'Donoghue retorted that he might live longer than the senate.

The bill was allowed to stand over until Thursday next, but the senate is hostile. Hon. David Mills supported strongly the union label bill. The jury have the case of Leon Boileau, at Hull assizes, charged with murdering his stepdaughter, before them, and cannot agree.

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in informing you that the liniment you recommended to me for my leg, which was broken and very much bruised some time ago, and which at times caused me much pain, so much so that I had to quit work, has done for me all you said it would do and my leg; in much stronger and it would do, and my leg is much stronger and better than it has been for a long time. How Old People May Be Healthy and Happy.

Will Surely Banish Their Ailments and Troubles.

It Preserves Health and Prolongs Life.

The most successful and popular physicians of our times are those who can banish the ailments and distress of men and women in old age.

Three-fourths of all the aches and pains that make old age miserable arise from retarded circulation. The slow blood is choked with accumulations of waste matters that produce rheumatism, neuralgia sciatica and lumbago. Sluggish circulation speedily produces digestive disturbances, and unlooked-for complications arise that in the majority of cases prove fatal to

Paine's Celery Compound is a precious boon to those advanced in years. Boon after its use is commenced there is noticed an increase in the blood supply, which is pure, ruddy and active in coursing through the body. The brain becomes clear, digestion is easy, and natural, the heart does its work with regularity, nerve force is acquired and flesh is built up.

If old people desire health and strength to meet the enervating and trying weather of midsummer, they should build up at once by the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. John Holdsworth, Claremont street, Toronto, says: "I was taken sick last summer, and was in bed for five weeks or more, and my physician was attending me all the time. My case was pronounced to be weakness of the heart and old age, for I am now 78 years old.

"I kept getting worse until my recovery was considered hopeless. One of my relatives recommended me to use Paine's Celery Compound, which I did with good results. After the first dose I felt relieved, and after a few days I was able to leave my bed and walk around. I used four bottles, and found your medicine to be a most excellent remedy, as I am now quite well. I hope other sufferers will receive as much benefit as I received."

"AN ADMIRER OF THE COLONEL."

On the same day Col. Leys wrote to M. G. Bremner, editor of the Free Press, stating that he considered the matter libelous, and requesting the name of the writer. Mr. Bremner replied, disclaiming sympathy with the tone of the letter, and stating that the request would be submitted to the Free Press board of directors.

On May 20 Col. Leys again wrote, demanding the name of the writer of the letter, and was informed in reply that there had been no quorum at the board The east-bound Dundas street cars meeting. On June 7 Col. Leys made another demand, and again on June 8.

Mr. Bremner, on the 8th, replied that find accommodation in the 'busses went | the superintendent of the London Street Railway Company. 'To the Gallant Colonel:

"I understand, from the Free Press, you wish to know the name of your admirer in the letter published in the Free Press of May 17. I have no hesitation in acknowledging the authorship, and if you wish to know anything further about it you can obtain all the satisfaction you will require on • personal application to me.
"S. OTTER."

On June 14 Col. Leys received a let-ter from Mr. Swaisland, secretary-treasurer of the Free Press Company, as follows:

"Your letter came before the board yesterday, and I am instructed to state that it is contrary to the custom of this company to give the information asked for."
The above letter reached Col. Leys

yesterday. Shortly after 2 o'clock to-day, Col. Leys was standing in front of the Bank of Commerce building at Dundas and Richmond streets. Bremner passed that way. Col. Leys stepped up to him and again demanded the name of the writer of the letter.

"You have been given the name of the writer," said Mr. Bremner. "You are a liar!" replied the colonel. "Potter never wrote that letter. You are a liar and a coward to attack a woman in a dirty, slanderous, anonymous letter. I am bound to get at the writer of that letter if I have to do it through you."

Col. Leys accompanied this remark with a sharp slap on the face. Mr. Bremner raised his heavy walking-stick as if to strike the colonel, but the latter closed in, grasped him round the neck and put him "in changery." They went down together, partly on steps of the Bank of Commerce, and partly on the pavement. The colonel was on top, and had begun to administer pretty severe punishment, when P. C. Egelton, who was in plain clothes, and has been keeping special guard over Mr. Bremner lately, crossed the street and pulled Col. Leys away. P. C. Birrell, who was on duty at the corner, also came up and assisted in separating the combatants. Mr. Bremner was apparently not much hurt, and Col. Leys came out of the Bank of Commerce a few minutes later only a little ruffled, and apparently happy. "As long as I am in public life," said the colonel, "I am quite willing to put up with lampooning and abuse, but no man shall make slanderous attacks upon my wife and family without answering to me."

"Miss Sanford is the daughter of Judge Provost's sister, and such an heiress! An American Miss Burdett Coutts, if half the stories in circulation about her be true. She is the only child of a five millionaire, and has, besides, a million in her own right, inherited from her mother. Poor thing! what a nuisance it must be to be so horribly rich!" commented the country girl who thought herself wealthy with her mother's wedding portion of ten thousand dollars, carefully husbanded by her father against her majority or marriage.

Why do I regard it as a misforfortune for a woman to be immensely rich? Because she can never be sure true friends or lover. Because she seldom escapes one of two evils, dupedom or misanthropy. "If a woman can content herself with that sort of worship put herself on a par with the goose that laid the golden egg, she wants neither affection nor pity."

"Yet I'll warrant that the famous goose preened herself alongside of the most gorgeous peacock in the barn-yard; accounted herself the equal of the stateliest swans. Novels and sentimentalists tell us that the unhappy possessors of princely fortunes desire to be sought and loved for their intrinsic virtues, whereas the great mass—especially of women—who are wedded for their riches, are quite alive to the truth that this is so, and are far from being younded thereby. They are neither dupes nor misbut sensible, practical anthropes, but sensible, practical bodies, who regard their property as a part of themselves—soul of their soul—and unhesitatingly appropriate all the advantages it buys, pluming themselves, as a rule, upon their ability to command service and fidel-Illustrate from real life. A homely, shrewish-looking girl to the uninstructed eye. Yet her air showed that she was accustomed to receive court from the sophisticated multitude, the many who were awake to the fact that she was the undoubted mistress of charms not to be adequately expressed by less than seven figures. Her dress was a walking advertisement of her pretensions to this intelligent homage, being mauve satin, flounced with point lace. It was cut too low upon the flat chest and prominent shoulder-blades, but the region thus left bare was made interesting to feminine eyes by a magnificent diamond necklace. Bracelets to match loaded her meagre wrists, and were pushed up ostentatiously before she put her fingers upon the key-board, with a coquettish grimace at her cava-

"I don't sing bailads," Jessie and Orrin heard her say, tossing her head one-sidedly—a frequent trick with her, since it set her ear-rings to dancing until the precious stones seemed to emit sparks of real fire. "Ballad music is considered so low in refined circles. I have never cultivated any but the classic style-operas, you know, bravuras, and arias, and all that, you know. Let me treat you to my favorite-just the sweetest thing , you ever heard from La Traviate. I per-fectly dote upon it!"

She played a thumping prelude and accompaniment in villainous time; her voice was shallow and shrill; she made audacious dashes at trills and cadenzas, her feeble pipe breaking down upon the ascending and breaking up upon the descending scale. A more lamentable and witless travestie of operatic execution could hardly have been conceived of. The Italian words were made a thing of no account what-

"Her resources are wonderful," said Orrin, under cover of the buzz of compliments and thanks that succeeded the song. "When she forgot what came next she substituted something of her own composition-in the Kaffir dialect, I think-with a readiness and coolness really astounding. "I won't tell you!" But Jessie's face was alive with fun. It might not be—it certainly was not altogether kind or well-bred in her to join in ridiculing the host's niece, but it was "only Orrin," and so long as his comments were for her ear alone, no harm was done.

"You need not! Miss Swartz has arisen above such 'low style' as "Blueeyed Mary' and 'That Air from the Cabinet,' but she can still 'sing Fluvy du Tajy if she had the words.' Indeed, being bent upon fascination, she sings it words or no." He had found Jessie and Mrs. Baxter deep in "Vanity Fair" one evening, had taken the book and read aloud several chapters, including "The quarrel about an heiress."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is designed to correct all disorders of the digestive and blood-making system and to drive all impurities out of the blood itself. It restores lost appetite and vitality, builds healthy flesh and muscle, changes sickness to health, misery to happiness.

John A. Calloway, Esq., of No. 218 26th Street, Columbus, Ga., writes: "I had catarrh for four years and also liver and kidney trouble. In 1894 I was working at night and I broke out in lumps all over and when these left, the skin peeled off. My eyes were sunken and I had pimples and brown spots on my face. TALK "STRIKE"

Guarded Action Concerning the Street Railway Difficulty.

Unwilling to Force the Company to Live Up to the Bylaw.

Promised School Debenture Bylaw Given a Six Months' Hoist.

Dominion Day To Be Observed on Monday Instead of Saturday.

The street railway strike was discussed at the meeting of the city counoil last night. The mayor was instructed to consult the city solicitor and call a special meeting before taking any action in the matter. Ald. Mc-Phillips was hopeful of speedy settlement. He had been mediator, he said. The school debenture bylaw to raise $20,000 was given a six months' hoist. A big grist of routine work kept the aldermen engaged until after midnight. Ald. Parnell, who is out of the city, was the only member absent. The question of the street railway strike was brought up by Ald. Plant, who moved that the mayor be instructed to give the company the required notice to operate their system according to their bylaw, and carry out the schedule recently adopted. The president of the company had said he would operate the system as it is for the balance of the franchise-25 yearsif necessary. But, said Ald. Plant, he should not be allowed to operate it 25 days as it is. The mayor should look into the matter. It was his duty as the representative of the people. the strike were over as far as the company was concerned, it was not over as far as the citizens were concerned. The city's agreement with the company was ambiguous in some respects, but so far as possible the company should be made to live up to it. It was agreed the majority that the citizens were not being fairly treated at the present time, and it was with a view to securing justice for the merchants and the citizens generally that the speaker had made his motion. Ald. Dreaney secondled Ald. Plant's motion. Ald. Greenlees was not in accord with Ald. Plant. There were two views to the question. He would like to see the men treated by the management with the utmost courtesy and fairness, and reciprocate by their conduct. He had tried to look at the matter from the standpoint of each. If he were a railway employe he would probably do as the men were doing—try to force the hands of the company. If a member of the company, he would probably do what they are doing, and resist.

Hark! another sweet selection! This some in the auditorium hissed. "Hiss time from Der Freischiltz-Agatha's if you like," said Ald. Greenlees, Some in the auditorium hissed. "Hiss quietly; and went on to say that he was trying to be fair. The difficulty was not one-sided. Hie believed that sake! come away into the conservaif he carried on a business and an outtory. There was no doubt but that the men had the right to unite as they like. Yet the spirit of justice would cry out against forcing others into that union. If he were a street railway employe, very likely he would join the union, as the members were a lot of good fellows. But if a man had any spunk at all he wouldn't like to be forced. It wasn't because he was afraid to ride the cars that he did not do so. He was a real friend of the men. There was, in his opinion, no use for the cars at night. Disturbances would likely result. There had already been some disturbance, and some people had been insulted. Some ladies who had the temerity to ride on the cars had been greeted with cries of "scab." They were not true friends of the railway employes who did that. As a council they should consider the question quietly and calmly. If there were likely to be any difficulty in running the cars at night they would be great fools to do it.

Ald. Graham said he was going to support the motion for several reasons. For one, he wanted to get an intimation from the company as to why they were not running at night. He had heard that the company regarded the strike as being over, but that the road was not paying very well, and the company did not want to be at the expense of

Ald. Rumball asked Ald. Plant if under the bylaw the city was liable for damage, or to provide police protection in case of a strike.

Ald. Plant had not discovered any mention of strikes in the bylaw. Ald. Pritchard thought no action should be taken. Ald. Wilkey moved and Ald. Rumball seconded, that the mayor first consult the city solicitor. Ald. McPhillips referred to the $50,-000 writ over the council as a result of "Leave the matter last year's action. alone," said he, "and in a quiet way it will right itself." He thought there was fault on both sides. He had been in communication with Mr. Everett and with the men, making every effort to terminate the strike amicably. men had agreed to a meeting to take place on Wednesday, and he was then awaiting an answer from the company.

Ald. Wilkey's amendment carried.

The mayor said that before acting on the council together if he thought it advisable.

INQUIRIES.

To Ald. Plant, the mayor said the council had not obtained the city solicitor's opinion re the strike. Ald. Dreaney-Why have not the cars been running 17 hours a day? Ald. Douglass-The council has met once since the strike, and no action has been taken. Ald. Dreaney-No. 2 committee made the schedule. It is their place to make the company observe it.

Ald. Douglass again said the council should act first. Ald. Malloch-Hasn't No. 2 committee power to make them run 17 hours a day? Ald. Douglass-I guess we have Ald. Malloch-Well, then, why don't vou do it? Ald. Reed-No one rides the cars in

Ald. Dreaney asked why the city engineer and chairman of No. 2 allowed dirt to be taken off Princess avenue for use on private property.

Ald. Wilkey said the dirt was being used on boulevards, and intimated that ald. Dreaney had sent some parties to get some of the dirt. Ald. Dreaney denied having sent anyone, and retorted that the complainants were neighbors of Ald. Wilkey.

Then the clouds rolled by.

Ald. Carrothers asked about the Hamilton road railway extension. As the company had not much to do now. they might go on with the work. Ald. Douglass said the board now awaited a reply from Manager Carr regarding the work.

SOME MOTIONS AND NOTICES. Ald. O'Meara's motion to divide the city into four wards was ruled out by the mayor and the ruling, though appealed against, was sustained. On motion of Ald. Carrothers, Tax Collector Hayes was instructed to accept $300 in full from the London Mafor 1898, the total amount of which is $430. The company's factory had been closed four months last year. Ald. Jolly's motion to instruct the council's representatives on the board of education to support the placing of fee on the attendance at the Collegiate Institute, was discussed. mover held that the fee of $10 was insufficient. Ald. Malloch gave notice of motion to change Civic Holiday from the third to the first Monday in August. The third reading of the bylaw to fix E. Leonard & Sons' assessment was deferred. NO SCHOOL DEBENTURES. The bylaw to raise the sum of $20,000 for public school purposes was introduced. Ald. Pritchard moved a six mont is'

The petitioners were of the opinion that the convenience of the people in general would in this way be more nearly met than otherwise. The resolution was

The only change in No. 2 committee's report was the laying over of a clause recommending the adoption of a certain form of building contracts. Ald. Rumball presented the report of the finance committee.

Messrs E. Leonard & Sons' assessment at $70,000 for five years came up. Ald. Pritchard was pessimistic. He did not suppose there was any use arguing against the exemption. The council would grant it, anyway. It was the old tale. But Ald. Pritchard saw a rift in the clouds. The time was

Graham, chairman of the manufacturers' committee, said the sole cause of the removal of this firm was that Aylmer offered such splendid inducements. London had long been handlcapped in efforts to get factories here, because rival cities would grant greater inducements. But that time would soon be over. When no city could grant exemptions, London's natural advantages would come to the front. The motion to fix the Leonard assessment was carried, Ald. Pritchard, Plant and McCallum voting nay. On motion of Ald. A WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife.

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid that he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated, and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me - a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband comforts, and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whisky was vile stuff, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promises before. He never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst

DAM DIDN'T AFFECT FLOODS

Engineer Kennedy Gives Expert Opinion-New Dam Should Be of Concrete-No Action.

The water commissioners met in regular session yesterday afternoon, when the report of Mr. John Kennedy, an expert civil engineer, of Montreal, was received regarding the waterworks dam at Springbank. In reply to a question as to whether the flooding of West London by the Thames is increased by the waterworks dam, as it existed before being partially carried away in the apring, Mr. Kennedy, in a lengthy explanation, says he is of the opinion that the dam does not aggravate floods in West London. If the dam were even slightly higher it would not affect the floods, in his opinion. The dam could be rebuilt so that it would serve for cleaning the river-bed. The most suitable and durable dam to erect would be one with a concrete body, and a sub-merged apron of timber. This would only be ten per cent greater cost than all timber, and the cost of maintenance would be considerably less, and its appearance would be in keeping with the surroundings.

The board took no action in the mat-

WANDERING BOYS ARE COMING HOME

Chicago and Sarnia Will Join With Toronto, Windsor and Detroit.

The Old Boys' annual excursion to this city, Aug. 5, is beginning to assume tremendous proportions. In addition to the great original Toronto delegation, which will this year be larger than ever, and unusually large representations from Windsor and Detroit, there is every probability of the entire Canadian population of Chicago coming home on a visit on that date, which will doubtless leave: the Windy City looking somewhat like the "deserted vil-

It all comes of the prodigal son style of welcome London gave her wandering boys in 1897 and 1898. The welcome this year cannot be more cordial, but it will be enlarged to meet the growing needs of the case. At Toronto, Brantford, Windsor, Detroit and many other points on both sides of the line, active arrangements are being made to run excursions of the 'Old Boys' to London at the time mentioned, and in Chicago Mr. William A. Small, the well-known secretary of the Victoria Club, is working hard to secure a large number of his old fellow-townsmen to join an excursion party to the loved Canadian home. He has issued a circular calling attention to the pleasant and suc-cessful reunions of London 'Old Boys' that were held in 1897 and 1898, and urging all former Londoners here to take a holiday and join in the coming carnival. The welcome extended by London, Ont., to her 'Old Boys' is of a phenomenally cordial character, and their visit to the old home will be one long to be remembered."

SCENES IN THE MENAGERIE.

What a New York Sun Reporter Saw at the 4-Paw-Sells Show.

The New York Sun of April 24, in a special write-up of the zoological de-partment of the Forepaugh-Sells Brothers' Circus Consolidation, which, it may be remarked en passant will be exploited in all its spring-time beauty in London, Thursday, June 29, said: "The ostriches in the Forepaugh-Sells menagerie waste their opportunities. They take to peanutes voraciously, and the delighted children who feed them are so quick to see that, with such long throats, the joys of eating should be enhanced. But the birds bolt the nuts without breaking the shells and the question of flavor doesn't have the slightest consideration. "In Elephant Row, which extends clear across the cellar of the Madison Square Garden, the consumption of peanuts is large. Probably in the course of a week enough of this circus staple is eaten to equal a whole meal for the baby elephant, but the biggest beast of the lot teases for the nuts and seems satisfied if they come singly. "The cat species is finely represented by lions, tigers and panthers, with coats sleek and shiny. With these brutes there is less than the usual amount of restless pacing to and fro, and many of them are pictures peaceful contentment, but for their distrustful eyes. One puma that strides about over her recling mate, the two being in the space of one-third of a wagon, steps between the outstretched limbs sword-dance fashion. The look in the male's eyes indicates that a mis-step would make more trouble than one in the Scotch exercise "As usual, there is a variety of spacious smiles on view. One that has a character rarely found outside mines pie dreams is a bird. One web foot clutches the edge of his drinking tin. The other rests on air. His eighteeninch lips are parted slightly, and, with his head slightly bent to one side, he gazes quizzically at the crowd. It seems as though he must know that his cage isn't labeled with his name and he enjoys the uncertainty of the spectators. The hippopotamus, too, is expansive in his geniality, but what moves him to open his ugly mouth, wink his eye and wiggle his tiny ear is hard guessing. Near him the seals are a lively exhibit, keeping the floor about their cage and tank wet with their mischievous splashings. horses of the show, including the tiny ponies, make an attractive exhibition in their stalls."

A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any
