made the Department and myself clear of the affair. Not being well and over-strained I reached here, Emerson, on the 14th of May, sir, that trip. There are other cases of a far graver nature that forced me to send my resignation—which was not accepted while I was at Ottawa or here, but which acceptance by persuasion I agreed to postpone for six months, and I kept my word and the public press aloof. These details and others are too well known to the oldest official of the Department to say any more about.”

“Now, sir, if you take into consideration the fact that I am the senior officer by odds, of Manitoba and the North-West; that I have never been promoted while others have; that I answered to Mr. Woodman’s verbal charges by written explanations supported by statutory declaration, you will I hope, modify the opinion you might have formed of the case before I answered Mr. Woodman.”

“Thanking you for the amount of patience you have displayed in connection with the matter,”

“I remain, sir,

“(Sgd) J. E. TÊTU,

“Hon. JOHN CARLING, “Minister of Agriculture,
“Ottawa.

By Mr. Barron :

433. These charges against Mr. Woodman were not heard of until the charges of Mr. Têtu?—No, it was because matters were in that shape that I made a memorandum to the Minister to have a further investigation.

By Mr. Bowell :

434. You recommended that Mr. Lynch should be sent to Winnipeg?—Yes.

435. Has he reported yet?—He has given us a verbal report on the various points. His written report is not quite ready yet.

By Mr. Daly :

436. When was Mr. Têtu appointed to his office at Emerson?—In April, 1876, by departmental letter, and by Order in Council in September, 1878.

By Mr. McMullen :

437. You stated before Mr. Lowe, that you sent Mr. Lynch to the North West on the 15th?—I did not state that.

438. What did you state then?—I stated that I did not quite remember the day on which Mr. Lynch left, but that a letter of instructions was given to him on the 13th. He had then to collect certain vouchers and papers necessary for his investigation, and when he had got these, he left immediately after for Winnipeg.

By Mr. Barron :

439. You say Mr. Lynch’s report has not been received yet?—His final written report has not yet been completed, but the moment he came back, he gave to me and, I believe, also to the Minister, a verbal report.

440.—As I understand it, Mr. Lynch's report has not yet been considered by the Governor in Council?—His written report has not yet been considered by the Governor in Council.

441. Why has the written report not been received by you?—He has not yet had the time to write it.

442. So that on Mr. Lynch's mere verbal conversation you suspended Mr. Têtu?—I did not suspend him. It was not on Mr. Lynch's mere conversation, but on an official oral statement of facts, that Mr. Carling ordered the suspension of Mr. Têtu.

443. Then on Mr. Lynch's statement of facts you suspended Têtu?—On the statement of Mr. Lynch the suspension of Mr. Têtu was ordered by the Minister.

444. The 16th of May, 1890, was the first time you took official notice of Mr. Woodman's charges?—We took official notice of the charges immediately on their being made on the 7th and 8th of May.

445. From that time until 1891, had you any explanation from Mr. Têtu?—I have already given you the reasons why we did not receive the explanations requested. Mr. Têtu had been very seriously ill.

446. So that you allowed these charges to hang over Mr. Têtu from the time you sent him a copy of them and asked him for the explanations, until February, 1891?—I tell you frankly we did not regard the charges very seriously when they were first made, considering the manner in which they were made.

447. But you say yourself two of the signatures were forgeries?—I said several signatures were alleged to be forgeries, by Mr. Woodman. That was the statement of Mr. Woodman, which was written down by a shorthand writer and forwarded to Mr. Têtu for his explanation.

448. But notwithstanding that, you never bothered him about getting an explanation until February, 1891?—Yes.

449. You never got any?—Not the explanation desired.

450. And you allowed him to remain in the public service all that time?—Mr. Têtu was suffering from a serious illness, as I have already stated. He was completely prostrated by illness during the whole of the summer.

By the Chairman :

451. What was the nature of his illness?—I do not know. I cannot answer that. He seemed to be in a state of utter prostration.

By Mr. Barron :

452. Did not you converse with him at all when you were there?—I could converse with him, but could not go thoroughly into the questions bearing on this matter.

453. You did not ask him anything about these charges?—I told him that an answer was required to these charges of which he had received particulars from the Department.

454. And he remained in the public service all this time?—Yes.

455. Although these charges, two of which were forgery, had been made against him by Mr. Woodman.

MR. DALY—Alleged forgeries?—When these charges were first made I received them with utter disbelief, and I was the more confirmed in my disbelief, because, after Mr. Woodman's signature was shown to him on a cheque the first day, he said it was not his signature, and he came the next day to retract that statement.

456. Then you did not think the statements were very important when they were made?—He came the next day to retract his charge on one signature, and said it might be genuine.

457. You did not think his charges were very important when they were made?—I did think so. I said they were of sufficient importance to cause an enquiry; but I received them with a great deal of distrust.

458. But the enquiry was such that Mr. Têtu remained in the public service for a year afterward and is there yet?—No; he is suspended.

459. In that statement of Mr. Têtu's, he is trying to make charges against Mr. Woodman. You never heard anything of those charges that Mr. Têtu has made in that statement?—I do not know anything about any charges against Mr. Woodman. None at all. All I know about Mr. Woodman is, the touch I had of him when he came to the Department. As far as regards matters of this kind, or as far as Mr. Woodman is concerned as an officer, I am satisfied he did his duties fairly well.

460. You had a conversation with Mr. Têtu when you were in the Northwest?—I had a conversation, but Mr. Têtu was not in a position to meet the points of the charges in the memorandum furnished him.

461. Did he at that time make any charges against Mr. Woodman about absenting himself from his business?—Nothing of that kind.

By the Chairman:

462. What do you mean by "the touch" you had of Mr. Woodman?—I was asked my impression of Mr. Woodman, and I said I did not know anything of him, except as received from these interviews which I had with him in the department.

463. You say you did not credit his statement, why?—In the first place I thought when he made it that he was particularly wild; that I could not believe there was anything of that kind which he alleged existing; and I was the more in doubt when he came to ask to have the withdrawal of his denial that the signature on one of his cheques was not his signature.

464. Did you examine into any of the documents that Mr. Woodman had referred to to see if they could be corroborated by documentary evidence?—On what occasion do you mean?

465. On the 7th and 8th of May?—The documents were brought out by the accountant to my office, and they were shown one by one to Mr. Woodman. In fact, the whole of the documents or a large part of them were shown him.

466. With what result?—Mr. Woodman made the statements that are contained in that memorandum which I have read. It was taken down in shorthand at the time and these statements were furnished to Mr. Têtu for his explanation.

467. Did you continue to discredit Mr. Woodman after you examined these documents?—I neither continued to discredit him nor otherwise. After these statements were made and Mr. Woodman's charges had been taken down, I desired to have a thorough departmental examination made in order to satisfactorily ascertain what the facts of the case were.

By Mr. Daly :

468. Did Mr. Woodman deny that these several signatures were in his handwriting?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Barron :

469. Afterwards he came back and acknowledged that he thought one was his?—He told me he would withdraw his statement with regard to the endorsement of one of the cheques.

470. Don't you think that that should have impressed you with the truthfulness of his statement with regard to the signatures?—There happened to be this particular circumstance. The signature which he denied and which he afterward acknowledged to be genuine, bore a very striking resemblance to the other signatures.

By Mr. McMullen :

471. When you were in Winnipeg yourself, you say you saw Mr. Têtu?—Yes, twice.

472. You say he was sick?—Yes.

473. Did you learn what was the matter with him?—I did not make any particular enquiries.

474. What was your impression at the time?—My impression was when I saw him that he was an utterly prostrated and broken-down man.

475. From what cause?—I cannot say from what cause.

476. Was there a doctor in attendance?—I believe there was.

477. You did not learn what was the matter?—I did not go into any enquiries as regards the nature of his disease. It seemed to me to be a case of utter nervous prostration. He was not in a position to answer the questions I desired to put to him.

By Mr. Haggart :

478. You had a doctor's certificate?—Yes.

479. Will you read it?—It reads as follows :

(EXHIBIT No. 15.)

“DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE,
“ May, 13th, 1891.

“CORRESPONDENCE BRANCH,

“ WINNIPEG, 29th April, '89.

“This is to certify that I have attended to J. E. Têtu, Esq., from time to time the past year and a-half. At first he was suffering from myelalgia which depressed him very much. Of late there is a good deal of nervous prostration which does not yield readily to treatment.

“(Sgd.) JOHN H. O'DONNELL, M.D.”

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

479a. Do you know Mr. Têtu?—Yes.

479b. Was it from your knowledge of his character and being a good officer that made you doubt the charges?—My impression was that Mr. Têtu was a man of somewhat eccentric habits, but I never had any reason whatever to doubt his perfect honorability.

480. You had never found him doing anything dishonourable before this?—No, sir.

481. He discharged his duties well until the last few years?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

482. There was nothing in the course of the discharge of his duties that caused you to suspect him?—No, sir.

483. You always thought him honourable and efficient?—Yes.

By Mr. Daly :

484. These accounts came in with perfect regularity?—Yes, and they were then examined by the then auditor of the department. As a matter of course I did not see the accounts, nor was my attention called to this account until Mr. Woodman came to the department in May, 1890.

485. Are the vouchers produced in the regular form?—The vouchers produced, as I understand, are in regular form. They were all certified to be regular by Mr. Small, the Accountant of the Department at that time.

By Mr. White (Cardwell) :

486. I observe that Mr. Têtu said that the wood was furnished to settlers?—Both for settlers and for use in his office; and with respect to that item I may say that when the immigration was very heavy at Gretna, and the sheds were of a somewhat imperfect character, he had to keep the immigrants who came there fairly warm, and the consumption of fuel was necessarily very large,

487. It would not be a very unusual thing to have that charge?—The amount of fuel for a single office would be very large; but when it was considered that it was furnished to settlers, who lodged as best they might, it was not considered unusual.

488. It would be quite regular to charge that item to the Gretna office?—Yes, and I think the apportionment of charges in the way in which the accounts were made, as published in the Auditor General's reports, was erroneous.

THE AUDITOR GENERAL—I find that, so far as Mr. Woodman is concerned, there is nothing on the cheque to indicate where he belongs. It seems natural that the examiner should have asked where he belonged, but Mr. Turgeon's cheques were charged to Gretna.

WITNESS—The actual apportionment of these charges for wood were picked out by Mr. Lynch and myself, as stated in the précis which was sent to Mr. Têtu for explanation.

By Mr. Daly :

489. Do I understand you to say that the reason you did not press Mr. Têtu for answers to these allegations, when you saw him in Manitoba, was on account of his condition?—Certainly; he was utterly unable to give me any answers to questions on that matter. I reported that fact to the Minister on my return.

490. Did you form any impression as to whether he was likely to die?—My impression then was that he was going to die, but I am not a doctor and it may have been a very bad impression. I stated that I did not know what was the cause of Mr. Têtu's illness, but I never doubted the fact.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

491. Mr. Têtu is now suspended?—Yes.

492. On the charges alleged by Mr. Woodman, and were the grounds those taken down in shorthand and which Mr. Woodman mentioned to you?—When Mr. Woodman came to the Department he stated to us, as regarded the main charges, that Mr. Têtu had made fictitious accounts for one thing, and that he had certified to the presence of Mr. Fournier at times when he was absent—not by any means continuous absences, but absences for a time. On being assured by the Accountant that much of the charges alleged by Mr. Woodman were correct, the Minister at once ordered the suspension of Mr. Têtu.

493. As a matter of fact, it was ascertained what Mr. Woodman alleged was correct?—In so far as these two particulars which I mentioned are concerned.

494. Those were the only grounds. Did Mr. Woodman allege some things against him that were not found by Mr. Lynch?—I cannot answer that question.

495. You had his report?—We had Mr. Lynch's oral statement of the facts he found.

496. Did Mr. Lynch report that he had not found any of the charges which Mr. Woodman reported to you correct?—I do not remember that Mr. Lynch made any particular statement in that respect, except on the two points mentioned. He stated that he would write out his report as soon as he could do so.

497. You had a full oral report. Did Mr. Lynch say to you in that report that any of the charges preferred by Mr. Woodman, months before, were not true?—I cannot remember that Mr. Lynch made any statement of that kind; but it was specially in regard to the substantial fact of two of the things he found.

498. When he had found that Mr. Woodman was correct on those two points you had sufficient ground to warrant his suspension at once?—There was sufficient ground for suspension.

D. C. WOODMAN, again recalled, and further examined:—

By Mr. McMullen :

499. Are you aware that any wood was supplied to the immigration office at Grenna, as alleged in reply by Mr. Têtu to the charges for wood?—Not in my time.

500. Were you in a position to know?—Certainly.

501. It could not have been supplied without your knowledge?—No.

By Mr. Bowell :

502. You say that positively?—Yes.

By Mr. Daly :

503. Was there any wood supplied to the immigrants at Emerson?—Not that I am aware of. At the immigration sheds there in 1882 or 1883, I had two loads of wood. I asked Mr. Têtu to get me two loads for the immigration sheds.

504. Not for the house?—No.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, 27th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

Mr. J. B. LYNCH, Accountant, Department of Agriculture, called, sworn and examined :—

Mr. LYNCH produced and read the following report :

“ 10th August, 1891.

“ SIR,—I have the honour to report the result of my examination into the irregularities alleged by Mr. D. C. Woodman in the accounts of Mr. J. C. Têtu, late Immigration Agent at Emerson.

“ Caretaker Fournier.

“ In relation to the charge made by Mr. Woodman, that Mr. Fournier, late caretaker at the Emerson Agency, ‘ did not render any services, and was not present at the Agency,’ I find it to be partly true. Mr. Fournier was a carpenter by trade, and, having a large family, Mr. Têtu allowed him at times to work at his trade, and thus to supplement the salary he received from the Government. The permission thus granted was given without the knowledge of the Department, and was clearly an irregularity.

“ In relation to this item, I find Mr. Woodman’s statement ‘ that the office in Gretna for which rent was paid was his property, and that Têtu paid him $8 a month for rent,’ to be correct. Mr. Têtu received from the Department $12 a month for thirty months, in the name of John C. Braun, of Winnipeg, a person with whom he had private business relations.

“ The payments amounted to $360, of which sum Mr. Woodman received $240. The balance, $120, Mr. Têtu retained, ‘ to recoup himself from Mr. Woodman,’ who, ‘ was enjoying the comforts of a comfortable office as a house’ at Emerson, while he, Têtu, had ‘ rented for nearly two years three rooms for an office and sleeping room,’ and had ‘ made certain repairs and bought a stove and paid rent out of his own pocket.’

“ Mr. Têtu’s method of compensating himself without the knowledge of the Department, for advantages which Woodman enjoyed in having a free residence, while he, Têtu, was under rent, was wholly indefensible, whatever might be thought of his right to an allowance for rent in the circumstances of having used the room for an office.

“ Fuel Accounts.

“ No fuel was purchased for the Gretna sub-Agency. Mr. Têtu states that the whole of the fuel charged against the Gretna sub-Agency was exclusively for the Emerson Agency, but not desiring to make the expenses of the Emerson Agency appear too high, he apportioned the fuel accounts as shown in the monthly statements. He gives the same explanation as regards the items coal oil, brooms, &c., appearing in S. A. Hamilton’s accounts.

“In the course of my examination of the fuel accounts, I discovered three payments of $5, $12 and $42, respectively, to a Mr. Laporte. The voucher for $5 bears the signature of D. C. Woodman as witness. I drew Mr. Têtu's attention to the fact that to one of the vouchers (that witnessed by Mr. Woodman) Laporte had affixed his mark, apparently being unable to write, whereas he had receipted the others in a legible hand. Mr. Têtu could give no explanation at the time, but he subsequently acknowledged the accounts to be fictitious. There are other fuel accounts, the payments for which are witnessed by D. C. Woodman. In no case is Woodman's signature genuine.

“I may here add that Mr. Têtu stated, he used to purchase wood in large quantities on his own account when it was cheap, and sell it later on when advanced in price, and that he, himself, had furnished the agency with wood. I believe he wished me to infer that, although Laporte's accounts were fictitious as regards the mode of making them up, the wood as charged therein was actually supplied to the agency.

“Woodman's Travelling Expenses.”

“I handed Mr. Têtu two accounts of $11.60 and $11, respectively, purporting to be travelling expenses incurred by Mr. Woodman. Regarding the first, Mr. Têtu, while admitting that Woodman's signature is not genuine, could give no explanation. ‘It was a puzzle to him.’ As to the latter, he thought the signature resembled Woodman's.

“The fictitiousness of these accounts, as well as one for $11.30, which I afterwards discovered, can scarcely be doubted.

“I have the honour to be,

“&c., &c., &c.,

“J. B. LYNCH.”

“The Hon. JOHN CARLING,
“Minister of Agriculture.”

By Mr. Bowell :

505. What has been done with Mr. Têtu, do you know?—He has been dismissed.

By Mr. Taylor :

506. How long has Mr. Têtu been in the Service?—I believe since 1876; the office was closed in 1889, and he was removed to Winnipeg as Assistant Immigration Agent.

507. And from 1876 down to 1889 he used to render accounts like the one which has been discovered by the Department?—Yes; I believe so—although I was not in the Department to know the facts.

508. The Department have no other check on these outside agencies further than that they are sent in duplicates, which are certified to, and then they pay these in the regular way?—That is the only way—a check at the head office.

509. When was your attention first drawn to this irregularity?—My attention was drawn to it in 1890.

510. Your attention was drawn to it that it was irregular?—Yes.

511. And you had instructions as soon as possible to go out there and investigate the matter?—I had instructions in May, 1891.

512. And you went?—Yes.

513. And this is the result of your investigation?—Yes.

514. And Mr. Têtu has been dismissed?—So I am informed.

By the Chairman :

515. Were you the Accountant who had the revision of these accounts as they came into the Department?—No, sir; Mr. Small was the Accountant.

516. Were you not the Accountant in the Department?—No, sir.

517. What position did you hold?—I was in the Audit Office until 1889. I went into the Department of Agriculture, and the office at Emerson was closed on the first day of April of 1889.

518. When you were in the Audit Office, did not the accounts run through your hands?—Yes.

519. And did you not know that the signatures on the fictitious accounts were not Woodman's?—No, sir.

520. Had you not seen that his was the handwriting of a skilled penman, and that the fictitious ones were very clumsy?—No, sir; I did not recollect.

By Mr. Bowell :

521. I thought some of them were sufficiently good imitations?—Some of them were.

By the Chairman :

522. Some of them were very clumsily done, and I thought you would have been able to have detected it in the Audit Office. Would it not be possible to detect it there?—It would be if we had the time to scrutinize every account of that nature. In the Audit Office we had to work day and night to keep up with our work.

By Mr. McMullen :

523. You stated that the offices were closed in 1889?—April, 1889.

524. Were all the officials then dismissed?—Woodman was dismissed then and Turgeon was dismissed, but Têtu was removed to Winnipeg.

525. His connection with the office was virtually closed out?—Yes.

526. Was he re-appointed by Order in Council to his new post in Winnipeg?—Not in our Department. They were all paid to the 30th June in consequence of the closing of the office. They got nothing since from the Department.

527. You do not know that Têtu was re-appointed by Order in Council?—No, sir; there would be no necessity to re-appoint Têtu. He was not dismissed at all; he was merely removed to Winnipeg.

528. If he was removed was there any necessity for an Order in Council re-appointing him?—He was appointed by Order in Council in the first place, but he was not dismissed when he was removed, and therefore it did not require an Order in Council.

529. I believe there is an Order in Council appointing him to Winnipeg in 1889?—It was transferring him to Winnipeg.

530. So far, up to the time that he was transferred to Winnipeg, no irregularities had been noticed in connection with his services?—I believe not.

531. You did not know there was anything wrong until about a year ago?—About a year ago—May, 1890.

By Mr. Bowell :

532. I suppose you heard nothing of it until Woodman made his complaint?—That is the first I heard of it.

The Committee then adjourned.

The Select Standing Committee on Public Accounts beg leave to present the following as their

THIRTY-FOURTH REPORT:

Your Committee have had under consideration the accounts and vouchers for expenditure for the equipment and supplies furnished the Government Printing Bureau and Stationery Office at Ottawa; and in connection therewith have examined witnesses under oath, and for the information of the House, report herewith the evidence given by such witnesses.

All which is respectfully submitted.

Chairman.

COMMITTEE ROOM,
TUESDAY, 29th September, 1891.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

COMMITTEE ROOM, TUESDAY, 11th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

BROWN CHAMBERLIN called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

1. What position do you occupy in the public service?—Queen's Printer and Controller of Stationery.

2. What are your particular duties as regards stationery to be furnished to the Printing Bureau?—I have a general supervision of that Branch of the Department, but put the greater part of it in the hands of the Chief of the Branch—that is, the Superintendent of Stationery. I have only a general supervision to see that the thing is properly conducted. The work is practically done by the Superintendent of Stationery.

3. Who is the Superintendent of Stationery?—Mr. Bronskill.

4. Then all purchases of paper for the Printing Bureau are made by him?—They are made by him. The law provides in three cases that it shall be by tender: Departmental printing, Parliamentary printing and the Canada Gazette.

5. What paper used at the Printing Bureau is not required to be tendered for?—All the rest.

6. What about the Statutes?—I believe that was an omission from the list. In the old time the Statute paper was absolutely required to be tendered for; but we are not obliged to do so now, as the law stands.

7. Can you form any opinion as to the proportion of paper furnished to the Bureau that need not be tendered for?—With regard to printing paper, I should hardly like to give an estimate. Mr. Bronskill could give you a better opinion, as the accounts are passing through his hands. He could give you a better opinion than I. With me it would be a guess.

8. Would it be a half or three-quarters that need not be tendered for?—I think that it would be hardly a half; but that is a guess. The quantities required for Parliamentary printing are very heavy.

9. Then, so far as you are concerned, although, as you have told us, you exercised a general supervision, you had nothing to do with the issuing of the tenders published or the notices?—If you will permit me, I will make a statement with regard to that. With regard to the other papers I have comparatively little to say; but whenever tenders are issued they are issued from my office and in my name, with my name appended as Controller of Stationery and subject to the decision of the Secretary of State.

10. So far as the paper not required to be tendered for is concerned, how do you arrange as to the purchase of that?—Sometimes the Minister gives an order and sometimes I give instructions. Sometimes for smaller quantities Mr. Bronskill gives the order himself; but as regards the larger ones, sometimes I give the orders and sometimes the Minister.

11. That would be Mr. Chapleau, who is the Head of the Department?—Yes.

12. Now, what course do you take in regard to the smaller ones?—Will you permit me to correct what I have said? I said sometimes I gave the order I should say I give instructions to Mr. Bronskill. I do not know I have ever given instructions directly myself to the maker of paper, or the Secretary of State either, so that when I say I gave the order I mean that I gave instructions to Mr. Bronskill, and he made the order.

13. Is the Secretary of State informed as to what should be bought and what should not?—Well, if Mr. Bronskill wants paper for a certain purpose he informs me or the Secretary of State, so that any paper that is ordered is signed for by me or the Secretary of State.

14. In every case?—Well, as I have said, I believe there are small orders that Mr. Bronskill obtains himself.

15. Confining yourself to the larger orders, he has to submit them to you or the Secretary of State. He would not order a large quantity, except the order is so submitted?—As a rule, no.

16. Is it necessary to submit it to the Secretary of State? Is there any rule in the Department making it necessary that a proposed purchase should be submitted to the Secretary of State before being completed?—I do not know about rules, but it is a well-understood practice that there shall be no such purchases before they have been submitted to the Secretary of State or myself.

17. So that in all cases Mr. Bronskill reports to you?—Yes; in all, except the smaller quantities.

18. What I want to know is, whether before making the purchase you give him instructions to purchase, or whether it is after he has purchased that he makes the report to you?—Well, it depends a good deal upon the size and importance of the purchase. Whenever Mr. Bronskill needs to make a large purchase he comes and asks authority from the Minister or myself; generally he goes and consults him, and then he makes a purchase himself.

19. Is there any written evidence to show that he has the authority to make the purchase, either given by the Secretary of State or you?—Not in all cases.

20. Is there in any cases?—I am not quite sure.

21. Then it is a mere verbal communication?—Yes.

22. Of which no record is kept at all in the Department?—As a rule, I think there are none, for an ordinary transaction.

23. What would you call an ordinary transaction?—Well, if a lot of paper were wanted to complete. Supposing we had a contract with a person at a certain value, and an additional quantity was wanted, Mr. Bronskill would not of necessity come to us and say we want more of that paper; he would buy it himself on his own authority, taking the same value and quality of paper.

24. As regards value, what would you consider a sufficient quantity to authorize or warrant Mr. Bronskill purchasing without consulting you?—Oh, I should say from $500 to $1,000.

25. Up to $500 or $1,000 you think would be justified?—I think so.

26. You think you would be justified in allowing him to buy up to that amount?—Yes.

27. Would that be in the case of purchasing from a person who had no contract with the Department, or would it be to fill up a contract already entered into?—These cases would be generally to fill up contracts already entered into. I don't remember any cases in which he has taken printing paper to that amount without consulting myself or the Minister.

28. Of course, we are not discussing the question of right, or anything of that kind?—No.

29. Can you say whether Mr. Chapleau has ever given instructions direct to Mr. Bronskill to purchase paper?—I cannot say that; I was never present when he gave any orders, except in summing up tenders.

30. Do you know instances where paper has been purchased and you were not consulted by Mr. Bronskill, and where this paper amounted in value to a sum exceeding $500?—There is one case, which I suppose you are alluding to now, in which I was consulted only incidentally. The purchase was practically made by Mr. Bronskill, under the authority of the Secretary of State.

31. You were consulted incidentally?—Yes.

32. Will you state to the Committee what purchase that was?—That was a purchase from the New England Paper Manufacturing Company.

33. That was a purchase made by Mr. Bronskill under the authority of Mr. Chapleau?—I believe so; at all events, I so understood it. It was a thing that was talked over with me pending negotiations, that I had no direct connection with.

34. It was talked over with you pending negotiations. Who talked it over with you?—Mr. Bronskill.

35. Was it a large or small order?—I really don't remember now, but I think it was something over 250 reams.

36. What was the necessity of talking it over and what did he say about it?—As far as I can remember, the circumstances were something like this: I should say in the first place that the New England Company had been tendering repeatedly, and their tenders had been rejected for one reason or other, either as regards price or quality, and Mr. Bronskill said, I think we will give them a chance, and see if they can come up to the standard with their work. That was, I think, all that took place.

By Mr. Chapleau :

37. For what purpose—for what particular work was that required?—My own impression is that it was for the Postal Guide.

By Mr. Lister :

38. The order, as I understand it, had been given by Mr. Chapleau to Mr. Bronskill?—I do not know that. I suppose that Mr. Bronskill was acting with Mr. Chapleau's instructions, but the orders were not given in my presence or through me.

39. You say that that Company had been tendering on different occasions?—Yes.

40. And their tenders were rejected?—Yes.

41. Did they tender for this paper?—No; there was no tender required.

42. Who had they seen about it?—I do not know.

43. How had it come before Mr. Bronskill?—I have told you all I know about it; I really don't know anything more.

44. At all events, you never gave instructions to purchase the paper?—No.

45. And whatever instructions were given to Mr. Bronskill were given directly by the Secretary of State?—Yes.

46. Look at this account, Mr. Chamberlin, and say whether that is an account for paper furnished by the New England Paper Company?—I believe it to be.

47. This account is as follows:—

“November 26th, 1889.

“The Department of Public Works,

“Stationery and Printing Department, Ottawa.

“Bought of the New England Paper Co., paper to the amount of $1,074.15: 252 reams”? (Account filed as Exhibit No. 1.)—It was about 250 reams.

48. What are these pencil memoranda on the invoice, and say in whose handwriting they are, if you know?—They are in Mr. Bronskill's handwriting, I think—Yes.

49. Read them?—“Got for Postal Guide, but not good enough. Taken into stock by Mr. C.'s order. Account to lay over.”

50. Who is the “Mr. C.” there referred to?—I would not like to say. It may have been myself.

51. Was it taken into stock by your order?—It may; quite possibly.

52. Was it taken into stock by your order?—It is quite possible when we got that paper and found we could not use it for the purpose required, that I said: “Can you use it for something else?”

53. But you have no recollection that you did?—I have no distinct recollection.

54. This is an account from McFarlane, Austin & Robertson “Checked by J. Hughes.” (Account filed as Exhibit No. 2). All the accounts are marked in that way: “Check, J. Hughes.” What does that mean?—Mr. Hughes received the goods in the Department, and that is merely his check note made on delivery that the goods had been delivered.

55. On whose certificate are the goods paid for?—On Mr. Bronskill's.

56. Where does Mr. Bronskill get his authority from? Does he accept Mr. Hughes' authority that the goods were duly checked?—That I do not know; you had better ask him.

57. Here is an account of the New England Paper Company, dated December 26th, 1889. That seems to be another account. You will see that it is dated just a month after the first one, and it is for the same amount, $1,074.15, with a memorandum on it, "Please remit." Will you state whether there is any memorandum on that?—There is a memorandum by the Secretary of State: "Approved, J. A. Chapleau," and the date is December 27th, 1889. (Exhibit No. 1, already filed.)

58. Can you tell me, Mr. Chamberlin, if there can be found amongst all the accounts for printing paper in 1889-90 one other account that has been approved of, or certified to, by the Secretary of State?—I cannot tell you. These accounts are left in the hands of Mr. Bronskill up to a certain time, and then they pass to the Auditor General. I see them casually, but they immediately pass out of my hands, and I know nothing further about them.

59. Can you recollect another case, if there be such, where the Secretary of State approved of or certified to an account for paper?—I cannot remember at the present moment. I give orders for the purchase of paper, but as the accounts are only casually seen by me, and immediately turned over to Mr. Bronskill, I cannot really say.

60. But the regular course seems to be, when the paper is delivered it is checked by Mr. Hughes, to show that the proper quantity has been received by the Department?—Yes; and then Mr. Bronskill certifies to the account, the account goes to the Accountant and the cheque is issued, which I sign.

61. Mr. Bronskill then certifies to the account, and upon his certificate a cheque is issued, signed by yourself and—?—And the Accountant. It goes to the Accountant and he checks it, and if it is all right a cheque is issued, which is signed by me and the Accountant.

62. I again ask you if the manner in which the accounts produced here, and marked as Exhibit No. 1, have been approved, is according to or out of the usual custom of the Department?—It is very hard for me to say. I see there is the usual backing attached to the account on which Mr. Bronskill makes his certificate.

63. But that is not upon the certificate of Mr. Hughes that he has checked the goods?—Is Mr. Hughes' certificate not there?

64. No.—That is a mistake, then.

65. How was it that that second account came to be sent in. I see that one is dated 26th November, and the other 26th December?—I am in the same position as I was. I cannot say. It seems to me, however, to be perfectly easy of solution in this way: When the paper was found not to be up to the standard for the particular work for which it was required the question arose whether it should go into stock for ordinary purposes or not. That involved a delay in the payment of the account. I cannot swear positively, but I should think that was it. Accordingly, the second account was sent in.

66. Will you undertake to say that that paper ever came into stock?—I never saw it in stock, but I think I have seen some of the results of it in pamphlets.

67. Did you actually see the paper?—I never saw the paper itself, that I can remember. I believe I have seen it in pamphlets. Mr. Bronskill will be able to tell you how it was used.

Mr. FOSTER.—This is just the one account for the one lot of paper.

Mr. LISTER.—Yes; the one account.

WITNESS.—It was in suspense until the second account was sent in.

68. The paper not required for the three purposes you have mentioned is not purchased by a tender?—No; but without being required by law, I think we have, as a rule, asked tenders for such paper.

69. You think you have advertised for tenders for paper required for the Statute-books as well as for the three classes?—We are not compelled to advertise.

70. Well, then, how do you ask for tenders?—In this way: We know that there are only five firms in Canada that make book paper. The others make job and other paper, but there are only five firms really engaged in making book paper in Canada. When we want paper of this class we send a circular to each of these firms, asking them to name their price if they can furnish it.

71. You send a circular to each of them?—Yes.

72. Do you do that in cases where you are not obliged to ask for tenders?—We may have done it sometimes.

73. Ah! It is not that you may have done it sometimes—is it your practice?—No, sir.

74. Then I suppose the papers which you are not required to ask tenders for you buy from whom you think proper?—Yes.

75. Without tender?—Yes.

76. In cases where you asked for tenders, did you accept the lowest price?—Not necessarily.

77. Other things being equal?—We did not necessarily do it. If the Committee will pardon me, I would like to say: I have been twenty-one years in the Department, and during fifteen years or more I made it an almost absolute rule and practice to take the lowest tender; but taking the lowest tender in printing and paper both led us into the production of work that we were almost ashamed to send abroad. The lowest tender generally means the lowest grade of work or paper that can be furnished. Both Mr. Hartney, who supervised Parliamentary printing, and I, who supervised Departmental work, thought we must take the lowest tender, and in one or two cases the law provided we should do that. When starting this new establishment, however, the law did not compel us to take the lowest tender in any case, and we set to work to produce good work and secure good paper. If it cost a little more than the lowest price we made a point of securing uniformity of colour and the proper quality. The other reason why we limited our purchase was, that modern practice in all book papers is to print dry. You require for that a superior calendered paper. Only a limited number of mills can furnish that, and therefore we have limited our purchases to those five firms.

78. Can you give me an account of the amount of paper furnished to the Department for which you did not ask tenders, and the names of the persons or companies who supplied the paper?—I cannot at this time.

79. But you can make that up?—Yes; in time.

80. Now, I see you awarded the Canada Paper Company a contract at $2.75 per ream on a tender for 650 reams. They tendered at a lower figure, namely, $2.70 per ream.—The Canada Paper Company?

81. Yes. The Canada Paper Company, $2.70; and there were other tenders—Barber Bros., $2.65; Buntin & Son, $2.71, and Rolland & Son, $2.70. There were three tenders, and also this Canada Paper Company?—We were asking for several descriptions of paper.

82. These were tenders in answer to the same advertisement?—We generally ask for tenders at one time for three kinds of paper. It is quite possible you will find it was in that way. Having put in tenders for one kind of paper, they can put in tenders for another. Mr. Bronskill will be able to explain that.

83. Rolland & Son tendered for 350 reams, and their tender was 7 cents, and  $7\frac{1}{8}$ , and  $6\frac{3}{4}$  per pound. You accepted their tender at  $7\frac{1}{4}$ ?—There is some mistake about those figures.

84. There is no mistake about it?—Would you mind calling Mr. Bronskill about that. He has a statement, and he will be able to explain these details. They are not in my head, and I cannot answer them just now.

85. The Canada Paper Company tendered for two kinds, at  $6\frac{7}{8}$ , and another at  $7\frac{1}{2}$ ?—They had put in two tenders for differently finished paper.

86. But their highest tender was  $7\frac{1}{8}$ , and they got the contract at  $7\frac{1}{4}$ ?—I merely throw this out as a possible explanation. I do not know it.

87. As I understand you, where the law does not require you to ask for tenders, then you buy your papers, and you buy from whom you think proper?—As a rule.

88. Either upon the order of the Secretary of State or your own order?—Yes.

89. Would you undertake to give a large order without the authority of the Secretary of State?—Not a very large one.

90. How high do you think you would feel justified in going?—$500, or a little over, as I said before.

91. You said Mr. Bronskill before?—Generally, I would not go above that; certainly, not above $1,000. I do not think I have ever done it over $500.

92. Can you say you have ever given an order for paper where the amount involved was over $500, without getting the authority of the Secretary of State?—I do not remember a case.

93. Do you think you would do it?—As a rule, I would not. I do not like to take that responsibility.

94. You would be safe in saying that for all orders of $500 upwards the Secretary of State authorized the purchase?—I would not say that. That is going a great deal further than I would venture to go.

95. I do not want you to go any further than you want to?—I have said that as a rule I would not like to go above that; but the Secretary of State might be out of town or otherwise engaged.

96. Taken generally?—I should consider it my duty to run an order up to $1,000.

97. Here is one order of $16,000—not one order, but an aggregation: $2,000, $3,000, $4,000, $4,000, and so on. Would you undertake to give a contract to any company for that amount of paper without the authority of the Secretary of State?—Not for $16,000.

98. But for $16,000 altogether?—I would not have given a running order like that.

99. Then the Canada Paper Company seems to have been favoured to the extent of $9,741 again, and you say, speaking from recollection, that you gave none of these orders without the authority of the Secretary of State—none of the orders in this bill of $16,000?—I cannot carry that in my mind.

By Mr. Chapleau :

100. Mr. Lister has given you two papers showing there was one order on the 26th November and another on the 26th December. Are these not the same account?—They are the same account.

101. You see that there are deductions made on that account sent by the New England Paper Company?—I think you had better take the best evidence—the evidence of Mr. Bronskill. I think there were some charges for packing.

102. Speak by the account?—There was the firm's charge here, which is struck out, for packing forms.

By Mr. Cochrane :

103. You did not pay as much as the account rendered?—I declined to pay for packing the forms.

By Mr. Hyman :

104. It is not usual to pay for those?—We have resisted those charges of late, and they have been thrown off.

105. It was not usual at this time?—No; not at this time.

By Mr. Chapleau :

106. Do you find that there was greater irregularity, or something to mislead anybody, if the Minister should have certified to the account?—No, sir.

107. Do you think if he was certifying to more accounts it would be worse?—I think it would be quite impracticable for him to certify to every account that came up.

108. But it does not take away from the value or correctness of that account?—
No.
109. You have spoken of Mr. Hughes. He is not the clerk to check the quality of the paper?—He takes the invoices, and says here are so many bundles of paper. That is all his check means. Mr. Bronskill checks the quality of the paper.
110. Is it a fact or not that in the choice of paper there is generally a consultation between yourself, the special officer of the Department and the Minister?—Yes.
111. As far as I am present at the Capital?—Yes.
112. How is the paper chosen generally? What are the considerations which are taken for the choice of tenders for the supply of paper?—We want to get the best value for our money. We want to get a paper which will suit the purposes of the Government, and, as a rule, other things being equal, we have taken the lowest tender; but we have endeavoured, ever since the new Bureau was established, to get good paper and have good printing done, and we are willing to pay a small advance in order to secure it.
113. Is one of the ingredients in making that choice uniformity and a good supply delivered by a former contractor?—that is to say, where a supply has been uniformly good, is that not one of the most important ingredients in choosing paper for public documents?—We should give preference to a person who has given us satisfaction at all times.
114. Is it not a fact that contracts have been given when very good samples were sent with the tenders, and afterwards, when the books were seen by the public, they gave great disappointment, both to the Department and to the public?—There have been papers brought into the Department and used which ought not to have been used.
115. Is it very difficult in our Department at any time to refuse—that is to say, a carload of paper that would have been sent—even if it were rather inferior to the sample?—Sometimes it is quite impracticable. We cannot afford to wait and issue another order. We must go on with the work. Although sometimes deductions are made, we must accept the inferior paper in order to get the work pushed off.
116. Is it not a fact that a rule has been established since 1885 or 1886 to avoid what has occurred in that respect?—We have endeavoured to secure good paper and to turn out good work; and have not felt ourselves compelled in every case to pay the lowest price.
117. Has there been an improvement in that respect since the last few years, or has it been going on the same as before?—I think any person who sees our Blue Books or Statutes of to-day, as well as any printer, would not hesitate to say we have made most decided improvements.
118. You stated that that paper from the New England Paper Company was for the Postal Guide?—Yes.
119. Was it employed for that?—It was not up to the mark for that. They are very particular, as the Postmaster General knows, in having that work turned out well. It was held, under the circumstances, to be returned or turned into stock. It was finally turned into stock.
120. Was it used for general purposes at an advantage or at prices that would be a fraud upon the Government?—It was a fair market value, I believe. You could not call it a fraud upon the Government, although I do not call it cheap paper at the price.
121. It was a fair price, and if you had made a small purchase, as at times are required for the general purposes, would it have been cheaper?—I think not. Mr. Bronskill will be able to tell you better than I. If we had bought job lots in the open market we might have had to pay more.
122. Do you know what was paid for the Postal Guide paper up to that time?—I do not know.
123. Do you know that it was bought in Boston in the time of Mr. Young?—I do not know positively. At that time Mr. Young, who was an independent officer, managed the thing, and I believe it was bought in Boston.

By Mr. Lister :

124. In this first account, a charge for packages, I see, is for $16.80—it was book paper?—Yes.

125. That was disallowed?—Yes.

126. The account does not seem to have been returned to the shippers—that is, the account in the possession of the Department. It was not returned?—I dare say not. I have no doubt that there was correspondence between Mr. Bronskill and them.

127. Will you find the correspondence?—I do not know. Mr. Bronskill will probably find it. He, I have no doubt, sent the letters.

128. You made a deduction from their account, amounting to $1,054.16, of $16.80, which Mr. Chapleau had not approved of?—Yes.

128½. Do you remember showing them to the company in the establishment at all?—My office is not in the establishment; it is in the eastern building here.

129. You never saw this invoice at all?—I don't remember. I might have done so.

130. Now, I ask you again whether it is not a fact that, in all the Departments where supplies are purchased, there is a man whose duty it is to certify to the quality and the quantity?—I really don't know.

131. In your Department?—In regard to that, Mr. Bronskill certified to the quality and Mr. Hughes to the quantity.

By Mr. Somerville :

132. How many qualities of paper do you say that the Department print—that is, in books, parliamentary papers, and so on?—We have been using a pretty high grade. There is not much difference, except for Senate Hansard, for immigration pamphlets and work of that kind, where we employ a considerably lower grade of paper.

133. But for the parliamentary Blue Books and the proceedings of the House, the quality of the paper is the same?—Yes.

134. Who decides, when the tenders are asked for and sent in, as to the quality of the paper?—The tenders are opened in the presence of the Secretary of State, Mr. Bronskill and myself. The Secretary of State is sometimes very harsh in his judgment—having taken great pains to make himself a good judge, he is difficult to please. A grade of paper is looked at, and the price given in the accounts, and after a minute examination the paper samples are handed over to Mr. Bronskill, who makes a test of strength and other things and reports.

135. Is Mr. Bronskill's report always accepted?—Well, not always; it is, almost invariably. After further discussion we come to some conclusion, as a rule.

136. Who discusses the matter with Mr. Bronskill as an expert?—Sometimes the Minister discusses it with Mr. Bronskill, and sometimes I do.

137. You say there are only four or five important establishments with which you have dealings—who are they?—Messrs. J. B. Rolland & Company; the Toronto Paper Company; the Canada Paper Company; Buntin & Co., and Barber & Co.

138. Are you aware that the orders for the paper required by the Government for the Printing Bureau are pretty well divided amongst those five firms?—I do not say that they are evenly divided; in this way: wherever we get a good paper at a lower rate than others tender for we would go there. There is Mr. Buntin, a very good paper-maker, from whom we get hardly anything at all. The Toronto Paper Company produce paper of excellent quality, but at a very high price. Mr. Buntin and several others have not had large orders for papers required for departmental printing, but had some large orders for papers used for pamphlets in the past. My impression is that Mr. Buntin charges very high rates, and that accounts for his being unsuccessful. Mr. Buntin got large orders for pamphlet printing in years gone by, but I think when we got low rates from him it was for low paper.

139. I do not think that the system the Government have for dealing with the tenders is the correct one. You say we have only five paper makers. What is to hinder these manufacturers making a combination and tendering together, with the understanding that the amount to be paid by the Government is to be equalized by them amongst each other?—That is a matter beyond my province.

140. Is not that possible?

Mr. DALY objected.

A. It is not for me to state.

141. I am only asking you if it is possible?—Well, I dare say it is quite possible that a combine might take place.

142. You know, as you have already stated, that there is only one particular quality required for all the departmental books, and you know that the Blue Books are printed on the same quality?—Much about the same, but not exactly.

143. But they could use the same exactly?—Yes.

144. And there is no reason why you should not use the same quality?—Unless we could make a better bargain, by using different qualities.

145. You have had a great deal of experience in managing the paper and printing for the Government for the last twenty-one years. I want you to give us your opinion whether it would not be in the interests of the country that tenders should be asked from all those mills for all the paper required for the departmental Blue Books at once, extending for two or three years, so that one of the five paper-makers who might combine would have to take up the whole contract. Would not that insure the same quality all through, and get the goods at a cheaper rate?—That is a question that has never occurred to me. I am very much opposed to extended contracts; we had a very bitter experience of them in my earlier days when I was first there. I would not like to recur to them. I believe in short contracts for two reasons: I believe long contracts make careless contractors, oftentimes; and they may sometimes make careless Queen's Printers also. The prices of material are constantly changing, having been falling for several years past; the prices of paper constantly varying accordingly. Now, if we make a long contract we should lose the benefit to be gained from this.

By Mr. Daly :

146. Is there any difference now in the manner or mode that tenders are called for as compared with that existing in 1874 or 1878?—Oh, yes. Since the establishment of the Bureau, and the passing of the Act that established it, we have made a decided change.

147. What is the change?—We found that the advertising for tenders brought us a great many useless tenderers. Persons who made No. 3 or No. 4 would tender for the best paper, and if they got the contract they would send us material that would do for a backwoods' newspaper, but entirely unsuitable for Government work. I found out that these five firms were the only ones that tendered for paper that was useful to us.

148. How long since did you found this out?—I found this out before the Bureau was started, and I acted upon my experience that I had gained then.

149. Where is the New England Manufacturing Paper Company located?—Down near Quebec.

By Mr. Lister :

150. Where is their place of business?—It is at Portneuf, in Quebec.

151. Is it a Canadian company?—Yes; a Canadian company.

By Mr. Cochrane :

152. Is the manufacturing establishment in Canada or New England?—It is in Canada, at Portneuf.

HENRY J. BRONSKILL called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

153. What position do you hold in the Service?—Superintendent of Stationery.

154. How long have you held the position?—Since the 1st of July, 1888.

155. And what are your particular duties?—I am Superintendent of all the stationery, to buy it, examine it, and see that value is received—these are my duties.

156. You examine it to see that it is up to the standard purchased?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

157. And then you supply it to the Departments?—Certainly.

By Mr. Lister :

158. You buy for the Printing Bureau?—We buy all the papers required by the Government.

159. Who gives the order for the paper?—Do you mean papers under contract, or do you mean miscellaneous papers?

160. I mean the papers required for printing the reports, and for printing in the Bureau. I have only reference to papers used for printing?—There is a portion of that paper, I understand, that is contracted for.

161. You have heard Mr. Chamberlin's evidence. Do you confirm or agree with what he says?—To a great extent I confirm what he says.

162. The paper you contract for is paper used for the Statutes?—The paper we contract for is what is known departmentally as paper for printing parliamentary reports, the Canada Gazette, and tenders are also taken for what is used for Statutes.

163. What proportion of the paper supplied to the Government is not tendered for?—A large proportion, which is used for miscellaneous purposes; a large proportion is used for the purposes of the printer, and it is our business to supply the other departments according to the samples that we get, the result is that we have to buy frequently.

164. Do I understand that requisition is made by the Superintendent of the Printing Department?—Yes.

165. Mr. Sénécal?—Yes.

166. For all the papers that go through his hands?—Yes.

167. All paper in the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

168. The custom is that the requisition from Mr. Sénécal goes to you, and then you enter into a contract or purchase the paper, according to circumstances?—Yes; we might have the paper in stock, or it might be purchased.

169. Whatever was necessary to be purchased, you would say whether it was to be tendered for or not?—Yes.

170. You tell us that a large proportion of the paper used is purchased without tender?—Yes; you must remember that we use printing papers for colour prints and covers as well, and although the covers are not used for printing purposes, yet it is all the same called print paper, and when I buy for Colonel Chamberlin it is not the actual quantity of printing paper used—it is not the same way as with paper for Statutes and departmental reports.

171. Can you give the Committee any idea of what proportion of paper used in the Printing Bureau is contracted for, and what proportion is bought without tender?—So far as the contract is concerned, it differs in different years. Last year's tender may not be the same amount as this year. We endeavour to arrive at the total quantity likely to be required. Some years 4,000 reams may be required for parliamentary and departmental purposes; other times it is more. For the Statutes we endeavour to form some opinion—perhaps it is 300 or 350 reams. For the Canada Gazette we do the same thing, and if there is likely to be a larger quantity required then we purchase a larger quantity by tender.

172. Do you not buy a large quantity by tender?—Yes; it happens so.

173. What is the proportion—would it be half?—It would be getting on that way, one way with another.

174. Would you say about half the paper used in the Printing Bureau is purchased without tender, and the other half by tender—speaking roughly?—Yes; speaking roughly. I do not commit myself to that, however, without the actual figures.

175. Then, for paper that you buy without tender, what steps do you take in purchasing it? How do you bring yourself in contact with the manufacturers?—A good deal depends upon circumstances. For instance, our stock may be low, and we may have people call upon us—the representatives of different houses, which is often the case. If the stock is low, or if they are offering an article at a price we consider reasonable, or that it would be in the interest of the Government to purchase it, then, if it be required, we will take it. It often happens that the printer sends in for paper for a definite object, and it is ordered by the Department to be according to the sample. Whether we have it or have it not, we have to get that paper, and in that case, knowing what the market is, generally speaking, being in close contact with all the people selling paper, I go to the people who are best likely to give us value for our money, and get the paper that is required.

176. I understand, when your stock is low, and a traveller comes round, you may or may not order from his firm?—That is so.

177. Do they come to see you periodically?—Very frequently.

178. Or do you write to them?—It just depends. A man may come in this morning, and I may have nothing for him; if he came an hour or two later, possibly I might have an order.

179. The way you ascertain is——?—By the actual wants of the service.

180. I suppose these people first see Mr. Senécal?—Oh dear, no.

181. They never see him?—I never knew it.

182. They never told you?—No. That is quite a new phase of the matter.

183. So, that in actual practice you are the first man they see?—I never knew anything to the contrary.

184. You never dreamed of such a thing?—No.

185. You are the gentleman whose duty it is to certify to the quality of the paper?—Yes. I am supposed to see that the Government gets value for its money.

186. You have to see what they sell to the Government is what they have agreed to sell in point of quality?—Exactly.

187. You have nothing to do with the quantity?—Certainly I have.

188. In what way?—I would not certify to an account unless I knew the quantity was there.

189. How do you satisfy yourself that the quantity invoiced has been received?—The goods are received from the railway companies and they are taken into stock, and checked by a man whose duty it is to check them.

190. There is a man whose duty it is to check the goods?—Yes.

191. That is Hughes?—Yes; Hughes for some time back.

192. So that when the paper is received, it is received by Hughes. He satisfies himself that the quantity is there, and you then satisfy yourself, having his certificate, that the quantity is there, and that the quality is up to the mark. The general routine is, that he brings me a sample of paper when it is weighed and counted.

193. Take that account of Rolland & Co., "Checked by J. Hughes." Is that the usual way he certifies to you?—Yes, sir.

194. With all bills for papers, that is the usual course of business?—Yes, unless it happens to be in the case of corrected invoices. For instance, there is a corrected invoice which does not bear his signature, it takes the place of the original.

195. Would the original be certified to, showing the quantity?—I should say yes, ordinarily speaking.

196. Do you know of any case where it was not certified by him?—I do not know of any case where the account did not go through the ordinary routine unless he was absent, when it might be certified to by Mr. Roxborough. He has the stores in charge altogether, and is Mr. Hughes' immediate chief. It might be certified to by Mr. Roxborough, and I would then take his certificate.

197. So that you would take either Roxborough's or Hughes' certificate?—I would.

198. But the certificate of either one or the other is necessary?—It is not absolutely necessary. For instance, I might satisfy myself that the paper had been received, that there was the full quantity there, and that it was of the requisite quality.

199. Has that ever been done?—I cannot tax my memory with an instance, but it may have occurred.

200. Has it occurred?—I could not say.

201. Then having satisfied yourself as to the quality of the paper, and the quantity having been certified to, you get Mr. Chamberlin to give a cheque to cover the bill?—It is passed through the ordinary routine of the Department and the cheque is issued.

202. By Mr. Chamberlin?—It goes to the Accountant, and bears Mr. Chamberlin's signature.

203. And then the transaction is closed?—Yes.

204. Did you ever know a case in which the Secretary of State undertook to certify an account as correct?—Not under ordinary circumstances.

205. Do you remember one case?—I do not think there is any necessity to do it.

206. Do you remember one case?—Where an account was certified to by—?

207. By the Secretary of State, and not by Hughes or Roxborough?—Mr. Hughes' signature would not cause the account to be paid.

208. I am not saying that. His signature shows the quantity of goods received. On that being given you give a certificate that the quality is all right, upon which a cheque is issued, signed by Mr. Chamberlin and the Accountant. That is the proceeding?—Yes. But pardon me: I want to say that it is not Mr. Hughes' and Mr. Roxborough's check mark which is necessary to the account to be paid. I take the responsibility of it.

209. You take the responsibility, you say, but you have never done so?—I think not, sir; I cannot remember it. But I do not think you ought to commit me to that.

210. Well, here are all the papers?—Not all the papers—all the vouchers for printing papers; but you must remember that the business of the Stationery Office is not confined solely to printing papers, but there is a large number of other kinds as well.

211. Is the same course pursued in the Stationery Office?—Exactly the same course is pursued, only that the bills bear Mr. Roxborough's check mark.

212. I notice that in addition to Mr. Hughes' certificate, "Checked by J. Hughes," you certify on the back of the account, "The articles herein mentioned have been supplied, and the prices are fair and just—H. J. B." That is your certificate?—It is.

213. On all accounts for printing papers, bought through your Department, there is a certificate of that kind?—Yes.

214. And on that certificate the payment is made?—Yes.

215. Can you find a single account for the year ending the 30th June, 1890, where any person but yourself has certified as to the correctness of the account—that is, as to the quantity?—No. I think they all bear my signature. That is the rule of the Auditor General, and it is followed.

216. Will you take that account of 26th November (Exhibit No. 1), and tell me how you satisfied yourself that that quantity of printing paper was received by the Department?—By my own positive knowledge that the paper was received.

217. Why was it that Mr. Hughes or Mr. Roxborough did not certify as to the quantity?—There may be circumstances attached to that that I do not remember.

218. Have you any recollection why the certificate of one of them is not on that account?—I do not know. Speaking from memory I cannot. There is a possibility that this was a second account received, and if it was a second account the original would bear the certificate.

219. There was a second account received on December 26th?—Pardon me that is not an account setting forth the particulars. It is the usual statement sent out by a commercial house at the end of each month. There are no particulars as to the kind of paper. It simply says, "to merchandise."

220. Was that account received direct in the Department from the New England Paper Company?—I cannot tell. It has apparently been received at the Stationery Office, on the 27th of December. There is the office stamp upon it.

By the Chairman :

221. The paper or the statement?—The statement.

By Mr. Lister :

222. This second account, (Exhibit No. 1) was received at the Stationery Department on the 27th December 1889?—Yes.

223. Do you know from whom you received that account?—I do not know, speaking from memory. I could not say definitely. From the stamp mark on it, it may have come through the mail. It is dated Montreal 26th of December, and reached Ottawa, presumably on the 27th December.

224. Where was it certified to by Mr. Chapleau?—It is certified to by Mr. Chapleau on the 27th of December:—the same day I appear to have received it.

225. Was that certified to in Ottawa?—I believe so.

226. Will you swear that?—I cannot swear that.

227. Have you any recollection about that at all?—I have no positive recollection.

228. Mr. CHAPLEAU—What stamp does it bear?

Mr. LISTER—"Office of the Superintendent of Stationery, December 27, 1889. Approved J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State, 27 Dec. 1889."

229. That account would come to your office?—It might not come direct.

230. It must have come; there is the stamp?—It may have come direct to the Secretary of State and he turned it over to us. I would then stamp it, according to rule.

231. If it came direct to the Secretary of State there must have been a letter accompanying it?—I cannot say. He may have kept it.

232. Would he not have sent the letter along with the account to you?—Not necessarily.

233. Would not that be the business way of doing it?—What may seem business to me, might not be business to him.

234. What is business to you?—Business to me in that case would have been to send the account to me direct.

235. Can you say how you came by that account?—I suppose it was sent to me by the Secretary of State. That is my remembrance.

236. So that according to your remembrance this account must have been sent direct to you by the Secretary of State?—Yes, that is my impression.

237. Can you tell me who it was brought it over to you?—My impression is that it came to me with a letter authorizing payment.

238. A letter from?—I think it was written by the Secretary of State's private secretary, Mr. Taché.

239. That is your recollection?—Yes that is my recollection.

240. Had you ever seen that account (Exhibit No. 1) previous to getting it from the Secretary of State?—Do you mean the statement? I do not think so.

241. On getting it from the Secretary of State you put a certificate on the back and it was paid?—It was paid, I believe on the 2nd January, 1890.

242. You have been in the position you now occupy for the last two or three years?—Since July 1st 1888.

243. Can you, speaking from recollection, say whether you ever received an account for paper certified to and paid on the certificate of the Secretary of State without the other requisites being gone through that you have spoken of?—Not that I remember. But I would add to that, that so far as the payment of that account is concerned, before the money was paid I am in a position to state that the paper was received, the quantity was received and all the other formalities of an ordinary account were observed.

By Mr. Chapleau .

244. How long before the 27th December, by your papers, was the paper received and the invoice received?—It was received in November—the 26th November.

By Mr. Lister :

245. Will you undertake to explain to this Committee how it was that neither of these two gentlemen put their stamp upon this stating it had been checked?—I should think the explanation is this : The paper was not found to be according to sample, and the bill was brought to me and it was held in reserve until such time as a decision was arrived at.

246. Is it not the duty of that man Hughes, as soon as material comes into the Department and before it is taken into stock to satisfy himself that the quantity is there?—He will sign it so soon as it is decided to take it into stock.

247. Not until it is decided?—He will not sign the account until such time as he knows we are going to keep the paper.

248. Does he see you about it?—He does.

249. Is the arrangement made with you that the paper is to be kept?—Yes, or otherwise.

250. This account seems never to have been checked?—I think the reason is as I have told you, that the paper was not found according to sample, and as soon as a decision was arrived at the account was paid. There is no reason to refer it back to me.

251. What receipt have you in the Department to show that the paper was received?—Ask Mr. Hughes. I say positively that I know that that paper was received.

252. I am not questioning that at all. Why was it that this account for paper was not checked by Hughes when it was decided to take it into stock?—I think I have explained that; but if you will allow me I will explain it again. The paper when it was received was not found to be according to sample and the matter was left in abeyance until some decision was arrived at about it. That is, I presume, the reason why.....

253. You have told us that. Why was it that the quantity was not checked when the decision was arrived at?—It was not necessary. Mr. Hughes's signature is not absolutely necessary for the payment of an account.

254. Is it not on every original invoice that is brought in. You told us a few moments ago that Mr. Hughes checked it?—Yes.

255. But you have pointed out that there have been changes made. So you see the reason does not hold good?—It does hold good. I will show you where there is a corrected invoice received and yet that invoice does not bear his check mark.

256. The original invoice?—The corrected invoice.

257. But the original does?—That may be.

258. That shows that the custom of the Department is to check by Hughes?—He only checks to explain the correctness of the invoice.

259. Why didn't he do that here?—Owing to the circumstances I have already explained.

260. About the purchase of paper. I want to know what you have to say as to the purchase of paper for the Printing Bureau—all paper for printing purposes?—I suppose you exclude contract paper?

261. Yes?—There is a large quantity of paper which you have to supply according to sample, and the result is that the orders go from time to time to the same people—taking care, of course, that the prices are properly regulated. For instance, we may want to make blue covers uniform and we may give an order for a larger quantity, and it remains in stock pending orders as they come in, or as it may be required. There are orders for paper for lithographic purposes, when probably the paper in stock would not do. We would have to buy it outside, and probably in small quantities. There are papers for covers for pamphlets, and the Department may fix upon a certain colour or quantity. So long as the Departments have the right to say what they want it is our duty to give them what they ask for. The consequence is we get an order from the printer that he wants to use a certain paper and we buy it.

262. By letter?—Possibly by letter. We know that a certain quality of paper is asked for; we know where it is to be had and we get it. It is very much like conducting an ordinary business and buying to the best advantage and where you can get the best value for our money.

263. You have told us that about half the paper is not bought by tender?—To go into the matter definitely you would have to search out everything.

264. In ordering paper that you have not to buy by tender, do you write to the different makers to see who will furnish it cheapest?—That depends on circumstances. We are in touch with the paper market, and we know where we can get what is suitable for our purposes.

265. You watch the market?—Yes.

266. And you usually know where you can get what is best for your purposes?—Yes; but I may remind you that very frequently we are called upon to supply paper from sample, and we have to get it from the mill that supplied the sample.

267. You have already said that a requisition was made by Mr. Sénécal upon you for such paper as he required?—Yes. I may say this in further explanation: I do not think Mr. Sénécal sees these things personally. They go to a clerk whose duty it is to make out these requisitions.

268. Who is that clerk?—Mr. Potvin. He acts upon the requisition and sends the order on to us.

269. Then, as I understand you, so far as Mr. Sénécal is concerned he has no dealing and is not brought in contact with the sellers of paper at all?—Not so far as I am aware.

270. In fact, there is no necessity for it?—I should think not.

271. All he has to do is to make out a requisition and you purchase the paper?—That is it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

272. We will try to make a short story of a long one. That account was sent by the New England Paper Co., it appears from the invoice, on the 21st November?—26th, it seems.

273. 21st for the account. Do you know under what circumstances that paper had been asked from the New England Paper Co.? For what purpose was it needed?—I do. It was got for the purpose of the Postal Guide.

274. Do you remember having come to me and spoken to me on that subject?—I remember going to you, knowing the paper would be required. You said that this paper was made in the States, and I said that I considered that Canada produced good enough paper.

275. For that particular purpose it had been bought in the States?—Yes. I may say further, to make the matters very clear, that the Post Office Department has been hitherto very particular about the paper that they used for those books. My predecessor had to have that paper specially made in Boston from special stock, and as a matter of fact he paid  $8\frac{1}{2}$  cents in Boston exclusive of freight and duty for that special paper.

276.  $8\frac{1}{2}$  cents for that exclusive of freight and duty?—My opinion was, and I hold to it still, that we could get paper for it in Canada that would suit the purpose perfectly well and at a less price.

277. Has that not been done?—Yes.

278. Successfully?—It has.

279. How much have we saved in freight and duty?—We pay 8 cents for it delivered here.

By Mr. Foster :

280. What did the other cost, delivered?—It cost  $8\frac{1}{2}$  cents in Boston, and including the duty I presume that when it got to Ottawa, it would cost about 10 cents.

By Mr. Mulock :

281. Then the Government paid the duty?—No; but you have to count the duty as against buying it in Canada.

By Mr. Lister :

282. There is no duty coming in from the United States?—Not for goods imported by the Government, but when you consider the Canadian manufacturer you have to take the duty into account.

By Mr. Foster :

283. Leaving the duty out, what would it cost?—The cost in Boston was  $8\frac{1}{2}$  cents, and there is the freight to add.

By Mr. Chapleau :

284. You were speaking about the Post Office Department?—Yes. I came to you and said this paper was likely to be required and you said you would see about it. I think, if I remember rightly—and I am trusting to my memory—that you were going to Montreal and possibly you might see if something could be done there about it.

285. Do you remember having given me the measurements of the size?—It was a special size.

286. Which I took with me?—I believe so.

287. Or which I sent—because I believe I sent it. Do you remember when I came here you informed me that the figures I had taken from you were a mistake?—Yes, I do.

288. What was the mistake?—I think you had  $22\frac{1}{2}$  by 36 instead of  $25\frac{1}{2}$  by 36;  $22\frac{1}{2}$  would not be right.

289. Do you remember if I told you that an order for that 240 or 250 reams had been given to the New England Paper Company?—My remembrance of it is not quite in that way.

290. What do you remember?—There is a telegram here stating that the paper would have to be made.

291. You had to send them a telegram saying that the size which had been mentioned to them was not the proper size?—Yes. That is signed in the name of the Secretary of State, and is addressed to the New England Paper Company. It is as follows:—

EXHIBIT No. 3.

(Telegram.)

“OTTAWA, 31st October, 1889,

“To New England Paper Co.,
“Montreal.

“You must cancel the order for paper 35 by  $22\frac{1}{2}$ . There is, no doubt, ample time to do so, and the Superintendent of Stationery will write you to-night stating exactly what is needed.

“ (Signed) J. A. CHAPLEAU.”

292. That was sent with my signature?—Yes.

293. Will you look for the answer that was sent by the New England Paper Company?—The telegram (Exhibit No. 4) intimates that they will have to make the paper, and is as follows:—

EXHIBIT No. 4.

“MONTREAL, 31st October, 1889.

“To Hon. J. A. CHAPLEAU,
“Ottawa.

“Will have to make the paper. Have already ordered other size.

“NEW ENGLAND PAPER CO.”

294. They said they would have to manufacture the paper according to order?
—There is no doubt that when the paper came it was the right size.

295. Then in course of time, I think it was on the 21st, you received this letter of the New England Paper Co?—Yes. There is another matter in connection with this that I might mention in order to make the thing clear. You requested me to go down to Montreal. You said that you were afraid an error had been made, and you wanted it put right. I went down and saw the New England Co., and arranged with them to make a paper according to sample; that is, the sample for the Postal Guide, at  $7\frac{3}{4}$  cents per pound, delivered.

296. Read that letter?—This letter is written to the New England Co., and is as follows:—

“DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY.”

“STATIONERY OFFICE, OTTAWA, Oct. 31st, 1889.

“Messrs. New England Paper Co.,
“Montreal.

“DEAR SIRS,—I am instructed by the Hon. Secretary of State to write you in regard to the printing paper about which some negotiations have already passed. The size needed is  $25\frac{1}{2}$  x 36 inches, the weight 55 lbs per ream of 500 sheets; nothing less will do.

“I understand that the negotiations referred to a smaller size ( $22\frac{1}{2}$  x 35—50 lbs) but as that was a misunderstanding that arrangement has been cancelled by telegram yesterday and again to-day. I do not apprehend any difficulty in your cancelling the order (if there was an order) without any trouble or expense.

“Then in regard to what is necessary. It is possible you may have to make the paper, in which case it would be well to make it just as closely as possible to that previously used, a sample of which I enclose herewith and for which please quote price delivered here for 250 reams  $25\frac{1}{2}$  x 36—55 lbs in 500 sheets.

“But if you have paper suitable in size and weight already made, please submit to me samples thereof and price per return mail so that the matter may be concluded immediately, the paper being very urgently needed.

“Yours respectfully,

“ (Signed) H. J. BRONSKILL,

“Supt. of Stationery.

I have already said that I went to Montreal and took a sample of the paper which was needed, and I arranged with their full consent. We talked the matter over at length and they decided that they could make the paper—this particular paper about which the Post Office was so particular—at  $8\frac{1}{2}$  cents in Boston. I said “you will please give me that in writing.” On the 4th of November they wrote to me this:—

EXHIBIT No. 6.

“NEW ENGLAND PAPER COMPANY,

“MONTREAL, 4th November, 1889.

“To H. J. BRONSKILL, Esq.,

“Superintendent of Stationery,

DEAR SIR,—We hereby agree to furnish you with two hundred and fifty reams of printing paper of the size of  $25\frac{1}{2}$  x 36—55 lbs, 500 sheets—done up flat in 2-ream bundles. Paper to be as near sample shown as possible, both in colour and quality, and to be calendered. Price to be 7½ cents per lb. delivered in Ottawa; delivery to be made in Ottawa on or before 23rd November, provided order is given at once.

“HARRISON B. YOUNG,
“Treasurer of the New England Paper Company.”

The order was given at once.

297. Do you remember if you received the first invoice of that paper according to the order given?—Yes; on the 26th November, my impression is.

298. Read this, and you will know exactly how it was invoiced?—This is the 25th of November:—

EXHIBIT No. 7.

“DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY.

“STATIONERY OFFICE, OTTAWA, 25th November, 1889.

“Messrs. NEW ENGLAND PAPER COMPANY,
Montreal.

“DEAR SIRS,—The 144 reams paper invoiced 21st inst. reached us in due course and were examined to-day.

“I regret to say that, in my opinion, it falls far short of your undertaking of 4th inst., in which you agreed to make the paper as near sample submitted as possible in colour and quality. In comparing them, your paper is quite a different colour and decidedly inferior in quality; it is somewhat short in weight and its tensile strength not good, as well as being “specky” and otherwise far from clean. It is also packed in three-ream bundles instead of two. If the balance has not been shipped it would be well not to forward it at present, as I much fear the paper cannot be used for the special purpose for which it was made.

As delay in this matter is likely to inconvenience, I shall be glad if you will let me hear from you by return mail.

“Yours respectfully,

“ (Signed) H. J. BRONSKILL,

“Superintendent of Stationery.”

I may say that that 144 reams was an instalment of the 250 supply.

299. The invoice of the first lot of that order was dated on the 21st of November?—I read “25th November.”

300. But the letter says: “The invoice of the 21st.”—Yes.

301. Will you read this letter and say if you received it in reply?—Here is a letter which I presume is a reply:—

EXHIBIT No. 8.

“Dictated.

“MONTREAL, 26th November, 1889.

“Superintendent of Stationery, Ottawa.

“DEAR SIR,—Your favour of the 25th is at hand, and we are exceedingly sorry that the paper should not meet your expectations. It certainly was made as near the sample as we could make it, and we cannot help but feel that if the paper was tested on the press it would be found to answer the purpose for which it was required. The balance of the shipment is now on the way to Ottawa, and as the freight has been prepaid here, will you kindly take it in and test it on the press.

“Very respectfully yours,

“NEW ENGLAND PAPER Co.,

“Per M. C.”

302. Do you remember if it was tested according to the demand of the New England Paper Manufacturing Company?—We should test it whether they demanded it or not.

303. What time did you receive the second portion of the 250 reams?—I do not know. I have no recollection. It certainly came to us.

304. Will you look at this paper and say what it is, and read it to the Committee.

EXHIBIT No. 9.

“ Dictated.

“ MONTREAL, 6th December, 1889.

“ Supt. Dept. of Pub. Printing and Stationery,

“ DEAR SIR,—Your letter of the 5th November is received, and we are very glad that you did not pay the $13.80 freight. There was a special rate given to us on this first lot and the railroad have overcharged us.

“ This is the reason it has not been settled. If they request payment from you again, please refer them to us.

“ Trusting you are enjoying good health and that we shall be favoured with a call when you are next in our city.

“ Yours truly,
“ H. B. YOUNG,
Sec. Treas.

305. I think, Mr. Bronskill, you came to see me and we talked about this lot of paper?—When the paper came it was put into our building and we waited your action in the matter. I came immediately after it was received and mentioned the matter to you.

306. I think it remained in abeyance until you eventually asked me if it could be used for ordinary purposes, and I said yes?—Yes. I may tell this Committee in explanation of this that the New England Manufacturing Company undertook to do a thing that they could not do. They undertook to make a paper exactly according to sample and it was not according to the sample. I don't fancy they could do it.

307. They gave us a paper fairly worth the money?—Yes.

308. Did I not then mention to you that these people were the New England Paper Manufacturing Company which had been rather unfortunate before in having suffered from a mistake which had been committed by me, and did I not ask you whether it could not be used for ordinary purposes, that is to say, employed at its value by the Department or whether there would be any loss?—Yes, I said that it could be used for the ordinary purposes of the Government without loss.

By Mr. Lister :

309. You know what profit was being made on the paper?—No, I don't know.

By Mr. Chapleau :

310. Has it actually been received and used?—Yes, it has been received and used.

311. Has it been used conveniently for writing purposes in the Department—I mean, has the Government had its value in being used?—Yes; generally speaking, yes.

312. Do you know if there was any special favour asked by the New England Manufacturing Company about some other paper of the same character or kind?—I do not know, so far as I am concerned.

313. Will you read this?

" Supt. of Stationery."

316. Would that have been a very great loss, if I had ordered 20 extra reams to be taken?—No, it would not have been very much.

317. Still we did not wish to buy paper from that firm even to the extent of 20 reams?—No, we simply had enough in stock and did not want any more.

318. When I ordered payment it was transmitted in this letter?—Yes.

EXHIBIT No. 12.

" DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY,
" STATIONERY OFFICE, OTTAWA, 3rd January, 1890.

" MESSRS. NEW ENGLAND PAPER Co.,
" Montreal.

" DEAR SIR,—I am directed by the Hon. Secretary of State to forward the enclosed cheque in payment of your account for paper supplied as per invoice dated Nov. 26th last, and amounting to $1,074.15.

" The amount charged for frames ($16.80) is not included in that cheque as these are never charged by any manufacturer.

" Be pleased to sign and return the enclosed receipt to me and oblige.

" Yours respectfully,
" (Sgd.) H. J. BRONSKILL,
" Supt. of Stationery."

319. You have questioned about my approving that account. Do you remember what time the approval was brought about?—My impression is that it was approved by you afterwards.

320. After our conversation?—Yes.

321. Not before?—No.

By Mr. Daly :

322. That is after the conversation in which you informed Mr. Chapleau that the paper could be used for other purposes?—Yes, my impression is that the New England Company telegraphed to the Secretary of State that they had not received payment for that paper and asking for payment. I believe I am correct in stating that the telegram was received after the Secretary of State authorized the payment to be made.

By Mr. Chapleau :

323. And then it was that I put my signature upon it as I do on similar accounts?—Yes.

By Mr. Daly :

324. Is there anything extraordinary in the fact that the Secretary of State approved of the account in the manner described?—I looked upon it as an authorization to pay.

325. We have been speaking about the qualities of paper and as to whether the papers were received. I will now call attention to the quantities. Are not the quantities of paper used, very easily controlled in the Printing Department where it is used?—I do not know that I quite understand your question.

326. Is not the quantity controlled even after it is printed?—How do you mean by controlled?

327. Could an amount of say 250 or 260 reams of paper be received and used without its being properly checked? Even after it is printed is it not also controlled by the quantities used?—Every sheet of paper that goes into the Stationery Office is accounted for and if it is sent to the printing office it is there accounted for.

328. And the quantity used by the printing office is there certified and controlled by the Accountant, so much as has been used in the printing?—Certainly.

329. They requisition you for a certain quantity required for a particular job, and when they use it there is a thorough control of the quantities that have been used and the paper is checked and a return sent you if it is printed and compared. Say if you sent to Mr. Senécal 300 reams it could not be disposed of in any way. He would send it back paper printed?—No, it could not be disposed of. It is all controlled. I am not entirely conversant with this part of the work, but I believe there is a thorough control of it.

330. You take an inventory of your stock at times?—Yes.

331. How often?—Once a year.

332. Is the control of the quantities that have entered your office or are sent to the printing office of the Department effectual?—Yes.

333. Are all papers faithfully checked and controlled?—Most certainly.

By Mr. Sproule :

334. Are these invoices sent with the paper?—Yes, they are.

335. And the party whose duty it would be to receive these would see that the paper was in accord with the invoices?—Yes.

336. Would he check it off then?—I don't think he would in this case; this was a case in which the paper was not according to sample, I am speaking to you honestly about it. I believe, the only reason for not certifying the account was that the paper was left in abeyance.

337. Well, you had sufficient information to certify that the paper was there?—I have no more doubt that it was received, than I have that I am speaking to you at this moment, that we got the total quantity we paid for, I have no more doubt than I have that I am speaking now.

By Mr. Chapleau :

338. Perhaps I did not express myself quite clearly; is it not a fact that the amount of work turned out by Mr. Senécal at the printing office—is not the quantity of paper printed in itself a control of the paper supplied to him?—Yes. Mr. Senécal gets so much paper, it is given to him on an ordinary requisition which is made out, and he is given only his printer's percentage for waste, and all that has to be accounted for.

339. Mr. Bronskill, I think you have stated that in cases where contracts have been found to be performed very satisfactorily, the continuation of the contract has been made with the same parties as had been giving the supply?—We would very often give orders for the same kind as has been supplied. That is so long as the Department consider it their duty to supply.

By the Chairman :

340. Therefore, you would order the same paper from the same manufacturers?—Yes, I may say that the Stationery Office is not like a stationer's store, we don't stand behind the counter and talk the matter over. Generally speaking, if we were to try to persuade them in the Departments to take a different paper, they would think that we were trying some economical game, they would have doubts of our sincerity. The fact is, we don't see our people to discuss with them in that way, and they have a right to say what they shall have to a very great extent.

341. You mean by this the various Departments?—Yes; the various Departments and the Houses of Parliament.

By Mr. Daly :

342. You are not the bosses, they are the bosses?—Yes; they are the bosses.

By Mr. Lister :

343. Who ordered this paper?—I think, I have already said that I went down to Montreal to order it.

344. At Mr. Chapleau's request?—Mr. Chapleau, I think, had some negotiation, and there was a mistake as to size.

345. And you went and set that right?—Yes. I made an arrangement whereby if it had been carried out, I would have saved one-half a cent a pound, it was a very economical one, and we hoped to have got it through all right.

346. But the paper was not good enough?—No.

347. It was not up to the sample?—No.

348. It was not what was bargained for?—No.

349. And the consequence was you did not accept it?—No. Not until the matter had been arranged with Mr. Chapleau.

350. You did not accept it until after you had consulted with Mr. Chapleau, who gave you your instructions to act?—No; the papers show that.

By Mr. Daly :

351. When you say it was not up to the sample, do you mean in quality or in size?—It was not up to the sample submitted, it was not good enough.

By Mr. Foster :

352. In colour, strength and weight?—We saw it was a little short, it was not quite up to the sample.

By Mr. Lister :

353. You paid the price that you were to pay if it had been up to the sample?—I want to say a word about that if you will allow me. In my opinion they could not make the paper for the price they undertook to do it.

354. I am not disputing that, I am not blaming you; I am simply asking you a question whether the paper was paid at the rate you agreed to pay just as if it had been up to the sample?—Yes. But on the other hand if you will look at it in this way. They gave us a paper that was fairly worth the money.

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—Before the Committee is called to hear the evidence which it is proposed to be given, in order, as it is alleged, to prove that the order for the supply of paper to the Department of Printing and Stationery, the account of which has just been examined by this Committee, was given by me in consequence of a corrupt bargain and to the detriment of the public interest, involving, as it would, my honour, dignity and integrity, I wish to enter my protest against such a course. The reference made by the House to this Committee does not and cannot cover such a charge. I only want, in taking this course, to vindicate the privileges which every member of the House must enjoy and which this Committee respect and protect—not that I refuse the fullest investigation into my conduct as the responsible head of a Department. On the contrary, I would court that investigation, knowing as I do that the evidence would establish the futility of the charge, if charge there is. I wish, then, to make the following statement, after denying and repudiating in the most emphatic manner any charge or insinuation of wrong-doing on my part, in relation to the matter before the Committee. What are the facts presented to the Committee? An order for 250 reams of printing paper appears to have been given to the New England Paper Company by the Department of Public Printing and Stationery. The paper was sent to the Department and used by it. The account ($1,074) was sent and paid upon approval of the head of the Department. The circumstances of the case are these: Mr. Young, the head of the New England Paper Company, had been tendering for paper to the Department of Stationery before, but he had been an unsuccessful tenderer. Like other unsuccessful tenderers he thought, as naturally he might think, that perhaps a little more favour should have been shown to him, that “a chance,” as tradesmen would say, should have been given to him to try and furnish a supply of paper. Every man in the trade who can secure such a good customer as the Government is, endeavours, by his diligence, to retain the custom, and if he does not have it he tries to secure such a customer. I knew Mr. Young as a perfect gentleman and a good business man. He had occasionally asked me if he could not get an order to supply some paper to the Printing Department. This was not the first time a demand of the kind had been made to me; people naturally would ask me whether they could not supply the Department with articles they were selling. I told Mr. Young that I was very sorry he had not had a chance; that the reason was because his former tenders did not suit, but that if it were possible to give him an order for supplying paper we would do it. The transaction that has taken place was exactly as related by the witness, Mr. Bronskill. The Postal Guide had hitherto been printed from paper bought in the United States. My officer, who is a painstaking man, said to me: “Would it not be possible to have Canadian made paper for this work?” He thought it might be found in the country. Mr. Bronskill gave me the figures of the size and weight required, and I myself sent or gave those figures to Mr. Young or to his clerk. I was informed that Mr. Young’s company would manufacture the paper, and I told them what the size and weight of the paper was to be. Thereupon I informed my officer, Mr. Bronskill, that the New England Paper Company would in all probability be in a position to enter into a contract. I was about to send Mr. Bronskill to Montreal to give further necessary information required by the company; not being a technical man in the trade myself, when Mr. Bronskill observed to me, “but the figures you gave them are not correct as to the size of the paper; they should be 25½ x 36 instead of 22½ x 36.” I think those are the figures, but at any rate there had been a mistake on my part. A telegram was accordingly sent them from the Department by Mr. Bronskill informing them that the size was not correct. A reply was received shortly afterwards in which the firm informed me that they would be obliged to manufacture a new lot of paper because they had already ordered the other size. I sent Mr. Bronskill down there and he made the arrangement with them in writing. The order was such that the New England Paper Company said they could manufacture what we wanted. It was duly manufactured and sent to Ottawa but it appears that the paper was not up to the mark. I have no hesitation in making the statement here that I said to Mr. Bronskill: “It is too bad, Mr. Young, having already been obliged to manufacture a second lot of paper owing to a mistake made by me, I would not like him to lose that sale now that his paper has been sent if it is in part my fault." I may state to the Committee what Mr. Chamberlin has already told you, that often it has happened that when a certain contract has been entered into for paper and when we have received it, it would not be quite up to the mark, those from whom we have purchased, have said, "we will make a rebate." In some cases the rebate would be made; in other cases the paper would be returned if it did not suit at all; but if we could use the paper for some work in which another kind of paper of equal value would generally be used, I would allow it to be done. In this case, under the circumstances I have mentioned, I instructed my officer to accept it on the assurance that we might be able to use it without a loss to the Department, and I approved of the account. If I did wrong in acting as I did, let the Committee say so. Here is my statement; if it is not accepted by the honourable gentleman who has brought the case before the Committee, I challenge him to challenge my statement. I make it in absolute honesty before the Committee, as the responsible head of the Department. If there was a mistake in that departmental transaction it was made by me; but if there is any intention of proving, by any written document which it is not pretended was made by me, at my suggestion but of which the honourable gentleman said I had cognizance, and which I engaged to carry out, that it savours of a corrupt bargain—

Mr. LISTER—I said nothing of the kind.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—I know that, but I say if you intended to convey that idea. That paper has been put into a case in which I am one of the counsel (it was put into the case by the firm of Chapleau, Hall, Nichols & Brown.) Mr. Brown is here ready to give to the Committee all the information he possesses. But I say if an investigation is to be made at all, if it be the intention to challenge the honesty and the character of the Minister affected, let it be done in the manner in which it ought to be done. If my statement is to be challenged and contradicted, I want the gentleman who makes it, to make it in his place in the House. I am ready to answer him in the manner and at the time which parliamentary form and practice indicate.

Mr. BRONSKILL recalled and further examined:

By Mr. Lister:

355. Can you tell me the amount of paper furnished to the Department by J. B. Rolland & Sons, during 1888-89-90, or rather can you give me the amounts furnished by the five firms and the prices paid?—Do you refer to printing paper?

356. Yes. Paper used in the Printing Bureau?—Do you mean actual paper to be printed?

357. All sorts of paper; paper on which you print?—I could not give you that off-hand. I think you can get the information from the vouchers,

358. Would it be possible for you to make up a statement? Yes.

359. I see that the account of Rolland & Sons last year for paper was $18,872?—That is nearly all for writing paper.

360. And the Canada Paper Company's account is $25,941?—They manufactured special kinds of paper which have been in use for many years.

361. Barber & Sons $4,242 and the rest are small. For instance the Toronto Paper Company's is only $1,044?—The Toronto Paper Company supply paper which is specially made. We use it for the Supreme and Exchequer Court work.

362. Could you make out a statement showing how much paper these five firms furnished to the Department in the years I have mentioned, and the total amounts paid them?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau:

363. I think you sent me to the House a statement of the amount of reams supplied during the years 1889-90, showing that it was between ten or eleven thousand, or nine and ten thousand reams?—I am not sure about 1888-89-90. The statement I prepared was a very comprehensive one, and would include every class of paper, including that for lithographing and the Geological Survey.

364. You are speaking of other papers just now?—Yes. Mr. Lister was referring to the amounts paid to the different manufacturers, and I was telling him, in reply to the question as to the small account of the Toronto Paper Company, that it was due to the small orders we had to give for the papers which they only manufacture, that is to say the Supreme Court and Exchequer Court paper. Orders for this class of paper never go anywhere else because that firm won't make any other paper.

365. But the order goes from your office?—Yes.

By Mr. White (Cardwell) :

366. When Col. Chamberlin was on the stand Mr. Lister asked him how it was that the Canada Paper Company were only entitled to $2.70 a ream, and yet they received $2.75?—The explanation is this, that it was a different quality of paper.

367. In no case have they received more than the price of their tender for the quality of the paper?—No, sir.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, 13th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

GEORGE H. KERNICK called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

368. You are clerk of the Court of Review?—I am clerk of the Superior Court and of the Court of Review.

369. Have you the papers in the case of the New England Paper Company vs. Berthiaume?—Yes.

370. Will you produce them?

Mr. Chapleau objected to the production of these, and a debate arising thereon, the Committee adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, Friday, 14th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

GEORGE H. KERNICK recalled and further examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

371. I asked you yesterday what your position or occupation was?—Deputy Prothonotary and as such clerk of the Court of Review.

372. Will you produce the record and exhibits in the case of the New England Company against Berthiaume?—Yes, on one condition: that I am allowed to have the record back again.

373. Undoubtedly you will be allowed to take it back?—Then I produce the record.

374. Do you produce the agreement upon which that suit is founded between the New England Company and Berthiaume?—I took in the agreement here, dated 9th November, 1888.

375. Look at that memorandum. It does not appear to have a date, witnessed by Miss A. M. Parent, and say whether that is one of the exhibits filed in the case of the New England Paper Company against Berthiaume?—Yes.

Mr. LISTER—It is marked Plaintiff's Exhibit No. 3, I propose to put it in in this matter as Exhibit No. 13.

Mr. Foster objected to this agreement being put in.

Objection sustained.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, WEDNESDAY, 19th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

BROWN CHAMBERLIN recalled and further examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

376. I see that a portion of the printing paper furnished to the Department is supplied under contract, the amount, according to the statement I have here, being $29,991.75 for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1890?—There are a variety of contracts there.

377. There was paper furnished under contract and paper not furnished under contract?—Yes, sir.

378. It seems to be correct that the amount furnished was $29,991?—I fancy it is. That statement is furnished I suppose by the Superintendent of Stationery; I have not seen it before.

379. This is from your Department is it not?—I recognize the handwriting of one of the clerks, but I have never seen the document before.

380. Had W. Barber & Bros. a contract with the Department for supplying paper?—They had a contract for a certain limited amount, or a certain limited time, I do not remember. They have had repeated contracts under special tenders, or under special arrangements from time to time. I do not remember that particular contract at the present moment.

381. You say they have had contracts from time to time, under special arrangements?—They have had special contracts and general contracts at different times.

382. Well, they seem to have had a contract for the year ending 30th June 1890?—Doubtless, if it is so stated there.

383. I asked that these contracts should be brought. Have you brought them with you?—I received no summons to produce them, sir.

384. You will understand now that I require those contracts to be produced?—Certainly.

385. Then I see that the Canada Paper Company furnished paper to the value of $24,019.46 to the Government; under contract during the past year?—Yes, sir.

386. Can you tell me when that contract was entered into?—It was entered into, if I remember right, towards the beginning of the fiscal year. We generally make our contracts somewhere about that time.

387. Are your contracts, as a matter of fact, made at the beginning of the year for the ensuing year?—Well, the contracts are made in this way, sir. We estimate what we think will be the quantities of paper to be used in certain lines for certain objects, and we contract for that. Of course, sometimes we over run our estimate, and we sometimes fall below our estimate, but we have to estimate as closely as we can, and take tenders for the amount we believe will be required for that line of work.

388. Then I understand to say that the contracts entered into are for a year only?—As a rule only for that period, but sometimes a sudden pressure of work comes on, and we might put out a very large job that requires immediate delivery. We sometimes take tenders for a large job like that.

389. But as a rule they are for a year?—As a rule the contracts are for a year.

390. Now, I ask you whether contracts have been made for a longer period than a year?—I do not remember at the present moment. I would not swear positively on the subject, but I do not remember any at the moment.

391. But you say your custom is to contract for a year?—To contract year by year.

392. The contracts themselves will show, of course, for how long they were entered into?—Yes, sir.

393. Then J. B. Rolland & Son appear to have furnished paper to the value of $1,729.99 under contract. Was that contract for a year?—I suppose it was, but really I have not the tenders by me. I might say with regard to contracts that since the ruling of the Supreme Court in the Barber case, where they decided that the tender and the acceptance of a tender made a contract, we have not gone through the long formula of having contracts engrossed and written out, but we have taken that dictum as our guide, and made the contract simply upon the tenders issued and the acceptance of those tenders.

394. Well, then, I ask you again, whether you have any recollection of contracts entered into in your department for the supply of paper extending over a period longer than one or more years?—Not of a recent date, sir.

395. When you say “not of a recent date,” what do you wish us to understand?—Well, I wish you to understand within, say, the last five or six years.

396. Well, going beyond five or six years, were contracts entered into for a longer period?—At one time, we had contracts for five years; it was a bad system.

397. But for the last five or six years the contracts have not extended beyond one year?—The custom has been only to do it—

398. I am not speaking now of the custom; it is the fact I want to get at?—Well, sir, I would not like to answer without a reference to the paper.

399. You can satisfy yourself by referring to the paper?—By referring to the papers—yes. I have no doubt Mr. Bronskill could answer now, or I might by consulting the papers.

400. Then I see that purchases, not under contract, to the amount of $10,851.73, were made. How were those purchases made?—They were made from time to time as required for the uses of the Department.

401. Simply as the requirements of the department demanded they were made?—Simply as requirements demanded. Of course we are not so foolish as to wait until we run out; we keep a small supply in advance to meet the daily needs of the several Departments.

402. Well, then, I suppose these $10,851 worth of goods were supplied just as you wanted them?—Just as I wanted them.

403. You simply wrote and the goods were furnished?—Yes.

404. There were no tenders asked for?—No.

405. During the past year, you have bought 6,217,311 envelopes at a cost of $19,490.76, from Barber & Ellis, of Toronto. Was that under tender?—No, sir, I think not, but that subject is entirely in the hands of the Superintendent of Stationery.

406. Who is the Superintendent of Stationery?—Mr. Bronskill. These purchases were all made directly by him.

407. Do I understand you to say that the goods purchased not under contract—that these envelopes—were bought by Mr. Bronskill as Superintendent of Stationery?—Yes; by him as Superintendent of Stationery. At times when he had large orders he would merely mention the matter to myself, but as a rule the purchases were made by the Superintendent of Stationery.

408. Then I understand you to say these 6,000,000 of envelopes were not bought on tender?—No, sir.

H. J. BRONSKILL re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

409. When I had you under examination the other day I forgot to ask one question. I will ask it now. It is with reference to the memorandum with the words “Taken into stock by order of Mr. C.” Who does “Mr. C.” refer to? You say by Mr. C.’s order?—Will you allow me to look at that.

410. Certainly.—I should say it is the Secretary of State, sir.

411. Mr. Chamberlin states that so far as the envelopes, which cost $19,400, are concerned, that they were bought without tender?—That is true.

412. Was there any written contract entered into?—There was a scale of prices agreed to.

413. Have you that scale of prices?—No, not with me.

414. Then this arrangement was brought about by correspondence?—That is an arrangement that has been existing for years.

415. It has been revised from time to time as necessity occurs?—That is so; if we have reason to believe that the prices should be altered or lessened the list would be revised.

416. That is in your judgment when the prices ought to be lowered, they would be reduced?—Yes. They have been reduced, as a matter of fact.

417. So that the fixing of the price is in the hands of the Department and the company accepts from the Department what you think, as head of the Department, would be a sufficient price?—Yes: and this price is generally as nearly as possible fixed by the competition in the market. I may state that we have a standard quality that guides us from time to time, and I may tell you further that they are the English sizes, and there is difficulty in getting them from everybody.

418. What other people did you communicate with for the purpose of ascertaining and fixing the scale of prices?—Well, it is sometime ago; I cannot remember.

419. How long ago?—About two years ago.

420. It was about two years ago when you inquired from other parties for the purpose of ascertaining what would be a fair price for the envelopes?—Yes.

421. About two years ago you gave the work?—Yes.

422. From whom did you inquire?—From Gage, and, I think, the Canada Paper Company.

423. Those are two?—Yes.

424. Have you in your Department the replies you received?—I cannot say that I have.

425. Do you not file them?—Possibly they might be filed.

426. Do you think you could find them?—Possibly I might.

427. Was the price you paid to Barber & Ellis greater or less than they said they could furnish them for?—I cannot answer that now. If it were more it would be on account of the quality. So far as the qualities that we use are concerned, they would be simply Indian tones. There is a standard fixed, and we endeavour to keep to that.

428. With what member of the firm of Barber & Ellis are you brought into contact more immediately?—Mr. Perrett generally speaks to me.

429. Does Mr. Perrett deal with you directly?—Yes.

430. That is, your orders would go through him to the firm?—Yes.

431. He is the man who makes the sales?—Yes.

432. Do you see him frequently?—I very rarely see him; he comes seldom down here.

433. Then you order paper as you require it?—Yes; from time to time, according to the requirements of the Departments.

By the Chairman:

434. By order?—Yes; by order.

435. You have not examined into the matter for the purpose of seeing whether there should have been any reduction in the price of envelopes for the last two years?—I would not like to give a definite answer; I know that there has been a reduction.

436. Do you know that there has been a reduction in the last two years?—Yes; but I cannot tell you that a change was made without further search.

By Mr. Lister:

437. Now, I see that paper to the value of nearly $30,000—or $29,000—is purchased under contract. Is that portion of the supplies under your Department particularly?—Yes.

438. And those contracts are made—how often?—Well, the contracts are usually made for 12 months.

439. Is there any exception to that?—There is only one exception, and that is Rollands. Their contract, I think, holds good for three years. It is revisable in December each year.

440. That is to say, that they contract to furnish the paper for three years, but subject to revision each year?—Yes. The Act does not call for tenders for this kind of paper.

441. Oh, it is all right; I am not finding fault. Who revises it?—The action would come, of course, from the Secretary of State.

442. Is that a condition of the contract?—I would not like to tell you what the conditions of the contract are just now with reference to that. I only know that we have a right to have a revision.

443. I want to know whether the revision takes place every year?—I do not know that it takes place, but it may take place.

444. When was this contract made?—In 1886.

445. Did they contract previous to that time?—No; this contract was made in 1886, that is, so far as I know.

446. It was made with Rolland & Co., and they only contract for that kind of paper?—Yes, ledger and writing papers. Of course there may be contracts for printing papers that I do not know about within those dates.

447. You do not know about these?—I have not looked the matter up.

448. And the firm of Rolland & Sons are the only ones that have this kind of contract?—Yes.

449. Have the Canada Paper Company?—They have not this kind of contract.

450. Nor have Barber & Ellis?—No.

451. Why was an exception made in the case of Rolland & Son?—I cannot tell you.

452. Any consultation with the Minister about it?—If you will allow me, I will say that the arrangement was made before I went into the Department.

453. Who occupied that position before you went in?—Mr. Young, who is since dead.

454. This was made in Mr. Young's time?—Yes.

455. Now, there is a quantity of paper furnished not under contract?—Yes.

456. How do you do with that?—A large proportion of it is got to fill demands to sample, to the order of the printer.

457. As you want the paper you order it?—Yes.

458. And the paper is sent on?—Yes.

459. How long have you been in the Department?—Since the first of January, 1888.

460. During the time you have been in the office have you ever received from any person who sold supplies to the Department anything in the nature of a commission or percentage?—Have you a proof of it?

461. I am simply asking the question?—You give me a proof of it and I will answer your question.

462. I consider it my duty to ask you that question as a public official. I have made a charge, and I ask you, on your oath, whether during the time you have been in the Department you have received a commission from people who sold you goods, either as a commission or a percentage?—In one case.

463. Only one?—That is all.

464. Is that all?—That is all there is officially.

465. What case is that?—That is in the case of McFarlane, Austin & Co., of Montreal.

466. What was that?—It was a small commission upon the goods sold.

467. What goods were purchased?—Paper, of different kinds.

468. How much did you purchase from them?—A small quantity.

469. How much was it?—I think you have it there (referring to the accounts.)

470. Is this the only quantity you purchased?—That is all.

471. In 1890 it was $459. Is that all?—Is it as much as that? It is a very small account.

472. Was that the only purchases that have been made from McFarlane, Austin & Co., since you have been in the office?—No; the account remains open to-day.

473. How much have you purchased in all?—I cannot say. Perhaps it might be $1,000 altogether.

474. I now ask you how much commission you received?—Amounting altogether to $70 or $80.

475. Who paid it?—It was paid at different times.

476. Was it paid in cash or by cheque?—Cash.

477. Where was it paid?—I think it was in Ottawa.

478. How many payments were there?—I think there were two.

479. I ask you again if that is the only money you ever received since you have been in the Department?—None, except of a purely private character.

480. Might I ask the explanation of that statement?—The explanation is this: That so far, there have been transactions with some people, but it has always been in the nature of personal assistance. It has never interfered with my duty to the Government, in no shape or form. It has never destroyed my independence. The goods have been purchased at the very lowest amounts, and so far as McFarlane & Austin are concerned, I think I am in a position to produce a letter where they state positively that there never has been any discount allowed off their account; that their prices have always been net. I can say without the slightest hesitation whatever that in no case has the Government suffered one cent.

481. You were saying that they were of a personal nature? I ask you for an explanation?—There might be assistance given to meet personal engagements.

482. What was the nature of that assistance?—For instance, I might.....

483. Don't give me a suppositious case. Give me an actual case?—In the case of sickness and also in the case of my people going away for the summer.

484. Who was it that you said advanced to you?—I told you that they were of a personal character.

485. I ask to tell me. They are from people who deal with the Printing Bureau and the Committee has a right to know. Are they people who deal with the Printing Bureau?—They are, Barber, Ellis & Co.

486. Who else?—I do not know of anybody else.

487. You do not remember?—Not for the moment. If you will refresh my memory I will tell you.

488. Might I ask you how much they advanced to you in this way?—I should think probably in the neighbourhood of $200.

489. Do you swear it is not a great deal more?—I do not think so.

490. When did they make this loan to you? Is it a loan?—Yes, it is.

491. When was the loan made?—I think the first was in 1890.

492. What time in 1890?—I cannot say.

493. Was it in the summer or the spring or the fall?—The summer of 1890.

494. It was advanced to you for the purpose of your family going to the sea coast?—Yes.

495. Where was the money advanced?—I cannot say. It might be in Ottawa.

496. I want you to say. It is only a year ago?—It might be sent by mail.

497. Was it by cheque?—No.

498. Do you swear to that?—No; I do not think it was.

499. Was it in cash?—It might be.

500. But was it?—I think so.

501. Did it come by registered letter?—I do not think so.

502. How did it come?—In the ordinary course.

503. Do you remember the denomination of the bills? Were they hundreds or fifties?—No.

504. How did they come to send you this money?—Simply as a private transaction.

505. How was it brought about? They would not know you were hard up?—Simply in the course of intimacy between their representative and myself.

506. Who was their representative?—That came through Mr. Perrett.
507. That came through Mr. Perrett?—I think so.
508. How long before that money arrived had you seen Mr. Perrett?—I cannot say.
509. A month or six weeks?—I cannot say.
510. Had you written to Mr. Perrett about getting this money?—No; I do not think so.
511. You had not spoken to him?—No; I do not think so.
512. You did not tell him you were going to the sea coast?—It might come up in ordinary conversation.
513. Did it?—I suppose it did.
514. Tell me all about it. How did it come up?—That is all I remember. If there is anything else I would tell you.
515. It is no gratification to me to ask you, but I feel it is my duty?—That is all there is about it. If my duty towards the Government had been impaired in any form I should not defend it.
516. Did you acknowledge the receipt of the money?—I do not think so.
517. Did you ever give Mr. Perrett or Barber, Ellis & Co. a promissory note for it?—Yes.
518. When?—I cannot tell you when.
519. Do you swear you gave them a note?—I think there is a note given for it.
520. How do you know?—I believe a note was given.
521. When?—I cannot tell you.
522. Recently?—Recently.
523. Within the past two weeks?—Yes; very recently.
524. It is within the last two weeks, I understand?—No; I do not think it is within the last two weeks.
525. Your judgment is, it would be about two weeks ago?—Two or three weeks ago.
526. I will have the note. You are speaking just from recollection?—Yes.
527. How did you come to give the note? Who asked you for the note?—Nobody asked me for it, I gave it myself.
528. Did Barber & Ellis ever demand payment of this money?—They did not ask for it, but it is owing.
529. Is the note dated on the day it is given or ante-dated?—I think it is dated on the day it was given.
530. Are you positive about that?—I think so.
531. Now, can you tell me without any doubt exactly how much the note was? If you only gave the note two weeks ago, you will surely remember the amount?—It was $100.
532. But you got $200. How did you come to give a note for $100 when you were owing $200?—The other is an open account standing against me.
533. Was that another transaction?—Yes; that was another transaction.
534. According to your statement, you owe them $200, and I understood from you that that $200 had been sent to you in a letter?—No; I never got $200 in a letter at all. I never got $200 at once in any shape or form.
535. Did not you state a few minutes ago it would exceed $200? Tell me how you came to give the note for $100 when you owed them more?—I suppose the note would probably cover the last advance.
536. And the last advance was made a year ago?—No, sir.
537. When was it made?—The last advance was made in order to pay my life insurance.
538. When was that last advance?—I think in May of this year—May or June.
539. How did you come to get that advance? Where was it paid to you, and how was it paid to you?—I do not know. Presumably it was sent down by mail.
540. Do you not remember how, as recent as June, the money was sent to you?—I presume it came to me by mail. I cannot tell you that it came to the contrary.

541. Do you swear it did not come to you by mail?—I do not, because I do not recollect.
542. Was it by a cheque?—No.
543. You are positive about that?—Yes.
544. This came to you in June to pay your life insurance?—Yes.
545. And although you got it as recent as June, you cannot tell the committee how you obtained that money?—My impression is, it came to me by mail.
546. In cash?—I think so.
547. How did they come to send you that $100?—Possibly they might have been asked to advance it.
548. How did they come to send you that money?—Probably I asked them.
549. Did you ask them?—I suppose I did.
550. Where did you ask?—It might be——
551. Do not say “might be.” Where did you ask for it?—I cannot say.
552. Whom did you ask for it?—I presume it might be Mr. Perrett.
553. Was it Mr. Perrett?—I think so.
554. Where did you ask for it?—It might be in Ottawa.
555. Was it in Ottawa?—I think so.
556. Was it in your own office?—It might be; I could not say; I should think it was.
557. You think it would be in your own office that that $100 was asked for, in May or June of the present year?—Yes.
558. What was Mr. Perrett there for?—In the ordinary way of business.
559. Did he get an order from you?—Orders are going from there every day.
560. Did he get an order from you that day?—I could not say; he might or might not. Orders are going out almost every day.
561. Do you say you cannot remember whether you gave him an order that day?—I could not tell you.
562. And he handed you $100 in the office?—I cannot say that.
563. You said it was paid in Ottawa, however?—I think it might have come by mail.
564. Well, did it come by mail?—I do not know; I cannot tell you.
565. This transaction only took place about two months ago. Now, as a matter of fact, did he not pay you the $100 in your office?—It is quite within the range of possibility that he did.
566. Did you give him any receipt for it?—I could not say whether I did or not.
567. Did you give him anything at all to show that you were indebted to him to the extent of $100?—I do not think I did at that time.
568. So the money was just handed over to you?—Presumably.
569. Not “presumably.” Was it, as a matter of fact, handed over to you?—I cannot tell you whether it came by mail or whether he gave it to me then. There is no doubt I acknowledged the receipt of it.
570. Do you want the Committee to understand that in a matter of so much importance to you, that in the payment of your life insurance premium by this money, you cannot say two months after the transaction took place, whether you got the money here or it was sent to you from Toronto?—I think, as far as my memory serves me, it was paid in the office.
571. Was anybody present when it was paid?—Not that I am aware of.
572. Was any receipt given for it?—Not that I am aware of at the time.
573. Was there one given afterwards?—There is an indebtedness, I think, of $200 against me.
574. Then at the time there was no note given, no receipt given, and no acknowledgement made of this at all?—No.
575. You have told the Committee already that you have sent Mr. Perrett a promissory note within the last two weeks for $100?—Yes.

576. And this was not asked from you. It was purely voluntary on your part?—
It was.

577. In addition to that $100, you received other moneys from him, amounting in all to $100 more?—Possibly.

578. You said so. I am speaking of the other $100 which you said you received?—
Yes; I received it in June, I think.

579. This past June?—Yes. This was purely a personal matter.

580. You got the $100 we were speaking of in June?—No; it was in May.

581. Did you get another $100 in June?—Yes.

582. And you got $100 in May, for which you gave a promissory note this month?—No, sir.

583. What was that given for?—A note.

584. What was the note for?—That note was given for the second $100 which was advanced in June.

585. He advanced $100 in May and $100 in June, and for the advance in June you gave your promissory note?—I did.

586. And you gave the note within two weeks of to-day?—It would be about three weeks ago.

587. We shall have the note here and it will speak for itself. What did you give him for the advance of $100 in the month of May?—Nothing.

588. How much was that advance?—$100.

589. When was that money paid?—It has not been paid.

590. Where did you receive it?—I think in Ottawa.

591. Well, now, is there any reason why you should not remember? It is only three or four months ago. Try and brush up your memory, and see if you cannot remember where it was paid?—I cannot be positive, sir, but I think my answer would be that it was paid in Ottawa.

592. Was it paid in your office?—It might be, but I cannot say.

593. Do you mean to tell us you cannot say whether it was paid in your office or not? It may have been sent in a letter?—I think it was paid in the office, to the best of my recollection.

594. What was that for?—I have already told you, sir; I think it was a personal advance.

595. I know it was personal, but what was the particular object?—I had a sick child, and my people were going down to the seaside. I could not myself afford to send them, and I asked Mr. Perrett to be good enough to advance me $100, to do it.

596. That $100 was for the purpose of sending your family away?—Yes.

597. The other $100 was for the purpose of paying your life insurance?—Yes.

598. That first $100 was paid to you in the office. May I ask you whether you gave any acknowledgement of that $100 to Mr. Perrett?—Not to my remembrance.

599. It was paid by Perrett?—Yes.

600. You gave nothing at all acknowledging your indebtedness?—I do not think so.

601. Do you remember the denomination of the bills that were handed to you?—No; I do not.

602. Then you gave no promissory note for that $100?—No.

603. How was it you did not sign a note for that $100 when you signed it for the other $100?—I could not tell you that.

604. Was there an order given on the day Mr. Perrett gave you the money, in May?—There is an order given pretty nearly every day.

605. Was there that day? I know there must be, because the account is nearly $19,000?—You must remember, as far as orders going to Barber, Ellis & Co., the Department, through the Printer, ordered envelopes nearly every day.

By the Chairman:

606. You got all your envelopes from Barber & Ellis?—Yes. As soon as we got an order from the Printer, it was our duty to send it, whether for 100, 500, or 1,000.

By Mr. Lister :

607. As a matter of fact you cannot remember whether any order was given that day or not?—It might be so. It would not be essential in any case, because where there was an order it went through the mail.

608. Then Barber & Ellis would hold no acknowledgment from you of any kind or description, showing your indebtedness to them except the $100 promissory note?—That is right, sir.

609. Then you swear here to the Committee that the only payments ever made by Barber & Ellis to you, were these two payments of $100 each?—Well, I do not think there is anything very much more, sir, than that.

By the Chairman :

610. Did not you say you got some advances from them last year?—Oh, yes.

By Mr. Lister :

611. What were the advances last year?—Principally of a small character.

612. You go $200 in one year. How much was it in 1890?—Principally of a small character.

613. How much was it?—$200.

614. Did you give any promissory note for that?—No; I do not think so.

615. And you do not feel called upon to pay that $200 borrowed in 1890?—If they insist upon the payment it will be made if I am able to do it.

616. If they insist upon it, it will be paid?—It was purely a personal transaction.

617. They have never insisted upon it being paid so far?—No.

618. They have never said anything about it?—No.

619. That payment in 1890 was it for the same purpose?—Exactly the same purpose.

620. It was for life insurance and sending your family to the sea. In 1889, I think you went into the Department?—In 1888, sir.

621. That was your first year?—Yes, sir.

622. You received from Barber & Ellis, the first year $200, and the second year $200? I understand you were there from 1888?—From January, 1888.

623. Did you get anything in 1888?—No, sir.

624. Will you swear you did not?—I think I may swear I did not.

625. Are you positive about it?—I think I may safely swear I did not.

626. So you went in July, 1888, into the Department?—No, 1st of January, 1888.

627. So you were there just three years, up to 1st January 1891?—Yes, sir.

628. And you think you can safely say you received nothing from Barber & Ellis in 1888?—To the best of my recollection, no.

629. Have you told us all the moneys that you received from Barber & Ellis?—Yes.

630. All that you have received, you have told the committee?—I have.

631. Have you, since you have been in the Department received commissions from people?—No.

632. You swear to that?—I do.

633. There was a $70 or $80 transaction with a Montreal concern?—Yes.

634. With the exception of those three transactions, you say you have never received any money in the nature of a commission, or as a personal transaction, as you put it?—Not that I remember just now, sir.

635. Do you remember sending to New York for a transit for one of the Departments?—Yes.

636. Do you remember receiving a commission upon that purchase?—No, I do not.

637. You swear you did not?—I do.

638. Was there not a cheque sent to you for commission?—No.

639. There was not?—No, sir.
640. Do you use, in your Department, artists' material?—Yes.
641. Do you keep it in stock?—Yes.
642. Where do you buy it?—We buy it in New York and London.
643. Do you buy it in Chicago?—No.
644. You never buy it in Chicago?—No.
645. Did you ever receive a commission on artists' material purchased?—No.
646. You swear to that?—I swear to it.
647. Then you have told us here to-day, of all the moneys that you have received from people from whom the Department purchased goods?—So far as I know, now—yes.
648. Remember, I am not applying it as commission, or any other way, so long as the money was received from anybody dealing with the Department?—It is all right, sir.
649. You understand the question fully?—If there was anything else I would tell you.
650. So far as you know now you have told us everything you have received?—There is no instance, and I reiterate it again, in no instance have I been remiss in my duty to the Government.
651. I am not charging that?—I am willing my action should be looked into by anybody to see whether these goods could be purchased better.
- By Mr. Chapleau :*
652. What is the amount of goods you purchase in the Stationery Department, yearly?—About $199,000. sir.
653. About $200,000?—Yes.
654. Did you ever, with the exception of some $70 you have mentioned, ask, or receive commission on goods sold?—No, sir.
655. Have you ever made any increase in prices, excepting the prices that were adopted and agreed upon in the Department, for the purchase of articles?—No, sir, and I would add to my answer that if there is the slightest doubt about it—that I have been a party to raising the prices, or buying at other than the lowest and the closest market figure—I would ask that the party should be produced.
656. Now Mr. Bronskill, have you ever acknowledged a receipt of goods from which a certain portion would have been deducted—that is giving receipts for the delivery of goods that would be short?—No, sir.
657. I do not understand very well from what you say, the facts about the small amount you mention which was given to you, or sent to you by the parties you have indicated—was this asked by you from McFarlane, or their representative, or was it a commission charged?—It was simply a commission which they were in the habit of paying—which they were in the habit of remitting to parties purchasing from them. I may tell you that it is a very common occurrence in commercial life that people who are buying have small amounts allowed to them. I do not think that this is any exception to the rule, I am in a position to say this—that in the case of this other matter it was purely and simply a business transaction entirely in the nature of a private transaction. The goods were simply purchased at the lowest possible figures, we were never in the habit of allowing discount upon this account at all.
658. You have bought from Barber and Ellis during the past year $19,490.76 worth of envelopes alone?—That is a rough estimate, but near enough for a general estimate.
659. Now let us come to something in the Department besides that. You say that there is a contract with Mr. Rolland which began during the time of your predecessor, Mr. Young, who is now dead?—Yes.
660. Do you know the time that contract lasted—the time it was renewed?—It was renewed during this year.
661. Was it renewed by the proper authority—that is by the Minister—or how has it been renewed?—I understand that there was an Order in Council.

662. It was renewed by a regular contract under an Order in Council which had been passed?—Yes.

663. The system that has been adopted in the Department, so far as the stationery is concerned, is it American or English?—It is the English system. That is in respect to the stationery supplied.

664. I think you have communicated with the stationery office in England to get information as to the best method of dealing in this respect?—I have not done so.

665. But communications were made and the system adopted?—Yes.

666. Were they made by the Queen's Printer?—Yes.

667. I mean by the Department?—Yes.

668. Will you explain if there is any superiority in that method or system, and say what the advantage for the public has been as compared with what has been done before?—So far as the English system is concerned, they buy certain articles; they have a list of them, and these articles are supplied to the different Departments, and the consequence is that by purchasing certain quantities they know exactly what they want and what they do not want.

669. They know what they want?—Yes.

670. They know what they want to get, they know what the supply will be; they do not take into the department articles that are not required and that may be put in stock and thus become depreciated in value?—Yes, there is very much less chance of there being old and useless stock.

671. And they can control their purchases very much better by knowing exactly what they want?—Yes.

672. So that it is not left to your choice, but more or less submitted by the Departments and adopted by Order in Council?—Yes. The Order in Council states that certain goods have to be supplied, and the list of goods is got from the Department, and the order is made from that list.

673. Do you state upon your oath that when these advances were made by the representatives of Barber & Ellis to you, they were strictly made in the shape of private transactions for which you held yourself responsible to them?—Yes; I say most emphatically it was a pure matter between us, and has no more connection with anything else than you have.

674. Did it make any difference as regards the duties of the office?—No, on my conscience, I have not the slightest doubt about that. It never interfered with my efficiency as an officer, or my integrity as a man.

675. There is only one case where you obtained these advances?—Yes, this particular case.

By Mr. Foster :

676. You got this advance from Mr. Perrett?—I did.

677. Did you know Mr. Perrett before you came here?—I did not. I would like to say that there are a large number of people who come to see us on business every day, and naturally we get acquainted with them, we get to know them. They are naturally hospitably inclined and would ask me to go to the hotel just as one would ask you to go to his own house. There is a certain degree of familiarity and intimacy springs up, and you cannot by any means stop this, I do not think that you ought to do so. If you do not show some consideration to these people you perhaps make the Department suffer. They are not to be looked upon in the light of bribers surely, that would be a hard thing to say.

678. In answer to my question, you say that you did not know Mr. Perrett until 1888?—No.

679. He was not an intimate friend of your family?—No.

By Sir Richard Cartwright :

680. If my memory serves me right you stated in your evidence to Mr. Lister that you received a commission from a Montreal House of the name of McFarlane & Austin?—Yes.

681. I think you also stated that the amount of that transaction was under $1,000?—Yes, I believe so.

682. And that you received from $70 to $80?—Yes.

683. Now is not $70 or $80 rather a handsome commission for a transaction under $1,000?—No, I do not think it is out of the way.

684. What amount do you allow—about 8 per cent or 9 per cent?—No.

685. You stated the transaction was under $1,000?—That amount, as a matter of fact, was for two years and not for one year. There was only one purchase.

By Mr. Lister :

686. But there are two payments?—Yes. The commission never exceeds 5 per cent in any case, and it does not amount to that on all transactions.

By Mr. Bowell :

687. I understand you to say that Messrs. McFarlane & Austin would furnish you when you wanted small orders?—Yes, they are a jobbing house, and when we run short of stock we send down there and they supply us.

688. Then it is not MaFarlane of the Canada Paper Co. that you refer to?—No.

689. It is a small concern—a jobbing house?—Yes. As a matter of fact they carry a larger miscellaneous stock than anybody else, and sometimes they have things that we cannot get from anybody else.

By Mr. Lister :

690. You said a moment ago that the commission never exceeded 5 per cent?—Not always that. Some of the goods were job lots.

691. You say that the commission never exceeded 5 per cent, and not always that?—Yes.

692. What do you mean by that—is the commission paid on the purchase?—No.

693. What do you mean by that answer, that the commission never exceeded 5 per cent?—On anything upon which a commission was allowed.

694. You have told us that a commission was never allowed?—No; pardon me.

695. Except in the case of McFarlane?—I am dealing strictly with his account.

696. Were there other cases in which a commission was allowed?—No.

By Mr. Somerville :

697. Where were you employed before you went into the Department?—In Ottawa and the Gazette Office.

698. Which Gazette Office?—Montreal.

699. And before that?—The Ottawa Free Press here. I might say, now, and it should be put in evidence that so far as that transit matter was concerned, about which you spoke, I am as certain as I am speaking to you now, that there was no commission about it. In fact, we fought, and fought and fought, as to whether the purchase money should not be returned. The transit was ordered from Stackpole Bros. by the Public Works Department. It was cash on delivery. It was ordered for the agent at Coteau Landing.

700. Did you write to them asking them how much commission they would allow?—No; I wrote to them asking them how much discount they would allow. There was a transit level wanted, and I wanted to know whether it could be purchased from them by our general agents in New York. I wrote to our general agents in New York at the same time.

By Mr. Bergeron :

701. Did you write to Mr. Lister about this matter?—No; somebody did though.

702. Do you know who it was?—I do not.

J. T. JOHNSTON, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

703. Where do you carry on business?—Toronto.

704. What is your business?—The Toronto Type Foundry.

705. Is it an incorporated company or a proprietary concern?—I am the proprietor.

706. Manufacturing type, or selling on commission?—Manufacturing, and selling on commission generally for other type founders.

707. What type companies are you agent for?—All the American type foundries.

708. Could you name one of them?—Mard, Lewis & Co., Chicago. They are my principal company, but I have all the others: Farmer, Little & Co., and James Connors & Son of New York.

709. You are general agent?—Yes; we are all agents one for another. It is the custom of the trade.

710. You carry on business in Toronto?—Yes.

711. I believe you furnish to the Government a considerable quantity of type?—Not a very large quantity I thought.

712. How much was it?—I do not remember.

713. $10,000 worth?—I fancy somewhere there. Probably a little more—not all type, but various things connected with the printing business.

714. With whom did you negotiate for the purchase of the stuff?—Mr. Senecal.

715. What position does he occupy?—I believe he is Superintendent of the Printing Bureau.

716. Did your account run on from time to time or was it one order?—Several orders.

717. Do you think that the orders in all would amount to $10,000?—Yes, or better. I do not remember the amount. I did not look it up.

718. Did you meet Mr. Senecal in Toronto, or how did you negotiate?—I called here to endeavour to get business.

719. Did you subsequently meet him in Toronto?—Several times.

720. One time particularly do you remember?—I do not remember one time particularly. He was there many times.

721. How much money did you pay him as a commission or a personal matter?—I should think you would be interested in finding out the value of the goods.

722. I have no doubt you sold the goods at the lowest value?—I made no arrangement with Mr. Senecal to pay him $1 commission.

723. Before you sold you say there was no talk about commission?—None at all.

724. No mention of it?—Never made any such arrangement with him.

725. No mention?—No mention.

726. By you or he?—By either of us.

727. How much did you pay him?—In the way of a commission?

728. Yes?—None at all.

729. How much did you pay him?—That is my affair. I do not see that I am called upon to say what I did with my money.

730. Did you pay him any money?—I paid him no commission.

731. I won't put it in the way of commission. Did you pay Mr. Senecal any money?—I decline to answer.

THE CHAIRMAN.—I think the witness must answer that question.

732. Have you had any other transactions outside of your deal respecting the Printing Bureau?—With Mr. Senecal? We have been very good friends.

733. I know that. Do I understand you to say that you had no deal with him except the Printing Bureau deal, financially?—The Printing Bureau deal was not a financial deal; it was a business transaction. I have not had any other business transactions with Mr. Senecal except what I sold to the Printing Bureau.

734. I ask you again, now, whether you paid to Mr. Senecal any money before or after the sale of the stuff to the Printing Bureau?

Mr. CHAPLEAU objected.

735. I ask you again, whether before or after the purchases by the Department through Mr. Senecal, you paid to Mr. Senecal or anybody else in the Department, any sum of money, either as a present, a loan or a commission, or in any other way you can think?—Not as a commission.

736. In any other way?—I do not care to answer that question. I consider it is an affair entirely with myself. Every business man is inclined to be just the least bit liberal to any man who gives him a good sized order, and may do something that looks to you gentlemen as serious.

The CHAIRMAN—You must answer the question.

WITNESS—I prefer you should get your information in some other way, with all due deference.

The CHAIRMAN—You must answer the question as put to you.

WITNESS—If anybody knows that I gave him any money let them produce the evidence of it.

The CHAIRMAN—The question must be answered.

WITNESS—Why don't you bring somebody else? I think I have answered the question.

The question asked by Mr. Lister was read to the witness by the stenographer.

WITNESS—My answer is, not as a commission.

737. As a present or loan or any other way?—I think this is a private matter entirely in connection with my own affairs. I think if I choose to make you a present, Mr. Lister, if I were inclined to, I might do so without it being enquired into.

738. That depends on whether I am a public official?—It would be the same to me. My money is my own.

The CHAIRMAN—You must answer the questions as put to you.

Question re-read to witness.

I do not think it is a fair question between man and man; it is not a fair question to put.

Mr. BOWELL—If Mr. Johnston refuse to answer we shall have to move that he be reported to the House.

Mr. FOSTER—I think Mr. Johnston will answer before that. That would only delay the proceedings as the answer will have to be given.

Mr. LISTER—You are making a big matter out of possibly a small one.

WITNESS—Quite so. As this is really the beginning of the investigation, why not call me a little later.

The CHAIRMAN—It is your duty to answer the question Mr. Johnston.

WITNESS—I have answered the question by saying it is my own affair what I do with my own money.

Mr. BERGIN—The witness is trifling with the Committee.

Mr. BOWELL—Rather than delay this matter any further, I move that Mr. Johnston be reported to the House for having refused to answer the question.

Mr. BERGIN—I second the motion

The CHAIRMAN—again read the question to the witness and requested an answer.

WITNESS—I say—not as a commission. I think it would be fair and reasonable for the Committee to allow me under the circumstances to consult my counsel in the matter. I think it is a matter on which there is a difference of opinion.

Mr. LISTER—I am anxious to give you every chance; stand aside for the present.

Mr. BERGIN—I think the witness should be compelled to answer the question now, and if he does not answer he should be reported to the House. Mr. Johnston had ample notice that he would be called to give evidence and as a business man he knew whether he should consult counsel or not?

WITNESS—Permit me to explain that I intended to consult counsel in this city this morning, but the train from Toronto was late, which is a most unusual thing; I did not arrive until 9 o'clock, and I had to get my breakfast and be here by 10 o'clock, so that I had no time to consult counsel.

Mr. BOWELL—I will withdraw my motion for the present.

The CHAIRMAN thereupon gave Mr. Johnston permission to retire for one hour to enable him to consult his counsel in the meantime.

JOHN HUGHES called, sworn and examined :

By Mr. Lister :

739. What position do you occupy in the Department?—3rd-class clerk.

740. What are your duties?—My duties are to examine papers when they come in, to check them off, and to bring samples to Mr. Bronskill so that he can judge as to the qualities.

741. So that all you have to do is to see that the quantity is there?—That is all.

742. You take the samples to Mr. Bronskill and if the paper corresponds with the order, it is taken into stock?—Yes.

By the Chairman :

743. Had you a copy of the invoice to check the goods with?—Yes ; I check off the goods, and if they are all right I stamp the invoice.

By Mr. Lister :

744. You check off the goods by comparing the goods with the invoice?—Yes, sir.

745. And after checking them off do you put on a certificate “Checked by J. Hughes,” as appears in these exhibits?—Yes.

746. Then your duty is to see that the goods correspond in quantity with the invoice?—Yes, sir.

747. And Mr. Bronskill's duty is to see that the quality corresponds with the sample?—Yes ; that the quality corresponds with the sample.

748. You being satisfied as to the quantity, and Mr. Bronskill having informed you as to the quality, you stamp it off in this way, “Checked by J. Hughes?”—Yes, sir.

749. Is that the custom and practice of the Department?—Yes, sir ; it has been for a number of years.

750. Do you recollect one single instance in the last three years where that practice has been deviated from?—To my memory I do not remember. I know of a case where the paper has not been up to the standard, and the invoice has been laying in abeyance for perhaps two months until the matter was disposed of.

751. How many cases of that kind do you remember?—I think about two.

752. What were they?—One case, I remember, was goods supplied by the Canada Paper Company. It was held over for a week or ten days, but they were finally “checked” by me.

753. Do you remember a single case in the Department where you did not “check” the goods?—I have heard of one, but I could not recollect about it.

754. What was that?—It was a supply of paper from the New England Paper Company.

755. Look at that account (Exhibit No. 1)?—My stamp is not on that.

756. Why was it not stamped by you according to the practice of your Department?—I cannot say, sir. The only thing I can say is, that it may have occurred that the paper has not been up to the standard.

757. If the paper had gone into stock, should it not have been stamped by you?—Not necessarily.

758. Is there another case in which you know that the stamp was not put on the invoice in this way?—Not that I am aware of.

759. The practice of your Department is to have the invoice stamped by you and to see that the goods have been received?—Yes ; to have it stamped to show that the goods have passed through my hands.

760. If the invoice is not stamped by you, would the inference be that the goods were not received?—It might be in this way. I receive the goods of the Paper Company, and the paper not being up to the standard that was required, and not according to the samples, I would take the invoice to Mr. Bronskill.

761. Then you would cheque it when it was taken in stock?—Yes.

762. It would be merely in suspense for some time?—Yes.

763. And when the Department decided to take the goods they would be checked by you?—Yes; that would be the usual practice.

764. Can you undertake to say that the goods ever went into stock?—Yes; they went into stock.

765. Why did you not stamp the account?—That I cannot say.

766. Is there any reason at all in your mind, or can you remember why that invoice was not stamped when it was decided to take the goods into stock?—I have no idea.

767. You have no recollection?—I have no recollection of Mr. Bronskill returning the invoice to me at all; but I have a distinct recollection of the paper coming in.

768. Were you ever asked to stamp this?—No; not to my knowledge.

769. Did you ever ask to stamp it yourself?—No, sir.

770. This paper stayed for some time, I believe?—Well, the paper was in our possession for some time before it was used.

771. For what reason?—I do not know.

772. Is there any book in the Department showing it was taken into stock?—Yes.

773. Was it made up, do you know?—I suppose it was made up.

774. It was not made up by you?—No.

By Mr. Chapleau :

775. To the best of your recollection you say that the invoice was brought to you with the paper?—With the samples.

776. And there was a discussion regarding the samples, and you gave the invoice to Mr. Bronskill?—I suppose that must have been the way.

777. You see his writing there in his note—that is his handwriting?—Yes; that is Mr. Bronskill's handwriting.

778. And the inference is that you gave him the invoice and he has not returned it?—Yes.

779. If he had returned it, it would have been stamped?—I suppose so.

780. Will you swear positively that this paper was taken into stock?—Yes.

By Mr. Landerkin :

781. How did you know the paper came into stock?—I have taken it and sent it up for the different orders for which it was required.

782. Are you sure of the quantity?—I am fairly sure. I gauged it up within a few quires of the quantities.

783. But you did not take it in the usual way?—No.

784. And why did you not?—I cannot really account for it. I have checked all the invoices coming through my hands, and in this case I cannot say why I did not check it.

By the Chairman :

785. You are sure that this was the identical paper?—Yes.

By Mr. McMullen :

786. The Secretary of State suggested that you might have sent the invoices with the samples? Do you often do that?—No.

787. And if you do not check the stock taken in, the samples would go to Mr. Bronskill?—Yes.

788. And they are returned?—Mr. Bronskill generally returns the samples at once, and I receive them.

789. Did he do that in connection with this transaction?—This is so long ago I really do not know.

Mr. BRONSKILL.—This invoice came to me with the sample of the paper. The paper was not in accordance with the sample, and I kept the invoice and put it in my basket, and it remained there until such time as the requisite authority for taking the paper into stock was obtained, then afterwards it was approved. It was not given back to Mr. Hughes, because there was no necessity for doing so. I knew that it had come, and it simply lay in abeyance. As soon as I got the Secretary of State's authority it was attached to the voucher, and there it remained.

Miss A. M. PARENT called, sworn and examined:

By Mr. Lister:

790. Where do you live?—In Montreal.

791. In what business are you?—I am a book-keeper.

792. For whom?—For the New England Paper Company.

793. How long have you held that position, Miss Parent?—For four years.

794. I suppose this is the account of the New England Paper Company?—Yes.

795. Both of these accounts?—Yes.

796. This account for the Department of Public Printing and Stationery for paper, $1,074.15, was made out by you?—Yes.

797. You were the book-keeper for the company at the time it was rendered?—Yes.

798. And you were book-keeper at the time it was paid?—Yes.

799. You know Mr. Berthiaume of La Presse, Montreal?—Yes.

800. Do you know whether the "New England Paper Company" held his promissory notes for an amount?—Well there was some private business for La Presse?

801. In the shape of promissory notes?—Yes.

802. The company furnished La Presse with paper?—that is the newspaper?—Yes.

803. And he became indebted to the company for the paper so supplied?—Yes.

804. To the amount of $10,000?—Yes.

805. You remember getting the money for this account?—Yes, I do.

806. Was it promissory notes that the Paper Company held from La Presse or any portion of it?—Yes. The money due by La Presse for the "New England Company" some of it was promissory notes.

807. The notes were made by whom?—By Mr. Berthiaume.

808. The editor of La Presse?—Yes.

809. Endorsed by any body?—Yes.

810. By whom?—By the Hon. J. A. Chapleau.

811. How much were they do you remember?—They were $8,831 at the time they made the settlement with La Presse.

812. Now Miss Parent, I want to ask you one more question. Can you say whether any portion of this money received from the Government was applied on account of these notes or any of them?—No—none of it.

813. There was no payment made to Mr. Berthiaume?—No, not a cent.

814. Out of this or anything else?—No. Not a cent was ever paid to Mr. Berthiaume?

815. Nor anything credited on these notes?—Not a cent.

816. Not a cent credited on the notes?—No.

817. Was any allowance made to him?—No, never.

818. Have you examined the books and accounts lately?—No, of course, I have looked into them.

819. Was there any credit in these books?—No, there was never any credit.

By Mr. Bergeron :

820. Do you know as a matter of fact that Mr. Berthiaume has paid all the notes that he owed to the company?—Yes, every cent of them.

By Mr. Lister :

821. Were these notes charged to Mr. Berthiaume in the books?—Yes, they were charged to "La Presse, T. Berthiaume, editor."

822. That is the way they were charged?—Yes.

823. And there was no credit to him at all on this account?—No; that was not mixed at all with it.

824. There was no commission?—There was not a cent of commission paid to anybody on the amount.

825. You know the agreement made between Mr. Berthiaume and the New England Paper Company?—Yes.

826. There was never a cent paid on these notes in connection with the transaction I have inquired about?—No.

827. They were paid in full?—Yes.

828. Irrespective of anything that might be coming from this?—Yes.

ANDRE SENECAI, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

829. What position do you occupy in the Government?—I am Superintendent of the Printing Bureau.

830. What is your salary?—Now; my salary is $1,950.

831. How long have you been employed in connection with the Bureau?—For four years.

832. Since the buildings were commenced?—Yes, when they commenced to build.

833. Had you more or less work to do in connection with the purchase of type and presses and all the plant required for the establishment?—Yes; I am the man who bought the whole material.

834. You seem to have bought a good deal of it in the States?—Yes, sir, quite an amount.

835. I believe you applied to Hoe & Company about presses?—Yes.

836. Who was with you on that occasion?—I think I was alone.

837. You swear nobody went with you?—I think nobody went with me.

838. Who did you see?—I think I saw a man representing the firm, named Carpenter.

839. Did you see Hoe & Company on more than one occasion?—I think I saw that gentleman twice.

840. You did not buy the presses from Hoe & Company?—No.

841. What other company did you buy from?—The Potter Co.

842. Also of New York?—Yes.

843. And the presses were purchased at what prices?—I do not exactly remember now.

844. $40,257?—Something in that neighbourhood. I thought it was $39,000. I am not sure.

845. Have you bought any presses since?—No, sir.

846. How many did you buy from Potter & Co.?—I bought sixteen presses.

847. You also purchased the type?—Yes.

848. And in fact, everything that is in the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

849. You bought type from Mr. Patterson of Toronto?—Yes.

850. He was agent for what company?—Miller & Richards.

851. Where do they do business?—In Edinburgh, Scotland.

852. $66,542.36—that is the total amount of type bought from them?—I do not know the amount.

853. You bought in 1887, $37,000; in 1888-89, $27,000; in 1890, $767, and in 1890-91, $1,000, amounting all to $66,542. Would that be about accurate?—I think so.

854. Have you bought anything from Miller & Richards since?—I do not think we bought much since. Only a few sorts of type.

855. How much commission did they pay you?—Commission?

856. Yes?—They never paid me any commission at all.

857. How much money did you receive from either Miller & Richards, or from R. L. Patterson?—I never received any money from Miller & Richards.

858. How much did you receive from R. L. Patterson, their agent?—I did not receive anything from Mr. Patterson, on account of the sales or any transaction.

859. I am not asking you about that. I simply want to know how much money you received, either at the time of the purchase or before it, or since, from Mr. Patterson, let it be of any kind you like to put?—I never received any money when I bought a thing, and there was no promise or anything of the kind.

860. There was no promise when you bought and there was nothing of the kind?—No.

861. How much did you receive when you bought from Mr. Patterson?—That I cannot tell.

862. Did you receive any money?—That I cannot answer.

863. What?—I cannot answer to that. I say, I never received any money from Mr. Patterson, on account of my transactions between the Miller & Richards Co.

864. I want to know whether you received any money from Mr. Patterson, when you made your purchases? I do not care upon what account it was paid?—Well, I decline to answer that, that is a private matter. That is a matter, supposing I would have received money, I do not think it is fair to answer that.

865. You have seen Mr. Johnston, within the last few minutes, have you not?—I saw him here.

866. And you went out with him, did you not?—No, sir.

867. Did you not see him?—I saw him.

868. You were talking to him?—I was talking to him in the corridor.

869. About this matter?—No, sir.

870. Not about this evidence?—I just met him.

871. You had no conversation with him?—No, sir.

872. Then, how much did you receive from Mr. Patterson, either as a loan, a present, a commission, or anything else; if you like to put it as a gift, or anything else?—Well, I do not think I am bound to answer that question.

The CHAIRMAN.—You have to answer the question, Mr. Sénécal, but you can make any explanation you chose afterwards. The other witnesses have been asked similar questions and the Committee have decided these questions must be answered.

The WITNESS.—The question is, if I received money from Mr. Patterson?

Mr. LISTER—Yes?—Sometimes I did get money from Mr. Patterson. He is an old friend of mine, but there is no question about any consideration for the purchase.

873. How much money did you receive from him?—I cannot tell.

874. How often did you receive money from him?—I cannot tell that, I do not remember.

875. Have you received $5,000 from him?—Oh no, sir.

876. You swear to that?—Yes, sir.

877. Have you received $4,000?—I do not know the amount, I never kept any track.

878. How long had you been purchasing from Mr. Patterson, or from Miller & Richards through Mr. Patterson, before he made you the first loan, as we will call it?—I do not remember.

879. Has he paid you any money from time to time, during the past four years?—Well, I cannot tell. He gave me some money now and then, but I do not remember in what year, and I could not tell.

880. He gave you some money now and then, but you cannot tell?—No.
881. How many payments did he make to you?—I do not know.
882. Five, six or seven?—I do not remember.
883. What was the largest sum he ever gave you at one time?—I cannot tell.
884. Did he ever give you $1,000 in one payment?—That I do not remember at all; I do not think so.
885. Will you swear that in the past four years, he has not paid you, at least $5,000?—No, sir.
886. You won't swear to that?—I say I will swear, I do not think and I am sure, I did not receive that, but I cannot remember; I never kept any account.
887. Do you remember where he paid you this money or any of it?—I do not.
888. Did he pay it to you in your own office?—No, I do not think it.
889. You swear he never paid it to you in your office?—No.
890. Did he pay it to you in Ottawa?—That I cannot tell.
891. Did he pay it or any of it to you in Toronto?—I think so.
892. How much?—I do not know.
893. $1,000?—I do not know.
894. More?—I do not remember the amount he gave me.
895. Will you swear it was not as much as $1,000?—I cannot swear to the amount at all, because I do not remember it.
896. How long was it after you bought this $66,000 worth of stuff that he made you the first payment?—I can hardly tell.
897. Miller & Richard, $37,117, was the first order. At the time you gave that order or shortly afterwards, did he not pay you a sum of money?—I do not remember that, because this is the total amount, but he got paid by small payments.
898. You cannot tell us how much he paid you in Toronto?—No, sir, I cannot.
899. You cannot tell us where the payments were made?—Well, as I told you, I think there was some made in Toronto.
900. And where were the rest made?—I do not remember.
901. There was some made in Toronto, but you do not remember where the others were made?—No.
902. You swear you did not get $1,000 or more, in Toronto, in one payment?—I could not swear to that because I do not remember.
903. Did you give him promissory notes for the money you got from him?—No, sir.
904. Some of the money was given four years ago?—I think so.
905. How much of it would be four years ago, a quarter or a fifth?—I do not remember the amounts, so it is hard for me to tell.
906. Was anybody present when he paid you the moneys?—No, sir, I do not remember.
907. There was nobody present?—No.
908. Did you give him any writing at all to show that you had got money from him?—I do not think so.
909. Did he ask you for a promissory note?—No, sir.
910. Did you tell him you wanted to borrow money from him?—That I do not know. I think I borrowed money from him, if I remember well, in some instances.
911. How much do you think you borrowed from him?—I think $25 sometimes, and $10.
912. Did you give him any note for that, or ever pay it back?—Yes, sir.
913. Which was it the $20 or the $10?—I do not remember exactly the amounts. Sometimes I was short of money when I was there, and sometimes when he was short of money here, he would come to me and say: "give me $10."
914. Then you think you paid back these little borrowings?—Yes, sir, I think so.
915. But the large amounts you have never given any notes for?—Not to my knowledge.

916. You would remember, of course if you had given a note?—Has he not ever written to you demanding payment of these four or five thousand dollars from you?—I never said he gave me $3,000 or $4,000; I never said anything of the kind. I said I had some money from Mr. Patterson, that is all.

917. I ask you to tell this Committee how much money you received from Mr. Patterson during the past four years?—As I told you before I do not remember the amounts.

918. Would it be $3,000?—That I cannot tell, no more than $10 or $25. I do not remember the amounts, but I know it was small amounts.

919. Did he not give you $5,000?—No, sir.

920. You are positive about that?—I am positive about that.

921. Well how is it you are not positive as to the lesser amounts?—The amount is so large. It is easier to notice and remember $5,000 than $25.

922. Would it be $3,000?—I do not say anything, I do not remember.

923. To the best of your judgment would it be $3,000? What is your recollection?—No, there was nothing of the kind, I do not remember the amount, but I am sure there was no $3,000.

924. What was the biggest payment he ever made to you at one time?—I do not recollect it.

925. Would it be $5,000?—I do not remember at all.

926. Did you keep all the money he gave you yourself? Did you divide it up with anybody?—I kept it myself.

927. So, that, what your undertake to say to this committee is, you cannot tell whether the amount you received from Patterson was $3,000 or not?—No sir, I cannot.

928. You kept no account of it?—No.

929. You do not know when the first payment was made, and you do not know when the last payment was made?—No, sir, I do not.

930. You have given no promissory notes?—No, sir.

931. You gave no acknowledgement of any kind?—I do not remember that at all.

932. He has never asked you for the money?—No, sir.

933. And it has been spread over 4 years?—Well, spread over about 4 years from the beginning.

934. When did he give you the last money?—I do not remember that at all.

935. Would it be a few months ago?—Oh no.

936. Would it be a year ago?—It is pretty hard for me to remember that; the first two years, I think he gave me money.

937. How much?—I cannot tell.

938. You cannot guess?—I cannot guess.

939. You cannot form any opinion at all?—No.

By the Chairman :

940. Was it under or over $1,000?—It is under $1,000 sure.

By Mr. Lister :

941. The first two years it was under $1,000?—No, I do not say the first two years.

942. The first time?—I do not recollect.

943. You said it was under $1,000 to the Chairman?—I said I never received any such big amount.

944. When he asked you if it was under $1,000 you said it was under that amount?—Of course, $25.

945. We are not talking about $25 but about larger payments?—I said I do not remember that; I did not receive any thousand or five hundred.

946. How much did you receive?—I cannot tell you, as I never kept any account.

947. Did you ever receive $3,000?—I am not positive about that.
948. You cannot say whether the total amount you received was $3,000 or not?—I cannot remember.
949. Will you swear it was not $4,000?—I cannot, because I do not recollect.
950. Will you swear it was not $5,000 you got altogether?—No, sir, I cannot.
951. You also bought from Mr. Johnston?—Yes, sir.
952. What sort of a present did Mr. Johnston make to you?—He never made me any present.
953. Did he giye you any money?—He gave me some money now and then when I was short of money, but not on this.
954. Of course, not on this. But I want to know how much money he gave?—I do not remember.
955. Would it be $500?—That I cannot tell. Really I do not remember that. It was just merely amounts of $10, $15 or $25 at times, sometimes more.
956. You say to this committee, you are not able to give even an approximate idea of the amount you got from Mr. Johnston?—No, sir, I cannot.
957. How long has Johnston been paying you money?—I do not remember that.
958. Four years?—I do not remember the date he gave it to me.
959. Has it been spread over 4 years?—No.
960. How many years would it be spread over?—It was in the beginning I think when I gave him some orders—it was after that.
961. How long after that would it be?—5 or 6 months or a year.
962. Was it not very shortly after?—No.
963. Did you go and ask him for the money?—Yes, sir, I did.
964. Where?—At his own place.
965. In Toronto?—Yes.
966. How much did you ask him for?—I do not remember the amount, but I told him I was short of money and he would oblige me by giving me some money.
967. Was that a large payment?—No, sir.
968. What was the largest payment you got from him?—That I cannot tell.
969. Did you ever get $100 at one time?—That I cannot tell.
970. Did you ever get $200 at one time?—I do not think I did.
971. Were all the payments made to you in Toronto?—That I cannot tell.
972. You swear you do not remember?—No, sir.
973. Were not some of them made in Ottawa?—They might, but I do not recollect.
974. You never gave a promissory note for any of these payments?—No, sir.
975. You never gave any acknowledgment at all?—No, sir.
976. And he has never asked you to pay him back?—No, sir.
977. And you have never sent him a note?—Never.
978. And you never made any payments to him on account?—That I do not recollect.
979. Will you swear to this committee that you did not receive as much as $1,500?—I could not swear to that amount; I have got no idea of the amount he gave me.
980. You expected to pay it back, of course?—That is my own business.
981. Did you or did you not?—I do not know; it might be, when the time will come.
982. Well, the time has not come yet, Mr. Senecal, evidently?—No; not yet.
983. You never kept an account of all the money you received?—No, sir.
984. No account at all?—No.
985. And you cannot tell this committee, cannot give any idea how much you received, whether $1,000, or $1,500, or $2,000?—I have got no idea.
986. You are in control of the Department down there, you have told us?—Yes.
987. Do you tax the workmen, or any of them, $1 a week to keep them on?—No.

988. No such thing has ever taken place?—No.
989. Will you swear to that?—Yes.
990. Do you know the Dominion Type Foundry at Montreal?—Yes.
991. Did you ever buy type from them?—Yes.
992. Do you remember how much?—I cannot say exactly.
993. Forty-seven thousand dollars worth altogether?—Yes.
- Mr. CHAPLEAU—$50,000 worth.
994. And did you deal with the manager, Mr. Crosby, of the Dominion Type Foundry?—Yes.
995. Did you ever write Mr. Crosby a letter stating that you would give him a contract for supplying type for a certain commission named in the letter?—I do not remember.
996. Will you swear that you did not write such a letter?—I do not think I ever did.
997. You did not write such a letter?—I do not remember doing it.
998. How much commission, presents or money—I do not care on what line you put it—did you get from Mr. Crosby or the Dominion Type Foundry or any person on your behalf?—I never got a cent from the Dominion Type Foundry.
999. How much did you get from Mr. Crosby?—I never had a cent.
1000. Did you never borrow anything?—I think I had two or three things to meet. There was $100, I think.
1001. Did you never get anything from the Dominion Type Foundry or any person for them?—No.
1002. Did you know a man named Smith?—No, sir.
1003. You never got any money from the Dominion Type Foundry?—No, sir; never.
1004. Nor from any person in connection with the foundry?—No.
1005. You never wrote a letter offering to give them the contract for the supply of the Bureau if you got a commission?—I don't remember that. I don't think I ever wrote such a letter.
1006. Did you deal with the Polson Iron Works?—I did.
1007. Did you ever get any money from them in any way or from their agents?—They had a contract for an engine. I may say as regards the Polsons', I never asked any commission from the Polson Company.
1008. Did you ever ask for any money, any present or gift or anything else?—Well, about two years ago or perhaps I think it may have been about a year ago, I had a little present from Mr. Polson himself—one of the firm.
1009. How much was it?—I do not remember the amount.
1010. Was it $1,000?—No.
1011. How much—$500?—Less than that.
1012. How much?—I cannot remember.
1013. This was about a year ago, surely you can remember somewhere near the amount—was it under $500 or $400 or $300?—I do not remember.
1014. Where was this little present given to you?—Really I do not know. I think it was in Toronto. I am not sure about it.
1015. Was it in their office?—No, sir.
1016. Was it at the hotel?—I do not remember.
1017. Was it in cash?—Yes, it was in cash.
1018. You do not know where it was paid?—I know it was in Toronto, but I do not know where.
1019. Was it in big or little bills?—I cannot tell.
1020. Was it on the street he handed it to you?—I do not remember.
1021. It was only a year ago, Mr. Senécal?—Yes, about a year ago last—
1022. I do not care about the date; I am asking you about the place.—I think it was somewhere, where we had lunch together.
1023. Where was that?—I do not remember where.
1024. Did you lunch at Mr. Polson's house?—No.

1025. You have no recollection of where the payment was made?—No.
 1026. But you are sure it was in cash and not in cheques?—Yes.
 1027. Do you know Mr. Perrett, of the Barber & Ellis Company?—Yes.
 1028. Did he ever pay you any money?—No.
 1029. Did he ever lend you any?—I do not think so.
 1030. Will you swear that he did not?—I do not remember; I do not think that he ever did.
 1031. You do not think that he ever gave you any?—No.
 1032. Did you ever get any from Mr. Barber or from Mr. Ellis?—No, sir.
 1033. Do you know Mr. Montgomery, of Montgomery & Woods?—Yes.
 1034. Did you ever get money from them in that way?—No.
 1035. They never gave you a commission nor lent you any money?—No.
 1036. Do you know what business they are in?—I have got a few things from them. They are ship chandlers, or something of that kind.
 1037. Do you know Mr. Blackhall?—Yes.
 1038. Did you ever get any money from him?—No.
 1039. Did you ever borrow any money from him?—I might have borrowed a few dollars, that is all, if I did I do not remember, but I do not think I did borrow money from Mr. Blackhall.
 1040. You do not think you did?—No sir.

Mr. J. T. JOHNSON recalled and further examined :—

By the Chairman :

1041. You were asked a question by Mr. Lister which you did not answer. I will read the shorthand writer's notes:—"Q. I ask you again whether before or after the purchase by the Department through Mr. Senécal, you paid to Mr. Senécal or anybody else in the Department any sums of money either as a present, a loan, a commission or in any other way you think of?—A. Not as commission. Q. Was it paid as a loan or gift or in any other way?—A. I think this is a private matter entirely in connection with my own affairs. I think if I chose to make you a present, Mr. Lister, if I were inclined, I might do so, without the matter being inquired into; the question being read the witness refused to say more, than "not as commission."

1042. Now, since you have heard Mr. Senécal's admission will you say anything further?—I have heard Mr. Senécal's examination, it is about as he said.

By Mr. Lister :

1043. Were you in during the whole of Mr. Senécal's examination?—I was not.

1044. Now will you tell me how much Mr. Senécal received from you?—I could not exactly tell you, I did not keep any track of the matter.

1045. I only want an approximate amount to the best of your recollection and belief?—It would be over $1,000.

1046. Paid to him at different times?—Yes.

1047. Were the payments made in Toronto or in Ottawa, or in both places?—They were made in Toronto.

1048. They were made in Toronto?—Yes; I think possibly there might have been one of them made here.

1049. The whole amount would be over $1,000?—Yes; I do not know the exact figure. I could not tell you how much; if I could fish it out of the books, I might be able to give it more definitely.

1050. Were they made in your office?—They were made at different places.

1051. You never took any note of them? You never intended to recover them back?—I never expected to get them back.

By Mr. Bergin :

1052. How much did the percentage on this represent?—Well, there was no question of percentage or commission about the matter. Mr. Sénécal said he was hard up, and asked me if he could have some money and I let him have some.

1053. Is that the way you usually do with customers when they tell you that?—It is the custom of the wholesale, many times to let customers have money.

By Mr. Foster :

1054. Did this transaction take place after you had supplied the material?—Yes.

1055. Was there any question as to your giving Mr. Sénécal anything, or his asking anything from you as a condition of purchase?—Not at all—nothing in the way of commission or conditional on giving the order.

1056. That is, in furnishing material for the Bureau and receiving your payment for it, you had no thought or consideration of anything that you were to give Mr. Sénécal or anybody else?—That is the way the matter stood.

1057. Your prices were all business prices?—Yes, and very low in all cases.

By Mr. Bergeron :

1058. The Government did not pay any more?—I considered I was a loser.

By the Chairman :

1059. How did the prices paid by the Government compare with the prices paid by the large Toronto dailies?—I have sold to the Government cheaper. They were large lines, and we could afford to make them a little cheaper than goods out of stock.

By Mr. Lister :

1060. The first order you appear to have taken was for $961. That was in 1887-88. Was there any payment made at that time?—How do you mean?

1061. Have your payments spread over four years?—They were spread over—I cannot exactly tell you. It would be from the time I first received money from the Department.

1062. It appears that in 1887-88 you sold $961.17; then in 1888-89, $7,122.89; then in 1890 only $140.42? I do not know, of course, what your sales for 1891 up to this time are.—We have had no orders from the Department for some time. That is in connection with plant, and they are pretty well stocked up.

1063. What payments were made before 1888-89?—I never paid him anything in advance.

1064. But your first order was in 1887-88?—Yes.

1065. You made him a payment after that?—I gave him whatever money he asked me for.

1066. It would be after that?—Yes.

1067. Would it be before you got your large order of $7,122?—Yes, before, I think it was.

1068. Then in 1888-89 you got an order of $7,122, and your recollection is that it would be before that large order that the money was given?—Yes, but not at all as a condition.

1069. I am not saying that.—The matter was purely voluntary on my part. I did not need to do it unless I chose.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM,
THURSDAY, 27th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. Wallace in the Chair.

THE CHAIRMAN.—The first business to be taken up this morning will be the Department of Printing and Stationery. I may say that I have received a letter from Mr. Sénécal, which I will read:—

(Translation.)

“OTTAWA, 24th August, 1891.

“CLARKE WALLACE, Esq., M.P.,

“Chairman, Public Accounts Committee.

“SIR,—I have held myself at the disposal of your Committee for several weeks, contrary to the formal prescription of my doctor, in order to furnish all desirable information as to the purchases and as to the expenses of the Government Printing Office. I should have been able in one sitting to have given that information, and immediately thereafter to have taken the rest I needed. But I see that the Committee are not anxious to secure that information. I can no longer delay complying with the doctor's orders.

“It would have been easy to convince the Committee that all the contracts were honestly and scrupulously made and that no commission or advantage for myself or for others was stipulated for or taken into consideration in any of them. It would have been easy to prove that (a thing of rare occurrence) the purchases were made for the Government at lower prices than any private individual could have made them for himself. But that was not, it seems, what the Committee wanted.

“According to my understanding of the law—the Civil Service Act—as also the oath taken by the employees—forbids the receiving from the Government of any other remuneration than the regular salary, but it does not forbid, it cannot forbid, testimonials of esteem and of cordial relations from friend to friend, and under these circumstances the system of low spying and vile, anonymous informing, now so freely resorted to, is of no utility. But the contrary opinion seems to prevail in your Committee and elsewhere, and I have tendered my resignation.

“I have worked often—very often—late into the night to make the National Printing Office what it is, and my work will stand as my answer to the calumniators and fanatics who have sought my ruin.

“Your humble servant,
(Sgd.) “A. SENÉCAL.”

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—In connection with the letter which has just been read from the Superintendent of Printing, I may say I have had no communication with Mr. Sénécal, nor even with his family, and did not even know that such a letter would be sent to the Chairman of the Committee. In justice, however, to a man who is absent, and against whom I suppose it is necessary that the ordinary proceedings should be taken to force his attendance here, I wish to state this: On the 2nd of August, Mr. Sénécal sent to the head of his Department this letter:—

“OTTAWA, 2nd August, 1891.

“Hon. J. A. CHAPLEAU,
“Secretary of State.

“SIR,—I have had the honour to send you on the 29th ult., the certificate of Dr. Church ordering me immediate rest, on account of the illness of which I suffer since the grievous assault committed on my person last fall.

" I have arranged the business of my Department in view of my absence. I have waited here since fifteen days from the time you called me back from my statutory holidays.

" Your most obedient servant,
(Signed) " A. SENÉCAL."

The letter is dated the 2nd August. Since then Mr. Senécal has asked for leave of absence, and his application has been referred, as generally such demands are referred, to the Treasury Board and has not been dealt with, for the very obvious reason that the Government, the Treasury Board and the Head of the Department did not want to give leave of absence under the circumstances of this enquiry. I may state that the certificate to which Mr. Senécal alludes in that letter applying for leave of absence was this :—

" OTTAWA, 29th July, 1891.

" Hon. Mr. CHAPLEAU,
" Secretary of State.

" SIR,—Mr. Senécal has returned but little improved by his too short vacation. In his present condition of health it is imperative that rest and change be secured with as little delay as is consistent with departmental requirements. Failing in this course, he places his recovery, even his life, in jeopardy.

" Yours very truly,
" C. R. CHURCH, M.D."

As I stated, that demand for leave of absence which was submitted with the certificate of the Doctor to the Treasury Board, was kept in abeyance under the present circumstances. I wish it to be well understood, as I stated before, I know nothing about the whereabouts of Mr. Senécal. I do not want to justify his action in writing a letter, or his leaving. I only think it is just for an absent man, to state what I know to be the case, and inform the Committee about the application which had been made, and is still pending, before the Treasury Board.

Mr. LISTER.—Has his resignation been accepted ?

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—It could not be, you know very well. He has been suspended, and we cannot accept a resignation under such circumstances.

A. W. CROIL called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1070. Mr. Croil, where do you live ?—Toronto.

1071. What is your business ?—I am proprietor of the National Electrotype Company of Toronto.

1072. Are you President of the Company ?—No ; it is my own business.

1073. I suppose you have officers ? You are incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act ?—Well, we were when we started, but not now.

1074. It is your own business, then ?—Yes.

1075. Do you know Mr. Senécal ?—Yes, sir.

1076. How long have you know him ?—Two or three years, I think.

1077. Have you, during the two or three years, had any business dealings with him ?—Yes, sir. I have sold him some plant for a Chicago house, which I suppose were invoiced from that house. I was agent for a house in Chicago.

1078. You were agent for a house in Chicago, and sold him plant from that house ?—Yes, sir.

1079. Will you tell the Committee the value of the plant supplied ?—Well, I could not tell exactly.

1080. But approximatively ?—Probably $2,500.

1081. What firm in Chicago did you sell these goods for ?—W. J. Ostrander.

1082. Did you, during those two, or three, or four years, sell any further goods for Ostrander or anybody else ?—None, excepting my own, sir.

1083. And what was the value of the goods sold by you, approximately—Oh, probably $1,500.

1084. Then are the Committee to understand that the total dealings between you and Senécal, as agent, and for yourself, during this whole time, amounted to $4,000?—About that amount, sir.

1085. How were you first brought into contact with Mr. Senécal?—I was introduced to him by somebody, I don't remember who.

1086. In Ottawa or in Toronto?—Toronto, I think.

1087. That was your first acquaintance with him?—Yes, sir.

1088. How long was it after your introduction to him, that this order to Ostrander was given?—It might be two or three months, sir.

1089. Two or three months after?—Yes, sir.

1090. How much, if anything, did you or Ostrander give to Mr. Senécal in the way of commission, a gift, a gratuity, or any other way?—Well, I could not say, sir. He got some money from me now and again—small sums; I don't think that probably it would be more than $150 altogether.

1091. Not more than $150 altogether?—No, sir.

1092. Where were those payments made?—I think in Toronto.

1093. Was there anything said at all, or was there any other understanding, at the time that this order was given, or before it was filled, that Mr. Senécal should receive something?—No, sir.

1094. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

1095. How did you come to give him this money then?—Well, he would come in to see me and tell me he was a little hard up, and ask me for a little money, and I gave it to him.

1096. Did you take any note?—No, sir, no note.

1097. Did you make a charge against him?—No, I did not.

1098. Did you ever expect to get it back?—No.

1099. It was just a gift?—That was all, sir.

1100. It was throwing a sprat to catch a herring, I suppose?—Well, my business with the Department was very small.

1101. I see it was only $4,000?—Well, $4,000. I was agent for that man in Chicago, and of course he paid me commission for selling goods as his agent.

1102. Did you divide your commission?—No, sir.

1103. But you undertake to swear the amount paid Senécal during those three or four years, would not exceed $150?—By myself, yes, sir.

1104. Those goods, I understand you to say, were for the Printing Bureau?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Foster :

1105. What kind of goods?—They were electrotype machinery.

By Mr. Lister :

1106. You know the Potter Company of New York, I believe?—Yes, sir; I do, very well, indeed.

1107. Have you acted as their agent in Canada at all?—I have.

1108. What is the business of the Potter Company?—Making printing presses.

1109. And I suppose you know that the Printing Bureau bought some of those presses from them?—I understand they did, sir.

1110. I suppose you have seen the presses in the Bureau?—I have, yes.

1111. Were you interested in any way in the purchase of those presses. Did you go to New York?—Not in the slightest. I did not know of it.

1112. You never knew of it at all?—I never knew of it until the order was given, and the agent told me it had been given—Mr. McElroy, the representative of the Potter Press Company.

1113. McElroy lives in Toronto?—No, sir; New York.

1114. Then you knew nothing about the purchase of those presses until McElroy informed you they had been bought?—Yes, sir; that is all I know about it.

1115. And you know the presses are there?—Yes, sir.

1116. Was any commission paid to you in connection with those presses?—Not one farthing. All the business I had with them was simply at Toronto, selling presses there to whoever might want to buy them.

1117. Did you speak to Senécal about purchasing from the Potter Company?—No, sir.

1118. You never mentioned the Potter Company to Senécal?—No, sir.

1119. Do you know, or have you been informed, as to whether Senécal received any money from the Potter Company?—I have not, sir.

1120. You have never received any information?—Never.

1121. From any body?—No, sir.

1122. No person has ever told you anything about it?—No.

1123. And you never heard anything about his receiving commission?—Never, sir.

1124. And you say, moreover, that before the purchases from you, or before the purchases from the Ostrander Company, there was no arrangement you should pay Senécal commission?—No, sir.

1125. No arrangement at all?—No arrangement.

1126. What you did was simply to give him this money because he told you he was hard up?—That was all.

1127. And you say your payments, in all, amounted to about $150?—That is all.

1128. That is all you know, nothing more?—That is all.

By Mr. Foster :

1129. As regards the prices for this plant and these articles which you sold to Mr. Senécal: Were they the usual market prices?—I think so. I have the same machinery myself. I have a large place and that is the reason I suppose Mr. Senécal came to see my place and got the same machinery. It is very good machinery.

1130. The prices were, in your opinion, as reasonable as you charge to any other buyer?—Yes.

1131. Is it your practice to loan money or give money to parties to whom you make these considerable sales?—No. Sometimes we will give a little, but it is not the custom.

1132. In giving him some money, because he was hard up, it was not the sole instance in which you have done the same?—No.

1133. That is, it was customary?—Yes.

1134. You said in your evidence that no mention of commission or presents was made before the purchase?—None at all.

1135. And it had no influence upon the price?—Not the slightest.

By Mr. Somerville :

1136. Were the goods sold at the usual list prices?—I think so.

1137. Are you positive?—I cannot say unless I look at the list.

1138. Did you allow a discount?—No.

1139. Is it customary to allow a discount?—No.

1140. What? Not customary to allow a trade discount?—Yes.

1141. You got cash for these goods?—Yes.

1142. Did you allow a cash discount?—No.

1143. Then you did not follow the usual course?—The bills were sent in and certified to and paid. That is all I know about it.

1144. Mr. Senécal did not ask for a discount?—No.

R. L. PATTERSON, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

1145. I believe you are the agent of the Miller & Richards Type Foundry of Edinburgh?—Yes.

1146. You carry on business in the city of Toronto?—Yes.

1147. I notice by a return brought down here that Miller & Richards appear to have supplied type to the Printing Bureau, up to 1890-91, to the extent of $66,542. Was there any bill subsequent to that?—Right from the beginning of the Printing Bureau we started.

1148. From the beginning up to the present time what is your recollection of the amount?—Between $80,000 and $90,000 for plant and all. That would include, of course, machinery and brass goods and so on.

1149. You do not think the bill would exceed $90,000?—It would be about that.

1150. That would be down to the present time?—Yes; to the present time.

1151. Can you make any statement to the Committee as to whether the order you received for type was a small or ordinary or large order?—It was a large order. One section of it was. That section for the Dominion Voters' Lists was unusually large.

1152. Did you understand at any time that Mr. Senécal was negotiating for the purchase of type from the Dominion Type Foundry of Montreal?—Yes.

1153. That company did not succeed in getting any order?—Yes; they got all they could fill. We only got what they could not supply. That is as far as the Dominion lists are concerned. They supplied the small pica and long primer. Their capacity was limited as compared with ours.

1154. Do you know Alfred W. Smith and Samuel Beatty, of Toronto?—Yes; I do.

1155. Were they engaged to negotiate for the contract being gotten for Miller & Richards?—Not at all. Not in any way beyond that they used their influence as far as possible to secure some portion of the order.

1156. Was there any arrangement made between you and them?—In what way?

1157. That they should be paid for their services?—None whatever.

1158. Were they ever paid for their services?—Mr. Beatty was paid. I gave him $200.

1159. That is all Beatty ever received?—That is all he ever received.

1160. Smith never got anything?—I never paid him a dime.

1161. Do you know if he was paid anything on this account?—I do not think so. I do not know where he would get it from.

1162. He could not get it from any person except you?—Not likely.

1163. There were no $500 notes given?—Not by me.

1164. Nor that you were aware of?—No; not to either of these people.

1165. Do you remember Mr. Senécal being in Toronto about the 17th August—this month—in your office?—Yes; I remember his last visit.

1166. Who was there besides Senécal?—I think he came in with Mr. Johnston.

1167. Do you remember what the object of his visit was?—I think I remarked at the time that I did not know what the old gentleman's business was.

1168. Did he inform you?—He did not. I could not tell you what his business was at all. I know he came in there. He often came to Toronto.

1169. Was there any conversation at all about this Printing Bureau investigation?—That would naturally come up.

1170. Was there anything said about trying to shield him?—No; nothing whatever. I told him that if I went on the stand I would have to tell the whole truth.

1171. Your business with Senécal commenced in 1887-88, I believe?—1886, I guess.

1172. Perhaps the order was given in 1886?—Yes.

1173. That order appears to have been for $37,117.22, according to this return?—That would be a part of it, I suppose. It took some time to fill the order.

1174. Will you state to this Committee how much, if anything, you on your own behalf or as agent for any company or other person, paid to Mr. Sénécal?—Mr. Sénécal's statement the other day was about correct. As near as I could judge, it would be between $4,000 and $6,000. About $5,000 would be about right.

1175. You won't undertake to say it was not $6,000?—I think I could say that it was not.

1176. Did you keep any account of the payments you made to him?—No; I charged it to myself.

1177. Was there anything in these charges that would enable you to identify them as particular payments?—No; I could not identify them.

1178. Your judgment is that it would be $5,000?—Yes.

1179. Or between that and $6,000?—I could not say it was $5,000. My idea is it was between $4,000 and $6,000.

1180. Do you remember the particulars of any of these payments—where were they made?—They were chiefly made in Toronto.

1181. Were they ever made in Ottawa?—I think there was one cheque came to Ottawa.

1182. How much was that?—It would be a couple of hundred dollars.

1183. I understand with the exception of one cheque all the payments were made in the city of Toronto?—Yes; as far as I can recollect.

1184. How would you spread these payments over? Were any made in 1887, 1888 or 1889?—Oh, yes, the old gentleman would come in and say he was hard up and wanted some money, and would get all he could.

By Mr. Foster :

1185. Was he always hard up when he came?—Pretty much, I think.

By Mr. Lister :

1186. Were these payments or any of them in considerable amounts?—I think $500 would be the most I gave at a time. And they would run from $500 down to $10. He would never get less than $10.

1187. Did Mr. Sénécal tell you what he wanted to do with this money—what he wanted it for?—He gave me to understand that it was to assist him in making payments on property.

1188. Property that he had bought?—Property I think that he was buying, or that he had still got to pay for.

1189. Did he ever make you any statement about having to divide it up with anybody?—No; I always understood that he got the money himself.

1190. He never told you anything about it?—Never.

1191. Did he ever say anything to you or did you ever tell him that it was a dangerous thing to take this money?—I told him that he ought to be careful. Of course, he seemed to consider that it was a common custom.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1192. What is that about a common custom?—The custom in dealing with Governments.

By Mr. Lister :

1193. Did he tell you that he was willing to take the risk of being found out or anything to that effect?—I do not know that we discussed it a great deal. We gave this out of the legitimate profits of our business. I simply regarded it as a sort of toll on our business, and as the business could not be done with the Government in any other way I was willing to assist him in this respect.

1194. As a matter of fact you could not have done the business with the Government in any other way?—I would not say that. We might have done so for the simple reason that the Dominion of Canada in some things could not obtain what they wanted from any other source.

1195. Were you satisfied that unless you did something of this kind you could not deal with them?—No, I could not be satisfied of that? I daresay we could have had orders—we might have had orders in any case.

1196. These orders spread over three or four years?—Yes.

1197. And your payments were spread over the same time?—Yes.

1198. And there were portions of the goods that would have to be bought from you that could not be bought anywhere else?—Yes; but there was a large proportion of the goods that could have been purchased at other places.

1199. They could have been purchased elsewhere?—Yes, they could have been, but they would not have obtained the same quality at the price.

1200. Either they could not have got these goods anywhere else or they could not have got them in such good qualities?—That is so.

By Mr. Bowell :

1201. Could he have bought some of the goods of the same kind elsewhere?—I dare say he might have done so.

By Mr. Lister :

1202. That being the case, Mr. Patterson, he could not have purchased as good goods as regards a portion of them, and he could not have bought them at all as regards others—why did you make these payments to him?—Because I was asked for them. I wished to have his good-will and his good word, of course.

1203. And so you submitted to the toll?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Landerkin :

1204. Has any of the toll been refunded?—Not yet.

1205. Do you expect any of it?—No; I do not.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1206. You say that it was a common custom of your firm to deal with Governments in this way?—No; to deal with Senécal in this way.

1207. Is this the custom of your firm in the case of all large orders?—No, sir; this is a special case.

By Mr. Somerville :

1208. Did you understand that he got a portion of font of type from the Montreal firm, and that he got a portion from you?—Yes.

1209. Would it not have been more in the interest of the Bureau to have had the whole font from one foundry and one firm?—Yes.

1210-11. Then, Mr. Senécal was not doing the best that he could for the Bureau?—I understood that Mr. Senécal was anxious to patronize as far as possible—to give orders to local manufacturers.

1212-13. But he did not do so?—I understand that the Department bought a font of minion from Montreal, and a font of minion from me, because the local firm could not supply the whole.

1214. Do you think that that was a good thing to do?—Well, it was a matter of opinion.

1215. In any case it was bad policy to have two kinds of the minion font?—Yes.

1216. They would be apt to get it mixed?—Yes; they would be likely to get mixed.

1217. And to give a great deal of trouble in the printing?—Yes.

1218. When Mr. Senécal received these payments, were they made in cash?—Yes.

1219. When you made these payments to him would they make any difference in the discount?—No, if you turn up the invoices, you will find the discount they were entitled to, you will find that on the firm's invoices 10 per cent was deducted.

1220. What other goods did you supply?—We sold five or six thousand brass galleys at $1.50.

1221. How many did you sell?—Perhaps 7,000.

1222. Did you ever sell 7,000 to anybody else?—No, the Dominion Government are the largest galley owners in the world.

1223. And the largest owners of minion type?—Yes. They have the largest font of type that was ever made.

1224. What weight of minion type did you supply?—100,000 lbs.

1225. Do you know what they bought from the Dominion Company?—About 60,000 lbs.

1226. That is about 160,000 lbs. altogether?—Yes.

1227. You have some knowledge of a transaction of a similar kind have you not?—Yes.

1228. What is the largest font that your firm has ever sold to any other establishment?—Well, the largest font they ever supplied to anybody else was to Spottiswood, and that was 50,000 lbs. But you must remember that they do not print voters' lists anywhere else and keep the type standing.

By Mr. Foster :

1229. Did you say that the Dominion Company was not able to fill the whole order?—They were not able.

1230. So that this amount of type had to be got from two different establishments?—Not necessarily. We could have supplied the whole of it. But the Government, I say was anxious to patronize the home made article, so as to encourage local manufactures.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1231. I understand that this is the only instance in your experience where commissions were paid, or anything was paid, on purchases?—No, if you bring me an order to-morrow to the value of $3,000 or $4,000 I will pay you 10 per cent. on the amount.

1232. I do not want to justify the course that you have pursued or that Mr. Senécal has followed, but I understand you to say, that this was given to Mr. Senécal only on the understanding that this was the custom of the business?—We are willing to pay commission to anyone if he will bring us an order.

1233. To anyone who brings you business?—Yes.

1234. I want to get at the facts, I do not regard you as any better than Senécal, but I wish to know what the custom is?—Any business house will pay commission on large orders.

By Mr. Somerville :

1235. I understand, Mr. Patterson, by this commission business, that you never had any dealings with any other Government Printing Bureau before. This is the only establishment of the kind in this country?—Yes; it is the only establishment of the kind.

1236. What you meant by a commission was, say that if the proprietor of the Toronto Mail or the Toronto Globe came to you and gave you a large order for type, you would allow him an extra discount on the purchase?

Mr. Wood (Brockville)—He did not say that.

By Mr. Somerville :

1237. In a case of that kind you would not give the foreman of the Globe or Mail a bonus?—No.

1238. Did you ever give the foreman of a printing office in Canada a commission for his own benefit when he brought you an order for the establishment in which he was employed?—Well, no; I have never given them a commission, but I do not know that I am justified in answering that question. I never paid a commission in a case of that kind. I would not under any circumstances.

1239. The proprietor of the establishment giving you the order would get the commission?—He would get the discount. I would not pay him a commission, but if you brought me an order for another man I would give you a commission.

1240. Besides the discount?—That would be an arrangement between the man who brings me the order and myself.

1241. Supposing the manager, an employé of an establishment brings you a large order for type, you would give the discount to the proprietor?—Certainly; the proprietor would get it.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville):

1242. You would pay it to the proprietor and not go around to see anyone else?—Certainly.

1243. Supposing the foreman negotiated the order, would you pay the discount to the foreman?—Under no circumstances.

1244. But you did it in Senécal's case, and his position was that of a foreman. You are quite satisfied you would not do it, except to the proprietor of an establishment?—I would not. It was not the discount that Senécal got.

1245. You would give a commission to the foreman of a Government establishment, but not to the foreman of a large business firm?—I have not admitted paying Mr. Senécal a commission.

1246-47. Supposing the foreman of a large business firm, say the Mail or the Globe, or an incorporated company, were to negotiate a purchase from you for a large amount, and you knew that that foreman would have the whole say as to whether he should purchase it from you or not, would you give him a sum of money?—Not if I had not an understanding. If the order came through his hands I might make him a present of a new hat or a box of cigars, but this would be only after it was decided.

By Mr. Chapleau:

1248. If I understand you, you would give the discount on a purchase, whether it came from the Government or a printing house, to the house that buys?—Yes.

1249. It belongs to them?—Yes.

1250. For instance, in this case if the commission had been paid to Mr. Senécal it would have been money taken out of the Government pocket, but you made the allowance of the discount to the Government?—The invoices show that the Government bought their goods cheaper than we sell them elsewhere.

1251. The Government has had the full commission which you allow?—Yes.

1252. And the balance was a present to Mr. Senécal? By that question I do not want to be understood as justifying it?—I am the party that is the loser by that transaction.

1253. Were the prices paid by the Government the ordinary prices which you charge or were they lower prices?—They were lower prices, I sold the minion at 40 cents when I would have been justified in selling at 60 cents, as it could not be procured elsewhere.

1254. Did the Government or the country lose anything on that transaction?—Nothing whatever, because it was after the bargain was made and the rates fixed. I put in the rates for type and other supplies long before. I sent them to Mr. Romaine, whom I expected would be the head of the Bureau.

1255. You have stated that you do not know of any other Government having their voters' lists printed?—I know of none that keeps them standing.

1256. Do you know the quantity of type necessary for those voters' lists?—I know from the fact that small orders are coming in for "sorts," you will have to keep ordering continually as the lists increase.

1257. Do you know the number of pages that are framed in the voters' lists?—I suppose now about 8,000 or 9,000 large pages of standing matter.

1258. How many pounds of type for each page would that be?—I suppose there will be 18 to 25 lbs.; probably more than that, I could not say positively.

1259. From 18 to 25 lbs. per page for 8,000 or 9,000 pages?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

1260. I understand you to say that if you are satisfied the foreman of an establishment aided in getting you an order you might make him a present after the transaction was over?—I might.

1261. A present of a hat or a box of cigars?—It would be an exceptional circumstance, but if it were done it would be to secure his good-will.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1262. Supposing the foreman procured you an order for $90,000 worth of goods, would you present him with a box of cigars?—Not likely.

By Mr. Foster :

1263. I think you said you would give him a house and lot?—Certainly, and without doing any injustice to the party who buys.

By Mr. Bowell :

1264. About the times you paid the money to Senécal, was it after or about the period that you received the cheques in payment for your supplies?—It was after the bargain was made and after the money was paid me.

1265. Supposing a cheque for $20,000 was sent you from Ottawa to Toronto, would Senécal follow the cheque?—No. It was just whenever Senécal came to Toronto that he received money.

1266. Did it not occur about the time the cheques were sent up to you?—No : I am perfectly certain it was not.

By the Chairman :

1267. Was any arrangement made with you that you should give him a commission or bonus when the order was given?—None whatever. I said our figures were in before I saw Mr. Senécal or heard of his appointment.

1268. Have you paid anyone under similar conditions any moneys or similar percentage, outside this transaction, for sales made—that is, to the employé of any firm? I am not asking to whom you may have paid, but simply, if you have paid?—If I am not asked who, I will answer the question. Yes ; I have.

1269. It has been a customary transaction with you?—It is not voluntary on our part, as you may assume.

By Mr. Foster :

1270. The idea is to gain the good will?—Yes.

1271. And you have paid it in similar transactions in other cases?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

1272. Do you remember the first payment you received from the Government?—I do not.

1273. Do you remember whether about the time the first payment was made to you Mr. Senécal appeared at your establishment?—It is so far back I could not say. It would have been only after the payment was made. It was long after the order was placed and the figures fixed.

1274. Might it not have been the same day the cheque was given?—It was long after the figures were fixed.

1275. Might it not have been the same day the cheque reached you?—I never knew him to follow up the cheque.

1276. You mentioned having given $200 to Mr. Beatty?—Yes.

1277. What service did he render for that?—I do not know that he did anything, and he may have done a great deal.

1278. It was for supposed service?—He was to use his influence with his friends to have a portion of the order sent to me.

By the Chairman :

1279. What Mr. Beatty was that?—Sam. Beatty.

By Mr. Mulock :

1280. He was to influence the order for you?—I went to him and said: “Sam, I want you to do what you can to get that order for me.”

By the Chairman :

1281. What is Mr. Beatty's business?—He is a broker.

By Mr. Mulock :

1282. You said you would like him to use his influence to get that order for you?—A portion of it.

1283. How did you expect him to engineer it?—To see his friends.

1284. Who were his friends?—That I do not know.

1285. Whom did you expect him to engineer with?—With Sir John, Mr. Chapleau, or whoever had the patronage.

1286. You paid him $200?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

1287. It is not true, then, that Mr. Alfred Smith and Samuel Beatty each got $500, one $500 paid by you and $500 paid by Johnston, and that each got a note for $500 discounted at the Imperial Bank?—It is not true.

1288. Did you pay any other moneys to any other officials in the public Departments?—Not a single dollar.

1289. No other official but Senécal received a dollar from you?—In no shape or form.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1290. You said, in answer to Mr. Lister, that in the case of others it was involuntary. How was it in this case?—I was quite willing to do it under the circumstances, but I would not volunteer.

1291. You would rather not?—I would rather not.

By Mr. Lister :

1292-3. It would have been better for you if Senécal had not been hard up?—I might have volunteered a certain amount, but not to the extent he exacted.

By Mr. Mulock :

1294. These payments to Senécal were made from time to time?—Yes.

1295. And were extended over some period?—Yes; up to the present time.

By Mr. Foster :

1296. The figures were fixed before you saw Senécal?—Yes; I had sent the figures to the Department, to Mr. Romaine, before Mr. Senécal was appointed.

By Mr. Bowell ;

1297. Was there a further discount to the Government after you sent in your first order?—Yes; the invoices will show that the discount was taken off right along.

1298. Did you after that make a discount still lower?—No; I made a net figure on minion.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1299. That was arranged with Mr. Romaine?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

1300. You appear to have sold in 1888 to the extent of $37,000. You did not make a contract for what you sold during the whole four years?—We did not make a contract. The orders were just sent in.

1301. Then in 1888-89 you appear to have sold $27,850; in 1890, $767.65, and in 1890-91, $1,000.60. Your dealings continued over four years?—Yes; but most of it was sold in 1886.

1302. But the dealings extended throughout the whole four years?—Yes.

1303. Were you asked to put in a price each time?—It was the same thing, the order being a continuation. The first price ruled throughout.

1304. What about the others?—The brevier and brass rules and galleys were bought at prices fixed in the first place. Where the orders are small, and we have the type in, it is not our policy to give a discount. Our type is there, and the Government must buy it to keep up their sorts. If we are putting in a new dress or a new outfit we give a discount, but on subsequent purchases we do not. They are obliged to buy to get the same type.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1305. You said that the order for brass rules was an extraordinary large one?—Yes.

1306. Are those brass rules also used in the voters' lists?—Yes; they are used in the columns for dividing.

1307. How many strips would there be in each page?—About six in each page. There were 200,000 or 300,000 feet of rules required altogether.

P. T. PERROTT, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1308. You are the Vice-President of the Barber & Ellis Co.?—Yes, sir.

1309. What is the business of that company?—General stationers and dealers in different kinds of supplies, bookbinding, envelopes, and so on.

1310. Do you know Mr. Sénécal?—Yes.

1311. How long have you known him?—Between two and three years.

1312. That is since he was appointed?—Yes.

1313. Have you during that time had any dealings with Mr. Sénécal in a business way?—Yes.

1314. What is the nature of those dealings?—I sold him bookbinding leather, cloth, binders' board, threads, tapes, bands, &c.

1315. Can you give the Committee an idea as to what your total sales for these four years would aggregate?—I think it was for three years. It would probably be about $18,000 to $20,000 altogether.

1316. Mr. Sénécal used to go up to Toronto occasionally?—Yes.

1317. You gentlemen up there used to treat him pretty well?—Yes; pretty well.

1318. Now I ask you, Mr. Perrott, if during the three years which, according to you, you have been dealing with Mr. Sénécal, you have paid him any money by way of commission, present or loan, or anything else?—I made him presents—yes.

1319. To what extent?—Probably $1,800, $1,900, or it may be $2,000.

1320. That would be about 10 per cent. on your sales?—Yes; about 10 per cent.

1321. Did you look upon it as a percentage to him—that he was entitled to 10 per cent. on the purchases?—No; he asked for it after the orders were completed; he insisted upon having something after the orders were completed.

1322. Well, I suppose these payments were given as presents, and in respect to the orders?—Yes; after each order was completed he would insist upon having something. He would say there was a present due to him, and we would make him the present.

1323. Was anything said as to the amount of the present?—No.

1324. Did you make up your mind how much the present ought to be?—Yes.

1325. Was it based upon the amount of the account?—No; not altogether; he said he had property and wanted to pay some mortgages off—private property.

1326. Did you ever give him more than 10 per cent. on one account?—No.

1327. It would always be 10 per cent.?—Yes.

1328. Ten per cent on the amount of the charge?—Yes.

1329. Your judgment is that $2,000 would be about the amount paid him?—Yes.

1330. Paid in Toronto or here?—The payments were mostly made in Toronto.
1331. In your establishment?—Yes.
1332. I notice, Mr. Perrott, that you appear to have received an order for 6,217,311 envelopes, that you filled out before the 30th June, 1890—was that the result of an order sent to you?—Yes.
1333. Who gave you that order?—It came by mail from the Stationery Department.
1334. Did you receive any such order before that year—before the 30th June, 1890?—Yes; I think we have supplied them for the last 12 or 14 years.
1335. Supplied over 6,000,000 envelopes?—I could not say exactly. I know that there was a certain change to be made in the Post Office as regards the envelopes.
1336. You have been selling to the Department this sort of article for the last 10 or 12 years; but is it not a fact that for the last two or three years only you have received these enormous orders, far in excess of anything you received before?—I could not say that. I know that there was a change made in the Post Office here, and that necessitated some new registered envelopes which they ordered at that time.
1337. Have you any contract for these papers?—No.
1338. It was without a contract?—Yes.
1339. Was there a bargain made?—No; there was no bargain.
1340. An order was sent to you to Toronto and the envelopes were forwarded?—Yes.
1341. Were these orders for the envelopes just the ordinary requisition from the Department?—Yes; from the Stationery Department.
1342. No prices were mentioned in the letter?—No. They already had the price list.
1343. An old one?—No; it had been revised several times.
1344. How long before the 30th June, 1890, had it been revised?—About twelve months.
1345. Would you say more than twelve months?—It would not exceed twelve months.
1346. Was any change made twelve months before?—Yes.
1347. How much?—Perhaps 10 cents—from 10 to 30 cents a thousand.
1348. How much percentage would that be?—I cannot say exactly—72½ per cent. perhaps.
1349. I understand it was a change in the direction of lowering the prices?—Yes; paper had dropped in price.
1350. Do you remember Mr. Sénécal being in Toronto about August, 1890?—No; I do not.
1351. Do you remember him making any statement to you, to the effect that the Government were about to start an envelope factory?—He said something of that kind—that they were going to set up an envelope machine.
1352. Did he say that more than once?—Probably more than two or three times.
1353. It rather frightened you, did it not?—No; it did not.
1354. You did not care whether they did or not?—Oh, yes: we did.
1355. They would not have had to buy any from you in that case?—No.
1356. Were you not afraid of losing the custom?—No. It would not have paid the Government to have put up the machinery.
1357. But he did not care whether it paid the Government or not. He told you he was going to get the Government to do it?—Yes.

By Mr. Bowell:

1358. Did he tell you why the Government was to put this machinery up?—No. He said he was trying to get them to put up another machine, and I showed him the return of the quantity and price. He did not think then that the Government would accede to the change.

By Mr. Lister :

1359. Did you pay him any money then?—No.
 1360. Did you pay him three or five thousand dollars?—No.
 1361. Did you give him any money at all about that time?—No.
 1362. Do you remember going to Ottawa to get a large order about August or July in 1890?—For what class of goods?
 1363. I do not know for what class of goods?—I some times got—very often I have got an order.
 1364. Did you give any money to Senécal at the time?—That I could not say.
 1365. Did you draw a cheque when you left for $3,000 or $5,000?—No.
 1366. And when you got back did you charge it to expenses?—No.
 1367. Did you ever pay him any money by cheque?—No, sir.
 1368. Now, you say that you sold on the 30th June, 1890, these 6,000,000 odd envelopes. Will you tell us how much you have sold since then to the Department?—I could not tell you.
 1369. You do not remember?—I cannot say.
 1370. Did they amount to 6,000,000?—No; not to 6,000,000. Whenever I received these large orders they were for special business—envelopes required for a special purpose.
 1371. Now, who had you dealings with in the Stationery Department?—With the same person (Mr. Bronskill) for the last three or four years.
 1372. When did you commence to have dealings with him?—I do not remember; it was when the late James Young died. Since that time it was Mr. Bronskill.
 1373. Mr. Bronskill appears to have been appointed in January, 1888?—I have had dealings with Mr. Bronskill since that time.
 1374. You sold to his Department a considerable quantity of stuff yearly?—Yes.
 1375. Mostly envelopes?—Yes; especially some lines that the Government ran out of.
 1376. Now, did you pay to any person in that Department sums of money, either as loans, commissions or anything else?—No; none. I loaned Mr. Bronskill $100, and a second $100, and I sent his wife $100. There was $400 altogether.
 1377. Four hundred dollars altogether you paid, either Bronskill or his wife?—Yes.
 1378. Have you paid anybody else in the Department any money but Bronskill?—No; not one cent.

By Mr. Foster :

1379. You had dealings with Mr. Young, before his death, in the same way?—Yes; probably for 10 or 12 years.
 1380. Was the same system followed then that is followed now, in the matter of orders and prices?—Yes.
 1381. They were alike exactly?—Yes; we gave such alterations in the prices as we thought the Government ought to have.
 1382. The Government had the right of revision?—Yes. I reduced the prices on some lines not more than three weeks ago.

By Mr. Lister :

1383. Did you ever know Mr. Bronskill previous to his becoming an officer of the Department?—No, sir.
 1384. That was your first acquaintance with him?—Yes, sir. When he was appointed assistant to the late James Young.
 1385. Mr. Bronskill told us that he had sent you a promissory note recently?—That is right.
 1386. When was it sent?—One note was in 1890, and the last note, I think, in 1891. It was in 1889-90 that we received the first one, and the last one was in 1891.

1387. At what time in 1891?—Either the latter end of July or the early part of August.

1388. You sent $100 to his wife and gave him $300?—No, sir; $200 we sent to his wife and $200 went to Mr. Bronskill. Last year I sent him $100, and this year $100.

1389. And $100 each year for the wife?—Yes, sir.

1390. Then you gave Mr. Bronskill $100?—No, sir; I loaned him $100, and have his note for it.

1391. He says that a year ago in May he got $100 to send his wife to the seaside?—He is mistaken.

1392. He says that he got $400 altogether?—Between him and his wife, that is quite right.

1393. He says in the latter end of July or the beginning of August, this year, he sent you a note?—That is so.

1394. Did you ever expect to get the money back?—I intended the wife should have the benefit of that to go to the seaside.

1395. Did you ever expect to get the money back?—No.

1396. So that he did not owe the amount when he sent you the note?—No, sir.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville):

1397. Did you ever make a present to Mr. Bronskill?—No. It was a loan to him. I sent the presents both to Mrs. Bronskill.

1398. I want to know what your custom of doing business is? Are you in the habit of tempting people in that way by offering $100, in the way of present or testimonial?—I understood at the time she was very sick with her family.

1399. You understood Mrs. Bronskill was very sick?—Yes.

1400. And it was a feeling of sympathy that prompted you to do this?—Yes; because Mr. Bronskill had been very kind to us.

1401. And if Mr. Bronskill had not been in a position to help you, I do not suppose that your sympathy would have prompted you to have helped his wife?—It depended whether we knew the man or not.

1402. Is this the only case? Are you in the habit of making presents of this kind to large customers?—Not usually.

1403. Do you do it in any case?—Not if we can help it.

1404. Do you do it in any case?—Make presents?

1405. Yes?—No.

1406. That is your answer?—Yes.

1407. Are your agents in the habit, to your knowledge, of making payments to large purchasers?—We make presents occasionally.

1408. How do you reconcile that statement with what you have previously said—that you did not make any presents? It is evident that, rightly or wrongly, in your case it is the custom of your firm to make these presents to large customers?—Not to large customers.

1409. Well, do you make them to small customers?—We make a little present occasionally, to a manager, say.

1410. You make presents to managers of business firms dealing with you?—We do not make it a practice.

1411. You do it, though?—Very seldom.

1412. Can you tell me the extent to which it prevails—do you give money?—No money.

1413. Presents?—Yes. For instance, I would give a customer a gold pen or pencil—a small thing like that.

1414. That would be to a customer?—Yes.

1415. One who paid his own money?—Yes.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1416. You never made a present of that kind to the foreman, or agent, or manager of any firm?—Perhaps a few times we have.

By Mr. Lister :

1417. Of small value?—Of small value, perhaps we have; say a couple of dollars.

By Mr. Somerville :

1418. Did you ever know of a lawyer making a present to any of his customers?—(No answer).

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

1419. You never knew of a lawyer able to do so?—Oh, yes.

By Mr. Barron :

1420. You never knew a lawyer to have such customers?—(No answer).

By Mr. Bowell :

1421. When Mr. Sénécal called your attention to the fact that he was recommending the Government to put in envelope machinery did he indicate by that, that you would lose the work?—Certainly.

1422. That is the inference you drew?—Yes.

1423. What did you do on that?—I brought a statement down to Ottawa and showed it to you and the Secretary of State. That statement showed the quantity of envelopes a machine would make a day. In some lines a machine would make 40,000 envelopes, running three quarters of a day. The machine would then stand idle for twelve months. Another machine would run two and a-half days to make the quantity required of another kind of envelope. There was not a single machine that you could have kept running more than two months in the year.

1424. And you represented that to the Secretary of State after your conversation with me?—Yes; I brought my statement, and Mr. Bronskill furnished another one. On comparing them we found that they were within a few thousands of each other.

1425. On the representation that the interest on the investment would not pay the Government, the Secretary of State declined to put in the machines?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1426. I told you that they would not be put in?—You told me I might rest assured that there would be nothing done about putting in the machines.

By Mr. Foster :

1427. The amount of envelopes that the Government needed would not be sufficient to warrant the expenditure?—Yes. The plant would probably have cost $20,000.

By Mr. Bowell :

1428. To do the different quantities of work required?—Yes. You would require a separate machine for different sized envelopes.

1429. Had Mr. Bronskill anything to do with fixing the prices of the envelopes?—Nothing whatever. Mr. Bronskill frequently made representations to us, asking us to reduce the prices. The last reduction was made two or three weeks ago.

1430. Then your payments to him were simply to keep on the right side of him to get your orders?—Yes.

ANDRÉ SÉNÉCAL called, but did not answer to his name.

On motion of Mr. Lister, it was Ordered, That a report be made, informing the House that Mr. André Sénécal, Superintendent of Printing, was summoned to again appear before the Committee on Public Accounts this 27th day of August, 1891, and has disobeyed the summons served on him, and failed to appear, but has forwarded to the Chairman of the Committee the letter set out on page 53 of the Minutes of Evidence; and that these facts be reported for the information of the House.

T. DIXON CRAIG, M.P., called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

1431. Will you please make a statement to the Committee.—My brother informed me that some time ago, when he understood this Printing Bureau was established, that he was anxious to get some of the business. He came down here last year and went to see Mr. Senécal about it. After some conversation, Mr. Senécal took him into his private office and hinted something to him, which he understood to be, that there was something about a commission on goods to be purchased. My brother was rather startled at that. We did not do that sort of business at all, and he did not know what he was alluding to. However, after beating about the bush a good while, Mr. Senécal said to him: "Of course, if you are selling goods to anybody you are willing to pay a commission on the goods. That is customary." My brother said: "We do not like to do that sort of business. We do not care to do it." Mr. Senécal said: "Of course, you have to contribute to election expenses." My brother said: "We always do that at home. We pay for election expenses there and we do not want to do it in two places." He said: "You need not trouble your conscience about this matter. Other people do it. You ought to do it, too." My brother did not say anything to him about that. He did not give him any answer, because he was a little startled by what he had said. Senécal then said: "If you wish to send anything to me, put it in an envelope and mark it 'private.'" My brother went away and decided he would have nothing to do with it. I may say that on the same visit, I think, he called upon Mr. Bowell. and had a talk with him, and got an introduction to Mr. Chapleau; and after talking with Mr. Chapleau he did not say anything about the matter of Mr. Senécal. He had this thing hardly settled in his mind. He seemed to be very uncertain. However, he talked the matter over with Mr. Chapleau and told him he thought he should get a part of the business, as he understood the National Policy was to encourage factories in this country, instead of importing goods from England, as he said he understood had been done. Mr. Chapleau merely told him he would see that he got an order. That was all we did in the matter. He did get an order amounting to nearly $2,000, and another order this year amounting to nearly the same thing; but not a cent had been paid to anybody in the way of commission.

By Mr. Barron:

1432. What business is yours?—Tanning sheep skins—binding-leather.

By Mr. Foster:

1433. Did your brother tell you that he asked Senécal what this money was for?—No; he did not ask him.

1434. And Senécal replied for election expenses?—No; he did not say that.

1435. But your brother did tell you that he told Senécal that he had subscribed for election expenses at home?—Yes.

1436. And Senécal said he could send him what he liked, to himself, marked "private"?—Yes.

1437. When your brother told him that you did not do business that way, did he show some reserve?—He did not give the order, anyway. My brother went away rather disappointed on not getting the order.

By Mr. Hyman:

1438. But he might have got the order?—He did not think so much about it until after he went away, and then he felt pretty bad about business being done in that way. He made up his mind he would not do it in any case.

By Mr. Lister :

1439. Did your brother suggest that he was going to have an order, even if he had to see Mr. Chapleau or Sir John Macdonald about it?—No; he did not tell me that. He likely may have said that, because he did intend to see them. He did see Mr. Chapleau afterwards.

1440. Did your brother tell Senécal that he knew too much about the way the Printing Bureau was conducted, and that he would prepare a statement and put it in the hands of Mr. Laurier, which would rather perplex him?—No; I am satisfied there was nothing of the kind said to him.

1441. To Senécal?—I am satisfied he did not say anything of the kind. I am satisfied he did not, because my brother did not know anything about this then. He told me he was surprised such a thing was done.

1442. When was the order for $2,300 given?—Last year, some time.

1443. Then you have got an order since?—Yes; we got an order this spring.

By Mr. Murray :

1444. I understand you to say that one reason Senécal gave was that he wanted the money for election purposes?—He was hinting at it; but he did not say so directly. He said: "You give to election expenses." He did not want to ask point blank for the money, but at last he said my brother might send it.

By Mr. Lister :

1445. Did your brother get an order this spring?—Yes; this spring.

1446. A considerable order?—$2,000, I should think. He says he thinks he ought to get a good deal more.

By Mr. Denison :

1447. I would like to ask whether you are a partner in the firm now or then?—I have not been a partner for two and a-half years.

JOHN F. ELLIS called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

1448. You live in Toronto, Mr. Ellis?—Yes.

1449. You are the Treasurer of the Barber & Ellis Company?—Yes.

1450. And you are a Director of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, I believe?—Yes; I am Managing Director.

1451. Your company, the Barber & Ellis Company, have received large orders from the Government for envelopes during the last few years?—Yes; for the last 12 or 13 years.

1452. But not so large as for the last two or three years?—No; not in proportion to the demand.

1453. Can you tell me the amount of orders you received four years ago?—I cannot tell you the amount.

1454. Can you tell me if on the 30th June, 1890, you received an order for 6,217,000 envelopes, amounting to $19,490?—Yes.

1455. Have you ever received from the Government any one order at all equal to that?—Yes.

1456. When?—The year before, and the year before that.

1457. That would be three years ago?—Yes.

1458. Were the orders equal to that during the three years?—No; they were not equal, not but they were approaching that.

1459. Can you tell me what amount of business you have had with the Government for the present year?—I have not figured it up.

1460. Have you any difficulty in getting orders from the Government?—Not for the last ten years.

1461. Do you remember going in June, 1890, to Rivière du Loup?—Yes; I went down at that time.

1462. Was it on business, or was it on pleasure that you went?—It was a business trip.

1463. In connection with the envelope supplies?—No.

1464. You did not talk this matter over with Sir John Macdonald?—No.

1465. Have you made any arrangement as to the supplies for the last three or four years?—There was no arrangement with anyone. The orders were filled when the stuff was wanted.

1466. They were filled just as the envelopes were wanted?—Yes; when they were wanted, we were glad to fill them.

1467. Have you anything to do with the selling operations of the company?—Not since I became Managing Director of the Manufacturers Life Company.

1468. How long was that ago?—It was in 1889.

1469. Three years ago?—Yes.

1470. Previous to that did you take any part in the travelling and in the selling?—Yes; I devoted my time to the Barber & Ellis Company's business; since then I have not.

1471. Did you ever have any business with Mr. Sénécal?—No.

1472. With any officer of the Department within the last three or four years?—What do you mean by that?

1473. Selling goods?—Oh yes. Whenever I have been in Ottawa, I have called in the Stationery Department and seen the purchasing man there, Mr. Bronskill, but never got any orders.

1474. You never received anything of that kind from him?—No.

1475. Have you paid by way of loan, gift or otherwise, any moneys to Mr. Bronskill or Mr. Sénécal?—Mr. Bronskill has admitted what he received.

1476. I am asking if you paid him any?—I believe he has stated what was paid.

1477. You did not pay him anything?—No, not myself.

1478. I am asking whether you paid any?—No, he did not get any money from me.

1479. Never?—No.

1480. Whatever money was paid him was paid by Mr. Perrott?—I do not think he got any from Mr. Perrott.

1481. Well he says he did, and Mr. Perrott says too that he gave money to him?—It was not with my knowledge.

1482. Mr. Perrott says that he gave him money and that he did not expect to get it back?—If he did I did not know of it.

1483. Was any money ever paid to Mr. Bronskill besides what Mr. Perrott paid him?—No, I did not think that Mr. Perrott paid him any.

1484. He says so, that $200 was paid to Mr. Bronskill and $200 more to Mrs. Bronskill?—Well, I was under the impression that she got the $200 from me.

1485. It was sent by you?—I was under that impression, it may be that it was Mr. Perrott who sent it.

1486. Mr. Perrott says he sent the two?—I might be mistaken.

1487. Were there any other persons in the Department ever paid any money by you?—No, that is the only money ever paid in the Stationery Department to my knowledge.

1488. Did you ever pay any money to Mr. Sénécal?—No, sir.

1489. Do you know that money was paid to him?—I heard there was.

1490. Do not the books show it?—No; the books do not show it.

1491. Who told you?—Do you mean paid by the firm?

1492. Paid by the Barber & Ellis Company?—I am under the impression that he got something from the Barber & Ellis Company. I did not give it to him. I have nothing to do with it at all.

1493. Have you any idea of the amount he received. Mr. Perrott says it is $2,000?—If it is as much as that I am very much surprised.

1494. You did not think it was anything like that?—No.

1495. You have never paid to any person, for yourself or as treasurer for the Barber & Ellis Company, any money to officials by way of loan or gift or in any other way?—I have not.

1496. And to no relations of officials except Mrs. Bronskill?—That is the only transaction.

1497. And you are not sure you paid that?—I am not.

1498. Did Mr. Senecal talk to you about starting an envelope factory?—I would not be positive on that; I know we talked of it, but whether it came to me direct or not I would not like to say.

1499. You do not remember whether he talked to you about it?—I could not say. Of course I was quite interested in it, but whether it came direct to me or not I could not say.

By Mr. Mulock :

1500. You say you gave money to Mrs. Bronskill?—I was under the impression that the $200 he admitted he received was sent by me to Mrs. Bronskill, but I may be wrong. I remember there was $200 paid, but I thought it went to her.

1501. You mentioned that you received a note from Mr. Bronskill in settlement?—Not for that $200. He drew on us for $100 and sent his note in settlement of the draft.

1502. That is somewhat recently?—Yes. We have that note yet. No one else has got that note.

1503. $400 was paid in all to Mr. and Mrs. Bronskill?—I do not know that they got $400. Mr. Bronskill admits that, but I do not know.

1504. The money paid to Mrs. Bronskill has not been refunded?—No.

1505. Do you consider that they owe you for that?—We do not consider that they do.

1506. It was a gift?—It was a gift.

COMMITTEE ROOM, TUESDAY, 1st September, 1891.

Committee met—MR. WALLACE in the CHAIR.

COLONEL BROWN CHAMBERLIN, re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1507. I asked you to produce the vouchers for printing paper for the fiscal year 1887-88?—They are for the most part, in the office of the Auditor General. A diligent search was made there and they were not found. We were asked a second time to make search for them, and I have caused diligent search to be made during the last ten days or two weeks, but, we are unable to find a certain number of them. There are still a certain number missing notwithstanding the search that has been made, and I cannot produce them.

1508. What is the proper depository for those vouchers?—As a rule, after a voucher has been paid, or after an invoice has been paid, it is sent with the account to the Auditor General. They remain with him until he has finished making up his accounts, and then they are generally returned, but not always; sometimes not for a year or two. But after he has made his annual report, the rule would be that they should come back.

1509. Then they should be found in your Department?—Well, sir, I don't know that, because all the others excepting these few missing papers, were found in his Department, and there is no trace to show how they came to be missing from either place.

1510. No trace can be found of them at all?—No trace at all.

1511. You have made diligent search?—Yes, by very honest and efficient officers. They tell me they can find no trace of them whatever in the Stationery office.

1512. Have they also made diligent search?—Search has been made by Mr. Hayter, I believe. I think he has charge of the vouchers there.

EDWARD B. BLACKHALL, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1512½. What is your business, Mr. Blackhall?—I am a machinery dealer.

1513. Carrying on business where?—As an agent carrying on business in Toronto.

1514. From the accounts I see that you furnished to the Printing Bureau, or to the Government, for the Printing Bureau, a quantity of machinery?—I did.

1515. Will you tell the Committee in what years that machinery was supplied?—Mainly in 1890.

1516. Did you make any sale previous to 1890?—I may have done so, I cannot remember.

1517. The accounts show your total sales to the Bureau, to be $8,291.00. Did they exceed that amount?—Oh, yes.

1518. By how much?—As agent, I must have sold them in the neighbourhood of $18,000.

1519. For whom did you act as agent in that sale?—For W. O. Hickock, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

1520. So that your sale and the Hickock Manufactory sale made by you, would amount to $19,000 or upwards?—In the neighbourhood of that.

1521. Of what character were those goods?—It was machinery principally put in the binding department—standing presses, and the various machinery required for binding—a portion of it, I did not put in all of it.

1522. Did you furnish the electric light machinery?—No, I did not.

1523. Did you put in an engine or boiler?—No, sir.

1524. You did nothing of that kind?—No, sir.

1525. Do you know who put in the electric light machinery?—I don't know.

1526. With whom did you negotiate?—With Mr. Senécal.

1527. Did you at any time, or times, pay to Mr. Senécal any sum of money, or give, or lend to him, any sum of money?—I did.

1528. State when, and the amount?—I cannot give you the precise dates. I gave him money frequently, but the dates I did not keep track of. Sometimes he would get forty, or fifty dollars, sometimes a hundred, sometimes more than that.

1529. What would be the aggregate amount you paid him?—I cannot give you each amount—I cannot remember—but the entire amount would be in the neighbourhood of $2,000.

1530. Where were those moneys paid?—Sometimes, I would meet him in Toronto, sometimes in Montreal, sometimes here.

1531. So that they would be paid in all those places?—They were paid in all of those places. If I happened to meet him he would say he wanted a little money and I would give it to him.

1532. That would be something over ten per cent of the amount of his purchase?—I never figured it in that way; it would be somewhere in that neighbourhood, I think.

1533. How did you get at that amount? Was there any talk about ten per cent, or how did you come to pay him the money?—There was no special arrangement made of any kind, further than I supposed he expected to get part of what otherwise would be my discounts—my commissions from the parties I sold for.

1534. He expected to get from you, what otherwise would be part of the commission you would get from parties you sold for?—Yes.

1535. You must have got a large amount? Did you give him over ten per cent of it?—I have the list of the commissions that are allowed in my pocket. I can give them to you if you desire it.

Mr. FOSTER.—You need not give away your own business unless you choose.

The WITNESS.—I simply have it here.

By Mr. Lister :

1536. Never mind. I ask you how it was you came to make these payments to him? Why did you do it? Was it a voluntary payment, or was there anything said or done, that induced you to think that it would be in your interest to make them?—Well, I supposed it would benefit me by giving him these amounts. He said he would order other goods from me.

1537. He said he would order other goods?—He did not say so; I inferred that.

1538. Tell us what he said exactly?—I cannot remember any special conversation.

1539. But surely you did not put your hand into your pocket and give him $200 or $300 without his asking for it?—Well, I was asked for it.

1540. Your greatest sale, you say, was in 1890?—I think so.

1541. What proportion of those commissions would be paid prior to that year?—I really could not tell you.

1542. Would he be paid half of each thousand dollars?—I never paid anything until after I had received orders. I never paid a cent previous to my receiving orders and filling them.

1543. It was always after filling the orders that you paid money?—Yes; that I paid money.

1544. That was your custom?—Yes.

1545. Always, after filling an order, you paid him some money?—After he met me and asked me.

1546. Did he usually meet you shortly after you had filled an order?—No; not shortly afterwards.
1547. Was it at the time you got your cheque?—It was that way on two occasions, I believe.
1548. Did he meet you when you got your cheque; did he hand you the cheque?—The cheque was given to me by Mr. Gliddon.
1549. Who is a clerk in the office?—Yes.
1550. How long after the cheque was given was it before you paid him money?—On two occasions I paid him then and there.
1551. In the presence of anybody?—Not that I know of.
1552. Did you walk into his office and pay him?—No; he was with me.
1553. He was with you when Gliddon handed you the cheque?—No; I cannot say that he was.
1554. Well, you told us on two occasions that Gliddon handed you the cheque?—Yes.
1555. And you paid Senécal then and there?—Afterwards.
1556. How long afterwards?—That same day.
1557. Where would you make those payments? Did you make one of them in the Russell House?—I don't think so; it was in the Bodega.
1558. Was it a payment by cheque, or in cash?—I think it was in cash.
1559. How much did the payments amount to on those two occasions?—I do not remember.
1560. Cannot you tell us? Was it $100?—I cannot recall the amounts at all.
1561. How did you come to make him those payments?—Simply because he asked me.
1562. What did he say to you?—I cannot remember.
1563. Well state it as nearly as you can? Surely there is some impression on your mind, as to what he said to you. You may not be able to give the exact words, but you may be able to give the meaning?—Oh, something in the way of giving him some of my commission, or some words to that effect.
1564. Did you not object to it?—No, I gave it to him.
1565. And you cannot tell us what amount it was?—I don't remember.
1566. You cannot give any idea?—I cannot.
1567. What was the largest amount you ever gave him at one payment?—Somewhere in the neighbourhood of $1,400.
1568. In one payment?—In one payment.
1569. Now you can tell me where that payment was made?—I think it was a cheque.
1570. Where was the cheque given?—I cannot say whether I gave it to him here or whether I mailed it from Toronto; I don't remember.
1571. When was that?—I think it was in May, 1890.
1572. And the cheque was on what Bank?—On the Standard Bank of Toronto.
1573. Was that the last payment you made him?—No.
1574. When was the last payment?—A couple of months ago—I should think two or three months ago.
1575. Where was that payment made?—In Toronto.
1576. How much did it amount to?—I think it was $40.
1577. In 1890 you say you paid him this $1,400?—Well, I believe so.
1578. Would the $600 you think you paid him be made subsequent to that payment or before it?—I should think it would be after.
1579. So that the $2,000 would all have been made since May, 1890?—I think so.
1580. Then up to May, 1890, you never paid him anything?—I don't think I did.
1581. Did you have any dealings with him up to that time?—Nothing more than seeing him and giving him an estimate.
1582. You sold no goods?—Nothing prior to 1890.

1583. All the money you paid him, was paid subsequent to that time?—Well, the orders were not filled, or not all filled. Any payments I made were after that time.

1584. Did you have any difficulty with him about getting your account passed?—No, I did not.

1585. Did you ever pay him any money for the purpose of having your account passed?—I never did.

1586. Did you ever make him a payment of $500?—Never.

1587. Or $400?—Not that I know of.

1588. Will you swear that you did not make a payment of $400?—Well, in this gross total I gave you, I really cannot.

1589. That was one payment?—The total of about $2,000 would cover any and all the payments I would make.

1590. Your payments to him, then, to the best of your recollection did not exceed $2,000?—I don't think so.

1591. You would not undertake to swear it did not exceed that amount?—It could not vary very much from that. I gave you what I believe to be true.

1592. Did you understand before dealing with this concern, from other members of the trade that it was necessary to "grease" Mr. Senécal to do business with him?—Well, no one told me such a thing.

1593. They never told you in so many words, but did you ever have a conversation with people who sold goods to the Bureau, which would lead you to draw that inference?—No, not particularly so.

1594. Did you ever enquire at all?—No I cannot say that I did.

1595. So that he just imposed upon your good nature? He asked you for the money and you gave him to him?—(No answer.)

1596. Were accounts rendered for those goods? You rendered accounts I suppose to the establishment you worked for?—Yes.

1597. Any discount allowed by them?—Yes.

1598. How much?—I could not say exactly, but you have the price list and the prices that were given, which would show it.

1599. You do not remember?—I cannot tell you.

1600. How much was it off the price list? It was a cash transaction, was it not?—Usually. When I sold articles of my own I sold them full price—when I had inventions of my own that I controlled—I can give you the name of houses all over the country that I have sold to at the same prices, because I controlled these things.

1601. Well, things that were not yours?—I had probably ten or fifteen per cent.

1602-3. Off these prices?—I think so; you have them there.

1604. The discount must have been taken off before?—In the estimate for the contract.

1605. So that you would have to get your list prices in the catalogue and compare them with the prices?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

1606. How were the prices fixed for this machinery that you sold; who fixed the prices?—The Hickock Manufacturing Co. for what they supplied and myself for what I supplied.

1607. To whom were the prices submitted?—To Mr. Senécal. An estimate was sent in just the same as I do business with anyone else.

1608. It was sent in to the Department?—Yes; from Toronto.

1609. In that communication you indicated the prices which would be charged for several articles?—I put in an estimate.

1610. That was accepted?—A portion was accepted.

1611. Had that estimate been accepted before you gave anything to Mr. Senécal?—Certainly.

1612. So that you had no agreement with him beforehand? Did you understand beforehand that you would have to give anything to Mr. Senecal? So that the prices were fixed independently entirely of any transaction you had afterwards with Mr. Senecal?—

1613. Were your prices the same or lower to the Government than you charged to other parties?—They were fair average prices; a little on the low side, if anything.

1614. And they were not affected in any way by your transaction with Mr. Senecal?—I cannot say that they were.

1615. You sell to other people besides the Government?—I do.

1616. Are you in the habit of making presents, giving loans, or presenting commissions or anything of that kind to other parties to whom you sell?—Sometimes.

1617. It is really, then, a practice of your trade?—It is a thing commonly done everywhere. Sometimes a man may order a lot of goods, take my estimate, and after I have filled the order, when the transaction is closed, I may give him a present.

1618. It is really then a custom of your trade?—Yes. When a man has benefited me I consider I should benefit him; not that I would go and make any arrangement with him beforehand. I have given away quite a lot in that way, both in Canada and the United States.

1619. What is your purpose in doing that?—Well, to secure the good-will of the person.

1620. And your object in giving Mr. Senecal those loans, in answer to his importunities, was to secure his good-will with a view to future business?—Yes.

1621. Just the same as with any other person?—The same as I have done in many other cases.

By Mr. Lister :

1622. Did you ever charge any of those payments to Mr. Senecal in your accounts?—Oh, no.

1623. You never expected to get any portion of the money back?—I cannot say that I did.

1624. Do you mean to tell this Committee that in dealing with a master, for example the Chairman here, that you would give his foreman presents like this?—No, that does not follow.

1625. Have you in your business transactions with ordinary customers ever given presents of this kind to their foreman or to the purchaser?—When a transaction has been closed I have sometimes given presents.

1626. To whom?—To those who may have interested themselves in getting me an order.

1627. To the man whose money it was or to some agent?—I mean entirely outside of the transaction altogether.

1628. Supposing I bought $18,000 worth of goods, would you make me a present?—Very likely I might.

1629. Supposing I bought goods and that Mr. Barron was my foreman, would you make him a present?—I would not say that I might.

1630. Is that your custom? No. But if you bought goods from me and I supposed you might buy goods again, I might present you with a horse. I would consider it perfectly legitimate to do that.

1631. It would amount to the value of a horse or something of that sort? It would not be $2,000?—It might be in the aggregate. If you continued to order I would continue to give you presents.

1632. You do not want the Committee to understand, that it is the practice of your trade, when an employer orders goods from you, to make presents of value to his foreman?—No; certainly not. But if the foreman was employed at an establishment from which I am getting a large order, supposing I am fitting up their place, and that other goods would still be wanting in that place, I might make that foreman a present. I have done so.

1633. But to nothing like the extent you have given to Mr. Senécal?—That would depend.

1634. Have you ever done it in your business before?—Made presents in such a way as that? Yes.

1635. To the extent of $2,000?—No; not to that extent.

By the Chairman :

1636. To the extent of the same percentage—about 10 per cent.?—If I gave a present it took about that shape. I have given it in that way.

By Mr. Lister :

1637. Do you mean to say that you have given foremen of people who bought goods from you valuable presents of money?—I have given presents to foremen.

1638. If an agent came to you there would be no objection to doing it then?—I would give him a commission.

1639. My question applies to presents to servants of people from whom you were receiving orders?—That depends on the circumstances. If you were a foreman and you told me that your employer was going to put in a large amount of machinery, and that all things being equal, I might have the chance to get that business, and eventually I did get that business, and I made you a present, it would be something I have done often.

1640. To any value?—Well, various amounts.

1641. What is the highest amount you have paid in that way?—It would be in the percentage. I would not exceed a certain percentage.

1642. What is the highest sum paid in that way?—I cannot recollect.

1643. Did you ever pay $100?—Yes.

1644. $200?—Yes.

1645. $300?—Yes.

1646. $400?—Yes.

1647. $500?—Yes.

1648. Would it be $600?—I do not think I have paid $600.

1649. To one man?—Yes.

1650. To his foreman?—No; I do not think to his foreman.

1651. Would you pay it to the man himself or to the agent outside of the business altogether?—To the man who interested himself in getting me a large contract.

1652. But not to the servant of the man who had to pay the account and who had the naming of the prices?—Well, the employer would have the naming of the prices, because an estimate would be submitted to him.

1653. Did you ever pay $500 to the servant of a man to whom you sold goods? That is a straight question and easily answered?—No.

By Mr. Foster :

1654. To bring this matter down, I want to get exactly what you mean, supposing I am the owner of an establishment and I have a foreman and I send him down to you to look over machinery and he reports to me what kind of machinery you have. I ask you to send in a list of prices and you send it in. I agree to order a certain amount of machinery at these prices and this foreman of mine goes down and negotiates with you, the order is a generous order and there is a talk of further orders. Would you, in accordance with your practice, give to that foreman a present under those conditions?—Most likely I would.

1655. That has been in accordance with your experience?—Yes.

1656. And you have generally made it on some percentage, I presume?—I would not exceed 10 per cent.

1657. Would be about 10 per cent.?—It might be or it might be 5 per cent.

1658. It would all depend upon the largeness of the order?—Yes; as to the size of the present.

By Mr. Lister :

1659. Would you inform the employer of the man to whom you made a present in this way that you had done so?—In some cases I would.

1660. And he would not object?—No; I have told an employer that I have made a present of a suit of clothes or a present of cash; I would not hesitate to do so, nor would I think that I was doing anything that was not right.

1661. But if you told an employer that you had made a present it would be a trifling matter, would it not?—No; not necessarily.

1662. Supposing you ordered goods to the value of $10,000 and you gave a man $1,000, would you consider it a proper transaction to give him that money and not let the employer know about it?—It is only a question of degree whether the amount be large or small.

1663. That is the way that you conduct business?—I do not know that I would.

By the Chairman :

1664. Have you had any $10,000 orders beyond those given by the Government?—I cannot say; I have had a great many large orders in the United States and Europe.

By Mr. Hyman :

1665. Supposing you were dealing with two employers, and in one case you give the foreman a present, and in the other case you do not. Take for example one case such as the Minister of Finance speaks about, and another case of a man to whom no present would be given, would you, taking into consideration the different circumstances, make any difference in your quotations?—No. I do not see that I would, because the man would have been acting in a friendly way and I would give him a present simply as a recognition of his using his utmost endeavours to get me this contract.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1666. Would it alter your price?—No; I may say I would not like to pay 10 per cent or any per cent, I would simply do this as a recognition of his good-will.

By Mr. Hyman :

1667. It makes no difference whether you do it or not so far as the prices are concerned?—Well, I suppose I would have some leaning towards this as anybody would.

By Mr. McMullen :

1668. You sell your goods at a price in order to enable you to give these presents?—Sometimes I do.

1669. When you sell goods, you do it at such a price as would enable you to make the present?—Well, I suppose so.

1670. The general profits that you make upon your business are such as to enable you to sell the goods and give presents?—Certainly.

1671. And if you did not make these presents could you afford to sell your goods cheaper?—Well, it is the understood custom.

1672. If you do not make presents could you afford to sell your goods cheaper?—That is a matter of custom.

1673. I am asking you whether if you gave no present, it would enable you to sell your goods cheaper?—Well, I would have no object in giving a present unless I thought it would bring me custom.

1674. But would it not enable you, if you gave no present, to sell your goods at a lower price?—No.

By Mr. Lister :

1675. Is that the only way you can sell your goods by giving these presents?—No; but it is quite customary to give them.

By Mr. Sproule :

1676. Is it not a fact that in most of the goods you sell the prices are according to a schedule fixed by the manufacturer and that you do not make your prices yourself?—Yes. I make the prices of my own goods, but the goods that we sell for other manufacturers have to be sold according to certain prices, so far as they are concerned, I do not cut down a cent for anybody. Where I sell goods of my own, I do the same way.

1677. What I want to know is this, many of your prices are schedule prices made by firms for whom you sell, therefore you cannot control or alter the prices?—That is so. I can give away a portion of my own percentage, but I cannot change the schedule prices.

1678. You do not sell your goods any higher on account of any gift you make?—I cannot sell them higher than public competition will enable me to do.

1679. There is competition?—Yes. If we put on a higher price anyone can find out where the goods can be obtained cheaper.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1680. I will put a question which will be a very simple one. Would the fact of your having made a present to the Superintendent of the Printing Bureau alter by one single dollar the price that you would have charged for the goods?—No, sir; because I put my estimate in. I do not get the whole of the estimate, but I get a great deal of it.

By Mr. Lister :

1681. There is this about it, is there not, that Mr. Senécal taking money from you was rather in your power, was he not?—No; I do not see that. I do not think I had him in my power at all.

1682. You would feel that you rather had him under you?—I do not see that I had.

By Mr. Somerville :

1683. Did you supply any ruling machines to the Government Printing Bureau?—Yes. I supplied some Hickocks which are considered the best. We have been selling the same goods for many years.

1684. How many years?—8 or 9 years.

1685. Well, how many ruling orders have you sold to the Printing Bureau?—I think it was about 5 or 6.

1686. It was a large order at all events?—It was a good order.

1687. Did you ever sell a private individual so many ruling machines?—No private individual would require so many.

1688. It was the largest order you ever got?—No.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1689. You have not dealt with Government here, I suppose?—No. It is the best machine in the market. Manufactured by Hickocks at Harrisburg. The article is well known, they are considered the best manufacturers. You cannot get the same quality here or anywhere else. There is only one other firm of manufacturers in the United States—Piper, Springfield—who manufacture these machines, and if you compare the two you will find that the one is infinitely superior to the other.

1690. Were the prices agreed upon by the Department dear—do you consider them to be heavy prices or would you consider them to be fair market prices or on the low side?—The average price, perhaps a little on the low side.

By Mr. Somerville :

1691. What other class of machine did you supply the Printing Bureau?—There were several other perforating machines, stamping press and a Standard Press.

F. HAYTER, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1692. You are in the Auditor General's office?—Yes.

1693. In what position?—Chief clerk.

1694. Will you tell the Committee whether you have made a search and whether you have found the vouchers relating to the purchase of printing paper made in the years 1887-88?—I went down to the Stationery Office and got the order and told them to check them off the list. I did not find any vouchers; I think it was mentioned in the letter.

1695. This is the letter written by the Auditor General with reference to that:

“ AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
“ OTTAWA, Aug. 24th, '91.

“ DEAR SIR,—With this I forward the vouchers for the purchase of printing paper during the fiscal years 1886-87 and '88-89.

“ The vouchers for the intervening year, 1887-88, cannot be found either here or at the Stationery Office. The expenditure will be found detailed at page G-76 of my Report for 1887-88.

“ J. L. McDOUGALL,

“ Auditor General.”

“ E. P. HARTNEY, Esq.,

“ Clerk, Public Accounts Committee.”

The vouchers could not be found?—The vouchers were not there.

1696. You made a thorough search?—Yes.

1697. And you were unable to find them?—Yes.

By Mr. McMullan :

1698. Have you ever missed any papers from your own Department or any other Department before?—Do you refer to the same class of transaction?

1699. I refer to anything?—Well, papers might go astray, but I always expect to get them again.

1700. Have you ever been under the necessity of making a search for papers as extensive as these and not been able to find them?—No.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1701. In the year 1886-87 who was the officer of the Department in charge of these?—Mr. Young.

1702. And in 1887-88?—I am not aware whether it was Mr Young or Mr. Bronskill. It was, perhaps, in the interval between the two.

1703. Mr. Bronskill came in 1888?—Yes.

F. B. POLSON, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1704. You are a member of the Polson Iron Works Co.?—I am.

1705. Is it a joint stock company or a partnership concern?—Joint stock.

1706. What position do you occupy?—I am managing director.

1707. Did you, during the past four years, furnish any machinery to the Printing Bureau?—We furnished a pair of engines and three boilers.

1708. When would that be?—1888, I think it was.
1709. And the machinery to connect?—The necessary pipe work and setting up.
1710. Might I ask what the price of that order was?—Something over $6,000.
1711. Since 1888, have you put in any further machinery?—Yes; we have put further machinery in the Printing Bureau.
1712. What?—Another engine for running the electric light.
1713. Anything more than that engine?—No, sir.
1714. What did that amount to?—I think it was $1,800.
1715. Then did I understand you to say that the total value of the stuff furnished by you for the Printing Bureau amounted to about $7,800?—The first order was about $6,100, and the subsequent engine for the electric light was about $1,800.
1716. $7,900 in all. With whom did you negotiate for the sale of those engines?—The first order I got through Mr. Senécal in Toronto, and the second one was through Messrs. Ahearn & Soper, of Ottawa.
1717. In the second order you dealt with Ahearn & Soper altogether?—I did.
1718. You had nothing to do with Mr. Senécal?—No.
1719. Who set these engines up—your people?—The first order was set up completely by us, but the second one we did not. We delivered that F.O.B.
1720. Did you apply for the order for the steam engines to Senécal or did he go to you?—He came to our works.
1721. During that time, before or after the time you furnished these engines and boilers, did you pay Mr. Senécal any money for himself?—I did afterward.
1722. How long afterward?—I cannot tell how long. It would only be a short time after; about a week or so.
1723. How much did you pay him?—$520.
1724. Where was that money paid?—In the Ontario Bank, Toronto.
1725. In cash or by cheque?—I drew a cheque and identified him.
1726. You drew a cheque payable to him and then went to the bank and identified him as the payee?—Yes.
1727. When you took the contract for these engines and boilers did you have any idea that you were to pay him anything?—The sale came about in this way: Mr. Senécal came to our works and we showed him through them. He said they wanted an outfit for the Printing Bureau of boilers and engines, and he said we would have to compete with three other firms in trying for the contract and he would give the order to the lowest tender. There was another gentleman with Mr. Senécal who told me that if I got the contract I would have to give him 10 per cent.
1728. Give who 10 per cent?—Senécal.
1729. Where was Senécal when he told you that?—He was not within hearing distance.
1730. Who was this other gentleman?—I would rather not give his name.
1731. But I want it?—It was Mr. Patterson.
1732. Mr. Patterson introduced him to you?—Yes.
1733. Mr. Senécal told you you would have to compete with three others, and Mr. Patterson said if he bought from you you would have to give him 10 per cent?—Yes.
1734. And you gave him 10 per cent?—Yes.
1735. How much would 10 per cent be?—Our first order was, I think, $5,200. After that it was decided that two boilers were not enough to give good results, and they ordered another at the same figure.
1736. You just gave him $520, which would be 10 per cent.?—Yes.
1737. Subsequently he thought two boilers would not be enough and he ordered another. How much did that come to?—That with the brickwork together made the order $6,100.
1738. Did you pay a commission on that additional $900?—No; I did not.
1739. Did you ever pay him any other money?—No.
1740. $520 was the only money ever paid by your firm?—He borrowed from me about a year after that, I think in Toronto, $20.

1741. Is that all that was ever paid him or anybody else?—Yes.

By the Chairman :

1742. Did he pay that money back to you?—No, sir.

By Mr. Lister :

1743. Do you know the engineer down there?—Yes.

1744. What is his name?—Thompson.

1745. Did you have any trouble with Thompson?—No, sir.

1746. Did he object to the machinery?—We did not send any machinery that he could object to.

1747. Did he make any objection?—No.

1748. And you never paid Mr. Thompson anything?—No, sir.

1749. And he never demanded anything?—No, sir.

1750. Do you know Mr. Dunn there?—No, sir.

By Mr. Foster :

1751. In the first order that you got you made the arrangement with Mr. Senécal?—Yes.

1752. Were the prices fixed before you had the information about this 10 per cent business?—They were fixed afterwards.

1753. Did you make your prices so much higher that you could afford to give the 10 per cent without loss?—I determined to have the order if I could possibly get it, because it was a very good place to have a pair of engines. It is a place visited by a great many people. Mr. Senécal told me that I would have to give close prices as I was competing with three other firms.

1754. How did your prices compare with ordinary prices?—About 5 per cent lower.

1755. You say you did not add anything to the price to recoup yourself for this percentage?—I say so distinctly. We were paying out of our pockets 10 per cent to Mr. Senécal.

1756. Is it your practice in your business to make these little douceurs to gain good will?—Not unless we are forced to do so.

1757. The practice of others forced you?—I was determined to get that order, and I paid 10 per cent to do so.

By Mr. Barron :

1758. You say you did not adopt this practice unless you were forced to?—Yes.

1759. Then you were forced in this case?—I understood I would have to give 10 per cent to get this order.

By Mr. Costigan :

1760. Did you understand that if you paid this 10 per cent that you would get the contract if you were not the lowest tenderer?—No; I understood we would not get it unless our tender was the lowest.

By Mr. Lister :

1761. You were told at the same time that if you got the contract you would have to pay 10 per cent.?—Yes.

By Mr. Hyman :

1762. Were you asked for any commission on the last order?—No.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1763. Did you think that the Printing Bureau was treating you with special favour afterward because you had paid this 10 per cent.?—I think we had Mr. Senécal's good-will. I think if any other manufacturer went there Mr. Senécal would show him around. It was an advertisement.

By Mr. Lister :

1764. It was a pretty dear advertisement?—Not very. I sold another good order from that afterwards.

1765. Who to?—Mr. Eddy.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1766. When you supplied the second engine for the electric light there was some correspondence between you and the Department about the price. I think you thought you had not been dealt with fairly, and you thought the order should have been directed to you?—The price of the first was so low that we certainly thought that we were entitled to the second engine.

1767. Did you get any special consideration on that?—No; not a particle.

By Mr. Lister :

1768. Your correspondence was with the Secretary of State?—No; Mr. Senecal.

1769. Did you recall about the 10 per cent.?—No.

LAUNCELOT MONTGOMERY called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

1770. What do you deal in?—Mill, steamboat and engineers' supplies.

1771. Including belting?—Everything required in that line.

1772. You are a member of the firm of Montgomery, Woods & Co.?—Yes.

1773. And carry on business in Toronto?—Yes.

1774. Had you occasion to deal with the Printing Bureau through Mr. Senécal?—I had.

1775. Will you state when your dealings first commenced?—In the fall of 1888, or the beginning of 1889.

1776. How long did they continue?—Right up to the present spring.

1777. Can you give the Committee an idea of the aggregate value of the goods sold to the Printing Bureau during that time?—Our account with him was very small. I think it was in the aggregate somewhere in the neighbourhood of $1,200.

1778. Who did you deal with?—Mr. Senécal.

1779. Will you state to the Committee whether or not Mr. Senécal got any money from you?—I never gave him a cent.

1780. Nor any member of the concern?—No.

1781. No percentage for him?—No percentage. I gave him no money.

1782. Did you do anything for him?—What do you mean?

1783. You are to tell the whole truth in connection with your sales to the Printing Bureau.—The only accommodation that ever he got was as he was going through Toronto on one of his western trips, and I loaned him—I think that was all I had in my pocket—$27. I gave that to him.

1784. Has he ever paid it back?—No sir; he has not.

1785. You did not take a due bill?—No; being a friend, I would not ask him for a small thing like that.

1786. Then the business of Montgomery & Co. never gave to Mr. Senécal any money by loan, gift or in any other way with the exception of $27 and no member or servant of the company ever paid any money to your knowledge?—I handled all the funds.

1787. Did he ever ask you for a commission?—No.

1788. Never said anything about it?—No. Mr. Senécal was particular about getting very close prices every time. I have sold him goods and he has afterward told me, when giving a duplicate order, that he could buy the same article for half a cent a pound lower; but as I had been dealing with them he would give me the preference.

1789. Your dealings only covered 1889 and the spring of 1891?—Yes.

1790. And the whole only amounted to $1,200?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1791. When the Superintendent told you he could get these goods half a cent a pound lower, did you make the reduction?—I did. I was here soliciting an order myself and called to see if I could do anything with him. I think the article was cotton waste, and he said, yes, they wanted it, but they could get it half a cent lower; but if I would reduce by that amount they would give me the preference.

By Mr. Hyman :

1792. What did the order amount to?—$60 or $70.

By Mr. Lister :

1793. Did you ever make any present to anybody in the Bureau?—No, sir; I am not acquainted with anybody in the Bureau except Mr. Thompson.

1794. Did you make him a present?—No.

By Mr. Barron :

1795. Did you ever give to Mr. Senécal any present other than money?—No, sir.

1796. Nor to any of his family?—I do not know a member of his family nor ever met them.

1797. Nor any person for them?—No.

J. T. JOHNSTON, re-called, again sworn and further examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

1798. On the last occasion you were examined before this Committee, you stated that you sold to the Printing Bureau about $10,000 worth of type, and so on?—I admitted the figures that you had, Mr. Lister.

1799. I want to ask you whether your sales to the Bureau did not exceed $10,000?—They did; I have looked into it since.

1800. How much did your total sales amount to?—Somewhere between $16,000 and $17,000.

1801. You were asked about the amount you had paid to Mr. Senécal, and you gave the Committee to understand it was over $1,000, but you did not say how much over. I ask you to be more particular about that statement? Let us know as nearly as you can, the total amount of money paid to Mr. Senécal?—It was about $1,500 as nearly as I can remember.

1802. Have you taken the trouble, since you were here last, to refresh your memory as to the exact amount you paid to Senécal?—As far as I could?

1803. And you can trace up an amount, say, of about $1,500?—Well, I can hardly trace it up, but by the demands Mr. Senécal made, and the amounts which were about 10 per cent each time I got a cheque, and as I did not pay him always all he asked, I fancy I got off for about $1,500.

1804. Have you, since your last examination, met Senécal in Patterson's place in Toronto?—Since my last examination?

1805. Or before your last examination, in Patterson's office?—In my office.

1806. Was Patterson present?—No.

1807. What was the object of his visit?—That I don't know.

1808. Was anything said about this investigation?—Oh, I suppose he mentioned it.

1809. Did he say anything about covering up the charge, to see what you would swear to?—I don't think the conversation took that turn at all. Mr. Senécal was given distinctly to understand that the truth would have to be told.

1810. He was given to understand that the truth would have to be told when you were put into the box?—Distinctly.

1811. Then, of course, there was some conversation about the pending investigation?—Oh, yes; it was mentioned of course.

1812. That, I suppose, was the object of his visit to you? He had no business with you?—None at all.

1813. You stated that you paid to him about 10 per cent on the purchases made by the Bureau, and sometimes you got off for a little less. Now, will you explain how that was? An order was given by him to you for goods and I suppose a cheque would be sent from the department for the price of the goods?—Just so 1814. Well, how long after that would it be before you paid him a commission?—Almost immediately after the receipt of the cheque on several occasions; sometimes it was some time after.

1815. Almost immediately after the receipt of the cheque you would pay him his commission?—Yes.

1816. Where would you pay it?—Generally in Toronto.

1817. How would you arrange with him, if he did not go to Toronto?—He would not get the money.

1818. What was the amount of the first order that you got from him?—About $6,000 I think.

1819. The first order was about $6,000?—Between five and six.

1820. Did you know, at the time that that order was given you would have to contribute to Mr. Senécal?—I did not understand it then.

1821. I suppose you cut down your prices pretty reasonably?—My prices were very reasonable indeed.

1822. When did you first learn you had to pay the commission?—When I got my first cheque from the department.

1823. Where did you see him?—In my office.

1824. How long after the cheque was received?—I think the letter carrier had been just about in with it.

1825. And when did you see Senécal, before or after you had opened the letter?—The time was so close I would not like to swear, it was before or after, or at the time.

1826. Before or after or at the time the first payment was made?—Yes.

1827. What did he say, or what did you say to him? What was the conversation?—He said he was a little short and he wanted me to let him have some money.

1828. Well, what did you say to him about that? Did it surprise you?—Well a request of that kind would not surprise me because a man might be a little short of money, you know, a little way from home, and he might want to borrow $10 or $15 to take him home.

1829. Then what did he say? Just tell me as nearly as your recollection will allow, the conversation which took place between you and Senécal?—We left the office and went out to have a cigar, and outside he made this remark about being short of money, and I suppose I said: "Well, that's all right." Then he asked me. I think he refreshed his memory from some document he may have had in his pocket, and he asked me for $100. The amount of the cheque I had just received was, I think, the figure you had here the other day, nine hundred or eight hundred odd dollars, or something like that. I remonstrated with Mr. Senécal on the subject, but it was of no avail.

1830. What did you say to him?—Well, I did not like to idea of doing it, and I objected to it, but I finally gave him the money.

1831. What did he say when you raised your objections?—Well, he said the others had to all do it.

1832. Do what?—Give him this money.

1833. The others had all to do it, and you had to do it too? Was 10 per cent mentioned?—No; but it would occur to anybody that is what it was.

1834. He said they all had to do it?—(No answer).

1835. Was that all that was said?—I do not remember the whole conversation. I should think that would give you a fair idea of how it was.

1836. Then you began to appreciate the fact that you were not getting all the profits?—It appeared so.

1837. That was the first time. Then you sold to the extent of $14,000 after that, and do you wish the Committee to understand that on every sale made by you to the Bureau that you had to pay commission to Mr. Sénécal, and did pay him commission?—I have not put it in the way of sales made to the Bureau; I put it on the receipt of cheques, that was the time Mr. Sénécal came to see me.

1838. On each occasion?—Sometimes a little later.

1839. On each occasion?—Sometimes a few days afterwards or perhaps a little later. It was always after the receipt of the cheque.

1840. He would call on you?—Yes.

1841. And then you would square up the matter?—I suppose that is it.

1842. Did you always pay him by cheque or sometimes by cheque and by cash?—I always paid him by cash.

1843. So that after that first interview when he asked you for $100, you then became aware of the fact that in future Mr. Sénécal had to have a little toll?—I fancy such an idea as that dawned upon me.

1844. Do you remember agreeing to sell to the Printing Bureau electrotyping metal at 15 cents a pound?—Yes.

1845. Did you get the order?—I think I did; nearly all they used of it.

1846. Was any part of the order given to Croil?—That I do not know for certain. You would require to ask him about that.

1847. You do not know that as a matter of fact?—No; I may say that that 15 cents a pound which I sold the goods for is the price between manufacturer and manufacturer, and no customer of mine ever got it at such a figure.

1848. Do you know that Croil supplied some at 20 cents?—I do not know anything about that.

1849. You have heard that he got an order?—I heard so, but not for the same goods.

1850. Did you and Patterson and Sénécal have an interview together—a meeting together any time within the last four or five weeks?—On the same morning that you referred to a few moments ago, when Mr. Sénécal was in my office, he asked me to walk up with him to Patterson's office. I accompanied him.

1851. Was Mr. Reid there; was Mr. Ellis there?—Neither was there.

1852. There was simply Patterson, yourself and Mr. Sénécal?—That is all.

1853. What was the object of that visit?—I have no idea. I simply accompanied Mr. Sénécal in a friendly way, as he asked me to walk up street with him.

1854. Was anything said about the investigation at Ottawa?—The conversation would be about the same as I have already told you transpired in my office.

1855. Did Sénécal go to see Patterson about this investigation?—He was in Toronto; probably he spoke about it.

1856. Have you no recollection of what took place?—I have not. I did not care to have an interview with Mr. Sénécal at that time, knowing that in the course of a few days I would be here at Ottawa to answer questions on this subject. I had very little to say to him.

1857. You remember the day of your last examination before the Committee?—Yes.

1858. Did you see Mr. Sénécal that morning before coming here to be examined?—I did.

1859. Where did you see him?—At his house.

1860. Did you go to his house to see him?—I drove there; yes.

1861. What time in the morning would that be?—Between 9 and 10.

1862. Did you or Mr. Sénécal drive to Mr. Chapleau's house that morning?—We did.

1863. Before this Committee met?—Yes.

1864. How long were you there?—A very few minutes.

1865. Who suggested that you should go there?—Mr. Senécal suggested that I should go with him.

1866. What did he want you to go with for?—I am sure I have no idea.

1867. Was this investigation the cause of your visit?—To Mr. Chapleau?

1868. Yes.—We did have some conversation on the matter. I inferred that Mr. Chapleau did not understand that these amounts had been exacted by Mr. Senécal. Mr. Chapleau informed me when I came here, that I would have to tell the story as it occurred.

1869. You told him you had paid these sums of money?—I did not say that in so many words, but doubtless he inferred from my manner that I had paid Senécal something.

1870. And Senécal took you to Mr. Chapleau for that purpose—to tell him that you had paid Senécal money?—I do not know for what purpose he took me.

1871. He did not suggest even?—He did not suggest anything.

1872. What were you to go for then?—I suppose Senécal had some business with Mr. Chapleau, and we simply drove together to his house.

---

WILLIAM J. SYKES, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

1873. What is your business?—Grocer.

1874. Where do you carry on business?—At 326 College Street, Toronto.

1875. How long have you been in that business?—About three years.

1876. Do you know Mr. Senécal?—No.

1877. Not at all?—No.

1878. You never had any dealings with him?—No.

1879. You know nothing about him?—No; except what I have read in the papers.

JAMES D. HUMPHREYS, called, sworn and examined:

By Mr. Lister:

1880. You represent the Gutta Percha Company of Toronto?—Yes.

1881. As agent?—Yes.

1882. Did you sell any goods to the Printing Bureau?—I sold a small bill of belting in 1889. I think it was in August. A very small bill.

1883. That is all you ever sold?—That is all I ever sold; the amount was $70 odd.

1884. Did you ever try to get any member to use his influence with the department to secure orders for you?—Yes, sir. I tried to get members to put in a good word for us.

1885. Have you ever paid anybody for doing that?—No.

1886. Did you ever pay Mr. Senécal any commission or give him any money?—Not a cent.

1887. And your whole order amounted to $70?—$75 or $76.

R. G. STARKE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

1888. What is your position in the Dominion Type Foundry?—I am President of the Company at present.

1889. What position does Mr. Crosby occupy?—He is manager.

1890. Where is Mr. Crosby?—Well, he is at Vancouver at this moment. I believe that the Committee received a telegram from him this morning.

1891. May I ask you when he left for Vancouver?—He left about three weeks ago.

1892. I notice by the list of stuff sold that the Dominion Type Foundry has supplied a large quantity of type to the Dominion Government for the use of the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

1893. Can you tell how much in all the total value of the stuff sold to the Government would be?—I have a memorandum in my pocket of the stuff that was sold, as far as I can make out, I think it was between 115,000 and 120,000 lbs. of type.

1894. And the value?—$41,822.

1895. And besides type what else did you sell?—Nothing—well, there may have been some brass rules.

1896. The account shows $41,861.11 taken from the bills rendered by the company?—There may have been some account for brass rules. I am just speaking of type alone.

1897. Who were the negotiations for the purchase of type carried on by?—On our side?

1898. Yes.—Mr. Crosby. All business would be done with him, he is the manager of the company.

1899. When do you expect Mr. Crosby back?—He can be here very soon if you require him.

1900. When will he be back?—He will be back, I should think, within a few days. He is at Vancouver, and he will probably come straight to Ottawa in view of your requiring him.

1901. Mr. Crosby is the man who negotiated with Mr. Senécal for the sale of this stuff?

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—Not Mr. Senécal, but the department.

Yes, Mr. Crosby is the man.

1902. You had nothing to do with it?—No; I was not president of the company at the time.

1903. Had you any connection with the company?—Yes.

1904. Officially?—Yes.

1905. What?—I was vice-president.

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—Will you read the last question.

Questions read.

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—That is not the question, it was not Mr. Senécal, but the department that Mr. Crosby would negotiate with.

Mr. LISTER.—I mentioned Mr. Senécal, and he answered in the affirmative that Mr. Crosby was the man who negotiated. Do you know who Mr. Crosby negotiated with?—I do not; I cannot say whether it was Mr. Senécal or Mr. Chamberlin.

1906. Did you ever see Mr. Senécal in the office of the company?—Yes, he has called in the office occasionally. I have seen him there.

1907. Now, Mr. Stark, do you know or have you been informed by Mr. Crosby of payments being made to Mr. Senécal either as a gift, loan or in any other way?

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—I think this ought to be objected to?—Not my own personal experience.

1908. I will ask you if Mr. Crosby told you of any payment being made to him?

Mr. WOOD (Brockville) objected.

The CHAIRMAN.—Do you know of any money being paid to him?

Mr. LISTER.—I will put the question as I want it and then it can be objected to if it is seen fit. Did your manager, Mr. Crosby, ever tell you or did anybody else in your employ ever tell you that money had been paid for or on behalf of your company to Mr. Senécal by way of loan, gift or commission charged?

Mr. WOOD (Brockville).—Mr. Lister has put quite a different question now? I have no objection to that question.

Mr. LISTER.—Will you answer that question, Mr. Starke?—I have not heard that money had been paid by him to Mr. Senécal, but I inferred that money had been paid to him. Of course I never negotiated with Mr. Senécal, I had no practical knowledge of it.

1909. The question is whether you have been told by any of your officials or whether you know it from your books or any sources that money has been paid to Mr. Senécal?—I believe money has been paid to Mr. Senécal, but not by me.

1910. Why did you believe it?—In the course of my communication with the company I had probably heard it. I cannot give you the particular incidence of the thing. I do not know how I could speak positively.

1911. I am only asking you to state what some of your employees have told you or what you have come across as president of the company, or vice-president of the company?—As I have been telling you, I was not the president of the company at that time. I believe Mr. Alexander Murray was president and Mr. Crosby was manager at that time. I think Mr. Crosby could furnish you with such information.

1912. But he is not here?—He has offered to come down here this morning.

1913. At the cost of the country?—He has been sent by the Board to Winnipeg and the West.

1914. Did Mr. Crosby or any other member of your company, tell you that moneys have been paid to Mr. Senécal, or do you know it from your books or in any other way?—I believe that money was paid to Mr. Senécal, but I could not give you any particular instances.

1915. I am not asking you for particular instances. I want to know if it is a fact that money was paid to Senécal?—I think so.

1916. Have you any doubt about it?—I cannot say that I have.

By the Chairman :

1917. Do you know so?—I inferred from what I understood from Mr. Crosby that he paid some money to Mr. Senécal.

By Mr. Lister :

1918. Having got that far, perhaps you will be good enough to tell us as far as you can about the amount he paid to Mr. Senécal?—I cannot tell you anything about that.

1919. You don't know how the moneys of the company were spent?—It was before my days of office.

1920. You were vice-president?—But not president of the company.

1921. Who was president then?—Mr. Alexander Murray.

1922. He is dead?—Yes.

1923. There is no entry in your books?—I have not looked into the books.

1924. Who is your book-keeper?—Mr. P. A. Scott.

1925. If you were told by some of these parties that money had been paid to Mr. Senécal some idea would have been given of the amount. Would it be $5,000 or $10,000?—I cannot say.

1926. Would it be $5,000?—I do not know what it might have been. I was not acting as manager or as president, and I had nothing to do with it.

1927. This must have been a subject of talk amongst the members of the company?—I cannot say what was paid.

1928. Can you form an idea?—No.

1929. No idea at all?—I have never examined it.

1930. You cannot say whether it was $500 or $5,000?—It could not have been $5,000.

1931. You do not believe it was $6,000?—No; nor anything like it.

1932. Did you pay a little sum yourself?—If you had asked me that question before I could have told you. Do you mean since I have been president of the company?

1933. Yes, or before?—I never paid money to Mr. Senécal except once, when I was president of the company, he received a cheque for $200. That is the only personal knowledge I have of his having received money from the company.

1934. When was that?—I think it was about a year ago—not quite a year ago.

1935. Where was that cheque given?—In the office. He came into the office of the company and got this amount.

1936. Did he ask for it?—He found me there.

1937. What did he say?—He wanted a cheque. There was a cheque there, at all events, and I signed it and he took it.

1938. He came in and wanted a cheque, and do I understand you to say that a cheque had been drawn out and was signed by Mr. Crosby?—Yes.

1939. Mr. Crosby was not there?—No; he was not in town.

1940. Did you understand who this cheque was for?—Yes.

1941. You knew it was for Senécal?—Yes.

1942. You expected a visit from Senécal?—I did not expect a visit until that morning when I happened to see this cheque. I did not know what it was about at first.

1943. Did you see the cheque before Mr. Senécal came into the office?—Yes.

1944. Did anybody tell you that that particular cheque was to be given to Mr. Senécal?—Yes.

1945. Who told you that?—I do not know that anyone told me.

1946. How did you know it was to go to Mr. Senécal? Was it made payable to him?—I would not like to swear that it was—whether it was made payable to him or not.

1947. How did you know that that particular cheque was for Mr. Senécal?—He was directed to come to me and get it.

1948. Who told him to come to you?—It might have been either the manager or the book-keeper.

1949. Did he tell you he had been directed to come to you for the cheque?—He certainly asked me for the cheque, and I understood it was for him.

1950. Who from?—Either the book-keeper or the manager.

1951. That that particular cheque was for him. And it was signed by Crosby and Crosby was away at that time?—Yes.

1952. Was anything further said between you and Mr. Senécal?—No; nothing further than I asked him if he intended to give us an order or something of that sort; but I had no conversation with him about the money.

1953. You had no further conversation?—Nothing that I remember of.

1954. He did not say what this was for?—It was considered as a gratuity that was due to him.

1955. Did he say it was a donation?—That is my impression. I never thought at the time what it was.

1956. He said it was due to him?—No; not due to him. What I meant was that it was a gratuity. I did not know what was due to him or what was not. I never heard of any system of percentages being given to Mr. Senécal.

1957. Was this charge put in the books of the company?—No; I never had it charged.

1958. How did you balance up your profits?—The book-keeper could tell you about that.

1959. Then, that is the first you ever knew he was getting gratuities?—That is the first personal experience I had.

1960. You knew, as a matter of fact, that he was getting it for that?—I could infer that—gifts of that character.

RICHARD WHITE called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

1961. You live in Montreal?—I do.

1962. You are a member of the Montreal Gazette Company?—I am.

1963. You know Mr. Bronskill?—I do.

1964. Was he in your employ or the employ of your company?—He was for or two or three, or perhaps four years.

1965. He was subsequently appointed to the office of Superintendent of Stationery?—He was.

1966. Had you anything to do in the way of obtaining that appointment for him?—I had in this sense: That Mr. Chapleau asked me if I knew anybody who was familiar with stationery, and who would be likely to fill a position of that kind. I told him that we had a man in our employ who would be likely to suit, and it would probably be a better position than with us; that I would like to see him promoted and get a better position. I recommended him to Mr. Chapleau in that way.

1967. Have you any interest in the Canada Paper Company?—I have not.

1968. No interest whatever?—None whatever.

1969. You never had?—Never had.

1970. Did you ever interest yourself in any way in getting patronage from the Department for the Canada Paper Company?—I have to the extent of simply saying to Mr. Chapleau, and I may have said so to Mr. Bronskill, that other things being equal, that I was very friendly with them, and that I should be very glad to see anything put in their way that could be.

1971. You may have said that to Mr. Bronskill?—I have said so.

1972. More than once?—Possibly.

1973. Have you frequently said so?—Well, the matter would not come up frequently, I don't suppose I met Mr. Bronskill, while he was in the employ of the Government, more than at intervals of two or three months; but if there was a question coming up and I met Mr. Bronskill, I would have no hesitation in saying to him I would like to see it given to my friend Macfarlane, of the Canada Paper Company.

1974. Have you spoken more than once to Mr. Chapleau about it?—Possibly, in the same sense, and to the same extent.

1975. Were you asked to do so by Mr. Macfarlane?—Yes; I may have. I have no recollection of any specific time, but I have no doubt at all if Mr. Macfarlane knew I was coming to Ottawa he might say: "If you happen to see the Minister, and can do us a good turn, I wish you would." "Certainly," I would say.

1976. You know, of course, Mr. White, the Canada Paper Company received very large orders?—I know they do a very large business; I don't know anything about the amount of it, but I have no doubt of the fact they had received very large orders.

1977. Have you had much business with the Canada Paper Company?—We have a very large account with them, from time to time, and have had for the last thirty years.

1978. Do you know what kind of paper they furnish to the Department?—No; I don't know anything about the details of any order. I know in a general way they have been supplying paper, and I have assumed it is printing paper.

1979. There is another gentleman in the Department of Stationery recommended by you?—I do not recall him at the moment.

1980. Do you not remember his name?—I do not recollect at the moment.

1981. Then there was no other conversation or dealing between you and the Canada Paper Company, more than that Mr. Macfarlane asked you to use your influence with Mr. Chapleau in their interest?—If you will permit me to say it, Mr. Lister, I have never had any consideration, or I have never given any consideration, or I have never been promised any consideration, either from the Canada Paper Company or the Minister, or the employés in any shape or form.

1982. For your influence?—My influence or anything that has been done; nor, as far as I know, have they ever received or have they ever paid anything.

JOHN MACFARLANE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister ;

1983. What is your position in the Canada Paper Company?—Vice-President and Managing Director.

1984. How long have you occupied an official position in that company?—Twenty-five years, but I have been in connection with the company ever since its formation thirty-one years ago.

By Mr. Chapleau :

1985. And Manager since when?—Vice-President for fifteen years and Manager for eleven years.

By Mr. Lister :

1986. You sell paper to the Dominion Government?—We do.

1987. How long have you been selling?—I should think for fifteen or twenty years.

1988. Do you sell under a contract, or are the orders sent to you just when they may be required by the Department?—No; both ways. We have some under contract, and orders are occasionally sent in for various kinds of papers.

1989. How long is your contract for, and when was it entered into?—The present contract was entered into last July; it is not for a period of time, it is for a certain quantity.

1990. And for a period of time, I should think?—No; it is for a certain quantity of paper. They asked for tenders for a certain quantity of paper. Some years ago they used to give contracts for five years at a time, but for the last four years, or perhaps a little less than that, they are for tenders for a certain number of reams of paper.

1991. You have a contract, though, for a portion of the paper required by the Government?—We have.

1992. What portion of the paper is that?—It is what we call double royal, 60 lbs.

1993. Is that contract drawn up in the regular way?—I think so.

1994. For how many years?—For no number of years; for 5,000 reams or 5,500. It is estimated by the year's supply, I believe.

1995. Then you have no contract with the Government at all for a number of years?—No.

1996. Your contract is from year to year?—Yes; it is for a certain quantity of reams. If that quantity were called for within three months the contract would be ended. If it were not called for until a year and a-half the contract would go on during that time.

1997. It would be you who spoke to Mr. Richard White to ask his influence with the Government?—It was I.

1998. How often have you spoken to him?—Whenever we have had occasion to tender for paper. If Mr. White were anywhere near me I would ask him to put in a good word for us.

1999. In the hope, I suppose, that his influence might help you to get the contract?—That would be the expectation.

2000. That is all it would amount to. It was a matter of friendship between you and Mr. White?—That is all. We have been friends for over 40 years. We were at school together.

2001. It is just as Mr. White said it was?—Precisely; there is nothing behind it in any shape or form.

2002. Did you sell paper to La Presse?—We did.

2003. Have you any contract for that?—We have.

2004. When did you enter into a contract for La Presse?—About a year and a-half ago.

2005. It is a written contract?—It is. We have had a contract with La Presse before, running back to the time the paper was started, but it has been lost from time to time and others have got it. We got it back again a year and a-half ago.

2006. That contract is in writing?—Yes.

2007. Is La Presse an incorporated company?—I do not think it is. It is Mr. Berthiaume, I think; but I am not positive. We have the contract with Mr. Berthiaume.

2008. That contract was entered into about a year and a-half ago?—Yes.

2009. Are you perfectly accurate as to the time?—I can give you the time. I have a note of it in my memorandum book. We made a contract with them in February, 1890, for two years.

2010. To supply them, I suppose, for all the paper they require?—To supply them with the paper required for La Presse newspaper.

2011. You know, of course, that the New England Paper Company had a contract with La Presse?—I heard so; I was aware of the fact.

2012. And I suppose you are also aware of the fact that La Presse was indebted to the New England Paper Company to the extent of $8,000 or thereabouts?—I was told so at the time by Mr. Berthiaume.

2013. I ask you, Mr. Macfarlane, whether or not your company advanced money to La Presse to enable them to pay off the New England Paper Company?—We advanced them a certain sum of money, but whether explicitly for that purpose or not I am not prepared to say. I can give you the particulars of it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2014. Do you say you advanced the money to the company or to Mr. Berthiaume?—It was to Mr. Berthiaume we advanced the money. I have said our dealings were altogether with Mr. Berthiaume. I recognize him as the proprietor of La Presse.

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—I may state to the Committee that Mr. Macfarlane is not quite correct in his statement with regard to La Presse Company. There is an incorporated company, but Mr. Berthiaume is the lessee of the paper.

By Mr. Lister :

2015. With whom did you enter into this arrangement?—The arrangement was entered into with Mr. Berthiaume for La Presse in February, 1890.

2016. You advanced money to La Presse or to Mr. Berthiaume?—Yes.

2017. How much?—We agreed to advance at that time about $9,000.

2018. Did you know at that time that Mr. Berthiaume or La Presse, I care not which, was indebted to the New England Paper Company in about that amount?—I was quite aware of it.

2019. And did you know that that money you were to advance was required for the purpose of getting rid of the indebtedness of the New England Paper Company?—I would assume so: but I did not know it as a fact.

2020. Did not Mr. Berthiaume tell you that he wanted the money to pay off his indebtedness against the New England Paper Company?—He said he wanted the money to clear off what he owed.

2021. Did he say it was to clear off the indebtedness of the New England Paper Company?—I cannot say positively that he did.

2022. What is your impression?—Well, I did not pay any attention. It was quite immaterial to me.

2023. You knew a contract had been entered into with the New England Paper Company by which that company was to supply La Presse with paper?—I never saw any contract of that kind.

2024. You never saw the contract between La Presse and the New England Paper Company?—To the best of my recollection I never saw it at all.

2025. Did Mr. Berthiaume tell you that under his contract with the New England Paper Company the company had the right to continue to supply La Presse with paper until they were paid off?—Yes; conditionally.

2026. What condition?—If they supplied paper suitable for his presses.

2027. If they supplied paper suitable for his presses they were bound to continue the contract until the indebtedness was paid off?—Perhaps it might be well if I tell you the whole story—if you have no objections?

2028. Certainly. The committee would like to hear it?—Mr. Berthiaume came to me, as is a common occurrence with newspaper men throughout the country, and stated that he wished to make a contract with us to supply him with paper; that the paper he was using was not suitable for his fast press and that he could not use it. He wished to know whether we would supply him with paper and also if we would be prepared to advance a certain sum of money to enable him to pay off his indebtedness. I assumed that that indebtedness would be with the New England Paper Company, but he did not specifically state that. I told him we had no desire to cut the ground from under the feet of other paper makers, but if he had good reason to leave them and come to us we would be glad to have him. He said the paper he was getting from the New England Paper Company was not suitable; that he had protested about it and that he had made up his mind to leave them. He said, we want to get with a strong house that will supply us with a paper suitable for our press. We entered into a contract with him and we undertook to supply him with a certain sum of money to pay off his indebtedness. That is the whole transaction.

By Mr. Daly:

2029. There is nothing unusual in that?—Nothing unusual. We have the same arrangements with other papers in different parts of the country, from Newfoundland to British Columbia.

By Mr. Lister:

2030. He wanted you to advance money to pay off his liabilities which you assumed to be his indebtedness to the New England Paper Company?—Yes. I am not sure he may not have told me at the time but that is a question which did not concern me. All that I was concerned in was to see that the money was properly used.

2031. The amount of the money was about $9,000?—Yes, about $9,000.

2032. Did you know at the time that the New England Paper Company held notes of Mr. Berthiaume endorsed by Mr. Chapleau for a portion of the indebtedness?—I was so informed.

2033. Who informed you?—Mr. Berthiaume.

2034. And do you know also that these notes were not due at the time?—I was not sure whether they were due or coming due. I did not ask the question.

2035. So that you agreed with Mr. Berthiaume to advance the money required to pay the indebtedness?—Yes.

2036. Your impression was that the New England Paper Company supplied La Presse with such paper as was required for printing?—Quite so.

2037. Was this agreement reduced to writing?—Yes.

2038. And it was to last for two years.?—Yes.

2039. What security did you take for the money to be advanced by you?—We took Mr. Berthiaumes notes endorsed by Mr. Chapleau.

2040. For how much money?—Do you want me to give the details?

2041. Yes.—I will give them to you. The notes were dated March 6th, $1,819; April 1st, $3,474; April 14th, $3,323; July 3rd, $1,637; making altogether $10,253.

2042. You took notes for the whole amount?—Yes.

2043. You advanced that amount of money?—Yes, we advanced about $10,000.

2044. And these notes were endorsed by Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

2045. Have these notes been paid?—They were paid proportionately as they became due.

2046. They were renewed?—Yes.

2047. How much was paid as they became due?—Ten per cent.

2048. Ten per cent was to be paid then and the notes were to be renewed for the balance?—Yes.

2049. The whole to mature within two years?—Yes.

2050. What was the duration of the notes—3 or 4 months?—Four months.

2051. And they were reduced 10 per cent as they became due?—Yes. The notes were paid off until the amount was reduced to $6,000 and the $6,000 was to be carried to the end if so required, at which time the whole amount would become due.

2052. I suppose there would be no difficulty in getting the contract if we wanted?—I will give you the whole sense of it now. You have now got what the arrangement was with regard to the money. The balance of the $6,000 was to become due at the end of the two years. That is the whole sense of the contract. There is nothing more in it, except this transaction and in consideration of this he was to give us the contract for the paper for two years.

2053. Was anything said about any paper sold to the Government?—No, not a word.

2054. There was nothing of this kind in your agreement?—Nothing in any shape or form. I make this statement without any mental reservation, there was nothing of the kind. It was just a business transaction as I have stated to you.

2055. As a matter of fact, have you applied in reducing these notes any way any moneys except the moneys paid by Mr. Berthiaume?—No.

2056. There was no reduction whatever?—No, as I have just said this was the whole transaction. There was no intention of anything beyond what I have stated, the transaction is clear on the face of it, I have given the whole of the reasons for it and the exact figure.

2057. As a matter of fact, Mr. Macfarlane have you supplied more or less paper within the last year and a half to the Government than you have supplied before?—I have supplied more this year, there was an extra quantity called for.

2058. Can you give us any idea of the extra quantity?—I think it was 3,000 reams at $3.60 per ream. It took place while I was in England, it is the same as the contract for the double royal.

2059. As Vice-President of the company, or as a member or officer of the company, have you any knowledge direct or indirect of any payment being made by the company or on its behalf to any public official?—None whatever. I do not think that such a payment could be made without my knowledge. At any rate I can say that it should not have been done without my knowledge, and if such a thing were done I would be surprised to hear of it.

2060. You have no knowledge of it yourself?—None whatever. I do not believe anything of the kind took place.

2061. You know Mr. Gillian?—Yes.

2062. What position does he occupy?—He is my assistant.

2063. And what position does the gentleman whose name is Mr. Young occupy?—He is secretary and treasurer.

2064. Have you any travellers?—Yes, we have two or three travellers. We have Mr. Haydon for the Maritime Provinces, Mr. Doutré for this district and Mr. McDougall for the western district.

By Mr. Mulock :

2065. Do you allow anyone any commission on your sales to the Government?—No commission in any shape or form.

2066. No allowance of any kind?—No; the invoices sent to the Government show the whole transaction, there is nothing behind them.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2067. You say that you dealt with Mr. Berthiaume and dealt with him alone. You never dealt with any company concerning La Presse?—No, it was Mr. Berthiaume.

2068. You said you made an advance of $9,000?—The agreement was about $10,000.

2069. Is he well known to you and did you believe that he could do a good business, and on that account did you consent to supply him with the paper?—Yes, it is my particular business to look after this fact in the selling of paper. If I had not been satisfied that he was a good man, I would not have undertaken to supply him.

2070. You thought that he was quite able to pay for this?—Yes.

2071. And have you seen any reason to change your opinion?—No, our business relations are quite satisfactory.

2072. Those relations have been quite satisfactory to you?—They have.

2073. And you have seen no reason to regret having advanced the money?—No, sir.

By Mr. Lister :

2074. You have no security for the loan I suppose?—No, there was only the endorsement of the note, but this is a common enough transaction, we have the same thing in Ontario, and the same thing in St. John's, Newfoundland.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2075. As a matter of fact, Mr. Macfarlane, the notes were taken from the New England Paper Company and were at the time transferred to your account?—I presume that is the case.

2076. Did you have anything to do with me over this arrangement?—Nothing at all. I never saw you, never spoke to you about it.

By Mr. Mulock :

2077. Who arranged to give you Mr. Chapleau's endorsement?—Mr. Berthiaume. He had that on the old notes.

2078. He arranged to give you this endorsement?—He asked me if I would be prepared to advance the money on the endorsement of Mr. Chapleau.

By Mr. Hyman :

2079. You considered Mr. Chapleau's responsibility as well as Mr. Berthiaume's?—Certainly

By Mr. Mulock :

2080. Your dealings at first were not by tender?—We have had dealings with the Government extending over fifteen years. The old contracts ran for five years; but during the last three or four years they have asked for tenders for a certain number of reams estimated to be required for that year's use.

2081. When did you get the first order under the new arrangement?—I think it would be to the point if you asked me what we put the paper in at, and what was the quality of the paper.

2082. Give me that information first?—There was a contract in June, 1887, for 525 reams. That was for paper we had supplied them before.

2083. What was the next?—The next was an order for 1,700 reams.

2084. What was the date of that?—June 30th. They wanted the paper urgently.

2085. The first was secured after tendering?—Yes.

2086. What was the third?—November 29th 1887. The contract was for a small quantity—700 reams.

2087. Did you tender for that?—Yes. Then in May 1889.

2088. 1888 it would be?—No, in 1888 we had none. There were occasional orders coming in. In 1887 there was a contract for 850 reams for the Canada Gazette by contract.

2089. How did you obtain that contract?—By putting in a tender.

2090. Were you the lowest tenderer;—I do not know.

2091. What was the next order?—In August 1889 there was a contract for a specific sum. That appears to be the first large order for 4000 reams, double royal.

2092. At $3.60?—$3.90.

2093. Did you obtain that after tender?—Yes.

2094. What was the next?—On January 27th, an order for 200 reams.

2095. January 1890?—Yes. The next was an order in March 1890, urgently wanting the paper made within a fortnight or something of that kind.

2096. What was the price of the paper in 1890?—$3.21.

2097. Was that the same quality as the 4000 reams previously referred to?—I do not remember exactly what it was, but I think it was a little stronger or better or something like that.

2099. What was next?—In March came an order for 700 reams, the same as the contract for 4000, and we put it in at the contract price. It was urgently wanting the paper made at a certain time.

2100. What was next?—There was an order on September 15th 1890 for an odd lot of paper, 15 by 34½, and we charged that at contract price.

2101. That came as an order?—Yes. Then came July 15th, a contract for 5000 reams. That was taken at six cents, a reduction of half a cent.

2102. How did you get that order?—By tender. In 1891, that is the present year, there was a contract for the same quantity—5000 or 5500 reams.

2103. What date was that?—July of this year.

2104. There was none between July 1890 and July 1891?—No.

By Mr. Bergeron :

2105. Was this by tender?—Yes; but there were running orders coming in for small lots continuously.

By Mr. Mulock :

2106. But there was no contract between you and the Department between July, 1890, and July, 1891?—There were small orders coming all the time.

2107. But I am referring to contracts.—There certainly have been other orders. They are running all the time.

2108. A sort of hand to mouth supply?—I take it to be the kind of paper that is not sufficient to tender for.

2109. What would these small orders amount to?—I cannot say.

By Mr. Hyman ;

2110. When you speak of tenders, do you mean to say that the tender is sent to the Department in answer to an advertisement or by request?—In answer to a circular sent from the Department. The answer is sent in to the Queen's Printer.

By Sir Richard Cartwright :

2111. How much on an average have you got from the Government during the last three years—would it be $20,000 a year?—I think it would be fully that.

2112. Would it be $30,000 a year?—I could send you a statement of the whole account. You have our envoices here. I can only give you an approximation. Our contract was for 5,500 reams at $3.60 a ream. We estimate that as a year's supply. Then there was an exceptional order sent down for 3,000 reams in this year. In 1890, there was a contract for 5,500 reams, which covers what we call our regular work.

2113. In one year you have received an order for about 8,500 reams?—In this present year.

2114. That would be equivalent at the figures you have given us to a little over $30,000?—Yes; it would be a little over $30,000.

2115. That is independent of the little miscellaneous orders of which you speak?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

2116. You say you have been supplying the Government with paper for the last fifteen or twenty years?—All of that.

2117. How do prices now compare with fifteen years ago?—They are about sixty per cent. cheaper. Perhaps fifty-five per cent.

2118. Fifteen or twenty years ago the contract ran for five years?—Yes, and up to three or four years ago.

2119. For the last three or four years they have been asking for tenders yearly?—For the estimated quantity required for the year, putting it in reams.

2120. Are the prices lower now than they were five years ago?—Yes.

2121. They have been gradually going down?—Yes.

2122. Have the Government effected a saving by this new system?—Yes, because they have brought into competition all the manufacturers.

By Mr. Somerville :

2123. Is not the cost of material falling?—Chemicals are fifty per cent dearer than fifteen years ago.

2124. Have raw materials gone down?—Yes. It is really the competition among the manufacturers that has brought down the prices to such a fine point.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2125. When you say that tenders are sent to you for the yearly supply, is it for the whole supply of the paper or is it not divided into three or four different kinds?—We have been asked only for specific kinds.

2126. Have you any separate circular for the Gazette?—Yes.

2127. Have you any for other paper?—Each size of paper is asked on a separate tender.

2128. Well, do you know whether there is a special circular also for the Statutes?—I think so, because we have supplied under these tenders various sizes and weights.

2129. I want to know whether these circulars ask for competition from the different firms for supplying each kind of paper, and not en bloc?—Yes.

2130. To how many persons are these circulars sent?

MR. CHAPLEAU—Mr. Bronskill said five or six.

By Mr. Lister :

2131. You knew a portion of the paper has to be, by law, tendered for? Do you know that?—I think that is a rule of the Department. I don't know there is a law in the case.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2132. Tenders were not asked for the bulk amount required?—We have never been asked to tender in that way.

SAMUEL BEATTY called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

2133. You live in Toronto, I believe ?—Yes, sir.

2134. What is your business ?—Broker.

2135. When, the other day, Mr. Patterson said that he had to give you $200 for the purpose of using your influence in securing him a contract for the sale of type to the Government. Is that true or is it not ?—He sent me $200, certainly.

2136. He sent you $200 ?—Yes ; or about $200.

2137. Where did he send it to you ?—I think in Montreal.

2138. You were in Montreal ?—Yes, at that time.

2139. Did a letter accompany it ?—It is so long ago now, that I cannot remember.

2140. How long is it ?—About five years, I should say or four years ago.

2141. Are you sure that money was sent to you at Montreal ?—I think so—part of it at least.

2142. Was it made in more than one payment ?—I think so, yes.

2143. How many payments ?—I could not say.

2144. Had any conversation taken place between you and Mr. Patterson, before these payments were made ?—Yes.

2145. What was the effect of this conversation ?—Mr. Patterson said to me in his office one day, when I was on some other business, that he understood the equipment of this Printing Bureau was to be given to the Dominion Type Foundry Company, Montreal, and that he would like to get a portion of that order ; that he would give it at less than the rates he was supplying newspapers throughout the country ; in fact, that he would sooner give it at half price, than not be on record as having part of that order. He asked me if I could help him. I told him I did not know how I could, but he could do just what I would do myself. He asked what that was, I said : “ See your member.” He said he had been misrepresented as a reformer, and he did not want to lie under that implication. I said all he could do would be to see his member, and representing them in Toronto, that he should have a portion of the order. That was the last I heard of it until Mr. Patterson sent the telegram stating he had seen his member and it had no effect, and he was going to attend to it himself.

2146. Then did you see him ?—I saw Mr. Small, yes.

2147. And he was the only person you were to see ?—The only one I had any thing to do with at all.

2148. And he was the only one Mr. Patterson intended you should see ?—I think so.

2149. Was Mr. Small's name mentioned ?—He was member for the constituency in which Mr. Patterson was a voter.

2150. He said he supposed you were to see Mr. Chapleau and Sir John ?—No. I never represented I had any influence with Mr. Chapleau or Sir John Macdonald. I never spoke to Mr. Chapleau in my life. Mr. Chapleau does not know me, and as to talking with Sir John Macdonald, such an idea never entered my head.

2151. Then you never saw Sir John or Mr. Chapleau ?—I never saw anybody but Mr. Small.

2152. Was this money paid before, or after, you saw Mr. Small ?—Long after the thing was closed. Perhaps I should have returned it. All the people here would have handed it back. I made a mistake in not returning it.

2153. That was all he gave you ?—That was all.

2154. There were no other payments ?—That is all I know about it.

2155. I think you were wise enough in keeping it ?—I don't know. Perhaps I would do differently now if I had $1,500, mileage, and passes on two railways. I would have sent it back, but I was poor.

2156. And you kept it ?—Unfortunately.

2157. And it was long after the transaction was closed ?—Yes.

2158. And it was before the transaction had been closed you saw Mr. Small?—It was in the inception of it.

2159. And he told you the member could do nothing, but he was to go to Ottawa himself?—He told me whatever Mr. Small had done, if he had done it, it was of no avail, and he was going to attend to it himself. That was all I knew about it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2160. So you must have been as much surprised as I was, when you read in the papers you had asked and received money to intercede with, or get favours from the Secretary of State?—Yes, sir. I was a perfect stranger and never asked for anything for myself, or anybody else, and would not have got it if I had.

WITNESS.—Can I go now?

The CHAIRMAN—You are dismissed.

By Mr. Mulock :

2161. What services did you render for the $200?—You have heard all I said; I am dismissed.

J. D. ROLLAND called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

2162. Where do you carry on business?—In Montreal.

2163. In the city of Montreal?—Yes.

2164. You own paper mills, or you are interested in a company carrying on a paper mill, are you not?—Yes.

2165. Where is that mill?—At St. Jerome, in the county of Terrebonne.

2166. In Mr. Chapleau's county?—Yes.

2167. You know Mr. Chapleau I suppose?—I have known him for many years.

2168. You supply a considerable quantity of paper to the Government?—Yes, sir, by contract.

2169. You seem to be more fortunate than some of the others? This is copy of your contract I now hold in my hand?—I suppose it is.

2170. This is a copy of a contract with the Government dated 18th July, 1887 for furnishing paper to the Government?—Yes, sir.

2171. That contract expired in 1890?—Yes, sir.

2172. Have you since had a contract?—It was renewed last June I believe.

2173. A year ago?—No, this year.

2174. Renewed for how long?—Three years more.

2175. How is it that you have a contract for three years, and the others have merely to supply paper from year to year?—Well, I believe the first time I had a contract there was no other paper mill making the quality of paper that we were making, and we would not accept the contract for one year. Our contract was very favorable to the Government, because we were giving prices at the same price as they were importing, and as the Government was favoring the National Policy we had to build the mill, and we were waiting for orders to get machinery to supply that quality of paper.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2176. What was the total amount of outlay you were put to for the manufacture of paper of special quality?—Over $100,000.

By Mr. Lister :

2177. When did you do that?—In 1886 or 1887, I believe.

2178. Had you a contract before that?—No, sir.

2179. It was 1886 or 1887 that you got your first contract?—Yes, sir.

2180. July 1887 the contract is dated. That was your first contract?—Yes.

2181. Do you know the amount of sales to the Government for the last two or three years?—They have varied. I believe last year it was about $35,000 or $40,000.

2182. That was last year?—Yes.

2183. Now the year before?—The year before it was little more I believe.

2184. How much more?—May be $38,000 or $40,000. I am not very positive about it. I did not take any note of those figures. You have them in the documents here.

2185. Do you remember the amount of your account the year before that?—About $35,000. Last year it was a little less than the present year.

2086. Have you supplied any paper this year—1891?—Yes. Our contract continues in the same proportion.

2187. Who are the stockholders in your company?—My four brothers and my four sisters.

2188. Who manages the books at the mill?—No books are managed at the mill. I manage them all. Everything of that kind is at Montreal.

2189. What are the names of your brothers?—S. G. B. Rolland, O. Rolland, P. D. Rolland.

2190. Which is the youngest member of the firm?—P. D. is the youngest.

2192. What does O. Rolland do?—The Quebec business, chiefly.

2193. And the books are all in your office at Montreal?—Yes.

2194. I see you tendered for 350 reams at 7,  $7\frac{1}{8}$  and  $6\frac{3}{4}$  cents per lb.?—For what paper was that? We have sent various tenders at different times.

2195. This was last year, and you got the contract at  $7\frac{1}{4}$  cents a pound. Now, how was it that having tendered at 7,  $7\frac{1}{8}$  and  $6\frac{3}{4}$  cents you came to get a contract at  $7\frac{1}{4}$  cents?—Doubtless it would be on account of the quality.

2196. That was a greater price than you offered to sell it for?—Not at all.

2197. You were allowed  $7\frac{1}{4}$  cents, and your tender only shows 7,  $7\frac{1}{8}$  and  $6\frac{3}{4}$  cents?—I do not remember that. I do not think we have been given a contract at higher rates than our tender.

2198. The papers show that to be the case?—In many instances they have paid me a quarter cent less than my tender.

2199. Do you keep many travellers?—We have several.

2200. Do you ever tender for orders outside the contract?—Yes; whenever there was business to be done at Ottawa, I generally came here myself.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2201. You have said that in tendering you would send in different qualities of paper by different samples?—Yes.

2202. Would it be possible that when you tendered last year you sent two, three or four different qualities with two, three or four different prices accordingly?—Surely.

2203. And the contract you have taken, if it was awarded to you at the highest price it would be for the highest quality of paper?—Yes, surely.

By Mr. Lister :

2204. Mr. Rolland, do you know Mr. Dansereau?—Yes.

2205. Has your company paid him any money?—No, not Mr. Dansereau personally.

2206. What do you mean by not personally?—There were Mr. Dansereau, Mr. Hamel and Mr. Benoit. You know for the last 20 years we have been meddling in politics, and we make subscriptions to the conservative association, and have done so for 20 years.

2207. Have you been paying Mr. Dansereau so much a year for the past three or four years?—Not at all. There might have been payments to Mr. Dansereau when he was secretary or treasurer of the association.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2208. You gave an account of $1,000 to the last election?—I paid a subscription.

By Mr. Lister :

2209. Every year?—Not every year, some years on and years off.

2210. Will your books show what you paid?—I believe they will, they have been charged to the profit and loss account.

2211. What is the amount you have paid in any one year?—The most I have paid this year is $1,000 subscription.

2212. How did you pay that?—To the Election funds.

By Mr. Mulock :

2213. Was this money paid to Mr. Dansereau?—No, sir.

By Mr. Lister :

2214. Into whose hands was it given?—Sometimes to the representatives of the conservative association.

2215. Is it charged in your books in any way?—It is charged in the profit and loss.

2216. Every year?—I could not say every year. I could not swear to that, but each time that there was an election, we would give something.

2217. Your books will show?—They will show the amount, but they will not show to whom it was paid.

By Mr. Mulock :

2218. What contract have you got with the Government now?—For the supply of writing paper of the cut sizes, and the ledger paper.

2219. When did you get the contract?—In 1887.

By Mr. Lister :

2220. When did it first run out?—In 1890.

2221. Are you still going on under that contract?—There is a new contract entered into in June, this year.

2222. Have you got the contract with you?—No, sir.

MR. CHAPLEAU—It is here and the Order in Council.

The Committee adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, TUESDAY, 8th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the chair.

The following letters were read :—

“ AUDITOR GENERAL’S OFFICE,

“ OTTAWA, September 2nd, 1891.

“ SIR,—With reference to the evidence given yesterday by Mr. Hayter, of this office, concerning the vouchers for Stationery Office purchases in 1887-88 : I now enclose a copy of the letter which, on further examination, I find was written at the time all the vouchers in hand were returned to the Stationery Office.

“ J. L. McDOUGALL,

“ Auditor General.

“ E. P. HARTNEY, Esq.,

“ Clerk, Public Accounts Committee.”

Copy.

“ AUDITOR GENERAL’S OFFICE,

“ OTTAWA, November 15th, 1889.

“ SIR,—I have the honour to return you herewith the vouchers and statements covering the Stationery Office purchases and issues for the year 1887-88.

“ J. L. McDOUGALL,

“ Auditor General.

“ The Superintendent,

“ Stationery Office.”

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY,

OFFICE OF THE QUEEN’S PRINTER AND CONTROLLER OF STATIONERY.

OTTAWA, 7th September, 1881.

“ SIR,—I beg leave to send with this a package of vouchers for purchases of paper and receipts therefor, recently found in the office of the late Superintendent of Stationery—not produced by him. I very much regret that delay should have occurred in the result of the searches made after Mr. Bronskill’s departure.

The Acting Superintendent of Stationery—Mr. Thomas Roxborough—will attend and give evidence respecting these vouchers, if desired. He not only found, but has examined them, which I have not found time to do.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

B. CHAMBERLIN.

Queen’s Printer and Controller of Stationery.

“ E. P. HARTNEY, Esq.,

Clerk of the Public Accounts Committee,

House of Commons.”

“CANADA PAPER COMPANY (Limited),

MONTREAL, 7th September, 1891.

“DEAR SIR,—I notice in the “Printed Minutes of Evidence in connection with the Government Printing Bureau,” 1st September, a couple of clerical errors in my evidence which, although not altering the general sense of the evidence, I would like to have corrected for the sake of my standing in the trade.

Page 99, Question 2123—By Mr. Somerville—should read: “Is not this owing to the cost of chemicals being less than five years ago? Answer.—Chemicals are over fifty per cent dearer this year than five years ago.”

Question 2124—By Sir Richard Cartwright—should read: “Have raw materials not gone down? Answer.—Yes; it is also largely the competition amongst the manufacturers that has brought down the price to such a fine point.”

Will you have the goodness to have the above corrections made in the copy before it is sent finally to the printer.

Yours truly,

JOHN MACFARLANE,

Managing Director.”

“CLARKE WALLACE, Esq.,

Chairman, Committee of Public Accounts, Ottawa.”

“CANADA PAPER COMPANY (Limited),

MONTREAL, 7th September, 1891.

“SIR,—Your summons of the 29th ult. I found waiting my return to business this morning, and being therefore unable to appear within the prescribed time, I beg to state that I am now at your service when required to attend.

Your obedient servant,

JOHN G. YOUNG.

“E. P. HARTNEY, Esq.,

Clerk of Committee, House of Commons, Ottawa:”

“GOLDEN, B.C., 2nd September, 1891.

“SIR,—I have this day received a summons to appear before the Committee on account of supplies furnished Printing Bureau. Your Committee did not know I was in British Columbia; therefore did not give me sufficient time to appear. Should your Committee still require me, I will be pleased to appear. Send expenses and give me plenty of time, as I am mining several days from the line of railway.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN E. ASKWITH.

“E. P. HARTNEY, Esq.,

Clérk of Committee:”

JOSEPH C. MORGAN, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

2223. Where do you live and what is your business?—I live in Toronto, and I am traveller for Buntin, Reid & Co.

2224. How long have you occupied that position?—About twenty-one years.

2225. Have you worked for that firm during all that time?—All that time.

2226. Have you any recollection of having sold to Senecal a quantity of goods for the Printing Department?—I had but one transaction with the Printing Bureau. I sold them about 60 tons of mill-board mostly, and straw-board.

2227. When was that sale made?—I would like to refer to my memorandum book.

2228. Certainly?—The sale was made about the 23rd July, a year ago.

2229. That would be the year 1890?—Yes.

2230. How much straw-board and mill-board did you sell?—Over 60 tons.

2231. Will you tell the Committee what that material is used for?—Mostly for book-binding. With regard to the Printing Bureau, I would say it was nearly all for book-binding. Those other boards are used for box-making, but they do not make any boxes at the Bureau.

2232. What was the price paid?—$50 a ton.

2233. Did you ever before, in your twenty years experience receive such an order?—Not at any time; in fact I would consider half a ton of boards quite a good order, in an ordinary small place. I would consider a ton of boards a very good order.

2234. From half a ton to a ton would be a good order in your judgment?—Yes.

2235. Will you kindly tell me how this sale came to be made? You are sworn to tell the whole truth here? Some people excuse themselves from answering questions?—The sale was ultimately made in Toronto.

2236. Where did you first see Mr. Senécal about it?—I met him frequently at the Bureau, and once or twice I met him in Toronto, but I had frequently called at the Bureau expecting to get an order. He finally told me: "Possibly" he says "I will give you an order one of these days." Shortly afterwards he came up to Toronto, and I was telephoned to, that he was in town, and I met him, and we finally arranged about getting the order.

2237. What arrangement did you make about getting the order? How did the order come to be given? Tell us the facts just as they were?—Well, we haggled considerably about the price, and he finally pulled out a paper, such as is used in the Department, and said he was ready to place the order, and I got the order from him.

2238. You got the order from him?—Yes.

2239. Was anything said or done, about paying money to Mr. Senécal?—Nothing was said about money when I met him in Ottawa or other places, until that day.

2240. Well, on that day?—There was.

2241. What was it?—He wanted some money and I could not stand giving him what he wanted.

2242. But what did he say about money?—He said he was in need of money—he has some payments to make—and he wanted some money. I told him that it was very difficult for me to get any money out of our people, that it was an unusual thing, and after considerable difficulty I went to the book-keeper and I told him that I wanted some money. He said: "Well, what is it for?" I said: "Expenses," and we haggled a long time, and I said: "Well, I must have it. You can either charge it to me, I must have that much money." Finally I got this cheque made payable to myself and I endorsed it, and it was after bank hours, and he had to have the money before he left town; I arranged to get the money out of the bank after bank hours.

2243. What was the amount of the cheque?—$200.

2244. How much did Senécal tell you he wanted?—Well, he wanted considerably more than that.

2245. How much more?—I think he wanted about $300.

2246. The value of the goods was about $3,000?—It came to over $3,000; there was 63 tons or more. Any way it was sixty something, but I could give you weights from my memorandum book.

2247. It is not so much of consequence. But he wanted $300?—I would not exactly say, but he wanted more than I gave him, and he wanted it that day, and he got it that day.

2248. Was anything said as to why it was that he did not take a cheque?—He did not want cheques.

2249. Was anything said about the cheques to him?—He wanted the money he did not want any cheque, and I told Williams to make the cheque payable to him

2250. He did not want any cheque, and that was the reason why the cheque was made payable to you?—Expenses are always made payable to me, and charged against me in that way, and that was the only way I could get the money.

2251. Could you have got that order without the payment of the money?—Well, perhaps I could, but I had the order in my hands at that time. Of course I expected to do more business with the Printing Bureau and it was not so much that order I was looking for.

2252. You were in the hope of doing further business in the Bureau?—Yes.

2253. Was it understood before, you were to pay him the $200? Why did you pay him the $200?—Because I wanted to stand well with the Superintendent.

2254. You wanted to stand well with the Superintendent?—Yes.

2255. Did he ask you for the money?—He did, or he would not have got it.

2256. He asked you for between $200 and $300?—Yes, as much as I could give him.

2257. You felt $200 was all you could stand?—Well I could not stand it.

2258. So you went to the bookkeeper, and got a cheque for $200 made payable to yourself, went to the bank after banking hours and got the cash?—Got the cash.

2259. Because he did not want a cheque?—That is it.

2260. You say you have been traveller for that concern for twenty years past Did you in any of these twenty years, have to pay, or did you pay, anybody else money to get trade, in that way?—Never; nothing of the kind ever occurred to me before.

2261. Where did you first meet Senecal?—I think I met him first at Ottawa, possibly I might have met him in Toronto before that, but for an extended interview the first time I met him was in the city.

2262. No order was given at that time?—No.

2263. Did you talk over business?—Yes.

2264. Was anything said about the conditions upon which he would do business?—No, I do not think so, not then.

2265. Was this the only bill of goods you ever sold to the Printing Bureau?—That was the only bill.

2266. Did the members of your firm know that you paid $200.00?—Not at that time.

2267. When did you communicate the fact to them?—Well, of course the only conversation I had with any of them, was I think last Friday.

2268. Who with?—Mr. Reid. I was at Berlin, and I was summoned home by telegraph and he seemed very much aggrieved about the matter.

2269. That was the first intimation that he had from you that such a thing had been done. And he was very much aggrieved about the matter, nothing of that kind having been done for 20 years before?—Never before.

2270. Now I want to ask you about the stuff that you sold, it is used for binding Statutes, I suppose?—Yes, Statutes and books of that kind.

2271. It is what you call mill-board and it is used for binding Parliamentary Reports, Statutes and Hansards?—I suppose it would be used for Hansards, I know it is used for the Statutes.

2272. How long in your judgment would the quantity you sold last for that purpose?—I would not hazard an opinion because I do not know. Of course I cannot tell you this, for I do not know the requirements of the establishment.

2273. They use a lot of material?—I cannot tell you. In fact I am not up in book binding at all. We do not run a bindery, we farm our work out to other binders. We sell the material that is all.

By Mr. Foster :

2274. You said that you had your order before you paid Mr. Senecal this $200.00?—Well I had arranged for the order, I would not say that I had it. It is some time ago now, it is over a year and I would not like to say whether I had or not.

2275. You would not like to say whether you had the order in your hand?—I would not like to say that. I saw it written out but I would not care to say that I had it, and I do not know my position in the matter, and I do not think it is fair to go too far in this way.

2276. Had you arranged for the price to be paid to you for the mill board and straw board before Mr. Senecal asked you for money. You are absolutely certain of that?—We had been bickering about the price for some time, about what other people were getting.

2277. And the prices were fixed?—Yes, the price was fixed at $50.00 a ton, and I usually sell it for $60.00.

2278. That is, it was sold below the usual price?—Yes, I may say that any paper dealer will admit that the price was low.

2279. So that what you gave to Mr. Senecal did not at all influence the price paid by the Department?—Not at all. Because if the price had been any lower I would have had to let the order go.

2280. Do you say that in your previous sales you never made presents of cash to any persons who supplied you with orders?—I never gave any money.

2281. But any other things—anything else?—Well, an inkstand or any trifling matter. I very often did that. Very often a valuable customer comes into our place and he asks for something, and I let him have what he wants, and there is no charge made?

2282. That is usual I believe?—Quite usual.

2283. These are not of very much value?—Sometimes the articles are of considerable value.

2284. It depends upon the order, I suppose?—It depends upon the customer.

2285. Upon the size of the order, would it not?—No, probably there might be no order at all, we might have been on terms of friendship before.

2286. You say you never received an order of this kind before?—Never.

2287. This was a large order?—Yes, it was a large order.

2288. Do you frequently sell such large quantities?—Well I frequently sell a carload of straw board, but that would be to manufacturers of cardboard, not binders. To ordinary persons we would sell half a ton or a ton.

2289. How many tons are there in a carload?—About 12 tons.

2290. At all events you think that this was a large order?—Yes.

2291. You felt justified in giving an abnormally high present rather than lose the order?—I certainly did give him a very large present.

By Mr. Lister :

2292. Would you have made the sale unless you gave the money?—Well, I think that is hardly fair to ask me.

2293. There is nothing to fear, you would not have given the money unless you were getting the sale?—No.

2294. Would you have made the sale unless you had given the money?—Probably I would not, I can hardly say that, because I do not know Mr. Senecal's mind. For that reason I would not like to say that. But any way I gave the money.

2295. Was the order in your hands before he said he wanted $300?—Yes. I looked at the order—at what might be called the specifications.

2296. I want to know whether he had given you the order then?—It is so long ago, I could not say now. I might remember a week ago, or I might remember a month ago, but it is over 12 months.

2297. You cannot say that?—I would not like to say that.

By Mr. Costigan :

2298. When you were asked a little while ago, you stated that you gave the $200, when you had had the order, but that you wanted further dealings with the department and wanted to stand well with the Superintendent?—I think I wanted to have the order all right, and I wanted to do future business with the Department.

By Mr. Lister :

2299. He told you he wanted to make some payment on land did he ?—I think he said so. He wanted some money and he wanted it right off.

2300. He was in a hurry about it ?—He wanted money then, anyhow.

2301. You could not give him all he demanded ?—No.

2302. And you concluded to give $200 ?—I did.

2303. When you beat him down to $200, what did he say ?—Well he accepted it and appeared to be satisfied.

By Mr. Barron :

2304. You told Mr. Foster that you were in the habit of giving some presents to customers occasionally ?—Yes.

2305. What sort of customers—the employee or the man who was paying for the things supplied by you ?—It might be the head of the firm or it might be an employe. I would think nothing of giving a man an inkstand, I would not care even if his employer knew it. It is quite customary that sort of thing. If a man came in and asked for an inkstand, or if he said that he wanted anything like that, I would say you need not mind that to-day we will charge it on something else.

2306. Make it up in some other way ?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

2307. Can you answer this question : When you gave Mr. Senecal $200, why did you do that ? Did you do it to secure the order you were then after, or to secure the good will with possible further orders ?—Probably both.

2308. What did you say was the amount of the order ?—It would amount to over $3,000.

2309. How many orders did you take from Mr. Senecal ?—That is the only one I received. I think they have received small orders from him. I am not certain but they may have received small orders from Bronskill's department. It would only be a matter of a few dollars anyway, and it was for stuff they usually imported themselves but had to get here.

2310. What would the average be—ten per cent ?—I cannot say about the orders.

By Mr. White (Cardwell) :

2311. Who signed the cheque for $200 ?—I cannot say exactly.

2312. It would be a member of the firm and not the book-keeper ?—Sometimes the book-keeper signs cheques. He has a power of attorney. Or it might be a member of the firm. The cheque can be produced ; there is no difficulty about that.

2313. You state positively that no member of the firm was aware of this transaction until last Friday ?—I told no member of the firm until last Friday ; that member of the firm does not take a very active part in the business.

2314. Did you tell anybody connected with the business ?—Certainly, I had to explain the matter to the book-keeper afterward.

2315. He knew for what purpose the $200 was used ?—I fancy he did.

2316. He would likely have informed the firm ?—He would probably have had to make some sort of explanation.

By Mr. Lister :

2317. You had no authority to do this ?—No.

2318. You assumed the responsibility ?—Yes, I did it myself, and I am to blame for it, if anyone.

By Mr. Taylor :

2319. Did you explain to the book-keeper when you asked for the cheque for what purpose you were going to use it ?—Perhaps I did. I told him I wanted it, and he hesitated about giving it to me. He said I cannot give you anything of that kind. I said "charge it to me if you like, but I want the money."

2320. You explained to him that you were getting an order from Senécal for $3000 and you wanted $200 to give him a present?—I do not know that I explained that, but I suppose he must have understood it.

By Mr. Landerkin :

2321. Why was there an urgency of getting the money that night?—I suppose he wanted to use it.

2322. And you were urgent because you could not get the order without it?—I wanted to remit him the money, but he would not have that.

By Mr. Taylor :

2323. You think the accountant explained to the members of the firm that he had issued a cheque for this purpose?—He may have explained, and he may not have. It would be weeks or months before they would have any understanding of that kind.

2324. Would he be likely to pay out $200 for a purpose of that kind without mentioning it to members of the firm?—The money would be charged against my expense account. When I get any money for expenses a cheque is issued to me payable to my order.

2325. Would that not be an extraordinary amount to be charged to your expense account over and above your regular travelling expenses?—Not necessarily. It just depends on how far away I am going.

2326. Were you going away far then?—No. The $200 is, of course, an unusual thing.

2327. You explained anyway what you got the money for to the accountant?—I certainly had nothing to do with anybody but the book-keeper.

2328. You do not know whether he explained it to the firm or not?—No.

By Mr. Foster :

2329. Did that money come out of your pocket or the firm's?—It certainly did not come out of mine.

By Mr. McMullen :

2330. In reply to a question from the Minister of Finance you said that you gave an inkstand or something of that kind to customers. Would you expect to make it up on other things?—I do not know. It would not be possible to make it up always. Mr. Chairman, I wish to make a word of explanation: If there is any blame attached to anybody I wish to assume the whole of it. I did the whole thing and I deeply regret this matter.

By Mr. Taylor :

2331. Was not the accountant partially to blame for giving you the money?—I was to blame.

---

THOMAS A. SCOTT called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

2332. I believe you are book-keeper for the Dominion Type Foundry of Montreal?—Yes.

2333. You occupied that position at the time the type was sold to the Government for the Printing Bureau?—Yes, I have been there for ten years.

2334. You are familiar with the books?—Yes, I am.

2335. Can you inform this Committee whether moneys were paid by the Dominion Type Foundry to Senecal?—There was money paid to Senecal.

2336. By whom?—Some was paid by the Manager.

2337. Who was the Manager?—Mr. Crosby. I have handed Senecal a cheque myself, and the President of the Company handed Senecal a cheque on one occasion for $200.

2338. Did any other members of the company hand him money that you are aware of?—No; it would be either the Manager, the President or myself.

2339. Mr. Starke told us he gave him a cheque for $200. Were you present when that was given?—I was in Mr. Starke's office. I had made a cheque out and it was on Mr. Starke's desk to sign when he came in.

2340. You paid money to Mr. Senecal himself?—On one or two occasions I made out a cheque.

2341. For what amount?—$100 or $200.

2342. Each?—Yes.

2343. Was it $100 or $200 each?—I do not know, but I know that Senecal got from us at different times about $1,800 in money—cheques or money.

2344. Is that all he got?—No, he got some other presents.

2345. In cheques or money he got $1,800, and he got other presents. What were they?—I cannot say, because I did not make them.

2346. But I suppose you have heard the firm talk about it?—That is hearsay evidence.

2347. We would like to know what that hearsay was?—Well, I know he got a present of a mirror when he moved up to Ottawa.

2348. Worth how much?—Worth about $60. He has also had several cases of champagne. He is very fond of wine.

2349. Could you tell me how many cases of champagne he had?—I could not.

2350. 100 cases?—Oh, no; five or six may be.

2351. I suppose it was the best brand?—Pommery.

2352. How much a case is it worth?—$29.

2353. Will you undertake to swear that he did not get 10 cases?—I would not.

2354. But you are sure he got five or six?—I am not sure he got 5 or 6. I said about 5 or 6. He may have only got 3.

2355. At a cost of $25 a case?—$29.

2356. Who sent the wine; who ordered it?—The manager, Mr. Crosby.

2357. What else besides wine did he get?—I could not say what else.

2358. Were there other presents?—I believe there were.

2359. Have you not heard what they are?—I have not heard everything.

2360. I am asking you what you heard?—I am telling you as far as I can recollect.

2361. Do you know of anything else?—I would not swear that there was or was not.

2362. Mr. Crosby would know all about it?—Yes, he would.

2363. Is he on his way back from British Columbia?—Yes. We received a telegram from Winnipeg yesterday that he is on his way home. He will be in Montreal Friday.

2364. Did you know Mr. Senecal prior to the time he obtained the position of superintendent of the Printing Bureau?—Yes. I knew him when he was manager of L'Etendard, one of the Montreal newspapers.

2365. Do you remember what position he occupied previous to that?—No. That is my first acquaintance with Senecal.

2366. He was occupying that position immediately before coming here?—Yes.

2367. How long was he the manager of L'Etendard?—I could not say that at all.

2368. You cannot give any idea?—I cannot give any idea at all. Let me see. I should think he was manager of L'Etendard for 2 or 3 years. I know he came in after Prendergast left, 2369. Have you heard anything of Mr. Senecal within the last two or three weeks?—I did hear that he had skipped; that is all I heard.

2370. You do not know where he is?—No.

2371. You sold considerable type to the Government—something like $40,000 or $50,000 worth?—I think our total sales up to date amount to $48,500, but I would not be positive.

2372. You did not get as much as Mr. Patterson?—No, we did not give as much boodle. Senecal was constantly throwing that in our teeth. We did not give him as much boodle; we could not afford it.

2373. He was reproaching you about it?—He was. He would send down telegrams that he was hungry.

2374. And thirsty?—Hunger and thirst go together.

By Mr. Lister :

2375. Was the duty on that type paid or did it come in free?—The bulk of the type, supplied by us to the Bureau, was of our own manufacture.

2376. Did you import any for the Bureau?—About $1700 worth of imported type was supplied by us.

2377. Did you pay duty on that?—We did not.

2378. You know what the duty on type is?—20 per cent.

2379. Is it not more than that?—That is all.

2380. You did not pay any duty at all events. If Mr. Senecal or the Government did not pay it, it came in free?—That is the size of it.

2381. So you gave Mr. Senecal only about 5 per cent. of the purchase?—it would not be 5 per cent.?—I do not think it would be over 5 per cent.

2382. Of the total purchase?—No.

2383. So that if you did not pay any duty on the type you made a clean 15 per cent.—you saved the duty anyway?—We saved the duty on the type that we got from the States to sell to the Government.

2384. Do you know of any correspondence between Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Crosby?—I do know of correspondence; yes.

2385. Concerning of course the matter of the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

2386. When was that; before you sold or after this?—Well after we had received an order from Senecal and the greater portion of the material had been manufactured, we wrote up to Ottawa asking if they would receive the material that was ready, as it was crowding us for room to store it. A letter came back from Ottawa, stating that we had no order, although we had Senecal's written order. So the then President, Mr. Alexander Murray drafted a letter and got me to write it—a letter to the Secretary of State, Mr. Chapleau.

2387. You wrote a letter to the Secretary of State to the effect that?—That we were surprised at receiving such a letter; that we had an order from Mr. Senecal; that it had been received in good faith and that the material was under way and the greater portion of it was then awaiting shipment.

2388. So that you had gone on under Senecal's order to manufacture the type and the greater portion of it was then ready for shipment?—Yes.

2389. When you received?—A letter from the Secretary of State stating that we had no order.

2390. How long before that letter was received was it that Senecal had given you an order for this type?—I could not say—about four or five months.

2391. Then for four or five months you had gone on under the impression that you had an order for this type?—Yes.

2392. You acted on that order?—We acted on the order.

2393. You manufactured the type?—We manufactured the type.

2394. And had it ready for delivery?—We were ready to deliver it.

2395. But you were told by the Secretary of State that you had no order?—That is exactly as it is. That letter was received in December, 1887, and answered directly after it was received. The exact date I cannot remember.

2396. You wrote to Mr. Chapleau in reply that you had received Senecal's order and had gone on in good faith and had then manufactured the greater portion of the type. What else?—We wanted them to take the delivery of it.

2397. Did you receive any further letter?—If there was any further letter I did not see it.

2398. Where is that letter from Mr. Chapleau to your company?—I expect that Mr. Crosby has it. It was in my possession until three or four weeks ago.

2399. Crosby has it?—I think so.

2400. Who took it away from you?—Crosby.

2401. Was it filed away?—It was kept along with other documents in the safe.

2402. It was kept with other documents in the safe, and three or four weeks ago Mr. Crosby took it?—It might be five weeks.

2403. Before he went to British Columbia?—Yes.

2404. How long before he left?—Probably a couple of weeks. He left on the 18th of August for British Columbia.

2405. It was long after this investigation commenced? This investigation has been going for about six weeks, or two months?—I don't know whether it was after or before. It may have been before.

2406. You say it was three or four weeks?—I think it was three or four weeks, but it might be longer than that. He asked me if I had the documents and I told him that I had.

2407. What documents?—The correspondence, and the cheques, and the telegrams.

2408. You had telegrams?—We had telegrams.

2409. From Senecal?—From Senecal.

2410. And letters from Senecal?—Letters from Senecal, yes.

2411. And letters from Mr. Chapleau?—Yes; I would not be sure of letters from Mr. Chapleau.

2412. There was one letter at all events?—Yes.

2413. These were all put together?—They were all put together in an envelope.

2414. And that envelope was in the safe?—In my safe, yes.

2415. And Mr. Crosby asked you for the papers connected with the Printing Bureau?—He did.

2416. Did you get them for him?—I did, yes.

2417. And handed them to him?—I did.

2418. What did he say he wanted them for?—He said: "I will take care of these."

2419. Were they not perfectly safe in the safe?—He may not have thought so.

2420. He did not think they were?—He may not have thought so.

2421. But as a matter of fact they had been in the safe ever since the time that the type was delivered, and paid for?—They had been in the safe for about fifteen or sixteen months.

2422. Do you know where he put them?—I do not.

2423. Did you notice whether he put them in his pocket or not?—I could not say.

2424. Have you ever seen them since?—I have not.

2425. Have you ever spoken to him about them?—I have not.

2426. You know nothing about them?—I know nothing at all about them.

2427. He simply said he would take care of them?—He simply said he would take care of them.

2428. Has he a safe to your knowledge?—He may have at his house, but I do not know.

2429. You do not know anything about that?—I do not know anything about it.

2430. Have you ever had any conversation with Mr. Crosby about this matter?—Oh, there has been a good many conversations carried on in the office. Some of them I overheard. Some I took part in, and others I don't know anything about at all.

2431. Conversations between whom?—One of the members of the Company and the Manager.

2432. Were there many talks about, to use a slang word, the “Greasing” of Mr. Senecal?—Yes, there were.

2433. And what was the decision come to by the members of the firm?—In what way?

2434. About “greasing” him, about bribing him, about paying commissions to him, or about making presents, or giving money to him in any way you think of?—The members of the firm decided that if Senecal kept on, we would soon have nothing left for profits.

2435. Did he say he wanted to buy lands? Did he say he was buying anything of that kind?—I never remember him saying anything of that kind. He wanted money, that is what he wanted, and he generally got it.

2436. Were there many telegrams from Senecal, telling you he was hungry?—I cannot remember now but one.

2437. You remember one?—I know there were a great many telegrams used a to come from him. Some of them I saw, and some I did not. Sometimes they were for orders.

2438. But you have only a recollection of one telegram, containing the painful news that he was hungry?—“I am very hungry.”

2439. Was there anything else in a telegram except that he was hungry?—Nothing outside of the hunger, and the cure I believe.

2440. What was the cure?—I don't remember.

2441. But there was some thing about cure in it?—Yes.

2442. There were a lot of telegrams I suppose, altogether from Mr. Senecal about one thing and another?—During the time we were filling the order, I suppose the telegrams from him would average three or four a week.

2443. I suppose you receive a good many letters from him?—Yes, sir.

2444. And those letters and telegrams would be in the parcel that Mr. Crosby got?—Some of them would, some would not.

2445. What would become of those?—Those were orders filed away upstairs.

2446. But with the exception of those containing orders the letters would be altogether?—Not all of them, some particular letters only.

2447. What do you mean when you say “Some particular letters”?—They were not all put together. Some were put aside in the safe, others were filed away as letters ordinarily are, and letters containing orders were filed away in the stock room.

2448. The business letters were filed?—Yes.

2449. The letters with orders were filed away?—Yes.

2450. But the other letters, of particular interest, were kept by themselves?—Kept by themselves: yes.

2451. A peculiar interest I suppose attached to these letters, as they had reference to the payments Mr. Senecal was demanding?—I expect so; I did not see all the letters.

2452. But from what you saw?—From what I saw, I inferred, that is what the letter contained.

By Sir Richard Cartwright:

2453. Your company did a good deal of business with the Government—apparently $40,000 or $50,000?—Between $48,000 and $49,000.

2454. Are you aware whether your company, on any occasion, subscribed to the election funds?

Mr. FOSTER.—I don't think he should be asked that question.

By Sir Richard Cartwright:

2455. Are you aware, sir, whether your Company, on any occasion subscribed to election funds?

Mr. FOSTER.—I object to that question.

By Mr. Lister :

2456. Did your firm—the firm of which you are bookkeeper, namely, “The Dominion Type Company of Montreal,” contribute money for the purpose of the Dominion Elections, in the way of sustaining the present Government?

Mr. FOSTER.—I object to that question.

The CHAIRMAN—The question is asked the witness whether his firm contributed towards the funds for the Dominion Elections I think that, while this committee has, and should have, the widest latitude in investigating the Public Accounts for all purposes whatever, we cannot go on examining beyond that. We can enquire into the causes which lead to business being done with different firms or different companies throughout the country, when we have done business with those firms; but while we can investigate fully into all the business which was done, whether done properly or improperly, and whether too large an amount had been paid or not, still when we have investigated that, I do not think we have any right after that to enquire what any man does with money he legally becomes possessed of, and therefore I rule that the question asked by Mr. Lister is not a proper question to ask the witness.

Mr. CHAPLEAU then made the following statement:—

Sometime ago I received a letter from Mr. Starke intimating to me that he was informed his company had been assessed for a subscription. I wrote to him confidentially telling him, that so far as I was concerned—so far as the Government was concerned—I repudiated the information that he had received, if it was held to be a charge. I received in answer a letter, containing an ample apology from Mr. Starke, as one gentleman can write to another gentleman, a letter of apology. That letter being confidential I have no objection at all to submit it to Mr. Lister himself, and if he deems it necessary to have it placed before the committee, I pledge myself, it shall be. Mr. Starke does not belong to the same political party as I do, but I say that a letter of apology was received, repudiating the insinuation, that anything of the kind had been done. I will submit it to Mr. Lister himself, and if he wishes it to be put before the Committee I will do so.

By Mr. Lister :

2457. I think, after the explanation which the Secretary of State has given, I may now ask if the firm contributed towards election funds?

Mr. Foster objected.

2458. Have you any information of your own knowledge, or through any of the members of the firm, that the Secretary of State had been made aware of Senécal's exactions?—I have not.

2459. Have you never heard members of the partnership talk about complaining to the Government, or that they had complained to the Government or any member of it about the exactions that Senécal was making?—I think on one occasion I heard the manager say that he was going to let Chapleau know what Senécal was doing; but I cannot say whether he did it or not.

2460. That would be Mr. Crosby?—Yes.

2461. He said he was going to let Mr. Chapleau know what Senécal was doing?—Yes.

2462. How long ago was that?

Mr. Wood (Brockville) objected.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2463. Do you know when the first arrangement as to prices and orders, and extent of the order, that the firm or manufactory could supply the Government with was first spoken of, and say where it was, if you know it?—I remember Senécal came into the office shortly after he had received a letter stating that he was to be appointed superintendent of the Printing Bureau about to be established, and he inquired about the prices then.

2464. Did Mr. Senécal come to the firm with any order or credentials from the Government?—He had a letter signed by yourself.

2465. To what effect?—That he was to be superintendent of the Printing Bureau about to be opened.

2466. Had he any credentials to make purchases from the firm at that time?—He made no purchases at that time.

2467. The first time he made purchases had he an order, or was he authorized to your knowledge to make such purchases?—I believe he had. I saw the order printed—evidently an extract from an Act of Parliament appointing him and empowering him to make purchases.

2468. He showed a copy of the Statute relating to his appointment?—Yes.

2470. How long after you had seen Senécal did Mr. Crosby come to Ottawa?—I cannot say.

2471. About how far does your recollection go—would it have been the next day, or the next week, or a few days afterwards?—I cannot say whether it was a day or a month.

2472. Have you any recollection of Mr. Crosby coming back to your establishment, and saying he had arranged for the prices, and quantities to be delivered, at the different times at which the firm could deliver them?—Yes; I have some recollection, but I do not remember the exact circumstances.

2473. You must recollect also I presume that the orders were pressing orders and that your firm could not supply more than a certain quantity at a certain time?—I have a recollection that when the type was ready for delivery Senécal refused to receive it.

2474. When the type was ready for delivery Mr. Senécal refused to receive it?—Yes.

2475. Why?—We had got a letter, he wanted to know by what authority we were to ship the type.

2476. Have you the letter written on that occasion?—I said before the letters were in possession of the Manager.

2477. Even the official correspondence?—Yes.

2478. Was this official?—Some of it was official and some of it not official.

2479. Do you remember him saying that the Department was not ready to store that quantity of type and that we had to get a certain time to provide for the storage?—I have no recollection of that. I know that Senécal had been asking for money and that he did not get it and that ruffled his temper.

2480. Do you know whether Mr. Romaine, one of the employees of the House of Commons was connected with the arrangements for the purchases that were made from the firm?—I believe he was.

2481. You know I suppose that he is a man of some experience in printing?—I could not say that, I know Mr. Crosby is.

2482. You said that your firm received a letter from the Secretary of State—from me, was it an official letter or was it a private letter?—Well I took it to be an official letter from the fact that I answered it.

2483. So that letter can be found in the Department, I suppose?—I do not know that. I hardly think it would be copied.

2484. And that letter said that the order had not been given, and that Mr. Senécal had no authority to give the order?—That Mr. Senécal was not authorized to order anything. At the time we had made arrangements with Mr. Senécal, and had been working on the order some three months before.

By Mr. Lister :

2485. You have told the Secretary of State that when you first saw Senécal, he had a letter stating that he was to be appointed Superintendent of the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

2486. At that time did he give an order?—Not at that time.

2487. You say that afterwards he gave one to your place, and then he showed you a printed paper in which there was a copy of the statute appointing him, and authorizing him to purchase for the Bureau?—Yes.

2488. Was it at that time that the arrangement was first made for the purchase of the type?—At that time or shortly after.

2489. So that you had no doubt at the time you saw that authorization, but that he had the authority to enter into a contract for the purchases with your company?—Certainly not. The Act called for it.

2490. How long would it be after that order was given, when you had seen this paper authorizing Mr. Senécal to enter into the contract, that Mr. Crosby went to Ottawa for the purpose of fixing the quantities and prices?—I cannot say how long.

2491. To the best of your judgment?—I have no recollection. It may have been the next day or it may have been a month after.

2492. But you do know, as a matter of fact, that he came to Ottawa for that purpose?—I do.

2493. So that within a month after you had received the order from Senécal, Mr. Crosby, the manager of the company, did come to Ottawa for the purpose of fixing quantities and prices?—It would be within that time according to your judgment? To the best of my opinion, it was inside of a month.

2494. Within a month after Senécal had given you the order, your manager came here to arrange for quantities and prices?—Yes.

2495. How many months was it after the order was given by Senécal, that Senécal refused the stuff?—I cannot say. I cannot recollect.

2496. How long did it take you to fill the order?—The order covered about two years.

2497. Would it be within six months of the time the first order was given?—I think it would be.

2498. Would that be about the time that Senécal refused to accept the stuff?—About that time.

2499. Would that be about the time you received a letter from Mr. Chapleau stating that no order had been given?—I think the letter from Mr. Chapleau was received previous to that.

2500. Would it be long previous; because you know you had gone on and manufactured a quantity of stuff?—The letter from Mr. Chapleau was received in December and I think the one from Senécal was received in the January or February following.

2501. You think the letter from Chapleau was in December, 1887, and that the letter from Senécal was in the January following?—I think so.

2502. So that it was then said that Mr. Senécal had no authority to order. In answer to that you say you saw his authority and that Mr. Crosby came to Ottawa for the purpose of fixing quantities and prices; that you went on with the contract and in December came the first intimation you had from Mr. Chapleau that Mr. Senécal had no authority.—He ordered some forty thousand pounds of type, nonpareil, long primer, small pica and minion.

2503. It was an order?—A written order.

2504. By Senécal?—Yes, signed "A. Senécal, Superintendent Public Printing Bureau."

2505. So that it was months after that order was given before it was repudiated by anybody?—Yes, some months.

2506. The first repudiation was from Mr. Chapleau, who said that Senécal had no authority to give such an order, and then Mr. Senécal followed it up by repudiating it?—No, he did not repudiate the order. He asked us why we had shipped up type and said that he would not receive it. I do not recollect all the circumstances of the case.

2507. That letter is one of the letters Mr. Crosby has?—I believe it is.

2508. How was it you came to get the type accepted?—I do not know how it was done.

2509. Did you hear from any member of the firm the reason why the type was accepted?—No answer.

2510. Out with it?—I am going to tell the truth. I know why it was accepted.

2511. What is it?—I do not know how the thing came about, but our firm was called upon for a cheque for $1,500 to be made payable to François Benoit, as a contribution to the Liberal-Conservative Fund, and then the order was confirmed after that. The cat is out of the bag now.

2512. François Benoit got a cheque for $1,500 from your firm?—Yes, and we then received a letter that Senécal's orders were good.

2514. That is to say you gave them value for their money?—The got value for their money.

2515. But this is blood money?—Yes.

2516. You drew the cheque yourself?—I drew the cheque myself.

2517. You say a letter came back to honor Senécal's orders?—Yes.

2518. You do not know by whom the letter was written?—I did not see the letter. I was merely told that the orders were all right. Senécal's orders were to be filled as they came in.

2519. They were filled accordingly?—They were filled accordingly.

2520. There was no more trouble?—Except when Senécal got hungry.

2521. The "grease" was all right. Do you remember when that cheque was drawn?—I think it was drawn in January 1888, but I would not be positive. It may have been February. I know the stub of the cheque in the cheque-book will show it.

2522. There is a cheque for it?—There was a cheque given for it.

2523. And the stub will show it?—The stub will show it and my book will show when it was paid.

2524. Did Benoit come himself for the cheque?—No. It was given for some person and taken out of the office.

2525. Who took the cheque?—I left it on the President's desk in the morning and that is the last I saw of it.

2526. Who was the President?—The late Alexander Murray.

2527. Seemingly you got pretty badly stuck?—We made our 10 per cent on all we put in—one way and another.

2528. Who ordered you to draw the cheque?—I cannot say whether it was the Manager or the President.

2529. I suppose that letter stating that Mr. Senécal's orders might now be honored would be amongst the bundle of letters you gave Mr. Crosby?—I expect so I could not say for certain. I had a large envelope in the safe, marked "Senecal" and some of the letters and telegrams were put in there. I do not know what they were exactly.

By Mr. Bergeron :

2530. You did not see such a letter as that of which you have spoken? The instructions might have been verbal? Do you know if there was a letter or not?—There was certainly written information given, that Senécal's orders were to be honored.

2531. Have you seen it?—I do not know that I saw it myself. I cannot recollect.

2532. Then how do you know it?—I was told by the manager.

By Mr. Lister :

2533. Senecal's orders were honored?—They were honored, and the stuff taken on delivery without any question.

By Mr. Foster :

2534. You never saw that order?—I do not recollect whether I did or did not.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2535. Was the order endorsed by the Queen's Printer or not?—I could not say.

2536. You have no information of your own, or from the manager, that an order had been given in the beginning of 1887, and that quantities, prices, &c., had been agreed upon?—No; not in the beginning of 1887.

2537. Well, in the winter of 1887?—I think sometime in the spring—the month of May was when the thing first came to my notice.

2538. What came to your notice?—Senecal came in and said he had got—

2539. No, no. I am speaking of the information given by Mr. Crosby after he came to Ottawa. We have the dates in the Department?—Repeat your question, please?

2540. When did you get the information from Mr. Crosby that he had arranged matters, and that the order for quantities, prices, and time of delivery had been fixed?—Sometime in the summer of 1887. I think the order was given in the month of July, and the material was to be delivered as required before September 1st of the following year. I think that is the way the order ran.

2541. And you undertake to say that no delivery of type was made to the Government before the giving of a cheque to Mr. Benoit?—Yes; I undertake to say it.

2542. And that cheque was, to the best of your recollection, given in the month of January or February, 1888?—To the best of my recollection—Yes.

2543. I suppose there were some elections being carried on at that time, if the president of the Conservative Association had been asking him for subscriptions?—I do not know.

2544. You do not recollect that there was anything going on in the way of an election at that time?—Not to my knowledge. From hearsay, I do.

2545. You do not recollect?—I do recollect that the payment of $1,500 was made.

2546. I am not asking about the payment. I am asking if there was an election going on at that time?—That I cannot say.

2547. Have you in your books, or in the possession of the firm any note of Mr. Senecal?—I had until four or five week ago, two notes of Senecal.

2548. That he had given to the firm?—Yes.

2549. At what time and for what amount?—One of $150, I believe and one of $200. One was given when he first came, and the other one shortly afterwards I do not recollect the time exactly.

2550. And that was at the time that he first came to your establishment—that is to say, at the time when he was appointed as Superintendent?—Yes, four years and a half ago. I cannot remember distinctly, but I know that the facts are there.

2551. You said that you had them until two or three weeks ago. Did you deliver them to anybody, and to whom?—I stated that Mr. Crosby, the Manager, asked for them and I gave them to him.

2552. Then the notes for which Mr. Senecal was responsible and which dated as far back as three or four years ago were kept in your firm, and were taken by the Manager, some two or three weeks ago?—Well four or five weeks ago. It is over three weeks since he was summoned to appear here, and before that.

2553. Do you know if he was an old friend of Mr. Crosby's, having been in the printing business for years before?—I don't know that he was.

2554. Well do you not know that Mr. Crosby was an old acquaintance or friend of Mr. Senecal's?—I don't think it.

2555. Are you aware, or do you know the reason why, Mr. Senecal gave to Mr. Crosby, or to your firm that note? For what object was it?—He said he was removing up to Ottawa, and he wanted money to pay his family's way up, and help him to move.

2556. From whom did he borrow that money? Was it from the Manager or the President?—From the Manager I believe; I do not recollect.

2557. You have stated that the Government had had, as you say a good bargain from your firm, that is to say that the prices were low. Do I understand you to mean that?—The prices were the legitimate prices, the same as charged any person under the same conditions: Ten per cent discount given for cash.

2558. And there was no consideration in the fixing of prices, for anything which would have been considered to be either presents, or subscription, or anything at all?—None whatever.

By Mr. Lister :

2559. But you did feel it necessary to make presents?—We just had to do it, or else get no orders. There was no bones made about it. He just came down and said; "Patterson is sending me so and so, why don't you do the same."

By Mr. Hyman ;

2560. No money, no orders?—That is about the size of it.

By Mr. Lister :

2561. He was going to get more from you than Patterson before he got through?—He did pretty well.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2562. I understand you to say that as far back as the winter of 1887 the order, the quantity, the prices, and the time of delivery had been arranged by Mr. Crosby with the Government at Ottawa?—I did not say in the winter of 1887. I said during 1887 I don't know whether it was in the spring or in the summer but I think, it was somewhere about the middle of the year—I think it was in July.

By the Chairman :

2563. Can you say to what extent that order went?—It amounted in all to about $46,000. At first that was for the Bureau, then the electoral lists came in and the minion we had received on account of the first order, was put in with the other order—It was discarded from the Bureau and put into the electoral list part.

By Mr. Lister :

2564. At the time he left Montreal to come to Ottawa, Senecal was not in very good financial position was he?—He got about $15 or $16 a week.

2565. That was his salary?—About that amount.

2566. So that he could not have occupied a very high position—in business I mean to say?—No.

2567. And it was necessary, in order to get to Ottawa, that he should borrow this money?—Well he claimed that it was.

2568. So your company went through the form of taking a note, and intended to give him the money all the time did they not?—I don't think that that was Mr. Murray's idea at all, at that time.

2569. It was a bona fide loan at first?—At first.

2570. And the notes remained in the custody of your company for four years?—I say the notes were in my charge until six weeks ago.

2571. Nothing had ever been paid on them?—There was nothing ever paid on them.

2572. And I suppose you understand nothing is to be paid?—I understood it from the beginning.

2573. I suppose you have a practical knowledge of the type business? Is it a wise thing to purchase for the one office two fonts of type?—From one office two different kinds of type.

2574. For the one office?—From two different manufacturers?

2575. Yes?—It certainly is not.

2576. I understand that if they got mixed up at all, that one font would be destroyed altogether, would it not?—If they got mixed up both fonts would be destroyed.

2577. So that from an economical stand point it is not a wise thing to buy from different manufacturers for one office?—I don't think it was. I know if I was running an office I would not do it.

By Mr. White (Cardwell):

2578. You would not buy from two manufacturers for the reason the type would get mixed up?—That is the reason I would not want to get it from two foundries.

2579. Why should they get mixed up? You keep them separate in the office until you distribute them in the case?—You don't always distribute them in the right case.

2580. There would be just as much likelihood of distributing them in the wrong case with type furnished from one foundry as from two?—There are always a lot of things which may never happen.

By Mr. Somerville:

2581. Are you a practical printer?—I am not, but I know that type from two foundries won't match. There is only one firm that that is not the case with, and that is McKellar, Smith, and Jordan, and they have fancy type.

By Mr. Foster:

2582. How long have you been in the business?—Nine years since the 20th of April.

2583. And in the conduct of your business you have given to others who have placed orders with you, or have bought type from you, presents of money or anything else?—Merely giving a foreman a composing rule, a stick, or a bodkin.

2584. That is all you have done?—That is all.

2585. You have never given money or presents to any larger amount than that?—Never to my knowledge.

By Mr. Sproule:

2586. I understood you to say that when these notes were given first, they were given with the bona fide expectation that they were going to be repaid, is that it?—I never expected it. I believe that Mr. Murray, the then president, expected they would be; he looked upon it in the light of a loan.

2487. You said afterwards you knew from the first that they were not going to be paid?—I did not think they would ever be paid, but Mr. Murray did.

2588. I understood you to say you knew they would not?—I did not know. A man cannot tell whether a man is going to fulfil his promise, until the time matures, and you have the right to form your opinion then.

2588½. You believed they were not?—I believed they were not—that there was not the slightest intention to pay it, and if I remember aright the notes were made out in the name of the manager, payable to his order.

By Mr. Hyman:

2589. These things were sold to the Government at the same price as to the ordinary trade?—Yes.

2590. Did you have the discount of the ordinary trade?—The customer pays cash and we give him the discount certainly.

2591. What is the discount?—Ten per cent.

2592. For an order of the same size as an order of the Government?—Yes.

2593. What is the discount given to the Government?—Ten per cent.

2594. Taken off the face of the account?—Taken off the face of the account.

2595. You would give ten per cent for an order of $100?—Not always.

2596. For cash?—For strict cash, we would.

2597. You would give the same discount on an order for $100 as for $50,000?—
Yes.

By Mr. Hyman :

2598. The discount you speak of is a cash discount?—A cash discount, not a trade discount.

By Mr. Lister :

2599. It appears on the face of the account?—On the face of every invoice I believe. There was one lot of stuff that was not invoiced—it was minion for the printing of the lists.

2600. There are different prices on one of your invoices, 44 cents and 50 cents?—Some of the type was 58, some 40, some 36 and some 32, all the way up from 32 cents to 75.

By Mr. Bergeron :

2601. The Government did not lose anything?—The Government never lost anything by it.

By Mr. Moncrieff :

2602. The Government got the type just as cheap, notwithstanding any payments made to Senécal?—Every bit.

By Mr. Somerville :

2603. How much minion did they buy from you in round figures?—About 67,000 lbs.

2604. To make this clear about the mixing of the font—is it not a fact that when you get an order for a font of type for a printing office—say for example the “Toronto Mail,”—when it is about to appear in a new dress, would they be likely to give part of that order to you, and give Patterson an order for Scotch type to mix with yours?—No. They would order all their sorts from us. Any printer with any knowledge would tell you that having two different fonts of the same type you run a great risk of their being mixed.

2605. You think that where a large quantity of type is purchased of minion say, that it is most desirable to give the order to one establishment?—Yes.

2606. And if you want to get the order increased, you would obtain it from the same source?—Yes.

2607. If a printer were to order 1,000 lbs of minion from you and 500 lbs from Mr. Patterson of Toronto, he would be next thing to a fool would he not?—I would certainly consider him next to a fool if he were to do so. Once the type got mixed it would be practically useless. In the first place the type is not the same height, has not the same body, and has not the same face.

2608. Then you are of opinion that Senécal did not do what was the in the interest of the Printing Bureau when he ordered from you and Mr. Patterson both?—No, I think he was working in his own interest.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2609. Do you know whether there was any correspondence with your firm about this question at the time the orders were being executed?—I do not.

2610. Have you seen the correspondence?—Yes.

2611. Do you know that the firm, the President himself wrote to the Government that they could not supply the amount required at the time, and that a reply was sent that to give them the delay, they asked for, would have certainly been unreasonable in view of the necessities of the Department in the matter of printing the Voters' Lists?—I am not aware that there was a letter received.

2612. Do you know how much type there is in the Voters' Lists?—I think there is 125,000 lbs.

2613. There is 160,000 lbs., if you want to know?—That was the original letter.

2614. Yes, but it was increased.—I know one thing for certain, that is that the sorts for our type were cast in Toronto and furnished to the Bureau. They stole our type, face and body of it to supply the Bureau with the sorts.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville):

2615. Who stole it?—The foundry that made the type.

By Mr. Somerville:

2616. Do you know that to be a fact of your own knowledge?—Yes.

2617. That the sorts are here?—Yes.

2618. How did it occur?—Our men left us and went up there to work, and took away the type that they were making for the firm.

2619. What firm was it?—Marter, Lewis & Co., commonly called the Toronto Type Company.

2620. That is Mr. Johnston's place, is it not?—Yes.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville):

2621. The Government had nothing to do with that, I suppose?—No.

By Mr. White (Cardwell):

2622. I understand that part of the goods for this order for the Government were purchased in the United States?—Only some fonts of type that were not made in Canada.

2623. Did any other firm than one supply the order?—No.

2624. Do you know whether it was shipped from the United States?—Yes. Direct from McKellar, Smith, Jordan & Co., of Philadelphia.

2625. Do you know what prices were charged to Government for that type?—The American list prices.

2626. So that the question of duty did not enter into the prices at all?—Not at all.

2627. And you did not add 20 per cent on account of the duty?—No. We sold it at the American List prices.

By Mr. Somerville:

2628. Did you take any discount off out of the American list prices? We did not.

2629. If I gave you an order for a lot of American type to be imported here, and added the duty, would you give discount?—They did not add the duty.

2630. The Government did not get either duty or discount?—No.

2631. To make it plain. If I order, say, $2,000 worth of American type from American specimens and you imported the type to Montreal and you would have to pay the duty, what difference in the price of the type would that make? Would not the duty be added to the price?—We generally add half the duty and make it net, but some type, we sell at list prices.

By Mr. Lister:

2632. Do you not get anything off the list prices?—We get something off the list prices to pay for the handling of it.

By Mr. Chapleau:

2633. The type that was bought in the United States was not bought by the Government at list prices?—Certainly not.

W. D. GILLEAN, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

2634. You live in Montreal, Mr. Gillean?—I do.

2635. You are assistant manager of the Canada Paper Company?—I am.

2636. How long have you held that position?—About a year and a-half.

2737. How long have you been in the service of the Company?—About 25 years.

2638. What position did you occupy prior to assuming the position of assistant manager?—For some 10 or 11 years I was manager of the Toronto branch.

2639. You were living in Toronto and manager of the branch there?—Yes.

2640. And all these years you had been living in Toronto?—Yes, 12 years or nearly.

2641. Had you any knowledge of the business in Montreal prior to assuming the assistant managership?—I was not fully conversant with all the details.

2642. Do you know a man named Berthiaume, editor of La Presse?—I do.

2643. How long have you known him?—Since June 1890.

2644. What position does this gentleman, Berthiaume, occupy in Montreal—what was his business in June 1890, when you first became closely acquainted with him?—I understood that he was the printer of La Presse.

2645. That he was the printer of La Presse a year ago last June?—Yes.

2646. Will you tell me if you know whether he is a man of substance or a bankrupt?—I consider him a responsible man.

2647. You consider him responsible?—Yes.

2648. Do you not know that he is insolvent?—No, I never heard of it.

2649. Have you ever looked at the quotations in Bradstreet to see what he is quoted at?—No, I have not.

2650. Do you know anything about the New England Paper Company having contracted with Mr. Berthiaume for a supply of paper?—I have no knowledge further than what I have seen in the newspapers.

2651. Do you know anything about the arrangement made by the Canada Paper Company with Mr. Berthiaume?—I am quite conversant with it.

2652. Then you know that the Canada Paper Company assumed in a sense the position of the New England Paper Company. Do you know that they paid the New England Paper Company's indebtedness?—I do not know that they paid off the New England Paper Company's indebtedness.

2653. Do you know that they paid Mr. Young?—I have no positive knowledge.

2654. Do your books show it?—I do not think so.

2655. Your Manager, Mr. MacFarlane, says they did pay certain notes made by Mr. Berthiaume to the New England Paper Company and endorsed by Mr. Chapleau?—I have no positive knowledge of that, but I presume that a portion of the money advanced by us went for that purpose.

2656. Your manager says it did?—I do not know.

2657. Did he tell you so?—No.

2658. Are there any entries in your books showing the transaction?—Yes, there should be.

2659. Have you anything to do with the books?—No.

By the Chairman :

2660. What are your duties?—I am assistant to the Manager in the general administration of the business. All orders for paper go through my hands and I distribute them to our different mills.

2661. And the contract with "La Presse" was entered into before your going to Montreal?—Some three months prior.

2662. So, as a matter of fact, you would have no personal knowledge of the matter at all?—Nothing further than that I have seen and read the contract.

2663. Have you it with you?—I have not.

2664. Have you read any other papers except the contract in connection with it?—No, I have not seen any or heard of any—no letters or papers outside of the contract.

2665. Does that contract contain any provision as to the division of profit on paper sold to the Government?—None whatever.

2666. Or that they should be applied to the reduction of the promissory note by Mr. Berthiaume?—Nothing at all.

2667. There is no such provision contained in that contract as this: "Should the Canada Paper Company receive any contract or order from the Government, one-half of any profit received therefrom shall go towards liquidating the above indebtedness"?—Nothing of the kind.

2668. You have seen no such agreement?—Nothing of the kind.

2669. There is no such matter in it?—No; I am positive. I never heard of it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2670. You have seen that contract?—Yes.

2671. And you know there is no such understanding between Mr. MacFarlane and Mr. Berthiaume?—No.

2672. And no rebate is made except when the notes are partially paid?—No rebate whatever.

2673. You have been asked if Mr. Berthiaume was a bankrupt. He has been a long time a printer in Montreal?—Yes.

2674. Is it not a fact that Mr. Berthiaume is a solvent man, and is what is called in your trade a desirable customer?—A very desirable customer, and pays very satisfactorily, and has done so since my connection with the Company last June.

By Mr. Lister :

2675. Do you undertake to say that he is financially a responsible man. That is to say, out of whom an execution could be made for $1,000?—I cannot go beyond our dealings with Mr. Berthiaume.

2676. He pays you satisfactorily?—Yes.

2677. Can you say that you would take his promissory note unendorsed by Mr. Chapleau or some other good man?—I might under certain circumstances.

2678. But you would feel safer with an endorser on a note for $10,000, for example?—It is safer to have an endorser.

2679. Would you take his note for $10,000 unendorsed by Mr. Chapleau?—I would prefer to have it endorsed. This transaction of Mr. Berthiaume's with our company is what is called an extraordinary circumstance. Mr. Berthiaume was advanced a certain amount of money. It is not purely and simply a sale of so much paper. It is an advance of money for a certain use and consequently he gives an endorser. Provided that Mr. Berthiaume did not want an advance of money we would not ask for an endorser.

2680. You are not money lenders; your firm sells paper?—Precisely.

2681. You state that it was an extraordinary transaction?—I know of one or two other cases.

---

J. D. ROLLAND re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

2682. I was asking you the other day about your contract and we got on the question of paying money to Mr. Dansereau. I think that you said something about having paid $1,000 this year. Was it to Mr. Dansereau?—No.

2683. Whom was it paid to?—It was paid to the Secretary of the Manufacturers Association.

2684. Who was the Chairman of that Association in Montreal?—Mr. Lacoste was the chairman.

2685. Was not Mr. Tassé?—No. Mr. Lacoste was our chairman.

2686. Was not Mr. Tassé an officer in the Association?—No, I do not think he was.

2687. You were the treasurer I believe?—Yes, sir.

2688. The last election?—Yes.

2689. I ask you whether that $1,000 was all you paid to the last Dominion election?—

Question objected to.

WITNESS.—I do not know that I am obliged to answer. I am treasurer for five or six different committees—the Citizen's League, municipal elections, provincial elections and others. (Objection sustained).

2690. Were you treasurer of the Conservative Association for Mr. Chappleau's district?—

Mr. FOSTER.—Why should that question be asked?

Mr. LISTER.—I think I ought to know something about his position in order to come to a conclusion as to whether favouritism has been shown to him or not?

WITNESS.—I may say that I have known Mr. Chappleau for 25 years, and no favouritism has been shown to me in that contract at all, because the Government could not do otherwise. I am the only manufacturer of paper of that quality in the country and because I offered to supply the paper at the same rates as they get in England it is not possible for the Government to favor me. I believe however in the Government obtaining their goods in the country. Under the National Policy they could not do otherwise.

By Mr. Bergeron :

2691. Did you get some new machinery for the purpose of carrying on your contract?—We had to spend over $100,000 to get special machinery.

By Mr. Lister :

2692. You got a 3 years contract in 1887?—Yes.

2693. How did you come to get a new contract?—It was to be renewed.

2694. It was not renewed though?—It was renewed in June.

2695. There was no agreement between you and the Government by which the Government was bound to renew it?—No, but there was no other manufacturer of that kind of paper in the country. There is no one else to make it.

2696. How did you get the renewal; did you come to Ottawa?—I came to Ottawa and saw the members.

2697. What members?—Mr. Desjardins, Mr. Girouard and Mr. Curran.

2698. You saw them?—Yes and I saw the Minister—the Secretary of State.

2699. What did you want to see the members for?—In order that they would see the other members of the Government to get me a renewal of the contract.

2700. Did they see them?—Naturally. I expected them to see them and get me the contract renewed.

2701. If you are the only man who was manufacturing that kind of paper in this country, what was the necessity, knowing the Government must have your paper, for seeing Messrs. Curran, Desjardins and Girouard?—It was quite necessary to know whether I was to continue to supply the Government with paper or not. Because if so I must have had some new machinery this year. This is what we are doing at present.

2702. Then up to 1890 you had not all the machinery you require?—Our trade has been progressive. My trade is growing because I am making good goods. My trade in Toronto this year is double what it was last year.

2703. So that it depended on whether or not the Government extended the contract that you would get in new machinery?—If I had not had the contract with the Government I would not have put in new machinery, because I could supply my orders with the machinery I had, but having the continuation of the Government contract I had to put in some supplementary machinery in order to enable me to manufacture more paper.

2704. So that in order to get the contract extended it was necessary to see certain members of Parliament and the Secretary of State?—Well, I have gone to see them sometimes. The first time I had my contract I spoke to different members about it and it was Mr. Bowell, a practical man, who saw the advantages of having it made in this country.

2705. I ask you now whether since 1887 during each year or in any portion of those years, your company or any member of your company has paid a loan or given money to Mr. Dansereau or somebody for him?—

Mr. BERGERON.—In relation to this contract?

WITNESS.—In relation to this contract, I never paid a cent.

2706. I ask you the question whether since 1887, I think that is the time you got the first contract, down to the present time, you, your company, or any member of your company to your knowledge, or with your consent, has paid to Mr. Dansereau, or anybody for Mr. Dansereau, money in the shape of a loan or a gift?—Not in relation to this contract.

2707. You have paid no money to Mr. Dansereau to influence these contracts?—I may say no.

2708. To influence the Government in regard to these contracts?—Not at all. Mr. Dansereau was a friend of my father's. My father helped him a great deal. Since 20 years I have had relations with him. I may say that I have had a contract with Mr. Dansereau since 1875 for the publishing of the Quebec Readers in French. It was a co-partnership. I paid him money on that, if that is necessary to be known.

2709. These are the only moneys?—These are the only moneys we paid to Mr. Dansereau. I gave no consideration to get this contract.

On the general question as to whether the witness should be interrogated on matters not connected with the enquiry, the chairman ruled that while the fullest latitude must necessarily be given, and would be given to every enquiry as to the expenditure of public moneys, and every fact connected with it, it was not the business of the committee to enquire how persons expended their own money.

The committee divided and the Chairman's ruling was sustained by 16 to 12.

WITNESS—The other day I was examined about the price of my tender. I may say that my tender and the letter I then wrote are in the hands of the committee. It was said that I sold paper at a  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent more than my tender. My tender and my letter to the Government will show what the price was.

By Mr. Lister :

2710. I have it here. You put in a little extra not asked for by the advertized tenders?—I am giving an explanation because it has gone out in the press that I was favoured  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent more than my tender called for. The tender is very plain.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2711. You were not favored to the extent of  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent?—Not at all. It is the regular price when a paper manufacturer supplies paper that is super-calendered. The regular charge is from  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  a cent per pound according to size or weight.

By Mr. Lister :

2712. None of the other tenderers had that privilege?—I cannot say about that. Here is a copy of my tender if you want to see it.

By Mr. Foster :

2713. The price is  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent for super-calendering?—Yes, that is right.

By Mr. Lister :

2714. That was not done when tenders were asked for? None of the others had it?—I don't know what the others had, but I know it is done very often in tendering.

2715. You tendered at 7 cents per lb?—Yes.
 2716. At  $7\frac{1}{2}$  cents per lb?—Yes.
 2717. At another price of 7 cents per lb?—Yes.
 2718. Then there was another price of  $6\frac{3}{4}$  cents per lb?—That was according to the quality of each kind of paper.
 2719. Then you go on and make a little note at the foot which the tender does not ask you to do?—That is a continuation of the letter.
 2720. You go on and say: “We also tender to make 650 reams of  $31\frac{1}{2} \times 25\frac{1}{2}$  of 40 lbs. per ream, of 500 sheets in any of the above qualities of paper?”—You are mixing it up. Read before that and you will find my price.
 2721. You say before that: “or to make you exactly the same quality of Double Royal, as furnished you last July, cost for printing the Statutes at \$4.20 per ream delivered, and would give a little more finished if required without extra charge, any of the above samples can be super-calandered at an extra cost of  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent per lb?”—Yes.
 2722. None of the others had the same advantage?—Well, sir, if they wanted it.
 2723. Then you see Mr. Bronskill writes this letter:—

“OTTAWA, May 17th, 1889.

“Messrs. J. B. ROLLAND et Fils, Montreal.

“I have the honour to inform you that your offer marked 936 in 350 reams of Double Royal printing paper  $27 \times 41$ —60 lbs in reams of 500 sheets, flat, properly packed in 2 ream bundles, and delivered here free within 2 days from date hereof, at seven and a quarter cents per lb., super-calandered, has been accepted, the whole to be strictly in accordance with the conditions and terms named in the forms of invitation. \* \* \* \*”

2724. Now, there was not one word in the form of tender received by you about super-calendering?—Yes, read what you have in your hand. “Any of the above samples can be super calendered at an extra cost of  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a cent per lb.”

2725. That is what you said in your letter, but where is the letter asking you to tender, and the terms upon which you were asked to tender?—I have not got that.

2726. So one word was never said about super-calendering?—There might not be. None of the others seem to have thought of writing this.

By the Chairman:

2727. Is it worth a quarter of cent to super-calender this paper?—A quarter of a cent is the lowest figure at which paper is supercalendered. We charge half a cent upon a wider sheet, because a wider sheet is more difficult.

By Mr. Somerville:

2728. The Government never asked for the price of super-calendering from any of the other tenderers?—I do not remember that. But my reply is that I thought it advisable to give him the choice.

By Mr. Chapleau:

2729. Is it not customary with you, when you think it is necessary to tender, to give the price and say that if you want to have the paper super-calendered it will be so much more?—To be sure we often ask that question. Sometime they do not want to super-calender papers of a certain kind they think it is paying money for nothing. When paper is super-calendered, it makes a finer finish.

WILLIAM MEEK called sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

2730. You are a practical printer, I believe?—Yes, sir.

2731. Where do you work now?—The Whig Office, Kingston.
2732. Do you know anything about the Printing Bureau?—I do not know anything particular about the Printing Bureau.
2733. Have you been there and seen the printing presses?—Yes.
2734. You are the agent for a printing press, I understand?—Yes.
2735. What press?—Babcock & Co.
2736. Where is their place of business?—New London, Connecticut and New York.
2737. Do you know that the Printing Bureau required a number of presses?—Yes, sir.
2738. Had you any negotiations with Mr. Senécal respecting the sale of presses for the Bureau?—No, sir.
2739. Did you see him about it?—I saw him and spoke to him about it.
2740. You were offering presses for sale?—Yes.
2741. And what did he say?—He said that the time was not come yet. That there was no one appointed to buy them.
2742. Did you ever see him further?—No.
2743. Did you ever see the presses they have got?—Yes, the Potter Press, New York and the Gordon Press.
2744. Now are you the agent for a press which will do the same work as the Potter Press?—A similar press.
2745. Do you know what these Potter presses cost?—I do not know.
2746. $4,000, I believe?—I do not know.
2747. What did you offer the press for, if the Department wanted it to do the work of the Potter press?—$2,300.
2748. Delivered right there?—Yes, right there.
2749. Are there any other presses there similar to those you supply?—The Gordon press which is smaller.
2750. What is the price of the Gordon press?—$275 or $250, is the price of it.
2751. And the other press would sell at $2,300?—Yes.
2752. The Babcock would sell the same as the Potter?—Yes.
2753. And the Gordons would sell from $250, to to $275.?—Yes.

By Mr. Bergeron :

2754. Is that the same size?—Yes, the same size, and for the same work.

By Mr. Lister :

2755. Do you know the Hon. Mr. Bowell?—Yes.
2756. Were you called upon at any time to give the value of the presses down here—were you spoken to about it?—I had a conversation with Mr. Bowell when I was down here.
2757. Before the presses were bought?—Yes.
2758. What was it about—in connection with the Printing Bureau?—In connection with the Bureau and other things which he spoke to me about.
2759. In connection with the Bureau plant?—Yes.
2760. Was nothing said about printing presses?—We had a conversation about the presses and I told him that these presses were about the best and what they cost.
2761. Which?—The Babcock. I told him that they could be bought cheaply and he referred me to Mr. Senécal, and I spoke to him, and Mr. Senécal told me that the time had not come to buy.
2762. And he never saw you afterwards about buying them?—No.
2763. Were you at any time—about a year ago, more or less, spoken to about giving evidence as to the value of these presses?—I do not remember.
2764. Did you hear of any investigation at all that was taking place?—No.
2765. You were never spoken to by Mr. Bowell about the value of the presses?—Not afterwards.

2766. And what you now say is, that you would furnish a press as good as the Potter press for $2,300, and as good as the Gordon press for $250 and $275?—Yes.

2767. You have seen these presses in the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

2768. And you know what they are?—Yes.

2769. You are a practical printer?—Yes.

2770. That is you are a judge of such things?—Yes.

2771. And the press you are agent for is as good as the Potter press?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Montcrieff :

2772. This Potter press and the Babcock press are not identically on the same principles, are they?—They are the same class of press, there are four makers, and they are marked in the list for about $4,000, but they sell them from 40 per cent to 45 per cent lower than the list price. The Potter press has been sold within the last six weeks for $2,500.

By Mr. Lister :

2773. From 40 per cent to 45 per cent less than the list prices?—Yes, sir.

2774. The same sized press?—Yes. The same sized press, the Potter press has been sold within the last six weeks, I know that it was offered for $2,500 two sizes larger than this.

2775. Two sizes larger than this?—Yes. I could have supplied the Department with a press of the same quality for $2,100 for an order of such magnitude.

2776. When were these others bought that you are talking about?—I am selling them all the time.

2777. What was the time you were offering to sell them to the Department?—When it was commencing; before they were bought.

2778. When was that?—About 1887, I think.

By Mr. Lister :

2779. Was the same rule then in force of 40 to 45 per cent off the list prices?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

2780. Did you give Mr. Senécal the prices at which you would furnish the presses?—I did not give him my exact figures. I said I would be willing to give prices and that they would be about $2,200 to $2,300; but if I had got a large order like that I would have given them for $2,100.

By Mr. Somerville :

2781. You have said that a press two sizes larger than the Potter press in the Printing Bureau was offered for $2,500?—Yes.

2782. What would be the difference between the list prices of the press two sizes larger and the smaller presses in the Printing Bureau?—$500 or $600 difference.

2783. That would mean that the presses in the Printing Bureau, according to the prices asked for this press, should have been had for about $2,000?—Just about.

By Mr. Foster :

2784. Do you say that you can give Potter presses of equal size with those in the Printing Bureau for $2300.00?—Not Potter presses, but similar presses, judged by competent printers to be the same.

2785. Could you give the Potter press?—No, but the Potter press has been offered within five weeks at $2,500 and has been sold all over the country at $2,500.

2786. Is that price equal to the price three years ago?—About the same.

2787. Four years ago?—It would be about the same. Prices have been about the same for five or six years.

2788. Do discounts run about the same for those years?—They have been sold for forty-five per cent below the list prices for four or five years.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

2789. Do they not claim their prices to be superior to yours?—They do; but we claim ours as equal with theirs.

2790. Do they sell at list prices the same as yours?—Yes; the list price is the same and the only question is who can give the largest discount.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2791. Did you see the Potter list prices in 1887?—Yes.

2792. Do you know that the large presses in the Printing Bureau were scheduled then in the list at $5,800?—They have put it on a little more.

2793. Can you state whether the presses—large presses like you have seen in the Printing Bureau—were in the list at $5,800?—Those presses are two sizes larger. They are double royal. There is another size between those two.

2794. You cannot swear that these large presses that are there were not on the catalogue at $5,800?—It might be on those two large presses. I am giving the average of the presses there.

2795. If it was $5,800, and forty per cent off, how much would that make it? Would it not be $3,500?—In a case like that we would give fifty per cent off.

By the Chairman :

2796. You say there was a uniform price list?—Yes.

2797. Were there any double royal presses supplied to the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

2798. How many?—Some twelve or sixteen.

By Mr. Lister :

2799. Most of those supplied here were for $4,000?—Yes.

2800. Off that would be from forty to forty-five per cent.?—Yes.

2801. And taking the whole thing through, you would have been willing to sell for how much off?—Fifty per cent.

2802. On account of the largeness of the order?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

2803. What was the list price of the large one they have there?—About $5000 for the largest that is there.

2804. Did they have any at $5,800 list price?—I do not think so.

By Mr. Moncrieff :

2805. I understand from you that the list price is no good at all as to what you buy the article on?—It is no good at all.

2806. So that it is a perfect blind?—Yes.

2807. You have got to find out what the discount is before you can ascertain what the actual price is?—Yes.

2808. You do not sell Potter presses at all?—No, but I could sell one.

2809. But you are not agent for the Potter press?—I can sell their presses.

2810. Are you their agent?—No.

2811. Have you ever sold any presses for them?—No.

2812. You are an agent for the Babcock press?—Yes.

2813. And you find a good deal of competition with other manufacturers?—We have to meet a close competition.

2814. And sometimes the Potter press comes into active competition with the Babcock?—Yes, a Potter press was sold in Chatham a few weeks ago for $2,300.

2815. Have you known of cases where people have taken the Potter at a higher price than yours?—Never. If I come in competition with their agent for a particular class of press we do not sell.

2816. I suppose you have known people buy the Potter press where they need not pay so high?—Yes.

2817. And you have seen the Potter Press sold at prices you could not supply a Babcock for less?—Yes.

2818. And the purchaser would take the Potter?—Yes.

2819. Consequently he bought at a higher price?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2820. Do you know Mr. George E. Desbarats of Montreal?—Yes.

2821. Is he a judge of presses?—The same as other printers.

2822. He is a good printer?—A good printer.

2823. Is he a reliable man?—I think so, as far as I know, 2824. Do you know Mr. Samuel Dawson?—Not personally; I know him by reputation.

2825. You do not know whether he is a judge of presses or prices of presses?—Yes.

2826. You know he is connected with the printing and book binding trades?—Yes.

2827. By what you know of these two gentlemen, do you suppose a man who was not possessed of technical knowledge could rely on their advice in the matter of presses and prices?—Not on these old printers, we cannot. They are away behind the times.

2828. Not even if they have remained in the business?—They have an old fashioned idea of high prices.

2829. So that according to you a man who has been 30 or 40 years in the printing business will know less than another man as to presses and prices even though he has continued in the business up to to-day?—If he is not mechanically inclined to know what he is about.

2830. But supposing he is in the business every day and has had 40 years experience, would he not be a judge of what he is doing?—There are men who have been 40 years in the printing business that really do not know anything about the buying of presses.

By Mr. Somerville :

2831. Is it not a fact that some of the oldest printers in the printing offices in the country have the poorest machinery?—It is.

2832. And new offices started within recent years, they are the offices supplied with the best machinery?—Yes.

2833. And they are the proprietors best capable of judging?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2834. Do you mean to say that a man who, because he has been 30 years in the business and continues to be in the business to-day, not having the most improved presses is not a good judge of presses because he has bought the same 30 years ago?—I do not say that.

By Mr. Lister :

2835. Do you know the Hoe Company?—Yes.

2836. They make good presses?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

2837. Are the Hoes any better than the Babcocks?—No, they are not.

2838. Do you know that the prices of their presses are about double the price of the Babcock press?—I do not. They are not. I know all about their prices. You cannot puzzle me on that.

2839. But their prices are higher?—They are higher, but not much when you come to the actual figures.

By Mr. Somerville :

2840. Do you know something about the reputation of the Hoe Company ? It is a very wealthy company ?—Yes.

2841. And they are known amongst the printers in Canada and the United States as the men who keep up their prices ?—Yes.

2842. And have done so right along ?—Yes.

2843. Whilst other manufacturers have been competing against each other the Hoes have persisted in keeping up their prices ?—They are a great deal lower in price than they formerly were.

2844. But they are a very wealthy firm and able to maintain their prices better than any other firm.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, 10th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

J. Y. REID called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

2845. You are in business in Toronto ?—Yes.

2846. In what line ?—Wholesale stationery and paper.

2847. How long have you been in business ?—About forty years.

2848. Do you know Mr. Senécal of the Printing Bureau ?—I saw him once.

2849. Do you know as a fact that he purchased certain supplies from your firm ?—Yes.

2850. Amounting to sixty-three tons of a certain kind of mill-board ?—Yes ; mill-board and straw-board.

2851. Had you anything to do with him in making that sale ?—No.

2852. It was made by Mr. Morgan, your traveller ?—Yes.

2853. Were you aware that Mr. Morgan had paid him $200 as a commission ?—Not at the time.

2854. Was it long afterward ?—Yes ; a considerable time.

2855. Would you have permitted any such payment if you had known it ?—Certainly not.

2856. Have you in your business career made any such payment ?—Not to the extent of five cents to anybody.

2857. So, what Mr. Morgan did was without your consent or knowledge ?—Yes.

2858. And you would never have allowed it to be done had you known it ?—No.

By the Chairman :

2859. Did you communicate with Mr. Chapleau, the head of the Department, as soon as you knew it ?—No.

By Mr. Taylor :

2860. When were you first informed of it ?—A considerable time after the sale was made.

2861. How long is "a considerable time"—a month ?—It must have been more than that.

2862. Had the goods been delivered ?—Yes.

2863. Was it your Accountant who informed you ?—Yes.

2864. He stated that he had $200 entered in his cash account, and that it was for this purpose ?—No, it was for expenses to Morgan.

2865. Did he explain what the item was for and the particular kind of expense?—No; Mr. Morgan's evidence, the other day on that point, was quite full with regard to the matter.

2866. When did it come to your knowledge?—A good while after.

2867. You are a Director of the Globe newspaper?—Yes.

2868. You did not cause this to be stated through the columns of the Globe?—Of course not.

2869. If you thought Mr. Sénécal was beating the Government, why did you not think it a proper course to let the people know it? Did you write to Mr. Chamberlin, the head of the Department?—I did not write to anybody.

2870. You let the money go?—It was gone.

2871. You made very little on the sale?—Very little. When this deal was made with Mr. Sénécal there were two or three parties tendering for the contract, and ours happened to be a little the lowest and we got it.

2872. There was very little profit made out of it?—Scarcely anything. It would have been better if we had never seen it.

By the Chairman :

2873. Was the sale to the Government at a very low figure?—Yes; a very low figure; under our regular price.

A. DANSEREAU called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

2874. You are postmaster at Montreal?—Yes, sir.

2875. How long have you held that position?—Since February of this year.

2876. Up to that time what business were you engaged in?—No special business. I was engaged in different business enterprises.

2877. No particular business?—No.

2878. Do you know Mr. Sénécal?—Yes.

2879. How long have you known him?—I do not know; twenty or twenty-five years.

2880. I believe you and he went to school together?—No.

2881. Have you known him in Montreal all that time?—He was not always in Montreal. I knew him in Montreal about twenty years.

2882. Where did he go then?—I do not know.

2883. At any rate, he left Montreal?—Yes, for a few years, and then he came back.

2884. How many years is it since he came back?—I do not know.

2885. Twenty years?—I do not know.

2886. Were you at all intimately acquainted with him?—No.

2887. But you knew him very well?—Not very well.

2888. Do you know what he was doing at the time he was appointed to the Printing Bureau?—He was manager of L'Étendard.

2889. You do not know what his salary was?—No.

2890. Did he ever speak to you about being appointed Superintendent of the Printing Bureau?—No.

2891. Did any person ever speak to you about appointing him?—Yes.

2892. Who?—A couple of his friends.

2893. They went to you about his appointment and wanted you to use your influence to get him the position?—Yes.

2894. Who did they want you to see?—Mr. Chapleau.

2895. I suppose you did see him?—No. I think I wrote him once that one of his friends—I do not remember what friend it is—had mentioned his name in connection with other names. I never spoke to him personally.

2896. If I recollect, for the last nine years I have seen you here pretty near all the session. Have you not seen Mr. Chapleau through the session?—Yes.

2897. And you mean to say that these friends having spoken to you about this man you did not speak to Mr. Chapleau?—I never took any interest in any appointment—no special interest.

2898. Except your own?—Not even my own.

2899. You got the postmastership without asking for it?—Yes.

2900. Then you saw Mr. Chapleau, during the session, nearly every day?—Yes.

2901. And you never spoke to Mr. Chapleau about this appointment?—I was not concerned in it.

2902. Did you or did you not?—I did not.

2903. You never spoke to him about it?—No.

2904. Did you often meet Senécal after his appointment?—No; only just on the street.

2905. Only on the street?—On the street, yes.

2906. You never met him at all at Mr. Chapleau's?—Never; I never went to his office.

2907. You remember, I suppose, when the printing material was being bought for the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

2908. Did you take any interest in that?—No, sir.

2909. You took no interest in it?—No.

2910. Did you not go down to New York?—Yes, sir.

2911. And did you go to see the Hoe Company?—I did not go to New York for that.

2912. But you were in New York?—Yes.

2913. Before the printing presses were bought?—Yes.

2914. And you say you did not go there for the purpose of buying printing presses?—No.

2915. But you went to Hoe's concern?—Yes. On the day that I was leaving for New York, Mr. Chapleau was in Montreal, and he said to me: "Since you are going to New York, you will do something for me. Go around to these establishments and call for the price lists." Then after that, he said: "After you will have the price lists, will you in my name see those people and tell them that, if it ever comes to my knowledge that they paid commissions to anyone, I will cancel all orders immediately." And one of those gentlemen in the two establishments I visited—especially the Potter Company—said to me: "We never pay personal commission."

2916. They never paid personal commission?—That they never paid personal commission. They said: "We do a great deal of business with the Washington Government and we never pay commission, only when election time comes we subscribe to the party." Well, I said, I should have nothing to do with that. It will be quite acceptable if you give to the general organization of the party, whether in Toronto, or Ottawa, or Montreal. Nothing else was mentioned. My only object was to prevent them from paying any commissions.

2917. Your object was to prevent them giving commissions?—Yes.

2918. You went to the Hoe Company, when you went down there, and you wanted a list of prices?—Yes.

2919. And you told them that your instructions from Mr. Chapleau were that they were to pay no commission?—Yes, sir.

2920. That if they did pay commission, the extreme penalty of cancelling the order would be the consequence?—That is what I said.

2921. When was that?—I don't remember even the year. I know that the material was not bought at that time.

2922. But you were particularly careful to warn these people that they were to pay no commissions?—Yes, sir.

2923. May I ask you who it was that you saw in the Hoe Company?—I don't know.

2924. Did you ever see him before?—No, sir; it was the first time.
2925. That was the first time you ever saw him?—Yes.
2926. Have you ever seen him since?—No, sir.
2927. You never saw him before or since, and your business was simply to get the list of prices?—Yes, sir.
2928. How long did that conversation last?—I don't know; twenty minutes, I suppose.
2929. Twenty minutes you think would be the outside limit of the conversation?—I should think so.
2930. Where did it take place?—In the front office.
2931. Who was present?—I don't know.
2932. Anybody besides the man you were talking to?—I did not pay attention to that.
2933. Was it a large office?—Oh, yes, a large building.
2934. With a large number of clerks in it?—It was an immense building.
2935. Were there any clerks standing near where you were?—I did not pay attention; I don't know.
2936. So that when you went into the office, you saw somebody there you never saw before or since, and you don't know who he is?—No.
2937. You cannot give me his name?—No.
2938. Your object was to get a list of prices for presses?—Yes.
2939. And in that twenty minutes' conversation you told him that if he dared to pay commission to anybody, Mr. Chapleau would cancel the order?—Yes, sir.
2940. That was a fearful warning. He said that they never paid commissions, but you told him though, that they might give commissions to a political organization?—Oh, no. It was himself who mentioned that.
2941. That is what I understood you to say?—He mentioned what they used to do in Washington.
2942. That they never allowed commissions over there, but they subscribed liberally to the party fund?—For the general elections.
2943. So that, so far as you were concerned, you never suggested that they should subscribe anything for our elections?—Oh, no.
2944. Of course not?—I had no opportunity, because he told it himself.
2945. But you were particular, I suppose, in impressing upon him that he was not, under any consideration, to pay anybody any commission upon the purchase of these presses?—Yes, sir.
2946. You swear to that positively and distinctly?—Yes, sir.
2947. You had nothing to do with the purchase of the presses?—No, sir.
2948. After you got through with the Hoe Company you went down to the Potter Company?—Yes, sir.
2949. And whom did you see in the Potter Company's establishment?—One of the gentlemen, I don't remember the name.
2950. Did you ever see that man before or since?—No.
2951. You have never seen him before or since?—(No answer.)
2952. What was your business there? To get a list?—The same thing.
2953. Did you have a conversation in the office?—Yes; exactly the same conversation.
2954. So that when you went to see the Potter Company you impressed upon them the fact that if they offered to pay anybody a commission on these presses the order would be cancelled?—Yes, sir.
2955. How long did your conversation with the Potter man last?—About the same time.
2956. About twenty minutes?—Yes.
2957. About twenty minutes of conversation with the Hoe Company and twenty minutes of conversation with the Potter Company, and that was the first and last conversation you ever had with them?—Yes.

2958. On both of these occasions you impressed upon them the fact that they were not to pay commission?—Yes.

2959. Did the Potter man say anything about commission?—He said exactly the same thing: That their practice was not to pay a commission, but to give a subscription during election times to the general organization of the party.

2960. So he told you precisely the same story?—Exactly the same.

2961. When did he tell you that? Was it before or after you warned him not to pay a commission?—I had hardly finished telling him not to pay a commission when he started explaining to me what was his practice.

2962. You began telling him that he was not to pay any commission, and before you got through he began telling you what the practice was on the other side?—Yes.

2963. Was it after that you told him Mr. Chapleau would cancel the order?—I told him at that time.

2964. Before he told you what the practice was over there?—Yes.

2965. Did you go to any other press company?—No.

2966. Were you in earnest about it or were you smiling when you were telling him not to pay a commission?—I was in earnest.

2967. Mr. Senécal had been appointed at that time?—Yes.

2968. He was the Superintendent of the Printing Bureau at that very time?—Yes.

2969. You believed him to be an honest man?—Yes.

2970. You knew that he would have the purchasing of these presses?—Yes.

2971. You never thought that the honest Senécal would think of asking for a commission?—I never thought.

2972. It never entered your mind. You never thought that Senécal would exact a commission from these men?—I did not pay attention to it at all.

2973. It never entered your mind that Mr. Senécal, when he went down to buy these presses, would demand a commission?—I did not even think of it. I did not even tax my mind as to one thing or the other. I did not care at all what he was doing. I had no business with that.

2974. I want to know. You told us that Mr. Senécal was the gentleman to purchase presses and select them, and according to your statement he was a strictly honest man and would not do an improper act as far as you knew. You would not think that he would exact a commission from these people?—I do not take the trouble of thinking of anything that does not concern me. I was never concerned in it.

2975. Pray, why did you warn these people about a commission?—Mr. Chapleau had asked me to go.

2976. Why was it you warned these men against paying a commission?—Because Mr. Chapleau had asked me. We had this idea, that the American practice was very extensive of paying a commission.

2977. Was it because Mr. Chapleau told you to do so?—Yes, of course.

2978. Mr. Chapleau, before you went away from Ottawa, asked you to tell these men that if they paid a commission he would cancel the order?—Yes.

2979. You told this Committee that before going to New York Mr. Chapleau asked you to—. I was going to New York and I met Mr. Chapleau by mere accident and told him I was just off for New York.

2980. How long were you talking to him?—I do not know.

2981. Two or three minutes?—Not more than that on that matter.

2982. During that conversation you told him you were going to New York, and he asked you to go and see these presses and get a list of the prices?—Yes.

2983. And you say he told you to warn the men not to pay a commission?—Yes.

There was another reason why Mr. Chapleau wanted me to see the presses. We had a talk between a few men—Mr. Chapleau was one of them, and I have been in the printing business myself for a very long time and know something about presses—and while we were talking about presses I told Mr. Chapleau that there was a great difference between the Hoe and the Potter press. I would give the preference to the Hoe. I said "I do not know why a practical printer would give preference to the Potter." This brought that other conversation and he said that in case I should go there, I should get a price list and make a comparison, because the argument of Mr. Senécal was that the Potter presses were just as good and cheaper.

2984. You saw Mr. Chapleau after you got back?—Of course, I saw him.

2985. What did you tell him?—I do not think I ever mentioned anything after my return.

2986. Did you ever go to New York a second time?—No, sir. I remember that three weeks after, I think, the Hoe establishment sent one of their men to me in expectation of securing the order. I do not remember what I said to him, because I did not pay much attention; only I said to him that the whole thing was in the hands of Senécal and he should see Senécal.

2987. Then you never went back to New York to these press companies?—I never was concerned in it any more.

2988. You were not concerned in it enough to tell Mr. Chapleau what took place?—I do not think I mentioned anything to him. I never paid any attention to it.

2989. You say that one of the Hoe men, or a man from the Hoe Company, was sent up to see you about these presses?—Yes.

2990. And you referred him to Mr. Senécal?—As far as I can recollect now. It is so long ago.

2991. Did Senécal go down to New York after you were there?—I suppose so. I do not know.

2992. You never heard him say anything about it?—I never talked to Senécal about his establishment in my life.

2993. You had no dealings with Senécal at all?—No, sir.

2994. Never had any correspondence with Senécal?—No.

2995. Never had any talk with him about the Printing Bureau?—Never. Of course, when I met him on the street I might have asked him how it was going, and that is all.

2996. Did you ever see any letters that Senécal wrote to those people?—No.

2997. Do you know that Mr. Chapleau went to New York afterward?—Yes.

2998. Who went with him, Mr. Senécal?—No; I think that every time Mr. Chapleau went to New York I went with him.

2999. Were you in New York with Mr. Chapleau, at any time he went to see about the printing presses?—No, never.

3000. Don't you remember on one occasion at the hotel?—No; in that case I never was with him.

3001. Don't you remember on one occasion in the hotel, when you and he were together, and he said: "I will have to go and see about the presses"?—Perhaps it may be, but I don't remember.

3002. Then you do not know whether Mr. Chapleau ever went to see about the presses himself?—No; I do not.

3003. Now, when you went to the Hoe Company, did you not suggest commission?—No, sir; oh, no.

3004. You did not?—No. They suggested that subscription to the party, and I was very positive in stating to them that they should never pay one cent except to a general committee.

3005. Except to a general committee?—And then they asked me who the committees were. I said: "I don't know, we have two committees in Montreal and there is one in Toronto."

3006. Nothing was said about commissions, except to a general committee, and he asked you who the committees were?—Yes.

3007. And you said you had two in Montreal?—Yes.

3008. Go on?—I mentioned the one with which I was slightly connected, more intimate—our French association.

3009. What association is that?—The Conservative Association, and I gave to him the name of the President.

3010. And you gave to him the name of your French association?—Yes.

3011. What was his name?—Mr. Benoit.

3012. Did you say the same thing to the Potter people?—Yes, sir.

3013. I suppose you are pretty intimate with the workings of the association?—Yes.

3014. Have you any idea, from information you obtained, either from Mr. Benoit or anybody else, the amount of money that was paid by these people?—No, I did not belong to the committee.

3015. Did not Mr. Benoit tell you?—No.

3016. You swear he never told you that?—I swear it. You can find it from Mr. Benoit himself, he never mentioned it to me.

3017. Can you or can you not say, from your own knowledge, or from information received by you, that from $8,000 to $15,000 were paid?—No.

3018. You don't know anything about it?—Certainly, I do not know.

3019. You know nothing about it at all?—No, sir.

3020. Did you give to these gentlemen the names of any of the officers of the English Conservative Association?—No.

3021. It was only of the French Conservative Association?—Yes. Because I was not sure of the names.

3022. If you had been sure you would have given them of course?—Yes.

3023. But you were sure of an official French Association?—Yes.

3024. What position did he occupy?—Mr. Benoit?

3025. Yes?—He was the President.

3026. Who was the Secretary?—I don't know.

3027. Eh?—I cannot say, I don't remember.

3028. You had something to do with it yourself?—Not with the association.

3029. Were you Treasurer?—No, sir; I was outside of any committee of the association.

3030. You were not a member at any date?—No.

3031. Were you not a member of the Conservative Association?—Oh, of course, we are all members.

3032. Did you not occupy some official position?—No, sir.

3033. You were as a full private?—Yes.

3034. You were not the man who did the funny work?—No.

3035. Mr. Rolland was Treasurer, was he not?—Yes.

3036. And I believe cheques, or orders for the payment of money had to be signed by Mr. Chapleau?—No, sir.

3037. Rolland then paid out as he liked?—Yes, sir, of course, except as Benoit ordered him.

3038. After you had come back, you say, Senécal went to New York?—Well, I did not say it, you make me say it. I don't know it.

3039. Did he ever tell you he had been down there and made purchases?—No.

By Mr. Tarte :

3040. When you were there was any bargain made obliging those people to pay money?—Oh, certainly not; oh! no.

By Mr. Fraser :

3041. You mentioned no other names, I understood you to say, except the one?—That is the only name I mentioned. Of course I mentioned the other organizations, but I could not give the names.

3042. Did you mention the organizations of Halifax and St. John?—No, only Toronto and Montreal.

By Mr. Lister :

3043. You mentioned Toronto?—I said there was an organization because they were enquiring themselves.

By Mr. Fraser :

3044. Did you mention a Toronto one?—I said there was a conservative association; they were asking me.

By Mr. Tarte :

3045. Were you ever charged by Mr. Chapleau to ask for commission, or to make a bargain?—No, sir, oh! no.

3046. You say you never were charged to make any bargain whatever? About those commissions?—I never was charged with that message. There was no conversation about that either.

By Mr. Bergeron :

3047. When you went to New York it was not for that at all?—Certainly not.

By Mr. Tarte :

3048. Had you to go to New York?—Two or three times that year.

3049. For you own business?—Business or pleasure.

By Mr. Forbes :

3050. Do you know whether "Yankee Boodle" was used on behalf of the Conservatives in the last elections or not?—Well, I don't know it by positive knowledge.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3051. We have been asking witnesses very often what they have overheard. Have you ever heard there was commission or "Yankee Boodle" paid to any party?—Yes, many times.

3052. For what party?—For the Liberal party. I was told that some money had been paid to the Liberal Committee, and even we were told one day that part of that Committee money was deposited in La Banque du Peuple.

3053. In Montreal?—In Montreal.

By Mr. Lister :

3054. Who told you that?—I don't know now.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3055. Did you not hear in New York that Americans, friends of Mr. Wiman, were subscribing largely to the Liberal fund?—I did hear it.

3056. And from Americans?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

3057. Who did you hear it from? Tell me the man?—Well, I will have to—

3058. That is a stickler, is it not?—I can find the names—I have kept their cards.

3059. What names?—Of those gentlemen who told me at the Hoffman House. I will have to go home and take their names, and communicate them.

By Mr. Taylor :

3060. Was your object in asking that no commission be given to anybody, that they might give the bottom prices?—Oh, yes. I said to them that Mr. Chapleau wanted—the Government wanted—to have the benefit of all commissions that they would have been disposed to give.

3061. So that the Government would get the lowest possible prices?—Yes.

3062. Do you know the Honourable Peter Mitchell?—Yes, sir.

3063. The proprietor of the Montreal Herald?—Yes, sir.

3064. Did you know that when the Herald office got burned, Mr. Mitchell went to the Hoe concern to purchase a new supply of presses?—I was told so, I do not know it personally.

3065. Do you know that he bought them from the Hoe concern, and that his presses are Hoe presses?—I am not sure enough to affirm it.

3066. Do you know that he went there to purchase a supply and after discussing the question for about half a day and getting them down to "bottom prices," no commission to anybody, and having completed the whole transaction, and after it was all settled and arranged that they said to him: "Mr. Mitchell, what about your own commission?" and he said: "The Herald and myself are one party," and they reduced the bill ten per cent.—I know it now. I had forgotten it.

By Mr. Lister :

3067. Who told you that?—Mitchell himself, not long ago.

By Mr. Fraser :

3068. Why, instead of mentioning the name of the Conservative Association, did you not mention the fact that you knew about Mr. Mitchell?—I had forgotten that.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3069. Is it not a fact that Mr. Mitchell bought his presses afterwards?—Yes, some years.

3070. To make the matter clear; of course you have been a long time a printer, and proprietor of one of the largest French papers in Montreal?—Yes.

3071. I think I understood you to say you did not visit the establishment here?—I have visited the establishment once, with Mr. Tassé I think.

3072. Not with Mr. Senécal?—Mr. Senécal was there. We found him there.

3073. I need not ask you, with the experience you have had with printing, whether the establishment is in a good state. I might ask Mr. Somerville that. But is it not a fact that, at the time that the printing presses were to be bought, I met you in Montreal—I often see you when I go to Montreal—and that I said I had selected three experienced men: Mr. Desbarats, Mr. White and Mr. Lovell?—Yes.

3074. You are aware that out of the price list given by the manufacturers there are very large commercial commissions or discounts that are taken off?—Yes.

3075. And it is out of that discount that people may get a personal commission?—Yes.

3076. I understand you to state that then I told you: "If you are going to New York I would like to know what are absolutely their 'bottom prices,' because I would not like to see them pay a single dollar commission beyond the commercial discount on the presses?"—Yes, that is what you said.

3077. Are you positive about that?—Yes, I am very positive: it is exactly what you said to me.

3078. Did I tell you then what was the commercial discount, which I had ascertained in taking my information from those connected with the trade, and I did not want anything but the commission to be taken off?—Yes, but I do not remember the figure that was mentioned—the discount.

3079. Mr. Lister has asked you if you are a friend of Mr. Senécal. You have known him a long time, but not intimately?—No.

3080. You do not live in the same circle?—No; I had no opportunity of meeting him.

3081. Did you not know that Mr. Senécal had the reputation of being the best printer in the Province of Quebec at least?—Yes.

3082. Is it not a fact that Mr. Senécal had been for many years at these courses of printers?—I know that what was most in favour of his appointment was this: That at that time it was pretty well known that Mr. Senécal was the only man who saved L'Etendard from liquidation by his special ability. He passed L'Etendard through the crisis. That was one thing in his favour.

3083. I need not ask you the politics of L'Etandard in regard to me. It is a public fact. Was Mr. Senécal a man of our political faith or had he not been always on the other side?—I do not know what he was.

3085. Before he was with L'Etandard was he with us?—Yes. I do not know, but I would like to make a statement my name was mentioned the other day in relation to the Rolland business, when he said we had a partnership about books. I brought a copy of the Notarial deed. In case there might be some doubt about the sincerity of the statement. I would like very much to leave it on the table at all events, to show that there is a real agreement and a partnership about the books.

(Notarial deed filed as Exhibit No. 13.)

3086. Was it between you and him or his father?—It is the firm.

3087. Made when?—1st of May, 1875.

3088. It was then the late Mr. Rolland was head of the firm?—Yes. I may add that Mr. Rolland, since I was in politics, always subscribed very heavily and in 1878 or 1879, he went as far as to advance for political purposes $13,000, on my demand.

3089. You speak of the father?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

3090. That would be the election of 1878?—He was then not a manufacturer.

3091. He advanced money to you?—He did not give it. It was not a donation. La Minerve was in difficulties then and he advanced $13,000, without one cent of guarantee, to get La Minerve out of difficulty. When we wanted a subscription we used to go to Rolland.

3092. He would always give it?—Yes.

3093. A very handy fellow?—And he had no contract at that time.

3094. He got one afterwards?—Nobody could take it from him.

3095. It was pure patriotism that made him shove up?—Yes, really.

By Mr. Bergeron :

3096. When Mr. Rolland was asked the other day if he did not give money to you, he said, no; what do you say?—No; certainly not.

By Mr. Lister :

3097. Has he given money to you or loaned it to you?—Never to myself personally. Nothing beyond this.

3098. This is an old contract you have?—Yes, he made advances. The contract will explain everything.

3099. He made advances to you for this contract?—Yes.

3100. First I understand you sold to the Rolland Company a half interest in the books which you had the right to publish in the Province of Quebec?—Yes.

3101. The copyright of which you had bought from whom?—Mr. Montpetit.

3102. Of Quebec?—Yes, sir.

3103. Paying him how much?—$10,000.

3104. Then you got a contract from the Government, did you?—Oh, no, it was not a contract.

3105. Well there is some law that makes it necessary to use these books in the Province of Quebec?—No, it is not necessary. What is necessary, is for those books to be approved.

3106. By the Minister?—By the Council of Public Instruction.

3107. So that you turned half of this copyright over to Mr. Rolland?—After they had been approved.

3108. And Mr. Rolland was to publish them?—Yes.

3109. Do all the work?—Yes.

3110. And give you so much?—Half of the interest.

3111. Half of the profits?—Yes. Of course he had to make all the advances. I think that his first advance was for $25,000.

3112. He had raised all the money?—All the money.

3113. Do all the work?—Yes.
 3114. He had to give you half of the profits?—Yes.
 3115. And that was for twenty years?—Yes.
 3116. That is what we call in the west “a soft snap”?—No, sir, because if you read a little more, you will see I had to pay him 8 per cent on all his advances.
 3117. That came out of the profits?—Yes.
 3118. It must have been a very good sale by you in the first place?—A very much better purchase for him.
 3119. I suppose the income from that thing paid you for the trouble?—Yes.
 3120. Would it be $5,000?—Sometimes that and sometimes less.

JAMES JOHNSON, Commissioner of Customs, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

3121. You are Commissioner of Customs?—Yes.
 3122-3. I brought you here to-day to ask you whether the type imported by Patterson of Toronto, from Scotland or England, had paid duty?—I am not aware if it had paid duty.
 3124. Do you know if it did not pay duty?—No.
 3125. Can you ascertain?—I could ascertain, if I had the proper data.
 3126. Mr. Hartney will give you the invoices?—I would like to know, if possible, at what port the entries were made?
 3127. Toronto, I fancy, but you can prepare a statement and send it to the Committee?—Yes, sir.

J. BROOKS YOUNG called, sworn and examined:—

3128. I believe you live in Montreal?—I live in Boston.
 3129. You are connected with the New England Paper Company?—I am President of the New England Paper Company.
 3130. You do business for the Company in Canada?—Well, the New England Paper Company transacts business, and their mills are in Canada, and their store is in Montreal.
 3131. Have you spent a good deal of your time in Canada?—I have for the last year and a half.
 3132. I believe that, acting for the New England Paper Company, you had some dealing with Mr. Berthiaume, of La Presse, Montreal?—We had a contract with Mr. Berthiaume.
 3133. Have you brought that contract with you?—I have not.
 3134. Have you the contract at home?—I have not.
 3135. I believe it is fyled in Court?—It is fyled in Court.
 3136. I will read this paper, and I will ask you to say from recollection whether that is your contract, of which this is a copy, entered into between you and Mr. Berthiaume?—I don't think that is a copy, if you have read it correctly.
 3137. Yes, I think it is a copy (handing it to witness)?—I did not understand your meaning. I thought as you read it Mr. Chapleau was concerned in the contract.
 3138. No, but the notes were endorsed by Mr. Berthiaume and Mr. Chapleau?—That is in substance the contract; I should think that was it.
 3139. According to that contract you appear to have had dealings with Wurtele & Co.?—Yes.
 3140. Were they the owners of La Presse?—Yes, at one time.
 3141. And Wurtele & Co. were indebted to the New England Paper Company?—Yes.

3142. And Wurtele & Co., as I understand it, sold out?—They sold out.

3143. To whom did they sell out?—I don't know.

3144. At all events, Mr. Berthiaume became the manager of the paper?

MR. CHAPLEAU—He is the lessee of the paper, you had better call him that.

By Mr. Lister:

3145. You don't know, I suppose, what position he occupies, whether lessee, manager, or what position?—No.

3146. You know nothing about that?—No.

3147. You know him as proprietor?—I know him as proprietor, that is all.

3148. And Wurtele & Co. were indebted to your company when Berthiaume became the lessee of this paper?—Yes.

3149. And I suppose he assumed the indebtedness of Wurtele & Co.?—Yes.

3150. So that indebtedness was transferred from Wurtele & Co. to Berthiaume, according to the terms of this agreement, namely, that Mr. Chapleau and Berthiaume were to join in a promissory note? Were they the joint-makers, or was Mr. Chapleau an endorser?—Mr. Chapleau was an endorser.

3151. Mr. Chapleau was the endorser?—Yes.

3152. You furnished, I suppose, paper to La Presse for Mr. Berthiaume?—I did.

3153. How much did Wurtele & Co. owe you at the time Berthiaume became controller of the paper?—About the sum that is mentioned here.

3154. That would be their indebtedness?—Yes.

3155. How long after Berthiaume became controller of the paper was it that you entered into this agreement?—Directly.

3156. It was concurrent with the transfer of the paper?—Yes.

3157. So Wurtele & Co. owed you nearly $9,000 at the time?—Yes.

3158. And you continued to supply the paper?—Yes.

3159. For how long?—Up to March.

3160. Please tell me when this agreement was made? There is no date to it?—It was somewhere about October 1889.

3161. You then continued to supply La Presse with the paper that it required after the 6th of June, until the following March—that would be March, 1890?—Yes.

3162. Had Mr. Chapleau anything to do with the paper of Wurtele & Co.?—Not that I know of. He certainly was not on their paper.

3163. The first appearance of Mr. Chapleau in this matter is when he became the endorser of these notes?—Yes.

3164. How was it this contract contains a provision that half of all the profits on all the paper sold to the Government should be applied to the reduction of these notes? Who made this bargain?—I made it myself.

3165. Who with?—Mr. Berthiaume.

3166. How was it you came to make such a bargain?—It came about in this way? it was simply a business transaction. In the first place, La Presse was offered to me, and I should have bought it and made a mistake in not buying it, as it has turned out. But Mr. Berthiaume wanted it and told me he could pay $2,000 in cash and have his notes endorsed by Mr. Chapleau; and he was very anxious to make such a trade. And he said that the contract was to be continued. We were to supply them with paper the same as we were doing before. In addition to that, Mr. Berthiaume asked: "Do you ever get any orders from the Government for paper?" I said "No." He said "I think I can help you so that you can get some orders for paper." That was an inducement, of course. We wanted all the orders we could get from the Government. When I drew the contract—I thought it over night—"I said to myself; the best way if there is any such chance, is to put it in my contract that I will divide up the profits with Mr. Berthiaume. I am pretty sure to get any orders in that way. He will work for the orders, when he would not otherwise." I wrote that in myself, Mr. Berthiaume did not mention it to me in any way.

I said "I am willing to put it here in black and white, that if we get any orders from the government, we will divide the profits with you and be glad to do it."

3167. The question was asked whether you ever supplied the Government with any paper?—Yes.

3168. You saw through Mr. Berthiaume's influence, the possibility of getting orders from the Government?—Yes.

3169. And if you did get orders you were willing to divide the profit?—Yes, perfectly willing.

3170. It was no consequence what Mr. Berthiaume said, you had made up your mind to put this clause in the contract?—Yes.

3171. Were you notified to produce all the letters in your possession?—No; I was simply notified to come here.

3172. I ask you now to produce a letter from Mr. Chapleau to you?—I have no such letter.

3173. I ask you whether you received a letter from Mr. Chapleau?—I do not remember receiving a letter from Mr. Chapleau.

3174. Will you swear you did not receive a letter from Mr. Chapleau?—Most certainly not.

3175. You won't swear?—Certainly not.

3176. Do you remember being a witness in the case, between the Paper Company and Mr. Berthiaume —

Mr. CHAPLEAU objected.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3177. Did I write to you a letter asking you to execute that contract?—If you did write me any such letter, I do not remember it.

By Mr. Lister :

3178. You were a witness in the case of the New England Paper Company against Berthiaume and the Printing and Publishing Company?—I was.

3179. Did that suit arise out of this contract?—It did.

3180. Do you remember who the counsel in that case were?—I remember who they were on our side.

3181. Who were they?—Chapleau, Hall & Brown.

3182. Who were they on the other side?—I do not remember.

3183. Was it Mr. Ouimet's firm?—I think it was.

3184. Do you remember who the judge was?—No.

3185. Do you remember a question coming about in this contract in which Mr. Chapleau's name was mentioned?—No, I do not.

3186. Do you remember offering to produce the letter?—I do not.

3187. Do you remember anything taking place in that trial respecting that letter, and that the judge ruled it out?—I do not.

3188. I ask you whether you did not get a letter from Mr. Chapleau in some sense confirming the arrangement that you had made with Mr. Berthiaume in this contract?—I do not remember.

3189. Will you swear you did not get such a letter?—I will swear that I do not remember.

3190. Did you not state within four weeks that you had such a letter?—I do not remember.

3191. Will you swear you did not?—I will swear, I do not remember telling.

3192. Is it likely that an important letter like that will be forgotten by you?—Very likely.

3193. Will you swear you have not destroyed such a letter?—If I did receive such a letter, certainly I never destroyed it.

3194. Have you looked for such a letter?—No. Such a letter as what.

3195. A letter from Mr. Chapleau approving of this contract in some way?—I do not remember of seeing of such a letter.

3196. Did you not say to Mr. Berthiaume that you wanted something from the Minister to show that in some way this contract would be carried out?—I may and I may not.

3197. Did you not? You are on your solemn oath to tell the whole story, and I ask you now to say it positively whether, you did not say to Mr. Berthiaume that there was nothing binding in it and that you would have to have something from the Secretary of State or the Dominion Government?—I do not remember any such conversation.

3198. Have you talked with Mr. Chapleau, Mr. Dansereau, or anybody else in their interest about this case, within the last few days?—I have not.

3199. You have never seen Mr. Chapleau?—Oh, yes.

3200. Have you spoken to him about this case?—Never.

3201. Have you spoke to Mr. Dansereau?—Never.

3202. Or anybody else?—I may or may not.

3203. Did you or did you not?—I don't know.

3204. You don't know?—I do not.

3205. I ask you again in plain words whether, within the last three weeks or within the last five weeks, you have not stated that you had a letter sent by Mr. Chapleau, a private letter to you, whereby Mr. Chapleau confirmed the terms of this agreement?—Stated to whom?

3206. I am not asking who, but I ask you whether within the last five weeks you have told that fact to anybody?—I don't think I did.

3207. Will you swear you have not?—I do not swear to what I don't know, you seem to be trying to get me to swear to what I don't remember.

3208. But I want you to brush up your memory?—Well it is pretty hard to brush it.

3209. If there was such a letter would it be in your possession or has it been destroyed?—It would not be destroyed; we keep our correspondence on file.

3210. You keep all your correspondence?—Usually.

3211. Then that letter would be amongst your correspondence?—Certainly, if there were such a letter.

3212. I ask you now again to say, whether or not you ever received such a letter from Mr. Chapleau?—I don't remember.

3213. You don't remember then whether you ever wrote such a letter to Mr. Chapleau or not?—I do not.

3214. You don't remember whether Mr. Chapleau ever wrote such a letter to you or not?—I don't recollect such a letter.

3215. I ask you again a question whether, within the past five weeks you have stated to anybody that you had received a letter—a private letter—from Mr. Chapleau approving the arrangement made between you and Mr. Berthiaume?—I don't remember.

3216. Was there anything said between you and Mr. Berthiaume about what security you could have, what probability there was of your being able to get orders from the Government?—Only in a general way, not in a particular kind of a way.

3217. Only in a general way?—In the conversation that we had he gave me the impression that he had influence enough at Ottawa to get orders for paper from the Government. That was all.

3218. Were you willing to accept that without anything further?—Well, I did accept it.

3219. But did you not say anything about getting a letter from Mr. Chapleau?—I don't think so: I don't remember that I ever said such a thing.

3220. And you cannot remember whether you ever got a letter from Mr. Chapleau?—Now, you are bringing it to me so many times it seems as if I did get a letter from Mr. Chapleau.

3221. Now, you see the advantage of repeating the question?—It seems as if I did get a letter, a letter which had nothing to do with the contract as I remember it. You have the letter there, have you not, let me read it.

3222. Oh, no?—Then I will say nothing about it.

3223. Then it seems to you that you did get a letter from Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

3224. This was in 1889, and now it is only 1891, and you see your contract was all broken up in March, 1890. The whole thing would come back to your mind then?—Yes.

3225. That is a little more than a year ago?—How many letters do you suppose I receive?

3226. But you do not often receive letters from Secretaries of State?—They are not new to me.

3227. You understood from Mr. Berthiaume that he had influence enough from the Government to get orders for you for paper?—He gave me to understand that.

3228. After understanding that, did you get an order?—Yes; but allow me to say right here, that whether he had said that or not, it would not have made that much difference (snapping his fingers). I was perfectly delighted to carry out this contract without any orders from the Government.

3229. Had you any security for the paper you were furnishing La Presse?—I had Mr. Chapleau's endorsement.

3230. That was on the old debt?—I had Mr. Wurtele.

3231. You continued working on with Mr. Berthiaume after he became the lessee?—Yes. Mr. Wurtele owed us as high as $13,000, and it was pretty weak, and when Mr. Berthiaume said: "I can get Mr. Chapleau to endorse these notes——."

3232. You jumped?—No; I did not jump, but I wrote the contract as fast as I could. I ought to have purchased the paper.

3233. You would then have got all the paper orders you would have wanted?—I do not know.

By Mr. Bergeron :

3234. Do you not know that La Presse is one of the best paying papers in Montreal?—I do not know.

By Mr. Lister :

3235. What security had you for the paper you sold to Berthiaume after Berthiaume got control of the paper?—I had Mr. Chapleau's endorsement.

3236. But for the paper they got from day to day?—They paid for it every Saturday, or every month.

3237. Was it every Saturday or every month?—We had no fault to find with the payments.

3238. Did they make many payments on account of this $9,000 or $10,000?—They kept to their contract as far as that was concerned.

3239. There was only one renewal. The notes were given in December and the contract was over in March. Do you know the inside working of how that was lost?—Yes.

3240. You know Mr. MacFarlane and Mr. Richard White?—Yes.

3241. They went to Mr. Chapleau and took him by the throat?—No; I do not know that; but I know that for a President of the Paper Makers' Association, supposed to be an association for the benefit of all the manufacturers, and working harmoniously, it was one of the queerest things for such a President to go and take our contract away from us.

3242. Who was the President?—Mr. MacFarlane was the Vice-President of the Paper Makers' Association, for the purpose of working in harmony and yet he turns around, I do not know how, and he plants the money down on our desk and takes this contract from us by furnishing La Presse with paper.

3243. Without the Government promise too?—I do not know anything about that.

3244. Within six months, your contract entered into was broken, their indebtedness was paid to you, and you sued to recover damages for breach of this contract; and that was the suit you brought against Berthiaume and the Printing and Publishing Co., of Montreal?—Yes.

3245. You furnished one order of paper to the Government?—We did. We sold the Government two lots of paper.

3246. You had never sold any paper previous to this contract?—We had.

3247. How long before?—I find it on my books in June 30th, 1886.

3248. Then you did not sell them any more until 1889?—Not until 1889.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3249. To what Department did you sell the paper?—To the Department of Agriculture. In looking up that sale, that was what led me particularly to put that in the contract, as I saw it was a pretty nice thing to sell the Government paper.

By Mr. Lister :

3250. You saw there was lots of money in it?—Yes, and I will prove it in this way; we sold them 370 reams paper at 10 cents, and they gave us their cheque for $2,664 more or less. That paper only cost us $1,982, and we made $682, or nearly 35 per cent profit. I thought to myself if there was any such profit in selling to the Government, I would be delighted to give them half or take two-thirds of the profits. That was the first sale I ever made.

3251. When was this contract made?—It was in October, 1889.

3252. The end of the month?—I should think about the first of the month.

3253. In November you appear to have made the sale?—Yes.

3254. Did you see Mr. Berthiaume about the matter between that day and the time you made the sale?—I do not remember. I would not know about that anyway.

3255. Did you ever speak to him after making this contract about your getting an order from the Government?—Yes, I think so. He knew about it. I think I mentioned it to him to see if I could get an order from the Government. He was to get half the profit. I think I mentioned it to him when I received an order from the Government.

3256. What did he say?—I do not remember what he said, but when the bill was paid we offered to give him half the profit and he would not take it.

3257. Why?—He said it was too small; it did not amount to anything.

3258. Then you never gave it to him?—No.

By Mr. Bergeron :

3259. What was your profit then?—$137.

3260. Upon a sale of what?—The whole bill was $1,091, and the Government give us $1,074 and our profit was $137.

By Mr. Lister :

3261. You offered him half?—I offered him half.

3262. And he said it was too small?—He said it was too small.

3263. And told you to keep it?—That I had better keep it.

3264. Then it would be about four months after that, that the contract was broken off?—Yes about that.

3265. Now Mr. Young I am going to ask you to make a thorough search amongst your papers to find the original letter, which I know you have. I am going to ask you to come here after making that search and to swear whether you can find it or not?—I would like to make a request to the committee. I am an American citizen, and I know well what you are driving at—perfectly well.

3266. I know you do?—Yes—an American citizen. I am busy and my book keeper that I sent up here, that you ordered here to be examined—

3267. She did not know anything?—Well she is down with typhoid fever. I don't know what you did to her, but she is sick with typhoid fever ever since. Now there is nothing whatever in what you are trying to prove. Mr. Chapleau never mentioned to me in any way, shape or manner, anything in regard to selling him paper, or whether we should have the contract, or anything, excepting that he would endorse these notes for us. Now, that is what you want to prove. You cannot prove it by me. I am too busy to come up here again. I don't want to come up again, and I want to be excused.

3268. How is it you could not remember anything about that letter?—I don't know.

3269. I can prove that Mr. Young has stated he held a private letter in which Mr. Chapleau confirmed the terms of this agreement?—You cannot prove any such thing.

3270. Cannot I?—No, you cannot.

By Mr. Sproule :

3271. Were the profits you made in the last contract with the Government, the same as the profits you made on the first?—Not at all.

3272. What profits had you in the last contract?—Some where about 10 per cent against about 35 on the other one. There was no profit in it you know.

3273. Is that any higher profit than you make out of your ordinary customers?—It is nothing.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3274. If you had received a letter from me, because you have made a declaration now which is very plain, stating that I was in favour of your getting Government contracts would you remember it?—Of course I would. I know I never received any such letter.

By Mr. Lister :

3275. You did not know it a few minutes ago?—Well, I know it now. I am not coming here again you know.

3276. If you don't come here, we shall issue a warrant for your arrest?—You cannot do it, I am an American citizen.

3277. I don't care whether you are an American citizen, or whether you are a Canadian subject. If you are in Canada you are subject to the laws.—I am not in Canada, and I am not living in Canada to-day.

Mr. LISTER.—I ask that the witness be not discharged.

The WITNESS.—I want the Committee to understand distinctly you know. I don't want to come back before this committee. I live in the States so if I leave here to-morrow I shall not come back here again unless I am obliged to.

Mr. LISTER.—We cannot bring you back from the States, but as long as you are in Canada you must come?

The WITNESS.—A man does what he is obliged to, but not what he is not obliged to do, sometimes. I want this Committee to understand distinctly I came here perfectly free and perfectly willing to say anything that was straight and right, but when you are trying, as I know you are, to make it out that Mr. Chapleau entered into an agreement with me with regard to this paper it is not true, it is all with Berthiaume. You cannot prove it is true and what is the use of making me come here and wasting my time and my money. Why should I come here and undertake to defend Mr. Chapleau. Mr. Chapleau is an enemy of mine to-day and Mr. Berthiaume too, for breaking that contract. I furnished La Presse with money when they did not have it, and they turned around and threw my contract up, and I lost my contract. Do you suppose if I had such a letter and could produce it, I would not? I would be on your side from the word, go. They have not kept faith with me. Mr. Chapleau has kept faith, because he only agreed to endorse the note. I feel aggrieved. It was a big thing for me; but I object to coming back, because I know there was no such thing. What is the use of bringing me up here and spending my money.

By Mr. Foster :

3278. Have you said that there is no such letter from Mr. Chapleau to you approving of that part of the contract, private or public, which has regard to the sharing of the profits and the getting of Government contracts?—I state positively, that Mr. Chapleau never wrote me such a letter, and I never received a letter from Mr. Chapleau, and Mr. Chapleau never mentioned to me, in any shape or form, anything about contracts. Mr. Chapleau simply guaranteed these notes and endorsed them.

By Mr. Charlton :

3279. Did Mr. Chapleau write you to that effect?—I cannot remember, but it seems to me that he wrote to me a note saying “I will endorse the note.”

3280. You may be under a misapprehension about these notes?—No, I may not be. It is not reasonable. If I had such a letter I would have produced it when the contract was broken.

By Mr. Bergeron :

3281. Do you remember what time your company sued Berthiaume and La Presse?—Yes.

3282. About what time?—Somewhere in March.

3283. I suppose you must have given your lawyers every possible information in that case?—I gave all the papers I had.

3284. If you had had such a letter, would you not have given it to your lawyers to prove?—Yes, certainly.

3285. Would you not have produced it?—Certainly, there is no such letter.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, 15th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

PETER ALFRED CROSSBY called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

3286. You are the vice-president, I believe, of the Dominion Type Foundry of Montreal?—No, sir; I am the manager.

3287. How long have you been connected with the company in that position?—Since 1878, I have been the manager.

3288. You furnished to the Dominion Government, for the Printing Bureau, a quantity of type, I believe?—We did.

3289. With whom was the contract made?—In the first place with Mr. Senécal.

3290. Where did you first see Mr. Senécal about it?—In my office in Montreal.

3291. When was that, and what took place at the time?—It was in July, 1888. If you will permit me, I have written out a statement and I will read it. It just contains the whole of the details in connection of the matter from the first to the last.

3292. We will leave your statement for the present. I think we will get on better if you simply answer my question. Now, tell the Committee, if you please, what took place on the first occasion you met Mr. Senécal?—I met Mr. Senécal in July, and he told me that he had received the appointment about the 28th, I think; he called into the office and asked me for a copy of the type price list, and particulars of the type that we supplied to the Government Bureau. I gave him what he wanted and he made out his order for the type for the Bureau.

3293. Then, do I understand you to say that the order for the type was given on the first occasion he visited your place?—No; not exactly on the first occasion. On the first occasion I think he told me about his getting the appointment and that he was just leaving L'Etendard office.

3294. Did you know that he was the manager?—I had spoken to him on several occasions.

3295. Had you spoken to him about any possible transactions between your company and the Bureau?—Certainly. I told him when he was going to be appointed not to forget the type foundry. I was well acquainted with him, and had many conversations with him.

3296. You were anxious that he should not forget the type foundry?—Yes.

3297. Did he show you his appointment?—No; he did not on that occasion, when he first spoke to me about it.

3298. His appointment had then been made, but he did not show you the appointment?—Not then.

3299. Did you take any steps to satisfy yourself that Mr. Senécal had a right to enter into a contract for the Government?—I did not.

3300. Did he show you his authority for doing so?—Mr. Senécal showed me his appointment afterwards, when he came and made out the order.

3301. There can be no reasonable doubt when he came to make out the order that he showed his appointment?—No.

3302. You went to work and made out the order?—Yes.

3303. Is it a written order?—It is. I have it here:

“DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING Co.,

“MONTREAL, 29th July, 1887.

“ANDRÉ SENÉCAL, Esq.,

“Supt. Government Printing Bureau, Ottawa.

“DEAR SIR,—I have to thank you for your order for type for the new Government Printing Bureau handed us this day, and will fill the same on the terms agreed between us, namely:—

Nonpareil.....	58	cts. per lb.
Minion.....	48	do
Brevier.....	44	do
Bourgeois.....	40	do
Long primer.....	36	do
Small pica.....	34	do
Pica and larger.....	32	do

Less 10 per cent.

“I have arranged that the type shall be cast from special metal, and shall be of superior quality. I have ordered new machinery, new matrices and new skilled labour, in order to have your order ready by August, 1888.

“Again thanking you, I remain,

“Yours truly.

(Sgd.) “P. A. CROSSBY,

“Manager.”

3304. The order was to be completely filled in August, 1888?—Yes.

3305. Was there any difficulty took place between you and Mr. Senécal as to your delivery of the type or any portion of it?—Not then.

3306. Subsequently?—Yes.

3307. How long after that was it before you had a portion of the type made?—In the fall.

3308. You had a portion of it made, I believe, in the fall?—Yes.

3309. You went to work and made it at once?—Yes; as much as possible.

3310. But not the full order?—We could not make it at once.

3311. I suppose it would take you some months to make it?—Yes; we were to make it and deliver it in the following August.

3312. Had you any portion of it ready for delivery in the following December?—We had.

3313. How much?—About 15,000 pounds.

3314. And at what time was he ready for delivery?—About the 1st January.

3315. Did you apply to the Government or to Mr. Senécal to be allowed to deliver what you had ready?—No; we did not apply to the Government then; we applied to the Government in another way.

3316. In what other way?—I would just read from my statement here: Early in December the late lamented president of the company, Mr. Alexander Murray, observing a large number of boxes of type being packed in the storeroom for the Government, asked me to get him a copy of the Act relating to the Printing Bureau, as he had some misgivings about Senécal's right to order. We were then working day and night, and paying out considerable sums of money for wages and metal. Other orders were also being neglected that we might finish this one within the time named. I got Mr. Murray a copy of the Act, and on reading it he said it was as he had feared: the order was valueless, because it had not been approved by the Minister or his Deputy, and he underlined the words in clause 4 of section 5, which reads: “Upon a requisition duly approved by the Minister, or as he directs.” He was angry, and took the order away, and I either wrote or telegraphed to Senécal about the matter, for I was very much upset. His answer was:—

“OTTAWA, 19th December, 1887.

“(Confidential)

“MY DEAR PETER,—I was to go to Montreal Saturday, but I was not well enough to leave that day. My sickness is lumbago, that I am bothered with for the last eight days. I expect to leave Tuesday afternoon. I will telegraph you on that day, if I will leave, for I want you to be at the depot on my arrival. The thing is passed in Council, but not a single word to nobody. Be on your guard.

“Yours truly,
“A. SENÉCAL.

“P. A. CROSSBY, Esq., Montreal.

“Not a word, even in the office.”

3317. Now, that letter was a reply to some letter that had been written from your office, I suppose?—I will just explain it. I telegraphed to him to come down. When Mr. Murray said he had no right to order he was angry, and I either wrote or telegraphed to Senécal. I was very much upset.

3318. Have you the telegram or letter you sent to Senécal?—I have not. I don't keep these things.

3319. Have you no letter book in the office?—Yes; but that is not in the office.

3320. Have you searched for that letter?—Yes, certainly; I remember the circumstance so well—there was no letter.

3321. You are satisfied there is no copy of a letter kept, but perhaps you can give the Committee an idea of your letter to Mr. Senécal?—I think I telegraphed him that there was some doubt about his order, and told him to come down and see me immediately. I don't exactly remember the words, for I know I was very much upset at the time.

3322. That letter was written in December?—12th December.

3323. Months before that letter was written, had you or any person from the company come to Ottawa for the purpose of arranging as to the prices?—No, sir.

3324. Did anybody?—No; I did not come to Ottawa about the prices being arranged.

3325. Did you come to Ottawa at all and have any conversation with any person respecting the order that had been given by Mr. Senécal?—No.

3326. Did any of your officials?—No.

3327. How do you know?—Because I know they did not come to Ottawa; there is only one official might have done it, and that is the president. I don't know whether he did it, but the president can only transact business of this kind.

3328. You did not know what the president did?—I do not.

3329. What action did you take on it?—As far as I can remember, I handed it to the president.

3330. Do you remember what you did with it, or what action you took?—That is the only action I could have taken—to hand it to him.

3331. Do you remember what the talk was?—That is all I remember.

3332. Then you don't remember what you did?—I don't remember what I did then.

3333. Do you remember any conversation between you and the president?—This was afterwards.

3334. After the receipt of that letter?—Yes; on the 28th December; Mr. Murray only just passed through the office. He is president, and has other business to occupy him. Mr. Murray returned me the order for type duly approved by the Secretary of State and charged me to fill no orders from the Bureau to any extent unless approved of by the Minister or his Deputy. This is the original order we had.

3335. I will read it:—

“DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING COMPANY.

“Please have the following quantities of type cast for the Government Printing Bureau, to be delivered at Ottawa by August, next year (1888), and sooner if possible:—

	Lbs.
Nonpareil No. 3.....	5,000
Minion No. 3.....	15,000
Long Primer No. 7.....	10,000

	Lbs.
Small Pica No. 4 .....	20,000
Bourgeois No. 8.....	3,000

" J. A. CHAPLEAU.

" Secretary of State.

" OTTAWA, 23rd December, 1887."

3336. This is the same order and for the same quantity as Senécal gave you?—It is a copy of the order.

3337. You got this four days after the letter of 19th December which you received from Senécal?—I told you that is the time that I got this order from Mr. Murray. I got this letter on the 19th, and on the 28th Mr. Murray gave me the order.

3338. The order is dated 23rd December?—Well, he gave it to me on the 28th.

3339. The order assumes to be dated 23rd. It is after the letter written by Mr. Senécal and appears to be the same order given originally by Senécal?—It is a copy of the order I gave to Mr. Murray.

3340. Did Mr. Murray go to Ottawa?—No, sir.

3341. Where did he get Mr. Chapleau to sign this order?—I don't know.

3342. You do not know?—I do not know. I told you he brought back the order. He was only in the habit of calling at the office once a day. He took the order given on the 23rd and you will see he brought it back.

3343. This dated 23rd December?—He gave it to me on the 28th.

3344. On the 23rd the order was given?—Yes.

3345. Did he make no statement as to how he came with that order?—No, sir; and he was not the man to tell either.

3346. He gave no explanation whatever?—That was the only thing he said:—"Here is an order approved by the Secretary of State," and he charged me to fill no orders from the Bureau to any extent unless approved by the Minister of his Deputy.

3347. You were going on to say just now something about the 28th?—Yes. When Mr. Murray handed me the order I suggested to him we should ask for permission to ship to Ottawa what type we had ready, and get money on account. He approved of my suggestion, and wrote to the Honourable J. A. Chapleau, to this effect:—

" DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING COMPANY,

" MONTREAL, 28th December, 1887.

" HON. J. A. CHAPLEAU,
" &c, &c., Ottawa.

" DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge having received your order for type dated 23rd instant, and have to thank you on behalf of this company for the same.

" I am advised by the Manager that we have now boxed and ready the following quantities, viz.:—

2,222 lbs. Nonpareil @ 58c.....	$1,288 76
5,638 " Minion @ 48c.....	2,706 24
2,217 " Bourgeois @ 44c.....	886 80
4,644 " Long Primer @ 36c.....	1,671 84
	<hr/>
	$6,553 64
10 per cent. ....	655 36

and I have to ask if it would suit the Department to take delivery of this quantity and make us a payment, say of $5,000, on account. If this can be arranged without inconvenience it would be an accommodation to the company.

“I have the honour to be, dear Sir,
 “Your obedient servant,
 (Sgd.) “A. MURRAY,
 “President.”

To this the Queen's Printer replied as follows:—

“DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY, “OFFICE OF THE QUEEN'S PRINTER AND “CONTROLLER OF STATIONERY,
 “OTTAWA, 5th January, 1888.

“SIR,—I am directed by the Honourable the Secretary of State to request that the type mentioned in your letter of the 28th ultimo, as manufactured for the Printing Bureau, viz. :—

2,222 lbs	.....	Nonpareil
5,638	“	.....Minion
2,217	“	..... Bourgeois
4,644	“	..... Long Primer

be shipped to me, and on receipt of invoice and shipping bill I shall have pleasure in paying you five thousand dollars on account thereof.

“I have the honour to be, Sir,
 “Your obedient servant,
 “B. CHAMBERLIN,
 “Queen's Printer and Controller of Stationery.

“The President of
 “The Dominion Type Foundry Co.,
 “Montreal, Que.”

3348. Then on receipt of that letter I suppose you shipped the type?—We did, and we got $5,000.

3349. And Mr. Murray never in any way intimated to you how it was that he came to get Mr. Chapleau to sign that order?—No, sir.

3350. Nor any person else?—No, sir.

3351. Nobody ever told you how it was done?—No, sir. Mr. Murray was then President of the Richelieu Company.

3352. About that time how much had your company subscribed to the election funds?—Nothing.

3353. About what time, do you say it was that the Dominion type foundry made a cheque for $1,500 payable to Mr. Benoit and gave it to him?—On the 12th January, 1888. Mr. Murray, permit me to mention, was a pronounced Liberal in politics. He was president of the Canada Shipping Company, president of the Richelieu Company and a director of the Bank of Montreal. He was also president of, and held three-fourths of the capital in, my company. He instructed the book-keeper to make out a cheque payable to François Benoit for $1,500. After it was made out it was signed by R. S. Starke, vice-president, and myself. Either on that day or the next I personally gave it to Mr. Murray at this office at the Richelieu Company's offices, where he was in company with the late Captain Labelle. He put the cheque in his pocket, but what he did with it, neither myself nor any person connected with the company can tell.

3354. It was given to Mr. Murray himself at the office of the Richelieu Company?—I gave it to him myself.

3355. Mr. Murray never told you what it was wanted for?—No, sir.

3356. And it was made payable to François Benoit?—That is all we know.

3357. Who was he?—I do not know. I believe he is president of some association or other, but I do not know the man at all.

3358. You did not know he was connected with the Conservative Association ?
—I heard so ; I never saw the man.

3359. He was not the president of the Reform Association ?—He might have been. The cheque was made out in his name simply.

3360. Well, you know he was not President of the Reform Association ?—I did not know the gentleman at all. If he were in the room I would not know him to see him.

3361. Was anything said to you while the cheque for $1,500 was drawn ?—No.

3362. Was there no conversation at all ?—No.

3363. Do you usually sign cheques without asking what they are for ?—For the president, I do, It is none of my business to ask. If he asked me to sign for all the funds of the company in the bank I would have to do it.

3364. Why should he ask you to sign the cheques then ?—I countersign all cheques as manager.

3365. You sign all the cheques that the president asks you to sign ?—Yes.

3366. Without asking what they are required for ?—Yes.

3367. That cheque was dated the 12th January, 1888 ?—Yes.

3368. Do you know whether anything had taken place between the officials of the company—any talk I mean—as to this $1,500 contribution ?—No, sir. I may tell you not even a director knows that we contributed that amount. Even the vice-President, who signed the cheque, did not know about it.

3369. What was it charged up to ?—To discount account. That is proper—anything like that.

3370. Is it charged to discount in your books ?—It is.

3371. That is where it is charged up ?—Yes.

3372. Are there many other charges of that kind as discounts about that date or otherwise ?—I could not tell you. I have not got the books here.

3373. You have not looked for them ?—I looked for this particular item. I would not come here to tell you what I did not know anything about—not like our book-keeper the other day.

3374. You got a package of letters from the book-keeper ?—I did not. I have all the letters here. They were in the safe, and I got them there when I came back from British Columbia.

3375. Were certain letters from Senécal kept separate in the safe ?—I may explain that all the letters and documents bearing on this matter which I have are here. About a year ago, when I had a row with Senécal, I went down to Montreal and collected the letters together. I got them and put them in the safe, and when I got back from British Columbia I found them there.

3376. When did you get them ?—On Friday, when I got back.

3377. What letters are they ?—You had some of them.

3378. Give me the rest of them and the telegrams ?—I have no telegrams.

3379. Give me all the letters and telegrams you have got in that package of papers ?—They are there.

3380. Let me have them. Are these all ?—They are all, except some others I will show you afterwards.

3381. I want to see them all. You are sworn here to tell the truth ?—So I will.

3382. You are asked to produce all the letters, telegrams and papers in your possession connected with this matter ?—I beg your pardon ; my subpoena does not say so. I have letters here which it is not necessary for me to show until I have got permission.

The CHAIRMAN—The subpoena does not ask the witness to produce papers.

WITNESS—I am not asked to produce any papers. What I produce I do so voluntarily. You can have them all, all the same.

3383. On the 20th of January you appear to have received a letter dated Ottawa, 20th January, 1888. Will you read that ?

“ DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING,
“ OTTAWA, 20th January, 1888.

“ SIR,—The Department of Public Printing will require 122,231 lbs. of minion during the course of the present year. I desire to know whether your establishment can supply us with that quantity of type at a rate of not less than 15,000 per month, and at what price?

If you are able to do it, the order already given to your firm for minion would be merged into the new one. The Superintendent will call at your establishment to be acquainted with your answer.

“ I have the honor to be
“ Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) “ J. A. CHAPLEAU.

“ P. A. CROSSBY, Esq.,
“ Montreal.”

3384. Now the next letter?—You are breaking up the connection with the story in this way.

3385. Well, never mind; read the letter?

“ DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING,
“ OTTAWA, 9th April, 1890.

“ DEAR SIR,—I saw Mr. Crossby this morning, who handed me enclosed cheque, which I return you for signature. I thank you very much for the accommodation which you are kind enough to give me. Please return to me by next mail, for I need the money for Friday.

(Sgd.) “ A. SENÉCAL.

“ R. G. STARKE, Esq.,
“ Montreal.”

3386. Now, the next letter?—That is about all.

3387. Now, then, I ask you to produce all other letters from the Department or from Senécal on any matter relating to the Printing Bureau?—I have two letters here, but I would ask Mr. Chapleau's permission about producing them?

Mr. CHAPLEAU—Show them to Mr. Lister, and he will say whether they ought to go in or not? (Letters handed to Mr. Lister).

Mr. LISTER—These letters do not appear to have any relevancy to the inquiry. To witness: I want other letters and telegrams?—I have not got telegrams. I did not keep them, except one. Here is the order for the minion:

“ OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING,
“ OTTAWA, 6th February, 1888.

“ To the Dominion Type Foundry,
“ Montreal.

“ Please fill the following order for the Government Printing Bureau:—40,000 lbs. of minion No. 3, at 44 cents per pound, to be delivered in Ottawa by invoice of 5,000 lbs. every month until full order completed; the first delivery to be made on the 10th day of March next; caps, figures, lower case, leaders, spaces, and quads, only required. In order to guard against superfluous sorts, I enclose you samples of the work for which the type is to be used. I would most particularly call your attention to this matter, as it will save time and expense in returning unnecessary sorts.

“ A. SENÉCAL,
“ Superintendent of Printing.

“ Approved,
“ J. A. CHAPLEAU, Secretary of State,
“ 6th February, 1888.”

Here is another letter :

“ DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY,
“ OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING,
“ OTTAWA, 8th February, 1888.

“ DEAR SIR,—In the order that I sent you yesterday I forgot the French accents. Please put them all for half the quantity of minion ordered, that is for 20,000 pounds. Will be in Montreal by the end of the week.

“ Yours truly,

“ A. SENÉCAL.

“ P. A. CROSSBY, Esq.,
“ Montreal.”

Here are some others:—

“ OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING
“ OTTAWA, 20th February, 1888.

“ (Private.)

“ DEAR SIR,—I am writing to Crosby by same mail about the lines I want to be stereotyped for voters' lists. I wish you would send me the exact figure that you can supply them. This is private. The prices he sent me last week are rather too high. Don't let him know that I wrote you.

“ Yours truly.

“ A. SENÉCAL.

“ Sup't P. Bureau,

“ Corner McKenzie Ave. and St. Patrick St.”

“ R. G. STARKE, Esq.,
“ Montreal.”

“ DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY,
“ OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING,
“ OTTAWA, 19th May, 1890.

“ DEAR SIR,—Yours of the 16th inst. at hand and contents well noted. In reply I beg to say that it is true that I gave some sorts in minion to cast to the Toronto type foundry—on Miller & Richard's body. Mr. Chapleau's orders were to distribute the patronage as equally as possible between the three type founders in the Dominion. By referring to your books you will see that you had more than your share of the patronage.

“ Yours truly,

“ A. SENÉCAL.

“ R. G. STARKE, Esq.,
“ Montreal.”

Then here is a telegram:—

“ OTTAWA, 1st February, 1888.

“ ALEX. MURRAY, Esq.,

“ Pres'dt Dominion Type Foundry Co.

“ Arrangements about supply of type require Mr. Crosby's presence here tomorrow. Ten thousand pounds a month not sufficient. Answer immediately.

“ J. A. CHAPLEAU.”

3388. Is that the only telegram you received?—I received more, but that is the only one I kept.

3389. What are those you have there?—These are some I received in British Columbia.

3390. Having nothing to do with this case?—No; except to order me home.

3391. You have produced all the letters and telegrams?—Yes, in our possession.

3392. Have you any recollection of any telegrams or letters that you have not produced or are not now in your possession?—Nothing in particular, except this fellow wanting money sometimes. Those were addressed to me personally, and I kept them for a time and then tore them up. I do not think there were any telegrams; they were letters.

3393. You swear there were no telegrams?—I hunted the office over for papers before I came away. There is nothing for us to keep back.

3394. Have you got a letter from Murray, the vice-president of the company?—He was not the vice-president; he was the president.

3395. Have you destroyed any letters or telegrams?—I told you that I destroyed a lot after a time. We gave the orders to the men and then destroyed them.

3396. They did not bear on this?—Some of them did not. He might say at the bottom of an order: "Why don't you send me something?". I would tear that off.

3397. Did you have a letter from Murray the vice-president of the company, stating that the Tories were getting too exacting?—No.

3398. You never got such a letter?—I will read you from my statement some words that Mr. Murray did say; for he subscribed to the other party pretty well:

"In February, March and April I made further shipments of type to Ottawa. Mr. Senécal began to kick; refused to accept delivery, saying he had no room; but I honoured him with a cheque for $200 and a place was very easily found. This was the only cheque signed by the late Mr. Murray, and he was very much annoyed at doing so. He said to me: 'Crossby, you Tories are a damned bad lot. Here I find one Senécal (the late Senator) fitting up Elmwood at the expense of the unfortunate Richelieu Company, and now his namesake, that scallawag printer fellow at Ottawa, is trying to feather his nest at your expense. We must stop it'".

3399. That was the conversation?—There was no bones about him when he spoke. That is why I did not know what he did with the $1,500.

3400. You were the gentleman who was brought most in contact with Senécal during these dealings?—Yes.

3401. Do you remember how much you paid him during the time this work was going on, in the shape of gratuities or loans?—I paid him $1,200, and I got the cheques for it. I kept all these, because they might come against myself some day.

3402. In 1887 there were two notes given, six months after date?—The memorandum of payments is as follows:—

July 15, 1887.....	$125 00
September 1, 1887.....	200 00
April 19, 1888.....	200 00
August 23, 1888.....	250 00
July 10, 1889.....	125 00
September 20, 1889.....	100 00
April 8, 1890.....	200 00

$1,200 00

3403. On the 8th April, $200?—Yes.

3404. That amount was payable to him?—Yes.

3405. How was it chargeable?—Everything was chargeable to my account.

3406. So that the total payments to him were $1,200—that is shown in these notes and cheques?—Yes.

3407. How was it that you came to make these payments to him, Mr. Crosby?—That is what I want to know.

3408. How did you come to make the payments to Senécal?—I could not help making them; he wanted money. It was a small commission, he said, and he wanted to get the money.

3409. Did he want more than you paid?—He did. We have to imitate the American system here; it is a most abominable system, but we have got to bribe every fellow that we can to keep him pleasant with us.

3410. Will you explain how you could not help it—how you could not help paying Sénécal this money?—He used to come and bother me for the money himself; he told me how handsomely the Toronto people were treating him.

3411. Did he complain to you that you were not doing so handsomely as the Toronto people?—I should say that he did complain.

3412. They were coming down more handsomely than you were?—They were.

3413. You say that your orders were very few for the last eighteen months?—Yes; we had a row over these matters, and we got very few orders afterwards.

3414. Was it because you would not give him what he wanted that you quarrelled?—Yes; he wanted more.

3415. How much did he claim?—He claimed a few thousands.

3416. And did you refuse to give it to him?—Yes.

3417. What did he want from you?—Well, he wanted the earth, nearly. He said I should have paid him at least $5,000.

3418. You told him that you had paid him enough?—I did. I felt that we had paid him too much.

3419. Since you had that little difference you have not had many orders?—No. You must understand that our company is a mixed company of Liberals and Conservatives.

3420. You have told us that two or three times, but you have not proved yet that Mr. Murray ever gave a cent to the Liberal party?—I know that gentlemen came to the Richelieu Company's office; he did not give Mr. Benoit all the money; there were good Liberals who got it there, too.

3421. Did Mr. Sénécal ever, on any occasion, telegraph that he was "hungry"?—He wrote to me telling me that he was hungry, but he never telegraphed. I never took any notice of that part of it.

3422. He told you that he was hungry or hard up?—Yes; but I took no notice of that.

3423. Have you a cheque for $150 endorsed by Mr. Chapleau?—No.

3424. Do you remember the Napierville election?—I do not remember.

3425. You have no such cheque?—No.

3426. Now, in addition to the $1,200, what else did you give Mr. Sénécal?—I gave him about Christmas, about that time, a case of wine. I do not know whether it was the first Christmas or the second.

3427. What kind of wine?—Case of Pommery.

3428. Anything else?—About the time he was moving I gave him a pier glass.

3429. These were the only presents?—Yes.

3430. Did he get anything more from the company?—He got nothing from the company except by or through me.

3431. Then that is one case of champagne at Christmas and the pier glass. Did you ever tell him that you were going to complain to the Government?—Yes; I told him I was going to complain.

3432. And did you make any complaint?—I did not. I did not want to hurt the "poor devil."

3433. What reason did you ever receive for paying this money?—The only reason was, he told me, as I have already said, that the others were paying him—were treating him handsomely.

3434. Did he tell you where it was to go?—No.

3435. Did he state that it was for political purposes?—No, sir.

3436. Did he tell you it was for himself?—He did not tell me what it was for. He used to come and ask me for it; he was always hard up; one time he said he had to pay an insurance policy, another time it was something else, and again, another time, it was something else, and so on.

3437. Payments on land, for instance?—Yes.

3438. Did he ever give you that as his reason for his wanting money?—I do not remember that he ever did.

3439. To other people he said he had to make payments on land, but he did not tell you that?—No.

3440. Did he ever give you any reason at all?—He told me that he was hard up; that he wanted the money.

3441. Did he tell you anything else?—He told me that he had to keep up a style in Ottawa with the other civil clerks; that he had to keep a horse and buggy and that he had to entertain Ministers. In fact, I do not know what in the devil he had not to do. He could not live on his salary—that was one thing he said.

3442. Anything else?—He said he had to take his family to the seaside.

3443. The same as other civil servants. You told us that you had known him for about 20 years?—Yes. We knew each other before I was in the foundry. I was a printer by trade and worked with him.

3444. Do you know where he worked?—He was foreman or manager of L'Etendard—something of the kind.

3445. Do you know where he worked before that time?—I cannot say. I think he came from the States.

3446. He worked in another place in Montreal before that, did he not?—I do not know that.

3447. How long after he came from the States was it before he received the appointment?—He must have been on L'Etendard a long time. He used to come down from time to time to the office.

3448. Would it be two or three years?—I do not know.

3449. How long has L'Etendard been in existence?—I do not know. His brother has got one of the largest printing offices in Montreal.

3450. You do not know what salary he was getting on L'Etendard?—I do not know.

3451. He never told you?—No. When he came to see me he always used to represent that he wanted money.

3452. What representation did he make to you when he wanted these notes?—The first was that he was hard up, and the second note was to help him to move to Ottawa.

3453. At the time that you advanced the money on the first note, did he represent to you that he had got the appointment?—Yes.

3454. And when you gave the second note he had the appointment?—He had the appointment.

3455. And the object was as stated by him—to move his family to Ottawa?—That is what he told me; in fact, he was very anxious afterwards to get those notes back, but they were in Mr. Murray's possession.

3456. Was the money payable by Mr. Murray?—It was payable by P. A. Crossby, endorsed by P. A. Crossby, and discounted by the company.

3457. Do you know anything about the New England Paper Company?—I know Mr. Young very well.

3458. I believe you were trustee with Mr. Young in connection with L'Imprimerie Générale?—Yes.

3459. The General Printing Company?—Yes.

3460. Was Mr. Berthiaume connected with the company in any way?—With L'Imprimerie Générale? No.

3461. Did Wurtele and Company own it?—No; it was not Wurtele and Company—that is a mystery. If I had known about it I might have got the papers I had connected with it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3462. It was the Tassés?—Yes; Emmanuel Tassé and Joseph Tassé.

By Mr. Lister :

3463. The Senator?—The Senator—yes.

3464. They were the owners of the General Printing Company?—It was a company, but they were the owners.

3465. When you speak of Senécal you mean the Senator, I suppose?—I have not mentioned Mr. Senécal's name at all. It is Senator Tassé I mean.

By Mr. Lister :

3466. The General Printing Company, then, was composed of Senator Tassé and his brother?—Not his brother, but Emmanuel Tassé.

3467. Are they any relations?—No; I don't think they are relations.

3468. Then these two gentlemen were owners of the General Printing Company?—Yes.

4469. And that concern became insolvent?—Became insolvent.

3470. And you were one of the assignees?—I was one of the inspectors.

3471. And Mr. Young was, I believe, another?—Mr. Young was another, and Mr. Meredith, Manager of the Bank of Montreal.

3472. That concern was sold out, was it?—It was sold out.

3473. Who bought it?—We advertised calling for tenders for the plant, and Mr. Richard White of the Montreal Gazette—

3474. Has that anything to do with the printing of La Presse?—Yes; La Presse was printed there and La Minerve.

3475. Was Mr. Berthiaume connected with it in any way?—No.

3476. Was he working there?—No.

3477. He had nothing whatever to do with it?—No.

3478. Is that the plant Mr. Berthiaume now has?—I could not tell you. The plant was all sold out piecemeal and different parties bought it. Mr. White sold part of it. Mr. White sold a press, and I have sold new type since.

3479. Is there such a company as the Printing and Publishing Company of Montreal?—That is Le Monde. I forget its title now. That is the other printing and publishing company.

3480. Whose is that?—That is where Wurtele is now, and Mr. Lessard, and Mr. Vanasse.

3481. And where is La Presse published?—La Presse is published by Mr. Berthiaume now.

3482. Mr. Berthiaume has his own printing plant, I suppose?—Yes.

3483. Do you know whether any of that printing plant is what belonged to the General Printing Company?—I could not tell you now; they parted with the presses.

3484. Did you pay any other people in the Printing Bureau, besides Mr. Senécal, any money?—No, sir.

3485. You paid no money whatever to anybody else in the Printing Bureau?—No, sir.

3486. You know a man named Hallaire?—Yes.

3487. Did you pay him any money?—No sir.

3488. None at all?—No.

3489. No person else would get anything from you in connection with the Printing Bureau?—No.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3490. Did I, to your knowledge or to the knowledge of any of your firm, or did you ever hear any of your firm say, that I had asked anything in the way of a subscription for any purpose whatever?—No, sir.

3491. Mr. Lister was asking you about a cheque endorsed by me for the Napierville election. Did I ever speak a word to you about that election fund?—No.

3492. What was the conduct of the Department with your firm in business matters? Was it one of looseness or of unjust favouritism, or what was the manner of conducting the business?—Oh, there was no looseness about it by any means.

3493. Did it look as if the Department was giving you any favor, or favoring you at the expense of others?—I think you done the very reverse than give us favours.

3494. Were the prices that were asked and the prices that were paid by the Department, above or lower than the ordinary prices that you got from your customers?—We just treated you the same as we treated other customers—like other large customers.

3495. Were the prices paid by the Government high prices, or market prices, or what are called “close” prices?—They were the regular prices.

3496. Did you allow the Department the discount you generally allowed in the trade?—We did.

By Mr. Foster :

3497. That is 10 per cent. ?—Ten per cent.—yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3498. You were telling us that Mr. Murray, I think Mr. Starke also, and Mr. Scott if I am not mistaken, in your firm, are not Conservatives, but they are Liberals?—I think Mr. Starke is a Conservative; I don't know about the others.

3499. Mr. Starke?—Yes; I am not sure.

3500. As there has been talk about $1,500, did you ever hear him asking for a subscription?—No, sir; I never had any conversation about the matter.

3501. I understood you to say in answer to Mr. Lister that you never came to Ottawa to settle about the supply of type and presses and time of delivery. Do you remember that at the end of 1887, or rather in the beginning of 1888, I sent for you, and you came to my Department to meet Mr. Chamberlin and I think Mr. Romaine?—There is a telegram here. It is a telegram you sent to Mr. Murray to send me up.

3502. It was after that you received the order which was approved of. Were the orders you received large orders?—There was only one big order.

3503. Do you remember Mr. Romaine talking over the presses with you and Mr. Chamberlin in my Department?—They talked over the presses—yes.

3504. Is it not your recollection that we tried then to establish prices—to make them equal—between the firm from which we were buying, and which was importing, and your firm which was manufacturing?—Yes.

3505. I think we had a pretty hot discussion about it?—I know we did.

3506. And I think you believe even now the Department owes you something on account?—I don't think they treated us very fair, that is all; I think they gave a percentage to people too much—they went out of Canada too much, as I said at the time.

3507. Is it not a fact you have said even lately, even in the last four or five months, that you have been treated harshly by the Department?—Oh, yes.

3508. You know that Mr. Sénécal, who was Superintendent of the Printing Bureau, was no relation of Mr. Sénécal, the Senator?—No, sir; he was no relation at all; he was not of the same family.

By Mr. Taylor :

3509. You say that Mr. Murray, the president of your company, is a Liberal?—He was a Liberal, sir, but he is dead.

3510. Mr. Scott, your book-keeper, is also a Liberal, is he not?—I understood he voted Conservative at the last election—he told me so. I did not ask anybody how they voted, though,

3511. But Mr. Murray, then your president, was aware of these contributions to Mr. Sénécal?—He was only aware of one or two, because he died shortly after that.

3512. I see by a letter there that he was at that time president?—He was only aware of the one he sent himself. He told me not to give any more, but I did. I could not help it.

3513. You do not know if he notified the Government at any time that Sénécal was getting a commission?—I do not think he did. I would have known if he had.

3514. You say this cheque for $1,500 which was given, you handed to him, and he put it in his pocket?—Yes; I remember the circumstances well. He never said a word when I gave it to him.

3515. And that was in the office of the Richelieu Company?—Yes. He was president of the company at the time. Capt. Labelle was there when I handed it to him.

3516. For all you know, it may have been given to the president of the Liberal Association?—I do not know what he did with it.

Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT—At the same time that the cheque was made payable to the president of the Conservative Association.

Mr. TAYLOR—It is just as liable to have gone the one way as the other.

By Mr. Lister :

3517. Have you the cheque?—Yes; here it is. (Witness produces cheque, which was filed as Exhibit No. 14).

3518. That was the cheque you signed for the $1,500?—That is the identical cheque.

3519. And that cheque you handed to Mr. Murray, your president?—I did.

3520. And he folded it up and put it in his pocket?—He did. When it came back he told me to put it in a place of safe keeping. I put it with the other cheques.

3521. Why did not we see it before?—I intended that you should see it. It is made out in the name of the "president," but what he is president of I do not know.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—It is endorsed by Mr. Benoit himself. What is the use of losing time on the point. I tell you he is president of the Conservative Association.

3522. This is the cheque you countersigned and gave to Mr. Murray?—Yes. It is endorsed by F. Benoit, President.

(EXHIBIT No. 14.)

"No. 1542.

"DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING COMPANY,

"MONTREAL, 12th January, 1888.

"To the Manager of the Bank of Montreal :

"Pay to François Benoit, Esq., President, or order, fifteen hundred dollars.

"R. G. STARKE, Vice-President.

"P. A. CROSSBY, Manager."

3523. As a practical type man, what would you say as to purchasing fonts of type from different foundries for the one establishment?—Well, it is not right.

3524. What is the danger?—It would not mix. You could not mix them in the office for use together, but they are liable to get mixed.

3525. It is not a customary thing?—Oh, yes; it is. It is quite customary to buy body type from one foundry and job type from another.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—But not in a case of this kind?—No; it does not do.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3526. You say it is not right generally to have two different fonts of type in the same establishment. Do you remember what quantity was required at the time we asked you to supply part of it?—Yes. I mentioned that before. I read the letter.

3527. Were you not obliged to divide the order. You could not have supplied the whole order?—I said so. We could not have supplied the order in the time specified. No foundry could do it.

3528. You have seen the Printing Bureau here?—Yes.

3529. You have inspected it thoroughly?—I have been all through it.

3530. You are a judge of type, presses and everything of the kind, and I ask you, is the establishment a credit to any company or Government that would have such an establishment?—It is, sir. It is one of the best offices that I have seen.

3531. Are not all the arrangements in that establishment as complete and perfect as can be?—They are.

3532. Have you seen the national printing establishment at Washington?—I have been in it.

3533. Can you say, taking into comparison the difference in size and importance, to which of the two you would give the preference as a complete establishment?—I would certainly give the preference to the one here. It certainly seems to be more complete, and the better office than the one at Washington.

3534. Would it be a dangerous thing if minion from a certain establishment, to the extent of 160,000 lbs., was employed for one thing—as, for instance, the voters' list, in a special room, and minion from another establishment to be in use in another room in the same building?—I do not complain of that.

3535. I asked you, would it be dangerous if you had a font of minion from one foundry in one room for special work, and kept confined to that special work, and another font of minion of another establishment in another room?—No; so long as you keep it separate.

By Mr. Lister :

3536. Have you paid to any other employé of the Printing Bureau any commission except to Mr. Sénécal?—No, sir.

The CHAIRMAN—I desire to read the following letter which I have received from Mr. J. Brooks Young, who was a witness here at the last meeting :—

(EXHIBIT NO. 15.)

“DEAR SIR,—On my return to the city last night I made a thorough search for any letters I might have received from any of the Ministers at Ottawa, and I find that I have never received any letter from Hon. Mr. Chapleau. Mr. Lister led me to believe from his manner that he had a letter in his possession, or a copy of one, from Mr. Chapleau to me, and although I could not remember ever receiving one, and (as all things are possible) I thought it might be possible that Mr. Chapleau had written me, saying he would endorse the notes referred to.

“It is very evident my first impression was right, as I certainly should have kept any such letter as a valuable document.

“Respectfully yours,

(Sgd.) “J. BROOKS YOUNG.

“CLARKE WALLACE, M.P.,
“Ottawa.”

WILLIAM GLIDDON called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

3537. Are you an employé of the Printing Bureau?—Yes, sir.

3538. What is your position?—Accountant.

3539. What are your duties—simply to keep the accounts?—And pay all the cheques and accounts.

3540. Do you keep an account of everything that comes into the Bureau?—No, sir.

3541. You simply enter up the books?—I keep no entry of the material.

3542. Whose duty is it to do that?—That I cannot tell. That would be in Mr. Sénécal's branch.

3543. Has Mr. McMahon anything to do with that?—Yes; very likely, as he has been Assistant Superintendent.

3544. Do you know anything about the Linotypes that have been purchased lately?—I know that they have been purchased.

3545. How many?—Four.

3546. How long have they been there?—I think it was in the spring of the year—early in the spring of this year.

3547. Were they all put in there about the same time?—Yes.

3548. Do you know who they were purchased from?—From the Linotype Company.

3549. Where of?—I think of Brooklyn.

3550. Do you know the price of these Linotypes?—I know what was paid for them.

3551. How much?—$3,500 each.

3552. And four of them were bought?—Yes.

3553. They have been here since the month of——?—I think possibly about February.

3554. Was a man sent along with them for the purpose of showing how they were to be worked?—I think so.

3555. Has he been there ever since?—No, sir.

3556. Have these Linotypes done any work for the Government since?—I think so. It does not come under my supervision at all.

3557. Do you know how much it has cost to run them per month—wages, and so on?—I do not.

3558. You have no idea?—They have not been run constantly.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—It has not cost anything. There is an employé, but he is paid by another Department.

3559. Have you men in charge of these types, working on them and practising?—As I said before, it is not under my supervision.

3560. You know nothing about it?—No. I know Mr. Labelle is there.

3561. Have you taken stock of the plant in the Printing Bureau lately?—No.

3562. Has stock been taken?—I cannot say.

3563. You do not seem to know anything that is going on there?—It has nothing to do with me. I pay all accounts, issue all the cheques and see all the accounts that are paid. All the accounts pass through my hands.

3564. Have you had occasion to look into the cellar of the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

3565. Did you notice if there was any large stock of type there?—I have been in the cellar, and to my recollection there is nothing there but paper. It is used for the storage of paper.

WILLIAM McMAHON called, sworn, and examined: —

By Mr. Lister:

3566. You are Assistant Superintendent of the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

3567. How long have you been there?—I was appointed on the 31st May, 1890.

3568. You have occupied the position of Assistant Superintendent from that time forward. Now, tell me how many presses there are in the Printing Bureau?—Sixteen presses.

3569. When was stock taken?—I cannot say as regards stock-taking. The invoices of goods were made to Mr. Sénécal and came to me. They were in duplicate, and one was sent to the Auditor General and the other retained by the Accountant. As regards the purchases generally, I had nothing to do with them only as I saw them as I passed through. As to taking charge of them particularly, I did not know anything about them, only what I observed as I walked through the establishment attending to work generally.

3570. Did you take stock of the Bureau?—I do not know that stock-taking was done, as that would rest with the Manager and Accountant.

3571. Do you know that stock was taken?—Not of my own knowledge. To the best of my knowledge, I do not think it was.

3572. If it had been taken since you were there you would have known about it?—I think so.

3573. You say there are sixteen presses of all kinds?—Various sizes.

3574. Are the presses all set up?—They are; they are all running. There are sixteen large presses and seven small Gordons, making twenty-three presses in all.

3575. They are all set up?—Yes.

3576. Is the type all in use?—All the type we have in the Printing Bureau is not in use.

3577. Where is that which is not in use?—It is in charge of the storekeeper, in the attic of the building.

3578. Can you tell me how much, approximately, of the type is not in use?—I cannot from memory; but I believe that a short time ago there was a statement made and handed to the Accountant.

WILLIAM GLIDDON re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

3579. How much would that be?—I think there was 40,000 pounds of minion not in use.

3580. And never has been used?—No; not to the present time.

WILLIAM McMAHON's examination continued:—

By Mr. Lister:

3581. You say there are sixteen large presses in use?—Yes; and seven small Gordons.

3582. How many Potter presses?—The sixteen presses are Potter presses.

3583. You say these sixteen presses are all set up in the Bureau?—Yes; they all work.

By Mr. Chapleau:

3584. You have had questions put and answers given about the difference of type. Was it possible for the Dominion Type Foundry, for instance, to supply the amount of type that was wanted both for the general printing of the Department and for the voters' lists? Would it have been possible for one establishment to supply all the type that was wanted?—I believe not, from the nature of their correspondence at the time.

3585. Is there any great danger or difficulty in your Department, as it is arranged, to keep these different types apart?—None whatever. We have to use different types. We must do so. We use one for the Gazette, another for the Hansard, another for the lists, and I believe the House demands that their reports shall be printed in long primer.

3586. And one for the voters' lists?—Yes. We were short of long primer in this Committee, I believe. We had about 10,000 pounds of long primer, but we were short for printing the reports of this Committee, and we were obliged to print some of the reports of this Committee in small pica.

3587. At times you were short of the fonts of type?—Sometimes the type would run out.

3588. The minion which is used for the voters' lists you keep in a separate room?—Yes; it is kept in the attic.

3589. You are acting now as Superintendent since Mr. Senécal left?—Yes.

3590. You have known Mr. Senécal since you have been there?—Yes.

3591. Will you give the Committee an idea of his capacity or competency as a printer?—In his capacity as a printer and practical man I believe him to be, so far as my humble opinion is concerned, a perfectly competent, capable and able man—a man with very good judgment in the discharge of the duties devolving upon him as Superintendent of the Printing Bureau.

3592. Did he preside over the whole management of the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

3593. And so far as you can judge, did our management seem to be clumsy or not up to the mark in any way, or was it exactly the opposite?—Well, as an officer of the Department myself, I probably would not like to give an opinion in that respect. However, all those who have visited the office, both from the American side and this part of the country, have spoken in the highest terms of praise of the arrangement in the Printing Bureau.

3594. I think you have known that we had as a visitor to the Printing Bureau the gentleman in charge of the Washington Printing Office?—I have no recollection of his being there, but I have heard that he was.

3595. At all events, you say that Americans who have visited there have paid the highest compliment to the Printing Bureau?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

3596. You are not a practical printer yourself?—No; I am not a compositor, but I have a good deal of experience in the printing office.

3597. Mr. Chapleau asked you about having different types together?—Yes.

3598. There is no danger of long primer type and minion getting mixed, because they are different sizes?—No.

3599. These types could not get mixed; it would be impossible for them to get mixed?—Yes.

3600. Now about the purchase of this 40,000 lbs. of minion—whose transaction was that?—I cannot say. I did not purchase it. I did not take any prominent part in the purchase of any of the type.

3601. The type used for the Dominion voters' lists is part of the extensive purchases?—Yes.

3602. Is the Montreal type used for that?—I think it is a portion of the one and a portion of the other.

3603. Then they are liable to get mixed, are they not?—The two kinds are discernible by the marks or nicks on the type.

3604. They are not in separate rooms, as Mr. Chapleau wanted the Committee to understand?—They are not in separate rooms.

3605. You say that there is used for the voters lists, Montreal minion and the Scotch minion?—Yes.

3606. And Mr. Patterson's type and the Montreal type are in the same room?—Yes.

3607. But there is a difference between the two, the one minion is a two nick minion and the other is three nick minion. The two fonts of type are in the same room and they are used for the same purpose?—Yes.

3608. Now about the Linotype?—They have been in since February.

3609. What were they got for?—For the printing of the Senate Hansard. We used it for the Hansard to the 23rd or 24th June, and we found that the types were smaller than the long primer types were, and the Senate machines were not in working order. I think if I remember rightly the Typographical Union were to furnish operators for the machines when they were placed in working order, and operators were taken from the working room to work in order to obtain a knowledge of the working. We had four men there.

3610. Have you ever had any practical result from this?—Not more than I have stated.

3611. You have never had any practical result from these machines yet?—No. We could not do anything with them when we found that the printing of the Hansard had been begun in long primer. It is too far gone to do the work with the Linotypes.

3612. Do you know that there are four others ordered?—I do not.

3613. Was there any more ordered?—I do not know.

By Mr. Foster :

3614. When we were talking about the minion—about there being two different fonts in the same room, the question was raised as to the possibility or probability of their getting mixed. Now from your practical knowledge has the minion ever been mixed or has there been any trouble caused by its becoming mixed?—Not to my knowledge.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3615. And if the proper care be taken they will go on as they have done for the last three and a half years?—Yes.

3116. If they had become mixed you would have known of it?—I think I would be acquainted with the fact if they had become mixed.

3617. And so far as your knowledge goes they have not been mixed?—No.

By Mr. Somerville :

3618. Would it not be possible that they might be badly mixed and you not have any knowledge of the fact?—Yes, it would be possible.

3619. You have known MacLean, Roger & Co. purchase type of different foundries?—They purchased a considerable quantity, in fact nearly all of it from the Dominion Type Foundry.

3620. They would buy all they wanted of one particular type from one foundry?—Yes.

3621. From your knowledge of the printing business you know that a printer would be foolish to have two fonts in the same room—types of the same size and same face?—Yes.

3622. But these are in the same room?—Yes; they are there.

By Mr. Costigan :

3623. Mr. McMahon has been asked if it was wise to buy type from two firms and his experience in connection with MacLean, Roger & Co.'s establishment has been mentioned. I would just like to ask, do you not consider that if MacLean & Roger's firm required a certain kind of type and they could not get the whole of it from one establishment, that they would go to a second firm for it?—They would.

By Mr. Somerville :

3624. And you have 40,000 lbs. of this minion stored in the garret that has never been used?—It has not been used at the present time. But the voters' lists now make 7,696 pages; last year the pages were increased by 1,900 and there is a possibility of their increasing again, in that case it would be necessary to use this type.

3625. Are you using the Montreal type for the voters' list?—A portion of it.

3626. A witness was here the other day and stated that you are now purchasing sorts from Toronto to sort out the Montreal type?—Not to my knowledge.

By Mr. Lister :

3627. Is it not a fact that a good many voters' lists are being printed in the country printing offices?—Not that I know of.

3628. Have you no knowledge at all of the Government giving the printing of the voters' lists to the local newspapers?

MR. CHAPLEAU—That is not the same thing. The preliminary lists are given to every printer in the country.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3629. As to the final list, there is not one but what is printed in your establishment?—That is all.

3630. You say that the printing of the lists has increased by about 1,900 pages. If they increase to 2,000 pages how many pounds of type would that represent?—I think it would represent, taking a page on the voters' lists, at a weight of 16 lbs., and I believe 2,000 pages would represent 32,000 lbs.

3631. Do you suppose that in a large establishment like the Printing Bureau the difference of about ten or fifteen thousand pounds that they keep is an enormous reserve?—No.

3632. You have spoken of Linotypes. You are enough in the printing world now to know something of them. Is the Linotype not considered to be one of the most wonderful and most useful improvements in the way of printing inventions?—It is spoken of in that way.

3633. Are you not aware that it is very extensively used now both in the United States and in England?—The machinist who came here to put up the Linotypes so informed me.

By Mr. Lister :

3634. It was stated by Mr. Chapleau —

Mr. CHAPLEAU—Pardon me for interrupting you, but I would like to say that when I made my statement in the House the other day regarding plant at the Bureau I made a mistake. The information was founded on a statement prepared a year and a-half ago. I made the mistake of thinking that only the printingstock which I valued at $180,000 was referred to, whilst it appears that the whole of the plant, machinery, boilers and engines was spoken of, which would amount to $275,000. Mr. Gliddon sent me a corrected statement which I am to make in the House.

Mr. LISTER.—The amount is $276,384, and in addition to that four Linotypes were ordered, costing three or four thousand dollars each.

The WITNESS.—Linotypes now sell at $3,000.

3635. What were they selling for at the time they were purchased?

The WITNESS—$3,500.

Mr. LISTER—The $14,000 would have to be added to that sum, making $300,000.

Mr. GLIDDON—The $14,000 is included in the $276,000.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—Would that include the engines, boilers and all the material?

Mr. GLIDDON—All that is considered as plant.

Examination of Mr. McMAHON continued :

By Mr. Landerkin :

3636. The local papers printed the preliminary lists, you say?—I believe so.

3637. If they were capable of printing the preliminary lists, could they also print the others?—No; I think it would be very hard work for them to do. In the printing of the preliminary lists the names to be added and names to be removed are already printed in the localities, but the final lists are kept standing and the revisions made upon them would be very great for a small office. To get a small office to do this they would have to make a special preparation—very extensive preparations—to make the alterations.

3638. Do you make the alterations after the final list is completed?—No. The preliminary lists would be sent out and the final lists would be struck after, the names to be added and names to be removed—or, in other words, the preliminary lists will form “copy” for the corrections in the final lists.

By Mr. Somerville :

3639. You say it would be difficult for any ordinary printing office to print these lists?—It would be, if they did not make special preparation for it.

3640. I want to know if you are not aware of the fact that all the voters' lists for the Province of Ontario—for the local and municipal elections—are printed in the printing offices all through the country?—Well I am not aware of the fact. I thought that all these large offices, such as the Globe and Mail, could undertake —

The CHAIRMAN—The course that is pursued in different municipalities is not evidence here. This witness is not to be asked questions concerning the Government's policy. That is a matter to be debated in the House, and should not be a subject for questioning witnesses who come before this Committee.

By Mr. Somerville :

3641. I want to ask this witness if he is aware these local lists are printed in the printing offices of the Province of Ontario now?—I could not say.

3642. Are they printed at the Government Bureau?—Which list?

3643. The local lists?—No; they are not printed there.

THE CHAIRMAN—I have already ruled on this question.

EDWARD POOLER called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

3644. I believe you are foreman of the pressroom in the Printing Bureau?—
Yes.

3645. How many Potter presses are there there?—Sixteen.

3646. Set up?—Set up and running.

3647. How many Gordon presses?—Seven.

3648. Are all these presses required in the establishment in your judgment?—
Yes, sir.

W. C. ALLAN called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

3649. You are foreman of the bindery department of the Printing Bureau, I believe?—Yes, sir.

3650. How long have you been in that position?—Since the organization of the Bureau.

3651. The past three or four years?—Yes, sir.

3652. Do you know what stock and plant you have on hand?—Yes, sir.

3653. How much mill board and other material of that kind do you use in a year?—Last year we used between 40 and 50 tons.

3654. Altogether, last year?—Yes, sir—mill and strawboard.

3655. Would that be the average quantity used per year?—No; it fluctuates. Sometimes it is more, sometimes less.

3656. What is the least you have used?—The first year of course we only ran a portion of the year, we used then about 30 tons.

3657. And last year you used 40 tons?—Over 40—between 40 and 50 tons. I could not say exactly.

3658. Can you give us any information as to whether the plant in the bindery department is in excess of what is actually required?—No, sir, it is not in excess.

3659. In your judgment, it is just what is required?—Yes.

3660. And no more?—No more.

TREFFLÉ BERTHIAUME called, sworn and examined:—

(Mr. F. B. Hayes acting as interpreter.)

By Mr. Lister:

3661. What is your business?—Printer and publisher.

3662. Of what paper?—La Presse and Le Monde Illustré.

3663. How long have you been editor of La Presse?—I am not the editor; I am the publisher. I have been publisher two years.

3664. Who is the editor?—The chief editor is Mr. Nantel.

3665. Who publishes La Presse?—I do.

3666. Who owns the establishment?—I am the proprietor of the whole material myself.

3667. As owner or lessee?—As owner.

3668. You are the sole proprietor?—I am the sole proprietor of the whole material.

3669. I understand you are a lessee from the company?—Only for the title or goodwill of the paper.
3670. Who is the owner of the paper?—The Montreal Publication Company are the proprietors.
3671. Is that an incorporated company?—Yes.
3672. Who is the principal stockholder?—The Hon. Mr. Chapleau, I believe.
3673. How much stock does he hold?—Over $20,000.
3674. How much is the capital stock of the company?—$40,000.
3675. How much has been paid up?—It is all paid up.
3676. When was this company formed?—Two years ago, I think.
3677. Are you sure it was two years ago?—I think so.
3678. At the time this company was formed, were you the owner of the printing plant, &c., that you have now?—I was not.
3679. When did you become owner of that plant?—About the same time as the formation of the company.
3680. From whom did you buy the plant?—From Hon. Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ouimet.
3681. So that you became the owner of the plant?—Yes.
3682. What did you pay for that plant?—I paid about $8,000.
3683. In cash?—No; with terms.
3684. What were the terms?—I have ten years to pay half, and for the other half I have about two years.
3685. For one half you have about two years from the time you purchased?—Yes.
3686. And for the other half you have ten years?—Yes.
3687. So that you paid nothing at the time you took over the paper?—I paid $500 after a month, and $500 for every six months since.
3688. So that at the time you made the purchase you paid nothing?—Nothing at all.
3689. Then at the time you made the purchase you formed a company, did you?—I did not.
3690. Then you made an arrangement with Mr. Chapleau to publish La Presse?—The arrangement is that I publish for him under a benefit. I have leased the proprietorship of La Presse.
3691. Which belonged to Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ouimet?—Yes.
3692. Are they the only two stockholders?—I said I bought the plant from Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ouimet.
3693. Mr. Chapleau is a stockholder to over $20,000?—Yes.
3694. How much over $20,000?—He has between $20,000 and $25,000.
3695. There is nothing in La Presse but the title to the paper?—No.
3696. That is the property of the company?—Yes, and the book debts at the time.
3697. You entered into an agreement to publish La Presse for your own benefit?—Yes.
3698. Was that part of the $8,000?—The $8,000 is another thing.
3699. How much were you to pay for the right to publish La Presse?—So much a year; so much every three months.
3700. How much?—About $750.
3701. In addition to the $10,000?—Yes.
3702. Have you ever paid anything on that for the right to publish La Presse?—I have paid that regularly every three months.
3703. How much have you paid on the plant which you bought from Chapleau and Ouimet?—About $1,500 or $2,000.
3704. Is there a writing between you and La Presse Company as to the publication of La Presse?—Yes.
3705. Will you produce it?—No: I have not got it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3706. You have no objection to sending the agreement?—No; not at all.

By Mr. Lister :

3707. At the time you purchased this plant did you assume any debt?—Yes.

3708. Due by whom?—By Wurtele & Co. at the time, and the new company assumed the debts of Wurtele & Co., and I assumed the debts of the Montreal Publishing Company.

3709. Did Wurtele & Co. sell to Chapleau and Ouimet?—Not to Mr. Ouimet, but to Mr. Chapleau.

3710. La Presse was then owned by Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

3711. Wurtele & Co. owed about $10,000 to the New England Paper Company?—Yes.

3712. Then Wurtele & Co. sold to Chapleau?—Yes.

3713. Then Chapleau sold to the company?—Yes.

3714. And then the company leased it to you?—Yes.

3715. There was owing on the property at the time the Company sold to Mr. Chapleau this $10,000?—Yes; more than $10,000.

3716. Mr. Chapleau assumed that debt when he bought La Presse?—I suppose so.

3717. Then he sold it to the company, and the company were to assume the payment of that $10,000?—Yes.

3718. Then the company leased it to you, and you were to assume the payment of that $10,000?—Yes.

3719. That lease was in writing?—Yes.

3720. So Mr. Chapleau was responsible for the debt due by Wurtele & Co.?—Yes.

3721. And that debt was transferred to you—you became responsible for it?—Yes.

3722. How long was it after Mr. Chapleau purchased from Wurtele & Co. that this arrangement was made with you, that you should have the plant, and print La Presse?—About the same time.

3723. Then this whole deal took place within a short time?—Yes.

3724. Within a few days?—Yes.

3725. What security did the New England Paper Company take for that $10,000?—My signature and the endorsement of Mr. Chapleau.

3726. And in addition to that debt of $10,000 you were to pay $8,000?—Yes.

3727. For the plant?—Yes; for the plant.

3728. And you were to pay $700 a year for the right to use the title La Presse?—Yes.

3729. How long was that lease for?—Ten years; but I have the right to purchase.

3730. Then you were not to pay that $10,000 for ten years. Were you to pay Mr. Chapleau anything for the right to use the name La Presse and for assuming back debts besides paying the New England Paper Co.?—I was to pay Mr. Chapleau about $12,000 for his interest in the paper.

3731. Is it at the end of the ten years?—No; during that time.

3732. What periods during that time?—During eight years. I have only a lease of that paper for ten years, but I have the right on paying $12,000 at any time to Hon. Mr. Chapleau, during the term of the lease, to become the proprietor of the whole thing.

3733. So that if you pay this $12,000 during ten years you will be the proprietor of La Presse?—Yes; Mr. Chapleau will transfer to me all his stock in the company and I will be the sole proprietor.

3734. Mr. Chapleau will transfer all his stock and you become the sole proprietor?—Yes.

3735. Not the sole proprietor, because there are other stockholders?—I hold stock, 3736. The others never paid any stock?—Except me; Mr. Chapleau and I have all the money that has been paid in.

3737. You and Mr. Chapleau are the only stockholders in La Presse?—Yes.

3738. But there are others?—Yes; three or four others; but I do not think they have paid one cent. Mr. Chapleau gave them some of his to make a company.

3739. You and Mr. Chapleau form the company?—Yes.

3740. But Mr. Chapleau has agreed to transfer to you all his stock during any time in twelve years, provided you pay him $10,000?—Yes.

3741. You say that in addition to paying $12,000 you had to pay a rental of $700 a year?—Yes.

3742. That $700 a year had nothing to do with the purchase?—If I pay Mr. Chapleau $12,000 I do not pay any more rent.

3743. Is the money that you pay in rent taken into account on the purchase money?—No.

3744. This represents 5 or 6 per cent.?—It represents 5 per cent.

3745. You bought the plant from Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ouimet without giving any security?—Nothing except my signature.

3746. The price of the plant is $8,000, and all that they hold against that is your signature?—Yes; except four or five notes which were endorsed by the Gebhardt-Berthiaume Company.

3747. It was taken over from Nantel, I believe, and they became the owners, and you gave your note to them and undertook the responsibility?—Yes.

3748. What company is this? Was there any company?—I formed the company.

3749. Is it a printing company?—Yes.

3750. You are a shareholder?—Yes.

3751. Two or three of the notes are endorsed by the company?—Yes.

3752. And the rest of them are made by yourself?—Yes.

3753. And no security given for them either by way of chattel mortgage or otherwise?—No.

3754. The notes are payable, how? One, two, three or four years?—I told you before. I gave seven notes to Mr. Ouimet; $500 was payable in one month and $500 payable every six months after that.

3755. You gave the notes to Mr. Ouimet?—I gave the notes to Mr. Ouimet for his half of the plant. Mr. Ouimet having a half interest took the promissory notes for the $4,000.

3756. And you gave him those notes in the manner you have described?—I did.

3757. You gave Mr. Chapleau no notes?—No.

3758. What did you give him?—A deed.

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—He gave me a notarial deed?

3759. You gave him a deed?—Yes.

3760. Binding you to pay $4,000?—Yes.

3761. This $4,000 is to be paid at the end of ten years?—Yes.

3762. So that the $4,000 need not be paid until the expiration of the ten years?—No.

3763. That is to say you may or you may not pay it, just as you like?—Yes.

3764. With interest?—Yes.

3765. What is the interest?—Five per cent.

3766. Have you paid him the interest?—Yes.

3767. But none of the amount need be paid until the expiration of ten years?—That is so.

3768. Is that $4,000 part of the $12,000?—No, sir.

3769. The $12,000 is apart altogether from the $4,000?—Yes.

3770. So that altogether there is $16,000 that you have to pay to Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

3771. Is there any notes to show anything except the deed?—It is a deed of right to purchase.

3772. You need not purchase unless you like?—(No answer.)

3773. You need not purchase unless you like?—No.
3774. And there was this $10,000 due to the New England Paper Company, how did you manage about that, that is owing still, is it not?—No, that is all paid.
3775. It is paid by the Canada Paper Company?—Yes.
3776. But it is due still?—I have paid 10 per cent.
3777. You have paid 10 per cent, three times a year?—Yes.
3778. So that you were to pay the company in addition to this $12,000, you were to pay the New England Paper Co., $10,000 that would make $27,000?—Yes.
3779. You entered into an agreement to reduce that by 10 p.c. on the face value every twelve months?—Yes.
3780. Then the Canada Paper Co. appears on the scene and pays off the New England Paper Co.?—They did not. I paid the New England Paper Co. myself.
3781. Where did you get the money from?—I got the money from the Canada Paper Co.
3782. You gave the Canada Paper Co. your notes?—Yes.
3783. And these notes were endorsed by Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.
3784. For how much money?—About $8,000.
3785. They knew that the money was being given to you to pay off the New England Paper Co. in virtue of the agreement?—Yes.
3786. Did they know any other party in the transaction at all?—Not at all.
3787. So that the New England Paper Co. were paid by the money you got from the Canada Paper Co.?—Yes.
3788. And you and Mr. Chapleau now owe the Canada Paper Co. how much?—From $8,000 to $9,000.
3789. When was this deal made with the Canada Paper Co.?—In February or March, 1890.
3790. That would be a year ago last February or March?—Yes.
3791. Then I suppose that your assets consist of your interest in this plant and your right to purchase the paper?—More than that. I own three properties.
3792. Unencumbered?—There is a mortgage on them.
3793. Then with the exception of these three properties these are your assets. This paper La Presse that you may purchase?—I used to have in the bank about $4,000 or $5,000, and I have another deposit of about the same amount.
3794. Do you say have that in the bank now?—I used to get that in the bank.
3795. You used to get that in the bank.—Yes.
3796. You entered into an agreement with the New England Paper Co. about the promissory notes, and the property was leased over to you by Mr. Chapleau, and you got the Canada Paper Co. to relieve you of the liabilities to the New England Paper Co., and you agreed to reduce the notes every four months by 10 per cent.?—Yes.
3797. How did you know that Mr. Chapleau would endorse your note?—I asked him if he would do it. I did not want to take the property in the paper and to take the responsibility of these deeds, without Mr. Chapleau's endorsement, because Mr. Chapleau was already liable and I was not.
3798. You did not assume his responsibility alone?—No.
3799. Because Mr. Chapleau was already liable and you were not liable at all?—That is so.
3800. So you saw Mr. Chapleau, did you?—Yes, sir.
3801. And what did you say to him?—Well, I asked him to endorse a note and I would take the paper.
3802. Was that a part of the agreement you made at the time with Mr. Chapleau that he should endorse the promissory note?—Yes, sir.
3803. That was the consideration upon which you agreed to take this property?—Yes, sir.
3804. That he should endorse your note?—Yes, sir.
3805. Had you and Mr. Chapleau been engaged in business in any way?—No.
3806. As journalists?—No.
3807. That was the first deal between you two?—Yes, sir.

3808. How did you come to be brought into contact with him?—I don't remember if I had been there myself, or if Mr. Chapleau asked for me.

3809. You don't remember whether you went to see him or he went to see you? I was the printer of La Presse.

3810. You had bought from Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Ouimet?—No; before that I was the printer of the paper La Presse.

3811. Who owned it at that time?—Mr. Nantel and Mr. Wurtele.

3812. So you do not know how you came to be brought into contact with Mr. Chapleau as to the purchase of this property?—I don't remember exactly if I had been there myself or Mr. Chapleau came to me at the office.

3813. Did Mr. Chapleau ever say anything about the New England Paper Company getting a contract from the Government for paper?—No.

3814. He never said anything at all about that?—No.

3815. I notice that in this contract made by you there is a provision that: "Should the New England Paper Company or Mr. J. Brooks Young receive any contract for paper from the Government, one half of any profit arising therefrom, shall go towards liquidating the above indebtedness?"—Yes.

3816. How did you come to agree as to that?—Mr. Young was anxious to get a contract from the Government, and he asked me to see Mr. Chapleau about that.

3817. He was anxious to get a contract from the Government and he asked you to see Mr. Chapleau about it?—Yes.

3818. Did you see him?—Yes.

3819. Where did you see him?—At his office.

3820. Where?—St. James Street, Montreal.

3821. What did you say to him?—I asked him if he could give any order to Mr. Young and the New England Paper Company. He answered me: "Well, if he can supply a good quality of paper at the same price, or compete with other firms. I have no objection to giving a contract to Mr. Young."

3822. That was before you signed this contract, was it?—Yes.

3823. How was it this condition came to be put in this agreement?—I don't know, Mr. Young put it in himself.

3824. Had you any talk about it?—Not before I signed that contract myself, about that clause. He asked me before that, to see Mr. Chapleau.

3825. How long before?—Well, two or three days perhaps.

3826. Two or three days before this he asked you to see Mr. Chapleau, and you had seen Mr. Chapleau?—I had seen Mr. Chapleau before signing that and after.

3827. Your interview with Mr. Chapleau was after?—After and before; yes.

3828. Did you tell Mr. Chapleau that you had signed an agreement?—Yes.

3829. Did you tell Mr. Chapleau that half of the profits were to go in reduction of the notes?—I don't remember.

3830. Will you swear to that?—I do not remember.

3831. Will you swear upon your solemn oath you did not tell Mr. Chapleau that half of the profits on the sale to the Government were to be applied in reduction of these notes?—I remember, I never told that to Mr. Chapleau in the same terms.

3832. What did you tell him?—I told Mr. Chapleau that I had made a bargain or an agreement with Mr. Young. That if he sold paper to the Government, I was to take one-half of the profits.

3833. The agreement was signed after?—Yes, it was signed after I had asked an order.

3834. Two or three days after?—Yes; I never asked Mr. Chapleau for any more orders from the Government for the New England Paper Company.

3835. But you told Mr. Chapleau that the agreement contained a proviso that on all orders got from the Government, half of the profits would go to you on the notes?—To me.

3836. On the notes?—I never told that to Mr. Chapleau.

3837. That half of the profits would go to you?—Yes.

3838. You never told him that half of the profits would go in reduction of the notes, but that half of the profits were to go to you individually?—Yes.

3839. I suppose you intended to carry out the terms of this agreement—namely, to apply half of the profits upon the notes, did you not?—I never took care about that.

3840. That was the intention; that if you got anything from the New England Paper Company, your share of the profits should go the notes?—Well, I suppose so; I don't remember the terms now.

3841. Well, the terms are that: "Should the New England Paper Company or Mr. J. Brooks Young receive any contract for paper from the Government, one half of any profits arising therefrom shall go towards liquidating the above indebtedness." That was the agreement. Now, did you not tell Mr. Chapleau that one half of the profits would go in payment of the promissory note?—No; not in the same terms. I told Mr. Chapleau that half of the profits should go to me.

3842. And what did Mr. Chapleau say about that?—I don't remember.

3843. Did he say that would be all right?—No; I think he looked angry against me.

3844. Do you remember what he said?—I don't remember exactly; but he was looking angry, I am sure of that.

3845. Did you get him to give an order to this paper company afterwards?—Not afterwards, before.

3846. Oh, no?—Oh, yes.

3847. We will see. When was this contract entered into?—On the 15th October, I think.

3848. What year?—I think it was 1889.

3849. Do you swear that after that contract was entered into, you did not get an order from the Government for the New England Paper Company?

MR. CHAPLEAU—He does not understand you.

MR. LISTER—Yes, he understands me perfectly well. Mr. Interpreter, will you ask this question: After you entered into that agreement of October 15th, 1889, did you not get an order from the Government for the New England Paper Company for paper?—I never got an order for the Company.

3850. Do you not know that the Company got an order for paper after that?—I thought they did before it, for I had asked for it before it.

3851. Do you not know that they got two orders, one of which was before the agreement was entered into?—No.

3852. Then I ask you again, do you not know that the New England Paper Company received an order from the Government for paper after that agreement was signed?—I don't know whether it was after or before it. I asked Mr. Chapleau to send an order to the New England Paper Company before that day.

3853. Before what date?—Before the 15th October.

3854. About the time this agreement was signed?—Yes.

3855. Was it before the agreement?—Before the agreement.

3856. Immediately before?—Immediately before, yes.

3857. Immediately before that agreement was signed, you had asked Mr. Chapleau to give an order to the New England Paper Company? Is that correct?—Yes.

3858. That immediately before this agreement you asked Mr. Chapleau to give an order for the New England Paper Company for paper?—Yes, sir.

3859. You saw Mr. Chapleau after this agreement was signed?—Yes.

3860. And you told him what the terms and conditions were?—Yes.

3861. You told him that you were to divide the profits, that is to say, the company were to give you half the profits on all paper sold to the Government?—Yes.

3862. You told that to Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

3863. Now, I ask you if after you told Mr. Chapleau that, did you know that an order was going to the New England Paper Company for paper?—No; I think the order was given before. Mr. Chapleau told me he was ready at the time I told him, to send an order immediately to the New England Paper Company, because he wanted some paper very badly.

3864. That was when you told him the contents of this agreement?—No, it was before.

3865. But you have told us after this agreement was signed that you saw Mr. Chapleau, too?—About what?

3866. You stated after you had signed the agreement you saw Mr. Chapleau and told him what had been done?—I saw him several times after that.

3867. How often did you speak to him about giving an order to the New England Paper Company?—Only once.

3868. Did he say then he would give the company an order?—Yes.

3869. And that was the 15th October?—A little before that.

3870. When was this agreement signed? There is no date to it?—Perhaps a month after.

3871. The 15th of October you think?—Yes, but I am not pretty sure. I think it is in November instead of October.

3872. You swear it was the 15th of November?—I do not swear, for I am not sure if it is October or November.

3873. Would you tell me the date?—About the 16th of November.

3874. My memorandum is that the contract made was signed about the 1st of October? Will you swear that is not true?—I cannot remember the date exactly.

3875. But you do remember that after the contract was signed you saw Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

3876. You do remember you told him there was to be a division of the profits?—Yes, a long time after.

3877. You said within a day or two after you signed the agreement?—No, a long time after.

3878. You did not say a long time?—I said within a few weeks.

3879. Was it within a day or two?—I will not answer any more questions in English, because I may have made a mistake. If you say I said so, I did not say so.

3880. You have already stated that within a day or two after signing this agreement you saw Mr. Chapleau and told him what it contained?—I did not say so.

3881. What did you say?—I said a long time after.

3882. How long after?—Several weeks after. I do not remember.

3883. Did Mr. Chapleau tell you he would give an order to the New England Paper Company?—No.

3884. You said he did, a few minutes ago?—No.

3885. What did he say?—He was looking angry. He said he could not consent to endorse that.

3886. When was it that that original agreement made with the New England Paper Company was signed?—As well as my memory serves me it was the 16th of November. I can remember by the notes—after figuring the matter out—at the beginning of October or the beginning of November.

3887. My instructions are that it was at the beginning of October? Will you say that I am wrong?—I cannot say that you are wrong, nor can I say that you are right.

3888. How do you fix the dates by the notes?—Because I gave that note on that day and they fell due on the 5th.

3889. You remember when you made your first payment on the notes?—I think it was in December.

3890. The first payment on the notes to the New England Paper Company?—Yes.

3891. When did you make your first payment on the notes of the New England Paper Company?—December or January.

3892. Was the first note four months after date?—Two months after date, I think.

3893. This agreement says: "these notes to run for four months and at maturity of same 10 per cent on their face value is to be paid."—I gave notes of 2, 3, 4 and 5 months.

3894. To the Paper Company?—To the New England Paper Company.

3895. The agreement provides these notes to run 4 months and at maturity of same 10 per cent of their face value is to be paid and the balance to be renewed at 4 months on 10 per cent of their face value being paid and so on, until the entire indebtedness of $8,838,01 is paid." There is nothing about 2, 3, 4 and 5 months' notes in this agreement; they were four months' notes?—In place of making one single note, we divided it into several notes. As far as I can remember the first one was for 2 months, the second for 3 months, then 4 months and 5 months.

3896. Will your books show when the first note was paid?—Yes.

3897. Was 10 per cent paid on the first note at maturity?—Yes.

3898. And your books would show that?—Yes.

3899. Can you send your book here containing the entry of the payment?—If it is absolutely necessary.

3900. We would not keep it long. Send it to Mr. Hartney and only that one entry will be looked at. Did the president or any other officials of the Canada Paper Company make any inquiries about the New England Company's contract?—No.

3901. Did they ever speak to you about it?—I went to them myself.

3902. To whom did you go?—To the Canada Paper Company.

3903. Whom did you see?—Mr. MacFarlane.

3904. What did you say to him?—I told him that the New England Paper Company were not giving satisfaction, that I wanted to buy paper from him.

3905. And arranged to give them the same security that the New England Paper Company held?—Yes.

3906. That is a note made by you and endorsed by Mr. Chapleau?—Yes.

3907. Was it an endorsed note or a joint note? Was the name of one of you on the face of it or both?—It was my name in the note, endorsed by Mr. Chapleau; except one of the notes which Mr. Chapleau signed instead of endorsing, by mistake.

3908. Where were the notes signed?—Ottawa and Montreal. They are all dated Montreal.

3909. Where were they signed?—I used to send them all here as Mr. Chapleau was here.

3910. Did Mr. Young speak to you about the payment of profits on orders from the Government?—Yes, once.

3911. Where was it you saw him?—By chance.

3912. Where?—In his office. I was in the habit of going there often.

3913. How long after the paper had been furnished was it that he offered you the money?—He never offered me the money.

3914. He says he did?—He may say what he likes.

3915. Did you ever speak to Mr. Young about the profits on these orders?—No but he spoke to me.

3916. What did he say?—He asked me if I expected to have my share of the profits, and I had even forgotten that I was to receive any profit.

3917. How long was that after the paper had been sold?—A long time—a month or two after.

3918. After what?—After I knew that the paper had been delivered.

3919. Then he asked you if you wanted your share of the profit?—He asked me if I expected to receive any share of the profit.

3920. What did you say to Mr. Young?—Mr. Young went on to say that the profit was not large; that if he had not lost money, at all events, he had made none. I said afterward to Mr. Young, "If you have made no profit and as I have only half the profit there will not be much coming to me." He laughed and we parted.

3921. Then, Mr. Young gave you to understand there were no profits?—Yes. The first time I heard about profits, was in court from Mr. Young.

3922. Where was that?—Mr. Young was a witness in the case, and he testified that there were over $100 of profits.

3923. That was the first time you knew there were any profits?—Yes, and thereupon I said, “as there are $100 of profits I must have $50,” laughingly. It was a joke.

3924. That was the first time you knew there were any profits?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

3925. When you came first and spoke to me about Mr. Young wishing to get orders from the Government for supplying paper, it was before you had any knowledge of this transaction?—It was before.

3926. Did he speak to you about that in connection with any transaction, or did he say to you as any man having business with you would say: “I would like to have contracts with the Government.” How was it said?—I would have done it even without that clause. I knew nothing about that transaction at the time and the question never came up between me and Mr. Young.

3927. When he spoke to you did he speak generally that he would like to have contracts with the Government?—Yes.

3928. Did he speak to you then about any arrangement in connection with your liability about the paper?—Not at all. I would have spoken to Mr. Chapleau if it had been mentioned to me at the time.

3929. Well you did mention it to me sometime afterwards?—A long time afterwards.

3930. What do you mean by a long time?—One or two months.

3931. Did I appear to show that I was cognizant of anything of the kind, or did I say anything to lead you to believe the contrary, what did I do—did I appear to be cognizant of your arrangement when you spoke to me?—Not at all.

3932. When you spoke to me about the paper, what was my attitude?—You looked angry and you said, that you would never consent to the arrangement.

3933. And then a few weeks after you had spoken to me was the arrangement with Mr. Young?—A month or two. I should say a couple of months.

3934. Did you ever ask for an order at any time after that?—No, never neither for him or anyone else.

3935. When you went to the Canada Paper Co. was it not after you had quarrelled with Mr. Young over the supply of your paper?—Yes.

3936. And you wanted to find somebody else because you could not agree with him or rather you could not obtain from him the paper that you wanted?—That is so.

3937. The notes were given and my endorsing was on the notes?—Yes.

3938. I think I heard you say—I do not think I was mistaken—that when Mr. Young spoke to you about the sale of the paper, you had forgotten that there had been any question about it?—Yes.

3939. Did you ever attach any importance to that arrangement between you and myself?—Never, I never expected to receive a cent of commission.

3940. You were sued by Mr. Young?—Yes.

3941. The company of La Presse was sued by Mr. Young?—Yes.

3942. And I think the action was withdrawn against La Presse afterwards?—Yes.

3943. When you were sued by Mr. Young you were sued for a certain amount of money?—Yes.

3944. You gave instructions to your counsel to defend your case?—Yes.

3945. Did you ever instruct your counsel that he would have a right to claim a share of the profits?—Which profits?

3946. A share of the profits?—I do not remember.

3947. Have you given instructions to your lawyers to claim anything?—Not at all. In order to ascertain whether there had been any profits I questioned Mr. Young when he was examined as a witness.

3948. Was that question ruled out of order?—He admitted that he had made profits.

3949. Was the question ruled out of order?—I do not remember.

3950. You do not remember whether it was ruled out of order, because it was neither in the demand nor in the defence?—I do not remember.

3951. He answered at all events?—Yes.

3952. When you went to the Canada Paper Company you made only a transfer of your liabilities from one company to the other?—Yes.

3953. You said that Mr. McFarlane did not know what you were to do with the money?—Yes, Mr. McFarlane agreed to let me have the money: he discounted my notes and gave me the proceeds.

3954. He discounted your notes and paid the proceeds at once?—Yes.

3955. Anything else?—That is the whole transaction.

3956. You said that I bought from Mr. Ouimet and from the firm of Nantel & Co., the old firm of La Presse, and they owed money to the New England Paper Company, and I agreed as part of the payment to take liability of the paper and be responsible for the debts. It was part of the payment for the purchase of the paper?—Yes.

3957. Then you went to see Mr. Young and told him that Mr. Chapleau was liable with Mr. Ouimet and asked him if he would take your notes with Mr. Chapleau?—I do not know that Mr. Ouimet had anything to do with it.

3958. Do you know that at the beginning he had and then he withdrew?—I knew it only so far as the plant was concerned.

3959. It was only over the plant that Mr. Ouimet was joint proprietor with me?—Yes.

3960. You knew that Mr. Ouimet and I were joint proprietors of the plant?—Yes.

3961. And Mr. Young said to you that the old firm was not in very good circumstances?—Yes, it was not.

3962. And he said that if you would take my liability you may make arrangement with me and take the responsibility?—Yes.

3963. There has been said in this inquiry that information has been had, that you were a bankrupt—are you a bankrupt?—No.

3964. The counsel for the prosecution said it was so?—Never. It is the first time I have been insulted in that way.

3965. Mr. Lister did not say so himself, he said he had been told so?—It is not the case.

3966. How much is your establishment worth?—What would you consider the value of your property to be?—$70,000.

3967. What profits have you made?—Over $13,000.

3968. And you own real estate besides that?—Yes.

3969. You own three houses in Montreal?—Yes.

3970. And have you stock in any other company?—I have $4,000 in another company, and I am co-proprietor of Le Monde Illustré.

3971. Is it published by yourself alone?—No; I am part proprietor.

3972. You are proprietor of part of the property of that firm?—One-half.

3973. What would its value be?—$18,000 to $20,000.

3974. What would you consider to be the market value for your outgoing?—It would be $7,000 or $8,000 in Le Monde Illustré.

3975. Have you some share or stock in the Gobeil Co.?—$4,000.

3976. I am sorry to have to go into your assets in this way, but I understand that you have other moneys out?—I have $14,000 out in promissory notes.

3977. All to solvent people?—Yes, all of them solvent and paying interest regularly. They bring me in $400 a month.

3978. You are a printer by trade?—Yes, sir.

3979. You are a practical printer?—Yes, sir.

3980. How long have you been in the printing business?—Twenty-eight years.

3981. You know something about presses?—I think so.
3982. Have you yourself bought lately a press of some value?—Yes, I bought an American rotary press recently, which cost me, I think, over $10,000.
3983. Have you visited the Printing Bureau here?—No.
3984. You have never visited it?—Never.
3985. You have heard, I suppose, of the Potter presses?—Yes, I know them.
3986. They are not presses for newspapers?—No.
3987. Are they what is called easy going, easily repaired presses. Is not that the reputation they have in the trade?—They are of very high reputation.
3988. Do you think that a notarial deed is better than a note? It is considered so in our country?—I think so.
3989. And the establishment is responsible for that money is it not—for the payment of my lease.
3990. And if you did not pay me I would have the right to enter your property and take it for myself?—Yes.
3991. Is it not a fact that our arrangement is this: “I think we made a calculation exactly for the period for which the purchase was made and what the cost would be for the paper, both the good will and plant?—Yes, sir.
3992. Do you recollect that after having made the calculations between ourselves, I said, “Mr. Berthiaume, I agree to give the whole establishment to you, if you want to take it, work it, and we will sign a private note to pay me 5 per cent for three months?—That is true.
3993. So that all you have to do is to pay 5 per cent on the capital stock I have in that establishment, and if during the course of ten years you pay me according to agreement, you become the sole owner of that establishment?—Yes sir.
3994. If an agreement had been made by which Mr. Young received the whole amount of those notes, would I have profited by a single cent? What difference would that have made to me?—I don't see any. I don't think it would have made any difference because you had nothing to do with the payment of those notes.
3995. If it would have benefited anybody it would have benefited you?—Yes, sir.
3996. Even if it had benefited you to the extent of $10,000, would I have benefited by it to a single cent myself?—Not a cent.
3997. The notes were payable every three months at the rate of 5 per cent per annum?—5 per cent per year.
3998. I think I am obliged besides that to pay part towards the Editorial staff?—Yes.
3999. How much?—$500 a year, I think.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4000. Do you know whether since you have had anything to do with the New England Paper Company, they have sold to the Government more than once?—I never enquired; I never knew.
4001. That transaction upon which there was $100 profit, is the only one you know of?—Yes.
4002. When you spoke to Mr. Chapleau with reference to this transaction that took place between the New England Paper Co. and the Government, was it before or after you had made a bargain with Mr. Young?—Before.
4003. And it was after that, the agreement was made between Young and you?—It was afterwards.
4004. And that clause was put into the contract at whose suggestion?—Of Mr Young himself. I thought he did it to show his gratitude for the order I had obtained.
4005. And it was obtained before that?—That is why I remember it.
4006. Since then the New England Paper Company, to your knowledge never sold any paper to the Government?—Never to my knowledge.

4007. And you did not get a cent out of that profit of $100, which you heard of in Court?—No, sir; not a cent.

By Sir Richard Cartwright :

4008. I understood you to say that you valued the La Presse establishment at $70,000?—Yes, sir.

4009. And also understood you to say that you have obtained the virtual control of this establishment, worth $70,000 under that agreement, by which you paid simply $500 down within one month?—I assumed all the indebtedness.

4010. Yes, I know, but the actual payment that passed was just $500?—The paper was not worth $70,000 at that time.

4011. Do you say the value has improved under your management?—The circulation increased one-third and the advertising two-thirds since.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4012. Since so much has been said connecting Mr. Chapleau's name with your newspaper, may I ask if you have had any patronage from the Government since you published that paper?—No; but advertisements like other papers for small amounts.

4013. No jobs?—I ask for them often. I copy occasionally from other papers and they do not acknowledge my claims upon them.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4014. Did I ever give you any patronage from the Government in consideration of our arrangement in connection with that paper?—You never did, and I never asked for any for myself.

4015. Have I solicited for, or obtained for, you from the large railway companies job work or anything of that kind in consideration of our agreement?—No, sir.

4016. Have you had any subscriptions or contributions or donation made to you by any public contractor in the employ of the Government since the first day you have had that paper until now?—No.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4017. Have you ever subscribed to the elections?—Yes, very often.

By Mr. Lister :

4018. Do you know that in Mr. Chapleau's Department there is no printing patronage to speak of?—Yes, there must be some, but I don't know.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4019. You know that just now the preliminary voters' lists are being printed. Could not Mr. Chapleau, if he wanted to favour your paper, have called upon you to print the lists for the electoral districts around Montreal?—I think so.

---

ALBERT J. BROWN called, sworn and examined.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4020. I think you are counsel for Mr. Young, the President of the New England Paper Company?—I am.

4021. You have already been in attendance here?—I was here at Mr. Young's examination.

4022. Did you hear the evidence given at the last sitting of this Committee with regard to the Printing Bureau?—I did with regard to La Presse.

4023. You have heard it mentioned by the gentleman who conducts the inquiry that he was informed that a certain letter, purported to have been written by me to

Mr. Young, had been mentioned in the enquête between Mr. Young and Mr. Berthiaume?—There was no such letter mentioned—no such letter was either mentioned, produced or ruled out. I had charge of the case for Mr. Young in his suit between his company and the company which own the title of La Presse, and there was no such letter mentioned.

4024. If he had had a letter from me would it have been produced?—If there had been such a letter I would certainly have put it in. When he instructed me immediately after the breach of contract he told me he had nothing of the kind.

4025. I believe the action against La Presse has been discontinued?—No; it is still pending in the Superior Court. At present it is in Review.

4026. The suit has not been instituted in default of Mr. Berthiaume not having obtained contracts for the company from the Government?—No; it is because La Presse did not continue to take paper from the company. They broke the contract with the New England Paper Company, with the result that they had left on hand a large quantity which had been specially manufactured for La Presse. It is a special size for La Presse.

4027. You are sure there was no mention in the court of any letter of the kind?—I know there was not. I never heard of it until it was mentioned here.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4028. Was there a letter at all?—There was one letter produced from Mr. Young to Mr. Berthiaume. That was the only one that I heard of in the case. It was a letter from Mr. Young to Mr. Berthiaume, asking if the rumour was true that he had broken his contract with the New England Paper Company. It was written on the 25th February, 1890.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4029. Was there any mention made of a demand for damages for the non-fulfilling of the agreement, or for compensation for profits due in virtue of that clause agreed to between Mr. Young and Mr. Berthiaume?—No; when they commenced to ask Mr. Young questions on that point I objected on the ground that it was altogether outside the pleadings. The Judge let it in, under reserve though.

By Mr. Lister :

4030. Do you undertake to say that you have a distinct recollection of what took place at that trial?—I have. I argued the case in review on the 27th June. I was present throughout the entire trial and knew the case almost by heart.

4031. Was there not some question about a letter being ruled out?—Not that I have any recollection of.

4032. Will you swear that Mr. Young did not say in the witness box, I have a letter here which will show what the company has done?—I will swear that I have no recollection of any such letter. I know this much, that if there had been such a letter I must have known it.

4033. I will tell you what the statement is which is made by a person who was in court and heard the trial. The question of a letter came up—not this letter you speak of, but the question of a letter to fasten the liability on La Presse. The moment that came up, the lawyers on both sides objected and the Judge ruled it out?—There was nothing of that kind.

4034. To what firm do you belong?—To the firm of Chapleau, Hall, Nichols & Brown.

4035. To the firm of the Secretary of State?—Mr. Chapleau's name appears in the firm.

4036. It would have been rather unfortunate to have such a letter come before the court?—I certainly should not have kept it out, if there had been such a letter, because it would have made an obligation between the two parties to the suit.

4037. And ruined your senior partner?—Well, there was no such letter. There was no such letter produced bearing Mr. Chapleau's signature. Nothing could have been produced without my knowing it.

4038. Was there no altercation at all about a letter which Mr. Young was about to produce?—There was not.

4039. You are distinct about that?—I say there was never any question of producing a letter fixing any liability on the company or any letter bearing Mr. Chapleau's signature either at the trial or at any other time, and I know, because I have had charge of the case from the beginning.

4040. Was there anything said at the trial about the division of the profits under the terms of the contract?—There was.

4041. What was it?—Mr. Young gave certain evidence. He was questioned as to the division of the profits under that clause. He stated that there were profits amounting to, in the neighbourhood of $100. It might be more, it might be less. It might be $75 or $125. I cannot give the exact figure. He stated that he offered to pay Mr. Berthiaume whatever it was, but that gentleman would not take it because it was too small.

4042. That was all?—No, just at that point there was a small amount of evidence struck out of the record.

4043. What was that?—To the effect—as I remember the words—he said without mentioning the name, and I do not know who the party referred to was, “he came to my office and stated that he could procure large contracts from the Government for me and that the profits would be such that he would be able to pay off those notes without putting his hands into his pocket.” That is in effect what was stated, and it was struck out. It was struck out on the application of the counsel for the defence, with the consent of the Judge, as it had no bearing on the case. I was asked if I had any objection, and I said I had not.

4044. Do you know whether the “he” mentioned referred to Mr. Berthiaume?—That was my impression. I was not, however, led to believe that he had any interview with Mr. Chapleau at all.

GEORGE COX called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4045. You live in the City of Ottawa?—Yes, sir.

4046. And I believe you occupy some position, as President or otherwise, of the Conservative Association; or did a year ago?—Yes.

4047. I want to ask you whether the irregularities of Senécal came in any way to your knowledge about a year ago; that is to say, his custom of charging people who were dealing with the Bureau commissions, or collecting money on all sales made to the Government in connection with the Bureau?—I heard so simply as a rumor.

4048. Did you gather together facts and lay them before Sir John Macdonald?—I did not.

4049. Did you charge the Department with improper dealing with customers?—I did not.

4050. Did you have any interview with Sir John Macdonald about this matter?—I did. I reported it to him just as I heard it—the different reports on the streets in reference to it.

4051. How long ago would that be?—I think somewhere about September last; about this month last year.

4052. You heard reports of what?—That there was a system of commissions carried on by which people were charged commissions who sold goods to the Bureau.

4053. Did you ask that an investigation should take place?—No; I simply called his attention to the fact.

4054. Where did you see him ?—At his own house.
 4055. Did you go there for the purpose of specially seeing him ?—It was to see him, but not specially on that account.
 4056. Did others go with you ?—No.
 4857. Had you that purpose in your mind when you went there ?—Partly.
 4058. Did you have any lengthened conversation over it ?—Not lengthened.
 4059. Was any promise made to investigate it ?—No.
 4060. You simply told him that these were rumours that had come to your notice, that Mr. Senécal was in the habit of collecting commissions from people who sold goods to the Department ?—Yes.
 4061. Did you claim that it was an improper thing ?—I said that very unpleasant reports were coming to me both with regard to Mr. Senécal and Mr. Bronskill, which I thought Sir John ought to know of. That would be about a year ago.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, 17th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

Mr. LISTER—I put in this account :—

A. M. P.

HARRISON B. YOUNG,

Treasurer.

I put that in for the purpose of showing the date of the agreement between the New England Paper Company and Berthiaume.

THOMAS A. SCOTT re-called, sworn and further examined:—

By Mr. Lister :

4062. You were examined some days ago in this matter?—Yes.

4063. But at that examination I omitted to ask a few questions which I think are material. I produce two notes, one dated 15th July, 1887, and the other dated 1st September of the same year for $125 and $200 respectively, made by A. Senécal in favour of P. A. Crossby. Are these the two notes you had reference to when you were examined on the last occasion?—I believe they are. They are in my handwriting, anyway.

4064. I produce five cheques dated 23rd August, 1888, 20th September, 1889, 10th July, 1889, 8th April, 1890 and 19th April, 1888. Will you look at those cheques and say whether or not these are the cheques that were in the envelope given to Mr. Crossby at the time you mentioned, or of which he took possession?—I believe they are.

4065. Are you able to say whether these are all the cheques that were given by the Dominion Type Foundry?—I cannot say. I know there is one cheque that I have not seen.

4066. Do you remember when that cheque was drawn to Senécal?—I did not say it was to Senécal. I say there was one cheque in that parcel when I saw it last that is not there.

4067. What cheque was that?—The $1,500.

4068. Then the notes and cheques here are all the notes and cheques that were in that parcel?—To the best of my knowledge, yes.

4069. Do you remember a cheque being given to Senécal for $150?—I do not, unless it is amongst that lot.

4070. Do you remember a cheque coming into your possession, or into the possession of the company, endorsed by Senécal and Hon. Mr. Chapleau?—No; I do not.

4071. Have you any knowledge of such cheque?—I have not.

4072. Were you ever told about such a cheque?—No, I never have been.

4073. Never heard anything about it?—No, except what I read in Mr. Crossby's evidence the other day. I think I read in the paper that he was asked if such a cheque existed and he said no.

4074. Do you know anything about such a cheque at all?—I do not.

4075. You never stated to anybody that there was a cheque for $150, drawn by the Montreal Type Foundry in favour of Mr. Chapleau?—No, I never did.

4076. The morning of the Napierville election? Just think about it?—No, I never stated there was a cheque drawn in favour of Mr. Chapleau in my life.

4077. Did you state there was one drawn in favour of Mr. Senécal and endorsed by Mr. Senécal and Mr. Chapleau?—No.

4078. Was there ever to your knowledge such a cheque drawn—Not to my knowledge.

4079. Were you told there was such a cheque by anyone in the business?—I have no recollection of being told so.

4080. When Mr. Senécal made this demand upon your company for so much money, what reason did he give?—He wanted money. He was hard up, had payments to make, and said we were not using him as well as other people.

4081. Did he give as a reason that he had to divide with anybody?—On one occasion. At one conversation that I had with Senécal I asked him why he was asking so much, and he told me he did not keep all of it himself. He did not say who the other person was he divided up with. Of course I don't know whether he was lying or not, but just as likely he was.

4082. He mentioned no name?—He mentioned no name. That is all he said; that was in private conversation between him and myself.

4083. And you have never stated to any person the name of the person he said he had to divide with?—No, he never told me any person; he never mentioned any name to me.

4084. Were you present when this cheque for $1,500 was delivered?—I was not.

4085. The cheque is in your handwriting, I believe?—I can tell as soon as I look at it.

4086. Look at it, please?—Yes, that is my hand-writing.

4087. At whose request was this cheque drawn?—It was drawn at the request of the President of the Company, Mr. Alexander Murray.

4088. How was it charged up in your books?—The amount was charged to discount account.

4089. Do you know how the cheque came to leave your office?—I do not. I did not see it after I laid it on Mr. Murray's desk until I got it from the bank. I did not see it from the time it left my hands—from the time I wrote it out.

4090. And you say you never saw, as a matter of fact, that cheque made by your firm, or any member of it, for $150, in favour of Mr. Chapleau, or in favour of Mr. Senécal?—No, I never did.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4091. You said, I think, that the late President of the company had received a letter from me, saying, or purporting to say, that the order if given by Mr. Senécal alone was valueless? I think you stated that in your evidence?—I did, yes.

4092. You never saw that letter, I suppose?—I did not.

4093. It was a conversation you had with Mr. Murray?—No; the way I came to hear of the matter at all was by writing Mr. Murray's answer to the letter he received.

4094. The letter you wrote was written to me I think?—Written to you, yes.

4095. That was an official letter, I believe; it was not a private letter?—It was addressed to you as Secretary of State.

By Mr. Taylor :

4096. You say you were requested to make out that cheque by the late Mr. Murray?—I was, yes.

4097. Mr. Murray was a Liberal in politics, was he not?—He was.

4098. And you belong also to that political party?—I do not; I am a Conservative.

4099. Did Mr. Murray say for what purpose that cheque was being used?—I had no conversation with Mr. Murray on the subject whatever.

4100. I think you said here the other day that it was "blood money"?—I looked upon it as such.

4101. And you do not know what he did with the cheque?—The cheque went to the man it was made payable to; it is endorsed by him.

4102. How do you know it went to him?—It was endorsed by him.

4103. You do not know that he got the money?—There was no other person that I am aware of.

4004. You do not know to what party Mr. Murray gave the proceeds of that cheque?—I do not.

By Mr. Lister :

4105. Mr. Murray was a Reformer, was he?—He was.

4106. And he had to bleed for Tory politics?—That is what he said, I believe.

4107. The cheque is endorsed by F. Benoit, and made payable to F. Benoit, President?—Made payable to François Benoit, and endorsed District Savings Bank as well.

4108. That is Mr. Benoit's name on the back?—It is.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

4109. Do you know Benoit's signature, or do you presume that is it?—The bank certifies to it.

4110. Then you only presume it is his signature?—Yes.

4111. It is mere surmise on your part where the funds went to?—I have no idea where they went to.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4112. Do you remember the date of that letter?—Which letter is that?

4113. The letter you wrote on behalf of Mr. Murray to me. Was it in the latter part of 1887 or the beginning of 1888?—I think it was in the latter part of December, 1887. If I don't mistake the date, it was the 13th or 15th December.

By Mr. Lister :

4114. Do you know whether more than one letter was written to the Secretary of State about this matter?—I do not know; I only wrote one.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4115. You wrote no others on that day?—None on that day.

By Mr. Lister :

4116. You say after this cheque was given there was no more trouble?—Well, we had shipped the type before that cheque was given.

4117. And it was accepted?—Yes; it was shipped on the 5th January, I believe.

4118. It was shipped on the 5th January and it was accepted by Mr. Senécal? This cheque is dated 12th January, is it not?—Yes; it is the same day as we received a cheque from the Government.

4119. Is the 12th January the same day you received a cheque from the Government?—12th January.

4120. How much did you receive from the Government on the 12th January, 1888?—I think it was a cheque for $5,000, on account of some $6,000 of material delivered.

4121. And out of $5,000 you gave $1,500?—That is the cheque for $1,500.

By Mr. Taylor :

4122. Then, do you correct the evidence you gave the other day? I think you stated the other day you could not ship any type until that $1,500 cheque was extracted as "blood money"?—I stated the other day I could not remember dates or events in the order in which they occurred; I was speaking from memory altogether. That corrects my evidence.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4123. When did you ship the type?—I think on the 5th January; either the 5th or 7th.

By Mr. Taylor :

4124. Then it was shipped before that cheque was received?—It was.

By Mr. Lister :

4125. You made that cheque after you received the $5,000?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

4126. You made out the cheque at the request of Mr. Murray, the president of the company, on the date of that cheque?—On the date of that cheque.

4127. And that was long after the goods had been shipped?—It was a week after.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4128. I think you are constantly at your office?—Generally, yes.

4129. Your business requires you to be inside and not outside?—Well, I have gone away on business for the company, but never for any length of time.

4130. I ask you whether from 1887 up to the present time you have ever seen me in the office of your establishment?—I never have.

4131. Have you ever seen me in conversation with any one of the firm in your establishment?—I don't think I ever have, not to my recollection.

4132. Did I ever ask you or did you ever hear anybody mention that to anybody that I had ever asked a single dollar of a subscription myself?—I never heard any names mentioned with regard to asking subscriptions.

By Mr. Foster :

4133. You said to Mr. Lister that the cheque for Mr. Benoit for $1,500 was paid out of that money, what do you mean by that?—Out of the $5,000, that we received from the Government—that they gave to us upon account of type.

4134. You received $5,000, and I suppose that was deposited in the bank?—It was.

4135. And your cheque was on the same bank?—Yes, on the Bank of Montreal.

4136. And I suppose you have deposits there?—Yes.

4137. Why do you say that this $1,500 went out of that $5,000, recognizing as you do, that you had deposits in the bank to draw your cheques against?—Well, that money was paid into the bank.

4138. Had you not enough funds in the bank to pay this $1,500 cheque without the $5,000 that you got from the Government?—I do not think that is a proper question.

4139. I want to know if you had not funds sufficient in the bank before the $5,000 was deposited to meet that cheque for $1,500?—There may have been funds enough in the bank.

4140. Sufficient to pay this?—There may have been.

By Mr. Lister :

4141. The truth of the matter is that you got the cheque and deposited it in the bank, and after you got this cheque you drew this cheque for $1,500?—Yes.

4142. That is the whole story?—Yes.

FRANÇOIS BENOIT called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4143. Where do you live, Mr. Benoit?—I desire to be heard in French.

4144. Will you understand my questions in English?—Yes.

(Mr. Hayes acting as interpreter.)

4145. I asked you where you lived, Mr. Benoit, where your residence is?—At Notre Dame des Neiges, Montreal.

4146. Where were you living on the 12th January, 1888?—Montreal.

4147. How long had you been living at Montreal up to that time?—I was born in Montreal.

4148. How long did you live in Montreal after the 12th January, 1888, or how long is it since you left Montreal?—I left Montreal last spring.

4149. What was your business in Montreal at that time—the 12th January, 1888?—I was not in business.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—A gentleman at large?

4150. Had you been engaged in business at all for three or four years previous to that date?—No, sir.

4151. For ten years?—No, sir.

4152. Then you have never been engaged in business?—Yes; I was in business up to 1866, at that date I gave up business. I had enough to live on.

4153. You had enough to live on and therefore there was no necessity for continuing in business. I suppose at that time you became a politician?—No, sir.

4154. Did you take any part in politics?—I took part in elections, but I did so as an amateur in the Conservative Association.

4155. Then you have never been anything but an amateur?—Except that I was in business and that I was working for public institutions.

4156. I mean that you have never been anything but an amateur politician?—Understand it as you like, I was never myself an active politician.

4157. That is, you were never an active canvasser and never a candidate?—Yes; that is what I mean.

4158. But you held a more important position and that was looking after the money?—I looked after the interests of the party.

4159. You were President of something in 1888?—I was President of the Conservative Association for the district of Montreal.

4160. And may I ask how many counties or constituencies there are in the district of Montreal?—35.

4161. Then you were president of that Association?—Yes.

4162. Pretty important? An association that controlled the Conservative interest in those 35 constituencies?—Yes.

4163. From that you see your position was a somewhat important one?—Yes.

4164. Were you the treasurer of the Association too?—No.

4165. Who was the treasurer?—Mr. Loranger.

4166. He was the treasurer in 1888?—Yes, sir.

4167. Will you look at that cheque, Mr. Benoit, and say whether you have ever seen it before?—Yes, sir. I saw it, for my endorsement shows that I saw it.

4168. You only recognize the cheque add can say that you have seen it, because your name is on the back of it?—Yes, sir.

4169. Is that the only reason?—Yes, sir, that is the only reason.

4170. Where did you get the cheque?—I received it at the office of the Conservative association.

4171. You received it at the office of the Conservative Association?—Yes.

4172. From whom did you receive it at that office?—I cannot tell you whether I received that cheque by mail or whether it was handed to me.

4173. Do you swear that you have no recollection at all of getting that cheque from any individual?—I do not understand you.

4174. Do you undertake to say that you have no recollection whatever of the person from whom you received that cheque?—Certainly I do.

4175. Who was it? That cheque is payable to you?—Yes.

4176. Were all cheques for the district of Montreal made payable to you?—That was the only one I received.

4177. How are all the other cheques made payable?—There were no other cheques that I received; it was always money.

4178. Had you a bank account for the Association?—No sir, I had no bank account for the Association.

4179. Was that cheque deposited and the money drawn out?—After having received the cheque I deposited it in my name and when I needed money I drew it out of that amount, being careful to keep a memorandum of it.

4180. Then that money was deposited to your credit?—Certainly.

4181. It was deposited to your credit and you chequed that money out?—Yes.

4182. But you were careful to keep a memorandum as to how it was disposed of?—No, not the way it was disposed of, but the amount I drew of that money.

4183. You kept a memorandum showing how the money was drawn?—I kept a memorandum of the amounts I expended out of that.

4184. Have you got that memorandum?—Oh, no.

4185. I suppose Mr. Benoit that you gave the greater portion of that to the Liberal party?—Well, no.

4186. Mr. Taylor implied that the Liberal Association got it. Was there a special committee of the Association appointed for the purpose of raising funds?—No, sir. We have enough friends to call on without that.

4187. But you went to a man who is not your friend, Mr. Murray.—I did not go to him.

4188. Whom did you go to, then, to get that cheque?—The cheque was handed to me at the office; either it came by post or was handed to me in the office.

4189. What other official was there in the office besides you?—You were the president; who was the secretary?—I was the secretary.

4190. Were you president and secretary?—Yes; at the beginning we had a secretary.

4191. Who was he?—It was Mr. Montpetit.

4192. What was his christian name?—André.

4193. What had Mr. Loranger to do with the Association?—He was the treasurer?

4194. He is dead?—He is dead.

4195. When did he die?—Last year, I think.

4196. Were their books kept by the Association?—No; there were no books kept.

4197. Did you get large sums of money?

Mr. FOSTER—I object to that question. The Witness—No.

4198. Do you know Mr. McIlroy?—No, sir.

4199. You never saw him that you know of?—No, sir; I do not know Mr. McIlroy.

4200. Then you know nothing about it, except that you got that cheque?—I know nothing about that cheque, except that I received it.

4201. And that the money was spent for political purposes, legitimately or illegitimately as you will?—Exactly; legitimately.

4202. The Conservative Association of the District of Montreal would not spend money any other way?—I am not used to business of that kind.

4203. You are not president now?—No, sir; I have enough to do without that.

By Mr. Chapleau:

4204. You say you never solicited that subscription. You never solicited any subscription at all?—Exactly.

4205. You were president of the Conservative Association and you have endorsed the cheque as president?—I want for my own satisfaction to declare specially that neither Mr. Chapleau or myself, or any directors of the Association ever had one cent of that money.

By Mr. Lister:

4206. Did you get the money?—Oh, yes; for the Association.

4207. It was rather hard on Mr. Murray?—I do not know.

By Mr. Chapleau:

4208. With regard to the duties you discharged as president and secretary of the Association, did you ever receive any salary or pay?—I worked for two years and a-half as president and secretary, and I have given all my time for nothing.

By Mr. Bergeron:

4209. Did not you subscribe to the election funds?—Certainly, I did.

By Mr. Lister:

4210. You gave your money and boarded yourself for two and a half years?—Certainly, I did.

GEORGE C. HOLLAND called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

4211. I believe you are a stenographer?—Yes.

4212. And you are the gentleman who took the evidence in the case of the New England Paper Company against Berthiaume?—I was one of either three or four reporters.

4213. Did you take the evidence of Mr. Young?—I took the evidence of two gentlemen named Young.

4214. I mean Mr. J. Brooks Young?—I did.

4215. Will you produce that evidence?—(Evidence produced.)

4216. Please point it out to me?

Mr. FOSTER objected on the ground that Mr. Lister was not taking the proper way of introducing evidence which had been ruled out in the trial.

After discussion Mr. Holland was asked to stand aside for the present.

ODILON BEAUCHEMIN called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4217. Where do you live?—In Montreal.

4218. What is your business?—I am a printer and bookseller.

4219. Have you had any dealings with the Department?—We made a few sales to the Department.

4220. Will you tell me how much these sales aggregated?—Between $500 and $600.

4221. To which branch of the Department were the sales made?—They were materials for bookbinding.

4222. Who purchased them from you?—Mr. Senécal.

4223. When was the purchase made?—During the whole time he was there. I had no time to take notes about it.

4224. The whole sales amounted to between $500 and $600?—Yes.

4225. Did you ever make Mr. Senécal any presents of money; loan him any, or give him any?—We gave him commission.

4226. How much did the commissions amount to? How much would there be on all the sales?—From $80 to $100 on the whole.

By Mr. Foster :

4227. Were the prices fixed for these materials before you made Mr. Senécal a present or was asked to make him the present?—They were the ordinary market prices.

4228. Had you made the sales before Mr. Senécal demanded and you promised to give a commission?—I promised him a commission.

4229. Before you made the sales to him?—After.

4230. Not before?—No.

4231. Were the prices at which you sold, influenced in any way by the commission you gave him?—No, and you can compare the prices with the market prices. The accounts are there.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4232. Have you considered that the prices paid were as small as the ordinary prices paid by merchants?—They were even lower than the market prices in whole-sale dealing.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4233. Chiefly on what?—A lot of leather.

By Mr. Lister :

4234. You gave him about twenty per cent on his purchase?—On a lot of leather we gave him more than on other things.

4235. How much was the commission on leather?—On the whole we gave him about $100.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4236. How much have you given him on that lot of leather?—$85. It was an exceptional lot of leather which we had bought exceedingly low.

4237. The prices at which the Government bought were wholesale prices?—There is a binder here who can show that it was an exceedingly low price.

By Mr. Lister :

4238. How much leather did you sell to the Government? In the $600 how much was leather?—I told you, $85.

4239. That was commission. I want to know how much was leather?—Over $300.

4240. How much over?—I cannot tell.

4241. Guess then?—About $325.

4242. And that was for leather?—Yes; Morocco leather.

4243. And you paid $85 commission?—Yes.

4244. That leather would have netted you $240?—Yes.

4245. How long before you paid this $85 commission had he been dealing with you—buying other goods?—About a year.

4246. Did he frequently buy from you?—Little things from time to time.

4247. And did you make any sale to him after the sale of leather?—Yes.

4248. Were they small things?—Well, I don't know, about $50 to $60 sometimes.

4249. When you made the first sale to Mr. Senecal did he say anything about commission?—Yes; he came to get his commission.

4250. Did he come to get it before or after he had bought from you?—After he had bought.

4251. So that at the time you sold to him you did not know that he was going to demand commission?—No.

4252. How much was the first sale?—About $60.

4253. And you did not expect to pay any commission?—No.

4254. You never expected to do that and you sold the goods at a low figure?—Yes.

4255. The same as you would sell to anybody else?—Yes.

4256. You did not care whether the Government bought your goods or anybody else. You sold to all alike?—Yes.

4257. So that you sold to Mr. Senecal not knowing that you were to pay any commission at all?—I did not know that.

4258. How long was it after you made that first sale of $50 or $60 that he came to you to get commission?—I don't remember very well. I think it was the next year.

4259. Did he wait for a year?—To get commission?

4260. Yes.—Oh, he came three days afterwards.

4261. What did he say?—He said he wanted commission on his purchase.

4262. What did you say?—I said: "I have sold to you very low and I cannot give you any commission."

4263. Well, then, what was the upshot?—I told him: "I will give you a cash discount of 5 per cent."

4264. How much did he want?—He wanted 10.

4265. But you agreed after a little delay to give him a cash discount of 5 per cent?—Yes.

4266. So that instead of the Government getting 5 per cent he got it?—Yes.

4267. You knocked 5 per cent off?—Yes.

4268. Do you allow 5 per cent to your customers, generally, for cash?—Well, we allow 2½ per cent, but it depends upon the nature of the goods.

4269. Upon that class of goods would you have allowed 5 per cent to customers who paid you cash?—Generally on bookbinders' furniture we don't give any cash discount, we sell so low. We sell at net price.

4270. Why did you give this discount to him?—For a consideration; to get some more orders.

4271. So that you had sold to him at a low price, and you could not afford to give a discount, but you did give one at 5 per cent?—Yes.

4272. He wanted 10?—Yes.

4273. Did he say anything to you then, to the effect that you would have to pay him commission in future?—I don't remember.

4274. Try to remember?—Really I cannot remember.

4275. Was there not something said about his making it all right, and that he would buy more goods from you?—I thought he was leaving that impression.

4276. Nothing was said about future payments?—No.

4277. You are positive about that?—I am positive, sir.

4278. How long afterwards would it be that he came to purchase from you again?—He was coming three or four times every year, perhaps more; I don't remember.

4279. After he made the second purchase, was anything said about commission?—No.

4280. How much commission did you allow him at that time?—Perhaps 10; I don't remember. It depended upon the nature of the goods.

4281. But you afterwards only allowed him 5 per cent?—It depends upon the nature of the goods.

4282. What was the nature of the goods at the next purchase?—I don't remember.

4283. Did you allow him 10 per cent?—I remember giving him 10 per cent on one lot. But I don't remember them all.

4284. We have got two lots of goods. Did you sell him any more goods besides leather?—Yes; a lot of things.

4285. And was it for 10 per cent?—On leather?

4286. On any of the goods did you pay him less than 10 per cent?—I told you I paid 5 per cent.

4287. That was the first time. Did you pay it on any subsequent purchase?—I paid him 10 per cent sometimes; sometimes I paid him nothing.

4288. It must have been a very small order when you paid him nothing?—I paid him nothing.

4289. But you afterwards paid him 10 per cent when you did pay him commission?—10 per cent or nothing whatever.

4290. You say on this order of $335 you gave him $85?—Because it was a job.

4291. How much of a percentage would that be?—It would be about 25, I suppose.

4292. Was anything said at the time he bought that leather from you as to what you were to allow him?—I suppose he understood that he would have a good commission because it was a very cheap lot of leather.

4293. Was anything said about how much he was to get?—No.

4294. How long was it after you delivered the goods before you paid him any commission?—Four or five or six days; I don't remember.

4295. Did you pay him by cheque or in cash?—I think I paid him in cash, I don't remember well.

4296. Then you charged those goods at $325 to the Government?—Yes.

4297. And that is the amount he paid you?—Yes.

4298. And you gave him back $85?—As commission.

4299. Did he give you a cheque for it from the Department?—I received a cheque from the Department.

4300. Who gave you the cheque? Was it Mr. Sénécal, or did you get it by mail?—I got it by mail in the ordinary way.

4301. How long after you got the cheque did you pay the $85?—It was six days afterwards, I suppose.

4302. You would not get the cheque the first day, because you said it was five or six days after the purchase you paid him the money?—Yes.

4303. Now, you say it was five or six days after the sale you got the cheque?—He came after the cheque was received.—five or six days after that time.

4304. And you paid him the $85?—Yes.

4305. And that was the amount you had agreed to pay?—There was no agreement.

4306. How did you fix that amount?—I intended to give him commission.

4307. How did you fix $85 as the commission he was to be paid?—Because he knew the price I paid for the leather; it was a special lot.

4308. And he was going to have all over that?—Yes.

4309. I suppose you would have sold it to anybody else for the price you paid for it?—Anybody would have bought it at that price.

4310. Would you have sold it for that price if it had not been Mr. Senécal? Supposing a good dealer had gone there and offered $240 for it?—I would not have sold it.

4311. You would rather take $325 from the Government and give Mr. Senécal $85. Would you rather do that?—Yes, because he would give me some more orders.

4312. But if it was not for getting more orders you would not care?—No.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4313. How much did you sell that shagreen at?—Generally we sell it at $30; it was exceptionally low.

4314. For what?—On the dozen. I paid $20 for it.

---

W. C. ALLAN re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Chapleau :

4315. You have heard Mr. Beauchemin give his evidence. He says that the leather was sold at $20 to the Government? Was that an exceedingly cheap price?—Yes, it was an exceedingly cheap price. I paid $24 for it.

---

JOHN LOVELL called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Chapleau :

4316. You are a printer by trade, I believe?—Yes.

4317. You have been so for many years, I understand?—Yes.

4318. How long have you been in business?—I have been in business since 1835.

4319. And you are still in business?—Yes. I went into business in 1824 or 1825.

4320. You are still in business, and you have, I think, two establishments, one at Montreal?—No, I have only one establishment, that is, in Montreal. I had another.

4321. You had another until lately?—Yes.

4322. You sold the one you had in the States?—Yes.

4323. Have you visited the printing and binding departments of the Government Printing Bureau?—Yes.

4324. When?—This morning.

4325. Have you examined thoroughly the whole establishment?—Well, I have looked at it generally. I did not examine it very closely. I think it is a credit to the country. I am speaking now of the whole establishment. I never in my life saw anything better laid out, and I have been in the best offices in London, England, in Edinburgh, Scotland, and in the United States, and I never saw anything to equal the Printing Bureau for order, system and anything pertaining to the arrangement of a Government Printing Bureau. I may say that I have had a great deal of experience. I know what Government work is, and I know what is required. I say without hesitation that the establishment here is something grand.

4326. Have you seen the arrangements that have been made for printing and keeping the voters' lists?—The type was shown to me in the columns to-day.

4327. Have you ascertained, or have you been ascertaining, what the number of pages are, that are kept in type for these voters' lists?—I have not, but from what I saw there, there must have been a great many in type.

4328. Have you seen in the establishment—in the Government Printing Bureau—the reserved type that has not been used, type that is simply kept in reserve?—No, sir.

4329. Well, it has been proved before the Committee that there is at the present moment 40,000 or 44,000 lbs. of type kept in reserve. You have had, I think, experience of the necessity of keeping a reserve. You are the publisher of a directory and it requires a large amount of type standing?—Yes. In publishing the Dominion Directory I had to keep 22,000 lbs. of minion standing before a sheet was printed.

4330. Well, Mr. Lovell, the question I want to ask you is this: It is a fact that the voters' lists that you have seen contain in each page between 17 and 20 lbs. of type. The number is 7,000 pages, and the increase has been last time over 1,700 pages on the new revision, taking that average of 1,700 new pages, would you consider that 40,000 lbs. of type in reserve would be a monstrous reserve?—I do not think it would be too much for that establishment. You see there are other classes of printing for which a large quantity of minion would be required—the tables and Sessional Papers are many of them in minion, and that would necessitate having a large quantity of that type. An office like that could not be conducted without an immense quantity of type in reserve. Parliament must have its work done, they cannot wait. I have had myself, as I say, 22,000 lbs. of type standing in a small office—small as compared with the establishment here.

4331. Would you consider 25 per cent reserve too much on the whole of the type used for that purpose?—No. Not upon certain quantities. The minion is used especially for a great many classes of work, and it is necessary to have a large stock of it, especially as it is used for the voters' lists. Minion, long primer and small pica would be largely called for in that establishment.

By Mr. Somerville :

4332. These are not used for the voters' lists?—No; I am speaking with what would be generally used in the establishment. In my opinion, small pica, long primer and minion would be largely in demand there.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4333. You know what the printing of the voters' lists means? You have an idea of it?—I have. I have printed them myself for some time.

4334. Do you consider that a reserve of 20 or 25 per cent of type would be an exaggeration of reserve?—No, sir.

By Mr. Lister :

4335. I suppose you do not know how much that nice establishment cost?—I have not the slightest idea, but I say it is a credit to the country. It is beautifully and systematically laid out. Work could be done there with great economy, I should think.

4336. You do not know I suppose that the inside of it cost $280,000?—Well, sir, I do not think that would be out of the way.

4337. You think it is reasonable?—It would not be enough in my opinion. Look at the presses alone. It is the grandest sight I ever saw, to see the presses in that room. I have seen them in the old country but not to the extent and with the order and system I saw there to-day. It is really beautiful.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4338. The system is not bought with money?—If you had not the system you could not do the work. I do not think there is a bit of extravagance in that building as to order and system.

By Mr. Charleau :

4339. Are you a Government contractor?—I was, to my sorrow.

By the Chairman :

4340. You are getting out a Directory I believe?—Yes, sir; and it would be a credit to you (pointing to Mr. Lister) if you were to subscribe for it.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, TUESDAY, 22nd September, 1891.

Sub-Committee met—Mr. SKINNER in the Chair.

HON. PETER MITCHELL called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4341. You are interested in the Montreal Herald Company, Mr. Mitchell?—Yes.

4342. Is it a joint stock company?—It is.

4343. What position do you occupy?—I occupy the position of president and hold the majority of the stock.

4344. You are president of the company and manager?—No, I am not manager. I am not paid for the management. I am only paid in connection with the stock. Mr. William H. White is the manager of the company.

4345. Will you state whether you had some time ago occasion to purchase presses for the company?—Yes, I had. We were fitting up our present establishment when it occurred to us in September, 1887, that it was necessary for us to buy a lot of new presses, which we did.

4346. From what company?—The Whitlock Company, through their agent, Mr. A. F. Ahlstrom.

4347. How many?—We bought four presses and a cutter at that time. Subsequently we found that we required another, and we got it from the same concern.

4348. Were they large presses?—They were 25 by 52, 27 by 39, 22 by 28, and I forget what the fourth press was.

4349. What were the prices?—$2,150, $1,600, $1,150 and $440, making in all $5,340.

4350. Was the duty paid on them?—That was the price including the duty.

4351. Who paid the duty?—We paid the duty and had the amount deducted from the price.

4352. You negotiated with the agent of the company, Mr. A. F. Ahlstrom?—Yes; Mr. White, the manager, negotiated. I was present in my office and Mr. White came in to me and told me what he proposed doing. Personally, I know nothing of the value of presses, but Mr. White did. He knew the character of the presses and fixed the prices with Mr. Ahlstrom.

4353. The prices which you paid there, apart from the condition, was the net price paid in Montreal?—Yes.

4354. Now, after the delivery of the machinery had you any conversation with this gentleman respecting a commission or anything of the kind?—Yes.

Mr. Skinner objected to the admission of the conversation as evidence.

4355. Was anything said about commission?—Yes.

4356. What was said?—The man who sold the press after he had talked with Mr. White said something about it to me. Mr. White came to me and said: "I think we have got him down to the bottom price." I went with him, to the outer office where they were discussing this and preparing the contract. Mr. Ahlstrom turned around to me and said: "Who takes the commission in this case, do you take it yourself or have you a financial man in the establishment who takes it?" "What commission do you mean," I asked, "you told me that you had got down to the bottom price?" "So we have" he said "except that when we do business, even when we cut down to the bottom price, there is a commission. Of course we have got to the bottom price here." I said to him: "There is no body in this establishment who takes a commission with my knowledge, much less myself." He looked at me a little knowingly, and he said: "Don't you think you are a little wrong, this commission is a personal commission?" I said: "That may be, Mr. Ahlstrom, but I don't think that kind of thing is done on this side of the line. It may be the custom in your country, but it is not done on this side of the line." "Oh," he said, "you are very much mistaken, the Printing Bureau at Ottawa did it." "Well," I said, "Mr. White, you just take the commission off the price we agreed to give—the discount or whatever you like to call it—and credit the Herald with it. Any advantage that is to be gained on commissions, I think, is due to the Herald Company, not to any of its employés who purchase goods." I was not purchasing myself, but Mr. White was doing it with my sanction as president.

4357. So that if after that you had got the price of the machines down to the lowest figure—?—What he said was the lowest figure

4358. He proposed to pay you a commission, and you insisted that that commission should be taken from what he said was the lowest figure?—And credited to the Herald. That is the amount taken off the price the Herald was to pay him for those machines.

4359. And that was done?—That was done.

4360. So that as a matter of fact you never got anything?—Never got anything, and I will state further, in justice to myself, that Mr. Dansereau was entirely wrong if he made that statement. He denied it to me after the interviews with me which appeared in the Herald. He crossed the street and overtook me, and said: "Mr. Mitchell, I am very sorry I did not see you before you published that statement." I said: "Why?" "Because" he said "what I am reported as having said before the Committee is not true." I said: "Mr. Dansereau, it was your duty when that came out to have at once put a correction in the Gazette and Herald, and other city papers, to prevent a wrong impression going abroad as to me. I never took commission in my life," I said, "for anything I ever purchased for the Herald. I performed my services for that office free and charged nothing on these outlays. If I had taken commissions, I might have been justified; the case is quite different from the subject before the Committee" I said, "I want you at once to give an explanation" and he did it.

4361. The point I want to get out is this: That if you had consented to have taken that commission yourself, the company of course would not have got the advantage of it?—Certainly not.

4362. They would have delivered the machines at the price you agreed to take them for under the contract?—Yes.

4363. But you refusing to take the commission, and insisting it should be deducted from the amount of the bill, it was done and the company got the advantage?—The company gained the advantage. Mr. Dansereau took a wrong impression. I met Mr. Dansereau during the sitting of this Committee, in the presence of two or three friends, and we got talking about this, and I said I bought presses from an American company—the Whitlock Company. He confounded it with the Hoe Company. We never had anything to do with Hoe at all. I bought the presses from the Whitlock Company and after we completed the bargain they offered me commission which I declined to take. I said: "If you can afford to pay commission you can afford to make a deduction in the price of the presses," and it was done. That is what I told Mr. Dansereau, and if Mr. Dansereau made the statement he did—which he afterwards denied to me—he gave a wrong impression of what took place.

4364. The point was that the company got the benefit of the commission that would have gone to you?—They got the benefit of it and necessarily in my opinion—

The CHAIRMAN. I do not think that unless asked for an opinion you ought to give it.

By Mr. Lister:

4365. You have had a great deal to do in this matter?—Not a great deal, I have had this dealing.

The CHAIRMAN objected to any opinion being given by the witness.

4366. Is it an opinion respecting commissions?—That is the idea.

4367. Can you state what the custom is?—I cannot state what the custom is but I state this, that if any man in my employ—

The CHAIRMAN objected.

Mr. LISTER. That is all the questions I have to ask.

The Sub-Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM,
THURSDAY, 24th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

JOHN R. BARBER called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4368. I believe you are one of the proprietors of a paper mill?—Yes, sir.

4369. Where do you carry on business?—Georgetown.

4370. In the Province of Ontario?—Yes.

4371. Have you sold paper to the Government during the past few years?—Yes, I have sold to the Government for the past 30 years.

4372. Who have you been dealing with during the past four years?—The Stationery Department.

4373. With Mr. Bronskill?—Yes.

4374. Have you ever had any dealing with Mr. Senécal?—No, sir.

4375. Will you state to the Committee whether at any time during that period, or on any occasion or occasions during that period, you have made presents or paid commissions to any member of the Civil Service?—No, the only one that I had any connection with was when Mr. Perrot, a year ago, said he had been down to Mr. Bronskill's and had visited his family, that Mr. Bronskill was very anxious to send his wife to the seashore but could not afford it. He said: "I feel disposed to make up something and send it down to him. Will you take a hand in it. You have not much to do with the work but will you join me in it?" And I gave half of the hundred dollars he says he gave. I gave $50 and he gave $50.

4376. You gave $50 out of $100 he gave?—Out of the $100 Mr. Perrot gave.

4377. Did you know him personally?—Well I had only known him since he was appointed, never before.

4378. Have you sold much paper to the Government since his appointment?—No, very little.

4379. Did you know him sufficiently well to make him a present of $50?—Yes. I have known him since he came into the Department, something like three years ago. Up to three years ago, I had the House contract. When Mr. Bronskill came here I lost them, as he sent me nothing but what he could not get anywhere else. The Canada Paper Company got the most of the orders.

4380. Up to the time he took charge you had the contract for paper for the House?—Yes. I was supplying from $30,000 to $35,000 worth, but it has not come to $2,000 since, except an order now and then.

4381. Do you blame Mr. Bronskill for the loss of it?—Well, I thought that he was partial to that firm—I do not know that he was, but that is the way I saw it. He came from the office of the Gazette in Montreal. I always thought that he was put here by Mr. White, a director of the Canada Paper Company. When his appointment was made I feared I would not get any more orders from the Government and I was not much disappointed.

4382. As a matter of fact you did not get any more orders that amounted to anything?—There were no orders except for some outside material that I could make a little better than the other mills, or my paper suited better.

4383. So that according to your statement up to the time Mr. Bronskill took charge of the Stationery Department you had received orders amounting to $30,000 or to $35,000?—Up to that time it was all done by contract; it was settled by the Members of the Committee.

4384. But afterwards it was taken away from you?—Afterwards it was taken away.

4385. And from the time Mr. Bronskill came in, the orders you received were small orders for paper you could manufacture better than other people.—That was all.

4386. And your feeling was that Bronskill was in some way to blame for it?—Well, I knew his sympathies were all with the parties who got him the situation—at least I judged that.

4387. You thought the Canada Paper Company was the favored institution?—Exactly, yes.

4388. How was it, in view of these facts, you came to give him $50?—You see, I am president of the Barber & Ellis Company, and, of course, I was receiving a certain proportion of interest in any order that was given to the Company.

4389. Then it was because you were president of that company and received a proportion of the profits of paper that might be sold?—Not more than I sell—about $2,000 worth a year to the Government.

4390. Did Mr. Bronskill know you contributed to that payment?—I don't know whether he does or not.

4391. Did Mr. Perrot say anything to him?—I don't know whether he did.

4392. How did Mr. Perrot come to you—Simply as a friend of Bronskill's?—He knew I was sending some paper down, and that I was president of the Barber & Ellis Company, and he asked me if I would join him and contribute a portion.

4393. Did he tell you he had contributed $350?—No; I am speaking of the $100 that was given.

4394. You were never asked, then, subsequently for any money by Mr. Perrot or anybody else?—No.

By Mr. Bowell :

4395. You said you formerly supplied the House with paper to a very large amount?—Yes, sir.

4396. That was done under contract received through the Printing Committee?—Yes.

4397. Are you aware that the supply of paper for the House subsequent to that contract, was also supplied under contract?—I believe so, yes.

4398. Then that being the case Mr. Bronskill would have nothing to do with it, would he? I don't want to defend Mr. Bronskill, but to put the matter right.—Paper is a very difficult thing to judge, you understand that, and a man who is favourably disposed to one man as against another, can easily see that Mill's samples are the best.

4399. What I want to get out is the fact that this paper was purchased under contract?—Certainly; except what I supplied to Mr. Bronskill was sent on an order for an outside line of blue paper or—

By Mr. Somerville :

4400. There may be another reason for the Government taking the contract from you. You have a suit against the Government for having given orders to parties for paper under your contract?—I have sued, but I do not think my proceedings in law had anything to do with my business with the Government in any way.

4401. Is the suit settled yet?—It is in appeal at present.

By Mr. Foster :

4402. You hope it will be soon?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4403. You are a partner of a firm that manufactures envelopes?—Yes, sir.

4404. You had your little share of the Government patronage, I suppose?—Yes, I suppose so.

By Mr. Somerville :

4405. How much?—I think the line of envelopes ran up to $20,000. It was a line that could not be furnished anywhere else.

By Mr. Bowell :

4406. You furnished them at the cheapest rate, I suppose?—Yes, we furnished them at the cheapest rate and it was a line better than anyone else could supply.

By Mr. Lister :

4407. The envelopes that you furnished were of a quality that could not be furnished by any other house?—Well there are two or three other houses, but as regards these envelopes they do not supply the line that we do.

C. S. J. PHILLIPS called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4408. Are you a member of the firm of Morton, Phillips & Co.?—Yes.

4409-10. Have you had any dealings with the Printing Bureau and Stationery Department at Ottawa?—Yes, three or four years ago, we had a job we did for Mr. Senécal. We supplied a quantity of calendars for the Printing Bureau.

4411. About the Stationery Department?—So far as the Stationery Department is concerned the only thing we did was the Caligraph Writing Machine.

4412. How much did the calendars cost—what were you paid by Mr. Senécal?—I cannot tell you.

4413. Was that the only thing you ever did for Mr. Senécal?—The only thing.

4414. Were the printing calendars at a very large figure?—No. We got the order through my partner, Mr. Cameron, through Mr. Senécal. We had supplied some calendars for the Montreal Post Office and Mr. Senécal wanted them for the Printing Bureau. We had a few hundred, they could not amount to very much—it was a small affair.

4415. How long ago was that?—Three or four years ago—as far as I can remember.

4416. The arrangement was made with your partner?—Yes; with Mr. Cameron.

4417. Was Mr. Cameron a friend of Mr. Senécal's?—No, sir; he was acquainted with Mr. Senécal.

4418. Can you give no idea at all as to the price?—I do not think it would be more than $50 or $60, something of that kind.

4419. Do you know whether any commission was paid to Senécal?—There was not—no commission was paid.

4420. You say that somebody happened to see these calendars in the Post Office in Montreal?—Yes, and they wanted them for the Printing Bureau. We are in the habit of distributing a good many every year as they are wanted. We were rather surprised to get such an order.

4421. You say you sold to the Departments typewriters? To many of the Departments?—Only one, the Stationery Department.

4422. How many typewriters did you sell to the Department?—Six or eight probably, I do not know the exact number.

4423. I do not ask you to be strictly accurate?—Perhaps a dozen at the outside.

4424. With whom was the purchase negotiated?—It was negotiated through the agents.

4425. Who negotiated with you?—The order came from the Stationery Department—from Mr. Bronskill. They were generally supplied through agents who worked up the sale. One or two we worked up ourselves. We supplied the machines through Mr. Bronskill for the Stationery Department.

4426. Where did they go?—Some were for Quebec, and there was another for Winnipeg. We are not supposed to know where they went, but sometimes we sent them direct from our office to the place of destination.

4427. Your judgment is that you sold about a dozen?—Yes.

4428. Whatever bargain was made was with the agents?—No; it was made with us.

4429. Will you state whether you paid any commission to Mr. Bronskill for the typewriters?—No, sir.

4430. Was anything paid to anybody connected with the Department as a loan, gift or commission?—No, sir.

4431. No money whatever was paid to anybody?—Not a cent.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4432. You are aware that Mr. Bronskill having charge of the Stationery Department would supply all the other Departments with instruments like the typewriter?—Yes. The reason we know that is because we are the agents in eastern Ontario and Quebec and he could not buy them anywhere else.

4433. You are the agents?—We have a contract.

By Mr. Lister :

4434. What is the contract?—We had the contract for eastern Ontario and Quebec and this Government could not buy these machines except through us.

4435. You have the contract with the manufacturers for the supply of eastern Ontario and Quebec?—Yes.

4436. Now Mr. Phillips I want to ask you a question about another matter. Were you present during the trial of the case of the New England Paper Company vs. Berthiaume?—Yes sir, I was. I was summoned there as an expert to decide as to the quality of paper.

4437. Did you hear Mr. J. Brooks Young sworn to?—Yes.

4438. Did you hear him say anything about the payment of commission to Berthiaume?—I did. I heard something of the kind, but I did not charge my mind with it, I was not interested. I was rather annoyed to be called up there, to have to attend and give evidence about a matter in which I was not interested, especially as I had no dealings with Mr. J. Brooks Young and do not want to have any.

4439. You cannot recollect what took place on that occasion?—There were some questions asked a witness in French about commission.

4440. Did you hear anything about a commission?—Yes.

4441. What was it?—I do not know. I could not charge my memory with it.

4442. Have you any recollection?—The recollection I have is very indistinct.

4443. Can you recollect what was said by the French witness?—He was asked some questions but I cannot recollect. I was not sufficiently interested to charge my memory with the matter.

4444. Then you are not in a position to state to us what was said?—I am not.

4445. I did not ask you to make an accurate statement?—There was something said about commissions, but it is so long ago, I cannot remember it. I cannot even tell you whether it was in the fall, winter or the early spring, I know it was in the cold weather, however, as I had to take off my overcoat and rubbers.

4446. You would be condemned on the same principle as Murphy because he did not know when he had paid the $10,000?—Well, I do not know the exact time period, but I know it was a time when I had to wear overshoes. It must have been winter.

Mr. J. R. BARBER re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. White (Cardwell):

4447. In your examination a few moments ago, you swore that Mr. Richard White, Montreal, was a director of the Canada Paper Company?—I have never seen a list of the directors of the Canada Paper Company that I remember, but I have understood for years past that he was one of the directors.

4448. You do not know anything positive on the subject?—I do not.

4449. So that your statement under oath, so far as your knowledge goes, cannot be supported?—I was simply giving you what some person has told me.

By the Chairman:

4450. You did not say that in your evidence?—I said I understood he was a director of the Canada Paper Co. at that time.

By Mr. White (Cardwell):

4451. You said he was a Director. I have just seen the shorthand writer's notes, and you made the absolute statement?—I did not mean to make it, because I have not had any opportunity of seeing the list of directors of the Canada Paper Co., but I understood for years past Mr. White was one of them.

Mr. BOWELL—My recollection is that Mr. White when here swore that he was not a director of the Canada Paper Co. I may say to the Committee that I have showed Mr. Barber a telegram which I have just sent to Mr. White, asking him if he is a director now or ever was.

By Mr. Taylor:

4452. If Mr. White made the statement that he was not a director would you believe him?—Certainly.

By the Chairman:

4453. Then you desire to have your positive statement corrected?—Yes, as far as in the way of making a positive statement that Mr. White was a director of the Canada Paper Co. I simply understood that he was one and had been for years past.

JAMES JOHNSON, Commissioner of Customs, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Lister:

4454. Have you taken the pains to find out the quantity of stuff in the way of printing presses purchased by the Government from Potter & Co. of New York?—I did not know that that was required.

4455. Do you know whether duty was paid upon the presses imported?—I do not.

By the Chairman:

4456. That is not the information you were asked to give. I understood it was in regard to the type?—Yes; on the question of type.

By Mr. Lister:

4457. Have you looked up the invoices as regards the type?—I looked up the invoices which are here, but I could not find anything at all relating to them, but invoices from a Toronto firm to the Department, which the customs have nothing to do with at all. Those invoices tell us nothing. What I required was the invoices of the type received from Edinburgh in order that I might know at what time, and what quantity of type was in dispute. I have nothing at all to tell me where to begin.

4458. Did you not take steps to find out whether duty was paid or not?—I telegraphed to the collector at Toronto to know whether Miller & Richards had entered any type on a free entry. I have his reply here.

By Mr. Bowell :

4459. Have you a copy of the telegram which you sent to him?—I did not bring it with me, but it was simply a question as to whether they had entered any type in 1890-91, before or since, on a free entry. This is the reply, "Neither type nor printing material have at any time been entered free by Miller & Richards at this port. Refunds allowed them on two entries in 1888, claim Nos. 9503 and 9740. John Small." I may say that these refunds have no reference at all to printing material or type. They were simply small matters of errors, the whole duty amounting to $20.

By Mr. Hyman :

4460. What is the date of that telegram which you have just read?—The 17th of September.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—I have here a private letter which I have just received from Mr. Patterson, the representative of Miller & Richards. I cannot read the whole of it, but with the permission of the Committee I will read a portion which will throw light on this subject. He says: "You wired me the other day to know if I had paid duty on the type I supplied the Printing Bureau, and I replied that duty was paid on all goods sent from this warehouse, but the goods shipped direct from Edinburgh, in common with all other imported goods for the Government did not pay duty, but were delivered at Ottawa free of freight, insurance and all other charges. Mr. Lister will no doubt try to make a point out of the fact that duty was not paid on the minion, but the type was supplied at 40 cents per lb., which is 10 cents per lb. less than the regular price, and as duty is only paid on the trade price, it will not amount to more than 6 cents per lb., which will make the cost to the Government, plus the duty, 46 cents per lb., and which then is 4 cents lower than the regular market price that everyone else pays, while the type, on account of the superior metal we use, and the finish, costs a great deal more than the Canadian article."

WITNESS—I may say if the type was received by the Department and entered in Ottawa, it would necessarily be entered under a free entry.

By Mr. Lister :

4461. If it was invoiced to the Government? - Yes.

4462. So that if this type was invoiced direct to the Government from Edinburgh, from the sellers there, it would come in free?—Yes; that is provided for in the tariff.

By the Chairman :

4463. What are the conditions under which a man can enter goods free?—Simply that they must be articles for the use of the Government or any of the Departments and imported by themselves.

4464. If I took a contract from the Government to supply a number of articles here, and sent them to Ottawa direct from the old country to the Dominion Government, they would come in free of duty?—No; that would subject the contractors to prosecution for smuggling.

By Mr. Lister :

4465. That is precisely what was done in this instance?—That I do not know.

4466. Suppose there are two houses—one in Toronto and one in Edinburgh, and the contract is made with the Toronto house. Under those circumstances you say the goods would not come in free of duty?—No, sir.

4467. As a matter of fact the seller ought to pay the duty?—Yes—the importer.

4468. The man who sells or delivers it here?—Yes.

4469. Then if Mr. Patterson has sold to the Department, nothing being said about the payment of duty, and those goods came from a foreign country, then he ought to pay to the Government the duty?—Yes.

4470. And if that duty has not been paid, Mr. Patterson still owes to the Government that duty?—Certainly.

4471. And under the Customs law you could recover?—Yes.

4472. So far as the prices are concerned, if a contract was made for the sale of presses to the Government, nothing being said about the payment of duty, would they be liable for duty?—That depends entirely upon whether the presses were purchased directly by the Department. I do not know the history of these presses except from what I read in the papers, and that may be right or it may be wrong; but I took the impression from it that they were purchased by the Department through an Agent who was sent over. They would necessarily come here and be entered free.

4473. Then if Mr. Senécal went and purchased the presses for the Government they would have the right to come in free, the purchase being made in New York?—Yes.

4474. If they were to be delivered in Canada, how would that be?—That would make no difference with reference to the duty.

4475. That is to say, if the purchase was made direct by the Government there would be no duty?—It makes no difference what the nature or the terms of the purchase are.

4476. So the presses would come in free of duty?—Yes.

By Mr. Bowell :

4477. There is an invoice of Miller Richards & Co. to the Department of Public Printing dated at Toronto. Those goods should have paid duty, should they not?—This is not the invoice of the importer.

4478. On the general principle, I mean?—The Customs has nothing to do with that.

4479. If they are invoiced from Toronto to the Department here, the Customs would have nothing to do with it?—No.

By Mr. Lister :

4480. If the goods are in fact imported and are invoiced to the Government here from Toronto, surely they would have had to pay duty before the owner would get possession of them in Toronto. Suppose the type that is invoiced to the Government from Toronto had been purchased in Edinburgh and sent out to an Agent in Toronto, and invoiced from the Agent to the Government here, would not that type have to pay duty?—It would depend entirely upon the transaction with reference to the invoice from Toronto.

4481. Which transaction?—The importing of the article in question. The particular consignment of the article in question would depend entirely upon the transaction, whether it was between the parties in Edinburgh and the Government, or between the parties in Toronto and the parties in Edinburgh.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4482. If the goods were purchased in Edinburgh for the Government and shipped to Toronto there would be no duty paid?—No.

By Mr. Lister :

4483. But if it was shipped to the agent in Toronto and then sold by that agent to the Government in Ottawa, would it not pay duty?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4484. What period does the telegram cover that you are putting before the Committee?—It covers 1888, 1889, 1890 and 1891.

4485. And there you say, by your officer in Toronto, that no type was brought into Toronto free of duty. That is to say, that all the type that was imported there must have paid duty unless it was smuggled?—That is the very question. If it did not pay duty it was smuggled.

4486. Your information, from your Department, is that during those three and a half or four years no type was imported into Toronto free of duty?—That is it.

4487. I suppose you do not know the manufacturing company of Miller & Richards, represented by Mr. Patterson in Toronto?—I do not know any of them.

4488. Did I understand you well to say, that if the transaction was, that the Government should buy a certain portion of the type from a firm which has a house in Toronto and a portion from the main house in Edinburgh, that part of the type coming from Toronto would be supposed to have paid duty going there? In buying from Toronto the Government must buy type that has paid duty going there?—Certainly.

4489. If a department of the Government should ask the house in Edinburgh to ship type direct for the Printing Bureau, would that pay duty?—A firm in Toronto?

4490. No, the house in Edinburgh?—I beg your pardon. I must understand the question distinctly. Do I understand you aright to say that if a firm in Toronto ordered from a firm in Edinburgh—

4491. No. If the Government ordered from a firm in Edinburgh, but represented by an agent here, would the article pay duty?—No.

By Mr. Hyman :

4492. To entitle an article to come in free the article must be purchased in a foreign market by the Government and be for the Government?—Yes.

4493. Read that portion of the Act?—“Articles imported by and for the use of the Dominion Government or any of the Departments thereof, or by and for the Senate and House of Commons, including the following articles when imported by the said Government or any of the Departments thereof, for the use of the Canadian Militia; arms, military clothing, musical instruments for the band, military stores and munitions of war,” these are all free.

GEORGE C. HOLLAND recalled and further examined :—

By Mr. Lister :

4494. When you were before the Committee the other day I asked you two or three formal questions which I will not now repeat. You were the stenographer who took the evidence in the case of the New England Paper Co. against Berthiaume?—I was.

4495. I ask you to produce the note of evidence and to see whether you were a sworn stenographer?—I was.

4496. You were sworn to truly take the evidence given by the witness?—Yes.

4497. I ask you now whether J. Brooks Young was one of the witnesses sworn at that trial?—He was.

4498. I ask you whether you truly and faithfully took the evidence given by him on trial?—I did.

4499. I asked you now to produce that evidence?—Here is the note book.

4500. This is the evidence taken by you of J. Brooks Young?—This book contains that with other depositions.

Filed as Exhibit No. 17.

4501. J. Brooks Young was sworn?—He was a sworn witness.

4502. I ask you now whether you gave that evidence to any person in the interest of the Government, or to any person who wished to ascertain what it amounted to?—I did.

4503. To whom?—Mr. Chapleau.

4504. I ask you now to read that evidence to this Committee?—Which part of it?

4505. All of it?

Mr. CHAPLEAU—I object, Mr. Chairman. The objection was raised the other day and I think it was left to your decision.

By Mr. Lister :

4506. You refused to let me know what was in the book?—That was subsequent to my being sworn.

4507. You have refused others?—I have.

4508. Mr. Chapleau is the only man you informed of its contents?—The only gentleman, and that was prior to my being sworn.

4509. It was after you knew you were to be heard as witness?—No, it was not. It was when the book was mailed to me from Montreal and before I knew I was to be a witness, when Mr. Urquhart was supposed to be a witness.

4510. But was it after I had been to you to find out if you had the book?—Yes.

4511. Then you told me that you and Mr. Urquhart had been in partnership?—Yes.

4512. And the book was in Montreal?—Yes.

4513. And you gave me the address of Mr. Urquhart?—Yes.

4514. You know I had a subpoena issued for him?—I knew it by the papers.

4515. Then you told me that Mr. Urquhart was very busy but he sent the book up here?—I told you that subsequently.

4516. Then it was after my conversation with you, respecting the production of that book before this Committee, that Mr. Chapleau saw you and ascertained what the evidence was?—I think so.

4517. Is there any doubt about it?—I am not quite sure of it.

4518. You have already stated it was after our conversation?—After the first conversation, certainly.

4519. Where did you show that book to Mr. Chapleau?—In the Senate at the end of the building.

4520. Did he go to your office?—No.

4521. Did you go to his office?—No.

4522. How did you come to show it to him?—I met him in the passage and he spoke to me about it.

4523. What did he say about it?—He asked me if I would read the evidence taken by Mr. J. Brooks Young.

4524. Was that all that he said?—That was all.

4525. Did you refuse to do it?—No, sir.

4526. Then where did you read the evidence to him?—I went to the Speaker's Room, as his foot was bad at the time, and read it there.

4527. You went to your office and got the evidence?—Yes.

4528. And you went from there to the Speaker's Room in the Senate, and read it over to him?—I did.

4529. Is there, or is there not, compromising matter in that evidence relating to Mr. Chapleau?—That is a legal question I am not competent to decide.

4530. It is not a legal question. I ask you again if there is not a statement made by Young, compromising deeply the Honourable Mr. Chapleau, in that testimony?—The evidence is here. If the Committee want it I will read it and let them judge. I am not competent to judge that point.

Mr. LISTER—I ask then that the evidence shall be read before this Committee, as the testimony of a man sworn in Montreal who has given evidence here, exculpating Mr. Chapleau.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4531. You were a stenographer in the case of James Brooks Young against Mr. Berthiaume, and I think the newspaper La Presse?—I was.

4532. Who were counsel in that case?—Mr. Brown, of Chapleau, Hall, Nicolls & Brown, was on one side.

4533. The firm of which I am the senior member?—Of which you are a member.

4534. They were counsel in that case?—Yes.

4535. Do you remember our conversation when I met you, that I told you I had spoken to Mr. Brown about it and wanted to know——?—You did.

4536. That I had spoken to Mr. Brown who was acting as counsel?—Yes.

4537. And I asked you whether you would read that part of the evidence to me and you did?—Yes.

4538. That was all?—That was all. May I make one further remark. Had Mr. Lister at that time, before I was sworn, come to me, and asked the same question I should have unhesitatingly read the same words over to him, but when the question was raised in the Committee and certain members of Parliament came to me afterwards to read it, I declined to do so until the Committee decided whether it was relative or not and to say whether I had to read it.

4539. I never applied to you to read it afterwards?—Never since.

4540. Is there in that suppressed evidence any mention at all of any letter written by Mr. Chapleau to Mr. Young?—Not the slightest.

. Mr. MULOCK—I ask that the evidence be read.

A motion for the evidence to be read was put and defeated.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4541. If I understand rightly this portion of the evidence Mr. Lister has asked you to read was ruled out at the Court in Montreal?—Yes.

4542. Consequently it has not been read to Mr. Young?—No.

4543. And it has not been signed by Mr. Young?—(No answer.)

By Mr. Barron :

4544. These are your shorthand notes?—Yes.

4545. Taken in the case spoken of?—Yes.

4546. In what court?—The Superior Court of Montreal.

4547. Is it a practice in taking evidence in that Court that it is to be written out and then signed by the witness?—It is transcribed by the reporter and signed by him.

4548. By the reporter?—Yes.

4549. And it is signed by the reporter?—Yes.

4550. Certified by the reporter?—Yes.

4551. But is it signed by the witness himself?—No.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4552. Is it read to the witness?—Not in that Court.

By Mr. Taylor :

4553. You were in Court were you?—I was.

4554. You heard the question from lawyer to witness?—I did.

4555. There was a jury empannelled, was there?—No. I do not think it was a jury trial; I think the case was heard before the Judge.

4556. There were several lawyers engaged in it: can you name them?—I remember Mr. Brown.

4557. Mr. Brown who was here?—Yes.

4558. Who else?—Mr. White and Mr. Cornellier.

4559. Have you read the evidence that Mr. Young gave here the other day?—I have not.

4560. You have not read the evidence?—No.

4561. Were you here when he was examined?—No.

4562. And you do not know what Mr. Young said?—No.

4563. Can you corroborate or contradict this evidence?—No. I did not hear it or read it.

Mr. Bowell read the following telegram:—

MONTREAL, 24th September, 1891.

“Hon. Mr. BOWELL, “Minister of Customs.

“Neither my brother, myself, any relative, or connection have now or ever had one dollar's interest in Canada Paper Co.; see my evidence before Public Accounts Committee a fortnight ago.

“RICHARD WHITE.”

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, FRIDAY, 25th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

JOHN R. BARBER re-called, again sworn and further examined:—

By Mr. Mulock:

4564. You are aware of the nature of the dealings between your firm, through Mr. Ellis, yourself, or your traveller, and the Printing Bureau?—Yes, sir.

4565. You have heard of the demands made on your firm from time to time?—Yes.

4566. By Mr. Bronskill?—No, not by Mr. Bronskill.

4567. By whom then?—By Mr. Sénécal.

4568. In connection with the purchase of goods from your firm?—Yes, sir.

4569. Did you ever inform any member of the Government of those demands?—When I was down here some time early this summer. I do not remember the exact date, but, I think, it was the latter part of April, the Honourable Mr. Bowell asked me to go to his room one evening to discuss certain private matters. We sat and talked for an hour and a half and, in the course of conversation, Mr. Bowell said he had heard that Sénécal, the Superintendent of the Printing Bureau had been demanding commissions from people supplying him with goods. I told Mr. Bowell what I stated here yesterday. He said it was the first time he had known it as a positive fact. He was very much annoyed about it, and said he would take steps to have it stopped.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville):

4570. When do you say that was?—I think it was in April.

4571. Last April?—Yes.

By the Chairman:

4572. Was it before the House met?—Yes, the House was not in session at the time.

By Mr. Mulock:

4573. He said to you this was the first positive information he had received?—Yes, he said he had heard reports of that kind but had no information as to the positive fact.

4574. Did he say when he first heard the reports?—No.

By Mr. Chapleau:

4575. That was the latter part of April?—Yes, sir.

4576. You have read the evidence I suppose, given by your partner and your agent here?—Yes, sir.

4577. Had those payments anything to do in any way, and did they influence in any manner the prices paid by the Government for the articles bought from your establishment?—No, for this reason. When we put in our first offer to Senécal he told us that we were tendering against other firms and that we must give the lowest prices for our goods. After we had given the prices he made the demand upon us for 10 per cent. Those prices applied to all subsequent purchases; he never allowed us to advance them. The 10 per cent came straight out of what we would have made. The Government never suffered the loss of $1.

By Mr. Mulock :

4578. Do the prices of such goods change?—Very little. If after our first order we had not sent Mr. Perrott to the old country to get new prices the 10 per cent commission would have taken more than we got on the orders.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4579. Why was it that neither you, your partner or Mr. Perrott ever came and complained to me about that matter?—Well, for this reason; we did not know how serious it was. If Mr. Senécal had only been reprimanded after our complaint, instead of being dismissed, our connection with the Department would have closed; we would not have got any further orders.

4580. Do you think if he had been dismissed your account would have been carried on?—I think so, but not in the event of his only being reprimanded and remaining in charge of the Department.

4581. Did you never think of speaking to the Queen's Printer or to myself about it?—No. The Queen's Printer asked me one day—I think it was at the trial here, something about this. He asked me to tell him something about it. I thought, however, that under the circumstances a man in his position would be better not to know anything about it. I promised to go home and get all the facts and write them to him. That promise I did not keep and I did not intend to keep it.

4582. You were afraid you might lose your orders if you complained about Senécal?—That was it.

By Mr. Mulock :

4583. When was this conversation with Mr. Chamberlin?—About the time I had the conversation with Mr. Bowell.

By Mr. Wood (Brockville) :

4584. When was that conversation with Mr. Bowell?—The last time I was here—in April.

BROWN CHAMBERLIN recalled and further examined :—

By Mr. Mulock :

4585. You have just heard what Mr. Barber has stated?—Yes, sir.

4586. Do you confirm it?—Yes, sir.

4587. You saw Mr. Barber and asked him if he knew anything about Senécal levying commissions?—I asked him if he knew of any exactions by Senécal?

4588. Why did you see him?—Because it was in the air. It was going about, and as a result I tried to do my duty and get at the facts of the case. In every instance I was baffled as in the case of Mr. Barber.

4589. When did you hear that these rumours were in the air?—Some months before that.

4590. Do you know the first person who gave you that impression?—I cannot say.

4591. Can you give the name of any person who so informed you?—No; I really could not. It was mere street gossip. One or two friends of mine—I cannot recall their names now—said to me, "Are you allowing Senécal to do these things?" I tried to find out if there was anything in this gossip, but my efforts turned out a failure. I spoke about it to several people with whom the Department had dealings; they always denied it point blank; in fact some of them swore about it.

4592. How long had you been trying to find out before you applied to Mr. Barber?—I could not say; maybe two or three months.

4593. But it was in the air?—It was in the air? These rumours were reaching me and distressing me very much, but I tried honestly to get at the bottom of the thing. I was baffled in every case in the same way as I was by Mr. Barber.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4594. Is it not a fact, Mr. Chamberlin, that I told you, if possible, to find out from any of those supplying the Department with goods if these reports were true? Yes, you gave me instructions so to ascertain.

4595. And the first opportunity when you saw Mr. Barber, you did ask him?—That was one case, but I asked others. For instance, I asked the agent of the Potter Press Co., and he said: "It is a damned lie; he never got a copper." That is the way I was met.

By Mr. Mulock :

4596. Then, you had conversations with Mr. Chapleau, the Secretary of State, in regard to these practices?—No doubt I had, because I am talking with him every day or two.

4597. These conversations were before the interview with Mr. Barber, last April?—I think they were.

By Mr. Somerville :

4598. Had you any conversation with Mr. Senécal about the matter?—Yes.

4599. What was the result of that conversation?—I said to him: "I have heard this gossip. Now, Mr. Senécal, whatever commercial people may do, a civil servant in taking a commission is a dead man officially. Put that down in your book."

4600. What reply did he make to that?—He said, "Bosh", and he went away.

4601. He denied it?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4602. Do you remember when I spoke to you and asked you to investigate this matter that you had mentioned to me, the only instance where Senécal said something had been given to him, viz., that he had borrowed a couple of hundred dollars from Mr. Crossby, when he was removing his family to Ottawa, he not having any money of his own and not receiving any indemnity for removal expenses?—I do not know anything about that. I know, however, that Crossby and he were on such terms which would not render a transaction of that kind unlikely, but I do not know whether it was the case or not.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—Mr. Chairman, I wish to make a statement which I desire the shorthand writers to take down. The first time mention was made of the New England Paper Co.'s suit, I stated here that I did not know about the suit except from the time it had been mentioned here. I did not know that there was an action—so little do I belong to the firm of which I am the senior partner, that I did not know the action was taken. When mention was made, I said, I did not think that it had any relation to the matters before a committee of this kind—before the Committee on Public Accounts, unless I was myself to be en cause and accused, which would be a different proceeding from the proceedings of the Committee on Public Accounts. But I come to the question before us. At the time the witnesses were asked what had been said in that cause, what had been proved in that cause, a statement was made a couple of times by Mr. Lister here, that he could by the proceedings taken, before the Court, by the evidence which had been given, by the depositions which he asked the clerk to produce, show that I had done something which compromised me as a Minister. The statement that is now asked to be given by Mr. Holland as part of the stenographer's notes of the Superior Court of Montreal, which relates to evidence the Judge declared to be out of the case and ordered to be struck out. Mr. Lister declared that he could put on proof that I had given consent, for my personal benefit, to an agreement which had been made by Mr. Young in the contract between him and Mr. Berthiaume. I repudiate the statement that anything of the kind has been done. I did not know what had been proved in the case, but I was sure that it could not be possible, unless perjury had been committed, for any such statement to have been made. Immediately after Mr. Lister had made that declaration I telegraphed and sent for my partner, Mr. Brown, the counsel in the suit for Mr. Young. He came here and I asked him questions with reference to the case. He told me that during the investigation that was made, Mr. Young was examined and stated that he had a conversation with Mr. Berthiaume, in which Mr. Berthiaume had told him—I do not know for what purpose—that he could get the contracts from the Government for Mr. Young; he, Mr. Young, said to him that the profits would be shared and that I (Mr. Chapleau) would have nothing to pay for the notes which had been given to the New England Paper Company. I immediately asked Mr. Brown “How can that be” because I had nothing to do with the notes except as an endorser. “That must have been a mistake in Mr. Young’s evidence” answered Mr. Brown, “as I am sure he could not mean that, by what I know of the case.” My agreement with Mr. Berthiaume was simply a lease by which I received 5 per cent on the money I invested in the paper. Mr. Berthiaume being completely the proprietor of the paper, when he paid the amount stipulated in the deed of agreement between himself and me. Under that deed which is produced here, and which I asked myself to be produced, Mr. Berthiaume being the proprietor, I had nothing to do with the notes that he promised to pay beyond being as I have said, the endorser. I am not under any agreement as regards the notes to the New England Paper Company, nor any responsibility beyond that of an endorser. I only undertook to allow my name to appear on the notes as having acquired the property which was formerly held by Wurtele and Nantel. Mr. Brown told me that the evidence was given in a desultory manner and the Judge thought that it was not evidence. It was given as a conversation which took place between Mr. Berthiaume and Mr. Young, that if this agreement were carried out I would not have to pay these notes. I had not, and have not, to pay these notes. They are not my engagement, they are the engagement of a man who is perfectly solvent, who is perfectly able to pay them himself. I asked him if he remembered what was said and he told me exactly as I have given it. He told me what he told before this Committee that there was no engagement, no recognizance, no right, no compact or agreement under which I could be held responsible, and any agreement between these parties was a matter that I had nothing to do with. After that I asked Mr. Brown whether I could get the stenographer’s notes, and I may say that being a responsible member of the firm which had charge of the conduct of this case, I had a perfect right to see those notes. I asked him as I have said, if he could show me his notes, and he said “You might ask Mr. Holland.” Mr. Holland was the stenographer at the trial. I saw Mr. Holland and had a conversation with him about the matter before he was called as a witness. Mr. Holland told me that he had not then the notes, but afterwards, he said he had received the book from Mr. Urquhart from Montreal, which contained the part of the evidence in question. I told him I would like to see that evidence. Mr. Holland came to me subsequently and told me what the notes and evidence was. I may say that I objected to the evidence being put before the Committee here, not because I knew what the evidence was, as that evidence added nothing to what we knew before, but I objected, as I stated before, upon the question of principle—that we were opening the door to things that might bring prejudice and injustice to parties in the future. I was not speaking for myself. I spoke as well for one side of the House as the other. I think it was not just, I think it was not legal, I think it was against all rules of evidence, all rules of justice, Mr. Chairman, that a matter of this kind should be gone into, without a declaration having been made by the member from his seat in the House. This is obviously what should have been done according to Parliamentary usage. The honourable member ought to have made in the House the charge which he has preferred and ask for an investigation. I think myself that before prosecuting such an investigation in which it was sought to find a Minister connected with some corrupt act, it was the duty of the member of this Committee to bring the matter before the House in a formal declaration, and say that he has credible information that the minister has committed an act for which he should be either censured or punished by the House. When I heard of this matter of notes of evidence ruled out by the Court from Mr. Lister, I knew that he could not prove that Mr. Young had stated that he held a private letter that Mr. Chapleau conformed to the terms of the agreement. I say that when this statement was made, the gentleman who made it is bound in honour to prove it or lose his seat. When I heard the statement I knew that there was nothing to prove it. When Sir Richard Cartwright was here he said, "You have no right to prevent the production of these notes, because the question has been raised that there is a letter connecting you personally with an agreement that has been referred to." I said, "Sir Richard, there is no such letter," I knew that there was not such a letter, I knew that it could not be produced, I knew that it had never been written. As regards the declaration in the evidence which I say was desultory evidence, which was not before the court properly, there had been no cross-examination upon the evidence, there has been no opportunity given for the witness to say that he had made a mistake. I knew that, but I say now I have no objection to put before you the whole of the notes relating to this part. You will have Mr. Holland's notes, but I want to put them in voluntarily, I do not want the rules of evidence, the rules of justice, to be compromised by deliberations, by investigations, which are not regular. When I declined to allow the production of the notes, I stated that I was prepared before the House was closed to produce that evidence, to make a statement, and here it is. I wish again to say that in the examination I wanted of Mr. Young, where this question arises that part of the evidence has been struck out by the judge.

EXHIBIT No. 18.

"Q. As a matter of fact was there any contract with the Government?—A. There was.

"Q. What did it amount to?

Objected to as going outside of the pleading, as thoroughly irrelevant, and not being within the limit of the pleading.

Objection reserved.

A. As I remember the sale to the Government was about $1,000, the profit on which was very small.

"Q. What was the amount of the profit?—A. I do not remember. I should say in the neighbourhood of $100. At any rate there was a mistake about it. The mistake came about in this way—I will have to explain. We understood when we took this paper that we were to receive orders from the Government through Mr. Chapleau for paper in his department, of which one half the profit should go to pay the ten per cent on these notes. In that way Mr. Chapleau would not have to put his hand in his pocket to take money out, but it would be applied on this paper and his indebtedness would be cancelled without any expense to him. That was the understanding when the contract was entered into. The first order was about $1,000, or something like that, and the price—

"Q. I want to know about the profit?—A. In asking that question there is something beyond it and I would have to tell it in order to answer that question properly.

"Q. I ask you what is the amount of the profit you realized?—A. About $100."

Mr. Chairman, this is the whole of the evidence, which, according to Mr. Lister, was a terrible document, which proved that I had written, that I had consented, that I had agreed, that I had given a letter, confirming the agreement which both of the parties to the agreement—both Mr. Young and Mr. Berthiaume—have stated I did not know a word about.

GEORGE HOLLAND re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Mulock :

4603. Is this your handwriting (handing to witness the statement read by Mr. Chapleau, marked Exhibit No. 18) ?—It is.

4604. It is taken from the notes you produce ?—It is taken from the shorthand notes, but the portion which was struck out is from “objection reserved” down to the answer “about $100.”

4605. How long did the taking of Young’s evidence occupy ?—Part of a couple of days.

By Mr. Tarte :

4606. Part of a couple of days ?—Part of one day and part of another.

By Mr. Mulock :

4607. This is a true copy of a portion of Mr. Young’s evidence taken in the case of the New England Company vs. Berthiaume which you took down as shorthand writer ?—It is the portion of a statement which was declared not to be evidence and which I was ordered to strike out.

4608. As irrelevant ?—As irrelevant to the case, and the only portion.

4609. When was that trial ?—I think it was in January or February last.

4610. The spring of 1891 ?—Last spring.

4611. And it was evidence given by Mr. J. Brooks Young under oath in that case.—Yes, sir.

4612. In the presence of the court and counsel on both sides ?—Yes; and, I think, a jury. I thought yesterday it was not. It was heard on February 2nd, 1891. I might say that the deposition is a very long one, and it would take more time than I have at my disposal now, and do my duty to the Senate, than I can afford. There is a certified copy of it in the Prothonotary’s office, Montreal.

By Mr. Mulock :

4613. You certified to it ?—Yes.

4614. The copy in the Prothonotary’s office is a complete copy of everything except this portion taken out ?—Except the portion which appears on this page.

4615. Can we tell from the copy with the Prothonotary where this portion of the evidence goes in ?—Yes. It is immediately after the commencement of the cross-examination of the witness.

4616. Absolutely at the commencement ?—Not absolutely. The first is: “What was the amount of the profit?” and the last: “About $100.”

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

4617. That was all that was struck out ?—That was all that was struck out.

By Mr. Mulock :

4618. When did you make this copy ?—I made it some days ago.

4619. What did you do with it ?—I kept it in my own office.

4620. When did you part with it ?—I parted with it last night.

4621. To Mr. Chapleau ?—To Mr. Chapleau.

Mr. FOSTER filed the following agreement :—

(Translation.)

EXHIBIT No. 19.

“ In the year 1889, on the 19th day of November.

“ Before Henri P. Pepin, Notary Public for the Province of Quebec, residing in the City and District of Montreal, the undersigned, “ Came and appeared:

“ “ La Compagnie d’Imprimerie et de Publication de Montréal, a corporate body having its place of business in the City of Montreal, acting through Honourable Joseph Alderic Ouimet, of Montreal, its Vice-President.

“ Who doth presently lease unto Mr. Trefflé Berthiaume, Printer, of the City of Montreal, consenting lessee, the newspaper La Presse, for ten years, reckoning from this day.

“ This lease is made for the price of $718 a year, payable quarterly in sums of $180, the first payment to be made on the 21st February next.

“ The said rent represents the interest on disbursements made and to be made by Hon. Mr. Chapleau, on account of La Presse, to wit :

“ To Mr. R. White, $500; to T. Berthiaume, $5,000; to Mr. W. E. Blumhardt, $5,314.04; to A. C. Wurtele, $1,000; sundry amounts for interest, $550; and to G. A. Nantel, $2,000, making in all $14,364.04.

“ The said rent shall be payable, and the lessee binds himself to pay the same, to the credit of the lessor, unto Hon. Joseph Adolphe Chapleau, hereunto agreeing, the lessor substituting its said assignee as creditor of the said rent.

“ The lessee binds himself to pay, in conformity with the arrangements made between the New England Paper Company and the said Berthiaume, the five notes given to the said New England Paper Company endorsed by Hon. J. A. Chapleau, the latter to continue to endorse the renewals of the said notes until full payment, to the amount in all of nine thousand and forty dollars and twenty-two cents, and the said lessee shall become the creditor of the lessor for so much in capital and interest, if the company shall afterwards resume possession of the newspaper.

“ The lessee shall continue to supply the newspaper to all the present subscribers who have paid their subscriptions in advance, until the expiration of the period for which subscription has been paid, without recourse against the leasing company for the proportion of subscription to run.

“ The lessee shall also carry out the now existing advertising contracts, in accordance with the conditions entered into with the advertisers, and all other existing contracts.

“ The leasing company binds itself in the event of the cancelling of this lease :

“ 1. To take back, at the same price which the lessee shall have paid therefor, the plant of the said newspaper;

“ 2. To continue to supply the said newspaper to all subscribers having then paid their subscriptions in advance;

“ 3. To execute and continue to execute the advertising contracts on the conditions entered into with the advertisers, as well as all other then existing contracts, without any further recourse against the lessee for subscriptions or the insertion of advertisements paid for in advance.

“ The newspaper, while retaining its political character, shall, as far as possible, avoid purely political polemics, but this limitation shall be determined exclusively by the person having the political direction of the paper.

“ The political director shall be appointed by the company yearly for the term of one year.

“ The political director may cause to be inserted in the paper any political article he thinks proper, and may require the removal of any of the political editors of the paper who shall refuse to submit to his control.

“ The present political editor, Mr. G. Alphonse Nantel, shall retain his position, at a salary of $1,500 a year, payable monthly, and should Mr. Nantel withdraw from the editorship of the paper owing to disagreement with the lessee thereof, or of his own will, the new political editor shall be appointed, with at least the same salary, by the political director.

“ It is stipulated and agreed that all damages resulting from actions for libel or defamation against the said paper shall be met by the company granting this lease, if such libels arise from articles authorized by the political editors or directors of the paper; and if, on the contrary, such libels arise from any other publications in the paper, such damages shall be met by the lessee.

“ The lessee shall be entitled to collect for his own benefit arrears due to La Presse for subscriptions, advertisements and otherwise, and to the free use of the furniture and other accessories of the said paper; but should this lease expire or be cancelled, the lessee shall be bound to leave in his books an amount of good debts equal to what he shall have collected out of such arrears, and shall keep, for that purpose, a book showing the proportion of the collections belonging to La Presse, and shall make a report of such collections every three months.

"The lessee shall pay out of the said collections the current accounts now due by La Presse, such as rent, taxes and gas; the lessor binding itself jointly with the Hon. J. A. Chapleau to settle all other claims against La Presse, in such wise that the said lessee shall never be troubled respecting the said claims.

"On reimbursement of the sum of $14,364.04, the lessor (the company) binds itself to sign a transfer of all its rights in the property of the said newspaper La Presse, and of the whole of the paid-up stock of the said company, in favour of the said lessee or his representatives, at any time during the term of the said lease.

"The newspaper shall contain an average of twelve columns of editorial matter, news, despatches, maritime and commercial bulletins or special articles.

"Whereof Act, executed at the City of Montreal, under number 11598.

"And the parties appearing have duly signed after reading.

"H. P. PEPIN, N. P.

Mr. CHAPLEAU—I would like to produce before the Committee the statement of Mr. McElroy, of Potter & Co., the only part of importance being an appreciation of the presses supplied by that company to the Government. I want to produce this declaration, because in it Mr. McElroy states the reasons why he cannot be here.

The CHAIRMAN read the letter in question to the Committee.

Mr. SOMERVILLE objected to the statement being filed, not being under oath.

The CHAIRMAN—I have already ruled that all papers are admissible as exhibits if relevant to the question.

BROWN CHAMBERLIN recalled and further examined:—

By Mr. Chapleau:

4622. I wish to ask you a question, first in relation to what you said a moment ago and which I think has not been well understood by some members of the Committee, because, if I am not mistaken, it has been stated that you said something which you did not say. When you said that in the month of April you mentioned about the rumours, it was said you had mentioned to me certain special facts. Did you do that?—No, sir; I spoke of the rumours on the street, here and there, and everywhere. I was trying to get at the facts, and failed.

4623. What did I tell you when you told me that?—I did not charge my memory with that. It was something to the effect that the thing must be looked into.

4624. You are the first officer of the Department. Will you produce the letter from Mr. McElroy—you know his signature from seeing it often in the Department?—Yes. It is the letter that has already been read:—

EXHIBIT No. 20.

"MONTREAL, 18th September, 1891.

"Hon. J. A. CHAPLEAU,

"Secretary of State, Ottawa.

"DEAR SIR,—My attention has been called to the evidence given at Ottawa by Mr. William Meek, an agent for the Babcock presses, in which he declares he could have put in superior presses to those made by C. Potter, Jr., & Co., of New York, now in the Government Printing Bureau at Ottawa, for considerable less money. I declare this an utter impossibility, for the Babcock Company do not and cannot make a press equal to the Potter, and could not supply sixteen presses like those for double the money. The machines in the Government Printing Bureau are the finest our house has ever made—in fact were specially made to order, and could not be sold for a less price than was charged for them. The Government have more than value for the money paid us. We take special pride in those machines, and would be glad to have them inspected by a disinterested practical man.

“I regret very much that I cannot attend the meeting of your Public Accounts Committee, as besides a serious family affliction, I am due at Washington on the 22nd instant, to see to the erection of four more of our presses in the Government Printing Bureau there.

“Yours respectfully,

“THOS. McELROY,

“Agent, C. Potter, Jr., & Co., New York.

“Witness—P. A. CROSSBY.”

By Mr. Somerville :

4625. Have you the letter that brought that ?

MR. CHAPLEAU.—It was in answer to a telegram that I sent.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4626. Will you also produce before the Committee two statements of inspection of the Department that were made and given to you?—Here is a statement of the inspection of the office, signed by Messrs Lovell, G. B. Burland, and Shepard of the Mail :—

EXHIBIT No. 21.

“The undersigned having, at the request of the Honourable the Secretary of State, visited and inspected the Government Printing Office, Bindery and Stationery Office in this city, feel it a duty to state :—

“1. That the offices are well planned and adapted for the purposes for which they were established ;

“2. That it has been furnished with proper plant for the purpose of executing the Government work ;

“3. That the plant, materials and fittings are all thoroughly good, in so far as we were enabled to judge of them ;

“4. That the system of management, in so far as we could gather from our inspection, seems to be excellent. We were glad to learn that the prevailing opinion that men were employed, not because of their fitness, but on account of mere political favour, is not correct. The practice is to allow the Superintendent to employ and dismiss his own men under certain reasonable restrictions.

“It might be urged that the fittings and appurtenances are finer than are absolutely necessary for the execution of the work ; but this being designed to be a first-class office, having all modern improvements, we think the outlay has been justified.

“An objection having been taken to the over-purchase of plant and material, we wish to say that the large quantities of type and other material, from time to time either actually locked up or held in reserve for the needs of the Government, justify this in great measure, if not altogether. A reserve of 20 per cent in an establishment like this is by no means excessive.

“As to prices paid, so far as we have learned, they have been with few exceptions, such as fair, average tradesmen would pay for the same plant.

“JOHN LOVELL.

“G. B. BURLAND.

“W. A. SHEPARD.

“OTTAWA, 17th September, 1891.”

There is another statement from Mr. Bingham, of Bingham & Webber, a well known printer and a very clever one I believe, to the same effect:—

EXHIBIT No. 22.

“The undersigned, having at the request of the Honourable Secretary of State, visited and inspected the Government Printing Office, Bindery and Stationery Office in this city, feels it a duty to state:—

“1. That the offices are well planned and adapted for the purposes for which they were established;

“2. That it has been furnished with proper plant for the purpose of executing the Government work;

“3. That the plant, materials and fittings are all thoroughly good, in so far as I was enabled to judge of them;

“4. It might be urged that the fittings and appurtenances are finer than are absolutely necessary for the execution of the work, but this being designed to be a first-class office, having all modern improvements, I think the outlay has been justified;

“5. An objection having been taken to the over-purchase of plant and material, I wish to say that the large quantities of type and other material, from time to time either actually locked up or held in reserve for the needs of the Government, justify this in a great measure, if not altogether. This reserve in an establishment like this I do not think is excessive.

“6. As to prices paid for presses, and for body type, such as minion, brevier, long primer and small pica, and other prices that came under my notice, I think said prices are fair, and average tradesmen would pay about the same for them.

“7. In investigating salaries paid to foremen, assistant foremen and workmen of the several departments, I think the rates are very just, both to the workmen and to the Government.

“CHARLES D. BINGHAM,

“Toronto.

“OTTAWA, 19th September, 1891.

Here is a report from the Accountant of the Department, showing the result of the operations of the Department in August as against the old contract system.

4627. How does it compare? Will you give the figures, and read his letter in connection therewith?

His letter and statement are as follows:—

4628. Are not these reports signed by the gentlemen who examined the establishment with Mr. Lovell, who was sworn here?—Yes.

4629. Did they go and make the examination together and sign the report?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville:

4630. Are not some of these men who signed the report applicants for the position of Superintendent of the Printing Bureau?—No.

Mr. Mulock objected to these statements being put in in the absence of the witnesses.

4631. Have you a statement of what the Canada Gazette cost between this year and another year?—This statement shows that in 1878 and 1879 there was a very large loss on the Canada Gazette, while in 1888 and 1889 we succeeded in getting the balance on the other side:

4632. When did you last see Mr. McElroy, of the Potter Company?—I really cannot at the present moment undertake to say.

4633. Was it last winter?—My impression is that it was pretty early in the spring.

4634. Of this year?—Yes; I think so.

4635. In Ottawa?—I am pretty sure it was not winter.

4636. It may have been last fall or this spring?—Yes.

4637. Do you remember the occasion on which you saw him? Was it at the establishment?—He was up doing some work or repairs, I think. My impression is that it was early this spring.

4638. Have you anything that can make you sure as to that?—I think very likely there may be some charges in the books of the Department that would show when he was here.

4639. It was when he was up here doing some work?—He was doing some work for us and doing some odd jobs for others. He came in to see how the presses were getting along and have some talk with us.

4640. It was in your office that you had a conversation with him?—No; it was on the street. I wanted to talk to him in a quiet way.

4641. Unofficially?—Yes.

4642. Off duty?—I wanted to get him off his guard and get information.

4643. I would like you to look in your books and get the data which would enable you to fix the date of that conversation?—I shall endeavour to do so.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

4644. I notice in this statement you put in showing that the Canada Gazette from the financial aspect has been improved. I see it shows that the receipts were $992.32 and expenses $3,612.82 in 1878-79, whereas the receipts last year were $4,946.00 and the expenditure $4,846.62. That is financially pleasing. The object of putting this in is to show that the work was done more economically than previously; but the Committee will observe that the beneficial results did not come from economy, but from increase of receipts. How do you account for the increased receipts?—In a variety of ways. It is principally from the fact that we have large commercial enterprises going on, the incorporation of firms, and applications being made to Parliament and the Government. The advertising has gone up.

4645. Was there a larger issue of the Canada Gazette in 1888-89 than in 1878-79?—Somewhat larger.

4646. Then it would cost you more to get it out?—Certainly, and to print. The advertising cost something also.

4647. There is $1,200 difference in the expenditure of those two years?—Yes.

4648. That would be a fair increase?—Well, it would not be very much more. I think.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4649. Have we not in a large degree decreased the cost of printing and of paper in the publication of the Canada Gazette?—I cannot say that we have decreased the cost of printing, but I think we get the paper cheaper and a good deal better.

By Mr. Somerville :

4650. That is because the price of paper has gone down all over the world?—Possibly.

4651. And they make a better quality of paper now?—Certainly.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4652. Do we not produce cheaper work by the change we have made in the Department, taking into comparison the difference of the prices now and in 1878-79?—I think, sir, that we pay now for the same grade of paper a good deal less than we could have got it for then. One grade that we used to pay from 11 to 13 cents for, we pay 8 cents or a little below that now. I do not think we can take the whole credit to ourselves, because paper has gone down in the market everywhere; but while making judicious purchases and doing our best, I could not say the whole credit is due to our management.

4653. (Handing certain documents to witness). These letters are part of the correspondence of the Department that you have given me. I produce them because an effort has been made to establish that I did not take the trouble of ascertaining prices, but that everything was left to the Superintendent of the Printing Bureau. I want to disprove that by these documents, and second, to prove, which is more essential and more important, that when Mr. Scott was examined here and when he stated that the type was not delivered to the Department here until after a cheque had been given to the Conservative Association that he swore something which was untrue. Afterwards he said he had not seen any letter of that kind. I want to prove by the second letter there, and by subsequent correspondence, that the type was ordered and received, several days—two or three weeks—before the cheque was issued, and of which I had not any knowledge. I want to show that the delay which was caused was not to try to get subscriptions for the Conservative Association, but because we had no place to put the type. What are those letters which I now hand you?—I am producing from the files of the Department a letter transferred to it from Mr. Romaine—a copy of which he kept on file—that was sent to Mr. Crossby, giving the original order for the type for the Voters' Lists and showing that Mr. Sénécal had not the order in the first place, but it was done on the recommendation of Mr. Romaine, an officer of the House of Commons.

4654. Will you read it?

EXHIBIT No. 25.

OTTAWA, 29th October, 1887.

"MY DEAR MR. CROSSBY—By order of the Secretary of State, I am instructed to procure an estimate of the amount required to keep standing in form, the whole of the list of voters for the Dominion elections. There are about 1,000,000 names, divided into 5,000 forms, of an average of 200 names in each form. The prices must be bottom prices for such large quantities, and to be definite, as no alteration as to the amount to be paid for the whole contract will be hereafter entertained. It will be absolutely necessary that a definite time be named by you for delivery of all the material without fail.

"It is thought best to have the first 'set up' at the foundry, in order to dispose of surplus sorts and prepare sorts that will be 'run on.' There will be 5,000 forms similar to the one sent herewith.

"Please to forward me a reply as soon as possible, as I have to present the estimate next week.

"The enclosed is the list of material required.

"Yours truly,

(Signed) "ROBERT ROMAINE."

"If you can spare me, please send me the latest specimen book and price list."

4655. Now, the next letter?—The next one is addressed to Mr. Sénécal from Mr. R. G. Starke, vice-president of the Dominion Type Founding Co.

EXHIBIT No. 26.

"MONTREAL, 7th March, 1888.

"DEAR SIR,—I have your favour of March 6th referring to electrotypes for voters' list. It is true that we have no order from you for them in official form, only the memo given by you on a copy of voters' list in common with fonts wanted for the heading and references in correspondence. About the price—far from fixing a price for you, we fixed one as our price, viz.: the lowest at which we would make them.

"However, as there is a misunderstanding as to the electrotypes being ordered from us we are willing that you should return those shipped and will deduct them from invoice.

"In answer to your enquiry 'Who gave you the order to send the 1,140 lbs. Nonpareil and 1,225 lbs. Small Pica?' We have to say that our authority is in writing from the Secretary of State, dated December 23rd, 1887, and which is as follows:—

"Please have the following quantities of type cast for the Government Printing Bureau to be delivered at Ottawa by August, next year (1888) and sooner if possible.

5,000 lbs. Nonpareil No. 3.

15,000 " Minion No. 3.

10,000 " Long Primer No. 7.

20,000 " Small Pica No. 4.

3,000 " Bourgeois No. 8."

"Your order of July 28th merely states 'to be delivered at Ottawa by August next year (1888.)'

" We regret that you should find any difficulty in storing the material, but we have felt most anxious to fill all orders in our hands for the Government, as early as possible, agreeable as we conceived to instructions.

" We are pushing your Minion order through with all despatch and have shipped a large quantity to-day, and hope to keep you well supplied, even beyond our promise as to time.

" Please say how we are to consider your order to our Mr. Cummings for quotations? and oblige

" Yours truly,

" R. G. STARKE,
" Vice-President.

" Mr. ANDRÉ SENÉCAL,

" Superintendent Government Printing Bureau,
" Ottawa."

I may explain that there was a good deal of difficulty because the work of building the Bureau went on very slowly; it lingered very long, and we had to get storage outside for a good deal of the material that came in.

By Mr. Somerville :

4656. You say that this comparative statement which you have presented to the Committee, shows that the Department turns out work at a cheaper rate than it was done by the contractor?—Taking the printing and binding together, I think there is no doubt about that. I have not studied the figures myself directly, because the statement was prepared in a hurry by Mr. Gliddon, but I know, in conversation with him, that the instructions he received from the Secretary of State were to make a complete comparative statement for several years. That would include hundreds of thousands of small items of 10 cents, 20 cents or 40 cents, and the labour of totalling them would be immense.

4657. You remember that a statement was made. No doubt you have read it in the Report to the House made by the Minister of the Interior, two years ago, with regard to the printing of the Geological Report. He said the reason he got it printed in Montreal was, that he could get it done cheaper there than in the Printing Bureau?—He may have said so.

4658. Do you remember reading that?—I know that there was a dispute then and that the officers were opposed to doing the work, but since then the arrangements have been altered.

4659. Did Mr. Dewdney make such a statement?—Quite possibly. I was going to say, that if these small items were eliminated, that Mr. Gliddon makes a statement about the average; he took all the leading items, and that is the only way he could do it. It would be better, however, to have Mr. Gliddon here to tell you how the calculation was made.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4660. The order referred to in the letter to Mr. Starke is the order of which you have a copy there from him, and that he says was the order of the 23rd December?—I suppose it is.

4661. Will you take the letter and compare it with the order?—Yes, the figures are the same.

4662. I want to ask you whether the voters' lists that are now being prepared for the revising officers—the greater part of the supplementary lists—are being printed outside in the various offices in the country?—Yes, sir.

4663. I want to ask you if there was one contract or several contracts made for supplying type for the printing of the voters lists?—My impression is that the great bulk if not the whole of it came from Miller & Richards. That may have been used for the preliminary lists.

4664. Are you not aware that type for the voters lists was obtained from the different manufacturers?—Oh yes, but that was for the preliminary work.

4665. That you did not have one definite contract for such type but two or perhaps more?—Only two that I am aware of. Miller & Richards and the Dominion Type Foundry in Montreal.

4666. In the last letter you read from Mr. Starke there is a reference to an order from the Secretary of State. Have you got that order here or a copy of it?—That was a copy of it in the letter—in the document—that has been read.

4667. This order has been referred to in the communication from Mr. Starke? Now look at it and see if you are right?—Yes, sir.

4668. That is the order (see exhibit No. 27.) That is the communication from the Secretary of State?—Yes.

4669. That is the copy referred to in the letter of Mr. Starke?—Yes.

GEORGE COX recalled, again sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Mulock :

4670. Mr. Cox, you reside in the City of Ottawa?—Yes.

4671. And you are the same George Cox who gave evidence before this Committee on a former occasion?—Yes.

4672. You are the president of the Ottawa Conservative Association?—Yes, sir.

4673. You spoke at your last examination of having seen Sir John Macdonald in regard to the doings in the Printing Bureau. Do you remember when that was?—I spoke of calling on Sir John Macdonald about some private matters and incidentally mentioned this.

4674. Can you fix the date?—I cannot.

4675. Can you fix the year?—It was about this time last year, I think. I went to see him about a private matter, I do not remember much about it.

4676. What did you tell Sir John Macdonald?—I cannot tell you.

4677. Did you refer to the Printing Bureau?—I did.

4678. In what sense did you refer to the Printing Bureau?—I told him of rumours that were in circulation on the street about commissions being demanded by the heads of the department.

4679. What answer did you receive?—I cannot remember whether he gave me any answer or not.

4680. Did you have any subsequent conversation with him?—Not upon that question.

4681. Did you afterwards have conversation on the subject?—Not that I remember.

4682. Did he tell you at any time that he would inquire into the matter?—I do not remember that he did.

4683. Do you remember any other occasion when you conversed with him on the subject?—I cannot place it.

4684. Do you remember it without placing it?—No, when I say that I cannot place it, I mean that I do not remember any conversation.

4685. Do you know when Mr. Chapleau first learned of the irregularities?—I do not know.

4686. Do you know whether he has any knowledge at all?—I do not.

4687. Do you know when he had any knowledge?—I do not.

4688. Did you ever mention that he had knowledge?—I did not. I could not possibly have done so.

4689. You never knew whether Mr. Chapleau had notice of what was going on or not?—No.

4690. Do you remember Sir John Macdonald telling you that he would inquire into these matters?—I do not.

4691. What answer did he make when you told him what you had heard?—I do not remember. I was talking to him about private matters and in the course of conversation I told him about this matter that was being talked of on the street.

4692. You do not remember what he said?—I do not remember his exact words.

4693. I do not want his exact words. You can tell me the effect of what he said?—I cannot do so now. I do not want to say things which might prejudice other persons. I have only an indistinct recollection of the matter, and what I say might be prejudicial to some one. I might tell you what might not be positively true, it is so long back. I cannot tell it.

4694. No one has questioned your bona fides and we all know that you are not a willing witness?—I might tell what I believe to be the whole truth, but which might not be absolutely the truth. I really do not remember. The only thing I remember as I said before, was having told him about the rumours that were being circulated.

4695. You remember having the conversation with Sir John Macdonald?—Yes, sir.

4696. And you remember telling him that there were irregularities?—I do. I wish that to be distinctly understood. I told him that there were irregularities.

4697. You knew that there were rumours about irregularities?—I warned Sir John Macdonald, and I could not warn him of something that I did not know.

4698. You heard the rumours?—Yes, sir.

4699. What was your information?—I have just told you that Senécal and Bronskill were in the habit of demanding commissions from firms who dealt with the Government.

4700. You heard that?—I did.

4701. And you told that to Sir John Macdonald?—Yes, sir.

4702. Did Sir John Macdonald make any comment upon that?—No particular comment that I remember.

4703. No comment of any kind?—Not that I remember.

4704. Did he make any kind of observation?—Not that I remember.

4705. Did he appear to be surprised?—I think he did.

4706. What did he say that made you think he was surprised?—He said "Is it possible." Some such remark as that.

4707. Was that all he said?—That is all I remember being said.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4708. You were here before?—I was.

4709. The very same questions were then put to you?—Yes, sir. I may say, if it was not out of deference to the Chairman, I would not have come here again. I think it is treating a British subject very unfairly to require him to come up here and dance attendance on this Committee, and answer the same questions time after time.

Mr. Bowell stated, that having been detained at the Railway Department, he was not present when Mr. Barber gave evidence. He would ask the stenographer to read his notes.

The stenographer having done so, Mr. Barber was re-called and further examined :

By Mr. Bowell :

4710. You remember where I met you and our conversation?—I think it was in the dining-room of the “Russell.”

4711. I think I asked you how you were getting on with your suit against the Government?—Yes.

4712. I then said there were matters connected with the purchase of supplies for the Stationery Department or Printing Bureau, which I supposed you might have some knowledge of, and which I would like to have a conversation with you about?—Yes.

4713. You then came to my room after dinner. You told me, if I recollect aright, that you had never given Mr. Senécal anything but through your partners?—Yes.

4714. Do you remember my telling you I thought it was your duty under the circumstances, to go and tell Mr. Chapleau as head of the department?—Yes, I think you did, but I answered that question I think to Mr. Chapleau, although it does not appear in the evidence read, that I did not know how strong Mr. Senécal's position was in the department, and I was not prepared to run the risk of losing business with him.

4715. You promised you would take steps to bring it under the notice of the department?—No, sir.

By the Chairman :

4816. Did you give Mr. Bowell to understand you would?—Not at all. I gave him to understand that I would not.

By Mr. Bowell :

4717. And the reason you would not was because you thought it would injure your future purchases?—I did not know whether Mr. Senécal would on my representation be dismissed, and if he was not dismissed my statement that he was levying blackmail would have lost the business with the department.

By Mr. Mulock :

4718. It would prejudice your business?—Yes.

By Mr. Bowell :

4719. I suppose you remember the opinion that I expressed?—You were very much dissatisfied with the answer that I gave.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, MONDAY, 28th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

P. A. CROSSBY re-called, again sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Chapleau :

4720. You have been already examined here?—Yes, sir.

4721. You have seen your depositions which were forwarded to you by the Clerk of the Committee?—I have.

4722. Have you made any corrections of them?—I just read the proofs, that is all.

4723. I think you asked the Secretary of the Committee to fyle a statement which you had written yourself and brought here?—Yes, the statement I brought the day I gave evidence. It is here, they kept it that day.

4724. Do you wish it put in as part of your evidence?—I understood it was to be put in that way. Mr. Lister said to fyle it.

4725. When you left it?—Mr. Lister said to fyle the statement, that is what I remember him telling me, and I left it with the Secretary of the Committee that day.

4726. Mr. Lister consented that it would be fyled?—That is what I say.

4727. Does it add anything to your evidence, or does it make your evidence more clear?—It makes my evidence more clear; it is more complete. It is exactly what was given in the evidence, only more complete.

4728. It is put in better order?—It is a detailed statement of the transactions from the commencement.

4729. You request it should be fyled?—Yes, with all the exhibits and most of the correspondence—they are all connected.

4730. I think you sent this letter I now hold in my hand to the Secretary? Will you look at it please?—That letter forms part of my statement. When I handed in these two letters, if you remember, Mr. Lister said they were not relevant. It was the continuation of my statement, and I put the whole thing in an envelope together, so when I wrote to Mr. Hartney I sent him these.

4731. Will you read the letter you sent to Mr. Hartney?

EXHIBIT No. 28.

“ MONTREAL, 23rd September, 1891.

“ E. P. HARTNEY Esq.,

“ Clerk, Public Accounts Committee, Ottawa.

“ DEAR SIR,—In my letter of the 21st I requested you to publish my statement with my evidence, I meant for you to fyle the same with the cheques and other documents I submitted.

“ Yours truly,

“ P. A. CROSSBY.

Kindly add enclosed to my statement.”

“ MR. CROSSBY'S STATEMENT.

“ Before I read my statement, permit me to say that I did not leave Montreal to evade examination by this Committee as has been cowardly insinuated by a certain class. For several months past I have been expected in Vancouver, where we were establishing a branch of our business. I should have left on the 2nd of August, but it was the 18th before I got away. I carried no documents relating to the Bureau away with me. The statement, if really made, was absurd and contemptible. I arrived in Vancouver on Saturday, the 29th of August, and on Monday received a telegram from my Vice-President, stating that I was summoned to Ottawa and to proceed there immediately. I telegraphed him that I would do so; and also telegraphed your Chairman that I would leave for Ottawa by the next train unless otherwise advised. Your Secretary wired back: 'Committee will issue another summons when they require your attendance. Do not come now.' Notwithstanding this, I left for home, where I arrived on Wednesday last. Was here in answer to your summons last Thursday, and am here to-day to tell you what I know about the transactions of the Dominion Type Founding Company with the Government Printing Bureau and its late Superintendent.

"I have been in the employ of the Dominion Type Founding Company since February, 1874, and its manager since March, 1878. Nationality: English on my father's side, French on my mother's. I have known André Senécal for about 25 years, and we were personal friends. When he was manager of L'Étendard he told me he expected the appointment of Superintendent of Printing, and would remember me and the Dominion Type Foundry as to the supplying of the type, for he knew from reputation that we could fill the order with satisfaction. With this promise in view, and having faith in the Government that if it was true to its National Policy it would not pass the only type foundry in the Dominion, I prepared for the order by arranging for more machinery and more skilled labour.

Senécal's brother has one of the largest printing establishments in Montreal, and has been a customer of our foundry for many years.

On the 15th of July, 1887, I discounted a note of $125 for André Senécal, and on the 28th of the same month he called at the foundry and notified me of his appointment as Superintendent of the Bureau. He asked me for a list of what body type we had furnished the then Government Printing Office of Messrs. MacLean, Roger & Co., and I gave it to him. From this list he made out his order, saying he expected us, if possible, to excel ourselves in the type we gave him. He wrote the order in my office, and I acknowledged it as follows: (This letter is printed on page 154 of the Minutes of Evidence.)

On the 1st of September I discounted another note of Senécal's for $200, to assist him in removing to Ottawa.

Early in December, the late lamented President of my Company, Mr. Alexander Murray, observing a large number of boxes of type being packed in the store-room for the Government, asked me to get him a copy of the Act relating to the Printing Bureau, as he had some misgivings about Senécal's right to order. We were then working day and night and paying out considerable sums of money for wages and metals. Other orders were also being neglected that we might finish this one in the time named.

I got for Mr. Murray a copy of the Act, and, on reading it, he said it was as he had feared—the order was valueless, as it had not been approved by the Minister or his Deputy; and he underlined the words in Clause 4 of Section 5, which reads: "upon requisitions duly approved by the Minister or as he directs." He was angry and took the order away, and I either wrote or telegraphed Senécal about the matter, for I was very much upset. His answer was:

"OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING,

"OTTAWA, December 19th, 1887.

"Confidential.

"P. A. CROSSBY, Esq.,

"Montreal.

"MY DEAR PETER,—I was to go to Montreal Saturday, but I was not well enough to leave that day. My sickness is a lumbago that I am bothered with for the last eight days. I expect to leave Tuesday afternoon. I will telegraph you on that day, if I will leave, for I want you to be at the depot on my arrival. The thing is passed in Council, but not a single word to nobody. Be on your guard.

"Yours truly,

"A. SENÉCAL.

"Not a word, even in the office."

On the 28th of December, Mr. Murray handed me the order for the type, duly approved by the Secretary of State, and charged me to fill no orders for the Bureau of any extent unless approved by the Minister or his Deputy.

This is the original order:

“DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING COMPANY.

“Please have the following quantities of type cast for the Government Printing Bureau, to be delivered at Ottawa by August next year (1888):—

- “ 5,000 lbs. Nonpareil No. 3.
- “ 15,000 “ Minion No. 3.
- “ 10,000 “ Long Primer No. 7.
- “ 20,000 “ Small Pica No. 4.
- “ 3,000 “ Bourgeois No. 8.

“A. SENÉCAL,
“Supt. Printing Bureau.

“Montreal, July 28th, 1887.”

“DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING Co.

“Please have the following quantities of type cast for the Government Printing Bureau, to be delivered at Ottawa by August next year (1888), and sooner if possible:—

- “ 5,000 lbs. Nonpareil No. 3.
- “ 15,000 “ Minion No. 3.
- “ 10,000 “ Long Primer No. 7.
- “ 20,000 “ Small Pica No. 4.
- “ 3,000 “ Bourgeois No. 8.

“J. A. CHAPLEAU,
“Secretary of State.

“Ottawa, December 23rd, 1887.”

When Mr. Murray handed me the order, I suggested to him that we should ask for permission to ship to Ottawa what type we had ready, and get money on account. He approved of my suggestion and wrote:

“DOMINION TYPE FOUNDING Co.,
“MONTREAL, 28th December, 1887.

“DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge having received your order for type dated 23rd inst., and have to thank you on behalf of this company for the same.

“I am advised by the Manager, that we have now boxed and ready, the following quantities, viz. :—

2,222 lbs. Nonpareil, @ 58c.....	$1,288 76
5,638 “ Minion, @ 48c.....	2,706 24
2,217 “ Bourgeois, @ 44c.....	886 80
4,644 “ Long Primer, @ 36c.....	1,671 84
	$6,553 64
10 per cent.....	655 36
	$5,898 28

And I have to ask if it would suit the Department to take delivery of this quantity and make us a payment, say of $5,000 on account. If this can be arranged without inconvenience, it would be an accommodation to the company.

“I have the honour to be,

“Dear sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“(Signed). A. MURRAY.

“Hon. J. A. CHAPLEAU,
“&c., &c., Ottawa.”

“President.”

To this the Queen's Printer replied as follows:—

“ OFFICE OF THE QUEEN'S PRINTER AND CONTROLLER OF STATIONERY,
OTTAWA, 5th January, 1888.

“ SIR,—I am directed by the Honourable the Secretary of State, to request that the type mentioned in your letter, of the 28th ultimo, as manufactured for the Printing Bureau, namely:

“ 2,222 lbs. Nonpareil.

“ 5,638 “ Minion.

“ 2,217 “ Bourgeois.

“ 4,644 “ Long Primer.

be shipped to me, and on receipt of invoice and shipping bill, I shall have pleasure in paying you five thousand dollars on account thereof.

“ I have the honour to be, sir,

“ Your obedient servant,

“ B. CHAMBERLIN,

“ Queen's Printer and Controller of Stationery.

“ The President of,

“ The Dominion Type Foundry Co.,

“ Montreal, Que.”

The type was therefore shipped and $5,000 paid us on account.

On the 12th of January, 1888, Mr. Murray, who permit me to mention was a very prominent liberal in politics, was President of the Canada Shipping Company, President of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, and a Director of the Bank of Montreal, also president and representing three-fourths of the capital in my company, instructed the book-keeper to make out a cheque in the name of François Benoit for fifteen hundred dollars. The cheque was made out signed by R. G. Starke, Vice-President, and P. A. Crosby, Manager, and either that day or the next I personally gave it to Mr. Murray at his office in the Richelieu Company, where I found him in company with the late Captain Labelle. He put the cheque in his pocket and what he did with it, myself, no director, even the Vice-President who signed it, or any officer connected with the foundry can tell. All we know is that it came back in due course endorsed by the said François Benoit, and I was ordered by Mr. Murray to place it in safe keeping.

On the 21st January, I received a letter from the Secretary of State informing us that the department would require 122,000 lbs. of minion, and asking us if we could supply the same and at what price. This is the letter:

“ DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY.
“ OFFICE OF THE QUEEN'S PRINTER AND CONTROLLER OF STATIONERY.
“ OTTAWA, 20th January, 1888.

“ SIR,—The Department of Public Printing will require 122,231 lbs. of minion during the course of the present year.

“ I desire to know whether your establishment can supply us with that quantity of type at the rate of not less than 15,000 lbs. per month, and at what price? If you are able to do it, the order already given to your firm for minion would be merged into the new one.

“ The Superintendent will call at your establishment to be acquainted with your answer.

“ I have the honour to be, Sir,

“ Your obedient servant,

“ J. A. CHAPLEAU,

“ Secretary of State.”

“ The Manager, Dominion Type Founding Co.,
“ Montreal, Que.”

This was a very large order and I knew we could not supply the quantity named per month, and so informed the President. It was arranged with Mr. Senécal that I should go to Philadelphia, and see if, with the assistance of The Mackellar, Smith & Jordan Company, (who would have matched our type as to face and body) we could fill the order, at least to the extent of 10,000 pounds per month. I was successful, and secured the hearty assistance of that great American Type Foundry.

But while I was on this mission other influences were at work, and Mr. Senécal was not so anxious that I should have the whole order. Mr. Beatty and Mr. Patterson had interviewed him. I was called to Ottawa by Mr. Chapleau, with the result that the Dominion Type Foundry was allotted 40,000 pounds of the minion order, and Miller & Richards 80,000 pounds. The argument on behalf of the Scotch agency was that it was more patriotic to get the type made in Scotland than in Philadelphia, notwithstanding that the former would not in any way match any other type in the Bureau. Not only was Miller & Richards given this large order for minion, but about 70,000 feet of brass rule and some thousands of galleys were also ordered through them at their own prices. These goods we manufacture, but we were given the go-by by Senécal for imported articles for which he had to pay higher prices. The National Policy did not trouble him. Our labour was of no account. About this time there appeared an article in the Cornwall Freeholder, which I took occasion to answer as follows:—

“To the Editor.

“SIR,—A few days ago you published a paragraph, either as a sneer at this company or a hit at the Ottawa Government—perhaps a little of both. But if you meant to convey that we could not supply the new Government Printing Bureau, let me comfort you with the assurance that we are actually doing so, and that the whole of the type required will be delivered in advance of the time specified. It is true that in addition to the regular outfit, a very large quantity of minion was required for a special job—the Voters’ Lists—and this we frankly admitted, we could not manufacture the whole of it in the short time allowed, nor could any foundry, but we offered to make more than we got an order for. How this was, and the pressure that was brought to bear to divide the order, we very well understand, and make no complaint.

“You, Mr. Editor, personally may not be aware of the capacity of our foundry, but I have no doubt the late worthy proprietor of the Cornwall Freeholder can give you some information as to our power to fit up a Government or any other kind of a printing office at short notice. I think you owe us this little notice:

“GOVERNMENT PRINTING.—As some guide to the magnitude and importance of the Parliamentary printing for the last session, it may be interesting to know that we (the Dominion Type Foundry) supplied during the winter and spring no less than 33,000 pounds, or over 16½ tons, of new type to the Government printers—Messrs. MacLean, Roger & Co., Ottawa. The whole of the type was cast and finished in our own establishment. As regards its quality, the Ottawa Times said: ‘The contractors for the Government printing and the printing of Parliament, before determining to deal with the Dominion Founding Company, had the quality of their type submitted to the test by experts, with the most satisfactory result; and they have found, in the promptness of delivery, the elegance of face, and the facility with which extra sorts can be obtained, substantial reasons for their belief that the Dominion Type Founding Company can give more complete satisfaction to the trade than can possibly be given by any other founders or dealers in type, whether British or American.’

“As to being highly protected, let me correct you, the duty being but 20 per cent. This is not a protective duty, as we know, and if the bulk of the duties of Canada were no higher than this you would hear little of the combines, and imported sugars and imported cottons would be as common as imported type.

“Yours truly,

“P. A. CROSSBY,

“Manager Dominion Type Founding Co.”

In February, March and April I made further shipments of type to Ottawa, but Senécal began to kick, refused to accept delivery, saying he had no room; but I humored him with a cheque for $200, and a place was very easily found. This was the only cheque signed by the late Mr. Murray, and he was very much annoyed at doing so. He said to me: "Crossby, you Tories are a damned bad lot. Here I find one Senécal (the late Senator) fitting up Elmwood at the expense of the unfortunate Richelieu Company, and now his flamesake, that scalawag printer fellow at Ottawa, trying to feather his nest at your expense. You must stop it, and if he persists in extorting money, sue him on the two notes, for he obtained money from you under false pretences."

Notwithstanding his order, I found I was obliged to give him more assistance in August, to the extent of $250. From that time, things went on smoothly, but I saw there was a decided feeling towards our company on Senécal's part, and that our Toronto opponents had bought him completely over. He unblushingly told me that they were gentlemen, and knew what to do by him. However, I gave him $125 in July, 1889, to appease his hunger, $100 in September, 1889, I suppose for a like purpose, and $200 in April, 1890, which he was obliged to acknowledge.

" OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PRINTING,
" OTTAWA, April 9th, 1890.

" DEAR SIR,—I saw Mr. Crossby this morning, who handed me enclosed cheque which I return you for signature. I thank you very much for the accommodation which you are kind enough to give me. Please return to me by next mail, for I need the money for Friday.

" Enclosed order for Long Primer sorts. My foreman is preparing another list.

" Yours truly,

" A. SENÉCAL."

" R. G. STARKE, Esq.,
" Montreal.

Our total sales of type to the Government Printing Bureau from the 1st of January, 1888, to the 31st of August, 1891, amounted to $58,231.41. (Including $1,565.34 work shipped from Philadelphia.) On this, we allowed the Government the cash discount of $5,823.14.

Monthly paid to André Senécal:—

July 15, 1887.....	$	125 00
September 1, 1887.....		200 00
April 19, 1888.....		200 00
August 23, 1888.....		250 00
July 10, 1889.....		125 00
September 20, 1889.....		100 00
April 8, 1890.....		200 00
Total.....		1,200 00

This made in all $1,200 he received in cash. Besides this, one case of Pommery wine as a Christmas box, and a pier glass when fitting up his house.

After he got the last $200 he insolently told me in the Bodega or Russell House, here, that we were due him a large amount more. Hot words passed between us, ending in my threatening to expose his conduct to Mr. Chapleau—in fact, I went to Montreal to collect all the cheques I had paid him and other papers I had for that purpose, but I did not carry out my threat. I was annoyed that I had not kept all his letters and telegrams, as some were a curiosity in their way. But it is not our custom to keep letters, except very important ones, beyond one or two years. And besides his correspondence was personally with me.

Since our row (May 1890) Mr. Crosby and Mr. Sénécal have been no friends, and the foundry has consequently suffered, for his orders have been only such as he could not possibly help sending us.

About that time, I found out that he was giving orders for type to match ours to be made in Toronto, a dirty piece of work. My President, wrote him about the matter and he acknowledged that it was true, saying: "By referring to your books, you will see that you had more than your share of the patronage."

I positively declare that no letter was received by the Dominion Type Founding Co. from the Hon. Mr. Chapleau or any official connected with the Department of the Secretary of State or the Government Printing Bureau, repudiating the order given to me by Mr. Sénécal on the 28th July, 1887; that no demand for a subscription to the Election funds was made before the execution of said order, or as a consideration for said order, or at any time; that about 15,000 lbs of type was delivered in Ottawa in January, 1888, at the request of the Queen's Printer, and that it was subsequent hereto, and after a large payment had been made to the Dominion Type Founding Co., that a sum of $1,500 was paid to François Benoit; and that the said sum, I believe, was given voluntarily by the late Mr Alexander Murray, the President of my company.

P. A. CROSSBY.

4732. You are positive of those facts as being correct?—As far as the facts are concerned.

4733. That is, that a large quantity of type had already been delivered during the month of January. I think your letter was written on the 28th December. On the 28th December Mr. Starke wrote to me the document that has been already fyled?—Not Mr. Starke, but Mr. Murray. The official letters are all there.

4734. That is your letter?—Yes.

4735. The contents are true?—Yes.

4736. And should form part of your evidence as given?—Part of that statement I fyled.

By Mr. McMullen :

4737. You say no letter was received by you from Mr. Chapleau or any of his clerks, or any person in connection with his department, referring to the order that had been given for type. Was there any letter received conveying to you the idea that they were not aware an order had been given?—There was no letter at all.

4738. No letter at all?—No letter at all came into our possession. I referred to that in my evidence the other day.

4739. No letter was sent to your firm?—Not at all.

4740. What position do you occupy?—I am the manager.

4741. Have you a secretary or clerk?—I am the secretary and manager; all correspondence must come through me.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4742. I think we can clear that matter up now. I think that about that time, the month of December, Mr. Murray looking over the order, was struck by the fact that my signature was not on the order that had been given in July.—That is what he said to me,—it was a personal matter.

4743. And he took exception to that and wrote to me especially to have the order signed by me?—Whatever he did was a matter that rested with himself.

4744. Do you remember at what date the signed order was received at your establishment?—The order is signed 23rd December and he gave it to me about the 28th. The day he gave it to me, we wrote a letter asking—

By Mr. McMullen :

4744½. Who wrote?—The President.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4745. The order was the same as that given in July?—The same order.

4746. Then, on the 28th you received a letter from Mr. Chamberlin stating that if you would consent to that copy of it a demand would be made?—A letter came from the department to that effect.

4747. And it was long before the 12th February?—Oh yes, it had nothing to do with the 12th February.

4748. Can you tell me what quantity of type we really did buy from you?—About 65 tons—130,000 pounds, about that.

4749. What was the value of that?—The value was $58,231.41. That was the total sales of type to the Government Printing Bureau from 1st January, 1888, to date.

4750. What discount did you allow the department upon that?—We allowed the Department ten per cent, or $5,823.14. The total amount of cash paid us to date by the Government was $52,478.27.

4751. How did your prices compare with the prices charged by Millar & Richards of Edinburgh, having an agency here, and the American Foundry?—In some instances our prices are lower.

4752. Have you the details of the prices?—For nonpareil our price is 58 cents, Miller & Richards 62 cents, and the American 64 cents; our minion is 48 cents, Miller & Richards 50 cents, and the American 56 cents; for brevier ours is 44 cents, Miller & Richards the same, and the American 52 cents; for bourgeois ours is 40 cents, Miller & Richards the same, and the American 48; long primer, ours is 36 cents, Miller & Richards the same, and the American 46 cents; for small pica, ours is 34 cents, Miller & Richards the same, and the American 44 cents; for pica, ours is 32 cents, Miller & Richards the same, and the American 42.

4753. How does your minion compare with Miller & Richards?—Our price is 2 cents per pound lower.

By the Chairman :

4754. What are the prices?—Ours is 48 cents, and theirs is 50 cents.

4755. They said they delivered theirs for forty cents?—They have special prices for large quantities.

4756. Are those prices what you sold to the Government for?—No, ten per cent off those prices.

By Mr. Somerville :

4757. With that ten per cent off would your type cost less than the Edinburgh type?—No; they got an order for such an immense quantity.

4758. Your prices are lower than theirs?—Their price list price is fifty cents.

4759. They sold their minion type for fifty cents, and what did you get?—Forty-four—ten per cent off forty-eight.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4760. Do you know the Potter Press Company of New York?—Yes.

4761. Do you know Mr. McIlroy?—Yes.

4762. Will you tell me what is the reputation of the Potter Press Company as press manufacturers?—Very high.

4763. Do you know the Babcock presses?—I have heard about them. I remember more about them when they were the firm of Cotterell & Babcock.

4764. How do the Babcock and Potter Presses compare in the market amongst pressmen?—I cannot say much about the Babcock. I know the Potter presses have a very high reputation.

4765. I mean as to the name they have in the market?—The Babcock is very little known.

4766. With a large establishment, would they prefer the Babcock presses or would they prefer Hoe's or Potter's, or even the Cotterell?—It would be a hard question for me to answer. Press-makers are rather jealous of each other.

4767. Do you sell the Potter presses?—We do. We are their Canadian agents. We have been for a long time.

4768. What is the discount generally allowed on the sale of these presses?—Twenty-five per cent. They allow us as high as thirty per cent on special sales.

4769. But their regular allowance is twenty-five per cent?—Yes.

4770. That you speak with knowledge?—I know it very well.

4771. Do you know what discount was allowed by the Potter Company for the presses sold to the Government?—Forty per cent for the large presses and thirty-three and one third for the small ones. I am sure they would never have allowed us such a discount.

4772. Do you know if those presses were ordered as they are generally sent out by the manufacturers, or were they ordered, as you say in the trade, upon specifications?—Sometimes you can order from the manufacturers to build you a special press, and they do so. If there are any extras that you want, they will certainly put them on, but they know how to charge for them too.

4773. Were you not in New York at the manufacturer's place when the negotiations for the purchase of these presses were made?—It was I who went with Mr. Sénécal to New York and introduced him to the Potter people. Being their Canadian agents, I expected we would have got a share of the commission for introducing Mr. Sénécal to them; but they said they gave all to the Government and we got none.

4774. You say that you expected you might have got something as agents in Canada for the sale of these presses. Do you swear positively that the Potters said to you that they could not give you a commission because they were giving a larger commission to the Government of Canada than they usually gave to you?—Yes. The rule is with the principal pressmakers, except Hoe & Co.—whose rules are very strict in only allowing ten per cent to the agent or purchaser—to allow us 25 per cent if we effect a sale. If we not effect a sale, but if it is through our recommendation they allow us five or ten per cent commission. But in this case they could not allow the commission, as they said they gave it all to the Government. I do not know what the competition was, but there was competition against them.

4775. Do you know if there was a special specification given for these presses in some parts of the material?—I understood so.

4776. Do you remember some important parts of the machinery, or presses, which were ordered specially and which were put on the presses?—I cannot say the exact parts of the machinery that were so made.

4777. Was there an order for steel pinions?—Yes.

4778. And the steel tracks, or runners, were they to be of tooled steel?—Yes. The extras on the presses were from $200 to $400, and I believe, beside that, there was a considerable outlay in having the presses waiting here. They got rusty and had to be cleaned before they were put up.

4779. They put in the shafting and everything as to install the presses in the establishment?—They did.

4780. Through their agent Mr. Mellroy?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

4781. They did not put up the shafting?—They put up everything.

4782. Do you know that they put up the shafting at their own expense?—I understood from Mr. Mellroy that the contract with them was to put up the presses in running order and he had to put up the shafting.

4783. Do you know whether he got paid for it?—I know nothing about that.

By Mr. Taylor :

4784. They sold the machinery to the Government and were to put it in running order?—Yes.

4785. And when they came here they found the shafting lying there, but they had to put it up at their own expense?—Yes, but bear in mind that they did not supply the shafting.

By Mr. Somerville :

4786. Are you aware of yourself that they put up the shafting at their own expense?—Mr. McIlroy told me he had to put up the shafting at the expense of the Potter Company.

4787. This is simply hearsay evidence, why is not McIlroy here?—Mr. McIlroy is to-day in Washington putting up four presses, and he cannot be got here, but he told me the whole transaction.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4788. Have you seen the printing presses in the Bureau?—I have, several times.

4789. You know the Potter presses?—I do.

4790. Are they not what are called “extra fine” or “extra built” presses—the best ever manufactured by the Potter Company?—The presses are the best that the Potter Company ever made.

4791. The finest style of press made?—They are beautiful pieces of machinery.

By Mr. Somerville :

4792. You remember the day when you got the first payment of $5,000 on printing material?—Yes, it was in January.

4793. Do you know what date?—About the 10th, I think.

4794. Do you remember the date on which the cheque was made payable to Mr. Benoit?—It was the 12th.

4795. The same date?—Oh no. One was the 12th and the other was the 10th.

4796. Your book-keeper swore that the $1,500 that was paid to Mr. Benoit was paid the same day as you received the cheque from the Government?—I think there is a day's difference. The cheque to Mr. Benoit is dated the 12th, and I think it was the 10th when the cheque came down here.

4797. Did you ever pay any money to any other person in connection with the Printing Bureau except Mr. Sénécal?—No, I said so before.

4798. Do you know a man named Alphonse Hallaire?—Yes.

4799. Did you ever give him anything?—I believe I gave Mr. Hallaire $10.

4800. What was that for?—To treat the boys at the banquet given to Mr. Chapleau. The workmen were giving him a dinner.

4801. How long is that ago?—Three or four years ago. It was the big dinner at the rink.

4802. How came you to give the money to Mr. Hallaire?—I was present at the banquet and the boys were after me.

4803. What did Hallaire do at the Bureau?—I do not know.

4804. Did he receive the type there?—I cannot say.

4805. Who received the type at the Bureau?—I do not know.

4806. Was it he who weighed the type at the Bureau?—That I do not know.

4807. Did not you give him $20?—No, sir. I am positive I did not.

4808. Are you quite positive?—I am quite positive. It had nothing to do with that other business of Sénécal's. That is the reason I swore I never gave anything to anyone else at the Bureau.

4809. Were you at the Bureau when the type was delivered?—No.

4810. Did they weigh the type or did they take your weight?—They weighed it, and if there was half a pound short, Mr. Sénécal would quickly let us know. He sent back the invoices for correction.

4811. Do you know who supplies the printing ink for the Bureau?—I could not say. I believe it is the Canada Printing Ink Company, of Toronto, but I do not know.

4812. Did you ever have any conversation with the manager of that company?—I have. Mr. Cochrane, the manager of the company told me that he supplied the Bureau with ink.

4813. Do you know if that company ever paid any commission to Senécal?—I cannot say. I do not know.

4814. Did you ever hear?—I never heard. Mr. Cochrane never told me.

4815. The reason I asked you that is, because I was told yesterday that you could give me some information about that?—Oh, no. I would tell you frankly if I had any.

4816. I understood that you said that a lot of you men who had been selling to the department, now that you were in the soup, were determined that others equally culpable should not get off?—No. Mr. Cochrane never told me anything of the kind.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4817. Did you ever say you were in the soup?—Not much. There are some corrections I want to make in my previous evidence.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4818. Are they considerable?—Some are considerable.

4819. You desire to make some corrections in the evidence?—I do.

4820. Do you swear that the evidence as revised by you now is correct?—Yes.

4821. These are simply corrections that you desire to have made?—I desire to have them made in order to make sense.

Mr. CHAPLEAU put in the following declaration from Mr. Senécal, made and sent from the United States:—

EXHIBIT No. 29.

“ André Senécal being by me duly sworn, doth depose and say that he resides in the City of Ottawa, Province of Ontario, Canada; that for the past four years up to about a month ago he was the Superintendent of the Printing Bureau of the Canadian Government; that at various times during his continuance in said office he received presents in the way of a bonus from the parties from whom he purchased the plant of the Printing Bureau, but that he never, either directly or indirectly, gave any sum whatsoever out of said presents to the Hon. J. A. Chapleau; that although he sent at various times money to the Conservative Association at Montreal, this was never done at the suggestion or request, or with the knowledge of the Hon. J. A. Chapleau; that the letter sent by deponent to the President of the Public Accounts Committee was not inspired or dictated by, or with the knowledge of the Hon. J. A. "Clerk."

By Mr. Somerville :

4822. Do I understand that the Secretary of State wants to put this in as evidence?—I do not want to put it in as evidence exactly, but I want it to appear for what it is worth. I put it in here as an exhibit. I do not attach any importance to it because it has not been sworn to before the Committee, at the same time, I think it should appear as part of the proceedings.

MR. SOMERVILLE—I think it is unfair to have this put in as evidence, because this man is an absconder and certainly it is not legal testimony?

MR. CHAPLEAU—I will have Mr. Senécal's signature proved so that it may go on the record for what it is worth.

MR. BROWN CHAMBERLIN re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Chapleau :

4823. Mr. Chamberlin, can you state whether this is the signature of Mr. Senécal?—I believe it is, it seems to me to be so.

4824. You are familiar with his signature?—I am.

ALPHONSE HALLAIRE called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

4825. What position do you occupy in the Printing Bureau?—I am store-keeper.

4826. Is it your duty to weigh the type from the different foundries, that is purchased for the Government?—Yes, sir.

4827. Did you weigh the type from the Dominion Type Foundry?—Yes, sir.

4828. To whom did you report?—To Mr. Senécal.

4829. Mr. Hallaire, did you ever receive any money from Mr. Crossby?—Yes, sir. I received $10 on the occasion of the banquet to Mr. Chapleau.

4830. Did you ever receive more than $10?—No, sir.

4831. How did you come to get the money?—Because I asked him to have a glass and he said no, he was not drinking, but he gave me the $10 to treat the boys. I spent the money—we had three bottles of champagne.

4832. That would not treat many of the boys?—Well, that is how it came to be given.

4833. Did you ever tell anyone in connection with the Bureau that you received more money from Mr. Crossby?—No, sir.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4834. The banquet was after the election of Mr. Lépine at Montreal?—Yes, sir.

MR. CHAPLEAU—I wish to put before the Committee the following letter sent by the President of the Canada Paper Company in explanation of part of his evidence. It is not new evidence.

EXHIBIT No. 30.

" CANADA PAPER COMPANY (limited),

" MONTREAL, 26th September, 1891.

" DEAR SIR,—In reading over the evidence given by me before the Committee of Public Accounts, one or two matters appear, probably through the form of question put to me, to be less explicit than I would have desired, I therefore write you to put myself distinct and clear on the following matters :

" 1. The agreement with Mr. Berthiaume had no connection directly or indirectly, in any way whatever, with contracts or orders received from the Government, there was not even a suggestion or a conversation in that direction, and no consideration whatever, in any manner, shape or form, was entertained, expected or discussed, other than on the purely business basis stated in my evidence.

" 2. Regarding the larger quantity of paper supplied since the Berthiaume agreement, my answer to that question only stated the fact, that " during my absence in England, in July last, a special order had been received, which made the quantity supplied larger than usual." After my return from Ottawa, I looked into the circumstances attending that order, and found that the 3,000 reams in question had no connection with our contract, but were supplied under the following circumstances.

" A special order was issued direct from the " House " to print " Experimental Farm Reports " and " Tenant Farm Reports," requiring in all, 7,000 reams, " the whole quantity to be supplied within three weeks from date of order." The Canada Paper Company being the Government contractor for the year, were entitled to the order, but no mill in Canada could make the whole quantity within the short time given, without seriously interfering with their other engagements. The Canada Paper Company undertook to supply 3,000 reams, and did so, charging contract price. Tenders were called for the other 4,000 reams, which were divided between two other mills, at a higher price than our contract price.

" 3. I invited inquiry from the Committee as to the price and quality of the paper we have been supplying to the Government, and would have been glad to have had the opportunity of stating in evidence, that the quality is superior to any the Government have ever received, and the price lower. The paper supplied by our company during the past three or four years (the period in question) has all been super-calendered, and is not only better in quality and lower in price than any previously supplied to the Government, but will compare favourably both as to quality and price, with paper furnished to any other Government either in Europe or America, where the contracts are for much larger quantities.

" Yours, truly,

" JOHN MACFARLANE,

" Managing Director."

" HON. J. A. CHAPLEAU,

" Ottawa,

" MEMORANDUM—PRIVATE.

" Evidence John MacFarlane, 17/9/91. Question 2123.

Chemicals used in paper making :

Bleaching powder, per ton—

1886-7—Cost £5 10 0 stg.

1891 — " 8 0 0 " = 46 % higher.

Soda ash—

1886—Cost £4 8 6 stg.

1891— " 6 12 11 " = 50 % higher.

" J. McF., 26/9/91."

" To Hon. J. A. CHAPLEAU."

Mr. SOMERVILLE—I think it is hardly right to put in that statement of Mr. MacFarlane's? He shows that in one particular there has been an increase, but he does not show that in many other classes of material there has been any decrease in price.

H. J. BRONSKILL re-called, sworn and further examined :

By Mr. Chapleau :

4835. I think you asked me to correct before the Committee a statement made by you, on your first examination, concerning alleged commissions received by you from Austin & Robertson?—I did, sir.

4836. Have you the statement?—Yes. (Witness produces two letters.)

EXHIBIT No. 31.

“OTTAWA, 21st September, 1891.

“SIR,—Referring to the Minutes of Evidence, (question 681 by Sir Richard Cartwright), I desire to correct the amount of the transaction referred to. Instead of being under $1,000 I have since ascertained from the Stationery Office Ledger, that the purchases amounted to $3,463 upon which a payment of $70 to $80 was made.

I also am able after reflection to say, in regard to “Commission” (question 462 by Mr. Lister), that there was no percentage to be paid on any portion of goods purchased from the firm (now Austin and Robertson) and that the transaction was in the nature of a gift (given but not asked for) but not as a commission or percentage; and as to the closeness with which the goods were purchased I beg to refer you to the accompanying copy of letter, merely adding that if my object had been to obtain money it would have been very easy, without any prejudice whatever to the interest of the Government, to have materially increased the account in question.

“I am, Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

“H. J. BRONSKILL.”

“CLARKE WALLACE, Esq., M.P.,

EXHIBIT No. 32.

“MONTREAL, 18th August, 1891.

“DEAR SIR,—In response to your enquiry as to whether we could allow any discount from the prices charged by us for such supplies as you get, would say that all our quotations made to the Government Stationery Office are (and have always been) figured on a strictly net cash basis. The percentage of profit made on such goods as you buy from us is so small that a discount for cash is entirely out of the question. In fact we may say that some of the lines bought by you have been turned over at almost cost.

“Yours very truly,

“AUSTIN & ROBERTSON.”

“H. J. BRONSKILL, Esq.,

“Government Stationery Office,

“Ottawa.

By Mr. McMullen :

4837. Have Austin & Robertson been in examination here?—No.

4838. Have you received any testimonial from that firm?—No, sir, not other than that is mentioned in the letter just read.

By Mr. Somerville :

4839. What was the amount you received from that firm?—Between $70 and $80.

4840. On a purchase which you stated on your first examination to amount to how much?—About $1,000.

4841. And how much really did it amount to?—$3,463.

4842. How much do you say you got?—Between $70 and $80.

4843. How do you come to say now that it was in the shape of a gift, and not as a commission?—I was exceedingly nervous on my first examination and misconstrued the question put to me.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4844. Have you not a letter in which this firm mention the present given to you and sent by them at that time?—I either have it or you have it.

4845. At all events, you received at that time a letter which you have hunted up since your first examination?—Yes.

4846. Do they mention that it was a commercial commission or not?—I think there is nothing at all in it; it was simply in the shape of a gift.

By Mr. Somerville :

4847. You had a letter from this firm, had you?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

4848. This letter which you have read (Exhibit No 31) is addressed to the Chairman of the Public Accounts Committee. Are the contents of that letter true?—Yes.

4849. That is your own letter which you have just read?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

4850. You were in the habit of receiving shipments of stationery from England for the Department, were you not?—Yes.

4851. Have you received any lately—within the last year or so?—Oh yes. They come every six months or so—even oftener.

4852. Did you receive, in a shipment of stationery, two boxes of cutlery and silverware in the same shipment?—No, sir.

4853. Are you positive?—I am positive.

4854. You never received anything of the kind?—No, sir.

4855. Did you ever receive two boxes, or one box, or more than one box of cutlery and silverware from parties in England with whom the Government deals?—No, sir. It is possible there may have been a sample or so sent out.

4856. Did you ever receive any samples?—Not of that kind.

4857. What would they be samples of?—A paper weight, or something of that kind. Sometimes we would buy things for the Senate and the manufacturers would send out a sample. For instance, they sent out a cabinet only last year. It has been inspected and approved, and I understand they are going to be supplied to the House next year.

4858. What becomes of these samples?—If they are charged they are sent to some department that requires them. If they are not charged they may remain in the office, or may be appropriated by myself, or perhaps given to somebody else.

4859. Some of these samples are valuable?—No, sir; not very valuable.

4860. The sample of stationery box you refer to would be valuable?—That was charged against the Senate. There are two of them, one in ash and one in oak. I think you will find them there now.

By Mr. Taylor :

4861. You have read a letter here (Exhibit No. 32) signed by Austin & Robertson. I see that this letter is written on the type-writer, with the signature "Austin & Robertson" preceded by the word "signed." Did you get a letter precisely similar to this, of which this is the copy?—I have the original letter in my possession.

4862. You have the letter of which this is a copy?—Yes.

By Mr. McMullen :

4863. Why do not you produce the original?—I did not think it would be wanted.

By Mr. Mcadonald, (Huron.)

4864. For what purpose did you make a copy?—For the Minister.

By Mr. McMullen :

4865. The letter was to yourself?—Yes. I shall be very glad to put the original in.

4866. Is that a full copy of the letter?—All that was in it.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4867. You have prepared an official statement of the purchases for the Printing Bureau as well as the cost of the working of the office, the discount, the reduction and the result of the reorganization of the Department?—Yes. The statement is as follows:—It is only, I may say a statement as regards the Stationery Branch.

4868. It has nothing to do with the Printing Bureau?—Nothing at all.

EXHIBIT No. 33.

"The Hon. J. A. CHAPLEAU,
"Secretary of State.

"SIR,—In view of recent events I deem it my duty to yourself and to myself, that I should give, shortly as possible, some account of my stewardship as Superintendent of Stationery. For this purpose I have taken the year previous to my going into the office, i.e. 1886-7 and the year I left it, 1890-1.

" PURCHASES AND OUTPUT.

"In the year ending June 30th, 1886-7 the purchases amounted to $128,463.16, and the issue of goods to $132,313.88. For the year ending 30th June, 1890-1, the purchases were $185,089.29 and the issue $193,037.19, consequently an increase in purchases of 45 per cent, and a little over 45 per cent in output.

" COST OF WORKING THE OFFICE.

"Near as I can calculate without exact figures the wages paid in year ending 1886-7 were about $9,400, and those in year ending 1890-1, about $10,093, or say an increase of 8 per cent. Thus an increased business of 45 per cent both in receipt and output, has been effected at the small increase of 8 per cent of wages.

" DETAILS OF OFFICE WORK, 1886-7 AND 1889-90.

Demands.....	10,297	increased to	13,708	—Increase	33 p.c.
Letters received...	948	do	1,411	do	50 do
Invoices .....	917	do	1,418	do	55 do
Letters mailed....	3,243	do	5,939	do	82 do

"Figures for 1890-1 were not made up, but doubtless would show further increase.

DISCOUNTS.

"In year 1886-7, the discounts on sterling purchases as per invoice value of £8,427 18.8½, was £667.9.3 or nearly 7½ per cent.

"For the year 1889-90, sterling purchases were £7,601.6.11, discount £812.15.4 or 10 per cent. The currency discounts remained almost stationery, but apart from this it will be seen that there is a clear gain on the sterling discounts of £190, which fully covers the additional working cost of office and leaving the 45 per cent increase of receipt, and output being manipulated without extra expense to the Government.

REDUCTIONS IN PRICES.

"In addition to the favourable comparative working cost, it should also be added that reductions in cost of a large number of articles extensively used, have been made, which with the restrictions as to issue of certain goods have undoubtedly led to a very large saving especially during the last two years.

REORGANIZATION.

"Without being considered tedious permit me to remind you that when I first went to the office in January 1888 it was in a very disorganized state. No sooner was the arrearages cleared off and affairs straightened out, than I was called upon to organize it on the English system. This entailed a stock list which, under instructions, was to restrict the number of articles to be issued, very sensibly, a most arduous undertaking requiring much extra labour and technical judgment, and the issue of which undoubtedly led to considerable economy as well as creating much ill-will against myself, as the officer whose duty it was to enforce these restrictions. Before this list was ready the fittings in the new bureau had to be arranged. All of them were made from my own measurements and designs, resulting in an establishment with no superior, if an equal, for its especial purposes.

An entire reorganization in the office work was also effected, ensuring the greatest promptitude in filling orders, the practical wiping out of all arrearages of supply, and a general efficiency not excelled in any commercial house. In short, the creation of the office as it now exists is the work of my own hands and head, and I do not hesitate to say that by the closest purchasing (a statement which can easily be tested by the office books), by maintaining an improved quality of articles, by efficient organization and by a thoroughly serviceable equipment, I have not striven in vain to serve the Government faithfully, nor to add that very tangible sums have been saved thereby.

ADDITIONAL DUTIES.

"In addition to the large expansion of supplies in 1890 the sale and distribution of Statutes, Criminal Laws, Hansard, &c., was turned over to the office, and also one half of the distribution of parliamentary papers and publications transferred from the House of Commons. Both these services entailed additional responsibility and work for which, however, no emolument was paid.

RESULT.

"It has been stated that I have "feathered my nest." Emphatically no. When dismissed I had not fifty dollars in the world, and the fact that I have to begin life over again in poverty is surely sufficient proof against such calumny, and my greatest enemy could not accuse me of extravagant living or expensive personal habits. No, I am alone the sufferer, not the Government to the extent of a single dollar.

"I do not seek to extenuate my indiscretion. The fact, however, remains that though the purchases amounted to $741,676 in four years, with all the possibilities of enriching myself, I am to-day in absolute poverty.

"I have the honour to be, Sir,

"Your obedient servant

"August 27th, 1891."

"H. J. BRONSKILL.

Mr. BRONSKILL—It has been said that I feathered my nest, I wish to deny that emphatically. I am a poor man to-day.

By Mr. Somerville :

4869. Who said that?—It has been said outside—it has been said all over. It has been said very commonly in the city.

By Mr. McMullen :

4870. How long have you been connected with the Department?—Since the first of January, 1888.

4871. What was your salary?—My salary at first was $1,100.

4872. What was it afterwards?—$1,900.

4873. Is it impossible for a man to live on $2,000, and to save something for the future?—No answer.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4874. When you came here I understand that you had some money of your own?—When I came to this country first I had.

By Mr. Somerville :

4875. Had you any instructions to prepare this report?—No.

4876. You had no consultation with any superior officer about the matter?—No, sir.

4877. Have you been working in the department since your services were dispensed with?—No.

4878. How did you get up the figures?—From the Departmental Reports and the records that have been published for Parliament.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4879. I will ask you one question. You have given into my hands a number of testimonials from different parties who have dealt with the department. I suppose you have received those letters from these people unsolicited on your part with one exception?—I have.

4880. I do not suppose that it would be quite regular to put in these testimonials, but you have received them since this inquiry began?—I have.

4881. And without any demand on your part except in one case?—Yes. I would like to say a word with reference to the testimony given by Mr. Morgan of Buntin Reid & Co. He was asked a question about the mill board supplied and he has mixed up my name with it. The question is No. 2,309. By Mr. Foster. "How many orders did you take from Mr. Sénécal?—That is the only one I received. I think they have received small orders from him. I am not certain but they may have received small orders from Bronskill's department. It would only be a matter of a few dollars any way, and it was for stuff they usually imported themselves, but had to get here." With reference to this I would simply like to say, that so far as Mr. Morgan's firm is concerned I never received any consideration whatever from them.

By Mr. Somerville :

4882. It is not in the evidence that you did. It simply refers to the fact that you may have received purchases to the amount of a few dollars?—That is what I wish to make clear.

4883. It was the amount of the purchases and not any gift that you received?—That is so. There is another matter that I wish to say a word about. Mr. Cox in his statement brought my name up in connection with commissions that were exacted on the orders. I wish to say that I never exacted any commission. No commission was ever exacted by me on any orders that were given.

By Mr. McMullen :

4884. You claim that all you got was in the way of presents?—Yes.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4885. And that, only on the occasions to which you have referred?—Yes.

4886. So that the remark was not correctly made?—It was wrong, absolutely wrong.

GEORGE E. DESBARATS, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Chapleau :

4887. You are a printer and have been in the trade many years?—Over thirty years.

4888. Have you seen the Government Printing Bureau?—Yes; I went through it.

4889. Did you examine it carefully?—Well, I went through it with Mr. Senécal; he showed me different departments.

4890. You did not go to see it specially?—No. I was there about two or three months ago. I went through it for my own satisfaction.

4891. Had you occasion specially to examine the presses that have been put there?—I examined them casually as a visitor, not technically.

4892. What presses are they?—Potter presses.

4893. Have the Potter presses a good reputation in the trade?—Oh, they have a very good reputation in the trade.

4894. Do you not remember, whether at the time that the presses were to be got for the Printing Bureau, whether I sent for you here to advise me upon the price to be paid for the machines? Did you not come to Ottawa especially to see me about it?—Yes, sir; that is a fact.

4895. I think that you conversed with me over the sale of some presses?—Yes, sir. I was agent for a firm who sold presses—Cotterell & Sons.

4896. It used to be Cotterell & Babcock?—There was a firm called Cotterell & Babcock years ago from whom I used to purchase presses, and they separated and became two firms—Cotterell & Sons and Babcock & Co.

4897. What is the standing, as far as reputation goes, in the trade, as between the Potter press and the Babcock press?—Well, I don't know much about the Babcock press. I never had any dealings with them and I have not heard much about it beyond seeing the advertisements occasionally about it. I don't think they are so well known as either the Potter's or the Cotterell's.

4898. Any large establishment that desired to have its machinery as perfect as possible—to which of the two do you think you would give the preference, the Babcock or the Potter press?—There are so many considerations involved that it is hardly possible to answer that question.

4899. At equal prices?—Well, then, of course quality has to come in. You see, the quality of a particular press that are being manufactured for the purpose.

4900. This press can be manufactured upon specifications?—Certainly.

4901. Do you not know these presses in the Government Printing Bureau were ordered by specification?—Well, I was not aware of the fact.

4902. Did you not hear it?—I have heard that, yes. I have heard it said, and Mr. Senécal even drew my attention to the fact that some parts of these presses were specially made of steel, and so on, that were generally made of cast-iron.

By Mr. McMullen :

4903. Do you know of your knowledge that the presses were so made?—No, sir.

4904. Only from what Mr. Senécal told you?—That is it.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4905. When you visited the Bureau did you notice any of these steel pieces?—I did not examine them to find out whether they were steel or iron. It is very difficult to tell except that the finished steel takes a higher finish.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4906. Are they highly finished presses?—They are all highly finished presses—very fine presses.

4907. Did I not consult you especially, and in detail and examine the price lists of the different manufacturers in New York, and the United States, upon the purchase of these presses?—I supplied you with prices, or what I thought were the prices, at which you could purchase.

4908. And we discussed it in Ottawa?—Oh, yes; we had a conversation in your office about it.

By Mr. Bergeron :

4909. The Printing Bureau is a very fine establishment?—Well, it seemed to me, going through it, very perfect and very complete.

By Mr. Somerville :

4910. Do you know what it cost?—No, sir.

4911. If you had any amount of money at your command you could furnish an establishment equally as good as that, could you not?—I don't doubt it.

4912. You might make some little improvements?—I could not say without looking more in detail. I won't risk any opinion of that kind.

4913. You have heard the discussion about the prices. Did you not come to the conclusion after hearing the prices which had been paid, that those presses cost less than what you expected they would when we discussed the matter together?—That is the case, yes. For instance, the prices that I have been told you paid for those presses were absolutely lower than I had thought you could get them for.

By Mr. McMullen :

4914. You don't know the prices, do you?—Not absolutely; I have been only told in conversation.

By Mr. Somerville :

4915. You have a pretty large establishment?—Not very large at present.

4916. Were you not at one time the Queen's Printer?—Yes. At one time I had a very large establishment, but it was burned down.

By Mr. McMullen :

4917. In Quebec?—No, sir, here in Ottawa.

By Mr. Chapleau :

4918. You came here to be a witness at my request?—At your request, yes, sir.

Mr. CHAPLEAU.—I have read myself, the statement I made the other day, and I find there are little irregularities in it, incorrect statements, and even at times what appears to be a word misplaced which should not be there. There are a number of corrections I desire the clerk to have made in my statement.

Mr. SOMERVILLE.—I understood Mr. Bowell was going to make a statement to the Committee to-day in regard to the Printing Bureau matter.

Mr. BOWELL.—I said I might make a statement and have no objections to do so. The conversation as detailed by Mr. Barber the other day is substantially correct as I stated on Friday. I had heard rumours on the streets of improper conduct on the part of Senécal and Bronskill, which had taken place in reference to the purchase of supplies for the Bureau. I saw Mr. Barber, knowing that his firm had been supplying goods to the Department, and I asked him to come to my room at the hotel after dinner. We had a conversation as detailed by him here. His objection to tell Mr. Chapleau about Senécal's doings, when asked to do so by me, was for the reason that he himself gave. He omitted, however, to state that I pointed out to him the unreasonableness of the position he was taking—when he had said that he would not tell Mr. Chapleau, because he did not know what relation Mr. Senécal held towards the Secretary of State, and that it might affect his contracts with the Government in the future. I told him that that was an objection that I did not think valid or correct; that if this man had been doing an improper act, he being a servant of the Government, it was Mr. Barber's duty to tell Senécal's chief, and that from what I knew of Mr. Chapleau, it could not be possible for him to be under the control of Mr. Senécal or anyone else. I therefore told Mr. Barber that he was in duty bound to give the information to Mr. Chapleau. I informed him that in view of our conversation I should deem it my duty to bring the matter under the notice of the head of the Government, if not Mr. Chapleau himself. Upon reflection I thought it better to speak to the First Minister. I did speak to Sir John Macdonald. I repeated to him the conversation I had with Mr. Barber, and I told him that he, as the head of the Government, had better speak to Mr. Chapleau rather than myself, as it would be preferable that he should call Mr. Chapleau's attention to it. He told me he would do so. Sometime after I had another conversation with Sir John in reference to the matter, when he informed me he had spoken to Mr. Chapleau; that Mr. Chapleau told him he did not think there was anything in it; that he had made an investigation voluntarily into one charge of which he had heard, and that there was nothing in it at all. A short time afterwards Sir John Macdonald was taken ill, and there is the whole story. I have no hesitation in saying, I am quite satisfied in my own mind that had Sir John lived he would have brought the matter clearly and fully to the notice of the Council. He did intimate to me, I forgot to mention it before, that a thorough investigation should take place, under oath if necessary, into all the facts in connection with the matter.

Mr. BERGERON—You never spoke to Mr. Chapleau about it.

Mr. BOWELL—I did not, because as I have already explained I thought it was better the head of the Government should do it rather than myself. I thought my duty was to speak to the First Minister, as I knew it was a scandal which should be investigated. I remember stating to Mr. Barber, that if it came before the Public Accounts Committee, that I, as well as the Government, would do our best to ferret the matter out.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—Did Sir John take any action in regard to the matter after you spoke to him?

Mr. BOWELL—I have already said he did bring the matter to the attention of Mr. Chapleau, and Sir John told me Mr. Chapleau said he had made an investigation into one point and found there was nothing in it. It was then that Sir John said, after I had the conversation with him, that the whole thing should be fully investigated by a Commission or in some other way, and that the evidence should be taken under oath.

BROOKS YOUNG, of the City of Montreal, Manufacturer, aged fifty years, a witness produced on the part of the Plaintiff in this cause. Who, being duly sworn, deposeseth and saith:— I am not related, allied, or of kin to, or in the employ of any of the parties in this cause. I am not interested in the event of this suit.
---	---	--

Q. You are the President of the Plaintiff company?—A. I am.

Q. Do you remember those contracts being entered into with Messrs. Wurtele & Co., filed as Exhibits 1 and 2 in this case?—A. I do.

Q. Do you remember Messrs. Wurtele & Co. disposing of their business about the first of October last?—A. I do.

Q. Will you look at this statement, filed as Exhibit No. "3A," and state whether that is a statement of the indebtedness of Wurtele & Co. as it existed at the date of the sale of their business?—A. It is.

Q. That was the amount due the New England Paper Company?—A. Yes; that is the amount.

Q. Will you look at Plaintiff's exhibit, No. 3, and state whether that is the agreement which was entered into with the new proprietors of La Presse with respect to the settlement of the claim mentioned in Exhibit No. "3A"?

Objected to.

Objection reserved.

A. It is.

Q. And for a further purchase of paper?—A. Yes; and as a continuation of the same contract.

Q. Under this new contract did the New England Paper Company continue to supply paper for La Presse?—A. They did.

Q. Was the paper delivered to the same premises as it was during the time that Wurtele & Co. conducted the business?—A. It was, as far as I remember.

Q. Do you remember where the premises were located?—It was at Messrs. Gebhardt & Berthiaume.

Q. Messrs. Gebhardt & Berthiaume were at that time publishing La Presse?—A. Yes.

Q. Were the notes given in settlement, as mentioned in the agreement, Exhibit No. 3?—A. They were.

Q. And as mentioned in the statement, Exhibit No. "3A"?—A. Yes.

Q. Up to what date did the Plaintiff company continue to supply paper under the contract for the publication of La Presse?—A. To the 14th of March, 1890, as I remember.

Q. They ceased taking paper then?—A. They did.

Q. Had they notified you in any way before of their intention to do so?—A. They did not. We were to be notified in writing about all those things. We never had any notification whatever. We heard on the street these rumours, and hearing the rumours I went back to my office and wrote the letter to Berthiaume, thinking that was the manliest way out of it, asking if it was true.

Q. You wrote the letter of date the 25th of February?—A. Yes.

Q. Asking Berthiaume if it was true?—A. Asking him the straight question if it was true—that I was constantly hearing rumours on the street, and asking if it was true.

Q. Did you receive any answer to that?—A. I received no answer whatever. I received no communication whatever in writing, except these contracts with Berthiaume.

Q. Will you take communication of Plaintiff's exhibit "A1" at enquete and state whether that is the letter referred to as having been written by you to Berthiaume on the 25th of February last?—A. That is the letter, and to which I received no reply.

Q. You stated, I understand, that you heard those rumours outside?—A. I heard these rumours outside. I heard it in a number of places, something like this:—"I understand you are going to lose La Presse." "I understand that the Canada Paper Company is going to supply La Presse." I said: "I do not know anything about it; they will notify us if it occurs." We never received any notice. After hearing these rumours the last time in the post-office, I went home and wrote the letter, thinking if there was any truth in it Mr. Berthiaume would have the courtesy to write a letter and tell me so.

Q. I believe it was the custom of the Plaintiff company to carry a certain quantity of manufactured paper for the purpose of supplying the requirements of this contract?—A. It was absolutely necessary to do that. We never know when we are going to have a break down. We never know when we are going to have a flood, and we are obliged to carry a certain quantity of paper. Not only that, but our mills are located some hundred miles away, and there might be a break down on the railroad. It is absolutely necessary, where you are running a newspaper, to carry a certain amount of paper.

Q. I believe this paper was a special size?—A. It was a special size. I do not know of any others using it but La Minerve, at one time, and that only a small quantity.

Q. La Presse is the only customer you had that used that paper?—A. The only customer we had that used that size. It is an odd size.

Q. This paper, I understand, was made specially for La Presse?—A. It was made specially for La Presse.

Q. Do you remember about what quantity you had on hand on the 14th of March, the date when the contract was broken?—A. I do. We had about fifty-six rolls, as it appears, and that is a very small quantity. I told them time and time again at the mills never to run less than a hundred rolls, and one hundred and fifty was small enough; but we got down to that; they had other orders, and to my astonishment I found they had only fifty-six rolls when they came to take account of stock. We should have had one hundred and fifty.

Q. About what quantity of paper was La Presse using per month?—A. They were using from forty-five to fifty-five rolls a month. These fifty-six rolls were just about one month's supply.

Q. Was that paper of a special grade and weight?—A. Yes; it was.

Q. Do you know what became of that paper afterwards?—A. It was bought by the Canada Paper Company, and the Canada Paper Company sent it up to La Presse, and La Presse used it. Yet, they state here that it was paper they could not use. Mr. White says they could not run the paper over their press.

Q. Do you know whether a tender of that identical paper was made to La Presse?—A. There was, most decidedly.

Q. And it was only after their refusal to take it that it was sold?—A. They refused to take it because, they said, they had plenty of stock on hand. We knew then very well that they were buying paper somewhere else, of course.

Q. Was that the same paper which was afterwards sold by Messrs. Duff & Fraser?—A. The identical same paper. We sold it at auction, because it was an odd size, and we did not know to whom to sell it, and we simply put it into auction and sold it. If it had been an ordinary-sized paper we could have found customers for it.

Q. You sent a quantity of the paper to Duff & Fraser, and it was sold by sample?—A. We sent three rolls out of the lot, and specified that the balance was exactly the same and it would be sent from the mills.

Q. They were afterwards delivered?—A. They were afterwards delivered.

Q. Do you remember where they were delivered?—A. They were delivered at La Presse office, at Gebhardt & Berthiaume's.

Q. I understand you to say that they replied that they had plenty of paper on hand?—A. Yes.

Q. Was it possible, from the quantities which they were receiving from you, that they could have had plenty of your paper on hand?—A. Certainly not.

Q. Do you remember about what quantities?—A. They were only ordering in small quantities, for the reason that in the contract they were to pay these bills every month for what paper was taken during the month, and they would order each week as little as they could. Sometimes it would be six rolls sent up, sometimes three rolls, and so on. In that way they did not carry a stock; it was not necessary. We carried a stock at our store and at the mill, but their principal reason for ordering small quantities was on account of payments. If they ordered six rolls this week, and came next week for six more, we sent it for them, and the bill did not come due so quickly as if they ordered double the amount.

Q. Was it an unusual occurrence to have a telephone message to send paper at once?—A. It was a weekly occurrence. That is the way most of the paper was ordered: "Please send us immediately so many rolls." These orders came over the telephone, and we sent the paper up as soon as possible, occasionally being blowed up because we did not get it there sooner.

Q. This statement, No. 7, I think, shows the amount that you realized on account of the paper?—A. That was the amount—eight hundred and fourteen dollars and thirty-four cents ($814.34)—that is the amount that we received a cheque from Duff & Fraser for, for the sale of the paper.

Q. Did you have to pay a rebate on any of that amount for the cores?—A. I do not remember that.

Q. At any rate, if you did it would simply go to reduce the amount you received?—A. If we did not, we should—that is all. The cores are simply iron pipes that go through the centre of the roll on which the paper is round, which we take back.

Q. If you got a rebate for this it would go to reduce the amount?

Objected to.

A. I do not know if we got them.

Q. Will you take communication of Plaintiff's exhibit, No. 8, being the notary's account, and state whether that is the account which you paid for notarial services rendered in connection with this matter?—A. Yes.

Q. Amounting to twenty-seven dollars and ten cents ($27.10)?—A. Yes; twenty-seven dollars and ten cents ($27.10).

Q. Was it a usual thing, in the course of this business, for your company to render statements from time to time?—A. We rendered a statement every month without fail.

Q. Can you state the amount of loss sustained by you on the sale of that thirty-two thousand three hundred and sixty-seven (32,367) pounds of paper?—A. Well, there was the difference between what we received, two and three-quarter cents, and five cents, less the expenses, whatever they are—eight hundred and four dollars and one cent ($804.01).

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Q. You stated in your examination in chief that the contract for breach of which you claim damages by this action is this Exhibit 3 of the Plaintiff—is that right?—A. I think it is—yes.

Q. Is there any amount due to the Defendant, Berthiaume, under the last clause of that contract?—A. Should the New England Paper Company or Mr. J. Brooks Young receive any contract for paper from the Government, one-half of any profits arising from the same shall go towards liquidating the above indebtedness. No; Mr. Berthiaume has never.

Q. In these statements which you produced you show no credit for anything of that kind?—A. No; I do not.

Q. As a matter of fact, was there any contract with the Government?—A. There was.

Q. What did it amount to?

Objected to as going outside of the pleadings, as illegal and irrelevant, and not being within the limit of the pleadings.

Objection reserved.

A. As I remember, the sale to the Government was about one thousand dollars ($1,000), the profit on which was very small.

[Q. What was the amount of the profit?—A. I do not remember. I should say in the neighbourhood of $100. At any rate, there was a mistake about it. The mistake came about in this way—I will have to explain. We understood when we took this paper that we were to receive orders from the Government through Mr. Chapleau for paper in his Department, of which one-half of the profit should go to pay the ten per cent on these notes. In that way Mr. Chapleau would not have to put his hand in his pocket to take money out, but it would be applied on this paper and his indebtedness would be cancelled without any expense to him. That was the understanding when the contract was entered into. The first order was about $1,000, or something like that, and the price—

Q. I want to know about the profit?—A. In asking that question there is something beyond it, and I would have to tell it in order to answer that question properly.

Q. I ask you what is the amount of the profit you realized?—A. About $100.]

Q. What was the amount of the profit?—A. About one hundred dollars ($100.)

Q. Are you prepared to swear that it was not more than one hundred dollars ($100)?—A. No; I am not. I do not want to swear to what I do not know—about one hundred dollars.

Q. Are you prepared to say that it was not two hundred dollars ($200)?—A. I can only answer that it was about one hundred dollars ($100).

Q. Wasn't it more than two hundred dollars?—A. I do not think it was. I should say one hundred dollars ($100) more or less—that means one hundred and twenty-five dollars or seventy-five dollars.

Q. Did you credit Mr. Berthiaume with any thing at all?—A. I offered to credit him, and offered to give him his fair half of it, but when he found how small it was he said: "No; there is a mistake somewhere; the prices should have been higher."

Q. What was the amount due to Mr. Berthiaume—that is what I want to get at—do you remember?—A. No; I do not. I can get it for you.

Q. This contract that you refer to was the only one, was it?—Yes.

Q. Referring to your letter of the 25th of February, you stated in your examination in chief that you had no answer to that letter?—A. Yes.

Q. Do you still say that?—A. I do.

Q. Do you mean that you had no answer in writing or that you had no answer at all?—A. I mean that I had no answer in writing.

Q. Then you had a verbal answer?—A. I am not sure of that.

Q. Do you know a Mr. Godin?—I do.

Q. Is he here present in Court?—A. Yes; he is sitting there.

Q. Do you know if, on the 25th of March or about that time, he was in the employ of Mr. Berthiaume?—A. He was in the employ of La Presse.

Q. You knew him as an employé of La Presse?—A. Yes.

Q. Did you see him in reference to this letter?—A. Not that I remember of.

Q. Did he call on you in reference to that letter?—A. Not that I remember of.
Q. Are you prepared to say that he did not call on you in reference to that letter?—A. No; I am not. The letter was addressed to Mr. Berthiaume.

Q. As a matter of fact, did not Mr. Godin see you a number of times during the months of January and February, 1890, in reference to the contract with La Presse?—A. Yes.

Q. Will you state what was the nature of the conversation with Mr. Godin?—A. I cannot tell, because I do not remember.

Q. What information did you get?—A. It was something like this: in settling his accounts he asked us to take off more discount than the contract called for, and in one or two cases I took it off. I said: "Mr. Godin, I will do this for you, not for the company," for Mr. Godin personally, not for the company. I said: "Mr. Godin, I will take that off personally for you, not for the company. You are trying hard. You are a new man here just come from another office, and I will take it off. Tell the office to credit you for it; I do it for your personal benefit." Afterwards, he asked to have that discount continued. I said: "No; we cannot do it." He said: "There is trouble up there; if you do not do it you will lose your account." I said: "I do not think so." He said: "I am afraid you will;" but the conversation was in that strain from time to time.

Q. And your only object was to assist Mr. Godin?—A. The only object I had in taking that discount off was to assist Mr. Godin personally in the standing of his company, and I told him so at the time.

Q. Not his standing with you at all?—A. Not his standing with me at all.

Q. It naturally would not have that effect I presume?—A. Mr. Godin and I were interested in the "Imprimerie Générale" affair, and he did lots of favours for me one way or another, and was always very considerate and kind.

Q. Although you recollect a good deal of the details of these conversations—A. I do not recollect the details; I recollect it generally.

Q. You have given us some details. Can you not refresh your memory as to the cancellation of the contract and the fact that Mr. Berthiaume was going to get his paper elsewhere?—A. The contract never was cancelled until the money was paid, and whatever talk there might have been with the clerk would not be sufficient to cancel it. A clerk might come into my office to tell me that this thing or that thing was going to happen. I have contracts with a dozen newspapers, and suppose their clerks were to come and talk to me in that way I would not mind it. I do not mind the talk of clerks. I should have had written notice if it was intended to cancel the contract. I know that Mr. Godin was trying to get a discount every time he came in. He would say: "The first thing you know you will lose your contract." Certainly, that was not the way to disregard a contract. I wrote Mr. Berthiaume square and straight: "I hear these rumours; is it true?" What more could a man do than that? His clerks were telling me this thing and that thing—

Q. I want to know what clerks were telling you?—A. I do not know—all sorts of things.

Q. You knew that Mr. Godin was Mr. Berthiaume's agent?—A. I knew that Mr. Godin, every time he came into my office, would try to whittle down the price of the paper. Anything further than that I cannot tell you.

Plaintiff objects to any verbal testimony being admitted tending to establish verbal notices of the cancellation of the contract referred to in Plaintiff's declaration.

Objection reserved.

Q. Was the information which you referred to in your letter of the 25th of February ever confirmed, and if so, when?—A. In my opinion, it never was confirmed.

Q. When were you first aware of Mr. Berthiaume's intention to get his paper elsewhere?—A. I cannot give you the date, but it was when Mr. MacFarlane, of the Canada Paper Company, told me that he had made a contract with La Presse.

Q. Do you recollect about the date?—A. I do not remember the date at all.

Q. Do you know if it was before or after La Presse ceased taking paper from you?—A. I do not know. They had not ceased taking paper then.

Q. You say they had not ceased taking paper then?—A. No; we were supplying them then.

Q. Do you know how long it was after the Canada Paper Company's contract was made?—No.

Q. Did Mr. MacFarlane tell you at the time?—No; he did not.

Q. You mean Mr. John MacFarlane, the managing director of the Canada Paper Company?—A. I mean Mr. MacFarlane, the managing director of the Canada Paper Company.

Q. You knew his position in the company when he told you?—A. I knew he was the manager. I did not know about the managing director.

Q. Can you say when these fifty-six rolls of paper were manufactured?—A. I cannot.

Q. Did you not keep any record of the manufacture of paper?—A. Yes; there is a record kept in the office.

Q. Could it be found out?—A. It could be found out.

Q. Could you let us know when you come back after the adjournment?—A. I could not. We would have to write to the mill; they would have to go back and ascertain all about it, and it would take some time.

Q. Can you say approximately?—A. No; I cannot. I have not the least idea.

Q. Was it manufactured in the month of February, 1890?—A. I do not know.

Q. Was it manufactured in March, 1890?—A. I do not know.

Q. Have you any idea at all?—A. I have not. I would not know, because I do not follow the details enough to know that. Of course, it can be ascertained easily enough by writing to the superintendent and asking him at what date the paper was made, but I would not know that; I would not follow the details.

Q. Do you know when this paper was delivered to your warehouse in Montreal?—A. I do not.

Q. Could you find that out?—A. I guess they could at the office tell when it was delivered and find the freight bill and all about it.

Defendant's counsel applies for an order of the court requiring the witness to answer this question after the adjournment.

Q. Will you be able to say approximately when this paper was manufactured?—

A. No; I have not the least idea when it was made. As I have told you, I would have to write to the mill and ascertain. I cannot tell when the paper is made or anything about it, but certainly in our office or at the mill we can tell all about it. We keep a record of everything in the books. I do not think the president of the company is expected to know when the paper is made or when it is shipped.

Q. Do you know what the practice is in your company, and what it has been during the time this contract was running, with regard to the manufacture of this paper as to quantities—was it usual to manufacture a large quantity at a time and keep it in stock?—A. Yes; they would run on it. Any paper-maker knows that when we start to run on paper we would run a quantity.

Q. You said in your examination in chief that it was usual for La Presse to telephone down and use about five or six rolls a week—is that right?—A. No; I do not think I stated that. I do not remember saying that.

Q. I thought you said they wanted about five or six rolls a week?—A. At a time.

Q. How was it delivered?—A. I have a record of just how it was delivered.

Q. What were the average weekly deliveries?—A. For instance, on February 14th, they ordered six rolls; February 18th, six rolls; February 19th, two rolls; February 24th, six rolls; February 21st, three rolls; February 26th, three rolls; March 4th, six rolls; March 12th, one roll; March 13th, three rolls; March 14th, six rolls—forty-one rolls; but you see they were ordering sometimes six rolls, sometimes less. They ordered it in as small quantities as they could.

Q. Has that been their practice?—A. That was their regular way of ordering. You see some days they took two rolls, some days three, some days six.

Q. Where is this paper manufactured?—A. It is manufactured at Portneuf.

Q. What is the usual delay after shipping from the mill before the paper is in your warehouse?—A. We calculate about three days. Sometimes it takes two or three weeks, sometimes it gets blocked, sometimes side-tracked. We usually bring it in carload lots, and it takes about three days if there are no interruptions. If paper leaves there to-day we receive it on Thursday morning, unless there is a storm or some unforeseen accident.

Q. Have you manufactured any paper of this particular grade and quality since La Presse ceased taking it from you?—A. No; we have not a customer in our books that uses that paper except La Presse. I looked that up the other day—not a single customer in our books that use the paper that that contract calls for excepting La Presse, and that is why we sold it at auction.

Q. You sold all you had of course?—A. We sold all we had of it.

Q. How long does it take to manufacture that paper?—A. What paper do you refer to—the fifty rolls?

Q. No; this class of paper. What is the time occupied in the manufacture of this class of paper? Suppose you were ordering a fresh lot to-day, how soon could it be delivered in Montreal—fifty-six rolls for instance?—A. That would depend a good deal on how the mill was situated.

Q. Allowing for contingencies, what would you average it?—A. You cannot average it.

Q. What is the longest time?—A. Six months.

Q. That is the usual time?—A. No, it is not the usual time. If my mill were running say on thirty five inch paper, the stock as we call it that is made to make that paper, it takes three or four days to prepare it. After you prepare it you start a run. In order to change you have to run out what particular stock you require for this paper, and if I have enough for two weeks stock, it takes two weeks, then we wash up the machines, made new stock and start in again.

Q. How long would all that take?—A. It would take two weeks.

Q. You consider that a good average delay, an ordinary delay to produce that paper? The monthly statement you mention in your examination in chief as having been rendered, what did that comprise?—A. That comprised the paper used the previous month.

Q. It was not a complete statement of the indebtedness?—A. No, because the balance of the indebtedness was given in notes and there was no need of a statement. We gave statements regularly every month. He says that is not a statement of the notes, but they had the notes and had a statement in their offices. We do not make a statement of notes: no merchant does.

Q. This statement then only contained the sales of the previous month?—A. Yes; what paper they had during the month.

Q. In your examination in chief, you spoke as to the reply which was made to the protest. You said that the reply was that there was plenty of paper on hand and that that was Berthiaume's reply, how do you know that?—I do not think it was Mr. Berthiaume's reply, but that was the reply of some one that received the paper sent by the drayman that brought it back.

Q. Do you know anything about it personally?—A. I know that the drayman came in and said they would not take the paper. All I know is what the drayman told me when he brought back the three loads. I did not have any conversation with him.

Q. You say when the paper was subsequently delivered at La Presse office you were not there and did not see it delivered?—A. No, I did not see it delivered. These rolls weighed five hundred pounds a piece. We have got to have a drayman to deliver them.

And further for the present Deponent saith not, and his cross-examination is continued until to-morrow at half-past ten o'clock a.m.

On this third day of February in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and ninety one, personally re-appeared the said Witness, and his cross-examination was continued as follows:—

Q. Will you produce the statement asked for yesterday?—A. I cannot produce that statement.

Q. Please explain why? I asked for a statement of the dates when the paper was manufactured and when it came to the warehouse and so forth. I understood you to say that from your books in the office you could tell that?—A. We cannot tell at the office when that paper was made. We had to write to the mill to ascertain when it was manufactured there. We wrote yesterday to the mill, and it will take two or three days to get a reply.

Q. Could you not have telegraphed?—A. We could not telegraph very well and have an explanation of what was wanted.

Q. Do you mean to say that there is no means of saying approximatively from the books in your office when that paper came into stock or was manufactured?—A. There is a means of telling at the office, at the mill.

Q. But at your office here?—A. No.

Q. Are you prepared to swear to that?—A. Well, no; I will not swear to that.

Q. Please explain then why that statement was not produced?—A. The reason the statement was not produced, was because I could not ascertain at the office when the paper was made, and I simply sat down and wrote to the mill asking them to tell me just when the paper was made there—the date.

Q. I understand from what you say now that you can tell approximately from your books in the office, if not the exact time, at least about when the paper was made; is that so?—A. Yes.

Q. Can you give it to me now?—A. There was about thirty rolls of it, as near as we can find out, made in March, but what part of March we cannot tell until we write to the superintendent and find out at what date such and such paper was made.

Q. March of what year?—A. 1890.

Q. Thirty rolls made in March, 1890?—A. About thirty rolls made in March, 1890.

Q. And the balance?—A. I cannot tell you; it was made before that of course.

Q. Long before that?—A. That I do not know.

Q. When you say thirty rolls of this paper, you refer to a part of the fifty-six rolls sold to the Canada Paper Company?—A. Yes.

Q. Those particular rolls?—A. Those particular rolls.

Q. You are aware that Berthiaume continued to take paper up to the 14th of March?—A. Yes.

Q. Are you quite certain that the particular rolls that were sold were not manufactured prior to February for instance?—A. I do not know. I cannot tell that until I get the dates from the mill—I cannot tell just when they were made.

Q. You are not prepared to swear positively that the thirty rolls that you refer to as having been manufactured in March, 1890, were part of the paper that was sold by Duff & Fraser—are you prepared to swear that?—A. Yes. There is no doubt about that, I will swear to that. I will produce such a statement as exhibit "A-2" at enquete, showing the dates of the manufacture of the paper of which there remained a balance of fifty-six rolls in question, and the dates at which the paper was shipped from the mill to Montreal.

CROSS-EXAMINED by the Company Defendant.

Q. What company do you refer to in the reply to the first question in your examination in chief?—A. La Presse.

Q. How do you know that this document Exhibit "3" is the contract entered into with the new proprietors of La Presse?—A. I know because we wrote the contract and signed it, and Mr. Berthiaume representing La Presse signed it.

Q. Representing La Presse?—A. Yes.

Q. Not the new proprietors of La Presse?—A. I do not know about that.

Q. So you do not know anything more than what is written in the document?—
A. I only know what is written in that document.

Q. Nothing more?—A. Nothing more.

Q. Have you ever dealt with the Company Defendant in any manner whatever?
—A. La Presse do you mean?

Q. The Montreal Printing and Publishing Company?—A. Why, we call it La Presse—is that the same company?

Q. La Presse is the name of the newspaper, but the Montreal Printing and Publishing Company is the name of the company who have been the owners of La Presse, but they do not publish it?—A. All I know is, our business has been with what we call La Presse, and Mr. Berthiaume was the proprietor of La Presse, and La Presse was offered to us for sale as La Presse and we refused to buy it, and Mr. Chapleau bought it under some arrangement we had, for Mr. Berthiaume I understand. Why the cheques that we received in payment for our paper were signed La Presse for Mr. Berthiaume. The paper that we sold for this company, La Presse, when we received pay, the cheques were written La Presse, Mr. Berthiaume, Editor, or something of that kind.

Q. You never sold anything to the Montreal Printing and Publishing Company?
—A. I do not know.

Q. Can you ascertain?—A. I do not know.

Q. Have you that name in your books?—I do not know.

Q. Can you ascertain?—I can, certainly.

Q. You will please bring your books if your answer is affirmative to this question?—A. You can produce the notes that were signed.

Q. Have you ever had any notes signed by the Montreal Printing and Publishing Company?—A. No, I do not think so.

Q. Have you any account in your books against that company?—A. I do not think we have.

Q. Can you ascertain?—A. Oh, certainly.

And further deponent saith not; and I certify the above to be an accurate transcript from my short-hand notes of the deposition of this witness as taken by me at enquete.

J. BERTHIAUME, Defendant.

Q. Did you bring with you the statement asked for yesterday?—A. I did not. We wrote to the mill for it, and it will take a few days to get it. It was the date on which those rolls were made. I wrote to the Mill to the Superintendent, if possible, to look up the day on which the rolls were made and send it to us with all possible despatch. It will take him three or four days to do that, sure. It was a long time ago.

Q. You said you had books in the office that would show it?—A. The books would not show that.

Q. But it would show the date of the receipt of this paper here?—A. It was received the day it was sold. The fifty-six rolls that were sold at auction were at the mill. It was not brought here after it was made. It was brought here after it was sold, and sent directly to La Presse.

Q. When the rolls were sold they were not here?—A. No, they were not here. They were at the mill.

Q. Were they sold at the mill?—A. They were sold by sample. There were three rolls sent as samples to Duff & Fraser, and the balance was at the mill and was not ordered down until it was sold and then it was ordered down.

Q. Do you remember the date of the sale?—A. No, I do not.

Q. Do you remember the month?—A. It was in May, I think.

Q. And you are quite positive that the paper was not here until after the sale was made?—A. Yes. There were three rolls here before, and the fifty-six were sold by the sample of three, and the paper was not delivered until after the sale was made and then we asked where we should deliver it.

And further deponent saith not: and I certify the above to be an accurate transcript from my shorthand notes of this deposition as taken by me at enquete.

IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

On the third day of February

PERSONALLY CAME AND APPEARED

J. BROOKS YOUNG, of Montreal, President of the Company, Plaintiff, aged        years, a witness produced on the part of the Defendant in this cause.

Who being duly sworn, deposes and saith :

I am not related, allied, or of kin to, or in the employ of any of the parties in this cause.

I am not interested in the event of this suit.

Q. Mr. Young, at the time you entered into that agreement fyled as exhibit number three, Mr. Berthiaume was indebted to you in a sum of about ten thousand dollars, to your company, I think?—A. Yes.

Q. Mr. Berthiaume, the defendant, gave you part of that amount in cash and the balance in notes?—A. He did.

Q. He gave you notes according to the terms of that agreement for eight hundred and thirty-eight dollars and one cent?—A. Yes.

Q. There were three notes?—A. I think so, yes.

Q. The two first notes were taken up at maturity?—A. No, I think not.

Q. Well, the two first notes were paid in full?—A. No, I think not; no, there was only ten per cent paid up to now on them. The two first notes were renewed but were afterwards paid.

Q. When were they paid?—A. I do not know the date they were paid.

Q. Well, the two notes were paid on the second of October eighteen hundred and eighty-nine?—A. Yes.

Q. The two first notes were extinguished on the second of October eighteen hundred and eighty-nine?—A. The two first notes were renewed and afterwards paid.

Q. On what date were they extinguished?—A. They were extinguished on the second of October eighteen hundred and eighty-nine.

Q. Leaving due only one note?—A. Yes, only one note.

Q. Would you please tell the Court where the note was at that time? Was it in your hands, or was it discounted?—A. I think it was discounted.

Q. Can you tell me at what bank it was discounted?—A. Probably at the bank of Montreal.

Q. Do you remember that, on or about the first days in March, the money for that last note was offered to you, or that about the last days of February the money for that note was offered to you, and that Mr. Godin demanded that note to be taken up?—A. No.

Q. You do not remember that?—A. No.

Q. But you do not deny it?—A. No, but I was not there at the time.

Q. Do you remember having met Mr. Godin when he went to your place and demanded that note saying that he wanted to pay?—A. No, I was not there.

Q. Do you remember having met him about that note?—A. No.

Q. You remember having been served with a protest offering the money to take up that note with?—A. No. I was not in the office there at the time these things occurred, and that is why I cannot answer that question. You should ask the treasurer or the book-keeper to tell all these things. I was not there.

Q. The money—thirty-five hundred and two dollars and thirty-six cents that was offered to you by the protest, exhibit number one of the defendant, was accepted by you?—A. Yes.

Q. It was the last money owed to the company by the defendant Berthiaume according to the agreement Exhibit "A3"?—Yes. I want to qualify that first answer. It was not accepted directly by me: it was accepted through our Counsel. I instructed the treasurer not to accept it, but that he had better go to our Counsel and have it accepted in case there were any rights to be reserved.

Q. So you instructed the secretary to go to your legal adviser to accept the money if it was to be accepted?—A. If it was proper and right to accept it? yes.

Q. And then, Mr. Hall handed back the money to you and you accepted?—A. Well, I think it was Mr. Brown; it was our legal adviser anyway.

Q. They received the money and gave it to you?—A. Yes.

Q. That was the money to pay the note which was discounted at the Bank of Montreal in February previous?—A. I do not remember when it was discounted.

Q. It was to pay that note anyway?—A. Yes, to take up that note.

Q. Do you pretend to say that you never met Mr. Godin previous to that date, or previous to the month of March about that note?—A. No, I do not think so. I won't say, I have forgotten.

Q. But if Mr. Godin says that it is true, you are not in a position to say that it is not true?—A. No.

Q. Did you ever take any care to send anybody to Gebhardt or Berthiaume, or to La Presse so as to see if the paper was good or not good?—A. I do not think so.

Q. Do you remember any complaint being made about it?—A. I remember that occasionally we heard complaints the same as we do from all people. But it does not always come from the paper itself. There are lots of other causes. It may be the fault of the man who runs the press, but they always lay the fault on the paper.

Q. You always lay the fault on the man that runs the paper?—A. Yes, and he always lays it on us. It might be the fault of the man that runs the press; if he makes a mistake or runs the press too fast: but with them, it was always our fault if the paper was bad.

Q. Mr. Young, did you inquire or did you make any remark to the mills about these complaints? Did you write and represent to them that there were complaints about the rolling and the quality of the paper?—A. Well, I may have or I may not have. If such complaints were made, probably I did.

Q. Well, you have just admitted that such complaints were made. Now, did you remonstrate to the mill that complaints were made about the quality and the rolling of this paper?—A. Well, I do not remember. We do that very often.

Q. Did you go to Mr. Berthiaume, or did you have any interview with him when he ceased taking the paper from you?—A. No, I do not think Mr. Berthiaume was ever in our office.

Q. No, I know: it was his agent generally, Mr. Godin?—A. Mr. Godin used to come in, yes.

Q. Well, they told you why they stopped taking the paper, did they not?—A. They stopped taking paper from us because they got it for a less price elsewhere, and got some one else to advance them the money to take up our paper.

Q. And you know that before they stopped taking the paper, they offered you the last cent of money due you?—A. Yes, they paid us.

Q. Before taking paper from anyone else, they offered you the last cent of money that they owed you?—A. I do not think it. I think they had been receiving samples from the Canada Paper Company for a long time before they stopped taking it from us.

Q. Yes: but before they bought any other paper from any one else, they paid you?—A. No, I do not think so, they had been using paper they had got from the Canada Paper Company, and if the truth could be known you would find out that the money to take up our paper came from the Canada Paper Company.

Q. How many times did Mr. Godin demand his account from you?—A. Oh, I cannot say. We sent in an account every month.

Q. Yes, but did he not come to your place and demand his account, did he not demand that note before he ceased taking paper from you and you said: "I do not know where that note is"?—A. Very likely I did say so; it was not my place; it is his place to know where the note was.

Q. Well, it was for him to pay the note?—Yes.

Q. So, he demanded where the note was and you refused to tell him where?—

A. No, I did not say that; it is perfectly absurd the idea of asking me where the note was, because these notes should have been entered in his note book and he knew when and where they were payable.

Q. Yes, but will you tell the court why you refused to tell him where the note was?—A. Because I did not know.

Q. Do you not keep track of notes that you discount?—A. Most certainly not: I am not the treasurer of the Company. I am the president.

Q. Yes, but as president of the Company, have you not the means of ascertaining where the note was?—A. Yes: I would certainly have found out.

Q. And why did you not ascertain where the note was; he had a right to know where it was?—A. Oh, he knew where it was.

Q. Well, it was at your place?—A. No, it was his note. He made out the note himself and signed it himself and knew where it was payable.

Q. Do you remember that when the last note was paid by Mr. Godin, he asked for a statement of the account?—A. I do not know.

Q. You do not deny it though?—A. I do not deny it, no: but why was he to ask for a statement? I was brought up as a banker and know something about these things. The idea of asking a statement for three notes when the amount is made payable at a certain place.

Q. Well, do you remember that at the time that Mr. Godin told you that he wanted to have a statement of the last cent owing you?—A. No, I do not.

Q. When you received through your solicitors the sum of seven thousand dollars, the last sum of money due you, had you on hand at the time the fifty-six rolls of paper?—A. I do not know.

Q. The date of the acceptance of the money is about the middle of April eighteen hundred and ninety. Had you in store at that time the fifty-six rolls of paper when you accepted the money from Mr. Mackay the Notary?—A. No, part of it was here and part of it was at the mill where we make it.

Q. So that when you accepted the last cent due you by the Defendant, Mr. Berthiaume, part of that paper was in the mill?—A. Yes.

Q. Will you tell me if you ever notified Mr. Berthiaume of that fact, before settling the last cent of the contract between you two?—A. I wrote to him. I notified him by letter that we were carrying a stock of paper on hand.

Q. Was that after or before you accepted the money?—A. Before, I think.

Q. It was before you accepted the last cent due you?—A. When we heard these rumors we wrote to him telling him that we carried a certain amount of stock all the time.

Q. So, on the twenty-fifth of February, you were aware of the fact when you had on hand this fifty six rolls of paper, that Mr. Berthiaume was going to take this paper somewhere else?—A. Not in February, no.

Q. Well, you say you notified him by letter of the twenty-fifth of February, and I understood you to say a moment ago that you manufactured more than fifty rolls of that in March?—A. I think so.

Q. And in the month of February, you were aware of the fact that Mr. Berthiaume intended to take his paper somewhere else?—A. No; you are wrong there. I simply say that we wrote to him when we heard the rumors, and then in our contract it is specially stipulated that he should notify us in writing, which he never did.

Q. But you were informed of that fact by Mr. MacFarlane?—A. Well, Mr. MacFarlane was one, and another gentleman told me also.

Q. Well, that letter of the twenty-fifth of February never referred to the lot of the fifty-six rolls that were not manufactured at the time?—A. It did not refer to them, no.

Q. So, that paper you had on hand on the twenty-fifth of February was taken up by the Defendant?—A. I do not know about that.

Q. Well, that fifty-six rolls are included in the balances paid?—A. On the twenty-fifth of February I wrote to the defendant and asked him if it was a fact that he was going to cancel the contract and informed him that we did not understand the contract in that way, and that we were carrying stock all the time; he would not accept any terms. In the original, we tried to provide against washouts, break downs and strikes, but he said: "No; we will guard against fire, and if your mills burn down, the contract will be null; but you must look out for all washouts, break downs and strikes." I said: "All right, in that case we will have to carry a stock of paper all the time so that in case we should have a strike or a break down, or a washout, we would be secured."

Q. Yes, well, as a matter of fact, is it not true that, at the time you wrote this letter, you had two hundred rolls of paper manufactured?—A. No; I do not think we had over two hundred.

Q. Had you one hundred?—A. I think we had: I cannot say if we had more than that.

Q. So, it was taken up by the defendant if it was specially manufactured for him? That is the one hundred rolls on the twenty-fifth of February was taken up by the defendant?—A. Well, whatever we had was taken up.

Q. Will you please fyle a statement of what was taken up by the defendant from the twenty-fifth of February to the fourteenth of March, at the date of your letter of the twenty-fifth of February—you said you had from one to two hundred rolls?—A. No. My letter of the twenty-fifth of February said this: "I was informed yesterday that you had made a contract for your supply of paper for La Presse and I deem the best course to pursue was to ask you a direct question as it might be possible that you do not understand the contract now existing between us as we do. It has something over two years to run yet and you are well aware of the fact that we carry from one to two hundred rolls of paper in stock that we expect you to take at the end of the contract." I did not say that we had one hundred rolls on hand at the time. We may have had two hundred rolls or we may have had fifty on hand. If I said in my answer before that we had over two hundred rolls, I withdraw that answer.

Q. So, you cannot say if you had any other paper of that kind left outside of the fifty-six rolls. You are not in a position to swear?—A. Well, I should think that when they stopped, we had fifty-six rolls of this paper on hand.

Q. Do you know if you had any more than that?—A. Yes, I am sure we had more.

Q. How are you sure of it?—A. Because we told them to ship it all in.

Q. Well, would you swear now, that none of that kind of paper was sold elsewhere?—A. No.

Q. You would not swear to that?—A. No.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Q. After you wrote that letter, Mr. Young, of date the 25th of February, did they continue to take paper from you in the ordinary way for some time?—A. They did.

Q. Until what date?—A. Until the fourteenth day of March.

Q. That is the last day?—A. Yes, the last day they received any paper from us.

Q. And they simply continued on taking paper in the ordinary way?—A. Yes, they simply continued on in the ordinary way.

Q. Well, will you file that statement, Mr. Young, showing the delivery of this paper for the period of time from the fourteenth of February to the fourteenth of March eighteen hundred and ninety as Exhibit ("A5") at enquete?—A. Yes.

Q. So they continued from the twenty-fifth of February to take paper in the ordinary way from you up to the fourteenth of March?—A. They did.

Q. Now, Mr. Young, that Exhibit number three was given to you in settlement of this indebtedness contained in Exhibit "A5" I think, was it not?—A. It was.

Q. That settlement was about first of October, I think?—A. About the first of October, yes.

Q. Now, when you say these notes were paid on the second of October, as you have stated, do you mean that they were paid then, or that they were given then and the indebtedness cancelled by notes—that is, were the notes paid or given on the second of October?—A. These notes were given on the second of October.

Q. Then, they were not paid on the second of October?—A. No, they were not paid on the second of October.

Q. Now, how many notes were there in all?—A. There were five notes.

Q. At what delays were they made?—A. The first one was dated October the second, at two months; the second, October the second, at three months; the third, October the second, at four months; the fourth, October the second, at five months; and the fifth, October the second, at six months.

Q. Then there were five notes dated the 2nd of October, made at two, three, four, five and six months respectively?—A. Yes.

Q. That was an average of four months?—A. Yes.

Q. Now, the first three notes, were they paid in full at maturity?—A. Ten per cent of their value was paid, and the balance renewed.

Q. That is the notes of two, three and four months?—A. Yes; and the five months' note and the six months' note were paid.

Q. They were paid in full at maturity?—A. Yes.

Q. The notes of two, three and four months were renewed, in accordance with the terms of the contract?—A. Yes.

Q. And they were renewed at four months?—A. Yes.

Q. So that it was in the spring of eighteen hundred and ninety that they were paid?—A. Yes.

Q. The last two, I think, were paid by the notary?—A. The last two were paid by the notary; it came through our counsel.

Q. It was after the protest?—A. Yes.

Q. Will you take communication of defendant's Exhibit No. 1, and state whether that is a protest and the tender of the money?—A. Yes.

Q. That is dated the 15th of April, is it not?—A. Yes, the 15th of April, 1890.

Q. So it was the following day, or within two days after that, that you received your money?—A. Yes.

Q. That was the only legal tender of the money that you received?—A. Yes.

Q. Now, this stock of fifty-six rolls, that you refer to, do you know whether that was actually in stock at the date when they ceased to buy paper from you on the 14th of March?—A. I think so; I can ascertain it.

Q. That will appear from the statement which you are to get from the mill?—A. Yes. I want to make one correction. I see by the statement they were dated October the second; it was my book keeper that made this out, but it seems that they were not paid on this date, but the notes were made on these dates. They were issued, not paid on these dates.

Q. At the time of this conversation with Mr. Godin, that you refer to in your examination-in-chief, Mr. Young, did you receive any formal notice of the cancellation of this agreement?—A. We have not.

Q. And I suppose you were desirous of obtaining the contract?—A. We were.

Q. Now, I think you stated in your examination in chief, that the amount of the open account at the time was about one hundred and seventy-nine dollars?—A. Yes.

Q. Besides that, there were two notes included in the notarial tender?—A. Yes.

RE-EXAMINED.

Q. How many notes did you receive at first?—A. I think there were five notes.

Q. Five amounting to eight thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight dollars as per contract?—A. No, I do not think it was that.

Q. On the twenty-fifth of March, all that was due on these notes was five hundred and seventy-one dollars, was it not?—A. No. It was one hundred and seventy-nine dollars and ninety-five cents. Your Honour, I will tell you why I am in fault in these things. I did not keep the books, being the president of the company, and of course, I have to look carefully; I cannot answer as readily. This statement shows a balance of five hundred and seventy-one dollars and sixty cents.

Q. This Exhibit B of defendants at enquete is the receipt for the last money you received from the defendant through Messieurs Chapleau, Hall, Nichols—Brown—that is the receipt for the last money?—A. Well, I will read what it is: "Received payment under reserve of our rights under protest eleventh April, Mr. Dunton, N.P."

Q. Well, I want to know if it is the receipt of the last money you received?—A. I do not know.

Q. BY THE COURT.—What is the date of it?—A. It is a receipt of the sixteenth of April, eighteen hundred and ninety: "Received payment under reserve of our right."

Q. Well, did you receive any money from them after that?—A. I do not know.

Q. Nothing was due to you? After that you had no other transaction?—A. I do not think so. I do not know. I cannot tell.

Q. Well, that was the money received from Mr. Mackay the notary?—A. Yes.

Q. And that was the money that was handed to you by your legal adviser?—A. Yes, I presume so.

Q. So that was the balance due to you at the time?—A. I presume so.

RE-CROSS EXAMINED.

Q. I understood you to say, Mr. Young, that this Exhibit "B" of defendant refers to the open account?—A. Yes.

Q. It does not refer in any way to the notes?—A. No; none whatever.

Q. So, if there were notes due at the time, this receipt does not refer to them?—A. No; it has nothing to do with them.

Q. At all events, after this protest and tender of the fourteenth of April, which was a tender of three thousand five hundred and two dollars and thirty-six cents, the amount was paid and received by you?—A. It was, sir.

Q. This protest states: "Said requerants have decided to pay the New England Paper Company, etc." as in protest?—A. Yes.

Q. It appears by that protest that there were still two notes?—A. Yes.

Q. And the settlement of these two notes was made at the same time?—A. Yes.

Q. And you received a cheque for the full amount?—A. Yes.

Q. That was on the same day, Mr. Young?—A. Yes.

The Company defendant state that they have no cross-examination to make. And further the deponent saith not; and this is a true and correct transcript of shorthand notes of his deposition as taken by me at enquete.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

COMMITTEE ROOM, TUESDAY, 25th August, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

JOHN LORNE McDOUGALL, Auditor General, called sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

1. Where are the attendance books?—They were sent here.
2. Will you kindly look at the attendance book for the year 1891?—1891.
3. Yes; the attendance book of this year?—The books for 1888, 1889 and 1890 were asked for.
4. The attendance book for 1891 is the one I require now?—I have made a digest of the attendance books for the previous years, 1888, 1889 and 1890, to enable me to answer questions with reference to them.
5. You have the names of the different clerks in your Department on that attendance book?—Yes.
6. Are those clerks permanent or extra?—Some are permanent, some are extras.
7. Would you kindly name the extra clerks?—Those that are there now, you mean?
8. Yes.—Mr. Moore, Mr. Chant, Mr. Harrison and Miss O'Connell.
9. All the rest are permanent clerks?—All the rest are permanent clerks.
10. What is the first name on that list?—Miss Baldwin; the names are in alphabetical order.
11. Will you kindly look at the attendance books and see how many times Miss Baldwin has been absent?—In this year?
12. Yes?—You mean from the 1st of January?
13. Yes.—She was absent on January 2nd, 8th, 9th, 10th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st. She was absent on the 6th March—
14. There must be some in February?—No. She was also absent on the 10th March.
15. How about the 4th March?—She was not absent. I see her signature as being present at 9.55 a.m. She was absent on the 12th March, 13th—
16. How about the 11th March?—She was present, but did not sign on the 11th. She was absent on the 14th, and I see that there is a stroke at the 16th, but it does not state whether she is absent or not, and that had better be put absent. She was also absent on the 17th March, and next on the 2nd April.
17. How about the 18th March?—I have made a stroke there, and I suppose she was absent on the 18th. I have marked absent on the 29th April; I see she was ill on the 30th. She was in very poor health sometimes, and no doubt her illness commenced at that time. On the 1st May, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 8th, 9th, too, I have marked that she was not there. On the 11th, 12th, 13th, 16th, 18th, 19th, 20th, all ill. She was absent on the 22nd of June, and she was ill on the 30th August. That is the list.
18. Take the attendance book of 1890.—I will read an abstract of that, and anybody can verify that afterward.
19. How often was she absent in 1890?—Miss Baldwin had leave for 23 days in 1890, and she was ill and absent 48 days.
20. I made it 76 days.—You no doubt added the two together—the ill and the absent on leave.
21. And in 1889?—Between illness and absence 45 days, and in the previous year it was 43 days. She was ill for 11 days.
22. Does her salary run on?—Yes; it runs on,

By Mr. Foster :

23. She is a permanent clerk?—Yes. I may say this, that I am sorry for Miss Baldwin, but I told her this year, before there was any talk of investigation, that she could not have any leave this year. I took that on myself. The pay going on when absent from illness is allowed under the Civil Service Act; but I said I could not give her leave, and she understands that. She can work very well when she is able to work, but she is a woman of delicate constitution.

24. What is her salary?—$750 this year. It was $700 last year.

By Mr. McMullen :

25. How long has she been in the service?—Five or six years.

By Mr. Barron :

26. During all these times that this lady was absent, was her absence accounted for in the attendance book?—Yes.

27. Was there any Order in Council or anything passed with regard to her being away so much?—No. My interpretation of the Civil Service Act is that if she is absent from illness that it is allowable to have her salary go on.

28. Does not the statute say something about leave?—Yes; if she has to get leave of absence. You see there is this about that: There may be reasonableness in these things. I did not know the day Miss Baldwin could come back, and I did not want to give her leave of absence. I am speaking of the law as applied to permanent clerks.

29. When a person is absent on account of illness they have to get the certificate of a medical man named by the Governor in Council?—Yes.

30. Was that done in this case?—No; but I got the certificate of other medical men.

31. You were satisfied in Miss Baldwin's case that she was really ill, and quite unfit to do the work?—Yes.

32. When she was absent so much, did anybody take her place?—No.

33. So there were not two people paid for doing the same work?—The work had to go on.

34. There was no new person brought in to take her place, and both receiving pay?—No.

By Mr. Taylor.

35. Look at the attendance book for 1890, commencing on the 3rd January, 1890. Look through the month of January, and see if she was in attendance on any day in that month.—She was present some days.

36. Was she present on the 3rd?—Yes.

37. On the 4th?—Yes.

38. Was she present on the 7th?—Yes.

39. And on the 8th?—Yes.

40. On the 9th?—No.

41. The 10th?—No.

42. The 11th?—No.

43. The 13th?—No.

44. The 14th?—No.

45. The 15th?—No.

46. The 16th?—No.

47. The 17th?—No.

48. The 18th?—No.

49. The 20th?—No.

50. The 23rd?—No.

51. The 24th?—No.

52. The 21st and 22nd—I skipped those?—No.

53. The 25th?—No.
 54. The 26th?—No.
 55. The 29th?—No.
 56. The 30th?—No.
 57. The 31st?—No.
 58. What reason is given?—That she was ill.
 59. Now take February. Was she present any day in February?—I do not find her present in February at all.
 60. What is the mark opposite her name?—"Ill."
 61. The same way though March?—No.
 62. Then she had regular leave of absence in July, 1890?—Yes.
 63. For what length of time?—She was 23 days absent.
 64. From the 24th of July until the 19th of August?—Likely.
 65. Figuring the total number of days altogether for the three years, you have a statement which makes it 189 days?—For the four years it may; but for the three years it was 159.
 66. Equal to about eight months of service at $700 a year?—Yes.
 67. On no occasion have you had an Order in Council?—No; I did not need one.
 68. But you gave her three weeks' leave?—I did not need it for that. If she got leave of absence it would have to be under Order in Council; but as long as she gets a doctor's certificate that is all that is required.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

69. Did she have a doctor's certificate?—Yes.
 70. Who was the doctor?—Doctor Cousens.
 71. If Miss Baldwin did not do that work, who did it?—Miss Belford did most of it—another permanent clerk. She is a typewriter in the Audit Office.
 72. Is it possible to do the work of two clerks by one in your office?—I may just as well explain that there is no such thing as hours in the Audit Office. For at least three months in the year ten or twelve of the people work overtime. They never get any extra pay, never ask it, and do not grumble.
 73. Was Miss Belford brought back after time?—No. It was not necessary, and it is not nice to bring ladies back after night.
 74. She must have done this work in her office hours?—Yes. The ladies do not do extra hours.
 75. You had no temporary clerk employed to do Miss Baldwin's work?—I think there was no temporary clerk employed to do her work.

By Mr. Barron :

76. You say in four years 189 days she was absent. During all that time her absence was accounted for?—Yes.
 77. Does that include her holidays?—Yes.
 78. How many days of holidays would she have each year?—By the strict rule, 18 days.
 79. Unstrictly then?—I think the limit is three to four weeks.
 80. That would be 84 days. So she was absent 105 days on account of illness in four years?—Yes.

By Mr. Costigan :

81. You have not included any Sundays in that?—No.
 82. Would you in her case, if some other person had to be taken into the Department to do her work, pay that person, and at the same time pay her?—I would.
 83. Although she was absent?—Yes so long as she was a permanent clerk; not if she was an extra clerk.

By Mr. Sproule :

84. You say that this young lady was away 72 days from illness?—Yes.

85. Did the one medical certificate cover all those times, or had you one each time?—Each time.

86. And that did away with the necessity of the Order in Council?—Yes.

By Mr. Landerkin :

87. What Minister is at the head of your Department?—No Minister.

By Mr. Barron :

88. You say that in the case of a permanent clerk who is absent on account of illness and some person is taken into the Department as a substitute for the permanent clerk you paid the salaries of both?—Yes.

89. But not in the case of an extra clerk?—No, because I do not find any authority for paying a temporary clerk in that way.

90. Do you know if Miss Craig was an extra clerk or not in the Post Office Department?—I do not know anything about that.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

91. Will you state whether there were any other absences during 1891?—Of other people?

92. Yes?—Oh, yes. I have an abstract of the previous years. I have not 1891, as I did not think it would be required, but I could easily have it made out for you, if you wish.

93. I asked for 1891. What other years have you?—1888, 1889, 1890. I wanted to give intelligent answers, assuming it was in regard to these years that I was to be asked, and therefore I had the abstract made covering those years.

94. What are your abstracts for those years?—I find Miss Belford was absent altogether 83 days in the three years. Mr. L. A. Bissonnette 95 days in 3 years.

95. Is Miss Belford an extra or permanent clerk?—She is a permanent clerk.

96. Who is the next you have in your statement?—Mr. G. C. Bolton was absent 116 days in 3 years—leave, holidays, &c.

By Mr. Landerkin :

97. None were absent without leave or medical certificate?—Not one.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

98. And Sundays are not included in that statement?—No. Mr. W. P. Garrett, was absent 41 days in 2 years; Mr. J. H. P. Gibson, 108 days in 3 years, Mr. John Gorman, 75 days; Mr. John Graham, 65 days, Mr. H. H. Gray—he is in the Post Office Department now—was with us 1 year and he had 2 months' leave of absence. He was away 67 days in one year. He was given leave of absence by Order-in-Council to go to England as a member of the Wimbledon team. Mr. F. Hayter was away 64 days in 3 years, but during that time he was away 41 days on official business, so that he had only 23 days leave of absence during that period.

99. Where was that business that he was engaged on?—He went down to Ca- rillon to assist Mr. Wood, the Commissioner in connection with the Dowker troubles, and to examine the canals. Mr. E. C. Hayes was away forty-two days in two years; Mr. A. B. Hudson, sixty-nine days in three years; Mr. W. Kearns, forty-nine days in three years; Mr. C. J. Keating, twenty-eight days in two years.

By Mr. Hyman :

100. That includes all holidays?—It includes everything—leave of absence, &c., but not statutory holidays.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

101. And these are all permanent clerks?—Yes. Then I have Mr. J. B. Lynch, absent twenty-five days in one year, but fifteen of those days he was absent on official business. Mr. Lynch is now in the Department of Agriculture. Mr. J. C. MacDonald was away 102 days in three years, but he was absent forty days from illness.

102. Have you to hire temporary clerks to do the work of these absentees?—As I tell you these men do, on the average a month and a half of extra time in the year for which they get not a cent. I never have to ask them to work, that is: no credit to me, it is a credit to them, I think. They are always willing to do the work; there can be no doubt about that so far as the Audit Office is concerned. The next on my list is I. E. Martin, who is now a Professor in the Royal Military College, Kingston. He was away ninety-two days in three years, twenty-six days from illness. Miss E. O'Connell was absent ninety-five days; she is a temporary clerk. Thomas Porter, was absent ninety-nine days, he is a permanent clerk. Then comes J. W. Reid who was absent the most days of any clerk in the Department. He was away 187 days in three years. He was down four months suffering from typhoid fever. Then J. B. Simpson was 123 days. He had fifty-seven days illness with la grippe. B. W. Sherwood, was fifty-five days absent in three years. Mr. J. S. Stevenson, who has only been with us two years, has been away forty-eight days altogether. Mr. E. Stockton, who has been with us one year, was away one day, and Mr. E.D. Sutherland has been absent 115 days altogether. He is a chief clerk in the office.

103. Have you the doctor's certificates on file in all cases of sickness?—I have the most of them. I have not all. I will be very glad to give them to you before the next meeting.

By Mr. Barron :

104. In Miss Belford's case, and in all the cases, the time of absence includes the statutory holidays?—The days I have given include the holidays, but not the statutory holidays.

105. I mean the regular holidays? You give the clerks three weeks' holidays?—They are allowed three weeks, but sometimes they get four.

106. By three weeks, you mean twenty-one days?—No, eighteen days only.

107. Take Miss Belford's case, in three years her eighteen days holidays each year would be—?—Fifty-four days.

108. So that you deduct fifty-four from eighty-three, the number of days you say she was absent from the office, it would leave twenty-nine days?—Yes.

109. So that really she was only 29 days absent in three years' time?—Yes.

110. Then in Mr. Bissonnette's case, if you take 54 days from 95 he was only absent 41 days, exclusive of his holidays?—Yes. He was ill part of the time.

111. Now with regard to Mr. Bolton's case, 116 days absent?—Mr. Bolton had trouble of the eyes, which prevented him from being at the office.

112. He was really sick?—He was; I know that. I do not allow one man to get a day unless I am sure about it.

113. You satisfied yourself that the clerks were really ill by requiring them to produce a doctor's certificate when they remained away on the plea of illness?—Yes, both by doctor's certificate and by enquiring.

114. There was no going away for five months and drawing pay during that time?—There are not any in the Audit Office who want to do it.

115. All of them were permanent clerks with the exception of Miss O'Connell?—Yes.

116. In the case of Miss O'Connell, who was away for 95 days, did anyone take her place?—In the case of Mr. Reid, who was ill from typhoid fever, I had a Miss Ballantyne there, but Reid has done twice as much extra work since then as his absence involved.

117. You satisfied yourself as to his illness?—Yes.

118. From whom did you make inquiries?—Dr. Wright. An extra clerk could not have done a quarter of his work. He was a permanent clerk, and the other clerks in the office turned in willingly and did his work. Mr. Martin, now Professor at Kingston, did the most of it.

119. Did others of the clerks turn in to do his work?—Yes.

120. And you did not take in anyone else from outside?—Yes, I took in Miss Ballantyne to assist. She came in at $400 a year for the three months.

121. Mr. Reid was a permanent clerk?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

122. He drew his pay all the time?—Yes.

123. And Miss Ballantyne?—Yes.

By Mr. Sproule :

124. You have Mr. Sutherland down for 115 days absent?—Yes.

125. The statutory holidays are not included in this?—Yes; that is the whole thing.

126. Not the statutory holidays?—No; I mean the annual holidays.

127. Then there are other days the Departments are closed besides the statutory holidays?—Oh, no.

128. Well, are they not closed on religious holidays?—The religious holidays are the statutory holidays.

By Mr. Taylor :

129. Well, what about the civic holiday?—Well, the civic holiday was no holiday in the Department.

130. It was not this year, because Parliament was sitting?—Our people would only get it if the other Departments got it. If the clerks of the Finance Department worked, my clerks would work.

By Mr. Barron :

131. You have the reputation of being a hard taskmaster?—I have got a lot of willing men, but perhaps they are not as willing to work as I am to work them.

By Mr. Sproule :

132. You said you had Mr. J. C. Macdonald down for 102 days' absence? Is that for three years?—Yes.

133. His holidays would be 54 days?—Yes. He had a very serious illness and had to undergo a very serious operation that I would explain to you if you were alone.

134. It was a serious illness?—Yes.

135. Were his absences mostly at one time?—Mostly at one time.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

136. I wish to ask you with reference to $145.83 to Mr. F. Hayter, and $145.83 to Mr. J. G. Gorman.

By the Chairman :

137. I would like to ask a question with regard to Miss O'Connell. Did she get her pay deducted or was she paid for her time right along?—She was paid right along.

138. Was she a temporary clerk?—Yes. During this year she was ill.

139. A number of days?—Not a large number; but I can tell you that at the next meeting.

140. 41 days' illness in three years' time?—Yes. I will be very glad to bring the information at the next meeting, Mr. Chairman.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

141. Mr. Hayter and Mr. Gorman are both clerks in your office, are they not?—Yes, both are chief clerks, now.

142. Will you give us your explanation of why $145.83 was paid to Mr. Hayter and $145.83 to Mr. Gorman?

By Mr. Barron :

143. In Miss O'Connell's case she was absent 95 days in three years, I understand; deducting holidays that would be how much?—41 days.

144. How much would that be a year?—The average would be  $13\frac{1}{3}$  days' absence in the year.

145. On account of illness?—Yes.

By Mr. Landerkin :

146. A certificate each time?—Yes. At the next meeting I will bring particulars of this.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

147. Now will you tell me about those payments?—I will refer you in the first place to page 58 of the Civil Service Act of 1882, which says: "When the duties of any superior officer or clerk, during his absence or by reason of his death but not through superannuation, are continuously performed by an officer or clerk of an inferior class of junior rank, during a period of more than three months, the officer or clerk performing such duties may on the report of the deputy head of the department under an Order in Council, and provided that funds are available under Parliamentary vote for such payment receive in addition to his ordinary pay the pay of the officer or clerk whose duties he has performed for the time he has performed such duties."

148. Whose work was it that Mr. Hayter and Mr. Gorman performed?—We had better confine ourselves to what the duties were.

149. Will you answer my question, and say whose salary it was?—It was Mr. Barber's salary.

150. When was Mr. Barber given leave of absence?—He got leave of absence from the 5th March.

151. What year?—The year 1883.

152. He was then absent from the office?—Yes.

153. From the 5th March, 1883?—Yes.

154. When did Mr. Hayter and Mr. Gorman commence to do Mr. Barber's work—from what date did Mr. Hayter do Mr. Barber's work?—From that time.

155. Did he do the work that Mr. Barber had been doing?—He did the work.

156. He did the whole of it then?—Yes.

157. When did he commence to do that work?—Well he was doing it while Mr. Barber was there and he continued to do it.

158. He performed the work while Mr. Barber was there?—He and Mr. Barber did the work together.

159. I am referring to the work that Mr. Barber did?—Yes; I am referring to that.

160. When did Mr. Hayter do Mr. Barber's work?—From that time on.

161. Does this item of $145.83 represent all the difference in the salaries during that time?—No; there was a payment in the previous year, 1882-83.

162. A payment in the previous year?—Yes; the previous financial year.

163. That went to Mr. Hayter?—Yes.

164. From what time does this payment run?—This runs only from the 1st of July.

165. Until when?—Until the end of November.

166. That is how many months?—Five months.

167. Then Mr. Hayter did Mr. Barber's work from the 1st of July until the end of November?—No; because Mr. Barber's work—that is the work in which he was engaged—the special work that he was doing—was finished before that time.

168. I am asking you so far as any work that Mr. Barber had been doing was concerned; between the first of July and the end of November, Mr. Barber did no work?—He was not there.

169. Was there any work for him to do?—Certainly.

170. Who did that work?—There was no work for him to do, because he was not there to do it. If he had done the work on which he was engaged, I would have given him some other work to do.

171. If he had been there, some other person must have been out of employment?—No, I was never able to overtake my work. I am not able to do it now.

172. What were Mr. Barber's duties?—His duties were the duties of a first class clerk, but he never did his duty.

173. Then if he did not do his duty somebody else must have done it?—He did not.

174. Who got his pay?—He did.

175. Are you in the habit of paying men who do not do their duty?—I do not pay many now, but I had to do it then. You may ask many heads of departments whether they have not been obliged to do the same thing.

176. Then, Mr. Barber did not do his work?—No, he did not. Mr. Barber had during that time a disease from which his life might have been cut off at any moment. I may say that without doing any injustice to his memory. It was a disease I believe called Aneurism.

By Mr. Landerkin :

177. Is he alive now?—No, he is dead.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

178. From July to November, Mr. Hayter performed the duties that should have been performed by Mr. Barber?—Not Mr. Hayter alone.

179. Who else?—Mr. Hayter and Mr. Gorman.

180. Then, Mr. Hayter and Mr. Gorman did the duties?—Yes.

181. Then those two gentlemen received the differential salary conjointly?—My view of the law was this, that I should pay one of them during one period, and the other during the other period.

182. I am referring to these five months?—Yes.

183. One was from the 1st of July to the 1st of November?—Yes.

184. You paid these gentlemen the difference in the salaries?—Yes.

185. Did you consider this following the law?—I did.

186. The law reads, "when the duties of any superior officer or clerk during his absence or by reason of his death, but not through superannuation are continuously performed by an officer or clerk of an inferior class or junior rank during a period of more than three months" (this was five months), "the officer or clerk performing such duties may under a report of the deputy head of the department under an Order in Council, and provided that funds are available under Parliamentary vote for such payment receive in addition to his ordinary pay the pay of the officer or clerk whose duty he has performed for the time he has performed such duties." These duties run from the 1st of July until November a period of five months?—Yes.

187. There were then two and a half months for each of them?—No; I paid from the first of March. I paid Mr. Hayter for the first four months, and I paid Mr. Gorman for the remaining four months.

188. I am not dealing with those periods?—But you must deal with them for the purpose of forming a correct conclusion. The payment for the former period is explanatory of this.

189. Here are the cheques. I have a cheque dated 7th August, 1883, which says: "Paid to F. Hayter the difference between self and E. C. Barber, June and July payment." Then there is another one in the same way: "F. Hayter, difference between self and E. C. Barber for July payment." Perhaps you will understand these best yourself?—You see I struck out the June there; those are my own initials.

190. Yes; is not this true, Mr. McDougall, that by referring to these cheques you paid Mr. Gorman and Mr. Hayter the difference in the salary for the work done between the 1st July and November?—Yes; but after all it is easier to get at the truth by looking into the payment. My view of the law was that I had to consider these two periods. I paid Mr. Hayter for the first period, from the 1st of March to the end of July, and I paid Mr. Gorman from the 1st of August until the end of November.

By Mr. Sproule :

191. Did you divide the time between these two, to keep it within the law—within the provisions of the law?—Yes; that was to keep it within the provisions of the law. So far as my report is concerned I put it in as I represent.

192. It was your object to keep it within the provisions of the law?—It was.

By Sir Richard Cartwright :

193. Altogether, Mr. Barber was absent from duty about eight months?—Yes.

194. Was it through illness?—Yes; very serious illness. He was under Sir James Grant.

195. Did you say Mr. Gorman and Mr. Hayter did the work of Mr. Barber during that time?—They performed the duties.

By Mr. Mills (Annapolis) :

196. I argue from that answer that Mr. Barber did no work?—I do not say that he did not do any work, but he did very little.

By Mr. Haggart :

197. What is the distinction between duties and work?—I will illustrate. Mr. Gorman came here and he had, we will say, Mr. Hector for an assistant; he was an old gentleman 79 years of age, and he had never been accustomed to auditing. Mr. Gorman was a first-class man, who had been trained to his business; he had great experience, and happened to be a good book-keeper and was willing to work. The short time after he came, I put Mr. Hector, who was a first-class clerk, to assist Mr. Gorman, who was a 3rd class clerk. I considered that he was doing the duties of a first-class clerk, and that Mr. Hector was doing the work of a third-class clerk with a first-class clerk's salary. Now I contend that if a person came in that could only do the work that Mr. Hector had been doing, he would not be entitled to the first-class clerk's pay, but when Mr. Gorman came in and was able to do the first-class clerk's duties he was entitled to the pay with the duties. It seems to me to be quite manifest, but I know that it is hard for an outsider to understand this. I am merely giving this as an explanation.

198. We have got this fact, that Mr. Barber had certain duties, and that he did not do the work?—Yes; he did not perform his duties.

199. What were his duties?—I did not assign him any duties that he could not do.

200. Are there clerks in your office who have duties that they cannot perform?—Yes; and we have to give them to the men who can do them.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, 4th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

The following letter was submitted:

“ OTTAWA, 3rd Sept., 1891.

“ N. G. WALLACE,

“ Chairman Public Accounts Committee.

“ DEAR SIR,—We have observed, with much regret, in reports which have appeared in the newspapers of the examinations made by the Public Accounts Committee that questions were put which conveyed insinuations against our friend, Miss H. A. Baldwin, of the Auditor General's Office.

“ We beg respectfully to state that Miss Baldwin is incapable of endeavouring, on the pretence of illness, to claim payment for her time not spent in the office while she was able to perform her duty. It gives us pleasure to know that every day of Miss Baldwin's absence was supported by the certificate of her physician, Dr. Cousens.

"It is well known that there has been within the last three or four years an unusual amount of illness in this city—cases of typhoid fever and "la grippe" having been particularly frequent.

"Miss Baldwin is an honourable, straightforward person who well deserves the respect and esteem in which she is held by her large circle of acquaintances in Ottawa.

We have the honour to be, Sir,
Your obedient servants,

THOS. BIRKETT, Mayor,
E. B. RYCKMAN, D. D., Pastor Dom. Meth. Church,
E. H. BRONSON, M. P. P.,
J. W. McRAE."

After which Mr. Mills (Annapolis) made the following statement:—

"I wish it distinctly understood, that on bringing up the names of absentees from the Auditor General's Office, the object was to show what I had been informed, that is to say: That employes had been absent and paid irregularly. I meant to insinuate nothing, and further, I did not know that the first name on the list of the attendance book was that of a female until the Auditor General stated it in giving his testimony."

COMMITTEE ROOM,

MONDAY, 28th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

J. LORN McDUGALL recalled and further examined:—

By Mr. Foster :

201. Have you any statement to make to the Committee, Mr. McDougall?—I think the evidence is correct as far as I am concerned, but in copying the law which refers to the differential payments the reporter took the Act of 1885, by which the law was materially changed, and I think in the event of the question coming up again it would be well for the proper quotation to go in.

202. What emendation do you want to make in your evidence?—I wish to have this quotation changed which appears in my answer to question 147: "When the duties of any superior officer or clerk, during his absence or by reason of his death but not through superannuation, are continuously performed by an officer or clerk, of an inferior class of junior rank, during a period of more than three months, the officer or clerk performing such duties may on the report of the deputy head of the Department, under an Order in Council, and provided that funds are available under Parliamentary vote for such payment, receive in addition to his ordinary pay, the pay of the officer or clerk whose duties he has performed for the time he has performed such duties." Instead of that quotation I desire to put in the law as it really was in 1882, it is as follows: "When the duties of any superior officer or clerk are continuously performed by an officer or clerk of an inferior class of junior rank, during a period of more than three months, the officer or clerk performing such duties may, on the recommendation of the deputy head, concurred in by the head of the Department and provided that funds are available under Parliamentary vote for such payment, receive in addition to his ordinary pay the difference between such ordinary pay and the pay of the officer or clerk whose duties he has performed for the time he has performed such duties."

By the Chairman :

203. Who were the two clerks who got this extra pay?—Mr. Hayter and Mr. Gorman.

204. Whose money was it?—It was the difference between their salaries and Mr. Barber's.

205. What were Mr. Barber's specific duties?—He was a first-class clerk, but he was not performing his duties at the time. He could not perform them.

206. But he was drawing full pay?—Yes, he was drawing full pay under the Act.

207. Did they draw his pay while he was there?—No.

208. It was after he was superannuated?—No; before.

209. When he was away on leave of absence?—Yes.

210. What work did Mr. Barber do?—His work was in connection with the examination of the returning officers' accounts.

211. Did the two clerks perform that work for him?—Mr. Hayter performed that work as long as it lasted.

212. And Mr. Gorman?—No. The time Mr. Gorman received the pay that work was over.

213. When he was superannuated who did the work?—It was done by two clerks in the office.

214. Did they get any extra remuneration for doing the work?—Not before he was superannuated.

215. Were they entitled to it?—Well, they were second-class clerks, and I could not give them first-class clerk's pay, however imperfectly he may have been doing the work. It is no unusual thing in the Department for the best men to do the work that others are paid for. I have a statement here which I wish to make with reference to the absences. It shows that the net number of days lost for three years, 1888, 1889 and 1890, being the difference between absences and holidays not taken, was 719 days. The average for each clerk for one year was 11 days. The value of days lost was $2,597; the over-time made in three years was 1,387 days, the value of the same was $5,320; the over-time made by three clerks was $2,964, value of over-time in excess of days lost, $2,723.

216. What do you call over-time?—Any time after 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

217. Do you count up to 6 o'clock?—Yes.

218. Mr. TAYLOR—I do not think we ought to have a statement of this kind from this Department unless we have it from all the Departments. Do you know whether the same rules govern the other Departments in this matter as govern your own?—So far as over-time is concerned they are perfectly entitled to put in a statement of the same kind if they think proper.

219. I presume it is the same in all the Departments?—I am not answerable for them. This is merely a statement to show the public that really there was no loss as regards the amount of extra work done.

220. But your putting in this reflects upon the other Departments?—I do not see that it does. It is simply a statement as regards our own Department.

221. What do you mean by extra work?—I mean work done after hours. From 4 to 6 o'clock and then in the evening. So far as the evening is concerned it is taken from the Police book.

By Mr. Sproule :

222. I suppose in making this statement they made the time up from memory?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

223. But you know the work was done?—Yes; I am certain of that.

By Mr. Sproule :

224. This account goes back how many years?—The three years under discussion. As I said before, the time in the evenings is taken from the Police books, and I have the statement from the men who have done the over-work.

By the Chairman :

225. What does it show?—The hours they have worked after 6 o'clock.

226. The hours after they came in?—Yes.

227. No clerk can be there after hours without his presence being recorded in the Police books?—Nobody.

By Mr. Taylor :

228. What are the office hours?—From 9.30 to 4 o'clock. I may say that I do not want extra credit to be given, I only wish to say that the loss of time through illness has not cost the country any large sum. I think I may fairly claim that the country has not been the loser; when you come to reckon the whole of the time up.

By Mr. Bowell :

229. Supposing the basis upon which this statement is made is correct. The policeman at the door would not be able to know what number of hours the clerk put in. He would simply be able to say that he was there in the evening?—Yes.

230. He would not be able to tell the number of hours?—Not at all.

231. Whether he was reading a novel, or whether he was at work, the policeman could not tell?—Certainly not, but we supposed that they did extra work, in fact I knew that they did it by the work done.

232. The principle upon which extra work has been paid has been passed upon, the ordinary provision that is made in the Department and that governs all work of that kind?—Yes, certainly.

233. And it is the same principle that has been applied to the payment for this extra work in the Departments?—Yes: they do not get extra pay now.

234. There is no extra pay in the Audit Office?—No.

By Mr. Costigan:

235. The statement that is put in here is very good as a statement, but it amounts to nothing as evidence. In fact it is the same with regards to all the offices?—Yes. One man, I may say, will do as much work in a hour as another will do in two. It is no indication of the quantity of work done.

236. There is one more question I wish to ask and it is with reference to the salary of the officer who is absent. His salary, I understand, was paid to the other clerks who did the work?—No; the difference between his salary and that of the clerks who did the work.

237. How was it paid?—In cheques.

238. By the Treasury Board?—Yes.

239. In all these cases, payment was made by Order in Council?—After 1885, not before. Between 1882 and 1885 there was some difference in the system. We have now another interpretation of the law as regards absence in the Civil Service.

240. I have a clear recollection that, in my experience, no such payment was made without reference to Council and the Treasury Board in 1882?—I will read the law and the change that was made.

By Mr. Bowell:

241. There is a payment given for extra work by the permanent clerk staff, from 1868, I might say up to the change in the law in 1882? Was there not?—There was not after 1878, I think.

242. But before 1878?—I was not in before 1878.

243. What was the law?—My interpretation of the law was, that it was not legal to pay, even before 1882, and from the time I was in office I objected to it.

Mr. BOWELL—I think Clause 20 of the Act which I will read, supports my contention that these payments, before 1878, were illegal: “No allowance or compensation shall be made for extra service whatsoever, which any officer or clerk may be required to perform in the Department to which he belongs.”

The Committee then adjourned.

THIRTY-THIRD REPORT:

Your Committee have had under consideration the Accounts, Vouchers and Cheques for certain goods alleged to have been purchased for the use of the Department of Public Works from one A. C. Larose of Ottawa; and in connection therewith have examined witnesses under oath, and for the information of the House report herewith the evidence given by such witnesses.

All which is respectfully submitted.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

COMMITTEE ROOM, FRIDAY, 4th September, 1891.

Committee met.—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

The following letter was read:—

(Translation.)

“THE CEDARS, 2nd September, 1891.

“SIR,—I have just received a letter addressed to my husband, in which you ask him to appear at Ottawa. I regret to have to inform you that he is travelling in the South of the United States, that he has not yet written to me and that I shall not be able to forward your letter to him until he shall have done so.

“He will doubtless proceed to Ottawa at once when he returns.

“MADAME BAILLAIRGÉ.

“E. P. HARTNEY, Esquire,
“Ottawa.”

Mr. J. LORN McDOUGALL called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville:

1. I notice in going over these accounts in connection with supplies to the Public Works Department there is a memorandum there at the bottom. I suppose it is put there by the department, not by your officer?—Yes. That is in the handwriting of Mr. Dionne, the accountant. There are two Mr. Dionnes in the department.

2. You may as well identify those accounts?—These are the Civil Government Contingency Accounts of the Public Works Department for the years 1883-84.

3. Will you refer to the page in your report and say if you can explain what that means?—The accounts you wish me to refer to are those of 1885-86. They are signed in the same way by Mr. Dionne. (See Auditor General's Report, part II, page 48.)

4. There is a statement there as to an amount refunded by the Public Works Department?—No doubt we had the details in my office at the time. There was some amount corresponding to $51 that was excluded. I cannot say what that was. You can well understand that very often during the course of the year, things may get into an account that ought not to be there.

5. Did you ever call the attention of the Minister in charge of that department to some matters in connection with accounts rendered for goods purchased for the department and certified to by a man named Talbot?—I do not think that I ought to be asked any questions about matters of that kind. Of course, I have gone at all times to departments when I saw there was anything that appeared to me ought not to be there, and had got in by an oversight. I have gone to Ministers and called their attention to such charges, and have been met in the same spirit by them, and have got the matter rectified by refund. I always considered those were confidential matters. If I am not to be permitted to do that kind of thing, I would have to treat all these things purely on a business basis which would make it very much more unpleasant for me.

6. In order to get at the bottom of this investigation I think it is necessary to ascertain something with regard to your interview with the department on this matter?—Of course, as I say, I am not prepared to argue the point. I have always anticipated that something of this kind might be asked me with reference to my duty. I think my duty is to get things into right shape, and if I am not to publish them in all their nakedness—At the same time my duties would be much more unpleasant than they are if I could not go to a Minister and speak confidentially to him, perhaps drawing his attention to something he never knew of before and get it righted. It would make the matter very unpleasant for me if I had to do what you ask me.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—Well, perhaps, we had better leave this for the moment and we will see if we can get along without asking you for this information.

SAMUEL ASHFIELD called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

7. You are in the habit of selling goods to the Government?—I have sold them a little, sir.

8. When goods are required is it usual to present a requisition to you from any department requiring the goods?—In most every case. I do not recognize an order unless there is an order. That is before the goods are sent.

9. In looking over your accounts here I see the goods run in much about the same line—tumblers, &c. I notice that a great many chamber sets have been bought from you. Look at that account, what is the date of it?—1885.

10. Where do you deliver the goods to, when they are purchased?—To whatever department the requisition states. They are delivered to all the departments. I have delivered goods to every department through the Public Works Department. In some cases the goods were sent up to the Public Works Department and distributed from some room there—the stationery room, I believe. We had orders to send the goods there and they were distributed from there.

11. You delivered the goods at the Public Works Department?—Yes; to the Stationery Department.

12. Who had charge of the department at the time?—A man named Talbot. I think.

13. Did you ever sell goods on a requisition from that department and deliver them anywhere else but in the department?—No, sir, I never did. The goods were always delivered either to the Department of Public Works or such other departments as the requisition called for. It would mention the room—either in the House of Commons here, or the Senate or wherever it was.

14. Did you ever give commissions on goods furnished by you?—Never.

15. Never to any of the officers of the department?—I never made any arrangement in that way.

16. Not an arrangement. Did you ever give a commission to any officers of the departments?—I never gave a commission that I know of.

17. Did you ever present any officer of the department with goods?—Not that I know of.

18. Are you sure you did not?—Only in this way. Officers from a department would come to me in connection with church matters. Supposing they were going to have a Sunday school picnic and were getting up prizes. Sometimes the officers would come to me—say in connection with the Militia and all the different departments—the Governor General Foot Guards' Band—and ask me for prizes. I have then given a little prize. We do that almost daily throughout the summer season for picnics, bazaars. They come to me for little things like that.

19. Do you swear you never gave a commission in cash to any officer of the Government in Ottawa?—I do.

20. For no order that was given?—I do.

21. Do you not remember fixing a commission on a large quantity of glassware that was purchased from you?—I do not remember.

22. A purchase of $100 or thereabouts?—Never.

23. You swear positively you never did?—Never gave a commission or anything at all.

24. Did you give a gift?—No, or gift at all.

25. Not after the purchase was made?—Only in the way I mentioned—that somebody might come in in that way. I don't remember any instance only that.

26. Well, did you give any money or goods?—Always goods; I never gave cash in any case.

27. You never paid cash or gave a gift or commission to any officer of the Government for a purchase of goods to the amount of somewhere in the neighbourhood of $100?—Never. I don't remember giving anything of that kind to any officer. We make it a rule never to give commission to anybody, except where it is commercial men whom I send out to sell goods or something in that way. I would do it if I were asked to do it, but I have never been asked to do it.

28. My information is the opposite of that?—I would certainly give any man a commission who came to me with an order for goods if he was buying the goods for another party. It is a rule in business houses I have been in in this country and in the United States.

By Mr. Hyman :

29. In the case of a man purchasing for his own employer?—I don't know that I would in that case.

By Mr. McMullen :

30. Have you ever paid commission to any officer of the department, or to any person, or any Civil Servant who purchased goods at the Government order?—I pay commissions daily.

31. I am asking you if you ever paid commissions for any order for supplies for any department?—No, sir.

32. Directly or indirectly?—No, sir; not in any way.

33. And you never gave a present to any person who gave you an order?—Never that I know of or remember of. I may have made a special reduction to persons coming in and buying goods for their own use, giving them a little discount off.

34. In return for an order given you?—No, sir.

35. What do you mean by a discount off? You say it is a common thing to give a gift or commission to a person who brings you an order?—Yes.

36. I ask you if you have ever given—directly or indirectly given—a gift or commission to any person bringing an order from any of the departments? You answered "No," but you say you might have given a reduction to any person purchasing goods for himself. Have you ever done that in connection with supplies for any of the departments?—Not in connection with the departments. I have done it as a private matter outside of the departments. Parties buying goods frequently for their own private use might want a little discount and I have given a discount in that way. We make it a habit of giving discounts. We sometimes take off 5 per cent sometimes 10 per cent and sometimes a little more.

37. You said a moment ago you have allowed discount to parties buying goods for themselves. Have you not said so?—Yes.

38. Explain what discount you have allowed—in what cases you have allowed discount for servants going to buy goods for themselves.

Mr. FOSTER—I don't think that is a very fair question.

By Mr. Somerville :

39. What is the largest order you have received for glassware for the departments in Ottawa, at any one time?—That I am not prepared to say.

40. Did you ever get an order for $1,000?—At one time?
41. Yes, within a few days.—No, not to that amount. My orders were all small orders, $30 or $40 or $50. There are one or two larger than that, but nothing like $1,000.
42. The account might be running for a little while and the total amount might reach $1,000?—The account would never run to that amount. The account was sent in a little while after the order was filled.
43. Did you ever allow an officer of the department to use your name. That is you made out an account for goods, and the cheque being drawn in your favour, you turn the cheque over to the officer, who purchased the goods elsewhere?—I never remember anything of that kind, sir, never.
44. You never did anything of that kind?—I never did anything of that kind; I can remember of no case.
45. You would be apt to remember a thing of that kind, would you not?—Yes, sir, I would if I did it.

By Mr. McMullen :

46. When you say you supplied goods to the several departments, do you include Rideau Hall?—Yes, sir, I include all the departments.
47. And your answer in regard to the question of discounts, would apply to Rideau Hall as well as to the departments?—Yes. I never gave commission and I never was asked for it. I made that a rule.

Mr. H. BOURCIER called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

48. What kind of business are you engaged in the city?—Now?
49. Yes?—In the dry goods business.
50. What business were you engaged in in 1885?—In dry goods and ready-made clothing.
51. Look at the accounts made out in your name, and see whether the goods mentioned there were purchased from you or not? What is the first account?—May 6th, 1885, $112.50.
52. Now, the next account?—The next account is May 6th, 1885 again, $90.20.
53. Now the next account?—June 20th, 1885, $137.53. Then there is June 22nd, 1885, $113.08, and October 13th, 1885, $191.06.
54. Is that all?—That is all.
55. Well, you as a business man would have your own bill-head—your own printed bill-head, would you not?—Yes, sir.
56. Did you make out these accounts?—I did not make out these accounts, I signed them.
57. You did not make out any of these accounts?—No, I did not make out any.
58. Were any of the goods mentioned in these accounts purchased from you?—No.
59. Will you tell the Committee how it comes that the bills are made out in your name?—Mr. A. C. Larose came to my store one day and asked me if I had any objection to his using my name for some goods that he had sold to the Government.

By Mr. Hyman :

60. Who is Mr. Larose?—He used to be a merchant in the city.

By Mr. Somerville :

61. Did he give you any reason why he wanted you to do this?—The reason he gave, was, that he was a Liberal, and he could not get his bill passed through, if it appeared in his own name.

62. And he wanted to use your name?—Yes.
63. And what did you say?—I said he could use it?
64. Did he say anything about it?—He asked me if it was all right. And I said yes, had no objection to it at all. Then he brought me the accounts all made out and I signed them.
65. And he brought at the same time a cheque for the amount?—Yes, at the same time.
66. You receipted those bills?—Yes.
67. These are all your signatures?—Yes.
68. You endorsed all these cheques?—Yes.
69. Just look at the cheques?—Yes, these are all right.
70. You endorsed the cheques?—Yes.
71. You must be a Conservative, Mr. Bourcier?—Yes, I was told that.
72. Did you get any consideration for this?—How any consideration?
73. Were you paid anything for the use of your name?—Well, I received something from Mr. Larose, but he never said that it was for this.
74. How much did you receive?—Some time afterwards I saw him on business and he passed me something.
75. How much did he pass you?—I do not remember the exact amount. I think about $20, but I do not remember.
76. But you say he never mentioned what it was for?—He smiled.
- 76½. And you smiled too, I suppose?—I suppose so.
77. And put the money in your pocket?—Yes.
78. And did you go out and take a smile afterwards?
- Mr. FOSTER—Oh, oh.

By Mr. Foster :

79. Is Mr. Larose in business in this town?—Well, if he is in business he is not keeping a store now.
80. He was then in business?—Yes, he was then in business.

L. N. CHARLEBOIS called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

81. What business were you engaged in in 1885?—I was book-keeper to Mr. Larose.
82. Just look over these accounts and see if you made any of them out? Whose handwriting is this account in?—I think this is Mr. Larose's.
83. This is Mr. Larose's handwriting?—Yes.
84. And whose is this second one?—The second one is his too.
85. And the third one?—The third one is mine.
86. What is the amount of that?—$137.63.
87. What is the date?—20th June, 1885.
88. Look at the next one?—This is mine again.
89. What is the date of that?—22nd June.
90. And the amount?—$113.08.
91. There is another one?—That is Mr. Larose's.
92. You had all these accounts?—Yes.
93. You were engaged in the store with Mr. Larose. Did you do anything in the general business—did you assist him in the store as well as in keeping the books?—I used to send goods out.
94. You sent goods out, did you?—Yes, sir.
95. Just look at the first account and see whether Mr. Larose of your knowledge ever sold any of that class of goods?—I have seen some sheeting.
96. Were these goods delivered?—I think these goods have been delivered to Mr. Ernest Dionne.

97. Were, these in the account, the goods delivered to Mr. Dionne?—I believe so.
98. These were the goods? Yes. I think this first invoice contains the entries of the goods delivered at Mr. Dionne.
99. The whole of them?—I could not say that the whole of them were, but some of them were certainly delivered.
100. What was done with the rest?—Well, he got some other goods from the store.
101. What did he get?—I do not remember exactly. I know he had something.
102. What class of goods did he get?—Dry goods.
103. What kind of dry goods?—It is hard to remember.
104. Did Mr. Ernest Dionne get a suit of clothes for himself?—I do not remember.
105. Did he get an overcoat?—I cannot say. They were general goods for Mr. Dionne's own family. I know he had some goods for Mrs. Dionne—some goods from the store.
106. When Mrs. Dionne came to purchase the goods, who were they charged to in the books?—I suppose they were charged to Mr. Dionne's account.
107. It was a running account?—Yes.
108. Did any other person have an account there in the same way?—Yes.
109. Who?—Mr. Horace Talbot.
110. He had a running account there?—Yes.
111. Was he married too?—Yes; his wife and Mr. Dionne's wife used to come to the store.
112. They used to go to the store and buy whatever goods were required at their houses?—Yes.
113. And these goods were delivered at their houses?—Yes.
114. And the bill of course would run up?—Yes.
115. How did you get a settlement of your accounts with them?—By Government cheques.
116. Then when the time came you made out these bills?—Yes, sir.
117. You made these bills out, and put in them, not the goods that had been purchased but another class of goods?—Yes.
118. That was the process?—Yes.
119. You see that account, Mr. Charlebois. How were the goods charged in that account?—Sheeting.
120. Just read the items?— $3\frac{1}{2}$  pieces sheeting 6 feet wide, \$1.35. 105 yards 60 cents, \$63.00. 40 yards,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  feet wide, at 68 cents, \$27.20.
121. How much is the total?—$90.20.
122. Did you ever sell these goods to the department?—Never, sir.
123. Who bought the goods that this account represented?—Mr. Dionne and Mr. Talbot.
124. Mr. Ernest Dionne?—Yes.
125. What kind of goods did they get?—All kinds of dry goods at the store.
126. And these goods were delivered at their houses?—Yes, sir.
127. At Mr. Talbot's house and Mr. Dionne's house?—Yes.
128. And they were charged up regularly in the day book?—Yes, sir.
129. And when you wanted your money you made out accounts in this form?—Yes, sir.
130. And did you ever present these accounts to the Public Works Department?—I never did.
131. What process did you follow in order to get the money due?—That was Mr. Larose's business.
132. Do you know how it was done?—No.
133. When you made out an account who did he present it to?—There was a requisition for the goods.
134. There was no requisition there but you always got one?—Yes.
135. You have seen the requisition presented, have you?—Yes, I think I have.
136. And for the class of goods that you mentioned in the bill?—Yes.

137. That is you made out a bill having got the requisition from the department for the class of goods made out in the bill?—Yes.
138. Who brought the requisition to you?—I think it was Mr. Talbot.
139. In every case?—Yes.
140. And then the account was made out and presented to Mr. Talbot?—Yes.
141. And then I suppose he brought back the cheque to you?—I do not remember exactly how he got the cheque.
142. Try and think?—I do not remember exactly.
143. The cheque would not be handed to you?—No, the cheque would be brought to the office, and I do not remember if it was paid by him or anybody else.
144. You never went to the department and got a cheque yourself?—Never.
145. Turn to the next account. Is that one you made out?—Yes.
146. What is that for?—Sheeting. “Two pieces sheeting, 90 inches wide, 167 $\frac{1}{4}$ , 158 $\frac{3}{4}$ , 157 $\frac{1}{2}$ , 183 $\frac{1}{2}$  yards—\$137.63.”
147. You made that account out?—Yes.
148. The same statement will apply to that account that you made with regard to the others?—Precisely.
149. Ernest Dionne and Horace Talbot had a running account with Mr. Larose, and payment was obtained for that running account for their families by making out that account before you?—Yes.
150. You were perfectly well aware of that at the time?—Yes.
151. You knew what you were doing?—Yes.
152. You were getting money for goods you did not sell but for other goods?—I had nothing to do with it.
153. Did any other officers of the Department get any of these goods?—They did not.
154. Are you sure?—Very sure.
155. Was there not a man named Bance, an officer in the Department, that was in with these other two men?—I do not think he was.
156. Did he not visit the store with these two men?—Yes.
157. He frequently came to the store with these other men?—Yes.
158. When they came to the store did they make purchases?—Sometimes they did.
159. What kind of purchases did they make?—They bought goods from the store. Sometimes it was dry goods and sometimes it was clothing.
160. That is what I wanted to get at. They got suits of clothes?—Mr. Talbot did, some.
161. What did he have?—If I remember right he had one suit and an overcoat too.
162. Did not Mr. Ernest Dionne have an overcoat too?—I am not sure.
163. Did he not have a suit of clothes?—I cannot remember.
164. Did Mr. Bance get anything?—Yes, he had a running account there, but I do not remember that he was ever credited with anything from these cheques.
165. Or any portion?—I cannot remember.
166. Was he ever credited with the money from a portion of these cheques?—Not that I remember.
167. When these cheques were brought in and you obtained payment for them, how did you dispose of them? Did you credit a certain amount to Mr. Ernest Dionne's account and a certain amount to Mr. Talbot?—Yes.
168. You divided it up?—I do not remember if all the cheques were divided in that way, but I know there were some divided in that way.
169. Others were credited in full to one of the accounts?—Yes.
170. Look at the next account?—“Sixty-five yards sheeting, 72 inches wide, at 58 cents—\$37.70; 52 $\frac{1}{2}$  yards 80 inches wide, at 65 cents—\$34.13; Three pieces 36 inches twilled 155, 157 $\frac{1}{2}$ , 152 $\frac{1}{2}$ , 165 yards at 25 cents—\$41.25. Total \$113.08.”
171. These goods never were delivered to the Department?—Never.
172. That account is similar to the others?—Yes.

173. The goods were bought out of the store for these private parties and paid by the cheques in the Department?—Yes.

174. What is the total amount there altogether?—$644.47.

175. When these cheques were brought to Mr. Larose, did you ever take them to the bank?—I never went to the bank. It was Mr. Larose.

176. You say positively that none of the goods that were represented in this account were ever delivered to the Department?—Never to my knowledge.

177. And you had every opportunity of knowing?—Yes.

By the Chairman :

178. You were a party to that rascally defrauding of the Government yourself?—I had nothing to do with that.

179. Did you write out these fraudulent invoices?—I did.

180. What for—to defraud the Government?—I suppose it was to defraud the Government.

By Mr. Wood :

181. Are you a book-keeper?—Yes.

182. Who was the principal?—A. C. Larose.

By Mr. Denison :

183. Was he aware of this?—Certainly.

The Chairman read the following letter:—

“ SIR,—Enclosed please find a doctor's certificate regarding my father's illness. As he is so seriously ill, it is utterly impossible for him to appear before the Committee.

“ Yours very truly,

“ LUCIEN BANCE.

HORACE TALBOT called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

184. What position do you occupy in the Public Works Department?—Je désire répondre en français.

185. Let us hear you try it in English?—I don't try.

THE CHAIRMAN—We had better send for an interpreter.

MR. F. B. HAYES sworn as interpreter.

Mr. Somerville (to witness) :

186. What position do you occupy in the Public Works Department?—I am in the Secretary's Branch.

187. What position do you occupy?—I am employed in the Secretary's branch. I do whatever I am ordered to do.

188. Are you a permanent clerk?—Yes.

189. When were you appointed?—On the 17th October, 1879.

190. What is your present salary?—$1,300.

191. What position did you occupy in the Department in 1885?—I was also in the Secretary's branch.

192. What were your duties?—I was under the orders of the Secretary of the Department.

193. Where your duties specially to purchase goods for the Department?—I had to purchase certain goods for the Department.

194. What class of goods?—Stationery and sundry articles for the use of the Department.

195. When you purchased stationery or other articles for the use of the Department did you always obtain a requisition?—To the best of my knowledge we always had a requisition.

196. From whom did you get the requisitions?—The requisitions were signed by the Deputy of the Department but in the absence of the Deputy they were signed by the Secretary.

197. When goods were required was it your duty to inform the Secretary or the Deputy of the fact?—It was not my duty to inform anybody. When the Department required anything I carried out the orders.

198. Then the Secretary of the Department, or the Deputy, ordered you to purchase goods?—As the Public Works Department is organized the Secretary or the Deputy need not give me orders. The orders came directly from the heads of each separate branch of the Department.

199. How did they know when the orders were required?—As I understand it the requisitions would come from subordinate officials in each branch. They knew the requirements of the Department when the demands were made or the requisitions were presented by the heads of that Department.

200. Was it your duty to present a requisition or to ask for a requisition?—It was my duty to order the articles.

201. After you got the requisition?—When the requisitions were signed, approved, by those who had the right to approve them.

202. Was it your duty to make out the requisitions?—It was not specially ordered in writing but generally speaking the orders were given by requisitions. The requisitions were written by me but signed by those who required the articles.

203. Here are a number of accounts. These are the Bourcier accounts.—Yes, Those are the Bourcier accounts.

204. Did you purchase those goods as specified in these accounts?—Yes.

205. Where did you purchase them?—Those goods have been purchased as far as I can recollect at Mr. Larose's.

206. How do you see that, it is not on the account?—When the question came up of getting these cottons, Mr. Larose had a stock on hand. He was a merchant at the time. Then Mr. Larose asked me if I could make that cotton suit—get it accepted. After enquiry an answer was given that Mr. Larose could not have the accounts accepted in his name, firstly because he was not on the list of those who were enjoying patronage, and that he was a Liberal. Thereupon Mr. Larose agreed to have one of his clerks, or at all events, some other person—in the end Mr. Bourcier—to father his account.

207. Look over these accounts and say whether you purchased those goods for the Department?—Certainly, those goods were ordered for the Department.

208. And they were purchased in Mr. Larose's store?—In Mr. Larose's store.

209. Did you buy all those goods yourself?—The orders were given to Mr. Larose. That is the buying was done, by orders.

210. Did Mr. Ernest Dionne accompany you when you bought those goods?—No, sir.

211. He did not?—I don't think so. I don't remember at all that Mr. Ernest Dionne was there.

212. Whose duty was it to receive those goods at the department?—It was my duty to receive the goods.

213. Did you receive the goods?—Certainly, sir.

214. Where did you receive them?—We received the goods at the Department, where they were to be delivered.

215. You swear that those goods represented by the accounts here, five in number, were purchased by you at the store of Mr. Larose, and received by you in the Department?—They, most certainly, have been received—to the best of my knowledge,—and I am positive that they were received, inasmuch as the accounts were filed in the Department, and Mr. Larose was paid therefor.

216. You certified to all these accounts as being correct?—I certified to all these accounts as correct.

217. And you swear positively that those goods purchased by you were received at the Department?—I swear that those goods were ordered, and to the best of my knowledge were received at the Department, all the more from the fact that Mr. Larose filed these accounts and was paid therefor.

218. Did you receive the goods?—I must have received them.

219. Will you swear you did receive them?—I must have received them, to the best of my knowledge.

220. Will you swear positively you received those goods? I want an answer to that. Did you or did you not?

The Translator:—He requests me to say, that when he tells a thing once he does not require to say it twenty times over.

221. You are positive about it, then?—I gave you an answer.

222. I want you to say positively whether you received the goods or not?—To the best of my knowledge, I answered, and also that the cotton must have been received.

223. Did you ever purchase any goods for your own family from Mr. Larose?—Certainly, sir, and I have certain receipts in my pocket which prove that I paid for them, and a considerable amount. It was a house with which I dealt a great deal.

224. What class of goods did you buy from Mr. Larose for your own household requirements?—I clothed my family, or I might buy household bedding—quilts. My wife purchased there.

225. Did you buy an overcoat for yourself there?—I think the overcoat in question was purchased in 1883—in 1882 or 1883. To say positively, I require to have my book.

226. Did you buy a suit of clothes there in 1885?—I think I bought two. I am accustomed to get a suit of clothes every year; sometimes two or three. I dress myself every year; I don't go naked.

227. Did you certify to all these goods as being correct?—I have already said yes; that is my signature.

228. I want you to look at them all?—I looked at them all.

229. There are five accounts there. Did you certify to all those accounts as being correct?—I certified to the accounts on which my signature appears.

230. When you purchased goods from Mr. Larose did you ever divide up the goods that you purchased with any other person in the Department?—No, sir. Persons who want goods buy them as I do, and pay for them.

231. Did Mr. Dionne ever get any of the goods?—If Mr. Dionne got goods it was not through me.

232. Did you go with Mr. Dionne to this store to buy goods?—Never. I don't remember ever having done so. I never required to have him with me.

233. Did you ever go to Mr. Larose's store and buy goods for your own family while Mr. Dionne was there purchasing for his family?—I do not remember at all. I don't remember any goods purchased at Mr. Larose's, except any clothing I might have ordered, or that had been ordered or got by my wife when required by the family.

234. Did you ever present any of your fellow clerks or officers in the department with goods purchased in Larose's store?—I don't remember anything of the kind. I have no recollection of the matter whatever. Your information on this matter is the result of the efforts to hunt up, to seek for, information from the lowest characters in Ottawa.

235. Did you ever purchase glassware, tumblers, pitchers, chamber sets, and such like?—Yes; certainly.

236. Who from?—Mr. Shaw and Mr. Ashfield.

237. Merchants on the patronage list?—Yes.

238. You bought from Mr. Ashfield?—Yes; I bought from Mr. Ashfield.

239. When goods were delivered in the Department from Mr. Ashfield's store, had you charge of them?—I know that I ordered goods from Mr. Ashfield, and I was certainly in a position to order them.

240. And they were in your charge when they were delivered, were they?—They were under my control until the requisition came over for the delivery of the goods.

241. After that, who would have charge of them?—They would go into the Department to those who had requisitions in the Department authorizing them to receive them.

242. Did you ever deliver any of these goods to Mr. Baillairgé?—Never. That comes from the same class of information as I mentioned before.

243. You never delivered any of the goods you purchased on requisition to Mr. Baillairgé?—No sir.

244. Did you not present Mr. Baillairgé with a silk dress for his daughter?—This is so loathsome that it turns my stomach.

245. I want an answer?—It is utterly false, sickening.

246. Did you ever present Mr. Octave Dionne with goods that you have purchased in this way?—Mr. Dionne did not receive any more goods than the others whose names are mentioned, and as to which the alleged facts are utterly false.

247. Are you aware that carpenters in the Department manufacture tables and other articles of household goods, and that they were delivered to officers in the Department, having been made from lumber belonging to the Department?—I know nothing whatever about the workshop; I never was in the workshop. I have no knowledge as to what goes on there.

248. Did the Deputy Minister send requisitions for goods in blank, and hand them to you?—Never; it is false.

By Mr. Lister :

249. You told us that there was a list in the Department of those who were to have the patronage of the Department—a list of the people in the town who were to have, as you say, the patronage of the Department?—Yes, sir. There is a list or book in which are entered the names of certain number of merchants to whom orders are to be sent.

250. The name of Mr. Larose is not on the list?—It was never there, and it should never have been there. That was a service rendered to Mr. Larose, and the service is to-day repaid or acknowledged by those gentlemen becoming informers.

251. Then you had no right to buy these goods from Mr. Larose at all?—I did as I have said. Since they were ordered, I must have been entitled to do so, to a certain extent.

252. That is not a straight answer. You either had a right to order the goods or you had not?—At all events, it must have depended upon the Department to know or to judge whether it should or should not have been done.

253. Had you or had you not to order the goods from merchants whose names were not on the Department list for patronage?

No answer.

254. How do you answer that?—I have answered.

255. I want you to answer again, sir. You are there under oath, and I insist upon having an answer?

No answer.

The CHAIRMAN—What is your question ?

256. I want him to say whether he had or had not authority to buy from Mr. Larose ?—It is not for me to judge as to whether I had or not.

257. Who ordered you to purchase from Mr. Larose ?—I did so on information that I had received.

258. What information did you receive ?—The information was to the effect that Mr. Larose was to have one of his clerks, or one of his friends, to put his accounts through, as he could not put them through himself.

259. That is not an answer to my question. The question is, what authority had you to buy from Mr. Larose, when you knew that he was not one of the people who furnished supplies to the Government ?—I can only refer to the answer I have just given.

260. Who constitutes the authority ?

No answer.

261. Who gave the authority ?—It comes to the same thing.

262. Never mind—we will be the judges of that. Who gave you the authority ?

No answer.

263. We will come to that presently. We are dealing with the original purchase of the goods, not the time the accounts were rendered. I want to know who authorized you to purchase goods from Larose, when Larose was not on the list ?—Evidently it must have been from information I received from the Department.

264. From what person in the Department ?—Generally the Deputy Minister, at the head of the Department.

265. Did the Deputy Minister or Secretary ever authorize you to buy goods from Mr. Larose ?—The Deputy Minister was the person to whom I spoke about it.

266. Did he authorize you to buy the goods from Larose ?—He gave no authorization in writing.

267. Did he give a verbal authorization ?—He consented so soon as it appeared that Mr. Larose's name was not on the list.

268. When he found that Mr. Larose's name was not to appear on the account he drew the inference that the Secretary consented ?—The Deputy.

269. Then, as a matter of fact, you had no authorization up to that time from the Deputy or anybody else to buy from Larose ?—The Deputy Minister knew it. I was to receive my orders from the Deputy Minister.

270. Did you receive orders to buy from Mr. Larose from the Deputy Minister ?—It was agreed and understood that Mr. Larose would receive orders to get his accounts fathered. It was agreed and understood that Mr. Larose would receive the order for the goods as soon as he had any name in which the accounts were to be passed.

271. Was that agreed before the goods were ordered ?—Certainly.

272. Who was that understanding come to with ?—I have already said, two or three times, that it was in the Department.

273. Who in the Department ?—The Deputy Minister.

274. It was come to by the Deputy Minister that Mr. Larose should receive orders and the account to be made out in somebody else's name ?—That is the way the goods were ordered from Mr. Larose. It was understood he should put as a name in the account one of his clerks or one of his friends, as he did.

275. Was that understanding or agreement with the Deputy Minister ?—That was as it was understood.

276. With whom ?—I have already said, twenty-five times, the Deputy Minister.

277. Was it the subject of an express arrangement ?—A trifling matter like that did not require it. It was not expected that members of the House would make such a minute enquiry. I did not expect that.

278. Was there a requisition signed by the Deputy Minister for the purchase of these goods ?—To the best of my knowledge, I think there was. All the more, from the Deputy, that the accounts are ordered to be paid by the Deputy Minister. I have nothing to do with the account whatever.

279. Then you say that your judgment is, that a requisition was signed or an order given by the Deputy Minister for the purchase of these goods?—I have already answered that. You may give all the answers you like yourself, but I have already answered.

280. You must not be insolent. You are before a Parliamentary Committee, and are supposed to tell the whole truth?—I do not wish to be insolent to anybody, but I do not wish to have my answers dictated to me.

281. I ask you, did you make out that requisition for these goods, and have it certified to by the Deputy Minister?—I do not remember just now.

282. If the requisition was made out, would the name of Larose appear in it?—It was not necessary to mention Mr. Larose's name.

283. Do you mean to say that a requisition does not indicate from whom the purchase is to be made?—That could not be in this case, because Mr. Larose was not to have the account in his name.

284. Would it be left out purposely?—Mr. Larose would answer that question.

285. Are the requisitions on a printed form?—Yes.

286. And do not the requisitions on that form leave a space for the name of the person from whom the purchases are to be made?—I don't remember the form of the requisition. It would be necessary for me to see them.

287. Who is the person who has charge of the requisitions—the printed forms?—The requisitions should be mentioned with the accounts. I do not know whom. Generally the requisitions were sent with the accounts.

288. I am asking you the question as to whether the requisitions did not give the name of the person from whom the purchases were to be made. You say you don't remember. Now, I want to know who had the requisitions, not the ones signed, but the blank forms?—I do not know who has them. I have had nothing to do with them for four or five years.

By Mr. Somerville:

289. When you bought those goods from Mr. Larose, did you take the accounts to the Department?—The accounts were sent to the Department.

290. Did you take them there?—The accounts must have been sent to me. I don't remember, but at all events the accounts went to the Department because they were paid.

291. Did you take the account back to Mr. Larose and tell him that the Department would not pass it unless he got the use of some other man's name?—I don't remember anything of the kind.

292. How did you come to get another man's name in the accounts?—I answered at the beginning that it was understood Mr. Larose was not to have the accounts in his own name. It was understood that Mr. Larose would receive the order for that cotton on the condition that his name should not appear in the accounts.

293. Did you not take the accounts to the Deputy Minister and present it yourself for these goods to get the cheque?—I don't remember that at all.

294. Try and remember?—Sometimes a merchant sent his accounts direct to me. It is quite probable, because I have presented accounts to the accountant or to the Deputy Minister for other parties.

295. I want to know in regard to these particular accounts?—I don't remember. I have not kept special account of them.

296. Did the Deputy Minister see these accounts when he certified to them?—When a man's signature is affixed to an account he must have seen it. Will you be kind enough to look at Mr. Baillaingé's signature?

297. Did not Mr. Larose make out one of these accounts in his own name first?—If he had he would have made a mistake, because he was not to do so.

298. Did he or did he not?—I do not know what Mr. Larose does.

299. Did you not take an account to the Deputy Minister from Mr. Larose, made out in his own name for these goods?—I tell you that it may have happened that Mr. Larose may have sent me the accounts to present them either to the accountant or to the Deputy Minister.

300. Did he do so?—I don't remember whether he did. I will pay no more attention to him than to others, but was Mr. Larose paid or was he not?

301. Did you take the account back to Mr. Larose and tell him he must make it out in another man's name?—I don't remember at all in regard to that, because, in the first place, he had no business to send accounts in his own name.

By Mr. Taylor :

302. What was all this cotton required for in connection with the Public Works Department?—The cotton was ordered for mounting maps in the Department and all the branches having relation to the Department.

By Mr. Somerville :

303. Since this investigation was started, that is, since the accounts were moved for, have you seen Mr. Larose?—I have not seen him and I have no wish to see him. I have learned, however, that certain members of Parliament have been interviewing Mr. Larose and some of them have been treating him with a view to getting information from him.

304. Do you swear positively you never visited Mr. Larose in the last month?—I swear positively that I have not seen Mr. Larose. I have met him on the street, but I did not and would not speak to Mr. Larose.

305. Have you had any conversation with Mr. Larose during the past month?—Not at all, I swear positively.

306. Did you not go with Mr. Dionne to Mr. Larose and offer to buy his books?—No. I was told on the street, no later than yesterday, that certain members of Parliament sought or tried to buy his books.

307. Who were the members?—I was told also that $500 had been offered to Mr. Larose to induce him to go away, in the same way that it was announced in the Free Press that I myself had gone away.

308. Who gave you this information on the street?—A number of persons; a great many.

309. Who were they?—If I told you I should have to name one-third of the population of Ottawa.

310. There has been a great deal of talk about this matter?—We are deafened with all the rumours and remarks made about the conduct of members in hunting up these matters.

311. Did you not tell Mr. Larose it would ruin you and Dionne if this matter were investigated?—Not at all. I could not say that, inasmuch as I never saw him.

312. Did you not tell your brother, who is a lawyer in Hull, to see Mr. Larose for you?—No. These are rumours from the same parties.

A. C. LAROSE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

313. You were, in 1885, a merchant in this city, I believe?—Yes, sir.

314. Where was your place of business?—49 and 51 Rideau street.

315. What business were you engaged in?—Dry goods.

316. You made sales of goods to Horace Talbot and Ernest Dionne, did you?—Several times.

317. In 1885?—Yes.

318. They had a running account at your store?—Yes, sir.

319. They purchased goods for the family?—Yes, sir.

320. Mr. Horace Talbot and Ernest Dionne?—Very often, yes, sir.

321. The goods were delivered at their residences?—Yes, sir; that was their private account I mean.

322. Did you ever sell goods to the Department of Public Works?—In what time?

323. In 1885?—Well, I got some cheques from the Public Works Department.
 324. Will you look at these accounts? In whose name are those accounts?—There are three accounts in my own writing there.

325. And in whose writing are the other two accounts?—They may be my book-keeper's.

326. What is his name?—L. N. Charlebois. It is his handwriting on the account.

327. Look at the goods that are represented upon those accounts? Did you ever deliver those goods at the Department of Public Works?—No, I did not.

328. Did you ever sell those goods to the Department of Public Works?—A share of them.

329. How did it come that the account was not made out in your name?—Well, it was supposed I was too much of a Liberal.

330. Who told you that?—I think it was Mr. Talbot, and Mr. Dionne as far as I remember.

331. Which Dionne?—Ernest.

332. They told you that you were too much of a Liberal?—Yes, my name would not pass.

333. When you made out the first of those accounts who did you present it to?—The first account?

334. Yes, for payment?—I never went to the Department for money.

335. Who did you give the account to?—All the cheques for money I received were brought down to me.

336. By whom?—Mr. Talbot and Mr. Dionne.

337. And who got the accounts for the goods, Mr. Talbot and Mr. Dionne?—Well, you see how they are made out.

338. Who did you deliver the accounts to?—This first account here was sent to St. Patrick Street.

339. To whom?—Mr. Ernest Dionne's place.

340. To whom was the second account sent—the bill?—Oh, the bill, they took it themselves in the morning.

341. Who took it?—Mr. Talbot and Mr. Dionne—they were together.

342. They took the accounts?—They brought me a cheque at night and I would give them the goods.

343. At night?—Or, two or three in the day.

344. On the first occasion your account or bill was presented, did it come back to you?—They asked me to borrow a name from some friend, for my name would not go through.

345. That the account would not pass in your name?—They told me that the head of the Department would not pass it through.

346. Did they say who?—I don't remember if they mentioned a name.

347. Was it the head of the Department?—He is the chief I suppose; I do not know what they meant.

348. Then what did you do?—I went to Mr. Bourcier, and told him the circumstances; that I had sold goods to Mr. Talbot and Mr. Dionne to a very large extent; and if he would lend me his name—he was a good Conservative—and I thought I would get my account paid in.

349. And you did that?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Lister :

350. What arrangement was made between you and Mr. Bourcier?—Oh, Mr. Bourcier acted very square, he never furnished an inch of the stuff.

By Mr. Somerville :

351. Did you pay Mr. Bourcier for the use of his name?—If I did it was a very small sum.

352. How much?—It would not amount to $15. I gave him $10 the first time, $5 the second and the third time I don't think I gave him a cent, as far as I can remember.

353. These goods are made out, you will see, for sheeting?—Yes.
354. Just look at them?—Yes, I see them.
355. They are all made out for sheeting?—Yes.
356. Did Mr. Dionne and Mr. Talbot buy sheeting from you?—The first account, $112.50 I think was for sheeting.
357. Where was it delivered?—At Mr. Dionne's?
358. At his residence?—Yes; as far as I can remember.
359. And at the Public Works Department?—No, sir.
360. What other class of goods did you sell to Mr. Dionne?—I never sold anything to the Department.
361. You never sold anything to the Department, but what other class of goods did you sell to Mr. Dionne?—It was a running account you know.
362. What did he buy?—The servant girls would come with an order.
363. The servant girls would come?—It was a running account for family use.
364. Did Mr. Dionne's wife come too?—I don't think so. He used to make the purchases himself.
365. And the servant girl?—The servant girl came very often with orders.
366. Did Mr. Dionne often buy an overcoat for himself?—Several times.
367. Did he buy suits of clothes?—Yes.
368. And that was included in these accounts?—He use to pay me those cheques. They were supposed to do extra work.
369. Did Mr. Talbot buy goods for his family in the same way?—The same thing.
370. And when their running account amounted to a certain sum, then you would apply for your money?—Yes.
371. And at their request you made out the account in that shape?—Yes.
372. They told you to do that?—Yes, they asked me to do it in that shape.
373. The account was made out and delivered to them?—They brought me the cheques.
374. But you delivered the account first?—Yes.
375. And they brought the cheque back?

By Mr. Lister :

376. They came back and told you that your name would not pass in the Department?—Well, they told me first that I was a liberal.
377. And that your name would not pass in the Department?—Yes.
378. Then you went to Mr. Bourcier and asked him for his name?—Yes.
379. And he agreed to let you have it?—Yes.
380. You are sure he gave it to you?—Yes, after saying he hoped there was nothing crooked in the matter, he said "if you supply the goods I will do everything I can to help you."
381. And he agreed to give you his name?—Yes.
382. And you agreed to give him a commission?—Yes.
383. How much did he demand?—He did not demand any special sum.
384. What did you give him?—I gave him $10 the first time and $5 the second.
385. How could you lose that money?—How could I lose it?
386. How could you come to give $15 out of your account?—I cannot remember how the transaction was made altogether.
387. Try and remember. You say that you gave $10 one time and $5 another?—I don't know, I handed it to him.
388. Did you give him that much either as a gratuity or recognition or something else for the services in the matter?—Yes.
389. You said you paid $15?—As far as I can remember, yes.
390. Did you ever get the money back?—I got the cheques, I got paid for everything.
391. Including the $15 that you paid Mr. Boucier?—I don't know that it was included in that. I would have to pay that out of my own pocket.

392. I want to know if you included in the accounts to the Department the $15 that you paid to Mr. Bourcier?—I think I paid that out of my own pocket.

393. All these accounts are for sheeting—every one of them?—Yes.

394. You say that one of these officers of the Department—Talbot—went down and bought a quantity of sheeting, which was delivered in his own house?—Yes.

395. Did you ever sell any more sheeting?—Not after the first account.

396. The first account seems to have been for $112.50?—Yes.

397. There was another transaction for $90.20?—Yes.

398. Now, was that for sheeting?—It might have been.

399. Did you deliver the $112 worth of sheeting ordered by Mr. Talbot at his own house?—Yes.

400. There was sheeting sent down on that occasion?—Yes.

401. Was the whole amount sent?—Yes, I believe the full amount was sent.

402. Who got the $90.20 worth of sheeting?—That was debited in the running account.

403. These accounts were for $90.20, $112.50, $113.08 and $137.63?—Yes.

404. And all these accounts for sheeting represented goods for the current account of articles supplied for family use?—Yes.

405. And you say that these articles were never delivered to the Public Works at all?—Never.

406. But they were made out in satisfaction of the private account that you had against these people?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

407. Mr. Larose I noticed when the shorthand reporter was reading over the evidence that you said the accounts were delivered at St. Patrick Street, you meant that the goods were delivered at St. Patrick Street, did you not?—Yes.

408. And these goods were got in your establishment?—Yes.

409. Now, Mr. Larose, since this investigation has been started have you been visited by Mr. Talbot or Mr. Ernest Dionne?—I met Mr. Ernest Dionne several times, but I never saw Mr. Talbot.

410. What conversation had you with him?—He explained the position about this matter, and I told him that I was all right and that he would have to look after the affairs of his own Department. I said as far as I was concerned I gave 100 cents worth for every 100 cents.

411. Did he ask you personally to do anything?—He knew about the investigation that was going on.

412. And he spoke to you about it?—Yes.

413. And he spoke about it, did he not?—Yes.

414. Did he ask you to say anything for him—to say anything in his favour?—He never mentioned anything in his favour or anything else.

415. He in fact admitted the whole case to you, did he not?—Yes.

416. And he wanted you to protect him, did he not?—The next day he came down and wanted to see the account.

417. He had had the goods?—Yes.

418. What did he wish you to do?—He asked me to show him my books and I showed them to him.

419. Did he ask you not to tell the truth, or did he tell you that it would be a serious thing for him?—He did not ask me not to tell the truth.

420. Had you a visit from Horace Talbot's brother?—No; he met me on the crossing one day and we had a few words, nothing more.

421. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Talbot's brother?—He only told me the case was coming on and asked me if I knew anything about it, but I never gave him any answer or further explanation.

By Mr. Denison :

422. Did they ever pay you any money in hard cash—Talbot and Dionne?—Talbot often paid me money in cash, because he had a far heavier account than is there. These accounts were always paid by cheque.

By Mr. Somerville :

423. On the running account these cheques were credited?—Yes.

424. The family account?—Yes.

425. Did not Mr. Talbot's brother tell you that, if this investigation went on, it would ruin his brother?—He just simply said he was sorry for Horace, because it was too bad for him; he had a family to support and he would lose his position if anything was proven.

426. Did Ernest Dionne tell you something to the same effect?—No; Mr. Dionne never claimed anything personally. He said he was clear of everything and all that was there he was willing to advance it, and every transaction was square with him.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

427. You knew you were defrauding the Government when you were getting these cheques?—That is a question I cannot answer you. I ask the protection of the Committee to that effect.

The CHAIRMAN—You have no protection. You must answer the question.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

428. You say you knew the goods that were specified in this account were never either sold or delivered to the Government?—I depended on my friends using the account really as they were stating.

429. When you rendered these accounts you knew that the goods specified in them had not been either sold or delivered to the Government?—I did not care a snap about that.

430. Did you know that, or did you not?—I did not say I did not. I say this is a question which I refuse to answer just now.

The CHAIRMAN—You must answer the question put to you, and answer it straight.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

431. When you rendered this account to the Government you knew that the goods specified had not been sold or delivered to the Department of Public Works?—It is the only way I had to collect my own.

432. You knew these goods had not been sold or delivered to the Department of Public Works, did you not?—If you keep on, I do not know what answer I will make.

433. I will ask it again: When you rendered that account to the Department of Public Works you knew that the goods had not been sold or delivered to the Department of Public Works?—I did not render an account to the Department of Public Works. They came to my store for them.

434. When these accounts were made out you knew that the goods had not been either sold or delivered to the Department of Public Works—the goods specified in the account?—Ask me that again?

435. You had these bills made out. Take the bill of May 6th 1885: "Public Works Department, to three and a half pieces sheeting six feet wide." The whole bill amounted to $90 20. You rendered that bill?—I made it out. I may have left the order at the shop.

436. You made it out and handed it to Dionne?—They must have got it, because I was never in the Public Works Department to collect money.

437. That was to represent alleged purchases by the Public Works Department from you?—I do not know what they did with them. They brought me a cheque signed at night.

438. Was that account to represent alleged purchases from you by the Public Works Department?—It was to pay me what they owed me.

439. Was this account not rendered to the Department of Public Works?—Not by me. I got the cheque all right enough, but I will show you by my cash books too, that the cash accounted for it.

440. Did you not receive a cheque for this?—Yes I did.
441. And the account was sent by you from your place?—They took it away with them. It was sent there. I never was there for money.
442. Have you any account in your books against the Department of Public Works?—Not since 1885.
443. Had you any in 1885?—No, I had none against the Department of Public Works in 1885. That is more than I can tell you.
- 443a. That account was made out by you to receive payment for goods which had been sold by you?—Yes.
- 443b. To whom had these goods been sold and delivered?—I told you before. That is the same thing repeated again.
- 443c. You did not tell me before?—It must have been divided amongst themselves. I do not know. I gave them credit for it.
- 443d. To whom had these goods for which this bill was rendered been sold and delivered?—Is there not an order signed on it?
- 443e. Look at the bill. Can you answer the question?—All I can say is, I have given value for $90.20.
- 443f. You got a cheque for the $90.20?—It is there before you.
- 443g. A cheque from the Department of Public Works?—It is there before you. You need not ask me that.
- 443h. Is that the cheque?—Yes, it must be.
- 443i. The cheque of the Department of Public Works. You knew you were receiving it from the Department of Public Works?—I was getting paid for my account.
- 443j. Did you know you were receiving payment for that account from the Department of Public Works?—I did not know where they were getting the money.
- 443k. Did you know you were getting payment for that account from the Public Works Department?—Certainly. That was supposed to be in payment of that account but it was for another account.
- 443l. You knew you had not sold those goods to the Public Works Department?—I do not remember delivering them.
- 443m. You knew you had not sold or delivered these goods to the Public Works Department?—Yes.
- 443n. Did you credit this amount to Dionne and Talbot?—I credited that $90.20 to Talbot.
- 443o. To his private account?—Yes.
- 443p. You knew you were defrauding the Government?—I did not know how he earned his money.
- 443q. Did you not know at that time when you received this cheque for $90.20 from the Public Works Department that you were helping a fraud on the Government?—They told me they were working extra and this was the only way they could get paid.
- 443r. Did you not know you were committing a fraud of the Government?—I knew I was committing a fraud as far as writing the account.
- 443s. You knew you were taking the money of the Government?—They brought it to me.
- 443t. And you assisted them in getting this money from the Government by making out a fraudulent account?—That was their own business and they had their reasons.
444. You knew you had assisted them in committing a fraud by making that out?—It was at their request. I never delivered the goods until I was paid.
445. At their request you assisted them in getting money from the Government to pay their private accounts by making that account out for goods you had never sold to the Government? (No answer.)
446. You gave that account to them.—Yes.
447. For the purpose of assisting them to get money from the Government to pay you their private accounts?—Yes.

448. So that you knew you were defrauding the Government at the time?—I did not. It was not defrauding the Government so long as I got the money.

449. You did not care who was defrauded?—No.

450. Did you say anything to any person as to how the goods were paid for?—No; I never spoke to anyone myself unless it would be in private conversation. I don't remember speaking to anybody.

451. Whom would it be in private conversation?—I don't remember. I can assure you. I never gave any information of the kind to anybody.

452. You were not going to give information of that kind?—No, sir.

453. Have you ever shown your books to anybody?—I showed my books to Mr. Ernest Dionne.

By Mr. Lister :

454. You say they were getting this money as extra pay?—That they were earning that as extra pay; something like that.

455. And they told you to make out the invoice to the Government?—Yes.

456. They brought you the cheque after making out the account, and then you credited it to their private account?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

457. Have you got your books for that period?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

458. I understood you to say that when you went to Mr. Bourcier to ask for the use of his name, he asked you if the matter was all straight, and you assured him that it was?—I told him that the thing would be carried through all right.

459. Just give us the facts in connection with your going to Mr. Bourcier to ask him for the use of his name?—That was in connection of the first cheque of $112.50. I delivered the goods immediately after getting the cheque—on the same day. They were under the stairs in my store three or four days before I got the cheque. When I got the cheque I delivered the goods to Mr. Dionne.

460. What did you ask Mr. Bourcier when you went to see him first?—I told him I had a nice order from the Government; that it was a quantity of sheeting which was under the stairs in my store, but I was too much of a liberal to get the account through. I said the goods were there, genuine; and I asked him for the use of his name.

461. He asked you if the thing was all straight?—He said to me: "I suppose you supplied the goods to the Government."

462. Did you assure him it was straight?—It was straight on the first occasion.

463. Then you made out the account in his name?—Yes.

464. And the cheque came payable to him?—Yes; I took it over to him and he endorsed it.

465. Then with regard to the second account.—I told him the same thing in regard to that account. He always endorsed the cheques.

466. But before making out the second account did you ask for the use of his name?—I do not remember.

467. When the cheque came back did you ask him?—I went over and said the same as usual.

468. And he asked if it was all straight?—Yes.

469. And you assured him it was?—I do not know if I repeated it.

470. You may have done so?—Yes.

471. You never intimated to Mr. Bourcier that these accounts were for goods you were supplying to Mr. Talbot?—No.

472. You gave him to understand it was goods you were sending to the Public Works Department?—He knew nothing about them.

473. But he went into your place sometimes with you and you handed him $15 or $20?—No, it was $10 one time and $5 the second.

474. When was that?—I met him on the street one day. I said to him you do not do this for nothing and I gave him $10. The next time was either in his store or on the street.

475. And you made a remark to him?—I said, we do not ask anyone to do anything for nothing. I gave him $10 at that time.

476. The three accounts were made out in your handwriting?—I think so. There are three in my handwriting.

477. You made out those accounts and sent them to the Department and waited for the cheques to come back before you saw Mr. Bourcier at all?—I never sent any account to the Department.

478. You sent them to Talbot and Dionne?—They called for them. They said you write it out and we will get you the cheque.

479. Then you went to Mr. Bourcier to get him to endorse the cheques and so on through the five transactions? Did you inform Mr. Bourcier that these accounts were for Mr. Dionne and Mr. Talbot?—I do not remember speaking to him about that.

480. You assured him the transaction was straight and honourable so far as he was concerned?—Yes, he was depending on me.

By Mr. Lister :

481. Did either of these men keep a boarding house, or start a boarding house?—Mr. Dionne never kept a boarding house.

482. Did Talbot?—Yes, he did. He used to keep a large boarding house on Maria Street.

483. That same year?—That I cannot say.

484. You say the goods for which the accounts were made out were not delivered until you got the cheque—the first invoice?—The goods covered by the first invoice were delivered after I got the cheque.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

485. Why did you not deliver the goods for three or four days?—Because I wanted my pay before I delivered them.

486. You thought the Government was not solvent?—I did not know whether they would succeed in their trick or whatever they were doing.

487. You knew a trick was being perpetrated?—Well, what did I care.

By the Chairman :

488. Did you know that you had made out a bogus invoice to the Government?—I made out an invoice I never supplied.

489. You knew that it was a bogus invoice against the Government?—I did not know I was making out a bogus invoice, but that is the way they paid me.

490. Did you make out a bogus invoice—an improper invoice against the Government?—I made them at their request.

491. You never delivered those goods on those invoices to the Government?—The first one I delivered. The other goods I delivered the face amount of them.

492. But not the identical goods?—I mean to say that I did not give sheeting but I gave goods to the value of $644.

By Mr. Somerville :

493. They told you they were doing over-time and that this was the only way they could get their pay?—They told me it was all right.

494. They instructed you that they were doing overtime in the Department and that this was the only way they could get their pay?—That is the way they told me.

By Mr. Talbot :

495. Had you any cottons in your store?—I had cotton but not sufficient to fill the order. When I got the order I ran to the wholesale store and ordered it and it was kept under the stairway until you brought the cheque.

496. You say that the cotton that was wanting in your store, you ordered otherwise?—You came to my store in the morning for three pieces of sheeting. I went to the wholesale house for them at the time, and I bought three pieces of sheeting and kept them under my stairs, until you brought the cheque down and then I gave them to you.

497. Did you order any other cotton but that which was under the stairs?—Yes, I bought it that morning. I went straight to the wholesale house, I had the Government order for authorisation from you.

498. You swear positively that the goods mentioned for the Government, were delivered at my house?—There was part at your place—different articles.

499. You swear positively that the goods were delivered at my house?—Well, not that the goods were delivered by me, but every day of the week your wife came, and your servant and everything else.

500. By whom were the goods delivered?—I had ten clerks at the time, so they used to make the sale and send them to you. The book-keeper charged them to you and you would pay me with the cheques.

501. These goods were never charged to my account?—Most of them.

502. Then the goods were delivered and paid for by the Government?—You paid me our account, that is all I know about it.

503. And paid by the Government?—Paid by those cheques.

504. The Government cheques covered the goods I received from you. Then you were convinced that you were robbing the Government?—Then I was convinced I was getting my own? Who was robbing the Government?

505. Did I ever ask you to rob the Government in partnership with you?—No.

506. Then you were satisfied to rob alone?—(No answer.)

ERNEST DIONNE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville:

507. What position do you occupy in the Public Works Department?—I am a clerk in the accountant's office.

508. How long have you occupied your present position?—Since 1883.

509. What is your salary?—Now?

510. Yes?—$1,400.

511. Did you use to deal with Mr. Larose the merchant, in Lower Town? Have you purchased goods from him?—Yes.

512. For your family?—Yes.

513. Was it a running account?—Yes, sir.

514. How did you make the payments?—When I had the money.

515. Did you pay your private account in money?—By notes and by money.

516. By any cheques?—No.

517. Did you ever pay Mr. Larose for your private account with a Government cheque?—No, sir.

518. Did Mr. Larose ever deliver to you an account for goods purchased by you to be delivered to the Department?—No, sir.

519. Did you ever see any of these accounts produced before?—Yes.

520. When did you see them?—I saw them when I paid them.

521. You paid these accounts then?—Yes, I made the cheque.

522. All of them?—There is one not in my writing.

523. The first cheque for $112.50, June 1st, 1885. Is that in your writing?—That is my writing.

524. You presented this account did you, to your chief?—Yes, I did present the account with the cheque.

525. To whom?—My chief.

526. And from whom did you get the account?—It came down from the secretary.

527. No. Who gave you this bill?—It came in from the Secretary's room.
528. And you presented it then to your chief?—I made the cheque. I saw that the account was certified and I made the cheque.
529. Who is your chief?—Mr. Dionne.
530. Octave Dionne?—Yes.
531. Mr. Talbot certified to it?—It was certified by Mr. Talbot, and by Mr. Baillaigé, Deputy Minister.
532. And then you drew the cheque?—Drew the cheque.
533. Did you buy these goods from Bourcier?—No, sir.
534. Did you buy them from Mr. Larose?—No.
535. Who bought them?—I did not buy. Mr. Talbot should have bought them. It is not my business to see who buys the goods.
536. Did you not buy any of the goods represented by that account?—No, sir, I never did.
537. Did you buy any of the goods there?—No, sir.
538. You see there the goods charged for—did you buy any of these goods?—No, sir.
539. Look at the next one—did you buy any of these?—No, sir.
540. Did you have your private account paid by presentation to Mr. Larose of any of these cheques?—No, sir.
541. Were you ever credited in Mr. Larose's books with the payment to your own private account with money represented by these cheques?—No, sir.
542. You swear that positively?—Yes.
543. You never had any conversation with Mr. Larose with regard to this matter?—With regard to what?
544. To the payment of your private account?—No, sir.
545. You swear that positively?—Yes.
546. Did Mr. Larose deliver any goods to you, and with your knowledge afterwards make up the account in this form and render it to the Department for payment?—No, sir.
547. Now, Mr. Dionne, Mr. Larose swears that these goods never were delivered to the Department, but that you and Mr. Talbot had a running account with Mr. Larose for goods supplied to your private residence, and that at your request the account for your private goods were made out in this shape and presented to the Department. Is that true?—No, sir.
548. It is not true?—No, sir.
549. Your accounts never were paid in that way?—Never.
550. Did you ever pay your account by giving Mr. Larose a note payable afterwards?—A note.
551. Yes; a bill payable at three months, I suppose?—Yes.
552. You have done that?—Yes.
553. What was the extent of your dealings with Mr. Larose?—Well, I don't know.
554. Did you buy all your dry goods from him for your house?—No.
555. Do you remember the year of these accounts?—1885. I used to get goods from there then.
556. In 1885?—Yes.
557. Have you a wife and family?—Yes.
558. Where do you live?—In the east part of Ottawa.
559. Where did you live then?—In Lower Town.
560. What street?—St. Patrick street.
561. You saw that the first bill there, Mr. Dionne, is for sheeting?—Yes.
562. What is the amount of it?—$112.50.
563. Did you purchase those goods from Mr. Larose?—No, sir.
564. Or any part of them?—No, sir.
565. Were they ever delivered to you at your own private residence?—No, sir.
566. Or any part of them?—No, sir.

567. You never had any sheeting sent you from Mr. Larose's store?—No.
568. You swear positively to that?—Yes; I have answered that already three or four times.
569. But I want you to be sure?—I am sure.
570. When you made your purchases of goods for your private residence from Mr. Larose, did you ever divide up with any other officer in the Department?—No, sir.
571. Did Mr. Talbot ever come to your house and get goods that were delivered from Mr. Larose's store, and you divided the goods between you?—No, sir; never.
572. Did you ever present any of the officers in the Department with goods?—No.
573. With goods from Mr. Larose's store—did you ever do that?—No.
574. Did you ever present the Deputy Minister with a silk dress for his daughter?—No, sir.
575. You swear that positively?—I do, positively.
576. Did you ever present them with glassware?—No, sir.
577. Are you aware that furniture was made in the Department, from lumber belonging to the Department, and delivered at your house?—No, sir.
578. Do you know whether any of it was made in that way and delivered anywhere else?—No sir.
579. Had you anything to do with the purchasing of the goods for the Department at all?—Not at all.
580. Whose duty was it to receive the goods purchased for the Department—I mean whose duty was it to receive them in the Department?—I don't know. It has nothing to do with us.
581. You have nothing to do with the receiving of goods?—No.
582. Mr. Talbot was the man who received the goods?—Yes, I suppose so.
583. Since this investigation commenced have you had any conversation with Mr. Larose?—Yes.
584. When?—Some time ago. About three or four times I suppose.
585. Have you ever gone to see him at his house?—Yes.
586. When?—I don't remember, we have always been friends.
587. Did you go to see him about this matter?—No.
588. Did you examine his books lately?—No, sir.
589. By lately, I mean within the last month?—No, sir.
590. You have never looked at his books?—No.
591. Have you had any conversation with him about this investigation?—No. That is, I asked him if he had been summoned, and he told me yes. I said "It is all right, you will say what you know I suppose."
592. Did you ask to see his books?—No, sir.
593. You did not see his books?—No.

By Mr. Coatsworth :

594. Is there no one in the Department who keeps a book showing goods received by the Department?—I do not know.
595. Is there any officer whose duty it is to make a list or entry of goods received into the Department?—I do not know at all.

—————

HORACE TALBOT re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Coatsworth :

596. Is there an officer of that kind?—Generally each branch enters the goods they have received.
597. So the branch these goods went into ought to have a record of them?—Yes.
598. Which branch is that?—Some of that cotton was expended for the general report that year, for the railway and telegraph offices and the North-West Rebellion, on the maps mounted in the Department.

599. Who would be the clerk whose duty it would be to attend to such matters?—The accounts of our Department will show how the distribution of cotton was made.

600. Can you give us the name of one of the clerks who would have received these goods?—You will find in the Engineer's Branch and in our Branch all the amounts.

601. Would there not be some officer whose duty it was to receive the goods in the first place and distribute them in the different branches?—At the time there was a species of store in the Department, and the orders were, to have what was required in the Department.

602. Who kept the store?—It was I who kept these goods.

603. Did you keep a book?—Books were kept in each branch also.

604. Was there not a book kept in the general store?—There was a book kept for that store undoubtedly.

605. Is it there still?—It is four years since I left it. I do not know.

606. I suppose you kept a book with the different receipts from the Department?—The articles could not be there also.

By Mr. Somerville :

607. Has there ever been any investigation into your practices and conduct in the Department?—Yes.

608. When?—If I remember well in 1886 or 1887; but I think it was in 1886.

609. What were the complaints made against you at that time?—The complaints were from parties who were crying out on the streets as they are to-day.

610. What were the complaints?—Reports made outside to the Minister or Deputy Minister.

611. What were the reports?—When the Minister asked me for an explanation himself —

612. What were the reports?—I do not know. The reports on the street. The Minister said to me there were complaints made against me. The Minister said I was accused of having furnished goods to Judge Rouleau to the value of $600 or $700, and that the goods had been given by me out of the Department. Thereupon I went to the Department of Justice and I brought the requisition which was drawn up by Judge Rouleau and signed by the Deputy Minister of Justice. It was on all that talk that I myself asked for an enquiry.

613. You asked for an enquiry?—Yes.

614. Did the Minister not speak to you first about these reports?—The Minister said to me that complaints of that kind had come to his ears and he wanted to know what had occurred.

615. Who was the Minister?—Sir Hector Langevin. I myself told him what I wished to be done.

616. Did you go to the Minister, or did he send for you?—The Minister sent for me.

617. Was there a committee appointed to investigate these charges against you at that time?—Not to my knowledge.

618. Were not Mr. Gobeil, Baillairgé and Octave Dionne appointed to investigate these charges against you?—I do not know who was appointed directly to make this enquiry.

619. Did you appear before Mr. Gobeil, Mr. Baillairgé or Octave Dionne to answer these charges?—I did not have the trouble of going before the commission for that enquiry. They made the enquiry in my absence.

620. Then you were aware that they had an enquiry?—I know that an enquiry was commenced, as I said; but I do not know who was directly charging me. No one gave me any information about it.

621. After the enquiry was made did you retain the position in the department, which you held previous to that enquiry?—After the enquiry a change was made with reference to that branch. A change was made in the manner of making the requisitions and of ordering the stationery, and at this moment there is nobody specially charged with that duty.

622. After the investigation you were superseded in your office?—I was no more superseded than any body else. The mode of distributing the stationery was changed.

623. You had not charge of the purchasing branch after that?—I do not do any more than anybody else. There is nothing of that kind now. To-day the articles are sent directly to the stationery office.

624. Then you are not occupying the position now in the department that you occupied in 1885?—I could not be occupying it when it no longer exists.

625. What have been your duties since?—I do the work the secretary sends me.

626. What is that work?—The work I am now doing is on the Orders in Council—a synopsis of the Orders in Council and keeping an index of them. If tomorrow I shall receive any orders to do any other work I shall do it.

627. Do you any longer certify to accounts?—No, I do not think so. I do not think I have had occasion to certify to accounts specially, as I have had no occasion to receive goods.

628. You have not certified to any accounts since that investigation?—As a matter of course I have nothing to do with them at all.

629. Have you certified to any accounts since that investigation took place?—I do not remember that I certified to accounts since. I do not think so. I do not remember, however, the date of the work.

630. Have you certified to any accounts or purchases of goods since that investigation took place?—If any goods have been ordered by me and received by me I must have certified to the account.

631. Have you ordered any goods since then?—I do not remember.

632. Have you certified to any accounts since then?—If I did not order, I have not certified to any.

633. That is an easy matter for you to answer. You say your office was changed after that investigation?—Precisely. Then I could not have had anything to do with certifying accounts.

634. You continued having to do with certified accounts since that time?—I could not tell you whether I did or did not. Show me any accounts and I will show you whether I did not. I cannot say, I do not know without seeing the account.

635. Has your conduct been investigated lately by the Department?—No.

636. Have you been asked to appear before the head of the Department or the deputy head within the past month?—Not at all. I was sent for by the Minister.

637. Are you still discharging your duties in the Department?—The Minister asked me apropos of the Larose and Bourcier matter and I explained to the Minister how the matter had occurred. Then the Minister two or three days afterwards sent for me again and told me that there were rumours and a host of charges against me and that they would be brought up at the Public Accounts Committee and that he suspended me until I should have been examined before the Public Accounts Committee.

638. Then you are suspended now?—Certainly.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, MONDAY, 21st September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

L. N. CHARLEBOIS re-called, again sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

639. You were examined the other day with reference to this matter?—Yes.

640. The books of Mr. Larose are here now. You are Mr. Larose's book-keeper?—Yes.

641. Will you produce the books and show where there was an account with Mr. Talbot or Mr. Dionne?—Yes.

642. Now, Mr. Charlebois, here are two cheques of the 1st of June, 1885, one si for $90 and one is $112.50—can you show me where these amounts are credited in the books?—The bills are the 6th of May, both the same date and the cheques for the 1st of June.

643. Where are they credited?—They are credited here on the 2nd of June.

644. What is the amount credited?—The first cheque is only credited $10, Mr. Talbot was paid the balance in cash. The balance in cash was paid to Mr. Talbot.

645. Where was it paid?—It was paid in the store. (See page 543 ledger.)

646. There is another cheque for $90.20, what became of that?—It was credited for the full amount.

By Mr. Foster :

647. What was the amount of the first cheque?—$112.50.

By Mr. Somerville :

648. The last cheque was credited in full to Mr. Talbot?—Yes.

649. Then I see on 8th October there was another account for $137.63 with the accompanying cheque for that amount; and on the same date, 8th October, 1885, there are two cheques, one for $113.08, and one for $137.63. Can you say whether they are credited?—They are credited here, $225 for two cheques.

650. To whom?—To Talbot.

651. Did he get any money out of that?—Yes, he got the difference.

652. Between the amount of the cheque and the cash received for the cheque?—Yes, sir.

653. Is there any other sum credited there?—Yes.

654. Here is a cheque for $191.06?—That is 20th October, and credited for $175.

655. He got credited with $175 that time?—Yes, sir.

656. What became of the balance?—He got it in cash.

657. You remember distinctly about that?—Yes, sir.

658. Did you pay the cash yourself?—Well, I have seen it paid.

659. By whom?—Mr. Larose.

660. Can you remember anything about a conversation that took place when this transaction was going on?—Well, of course you know, Talbot used to come with the cheque, and hand it to Mr. Larose and say: "You keep what is due on that and give me the balance."

661. Did Mr. Talbot used to bring the cheque from the Department?—Yes, sir.

662. He took the account first to the Department?—Yes, sir.

663. And then he brought the cheque back to you?—Yes, sir.

664. And he said to Mr. Larose: "I want so much cash on this cheque and I want the balance credited to my account?"—Yes, sir.

665. And that was what was done every time?—Yes, sir.

666. These are all the credits, I believe. They account for the $644.47 total amount of money credited or received on these accounts. Now, will you turn to Mr. Ernest Dionne's accounts and see whether you have any credit for him? When did he get credited for any of this money?—On May 25th, 1886.

667. How did he come to be credited then?—Because the accounts were settled then.

668. That is his account with Mr. Larose?—Yes, sir.

669. And what was he credited with?—Well, he was credited with the money—part of the money of those cheques that were charged to Mr. Talbot.

670. Part of the money charged to Mr. Talbot? How, explain?—To be credited here. We have to charge Mr. Talbot with the same amount.

671. I see you charged Mr. Talbot?—Yes.

672. And then you credited that to Mr. Dionne?—Certainly.

673. How much is he credited with there?—$172.00.

674. What is the meaning of the entry there?—"By balance cash T. B."

675. What did "T. B." stand for?—Talbot Boodlings.

676. You entered that in the book yourself?—I did myself.

677. At the time?—Yes, sir.

678. At the time the credit was given?—Yes, sir.

By the Chairman :

679. Is this your handwriting?—Yes, sir.

680. And you are quite confident "T. B." stands for Talbot Boodling?—I am quite sure, perfectly sure.

By Mr. Somerville :

681. Then Mr. Dionne got credited for how much?—$172.81.

682. Of Talbot Boodlings?—Yes, sir.

By the Chairman :

683. Does that stand for Bourcier?—Boodlings.

By Mr. Somerville :

684. What is the total of the various amounts?—$644.47.

By Mr. Landerkin :

685. Was that the extent of the Talbot Boodlings?—Talbot and Dionne both.

By Mr. Foster :

686. The book in which these entries are contained is your ledger, is it not?—Yes, sir.

687. Where are your other books in which these entries were previously made?—The cash book?

688. Yes? Did you enter them first in a day-book, blotter, or anything of that kind?—I did not use any blotter, I have a cash book.

By Mr. Taylor :

689. Where is the book from which these items were posted—your blotter, journal, or day-book? Let me see the original entries in your cash-book?—Here they are.

690. What other entry has been made there? That has been erased?—No erasure.

691. Do you swear that?—Oh, I swear it.

692. You swear there has been no erasure there?—Certainly.

By Mr. Foster :

693. This is dated May 25th?—Yes, sir.

694. And the entry is: "By balance cash, T. B."?—Yes.

695. Do you swear you made that entry as it stands on the 25th May of that year?—Yes, sir.

696. You swear that positively?—Yes, sir.

697. How do you account for this red line which goes from top to bottom in every case on your book being continuous and not scratched, whilst the companion line shows a distinct mark and distinct evidence of scratching? Is that the form in which the books were, do you think, when printed? How do you account for that difference?—It may be blotted there.

698. It is opposite the blot. Will you swear you did not write anything but that on that same 25th of May or any later date?—That is what I wrote and nothing else.

699. You swear you never erased anything that had been written there, or anybody else?—Yes sir.

700. You swear that positively?—Yes.

701. Do you know of any person having erased something which was written there?—No, sir.

702. Look at it yourself?—I have looked at it.

703. Does it not look like an erasure?—I don't know.

By Mr. Taylor :

704. Do you swear that was the same ink with which the word "May" was written there?—Oh, yes.

705. Look through the page and tell me if there has not been a whole line erased after the word "May." There is no change in the word "May," but from the word "May" down to this item of $172 has there not been an erasure?—It looks like it; I did not do it.

706. When was it done?—I don't know.

707. Does the ink in the other writing look the same as the ink with which "May 25th" was written?—Well, I tell you how I account for it, because you see the paper has been scratched and of course the ink shews more.

708. No, it does not. It shows like new ink that has only been written a little while?—I swear I have not seen the books since I left Mr. Larose's.

709. You swear now there has been an erasure?—It looks like it.

By Mr. Somerville :

710. You swear you made that entry in the book on the date that is written there?—Yes, sir.

711. And that as far as you know it has not been altered since?—No.

By Mr. Taylor :

712. I want to see the original entry from which this has been transferred?—This entry is from the petty ledger we had.

713. Show me the petty ledger or cash book where this is carried from?—At page 23 of the ledger it reads "balance, $172.81."

By Mr. Somerville :

714. There is the balance that is due by E. Dionne. That balance was entered in the ledger?—Yes.

715. That shows he was indebted to that amount?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

716. You say that the amount was charged that day to Mr. Talbot's account?—Yes.

717. Let me see the entry to Talbot?—There is nothing there to Talbot.

718. Mr. Larose's evidence in the main examination was that he charged Talbot and credited to Dionne. Where was it credited to Dionne?—He was credited only when we settled on 25th May, 1886. They had dealings in money all the time.

719. He pointed out to you in his main examination these amounts to Talbot and Dionne. He said he credited it to Dionne and charged to Talbot. Where is that?—"29th July $5, and 3rd August $32." He came to the store and got $5 and it was charged to Talbot.

720. Then that would represent the money that was credited to him. Where is this transfer of credit on Dionne's account?—It is on the dealing.

721. Show me the entry.—$5 on the 29th of July and $32 here (referring to the book).

722. Will you swear that $5 on the 29th July was part of that $172?—Yes.

723. Do you swear that that $32 in August was from that?—Yes.

724. Go on and make up the $172?—August 27th, $10, and October 20th, $125.

725. Was that part of it?—Yes.

726. That was not credited to Mr. Dionne until you had a settlement?—No, not until we had a settlement.

727. What became of that $125 when you charged it there in October?—You see on October 20th we received $191, so we charged $125 to Talbot out of that money.

728. You charged that $125? What did you do with that money?—It was credited afterwards to Dionne.

729. Where did you keep the account of it in the meantime?—It was marked in the books only when we settled.

730. You charged $125 to Talbot and held the money in your pocket?—No, the entry was here.

731. You charged $125 to Talbot but Talbot did not get the money?—It was credited afterward to Dionne.

732. Where did you keep the account in the meantime?—It was kept in the other book, I suppose—that petty ledger.

By Mr. Somerville :

733. As I understand it, you had other transactions with Mr. Dionne?—Yes.

734. And they were mixed up?—Yes.

735. The other transactions were for money loaned by Mr. Dionne to Mr. Larose?—Yes.

736. And when you got money from Mr. Dionne you allowed him for this money which was paid here?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

737. You kept a cash book? Show me the daily transactions in that cash book. Show me the entry for October 20th, 1885 (book produced). You have charged there money paid out to Mr. Talbot, $125?—Yes.

738. If you did that, how did Mr. Dionne get credit for it in May?—That was when we settled.

739. Here is your cash book for October 20th. You credit from the bank cheque $191, and you say you paid out to Talbot $125. Show me how that $125 was credited?—We did not paid it in cash that day.

740. How about your cash accounts then? You show by your disbursements that you paid Mr. Talbot $125 in cash?—We paid him in that way. It was credited to Mr. Dionne.

741-2. Where was it credited to Mr. Dionne on that day?—In the petty ledger, (page 23). It is not entered here now. It was in that entry when we balanced.

743. How does it come you have here on the 11th October, $140?—We paid him that. It was borrowed money that we owed him. We owed Mr Dionne $887.

744. And you were paying him?—Yes, we paid him $200.

745. Show me an entry of that $125, as cash being paid to Mr. Talbot on the 20th October?—I have no entry.

746. Do you swear it went into that $172?—It went into that.

747. I find by balancing up this account that there was just this $172.81 due him irrespective of any cash transaction at all. All these payments you made to him leave a balance due to him of $172.81, which you transferred to his general merchandise account. That is plain. Is that not the fact?—No, sir.

By Mr. Somerville :

748. What is the fact then?—The fact is when we settled the account his share came to—

749. His share of what?—Of these cheques.

750. That is, Dionne's share of the cheques?—Yes.

751. It was understood between you and Mr. Dionne and Mr. Talbot that he was to get a share of this money?—Yes.

752. And he got a share?—Yes.

753. His share was $172.81—Yes, beside the sheeting.

754. That was the first bill of goods you sold?—It was not the first bill, because I think the sheeting was only a few days in.

755. Mr. Dionne got all the sheeting?—Yes.

756. Was it delivered at his house?—I suppose so.

757. Who was your delivery man at that time?—I think his name was Frank Sauriol.

758. Turn me up Mr. Dionne's account in the ledger? This is your account of the transaction between Mr. Dionne and Mr. Larose?—Yes, this is what money we borrowed.

759. And you had a settlement on the 30th June, 1885? When you owed Mr. Dionne $887.85?—Yes.

760. How had you paid that?—On the 7th July, $200; on the 7th August, $25; 4th Sept., $250; 11th October, $140; January, 1886, $194; 21st January, $10; 27th January, $13; 16th February, $40; 22nd February, $30; 5th April, $10; 24th April, $5; 1st May, $10; 25th May, $5.

761. Which left a balance due of $172.81 of the amount of money you owed him before?—Yes.

762. That is the straight transaction?—Yes.

763. So that after paying him these moneys on the dates I have mentioned, on the 25th May, 1886, you owed him $172.81.—Yes, sir.

764. Now, by your ledger account that you produce here, you show on the 25th May that this $172.81 is cash received from Mr. Talbot?—It is charged to Mr. Talbot.

765. How do you reconcile these two statements? Here is the petty account, you say that you owed to him this money at that date, and by the ledger account he owed you that amount; how do you account for the difference between these two statements?—These are the amounts.

766. And the transaction of $172.81 in the ledger is the same as the $172.81 shown in the petty ledger?—No.

767. I want you to explain if you can where Mr. Talbot's connection with these two accounts comes in. How do you account for the statement of $172 coming from Mr. Talbot while at the same time you say the firm owed him that amount?—Well, there is $5 and $32, and $125 and $10.

768. But there is no 81 cents there?—There was the 81 cents put in to balance the transaction up. It is all right, I am confident that the account is perfectly straight. The amount shown in the big book is right.

769. Will you swear positively there was no erasure made on that book?—Yes.

770. And that the balance "cash T. B." is written in the same ink as the rest of the entry?—Yes.

771. And all that is your handwriting?—Yes.

By Mr. Sproule :

772. It was you that made up these books?—Yes.

773. You were aware that this money was being dishonestly used and that you marked on the book the letter "T. B." to signify Talbot's boodlings?—Yes.

774. Did you never see any impropriety in this?—Yes.

775. And did you not consider it your duty to inform the Minister at the head of the Department that this was going on?—No, sir.

776. And you did not inform any person?—No.

777. Did you not think of the propriety of informing the Minister or some member of the Government or officer of the Department?—I did not.

778. Nor did any member of the firm?—I do not know that they did.

779. You must be a healthy firm?—(No answer.)

By Mr. Skinner :

780. You say that the word "May" there is written at the same time as the rest of the entry?—Yes, sir.

781. That it was all one regular entry?—Yes, sir.

782. And whatever erasure is there shown it must have been made previously to that entry?—It must have been; I recollect.

783. You do recollect, do you?—No; I can see. I see I was mistaken; I do not recollect. I do not talk very plain English.

784. When had you first your mind directed to the fact that there was an erasure on this page?—Only just now.

785. When you were shown it here?—Here—yes.

786. This is the first time you ever saw that?—Yes; I never took any notice of it at all.

787. Did you know when you gave your evidence last that this represented the payments made to Mr. Talbot?—(No answer.)

788. At all events you find that the $172.81 represents the amount that you owed Mr. Talbot on the advances made?—No, it does not.

789. Is not the petty cash book there?—(No answer.)

790. It was all in one account?—No.

791. What you had reference to in the other book represents the $172.81. Would you arbitrarily in making this entry charge 81 cents, that being a false entry so far as the 81 cents is concerned—would you do that in the course of your ordinary business?—Oh, yes; in accounts like this to balance up.

792. Did you swear that you have a memory of doing that—can you swear standing here now, that you falsely did this—added this amount of 81 cents for the purpose of making the entry balance?—Yes, sir; it was just to make the account balance.

793. You remember distinctly that the 81 cents was wrongly put in at that time?—I do not say I remember distinctly, but so far as I can remember that was the case.

794. Now, I ask you to say of your own knowledge—it may be a small amount, but it is well to be particular—that the 81 cents is a false entry?—It must be like that.

795. Are you in the habit of making false entries to make the books balance?—Some times, a few cents. I would do that for the purpose of making them balance, supposing there were 81 cents out here I would tell Mr. Dionne that I would do that and make it square up.

796. Will you show me any other cases where you have done that?—See here, there is an error in extension of 60 cents.

797. That is not a false entry, that is a correction of an error in extension, is it not?—Well, it is the same thing, I suppose.

798. Now, you can see this $172.81. Will you undertake to swear that this entry was not made after this entry in the large book? Will you swear that the $172.81 in the ledger is not the $172.81 balance in the petty ledger?—No; I will not swear that it is not.

799. Then seeing that this 81 cents was there it would not be a false entry to put it there if it were the same thing as in the other book?—No.

800. Now, just for a moment—give me some explanation of these amounts : for example, on the 30th of March, 1884, I see you borrowed from Mr. Dionne $620?—Yes.

801. Is this the original entry of that?—Yes, sir. It is entered in the cash book, too.

802. This is all done from one amount?—Yes, sir.

803. What knowledge have you as to where he would get these large amounts to give you?—From the cheques from the Government.

804. On May 15th he got $700. Did you pay him that amount on that date?—Yes, sir.

805. And you carried on these large transactions with him as this book shows?—Oh, yes.

806. And you did this under the knowledge that he was, so to speak, what you called boodling, robbing the Government?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Foster :

807. These are all cash transactions, I understand?—These are all cash transactions.

808. So that in three months you borrowed from Mr. Dionne $2,100 in all?—Yes, sir.

809. You borrowed that amount of cash from Mr. Dionne?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Skinner :

810. You never made it known to any person in the Department?—No, sir.

By Mr. Foster :

811. Did you pay any interest on those borrowings?—$25 is here credited on May 25th.

---

A. GOBEL called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

812. What position do you occupy in the Department?—I am Deputy Minister of Public Works.

813. How long have you been Deputy Minister of Public Works?—Since the 1st January last.

814. What position were you in previous to that?—Secretary of the Department.

815. Had you any knowledge of certain transactions which two of the officers of the Department had in purchasing goods from Mr. Larose?—No.

816. When did you first hear of that transaction?—I may say that I thought up to about four weeks ago that I did not know anything about it ; but coming up from Montreal I picked up the Herald and saw that you had moved for some papers. I was entirely at sea. When I came to the office I called in the Accountant and asked him to produce the accounts. I got them produced, but that did not help my memory. I saw that the accounts were properly billed. They were certified to by Mr. Talbot and were ordered to be paid by the Deputy Minister, and there was nothing to help my memory. When the cheques were taken up, however, I saw that the first cheque was signed by me, although the subsequent ones were signed by Mr. Baillairgé. I must have seen the account at the time I signed the cheque ; but up to that time I did not think there was anything wrong about the transaction. I did not know one word about it and did not know there was anything wrong in it.

817. Were you not one of the parties appointed by the Minister to investigate these charges some years ago?—I was not. His case was never investigated. This matter here was never investigated in the Department, to my knowledge. There has been no suspicion as to the regularity of this transaction until the matter was brought up in the House.

818. As I understand it, there was a report?—Not on this case.

819. What was it on, then?—I might say first, I had nothing to do with the investigation. Second, being a high officer of the Department, being at the time Secretary, these things came to my knowledge: There was a large number of certain articles bought and the attention of the Minister was called to the apparently large number so purchased. The Minister, from what I can see by the papers that I have in my possession, called his Deputy in, who was the right party to call, and gave him the information he had obtained and asked him to cause an investigation to be made. That investigation was entrusted to the Accountant of the Department, as it was a matter of finance and the question had been brought about by one of the financial departments.

820. This was brought about by the purchase of large quantities of goods?—I do not know whether it was the large quantity or the large quantity of a similar kind.

821. What might these goods have been—sheetings?—No, not sheetings. That question was never investigated in the Department. There is nothing throwing doubt on the regularity of this transaction until rumours gathered from your moving in the House.

822. What kind of goods was it?—Spittoons, and glasses and small furnishings. They do not represent a large sum in themselves, but there was what seemed to me, on my attention being called to it, rather a large quantity of some kinds of goods.

823. Have you the report of that officer?—Yes.

824. Could you give us the purport of that report without reading it?—It is in French.

825. Can you give us the purport?—It is signed by Mr. O. Dionne, Accountant of the Department, and it is dated the 3rd May, 1886. He says that in accordance with the instructions of the Minister he made an examination of the vouchers of everything, and that at first it was rather impossible for him to find out what was on hand at the time he made the investigation for the purposes of comparison with what had been bought, because the books were not kept in a proper manner. He thinks that the system followed up to that time was not one which would ensure an absolute check upon the articles being purchased and that the distribution was made in such a way that even the man who was in charge could not check it over. He does not think that anybody has done wrong in the matter; but he thinks it is due to the imperfection and insufficiency of the actual system. He says that there are a lot of spittoons and glasses which cannot be accounted for, but he says there are many that are broken and a lot that disappeared without anyone being able to find out what becomes of them. He says there were spittoons in all the corridors at the beginning of the year, but at the time he made his investigation there were none. There are a large number of people who have access to the Department, such as workmen and charwomen, and these small articles might disappear without the officer in charge knowing where they went. He ended up by making a comparative statement of the amount of articles which were supplied, the amount of the articles which were accounted for, and the amount which he found not accounted for. The value of articles he found not accounted for was $51.25, and I understand that when the matter was reported to the Minister he decided that as there was an officer in charge and there should be some one responsible the person in charge should refund the money.

By Mr. Foster:

826. Was not the system changed?—Yes, and it has worked very satisfactorily ever since.

By Mr. Somerville:

827. Who had charge of the goods purchased by Mr. Talbot?—I cannot tell you; but it is stated that this special branch of the Department is more or less in charge of the Deputy. The Deputy takes that for himself. For instance, I have that portion of the requisitions for the Department under my special charge, although I am not in charge of any particular branch. When Mr. Baillairgé was there he also did that.

828. Mr. Baillairgé is not to be had. He is out of the country?—Yes; I understood from a letter from Mrs. Baillairgé that he was away. He remained at The Cedars, which is his residence, until the McGreevy Enquiry was over, because he expected to be called. He had arranged a trip; but this is only hearsay.

829. Are you aware that there was a room to which these goods were taken; not only these goods, but other goods, where they were afterwards divided up amongst the employees of the Department?—It must have been that way. There was a store room, and whenever articles were required they were brought there.

830. Suppose twelve spittoons were brought there, (I do not mean brought to the Department), but delivered to the private residences of the officers?—I never knew of any article in the Department being sent to any of the private houses of any of the officers.

831. My information is that these purchases were made, not only from dry goods, but from other establishments such as hardware and glassware, and that the goods were delivered at the Department, and afterwards divided up amongst certain officers, and delivered at the private residences of those officers?—I never knew such things to have occurred.

832. You do not know of any single article, do you?—No, sir.

833. Do you swear you never knew of any articles being carried out of the Department?—I cannot recall to my mind. I have no recollection of any article going outside which had been brought into the Department.

834. There have been no articles, to your knowledge, brought to the Department and distributed in any private house?—Not to my knowledge, I have no recollection whatever.

835. Mr. Talbot, then, had complete control of this matter: he could certify to the goods, certify to the correctness of the accounts, get a cheque and pay for them?—That is not the way I understood the system. The system is this: Whenever any branch of the Department—say, perhaps, the Chief Engineer's Office would require, say, a piece of sheeting, for the purpose of mounting the maps or plans, as they have to do for the purpose of preservation—that officer makes a requisition for one or more pieces of sheeting. The requisition is brought to the Deputy, who satisfies himself that the articles are required and when they are required. There is a book kept in the Department in which a record is kept of the requisitions. The requisition is made for the quantity which is required, and this is brought down to the Deputy with the original requisition from the chief of the branch. The Deputy satisfies himself that the requisition is made in accordance with that of the chief of the branch, that the material is requisitioned for. On this being done, the requisition is taken out, whether by the man in charge or anybody else, and the goods are supplied and an account comes in. We cannot look over every article. The man who is in charge of the requisition certifies to the Deputy that the order is in accordance with the original of the chief of the branch, the account is certified, the Deputy having satisfied himself that it is correct. It is not necessary that the man in charge of the account should take down the cheque. The cheque would be issued in due course and it is generally sent down by mail—by mail as a rule. That portion of the system is in vogue now and was in vogue at that time.

836. You swear that you have no knowledge of these transactions, that we are inquiring into now?—None whatever.

837. Mr. Baillairgé was deputy at the time, was he not? He would issue the requisitions?—Yes. That cheque that I have already referred to would be signed by me in the absence of the Deputy. There is an order that the Secretary shall sign cheques when the Deputy is absent.

838. You would sign that without any knowledge that the goods had been received?—I have just described what my knowledge would be. Here is the account for a certain number of articles, here is the responsible officer. I have no reason whatever to suspect he is doing anything that was not correct. Here is the Deputy Minister who certifies that everything is correct, and orders the account to be paid. For myself I could not want anything more perfect to sign a cheque for the account after it had been certified by Mr. Talbot.

839. You had no reason to doubt his honesty at that time?—No. If the Chairman will allow me, I would like to make a statement, while I am here. I may say that in a newspaper which is published outside of this country, there were some statements published reflecting upon me personally. What is published in that paper was reproduced in a paper published in Canada, in the Kingston News, without giving the names of the persons concerned. I had no redress, because it was published outside the country—published in an American paper, and it was after republished again in Quebec in a paper which is circulated where I generally spend the summer with my family. In the article it was stated that there was an official guilty of irregularities, and that he had boodled away about $15,000 of the Department's money and that I was his accomplice; that I had been ordered to make an investigation into the matter, and that afterwards I had made a report practically clearing him and so it was covered up. I wish to take this opportunity of denying that there is any truth in that statement whatever. I believe I have always been an honest officer and I want to keep my reputation.

By Mr. Taylor :

840. You say you are somewhat acquainted with book-keeping?—Yes.

841. I want you to look at that entry there, page 191 in the ledger. There is an entry made on May 25th and by balance cash T.B. $172.81. Is all that entry in your opinion written with the same ink?—I have no doubt that the entry May 25th is not in the same handwriting as the balance cash T.B. $172.81. I have no hesitation in saying that May has certainly not the same form of letters as the rest of the entry.

842. You are sure of that?—That is what I would say.

843. Has there been an erasion where that line should have been drawn?—One would say so. I see that the paper is not ruled the same as the rest of the book. The line seems to drop from the sheet at that part.

844. You see these other lines?—Yes, that seems to have been scratched.

845. In your opinion has there been an erasure there?—I should say so.

By Mr. Somerville :

846. Supposing the sheet had been scratched with a knife before the writing was made, is it not possible that the writing would be different at that part from what it would be at the place where it was not scratched?—Yes; it might be heavier.

847. That is if it had been written at a certain time?—Yes, but this writing seems to me to have been done by another man.

By Mr. Foster :

848. If it were sworn that both of these were written at the same time with the same ink and by the same hand, what would you say as to the question then?—If it were a man that I knew very well, I would not press my conviction very strongly. If I knew the man's character, and he had a reputation for truthfulness and honesty, I would be inclined to think that I might be wrong, but if it were a man I did not know I would certainly say that this has been scratched and that it is not the same handwriting and not the same ink. You can see the same hand in the rest of the entries in the page, but it is different from this particular part.

By Mr. Somerville :

849. If this entry had been scratched before the handwriting was done the entry there would be heavier?—Yes, the writing would be heavier upon the scratched paper, still you would distinguish the same hand.

850. Would you not think that this was heavier?—I would say that this was a little heavier on account of the scratching and that it is not the same hand.

851. That is, that you do not believe that the entry of the word May was written in the same hand as the remainder of the entry was written in?—That is my belief. Of course it would depend very much upon the man who was telling me that he made the entry.

By Mr. Taylor :

852. I point out to you what purports to be an account against Ernest Dionne on May 25th: cash credit of $172.81. That is produced with a petty cash account shewing an account to Mr. Dionne. That account is balanced up on May 25th shewing a balance of $172.81 due to Mr. Dionne on a cash transaction. Does the handwriting "May 25th, balance $172.81" look like the same handwriting that made the other figures to the same amount?—I believe that the balance in one book and the handwriting in the other were made by the same person. Look at the "c" in the word "Balance" and you will notice the similarity in the other writing.

853. Do not the figures look the same?—There is not so much resemblance although they do look the same. The figure "8" looks the same. I don't think there is the same similarity as there is in the writing of the word "balance" which it seems to me was written by the same man and appears to be the same thing.

854. As a book-keeper would you like to say that the $172.81 on May 25th, being a balance on that cash transaction, referred to this other account here?—I do not know enough to tell you that sir, I am not enough of a book-keeper. I may be a little expert at handwriting, because I have seen a good many styles, but not at book-keeping.

SAMUEL ASHFIELD re-called, again sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

855. You gave evidence here before in regard to this matter?—Yes, sir.

856. Since that time you have made an examination of your books, I understand?—Yes, sir, I looked over them.

857. And you have refreshed your memory a little in regard to the transaction?—Yes, in one or two items.

858. Please state to the Committee what you have discovered since you were last examined. You then stated you had not delivered any goods at Mr. Talbot's residence?—Yes, I had an order I found, after looking at the books, from the Public Works Department in February, 1889, for an amount of goods. The amount was about $40. It was to be sent to 165 Maria street, the order read, and I understood at the time that the goods were for supplies for the translator's house—that the Department had rented rooms there and the translators were there. They had a messenger there, and sent two or three times for coal oil and for lamps, so that I knew the Department had rooms rented at 165 Maria street.

859. Who lived there?—Mr. Talbot.

860. What kind of order did he produce when he came for the goods first?—I have forgotten whether it was a requisition or whether it was simply a written order; I am not positive.

861. You told me it was a written order and you objected at first to the requisition?—Well, I think probably it was a written order. The requisitions are printed, you know, but I think this was a written order.

862. It was not on the regular printed form?—Not on the regular printed form.

863. And you objected to receive it at first?—I think there was some objection to that.

864. How did Mr. Talbot explain to you about the order?—There was another party came with Mr. Talbot, another messenger—two, I think, came together—when the order was given. Afterwards I had an order from another firm which was supplying desks or some furniture which was going down there. I think they were washstands, and they bought some crockery from me to go there. I learned from that firm they were also supplying furniture from the Public Works Department for the same purpose. Of course I was confident these goods were for the Department before I sent them down.

865. You were confident the goods were for the Department?—For the Department; yes.

866. Are you aware that the translators ever occupied that house?—I learned they did in that way from the furniture firm that was supplying the furniture and bought the goods from me. They had an order for washstands complete with crockery. They bought the crockery from me to complete their order, and my order was for lamps, coal oil, spittoons, tumblers, to the amount of $40. The account ran during the month of February from the 2nd, I think, to the 19th.

867. And these were the goods delivered at Mr. Talbot's residence?—At Mr. Talbot's residence.

868. In what year?—1889.

869. Do you know what became of the goods afterwards?—I do not, sir.

870. Were the goods not sold under chattel mortgage?—Well, I remember that his goods were sold under a chattel mortgage. I had sold him an amount of goods for himself just a few months previous to that. About $109, I think, was the exact amount of his account, and he had paid that account all but, I think, $34. That account ran for some time and he did not pay it, and I handed it to my solicitor, and he sued him for the account, and he has been paying it since under a judgment summons.

By the CHAIRMAN—Do you know whether the translators did occupy that place, 165 Maria Street?—No, sir.

---

Mr. GOBEL re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Foster :

871. You have heard the evidence give by Mr. Ashfield with reference to that room that was occupied by the translators. Do you know anything of it?—Yes, I remember. I think it was in 1889 that we leased two or perhaps three rooms in that year for the translators. We have had to put the translators in different places, as last year they were occupying the Lee Building opposite the Post office. This year they are located on Sussex Street.

By Mr. Somerville :

872. What translators?—The French translators to the Hansard.

873. You furnished those rooms?—We supplied some furniture and some chamber sets, I believe; I could not remember exactly what.

874. Do you know what became of that furniture afterwards?—My recollection is there was an order given to remove the furniture, after the translators notified the Department they had done with the rooms.

875. Was the furniture removed?—I have every reason to believe it was, although I was not there. I know the order was given for its removal. Of course I was not there, but I have no doubt the furniture was removed when the occupation ceased.

---

FRANK SAURIOL, Jr., called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

876. What is your occupation?—A painter.

877. Were you working for Mr. Larose in 1885?—That is my son.

878. You are not the man we want at all, then?—I was summoned for something else. My little son used to carry parcels by parcel delivery for Mr. Larose.

By the Chairman :

879. Were you ever employed by Mr. Larose?—No, sir.

By Mr. Somerville :

880. Where is your son now?—At Butterworth's.

By the Chairman :

881. What is your son's Christian name?—The same as my own.

J. R. ESMONDE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

882. You keep a hardware store?—Yes, sir.

883. On Sparks street?—Yes, sir.

884. You get orders from the Department of Public Works for goods occasionally?—Yes.

885. Do you remember getting orders from Mr. Talbot?—Yes, sir.

886. What class of goods did you get orders for?—I received orders for cuspidors, feather dusters, and a stove or two for some rooms that were rented by the Department in his house.

887. When?—I should say it was six or seven years ago. I do not remember the dates; I can only tell you the circumstances.

888. It was six or seven years ago?—Possibly, I am taking a jump at it.

889. You cannot come within a year or two of it?—No.

890. It was not in 1889?—I cannot say. Perhaps I had better withdraw that time.

891. What kind of stove was it?—A heating stove.

892. Did you never sell Mr. Talbot a cooking stove and deliver it at his house?—Certainly.

893. Did you sell that to him or did you get an order from the Department for it?—I sold that to him.

894. Did you get an order from the Department for that as you did for the delivery of other goods?—No, sir; and I may tell you what is more, that the stove is not paid for yet.

895. I thought that by your expression. How did you know these rooms were rented by the Government?—Because the requisition came down to supply the goods to a certain number on Maria street. I went there and saw it fitted up as an office; and I remember having a conversation with Mr. Ashfield about it.

896. You had a good deal of dealing with Mr. Talbot?—Yes.

897. Did you ever present him with a buggy?—With what?

898. A buggy?—No.

899. Sure?—No; quite sure.

900. Are you sure that you did not have a buggy made up by a carriage maker down the street and presented it to Mr. Talbot?—Quite sure.

901. Then I have been misinformed?—I think you have. You may have struck the wrong customer. There is no truth in it.

902. There is another Esmonde in the hardware business in the city?—Yes, but he was in my employ at the time.

903. You say positively that you never delivered goods to Mr. Talbot at his residence and got your pay from the Department?—Certainly not.

904. For no article?—Certainment.

905. That is only in the case of the goods you supplied to furnish these rooms on Maria street which were supposed to be for the Government?—I do not understand that question,

906. You said you supplied some goods for rooms in Mr. Talbot's house and you understood it was for the Department?—Yes.

907. Those are the only goods you received pay for?—That is all.

C. S. SHAW called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

908. Have you sold large quantities of goods to the Department?—I have sold goods at different times.

909. You sold very large quantities sometimes?—Some large and some small.

910. Did you ever sell any goods to the Department on orders brought to you by Mr. Talbot?—I think Mr. Talbot brought in orders once or twice; perhaps oftener than that—small orders.

911. Did you ever deliver any of the goods that Mr. Talbot ordered at any other place than the Public Works Department?—Not to my knowledge.

912. Would you know?—Yes, I would know.

913. You never received pay for goods delivered to private individuals from the Government?—Never.

By Mr. McMullen :

914. You do not deliver goods yourself?—No.

915. Do you on all occasions know where these goods are delivered by your men?—Not on all occasions.

916. Your man might receive instructions to deliver these goods to any part of Ottawa and you would be totally ignorant of the fact?—In some cases I might be absent, but it would be very seldom. If I would be there I would see where they went.

917. Are you prepared to say that you keep such a close watch on your men that you could say where they deliver all the goods that leave your store. Might it not be possible that goods would be delivered in another place and you not know it?—It might be under certain circumstances.

By Mr. Patterson :

918. Does your order say where the goods are to be delivered?—No.

By the Chairman :

919. Who gives orders to the driver where to deliver the goods?—I do, and sometimes my clerks.

By Mr. Skinner :

920. At all events, nothing of that kind has been done to your knowledge?—No.

O. DIONNE asked leave to be allowed to make a statement, and, after being sworn, said:

Mr. CHAIRMAN—Mr. Gobeil has referred to a certain article in a certain paper called Le Courier de l'illinois. I have been charged with having done something wrong in the Department in connection with Mr. Talbot and other parties. I may say this: That from the first word to the last there is not one word of truth in it. My hands are clean in this matter, as in other matters. I have been twenty-seven years in the service and nobody has ever charged me with anything wrong, and I want to take this opportunity of vindicating my reputation; because I have a family to support and I want my character and my reputation vindicated. I had nothing to do with that. I never boodled or anything of the kind. The fact is, that I did not know what boodling was until lately.

By Mr. Somerville :

921. You heard about it lately?—When it was published. A friend of mine took this paper and showed it to me.

922. You see there might be a confusion of names, you know?—Yes. I saw some papers said: “E. Dionne, accountant of the Department of Public Works, had been dismissed. I had to communicate with some friends of mine who had seen these papers and tell them to be quiet, that they need not be afraid.”

HORACE TALBOT recalled, again sworn and further examined:—

By the Chairman :

923. You were here and you have heard what has been said regarding these things—have you anything to say to the entries in these books?—With respect to the books I do not know anything about them. I do not know anything about books. Mr. Dionne is a book-keeper, but of course I understand something of the books, but I do not wish to examine the books in my evidence. I heard, of course, what has been said, that an amount is credited to me, that cotton is charged to me and is charged to the Government. I have heard Mr. Larose and Mr. Charlebois say that the sheeting was not received by the Government and that the money was received by me, but Mr. Larose stated first that he never gave me any money. I can swear positively that neither Charlebois nor Larose gave me any money. It is completely false. Now, it is said here that my account was paid by the money of the Department. It is false, and I have the receipts for it in my pocket. The sum I forget; because I have asked my wife, and the whole thing was perfectly settled and I do not mind it. Since then Larose has failed twice and he did not pay 5 cents for the money he received, and as for Charlebois he did not do anything for 25 or 30 years now, and I am not afraid to say that he has compacted with some members to come here and make these charges. That gentleman here, Mr. Somerville, I accuse him of having been at Ashfield's to try to get him to come here and tell something different to what he said before, and he has been at the books.

MR. SOMERVILLE—I contend that the witness has no right to make such a statement. Ashfield sent for me to say that upon looking over his books he had found certain things since he had seen it before the Committee, and he told me that he had found the information that he has stated here this morning. I cannot allow this witness to make such a statement. I do my duty as a member of this Committee in trying to ascertain the facts about this case; as to seeing the books, I never saw the books.

MR. TALBOT—You have been in the house of Larose.

MR. SOMERVILLE—I never saw those books, and this witness has no right to make an attack upon me.

WITNESS—If I have no right, you have no right to run on the street to bring up witnesses against me.

MR. SOMERVILLE—Is this thing to be allowed?

THE CHAIRMAN—The witness must confine himself to his statement.

By Mr. Foster :

924. You say you have got receipts?—The goods were brought all to my house in 1889. The house was rented by me in 1888 and 1889, and my wife used to take boarders. We had, I think, about a dozen of them. Now, as to the house in the year 1889, about the beginning of the session, Mr. Beaulieu, of the Translating Department, said that they wanted rooms, and rooms were rented by my wife to the Department. I had nothing to do with it myself. I was not in the place at the time, and to furnish the rooms for their purposes some goods were required. The house was furnished in my absence and goods were ordered in my absence. On the 22nd of April, I had sold the goods in my house, except these goods. I have specified these goods because they belonged to the Government, and when they left the house on the 22nd of April, I was not in the house, but they were removed and the furniture was brought back to the Department. This furniture went back; and I will state here that I never received any goods from the Department. All the goods I got I have paid for them. And I defy anyone to prove that I got anything that was not correct. All this has been brought up only through jealousy. It is the statements of boys, of employees and drunkards and all such like class as that. They said that I was living on $5,000 a year and that it was not my salary. I had $2,000 debts, and I pretty nearly finished paying debts, and you bring such witnesses as Larose and Charlebois and such people to make statements here.

925. Did you ever lend any money to Mr. Larose?—I never lent money to Larose, but Larose once came to the office and told me: "Now Talbot, you can have $75 or $80 if you want them: I can lend them to you." I knew Larose could not lend any money, and I knew that he could not give money to anyone.

926. So that you never borrowed from him?—No, I said: I will put you out; but at 4 o'clock he lent me $75 and said it was his wife's. I said that he should not do that. I did not want him to give me money, but Larose told me "it is money of my wife's." I never got a cent, and Mr. Charlebois never saw me in the store. Charlebois came here and said now that the goods charged to the Department were delivered to me. That is not so. As to his saying that goods were brought to my house or to the house of Mr. Dionne, I am not surprised that Mr. Larose does not keep any more store and that he broke; when he says that there was sheeting sent to me that was paid for by the Government it was very smart, too smart to hold a store long.

By the Chairman:

927. You say you have receipts for most of the payments?—Yes, sir; I had receipts, and more than that, it was a good job I had my receipts, for a month ago I received a letter from a lawyer to pay that account. The receipt I have got here.

By Mr. Somerville:

928. Where are your receipts?—I have got them in my pocket, and I am going to hold them too and keep them too, because I know the whole form now. Now last year I asked the wife—

Mr. SOMERVILLE—This man must not be allowed to make speeches.

WITNESS—There is no speech, but here is evidence.

Mr. FOSTER—Just state the facts.

WITNESS—In 1885, sir—

Mr. SOMERVILLE—Where are those receipts?

WITNESS—I have got them in my pocket.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—Well, just produce them.

WITNESS—Here is a receipt for $50, and it was after—

Mr. SOMERVILLE—You need not make any explanations.

WITNESS—You are not alone in this Committee. Are you alone? Because if you are I put that in my pocket and don't want to have nothing to do with it.

Mr. McMULLEN—This is quite irregular, Mr. Chairman, for a witness to address the Committee in this kind of way.

WITNESS—That's all right, I am going to talk just the way you do. If you want to talk any more after that I will talk to you. I can talk to the whole lot of you.

Mr. McMULLEN—This witness should be kept in order.

WITNESS—I don't talk to you.

By Mr. Somerville:

929. What receipts have you?—Here is a note of $51.95 that is paid. It was the 13th February, 1888. Now, here is a receipt from Larose of 25th October, 1888.

930. For how much?—$50.

931. What else have you got?—I have paid here $141 asked by Larose to pay 25 cents on the dollar last year.

932. What other receipts have you got?—Here is $141. Here they are. This is on the 18th February, 1890. It was settled by my lawyers, Valin & Code. A month ago or three weeks ago I received a letter to pay that amount again.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—These receipts should be put in as exhibits.

WITNESS—You go around and the Free Press can give a kick again to-night. He is there.

By the Chairman.

933. Would you tell us how you happen to have so large an account with Larose as $1,078 in three or four months?—Three or four months?

934. Yes?—Well, I can bring witnesses here that I never had more.

935. I want to know how it is you had so large an account as $1,087 in four months?—Well, of course, as I said, they have charged me with cotton I never bought. I never bought myself at Larose's except that suit of clothes I got from him—I never bought nothing at all. It was my wife that used to furnish the goods and I have asked the wife if she have bought more than $300 or $400, and she told me that she never bought for that amount of money. She did not recollect just only clothing for the children, and she got a few things for the house, for the windows or anything. I asked her whether Larose sent goods directly to the house, as sheeting or such goods from the Government, and she told me that he never. He never brought any sheeting or cotton to the house.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—Is that evidence?

The CHAIRMAN—Yes.

Mr. SOMERVILLE—The woman should be brought here.

WITNESS—Yes, you can have the woman. I have never seen those books. You see I paid attention to a little of these things. It is all scratched up. Of course it is all done by Mr. Charlebois here. Mr. Dionne here is a regular book-keeper and will give you an explanation of the books. I don't believe nothing at all of those books. Charlebois comes here and say: "Talbot is boodling." If they only will say what they was doing then? But if they came here with another little thing and say the truth they would not have kept such a thing as that; but now they comes here with a fresh memory and with a little talk: "We kept such a book and 'T.B.' was Talbot boodling." I think that was their boodling, and if they can get a chance to boodle again, or rob again, they will do it.

Mr. CHARLEBOIS re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Somerville:

936. What is the amount of Mr. Talbot's account in the ledger?—I see, $1,078.

937. He got all the goods that are charged to this account?—Yes, sir.

938. Delivered at his own house?—Yes, sir.

939. They were delivered by your delivery?—By the delivery boy.

By Mr. Foster:

940. They were delivered where?—At Mr. Talbot's house.

941. All of them?—I suppose so.

942. You suppose? Do you know?—They were. All that is charged here were delivered at his house

943. Do you know they were?—I have sent the boy.

By Mr. Somerville:

944. He produced these receipts and a note showing his payment for the amount of that account. What is that first note?—The amount is $51.95.

945. What is the next?

Mr. TALBOT—As I stated, I have got these, but I have lost some.

WITNESS—The date of the next is 15th February, 1888. I don't know anything about it.

946. That is a different year altogether?—After I left the establishment.

947. It would not be included in this account at all?—No, sir.

By the Chairman :

948. Had you no other account with Mr. Talbot after that date?—No sir, that is the last.

949. What date is that?—That is 1886.

By Mr. Somerville :

950. These payments of $50, $23, and $7.81 do not apply to that account?—Not at all.

951. It is a different year?—It is not the same year at all.

---

FRANK SAURIOL, jr., secundus, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

952. Were you working for Mr. Larose in 1885?—Yes, sir.

953. How long were you employed by him?—One year and nine months.

954. Do you remember when you went to work for him?—Yes.

955. When?—It was in May, 1885.

956. This first account was on the 6th of May. Were you in the habit of delivering goods purchased at Mr. Larose's store to the customers?—Yes; for one year.

957. Do you remember delivering any goods to the Department of Public Works?—No; I never delivered goods there.

958. Not at all?—No.

959. Not during the whole time you were with Mr. Larose?—No.

960. Did you deliver goods regularly at Mr. Talbot's house and Mr. Dionne's house?—I delivered some goods at Mr. Dionne's.

961. What goods?—Parcels; I do not know what kind of goods they were.

962. Do you remember delivering a lot of sheeting at Mr. Dionne's?—It was a parcel anyway.

963. You delivered goods purchased by Mr. Dionne and Talbot at their houses?—Yes.

964. And you never delivered any goods to the Department of Public Works?—No.

965. You were there from May until a year and nine months after?—Yes.

966. You delivered for the first year you were there—that is from May, 1885, until May, 1886?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

967. How large a parcel was the parcel you delivered at Mr. Dionne's house?—Some were about this long and some were about that (one foot to two feet).

968. Did you ever deliver a bale of cotton?—No.

By the Chairman :

969. Did you at Mr. Talbot's house?—Not a large parcel.

By Mr. Taylor :

970. The parcel you delivered at Mr. Dionne's house could not have contained 120 yards of cotton?—No.

By Mr. Skinner :

971. Was there any delivering done by an older man?—When I was there I delivered all the goods.

972. You had a team?—No; no team.

973. Who would deliver the parcels that were too heavy for you?—There were none too heavy; I carried them all.

By Mr. Foster :

974. You had no heavy parcels?—Sometimes the Harvey express came around.

975. Do you recollect delivering at Mr. Talbot's house a parcel two and a half feet long that would weigh fifty to sixty pounds?—I do not remember.

976. Weighing one hundred pounds?—I delivered a parcel weighing about twenty or twenty-five pounds there.

By Mr. Cochrane :

977. How old are you?—Nineteen.

978. How old would you be when you delivered these goods?—Fifteen years.

By Mr. Taylor :

979. You say the heaviest parcel you ever delivered at Mr. Talbot's house would weigh about twenty-five pounds?—Yes.

980. How heavy would be the heaviest you ever delivered at Mr. Dionne's house?—I never delivered any parcels there except small parcels.

981. Mr. Larose swore that the first bill of goods making 211½ yards and amounting to $112 went to Mr. Dionne's house. Do you know of any such parcel being delivered there?—No; I remember delivering a big parcel, but not heavy at all.

A. C. LAROSE recalled, again sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Foster :

982. You see that entry there (referring to the ledger)?—Yes.

983. Did you ever see that before?—I just saw it before this investigation.

984. You had no knowledge of it before?—The first time I had any knowledge of it was in the presence of Mr. Dionne.

985. So the first knowledge you had of it was when?—In the presence of Mr. Dionne. He saw that there himself.

986. What explanation did you make?—We could not make anything out of it. It was in Mr. Charlebois' writing, and he was living in the country. I never heard anything about it until Mr. Charlebois gave his explanation here one night.

987. Do you know anything of the transactions you had with Mr. Dionne?—Yes.

988. Were you in the habit of borrowing money from him?—Largely.

989. Was he man of means?—He was in the Civil Service. That is all I know.

990. How came you to be borrowing money?—I had money to pay, and whenever I had notes to meet I borrowed money from him.

991. Did you pay him any interest?—Nothing of any value. We were great friends together.

992. Mr. Dionne, on account of friendship, loaned you these sums of money?—Yes.

993. I see in your petty ledger that on May 23rd you borrowed $50?—I borrowed more than that.

994. May 6th, $50; May 15th, $620; May 21st, $550; May 21st, $200; June 1st, $300; June 2nd, $200; June 24th, $200; altogether making about $2,170 that you borrowed from Mr. Dionne, according to this, within three months. That I suppose is a correct setting forth?—That was just in exchange. I would get it for a few days and return it.

995. And borrow it again?—Yes.

996. Would Mr. Dionne give you this money out of hand?—Sometimes in money and sometimes it was cheques on the Public Works Department. It was a different transaction every time.

997. Sometimes he gave you a cheque on his account?—He had no account of his own.

998. What did he give you?—He had a cheque for the pay-sheet and he would pay it to me for a couple of days and I would give it to him back.

999. He never gave you a cheque?—It was a Government cheque sometimes.

1000. Endorsed by himself?—Yes, I think he endorsed it.

1001. You got these cheques cashed at the bank?—Sometimes he gave me the money too.

1002. In any of these cases, do you remember to whom the Government cheque was made payable?—It was for a certain branch or a certain wharf or something of that kind.

1003. You had a perfect knowledge that this was not Mr. Dionne's money?—I do not know if he had any of his own. It was a cheque from the Government. I did not know.

1004. Did you not know it was not his own?—I never went that far as to ask him that question.

1005. You knew Mr. Dionne was not selling goods to the Government?—The cheques were not made to his order.

1006. You for month after month took these sums of money from Mr. Dionne, paying him little or no interest?—Never paid him anything. It was through friendship he did it.

1007. Knowing these were not Mr. Dionne's funds, but the money of the Government?—They may have been his own. He may have had some money of his own that I do not know of.

1008. You say you had no cheque of his made on his account in the bank?—I never saw any account of his.

1009. He never gave you any cheque on his own account?—No.

1010. Did he ever pay you these large sums; were they handed to you in cash?—Very often in cash.

1011. But sometimes they were not in cash, but in cheque?—Yes.

1012. That cheque being a Government cheque?—Yes.

1013. You carried on this transaction for how long in that way?—You will see the date, every entry is made in the books.

1014. Here is one, March 30th, $620, that you borrowed from him. Have you any recollection of that?—Yes. He would give me as much as that at one time.

1015. What is this page?—275.

1016. Will you turn to page 275 and see what the transaction in the ledger was?—That money was paid or received as appears here.

1017. It was money that you borrowed from him, as I understand?—Yes.

1018. And it would be money received by you?—Yes. 275 is the number, and there is E.D., $620.

1019. Was that Government cheque?—I could not say, I do not remember that.

1020. How is it put down there?—It is simply put down with the initials E.D.—the initials alone.

1021. You cannot say whether this was a Government cheque or not?—No.

1022. On what bank did you have the cheques cashed?—The Banque Nationale.

1023. You did your business at that bank?—Yes.

1024. The date of that is March 30th?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

1025. In your first testimony here you said that the first bill of goods that you sent was for two pieces of sheeting which you said was delivered at Mr. Dionne's residence?—Yes. It was for $64.20, to be delivered at Ernest Dionne's residence.

1026. Was it delivered?—Yes.

1027. How do you know?—I can prove it by my clerks. By everybody in my place at the time.

1028. Did you sell the goods yourself?—I had the goods laid away for a long time.

1029. Where had you them laid away?—At the back of the office.

1030. You did not deliver them immediately after they were ordered?—No.

1031. How long did you keep them?—We kept them ten days.

By Mr. Sproule :

1032. You had not the money and there was no delivery of the goods?—No.

By Mr. Somerville :

1033. You sold the goods on the 6th of May?—Yes.

1034. When were they entered?—They were entered a few days after they were ordered.

1035. You did not get the cheque until the 1st of June? Did you hold the goods until you got the cheque?—Yes. I remember one day Mr. Dionne said to put back one piece of the sheeting in stock and to send the balance on to his place.

1036. Did you send them to his place?—I did, they were either sent by the boy or by express waggon.

1037. That was your custom?—The express waggon would deliver the heavy goods.

1038. How heavy a parcel would this be?—$64.20 worth of sheeting is an easy matter to carry.

1039. How much will it weigh?—40 or 50 pounds.

1040. And that is the quantity charged in the books?—Yes.

1041. And this is the bill here charging it to the Government?—Yes. I will bring the men who were in my employ at the time to say that these goods were delivered.

By Mr. Skinner :

1042. Why did you retain the goods for ten days after the order?—Because they gave me to understand it was for the Government and when the bill was passed he would give me the cheque.

1043. Do you mean that you wanted the order from the Government before you delivered the goods?—Well, he had the authority to order them—that is, he told me he had. He said: We will give you the order for the sheeting; and afterwards they got me to send to this place $64.20 worth and put the remainder in stock.

1044. At the time you took some out and put it back and you sent the rest to him?—Yes.

1045. What did he tell you when he asked you to do that?—He merely said: Send it down to me and I will put that all right.

1046. You knew that it was going to his house for his own use, did you?—Well, he told me he wanted it.

1047. He said you were to send them to his house?—Yes. He said: Send them to my house and I will fix them all right.

1048. Did you receive the impression that he was going to take them for himself?—I do not know. That was his transaction.

1049. What impression had you?—I cannot say what the impression was.

1050. You received an impression of some kind—what was it?—The impression was that I was making a sale. That is all.

1051. You received the impression either that he was going to have this for himself or not, and I wish you to tell me what that impression was?—I do not know anything about it.

1052. I ask you again what your impression was?—I had a very good impression of his character. He told me to take that piece out and send the rest to his house.

1053. That you were to send the rest to his house?—That I was to send the rest of it there.

1054. I am asking you simply this—whether he conveyed to your mind the impression that the $64 worth of sheeting was to be used for himself?—I did not care what he used it for.

1055. I know you did not care, but that is not the question. I want to get your answer?—That is all the answer I can give.

1056. What idea had you as to whether this was to be used for himself or for the Government?—I cannot give you any idea.

Mr. LANDERKIN—He is not here to give ideas but facts.

1057. I want to know the impression or idea that he had as to how these goods were to be disposed of when the order was given?—I had confidence in him and when he told me to do a thing I did it.

1058. That is your answer?—Yes.

1059. Who did you charge?—I charged Talbot $64.20.

1060. Who did he tell you to charge?—Talbot.

1061. Did Talbot tell you to charge it to him?—Talbot was there.

1062. Did Talbot tell you to charge those $64.20 for these pieces of cotton to him?—He told me to send them to this man Dionne's.

1063. He told you to send them to his place and charge them to Talbot?—Yes.

1064. Did you know you were to send them to Dionne's at the time the cotton was ordered?—Yes. They used to come together to my place at 4 o'clock; they would sometimes come together, they were in two or three times.

1065. So he told you to charge them to Talbot when the order was first given?—Yes. It was understood I was to charge them to him.

1066. Did you make any remark to them upon the question of sending the goods to Dionne and charging them to Talbot?—I never asked them a question about it.

1067. When this first conversation took place were you in the habit of sending them to their private residences?—No. Of course I would send them wherever they told me to send them.

1068. I suppose you know that where the orders were given for the Government, you would be supposed to send the goods to the Department—in this case it would be the Department of Public Works, would you not?—Yes.

1069. When you got this notice to send them to Mr. Dionne's place, did you not think in your mind there was something wrong?—No, I had not the slightest idea there was anything wrong.

By Mr. Foster :

1070. Do you know a man named E. Bance, a clerk in the Public Works Department?—Yes.

1071. Did you have large transactions with him during that year?—Yes, about the same as with Mr. Dionne.

1072. Were you in the habit of borrowing money from him?—The same, yes.

1073. In the same way?—Yes.

1074. On the same plan?—The same thing.

By Mr. Sproule :

1075. Were your orders verbal or written?—The first one was verbal, I think.

1076. Is this the account referred to, amounting to $64?—$64.20, yes.

1077. Were the orders you got from the Public Works Department written or printed orders?—We used to attach them to the accounts. And they would keep the accounts.

1078. Were they not generally printed forms?—Printed forms, yes.

1079. If you got a verbal order would you suppose it was for the Public Works Department?—I did not hesitate a moment. It was the first transaction I had; I did not think there was anything wrong.

1080. And you thought it was for the Public Works Department of course?—Yes, certainly.

1081. I think you said in your evidence the other day, that the goods were put away somewhere until you got the cheques from Talbot and Dionne?—Yes.

1082. Was it because you did not feel like charging it to this party? Was his account not good?—Well, as I stated before, you know, they had my headings at the Department, but it did not satisfy them, and had to borrow another name to pass the accounts. That was what caused the delay ; the account came back.

1083. When you were charging this to Dionne, was his account not considered good in your establishment?—Well, he always paid me a little of course.

1084. Were you satisfied that his account was good?—Yes, but when we started the account he owed me about $185.

1085. If you were satisfied his account was good, why did you not charge it to him at the time?—I think the amount of $185 was high enough for me.

1086. Do you give that reason why you held the goods before you got a cheque? Yes, certainly.

1087. You are not aware the cheque to pay for this was coming from the Department?—They told me the order was for the Department.

1088. Then when you sent to his private house you thought you were sending it for the Department there?—I did not know what they would do afterwards. I was under the impression they would give it back to the Government themselves.

By the Chairman :

1089. There were no goods then charged to anybody?—There were goods for private use.

1090. After the first delivery?—It was in the account.

By Mr. Somerville :

1091. You said before, you put in your account in this way in order to get paid for the goods. They were delivered at Mr. Talbot's house and Mr. Dionne's house? You never had any transactions directly with the Government?—No.

1092. You never delivered any goods to the Government?—No, never had any transaction with the Government since 1885.

1093. And all these accounts were made out for goods sold these two men in their private capacity?—That is it.

1094. And not the goods that are really represented by these invoices at all, except for the first item—a piece of linen?—The first delivery, $64.20.

1095. That was the only piece?—That is all I delivered.

1096. That is correct as far as these accounts are concerned?—That is all.

By Mr. Taylor :

1097. This is your petty ledger representing Mr. Dionne's cash transactions with you?—Yes.

1098. You admitted to the Honourable Mr. Foster a few minutes ago that from the 1st March until the 29th May you borrowed from Mr. Dionne $2,170?—I gave it back to him.

1099. And you gave it back this way, did you—March 23rd, $75 ; May 6th, $120 ; May 15th, $700 ; May 21st, $116 ; May 21st, $7 ; June 1st, $150 ; June 2nd, $100 ; June 27th, $14. On the 30th June you struck a balance and you owed him on the 1st June, $887.81? Is that correct?—That is it.

1100. How did you pay that?—Those are cash transactions.

1101. When we get to the bottom of that page it shows you owed Mr. Dionne a balance of $172.81. How did you pay him that $172.81?—I told the book-keeper to put it to the credit of his account.

1102. Here is the entry: "May 25th, by cash, $172.81." That is transferred to his personal account, is it not?—It was a cash account. I kept that myself as well as the bank book.

1103. That $172.81 is a balance you owed to him for borrowed money?—That was settled. That is an account of goods he had.

1104. The $172.81 is a balance you owed him on cash, and you tell me you gave the book-keeper instructions to have it carried forward?—To give him credit for the goods he bought.

1105. And did he do it?—He did.

1106. That $172, represents this account?—Yes.

1107. Is that Mr. Charlebois' handwriting?—Yes.

1108. Had there been a written entry made before he entered in the book?—Never; he may have scratched it out himself at the time he made entries in the books. They have never been touched since. They have not been opened, nor the account looked over since.

1109. Nobody has had access to them but Mr. Charlebois and yourself?—And myself.

1110. Look through that entry from the other side of the page. Has there been an erasure made there?—It looks like it, but it may have been made at the time the book-keeper transferred it.

1111. You admit now that the $172.81 was a balance on a cash transaction you had?—That was the time we settled up the accounts.

1112. And it is not cash from Talbot boodling?—It was supposed to be at the credit of Dionne. In these amounts from the cash received from the Department, you understand, they would bring me a cheque of $100, and I would give $50 to Talbot and $50 to Dionne. They would take $50 or $10 apiece in cash. So much went to Dionne and so much to Talbot, and at a settlement $172.81 was coming to Dionne.

1113. As I understand it, this book shows what money you borrowed from them?—Whatever money he gave me. That is a cash transaction we had together, and, when we got a settlement of the $172.81, I told the book-keeper to transfer it to his credit.

1114. And these two books show it?—Yes.

1115. And you admit it was money you borrowed from Mr. Dionne?—Well, money I got from him.

By Mr. Foster :

1116. You have no recollection to whom these Government cheques Mr. Dionne gave you were made payable?—It was payable to different branches. Sometimes it would be New Brunswick, and sometimes some other place where works were going on on the rivers. I don't know exactly.

1117. By whom were they endorsed?—Mr. Dionne used to endorse them.

1118. Were they made out payable to Mr. Dionne?—Either Mr. Dionne or Mr. Bance; they were in the same Department together.

1119. They must have been made payable?—They used to endorse themselves and divide among each man.

1120. They were made payable to Mr. Dionne or Mr. Bance, and they endorsed them to whom?—They just endorsed them, and I got the money.

By Mr. Sproule :

1121. Where did you get them discounted?—At the Banque Nationale.

By the Chairman :

1122. You say you kept these goods behind the stairs for some time?—Yes.

1123. What did you keep them there for?—I waited for the order to be sent.

1124. You stated you wanted to know whether it was passed through and whether the cheque would come all right?—Certainly, I did not want to send them out in the street without knowing whom they were to be charged to.

1125. You said they were ordered by both these men?—Yes, for the Department; but I delivered $64.20 to Mr. Dionne.

1126. Did you deliver any more to Mr. Dionne?—Except other goods.

1127. In the first instance I am speaking of?—No.

1128. You said here that you delivered it all to him?—Yes, I did at the time.

1129. Your evidence on page 16 is as follows:—

"356. Did Mr. Dionne and Mr. Talbot buy sheeting from you?—The first account, $112.50, I think was for sheeting."

"357. Where was it delivered?—At Mr. Dionne's." Did you deliver that at his residence or part of it?—I remember now that they told me there was too much and to put back one piece on the shelf.

By Mr. Taylor :

1130. You made out the invoice for three pieces, the total being $112.50. You now say the amount you delivered was $64.20?—Yes.

1131. You say that they told you there was too much and to put back one piece?—Yes.

1132. Which piece did you send them?—It was $64.20 worth. I cannot give you the item.

1133. Did you send the forty-five, the sixty or sixty-eight yard piece?—I do not know.

1134. But you only sent one piece?—I sent $64.20.

1135. How many yards did you send? You say that they told you to put back one piece?—They told me to send a certain quantity.

1136. How many pieces did you send?—I do not remember.

1137. There is the invoice; look at it.—That is the invoice made out; but I did not send it.

1138. You said at first that you sent them the whole invoice?—I was under that impression then.

1139. Then you must have sent two pieces?—I cannot remember how much I sent. I sent to the amount of $64.20.

1140. Did you split it?—I may have split it.

1141. How many yards is charged to represent that $64.20? I want you to go to the day-book and tell me if your books and your bill will agree in any particular. You have charged there "H. Talbot 114 yards sheeting at fifty cents and 18 yards at forty cents." That is on the 25th June and the bill is made out for May 6th. You say that is to represent this cotton?—Yes.

1142. That is dated in the invoice 6th May?—Yes.

1143. You delivered it and you got the cheque?—I delivered it the day the account was passed.

1144. The account was passed and you got the Government cheque on the 1st of June, and you have it charged 25th June. If you can explain that satisfactorily, I want you to do so?—That is the only sheeting I ever sold them—$64.20 worth.

1145. You got your pay for the full amount of this invoice on the 1st of June—$112.50?—Yes.

1146. And you only delivered $64.20 worth?—I gave them credit on their account for the balance.

1147. I want you to tell a straight story if you can?—I never sold these goods to the Government. I say that I sent cotton to Mr. Dionne's house for $64.20 worth.

1148. When did you send it?—When he ordered me to send it down. I told you I got the cotton in the shop for a long time. As far as I can remember, as soon as I got the cheque I sent it down.

1149. Is that the only cotton you have charged to Mr. Dionne or Talbot?—That is the only cotton that is charged in the whole account.

1150. That is charged on the 25th June?—Yes.

1151. And this invoice is made out 6th of May and paid 1st June?—Yes; I may have kept it in the approbation book for a month or so.

By the Chairman :

1152. Do you mean to tell us you had an approbation book for a man who was loaning you hundreds of dollars and in whose debt you were all along?—I had an approbation book.

1153. Did you doubt his ability to pay and put it in the approbation book?—I never borrowed money—

1154. Did you not know he was good enough to pay when he loaned you hundreds of dollars?—I never refused him any goods. It was for instruction who to charge them to.

1155. How much did you owe him at any one time?—It was in the exchange of money from day to day. He would give me $400 and I would give it back to him next day.

E. DIONNE recalled, again sworn and further examined:—

By Mr. Foster :

1156. You have heard me read over that account in which, according to these books, you loaned $2,170 to Mr. Larose from March 14th to June 30th, in the year 1885. Did you loan that amount in cash?—Not all at once in one sum.

1157. Did you in these different sums such as I read from the book?—The largest amount he could have ever had from me would be $700 or $800.

1158. Here is an amount of $620 on the 20th March?—Yes.

1159. Did you loan him that money on that day?—I suppose so.

1160. Mr. Larose gave evidence that these were in some cases cash and that what you gave him in other cases were Government cheques that you endorsed to him. What have you to say to that?—Cash.

1161. Always cash?—Except only once he got a cheque from W. O. McKay.

1162. Who is McKay?—A merchant on Sussex Street. It was money that I borrowed there for him.

1163. That item of $620, which you loaned him at one time, do you remember that circumstance?—I remember some large sums like that.

1164. Probably this is correct?—It is correct.

1165. Did you hand him that in cash?—Always in cash, except only for one cheque that was on the Bank of Ontario. McKay gave it to me at that time.

1166. At that time were cheques made out to you as disbursing officer?—Sometimes.

1167. Were you disbursing officer?—Sometimes.

1168. Of course cheques would be made out to you for gross purposes?—Yes.

1169. Did you ever endorse one of these cheques and give it to Mr. Larose?—Never.

1170. You swear that positively?—Positively.

1171. Can you explain why you lent these exceedingly large sums of money to Mr. Larose?—Out of friendship.

1172. How long would he get this money?—He would have $500, say, for some months.

1173. Did he pay interest on the amounts?—Yes.

1174. Did these transactions extend over a long time?—They were for about a year or a year and a-half; I do not remember well. I had been doing business with him since a long time.

1175. Had you any interest in his business?—No, sir. I was employed there for about two months as book-keeper, after office hours.

1176. This was your transaction with Mr. Larose (Exhibit No. 6)?—Yes.

1177. There is an account here, Talbot's boodling, $172.81—is this the bill made out by Mr. Larose?—Yes, by his book-keeper.

By Mr. Skinner :

1178. When was this rendered to you? When did you get it?—August, 1885.

By Mr. Mulock :

1179. Did you keep an account of your disbursements for the Government?—Yes.

1180. When you drew money upon your own order to be disbursed, did you keep an account of it?—I used to render my accounts to the Department.

1181. Then for each cheque that you received on your order to be disbursed you would return an account to the Government showing the manner you had disbursed it?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

1182. While you were there as disbursing officer and had these cheques made out to you for disbursing, were you under security to the Government for any amount?—No, sir.

1183. You gave no security?—No, sir.

1184. How often would returns of the accounts be asked from you?—They would vary. They would be left until I got the receipts from the people from whom the money was disbursed.

1185. What was the nature of the accounts you disbursed?—Pay-lists and accounts.

1186. When we were going over these accounts in the petty ledger you said that one of these sums was borrowed from McKay?—Yes.

1187. In every other instance was it your own money you operated with?—Yes, as far as I know. I used to borrow from Mr. Bance. He would lend it to me. Supposing I said that I wanted money, he would go to the safe and give it to me.

1188. Do you object to say whether you had an account at the bank during those years?—I had an account at the bank before that.

1189. During that year?—No.

1190. So you did not pay cheques for accounts into the bank?—No. I used to keep the money in my pocket.

1191. Were not these large sums for you to keep about you?—I got money, very large sums of money, from my own family, from time to time.

By Mr. Mulock :

1192. Sometimes it would take some little time to have the money?—No, it would only take one or two days.

1193. You would receive a cheque as it were to-day and have it disbursed in one or two days?—Yes.

1194. And then as soon as it was all paid you rendered a statement?—Yes, as soon as it was made out a statement would be rendered.

1195. Did you render a statement for each cheque you received?—For each cheque I received for a pay-list or something of that kind.

1196. In making accounts of money received, did you after getting each cheque make a statement how you had disbursed the money?—No, there was no statement made at all. We had only to render the accounts receipted; that was the return.

1197. At all events, however it was, you would draw these cheques payable for your own order and have the cash for a certain time in your possession?—Yes.

1198. What would be the amount of the largest cheque you would receive?—I cannot say.

1199. Would it be $100?—Oh, yes.

1200. $1,000?—I do not remember at all.

1201. Give me an idea of the amount within which the extremes would be?—I would have to go down to Quebec and make payments as much as $3,000 or $4,000.

1202. This cheque would be to your order and you would draw the money and it would be cashed in your pocket with your own money as well?—Yes.

1203. For what period of time did the system continue?—I cannot say.

1204. When did it begin?—It began when I got into the Accountant's office.

1205. When was that?—In 1883.

1206. How long did it continue?—It continued as long as there was no pay-master appointed. It was in 1887.

1207. Who succeeded?—Mr. Côté.

1208. Then it continued from 1883 until 1887 and you received moneys and disbursements in this way?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

1209. Mr. Dionne, in all these loans that you made to Mr. Larose, did you on any occasion take any portion of the Government moneys in your possession and use them for the purpose of these loans?—I do not think so.

1210. Are you sure?—Well, it might be perhaps just to form a sum, a couple of dollars.

1211. It is very necessary that you should be precise on this, it is for your own interest that you should be so.—What was your question?

1212. I will repeat the question—it is this—You had Government money in your possession for the purpose of making these payments. Did you ever take from these Government moneys for a short period any sums to make these loans to Mr. Larose?—I think in every transaction it was my own money.

1213. You swear to that, do you?—I think it was my own money. To the best of my knowledge, it was.

1214. You won't swear that it was, but you will swear that to the best of your belief it was?—Yes, to the best of my belief. I do not think, I am almost quite sure, that I did not take one cent of Government money to loan.

By Mr. Mulock :

1215. What salary were you drawing in 1883 from the Government?—$1,000.

1216. And what was your salary in 1884?—Just the same. I got promoted in 1884 or 1885.

1217. And it continued, $1,000 until you got your promotion? What was your salary on promotion?—$1,100.

1218. And what was your salary in 1887 when a paymaster was appointed?—$1,200 I suppose; it was increased $50.

1219. Are you a married man?—Yes, sir.

1220. With a family?—Yes, sir.

1221. Do you live in Ottawa?—Yes, sir.

1222. Without being too inquisitive, would you mind saying the extent of your household?—What is that?

1223. What number of people have you to take care of?—Three.

1224. Three children, do you mean?—Yes.

1225. And your wife and yourself?—Yes, sir.

1226. Your salary was, $1,000, and during this period you lent $2,170 in one year to Mr. Larose?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

1227. I understood you to say that once or twice when you were short you got money from Mr. Bance?—Yes, sir, 1228. He went to his safe and got it?—Yes, sir.

1229. Where was the safe?—In his office.

1230. In the Department?—Yes.

1231. What money would he have in his safe?—I don't know.

1232. Would it be his own money?—I don't know at all.

1233. Had he charge of any Government funds?—I think so.

1234. What was his position then?—He was clerk in the Accountant's Office.

1235. And when you wanted to make up amounts for Mr. Larose you used to go and borrow from Mr. Bance?—Sometimes I would borrow it for one week.

1236. He used to go to the safe in the Department and take the money from it and lend it to you?—He would sometimes take it from his pocket and lend it to me.

1237. But from his safe?—I am not positive of that.

1238. That is what you said before?—Perhaps he may have taken it from there, but generally he would come down and give it to me.

1239. But if he took it from the safe, would you know whether it was money coming from the Government or his own money?—I would not know at all.

1240. But it was a departmental safe?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

1241. Where did you disburse the money, in Ottawa or different towns?—
Different towns.

1242. Were any of the cheques paid in Ottawa?—Some of them in Ottawa.

1243. You cashed some of your cheques in Ottawa?—Sometimes in Ottawa and sometimes in Quebec. I would not take cash down with me but take a cheque until I reached the place to cash the money nearest to where it was going to be paid, so as not to be exposed to be robbed on the way.

By Mr. Mulock :

1244. And you made your returns to whom?—To the office.

1245. To Mr. Talbot?—Not at all. Mr. Talbot had nothing to do in that office.

1246. After you had made disbursements, to whom did you make a return?—
We were just paying the accounts, and then putting them back on files, and we did not make any returns.

1247. Did you do that yourself, or hand your returns, whether it consisted of statements or vouchers, or receipts, or otherwise to some other officer?—I would do it myself; I was in charge of these vouchers.

1248. Then you were the one to make the disbursements, and you were not accountable to any person, but simply had to put the papers on record?—I was always accountable to my chief, because he could come and see my books every day.

1249. But the programme was: you simply made disbursements and placed the receipts on record? You did not bring your statement to some person else and ask him to audit it?—No.

By Mr. Landerkin :

1250. Did you receive your pay monthly?—Yes.

1251. Where did you get $800 to loan at that time?—I got it as I mentioned, from my family.

By Mr. Bowell :

1252. Did you receive in bulk sum a cheque to your own name sufficient to cover the salaries in the Department of the different officers?—All the salaries? No, sir.

1253. How were they paid?—By direct cheques.

1254. To each individual?—Yes, some one of the staff would draw it. There would be perhaps in the average $1000 or $600; but it was to pay the employees and there was no "detain" to be had there. They wanted their money.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

1255. Who would be on that pay-list?—Men like engineers or architects. There is one cheque issued and we draw the money and pay them. The extra clerks are, however, all paid by direct cheques.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM,

MONDAY, 28th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

F. HAYTER called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Somerville :

1256. Have you a statement with regard to the examination of the books of Mr. Larose, which you wish to place before the Committee? I understand that you were appointed to investigate some matter connected with that inquiry?—I have done so.

1257. One subject was the close resemblance between $172 in the cash and $172.81 balance in the loan account?—Yes; I have examined the books.

1258. I understand that there was a close resemblance between the $172 cash and the balance in the loan account of $172.81, and that erasures appear to have been made in the ledger. You have investigated this matter and have prepared a statement?—I have.

EXHIBIT No. 8.

Memorandum on balance of $172.81 shown at page 23 of Petty Ledger in Dionne's Loan Account.

The coincidence between this balance, and the $172 charged against Talbot in four sums (namely, July 29th, 1885, $5; August 21st, $32; August 27th, $10; October 20th, $125) could have come about in any one of three ways:

First.—It may have been an accident. This, however, since three figures agree, is very improbable. If the agreement were accidental there was deception on the part of the book-keeper in marking the amount "T. B."—with no apparent motive.

Second.—Items may have been picked out from Talbot's account at a later date, to add up to $172, to agree with the balance in the loan account and to make it appear that Dionne got that much of the profits. Against this view, there are several objections: The small chance of being able to make $172 evenly, by selecting from a limited number of payments; the fact that the $64.20 for sheeting, if it went to Dionne, would have been naturally the first amount to take, in trying to make up $172.81; and the lack of apparent motive for inventing such a complicated scheme of falsification.

It may be suggested that the cash item of $172 may have been given to Dionne to cancel the $172.81 balance of the Loan Account. The last cash payment, however, was made 20th October, 1885; and the $172.81 was not struck until 25th May, 1886.

The two views now discussed, that $172 agreed with $172.81, either by accident or by subsequent construction, although (in my opinion), improbable for reasons as given, are worthy of consideration, chiefly as admitting a chance of Dionne not being implicated—a chance which is not given by the third hypothesis.

Third.—That Dionne got the four sums which make up $172; and that the balance of $172.81 in the Loan Account was made to agree with this.

This theory supposes the book-keeper not to have noticed at first that his two wrong entries had rectified one another, namely: his crediting Talbot with all the emoluments from his own services and Dionne's—and charging Talbot with the payments to Dionne. Forgetting the credits, the book-keeper remembers that Dionne has been paid $175 not explicitly charged to him in the books; and he keeps the balance in the Loan Account above that figure, to provide for a transfer of the amount. In striking the exact balance of $172 an improba-bility comes in that the last entry, $25 for interest, is a round sum; as are also the previous entries of $5, $10, $5, $10. The last broken sums are in May and June, 1885; $116.19, $7, $14, $137.19 or $300, $172.81, allowing this difficulty on account of the smallness of the $5, $10, $25 (by the way, the interest should have been $53 at 8 per cent., or $40 at 6 per cent.); we now suppose the book-keeper to close the account when it comes down to $172. It occurs to him to close it into Talbot's account, crediting Talbot with the $172.81 to make up for the $172 cash paid to Dionne. The book-keeper, however, perceives, on studying Talbot's account, that he has been credited already with the gross proceeds of the Public Works Department cheques, and that the entry "Dionne's Loan Account Dr. to Talbot's Goods Account, for cash paid Dionne and charged to Talbot", would have to be preceded by an entry "Talbot's Goods Account, Dr to Dionne's Goods Account, for assistance rendered by Dionne in transactions for which Talbot had hitherto been credited in full." To save trouble, the book-keeper takes the short-cut of transferring straight from "Dionne's Loan Account" to "Dionne's Goods Account," closing first the Loan Account (C-23) with only the wording "Balance, $172.81," and describing the transaction in the Goods Account at length enough to overrun the column rule; probably something like "Balance of Loan Account from Petty Ledger," a correct description of the short-cut transfer actually made. And then seeing that he was preserving no record of the real facts, he may be supposed to have erased this wording (perhaps more thoroughly than necessary, except for neatness), and to have written in "By Balance Cash, T. B.," as the book now stands.

A minor improbability, in this third explanation, is, that the $64.20, for sheeting, should have been added to $172, making $236.20.

In searching for evidence to compare the probability of these three explanations, I tried to get proof or memoranda made at the time, concerning the four payments to Dionne, amounting to $172.

It would seem difficult for Larose, or his book-keeper, to remember which of the entries against Talbot were for cash to Dionne, since no mention is made of Dionne's name against the payments in the cash book. Mr. Larose does not remember having any record of the payments in another book. He says that his brother looked after them. Only one of the four payments was made by cheque, that of October 20th, 1885, for $125. Mr. Larose and I went to the Banque Nationale to get information about this cheque from the manager. The manager subsequently turned up a book of receipts for paid cheques, showing that Mr. Larose had got back all of his cheques for the period in question. Mr. Larose says that he is unable to find them.

It would be well to find this cheque if possible. In the absence of the memoranda spoken of above, recording the cash payments to Dionne, and in the absence of any receipts by Dionne for the cash, the endorsement on this cheque is the only conclusive evidence available. If it is endorsed only by Talbot, there is only a small chance that Dionne got it. If it is endorsed by Dionne, then Dionne profited by the Government cheques, since there is no other source for the money to come from.

Another book which should be got (and Mr. Larose is at present unable to find it), is the approbation book, in which the $64.20 of sheeting was charged when it went out.

Mr. HAYTER—I may say that if the cheque for $125 could be found it might implicate Mr. Dionne, but otherwise the documentary evidence cannot be held to do so.

By Mr. Foster:

1259. You say that Larose got that cheque from the bank?—Yes.

1260. And he cannot find it?—Nor any of the parcels of cheques that it was put in. I went to his house and waited there while he searched.

By Mr. Taylor:

1261. Has he the other cheques?—He cannot find the cheques for that period at all—for those months.

By Mr. Somerville :

1262. You say the evidence against Talbot is undeniable?—Yes; that is, in my opinion, seeing that he is credited with all that broken sum for $90.20—the whole of one cheque. That strengthens the probability of his having got other sums.

1263. What cheque is that of $125?—The personal cheque of Mr. Larose.

1264. To whom?—That is what we cannot find out. It is entered in his cash book as “Cash paid to H. Talbot.” It is entered in the bank “October 20th, $125,” and there is no knowledge whether Talbot’s name or Dionne’s name appears on the back of the cheque, unless we can find the cheque itself.

1265. Did you make any investigation as to pay-sheets in the Department?—Yes. There is very little evidence on the vouchers that could be brought in about that at all. Some of the large sums that were loaned by Dionne to Larose—there are sums as large paid out to Dionne by the Department about that date; but then Dionne had a large account, and he got large cheques currently from the Department, which he paid out, so that we can draw nothing conclusive from that.

1266. You could not trace, or find out, the payments Dionne made on these large cheques?—Not more than of the amounts he handled, I suppose nine-tenths were on the pay-lists and not on accounts for supplies. In no case are any of the receipts for wages dated.

1267. There are no dates?—The only dates are a few on the accounts for supplies. The only accounts for supplies that he handled were for supplies to the two dredges, the “Nipissing” and the “Challenge,” and supplies for the Ottawa River works.

1268. Then he received a sum of money for the pay-list, did he?—Well, as I say, nine-tenths of the amount that he handled was for wages. The other one-tenth was for supplies, such as timber and hardware furnished to the dredges and to the Ottawa River works. The only dates that appear are on some of the accounts and the vouchers for supplies of timber and hardware.

1269. There has been no blank left in the pay-sheets for date?—No.

1270. And no provision made for that either?—No certificate of the date when the pay-list was completed.

1271. Is there a date when the pay-list was made out?—Oh, yes; that is at the end of the month, before he gets—

1272. Is there no date as to when the pay-list was returned by the paymaster?—Not at all, in no single case; that is not the practice.

1273. The fact is, Mr. Dionne could have got the pay-list and received a cheque to pay the sums mentioned on that pay-list, supposing he did not pay the money out for two weeks?—Well, he could only have done that, with any facility, as far as the accounts for hardware and timber were concerned; otherwise, the amount would be perceived, except when they lived distances away. Men at Quebec would not be able to perceive it.

1274. As I understand it, he had to go down there to pay some of the money on the pay-list?—Yes.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1275. Would the men give any receipts when they received their pay?—A good many men were illiterate and not able to write, and the practice has obtained a good deal of prevalence of signing by marks, and in some cases the marks are made by some other person.

By Mr. Somerville :

1276. The fact is, that the man who handled this money could have kept it in his possession some time before he paid it out?—It is mechanically possible; he could have done that, to a certain extent.

1277. That is, in paying wages down in Quebec, or anywhere at a distance from Ottawa, he might get a cheque for the full amount, and use that money before he paid it out to the men?—It is possible he could do so himself.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1278. When these men make their marks, is there any witness to certify that the party receives the money?—There is generally now—for the last while.

1279. But there was not before?—In a good many cases there was not.

By Mr. Foster :

1280. I should think the safety in that would be, the men know they should be paid, and they get their pay or the Department would soon know it?—I was going on to say about the accounts. There was not much possibility of payments to them being delayed, because most of them are from an office that everybody had great confidence in. Everybody had great confidence in the regularity of the accounts that go through the Ottawa River works office. Nobody would suppose that even the paymaster could cause any irregularities in them.

1281. What would be the amounts to be drawn on these pay-lists?—The pay-lists would generally run from $400 and $500 to $600, anywhere from $100 up to that figure.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1282. You say that formerly they did not require a witness to testify to the mark of a person who received his pay?—Not often.

1283. You have changed that?—The change is still going on.

1284. What circumstances led you to made the change? Was there anything going wrong that suggested to you a change would be necessary?—We had insisted upon a witness very frequently before, but the great necessity of something of that kind was brought about by a transaction which has been published during the last couple of years.

By Mr Somerville :

1285. That canal investigation?—That irregularity down the river.

1286. Is it the rule now that all the signatures must be witnessed?—Whenever they are not we raise very strong objections in every case. We remark that a particular pay-list should have each particular signature, and if it has not got that it must be rectified.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1287. Supposing you receive one that had not been witnessed, would you send it back to receive signature?—That goes into the monthly letter to the Department, to shew this particular signature is not conclusive proof, and we still need better evidence that the man got his money.

By Mr. McMullen :

1288. Who supplies the pay-lists?—Generally the foreman on the works. Perhaps the clerk of works, if there is no foreman, or sometimes the resident engineer.

1289. He prepares the pay-lists and they are sent into the Department and the cheques are made out?—Yes.

1290. And the cheques made out for the gross sum shown on the pay-lists are handed over to Mr. Dionne, and he takes them, draws the money, and pays the lists?—The vouchers as well as the pay-lists.

1291. You say that in some cases the men cannot write, consequently they can not sign for their money?—They can make their mark, which is as good as a signature.

1292. In those cases there must be a witness?—Yes.

1293. But you say they have not been witnessed?—In the old times they generally were not.

1294. What do you mean by "the old times"? Up to what date were these accounts not witnessed?—Up to this irregularity on the canal.

1295. When was that?—That was running along up to two years ago, I think—about 1889.

1296. In that case there were men on the pay-list who were supposed to draw pay and they did not work at all. Were marks made in those cases?—Yes. The marks on those pay-lists were made straight along by one person. On that particular pay-list they were made by the Superintendent's son.

1297. The person supposed to have made the mark and received the money was not on the work at all?—No.

1298. Might that not have transpired in some cases in connection with these cheques issued to Mr. Dionne?—There is a mechanical possibility that it may have.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1299. The parties to whom Mr. Dionne was paying were regular servants of the Government?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

1300. Does Mr. Dionne occupy the position now that he did then?—There are very few cheques in his favour. I would not like to say there are none; there may be two or three a year.

1301. Since when?—I do not know; I have not seen any.

1302. What position does he occupy?—The regular paymaster is Mr. Côté. Perhaps there may be sometimes too many paylists for him to manage, and paylists may go out in favour of someone else.

1303. Do you know whether or not Mr. Dionne was relieved from the position of paymaster?—I might have got it by hearsay. I do not know. There is something I want to say about Mr. Dionne's funds. I told him that he would be in a better position before this Committee if he could give some proofs as to where he got these large sums of money he so advanced. There was at one time $1,700 advanced that he had not got back. That is, Larose had $1,700 of his money at one time. But he told me that when he entered the Department, he had not entirely severed his connection with an insurance company, for which he was an agent, and that he had done a small amount of business that took no time from the Government; that he had good luck in striking favourable transactions, and he got in commissions about $1,500 from the Royal Canadian Insurance Company. This was the money he had loaned to Larose.

1304. He loaned this money to Mr. Larose?—He said he was particularly lucky in striking these transactions. Where an officer is in risk, as in this case, we have to take indications like this. He described the transactions to me very minutely, and he satisfied me that the whole transaction was real. I have no doubt about it.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1305. You did not satisfy yourself that it was correct; you just took his story?—I asked Mr. Dionne so many questions, and he gave me so much information, that I was satisfied it must have been true to be so consistent.

By Mr. Taylor :

1306. Mr. Larose, as I understood his evidence the other day, stated that he got some of the Government cheques from Mr. Dionne, and deposited those cheques direct in the Banque Nationale?—I asked Mr. Larose about that—

1307. Did you ask the bank manager if such cheques had been deposited there by Mr. Larose?—I asked Mr. Larose about that, and he now says that the only Government cheque he can recollect handling—and he must have got those cheques mixed up with those that were for the sheeting—was one cheque for $10 endorsed by him. None of the other cheques have Larose's endorsement upon them. Larose says that Dionne went down to the Banque Nationale and cashed his Government cheques and handed him over a part of the money.

1308. Did you get that from the bank manager?—That was from Mr. Larose and Dionne denies the whole thing. I asked the bank manager about these cheques, and he turned up receipts for Larose's cheques for the whole period.

1309. Could he find out by the deposits whether there had been any Government cheques deposited by Larose and payable to Dionne?—I do not understand that Dionne kept a bank account. He says he did not.

1310. Mr. Larose said most positively that he deposited Government cheques in favour of Mr. Dionne in the Banque Nationale?—Not in favour of Mr. Dionne. He said that some of them might be—

1311. He said that some were payable to Dionne in Quebec?—He now says that the cheques he was referring to were those five cheques for sheeting that were chargeable to harbours and rivers.

By Mr. Somerville :

1312. Was that $10 in addition to the other cheques?—It was just one of Dionne's cheques for balance of travelling expenses—a cheque that he would have a right to handle in any way he wanted.

By Mr. Foster :

1313. If Mr. Larose stated that some of that money that he got from Mr. Dionne was in the shape of Government cheques, and that Mr. Dionne endorsed those to him, and that he deposited them in the bank and drew the money—if that statement had been made, did you find anything from your enquiry, from the bank manager, which would corroborate it?—I have the whole of the cheques, and the only cheque that is endorsed by Larose is this one for $10.

1314. That came back to Larose and cannot now be found?—The cheque for $10 was one for travelling expenses. The cheque he cannot find, is for $125, which is in favour of either Dionne or Talbot.

1315. You found no trace of any cheques endorsed by Dionne or Talbot and deposited by Larose?—No ; and Larose now says that Dionne went to the bank counter and gave him part of the money for the cheques.

By Mr. Taylor :

1316. Then those cheques would be stamped by the Banque Nationale. Did you find any stamped in that way?—There are the cheques (producing a package) that are cashed. Over half of them are by the Banque Nationale.

1317. Dionne's cheques may have been among them?—Some of this money may have gone at the bank counter to Larose.

1318. But if Larose deposited them to his own account they must have been endorsed by him?—Not unless they had been transferred in writing by Dionne. If Dionne simply endorsed them, that is an end of it.

1319. If Ernest Dionne gave one of these to me and I went down to the bank, they would make me endorse it?—That is a matter of practice. Some banks would and some would not. There is one more remark I would like to make about the paylist receipts. Although they are not up to the standard we have reached now, they are up to the standard which we had then, and therefore Mr. Dionne cannot, be accused of anything, owing to the " crosses " on the pay-sheets being irregular.

By Mr. Somerville :

1320. It was up to the standard in all the Departments at that time?—No ; not in all the Departments. In the Audit Office we are shorthanded, and are therefore not able to make the system even all along. In some years the audit of one Department might not come up to the general standard of the office, but the accounts of the different Departments are changed round among the different clerks in the Audit Office, and in that way we manage to get them up to the standard in time.

By Mr. Taylor :

1321. You are positive there has been an erasure made in the entry on Mr. Larose's ledger, page 191?—Oh, yes. In the explanation which I read I have referred to that.

1322. Did you apply a glass to see what was scratched out?—I have not.

1323. How do you account for the extra blackness in some of the words?—I account for the extra blackness of the words "Balance, cash T.B." by the fact that ink will show a different colour on a different face. He has evidently taken off the calender by scratching, and the writing shows up black in that way.

By the Chairman :

1324. Do you think it was done the same day?—It may have been; the chances are half and half.

By Mr. Taylor :

1325. Is the word "May" written in the same ink as "Cash balance"?—I think it is.

By Mr. Somerville :

1326. Do you think the whole entry is made by the same entry on the one day?—This writing, "By cash" is entirely the same as "By balance."

1327. What is your opinion about the word "May" having been written by the same man?—I think it is probable.

---

Mr. A. C. LAROSE, re-called, again sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Foster :

1328. Have you any recollection of that cheque for $125 which Mr. Hayter states cannot be found?—My recollection is it was entered in the bank—that is all; I cannot trace it in the book.

1329. You have no recollection of its being sent back to you? It would come back to you?—Of course it would come back to me at the end of the month.

1330. What do you do with your cheques? Are you in the habit of keeping them?—I was then, but ever since I left business I have never kept those papers. I never thought they would be of any use.

1331. You cannot find them?—I looked where I kept the receipts and invoices, and cannot find them.

1332. Did you make diligent search?—I did not look in the case at home, where I have lots of papers.

1333. Did you make a thorough search?—Well, I went to the bank. They told me the cheque was passed and the money drawn.

1334. And it would come back to you?—Come back to me at the end of the month.

1335. Have you made a thorough search in order to find that cheque, or not?—I have looked for it and have no cheques at all.

1336. Have you made a thorough search for it?—No; I could look some more, if you like.

1337. Have you made a thorough search?—No.

By Mr. Somerville :

1338. Where did you usually keep those cheques?—They were usually kept in the safe.

1339. Where is the safe?—The stock was purchased by Mr. Pigeon.

1340. Did you look among your boxes of papers for the cheques?—Yes.

1341. Did you look for this particular cheque?—Yes. Mr. Hayter came to me at my office and asked me to look for it. I could not find it. I will look again if you like.

1342. Who was this cheque endorsed by?—I cannot remember that.

1343. Did you endorse that yourself?—I was the maker of it.

1344. Who did you make it payable to?—I do not remember, but seeing it entered in the ledger here.

1345. Who is it entered in the ledger in favour of?—Mr. Talbot.

1346. You do not remember whom you gave it to?—No.

1347. You do not know who it was endorsed by?—No.

By Mr. McMullen :

1348. You have not any of your cheques, then?—No.

1349. Did you come across any of your cheques?—No.

1350. Wherever the others are, this cheque will probably be?—Yes.

By the Chairman :

1351. Have you looked for the approbation book in which this sheeting was held over for some days?—Not specially.

The CHAIRMAN—Then look for the cheque of $125, and for that approbation book, and deliver them to the Clerk of the Committee.

By Mr. Macdonald (Huron) :

1352. Are you sure those cheques have not been destroyed?—Nobody would have touched them but myself.

By Mr. Taylor :

1353. I understood you to say the other day that you would receive cheques from Mr. Dionne—cheques that he would receive from the Government—and you took them and deposited them in the Banque Nationale?—He paid me a couple of times with cheques; as he stated himself, once by cheque from Mr. McKay. I think he came to the bank with me. I know I often saw the face of the cheques.

1354. Is this statement you made the other day correct: "Would Mr. Dionne give you this money out of hand?—Sometimes in money and sometimes it was cheques on the Public Works Department. It was a different transaction every time." Just before that you were asked: "Mr. Dionne on account of friendship loaned you these sums of money?—Yes." "Sometimes he gave you a cheque on his account?—He had no account of his own." "What did he give you?—He had a cheque for the pay-sheet, and he would pay it to me for a couple of days, and I would give it to him back." Is that statement correct?—I do not know if I got the cheques of the Government, but he used to come down to the bank with me, either he or Mr. Bance, and I would deposit the money to my credit. I know he often gave me a cheque from McKay and other people. It is hard for me to remember five years ago which cheque I got at the time.

1355. I ask you if the statement you made the other day can be reconciled with the statement which the Auditor says you made to him?—I often had Government cheques in my possession.

By Mr. Foster :

1356. In your possession?—Yes.

1357. You made no sales to the Government?—No; not directly.

1358. Yet you say you often had Government cheques in your possession?—Yes; these five cheques of which you have heard.

1359. From whom did you get them?—From Mr. Talbot and Mr. Dionne.

1360. Did they endorse them to you?—They were made to the order of Mr. Bourcier.

1361. These cheques you said you got from Mr. Dionne as loans, were they endorsed by Mr. Dionne to you?—I could not endorse them. I know I used to get them.

1362. Just answer the question—yes or no. Were those cheques that you said you got—those Government cheques—from Mr. Dionne, were they endorsed by Mr. Dionne to you? Answer yes or no?—I do not remember.

1363. You cannot say whether they were or not?—I cannot recollect.

1364. In your evidence you said you got Government cheques?—We had so many transactions it is hard to remember.

By Mr. Somerville :

1365. I understood you to say that sometimes when Mr. Dionne brought a Government cheque to you he went to the bank with you, and then handed the money over to you?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

1366. Then Dionne simply went with you, keeping the cheque he had, and at the bank he got it cashed and gave you part of the money?—That is the way it was done.

1367. Is that the way it was always done?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

1368. I will read to you from your evidence:—“997. Sometimes he gave you a cheque on his account?—He had no account of his own. 998. What did he give you?—He had a cheque for the pay-sheet and he would pay it to me for a couple of days and I would give it to him back. 999. He never gave you a cheque?—It was a Government cheque sometimes. 1000. Endorsed by himself?—Yes; I think he endorsed it. 1001. You got these cheques cashed at the bank?—Sometimes he gave me the money, too. 1002. In any of these cases, do you remember to whom the Government cheque was made payable?—It was for a certain branch or a certain wharf, or something of that kind. 1003. You had a perfect knowledge that this was not Mr. Dionne's money?—I do not know if he had any of his own. It was a cheque from the Government. I did not know. 1004. Did you not know it was not his own?—I never went that far as to ask him that question. 1005. You knew Mr. Dionne was not selling goods to the Government?—The cheques were not made to his order. 1006. You, for month after month, took these sums of money from Mr. Dionne, paying him little or no interest?—I never paid him anything. It was through friendship he did it.” Is that all correct?—That is correct.

By Mr. Somerville :

1369. Except the statement you make now, that when you got the proceeds of these Government cheques you went to the bank with Mr. Dionne, and he got the money and paid it to you?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

1370. You say that the answer to the last question I asked you—No. 1006—“You for month after month took these sums of money from Mr. Dionne, paying him little or no interest?” is correct?—Yes.

1371. Then how did you credit him with $25 interest on your books? How do you explain that? You kept the cash account yourself?—It is not written by me. It is entered by my book-keeper. I do not remember the transaction, and I do not remember giving him a cent.

By Mr. McMullen :

1372. It might be done and you not remember?—I do not remember it, at all events.

By Mr. Taylor :

1373. Then there is this question :—“ 1010. Did he ever pay you these large sums; were they handed you in cash?—Very often in cash. 1011. But sometimes they are not in cash but in cheques?—Yes. 1012. That cheque being a Government cheque?—Yes.” Is that evidence correct?—If I said it was a Government cheque that was a mistake, because he always came to the bank with me.

By Mr. Foster :

1374. He says Mr. Dionne always went to the bank with him, but there is an answer here, in which he declares these cheques were not made out to Mr. Dionne. Could you explain how Mr. Dionne would get them?—There was a cheque for $450 from Mr. McKay.

1375. That is not a Government cheque. You say that Mr. Dionne went with you to the counter of the bank and got the cheques cashed. Now, how could he get them cashed unless they were made out to him or endorsed to him?—Well, he was paymaster.

HORACE TALBOT re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Foster :

1376. You have heard what has been said to-day about the cheque for $125. Was that endorsed by you?—No, sir.

1377. Was it made payable to you?—I never saw such a cheque as that.

1378. You have no knowledge of it at all?—No, sir.

The following letters were then submitted :—

“ OTTAWA, 23rd September, 1891.

“ SIR,—When giving my evidence on Monday before the Committee on Public Accounts, I was asked whether I knew that the articles supplied for the use of the translators of the Debates, at the residence of Mr. H. Talbot had been returned to the Department. I replied that I had given an order to that effect, but did not know whether they had been returned or not. Upon returning to the Department I asked the Chief Architect, who had seen to the supply and return of the articles in question, whether those articles had actually been returned, and he has given me the note which I herein enclose for the information of the Committee.

“ Your obedient servant,

“ A. GOBEIL.

TWENTY-SIXTH REPORT :

Your Committee have had under consideration certain items set forth, under the heading "Government in Keewatin," on page C—236 of the Report of the Auditor General on Appropriation Accounts for the year ended 30th June, 1889-90; and in connection therewith have examined witnesses under oath, and for the information of the House report herewith the evidence given by such witnesses.

All which is respectfully submitted,

Chairman.

COMMITTEE ROOM,
MONDAY, 14th September 1891

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

COMMITTEE ROOM,
FRIDAY, 4th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

MR. JAMES STEWART called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Skinner.

1. Where do you live?—In Winnipeg, sir.
2. What is your occupation?—Druggist.
3. You make some objection to an account here filed by Lieutenant Governor Schultz?—As it appears in the Auditor General's Report for 1890: "Expenses—wages of two men for two months, $180."
4. This is the item you object to. I will read it: "Wages of crew, two men, two months, $180?—Yes.
5. What is the objection that you make to that item?—Because I and my fellow seaman was only a month and a-half in the employ, and we were paid for a month and a-half.
6. What was the amount the two of you were paid?—$67.50.
7. You were paid $67.50 instead of $180?—Well, that is each man, as I understand. I can hardly say what the other man had, but I understood he had the same as I.
8. You say, at all events, that under this item, where it is put down wages of two men for two months, that you were one of those men?—I was one of those men—I had charge of the boat.
9. What were your wages?—$45 per month.
10. And you were employed a month and a-half?—A month and a-half.
11. And you were paid for that?—I was paid for that. I was paid for that, with the exception of $10.
12. Why were you not paid the $10?—Because in the spring I was living in the house belonging to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, and he employed me. He gave me $10 to employ men to plough a piece of ground for him, which I got done for him, and he kept that out of my wages when I was paid.
13. Then this ploughing you did for him was on his own private property?—On his own private property, and for his personal use.
14. Then how much of this $180 were you actually paid?—I was paid $57.50.
15. What knowledge have you of the wages of the other man who was with you?—Nothing further than His Honour himself told me, and the man himself told me; he had the same wages as I had. I could not say what he was paid.
16. At that rate of wages for the time he worked, how much would it amount to?—$67.50
17. The two of you would be twice $67.50?—Yes.
18. And if he were paid as you suppose he was, he was paid $67.50?—Yes.
19. But you only got, for which reasons you have objected, $57.50?—Yes.
20. These are the objections you have to that item?—Yes.
21. What objections have you to any other items?—Read the next item.
22. The next item is: "Repairs to 'Keewatin,' $68"?—I am not aware of any repairs made to that boat, because it was a new boat on her first trip.

23. Would you have the means of knowing whether there were repairs made to her?—I took her out safely and brought her home safely. I could not say whether there were any repairs made afterwards or not.

24. When was she built?—That same spring; she was finished in the month of June.

25. At what time did you start out on your voyage?—On the 15th June, I believe.

26. Immediately after the completion of the boat?—Yes, sir.

27. Then how long did your voyage last?—Well, we returned to Selkirk on the 11th or 12th of July. I think we arrived in the river on the 11th of July; we did not get to Selkirk that night.

28. What became of the boat, so far as your knowledge went?—She was brought up to Selkirk and left there.

29. Was she done for the season?—So far as I know, she did not make any further trips that season.

30. And you have no knowledge of any repairs being put upon her at all?—No, sir.

31. Do you know any reason why she should be repaired?—No, sir.

32. The next item is: "Provisions and cooking utensils." You left her?—Left her at Selkirk.

By Mr. Foster :

33. That was 11th July?—July 12th.

34. Did you see her again during that season?—No, sir.

35. Might not repairs have been made, during the remainder of that season, that you did not know of?—Oh, there might be.

36. You cannot swear there were not?—No; I cannot swear there were not.

37. After July there would be some three months of the season?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

38. I understood you to say she was not sailing anymore?—No.

By Mr. Foster :

39. Do you swear she did not sail after that?—No, sir; I cannot actually swear, but as far as my knowledge goes she never went out again.

By Mr. Skinner :

40. What kind of knowledge would you have?—At Selkirk, there I would certainly have heard it if she went out again.

By the Chairman :

41. Did you leave her at Selkirk or Winnipeg?—I left at Winnipeg. I really cannot swear, but I am perfectly certain in my own mind that she did not go out that fall.

By Mr. Foster :

42. You would not swear she did not go out?—I would not.

43. Or that repairs were not put on her?—No.

By Mr. Skinner :

44. Did you see her after the 12th July?—I never saw her afterwards.

45. And the reason why you say she was not out is, from your knowledge of the locality she could not have been out?—Oh, yes; I would have been told of it.

46. How far is from where you live in Winnipeg to Selkirk?—25 miles, I think.

47. The next item is: "Provisions and cooking utensils $87"?—In that case there was no provisions charged to the Government at all, as far as the crew were concerned.

48. Did the crew have to board themselves?—Yes; we bought our own provisions. It cost $16.50. and we paid it out of our own pockets.

49. Who was along with you?—Joseph Monkman.

50. Who went on the steamer during the trip? Did the Lieutenant-Governor go himself?—We went out with a detachment of Mounted Police to the Grand Rapids at the north end of Lake Winnipeg.

51. How many of them?—Four.

52. Where did you take them to?—To the Grand Rapids.

53. Were you the only two men in charge of the boat?—Yes.

54. Sailing?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister :

55. An open boat, was she not?—Yes; a little boat, with the deck forward.

By Mr. Skinner :

56. What was the size of the boat?—33 feet keel.

57. Was she propelled by sails or oars?—Sails.

58. How long were the four men on board that you took out?—Eleven days.

59. How were they boarding on board the boat?—As far as I can understand, their provisions are charged in the Mounted Police account.

By Mr. Lister :

60. What sort of provisions?—Canned stuff that they took along with them. They had their provisions out with them.

By Mr. Skinner :

61. As far as you know, they had their own provisions?—Yes.

62. Are you aware of any provisions being supplied by the Government?—No, I am not aware of any.

63. You two men had your own provisions?—Yes.

64. And the provisions of the Mounted Police would have come from the Mounted Police supply?—Yes.

65. I see there appears on C-214, page 214 of the Auditor General's Report a statement of provisions under the head of the Grand Rapids depot division?—Yes.

66. Would this represent the provisions of these men?—I believe so.

67. Read the statement?—

Apples, 48 $\frac{3}{4}$ lbs.; rice 24 $\frac{3}{4}$ lbs.....	\$ 6 09
Bacon, 400 lbs. at 11.....	44 00
Coffee, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs.; tea 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs.....	7 59
Flour, 488 lbs. at 3 c.....	14 64
Potatoes, soap, pepper, salt .....	4 88
Sugar, 73 lbs. at 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ cts.....	7 48

68. You say that these amounts cover the board of these men on that boat?—I understand it to be so.

69. Why do you say that these men's provisions are in that?—Because I understood by the Mounted Police themselves that they brought their provisions from the depot—from the Mounted Police depot.

70. At Winnipeg?—I cannot say where.

71. Where did you take the men from?—From Selkirk to Grand Rapids.

72. What knowledge have you of the provisions they had on board?—Oh, I know they had a great deal of provisions on board. They had a large quantity of provisions.

73. A great deal more than was necessary for the voyage?—Yes.

74. It was part of those supplies that they subsisted on after the voyage?—Yes.

75. They amount to $84.68?—Yes.

76. Now in eleven days there is a charge of $87. How could they use $87 worth in going out on an eleven day's trip?—Those are the figures so far as I can understand.

By Mr. Lister :

77. As I understand you, the supplies of the Mounted Police were their own, and are charged in the Auditor General's Report in another place?—Yes.

78. And they amount to how much?—$84.

79. In the account that the Auditor General has rendered there is charged the supplies rendered to you for the boat "Keewatin," and what you say is, that you and your co-worker furnished your own supplies, and that the Mounted Police brought their supplies with them, which are entered in the Auditor General's Report in another place?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

80. Will you swear that this item of $84.68, under Grand Rapids division of the Mounted Police—will you swear on your own knowledge, that that was charged for the subsistence of the four men on board the boat on the voyage to Grand Rapids?—No, I cannot swear that.

81. You leaped to that conclusion?—I believe that it was so.

82. You only think those were the provisions they used during the voyage?—Yes.

83. But you cannot swear that these were the provisions they used on the voyage from Selkirk to the Grand Rapids?—No.

By Mr. Lister :

84. They brought the provisions with them?—Yes.

85. A large quantity of them?—Yes.

86. And out of the provisions that they took with them, they subsisted during the voyage?—Yes.

87. There was no separate bill?—No.

88. Did they tell you where they got them?—No, sir.

89. They did not tell you where they got these provisions?—No.

90. But you say they brought them into the boat?—Yes.

91. Where were they taken from?—They were taken from some store or another. The men were at Selkirk before I got there.

92. And they were taken from the store to the deck of the boat?—Yes. They had provisions, ammunition and all their supplies.

By Mr. McGregor :

93. You have no means of knowing what Governor Schultz paid for these?—No.

By Mr. Skinner :

94. I understand from you that these men had their supplies from the Mounted Police supplies that they carried with them?—Yes.

95. And if you are mistaken in that, there would be nothing in your objection from that standpoint?—No.

96. The next item, Mr. Stewart, in this account, is, "Use of small boat for shallow water"?—We had no small boat, sir.

97. You had no small boat with you at all?—The Inspector of Police had a little skiff which he took out with him for shooting purposes. It was used two or three times in the 11 days.

98. You say you had no small boat with you?—No small boat belonging to the "Keewatin" or the Government. As I told you, the Inspector of Police brought a small skiff with him. We used it for landing two or three times during our outward voyage.

99. It was a boat owned by whom?—It was owned by Mr. Bégin, the Inspector of Mounted Police.

100. For his private use?—Yes. On the return voyage we had no small boat at all.

101. Had you no small boat with you that belonged to the Government?—No.

102. You say that the whole item is wrong?—So far as the small boat is concerned. We had no small boat at all.

By Mr. Lister :

103. How much would the small boat be worth?—$15 or $20.

104. And it is charged for $102?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

105. Do you say that the $102 is a charge for that skiff you had with you?—I inferred so.

106. You must not swear to inferences. Do you know it to be so?—There was no other trip made north by the "Keewatin."

107. Do you know that that charge of $102 is for the small skiff which the inspector had along with him?—Oh, no. I do not say it is for that small skiff. All that I say is we had no small boat connected with the Keewatin.

By Mr. Skinner :

108. The next item is, "Wages of men with small boat, $106." What do you say to that?—Having no small boat, we had no men to work a small boat. The only men were Mr. Monkman and myself.

By Mr. Lister :

109. And therefore, there being no small boat, you had no men to manage the boat?—No, sir. There was no man for a small boat.

110. Your statement is, so far as that voyage was concerned, nothing of this kind occurred at all; there was no small boat and no man to manage a small boat?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Skinner :

111. The next item is, "Repairs to gaol at Norway House"?—I know nothing about that at all.

112. Have I gone over all the items, then, in this account, that you say are incorrect?—Yes.

113. These cover your charge?—Yes.

114. Do you make any other charges with reference to these matters in connection with these Public Accounts in any way?—No, sir.

115. That is the whole story?—That is the whole story.

By Mr. Lister :

116. What sort of a boat was this remarkable craft that you took the Mounted Police in?—She was a sort of schooner-rigged boat; two masts on her, 33 feet of keel.

By Mr. Mulock :

117. Where was that boat built?—Selkirk.

118. She was 33 feet keel?—Yes.

119. Do you know who directed the rigging of her?—As far as I am aware, it was the Governor himself who directed the rigging.

120. How were her topsails secured?—They were secured in a very unseaman-like manner. They were nailed to the mast.

121. How did you reef your topsails?—We could not reef them at all. We could not take them down.

122. You would have to take down the gaff, I suppose?—We took down the whole thing. We could take in three reefs in the sail, but further than that we had to take down the whole.

123. How was the jib set up?—On a plank erected in the bow of the boat.

124. Was the bowsprit a plank?—Yes.

125. And that is the way she was turned out of the builder's hands?—Yes.

126. What was the size of this plank?—It was four or five or six inches wide. I could not say exactly.

127. How did you get the jib in?—There was a hole through the end of the bowsprit, and the rope ran through it. In a heavy gale of wind it was somewhat inconvenient.

128. Where was the foremast stepped?—Thirty-five feet in length.

129. Could you strike the foremast?—We had no means of doing it.

130. Which was the highest, the foremast or the mainmast?—The foremast.

131. After you got safely back with your lives to Selkirk on this craft, did you report on her unseaworthiness, or otherwise, to the Governor?—I did. The boat herself, I could not find much fault with her.

132. The hull, you mean?—Yes, the hull. Of course, it was not up to my fancy as a boat, and I think I am pretty well acquainted with boats, having been brought up to them all my life; but as regards the rigging, I must say it was very unseamanlike.

133. And very unsafe, too?—Yes; very unsafe.

134. Did you report that to His Honour?—I reported that, before and after; before we went up and after I came back.

135. Do you know of her going out to sea after that?—Yes. She went out a year after with a party of police.

136. What time in the next year?—I do not know exactly what time.

137. On Lake Manitoba?—No; on Lake Winnipeg.

138. Did anything occur on that voyage?—Yes; she got upset and caused the loss of three lives.

139. Who were they?—One was one of the Mounted Police that went out with me the year before. I was very sorry about him; he was the only one who knew anything about the sailing of boats.

140. What was his name?—Mr. Morphy.

141. What was the name of the other who was drowned?—Rennie, I think. I do not know much about him.

142. And the third man?—That was Mr. Watts. He was the builder of the boat. When she capsized, he was taken off alive after he had been hanging on the boat over a week. He was conveyed to the hospital at Winnipeg and died there.

143. Did that finish her public services that year—the drowning of the three men?—No, sir. She was out this year again.

144. Where—Lake Winnipeg?—Yes; Lake Winnipeg.

145. How did she get on this time?—Upset again.

146. What happened this time?—Lost the supplies for the Mounted Police. As far as I heard, they lost everything. Happily there were no lives lost. One had to cling to the bottom of the boat for some time.

147. She did best when bottom up?—They had an ugly position.

By Mr. Lister :

148. Did you ship on this vessel for $45 a month and grub yourself?—Yes.

149. I see here that the charges for supplies on that trip were: Apples, 48½ pounds; rice, 83½ pounds—and so on. The destination was Grand Rapids. Where did you take this stuff on?—At Selkirk. I took the passengers on at Selkirk and landed them at the Grand Rapids.

150. Did you leave them at Grand Rapids?—Yes.

151. The value of the stuff you took at the divisional depot at Selkirk seems to have been $84.68?—Yes.

152. Then there are charges for provisions and for cooking utensils, $87?—Yes.

153. That would be for provisions used by the crew on the trip up?—I do not know what that is for.

154. What cooking utensils had you?—None; that is for Mr. Monkman and I.

155. And the police?—They had their own.

156. They had their own provisions and you had yours?—Yes.

157. Were there any cooking utensils kept in the boat belonging to the boat?—No, sir; only what we took aboard. We each took our plate and knife and fork, and between Mr. Monkman and I we bought a little sheet iron stove, which was left in the boat. I never got anything for my share of that. I do not know what became of it.

158. Now, then, there is tarpaulin for the Keewatin?—She had a little duck tent that went over the boat.

159. What about the sails? Were they new or old?—New.

160. How many yards of duck would they contain?—I do not know.

161. Were they large?—Very large size.

162. What would they be worth?—I cannot form any estimation of that.

163. The wages of the crew are for two months. You and another man composed the crew?—Yes.

164. You were there a month and a-half instead of two months and a-half, and you were getting $45 a month each?—Yes; the other man got the same as I did.

165. The Governor told you that, and the other man told you, too?—Yes.

166. He was there the same time as you were?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

167. Did he leave the vessel at the same time as you did?—Yes.

168. Did he go back?—Not to my knowledge.

169. Would you swear he did not?—No.

By Mr. Lister :

170. Were any repairs on the "Keewatin" done while you were there?—No.

171. "Use of small boat for shallow water." You say there was no small boat?—No.

172. "Wages of men with small boat, $106." You say there was no small boat?—No.

173. When you got your pay for your wages did you give a receipt?—I do not remember exactly. I got some in cash and some by cheque.

174. Where were you paid?—In Winnipeg.

175. At Government House?—Yes; Government House.

176. You do not know whether you gave a receipt for the money or not?—I have no recollection.

177. Did you make out any account?—No, sir; I never made out any account.

178. Was the other man with you?—Not when I was paid. I may have made out a receipt; I do not recollect.

179. You made out no bill?—No.

180. Nor did your mate?—Not to my knowledge.

181. Was he present when you were paid?—No, sir.

182. Were you present when he was paid?—No.

183. So you do not know anything about that?—No, sir.

184. Do you know whether the Governor bought the provisions and cooking utensils he charges here?—No.

185. You swear positively there was no smaller boat for shallow water taken along with you?—I do, positively.

186. Do you know that the Governor has a small boat?—I do not; I never saw one.

187. The craft you sailed on was the smallest boat belonging to him?—Yes.

188. Do you know where these sails were bought and the tarpaulin?—They were furnished by Mr. Watts, the boat-builder.

By Mr. Barron :

189. What sort of a boat was this? Is she one of the Hudson Bay boats?—No, sir; she is built much like these Lake Michigan fishing boats.

190. Have you ever seen a Mackinaw boat?—Yes; it is something like that.

191. Had it two masts?—Yes.

192. A foremast and a mainmast?—Yes.
193. Which do you say was the highest?—The foremast was highest.
194. Had it a topsail to the mainmast?—Yes; two topsails.
195. Two topsails, a mainsail and a foresail?—Yes.
196. The foremast was right in the bow?—Yes.
197. Was the hull of the boat in good condition?—Yes; it was a fair boat.
198. What was the length between the uprights? Did the bow project up from the uprights? You know what I mean by the uprights?—Projected from the keel, you mean.
199. Yes.—Yes; a little; just turned up.
200. And the stern, too?—The stern, too.
201. Do you know what the uprights would be—the length between the uprights—that is straight up from the keel?—Yes.
202. Well, it was the same way straight up from the stern?—Yes.
203. What is the length between the uprights?—Straight, perpendicular, from each end of the keel it would be 33 feet.
204. Then you say the bowsprit was a plank?—Yes, sir; bending downwards.
205. You could not reach the topsails at all?—No, sir; could not take them down even.
206. How were the topsails fastened?—They were nailed to the yard. At least, the yard was split away, if I remember rightly, and the canvas was nailed in between it.
207. And you tell me the sail was nailed to the yard?—Yes, sir.
208. To get the topsail down you would have to take down the yard?—The whole of the concern—yes. On the top of the gaff top-ail was what you call a thimble, in seamen's phrase. The block was slung on to that, and we hoisted the whole sail by that.
209. Have you been sailing in those sort of boats for many years?—I was brought up on the Scottish coast for fifteen years, and from when I was eight years of age I was perfectly at home on the water.
210. Your opinion then, was, the boat was not seaworthy?—She was not seaworthy.
211. Did you advise Lieutenant Governor Schultz of that fact?—Well, I was told by His Honour to take her over from the boat-builder, and his strong advice to me, was to say good for the boat and give her a good character.
212. Who advised you to do that?—His Honour. We went out in the river and had a sail with her, after she was loaded up, and she sailed very well—did very well upon the river; but to save myself I reported to the Lieutenant Governor that she was very good so far as the hull was concerned. I made no mention of the sails, because I told him often before that the sails were not proper.
213. Then you took the Mounted Policemen from where to where?—From Selkirk to the Grand Rapids.
214. Did you leave them there?—Left them there, sir.
215. Who came back with you?—Mr. Monkman and myself, and there was a young man there who had been in the service of the fish company. Mr. Monkman was a man of over 80 years of age and not very smart.

By Mr. Mulock:

216. Not a very active man to go up the rigging and handle those topsails?—No, sir.

By Mr. Barron:

217. As I understand it, then, the two of you went around with the Mounted Police?—Yes, sir.
218. You left them there?—Yes, sir.
219. Going back there was just a young man with you?—Yes; I took him back to work his way back—he wished to work his way back to Selkirk.

220. Two of you went up and three of you came down?—Three came down.

221. Were there any extra provisions bought on account of the third man who came down with you?—No, sir; we had only the provisions we had bought ourselves.

222. So that the provisions you bought when you went up with two, answered for you and your companion and this young man, when you came back?—Yes, sir; the Mounted Policemen did not leave an ounce behind; in fact, we did not know anything about them.

By Mr. Taylor:

223. You reside at Winnipeg, do you?—Yes, sir.

224. How far is that from Selkirk?—About 25 miles.

225. You are the gentleman who made the following affidavit, I presume?—Yes, sir.

226. I will read it to you:—"I, James Stewart, of the City of Winnipeg, in the County of Selkirk, Province of Manitoba, druggist, do solemnly declare: 1. I am the James Stewart whose name is appended to the document hereto annexed, and marked with the letter 'A.' 2. All the statements made in the said document are true." You made that declaration?—That is right.

227. You went out with this boat in June?—In June, sir.

228. And you returned on the 11th of July?—Yes, sir.

229. You got into the mouth of the creek on the 11th and did not get up to the town?—Yes, sir.

230. Where did you leave the boat?—We got the boat along ten miles, I think, at Joseph Monkman's place, the man who was with me. We got her up that night we arrived at the river, and I went up—I did not stay there—I walked up to Selkirk and telegraphed to His Honour that I had arrived back, and on account of the adverse wind that evening we could not get her up. It was only next day I went down with the man with me to get her up to Selkirk, and during the time I went down by land Mr. Monkman got one of his sons and took her up to Selkirk, so when I got down to Mr. Monkman's I found my boat was at Selkirk.

231. But you remained with her no longer?—No, sir; I came back to Selkirk.

232. Did you lay the boat up for the season, and take off the sails from her?—Oh, no.

233. Then you left her there?—Left her there. I expected she was to make another trip.

234. Did she make another trip?—Not with me.

235. Did she with anybody?—That I have no knowledge of.

236. You said she could not have done so without your knowledge?—I did.

237. How did you know that?—I would have heard it.

238. Was it impossible for that boat to go out for two weeks more, without your knowledge, when you were 20 miles away?—If she went out on this Government employ.

239. Was it possible for her to go out?—She may have gone out.

240. You say she is a pretty good boat?—Fairly good.

241. A fairly good boat?—Yes.

By Mr. Lister:

242. That is the hull?—As far as the hull is concerned.

By Mr Taylor:

243. What part is bad?—Rigging is bad.

244. What do you say in your declaration here: "His ideas of ship building are somewhat hazy, at least the build and rig of this boat were of such a character, as to make her almost a trap for men's lives." Is that true?—As to the rigging of course.

245. Is that true?—It is true.

246. So far as the boat is concerned?—So far as the boat is concerned, the rigging is certainly bad.

247. What makes the boat a trap for men's lives if she is a good boat?—Well, the boat would do fairly well if it was not for the rigging over head.

248. You make the statement here that the boat altogether, is a trap for men's lives?—Certainly, as she stood there—the whole thing together.

249. You say she capsized this year?—Yes, sir.

250. You say the boat capsized this year?—So the report goes.

251. How do you know that?—I know it because it appear in the paper.

252. But you don't know that it so capsized?—I don't know except by report. It is a fact that she did capsize.

253. How do you know it is a fact?—Oh, it appeared in the papers.

254. You know it because it appeared in the papers?—Yes, and the report was never contradicted.

255. But how do you know it is a fact?—Everybody in Selkirk and Winnipeg knows that it is a fact.

256. But how do you know?—Oh, it was the general belief. The man was taken to the hospital when she was wrecked.

257. Do you know Matthew Watts?—Yes.

258. Where does he reside?—He resides in some graveyard just now.

259. Did you know him?—Yes.

260. Who was he?—He was the builder of the boat.

By Mr. Lister :

261. And he was drowned?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

262. Here is a receipt dated 20th of August 1889 signed Matthew Watts. It says "received from Honourable John Schultz $68.00 for hauling out and repairing boat Keewatin, mending sails, &c." Is that in these accounts, that you referred to, in the Auditor General's Report?—As far as I know the only sails she had were those she had when I was with her.

263. Is not this $68.00 for hauling out and repairing the sails of the boat?—Yes.

264. Do you know anything about that?—That was not done when I was with her.

265. Who is John L. Watts?—I don't know the man at all.

266. Here is a receipt signed 6th of August, 1889. "Received from Lieutenant-Governor Schultz $36.00 for cooking utensils, rope, towline, chains &c., for sailing boat 'Keewatin'?"—Yes.

267. Is this included in any portion of the expenses in this investigation?—Not so far as I know.

268. Were these things got for the boat?—Not while I was there.

269. But were they supplied for her?—Not that I know of.

270. But they might have been got, might they not, without your knowledge?—Yes, but not when I was with her.

271. Here is another one, dated Selkirk, June 1st, 1889. "Received from John Schultz $28.00 for making tarpaulin over head tent for protection of crew cruising, size of sails, block and tackle." Signed Matthew Watts?—Yes.

272. Who is William Robinson?—He is a member of the firm Robinson & Company.

273. Here is a receipt from Mr. Robinson dated August, 1889. "Received from Lieutenant-Governor Schultz $33.00 for provisions and other supplies put on board sailing boat 'Keewatin.'" Who got these supplies?—I cannot tell you that.

274. You don't know whether they went with the supplies that the police took on or not?—I don't know.

275. They might have done so?—They might.

276. These accounts I have read over to you. You know nothing about them at all?—I know, as far as the crew of the "Keewatin" was concerned, we had nothing to do with them at all.

277. You had nothing to do with them?—No.

278. You don't know the provisions Mr. Robinson's receipt refers to?—No.

279. You don't know whether they went on board with the passengers you took up?—No. What is the date of the receipt?

280. The receipt is dated August, 1889. You refused to go any further with the boat than Selkirk when you returned?—Yes.

281. You left her then?—Yes, I sent in my resignation.

282. You did not wait to see what the boat was to do for the remainder of the season?—No.

283. Was it necessary to have work done on her and to put her by carefully for the season?—I suppose so. When I came up to Winnipeg I was wanted to go to Berens' River.

284. And you refused to go?—Yes.

285. You don't know whether the boat went or not?—I never heard that she did.

286. How long would it take to go there?—It is about half way down the Lake.

287. How long would it take to go down to that place?—The whole trip down to Grand Rapids, would take about eleven days. This would be about half way down, it might take four or five or six days.

288. They might have hired a man in your place, after you left them, to make this or any other trip down to Berens' River?—They might but I never heard that they did.

289. How long would the voyage take?—They ought to have been down and back again in 15 days.

290. You don't know whether this account might not relate to the second trip or not?—No.

291. And you don't know whether the other man that was with you made a second trip or not?—No.

292. You don't know whether he put in two months or not?—No.

293. Still you make a declaration here that he was paid for a month and a half?—Yes.

294. You left the boat and you don't know whether she made a second trip for a week or ten days or a fortnight, but you made the statement that you were only paid for a month and a half?—Yes, I was only paid a month and a half.

295. According to your statement the boat had to make a trip down to Berens' River?—She did not go there.

296. You will swear that she did not go there?—I won't swear, but I know that she did not go.

297. How can you say that she didn't go?—Well, I don't know that she went.

298. Were you in Selkirk within the next few weeks after you came back?—Yes.

299. And did you see the boat there?—No.

300. Did you go down to see if she was there?—No.

By Mr. McGregor :

301. Did you send anybody down?—No.

302. I want to know as a matter of fact whether the boat went down to Berens' River or not?—I cannot swear she didn't go to Berens' River, but I feel confident in my own mind that she didn't go.

By Mr. Taylor :

303. You said the Mounted Police officer had a small boat on that trip?—Yes, a little skiff.

304. Do you know whether Governor Schultz had a small boat that made another trip that season independent of this boat?—Only by hearsay.

305. Hearsay is not evidence. Do you know whether he had another small boat?—No, I do not.

306. He may have had another small boat and that boat make a trip without your knowledge?—Yes. He may have had a dozen boats.

307. You do not know anything about the provisions that the Mounted Police brought on board—whether they were furnished by Governor Schultz or not?—No, I do not.

308. A portion of those furnished by Robinson may have been a part of them?—They may have been.

309. So that your statement in your declaration, in reference to the provision is not correct?—So far as the crew was concerned it is.

310. Would it be necessary to have that boat hauled out on the shore, after her return, and laid up if the Governor wanted to take proper care of her for the winter?—She would have to be hauled out of the water before the ice would make.

311. It would be necessary to have that done?—Yes, sir.

312. You do not know whether it was done or not?—No, sir.

313. You did not see the boat again that season?—No.

314. Have you seen her since you left her?—No.

315. So that it would be necessary, from the time you left the boat, to put some other man to lay her up properly for the winter?—Oh, yes. She could be hauled up.

316. She could not be left there in the water if the Governor wanted to take proper care of her, as Government property?—No.

By Mr. Somerville :

317. Whom did this boat belong to?—So far as I know she belonged to His Honour the Governor.

318. Are you aware that the Governor took a sail on Lake Winnipeg himself in her?—I have heard that he went out about a couple of miles at the mouth of the river. A return steamer took them in tow back again. That is a rumour I heard.

319. The Governor never sailed with you?—No.

By Mr. Lister :

320. Watts was the builder of the boat?—Yes.

321. And he was drowned on her?—Yes. He died from exposure.

322. Oh yes, he perished from the effects of exposure?—Yes.

323. What were the names of others who were drowned?—There was sergeant Morphy, and a constable named Rennie.

324. Was Morphy a Mounted Policeman?—Yes; he went out with me the year before.

325. Both he and Rennie were Mounted Policemen?—Yes, I believe so.

326. They were drowned on the boat?—Yes.

327. And this man Watts died from exposure consequent upon the shipwreck?—That was the report.

328. You know he went to the hospital, I suppose?—Yes.

329. What year was it that that shipwreck took place?—In the year 1890.

330. In 1889 you went out to the Grand Rapids?—Yes.

331. In the fall of 1890 the boat was wrecked?—Yes.

332. Has she been capsized again this year?—Yes, as appears by the papers.

333. By the public press?—By the public press.

334. Was anybody drowned?—No, sir.

335. Nobody was drowned this year?—No, sir.

336. You say the Governor told you to say this was a pretty good boat?—Yes, that was his great anxiety both in my report in going up the lake and before I took her over from the carpenter—the boat builder, that I should say she was a pretty good boat.

337. Do you know what she cost?—I cannot tell exactly. I know I went several trips backwards and forwards between the boat builder and His Honour in regard to her construction. The Governor's first offer, I believe, was $200, and then Mr. Watts rather demurred at that to furnish sails. The bargain was to furnish sails; everything in fitting her out except the anchor and chain. Watts objected to that. He came up and had some agreement with the Governor, and told me the price of the boat afterwards. He told me what he was to receive, but I do not remember what it was; it was either $230 or $250.

338. That was to include sails, hull, and everything except —? Anchor and chain.

339. When was she built?—She was finished in June, 1889.

340. The boat was built in 1889?—Yes.

341. And you think $230 or $250 was the price?—Yes; so far as Mr. Watts said.

342. That would include the sails?—Yes.

343. It would include everything except the anchor and chains?—Yes.

344. You were telling us that the Governor wanted you to say she was a good boat?—Yes.

345. Tell us what he said about that?—He said I ought to give a pretty fair account of the boat. He would like to see the boat given a good name to, and so on. I thought when she was on the river—I was sailing her—that she was not a bad boat. I think so still.

346. The hull was not bad?—No.

347. But the rigging makes her dangerous?—The rigging makes her dangerous to go in.

By Mr. Mulock :

348. Did you say whether she was decked over or was she open?—She was decked about 5 or 6 feet over.

349. Any combing?—A combing of about four inches.

350. What was her depth of hold? What draft of water; what did she draw aft?—Something about 2½ feet.

351. And how much forward?—About 2 feet forward.

352. What was her beam?—About 9½ feet if I remember rightly.

353. And the height of the masts, from the topmast head?—The foremast was 35 feet and the main mast 33 feet.

354. What was the service she went out to the Grand Rapids upon?—The service she was designed for, as I understood, was a sort of cruising about to prevent the importation of liquor into the North-West.

355. And you had taken some officers with you as preventive officers?—Yes.

356. To prevent the taking of liquor into the North-West?—Yes.

357. And you of course had none on board?—I had none myself.

358. Had anyone else any on board?—During the voyage out I never saw any on board. I had a permit with me from His Honour. I had a pint of whiskey with me and I used to give Joe Monkman a little drop when we got dry. We had a pint between us. As far as the thing went, we really had no liquor at all. I saw none. When I came to the Grand Rapids I found about half a dozen Hudson Bay officers there—

Mr. FOSTER objected to the witness making any further statement on this point on the ground that it was not relevant to the inquiry.

359. You had a sergeant named Bégin?—Yes.

360. Did they have an orgie at Grand Rapids?—A what, sir?

By Mr. Lister :

361. Did they have a good time at Grand Rapids?—They had a good time.

The CHAIRMAN ruled that this was irrelevant.

362. Did it accomplish the object of this trip, of preventing the introduction of liquor into this district? These expenses are charges for sending this vessel there to prevent the introduction of liquor, and I understand you to say the police officers brought liquor there?

The CHAIRMAN—We are not trying the case of the Mounted Police.

363. Did the police officers or any of them get intoxicated there?—Some of them.

Mr. FOSTER objected.

364. This boat cost $250?—Something about that.

365. What was she built of? What kind of wood?—Pine, I think; but I am not an adept—pine boards. I could not swear to that, though.

366. Had she a keel?—Yes.

367. With a centre board?—Yes.

368. A flat bottom?—No, she was not flat-bottomed.

By Mr. Moncrieff :

369. This affidavit that you have made here, who did you swear that before?—It was in Mr. Ewart's office.

370. Is he a Magistrate?—He is a lawyer.

371. Who drew it for you?—Mr. Ewart.

372. Did you go to him and ask him to draw it?—No, sir.

373. How did you come to get there?—I do not know how it came to get there.

374. You know how you come to come to get there?—I do not know how he got it.

375. You know how you came to go there. How did you come to go to Ewart's office?—He sent for me.

376. Was this drawn up when you got there?—No, it was not drawn up.

377. Was it drawn up in your presence?—Yes.

378. And then you signed it?—Yes.

379. Then it was attached to your letter in print and you swore to it?—Yes.

380. You swore that everything in this letter was true?—(Reads affidavit)—Yes, as far as I believed at the time.

381. I see here in reading over the items "The next item, $68, is purely a fabrication."—What is that item?

382. It is repairs?—As far as I know.

383. "The next item is purely a fabrication, as the 'Keewatin' was a new boat on her first trip and needed no repairs." You undertook to say that was a pure fabrication?—As far as when I was with her.

384. Did you take any trouble to find out whether these repairs were done? Every one knows what a pure fabrication is. Having seen this receipt: "Received from Hon. John Schultz for hauling out and repairing boat 'Keewatin,' mending sails &c. $68." Are you prepared to say this is a pure fabrication in the face of that?—I cannot say whether it is or not. Matthew Watt is dead.

385. You have made a solemn declaration that this item of $68 is a pure fabrication. As an honest man you ought to take the first opportunity of taking it back on seeing that you are wrong. Now, on seeing that receipt do you swear this is a fabrication still?—I could not swear that this receipt is true.

386. I have shown you this receipt for $68, and having shown you that receipt are you still prepared to say that this matter is a pure fabrication?—I will not go that far. So far as I am concerned it was.

387. So far as that trip was concerned there were no repairs?—That is what I meant when I wrote that.

388. This is an account for the whole year. This is dated 20th August, 1889?—That is after I left her.

389. That appeared in the Public Accounts. You did not take the trouble to ascertain anything about this $68. You did not go to see the actual account?—I never heard of that boat going out that season again.

390. But you knew she had to be hauled out?—Yes.

391. And knowing she had to be hauled out, and seeing there was an account for repairs, you never took the trouble to see what the account was for?—It was there for repairs.

392. Did you never take the trouble to investigate the Public Accounts and see what it was?—The hauling of the boat out of the river is not repairs.

393. Did you ever take the trouble to investigate the Public Accounts to see what the items were for?—The Public Accounts show it.

394. Did you or did you not take the trouble to see the accounts themselves before making this statement?—All that I saw was in the Public Accounts.

395. You never saw it in any other place?—That was all.

396. There was nothing to show you that this $68 was expended when you were there for six weeks?—She did not make another trip. That is headed: “Expenses of the trip north.”

397. Never having seen this account of $68 you still pretend to say that it is a fabrication?—(No answer.)

398. Answer the question, you want to deal with this Committee as an honest man?—I am dealing as honestly as I can.

399. You were under the impression that the $68 that you were speaking of had reference to that trip?—The expenses of the trip as stated in the book.

400. Now having convinced yourself, and believing that when you made this affidavit it had reference to the repairs necessary for that trip, and you having been shewn a receipt for the very same $68 afterwards, if you had to make that affidavit over again would you still swear this was a fabrication?—So far as it is there under the heading of the expenses of the trip north.

401. I understand that when you made this affidavit you were fully under the impression that this $68 was attached to the six weeks' trip that you had?—Yes.

402. If it did belong to that, then you unconsciously made a mistake?—That is the whole of it.

403. And that is the fair and honest way to put it?—That is the way to put it.

404. The next item is $102 for the small boat?—Yes.

405. When you looked at that item you were shocked, were you not?—Yes.

406. To think that such a payment was made for this little skiff? It did not strike you for a moment it might be connected with some other transaction altogether?—It is connected with the expenses of the trip north.

407. Did it strike you it might be some other transaction?—It did not.

408. If it was really another transaction at a different time, that you did not know of at that particular time, then you made a mistake, did you not; you unconsciously made a wrong charge against Mr. Schultz?—Certainly.

409. I find here in reading over the repairs that this charge of $102 is: “Subsequent employment of boat of lighter draught for special service, etc., with rigging and fitting, $102.” That could not belong to this little trip of yours at all, could it?—(No answer).

410. Then I understand from you that the $102, being for another transaction at another time altogether, if it does not refer to that little skiff, that you unconsciously have made a wrong charge against Mr. Schultz? Now, as to the provisions, I understand you to say you could not identify the account with the provisions that came on board?—No, sir.

411. In making up this statement of yours, you went on by saying—and it is a very strong inference indeed to make against a public man—that $238 was all you wished to allow for the trip. This subtracted from $641, as charged in the books, leaves a balance of $403, almost two-thirds more than the actual expenditure?—That was that trip.

412. When you stated that, you thought it referred to this little trip on which you were engaged for six weeks?—Yes, sir.

413. So that if this $641 was for expenses, not only for this trip but for other trips and other repairs, at a subsequent time, and for the use of a boat, you have unconsciously done an injustice to Mr. Schultz?—Unconsciously, if there was another trip made north.

414. If these are outside charges; if these are just as you have explained it to me in reference to the item of $68 for repairs; if you did not include that in making all this deduction and taking out this $102, and if the $102 were paid, unconsciously you did Mr. Schultz an injustice?—(No answer).

415. Is that a fact?—If there was another trip made north.

416. If those expenses were paid otherwise, then you have unconsciously done him an injustice. Will you now explain to this Committee, how it was you so rashly, as I look at it, without having investigated the accounts, came to go into print?—The expenses of the trip north—that is how I came to my conclusion, and I still hold to it.

417. What induced you to put this in print as quickly as you did?—This is headed “Expenses of the trip north.” That is why I understood it.

418. You have been misled by the heading, then?—Yes.

419. You thought it was to include nothing else but the expenses of this six weeks’ trip of yours?—I thought that it was.

420. What induced you to put this into the newspapers?—Why, to let the public know.

421. You did it as a matter of justice to the public?—Certainly.

422. In the interest of the public?—Certainly.

423. Did you go to Mr. Schultz and tell him you had found these mistakes in these accounts?—No.

424. Would that not have been a fair thing for you to have done, and to say those were exorbitant charges?—Yes; if he had done the fair thing by me.

425. I thought there was something coming. If he had done the fair thing by you, you would have done the fair thing by him?—Yes.

426. He had not done the fair thing with you?—No.

427. You thought you would stab him in the back?—No; not at all.

428. You swear if he had done the fair thing you would have gone to him like a man?—It is very seldom one does that when they make charges in the Public Accounts.

429. You swore a moment ago that you would have done that?—I would not have done so.

430. You did not think he had treated you well?—I say he did not do the fair thing with me.

431. If he had done the fair thing with you, you would not have taken the course you did?—I don’t know.

432. If he had done the fair thing with you, you would have gone out again with the boat?—I would not have done so under any circumstances.

433. He acted very shabbily, did he not?—I should say that he did.

434. He sacked you at the end of six weeks and got another man in your place?—No; he did not.

435. Do you say that he did not sack you?—I resigned.

436. But you had a little trouble before you resigned, had you not?—Yes. I got a good deal of abuse from him.

437. And you felt hard against him ever since?—No; I don’t know that I did.

438. What day did you resign on?—On the 15th of July.

439. And on what day did you get the abuse from him?—About a week before.

440. Now, did you write this letter before you resigned or after you resigned?—Not until I got Public Accounts.

441. Did you write this letter before you resigned or after you resigned?—Which letter?

442. This letter which you published in the newspapers. Did you write it before or after you resigned?—I think afterwards.

443. Did you write it yourself?—Yes.

444. Why did you write it?—I don’t know.

445. It was done in spite, was it not?—No.

446. You say that you had ill-feeling against him?—I had no ill-feeling against him.

447. Didn’t you swear to me a moment ago that you had?—No. But I thought he dealt very shabbily with me.

448. Didn’t you say you had ill-feeling against him?—I hadn’t any more ill-feeling against him than anybody else.

449. You have ill-feeling still against him?—No; I have no ill-feeling against him, but I was badly treated by him.

450. And you took the very first opportunity that you could find to revenge yourself upon him?—No.

451. And there was nothing you could do except to bring this charge of spending public money?—(No answer.)

By the Chairman :

452. Did you write that newspaper letter yourself?—Yes.

By Mr. Skinner :

453. These items, concerning which you complain, you took as expenses in connection with the trip that you made?—Yes, sir.

454. And, so far as you are concerned, you say that the expenses of which you complain were not incurred in connection with that trip?—No; that is what I have stated.

By Mr. Barron :

455. How long were you in the employ of Mr. Schultz?—This last time, do you mean?

456. How long were you in his employ altogether?—I was first in his employ in the years of the Rebellion, 1868 and 1869.

457. How long were you then in his employ?—Two and a-half years.

458. In what capacity were you then in his employ?—I was a clerk for him.

459. For two and a-half years?—Yes; for two and a-half or three years.

460. Then how long were you again in his employ before you took charge of the boat?—I was never in his employ after that.

461. Never after that?—Not permanently.

462. But you did jobs for him now and then, did you not?—Yes.

463. You were always very intimate with him, were you not?—Yes.

464. That was the last time you had any business transaction with him at all?—Yes; the last time was in the "Keewatin."

465. Has he ever given you a certificate of character?—Yes.

466. In writing?—Yes, sir.

467. Let me see it, please?—Here it is.

" MANITOBA AND KEEWATIN.

" GOVERNMENT HOUSE,

" WINNIPEG, 30th March, 1889.

" DEAR MR. STEWART,—As I am leaving in a few days for Harrison Lake, I will not be here at the time when you expect Mrs. Stewart. Case to be further examined into, but as I have known you for the past quarter of a century, and had you many years in my employ, I am pleased to be able to say that you discharge your duties in different positions of trust in which I placed you with entire satisfaction to myself, and were I here when the case referred to comes up, I would cheerfully bear oral testimony, as I do now in this way, to your entire probity in all business matters, and truthfulness and honourable dealings in all other ways with your fellow men. I may say, too, that your course during the unhappy occurrences of 1869-70 was characterized by loyalty to your Queen, and great suffering through long imprisonment for attempting to maintain law and order in the land. For Mrs. Stewart I have the highest respect, and I do not believe that either of you would wrong another of sixpence nor bear the slightest suspicion of false witness against a neighbour.

" I am, dear Sir,

" Very faithfully yours,

(Signed) " JOHN SCHULTZ.

" JAMES STEWART, Esq.,

(" Late of Selkirk.)

" 879, Main Street, Winnipeg."

By Mr. Gordon :

468. You were in charge of that boat on the trip you mention.—Yes.

469. In what capacity—as sailor, captain, or what?—Well, I don't know. Something of that kind, I suppose.

470. You are a qualified seaman?—Yes.

471. And a qualified captain.—Yes, sir. I fulfilled all the requirements of the Board of Trade as regards navigation. My papers were left with the Hudson's Bay Company when I entered their service, and I have never seen them since.

472. The reason I am making the enquiry is, knowing that the vessel was improperly rigged, it seems to me that a competent seaman would refuse to go to sea in such a boat.—I will tell you what induced me to go: it was poverty. Governor Schultz induced me to come from Selkirk to take this boat. When he was getting his position as Governor, and wanted everybody to say a good word for him, he was anxious to get a good word from me. I was then editor of the Selkirk Record, and being an old acquaintance he asked me to put in a few good words, and in return he said I would be looked after, and well provided for if he got the position. He said I would get a pretty good situation under him. On the strength of that I spoke in his favour in the paper.

By Mr. Barron :

473. That was in the paper?—When he was appointed he advised me to come up from Selkirk and live in one of his houses. I came up and lived there, and somehow or other I found he took a turn against me. That winter I would have starved unless I got employment in a printing office.

By Mr. Gordon :

474. Was this, in your opinion, an unseaworthy vessel?—I am coming to that. When the time came round and the boat was built he said he had planned this to give me a situation. He asked me to give the boat a good name, and I thought I would give her a trial, having nothing else to do.

475. Was the other man a competent seaman?—No, sir.

476. And you would risk that man's life in going to sea in a boat that was unseaworthy?—Of course, we risked both our lives.

By Mr. Somerville :

477. When you were editor of that paper, did you write many articles as to who should be Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba?—I wrote one or two, I think.

478. You wrote one or two articles?—Yes.

479. What did you say in those articles—that he was a proper man to appoint Lieutenant Governor?—Yes.

By Mr. McMullen :

480. You did that at his request?—Oh, yes; it was hinted to me by His Honour.

By Mr. Somerville :

481. You wrote him up for the position?—Yes.

482. With the expectation that you would get a reward?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

483. You went to Winnipeg expecting to get a position from him?—Yes; that is the reason I left Selkirk.

484. And you did not get the position you expected to get?—No sir.

485. And that is the reason you went into the printing office?—Yes.

486. Because you were in great distress?—Yes. I could get nothing else to do.

487. All this time his honor was promising you a situation?—Yes.

488. It was after that you went to Selkirk again to go on this voyage?—During the time I was working, they were planning to get the boat built?

488a. The boat was not built at that time?—Yes.

489. It was winter that they were planning?—Yes.

490. And all this time you were in actual distress?—Yes.

491. You were in want?—Yes.

492. And you went on that boat which was unseaworthy as far as the rigging was concerned?—Yes. I thought with my own little skill I could manage fairly well.

493. You were so much in want that you went on her?—Yes.

494. You told his honor about the unseaworthiness of the boat?—I called his attention several times to the bad rigging.

By Mr. Gordon :

495. Do I understand you to say that your papers were left with the Hudson Bay Company; your papers obtained in England?—Yes, they were left with the Hudson Bay Company.

496. Did you ever apply them to have them duplicated?—In 1850 when I entered the Hudson Bay Company's service they required my papers. There was my Master's certificate and the clergyman's paper obtained in my native village of Stromness in Scotland. The papers were left with the Hudson Bay Company. I made application for them when I was over in 1881, but the old agent was dead and I could not get them. My ticket was there. We used to call it a ticket in those days.

497. Was there no other employment in Manitoba in 1889, except to take one of your fellowmen on board of an unseaworthy vessel and risk his life on the lake?—I have stated my reason for going.

998. He was likely to go with you, knowing you were a qualified seaman?—I told the Governor I wanted a qualified man with me, but he insisted upon Monkman going with me. He was as much to blame as I.

By Mr. Somerville :

499. Did you say this man Monkman was a very old man?—Yes, sir.

500. How old was he?—He is over eighty.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

501. You have stated that you have received payment for your services $67.50, less $10, kept back from you, partly in money and partly by cheque?—The money I received, yes, sir.

502-3. Will you give me the amount paid to you in money, and the amount paid to you by cheque?—I have told the committee already I have forgotten the moneys that I got of each kind. I have really forgotten it.

504. You got some of each?—I got some of each.

505. Did you get $20, at one time?—I could not say, sir. I could not swear to any amount.

506. Did you get $15?—I might have; I could not say.

507. You think you might have got $15?—I might have; I do not know. I know I was paid at that rate.

508. You think this $15 was in money and not by cheque?—I believe by cheque or money.

509. Take care what you are about, I have your cheque here. Was that $15, in money or in cheque?—I do not remember having received $15, by itself. Part was in cheque and part was in money.

510. You deny you got $15?—I do not deny it and I do not say it was the case. I may have got it.

511. Tell us any amount you received at any time on account of your services? I could not tell you.

512. Do you mean to say you do not recollect?—I do not recollect. I know it was paid one way or another. I got my wages.

513. How is it you remember you got $57.50?—I recollect very well that I was paid up with the exception of $10, you kept from me.

514. Did you get $57.50?—Yes; I say that much.

515. How much of that was by cheque and how much by money?—I could not tell you that.

516. Will you give me one amount you got by cheque or money?—I could not tell you.

517. And yet you recollect you received $57.50? Did you get it all in one sum?—No, sir. If I got it in one sum, I would remember it.

518. Did you authorize your wife to get any of this money on your account when you were away?—No, sir.

519. Had she any right to receive any money on your account while you were away?—No, sir.

520. Did she receive any?—No, sir.

521. You swear to that?—Yes.

522. Did you receive any?—From you?

523. Yes; by cheque or cash?—Yes.

524. How is it you recollect the one and not the other?—I do not recollect the amount received because it was paid on several occasions.

525. On what different occasions was any paid to you?—Some was paid when I went to Selkirk to see about getting the boat ready.

526. How much was received then?—I could not tell you.

527. Was it $20?—I do not recollect.

528. Was it $15?—I could not say.

529. Was it $10?—I could not say. I won't swear to what I do not recollect.

530. You do not recollect anything about it, as to how much money you got?—I know I was paid up at that rate.

531. Do you know you got any money at all?—Yes, I do. I know I got my wages.

532. Give me any one amount you received?—I cannot tell you that, because it was paid on so many occasions.

533. How many occasions?—I cannot tell you that, because going up and down to Selkirk and seeing about getting the boat ready I got a little money from you.

534. How much did you get at any one time?—I cannot really tell. Perhaps sometimes $2 and sometimes $5.

535. Did you get $5 at any one time?—Yes, I think it was about that. I could not swear to that. I think perhaps I did.

536. Do you think you may have got $25 any one time?—I cannot tell you.

537. Do you deny it?—No; I do not deny it.

538. Did you get $40 at any one time?—Not that I know of.

539. Did your wife get any for you?—Not for me.

540. Did she get any money while you were away?—She got money for hard service while she was at Government House.

541. Was she at Government House while you were away?—She was worn out by the hard work she did at Government House while I was away.

542. Then she did not get pay for services rendered at Government House while you were away?—Not on my account.

543. Did she get any money?—I do not know anything about it.

544. You cannot recollect anything you got?—No, I do not know of any particular sum.

545. Do you swear positively you did not get $100?—I swear that positively.

546. Do you positively swear you did not get $15 from Hon. Dr. Bown in cash in my presence?—For what?

547. I am asking you, not you me. Answer my question.—Not as my wages.

548. Did you get it for any purpose?—I do not think so. I do not remember it.

549. Do you think you may have done so?—I cannot remember Dr. Bown giving me $15.

550. You swear positively you did not get $15 in my presence from Hon. Dr. Bown at Government House?—Was Dr. Bown paying any part of my wages?

551. I am asking you the question.—If it was outside of wages, you have nothing to do with transactions between me and Bown.

552. Answer my question.—No, sir, I will not; because I think you have no business to ask what passed between me and Bown.

By the Chairman :

553. Dr. Bown is the Governor's Private Secretary. Did Dr. Bown pay you any money in his presence?—He never paid me a cent in his presence.

By Lieut. Gov. Schultz :

554. Did he pay you $15 for anything?—I do not recollect getting $15 from Dr. Bown.

555. Would you swear positively you did not get it?—I would not swear it. I cannot see what I got it from him for.

By the Chairman :

556. You have no recollection of getting any money from him?—I had no money transactions with Bown at all.

By Lieut. Gov. Schultz :

557. Is that your signature?—Yes, that is my signature (referring to cheque exhibited.) It looks like it.

558. Is it, or is it not your signature, as it involves a question of money?—I would not swear it is my signature.

559. Can you tell your own signature?—It is very like my signature.

560. What moneys did you receive from me in 1888?—I received no money from you in 1888. You generally gave me perhaps a dollar. In 1888—that was to go on the trip up the Lake.

561. You received no money in 1888?—Yes, I did.

562. How much did you receive?—I do not remember.

563. Was it $50?—I cannot tell.

564. Was it $20?—I cannot tell. I was employed by you to go out on a trip with the steamboat.

565. Did you get any money at all for it?—Yes, I got some money.

566. Did you give a receipt for it?—I do not remember whether I did or not. If I did, I suppose you have it.

567. As to this trip, did you make any report when you came back?—Yes.

568. Would you know your own report?—Yes.

569. Would you know your own signature?—Yes.

570. Why didn't you know it on your cheque?—If you show me what is in the cheque, of course I could. I do not dispute, that it is my signature.

571. Now you made a report when you came back. What is in that report?—There was various things in it.

572. Do you recollect anything at all that was in it?—I think there was something in it about fisheries.

573. Anything else?—Something about liquor in the North West.

573½. What else?—That is all I can think about. I think there was something about sowing wild rice among the Indians.

574. What did you say about liquor in the North West?—I did not say anything about liquor in the North West. I said there was a sort of jamboree in Manitoba.

575. "Just arrived back". Is that the way you commenced your report?—Yes.

576. Is this your report?—That is my report.

577. Your signature is attached to that report?—Yes, it is my report.

JAMES STEWART'S REPORT.

" Hon. Dr. JOHN SCHULTZ,

" Lieutenant-Governor of Keewatin.

" SIR,—In accordance with your instructions that I should proceed to Lake Winnipeg and visit its further end, keeping to the east shore, and report to you upon liquor, fish and generally as regards the country adjacent to the lake, I proceeded down the lake, the passage proving to be a very stormy one. A series of storms with snow and sleet considerably delayed us, but on the whole I found it better for my purpose, as I had more time to gather the information I wanted. I visited various points on the lake, hereinafter referred to, and have just arrived back.

" In the following report I will first speak of fish, the principal varieties being whitefish, sturgeon, lake trout, perch, pike, pickerel, gold eyes, two or three species of suckers, tullabee and a few other kinds of less value. The most valuable of these is the whitefish, which has been the principal food of the Indians who live around the shores of the lake. The spawning season generally begins about the middle of October and ends about the middle of November. During this season they frequent the shallow water around Bull Head, Dog Head, Elk Island, Rabbit Point, Swampy Island, and the mouths of the Little Saskatchewan River, Grand Rapids, Blood River, Beaver River, Leaf River, Poplar River, &c. After spawning the fish seek for deep water, and are generally to be found all over the lake. With regard to the question as whether the supply of these fish is diminishing I may say that it is the universal opinion of all I have conversed with that they are diminishing to an alarming extent, especially at the south part of the lake. The fishing grounds around Bull Head, Dog Head, Elk Island, Swampy Island and Berens' River are almost depleted owing to the wholesale slaughter that has been carried on there during the past few years. The people I have spoken with, who live around the lake, inform me that unless this wholesale exportation of whitefish to the United States is stopped that in a couple or three years Lake Winnipeg will be completely denuded of fish. Even at the present time, I understand, that the Indians in these vicinities find it a hard matter to get enough to supply their wants. I will take, for instance, the mouth of the Little Saskatchewan River, I remember that about thirty years ago, that at that place in the fall of the year the Indians were used to stand on the shore, with a scoop net, and take out two and three whitefish at a time, whereas in the present day there is hardly any to be got there at all. It is the general opinion of all who are conversant with the matter, that unless some means are taken to stop this wholesale slaughter of fish now carried on, the Government will have to feed all the Indians and half-breeds around the shores of Lake Winnipeg, apart from the Icelanders who have settled there, as they are beginning to find it a difficult matter to catch enough to supply them with food. Again, the people of Manitoba can hardly get any for their own use. I am told that to-day fresh whitefish are dearer in the market of the City of Winnipeg than they are in Chicago or Buffalo.

" In my opinion the same law that prevents the exportation of game, should be applied to the traffic in whitefish, otherwise it will be a serious matter for the Indian and half-breed population and all who depend upon fish for food.

I notice also that there is a great waste of fish at the fishing stations, of such fish as perch, tullabee, and suckers. A great many of these are caught by the fishermen in the white-fish nets and are thrown away with the offal of the white-fish. I observed at fishing stations a pit dug in the ground, where all the refuse of fish is thrown, and I there saw a considerable number of good perch and suckers thrown away there to rot.

On the whole if our Indians are to be kept on their Reserves around Lake Winnipeg, something will certainly have to be done to preserve the fish supply. Most of the Reserve consists of rock and marsh, altogether unfit for agricultural purposes, except it may be that a few potatoes can be raised in some places. Therefore, if the supply of fish becomes exhausted, as it certainly will do if the present wholesale slaughter continues, there is then no alternative for the Indians but to roam over a rugged country in search of deer and moose, which will, at best, prove but a precarious means of subsistence, while at the same time this roving mode of life would place them beyond the means of civilization. So far as I have conversed with these Indians on my route, they all seem to look forward with dismay to the approaching ruin of their principal food supply.

I would strongly recommend the Dominion Government to stop the exportation of fish to the United States, and means used to preserve the fish from being wantonly destroyed as seems to be the case at present.

Wild rice is found in many places around Lake Winnipeg, especially around Fort Alexander and Berens River. It is a very hardy plant and will grow in places where there is shallow and still water. I have known several instances of its being sown and always found it to grow in any place adapted for the purpose. There are a considerable number of small rivers and small lakes on the east side of Lake Winnipeg where it could be sown with advantage, and which in a few years would supply the natives with a very good article of food. The average depth of water required for its growth is from three to four feet and the best time to sow it is in the fall season. The first season after being sown, it generally comes up very thin and spare, but in the course of two or three years it comes up abundantly and yields a good crop. I think that an effort should be made to sow this excellent food bearing plant in every place suitable for the purpose, and there are very many such places in the vicinity of Lake Winnipeg, the east side especially. This region on the East side of the Lake is generally rocky and marshy, with innumerable small rivers and small lakes. There is very little of it adapted for agriculture, but the wild rice could be raised almost anywhere throughout this part of the country. By an abundance of this article of food, together with a proper protection of our fish, the Indians would be able to support themselves in comfort, and save the Government a considerable amount which they would otherwise have to expend in feeding them.

From all I can learn I think there must be a considerable amount of intoxicating liquor carried around the shores of Lake Winnipeg. I noticed that at every point we called there was some, more or less, to be had if wanted. Whether there is any supplied to the Indians I am unable to say from personal observations, although I am led to believe that unprincipled persons very often supply the natives with it. I was informed by one of the officers of the steamboat that during the past summer there were complete and general drinking bouts among the Indians at the Little Saskatchewan River. The liquor was brought out there by a man whose name I could not learn, as it appeared he was hiding in the woods on the opposite side of the river, where the Indians were observed to cross and bring over bottle after bottle of the stuff. The consequence was that a complete scene of confusion and noise took place, and the river side was converted into a pandemonium. A considerable quantity of vile stuff is traded among the Indians under the name of "essence," either essence of peppermint, ginger or lemon. These so called essences are put up in small bottles and sold freely among the Indians, and it is no uncommon thing for an Indian to get drunk on a bottle of essence of ginger. This stuff is generally supplied by petty traders in the summer time, who go out in small boats around the various points in the lake where the Indians frequent, and trade off their vile stuff for either furs or dressed moose and deer skins. I do not think that any great quantity is carried out on the steamboats of the North-West Navigation Company, as I think it would be prohibited by them if known. But it is carried out by the small traders who take it out in small boats, and take it into every bay and river where Indians can be found. A little may be taken out in the winter time by sleighs, but the summer time is the principal season that this illicit traffic is carried on.

In my opinion, in order to put a stop to this demoralizing traffic, it would be for the Government to hire or purchase a good fast sailing boat, capable of being worked by two men, one of them at least a good sailor and thoroughly acquainted with Lake Winnipeg, to watch these small craft which swarm around the lake, having power to examine all merchandise taken out for trading purposes, and seizing all liquor carried, without a permit from the proper authorities. At the same time these boatmen could do good service by sowing wild rice in any suitable place found along the lake, or in the small lakes not far distant in the interior. The cost of such an outfit would be a mere bagatelle, compared with the advantage which might be gained by increasing the food production of that part of the country, and thus materially adding to the wants of the Indian population which would necessarily lessen the cost of feeding them. It would also be the means of effectually putting a stop to the liquor traffic in every shape. The chief place that the liquor or so-called essences are supplied from is West Selkirk, and no doubt some from Winnipeg, but it all must pass mostly from the Red River into the lake. No restrictions could be placed on the traffic at Selkirk, as it could easily be carried out of that place and embarked at any point along the river. The most effectual method would be as I have suggested, to have a boat to watch along the mouth of the Red River and Gimli and other points.

I have taken particular care, both by personal observation and by well authenticated information, to look for a region suitable for an Indian Reserve, and from my own knowledge of the country and from what has been told me by Officers of the Hudson Bay Company, who are well acquainted with the country around Lake Winnipeg, I would recommend the East side of the Lake, from Mossy Point near Berens River, Northward to Montreal Point, adjoining Play Green Lake. This district has a coast line of about one hundred or one hundred and twenty miles. There are numerous small rivers along this part, the principal ones being Leaf River flowing from Leaf Lake, a small sheet of water about forty miles inland; Pelican River flowing from Pelican Lake, about thirty miles inland, Poplar River, a good sized stream, where there is a Hudson Bay post. This river flows from two lakes, the first about fifty miles, and the second about seventy miles inland. They are respectively named Thunder Lake and Windy Lake, Black River flowing from Black Lake, about sixty miles inland, and Little Black River flowing from the same source. There are numerous other small streams, which are all more or less stocked with fish. This country is but little adapted for agricultural purposes, being composed principally of rock and marsh, interspersed with innumerable small lakes and rivers. Of course certain spots may be found where a few potatoes, barley or garden vegetables might be raised, but not very extensively. The country however is well adapted for abode of our Indians, being well supplied with all things necessary for their mode of living. The country is covered with timber, chiefly red pine, white spruce, tamarac and poplar. Berries in the proper season are abundant: namely, black and red currants, strawberries, gooseberries, pemmican berries, cranberries and huckleberries. Wherever wild rice is found there are always great numbers of wild ducks, as these birds feed on the rice. The country is also abounds with deer and moose, as some black and brown bears. Of the fish, I have already spoken. So far there have been no fishing stations established in this part of the lake, for the purpose of exportation. Taking all these things together, I do not think that a better place could be selected for an Indian Reserve than this place I have reference to. Were the cultivation of wild rice carefully attended to, in the above mentioned district, I have no doubt but that the number of wild geese would be materially increased, as these birds flock to the places where this plant grows, to feed thereon.

"I consider that this place should be selected for an Indian Reserve, that some measures should be taken to preserve the whitefish in that vicinity. For this purpose, I think that no company or persons who fish for exportation, should be allowed to fish in these waters within six miles from the shore. This would keep the feeding grounds of these fish intact. These Fish Companies, when stormy weather occurs, are sometimes not able to go to their nets for two or three days. In such cases, when the nets are lifted they are full of dead fish, such as perch, suckers and tullabees. These are often thrown overboard, which naturally sink on these feeding grounds. The whitefish being a very sensitive fish, with regard to cleanliness, soon desert the place and seek other quarters and new grounds. The wholesale slaughter of fish must and will in a very few years, have the effect of depleting the lake of whitefish, and thus necessitating some other means to be adopted in providing food for our Indian population.

“My trip through Lake Winnipeg necessarily curtailed the range of my observations. But having many years ago been a resident at Norway House and Berens’ River and the mouth of the Little Saskatchewan, I was in a better position to know the nature of the country surrounding the above named lake than persons who only have business on the lake itself.

“A proper survey of Lake Winnipeg is much wanted. Very few maps of that sheet of water are to be had, and even these which have been made are inaccurate and unsuitable. In some maps I have seen, islands are set down where none exist, and those islands that are set down are out of place. The same may be said of the headlands, bays and rivers around the coast. All are so distorted that they are no guides at all to any person sailing through the waters.

“I am sorry that my present report is so narrow and limited, but as I have already mentioned the short time that I had at my disposal necessarily accounts for its brevity.

“I have the honour to be,

“Honourable Sir,

“Your obedient servant,

(Sgd.) “JAMES STEWART.”

By Lieut. Governor Schultz :

578. Are you well acquainted with Lake Winnipeg?—I am fairly well acquainted with it.

579. Have you ever lived on it?—Yes, sir. I have lived on it.

580. Where have you lived?—At Berens River.

581. Have you lived at Norway House?—Yes, but that’s not Lake Winnipeg.

582. You know the lake well, do you?—Fairly well.

583. Are you a master mariner?—Yes, sir.

584. Did you ever get a certificate as a master mariner?—Yes.

585. From whom?—The British Board of Trade.

586. Where is that certificate?—It is in the possession of the Hudson’s Bay Company.

587. Can you take observations?—Yes, sir.

588. Are you familiar with the compass?—Yes, sir.

589. Is there any variation of the compass in Lake Winnipeg?—Are you examining me in navigation?

590. Answer that question, sir. Is there any variation of the compass in Lake Winnipeg?—There is.

591. How much?—I cannot tell you now.

592. Is it East or West?—It is East, I think.

593. But you don’t know, sir?—I cannot tell you now.

594. And yet you know Lake Winnipeg all the way to Grand Rapids?—Yes.

595. You don’t know whether it is East or West?—No answer.

596. Supposing it to be East or West how many degrees variation would there be?—It varies yearly a little. There is no constant number.

Mr. Skinner objected. Objection overruled.

597. How many lighthouses are there in Lake Winnipeg?—Well; there is not enough. There is one at Swampy Island, I know.

598. Will you swear that that lighthouse is on Swampy Island?—I cannot; because I never saw that lighthouse. It was not on our route.

599. Do you know an island called Channel Island?—Yes.

600. Do you know an island called Reindeer Island?—Yes.

601. Is there a lighthouse on that Island?—Not to my knowledge.

602. Is there a lighthouse on Channel Island?—Not to my knowledge.

603. Have you consulted the Public Accounts with reference to Lake Winnipeg?
—I have seen the Public Accounts.

604. Do you mean to tell me that you have not seen in the Public Accounts a payment to the keeper of the Channel Island lighthouse upon Lake Winnipeg?—No; I have never seen that.

605. You say then that there is no lighthouse there?—No; I don't say that. I don't know it. I was acquainted with the keeper of the other.

606. You don't know the lighthouses on Lake Winnipeg?—No.

607. And yet you are competent to navigate that lake?—Yes.

608. How near can you approach with safety with a centre board boat 6 feet beam on the north side of Channel Island?—Not very close I should think.

609. How close?—I cannot say just now at the present moment.

610. What depth of water is there?—I cannot say just now.

611. If you were approaching there at night what would you have to do?—I cannot tell.

612. You don't know?—No.

613. Do you know how near you can approach on the east?—No.

614. Do you know on the south?—No.

615. Do you know on the west?—No.

616. You don't know anything about it?—I know that there are shallows all around the island.

617. Do you know that nearly every steamer that passes through Lake Winnipeg passes near by it?—No.

618. How is it that you don't know it?—I don't know.

619. You don't know the Channel Island lighthouse—you don't know whether there is one or not?—No.

620. And yet you are a master mariner, a sailing master competent to work a boat, and you admit that you have been paid $67.50, and you don't know where Channel Island lighthouse is?—No; I don't know, because all the time I was on Lake Winnipeg there was no Channel Island lighthouse.

621. Will you swear positively that there was no lighthouse in 1889?—I did not see any lighthouse there.

622. There has been one there for the last five years. What is the compass course from Long Point to Spider Island Harbour. Never mind the variations out with it?—It would nearly lie north by west, it would be close on north-west, I should think.

623. What is the compass course from Long Point to Montreal Point?—Nearly east. In sailing this country we have to go near the coast.

624. You cannot always go near the coast. As a master mariner you don't know the course?—You are always in sight of the coast.

625. Are you certain you are always in sight of the coast?—Yes; you are always in sight of it.

626. What is the compass course from the Channel Island Light to Jack Head?—I told you I do not know where the Channel Island Light is.

627. What is the compass course from the north end of Reindeer Island to Montreal Point? Out with it now?—It would lie north-east I should think.

628. What is the compass course from the south end of Grassy Narrows to Elk Island?—That would be about south, south-east, I should think.

629. What is the compass course from Elk Island to the foot of Black Island?—Close on north; due north.

630. On what compass course would you with five feet draft strike the outer entrance of Berens' river?—The outer entrance is crooked.

631. On what compass course would you strike the entrance to Berens' river?—You would north east and then turn again and go about south west, I think. I would like to make a remark here. It is impossible to tell right off-hand the compass course of anything without having a chart with you. You cannot keep all these in your head all the time.

632. How many half points are there to a compass? Out with it now, quick?—Just wait a little.

633. Well, a master mariner should know that?—There are 32 points; 64 half-points.

634. You are quite sure there are not 34 points to a compass? Will you swear there are not 34 points to a compass?—It depends on what you call a point.

635. Will you swear there are not 34 points to a compass?—What is a point?

636. Will you swear positively there are not 34 points to a compass. Take care; you are on your oath?—There are 32 full points to a compass.

637. You have insinuated in your letter that the boat known as the patrol boat Keewatin is an unsafe boat?—Yes, sir.

638. Did you ever state to anyone that she was perfectly safe?—I did to you; at your request.

639. At what time?—Before I sailed in her, and when I came back.

640. Verbally or in writing?—In writing.

641. You stated it in writing that she was a safe boat when you believed she was not?—The boat was all right enough; it is the rigging I say is bad.

642. Did you state that at the time?—No, I did not.

643. Did you say that the boat was safe?—Yes, I did; but you must remember that you requested me to say so.

644. Did you state that she was a safe boat, in writing, or in words?—In writing.

645. Where was it written from?—I think it was in my report to you.

646. What time did you make your report to me?—After I came back.

647. What time did you come back?—I came back on the 11th of July. I think I came up to your place on the 11th or 12th.

By Mr. Barron:

648. What year was that?—1889.

By the Lieut. Governor:

649. Will you look at that and say if that is your signature?—That is my signature.

650. You are positive about that?—Yes.

651. I will read it:

EXHIBIT No. 3:

“WEST SELKIRK, 15th June, 1889.

“This is to say that I have this day received from Mr. Matthew Watts, boat builder, the sailing yacht ‘Keewatin,’ in excellent working order and after due trial found her to work very satisfactorily in sailing quantities and seems to be well suited for the purpose for which she is intended.”

(Sgd.)

“JAMES STEWART.”

Q. Did you write that?—That is right enough.

661. Where did you write that from?—From Selkirk.

662. Was I with you at the time?—No, sir.

663. Did anyone compel you to write that letter?—You did. You said you would not take over the boat until that letter was written. That was the time you asked me to give a good name to the boat.

664. Were you aware that the whole of the payment for the building of that boat had not been paid to Matthew Watts until you made that inspection?—No; I was not aware of it.

665. You were not told that by me?—No, sir.

666. You did not know that this report determined whether he was to receive the rest of his pay or not?—I did not.

667. Did you ever hear that from me?—I never heard that from you.

668. Why did you give the report?—I was told by you to take over the boat from him. That is the reason it was written.

669. Was that in the report?—No. I did not say that in the report. It is merely taking over the boat from Watts? Watts had the certificate in another shape and I shaped it in that way.

670. Watt drafted this?—Watts drafted one certificate, but it was considerably different from that.

671. This is yours?—Yes.

672. Every word of it?—Every word of it.

673. You stand to it to-day?—As far as the boat herself is concerned, I do stand to it to-day.

674. Do you stand to it now?—As far as the boat herself is concerned, I do.

675. Is that statement true or false?—It was true enough, so far as I saw her on the river at that time.

676. It was utterly true and yet utterly false at the time you wrote it?—I thought she was a good boat then. I still think she was all right enough, as far as the boat was concerned; but, as I have told you several times, the rigging is bad.

By Mr. Somerville :

677. You had only tried it on the river then?—Yes.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

678. You say that Matthew Watts made out a report which you requested him to alter?—Yes.

679. What was the nature of his report?—I forget now.

680. In any case, this is your report, and what you have written in here is true?—It is true as far as the hull of the boat is concerned.

681. Is it true or false?—It is false as regards the rigging.

682. Did you write that statement knowing it to be a falsehood?—It is true as regards the boat.

683. Did you write that statement knowing it to be a falsehood?—I did not. It is true as regards the boat.

By Mr. Taylor :

684. Was the boat equipped and ready for use when you wrote that statement?—Yes.

685. Then, does that apply to the boat as she was that day?—Yes; on a trial on the river. Certainly, that day I had confidence in the boat. I believed what I had written that day.

By Mr. Moncrieff :

686. Did you notice the defect in the rigging at that time?—Yes; I told His Honour about that before.

687. Did His Honour tell you to report that the rigging was right, although it was wrong?—He wished the thing to be reported good.

688. Did he wish you to report a falsehood?—No, no.

689. Why do you wish to lead us to that inference?—He wished me to report favourably.

690. He wished you to report on the vessel?—Yes.

691. And you told him that she was not rigged properly?—Yes.

692. And then did he tell you to report that she was all right?—I said nothing about the rigging: She worked very well that day on the river.

693. Did you leave it out purposely?—No; I did not.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

694. Did you make any other statement about this boat?—I think there is something said about it in this report.

695. Did you make any report when you came back?—Yes.

696. Would you know it if you saw it?—That report you showed me just now, that is it.

697. Did you report the incidents of the trip that you made out?—Fairly well.
698. When did you reach Long Point?—I can tell that by my journal.
699. Where is your journal?—Here. It was on a Sunday; I know that.
700. Find out anything you say about the “Keewatin” in that journal?—We had to run against a fearful gale that day. She stood it very well. I see that it was on the 23rd of June.
701. What did you say about the boat then? Did you keep that journal for your own information? Is it true?—Yes.
702. Was that journal written under compulsion or at my request?—No.
703. Read out of it what you say about the “Keewatin?”—I do not think I have anything about the “Keewatin.”
704. Turn up Sunday, the 23rd?—Yes; that is what I have here.
705. What do you say?—“Left the island at 6 a. m. with a strong east wind, which increased in violence as the day wore on. We scudded before it with close-reefed sail and soon lost sight of land. The sea became rough and violent, and we soon lost sight of land. I shaped my course by the compass for Long Point. At 2 p. m. land was discovered ahead, which I knew to be Long Point. I instantly altered my course to clear the north end, which we rounded at 4 p. m., and it was with no small satisfaction that we got around into smooth water and in a cove we landed for the night.”
706. The 23rd of what month?—June.
707. That is all there is there?—That is all that I have got there.
708. Did you ever give me a copy of that journal?—I think so.
709. Is this your handwriting?—Yes, sir.
710. The whole of it?—Yes; this is my handwriting, I believe.
711. Is that a copy of your journal (handing it to witness)?—Yes.
712. What do you say about Sunday, 23rd?—I have just read it.
713. You have nothing else?—No.
714. Then I will read to you from your own handwriting: “On Sunday 23rd, left the Island at 5 a. m., and with a strong wind from the south-east made for Long Point. We were soon out of sight of land, when the wind increased in violence. The sea became very rough, much heavier than I had ever seen on Lake Winnipeg. The “Keewatin,” however, behaved nobly, and passed through the seething water without shipping a drop?”—That is all right.
715. You are a truthful man?—Yes.
716. How is it you have not got that in your journal? You did not read it out of the journal?—It is not here.
717. Then the journal does not contain everything that is here?—Yes; I remember writing that now.
718. You remember writing what I have just read?—Yes, sir.
719. And that is true?—It is true.
720. Did you write that under compulsion?—No; not under compulsion.
721. You stated here it was the most stormy sea you ever had on Lake Winnipeg?—Yes, sir.
722. You passed through those seething waters without shipping a drop?—Yes, sir.
723. How does that agree with the “Keewatin” being an unsafe boat? You don't know?—I do know.
724. You are a good sailing master?—Yes; and I can tell you I was the only one who brought her safe back here. I was at the helm that day, that is how it is.
- By Mr. Barron:*
725. You were pretty badly scared, though?—I was not much scared; sailors should never be afraid.
- By Lieutenant Governor Schultz:*
726. We will go back to the question of accounts. You have stated in your evidence that your furnished your own provisions on the trip in 1889 on board the “Keewatin”?—Yes, sir.

727. What provisions did you take with you?—We bought pork. Mr. Monkman and I bought it together.

728. How much did you pay?—I paid for the outfit.

729. How much was it?—$16.50.

730. What did it consist of?—Of tea, sugar, biscuit, and some bacon.

731. Who did you buy it from?—Mr. Galloway.

732. Have you got Galloway's receipt?—I have not.

733. Why have you not got it?—I don't know what became of it.

By Mr. Foster :

734. Do I understand that $16.50 was your share, or was it for your's and Monkman's?—No, Sir; it was for both of us.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

735. Then you swear positively you paid one half of those provisions?—Yes, I do.

736. You paid one half and Monkman the other half?—Yes.

737. You swear that positively?—I do.

738. Is Joseph Monkman a truthful man?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Barron :

739. You believe him to be?—I believe him to be.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

740. Is the Mayor of Winnipeg a truthful man?—Mr. Pearson? Yes. I never heard anything to the contrary.

741. Is Mr. Whittle a truthful man?—I believe so.

742. Is E. L. Barber a truthful man?—I think so.

743. Is Mr. W. G. Fonseca a truthful man?—Yes.

744. Is Frank I. Clark, barrister, a truthful man?—I don't know.

745. Have you any reason to believe he is not truthful?—I don't know anything about it at all, sir.

746. Is Joseph Monkman a truthful man?—Yes, sir.

Mr. SCHULTZ—I now produce a document signed by Monkman to be placed on file.

Mr. BARRON—You cannot put it on file before you call Monkman.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

747. You did not get these provisions?—We got them ourselves. There was none of them charged to the Government.

748. The Lieutenant Governor charged the Government—is not that what you say?—We bought them ourselves, out of our own pockets.

749. You and Monkman?—Yes, sir.

750. Which one of you selected them?—Monkman.

751. Did he select, tea, sugar and bacon and biscuits to the value of $18.50?—I have said it was $16.50. It may have been $18 but I don't think it was. I think it was $16.50.

752. If Monkman were to say you paid nothing, would you believe him?—No, I would not?

753. Yet you believe he is truthful?—Yes, he is truthful.

754. If you saw a sworn statement, would you believe it?—I would.

755. His sworn statement is that you never paid a cent of it?—That I never paid a cent of it.

756. You paid nothing?—I certainly paid my share of it.

757. You would not believe his statement then?—Not in that way, certainly not.

758. Well, that is what he states.

MR. BARRON.—You have no right to say it. You have no right to say there is a sworn statement against a witness, unless you brought the man here and allowed us to put him under cross-examination.

MR. SCHULTZ.—I understand Mr. Chairman, I am not to place this statement before the committee. I call your attention to the fact that the whole of this investigation has arisen from a sworn statement by Mr. James Stewart.

MR. SKINNER.—I do not think a sworn statement is evidence unless the person making it is here to be cross examined.

By Lieut.-Gov. Schultz :

759. If Mr. Joseph Monkman says he was employed in 1889 by the Lieutenant Governor, through his secretary, to act as guide and assistant on the first trip of the patrol boat "Keewatin" would that statement be correct?—Yes.

760. If he said : "I was informed that James Stewart was to be sailing master, and that both of us were to be under the command of Captain Begin of the North West Mounted Police, and to carry out such directions as he gave us. My wages were to be $40 per month if I boarded myself, and $30 if supplied with food. After the completion of my term of service I received in all, for this service, the sum of $80 for which I gave a receipt to His Honour the Lieut. Governor. My connection with the patrol boat ceased after the two months service for which I was paid, as I did not feel safe with a man like Stewart. I remained at my home till I was asked, later on, to accompany Mr. John Cornish in a light draught boat, which had been purchased, from which service I returned, being paid for the last named service $28 in cash. I was unwilling to go out with Stewart again because I did not feel safe with him. The light draught boat drew six inches of water and the patrol boat "Keewatin" from 18 inches to 2 feet. I took with me upon the trip in the patrol boat "Keewatin" the following provisions which I purchased from Mr. Thomas Galloway, merchant of Selkirk—tea, sugar, bacon and biscuits, to the value of $18.50 for which I paid him, and for which I have since received as much provisions from Lieut. Governor Schultz. Of this amount James Stewart paid nothing, but he shared in the provision. James Stewart did not furnish any of the provisions used during the whole trip of the patrol boat "Keewatin"?"

By Mr. Barron :

761. If this man has said what has just been read to you, is it true?—No; it is not true. Monkman has misunderstood the facts. He went up and bought provisions and paid for them. He told me that he had $5 from Doctor Bown, and he wished me to take that $5 to Doctor Bown, and the balance I paid to him.

By Mr. Moncrieff :

762. Then it is all correct but that?—In the general way.

By Lieut.-Gov. Schultz :

763. If he says he was paid $80 for his services with the "Keewatin," would you believe him?—I don't know.

764. Do you think he might have received that?—I don't know.

765. Would you believe if he told you, he had received $80?—Yes; if he said so.

766. If Captain Begin were to make a statement like this, would you believe it : "A few days afterwards we arrived at Grand Rapids. I had thus found that Stewart was unfit to take the boat back to Selkirk, and finding a strong man there wishing to go I sent him with the boat. My own experience of the boat on that trip was that she was well built, well rigged and in due proportion. Everything was new and good. The canvas was new and the sails; both had three reefs and were strong and good. The boat I believe to have been one of the best ever put on Lake Winnipeg." Now, do you agree with Captain Begin?—I don't agree with him.

767. And if he described further in his report the incidents of the voyage and stated that you were so frightened that he had to let you lie down on the bottom of the boat, and that you lay there while he took her into the harbour, would that be correct?—No, sir; it is not true.

768. I want to ask you a few questions more, the first relates to your storm seamanship. Did you go up to Captain Begin in the storm and tell him you did not know what to do, and did not your conduct nearly occasion the loss of the boat and the lives of those on board?—No.

769. Is it not a fact, sir, that “When the stormy winds did blow, the captain would be found below?”—No.

770. Are you brought here as a marine curiosity or a patent prevaricator?

THE CHAIRMAN—That was not a proper question.

771. Do you swear positively that the “Kcewatin” was a 35-foot keel?—I never measured her keel, but that is what they told me was the size of her.

772. Why did you swear to it then?—The fact that she was a 35 feet keel was given me by the carpenter.

By Mr. Barron :

773. When you gave a certificate on the 15th June, 1889, that she was seaworthy, where did you try her?—On the river.

774. You did not go down the lake at all?—No.

775. It was after this that you went on the voyage?—Yes; after that.

776. You gave that certificate on the 15th June; where were you on Sunday, 23rd June?—We were sailing below Reindeer Island, and we were in a storm.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, 10th September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the chair.

J. L. McDUGALL, called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Taylor :

777. I would like to ask if the amounts appearing in the Auditor-General's Report under the heading “Expenses of trip North,” are expenses connected with that trip?—I was instructed to ascertain that, but I did not, of course, make out the accounts. It is well understood that I do not make out all the parts of the report. My instructions are, to the persons who do that, to make it as clear, and as intelligent, and as correct as can be done. I am not prepared to say that in that report there may not be some inaccuracies. I don't believe there are any, but, the Committee will recognize, it is a work working a good deal of labor.

778. There is a requisition, with the Governor's Warrant, for the payment of these items, and can you explain why that heading is there “Expenses of trip North”?—I spoke to the person who made out this portion, and he said that was the conclusion he arrived at from these vouchers. That they were all connected with the same trip, and of course repairs.

779. Have you examined the account since I spoke to you?—I have not. But I sent the young man who made those items out to examine them.

780. Here is a requisition for the payment of those accounts. Is there anything to indicate whether it is in connection with the trip North?—I saw some correspondence. I came to the conclusion that there was but one trip in connection with these accounts.

JAMES STEWART re-called and further examined :—

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

781. Dr. Bown states in a declaration—I simply read it for the purpose of asking you if it is true :—“ That James Stewart, formerly sailing master of the patrol boat ‘ Keewatin ’ was paid $100 in 1889 for an allowance of two months time waiting for and on board of the said patrol boat, in the following sums :—Household cheques $10 to James Stewart and $10 to Mrs. Stewart on account of her husband’s engagement. Ordinary cheques to Mrs. Stewart $25 and $40 ; and $15 in cash ” making $100 in all. Is that correct?—It is not correct.

782. Then what amounts did you receive ?—Well, I could not say, because I got it in dribbles, and I took no account of it.

783. Can you give me any one amount you received ?—I received one and a half month’s pay—that is what I received.

784. Give me any one amount that you received at any one time ?—Oh, I could not say any one amount. I think I got $10 at one time.

785. What other amounts ?—I could not say.

786. You cannot recollect any amount but that ?—No, I did not set them down.

787. Did you come down with Mr. John Cornish from Winnipeg ?—Yes, I did.

788. Did Mr. John Cornish tell you that after you returned in the “ Keewatin ”—at least ten days afterwards—he went out with a different boat on the lake on special service ?—Yes, within the Province of Manitoba.

789. Did he tell you that he came back on the 6th of August ?—He came back sometime in August, I don’t recollect the date exactly.

790. Do you know that Lieutenant Governor Schultz took the “ Keewatin,” after she was repaired on the 23rd August, and made a trip down the lake ?—I have no knowledge of that further than hearsay. I heard she went on the lake a little way.

791. You heard I went out on the lake ?—I heard it reported you did.

792. You remember that on Friday you said the “ Keewatin ” made only one trip ?—One trip north, that is what I said, one trip outside of Manitoba.

793. Is this document in your handwriting ?—Yes.

794. I will read it :

EXHIBIT No. 4.

“ SELKIRK, 14th June, 1880.

“ HONOURABLE SIR,—On my arrival here on Wednesday 1st. I found the yacht ‘ Keewatin ’ still incomplete, and I have been hurrying up Mr. Watt ever since. We got the sails bent to-day, and took in a part of the cargo, enough to ballast her, and took a sail about two miles down the river. I find that she works admirably, and I think will prove a fast sailer. She is very quick in the stays, even under the foresail alone. We had a pretty smart breeze, but a little irregular in force. So far as I have seen she pleases me very much. The chains and blocks came down all right, and I managed to borrow an anchor, which is rather too small, but I will try and make it do for this trip. Should Your Honour order one for next trip, you can say that one of about 75 lbs. will do.

“ Her spread of canvas fits beautifully. The sheet of the jib stands rather high, otherwise everything is all right and in good working order.

“ On our trial trip I borrowed a British flag, which we put up on the main mast, while I put the “ Keewatin ” pennant on the foremast.

“ There are some little fixings to be done on the boat, which will be done on our return. We have got her loaded up this evening after supper, and will have everything on board, so as to make an early start to-morrow morning.

“ I find Mr. Begin a very nice gentleman, and I think that we will have a very pleasant time together. He has three men with him, two of whom are from Toronto, and are excellent boatmen, so that we will have a good crew on the outward passage at any rate.

"I have given Mr. Watts a receipt for the boat, showing her to be in good condition and excellent working order, so far as completed. Of course I have given him to understand that he must finish any little addition which may be required.

"Your obedient servant,

"JAMES STEWART."

"Honourable J. C. SCHULTZ,

"Lieutenant Governor, Manitoba.

795. That is your writing?—Yes, sir.

796. You stated in evidence the other night, and some mariners from the Don River laughed at the idea, that this boat had her foremast right in the bow and that the foremast was the larger mast of the two and had the larger sail. They laughed when you said that; but from the Geological Survey official pictures I ask you to look at that boat and say which is the largest mast there?—The largest mast is the foremast.

797. Is it in the bow or not?—It is in the bow.

798. Is that what it pretends to be, a fishing boat on Lake Winnipeg?—I do not know what it pretends to be

799. Look at it; what does it read?—It reads "Fishing boat on the Saskatchewan." The mast was too long and was too heavy in the bow.

800. Here are the pictures of a dozen boats. Are these masts in the bow and are they the largest or not?—With such a boat it depends on the wind.

801. Answer my question?—I have seen hundreds with masts in the bow, but there is such a thing as overdoing such a thing.

By Mr. Lister :

802. Does that picture represent the size of the "Keewatin"?—Is it anything more than a fishing boat?—It is something the same build as a fishing boat, but the mast is out of proportion with the boat.

803. None of these pictures represent the "Keewatin"?—No.

804. Are the boats the same size as the "Keewatin"?—I do not know.

By Lieut.-Governor Schultz :

805. Are the ordinary fishing boats on Lake Winnipeg the same size as the "Keewatin"?—Yes.

806. Did Matthew Watts build her the size of a fishing boat?—Yes.

807. Is this what I read correct or not:

} In the matter of a light draught boat, formerly used as a fishing boat at Grand Marais.

"I, John Cornish, of the City of Winnipeg, in the County of Selkirk, Gentleman, do solemnly declare:—that I am the John Cornish who was employed by Lieutenant Governor Schultz in 1889 on a special mission, a report of which I afterwards furnished. Lieutenant Governor Schultz sent for me and asked me whether I knew the smaller harbours of the east and west coasts of Lake Winnipeg well, stating that he wished to send some one out who was familiar with the shallower waters of the lake. He asked me whether I knew of a light draught boat which could be got cheaply, stating that the "Keewatin" had exceeded her contract draught and that he did not wish to incur on account of the Government too much expense in the purchase of another boat. I told him of a boat drawing six inches of water of the following dimensions:—length over all, 29 feet 3 inches; beam, 10 feet 3 inches; rigged with two sails and a centre-board. I told him, however, that the boat had not been used lately, owing to the fishing out of the head of Lake Winnipeg, and that the boat, if bought, would need caulking, a new floor, and some other appliances. I made a bargain with Mr. David McGregor, the owner of the boat, for fifty dollars, which amount was paid Mr. McGregor by cheque. I then undertook to put the boat temporarily in repair for the price of twenty-five dollars, and to paint her, put in strips and put in new flooring for the sum of twenty-five dollars; I afterwards agreed to take charge of a special service on which I afterwards reported, being accompanied by Joseph Monkman, an old, experienced and very good man, knowing the shores of the lake well. He was paid by Lieutenant Governor Schultz for the service twenty-eight dollars, and I received for my services the sum of fifty-two dollars. I have to-day seen the boat in question, hauled up on the bank at Monkman's. She has been caulked, painted and repaired, and with a new suit of sails and rigging, which she needs, she is good for any lake service for five years yet; and is a boat which must have cost when first built about three hundred dollars.

"And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the Act respecting Extra-Judicial Oaths.

"I, Joseph Monkman, of the Parish of Saint Peter's, in the County of Lisgar, Ferryman, do solemnly declare that I am the Joseph Monkman who accompanied Mr. John Cornish in 1889 on a Light Draught Boat, with centre-board and two sails, of the following dimensions:—length over all, 29 feet 3 inches; beam, 10 feet 3 inches: the boat had been used as a fish boat at Grand Marais, and being of much lighter draught than the Patrol Boat Keewatin was sent out on this service on account of the lake being about five feet lower than usual; this boat which proved a good one in all except her sails, answered very well, it being possible with her to go in very shallow water and to land on the beach almost anywhere. This boat was hauled out of the water by me last fall, has been repaired and painted; and her hull is now quite as good as when she was bought, but the sails are now quite useless. I received as payment of my services when on board of her twenty-eight dollars from Lieutenant Governor Schultz.

“ J. L. WELLS.

Mr. LISTER objected to these declarations being filed.

811. I have read these declarations, the declarations of Cornish, Monkman and Bown, are they true or not true?—I say that Dr. Bown's is not true. I never received that amount of money.

812. What about the declarations of Cornish and Monkman?—I know nothing about them.

813. There is one item of which you have seen the receipt—the item of $36.80. You have led the Committee to believe that that $36.80 was for cooking utensils supplied to you on board the “Keewatin”?—That is my impression. That was charged for on the trip north.

814. Here is the account from J. L. Wells, a man whose receipt you find attached to the papers before this Committee. (filed as Exhibit No. 7.) You say that none of the articles for this $36.80 went on board the “Keewatin”?—I say no cooking utensils.

815. Your own letter shows you got the chain. You are pinned to that?—Yes.

816. Did you not pick that chain?—Yes.

817. Was it not sent by you to Selkirk?—Yes.

818. Did you not get a pump?—No.

819. Did the pump arrive there after you left; it is charged here on the same day?—We generally bailed.

820. The next item is an axe $1; did you get that?—No.

By Mr. Montague:

821. Did you have that pump at all?—No.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

822. Did you feel safe in going out without that pump?—We bailed her out. She made very little water.

823. On the 19th June you were on Lake Winnipeg during this storm. There is a charge for an axe, a frying pan, a galvanized iron pail, a common pail, a half dozen tin cups, six table spoons, four forks and a granite pot amounting to $6.35. I suppose that was for this expedition of the Lieutenant Governor—some articles of luxury for the trip which he took. These were probably supplied to the Lieutenant Governor on his trip out on the 23rd August?—Very likely.

By Mr. Denison :

824. Did you have an axe?—We had an axe, but I think it belonged to Joseph Monkman.

825. Do you know who it belonged to, of your own knowledge? Was it a new axe?—No; it was not a new axe.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

826. On 5th August the anchor was bought that you recommended and charged $8.50, with 10 per cent off, and on the 21st August, two days before I went out, there is a tow line, sixty pounds in weight, charged at $10.23.

Mr. SKINNER objected to the witness being asked these questions.

827. Who gave you the money to come down here?

Mr. McMULLEN—That is not a proper question; that is a matter personal to himself.

828. About the last question I wish to ask you is this: You saw in the Auditor General's Report this account, and you believed it to be for the trip north in the "Keewatin." Did you study the Auditor General's Report for the year before that?—That is 1888?

829. 1888-89, expenses. No; I never saw that.

830. When you were looking for a scandal in regard to the "Keewatin," how is it you did not look at the year before that, because there is money spent there too?—I have no knowledge of any moneys being spent there.

831. You will find in the book that $740 were spent, and if you had access to my correspondence in the Department you would—

Mr. McMULLEN—Is this in order?

The CHAIRMAN—He is in the middle of a question. Proceed, Lieutenant Governor Schultz.

832. This amount is incorrectly stated in that book to be for the travelling of the Lieutenant Governor, whereas the larger portion was for the building of the patrol boat "Keewatin" and lighter draught boats for river and for ferrying purposes, and the payment of two men. I have a copy of your receipt here, sir?—That is in 1888 that I went out in the steamer "Princess."

Mr. SKINNER—I object to going into a matter that is not before this Committee.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

833. There is only one other question I wish to ask you. As I understand, you have practically broken down—at least, you have admitted that you have been misled by this matter, and with the exception of your own wages, that you still stand by; you have relinquished the other portions of your statement?—My statements as to the trip north in the "Keewatin," that is outside the Province of Manitoba, those were what I went by and I still hold to it.

834. You made a statement in your last evidence that very materially affects a very worthy officer, Captain Bégin. You have stated he was drunk at Grand Rapids. I suppose there will be no objection to my reading his statement in the form of a question to you?

Mr. FOSTER—Captain Bégin is here, and I propose to have him called.

The WITNESS—I don't think I said in my evidence Mr. Bégin was drunk. I said they had a spree that night, and that evidently he was in his cups, but I did not say that Captain Bégin was drunk.

By Mr. Somerville :

835. Where did they get the liquor?—I was informed Bégin brought it there himself.

836. On the boat?—On the boat.

837. And he was going up to stop this traffic, was he?—That was the idea.

838. And he carried liquor up with him so as to help him to do it?—I know I was told by the Hudson Bay Company's officers that they found there was no liquor at the place, and they were asking for it.

By Mr. Macdonald (Winnipeg) :

839. The amount you actually received for wages was paid by Dr. Bown?—Oh, no.

840. By whom were you paid?—The Lieutenant Governor himself.

841. By the Lieutenant Governor personally?—Yes.

842. You received nothing from Dr. Bown?—Nothing from Dr. Bown.

843. What were your wages to be?—$45 per month.

844. How much do you acknowledge you received?—I received for a month and a-half, less $10.

845. How much is that altogether?—$57.50.

846. How was that paid?—I think there was one cheque and the rest was paid in amounts of $2 and $3, and perhaps $5 and $10. I think I received $10 once.

847. What was the amount of the one cheque?—I could not tell you, because I took no notice.

848. How much was paid in cash?—If I knew how much the cheque was, I could tell you how much I was paid in cash.

849. If you don't remember how much you were paid in cash and by cheque, how in the world do you know how much you received altogether?—I know I was paid for one month and a-half.

850. You say that you got this money at different times? By what system of arithmetic do you arrive at the conclusion that you received wages for a month and a-half?—I kept it in my mind.

851. If you kept it in your mind I want to know what it is?—I really don't remember the sums, that is all I can say.

852. And you mean to say you remember you got a definite amount only two years ago, and you cannot tell how that was made up?—No.

853. You cannot tell how you arrived at that?—No.

854. Well, then, you are not certain as to the amount?—I am certain as to the amount, less $10.

855. How are you certain? How do you arrive at it?—Because I would have remembered if he had kept anything off my wages—I would have remembered that.

856. You remember that he paid you for a month and a-half?—For a month and a-half.

857. Less $10?—Yes.

858. You got one cheque?—I got one cheque; I could not tell the amount of it.

859. And you cannot tell the amount you received in cash?—No; as I said before, if I knew the amount of the cheque I could tell the amount of cash.

860. The fact is, you do not remember anything about the payments?—No; I don't remember when, or how much I got at a time.

861. Or where or in what shape?—No. I know I was paid by a cheque and sometimes in money.

862. Will you swear you did not receive $15 in cash?—No; I will not, because I forget the amount.

863. You may have received $15 in cash?—I may have received it.

864. From Dr. Bown?—No; not from Dr. Bown.
 865. From the Lieutenant Governor?—Yes.
 866. You may have received it?—I might have.
 867. You won't deny it?—I won't deny receiving the amount that I did for a month and a-half.
 868. And the rest was paid by cheque?—Yes.
 869. One cheque or more?—Only one, I think. I am not perfectly sure of that, but I think only one.
 870. Was that cheque given to you?—To me.
 871. Payable to your order?—I think so.
 872. Were any cheques given to Mrs. Stewart?—Not on my account.
 873. You swear that positively?—I am quite positive of that.
 874. You gave no directions to that effect?—No; none whatever.
 875. You never authorized any payments to Mrs. Stewart for you?—No, sir.
 876. That is all you remember about it?—That is all I know about this thing. If I knew the amount of the cheque, I could tell you exactly what it was.
 877. I am not impugning your veracity at all. The only thing I think is, it is a little extraordinary you cannot tell what you received?—It is, I suppose. I got a month and a-half's wages.
 878. You won't say you did not get $15 in cash altogether?—I won't say. I might have got it and I might not; I don't remember.

By Mr. Lister :

879. All the money that was due to you was for a month and a half's wages?—A month and a-half's wages.
 880. At $45 a month?—That is it.
 881. That is all Dr. Schultz paid you?—Yes.
 882. And you got your pay?—I got paid.
 883. It was paid in small amounts at different times, but amounted to one month and a half at $45?—Less $10.
 884. With the exception of $10 he kept from you for something else?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

885. If Dr. Bown paid any money to Mrs. Stewart it was on account of work done by Mrs. Stewart herself, was it not?—Mrs. Stewart worked a long time at Government House.
 886. It was for her own work?—Yes.
 887. The Governor still owes Mrs. Stewart?—He owes her quite a sum yet.

By Mr. Lister :

888. As a matter of fact, your wife was working for Dr. Schultz?—There is no doubt about that.
 889. And whatever money she received was for money owed her?—Most certainly.

By Mr. Taylor :

890. Are you acquainted with William Forsyth McCreary, a lawyer in Winnipeg?—Yes.
 891. Are you acquainted with John Robinson, of Winnipeg?—That is at Selkirk?
 892. No; John Robinson, of Winnipeg?—No; I cannot say. What is he employed at?
 893. You do not know him?—No.
 894. But there is a person by the name of John Robinson who came to Mr. McCreary and said that you authorized him to say that if he could settle this matter with Governor Schultz for $200 you would never come to Ottawa and make these charges? Is this statement true?—

EXHIBIT No. 8.

PROVINCE OF MANITOBA, }
To wit : }

In the matter of certain investigations now going on at Ottawa relative to certain irregularities alleged to have been committed by the Honourable John Schultz, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.

I, William Forsythe McCreary, of the City of Winnipeg, in the Province of Manitoba, Attorney-at-Law, do solemnly declare and say:—

“1. I am now, and have been for upwards of one year, an attorney in actual practice in the Province of Manitoba.

“2. For nearly nine years prior to my commencing to study law in Manitoba I was employed as book-keeper and manager of the estate of the Honourable John Schultz, and since I left his permanent employ I still look after some of his business transactions and have close acquaintance with him.

“3. A short time previous to quitting the permanent employ of the said John Schultz, I sold certain property on Main Street, north of the Canadian Pacific Railway track, to one John Robinson, who is still the owner of the said property and resides in the building on same along with one James Stewart, a druggist, who, as I am informed and believe, was instrumental in making some of the charges to be enquired into in this investigation.

“4. From conversations held with the said Robinson at various times, I learned that he had largely assisted said Stewart in starting and carrying on said business, and that he, Stewart, was considerably in arrears for rent and money supplied, and that their business relations were very close.

“5. Sometime about a month ago, or a little over that time, the said John Robinson called me up by telephone and said he wished to make an engagement with me on a matter of importance, and upon my going to meet the said John Robinson, he told me that he supposed I had heard that James Stewart was going to make certain charges at Ottawa against the Honourable Lieutenant-Governor Schultz, to which I replied that I had seen the fact mentioned in the paper, and after some further conversation Robinson made a proposition to me, as I understood acting for and with the consent of Stewart, that if I could get Stewart a sum of money, say $100, and another $100 for Mrs. Stewart, then that Stewart would withdraw any charges he had made, as he, Stewart, knew that there was little or nothing in them, but that Schultz had used him badly and he wanted to have revenge.

“6. Subsequent to the first interview with Robinson he came several times to me and stated that they were anxious to get the matter fixed and urged me to try and get the money from Schultz as Stewart did not want to have to go to Ottawa, but that he thought he should get $200.00—as above proposed.

“7. Since the conversations above referred to, I have had no communications or interviews upon the subject with the Honourable John Schultz or with any body acting in his behalf.

“And I make this declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the act respecting Extra Judicial Oaths.

“Made and declared at Winnipeg, } this seventh day of September, }
 A. D. 1891. Before me, }

W. P. McCREARY.

“GEO. A. ELLIOTT,

“A Notary Public in and for the Province of Manitoba.”

Is that true or not?—As far as I know about the thing, this is the first I have ever heard of it.

895. I ask you, did you authorize Mr. John Robinson to go to Mr. McCreary and effect a settlement through him with Dr. Schultz?—I did not.

896. Or anybody else?—Or anybody else.

897. The question was asked where you got the money to come down here. Did Mr. Robinson furnish the money?—No. I did not receive it from John Robinson.
 898. You say you did not try to effect a settlement before coming?—No.
 899. Then were you paid money before coming here?
 Mr. Somerville objected.

By Mr. Lister :

900. Do you know Dr. Bown?—I do.
 901. He has lived with Dr. Schultz for about twenty years?—Yes; over twenty years.
 902. Lives in his house?—Yes.
 903. Sleeps in the garret?—Yes, as far as I am aware.
 904. He is an invalid?—Yes, as far as I know of.
 905. And is drawing $600 from the Manitoba Government?—Yes.
 906. You see he is drawing $600, from the Dominion as Private Secretary to Lieutenant Governor Schultz?—Yes.
 907. Do you know if he is doing any work for his money?—I do not know.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

908. Do you say that Dr. Bown sleeps in the garret?—His room is in the highest part of the house.
 909. Do you say that Dr. Bown is unfit to be Secretary for the District of Keewatin?—I do not say that, but I say he is very much of an invalid.
 910. Do you know that Dr. Bown was a member of the first Executive Council?—Yes.
 911. And has been in the country for twenty-eight years?—Yes.
 912. Do you know that he is a man of large private means?—If so, I do not know what has become of his means.
 913. Do you know that he knows that country better than almost any man in it?—He knows the country fairly well, but I do not see what that has to do with the question.
 914. Are you prepared to say to Dr. Bown himself, who, you say, is an invalid, sleeps in the garret and is unfit to be Secretary?—I do not say it is a garret, but it is a very lofty room.
 915. Invalid as he is with the rheumatic gout, are you prepared to say that to his face?—It is a good job that it is not insanity.
 916. You are insulting an absent man, and it is characteristic of the evidence you have been giving here?—I am not insulting him at all.

“1. That during the summer of 1889, I was stationed as the police officer at Grand Rapids, in the North West Territories.

“I arrived at Selkirk from Grand Rapids on 23rd August, 1889. I there met His Honour Lieutenant Governor Schultz going to Captain Robinson’s store to purchase provisions for his trips in the patrol boat Keewatin. He asked my advice as to some of his provisions and he asked me to be good enough to come on board and help him with an Icelander to pull the boat down to the lower landing to take on the provisions, which thereupon I did, the boat being at the time in front of Matthew Watts’ working shop. The provisions were there taken on board and I went down the river with him in the boat two or three miles to where he camped that night, I returning on foot to Selkirk. On leaving, His Honour requested me to report at Government House, Winnipeg, where I would receive directions from his Secretary as to my future movements, I being subject to his orders. I reported there next evening and his Secretary gave me a telegram from His Honour to the Secretary directing me to await his the Governor’s return and I did so.

“In the matter of the Patrol boat Keewatin and the Public Accounts Committee of the Parliament of Canada.

“I Joseph Victor Begin Inspector in the North West Mounted Police, do solemnly declare that I have read the newspaper reports of the evidence given before the Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons by James Stewart of Winnipeg, in which he made a false statement, which I desire to correct. In June 1889 in consequence of a joint request from the Lieutenant Governor of the North West Territories and the Governor of Keewatin—Grand Rapids being on the Western side of the border between the two territories—I was sent by the Commissioner of the North West Mounted Police to Winnipeg to make arrangements with the Lieutenant Governor of the District of Kewaytin regarding the establishment of a detachment of police at Grand Rapids. I therefore reported at Government House Winnipeg and received instructions to proceed to Grand Rapids by the first steamer from Selkirk. Disappointed on getting out on the steamer I requested the use of the boat Keewatin which His Honour the Lieutenant Governor granted, and he placed the boat and crew under my command. A few days after the boat was ready I was informed by His Honour Lieut Governor Schultz that James Stewart was engaged as Sailing Master and Joseph Monkman as guide. Their instructions were to take me with my men and baggage and provisions to Grand Rapids and to return to Selkirk. The day previous to our departure His Honour requested me and Stewart to have a trial of the boat, after which Stewart was to give a certificate and I was to give my opinion, so that he could pay the builder Matthew Watts. I ordered some of the provisions and the stores of the detachment to be put on board as ballast. We had a sail in the river, there was a nice breeze at the time. While cruising a little in the river, I took Stewart ashore with me to have a look at the boat when she was sailing for the purpose of judging the rigging, Stewart and I came to the conclusion that her rigging and sails were good and she tacked well with the foresail only. I approved of the boat, an approval fully concurred in by Stewart. And I then reported in writing to His Honour that the boat was fit for the duties intended. I left Selkirk on the 15th of June. After two or three days sailing I found that the sailing master James Stewart knew nothing about the Lake and but little navigation. Joseph Monkman was a competent guide on the shore line—old route of the Hudson's Bay boats. I lost confidence entirely in Stewart, and did not depend much on him. I relied more on my own policemen and myself. I having had an experience of seven years in navigation, four years of which time I was captain of a steamer on the St. Lawrence plying between Father Point and Montreal. We followed the west shore as far as Cats Head—there being a wide traverse here I asked a sailing master if he knew the steamboat course, he said he had a steamboat course given him at Selkirk. I told him then it would better to go straight from island to island as I was more afraid of the rock near shore than of the open sea. I had confidence in the boat, but was unacquainted with the lake, when we came to the last island he did not know its name. I looked at the maps and found it was Reindeer Island. He agreed with me it must be Reindeer. Seeing the open sea ahead, and calculating the distance, I asked the sailing master if he knew the course to strike Long Point. He said he had been told the course was north west. We agreed to take that course and left with fair wind. At about 8 o'clock in the morning the wind freshened and we lost sight of land. As Monkman thought we were going too far north we steered more westerly and we struck a little west of the point. The course given him at Selkirk was right. The wind had increased and the sea was very heavy. I never saw since on the lake a heavier sea. Seeing that Stewart could not steer it properly in a heavy sea, I told him he was unfit to steer a boat and I put Corporal Morphy to steer under my direction. Stewart, although not liking my decision, seemed relieved that Morphy was placed at the helm. We reached the Point at 2 p.m. We stayed there in the sea all afternoon. Although myself and men were only passengers, we were left on the boat and virtually managed her while Stewart and Monkman, who were supposed to have charge, slept on shore. That night before going to sleep I gave the order that as we were in a bad place, if the wind shifted, that every man should sleep aboard that night. I heard one of my men ask Stewart if all hands were to sleep on board that night and Stewart replied "that is the order." 10 and 11 o'clock, I think, the wind changing, coming from the north, woke me up, I called everybody, Stewart being fast asleep, and asked him what was to be done. I saw he was so nervous and excited he did not appear to be able to do anything. He replied he did not know. I said, "What are you going to do we cannot stay here." He did not answer. I said, "I see you do not know what to do, I will take command of the boat and I will be responsible for her." I gave orders to take up the anchor and make sail and told the men we must go around the point and again get in the sea, and as these were doubtless far out from shore I was afraid to keep close and said we must keep well out to keep free of them. As it was very dark I directed Corporal Morphy to go to the bow with a field glass and keep watch for boulders. I directed Stewart to steer as I told him, I was in the centre to be able to hear both of them. As the wind was blowing heavily, about two hours were consumed in rounding the point and getting into safety. We staid over the next day. On the second day, I think, the wind looked like changing again. I ordered a watch to be kept that night, detailing the sailing master to make the first watch up to midnight with Monkman, then to wake up Corporal Morphy who would, with the other men, keep the succeeding watches. I was awakened by the wind half an hour after midnight, looking at the time and found it was half an hour after Corporal Morphy should have been on watch. I called him and asked him for an explanation why he was not on watch? He answered: "I was not called." I asked him: "Did not the sailing master wake you up?" he said: "No Sir." I then called Stewart, who was fast asleep, and asked him why he did not awake Corporal Morphy at midnight, he said "He did not think it was necessary as at that time it was fine." I then censured him and told him to feel the wind and in such a bad place, he was very nervous and excited. I told him again he was incapable and I would take the boat into a safe place. Corporal Morphy and myself took the boat clear of the rocks and then sailed into a deep bay where we found a small harbour. After the wind abated we sailed with good breeze to Grand Rapids where, not thinking Stewart able to take the boat back to Selkirk, I told the sailing master to look for a man, and he found one willing to go and I had him go. On my arrival at Grand Rapids I found several Hudson's Bay officers with their families and servants waiting for the steamer. I had a permit given to me by the Lieutenant Governor of the North-West Territories for two gallons of spirits. But I did not have that amount with me. I gave a little to my friends of the Hudson's Bay Company, but not enough to intoxicate them, being saving of it for cold weather and sickness. I saw no one drunk or even slightly under the influence of liquor. There was no liquor there as the Hudson's Bay parties were coming from the interior. I never knew Stewart had a permit to have any or had liquor on board. I herewith append a list showing the permits granted and in force at that time for the district of Kewattin. The next day or the day after, the patrol boat "Keewatin" left for Selkirk with the extra men on board and my connection with Stewart ceased. No information was given to me of any intoxication at Grand Rapids at the time or since, nor have I heard he reported it to the Lieutenant Governor on his return to Winnipeg. There was no intoxication and no "orgie."

"And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the Act respecting extra judicial oaths.

By Mr. Lister:

919. What position do you occupy in the Mounted Police?—Inspector.

920. And you were one of the gentlemen who went on the celebrated yacht "Keewatin"—Yes, sir.

921. On that trip Mr. Stewart was Captain of the vessel?—Well, he was not Captain.

922. Well, sailing master?—That is a difference.

923. Were you in charge of the Mounted Policemen?—Yes, I was.

924. How many of you were there altogether?—I had three men with me.

925. There would be four belonging to the Mounted Police, including yourself?—Yes.

926. Will you tell us, whether on that trip you supplied your own provisions?
—I supplied my own provisions.

927. You bought them as Captain of the force, I suppose?—Yes, I bought them. I had a requisition in the usual way.

928. You had a requisition to get them in the usual way?—Yes, I bought them.

929. In other words Lieutenant-Governor Schultz had nothing to do with the purchase of them?—Not for those provisions.

930. How much were those provisions?—I don't remember the amount at all.

931. According to the Public Accounts, page C 240, the amount was $84.60. There were provisions for four men for four months, I believe?—Yes; that is about the amount of the rations I think.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR SCHULTZ.—This is a good deal out of order. It has nothing to do with the accounts for the District of Keewatin and is quite improper.

THE CHAIRMAN.—I think that Mr. Lister wants to show that the account previously spoken of and this account for provisions and cooking utensils are the same.

By Mr. Lister :

932. I believe the men belonging to the boat, including Stewart, had their own provisions?—Yes, I think so.

933. And took a little of yours on the way?—Yes, they had a little provision.

934. You had arranged with Dr. Schultz to take passage on this boat. How did you come to go by the "Keewatin"?—That is stated in my affidavit, I explained everything.

935. Just tell us shortly?—I would like to read it.

936. I would rather you would not read it. I just want to see how good your memory is. How is it, you came to go by the "Keewatin"?—My memory is bright and good for that trip.

937. I want to try it?—Well, I was sent by the Commissioner of North-West Mounted Police to Winnipeg to make arrangements with His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the District of Keewatin, for the establishment of a detachment of North-West Mounted Police at Grand Rapids. It was a joint consent with Lieutenant Governor Royal, and as Grand Rapids is in the North-West Territories; it was jointly requested by Lieutenant Governor Royal, and Lieutenant-Governor Schultz that a detachment should be sent there. On my arrival at Government House, Winnipeg—

938. Excuse me one moment. Perhaps we could get on quicker if you would just answer my question? Did you intend going by some other boat?—Yes, I was to go by the steam-boat.

939. You met Dr. Schultz, Lieutenant-Governor?—I reported at Government-House.

940. And he told you he was going to send the "Keewatin" up there and asked you to go by the "Keewatin"?—No.

941. How is it you went by the "Keewatin"?—Oh, well, that is because the steamer was not starting for eight or ten days. I missed the first boat.

942. So the arrangement was made when you got to Winnipeg that you should go by the "Keewatin"?—After I explained to His Honour that the boat would not start for eight or ten days, something like that, he offered me his boat. I knew he had a boat, and I was very pleased to take it.

943. Had you a small boat of your own?—Yes.

944. What was it?—A nice little skiff.

945. Was it a canoe?—No a skiff, one of those fancy skiffs.

By the Chairman :

946. Do you take it with you?—I took it with me.

By Mr. Lister :

947. Do you know anything about the "Keewatin" going to sea again that season?—After that?

948. Yes?—Yes, I know something about it.

949. How long after?—On the 23rd August. On my arrival from Grand Rapids I met His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Schultz going to Captain Robinson's store. He asked me to go with him, he was going to purchase some provisions. I went with him there. We spoke about the voyage and he asked me different things. He asked my advice on some of the provisions.

950. He asked your advice about some of the provisions?—About some of their provisions—the good provisions to be bought for the trip, for camping—and he bought the provisions.

951. How much did they amount to?—I don't know anything about it.

952. Did you go out with him?—After that the boat was lying in front of Matthew Watts' the builder,—in front of his shop,—and His Honour asked me, as he had only one man to help him, to help him to take the boat to the landing, for the purpose of taking the provisions. I helped him there, and from there I went down with him about 23 miles on board the boat and came back to Selkirk.

953. What account have you attached to your affidavit?—Those are the lists of the permits that the Lieutenant Governor gives to a person who has got liquor.

954. Were those permits given to you?—Given to me by His Honour before my departure to Grand Rapids.

955. Did you have any lists on board?—They were as instructions. I would know by those lists everybody in the district who was allowed to have liquor.

956. You went up for the purpose of suppressing the liquor traffic?—Certainly.

957. Did Lieutenant Governor Royal give you those?—Those lists were given by the Lieutenant Governor of Keewatin District, not Lieutenant Governor Royal.

958. Lieutenant Governor Schultz gave you those lists?—Yes.

959. And they were for the purpose of informing you as to what parties were entitled to have liquor in their possession?—Yes.

960. You had none with you on the boat?—I had a permit from His Honour the Lieutenant Governor of the North-West for two gallons. I had not quite two gallons on board.

961. I suppose you got the two gallons in the first place?—I don't think so.

962. They cheated you?—No; but I had an eye on all these things. I had not the two gallons.

By Mr. Somerville :

963. What kind of liquor was it?—I had a permit for liquor.

964. What kind did you have on the boat?—That means spirits?

965. What kind?—A little of all kinds.

966. What was it?

Mr. FOSTER objected.

967. I want to know what kind of liquor you had on this boat?

Mr. FOSTER—I think this affair regards more the North-West Territories.

968. What kind of liquor had you?—I do not remember. I know I had some curaçoa. I had some other things, but I remember that.

969. A previous witness swore when you reached Grand Rapids, where you had been sent to put down the illicit traffic in liquor, that you got on a spree. Did you?—No; certainly not. Neither. I nor any people there.

970. You did not drink any of the liquor?—I drank some. I had the right to do it. I have told you what I have done.

971. You did drink some of it?—Yes.

972. Did you and your men get on a spree?—My men did not touch that much (snapping his fingers).

973. How much of these two gallons was left next morning?

The CHAIRMAN ruled the question out of order.

974. How long did the two gallons last?

The CHAIRMAN ruled the question out of order.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

975. You found me on the 23rd August purchasing provisions at Captain Robinson's store for that trip of mine on the "Keewatin"?—Yes.

976. That is so?—Yes.

977. Did you see these provisions come on board in several boxes and other lots?—Yes.

978. Did you go down with me on that boat for two or three miles, provisions and all?—Yes.

979. You are quite sure that I did start from Selkirk on the 23rd, and I took these provisions, for which there is a receipt attached to the papers before this Committee, on this boat?—I say that.

By Mr. McMullen :

980. Do you know that he went to Keewatin?—Yes; because I went with him in the boat.

981. The whole of the road?—No; two or three miles.

982. Did he go to Grand Rapids?—This was on my return from Grand Rapids.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

983. This is the receipt. Is that Captain Robinson's handwriting?—Yes.

984. He says "Received from Lieutenant Governor Schultz $33 for provisions and other supplies put on the sailing boat 'Keewatin.' Is that Captain Robinson's receipt?—This certainty is his handwriting.

985. I desire to put in this declaration :

"In the matter of the investigation before the Honourable the Committee on Public Accounts into certain charges made by James Stewart in connection with expenditures made for the District of Keewatin:—

"I, Joseph Victor Bégin, an Inspector of the North-West Mounted Police, of the North-West Territories, do solemnly declare that in the year 1889 I arrived at Selkirk from the Grand Rapids by steamer on the 23rd day of August, and that I learned that Lieutenant Governor Schultz was just starting out on the patrol boat 'Keewatin' to Lake Winnipeg, and I found him purchasing provisions at the store of Captain Robinson. He took my advice as to the proper selection of them, and asked me to be good enough to assist him from where the boat was lying in front of Matthew Watts' workshop, she having been under repairs there, down to the lower landing, where the provisions were to be taken on board. I did this, and at the lower landing the provisions in several boxes were put on board. Finding the Governor anxious to proceed, and as he was assisting in pulling the boat himself, I volunteered to assist him, and did assist him to his first camping place, a couple of miles below, returning on foot to Selkirk, he having ordered me to report to his Secretary at Government House, Winnipeg. I reached Winnipeg on the following morning and reported to his Secretary as ordered. The Secretary showed me a telegram from His Honour the Lieutenant Governor directing me to remain in Winnipeg till his return from Lake Winnipeg. This I did.

"And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true and by virtue of the "Act respecting Extra-Judicial Oaths."

986. Is that your signature?—Yes.
 987. And that is your statement?—Yes.
 988. Is that a correct statement?—Yes.

By Mr. McMullen :

989. Will you swear that the Lieutenant Governor went to Grand Rapids on that occasion?—No; certainly not.
 990. He may have been on a pleasure tour for all you know?—I do not know what the purpose was.

By Mr. Foster :

991. You went on the trip north to Grand Rapids?—Yes.
 992. With Mr. Stewart as sailing master?—Yes.
 993. You know the conduct of the vessel, and how she behaved, and how she was managed?—Yes.
 994. What is your opinion of the seamanlike qualities of Mr. Stewart as sailing master of that boat?—That he did not know anything about Lake Winnipeg.
 995. In your affidavit have you made that statement?—Yes; I put it in my affidavit. As a sailing master he may have known something in his young days, but he was a very poor sailing master there. He was so nervous and excited in his temperament that—
 996. Did you state that to Mr. Stewart?—Yes.
 997. Did you inform any other person of that?—Yes; certainly—
 998. Whom?—I reported to Lieutenant Governor Schultz on my arrival from the lake.

By Mr. Somerville :

999. Had you navigated Lake Winnipeg previous to this trip?—No.
 1000. What did you know about this lake?—I did not say that I knew the lake.
 1001. How, then, can you state on your oath that this man did not know anything about navigation?—I know something of navigation. I have been captain of steamers from Father Point.
 1002. Will you swear you never navigated the lake before?—No; not that lake. I was depending entirely upon the sailing master. I was a passenger on board, but after that I was very sorry I ever put my foot on board the boat with a man like James Stewart as sailing master.
 1003. You admit you never navigated the lake, and yet you condemn the doings of another man?—It is very easy to know if a man does his duty or not without being a sailor.
 1004. You have been accustomed to navigate the prairie, I believe?—That is another thing.
 1005. Instead of the lakes?—I am in the North-West Mounted Police.
 1006. Did you ever lose yourself on the prairie within a few miles of the station? Question objected to.

By Mr. McGregor :

1007. Monkman, who was with you, was a good sailor?—He was a good guide—he was engaged as guide.
 1008. He was a good hand on the boat, was he not?—He was a good hand, but he was a little old.

By Mr. Somerville :

1009. This boat was brought safely to Selkirk, was it not, by Mr. Stewart?—Yes; he did.
 1010. Was the boat ever known to be brought back safely from any trip in any body's else's hands than Mr. Stewart's?—He made only one trip. He went to Grand Rapids, stayed there two or three days, and went back. If you refer to the accident last summer, the boat crossed the lake perhaps ten or fifteen times.

1011. I want you to answer this question. Captain Stewart was the only man who brought that boat safely back to Selkirk, to your knowledge? You are aware that Captain Stewart did bring the boat back?—Yes.

1012. Are you aware that this boat never was brought back safely in anybody else's hands than Mr. Stewart's?—I just brought the boat back on the last of this month to Selkirk.

1013. Is it not a fact that lives were lost the next year, after Captain Stewart brought it back, and is it not a fact that the boat was upset the next year again?—That was the boat that was upset last year.

1014. Then Captain Stewart must have been a good navigator, if he could sail a boat like that and bring her back safely?—I wish you had been there yourself on board the boat that trip.

By Lieutenant Governor Schultz :

1015. Was the Keewatin wrecked in a storm, or did she strike an unknown shoal, and in consequence of that the men lost their lives?—They tried in the evening before the dark to reach the harbour, and they could not go into the harbour because it was getting too dark, and they then struck a shoal.

By Mr. Lister :

1016. Were you there?—No.

By Mr. Bergeron :

1017. How many times did this occur?—I don't know. I was in her often and I never upset. It is three years now that I have been in this command in the District of Keewatin, on Lake Winnipeg, and I have been on board every year and never had the least little accident.

By Mr. Taylor :

1018. Did you consider her a good, safe sailing boat?—I considered that trip I made to Grand Rapids, the sea was so heavy I never saw it more heavy on Lake Winnipeg since, and I considered her a good boat; she behaved splendidly.

By the Chairman :

1019. What experience had you in navigation previous to going up to the North-West?—I went from Quebec and I used to be navigating there, from Father Point to Montreal, and I was four years captain on board a steamer.

The Committee then proceeded to other business.

By Mr. Skinner :

1020. Where do you reside?—In Winnipeg.

1021. What is your business?—I am a bailiff.

1022. Do you know Lieutenant Governor Schultz?—I do, sir.

1023. Will you look at these items here under the heading "Government Keewatin" more especially under those of heading "expenses of trip to the north"?—I do not know anything about them.

1024. Have you any knowledge at all concerning any of these items under that heading?—I do not think I know anything except as regard one. The use of smaller boat for shallow water.

1025. What knowledge have you of that item?—I sold the Governor the boat and sailed upon the trip.

1026. At what date did you make the sale of the smaller boat for shallow water?—I think it would be along about the 16th or 17th of July.

1027. What year?—1889.

1028. What was the bargain?—$50 for the boat and $25 for extra work done.

1029. You sold the boat for $50 and then did the work on her for $25, making the entire thing $75?—Yes.

1030. What was your connection with the boat for shallow water?—I then made an engagement to make a trip on her.

1031. From where to where?—From Selkirk round to Bullshead and back. I wanted to go to the Saskatchewan river, but we did not get there.

1032. Where did you take it from?—Lake Winnipeg.

1033. How much pay were you to have for doing this?—I was to have $2.50 from the day I left to the day I returned, and made my report to the Governor.

1034. What did your bill come to for your wages?—I think if my memory serves me right it was $52.50.

1035. That ended your connection with the matter, did it?—That ended my connection.

1036. You sold the boat with repairs for $75 and then you did services for $52?—Yes.

1037. That was your entire connection with her?—Yes.

1038. Was this the same boat that $152 is charged for the use of?—I cannot tell.

1039. Do you know whether it is the same boat that you sold to the Governor?—The boat for shallow water is the boat I sold to the Government.

1040. So far as you know this boat for shallow water is the same boat that you sold to the Governor?—Yes.

1041. This item "use of smaller boat for shallow water" refers to the boat you sold?—As far as I know it was the same boat that I went on this voyage in.

1042. It was the shallow water boat that you made the voyage on?—Yes.

1043. Did you know of any other voyage being made on this boat for shallow water except this one?—No.

1044. The Keewatin made a trip earlier in the season?—Yes.

1045. The trip in the boat for shallow water was made later?—Yes. I can tell you the date that we left and the date that we returned. It was Thursday the 25th July that we left Selkirk, and I returned and reported to the Governor on Tuesday the 6th August. I think I called on him on the 5th and he was busy and told me to call again, so I called again on the 6th.

1046. That was the 6th of August?—Yes. My instructions were to report as soon as I returned.

1047. Who accompanied you on this trip?—Joseph Monkman.

1048. Do you know what Monkman's wages were?—I think Monkman told me they were $28.

1049. What other expenses were incurred by you?—There were the provisions.

1050. Who found the provisions?—The Lieutenant-Governor.

1051. I suppose they were put on the boat and you did not have anything to do with them?—Yes, I did.

1052. With the purchasing of them, you did not pay for them?—I paid for them in the first place.

1053. And were repaid again?—Yes.

1054. How much is that pay about?—$6 or $8.

1055. Were these all the expenses of the trip, that is your wages, Monkman's wages and the $6 or $8 for provisions?—Yes, except that there was a loss of canvas and we lost a rudder and we had to pay for replacing those.

1056. How much did you give for them?—$6 more.

1057. Does this cover the whole expenses of the trip?—Yes.

1058. Is this included in the $52 that have been already referred to?—Yes.

1059. Now, let us recapitulate so that we may have a clear understanding on the matter. You say that your bill was $50, and Monkman's bill was $28?—I had nothing to do with that.

1060. I know that, but I am speaking of the whole of the trip. Then there was a bill of $6 or $8 for provisions? Was that included in the $52?—Yes. That was included in the $52. The whole of the items I have enumerated I have included in that.

1061. So that your whole bill for $52, covered the provisions, the wages, towing and repairs. In fact everything with the exception of Monkman's wages?—Yes.

1062. And your bill was for $52.50 and Monkman's $28, and this covered the whole of the expenses?—Yes, if I am right.

1063. Did you go, during that trip, out beyond the confines of Manitoba?—No.

1064. This trip was all in Manitoba?—Yes.

1065. Here is a bill produced by Lieutenant-Governor Schultz, does that bear your signature?—Yes.

Mr. MULOCK asked that Lieutenant-Governor Schultz be called.

His Honour at first objected on the ground that the Committee had decided that he should not be called until the charge had been made out, but afterwards waived his objection and was sworn.

By Mr. Mulock :

1069. When did you enter upon your duty as Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and Keewatin?—First of July, 1888.

1070. And you built for the Dominion Government the sailing vessel “Keewatin?”—I did not.

1071. Well, who built her?—Matthew Watts.

1072. I did not suppose you thought I would put you down as the builder of the boat. You got Matthew Watts to build her, did you?—I made a contract with Matthew Watts to build her.

1073. And how much did you pay Matthew Watts?—$300.

1074. What did that $300 include?—It included a boat such as the ordinary fishing boats on Lake Winnipeg.

1075. Did it include the rigging and sails?—It included the ordinary fishing boats on Lake Winnipeg.

1076. I am not aware what the ordinary fishing boats on Lake Winnipeg include; therefore, I wish to know whether the contract of $300 entitled the Government to the whole of a boat with the rigging and sails or what?—To two masts and two sails.

1077. A foresail and mainsail, I suppose—Yes.

1078. Anything more besides the hull?—The hull and the two sails.

1079. And a jib as well?—No.

1080. Topsails?—What do you mean by topsails?

1081. Those sails that you nailed to the gaff?—The yard, you said the other day.

1082. Well the yard, have it as you wish?—There were no sails nailed to the yard.

1083. There were topsails above the mainsails, were there not?—There were no topsails.

1084. Was there any sail above the yard?—There were no yards to the boat.

1085. How was the mainsail hoisted and held in position?—By the halyards, and held in position by the sheet.

1086. No sheet would hold them in position. There must be something to hold the peak out?—I understand you to ask, was the sail hoisted, and how it was held in position. My answer to that is, it was hoisted by the halyards and held in position by the sheet.

1087. That would not hold the peak out. We generally have a gaff for a vessel of that size?—I have nothing to do with your opinion, sir.

1088. Well, were there topsails or not?—There were no topsails.

1089. There were no topsails included in the original contract nor subsequently purchased?—Yes.

1090. The “Keewatin” made a trip to Grand Rapids?—Yes.

1091. Who were on board of that vessel in the pay of the Government?—James Stewart, sailing master, and Joseph Monkman.

1092. When did James Stewart's wages begin?—James Stewart's wages began two months before 15th July, 1889.

1093. What day did his pay begin?—15th May, 1889.

1094. What day did the vessel sail?—The vessel sailed several weeks later.

1095. Do you know the date of her sailing?—I could tell you if it was important.

1096. And you say his engagement began on the 15th of May?—Yes.

1097. You speak from recollection, do you?—He was paid for two months, I was informed by my secretary.

1098. You know on what day the vessel sailed?—I believe she sailed nearly a month after his engagement.

1099. Mr. Stewart tells me that she sailed on the 15th of June?—That seems to be corroborative.

1100. You don't question the accuracy of that date?—I do not remember. I was not there when she sailed, but I infer that from Stewart's certificate, put in here, as to the character of the boat.

1101. What were the men doing for a month before sailing?—Waiting for the completion of the boat.

1102. And you hired them a month before it was necessary for them to sail?—That is a question?

1103. You can consider that a question?—The answer to that is yes, because under the contract the boat was to be completed on the 10th day of May, and I wished her to go out at once.

1104. And she did not leave until the 15th of June?—Yes.

1105. Did you go to see how near she was to completion before you engaged the men?—I did not.

1106. Was Mr. Stewart, during that time, engaged in any work for you?—He has stated in his own evidence that he went down several times to see about the building of the boat.

1107. I am speaking about you personally. During that period that he was engaged, he has sworn he did some gardening for you, ploughing and preparing ground for potatoes, and planting potatoes, is that true or not?—Mr. Stewart never ploughed any ground for me, he never planted any potatoes for me, he never did any other services for me, from the 15th May to 15th June, excepting in connection with this boat.

1108. Did he at any time that spring, plant any potatoes for you or do any personal service for you?—Mr. Stewart, to my knowledge never planted a potatoe for me in my life.

1109. Was Mr. Stewart in your employment at all except for the Government of Canada?—At what time?

1110. In 1889?—He was not.

1111. During 1889, did he render any service for you personally?—I do not think he did.

1112. Mr. Stewart has sworn that his engagement for the "Keewatin" began the 1st of June, 1889, and terminated on the 15th day of July thereafter. Is that correct?—I swear positively that his engagement began on the 15th day of May, because I expected the boat to be completed then.

1113. Have you got the receipt for the wages paid to him?—No. I have not.

1114. How much did you pay him?—I paid him $85 by cheques, and my secretary paid him $15 in cash.

1115. What was the rate per month?—$50 per month, Stewart to board himself.

1116. Then you would owe him $100 for wages?—Yes.

1117. What wages did Monkman receive?—$40 a month, he to board himself.

1118. That is the way you make up the $180?—Yes.

1119. So that you would have to pay Mr. Stewart $100 for the time you said he was engaged?—Yes.

1120. What receipts have you to show you paid him that $100?—I have Mr. Stewart's cheques to persons he authorized to receive that $85, and the sworn statement of my secretary, Mr. Bown, that he paid him $15 in cash.

1121. I am asking you for the receipt signed by Stewart?—I appeal to this committee to say whether I have not answered every question as put by one gentleman to another.

1122. Answer the question please? You are the witness now. I wish you to produce any documents or vouchers you have of Stewart's showing that you have paid him the $100?—When Mr. Stewart was giving evidence before this Committee I had the cheques for $85.

1123. Are they here?—I will answer your question. I have been a member of this Committee for 13 years before this. I know exactly what a witness should do, and knowing it I will reply to your questions in my own way.

1124. I ask you have you got any receipts or vouchers signed by Stewart for this $100?—I have not finished yet. I had these cheques before this Committee. I showed them to Mr. Stewart and asked him to acknowledge his signature on the back of the first of those cheques. He would not acknowledge his signature, and I then sent the cheques up to Winnipeg to obtain testimony that the signatures were his; that they were paid by the bank, and to the person whose name was on the face of them.

1125. What I am asking you now is; have you got any vouchers in your possession signed by Mr. Stewart for this $100? If so, will you please produce them before this Committee?—I have not got them, they are now in Winnipeg.

By the Chairman :

1126. When did you send them there?—I sent them the day Mr. Stewart refused to acknowledge his signature.

By Mr. Skinner :

1127. You should have had counsel on that matter. It was an absurd thing to send them away without first obtaining advice on the point?—Well, then, I ask that the banker in the bank, on which the cheques were drawn, be summoned here.

By the Chairman :

1128. These cheques are coming back, I understand?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Mulock :

1129. How long was Mr. Monkman employed?—Two months.

1130. In the same time that Mr. Stewart was employed?—Yes.

1131. His engagement began and ended at the same time, did it?—Yes.

1132. Were there any other persons engaged under pay on that trip either going or returning?—No.

1133. You are quite sure about that. As far as I know. Captain Begin finding Stewart unfit to bring the boat back from Selkirk to Grand Rapids employed a man there to assist in bringing her back to Selkirk.

1134. Who was that man?—His name was McLellan, I think.

1135. McLellan was employed on the boat to come back in her from Grand Rapids to Selkirk?—Because Mr. Stewart was unable, in the opinion of Captain Begin, to bring her back.

1136. That is Captain Begin's explanation?—Yes.

1137. How much did you pay McLellan?—I paid him nothing. I never saw him afterwards.

1138. No charge was made for his services.—There was no charge for his services.

1139. You do not claim that any money was paid for this man?—No.

1140. You do not include his wages in any of your accounts?—No.

1141. In your accounts here there is an item, "Tarpaulins, sails, &c., $38." Will you explain that item please?—That account is explained by this receipt attached to the papers now before this Committee. You have the original here. It reads, "received from Hon. John Schultz $98 for making tarpaulins, over head tent for protection of crew, increasing size of sails, blocks and tackle," it is signed by Matthew Watts.

1142. What were the sails included in that account?—One jib.

1143. What sails?—That is all.

1144. Only one jib; is that the only sail?—Yes.

1145. Mr. Watts is dead, I believe?—Yes.

1146. He died from having been wrecked on this boat?—He died from exposure.

1147. The result of a wreck?—Yes. I wish to add to that answer that he was not dead when he signed that receipt.

1148. You depend upon the receipt of $68 for the repairs to the "Keewatin"?—That is explained by this receipt, dated 20th August, 1889: "Received from Hon. John Schultz $68 for hauling out and repairing boat 'Keewatin,' mending sails, &c.—Matthew Watts."

1149. These were for repairs to the "Keewatin"?—Yes.

1150. When were these services rendered?—Towards the latter part of August.

1151. I see in the account here an item "Use of smaller boat for shallow water, $102." Would you explain that item, please? Where was that smaller boat used?—I have a right to answer your first question.

1152. I am sorry I checked you then. Answer the question?—That is explained by a receipt for $102: "Received from Hon. John Schultz $102 for caulking, towing to Selkirk, painting and strengthening light draught boat 'Grand Marais.'—Matthew Watts."

1153. What boat was that?—It was the light draft boat mentioned in the account.

1154. Where did it come from?—I bought it.

1155. Where from?—From Mr. David McGregor.

1156. What was that boat known as?—As the "Grand Marais."

1156½. For whom was it purchased; for you personally or the Government?—It was purchased for use on that trip.

1157. Was it purchased for you personally or the Government?—It was purchased for use on that trip.

1158. Who owned the boat after the purchase?—The Dominion Government, after the repairs were put on her.

1159. Was it purchased by you for the Government or for yourself personally?—It was purchased for the service of that trip.

1160. When you purchased it, did it from the moment you purchased it, become your property or the Government's?—I purchased it in a hurry to send the men off.

1161. Did it become your property or the Government's?—It became the property of the Government after the repairs were put on it.

1162. I am speaking of the purchase?—That is your answer.

1163. I want to know whether, when you purchased that boat it became yours or the Government's?—When the boat was purchased it was placed at the disposal of the Government.

1164. When the boat was purchased, whose property did it become—yours personally or the Government's?—It was purchased by me for the service of that trip.

1165. I would like an answer?—I respectfully submit that the answers have been a great deal more intelligible than the questions.

1166. I want to know whether it was purchased for the Government or yourself?—The boat was purchased for the purpose I have mentioned.

1167. I am not asking about the purchase, but who became the owner?—I signed the cheque to David McGregor.

1168. Was it yours personally or the Government's?—It did not become the property of the Government until the repairs were put upon it.

1169. It was yours at the time you purchased it?—Yes.

1170. How long did it continue to be yours?—Until it was sent out on this expedition and the repairs were put on her.

1171. What date was that?—Give me Mr. Cornish's evidence?
1172. Will you take his date?—Yes.
1173. It became the property of the Government when it sailed under Mr. Cornish on this expedition?—Yes.
1174. Until that time it was yours?—Yes.
1175. Personally?—I purchased it, and paid for it. I did not charge the Government for the purchase money.
1176. You make no charge to the Government for the purchase money?—No.
1177. Have you any claim against the Government for the purchase money?—I have not.
1178. So it is the Government's now?—Yes.
1179. So it continued the Government's from the 17th July, 1889, until the present time?—If that is the date.
1180. That is the date Mr. Cornish gives as the date of sailing?—I think Mr. Cornish's evidence is wrong. It was about that time.
1181. At all events, it was from that date until she sailed on the trip to Bull's Head in July—on the trip that Mr. Cornish has referred to—she was the property of yourself, and then she became and ever since has continued to be the property of the Dominion Government?—You are putting my statement incorrectly.
1182. Then correct me?—I have stated that it was my property until the first expenditure by the Government of $25 was put upon her, and then she was the property of the Government.
1183. We will accept the correction. She continued your property from the day you purchased her until the first expenditure of $25 upon her?—Yes.
1184. Then she became the property of the Government?—Yes.
1185. When was that expenditure of $25 put upon her?—That expenditure of $25 was on the 23rd July when the cheque was given. The services for that cheque were a few days before that.
1186. Will you let me see those vouchers—is this the cheque you refer to?—Yes.
1187. You now produce a cheque for $25 bearing date 23rd July, 1889, drawn and signed by John Schultz. That is your name, your signature, I believe. It is payable to the order of John Cornish and endorsed by John Cornish?—Yes.
1188. Now what was this $25 for?—Painting and repairing the boat as per agreement.
1189. That is for painting and repairing the "Grand Marais"?—Yes.
1190. And the cheque that you now produce is the correct amount for what you paid for, the painting and repair of the boat?—Yes.
1191. Then you assume it to be given on the 23rd July and it is for the $25?—Yes.
1192. How else do you make up the $102? Is the $25 part of the $102, or is it part of anything that appears in the Auditor General's Report?—Yes. It is part of the items, wages of two men in the smaller boat.
1193. I ask you if that $25 is part of any of the items in the Auditor General's Report?—It is part of the item of $106, wages of two men in the smaller boat.
1194. Who were the two men in the smaller boat?—Joseph Monkman and John Cornish.
1195. Is this the same cheque you handed in before?—Yes.
1196. A moment ago you handed me this cheque, and said it was paid to John Cornish for repairs on the boat? Is that correct?—Yes.
1197. Then you called, wages of the two men, while they were on land preparing the boat?—Yes, Mr. Cornish charged for repairing the boat.
1198. This then was not for services for navigating the boat, but for doing the work on the boat?—Yes.
1199. You say that the two men on the "Grand Marais" were Monkman and Cornish?—Yes.

1200. When did their period of service begin?—Mr. Cornish has correctly stated it.

1201. Were there any other men on the boat besides these two?—No.

1202. Where did they take the "Grand Marais" on this trip?—They started from Saskatchewan River, but they only succeeded in getting as far as Bull's Head, where they lost their sails and had to come back.

1203. They went out to inspect the fisheries, did they not?—Not altogether.

1204. Do you know which Saskatchewan River they started for?—They started for the Saskatchewan River.

1205. But which of them?—They were to reach the larger Saskatchewan, if they could.

1206. That is in Keewatin?—Yes.

1207. There was nothing about the smaller river?—There was nothing about the smaller.

1208. How much were you to pay these men for their services during the time they were engaged?—$2.50 a day to Cornish. I forget what Monkman was to receive, but I think he received $28.

1209. That is all you paid him?—Yes.

1210. And he was with you two months?—You seem to be somewhat confused with these payments to Monkman. Monkman's connection with the "Keewatin" ended with the 15th of July, and then the other trip was undertaken. You will not trap me into confusing these two things.

1211. I have no desire to trap you into anything. Then the $25 is for repairs to the boat?—It is for painting and repairing the boat.

1212. When was this done?—Part of them were done after they were started, and part of them before they were started.

1213. Did you hear Mr. Cornish's statement as to the amount of the money you paid him?—Yes.

1214. What do you say to that?—It agrees with this exactly.

1215. How do you make it out?—$77 to Cornish altogether, $28 to Monkman, and $1 in a railway account.

1216. You say you used this boat, I understand, for your own private purposes?—I was never out with the boat in my life.

1217. I am told that you had it for going out shooting?—Whoever told you that, told you what is not true.

1218. Did you report to the Government that you had bought the boat and had had the repairs done in their name?—I reported to the Government that I found it necessary to get a small boat.

1219. Did you make known to the Government that you had purchased the boat in their name and that you were expending public money on it?—I do not report these details to the Government.

1220. You are above reporting these details to the Government?—I do not say that. What I say is, that I do not report these petty details in general.

1221. You do not report when you buy a boat?—I would inform the Government in my usual reports that I had employed a boat for a certain purpose, and that the necessity for this boat had created an expense of $102.

1222. Do you know of Dr. Bown ever having gone out shooting in this boat?—No; Dr. Bown never went out shooting in the boat.

1223. Did you ever tell Mr. Cornish that Dr. Bown had gone out shooting in this boat?—I never did.

1224. Did you ever say that he went out for the purpose of shooting; perhaps you may take shelter under the shooting. He may not have shot anything?—I take no shelter whatever and no inferences.

1225. Did you ever tell Cornish that Dr. Bown had ever gone out in the boat?—Not in connection with the shooting, but I told him that he had gone out in the boat.

1226. Where is that boat now?—The boat lies at Pegwith's.

1227. Engaged in any service there?—She is waiting to be employed, if necessary.

1228. Here is a receipt dated August, 1889, for $102, signed Matthew Watts, for painting and other expenses incurred in connection with the boat "Grand Marais." Is that correct?—That was the $102 expended on the "Grand Marais."

1229. The next item, $106, was expended, most of it in repairs and in fitting out the boat?—No; that is not true.

1230. How much was paid for services and how much for repairs?—There is $28 for Monkman. What is the amount?

1231. The $106, and whatever was paid to Cornish as well, and repairs, these were public moneys expended on this boat?—Well, $106, and $102, yes.

1232. The $106 was expended on a boat belonging to the Dominion Government, and which you bought without the knowledge of the Government?—Yes.

1233. Therefore without their authority?—Yes.

1234. And the purchase of which you have never reported to the Government?—Yes, I have.

1235. And the boat is now lying on the bank of the river?—The Red River, at Pegwith's.

1236. Will you give me the dates, please, of the item: "Provisions and cooking utensils, $87"?—I wish to add something to the last question. I do it for the better information of the Committee. I am afraid that nearly all the members of the Committee have been confused by the attempt made to fasten this expenditure for a boat and skiff on Captain Begin's skiff, costing $10 or $15, and capable of holding three men. I state here now, that this boat is a boat capable of carrying four tons, and instead of carrying only four men, will carry half the members of this Committee.

1237. The "Grand Marais"?—Yes.

1238. What is her draught of water?—Six inches.

1239. A flat-bottomed boat, what is her draught aft?—Do you want an answer to that question?

1240. Mr. McGregor tells me she does not draw anything aft. Is the total draught six inches when she is equipped, and when a crew are on board?—If you will give me the avoirdupois of the Committee I will tell you.

1241. She is a vessel recognized as having a certain draught. What is her draught?—Six inches, and she has two sails and two masts.

1242. I was asking you to explain the item $87 for provisions and utensils?—I am surprised you should leave such an interesting subject so quickly.

1243. I am glad it affords you so much amusement, Governor. It will be a pleasing episode in connection with your trip here. What boat were those provisions and cooking utensils for?—For the "Keewatin."

1244. That $87 was for the "Keewatin"?—Yes.

1245. On what trip?—On her second trip to Lake Winnipeg in 1889.

1246. At what period?—On the 23rd August.

1247. Was any part of this for the first trip?—No.

1248. Neither the provisions or the cooking utensils?—No.

1249. The whole of that $87 was for the second trip?—Except a chain and pump.

1250. What does that amount to?—Wells' invoice is on file here—put in as evidence here yesterday.

1251. Explain the item $87?—The charge of $68 is explained by two receipts.

1252. Was it $67 or $87? It is $87, I think; I am speaking of the item for provisions and cooking utensils?—That is $87. It is explained by two original receipts here: one from John L. Wells, $36.80, and one from William Robinson, $33.42.

1253. The account dated August 6th, 1887, from J. L. Wells for $36.80, you swear is part of the item of $87 in the Auditor General's Report?—Yes.

1254. And the items mentioned in this account you say were for use on board the "Keewatin"?—Yes, 1255. On a subsequent trip?—No.

1256. On her second trip?—No.

1257. You said on her second trip?—No, I did not. I said the two first items were on the first trip—the chain and the pump.

1258. You say all of this account except the chain and the pump, went on the second trip?—Yes.

1259. What is the charge on the chain and pump?—$6.25 for the chain, $1.00 for express, pump $3.00, rope, etc., $1.27; total $11.52. The chain reached the boat in time for the first trip and went out on her. The pump, Mr. Stewart says in his evidence, did not reach in time. That may be the case. It was sent from Winnipeg.

1260. How do you make up the balance of the $87?—(Witness produces receipt.)

1261. You point me to a receipt from William Robinson, dated August, 1889, as follows:—“Received from Hon. John Schultz, $33.42, for provisions and other supplies put on board the sailing boat “Keewatin”—Those are the provisions that Capt. Begin saw me purchasing; that he saw me put on board.

1262. You swear that you purchased those provisions yourself from William Robinson?—Yes.

1263. In August, 1889?—Yes.

1264. For the second trip on the “Keewatin”?—Yes.

1265. And they were so applied?—They were so applied.

1266. What is the balance of the account?—$16.75. There is a difference of 2 cents in the balance. I cannot prove that.

1267. What trip did the boat make on this occasion?—She started with me.

1268. Who was on board?—I was on board; Matthew Watts was on board; an Icelander was on board; my wife was on board, and a young lady friend.

1269. How long were you out?—We must have been out, I think, about 10 days. I cannot give you the date.

1270. Where did you go?—I started to get as far down Lake Winnipeg as I could. I reached Lake Winnipeg and the sea was very rough. My wife became sea-sick and we went on shore and camped. The weather continued rough and I practically only went a few miles down Lake Winnipeg on that trip.

1271. What do you call a few miles; five or ten?—I call 5 or 6 a few miles.

1272. You went down Lake Winnipeg 5 or 6 miles and came back, and this $87 was for provisions required for that trip?—It was not for provisions.

1273. Well, less the pump and chain?—I want you to state it as it is.

1274. $11.52, I think, was the amount you gave me as paid for the chain and the pump, including express charges, so that it makes about $75 and something?—Yes, it was an expensive trip. For instance, there was a galvanized pail costing 50 cents, which was bought and paid for by the Government. Then there was one covered pail, 30 cents; a wooden pail, 25 cents; half a dozen tin cups at 8 cents apiece, 40 cents; six tin tea-spoons, 15 cents; six tin table spoons, 20 cents; four iron forks, 15 cents. There was also a pot fork, whatever that was, for 40 cents; one granite pot, $1.10, a lid for it, 10 cents; half a dozen knives and forks, 70 cents; one anchor, $8.50. The anchor, Mr. Stewart in his report stated to be necessary. It was paid for and taken on board. It is not amongst the provisions.

1275. This account is not for provisions?—No.

1276. The Robinson account was for provisions, I believe?—Yes.

1277. What became of those chattels?—Which do you want—the tin spoons?

1278. These articles you have mentioned, are they on the “Keewatin” or the “Grand Marais”?—There are a number of items there.

1279. Have they been continued as going with the “Grand Marais” or mixed up with the equipment of the “Keewatin”?—The tin spoons, I think, I put in my safe on my return.

1280. What became of this Government property?—They were put on board the boat “Keewatin.”

1281. Did they go to the bottom when the boat capsized?—The chain broke.

1282. The result of that trip was that you went 6 miles up Lake Winnipeg with your wife and family?—My answer to that is, that I started out with the intention of going as far as I could.

G. E. FULTHORP called sworn, and examined:—

By Mr. Mulock:

1283. What is your business?—An accountant.

1284. Where do you reside?—At Selkirk.

1285. Did you ever reside at Winnipeg?—I did.

1286. When?—For the last fifteen years.

1287. Where were you during the year 1889?—I was in Winnipeg.

1288. Were you in the employ of Lieut.-Gov. Schultz?—Yes.

1289. In the year 1889 in whose employment were you?—In the employment of Lieut.-Gov. Schultz—in the latter part of the year.

1290. What did you do for Lieut.-Gov. Schultz; what service did you render?—I was his accountant and agent for his lands.

1291. Where was your office?—On Main Street.

1292. In the City of Winnipeg?—Yes.

1293. Was that Lieut.-Gov. Schultz' office?—That was my office.

1294. Your own private office?—It was the office I used.

1295. I mean were you the tenant or the owner of the office?—The Lieutenant-Governor was the owner of the office.

1296. Did he personally own the building?—Yes.

1297. What service did you render? You say you were accountant, and looked after his lands?—Yes, and taxes.

1298. I am speaking from the 1st November, 1889, to the 30th June, 1890?—Yes.

1299. During that period you were in the service of Lieutenant-Governor Schultz. Your office was in his building, his own personal private property in the city of Winnipeg, and your duties were to look after his land and taxes?—Yes.

1300. Anything else?—I looked after his general business.

1301. Do you mean as Lieutenant-Governor, or in his private capacity?—In his private capacity, and sometimes I attended to his official business. I had a desk at Government House.

1302. Were you often there?—Yes.

1303. Are you a stenographer?—No.

1304. Nor a typewriter?—No.

1305. You signed a receipt of which I read a copy: "200—Winnipeg, 9th June, 1890. Received from His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Schultz, $200 for my services, for the District of Keewatin, as writer and for stenographer and typewriting, from 1st November, 1889 to 30th June, 1890. Signed in duplicate—G. E. Fulthorp."

Lieutenant-Governor SCHULTZ,—I submit that the receipt is not read correctly. It should be for "Stenographing and typewriting." You are trying to make out that this man is a stenographer, which he is not.

1306. The original reads:

"WINNIPEG, 9th June, 1890.

"Received from His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Schultz two hundred dollars for my services, for the District of Keewatin, as writer, and for stenographing and typewriting, from 1st November, 1889, to 30th June, 1890."

"G. E. FULTHORP."

That is your receipt, I believe. That is for writer, and stenographing and typewriting. Are you a stenographer or a typewriter?—No.

1307. Why did you receive money for services as writer for stenography and typewriting from the Dominion Government?—A portion of that money was for my own services, and a portion was for typewriters and stenographers who had been there and worked there from time to time. I did not receive all that money myself personally, but a portion of it I did.

1308. How much of it personally did you receive?—I do not remember. About $60 or $70.

1309. For yourself?—Yes.

1310. For what service?—For extra work done in connection with the Governor's official position as Governor of Keewatin.

1311. What were those duties?—Copying reports and making out papers in connection with the Governor's duties.

1312. Was there any bargain that you were to be paid for this work?—Yes, that was the understanding.

1313. You signed a receipt for $200, only $60 of which you received. Is that correct?—No.

1314. What did you say?—I say about $60 or $70.

1315. You only received some $60 or $70 out of the $200?—Yes.

1316. The other was for services rendered by other people?—Yes, it was paid out.

1317. Did you pay it out?—It was paid out with my knowledge.

1318. Did you pay it out?—I did not.

1319. Did you make any memorandum on signing this receipt?—Yes, I think I did.

1320. Will you produce it?—I haven't got it.

1321. Why did you not produce it?—I did not see any object in doing so.

By Mr. Bowell :

1322. Were you summoned to produce papers?—No.

By Mr. Mulock :

1323. You were told to produce papers?—No.

1324. Were you not asked to produce papers here?—No.

1325. You made a memorandum about signing this receipt and do not produce the memorandum?—I did not bring it along.

1326. You knew what you were summoned about?—I knew it was in connection with this. Mr. Chairman, I desire to call your attention and to ask the protection of this Committee. I was insulted yesterday by someone in connection with this Committee who seems to constitute himself a sort of Pontius Pilate here. He had no right to call me the name he did and I resent it.

1327. What name was it he called you?—It is in the paper.

1328. What name did he call you?—I never saw the man in my life and I object to it.

1329. What name did he call you?—He was a man by the name of Lister.

1330. What did he call you?—A stool pigeon.

1331. Do you think that is the same as being called Pontius Pilate?—I was undeserving of that title. He had no right to give me such a name, and I call the attention of the Chairman to it.

Mr. MULOCK.—It is for the Committee to decide whether you were a stool pigeon or not.

By Mr. Barwick :

1332. You are a writer, and you were paid for writing for the Governor?—Yes.

1333. For Lieutenant Governor Schultz?—Yes.

1334. And the payment for your services is part of the $200?—Yes, sir.

1335. Then there were other people employed by the Governor for stenographing?—Yes, there was.

1336. Who were they?—There was Mr. Gregory for one. He was a young man up there in Winnipeg, a Canadian, I do not know where he came from.

1337. Did you get him for the Governor?—No, he was there.

1338. You did not get him?—No.

1339. Who else did you employ?—There was a Mr. Hawkins.

1340. Who got him?—I presume he was there.
1341. Was he living in your house?—Yes, he was living in my house.
1342. Was he a typewriter or a stenographer?—Both.
1343. Who else had you besides Gregory and Hawkins?—There was a young fellow named Grey, from the office of a firm of merchants.
1344. Was he a typewriter?—Yes.
1345. And a stenographer?—I am not sure whether he was a stenographer or not. He was employed here for typewriting; a young fellow about 20.
1346. Who else?—Two or three others whose names I do not remember.
1347. You got those men just as you could in the evening to assist in the work?—Yes.
1348. To assist in the work that you could not do yourself because you were not a typewriter?—Yes.
1349. For how long a time, how many weeks were these men employed?—I could not state particularly.
1350. Several months?—Well, it extended over a period of 6 or 7 months from the time I went there until the following summer.
1351. It was about the 1st of November that you went there?—Yes.
1352. And you remained until the 1st of next July?—Yes.
1353. So that during that time you had 6 or 7 typewriters employed in the evenings from time to time as you required them, and about $130 of this money went to them?—Yes.
1354. Did these men earn this money?—They certainly did. I think it was a very moderate payment.
1355. What was the rate at which you paid them?—$25 a month.
1356. How many hours a day did they work?—I could not tell you that, it would be impossible.
1357. You employed them by the hour, did you?—No, not by the hour. An estimate was made of the work and they were paid by the month.
1358. You estimated that their work was worth $25 a month and you paid them that amount?—Yes.
1359. And these payments made up $130?—Yes.
1360. That is the money paid from you to them?—The cheques were made out generally to the young men themselves. I think these cheques would be in existence to-day and could be produced as vouchers, if I recollect right.
1361. You took the cheques to these young men for their $130 and signed the receipt for $200?—Yes.
1362. The whole of it had gone through your hands?—Yes, the whole of it.
1363. The whole of it had been paid by June, 1890?—Yes. It was for services up to the end of June.
1364. And at that time you made out the receipt?—Yes.
1365. The whole of the $200 had been paid?—Yes.
1366. You had seen it all paid out?—Yes.
1367. And that amount went in payment of the services of these young men?—Yes.
1368. So that you had seen the money going out—seen it actually going into their hands, and then you signed their receipt?—Yes.
1369. Do you think that, in what you stated in your evidence to Mr. Mulock, there was anything improper?—No.
- Mr. MULOCK objected.
1370. Do you want to make any explanation of that receipt? You had seen the money actually going into their hands?—Yes. I have no explanation beyond the fact that I knew that the money had been all paid and I did not see any harm in signing the receipt for more than had actually been paid to myself.
1371. The whole of the $200 you had actually seen go to these men apart from the amount you were entitled to yourself?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

1372. How much did you pay Gregory?—I could not say.

1373. How much did you pay Hawkins? By the way, did you keep any memorandum of the services?—No.

1374. Then how much did Hawkins get out of the $200?—I cannot say.

1375. How much did Mr. Grey get?—Very small amount, I think $20 or $30.

1376. Did you keep any account of his services?—No, I did not.

1377. You spoke of two or three others, how much did they get?—I cannot tell you now.

1378. Did you keep an account of their services?—No, I did not.

1379. Then from whom did you learn of their services to His Honour?—I was there, present, myself and knew that they were engaged at the time.

1380. Did you say that the cheques in all cases were handed to them?—I said that in some cases they were handed to them, and in some cases they went direct to the parties themselves.

1381. They went directly to the parties themselves and did not pass through your hands?—They did not pass through my hands. But the cheques eventually all passed through my hands after they had gone through the bank.

1382. That was in your private capacity as accountant?—Yes.

1383. Will you tell me who certified this account at the bottom?—Dr. Bown.

1384. You know Dr. Bown?—Yes.

1385. He is private secretary to His Honour, is he?—Yes.

1386. I am told that he is practically incapacitated for work?—He is sick, but he is round at his work in the day time.

1387. Is that his handwriting or is it a stamp imitation of his handwriting?—I would not swear to that, but I think it is his signature.

1388. I am told that he is incapable of signing?—He is not.

1389. At all events you recognize this as his handwriting?—I do.

1390. Is this a correct statement?—It is.

1391. It is a requisition from Robert Bown, private secretary to His Honour, requesting as follows:—“Requisition for payment for stenograph writer and typewriter for the District of Keewatin, Governor's House, Winnipeg, 9th June.” Then payment to Mr. George E. Fulthorp, of Winnipeg, for the following services, namely, from the 1st November, 1889, to the 30th June, 1890, 8 months at $25 per month—$200, vide duplicate receipts attached.—Yes.

1392. Was there any engagement between you and His Honour that you were to be paid $25 a month by His Honour?—There was a specific engagement between the Governor and myself, that I was to be paid for extra work—that is for work that was done in connection with Keewatin.

1393. Was there any engagement that you were to be paid the sum of $25 per month for eight months from 1st November, 1889, to 30th June, 1890?—I was to be paid at the rate of $35 per month for extra work I did.

1394. And how many extra months did you work for the Government of Canada under the direction of His Honour, at the rate of $35 per month?—To the best of my recollection, about two and a-half months.

1395. And since then have you been paid at the rate of $25 a month?—I have not, because he has had regular employees in that capacity.

1396. Did you receive anything beyond what is mentioned in this receipt?—No.

1397. You never received anything more than that?—No, I have not received anything more than that.

1398. From the Dominion Government?—Not that I recollect of.

By Mr. Barwick :

1399. This $25 not only covers what you got, but it covers what the other people got as well?—It did.

1400. So whatever work was done, whether by you or the shorthand writer or typewriters, the whole work cost $25 a month?—Yes.

1401. You did not get $25 a month, but it was what the other people got paid besides?—I got what was coming to me.

1402. You got your share of the $25?—Yes.

1403. And the other people mentioned, they got their share of the $25?—Yes.

1404. So that you divided up the $25 a month for the six or eight months you were employed?—At that rate I don't know how many months it was; it was from the beginning of November, eight months.

1405. Mr. Bown is the private secretary?—He is.

1406. Has he an office at Government House?—He has.

1407. And was he the man who kept track of the work done by those other men?—Yes.

1408. Did Mr. Bown keep track of all the work these men did?

Mr. MULOCK—Mr. Bown alone can tell that, I object to any hearsay evidence.

By Mr. Barwick :

1409. Do you know of your own knowledge that Mr. Bown kept track of the work?—I know he knew of it. He is there every day in association about the house.

1410. Did Mr. Bown keep an account of the work done by the various men?—I think he did.

1411. Do you know whether he did or not? If you know he did, say so?—I don't know.

By Mr. Bowell :

1412. It has been stated that Mr. Bown is an invalid; I believe that is correct, is it not?—Yes.

1413. Has he ever been incapacitated from doing ordinary work in the office, or signing his name, as indicated by Mr. Mulock?—Never.

By Mr. Taylor :

1414. Does he live up in the garret in the Government House?—No, he does not

By Mr. McMullen :

1415. Does he sleep there?—Dr. Bown has elegant quarters in the Governor's house—I have been there myself.

By Mr. Barwick :

1416. Did you see Dr. Bown constantly?—I saw him constantly, every day that I went to Governor Schultz's house.

1417. You saw him since he signed the requisition, I suppose?—I did not see him since I left Governor Schultz's employ, last May or June.

1418. Of this year?—Of this year.

1419. Was he then attending to his duties?—He was.

1420. What were the duties he was actually attending to then?—I cannot specify, but they were the duties appertaining to the private secretary—all the official business connected with the office of Lieutenant-Governor.

1421. Was he sitting in his office?—He was sitting in his office writing reports. I could not begin to specify them, because it never came my way to do much reports.

1422. But when you saw him last he was sitting in his office—he was attending to the ordinary duties of secretary?—He was, yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

1423. If Mr. Stewart swore that Dr. Bown lived up in the garret, in Government House, would that statement be true or false?—He did not mean that, he meant to qualify that. He knows the place well enough.

1424. Is that statement true or false?—It was just a misnomer. He knows well enough it is not the garret. It is the highest rooms in the Government House, but Government House is large, and the Doctor has elegant quarters there. I know that of my own knowledge.

Mr. BARWICK—I do not intend to call Lieut.-Governor Schultz as a witness, but he is here ready to answer any further question. Although the other side desire to call no further witnesses he does not desire to take any advantage of that; he is ready to give any further evidence upon it that he can. It seems to him he has fully explained the items, but if any further explanation is desired of him he will cheerfully give it.

Lieut.-Governor Schultz—May I ask before any action is taken upon it—Mr. Mulock has certainly acted in a very gentlemanly manner this morning—May I ask Mr. Mulock, since he finds that the statements made to him of what Mr. Stewart would say on evidence have practically failed, and as what Mr. Fulthorp, it has been stated to him, would say on his evidence has also failed, may I ask him, as one gentleman to another, simply to say that he was misled unconsciously in this matter, and to allow this question to drop.

Mr. MULOCK—I have no objection to expressing my opinion on the matter. When His Honour came down here on Friday evening although I much regretted it, I was obliged to go away owing to sickness in my family. I was anxious His Honour should have the first opportunity of making an explanation, and for that reason as well as for the fair conduct of examination, I proposed to this Committee he should, as the first witness, first make his explanation. Had he been the first witness, I do not know how far the enquiry would have gone. I have not heard Mr. Stewart's evidence; I do not know what Mr. Stewart swore to after I left on Friday evening. When I left he was in the middle of his examination by Mr. Moncrieff and therefore I cannot say what he swore to. I have not seen the minutes of evidence, nor have I seen anything but a brief reference to it in the press. I dare say that a good deal of the confusion and misunderstanding has arisen from a lax state of keeping the accounts. I think His Honour must admit, every person who is in charge of public money must admit, that the last transaction we have investigated to-day was not regular. It is not, in my opinion, a regular way to discharge public business, for one man to sign receipts for money not paid to him. Of the others, however, explanations may be offered, and I prefer to accept the explanation of irregularity rather than one of a more serious character. It must be borne in mind, however, that on one item there is a direct conflict of testimony. Mr. Stewart has sworn that his services began on the 1st June and lasted until the 15th July, a period of one month and a half, and that for that period he only received at the rate of a month and a half's pay. Then there is a direct conflict between himself and His Honour. I have no reason to think Mr. Stewart untruthful, and I am willing to put it down as one of those misunderstandings between parties over accounts, growing out of an irregular system—an irregular way of transacting business. I prefer to accept that explanation rather than to say either of these gentlemen has stated what is untrue. The amount is too trivial to warrant one in really coming to the conclusion that a person in the high position of His Honour would do what, on the surface of it, might be supposed to have occurred. But if no misunderstanding has taken place, we must attribute it to an irregular system of keeping accounts. I must say I was impressed with the truthfulness of Mr. Stewart's statements, and I am at a loss to understand how, on that item, there should be any dispute. Mr. Stewart says his wages began on the 1st June, and His Honour says they began on the 15th of May. Who is likely to be in error? The workingman whose time is his whole capital is more likely to be accurate as to when his wages began than a person having, like His Honour, a multiplicity of duties. I think His Honour, if it came down to a question of probability, is mistaken. On that item I would acquit His Honour of doing intentional wrong, and willingly do so. I must say, however, I was impressed with the earnestness and truthfulness of everything that fell from Mr. Stewart.

LIEUT. GOV. SCHULTZ re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Barwick :

1425. You have heard the remarks of Mr. Mulock with regard to these services possibly not having been rendered for which the receipt for $200 was given?—Yes.

1426. Will you be kind enough to say whether these services were rendered or not? Make any explanation you please?—The services were rendered at the rate of $25 a month. I informed the Government it would be necessary for me to have them done, and they made no objection to it. They were performed by James Dryden. He was consumptive and had to go south. I then told Mr. Fulthorp that on condition of his doing the extra work he could have the extra pay of $25 a month, as he was a particularly good writer, but I told him that for such portions as needed the employment of a stenographer and type-writer such services would have to be paid for out of that $25 a month. He did the work, and the cheques for the pay of those who were employed in this way passed through his hands. He has stated that distinctly.

By Mr. Mulock :

1427. All of them?—The services were rendered and the money was paid.

By Mr. Foster :

1428. How much had you been paying Dryden?—$25 a month. The person who succeeded Mr. Fulthorp was getting $25 a month, and my present man is being paid at the same rate. I wish to say this distinctly, that I am responsible alone for any inaccuracies in these accounts. The Government gave me no directions in regard to them. I am responsible for the purchase of these boats, and there is no degree of blame attached to the Government one way or another. I alone am responsible for it. The total expenditure in 1889 was $741. The total expenditure in the year before was about the same amount. Whether I have done well or ill must be judged by the results. I have reduced the appropriation for the District of Keewatin from about $5,000 down to what you voted the other night—an amount of $2,000. That is practically what the Government of Keewatin is costing to-day, and it is utterly impossible for a Minister to dictate to me the means I should take to govern that country. The moment the power is taken away from me, to do as I choose in these small matters, that moment I want to be relieved of the position of Governor of that country.

By Mr. Barwick :

1429. What was the work that these shorthand writers did?—They took my statements, correspondence and reports.

1430. Reports to the Minister of the Interior?—Yes.

1431. This is entirely connected with the District of Keewatin?

Mr. MULOCK—Under what Department is the district?

Mr. FOSTER—The Department of the Interior.

The Committee then adjourned.

REPORT.

TWENTY-EIGHTH REPORT :

Your Committee have had under consideration certain accounts, cheques and vouchers for payments made from 1st June, 1883, to 1st July, 1884, and from 1st July, 1884, to 31st January, 1885, inclusive, to W. Inglis Bradley, an extra clerk in the Department of Railways and Canals; and in connection therewith have examined witnesses under oath, and for the information of the House report herewith the evidence given by such witnesses.

All which is respectfully submitted.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

COMMITTEE ROOM,
TUESDAY, 21st September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair

A. P. BRADLEY called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

1. What is your position in the public service?—At present I am Secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals.
2. How long have you held that position?—I have been about twenty years in the Department. I think I have filled that position for between nine and ten years.
3. You have held the position of Secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals for ten years?—About ten years; it may be a little less perhaps.
4. What is your salary?—My present salary is $2,800.
5. I see by the Public Accounts that in 1883, 1884, a man named W. Inglis Bradley, was employed in the Department. Who is he?—He is my son.
6. What were his duties?—The ordinary work of an extra clerk. He was employed in copying and such things of that kind.
7. He was employed in the Department?—He was in the Department a portion of the time.
8. Do you remember when he first entered upon his duties in the Department?—I think, June, 1882. He was there for four months.
9. Look at these accounts? I think there is a cheque dated June, 1883?—Yes, June, 1883.
10. Was he in the Department at that time?—He was.
11. You see those cheques for $60 for each month's service run from 23rd June, 1884? Was he in the Department during the whole of that time?—Not the whole of that time.
12. When did he leave the Department?—About the 1st of October, 1883.
13. He left the Department then?—He left the Department at that time and up to the end of June, 1884.
14. Here is another lot of cheques?—Yes, he was in the Department in the month of June. He was in the Department four months comprising June, July, August and September, 1884.
15. Then where was he?—He was absent on leave.
16. Can you tell us where he was?—He was at Montreal those four months.
17. During what months was he at Montreal?—October, November, December and January.
18. Of what years?—1884-85.
19. He was in Montreal?—He was in Montreal on leave of absence.
20. What was he doing in Montreal?—He was going to school.
21. At a Medical College?—Yes.
22. At McGill College?—At McGill College.
23. Was he not at Toronto too?—He was at Toronto at this time.
24. How many months was he at Toronto?—Eight months. All this time from the 1st October, 1883, to 1st June, 1884.
25. Was he attending the University at Toronto?—He was.
26. As a medical student?—No.

27. What then?—In the Art School.

28. How does it come that he drew his pay from the Department during the twelve months that he was away?—He was on special leave of absence from the Hon. Mr. Pope.

29. He was on special leave of absence from the Hon. Mr. Pope?—Yes, on each occasion.

30. Is that customary?—No, I don't think it is.

31. For a Minister to give leave of absence to a clerk in the Department?—I cannot say about that. He had it in this case, and it was known to the other chief officers in the Department.

32. What were the peculiar circumstances that induced the Minister to grant this leave of absence?—I don't know any special reason for it.

33. Did you apply to the Minister yourself?—I think so.

34. To obtain leave of absence for your son?—I did.

35. And for his pay to run on?—Yes, sir.

36. And Mr. Pope consented to his being paid while he was not in the Department and when of no service?—He did, and it was known to the other chief officers of the Department.

37. Were you in the habit, when he was in Montreal or Toronto, of sending the cheques to him?—I think so. I would not be quite sure of that, but I think the cheques were sent by myself.

38. Here are the accounts. I see you make them out, or at least you certify, to them?—Yes.

39. Whose signature is that?—It is my son's.

40. What did you do when your son was in Montreal or Toronto. Did you forward the account to him for signature?—Either I or someone else did—it is most likely myself—for signature, with the cheque.

41. And it was returned then to the Department?—It was returned then to the Department.

42. How could you certify to an account for services as extra clerk during the month of October at $2 per day, being $62, as being correct, when you knew your son was away studying medicine either in Montreal or Toronto?—Because I had authority from the Minister.

43. That would not relieve you from responsibility as Secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals?—Well, I had his authority. I considered that quite sufficient.

44. But his authority would not allow you to certify to the account as being correct when you knew it was not correct?—I had his authority and I thought that was quite sufficient.

45. You knew this account was not correct?—I knew it was correct, because the Minister authorized it to be paid.

46. You go on the principle that whatever the Minister authorizes is correct?—I cannot go behind his words.

47. You solicited the Minister to do this?—I solicited the Minister for leave of absence.

48. And for his pay too?—Yes.

By Mr. Fraser :

49. Did you tell the Minister that he was going to college?—I did not tell him. I know he knew it.

50. How do you know if you did not speak to him?—I told him he was going to school. I took it for granted so.

51. Do you remember that you told him?—Yes.

52. The Minister is dead?—Yes.

53. Tell me whether or not you told the Minister he was going to college?—I can tell you this: I know the Minister was aware of his absence.

54. How do you know?—If you will turn to the debates in the House of Commons when a return was asked for on this question, he there says himself that he knew.

55. That he knew he was attending college?—He knew he was not attending in the Department.

56. I want you to say whether the Minister knew that he was attending college, getting his degree?—I fully believe he did.

57. What are the grounds of your belief?—One ground is, he knew he was not in the office, and the statement he made in Parliament some five or six years ago on this very matter.

58. What was the statement?—I do not remember the words.

59. During all the time this money was paid was Mr. Pope in charge?—He was.

60. It is customary to give leave of absence when one is sick?—Yes, certainly.

61. You say you would not swear that you mentioned to Mr. Pope that your son was attending college?—I believe I told the Minister, and I am satisfied he knew of it; but I cannot call to mind the very exact words he used.

62. What makes you satisfied he knew of it?—One thing is the remarks he made in the House of Commons when that return was asked for.

63. He did not say the son was in college?—No, he did not.

By Mr. Somerville:

64. At all events, you told Mr. Pope when you asked leave of absence for your son that you wanted to get the pay to go on while he was away?—That was clearly understood, that the pay was to go on while he was away, and he knew he was out of the city too. He knew that much, at all events.

65. You, as one of the principal officers of the Department, did you not have any compunction about asking for your son's pay to go on while he was not working for the country?—I had no compunction. I thought it was all right if the Minister approved of it, not otherwise. I would not do it on my own responsibility.

Mr. FOSTER—The explanation by Mr. Pope, as it appears in Hansard, was as follows: "The hon. member will find Bradley's name registered in the book on every day he worked in the Department, but he will not find his name registered there for every day when he worked for the Department outside."

66. Did your son work for the Department outside?—Not much, but some.

67. What did he do?—Copied some papers.

68. I mean at a distance from the Department?—No.

69. He never had any outside work from the Department?—No, except when he was home at Christmas time, when he worked some.

70. Your son was paid for one whole year—eight months at one time and four months at another—for services he never rendered?—Yes; but I say he had the permission of the Minister to be absent.

71. But there were no services rendered for this money?—There were for a portion of the time, when he was home at vacation time.

72. What services did he render for these cheques?—Of course he rendered service for some of these cheques.

73. You except some of them?—There were the Christmas holidays.

74. There was a cheque for the Christmas holidays?—Yes.

By Mr. Fraser:

75. Is there any method by which absences are entered in the books of the Department?—Well, for a time there were attendance books, but they were not kept regularly at all. For the last four or five years, however, all the attendances have been accurately recorded.

76. But the attendance book was not kept faithfully at this time?—No, it was not. There are several cases where the parties did not sign the book.

77. That was not by design to cover this particular case, was it?—By no means.

78. From that time is there anything in the books to show that this man was absent by consent of the Minister?—Nothing, except what the other chief clerks know, of their knowledge.

79. Was anything written to show that?—No, I do not think so. The only written statement that exists to my knowledge is that statement by the Minister.

80. Did the Deputy Minister know?—Yes, he did, and the Accountant.

By Mr. Somerville :

81. Here are the attendance books, you say that there are others absent, can you show me them?—(No answer.)

82. Did you sign the pay sheets in the Department during that time?—No. I find in these attendance books that there are several gaps there.

83. You did not think there was anything wrong about taking this money?—I had the consent of the Minister.

84. If the Minister had consented to allow your son to draw $10,000, would that have been all right?—My son could not have earned that.

85. $60 a month for a whole year?—My son could earn that.

86. But he did not earn it. He did not earn that any more than the other?—He had the permission of the Minister to draw the pay.

87. When did Mr. Pope become Minister of Railways?—He became acting Minister about the time Sir Charles Tupper left? I think in May, 1884.

88. And he was acting Minister then for about a year?—Yes.

89. That is before he became permanent Minister?—Yes.

90. Your son was paid at the rate of $2 per day for 12 months?—Yes.

91. And he was away all that time?—Yes, in those two periods.

92. The amount would be about $720?—Yes.

T. TRUDEAU called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Somerville :

93. What is your position in the Department?—Deputy Minister.

94. You were not present when Mr. Bradley gave his evidence a little while ago?—No, sir.

95. Mr. Bradley was giving evidence in regard to the payment to his son of $60 a month for twelve months. He admitted that his son had been paid while he was not in the Department, but when he was in Montreal and Toronto at school, studying medicine and going through the arts course, and he stated that you, as Deputy, were aware of the fact that his son was drawing pay while he was rendering no services to the Government. Is that a fact?—No, sir.

96. It is not so?—No, sir.

97. You were not aware of that?—No, sir; I do not recollect it.

98. You know nothing about it?—No, sir.

99. Did Mr. Bradley not tell you at the time?—I have no recollection of that sort at all.

100. Did the Minister, the late Mr. Pope, tell you?—No, sir.

101. He did not?—No, sir.

102. Then you say distinctly you have no recollection of having had any conversation with Mr. Bradley in regard to this matter, or with the late Mr. Pope?—I have no recollection.

By the Chairman :

103. Nor with Sir Charles Tupper?—Nor with Sir Charles Tupper.

By Mr. Somerville :

104. You know nothing about it then?—No, sir.

By Mr. Skinner :

105. I did not understand Mr. Bradley to put it as strongly as Mr. Somerville has just put it in the question—that the matter had been talked over between you and Mr. Bradley or anyone else ; but what I understood him to say, was that you had a knowledge that the young man was away, and that his pay was going on all this time ?—That he was away ?

106. That he was away on leave ?—I did not follow the movements of the young man at all, sir. When those accounts were paid I thought they were right.

107. The question is whether you knew that—whether it was talked over—because there is no evidenee of that kind ?—I cannot pretend to recollect that, sir.

By Mr. Somerville :

108. You say when these accounts were paid you thought they were correct ?—Yes, sir.

109. That services had been rendered for them ?—Yes, sir, not necessarily in the office, you know.

110. Whose duty was it to certify to these accounts ? Was it properly Mr. Bradley's duty ?—Mr. Bradley and the book-keeper.

111. I see every one of these accounts were certified to by Mr. Bradley. He was the proper officer to certify to them, was he ?—Yes, sir.

112. As Deputy had you any supervision over the work ?—No sir, I am responsible for the mechanism of the Department. There are a great many accounts presented before the Department and I have arranged all the machinery which leads up to their payment ; of course I am responsible for that, sir.

113. But you could not take account of every month ?—I do not go into every account ; it would be impossible.

114. You trust your officers to do their duty ?—Yes, sir. I am responsible for the mechanism—the arrangement.

By Mr. Foster :

115. Have you any recollection of knowing that this young Mr. Bradley was employed in the Department ?—Yes, sir, I recollect that.

116. You recollect he was employed ?—I do, sir.

117. Do you recollect that he was granted leave of absence ?—No, sir, I do not.

118. You do not recollect that he was granted leave of absence ?—No, sir.

119. Do you recollect any conversation between yourself and Mr. A. P. Bradley about the matter ?—No, sir, I cannot ; it is some five or six years ago.

120. Nor between yourself and the Minister ?—I am pretty sure the Minister never spoke, or it would have struck me.

By Mr. Somerville :

121. Do you recollect having your attention called to this matter when a motion was made in the House asking for a return ?—I knew of the return, sir, but I did not know there was anything irregular then.

122. When did you first learn there was anything irregular ?—This summer.

123. Since the House met ?—Yes, sir.

124. Whom did you learn it from ?—I learned it in the air, sir ; I heard it everywhere.

By Mr. Skinner :

125. Mr Bradley has been a long time in the Department, has he not ?—He has, sir.

126. You always found him a reliable, trustworthy man ?—Yes, sir.

127. You would have no hesitation in taking his word for anything ?—No, sir, not at all. I would take it now, sir. He is a valuable officer and trustworthy, and I found him up to the mark in everything.

---

By Mr. Somerville :

128. Still you do not endorse this transaction, do you?—No, sir, of course not.

129. You think it would be wrong for Mr. Bradley to pay his son for one year when he was not in the Department at all?—I do, sir, yes.

130. That would be decidedly wrong?—Yes, sir.

131. Are you aware that has been done now?—Now?

132. Are you aware his son was paid for a year's services which he did not perform, of your own knowledge?—No, sir, I do not; simply because Mr. Bradley says that it was so.

133. You believe Mr. Bradley when he says that?—Yes, sir.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

---

COLLINGWOOD SCHREIBER, Esq., C.-E., Chief Engineer, Government Railways, called, sworn and examined:—

By Sir Richard Cartwright :

1. The item I want to examine you upon is the same one we discussed at the last meeting, $302,958, over-expended on Railway Account. It appears at page A-79 of the Auditor General's Report. In the first place be good enough to inform the Committee whether you were aware on the 1st of May last, say, after 10 months of the year had expired, whether the expenditure would be caused by the account for which this warrant was issued?—I was not.

2. How was it then that so very large a deficit between your expenditure and your receipts, or rather between your estimated and actual expenditure, should have escaped your notice?—I may explain that I do not receive the account until about two months after a given month has passed. The estimates were made upon the January returns, and they did not indicate that there would be a large over-expenditure.

3. But by the first of May you would have known up to the end of February at least?—On the 7th May I received the March accounts, and I certainly should have known then that there would be an over-expenditure, but apparently I did not. I did not observe it. It was towards the end of the session, and I was very busy at other matters and no doubt it escaped by notice, and in the early part of June, I was absent from Ottawa making inspections. Previous to the first of June we appear not to have observed it.

4. I thought you stated it was the 1st of May?—I say that the returns were made to me then.

5. You stated at the last meeting of the Committee that the bulk of the expenditure was caused by a sum of $150,000 to $200,000 being required for steel rails?—Yes.

6. When were they put down?—I can only speak from the accounts. I have looked at the accounts since the last meeting. I see there is $107,000 charged for rails with the January returns.

7. On what date?—That is for several months, but there was $227,000 during the year. In February it was only $39, but in March it was $59,924, in April, $23,121, in May $23,000, nothing in June.

8. That makes in all $107,000?—Yes.

9. And you say that these three payments escaped your notice?—Well, I would not have the accounts. I do not interfere with the accounts. I was asked not to do so by the Finance Department some years ago. The Financial Inspector who went down periodically and examined the accounts in Moncton and organized the system, asked me not to interfere with the accounts, and I have not interfered. What I really get is a summary of these moneys. The accounts come up from Moncton and are handed direct to the accountant's office of the Department of Railways and Canals.

10. Whether it is yourself as chief of the railway management of the Intercolonial Railway, or some other officer, there must have been some officer, whose duty it was to have known on the 1st of May, or earlier, that this expenditure would take place. You say you did not notice it yourself?—When I said I did not notice it, I think I could not have noticed it, or there would have been some record of it. I cannot find in the department anything written or said about it.

11. Am I to understand that no communication was made by you to the head of your department, that there would be this deficiency?—Apparently not; not until June.

12. Neither verbal or written?—Not that I am aware of. I have discovered, however, a memorandum by the accountant on the back of a paper which would indicate that during my absence the matter had been brought up. The date is July 7th. In it he states that the railway authorities had made a mistake in the manner in which they had calculated the appropriation. They had taken in, according to this memorandum, Governor General's Warrants, Schedule "A" of the Supply Bill and Schedule "B" of the Supply Bill. That is the date 7th July.

13. Apparently among you, ten months of the year elapsed and you either did not know, or neglected to notify the head of your department, that the appropriation would be exceeded by $300,000?—That would appear so.

14. You have read the section under which Governor General's Warrants are issued?—No doubt I have at sometime; not lately.

15. I recommend you to have your attention called to it. That clause gives power to the Governor General to provide for extraordinary expenses and for things that could not be foreseen?—Yes, I have had my attention called to it.

16. And according to your statement the bulk of this expenditure was for rails, part in March and the balance in April and May?—Quite so.

17. That is not an unforeseen expenditure?—No, not I suppose in that sense.

18. Or in any sense?—No. We ought to have known about that expenditure.

19. These rails would have probably been ordered in January; would they not?—These rails, I should judge would have been ordered eight months before. I have do doubt about it.

20. And it was an unforeseen expenditure?—Rails and stores of various kinds are not charged in the operating expenses. When they are bought, they go into store, and it is not until they are put in the road, that they are charged to working expenses. The same thing applies in regard to any article that is purchased. Any stores that are procured are only chargeable against stores when they are issued out to the road.

21. You state you thought they were about $200,000?—I think it was $227,000 for the year.

22. And you say it was $107,000 in the months of March, April and May?—That is what it is.

23. That leaves a very large sum still?—The increased cost of operating is without doubt due to the opening of the Short Line Railway via St. John, owing to the additional trains we have had to put on to make connections.

24. I thought you, or rather the Ministers, had had warning enough about that—that it would cause great inconvenience in connection with the working of the Inter-colonial?—I knew it was going to cost more.

25. What time of the year was that line opened?—Sometime in June, 1889—the 16th or 18th June.

26. Then you would have ample time between June, 1889, and May, 1890, to form an estimate?—I was aware it was going to cost more—that it would entail more cost upon us. But I anticipated that we would be enabled to take off some of the trains on other portions of the road. We have not been able to do this; we have still the same number of trains.

27. But all these appear to be matters which you, or your subordinates, had ample means of ascertaining prior to the rising of the House last year?—As I tell you I had the accounts in my hands on the 7th May. There is no doubt about that.

Mr. FOSTER—Parliament adjourned on the 16th of May.

Sir RICHARD CARTWRIGHT—I know, but you could have brought down another Supplementary Estimate.

---

Mr. SCHREIBER—I may say this, Sir Richard, that I was not aware that during the current year, you could have two supplementaries, until I saw the Auditor General the other day.

28. You might have twenty, if you could induce the Minister to bring them down?—I was not aware of it, and have never known it to be done in the Department of Railways and Canals.

29. I understand you distinctly to say that no communication was made by you, or any officer, as far as you know, to the department?—Yes.

30. The matter rests with yourself?—Entirely so. I may say also that I had means of knowing on the 7th May. There is no doubt about that.

MINUTES OF EVIDENCE.

COMMITTEE ROOM, September, 21st, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. WALLACE in the Chair.

Mr. THOMAS FULLER called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. McMullen :

1. You were chief architect in connection with the erection of the Napanee Post Office ?—Yes.
2. Did you prepare the plans and specifications for the work ?—Yes.
3. Do you remember about the date when the contract was let ; how long is it ago ?—It was in 1888, I think.
4. Did you prepare the plans and specifications for the building complete, or only for a portion of it ?—Complete with the exception of the heating and the fittings.
5. Was the contract let for the building complete except the heating and fittings ?—Yes, sir.
6. Who was the contractor ?—Mr. Newlands of Kingston.
7. Do you remember what the amount of his contract was ?—$25,350.
8. How many tenders were put in for the work ?—I do not remember.
9. Was there more than one ?—Oh, yes.
10. Were there several tenders ?—Yes, several tenders.
11. Was Newlands the lowest tender ?—His was the lowest.
12. In connection with this work I find a great many charges for extras amounting to a very large sum when all put together. Can you tell the Committee the cost of the whole structure as now completed ?—I can give you the final estimates.
13. What is that ?—$37,404.
14. That was for the building. Do you know if that includes the pavement outside ?—Yes, sir.
15. Does that include the clock that was put on the building ?—No, sir.
16. Can you give the Committee the exact amount of the cost including everything ?—No, sir, I cannot ; I have not got the account for furnishing.
17. Who was in charge of construction ?—Mr. Bartlett. He is an architect in Napanee.
18. He superintended the work under your instructions I suppose ?—Yes.
19. Was there also an inspector of works ?—Yes, sir.
20. Who was he ?—I forget his name.
21. Was it not Mr. J. E. Herring ?—I think that was his name.
22. He received $75 a month ? Is that included in the total cost of the building ?—Not in the final estimate I gave you.
23. To whom did you let the putting in of the fittings for the Customs Department ?—To Newlands.
24. Was that let by open tender ?—No, by tender from him.
25. Was there a tender asked for from any person else ?—No, sir.
26. He was simply asked to tender for the completion of the Customs Department and put in a tender ? Can you tell what his tender was ?—I do not remember.
27. A tender was asked from him ; he put it in and it was let to him ?—Yes.
28. Do you remember the price ?—I cannot tell you.

By the Chairman :

29. Have you not got any of the papers with you?—Not of the furniture.

By Mr. McMullen :

30. I see here a number of extras—natural wood finish in lieu of painting—why was the change made in that case?—It was found when they put in the work that the wood was so much better than they thought it was.

31. The intention was in the first place to paint?—Yes.

32. How much difference was there between the two—what deduction was made for the painting?—There was no painting.

33. Do you know if there was any deduction and what the difference was in the the cost as compared with the estimate for painting?—25 cents a yard or 30 cents a yard.

34. This is the natural wood finish?—Yes.

35. What is the difference in cost of the natural wood finish as compared with the painting finish?—30 cents.

36. Do you say that the natural wood finish is worth 55 cents a yard?—Yes. When finished in that way—hard finish.

37. What do you mean by hard finish?—It is hard oil varnish and the wood retains its natural colour.

38. I see you have allowed a quantity of lumber, 7,650 feet at 3 cents a foot, $30 a thousand—what kind of wood was it?—Pine.

39. Something of course had taken the place of that? You changed it to this kind of wood?—Yes.

40. What kind of wood was it?—Common kind of wood.

41. What would be the price of common kind of wood?—About $25 a thousand.

42. That would make this pine lumber $55 a thousand?—No.

43. You will see 50 cents a foot, 3 cents in addition—that is 3 cents a foot?—Yes.

44. 7,650 feet, 3 cents a foot, $30 a thousand and the other would be $25 a thousand?—The ordinary wood would be less than $25 a thousand.

45. How much less?—I do not know, I cannot remember.

46. Cannot you tell us anything as to what the estimate was, when you allowed the $30 a thousand extra for this wood?—I do not remember, sir.

47. Now, there is also here carpenters' labour preparing wood work?—Yes.

48. You allow here carpenters' labour $138.50 for preparing lumber?—Yes.

49. This is not all—there is $623 extra allowed on finishing, what portion of the building did that cover?—The whole of the work on the inside.

50. Nothing but wood work?—No. This is simply allowed in addition to the contract price owing to the finish and owing to the better quality of timber.

51. Well, what quality did you intend to put in in the first place—what quality did you advertise for?—Good quality of pine.

52. Good clear timber?—Good clear timber. This is an extra.

53. It must have been a very decided improvement on the quality you intended to put in first. How is it that you allowed such a change?—I have not seen it myself. It was done under the local architect, Mr. Bartlett.

54. You have simply paid for it on his certificate?—And Mr. Ewart's inspection.

55. "Outside steps to letter box $57." Do you know anything about that?—Yes.

56. How many steps are there in that?—There were originally four, but after the steps were made the grade of the street was altered, so that only two steps were required. The cost of the steps at the factory as made, was $33.

57. What became of those steps?—Two are down. I do not know what became of the others.

58. Are they stone or wood?—Wood.

59. What became of the ones first made?—I suppose they took them back.

60. What did you say they cost?—$33 at the factory.

61. How do you make up the $57?—There is a granolithic carriage step which is not shown here, $10.50. The changing of the steps was $2. The contractor's profit was $11 making a total of $56.87. It was called $57. That is the estimate that was made at the time.

62. Then there was no credit allowed for the original steps or anything else?—There does not appear to be.

63. He charged the full price for the four steps of wood and then when the alteration was made he charged for that?—No, no. He charged $2 only for making the alterations. He charges $33, the amount which he paid at the factory for the steps, $2 for altering them and $10.50 for the granolithic carriage step.

64. But that did not make up the whole amount?—With the profit, it does.

65. You allowed him a profit of $11?—Yes; $11.31 cents.

66. What is the length of the steps?—9 feet was the total length of the original step.

67. What is the length of the step there now?—As far as I can judge 5 feet.

68. And for this amount you get two wooden steps 5 feet long and a granolithic carriage step?—Yes.

69. That is all that the $57 covers?—Yes.

70. How was the mistake made in the grade of the street, necessitating a change of this kind?—I do not know that. It was done by the corporation of the town. They made a different level afterwards in the grade.

71. I see there is also charged $125 for "letter box complete"? How is that made up?—They had to cut through the wall and to put in a lining. Then there were two wire baskets and a brass letter box.

72. Was not there provision made for a letter box in the original plans?—No, sir.

73. Not when they were first got out?—No, sir.

74. Why was that?—Because we did not know where the letter box fittings were going. We cannot tell at the outset which will be the most convenient place. In some cases they want the letter box in the working part; sometimes in the front of the building. You cannot tell the best position until the office is laid out.

75. So that first you build up a stone wall solid, and then you cut out a hole for receiving the letters, and in this case it cost $125 to do that?—Yes, sir.

76. Now I notice a charge for $350 for Customs fittings. You do not know anything about that, except that is the amount paid?—Yes.

77. Then I see, "changes in Gas Inspector's office $80." Do you know what those changes were?—I have got the details here. They consist of a lot of little things.

78. These were not provided for before?—I do not know exactly what the alterations were.

79. Under whose instructions were those changes made?—They were made by the desire of the officer.

80. At the request of the man in charge?—Yes.

81. Have you not a standard of fittings and finishings for these offices generally?—They are something similar in most of them. We do not use the same in every case because the size of the office varies.

82. Then I see the charge, "furniture for Gas Inspector's office, $98." Do you know what that is?—I have not got the particulars here.

83. Here is an item, "Post Office fixtures $2,000"? Who had the contract for that; the same man?—Yes, Newlands.

84. How was that let?—The same way.

85. Was it let by tender?—He was the tenderer and it was approved by the Department.

86. Did anyone else tender?—No person else.

87. What was the nature of these fixtures—post office fixtures?—Letter box fronts, not the fronts themselves.

88. You supplied the fronts and paid for them?—Yes.

89. All he does is the putting them in?—Putting them in and making the frame to take them, and all the tables, sorting tables, and so on in connection with the post office.

90. Is it the custom of the Department to let such work without asking for tenders?—Yes, generally speaking—asking the contractor to put in a tender. We examine it and see that it is fair and just.

91. Are all post office fittings of this kind the same?—Not exactly the same.

92. How can you tell that the prices are fair and just if you do not put the work up to competition?—I do not know that competition is the best test.

93. Have you a standard for post offices; if so, when the men who erected the building in Napanee put in a tender for post office fittings, you could tell whether it was in accord with other offices?—Yes, that is what I did.

94. But this was not the same?—We can tell by the frames that go around the letter boxes. We can tell what that costs to be put in.

95. There was no tender for this work asked at all?—No.

96. I see there is a charge for lining the interior with terra cotta. Why was that change made?—To use this terra cotta brick. It does away with all pointing. It is a new industry.

97. Who controls it?—It is manufactured by the Rathbun Company.

98. Who was the contractor for this?—Newlands.

99. Was there any tender for this work?—No; we could tell approximately what it was worth.

100. There was no competition in connection with this either?—No.

101. What deduction was made for the work that this took the place of?—This is the difference.

102. Eleven hundred dollars?—Yes.

103. There appears to be a large amount of alterations and changes in this building. There is "putting in four extra windows, stone sills, door frame, &c., $209." Were these left out of the plans when first prepared?—I do not remember what that was.

104. You cannot explain why these changes were made?—I cannot without referring. It was authorized I see. Mr. Ewart inspected the work.

105. Is he in your office?—Yes.

106. What is this $200, for stucco cornice?—It was put in afterwards.

107. That is around the inside of this post office building?—Yes.

108. Who did that work?—The same man.

109. That of course was an extra?—That is an extra.

110. Now, I see gas fixtures charged for $169, who put in those?—The same man: I went up there about that.

111. Do you know how the price of those fixtures was arrived at?—Yes.

112. Was it by putting in a tender?—No; by taking the ordinary price allowed for that kind of work.

113. I see that Newlands also supplied the furniture for each place?—I believe he did.

114. He charges for gas fixtures, additional furniture for Post Office, and furniture for the Inland Revenue Office?—I believe he did.

115. What trade does he follow?—He is a general contractor.

116. Here is an item, "extra for chiselling," cut stone instead of pointed as per contract, 4,467 superficial feet at 20 cents, making a total of $893.40?—It was ascertained that they could not point the stone properly and therefore it was chiselled. The stone was intensely hard—what they call "tough," and it was necessary in order to make a good job of it, to cut it.

117. They cut the stone after it was in the building?—No, before they put it in.

118. And that was an extra?—Yes; the stone was as hard as granite.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant):

119. Was it the stone asked for?—Yes.

120. Were you not aware, before the contract was let that the stone could not be cut readily?—No, sir. It varies very much.

By Mr. Bowell :

121. Was not the contractor to furnish the stone?—He furnished the stone, but this was the cutting of it.

122. I understand that, but had he not to do some cutting?—He had to furnish cutting in a certain way.

By Mr. Somerville :

123. Did not the contract specify that the stone was to be cut?—No; the contract called for it to be pointed.

By Mr. McMullen :

124. Now, I see the item charged, "cutting moulding in caps at entrance doors, $186"—That is an alteration I had made.

125. Then there is "preparing for granolithic pavement," how many yards is there of that pavement?—A great quantity.

126. You have not been there yourself?—Not since this was done.

127. What quantity is there of it?—I cannot tell you from memory. The site is 166 feet long and about 68 feet frontage. It is a very wide sidewalk.

128. What width would it be?—In the front, it has an average of 12 feet or more.

129. I see the quantity of curb stone charged for?—That is around the face of it.

130. There would not be any more granolithic pavement than there is curb stone?—Not in the length.

131. There are only 282 feet of curb stone?—There are some entrances to take out of that.

By Mr. Bowell :

132. Did you run the curbstone to the entrances?—There must have been a curbstone underneath to support the bridge. There is 68 feet frontage of the building then the whole sidewalk besides.

133. Who put down the sidewalk?—The same man.

134. Was there any tender let to him?—No, sir; it was so much per foot.

135. What was the price per foot?—I think it was 42 cents.

136. For what?—For the granolithic.

137. 42 cents the square foot?—The square foot.

138. How many feet are there in it?—I cannot tell you from memory.

139. Can you from your Department?—Oh, yes.

140. Did that include the preparing of the ground and everything?—Oh, no.

141. I see the account reads, "preparing for granolithic pavement, labor in preparing bed, 192½ hours at 17½ cents, $33.69; then you have curb stone 282 lineal feet at $1.25—$352.50." That is not included in the sum paid to Newlands for the pavement itself?—Oh, no.

142. Do you know what sand is worth in Napanee?—No, I do not.

143. I notice that they charge $1 a load for sand. Is sand scarce around there?—I do not know, sir.

144. I see also that there is a charge of $48.16 for iron crossing plates. All these amounts for preparing the ground, including the sand, and the curbstone make a total of $536.30, and in addition to that, you paid for the granolithic pavement itself $1,509.55, making a total of $2,045?—Yes, sir.

145. Do you not think that is a pretty high price to pay?—Well the granolithic pavement is permanent.

By the Chairman :

146. What is the price of granolithic pavement, per square foot?—42 cents per square foot.

By Mr. McMullen :

147. Was it the firm in Ottawa here that did the work in Napanee?—No; I think it was done by a Montreal man. The crushed granite is made here.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

148. Do you lay that kind of sidewalk around all your public buildings in all the towns?—No, sir: but we find it the best.

By Mr. Somerville :

149. There is a charge for “extra plumbing and gas fitting” what is that for?—Chiefly the ventilation and the gas fittings. For some reason it was omitted in the specifications.

150. Is there any guarantee given by the parties laying the granolithic pavement?—Oh, yes.

151. Because I notice that around the Langevin Block the pavement sounds hollow?—It was done late in the season and the water got under it and the frost lifted it up.

152. Did they give a guarantee for the number of years that it will last?—Oh no, not for a number of years. Certain portions of the pavement around the Langevin Block have been relaid.

By Mr. McMullen :

153. Then I see a charge here “extra carpenter work $976.12” what is that for?—That was chiefly for extra partitions upstairs.

154. Do you not lay out your plans to provide against extras of this kind?—Yes, but changes are often asked for as the work is progressing.

155. Do you not think that $976 is a large amount for extra carpentering in the construction of a building of that kind?—It depends what it is for. I have got all the items here.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

156. Who suggested the changes—the Post Master?—I suppose the Post Master or the different officers.

By Mr. McMullen :

157. Newlands did the whole work—everything?—Yes.

By the Chairman :

158. Where does Mr. Newlands, the contractor, live?—Kingston.

By Mr. Somerville :

159. Did you compute the value of the extras?—I think it was done by the Architect. Mr. Ewart inspected the work when it was finished.

By Mr. Landerkin :

160. The site was bought?—Yes, it was bought.

161. Some times you get the land granted?—Yes.

162. And some times you buy it?—Yes.

163. What rule have you in regard to this?—I do not know that we have any particular rule.

164. In Orillia they gave the land, and in Owen Sound they gave the land?—That does not rest with me.

By Mr. Somerville :

165. You said Mr. Ewart inspected this work after it was done?—Yes.

166. Did Mr. Ewart fix the prices for Mr. Newlands before it was done?—No; some of it he did.

167. Who fixed the prices?—It was done by Mr. Ewart and myself and by Mr. Bartlett.

168. No price was fixed ?—Except those items where you get a lump sum.

169. After the work was done you inspected it ?—Yes. You could not fix a price until it was done.

By Mr. Landerkin :

170. Is this a brick building ?—No, stone building.

171. What was the contract price at first ?—$25,350.

172. How much was it completed for ?—$37,404 for the actual building.

By Mr. McMullen :

173. That does not include the pavement ?—Yes, it includes the pavement and the fittings of the interior.

By the Chairman :

174. Does that include the land ?—No, sir.

175. How much did the land cost ?—I do not remember.

By Mr. Landerkin :

176. What was the contract price originally ?—$25,350.

177. So it was $12,000 more ?—Yes.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

178. The fittings were about $2,000 ?—Yes.

179. That would be $27,000 then. They were not extras ?—Yes, they were.

180. They were not in the contract price ?—No.

181. What would have been in the contract price, was the $25,000, and then the $2,000 for these fittings ?—Yes.

182. $27,000 should have covered every thing ?—That only covered post office fittings. There were custom house fittings also.

183. What else was there ?—Heating.

184. How much was that ?—$2,000.

By the Chairman :

185. What were the items over and above the contract to make up the $37,000 ?—Hardwood finish $623 ; heating apparatus $2,000 ; Post Office fixtures $2,000. That seems to be outside of the contract.

186. Then there is the pavement ?—It is never included in the original contract ? I will give that afterwards.

187. You are supposed to give us the additional items now ?—Natural wood finish $623. It is all additional work.

188. Give us the additional work, not the extras ?—Customs fitting $350.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

189. That was not included in the contract ?—Oh no.

By Mr. Bowell :

190. What do you mean by customs fittings ?—The counter.

191. That does not include the furniture ?—Not the whole furniture.

By Mr. Paterson, (Brant) :

192. Is there an inland revenue office there ?—Yes.

193. Well what is the next additional work ?—" Outside step to letter box, $57." That would be an additional work ; it is not included in the contract.

194. Would not your contract provide for steps ?—Not for steps to this particular place. These were put leading up to the place to drop the letters in.

By the Chairman :

195. I think you had better start at the beginning and give us all the items that make up the $12,000, for extra and additional labor and material ?—First is the contract, $25,350. Then there is "hard wood natural finish $623; heating apparatus $2,000; outside steps to letter box $57; letter box complete $125; Customs fittings, $350; changes in gas inspector's office $80; furniture for same, $98; Post office fixtures $2,000; lining the interior walls with terra cotta, $1100.

196. That last item was not included in the contract?—No.

By Mr. Taylor :

197. The contract called for lath and plaster?—Yes and this is the difference between the two. Then there is a charge of $209 for putting in four extra windows, stone sills, one door and frame, excavating, concreting and lime-washing in wing; stucco corners in Post-Office $200.

By Mr. McMullen :

198. That was not provided in the contract?—No.

199. Why did you not provide for that?—I did not think it was necessary, but it was asked for afterwards. Then we have gas fixtures $169.

By Mr. Paterson, (Brant) :

200. Where were they?—In the different offices about the building. "Additional furniture for Post Office $147; furniture for Inland Revenue office $85; extra for chiselling cut stone $893.40."

By Mr. McMullen :

201. Was it Newlands who did that work also?—Yes.

By Mr. Foster :

202. Was that all the extra chiselling?—Yes, sir. Then there are about 20 small items, as for instance, wire floormats, stucco cornice in porch, stucco beads, labor laying weeping tiles, labor and materials building up old well under foundation walls, weeping tiles, excavating and laying drain pipe, extra plastering &c., the whole making a total of $272.42.

By Mr. Bowell :

203. Are all these extra or additional?—They are all extra.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

204. Were not weeping tiles provided for in the original contract?—No, sir.

205. Did you not intend taking the water off the roof?—These were around the foundation. Then we have the item "cutting mouldings in caps at entrance doors. $189.50."

206. This is not included in the sundries?—Oh, no; then there is, "taking up and resetting stone steps, $6."

207. Give us some detail of the small items?—Sodding, $93.20; preparing for granolithic pavement, $536, including iron crossing plates; granolithic pavement, $1,509.55.

208. How many square yards were there?—I do not remember.

209. Would it be forty-two cents per square foot?—About that. Extra on tile floor, $65.55; painting and bronzing hot water pipes, $55.18; plumbing and gas fitting, $156.73.

210. You had gas fittings before?—This is extra. Extra carpenters' work, $976.12.

By Mr. Landerkin :

211. When was this post office built?—It was finished in 1890.

212. When was it begun?—1888.

213. Were there two by-elections in that time?—I do not know.

By Mr. Somerville :

214. None of these changes or extras were suggested by yourself?—I was only there once and I suggested the caps. About the cutting of the stone they consulted me.

215. Who recommended the others?—I do not know. I cannot tell you now without referring to the papers.

216. Would it be by correspondence at the time?—I think they were nearly all authorized. The recommendations came from the local inspector.

217. You do not know who recommended these changes?—No, sir; at least I do not remember.

By Mr. Foster :

218. Does the course taken in regard to this Napanee post office represent fairly the action of the Department in regard to the construction of public buildings?—Yes.

219. They are about all of a sample?—Yes.

WILLIAM EVANS called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. McMullen :

220. Where do you live Mr. Evans?—Generally in Napanee. I am not there this summer though.

221. Did you tender on the work for this post office?—Yes.

222. Your tender was not the lowest then?—No, sir.

223. Did you make any inquiries with regard to the terms or condition of tendering?—No, sir, I read them in the advertisement.

224. Did you speak to any person about tendering?—Only to a carpenter. The carpenter and I went in together for the job. In the first tender my name was given to the Public Works Department and the next time his name went in.

225. Was it he who tendered or did you tender?—I tendered the first time and Cliffe tendered the second time. Cliffe is the carpenter I speak of.

226. Did you talk to anyone in Napanee about the work?—Yes, I talked to a man named Harshaw—A. T. Harshaw.

227. What had he to do with it?—He seemed to have most to do with it.

228. What was the nature of the conversation?—I do not remember that. Cliffe told me had promised to give him $100 for his influence in getting the contract and he asked me to do the same. I said I would not do it.

229. Who was this Cliffe; was he your partner?—He was to have been my partner on the job.

230. It appears this man Harshaw asked your partner to contribute $100?—He said he had done it, and asked me if I would do the same. I would not do it, and that is the reason I suppose I did not get a show on the job.

231. Is that the reason you did not get the contract?—I could not say that. Mr. Newlands was $200 less than me, I guess that was the reason.

232. Have you been through the building since it was finished?—Oh yes, many a time.

233. Have you seen the steps which are there?—Oh yes.

234. You are a stone mason by trade?—Yes.

235. Can you give us an idea from your general knowledge of the value of the steps?—I would not like to give you any idea of the value of carpentering work. It is none of my business.

236. Can you give us a little idea in regard to the alterations made to the outside of the building—chiselling the stone in place of pointing it?—I think I could about that.

237. What is your opinion about that; do you think the price paid for the chiselling was more than a good extra price?—As soon as I saw the accounts in the Napanee paper about that chiselling I thought it was altogether an extra price. It is stated in the specification that the work was to be pointed, and it was through a blunder of the contractor's foreman that it was chiselled. The foreman did not know much about his business, and he told the contractor he might just as well chisel it as point it, and it was chiselled. I wonder that the $800 was there for it. I did not know about until I saw it in the Napanee paper.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant):

238. It is not necessary to chisel it?—No, sir. I am sure that is the way it was done; it was through a blunder of the contractor's foreman.

239. Who was that; Bartlett?—Oh no. He was the inspector. The contractor had two foremen. He found out that the first foreman was no good and he was discharged within a couple of months.

By the Chairman:

240. Do you know that it was the foreman's mistake?—Yes, I know that. He told the contractor it would be just as well to chisel it as to point it.

241. Explain what the difference is between chiselling and pointing?—About what he got for it—twenty cents. The one is making a rough surface and the other is leaving a smooth surface.

By Mr. McMullen:

242. Was this done before the building was put up?—It was done as soon as they commenced to get the stone in the first place.

By the Chairman:

243. What is the difference in the value of stone per foot between chiselling and pointing?—About what he got—twenty cents.

244. Then he got about paid for the extra work done?—Yes.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant):

245. There was nothing about the nature of that stone that prevented it being pointed?—No.

By Mr. Bowell:

246. You heard what Mr. Fuller said about that?—Yes.

247. And you do not agree with him?—No.

By Mr. Somerville:

248. The extra amount was $800?—Yes.

249. You say that Mr. Newlands got the Government to pay for his foreman's blunder?—Yes.

250. Did he consult with this storekeeper, Mr. Harshaw?—I do not know about that.

251. Did your partner, Mr. Cliffe, tell you that he paid this storekeeper $100 for his influence to get the contract?—Yes.

252. Did he get it back when you did not get the contract?—He got the carpenter work as a sub-contract from Mr. Newlands.

253. Then he did not get the money back?—I guess not.

By the Chairman:

254. Who asked you to give Mr. Harshaw the money?—Mr. Cliffe.

255. Did Mr. Harshaw himself ask you for it?—No.

By Mr. Landerkin:

256. Who is Harshaw?—A storekeeper in Napanee.

257. A politician?—Yes.
 258. A Grit?—No.
 259. Is he president of an Association?—No.
 260. What is he?—A storekeeper.
 261. But takes an active part in politics?—Yes.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

262. Would that be for himself?—He and the member were very well acquainted.
 263. Had he influence?—I do not know about that.
 264. Do you mean Mr. Allison?—No, Wilson.

By Mr. Somerville :

265. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Harshaw about this?—No.
 266. Did he ask you?—No, it was Cliffe my partner.
 267. Did you have any conversation with Harshaw at all about the $100?—No.

By Mr. Landerkin :

268. With Mr. Wilson?—None at all.
 269. Did Mr. Harshaw assure you that Mr. Wilson would do what he said?—Mr. Harshaw told us that he was to do the business and not to talk with Mr. Wilson about it at all.

By Mr. Bowell :

270. Where is Cliffe now?—In Napanee.
 271. Did he pay Harshaw the $100?—Cliffe paid Harshaw. He told me he did.

By Mr. Taylor :

272. Did you tender for this building?—Yes.
 273. What were your figures?—$25,350.
 274. $200 more than Mr. Newlands?—Yes.

By Mr. Landerkin :

275. Could you have built it for $37,000?—My tender was very low and the job was worth more money.

By Mr. Somerville :

276. If you had known that you could get $12,000 extra you would have been glad to put your tender down lower than it was?—No.

By Mr. McMullen :

277. You have seen the granolithic sidewalk?—Yes.
 278. You have heard that it cost $2,045?—Yes.
 279. You know the price of sand there?—Yes, seventy-five cents a load. We built the collegiate institute and would use as much sand as was put in the post office, and I paid sixty-five cents; but that is a little low. Seventy-five cents would be about right.

By Mr. Taylor :

280. If you had to buy nine loads for a little job what would you pay?—Seventy-five cents. When I bought a large lot I paid sixty-five cents.

By Mr. Bowell :

281. Was it any further to draw it to this public building than to your building?—No.
 282. A load should be 9 feet by 3, should it not?—Yes. But they draw very small loads down there.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant):

283. Do you remember whether in the contract, there was to be any cutting of mouldings in the caps over the entrance doors?—That was done afterwards. There were some stone cutters there, cutting them after the building was up.

284. Was the amount paid for that fair, in your judgment?—I could not say about that. I do not know how long the men were there.

By Mr. Landerkin:

285. You say Mr. Harshaw told you not to see Mr. Wilson?—Yes.

286. That he was to do the business?—Yes.

287. That Wilson had left it to him?—Yes. I never saw Mr. Wilson about the matter at all, except when I was coming to the Public Works Department to see the stone, he was to give me a recommendation to Mr. Fuller.

288. What do you think he meant by leaving the business to Harshaw?—After that I was not in Harshaw's shop. I did not go into his shop again because I knew I was not going to get the job.

By Mr. Somerville:

289. Why?—I do not know.

290. Well, for what reason?—Well, for one particular reason they got my tender three days before it was necessary for it to be here. I knew before this that I might just as well give it to them.

291. Whom did you give it to?—To Harshaw.

292. Before the time for sending it in?—Yes, three days before it was necessary to send it to Ottawa.

293. Why did you give it to him?—I gave it to him and he was to forward it to Ottawa.

294. Was it a sealed letter?—No, it was open.

295. Why did you do that?—I knew I might just as well do that as I was not going to get the contract.

296. Harshaw impressed you with having the whole arrangements in his hands?—I knew if I did not give it to him my partner, knowing what the tender was, would give it to him.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant):

297. And he having given Harshaw $100 had some hopes of getting the contract?—Yes, but he did not get it though. He got a sub-contract however.

By the Chairman:

298. What is Newlands?—He is a stone mason.

299. Then he had to get a carpenter?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor:

300. Your tender was $200 more than Newlands'?—Yes.

301. And you consider yours a very low tender?—Yes, it was a low tender.

By the Chairman:

302. Did you consider you had the right to get the contract?—No, not if mine was not the lowest.

By Mr. Taylor:

303. You did not know what Newlands' tender was, before you sent yours in?—No.

By Mr. McMullen:

304. Did Newlands give his tender to Harshaw before he sent it in?—I do not know that.

305. You do not know whether he gave it to him or sent it in direct?—No, but I thought afterwards that Harshaw sent my tender to Newlands.

306. Do you know if Newlands paid Harshaw anything?—I do not know that.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

307. Would Cliffe do as well with Newlands as if he had worked on the contract with you?—I could not tell you that, sir.

308. Was he a working partner with Newlands?—No. After Newlands got the contract he gave Cliffe the sub-contract for the carpentering work.

By the Chairman :

309. Was Cliffe a Napanee man, too?—Yes.

By Mr. Bowell :

310. Was Cliffe negotiating with Newlands at the same time as he was with you?—No, it was all done afterwards, I think.

By the Chairman :

311. You do not think Cliffe was playing traitor with you?—No, I do not think he was.

WILLIAM EDWARD BAKER called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. McMullen :

312. Where do you live?—Napanee.

313. Do you know the post office that has been erected there recently?—I do.

314. You did some work on it, did you not?—I did.

315. What work did you do?—In the way of work?

316. Yes. Was it carpenter work or not?—We furnished the “Customs fittings,” I believed it is called in the plans and specifications.

317. Did you put them in?—Yes, sir.

318. You did the work of finishing up the Customs department of the buildings?—We did the woodwork in the Customs office.

319. What was the amount of your contract?—$225.

320. From whom did you take the contract?—From Mr. George Newlands.

321. I see in the account here, that the sum of $350 is charged for that work?—Yes.

322. Did you do all the work at the Customs fittings?—Well, I could not answer that question. As near as I can remember the plans and specifications that I went by were called “Customs fittings.” I worked according to those plans and specifications. I presume they are in the department.

323. And for that work you got $225?—I did.

324. And no more?—No more.

325. You have seen the steps that have been erected outside the Post Office?—I have seen them.

326. There is charged in these extras here $57 for “outside steps to letter box.” You being a practical mechanic should be able to give us an idea of the value of those steps?—Does that entry just say, wooden steps that lead to the letter box?

327. It simply says “outside steps to letter box.” I understand there is a granolithic step for getting on from carriages?—I know that step.

328. There is that step and the two wooden steps?—That step I know nothing about.

329. What size is the granolithic step?—I should say it is 14 or 16 inches, by possibly 30 inches.

330. 30 inches long and 14 or 16 inches wide?—About that.

331. How high?—Something like a foot.

332. Is it placed on the top of the granolithic pavement?—Yes; it sets on it.

By Mr. Taylor :

333. Will it run in clear to the wall?—No, sir. It is just one block that sits right out on the edge of the granolithic pavement, to step off from carriages when people are going into the Customs office. Some people call it a horse block. It was made in a mould, and sits a little on the top of the pavement. It is bevelled on the bottom and around the edge.

334. It can be moved about?—Yes, sir, it is only put there a little while ago.

335. What are the wooden steps worth?—The wooden steps are not as first made. I happened to be there and saw them cutting them down. I think there are three sets now, there were four. The largest and most expensive have been taken away.

336. What is the value of the two of them?—I think there are three altogether.

337. The architect said there were only two?—I am quite sure there are three. Those wooden steps would be worth from $15 to $20.

By Mr. Foster :

338. Those that are there?—Yes; about $15.

By Mr. Somerville :

339. What would the four steps be worth?—Originally about $20.

340. Would that be the outside figure?—I think that is a good figure for the steps.

341. What is the size of them?—They are of 2-inch plank, about 10 or 11 inches high. They are framed up and faced on the back and each side. They are planed and nicely made.

342. Is there anything at the sides?—The step is formed by coming out from the building and then going back to the building. There are three sides to them.

By Mr. Bowell :

343. Do you know the whole work that was done in connection with the building of the steps, including the removal of one portion?—No; I cannot say as to that.

344. Do you think that $57 was too much for the whole work?—To remodel the steps over and fit them to the wall?

345. Exactly, and including the granolithic step—all the work that was done. If they put in one step and then had to take it away, they should be paid for it. I want you to give us an idea of the value of the whole work from the beginning?—Well, I do not know what the granolithic would be.

346. The granolithic step cost $10.50. Take that off?—As I said, $20 would be enough for the whole of the steps as they were to be built. They would be worth $15 as they are now.

347. Do you mean to say that the cost to the mechanic would be about $35?—Oh, no. It would be $20 to him for the four steps. They just knocked off one step from the original four, leaving three steps in the place of the four.

By Mr. McMullen :

348. You say the original steps would be worth about $20?—Yes; and they would have to be paid for.

By Mr. Taylor :

349. Then there would be the cost of changing?—Yes, there would be the taking of the one step off and the fitting them to the building.

350. What would that be worth?—If I were putting them there at the Government expense I would not consider it worth anything. I would want pay for the remodelling of the step.

351. How much?—I do not know how long it would take a man, but I should say $3.

By Mr. Bowell :

352. Would that include profits as an employer?—I would not pay the man $3.

353. You mean that is the value you place on it?—Yes, that is the value I would place on changing the step. Of course I did not time the man and I did not see it done. I would not have remembered so well only that I thought if I had been doing the work I should have taken off the bottom step instead of the top one.

354. It would have been more serviceable?—Yes, but it is very nice as it is.

By Mr. McMullen :

355. You have been through that building?—Yes several times.

356. I see there are a number of small items here—100 feet of good timber, $4, laying floor for attic, 14 squares of floor at $3.15, total $44.10?—I do not know anything about that.

357. Is that a reasonable price or not?—I do not know anything about it whatever.

358. You never saw it?—I never saw it.

359. Do you know what is the value of the three bronze hinges—the three bronze hinges on the external door $8.80?—No, sir; I do not.

360. What is the value of the fencing—135 feet of fencing?—I do not know. I have no idea about the fencing at all. I could not begin to describe it.

By Mr. Somerville :

361. Is it something that cannot be described?—Oh, no sir. I have looked at it. I could draw you a diagram by which you could recognize it, but I have not noticed this one particularly.

362. I thought probably it was so indescribable that you would not undertake to do it?—Oh no.

By Mr. McMullen :

363. All you know is that you did the Customs fittings and got $25 for your job?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Taylor :

364. You are not sure you did them all?—The plans and specifications call for Customs fittings.

365. Did Newlands furnish you with plans and specifications for the work?—Yes.

366. And you gave him a price?—Yes.

367. But whether or not that included all you do not know?—As far as the woodwork is concerned I am quite confident that is all the wood work that was done in connection with the Customs' office.

368. But he may have done other work there that was not included in your contract?—There may have been some other work done.

By Mr. Somerville :

369. Do you know a man by the name of Harshaw, a store-keeper?—Yes.

370. Had you to see him before you got this sub-contract?—No, sir.

371. You had nothing to do with him?—I had nothing to do with him.

---

FREDERICK WILLIAM SMITH called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. McMullen :

372. You live in Napanee?—Yes, sir.

373. You supplied a clock for the post office in Napanee?—I did, sir.

374. In the notice that you got to attend here you were notified to bring all the invoices and papers in your possession connected with the clock?—I was, sir.

375. Have you the invoice?—The invoice of the clock? I have not got the invoice of what I paid for the clock.

376. Who supplied the clock?—I supplied it to the Government.

377. Who was the maker?—The clock was made in Montreal.

378. Who supplied you with the clock?—Mr. Chanteloup; I bought it from him.

379. Have you the invoice of what he charged you for the clock?—Yes.

380. That is what we want.

MR. FOSTER—I do not think you have any right to ask the witness to produce that.

By Mr. McMullen :

381. Whom did you give your tender to for supplying the clock?—I tendered to the Department.

By the Chairman :

382. Were tenders asked for?—Yes; tenders were asked for.

By Mr. McMullen :

383. How much did you get for putting in that clock?—$1,850 for the clock, and $125 additional for placing it in position.

By Mr. Bowell :

384. That included the clock, putting it in position and all the expenses connected with it?—All the expenses in connection with it. I supplied the clock to the Government in thorough running order for that money.

By the Chairman :

385. Was the opening made ready for the clock?—No; there was a great deal of work necessary to be done.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

386. Was the tower there?—The room was there, but I had to put it in condition—to fit it up.

387. Is there a bell to the clock?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

388. You had not to do any carpentering?—Yes; quite a lot. I undertook to do everything in connection with fitting up the room for $125 additional.

By Mr. McMullen :

389. What papers have you brought with you?—Just the call for the tenders; all that I got.

By Mr. Somerville :

390. Was it advertised in the newspapers?—I do not know if it was advertised for.

391. You say tenders were asked for; they simply wrote to you?—Yes, sir.

392. Was anyone else asked to supply the clock?—I do not know, sir.

By Mr. McMullen :

393. The notification which you received from the Chief Architect's office, reads as follows:—"Messrs. F. W. Smith & Brother, Napanee, Ontario—Please furnish a tender to supply and place in the tower of the public building at Napanee, a tower clock with four dials complete. Tender to include a detailed specification giving size and style of dial, escapement, weight of bell, &c. Clock to be of Canadian manufacture." This memorandum is dated Ottawa, 16th September, 1889, and is signed by "Thomas Fuller, Chief Architect." Do you know if any other man was notified to send in a tender?—Not that I am aware of. I never asked about that.

394. You may be the only one that was asked?—I do not know anything about that.

By Mr. Taylor :

395. When you got that notice you made inquiry as to the lowest price at which you could purchase a clock for?—Yes.

396. And then you sent in your tender?—I tendered accordingly.

397. Expecting to have competition?—Certainly. I did not know as to who had been asked to tender.

398. And when your tender was accepted, you put in the clock?—I did.

By Mr. McMullen :

399. Do you refuse to state the price at which you purchased the clock for?—Unless I am compelled. I do not think it is fair that you should ask me. You might just as well ask me what I pay for a watch that I sell to a customer.

400. Did you contribute any money directly or indirectly, to any person in order to get the contract for this clock?—None whatever.

401. You did not promise to pay to any person directly or indirectly, any sum provided you got the contract?—Not one cent.

By Mr. Somerville :

402. You know Mr. Harshaw?—Yes, sir.

403. Had you any conversation with him about getting the contract for the clock?—Not in the slightest.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

404. How did Mr. Fuller come to ask you to put in a tender?—Well, when I saw they would require a clock, I thought that was my business and I would try to obtain the contract to supply it. I thereupon wrote to our member Mr. Wilson, asking him to use his influence to procure for me the contract for supplying the clock. He replied to me that I was the only applicant he had had so far, and that he would bear me in mind. That was all I had from him. I suppose that is the way they came to send to me asking me to supply the clock.

405. How long was it before you got the contract?—A long time after.

By the Chairman :

406. Whom did you write to, did you say?—I wrote to Mr. Wilson, our then member, but it was a long time afterwards before I got the contract. I spoke to Mr. Wilson before the Post Office was commenced—immediately after the plans came up to Napanee. I saw that provision was made in the plans for a clock, that there was an opening for a clock in the tower. I said to myself "They are going to put in a clock and I am going to get the contract if I can." Mr. Wilson was then down here attending to his Parliamentary duties and I wrote to him telling him that I saw they were going to have a clock in the public building, that I would like to get the contract and that I would like to secure his influence. His reply was something like this. "Your letter to hand. You are the first and only applicant so far." That is the only reference he made to it in one way or the other.

By Mr. Somerville :

407. You are a conservative?—That is my politics.

408. Your brother and you are in partnership?—Yes.

409. Do you know if your firm contributed in any way to any fund for getting the contract for putting in that clock?—In no way or manner. I swear positively. In no way, shape or manner did either my brother or I ever give a cent in any way for getting that contract. We got the contract on its merits, just the same as if you asked me to procure it as cheap as I could but allowing me to make a fair profit.

By Mr. Taylor :

410. You got $125 for extra work ?—Yes, for fitting up the room.

411. Did you make any profit on that ?—No; the work cost me more than $125. The other part would have to suffer a little there.

412. Does the bell go with the clock ?—Yes. It is an 800-lbs. bell. I had to furnish the stand for it also. I had the hoisting of it into position; the hoisting of the clock, the fitting of it in properly, the runs for the weight, the fixing of the room for the bell, the hoisting of the bell, the stand for the bell and many things.

413. Does the clock keep good time ?—Yes; it keeps splendid time.

414. Have you charge of it ?—Yes.

By Mr. McMullen :

415. How much do you get a year for keeping charge of it ?—I got $30 last year.

416. How often do you wind it ?—I wind it twice a week, and keep it in repair.

417. You gave a guarantee in connection with it ?—I did not guarantee to wind it.

418. How many stairs have you to go up to get to it ?—Some four or five pairs of stairs.

419. And you have to wind it twice a week ?—Yes and keep it in condition.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

420. Have you put in any other clock of this kind previously ?—No, sir.

421. Have you any idea of the value of them ?—Yes. My notification called for a Canadian clock and I procured it at the best possible figure.

422. You do business with the firm you bought the clock from? Was it understood you were to take the clock from them ?—No, sir.

423. You had the liberty to buy the clock where you liked ?—Wherever I liked.

424. And putting it in ?—Yes.

By Mr. Taylor :

425. On'y it was to be of Canadian manufacture ?—Yes.

426. You bought that clock in Montreal ?—Yes.

427. And shipped it at your own risk ?—Yes.

428. If an accident had happened in transit you would have been responsible ?—Yes. I may say that I had to pay for it before it was shipped.

By Mr. Somerville :

429. Are you sure it was made in Canada ?—I saw it in course of construction, and had several changes made in it while it was in course of construction.

430. Mr. Chanteloup is a wholesale merchant ?—He is a maker of clocks.

By Mr. Taylor :

431. You got him to build you the clock ?—Yes; I asked him to build a clock of a certain kind of escapement; a certain kind of pendulum; a bell of a certain weight and tone. It was just according to my ideas that the clock was made. I wanted to get one that I thought would suit the Government best.

By Mr. Bowell :

432. Are you a practical clock and watchmaker ?—Yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

433. Did the Government specify the kind of clock required ?—The Government asked me to specify the kind of clock I intended to supply.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

434. The Department asked you for the information and you gave them that ?—I did.

By Mr. Taylor :

435. Before you sent in your tender you made inquiries, what you could get the clock for?—Oh, yes.

By Mr. Somerville :

436. I suppose you are an active politician in Napanee?—Yes.

437. Do you contribute to the funds of the party?—No, sir.

Mr. FOSTER—I do not think such questions as that should be asked?

WITNESS—I am competent to answer the question. I did not at this last election, in any way whatever, contribute anything in connection with that clock transaction.

DAVID EWART called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. McMullen :

438. You were in charge of the erection of the Napanee Post Office?—Not specially. I visited it once or twice during construction. There was a local architect in charge.

439. You have heard that an error was made by one of the contractor's hands in the matter of the stone work, which necessitated it being chiselled in place of the smooth finish?—Chiselled in place of pointing.

440. Do you know anything in regard to that?—I remember talking about it at the time, owing to the nature of the stone they could not chisel it. It would not point.

441. Are you aware of that of your own knowledge?—Yes, I know the nature of the stone.

442. A man was here to-day who gave evidence, who says that the statement is not correct. He says the reason why the change was made was on account of an error of the contractor's foreman and that the chiselling was done through an error on his part, and the contractor was paid for it?—I could not speak as to that. The stone is too hard to point. It chisels very well; it is something of the same nature as limestone.

By the Chairman :

443. You think chiselling was the proper method of doing it?—Yes, the contractor could not make a good job of the pointing.

By Mr. Bowell :

444. A witness has stated here this afternoon that the contractor's foreman made a blunder in chiselling, instead of pointing the stone, and that afterwards the Government accepted the chiselling and paid him $893 extra for the blunder made by his foreman?—From what I have heard Mr. Fuller say I do not think that is true.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

445. Why did you call for the pointing?—This was a new quarry where the stone was obtained. I do not know that we have any other building constructed with that same stone.

By Mr. McMullen :

446. Is it not the same stone that you had here in the Department, that was shown to those who were asked to tender?—I could not say that.

447. You had a sample here in the Department, I understand? When parties were asked to tender, did you point out the stone and say that is the quality of stone and here are the specifications?—I could not say in reference to this particular stone. I do not know whether there was a sample on exhibition at the Department or not.

448. Who would know that?—Those who were examining the plans. It was the first stone that we ever had anything built from that quarry.

By Mr. Taylor :

449. Does the chiselling make a better looking job?—It is a better looking job altogether.

By Mr. McMullen :

450. Were you there when the granolithic pavement was put down?—No, but I have seen it since it was put down.

451. Who authorized it?—It was approved by the Minister before it was done.

452. Who had the contract?—Newlands. That is work which is generally given to the contractor.

453. What is the value of such pavement?—40 cents a foot.

454. How many feet are there in it?—You can get that from the plans. We have the plans showing the exact quantity.

455. Was there 40 cents a foot paid for it in addition to preparing the ground?—Yes; that is generally done. If the preparing of the ground is included in the contract, we generally allow 50 cents a foot.

456. Do you know what the preparing of the ground cost in this case?—I cannot say.

457. Do you know how many feet there are?—No.

458. The preparing of the ground, I may say, cost $522. Was there rock to be quarried out of the way?—I could not say.

459. You do not know anything about it?—I do not.

By Mr. Somerville :

460. Would there be 52,220 feet of granolithic pavement?—I think, until I had taken out the quantity I would rather not say.

461. If you usually allowed 10 cents for preparing the ground and the total cost was $522 for that special work that would be 5,220 feet?—I should have to look at the plans.

By Mr. Taylor :

462. Does not that amount include the curb stone?—The curb stone would be worth $1 a foot.

By Mr. McMullen :

463. Do not those who put in the granolithic pavement supply the curb stone?—No; that is a special charge by itself.

464. Do they supply it here in Ottawa; when they put in this kind of pavement in the city of Ottawa, does the price charged not include the curb stone?—I could not say.

465. It is a solid curb stone you put in at Napanee?—Yes; as far as I know the Government has always paid for the two distinct. It is 50 cents a foot for the granolithic, and the curb stone runs from 80 cents to $1.25 per running foot.

By Mr. Somerville :

466. Who suggests the alterations in the contract? I see a great many alterations were made in this Napanee Post Office?—I do not know. The member sometimes suggests them.

467. The member for the county?—Yes.

468. Who suggested the alteration in the Post Office at Napanee?—I could not say.

469. But suggestions were made to you?—Not directly to me. Of course you know the Chief Architect is always there and he always gets the instructions.

470. The Chief Architect says you had more to do with it than he?—When he is there, they talk to him about anything that comes up. I always go to him about such matters.

471. Do you know who suggested these alterations?—I know the member suggested some of them.

472. Mr. Wilson?—Yes.

By Mr. Bowell :

473. He suggested the stucco over the door?—Yes.

474. What else?—The hardwood finish was another.

By Mr. Somerville :

475. Did he suggest this terra cotta inside?—I could not say who suggested that. I think the Rathbun Co. suggested that and applied for it, but I do not know.

476. They make that?—Yes, they make that. Of course it was very natural they would like to get these things introduced. It is a new thing and a good thing for fireproofing.

By Mr. McMullen :

477. Who built the fence?—The same contractor.

478. Was no tender asked for it?—No.

479. How did you arrive at the price?—He was asked to state what kind of fence he would put up. It was an ordinary board fence, dressed on both sides, with battens on both sides and a cap. It cost 70 to 80 cents per running foot.

480. It is a picket fence. You do not know how the price is arrived at?—I do not know.

By Mr. Somerville :

481. When the Department ordered that these alterations should be made how did you arrive at the conclusion as to what the contractor should get?—Generally speaking there is a plan made. We make a plan.

482. And it is given to the contractor at his prices?—Oh, no. The Department makes an estimate.

483. And the contractor has to accept your figures?—Sometimes he does and sometimes he does not. I have known cases both ways. We have a Mr. Shearer in the Department. He is a practical builder. He measures our plans generally, takes out the quantities and as he is well up in prices he then makes an estimate.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

484. Do you lay down a costly walk like this around all the public buildings in the small towns?—Oh, no.

485. Is there a frontage tax in Napanee?—I do not know. As a general rule the Government put down their own sidewalk at their own expense around the public buildings.

486. But many of the sidewalks are simply plank, I suppose?—Yes.

487. Is there a granolithic walk on the balance of this street in Napanee?—I think not. I believe this is the only granolithic sidewalk in Napanee.

By Mr. Somerville :

488. Who suggested that that granolithic sidewalk should be put there?—I think there was some talk about it.

489. Can you remember who suggested it?—I think it was the member.

490. You think it was Mr. Wilson?—I think so.

491. How did you come to make it 12 feet wide; is the rest of the sidewalk 12 feet wide?—No, sir; but the building stands back. It would have looked a mean thing to have left it out of the level.

492. Is it guaranteed for a length of time?—No; I do not think there is any need for that.

493. If you strike your cane on the granolithic sidewalk around the Langevin Block it sounds hollow?—Of the sidewalks put down by the Government I do not think there is anything wrong with them.

494. The one here in Ottawa sounds hollow?—It should not be.

By Mr. Bowell :

495. Do you think that the granolithic, even at the price we are paying for it, is the cheapest walk that can be put down?—I do not believe there is any cheaper walk that can be put down.

By Mr. McMullen :

496. How do you arrive at that? Is it cheaper than flagstone?—Well, take Edinburgh for instance. In Princess Street the sidewalk is granolithic and it has been down for 20 years. The stone came from Caithness. It is an Edinburgh man who has the patent for it.

497. On both sides of Princess Street?—No; because there is only one sidewalk on Princess Street.

498. What is the price which the Department usually pays for clocks for the public buildings?—They run from $1,800 to $2,150; that is a clock with a bell of from 800 to 1,000 lbs. weight, with four dials. The specification is usually like what is asked for in this case.

499. What did the Hamilton clock cost?—I think $1,800. The price depends a good deal upon the weight of the bell; the bell runs generally at 40 cents a lb.

By the Chairman :

500. How does the bell on the Napanee clock stand in comparison with the bells on other public clocks?—The Trenton and Hamilton clocks were made by a Toronto firm. They are about the same.

By Mr. Paterson (Brant) :

501. Was any other tender asked for beside Mr. Smith's?—I think not. The Department does not pretend to be clock-makers. We make our own specifications and compare them with what we previously had.

By Mr. Taylor :

502. Do you consider this clock at Napanee cheap?—We consider it fair value.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, 24th September, 1891.

Committee met—MR. WALLACE in the Chair.

A. T. HARSHAW called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Bowell :

503. Mr. William Evans was examined before this Committee the other day and in the course of his examination the following questions and answers were given :—

“ 226. Did you talk to anyone in Napanee about the work?—Yes, I talked to a man named Harshaw—A. T. Harshaw.

227. What had he to do with it?—He seemed to have most to do with it.

228. What was the nature of the conversation?—I do not remember that. Cliffe told me he had promised to give him $100 for his influence in getting the contract and he asked me to do the same. I said I would not do it.

229. Who was this Cliffe—was he your partner?—He was to have been my partner on the job.

230. It appears this man Harshaw asked your partner to contribute $100?—He said he had done it, and asked me if I would do the same. I would not do it, and that is the reason I suppose I did not get a show on the job.”
Is there any truth in that statement so far as it applies to you?—Not one word.

504. Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Evans about this contract?—I had not.

505. Did you ever ask Mr. Cliffe for $100 or any other sum?—Never.

506. Or anybody else in connection with this matter?—Never.

507. You have no doubt that you are the gentleman referred to by Mr. Evans?—No doubt about it, because I had a conversation with Mr. Cliffe about it. I built a building there and Mr. Cliffe and several other contractors tendered for it. Mr. Evans was one of the tenderers, but as his tender was too high it was thrown out. I had an interest in these men and wanted to help them along to get the contract, being townsmen; but pecuniarily, I had no interest in the thing in any shape or form. Mr. Evans was not a partner with Mr. Cliffe in any shape or form. It was a sort of syndicate. The men who did the carpentry, and glazing and painting got together and put in one lump sum, and the tender was in the name of George A. Cliffe.

508. Question 250 by Mr. Somerville was as follows :—

251. Did your partner, Mr. Cliffe, tell you that he paid this storekeeper $100 for his influence to get the contract?—Yes.

252. Did he get it back when you did not get the contract?—He got the carpenter work as a sub-contract from Mr. Newlands.

253. Then he did not get the money back?—I guess not.”

—I did not know Mr. Newlands until months after he got the contract and was working on the job.”

509. The question was then asked afterward whether you had interceded, if I remember correctly, with the Government to secure the contract for Mr. Newlands?—I had no interest in the contract in any shape or form.

510. Was there ever any understanding between you and Mr. Wilson that he was not to be applied to or spoken to on this subject, but that you had it in your own hands?—No. There was nothing to hide from Mr. Wilson as it was a legitimate matter. If these men had the lowest tender they would get the contract.

511. The evidence proceeds :

“267. Did you have any conversation with Harshaw at all about the $100?—No.

268. With Mr. Wilson?—None at all.

269. Did Mr. Harshaw assure you that Mr. Wilson would do what he said?—Mr. Harshaw told us that he was to do the business and not to talk with Mr. Wilson about it at all.”

—No such conversation ever took place.

By Mr. Taylor :

512. I have not read over these questions, but if my memory serves me right the witness Mr. Evans stated that when the tender was made up to be sent down to Ottawa it was placed in your hands openly; that you knew the amount of the tender and forwarded it to Ottawa. Is that true?—Mr. Evens never gave me the tender and I never saw his tender.

By the Chairman :

513. Mr. Evans gave this Committee to understand that the tender was open when it was put into your hands, and he does not know whether you ever forwarded it to Ottawa. I think he stated that his impression was, that you had given his figures away to Newlands, who was $200 the lowest?—I think, gentlemen, if you look into the case you will find that Mr. Evans never tendered for the red sandstone—the stone of which this post office is built to-day. I received the tender from Cliffe, which I forwarded to the Department.

By Mr. Lister :

514. Did Cliffe get the contract?—No.

515. Did you ever tell anyone what Cliffe's tender was?—No.

516. Did you know at the time?—I did.

By Mr. Somerville :

517. Why did he come to you?—Because these men were all working for me and thought I could draw it up better than themselves. I had no interest further than to see our own townsmen get the contract. He gave me the amount, and I wrote out the tender, and he signed it as George A. Cliffe. He brought the tender to me.

518. You mean you acted as clerk for him and prepared the tender sent to the Department?—Exactly. That was the only interest I had in it. As I understood it, the first tenders were all too high and the Department would have nothing to do with them. I had an interest in these men to see if their tenders could not be worked down. These men sometimes imagine that in doing anything for the Government they can get pretty high prices. I believe they could have cut down if it had not been for this man Evans.

519. Evans never brought the tender to you?—No; I would not have done anything for Evans. My only interest was in Cliffe and Wallace and those men who had worked for me on my own building. I am no politician; never was at a committee meeting in my life and know nothing about politics and don't want to. I vote straight Conservative and there is an end of it.

By Mr. Bowell :

520. I find this evidence to which the Chairman has called your attention after the question by Mr. Landerkin: "You say Mr. Harshaw told you not to see Mr. Wilson?"—I never saw Mr. Wilson. I think I saw him once and asked him if the Napanee tenders were the lowest, would they get the contract, and he assured me that if they had the lowest tender they should have the job.

521. Mr. Somerville just asked you if you acted as their clerk. Their friend, I think, you meant?—Certainly. I got no pay for it.

522. "You say Mr. Harshaw told you not to see Mr. Wilson?" That was one of the questions?—I never had any conversation with Evans at all. He was no friend of mine.

523. Then he went on to say:

"285. You say Mr. Harshaw told you not to see Mr. Wilson?—Yes.

286. That he was to do the business?—Yes.

287. That Wilson had left it to him?—Yes. I never saw Mr. Wilson about the matter at all, except when I was coming to the Public Works Department to see the stone; he was to give me a recommendation to Mr. Fuller."

—This man Evans had no good feeling towards me because he did not get the contract for this building of mine. What evidence he has given is hearsay evidence.

524. I asked this question:

"270. Where is Cliffe now?—In Napanee.

271. Did he pay Harshaw the $100?—Cliffe paid Harshaw. He told me he did."—I did not pay him one cent.

URIAH WILSON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Bowell :

525. You have heard the portion of the evidence given by Mr. Evans which I have just read to Mr. Harshaw, in reference to your leaving this matter to Mr. Harshaw, and that you were not to be consulted in regard to it. Is there any truth in that?—No, sir, not a word. I am not built that way.

APPOINTED TO ENQUIRE INTO CERTAIN CHARGES PREFERRED AGAINST THE MEMBER FOR EAST NORTHUMBERLAND.

EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

REPORT.

---

The Select Committee appointed to enquire fully into certain charges preferred against the member for the East Riding of the County of Northumberland, beg leave to present the following as their

SECOND REPORT :

Your Committee find, respecting the charge in reference to the appointment of Hedley H. Simpson as Government Lighthouse-keeper at Presqu'Isle Point, County of Northumberland :—

1. That Edward Cochrane was on the 7th day of January, 1888, and now is, a member of Parliament for the said riding and a supporter of the Government.

2. That in the year 1888 the said Hedley H. Simpson made and delivered to one James Stanley two promissory notes for $100 each, one of which was endorsed by his uncle, Darius Simpson (a responsible party), and handed them to the said James Stanley, who loaned the said Hedley H. Simpson $200 thereon.

3. The said Hedley H. Simpson applied the said money towards the payment of a promissory note made by Dr. Willoughby and one Piekworth, and endorsed first by William L. Payne, and secondly by the said Edward Cochrane. The said note was discounted at the Standard Bank to raise money to pay a part of a note for $1,000 held by one Webb, which had been given some time previous to pay expenses connected with a protest, arising out of a local election for the Ontario Legislature, about the year 1883; the said Edward Cochrane not being a party to the original note and in no way responsible for its payment;

Your Committee find that the said Hedley H. Simpson did not, in pursuance of any corrupt or other bargain with the said Edward Cochrane, make the notes or get the same, or either of them, endorsed, or have the same or the proceeds thereof placed in a bank for the use of the said Edward Cochrane personally, or for any political purpose.

4. The said Hedley H. Simpson subsequently paid the said notes made by him.

5. The said Hedley H. Simpson was appointed as such Lighthouse-keeper.

6. That it was never corruptly nor in any way agreed, by and between the said Edward Cochrane and the said Hedley H. Simpson, that if the said Hedley H. Simpson would make and deliver to one James Stanley two promissory notes for $100 each, endorsed by some responsible person, he, the said Edward Cochrane, would procure the appointment of the said Hedley H. Simpson to the said office of Lighthouse-keeper for the Government lighthouse on Presqu'Isle Point; and whatever did take place with reference to the said appointment was between the said Hedley H. Simpson and the said James Stanley.

7. That a committee in the riding looked after the recommendation of persons to be appointed to the offices referred to in the charges, and such committee, through the said James Stanley, arranged for the recommendation of the said Simpson, and the said Stanley asked him to contribute towards payment of the said indebtedness of the party in reference to the protest above referred to, and he voluntarily consented to make a contribution for that purpose to the extent aforesaid.

Your Committee find, regarding the charge in reference to the proposed appointment of Arundel R. Simpson to the office of Bridge-keeper on the Murray Canal :—

1. That Obadiah Simpson was not promised in the summer of 1889, or at any other time, by the said Edward Cochrane, the Government office of keeper or attendant of one of the swing bridges over the Murray Canal, and no evidence was given to support this charge.

2. That James Stanley did not propose to the said Arundel R. Simpson, with the knowledge and consent of the said Edward Cochrane or otherwise, that if the said Arundel R. Simpson would pay $150 and give to his father, the said Obadiah Simpson, a life lease of his farm (as compensation for his not being appointed such Bridge-keeper, which the charge alleges he had been promised and had not received), he, the said Arundel R. Simpson, would be appointed such Bridge-keeper.

3. As to the charge that shortly afterwards the said Arundel R. Simpson had an interview with the said Edward Cochrane on the same subject, when the said Edward Cochrane said to him that they could not take the $150 for said office, that Stanley should not have made that offer, that other arrangements had been made with one Wesley Goodrich, who agreed to pay $200 and give said lease for said appointment,—Your Committee find the only evidence which goes to substantiate even a portion of such charge was that given by Arundel R. Simpson. That the said Arundel R. Simpson had, in a solemn declaration which he had previously signed, given an entirely different version of certain matters connected with these charges from what he gave before this committee, and generally the manner in which the said Arundel R. Simpson gave his evidence, and because of his being contradicted by other evidence, and from his demeanour on the stand while giving his testimony, your Committee cannot place any reliance on the testimony he gave in reference to these charges.

4. That the charge that the said Edward Cochrane then and there corruptly proposed to the said Arundel R. Simpson that, if he would pay the said Edward Cochrane $200 and give said life lease, he would be appointed, and that the said Arundel R. Simpson refused to do so, was wholly unsupported by evidence, and no attempt was made to prove the same, and it appears by the evidence that the said Arundel R. Simpson was not, nor ever had been, the owner of a farm.

Your Committee find, as to the charge in reference to the appointment of Wesley Goodrich to the office of Bridge-keeper on the Murray Canal :—

1. That it was never corruptly nor in any way agreed to, by and between the said Wesley Goodrich and the said Edward Cochrane, that if the said Edward Cochrane would procure the appointment of the said Wesley Goodrich to the said office, he, the said Wesley Goodrich, would pay the sum of $200, and execute to the said Obadiah Simpson a life lease of his farm, with a condition in the lease that if said Goodrich lost said appointment said lease would be cancelled. The said Edward Cochrane had no connection with the making of the agreement and lease between said Goodrich and Obadiah Simpson; they did the business themselves, and your Committee find that no corrupt agreement was made by or between any persons as to such agreement and lease.

2. Your Committee find that as to the charge concerning the executing the lease by Goodrich and wife to Obadiah Simpson, and the payment by Goodrich of the $200, that the lease was executed and delivered as aforesaid, but the same was not done, as charged, in pursuance of a corrupt bargain, nor in pursuance of any agreement made with the said Edward Cochrane. The said Obadiah Simpson was an old man, desirous of being appointed as keeper of a bridge; and the said Goodrich, who owned a small farm, and had previously received a sunstroke, which rendered him, to a considerable extent, incapable of working on his farm, was desirous of getting the same position, in order that he might be able to make a living in such a class of work as he was then able to perform, and was willing, if he received the appointment, to make a lease of his farm for the life of the said Obadiah Simpson, and thereby benefit himself and make some provision for the said Obadiah Simpson in his old age (he being nearly 80 years old), and agreed of his own free will to make the life lease to the said Obadiah Simpson, whereby provision would be made for the said Obadiah Simpson, and thereupon and for the reason last aforesaid expressed, the said lease was executed and delivered to the said Obadiah Simpson. And as to the payment of the said $200 by the said Goodrich, he (the said Goodrich) had heard that money was being raised to pay off the hereinbefore mentioned indebtedness of the party in the riding, and he voluntarily offered to contribute $200 for that purpose; and one John Wade, a member of the said committee in the said riding, having heard of this, and also that the said Goodrich had offered to make the said lease, came and asked him if he would make such contribution, and he thereupon said, he would give the sum of $200 towards such purpose, and at the time, he, the said Goodrich, did so, he knew he was to be recommended by the said committee for appointment as such Bridge-keeper, and that he had not yet been appointed; but he, the said Goodrich, did not say he would give said $200, nor did he give nor pay the same under any agreement that his recommendation or appointment was dependent upon such promise or payment; but voluntarily offered to give, and voluntarily paid said $200 in part liquidation of the said indebtedness, by sending the same to the said W. L. Payne on account thereof. That the said Goodrich informed the said Edward Cochrane that he, the said Goodrich, was about giving the lease to said Obadiah Simpson, for the purpose of making such provision for said Obadiah Simpson. That said Edward Cochrane did not, either corruptly or otherwise, receive any money from the said Goodrich. When the said Goodrich was about taking the $200, which he said he was willing to contribute towards the payment of said indebtedness, to W. L. Payne, he asked the said Edward Cochrane to count the money for him, and he, the said Goodrich, to save time and trouble in travelling, sent the money to W. L. Payne by Wallace Cochrane, a son of the said Edward Cochrane, who was going on other business to Colborne, the place where said Payne lived.

3. That the said Wesley Goodrich was appointed to the office of Bridge-keeper on the Murray Canal.

1. Your Committee find: That the said Edward Cochrane was elected a member of the last Parliament on the 22nd December, 1887, and upon the 7th day of January, 1888, and until after the Session of 1888, was the member for said riding; that he was subsequently unseated, and was re-elected such member on the 21st November, 1888, and from thence remained such member for the balance of said Parliament, and now is the member for the East Riding of the County of Northumberland.

2. That it was not corruptly or otherwise agreed by and between the said Edward Cochrane and John D. Clouston, William Brown and Robert May, or either or any of them, that if they or any of them would pay to him, or certain other persons for him, or for political purposes, the sum of $200, or any other sum, he would procure for each, or any of them, the position, under the Government of Canada, of attendant or keeper of one of the swing bridges over or across the Murray Canal, and that no money was paid in pursuance of any corrupt agreement.

3. That John D. Clouston, William Johnson, William Brown and Robert May, were appointed Bridge-keepers or attendant of bridges over the Murray Canal, and were recommended for such appointment by the said committee in the riding, or some of the members thereof; that all of the men were strong supporters of the Conservative party, and knew of the existence of the said indebtedness, in connection with the expenses arising out of the said protest, before and at the time of such recommendation. In response to the expressed desire of the said committee or some one of them, the said Clouston and Brown each voluntarily stated that he would pay $150, and the said Robert May voluntarily stated he would pay $125 towards payment of such indebtedness, and afterwards the said Clouston paid about $100, and the said Brown and Robert May each paid $150 for such purpose. That the offers to make such payments, were made to some or one of the members of the said committee, either at the time of their being notified of such recommendation or shortly after; and that such offers and payments respectively were voluntary and unconditional. That the money so paid by Clouston, Brown and Robert May was paid in reduction of notes given for a part of the expenses in connection with the protest arising out of the Ontario local election, hereinbefore mentioned, and the said Edward

Cochrane was not a party to such notes or either of them, or in any way liable for their payment or for the payment of any part thereof.

4. That as to the charge that, while he was such member, it was corruptly agreed by and between the said Edward Cochrane and one Henry May, that if the said Henry May would pay the said Edward Cochrane, or to others for him, or for political purposes, the sum of $200, he would procure for the said Henry May the office or position under the Government of foreman or overseer of employes under the Government, and that in pursuance of such corrupt agreement the sum of $200 was paid, and the said office or position duly received by the said Henry May.

Your Committee find that such charge is wholly unsubstantiated, and not only was there no evidence to warrant such a charge, but the testimony given, clearly showed that the office referred to was not one within the recommendation of the said Edward Cochrane, or within the gift of the Government, but was under the appointment of the Superintendent of the Canal, without reference in any way to the Government, and the evidence further disclosed, that the said Henry May had not had any communication with the said Edward Cochrane in regard to said position, and that the said Edward Cochrane had not intervened in any way whatever with regard to the appointment of the said Henry May, and that such charge was not only groundless, but that the same had been made without information from the parties who could have shown that no reason existed for making the charge.

1. Your Committee further find that the appointments of the said Hedley H. Simpson as Lighthouse-keeper as aforesaid, and of the said Wesley Goodrich, John D. Clouston, William Brown and Robert May, as such Bridge-keepers on the Murray Canal, were all recommended to said Edward Cochrane by the said Committee, and by the said Edward Cochrane recommended to the Government.

2. That no evidence was given or suggestion made that the said appointments or any of them were improper in consequence of any insufficiency or incompetency in the persons so appointed.

3. That the facts which your Committee have reported with reference to the manner of making recommendations for the appointments by the political committee in the riding and the soliciting of subscriptions by the committee from the applicants, for the aforesaid purpose, all occurred before the last election of the said Edward Cochrane and were well known in the riding before the said last election, and discussed at the nomination on the hustings and at other places during said election contest.

4. Your Committee report that the practice which seems to have been resorted to by the political organization referred to, in order to raise a fund for political purposes, though not connected with Dominion politics, was improper and reprehensible.

Your Committee also report that the charge relating to William Johnson could not be gone into by them, as they were unable to secure the attendance of the said Johnson before them, and in the event of its appearing by the statements of any two members of the Committee that Johnson's attendance can be procured at a subsequent date during the session, it is recommended that the Committee ask leave to sit again for the purpose of taking up and investigating the William Johnson charge; and in the event of the Committee not being able to secure his attendance, or of inability to proceed during the present session, that the order of reference shall be deemed amended by the erasure therefrom of the charge relating to William Johnson, and the whole order of reference shall be treated as if the William Johnson charge had never been made.

All which is respectfully submitted, together with the Minutes of the Proceedings of the Committee and the Minutes of the Evidence taken by them.

D. TISDALE,
Chairman.

COMMITTEE ROOM, FRIDAY, 11th September, 1891,

Committee met.

Present: Mr. TISDALE in the Chair; Messieurs Caron (Sir Adolphe), Cameron (Huron), German, Mulock, Skinner, and White (Shelburne).

Consideration of Report resumed.

Mr. Skinner moves, seconded by Mr. White (Shelburne), That the Report now read be adopted. (For this Report see the Second Report of the Committee.)

Mr. Cameron (Huron) moves in amendment thereto, seconded by Mr. German, That the said Report be not adopted, but that the following be reported to the House as the Report of this Committee:—

To the Honourable the House of Commons:

Your Committee selected to enquire into, and report on, certain charges perferred against Edward Cochrane, Member for the East Riding of the County of Northumberland—which said charges are in the following words:—

1. That in the year A.D. 1888, there was a vacancy in the position of Government Lighthouse-keeper in the Government lighthouse on Presqu'Isle Point, County of Northumberland.

2. That one Hedley H. Simpson was an applicant for said office.

3. That Edward Cochrane then was, and now is, the member for the House of Commons for the Electoral District of the East Riding of the said County of Northumberland, and a supporter of the Government.

4. That in the year 1888, it was corruptly agreed to, by and between the said Edward Cochrane and the said Hedley H. Simpson, that if the said Hedley H. Simpson would make and deliver to one James Stanley two promissory notes for $100 each, endorsed by some responsible person, he, the said Edward Cochrane, would procure the appointment of the said Hedley H. Simpson to the said office of Lighthouse-keeper of the Government lighthouse on Presqu'Isle Point.

5. That the said Hedley H. Simpson, in pursuance of said corrupt bargain, did make the said two promissory notes for $100 each—procured their endorsement by a responsible party—handed them to the said James Stanley, who received the same and placed them in a bank for the use of the said Edward Cochrane personally or for political purposes.

6. That the said Hedley H. Simpson subsequently paid the said notes.

7. That the said Hedley H. Simpson, in pursuance of said corrupt bargain, received the said appointment.

1. That in the summer of 1889 Obadiah Simpson was promised by the said Edward Cochrane, the Government office of keeper or attendant of one of the swing bridges over the Murray Canal.

2. That in the summer of 1889 the said James Stanley, who is a confidential friend and warm political supporter of the said Edward Cochrane, sent for one Arundel R. Simpson to call and see him. He did, when the said James Stanley proposed to the said Arundel R. Simpson, with the knowledge and consent of the said Edward Cochrane, that if the said Arundel R. Simpson would pay $150 and give to his father, the said Obadiah Simpson, the life lease of his farm (as compensation for his not being appointed such Bridge-keeper)—he had been promised and had not received the said office—he, the said Arundel R. Simpson, would be appointed such Bridge-keeper.

3. That shortly afterwards the said Arundel R. Simpson had an interview with the said Edward Cochrane on the same subject, when the said Edward Cochrane said to him that they could not take the $150 for said office, that Stanley should not have made that offer, that other arrangements had been made with one Wesley Goodrich, who agreed to pay $200 and give said life lease for said appointment.

4. That the said Edward Cochrane then and there corruptly proposed to the said Arundel R. Simpson, that if he would pay said Edward Cochrane $200 and give said life lease he would be appointed. This he refused to do.

5. That subsequently it was corruptly agreed to, by and between the said Wesley Goodrich and the said Edward Cochrane, that if the said Edward Cochrane would procure the appointment of the said Wesley Goodrich to the said Government office of keeper of said bridge, he, the said Wesley Goodrich, would pay the sum of $200, and execute to the said Obadiah Simpson, father of the said Arundel R. Simpson, a life lease on his farm, with a condition in said lease, that if said Wesley Goodrich lost said appointment said lease would be cancelled.

6. That in pursuance of the said corrupt bargain the said Wesley Goodrich paid said money and executed said lease, and caused his wife to execute the same, to the said Obadiah Simpson, on part of Lot 18, in the 2nd Concession of the Township of Cramahe, in the said county, for the rent of one peppercorn a year and on the condition that if the said Goodrich should be released by the Government from attendance on said bridge said lease would come to an end and be void, but said condition was not to apply in case said Goodrich should be discharged on account of any act of his own.

1. That Edward Cochrane was, during the last Parliament, and now is the member for the electoral district of the East Riding of the County of Northumberland.

2. That while he was such member it was corruptly agreed to by and between the said Edward Cochrane and John D. Clouston, William Johnson, William Brown and Robert May, respectively, that if each of them would pay to him, or to certain other persons for him or for political purposes, the sum of $200, he would procure for each of them the position under the Government of Canada of attendant or keeper of one of the swing-bridges over or across the Murray Canal.

3. That in pursuance of such corrupt agreement the said several sums of money were paid, and the said persons were so appointed to said positions.

4. That while he, the said Edward Cochrane, was such member as aforesaid, it was corruptly agreed by and between the said Edward Cochrane and one Henry May, that if the said Henry May would pay the said Edward Cochrane, or to other persons for him, or for political purposes, the sum of $200, he would procure for the said Henry May the office or position under the Government of foreman or overseer of employes under the Government.

5. That in pursuance of the said corrupt agreement, the said sum of $200 was paid, and the said office or position duly received by the said Henry May :

Beg leave to report as follows:—

1. We find, that when the transactions hereinafter mentioned took place, the said Edward Cochrane was and still is the member for said riding.

2. That the said Edward Cochrane, while he was such member, was and is a supporter of the Administration, and as such had the patronage of the Administration for Government offices in and for said riding.

3. That certain leading Conservatives in the said riding, in or about the year 1883, assumed certain liabilities for certain debts, amounting to about $1,000, for certain costs arising out of a certain protested election for the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.

4. That such liability, or a portion of it, continued down to the year 1890 or 1891.

5. That said Edward Cochrane, with others, was liable for $619.69 of said debt down until and after the payment by Hedley Simpson, hereinafter mentioned, was made.

6. That about four years ago certain electors of said riding, viz., Messrs. May, Adam, Stanley, Lawson and Bullock constituted themselves a committee for the purpose of raising money to pay off said debt, and the mode they adopted was by recommending certain persons to said Edward Cochrane as fit and proper persons to fill certain Government offices, the said Edward Cochrane then recommending such persons to the Government as fit and proper persons to fill said offices, the persons so recommended agreeing to pay a certain price or sum for said offices.

7. That the said Edward Cochrane was not a member of the said committee, but he knew of the purpose and object of its existence; attended one or more of its meetings, when matters relating to said offices were discussed; acted on the committee's recommendations, and when persons made applications to him for offices he referred them to the said committee for a recommendation, which he acted on. Mr. Bullock, one of said committee, gave the following evidence, on oath, before your Committee:—

“2406. What were the duties of that committee?—The duties of the committee was to see if we could not appoint somebody on the canal for the bridges there.

2407. How much were each of them to give?—We exacted $150 from every one of them. That is what we wanted.

2408. What were these people to get for the $150 they were to pay?—I cannot swear to that.

2409. What was the $150 to be given for?—It was to be given for our influence.

2410. Were you to put this $150 in your pocket?—No.

2411. Who was to give $150?—Everybody who got the appointment.

2412. And those who did not get the appointment were not to pay it?—Certainly not.”

“2420. It was the rule that those who were applicants should pay $150—I think it was.”

“2489. Did Mr. Cochrane attend any of the meetings?—He was there once. I do not know whether he had any conversation with me or any of us.”

“2514. When your store was closed?—Yes.

2515. Then Mr. Cochrane remained there after the store was closed?—He came in accidentally, I think.

2516. Did you say that the committee met there after the store was closed?—Yes.

2517. And Mr. Cochrane was there when the committee met?—Yes.

2518. For the whole of the time?—No; not when they were meeting.

2519. Oh, well, did he come in afterwards?—Yes; he came in after the committee met.

2520. Now, the committee met after the store was closed, and Mr. Cochrane, having come in after the committee met, must have come in after the store was closed?—He did.”

“2524. Where did the committee transact its business in the store?—I believe it was right in the open store.

2525. Right in there in the main part of the store?—Yes.

2526. And that is where Mr. Cochrane came?—Yes.

2527. Mr. Cochrane was in there with the committee?—Yes; but he was not on the committee.

2528. I know, but he was in there with the committee?—He was there when the committee was there in the store. I could not swear when Mr. Cochrane came in, but I know he came right into the store when the committee was meeting there.

2529. You have sworn that Mr. Cochrane was there?—Yes.

2530. And you have sworn that he was there while the committee were there?—Yes; that's true."

"2548. I mean the committee. What business did the committee do that night?—They talked over different questions about the bridges.

2549. How long did Mr. Cochrane remain?—As far as my knowledge goes, he did not remain very long."

"2554. I suppose the discussion was going on while he was there?—The discussion was going on. Yes.

2555. The talk about the bridges was going on while he was there?—Yes.

2556. You were talking about the men who would get the appointments and the amounts that they were to pay?—Certainly."

"1040. You did tell Mr. Cochrane that Hedley Simpson gave $200?—Yes.

1041. How long after this was it?—I do not know.

1042. Would it be a week?—It might."

8. That in the month of April, 1888, one Hedley H. Simpson was recommended by the said committee to the said Edward Cochrane as a fit person to fill the position of lighthouse-keeper at Presqu'Isle Point.

9. That James Stanley, one of said committee, and by its authority, called on said Hedley H. Simpson and told him of said recommendation, and made it a condition of his getting said appointment that he should pay the said Stanley the sum of $200 to be used in part liquidation of said debt.

10. That thereupon the said Edward Cochrane recommended the said Hedley H. Simpson to the Government as a fit person to fill the said office.

11. That the said Hedley H. Simpson duly paid the said sum, and on said recommendations he duly received said office and now holds the same—and this to the knowledge of said Edward Cochrane—the said Stanley, in his evidence before said committee, swore as follows:—

"693. Then how did Mr. Simpson come to be appointed?—Well, he was recommended by the committee.

694. To whom did the committee recommend Mr. Simpson?—I suppose to Mr. Cochrane.

695. How did this recommendation come from the committee to Mr. Cochrane?—Verbally, I suppose.

696. Then if verbally, who talked?—Mr. Cochrane happened to be in town, I suppose, and they told him."

"701. Then you think now you did see Mr. Cochrane, as one of the committee?—I say I may have done so; I may have had a conversation, but that was all.

702. But you think you did see him in regard to the appointment of Mr. Hedley Simpson, after all this money was paid?—I don't know whether it was before or after.

703. But at all events, either before or after, you did see Mr. Cochrane?—Yes; I may have seen him before or after, but I don't know."

"714. Did Mr. Cochrane know anything about the payment of this money?—I don't think he did at the time.

715. Well, when did he?—I think it was some time after.

716. How long after?—I cannot tell you.

717. How did he come to know it?—I don't know but what I told him myself.

718. You might have told him yourself?—I think I did."

"720. How long afterwards?—I cannot tell you.

721. Before the appointment was made?—I cannot tell you whether it was before or after.

722. But you do remember now that you had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane, and Mr. Cochrane knew from you that the $200 were paid?—I don't say that. I say I may have had before or after; I don't remember."

12. Pending the negotiations between said Stanley, and the said Hedley H. Simpson and the said Edward Cochrane respecting said lighthouse, the said Edward Cochrane wrote the said Hedley H. Simpson a letter respecting said lighthouse, and sent it to him by the hands of Arundel Simpson, who in said investigation swore as follows respecting the same:—

"309. I ask you if you had any conversation with Mr. Cochrane, the member, in regard to the appointment of Mr. Hedley Simpson to a position of lighthouse keeper at Presqu'Isle?—Well, along in March I think. I think his father died in October, and I gave him a letter from Mr. Cochrane.

310. Did you see that letter?—No, I saw the letter but I did not know what was in it. I could not tell you what was in it.

311. Was that letter read in your presence?—I don't know as it was. I don't think it was; I would not swear positively, it is quite a while ago.

312. Did Mr. Cochrane tell you what was in the letter?—He told me it was concerning the lighthouse, and wanted to know if I would send the letter to Mr. Hedley Simpson, for him to come and see him."

"1857. You say Mr. Cochrane sent you with the letter to your relative Hedley?—Yes.

1858. And Mr. Stanley was present at the time and knew the letter was going to Hedley from Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.

1859. Do you know whether he knew the contents of the letter?—I do not know.

1860. Did you see Mr. Cochrane after he got the letter?—Yes.

1861. Now in the eighth paragraph of the declaration you said: "Subsequently said Cochrane sent to the said Hedley H. Simpson by me a letter in which it was stated that said Hedley H. Simpson would be required, in order to secure the said appointment, to give security for the payment of $200, which letter I delivered to the said Hedley H. Simpson." How did you know the statement that was in the letter?—Well, I took the letter down to Herbert Simpson; he stays at Whitney, and he said that he would have to pay the money.

1862. Were you there when the letter was read?—Yes.

1863. The letter was read by whom?—I think it was read in the first place by Herbert Simpson's wife. She is the one who read the letter first, I think.

1864. You all were there and heard it read?—Yes.

1865. You say that was what was in the letter?—That is what they told me was in the letter. That was what would be required in order to get the appointment.

1866. You did not read the letter yourself?—No.

1867. The letter was read when you took it there?—Yes.

1868. It was opened there?—The letter was not sealed up.

1869. The envelope was open?—Yes.

1870. In the presence of Hedley Simpson, Herbert Simpson, Herbert Simpson's wife and yourself?—Yes. It was read by Herbert Simpson's wife. Mrs. Herbert Simpson does the business—the reading and everything that is done in that way.

1871. Then the letter, the envelope not being sealed, was read by Mrs. Herbert Simpson in the presence of yourself?—Yes; and Hedley, when he found what was in the letter, asked me what I thought he should do, and I said that he had better take it. Herbert Simpson said no, not to take it. Afterwards in a day or two, they wanted to know what I thought about it myself."

13. That, respecting the price paid for said office and the said Edward Cochrane's knowledge thereof, the said Arundel Simpson gave the following evidence:—

“324. Mr. Cochrane told you that Snetsinger offered him something?—Yes.

325. How much did he say?—I would not be positive, either $400 or $600.

326. He said that Snetsinger offered him, either $400 or $600 for the appointment?—I would not be positive which; he told me it was quite an amount.

327. What did he say, then, at that conversation, about giving it to Hedley H. Simpson?—I don't know exactly what he said about it.

328. Did he say anything?—I don't know; it is quite a while ago. He said I believe that he would, or they would, let him have it a good deal cheaper.

329. Would let who have it cheaper?—Mr. Hedley Simpson.

330. What did he say?—He said that Hedley would get it for $200.

331. Why do you refer to the word “cheaper”?—I don't know; I suppose that is what he said.

332. Tell us what he said?—He said he would get it for $200.

333. Did he use the word “cheaper”?—I don't know as he did.”

“1812. Who is “he”?—Mr. Snetsinger. He said Mr. Snetsinger would give $600 for the lighthouse, and they only got $200. Cochrane said that to me in the store. He did not say he offered him; he said he would give it. But that Hedley only gave $200.

1813. But that he (Cochrane) would secure the appointment of said Hedley H. Simpson for a good deal less than $600?—He did secure it. This was long after, as Mr. Cochrane knows.”

1. That in the end of the year 1889 or in the early part of 1890, the said James Stanley, with the consent of the said Edward Cochrane, proposed to one Arundel Simpson, that if the said Arundel Simpson would pay $150 to the said James Stanley for the purpose aforesaid, he the said Arundel Simpson would be appointed a bridge tender on said canal. Arundel Simpson refused to pay anything, and therefore it was agreed to, by and between one Wesley Goodrich and the parties aforesaid that if he would pay $200 for the purpose aforesaid and give a life lease of his farm to one Obadiah Simpson, he would get said appointment, that the said Wesley Goodrich paid said sum, gave said life lease, and received said appointment on the recommendation of said Edward Cochrane. The evidence of said Arundel Simpson on this point is as follows:—

“1519. Did you see Mr. Stanley in 1889, in regard to getting an appointment as bridge-keeper?—I did.

1520. What took place then?—Mr. Stanley sent for me.

1521. Well, what else?—I went up there to see him, and he told me they were about to let the bridges.

1522. What was said to you?—He said they were going to let the bridges and that they intended me to have one.

1523. You say they were going to let the bridges. What do you mean by that?—To appoint the bridge tenders.

1524. Did he say anything about your getting one?—He said that I could get one by looking after my father and giving him $150.

1525. Who told you that?—James Stanley.

1526. Whom did you mean by giving “him” $150?—Mr. Stanley.

1527. When you say that he said you were to look after your father, were those the words that were used, or what did he mean?—He went, in the first place, to see my father and told him, that they had promised him a bridge, but that he was too old to be appointed. He asked him if he wanted one of his sons appointed in his place, and he said yes, and he would like to see me appointed.

1528. Did you afterwards see Mr. Cochrane about it?—He saw me about it.

1529. Mr. Cochrane did?—Yes.

1530. You met Mr. Cochrane in Brighton?—Yes.

1531. What took place between you and Mr. Cochrane? Did he send for you?—He called me into the room.

1532. Where was this—in the hotel?—In Mr. Stanley's hotel.

1533. What did he say to you?—He said they had made different arrangements about the bridge. That they were going to make some arrangements for fifty acres of land for my father, and let someone else have the bridge.

1534. Did he say with whom the arrangement was made?—I do not think he did that night."

"1538. What did he say about the $150?—I do not know just what he did say.

1539. Try and think?—He said they had made other arrangements. I said it was all right; I was not very particular."

"1541. What else did he say?—He said that Mr. Stanley could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150 apiece.

1542. Where was that said to you?—At Mr. Stanley's hotel.

1543. By Mr. Cochrane?—By Mr. Cochrane.

1544. The member for East Northumberland?—Yes.

1545. When he said that they had made other arrangements, was anything said in regard to more money?—That is all I heard him say. I heard him say what I have just told you."

"1573. How much was he getting from you?—Mr. Stanley was getting $150."

"1578. He gave you to understand then, that some arrangement had been made by some parties which prevented him from recommending you?—That is what he told me."

"1691. Did he tell you anything more?—He said, that Mr. Stanley said, they could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150 each, Mr. Stanley could not pay it off with that amount."

"1830. What did he say about your father?—He said the old gentleman was too old.

1831. He said the old gentleman was too old, and what else?—He would like to have the money right off, as soon as possible.

1832. How much money?—$150.

1833. What else were you to do?—I was to get the money for him, I suppose.

1834. Any other condition?—From Mr. Stanley? I don't know as there was, except to see to my father—maintain my father."

"1846. How much had he paid?—Who had paid?

1847. Whoever had been appointed?—He said that he could get more for it. He could get $200.

1848. No, no; you said before, that he could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150. What did Mr. Cochrane say?—About the bridge?

1849. Yes.—That is what he told me; he could not pay off with four bridges.

1850. Is that all?—He said something about getting more from this man: that is $200."

The evidence of Wesley Goodrich on this point is as follows:—

"3682. You talked of the life lease to Mr. Cochrane?—I told Mr. Cochrane what I would do about it. He told me I was very foolish.

3683. You told him about the life lease?—I told him that.

3684. That you were willing to give the life lease of your farm to get a bridge?—Yes, sir.

3685. Did you tell him you were willing to pay $200 besides?—I did not. I have no recollection of it.

3686. At no time?—I won't say at no time. I think I did once tell him.

3687. When?—Some time before that.

3688. How long before that?—I could not tell you.

3689. You told him at that time that you were willing to give a life lease and the $200?—No, sir. Wade proposed that if I got the bridge I should give $200.

3690. You told Mr. Cochrane that Wade had proposed that you should pay $200 to the bridge?

3691. You have just told me, I think, that you told Mr. Cochrane you were willing to give a life lease of your farm for a bridge? Is that so?—Mr. Cochrane mentioned to me that there was a man by the name of King who wanted a bridge. Then I said I would give $200 at that time.

3692. For the bridge?—For the bridge.”

“3698. You did pay the $200?—I did, sir.

3699. That was before you gave the lease?—Yes, sir.

3700. To whom did you pay the $200?—I paid it to Mr. Edward Cochrane.

3701. To the member for the East Riding of Northumberland?—Yes. It was more convenient for me to go to him than to Mr. Wade. Wade's was a long way out of my way. He told me to take it to Mr. Payne when I offered it to him.

3702. Who told you?—Mr. Cochrane. I said to him, “Are you not going to Colborne soon? It is out of my way if I have to go on purpose.” He said, “Wallace is going to-night with the grist.” The team was standing in the yard, and I suggested that perhaps Wallace would take it up. He said he could. Wallace went for his overcoat, and I took the money out of my pocket and asked him to count it.

3703. Whom did you ask to count it?—Mr. Cochrane.

3704. I think you had better tell the Committee again what happened there?—I agreed with Mr. Wade to pay this $200. Mr. Wade lived at Hilton, quite a way from my place, and I went to Mr. Cochrane (he was in the barnyard at the time when I arrived), and I asked him would he take the money. He told me to take it to Mr. Payne at Colborne, but that was quite a way for me to go. I said, “Are you not going soon,” as I knew he went there often. He said, “Wallace is going to-night with the grist.” I had noticed the team and waggon in the yard. Wallace was going to the house to get his overcoat and I suggested that somebody ought to count the money. I said, “Would he.” He did not answer me but, he seemed not to want to do it. I took it out of my pocket and urged him. He then took it and counted it and then handed it to Wallace. Wallace had got back by this time. He said, “Wallace, give that to Payne.” That is as straight as I can tell you.

3705. What did you give that $200 for? What value did you get for it?—I got the situation—the bridge.

3706. And that is what you gave the money for?—I suppose if you put it that way, I don't know any other. Mr. Wade told me he was holding it for some money he wanted to realize on it.”

“3721. What was the date?—I have no memorandum, I could not tell you the date. It will be two years ago this coming fall—from the fall of 1889.

3722. You said it was before the lease was drawn?—Before the lease was drawn.

3723. And the lease was drawn on the 15th of October, 1890?—I did not give the lease until after I got the position.

3724. And the payment of the money was before you got the position?—Yes, sir; a year ago last fall it was.

3725. Can you remember how long before you got the appointment it was that you paid the $200?—I paid the $200 a year ago last fall and I got the position a year ago last spring.”

“3769. How did Mr. Cochrane know that you should take it to Mr. Payne?—I do not know. I did not ask him, and he did not tell me.

3770. Did he appear to know what the $200 was for?—I do not know that he said a word. He said in one of the conversations that I had with him that he had got into trouble over the protest, and of course I understood that the trouble related to the funds. I understood somebody to say that there was trouble over the protest.”

“3777. I will read you this in order to ascertain if you heard of it before. I am about to read from the statement that Mr. Cochrane made on the 20th of August, 1891, in reply to one of these charges. In the course of his observations Mr. Cochrane said: “It had been understood I would recommend for appointment to the bridge an old man named Obadiah Simpson, and arrangement was made between Simpson and Goodrich by which Simpson was to take a life lease of Goodrich's farm.” Do you know that it had been so understood? Do you know that it had been understood that Mr. Cochrane would recommend Mr. Obadiah Simpson for the office?—I know that there was talk, that Obadiah Simpson had been promised a bridge, and I suppose it had been through Mr. Cochrane.

3778. You understood that he was to get the bridge?—Yes.

3779. And you found that if you were to have the bridge it would be necessary for you to satisfy Obadiah?—Yes.

3780. And it was to satisfy him that you gave a life lease of the farm?—Yes.

3781. Did you tell Mr. Cochrane that you were willing to satisfy Obadiah?—I might have done so. I dare say I did, but I really cannot tell.

3782. Had he mentioned to you that he had promised Obadiah?—I would not say whether he ever did so or not.

3783. Do you remember telling him what you were willing to do in order to satisfy Webb and Obadiah Simpson, and that you had satisfied Simpson with regard to the lease, and Webb with regard to the money?—Yes, sir.

3784. You had satisfied the two?—I felt that I had.

3785. The arrangement was satisfactory all round?—Yes. I proposed to do that if that would satisfy them, and they were satisfied.

3786. And you entered upon your duties the following spring—in the spring of 1890?—Yes.

3787. This arrangement was made in the fall of 1889?—Yes, it was a year ago last fall."

15. That in or about the middle of May, 1890, one William Brown was recommended by the said committee to said Edward Cochrane for the position of bridge tender on the Murray Canal, who recommended him to the Government for said position. That the said committee exacted from the said William Brown the sum of $150 for said recommendations to be used for the purposes aforesaid. That said William Brown paid said sum and received said appointment with recommendation of said Edward Cochrane.

William Brown's evidence on this point is as follows:—

"2561. Have you any position upon that canal?—Yes, sir.

2562. What position have you got?—Bridge-keeper.

2563. How did you come to get that position?—Through the committee.

2564. What committee?—The committee which was appointed to recommend somebody for the position.

2565. You knew a committee had been appointed for that purpose?—I was told by several of the committee they had been appointed, and I was told by Mr. Cochrane also that a committee had been appointed.

2566. You were told by Mr. Cochrane there had been a committee appointed for the purpose of recommending parties for the position of bridge-keeper?—Yes.

2567. Mr. Cochrane told you that?—He did.

2568. Who is Mr. Cochrane?—He is member for East Northumberland.

2569. And it was Mr. Cochrane, member for East Northumberland, who told you that a committee had been appointed for the purpose of recommending different people?—He was the only one that told me I would have to go to the committee.

2570. Then you went to Mr. Cochrane first of all?—First of all.

2571. What did you go to him for?—For a position on the canal.

2572. What did you say to him?—I asked him what my chances were for such a position. He told me he had left the matter in the hands of the committee and that I would have to apply to the committee."

"2577. Who did you converse with in regard to the $150?—The first one I had a conversation, with was James Stanley.

2578. And who was the second one?—That is all.

2579. You never had a conversation with anybody except Mr. James Stanley regarding the $150?—Outside the committee do you mean, or the committee men?"

"2625. But it was arranged before you got the appointment that you were to pay the money?—Yes.

2626. With whom was that arrangement made?—Mr. Stanley.

2627. Do you know that Mr. Stanley was one of this committee?—I do.

2628. The committee to which Mr. Cochrane sent you?—Yes.

2629. Was it Mr. Stanley who told you to pay the money to Mr. Webb?—It was."

" 2646. Then that $150 had nothing to do with your getting that appointment? It had, hadn't it?—Yes, it had.

2647. When you went to Mr. Webb to pay the money, what did you say to him?—I said I was requested by Mr. Stanley to go and pay him $150."

16. That while the said Edward Cochrane was such member as aforesaid, one Thomas Fitzgerald was recommended by said committee to the said Edward Cochrane for the position of bridge tender at Trent Bridge, Murray Canal, that the said James Stanley, as a member of the said committee, and by its authority, exacted from the said Thomas Fitzgerald the sum of $150, to be used for the purposes aforesaid, for such recommendation and office that the said Edward Cochrane recommended to the Government the said Thomas Fitzgerald for said office that the said Thomas Fitzgerald paid said sum and received said appointment on said recommendation.

In this case said James Stanley gave the following evidence:—

" 893. You had sent word to these people to assemble there?—Yes.

894. These various applicants, Daniel Vanalstine, Fitzgerald, Brown, May and Clouston, were present on your invitation?—These were the ones the committee recommended, and I sent for them myself afterward.

895. Were they present at the meeting of the committee?—No.

896. Anyone of them?—Not to my knowledge.

897. I asked you to say the first person you appointed afterwards, and you gave me this list of names. The committee recommended all these?—Yes.

898. Thomas Fitzgerald was recommended and he got the office?—Yes.

899. He paid $150 for the office of bridge-keeper?—Yes.

900. Who did he pay the money to?—To me.

901. And you applied that money how?—I put that money in the bank to my credit. I left it there until I got notice from W. L. Payne to send either the money or a draft. I forget which it was I sent.

902. What did you do with the money?—I think I sent on $150 in money or by cheque to W. L. Payne or to the Standard Bank, I am not certain, to apply on the note in the Standard Bank.

903. Then Daniel Vanalstine did not get an office?—No.

904. He had paid $150 under the same circumstances?—Yes.

905. And he was repaid that?—Yes, he was repaid.

906. Because he did not get the office?—There were more applicants than there was bridges for them, and we paid the money back.

907. That is curious. Then his contribution was in a sense contingent on his getting the office?—He was giving it voluntarily.

908. You did not think it fair to keep it if he did not get the office?—No."

On the same point the said Thomas Fitzgerald gave the following evidence:—

" 1206. You live at the Carrying Place?—Yes.

1207. On the Murray Canal?—Yes.

1208. You paid $150?—Yes.

1209. To whom?—Mr. Stanley.

1210. What for?—To help the party through their indebtedness for the Wade and Ferris protest. That was what I was informed. I do not know anything about it.

1211. Who informed you that?—Mr. James Stanley.

1212. And you paid the money to him?—Yes.

1213. Did you see Mr. Cochrane before that?—Yes, sir.

1214. In regard to the appointment?—Yes, sir.

1215. What was the conversation you had with Mr. Cochrane?—I only saw him once. I got a petition from a few men in the Riding and showed it to him. He said it was very good; "I will give it to the committee; I have nothing more to say. Whoever the committee picks out, will get it."

1216. That was before you were named by the committee?—I do not know. I had friends who put in the communication.

1217. That was when the petition was being got up?—Yes.

1218. Mr. Cochrane said he left matters entirely in the hands of the committee?—Yes.

1219. Then Mr. Cochrane knew of the committee?—I do not know that.

1220. Did you pay this $150 in cash to Mr. Stanley?—Yes, in hard cash."

" 1229. You know that you paid the $150?—Yes.

1230. At the time you paid it, were you then a bridge keeper by appointment of the Government?—Certainly not. I was on the bridge, but not appointed by the Government. I had been on there for years.

1232. When you paid the $150 to Stanley you were not at that time a permanent appointed bridge keeper by the Government?—Certainly not.

1233. Did you say before that you received a promise from the committee?—I will you tell all I know about it: I will tell it without question and answer. I was asked to go up to Brighton. I was informed by some of my friends there to make application to Mr. Cochrane. He said; "I cannot make you any promise; I leave it entirely to the committee." I merely showed him the recommendations I had, and he said: "They are very good, but I cannot make any promise." I walked away. I was informed to go up and see Mr. Stanley, and Mr. Stanley says, says he: "I understand from what I have heard that the Committee has picked you out as a bridge keeper on the Murray Canal, and you ought to help us on this debt that we are under to the party." I said, "I am willing to do my part," and that is all I said. I said: "When you are ready for me and want my money I will pay it." He said they had some notes to pay and that they were heavy in debt, and I said: "I am a Conservative and will do my duty."

17. That while the said Edward Cochrane was such member as aforesaid, one Robert May was recommended by said committee to the said Edward Cocharne for the position of bridge tender on the Murray Canal; that Henry May, a member of said committee, and by its authority, called on him and told him that he was so recommended and exacted from him $125 for such position, to be used for the purpose aforesaid; that on the recommendation of said committee the said Edward Cochrane recommended to the Government the said Robert May for said office; that said Robert May paid said money and received said office. His evidence on this point is as follows:—

" 2731. Have you got an appointment on that canal?—Yes, sir.

2732. What appointment?—Bridge-keeper.

2733. When did you get that appointment?—In the year 1890."

" 2736. Who told you that you had got the appointment?—Some member of the committee, I think it was Mr. Hugh McQuoid; I am not sure, however, whether he is the one.

2737. He told you of the appointment?—Yes, sir.

2738. And who else told you?—My brother Henry."

" 2750. How much money did you pay?—$125.

2751. To whom did you pay it?—To Henry May, my brother.

2752. What did you pay it to Mr. Henry May for?—(No answer.)

2753. Why did you pay it to Henry May?—To help to pay the debt against the Conservative party."

" 2800. Was it not for the purpose of getting that position, sir?—Yes.

2801. How did you know that you would get that position if you paid $125?—I did not know only from the committee.

2802. Then you knew from the committee that you would get that position if you paid the $125?—They told me."

" 2814. How was it you came so pay $125?—(No answer.)

2815. Somebody must have suggested money to you?—Henry said the Conservative party was in debt, and each one must pay a certain amount.

2816. Each one of whom?—Each one of the bridge tenders. He said each was willing to pay, and I said I was willing to do the same.

2817. If you got the position?—Yes.

2818. Did you pay the money before or after getting the position?—Before it.”

“2838. You are a labouring man then?—Yes.

2839. Before you got this office you were working for day's wages?—Yes.

2840. You are a married man?—Yes.

2841. Wife and family?—Yes.

2842. And before you got this office you were working for day's wages?—Yes.

2843. And you gave $125 for the office and for the good of the Conservative party—the two things?—Yes.

2844. When before this had you given a contribution to the Conservative party?—I do not know as I ever did.

2845. How old are you?—Thirty.

2846. This was the first time you manifested your regard for the Conservative party in this substantial way?—Yes.”

Henry May, a brother of said Robert May and one of said committee, swore as follows:—

“2885. How was it you asked your brother for $125?—Mr. Stanley told me it was required—that he should pay some money.”

“3020. And what did you tell him?—I told him (Cochrane) that Robert had got the appointment for the bridge.”

“3023. And you told him that Robert had got the appointment?—Yes, sir.

3024. You mean by having got the appointment that he had been recommended by the committee?—Yes, sir.

3025. You don't mean that he had been recommended by the Government?—No, sir, I did not mean to tell him that.

3026. You did not mean to tell him he had been appointed by the Government, only that he had been recommended by the committee?—That is it.

3027. And was that not the reason why you saw Mr. Cochrane; to tell him that Robert had been recommended by the committee?—I saw him and told him.”

18. That in or about the month of May, 1890, one J. D. Clouston was recommended to the Government for the position of bridge tender on the Murray Canal by the said Edward Cochrane; that the said Edward Cochrane knew when, he made said recommendation, that the said J. D. Clouston agreed to pay for said office to said committee the sum of $150, and had paid thereon about $100, to be used for the purpose aforesaid—that said J. D. Clouston did pay said sum—and on said recommendation of said Edward Cochrane received said appointment, and now holds the same. The evidence on oath of said J. D. Clouston touching the same is as follows:—

“1895. How much money did you pay when you got this appointment Mr. Clouston?—I think some $70 or $75.

1896. You paid $70 or $75?—I think, I would not be positive.

1897. To whom did you pay that money?—To Mr. W. W. Webb.

1898. Did you tell Mr. Webb that you were instructed to pay any moneys. Mr. Webb has been examined?—Instructed?

1899. Yes?—No, I had no idea I was instructed.

1900. What did you tell Mr. Webb as to the balance?—I told him I would pay the balance as I went along.

1901. You told him you would pay the balance as you could?—Yes, the balance. I took upon myself to pay a certain amount, and I told him I would pay the balance.

1902. How much did you take upon yourself to pay?—I took upon myself to pay $150.

1903. To whom were you to pay that?—To W. W. Webb.

1904. Who told you to pay it to W. W. Webb?—I don't know that anybody told me to pay it particularly to W. W. Webb.

1905. You say nobody told you particularly to pay it to W. W. Webb?—Yes.

1906. How did you come to go to W. W. Webb?—Well, I was aware that he had a note that had to be arranged and settled up.”

“1932. You said it was on the 10th of May, 1889. When the appointment was promised you, Mr. Stanley told you to go to Mr. Webb, and in the conversation he told you also that the others were paying?—Yes.

1933. That was after the appointment was promised but before you received it?—Yes, before I was notified to fill it.

1934. After you had received the promise, but before you were appointed or directed to take charge?—Yes.

1935. From whom did you receive the promise?—From Mr. Edward Cochrane.

1936. The promise of the position which you ultimately got?—Yes.

1937. But if you received the promise from Mr. Cochrane, it was Mr. Stanley who directed you to go to Mr. Webb?—I say it was by conversation.”

“1950. Did you see Mr. Cochrane in regard to the appointment?—I was talking with him.

1951. You say you had a conversation with him?—Yes, sir.

1952. You had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane, the member of East Northumberland?—Yes, I say I had conversations with Mr. Cochrane.

1953. And what was said at that conversation, or at any one of the conversations you had with Mr. Cochrane?—I don't know.”

“1960. But you received the promise of an appointment from Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.”

“1982. What old indebtedness?—This old protest cost, run up there between Mr. James Ferris and William Wade.

1983. And what others?—Other bridge tenders.

1984. Mr. Cochrane told you—

1985. When he said to you that others were taking part in this old indebtedness, what others did he refer to?—I said that Cochrane may have said that others were taking part, and I think I said the others were bridge tenders.

1986. How much did he tell you the others were giving?—He may have said that they were giving 150.

1987. Each?—Yes.”

“1992. You say he may have told you so on the occasion of that drive, that other bridgetenders were paying $150. Do you believe now that he did tell you so, on your oath?—I believe he may have said so, as I said before.

1993. To the best of your recollection, you say he may have said that other bridge-tenders were giving $150?—Yes.”

“2023. Did you pay anything?—I suppose I did.

2024. Do you swear you paid a farthing?—Yes, sir.

2025. When?—I think on two different occasions I gave a dollar.

2026. On two different occasions you subscribed a dollar on the reduction of this indebtedness?—Yes.”

“2032. Did you yourself contribute to the fund at that time?—Yes.

2033. How much?—I gave a dollar at that time.

2034. Was that the first time?—Yes.

2035. When was the next time?—The next time was when the protest was going on at Colborne.

2036. That is the Ferris protest?—Yes, the protest between Ferris and Wade.

2037. That is eight or nine years ago?—Yes. I think the other that I remember was when I saw Mr. Cochrane.

2038. Have you given anything since 1886 until you gave this generous donation of $150?—I cannot tell when I paid that dollar.”

“2048. Who told you first you were to be appointed bridge tender?—I said Mr. Cochrane said there was a bridge for me.

2049. Mr. Cochrane was the first man that mentioned to you that you were going to be appointed?—Yes.”

“2090. I think you said that Mr. Cochrane told you that the other bridge-tenders were helping to pay the indebtedness?—Yes. I think he said so.

2091. Did he or did he not?—I think probably he did.

2092. And at the conversation he told you that you were going to be appointed a bridge-tender?—Yes.

2093. That took place when he told you that there was a bridge for you?—No. I think it was probably afterwards.

2094. Was it in the fall when you were driving back to Colborne that he told you that there was a bridge. Was that the time he told you that he had a bridge?—What time?”

2137. Was that the reason?—About.”

19. That one other charge was referred to your Committee, namely, that one William Johnson paid $200 corruptly to secure an appointment as bridge tender on said Canal; that said William Johnson, after said charge was made, left Canada for the United States, and that his attendance as a witness before said Committee could not be procured, and that it was resolved by said Committee that leave be given to withdraw said charge, and that it be considered as not made. Leave was accordingly so given.

20. That as respects the charge in which Henry May was concerned, no evidence was offered sustaining such charge, and that it was therefore not proved.

21. That the said C. D. Vanalstine corruptly paid the said James Stanley, in order to secure the office of tender of one of the bridges in said Canal, the money to be used as aforesaid; that the said money was returned to him because all the said positions had been disposed of. Mr. Vanalstine on his oath said:

“2245. With whom did you arrive at that sum? Whom did you talk to about the sum of $150?—This man Stanley.

2246. Did he tell you that that was the amount of money each had to pay?—I am not certain about it.

2247. What did he tell you?—He asked me if I was willing to give $150 to wipe the debt off, and I told him yes.

2248. The amount was fixed by him?—I could not say. He mentioned it.

2249. Did you then and there give him the money?—I told you before I gave him $50 at that time, all I had.

2250. When did you pay the balance to him?—Some three or four days after; I did not note it down.

2251. You paid $100 three or four days after that?—Yes; after that.

2252. And this, you say, was to go to pay off the party liability?—I understood it was to pay it off.

2253. You gave it solely with that end in view?—With the object of wiping off the protest indebtedness.

2254. With no other object?—With no other object.

2255. If that was your sole object, why did you let it go?—Other parties wanted the bridge, and they handed me my money back. I would be a fool if I had not taken it.

2256. You did not get the position?—No.

2257. And that is the reason why the money came back to you?—Yes.”

22. That the said committee was organized for the express purpose of corruptly trafficking in said offices, and did corruptly sell and dispose of the same to Hedley Simpson, Wesley Goodrich, Robert May, Thomas Fitzgerald and J. D. Clouston, respectively, for a money consideration.

23. That said Edward Cochrane was aware of such corrupt sale and disposal of said offices, sanctioned the same and made his said recommendations with the knowledge that said offices were so sold and disposed of.

24. That the payment by the said Hedley Simpson of the said sum of $200 directly relieved the said Edward Cochrane of just so much of the said Edward Cochrane's indebtedness on said note of $619.69.

25. That the said Edward Cochrane did not present himself as a witness in his own behalf before your Committee, and did not pledge his oath to the incorrectness or falsehood of a single statement made before your Committee by any of the witnesses examined before them.

26. That all said appointees are poor men, although strong Conservatives: some of them never gave a cent for political purposes, and, of the rest, none gave more than $3 each for such purposes for years prior to the payment of said sums.

27. That all the witnesses who appeared and gave evidence before your Committee, appeared to your Committee to be men of truth and desirous of speaking the truth, so far as they knew; and there does not appear to be any ground for doubting the credibility of any one of them.

28. That selling or disposing of offices for a money or other consideration is highly improper and reprehensible; and the parties shown to have been engaged in such a practice here should be proceeded against criminally.

All which is respectfully submitted, together with the evidence, exhibits and minutes of the proceedings.

The question being put on the amendment, the Committee divided, and the yeas and nays being called for, the names were taken down as follows:—

YEAS:—Messieurs Cameron (Huron), German and Mulock.—3.

NAYS:—Caron (Sir Adolphe), Messieurs Skinner and White (Shelburne).—3.

The yeas and nays being equal, the Chairman gave his casting vote against the amendment; which was thereby negatived.

The question then being put on the main motion, the Committee divided, and the yeas and nays being called for, the names were taken down as follows:—

YEAS:—Caron (Sir Adolphe), Messieurs Skinner and White (Shelburne).—3.

NAYS:—Messieurs Cameron (Huron), German and Mulock.—3.

The yeas and nays being equal, the Chairman gave his casting vote in favour of the main motion, which was thereby carried and Ordered accordingly.

Resolved, That the evidence, all the exhibits, the minutes of the proceedings, motions, and the report proposed in amendment by Mr. Cameron (Huron) to the motion proposed by Mr. Skinner, be submitted to the House with the Report of the Committee.

On motion of Sir Adolphe Caron, seconded by Mr. White (Shelburne), it was Ordered, That during the absence of the Chairman, Mr. Skinner do take the Chair.

The Committee then adjourned.

Attest,

N. ROBIDOUX,

Clerk of Committee.

---

COMMITTEE ROOM,

WEDNESDAY, 2nd September, 1891.

Committee met—Mr. TISDALE in the Chair.

Dr. J. G. BOURINOT, C.M.G., called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

1. Do you know Mr. Edward Cochrane, member of Parliament?—I do.

2. Was he a Member of the House of Commons for the electoral district of the East Riding of Northumberland, in 1888?—He was. I have here a certificate from the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery under date of February, 1888, giving me the usual official communication of that fact.

3. What is the date of that certificate?—The 8th February. They are all of record in the Journals' Office.

4. He came into Parliament in the election of 1887?—This is what I have found to be the date of his first election. He may have been the defeated candidate, but of course I know nothing of that. This is the certificate of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, and thereupon, in accordance with the British North America Act, he presented himself to be sworn as a member of the House of Commons, before me as Commissioner per dedimus potestatum. I find his signature here "Edward Cochrane," sworn before me on the 25th of February, 1888. He took his seat in the House, as it appears in the journals of the House of that date. Then, subsequently, his seat was declared void, as appears from the official report of Mr. Justice Burton, of the 30th October, 1888.

5. What is next?—The next proceeding, as far as I am concerned, is a certificate from the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery under date of January 19th, 1889, certifying that by virtue of a writ of election, under a certain date, Edward Cochrane, Esquire, was duly returned for the East Riding of the County of Northumberland.

6. And he sat in the next session of Parliament?—I am coming to that now. It appears by the Test Roll that he signed the Roll and took the oath in accordance with the law, on the 1st February, 1889, and took his seat in the House. That appears of record in the Journal.

7. From that time until the last general election was he a member of the House?—As far as I am aware. I have no official fact to the contrary.

8. Can you say from the records of votes whether he supported the Government?—I know nothing of any political Government or body in the House.

9. The reason why I ask that is because it is contained in the third paragraph of the charge?—I say that; because I do not think it is a question which, under any circumstances, I might answer as Clerk of the House. The Journals of the House show all the proceedings in reference to Mr. Cochrane.

---

HEDLEY H. SIMPSON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

10. Are you keeper of the Lighthouse at Presqu'Isle?—Yes.

11. When were you appointed?—In the year 1888.

12. Do you know what time you were appointed?—I think in April.
 13. Before you were appointed who had your position?—My father.
 14. Your father died, I understand?—Yes.
 15. Did you receive the appointment immediately after your father died?—No.
 16. How long after his death?—He died in the fall—in October—and I received the appointment in the April following.
 17. In the meantime had the duties to be performed?—Yes.
 18. Who performed them?—I did.
 19. Without receiving the appointment?—Yes.
 20. Did you get up a petition for the appointment of yourself?—I got up a petition and got some of my friends as signers, down where I live, but I never sent it in.
 21. Why did you not send it in?—Mr. Cochrane thought it was not necessary.
 22. Why did he think it was not necessary—did he not tell you?—No.
 23. You say he never told you why it was not necessary to send the petition in?—No; some of them told me—
 24. What did someone tell you?
 Mr. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Barron :

25. You did not present the petition?—No.
 26. Mr. Cochrane, you say, told you not to?—No, he did not.
 27. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane with regard to the petition?—No, sir.
 28. Never had at all?—No.
 29. Did Mr. Cochrane know that a petition was being got up in your behalf?—I cannot say.
 30. Then you do not know of your own knowledge whether Mr. Cochrane knew anything of that petition or not? Before you got the appointment, did your brother Arundel bring you a letter from Mr. Cochrane in connection with the appointment?—I cannot say.
 31. You do not remember?—No.
 32. You have no recollection of getting a letter from Mr. Cochrane brought to you by your brother Arundel?—No.
 33. Nor by anybody else?—No, sir.
 34. Have you searched for letters from Mr. Cochrane to you?—Yes.
 35. Why did you search for them?—My subpoena told me to bring all papers.
 36. You say, at all events, you have not been able to find any?—No.
 37. And you have no recollection of getting a letter from Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir.
 38. Will you swear you did not get a letter from Mr. Cochrane?—I will not.
 39. If your brother Arundel should swear that you did get a letter from Mr. Cochrane in regard to this appointment—
 Question objected to.

By Mr. Barron :

40. Is Arundel H. Simpson your brother?—No.
 41. Perhaps you may have mistaken me when I said your brother, but you got a letter from Arundel Simpson from Mr. Cochrane?—I cannot say. I do not remember whether I ever got a letter from Mr. Cochrane or not.
 42. Are you in the habit of carrying on much correspondence with people?—No.
 43. It is a rare thing for you to get letters; it is not a common thing?—I get letters about my business from the department.
 44. Is that all?—That is pretty much all.
 45. So the circumstance of getting a letter from Mr. Cochrane would be rather a rare occurrence for you?—Yes.
 46. And if you did you would remember it?—I think so.

47. But you won't swear whether you did or did not?—No. I may have got a letter from him and I would not swear whether I did or not.

48. If you do not remember whether you got a letter from Mr. Cochrane then you do not remember whether you showed it to Arundel Simpson or not?—No.

49. Do you remember stating to Arundel Simpson that in order to secure—
Mr. OSLER objected.

Mr. BARRON—I was going to ask Mr. Simpson if he remembered stating to Arundel Simpson that in order to secure the office he would require to give security for the payment of $200?

Mr. OSLER—I object to that question as leading.

WITNESS—I did not.

The CHAIRMAN—The witness has answered the question, but I think myself it was too leading.

By Mr. Barron :

50. Had you any conversation with Arundel Simpson in regard to a letter from Mr. Cochrane?—I do not remember.

51. You will not swear that you had not any conversation?—No.

52. But if you had any conversation, you do not remember what the conversation was?—No, sir. I do not remember anything about a letter or a conversation.

53. Then you do not remember anything about a conversation, if one took place, between you and Arundel Simpson?—No, sir.

54. You do not remember anything about it?—No.

55. Had you any conversation with Arundel Simpson regarding your appointment to office?—I do not remember.

56. Then you may have had a conversation with him?—I may have had, but I do not remember.

57. And if you had a conversation, you do not remember what took place?—No, sir.

58. You do not remember either whether you had a conversation shortly after receiving the letter?—No, sir.

Mr. OSLER objected.

The CHAIRMAN—The witness has sworn that he does not remember having received a letter. I think it is a highly improper question to imply that he has said he did receive a letter.

WITNESS—I do not say that I did not understand, but I not remember having a conversation.

By Mr. Barron :

59. Did not understand what?—I understood what the question meant, but I could not swear whether I ever had a conversation with Arundel Simpson.

60. Did you show Arundel Simpson two notes which you had given in regard to the appointment?—No, sir. I do not think anybody saw them except the man I gave them to.

61. Where are the notes now?—They are destroyed.

62. Who destroyed them?—I did.

63. After you paid them?—Yes.

64. Then you did pay them?—I paid them.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

65. When were they destroyed?—I could not say. Since the time of the appointment; some time after.

66. Did you see your Uncles Caleb and Darius Simpson in regard to these notes?—I saw my Uncle Darius.

67. In regard to these notes?—No.

68. What did you go to see him for?—He endorsed one of the notes; I asked him to.

69. You asked him to endorse one of the notes?—Yes.

70. Were there two notes?—Yes.

71. For how much each?—$100 each.

72. And you asked your Uncle Darius to endorse one of them?—Yes.

73. Whom did you get to endorse the other?—No one.

74. Why did you go to your Uncle Darius to get one endorsed?—He is a friend of mine.

75. Who suggested you should go to him?—No one. I suggested it myself, if I remember right.

76. Did anybody require an endorsement on one of those notes, or on both of them?—Mr. Stanley did.

77. What is his first name?—James Stanley.

78. What was the conversation you had with James Stanley in regard to it?

Mr. OSLER—I object. This is not evidence against Mr. Cochrane.
Objection sustained.

By Mr. Barron :

79. It was in consequence of the conversation you had with James Stanley that you got your Uncle Darius Simpson to endorse that note for you?—Yes.

80. Your Uncle Darius at first refused to endorse the note?—I do not think he did.

81. Did anybody go and see Mr. Cochrane in regard to those notes?—Not that I know of.

82. Do you know whether Walter Simpson went to see him?—In regard to these notes?

83. Yes?—No, sir; I do not.

84. You do not know whether he did or did not?—No, sir.

85. After you signed the notes, and your Uncle Darius endorsed one of them, what did you do with them?—I took them to Colborne. Mr. Stanley went with me to Colborne, and we went to the bank at Colborne, and the bank was closed. We then went to Mr. Payne's office, if I remember right, and then we went to the post office and deposited the money there.

By the Charman :

86. What Mr. Barron wants to know is to whom you gave the notes and got the money from?—I gave the notes to James Stanley.

87. And then you went with him where?—To Colborne.

88. And from whom did you get the money on the notes?—I borrowed the money from James Stanley.

89. He furnished it?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

90. You got the money from James Stanley on those notes?—Yes, sir.

91. How much did you get?—Two hundred dollars.

92. And what did you do with the money?—I paid it to Joseph Cochrane.

93. Who is Joseph Cochrane?—He is the postmaster at Colborne.

94. Is he any relation to Mr. Cochrane the member?—I think he is.

95. What relation?—I could not say.

96. But at all events you paid the money to Mr. Joseph Cochrane, the postmaster at Colborne?—Yes, sir.

97. How did you come to see Stanley in regard to these notes?—I was after the lights, and spoke to Mr. Stanley who belongs to the committee.

98. What committee?—The committee of the Conservative party.

99. At Colborne?—At Brighton.

100. Well, what next?—Well, I asked to see Mr. Cochrane, I think, but I do not remember.

101. You asked to see Mr. Cochrane in regard to what?

Mr. OSLER objected to the question.

By Mr. Barron :

102. Well, you asked Stanley to see Mr. Cochrane, did you?—I think I did; I won't be positive.

103. What did you ask Stanley to see Cochrane about?—About the position of lighthouse-keeper at Presqu'Isle.

104. And do you know whether Stanley did see Mr. Cochrane or not?—I don't know.

105. You don't know anything about that?—No.

106. That was before giving the notes, was it?—Yes; I think so.

107. Then after that you went to see Stanley?—Yes, I saw him.

108. How long after that?—I could not say.

109. And how long after that was it you gave the notes?—I could not say.

110. You do not know?—No.

111. But it was after you had asked Stanley to see Mr. Cochrane, that you gave the notes?—Yes.

112. Well then, did you go to Stanley to give the notes, or did he come to you?—I went to Stanley.

113. And the conversation between you and Stanley in regard to giving the notes, took place in Brighton?—Yes.

114. And was it in pursuance of that conversation, you got your Uncle Darius to endorse the notes?—Yes.

115. Then you paid these notes?—Yes.

116. Was it after you paid the notes, or before you got the appointment as lighthouse-keeper at Presq'Isle?—No.

117. It was after you gave the notes?—Yes, after I gave the notes.

118. But before you had paid them?—Yes.

119. How long had these notes to run? Do you remember?—I don't remember.

120. What value did you get for the notes?—What value did I get?

121. Yes?—I don't know I got any value for them.

122. Then why did you give them?—I gave them to help to pay the indebtedness of the party.

123. You gave them simply for that?—Yes sir. Mr. Stanley told me whatever I gave, was to be of my own free will.

124. Mr. Stanley told you, whatever you gave, you gave of your own free will?—Yes, sir.

125. Then you say you got no value for them, except just subscribing to the party fund?—Yes.

126. Would you have given them if you had not got that appointment?

Mr. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Barron :

127. Was there any conversation about getting the appointment, which you did get, before you gave these notes?—I don't remember. I never said much about the appointment to anybody.

128. You do not remember whether you had any conversation at all?—No.

129. What did you send Stanley to Cochrane for? Out with it now?—For the appointment.

130. You sent Stanley to Cochrane for the appointment? What appointment was that?—For the lights.

131. And when you next saw Stanley, you thought you had to give two notes?

Mr. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Barron :

132. Well, you next saw Stanley, what took place?—I don't know. It may have been some time after, I saw him several times.

133. I am going to ask you, had you not an interview about the getting of this appointment when you gave these notes?—Certainly.

134. You had in view the getting of the appointment when you gave the notes?—Yes.

135. And for getting the appointment you had to give the notes?

Counsel objected.

136. I ask you this. Was the promise of the appointment the reason why you gave the notes?—I gave the notes of my own free will.

137. The appointment had nothing whatever to do with the giving of the notes?

Counsel objected.

WITNESS—I think I would have got the appointment without the notes.

By Mr. Mulock :

138. Would the notes have been given without the appointment?—I do not know about that. I cannot say about that.

139. Would you have given the notes without some understanding about getting the appointment?—Well, I do not understand how I could have paid them.

140. You would not have rendered yourself liable for the notes unless you had got the office that would have enabled you to have paid them?—No.

141. Would you have given these two $100 notes unless you had got this office to pay for them?—No, I do not think I would.

142. Out of what sum did you expect to pay the notes?—I had no funds.

143. When you gave the notes how did you expect to pay for them?—I expected to pay for them out of the salary I got for taking care of the lighthouse.

144. Is that the way you paid them?—Yes.

145. You had the promise of the office when you signed the notes?—No, sir.

146. You had not the promise of the appointment, but you expected to pay the notes out of the proceeds of the office?—I did.

147. Then if you had not the promise, did you think it likely you would get the office?—I had no straight promise, but I expected to get it.

148. On what did you base your expectation?—My father kept the lighthouse before me, and I applied to the Deputy Minister, and I was pretty sure Mr. Cochrane would do what he could, and I could secure the appointment in that way.

149. If you had thought you would not have got the office would you have given the notes?—I could not have paid them if I had not got the office.

150. They would not have been much use if you had not got the office?—No.

151. You could not have paid the notes if you had not got the office?—No.

152. You would not have given them any way?—I could not have paid them unless I had got the office.

153. You mention having sent Mr. Stanley to Mr. Cochrane. What Mr. Cochrane is that?—The member.

154. When did you send Mr. Stanley to Mr. Cochrane?—I don't know that I sent Mr. Stanley.

155. Did you ask Mr. Stanley to see Mr. Cochrane?—I think I did.

156. Which Mr. Cochrane was that?—The member.

157. About the appointment was it?—Yes.

158. Do you remember when that was?—No I don't.

159. Was it before or after you gave the notes?—Before I signed the notes, I think.

160. Did Mr. Stanley see Mr. Cochrane about the appointment?—I do not know.

161. Have you any reason to believe that he did?—I do not know.

162. Have you any reason to know whether Mr. Stanley spoke to Mr. Cochrane about the appointment?—I do not know, but I think he did.

163. Was it before or after you signed the notes you asked Mr. Stanley to see Mr. Cochrane?—It was before that.

164. Before?—I think so.

165. When you asked Mr. Stanley about the appointment you had not then got the promise of it?—No.

166. You would not have sent some one to Mr. Cochrane if you had been sure of it?—I do not know.

167. You would have given the notes before you had been guaranteed it?—I do not know that I would.

168. I suppose until you were notified that you had the office, you were not sure whether you would get it or not?—I thought I would. I had charge of it, I was in possession then. I had been in possession after the death of my father.

169. What occurred between the death of your father and the getting the appointment, that led you to suppose you would get it?—I do not know.

170. What occurred between the death of your father and the time of your getting the office, that led you to believe that you would get it?—I think it generally goes that way.

171. I am speaking about this particular case. What occurred between the death of your father and your receiving the appointment, which caused you to believe that you would get it?—Nothing, except that it had always been in the family.

172. How long time elapsed between the death of your father and your getting the appointment?—He died in October and I got the office in April.

173. Of course you had closed up the lighthouse?—Yes.

174. When did you close the lighthouse?—It is closed at different times.

175. At the close of navigation?—Yes.

176. Now what occurred between the death of your father in October and your getting the appointment in April that caused you to believe, if you did believe, that you would get the appointment?—I cannot say that there was anything in particular, but I expected to get it.

177. What was the date of the notes you signed?—Were they in the Fall or in the Spring?—It must have been in the Spring or Winter.

178. Do you remember what sort of a vehicle you went to Colborne in, with Stanley?—I drove him in a vehicle.

179. Did you drive by sleigh?—I drove by sleigh.

180. So it was during the sleighing in the winter?—Yes.

181. How long did the notes run?—I don't remember.

182. Three months, or four, or longer?—Three months, I think.

183. To whom did you pay the money to meet the notes?—To Mr. Stanley.

184. Where?—I think I paid them in his hotel in Brighton.

185. You went there to pay him?—Yes.

186. You paid them out of the salary you got?—Yes.

187. How much salary was it a year?—$400.

188. Was it paid half yearly?—I cannot say how it was paid. I paid just as I could spare it.

189. I mean your salary?—My salary is paid quarterly.

190. Did you pay the notes in instalments or altogether?—I do not remember how they were drawn up, but I think I gave him $50 at another time, and I do not remember after that. That was the first payment.

191. You paid in instalments as your salary enabled you?—Yes.

192. And whether the notes were payable at one time or by instalments you cannot say?—No.

193. Were they overdue when you made this payment?—I think probably they were.

194. But you can say about their being paid, and that they were to be paid out of the receipts of the office?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron:

195. Did you ever subscribe before this to the party funds?—No.

196. This is the only occasion, according to you, that you ever subscribed?—
Yes.
197. You say you thought you were entitled to the office?—Yes.
198. Because your father had it before you?—Yes.
199. And because you kept it after your father's death. That was the reason why?—Yes, I thought I should have it.
200. This petition was got up for you while you were acting in the capacity of lighthouse-keeper?—Yes.
201. Who suggested that petition?—I do not remember.
202. Was it yourself?—No, I do not think so.
203. Then if you know it was not yourself perhaps you can tell us who it was that suggested it?—I cannot.
204. You cannot recollect?—No.
205. Why was it dropped?—I do not know. By my friends I suppose.
206. Did you know it was going to be dropped?—Yes.
207. Who took around this petition?—I went with it and my brother.
208. What is his name?—Herbert W.
209. And you don't know when the petition was dropped?—I heard that Mr. Cochrane said there was no need of it; that——
210. That what?—That there was no need of a petition anyway; that it would do no good.
211. Who told you that?—I cannot say.
212. It was in consequence of that, however, that the petition was dropped?—
Yes, I think so.
213. Tell me who suggested giving these notes?—Mr. Stanley.
214. He was the one?—Yes.
215. He was the only one who suggested the giving of the notes?—Yes.
216. What did you say to Mr. Stanley when he suggested——
Mr. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Barron :

217. Were you in Brighton on Friday or Saturday last?—I do not remember.
218. Don't you remember whether you were in Brighton on Friday or Saturday last?—I was there either one day or the other, I cannot say which.
219. You knew then that these proceedings were going to take place?—Yes; I heard it.
220. Did you see Mr. Cochrane on Friday or Saturday last?—No.
221. Nor on Sunday?—I did not.
222. You say you did not?—I do not remember seeing him.
223. What, you do not remember whether you saw him or not?—No.
224. On Friday, or Saturday or Sunday last?—I did not see him on Sunday.
225. Will you swear you did not see him on Friday or Saturday?—I saw Mr. Cochrane, one day and I think it must have been Friday or Saturday. I cannot say, but I know it was one or the other of those days.
226. That is Mr. Cochrane, M. P.?—Yes.
227. Had you any conversation with him in regard to these proceedings?—I had not.
228. You say he did not speak to you about them?—Not to my recollection.
229. Do you not think you would remember if he did?—Yes.
230. You heard that these proceedings were going to take place?—Yes.
231. Who did you hear it from?—I do not remember that. I heard it from different parties.
232. But you will not swear that Mr. Cochrane had no conversation with you in regard to them?—No. He had no conversation with me in regard to these proceedings, I do not think. Not that I remember.
233. Or in regard to the trouble that had been occasioned?—I do not think he spoke about it. I met him and shook hands with him and very few words passed.

234. Did he talk with anybody in your hearing?—No.

235. Were you with Mr. Cochrane last night?—Yes.

236. Had you then any conversation with him in regard to what was going to take place?—No.

By Mr. Oster :

237. How long did your father have the lighthouse?—I can hardly say. I think about thirty years.

238. How old a man was he when he died?—Seventy-three, or somewhere about that.

239. What condition had your father been in the latter years of his life?—He was in good health until he died, or about four days before he died.

240. Did your father attend to the lighthouse?—Yes; he attended to it most of the time.

241. Who else attended to it?—I did.

242. What other occupation had you besides attending to the lighthouse?—I used to sail sometimes.

243. And to what extent had you attended the lighthouse?—Whenever I was home I attended it mostly.

244. And at other times you occupied yourself as a sailor?—Yes.

245. Were you a voter in that riding?—I voted; yes.

246. You had a vote?—Yes.

247. Had you taken any interest in politics?—Very little.

248. But you had taken some interest?—Yes.

249. How many years have you had a vote?—Four or five years.

250. Do you know that there have been a great many bye-elections and regular elections in East Northumberland, both for the Local and Dominion?—Yes.

251. Do you know that there have been several election trials?—Yes.

252. And do you know that the party have been to very great expense in connection with those elections?—Yes, sir.

253. The party supporters have been taxed very heavily there?—Yes, sir.

254. Had you more than one interview with Stanley?—I do not think that I had.

255. That is the interview you have been speaking of?—Yes.

256. Had you any interview yourself with Mr. Cochrane the member?—I do not remember having any interview at all with him.

257. You do not remember having any interview with him with reference to the office?—No.

258. When was it that you circulated the petition, with reference to the date when you made the note or notes?—It was right away after my father died.

259. Are you a married man?—No, sir.

260. Did your father leave a family?—Yes.

261. Are you supporting them?—Yes.

262. Have they any other means of support?—No.

By Mr. German :

263. What was to be done with the money that you raised on those notes to Stanley?—It is to pay up the expense of an old protest between Mr. Wade and Mr. Ferris.

264. Why did you go to Colborne to pay the money into the bank?—The note was in the bank at Colborne.

265. What note?—The note given to pay the protest expenses.

266. The note was in the bank at Colborne?—Yes.

267. Then the notes you gave to Stanley were used to apply in payment of this note?—Yes.

268. From whom did you understand that?—Stanley.

269. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Cochrane prior to the giving of the note to Stanley?—No.

270. None at all?—No.

271. Had not you seen him about the appointment?—No.

272. Had not you spoken to him about it?—No.

273. You had heard from another source that it was not necessary to get up a petition?—Yes, sir.

274. Was it Stanley told you that?—I do not think so.

275. Did you afterwards tell Mr. Cochrane that you had given those notes?—I did not.

276. Did you see Mr. Cochrane about it at all?—No.

277. You did not speak to him about it at all?—No.

278. You say you do not remember having received a letter from Mr. Cochrane in regard to this appointment?—I do not.

279. And you do not remember talking to Arundel Simpson about the contents of the letter?—I do not.

280. You do not remember?—No.

281. Now if you had a conversation with Arundel Simpson, about this letter I suppose what you stated about it would be correct?

Mr. OSLER objected.

WITNESS—If it was according to what he said it would not be correct.

By Mr. Osler :

282. Was the election between Wade and Ferris for the House of Commons or for the Local Legislature?—For the Local Legislature.

283. How many years before the occasion of the giving of the note had that election taken place?—I do not remember; sometime before.

284. About how many years; was it a recent election?—It was some time before.

285. And there had been an election protest and an election trial with reference to the election for the Provincial Legislature, and there was a debt connected with it which your notes were to go to pay?—Yes.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

286. Were there notes for that debt outstanding at the time you gave your notes?—That is what I understood.

By Mr. Osler :

287. What bank was it?—I do not know.

288. How many banks are there in Colborne?—There is only one bank—the Standard Bank.

289. So that it must have the Standard Bank the note was in?—Yes.

ARUNDEL R. SIMPSON called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

290. You know the last witness?—Yes.

291. What relation is he of yours?—A brother-in-law.

292. Do you remember the death of his father?—Yes, sir.

293. What position had his father?—Lighthouse-keeper at Presqu'Isle.

294. And when he died, you remember the circumstances of his father dying?—Yes.

295. And that he performed the duties of his father, after his death?—Yes, for a short time.

296. I am speaking now of the other witness, Hedley Simpson, performing the duties of his father, both before and after his death, for a short time?—Yes.

297. Was a petition got up to have him appointed?—I believe there was.

298. Did you help in circulating that petition?—No, I did not.

299. Did you see the petition?—No, sir.

300. You know that he wanted to get the appointment?—He told me that he did.

301. Did you assist him to get the appointment?—Yes, I believe, I did what I could for him.

302. What did you do for him?—Well, I don't know that I did anything particular.

303. Did you see Mr. Edward Cochrane, the member?—No.

304. You never saw him at all?—Oh, I never saw him, not about the petition.

305. But about getting the appointment for Mr. Hedley Simpson?—No, I never asked him anything about it.

306. You had no conversation with him in regard to it?—No, not particular.

307. Well, what conversation had you that was not particular?—Well, I don't know anything; I don't know what you are trying to come at.

308. You are Mr. Arundel R. Simpson?—Yes.

309. And I ask you if you had any conversation with Mr. Cochrane, the member, in regard to the appointment of Mr. Hedley Simpson, to a position of lighthouse keeper at Presqu' Isle?—Well, along in March I think. I think his father died in October, and I gave him a letter from Mr. Cochrane.

310. Did you see that letter?—No, I saw the letter, but I did not know what was in it. I could not tell you what was in it.

311. Was that letter read in your presence?—I don't know as it was. I don't think it was; I would not swear positively, it is quite a while ago.

312. Did Mr. Cochrane tell you what was in the letter?—He told me it was concerning the lighthouse, and wanted to know if I would send the letter to Mr. Hedley Simpson, for him to come and see him.

313. That is all you know was in the letter?—That is all I know.

314. It was a letter from Mr. Edward Cochrane, to Hedley Simpson, in regard to the lighthouse?

The CHAIRMAN—He says it was something about the lighthouse and that Mr. Cochrane wanted to see him.

By Mr. Barron :

315. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane with regard to the position?—Yes. He said there was no necessity of sending a petition.

316. Why did he say that?—He did not say. He said he would attend to it; that there was no necessity of sending a petition, that he would do the business. He said he would look after it, or something in that way.

317. Did he tell you to tell Hedley Simpson?

Mr. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Barron :

318. Was there anything said, in regard to forwarding a petition to Ottawa, between Mr. Cochrane and you?—No, I don't think there was.

319. Was there anything said about leaving the matter in Mr. Cochrane's hands?—I don't know, that was all he said to me; that he would look after the thing, there was no necessity for sending a petition.

320. Do you know one Snetsinger?—Yes.

321. Did Mr. Cochrane ever tell you about getting anything from him for the light-house?—No, I don't know that he ever said that he had anything from him.

322. What did he say?—I believe he told me once, that he had offered him something for it.

323. Who offered?—Mr. Snetsinger.

By the Chairman :

324. Mr. Cochrane told you that Snetsinger offered him something?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

325. How much did he say?—I would not be positive, either $400 or $600.

326. He said that Snetsinger offered him, either $400 or $600 for the appointment?—I would not be positive which, he told me it was quite an amount.

327. What did he say then, at that conversation, about giving it to Hedley H. Simpson?—I don't know exactly what he said about it.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

328. Did he say anything?—I don't know; it is quite a while ago. He said I believe that he would, or they would, let him have it a good deal cheaper.

329. Would let who have it cheaper?—Mr. Hedley Simpson.

By the Chairman :

330. What did he say?—He said that Hedley would get it for $200.

By Mr. Mulock :

331. Why do you refer to the word "cheaper"?—I don't know; I suppose that is what he said.

332. Tell us what he said?—He said he would get it for $200.

333. Did he use the word "cheaper"?—I don't know as he did.

By Mr. Barron :

334. Was it subsequent to that that the letter was sent by you to Hedley from Cochrane?—I don't know whether it was before or after.

335. Now what conversation had you with Mr. Cochrane in regard to Hedley H. Simpson paying something, or securing something, in the way of getting the appointment; for you had a conversation?

The Chairman ruled the last clause of the question out of order.

By Mr. Barron :

336. What conversation had you with Mr. Cochrane in regard to Hedley H. Simpson getting the appointment?

Counsel objected.

By Mr. Barron :

337. What conversation had you with Mr. Cochrane?—The conversation was when I took the letter.

338. Had you only one conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—Well, about that. I often had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane. I was brought up as his neighbour and we would often talk together, but I don't remember that anything was said about this.

339. You only had a conversation at one time in regard to the letter?—Yes.

340. Now at any other time had you any conversation with regard to Hedley Simpson getting the appointment?—I don't recollect.

341. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to Hedley H. Simpson doing anything for the appointment?—He gave me the letter. He called me into the hall and Stanley gave me the letter to take over to him to let him know that he wanted him to go and see him. I went over and took it to him; and his brother said he would not give him anything.

By Mr. Osler :

342. Whose brother?—Hedley Simpson's brother.

By Mr. Barron :

343. Was there anything ever said about giving security for the appointment?—There was not by Mr. Cochrane.

344. Was Mr. Cochrane present when security was spoken about?—No.

345. You are sure of that?—I think he was not present.

346. There was a conversation with regard to the appointment being given to some one else?—Yes. What Hedley said to me was that he had not got the appointment yet.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

347. Was that at the time you were asked to carry the letter? I would not be positive. I think it was afterwards. I think it was Mr. Cochrane who was talking.

348. Where?—In Mr. Bullock's store.

349. Is that in the Village of Brighton?—Yes.

350. Was Mr. Cochrane alone?—No. I do not think he was.

351. Was anybody with him?—Yes.

352. Did anybody take part in the conversation in the Village of Brighton?—I do not remember.

353. When was this?—I think it was after he got the appointment.

354. Are you sure of that?—I am quite positive it was. It was the next summer I think.

355. Will you let me understand now, what was the nature of the conversation with Mr. Cochrane in a few words?—He said that he had done quite a lot for the Simpson family, that he gave Hedley the lighthouse for less than he could have got for it from another party—that he could have got more than he had got from Hedley Simpson from Snetsinger.

356. Did he say how much Snetsinger had offered him?—I think $600.

357. Did he say how much he got for it?—I do not know that he did, for he knew that I was aware how much he got.

358. How did you become aware?—I knew by the notes.

359. How much were they?—$200.

360. Who were the notes made by?—By Stanley. I think Stanley made the notes.

361. Who drew up the notes?—Stanley.

362. Who was the maker of the notes?—Stanley.

MR. OSLER.—The question is whether he was in possession of any knowledge himself.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

363-4. Did you see the notes?—Yes.

365. Then you are speaking from your own knowledge?—Yes.

366. You saw the notes? When did you see them, do you know?—I do not remember.

367. How long after the interview would it have been?—Just a day or so.

368. Where did you see them?—I saw them at my place.

369. Who brought them there?—Hedley Simpson.

370. Was anybody with him?—No.

371. Did you go with Hedley Simpson anywhere with the notes?—Nowhere.

372. He brought them to your place and you saw them?—Yes.

373. They were payable to whom?—To Mr. Stanley.

374. On what Bank?—On the Standard Bank at Colborne.

375. How much were they for?—For $100 each.

376. Do you recollect when they were payable?—One in six months and the other in three.

377. You saw the notes?—Yes.

378. And you knew the amount had been given through them. You knew the sum that had been paid for the lighthouse?—Yes.

379. What else did Mr. Cochrane say besides what you have told us?—I do not remember anything else. He said that he could have got more from Mr. Snetsinger. That was all.

380. Did you say anything in reply to that?—That is all.

381. What did you tell him in reply to that?—I did not tell him anything.

382. Did you make any promise at all?—I don't recollect.

383. Was there anything said about the $200, or as to the amount that was paid on the notes?—No.

384. Nothing was said about the notes?—No, nothing was said about the notes by Mr. Cochrane.

385. Did you say anything to him about the notes?—No.

386. Did you tell him you had seen the notes?—No.

387. Had you any conversation with him at any time about the notes?—No, I don't remember having any conversation with Mr. Cochrane about the notes in any way.

388. Did you know anything about a petition that was got up in favour of Hedley Simpson getting the appointment?—Yes.

389. Did you sign it?—I did not sign it.

390. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

391. Did you ever speak to Mr. Cochrane about the petition—I might have spoken to him.

392. Did you speak to Hedley about the advisability of his getting up the petition?—He said there was no necessity of getting it up.

393. Did he say why?—I do not know that he told me the reason why.

394. Did Hedley give any reason?—He said it was not necessary.

395. Did he say to you why it was not necessary to get up the petition?—No; not that I remember.

396. Did you ask him?—No.

397. Did you ever hear anything about these notes afterward from Mr. Hedley Simpson?—Not after he was at my place.

By Mr. German :

398. You said that Cochrane and Stanley were together when you got the letter for Hedley Simpson?—Yes.

399. In whose house?—Mr. Stanley's.

400. Did Stanley say anything in regard to the contents of the letter or regarding the appointment in Mr. Cochrane's presence?—I do not recollect that he did.

401. Did you have any conversation with Hedley Simpson about the contents of the letter?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

402. You spoke of a conversation. I do not ask you about it, but where it occurred. You referred to a conversation wherein you say that Hedley's brother said he, Hedley, would not give any more for the office. Where did that take place?—Mr. Hedley Simpson's house.

403. Who was present?—I was present.

404. Hedley, you and the brother?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

405. Why did Hedley Simpson bring these notes to your place?—He told me the reason.

WALTER SIMPSON called, sworn, and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

406. Are you any relation to Caleb Simpson?—Yes, sir.

407. A son?—Yes.

408. And a nephew of Darius Simpson?—Yes.

409. And therefore related to Hedley Simpson?—Yes; a cousin.

410. Do you remember Hedley Simpson consulting with your father in regard to getting an appointment?—No, sir.

411. You do not remember any conversation at all?—No, sir.

412. Did you speak to Mr. Cochrane about this appointment of Hedley Simpson?—I met Mr. Cochrane once in Brighton before the appointment and I asked him if Hedley Simpson's chances for getting the lighthouse were good. He said they were.

413. Is that all?—That is all.

414. Were you sent to Mr. Cochrane at any time?—No, sir.

415. By no one?—No one.

416. Did you see Mr. Cochrane at any other time in regard to this matter?—No, sir.

417. Never had any conversation at any time?—No.

418. Except what you have stated?—Except what I have stated.

419. Did you, after having seen Mr. Cochrane at any time again see Hedley Simpson in regard to the appointment?—Not that I am aware of.

420. Just try and speak as certainly in regard to that matter as you did of others.—I do not know that I did. I may have, but I cannot remember.

421. Did you ever tell Mr. Hedley Simpson what Mr. Cochrane had said to you with regard to his appointment?—I do not remember that I did.

422. Do you remember the circumstance of Hedley Simpson giving two notes?—I know nothing of it.

423. Never heard of it?—I heard of it afterward.

424. After it was done?—Yes.

425. You knew nothing of it before?—No, sir.

426. You knew nothing about the arrangement of the notes?—No, sir.

427. Were you ever sent to James Stanley in regard to them?—No, sir.

428. And never saw James Stanley?—I may have seen him.

429. I mean in regard to the notes?—No, sir.

430. Never talked to him about them?—No.

431. You know him?—Yes.

432. Had you any conversation with Mr. Thomas Webb in regard to these notes?—No, sir.

433. Nor with regard to the appointment?—No, sir.

434. You were never told to arrange with James Stanley anything in regard to the notes?—I know nothing of them.

By Mr. Mulock :

435. When was it that you had the conversation with Mr. Cochrane that you referred to?—Before the appointment. I could not tell.

436. Do you know when the appointment was made?—I do not know exactly.

437. Do you know about when?—Well, it was some time after my uncle's death.

438. Of course it was. Your cousin said it was in the spring; I think April?—I do not know anything more than what I heard him say.

439. It was before you heard that the appointment had been made, of course?—Yes.

440. The conversation led you to believe the appointment had been made?—Yes.

441. And it was shortly before the appointment was made in the spring of 1889? I do not remember the year.

442. It was in 1889 that the appointment was made?

Mr. SKINNER—Hedley Simpson said it was in 1888.

Mr. MULOCK—At all events it is the reference to the dates, not the year, that I want. The appointment was made in April and your conversation with Mr. Cochrane was in the spring of the year?—I could not say exactly when it was; it was some time before the appointment.

443. You had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane prior to the appointment?—Yes, sir.

444. And Mr. Cochrane then told you that Hedley's chances were good?—Those were the very words.

445. How did he come to make that remark?—I asked him.

446. How did you come to ask him?—There were so many applications for the lighthouse that I wanted to know what my cousin's chances were.

447. And he told you that they were good?—Yes.

448. Where did this conversation take place?—I think it was on the steps of the Central Hotel at Brighton.

449. Was any one else present?—No, sir.

450. Did he say why the chances were good?—No, sir.

JAMES STANLEY called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

451. Where do you live, Mr. Stanley?—In the village of Brighton.

452. You are a hotel-keeper there?—Yes, sir.

453. How long have you been there?—About two years and a half.

454. That is you have been keeping a hotel during the time, or have you lived there longer than that?—I have lived there since 1867.

455. And you have been a hotel-keeper for the last two years and a half?—Yes.

456. You of course know Mr. Cochrane the member for the East Riding of Northumberland?—Yes.

457. An intimate friend of his?—Yes.

458. Have you acted for him as treasurer, or for any person as treasurer, in receiving moneys from different parties?—I have received moneys from different parties, but not as treasurer for him.

459. From whom?—From the committee that was appointed.

460. Have you received money from Thomas Fitzgerald at any time?—Yes.

461. How much?—$150.

462. What was that for?—It was to go towards paying off the indebtedness of the party, of an old election protest.

463. What was Thomas Fitzgerald?—I guess he is a farmer. He acted as that before—

464. Before what?—Before his appointment as bridge tender.

465. He was appointed as bridge keeper?—Yes.

466-7. Where?—The Trent Bridge, I think it is called, on the Murray Canal.

468. How much money did he give you?—$150.

469. How did he come to give you that?—He was appointed bridge tender. The committee recommended him for the appointment, and told me that as he was to get the appointment, I was to see him to see if he would give something to the party.

470. The committee appointed, instructed you to see these different bridge-keepers and see if they would not voluntarily give something?—Yes, voluntarily.

471. After they got the appointment?—Yes; they got the promise of it.

472. Was Mr. Cochrane a member of that committee?—He was not.

473. Can you tell me who was?—I can mention two or three; I don't know that I can mention them all.

474. Mention some?—D. C. Bullock.

475. Who else?—I am not sure that Major Webb was one, but I think Philip Lawson was one.

476. Who else?—Hugh McQuoid.

477. Who else?—I don't know whether Robert Clark was not one; I am not certain.

478. What was that committee?—It was one of the leading ones of the Conservative party.

479. In East Northumberland?—Yes.

480. There are others on the committee that you cannot remember?—There may be, but I cannot remember.

481. How did you come to demand, voluntarily, $150?—I did not come; I sent.

482. Who did you send?—I think I sent word.

483. Was that before the appointment or afterwards?—I told you they had the promise of the appointment.

484. Then it was before they actually got the appointment?—They had got it from the committee.

485. They had got the promise of the appointment from whom?—From the committee.

486. But they had not actually got the appointment from the Government?—No.

487. Was it before Mr. Fitzgerald got the appointment you exacted a payment from him on behalf of the committee?

Mr. Osler objected.

By Mr. Barron:

488. You say he gave it voluntarily?—Yes.

489. Did you ask him for it?—I asked him what he would give.

490. To what?—Towards paying the indebtedness of the party.

491. What was he to get for the $150?—He was not to get anything.

492. However, you got $150 from Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald?—Yes.

493. That was before he actually got the appointment from the Government?—Yes.

494. Do you know a man by the name of Mason?—Yes; William Mason.

495. Has he got a bridge, too?—No; he has not.

496. Had he the promise of one?—No.

497. Did he ever deposit any money with you?—No, he never did.

498. Do you know Mr. Vanalstine?—Yes.

499. Did he ever deposit any money with you?—No, sir.

500. What does he do?—He has been working on the canal.

501. In what capacity?—I don't know, in almost everything—he has been working for the contractors.

502. Is he a bridge keeper, or anything of that kind?—No.

503. Or a bridge tender?—He is not.

504. How much did you get from him?—$150.

505. What did he give you $150 for?—Well, towards paying off the indebtedness of the party.

506. How did you come to send to him?—I was sending to them all.

507. All at the same time?—All at the same time; pretty much the same day.

508. It was the same time, at all events, that you sent for them?—Yes.

509. Who told you to send for them?—The Committee, as I said before, recommended the man.

510. Was he promised an appointment too?—Yes.

511. What appointment had been promised?—One of the bridges, I believe.

512. One of the bridges on the Murray Canal?—Yes.

513. By whom?—By the Committee recommending him.

514. This committee you have mentioned would recommend to whom?—To the members themselves, afterwards, I suppose.

515. But you don't know?—No.

516. The Committee would recommend them if what?—There was no if about it.

517. No if about it?—No, if about it at all.

518. You just told him he was recommended for the position as bridge keeper on the Murray Canal?—He had been recommended.

519. And you sent him to come to you and you told him that?—Yes.

520. And what else?—Well, nothing else.

521. O, yes; you sent for him for something else?—No, I did not send for him at all.

522. Not to get any money from him?—I asked him what he could afford to give towards paying off the indebtedness of the party.
523. What did he say?—He said he would willingly give, if he could get the appointment, $150, towards paying off the indebtedness.
524. Was that sum suggested by him or by you?—Suggested by himself.
525. Do you know Philip Lawson?—Yes.
526. Where does he live?—In the Township of Murray.
527. He has been employed on the canal?—He has been employed, I think contracting for stone.
528. Since its inception?—Yes.
529. Did you get any money from him?—Not a dollar.
530. Do you know if he ever paid any money?—I do not.
531. Are you sure you never heard he had given any money?—No, I don't know if he did.
532. You never heard of it?—(No answer.)
533. Did he get the appointment?—Not to my knowledge.
534. And you don't know that he paid any money?—I don't know that.
535. Are the parties you have just mentioned all you received money from?—No.
536. Who else?—I received money from Hedley Simpson.
537. How much did you receive from him?—$200—at least I received his note for that amount.
538. Now, with the exception of Hedley Simpson, Thomas Fitzgerald, and Vanalstine, are there any other parties you received money from?—Well, I don't think there is.
539. Do you know of any parties who paid money, and who did not get appointments, and were repaid the money?—Only Vanalstine.
540. And was he repaid the money?—Yes.
541. Vanalstine did not get the appointment?—No.
542. And therefore he was repaid the money?—Yes; I repaid it.
- 542½. But you did not repay the others?—No.
543. Because they got the appointments?—Yes.
544. Now, with the exception of Vanalstine were there any others who paid money to whom the money was returned?—Not to my knowledge.
545. Now then you say you received $200; from Hedley Simpson?—Yes.
546. In what way did you receive the $200?—I received two notes at $100 each.
547. Were the notes endorsed?—They were endorsed by his Uncle Darius.
548. How did you come to want Darius to endorse the notes?—Hedley was not worth anything himself. I thought his Uncle had better endorse them.
549. For what period was the notes to run?—One was for three months and the other was for a longer term.
550. Did you see his Uncle about it at all?—No.
551. Did you know that Hedley was going to be appointed lighthouse keeper?
552. What member of the Committee came to you and told you of these things?—I was one of the Committee myself.
553. This Committee used to meet from time to time?—Yes.
554. Where?—In the hotel, sometimes in Bullick's store.
555. They used to sit in judgment on these different positions?—Yes; to see who was the best man to put in.
556. They decided to ask Hedley Simpson for $200?—They asked him what he could afford to give to pay off the indebtedness for the old protest.
557. What protest?—The protest of James L. Ferris and William Wade.
558. Mr. Wade was the petitioner?—No; I was the petitioner myself.
559. It was a local election?—Yes.
560. It was to pay of the indebtedness in regard to the litigation?—Yes.
561. How was the money raised to pay for the litigation?—It was raised by the notes endorsed by so many from the different Townships—Seymour and other Townships.

562. Can you say by whom it was endorsed?
Counsel objected.

By Mr. Barron:

563. Do you remember whose names were on the notes?—I do not.

By Mr. Mulock:

564. That note was paid?—No, that note was taken up and others taken in its place.

565. That is the first note?—Yes.

566. How many were on it?—I think about twenty.

567. Who paid the first note?—It was paid by giving a renewal of other notes, one township took one and another another, and some would be taken by a village and township together.

568. What became of the note that was taken up?—I cannot tell you that.

569. Who took it up?—James Ireland and Joseph Pilkey.

570. They took up the note?—Yes.

By Mr. German:

571. There were several notes, but one was the original. Can you say how much the original was for?—$1,000.

572. How many notes were given to retire this note?—I believe there were three.

573. Who was the holder of the original note?—W. W. Webb.

574. What became of that?—I do not know.

575. What was done with the three notes that were given to take up that note?—I do not know.

576. Were those three notes given to Webb or taken to the bank?—Some were given to Webb. I think the one by Joseph Pilkey and James Ireland.

577. Which was put in the bank?—The one by W. L. Payne, Willoughby and William Pickworth.

578. Webb had the other two?—Yes.

579. Were you on the note in the bank?—No.

580. Has that note in the bank been paid?—Yes.

581. Was Edward Cochrane on that note?—(Mr. Osler objected.) I understand he was.

582. How much was that note for?—I do not know.

By Mr. Mulock:

583. Was one of the small notes taken up?—Yes.

584. Is that the note you refer to when you say Mr. Cochrane's name was on it?—I do not know. I only think it was.

Mr. Osler asked that the answer of witness respecting Mr. Cochrane's name on the note be struck out.

The request was not granted.

By Mr. Barron:

585. Then you saw Mr. Hedley Simpson?—Yes.

586. In regard to what?—I asked him if he could not pay something towards the indebtedness of the party.

587. That was before he got the appointment?—I told him that the committee had recommended him.

588. That is appointment of Keeper of Presqu' Isle lighthouse?—Yes.

589. That was before he had paid any money to you?—Yes.

590. Or given you any notes?—Yes.

591. Would the committee have recommended him but for his paying the money or giving the notes?—They recommended him before they knew anything about his giving notes or money.

592. They had decided on him?—Yes.
593. When they were decided, was there any talk about getting any money from him?—No.
594. None at all?—No.
595. The committee decided upon these appointments without any conversation with regard to getting money from them?—No; none at all.
596. When did the committee decide about getting money?—It was not arranged by the committee. They asked me if I could not raise money to pay off this indebtedness. There was nothing said about the amount at all in the Committee room.
597. A conversation to that extent took place at the committee meeting?—Yes.
598. In pursuance of that you saw Mr. Simpson?—Yes.
599. Had you any conversation at the time with Mr. Cochrane in regard to Mr. Simpson getting the appointment?—Nothing at all; only to tell him that the committee had recommended him. That was before I saw Hedley Simpson. I told him the committee had recommended Simpson.
600. What did he say?—He said all right; it was not his appointment, it was the committee's.
601. Did you tell Mr. Cochrane that the committee had decided to ask Mr. Simpson for money?—No.
602. Never hinted at it?—No.
603. Did you ever at any time have any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to how this indebtedness, you speak of, was going to be paid off?—It was talked of at a convention at Warkworth, and some of the committee said it was right to ask some of these parties for money.
604. Was Mr. Cochrane present?—I do not think he was.
605. That was talked of at a convention of the party?—Yes.
606. The money was to be given in consideration of what?—Of their own free will.

By Mr. Barron :

607. You were to ask people who were to get offices to contribute, and if they did not get the offices their money was to go back to them?—I did not say that.
608. But you gave one man his money back?—Yes.
609. Who was that man?—Vanalstine.
610. Because he did not get the appointment, the money was given back to him?—It was not because of that.
611. But he did not get the appointment?—No.
612. And you gave him the $150 back?—Yes.
613. And you kept the money of the men who got the appointment?—Yes.
614. You went to see Hedley Simpson?—No, he came to see me.
615. Did you send for him?—I think I sent word for him to come and see me.
616. You sent word by whom?—I do not know but what it was his brother.
617. What is his brother's name?—Herbert, I think; I am not certain.
618. Was it not Walter Simpson?—I do not think so.
619. How many brothers has he got?—He has only got one.
620. What messages did you send by Herbert?—I told him to tell him to come over, as I wanted to see him.
621. Is that all?—That was all.
622. Did you tell Herbert any thing about getting money from Hedley?—No, I never mentioned anything about that.
623. You never mentioned that?—No.
624. At that time did you know that Hedley Simpson had a petition in circulation to get the appointment?—I do not know if he had or not. If he had, I signed it.
625. You do not remember whether you did?—I may have done so; I do not remember.

626. Do you remember if you had any conversation with Mr. Cochrane about that petition?—I do not remember that I had. I may have had, but I do not remember.

627. Hedley Simpson came to you, did he?—Yes.

628. Because you sent for him?—Yes.

629. What took place when Hedley came to you?—I told him that the committee had recommended him, to give him the lighthouse.

630. What else?—That was all.

631. But there was something else?—Just the same as I have said it was.

632. What did you say before?—I asked him what he could afford to give towards paying off the indebtedness of the party.

633. You told him the committee had recommended him for the position and asked him what he could afford to give towards paying off the indebtedness of the party?—Yes.

634. Well, what did he say?—He said he would give $200.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

635. Did you tell Hedley Simpson that you had been talking to Mr. Cochrane about it?—I do not think so. I do not know; I may have done so.

By Mr. Barron:

636. Try and refresh your memory about the matter?—It is so long since.

637. Hedley Simpson came up, I suppose, to your hotel?—Most likely.

638. Did you have any conversation with Hedley Simpson, tell him you had seen Mr. Cochrane in regard to the appointment, and that he had agreed to get him the appointment?—I do not remember whether I did or did not.

639. Try and think if you did?—I do not think I did.

640. Are you quite sure?—I am not sure.

641. Think again? Did you not at that time tell Hedley Simpson that you had seen Mr. Cochrane?—I do not think I did, to the best of my knowledge.

642. You won't say that you did not?—To the best of my knowledge I did not.

643. At that time you asked Hedley how much he could give?—I asked him how much he could afford to give towards paying off the indebtedness of the party.

644. If he got the appointment?—No; I did not say that.

645. How much did he say he could give?—He said he would give $200 willingly if he had it.

By Mr. Mulock:

646. If he had what?—If he had the money.

By Mr. Barron:

647. This was before he got the appointment?—It was after he got the recommendation.

648. But before he got the appointment from the Government?—Yes.

649. Before he got the appointment you asked him how much he could afford to give, he having been recommended by the committee?—Yes.

650. How much did he say he could give?—He said he would willingly give $200.

651. If what; if he had it?—Yes; if he had it.

652. You knew he had not got it?—I did not know until he told me.

653. What did you say then when he told you that?—He asked me if I knew anyone from whom he could borrow the money. I told him I would lend it to him myself.

654. Upon getting what?—Upon getting nothing.

655. Yes, but you would want some security. You would lend it to him upon his furnishing some security?—Yes; if he got his uncle to back him. He said he would get his uncle to back one note, and he asked me if I would take his note for the other. I told him, yes.

656. Did you yourself suggest that his uncle should endorse the note?—No, he suggested it himself.

657. What was the uncle's name?—Darius.

658. Did you see Darius Simpson about it?—No.

659. You never had any conversation with Darius?—No.

660. Nor with Caleb Simpson?—No. I do not think I have ever spoken to Darius Simpson in my life. I do not know as I have.

661. Hedley Simpson gave you the notes?—Yes.

662. Did he bring them to you or did you go to him?—He brought them to me.

663. How long after this conversation was it that he brought them?—About a week perhaps. It may have been the next day; I cannot remember.

664. What did you do when he brought you the notes?—I gave him the $200 in cash.

665. Is that all that took place?—How do you mean?

666. Is that all that occurred at that time?—No.

667. What took place further?—He wanted to know where he should place the $200. My rig was there and I told him to get in and we would go to Colborne, where he deposited the money in the Standard Bank, I understood the note was there.

668. You went to the Standard Bank at Colborne to deposit the money?—Yes.

669. You understood the note was there?—Yes.

670. What was that note?—It was the note that was given by Mr. Wade and W. L. Payne and Pickworth. I believe that was it. I did not see them sign the note.

671. Who else signed the note?—I do not know, I did not see any of them sign the paper.

672. But there was a note there anyway made by some people, which was to be either taken up or paid by this $200?—It was to be endorsed on the note.

673. The $200 was to be endorsed on the note in the Standard Bank at Colborne?—Yes.

674. About what time of the year did this take place?—I could not tell you.

675. Was it in the spring or the fall?—I think it must have been in the spring; I am not certain.

676. In the spring of 1888?—It must have been.

By Mr. Mulock :

677. Before the Government appointed Hedley?—Yes, he was still in the light-house at the time.

By Mr. Barron :

678. But at that time he had not been appointed?—No.

679. He was just acting in the place of his father?—Yes.

680. When you went to Colborne with the money, what occurred?—We went to the Standard Bank, and it was closed.

681. Well, go on?—From there we went to W. L. Payne's office to give it to him, but he was away. Then we went to the post-office, so that it might be paid into the Standard Bank the next morning.

682. With whom did you leave it the next morning?—With the postmaster.

683. What is his name?—Mr. Cochrane.

684. A brother of Mr. Cochrane, the member?—No, a nephew.

685. Well, then, after that Mr. Hedley Simpson got the appointment?—Yes, I believe so.

686. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to his getting the appointment?—No, I don't think it.

687. Are you quite sure about it?—I don't think it. I think it was the committee themselves.

688. You say that you had no conversation after that with Mr. Cochrane?—I may have done so. I am not certain about it, because I am often talking with him; but I am not certain.

689. You may have talked with Mr. Cochrane, the member, after that?—I may have.

690. You say you are frequently talking with him?—Yes, sir; he is often in the hotel.

691. And you say you cannot recollect any conversation about it with him, in regard to Hedley Simpson being appointed?—I do not at present. I cannot think of it.

692. Well, if you cannot at present, when can you?—It is some time since. I cannot remember the conversation taking place.

693. Then how did Mr. Simpson come to be appointed?—Well, he was recommended by the committee.

694. To whom did the committee recommend Mr. Simpson?—I suppose to Mr. Cochrane.

695. How did this recommendation come from the committee to Mr. Cochrane?—Verbally, I suppose.

696. Then if verbally, who talked?—Mr. Cochrane happened to be in town, I suppose, and they told him.

697. Who told him?—The committee.

698. The committee, composed of four or five people, were speaking at once?—Each one of the committee saw him separately, I suppose.

699. And you are one of them?—Yes.

700. And you did see Mr. Cochrane in regard to the matter?—I have seen him; I saw him two or three times a week.

701. Then you think now you did see Mr. Cochrane, as one of the committee?—I say I may have done so; I may have had a conversation, but that was all.

702. But you think you did see him in regard to the appointment of Mr. Hedley Simpson, after all this money was paid?—I don't know whether it was before or after.

703. But at all events, either before or after, you did see Mr. Cochrane?—Yes; I may have seen him before or after, but I don't know.

704. What was the conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—I cannot tell.

705. You cannot remember?—No.

By Mr. Mulock :

706. You told him everything of any consequence?—I cannot tell you anything about it now; I don't remember.

707. You told him about the recommendation of the committee?—It is most likely.

708. You told him the decision of the committee?—It is most likely; but I cannot remember.

By Mr. Barron :

709. I understood you to say you had told Mr. Cochrane the recommendation of the committee?—I do not know; I may have done it.

710. You cannot recollect that?—No; I cannot recollect.

711. However, you do recollect that either before or after Mr. Hedley Simpson paid this money you had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—Yes; I had a conversation either before or after.

712. Do you, or do you not, recollect having a conversation with Mr. Cochrane either before or after?—I do not remember.

713. You do not remember it at all?—I may have had a conversation both before and after, because he is in and out of the hotel two or three times a week; he comes around for his meals.

714. Did Mr. Cochrane know anything about the payment of this money?—I don't think he did at the time.

715. Well, when did he?—I think it was some time after.

716. How long after?—I cannot tell you.

717. How did he come to know it?—I don't know but what I told him myself.
 718. You might have told him yourself?—I think I did.
 719. You think you told him yourself this money was paid—I think it is most likely.
 720. How long afterwards?—I cannot tell you.
 721. Before the appointment was made?—I cannot tell you whether it was before or after.
 722. But you do remember now, that you had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane, and Mr. Cochrane knew from you that the $200.00 were paid?—I don't say that. I say I may have had before or after; I don't remember.
 723. You have said you knew Wm. Mason?—Yes.
 724. Do you know whether or not, Wm. Mason was asked to give $150?—I don't know.
 725. Just try and think whether or not, Wm. Mason was asked to give $150? Mr. Osler objected.
 WITNESS.—I don't remember.

The Committee then took recess.

WEDNESDAY, 2nd September, 1891.

The Committee resumed at 2.30 o'clock p.m.—MR. TISDALE in the Chair.

Examination of JAMES STANLEY, continued :—

By Mr. Barron :

726. I think I asked you if you know Wm. Mason?—Yes, I do.
 727. Did you get any money from him?—No, sir.
 728. Do you know whether he gave any money or not?—I don't know that.
 729. Do you know John D. Clouston?—Yes.
 730. What position has he got?—Bridge tender.
 731. Did he pay any money?—I cannot tell you, not to my knowledge. I don't remember his paying it.
 732. You say not to your knowledge. Did he give you any notes, or anything?—Not any.
 733. Nor anything at all in the way of value?—No.
 734. Do you know of his having given to anybody?—I don't know.
 735. You never heard that?—No, I did not.
 736. Do you know Wm. Johnson?—I do.
 737. When did you last see Wm. Johnson?—I have not seen Wm. Johnson for over a year.
 738. You don't know whether he has gone away or not?—I don't.
 739. What position has he got?—I think one of the bridges.
 740. Did he ever pay you any money?—I don't think so.
 741. You say you don't think so. Surely you would know if he had paid you any money?—I don't think he did; I won't swear to it.
 742. You say you won't swear?—I will swear he did not.
 743. Did he give you anything at all of value?—No, nothing at all.
 744. Did he give you a promissory note?—No, he did not.
 745. Nothing of value at all?—No, sir.
 746. Do you know Wm. Brown?—Yes.
 747. Did he give you anything?—Not anything. He offered me, but I did not accept it.
 748. What position does he hold?—One of the bridges.
 749. You say he offered you some money?—He came to find me, and he could not find me, then he went and put the money in some other one's hand.

750. He came to find you?—I think so.

By the Chairman :

751. Do you know anything about it?—I do not.

By Mr. Barron :

752. You know D. C. Bullock?—Yes.

753. Did he give him anything?—Not to my knowledge.

754. Who is Mr. Bullock?—He is a grocer.

755. Is he one of the committee?—He was one of the committee.

756. And as one of the committee, you say you do not know whether Mr. William Brown gave D. C. Bullock any money or not?—Not to my knowledge.

757. Do you know whether he gave him any or not?—Not to my knowledge.

758. What do you mean by not to your knowledge?—I don't know.

759. Did you ever hear he did?—I did not.

760. Do you know Robert May?—Yes.

761. What position does he hold?—I think he is foreman on the works, or some thing of that kind.

762. On the canal?—On the tow path, or something of that sort.

763. Do you know when he was appointed?—I do not.

764. Did the Committee recommend this appointment?—No, they did not.

765. Did the Committee recommend John D. Clouston's appointment?—I think they did.

766. And did the Committee recommend William Johnson's?—I forget now, I don't remember all of them. I cannot tell you all their names.

767. Did they recommend William Brown?—I believe they did.

768. And you say William Brown came to you, but you did not see him?—I understood he did, but I don't know.

769. Whom did you understand that from?—I could not tell you that either.

770. Robert May, was he recommended by the Committee?—Not to my knowledge.

771. Well, who was he recommended by?—I don't know I am sure. I cannot tell.

772. Did he get some work on that canal?—Yes.

773. From the Government?—I don't know whether it was from the Government.

774. Did he give anything to you?—No, he did not.

775. Did he give anything to anybody?—Not to my knowledge.

776. Do you know Henry May?—Yes, I do.

777. What position does he hold?—One of the bridges.

778. By that I suppose is meant a bridge keeper or bridge tender?—He attends a bridge.

779. Was he recommended by the Committee?—I believe he was.

780. Did he pay you any money?—No, he did not.

781. Did he pay anybody any money?—I don't know; I could not say.

782. Did you ever hear that he did?—I could not say now; I think he paid someone.

783. Who was that someone?—Well, I think it was very well known, it was Mr. Pilkey and Mr. Ireland.

Mr. OSLER—Don't give hearsay evidence please.

By Mr. Barron :

784. Do Mr. Pilkey and Mr. Ireland belong to the Committee?—No, they do not.

785. What are their christian names?—James Ireland and Joseph Pilkey.

786. As one of the committee I ask you whether Henry May gave any money to Mr. Pilkey or Mr. Ireland?—Not to my knowledge.

787. Who told you he did?—Well, I cannot say that.
 788. You do not recollect who told?—No.
 789. But you were told by somebody?—Yes, somebody said it.
 790. Somebody did tell you that Henry May had paid out, how much?
 Mr. OSLER—This is objectionable.

By Mr. Barron:

791. Do you know, Mr. Stanley, whether Mr. Clouston, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Robert May or Mr. Henry May gave any notes or any value at any time for the appointments they received?—I do not know anything about them.

792. Anything to help on the good cause?—I do not know anything about them.

793. Now, did you receive from any other person who was to be appointed as a bridge keeper or to any other office. Did you receive any money from any other person except those you have mentioned?—I might have done so but I forget. I cannot swear to these facts, I kept no memorandum of the transaction.

794. Will you tell me again who gave you money?—Thomas Fitzgerald.

795. William Simpson did not?—No.

796. Vanalstine did?—Yes, but I gave it to him back.

797. Philip Lawson?—I could not say.

798. Hedley Simpson?—Yes. That is the two hundred.

799. You got two hundred from Hedley Simpson and one hundred and fifty from Thomas Fitzgerald? Will you swear that this was all that you got?—I don't want to say that. I collected on different occasions, I forget who gave to me. Some might have given me $25.

800. The person who gave the $25 would not get an appointment?—No.

801. I am referring to these appointments?—That is all.

802. $350 all together?—Yes.

803. You were at Brighton last Friday and Saturday?—Yes.

804. Did Mr. Cochrane go down to your hotel on either of the days?—He was in, I believe, on Friday evening last.

805. On Friday evening last?—Yes.

806. Did he talk to you at all about these charges that were going to be investigated?—No, he never said a word to me about them, he knew that I knew all about them.

807. Was he in on Saturday?—I believe he was, on Saturday.

808. Did he say anything on Saturday with regard to them?—No, he never spoke to me about them. I told him "I hear they are going to haul you over the coals."

809. What did he say to that?—He said "I suppose so."

810. Was Hedley Simpson there?—I could not say whether he was or not.

811. Either on the Friday or on the Saturday?—I could not say whether he was or not.

812. Was Arundel Simpson there?—I do not know, I could not say.

813. You did not see him talking to Mr. Cochrane?—No, I did not see him.

814. Nor Snetsinger?—No.

815. Nor Herbert Simpson?—I did not.

816. Do you know why Obadiah Simpson is not here?—The reason why is this. He was down at the railway station when we left, and he said he had no funds to come with.

By Mr. Mulock:

817. Is that likely to be the case?—Yes.

818. You think it is the real reason for his not being here?—Yes.

819. He went to the station to see you off?—Yes.

820. Now Mr. Stanley, how was that Committee, that you have referred to, created?—It was the leading one in the conservative party. It was suggested in the convention that the appointments should go through the leading ones of the party, and the members agreed to it in the convention and signed a letter to that effect.

821. This Committee was appointed at the instigation of the convention?—Yes, it was in that way.

822. On the advice of the convention?—Yes; it was some of the leading ones—Vice-presidents and so on.

823. How did they choose the individual members of the Committee?—Some of the working members.

824. They were picked out in the Convention?—Yes.

825. The members of the Committee were chosen by the convention?—Yes.

826. What year was this?—I cannot tell you what year.

827. How long ago?—I think it was two years ago or more.

828. You are not sure of the date?—I have got an idea it was two years ago.

829. And this same Committee has continued in office ever since?—Yes.

830. And they have exercised this power—this power of recommendation that you have referred to?—Yes.

831. Do you remember the first recommendation to office that they made?—I think it was Hedley Simpson.

832. That was their first recommendation?—Yes.

833. How many are on this Committee altogether?—Six or seven, I forget which.

834. There were some 6 or 7 originally on this committee?—Yes.

835. Did you say one had died?—Yes.

836. Who was that?—Major Adam Webb.

837. The others are still living?—Yes.

838. So that the committee now consists of 5 or 6 members?—Yes.

839. The first official recommendation of the committee, was that of Hedley Simpson?—Yes, sir.

840. Did you keep a minute of the proceedings of that committee?—No, sir.

841. It is all verbal?—Verbal, yes sir.

842. Why did you not keep a record of your proceedings?—It was not worth while.

843. Minutes are sometimes objectionable?—I do not know that they are.

844. The first official act you did was to recommend Hedley Simpson to the office of light-keeper at Pre-qu'Isle?—Yes.

845. You remember the day the committee decided on that?—I do not.

846. How long had his name been before the committee before it was decided to recommend him for the appointment?—I could not say that.

847. Did you have a regular meeting to decide, or was it an informal meeting?—The meeting was called amongst the five or six. I could not say who was there.

848. Did they all reside in one place?—Oh no. It was in Bullock's place.

849. I mean, did they reside in different parts of the Riding?—Oh, yes, one lived in the township of Murray—

850. Oh, never mind where they lived. All I want to know is if they reside in different places?—Yes.

851. Who sent the notices calling the meeting?—There was a verbal notice sent by different parties telling them they were wanted.

852. Did you tell them to come at once?—No, it was about a week ahead.

853. You had several meetings over these recommendations?—Yes.

854. Who would fix the day, the meetings were to be held?—I do not know, some one would fix the day.

855. Some one would fix the day and you would sent the word round?—Yes, verbally.

856. The first meeting took place at Bullock's store?—I believe it was there.

857. And there you recommended first of all Hedley Simpson?—Yes.

858. Whom else did you recommend at that time?—No one.

859. That was the only work the committee did that day?—Yes.
860. You do not remember the day the meeting was held?—No.
861. Was it the day or night?—It was at night. They were all night meetings.
862. In the dark?—No, in the light.
863. After the recommendations were made what was decided as to the way they should be communicated to the various persons interested?—I sent different ones that would be going their way to tell them I wanted to see them.
864. Whom did you say you wanted to see?—Different ones; those who wanted get appointments on the different bridges.
865. Well, trace out Hedley Simpson's case first?—I could not say whom I sent to him. I sent somebody.
866. You sent somebody to bring Hedley Simpson to you?—Yes.
867. Why did you want Hedley Simpson to come to you?—I wanted to tell him the committee's decision?
868. Did the committee agree that he should pay $200?—No; they did not agree to that at all.
869. What amount did they name?—They did not name any at all.
870. Did they refer to any amount?—No, they did not.
871. Did they leave that to you?—Yes, they knew a certain amount had to be paid.
872. They left it to you to make the best bargain?—No, it was not a bargain.
873. You were to use your best persuasive powers I suppose. At this meeting there was talk that you were to solicit something from him?—No. There was nothing said.
874. Was it said at the meeting about his contributing voluntarily?—If I am not mistaken I do not think it was mentioned at the committee meeting. They had asked me before to receive the funds to pay off the old indebtedness.
875. Who asked you?—The matter came up at the convention and they asked me when I was there. I told them I would do the best I could.
876. The committee meeting took place after that?—Yes.
877. At this committee meeting did you talk further about this old note?—I do not think so.
878. Well, you sent for Hedley Simpson and communicated to him the decision of the committee?—I think I must have done so.
879. Then took place the conversation about the contribution that you have described?—I told him he had got the appointment.
880. He had not got the appointment?—Well the recommendation of the committee.
881. You did not think the recommendation of the committee really settled it?—I thought so.
882. You knew there was something further than that. You knew you had to get the recommendation of your member and the appointment by the Government?—I suppose there had to be a recommendation to the Government.
883. You knew the form that it had to go through?—Yes.
884. There had to be the favourable recommendation of your representative, and the real appointment by the Government?—Yes.
885. So that what you speak of was rather the recommendation of the Committee than the appointment?—I suppose it should be put in that way.
886. He knew he had not got the appointment in law?—I suppose so.
887. He knew that there were two steps to be taken, the recommendation of the member and the appointment by the Government?—I do not know whether he knew it or not.
888. Then the next transaction of the same kind by this Committee. What was the next recommendation you made?—There was a recommendation of most of the rest of them on the bridges.
889. What was the first?—They were altogether.
890. At the next meeting you disposed of a batch of them?—Yes.

891. Who was in that batch?—There was Daniel Vanalstine, there was Thomas Fitzgerald; I do not know whether there was one of the May boys there or not. There was William Brown; I cannot remember whether Clouston was there or not.

892. When you speak of one of the May boys being there, what do you mean?—He was there to hear the recommendation of the committee. He came to see what was wanted.

893. You had sent word to these people to assemble there?—Yes.

894. These various applicants, Daniel Vanalstine, Fitzgerald, Brown, May and Clouston, were present on your invitation?—These were the ones the Committee recommended, and I sent for them myself afterward.

895. Were they present at the meeting of the committee?—No.

896. Anyone of them?—Not to my knowledge.

897. I asked you to say the first person you appointed afterwards, and you gave me this list of names. The committee recommended all these?—Yes.

898. Thomas Fitzgerald was recommended and he got the office?—Yes.

899. He paid $150 for the office of bridge-keeper?—Yes.

900. Who did he pay the money to?—To me.

901. And you applied that money how?—I put that money in the bank to my credit. I left it there until I got notice from W. L. Payne to send either the money or a draft. I forget which it was I sent.

902. What did you do with the money?—I think I sent on $150 in money or by cheque to W. L. Payne or to the Standard Bank, I am not certain, to apply on the note in the Standard Bank.

903. Then Daniel Vanalstine did not get an office?—No.

904. He had paid $150 under the same circumstances?—Yes.

905. And he was repaid that?—Yes, he was repaid.

906. Because he did not get the office?—There were more applicants than there was bridges for them, and we paid the money back.

907. That is curious. Then his contribution was in a sense contingent on his getting the office?—He was giving it voluntarily.

908. You did not think it fair to keep it if he did not get the office?—No.

909. You spoke of one of the May boys. What May was that?—I think it was Henry May. I forget his given name.

910. Was it Robert May?—I forget the given name. There are four or five Mays.

911. Did you have any dealings with one of the May boys about these things?—I had not.

912. Who had?—I notified them that the committee recommended them for appointment.

913. You did not have any financing with him?—No.

914. Did you tell him that you would like him to give a contribution?—No, sir, I did not.

915. Did any person have any dealing with him of this character?—I cannot say.

916. Did William Brown get a recommendation?—Yes.

917. From the committee?—Yes.

918. Was he asked to contribute?—Yes, I think he was.

919. Did he contribute?—I do not know for certain whether he did or not.

920. What was he asked to contribute?—I do not know.

921. Then the request to contribute followed the recommendation?—I suppose so.

922. That was your practice anyway?—Yes.

923. They followed the recommendation and preceded the appointment?—Yes.

924. Now about Clouston, did he get an office?—Yes.

925. Did you have any dealings with him about his giving money?—Not to my knowledge.

926. Would you be the person, or would some person else be a go-between?—I do not remember. He lived quite a distance away from me and did not come in very often.

927. You, at all events, did not collect anything from him?—No.

928. Who else did the same sort of work as you in collecting money from these people? Had you different persons in different parts of the riding?—I cannot say about that. I cannot answer that question, because I do not know.

929. Were any moneys brought in to pay off this indebtedness, except what you brought in?—I cannot say. None that I know of.

930. You simply know what you did yourself?—Yes.

931. How long after your recommendation of Mr. Hedley Simpson did you see Mr. Cochrane?—I do not know.

932. How often did you see him?—I saw him often. He came in often, although sometimes he sent in for his mail.

933. You are on confidential terms?—Sometimes.

934. You were, were you not?—Yes.

935. And still are. You are one of his right bowers?—I do not know that I am a right bower.

936. You are a strong supporter of his?—I am a conservative.

937. You are a strong supporter when it comes to a general election?—Yes.

938. Do you remember telling Mr. Hedley Simpson when you asked him for money, that the committee had recommended him and that Mr. Cochrane said it was all right?—I do not remember that.

939. Will you swear you did not tell him that?—I would not, but I do not remember it.

940. You would not swear you did not?—I do not think I did.

941. You do not think you told Mr. Simpson that Mr. Cochrane said it was all right?—No.

By Mr. Barron :

942. Was Mr. Cochrane aware of the existence of this committee?—I do not know whether he was or not. I cannot say that he was.

943. Are you sure of that?—I am not sure.

By Mr. Mulock :

944. You have just said you told Mr. Cochrane what was done?—I did not.

945. That the recommendations of this Committee were communicated to him?—I said they might have been.

946. You said you did tell Mr. Cochrane?—I may have done so.

947. You told the committee that you had recommended Mr. Hedley Simpson and that you had told Mr. Cochrane of it. Do you remember Mr. Cochrane telling you when you reported to him, that the committee had recommended Mr. Hedley Simpson, that Mr. Cochrane replied that it was all right?—I do not remember that I did.

By Mr. Barron :

948. You did tell Mr. Cochrane, as a matter of fact, that the Committee had made recommendations from time to time?—I think most likely. It might have been a week after.

949. Within a week you did tell Mr. Cochrane what the committee had done?—I may have done so. I think Mr. Cochrane was in Ottawa at the time of the meetings.

950. You said something about his being in during the week and you may have told him?—I don't know. I won't say. I may have done so.

951. What time of the year was it?—I forget now.

By Mr. Osler :

952. What was this party debt you were collecting for?—I think it was in the neighbourhood of $1,700 altogether.

953. How had it been incurred?—By the protest between James F. Ferris and William Wade.

954. A protest between James F. Ferris and William Wade in the Local Elections?—Yes.
955. And this was the party debt arising from that election contest?—Yes.
956. And that was the debt you were engaged in collecting?—Yes.
957. Are the ridings of East Northumberland for the Commons and for the Local House co-terminous? Are they identical?—They are the same townships.
958. They are the same?—They are all the same; there are five townships.
959. And they are the same for the Commons and for the Local House?—Yes.
960. And you had one association for both?—Yes, sir.
961. And this committee was appointed from some convention?—Yes, the convention at Warkworth.
962. At what date, do you remember?—I don't know the date.
963. How long has this debt been carried?—I cannot tell you exactly the number of years.
964. It is said since 18th3. You know Mr. Ferris has been out of Parliament for some time—two parliaments, I think?—Yes. I think it must be about ten years ago.
965. It is said to be eight years ago?—Eight or ten years ago.
966. And the debt had been carried all along?—From year to year.
967. This debt had nothing to do with the election expenses, or contests, of Mr. Cochrane at all?—Nothing at all.
968. Not at all?—Not at all.
969. Those had been provided for otherwise?—Yes.
970. From different sources?—Yes.
971. There had been contests and trial sittings in the Commons election?—Yes.
972. But this debt was something connected with the Local elections, and the Local elections only?—The Local only.
973. You seem to have had some special charge of collecting from those who were willing to pay to meet this debt?—Yes. I collected throughout the riding for the protest. In the first place the convention appointed me to try and collect for the protest right through.
974. Were you personally interested also?—Well, I was.
975. Were you petitioner?—I was petitioner.
976. And whatever the responsibility of petitioner was, in the original contest, you bore it?—Yes.
977. And did the fact that you were petitioner interest you more than otherwise?—Well, it interested me in this way: I wanted to see the debt wiped off.
978. And how long had you been collecting?—Oh, I was collecting for years; at every convention we had to pay.
979. You were the hat carrier?—Yes.
980. And in pursuit of your business were you particular in getting subscriptions?—I tried to get them.
981. How did this committee undertake to deal with the patronage—What authority had they for taking it up?—It was during the convention. They had authority too of appointing; to try and do good to the party; not to injure the party, but to get the most popular appointments we could.
982. The idea was to get as popular appointments as you could, and not to injure the party in a distribution of patronage?—Yes.
983. How would that be left to the convention?—Well, I don't know. It may have been by resolution or something of that sort; I am not certain.
984. The convention moved some resolution?—I think so.
985. Referring the question of patronage to whom?—To the committee.
986. And did I understand you to say the committee were vice-presidents from the different townships?—I think there were one or two of them.
987. Township vice-presidents?—Or had been.
988. They were the workers of the party?—Yes.

989. And then the convention undertook to see that the patronage was not a source of weakness, but of strength?—Yes; that is the meaning of it.

990. And it was in pursuance of that, that the committee took up the appointment of lighthouse keeper?—Yes.

991. And concluded that Hedley should be appointed?—Yes.

992. Now, at that committee meeting, when the committee came to the conclusion to recommend the appointment of Hedley, did you discuss the question of his paying any money?—Not at the committee, they left that to me.

993. What did they leave to you?—They told me I had better try and raise funds to wipe off the indebtedness of the party, if I could.

994. Was anything said as to the amount Hedley should pay, or anything of that sort?—No; there was nothing of that sort said.

995. Then was the recommendation of the committee conditional or unconditional, as to the appointment of Hedley Simpson?—It was decided that he should have the appointment.

996. It was decided he should have the appointment without any conditions?—Yes.

997. Then the decision having been arrived at by the committee, that he should have the appointment, without any condition, you undertook the work of collecting money?—Yes.

998. And did you put that to him as conditional?—Yes; I put it to him. I asked him what he would give of his own free will.

999. In that way you got the subscription?—Yes.

1000. Now, did Mr. Cochrane know anything of that up to that time?—No; he did not.

1001. Did he know you were going to ask, or that the Committee were going to ask for any money?—No; he did not until after I got it, and paid it into the Bank.

1002. Not until after you got the money and paid it into the Bank, did he know anything about it?—No; he did not.

1003. After he did know anything about it, what did he know?—I just told him Hedley Simpson had given me $200 just to wipe off the old debt to the Bank.

1004. Did you tell him it was a condition of the recommendation of the Committee, or anything of the sort?—I told him that the Committee had agreed.

1005. To his appointment?—Yes.

1006. But what did you tell him about the condition on which the money had been paid?—Oh, there were no conditions, I did not tell him any thing about conditions. I did not tell him anything about conditions.

1007. Then we have heard the story of this money now. Can you bring to your mind about when this was?—I cannot—I cannot recollect.

1008. Can you bring to mind relatively as to when the appointment was made?—I cannot.

1009. Now, if you were to appoint a lighthouse keeper—if you had the patronage there, who would you think would be the most likely man—the most proper man to appoint under all the circumstances?—I think that the appointment that was made would be the best.

1010. Now, then, how long after that was it when you had another meeting, when the question of settling the applications for the bridges came out, and the matter of how many bridges there were was discussed?—I could not tell you.

1011. And you found that there were not bridges to go round?—I could not tell.

1012. About how long after was this?—I cannot say.

1013. You considered all the names and you concluded to make the recommendations?—Yes.

1014. Now, was there any conditions attached to the recommendations that you were making?—No, no conditions.

1015. The recommendations, so far as the Committee were concerned were unconditional.—Yes.

1016. You have mentioned that you undertook to try to collect something and succeeded?—Yes.

1017. You said that the amount was $350, would that be employed to wipe out the old debt?—Yes, I believe so.

1018. Did Mr. Lawson receive an appointment?—No, Mr. Lawson did not receive an appointment.

1019. Well, how could you recollect whether you got any money from Mr. Lawson or not?—Well, he might have given something towards the subscriptions. There have been several who gave that were not appointed to any position.

1020. Somebody had to pay the debt?—Yes.

1021. Did you keep any book or anything of the kind to show what you received?—No, I did not.

1022. You just, when you got it, paid it out, and there is no account of it?—Yes.

1023. Now, at the committee where the bridge-tenders were recommended, were any other members of the committee delegated to collect?—No, I do not think there were, but there might have been.

1024. Did Mr. Cochrane know that you were collecting or getting any money from the parties recommended for the bridges?—I do not know whether he did or not. If he did, he did not know until the parties were all appointed.

1025. Did he know it from you?—No, he did not.

1026. Was Mr. Cochrane present at any of these Committee meetings?—He was not.

1027. Was he a member of the Committee?—He was not.

By Mr. Barron :

1028. You say that Mr. Cochrane was not a member of the Committee?—No, he was never present

1029. Was he a member of the convention?—I cannot say that, I believe he was.

1030. Were you never present at any of the conventions at which you saw him there?—I think he was there.

1031. He was present at some of the meetings?—Yes.

1032. But you cannot say whether he was present at the convention when this committee was appointed?—I am pretty well sure that he was not.

1033. Did he know anything about the convention appointing this Committee?—I do not know.

1034. When the convention appointed the Committee, did they name the Committee?—I do not understand you.

1035. Did they mention the names of the Committee?—No, I do not think they did. I am not quite certain about that, I was not in all the time.

1036. However, as the result of the Conservative Convention this Committee was appointed?—Yes.

1037. I suppose it was generally known that the Committee was appointed by the Convention?—I do not know that.

1038. It would be almost a public act, there are a great many people at the conventions?—Sometimes there are only a few.

1039. At this particular convention when the Committee was appointed, were there many people present?—I do not think there were many.

1041. How long after this was it?—I do not know.

1042. Would it be a week?—It might.

1043. Would it be more than a week?—It might be a week or it might be more, it might be six weeks.

1044. How long after the Committee's recommendation was Hedley Simpson appointed?—I do not know that.

1045. Can you give us the date—the time the Committee decided that Hedley Simpson was to be recommended?—I could not give you that.

1046. You don't know anything of that, but you do know that you told Mr. Cochrane that Simpson had given $200?—Yes, when he had given it.

1047. You say that all the recommendations were unconditional?—Yes.

1048. How does this accord with the fact that you returned Vanalstine's money?—I cannot tell.

1049. You say that the party debt, the result of this litigation between Wade and Ferris, was about $1,700?—Yes.

1050. How was this $1,700 made up—I mean how was it paid?—$1,000 was paid in one note given into the Standard Bank and the other two were given to Mr. Webb.

1051. After the $1,000 there were $700. How was that made up?—I do not know how that was made up. I think I gave somewhere about $450 out of the $1,000. I had received out of the Bank $400 odd to settle it and the remainder was a debt on the party.

1052. That would leave $300?—I think that was it.

1053. How was that met; more notes?—Not to my knowledge. It was raised at different times by one way or another. The village of Brighton raised $100.

1054. By general subscription?—Yes.

1055. There were no notes put into the bank except the $1,000—note that you know?—That was not put in.

1056. It was given to Mr. Webb?—Yes.

1057. He is a banker?—No, sir.

1058. It was to meet that $1,700 that these sums were paid by these different men to you?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

1059. You were the petitioner in another suit were you not?—Yes.

1060. In a Dominion protest?—Yes.

1061. In what year?—I cannot tell you that.

1062. It was a protest against Dr. Mallory?—Yes.

1063. When he was unseated?—Yes.

1064. His opponent on that occasion was whom?—Mr. Cochrane.

1065. He was an unsuccessful candidate in the contest?—Yes.

1066. And you were the petitioner against Dr. Mallory?—I was.

1067. What became of the costs in that case?—I think it was paid back again to the parties who subscribed.

1068. Is there anything of that unpaid?—No, sir.

1069. Was any of that unpaid at the time of these recommendations?—There was none unpaid at that time at all.

1070. None was mixed up in these transactions? You are quite sure about that?—I am sure about it.

1071. How many days elapsed, or how long a time elapsed between the meeting of the committee that recommended Hedley Simpson and your meeting Hedley?—I could not tell.

1072. Could you make a guess?—I would not like to do so.

1073. Can you tell how long a time elapsed after asking Hedley Simpson for a contribution before you got the notes?—I could not say that exactly. It might be a week or it might be more.

1074. It was not very long?—I could not tell.

1075. I suppose he was very anxious to give the notes? He would not let the grass grow under his feet?—I do not think he was very anxious.

1076. About what time elapsed?—I could not say, I do not know. I did not keep any minute. I do not remember.

1077. But have you no idea how long a time elapsed after you notified him? Before he gave you the notes?—I have not.

1078. You remember quite distinctly what you did with the money?—Yes, I remember that because I drove up with him to Colborne.

1079. You went up there the very day you got the notes?—Yes. The very day I gave him the money. He asked me what shall I do with the money, and I said, "It will be applied on the notes."

1080. Where were the notes signed?—I do not know.

1081. They were brought to you signed and endorsed?—Yes.

1082. You drew them up at first?—No, I did not.

1083. I thought they were in your writing?—No.

1084. Can you tell us how soon after you paid the money into the bank that you told Mr. Cochrane?—I know I paid the money into the bank the same day.

1085. You saw Mr. Cochrane and told him the fact?—I do not know when I saw him.

1086. How long was it after that you saw him?—I do not know.

1087. How far does Mr. Cochrane live from you?—About five miles.

1088. Were your post offices the same?—Yes, I think he gets all his mail at Brighton.

1089. Did your Committee recommend his nephew for the Postmastership at Colborne?—No; I think that was got up by petition or something.

1090. Were there any other applicants for the office that Hedley Simpson got?—I could not say that. There may have been half a dozen or a dozen.

By Mr. German:

1091. Was Philip Lawson an applicant for a bridge?—Not to my knowledge.

1092. He works on the canal?—He has a contract on the canal.

1093. He was not an applicant at all?—No.

1094. Did you advance this $200 to Hedley Simpson?—Yes.

1095. Are you in the habit of loaning money?—No; I am not.

1096. You are not a man of much means?—No.

1097. Where did you get this $200?—I had it in the bank to my credit.

1098. How did you come to get it in the bank? Whom did you get in from?—My wife owned a little property and when we received the rent I put it into the bank in my name.

1099. This $200 came from that source?—Yes.

1100. It was not got from any person outside your own family?—No.

W. W. WEBB called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

1101. Where do you live?—Brighton.

1102. You have lived there I presume for a great many years?—Yes; for thirty years or more.

1103. Do you remember a note for a thousand dollars being taken to you to get an advance from you on it?—Yes; that was 1883. The Conservative convention met in Brighton and they were protesting Ferris' election for the Local and they wanted to raise funds, and I loaned them a thousand dollars and took a note.

1104. Who from?—A lot of them. I have a copy of the note.

By Mr. Osler:

1105. Whom did you give the note to?—I gave the note to Mr. Payne.

1106. How did you come to keep a copy?—I kept a copy in order to explain to the other parties on the note, and for my own information. That will show you how the note was taken up.

By Mr. Barron:

1107. This is a copy of the note?—Yes.

1108. Who were on that note?—Their names are all there. I do not remember the whole of them. The back will show you how it was taken up.

1109. The note is as follows :—

EXHIBIT No. 1.

$1000.

BRIGHTON, 22nd March, 1883.

On the 1st day of October 1883 we jointly and severally promise to pay W. W. Webb at his office here the sum of one thousand dollars with interest at six per cent, for value received.

W. L. Payne,	W. A. Willoughby,
A. L. Colville,	A. C. Webb,
Thomas Wanamaker,	S. Hogg,
Charles Mills,	Henry Nix,
John Wade,	D. Ewing,
D. N. King,	William Bawden,
R. Cochrane,	Joseph Pilkey,
James F. Ireland,	James Clendinnin,
John D. Clouston,	A. A. Murphy,
C. M. Cochrane.

The endorsements are as follows :—

“Received from Wade, Nix and King two hundred dollars on this note, this 19th January, 1886.”

“Received from Pilkey and Ireland two hundred dollars this 19th of January, 1886.”

“Received from A. C. Webb and T. Wanamaker one hundred dollars this 19th of January 1886.”

“Received from D. Ewing fifty dollars this 19th of January, 1886.”

“Received from John Clouston Thirty-nine dollars on this note this 3rd day of April 1886. Gave receipt.”

“Received from W. L. Payne $507.57, balance of the within note and interest in full up to this 8th day of December, 1886”

“Given to Gordon to collect on the 2nd of December 1886, a copy of the original note. He issued writs against Willoughby, Cochrane, Ewing and Bawden.”

1110. Who is R. Cochrane? I think he is a son of Mr. Cochrane.

1111. There is another Cochrane on that—C. M. Cochrane? I think they were both sons.

1112. Is that the way that the note has been liquidated? Yes. That note is not all paid yet. There is money still to pay. Some of the parties have given notes instead of money. I have a note here. I took a new note from Wade, Nix and King. There is a note of Pilkey and Ireland that is taken up. They are all paid except the one note of Wade, Nix and King.

1113. You say that John D. Clouston paid some of that note?—Yes.

1114. How much did he pay?—It is endorsed thirty-nine dollars.

1115. What became of Pickworth on that note?—He never was on the note.

1116. There was another note discounted I understand at the Standard Bank and some of the money from that went on this?—I suppose this money, after I sued—

1117. You sued?—Yes I sued four of the parties on that note and they raised the money, I understood, from the bank, and when Payne paid me, I understood that was from the bank.

1118. That was the large payment?—Yes, there is a memorandum when it was sued.

1119. “Given to Gordon to collect on the 2nd December 1886.” Then you sued Willoughby, Cochrane, Ewing and Bawden?—Yes.

1120. When this note was sued they raised the money and paid you off?—Yes.

1121. Where did these Cochranes' live who were on this note?—They lived in East Northumberland at that time.

1122. Who with?—I think they lived with their father.

1123. When that $507.57 was paid, that liquidated the entire note?—Yes. That paid the note in full.

1124. Were any notes given by Hedley Simpson, left with you at any time?—No. I have notes of Hedley Simpson's, but they have no connection with this case.

1125. You had to sue Mr. Simpson?—Yes.

1126. Did he give you any reason in regard to why it was he could not pay the notes?—Well, he told me—

(Counsel objected.)

By Mr. Mulock :

1127. There are two endorsers on that note I believe, named Cochrane?—The chairman—Two makers, they are all makers.

By Mr. Barron :

1128. Did you receive any money at any time from William Brown?—Yes I received $150.

1129. Who is this William Brown?—It is money that Brown paid me; he is one of the bridge men. The money I got from Brown is endorsed on the back of the note annexed.

1130. That is William Brown the bridge keeper?—Yes.

1131. You got $150 from him?—Yes.

1132. Did you get any more money on that note?—Yes, I got money from Clouston

1133. Have you mentioned that?—Yes, on the back of this note.

1134. How much?—He paid me $50 one time, and $25 another, and I think he has paid me something that is not endorsed here but that is in my diary.

1135. That is what Mr. Clouston paid?—Yes.

1136. Who is Mr. Clouston?—He is another bridge man.

1137. Are there any other payments on that note?—No.

1138. Is the balance still due on that note?—There is a balance of $50 still due.

1139. Now then look on the other note?—There is no other. That is the original and here is the copy.

1140. Then as I understand it, with the exception of the payments endorsed on that $1,000 note, that is the only note you took as part payment?—Well, that is the only note that is still behind. On the day the convention met in Warkworth, on the 19th January, 1886, I took a note of Pilkey and Ireland's for part of that money, and they gave me the balance for part of it, and afterwards they took the note up.

1141. They themselves?—Yes.

1142. Pilkey and Ireland?—Yes.

1143. Are those the only sums that have been paid to you by any bridge keeper?—Yes.

1144. From Clouston and Brown?—That is all.

1145. You had $75 from Clouston, and $150 from Brown?—I think Clouston has paid something on this note that I did not endorse. He gave it to me one day in a hurry. There is a balance behind of a little over $50.

1146. Did Clouston say he would pay the balance?—Yes.

1147. How much did he say that he would pay?—$150.

1148. $150, the same as William Brown?—Yes.

1149. How did he come to say that?

(Mr. Osler objected.)

Witness—Clouston knows what he paid.

By Mr. Osler :

1150. Give me the date of Brown's payment, please?—20th January, 1890.

By the Chairman :

1151. While you are about it, just give the dates of the two payments of Clouston's?—He paid on the 7th June, 1890, $50, and $25 on the 25th July, and he has paid something in '91. The balance is about $50.

By Mr. Mulock :

1152. Who is Mr. C. M. Cochrane, one of the makers of this note?—I understood he was a son of Mr. Cochrane here, but I don't know.

Mr. Osler—He is a nephew, as a matter of fact.

By the Chairman :

1153. You don't know?—I don't know.

Mr. Mulock—Mr. Cochrane can explain that.

Mr. Cochrane—I have no son named "C. M."

Mr. Osler—You have a nephew.

Mr. Cochrane—I have a nephew.

Mr. Mulock—Who is R. Cochrane ?

Mr. Cochrane—He is my son.

By Mr. Mulock :

1154. R. Cochrane, one of the makers of this $1,000 note, is a son of Mr. Cochrane's?—I understood so.

1155. When did Ireland and Pilkey pay the note?—They paid it a few days after it became due.

1156. When was that?—Well, the 19th January. They paid, most of it in cash that day, and gave me a small note for the balance which they paid a few days afterwards.

1157. Did Pilkey get an appointment?—No, I think not.

1158. Had he some position on the canal?—He was expecting a bridge, but did not get it.

1159. And what was Ireland?—Ireland was a farmer there. He did not expect anything and did not want anything.

1160. Why did Mr. Clouston pay you $150?—Well, he did not give me any reasons. He came and said he would pay $150. You mean Brown, don't you.

1161. You said Clouston told you he was going to pay you $150?—He told me that he was instructed to do so.

1162. He was instructed to pay you $150?—Yes.

1163. When did he tell you that?—He told me that when he paid me the $50.

1164. And when was that?—The 7th June, 1890.

1165. He came and paid you $50 and told you he was instructed to make it $150?—He was instructed to take a note and pay the balance of the $150.

1166. Was he a bridge keeper?—Yes.

1167. He had got the appointment, had he?—I don't know whether he was getting it then or not—in June, 1890.

1168. Did Mr. May or any of the Mays' pay you anything?—No.

1169. They paid you nothing?—Nothing.

1170. Were you a member of the convention that appointed this committee?—No.

1171. You know nothing about the committee?—I do not.

1172. You never had any part in the appointments?—No.

1173. You do not know of the existence of the committee I suppose?—The only convention I was at, was the convention when I got the $1,000 note.

1174. Have you ever had any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to these matters?—Very little.

1175. Did you ever ask him when this note was to be paid?—I spoke to him once or twice, I guess, about a note. He said: "Hold on, do not be in too big a hurry," or something of that kind.

1176. Did he hold out any expectation of its early payment?—I knew I could get my pay, because the note was good.

1177. What did Mr. Cochrane tell you—I am speaking of the Member of Parliament?—I do not recollect that he said anything particular, only that he did not wish me to sue King and Nix. I saw he did not wish me to sue King, Wade and Nix. I think he said one day that I was not to be in any hurry, that it would be all right, that I would get the money without any trouble.

1178. When was this?—Before I sued the small note. I do not think I had any conversation with him about the big note; it was about the small note.

1179. The small note was for how much?—$200.

1180. Who are on that note?—Wade, Nix and King.

1181. What is the date of that note?—19th January, 1886.

1182. How long had it to run?—One month after date, but it is not yet taken up.

1183. It was in reference to that note that you had the conversation with Mr. Cochrane, was it?—I think I spoke once or twice to Mr. Cochrane about it, and told him I ought to have the money, that I could get it by suing them.

1184. Mr. Cochrane was no party to it?—No.

1185. Well, why did you bother him about it then?—He was the leading man of the Conservative party.

1186. So it was a fair thing to talk to him about it?—Yes.

1187. What did Mr. Cochrane tell you when you said you wanted your note paid?—I do not recollect his telling me anything only that it would be all right after a while.

1188. Were you, as a banker, satisfied with that promise?—Yes, I was satisfied it was all right.

MR. OSLER.—He is not a banker, otherwise he would charge more than 6 per cent.

WITNESS—I was favouring the party a little at that time.

By Mr. Barron:

1189. Did he tell you where the money was to come from that was to pay it?—No.

1190. Did he not give you to understand where the money would come from?—I do not think he did; I do not recollect his saying anything only that I was not to be in too great a hurry about it.

1191. Did Mr. Cochrane ever have any talk with you about that $1,000 note?—No.

1192. He was never anxious to get that note?—That note was taken up in 1886; he never said anything to me about that note.

1193. I see that most of the payments on the note have been made by the bridge-keepers?—On the last $200 note all the money I got was from Brown and Clouston.

1194. They are bridge men?—Yes.

1195. Did Brown tell you why he paid you?—He said he was directed to pay it. He came to me and said he wanted to give me $150. I said, "Hold on, you do not owe me anything."

MR. OSLER.—This conversation is not evidence.

By Mr. Mulock:

1196. How much did he pay you?—$150.

1197. Why did he pay it to you?—He said he was instructed to pay it on the Wade, Nix and King note.

1198. When was it he told you that?—The day he paid it.

1199. That was when?—On the 20th January, 1890.

1200. And the reason he gave for that—he not being liable—was—

Mr. Osler objected to the question.

1201. The reason was as you have stated?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

1202. When you went to Mr. Cochrane about that note, which you have in your hand now, you threatened to sue the note?—I was threatening to sue it a good many times.

1203. You threatened Mr. Cochrane that you would sue it?—I was not threatening Mr. Cochrane, because he was not on the note; I was threatening to sue the parties.

1204. When you went to Mr. Cochrane did you say, “I am going to sue this note,” or did you tell him that?—I do not know whether I told him or not, but I threatened the parties on it.

1205. Why did you go to Mr. Cochrane then?—I did not go to him, I happened to meet him; I told him I was going to sue on the note, and he said, “Hold on, do not be in a hurry, you will get the money.”

THOMAS FITZGERALD called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

1206. You live at The Carrying Place?—Yes.

1207. On the Murray Canal?—Yes.

1209. To whom?—Mr. Stanley.

1210. What for?—To help the party through their indebtedness for the Wade and Ferris protest. That was what I was informed. I do not know anything about it.

1211. Who informed you that?—Mr. James Stanley.

1212. And you paid the money to him?—Yes.

1213. Did you see Mr. Cochrane before that?—Yes, sir.

1214. In regard to the appointment?—Yes, sir.

1215. What was the conversation you had with Mr. Cochrane?—I only saw him once. I got a petition from a few men in the Riding and showed it to him. He said it was very good “I will give it to the Committee; I have nothing more to say. Whoever the committee picks out, will get it.”

1216. That was before you were named by the committee?—I do not know. I had friends who put in the communication.

1217. That was when the petition was being got up?—Yes.

1218. Mr. Cochrane said he left matters entirely in the hands of the committee?—Yes.

1219. Then Mr. Cochrane knew of the committee?—I do not know that.

1220. Did you pay this $150 in cash to Mr. Stanley?—Yes, in hard cash.

1221. And after that you got the appointment?—No, sir, it was before that.

1222. A little before that?—I do not know, but I was informed that I got it before. I do not know it now.

1223. When you speak of the appointment do you mean the recommendation of the Committee or by the Government?—I speak of the Committee.

1224. You had the recommendation of the Committee before you paid the $150?—I do not know that.

1225. Do you know when you were appointed to the position of bridge keeper?—I do not know that.

1226. You cannot recollect the date?—No, sir.

1227. Can you recollect the circumstance of getting the appointment after you paid the $150?—I do not.

1228. Was it before or after?—I do not know whether it was before or after.

1229. You know that you paid the $150?—Yes.

1230. At the time you paid it, were you then a bridge keeper by appointment of the Government?—Certainly not. I was on the bridge, but not appointed by the Government. I had been on there for years.

1231. You had not received permanent appointment?—Not that I know of.

1232. When you paid the $150 to Stanley you were not at that time a permanently appointed bridge keeper by the Government?—Certainly not.

1233. Did you say before that you received a promise from the Committee?—I will you tell all I know about it: I will tell it without question and answer. I was asked to go up to Brighton. I was informed by some of my friends there to make application to Mr. Cochrane. He said "I cannot make you any promise; I leave it entirely to the committee." I merely showed him the recommendations I had and he said: "They are very good, but I cannot make any promise." I walked away. I was informed to go up and see Mr. Stanley, and Mr. Stanley says, says he: "I understand from what I have heard that the Committee has picked you out as a bridge keeper on the Murray Canal, and you ought to help us on this debt, that we are under to the party." I said, "I am willing to do my part" and that is all I said. I said "When you are ready for me and want my money I will pay it." He said they had some notes to pay and that they were heavy in debt, and I said "I am a Conservative and will do my duty?"

1234. You were informed you were required to go and see Stanley?—Yes.

1235. Who informed you?—A man who was formerly hotel keeper in Brighton—Robert Clark. I know he was the man.

1236. He came and said you had to see Stanley?—He said, I was appointed by the Committee and they wanted to see me in Brighton.

1237. Did you ever talk over this matter with Mr. W. W. Webb, Justice of the Peace, in Stanley's Hotel, Brighton?—I do not know that I did. I do not know that I did or did not.

1238. Did you tell Mr. Webb that you had made an appeal direct to Mr. Cochrane, who would not consent to give you a bridge for less than $150?—No no. He never spoke to me about the bridge or about money nor never received a shilling from me.

1239. You never had that conversation with Webb?—Not that I know of.

1240. You are positive about other matters, try and refresh your memory.—I do not think I had that conversation. I can say that, because I never spoke to Mr. Cochrane about money.

1241. Will you swear you did not tell that to Mr. Webb?—I say I do not think so.

1242. That is as far as you will go?—Because I cannot do it rightfully. I know I never spoke to him about money, nor he to me, and how could I say so.

1243. Who is this Mr. Clark who came to you?—Robert Clark. He used to be a hotel keeper in Brighton. He used to run the hotel that this man runs who was here to-day.

1244. What was your position before you were appointed?—Bridgeman on the Murray Canal.

1245. Were you always a bridgeman?—Not always. I was acting for the Company—the contractors.

1246. What was your salary from the contractors?—$1.50 and $1.25.

1247. It has been said that your wife is very ill and that you want to get away. Then you are a man of family?—I am.

1248. How could you manage to pay this $150? Had you any money laid by?—I had not.

1249. How did you expect to pay it?—On my good credit.

1250. You borrowed it?—Yes, on my honour.

1251. Honour does not pay a debt?—It does with me.

1252. If you have not money it does not?—As long as I could get it.

1253. Where did you get this money?—From my wife.

1254. Had she money?—She had that money. She got it all the same. She got it out of the bank; from Stewart's Bank in Trenton.

1255. And handed it to you?—Yes; in $5 bills, if you want to know all about it.

1256. And you handed it to Stanley?—Most decidedly so.

1257. Were you in Brighton last Friday or Saturday?—No, sir.

1258. Did you see Mr. Cochrane?—I have not spoken to that man, except to pass the time of day—I never asked for this position—only once. That, I guess, is two years ago or a year and a half ago.

1259. Did you ever tell Mr. Cochrane you had to pay $150?—No, sir; not that I know of.

1260. Not as you know of?—No, sir. Which Cochrane do you mean?

1261. Mr. Edward Cochrane, the member?—Not as I know of, sir.

1262. In some statements you make you speak positively, whilst others you qualify, by saying “not that you know of”?—I am not trying to screen anything; I am trying to tell just what I know.

1263. Will you swear that you never had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane in which you told him you would pay $150?—I don't think so, because I had no conversation with him, only once, and once after that I saw him. Since that I have never seen him until this day, so how could I talk with him.

1264. You are positive?—Not to my knowledge. I did not.

1265. You never told Mr. Cochrane that?—No, sir.

1266. Did you ever receive a letter from Mr. Cochrane stating that the appointment was going to you?—I don't know but what I got a letter from Mr. Cochrane.

1267. You think you did get a letter from Mr. Cochrane?—I think I did.

1268. Have you got that letter with you?—I am not certain I got it, I could not swear.

1269. I think you said you did?—I am not sure. You caught me unawares, I don't know, but what I have.

1270. You were prepared for all the rest?—Only just what I know.

1271. Had you any conversation with anybody in regard to how that money was paid over?—Yes.

1272. With whom?—Mr. Stanley.

1273. But since these proceedings have been known to the public, have you had any conversation with anybody?—Not to my knowledge.

1274. Why do you say: “Not to your knowledge”? Surely you would know?—That is what I say. I may have been talking with some one, but I don't know.

1275. Who have you been talking with?—I don't know that.

1276. Do you mean to say, you have not talked with anybody at all in regard to these matters?—I may have, but I cannot say.

1277. When did you arrive in Ottawa?—This morning, at six thirty or a quarter to seven.

1278. Who came down with you from Brighton?—I did not come from Brighton at all.

1279. Well, Colborne or from wherever you came?—I came privately, alone.

1280. Have you had any conversation with anybody at all, in regard to the evidence which was to be given here to-day?—I don't think so.

1281. Would you not remember if you had?—Certainly, I would have.

1882. Why cannot you say yes or no?—I never met anybody, but friends, and I may have talked with them. I talked day in and day out.

1283. What friends?—Common men from any place—I might meet them.

1284. Have you talked with Mr. Stanley?—No, sir; not to-day.

1285. Last night?—I did not get here until six o'clock.

1286. Then last Friday or Saturday?—No, sir.

1287. Was there any suggestion that you—?—No, sir.

1288. Wait a moment?—I don't care, I know I am perfectly clear,

1289. You are prepared to say no, are you?—Yes.

1290. I was asking a question?—I have told you everything I know.

1291. Squarely and fairly, did anybody suggest to you that all these sums should be accounted for as going to the party fund?—I don't know.

1292. Did anybody do so?—I don't know, sir.

1293. Will you swear nobody did?—They might, or might not. All I tell you is, I gave this money with the intention of helping the Conservative party to pay the protest.

1294. But since these proceedings, have you had any conversation with anybody as to how the money was to be accounted for?—No, sir; not a man.

1295. You are quite sure of that?—Yes, I am certain.

1296. Again I ask you are you not sure you did get a letter from Mr. Cochrane?—I don't know but what I did. I may or may not; I won't swear positively.

1297. More than one letter?—I may have got one, but not more.

1298. What was the letter about?—Well, I don't know whether I got a letter, and I could not answer that question and tell the truth. I don't know as I got any, but it seems to me I did.

1299. You think you did get a letter?—Yes, sir.

1300. Well, after you think you did, can you think what was in it?—If there was anything in it, it must have been about my position.

1301. Then you think you did get a letter from Mr. Cochrane?—I am not certain, but it seems to me that I did.

1302. And that it was in regard to your position?—No doubt of it; yes.

1303. When was that—before or after your appointment?—After I was appointed.

1304. You got a letter, I presume, informing you that the Government had appointed you?—I think so. I am not certain of the date, but I think in my mind I got a letter from Mr. Cochrane stating something to that effect.

1305. Was there anything in that letter with regard to money being paid?—Oh, not at all. I said distinctly Mr. Cochrane never spoke to me. I never paid money to him, and he does not know anything about it. As far as I am concerned I paid this to Stanley to help the party through, and will do that to-morrow if they want help. Where I got it, is none of your business.

By Mr. Osler :

1306. How long had you been on the bridge before you got the appointment?—The season before, and part of the season before that.

1307. The bridge has been in your charge from the time it was built?—And up to date.

1308. And had they appointed another man they would have had to turn you off?—They would not do that anyway.

By Mr. German :

1309. Had you ever given any subscription to the party before this?—No, sir.

1310. This was your first?—Yes, sir.

1311. You are a political supporter and friend of Mr. Cochrane?—Well, I am a Conservative, yes.

By Mr. Barron :

1312. You say you had not given anything to the party fund before this $150. Have you given anything since?—I don't think I have.

1313. Neither before nor since have you ever given any money to the fund?—Oh, yes, during election time I have always been a man to spend lots of money, and my own hard cash.

By the Chairman :

1314. But you never made a subscription before or since?—Oh, no, but I understood there was a subscription made in this affair and I had to put in. I put in and I am willing to help it to-morrow if they call upon me.

By Mr. Mulock :

1315. You never got appointed to an office before this?—Yes, sir.

1316. Did you or did you not?—What do you mean?

1317. An office in the gift of the Government?—Yes, sir.
1318. What one had you before?—A contract in the Bay of Quinté.
1319. What was the date of your appointment to the office of bridge keeper on the canal?—1st September last.
1320. You were appointed to that office the 1st of September?—I don't know about my appointment.
1321. I am asking you the date of your appointment to the office of bridge keeper?—I don't know at all.
1322. You were appointed bridge keeper?—I am telling you the date I was called to my work—the appointment I don't know anything about it.
1323. You entered upon your duties when?—1st September, 1890.
1324. When did you get official notice you had been appointed?—From the Superintendent about two weeks before.
1325. That was the first official notice you had had?—Yes, sir; that was the first.
1326. When did you learn that the committee had recommended you?—That would be the fall before this.
1327. Somewhere in the fall of 1889?—Yes, sir.
1328. Who told you—was it Mr. Stanley?—No, sir. Philip; I guess he is here in the House.
1329. Philip Lawson?—That is the man.
1330. Did Mr. Lawson tell you?—Yes; going by the bridge where I was doing my duty he said: "Fitzgerald, I guess you are nominated for the bridge." That is all I know about it.
1331. Who was it that asked you to pay the $150?—Mr. Stanley. He did not ask me to pay it; he asked me to contribute to the party.
1332. When had you the conversation with Stanley about your giving the money?—Well, I do not hardly know what time that was. It was in that same season.
1333. In the fall of 1889?—Just that fall.
1334. How long was that after Lawson told you that you had got the recommendation for the office?—Maybe four weeks—something like that. He was going down to the Thousand Islands on the boat that morning when he told me.
1335. You gave your $150 to whom?—To Mr. Stanley.
1336. Would you have given that money if you had not got the office or the promise of it?—I do not know that I would have gone quite so heavy, but I would have helped some.
1337. You would have chipped in a little?—I would have done something. He said to me: "Here, you have got the appointment and the least you can do is to help us in paying off our indebtedness." I said yes.
1338. You said that because you were getting the appointment?—No; not on getting the appointment.
1339. Mr. Cochrane would not have anything to do with the appointment?—I asked him as a member about it. He told me he had left it entirely with the committee.
1340. He would not interfere at all?—I do not know anything about that.
1341. What committee did he say he had left it to?—I do not know what committee he said, nor do I know the date of it. I was not in the room at the time.
1342. Who told you to come up and see Mr. Cochrane?—I only saw Mr. Cochrane once.
1343. You said you were asked to go up to Brighton to see Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir.
1344. What were you told to go to Brighton for?—Mr. Clark told me Mr. Stanley wanted to see me and I came up to see him.
1345. You say you saw Mr. Cochrane about the appointment?—I did once.
1346. And he referred you to the committee?—He did.
1347. And the committee made the recommendation?—I do not know that.

1348. You were told the committee made the recommendation. Lawson told you about it and Stanley told you about it and you believed it, did you not?—I did.

1349. And you got the appointment?—Yes.

1350. And you paid the $150?—Yes.

1351. You were told to apply to Mr. Cochrane for the appointment?—Yes, by my outside friends.

CHARLES LARKE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

1352. Are you the Manager of the Standard Bank in Colborne?—Yes.

1353. Do you remember Mr. Cochrane, the postmaster at Colborne, coming to you with some money to apply on a note?—I have no recollection of that.

1354. It would be some time in the spring or towards the summer of 1888?—I have no recollection. He may have done so. That is Joseph Cochrane, the postmaster, you mean?

1355. Evidence has been given here that money was left with Mr. Cochrane the postmaster at Colborne to pay into your bank on a note?—What was the note?

1356. Did you discount a note for Mr. Payne or Mr. Willoughby and some others to get money that was due Mr. W. W. Webb?—When?

1357. That would be in September, 1886?—My subpoena covers 1888, 1889 and 1890.

1358. Have you got the note?—I have no note.

1359. No note at all?—No. I have no notes for 1888, 1889 and 1890.

1360. The note was paid before that?—What is the amount of the note?

1361. We do not know that, we want to find out from you. There was a note made sometime in the year 1886, in December I think—made by Mr. Payne, Mr. Willoughby and some others?—There may have been, I did not go back as far as that, I went according to my subpoena. My subpoena says that I am “to give evidence on certain charges preferred against Edward Cochrane M.P. for East Northumberland, and to bring with you and produce a note for $1,000 made by Dr. Willoughby, Messrs Cochrane, M.P., Payne and Pickworth, or endorsed by them or by all and any of them in 1888, 1889 or 1890, or any note and all notes negotiated or placed in the Standard Bank, Colborne, by the said parties or any of them; and all correspondence or entries in any way relating to them or any of them.”

1362. Can you, from memory, go back of 1888, and do you recollect the circumstances of a note being discounted with you by Mr. Payne and Mr. Pickworth and Dr. Willoughby?—That subpoena goes only to 1888, 1889 and 1890. There was a note dated November 16th, 1887, term twenty days, promisors W. A. Willoughby and William Pickworth, endorsed by E. Cochrane and W. L. Payne, due December 9th, 1887, amount $619.69.

1363. Who is Mr. E. Cochrane?—He is the member for East Northumberland.

1364. Is that the only note you had in your bank either before or after that, made or endorsed by these parties or any of them?—No; I think this was probably a renewal.

1365. Of a preceding note?—Yes.

1366. Who was it who got it renewed with you?—I cannot say now.

1367. Perhaps I might suggest to you: was it Mr. Payne?—It might have been, I cannot say now.

1368. Of course, that was a renewal. Was that the first or second or third renewal?—That was the last note.

1369. Has that note been paid?—Yes.

1370. When the notes were renewed, were they renewed for a portion and cash paid, or were they renewed for the full amount?—I cannot say; it may have been.

1371. How was that note paid?—It was protested on December the 9th for non-payment, placed in the solicitor's hands on December 28th, and paid by the solicitor December 29th, 1889.

1372. Who is the solicitor?—W. L. Payne. He is solicitor for the Bank.

1373. Were there any moneys paid before you put it in suit on account of the note?—No, sir.

1374. Your instructions were to sue for the full amount of the note?—I placed it in his hands for collection. He sued for the face of the note. There were no part payments as far as I can see. There are no entries in our books to show part payments and I do not think there were any.

1375. I said a moment ago that the evidence here was that Mr. Cochrane, the Postmaster at Colborne, had received a sum of money, $200, with instructions to pay it to you. Try and remember if he did pay you any money or not?—That is on another note. I cannot say here whether he did or not. I acted strictly here according to that subpoena. I think it was a renewal of another note.

1376. What was done with the proceeds of the original notes, or do you know?—I cannot say and I do not know. For instance, I cannot say who got the money. I could not say positively.

1377. Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Cochrane with regard to that note?—Not to my recollection.

1378. Or of the note of which that is a renewal?—I cannot say positively. I think I spoke to him and said that it ought to be paid. That was during the time it was past due.

1379. That would be the extent of your conversation?—Yes.

1380. Nothing more than that?—Nothing that I know of.

1381. Did he ask you to wait and not be in a hurry?—I cannot say that.

1382. Further than you have related, you do not remember any conversation you had with Mr. Cochrane?—No.

1383. There was no other note in the bank endorsed or made by any of these parties?—Do you mean now in 1888, 1889 or 1890, according to this subpoena? Do you mean Pickworth, Cochrane, Willoughby and Payne—those four? I have no memorandum. I have a statement here (filed as Exhibit No. 2) and I find that a note was left in the bank for collection. The makers according to the books are William Pickworth and W. L. Payne.

1384. Who are the endorsers?—That is not said.

1385. What is the amount of that?—The amount there was $482.18.

1386. From memory you cannot state who were the endorsers on the note?—No, I cannot.

1387. There were endorsers then?—Probably there were, I cannot say. There might have been.

1388. Can you find out for us, please?—I might.

1389. You had two notes?—Well, I said the $482 note was for collection.

1390. Were there any other notes, made by these parties, left with you for collection, or discounted by you?—I don't know that I could pick out any single individual.

1391. We will say made by Mr. Pickworth and Mr. Payne, or Dr. Willoughby? Mr. OSLER.—Not their private affairs.

WITNESS: No, sir, I have no recollection of any two notes. I might give you any two on a note for instance if you come down to private business.

1392. We want to find out as much as possible?—There is nothing more than I tell you that one or two others may be on private notes in the course of business.

By the Chairman:

1393. These are the only notes any two of these gentlemen were on?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Barron:

1394. Did you endorse any given by William Brown, or discount or receive any note given for collection?—Who is William Brown.

1395. A bridge-keeper there?—For how much?

1396. For $150?—When?

1397. In the year 1888, it would be?—Not that I know of; I don't remember just now. I might say, I have some books here.

By Mr. Mulock:

1398. What period do they cover?—1888, 1889, 1890, and probably back to 1887-88.

1399. I wish you would make search in your books, and see for what account you received the $200 paid to Mr. Stanley.

Mr. OSLER.—That has not been proved yet. It was paid to Joseph Cochrane.

Mr. MULOCK.—The witness can look himself in his bank books and see if he received $200. We cannot very well give the date.

By the Chairman:

1400. Your books here would give you no light?—No, sir; no light.

1401. Would your books not shew that $200 had been received on account of that note?—No, sir; as I stated there was no account at all.

By Mr. Mulock:

1402. Have you got all your books since February 1888?—Well, the books I brought would shew our discounts and collections?—That last note was left for collection. It shews the makers of the note, but it does not shew the endorsers.

By Mr. Osler:

1403. Does it show how and when it was paid?—Those books do not. They show the note was left for collection by private parties.

1404. Is there any entry in the books to show that the amount signed for it, was paid in one sum?—Yes; There is an entry in the books to show that this note for collection of $482 was signed for. I brought the diary and the note I mentioned, which was left for collection, is signed for.

By Mr. Mulock:

1405. There was a note under discount for $619?—Yes, sir.

1406. And that was a 20 day note?—Yes, sir.

1407. And it was paid on the 29th February, 1888?—Yes, sir.

1408. A little while after you received another note dated 21st February, 1888?—Yes, sir.

1409. For $480 odd dollars?—Yes, sir; for collection.

1410. I want to find out what you did with the $200 or thereabouts that the witness says he paid to you?—Well, sir, you cannot find out by me at all.

1411. You have no books that would show it?—The books will not shew it. This $619 was paid in one sum as far as I can trace by the books.

1412. There is no balance?—No balance at all.

1413. We want your books that will show you received this $200, if you did. What books would it be entered in?—There would be a deposit book.

1414. Is that book here?—No, sir. I might state Joseph Cochrane may keep a deposit book, and he might have made the deposit or it might have been made by some one else.

1415. And he may have given a cheque to Mr. Payne amounting to $600?—I cannot say, he may have.

---

HERBERT SIMPSON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

1416. You are a brother of Hedley Simpson?—Yes.

1417. What relation are you to Caleb Simpson?—He is an uncle of mine.

1418. Darius Simpson is also an uncle of yours?—Yes, sir.

1419. Were you aware that Hedley Simpson was trying to get the position of lighthouse-keeper at Presqu'Isle?—Yes, sir.

1420. Are you aware that a petition was circulated on his behalf?—Yes.

1421. Did you interest yourself in the petition?—No. I had nothing to do with it.

1422. Did you know of the petition being circulated?—Yes.

1423. Did you see Mr. Cochrane in regard to it?—No, sir.

1424. You did not see him in regard to the petition?—No, sir.

1425. Did you have any conversation with Hedley Simpson about his getting the appointment of light-keeper before he received it?—I talked some about it. I saw him and talked it over a little.

1426. What did you talk about?

Mr. Osler, I object. (Objection sustained).

By Mr. Barron :

1427. Had you any conversation with him about two notes that were to be given?—I do not know whether I had or not.

1428. Do you mean to say you do not remember anything about a couple of notes that were to be given by Hedley Simpson?—I heard it talked about; that is all.

1429. By your Uncle Darius?

Mr. Osler: I object.

Witness: Not that I know of.

By Mr. Barron :

1430. Do you know of these notes going to be given?—I do not understand this business at all. I had no hand in it at all.

1431. You were sent by Mr. Stanley to go to Hedley Simpson, were you not?—No, sir.

1432. Mr. Stanley says so?

The Chairman: Stanley said he thought the witness was the one?

1433. You say you were not sent by Mr. Stanley to go to your brother Hedley?—I was not.

1434. Do you say again you do not know anything about the notes going to be given by Hedley?—I say the same as I did before. I heard them talking about it.

1435. You heard whom?—Why, everybody.

1436. You did not know it from Hedley?—No, sir.

1437. Was it common talk in the neighbourhood?

MR. OSLER: I object.

WITNESS: I just heard it talked over.

By Mr. Barron :

1438. Did you see Mr. Cochrane at all in regard to Hedley being appointed?—No, sir.

1439. You never saw him at all?—Never. I never spoke to him about it.

1440. You were never sent to Mr. Cochrane by either of your uncles, Darius or Caleb?—No, sir.

1441. Did you see Mr. Cochrane at all in regard to the appointment of Hedley Simpson?—No, sir. I never spoke to him about it.

1442. From the time the appointment was made up to the present time?—I never spoke to him about it at all.

1443. Do you know who went to see Mr. Cochrane in regard to the appointment?—I do not. But—

MR. OSLER: Don't say if you don't know.

WITNESS: I don't know anything about going to see him, or anything about it.

1444. MR. BARRON: You were going to say "but." But what?—I know nothing about it.

1445. Did you know of the existence of a committee which distributed these offices?—No, not to my knowledge. I know nothing about it.

1446. Did you know about it?—I heard it talked that there was a committee. I never knew it myself.

1447. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Stanley?—No, sir.

1448. None at all?—None at all.

1449. You had no conversation with Mr. Stanley in regard to your brother getting the appointment?—No, sir.

1450. You are positive as to that?—I am.

1451. Quite positive?—Yes.

1452. Did Mr. Stanley not say something to you about the notes which were to be given by your brother?—No, sir.

1453. You say you never had any conversation with him about the notes?—I never had any conversation with him at all.

1454. Did you know that your brother had given $200 in notes before, or about the time, he was getting the appointment?—I did not know it; no, sir.

1455. When did you first learn that your brother had to give $200 in connection with his appointment as keeper of the Presqu'Isle Lighthouse?—I heard of it some time after. I could not say when.

1456. You did know of it afterwards?—I heard so. I never saw the notes, and never knew for certain they had been given.

1457. Did you object that he was giving too much?—I do not think I did.

1458. Will you be positive about that?—I do not remember saying anything further than that I would not give anything, when I heard it talked about.

1459. Who did you say that to?—I do not know exactly; I have said it to different ones.

1460. Was that before or after the appointment?—Probably before and after, both.

1461. Did you say it to Hedley Simpson?

Mr. Osler objected.

By Mr. Mulock:

1462. Where do you live?—Brighton.

1463. How far from the hotel?—About two miles across the bay, or two and a-half.

1464. Where were you living at the time these notes were given?—There.

1465. Did you often see Hedley?—Yes.

1466. What business are you in?—I have always sailed.

1467. In the boats belonging to the Harbour?—Different boats.

1468. But you were not sailing in the winter of 1887-88?—No.

1469. You saw your brother frequently?—Yes, I saw him maybe once a week; and sometimes not for once a month.

1470. Did you know that he was an applicant for this position?—I did.

1471. You knew what steps he was taking to get it?—No; I did not know what he was doing all the time.

1472. Did you know what he was trying to do to get it?—I knew he was trying to get it; that is all.

1473. Did you know what means he was adopting to get it?—No.

1474-75. You did not know he was giving $200 notes?—No.

1476. He never told you during that period?—No.

1477. Although you saw him once a week, you did not know he was giving $200 in notes to Mr. Stanley?—I did not know what he was doing.

1478. On your oath, you say you never heard of it?—I do.

JAMES STANLEY recalled and further examined:—

By Mr. German :

1479. To whom did you send the $150? You said you sent it to Colborne to apply on that note. To whom did you send it?—I think it was the bank.

1480. Was it the bank or Payne?—Either the bank or Payne; I am not certain.

1481. You are not sure?—No; not certain. If I did not send it to the bank I sent it to Payne. I must have sent a cheque.

1482. Did you know that Payne was Solicitor for the Bank?—Yes.

1483. Did you know that the note in the bank had been sued before the $150 was sent?—I did not know that.

1484. Did you say anything about that note being sued?—I may have.

1485. Did Payne communicate with you about the note?—No; he did not.

1486. Just as you got money you sent it up there?—Yes.

1887. You saw Payne when you went up with the $200?—No; I did not.

1488. His office was shut up?—Yes.

1489. And that was the reason why you gave it to the Post-master?—Yes.

1490. Did you send $150 prior to that?—No; it was after.

1491. You do not know whether you sent $150 to Payne or the Bank?—No.

1492. What time of year was it? You went with a sleigh?—When I sent the $150?

1493. The $200?—I do not know whether we went with a sleigh or a buggy. I cannot say.

NOAH D. SNETSINGER called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

1494. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane at any time, in regard to the appointment of lighthouse keeper at Presqu'Isle?—I never had; I never made any application to Mr. Cochrane at all.

1495. Did you make application to anybody?—Yes, to the Government.

1496. Did Mr. Cochrane know of your application to the Government?—I don't know as he did, I could not say that.

1497. Had you any conversation with anybody in regard to your application to the Government for the position?—I asked for some recommends from my friends to the Government.

1498. To whom did you send those recommends?—I took them myself to the Government.

1499. Whom did you see?—I saw Sir John.

1500. Sir John Macdonald?—Yes.

1501. You never saw Mr. Cochrane at all?—I never applied to him for nothing.

1502. But had you any conversation with him?—None whatever.

1503. No conversation in regard to your wish for this position?—No, because I knew I could get nothing from him. That is the reason why I had nothing to do with him.

1504. Did you suggest to anybody a sum of money you would give if you got the appointment?—No, I never knew a thing was peddled out until after it was done.

By Mr. Mulock :

1505. What do you mean by "peddled out"?—I mean by subscription towards it, for the sake of getting the position.

By Mr. Barron :

1506. Did you say afterwards what you would have given?—I may have said afterwards.

Mr. OSLER—This is no evidence.

By Mr. Barron :

1507. But before you knew the appointment was made, did you say to anybody what you would be willing to give if you got the appointment?—No, Mr. Barron.

1508. I ask again, not to anybody at all?—Not to anybody at all, not before the appointment was made. I may have said something afterwards, but not before the appointment was made at all.

By Mr. Mulock :

1509. How much would you have given for it?—It was not worth much.

The Committee then took recess.

WEDNESDAY, 2nd Sept., 1891.

The Committee resumed at 8 o'clock p.m.—Mr. TISDALE in the Chair.

Dr. A. E. MALLORY called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

1510. You are Registrar of the East Riding of the County of Northumberland?—Yes.

1511. Will you produce the lease dated the 15th of October, 1890, between Eleanor Goodrich, Wesley Goodrich and Obadiah Simpson?

WITNESS produces document (filed as Exhibit No. 3.)

1512-13. This is the original lease?—Yes.

Mr. BARRON—This lease is considered as proved, I suppose?

Mr. OSLER—We shall not contest it. We will consider it under our law as proved by production.

Mr. BARRON—I have here a certified copy of the lease.

THE CHAIRMAN—(To witness.) Is this a certified and correct copy?—Yes.

Mr. BARRON—This copy bears the following certificate: "I certify that the within is a true copy and found of record in this office.

A. B. CHEFFINS,
Deputy Registrar.

EXHIBIT No. 3.

This indenture made in duplicate the 15th day of October in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, between Eleanor Goodrich of the township of Cramahe, in the county of Northumberland, wife of Wesley Goodrich of the same place, farmer, and the said Wesley Goodrich, of the first part, and Obadiah Simpson of the same place and county aforesaid, farmer, of the second part.

A. E. MALLORY,
Registrar.

ARUNDEL SIMPSON re-called and further examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

1514-15. Is that your signature (handing a document to witness) ?—Yes, sir.

1516. This is a statement made by you before Mr. G. B. Kemp, a Justice of the Peace ?

The CHAIRMAN—A statement in what ?

Mr. BARRON—In this matter ?

1517. Do you remember making this statement ?—What is it ?

1518. It is a declaration in regard to these matters.

Mr. OSLER—That is the worst lead that I have ever heard. I object most emphatically to the question.

Mr. BARRON (To witness)—Did you see Mr. Stanley in the year 1890 in regard to being appointed yourself—

Mr. OSLER—I object entirely to this method of examination. Mr. Barron produces a paper, gets the witness to identify his signature and then, with that paper in his hands, Mr. Barron proceeds with the examination in chief. It is most irregular.

1519. Mr. BARRON—Did you see Mr. Stanley in 1889, in regard to getting an appointment as bridge-keeper ?—I did.

1520. What took place then ?—Mr. Stanley sent for me.

1521. Well, what else ?—I went up there to see him, and he told me they were about to let the bridges.

Mr. OSLER—I object to the witness stating what Mr. Stanley said.

By Mr. Barron :

1522. What was said to you ?—He said they were going to let the bridges and that they intended me to have one.

By the Chairman :

1523. You say they were going to let the bridges. What do you mean by that ?—To appoint the bridge tenders.

By Mr. Barron :

1524. Did he say anything about your getting one ?—He said that I could get one by looking after my father and giving him $150.

1525. Who told you that ?—James Stanley.

By Mr. Mulock :

1526. Whom did you mean by giving "him" $150 ?—Mr. Stanley.

By Mr. Barron :

1527. When you say that he said you were to look after your father, were those the words that were used, or what did he mean ?—He went, in the first place, to see my father and told him, that they had promised him a bridge, but that he was too old to be appointed. He asked him if he wanted one of his sons appointed in his place, and he said yes, and he would like to see me appointed.

1528. Did you afterwards see Mr. Cochrane about it?—He saw me about it.

1529. Mr. Cochrane did?—Yes.

1530. You met Mr. Cochrane in Brighton?—Yes.

1531. What took place between you and Mr. Cochrane? Did he send for you?—He called me into the room.

1532. Where was this—in the hotel?—In Mr. Stanley's hotel.

1533. What did he say to you?—He said they had made different arrangements about the bridge. That they were going to make some arrangements for fifty acres of land for my father, and let someone else have the bridge.

1534. Did he say with whom the arrangement was made?—I do not think he did that night.

1535. Did he at any other time?—I do not know that he did. I could not say that he did.

1536. Just try and think, because you say, he did not say that night?—I do not think Mr. Cochrane ever told me.

1537. Did he say anything about the $150 which Stanley wanted you to give as being so small?

MR. OSLER—I object to that leading question.

1538. What did he say about the $150?—I do not know just what he did say.

1539. Try and think?—He said they had made other arrangements. I said it was all right; I was not very particular.

1540. What did he say about the $150?

MR. OSLER objected to the manner in which the question was put.

Objection sustained.

By Mr. Barron :

1541. What else did he say?—He said that Mr. Stanley could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150 a piece.

1542. Where was that said to you?—At Mr. Stanley's hotel.

1543. By Mr. Cochrane?—By Mr. Cochrane.

1544. The member for East Northumberland?—Yes.

1545. When he said that they had made other arrangements, was anything said in regard to more money?—That is all I heard him say. I heard him say what I have just told you.

1546. Did Mr. Cochrane make any further offer to you?—No, I don't think he did. We merely had a few words and I left them.

1547. Had you any more conversations with Mr. Cochrane at any time?—I don't think I ever had since, no more than as I would meet him.

1548. As you would meet him?—Well, nothing concerning this case at all.

1549. Concerning any bridge tenders?—No, I think not, nothing more than as I would see him, I would pass the time of day.

1550. Do you know whether your father went into possession of the land mentioned in this lease we have just read?—I think he went into possession a year ago last May.

1551. He went into possession a year ago last May?—I think he did; I don't know, I am not quite sure.

By the Chairman :

1552. And he is still in possession, is he?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

1553. Under what title?—I don't know.

1554. Do you know whether Wesley Gooderich became a bridge tender?—Well, I believe he did—at least I heard him say—

MR. OSLER—Never mind what you heard him say.

By Mr. Mulock :

1555. Who got this bridge you were an applicant for?—I could not swear to it, because I don't know what one it was. Mr. Goodrich got a bridge, and Mr. Clouston; I could not swear what bridge I was to have.

1556. You were not to have any particular bridge?—No particular bridge.

1557. Did you know about Mr. Goodrich making a lease?—No, only just what I heard, I never saw the lease.

1558. Well, is it the Mr. Goodrich who is said to have made a lease, that got the bridge?—I believe it is, yes.

1559. You know Wesley Goodrich?—Yes.

1560. Is he the Goodrich, do you know, who owns a piece of land, 63 acres or thereabouts, part of Lot 18 in the section of Cramahe?—Well, I believe he is the gentleman that owns it.

1561. You know that piece of land?—Yes.

1562. The reputed owner is who?—I think Mrs. Goodrich.

1563. And that is the piece of land your father is in possession of?—Yes.

1564. It is his wife who owns it?—I think so.

1565. Is that the same Wesley Goodrich, who you say had got the appointment to one of the bridges?—Yes.

1566. Do you know when he entered upon his appointment?—No, I do not; sometime I think last Spring a year ago, last April I believe.

1567. Was his name mentioned at your conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—No, I don't think Mr. Cochrane ever mentioned Mr. Goodrich's name. You mean about the farm?

1568. Yes?—No, he did not mention it. He said fifty acres of land.

1569. When you met him at Stanley's hotel at Brighton?—That is where it was.

1570. And he told you that he had made other arrangements? Did he tell you what the arrangements were?—He said he had an offer of 150 acres for this gentleman.

1571. For whom?—He did not say.

1572. I ask you, if he did not say he got anything more than 50 acres of land?—I think he said the man would give more than fifty acres. He would give fifty acres of land, but he did not say who it was from.

1573. How much was he getting from you?—Mr. Stanley was getting $150.

1574. And he said they were getting more than that? Did he say how much more?—I don't think he stated.

1575. Are you sure that he said it was more?—I would not be quite sure.

1576. Did he say who it was who had made other arrangements?—No, he did not say who it was, and he did not say whom it was made with. He said there were other arrangements made.

1577. Recommending whom?—I did not ask any more questions—that got me out of the house.

1578. He gave you to understand then, that some arrangement had been made by some parties which prevented him from recommending you?—That is what he told me.

1579. He did not tell you who the parties were who made the arrangement?—No.

By Mr. Osler :

1580. What is your occupation?—A farmer.

1581. On your own farm?—No; I am on a rented farm—a farm on shares.

1582. On whose property?—John Austin.

1583. You have rented that farm for how long?—I have been on it, this is the third season.

1584. Who did you first tell this story to?—Which story?

1585. The story you have been telling here to-day?—I do not know. I do not understand you.

1586. Yes, you do perfectly. Answer the question?—The evidence I have given.
1587. To whom did you first tell the story you have been telling here to-day?—I cannot tell you that.
1588. I mean the story you have told about the interview with Mr. Cochrane?—I told it to different ones.
1589. Who to?—I told it to Mr. Gordon.
1590. Which Mr. Gordon is that?—Lawyer Gordon.
1591. When did you do that?—About two weeks ago.
1592. Did he come to you for it, or did you go to him?—He came to me. He sent a man with a rig for me.
1593. That was about two weeks ago. That man drove you to his office?—To his office door.
1594. What did you do?—I went into the office. I asked him what he wanted, and he said he wanted to ask me a few questions.
1595. Did he ask you a few questions?—Yes.
1596. As a result you told him the story you have told here?—Yes, I answered his questions.
1597. He asked about this interview at the hotel?—Yes.
1598. Seemed to know about it?—Yes.
1599. And you told him as you have told us here now?—Nearly; I don't know that I told it word for word.
1600. Word for word may be as near as you can get at it, but you told the story as you have told us?—I do not know exactly.
1601. Did you have the story written down?—I guess he took it down.
1602. Did you swear to it by declaring to it?—I just signed it.
1603. You did not go before a magistrate?—C. B. Kemp came there after I had signed it.
1604. What did you do?—I didn't do anything.
1605. You didn't declare it to be true before him?—He didn't ask me.
1606. "Declared before me at Brighton in the county of Northumberland this 13th day of August" signed C. B. Kemp, J. P. Did you declare it before Mr. Kemp?—No; he was not there when I signed it.
1607. Did you declare it was true before him?—I never spoke to him about it.
1608. Not whether you spoke to him, but did you go through the form of swearing or declaring?—No.
1609. Now we find this: "I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing the same to be true". Did you do that?—No.
1610. "By virtue of the Act respecting Extra-Judicial Oaths"?—He asked me no questions.
1611. You want me to understand that Mr. Gordon and Mr. Kemp have improperly added this statement?—I do not remember them writing that.
1612. I want to see just what kind of a man you are. Do you want to say that Mr. Gordon and Mr. Kemp have been parties to getting up a statutory declaration which you never made? Answer the question?—I do not know what you mean.
1613. I think you do. I have here signed by you—for you have acknowledged your signature to Mr. Barron—and signed by Mr. Kemp as Justice of the Peace, a solemn declaration which is by law equivalent to an oath. I want to know if you made that solemn declaration or not?—I do not know anything about it.
1614. No, no, do not avoid the question. Answer the question. Did you or did you not take a statutory declaration?—I did not. I do not know what it is.
1615. Did the magistrate sign anything in your presence? Did he sign what you signed?—I think he did afterward.
1616. Did you make any statement before him that that was true?—No, sir.
1617. Did you make any statement that that was true under the Act?—Before Mr. Kemp?
1618. Yes?—No, sir, I never spoke a word and he never asked me. After Mr. Kemp came into the office I never spoke to him nor he to me.

1619. Then did you sign something that Mr. Gordon read over?—Yes, I understood I signed that.

1620. Did Mr. Gordon read it over to you?—Yes, he read it over.

1621. Now, how many interviews had you with Mr. Cochrane with reference to this matter?—Only one.

1622. With reference to the matter which is now before the Committee had you more than one interview?—I had one talk with him about the lighthouse, and another, I am not sure whether it was on the same occasion, with reference to the bridge.

1623. With reference to the bridge, do you think the conversation was at that time?—No, I had a separate talk about the bridge.

1624. You had two talks—one about the lighthouse and one about the bridge although they were on two separate occasions. How far apart were they?—I cannot tell. One was at Mr. Bullock's store, and one was in Mr. Stanley's hotel.

1625. Now, had you any other interviews with Mr. Cochrane that you can remember?—Not, that I know of.

1626. Are you quite sure now, take your time?—I do not know exactly, I might have. I often met him on the road.

1627. But on the bridge, or on the lighthouse, would you recollect if you had any other conversations?—I recollect having had a conversation with him on the bridge at Mr. Bullock's store.

1628. You don't recollect any more?—No.

1629. Did you see him with reference to getting the appointment for your cousin?—Yes, I did. He saw me, that was on the same occasion.

1630. That was on the occasion you refer to?—Yes.

1631. That was before the transaction took place?—That was before he got the appointment.

1632. What I want you to tell me is, how many interviews there were?—That would be three.

1633. No more?—I think not.

1634. No more?—No.

1635. Where was the third one?—In Mr. Bullock's store.

1636. You told me already that there was one in Mr. Bullock's store, and one in the hotel, was there another one in Mr. Bullock's store also?—Yes, the third one was in Mr. Bullock's store.

1637. And the first two were in the hotel?—No, the first was in Mr. Bullock's store.

1638. Now think, and tell me whether there were any more?—I do not think there were any more.

1639. Would you say you are sure that there were no more?—I would say that there were not.

1640. Now, when was the first of these interviews as to the lighthouse—the first of the three interviews?—I think it was some time in March, about three or four years ago.

1641. Three or four, which?—I think three years ago.

1642. Would you say March three years ago with any degree of certainty?—I would not be positive as to dates.

1643. Have you any certainty when you suggest March?—I think it was March.

1644. This first interview was on what subject?—It was on the lighthouse.

1645. What did he ask you to do then?—He asked me to take a letter over to Mr. Simpson.

1646. That was on the occasion that Mr. Cochrane asked you to take a letter over to Mr. Hedley Simpson?—Yes.

1647. You are certain that took place on the occasion you have spoken of?—Yes.

1648. Was there anything else that passed?—Yes. He said he wanted to see Simpson about the lighthouse.

1649. Now that is the very first that you had to with it?—As far as I can recollect it is.

1650. That is as near as you can recollect?—Yes.

1651. Well anything more. What else did Mr. Cochrane say on that occasion?—Nothing that I know of, but he gave me the letter. Mr. Stanley was in the hall, and the one or the other gave me letter.

1652. You cannot say which?—I would not be positive which one. Mr. Cochrane asked me to take the letter over to Mr. Simpson, but I don't know which handed me the letter.

1653. Now, have you told us all that Mr. Cochrane said on that occasion?—I think so.

1654. There was nothing more he said to you then?—No.

1655. Are you sure of that?—I do not think he said anything more.

1656. I don't want to hurry you. I want you to be quite sure; I am not asking you to say anything you don't recollect; but I want to ask you if that is all that took place on the occasion of the first interview?—Yes; I think it is.

1657. The letter was handed to you either by Mr. Stanley or Mr. Cochrane to give to Hedley?—Yes.

1658. And Mr. Cochrane and not Mr. Stanley wanted you to take it over to the hotel, and he told you that he wanted you to see him about the lighthouse?—Yes.

1659. And that is all that passed?—Yes.

1660. And without binding yourself down too closely, you think that was about the month of March?—I think so.

1661. But you would not be quite sure about it?—I think it was.

1662. When was the second interview you had with Mr. Cochrane?—That was the second interview.

1663. You said that was the first. Which is correct?—It was the first.

1664. What was the second interview on?—The second interview was on the bridge—in the hotel.

1665. You are sure of that now. You are sure you are mistaken when you said the first was about the bridge?—I was mistaken in saying that.

1666. Well, I would like you to state definitely when was the second interview?—I cannot tell the date.

1667. How long after the first interview?—I cannot tell—some time.

1668. About how long?—Over a year, anyway.

1669. One interview you said would be in March, 1888, and from March, 1888, you had no interview with him for over a year?—I would not be certain.

1670. Now would it be over a year?—I cannot say.

1671. Remember that you are entitled to a reasonable margin. Try to reproduce in your mind the date. We all know it is difficult, and recognize the difficulty, but give us the best of your judgment as to when the interview took place; would it be over a year?—I do not know that it was.

1672. Then it would be the Fall of 1889?—Yes.

1673. Shall we take it in the Fall of 1889, then, solidly? You do not go back on that?—Yes.

1674. Well, where was it?—It was in Mr. David Bullock's store.

1675. The second interview now?—That was Mr. Stanley's hotel.

1676. The first interview as to the letter?—Yes.

1677. What took place there; who spoke first?—Mr. Cochrane come along the sidewalk, and said he wanted to speak to me.

1678. And you went into the hotel?—Yes.

1679. And he spoke to you?—Yes.

1680. What did he say?—He said they had made different arrangements about the bridge for the old gentleman.

1681. Remember this is the second interview you are telling about. The first was about the lighthouse?—Well, this is about the bridge.

1682. This interview was in the hotel in the fall of 1889, which was the second interview, and was all about the bridge?—This was all about the bridge.

1683. What happened then?—I told you what happened.

1684. Tell me again. I am forgetful?—I see you are quite forgetful. He told me he had made different arrangements for the old gentleman; that he had got him a life lease of 50 acres of land, or he was to get it for him.

1685. Go on?—That is far enough. That is far as I can go.

1686. That is all that took place?—That is all that took place.

1687. Are you sure about that?—There may have been some more words, but I don't recollect any more.

1688. Can you solidly say, then, that that is all that took place?—There may be more, but I don't remember.

1689. Just think for a moment. Don't be in a hurry; take your time?—I am in no hurry. I guess I told him all right.

1690. Tell me all that took place?—I am just telling you, that I said it would be all right.

1691. Did he tell you anything more?—He said, that Mr. Stanley said, they could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150 each, Mr. Stanley could not pay it off with that amount.

1692. Is that all?—That is all.

1693. You parted then and there?—We parted then and there.

1694. Friendly?—No; not very friendly. We were not very bad friends, then.

1695. But you still had a few words?—Not then, we had not.

1696. You told us so a little while ago?—I did not tell you I had had a great many words.

1697. But you said, and we understood what it meant, "we had a few words?"—Not at that time.

1698. Do you swear you had no words at that time?—I won't swear that we had not a few words.

1699. You swore to Mr. Barron, a few minutes ago, that you and he had a few words? Now, sir, I want to know is that true?—It is true.

1700. Why, then, did you swear you had not?—I do not know what the words were. We were not on very good terms and we parted.

1701. What was it that he said, or that you said, that indicated a want of friendliness between you?—(No answer).

1702. Why were you not friendly; what had happened to make you unfriendly?—He said he would not appoint me for the bridge.

1703. You have not told us that before; not in those words?—I have told it to you now.

1704. Is that all that happened?—That is all that happened.

1705. Was this in the fall of 1889?—I think it was.

1706. You said so solidly just now? Do you still stick to it?—(No answer).

1707. Answer me, please?—Yes. I think it was the fall 1889.

1708. You know it was a year ago last fall?—I think it was.

1709. Well, when was the next interview?—The same fall; later in the season.

1710. This was the interview in Bullock's store?—Yes.

1711. That would be late in the fall?—Quite late in the fall.

1712. Are you quite sure it was late in the fall?—Yes.

1713. Do you know when you gave your evidence in chief that you put that in the summer—the summer of 1888 or 1889?—I was not positive about the date.

1714. You did not say so before? Well, at all events this interview was in Bullock's store? Are you sure about that?—(No answer).

1715. What passed at that interview?—I cannot tell you exactly what passed.

1716. Well, try? What was this interview on—the lighthouse or the bridge?—A little of both.

1717. Tell me, then?—We were talking about the bridge, and he said he had done enough for the Simpson family; that he had given them a lighthouse.

1718. What else?—That is about all, that I can recollect. There may have been more said—I suppose there was, but I cannot recollect.

1719. You have no recollection of it; it is not in your mind?—No.

1720. Think again. Was there anything else except that he had done enough for the Simpson family?—I do not think there is anything more.

1721. It was at the second interview that he told you about the fifty-acre life lease? You have already told us so?—Yes.

1722. It was not at a third interview?—No.

1723. The lot that was given to your father was not mentioned at the interview at Bullock's store, as I understand it?—I do not think it was; it may have been.

1724. You have not got it in your mind if it was?—No.

1725. You have already sworn that he said on that occasion he had given the Simpson family a lighthouse?—Well, he might have.

1726. Have you told me all that passed?—I have told you all that I can recollect that passed.

1727. I may now take your account of these three interviews as your evidence? These three interviews totally differ from your former statements, and I now ask you whether you want to change them?—I do not know what I can change, if I don't recollect. I am telling you straight.

1728. It is your business, not mine. Have you anything to add? You see we have the interviews clearly. Let us bring the three together. You have the first interview when nothing passed but handing you the letter?—There may have been something more passed, but I don't recollect anything just now.

1729. You would not undertake to speak of anything except the letter in the first interview, and that interview was in the tavern?—Yes.

1730. And the second interview?—Was in the hotel.

1731. The fall of 1889?—Yes.

1732. What did he tell you that time? Let us see if you can recollect it for five minutes?

1733. Try it once again?—My recollection of what?

1734. Just what took place at the second interview?—I have told you.

1735. Tell it to me again?—About the lighthouse?

1736. About anything? I want to know? I have got to apologize for asking so often, but do it once again for me. Would you like me to tell it?—No answer.

1737. Can you not?—I may.

1738. Well, try to make an effort, try and tell it once more?—Well, he told me that they had made other arrangements about the bridge and they would give a lot to the old gentleman for fifty acres—a life lease.

1739. That was all?—That was about all.

Mr. OSLER—Now, I will take the statutory declaration.

Mr. BARRON—I don't know that I will give it to you.

Mr. OSLER—Well, I call for it.

Mr. BARRON—What does the Chairman say?

THE CHAIRMAN—I think you should give it to him, and then he must take his own course of procedure. If he cross-examines on it he must put it in.

Mr. OSLER—I ask for the production of that document as Counsel for Mr. Cochrane.

THE CHAIRMAN—"I rule the document is only relative for the purpose of cross-examination, and re-examination within proper lines."

By Mr. Osler:

1740. You told me of the three interviews that you had. Do you remember any others with Mr. Cochrane?—No.

1741. Do you think you had any others?—I do not know that I had. I might, if I had time, be able to tell you more definitely.

1742. Now, two of these interviews were interviews that you had after you knew that Hedley had been appointed?—Yes.

1743. And the only interview that you had with Mr. Cochrane prior to Mr. Hedley's appointment was the interview in which you were simply asked to deliver the letter?—I think that is the only one.

1744. You think that is the only interview?—I think so.

1745. Be certain now. You have already sworn two or three times to a different statement?—That is it, I think.

1746. Then, of course, you did not go to see Mr. Cochrane about Hedley's getting the appointment?—No; I do not think I did.

1747. You did not have any interviews with him with reference to Hedley's getting the appointment, that would not be consistent with what you have told us?—I don't recollect.

1748. Would it be consistent with what you have already told us, for you to have gone and seen Mr. Cochrane?—I suppose not.

1749. You didn't see him?—No; I do not think I did.

1750. You did not canvass him or talk with him over Hedley's appointment?—No.

1751. It would not be correct to say that you did—if anybody came up and said so, that would not be correct?—No; I think not.

1752. You would contradict him?—Well, I don't recollect now.

1753. If I had a witness that would go into the box and swear that you contradicted Mr. Cochrane for Hedley's appointment three or four times, you would contradict him?—I would.

1754. This was your signature—you have already said it was?—Yes.

1755. Do you remember signing a document like this in Mr. Gordon's office? (Document filed as Exhibit No. 4.)—Yes.

1756. Now, this is what you stated—every word in this declaration is given over your signature?—Yes.

1757. Did Mr. Gordon read over every word to you when you signed it?—Yes.

1758. The fourth paragraph says: "I assisted the said Hedley H. Simpson in his efforts to secure the said appointment and had several interviews with Edward Cochrane, then and now member of the House of Commons of Canada for the Electoral District of the East Riding of the County of Northumberland and a supporter of the Government, in connection with such appointment." Now, is that statement which is contained in the fourth paragraph true?—I did not say that to Mr. Gordon. I do not think that is what I signed.

1759. Is it true?—I did not say that to Mr. Gordon.

1760. That is your signature?—Yes, that is my signature.

1761. Well, is what you have stated there true?—I don't understand, I had several interviews with Mr. Cochrane. I don't recollect this.

1762. Is it true?—Part of it.

1763. You say: "I assisted the said Hedley H. Simpson in his efforts to secure the said appointment and had several interviews with Edward Cochrane." Is that true?—I did say so.

1764. Now, had you several interviews with Mr. Cochrane?—Well, yes; I had three.

1765. Two after the appointment and one to carry the letter?—Yes.

1766. Now, where are the several interviews assisting Hedley Simpson in his efforts to secure the appointment?—(No answer.)

1767. Is this statement in the fourth paragraph true or false: "I assisted the said Hedley H. Simpson in his efforts to secure the said appointment and had several interviews with Edward Cochrane"?—Yes, I had several interviews with Mr. Cochrane.

1768. Then the fourth paragraph is true?—Yes; I suppose it is.

1769. Then Mr. Gordon was right and you were wrong in saying that this paragraph was not the paragraph you signed at all. There is the choice for you; which will you take?—(No answer.)

1770. Now, at the interview with regard to the letter, you told me distinctly that all that passed was the request to deliver the letter and the statement that he wanted to see Hedley Simpson about the lighthouse?—Yes.

1771. You told us two or three times so. Do you still stick to that statement?—I believe I said something more to him; I don't remember.

1772. What we are trying to get at is your recollection of whether that is all he said to you?—No; he said a little more.

1773. What was it?—He said that when I got a bridge I would have to pay something for it.

1774. Any more? You have said that you were asked to deliver the letter and he said that when you got a bridge you would have to pay for it. That is new?—(Witness laughed.)

MR. OSLER—This is nothing to laugh at. It is the difference between what you swear at one time and what you swear at another time?.

MR. BARRON objected to the insinuation.

WITNESS—I swear to the same thing every time.

1775. Now tell me, witness, you have sworn two or three times to the whole of the interview with regard to the delivery of the letter, and you now add to it that when he spoke to you he said something with reference to the bridge?—When I turned round and took the letter he said I would have to pay for the bridge when I got it.

1776. Anything else?—No; I don't remember.

1777. Was this the only interview with regard to this?—I do not know whether it was or not.

1778. You have already sworn two or three times that this was the only interview you had before the appointment was made, is that so?—As near as I can remember.

1779. Was it to the best of your recollection your only interview?—Yes; that is all I can remember.

1780. You had no interview with him before the appointment, I presume from the evidence you have already given—you had no interview with regard to a petition?—Yes—No, I didn't have an interview. My wife's uncle had, and I went with him.

1781. Had you any interview with Mr. Cochrane in which the question of the petition came up?—It seems to me I did; but I would not be positive; there was so much that passed at the time.

1782. What do you say about any interview about the petition?—I do not recollect anything, only what was talked of among the family.

1783. I am speaking of an interview with Mr. Cochrane?—I do not recollect any.

1784. If there had been any such interview you would recollect?—I might.

1785. If you recollected it a fortnight ago you would recollect it now?—I ought to.

1786. I think I may read to you the fifth paragraph of your declaration:

MR. BARRON objected.

MR. OSLER—Then I will take it to him and go through the procedure of identification again.

1787. Is this the document which you signed?—Yes.

1788. Is this your signature?—Yes.

1789. The same signature?—Yes.

1790. Now, I propose to read to you what you signed:

MR. BARRON—That is what you should have done before.

1791. MR. OSLER—That is what I was going to do when you interrupted me (to witness): The fifth clause of this declaration of yours which has been acknowledged by you as bearing your signature reads as follows:—"5. At one of the said interviews the said Edward Cochrane informed me that he (said Cochrane) would not sign the petition hereinbefore referred to, and that if said Hedley H. Simpson sent said petition to Ottawa, he (Cochrane) would not assist him in obtaining the said appointments, but if said Hedley H. Simpson would leave this matter in his (Cochrane's) hands he (Cochrane) would secure said appointment for said Simpson." Is that true?—Will you let me explain.

1792. Say first, is it true? Is that your statement?—No. Will you allow me to explain.

1793. Not now?—I am willing to explain that to you.

1794. Wait one minute. I will treat you perfectly fairly. Tell me this first: Is that your statement that you made to Mr. Gordon?—No; not that I had an interview with Mr. Cochrane about the matter.

1795. You did not understand your making such a statement as that before Mr. Gordon?—I made such a statement, but I did not say that I saw Mr. Cochrane. I told Mr. Gordon that my uncle went with the petition, and that Mr. Cochrane told him that.

1796. Then it is your uncle, and not you?—It was my wife's uncle. When Mr. Gordon asked me if I had any interview with Mr. Cochrane about the—

Mr. BARRON objected.

1797. I read to you the fifth paragraph:

"At one of the said interviews the said Edward Cochrane informed me that he (said Cochrane) would not sign the petition hereinbefore referred to, and that if said Hedley H. Simpson sent said petition to Ottawa, he (Cochrane) would not assist him in obtaining the said appointment, but if said Hedley H. Simpson would leave the matter in his (Cochrane's) hands, he (Cochrane) would secure said appointment for said Simpson." Recollect that this paragraph contains three statements: That you saw Cochrane and he would not sign the petition, and at that interview Cochrane told you that if Simpson sent the petition to Ottawa direct he would not assist him in getting the appointment, and third, if he would leave it in his own hands he would get him the appointment. These are the three distinct statements contained in that paragraph. Are they yours?—No; to a certain extent they are.

1798. Having said that to a certain extent they are your statements, what is your explanation?—He asked me if I ever—

1799. Who asked you?—Mr. Gordon. Understand, Mr. Gordon was asking me questions and I asked him to put them down. He asked about the petition and I told him my wife's uncle, Mr. Simpson, went to him with the petition and he would not sign it; that it would make no difference. I told him it was my wife's uncle who went there.

1800. That is then Mr. Gordon's mistake, and it was your mistake in listening to what Mr. Gordon read?—I did not understand it. I am not very well educated.

1801. That is all your explanation?—Yes, that is it.

1802. I suppose that is also the explanation of the sixth paragraph, which is somewhat the same:

"Said Cochrane further told me to tell Hedley H. Simpson not to forward the said petition, but to leave the matter in his (said Cochrane's) hands." Is that true?—That is the same as—

1803. Is that true?—It is just the same as the other.

1804. Is it true?—It is true, the same as the other.

1805. Is it true in the sense of your wife's uncle?—Yes. What I told him about the petition, as I now say, was that that was my wife's uncle.

1806. Then you still stick to it, that you only had one post office interview with Cochrane before the appointment; that Mr. Cochrane asked you to come in and take the letter?—I do not recollect any other. I may have had. I often talked to Mr. Cochrane when I met him.

1807. Then perhaps this seventh paragraph would be some other relative of your wife:

"Subsequently (the circulation of the said petition having been dropped) said Cochrane told me he (Cochrane) could get $600 from one Noah Snetsinger, of Colborne, if said Snetsinger should receive the said appointment of said lighthouse, but that he (Cochrane) would secure the appointment of said Hedley H. Simpson for a good deal less than $600." Is that true?—Part of it is true, and part of it is not put there right. Mr. Cochrane did tell me that in a third interview.

1808. That was long after the appointment?—I know that.

1808½. You understand that this seventh paragraph is at the time when the appointment is still undetermined—nobody had been appointed to the position?—That is a mistake.

1809. That is what the paragraph says?—It is a mistake.

1810. That the appointment was still to be got?—That is wrong. If I swore that, I swore wrong.

1811. Whose mistake is that—Mr. Gordon's or some of your wife's relatives?—Or my mistake. I did not say that he would give him that.

1812. Who is "he"?—Mr. Snetsinger. He said Mr. Snetsinger would give $600 for the lighthouse and they only got $200. Cochrane said that to me in the store. He did not say he offered him; he said he would give it. But that Hedley only gave $200.

1813. But that he (Cochrane) would secure the appointment of said Hedley H. Simpson for a good deal less than $600?—He did secure it. This was long after, as Mr. Cochrane knows.

1814. So far all the paragraphs seem wrong. That interview about Snetsinger's $600 was the third interview?—Yes.

1815. You are quite sure?—Yes; it was in Mr. Bullock's store.

1816. That would be in the interview in the late fall of 1889?—Yes.

1817. Here is another awful mistake by Mr. Gordon or somebody—the eighth paragraph:

"Subsequently (said Cochrane) sent to the said Hedley H. Simpson by me a letter in which it was stated that said Hedley H. Simpson would be required, in order to secure the said appointment, to give security for the payment of two hundred dollars, which letter I delivered to said Hedley H. Simpson." Did you go and give the letter? You see by the seventh and eighth paragraphs as to the interview about Snetsinger's $600, that you swore to in the seventh paragraph, you placed that in this affidavit at the day prior to the delivery of the letter?—If I did, it is a mistake. It was after that it was talked about.

1818. Then it is not true, this eighth paragraph, subsequent to the interview as to the $600?—It is all true but the date.

1819. The date is everything, man?—I don't keep dates.

1820. I will read the whole paragraph. "Subsequently the said Cochrane sent to the said Hedley H. Simpson, by me, a letter in which it was stated that said Hedley H. Simpson would be required, in order to receive the said appointment, to give security for the payment of $200, which letter I delivered to said Hedley H. Simpson." Is that true?—That is true.

1821. That is all true? It was subsequent to the $600?—Mr. Cochrane told me that the note—

1822. That is something you remember now?—I remember that now.

1823. You have told us, you know, that you did not know what was in the letter?

Mr. BARRON—He said, so far as Mr. Cochrane was concerned, that he did not tell him anything that was in the letter as regards the appointment.

By Mr. Osler :

1824. When was it you had the interview with James Stanley about one of the bridges?—Two years ago this summer.

1825. What month?—I don't remember the month exactly.

1826. About what month?—Somewhere about the middle of the summer.

1827. And who brought the message?—My father brought the message that Mr. Stanley wanted to see me.

1828. And what passed between you and Stanley?—He said that he was going to make an appointment, that gave one to my father and me, and wanted my father to have his share of it.

1829. Was it to you or your father, Mr. Stanley said the appointment would be made?—To me.
1830. What did he say about your father?—He said the old gentleman was too old.
1831. He said the old gentleman was too old, and what else?—He would like to have the money right off, as soon as possible.
1832. How much money?—$150.
1833. What else were you to do?—I was to get the money for him, I suppose.
1834. Any other condition?—From Mr. Stanley? I don't know as there was, except to see to my father—maintain my father.
1835. I think you told me that at the last interview with Mr. Cochrane, he did not mention to whom they had given the bridge?—No. I would not be positive.
1836. What you said before as to that was very clear?—Well, he said Mr. Goodrich was—
1837. Wait a minute, until I tell you what you said before.—He did not say what—
1838. Don't let us get too loose ended at all. Here is what you said: "He told me they had made different arrangements for fifty acres for father, and the Committee appointed some one else, but they did not say whom."—He did not say whom.
1839. This was your only interview?—Yes.
1840. He did not say whom that night?—No.
1841. And you never saw him subsequently?—Well, then—
1842. Wait a minute. You never saw him subsequently?—They told—
1843. I am not asking you about them, but about Mr. Cochrane. I don't want any more wife's uncles, you know. Did he not tell you to whom the appointment was made?—I won't be positive.
1844. But you were positive before, because you made use of the words "they had appointed some one else; he did not say whom"—I could not say. It is quite a while ago—that was in Mr. Stanley's hotel.
1845. Well, now, is that true?—Yes; that is true. I would not be positive I knew who had got it.
1846. How much had he paid?—Who had paid?
1847. Whoever had been appointed.—He said that he could get more for it. He could get $200.
1848. No, no; you said before that he could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150. What did Mr. Cochrane say?—About the bridge?
1849. Yes;—That is what he told me; he could not pay off with four bridges.
1850. Is that all?—He said something about getting more from this man; that is $200.
1851. This is what you swore to before. Then you say: "Subsequently, the said Edward Cochrane" (describing him) "met me in Brighton and said they could not take $150 for the said bridge, and that Stanley should not have agreed to take $150. Said Cochrane further told me that they had made other arrangements about the said bridge with one Wesley Goodrich, who had agreed to pay $200, and give to my father a life lease of his (Goodrich's) farm for his (Goodrich's) appointment as keeper of said bridge. Said Cochrane further said that I could have said bridge for the same amount of $200. I then and there declined the offer."—Yes, he said that.
1852. What you swore to, to Mr. Barron, a little while ago, was that Mr. Cochrane made no further offer that night?—He never asked me any more.
1853. You said he made no further offer?—He did not get any further offer.
1854. And in this declaration you say he told you you might have the bridge for $200 and you then and there declined the offer?—Yes; that is correct.
1855. Well, then, the other is not?—Well, he did not ask me any further—not that I recollect him saying that at all.

By Mr. Barron :

1856. That statement in the declaration is correct?—Yes, that is correct.
Mr OSLER—That is all the questions I have to ask this witness.

By Mr. Barron :

1857. You say Mr. Cochrane sent you with the letter to your relative Hedley?
—Yes.

1858. And Mr. Stanley was present at the time and knew the letter was going to Hedley from Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.

1859. Do you know whether he knew the contents of the letter?—I do not know.

1860. Did he see Mr. Cochrane after he got the letter?—Yes.

1861. Now in the eighth paragraph of the declaration you said “Subsequently said Cochrane sent to the said Hedley H. Simpson by me, a letter in which it was stated that said Hedley H. Simpson would be required, in order to secure the said appointment to give security for the payment of $200, which letter I delivered to the said Hedley H. Simpson.” How did you know the statement that was in the letter?—Well, I took the letter down to Herbert Simpson; he stays at Whitney, and he said that he would have to pay the money.

1862. Were you there when the letter was read?—Yes.

1863. The letter was read by whom?—I think it was read in the first place by Herbert Simpson’s wife. She is the one who read the letter first, I think.

1864. You all were there and heard it read?—Yes.

1865. You say that was what was in the letter?—That is what they told me was in the letter. That was what would be required in order to get the appointment.

1866. You did not read the letter yourself?—No.

1867. The letter was read when you took it there?—Yes.

1868. It was opened there?—The letter was not sealed up.

1869. The envelope was open?—Yes.

1870. In the presence of Hedley Simpson, Herbert Simpson, Herbert Simpson’s wife and yourself?—Yes. It was read by Herbert Simpson’s wife. Mrs. Herbert Simpson does the business—the reading and everything that is done in that way.

By Mr. Mulock :

1871. Then the letter, the envelope not being sealed, was read by Mrs. Herbert Simpson in the presence of yourself?—Yes; and Hedley when he found what was in the letter, asked me, what I thought he should do, and I said that he had better take it. Herbert Simpson said no, not to take it. Afterwards in a day or two, they wanted to know what I thought about it myself.

1872. What did you think about it?

Counsel objected.

1873. The eighth clause of the Declaration said: “Subsequently said Cochrane sent to the said Hedley H. Simpson by me a letter in which it was stated that Hedley H. Simpson would be required in order to secure the said appointment to give security for the payment of $200. That was in the letter?—Yes.

1874. And the letter was sent by Mr. Cochrane. Now I propose to read this Declaration to the witness.

Counsel objected.

The Chairman ruled that only the paragraphs which had been read by Mr. Osler and the explanatory matter leading up to them should be read.

By Mr. Mulock :

1875. Will you hand me the Declaration? I see in another paragraph you say “Subsequently the said Edward Cochrane, then and now a member of the House of Commons as aforesaid, met me in Brighton and said they could not take $150 for the said tender and that Stanley should not have agreed to take $150. Said Cochrane further told me that they had made other arrangements about the said bridge with one Wesley Goodrich, who had agreed to pay $200 and give my father a life lease of his (Goodrich's) farm for his (Goodrich's) appointment as keeper of the said bridge said Cochrane further said that I could have said bridge for the same amount of $200. I then and there declined the offer." Did he tell you that?—Yes. He told me that he had made other arrangements with regard to the bridge.

1876. You say: "They had made other arrangements about the said bridge with one Wesley Goodrich." Did he mention Wesley Goodrich's name to you?—Yes, I think he did. Before that my father told me about Wesley Goodrich.

1877. You had Wesley Goodrich's name in your mind from what your father told you?—Yes.

1878. It may be that you got the name of Wesley Goodrich from what your father told you and not from Mr. Cochrane to pay the $200 "And give my father a life lease of his, (Goodrich's) farm for his (Goodrich's) appointment as keeper of the said bridge?"—Yes.

1879. Is that part of the affidavit correct?—I do not recollect having put it that way at all.

1880. Did someone tell you that you could not have the bridge for less than $200?—I do not recollect.

1881. Were you present when the lease was executed?—No.

1882. Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Cochrane about the lease?—No.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, THURSDAY, SEPT. 3, 1891.

JOHN DOUGALL CLOUSTON, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

1883. Do you occupy any official position on the Murray Canal?—I am a bridge tender.

1884. When were you appointed?—I can scarcely tell you with regard to the appointment.

1885. Do you not know when you were appointed?—I can tell you the date I was notified to take charge of the bridge.

1886. When was that?—A year ago on the 10th day of May last.

1887. The 10th of May, 1890?—Yes.

1888. You then received a notification to take charge of the bridge?—Yes—that is, the Superintendent told me.

1889. Who was the Superintendent?—Thomas P. Keeler.

1890. Where does he live?—At Brighton.

1891. Did he notify you of this verbally?—Yes.

1892. Had you any official communication at all from the Government that you were appointed?—No.

1893. Are you under anybody there—do you occupy your position under anybody?—I am under the Superintendent.

1894. You are under the Superintendent?—I consider myself so, but I do not know.

1895. How much money did you pay when you got this appointment Mr. Clouston?—I think some $70 or $75.

1896. You paid $70 or $75?—I think, I would not be positive.

1897. To whom did you pay that money?—To Mr. W. W. Webb.

1898. Did you tell Mr. Webb that you were instructed to pay any moneys. Mr. Webb has been examined?—Instructed?

1899. Yes?—No, I had no idea I was instructed.
1900. What did you tell Mr. Webb as to the balance?—I told him I would pay the balance as I went along.
1901. You told him you would pay the balance as you could?—Yes, the balance. I took upon myself to pay a certain amount, and I told him I would pay the balance.
1902. How much did you take upon yourself to pay?—I took upon myself to pay $150.
1903. To whom were you to pay that?—To W. W. Webb.
1904. Who told you to pay it to W. W. Webb?—I don't know that anybody told me to pay it particularly to W. W. Webb.
1905. You say nobody told you particularly to pay it to W. W. Webb?—Yes.
1906. How did you come to go to W. W. Webb?—Well, I was aware that he had a note that had to be arranged and settled up.
1907. Who told you that there was a note there that had to be arranged and settled up?—I knew of my own certain knowledge.
1908. How were you aware of it?—Well, I suppose I was something like yourself, I was taking an interest in political matters.
1909. You knew this?—I knew that there was money to be paid by the Conservative Committee—that the money was to be refunded.
1910. You were not liable personally for the note?—I was under no obligation whatever as to the note I was then paying.
1911. Had you any conversation with anybody before giving the money to Mr. Webb—any conversation in which you were told that you were to pay it to him?—I do not know. These matters came up. I am one who has taken an interest in my party's cause. That is why it is.
1912. Well, we all know about that. Had you any conversation with anybody, Mr. Clouston, before paying that money to Mr. Webb—a conversation to the effect that you were to go and pay it to Mr. Webb?—(No answer.)
1913. Had you any conversation with anybody in regard to paying that money to Mr. Webb?—That is the same question over again.
1914. Well, I want you to answer it?—I have answered it already.
1915. Then answer it again? I ask you again, had you any conversation with anybody in regard to paying that money to Mr. Webb before you paid it to him?—The only way I can answer the question is, to say that we had a conversation with regard to conservative matters, and I knew how far the indebtedness went.
1916. You had a conversation?—We had a conversation with regard to that.
1917. With whom had you a conversation?—Why, with different ones. I could not begin to say who all of them were.
1918. Name one of them?—I don't know that I could name any particular one.
1919. You told us you had conversations?—Yes, but I could not mention any particular one in the whole affair. As I said before I was as big a toad in the puddle as there was amongst them.
1920. Do you wish the Committee to understand that nobody sent you to Mr. Webb to pay this money?—Nobody in particular. I was under no compulsion in any shape.
1921. How did you know that you were to pay this money to Mr. Webb?—I knew because I was aware of the indebtedness, and that we were all to contribute in order to liquidate the indebtedness.
1922. Mr. Webb says that you went to him and paid him this money, and that you were instructed to pay up the balance. Now, I want to know by whom you were instructed?—I do not know that I was instructed.
1923. Mr. Webb swears to that? Will you say that you did, or did not, tell Mr. Webb that?—I might have told him I was informed or directed to take up the note. Something like that, from knowing that the others had done the same.
1924. You say then that Mr. Webb is correct. But you say that instead of instructed you were informed or directed?—Yes. I am not aware of the conversation.

1925. If you were directed or informed, tell me who informed you or directed you?—I was informed by the general conversation that took place between one another. If I were to name the parties I would say that every bridge-tender had talked about the matter without exception.

1926. And you had only conversation with them?—With different ones. I might have had a conversation with Mr. Stanley.

1927. What did he tell you?—He told me that the others were doing this.

1928. Doing what?—Paying towards the liquidation of the indebtedness.

1929. When did he tell you that?—I could not say the time.

1930. After you were appointed or before?—Oh, after I was promised that appointment.

1931. When?—I told you before I did not know when I was appointed.

1932. You said it was on the 10th of May, 1889. When the appointment was promised you Mr. Stanley told you to go to Mr. Webb, and in the conversation he told you also that the others were paying?—Yes.

1933. That was after the appointment was promised but before you received it?—Yes, before I was notified to fill it.

1934. After you had received the promise, but before you were appointed or directed to take charge?—Yes.

1935. From whom did you receive the promise?—From Mr. Edward Cochrane.

1936. The promise of the position which you ultimately got?—Yes.

1937. But if you received the promise from Mr. Cochrane, it was Mr. Stanley who directed you to go to Mr. Webb?—I say it was by conversation.

1938. Yes, but you mentioned Mr. Stanley?—Well, I had a conversation with Mr. Stanley at his place.

1939. I want you to be particular and give me the names of some one with whom you had a conversation?—Well, if I cannot, how are you going to do.

1940. But you have given me the name of Stanley?—I cannot say who are the others. I won't undertake to give the names. It was done just in conversation.

1941. Of course, all these things are done in common conversation. Well, now, where was it that Mr. Stanley told you to go to Mr. Webb and pay this money?—I could not even tell you where that was.

1942. You don't recollect where that was?—I could not tell you where it was.

1943. Would it be in his hotel?—He was not keeping hotel at that time. It may have been on the sidewalk. Whoever was keeping hotel at the time—I could not say.

1944. Was anybody present when Mr. Stanley told you that?—Not that I am aware.

1945. You two were together?—There was no one with us or taking an interest or listening to our conversation that I know of.

1946. There was nobody listening?—Not that I am aware of.

1947. Was there anybody present?—There may have been.

1948. Who may have been?—Well, I do not know, Mr. Barron.

1949. You don't know?—No. I don't commit all things to memory. My memory is not as good as a great many anyway.

1950. Did you see Mr. Cochrane in regard to the appointment?—I was talking with him.

1951. You say you had a conversation with him?—Yes, sir.

1952. You had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane, the member of East Northumberland?—Yes, I say I had conversations with Mr. Cochrane.

1953. And what was said at that conversation, or at anyone of the conversations you had with Mr. Cochrane?—I don't know.

1954. You told us you had received the promise of an appointment from Mr. Cochrane, that is correct is it not?—Well, now, I hardly know how to give it. In the first place it is nearly a year ago. I first asked Mr. Cochrane if he was successful in being elected—that was after Mr. Keeler died. Mr. Crouter was here one session, and then, Mr. Cochrane after that defeated Mr. Crouter—going to the nomination; when there was to be nominated candidates, I asked Mr. Cochrane if he was successful I would like him to remember me, in the way of getting me a bridge on the Canal. Mr. Cochrane never made me an answer aye, yes or no, at that time. The conversation that you are trying to get at was years after that. Mr. Cochrane and I drove to Colborne on that day. On our return in the evening he said: "Clouston I suppose you remember saying something with regard to an appointment on one of the bridges on the Murray Canal." I laughed. I says: "Yes, Cochrane, I thought you had forgotten it because you did not mention it since." He says: "I gave you no answer at that time." I says: "I know you did not." "Well, now," says he: "there is a bridge for you on the Murray Canal." That is all the conversation.

1955. That was years after the first conversation, you say?—Years after the first conversation.

1956. Can you locate the time?—I could not. I have been trying to think it over and I cannot.

1957. You can within a year?—The year that Mr. Cochrane said there was a bridge for me you want?

1958. Yes? When was that, it must have been before the 10th May 1890?—More than a year before that I should say.

1959. Had any other persons received their appointments as bridge tenders at that time, when you received the promise from Mr. Cochrane?—I never received the appointment from Mr. Cochrane. When the appointment was made I cannot say. I was merely notified to take charge of the bridge.

1960. But you received the promise of an appointment from Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.

1961. Can you tell me at the time you received the promise of an appointment from Mr. Cochrane, whether other bridge tenders were appointed?—Not that I am aware of?

1962. Were there others who had received the promise of an appointment so far as you are aware?—Not that I am aware of.

1963. Who was present at that conversation?—Nobody.

1964. Nobody but you?—No; I was driving along in the buggy between Mr. Cochrane's residence and Colborne.

1965. How did you come to meet with Mr. Cochrane?—I have told you that.

1966. How did you come to meet him in the first place?—We met, as we often used to. He was going to Colborne and I ask him to give me a lift.

1967. Were you at his place before you started to go to Colborne?—I don't remember whether I started from his place.

1968. Do you live close together?—Not far apart.

1969. You may have gone to his place?—I may have gone to his place, or I may have got in at my own gate.

1970. What was your object in going to Colborne?—It may have been for a plug of tobacco for all I know.

1971. Can you tell me if, when you went to Colborne, whether you had any conversation with Mr. Cochrane, regarding other people being appointed?—No, sir.

1972. None at all?—None that I am aware of.

1973. There was no discussion about others being appointed?—Not that I can draw to my recollection now, not a bit of it.

1974. Was there any conversation about raising party funds at all?—No, sir.

1975. Not at that time?—Not a word.

1976. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane since that time about raising party funds?—I may have had.

1977. How are they to be raised according to your conversation?—I thought I explained that.

1978. I say, according to your conversation with Mr. Cochrane, how were they to be arranged?—I do not remember that we had any conversation particularly, but I say we may have. I do not recollect that we had any particularly.

1979. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Cochrane about raising party funds.—We may have spoken of it. No doubt, we have.

1980. Now, you have no doubt you have had conversations with Mr. Cochrane about raising party funds?—Altogether likely.

1981. If you had conversation in regard to it, how, according to the conversations, were the funds be raised?—I think he may have said that others were talking it over in regard to this old indebtedness—that others were taking a part of it. He may have said that.

1982. What old indebtedness?—This old protest cost, run up there between Mr. James Ferris and William Wade.

1983. And what others?—Other bridge tenders.

1984. Mr. Cochrane told you—

MR. OSLER objected.

1985. When he said to you that others were taking part in this old indebtedness, what others did he refer to?—I said that Cochrane may have said that others were taking part, and I think I said the others were bridge tenders.

1986. How much did he tell you the others were giving?—He may have said that they were giving $150.

1987. Each?—Yes.

1988. Then did he say anything to you about giving $150—because the others were going to give it, you know?—I do not recollect how that was.

1989. Just try and brush up your memory?—You see the way this whole thing came around, as I said before—I had been taking an interest in the movement of getting rid of this old indebtedness. I had even gone out in endeavours to collect.

1990. I know you were anxious. Did he say anything to you about paying the same sum as the other bridge tenders were paying?—He may have.

1991. Don't you think that he did say so?—I do not know that I had better think much about it,

Mr. OSLER objected that the witness was being led.

By Mr. Barron :

1992. You say he may have told you so on the occasion of that drive, that other bridge-tenders were paying $150. Do you believe now that he did tell you so, on your oath?—I believe he may have said so, as I said before.

1993. To the best of your recollection, you say he may have said that other bridge-tenders were giving $150?—Yes.

1994. On the occasion of that drive from his house to Colborne?—I do not say that.

1995. When was it then?—I think it was along in the fall.

1996. What fall?—The fall of the same year. I think it was a year ago last fall.

1997. That was before you paid the money?—I was on the bridge long before I had paid the money.

1998. But the conversation you had with Mr. Cochrane—?—I do not say that I had a conversation. I said I may have had a conversation.

1999. What did you ask Mr. Cochrane?—At what time?

2000. In the fall, at the conversation you referred to?—I did not ask him for anything.

2001. What value did you get for that money and the promise to pay the balance to Mr. Webb?—I do not know that I got any value.

2002. You got the promise of a bridge?—I do not think I got the promise of a bridge from liquidating a part of that old debt.

2003. But you got the bridge on paying the money?—I paid a little money.

2004. Out of your salary as bridge-tender?—Some of it may have come out of my salary.

2005. Would you have paid that money but for getting the bridge?—I think in all probability I would, provided there was necessity for it. I think probably I would.

2006. You think probably. Would you?—Yes I think so.

2007. Then how would you have paid it, seeing that a portion was paid out of your salary as bridge tender?—I say some of it may have been out of the salary, and some from some other source.

2008. How could you have paid it in any event, then, if you had not got the bridge?—I would have had to get it from something else.

2009. You had a conversation with Stanley, you say?—I may have had; I think in all probability I had.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

2010. Are you a member of this committee of the Conservative Association there?—Which committee do you refer to?

2011. This standing committee which they have for the purpose of making recommendations for political purposes generally. Do you know anything about a political committee in that Riding at all?—I believe that there is a committee.

2012. Do you know it, as a matter of fact?—I never dealt with them as a committee. I had no conversation with the committee.

2013. Are you a committee man yourself?—Not in that matter.

2014. In any matter politically?—I have been.

2015. Have you been for the last three years a member of any political committee?—I do not think I have, sir.

2016. You are not connected or associated with them in any way?—No, sir.

2017. Did you know that this debt existed against the committee?—Against the party?

2018. Well, against the party or the committee?—Yes, I was aware of it.

2019. How long ago was that?—When it was first incurred?

2020. Yes.—I was on the original note.

2021. You knew it was existing against the committee—the committee which recommended you for the position of bridge tender?—Yes.

2022. How much did you pay on the note before you got the bridge?—I could not say.

2023. Did you pay anything?—I suppose I did.

2024. Do you swear you paid a farthing?—Yes, sir.

2025. When?—I think on two different occasions I gave a dollar.

2026. On two different occasions you subscribed a dollar on the reduction of this indebtedness?—Yes.

2027. When?—I cannot tell you when.

2028. Two, three, four or five years ago?—Well, the first drive I took on it—

2029. The first dollar drive you took on it?—I did not pay a dollar.

2030. I am talking of the time you paid a dollar?—I am trying to get at the time you want to know. It was the time Mr. Cochrane was elected, and was down here. I went out, and endeavoured to muster what I could towards that affair. It was just after he was elected over Mr. Crouter.

2031. What election was it?—Some of you gentlemen will remember it better than I would. I cannot commit that to my memory.

2032. Did you yourself contribute to the fund at that time?—Yes.

2033. How much?—I gave a dollar at that time.

2034. Was that the first time?—Yes.

2035. When was the next time?—The next time was when the protest was going on at Colborne.

2036. That is the Ferris protest?—Yes, the protest between Ferris and Wade.

2037. That is eight or nine years ago?—Yes. I think the other that I remember, was when I saw Mr. Cochrane.

2038. Have you given anything since 1886 until you gave this generous donation of $150?—I cannot tell when I paid that dollar.

2039. Have you paid anything since you gave that dollar?—I paid towards the indebtedness.

2040. You knew the indebtedness was standing all along?—Yes.

2041. You knew it was not paid until you got the bridge?—It is not paid yet.
2042. So that in eight years you gave two dollars towards paying off the indebtedness, and then you paid $75 to Webb?—Yes.
2043. Have you paid the other $75?—I do not owe him $75 now.
2044. How much do you owe him?—I think he figured it up last evening. I think he said it was $51.
2045. Who figured it up?—Mr. Webb. I think he said $51 was still outstanding.
2046. That is your share which you have still to pay?—I took it upon myself to pay it.
2047. Then you paid the whole of the $150, except $51? That is it; is it not?—That is what he informed me last night.
2048. Who told you first you were to be appointed bridge tender?—I said, Mr. Cochrane said there was a bridge for me.
2049. Mr. Cochrane was the first man that mentioned to you that you were going to be appointed?—Yes.
2050. You had no notice from the committee about it?—No.
2051. You did not speak to any member of the committee about it?—No.
2052. Did Mr. Webb speak to you about it?—No.
2053. Nor you to Mr. Webb?—About the bridge? No, sir.
2054. When you went to Webb did you tell him you were paying him $75 on the bridge?—I told him I had taken upon myself to pay $150 on that $300 note.
2055. The note had then been reduced to $300?—Yes.
2056. You told him you had taken it upon yourself to pay $150 on the $300 note?—Yes.
2057. With whom did you undertake to do that?—I said I undertook it upon myself.
2058. With whom? You said you undertook it. You must have undertaken it with somebody?—I do not know who the other was. I am not personally aware, to my own certain knowledge, who the other was.
2059. You said you went to Webb and told him that you had undertaken to pay $150 on this $300 note? With whom did you undertake it?—(No answer.)
2060. It is quite clear you must have undertaken it with somebody. Who was it? Try and refresh your memory? Did you never undertake with yourself to do something without going to someone else?—If I saw fit to undertake to pay $200 or $300 I could make that undertaking with myself.
2061. Did you undertake with any body? You said to Mr. Webb: "I am going to pay the $150 that I undertook." With whom did you undertake?—Well, I don't know that I can say.
2062. I want to know that. You had no conversation with any body about the bridge, except Mr. Cochrane?—No; he was the only man.
2063. Then, when you said that you had undertaken to pay $150 of the $300, with whom did you undertake?—Well, whoever took the balance.
2064. It is not a question of balance at all?—It may have been Mr. William Brown.
2065. It is not a question of balance. It is a question with whom did you undertake to pay the $150?—I undertook it myself, so far as that goes.
2066. Yes, I know you undertook yourself. But I want to know with whom?—There was no one in connection with the matter.
2067. How did you know the amount of the note itself?—How did I know the amount of the note?
2068. Yes, how did you know the amount due upon the note?—I was aware by conversation with different ones—by talking with different parties.
2069. How did you become aware that there was a balance of $300 outstanding on the amount?—Mr. Webb told me.
2070. But you said "I have come to pay the $150 that I undertook to pay upon the $300." Who told you about the $300?—I cannot tell you any further.

2071. Did Mr. Cochrane tell you?—Perhaps he did. Very likely.
2072. You know whether he did or not?—We have all sorts of conversations on one thing or another. I don't know that we had on this particular affair.
2073. I want to know if Mr. Cochrane told you the amount of the balance due on the note?—He might have done so.
2074. That is not an answer. He might have gone to Jericho, but he didn't. What did he tell you?—Supposing I say I don't know?
2075. Well, do so?—Then, I don't know.
2076. I am sorry I suggested that to you. Will you swear that Mr. Cochrane did not tell you?—I won't swear that he did not, nor will I swear that he did.
2077. Will you tell me any body who told you the amount due on the note?—I had conversations with others.
2078. I know you had conversations with others. Who were the others?—Stanley was one.
2079. Did James Stanley tell you before he went away?—I think, very likely, he did.
2080. I don't want you to think. I want you to be certain. Had you any conversation with Stanley about it at all?—I think I had.
2081. Will you swear you had?—I won't swear either way.
2082. Had you any conversation with Stanley about the amount due upon the note?—It is quite likely.
2083. Had you any conversation with Stanley about the bridge?—I think so.
2084. Your memory is getting a little better. You say it is quite likely you had?—I think so.
2085. Did you know that Stanley was one of this Committee who did the business for East Northumberland?—Not of my personal knowledge, but I understood that he was.
2086. Having paid $2 in eight years for the benefit of the party you agreed to pay $150 at one particular time and shortly afterwards you got the bridge?—I did.
2087. When you paid the $75, did you give any obligation as to the balance?—No. Not a scrap.
2088. You simply told Mr. Webb that you would pay the balance?—I told to Mr. Webb "I am going to pay it up as I can."
2089. Pay the $150?—Yes.
2090. I think you said that Mr. Cochrane told you that the other bridge-tenders were helping to pay the indebtedness?—Yes. I think he said so.
2091. Did he or did he not?—I think probably he did.
2092. And at the conversation he told you that you were going to be appointed a bridge-tender?—Yes.
2093. That took place when he told you that there was a bridge for you?—No. I think it was probably afterwards.
2094. Was it in the fall when you were driving back to Colborne that he told you that there was a bridge. Was that the time he told you that he had a bridge?—What time?
2095. The time you were driving from Colborne?—Yes.
2096. Can you charge your memory to tell what took place on the subsequent conversation with you?—Oh, we talked about a good many things.
2097. You talked about bridges particularly?—No, not particularly at all.
2098. Did you not talk about bridges?—I think I got a statement with regard to further bridges.
2099. I think I understood you to say that Mr. Cochrane was the only man you had a conversation with until you went to pay the money?—Well, "until" I think I said that.
2100. This is what you told me, that Mr. Cochrane was the only man you had a conversation with about the bridge until you went to pay the money?—He was not there when I went.
2101. He was the only man you saw until you went?—Yes, that I can remember.

2102. You say that you were informed or directed to pay the money to Mr. Webb. Mr. Webb says that you were instructed. You say you were informed or directed to pay the money to Mr. Webb?—It was a voluntary affair.

2103. But you said you were informed or directed?—I suppose that is correct.

2104. You suppose that is correct?—Yes.

2105. Then Mr. Webb is inaccurate in saying that you were instructed?
Counsel objected.

2106. Then you were directed, or informed, to pay the money to Mr. Webb?—I could not exactly say I was told, because it was more of a voluntary movement of my own.

2107. How did you come to pay it unless somebody told you to do it?—I don't know that any body told me to do it.

2108. How did you arrive at the identical sum the other bridge tenders were paid?—I could not tell you. We had conversation one with another, between ourselves.

By Mr. Mulock :

2109. You learned that was the tariff?—In a kind of a way.

By Mr. Barron :

2110. Who did you learn that from?—From a conversation between ourselves; I could not tell you any one in particular.

2111. Then you must have had conversations with other than Mr. Cochrane, before you paid?—I dare say I did.

By Mr. German :

2112. You were on the original note for $1,000?—Yes.

2113. Do you know how that note was retired?—I do not.

2114. You do not know?—Not to my knowledge.

2115. It was done without any knowledge of yours?—Not to my personal knowledge; I don't know how it was paid.

2116. You did not go on any new notes to retire the $1,000 note?—No.

2117. At the time you were discussing this $150, and these bridges, did you know whether or not there was any other note except the one held to be paid?—Well, from conversation I understood there was other notes.

2118. Other notes?—One or two.

2119. Did you know who held them?—I don't know that I could arrive at that. I imagined that one was in the bank at Colborne; that was what I understood.

2120. From whom, do you know?—Well, I did not want to have anything to say about it.

2121. Who told you that there were other notes than the one Webb held?—I don't know that I could name any particular one.

2122. Was that discussed between you?—From conversation as I dare say you would do yourself.

2123. Was that discussed between you and Mr. Cochrane at this fall meeting?—No, sir, not that I remember; I don't remember about it.

2124. Was there any discussion as to the full amount then due on the old indebtedness?—No, sir.

2125. It was just in regard to the note held by Webb?—As I said before, we may have talked upon what was remaining still due on Webb's notes.

2126. Not about the Colborne note?—I don't think we had any conversation about that at all.

By Mr. Mulock :

2127. Why did you not pay more money on this party indebtedness, prior to your paying this money to Mr. Webb?—I was not born with a silver spoon in my mouth to begin with, I had to go according to my means.

2128. Why did you not pay more money on the note that Mr. Webb had, prior to your having to pay this $75, and undertaking to pay another $75?—What was the question? You have got me all muddled, I am almost nervous.

2129. I should think you would not mind the muddled part of it?—You have got me mixed.

2130. I was just asking you for curiosity, how it was you did not make any substantial payment on this note before you made the payment in 1890?—No substantial payment?

2131. You told Mr. Cameron you only gave $2 in eight years, and in 1890 you paid $50 and $25, and in 1891 something more. Now, I want to know why you did not make payments prior to making this bridge payment?—I did not do it, that is all I can say. I don't know hardly how to answer.

2132. Only that you did not do it?—I did not happen to do it.

2133. But you had been around trying to make others pay before this?—I never tried to make no man pay. If you had been a Tory I would have been after you in that way.

2134. Does a Tory collector forget to call himself?—He can turn himself inside out if he wishes to.

2135. Why did you not yourself contribute to the party until you got the bridge?—I went according to my means.

2136. Then you had no money to contribute until you got the promise of the bridge?—I don't know; I could not say.

2137. Was that the reason?—About.

2138. Well, was it or was it not the reason?—About, I tell you, sir.

2139. About the best reason you can give any way. You think it is the reason?—I think it is about as good as I can get up anyway.

2140. Mr. Stanley told us that a convention, two or three years ago had arranged for the appointment of a committee to appoint people to these bridge offices on the canal, and that the leading men were appointed to that committee—the leading men in the party?—I did not happen to be one.

2141. You did not get on that committee?—I did not happen.

2142. Did you ever know about that committee being appointed?—I told you, sir, I think I heard about it; but of my personal knowledge I cannot say who was on the committee.

2143. They did not consult you about the appointment of that committee?—No, they did wrong that time.

2144. And you only know from hearsay about this committee?—That is all, sir.

2145. They did not consult you about the appointments, and you would not recognize that committee. I suppose Mr. Cochrane was responsible in connection with that appointment, was he not? This came straight from Mr. Cochrane to you, did it not?—Which, this appointment?

2146. This appointment?—No, sir, I don't think it did. I don't know when the appointment was made, and I never had any written appointment in my life. That is what I wondered about you, gentlemen, whether that is your way of doing business. I did not look upon it as an appointment at all.

2147. Did the committee have anything to do with your getting the appointment?—Not that I am aware of.

2148. Do you know a man named William Brown, who is a bridge-keeper?—Yes.

2149. You know him pretty well, don't you?—Yes.

2150. How long have you known him?—I have known him since the 10th of May last, when I first began work.

2151. You know how much he was paid?—I don't know anything about what any other person done, more than what I done myself.

2152. Did you ever hear that Brown was going to make a payment on a note for the party indebtedness?—I think probably I did.

2153. Did you hear what amount he was going to pay?—I do not know as to that.

2154. Do you know how much he did pay?—I do not know that he paid any.

2155. Did you ever hear that he agreed to pay $150?—I think some of my neighbours told me he was doing that, or had done it.

2156. Do you remember Mr. Cochrane telling you he had paid it?—No, sir.

2157. Your memory brightens up when it touches your pocket. Do you remember Mr. Stanley telling you?—I think probably he did. I think Mr. Webb once spoke to me about it.

2158. Which Mr. Webb?—W. W. Webb.

By Mr. Osler :

2159. How long have you been working for the Conservative party in that neighbourhood?—I cannot say.

2160. You have always worked that way?—Yes.

2161. Have you been a hard worker?—I did what I could.

2162. You are the party who paid $39 on this note in 1886. I see an instalment on this note:—"Received from John Clouston, $39." You are the John Clouston mentioned there. Do you remember paying that $39?—I paid the money to Mr. Webb himself, but I took no memorandum.

2163. You would be the John Clouston?—Yes.

2164. That would be the occasion of your going around to collect what you could for the purpose of reducing the debt?—Yes.

2165. You went around more than once to collect?—Only once to apply on this note? That I cannot remember.

2166. But you have gone around to collect for party purposes on other occasions?—At the time the protests were going on I was out once or twice.

2167. There is a good deal of politics done in East Northumberland?—They are pretty warm over it.

2168. You have an election trial about once a year down there. You had special trouble about the local elections—a good many local elections and election trials?—Yes, sir.

2169. You took your office on the 10th May, 1890?—I was requested to take charge of the bridge on that date.

2170. That would be the opening of navigation?—I think the Government assumed the work a little before navigation.

2171. The Government was assuming the canal and you took charge of the bridge assigned to you in time for the opening of navigation?—They had been navigating before that.

2172. How long before the 10th May, 1890, had you been told by Mr. Cochrane that there was a bridge for you?—I think this was in May, and it must have been as far back as July or August of the year previous.

2173. Ten months before, in the year 1889?—It was just after my daughter was buried.

2174. It would be some time in the year before?—Yes.

2175. Was there any condition or stipulation attached to the statement that there was a bridge for you? Did he say what you had to do?—Not a word.

2176. Did he put a condition to it?—Not one word.

2177. Did any one ask you to pay this $150, or was it voluntary on your part?—It was a voluntary offer among ourselves, knowing that the party was involved in the way they were.

2178. Was there with anybody a condition that you should pay the $150 if you got the bridge?—Not that I can bring to my memory.

2179. You say that Mr. Cochrane told you that you could have the bridge without conditions, and considering the way the party were involved you concluded voluntarily to pay the $150?—That was the way I undertook it, as far as I was concerned.

By Mr. Mulock :

2180. What did you undertake to pay ?—When first I went on pay.

2181. You made the first payment on the 7th June, 1890?—That is the first payment I made.

2182. When did you undertake to pay it?—I cannot say when. It was when I made up my mind to do so.

2183. It was when you knew you were going to get an office to enable you to pay it?—Very likely.

2184. That was a year ago last May?—That was the time I went on.

2185. And it was agreed before you knew you were going to get the office?—Yes.

2186. When you and Mr. Cochrane were coming home from Colborne, he told you could have it?—Yes.

2187. Knowing you were going to get the office, you then determined to undertake to pay $150, but of course you could not pay it until you got the office. You had to wait until you got the salary to make the payment?—Very likely.

2188. Was that so or not?—I think probably it was.

2189. The money you paid was your salary?—A portion of it was. Perhaps some of it was not.

2190. I understood you to say you would not have been able to make the payments without the aid of the office?—Very likely not.

2191. Is it so without any probability? Could you have made the payment without the salary of the office?—You want me to expose my poverty; that is what it seems to me.

2192. The matter of fact is, did you not make any payment until you got your salary?—No.

By Mr. Osler :

2193. What had been your occupation?—Farmer.

2194. Did you farm?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

2195. You paid $39 on that note?—When this gentleman read it, I could not recall to my mind about it.

2196. Can you recollect it now?—I am not going to swear to it.

2197. That was the time you collected different moneys by subscription from different parties?—Yes.

2198. You went round and got subscriptions?—Yes.

2199. None of that was your own money?—I think I told you some time ago about it.

2200. All you gave was $2?—I do not think I told you that.

2201. You said $1 at one time, and $1 at another?—I think $1 went into this.

2202. You think one dollar of that $39 was your own?—Yes.

C. D. VANALSTINE called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

2203. You live in the East Riding of the County of Northumberland?—Yes.

2204. What is your occupation now?—I am working on the section.

2205. What section?—The tow path of the Murray Canal.

2206. Were you an applicant for the position of bridge keeper or tender?—I never made none.

2207. You never made any application?—No.

2208. Did you pay $150, to anybody?—I did.

2209. To whom?—I deposited it with James Stanley to help wipe off the debt of a protest.

2210. That was the object?—That was the object with me.

2211. Did it go to that object?—No, sir.

2212. Why not?—I cannot tell you that.

2213. Was it returned to you?—Yes, sir.

2214. So that after you paid the $150, with the object of wiping off the cost of the protest the money was returned to you?—Yes.

2215. By whom was it returned?—James Stanley.

2216. Why was it returned to you?—I cannot tell you, sir.

2217. You cannot say?—No, sir.

2218. At that time were you not trying to get an office as bridge keeper on the Murray Canal?—No, sir, I was not trying at all. I was promised this years before this Murray Canal was done.

2219. By whom were you promised the position?—By Mr. Cochrane.

2220. Mr. Edward Cochrane, the member for the East Riding of Northumberland?—Yes, sir.

2221. You were promised the position of what?—He asked me if I would like a bridge. I says to him—He did not put it in that way—He says: Would you like to have a Government berth? I said yes, if I can fulfil it. He mentioned the Murray Canal, I said that had been a hobby horse and people had carried it all through the riding, and that I did not believe it would be built. He said it would surely go on,—just as sure as he was standing there. He said: “The contract is made out, and all they have to do is to sign it.” This was in August, and the first sod was turned in September following. I never passed a word with Mr. Cochrane from that day to this. I supposed from what he said that I would get a bridge if there were any appointments made.

2222. Mr. Cochrane promised you a bridge?—He asked me how I would like to have a bridge.

2223. What did he say?—He said he thought he could get me a bridge if he was in power.

2224. Then you expected it?—Yes.

2225. When was it that that conversation took place?—It was the year the canal was commenced. It was some time in August—the month before the first sod was turned.

By the Chairman :

2226. When was the canal commenced?—Nine years ago.

By Mr. Barron :

2227. It was the month before the first sod was turned?—Yes.

2228. You paid $150 to Mr. Stanley?—I did.

2229. Where did you pay that money?—In Brighton.

2230. Where in Brighton—in his hotel?—Yes.

2231. Who were present when you paid it?—I do not think there was anybody present.

2232. How did you come to go there to pay it?—This was the understanding—that we were to help wipe this debt off. I paid him $50—I only had $50 with me; but when I saw there were all willing to pay more, I thought I would not be behind, and I would pay as much as anybody else to help wipe off the debt of the Conservative party, and I paid this other $100.

2233. It was the understanding that you were all to pay?—I do not know it was an understanding with all. It was an understanding with me, however, to help pay off the debt.

2233½. If there was an understanding it must have been between you and some other persons?—No other person. No others ever said what they would pay or what I would pay.

2234. You had no conversation with anybody before you went to Brighton to pay the money?—I had.

2235. With whom?—With Stanley.
2236. Did he send for you or did you go to him?—He sent for me. The gentleman who came down said Mr. Stanley wanted me to come up.
2237. Who told you to come up?—Bob Orr, I think they call him. He did not tell me himself; it was one of the men on the canal who told me that Mr. Stanley wanted me to go up.
2238. You do not remember that man's name?—No.
2239. In pursuance of that request you went to see Mr. Stanley?—Yes; I went up to see what he wanted.
2240. You did not know what he wanted when you went there?—No.
2241. What did he inform you when you saw him?—He asked me if I was willing to help wipe the debt off. I told him I was.
2242. Did he say how much you were to give?—No.
2243. How did you arrive at the sum of $150?—Afterwards.
2244. When afterwards?—A few days afterwards. I could not say exactly how long.
2245. With whom did you arrive at that sum? Whom did you talk to about the sum of $150?—This man Stanley.
2246. Did he tell you that that was the amount of money each had to pay?—I am not certain about it.
2247. What did he tell you?—He asked me if I was willing to give $150 to wipe the debt off, and I told him yes.
2248. The amount was fixed by him?—I could not say. He mentioned it.
2249. Did you then and there give him the money?—I told you before, I gave him $50 at that time, all I had.
2250. When did you pay the balance to him?—Some three or four days after; I did not note it down.
2251. You paid $100 three or four days after that?—Yes; after that.
2252. And this, you say, was to go to pay off the party liability?—I understood it was to pay it off.
2253. You gave it solely with that end in view?—With the object of wiping off the protest indebtedness.
2254. With no other object?—With no other object.
2255. If that was your sole object, why did you let it go?—Other parties wanted the bridge, and they handed me my money back. I would be a fool if I had not taken it.
2256. You did not get the position?—No.
2257. And that is the reason why the money came back to you?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

2258. Can you fix the date when you paid this $150?—I cannot.
2259. Can you say the year?—I think it must have been about two years ago. I would not say for certain.
2260. Do you remember what bridge you were to get?—No.
2261. You cannot tell what particular bridge?—No.
2262. This was about two years ago?—I think it was.
2263. How long was the amount deposited before you got it back?—I really could not answer that question; it was only a short time.
2264. A few months or a few weeks?—I think it was not months; it was over a few weeks.
2265. Who gave it back to you?—Mr. Stanley.
2266. What explanation did Mr. Stanley give you?—He said there were other parties who wanted the bridge, and that it would be better if they got it. Most likely they would have done better than I could do, to get the bridge.
2267. Did the Committee pass on your application?—No.
2268. Were you called before the Committee?—No; I was not.

2269. Did you know that there was a Committee?—I heard that there was a Committee. Mr. Stanley told us about a Committee that passed on applications.

2270. What was the amount that each bridge keeper paid?—I cannot tell you that; I cannot answer that question.

By Mr. Osler :

2271. Have you been a contributor to the party funds before?—Yes, sir; I have paid into them all my life since I was 21 years old.

2272-3. Have you taken a strong interest in politics?—I have.

2274. On the Conservative side?—Yes.

2275. You have always been a worker?—Yes.

2276. And contributed according to your means?—Yes.

2277. Had you any conversation with reference to this, except what took place this nine years ago?—No; I never saw Mr. Cochrane and never asked him for anything. He never asked me a dollar for the bridge or anything else. As I have told you before, on that occasion he asked me these words: "How would you like to get a position under the Government?" I said: "Very well, if I could get it." Then he repeated just what I said before about getting the position as bridge-tender.

2278. And that is at least nine years ago?—Yes; nine years ago.

By Mr. Barron :

2279. You said you contributed to the funds before this?—Yes.

2280. How much?—I gave $5—that is the last contribution.

2281. To whom did you give it?—It was to Stanley, at Trenton—at the time of the races, after dinner.

2282. Towards the election funds, was it?—No; towards wiping this debt off.

2283. Did you ever get that $5 back again?—No; I daresay he put it in his pocket.

2284. How much did you subscribe to the association?—I cannot tell.

2285. Give us an idea how much?—I never kept a diary.

2286. How much did you give?—I am not able to answer that question.

2287. Would it be $50 altogether?—I cannot say.

2288. Would it be $100?—I cannot say.

2289. Would it be more than $10?—I cannot say.

2290. Will you answer the question?—No. I won't swear to 5 cents nor to a dollar.

2291. You swear that you remember the $5 transaction?—Yes.

2292. But you won't swear that you remember any other transaction?—No.

2293. Will you swear that there was any other transaction—any other occasion that you gave funds for party purposes?—No; not on this protest. I cannot tell you what I have done thirty years ago.

2294. Thirty years ago you might have subscribed?—I believe so.

2295. That is the only recollection you have besides the $150 or the $5 transaction?—Yes.

2296. You did not get that back?—No.

By Mr. German :

2297. Were you at the Convention where this Committee was appointed?—No.

2298. Did you ever hear of this Committee being appointed at the Convention?—I did not.

2299. Was there any understanding between you and Stanley that if you did not get the bridge you would get the money back?—I don't know. I would not swear positively that there was or that there was not.

2300. You could not afford to pay $150 out of your pocket without getting something for it?—No.

2301. You expected to get a return for it?—I thought if I could get the bridge I would be willing to give $150.

2302. That is all right enough. I suppose the understanding was that if you did not get the bridge, you would get the money back?—I think so.

By Mr. Mulock :

2303. No bridge, no money? Is that it?—No answer.

By Mr. German :

2304. It was generally understood amongst those who were candidates for the bridges that they would have to pay towards the election funds if they got a bridge?—I do not know the understanding with any other party. This was the understanding with me.

2305. But your understanding was that all those who were applying for bridges were to give $150?—That is what I heard.

2306. You had to put up the money with the others?—No; there was nothing of that kind.

2307. You have told us that you gave $150. You did not want to be behind the others?—I gave $150.

2308. And you did not want to be behind the others. You thought that if you were behind the others you would get no bridge?—I suppose I gave what I was to give. As I said before, I gave $150.

By Mr. Mulock :

2309. Did you hear about the price going up afterwards?—I think they raised it from $150 to $200.

2310. You did not hear that they could not pay the $900 with four bridges at that price?—I did not.

2311. You would not have thought it fair if they had kept your $150 without giving the bridge?—It would have hurt me a little. But I would not have squealed.

2312. You think Mr. Stanley would not have been doing a fair thing to you?—I never knew of the Conservative party doing anything wrong.

2313. Oh, you didn't. Where have you been living for the last three months?—That has carried me through life.

2314. Would you have thought it fair if Stanley had kept the money without your getting the bridge?—Well, as I said before, I would not have squealed.

2315. No; you would not have squealed, but would you have thought it was a fair thing if they had not given you the money back when you did not get the bridge?—I do not know.

2316. You did not think you were doing the party any injustice when you took the $150 back?—No.

2317. Did you consider that you were doing the right thing in taking your money back?—Yes, I did. Certainly, I would not have given it if I had thought that it would injure myself. If there had not been enough I would have given my share.

2318. But you could not conveniently give this amount?—No.

2319. It was a matter of no bridge, no money, with you.—No, no.

2320. It was not defined that you should pay $150 unless you got the bridge?—Well, no.

2321. Therefore you gave the money and you got the bridge?—(No answer.)

WILLIAM MASON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

2322. You are a farmer living at Presqu'Isle Point?—Yes, sir.

2323. Did you apply for a position as bridge-keeper on the Murray Canal?—Well, I don't know as I have, but I kind of talked it over.

2324. Do you know Mr. Bronson who lives at Newcomb Mills?—No, sir.
 2325. Nobody of that name?—No, sir.
 2326. Did you, or did you not, apply for the position of bridge tender?—No, sir, I don't know that I did.
 2327. But you had a conversation?—Yes.
 2328. With whom?—With Mr. Stanley.
 2329. Who else—With Mr. Cochrane?
 2330. Who is Mr. Cochrane?—Edward Cochrane, Member of Parliament.
 2331. What was the nature of your conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—I asked him if I could have a bridge and he told me no, that I could not.
 2332. That you could not have a bridge?—Yes, sir.
 2333. Is that all he said to you?—Well, not exactly all.
 2334. What else did he say to you?—He said the bridges were calculated for poor men, and he thought I could live without it.
 2335. Is that all he said?—That is all he said.
 2336. You are quite sure of that?—I am quite sure of that.
 2337. Did he say anything about it being necessary to pay anything to clear off old debts, in conversation with you?—No, sir.
 2338. Nothing whatever?—Nothing whatever.
 2339. Did you ever tell Mr. Bronson that he had?—No, sir.
 2340. You don't know him?—No, sir.
 2341. You never walked with him?—No, sir, not to my knowledge.
 2342. You never told Mr. Bronson, that Mr. Cochrane had said to you that it was necessary to pay $150 to clear off old debts?—No, sir, not that Mr. Cochrane told me so.
 2343. Did Mr. Cochrane tell you so?—No, sir, he never did.
 2344. Did you pay $150?—No, I did not.
 2345. To anybody?—No; to nobody.
 2346. Did you give any money to any person in connection with the bridge?—No, sir.
 2347. Do you know Mr. David C. Bullock?—Yes, sir.
 2348. Did you pay him any money?—No, sir.
 2349. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.
 2350. Did you give any money to him in connection with the paying off of the liabilities of the Conservative party?—No, sir.
 2351. Nor to any person at all?—No; to no person.
 2352. Nor to Mr. Stanley?—No, sir.
 2353. Nor to Mr. Thomas Webb?—No, sir.
 2354. Nor to Mr. David C. Bullock?—No, sir; nor to anybody else.
 2355. You had a conversation with Mr. Stanley, in addition to that conversation you had with Mr. Cochrane?—Yes, sir.
 2356. What was your conversation with Mr. Stanley?—We talked about the business on the canal.
 2357. What was the conversation in regard to it?—The conversation was that I would like to get one if I could.
 2358. Did he tell you anything further?—Yes, sir.
 2359. What further did he tell you?—He said if I got one I would have to pay $150.
 2360. What did you tell him?—I told him it was all right.
 2361. Was that all he said?—About all. I told him it was all right, if I had to pay $150 I would pay it.
 2362. Then you were willing to pay $150 to get the bridge?—Why, decidedly, yes.
 2363. You did not refuse it?—No.
 2364. Were you sent for then to pay the money?—No, sir.
 2365. Where was that conversation?—At Stanley's hotel.

2366. Who was present?—No person that I know of except Mr. Stanley and myself.

2367. Can you remember when that was?—I cannot remember; about the time the bridges were being let.

2368. Then you had heard they were going at $150 a piece?—Oh, yes.

2369. That was a common rumor I suppose?—Yes.

2370. Everybody knew it?—Yes.

2371. That the bridge tenders had to pay $150 a piece——

Mr. OSLER—Don't lead him please.

2372. Did you then continue your application for one?—No, when I found out I could not get one I dropped the application.

2373. What was this $150 to do?—To settle up some debt that was hanging over the party.

2374. Who told you that?—Mr. Stanley.

2375. To liquidate some debt that was hanging over the party?—Yes.

2376. And you were willing to liquidate the debt I suppose, by the payment of $150?—Yes.

2377. Only if you got a bridge?—If I got a bridge I was.

2378. Not otherwise?—Not otherwise.

By Mr. Mulock :

2379. Did you not hear about the price of the bridges going up?—Oh nothing particular; nothing concerning me.

2380. At the time you were speaking of, the price was $150 a bridge?—Yes.

2381. Afterwards the price went up a little?—I did hear some say they were up to $200.

2382. Do you know when they raised?—No, I do not.

2383. Afterwards they had to go a little better than $200. In one case we are told a man had to throw in a lot of land?—I don't know anything about that.

2384. But at the time you were negotiating, the quotation was $150?—Yes.

2385. It was not at that time they told you they could not pay off $900 with four bridges at $150?—I never heard it.

2386. It must have been after they raised the price?—I never heard anything about the raising of the price.

2387. You did not pay your money?—No.

2388. You hung on to it?—I did not hang on to it.

2389. But you did not part with it?—No.

2390. You did not get the bridge?—No.

2391. You believed in "No bridge, no money?"—I did not pay it.

2392. Because you did not get the bridge?—Decidedly.

2393. In what capacity was Mr. Stanley talking to you about that bridge? When we are speaking about the bridge, we mean getting the position under the Government?—Exactly.

2394. How did Mr. Stanley come to speak to you about it at all? He seems to have spoken to you as a man in authority?—I do not know anything more than he took on himself about settling up this debt that was against the Conservative party.

2395. You knew about the debt?—Yes; decidedly.

2396. There was a committee?—Yes.

2397. Did you know who was on that committee?—Mr. Stanley was one.

2398. He was a prominent member of that committee?—It appears so, and that he was bound to pay off this debt.

2399. Did he seem to have something to say about who was to get the bridges?—I think not.

DAVID C. BULLOCK, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

2400. Where do you live?—Brighton, Ont.

2401. An intimate personal friend of Mr. Cochrane?—A personal friend of Mr. Cochrane.

2402. Do you know of the existence of this committee that has been spoken of? There was a committee formed. Mr. Stanley belonged to that committee. Do you know anything about it?—I do.

2403. Were you a member of the committee?—I was.

2404. Who else were members of that committee?—Mr. Stanley, May, Adam Young, Phil. Lawson and myself. This is as far as I can recollect.

2405. Are these the names: May, Adam Young, Stanley, Lawson and yourself?—Yes.

2406. What were the duties of that committee?—The duties of the committee was to see if we could not appoint somebody on the canal for the bridges there.

2407. How much were each of them to give?—We exacted $150 from every one of them. That is what we wanted.

2408. What were these people to get for the $150 they were to pay?—I cannot swear to that.

2409. What was the $150 to be given for?—It was to be given for our influence.

2410. Were you to put this $150 in your pocket?—No.

2411. Who was to give $150?—Everybody who got the appointment.

2412. And those who did not get the appointment were not to pay it?—Certainly not.

2413. Was any paid, do you know, by persons who did not get the appointment? Mr. Vanalstine paid some money, didn't he?—He did not pay it to me.

2414. But he paid it to somebody?—I do not know anything about that.

2415. Did Mr. William Mason pay any money to you?—He never gave me any money.

2416. Did he give you a note or anything?—No, sir; he did not.

2417. No valuable security of any kind?—No valuable security of any kind.

2418. You knew he was an applicant for the position?—I could not swear to that. He never asked me for the position. I am under oath now, and I cannot swear positively. He may have been an applicant. He never made any application to me.

2419. You, as one of the committee, knew he was an applicant for the position?—Yes, he would like to have a position. You must ask me definitely.

2420. It was the rule that those who were applicants should pay $150?—I think it was.

2421. How did you come to arrive at the amount of $150?—I cannot tell you.

2422. Was it, or was it not, in pursuance of that arrangement that Mr. Mason, being an applicant, should pay $150?—Not that I know of. He did not pay me any money.

2423. Do you know whether he paid anybody any money?—I do not know that he paid anybody a cent.

2424. Or gave any valuable security?—I do not know that he did.

2425. Or promised to pay any money?—Or promised any, as far as my knowledge is concerned.

2426. You live in Brighton?—Yes.

2427. Did you see Mr. Cochrane last Friday or Saturday in Brighton?—I think I saw him on Monday.

2428. In Brighton?—Yes, I think I did.

2429. Did you discuss the matter of these proceedings with Mr. Cochrane?—None whatever.

2430. You had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane in Brighton?—What kind of a conversation?

2431. You met him last Monday in Brighton ?—I may have met him. I think I did.

2432. In Brighton ?—Yes.

2433. Did he tell you you were subpoenaed as a witness here ?—He did not.

2434. How did you know it ?—How did I know what ?

2435. How did you know you would have to come here ?—I had got my subpoena.

2436. You had no conversation with Mr. Cochrane ?—None whatever.

2437. Had you any conversation at any time with Mr. Cochrane in relation to the work of the Committee we have been speaking of ?—I cannot swear to that.

2438. Will you swear you never had—I mean at Brighton ?—I could not swear to that.

2439. Did Mr. Cochrane know of its existence ?—I could not swear to that.

2440. You do not know ?—I could not swear to that.

2441. Do you know whether or not the work of the Committee was communicated to Mr. Cochrane at any time ?—I could not swear to that.

2442. Did you take an active part in the committee yourself ?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

2443. When was this Committee appointed ?—I could not tell you.

2444. Were you at the convention at which it was appointed ?—I think all the convention there was, was in my store.

2445. It was a self appointed Committee ?—As far as I know it was.

2446. You just got together knowing that these bridges were to be let, and that this would be a good way to raise the money you wanted ?—Certainly we did.

2447. You were not appointed a committee by the Conservative Convention of the riding ?—No.

2448. Mr. Cochrane, I suppose, often drops into your store ?—Why certainly ; he comes in. He trades with me.

2449. He knew that you, friends of his, had formed yourselves into a committee to regulate the granting of these bridges ?—I could not swear to that. I could not swear that he knew of this thing.

2450. You are convinced that he knew what was going on ?—Yes, I was pretty well convinced, but I cannot swear to it.

2451. But you are convinced he knew, you men had formed yourselves into a committee to regulate the granting of these bridges ?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

2452. Do you know Hedley Simpson ?—Yes.

2453. He got the position of keeper of the Presqu'Isle light-house ?—Yes.

2454. Do you know what he gave for that ?—I do not.

2455. You do not know what the tariff was for the lighthouse ?—No.

2456. Was it a different tariff for lighthouses than for bridges ?—I could not swear to that.

2457. He told us he gave $200 in two notes of $100 each and that he brought them to Mr. Stanley, that Mr. Stanley cashed them and the money was given to Joseph Cochrane, and that Joseph Cochrane put it into the bank towards paying this party debt. Do you happen to know about that ?—I do not know anything about that.

2458. Were you at the Committee meeting when Heldey's application came up ?—I was not that I know of.

2459. What applications do you remember coming up before the Committee ?—I cannot remember.

2460. Who had the bridges now ? Let us get at the names. First of all tell me how many bridges there are ?—Four.

2461. Who are in office there ?—Mr. William Brown, Mr. Clouston, Mr. Fitzgerald ; I do not know who has got the railroad bridge there.

Mr. MULOCK.—Do you know, Mr. Cochrane ?

Mr. COCHRANE.—I think it is a man named McCrudden.

Mr. CORBY.—It is James McCrudden.

WITNESS.—I think Goodrich got a bridge too. There may have been two men appointed on a bridge.

2462. Are there two men to each bridge?—I think so.

2463. Then we want two more? Is there a man named May on one of the bridges?—I think May is there.

2464. Is there a man named William Johnston?—Yes.

2465. He has got a bridge?—Yes.

2466. That makes six, and still leaves the railroad bridge which we do not know anything about. What did William Brown pay for his appointment?—I cannot swear to that.

2467. Do you remember his case coming before the Committee?—Which Committee?

2468. Your patronage Committee?—Yes, he was spoken of.

2469. What was the decision of the Committee about William Brown?—I cannot tell you.

2470. You did not keep a minute of it?—I kept no minute at all.

2471. Do you remember Goodrich's case coming before the Committee?—I do not.

2472. Do you remember any names that came before the Committee?—Yes.

2473. Whom do you remember?—I remember Brown's name was mentioned to me, and Vanalstein's name was mentioned.

2474. Vanalstein did not get his bridge?—What other names do you remember?—I cannot swear to any other.

2475. Do you remember Fitzgerald's name coming up?—No.

2476. What did you do when you decided in favor of a man. What steps did you take to get him the appointment?—I do not know that I gave any decision myself.

2477. Well whatever the committee decided, or what the decision of the committee was?—I could not tell you that.

2478. Do you know what steps had to be taken for a man to get the office? He had to get the recommendation of the committee, had he not, and the recommendation of Mr. Cochrane and the appointment from the Government?—I cannot swear to that.

2479. Do you remember when they raised the price from $150 above that?—No.

2480. You do not remember?—No.

2481. $150 was the lowest; was it not?—I could not tell you.

2482. Do you remember them going lower than $150?—No.

2483. That was the lowest they ever went?—That is the lowest.

2484. Do you know what Goodrich had to pay?—I could not tell you anything what Goodrich paid.

2485. You do not remember when they raised the price to $200?—No, I do not know anything about that.

2486. Do you remember Vanalstine making a deposit with you?—No. He did not make any deposit with me.

2487. Do you remember Hedley Simpson having a conversation with you in your store?—No.

2488. You don't remember that at all?—No.

By Mr. Osler :

2489. Did Mr. Cochrane attend any of the meetings?—He was there once. I do not know whether he had any conversation with me or any of us.

2490. He was there once?—He was in the store once when we were all there.

2491. Was there any conversation when he was there about these appointments?—No.

2492. Did you ever tell Mr. Cochrane as to the deliberation with regard to the patronage Committee—Did you ever inform him?—No.

2493. I understand that these contributions for party purposes were given for the influence of your people?—Yes.

2494. They were for your influence in getting the appointments?—Yes.

2495. And what did you use them for?—It would be to pay the liabilities.

By Mr. Barron :

2496. You say that Mr. Cochrane was present once in your store when the committee was meeting there?—Yes, he was in my store once.

2497. When the committee met there?—I think so.

2498. He saw the members of the committee when they met at your store?—I cannot tell you that.

2499. He was present there at the time the committee were there?—The whole of the committee was not there.

2500. Who of the committee were there?—Well, I can't tell you.

2501. You were there?—Yes.

2502. Was Stanley there?—I do not know; he may have been there.

2503. When was this?—I cannot tell you when it was.

2504. You cannot remember?—No.

2505. Was it before or after the appointments were made?—Before.

2506. Before the appointments were made?—Yes.

2507. How did Mr. Cochrane come to be there?—I cannot tell you.

2508. Did he drop in by accident?—I cannot tell.

2509. What time of the day was it?—In the evening.

2510. How far does Mr. Cochrane live from Brighton?—Five or six miles from Brighton.

2511. And he happened to be there in the evening?—Yes; this evening.

2512. What time in the evening did the Committee meet?—I cannot tell you.

2513. Was it early or late?—Not very late. I should say it was after 8 o'clock; between 8 and 9 o'clock.

2514. When your store was closed?—Yes.

2515. Then Mr. Cochrane remained there after the store was closed?—He came in accidentally, I think.

2516. Did you say that the Committee met there after the store was closed?—Yes.

2517. And Mr. Cochrane was there when the Committee met?—Yes.

2518. For the whole of the time?—No; not when they were meeting.

2519. Oh, well, did he come in afterwards?—Yes; he came in after the Committee met.

2520. Now, the Committee met after the store was closed, and Mr. Cochrane, having come in after the Committee met, must have come in after the store was closed?—He did.

2521. Then he did not come in to buy anything?—I cannot swear to that. Sometimes we did not close till ten or eleven o'clock.

2522. However, that was after the store was closed?—I think the store was closed.

2523. And it was after this that Mr. Cochrane came in?—Yes; it was after the store was closed, as far as my knowledge goes, that Mr. Cochrane came in.

2524. Where did the Committee transact its business in the store?—I believe it was right in the open store.

2525. Right in there in the main part of the store?—Yes.

2526. And that is where Mr. Cochrane came?—Yes.

2527. Mr. Cochrane was in there with the Committee?—Yes; but he was not on the Committee.

2528. I know, but he was in there with the committee?—He was there when the Committee was there in the store. I could not swear when Mr. Cochrane came in, but I know he came right into the store when the committee was meeting there.

2529. You have sworn that Mr. Cochrane was there?—Yes.

2530. And you have sworn that he was there while the Committee were there?—Yes; that's true.

2531. Did he know that the Committee was meeting there?—I do not know.

2532. Did he attend there by request?—No; not that I know of.

2533. Did Mr. Cochrane know of the meeting of the Committee?
Counsel objected.

By Mr. Barron :

2534. Can you give us some idea of the time the store was closed?—No.

2535. You said that sometimes it was not closed until 10 or 11 o'clock?—Yes, it would sometimes be 12 o'clock on Saturday night. But we have to close every night at 7 o'clock except Thursday night and Saturday night.

2536. What time did it close that night?—I cannot tell you.

2537. You cannot recollect?—No.

2538. What time of the year was it?—I cannot tell you.

2539. Was it spring, summer, fall or winter?—I think it was in the spring time of the year, but I cannot say.

2540. What year?—I cannot say.

2541. After dark, was it?—After dark what?

2542. When the store was closed?—I cannot say whether it was or not; I cannot tell whether we closed our store at 7 o'clock or not.

2543. You cannot remember whether it was after dark or not?—No.

2544. Do you remember how Mr. Cochrane came to be there?—No; I don't.

2545. Will you swear that he was not sent for?—I will swear that so far as my knowledge and belief goes he was not sent for.

2546. He was not sent for on your behalf?—No; nor so far as I know, on any body else's behalf.

By Mr. German :

2547. What were you doing that night?—Attending to my business.

2548. I mean the Committee. What business did the Committee do that night?—They talked over different questions about the bridges.

2549. How long did Mr. Cochrane remain?—As far as my knowledge goes, he did not remain very long.

2550. How long?—I cannot swear how long.

2551. Half an hour or more?—Well, I cannot say. I do not think he did.

2552. It was not more than half an hour?—Not so far as my knowledge goes, I do not think it was.

2553. Was it about half an hour?—I cannot say.

2554. I suppose the discussion was going on while he was there?—The discussion was going on. Yes.

2555. The talk about the bridges was going on while he was there?—Yes.

2556. You were talking about the men who would get the appointments and the amounts that they were to pay?—Certainly.

2557. What part did Mr. Cochrane take in the discussion?—No part whatever.

2558. He was a quiet listener?—I could not swear to that.

2559. He was listening if he did not take part in the conversation?—I could not swear to that.

The Committee then took recess.

THURSDAY, 3rd September, 1891.

The Committee resumed at 2.30 o'clock, p.m.—Mr. TISDALE in the Chair.

WILLIAM BROWN called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

2560. Where do you live?—At the upper end of the Murray Canal.

2561. Have you any position upon that canal?—Yes, sir.

2562. What position have you got?—Bridge-keeper.

2563. How did you come to get that position?—Through the Committee.

2564. What Committee?—The Committee which was appointed to recommend somebody for the position.

2565. You knew a Committee had been appointed for that purpose?—I was told by several of the Committee they had been appointed, and I was told by Mr. Cochrane also that a Committee had been appointed.

2566. You were told by Mr. Cochrane there had been a Committee appointed for the purpose of recommending parties for the position of bridge-keeper?—Yes.

2567. Mr. Cochrane told you that?—He did.

2568. Who is Mr. Cochrane?—He is member for East Northumberland.

2569. And it was Mr. Cochrane, member for East Northumberland, who told you that a Committee had been appointed for the purpose of recommending different people?—He was the only one that told me I would have to go to the Committee.

2570. Then you went to Mr. Cochrane first of all?—First of all.

2571. What did you go to him for?—For a position on the canal.

2572. What did you say to him?—I asked him what my chances were for such a position. He told me he had left the matter in the hands of the Committee and that I would have to apply to the Committee.

2573. Is that all the conversation which took place?—I think so.

2574. Nothing more than that?—In regard to that. I don't recollect anything else.

2575. Who told you, you would have to pay $150?—Nobody told me I had to do it.

2576. Did nobody tell you you would be required to do it before you got that position?—No.

2577. Who did you converse with in regard to the $150?—The first one I had a conversation with was James Stanley.

2578. And who was the second one?—That is all.

2579. You never had a conversation with anybody except Mr. James Stanley regarding the $150?—Outside the Committee, do you mean or the Committee men?

2580. I mean either the Committee men or outside the Committee men?—Yes; I talked with Vanalstine.

2581. Nobody else?—Nobody else that I recollect.

2582. Are you quite sure of that?—Not that I recollect; not of having any conversation.

2583. You have a good memory, you know?—I don't know—not anything extra.

2584. When did you go to Mr. Cochrane about the position?—I cannot exactly give you the date I went to him?

2585. Can you give me any way near the time?—I know it was before the canal was completed.

2586. How long before these offices were let out to different people?—I don't know.

2587. Would it be a year?—I could not say exactly now just what time. I don't know whether it is a year, or half a year now.

2588. You knew, of course, that the position was vacant, and that other people were applying for the position, before you went to Mr. Cochrane?—I did not know it as a fact?
2589. But you heard of it?—Yes; I heard it as a rumour.
2590. Had you seen any of the Committee before you went to see Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir.
2591. You went to see Mr. Cochrane first?—Yes.
2592. Had you heard anything about money being required from these different bridge-keepers before you went to Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir.
2593. You are quite sure of that?—Yes.
2594. And when was it you first heard of money being paid in connection with these offices, or situations?—The first I heard of it was from Mr. James Stanley.
2595. When was that, please?—I could not exactly tell you when it was; I did not keep any memorandum of the date.
2596. About when?—I could not give you any idea of the date.
2597. Was it the fall, the spring, the summer or the winter?—I don't know.
2598. Was it about the time they were given being out?—Before they were given out.
2599. A little time before they were given out?—It was some time before that; I could not just exactly say the time.
2600. You say that Mr. Cochrane told you would have to apply to the Committee?—Yes.
2601. And in pursuance of that instruction from Mr. Cochrane, did you apply to the Committee?—I did.
2602. To whom did you apply?—To Mr. Stanley.
2603. How did you know that he was one of the Committee?—I enquire around and I found out who the Committee men were.
2604. Did Mr. Cochrane mention Mr. Stanley's name to you?—He did not.
2605. At the time Mr. Cochrane told you that you would have to apply to the Committee, did you know who the Committee were?—I did not.
2606. When Mr. Cochrane told you to apply to the Committee, did you not ask him who the Committee were?—No.
2607. And yet you did not who the Committee were?—No.
2608. At the time you had the conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—No.
2609. Did you know where the Committee were—that is, where they lived—where they were carrying on their work?—I knew where they lived, if I found out who they were.
2610. But you had not the least idea?—I had not the least idea who they were.
2611. Everything was vague in your mind when Mr. Cochrane told you to go to the Committee?—Yes. I had an idea.
2612. What idea had you?—I had an idea that it was some of the party men around in the locality; that it would be some of them.
2613. Who suggested himself to your mind when the word "Committee" was mentioned by James Stanley?—James Stanley for one came to my mind. I supposed he would be one.
2614. Did you say anything to Mr. Cochrane about James Stanley?—Nothing.
2615. Not a word?—Not a word that I recollect.
2616. You were quite content when he told you you would have to see the Committee without anything further, but at that time you thought James Stanley was one of the men you would have to see?—I thought so.
2617. What made you think so?—He had been a party man and was right there in Brighton. That is the only reason.
2618. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane except at that one time when you asked him for the position?—In regard to the position?
2619. Yes.—No; I have not seen him since about it.
2620. Then you paid how much to Mr. Webb?—$150.
2621. In cash?—In cash.

2622. That is Mr. W. W. Webb?—Yes.
2623. You got the money from W. H. Powers?—No, sir.
2624. Did you pay this money before you got the appointment?—Let me think. I cannot say whether I paid it before or after.
2625. But it was arranged before you got the appointment that you were to pay the money?—Yes.
2626. With whom was that arrangement made?—Mr. Stanley.
2627. Do you know that Mr. Stanley was one of this Committee?—I do.
2628. The Committee to which Mr. Cochrane sent you?—Yes.
2629. Was it Mr. Stanley who told you to pay the money to Mr. Webb?—It was.
2630. Where did he tell you to do that?—In his hotel.
2631. Just you two together?—Just us two.
2632. Nobody else?—Not that I recollect.
2633. How did you come to see him?—Did he send for you?—He sent for me.
2634. By whom?—He sent word down that he wanted to see me and I went up.
2635. Where were you living then?—At the same place as now.
2636. What is your occupation?—I have been working on the canal for several years.
2637. What value did you get for the payment of that $150?—I do not know that I got any great value.
2638. You got the position of bridgekeeper?—Yes.
2639. Was that not the value you got?—I do not know.
2640. Just think. Do you want to tell us that you paid $150 for the fun of the thing?—I paid the money to help the party out. They were in debt.
2641. Is that what you say? Was that the object of your paying the money, simply to help the party out?—To help the party out.
2642. Any other object?—I was to pay $150 and get the appointment.
2643. Would you have paid the $150 if you had not got the appointment?—I would have paid it in time, but not just then. I was willing to pay my share in getting the party out of debt.
2644. But whether you got the appointment or not, were you quite willing to pay that $150?—Yes.
2645. Quite willing?—Yes.
2646. Then that $150 had nothing to do with your getting that appointment? It had, hadn't it?—Yes, it had.
2647. When you went to Mr. Webb to pay the money, what did you say to him?—I said I was requested by Mr. Stanley to go and pay him $150.
2648. Is that all you said?—I do not know. I think I told him I was to get a receipt for it.
2649. Did you get a receipt?—Yes.
2650. Where is it?—I do not know.
2651. Did you not bring it with you?—I carried around a part of it until it was all worn out.
2652. Then the receipt is destroyed?—I guess so.
2653. What did it say?—I think it said: "Received from William Brown the sum of $150 to be applied on the note Wade, Nix and King."
2654. That is how you think the receipt read?—Yes.
2655. Did you ever give a note to Mr. D. C. Bullock in connection with this matter?—No, sir.
2656. He was one of the committee, was he not?—I believe so.
2657. Were you ever present at any of the meetings of this committee?—No sir.
2658. You never would have gone to the committee but for what Mr. Cochrane told you?—No answer.
2659. The first you heard of the committee was from Mr. Cochrane?—Certainly.

2660. And in pursuance of your conversation with him, you went to that committee to pay the money?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock.

2661. You first went to Mr. Cochrane, you say, to get the office?—Yes.

2662. You were not able to fix a day nearer than to say it was sometime before the canal was opened?—Yes; before the completion of the canal.

2663. Could you say about how long before you made the payment, you saw Mr. Cochrane?—Before I made the payment?

2664. You made a payment of $150 to Mr. Webb. Perhaps you could say how long it was before you made that payment, that you saw Mr. Cochrane?—It was quite a while.

2665. Do you mean weeks, months, or years, or what?—No, no.

2666. You went to Mr. Cochrane in the first place thinking he would have the power to get you the office?—I did.

2667. He was the member for the riding at the time?—Yes.

2668. For the east riding of Northumberland?—Yes.

2669. And he told you he had left the matter in the hands of the committee?—Yes.

2670. And then you went to the committee in question?—I did.

2671. And from information you had, either at that time or subsequently, you struck on the right committee?—I inquired.

2672. You conversed with Mr. Stanley on the subject?—Yes.

2673. And finally what did the committee decide about your application—to refuse it or to give the office to you?—They decided to give it to me.

2674. How long after they told you, that they had decided to give it to you, that you paid the $150?—Why, it was a week or so afterwards.

2675. It was a week or so after Stanley told you you could have the office that you paid the money to Webb?—Yes.

2676. Mr. Webb told us that you paid the money to him?—I did.

2677. I think you said you paid it in January 1890?—I could not say the date.

2678. Probably Mr. Webb's date, as he gave it, would be accurate?—Probably it would. I could not give you the date myself.

2679. But at any rate it was about a week or so after Stanley told you, you would get the office?—Yes about a week or so.

2680. What is the salary attaching to the office?—$1.25 a day.

2681. For how many days in the year—how many days are you paid for each year?—$1.25 a day for the navigable season.

2682. From the opening of navigation until the close?—Yes.

2683. In your case you did not pay the money out of your salary?—No, sir. I had it of my own.

2684. Some of them had to pay the money out of their salaries as they earned them. Yours evidently was not that kind of case?—No, sir.

2685. It is stated that some the prices of some of the bridges were higher than the others—do you happen to know when the prices went up?—I do not.

2686. Do you know what the others had to pay?—I do not.

2687. You only know what you had to pay?—That is all.

2688. You are a member of the conservative party?—Yes.

2689. How long before this had you made any contributions to the party funds?—Several years before. It was when there was a protest.

2690. The protest against Mr. Ferris?—When they went round for contributions, I gave them some.

2691. Do you mean at the time of the protest against Mr. Ferris?—Yes, that protest.

2692. The note to Mr. Webb for $1,000, was dated March, 1883, if I remember rightly. Was it about that time that you made your contribution?—Well, it was about the time that the protest was going on, or right away after. I could not say when.

2693. That was about the year 1883? At any rate it was a good many years before you got the office on the bridge?—Yes, sir.

2694. Do you remember how much you gave on that occasion?—I gave $2.

2695. The next payment was $150?—Yes, sir.

2696. Then an interval of 6 or 7 years had elapsed before the first subscription of $2, and the last subscription of $150?—A little length of time; I do not know what it was. It was the time the protest was going on, whatever time that was.

2697. Did you happen to be aware all these years that the party was in debt for these costs?—Was I aware of it? yes.

2698. All these years you had not contributed anything since the $2 contribution?—No, I had not.

2699. And you told Mr. Barron that you would have been willing any way to have given this contribution of $150?—Yes, if it had been asked before. If they had forced collection on these notes that were outstanding against the party.

2700. Were you on those notes?—No, sir.

2701. You would not have given the whole of the $150, as your share?—If it required my share to do so, I would.

2702. Yes, but it would not. You are only one of many hundreds of the party in the riding. Unless there was some special reason you would not have liked to have given more than your fair share?—I would have given what I was told.

2703. Would you have thought it fair supposing the parties insisted on you giving $150 towards a fund the whole amount of which was only a few hundred dollars—would it not have been more than your share?—I do not know, for I did not know the exact amount that was outstanding against the party.

2704. You did not know the amount?—I could not say what the debt was against the party. I was not aware of it.

2705. I am told that the debt was only $300. You would not think it fair that you should have to bear so large a proportion of the debt?—Not if I knew of it.

2706. All that you would like to do as a party man would be to pay a fair share?—As far as I know.

2707. That would be as one of the electorate of the riding?—Yes.

2708. Did you have any talk with Mr. Clouston about his appointment?—I do not recollect.

2709. Do you happen to know who else paid Mr. Webb anything on the promissory notes?—No.

2710. You don't know that Mr. Clouston made any payment?—No.

2711. Do you know the lowest price of these bridges?—No.

2712. Do you know if any went lower than $150?—I don't know.

2713. You don't know if you were higher than the others?—No.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

2714. You know Clouston?—Yes, as a neighbour.

2715. Do you know his going round with a subscription list?—No, I don't.

By Mr. German:

2716. I understood you to say, that you went to Mr. Cochrane first to see about this appointment?—Yes.

2717. And what did Mr. Cochrane tell you?—He told me I would have to apply to the committee—that he had left it in the hands of the committee; he said I would have to apply to the committee.

2718. And that he had left all these appointments in the hands of the committee?—No, he didn't say that.

2719. You say that Mr. Cochrane had left this in the hands of the committee?—Yes, he said I would have to apply to the committee.

2720. And that he had left this matter in their hands?—Yes.

2721. And did you say anything about the appointment of the committee, and that you would have to go and see the committee and arrange with them?—No; he gave me no instructions at all.

By Mr. Barron :

2722. Did he say anything about carrying out what the committee recommended?—Nothing more than I have told you.

2723. Had you any correspondence with Mr. Cochrane?—No, not a word.

2724. From whom did you receive your appointment?—I cannot say.

2725. Who gave you notice that you were appointed?—Mr. Keeler.

2726. He is the Superintendent?—Yes.

2727. You had no written communication with regard to the appointment?—No. He told me I was appointed by the Minister.

2728. Mr. Keeler told you that you had been appointed by the Minister?—Yes.

2729. What Minister?—He did not say that.

ROBERT MAY called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

2730. Where do you live?—At the western end of the Murray Canal.

2731. Have you got an appointment on that canal?—Yes, sir.

2732. What appointment?—Bridge keeper.

2733. When did you get that appointment?—In the year 1890.

2734. Do you know what time?—No, sir.

2735. Spring or Fall?—It was in the Spring 1890.

2736. Who told you that you had got the appointment?—Some member of the committee, I think it was Mr. Hugh McQuoid; I am not sure, however, whether he was the one.

2737. He told you of the appointment?—Yes, sir.

2738. And who else told you?—My brother Henry.

2739. Did you receive any written notice of your appointment?—No.

2740. Did you know Mr. Keeler at all when you were appointed?—Not until he put me to the work.

2741. From whom did he tell you, that you had received the appointment?—I do not know that he told me at all. He got word, I suppose, from the Government.

2742. But did he tell you that?—I do not know that he did.

2743. Did you not go to Mr. Cochrane before getting the appointment in order to secure his influence?—No, sir.

2744. You never saw Mr. Cochrane?—No.

2745. With regard to this appointment?—No, sir.

2746. Never spoke to him?—No, not with regard to the appointment.

2747. But with regard to anything?—Oh! I have often spoken to him.

2748. But in regard to your asking him about the canal?—No, sir.

2749. You never had any conversation at all with Mr. Cochrane about that?—Never.

2750. How much money did you pay?—$125.

2751. To whom did you pay it?—To Henry May, my brother.

2752. What did you pay it to Mr. Henry May for?—(No answer.)

2753. Why did you pay it to Henry May?—To help to pay the debt against the Conservative party.

2754. Are you sure that is what you paid it for?—Yes.

2755. Who told you to say that?—Nobody.

2756. Did nobody tell you to say that?—No.

2757. Have you had any conversation with anybody in regard to what you have to say here to-day?—No, sir.

2758. Never spoke to anybody?—No.

2759. Never spoke to your brother, Henry May, in regard to what you were to say here to-day?—No, sir.

2760. You have been with him since you came to Ottawa?—Yes, part of the time.

2761. You never talked over these proceedings?—No.

2762. Never spoke to him about your evidence to-day?—No.

2763. You never talked over the proceedings at all?—No.

2764. Not in regard to what you are going to say?—No.

2765. Who sent you to Mr. Henry May?—Mr. Henry May came to me.

2766. Is he your brother?—Yes.

2767. Who sent him to you?—I don't know.

2768. What did he say to you when he came?

Objection raised by the Chairman.

By Mr. Barron :

2769. What happened between you and Henry May when you paid money?—What did I do? I gave him money.

2770. How did you come to give him the money?—To help to pay this indebtedness.

2771. Who told you it was for that purpose?—He did.

2772. Henry May told you that?—Yes, sir.

2773. That the $125 was for the purpose of paying off the debt?—Yes, sir.

2774. What debt?—Against the Conservative party.

2775. You just paid it simply for that reason, did you?—Certainly.

2776. And for nothing else?—For nothing else.

2777. You swear it was for nothing else than to wipe off the debt of the Conservative party? Do you want us to believe that?—I got the appointment.

2778. What appointment?—As bridge-keeper.

2779. The object in paying the money was to get the appointment as bridge-keeper on the Murray Canal?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

2780. You did not care where it went, I suppose?—How?

2781. What you were after was the office?—Yes; I was not sure of getting it.

2782. But that was what you wanted to get?—Yes.

2783. That is why you paid the money?—To pay off this debt.

2784. But your first object was to get the office?—I wanted to get the office, yes.

2785. You would not have paid the money without the office?—I don't know whether I would or not.

By Mr. Barron :

2786. Do you want us to understand that you would have paid that $125 whether you got the office or not?—I don't know whether I would or not.

2787. Is that as far as you will go?—(No answer.)

2788. Did you get the money from Marcus Lovitt?—No, sir.

2789. From whom?—The bank, part of it.

2790. How much out of the bank?—$75.

2791. Where did you get the balance?—I had the balance.

2792. So that you paid $125 in cash?—Yes, sir.

2793. What bank was it?—Molsons' Bank, in Trenton.

2794. Did you get it on a note, or had you it in the bank?—I got it on a note.

2795. Who went into the bank with you on the note?—My father.

2796. What is his name, please?—Samuel.

2797. Then you say that your father and you raised $75, and you had the balance to make $125, and you paid that just for the fun of the thing—of paying off the Conservative debt?—And the bridge.

2798. When you say "and the bridge," I suppose you mean getting the bridge as bridge-keeper—to get the position?—(No answer.)

2799. It does not take all this time to think; you know well enough. Was it not for the purpose of getting the position of bridge-keeper you paid that $125?—Well, I may have paid it, if I had not got it.

2800. Was it not for the purpose of getting that position, sir?—Yes.

2801. How did you know that you would get that position if you paid $125?—I did not know, only from the committee.

2802. Then you knew from the committee that you would get that position if you paid the $125?—They told me.

2803. Who told you?—Some of the committee.

2804. Which one of the committee?—Hugh McQuoid.

2805. Who else told you?—I think Mr. Adam Young.

2806. Who else?—I don't know of any more.

2807. Did James Stanley not tell you?—No, sir.

2808. Had you no conversation with James Stanley?—No, sir.

2809. You never had?—I never had.

2810. But you had with Messrs. Hugh McQuoid and Adam Young?—Yes, sir.

2811. What did they tell you?—They said they would do all they could for me to help me get this position.

2812. If what?—If they could, they would do all they could for me.

2813. Did they say nothing about money to you?—No, sir.

2814. How was it you came to pay $125?—(No answer.)

2815. Somebody must have suggested money to you?—Henry said the Conservative party was in debt, and each one must pay a certain amount.

2816. Each one of whom?—Each one of the bridge tenders. He said each was willing to pay, and I said I was willing to do the same.

2817. If you got the position?—Yes.

2818. Did you pay the money before or after getting the position?—Before it.

2819. Did Mr. McQuoid promise you the position?—No.

2820. What did he say to you?—He said he would do what he could.

2821. Is that all?—That is all.

2822. And Adam Young, what did he say?—The same.

2823. In the same words?—I think so.

2824. Did you know that all the bridge tenders were paying some money?—I did not know it.

2825. What did you hear as to that?—I do not know. He said they were willing to pay it.

2826. Who told you that?—My brother Henry.

2827. And he said if you wanted to get a bridge you would have to pay, too?—No.

2828. What did he say?—He said the rest were willing to pay, and I said I was willing too.

2829. The sum you paid was $125?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

2830. I suppose you saw Stanley about this office?—No.

2831. You did not meet the committee at all in meeting assembled?—No.

2832. Did you ask Mr. Cochrane about getting you the office?—No, sir; I did not.

2833. Did you ask anybody?—No.

2834. It came to you? You found it in your stocking?—No, sir; I did not find it in my stocking. My brother came to me, and asked me if I would like the position.

2835. He being a member of the committee. The salary of the office is $1.25 a day during the period of navigation?—Yes.

2836. You took that office?—Yes?

2837. You say you got $1.25 per day during navigation?—Yes.
 2838. You are a labouring man then?—Yes.
 2839. Before you got this office you were working for day's wages?—Yes.
 2840. You are a married man?—Yes.
 2841. Wife and family?—Yes.
 2842. And before you got this office you were working for day's wages?—Yes.
 2843. And you gave $125 for the office and for the good of the Conservative party—the two things?—Yes.
 2844. When before this had you given a contribution to the Conservative party?—I do not know as I ever did.
 2845. How old are you?—Thirty.
 2846. This was the first time you manifested your regard for the Conservative party in this substantial way?—Yes.
 2847. It was a very fair beginning. Do you know you got this office cheaper than the others did?—I do not know that I got it cheaper.
 2848. This was $125. The lowest we have heard of before was $150?—I must have got it cheaper, then.
 2849. Perhaps having a friend in court enabled you to get it $25 less?—I do not think so.
 2850. Fitzgerald paid $150?—I do not know what he paid.
 2851. Don't you know that Brown who was in before you, paid $150?—No.
 2852. Well, he did. You got it $25 less then he. The price went up afterward. Do you know when that happened?—No.
 2853. You do not happen to know when they went up to $200?—No.
 2854. What are they selling at now?—I do not know. There are none for sale. They are all filled.

HENRY MAY called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

2855. Where do you live?—In the Township of Murray.
 2856. Are you a brother of Robert May?—Yes.
 2857. I understand from your brother, that you went to him in regard to his appointment as bridge tender on the Murray Canal?—That I went to him?
 2858. Yes, that you went to see him. Is that correct?—Yes.
 2859. Who sent you to see him?—I went myself.
 2860. Did anybody send you to see your brother?—Nobody sent me to see my brother.
 2861. You went of your own accord?—Yes.
 2862. What did you say to your brother?—I told him he could get a bridge on the Murray Canal.
 2863. How did you know that?—I found it out.
 2864. From whom?—At the meeting we had held of the committee.
 2865. In Brighton?—Yes.
 2866. What took place at the committee meeting in regard to the appointment of your brother?—We got him the appointment there.
 2867. What took place at the committee?—I cannot tell you all that took place.
 2868. Tell us something that took place. You know perfectly well something took place in reference to your brother?—I asked if I could get him the bridge, and they decided that I could.
 2869. Who was present?—My brother.
 2870. He was at the meeting?—No.
 2871. Who else?—Mr. Young.
 2872. Adam Young?—Yes.
 2873. Who else?—Mr. Stanley—James Stanley.
 2874. Anyone else?—Mr. Bullock and Mr. Philip Lawson.

2875. Who else?—I do not remember any other.

2876. But you do know that James Stanley, Adam Young, Bullock, Lawson and yourself were all present at the meeting of the committee when the appointment of your brother was considered?—Yes.

2877. What was decided upon?—It was decided that he should have a bridge.

2878. Was there any motion moved or anything of that kind—anything reduced to writing?—No; I do not think it.

2879. The committee just talked it over?—Yes.

2880. And they were all agreed that he should have the bridge?—Yes.

2881. But he was to pay how much?—I do not think there was any pay mentioned.

2882. It was in pursuance of what took place at that meeting that you went to your brother?—Yes.

2883. You say there was nothing said at the time of the meeting what he was to pay?—I do not remember that there was.

2884. Will you swear nothing was said?—I could not swear.

2885. How was it you asked your brother for $125?—Mr. Stanley told me it was required—that he should pay some money.

2886. That he should pay some money; that was at the committee meeting?—No; I think it was before that.

2887. Do you now wish to tell us, that there was nothing said at the committee meeting at all about money being paid by your brother?—I would not say that there was.

2888. But would you not like to say there was something said?—No; I do not remember anything about it.

2889. Then how was the amount of $125 arrived at?—Mr. Stanley told me to go down to the gravel road and take up a couple of notes which some parties held there.

2890. Who were the parties?—Mr. Pilkey and Mr. Ireland.

2891. He told you to go down and take up a couple of notes?—Yes.

2892. Where were you to get the money from?—My brother gave me the money.

2893. At the time you went to your brother he gave you the money to take up the notes of Pilkey and Ireland—he gave you the money then?—At the time I went.

2894. At the time you went, according to the instructions of Stanley to take up the notes of Pilkey and Ireland, was it on that occasion that you saw your brother and he gave you the $125?—I do not remember whether he gave it to me at that time or not.

2895. Still you remember the occasion when he gave it you?—I remember he gave it to me.

2896. Where was it he gave it to you?—I think it was at my house.

2897. He had to raise the money, had he not?—I could not tell you what he had to raise.

2898. Did you never hear where your brother got the money?—No, sir. I know nothing about where he got the money.

2899. He never told you?—No.

2900. As a matter of fact you got from him $125?—I think it was that amount.

2901. And it was Stanley who sent you to get the money, was it?—He told me that he wanted that much.

2902. What was your poor brother to get for paying $125?—(No answer.)

2903. Come now, out with it? You know as well as I know?—I do not know what he was to get.

2904. Was there no promise to him?—I could not say that there was.

2905. Do you mean to say that at the time he paid the $125 there was no promise or intimation to him what he was to get?—At the time he paid the money?

2906. Yes?—Well, I might have told him. I might have spoken about the bridge at that time.

2907. What did you say to him about the bridge?—Most likely I told him he had the bridge.

2908. What was your brother to get for the payment of the $125, if not the bridge. What did he expect to get?—I do not know what he expected to get.

2909. What was he to get for the payment of $125? You know as well as anybody else?—(No answer.)

2910. Come now, what was it?—I know one thing he did get.

2911. What was it that he got?—He got a bridge.

2912. Would he have got a bridge if he had not paid the $125?—I could not tell you.

2913. When Stanley sent you to your brother Robert, did he tell you how much you were to get from Robert?—No, sir, he did not.

2914. No sum was mentioned?—No sum was mentioned. He told me to go down and pay those notes.

2915. What was the amount of those notes?—I think one was $75. I do not just remember the figures of the other.

2916. He told you to go down and pay those notes?—Yes, sir.

2917. Where were you to get the money to pay those notes?—Robert gave it to me.

2918. I asked where were you to get the money to pay the notes when you left Stanley?—That is something I cannot tell.

2919. Did it not occur to you as funny that Stanley should send you to pay those notes without giving you any money?—(No answer.)

2920. How were you to pay those notes when you left Stanley and he did not give you any money? Where were you to get the money from?—I got the money from my brother.

By Mr. German :

2921. Did Stanley tell you to get the money from your brother?—He did.

2922. He told you to go and get the money from your brother to pay those notes?—Yes.

2923. You went to your brother to get the money?—No; he came to me with it.

By Mr. Barron :

2924. But you went to your brother at all events for the money?—I could not say. I do not know whether my brother gave it to me the first time or not.

2925. What had your brother to do with the notes of Pilkey and Ireland?—I do not know that he had anything to do with them.

2926. Did you then get the notes from Pilkey and Ireland?—I did.

2927. And what did you do with them?—I know I gave one of them up to my brother. I think I remember giving the Pilkey one.

2928. Why did you give it to your brother?—Because it was his money that raised the note.

2929. But it was his money that raised the other one too, and why did you not give him the other?—I had forgotten all about the other.

2930. You gave one to your brother but not the other?—Yes.

2931. Has your brother ever been paid back this money?—I cannot tell you that.

2932. You do not know that?—No.

2933. What position do you hold on the canal?—I am a foreman on the canal.

2934. You are a foreman?—Yes.

2935. Did you see Mr. Cochrane in reference to your having the appointment to the position of foreman?—No sir.

2936. You never saw him?—No, sir. Not with regard to the appointment.

2937. Before you got the appointment did you not go to Mr. Cochrane?—No. I did afterwards but not before.

2938. What did you go afterwards for?—I happened to see him and told him I had got the appointment.

2939. To whom did you apply for the appointment?—To the Superintendent, Mr. Keeler.
2940. Anybody else?—No.
2941. Then you say the only one to whom you applied was Mr. Keeler?—Yes, sir.
2942. Did you ask Mr. Keeler or anybody in regard to it?—No sir, I did not.
2943. You never asked Mr. Keeler?—No, sir.
2944. The committee that you have spoken of had the distribution of this patronage, had it not?—What do you mean by patronage?
2945. It is Mr. Osler's word. I mean the committee had the appointment of the bridge tenders, &c. Had the committee the giving out of any offices that you know of?—I do not know about that.
2946. Did you pay any money yourself?—For what purpose?
2947. In regard to getting the appointment?—No, sir, I did not.
2948. Not a cent?—No.
2949. Did you pay any money towards paying off this liability?—I did.
2950. How much?—Small amount.
2951. When was that?—It was three or four years ago.
2952. Since then you have not paid anything?—No.
2953. How much did you pay on this occasion?—Somewhere about $3 or $4.
2954. With the exception of that you have not paid anything towards the Conservative fund?—No.
2955. Nothing more than the $3 or $4.—No, sir.
2956. Now had you any interview or any conversation with Mr. Cochrane, in regard to your appointment, or in regard to the appointment with your brother?—I told you that I did not see Mr. Cochrane until after I got my appointment.
2957. Some days afterwards?—Yes.
2958. That is after your appointment?—Yes.
2959. In regard to the appointment of your brother had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—I think I had.
2960. When was that, please?—I think it was in March. I would not be certain about the time.
2961. Early in the spring of the year?—Yes.
2962. In 1888?—No, sir.
2963. What year?—It was in the year 1890.
2964. A year ago last spring?—Yes.
2965. That was before your brother got his appointment?—I suppose so.
2966. Your brother went to work on the 10th of May, 1890?—Yes.
2967. It was before that, you had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—I cannot say as to the time.
2968. What conversation did you have with him?—I told him that Robert had got the appointment.
2969. Is that all you said?—I cannot remember anything further that was said.
2970. Try and think now, where did you meet him?—I think it was in Brighton at the hotel.
2971. You are not quite sure?—I am not sure but I think it was at the hotel in Brighton.
2972. How did you just go, to say to him that Robert had got the appointment?—I simply told him.
2973. And that is all you said to him?—I might have said more.
2974. Had you any conversation about the party funds with him?—I think not.
2975. Will you swear that you had not? I do not remember.
2976. Did you not tell him how much your brother had given?—No; I never told him how much he had given.
2977. Who did you tell?—I don't know that I ever told anybody.
2978. Who else did you tell besides Mr. Cochrane?—I never told any one.

2979. When I asked the question, you said you did not tell him, referring to Mr. Cochrane: "No you said, I did not tell him." Who else did you tell?—Oh well! that is the same thing. I might have spoken to parties but I don't remember.

2980. You cannot recollect any person to whom you spoke?—No; I cannot recollect any person.

2981. You swear now, there is no person you can remember, having told you that your brother had paid $125?—Not that I can remember.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

2982. You did not tell Stanley? I don't remember speaking about it to him.

By Mr. Barron:

2983. Mr. Stanley, you say, sent you down to pay these notes? Then you must have seen Stanley after you paid the notes?—It is very likely I did.

2984. And you must have told him you paid them?—I may have told him.

2985. You know you did it, sir. He sent you on the specific errand to pay for those two notes, and you got the notes after having paid them?—Yes, sir, I did.

2986. And being sent on that message by Mr. Stanley, what did you say when you came back to him or subsequently?—I could not tell you what I said.

2987. Did you give him the other note?—I don't recollect?

2988. What did you do with the other note?—I think it is in my house. I gave him one, but could not find the other.

By Mr. Mulock:

2989. What is the amount of those two notes?—One was $75 I think, the other was $20.

By Mr. Barron:

2990. Did you say you gave him one note?—No, sir, I did not.

2991. To your brother you gave one?—Yes, sir.

2992. Did not Stanley ever ask you how those notes were ever paid, or what you had done in regard to paying them?—I think he did, I will not be certain about it.

2993. You knew of course he did. He would not send you round to pay two notes and then not ask you what you did?—Very likely he did.

2994. And what did you tell him?—I must have told him I took these notes up?

By Mr. Mulock:

2995. With your brother's money?—(No answer.)

By Mr. Barron:

2996. What did you say to him, as to how you took the notes up?—I could not tell you that.

2997. But you did tell him he got the money to take those notes up?—No, not how I paid the money; I don't think he asked me, I don't suppose he would care.

2998. Then he knew beforehand you were going to get the money?—Well, not how I was going to get the money.

2999. Did he not know where you were going to get the money from?—No, not where I was going to get the money from.

3000. Did he know whether you were going to try and get it?—I did not have to try and get it. Robert gave it to me.

3001. If Mr. Stanley sent you as you say to pay those notes, surely he must have some idea as to where you were going to get the money?—He might.

By Mr. German:

3002. You were a member of this committee?—Yes, sir, they sent for me when they were pretty well through with the recommendations.

3003. They were pretty well through with the recommendations, before they sent for you?—Yes, sir.

3004. How many men were there to appoint, at the time they sent for you?—I could not say; there was two or three.

3005. Anymore than your own brother?—I think Brown was to be appointed.

3006. And your own brother?—Yes.

3007. Mr. Brown and your brother are both on the same bridge?—They are.

3008. So that bridge was to be supplied at the time they sent for you to come and join the committee?—I don't know whether it was that bridge that was to be supplied.

3009. There were two men to be appointed?—Yes; but about the bridges I could not say.

3010. Of course, you did not propose that you had the power to appoint these men at all?—No, sir.

3011. Your object was just to recommend to Mr. Cochrane the men that should be appointed?—No, sir, nothing to do with recommending men with him at all; at no time with him at all.

3012. Was it your position, as a member of the committee, to find out who would donate?—I don't think it.

3013. What was your duty then as a member of the committee?—Well, I suppose we decided on the parties that were to be appointed.

3014. Well, having decided on the parties who were to be appointed what was the next step?—I don't know anything about any other step.

3015. What would the committee do after having decided upon the men to be appointed?—They were pretty nearly through. I was only at a very few meetings.

3016. Then these meetings of the committee had been going on prior to your reaching the place of meeting?—I think so.

3017. And where was this meeting being held?—In Mr. Stanley's hotel.

3018. You were never at a committee meeting in Bullock's store?—Not that I remember.

3019. You think this conversation that you had with Mr. Cochrane, was in March?—I think it was in March.

3020. And what did you tell him?—I told him that Robert had got the appointment for the bridge.

3021. Are you very positive it was March?—I would not be certain; I think it was March.

3022. Would it not be later in the spring than March?—I do not think it was.

3023. And you told him that Robert had got the appointment?—Yes, sir.

3024. You mean by having got the appointment that he had been recommended by the committee?—Yes, sir.

3025. You don't mean that he had been recommended by the Government?—No, sir, I did not mean to tell him that.

3026. You did not mean to tell him he had been appointed by the Government, only that he had been recommended by the committee?—That is it.

3027. And was that not the reason why you saw Mr. Cochrane; to tell him that Robert had been recommended by the committee?—I saw him and told him.

3028. You saw him and told him that Robert had the recommendation of the committee?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

3029. You say your position is that Overseer of workmen on the Canal?—Yes.

3030. Mr. Keeler appointed you?—Yes.

3031. When?—I think it was in June 1890—a year ago last June.

3032. Did you ask him to appoint you?—I asked him for a place.

3033. How long had you been at him for a place?—I asked him once.

3034. When did you make your first request for a place?—I think it was in June some time.

3035. You asked him in June and got the position in June?—Yes.

3036. Were you a member of the committee at the time?—I did not know anything about a committee then.

3037. When did you become a member of the committee?—That was a year ago last winter—the middle of the winter some time.

3038. You had been appointed by the Superintendent in the June before that?—A year ago last June I think I had the promise of the position.

3039. You say that you were appointed a member of the committee in 1890. Do you mean the winter in that part of 1890, that is of 1889-90?—Yes, I think it was.

3040. Then you were on the committee before you were appointed to the office?—Yes, I think I was.

3041. But the committee knew nothing about your appointment?—No, nothing whatever. I did not know anything about it myself.

3042. How did you get appointed?—I was sent for.

3043. Who sent for you?—I do not know. That is why I went to see Mr. Stanley.

3044. Do you remember meeting Mr. Cochrane in Mr. Bullock's store at the committee meeting?—No.

3045. Will you swear you did not meet Mr. Cochrane at any of the committee meetings?—No, I will not swear.

3046. Were you told what the object of this committee was when you joined, or did you learn the object?—I cannot say that they instructed me the first time I went there.

3047. Did you at any time learn what was the object of this committee?—I must have, I think.

3048. What did you learn was the object of this committee?—To settle on the men who were to take the balance of the positions.

3049. That was the work of this committee?—Yes, I think that was it.

3050. Then it had the two-fold object of settling on the men for the offices, and of financing to liquidate the indebtedness of the Conservative party?—I suppose that was it.

3051. You contributed $3 or $1 towards the Conservative party. When did you make that contribution?—I think that is five years ago. I would not be certain.

3052. You are in as good a financial position as your brother Robert?—It is very likely I am.

3053. You are, perhaps, in a little better position?—I would not doubt it.

3054. And you were in 1889 too?—Yes.

3055. You are considered the better off of the two?—I think so.

3056. You have no doubt about that?—None.

3057. Then why did you go to your own brother, who was poorer than you, and ask him to give $125 towards a fund that you did not give a cent to, and you had a better position than he?—Well, Mr. Stanley said that this debt had to be paid.

3058. Why didn't you pay it instead of your brother paying it?—I was not paying out money for offices for other people.

3059. What office do you refer to?—His office.

3060. You thought he should pay for his own office?—If he had anything to pay.

3061. You thought it all right for him to pay for his own office, but you did not pay anything for your own office?—No.

3062. You did not pay Keeler anything for your position?—No.

3063. You simply got it by the asking?—Yes.

3064. Did it not strike you as strange that your brother should pay $125 for a position, that only brings in a couple of hundred dollars during the season of navigation, while you paid nothing for a $1.75 a day position? Can you explain why you advised your brother to do that?—I cannot say anything about it.

3065. Do you know the lowest price at which these offices went? Was this the lowest price?—I cannot tell you.

3066. What other offices were disposed of during your period on this Committee?—I think Brown's was.

3067. What did you get for Brown's?—I cannot say what he gave.

3068. $150 wasn't it?—I cannot swear to the amount, but I think that was it.

3069. What other offices were disposed of during your time? But you are still on the committee. Did Clouston's case come before the committee while you were on?—Yes.

3070. Did Fitzgerald's come before you?—No.

3071. Do you know anything about Goodrich's office?—No, I do not.

3072. You do not know that he gave $200 and a lease for his?—No; I cannot tell you what he gave.

3073. How is it that your brother got his position $25.00 cheaper than Brown got his?—I do not know.

3074. Were Brown's and your brother's offices disposed of on the same night?—I do not think it?

3075. Where were these meetings held? In a back room?—No, upstairs.

3076. At night?—We went there in the evening.

3077. You did not keep any record of your doings?—No.

3078. You did not put anything down in black and white?—No.

3079. Why?—You could not be made to do that. There was no object in doing that.

3080. You did not want any note of it?—I do not know.

3081. Who carried the glad tidings to your brother?—I went and told him he could have a bridge.

3082. You were appointed to see him?—I told him.

3083. It was arranged that night that you were to tell him?—I do not know that they did. They may have.

3084. Were you living near your brother?—About a mile, or a mile and a half from him.

3085. You saw him frequently?—Yes.

3086. This was some little distance from where the little conspiracy was hatched?—Yes.

3087. How far was it from where your brother lived?—Five and a half miles.

3088. You lived close to your brother committeemen?—I think I do.

3089. The committee left this to you to communicate the information to your brother?—I do not know that that was spoken of. I know I told him.

3090. At the same meeting you told him about getting the office; you told him about paying $125?—I could not say.

3091. Your brother knew he would have to pay it?—I could not say.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

3092. You mentioned that there were two notes that you were sent to take up?—Yes.

3093. Do you know who were the makers of the notes? Take the $75-note: who was the maker of that?—I think it was Mr. Pilkey.

3094. Who was the maker of the $75? Who was it payable to?—I think it was Mr. Pilkey.

3095. Was it payable to Mr. Pilkey?—I could not tell you.

3096. Was the $75-note made by Pilkey?—I think it was.

3097. From whom did you get the note?—I paid it to Pilkey.

3098. Then it could not be Pilkey's note? Who was the maker of it; was it a note made by Stanley or any member of the committee; whose name was on the face of the note?—I think it was Webb.

3099. Which Webb?—I could not say.

3100. Was it in favour of Webb?—I think so.

3101. Was it W. W. Webb?—I would not be sure. I think the name was Webb.
3102. Do you really know, as a matter of fact, whose name was on the face of the note?—I could not say.
3103. Where is the note now?—I do not know where the note is.
3104. Is it in your possession?—No.
3105. Whom did you give it to?—To my brother Robert, I think it was.
3106. You gave it to your brother Robert?—Yes.
3107. Was he the maker of it?—No.
3108. Why did you give it to your brother Robert?—I could not say. I suppose to show where his money was.
3109. Was it given to him as security that he would get the bridge?—No.
3110. Then why did you leave that note with your brother Robert?—I could not say.
3111. But you must have had some notion why you left it there?—To show where his money went, I think it was.
3112. Were you to get the note back when he got the bridge; was it to be given up when he got the bridge?—I could not say. I never heard any thing more about it since.
3113. Did you tell Robert, or did he tell you to hold the note until he got the bridge?—Nothing like that took place.
3114. Why did he give it to him, then?—I could not tell you.
3115. Do you really know whether Webb's name was on the face or not?—I could not say that.
3116. This Webb, whose name was on the notes, is a Conservative?—I think he is. I would not be sure.
3117. Was he a member of the committee?—I do not think it.
3118. Who was the maker of the other note?—I could not say.
3119. Whose name was on the face of the note—at the bottom of the note—the promiser to pay?—I do not remember whose name it was.
3120. From whom did you get the note?—From Ireland.
3121. Then it could not have been Ireland's note. Do you know who was the maker of the note you got from Ireland?—I could not remember.
3122. Do you know who it was payable to?—I do not remember to whom it was payable.
3123. Do you know how much the note was for?—I would not be certain about it. I think it was close to $75.
3124. That would be $150 altogether, and you said your brother only paid $125. Where did you get the other $25?—I said one was $75. I could not be certain as to the other.
3125. At all events the amount you got from your brother paid the two notes?—I think it did.
3126. What did you do with Ireland's note?—I could not tell.
3127. Did you keep it yourself?—I think it is in my house.
3128. And you do not know the maker's name?—No.

THOMAS WEBB called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

3129. You live in Brighton, I understand?—Yes, sir.
3130. Are you a member of the committee that was formed for the purpose of dispensing patronage?—No, sir.
3131. You have nothing whatever to do with that?—No, sir.
3132. Do you know whether William Johnson has any employment on the Murray Canal?—I do not know. I have heard he had, but I do not know for certain myself.

3133. What position did you hear?—Bridge-tender, I understand.

3134. It is a matter of notoriety, is it not, that he has that position?—I understood so; I do not know it.

3135. Do you know whether or not he paid any money for that position?—I do not.

3136. Do you know whether he paid any money at all towards liquidating the liability of the Conservative party?—No, I do not.

3137. Do you know whether Clouston did?—No.

3138. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane regarding Clouston's appointment?—No.

3139. Nor regarding William Johnson's appointment?—No.

3140. Nor regarding William Brown's?—No.

3141. Nor with James Stanley?—No.

3142. You know whom I mean by James Stanley?—I do.

3143. Do you know anything about the appointment of Robert May as bridge-keeper?—No, sir.

3144. Nothing?—No, sir.

3145. Did C. D. Vanalstine deposit any money with you?—Yes, sir.

3146. How much?—$150.

3147. What did he deposit that with you for?—To use my influence with James Stanley for getting him one of the bridges.

3148. Do you mean to say—I understand you to say that he gave it to you for your influence?—No, to pay to James Stanley for one of the bridges.

3149. He gave it to you for you to pay to James Stanley for one of the bridges?—Yes.

3150. Did you pay it to Stanley?—No.

3151. What did you do with it?—I went to Mr. Stanley and told him what I wanted. I told him I wanted Mr. Vanalstine appointed as tender for one of the bridges, and that he had left me $150 for it.

3152. What did Stanley say?—He said, I cannot do it.

3153. What else did Stanley say?—Nothing else that I remember. He simply said I cannot do it.

3154. Why could he not do it? I think he told you why it was he could not do it?—Yes, he said that he had reported that Mr. Cochrane was selling these bridges to pay off the mortgage on his farm. For that reason he would have nothing to do with it, and told me to give him his money back. That is about as near as I can judge what he said.

3155. Then he would not give him the appointment because he was circulating that report about Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.

3156. That is the reason why?—Yes.

3157. Did he say anything about the positions having been filled up?—No; I think not.

3158. Try and think again if you please, Mr. Webb, I know you want to give us all the information you can?—No; I do not think he said anything more about that.

3159. Well, when Mr. Vanalstine came to you what did he say about the money—about the $150?

Counsel objected.

By Mr. Barron :

3160. How did he come to pay you the $150?—To get one of the bridges.

3161. Were you not surprised at that?—Yes, I was surprised at him leaving the money with me.

3162. I do not mean that. I think that you are a very proper person for anybody to leave money with, but were you not surprised that he should have left money with you for that purpose?—I was surprised.

3163. What did you say about it after he left the money ?

Counsel objected.

By Mr. Barron :

3164. As a matter of fact he did not get the bridge ?—No.

3165. Do you know that William Johnson is a bridge tender ?—Yes.

3166. Do you know any of the other bridge tenders ?—I know John Clouston.

3167. William Johnson and John Clouston, who else ?—William Brown.

3168. Anybody else ?—One of the Mays. I understood that one of the Mays got a bridge, but I do not know for certain 3169. William Johnson, Fitzgerald, one of the Mays and William Brown were bridge tenders ?—Yes.

3170. Did you receive any money from anybody else in the same way ?—No, I did not.

3171. Did you receive any valuable security other than money ?—No.

3172. You did not ?—No.

3173. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to the appointment of one of these bridge tenders ?—Yes.

3174. When was that, please ?—I cannot tell you the time, it was soon after Mr. Vanalstine gave me the money.

3175. Where was the conversation held ?—In Stanley's Hall.

3176. Who was present besides you ?—Nobody.

3177. What did you say to him ?—I said, can you give Mr. Vanalstine an appointment to one of the bridges, and he said "No; I have not got a bridge for everybody."

3178. You do not admit then that Mr. Vanalstine had deposited $150 ?—No.

3179. And he never knew from you the reason why he did not get the bridge ?—Not from me.

3180. Is that the only conversation that you ever had with Mr. Cochrane about any of the bridge tenders ?—Yes.

3181. You are sure that it is the only conversation that you ever had ?—Yes.

DANIEL HUDGINS called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

3182. Mr. Hudgins, you occupy the farm formerly occupied by Mr. Johnson ?—Yes.

3183. That is in the Township of Cramahe ?—Yes.

3184. Then of course you know William Johnson ?—Yes I have known him two years.

3185. When did you last see him ?—About two months ago.

3186. Since then you have not seen him ?—No, I have not.

3187. Nor had any communication with him at all ?—None at all.

3188. Were you present on one occasion when Mr. Johnson delivered to Mr. Cochrane a horse and two cows ?—No, sir, I was not. I have seen his son buy a horse at one time from Mr. Johnson.

3189. Who told you that it was his son ?—I knew him.

3190. Did you see any money paid ?—No, sir, I did not.

3191. Did you never hear about any other animals being delivered to Mr. Cochrane ?—Only the ones I saw his son go away with.

3192. What were they ?—A sow and a horse.

By Mr. Mulock :

3193. What else ?—Nothing else.

3194. Did you hear any conversation between Mr. Johnson and Mr. Cochrane with regard to these ?—No, I heard nothing.

3195. Was Mr. Cochrane present when his son came for the animals?—No.

3196. Was Mr. Hazleton present?—No, sir, not to my recollection.

3197. When did you arrive in Ottawa?—This morning.

3198. Have you been in conversation with the Simpsons since then?—No, sir, not a soul in the world. Nobody knows my business but myself.

3199. Have you seen any of the witnesses who have been subpoenaed in this matter?—Certainly I have; I went round with them.

3200. Had you any conversation with them in regard to this matter?—No, sir.

3201. You never had?—No, sir.

3202. Did they not ask you what brought you here?—Yes, they knew what brought me here; they knew I was subpoenaed.

3203. But, further than that, you had no conversation with any one?—No, sir.

3204. Even with the gentleman from Brighton, or from Colborne?—Only just as friendship.

By Mr. Mulock :

3205. More to have a drink?—Well, no, not in drinks.

By Mr. Barron :

3206. I mean in regard to the evidence to be given today or as regards this matter? No, sir.—

By Mr. Osler :

3207. What is the name of Mr. Cochrane's son who took away the animal?—I could not say which of the sons.

3208. What is his son's business?—I think he is a farmer.

3209. Whoever he was, he was engaged in farming?—I think so.

3210. Farming for himself or his father?—I cannot tell you that; I don't know what his business is.

By Mr. Mulock :

3211. Do you know what William Johnson gave to get that bridge?—I do not.

3212. You never heard?—I never heard.

3213. Do you know of this bridge?—Yes, he told me.

3214. He told you he was a bridge keeper?—Yes.

3215. On the Murray Canal?—I expect that is where he is.

3216. Do you know he is discharged from the position of bridge keeper?—I don't know anything about it, I told you.

3217. When did he tell you he had the office?—Well, he had the office and he was there about a month I think, and over, before I knew he was there.

3218. And were you on Johnson's farm when Cochrane's sons drove away the horse and the sow?—Yes, sir, I was there on my own place—the road divides us.

3219. Your place is near to Johnson's?—Yes.

3220. What did the procession consist of?—You want me to tell you?

3221. Tell us all the animals that were in his menagerie?—There was a sow I saw—a breeding sow I expect it was.

3222. A sow in pig?—I don't say, it was a sow in pig.

3223. Well, a sow they wanted to get in pig? What else?—And a horse, that is all.

3224. Nothing else, but a sow and a horse; were there a couple of cows?—I don't know whether there was a cow.

3225. Was there a cow in the procession?—No, sir.

3226. Who was driving them?—Mr. Cochrane's son, as I saw.

3227. Where were you?—I was on my own land, and the road divided us.

3228. And you saw them go by?—That is all.

3229. Had you any conversation with young Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir; I had not.

3230. Or with Mr. Johnson?—No; not until the next day. Mr. Johnson said that he gave—

Mr. OSLER.—You cannot say what Johnson said.

The WITNESS.—Thomas Johnson, that was the man; he said—

Mr. OSLER.—You cannot tell us what Thomas said.

WITNESS.—Why?

Mr. OSLER.—Because it is not evidence.

The CHAIRMAN.—You must only tell what you know yourself.

By Mr. Mulock :

3231. Can you fix the date of that procession?—No, sir; I cannot.

3232. What year was it?—Last year.

3233. What time of the year?—I guess it was along in the spring work.

3234. Was it before or after Johnson got the bridge?—I could not tell you.

3235. Johnson was at this time on his farm?—He was living with his son.

3236. Did he continue to live with his son?—No, sir; he was on the bridge himself.

3237. He moved down to the bridge?—He moved down and left his wife with his son.

3238. At the time Cochrane drove off the stock, Johnson then had not entered upon his duties at the bridge?—Why, no.

3239. So that his duties began after the horse and the sow went away?—I guess it was.

3240. So that the horse and the sow went away, and then Johnson entered on his duties; that was the order of events?—No, sir; he did not; he commenced this spring.

3241. Not until after the sow had bred a little?—I expect so; you are more of a judge of poultry than I am.

3242. You did not see Mr. Hazelton that day?—No, sir.

PHILIP LAWSON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

3243. Your post office is Lovitt Post Office?—Yes, sir.

3244. In what township is that?—Murray.

3245. Lovitt Post Office is on the Murray Canal, is it not?—Close by.

3246. Have you been employed on that canal?—Yes, sir.

3247. In what capacity?—As foreman.

3248. Were you promised the appointment of deputy superintendent?—Never.

3249. Were you promised any position on that canal?—No, sir.

3250. None whatever?—None whatever.

3251. Did you apply for a position?—Never.

3252. Did you not see Mr. Cochrane in regard to your position on that canal?—I spoke to Mr. Cochrane, I think, in about 1886, at the time of the local election. I asked him if I ever made an application, if it would be considered favourably, and he said "Yes." That is the only thing.

3253. In 1886?—I saw nothing there, that was worth while a man having and paying for.

3254. At that time, 1886, you had a conversation with Mr. Cochrane?—Yes; I supposed it would be done in another year.

3255. That is the work of construction?—Yes; I thought after I helped to build it I had a right to have a position if I wanted one.

3256. Did you pay any money in connection with getting an appointment?—No, sir, I did not.

3257. Not to Mr. James Stanley?—No; not in connection with the appointment.

3258. What did you pay him the money for?—I paid money once on a subscription of his to a man by the name of Pilkey.

3259. How much was that?—I think about $3.

3260. In a letter which I hold in my hand—

Mr. Osler objected.

By Mr. Barron :

3261. Is that the only money you ever paid, that $3?—I lent David Cory Bullock $100 on that protest bill. I won't say for sure that Mr. Stanley was by at that time. I have a paper for it, and I think likely they are both on. I am not positive.

3262. You took their note?—A due bill.

3263. When was that?—I think it would be about the 1st of September.

3264. Of what year?—1889, I think. About two years ago, or a little more.

3265. When were they to pay you back that money?—They said they would give it back to me, as soon as they got the money back from some parties who were going on the protest. That is what I understood.

3266. From whom?—It was not said from whom.

3267. I mean, who told you that?—Stanley and Bullock. I won't say that Stanley did. It was either one or the other.

3268. Have you ever got it back?—No; I have not.

3269. Do you know what they did with that $100?—The reason they wanted it, they said, was that there was some note of $500 that had to be paid at once. It was in the Standard Bank at Colborne, due to some widow woman, and her son was going to get married, and she must have the money, and they had only a short time to get it. It had to be paid the next morning. This money was due in connection with that protest.

3270. Did you loan any other money?—No, I did not; not for political purposes nor party business.

3271. Was there any condition attached to your paying to Bullock or Stanley that $100?—They said like this: They were talking about the matter and they said they must get the money, and they asked David Cory Bullock to call me aside, and ask me if I could not help them get the money. I said: "It is just like this, before I would help any one to get the money, I would rather give it to you if I could get it back shortly, in the course of a month or two." He said I could get it back. I expect to get it or I shall put it in suit. I only spoke to him once about it.

3272. Did you get a bridge?—No, I would not take the bridge if there was $1,000 pinned to the end of it. I was drawing as much as three of them, and then buy a bridge.

3273. You did not approve of that?—No; no one asked me.

3274. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to that $100?—I think I did speak to Mr. Cochrane since, that I had loaned the party $100 and I should have it paid back.

3275. Why did you go to Mr. Cochrane?—Because he is the leading man. I know they are on good terms.

3276. Who on good terms?—Stanley and Bullock. Every one in the Riding who is to the front at all.

3277. What did you say to Mr. Cochrane?—That I had not received my money that I paid upon that protest or loaned to Bullock, and I wished they would look around and get it, as I wanted to use it when I got down on the canal.

3278. Did you tell Cochrane how Stanley and Bullock told you they were going to repay you?—No, I did not.

3279. Try to think again. You said, when you loaned the money to Stanley and Bullock, that they said that they would repay you out of the money got from these bridge tenders?—That they would have money.

3280. That is how you were to get paid?—That is where I expected it.

3281. You complained to Mr. Cochrane about not being paid?—Yes, and to other parties.

3282. Who?—Mr. Wade, I think I spoke to him too.

3283. When complaining to Mr. Cochrane, did you complain that the way these men were to repay you, they had not done it?—No, I did not.

3284. Did you not tell him anything about the conversation you had with Mr. Stanley and Mr. Bullock?—No.

3285. Did not mention it to him?—I do not think I did; as I told you, David Cory Bullock asked me for the money to raise this note.

3286. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane with regard to that?—No.

3287. Did you know that the money which these bridge tenders were paying had been absorbed?—I only heard it. It is only hearsay.

By Mr. Mulock :

3288. You had nothing to do with the committee?—I do not know what you might call it.

3289. Tell us how much you had to do?—I was in the village one night and met Mr. Stanley between the shed and the hotel, and he said they had appointed a Committee, or were going to appoint one, and they wished me to act. I said I did not know. It was something I did not like to meddle myself with. But I says "Howsomever, if it is agreeable all round, if I find out when you have a meeting I will go."

3290. You went to the meeting?—No, sir. When they notified me that they had a meeting I was sick in bed. They notified me twice and I was sick both times.

3291. Did you hear what they decided at their meetings?—I heard that they decided to appoint some men.

3292. To the bridges?—Yes.

3293. Did you hear the names?—I do not know as I did; only one.

3294. Who is that?—Mr. May. I saw him once; I passed him on the road and asked him.

3295. Robert May?—No; Henry May. He said they had recommended Brown.

3296. Do you know what the tariff fixed by the committee for these bridges was?—I do not.

3297. You did not happen to hear?—No; I was at home at the time, sick in bed.

3298. You do not know how much was paid?—No; nor who paid.

JOSEPH COCHRANE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

3299. You are the postmaster at Colborne, I understand?—Yes, sir.

3300. Do you remember Mr. Hedley Simpson and Mr. Stanley coming to you and leaving $200 with you?—I remember they came and left some money with me. I do not remember whether it was $200 or not.

3301. Both say that was the amount, but you do not know whether it was the amount or not?—No.

3302. How did they come to leave the matter with you?—I could not say that. It was to be handed to Mr. Payne, and I think it was on account of Mr. Payne not being in town.

3303. Who is Mr. Payne?—Mr. Payne is a lawyer at Colborne.

3304. And you handed it as soon as you could to Mr. Payne?—I did.

3305. Your instructions were from Mr. Stanley and Mr. Simpson to pay that money to Mr. Payne?—I believe that was it.

3306. And in accordance with those instructions you did pay it to Mr. Payne?—Yes.

3307. What relation is Mr. Cochrane, the member, to you?—He is an uncle.

3308. Did you tell Mr. Cochrane, the member, about that?—No, sir.

3309. You never had any conversation with him about it?—No, sir.

3310. Did it not occur to you as being rather strange—
Mr. OSLEB objected.

By Mr. Barron :

3311. I want to ask you to be sure on the point. Try and refresh your memory. Are you quite sure you never mentioned the circumstances of that $200 to your uncle, the member?—I never knew it was $200. I did not know what the money was. It was a parcel.

3312. You knew it was money?—I understood it was money.

3313. You knew you had received a certain amount of money from Simpson or Stanley to give to Mr. Payne?—Yes.

3314. Were you often in the habit of receiving money to give to Mr. Payne?—Occasionally.

3315. Can you give me any other instance?—Yes.

3316. What other instance?—It is quite a common occurrence for money to be left in the office for different parties to distribute in town.

3317. However, you say you had no conversation with your uncle in regard to the matter?—No conversation.

3318. Did he ever ask you anything about it?—No, sir.

3319. He never did?—No, sir.

3320. You paid the money to Mr. Payne?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. German :

3321. Was there anything said to you as to what the money was to be applied for?—No, sir.

3322. Your instructions were just to give it to Payne?—Yes.

3323. Were you instructed or not to tell Payne from whom the money came?—I could not say.

3324. You do not remember that?—No.

3325. You told him for whom you were delivering the money?—Yes.

3326. You told Payne the money was left by Stanley and Hedley Simpson. I suppose he did not object to take it? He is a lawyer?—Yes.

3327. Did he seem to know what it was for?—I suppose he was aware.

3328. He did not appear to be surprised at receiving the money?—No, sir.

3329. He did not appear to be offended either?—No, sir.

WILLIAM PICKWORTH called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

3330. Do you know of the existence of a committee at Brighton whose duty it was to dispense patronage in the way of giving away offices?—No, sir ; I do not know.

3331. You never heard of it?—I never heard of it.

3332. Were you one of the parties to a note of $1,000 given to Mr. Webb?—No.

3333. You were not on the note?—No.

3334. You had nothing to do with it?—I had nothing to do with it.

3335. Were you upon any note for private purposes given to Mr. Webb, or to anybody else, or to the bank?—I was, to the bank.

3336. To which bank?—The Standard bank at Colborne.

3337. For what amount, please?—$575.

3338. Have you been relieved from your liability on that note?—They say so. I have not seen the note since I signed it.

3339. You say, they say so. Who says so?—Hicks was the first man who said that the note was paid. I can hardly say how he put it. It was that the note was taken up or something.

3340. Hicks told you that?—Yes.
 3341. Had you any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to the note?—No.
 3342. Never?—Oh, yes I have. How do you mean; after?
 3343. Any time after you gave the note, had you any conversation with Mr. Edward Cochrane about it?—I remember I was finding fault with Dr. Willoughby for not taking the note up.
 3344. Was Dr. Willoughby on the note too?—Yes.
 3345. Who else?—It was his note.
 3346. But it had your endorsement?—Yes. I think the first time I put my name to the front along with Dr. Willoughby.
 3347. Who else?—I think Mr. Cochrane's name was on the back of it.
 3348. Mr. Edward Cochrane?—I think it was, and Mr. Payne.
 3349. Yours, Dr. Willoughby's, Mr. Edward Cochrane's and Mr. Payne's?—Yes.
 3350. For how much again, please?—$575.
 3351. That was put in the Standard Bank?—Yes.
 3352. Can you give the date of it?—No, I cannot.
 3353. Mr. Hicks told you it was paid?—Yes.
 3354. How was it paid?—That is more than I can tell you.
 3355. He didn't tell you?—No. Nobody told me how it was paid.
 3356. You never heard it was paid by the proceeds from these bridge-tenders?—No. I have heard it remarked since this thing came out, that that was how it was.
 3357. You do not know of your own knowledge?—No. I never saw the notes after I signed them.

By Mr. Osler :

3358. Was it renewed in the same shape?—I cannot say.
 3359. Was your name on the back, or was your name always in the same position on the note?—I cannot say.
 3360. Were the same parties that made up and endorsed the original note parties by whom it had to be renewed?—I cannot say. All I know is that I signed a note and that would be the note.
 3361. Did you see the names of the other parties to it?—Sometimes Mr. Cochrane's name was there, and sometimes Mr. Payne's, and I would sign it.
 3362. Who would be the one who would know about this note?—Mr. Payne.
 3363. Who asked you to give anything?—I became aware of the difficulty after the protest.

By Mr. Barron :

3364. Who paid the protest fees?—I cannot tell.

By Mr. Mulock :

3365. These parties to the note were accommodation parties, they were not the real debtors?—No.
 3366. You were the makers and endorsers, but you just lent your name to be responsible for the money?—Yes.
 3367. To pay the party debt?—Yes. I suppose that is what it is.
 3368. Whether makers or endorsers, it was an accommodation note?—Yes.
 3369. It was not for your benefit but for the purpose of paying the previous debt owing to Mr. Webb?—Yes.
 3370. This money was raised by the members of the party for the purpose of being applied to this?—Yes.
 3371. And between yourselves you were all equally liable?—Yes, I suppose so.
 3372. You remember Mr. Edward Cochrane's name being on that note?—Yes.
 3373. Do you remember the first start of that note? On the 8th of December, 1886, Mr. Payne paid to Mr. Webb $550.50, balance of the note and interest in full up to the 8th day of December, 1886. Is that the time that this started?—I suppose so but I cannot tell. You see that would be nearly 5 years ago. Four years ago last December.

3374. How long was this transaction kept afloat by renewals?—Quite a while I think.

3375. Each renewal was about for how long—three or four months?—I cannot remember, it was quite a while.

3376. Do you remember when you signed the last?—No.

3377. How long is it since you last saw it?—I must have signed two or three. It might be that, or it might be more. I used to call in the bank but I cannot exactly tell you about this.

3378. Is it a year since the last was signed?—It is more than that.

3379. More than two years?—More than that I should judge. It must be all that.

3380. You cannot speak any closer than that?—No.

CHARLES LARKE re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. German :

3381. You were examined yesterday touching some notes that were in the Standard Bank at Colborne. Can you give us any further light regarding those notes than you gave us yesterday?—Nothing further. I said here yesterday that it was necessary to go home to get further information.

3382. You said you had some books here?—The note in question was for collection. The books would show the first two names, and would show that it was signed for. I said I could produce that book.

3383. Who signed for the note?—J. Ketchum, I think. The note was left in for collection for a private party.

3384. Did Ketchum leave the note there for collection?—I cannot say as to that.

3385. But he signed for it when it was taken away?—The note was left for collection for Mrs. Strong, a widow lady and a friend of Mr. Ketchum. The receipt shows his signature for it.

3386. All you have as to that note was the names of the makers?—That is all that is in the books.

3387. When was the Pickworth note paid?—I gave that yesterday.

3388. Then there was another note which you gave Mr. Payne for collection?—That was for suit.

3389. Did you give us the date of the handing of that note to Mr. Payne for collection?—Yes; it is in evidence.

3390. You have no further information in regard to these notes than you gave yesterday?—I have the books if necessary.

3391. They do not give any further light than what that memorandum contains?—No, sir.

By Mr. Barron :

3392. You say this note that was left in for collection by Mr. Ketchum was for a widow lady, Mrs. Strong?—I could not say it was left in by him. It was on her account.

3393. Did you receive any money on account of that note from James Stanley or a man named Bullock?—Not to my knowledge.

3394. Who paid for that note?—It was taken and signed for, but I cannot find any further entry. Yesterday you asked me if there were endorsers.

3395. The amount was over $400?—$482.

3396. You have no recollection of receiving anything on account of that note. It was left with you for collection?—Yes; and it was signed for.

3397. It may have been got back, because it was not paid in full?—Do you mean previous to that time?

3398. I mean up to the time you gave it back to Mr. Ketchum, was there any money paid on it?—Not so far as the books will show.

3399. Do you remember giving the note to Mr. Ketchum yourself?—No, sir; I do not. The clerks do that. I could not tell by my subpoena what was required, whether collection or not. I have not touched the books since I brought them here and I have looked to see if there was any further entry and I saw none.

WILLIAM SMITH, Deputy Minister of Marine, called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron:

3400. In pursuance of an order of the Committee you have brought all the papers asked for?—Yes, I produce a file of papers from the Department on this subject.

By the Chairman:

3401. Have you brought all the papers?—There may be a private letter to the previous Minister that would not be on this file.

3402. That is a private letter and, I suppose, would not be produced?—The papers I now produce are everything we have in the office, except as I say there may be a private letter to the Minister. That would be on his private file.

3403. You keep everything on file in the Department?—Yes.

3404. Are these papers all original or copies?—These are original and copies.

By Mr. Barron:

3405. You say these are all the papers that are in your Department relating to the subject under investigation?—Yes.

3406. Did you yourself make a search?—According to our system we have everything on file, and I got the file of papers required, at once.

3407. And the reason why you say these are all the papers is because your system is to have all the papers on file?—Yes, on file.

3408. And that particular file which should contain these papers you searched and found the papers you now produce?—I just took the file out of the box and brought them here, because I thought I had no time to lose.

By the Chairman:

3409. You brought the whole file?—I brought the whole file.

By Mr. Mulock:

3410. You have looked over those papers, I suppose?—Yes.

3411. Tell me whether there is one in regard to the appointment of Hedley H. Simpson?—Hedley H. Simpson was appointed on the 11th of May, at a salary of $400 a year. His age was 34 years, and he had charge of three lights at Presqu'Isle tower.

3412. On whose recommendation was that appointment made?—He was recommended for the position by Mr. Cochrane, the present member.

3413. Do you find such a recommendation among the papers?—I have a letter here from Mr. Cochrane to the Hon. Mr. Foster, who was Minister of Marine at that time. It is as follows:—

“You will please find enclosed declaration of Mr. Hedley Simpson, and the other certificates required by your Department. I trust that this appointment will now be made without delay.

“Yours truly,

“E. COCHRANE.”

By Mr. Osler :

3414. What date is that?—27th April, 1888.

By the Chairman :

3415. That letter appears to refer to some previous communication. Is it on file; if so, kindly read it?—Will I read the declaration of Hedley Simpson?

3416. No.—There is a letter of the 20th April, as follows :—

“Hon. GEORGE E. FOSTER,

“Minister Marine and Fisheries.

“DEAR SIR,—I wrote you some time ago about the appointment of Manly Simpson (‘It is Manly here’) as lighthouse keeper at Presqu’Isle Harbour. I was at your department to-day, and found that the said appointment had not been made. I hope this will receive your earnest attention as I informed him at Easter that he had been appointed.

“Yours truly,

“E. COCHRANE.”

3417. That letter refers to a prior letter?—It speaks of a prior letter, that is why I say, it is possible that there may be a private letter kept by the Minister of Marine in his private file. I will read the report of Council; I suppose just now that will be in order.

By M. Mulock :

3418. The appointment had not been made when the last letter was received, I presume? That letter was dated 11th of May, was it not?—The Order in Council appointing him is dated 11th May, 1888 :

“Certified extract from a minute of a meeting of the Treasury Board held on 8th May, 1888, approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council on 11th May, 1888, That Mr. Hedley H. Simpson be appointed keeper of the range lights in Presqu’Isle Harbour, and also to have charge of the buoys in the harbour, at a salary of $400 per annum, vice Mr. G. B. Simpson, deceased.

“JOHN J. MCGEE,

“Clerk of the Privy Council.”

3419. When was that communicated to Mr. Simpson?—On the 22nd of May, 1888.

3420. And then he entered on his duties?—Yes.

By the Chairman :

3421. He was in charge already?—He was officially notified that he had been appointed.

By Mr. Cochrane :

3422. Did he get allowed as large a salary as his predecessor?—Mr. G. B. Simpson, recently deceased, was allowed a salary of $375 for attending the two range lights and 13 spar buoys. In February, 1877, his salary was increased to $425, compensation for looking after the standing timber at Presqu’Isle Peninsula. In March, 1878, his salary was placed at $375, as it was found expedient to relieve Mr. Simpson from the charge of the timber. In 1883, his salary was increased to $475, owing to the establishment of a new light at Calf Pasture Shoal, and he has remained at this figure ever since. The station is a very eligible one, there being a good house and four or five acres of good land attached to it; and Mr. Harty is of opinion—that is our surveyor—that $400 would be ample remuneration.

By the Chairman :

3423. Then his salary was $400, instead of $475? $75 less than his father?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron :

3424. Mr. Hedley Simpson performed the same duties that his father did?—Yes. I presume there must have been a previous letter respecting Mr. Simpson which was a private letter to Mr. Foster.

3425. You think there is a letter?—I think so, because Mr. Cochrane says “ I wrote you sometime ago ” and I see no letter from him on that file.

The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, Friday, 4th September, 1891.

Committee met—MR. TISDALE in the Chair.

WILLIAM L. PAYNE called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

3426. Mr. Payne, you are a solicitor practising in Colborne, I understand?—Yes.

3427. And you are solicitor for the Standard Bank there?—I am.

3428. Are you the only Mr. Payne, solicitor in Colborne?—I am.

3429. The only one?—Yes.

3430. You were liable on a note which Mr. Larke, manager of the bank, gave to you for collection?—I was.

3431. Who were on the note with you?—(Counsel objected.)

3432. The note was put into your office?—It was put into my office. But I was sick in bed at the time.

3433. Did you see the note at the time?—I do not know that I saw it then; I saw it one time, but it was before this.

3434. It was before that you saw it?—Yes.

3435. Did you see the note before it was paid?—I do not know that I did.

3436. But the note was in your office when you were sick?—Yes.

3437. Into whose hands would it go?—I cannot tell.

3438. Well now, try and consider. Who was in charge of the office at the time?—I think it was a man named Nichol.

3439. Does he live there now?—No. I do not know where he lives.

By Mr. Mulock :

3440. Was he your managing clerk there?—Yes.

3441. What was his first name?—Douglas was his first name.

By Mr. Barron :

3442. Have you any knowledge yourself of this note having been placed in your hands for collection by Mr. Larke?—No. It was not placed in my hands, but in the hands of Nichol.

3443. Who was your managing clerk?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

3444. Do you know where the note is now?—No.

3445. You cannot find the note yourself.—No.

By Mr. Barron :

3446. You were one of the parties to the note yourself?—I was the endorser.

3447. What did you do with the note?—I cannot tell what became of it. It may have been destroyed in the office.

3448. Have you looked for the note?—Yes; but I cannot find it.

3449. It may have been destroyed by somebody in the office?—Yes. I cannot tell you what became of it. I was not the maker, I was simply the endorser.

3450. Was the note protested?—Yes.

3451. You are sure of that?—I know it was.

3452. Who signed the notarial protest?—I cannot say that.

3453. You do not know?—No.

3454. You are solicitor for the bank?—Yes.

3455. And you are notary for the bank as well as solicitor?—Yes; but I have not always protested notes, sometimes when I have not been there, other parties have protested the notes.

3456. You cannot say who did so on this occasion?—No. I have no distinct recollection of the protest of this note at all.

3457. You know as a matter of fact that it was protested?—I do not know personally that it was. I have no recollection of ever seeing it.

3458. Do you recollect anything about Hedley Simpson and James Stanley paying $200 or any sum to the postmaster, Mr. Cochrane—postmaster at Colborne—to give to you?—I do not know anything about it. I do not know who gave me the money.

3459. You know it was paid?—I know I received $200 from Mr. Cochrane, the postmaster, and that the money had been left with him by somebody.

3460. You received $200 from Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.

3461. And was that amount paid into the bank?—Yes.

3462. To your credit?—On account of this particular note.

By Mr. Mulock :

3463. You paid this $200 into the bank on account of the note?—Yes, on account of the note that had been put into my hands for collection.

By Mr. Barron :

3464. Will you describe the note, please?—I do not know that I can describe it more than I have done.

3465. You were the endorser of the note?—Yes.

3466. Who else?—I do not know whether anybody else was endorser or not.

3467. Might I refresh your memory. Were Willoughby and Pickworth on the note?—I think they were the makers.

3468. Who were the endorsers?

Counsel objected.

Mr. Willoughby, M.P.P., was asked whether he had the note in question in his possession, and replied that he had not, and that he did not know whether the note was in existence.

Mr. OSLER withdrew his objection.

By Mr. Mulock :

3469. What was the amount of the note?—Something over $600.

By Mr Barron :

3470. Then, Mr. Payne, you say that Dr. Willoughby and Mr. Pickworth were makers of the note?—Yes.

3471. And you were endorser?—Yes.

3472. And who else was endorser?—I think Mr. Cochrane was endorser.

3473. Mr. Edward Cochrane?—Yes.

3474. The present member?—Yes.

3475. And he was a member of Parliament last session?—Yes.

3476. He was in the House at the time?—I think so.

3477. Then the $200, Mr. Payne, which you got from Mr. Cochrane, the Postmaster at Colborne, you paid into the bank to be applied to this note?—Yes.

3478. How did you get the balance?—I don't know that.

3479. I understood Mr. Larke, the banker, to say he had placed this note in your hands for collection, that he never received it back again, but he received the money in payment of the note.—That may be.

3480. That note upon which you paid this $200 was a renewal of former notes?—Yes.

3481. And that was a renewal, by the renewal of a former note which was in Mr. Webb's hands for $1,000?—No, it was not.

3482. Then what was that note for?—It was a note which a few of us put our names to, to discount it and pay the other note.

3483. It was at all events to get money to apply to the old $1,000 note?—Yes, to pay the balance of it.

3484. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Cochrane in regard to the payment of that note?—None whatever.

3485. You never had?—No.

3486. He knew of course he was liable on that note?—Oh, I don't know anything about that. The note was sent to me. I did not see Mr. Cochrane at all.

3487. In pursuance of your instructions from the bank, did you notify all these parties that were on that note?—I cannot say what was done, nothing was done by me personally, I did not write to any body.

3488. Do you know of any one in your office writing to any body for collection?—I cannot say that I do. I suppose some one did.

3489. As solicitor on behalf of the bank, you would see your instructions were carried out?—That is my usual practice—the practice of the office.

3490. Then the practice of your office would be of course, in pursuance of your instructions to notify all the parties responsible on that note?—Yes.

3491. After that, did Mr. Cochrane see you in regard to it?—No.

3492. Did Dr. Willoughby see you in regard to it?—I don't know that he did. The Dr. and I were seeing each other every day but I do not remember any conversation between the Dr. and myself with reference to it at all. I don't think we had any.

3493. Did Mr. Pickworth see you at all about it?—I saw Mr. Pickworth on one occasion.

3494. Did he tell you he had received notice?—It was before the note became due.

3495. He did not see you, after the note became due?—I don't think so.

3496. You have no recollection of that?—I am quite sure he did not.

3497. Then what you say is this. That so far as you know, in pursuance of a notice sent from your office, none of the parties on this note ever spoke to you in regard to it?—I don't think so.

3498. Did you know anything about where this $200 came from?—Only what I heard here—that is all.

3499. You never knew, until what you heard here since this investigation began?—No.

3500. Do you say it was paid it on account of this note?—Yes.

3501. Where?—It was left for that purpose; it was handed to me in payment of this note.

3502. By whom was it handed to you?—Joseph Cochrane?

3503. The postmaster of Colborne?—Yes.

3504. Did he tell you where he got it?—No.

3505. Did you ask him?—I did not.

3506. You were just content to receive it? (No answer).

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

3507. You did not pay it yourself?—It was paid over from my own office. I expect—by my clerk.

3508. There was $200 paid on the principal, and there was a renewal of a new note for the balance?—Yes.

3509. And made with whom?—I think Pickworth and myself made it and Dr. Willoughby endorsed it.

3510. Did you pay the $200 over to the bank yourself?—No, some one in my office. I suppose it was this party that has been referred to.

3511. The manager of your business when you were sick?—Yes.

3512. Did you ever tell the other makers of the note that the $600 note was paid?—I may have told Dr. Willoughby I am not sure, but I expect I did.

3513. Did you tell Mr. Cochrane?—No, I did not see Mr. Cochrane.

3514. Did you see him or not?—I have seen him.

3515. Did you ever tell him that that note was paid?—I do not think I ever have had any conversation with Mr. Cochrane about it, I did not meet him very frequently and we were not the habit of exchanging conversation.

3516. Are you sure you did not tell him, or tell anybody else to tell him?—I am certain I did not tell him.

3517. Did he ever make any enquiries of you about it?—No.

3518. You were not sure whether you wrote to Mr. E. Cochrane or not?—I did not.

3519. Did any person in your office?—I think not.

3520. Your clerk did not tell you he had written to the parties?—No, sir.

3521. It would be this same man Nichol who wrote if anyone did?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

3522. Mr. Larke, who spoke yesterday as to the note, gave us as the date 16th November, 1887. Is this the note you have been referring to? Mr. Larke spoke of a note in the Standard Bank which was dated 16th November, 1887, the makers being Mr. Willoughby and Pickworth, and the endorsers yourself and Edward Cochrane, for $619.99, and due twenty days after date. He said he put it in your hands?—That is the note I am referring to.

3523. Mr. Larke said he placed that note in your hands—meaning your office, I presume—for collection, and that you paid it on the 29th February, 1888. When Mr. Larke was asked when the $200 on that note was paid to the bank he was unable to say. He stated, if my recollection is correct, that the note was paid all in one sum by you or your office?—It is not correct.

3524. If it is not correct, in what way did you dispose of the $200?—I paid it to the bank on the 25th February, 1888.

3525. And had it applied on the note?—Yes.

3526. You paid it to the bank and had it applied to the note on 25th January, 1888?—Yes.

3527. Did you see it endorsed on the note?—I do not think they had the note. There was so much collected on account of the note.

3528. The bank was the holder of the note?—They were the holders, but I suppose the note was in my office.

3529. It had not reached your office yet?—Yes; it was in my office in December.

3530. Do you remember the date when you received the $200?—I received it on the 25th January and paid it on the same day.

3531. You do not remember whether it was endorsed on the note? The note was in your hands at the time?—I just put the money in the bank and endorsed it as so much paid on the note.

3532. Then you raised the balance in the other way you spoke of?—Yes.

3533. The banker, Mr. Larke, said he found another note dated 21st February, 1888, payable in twelve months after date, for $482.18?—$446, I think, was the amount.

3534. My notes may not be correct. What we have to establish by you is that in January the $200 in question was applied on this note?—On the 25th January, 1888.

3535. You protest the notes of the bank?—Generally.

3536. Do you keep a notarial protest book?—No; the bank gives us one.

3537. That is merely a receipt book? Did you keep a book showing when you sent out the protest?—No, I never kept any special book for that purpose.

3538. Did you keep a record of whom you notified?—I have not, because I adopted a different system with the bank some four or five years ago and we keep a different record. We initial the books in their record and they initial our book when they are returned. When I receive them I initial them, and when I return them they initial. One checks the other.

3539. It is customary to keep a record in the office?—I did not keep any record. The only record I ever took was keeping the bank number, if it was a deed. That would be discount.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

3540. When was the balance paid?—29th February, 1888.

3541. Was it paid on the day you discounted the other note, or borrowed the money?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron:

3542. How do you recollect the day when you paid the $200?—It is the only transaction of the kind I ever had.

3543. That would not necessarily fix the date in your mind. This was two or three years ago?—It is three years last January.

3544. Did you make any memorandum at the time you paid it?—No, I did not.

3545. Have you since that, had occasion to think of the date when you paid it?—I never required any thought to fix the date.

3546. From that time to the present you have never thought of the date when you paid it?—I never had any occasion to do so.

3547. And not having any special occasion you did not?—I did not require to. I knew perfectly well what the date was.

3548. You might remember at the time, but you say you did not make any memorandum of any kind of when you paid it?—My clerk did. I did not. He did it by my direction.

3549. But you have not looked at that date since?—I have seen it, I suppose.

3550. I understood you to say you never had any occasion to?—I never looked at it specially. I may have seen it.

3551. Have you any recollection at this moment of having seen that date?—No.

3552. So that from that time to the present, that memorandum, which you say your clerk made, has never refreshed your memory?—No.

3553. The banker says that the note was paid on the 29th February, 1888, in one sum.—That is not so.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron):

3554. Do you keep a cash book?—That never went into my books at all. The only place that was entered was a memorandum in my office book.

3555. Cash book or blotter—Just a memorandum of daily occurrence in the office. It never went into the cash book.

3556. There is a memorandum of it in your memoranda book?—Yes.

3557. Have you that with you?—No.

3558. Have you examined it lately with a view of refreshing your memory?—No, there was no need to.

3559. As a matter of fact, you have not done it?—No.

3560. That is the only place in which it was entered?—Yes.

3561. It was not paid by cheque; you just handed the cheque over?—The cash was handed into me and I just handed it over to the bank.

3562. To whom did you hand it in the bank?—It was paid to the teller, I do not know who he was at that time.

3563. Have you no recollection of who the teller was at that time?—No, they have had so many changes there that I cannot recollect the different ones.

3564. You do not recollect?—No.

3565. And you say the $200, was paid when?—25th January, 1888. It was the 29th February when the balance was paid.

By Mr. Oster :

3566. With reference to the paying over of moneys which you received for collection were you in the habit of retaining the moneys for any length of time?—No.

3567. When you received the money for collection on the one day, you handed it over to whoever you collected it for?—I handed it over.

3568. There would be no object in holding the money?—I never did. I handed it over at once if the party lived in the neighbourhood, or else I gave him a cheque.

3569. Your practice would be to pay it immediately?—I know I paid it the same day. It never went into my pocket.

3570. Would you be at all likely to communicate with Mr. Cochrane on any matter?—I would not.

3571. Have you been on terms of intimacy with him or friendliness?—Personally we are not friends.

3571a. And there would not likely be a communication between you?—No.

3572. You know of the original $1,000 note?—I do.

3573. You have it, I think?—I have.

3574. Will you produce it (Note produced by witness.) This is the original note of which Mr. Webb produced a copy. There is an error in the copy, E. M. Cochrane appears at the bottom, instead of C. Cochrane, he is a nephew I think of the present member?—Yes.

3575. Robert Cochrane is a son of the present member?—Yes.

Mr. OSLER.—We will put in this note in place of the copy (Note marked Exhibit 1, and substituted for copy previously put in.)

By Mr. Barron :

3576. You are very particular as to the day of the month when you paid that $200?—Yes.

3577. Can you tell me the day of the week?—No; I cannot.

3578. Can you tell me how it is you remember the one and not the other?—I did not pay any attention to the day of the week.

3579. But you did to the day of the month?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

3580. Do you remember getting a further sum of $150 on account of this note?—I do not.

3581. James Stanley said in his evidence that he collected $150 which he sent over to you or to the bank to apply on this note?—It was never sent to me.

3582. Nor to your office?—No.

3583. Then it would be probably sent to the bank?—If it was sent at all it was.

3584. But it was not sent to you?—No.

3585. When the original note was given to raise money, which was applied on $1,000 note, what was it for, do you remember; what was the amount?—I do not remember the exact amount. It was somewhere near $600.

3586. Was there anything paid from the time it was originally given until it was finally paid off as you have now stated?—No.

3587. There was nothing paid on it?—No.

By Mr. Barron :

3588. Do you remember whether it was a public holiday, the day you paid it?—I do not.

CHARLES LARKE again re-called and further examined:—

By Mr. Mulock :

3589. I have called you, Mr. Larke, because on your first examination you were very methodical in not extending your search in your books to matters beyond the scope of your subpoena. What I wish to get, is the date of the payment of the $200 in the bank. Mr. Payne has sworn to a different date from the one you had given. He has given some date in February. You stated that when this was due you received it in payment of the note for $619.99 according to the entry in your books. Is that so?—Yes.

3590. Mr. Payne says he paid it on the 25th of January?—There is no such entry.

3591. Will you search to find it?—I can state from my own knowledge that there is not.

By the Chairman :

3592. What we want you to find out, is, whether you have got anything in the books about $200, and you say that to the best of your belief that $200 was deposited in the bank not on the 25th of January as Mr. Payne says, but on some date in February?—It may have been deposited in Mr. Payne's private account.

3593. Can you bring the book here that contains the entry?—It is difficult to bring the bank books from the office for the purposes of this investigation. You see it would cause inconvenience.

3594. How far would it inconvenience the bank to bring these things now. I suppose this particular book is not being used now:—There are two books that we cannot produce I think, but there are two other books that we can produce.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

3595. How many employees have you in the bank?—Three altogether.

3596. What are they?—Accountant, teller, and a junior.

3597. Now, if this money were paid, who would it be paid to?—The teller.

3598. Can you state who the teller was—is he in the bank now?—(No answer.)

By the Chairman:

3599. It might be possible that you can in some form fix definitely the time the $200 was paid in, and that is the information the Committee are anxious to have. Can you say who made the original entry in the books?—The teller might make one, the accountant might make one, and the junior might make one.

3600. Where would that entry be?—It would be in the past due entry.

3601. Who would make it?—The teller.

3602. Is he there now?—I think he is in Cobourg.

3603. Will you bring the books showing the entry at the next meeting?—Yes.

WESLEY GOODRICH called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

3604. Where do you live, Mr. Goodrich?—I live now on the Murray Canal.

3605. Are you employed on the Murray Canal?—Yes, sir.

3606. What position did you have?—I am swinging one of the bridges.

3607. Were you aware of the fact that Obadiah Simpson had been promised the position of bridge-keeper?—I believe so. I understood him to say that he was encouraged in that way.

3608. You understood that from Obadiah Simpson?—I understood from some person that he was promised it. I think he informed me that Mr. Keeler once told him, but I am not positive.

3609. Now you wanted the position yourself, did you not, Mr. Goodrich?—Yes, sir.

3610. Did you see Mr. Cochrane about it?—(No answer.)
3611. Will you kindly look and say whether you saw Mr. Cochrane about it?—I spoke to Mr. Cochrane about it.
3612. Before you got the position?—Yes, sir.
3613. What did you say to Mr. Cochrane?—I asked him if he could not assist me in the matter and let me have one.
3614. That was what you said?—I am not positive of the words I used.
3615. And what did he say?—He said there were others applying for it.
3616. What others did he say?—He mentioned Mr. King and Mr. Cardington, a farmer, I believe.
3617. Any others that he mentioned?—I am not positive that he mentioned any others.
3618. Will you refresh your memory. Did he mention Mr. Obadiah Simpson?—I believe he did.
3619. Try and think?—I will, but I do not remember as he did. My memory is poor. I had a sunstroke about three years before that; and I am not positive.
3620. Did he say anything about Mr. Simpson being an old man and too old?—He did afterward, but not then. He said I was foolish for letting my farm go.
3621. He told you that afterward?—I am not positive. I would not say he did.
3622. How long after the first conversation did he tell you that?—I cannot say.
3623. Was it before you got the position?—Yes.
3624. Then you had two conversations with Mr. Cochrane before you got the position?—Yes, I think I spoke to him twice and he told me I was foolish.
3625. The first time you merely asked him if he would help you and he said others were applying, and gave you the name of Mr. King as one, and in the second conversation he spoke of Mr. Obadiah Simpson?—I would not be positive that it was him. There was a good deal of talk about it.
3626. What about old man Simpson as being too old?—Mr. Wade told me that. I think it was him. I am not positive, of course, as there was considerable talk about these bridges.
3627. On the occasion of the second conversation with Mr. Cochrane, what took place?—He said: "I think you are foolish to do that, because if you dropped away and died what would your family have left to support them?"
3628. You would not necessarily lose your farm by becoming a bridge tender?—I had said I would give a life lease of my farm if I got a position on the Canal. Different people knew this in the neighbourhood.
3629. Who did you say that to?—To different ones. I knew there was others after the bridges, and I made that statement that I would give this lease.
3630. Mr. Cochrane said you were foolish to give a life lease of your farm?—Yes.
3631. Did you tell him you were willing to do it?—I told him I did not know what else to do, as I could not stand the work in the field; the sun hurt my head.
3632. You had talked with Mr. Cochrane about giving a life lease of your farm?—I explained it to him and he said I was foolish. I told him I did not know what else to do.
3633. Then you did give a lease of your farm?—I did.
3634. To whom?—To Obadiah Simpson. I believe that is the name. There is a lot of the Simpsons, but I think Obadiah is his name.
3635. At whose suggestion was that lease given?—If I understand you right, I suggested to do it myself. I proposed it first myself.
3636. What made you think of it?—Because my idea was, that I could not stand to work the land and I had made up my mind to go at something else.
3637. The fact of your health being poor would not suggest the giving to any man of a life lease of your farm?—If he had the promise by someone else that he would have a bridge, and he was old and the Government would not accept a man 80 years old, I was willing to give him a lease of my farm if he would give it to me.

3638. By giving him a life lease of the farm you were going to get the position of bridge tender?—The position that he said he was promised.

3639. Who was promised?—Obadiah Simpson.

3640. You were to take his place and give him a life lease of your farm?—Yes.

3641. Who did you understand that from?—From Obadiah Simpson, and Mr. Wade, his son-in-law. Mr. Wade brought him there and did the talking.

3642. Where was that business done?—At my place, on the property.

3643. How long before the lease was drawn?—Sometime before. I have no memorandum, and I cannot say. I cannot speak as to length of time.

3644. Might it be a month?—Yes, it might be three months. It might be longer. He had been promised the bridge in the spring, and this was fall.

3645. Did Mr. Cochrane know about this lease being given?—I do not know whether he did or not. I know he said I was foolish to do it. I saw him at Brighton and I asked him if he would witness the lease being drawn, and he said no. He was opposed to it, seemingly.

3646. He refused?—Yes.

3647. Then of course he knew the lease was going to be drawn?—He may have supposed it.

3648. Had you the promise of the position at that time?—From Mr. Simpson? Wade came there and looked over the place, and I asked Mr. Simpson if he was willing to exchange and he said, yes. I supposed it was a bargain, if he got it.

3649. It was not then that the lease was drawn?—No, after.

3650. Did you make any appointment to meet at Brighton?—Yes, to draw the lease.

3651. With whom?—With Mr. Wade and Mr. Simpson.

3652. How was it that Mr. Cochrane was there that day?—It was not that day. We set a day that the lease was to be drawn some two or three weeks hence. I set a time in the future that we were to meet and draw the lease, and I saw Mr. Cochrane in the meantime. I said something to him about witnessing the lease and he refused. I said no more, as I saw he was not willing.

3653. So far as you remember you only had two conversations with Mr. Cochrane?—As far as my memory serves me. We used to see each other often in the village of Brighton, but I do not remember anything particularly.

3654. Is this a valuable farm of yours?—No, sir.

3655. Who is in possession of it now?—Mr. Obadiah Simpson.

3656. Did he go into possession of it after the lease was drawn?—Yes, sir. He would not go on before.

3657. I see you gave this farm to him for his life without drawing any rent for it?—No more than you would draw from any life lease. As I understand it you cannot draw from any life lease more than the price of a peppercorn.

3658. Is that the way you like to give a life lease of property?—If I gave a life lease I would give it in the way the law wants it.

3659. You did not get that peppercorn?—He gave me a bag of apples, and I thought that was equal to it.

3660. What did you get for this life lease?—I was to get the situation at the bridge if he got it.

3661. If he got the appointment?—Mr. Simpson?

3662. Obadiah Simpson?—Yes.

3663. If he got the appointment you were to get it in his place?—Yes.

3664. What was the conversation about, in the event of your being discharged from the position; would you get back the property?—There was something said, at least I had heard something I could not tell from whom, that the probability would be, that there would be only one required on the canal. Some thought there would not be much traffic through there, and therefore I made that proposal that if only one was appointed and I was not needed that it was only fair to me to restore me back my farm. The arrangement was made, and we went to Mr. Lockwood who drew the life lease to Mr. Simpson. Mr. Wade was also there.

3665. Was anyone else present?—I do not recollect if there was any person else or not.

3666. Try and refresh your memory. Did you speak to anyone else about the matter?—I do not think I did, sir. I may have spoken to my brother something to that effect, but I do not recollect.

3667. Did Mr. Cochrane know it?—He may have heard it. He did not know it from my telling him.

3668. When you asked him to witness the lease, did you talk over the terms with Mr. Cochrane?—I do not think I did. I have no recollection of it.

3669. You simply asked him to witness the lease?—Yes; or to come and see it drawn—something to that effect.

3670. After you got the lease did you tell Mr. Cochrane?—Not to the best of my knowledge.

3671. Will you swear you did not tell him?—To the best of my memory, I do not think I did.

3672. And you say your memory is very defective?—I say it is not good.

3673. Do you know Mr. James Stanley?—I know the man by sight, that is all.

3674. Had you ever any talk with him?—Not a minute, until I met him to-day. He asked me if I would like to see through the buildings, and I said I would. I went with him and some others through the buildings.

3675. You never talked with him before to-day?—No; sir.

3676. What else were you to do besides giving the lease to Obadiah Simpson before you got that bridge?—I proposed to give $200.

3677. Who asked you to give $200?—Mr. Wade.

3678. Is he the only one who ever asked you?—Yes; to the best of my knowledge he is. I do not recollect any other person.

3679. Again I ask you is your memory defective?—It is a little—I do not remember.

3680. Would you like to qualify your statement by saying to the best of your knowledge?—I am perfectly safe in saying no one else did. I am going to swear to the best of my memory.

3681. Did Mr. Cochrane know you were to pay $200?—I cannot tell you what Mr. Cochrane knew.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

3682. You talked of the life lease to Mr. Cochrane?—I told Mr. Cochrane what I would do about it. He told me I was very foolish.

3683. You told him about the life lease?—I told him that.

3684. That you were willing to give the life lease of your farm to get a bridge?—Yes, sir.

3685. Did you tell him you were willing to pay $200 besides?—I did not. I have no recollection of it.

3686. At no time?—I won't say at no time. I think I did once tell him.

3687. When?—Some time before that.

3688. How long before that?—I could not tell you.

3689. You told him at that time that you were willing to give a life lease and the $200?—No, sir. Wade proposed that if I got the bridge I should give $200.

3690. You told Mr. Cochrane that Wade had proposed that you should pay $200 to the bridge?

MR. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

3691. You have just told me, I think, that you told Mr. Cochrane you were willing to give a life lease of your farm for a bridge? Is that so?—Mr. Cochrane mentioned to me that there was a man by the name of King who wanted a bridge. Then I said I would give $200 at that time.

3692. For the bridge?—For the bridge.

3693. What did he say?—He said he did not want the money. He said he would not have a dollar.

3694. Did he refer you to anyone else?—I am not sure whether he referred me to Obadiah Simpson or not.

3695. Did he refer you to the committee?—No.

3696. Did he refer you to Webb?—No.

3697. Or to Stanley?—No, sir.

By Mr. Barron :

3698. You did pay the $200?—I did sir.

3699. That was before you gave the lease?—Yes, sir.

3700. To whom did you pay the $200?—I paid it to Mr. Edward Cochrane.

3701. To the member for the east riding of Northumberland?—Yes. It was more convenient for me to go to him than to Mr. Wade. Wade's was a long way out of my way. He told me to take it to Mr. Payne, when I offered it to him.

3702. Who told you?—Mr. Cochrane. I said to him, "are you not going to Colborne soon? It is out of my way if I have to go on purpose." He said, "Wallace is going to-night with the grist." The team was standing in the yard and I suggested that perhaps Wallace would take it up. He said he could. Wallace went for his overcoat, and I took the money out of my pocket and asked him to count it.

3703. Whom did you ask to count it?—Mr. Cochrane.

By the Chairman :

3704. I think you had better tell the committee again what happened there?—I agreed with Mr. Wade to pay this $200. Mr. Wade lived at Hilton, quite a way from my place, and I went to Mr. Cochrane (he was in the barnyard at the time when I arrived), and I asked him would he take the money. He told me to take it to Mr. Payne at Colborne, but that was quite a way for me to go. I said, "Are you not going soon," as I knew he went there often. He said, "Wallace is going to-night with the grist." I had noticed the team and waggon in the yard. Wallace was going to the house to get his overcoat and I suggested that somebody ought to count the money. I said, "Would he." He did not answer me but he seemed not to want to do it. I took it out of my pocket and urged him. He then took it and counted it and then handed it to Wallace. Wallace had got back by this time. He said, "Wallace, give that to Payne." That is as straight as I can tell you.

By Mr. Barron.

3705. What did you give that $200 for? What value did you get for it?—I got the situation—the bridge.

3706. And that is what you gave the money for?—I suppose if you put it that way, I don't know any other. Mr. Wade told me he was holding it for some money he wanted to realise on it.

3707. Were you ever present at any conversation when Mr. Wade was present or Mr. Cochrane.—No, sir, I never recollect of any.

3708. Did you ever take any messages from Mr. Wade to Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir.

3709. Or from Mr. Cochrane to Mr. Wade?—No, sir.

3710. How did you arrive at the sum of $200?—I offered him at one time that I would give him that, and he said he would not take a dollar. Mr. Wade I suppose had heard that I offered $200. I did not ask Mr. Wade how he knew. I offered it myself, it was my own offer.

3711. To whom was that offer made?—To any person who had a situation on the bridge and would exchange with me, because I was not for working on the farm.

3712. You were willing to give $200?—I was, and to give the lease of the farm to any body who had the promise of the bridge.

3713. How did you discover it was necessary to pay $200 to get the position?—Well, I had heard sometime before that there had been a protest between Mr. Wade and Mr. Ferris, and that there was a deficiency there and they wanted to try and raise money to meet it. I thought if they wanted some help to raise I would help them.

3714. And you knew the money was wanted for that purpose?—I understood so.

3715. Did you know at that time that other bridge tenders were giving money for their positions?

Mr. OSLER objected.

I did not know it to be a fact.

By Mr. Barron :

3716. But you had heard it?—I heard it; I heard a good deal there is nothing in.

3717. When Mr. Cochrane said to pay the money to Mr. Payne or to take it to Mr. Payne, what did he tell you to take it there for?—He did not send me, sir. He just simply said, take or give it Mr. Payne.

3718. Did you not ask him whether you should give it to Mr. Payne?—I did not; it did not matter to him.

3719. You knew I suppose yourself?—I knew it was rumoured they wanted to get money for this—I supposed it was going for this. I did not ask any questions.

3720. Tell me the time when you paid the $200 to Mr. Cochrane—you gave it into his hand?

Mr. SKINNER.—He did not pay it to Mr. Cochrane.

WITNESS.—I asked him to count it and send it by Wallace to Colborne for me as an accommodation.

3721. What was the date?—I have no memorandum, I could not tell you the date. It will be two years ago this coming fall—from the fall of 1889.

3722. You said it was before the lease was drawn?—Before the lease was drawn.

3723. And the lease was drawn on the 15th of October, 1890?—I did not give the lease until after I got the position.

3724. And the payment of the money was before you got the position?—Yes, sir; a year ago last fall it was.

3725. Can you remember how long before you got the appointment it was that you paid the $200?—I paid the $200 a year ago last fall and I got the position a year ago last spring.

3726. You cannot fix any time more than it was in the fall?—No, sir; I cannot. I have no memorandas of the date.

3727. Not even the month?—I would not like to fix the month.

3728. Was the snow on the ground?—It was before the ground froze up.

3729. After harvest?—No; I think it was about the latter end of harvest. He had a stack in the yard that he was threshing.

3730. Was the ground frozen up?—I can give no fixed date.

3731. How comes it then this lease was not executed until such a long time afterwards? The agreement was to give the lease too?—I gave the lease whenever Mr. Simpson was ready. There was no hurry on my part, as far as I know, he took me to be a man of my word.

By Mr. Osler :

3732. With whom did you arrange this matter as to the payment of the $200?—With Mr. Wade.

3733. How long before you had paid this money was the arrangement made?—It was not a great while, but I have no dates.

3734. Who besides Mr. Wade had you the agreement with?—Mr. Obadiah Simpson.

3735. The old gentleman?—Yes sir.

3736. Wade is his son-in-law?—I understand so.

3737. And is that the Wade who is said to be the member of the committee?—I don't know who the members of the committee were.

3738. You were to pay $200, according to your agreement, to Mr. Wade?—Yes, sir.

3739. Were you aware at the time whom you were to pay it to?—No, sir.

3740. What did you say about Mr. Payne?—I said that when I presented it, Mr. Cochrane told me to take it to Mr. Payne, to give it to him.

3741. Why did you present it to Mr. Cochrane?—I knew he frequently went to Colborne and it was most convenient to me.

3742. You did not want to go to Colborne?—No, sir.

3743. If you had gone, who would you have paid it to?—To Mr. Payne.

3744. Had Mr. Wade told you to?—I would not be sure whether it was Mr. Payne.

3745. If you had gone in to pay it to Mr. Payne—would it be because of an arrangement you had made with Mr. Wade?—I understood, but I cannot say who told me, that the notes were in Mr. Payne's hands for payment. I got the idea somewhere.

3746. Had you that idea that you were to pay it to Mr. Payne before you came to Mr. Cochrane?—I could not say that I had.

3747. You could not say whether you had or had not?—I would not like to.

3748. But in some way, you don't know when or how, you got the idea that the money was payable to Mr. Payne?—I heard the notes were in Mr. Payne's hand, and he threatened to sue, and I understood they had to raise this money.

3749. Who told you that?—I could not say now.

3750. Did you have any talk with Wade about it?—When Wade came on the place we had a talk about it and he mentioned about the notes, but as to what he said about Mr. Payne I could not say now.

3751. You had two conversations with Mr. Cochrane?—I had, sir.

3752. And you say on both occasions he dissuaded you from going into the transaction?—Yes, sir, he thought I was foolish.

3753. How long was it before, these two interviews you had with him, you had seen Mr. Cochrane?—It was not a great while, but I have no dates.

3754. I understand you to say that on that occasion you offered Mr. Cochrane money and he would not take it?—Yes, he would not take a dollar. He spoke short and quick and would not take a dollar.

3755. You had offered him $200 for the place?—I offered him the money, but he said he would not take a dollar.

3756. And when you spoke to him about the farm, he advised you against giving it up?—Yes. He said I would be very foolish to give up my farm, and I told him since I had the sunstroke I was not so well able to look after it, and would like an appointment on the bridge. He said: "What will become of your family," and he advised me to think well of what I was doing.

3757. So, if you had acted on his advice you would not have parted with your farm or your money?—No.

3758. That was substantially what he told you on both occasions?—It was.

3759. When you saw him again you told him what you had done with regard to the farm—that you had a specific arrangement, and that Mr. Simpson was satisfied?—I told him Mr. Simpson seemed to be satisfied with the arrangement.

3760. Did you tell him what had been done?—No more than what I have told you. I told him that they were satisfied.

3761. Then you urged the money on him to accommodate you in getting the appointment?—Yes.

3762. Why did you offer him the money?—I thought he could take it to Mr. Payne, and save me a journey.

3763. You wanted to save yourself a journey to Colborne?—Yes. To save me a drive of 13 or 14 miles to Mr. Payne's. He said his son Wallace was going and he would take the money. He said, I might send it by Wallace to Mr. Payne.

3764. It was simply a question of your going there and leaving the money, or driving 14 or 15 miles yourself?—Yes, sir, it was.

3765. And without hesitation he took it and said his son Wallace would take it to Mr. Payne?—Yes.

3766. And you gave the money accordingly?—Yes.

3767. And that is all that there is about it?—Yes.

3768. But he was against you taking the appointment?—Yes, he opposed me in the transaction all through.

By Mr. Mulock :

3769. How did Mr. Cochrane know that you should take it to Mr. Payne?—I do not know. I did not ask him, and he did not tell me.

3770. Did he appear to know what the $200 was for?—I do not know that he said a word. He said in one of the conversations that I had with him, that they had got into trouble over the protest, and of course I understood that the trouble related to the funds. I understood somebody to say that there was trouble over the protest.

3771. What do you mean by getting into trouble—getting into debt?—Yes, I took it that way.

3772. You say you told Mr. Cochrane when you went there to leave the money with him, that you had made an arrangement about your place, and that they were satisfied?—Yes.

3773. You are sure you used the word satisfied?—Yes.

3774. What had you agreed to give at that time?—I had agreed to give the old gentleman a life lease of the place and to pay $200 for the debt of the party.

3775. Do you think that Mr. Cochrane knew that you had agreed to give Obadiah the lease?—I do not know whether he did or not. I do not know that it was anything to him whether I did or not. The neighbours talked about it, and other people would meet him and tell him what I had done. So he said to me: "Goodrich, don't you think you are foolish."

3776. You do not know who told him?—I could not say who spoke to him.

3777. I will read you this in order to ascertain if you heard of it before. I am about to read from the statement that Mr. Cochrane made on the 20th of August, 1891, in reply to one of these charges. In the course of his observations, Mr. Cochrane said: "It had been understood I would recommend for appointment to the bridge an old man named Obadiah Simpson, and arrangement was made between Simpson and Goodrich by which Simpson was to take a life lease of Goodrich's farm." Do you know that it had been so understood? Do you know that it had been understood that Mr. Cochrane would recommend Mr. Obadiah Simpson for the office?—I know that there was talk, that Obadiah Simpson had been promised a bridge, and I suppose it had been through Mr. Cochrane.

3778. You understood that he was to get the bridge?—Yes.

3779. And you found that if you were to have the bridge it would be necessary for you to satisfy Obadiah?—Yes.

3780. And it was to satisfy him that you gave a life lease of the farm?—Yes.

3781. Did you tell Mr. Cochrane that you were willing to satisfy Obadiah?—I might have done so. I dare say I did, but I really cannot tell.

3782. Had he mentioned to you that he had promised Obadiah?—I would not say whether he ever did so or not.

3783. Do you remember telling him what you were willing to do, in order to satisfy Webb and Obadiah Simpson, and that you had satisfied Simpson with regard to the lease, and Webb with regard to the money?—Yes, sir.

2784. You had satisfied the two?—I felt that I had.

3785. The arrangement was satisfactory all round?—Yes. I proposed to do that if that would satisfy them, and they were satisfied.

3786. And you entered upon your duties the following spring—in the spring of 1890?—Yes.

3787. This arrangement was made in the fall of 1889?—Yes, it was a year ago last fall.

3788. You did not give up possession of your farm until you got the appointment?—No, I think there was a conversation when I spoke of it before the agreement was entered into with Mr. Webb and Mr. Simpson. I said I would not give up possession of my place and of my house until I got the position, so that I would be in a manner set to the road.

3789. When you went to Mr. Cochrane with the money the harvest was over?—It was pretty nearly over.

3790. There is doubt of the year being 1889?—No. There is no doubt about its being a year ago last fall.

3791. In the following spring, you went on pay?—Yes, sir.

3792. The canal was not opened until the following spring, and you were the first tender on the bridge, were you not?—Well, Mr. Clouston was put on two days before me I believe.

3793. But you were practically there at the commencement—at the opening of the canal?—Yes, sir.

3794. And you drew pay for your services that Spring?—Yes.

3795. And you received your formal appointment in the Fall?—I do not know whether it would be that way or not.

3796. Do you know that you gave more than the others gave for the appointment to the bridges?—I believe I gave more.

3797. Why did you give more than the others gave?—I was satisfied to give that on account of the state of my health. I wanted the position it did not matter to me what the others gave.

3798. Did you know what was the regular tariff for bridges?—I heard other people talking that they gave $150 but I do not know I ever heard a bridge tender say so.

3799. They were as low as $125.00 at one time?—I did not know that.

3800. May only paid $125 for his.—I did not know that.

3801. They went up afterwards according to the difficulty?—I could not tell you that. I made this arrangement to satisfy Wade and Simpson, and I did not care what the others did.

By Mr. Barron :

3802. You had two conversations with Mr. Cochrane?—Yes.

3803. At the first you talked to him about the lease?—No, sir, I think not.

3804. Was that the second?—Yes, sir.

3805. Was that before you had seen Mr. Wade?—It was before I had seen Mr. Wade that I said that I would give a life lease. It was public. I told Mr. Cochrane one day that I would do it and he said I was foolish.

3806. That was the second conversation?—Yes.

3807. You did not tell Mr. Cochrane anything then about your willingness to pay money?—The second time? No, I have no recollection of it.

3808. There was no conversation about money the second time?—No. I did say to Mr. Cochrane that I would sell that property for less than the value if I could get it.

3809. There was no conversation about paying any money at the second conversation?—About the bridge? No, not to my knowledge.

3810. It was in the second conversation he tried to dissuade you?—Yes.

3811. But the giving of the lease was mentioned?—I believe I said I would be willing to.

3812. He did not know your willingness to pay money?—I do not know what he may have known.

3813. There was nothing said about money at the second conversation?—Not about paying money, to my knowledge.

3814. When Mr. Cochrane tried to dissuade you, it was in regard to the lease?—Yes.

OBADIAH SIMPSON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron.

3815. You reside in the Township of Cramahe?—Yes.

3816. Were you desirous of getting the position of bridge keeper on the Murray Canal?—Yes, I was some.

3817. Did you apply to anybody for a position of that kind?—No, I did not. I may have talked to Mr. Cochrane some about it before that.

3818. Before what?—Before the Canal was given out.

3819. Before the positions were given out you had talked with Mr. Cochrane?—I had, yes.

3820. Did you express to him a desire to become one of the bridge tenders?—I suppose I did.

3821. You asked him if he could get you appointed?—Yes, and he told me no, that he could not on account of my age.

3822. What is your age?—80 years last March.

3823. Had you a conversation with Mr. James Stanley at any time?—Yes.

3824. What was your conversation with him?—He came to me and the first I knew about him was—I am getting so I forget everything.

3925. Take your time and don't hurry?—He gave me a right to the Canal. You know what I mean—the right to a bridge.

3826. He told you, you would be appointed?—Yes, he came to me and appointed me.

3827. That is, promised you the appointment?—Yes, promised me the appointment.

3828. Because you never were appointed, as a matter of fact?—No.

3829. He just promised you the appointment?—Yes.

3830. Then you felt sure you were going to get it?—Yes, I did. He told me to go and get a man—to appoint another man under me.

3831. To do the work and not you?—Yes.

3832. Because you were too old?—Yes.

3833. How was it you did not do that?—I found out that it would not pay, and I had a better position offered me than that, and I took it. I gave up and did not have any more to do with the canal.

3834. You got a better position?—I think so.

3835. What was the position you got?—There was about sixty acres of land that was a very nice little place and everything, and I got a life lease of that.

3836. From whom?—From Wesley Goodrich.

3837. What did you give to Wesley Goodrich for getting that?—Nothing at all, only I gave up my right to the canal.

3838. You did not give him anything at all?—No, sir.

3839. You mean money of course?—No money.

3840. But you gave up your right to the canal?—Yes, whatever it was.

3841. That is what you gave for the lease?—Yes.

3842. Are you any relation to Mr. Goodrich?—No sir, no relation at all?

3843. What relation are you to Mr Andrew Simpson?—He is a son of mine.

3844. What relation is Mr. Hedley Simpson to you?—He is a second cousin. I think; about that.

3845. And Herbert Simpson?—Well they are brothers. He is a second cousin of mine.

3846. Herbert and Hedley are brothers?—Yes sir.

3847. And Walter Simpson?—He is another cousin of mine.

3848. You say that James Stanley promised you an appointment?—Yes, sir.

3849. How did he come to promise it to you?—I do not know that. I cannot tell you.

3850. Did he come to you or you go to him?—He came to me.

3851. Did he tell you what right he had to promise it?—No.

3852. Then how did you come to think he had the right to promise it?—I knew he was in business. He just made the statement and told me what to do. He told me to get a young man on account of my age.

2853. Prior to Stanley coming to you, you had seen Mr. Cochrane?—No, sir.

3854. Then how did James Stanley know you wanted the position?—Everybody round the village knew it. The whole place knew it.

3855. Was it before Stanley came to you that you saw Mr. Cochrane?—I did not see Mr. Cochrane at all, that I know of.

By Mr. Osler :

3856. It was before the canal was built?—It was before the canal was finished that I saw him.

By Mr. Barron :

3857. Were you to pay any money if you got the position as bridge tender?—No, sir.

3858. And nobody for you?—No sir; nobody for me.

3859. But you did not get the bridge?—No, they said I was not young enough for it. I was to give Wesley Goodrich my chance at the bridge, and providing he got the bridge I was to have that place of his during my lifetime.

3860. At the time you and Stanley had the conversation he came to you about it?—Yes.

3861. Was there any talk between you and Stanley about giving money?—No, sir.

3862. None at all?—No, sir.

3863. Was there never any conversation about that at any time?—Not between Stanley and me.

3864. Well with whom?—My son went and spoke to him, I believe.

3865. Which son?—Arundel.

3866. Arundel Simpson went to Stanley?—He spoke to him. I think he told me so.

3867. Had you any conversation with James Stanley about Arundel going to him?—I told him——

3868. Whom did you tell?—James Stanley. I told James Stanley that I would get Arundel to go and act for me.

3869. You told James Stanley that you would get Arundel to do what?—Why to go in ahead of me.

3870. On the bridge?—On the bridge.

3871. What did Stanley say to you when you told him you would get Arundel on the bridge?—He said "all right." Send him down right off, that evening.

3872. Then did you do so?—Yes, sir.

3873. You say you had no talk to Stanley at all about any money in connection with the bridge?—Not that I remember.

3874. Did you see James Stanley afterwards—after the first conversation you had with him?—I do not remember whether I had or not. I cannot tell you.

3875. You can not recollect?—No. I am very forgetful. May be you think I make it so, but it is not so.

3876. You cannot remember whether you had any conversation with him or not?—No, if I lay anything down in any place at all I cannot remember where I laid it. I have to wait until I come across it some day.

3877. Were you present when the lease given to you by Goodrich and his wife was signed?—I do not know what time it was, but I was present of course. Hold on. It was put in Mr. Wade's hands. It was sent right off to be registered first. I think I had it in my hands that night and then it was sent right off to be registered, and then Mr. John Wade got it.

3878. Is John Wade a relation of yours?—He married my daughter. He is my son-in-law.

3879. You went to the station to come down here?—When?

3880. Two or three days ago?—Yes.

3881. And you did not come?—I did not come.

3882. Why not?—Because I had not any money and could not get any.

3883. Did you have any conversation with Mr. Wade about coming down here?
—No, I had not. I did not see him.

3884. No, but before you went to the station at all, and after it was known you were wanted?—No; not that I know of. I did not see him. He lives three or four miles away from me. My wife is very sick and I have to be home all the time. She is sick now. She was not fit for me to come away. It was not right for me to come away.

3885. Had you any conversation with Mr. Wade at any time about giving money?—No; nothing with him. He had nothing to do with it.

3886. Did you see him very often?—I have not seen him more than twice or three times during the winter. He has been too busy. He has been at our place a few times since then?

3887. But he frequently visits you?—Yes.

3888. Was he at your house frequently at the time the bridge positions were given out?—Yes, quite a few times.

3889. Had you any conversation with him at all in regard to it?—Oh, we might have talked about it, I do not know.

3890. He knew you had been promised a bridge by Stanley?—Yes.

3891. Did he tell you anything about paying any money?—No.

3892. Not a word?—No; not that I remember of.

3893. The subject of money was not mentioned between you and Mr. Wade?—Not that I know of.

3894. Not that you recollect of?—No. It is just as I tell you. I cannot remember anything.

3895. Was there any talk about your son Arundel giving you a lease?—Yes. Stanley said something of that sort. He would bind him, he said.

3896. You proposed to Stanley that Arundel should do the work on the canal for you?—Yes.

3897. Then who proposed the lease?—Stanley spoke about it. He said he would bind him to give me a share of it, or something in that way.

3898. Was anything said about Arundel giving you the lease of any property?
—Oh, no.

3899. Has Arundel got that farm?—No.

3900. Has he any property at all or real estate?—No, not a bit.

3901. I am speaking of Arundel to you?—That is what I understood.

3902. Then was there any proposition that Arundel should give you a life lease of his property, or any property.

MR. OSLER. Arundel never had any property to give. That portion of the charge is quite erroneous.

By Mr. Osler:

3903. Are you able to earn your own living; have you any means?—Nothing only when Goodrich let me have that place. I have that but that is not much.

3904. And as you have said your son is a man who is not more than able to maintain himself?—No sir, and his family.

3905. He has hard work to get along, anyway?—Yes, sir.

3906. Mr. Wade was your son-in-law?—Yes.

3907. And he was a member of the committee?—I don't know.

3908. He is fore-handed, is he not?—No, not very.

3909. Still, he is better than any of the others?—Yes, than any of my people. Still, I don't know though.

3910. He took an interest in getting you provided for, as was natural, did he not?
—Yes.

3911. He made that his business?—Yes.

3912. And it was through Mr. Wade's exertions you got the farm?—Yes.

3913. And you quite recognize that it was through Mr. Wade that the transaction was carried out?

JAMES STANLEY again recalled and further examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

3914. Will you please tell me, all the members of the committee at Brighton?—I don't think I could tell you all.

3915. Please do if you can, one after the other. You would be one at all events?—Yes.

3916. Who else?—Hugh McQuoid is one.

3917. Does he live in Brighton?—He has gone out of the riding. I cannot tell where.

3918. Where did he live then?—In the Township of Murray.

3919. Who else?—David C. Bullock.

3920. Where does he live?—In Brighton.

3921. Who else?—I am not certain whether C. Samuel Nesbitt was or was not.

3922. Are you certain about John Wade?—Well, I think John Wade was at a meeting once. I am not certain whether he was or not. I could not swear..

3923. From memory can you say whether he was present or not at, any of the committee meetings?—I don't know; I could not swear.

3924. Can you tell me anybody else?—I don't know whether Robert Clark was one; I am not certain.

3925. Was Tom Young one?—Well, I think so.

3926. Where does he live?—In the Township of Murray.

3927. Was Philip Lawson one?—Well, I cannot remember the names now, but I think he was one.

3928. Where does he live?—In the Township of Murray; I am not certain.

3929. You went to the old gentleman, that is old Mr. Simpson, and had a conversation in regard to his son Arundel having the place?—Yes, I went to the old gentleman himself, and told him about it. I said "Well, Obadiah—no, I said Mr. Simpson—You have a good chance of getting a bridge if you want it but you are almost too old" says I, "In any case you can recommend somebody. You can have the bridge." "Well," says he, "I will recommend my son."

3930. That is Arundel?—Yes. "Well" said I, "all right." A day or two afterwards it turned out that the son-in-law, Mr. Webb, had had a talk with him about the matter and it was thought that the position would not be sufficient for Arundel's family. Then they suggested another plan and let drop the idea of appointing the son.

3931. Was there any conversation with you and Arundel, as to Arundel's having the position after this?—No, not to my knowledge.

3932. Did Arundel go to see you about it?—No, not so far as I can remember.

3933. Then the old gentleman must have been mistaken about it?—I think so. I never saw Arundel.

3934. You saw him afterwards, did you not?—No, I never spoke to him about it in my life.

3935. You were present when Mr. Cochrane handed the letter to Arundel to give to Hedley?—No, sir, I was not.

3936. You said before Mr. Stanley, that you thought you sent Herbert Simpson to Hedley, but you were not sure. Herbert says that is not so?—Well, whoever I sent, it was a letter I sent, it was not a verbal statement.

3937. But you sent somebody?—Yes, but I am quite sure it was not Arundel.

3938. You are quite sure it was not Arundel?—Yes.

3939. It might have been Herbert?—Yes.

3940. You sent Henry May to pay two notes. One was made up by Pickworth and Ireland. Is that so?—Well, I won't say what I might have done.

3941. So Mr. Henry May told us?—There was a certain amount of notes to be paid?

3942. You know about these notes?—Yes.

3943. What were the notes?—There was only one note.

3944. These two men's names were on the notes?—Yes.

3945. They took them up themselves?—Yes.

3946. What other names were there on the notes?—I know there were Ireland's and Pickworth's.

3947. Did you send Henry May to pay these notes?—No, I did not.

3948. Are you sure of that?—Well, I do not know whether I sent him or not. I have no recollection of the matter. I know that the notes had to be taken up, and I know that the parties had to pay for them.

JOHN WADE called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Barron :

3949. You witnessed the signing of a lease by Mrs. Eleanor Goodrich and Wesley Goodrich and Obadiah Simpson?—Yes.

3950. Was that lease signed upon the day of which it bears the date—the 15th October, 1890?—I do not remember the date. I don't remember whether it was signed on the same day that the lease was drawn up or not?

3951. It was the Fall of 1890?—Yes.

3952. Were you acquainted with the negotiation that led up to the granting of the lease?—Well, I went to Mr. Goodrich, and had a conversation with him. I understood that Mr. Goodrich would give a lease of his farm to the old gentleman in exchange for the position on the canal.

3953. You understood that?—Yes.

3954. From who?—No answer.

3955. Tell me from whom?—From Mr. Cochrane.

3956. Who is Mr. Cochrane?—The member.

3957. You understood from him that Goodrich would give a life lease of his farm to Mr. Simpson?—Yes.

3958. Did you understand anything more from Mr. Cochrane than that simple fact?—Well, I understood that Mr. Goodrich went to him and wanted a bridge. He offered to give the life lease of his farm for one.

3959. That you understood from Mr. Cochrane?—Yes, I understood that Mr. Goodrich offered to give the life lease.

3960. What did Mr. Cochrane say about the matter?—Mr. Cochrane told me that he thought he was very foolish.

3961. Mr. Cochrane told you that he thought Mr. Goodrich was very foolish?—Yes.

3962. Still, he told him that he was willing to do it?—Yes.

3963. Notwithstanding the precaution that he had given him?—Yes.

3964. Was this all the conversation that you had with Mr. Cochrane?—Yes; that is all the conversation I had over it.

3965. And was that the reason why you went to Mr. Goodrich and talked this matter over with him?—Yes; I went to Mr. Goodrich when I understood he would give the life lease.

3966. You thought it was worth looking after?—I thought it was a good thing for the old gentleman to get.

3967. The old gentleman is your father-in-law?—Yes.

3968. Was that the only conversation that you had with Mr. Cochrane?—That is all with respect to this matter.

3969. Either before or since then with regard to the bridge?—Yes. That is all I have any recollection of.

3970. How did you come to meet Mr. Cochrane on that occasion?—He was at a funeral near my place. It was either before or after the funeral took place that he told me about the matter.

3971. What did he tell you?—That Mr. Goodrich came and offered to give a life lease of his farm for an appointment.

3972. You are aware, Mr. Wade, that the giving out of these offices of bridge-keepers was in the hands of a committee in Brighton?—I heard something about that.

3973. How did you hear it?—I cannot say.

3974. Did you hear it more than once?—I cannot say for sure.

3975. But you considered that you knew it?—Of course I knew that they formed a committee—at least I knew that from hearsay. That is the only way I knew it.

3976. Were you ever at any of the committee meetings?—I do not know. I may have been there when I was in the village on business.

3977. Were you ever present at a meeting of a few friends where the matter of giving out the bridges was talked over?—I cannot say that I was. I may have been, but I am not positive. It is sometime ago, and I never charged my mind with these things. I trade in Brighton, and I may have been there.

3978. You know the bridge tenders?—I do not know all of them.

3979. Who do you know?—Mr. Goodrich and Mr. Clouston.

3980. Who else?—Mr. Brown.

3981. Who else?—I do not know any others. I do not know any other men who attend bridges.

3982. Do you know how they came to get the appointments?—No.

3983. Never heard that?—No.

3984. Were you aware that they had to pay some money?—I had heard something about paying money.

3985. Did you ever talk to James Stanley about that?—I may have talked to him about it.

3986. Just see if you cannot recollect doing so?—I may have done so. There was a good deal of talk about bridges on the canal, and who was going to have them, but I do not remember whether I had any conversation.

3987. You cannot recollect any conversation?—Not at present.

3988. Nor with Bullock?—Not that I can recollect. Still I may have. He keeps a grocery in Brighton.

3989. How much money was Goodrich to pay?—I do not know.

3990. Never heard about it?—I may have heard something about money, but I do not know that Mr. Goodrich mentioned any money. Mr. Cochrane never mentioned money matters that I remember about.

3991. Did you not hear of money from Mr. Goodrich?—Not to my knowledge. I may have heard of it, but I do not know of it. There was a great deal of talk about letting out the bridges, and who were to be the bridge tenders, but I never had anything to do with it or charged my mind with it.

3992. Do you remember, in the presence of Arundel Simpson, Mr. Goodrich, telling—

Mr. OSLER objected.

By Mr. Barron:

3993. Did you and Arundel Simpson and Goodrich meet at any time and talk over the matter of a bridge?—I think one time, about a year ago last summer I met Mr. Goodrich on the road and spoke to him about getting up the lease. He did not get all the lease up when he left the farm and when the old gentleman moved on. He was called away suddenly, and I stopped him on the road about getting the lease signed, and he said, any time I got it ready he was ready to sign.

3994. Was Arundel Simpson present on that occasion?—He was present on one occasion.

3995. Was there anything said about money on that occasion?—Not a word, to my knowledge. I do not think there was.

By Mr. Osler :

3996. What you say is, that Mr. Cochrane mentioned it to you in an incidental way as to what Goodrich had been talking to him about?—I understood him to say that he came there and wanted a bridge. I do not know what conversation he had.

3997. And that he was willing to give a life lease of his farm for it?—Yes.

3998. What did Mr. Cochrane say he told him?—He said he told him that he thought he was very foolish. He said that he told Mr. Goodrich that he was very foolish to give up his farm to go on the Canal.

3999. You took up the idea that you would do well for the old man by getting him on the canal?—Yes.

4000. Was it your idea or Mr. Cochrane's?—My idea.

4001. Your idea was to utilize the situation for the benefit of your father-in-law?—He had no place of his own.

4002. You took it up in the interest of the old gentleman and carried out the bargain?—Yes.

4003. You carried out the bargain with Wesley Goodrich?—Yes, I talked it over.

4004. You did that without seeing Mr. Cochrane?—I did not see Mr. Cochrane until the lease was got up, and I do not know but it was mentioned since.

By Mr. Mulock :

4005. Who were on that note with you?—Two others.

4006. Who were they?—A man named King and a man named Nix.

4007. Do you remember the amount of it?—There was two notes to start on. My name was on the note and I think the others were on the same note for $1,000.

4008. I am speaking of the note when the $1,000 was divided up?—It was $200.

4009. When the division came, you and King and Nix went on a note for $200?—Nix and King and myself.

4010. When was that?—I cannot remember that.

4011. What became of that note?—Mr. Webb has it yet.

4012. Was it renewed?—No; it was never renewed, to my knowledge.

4013. Do you know what has been paid on it?—Not exactly.

4014. Has anything been paid?—I think there has.

4015. Do you know who made the payments?—I do not.

4016. Did you ever hear?—I do not know that I ever did.

4017. Did you ever complain that the note was kept up and not paid?—Who?

4018. You.—I never complained at all.

4019. I suppose you are aware that you are still liable?—Of course I be.

4020. You never heard there was anything paid on it?—I may have heard there was something paid on it.

4021. Was it paid by you?—No.

4022. By Mr. Nix or King?—I do not know whether they did or not.

4023. Did you not hear that Mr. Brown paid on it?—No.

4024. Nor that a man named Clouston had paid on it?—I do not know that I ever heard that Mr. Clouston had paid on it. I know that Mr. Webb spoke to me about it awhile ago and wanted his pay.

4025. Or whatever was owing on it?—Yes, whatever the balance was.

4026. Would you be surprised if you were told that some of the bridge keepers had paid some money on it?—I do not know whether they did or not.

4027. You might be surprised to learn that William Brown paid $150 on it?—I do not know whether he did or not. I do not think any person ever told me he paid a cent.

4028. Or Mr. Clouston?—Mr. Clouston may have paid something on it. Mr. Webb has never told me he paid anything on it.

MR. BARRON and MR. MULOCK asked permission to put in a number of letters, which were filed as Exhibits 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

THE CHAIRMAN—In regard to the letter of 31st March, 1890 (Exhibit 6) it is admitted by all parties to the inquiry that that letter was written by Mr. Cochrane and the official memorandum written on the margin of the letter is the memorandum of the Minister. It was received in the Department on the 8th May, 1890.

The committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE ROOM, Thursday, September 10th, 1891.

The Committee met.—Mr. TISDALE in the Chair.

S. S. ST. ONGE CHAPLEAU called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

4029. Can you tell us the date of the by-election at which Mr. Cochrane was returned in 1888?—The 9th January.

4030. When did the election take place?—On the 22nd of December, 1887.

4031. When did you receive the returned writ?—On the 7th February, 1888.

4032. That was the date of the return of the writ?—That is the date the writ was returned. I may state that the declaration is dated the 9th January, 1887, but it is clearly a mistake. It should have been 9th January, 1888.

4033. And he was gazetted on the 11th February, 1888?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

4034. What was the polling day?—22nd December, 1887.

4035. And the return was made on the 9th January?—Yes. This is the certificate of the returning officer :—“ I hereby certify that the member elected for the Electoral District of the East Riding of the county of Northumberland, in pursuance of the within written writ, as having received the majority of votes lawfully given, is Edward Cochrane of the township of Cramahe, in the county of Northumberland, yeoman, dated the 9th January, 1888. J. KETCHUM, Returning Officer.”

By Mr. Osler :

4036. Can you give me any reason why there was so much delay between the date of the return and the date of the receipt of it?—The letter transmitting that return was dated 28th January, 1888.

4037. And the delay between the 28th January and 7th of February, how would that be accounted for?—He must have written the letter on the 28th.

4037. You do not keep envelopes?—No, I do not keep envelopes.

4038. Do you keep records showing the papers received with the dates?—That is endorsed on the face of it.

4040. There is an interim of 4 weeks from the date on which he signed the return and the date it was received in the office here, and then he writes on the 28th January and it does not reach the office until the 7th February. It indicates slow transmission of mails?—Yes.

W. L. PAYNE again re-called, sworn and further examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

4041. Mr. Payne, at the last examination of witnesses here, Mr. Goodrich, I think it was, swore that he gave Mr. Edward Cochrane the member, a sum of money—

§200—which Mr. Cochrane thereupon handed to his son who took the amount to your office. Do you remember getting any sum of money from Mr. Cochrane's son?—No, not personally.

4042. You do not know of your own personal knowledge?—I do not, it did not come to me personally.

4043-4. Did it come unpersonally?—I do not know. It may have come to somebody in my office.

THE CHAIRMAN.—You remember that Mr. Payne told us that the moneys were paid—except these $200—to his clerk.

THE WITNESS.—If I remember rightly this was not paid until a year after the payment I spoke of before.

By Mr. Barron :

4045. You say that Mr. Wallace Cochrane's money was not paid until a year afterwards?—Yes.

4046. Then, of course, if it was not paid until then, you must have some knowledge of it?—I have not. The only knowledge is what Goodrich said about it.

4047. Well, what did he say?—I never heard anything about it until he gave evidence here.

4048. Have you any knowledge, from your office transactions or records, that the $200 was paid?—There is no transaction that went through my books on the date named.

4049. Well, you would not keep any memorandum in your office about it, I suppose. This would be a sort of private transaction?—Anything of this kind that would pass through my office, there would be no record kept of it.

4050. As I understand it, Wallace Cochrane may have paid this money or he may not—you do not know anything about it?—No.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

4051. Nobody told you anything about it?—Nobody said anything to me about it.

4052. Would it be paid to your clerk or manager?—I suppose so.

4053. Had he the right to pay money that way into the bank?—Yes, for certain purposes.

By Mr. German :

4054. There was no money to pay, that you had anything to do with, in the year subsequent to the note being given?—I remember the note; it did not become due for a year.

4055. The note that you came to take up—the $600-note—that was paid by you, Dr. Willoughby and Pickworth, was it not?—Yes.

4056. That was paid by you three named?—Yes.

4057. Was it likely that Wallace Cochrane would leave $200 in your office without you having heard anything about it?—It might have been. Sometimes for months at a time I was not about the office, and things went on that I knew nothing about.

4058. We have heard a great deal about the committee distributing patronage. Do you know whether it was any committee appointed by the Conservative Association of East Northumberland?—I never heard about it at all.

4059. So that if it was a committee at all, it was a committee of a few individuals amongst themselves to do something that was not authorized by the Association?—I know that it was not appointed by the Association, never heard of it, until the evidence was given here.

By Mr. Barron :

4060. The note for which this money would be given—the balance of that money you say was raised by the note that was given by the widow Strong?—Yes.

4061. This $200 that Wallace Cochrane gave you, it is likely it would be paid on that note, is it not?—It would be, if it was paid to anybody in my office.

4062. If paid to anybody in your office it will be applied on the widow Strong note?—Exactly.

By Mr. Osler :

4063. If the date of this payment of the $200, was January, 1888, the Strong note would be a debt of the party—the residue of the debt?—In February, 1888, was when the Strong note was paid—the 21st of February.

WALLACE COCHRANE called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Barron :

4064. You are a son of Mr. Edward Cochrane, the member?—Yes, sir.

4065. Do you remember on one occasion Mr. Goodrich, I think it was, being at your father's place and you and your father were there, and Mr. Goodrich handed your father $200 and your father handed it to you?—No, sir, he did not.

4066. Who did not?—My father did not hand me any money.

4067. Who did?—Mr. Goodrich.

4068. Was your father present?—No, I do not think he was.

4069. You do not think he was. Try and think again. Mr. Goodrich swears your father was present; that he handed the money to your father; that you went into the house to get your overcoat with a view to going to Colborne, and that when you came back your father gave you the money?—He did not give me any money.

4070. Your father did not give you any money?—No, sir, he did not.

4071. Your father was present though?—I could not say whether he was or was not.

4072. What was the occasion of Mr. Goodrich giving you the $200?—I do not know, sir.

4073. You have no recollection of it?—I recollect the occasion.

4074. If you recollect the occasion, how much was it?—He gave me the money.

4075. How much?—I do not know how much.

4076. Was it in a roll?—It was in a roll.

4077. Why did he give it to you?—It was just as I was getting in my rig to go to Colborne.

4078. What did he say to you?—He asked me where I was going, and I said I was going to Colborne.

4079. Was your father at home?—He was, I believe.

4080. Where was he at the time?—I could not say.

4081. Had he been in the yard?—I could not say positively whether he had been there.

4082. Will you swear he was not there?—I won't swear he was not there.

4083. If Mr. Goodrich swears he was there, will Mr. Goodrich be telling what is true or not?—I could not say, sir.

4084. You won't say that?—No, sir.

4085. Had you any conversation with your father?—I had not.

4086. You had not?—No, sir.

4087. Had you any conversation with Mr. Goodrich?—No, sir.

4087½. None at all?—None at all; only that he asked me to take this parcel to Mr. Payne at Colborne.

4088. Is that all he said?—That is all.

4089. You do not know whether the parcel was money or not?—I did not know until he handed it to me.

4090. Was it open?—Yes, I could see it was bills.

4091. Well, what did you do with it?—I took it to Colborne and left it at Mr. Payne's office.
4092. Who was there?—I could not tell you. He was a stranger to me.
4093. How did Mr. Goodrich come to be at your place that day?—I could not tell you anything about it.
4094. Why were you to give it to Payne?—I could not tell you anything about it.
4095. What were you going to Colborne for?—I was going on business of my own.
4096. Were you sent there by your father?—No, sir.
4097. Did your father know what you were going for?—No, sir.
4098. You did not tell him?—No, sir.
4099. Your father did not know what you were going to Colborne for?—No, sir.
4100. You did not tell him?—No, sir. I did not.
4101. Did he know you were going away at all?—He might from the fact of my getting ready.
4102. He did not ask where you were going?—He did not.
4103. He saw you getting ready?—He might have.
4104. He did not ask you nor did you tell him, nor had you any conversation with him, as to where you were going?—None whatever.
4105. Were you present with Mr. Goodrich in the yard when your father was present at any time?—No, sir.
4106. Then you say Mr. Goodrich never saw your father?—I do not say any such thing.
4107. You won't swear Mr. Goodrich did not see your father?—I will not.
4108. Were you with Goodrich all the time he came on your farm until you started?—I was not.
4109. Then Mr. Goodrich may have seen your father and you know nothing about it?—He may have seen him and I know nothing about it.
4110. You won't swear that Mr. Goodrich did not hand the money to your father before he handed it to you?—I swear Mr. Goodrich handed me the money.
4111. How long ago was that?—It was in the fall of 1889.
4112. A year and a half ago. Have you talked over that matter since?—With nobody.
4113. Never with anybody?—With nobody whatever.
4114. You never had occasion to do that?—No.
4115. You did not think of it at all?—I have never thought of it from that time to the present.
4116. Nor have ever spoken of it?—Nor have ever spoken of it.
4117. And yet your memory is so fresh you can swear positively Mr. Goodrich did not hand the money to your father?—I cannot swear that he did not hand it to my father, because I do not know. I will swear that he handed it to me.
4118. Can you swear that you three were not together at any time that day?—I can swear positively.
4119. At this distance of time?—At this distance of time.
4120. And you have not thought of it from that time to this?—I have never thought of it from that time to this.
4121. And you swear positively that you three were not together that day?—I swear positively.
4122. Can you remember why you went to Colborne?—Yes.
4123. Do you go there frequently?—Yes. I go on my own business.
4124. How often do you go?—Frequently.
4125. How often, on an average, during the month?—Once or twice a month.
4126. And you can pick out this particular occasion?—I can pick it out.
4127. And swear to it distinctly?—I can swear to it positively.

4128. Whom did you see when you went to Colborne?—I went to Mr. Payne's office and saw a gentleman there. I left the parcel there and came out.
4129. Who was the gentleman?—I do not know him.
4130. What did you tell him?—I told him the parcel was for Mr. Payne.
4131. That is all you told him?—That is all I told him.
4132. That would be in the fall of 1889?—Yes.
4133. Had you been talking over with anybody what you were going to say here to-day?—No, sir.
4134. You have never opened your lips to anybody on this matter?—No, sir.
4135. Not to a soul?—Not to a soul.
4136. Where do you live?—I live in Cramahe.
4137. With whom?—With myself.
4138. Who else?—And my wife.
4139. You do not live at home with your father?—No, sir.
4140. Did your father know that you were coming here to-day?—I do not know.
4141. Have you talked to him?—Not at all.
4142. Have you seen him since you arrived?—Yes.
4143. And you never spoke to him about this case?—I never spoke to him about anything.
4144. Did you speak to Dr. Willoughby?—No; not about this case. I was talking with him on other matters.
4145. And you spoke to nobody about this case?—No, sir.

By Mr. Mulock :

4146. You do not know how much was in this parcel?—I do not.
4147. And you were told to give it to Mr. Payne?—I was.
4148. And you did not give it to Mr. Payne?—I did not.
4149. You gave it to a man who was a complete stranger to you?—Yes.
4150. You do not know who the man is?—No, sir.
4151. You did not know when you handed the note to him?—No.
4152. You do not know the date of it?—No, sir.
4153. What time was it when you gave the money?—It was in the afternoon.
4154. What time in the year?—It was in the fall.
4155. It was in the barnyard the conversation took place with Goodrich?—Yes.
4156. Whose barnyard?—My father's.
4157. What was the size of the barnyard?—A common barnyard, I cannot say its size.
4158. A good sized barnyard?—Yes.
4159. Was it after threshing time?—I cannot tell you distinctly whether it was or not, but I think it was.
4160. Well, I suppose there was a straw stack out there in the barnyard?—Yes, if we had threshed there would be a stack there.
4061. There would be a stack there, if you had threshed?—Yes.

By Mr. Osler :

4062. The man that you gave the money to, what was he doing in Mr. Payne's office?—I suppose he was the clerk.
4163. Apparently in charge?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

4164. You say that you did not know the man?—I did not.
4165. Did he know you?—I cannot say.
4166. Had you ever seen him to speak with before?—No.
4167. Did you tell him who you were?—No.
4168. Did you tell him who the parcel was for?—Yes.
4169. You just went with the money and laid it down?—Yes.

4170. You left the parcel there?—Yes.
 4171. And said, there is a parcel for you?—Yes.
 4172. You did not state who it was from?—No.
 4173. Nor what was to be done with it?—No.

A. M. HAMILTON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Osler :

4174. Are you an elector in the East Riding of Northumberland —Yes, sir.
 4175. In Mr. Cochrane's riding?—Yes.
 4176. Did you take any part or attend any meeting at the last election there?
 —I was returning officer.
 4177. And as such did you attend the speech-making at the nominations?—I was there part of the time.
 4178. Were those charges that we are enquiring into—you know what they are—were they brought before the electors or discussed by anybody on that occasion?
 —Mr. Ketchum spoke of them. I do not know—I cannot give you the exact words that Mr. Ketchum used, but the effect of them was that Mr. Cochrane had been making money out of the Murray Canal bridges.
 4179. Was the lighthouse mentioned?—I cannot say whether it was or not.
 4180. This charge was made immediately after the nomination?—Yes, it was made in the afternoon.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

4181. Was Mr. Cochrane present?—He was on the platform.
 4182. He was present?—Yes.
 4183. Where did the meeting take place?—In the town hall, in the village of Warkworth.
 4184. Is Warkworth the place where the nominations are made?—Yes.
 4185. That is for the election in this riding?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

4186. Was this a large hall?—Yes, pretty large.
 4187. How large?—I can hardly say. It will hold about 700 people, I suppose.

By Mr. Osler :

4188. Was it a large sized, good, representative meeting, from all parts of the riding?—Yes, the hall was well filled.

By Mr. White (Shelburne) :

4189. Who is Mr. Ketchum? Is he an elector?—Yes, he was one of the candidates.
 4190. One of the nominated candidates?—Yes.

By Mr. Cameron (Huron) :

4191. Did he make a statement or produce any evidence?—He produced no evidence.

By Mr. German :

4192. I suppose Mr. Cochrane made a speech there and denied that this charge was true?—He made a speech there.
 4193. Mr. Cochrane denied that the charge was true, I suppose?—Mr. Cochrane had not the chance of denying it there, for he spoke before Mr. Ketchum.
 4194. But Mr. Cochrane did deny the charges during the campaign?—Yes.

By Mr. Mulock :

4195. The charge was denied by him and his friends?—Yes, at subsequent meetings held in the riding.

4196. And his friends denied it on his behalf in the newspapers?—Yes, it was denied in the newspapers.

THOMAS J. JOHNSON called, sworn and examined :—

By Mr. Oster :

4197. Where do you live, Mr. Johnson?—I live in the township of Cramahe, West Brighton.

4198. What is your occupation?—Farmer.

4199. Are you the son of William Johnson, the bridge-keeper?—Yes.

4200. Who owns the farm?—I do.

4201. How long have you owned it?—About 10 years, I think. It has been in my possession about 10 years.

4202. Is this the farm near Daniel Hudgins' place?—Yes, the next farm.

4203. Hudgins swears that he saw Mr. Cochrane's son driving away from that farm a sow and a horse? Do you know of an occasion when a sow and a horse were delivered from that farm which you say belongs to you. Tell me the circumstances under which those animals were driven away?—I was not at home at the time they were driven away, nor yet when they were sold. But they were sold for me by my father.

4204. To whom?—To William Cochrane.

4205. What did you get for them?—I got $75 for the mare and $20 for the sow.

4206. William Cochrane is a son of Edward Cochrane?—He is a son of Edward Cochrane.

4207. And the animals belonged to you?—They belonged to me.

4208. And were sold by your father?—Yes.

4209. They were gone when you got back?—They were gone.

4210. What represented the payment?—I got two notes.

4211. Two promissory notes representing the price?—Yes.

4212. How much in all?—$95.

4213. How much has been paid on those notes?—He paid me forty dollars on the note. There is an endorsement on the one which was paid last winter. I have the notes here (witness produces them).

4214. You produce the two notes given for the animals? One is for $45, dated May 30, 1890, being a promise to pay T. J. Johnson, and signed by William E. Cochrane. Endorsed on the back is the following :—"Cramahe, August 1st, 1891. Received from W. E. Cochrane the sum of $38.80 on the within note." The other note is of the same date, and is a promise to pay $50 eight months after date to T. J. Johnson. Endorsed on the back is the following :—"Received, $40 on the within note, March 10th, 1891." Were those moneys paid at the time those endorsements were made?—Yes; one was paid on 1st August and the other on the 10th March.

4215. You say that is a bonâ fide transaction?—Yes, sir.

By Mr. Barron :

4216. You say you owned the farm?—Yes, sir.

4217. How much did you give for it?—I did not give anything.

4218. From whom did you get it?—From my grandmother.

4219. It was left to you?—Yes, sir.

4220. By will?—By will. No; it was left to me by my aunt and uncle, but through the keep of my grandmother.

4221. It was left to you on the condition you kept your grandmother?—Yes, sir.

4222. Was that how you came to own it ten years ago?—Yes.
4223. Who was on it at that time? Was your father living there at that time?
—No.
4224. Who was?—My grandmother and my aunt.
4225. Did they leave you the stock on it?—Yes; whatever stock there was on the place. My grandmother had been childish for years.
4226. This horse and sow were not left to you by the will?—They are offsprings from what I got with the place.
4227. How old are you now?—I am 25.
4228. So that ten years ago you were only 15?—I was about 17 when I got the place.
4229. Did you come into the possession of it at once?—Yes; I did. I went into possession at once; we lived on the place.
4230. Your father lived there, too?—Yes.
4231. And he worked the place?—He worked the place.
4232. Did he derivè the rents and profits from the place?—We did together.
4233. How much did you get? What share did you get?—I cannot tell you exactly what share I got.
4234. You got no particular share, in fact?—I derived benefits from the place.
4235. But you cannot say how you divided up?—No.
4236. Your father was minding the place, you being under age?—Well, we were working together. I cannot say that he was managing the place.
4237. Of course when you sold, as you say, this horse and sow to young Mr. Cochrane, there were none of the original cattle, left you by the will, about the place?
—None of the cattle—no.
4238. Or the horses either?—The offsprings of the horses were. The horse I sold to Mr. Cochrane was a young mare that I traded for a mare my grandmother gave me.
4239. Did your father ever sell anything else off this place besides these two animals?—Yes.
4240. Did he get the money for them?—No. He sold a cow to Mr. Wm. Cochrane and received a note. It was a note that Mr. Cochrane's mother-in-law gave.
4241. Was your father in the habit of selling stuff off the place and getting notes or money for it in exchange?—Not without permission.
4242. Did he always ask your permission?—Always.
4243. He sold these without asking your permission—the horse and sow to William Cochrane?—He did not.
4244. But he did not talk to you beforehand?—Yes; he did.
4245. You are sure of it?—Yes.
4246. What was the conversation?—I went to Rochester a year ago last spring to work there. Before I went away I told my father that if he got a chance to sell the animals he could do so. I wanted $75 for the mare and $20 for the sow. After I got into the States, my father wrote to me, stating that Mr. Cochrane wanted this horse. It was not a desirable horse for anyone to have, because it was a kicker. My father wrote to me and asked me if I would let him have the horse for $75.
4247. Well, they were sold in your absence, at all events?—Yes.
4248. When was it you went to the States?—I went down on the 6th of May.
4249. That was 1890, was it?—Yes.
4250. When did you come back?—I came back on the 1st day of November or the last day of October, I am not sure which.
4251. You went on the 6th May and came back on the following November?—Yes.
4252. When these notes were drawn up were they given to you?—Yes; they were given to my mother.
4253. They were given to your mother?—Yes; they were given to her; they were drawn up for me.
4254. You were not present when they were drawn up?—No.

4255. Whom did you get them from?—I got them from my mother when I came home.

4256. That was in November, was it?—Yes.

4257. When did you get them?—I am not sure about that; I cannot tell you. It was shortly after I came home. If I am not mistaken, the first word I received about the notes was when Mr. Cochrane made the first payment.

4258. That would be, I think, in March?—Yes; I think I asked my mother for the notes at that time.

4259. For the purpose of making the endorsement?—Yes.

4260. Did you make the endorsement?—Yes.

4261. Did you receive the money?—Yes.

4262. When?—On the 10th March, 1891.

4263. From whom?—From William Cochrane.

By Sir Adolphe Caron:

4264. Is William Cochrane a son of the member?—Yes.

By Mr. Barron:

4265. 1st August, 1891, is the date you received the other money?—Yes. I endorsed the $28 on one, and let $12 go on the other note.

4266. You say that on the particular dates you refer to, you received the moneys?—Yes.

4267. Where were these notes all this time? In your custody?—What time do you refer to?

4268. From the time they were given on 30th May, were they in your custody?—No; they were in my mother's.

4269. Then you knew nothing about these notes until you returned in November, 1890?—Nothing, except that my father had written to me about them.

4270. Did you sell anything else to William Cochrane?—Yes.

4271. What else did you sell?—I sold him harness and a waggon.

4272. How much did you get for the harness?—$20.

4243. And the waggon?—$25.

4274. Did he pay you for them?—He gave me three tons of hay and 25 bushels of oats, and for the remainder he gave me a note for $8.25.

4275. Have you the note?—Yes; this is the note for $8.25.

4276. What is this note for?—It is for the balance on the harness and the waggon.

4277. When did he give you this?—I think it was dated the 1st December.

4278. It does not bear on the face of it any date at all?—It was in December—1st December.

4279. The note says: "I promise to pay William Johnson for value received, the sum of $8.25, with interest." That was written last fall, was it?—Yes.

4280. When was it signed?—It was signed on the 1st of December.

4281. And it is not paid yet?—No; it is not due until December.

4282. You cannot give any definite time when you got the load of hay?—No; I cannot fix any date.

4283. Can you give us any idea of the time?—It was some time in the fall. It was late in the fall along about December.

4284. This would be a year note?—Yes.

4285. You are certain you sold these things to William E. Cochrane?—Yes.

4286. And got his note for them?—Yes; his notes.

4287. Do you know that he stated under oath that he did not own any property?—I know that it is said that he does not own any property.

4288. You do not know whether he has sworn to it, do you?—No; I do not.

4289. You never heard him say that he did not own any property?—I never heard William Cochrane say so, but I have heard others speak about it.

4290. Did you sell him anything else?—No; I did not.

4291. Did your father sell him anything else?—Yes.
 4292. What else?—He let William's wife have a cow.
 4293. What else?—Only a cow.
 4294. How much did he give for the cow?—I think it was let go for $20 in lieu of a note.
 4295. Then, did William's wife hold a note of your father's?—Yes.
 4296. For how much?—For $20. I have got the note with me.
 4297. Let me see the note. It is dated the 13th February, 1888, and is payable to Mrs. Isaac Hare, Cramahe?—Yes.
 4298. "I promise to pay Mrs. Isaac Hare the sum of $20, value received, at interest at 6 per cent. (Sgd) William H. Johnson." So that was a note for $20?—Yes.
 4299. You say that your father gave the cow on account of that note?—Yes.
 4300. To pay that note?—Yes.
 4301. What else did your father sell to Mr. Cochrane?—We never sold anything else.

By the Chairman :

4302. That makes the procession of the cow, the pig and the horse, that we heard about?—Yes.

By Mr. Oster :

4303. Mrs. Hare is William Cochrane's wife's mother?—Yes.
 4304. Who died?—Yes.
 4305. And the note came to her daughter?—Yes.
 4306. Now, I will ask you about another matter. Your father is a bridge-keeper, is he not?—Yes.
 4307. Have you a brother in New York State?—Yes.
 4308. Where does he live?—At 138 Fulton Avenue, Rochester.
 4309. Has he been calling for any of you to go over there?—Yes, sir. He asked for some of us to go over there.
 4310. Your brother has been ill?—Yes. My brother has been ill, and he has a business there, and he wanted some of us to go and look after his business. He did not feel that he could leave his business without anybody in charge of it.
 4311. And is your father there?—Yes.
 4312. And your brother is ill?—He has been ill, but I believe he is better.

By Mr. Mulock :

4313. You have heard that he is better?—Yes.
 4314. When did you hear that he was better?—On the 3rd of this month.
 4315. Your brother is better, is he?—Yes.
 4316. When did you hear that he was better?—I do not know. I think it was the 3rd of this month.
 4317. What was the matter with him?—Inflammation of the covering of the heart.
 4318. Did you hear from your father that your brother was better?—No, sir. I have not received that information from my father, only from my brother.
 4319. Your brother in Rochester is married, is he?—Yes.
 4320. His wife is living with him, is she?—Yes.
 4321. Do you remember the time your father got appointed to the bridge—I am not sure of the time he got the appointment.
 4322. Do you remember the time when he entered on his duties?—Yes.
 4323. When?—I think the date was the 1st of April, 1891.
 4324. Last April?—April of this year.
 4325. Or last year, which?—This year.
 4326. You came home in October or November?—In November of last year.

4327. Where was your father living when you came home?—He was living on my place.
4328. He had not been working on the bridge that summer or fall?—No.
4329. How far do you live from W. E. Cochrane's?—I should judge about  $3\frac{1}{2}$  miles.
4330. Do you know how much your father gave for that bridge?—I never knew that he gave anything.
4331. You never heard what the bridges were selling at?—Yes, sir.
4332. How much?—I have not heard, I guess, this three years. I heard a rumour that they were to pay—well, I cannot swear to any certain amount, but I think it was somewhere in the neighbourhood of $150 or $200. It was not for the bridge, I believe; it was to go for the benefit of an old protest.
4333. That is, the men who got the positions were to pay that?—Yes, sir.
4334. Why were you selling your stock?—Because I did not intend to farm. My farm is only a small farm of 30 acres and the land is light at that.
4335. You did not intend to farm it?—No.
4336. And you are not working it now?—No.
4337. Who has the farm now?—A man by the name of Heaslip.
4338. He is a tenant of yours?—He works his own place and mine.
4339. You are retiring from farming?—Yes. I have been sick myself and could not work it.
4340. The price for the bridges you say was $200?—Yes.
4341. You sold the horse for $70, the sow for $20, harness for $20, and a waggon $25. Do you know how much these four make altogether?—I would be about $140.
4342. And the cow you say you swapped for some note of $20. That would make $160?—Yes.
4343. That is just about the market price of a bridge, was it not?—Well, you may take it that way.
4344. I see that that $95 transaction was divided into two notes; that took place in your absence?—Yes; but I was aware of the fact.
4345. You learnt of it, but you did not take part in the deal?—Yes.
4346. You were not there?—I was not there, but I was written to about it.
4347. You were not present when your father made the sale?—No; I was not.
4348. And he took the note of a man, whom you say has sworn he was not worth anything?—I did not say that, but I understood he was not worth anything.
4349. You gave your property to a man whom you understood was not worth anything?—Yes.
4350. You took the notes in exchange for your property?—Yes.
4351. When was the first payment made on either of those notes?—It was in March, I think.
4352. March, 1891?—Yes.
4353. That was after the rumor had been sent abroad about the sale of the bridges?—It is as much as three years ago that I heard of the sale of the bridges.
4354. Yes; but the public accusation took place on nomination day, in February, 1891?—But I heard nothing of it then.
4355. The first payment, however, which you got was after the charges had been circulated from the public platform?—Well, it was in March.
4356. And then you were paid $40?—Yes.
4357. Who came and paid you that money?—William Cochrane. I went to him.
4358. And collected it?—Yes.
4359. The note you found in your house when you came home, you say?—Yes.
4360. You still left it in your mother's possession?—Yes.
4361. Did you remonstrate with them for taking the note of a man not worth anything, in exchange for your stock?—I knew the man to whom I was selling the stock, and believed I would get the pay.

3362. But you were not selling the stock?—It was sold through me. I authorized my father to sell it.

4363. You left it to your father to pick out a purchaser?—No; he wrote to me about it.

4364. And you got the note for $50 and $45, making $95 in all, and the first payment you received on either of those notes was the 10th of March, 1891?—I think it was.

4365. And the next payment that you received was when?—The first day of August.

4366. That was the second payment?—Yes.

4367. Who gave you the money, did you say?—William Cochrane.

4368. Do you know where he got the money that he handed you in March?—I do not.

4369. He did not tell you where he got the money?—No.

4370. Do you know where he got it in the other case?—Yes; I know where he got the other.

4371. But about the March payment, you do not know anything?—No; I do not.

4372. William Cochrane lives about three and a-half miles from this farm?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

4373. Separate from his father?—Yes; the father lives on one farm and the son on another.

By Mr. Osler :

4374. What reason had you for supposing that these notes would be paid, although you had heard that he had no money?—Well, I have known him since I knew anything, and he never acted in anything but a proper way with our family. I have confidence in him, and the stock was something we did not want.

By Mr. Mulock :

4375. You would rather have a doubtful note than good stock?—Yes.

By Mr. German :

4376. Did your father discuss with you the question of getting the berth on the canal?—Yes; he has talked about it for the last four or five years.

4377. He has said he would like to get a bridge?—Yes.

4378. And I suppose you talked over the question of the money for the bridge? Counsel objected.

By Mr. German :

4379. Did you and your father discuss the money to be paid on account of the bridge?—We never did.

4380. You never talked with your father about the money?—Not about paying the money.

4381. Have you got the letters you received from your father, regarding the sale of the stock, when you were in the States?—No; I destroyed them.

4382. When did you destroy them?—They were destroyed on the other side of the lake.

4383. You did not bring them here at all?—No.

4384. Can you remember the contents?—I can recollect in a general way what they said.

4385. Tell us?—He wrote me like this: that Will wanted to get the mare; that he had hitched off the mare for several days and Will wanted to get her. He said himself that he did not like the mare, and asked me if I would be willing to let Will have the mare on his note. I wrote him back and told him that I would—that is all.

4386. There was no reference to the bridges in these letters?—No; nothing was said about the bridges.

4387. You are quite sure?—Nothing was said about the bridges in this respect at all. After he found out that I would let him have the mare he wrote asking about the sow. We had two sows, and we did not want both. I told my father that if we could get $20 for the sow to let her go.

4388. You endorsed the note?—Yes; I made the endorsement on the note and he paid me the money.

4389. William Cochrane paid you the money?—Yes.

4390. On both occasions?—Yes.

4391. And you kept the money?—Yes.

4392. You did not give it to your father?—No; my father never saw the money.

Mrs. EMMA F. SIMPSON called, sworn and examined:—

By Mr. Osler :

4393. You are the wife of?—Herbert W. Simpson.

4394. It is said, Mrs. Simpson, that you read a letter which purported to come from Mr. Edward Cochrane, the member, and was addressed to Hedley Simpson; that letter in transit being carried by Arundel Simpson, or in the hands of somebody, was brought to you and read by you. What do you say to that?—I never read any letter of the kind; I have never seen it, so of course I never read it.

4395. You never read a letter, that passed between Mr. Cochrane, M.P., and Mr. Hedley Simpson?—No.

4396. Did you ever see a letter from Mr. Edward Cochrane?—I never saw any letter from Mr. Cochrane to any person.

By Mr. Barron :

4397. You knew that Hedley Simpson was applying for the position of light-house-keeper?—Certainly.

4398. That was generally talked of amongst the family?—Yes.

4399. Did you know that Hedley Simpson had gone to see Mr. Stanley about it at all?—No; I knew nothing about it—I knew nothing about any methods he took, except in making application to the Department.

4400. You knew, of course, he was applying for the position?—Yes; I knew he made an application to the Department.

4401. You are in the habit, Mrs. Simpson, I believe, of doing business for your husband—doing any reading or writing that has to be done?—Not altogether.

4402. Well any that has to be done?—I act as clerk sometimes to my brother-in-law.

4403. What is his name?—Hedley Simpson.

4404. You act as clerk for him?—Sometimes.

4405. You perhaps are a little better educated than the others?—It is a little more convenient, I suppose.

4406. Were you present at any time when a conversation took place between Herbert and Hedley Simpson?—Not that I know of; not that I remember of.

4407. You will not swear that you were not present at any conversation between them?—Why no, because it is not a thing I charge my mind with.

4408. I suppose you have not charged your memory with anything in regard to this matter that happened two or three years ago?—Not particularly.

4409. Were you present at any conversation when Hedley Simpson, Herbert Simpson, and Arundel Simpson, were together and talked over the matter?—I do not remember.

4410. Who came down with you here?—I came down myself.

4411. Any gentleman with you?—None at all. My little daughter came with me.

4412. Is Mr. James Stanley here?—I saw him.
4413. Was he on the train?—I did not see him on the train.
4414. You have seen Mr. Stanley since?—I have seen him about here.
4415. Have you talked to him about this matter?—Not about this matter. I am not intimately acquainted with Mr. Stanley so of course I have not spoken much to him.
4416. Have you spoken to Mr. Cochrane about these proceedings?—No.
4417. You have never spoken to him about it?—Why, no. He is not an intimate friend.
4418. Has he never talked to you about this matter at all?—I am quite sure I had no talk with him.
4419. You have not talked with Mr. Cochrane about it?—No.
4420. You never spoke to him about it last night?—No, sir. I never spoke to him about his matter. I did not know Mr. Cochrane's countenance until this morning.
4421. You did not see him?—I suppose I saw him, but I did not know his countenance.
4422. Hedley Simpson does not deny that he received a letter, but you won't swear that the letter was not written?—I do not know what Hedley said.
4423. Did Hedley ever tell you he received a letter?—I do not know.
4424. Did you ever hear of a letter having been written by Mr. Cochrane?—I have heard about it lately.
4425. When did you first hear of it?—I could not remember.
4426. You say lately? When did you first hear of a letter having been written?—Since I heard of these proceedings. I could not tell you what was the first day.
4427. Whom did you hear that from?—I do not know. I may have read it first in the papers, and heard it talked of by my husband.
4428. Do you take the daily papers?—No.
4429. But you read it at all events. Did you know that Mr. Arundel Simpson said the letter was read over by him in your presence and in Herbert Simpson's presence. Did you know that?—I did not know that he said any such thing.
4430. And you do not want to swear now that you did not read it?—Why most certainly.
4431. Most certainly what?—Most certainly I did not read the letter. I never saw the letter.
4432. Whom was the letter from?—How should I know when I did not see the letter.
4433. You heard whom the letter was from?—I am supposed to tell all I know. I am supposed to tell all I know, not all I hear.
4434. Did you hear whom the letter was from?—I heard a great deal, but I cannot swear to that.
4435. Tell me whom you heard the letter was from?—Have you not been telling me just now.
4436. You tell me. Whom did you hear the letter was from?—Have you not been telling me it was a letter from Mr. Cochrane to Hedley Simpson.
4437. You heard the letter was from Mr. Cochrane?—I heard you speaking of it.
4438. Are there any other persons from whom you heard it?—I have heard it talked of since these proceedings commenced, but I never saw the letter.
4439. A letter from Mr. Cochrane to Hedley Simpson?—That is what you tell me.
4440. You say you never read such a letter?—Most certainly. I think I have told you that already.
4441. Do you remember having read the letter that Arundel brought to anybody?—Why, no. I never knew that he brought a letter.
4442. You never read a letter at all that Arundel brought to the house?—No. He never brought a letter to the house to my knowledge.
4443. Neither from Mr. Cochrane nor anybody else?—No.

4444. Do you remember reading any letter whether he brought it or not?—No.

4445. Do you remember reading any letter at all that was brought to your house in connection with this?—No.

4446. Whether it was brought by Arundel or anybody else?—No.

4447. I ask you whether you read any letter that was brought by anybody else in the presence of Arundel?—No. I never read any letter in connection with this affair.

4448. When your husband heard that Simpson went home last week did he tell you about the letter?—I suppose he did.

4449. Did he tell you that you would be likely to be asked about it?—No.

4450. But he had some conversation with you about it any way?—Why certainly.

By Mr. German :

4451. Do you remember reading a letter from Mr. Stanley telling Hedley Simpson that he wanted to see him?—No.

4452. You do not remember any such letter?—No. I am quite certain that there never was any letter in connection with Hedley's appointment that I ever saw or read.

4453. There was no letter in connection with his appointment?—No.

4454. Well in connection with his application?—No.

4455. Do you remember seeing a letter written by Stanley suggesting to Hedley Simpson that he wanted to see him about the appointment or about anything?—No. I do not remember that.

4456. Are you prepared to swear positively that you never saw a letter written by Stanley to Hedley Simpson?—I am.

4457. Without a doubt?—Yes.

4458. You know Arundel Simpson, do you?—I do.

4459. How long have you known him?—All my life.

4460. He is a cousin of your husband's or brother?—He is a very distant cousin of my husband's.

4461. Your husband is a brother of Hedley's?—Yes.

4462. Arundel Simpson swears very positively that he stopped at your place with a letter and that you read it. Are you prepared to swear that he never brought a letter to your place which you read?—I never read a letter.

4463. Did he ever bring a letter to your place that you read?—No, he never did.

4464. Then did he bring a letter there at all?—Not that I know of. But of course I do not search men's pockets.

4465. You never read the note?—No.

4466. You are sure of that?—I am.

4467. It is no laughing matter. It means, if what you say is true that this man swore to a lie? You are positive that no letter was brought to your place by Arundel Simpson which you either read or heard read?—I am positive about it.

4468. You have no doubt about that at all?—No doubt about it at all.

By Mr. Mulock :

4469. Are you in the habit of doing any writing or reading for any of the family or for Hedley?—I do for Hedley.

4470. What relation is he to you?—He is my brother-in-law.

4471. You are in the habit of writing letters for Hedley and reading the correspondence which comes to him?—Yes.

4472. Do you remember Hedley getting the appointment to the lighthouse?—I do not remember the time, but I remember his getting the appointment.

4473. You remember his getting the appointment although you do not remember the date?—I remember his getting the appointment sometime after the death of his father.

4474. Do you remember what he had to do to get the appointment?—I do not.
4475. You are probably aware that he got a petition first of all?—Yes.
4476. He got a number of people to sign the petition?—Yes.
4477. Who drew up the petition for him?—I do not know.
4478. Do you know that there was such a thing?—Yes, I know that there was such a thing, but I never saw it.
4479. Do you remember that petition being forwarded to Ottawa?—No, I do not remember but I suppose it was forwarded.
4480. Do you remember writing the letter that took it to Ottawa?—No, I do not think. I am not positive, but I do not think I did. I do not remember it now.
4481. I do not say you did. Do you remember writing to Ottawa for Hedley, or in connection with Hedley's application?—I wrote his application to the Department.
4482. And did you know what you did that day after writing it and signing it. It was a long letter setting forth the tenure of office of his father?—I do not remember just what was in it now. I could not call to mind exactly what was in it.
4483. Do you remember what year you wrote it?—It must have been 1887, I think.
4484. Do you remember what year Mr. Hedley's Simpson's father died?—I think it was in 1887, but I am not certain.
4485. Where were you living when the old man died?—At Presqu' Isle Harbour.
4486. Across the bay?—About a mile and a-half across.
4487. You remember the time the old man died; you were probably there at the time?—Yes, I was there.
4488. And probably you were there the day of the funeral?—No; I was not there the day of the funeral.
4489. You do not remember what year it was?—I cannot remember whether it was three or four years ago.
4490. You cannot remember the contents of the letter, except that it was an application of Hedley's?—Well, I know I stated the case as favourably as I could, of course.
4491. Do you remember the answer that came from the Government about it?—No, I do not.
4492. You do not remember receiving any reply?—I cannot remember just now—the reply.
4493. Do you remember any further correspondence in which you took part for Hedley Simpson in connection with his application for the lighthouse, or any of the proceedings that preceded his getting the appointment?—No; I do not remember anything more.
4494. Do you remember how long a time elapsed between his application and Hedley getting the appointment?—I do not; it was some time.
4495. Do you remember the year when he got the appointment?—I do not.
4496. Did you hear of it when he did get the appointment?—I suppose I must have.
4497. You were living there all that time, so that it is more than probable you must have learned of the appointment as soon as it took place?—I suppose so.
4498. Have you any reason to doubt that?—None.
4499. You would have heard of it as soon as it took place?—I should.
4500. It would be known all round the neighbourhood?—I suppose so.
4501. You were living there all that time?—Yes.
4502. And you cannot remember what year it took place?—I cannot charge my mind with it.
4503. How many years is it since the old man died?—Either three or four. I think it will be four this fall.
4504. Is your memory first-rate?—I do not know that it is first-rate.

4505. For whom else did you attend to their correspondence besides Hedley's?
—No one.

4506. You only attend to Hedley's correspondence—not to your husband's?—No.

4507. You don't attend to Arundel's?—No.

4508. Do you know what Hedley Simpson gave for the lighthouse?—I do not know that he gave anything.

4509. Do you happen to know about his negotiations, which resulted in his getting the lighthouse?—I do not.

4510. You remember his going up to see Mr. Stanley about it?—I do not know all that Hedley does; I do not live in the same house. Sometimes I write a letter for him; that is all.

4511. It is possible that you and Arundel may both be telling the truth about this letter of Mr. Cochrane's. He says he thinks you read it, and you say you did not?—I know I did not.

4512. You may be telling the truth and yet may be mistaken, I suppose. It is to the best of your recollection you are swearing?—I know that I never read any letter that Hedley brought from Mr. Cochrane or any one else in connection with—

4513. With what?—I know that I never read any letter from Mr. Cochrane or from Mr. Stanley to Hedley Simpson, that Arundel brought or any one else.

4514. Did you ever read any letter from Mr. Cochrane?—I never saw any letter either from Mr. Cochrane or from Mr. Stanley.

4515. On any subject?—No, sir.

4516. On no subject?—No, sir. I never saw their writing—either one of them.

4517. Supposing it was not signed?—How would I know it was theirs if it was not signed.

4518. Did you ever read any paper signed or unsigned written by anybody—to Hedley Simpson in regard to his application for the lighthouse?—No.

4519. You never saw any written document, letter or otherwise, touching the lighthouse?—I do not understand that question.

4520. Perhaps the letter we are calling Mr. Cochrane's?—Well, I said I never read anything of the kind?

4521. No written paper?—No.

4522. Whether signed or unsigned?—No.

The Committee then adjourned.

DOMINION OF CANADA, }
PROVINCE OF ONTARIO, }
COUNTY OF NORTHUMBERLAND, }
To Wit :

I, ARUNDEL R. SIMPSON, of the Village of Brighton, in the County of Northumberland, Farmer, do solemnly declare :

1. That George B. Simpson, who was a relation of mine, was for some years Keeper of a Government Lighthouse on Presque'Isle Point, in the Township of Brighton, in the said County of Northumberland, and died in the autumn of the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, being at the time of his death keeper of said lighthouse.

2. One Hedley H. Simpson, son of the said George B. Simpson, took up the performance of the duties of the keeper of said lighthouse immediately after the death of his father, and continued to perform said duties until he was permanently appointed keeper of said lighthouse, as hereinafter mentioned.

3. Soon after the death of the said George B. Simpson, the said Hedley H. Simpson circulated a petition for his appointment as keeper of said lighthouse, and obtained a large number of signatures to said petition.

4. I assisted the said Hedley H. Simpson in his efforts to secure the said appointment, and had several interviews with Edward Cochrane, then and now member of the House of Commons of Canada for the electoral district of the East Riding of the County of Northumberland, and a supporter of the Government, in connection with such appointment.

5. At one of the said interviews the said Edward Cochrane informed me that he (said Cochrane) would not sign the petition hereinbefore referred to, and that if said Hedley H. Simpson sent said petition to Ottawa, he (said Cochrane) would not assist him in obtaining the said appointment, but if said Hedley H. Simpson would leave the matter in his (Cochrane's) hands he (Cochrane) would secure said appointment for said Simpson.

6. Said Cochrane further told me to tell said Hedley H. Simpson not to forward said petition, but to leave the matter in his (said Cochrane's) hands.

7. Subsequently (the circulation of the said petition having been dropped) said Cochrane, told me he (Cochrane) could get six hundred dollars from one Noah Snetsinger, of Colborne, if said Snetsinger should receive the said appointment of keeper of said lighthouse, but that he (Cochrane) would secure the appointment of said Hedley H. Simpson for a good deal less than six hundred dollars.

8. Subsequently said Cochrane sent to the said Hedley H. Simpson, by me, a letter, in which it was stated that said Hedley H. Simpson would be required, in order to secure the said appointment, to give security for the payment of two hundred dollars, which letter I delivered to the said Hedley H. Simpson.

12. In the summer of the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine the above-named James Stanley sent me word to call on him, and I did so, when said Stanley informed me that I would be appointed keeper of one of the bridges on the Murray Canal (then approaching completion) on my paying one hundred and fifty dollars and undertaking to keep my father (who had been provided a bridge, but was too old to do the work).

13. Subsequently the said Edward Cochrane (then and now member of the House of Commons as aforesaid) met me in Brighton and said they could not take $150 for the said bridge, and that Stanley should not have agreed to take $150. Said Cochrane further told me that they had made other arrangements about the said bridge, with one Wesley Goodrich, who had agreed to pay $200 and give to my father a life lease of his (Goodrich's) farm for his (Goodrich's) appointment as keeper of said bridge. Said Cochrane further said that I could have said bridge for the same amount of $200. I then and there declined the offer.

EXHIBIT No. 5.

OTTAWA, March 31st, 1890.

DEAR SIR,—I have the honour to recommend the following gentlemen as bridge tenders on the Murray Canal:—William Brown and Robert May for the western end known as Lovett's Bridge; John Clouston and Wesley Goodrich for the centre bridge known as the Smithfield Bridge; William Johnson and Mr. Fitzgerald for the eastern or Carrying-place Bridge. The aforesaid are all steady, sober, industrious, careful men, and will give satisfaction if appointed. I would also respectfully urge the importance of having the appointments made and the canal opened as soon as possible, as I know that two lines of steamboats are anxious to run through the said canal as soon as navigation is open.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.)

E. COCHRANE.

Right Hon. Sir JOHN MACDONALD,
Minister of Railways and Canals.

Retain McCrudden. Appoint Pelletier for East Bridge and such others as Mr. Cochrane, M.P., nominates.

(Sgd.) J. A. MD.

DEAR BOWELL,—Is Cochrane to have the whole patronage of the Murray Canal?

(Sgd.) J. A. MD.

DEAR SIR JOHN,—Certainly not. I told him over a year ago that the canal was not an East Northumberland one, but of Dominion character, and that West Hastings and Prince Edward must be considered in all appointments.

You will remember that Corby recommended Pelletier, Murphy's brother-in-law, for one of the positions, and it ought to be given to him.

Yours,

(Sgd.) M. BOWELL.

DEAR BOWELL,—Settle this with Cochrane. I consider Pelletier appointed.

MY DEAR BRADLEY,—As the Murray Canal is nearing completion, I would like to know the number of men that will be required at each bridge, and the probable amount they will receive; and also, if they have a house at the bridge, will they be allowed anything for providing their own house. If you can give this information you will oblige.

Yours truly,

 Secretary's Office. }

DEAR SIR,—I would submit the following as fit and proper persons to be appointed as bridge tenders on the Murray Canal: William Brown and Robert May for the bridge on the western end, known as Lovett's Bridge; John Clouston and Wesley Goodrich for the middle bridge, known as Smithfield Bridge; and John Fitzgerald and William Johnson for the eastern one, known as the Carrying-place Bridge. I would further suggest that those appointments should be made at once, as the shipping interest of that section will be much benefited by the early opening of this canal. I am sure the Department is aware of this fact.

Yours truly,

(Sgd.) E. COCHRANE.

The Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization present their third and final report:—

The investigations of the Committee were divided into two parts. The first had reference to the subjects of Agriculture, Horticulture, and, incidentally, to tree-planting in connection with the operations of the Government Experimental Farms. The cognate subject of the Climatology of Canada also formed a topic of enquiry. The second part of the investigations of the Committee related to the subjects of Immigration and Colonization.

The information obtained from the several witnesses examined is appended to this Report, as forming a part thereof. It is arranged in the order of subjects for convenience of reference, instead of that of dates.

The witnesses who appeared in the first part of the investigations were officers of the Central Experimental Farm, namely, Messieurs William Saunders (the Director), J. W. Robertson (the Dairy Commissioner and Agriculturist), J. Fletcher (the Entomologist and Botanist), John Craig (the Horticulturist), and F. T. Shutt (the Chemist). Mr. R. Stopes of England the Chairman of the Committee of Experts who examined the two-rowed barley sent by the Canadian Government to England last year, and Mr. J. Gordon Mowat, Climatologist, were also examined.

The evidence of Mr. Saunders affords valuable and interesting information in relation to the general operations of the Experimental Farms. That of Mr. Robertson contains matter of great importance for farmers in relation to the feeding, fattening, and products of animals, and to the most economical uses of the various plants, grasses and grains adapted to those ends. A similar remark may be made of the evidence of Mr. Craig, on Horticulture. The evidence of Mr. Fletcher affords valuable and interesting information in relation to depredations by injurious insects, and practical means available by farmers for mitigating their ravages, and also, in relation to fodder plants and grasses. That of Mr. Shutt shows how much economic advantage may be gained by farmers understanding the constituents of the soil in relation to plant life, so as to enable them to apply with intelligence the fertilizers required by the different soils and plants; and also, to utilise to the best advantage such fertilizers as are produced on the farm.

The information furnished by Mr. Stopes is of interest in relation to the growth of two-rowed barley in Canada, suitable for the English market. He gave it as his opinion, as an expert, that the Canadian soil and climate are in a high degree adapted to produce two-rowed barley of a grade suitable to the English market, and, at the same time, containing the albuminous and nitrogenous matters which are desired in that grain. This subject is worthy of the attention of farmers, in view of the high prices paid for a grain of such grade in an almost illimitable and easily accessible market.

The evidence of Mr. Mowat, on the Climatology of Canada, in its relation to Agriculture and Horticulture, possesses many points of interest for agriculturists and horticulturists, and for the public at large. The combination of climatological advantages possessed by the Dominion of Canada, and particularly in relation to the industry of fruit-growing for profit, is not by any means so generally apprehended as it might, with advantage, be.

In the second part of its investigations in relation to Immigration and Colonization, the Committee examined Mr. Lowe, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. W. A. Webster, a special Immigration Agent of the Department of Agriculture, engaged in promoting colonization in the North-West.

The Deputy Minister stated that the figures of immigration for the year 1890 had been published in the Report of the Minister of Agriculture, previous to his appearance before the Committee, a fact which made it then unnecessary for him to go into the details of previous years in relation to those figures; but, he stated that the number of settlers in Canada, that is ordinary immigrants reported by the agents of the Department, as having expressed such intention, was 41,549, to which was added the number of 33,518 as registered settlers connected with Customs entries of settlers' effects, it being explained that by far the greater number of these were returned Canadians. The character of the immigration was described as being exceptionally good from the reports of all the agencies, those immigrants who came to seek for work having generally found it. The invitations of the Department to immigrants are confined to the agricultural classes and female domestics—mechanics and artisans being advised to take special information in relation to their several vocations before coming. The class of clerks and others seeking employment in what may be called the sedentary occupations, are dissuaded from coming, except to join friends, or to fill situations previously engaged.

The special vote of $150,000 infused fresh vigour into the immigration operations of the Department. It was explained to have been applied in affording bonuses to settlers on land in the Provinces of Manitoba, British Columbia and the North-West Territories; also, in affording bonuses to agents in Europe, on proof of settlement on land, in all cases in which the bonus to the settler is payable, but not further. The object of the bonus appears to be to afford a facility for emigrating and settling on land. The test of its being confined to those who take up land in the parts of the Dominion stated very effectually prevents it, in any case, from being used as a premium to foster competition with the labour of the country. It was stated positively that there had been no assisted passages whatever, since April, 1888.

A marked feature of the operations for promoting immigration during the year was the inviting of thirteen Tenant Farmers' Delegates from different points in the United Kingdom in order to represent English, Welsh, Scotch and Irish interests. These gentlemen arrived in the latter part of last summer and made a thorough examination of several of the most important parts of the Dominion, and they have each made reports of the investigations, of which 800,000 copies have been published and distributed in the United Kingdom. The reports, on the whole, give a favourable view of the Dominion as a field for the settlement of agriculturists from the United Kingdom, and they are written in a spirit of fairness and discrimination such as will command confidence.

The amount of bonus paid to immigrant settlers, as authorized by Order in Council, from the vote referred to, is $10 to the head of a family, and $5 for each member of a family being a trans-ocean adult—that is, over the age of fourteen years. These amounts are supplemented to immigrants from the United Kingdom, via Canadian maritime ports and the Canadian Pacific Railway, by the amount of $5 and $2.50, respectively, contributed by transportation companies, making the amount payable in bonuses to settlers $15 and $7.50, respectively. At the date the Committee took evidence on this subject the number of immigrants who had availed themselves of the advantage of the bonus was very limited; but the prospect was that active effect would follow the offer made, especially connected with the agents' bonus at the same time offered.

Another way in which it was sought to stimulate immigration to the North-West, was by offering a bonus to the class of "return men," so-called, that is, farmers from different parts of the North-West who had been successful, were allowed free passages by the transportation companies to enable them to see their friends in their old homes, in order to make known the success which they had themselves achieved. The Government, by Order in Council, offered a bonus of $50 to each of fifty of such "return men," in cases of reasonable success being shown. This is a method of diffusing information which has particular interest as adapted to the European continent, where there is difficulty in circulating immigration publications.

The total expenditure of the Department for the calendar year was stated to be

$127,303, the accounts of the Department of Agriculture being kept by the calendar as well as the fiscal year, in order to enable comparisons to be made with the operations of each calendar year. The total number of publications issued was given at 1,543,000.

Mr. W. A. Webster, a special Immigration Agent, gave a detailed account of his operations in promoting the settlement in the North-West Territories. It appears from the statements furnished to the Committee, that during the past year, the operations of the Department were particularly active in promoting such settlement, and that very considerable results have been obtained, for details of which reference is made to the evidence.

The Committee recommends that the House order to be printed, in addition to the usual number of one thousand nine hundred and fifty (1,950), seven thousand (7,000) copies of this Report with the evidence annexed, in the customary proportions of English and French, for distribution to Members of the Senate and of the House of Commons.

The whole respectfully submitted.

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,
HOUSE OF COMMONS,
THURSDAY, 4th June, 1891.

The Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization commenced this day at 11 a.m., Mr. SPROULE, Chairman, presiding.

Professor SAUNDERS called, responded as follows:—

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee on Agriculture and Colonization,—It affords me very much pleasure to be privileged again to come before you to render some account of my stewardship and to indicate some of the points of interest connected with the work of the Experimental Farms which I have the honour to direct under instruction of the Minister of Agriculture.

The Annual Report.

You will find in the Annual Report which is before you a very full account of the work which was carried on last year at each of the five farms which have been established by the Government, but as many of you may have had but little opportunity of looking over this report, you will pardon me if I refer to a few points contained in it, with the view of showing the progress made.

Distribution of seed-grain for test.

The distribution of seed-grain for test is held to be one of the most important branches of work carried on at the Experimental Farm. The great interest which has been awakened in this subject far exceeds our anticipations. Last year we had, as you will find by the report, requests for samples of grain to the extent of 12,353. These came from 5,896 different farmers, and those having been supplied, would not in most cases receive samples this year. We have, however, had applications in 1891 from 4,388 additional parties, which has involved the further distribution of 11,230 3-lb. samples, or between 16 and 17 tons of seed grain.

Varieties and quantities of grain distributed.

The following are the varieties of grain which have been sent out and the number of 3-lb. bags distributed:—Oats, 4,702; barley, 3,003; wheat, 2,091; peas, 1,089; rye and corn, 113; and potatoes, 232. Many gratifying reports have been received from the farmers who have participated in this distribution and in the annual report you, will find the opinions of some of them under the heading "Distribution of Seed-grain." The Ladoga wheat, which was one of the first varieties of grain distributed in this way, four years ago, is growing very much in favour in the North-West. During the past year the inquiries for that wheat have been very numerous from settlers who desired to purchase it in quantities, and all we could supply from our Experimental Farms has been disposed of in that manner.

Excellent results reported.

A farmer at Griswold, Manitoba, Mr. Hanna, who received a 3-lb. sample four years ago from the Experimental Farm, wrote to me during the winter to say that he now had 1,500 bushels of this wheat from that sample, for which he was finding a very ready demand for seed at a higher price than he could get for ordinary grain. I have with me, Mr. Chairman, a sample of Ladoga wheat which was grown at Prince Albert in 1890, to which I would like to call special attention, as I think it is the finest sample of spring wheat I have ever seen. It weighs 66½ lbs. to the bushel, 6½ lbs. over the standard, and is very uniform in size and of the highest quality. Specimens of this grain have been sent to prominent millers and grain-buyers in Canada, the United States and Great Britain, and they all agree in the opinion that it is one of the finest samples of spring wheat that they have ever seen. This being grown so far north as Prince Albert in such perfection seems to indicate that there is a large area in that district for profitable wheat culture, and which in all probability this variety will help to fill.

Mr. DAVIN.—Do you know Mr. E. Plaxton in that district?—A. Yes. It was Mr. Plaxton who sent me this sample from Prince Albert. He got a 3-lb bag three years ago, and last year had a crop of 172 bushels, of which he says this is a fair sample. I mention this to show that these samples of grain, which may not at first awaken very much interest or command general attention, will in time find their proper places all over the country.

Tests of Ladoga Wheat at various Points.

Some localities will be found specially adapted for their cultivation and others again where they are of little or no value. The Ladoga wheat in Ontario has not been generally successful, excepting in some of the northern counties; it has suffered more than other sorts from rust, and does not seem to have the power of adapting itself to the climate of western Ontario. It does well in the more northern parts of this Province, in Quebec, and in some parts of the Maritime Provinces. Nowhere, however, has it done so well as in the drier districts of the North-West, where very little is known of rust on any varieties of wheat. There it seems to be at home, and has been able to adapt itself to such conditions of climate as exist in a way that was scarcely anticipated. At the outset there were some doubts as to whether this wheat had the requisite quality for a North-West wheat. It was said to be a little thick in the skin and dark in colour, but in these particulars it has improved by cultivation since its introduction in the North-West. The skin has become thinner, the grain is brighter, and it is now usually graded as of first quality by those most competent to judge.

The Central Experimental Farm.

You will also find in the Annual Report full particulars of a large number of tests of varieties of grain, roots, potatoes and other farm products which have been grown on the Central Experimental Farm. This work is being continued during the present season, and I hope to have the pleasure of visits from as many of the members of this Committee as can find it convenient as the season goes on, so that all may have the opportunity of judging for themselves as to the growth and productiveness of many of these varieties.

Varieties of Grain grown on the Farm.

There are at the present time growing on the Experimental Farm 69 named varieties of wheat, 61 of oats, 29 of two-rowed barley, 22 of six-rowed barley, or, 181 varieties of cereals in all. To these must be added the new crosses and hybrids which have been originated on the Central Experimental Farm. I mentioned to you, I think, last year, that some work had been done in that direction—a class of work, which I think, is most important for this country. It consists in bringing together different varieties of grain, in the same way as you bring together different strains of cattle, and by cross fertilizing producing new sorts, which have more or less the impress of both the varieties used as parents. At the time I had the honour of meeting you last year we had produced 38 varieties. During the summer of last year 76 others were originated in this manner, so that we now have 114 varieties of grain growing on the Central Experimental Farm which are entirely new. Most of these cover but small plots; some of them are only single plants as yet, but among them are some promising sorts. Ninety of these are wheat, 16 barley and 8 oats. The special tests with fertilizers to which I made a brief reference last year have been continued; 105 plots of one-tenth of an acre each are devoted to this special work, where the same fertilizers are applied each season, with test-plots not fertilized amongst them for comparison. The same varieties of grain are grown on these plots every year, and it is hoped that we shall be able in the course of a few years to ascertain the effects of each fertilizer or group of fertilizers on the crops under treatment.

Vitality of seed Grains tested.

The tests of grain as to vitality have also been continued during this spring. Last year there were received for test 1,245 samples, many of them from farmers residing in distant parts of the Dominion, who desired to know if the grain they held in stock for seed was suitable for that purpose. A glass structure, known as the seed-testing house, has been built specially for the testing of these samples of grain. Those of you who have had practical dealings with farm work will know that sometimes in the harvest season the weather is unfavourable, and if the grain is frosted or is stored in a damp condition its vitality is very often seriously injured, and it becomes a matter of importance then for the farmer to know just what percentage of this grain will germinate. Every farmer in the Dominion has the privilege of sending to the Farm samples of grain through the mail, free of postage. They are tested at the Farm, and information given free of charge with as little delay as possible. This season, between the first of January and seeding time, 2,757 samples were tested and reported on.

Total Area under Cultivation, and Areas under different Crops.

More than 300 acres of land are now under crop at the Central Farm, including: Wheat, 29 acres; barley, 45; oats, 90; rye, 15; peas, 20; corn, 20; mixed grain, 35; roots, 16; potatoes, 5; and meadow, 40. In addition to the 181 varieties of named cereals, to which I have already referred, as now growing on this land, there are 69 varieties of corn, 27 of peas, 21 of beans, 111 of named potatoes, and 153 varieties of seedling potatoes—264 in all. There are also 28 varieties of turnips, 14 of mangels, 24 of carrots, and 13 of sugar beets. These facts will enable you to form some idea of the extent of the experimental work going on.

Notes are taken of all these varieties, as to their earliness, productiveness, &c., not only here, but of many of them at the branch experimental farms also, and these notes are compared at the close of the season. From the information thus gathered a tolerably accurate opinion can be formed as to how far they are likely to be useful to the farmers residing in the different provinces of this country.

Milking Stock, Breeds on the Farm.

Some additions have also been made to the stock on the Central Experimental Farm. A few Durhams of good milking families have been added to the herd, also some Devons and Galloways; eight Quebec Jerseys or Canadian cows have been selected in the eastern part of Quebec, good representatives of that particular family of cows, the descendants of the importation from Normandy by the early French settlers. These cows are promising as milkers, and give a rich milk. Feeding experiments are being tried with the different breeds, and experiments also in crossing. Eight additional grade cows have been purchased for the dairy, which brings the total number of cattle on the Farm at present to 87. There are 35 pure-bred cows, 11 grade cows, 7 pure-bred bulls and 34 young animals.

Experimental Dairy.

During the year an experimental dairy building, designed by Prof. Robertson, has been erected, supplied with the necessary apparatus for carrying on butter-making in the most approved manner. There is a storeroom also in this building for curing cheese, where some of the products of the experimental dairy stations, which are now being organized by Professor Robertson, will be stored. Some of these products will be sent to the Central Farm, in order to ascertain the best methods of curing, and also for the purpose of comparing the cheese made in the different provinces, so that defects in quality may be discovered, and remedied, with the view of bringing the whole up to a uniform standard as a first-class product, so that it may command the best prices in the markets of Europe.

Sundry Improvements.

A piggery has been built and stocked with four pure breeds of pigs. Six pens were also filled with grade animals, which have been submitted to feeding tests during the winter. Most of these have lately been disposed of, as the experiments are concluded. An engine-house has also been erected, with shafting running the full length of the barn, so that conveniences may be available for threshing, also for grinding and cutting food wherever required. The planting of shelter belts of trees around the Farm is nearly completed, over 3,000 trees having been planted this season. The objects in planting these are to afford shelter, and demonstrate the rate of growth of the different varieties in this part of the Dominion.

Correspondence with Farmers.

Perhaps no feature of the Farm work will convey a clearer idea as to the interest which farmers are taking in what is going on than the increase in the correspondence between the farmers of the country and the Experimental Farm. You all know that farmers as a rule are not fond of letter-writing, and with many a man the desire for information must be very strong to induce him to write a letter. The letters received at the Central Experimental Farm in 1889 numbered 6,864, whereas during the same period in 1890 the number was 17,539, an increase of nearly threefold. The number of bulletins and reports sent out in response to applications in 1889 amounted to 41,584; last year they numbered 218,129, more than four times as many as in the previous year. The names on the permanent mailing list, which have been put on by special request, is now over 21,000, showing that the reports and bulletins are in great demand. The early editions were only 5,000; this was soon increased to 10,000, then to 20,000, and now we are issuing 25,000. One of the honourable gentlemen present asked whether these bulletins were published monthly. They are not published at any stated time, but as soon as any subject has been sufficiently worked up to permit of such conclusions as are likely to be valuable to the farmers of this country a bulletin is issued. During the past month two bulletins have been printed, and sometimes several months will pass without an issue.

Horticultural Department.

The horticultural department at the Central Farm, under Mr. John Craig, is making good progress, and a large number of additions have been made to the fruit trees. There are now on the Experimental Farm over 500 varieties of large fruits, including apples, pears, plums and cherries; also 343 varieties of small fruits, such as grapes, raspberries, strawberries, currants and gooseberries. Besides these, there are several hundred sorts of new fruits which have been produced either by selection or by crossing. The question of vegetables has also been taken up on a rather large scale during the past year, and is again under process of test this season. Last year 51 varieties of cabbage were tested, 57 of tomatoes, 50 of peas, 31 of cauliflower, 32 of lettuce and celery, with smaller numbers of other vegetables. The different qualities of many of these sorts are taken note of and submitted in the annual report.

Forestry—Distribution of Trees.

The demand from Manitoba and the North-West for samples of forest trees for experimental planting on the plains has been very great. A little over a year ago, under instructions of the Minister of Agriculture, an announcement was made that the Experimental Farm would make a limited distribution of young forest trees for test on the western plains. One hundred thousand trees had been secured, and arrangements made to put them up in 1,000 packages of 100 trees each, thinking this would be an ample supply, but within five or six weeks after the announcement was made 2,600 applications were received. The requests were complied with, as far as the material would allow, and a circular was sent to those who did not receive any, stating that if any further distribution was decided on their names would be first considered. By instruction of the Minister preparations were made to distribute 200,000 more in the spring of 1891, taking the names of those first who applied last year. This has been done, and about 400 additional applicants supplied. By these means it is hoped that at some 3,000 points small groves of trees will be established which, in the course of a few years, will begin to produce seed themselves. We shall thus have additional points at which the seed of trees will be obtainable for further distribution and planting as one of the results of the work which has been carried on during the past two years at the Experimental Farm.

Besides sending to private individuals, larger packages have been sent to the Indian agencies, Mounted Police stations and other public institutions throughout the North-West, and instructions have been given to the heads of these departments to take special care of the trees, and report to the Experimental Farm from time to time as to their success. The Canadian Pacific Railway having established twenty-five experimental gardens along their line between Moose Jaw and Calgary, a package was sent last year to each of these gardens for test, and this year a second supply has been forwarded. It is believed that these distributions will have the effect of stimulating tree-planting and of awakening a greater interest in this subject, so important to the settlers in the North-West. The experiments carried on at Indian Head and Brandon on the experimental farms in tree-planting have only been partially successful. Experience has shown that for successful forest-planting in the North-West we must begin with the native trees, and if young trees be raised from the seed of the ash-leaved maple, white elm and ash, gathered in the North-West, such trees will be very much harder than if grown from seed ripened in Ontario, Quebec or the eastern States. The young trees grown from eastern seed are often killed back from one-half to two thirds of their growth the first winter, and it takes them several years to gain that degree of hardiness which trees grown from seed collected in the North-West possess at the start. Last year tree seeds were plentiful, and arrangements were made when in the North-West to have a large quantity collected in the Qu'Appelle valley and about the Brandon Hills, Oak Lake, and at other suitable points in Manitoba and the Territories. Efforts have been made for the past two years to obtain tree seeds there in quantities, but with little success, but last season, through the energy of our superintendents, Mr. S. A. Bedford and Mr. A. Mackay, who employed Half-breeds, Indians and settlers to collect them, we secured, in the course of five or six weeks, about three tons of this seed. This gratifying success has enabled us to plant out several acres of tree seeds on each of the experimental farms, which will, in all probability, produce several million trees, and has given the material for a general distribution through the mail of about 6,000 bags of tree seeds to the settlers. This, added to the distribution of young trees, will, I believe, give tree-planting in the Canadian North-West a very considerable start, and the material sent out will, if taken care of, certainly be of great value to the country.

Apple Scab.

In the horticultural branch experiments have also been carried on with regard to the treatment of apple scab. You all know that the black scab on apples lessens the value of a large quantity of the fruit produced in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. It is believed that this disease can be prevented or checked by the use of fungicides, if applied at the proper time. Experiments have been conducted to determine the best time to apply such remedies, the strength of the mixtures which should be used, and the most economical and convenient methods of making the applications. Bulletin No. 10 contains the results of this special work on apple scab.

Department of Analytical Chemistry.

In the chemical branch, conducted by Mr. F. T. Shutt, excellent progress has also been made. A number of samples of soil from the different provinces, including alkaline soils from the North-West, also heavy soils from the far western plains, have been analysed, with a view to determine the proportion of fertility these different soils contain. Similar work has been done on samples of muck, peat and muds from the Eastern Provinces, for the purpose of finding out how far these can be used as fertilizers. Some fifty or sixty samples of sugar-beets grown at different points in Ontario and the other provinces have also been analysed, and the proportion of sugar contained in each ascertained. The result of this will be found in the annual report for the past year. Many examinations of milk of the different breeds of cattle have been made, for the purpose of determining which are the richest and how far the quantity of butter can be influenced by change of feed. Mr. Shutt has also analysed 52 varieties of grasses, including a large number from the North-West, for the purpose of ascertaining whether any of the uncultivated sorts contain a larger proportion of nutriment than the grasses usually in cultivation. He has also tested many fodder plants, including corn cut at different stages of growth, also ensilage and such other miscellaneous products as have been thought to be of sufficient value to the whole country to warrant the conducting of these analyses. It is necessary to use some discretion in selecting material to be analysed, so as to undertake that work only which is of most general importance. Wherever there is any likelihood of such work being conducive to the general public good, then the labour and expense connected with it is not allowed to stand in the way of its being carried out.

Department of Entomology.

The Entomologist and Botanist, Mr. James Fletcher, has also been doing a very useful work. He has experimented to a large extent on injurious insects, especially those which attack the more important crops of the country. You will find a number of important facts contained in his report in the last annual issue which is before you. Much of his time is necessarily occupied in giving information to correspondents who apply to him in cases of special insect invasion. Bulletin No. 11, on Injurious Insects, which has just been issued, and copies of which have been brought here this morning for distribution, contains some recommendations Mr. Fletcher has been making for the prevention of damage by some of these common insects to the farm and the garden.

Botanical Department.

In the botanical department a large number of experiments have been conducted with grasses, likely to be useful to the different provinces of the Dominion. Nearly 150 varieties of these are now under test for hardiness, productiveness and general usefulness for agricultural purposes. A number of applications have been received at the Farm for samples of the seed of grasses which are likely to be useful in the different parts of the Dominion, and in response to these requests 135 packages were sent out this spring, each containing from 15 to 20 varieties of grasses. These correspondents have engaged to test them and report the results of those tests.

Poultry Breeding.

In the poultry house, which is under the management of Mr. A. G. Gilbert, experiments have been carried on as to the management of fowls in all stages of their growth, also on diseases of poultry and the preservation of eggs.

The Branch Farms.

Satisfactory progress has also been made at the branch Experimental Farms.

The Nappan Farm.

At the Nappan Farm, in Nova Scotia, under the efficient management of Mr. William M. Blair, a farm which serves the purposes of the Maritime Provinces, a large number of varieties of wheat, oats, barley, corn, field roots and potatoes have been tested during the past year. Special tests have also been made with artificial fertilizers and barn-yard manure. The barn and stables have been completed and partly stocked with Holsteins, Ayrshires, milking strains of Durham cattle, and with grades. The orchards at the Nappan Farm contain a large number of varieties of fruit trees, which have succeeded very well there. A great many farmers belonging to the Maritime Provinces visit the farm every season, and from the comments which these visitors make it would appear that they are highly pleased with the progress of the work going on in that district.

Brandon Farm.

The Brandon farm is also doing good service, under the superintendence of Mr. S. A. Bedford, who is highly spoken of by all those who come in contact with him. A very large number of farmers visit that farm every year, Brandon being a railway centre and convenient of access. The farm is only a mile from the city, which makes it very convenient for visitors. The increasing interest manifested by the farmers in Manitoba in this work is very encouraging. Last year, when I visited that province, I went to the Icelandic settlement, about 40 miles from Brandon, to see the progress the Icelanders were making. Whilst talking to one of their leading men, he said: "I went up to see your Experimental Farm at Brandon, last year, with a number of my people. We never undertook a more profitable journey. We learned more there in connection with the varieties of grain that are useful for this country, the sorts of fodder desirable to grow for winter food for stock, and a great many other subjects, in one day, than we have ever had the opportunity of doing before." He also said: "We are going again next year, and intend to spend three or four days there and bring away all the information we can get." That is one of the evidences of the useful character of the practical work which is being carried on at that institution, and the estimate which is being formed of it by the farmers in the neighbourhood. The different methods of preparing the soil for crops has been tried there. The ordinary drill, the press drill, and the broadcast seeder, are all used. A number of varieties of fodder plants are being grown, which promise well for winter food for stock, including corn, mixtures of different kinds of grain, millets, Hungarian grass and rye. These have all been tested, with a view of finding out the most profitable plants to grow as food for cattle. Many farmers who have seen the results of these tests on the Brandon farm have begun experiments for themselves, and a very general interest has been awakened in the subject. The tests of fruit trees and vines are also closely watched, and much instruction is given, and many farmers have thus been saved from unprofitable investments. It is very common for a settler, when he goes to the North-West and undertakes the planting of trees about a homestead, to think of the trees he planted in Ontario, Quebec, or elsewhere, and he frequently incurs much expense in getting such trees for his new home, never thinking that they are unsuited to the climate. The result is, that many thousands of dollars have been uselessly spent in that way for trees which have died the first winter. Such results are apt to discourage men from making future attempts. If we can demonstrate by practical tests that certain trees will succeed there, while certain others will not, we shall be able to save the farmers a good deal of money, by encouraging them to test only such as are likely to be successful. The barn and stables at Brandon are now completed, and it is hoped that during the coming summer such dairy and other stock as is most likely to be useful for that district will be introduced there.

Indian Head Farm.

At Indian Head, which is nearly 200 miles further west, similar experiments with grain are being carried on. This farm is in charge of Mr. A. Mackay, a practical farmer of large experience, whose work is highly appreciated by all. During the past year 47 varieties of wheat, 32 of barley and 16 of oats were tested, as well as a number of varieties of Indian corn. The Indian corn has not thus far been found to succeed as well at Indian Head as at Brandon; the growth is not so large nor so well matured. Spring rye is the most promising crop there for the winter feeding of stock, and when cut green it makes excellent hay. Last year this crop yielded at Indian Head from 2 to 3 tons per acre of cured hay. Spring rye has been sown at different periods to ascertain when it should be seeded, in order to produce the greatest weight of crop. Not many of the fruit trees tested have been found to stand the climate there, but there are a few that give some promise of success. In forest trees those grown from the native seed are the only varieties that have yet succeeded to our satisfaction. A number of others are doing fairly well, but have been injured more or less by the climate. Stock has also been supplied at Indian Head. There are now at that farm 5 Durhams, 4 Ayrshires, 4 Holsteins, 3 Polled Angus, and 11 grades, the latter purchased in the North-West. The services of the bulls of the pure breeds are very useful to the farmers, as good stock is scarce yet in that country.

The Agassiz Farm, B. C.

The farm at Agassiz, British Columbia, was the last established. In August, 1889, the superintendent, Mr. Thos. A. Sharpe, was placed in charge, and since then the work under his energetic direction has gone on rapidly, and about 90 acres of land have been brought under cultivation. There are altogether 300 acres in that farm, and already a large number of experiments with grain and other farm crops have been carried on there, as at the other farms referred to. A considerable interest has been awakened among the farmers of British Columbia in this farm and the number of visitors is steadily increasing. The farm is conveniently situated for visitors, from the fact that the train going west arrives there about 10:30 in the morning and that going east about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The residence for the superintendent is nearly completed and will soon be ready for occupation. It is expected that during the summer a barn will be built to accommodate the horses and some stock. At present we have a very good Shorthorn bull there and two pure-bred Shorthorn cows, to which other useful breeds will be added. The climate is specially adapted for the production of fruits. A large orchard, containing 400 varieties of fruit trees, has been planted, also 200 varieties of small fruits. Some of the plums, nectarines and peaches are already beginning to bear fruit and the trees are making most promising growth. Over 400 varieties of forest trees and ornamental shrubs have also been introduced, including a large number of hardwood trees from the east, a class of timber of which that country is very deficient. If we can establish the walnut, hickory, elm and other hardwoods, and show that they can be profitably grown, it will be a great benefit to that country, by furnishing suitable material in the future for manufactures, which will spring up at different points. The clearing of the land is going on steadily, and it is hoped that in a short time that farm will be as well advanced as any of the others. Poultry is being tested at Agassiz, as the raising of poultry and the production of eggs are very important in British Columbia. At the present time large quantities of these products are imported from the eastern provinces.

Experimental Farm Exhibits.

At all the experimental farms preparations were made last year and carried out for attending agricultural exhibitions in the several provinces, and in this way the products of the farms were brought under the notice and observation of a very large number of the farmers who attend such fairs, and a knowledge of the work which the farms are doing widely disseminated. A quantity of seed grain was also sent out in small packages or sold by the bushel from each of the branch farms, the price charged being a small advance on the ordinary market price of such grain, so as to partly cover the cost of extra cleaning, &c. Some very useful sorts have thus been disseminated among several hundred farmers in quantities of 2 bushels or more to each, and it is highly probable that some of these will shortly become the leading sorts in cultivation in the several provinces of the Dominion. I shall be very glad now to answer, as far as it is in my power, any questions which any gentleman may think it desirable to ask in connection with the work here or at any of the other experimental farms.

Applications that cannot be entertained.

Mr. Trow.—I would like to ask, Professor, have these samples of tress been sent to the applicants free of expense?—A. The mail packages of forest trees have been sent free of expense to those districts where the test is likely to be a benefit to the country. We have not been able to entertain all the applications for trees and plants that have been received. It is not uncommon to get, now and then, a page of letter paper well filled with a long list of the various roses, lily-bulls and a great many other things which the correspondent desires to have sent him free of cost. These parties are written to and informed as to the objects of the Farm, and they are told that it is not the intention of the Government that the experimental farms should interfere with the nurseryman's business and then referred to some good nurseryman where such stock can be had by ordering in the usual way.

Contents of tree Packages distributed.

Mr. WATSON.—What varieties of forest trees sent to the North-West give the best results, according to the report?—A. That is answered in the Annual Report, as far as the information is obtainable. I will give a list of the varieties that were sent last year. Each package contained: 25 box elder, 10 white ash, 10 green ash, 5 soft maple, 2 hard maple, 20 white elm, 2 honey locust, 5 black walnut, 2 black locust, 5 Russian mulberry, 5 cottonwood, 3 linden, 1 black cherry, 1 Kentucky coffee tree, 1 red cedar, 1 Russian olive and 2 butternut. You will observe, gentlemen, that the larger number of trees in each of these packages were native sorts which will succeed almost anywhere, whilst the other sorts, were put up in smaller quantities, with the view of testing their hardiness over a large area of country.

Mr. Trow.—Would it not be better if there was some little charge made for forwarding these trees to the applicant. An indifferent farmer who had no desire to look after them and plant them properly might apply for trees and get them, and they would go to waste. If, however, there was some little expense attached to it, I think they would be more careful.—A. In regard to that question I think if Mr. Trow were to travel through the North-West and see the anxiety the farmers manifest for the trees, and the pains they take with the smallest specimens they get, he would see there was not very much danger of such neglect.

Q. These distributions require to be made judiciously because I have known people to apply for seed potatoes and eat them.

Mr. COCHRANE.—I would ask if the Ladoga wheat has been a success?—A. In regard to the Ladoga wheat making a good flour, I submitted, at a former meeting of this Committee, a number of samples of flour and bread made from this wheat and I think all the members present were satisfied that the bread was good. The only difference we found at that time was that it was a shade yellower in colour than the bread made from the Red Fife, but that colour was believed to arise from the darkness of the skin, which has since been improved by cultivation in the North-West. We have here wheat from Prince Albert, which is of such a colour as to indicate that it would make very good flour.

Q. Has it been tested since the improvement took place?—A. No, sir. The demand for seed has consumed all the supply. Several millers have expressed a wish to get a quantity of this wheat, and have offered to pay a fair price for it if they could get it, but the quantity has not been forthcoming for that purpose.

Early ripening Wheats.

Mr. CARPENTER.—Does it ripen 8 or 10 days earlier than the Red Fife?—A. Reports last year received from all parts the Dominion showed an average of from 8 to 10 days in favour of the Ladoga in the time of ripening, as compared with the Red Fife.

Gehun Wheat.

There is among the samples I have brought here to day one of wheat, which is deserving of notice. It is known as Gehun wheat. Some three years ago I was instructed by the Honourable Minister of Agriculture to enter into correspondence with the Government of India, with the hope of getting from the Himalaya Mountains, where wheat is grown at a height of 16,000 to 17,000 feet, some samples of earlier ripening sorts. Lord Dufferin was good enough to send instructions to the agricultural superintendents of those mountain districts in India to have samples collected and forwarded for test to the Canadian Government. This is one of the Indian varieties which has succeeded well in the North-West. It produced last year the highest yield of any variety of grain on any of the experimental farms, and was only two days later in time of ripening than the Ladoga. I am in hopes that this variety, when it comes to be available for more general distribution—for as yet we have only a very small quantity of it—will be an exceedingly useful sort. You will find a list of the varieties of wheat and their results at Indian Head on page 274. The Gehun produced 46·34 bushels to the acre, with a weight of 64½ lbs. to the bushel. It was sown on the 24th April and harvested on the 15th August. The grain of this variety grown at Indian Head last year has been divided among the five experimental farms.

Mr. TROW.—There is quite a difference of climate, is there not, between the stations at Indian Head and Brandon?—A. Yes; a considerable difference.

Farm Bulletins issued.

Mr. CARPENTER.—From your statements here this morning, I gather you have scattered about 20,000 bulletins a month, amounting to about 100 for each constituency. Would we be justified in adding to that list, and making it 200 or 300, because it is very important?—A. No limits have been set to the number of names which I have been authorized to enter on the mailing list of the Farm, and any member may send such number as he desires. I may say, however, that the amount Parliament is good enough to provide for carrying on the experimental farms is not sufficient to enable us to print an unlimited quantity of bulletins or reports, but I presume that if the publications are required they will be provided. The report this year is nearly double the number of pages of last year, and hence more expensive to print.

Mr. COCHRANE.—Could you not boil your report down a little?—A. It has been boiled down in every possible way. The manuscript was all carefully gone over before sending it to the printer, and nothing has been printed but what I thought would be useful to the country.

Q. Can you give us an idea how many bulletins you could print with the means at your disposal?—A. I know that we have done as much as we possibly could with the money at our disposal. The amount which was estimated for printing last year has been exceeded, the expenditure having gone beyond what we thought it would be. If much more money were spent on this item other important matters would suffer.

Mr. DAVIN.—What was the amount set apart for printing last year?—A. We have no special grant for printing. The cost of the printing comes out of the vote for the experimental farms.

Appropriation granted to the Farms.

Q. What was the vote for the farms?—A. The vote for all the farms was $75,000, and we had expected to spend about $3,000 out of that in printing.

Mr. FERGUSON (Leeds).—Have any of the varieties of corn tested at Brandon shown sufficient growth and development there to make a nutritious ensilage, and would the quantity per acre pay for cultivation; also, would you state whether any of the native grasses you have been experimenting with give any evidence of permanency without re-sowing. These are two very important matters to the whole country?—A. The figures with regard to the yield of corn and the degree of maturity it reaches are contained in the report, and also the growth which some of the native grasses have attained. We usually have to begin with a very small plot of the grasses, as the seed is sometimes difficult to get in any quantity. The superintendent at Brandon has now a nice lot of several of the varieties. He is saving the seed every year for distribution among the farmers who desire to test it, and they are all very much impressed with the importance of cultivating some of these varieties of grasses, because they are permanent, and come up from year to year; but until sufficient seed is available for growing on a larger scale farmers must depend upon the growth of such annual plants as corn and rye to provide winter food for stock. The corn has succeeded well at Brandon. When I visited the farm last year, in the middle of August, it averaged about 6 feet in height and was almost as good as the corn grown here in Ottawa, though perhaps a week or ten days later. The earlier varieties would have made very good ensilage, and the Superintendent told me this spring that he thought there would be many hundred acres of corn under cultivation in Manitoba this year through the influence brought about by the tests at the Experimental Farm.

Sugar Beets.

Mr. ROOME.—Have the experiments on beet-root shown that sugar could be manufactured from beets in Canada with any profit?—A. Many varieties of the beet-root have been grown at the Experimental Farm and at many other points, and it has been shown by analysis that beets can be grown in Canada containing a proportion of sugar almost, if not quite equal, to those in Europe but as to the profits of its manufacture, that is a point we have had no means of testing.

Prolific growth of Ladoga Wheat at Prince Albert.

Mr. MACDOWELL.—At what point in the North-West did you get the best samples of wheat last year?—A. I think Prince Albert has the credit of having produced the finest sample of Ladoga wheat I have ever seen, the weight being 66½ lbs. per bushel. A sample of this has been submitted to this meeting; the crop gave nearly 35 bushels per acre. Mr. William Plaxton is the party who raised this wheat. In his letter which accompanied the sample he says:

“In 1888 I got 3-lbs. and sowed it on the 7th May and harvested it on the 30th of August; threshed 96 lbs. of good clean grain. In 1889 I sowed 96 lbs. on the 16th of April, covering about an acre of land, sowed broadcast. Harvested it on the 6th of August, and threshed 14 bushels 68 lbs. of first-class wheat. The crop was light this year on account of the drought. In 1890 I sowed five acres on the 22nd of April, sowed broadcast, about 2 bushels per acre, and harvested it on the 15th of August and threshed 172 bushels, of which you have a sample.

By Mr. MacDowall:

Q. Mr. Saunders has told us about the experimental farm at Brandon and Indian Head, which are essential to the country. I would ask him if it would not be wise to establish an experimental farm on the North Saskatchewan? It is a tree country, where there would be more protection from winds, and this would give a greater prospect of success in growing fruit trees than on a flat country?—A. There has been a proposition made with regard to this subject in connection with tree-growing, that the Government should establish at certain points in the North-West tree stations for the special cultivation of forest trees. There is no doubt that the force of the winds which sweep over parts of those open plains would be lessened if trees were grown at different points, with a view to shelter; they would also induce a condition of atmosphere which would be more favourable to local rainfall and bring about other desirable climatic conditions which nothing else would produce. It is a very important subject, and I hope that some action may be taken with regard to it before very long.

Farm Bulletins free to Applicants.

HON. MR. CARLING.—Mr. Chairman, with your permission I would just like to say one word with regard to bulletins, and to say that any number of names that may be sent from each constituency with their post office addresses will be regularly supplied with bulletins. Although as Mr. Saunders says, we have not any too much money to supply a very large addition, still I can promise the Committee that any number of names sent from their constituencies will be furnished with bulletins similar to those at present supplied, and if we have no money we will have to ask the House to make it good next year.

By Mr. McMillan (Huron) :

Q. Experiments have been conducted for two years past as to the variety of corn in Ontario most suitable for ensilage. Has any conclusion been come to on that point?—A. The report on the results of tests of varieties of corn has been nearly ready for the printer for the last three or four weeks, but there has been such a pressure of work on me from day to day that I have not been able to complete it. It will, however, be the subject of the next bulletin, and I hope, to get it out in a few days.

Abortion among Cattle—Successful preventive Treatment of.

Q. Have you ascertained what is the cause of the abortion among cattle?—A. That is a subject on which there is very little definite information to be had either in Europe or America. Various theories have been advanced to account for this disease, but probably the most plausible one is the germ theory, and that I believe is held by most of the prominent veterinarians in Europe. I read very recently an article on that subject from one of the most noted veterinary doctors in England, in which he admits that very little is yet known as to the cause of abortion. The fact of its almost entirely disappearing from our barn very soon after Prof. Robertson began to use a weak solution of bichloride of mercury very freely about the animals themselves and their feeding troughs, would seem to indicate that there is truth in the germ theory, as the bichloride of mercury, even in very weak solutions, destroys such germs very promptly. The barn was also thoroughly fumigated by burning sulphur, the animals of course having been all first put out. The course of treatment pursued is given in the annual report of the Agriculturist, and by its persistent use we have succeeded in keeping the disease in check and have had very little of it for some time past.

By the Chairman :

Q. I would like to ask Professor Saunders if he uses much rye in feeding cows at any of the farms?—A. We have used rye for feeding pigs, but not to any extent in feeding cows.

Q. Was there any ergot in the rye?—A. It is scarcely possible for any appreciable quantity of ergot to remain in unground rye which has been properly cleaned. The unbroken ergot is invariably separated by the fanning mill, and if any of it should be broken up in threshing any ordinary cleaner would separate most of it and leave the grain almost free from contamination. I have frequently examined the rye we use, and have never detected any fragment of ergot in it. As ergot is used in comparatively large doses as a medicine both for man and animals, I do not think that any very small fragments which might escape observation could be reasonably held to be a sufficient explanation for the occurrence of this disease.

By Mr. Davin :

Q. At what stage of pregnancy did the abortions occur?—A. Most commonly at from five to six months.

An Experimental Fruit Farm proposed

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. Has the Department reconsidered the desirability of establishing a fruit farm in the southern portion of Ontario. The importance of that industry demands that some action should be taken at an early date to establish an institution that would be a benefit to us here?—A. I believe that question is under consideration. There is no doubt that such a testing ground could be made to render good service to the fruit interests of Ontario, especially such fruits as are too tender to be grown at Ottawa. Some of these are of much commercial importance in the western portions of this province, and it is desirable that some provision should be made whereby the the newer sorts of tender fruits might be tested and useful varieties originated.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Have you any results to give of your experience in feeding hogs?—A. These will be given to the committee by Professor Robertson, who has this matter in hand.

By the Chairman :

Q. Can you give us any information as to the success of the two-rowed barley sown last year?—A. I have given a statement of these results in the annual report, and have some samples with me of this grain grown in different parts of Ontario. These are very good samples for such a season as we had last year.

By Dr. Roome :

Q. I would like to hear a statement from the Minister in reference to establishing a fruit-grower's farm in Western Ontario?

Hon. Mr. CALRING.—About ten days ago a deputation of fruit-growers from different parts of Ontario waited upon the Premier and myself to urge the establishing of an experimental fruit station in some part of western Canada. That matter it was promised would be taken up and fully considered; and I think we may be able to see our way clear to do something in that way.

Fruit Trees.

PROFESSOR SAUNDERS.—I may state, for the information of the Committee, that we have at Ottawa 235 varieties of the Russian fruit trees which have been imported for testing, not only in the North-West, but also in the northern parts of Ontario and the Province of Quebec. There are also in the orchards of the Experimental Farm 137 varieties of fruit trees of American origin, embracing many of the varieties commonly grown in different parts of Ontario. Information and advice are frequently applied for by tree planters, especially in the eastern parts of the province, and the experience we have already gained with these commercial varieties at Ottawa has stimulated the cultivation of fruit in every part of the Dominion. We cannot, however, grow the more tender varieties of fruit here, for the reason that the climate is too severe. These could be tested to advantage in that part of the Province indicated by Dr. Roome.

Normandy Milking Stock.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. What is your opinion of the milch cows you purchased in Quebec of Normandy breed? Are they superior milkers?—A. They have shown themselves to be very good milkers, and give rather a higher percentage of butter fat than is usual among other strains of cattle, excepting Jerseys. They are also very hardy.

---

Having examined the preceding transcript of my evidence, I find it correct.

WM. SAUNDERS,

Director Dominion Experimental Farms.

COMMITTEE ROOM No. 46,
 MONDAY, 22nd June, 1891.

The Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization convened this day at 10 a.m., Mr. SPROULE, Chairman, presiding.

PROFESSOR ROBERTSON called for examination, said :—

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN,—In presenting to the attention of the Committee a statement of the experimental work under my charge at the Central Experimental Farm during the past year, I think it best to introduce the subjects under three or four different heads. With your permission, I shall speak to you first on the experimental work in feeding steers for beef, then on the economical feeding of milking cows, afterwards on investigations in the fattening of swine, and lastly on one part of the general work of the farm in the growing of crops for cattle. If there be time this morning, and you would like some information at this meeting on the Experimental Dairy Stations which are to be established in the several provinces, I will make also a brief statement in regard to them.

Experimental Fattening of three lots of Steers.

You will not expect or desire any preliminary remarks, by way of exalting the importance of work which is intended to show the farmers the cheapest way of feeding cattle. Let me once present from the records, a summary of a few results of last year's experimental work in fattening three lots of steers. We had six steers put into a stable on 1st December. They were divided into three lots, of nearly equal age and weight, and evidently of similar breeding. The main object of this test was to discover the comparative value of corn ensilage and hay. Hence we had one set of steers on a ration composed of hay, roots and meal, the other set of steers on a ration of corn ensilage and the same kind and quantity of meal, and the third set of steers on a ration of an equal quantity of meal, with corn ensilage, and hay and roots. You see the purpose of the test—corn ensilage as against hay and roots. In the first case hay, roots and meal, were fed for comparison with corn ensilage and meal, and in the third case corn ensilage, hay, roots and meal were fed. Now the rate of increase in all the animals was not nearly so rapid as it might have been, if the animals had been kept in a stable where they could feed and lie undisturbed; for in our stable we have such a succession of visitors nearly every day that the animals are disturbed, I suppose, a dozen times daily. Still the disturbances and consequent unfavourable conditions were alike for all the animals, so that it did not materially interfere with the success of the comparison, while it did hinder the rapid fattening of all the animals. I might give you the composition of the rations in all three cases. First lot of steers :—

	Lbs.
Hay .....	20
Turnips .....	40
{ Straw .....	5
{ Chopped barley.....	2
{ do pease.....	2
{ Ground oil cake.....	1
{ Cotton seed meal.....	1
	71
	71

Of that mixture. the steers consumed on the average 54 pounds each per day.

Second lot of steers :

	Lbs.

Production of flesh and cost in each case.

The two steers in the first lot, (fed on hay, roots and meal,) gained from 29th December—when the experiment proper commenced—up to 18th May, a weight of 188 and 179 pounds, respectively. The next lot, fed on a ration of corn ensilage, straw and meal, gained 221 and 212 pounds, respectively. The third lot gained 128 and 182 pounds respectively. I would like to say, in explanation of that lower gain on the part of animal No. 5, that he did not thrive well part of the time. We could not account for this being so. He seemed to be healthy, but still, as every one who has fed cattle knows, an animal will go off his feed occasionally and will not thrive. During the last month, however, the steers fed on corn ensilage and meal gained much faster than the other two lots, and when the experiment was finished, the butcher said that the steers of that lot were in much the better condition, and expressed the opinion, after they were killed, that he liked the beef better. Now for a few points of comparison: I valued the feed in the first place—taking hay at $8 a ton, taking turnips at $4 a ton, straw at $4 a ton, pease and barley at 1 cent per pound, cotton seed meal and oil cake at 1½ cents per pound, or $30 a ton. I wished to put them as near as practicable at the ordinary market prices. Corn ensilage cost us $1.40 cents per ton. Professor Saunders has issued a bulletin very lately, in which it is set forth that the total cost, of rent, of seed, of cultivation, of labour, of interest on the cost of silo, including an allowance for waste in the silo,—is equal to $1.40 per ton of ensilage. The actual cost of producing a ton of ensilage was $1.40. Well, at these rates the first lot of steers, fed on hay, roots and meal, cost, on the average for the whole period of twenty weeks, 18·93 cents per day; that is nearly 19 cents per day per head for feed. They were allowed all they could eat up clean, and the quantity was varied from time to time, according as they would eat more readily. The next lot of steers, fed on the ration of corn ensilage, straw and meal, cost 11·6 cents per day each. I may here state that 9·01 cents per day was the cost per head for the first period, but after feeding two months all the steers were given an increase of 1 pound of cotton seed meal and 1 pound of oil cake per head per day for one month. The steers of the other lot, fed on the ration of corn ensilage, hay, roots, straw and meal, cost 15·6 cents per head per day. Now for a brief comparison to make it clear: The first lot of steers, fed on hay, roots and meal, cost nearly 19 cents each, those on corn ensilage and meal, 11·6 cents, and those on corn ensilage, hay, roots and meal, 15·6 cents—practically 19, 11 and 15 cents, respectively. That shows a very great difference in favour of corn ensilage in the point of the cost per day. You will also observe that the steers fed on corn ensilage, gained considerably more during the period than the other lots of steers, which reduces the cost per pound of increase very materially indeed.

A fattening that will not pay.

I have a further statement to make, and I shall guard it first by this qualification, that no man can buy steers or keep them during two years, and then feed them to a finished condition during the last four, five, or six months, so as to make a profit by receiving for the increased weight of the animal during that final feeding period, only the market price per pound for fat cattle. A farmer cannot afford to sell his fattened cattle at a rate per pound equal to the cost of every pound which the animals have put on during the fattening period. That is—if the steer gains 200 pounds during the fattening period, every pound of these 200 pounds will cost nearly twice as much as they could be sold for. But the profit comes in mostly in increasing the value per pound of the weight of the animal when first purchased as a stocker or when put up to fatten. You may purchase store steers at 4 cents per pound, and sell them when fat at 5½ cents per pound, so that you may get the increased value of 1½ cents per pound, or more, on the original weight of the steers, as well as the market price per pound for all of the increase.

Cost per pound of increase in flesh, from the various rations.

Now, to show the comparative cost: Every pound of increase in the weight of the steers on the ration of hay, roots and meal, cost 14·44 cents per pound; then the increase on the steers fed on the ration of corn ensilage, and meal cost 7·52 cents per pound; while on corn ensilage, hay, roots and meal, the cost was 14·12 cents per pound. You will see that a very great difference is made evident by the test, so far as one test will demonstrate anything. It is shown that the cost per pound of increase when the steers were fed on hay, roots and meal was nearly twice as much as when fed on the ration of corn ensilage and meal. This is a very material point for farmers all over the country to know—that the actual cost of production on hay, roots and meal was nearly twice as high as on corn ensilage and meal. There was a small loss on the steers fed on the ration of hay, roots and meal, as between their cost at 4½ cents per pound added to the value of the feed consumed, and their value at 5½ cents per pound when finished. That loss amounted to $9.47 on the two animals. According to the same method and scale of valuation, there was a gain on the corn ensilage and meal—fed steers of $13.95; and there was a loss on the corn ensilage, hay, roots and meal-fed steers of $6.20.

I think these are the main points I desired to bring to the attention of the Committee on the comparative cost of producing beef on corn ensilage as against hay and roots. Now, the experiment was not started originally to ascertain the relative or lowest cost at which beef could be produced, else I certainly would have tried to make provision for feeding the steers in a darkened and quiet stable, where they would not have been kicked up by visitors every hour of the day. It was mainly a comparison between corn ensilage and hay and roots. In figuring out the quantities of each of these feeds which were required to make a pound of beef, this is clear (it would take too long to repeat the details), on the average, 1 ton of hay and 2 tons of turnips together are equal to 3 tons and 15 cwts. of corn ensilage. It would be better to put it this way,—that 1 ton of hay may be equal in feeding value to 2 tons of roots. Now, 1 ton of hay and 2 tons of roots (or 2 tons of hay) are equal in feeding value to rather less than 4 tons of ensilage, really 3¾ tons of corn ensilage; or more exactly, 3,728 pounds of corn ensilage give a return in the production of beef equal to that of 1 ton of hay.

By Mr. McMillan (Huron):

Q. That is putting the hay at $8 per ton and the ensilage at $2?

Professor ROBERTSON.—No. If the hay has a feeding value of \$8 per ton the corn ensilage will have a value of \$4 per ton, although it costs very much less than that. We have 4 tons of ensilage (at a feeding value per ton of \$4), equal to 1 ton of hay at \$8, together with 2 tons of roots at \$4 per ton. That is because 7,465 pounds (called a moment ago practically  $3\frac{3}{4}$  tons) of corn ensilage gave as good result as 1 ton of hay and 2 tons of roots put together. The ensilage showed a feeding value in that comparison equal to almost \$4 per ton, and it actually cost \$1.40 per ton; or put it in another way, corn ensilage is just as cheap as if you secured hay at \$2.80 per ton.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. Would disturbing the animals retard their feeding?—A. It would disturb the fattening very much, I think.

Q. It would not increase their appetites?—A. I think not. The disturbance interferes with the comfort of the animals and the chewing of the cud.

To resume. We have not yet calculated the exact cost of roots and hay per ton. The prices mentioned were the current market prices. I do not think that any farmer—unless perhaps on dyke or intervale lands—can afford to raise hay and sell it for less than $8 per ton. The roots may be produced for rather less than $4 per ton. The corn ensilage can be produced on the average at the value at which it has been charged in this experiment, viz., $1.40 per ton.

The raising of corn and roots.

By Mr. O'Brien:

Q. One question that might fairly be discussed is how far you can carry on the system of cultivation—taking the farm all round—with the rotation of crops and with ensilage instead of roots.—A. So far as corn and a rotation of crops are concerned, I would rather grow a corn crop than a root crop. A most successful plan is that which is being followed in many parts of Canada, viz., to increase the stock of animals on the farm as the acreage of fodder corn is enlarged.

By Mr. Cochrane:

Q. What is the result in regard to exhaustion of the soil as between Swede turnips and a crop of corn?—A. The corn if properly cultivated will leave the land in as good or better condition for a succeeding crop of grain.

By the Chairman:

Q. In making your calculation, Professor, did you give just the cost of the food, or make any allowance for the value of manure?—A. Although the manure would be quite equal to the cost of labour, I did not allow that to enter in to the calculations which I made for the Committee.

By Mr. Featherstone:

Q. Could you not give us an estimate or a comparison in the cost and expenses in connection with the growing of a crop of corn and roots?—A. My own impression is that roots can be grown for $3.50 a ton, and hay cannot be grown and sold at $8 a ton with profit. That is, I do not think you can grow hay, and sell it at $8 a ton without losing money. A man can grow corn and sell ensilage at $1.40, and get paid for his labour. Regarding the cost of growing turnips: I have asked farmers all over the country what they sold turnips for, and I find they are sold for about the price I have mentioned. Last winter we had 60 or so tons more than we required ourselves, and we sold them for $4 per ton at first, and then at $3.50.

By Mr. Bain:

Q. But the object of your experiment was to settle the relative cost of feeding?—A. That was the object, mainly to discover the relative qualities of different feeds, in the production of beef; other points brought out were merely incidental and subordinate. I think you may take it, in stating the feeding value, that 2 tons of ensilage will make as much beef as 1 ton of hay.

By Mr O'Brien :

Q. In what condition was the corn put into the silo. Was it in a green state; was there any shrinkage?—A. It was put into the silo in a green state; no appreciable loss is detected on being taken out of a silo. Any shrinkage of consequence occurs between the time when it is cut and the time it is put into the silo.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. You would not consider, Professor, the testing of these six steers to be definitely conclusive, because there might be considerable difference in the feeding of the animal, not merely in the substances you gave them or the different quantities, but the steers themselves might have some considerable effect?—A. Yes; any one series of the tests merely points towards a conclusion, but does not definitely settle the matter.

By the Chairman :

Q. In feeding the steers, Professor, did you give them all they could eat each time?—A. Yes; and a record was kept of the total weight of feed consumed.

Q. Twice a day?—A. Yes. Our cows we also fed twice a day, except the large animals, like the Holsteins and Shorthorns; they were fed three times. Information on the comparison between the effect of feeding twice a day or oftener, will be forthcoming in future years.

Experimental feeding of three groups of light weight milch cows.

In our feeding experiments with milking cows, definite conclusions cannot be given yet, for the simple reason that the experiments will have to be continued longer and repeated in some parts, to establish any principle or reliable and instructive conclusions. With one lot of cows we commenced an experiment on a ration of corn ensilage and meal. The following is the ration:—

Corn ensilage.....	Lbs. 60
Wheat bran.....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	68

Of that mixture each cow consumed on an average a fraction over 92 pounds per day. The cost per day was 19.37 cents per cow. After a month's feeding of that ration we increased the ensilage to 90 pounds with the same quantity of meal. The ration as then arranged stood:—

Corn ensilage.....	Lbs. 90
Wheat bran.....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
	89

Of that mixture, each cow consumed an average of 95 pounds per day. The cost per day was 15.77 cents per cow, or nearly 4 cents per cow less than in the former case. The reduction in the cost by increasing the proportion of bulky feed did not interfere in any way with the yield of milk. We have made a similar reduction in several cases, for the purpose, mainly, of illustrating that when farmers use an excess of meal in feeding milking cows they do not get any extra milk, or value in any other way. There is no appreciable gain in the weight of the animals consequent upon the heavier feeding of meal. I do not find many cows that can use to advantage more than 7 or 8 pounds of meal per day. At the same time I have had letters from many farmers in different parts of Canada, informing me that they are feeding from 14 to 17 pounds of meal per animal per day, and asking for an expression of opinion as to why their cattle did not thrive under such treatment.

In the case of three other cows, we commenced on a ration as follows:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage .....	30
Hay.....	15
Bran .....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	<hr style="width: 100%; border: 0.5px solid black;"/>
	53

Of that mixture, the cows consumed an average of 68 pounds each per day. The cost was 23·19 cents per day. At the end of one month the quantities of ensilage and hay were increased, until the ration stood:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage.....	40
Hay .....	20
Bran.....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	<hr style="width: 100%; border: 0.5px solid black;"/>
	68

Of that mixture, the animals consumed an average of 53 pounds per day. The daily cost was 16·22 cents per head. In this class, as between the first and second periods of feeding, the cost per day was reduced nearly 7 cents per head, and there was no appreciable falling off in the yield of milk. There was the natural lessening of quantity, which in the course of the month was equal to 1 pound 6 ounces of milk per cow per day.

With still another set of three cows of smaller size, the cost per day was reduced by increasing the proportion of bulky food in the ration. For the first month the ration stood:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage.....	60
Bran.....	2
Chopped pease .....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	<hr style="width: 100%; border: 0.5px solid black;"/>
	68

Of this mixture, the cows consumed per day 74·5 pounds each. The value of the feed per day was 15·57 cents. During the feeding period of the second month, an additional quantity of corn ensilage was added to the ration, after which it stood as follows:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage.....	90
Bran.....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal .....	2
	<hr style="width: 100%; border: 0.5px solid black;"/>
	98

Of this mixture the cows consumed an average of 70·8 pounds each per day. The value of the same was 11·75 cents per day per cow.

By Mr. McMillan (P.E.I.):

Q. What has been your experience in feeding with no hay, but all ensilage and meal? I find that it physics my cows if I do not feed with hay?—A. That depends largely on the stage of ripeness to which the crop has grown and also on the manner of growing it. We find, as a rule, in our feeding, that the milking cows seem to do better with some hay or straw along with the ensilage in the ration than upon corn ensilage and meal only. With a mixture of 60 pounds of corn ensilage and 8 pounds of meal we found that they ate 74.5 pounds per day per cow. In every case we allowed them to eat all they would take. With the other ration, wherein 90 pounds of ensilage were put (instead of 60), with 8 pounds of meal, they ate an average during the month of 70.8 pounds each.

In every one of the cases, when the ration of six different sets of cows, was reduced in cost by the addition of bulky feed with the meal, we found that the animals consumed a less weight per day of the cheaper ration; and in no case was there any appreciable difference in the yield of milk that could be reckoned as due to that cause. The indication of the test is that the ordinary cows of from 900 to 1,200 pounds cannot consume to advantage more than from 7 to 8 pounds of meal mixture per day.

Feeding of two groups of heavy weight milch cows.

In the case of some larger cows—Holsteins and Shorthorns—weighing from 1,300 to 1,500 pounds, we had them fed three times a day (the other milking cows were all fed only twice a day) on a ration for the first month consisting of:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage.....	40
Mangels.....	30
Bran.....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Chopped barley.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	80

Of that mixture they consumed an average of 134.6 pounds each per day. The cost of the feed was 33.6 cents per cow per day. During the second month the ration stood:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage.....	100
Mangels.....	30
Bran.....	2
Chopped pea-e.....	2
Chopped barley.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	140

Of that mixture they consumed during the month an average of 122.3 pounds per cow per day. The cost of feed was 21.84 cents per cow per day. Again, that shows a less consumption of the cheaper and grosser mixture; and thereby the cost was reduced to the extent of nearly 12 cents per cow per day, and there was no appreciable lessening of their yield of milk. This was one of the cases where we had been feeding an excess of meal; and we had no loss in the yield of milk and no loss in the quality of the milk by reducing it.

Mr. ARMSTRONG.—No loss in the quality?—A. No loss in the quality, on an average, although it changes slightly from day to day.

In the case of the other three cows of the larger and heavier breeds we fed them on a ration consisting of:—

Hay .....	Lbs. 20
Mangels .....	30
Bran .....	2
Chopped pease .....	2
Chopped barley .....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal.....	2
	<hr/>
	60
	<hr/> <hr/>

Of that mixture they consumed an average of 6·72 pounds per day, of which the value was 29·1 cents. During the second month the quantity of hay in the ration was doubled, when it stood as follows:—

Hay .....	Lbs. 40
Mangels .....	30
Bran .....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Chopped barley .....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal .....	2
	<hr/>
	80
	<hr/> <hr/>

Of that mixture they consumed an average of only 46·6 pounds per head per day, of which the value was 19·8 cents—that is, they ate of the cheaper mixture, containing less meal, 21 lbs. less per day and gave but a slightly less quantity of milk.

Comparative results in the production of milk.

In every case the teaching of the experiment is in this direction,—that by reducing the quantity of the expensive and concentrated feed down to 7 or 8 pounds of meal per day we obtain as much milk per head, the animals are in as good health, and the cost of feeding is very much lessened. When a large quantity of expensive feed is given (which exceeds the quantities I have mentioned of from 6 to 8 pounds per day for the ordinary cow), it will result in no more milk and no increase of live weight.

I have not put before the Committee the full details of the quantities of milk, etc., but the trend of the evidence in tests extending over three months with six sets of three cows each is all in the direction of favouring the cheaper mixture as a ration. We have some incidental information in connection with milk, etc., which will be pointed out fully in the annual report.

Now, these two lines of experimental feeding—one with steers, and the one I have mentioned with milking cows—were all we could conduct with the room and time at our disposal. We would like to take up a half a dozen other experiments, only we are limited in these two respects.

By Mr. Bain :

Q. Had the cattle much of an appetite for the cheaper feed?—A. They can be induced to eat more than they can digest, if the ration be made attractive enough, by being extra rich for them.

Q. They might eat it for a meal or so, but I should have thought it would have cured itself.—A. In one case the consumption extending over one month was 67·2 pounds per day per head of the richer mixture, when it was only 46·2 pounds per day for the month with the same cows upon the cheaper mixture. These two were the ones in which hay, mangels and meal were fed.

Q. That was the extra increase in the consumption for the whole month?—A. I found in another case, where they had a richer mixture with corn ensilage, mangels and meal, that they ate during the month an average of 134·6 pounds per head per day, as against 122·3 pounds (same cows in both cases) of the cheaper mixture. That refers to the rations where 60 pounds of extra corn ensilage had been added without the addition of any extra meal.

Q. They both point in the same direction?—A. Yes. As between Jerseys and Ayrshires, fed on a ration composed of:—

	Lbs.
Corn ensilage.....	60
Bran .....	2
Chopped pease.....	2
Oil cake.....	2
Cotton seed meal .....	2
Total.....	68

They consumed an average per day of 74·5 pounds. When the corn ensilage in the ration was made 90 pounds, instead of 60, they consumed only 70·8 pounds of that cheaper mixture per day.

Practical conclusions from the experiments.

By the Chairman:

Q. Did you always give them as much as they would eat?—A. In every case. The experience with these whole six lots of cows was, that when they received the food too rich, or containing more meal than the quantities that I have repeatedly indicated, they eat it greedily enough, but did not make any good return for it. I may say that the animals were weighed every week, and there was no indication of any permanent loss or gain. Animals will vary from week to week, according to the condition of water in their system, the contents of their intestines, etc. Examinations were also made of the quality of the milk. The tests in the feeding of milking cows with corn ensilage in the one case, to take the place of the ration of hay and roots in the other case, would indicate that it would take 3 tons of such corn ensilage as we were using to equal 1 ton of hay. However, there is nothing definitely conclusive in that case; and our corn ensilage was made from immature corn. Inasmuch as we had been growing over 80 varieties, many of them did not ripen, and hence the results in feeding were not so good.

By Mr. McGregor:

Q. That is when you feed ensilage only?—A. We have fed hay and ensilage, and ensilage alone and ensilage with meal.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. How often do you water your cows?—A. They have water in front of them all the time.

By Mr. McMillian:

Q. Your feeding of meal corresponds exactly with my experience for the last five years. We have fed 100 steers last year and 75 are now crossing the ocean. We were offered $75 a head for them at Seaforth station, and they had between 5 and 6 pounds of meal a day. I am convinced that when 10 or 12 pounds of meal is fed that a great deal of it goes to waste; the animal does not assimilate it?—A. There is one point more, and that is this: That all through the test with cows we found a rather less shrinkage in the milk yield of the animals when they got ensilage than any other food—which is a very important item when cows are milked through the winter. This is due to the succulent character of the corn ensilage; and we have been able to sustain a milk yield which we could not have had with any other food. This is a point that I cited at a Farmer's Institute lately: That no man finds a cow shrink in her milk yield on pasture in June, no matter when she calved. Now, corn ensilage makes a food very much like that which a cow obtains in grass in June. With it you can hold the animals to their milk nearly all the winter. It is more suitable for the animal than dry fodder, and costs only $1.40 per ton.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. You have not given us any particulars as to the qualities of the milk from these foods?—A. The quality varies very much. The actual quantity from these cows in the spring, when we were using the setting method of handling the milk, was 31 pounds of milk to make 1 pound of butter. I find by reference to my memorandum that we made altogether about 190 tests of the milk by examination with the Babcock tester for the percentage of butter fat.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. I would like you to make a test such as you saw in the Western States. You told us you saw land there worth $100 an acre, on which they were feeding steers on corn ensilage and gaining from 1 pound to 1½ pounds of beef per day. I hope you will prove that it is possible to do so here?—A. In that matter, I hope we can carry on a test of that sort during the coming winter; but it was not possible to take that up last winter, for the reason that the discovery of the best variety of corn was so urgent that we were unable to have our corn for ensilage uniformly matured.

Separating the cream from the milk.

Q. Do you speak of the milk from the whole herd?—A. It was the milk from the whole herd; it was the milk from the 1st of May. Milk may then be said to be at its very poorest, and we were able to make 1 pound of butter from 31 pounds of milk. The average on the ordinary farm at that time of the year would be about 32 pounds. Let me say, also, that with all our care in setting and handling of the milk there was from ½ to 1 per cent. of fat in the skim milk. There was a difference between the actual amount of butter and the quantity of fat indicated by an analysis of the milk. Then we commenced to use the centrifugal cream separator, by which we reduced the amount of milk required to yield 1 pound of butter to 26.18 pounds—thus effecting a saving of 5 pounds in the quantity of milk required to make 1 pound of butter; and as a member of the Committee just remarked, the skim milk from the centrifugal separator is sweeter and more wholesome for the calves. By the setting method we left the skim milk with from ½ to 1 per cent. of the butter fat in it.

In the matter of feeding steers on corn ensilage only, I would like to say this; You can readily see the reason why such an experiment was not undertaken last year. It would not be best to undertake to feed animals on corn that was immature, and that was the condition of much of the corn from which our ensilage was made. We had a great many varieties planted, for the purpose of ascertaining which variety was the best for ensilage purposes, and they did not all mature sufficiently.

Q. What variety did you find best?—A. Thoroughbred White Flint, taking everything into account. That branch of the experimental work, however, is under the care of Professor Saunders, and he issued a bulletin on the subject lately.

Comparative feeding value of Indian Corn at different stages of growth.

By the Chairman :

Q. In feeding hay, did you feed it whole or did you cut it?—A. It was cut up and mixed with the other constituents of the ration.

Let me show you the comparative value of corn at different stages of growth. I have here a diagram showing the result with seven different varieties cut at different stages of growth. They were cut at two different periods, the 26th of August and the 19th September, respectively. The diagram is as follows:—

FEEDING FARM STOCK.

INDIAN CORN—Digestible Matter per ton of Green Fodder.

		Cut.	Lb.	Value.
Average of 7 Varieties.	Total digestible matter.....	August 25...	256
		September 19...	297
	Albuminoids.....	August 26...	25
		September 19...	27
	Fat.....	August 26...	3
		September 19...	5
	Fibre.....	August 26...	77
		September 19...	89
	Carbohydrates.....	August 26...	143
		September 19...	175

In every ton of green fodder there were in the first stage 256 pounds of digestible matter, and in every ton at the other stage there were 297 pounds. These are the constituents: Albuminoids, fat, fibre and carbo-hydrates. Of these, the albuminoids, are the most valuable constituents, corresponding to the fibrin of beef or the albumen of eggs. At the first period there were 25 pounds of albuminoids as against 27 in the later. Of fat there were 3 pounds, as against 5 pounds; of fibre the proportion was 77 to 89; of the carbo-hydrates there were 143 against 175. The teaching of the whole thing is, that every ton is worth more at the latter stage, and you have more tons to the acre. This lower chart will illustrate these points still more clearly. It is taken from the average of five varieties of Indian corn at these stages.

Ripe, Sept. 23.		28,460 Green weight.
		20,542 Water.
		7,918 Dry matter.

Most of the gentlemen of the Committee will understand that there are several distinct stages in corn growth. For the sake of convenience we speak of the later stages in the following terms: First we have the "tasselling." Then you have the "silking," when the silk threads come through the husk; then there is the stage when the corn is "in milk"; after that is the stage when the kernel is "glazed" on the outside; and lastly you have the "ripe" stage, when the plant is matured. At the "tasselling" stage there were 18,045 pounds of green corn to the acre. In these 9 tons and 45 pounds there were 8 tons and 426 pounds of water, so that we had only 1,619 pounds of dry matter. The dry matter is all that is valuable. It is not equally digestible in all its stages, but still it must be there to be available. At the "silking" stage there was great increase in the dry matter, and so all through, as shown by the diagram in the chart. If you put it down in dollars and cents, the difference would be this: that if it be said to be worth $16.19 per acre at the first or "tasselling" stage, the same crop is worth $72.02 per acre at the latter or "glazed" stage, and there is no increase in the cost of production per acre between that stage and this. The man does not put an extra ten cents to the acre. The extra digestible constituents are largely taken from the atmosphere. So you will see the great importance of growing corn for ensilage purposes to the "glazed" stage. We have been urging everywhere, for the last two years, that farmers should grow corn so that it may reach this stage.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. What effect has it on the land at these different stages?—A. By analysis of the corn at different stages of growth it has been shown that it takes most of the nitrogenous matter, as well as the mineral matter during the earlier stages of growth. The carbohydrates or starch, gum and sugar are appropriated from the atmosphere.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. After it reaches the "glazed" state, does it increase in value?—A. The stalks become so woody and fibrous afterwards that they become less digestible; so that it is more valuable in this "glazed" stage.

By Mr. Semple :

Q. Does a corn crop or a turnip crop exhaust the soil most?—A. The crop that follows will be better from corn-cropped land than turnip land.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. I would like to ask Professor Saunders if the Thoroughbred White Flint head ed well?—A. The proportion of ears on the stalk of Thoroughbred White Flint, grown in rows  $3\frac{1}{2}$  feet apart, are not very numerous, for the reason that the stalk branches out so much and it is so leafy that the sun cannot get at it; but we noticed the formation of a considerable number of ears on the outside of the rows; and at the end of the rows you would find a considerable number—how many I am not prepared to state, as I did not count them over last year. On a very leafy variety like that, the shade induced by the growth of the plant is sufficient to prevent the numerous formation of ears. I presume the plant would have reached that stage in which it would have the same amount of digestible matter, as exposed here.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. The Dent corn with us is a good corn?—A. The Dent corns are later here. I may say that a bulletin we are about issuing will afford considerable information with respect to the different varieties of corn.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. The Red Cob ensilage gave more heads by half with us than the Southern Sweet?—A. I should think that the Thoroughbred White Flint would produce more than an ear to each stock—perhaps on an average two; but it is a very thick-growing variety

By the Chairman :

You may now go on with your illustration.

Professor ROBERTSON.—I wish to give a further illustration, by taking Indian corn on an average of five trials. The stage of growth from 24th July to 5th August, at different Experimental Stations, reached the condition from the "tasselled" stage to the "bloom" stage. First we may take the quantity of dry matter per acre at these two stages. The diagram that I have prepared to illustrate these points is as follows :

		{ Dry matter.....	10 inches long.
July 24 to	{ Tasselled	{ Albuminoids... ..	10 do
Aug 5.		{ Fat.....	10 do
		{ Carbo-hydrates.....	10 do
Sept. 3 to	{ Glazed to	{ Dry matter.....	30.5 do
Sept. 23.		{ Albuminoids. ....	21.4 do
		{ Fat.....	33 do
		{ Carbo-hydrates.....	36.5 do

I need hardly emphasize still further the fact that no additional expense is involved in producing a crop to the later or glazed stage; the work is all done and the outlay has all been made before the crop reaches the tasselling period.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. What is the best stage at which to cut Indian corn? Will the grain mature perfectly if it be cut when it is glazed?—A. Yes; the ears will take some substance from the stalk and thus become ripened. However, if the ears be separated from the stalk, the kernels will not fill out as plump as they should, unless it be left growing to a later stage.

Q. As a farmer, I know that if corn is cut and set up in the fall in shocks that the corn will ripen. Now, if corn was stooked where the air would circulate through it, would not that ear of corn become perfect on the stalk? Would it be required to be left on the stalk, that it might get some nutriment from it, in order to become perfect?—A. It would be perfect so far as vitality is concerned, but if husked at once from the stalk in an immature state the kernels would shrink—that is, the kernels would not be so full and plump; they would not be of full size, but would have vitality and would grow again if planted. One point more before I leave this subject: I think it would prove to be a very excellent practice if the farmers would sow pease very early in autumn between the rows of corn at the time of the very last cultivation. The pease will get far enough on to be a valuable crop of green manure to plough under in the autumn; and, as they appropriate a considerable portion of nitrogen from the atmosphere, the land might be enriched in some measure by the practice and treatment.

By a Member :

Q. What has been your experience in putting corn into a silo wet?—A. I have twice put corn into a silo wet, and find it keeps well.

By Mr. Bain :

Q. At what date would you cut the corn?—A. I suppose about the 20th of September, but no calendar date can be given which will be applicable or satisfactory. In all cases it should be cut before the frost comes, and left as long as it is safe, unless it has reached the glazed stage.

By the Chairman :

Q. If you are through with the corn matter we will proceed with another branch of the subject, namely, the feeding of swine?—A. In the feeding of swine we have not gone into a very large scope of experimental work yet; but we have several breeds, and have in view the crossing of them on each other.

Swine Feeding.

By Mr. Featherston :

Q. Before you go on with that, Professor, I would like your opinion about green hay when put into a silo, whether it would turn out good?—A. In this country, where hay can be cured to advantage, I do not think that much gain results from making ensilage from it, or even from mixed crops; but a late crop of hay, that could not be conveniently saved from foul weather in the autumn, might be made into excellent ensilage.

In the matter of crossing breeds, we have made provision for crossing the longer and leaner breeds, such as improved large Yorkshire and Tamworth on the shorter and more lardy breeds, like Essex and Berkshire. The object is to discover the cross that will give the largest yield and the best kind of pork and bacon for every pound of food consumed. This is to my mind one of the most important matters in stock-feeding to our farmers; because we are in the unfortunate position of importing large numbers of swine and exporting the substances from which bacon is made. If we made bacon from the grains which we are exporting, we should have all the profit among ourselves. So far as the investigations have gone this year, they have proven that our farmers are producing a small quantity of pork because they have not studied the best way of producing it.

We first had a comparison between two pens of pigs—four pigs being put in each pen, of about equal weight and similar breeding. One pen was fed on a mixture of barley, rye and pease,—that being the cheapest combination of grain at the market prices last year. They were fed on the mixture steamed and warmed. The pigs in the pen on the opposite side of the passage, were fed on the same mixture, but raw and cold. We had two objects in view: first, the object of discovering the difference in the quantity of meal required to make a pound of increase when steamed and warmed as against a similar mixture fed raw and cold. On the whole, there was practically no difference, taking the whole period extending from the 9th of December to the 18th of May. It took of the mixture steamed and warmed 4.16 pounds to make a pound of increase live weight. The same mixture fed cold and raw required 4.25 pounds to make a pound of increase; so there was practically no difference in the quantity of food required to make a pound of pork live weight, with food steamed and warm as against food cold and raw.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Would the food that was fed be cold and dry?—A. Wet in both cases, and I may say the only condiment the pigs had was a mixture of salt and ashes, which was kept in a corner all the time. Those pigs that were fed on a mixture steamed and warm, gained in weight faster than those that were fed on the mixture cold and raw. They gained 702½ pounds, as against 564 pounds for the others in the same length of time; but the difference in the quantity of the food consumed brought the cost down about equal. You may put this down as the indication of this line of experimental work: That when the food is fed steamed and warm the pigs consume so much more that they grow faster, but the bacon costs just as much per pound as when the food is given cold and raw, and you have nothing for the labour and trouble of steaming.

Quantity of food required to make one pound of flesh, at different stages of feeding.

During these same experiments we took observations to ascertain the comparative quantities of grain required to make a pound of increase live weight at the different stages of feeding, because in nearly every case I find that farmers are keeping their swine long after the best stage for marketing. Now, taking the first month for eight pigs—that is, taking the average of both lots—it required 3.31 pounds of grain for every pound of increase. In the next month it took 3.07; in the third, 4.04; in the fourth, 5.73; in the fifth, 6.45; and in the sixth, 6.93 pounds of the mixture of grain for every pound of increase in live weight. The food was weighed every day and the pigs every week. Yet you see how gradual the increase is in the quantity of food consumed per pound of increase live weight. The total consumption of grain per day was not on the increase, and there is where the farmers are much misled. Thus, for the last three weeks they were fed, four pigs consumed only 237 pounds, as against 558 pounds during the third month they were being fed; but they grew so much less that the cost per pound was far greater. There were five feeding periods of four weeks each and one of three weeks. The quantity of grain consumed rose steadily until the third month, and then the consumption gradually decreased; but the decrease was much faster in the rate of the gain of weight than in the consumption of food. You get after a certain stage a lessened consumption of food, but you also get a greater decrease in the rate of the gain of live weight—that is to say, a much larger quantity meal is required at the latter stages of growth to make a pound of increase. If you put it in the percentages it will stand in this order: At the third month of feeding it costs 31 per cent. more food for every pound of increase than at the second; for the fourth month it cost 86 per cent. more; in the fifth month it costs 110 per cent. more; and in the last month 125 per cent. more than in the second month of feeding. The details of this experiment will be found in the following diagram:—

Q. What age were your pigs when you started?—A. I do not know the exact age, but two pens weighed an average of 76 pounds, and we gave them six months' feeding after that. We had one test of feeding pigs on pease ensilage alone last winter, and there was no gain at all. Pigs on ensilage alone do not thrive satisfactorily.

By a Member :

Q. We think it is the right thing to have April pigs feed on pasture?—A. In the summer time the very cheapest way is to let them run in clover. Another test was between smaller pigs that weighed an average of 48½ pounds when they were put in. We had a somewhat similar test to that which has already been reported on, except in this case they were fed some sugar beets with their mixture of meal. The mixture was of ground barley, rye and pease. In one case the mixture was steamed and warmed, and in the other case it was fed raw and cold. In the first case 3·86 pounds of meal fed steamed and warm, together with 2·46 pounds of sugar beets were required for each pound of gain in weight. In the other case 3·89 pounds of meal fed raw and cold, together with 2·73 pounds of sugar beets were required for each pound of gain in weight. The indication of both experiments is that the cost of pork per pound is just the same when the food is fed steamed and hot as when raw and cold. The full diagram is as follows:—

By Mr. Watson :

Q. Would there be any advantage in souring the food?—A. I have not tested it here, but I do not see that there is any possibility of a gain from that method.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Have you tried the experiment of giving the food dry?—A. Yes; but I have found it to be attended by a good deal of risk from the pigs getting lung troubles, caused by particles of dust from the finely-ground grain being drawn into the breathing tubes. If you feed grain in a dry floury condition, I find a great deal of coughing resulting from it, from inhalation of the dusty mixture into the lungs. If the grain be fed whole—without grinding—the effect would be different.

Q. In western Ontario they feed a great deal from the cob?—A. In that case you are apt to have imperfect mastication, which is not the case in the methods we have adopted. But our experiment was for the purpose of ascertaining the comparative cost of feeding, steamed and warm, as against cold and raw. We also included an investigation into the comparative cost per pound of increase live weight during the different feeding periods.

Comparative cost at different stages of feeding.

Now, taking the first two months of the feeding period together, and counting 5 pounds of sugar beets equal to 1 pound of grain, the grain equivalent which was required for each pound of increased live weight was 3.55 per pound. For the second period of the two months the quantity required, estimated upon the same basis, was 4.30 pounds; and for the last period of two months it reached the quantity of 6.84 pounds of grain per pound of increased live weight. For the second period of two months the cost for every pound of bacon was 21 per cent. in feed greater than for the first period of two months; and for the third and last period of two months the cost was 90 per cent. higher than for the first period of equal duration.

By Mr. Featherston :

Q. What was the gain per month?—A. In the first case the experiment was commenced with four pigs weighing 302 pounds; that was equal to about 75 pounds apiece. They gained 105 pounds during the first month; they gained 207 pounds next month; they gained 194 pounds the third month; they gained 109 pounds during the following month; 57½ pounds during the fifth month; and 30 pounds during the last three weeks. Other four pigs (the ones fed on a mixture cold and raw) gained during each of the six months the following weights:—105½, 183½, 126, 58½, 49 and 41½.

By a Member :

Q. Have you made any observation, Professor, upon the decrease in the warmth of the pen having anything to do with the results of feeding?—A. I have not thought that was at all a probable cause. The most rapid increase of weight was during the months of January and February, when the weather was coldest and the pigs were in the same pen during the whole feeding period.

By Mr. Bain :

Q. Have you made any experiments as to the value of crushed ground grain compared with the same quantity of pease fed whole?—A. I have not tried that at our piggery here, but it has been tried elsewhere. I shall be glad to try that in the course of next year's work. It is rather difficult, perhaps, to carry on more than two lines of investigations at the same time with the same set of pigs.

By a Member :

Q. You found no difference in the main between the cold and the warm weather?—A. No difference that could be accounted for in that way. If the pigs lie dry and protected from a draught they will stand a great deal of cold.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. What is your opinion about the best time for disposing of pigs?—A. That raises a point which has received too little careful attention from our farmers. I think it is a mistake to suppose that pigs can be fed cheaper in the winter than during the summer months; our swine will fetch a higher price, live weight, between May and September than they will at another period of the year.

By Mr. Watson :

Q. Tell us how you managed with the hogs in the pens when it was below zero?
—A. There is no trouble in keeping them comfortable so long as they will lie dry and are protected from draughts.

Q. My impression was that they would never increase in weight during cold weather?—A. They should not be exposed to winds and should not be allowed to lie in wet places.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Have you experimented sufficiently to arrive at any conclusion as to the best breeds from which to obtain good pork?—A. No; we have not gone in for anything of that kind as yet. During the months since our piggery building was finished, we have been conducting experiments in feeding only.

Milch Cows—Breeds and feeding of.

Q. I would like to ask the Professor if first-class butter can be made from cows which are kept in the stable and fed on ensilage without being turned out at all?—A. The quality will not be very excellent as a rule from the feeding of ensilage alone, but those fed upon corn ensilage and a little meal give excellent results in butter.

Q. Can you make as good butter from a cow fed on ensilage and allowed to remain inside the stable as if she were turned out?—A. I think so; especially during the winter, when the weather is cold, I think that the cow should be protected from the severe changes in the temperature which she will find by being exposed in the barnyard. However, it is common in most parts of the country for the cows to be turned out in the winter time for water. If the cows are turned out, so as to become chilled, they will give a less quantity of a rather poorer quality of milk.

By Mr. McMillan (Huron) :

Q. The cows on the farm are milked at 4 o'clock in the afternoon: Do you think you get the best results in that way?—A. They are milked between 4 and 5 o'clock during the winter only. We cannot conveniently manage at another time during the winter months, but if an exact division of time between the morning and evening milking and the evening and morning milking were made, I would expect to get rather better results.

By a Member :

Q. Which breed would you consider the best for dairying and the making of butter?—A. There is a far greater difference between animals of the same breed than between any two breeds you could name.

Q. Is the quality of milk given by the Holsteins equal to that given by the Jerseys?—A. It does not contain so large a percentage of butter fat as the milk from the Jersey cows, although we have one Holstein cow that has given us as rich milk as one of the Jerseys.

By Mr. Featherston :

Q. I would have the best cow of the best breed that I could select?—A. There is no best breed of cows, and in all our investigations I think we will guard against trying to contrast breeds. I do not intend to do any of that work if I can avoid it. If any man should ask me the best breed of horses I could not tell him. If I have a thoroughbred blood horse and a Clydesdale horse in a plough, the Clydesdale is the better; but if I have them in a buggy together there will be no doubt about the blood horse being the better. If a farmer seeks to obtain stock for fattening and shipping purposes, combined with dairying, he should keep a milking strain of Shorthorns, Ayrshires or Holsteins. If he seeks butter mainly he should invest in Jerseys or Guernseys; while, if he should own a rolling farm of rather light soil he would be able to produce milk as economically (or more so) from Ayrshires as from any of the other breeds. Every breed is best adapted for some particular spot and purpose, and there is no best breed for all places and uses.

A very few words now on a subject I had down on my notes, and that is, the growing of food for cattle on a small acreage. Professor Saunders had arranged with me in the spring to put apart some forty acres on which to grow food for cattle, and to make an examination of how many cattle we could keep on that 40 acres,—buying for them little or nothing outside at all. Thus, a correct record is being kept of the amount of labour and expense put on these 40 acres. We have put in about 15 acres of corn in different ways—different distances apart and different thicknesses of seeding in the rows. We have put in some 12 acres of mixed crop in every possible combination of mixture of wheat, barley, oats and pease. Then we have sown single acres of goose wheat, three-rowed barley, oats and pease, and 3 acres of roots, 2 acres of pasture, and little areas of cabbages and other plants make up the 40 acres. The probability is that we will be able to feed 25 cows, 8 or 10 steers, and a few head of young animals. These 40 acres we hope will yield enough to keep that number of stock for twelve months. This is rather an interesting part of the Experimental Farm work, and a correct record will be kept of all the work put on the land. The object is this:—That in many parts of Canada the complaint has arisen that a man cannot keep much stock unless he has a big farm. Now, most of our farmers have not big farms, and in many cases it would be better if those who have big farms had smaller ones and used them to better advantage. This they could do, if they kept more animals on fewer acres. There would be more thrift and profit. With respect to this experiment there will be bulletins issued from time to time respecting the progress which is made. On the 1st July we propose to put in 25 cows and in the fall of the year 10 steers, and if the feed does not hold out we will have to reduce the stock; but I think it will feed that number. The object of so large a corn crop is to show farmers the possibility of raising and keeping as large a number of cattle on that number of acres, as farmers succeed in doing who have four times as much land.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. To make that experiment complete, you want to give us the condition of the land?—A. That is a point that is valuable. The history of the land for the last two or three years can be given, but that would not be of much service now, as it is intended that there shall be nothing put on the land except the manure of these cattle, or the equivalent. In other respects, we have the record of the farm from the commencement four years ago.

By the Chairman :

Q. Is this summer feeding only?—A. No; these 40 acres are intended to sustain those animals for the full twelve months.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. What number of acres of wheat have you in the 40 acres?—A. One acre of wheat; but wheat enters into some of the mixtures. We have sown in that mixed crop 2 pounds of flax seed per acre for grinding with the grain.

By Mr. Gilmor :

Q. You will keep these cattle you have now, in the stable the whole year round?—A. They are let out for exercise occasionally, and will be out perhaps two months during the year.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. I see you said in a speech reported some time ago, that if you had a farm within three or four miles of a cheese factory it would increase the price of your land $10 per acre. I live in a district where we have been organizing these cheese factories for some years, and our farmers are barely holding their own. I think this statement should not go abroad unqualified?—A. I have made so many speeches that I cannot tell from which one that extract was taken. This, however, is my contention, that in purely agricultural districts, where men keep the most stock, land is worth the most, because, where there are few animals kept the land becomes exhausted, and where cattle are kept the fertility of the soil is maintained and the profits of farming are increased. The trouble with cheese factories is that farmers have not kept cattle for fattening along with cattle for milking. I therefore say that where stock is most kept, land will sell or rent for the most per acre.

By Mr. Bain :

Q. Where cheese factories prevail, is it not a fact that farmers do not do so much stock-raising as a rule?—A. They followed that course some time ago, but the practice is changing. The man who furnishes milk to a cheese factory should also see that his calves are kept for fattening purposes and the maintenance of his herd.

Q. The habit used to be to buy cows rather than raise calves?—A. Yes; and that is the case in some districts yet, and therefore, in some instances, cheese factories are barely struggling along and barely keeping open.

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,
THURSDAY, 25th JUNE, 1891.

The Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization convened this day at 10 a.m., Mr. Sproule, Chairman, presiding. Professor Robertson, Dairy Commissioner, re-called :

The Chairman :

Professor Robertson is before us to-day for the purpose of giving information with respect to outside experimental dairy stations. I presume it would be well to allow him to follow the same course as at last meeting, making his statement first, and reserving questions until he is finished.

Experimental Dairy Stations.

Professor Robertson :

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN,—In presenting to the Committee a very brief outline of what has been done in preparation for and in connection with the establishment of experimental dairy stations, I may say a few words in regard to the need and value for these stations in the Dominion, in order to show the Committee that the plans which we have adopted are adequate to meet the needs, and just suitable to give assistance in developing this important branch of farming. In nearly all other countries where agriculture has been followed successfully, something in this line of work has been and is being done. Most of you are, I dare say, better acquainted with the conditions of farming in England and Scotland than elsewhere in Europe, and in these countries dairy farming has been a great success. In one respect the dairy farming of England has not been profitable in measure with the opportunities of that country. A considerable proportion of the English dairy products, during the last six or eight years, has been sold at high prices, mainly owing to the prejudices of consumers in favour of home-made articles. I will put a statement in here to show you the value of such work as we are undertaking.

Canadian Cheese in the English Market.

I find that nearly one-fifth of the fine Canadian cheese sent to England, is still sold on the counters of English shops as English Cheddar cheese; and under that name it brings nearly 4 cents per pound more than the same or similar cheese when offered for sale in the same shops under the name of Canadian cheese. That is, after all, a value which is given to the article on account of prejudice and preference on the part of the consumer. I have gone to shops and have found English cheese and Scotch cheese and Canadian cheese on the same counter, being sold at prices varying from 20 cents to 12 cents, the Canadian being the lowest. Yet the Canadian cheese in many instances was superior in every sense, in nourishing qualities and flavour, to the 20 cents per pound cheese, which was branded and was “home-made.” We hope to gain for our own producers the full value of their cheese and butter, by overcoming the prejudice of the consumers, by encouraging the manufacturers of our finest cheese and creamery butter to brand them “Canadian.”

Notwithstanding the advantages which that prejudice has given to the English and Scotch dairymen, they have found the need of doing some experimental dairy work; for, after all, no trade can be sustained very long if its profits rest upon such a basis as prejudice. The Imperial Parliament has made a grant during the last few years of £5,000 sterling, to promote the work of dairy instruction.

Very few dairy stations are in operation, but all over the south of Scotland and in a few districts in England the work of traveling instructors has been prosecuted. They have besides, in Scotland, only one experimental dairy station or school, which is bonussed and sustained to some extent by the Government grant. The effect of that work has been this—and I have it from the wholesale merchants in the article there—the general quality of dairy products, mainly cheese, throughout the west of Scotland, has been improved to an increased value of 25 per cent. within the last three years, and that is nearly all due to the instructions of the Canadian instructors who have gone there engaged to do this work. The improvement is in this direction: not that the very best dairies have been enabled to make better quality, but that the poorer dairies have been enabled to make the goods that they turn out, nearly equal to the best. An averaging up of the qualities has been the advantage the country has reaped.

Now, the experimental dairy stations in Canada have just the same object in view,—not so much to help men to make cheese and butter different from and better than what are now made in the best factories and creameries, as to average up the poor quality until the goods we send abroad are uniformly fine, carrying a good reputation with them, and thus fetching a higher price. I need not detain the Committee with a long explanation of what such countries as Denmark, Sweden and Holland have been doing, since it is probably familiar to most of you that they have been spending larger sums of money to promote skilful dairy practice, than in any other branch of effort to improve the condition of agriculture. To such an extent has this work been carried, that in Denmark alone there are something like 75 dairy stations which may be used as schools. They are on rather a small scale, but these stations have been the agencies through which Denmark has been enabled to produce the largest quantity and the finest quality of butter sent by any country to England.

It is the expectation of some of us that through the work of these stations in Canada, we will be able to develop an export trade in butter quite equal to that of Denmark and larger than our own export trade in cheese now. So, one main purpose of our experimental dairy station work in Canada, is to develop an export trade in butter of the very best quality to meet the needs of the English market. At the same time, we will not forget to bear in mind this, that we should try and get for ourselves the value which our own goods carry in themselves, by having everything sent from Canada branded “Canadian,” so that those who produce our goods and sell them under our name may get a higher price for them.

I come now to a specific statement of what we are doing in Canada. Before I make that, however, let me refer to one other aspect of this work. In most countries the work of experimental investigation has been done by scientists pure and simple. Even in agricultural science, the Germans have done more in the way of investigation during the last twenty-five years than we have done, in prosecuting purely scientific enquiries; but in that respect the German scientists have always been willing to labour for a knowledge of the abstract theory, and little effort has been made to bridge over the gap between the statement of the principle and the application of that principle to farming practices. The work of our experimental farms and dairy stations, is to bridge over the gap and illustrate the application of the best practices to the production of butter, cheese, live-stock and all other farm products.

Itinerant Dairy Instructions.

The original plan for the establishment of experimental dairy stations, embraced the putting of at least one station in each province of the Dominion. The purpose was to have cheese-making carried on during the summer time, so as (1) to illustrate the very best practices of producing the finest quality of goods, (2) to demonstrate the different qualities of cheese that would result from different methods of making, and then (3) to have the same station used for the production of the finest quality of butter throughout the winter season, especially with the object of encouraging the farmers to get an income from their cows the whole year round by making butter and raising stock through the winter, and making cheese from the same cows during the summer. In that connection comes in the value of fodder corn, of which I spoke on the last occasion when I was before the Committee. When cattle are fed all winter on corn ensilage, the flow of milk can be kept up without much shrinkage; while the practice of feeding on hay, roots and meal will tend to dry them up during the winter after milking for a very short period. While that was the original plan which I had the honour to submit to the Minister of Agriculture—a memorandum upon which was included in my last annual report—it was found necessary to modify the application of that plan in some details.

First of all, in the Province of Ontario it was found, if we selected any one particular spot at which to establish an experimental station, that for the first summer very few people would derive much benefit from its existence or work. That station would be to a certain extent unknown, and really of little value for the immediate needs of the business. To meet that condition of affairs successfully it was decided to postpone the establishment of a station at any one place and to have the men—who would otherwise do this work at stations—travel all over the provinces and visit factories in the different districts, inviting the cheese makers to meet them at these factories. This plan was thought to be better for the first season than that of locating an experimental station in any part of the province. With that object in view I had a circular issued to the factories of the different provinces, intimating that one object of these visits was to give instruction in the best methods of testing milk, with the end in view of being able next year to introduce a system by which milk at cheese factories would be paid for according to its quality and real value. There is a very wide difference in the qualities of milk. Milk, varying quite as much as from 3 per cent. of butter fat to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. has been paid for at precisely the same rate per hundred pounds regardless of its value for cheese-making, under the system generally followed. We have now in use a milk-testing machine, which will speedily and accurately discover the real quality of milk as to its percentage of butter fat, and we hope this year to be able to announce a method by which every factory will be able to pay for its milk according to its quality. That would be one of the most substantial of the aids we could render to the dairy interests of Canada. I find that in many cases, cheese factories are succumbing to the supposition on the part of farmers that they have not got fair play. If the best farmers in a community believe that they do not get full value for the milk they send to the factory their support is half-hearted.

Another of the objects of these visits of our instructors, was to give the cheese-makers, who would attend, helpful instruction for a whole day in the very latest and best way of making cheese uniform in quality and fine in finish. Although we had only three men employed in Ontario for part of the season—that was during the latter half of May and June—we have reached over 150 cheese-makers. Thus, in one and a-half month's time we reached over 150 cheese-makers for the purpose of showing them this milk-testing method, and giving instructions in making cheese. From many of these cheese-makers I have letters saying they have derived very much benefit from these instructions.

On such occasions also, the person, who has gone to give instruction in cheese-making, has invited the farmers in the neighbourhood to attend a meeting in the evening, and has given instruction at such gatherings respecting the whole matter of feeding cattle, handling milk and carrying on dairying in the most profitable way.

In the Province of Quebec similar work has been undertaken, and a programme of places is being arranged for until August, whereby every county in that large province has been, or will be visited at two or three central factories at least, to give cheese-makers instruction in the best way of carrying on their work. By way of illustrating the value of this work to the Committee, I may say that it was my good fortune last year to visit the district of Chicoutimi where they have now in operation some thirty odd cheese factories. The cheese from that region used to sell for 2 cents less per pound than the cheese from the Province of Ontario. They have been gradually improving, until they now sell at prices much closer to Ontario than that. Many cheese-makers met me there at one factory. One had driven sixty miles to get instruction, and I heard from that cheese-maker, late in the fall, that the cheese from his factory had sold for the average price of Ontario cheese shipped to Montreal. Now, the only thing that this important province needs—I mean, important in point of geographical position and also in enterprising population—is just a little instruction. They have the facilities for making cheese as fine as in Ontario, and if they had proper instruction it would add nearly 1 cent per pound to the value of the total products in cheese, of not only one district but of the whole Province of Quebec; and now the Province of Quebec is reported to have 500 cheese factories and 100 creameries. The very meagre expense of having one or two instructors on the road is a bagatelle compared with the immense increase in the value of this product.

In the Maritime Provinces it was intended to have one station in each province, and to have those in operation this year. Down there the question is not so much the best way of making fine cheese and butter as of inducing farmers to go into that business. Let me state, for your information, the condition of affairs in Prince Edward Island. In Prince Edward Island the business of manufacturing cheese in factories, was started some years ago, but for some reason the business was not a success, and now there are only two factories in existence and in operation this year. The farmers with whom I conversed upon this subject said there was something in their conditions unsuitable to the carrying on of the dairying business, and they brusquely clinched that statement by saying, “you see, our factories have all gone down.” To my mind, there is nothing unsuitable in the conditions of Prince Edward Island for the successful prosecution of dairying; and by having one station maintained there for a year or two, I think farmers will be induced to support the stations and support more factories of their own, when they have the assurance that there is one place, convenient of access, at which they can always have the opportunity of ascertaining the best method of conducting the business. This is a matter of very great moment—that farmers should be inspired with confidence with respect to making the business a success. It is a matter of making the business successful by helping the farmers and cheese-makers with instruction, and by maintaining for a time an experimental station to which they can go for information. The same is true of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. During the course of my visit there this spring, and my second visit the last month I found this state of affairs:—The supply of fodder was very scant and the farmers were buying large quantities of hay from the Province of Quebec; the cattle were in a very poor condition, the dry season and cold spring having left the grass backward for pasturing. On the whole, the cattle are this season in just as poor condition as they were ever before, for supporting cheese factories and creameries. That brought me to the conclusion that they needed a good deal of assistance in providing cheaper fodder for their cattle during the winter, so that hereafter they would not come through as badly as they did this spring. Instead of starting experimental dairy stations in each province, we have left two men to travel through those provinces and to visit all the cheese factories in each province, and in Nova Scotia there are some twelve new ones being started this summer. After that is done they will visit sections where no cheese factories exist, and give information to the farmers in regard to the erection of buildings and the general conduct of the business. They will also be furnished with a small kit for making butter, and at meetings there will be illustrations and demonstrations of making butter in the best way, so that farmers and their wives may get information upon the special points concerning the best way of turning out uniformly fine dairy butter. Beside this, these men will be everywhere talking up the advantage and need of growing fodder corn for cattle feeding. Just a word on that branch of the work. During the course of previous visits in the Maritime Provinces this matter has been mentioned at meetings and elsewhere, with the result that in Prince Edward Island two men had built silos and used the ensilage from them last winter. They were gratifyingly successful in every sense. Up to that time very few men had grown fodder corn in that part of the Dominion. In fact, at several meetings that I attended not more than four or five men who were present, had ever taken notice of the corn plant grown as a field crop. In following out the line of work undertaken by the experimental farms for distributing seed grain, I was able to distribute 3-pound bags of corn to persons attending the meetings, with full particulars of planting, so that after growing a small area for one year they would learn how to handle this crop to advantage on a larger scale. After and during my last trip down there I arranged to give away 750 odd samples of corn. So we have 750 farmers growing corn this year and promising to talk it up and report on it next fall. This I consider important for the reason, that while many men will not build silos, they can still save the corn in a very cheap way for the purposes of fodder. I have been asked to bring this matter before the Committee by one or two members, who thought the building of silos to be impracticable where farmers grew only one or two acres of corn. I have had corn grown in the same way as for silos, in rows planted thin, and then stooked up in the field by the use of a common corn horse. If the corn be left that way, tied securely at the top by means of a hay rope or straw rope, or binding twine, it will keep with little waste until later in the fall, when it can be taken to the barnyard, where a contrivance can be made almost as serviceable for a small lot of corn as a silo. It is not a new plan for those who live in western Ontario, but it is new to many of the people in many parts of Canada. It consists in taking a number of forked stakes and driving them into the ground. By laying poles in the forks you can make a simple corn trestle. By laying down a few old rails, like the base for a stack, the corn can be placed on end, leaning against that trestle to the thickness of 2 or 3 feet on both sides. Then ordinary rails or poles can be placed on the out side of the corn, on both sides, lengthwise, the whole being tied near the top of the corn by hay or straw ropes. Then, if a few boards be put on the top and on both sides—allowing them to overlap—they will shed all the rain. The corn stalks can be fed from the end, with very little more waste than when the crop is put in a silo, and the outlay required for stooking or stacking it in that way is simply nil. Any man can make a contrivance of that kind in a few hours. I introduced the plan to the people of the Maritime Provinces in a circular which I issued this month. I have found that method to be quite successful in past years, and the only risk incurred is, that if one puts straw on the rails for a foundation it will become a great harbour for mice; but barring that difficulty, the corn saves well, and most of the waste is a little weathering on the outside stalks.

Proposed Dairy Stations.

Now, I have referred briefly to what we have done in Ontario, in Quebec and in the Maritime Provinces. It may be in place to say a little with respect to what we propose to do in this province from this time on, and also in other provinces. In the Province of Ontario, after the beginning of July, it is proposed to have at least two stations or cheese factories, where a superintendent will stay and manufacture cheese, with the object of discovering the quantity and quality of the cheese that will result from different qualities of milk. I understand that none of you are specialists in dairying, and will not understand fully these terms unless I make full explanations. We have milk going to factories, containing from 3 to 4½ per cent. of butter fat. One object of the experimental work is this:—We shall have vats so constructed as to have three compartments. In one compartment will be put milk averaging 3 per cent. of butter fat, which we will obtain from the farmers furnishing milk of that quality; in another will be put milk averaging  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. of butter fat; and in the third will be put milk averaging 4 per cent. The cheese manufactured from these different lots will be kept separate, and will yield information as to the quantity of cheese resulting from these different qualities of milk; and we shall also discover the effect on the quality. We propose to send these cheese to the foreign market and test the comparative value they have there, and by that means we will complete the plan which I have briefly outlined for making a specific scale of comparative values, whereby milk of three per cent. of butter fat and  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. and 4 per cent. can be paid for according to its quality. At the same time, these stations will be open for the inspection and instruction of any cheese-makers or farmers during the time our superintendents are working here. Then, some time during the autumn it is proposed to select two stations in Ontario where the farmers will agree to furnish a supply of milk through the winter in order to make butter—the cheese factory being adapted or altered for that use—for the purpose of demonstrating the advantage of making butter when butter is dear; of making butter uniform in quality and fit for export; of encouraging the raising of calves in connection therewith; of improving the quality of butter by the adoption of cooperative methods; of developing the export trade through shipments of fresh creamery butter, and of combining the manufacture of butter and the raising of stock in the same neighbourhood and on the same farms. We will thus have more stock to export and more cows to milk at home. If we can secure milk from twelve or fifteen patrons for the first year in which the station is established, that will be sufficient. I can name you twenty farmers now who have been making butter during the winter for the last two years, and have found it the most profitable practice in their business. I can name you a few men who can tell you that they have made money by winter dairying, and by concentrating a few years' attention on butter-making and stock-raising. But the experience of these men is not available for the instruction of the people at large. If we get farmers to heartily support these stations, we can use their experience over the whole country; and farmers everywhere can draw their own conclusions. At the Experimental Farm adjacent to this city we have no trouble in making winter milk, and making it cheaply, by using corn ensilage, but if we cited our own experience only the farmers would at once say:—"Oh, it is a Government institution, and you have the Government purse behind you; but we could not make it pay." If we can get twelve or fifteen men in the same position as themselves, to make a success of co-operative winter dairying, we can spread the information abroad with a better expectation of its being received and acted upon.

Then we propose to do the same thing in the Province of Quebec, by having a station there running through the winter. In connection with the work in Ontario and Quebec, we propose to have a quantity of the goods which are made, sent to new foreign markets, so that Canadian goods will be able to appropriate and control those markets for our own people. As one instance of that, although the Government station had no control of them, I have had cognizance of small shipments of butter to China and Hong Kong. Butter sells out there from 50 to 60 cents per pound, and it has been going all the way from Europe, across our continent, by way of Vancouver to that market. A few experimental shipments from our own stations will enable our own people to capture and control those markets. Then, fancy varieties of cheese fetch very high prices in foreign markets. Our people have not been making them. We propose to make these fancy varieties of cheese to see if Canadian varieties will take as well as English fancy varieties.

One other matter in the foreign market matter is this:—In the case of the Maritime Provinces, I find the people are afraid that as soon as their limited local market is supplied, they can have no outlet for their cheese. The cheese I have seen made in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island seem quite as good in quality as that in Ontario, and it would be a judicious plan to send a few hundred boxes from the Maritime Provinces, to give the people there information as to whether their cheese will really fetch as much money as do ours from Ontario in foreign markets; and if they do that, the people will have further confidence to develop this business. At any rate, they will see that the foreign market is at their service, quite as much as for the people of Ontario. A few manufacturers in Nova Scotia, especially, have sent cheese to the West Indies during the recent exhibition there. Some have gone for ward since, and reports of the most gratifying nature, with regard to the prices they have sold for and the reception they met with generally, have been returned. That is one new market we might appropriate and control. I think there is nothing more in connection with the work in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, that we have done or have in view to undertake in the near future, that I need to refer to this morning.

For the Province of Manitoba, the work will be of a somewhat similar nature. In Manitoba there are—although statistics are very incomplete—about twenty cheese factories and creameries. We propose to have one man within ten days visiting all the cheese factories in Manitoba, so as to enable the makers up there to adopt the very latest method of making cheese for the local market and for export. We will have some work done in connection with the creameries, and then the same instructors will be available to address meetings of farmers during the summer and autumn on the best methods of carrying on cheese-making and butter-making. All the men we have employed are practical men of many years experience in this work. Some work will be undertaken in the North-West Territories. For this year it will take the form of a travelling instructor, carrying information to the people; and as soon as the condition up there is suitable, we will have a permanent station—that is, permanent in one place for two years—from which information can be given out.

For British Columbia the present plan is to hold a series of meetings during the month of August and perhaps in September, for the purpose of giving farmers out there some encouragement in the work of mixed farming. Butter-making out there will pay remarkably well. I found, last year, many farmers selling butter for 50 cents per pound the year round, which is to be regarded as a very good price. In some cases farmers told me that all their farms and farm buildings had been paid for out of the product of their cows. The object of the work in British Columbia is to encourage home dairying in the most profitable and successful way. As far as I have seen the Province, and I have not seen very much of it yet, I am convinced that the home or farm system of manufacturing products is the one which will prevail. I think there will be large profits in dairying, and that this work will continue to be satisfactory to the people. For this present summer, I propose to spend nearly a month there myself in forwarding this work. Having to deal with a new and particularly important subject this morning, I have already consumed a good deal of the time of the Committee; but after this matter has been discussed I would crave your permission to bring before you one other matter in connection with the branding of cheese and butter for the foreign market.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Do you consider that it would take a long time to remove the English prejudice against Canadian cheese in preference to their own cheese? The English, as a rule, are prejudiced more particularly in reference to any articles of consumption from foreign countries, and will give large prices for articles of home production which they relish and consider preferable to foreign products. If you consider our cheese equal to theirs, do you not think that prejudice would soon be removed?—A. Our best cheese has been equal to most of theirs for the past five or six years; nevertheless, the prejudice has not given way very much, for this reason:—it pays the English shopkeeper to brand or ticket Canadian cheese as English Cheddar. They can sell those cheese for a higher price—as much as 4 cents a pound higher—by adopting this practice.

Q. But is not the English Cheddar cheese and Canadian cheese different in size? Could not the difference be detected in that way?—A. Last year English merchants found a demand for Canadian cheese to be sold as English so great that they gave instructions to the makers in Canada to manufacture Canadian cheese the same size as English Cheddars and to ship it in that way.

Q. Do you not think the climate of Great Britain has something to do with the superiority of their cheese?—A. As far as they are superior—yes. Their summer-made cheese is, as a rule, better than ours, but our September and October cheese is undoubtedly equal to or superior to theirs. In this connection, I may state to the Committee the experience we had at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition. I had the very best experts pass their judgment on our Canadian cheese, and they said they were the finest cheese they had seen. After that our cheese were taken to the Kilmarnock Exhibition, where over fifteen thousand cheese had been brought together, and the judges, with but one exception, stated they were the finest cheese on the ground.

Mr. McMILLAN.—My impression is that Professor Robertson is beginning a little at the wrong end. I think he should have been able to tell us the real value of the experiments of butter and cheese at the Experimental Farms before going amongst the farmers.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Are we to understand that milk from well-fed cows is richer and better than that from cows poorly fed?—A. If the cow be well fed, after a long period the milk will be improved in quality.

Q. What is a long period?—A. It would take several years to make much change.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. What is the probable cost of your dairy experimental work for the season?—A. The amount expected to be expended for all purposes, salaries and travelling expenses, is about $1,500 per province.

Q. For one station?—A. For one station in each province. The extra station in Ontario can be carried on out of what is saved from the other provinces this year, where conditions do not yet exist requiring so large an expenditure.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. I think there is trouble in store for people who do not pay attention to feeding. We learn that dissatisfaction exists among farmers who feed their cows well, because they think they do not get a fair price for their milk. If improved feed can only improve the quality of the milk in several years, I think the opinion should be set aside that a man is entitled to more money for his milk if he feeds well?—A. If a man has an improved herd of cattle, in several years time milk is worth more per hundred pounds, but he commences to gain from his extra feeding at the very outset, by obtaining a greater quantity of milk.

Quality and quantity of milk, in relation food.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. I have always understood that both quantity and quality depended very materially on good feeding?—A. That is true. When we speak of the quality being improved, there is not only embraced in it the constituents as to the solids of the milk, but the flavour, &c., which give it an extra value. The flavour comes direct from the feed, but the percentage of the several constituents of the milk depends mainly on the constitution and temperament of the animal, which cannot be changed in one or two months. Milk is an elaboration is the cow's system. You can change the composition of the milk materially only by modifying the cow's system, and continued good feeding will have a good deal to do with that.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. What soils do you prefer for pasture?—A. Any fairly dry soil. The grass growing on marshy land is the poorest.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Do you find in your experiments that there is any dissatisfaction in regard to the prices paid for milk?—A. Some of the factories have suffered to the extent that they have been closed, because the farmers in the vicinity stated that they were not getting fair play.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. The Professor says that a change in feed will not show any difference for a few months, but if you take a cow and feed her well for three years, will she not give richer milk?—A. Yes; slightly richer and of greater quantity. And in reply to the previous question of Mr. McMillan :—since I am in a measure responsible for recommending the establishment of these experimental dairy stations, I would like to say that the work, in my judgment, has commenced at the right end. The Experimental Farm is the place where the farmers can learn the cheapest way of producing milk. But if we have a factory there, and make the cheese from our own herd, our conditions would be altogether different from what they would be, were the milk obtained from fifty different patrons, as will be likely the case in time at the different stations. Here in Ottawa we cannot get the milk. The city demand for table use is too great. We find it necessary, therefore, to go away where the conditions exist similar to those which the cheese and butter-makers of the country have to encounter, and for this reason we must have the factories or stations apart from the Experimental Farm. We have the two aspects of the value of this service. The Experimental Farms furnish information as to the cheapest and best methods of production of milk, etc., while the Experimental Dairy Stations will afford assistance for prosecuting the manufacture of the same in the best way.

By the Chairman :

Q. Is the testing machine an expensive one or difficult to work?—A. For $14 you can get one of four-bottle size, and anyone of ordinary ability can learn to use it by a few hours' practice.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Do you think that the sub-division of the proceeds from the cheese according to the quality of the milk would give dissatisfaction to the patrons of the factory?—A. I do not think so. The decision in regard to the adoption of that plan would rest with the majority of the patrons; and I do not think that farmers will continue to be satisfied with any system which does not provide for taking account of both the quantity and quality of milk. If milk containing 3 per cent. of fat be worth 60,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. worth 70, 4 per cent. worth 80, then the proceeds from the sales of the cheese may be distributed according to the application of that scale. At the annual meeting of the patrons who support the factories, you will find an anxiety expressed to have a valuation and division made according to quality, and the farmers at the annual meetings may say: "We will have the proceeds of our milk divided in this way." That would be different from any attempt at regulating the division and distribution of proceeds by outside interference.

Use of Brand numbers for cheese factories.

By Mr. Dawson :

Q. How do you propose to provide for the brand numbers of the different factories?—A. In reply to that question, I may say that I would propose to have a provision, whereby every factory should have a registered number. Every representative should register his factory in the office of the Dairy Commissioner and receive a registered number for use in that factory only. Then there would be permission given for that factory to use the words "Canadian Full Cream Cheese" on the cheese and on the box with the brand and then number of his factory. In that way the English people would get familiarized with the good quality of our cheese under our own Canadian name. The intrinsic value of the best cheese would give an additional value to the brand and registered number on the same; and in the future, factories knowing that they might obtain a cent or a half a cent per pound more for their cheese, would be stirred up in a healthy effort to excel, because of the extra price which could be realized. There would be some dissatisfaction also, and trouble at first, but the end would be to the advantage of the farmers and manufacturers.

By Mr. Chairman :

Q. Would you have the name and number branded on?—A. I would have a stencil brand—the figures and letters cut out, and then have the same put on with a brush.

By Mr. Dawson :

Q. Would the general public recognize it then as a brand of Canadian cheese?—A. I think they would. I would suggest that the words to be used should be "Canadian Full Cream Cheese," in letters an inch long, and after a little while the name would become recognized and familiar. We have had in the past some trouble, with some inferior-made cheese of the western States, made from milk after the cream had been removed and foreign fat substituted. These have been bought by Canadian merchants, stored in bond in Ingersoll, Stratford, Montreal, and afterwards have been shipped on bills of lading dated from a Canadian place. Hence, they did pass on the British side ostensibly as genuine Canadian cheese.

By Mr. Bain :

Q. How do they get over Customs regulations?—A. The cheese were stored in bond. As soon as the practice was discovered last year the Minister of Customs issued instructions that no cheese in bond should be exported from a Canadian warehouse that did not carry on it the brand "Product of the United States," or the brand of the country where produced. That stopped the practice to a large extent, but at the same time it would be better to have our cheese branded "Canadian Full Cream Cheese," so that we may get the credit for the quality of our own products. If the product of, say factory No. 500, is remarkably fine, and begins to sell well, the retailer will ask the wholesale merchant for that brand, and it will be therefore necessary for the wholesale merchant to meet that demand. That will induce discriminating competition. It is one object of our experimental stations to get men to know our different qualities and brands of cheese, and get in this way better prices.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. What is your experience as to the relative value for feeding purposes of corn cured dry in the shock and cured as ensilage?—A. Only a few tests have been made, and I would not speak hastily of what has been our observation. When corn is stored in a loft and protected from the weather it is almost as good as from the silo. The silo is economical, because in it you can store a large quantity in a small space, but when the corn is saved in a loft and protected from the weather it is equal in value.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. Will the cattle eat it as cleanly?—A. Yes, except the butts of the stalks, if it be fed without previous cutting.

By the Chairman :

Q. Will feeding on dry corn make the cows give as much milk as feeding them on ensilage?—A. Not quite. The succulent condition of the ensilage helps to maintain the milk yield with little shrinkage.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Is it practicable to save fodder corn by putting it in alternate layers with straw?—A. I have never found it successful if the layers of corn were more than 4 inches thick; if more than 4 inches, there is enough moisture to make them mould.

By the Chairman :

Q. A suggestion was made by the Dairymen's Association last year about sending butter in different packages to foreign markets. Did you make any inquiry respecting the advisability of adopting that proposal and shipping butter abroad?—A. This conclusion was arrived at, that instead of buying butter from outside factories we would use part of the product of the Experimental Dairy Stations, put it up in different packages, send them abroad, and thus get all the information we want with respect to the size and style of packages which will be most suitable for the English market.

Q. Did you make any arrangements for shipping butter, as suggested it should be done at short intervals, in order to establish markets for Canadian butter when of good quality and not too old?—A. Nothing has been done, except that it is planned to ship part of the products of these stations, weekly or fortnightly, as the circumstances then existing may favour.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. Do you not experience some trouble with mice and rats eating away the corn stalk?—A. There is no trouble if the corn be stacked on rails which are laid on cross rails, and thus kept off the ground. There should not be any straw in the rails which would prove a harbour for mice.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. The great benefit I should fancy, Mr. Chairman, in reference to corn fodder, or the difference in the profit in feeding corn as ensilage and as dry corn, consists in this fact mainly, that when you convert it into ensilage all the stalk is utilized. It is in such condition the cow can eat the whole body of the corn, but if you use corn fodder dry, of course there is a great amount of it lost, because the animal cannot eat it when it gets up to the heavy part of the butt?—A. In that case you would lose part of the stalk always. You can overcome that in some measure if you cut the corn stalks and leave them lying for three or four days. The cattle will eat them that way, as the butts will have been softened by the slight heating.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Have you any idea of the value of an acre of corn stalks with the husks taken away, as compared with fodder corn having the ears on? There would be 50 bushels of shell corn on the ears taken off?—A. In that case a good crop of full corn would give you about 3 tons of dry matter per acre; over 2 tons of that would be digestible matter. Then about one-third of the total digestible matter would be contained in the dry stalks or corn stover. With a crop of timothy and clover at 2 tons per acre, the quantity of dry matter would be about 3,500 pounds, of which 1,800 pounds would be digestible. Thus, the dry corn stalks, after the ears were taken off, would contain about 1,300 pounds of digestible matter per acre, as against 1,800 pounds of digestible matter per acre in the case of 2 tons of mixed timothy and clover hay per acre.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. How close can you milk up to the time of calving?—A. The flavour is all right, but there is difficulty in making butter from it, as it becomes too viscous in quality. It is excellent for cheese making.

By Mr. Roome :

Q. Do you find there is anything gained in the quality of the milk by feeding grain to a herd of cows while the cattle are out to good pasture?—A. You will not get any more milk, and no better milk at all per cow. That has been tried. The only advantage is that the pasture will carry just as many more cows as you feed grain. For the first two weeks at pasture in the spring, the feeding of the grain saves the cow from being weakened by too succulent grass.

Q. But after being thoroughly seasoned to the grass?—A. No advantage that I know of will result directly in the milk.

By Mr. Semple :

Q. Is there any difference between the milk of a young cow and an old one, in quality?—A. I do not know that there is. There certainly is no constant difference. Nothing has ever been observed.

By Mr. Featherston :

Q. About those Canadians who go over to England and Scotland to give instructions in cheese-making—who are they?—A. They have been young men who have been successful in our own cheese factories in making cheese in Canada. One was from near Ingersoll, and another was my brother from near London.

Having perused the foregoing transcript of my evidence, I find it correct.

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,
HOUSE OF COMMONS, THURSDAY, 2nd July, 1891.

The Committee in Session, this day.

Mr. R. STOPES, brewer and expert in barley, was introduced to the Committee by the Honourable The Minister of Agriculture.

Barley.

Hon. Mr. CARLING.—Mr. R. Stopes, chairman of the committee of experts who examined the two rowed barley sent by the Government to England, is here, and has kindly consented to give the Committee some information regarding that subject if we can give him a hearing. We ought to avail ourselves of his presence here, as he will only remain in Ottawa to-day.

The test samples sent to England by the Minister of Agriculture.

Being called upon, Mr. Stopes then addressed the Committee. He said :—I hope you will feel some sympathy with me on my being so unexpectedly called upon to address you. I had not the slightest idea, until about twenty minutes ago, that I should be so called, but I was urged to come and state to you frankly what I think of the barley sent over, and I feel I could not do otherwise. I will not take up much of your time as I have another engagement to keep, and not knowing really what your wishes may be, I shall only address a few general observations to you ; but I shall be very pleased to answer any questions directly which you may feel disposed to ask. I may preface my statement by saying that I am recognized in the old country as one who knows something about this question, and the fact that I was appointed chairman of the committee of judges to determine upon the barley sent over by the Canadian Government, perhaps is the best indication I can give in proof of this. I was personally very glad indeed that steps were taken to send over to us the splendid samples of barley upon which we had to adjudicate. It appears to me quite evident, from the nature of the samples submitted, that the soil and the climate of Canada—or that portion of Canada from which these samples came—is capable of producing the very best quality of barley we have offered to us in the market ; and if there be a little more skill and a little more care paid to the cultivation of the barley, I have no hesitation in saying that there can be grown here barleys of the best quality.

Primary conditions essential to the production of Barly fully suited to the English markets.

The necessary attention must take the form, I fancy, of more skill in preparing the ground for the corn, and more attention in determining the nature of the ground. A man must not suppose that barley will grow anywhere and everywhere, and that he has only to put the seed into the ground to get it to what the English brewer wants when he makes malt. A careful selection of the ground is necessary—much more careful preparation of the seed bed than has heretofore been given, I fear. Then the barley should have as much attention as possible during growth ; but the one thing that farmers can do, which will be of greatest use, will be to ensure the cutting of the grain when it is just sufficiently ripe. If over-ripe, it cannot make good barley—neither can it if underripe. The grain has to be just properly ripe, and then cut, and after it is cut under no circumstances should it be threshed immediately. It ought invariably to be stacked or put in band, so as to produce the effect known to English maltsters as "sweating." If the corn is sweated in stack you then can make malt of a much higher class than if not sweated, and if this is not done the after effect on the beer is very considerable. Of course, the English brewer, when he buys barley, wants to make it from beer. His whole object is to make beer at as cheap a rate as possible. I am certain you can produce here barley which, if not the cheapest to him in the saving of so many cents on the bushel, will nevertheless be the cheapest barley, for the simple reason that the constituents of the grain, when rightly grown here, will be of such a class it will be the cheapest possible material for the brewer to use. In other words, the albuminous and nitrogenous matters present in that grain are, from the nature of your soil, exactly those best adapted to produce the best beer. That being so, and attention being given that the nitrogenous constituents shall not be exhausted by imperfect growth upon land already too nitrogenous, or which has manure too nitrogenous, I need not be a prophet or the son of a prophet to tell you you will be in a position to knock the bottom out of the English market against all comers.

Soils and fertilizers for growing barley.

By Mr. O'Brien :

Q. Take an ordinary clay loam with ordinary cultivation, without of, course going, into any analysis of the soil, which manure is the best for barley?—A. I am afraid, unless I saw the loam itself and knew what the terms meant, I should hardly like to give an opinion. If the loam you mean is excessive clay loam it is not a good material for growing barleys; but if, on the other hand, the loam be clay mixed with a certain quantity of sand, it may possibly be a good soil for barley growth. In that case in all probability the best manure possible, judging by old country experience, is the ordinary farm-yard manure. On the other hand, it may be that it would be an improper manure, because that is exceedingly nitrogenous.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Does a barley crop require land as fertile as a wheat crop?—A. We think not, because if the straw be too vigorous, and the head become too vigorous, an ordinary rain will beat it down. Our experience has been that barley can be grown upon poorer land than wheat.

Q. Will a crop of barley take the same ingredients out of the soil as a crop of wheat?—A. There is a difference between barley and wheat as to the constituents which are removed from the soil. The wheat crop has a different effect on the land from the barley crop. It is not usual to get an exceedingly fine barley crop without manuring. We manure to a greater extent than is the custom here. The greatest possible attention should be paid to the removal of all weeds objectionable to the growth of barley. I notice the fields here are considerably over-run with wild mustard seed. That should never be allowed to go to seed.

A MEMBER.—Mustard is very prevalent in the old country?—A. We have it, of course. Bad farmers allow it to be prevalent, but good farmers destroy it.

Q. What system have you for destroying it?—A. Hoeing it is the chief method.

By the Chairman :

Q. From your examination of the samples sent over, you are satisfied that the prices which could be realized for our barley would be as high as the best barley that goes into the English market?—A. Yes; I was shown a sample this morning that would command top prices in the English market.

Market prices,—Standard weight.

Q. What is that price now?—A. Practically the market is at an end now; there is no malting being done at the present time. The highest price reached last year for malting barley was 50 shillings per quarter of 448 pounds.

By Mr. Tyrwhitt :

Q. Is there a demand there for barley below the standard weight of 56 pounds?—A. Yes; for a very large amount indeed, especially for barley of the class you grow here. Farmers need not imagine now that the weight is a vital point with us. It used to be, but it is not now.

Q. How many pounds of Canadian barley make a quarter?—A. I think the average of the samples sent over was 50 to 52 pounds per bushel.

Q. But to the quarter?—A. With us we reckon usually of English 56 pounds to the bushel, and of foreign corn 50 pounds to the bushel, so that 400 pounds of your fine Canadian corn would be called a quarter.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Does the discolouration of barley affect the price very materially in Great Britain?—A. If the discolouration be of a harmful class. One kind of discolouration is caused by the grain lying on the ground. This is evident from its appearance.

By Mr. Featherston :

Q. Do you sow salt with your barley?—A. In some fields.

Q. Don't you find that it stiffens the straw and keeps it up well?—A. The effect is, that generally the grain is improved, but very few farmers do that.

Brewery consumption and Importation.

By the Chairman :

Q. Is there a market for any quantity that may be produced here?—A. The English brewer uses about from 55 to 60 millions bushels of barley as malt, and of that rarely do we grow more than half. As a consequence, we have a market for, say, 25 to 30 or even 40 million bushels, according to the nature of the season with us. That, of course, is not an enormous amount, but if you supply a good proportion of this it would keep your farmers busy.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Is it customary in Great Britain to bind the barley when cut?—A. It is more frequently left in what is termed the mow. It is simply mown with a scythe, gone over twice and swathed. In some countries the custom is to bind, and in England the barley is more frequently bound than not. There is no objection to binding.

Superior malting qualities of Canadian Barley, by actual tests.

Q. Does this two-rowed barley fetch a larger price in Great Britain than any other barley?—A. I might say that as the outcome of the samples sent last year a bulk sample of Canadian barley was sent to be malted by one of our best English maltsters, and afterwards to be brewed in the breweries of England, experimentally. One portion of the malt when made—and I may tell you the barley worked up exceedingly well and made very fine malt—was sent to a brewery in which my brother is the managing director. We brew practically together, as I am a brewer as well as an expert in barley. The result, so far as we can tell, of the malt, will be very fine beer. The beer promises exceedingly well. It has the characteristics and properties which commend it very largely to our judgment, and we have every reason to believe that the beer produced will be exceedingly good, and that the report given upon the malt so brewed, will be a flattering one in every particular.

Two-rowed Barley.

I might also say the barley we prefer there is the two-rowed barley. I think it would be unwise to attempt to force upon the English market, for malting purposes at any rate, the six-rowed barley. Of course, we grow some of the six-rowed barley, but it is much more used by distillers than by brewers. I think it would be preferable for farmers who intend to adopt the cultivation of barley, to improve if possible, the two-rowed barley, to discover what is the best seed for English use. Of course, a great deal depends upon the seed; when that be found, and proper attention given, the Canadian producer should be ruled by the actual requirements of the English brewer. The brewer knows what he wants, and it is to his interest to see that he gets exactly what he wishes. I think you will find his chief requirements will turn upon the nature of the nitrogenous constituents, the amount of the nitrogen present, and the nature of its presence there; and when you get—as I am certain you will get—the seed with the right proportions of albuminous and nitrogenous matters, I have no hesitation in saying that you will get barley which will be perfectly unmatchable.

---

Quantity of Test.

Q. Was the sample sent by the Department sufficiently large for you to experiment upon?—A. I think the quantity sent was 50 quarters, or 400 bushels. That is sufficient to make more than a mere laboratory experiment, to make it upon a commercial basis entirely. In my brother's case, the malt is being brewed in an experimental brewery, not in the big brewery. The experimental brewery there works 60 bushels, I believe, and a brewery of 60 bushels capacity is thought a fair-sized brewery here. In a small experimental brewery, merely a laboratory, you don't get the same effect as when working on a commercial basis, but in the larger building in which my brother has to determine the character of his malt, the beer so brewed is equal to and even better than any beer afterwards brewed from the same malt, in the big brewery.

HOUSE OF COMMONS,

COMMITTEE ROOM No. 46,

SATURDAY, 4th July, 1891.

The Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization met this day at 11 a.m., Mr. SPROULE, Chairman, presiding.

MR. JAMES FLETCHER, Entomologist and Botanist of the Dominion Experimental Farms, being called for examination, said:—

MR. CHAIRMAN,—I do not intend to begin with an apology, but I should like to give an explanation why, perhaps, I am not so well prepared to-day, as I might have been, to give you a comprehensive statement of the work that I have been doing during the past year, or as regards future work, and what may be considered the ultimate result of that work in connection with the Experimental Farms. The notice of to-day's meeting I only received this morning, in town, ten minutes after the time I ought to have been here in attendance on the Committee; consequently, I have not with me the notes I had prepared so as to give you a concise and systematic statement, nor have I some specimens of grasses and a spraying pump which I wished to have exhibited. Nevertheless, I shall endeavour to give you an outline statement, which I trust will be of interest to you and which will show, in some measure, the work that has been carried on.

Average loss of crops by Insects.

The department of the Experimental Farm work, of which I am in charge, includes the divisions of Entomology and Botany, and these, to my mind, are second to none in importance of any work that has been carried on by the Government on the Experimental Farm. The interests at stake are so large, reaching to at least one-tenth of all crops grown, and the measures to be adopted to reduce the injury and loss to the country are so simple, and yet so important, that the only requisite is a knowledge amongst farmers of how and when to apply remedies. Therefore, it becomes necessary to make known, as widely as possible, throughout the country, to farmers and others interested, the nature of this important work which is being carried on for their benefit. I know of no way of accomplishing this with better effect than through the instrumentality of this Committee and of its individual members. I was, therefore, greatly pleased to receive the summons to come before it again, as I used to do regularly, until two years ago. Also, I appreciated the compliment to the work I have been carrying on, and am glad of the opportunity of bringing the importance of it before you to-day. I shall, during the short time I address the Committee, endeavour to give as concise an account as possible of this work.

Scope of Reports.

Our annual reports issued by the Department are necessarily condensed, and the amount of space that it is possible to devote to any one department is much smaller than serves to report even the outlines of all the different investigations that are being prosecuted. All that is possible is to give the most important records and those that we consider of the widest utility to farmers of the Dominion. There are certain local outbreaks of a destructive character, due to insects or fungi, results of local conditions and susceptible to local applications, and it is generally inadvisable to devote any large portion of the annual report to local incidents of this nature. But we issue bulletins, when necessary, to meet such cases as I have mentioned, and the newspapers all over the country have been always most courteous, and have published promptly any letters or suggestions that I have found it advisable to put forth, and thus I have been able to relieve many farmers whose crops were being injured.

PROF. FLETCHER.

Importance of the Committee's work.

But I know of no better means of disseminating information than are afforded by this Committee, whose members pay especial attention to agricultural questions, and who, coming from all parts of the Dominion, are through their constituents brought into contact with a large number of men who are specially concerned in the results of our experience and observation.

The first and most important part of my work, and that to which I shall, probably, devote the whole of my attention, before long, is Entomology. The two divisions, Entomology and Botany, have now become so large that they each require, the attention of one man. In the beginning of this season I applied to the Honourable Minister of Agriculture to be allowed to issue bulletins regarding the most injurious insects and funguous diseases of plants, which farmers have to contend with,* and shortly afterwards issued a bulletin in which I treated of the insects which had been most frequently complained of by my correspondents.

Classification of Insect Pests.

In speaking of the various injurious insects, it is convenient to divide them under three heads—first-class, second-class and third-class pests. The first-class pests are those that every farmer should know something about. They are the most frequent and destructive, and should he lack the knowledge or be unable to apply the remedy he is apt to lose a large proportion of his crop every year. In the second class are those that, while they are injurious when they occur, do not occur every year, and whose multiplication is due to exceptional circumstances. The third-class embraces those which seldom occur in large numbers and do not occasion severe loss. Now, it is not necessary for the agriculturist to direct attention to the whole of these, and I should say that there are only about fifty insects that the farmer need bother his head about. In this bulletin, copies of which I have placed on the table, are given the general rules upon which we apply remedies to check the ravages of injurious insects. Everybody must recognize the enormous damage that some of the most important crops of our country sustain through the injuries of insects; but everybody does not know that the remedies for these injuries are simple and can be easily applied. Systematic observation and study have taught us that the injuries are done in two ways—either by the insect consuming the substance of the plant, or by the juice being sucked out of it and the plant thus left to wither. These two kinds of injuries are due to the fact that the mouth parts of insects are either in the form of biting jaws or of a hollow tube. Those possessing the first kind of mouth parts masticate solid food, while the others subsist upon liquids, as sap. The remedies for these two classes of insects are quite different, and this shows the great importance of knowing the life history of insect enemies. As an illustration of this fact, here is an insect which has been brought here this morning by a member, to be identified. It is the American silk worm moth, (Telea Polyphemus). Now, if this were submitted to an Economic Entomologist as an injurious insect, and he did not know its life history, it would give him food for thought, and it is such as these we must make use of for experimental purposes. Here is an insect which is actually without a mouth at all. In its perfect state, as I hold it in my hands, it has no mouth at all. It has no means of taking nourishment. The nourishment it needed to support this large body was taken in while it was a caterpillar. The eggs are laid on various trees, amongst others, oaks and maples. In the caterpillar state it lives for a few weeks, and consumes all the food it requires. It then spins a silken cocoon and remains in a torpid state as a chrysalis, until the next June, when it emerges in its perfect state, as a beautiful moth. The only object of its existence now is to find a mate and lay its eggs so as to prepare for a future generation. As I have said, this moth has no mouth, and therefore the methods used to catch some insects, such as the moths of cutworms, which may be attracted in large numbers at night by molasses spread on boards, would be of no use. It is necessary, in seeking for remedies, to know something of the life history of the insects causing the damage. This sometimes takes a considerable amount of time and needs steady application.

*The bulletin referred to here and in pages following is Central Experimental Farm Bulletin, No. 11, intitled: "Recommendations for the prevention of damage by some Common Insects of the Farm, the Orchard, and the Garden," by James Fletcher, Entomologist, published by the Department of Agriculture in May, 1891.

Economic value of entomology, to farmers.

By following the advice of Economic Entomologists, farmers and others are saved a considerable portion of their produce every year; for the life histories of many of the insects which are most injurious are already studied out, and to-day I believe it is not too much to say that any farmer who will apply to the Experimental Farm for information concerning insect injuries, can get, simply for the asking for it, advice which will save him much loss; and this with regard to almost any insects to which he may refer. In this bulletin which I have issued there are 36 insects treated, and these include all the worst pests which have been referred to me since I came to the farm at Ottawa. I restricted myself to these so that I might keep the bulletin small. I think it covers most of the kinds from which the farmer need apprehend serious annoyance or injury. In the first part are given general statements with regard to the different kinds of injuries and the nature of the insects causing them, the different kinds of remedies and the way to apply them; also, mention is made of some of the best kinds of spraying apparatus. The end in view in publishing the bulletin was to give farmers a simple and easy source of reference, and I believe it is so written that any farmer in the country will understand every word of it.

In regard to the injuries done by insects, I have already laid before this Committee, Mr. Chairman, a general statement as to the amount of the injuries, but it may not be amiss to read you a short paragraph from Insect Life, a magazine issued by the United States Department of Entomology. And, by the way, I may state that that Department has now come to be recognized as of such importance that it is necessary to publish this magazine every month. It is read by thousands of people all over the world. It is distributed in very large numbers amongst the farmers who apply for information concerning injurious insects, so that the officers in charge adopt this means of answering their correspondents and making the results of their experiments known to all interested. In this issue we find an answer to some one who writes to the U. S. Entomologist asking for facts regarding the money value of the crops annually destroyed by insects.

Enormous losses by Insects.

We find that in the year 1854 the wheat midge destroyed, in the State of New York, no less than $15,000,000 worth of wheat. In 1867, in the State of Illinois, the chinch bug destroyed $73,000,000 worth. For hundreds of miles the crops were swept away by this terrible pest.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. Do you mean that the whole crop of Illinois was swept off for hundreds of miles?—A. Yes, sir. Nearly the whole crop of the State was destroyed. Dreadful havoc was again made of the crops in the United States in 1874, when the damages from the Rocky Mountain locust were estimated at $100,000,000 in the four states of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri.

Q. What are you quoting from?—A. 'Insect Life,' the monthly magazine published by the United States Department of Agriculture, Division of Entomology, at Washington. These figures have been frequently quoted and challenged, and as frequently confirmed.

Q. It includes the corn crop, I suppose?—A. Yes; cereals of all kinds. The general estimate of damage in the United States from the chinch bug, in 1887, was $60,000,000, and it is estimated that the total loss every year is between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000. These figures have been carefully made up on the lowest possible computation. There is no doubt, as I have said, that at least one-tenth of the whole of the crops produced is lost every year through the attacks and injuries of insects, and I have no hesitation in saying that a very large proportion of this could be saved every year by the adoption of simple remedies, if the farmers would only take the trouble to find them out. At the present time, I am glad to say, our farmers are taking this trouble, as testified by the correspondence in my department, which is now very large indeed, farmers in every province utilizing the services of the department in this manner. Therefore, it gives me very much pleasure to come before this Committee, whose members frequently learn of injuries to crops in their constituencies, extending over districts in Canada to which I have had no opportunity of giving attention, and I shall take it as a great favour if members, whenever they hear of injuries of this kind, will write and let me know, so that I may investigate the matter. Members of Parliament often do me and the country great service in this way. I am dwelling at some length on this, because I wish to impress upon you what I myself know to be the case, that these studies are of enormous importance if we get agriculturists, gardeners and others to apply them and put them into practice. In the bulletin which I have already referred to I draw attention to some of the most commonly occurring insects all over the country.

Recipes for treatment of some well known Insects.

Now, Mr. Chairman, with your permission, I am going to speak of one or two of these, to impress upon the members that these studies are of the value I claim for them. A general truth requires an illustration to bring it home to ourselves. The general truth that the injury is great will be acknowledged by all, and I purpose to refer to the treatment advised for three or four of our worst insect enemies, to illustrate that economic Entomology has provided us with means for averting much of this injury.

The turnip fly

There is probably no farmer who has grown turnips who has not suffered from the turnip flea beetle, or "turnip fly," and who is not familiar with its destructiveness. Yet this is an insect which is very easily dealt with indeed. It is a very general practice for good farmers, all over the country, to apply gypsum, or land plaster, to the young turnips, as soon as they appear above the ground. This is done to provide the plant with a quick-acting fertilizer, and this is frequently done so as to enable the plant to outgrow the attacks of the flea-beetle, and it very frequently fails in this object; but if we mix with the gypsum some Paris green (1 pound to 50), there is no more labour required to apply the mixture, but at the same time the turnips are helped, the insects are destroyed and the crop is no longer checked. Another remedy, the result of experience and observation, is choosing the proper time for sowing turnips, so as to escape the different broods of this insect. There are two or three broods in the year. It is not confined to turnips, but attacks several plants belonging to the same natural order, as cress, wall-flowers, cabbages, &c. It appears with the first warmth of spring. The reason of this is that it passes the winter in its perfect state. It feeds on cruciferous plants then in leaf, copulates, and lays eggs for another brood. From about the 15th to 30th of June we see very few of these turnip fleas. This then is the best time to sow. The reason these small beetles are so injurious is that they attack the turnips when they can least stand it, when they are young, and they take the food which is provided in the seed leaves for the young plant.

Q. What influence has Paris green when it is put in with the seed?—A. It would not do to sow it with the seed. It would check the seeds in germinating, and would have no effect on the insects. What is necessary is to dust the plants with a thin film of powder containing Paris green—a very light sprinkling is sufficient. This can be applied by putting the powder in a small tin canister with a perforated top. Have this fastened to a short handle, and then distribute it by shaking it over the plants. Another and more simple contrivance is to put the powder in a small bag of muslin, hung by a short string to a handle, and tap the bag with a light stick. The reason for tying it on a string is that it makes a great difference to the person who has to apply the poison. If you have to stoop down for a long time in walking along the rows, it very soon becomes exceedingly tedious and painful. By tying the bag to the end of the handle it can be held easily at the proper height by a person walking upright.

Cutworms.

I will now pass on to another illustration. Anyone who has a farm or a garden must too often have suffered from the attacks of some of the numerous Cut-worms, which are very injurious from one end of the country to the other. I have had numerous inquiries this year concerning these insects from all parts of Canada, from farmers, gardeners and others. Lately the President of the Board of Trade at Lethbridge, N.W.T., telegraphed to know what to do to stop their ravages in garden crops.

Q. These are not the wire-worms?—A. No, sir; these are grey caterpillars, which cut off many kinds of plants, close to or just beneath the surface of the ground, particularly young tomatoes and cabbages, when they are planted out in the spring.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. And Indian corn?—A. Yes. Indian corn is destroyed sometimes, but not so often in this locality as other plants, perhaps every three or four years; but cabbages and tomatoes are destroyed every year. Indian corn, however, is destroyed by cut-worms in certain districts much more than in others. The most applicable remedy for fields of Indian corn would probably be poisoned traps—that is, bundles of loose herbage tied together, dipped in Paris green and then distributed about the fields at, say, fifteen or twenty feet apart. The habits of most of these insects are as follows:—The young caterpillar hatches from eggs, laid about August or September of the year before its ravages are noticed. It feeds upon various plants in the autumn, and then its ravages pass unnoticed, because there is a large amount of vegetation. It passes the winter in a torpid state, and in the spring comes forth and destroys the farmer's crops. After the winter all vegetation is cleared off the surface of the fields. The farmer then puts in his crop, and the only vegetation above the ground is what the farmer has planted; this the cut-worm eats. Now, if you forestall the cut-worms and give them food in the shape of these poisoned bundles before the new crop comes up, they will poison themselves and the crops will be saved. I have frequently observed the utility of these traps on different fields. Mr. Craig our Horticulturist, had a field of tomatoes and cabbages, this spring, which was planted on a piece of land which was found to be badly infested by cutworms. He had several of these traps put out, and the insects fed on them and were destroyed by the Paris Green, but hardly any of the plants he set out were cut down. In very hot weather it is advisable to put shingles over the traps, to prevent them from fading too soon. They will thus last for four or five days.

Q. How do you apply the Paris green?—A. The easiest way is to mix it with water and add a little soap, then sprinkle it over the bundles or dip them into it. If you mix soap with the water you will find that it will adhere much better to some vegetation than if water alone is used. Of course, care must be taken to put down a sufficient number of bundles; I believe if they are put even twenty or thirty yards apart it will be found sufficient in most cases.

By Mr. Bowers :

Q. All these cut-worms don't commence at the fall of the year, do they?—A. No; but I think that most of them do. There are no less than three hundred different moths, the caterpillars of which are known as cut-worms.

Q. We never see them before the crops are come up. They are grey worms, about an inch and a-half long?—A. There are a great many different kinds of cut-worms, and they vary somewhat in their habits, and some varieties are much more troublesome than others.

Development of insects affected by the weather.

Q. I find that those I speak of commenced their ravages about the first of June, when I was home, just after Sir John Macdonald's death?—A. The habits and development of insects are modified by the weather. The greater number of cut-worms hatch in late summer and begin their growth in the autumn, pass through the winter as half-grown caterpillars, and then complete their growth in the spring. There are some kinds, also, which pass the winter as eggs or in the perfect state as moths which lay eggs in the spring. A remedy for those which hibernate as caterpillars is late ploughing. They pass the winter in little cells beneath the surface. Late ploughing breaks these up and exposes the caterpillars to the elements. Clean farming and seeing that the weeds are all kept down late in summer, also prevent the mother moths from laying eggs, because they will not lay them where there is not suitable food for the offspring. There is, again, another very simple remedy which is very little trouble. It is simply to wrap around each plant a piece of paper such as I have here, two and a-half inches by three inches; the paper can be tied up in little bundles and hung from the side of the basket in which the young cabbages are carried to the field, and as you take each cabbage from the basket put the paper round the stem, then as you put the plant into the ground you hold the paper round it, and cover it up, leaving about one and a-half inches of paper above the ground.

Q. I got tins made. How do you regard them?—A. If you go to the expense of tins, it is of course so much the better, because the cut-worm cannot climb up the smooth surface and the tin bands will last for many years. This remedy is not, of course, perfectly infallible, but often a very little trouble will save a great deal of the mischief that would be done if things were left alone.

Q. We had a considerable deal of corn that the cut-worm eat off last year. We had 14 acres, and there were 3 acres in which it cut off one-third of the corn?—A. Did the insect cut it off, or bore into the stem?

Q. Oh, it cut it off. I found little worms in each recess that was cut. They may be different from the others?—A. These would be some late kind of cut-worm, and the most applicable remedy would probably be the traps mentioned—at the time the corn would be as high as you mention, there would be a good crop of clover—it would be well to cut off a quantity of the green clover, spray or sprinkle it with Paris green, and having loaded it on a cart, drive through the field and distribute it through the crop by means of a pitchfork.

Plant Lice (Aphis).

There are one or two other insects I wish to speak of. I would like to speak about the troublesome plant-lice or "green flies," which affect different kinds of plants, and have always been troublesome for the Entomologist to combat satisfactorily. The most useful remedy is an application of the kerosene emulsion—a mixture of two parts of coal oil and one of soap and water. Churn these for some time with a syringe, and then you get an emulsion like cream. If you mix this with nine times the quantity of water you will find it an efficient remedy for all kinds of plant lice.

By Mr. Bowers :

Q. Would not this destroy the rose-bug?—A. It would do so if it were sprayed right on to its body. Some insects are more difficult than others to destroy, and the rose-beetle is one of the very worst. I shall now speak for a few moments of scale insects.

By Col. O'Brien :

Q. I had, I may say, a crop of turnips killed by aphis?—A. On a dry knoll on the experimental farm some years ago we also had some plants attacked by it.

Q. I find the aphis is a hard enemy to deal with?—A. It is, undoubtedly; but the kerosene emulsion will conquer it. This must be distributed by means of a proper nozzle; the best is the "Riley Cyclone Nozzle." It is called the Riley or Eddy Cyclone Nozzle, and by its means a very little liquid can be pumped upon the plant and falls as a fine mist. These nozzles are very necessary for the application of remedies to such plants as cabbages or turnips, which grow low and are attacked beneath the leaves. The turnip aphid does not occur very often. In Bruce peninsula last year it was very troublesome. Three years ago it was troublesome here, and in Hamilton two years ago.

Habits of Scale Insects—Phenomenal Propagation.

I will now speak for a few moments on scale insects. These have been studied at Washington and here for a number of years, and it is found that the best system of treating them is to deal with them in the spring before the leaves are out. Although they are protected by a waxy scale which covers the whole insect, it is vulnerable to a wash or spray of kerosene emulsion, or coal oil diluted as before mentioned. The life history of the apple-scale is this: Its actual life begins about the first of June, when active little mite-like creatures hatch from the eggs which have passed through the winter beneath the scales on the bark of the apple trees. For a few days they are active, and have six legs, with which they crawl up to the new wood; they then pierce the young bark with their beaks and remain stationary for the rest of their lives. After taking their position, within three or four days, a waxy secretion begins to form, which gradually envelops the whole body, increasing with the insect. In about three months the insect has assumed the form of a scale, with a mass of eggs beneath it. The eggs are very numerous, and after being laid, remain unchanged for nearly nine months, till the next spring. The females of many of the scale insects and plant-lice produce eggs which hatch without any communication whatever with the males. I do not think it is necessary for males of scale insects to have connection with the females for the latter to produce eggs and to carry on generation, there are so few males in comparison with the females. Sometimes, after carefully examining a tree, you will not find one male to a thousand females.

Q. They must naturally have some connection?—A. Not necessarily. It appears in some insects, as, for instance, some saw-flies, they have been known to produce young without the males being known. This is the case, Dr. Packard says, of the gooseberry saw-fly, and although the larch saw-fly has devastated thousands of acres of tamarac swamps, and the females may be caught by the millions, I have never seen a male. There is a process which takes place amongst plant-lice called gemmation or budding. Only in the last brood in the autumn of the apple aphid are males produced. Although there may be twenty generations during the summer, it is only in the last that males are produced and copulation takes place. Eggs are then laid, and in this state the winter is passed. Early the next spring plant-lice hatch from these eggs, which are mature in a few days, and give birth to four or five young every day while they live. These again are ready to have young in four days, and so on throughout the summer; but there are no males till the autumn. This process is analogous to budding in plants, and is called gemmation or parthenogenesis, which means birth from a virgin.

Fungous Diseases of Fruits, Remedy for.

Another important branch of my work at the Experimental Farm has been the study of fungous diseases. The experiments are of more recent origin, and consequently the study of fungous diseases has not developed so far as economic entomology. The instruments necessary are very expensive. It requires a good microscope for examining the different diseases, and special apparatus and books which I have not at the farm. The work has, therefore, been pushed more in other branches for the present, but there are certain fungous diseases which have demanded attention. Amongst these, and upon which Mr. Craig, the horticulturist, has published a bulletin, is that termed the Black Spot of the Apple, a disease due to a parasitic fungus, which can be reduced very materially if people will but follow the directions given in that bulletin. The disease can be very easily treated, sufficiently well, at any rate, to increase materially the value of the crop by the expenditure of a few cents to each tree.

The value of the apples treated may, as a matter of fact, be always increased to more than double what they would have been without treatment. The mildew of the grape, which has been a great trouble to grape growers, and has done great injury in the Southern States, has, within the last three or four years, come into Canada, and as it may unless checked give us a great deal of trouble for a good many years, it has been thought well to try experiments for controlling it. We have been able to take advantage of the studies of Professor Scribner and Mr. Galloway, of Washington, and the results they have arrived at. The treatment recommended for this is: Carbonate of copper, 2 oz.; ammonia,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pints to 25 gallons of water. Three or four applications, two weeks apart, sprayed over the vines from the time the flowers show. With regard to some diseases, as rust of wheat, oats, &c., we are not much further advanced towards a remedy than we were a hundred years ago. We know the life history of the plants; we know the various stages of its growth, but so far no satisfactory remedial treatment has been hit upon.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. Has not the state of the weather much to do with the rust?—A. It has a good deal to do with the development, but not with the actual origin of the rust, which is derived from minute spores, each one of which is capable of producing disease in the plant, upon which it is parasitic, and which was produced by a plant similar to itself previously. I am sorry to say that the muggy, warm weather we are experiencing at the present time will probably do much harm to the magnificent crop of this year. The rust is just starting now, and I fear, unless we get some dry, windy weather, we shall suffer greatly from rust.

Potato Rot—A successful remedy for.

A serious plant disease that has now been brought considerably within control, through the studies of scientific men, is the potato rot. The experiments in connection with this murrain which has caused more than one famine in Ireland, have been most satisfactory, and consist of treating the plant with copper mixtures. What is known as the Bordeaux mixture has been used extensively in France, and this year I read that the English Government is trying it both at home and in Ireland. In the United States it has also been used successfully at some of the experimental stations. I have arranged a series of experiments at the farm for treating both the scab and the rot of the potato. The Bordeaux mixture consists of 6 pounds of copper sulphate dissolved in 16 gallons of water, and 4 pounds of fresh lime dissolved in 6 gallons of water—dissolved separately, but afterwards strained and mixed, and then sprayed over the foliage. For the treatment of the potato beetle and potato rot at the same time, the article known as "London Purple" is to be used for mixing with the Bordeaux mixture, in preference to Paris Green, on account of its chemical nature.

Fodder Grasses.

In my last annual report it may be noticed that much attention has been given to cultivation of the different fodder grasses. These experiments have been taken up, I may say, with one special object in view, and that object has been this: All through the Dominion, farmers have been buying at high prices mixed grasses and permanent pasture mixtures, which are sold at these high prices on their English reputation. There is hardly a seedsman in Canada—in fact I do not know a single one—who grows in Canada the seeds he offers for sale. They get their supplies from English houses, which again, in many instances, obtain their seeds from the mountains in Germany, the collectors being small farmers or children who live in the mountains and have no special or technical knowledge. They might, therefore, mix a dozen different kinds of grass seeds, some good, others useless, which would be sold under one name. In cases where the English seedsmen grow the grasses in the English climate for cultivation there, they may give satisfactory results; but I maintain that in many instances English grown seed is not suitable for this climate. This spring I found on my grass plots that many of the varieties reputed to be most valuable, and, in fact, the most important of all the English pasture grasses, could not stand our Ottawa climate. With few exceptions they had been winter-killed, yet these very grasses form the bulk of the seeds that the seedsmen of Canada are selling at high prices, in some cases at $10 or more per bushel. They sell them in Canada for the same purposes and for cultivation in the same soils as they are recommended for in the English catalogues, while, as a matter of fact, they may be altogether unsuitable for cultivation here in our climate. You may ask what can we get instead. Well, we have native grasses here which are very valuable, and, I believe, are much better suited to our requirements, and I am endeavouring to prove this at the Experimental Farm.

By Col. O'Brien :

Q. Have you ever tried Italian rye grass?—A. Yes; I have tried it here three years running, in different soils, but it always kills out in the winter. Another grass which will succeed in some parts of Canada, but has failed with us at Ottawa—at least is not sufficiently hardy to make it a paying crop—is Orchard Grass.

Q. I do not value the Orchard Grass; it is defective in nutritive qualities?—A. If you go down to the Eastern Townships you will find it growing plentifully, and it is of great service as a variety in pastures; this makes it acceptable to stock. I have here a sample of the Meadow Fescue Grass; this is perhaps the best of the English grasses I have tried at Ottawa. The sample I have here is from a bed sown over three years ago. On good soil this grass will give a very heavy crop of hay and pasture. This has been grown on poor soil, with hardly any manure. Here is a grass called the Canary Reed Grass. The seed of this actual sample came from Germany, but it is found wild on low ground and along streams in all parts of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. In experimenting upon these grasses, do you know their fattening qualities; that is of importance as compared with the clover and timothy?—A. Yes; they are all being analyzed by the Chemist, Mr. Shutt, and the results are generally good. Had I known earlier this morning, when I left the farm, that I was to appear before this Committee, I should have brought some more varieties with me. The Canary Reed Grass is a grass that grows naturally on wet soil, but will also thrive on dry ground. It is of great value as a green crop. In the beginning of June it will give more green feed than rye. Last year the experimental patch of this grass was cut three times, but it was a mistake cutting it three times, twice would have been better. I consider it one of the most valuable native grasses we have.

By Col. O'Brien :

Q. Is it nutritive?—A. It is, and it is also very palatable, which is a very important factor in feeding, because, however nutritive a grass may be, it is not of much value if it is not palatable, for the cattle will not eat it. The object in a good mixture is to have grasses of nutritive and palatable qualities, and at the same time to get a good yield. One of the grasses that does not stand the winter well with us is the Sweet Vernal Grass, highly valued in England for its earliness and aromatic odour. We have, however, in our native Holy Grass, a grass with both of these qualities, and one which gives much more feed, is very hardy, and grows anywhere from the mountain tops down to the marshes.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. A great deal depends upon getting early grass; I suppose the native grasses spring up early?—A. Yes, sir; as a rule much sooner than the introduced grasses.

I am afraid, Mr. Chairman, I have taken up more of your time than I ought to have done. I thank you for your attentive hearing

Remedy for apple scab.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. I would like to ask Mr. Fletcher what treatment he recommends for scab on the apple?—A. The treatment Mr. Craig recommends in our Bulletin No. 10 is the ammoniacal copper carbonate treatment, which is, I think, quite satisfactory.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. This disease is a serious matter. Where is it most prevalent?—A. It is in all parts of Canada, varying in prevalence with different seasons. In Prince Edward County last year, I do not think you could find a dozen apple or pear trees where it did not exist. You could see the black spots on the leaves and fruit everywhere, and the fruit was much destroyed. Where the disease is observed, the leaves should be destroyed by burning in autumn, and the tree sprayed when bare with a sulphate of copper solution, in addition to the treatment of the fruit in summer.

Q. I had a pear tree last year on which the fruit got a little hard and crumpled. First of all it became rough, and then the fruit cracked?—A. Yes. That is another disease, and is the same as the Leaf-blight of the quince. It is not a disease that is very prevalent in this part of Canada, but down in Nova Scotia and towards the coast it is not uncommon. This has been successfully treated with the Bordeaux mixture I have already described.

Clover not a native of Canada.

By Col. O'Brien :

Q. In speaking about grasses, have you tried any experiments with the native clover? This year has been a wonderful year for clover with us?—A. It was too dry early in the season in many parts. We have no native clovers in this part of Canada; they are all introduced. On the Pacific Coast there are several, some of which are of economic value. The small White Dutch, the Alsike and the red clovers are all introduced. Different seedsmen have sent out special varieties, but they are nearly all produced from these. There are some fine varieties known as mammoth clovers.

Q. I think you find the Dutch Clover everywhere?—A. Yes; but it has always been accidentally introduced. You also find timothy everywhere. I have found white clover in places where I hardly ever supposed it could be carried by artificial means, high up on the Rocky Mountains.

Apple caterpillars, remedy for.

By the Chairman :

Q. You have spoken of the caterpillar pest; what do you think the best means of treating it?—A. Upon what plants?

Q. The plants that it affects most?—A. There are very many different kinds of caterpillars with different habits. One of the most troublesome caterpillars this year is the Canker worm, on apple trees. Of all the different remedies, I think Paris Green the most effective. The Canker worm on apple trees is a source of great trouble. In Nova Scotia they have to fight it every year. It attacks many other kinds of trees besides the apple. In Winnipeg this year it has done much injury to the ash-leaved maples in the streets. Paris Green must, of course, be used with great care. If put on too strong it will injure the foliage, and if applied when apple trees are in flower, the bees which fertilize the flower, will be poisoned. There are many remedies for injurious insects, some practical, others not.

Impracticable remedies.

A class of remedies which I have always found quite impracticable are the hot water remedies.

They are too expensive, to begin with, and it is too difficult to get the water on to the insects at a temperature which will kill them and not injure the plant. It is expensive, because you must have the supply close to where it is to be used, and this frequently means the cartage of both fuel, water and cauldron.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Do you approve of scraping the trees with a hoe and putting on white-wash?—A. Yes; I think it is a good plan.

Q. At what stage of plant life would you use gypsum for the turnip flea?—A. Directly the two heart-shaped seed leaves appear.

Having examined the foregoing transcript of my evidence, I find it correct.

JAMES FLETCHER,

Entomologist and Botanist, Dominion Experimental Farms.

ENTOMOLOGY.

HOUSE OF COMMONS,

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,

22nd July, 1891.

The Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization in Session, Mr. Sproule, Chairman, presiding. John Craig, Horticulturist to the Dominion Experimental Farms, examined.

Mr. CRAIG said :—Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen. It is a matter of gratification to me to have this opportunity of coming before you, to give some account and state some of the results of the work in progress in the department over which I have charge at the Experimental Farm. In prefacing my remarks I may say that I have had more practice in doing these things than in telling how they should be done, and should I fail in this latter respect I hope you will make due allowance, and ask for explanations where I do not make the subject-matter clear.

Mr. Craig's sphere of experiment.

The department of which I have charge may be divided into three branches, viz. :—Fruits, vegetables, and forestry. Naturally, the climate at Ottawa throws our work into certain channels. It is a severe climate, and owing to this fact we can only test fruits of a certain grade of hardiness, so that in the line of large fruits our work is of especial value to the northern portions of the country. With small fruits the severity of the climate does not affect us to the same extent, and we can, by exercising a little more care in culture and in giving winter protection, we can grow varieties equally valuable to the southern as well as the northern portions of the provinces. I shall, therefore, make frequent use of the term "hardiness," principally on account of that being a prime requisite in the make-up of every tree for planting in this locality.

Origins of the large fruits now cultivated in Canada.

In large fruits we are making a test of varieties running along two lines ; first with the standard varieties chosen from the nursery mens' catalogues of to-day. These are the product of the first introductions by the early settlers, as modified by selection and cultivation, and now called the American varieties. These varieties have mostly come to us from the western and moister parts of Europe as our settlers came from that reigon. The French colonists when they first came here brought with them the best fruits of their native locality ; the English settlers followed and brought their favourites ; and the Scotch, Irish and Welsh did the same with theirs ; so that to begin with, as I have already stated, we had the fruits of western and the milder portions of Europe. I might say this class then, composes one side of the varietal test. Secondly, the other class is made up of East European sorts which you have frequently heard referred to as the "Russian apples," and I will draw attention to them quite often in the course of my remarks, as we are testing this class extensively. In order to give you an idea as to the causes which led to their introduction for trial into this country, touching upon the early history of the movement, I will relate briefly a few facts relating thereto, upon which hinged the beginning of the work.

Early importations from Russia.

Ever since the introduction of the Duchess of Oldenburg from Russia, by way of England, about 40 years ago, there has been a growing interest in the fruits of that cold climate. The first large importation was made in 1870 by the United States Department of Agriculture. This comprised 252 varieties, but owing to the very crude state of Russia pomology, evidenced by the many synonyms afterwards found in the collection, and coupled with long unpronounceable names—the work of sifting the good from the bad in this cumbersome list has been laborious and slow. Without going into details in regard to their merits and demerits I may say, that already a sufficient number of valuable varieties have been found to repay all the expenses incurred in the work of introduction and trial; and when we look at the possible advantages to be derived from these foreigners by uniting them with our native varieties, thus obtaining hardiness on the one side and possibly quality on the other, the benefits likely to accrue are inestimable.

Researches by Mr. Gibb and Prof. Budd, in Russia.

I have said the first importation was made by the United States Department of Agriculture, but the credit of bringing this work to a practical and a successful issue is due to a Canadian—one now departed—I refer to the late Chas. Gibb, of Abbotsford, Quebec. At great personal expense in company with Prof. Budd of Iowa he undertook the arduous task of visiting the various localities in which these fruits were grown, making notes on condition and quality of tree and fruit. The result of those investigations—a fair and unvarnished statement of facts was published and is now the foundation of our knowledge of the Russian fruits. Of this visit and its object I quote his own modest statements:

“But what was the record of these varieties in Russia, and in what climates? This we did not know, and it seemed, could not know unless someone went. The fruit regions of the older parts of this continent were all looking anxiously to the Russian fruits. Here was work that had to be done, and at once. This resulted in the journey of Professor Budd and myself to Russia. We did not get the information we needed at St. Petersburg and Moscow, and therefore hastened into the fruit growing region of the upper Volga. We roamed about in a tarantas, a basket on wheels without springs, drawn by three horses abreast, with a cow-bell over the middle horse; and sometimes lived on black bread and slept on a bundle of hay. We were in the coldest orchard region of the old world, at the time that the fruit was ripe on the trees. The winter temperature at Kazan is 3° colder than Chicoutimi, which is the coldest part of the Province of Quebec where we are likely to try apple growing.” This journey was undertaken in 1882. Again in 1886, he went alone over the ground, verifying the observations of the first trip. Importations of scions and trees followed both visits. Through the courtesy of Mr. Gibb and Prof. Budd, we have growing at the Central Farm, representatives of all varieties introduced in these various importations.

In my report for 1890, I considered that sufficient experience had been gained to justify me in calling attention to four or five varieties of these apples which seemed to me to be worthy of propagation and more extended trial, and I have no doubt these will be taken up by nurserymen in a short time, as they should be in order to bring them before the public. I always draw attention to the fact that they are of special value to the colder parts of the country; and although they may develop qualities that will render them valuable to the southern parts, yet at the same time, we cannot make such a statement with certainty and should keep their chief point of usefulness in view. As far as we know at present any apple tree not up to the grade of hardiness of Duchess, Tetofsky, Wealthy or Pewaukee is of doubtful usefulness for planting in the district of Ottawa or similar latitudes. I have referred to the work in apples. Experiments of a like nature have been carried on with pears, cherries and plums. I will only touch this morning on the most promising features in connection with the various fruits.

Mr. TROW—What were the four varieties you were going to refer to ?

Mr. CRAIG—The great difficulty with many of these Russian apples is their long unpronounceable names. They have been translated, but even then it is difficult to indicate them with the English equivalent. The first is the “Zolotoreff.” It is a very large, handsome apple, a rich carmine with light dots and stripes on the shady side, a little later than the Duchess and of much the same style and quality. The tree is a vigorous upright grower with large glossy leaves.

The next one is the “Royal Table.” The tree is a compact grower, round tops, slender twigs, medium sized leaves, of north German origin. It has borne at Abbotsford, Que., abundant crops for three successive years. The fruit is medium to large, keeps well,—last year into April—and I regard this a very promising apple. The great lack in this portion of the country, and through the Province of Quebec, is a good hardy tree that will give us a winter apple, and this I think we have in the variety just mentioned. Another winter apple which has done well for a number of years is known as the Arabka. It was imported from Russia by Elwanger and Barry, of Rochester, N. Y. It is larger and keeps as well as the last but is not as fine in quality. The tree is productive and hardy. Another variety of great promise is called “The Gipsy Girl.” It is a little earlier than the last one referred to. It is an extremely handsome apple, and the tree is strong and healthy, a model of vigor and beauty ; one of the best in our trial orchards. It gave us specimens the second year of planting, and is bearing fruit again this year.

Winter Apples.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. They are winter fruits ?—A. This latter is a winter fruit, a little earlier than the “Royal Table ;” the season is about February.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. What is the colour of the “Royal Table ?”—A. Dark green ground, slightly blushed with dark red on the sunny side. It is not a very attractive apple, but as much so as the majority of keepers.

Q. Are the four varieties all winter apples ?—A. The first one mentioned is a September fruit, commonly known as a fall apple.

Small Fruits,—Cherries.

Now with Cherries I am assured that there is here, a line of work that will be of great benefit to the country. I refer to the propagation and distribution of the new Silesian and Russian varieties. To show the need of a hardier race than we now have for this and similar latitudes, I may say that we have in our testing orchard some thirty varieties of the standard cultivated sorts of western Ontario, but I don't think there are more than four or five out of the whole assortment that are likely to succeed in this vicinity or in the Province of Quebec. Indeed, a large percentage did not survive the first winter after planting. Among those which seem to be best adapted, the “Early Richmond” is fairly hardy. The “English Morello” is also fairly hardy, but is not altogether satisfactory on account of its liability to attack by black knot ; we cannot depend upon it. The “Dyehouse” is another of this class, valuable on account of its earliness, which is fairly satisfactory ; and another one is the “Montmorency Ordinaire.” Of these mentioned, however, it is best not to speak positively in regard to their future success. Judging from our experiments so far as a class they will not prove satisfactory for general planting, except the varieties mentioned which are worthy of trial where the soil is well drained and somewhat gravelly, and the situation sheltered.

These other Cherries which I wish to call attention to, many of which fruited last year for the first time, are varieties which attracted the notice of Mr. Gibb when in the cold orchard regions of Central Russia, by the abundance and excellence of the fruit and vigour of the trees; as compared to the American varieties on our grounds they are exceedingly promising. A great point in their favour is, that so far they bear no indication of being attacked by black knot, which is the principal drawback to the cultivation of the cherry in many districts of Ontario. Their early bearing habits are of course strongly in their favour. In quality many of them are equal to "Early Richmond; some of them superior. I have in my hand, received from the engraver this morning, a few cuts of some of these. The engravings are made from photographs taken from fruit grown at the farm last year on young trees three years from planting. The trees as a class do not grow up and make tall pyramidal or spreading tops like the black or white heart cherries. In some cases they are quite pendulous, in others they are round-topped, close-headed trees. I do not expect the hardier varieties at any time will exceed a height of 12 or 15 feet at the outside limit, so that in setting out we plant them more closely than the larger growing varieties, 15 x 18 feet will be quite far enough apart. I do not know as to their ultimate length of life, but if they bear as young and freely as past behavior seems to indicate, even if they do not make long lived trees, they will be profitable trees to plant. I have with me a specimen tree. (Mr. Craig here exhibited a two year old cherry tree propagated after a method which he proceeded to explain.)

Root grafting followed by excellent results.

By Dr. Roome :

Q. Was this tree propagated here ?—A. Yes, last year.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Is this a Russian variety ?—A. This is a Russian variety. It was grown by a special method of root grafting. Last year I had a certain number of Mahaleb roots in the ground, and I wanted to test a certain method of grafting. I cut the scions in the fall, kept them packed in forest leaves in the cellar through winter. In the spring, before growth started, a wedge shaped scion was inserted in a slanting incision made in the stock near the ground; the wound was then covered with wax and wound with cloth. The specimen you now see is the product after two seasons growth of this kind of grafting. Out of 300 so grafted, 90 per cent. grew, making a very vigorous and luxuriant growth. This particular variety is called Bessarabian or Russian 62, very much like the Wragg cherry.

Q. Do they usually grow in that thick bushy form ?—A. That is the habit of the tree. In this climate it is best to keep the head as near the ground as possible.

By Mr. Carrienter :

Q. Is it an acid cherry ?—A. Yes. These cherries were planted as two year olds and bore at four years. This stock upon which it is grafted is the small bird cherry of Europe, Prunus Mahaleb. From my experience up to date and I have tried it some years ago at college, it seems to me that this method will give us a tree as quickly and one which is much more preferable than if propagated by budding above the ground. A great many of our budded apple trees at the Farm last year suffered from root killing. These roots are grown from seed gathered promiscuously and consequently vary in hardiness. If we get a winter when there is very little snow on the ground accompanied by severe frost the roots of budded trees very often are injured, but by grafting and deep planting we protect them to a large extent. In the report for 1890, I have also referred to a number of these cherries, giving brief descriptions of varieties which should be tested more extensively. I hope before long, with the consent of the Director and the Minister of Agriculture, with the information gained this year to be able to publish in bulletin form such facts regarding these cherries as should now be in the hands of the farmers. In this connection I might add, proper methods of cultivating our large fruits are very often neglected, or no cultivation given at all. The critical period in the life of a tree is the first three or four years after planting in the orchard. It is extremely important to get the tree well started, well rooted, and vigorous and healthy in every respect. In order to do this, we must cultivate our orchards and manure them faithfully.

Best method of fertilizing orchards.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Do you manure close to the tree or the whole ground?—A. The whole ground. The plan we have been following at the Central Farm is to crop the ground, leaving a space of four or five feet on each side of the tree to be cultivated. This cultivator should be run over this strip every ten days up to July 20th. The trees will now be left to follow their own course. The ground will not be cultivated except enough to keep down the larger weeds; this is in order that the trees may thoroughly ripen their wood. To ripen they must not be forced after the 15th or 20th of July.

Importance of having the new wood ripen early in the season.

The more liquid matter in the branches of a tree as it approaches winter, the more likely is it to be damaged by the frost. As the tree approaches winter, the liquid matter in the cells of the young wood gradually solidifies and changes into forms of starch and sugar. It follows that the greater proportion of solid matter we have in the twigs and newly formed wood the less liable we are to have that tree damaged, because the damage arises from the sudden expansion of the liquid matter by frost and consequent rupture of the cells. If the twig of a well ripened tree is taken in the fall and a longitudinal section is made, a little iodine then applied to the wound you will readily see by the aid of a magnifying glass the starch respond to the test by turning blue, this is an indication of a well ripened twig. On this hinges one point in the cultivation of trees which it is most important to bear in mind; the tree must be well ripened before it goes into winter quarters and those varieties that do not thoroughly ripen their wood are the ones that frequently suffer from the cold of winter. For instance among forest trees the Catalpa and Yellow Locust will ripen their wood as a rule only where the summer season is two or three weeks longer than at Ottawa or in specially favourable seasons and consequently is almost invariably injured by the cold of winter.

I was speaking on the methods of propagating cherries and I will now refer to our experiments in propagating apples in various ways using whole roots against pieces of roots and using different parts of the scions. This tree I have in my hand is a pear. It has been grown from the root graft which was made last winter. I have here a short scion and a long root, the whole is planted down to the lowest bud. The idea of that is to get the root below the line of frost or well down so that the probability of receiving damage is much reduced and at the same time secure the greater growth resulting from working on the whole root. If we were to take that tree up at three years old, which had been planted to the depth indicated, we would find a number of roots had been emitted from the part which was the original scion, and eventually the tree would practically be on its own roots. If we had a hardy top we would need fear little from root killing. The same principle holds good with the apple, only you can carry it to a greater extent, because we can use shorter pieces of the root and longer scions. Here is a graft made last winter, the root being three inches in length. The scion is six inches in length and it is planted down to the last bud on the scion. In two years you can see that the system about equally divided between original root and scion, and it can be seen that the roots are beginning to start from the scion already. I quite agree with the statement that we can get larger trees in a shorter time from budding than by grafting; because you get the benefit of the whole root. Budded in August, the next year you have a growth of five or six feet; you tip that back to induce branching, and in the following year you get as a rule a saleable tree. Yet for this latitude I do not regard it as good a tree as one grown from the root-graft. Nearly all our pear tree stocks are grown from French seed and it is very important in planting trees worked on this stock to set them deep to prevent injury from frost; this can be done to advantage when grafted; besides this, there has been a great deal of controversy as to the best part of the root to graft on, whether the top cut or the second cut or the third cut. You understand, we cut an apple root into a number of pieces, each of which makes a separate graft when spliced to a scion. Sometimes we cut an apple root into three pieces and put a scion on the top piece, another on the middle, and another on the third or lower. This year I am making a number of grafts for the purpose of ascertaining, if possible, which of these sections will produce the best results. I shall be able to see not only the strength of growth but the relative hardiness of the tree as grown from the different sections. I have also reversed the experiment by taking the middle cut, the top cut, and the lower cut of the scion, and from that experiment in propagation I think we may get some interesting results.

Now I have referred to the testing of fruits; the cultivation of orchards, and the propagation of our trees.

Interesting experiments in developing new varieties.

We come to another branch of our work which is much more interesting and has greater possibilities. That is the developing of New Varieties. There are two methods. These are: First, growing from the seed, nature's method; and second, production by artificial crossing or hybridization, which is man's method. After the first method, we have at the farm now about five thousand seedlings of the hardiest trees of Russian origin, and some from the best fruits of American origin.

These are planted in orchard form, five feet apart each way, and careful records kept of each tree; as soon as any tree shows specially good points the fact will be recorded; the first requisite, however, is hardiness, and of course as the winters come and go, many not suited to the climate will be killed out. That is the first test. Later, as the fruit comes in it will be carefully examined, and any tree that shows a sufficient number of good points will be propagated and distributed.

Crossing of species, or hybridization.

As to the second method, there are several important factors bearing on the work to which I would like to call your attention. One of these is the influence of heredity. This is the tendency of every organ to produce its like, or more exactly, to produce a set of new forms varying slightly from it in many directions, a group of which the parent form is the centre. If now, one of the extreme of these variations be taken, it is found to become the centre of a new set of variations, and by continually taking the extreme in the same direction an increasing variation in that line may be effected until checked by becoming so great that it interferes with the healthy action of the organism, or is in any other way prejudicial. It is also found that acquired constitutional peculiarities are equally hereditary, so that by a combination of these two modes of variation, any desired adaptation may be effected with greater rapidity. Evidence has been adduced by Mr. Darwin to show that the tendency to vary is itself hereditary, so that so far as that variation coming to an end, as some persons imagine, the more extensively the variation has occurred in any species in the past, the more likely is it to occur in the future. There is also reason to believe that individuals which have varied largely from their parents in a special direction, will have a greater tendency to produce offspring varying in that direction than in any other, so that the facilities—that is for the production and increase of favourable variations in certain definite directions—are very great. In a state of nature, every recurring severe winter, or otherwise unfavourable season, weeds out individuals of tender constitution or imperfect structure, which may have got on very well during favourable years, but were unable to withstand the increased severity; and it is thus that the adaptation of a species to the climate in which it has to exist is kept up. Under domestication the same thing occurs by a process which Mr. Darwin has termed “unconscious selections.” Each cultivator seeks out the kind of plants best suited to his soil and climate, and rejects those which are tender or otherwise unsuitable. The farmer breeds from such of his stock as he finds thrives best with him, and gets rid of those which suffer from cold, damp or disease. A more or less close adaptation to local surroundings is thus brought about, and breeds or races are produced which are sometimes liable to deterioration on removal even for a short distance in the same locality. These remarks refer specially to the subject of nature’s method of reproduction.

Acclimatization of plants.

Another factor taking an important part in this work is acclimatization. The Peach is believed to have been tender and to have ripened its fruit with difficulty when first introduced into Greece, so that in travelling northward—as Darwin observes—during two thousand years it must have become much hardier. Dr. Hooker ascertained the average vertical range of the flowering plants in the Himalayas to be 4,000 feet, while in some cases it extended to 8,000. The same species can thus endure a great difference of temperature, but the important fact is that the individuals have become acclimatized to the altitude at which they grow; so that seeds gathered near the upper limit of the range of a species will be more hardy than those gathered near the lower limit; and this principle is clearly exemplified in our own Rocky Mountain flora. It is a well known fact that what is known as the Manitoba maple, and the maple grown in Ohio are botanically the same; yet if we take the seeds from the two and plant them alongside at Ottawa the trees from the Ohio seed will freeze down to the ground every winter, while those from Manitoba will come through uninjured and vigorous. To bring the thing a little closer to every northern farmer: Take a tree that is grown in southern Iowa and send it to Manitoba, and it will freeze or be injured; whereas the native Manitoban which is botanically the same, will not suffer in the least. This fact we are following out and making use of, and I will refer to it later on in connection with Forestry.

The objects sought to be obtained by hybridization.

Let me now invite your attention to the purposes of Cross-Fertilization. The results sought in cross-fertilization of varieties, or the hybridization of species, are various; but the principle one is to produce something different from either parent. Sometimes we may aim to increase the size or change the colour, texture, flavour or other characteristic of a fruit; or the size, form and colour of a flower or the habit on a plant. Adaptation of the various species and varieties of cultivated plants to specific conditions, is another and often important subject sought in producing cross-bred plants. There are many species, and occasional varieties, which have been so closely inbred in their native habitats or elsewhere, that they have acquired a fixedness of character, which removals to other localities and subjection to widely different conditions fail to affect any material change in their offspring; but by crossing and the introduction of new blood or elements, the foundation of generations—as it may be termed—is broken up, and wider deviations from normal types soon follow.

It may sometimes even be necessary to introduce an undesirable element in order to force a plant to break away from its typical form, but when we have succeeded in this it is not generally difficult to get rid of the undesirable characteristics by careful selection. Then again, we cannot know in advance what will be the result of crossing any two plants of the same genus or species, for even the mingling of two inferior elements may result in the production of one superior of either of the originals. Still we would not advise using inferior materials in preference to superior, except when it is absolutely necessary to effect a desired variation, as may sometimes occur when a person has but a limited number of a species or variety with which to experiment. A wilding may possess some very desirable properties, such as vigor, hardiness and exemption from disease, while its domesticated representative lacks one or all of these properties; so by combining the best elements of the two a new and superior progeny may be produced. We may among fruits secure size, colour and texture, in fact all the good qualities known to belong to or exist in a certain species, and still these will be of little value unless the plant itself is adapted to the soil and climate where it is cultivated. One variety of the plant may be more hardy, and safely endure many degrees lower temperature than another of the same species, but no amount of nursing or moving about will ever change a tender plant into a hardy one. But by introducing new elements, as in cross-fertilization, we may multiply the causes for wide variation through the different hereditary characteristics of both parents. Why the seeds of plants should yield both tender and hardy varieties can only be accounted for upon the hypothesis that each possesses hereditary transmitted characteristics; but what the nature of the laws are that control this transmission we know little or nothing. We can form no conception why the advantage from a cross is directed exclusively to the vegetable system and sometimes to the re-productive system, but commonly to both. It is equally inconceivable why some individuals of the same species should be sterile, while others are fully fertile with their own pollen. Why a change of climate should either lessen or increase the sterility of self-fertile species, and why the individuals of some species should be even more fertile with pollen from a distinct species than with their own pollen, as with many other facts, so obscure that we stand in awe before the mystery of life.

Plant effort to adhere to the conditions of its native climate after transfer.

By Mr. Corbould :

Q. What would be the effect of taking seed of a particular plant from a colder country and planting it in a warmer country?—A. After a number of years you would probably lengthen the growing season of that plant. If you take the seed of a plant from a colder country into a warmer it would drop its leaves at the same time as at home, but after a time the nature and character of the plant would greatly change. Then again, if it were a fruiting plant it would probably have some effect on the fruit. Taking the Russian apples to which I have referred, some of them have come to us from a colder country with a shorter summer season than ours. After bringing them here, and especially to points further south than their native habitation, where the climate is hotter, it has had the effect of making many winter apples summer apples by ripening too thoroughly before the picking season arrived. That is, shortening their keeping season quite materially. So we find the complaint constantly coming from the south that there are no winter apples among the Russians.

Crossing of varieties of small fruits.

I do not intend to speak at length on Small Fruits, nor has the work of the farm proceeded far enough yet to obtain many results from crossing but here are a few samples, the result of work in this direction.

Mr. Craig then produced, for the inspection of the Committee, a number of varieties of raspberry produced by crossing; some of them crosses between red and black, and showing characteristics of both parents. A number were thought to be worthy of propagation.

Experimental work in the cultivation of vegetables.

Continuing, he said: I have remarked that the study of Vegetables, methods of cultivation and varieties made one branch of my work. I will touch on this division very briefly. The work with vegetables has been confined to testing varieties, and selecting the best individuals from these varieties; also studying cultivation, and the effect of fertilizers on the various classes of vegetables. In the Report of the Farm for 1890 will be found lists with descriptive notes of the best varieties of each class. The work has not yet gone far enough with fertilizers to enable me to give you any definite information or make statements that would be of any value, but these are the lines we are pursuing in this department of horticulture. In connection with this I might add that last year we made a distribution of Asparagus and Rhubarb seed to Manitoba and the North-West Territories. Manitoba received 1,500 packages of asparagus and rhubarb, and the North-West Territories had the same number sent to them. These seeds were selected from the varieties which had given us the best results at the farm. Of course it is well known that rhubarb may not come true from seed. We considered that if they did not get the finest varieties at once it would have the effect of drawing attention to and creating a desire in that region for these very healthy and wholesome vegetables, especially the asparagus.

FORESTRY.

Experimental work in the rearing and distribution of forest trees.

To proceed to Forestry: The work in forestry may be divided into two departments, (1) testing the trees at the Experimental Farm, and (2) distributing seedlings among farmers for testing in Manitoba and the North-West Territories. Last year under the direction of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, there were distributed 1,080 packages in Manitoba. Each of these packages contained 100 trees, and in the parcel there were about 20 varieties made up as follows: 10 green ash, 10 white ash, 25 box elder, 2 soft maple, 2 sycamore, 20 American elm, 6 Manitoba elm. With regard to the Manitoba elm these were sent out alongside our American elm in order to test their relative suitability to the climate. Last year we had reports from the superintendents of the branch farms to the effect that our American elms as grown from eastern seed here were not equal to the native in hardiness. Being desirous of having a more extended test we obtained 10,000 of the native Manitoba form and distributed these with the others in several parts in Manitoba and the North-West. This test will give us the information sought for in a short time. The other varieties sent out were: 2 black cherry, 2 black walnut (grown from northern seed), 2 honey locust, 5 white birch, 3 canoe birch, 2 American mountain ash, 4 Riga pine, 4 Norway spruce, 1 arbor vitæ. The Riga pine included here, is a little tree some of you may have noticed growing in large numbers just at the side entrance to the Farm. These have been grown from seed and are, at the present time, three years old. This list in the main composed the varieties sent in each package, and the reports now coming in, especially those relating to the first distribution, so far as received are very interesting. There will be sent out next fall to all those who have received the trees a circular asking information on the points thought to be of most importance, and as soon as considered advisable, that information will be returned to the settlers in Manitoba and the North-West, giving them the full benefit of their own experience as to the kind of trees to grow, how to plant, and how to care for them.

By Mr. Bain :

Q. What are the special qualities of the Riga pine?—A. It is a variety of the Scotch pine from East Europe, a rapid grower and considered hardier than the typical form.

Q. Is the growth similar?—A. Almost identical ; somewhat shorter leaves and somewhat more stalky in habit of growth. It does not spread out quite as much as the Scotch pine. Besides distributing the forest trees last year, arrangements were made through the Manitoba and North-West branch farms whereby a large quantity of the different kinds of native tree seeds were collected and shipped to Ottawa for distributing purposes. Out of these there were sent 89 packages of oak (acorns) to the North-West territories ; 204 packages of black cherry seed, 767 packages each of box elder and ash seed. Manitoba received about an equal number of packages, making a total of 3,361 packages. With each package of seeds as well as with each of forest trees, a circular of instructions for the planting, cultivating and after care of them was mailed. I might say that this work of distributing forest trees is only following up a line of experiment inaugurated a year before ; so that we now have two years experience on the same work. So far two facts are clearly demonstrated : 1. That it is best to begin with the native trees of the country such as box elder and green ash ; 2. That under the shelter of these, other varieties not so vigorous and less hardy as they may be grown with comparative ease.

Beneficial effects of forestry upon climate.

The effects of forestry on the climate of a country are nearly all beneficial ; such as more equal distribution of rainfall. This is one of the most important points to be considered ; another is the regulation of the temperature, by this I mean prevention in a measure of extremes, the possibilities of a sudden rise or fall in the temperature—changes so frequent in prairie districts—may be lessened. Then again evaporation from the soil is very much reduced. There is a vast difference between the condition on the surface of the bare and uncovered soil, and the soil on the forest floor. A forest floor serves the purpose of a sponge in collecting and holding the moisture which comes down in the form of rain. The fine root system of the trees assists in drawing up moisture from below. As the rain falls it collects around and within these forest centres which hold and give it up gradually, thus obviating spring torrents and summer freshets. Another important point which has not been sufficiently emphasised in connection with forest influence is the prevention of the strong force of the winds, with their great evaporating power. The evaporating power of the wind is generally in direct proportion to its velocity. The greater the velocity the stronger its evaporating power. Thus we can see the value of shelter belts. The more protection we have, in the way of shelter belts the less sweeping winds we have, and the moisture is taken less rapidly from the soil. There is no doubt that as soon as we can get in the North-West a sweeping sufficient amount of forest area to mitigate to some extent the force of the winds, we will have a much less rapid evaporation and much more favourable conditions, for fruit culture and agricultural operations generally.

By Mr. McGregor.

Q. Would that affect gardens too?—A. Certainly. It would act in the direction of preventing the direct action of the sun's rays, and be of great assistance at the time of seed germination in the spring as very frequently the first sowing of garden seed is much disturbed by spring winds. Among the most promising varieties of forest trees for giving quick shelter, I wish to draw your attention to a class destined to be one of great service in the North-West, I refer to the testing of a large number of fast growing willows and poplars which have from time to time been introduced from East Europe and the plains, and steppe country of Russia.

We have now growing at the Central Farm raised from cuttings several thousands of these willows and poplars which will be increased as rapidly as possible. They are a remarkably fast growing hardy race of trees. We have already tested them at a few points in the North-West in small quantities, and they have given every indication of hardiness and success. We are now making arrangements to continue the work of distributing next year by sending a large selection of these to a number of points in Manitoba and the North-West. Among those which indicate great future usefulness are Populus Certinesis, Pop. Petrovsky, Salix acutifolia and Salix laurifolia. If we can introduce and establish at different points groves of these hardy fast-growing poplars and willows, and thus obtain a little shelter, we may hope a little later on to introduce some of the more tender and valuable sorts which are not able to withstand the rigors of the climate unprotected, and so by making a small beginning our woods may be gradually increased.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Would it not be better in starting upon the farms in the North-West to commence with the native tree?—A. I have already urged the wisdom of this course. Cotton wood is not a long-lived tree, and Box Elder does not make useful timber, although it is useful as a wind break; but the principal value of these poplars lies in their making a great quantity of very fair fuel and useful lumber in an incredibly short time. Still, other varieties should always follow the planting of these.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. You have been carrying on the experiments in tree distributing for two years?—A. This is the second year in which a distribution of the forest tree seedlings has been made.

Q. Have you heard anything of the result of the first year?—A. I have had a great many reports; but as yet I have not asked for any special information. I am merely waiting for sufficient time to elapse to make the evidence when gained in a measure conclusive, or so that reliable deductions can be drawn therefrom.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Tree culture is very largely in vogue in Dakota. What varieties do they plant there?—A. In Dakota they plant very largely the green and white ash, the cotton wood, the black cherry and the box elder.

Q. Native trees?—A. Yes. The ash there, is not a large tree, but it grows very rapidly at first. The black cherry is a tree which it will pay to plant from the profit standpoint, as the wood is in such demand for cabinet work.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. In oak plantings in Scotland, a good deal of larch, spruce and birch are planted for the purposes of shelter. As the oak grew the other trees are weeded out and the oak allowed to stand. Is this not a good plan?—A. That is quite true, but in reference to tree planting in the North-West we have first to plant the trees that will grow, afterwards we may try the combinations. We are, however, following that system in our experimental plantations on the Farm here.

Character of fungous growths and simple methods of getting rid of them.

There is an other Department of my work, gentlemen, that I wish to bring before your notice this morning. This was referred to by Mr. Fletcher at our last meeting; and it is a work which is intimately connected with each department of which we have charge. While Mr. Fletcher begins by studying the life histories and remedies I have the privilege of carrying to a practical issue, and in a larger way the results of his investigations after he has demonstrated their feasibility. I refer to the use of fungicides for destroying the various fungus growths which do so much damage by preying upon our fruits and vegetables. I think he explained to you the nature of what is generally termed a fungus. It is simply a low form of plant life—a parasite that is growing upon another plant, it has no power to assimilate food for itself so that it lives on the already prepared food of other plants, thus destroyed their vitality. These low forms are without flowers and leaves and have spores of seeds which are very small, thus being readily scattered by the wind and falling on favourable ground germinate and multiply with great rapidity. The study of these plants is far more difficult than the ordinary flowering plants as it is only by the aid of high power microscopes that the different parts of their organisms can be observed, and their functions understood. Then again they are very numerous. It is said that the fungi far outnumber the flowering plants; that is there are a great many more named species than we have of the flowering plants. The "apple spot," the "pear blight," the "gooseberry mildew," and "the grape mildew," are some of the most familiar and destructive examples of these pests, which we must now class as plants. The work which has come into my hands the past season has reference more particularly to the "apple spot," "grape mildew," and the "gooseberry mildew."

Recipes.

I have compiled in the bulletin now before you some of the results of my own work, and some of the results of others in the same line. The most effective remedy and one which is almost entirely satisfactory is the copper carbonate mixture, in this bulletin I have drawn attention to the mode of preparation. It is very simple and can easily be made at home. All that you do is simply to dissolve copper sulphate in one vessel, the washing soda in another, then pour them together and stir. As soon as the mixture has settled, pour off the water from the top, add as much water as at first, stirring thoroughly, when this has settled pour off again and dry the sediment; then you have the mixture. To every 2½ oz. of this, add 1 qt. of ammonia when you have a preparation, ready for application after being diluted to the proper strength by the addition of 25 gals. of water. I have found that two ounces of this mixture when dissolved in one quart of ammonia and diluted with 25 gallons of water is an effective remedy for apple scab; not a complete remedy, but still a remedy that it will pay the orchardist to adopt. Later experience leads me to believe that 2½ ounces will be more effective.

By Mr. Sproule :

Q. What time do you spray the tree?—A. Early. The first application should be made before the blossom is open, the second just after they fall, the third two weeks later and the fourth two or three weeks later, depending on the season. Should the weather be wet it may be earlier; if the weather be dry it may be later, or it may not be necessary.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. You make four applications?—A. Four applications as a general rule. I know of orchards in the Eastern Townships that have not averaged 25 per cent. of No. 1 apples for the last 8 or 10 years. Last year my experiment showed that I was able to increase the 25 per cent. to 50 per cent., at a cost of 6 or 7 cents a tree for the season. This year I varied the treatment a little and on the second treatment, after the blossoms had fallen, I put in three ounces of Paris Green or a shade less to not more than 40 gallons of water. It is said that if Paris Green is added to the ammonia mixture, that the ammonia will dissolve the arsenic which renders it injurious to the leaves, but by first mixing the ammonia with the whole amount of water, that is, adding the water to the ammoniacal copper carbonate to the extent of 25 gallons, and then putting in the Paris Green, the ammonia was so diluted that it did not have any injurious effect; at any rate it did not injure the leaves this year. In examining my work three days ago I found the foliage and fruit looking well, especially the foliage, which was very clear and healthy. Where the tree had not been treated the leaves were more or less spotted, caused by the presence of the fungus, and where they had been treated in every case they were comparatively free. There was less evidence of the presence of the codling moth where the application of the Paris Green had been made. Of course care must be exercised in the application of these remedies; it is easy by careless measuring to increase the quantity of Paris Green, when injury to the foliage would almost surely follow.

By Mr. Rowand :

Q. There is a difference in the quality of Paris Green it seems to me?—A. No doubt about it, but more injury arises from careless measuring than from difference in quality of brands. Another remedy which has been recommended is Bordeaux mixture, but I do not think it is well to recommend more than one remedy if that is satisfactory, as it is apt to complicate matters and deter the general use of these remedies. The Bordeaux mixture which is used quite extensively in the States is simpler in its way but a little more expensive. It is made by dissolving 6 lbs. copper sulphate in 16 gallons of water in one vessel, and 4 lbs of lime in 6 gallons of water in another, and then pour them together and stir them up; before using this mixture should be strained as it is apt to clog the nozzles of spraying machines. I have brought with me a spraying pump for the purpose of illustrating a new machine which we find very useful in spraying plants under eight feet in height. I do not know that it is the best machine, but it is a sprayer by which you can readily reach small trees or plants; being in the form of a knapsack it is conveniently carried on the back and operated at the same time; capacity five gallons.

Apparatus for applying fungicide preparations.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. You would not recommend that for large trees?—A. No, for large trees I use a force pump fixed to a barrel which is placed in a waggon, but for gooseberries, currant, cabbages, mangolds, turnips, and potatoes, this knapsack sprayer is just the thing. If the nozzle is held at the right distance it will cover two rows of potatoes.

Q. Do you drench the leaf? A. No, the best form of spray is that which is laid on in fine mist, so as, to cover the whole leaf, without drenching it. Q. It is difficult to get a nozzle to do that?—A. This nozzle will do that. The ordinary gem nozzle generally used on force pumps throws a coarse spray which is not the best to give the most desirable results.

By the Chairman.

Q. What does this pump cost?—A. It costs $14; it is called the Galloway sprayer. It is designed by Prof. Galloway, chief of the Pathological Division of the Department of Agriculture at Washington. There is no patent on it, it has been put on the market and is now made by a number of dealers. There is nothing to prevent any manufacturer taking hold of it and getting out a cheaper one or devising any improvement he wishes.

Gooseberry Mildew.

I would here with your permission, gentlemen, refer to the results of some of my work on the prevention of Gooseberry Mildew. We can hardly grow, or have not been able to grow up to the present time in a great many parts of Ontario, the finer European gooseberries, for the reason that they are subject to mildew and the foliage is not healthy in our climate. The leaves usually become mildewed and drop off about this date, so that two or three weeks later the bushes would be entirely bare, destroying the fruit prospects for the following year, but, by using the simple mixture mentioned here, and of the same strength, we have been able to entirely free our bushes from mildew this season. This is the ammoniacal copper carbonate. There are other mixtures which will do the work such as "liver of sulphur," "potassium sulphide," &c., but if we can get one thing which proves itself satisfactory remedy and get everybody to know about it, the best policy will be to stick to that one.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. Is it not a fact that mildew is much more prevalent one year than another?—A. Yes. This has been a year comparatively free from mildew and black spot on the apple. May and June were dry and not favourable to the development of the disease ; but since the beginning of our late June rains the right conditions have prevailed and fungi of different kinds, developed very rapidly. It is not safe, however, even in a season unfavourable to the growth of fungi, to leave off applying the remedy.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Is it safe to dust hellebore on small fruits ?—A. Hellebore is not a virulent poison and would have to be taken in considerable quantities by human beings to prove injurious. The exceedingly small amount that is likely to remain on currants or gooseberries when picked cannot be injurious.

By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. What time do you apply it to gooseberries ?—A. The last brood of larva is working on the currants and gooseberries just now.

I am speaking of the prevention of mildew. The same rule applies to this as to the apple. The earlier you begin the better. As soon as the leaves are half grown they should have the first application, and about five applications are made during the season.

By Mr. Bowers :

Q. Does not the hot weather have something to do with mildew ?—A. Yes. Warm moist weather seems favourable conditions for the development of these troubles.

Q. I am not troubled with it.—A. It is more prevalent in certain sections on certain varieties than in others.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Have you any good European gooseberries on the farm ?—No, not at present we have not yet been able to give the European varieties of gooseberries the attention they should have. This year, however, we have several promising seedlings of these sorts. I have no doubt we can grow them. We have been fruiting the best of the American seedlings.

Q. But such transparent luscious fruit as they have in the old country ?—I think we have a gentleman in the room who has a large number of varieties in a city garden which he thinks are quite as good as any in the old country. I refer to Mr. R. B. White. Mr. White has twenty-two varieties of the European gooseberry bearing this year.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. We have a very large pear tree in the County of Essex, brought there by the early Jesuits two hundred years ago. It often bears forty bushels of pears in a season. But we cannot produce it. The seed wont grow. How do you suppose they brought it ?—A. There are many European trees, the seed of which will not grow when taken from specimens grown in this country. The seed of the Norway spruce, that ripens in this country, will not grow—or if at all only in a limited way.

Q. To reproduce them, do you have to send for other seed ?—A. You should try grafting or budding.

Q. We have tried grafting ?—A. I should like to try it. I do not see why we could not make them grow. Send us some scions this fall after the leaves have fallen. We have at the farm some of these same trees. I understand they were the trees planted by the early French settlers along the Detroit River. We have three trees, and thus far they are remarkably healthy and strong, and have come through the winters with little or no injury.

Q. Some of the trees are eleven feet around the base, and look almost like elms. The pear is not large, but very nice, and it is very desirable to keep. It is subject to no blight or disease, and in ten years you would have nine full crops.

It suits our climate the western peninsula—from Niagara River to Windsor very well ?—A. I have heard of these trees a number of times, and on an island in Lake Champlain I think they have some trees of the same strain, probably from the same source. They have a class of very large pear trees there, which have been growing for many years.

Constancy of plants to their native habits.By Mr. Cochrane :

Q. If you took cuttings from that tree that Mr. McGregor has been taking about, and grafted them on some other kind of stock, would you change the habit of the tree altogether?—A. Possibly a very little. You might change the season of the fruit a little, but it is not probable you would change the quality or habit of the tree. As a general rule the scion overrules the root. That is, Duchess always have roots of the same character, no matter what they are root-grafted on, and the same with other varieties.

Q. Can you give us some of the names of the hardiest varieties of cherries?—A. The tree I exhibited here is the Bessarabian. Another is the Vladimir, and another one is called the Late Green, of which I have a photo. of the fruit here. Lutovka is also valuable. Another one which I think valuable, but only in the western portions of Ontario is Griotte Morel; Spate Amarelle and Shadow Amarelle will, I think, prove valuable over wide areas of Ontario and Quebec.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. In the western peninsula we have a little red Cherry which is as much like the native as you can find. There is no cherry that grows like that.—A. Yes, it is a form of the Kentish or Richmond cherry, and produces itself from seed with little variation.

Q. They often sell two hundred or three hundred bushels of cherries off those trees in our country, and very seldom miss having a good crop. The Indians had them fifty or sixty years ago.

Q. Supposing they were cultivated?—A. I do not think it would increase the size. They have the same cherry at Montreal, out at Outremont. It has been growing in the fence corners there for many years, but it is very subject to black knot.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. Is there any remedy for the black knot?—A. There is no remedy for the black knot but cutting out and burning.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. I do not think this variety of cherry has any difficulty to contend with in the world. Since I was a small boy, forty years ago, I have never known them to miss a crop off the same trees?—A. They grow from sprouts; but that cherry would not stand here in this climate.

By Mr. Carpenter.

Q. I think you have established the fact that your experiments here are of comparatively little use to us in Western Ontario?—A. We are going to grow peaches and apricots here, which I hope you will see in time; but we do not expect to grow them on such a scale as to interfere with your markets to any extent. This will be done by winter protection. With small fruits however, we can, with a little more care, grow anything that the Niagara Peninsula can produce, and we hope to develop varieties which will be of great future service to them.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. We have noticed that our cherries and plums are nearly all destroyed, and pears have become rusty and cracked. It is only of late years that this destruction has taken place; but the plum has gone completely?—A. The plum and cherry have gone from black knot.

Q. What about the Pear?—A. That is a blight that has crept in lately. It is a new disease, and there has been no effective remedy yet found to prevent the cracking, although Bordeaux mixture is recommended.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. There was a lady visiting my place who advised me to bathe the roots of the trees with lye and use sulphur. I did that, and whether it was because of that or not I do not know, but we have had no blight since?—A. The potash and sulphur were no doubt beneficial as fertilizers and assisted in putting your trees in good health.

Black Knot.

By Mr. Semple :

Q. I would like to ask Mr. Craig something more about the Black Knot. I find it common even on the native trees?—A. Yes; black cherries and choke cherries are much affected. You find it on nearly all forms of the cherry family, and even wild plums are very badly troubled through the west. Choke cherry trees are harbouring places for this disease, and should not be allowed to occupy fence corners, forming breeding pens for caterpillars and black knot.

Fruit growing in the North-West.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Have you travelled in the North-West and Manitoba?—A. Yes.

Q. Don't you think the soil will be a barrier to the raising of Fruit Trees for a time?—A. The heavy clay portions are no doubt not adapted for the cultivation of many varieties of large fruits, cherries for instance; but there is nothing to prevent the growing of small fruits for the present. Growers must, however, lay the canes down in the autumn as we do our grapes in this latitude. I tried an experiment last fall here in our own climate in the laying down of raspberries. I laid down the half each of a number of rows, made up of different varieties. I did not cover up the whole of the cane, but merely laid on enough soil on the tip to hold it in this recumbent position. This had the effect of catching the first snow thus covering the whole cane. I found the result this year to be that the half of the row thus protected to be about four days earlier than the half which had not been laid down. With early varieties for market purposes this means considerable.

Objects of experimenting with small fruits.

By Mr. O'Brien :

Q. Do you not always lay the heads of Raspberries down?—A. We have not done it heretofore; nor has it ever been practised in this vicinity to any extent.

My object was to ascertain if it would pay the commercial grower; to see if there would be a sufficient increase in the product to repay the trouble, as there is considerable work connected with it. I have come to the conclusion that it would pay if you were growing for the market, on account of the increased earliness caused by this treatment, in most cases, making a difference of four to six days.

Q. Did it increase the product?—A. It did not increase the crop of hardy varieties such as Turner and Hansell, but it does very materially with such varieties as Clark, Reider, and even Cuthbert.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. In planting an orchard in the North-West, would you not advise setting the trees to the north of a forest instead of to the south?—A. Yes, I should by all means.

Q. I have noticed this in a colder country—in planting to the south the first sun in the spring starts the tree to grow?—A. That is often before the frost is out of the ground, and a sudden change following the tree is effected by it; but if it is planted on the north of the forest, then the tree not getting the earliest and hottest sun, growth is retarded. There is a double advantage in planting in the north. The first injury to the tree planted on the southern slope is in the spring from the effect of the hot sun as just indicated, and the second injury comes in later in the season from the hot winds of June. On the northern slope this is avoided to a great extent.

By Mr. O'Brien :

Q. Do you know anything of the difficulties of growing fruit in the Laurentian country, as in Perry Sound. They have tried apples there and have not been successful except in a few instances?—A. I cannot say that I can give you any information concerning that particular district. I have not been over that part of country. I have heard a good deal of second hand information, but it has been somewhat contradictory.

Effect of snow falls upon fruit trees.

Q. Is this theory true : That the snow falling so early, before the frost strikes the ground, causes the tree to begin its growth early in spring so that when the snow does go the cold winds of spring strike it with injurious effect?—A. It is certainly one of the difficulties in colder countries to hold the tree back until the time of the late frosts are over. If the trees start too early it is very much to their disadvantage. If snow falls before any frost is in the ground they are very liable to start too early in spring.

Q. Do you think any of these hardier kinds would be less affected?—A. Certain trees have certain habits. A tree that is determinate in habit of growth—that is, that sheds its leaves at a given time in the fall and starts at a certain time in the spring irrespective of weather—would have a better chance. These trees which are bred in climates where they have short summers and long winters would be safer to plant in the locality you describe. For instance, the Duchess is a tree that will ripen its wood every year and usually starts late in the spring.

Q. Have you any idea if cultivation of the soil makes it more suitable? Would fruit grow better on land that has been cultivated for ten or twelve years than on new land?—A. It has been my experience in the North-West that you could get a better growth on land that has not been cultivated before. That is on virgin soil. Nursery men when growing apple seedlings always prefer well pulverized new land. The growth of young trees is healthier and more vigorous.

By Mr. Mc Gregor :

Q. I have seen the very best orchards among the stumps?—A. I do not think there is any doubt that in all cases new and unworn land gives best results.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. In speaking of shelter I think it depends on the locality. I was at Burlington Bay and noticed that the trees which got the wind from the lake did very well. To the north of the bay they wanted the shelter to the north?—A. The lake in that case was the regulator, and the good results obtained from its influence.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. A good many varieties of apples only bear every other year. Do you recommend that this spraying be done every year or not?—A. Decidedly, because the disease lives over, whether there is fruit or not, existing on the leaves and thus lowering the vitality of the trees.

Q. Most of us, in the seasons we get no fruit, neglect the spraying?—A. We must fight the disease every year. You see the disease is not only on the fruit but on the leaves, and if you have no fruit to save you still have the disease on the leaves. So that, if you want a crop of fruit next year it is important that you should keep your tree in healthy condition this year.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Is there any prospect of this disease being eradicated entirely? It is not many years since we were troubled with it?—A. It is only about fifteen years since the apple spot was first noticed, and it is only about twelve years since its life history was studied out. As to its future we cannot say, possibly like the potatoe bug, it has come to stay.

By Mr. McMullen :

Q. Would spraying trees through the soil have any effect on the scab?—A.

Mr. CRAIG : I don't think you can obtain a remedy through the soil. You must spray directly on the leaves ? I don't think you can apply a remedy to the soil, that would be strong enough to work into the leaves, without injuring the tree.

Remedies against the tree borer.

By Mr. Throw :

Q. Would this solution you speak of destroy the Tree Borer ?—No, sir.

Q. It must be something stronger ?—A. The tree borer is rather a difficult chap to get at. The only way is to use preventive measures, such as using alkiline and carbolic washes, and digging them out as soon as noticed.

Mr. FLETCHER.—I think you have to do the same with the tree borers as the other diseases as with the apple scab. If you have any trouble with it, use preventive measures and destroy the spores of the fungus. In the case of the borer the same practice that is followed in large nurseries must be pursued, viz., to wash the trunks of the trees in June with a strong solution of soap and washing soda. The trouble only lasts three or four weeks, and if the tree is properly protected during that period there will be an end of the trouble until next year.

Scraping and washing fruit trees.

By Mr. Carpenter :

Q. Would you scrape old trees where the bark has become rough ? A. It is very beneficial indeed, if not carried to extremes, as a good many insects hide under the rough bark.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. When would you scrape ?—A. At any time, but there being more spare time in winter it can be done then, snow permitting. Scrape with an old hoe, and any insects hibernating will be destroyed on exposure to the weather. Soap washes are beneficial.

Q. Would you wash with lime, carbolic acid or whitewash ?—A. Ordinary whitewash is a very good wash. The chief thing is to put it on regularly. Of course if you put on strong carbolic acid on smooth bark it sometimes scarifies and injures the tree, but with a small quantity there is likely to be no trouble. The great difficulty with Paris green is that if you tell people to put in 2 oz. of Paris green they will invariably use three or four times that quantity. I never saw the man yet, I mean laborer, who could mix the proper amount of Paris green. Suppose it is for the potato-bug, the proper amount is a pound to 200 gallons of water, that is the smallest amount that will do the work properly and thoroughly.

Q. Paris green varies ?—A. By Mr. Fletcher.—The trouble is in not keeping it stirred. You have heard frequently that Paris green varies, but I had a number of samples analyzed and found it did not vary more than between 6 and 8 per cent. With a spray pump having the right kind of nozzle you spray in a very satisfactory manner, and each leaf gets a few drops. If you drench the leaves with too heavy a spray it runs together and falls off altogether.

By Mr. German :

Q. What time in the day is the best for spraying the potato-bug ?—A. With the potato plant it can be done at any time. With plums, peaches, and pears, it should be done during cloudy weather.

By a Member :

Q. Would you spray when the dew is on the trees ?—A. It would not matter if the spray was properly applied, and the proper quantity of Paris green was used, but generally ten times more than the needful quantity is used.

Q. If there is a shower ?—A. If it comes immediately afterwards, it is well to repeat the application, the plants will not be injured by putting on a little more.

---

In conclusion, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, let me thank you for the attention and patient hearing you have given me to-day, and further add that it is my pleasure at all times to give cheerfully to enquirers by letter or otherwise such information regarding horticultural topics as in me lies.

Having examined the preceding transcript of my evidence, I find it correct.

HOUSE OF COMMONS,

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,

FRIDAY, 21st August, 1891.

The Committee met at 10.30, Mr. SPROULE presiding.

The Chairman introduced Mr. F. T. SHUTT, the Chemist to the Dominion Experimental Farms.

Mr. F. T. SHUTT.—Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Select Committee on Agriculture: When on a previous occasion, I had the honour of addressing you concerning the work and objects of the chemical department of the Dominion Experimental Farms, I had entered upon my duties but a few months. Although a certain amount of analytical work had been accomplished, I contented myself rather, at that time, with outlining the work and the probable lines of investigation of my department in the immediate future. The laboratory was then occupying temporary quarters in the city, and our accommodation and apparatus were consequently very limited. It was chiefly on that account that I had not much chemical work to report. You will remember, however, that among the results which I referred to at that time were the analyses of some samples of Ladoga wheat. The chemical data obtained from the examination of many specimens of this wheat, grown in Russia, and in the various provinces of Canada, clearly prove the value of Ladoga wheat for our North-West Territories and Manitoba, and also showed that under the influence of the climate and fertile soil of these Provinces the wheat had improved rather than deteriorated. These results and the deductions made therefrom are to be found in extenso in Bulletin No. 2 of the Farm Series.

Agricultural Laboratories.

I shall now, as concisely as clearness will allow me, endeavour to bring before you an outline of the work I have been enabled to do since that time, the work now in progress and the experiments which we propose to do in the future. First, let me briefly refer to the building of the permanent laboratories. I wish to speak on this subject for a moment, because it is a matter of importance, nay, rather, a sine qua non, for good and accurate work that there should be a well-equipped and convenient laboratory, with an ample supply of apparatus. Acting under instructions from the Honourable the Minister of Agriculture, I visited Germany, the home of agricultural science, and there inspected many agricultural laboratories in connection with the Government stations of that country. I looked into the character and methods of experimenting in agriculture there, and at the same time purchased apparatus for our own laboratories, by this means effecting, a very considerable saving in the cost of equipment. The observations I took on this tour are to be found somewhat in detail in the annual report of the Farms for 1888. On my return I drew up the plans for our laboratories, which have been erected under my personal supervision at the Central Experimental Farm. They afford us every facility for chemical work, and are withal tasteful in design, and I may add that although they are not the largest, they rank among the best-equipped and most convenient of all the chemical laboratories in the North American continent. We expect them to meet for many years to come the ever-increasing requirements of the agricultural population of Canada.

It is not my intention to make this a chemical dissertation, nor can I hope to touch upon the many experiments and results of the past two years, but shall content myself with indicating the more important of these, and outlining the work for the future.

Analytical work accomplished.

I propose to classify the work I have to treat under four divisions, speaking very briefly on each of them. First of all, I shall say a few words on soils; secondly, on what I have termed "natural fertilizers"—that is, fertilizers found in nature and not manufactured; thirdly, on fodders and substances relating to cattle foods; and fourthly, on miscellaneous analyses and experiments.

Virgin soils, districts from which sent for analysis.

First, as to soils: Since the time that I had the honour of addressing the Committee a considerable amount of analytical work, which is necessarily of a protracted character, has been done upon soils, for the different provinces. It is of very great importance, at least, in my opinion, that every farmer should know somewhat of the fertility of his soil, and its mechanical condition. Without such a knowledge, which is enhanced very materially by chemical analysis, it is next to impossible to raise paying crops. We are unable, through lack of time, to analyse all the samples of soil that may be sent by farmers—and indeed such an expenditure of time would not be justifiable in all instances, but considerable attention has been given to the analysis of and reporting upon samples of virgin soils selected in different provinces. Certain soils have come from the North-West Territories. We have had two samples from the Maple Creek district, and found them to be very fertile and rich in nitrogen. Nitrogen, I may remark, is one of the essential constituents of plant food—nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid being the three essential elements. The analytical details of these soils, are to be found in the report of the Experimental Farms. I would also draw your attention to several samples that were sent from Walsh Flats, Vermilion Hills and from Tilley, by Mr. Hamilton, Land Commissioner of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg. The settlers on these soils were able to raise only very poor crops, and they thought this might be due to the presence of free alkali or deleterious substances in the soil, or the absence of some of the essential constituents of plant food. Upon analysis these turned out to be very fertile soils, and after enquiring into the matter I found that these districts enjoyed but a very limited rainfall. Therefore, I attributed the very poor crops to the very limited amount of rain rather than to the poverty of the soil. This illustrates one value of the analysis of soils.

Soils have also been analysed from the Province of Quebec, one of which was obtained from the district of Témiscamingue. This sample was collected by Dr. Robert Bell, of the Geological Survey, who reported that although the soil was very white the vegetation was very green. I analysed the soil and found it was very poor in nitrogen as compared with North-West soil. It contained sufficient of this element, however, to raise good crops, as reported by Dr. Bell. It was a clay loam, and fairly rich in potash. This analysis was of importance, because, as you are aware, there is a colonization society which is taking people to Lake Témiscamingue, and these facts would be of value to the consideration.

Samples of soil from the Sackville Marsh, New Brunswick, have also been analysed to ascertain the character of the soil of that district. The two samples analysed were found to contain less fertilizing material than the North-West soils examined. I might mention that the North-West soils I have had the pleasure of analysing have been found to be especially rich in nitrogen, and I believe that that is the reason why we have such luxuriant crops of cereals in that part of Canada. These soils from the Sackville marsh were not poor, but in comparing them we find that the percentage of nitrogen they contain only equals that found in the poorest of the North-West soils. In reporting on these, I recommended the application of wood ashes and marl, or lime in some condition, to improve them.

The matter of soil analysis I take to be of great importance from an immigration point of view, because I think we should have data with regard to the composition of Canadian virgin soils—soils representing, as far as possible, large districts in various parts of the Dominion—for use, not only among our own people, but also for use in England and other places where emigration literature is distributed. People are now becoming more intelligent and better able to understand and to interpret reports made by chemist's especially when they are written in plain English, avoiding the use, as far as possible, of technical terms. It is for these reasons, therefore, that I have devoted a great deal of time this year to the matter of analysis of virgin soils. As an instance of the interest that is being manifested in this work, Mr. Wilgress, a barrister at Huntsville, who is much interested in the Muskoka district, and is very watchful over its welfare, asked me to give him instructions for collecting samples of soils throughout Muskoka, and there are now being collected under his supervision samples of the virgin soil—that is to say, soiled untouched, unmanured or untilled—which will be analysed at the Farm laboratory. From these we hope to obtain an idea of the relative richness of the soils of different districts in Muskoka. We are also devoting some time this year to the analysis of alkaline soils. This work is in progress, and I cannot therefore report finally on it. I may say, however, this: That although I have analysed several of these soils I have yet to find the presence of free alkali, save in very small quantities in a few instances. This is rather curious, and I do not want to speak too definitely upon it; but I am inclined to think that the cause of the poor crop is rather due to something else—I will not say what, at present—rather than to the presence of alkali. The cause may be due in some instances to the presence in excess, of magnesium salts.

I have also received for analysis a sample of soil from the Fraser River district of British Columbia—from the delta of the Fraser River. It is an extremely rich soil, and accounts for the very luxurious growth there. I think there are about 30 square miles of soil that have been brought down by the river and deposited at its mouth.

As my time is limited this morning, I must now pass on to the second division, having outlined what we have done, what we propose to do, and the value of these different soil analyses. Our efforts so far have enabled us to suggest measures for the amelioration of the condition, and advise as to kind of crops and nature of fertilizer for those soils already analysed. We have been able to depict the natural fertility of many Canadian soils, and we wish to go on with this work—to ascertain the relative value for agricultural purposes of the virgin soils of different districts of the Dominion.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. Are not the alluvial deposits in all rivers equally fertile? In the Red River for instance, would not such be equal to the Fraser River?—A. I do not think they would be equally fertile. The soil brought down by a river would vary according to the character of the country through which the river passed.

Natural fertilizers.

Under the second heading that I chose, viz., “Natural Fertilizers,” I include what are termed muds, mucks and peats. As you are doubtless all aware, in Prince Edward Island the river muds and swamp muds are largely used as fertilizers. It has not been the custom in that province to keep cattle in sufficient numbers to make manure enough to keep up the fertility of the soil.

Swamp muds.

They have had consequently to fall back upon these muds, and it is therefore of importance for them to know their relative value, as there are comparatively a large number of these deposits from which they can obtain those materials. Many farmers of the island have therefore sent samples to the Farm to know of what value they may be. Now, the chief benefit of these muds to the soil, lies in the amount of nitrogen they contain. They are essentially nitrogenous fertilizers. The nitrogen, existing in the organic matter, has been determined in each case and the relative value of the muds ascertained and reported upon.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. Is it not owing to dead oysters?—A. Those are not of a nitrogenous character—at least, oyster-muds are not chiefly of value for the nitrogen they contain. The oyster and mussel-muds are useful where the soil is deficient in lime, or where lime is required for liberating other constituents in the soil.

By Mr. Macdonald (P.E.I.):

Q. You referred especially to the swamp-muds?—A. To go more particularly into the subject of these muds, I would say the character of the mud depends upon its origin. We have the swamp-muds, river-muds, marsh-muds and mussel-muds of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and the black mucks of Ontario, which are really nothing but swamp mucks, and finally peat. There is no strong line of demarkation—except in the case of mussel-muds—in their composition. They run one into another, but they may be differentiated according to their origin. The farmers of Prince Edward Island have taken a very intelligent interest in this work. They send me a large number of samples for analysis, and I am often obliged to curtail the work of the other provinces in order to meet their requirements. We have now many samples which I have not yet had time to examine. As these agriculturists are, however, very anxious, and seemingly willing to benefit themselves as much as they can by the Experimental Farm, we are glad to do what we can for them as time permits. I have been advising them as to the best use of these muds. I do not consider it good practice in the majority of instances to put them on the soil as they are, but first to make a compost.

Mucks.

The nitrogen in mucks exists in a condition which is not easily assimilable by plants, but after the process of fermentation or composting the nitrogen is converted into a form more easily taken up by plants. Farm-yard manure, wood ashes and lime are the three most useful materials for composting with these fertilizers. I have also strongly advised the use of many of these mucks, when they are in proper condition, as absorbents to be used in stables, cow-houses, and the like. This advice will be useful in other parts of Canada wherever mucks are to be found.

Peat.

Peat is especially beneficial for this purpose. A large portion of the liquid manure is often lost unless there is a complete drainage system in stables and cow-houses, or absorbents are used. The liquid portion of the manure is more valuable than the solid, and should not be allowed to go to waste. By the use of these peats, which can be obtained in many places without much outlay to the farmers, this waste is prevented. These peats absorb the liquids and the gasses, and keep the atmosphere of the stable and cow-houses pure, while at the same time they make valuable manure. Not only do they hold the valuable constituents of manure, but they themselves are, by the fermenting process, rendered more valuable because the nitrogen in them is rendered more soluble.

Sawdust.

By Mr. O'Brien:

Q. What result is obtained from using fine sawdust as an absorbent in the stables?—A. Fine sawdust is extremely undecayable. The turpentine and resin in it prevent it from readily fermenting. There is not much nitrogen in sawdust.

Q. I mean merely as an absorbent. I found in my stable, when I used fine sawdust, there was not the slightest effluvia, but when mixed with the barn-yard manure would it be available again?—A. Yes; you would get all the fertilizing elements in the liquid manure, but the sawdust itself would not be of much value, because there is little nitrogen in it, but fermenting with the liquid manure it would be rendered more valuable. Dry sawdust would no doubt act as a splendid absorbent. Again, another absorbent frequently used there is gypsum, also often applied as a fertilizer by itself. In stables it fixes the ammonia in the liquid portions of the manure, and consequently you have a more or less concentrated fertilizer as the result.

Straw.By Mr. McMillan :

Q. Do you think cut straw would be better than sawdust?—A. Yes; cut straw would contain more plant food than sawdust, and it would be more easily rotted. Cut straw is often recommended for this purpose.

Marl.

To continue the subject of useful fertilizers, I might mention that samples of marl have been analysed from different parts of the Dominion. The use of marl is principally recommended for the lime it contains. Samples have been analysed containing over 90 per cent. of carbonate of lime. Its application greatly improves the tilth of many soils—both heavy clay, peaty and sandy soils; but unless the soil is deficient in lime we do not put great value upon the fertilizing power of marl. Experience has shown that it is useful on light sandy soils, because it helps to render them heavier and more retentive of moisture and fertilizing material. At the same time it converts the nitrogen into forms that can be easily taken up as food by plants. It promotes nitrification, and thus hastens the decomposition of the nitrogen—holding organic matter of the soil, which latter process must proceed if the fertility of the soil is to be utilized to the fullest extent. Nitrification is the result of the growth of bacteria, and is greatly encouraged by the carbonate of lime in marl.

Q. Would you consider pine sawdust a very good thing to place upon heavy soil?—A. Yes sometimes; because of its mechanical condition—just as I would advise sand to be placed on some soils to improve their tilth.

Wood ashes.

Before leaving the subject, I wish to speak a moment upon wood ashes. We have analysed some samples which show that Canadian wood ashes are very valuable as fertilizers from the amount of potash they contain, in the first place, and in the second place from the amount of phosphoric acid they possess. They vary from 4 to 9 per cent. of potash, usually about 8 per cent., and about 2 per cent. of phosphoric acid.

By Mr. Davin :

Q. How much nitrogen?—A. No nitrogen. The lime in them is, however, of some agricultural value.

Waste of natural fertility, by fire, in clearing the land.

Q. Have you ever been asked what was the value or the reverse of value of prairie fires in the North-West—burning the logs and vegetation?—A. I may say a few words about that. I have been up through Muskoka for a few days, and have been looking into the matter of fires, their value and result. I came to the conclusion that the method of clearing land at present adopted is a very wasteful and unprofitable one. There was one gentleman there who was quite positive that the rocks grew. I saw that however chimerical might be his theory, he was quite right in his observation. In places there, the soil is so rich in humus that you can set fire to it and it will burn like tinder. What is left is really sand, with very little else; whereas, before the fire destroyed its other qualities, it was very rich in plant food. After a fire the rains wash this sand from the rocks, which, as the farmer there said, seemed to grow. I think it is well that the farmers should know that they are burning up the fertility of the soil and that that soil will not be replaced for many years—many generations. More care needs to be taken in clearing land by fire, lest more harm should be done than good.

Q. That is to say, they burn up the soil with the logs?—A. Yes; they burn up the whole thing. This waste, I think, could be prevented in a large measure. The material from the woods might be collected in heaps, and the fire, as far as possible, restricted to those heaps and kept from spreading. I have never visited the North-

West, and could not speak from experience as to the effect of prairie fires on the soil.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. I would ask you if you had a farm with a few sand hills, and containing a few acres of land with some peat moss or earth deposits at the other end of the farm, which would you prefer—barn-yard manure or those deposits to put on the sand hills or gravel ridges?—A. I should be inclined to put on some of both. From the alluvial deposits you would not get an immediate return. You would improve the tilth of the soil and get some return, but it would be a slow one. The action of the atmosphere and of the rains would be gradually rendering the soil more and more fertile, but you would not get the immediate result that you would get from barn-yard manure, though if you used barn-yard manure alone in sufficient quantities to perfect the mechanical condition of the soil, I venture to say that you would have too strong a soil, and one also which leached and wasted its fertility easily through excessive drainage. You would not have that condition of tilth which would be in the highest degree beneficial to most forms of crops at the least cost by the use of barn-yard manure alone. Such a sandy or gravelly soil would require mineral fertilizers as well, which would not be supplied in any quantities by the application of either black muck or born-yard manure. The addition of marl and wood ashes would be advantageous.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. You spoke of the farmers adopting some other system of clearing their land. What system would you adopt?—A. I have no system to recommend. What I should like to emphasize is the necessity of using very great care. The greatest possible precaution should be exercised to see that the fires do not spread. I know in many instances that such care has not been taken. The soil, left with only its mineral constituents, (phosphoric acid and potash), is of little value. It is the nitrogen that is destroyed by fire, and its presence is absolutely necessary in a soil for farm crops.

By Mr. Ferguson (Renfrew) :

Q. Is there any fertilizing value in coal ashes?—A. No; at least, it is so infinitely small that coal ashes are practically valueless, as a fertilizer. They, however, benefit clay soils by improving their tilth.

By Mr. McGregor :

Q. Are leached ashes of any value?—A. That depends upon the extent to which they have been leached. If they are thoroughly leached they are only valuable for the lime they contain and about 1 per cent. of potash, besides some phosphoric acid.

By Mr. McDonald :

Q. I suppose pine ashes would have the same value as other woods?—A. No; not necessarily. The ashes of different woods vary in their composition. Pine ashes are said to contain a smaller percentage of potash than those of some other forest trees.

Q. Would they have about the same effect?—A. No; not unless they contained an equal amount of potash. The ashes analysed were from a large number of woods—maple, beech, &c.—all hardwoods, I believe.

Q. Is it not very dependent on the degree of heat to which the wood is subjected as to the amount of fertilizing material that would be retained?—A. You mean as to the volatilization. I believe you can volatilize it, but I doubt very much if you could do so in the ordinary furnace in which ashes are produced.

Q. But in any furnace?—A. Oh, yes, such is possible. I have a furnace at the laboratory that would volatilize ashes to some extent.

Q. I am familiar with the question of sawdust and ashes. We have had some experience in using sawdust for bedding purposes and then using it on the soil. We found that in using sawdust that had been employed as a bedding for cattle that it would destroy vegetation altogether?—A. I do not know what that may be due to. It might be due to the sawdust, or you might have made it too rich. Of course, it takes a certain time for decomposition to take place and if you put the sawdust on too thick you have got too much wood, which would choke vegetation.

Q. My experience is, that the degree of heat is tremendous in our furnaces, and yet our pine ashes have been found to be very valuable as a fertilizer?—A. I have no doubt. I wanted to say that we have not yet any data as to the composition of pure ashes from different woods. I hope some time to be able to take the Canadian woods and analyze their ashes, and thus obtain the relative value of ashes from the different woods of the country. My chief object in bringing this matter up is, that by the publication of this evidence the Canadian farmer and horticulturist may be led to enquire into and experiment upon the value of the wood ashes produced in this country as a fertilizer. It seems remarkable that Canadian ashes can be sold in the Eastern States for three times the price that they can be sold for in this country. There is very little demand here, yet they are eagerly snatched up, in Massachusetts, by the farmers.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. You have received soil from the various parts of the Dominion?—A. Yes; our object was to ascertain the quality and value of the soil in those districts from which they were obtained.

Q. Did you get a statement from the parties?—A. Yes; we were careful to get very particular statements. We got samples of the surface and the sub-soil. We learned the character of the woods grown on that soil, and all other particulars relating to the soil sent. Before analysis we ascertain, as far as possible, that the samples to be examined are thoroughly representative.

Q. Otherwise you would have no criterion, because in Muskoka you would get the washing for centuries—the washings of the fertile soils of the mountains down into the valleys. A pot full of that soil would be different from the soil around it?—A. Full particulars are published with the analysis as to the character and history of every soil examined.

By Mr. McMillan:

Q. You spoke of the soil from Quebec having little nitrogen in it, and yet it seemed to be fertile. I suppose the difference was that the nitrogen was in a soluble state?—A. I was speaking only of the white soil from Lake Témiscamingue. I have no doubt that there are some soils in Quebec quite as rich in nitrogen as those in the North-West, but I wanted to point out that the sample which had been analysed from this particular district—and I took care to name the district—did not equal in this respect the soils that had been sent from the North-West. The soils that have been obtained from the North-West are particularly rich in nitrogen. That is a noticeable feature of them.

Q. Can you tell the amount of plant food in each sample of soil that is available, or can you only tell the quantity that is there, perhaps some of it locked up?—A. I will explain that as far as I can: Chemical analysis will tell us the total amount of plant food in the soil but cannot tell the exact amount that is available for immediate use. We can ascertain by analysis whether any element is there in excess or whether it is lacking. We can tell the amount of nitrogen that is available as a whole; but as to the length of time within which it would be available we cannot say. The same is true of any other food constituent for plants. If it is not there we cannot make it available, but if it is we can render it available. Rains and the atmosphere are continually doing this useful work, but it can be hastened by artificial means.

Fodders.

I now come to my third division, namely, fodders. The chief work that has been done in this division has been in the analyses of grasses. At the Central Experimental Farm, under the supervision of Mr. Fletcher, a large number of native Canadian grasses are grown. Last summer I analysed 52 samples of these native grasses. Many of these varieties were taken at two stages of their growth in order to ascertain the right time for cutting them for preservation as hay. The results of the analyses also show their relative nutritive value. The work has been tabulated, but it has not been published, because I have some forty yet to analyse, which have been prepared under certain conditions and are awaiting further treatment. To complete this work, grasses have also been collected at our Experimental Farms at Brandon and Indian Head, respectively, from the analysis of which we hope to ascertain whether there is any difference in the composition in the grasses grown at either of these points, due either to soil or climatic influences—that is, whether there is any difference in their value as cattle food. This series of experiments is being undertaken because we have understood that cattle on the plains fatten much quicker than here, and it may be due to the greater nutritive character of the grasses.

Chemical changes in grasses, in course of development.

There is one point which has been elucidated in connection with these grasses, and that is with regard to the time of cutting them. As I say, we have 52 analyses completed, and many of them show the composition of the same grasses in different stages of their growth. We have found that when the grasses have been allowed to ripen fully there has been a great loss of albuminoids. The albuminoids are the part of the fodder which constitute its chief nutritive value, the flesh-forming part. By allowing a grass to pass the flowering stage there is a loss in these albuminoids, and consequently the grass depreciates in value as food. At the same time, a great deal of the fibre of the fodder becomes hard and indigestible, and therefore I can clearly point out, as the result of analyses, that it becomes advisable to cut the grass—perhaps not all grasses, but the majority of them—while they are flowering or before the seed has fully formed. I have brought a table with me of these analyses, and I will make one or two extracts, to illustrate what I have said.

The Committee will understand that the albuminoids are the most valuable constituents of the food; next are the fats; then in order the carbo-hydrates, and finally, or the least valuable, the fibre. Now if we take timothy when it is just spearing we find it contains 17 per cent. of albuminoids, but after the seed has ripened it contains only 8 per cent. We have here a very large diminution in the amount of albuminoids. In June grass the albuminoids are 18 per cent. while in flower, but they have decreased to 10 per cent. when the seed is ripe.

By Mr. Fairbairn :

Q. Will you tell us about the red clover?—A. My table applies to grasses only. I have not as yet analysed any clovers.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. What becomes of that diminution?—A. It is lost, to a very great extent. There is a migration, as the plant matures, of the albuminoids in the stem and of the leaf to the seed, and then if the seed ripens and falls you have lost a great part of the nourishment the grass contained.

By Mr. O'Brien :

Q. Did you ever see experiments with the brown grasses? The result was to show that the timothy was more valuable with the seed in it, after the seed had ripened than before?—A. If the seed is left in the plants.

Q. Yes.—A. I do not know that you can preserve it with all the seed in it. There have been some careful experiments made to test this. We have made experiments ourselves in this direction, and we have discovered that a great amount of the albuminoids has been lost by allowing the grass to proceed to maturity.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Would you recommend the cutting of timothy when it is first blooming?—A. About the right time would be when it is in bloom. The growth of different grasses varies much, but still it is well marked throughout that as the seed is formed and ripens there is a diminution of the total amount of albuminoids in the plant.

By Mr. Rowand :

Q. Does timothy bloom more than once?—A. I cannot answer that positively, but I think not. Do you mean on the same stalk?

Q. Yes; when it comes in bloom first.—A. I think Mr. Craig would be better able to answer that question.

Mr. CRAIG.—I think there is what is commonly called among farmers the second bloom of timothy. I examined a number of heads with Mr. Fletcher this season. First of all, there comes a pinkish colour, and then after the pollen has been shed this fades away and is followed by the lighter colour, which is called the second bloom. Without having examining the matter very closely, this seems to be the reason for speaking of the second bloom of timothy.

Mr. TROW.—There is evidently a change in the colour of the bloom in a few days.

Mr. CRAIG.—In the spike of flowers some may bloom at different periods. In a spike of timothy it is the one at the top which blooms last, and the one at the bottom may be one or two days earlier.

By Mr. Gordon :

Q. Have you made any experiments in regard to the bunch grass of British Columbia?—A. Not yet. There are so many so-called bunch grasses that I do not know exactly which your question refers to. Is it peculiar to British Columbia?

Q. Yes.—A. I have not analysed any British Columbian grasses as yet.

Indian corn, constituents of at different stages of growth.

Now I come to the next subject, which is Indian Corn. In Bulletin No. 12, the results of the analyses made in our laboratories, of Indian corn grown on the Farm will be found tabulated. Indian corn, as you are aware, has become the fodder plant of this country, especially since the silo has been introduced. The first result of our work was, that we found as the corn plant matured there was a very large increase of a dry matter in the plant. The water in corn generally runs from 75 to 80 per cent., and is of no value. The value of the corn plant as a fodder chiefly consists in the amount of the dry organic matter which it contains, and secondarily in the composition of that dry matter—that is to say, the extent to which albuminoids, fats and carbo-hydrates occur. The plants which we experimented on were of different varieties and were cut at two stages of their growth. We found, that it would be more advantageous to allow the corn plant to mature, that is to say, to come to the glazing stage, before cutting for the silo, than to cut it at a period previous to that time. That is the chief result which has been brought out by our experiments and analyses and there is ample data to support the advice here given. We are following up that line of experiments this year, and in connection with the Dairy Commissioner we are experimenting with four varieties—Longfellow, Pearce's Prolific, Red Cob Ensilage and Thoroughbred White Flint. These experiments consist in growing the plants in rows 3 feet apart. We shall take 100 feet of two rows at five stages of growth from a part of the field which represents, as near as possible, a fair average of the whole. The weight will be recorded and the composition ascertained. From that we shall be able to deduce the value of the the corn crop at different stages of its growth in these varieties, and show the gain or increase in weight per acre at the different stages. This will of course be of very great value to those growing corn for fodder purposes, as it will enable them to know what are the best varieties—those varieties which give the greatest yield per acre—and also the time at which the largest amount of dry matter is present.

By Dr. Roome :

Q. Would climatic influence have any effect on the nutritive qualities of this plant?—A. The analyses of last year show that the variation in composition between the varieties is exceedingly small. The difference are principally in the weight or the yield per acre and the amount of dry matter. We are endeavouring to ascertain the variety of ensilage corn which will produce the greatest amount of solid matter the largest yield per acre, and to learn the best method of growing it.

By Mr. Trow.

Q. Regardless of its feeding properties?—A. Yes; because, as I say, the analyses show the composition of these corns is exceedingly close, and therefore it is advantageous to grow a corn which will come to maturity and give a heavy yield per acre.

Following up the analyses of varieties of Indian corn as fodder, we have also analysed the ensilage produced from them, and as a deduction from our last year's work, I may say that, between the ensilage and the corn which produced it, chemical data show but little difference in the feeding value. Our last annual report also contains analyses of linseed meal, germ meal and cotton-seed cake used on the Farm, which will be found of value to stock feeders.

Sugar beets grown in Canada,—analysis of.

I may now refer briefly to sugar beets, a considerable quantity of which have been grown and examined during the past two years. Most of the sugar beets that have been examined at the laboratory were grown from seed imported from Germany by Mr. Wilfred Skaife, of Montreal, at his own expense. The seeds were distributed amongst the farmers of Ontario by Mr. R. H. Lauder, of Toronto, who collected the roots and forwarded them for analysis to our laboratory. We received very few samples during the first year, but two years ago we analysed 25 samples, and the average quantity of sugar in the juice was  $14\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. Last year, 1890, 68 samples were sent to us, selected by Mr. Lauder in the same way from seed supplied by Mr. Skaife. The results were lower, the average being  $12\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. sugar in the juice. I do not know whether this diminished sugar content was due to the season, the defective preparation of the ground or the seed. This year we shall continue the work and make further tests in culture and sugar-content of beets grown on the Experimental Farm and elsewhere. It is most essential that the beets receive a thorough cultivation during the earlier stages of growth, and the root be kept covered as it matures. Sugar beets have been grown in France that contain a very high percentage of sugar. The Vilmorins, of Paris, have produced varieties of sugar beets containing over 20 per cent. of sugar, and I believe it is possible to grow beets in many parts of this country containing 17 per cent. of sugar. We have analysed number of samples containing over this amount. I have no hesitation in saying, that in many parts of the Dominion, sugar beets can be grown containing sufficient sugar to make its extraction profitable.

Q. At the present price of sugar?—A. I am not speaking with regard to the price of sugar in the market, nor of the price of the labour necessary for the cultivation of the beet; but I state that it is my belief that beets can be grown containing sufficient sugar to make the extraction of the latter profitable, provided the other factors are favourable.

By Mr. Bain:

Q. How did the low grades run—below 12 per cent.?—A. Those were very few. I found that 60 per cent. of the samples yielded over 12 per cent. of sugar, and 38 per cent. of the samples yielded over 13 per cent.

By Mr. Bain:

Q. Where were the low grades grown?—A. There were very few that ran below 12 per cent. I should have to refer to my report for 1890 to ascertain the exact localities in which they were grown.

By Mr. McMillan:

Q. Did you ascertain, with respect to the preservation, whether those that were the best in sugar-content, were the best cultivated?—A. Yes; as far as I was able with the particulars at my command. The yield of sugar in the beet depends largely upon the cultivation it receives and the quality and variety of the seed. Then, again, the soil is an important factor in the successful cultivation of the sugar beet. You cannot get good roots containing a proper quality of sugar and a high coefficient of purity without the right kind of soil—that is, a suitable soil, in a good mechanical condition. By "coefficient of purity" I mean the percentage of sugar in the total solid matter of the juice. The profitable extraction of the sugar does not entirely depend upon the actual percentage of sugar. For example, let us take two samples, one containing 12 per cent. and another 14 per cent. It might be more expensive to extract the sugar from the latter than from the former, owing to the root possessing a lower coefficient of purity than the beet with 12 per cent.

of sugar. If the roots are not properly grown, certain albuminoid substances are developed in the beet which make it difficult for the sugar manufacturers to separate the sugar from the juice. It is advisable, therefore, that those about to grow sugar beets should first acquaint themselves with the proper methods of cultivation, the soils most suitable, and the best varieties to grow. By so doing a great measure of success may be ensured. In many instances failure has resulted from treating the sugar beet like any ordinary root crop. I cannot, as my time is running to a close, speak more exhaustively on this matter, but you will find, in my annual report of last year, directions, in a condensed form, necessary for the successful cultivation of the sugar beet.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Have you made any inquiry as to the cost of the machinery for necessary refining? I am told that it is very expensive—that it costs thousands of dollars?—A. Yes, it does; but that inquiry does not come within my province. I consider that it would be advisable for the Government to take into their earnest consideration the advisability of appointing a commission that could inquire into the whole matter of the growth of the beets and the production of sugar. The commission should consist of practical men and experts who would consider it from a practical and financial point of view, and some scientific men who would do the chemical part of the work. To make the proper deductions it is necessary to know accurately all the factors of growth, and these are not always obtainable from the average farmer. By a right choice of seed and soil, by a correct application of proper fertilizers, by a thorough cultivation and careful harvesting, and the analysis of the product, valuable data would be obtained as to the desirability of this industry for Canada. The cost of labour and the price of sugar will undoubtedly be serious considerations in working out this question. An important matter in the management of the crop that I forgot to allude to is, that the beets should be grown so close to one another in the row that they do not exceed 1 lb. to 2 lbs. in weight, and that the rows should be 18 inches apart. By these means a richer juice is obtained and the larger number of roots per acre compensates for their small size.

Q. The richest beet is in the form of a carrot?—A. Yes; but you find the shape differs somewhat according to the variety, and there are a great many varieties. The whole matter is one of great importance, and as yet nothing has been done towards the systematic and scientific threshing out of it. I have not touched upon what I may call the secondary advantages of sugar beet culture, including the improvement of the soil and the value of the pulp from the mill as a fodder for milk cattle. Allusion to them will be found in the report I have already referred to.

Milking stock : quality of milk from different breeds.

With regard to milk: In the report for 1890 will be found the composition of the milk of the different breeds that are kept at the Central Experimental Farm—Shorthorns, Jerseys, Holsteins, Ayrshires, Polled Angus, and Grades. We did this work in order to obtain, if possible, standards of richness for the milks of the different breeds, for future reference. We found, as a result, that there is a great deal of variation in the quality of the milk between the individuals of each breed. Although the Jerseys stand at the head of the list as giving on an average the richest milk, yet we have found individuals of other breeds exceeding in the quality of their milk cows of this noted dairy breed. Cows of the same breed vary greatly in regard to the percentage of fat in their milk; and at short intervals, we find the quality of the milk of the same cow varies.

By Mr. Davin :

Q. The quality in the same animal?—A. Yes. What I mean to say is this: That I found very frequently greater difference between two individuals of the same breed than I found between individuals of two different breeds. The breeds have their special characteristics; yet there are individual characteristics in some cows which are strong enough to overcome them to a great extent.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. Have you observed, under the same treatment, whether a whole herd varies in the richness of the milk, or is it only in individual animals?—A. I have no data from which to draw any conclusions as to that matter. Not only the quantity, but the quality of the milk depends on the food, the individual characteristics of the cow the time she has calved, the period in calf, and her nervous temperament.

By Dr. Ferguson (Leeds and Grenville) :

Q. What influence do the powers of digestion have on the milk?—A. The cow with the greatest digestion will give the most milk, if she be of a dairy breed.

By Dr. Roome :

Q. But it does not increase the quality of the milk?—A. No; not necessarily.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. Do you consider this improved quality of the food will have an immediate effect on the quality of the milk—say, within a week or so?—A. I think so—within a week.

By Dr. Roome :

Q. You think a cow kept in good condition will give a better quality of milk than one which is not?—A. Undoubtedly.

Methods of testing the value of milk.

I wish to bring before you some further work done in regard to a method for quickly and readily ascertaining the quantity of fat in milk. As most of you, gentlemen, are aware, milk is purchased in the creameries and cheese factories by weight, which, not being relative to the fat it contains, does not give a criterion as to its value. The value of milk depends on the amount of solid constituents it contains, chief among which is the butter fat. While we can, with a great deal of accuracy, determine the percentage of fat in the laboratory, it has been difficult until now for the dairymen and cheese-makers to ascertain the richness of milk. Dr. Babcock, of Wisconsin, has devised a method which enables any intelligent man, after short practice, to readily ascertain the value of milk by determining the percentage of fat it contains. It will be possible in the future, after the system has become thoroughly known, to introduce a scale by which milk may be bought and sold according to the richness in fat and solid constituents. By this system, a man bringing milk to a factory containing 5 per cent. of fat will obtain more per pound than the man bringing milk containing  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. At the present time, the lactometer and similar instruments are used; they serve to demonstrate whether the milk has been grossly adulterated or not, but the results are often fallacious, and, as a rule, they are unsatisfactory to both buyer and seller. The variations in the qualities of genuine milk are not recorded by these instruments. When the Babcock method has been introduced throughout the country (the Dairy Commissioner has supplied his instructors with them, who are explaining their use and value),—and when the people have gained faith in the test, which, I think, will not take long, there will be a far better system for buying and selling milk than at present in vogue. If by the present system fraud is not encouraged, at any rate it is not always found out, and the man who keeps scrub cows and does not feed them well gets the same price for his milk as the man that keeps good cattle, feeds them well, and supplies a rich milk to the creameries and factories. By the Babcock test reliable results can be obtained. Our laboratory experiments published in Bulletin 4, of the Dairy Series, show that the Babcock results are within  $\frac{1}{4}$  of 1 per cent. of the truth, so that this method may be looked upon as reliable and accurate. By its introduction the farmers will be encouraged to keep better cows and to feed them better, and there will fail to be any object for a man to adulterate his milk with water, because such would simply mean that he will team the water to the factory at his own expense. If the milk is found to contain 2 per cent. of fat the farmer will be paid according to that quantity of fat; if it gives a greater percentage of this constituent he will be paid accordingly.

By Mr. O'Brien :

Q. Professor Robertson told us the complete opposite of what you have said in regard to the qualities of the food. He told us that the quality of the food made no difference in the quality of the milk, until after the constitution of the cow had been entirely changed.—A. I am sorry that I did not hear Professor Robertson; I should regret to contradict so eminent an authority. Did he say as to what length of time?

Q. Not less than a year.—A. The data I have had reference to do not point to that conclusion. However, I do not propose to set myself up as an authority on this question, especially against Professor Robertson; and further, I should greatly like to see what he said before criticizing his evidence. I advise you to accept what he says, but I am of a different opinion.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. I am of your opinion, Mr. Shutt, but I think that is one point on which you can make very interesting experiments at the Central Farm?—A. My authority is German, principally. I said that our own experiments did not give us sufficient date to draw conclusions from. I spoke on very good authority, but the facts were not obtained on our own farm. Personally, I have been of that opinion. I believe in much less time than a week the quality of the milk of many cows would be materially richer by improved feeding, but in order to be on the safe side I put it at that period. I will now direct the attention of the Committee to another branch of the work which is of considerable interest.

Preventive remedies for smut in wheat.

As a preventative remedy for smut in the North-West, a solution of copper sulphate or bluestone is recommended and largely used for treating the seed wheat. This is done for the purpose of killing the germs of the hard smut or bunt. Two years ago we received from Winnipeg a sample of bluestone which contained sulphate of iron as well as sulphate of copper, with a request that it be analysed. It was sold under the name of "agricultural bluestone." The price of it was much lower than pure sulphate of copper, and it was thought that if it were as efficacious for the treatment of smut as the sulphate of copper, its introduction and use would be a great boon to the farmer. I first instituted experiments at the Farm here to ascertain what effect solutions of sulphate of iron and sulphate of copper had upon the germinating power of the seed. Following up these experiments, I found that while under certain conditions the sulphate of iron had very little effect upon the germ of the seed, the sulphate of copper under certain conditions had a deleterious effect. I repeated this experiment once or twice in order to make quite certain of the result. I thought it would be well to pursue the experiments further, in order to ascertain if the sulphate of iron was as effective as the sulphate of copper for the prevention of smut, because, if so, there would be less loss in the vitality of the wheat so treated than in that treated in the usual manner. This form of smut rarely develops here, so I am continuing these experiments this year at Brandon and Indian Head, where, of course, the smut is often prevalent. I am experimenting on seed treated with sulphate of iron, seed treated with sulphate of copper and seed treated with a mixture of the two, comparing them with the same varieties sown without treatment; by these experiments we shall find out to what extent the smut has been diminished by the various forms of treatment. This, I consider, is an important problem in the North-West, on the solution of which some time may be very well spent

Various solutions and their properties.

By Mr. Watson :

Q. What quantity would you use to the bushel?—A. The solution we made had the strength of 1 pound to the 8 gallons. I soaked the seed for 46 hours in this solution, and then ascertained its vitality. In the case of sulphate of copper I found that its vitality had been greatly lowered. In the case of sulphate of iron but little or no injury had been done to the germ of the wheat. In the case of agricultural bluestone the figures were half-way between the two. For instance, the percentage of vitality in the untreated seed was 97.5 and that treated with agricultural bluestone, 64. The percentage of vitality in that treated with sulphate of copper alone was 40. I thought that this treatment was rather severe, and I proceeded to ascertain what the effect on the wheat germ would be by simply sprinkling the seed with the solution. I found that when using a solution of sulphate of iron the vitality was not affected at all. With regard to "agricultural bluestone," I found the percentage to be 79.5 and with sulphate of copper 72.5; these were the results as far as they went last year. The experiment is being continued this year. Owing to no smut being developed on the plots here last year, I cannot say as to the value of these solutions for destroying it—that is, I can give no opinion regarding the relative efficacy of sulphate of iron and sulphate of copper for this purpose.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. What effect would dry ashes sprinkled upon the grain on the barn floor have as against smut?—A. It has been recommended, but I have no data with respect to it. Sulphate of copper is a very old and very reliable remedy. What we wanted to ascertain was whether sulphate of iron, which is a cheaper article, would answer as well or better. My experiments have pointed to the fact that sulphate of copper is injurious to the germ of the wheat if allowed to remain in contact with the grain, and therefore, if sulphate of iron is as efficacious, it would be better to use it.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. Have you tried the effect of salt brine?—A. It has been tried at the farm, but I have no data with me. They have also tried boiling water, and allowing the seed to remain in contact with water at different temperatures for greater or longer periods; but I have not the data with me.

By Mr. Roome :

Q. Have you ever tried the sulphate of soda?—A. I have not tried it. It might have an injurious effect on the vitality of the wheat or it might not.

Q. It has proved efficacious in human subjects, and it might be equally so on vegetable substances. How would it compare with regard to cost—how does the sulphur in it act?—A. I do not know what the difference would be in the item of expense, nor do I know in what way the sulphur in these compounds becomes the active agent. It is very difficult to say. In sulphate of copper it is not the sulphur which does the work; it is the whole compound. Sulphate of soda is a germicide, and consequently might be useful for killing the smut.

Q. But it would seem that all these sulphur compounds work pretty much in the same way?—A. Yes; it seems so. For that reason, gas lime might be an efficacious remedy.

Honey—foundation comb.

To continue, I would refer to what has been done with regard to "foundation comb." A year ago last June we received a communication from the Messrs. Jones, of Beeton, accompanied by samples which they thought were adulterated, although it was sold as pure beeswax. Not only is paraffine cheaper than beeswax, but under the influence of the heat of the summer season it melts very easily. This particular "foundation comb" was found to completely break down in the hives during the summer, often causing great loss of brood and honey. By our work in the laboratory we exposed the fraud. In one sample we found 60 per cent. of paraffine, and in others 40 and 30 per cent. Our results were published in the Bee Journal, and the effect was salutary. No adulterated foundation comb has been found in Canada since. The man who sold the comb said he got it from the States. Subsequently I got a letter from Dr. Wiley, Chief of the Chemical Staff at Washington, who said he was preparing a bulletin on foundation comb. He said he had seen my report, but in all his investigations he had not found a single case of adulteration. I have mentioned this work of ours as being of considerable interest and value to the honey industry.

Well Waters.

I spoke somewhat briefly on the subject of well waters when I had the honour of addressing the Committee on the last occasion. We offered to make analyses of well water for farmers free of expense, if they prepaid the express charges, reporting to them as to the wholesomeness of the supply. Although we have hitherto done this, there undoubtedly will come a time when, on account of the vast amount of work, we can no longer do this work free of expense; but in order to awaken the interest of the farmer to the necessity of pure water for himself and stock, we have so far thought well to do it. The importance of wholesome water on the farm is very great; but water not being a marketable commodity, very little attention seems to have been given to it. I find that wells in many instances have been sunk in the centre of barn-yards, and as a result they act as mere cesspools for gathering the pollution of the neighbourhood. I do not know whether it is because only sick people go to the doctors, but I can assure you that I only get the worst of waters to analyse. Nearly all the waters I have examined are unfit and dangerous to drink. If the waters I receive in the laboratory for analysis are any indication of the quality of the water, generally consumed, I can only say that it is high time most of our people sought a different supply. My time for addressing you, gentlemen, has expired. I have not been able to deal with as many subjects connected with my department as I should have liked to have done, nor have I been able to go at all into detail, but I shall be glad to answer any questions with regard to any of the phases of the work that may be put to me.

Stacked corn as a substitute for ensilage.

By Mr. Ferguson :

Q. There is one question of considerable importance to farmers, especially to smaller farmers. How does the nutrition of corn preserved in racks or stacks compare with that preserved in silos?—A. We have no data at the Experimental Farm from actual feeding experiments to enable me to answer that question.

Q. Give us your opinion?—A. There is an immense amount of conflicting testimony in regard to the value of dry corn fodder as compared with that of ensilage. There is a loss of albuminoids to some extent in ensilage. These constitute the most nutritious portion of a fodder, as you will remember. Also, there is in the silo a tendency for some of the starch and other carbo-hydrates to be converted into organic compounds of a doubtful food value; so that there is a loss on these two points. But on the other hand, the corn is probably rendered, by the process of fermentation in the silo, more digestible. In the case of dry fodder corn, the fibre becomes to a large extent indigestible. I myself am in favour of well kept ensilage. It is a succulent food, greatly relished by the cattle, and, if properly preserved, it is very digestible. A great deal depends upon the manner of preservation. I believe that corn ensilage deteriorates very little if properly packed, and the air thoroughly excluded.

By Mr. Ferguson :

Q. Do you think that corn kept in stacks does not deteriorate very perceptibly?—A. Yes. A part of it becomes indigestible, and indigestible food counts for nothing for the nourishment of cattle.

The chemistry of tree culture.

By Mr. Fairbairn :

Q. Have you had the question of tree culture brought under your attention at all?—A. Yes; and it is one that I deem of great importance. In the relation of chemistry to horticulture, I have done some work—principally in connection with fertilizers for apple orchards. Before the Dominion Fruit Growers' Association, held in Ottawa, February, 1890, I read a paper on the composition of the leaves, the result of analytical research. I took the leaves of five or six varieties of apple trees at different stages of growth, and found out what they extracted from the ground in the way of nutriment, and the amount of these elements. It is of importance to find out what food the trees require, and by analysis we ascertain facts of great value towards this end. The result of that work is given in detail in the report for 1890, and I would like to refer those interested in the subject to that report. In it is clearly shown the amount of mineral organic matter that the leaves take from the soil. We find that the leaves contain a large amount of potash, and consequently wood ashes would be a very beneficial fertilizer to use in orchards. I propose, as time allows, to make a complete analysis of the different parts of the apple trees—leaves, stem and fruit.

By Mr. Gordon :

Q. How about coal ashes. Are they of any value?—A. No; coal ashes are very good for improving the tilth of the soil, but the amount of their fertilizing constituents is so small that you need hardly take it into consideration.

By Mr. Fairbairn :

Q. In the cultivation of fruit a good deal depends upon the soil. For instance, there are some sections where you can grow peaches successfully, and others where you can grow pears. There are others where you cannot grow pears at all. Is it not possible to devise some means of issuing a bulletin advising farmers how to grow pears?—A. It may be that some of the diseases that have worked so much damage elsewhere have come into the parts you refer to, and are rampant; or it might be that the soil has become to a great extent exhausted of those elements of fertility required by trees, if the trees have been grown a great many years on the same spot. A bulletin could not be issued upon this subject to cover the Dominion at once. It would take us some years to make the necessary observations.

By Mr. McMillan :

Q. With reference to these fodders and the presence of albuminoids, that you referred to before, I suppose there is a period in the growth of the plant when it (the plant) will be more nutritious than others. The riper it is, the poorer will be the straw and the richer the grain; but I suppose there will be a proper time to get most nutrition from the grain and seed?—A. The period would vary for different plants, but in most instances it should be just before it is thoroughly ripened.

Having read the preceding transcript of my evidence, I find it correct.

FRANK T. SHUTT,

Chemist, Dominion Experimental Farms.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, COMMITTEE ROOM 46,

FRIDAY, 21st August, 1891.

The Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization in Session.

Mr. SPROULE, Chairman, presiding.

J. GORDON MOWAT, Climatologist, was called and examined on the climatology of Canada in its relation to Agriculture and Horticulture. Mr. Mowatt, addressing the Committee, said :—

I have to thank you for the opportunity you have given me to day, of presenting my views on a matter which I think has a very important bearing on the experimental work so ably conducted throughout the Dominion by our Agricultural Department, and also, on the interest of the settlers in our new districts, and of the fruit-growers of the older provinces of the Dominion. The matter about which I wish to speak is the application of climatology to agriculture. There is a particular necessity for this in Canada. Many of the climates of the old world are comparatively well known, and fruit growing has been carried almost as far towards its colder boundary as it can be. Even in the western parts of Siberia the climate is fully known, and several leading features officially charted, but on this continent we know too little of what our climate really is and to what extent it affects our agricultural capacity.

Origins of the present Fruit Trees grown in Canada.

Our fruit trees have been brought from the west of Europe, where, for a thousand years they have been accustomed to mild winters, and they are intolerant of the cold of the northern and north eastern parts of this continent where fruits accustomed to the severe winters of northern Asia and Eastern Europe would flourish. Our apple trees are more tender than the apple trees of Eastern Russia. Our leading grape, which yields more prolifically than the grape of western Europe, is a recent development from our wild grape, the vinus labrusca. The grape of western Europe, vinus vinifera, will not endure our cold winters; in which respect it is not unlike some of the other fruits introduced from Europe. If we knew the many climates of our own country corresponding to the various climates of Europe and northern Asia, we could put under tribute the whole of the temperate parts of the old world, from northern China, westwards, and introduce with less waste or effort, and much earlier results, new forms of vegetation that would be profitable to our fruit-growers and farmers throughout our colder and more northern districts. We have found out, for example, that the Russian apricot is harder than any variety we know of on this continent. The apple trees of Eastern Russia are found to be hardier, and it may be that in Eastern Siberia we may secure still hardier forms. It would be well that we should know the exact climate in which particular Russian apples succeed or reach their northern limit. St. Petersburg does not give us the hardest apples. Moscow has severer winters; while around Nijni Novgorod the winter climate approaches the severity of Winnipeg, and yet apples succeed there. We can scarcely look for good results from the introduction of apples from St. Petersburg into climates colder in the winter than that of Ottawa. St. Petersburg is not colder in winter than Ottawa; but the district of Nijni Novgorod, much further south than St. Petersburg, compares with our winter climate about as far north as the *height of land. There is another reason why the climate of Canada should be investigated in detail. The Province of Ontario has a larger variety of local climate than any other level country of similar extent on the face of the globe. This is owing to the action of the great lakes, and also to the small lakes, which exercise a very important local influence. We have between the north shore of Lake Superior and the north shore of Lake Erie as great difference in the mean temperature of winter as there is between the mean winter temperature of the shore of Lake Erie and the shores of the Gulf of Mexico. We have summers as cool as those of the north of Scotland, and summers as warm as those of central and much of Southern France; summers as warm as in the north of Italy, and warmer than the coast of Portugal, are found in some parts of southern Ontario and British Columbia. It may be easily seen how we could lay eastern Europe under tribute to us, from the fact that Bucharest, in Roumania, has a temperature differing but little either in summer or winter from that of Toronto. That is the country from which we might hope for the introduction of valuable varieties of the millet and other grains, as well as fruits. It is a country which has developed agriculture considerably, and its productions are well worthy of being considered, because of the similarity of the climates of much of South-eastern Europe to that of a part of Canada.

*“The height of land”—the ridge which separates the great water-shed of the St. Lawrence, to the North and East, from the Slope facing Hudson’s Bay.

Variety of climatic conditions in British Columbia.

British Columbia is another country which shows a very remarkable variety of climate, apart even from its differences in altitude. At the experimental farm at Agassiz, which fairly represents the coast climate of the Lower Fraser, the summer is that of the south or the middle of England—and the summer is a good long one, of about 200 days between the last killing frost of Spring and the first frost of Autumn. Ninety miles further up the Thompson River we have a summer a little cooler than that of Cincinnati, and warmer than the summer of Los Angeles, in Southern California. The excess over Agassiz is, in July, 14 or 15 degrees. The ordinary winter is not too severe for the peach and vine. Further up the river, in Kamloops, the weather is a little colder, but still the peach is grown. The very small rainfall is a drawback in the Thompson valley; still, irrigation is managed along that river at a cost often not exceeding $2 per acre. Southern California, famous for its great resources in fruits, entirely depends on irrigation. Of the Okanagan valley we know too little. There are few records of climatic observations, and very little is known of its capability for various agricultural productions, except from the inadequate reports of travellers and recent settlers. We can guess somewhat of the nature of its climate from the fact that its level above the sea is not higher than Guelph. The Arrow Lake and Kootenay valleys are but slightly higher. The Okanagan Valley has a breadth of arable land of twenty-six miles in some places. Its climate varies exceedingly. Into one part of the valley, probably sufficient of the moisture of the Pacific penetrates to allow farming to be carried on without irrigation, while other parts are largely excluded by intervening mountains from its rainfall. One part, owing to local topography, may escape very severe extremes of cold in winter, while other parts, owing to the neighbourhood of wide plateaus in the direction of the cold winds, may have short periods of cold almost as severe as those of the North-West. There is some reason to hope that some parts of that valley will be found capable of growing the peach and the vine. How far fruit culture can be carried eastward from the coast we do not know, but there are the means of ascertaining in the consideration of topographical conditions as well as in the investigation of perhaps thirty or forty records taken at different times, to enable us to arrive at valuable and often accurate determinations as to the climatic capacity of inland British Columbia. Were the climate of the inland part of British Columbia, south of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway studied, the evidence afforded of agricultural capacity would be a revelation to the people of Eastern Canada. Besides its valleys, very much of this region is under an elevation of 1,600 feet—the height of northern Grey in western Ontario—and there are further large areas which do not reach up to 2,000 feet. In many places, especially where irrigation is practicable, we could hope for more or less profitable agriculture, and we could certainly hope for a great deal from fruit culture.

Climatology of Alberta.

Every one at all acquainted with Alberta knows that, there, a large variety of climate exists. In fact, every considerable section of the Dominion has, in greater or less degree, marked differences of climate. In illustration:—At Moose Fort, 9 miles from James' Bay, (on the average of four years for which I have made comparison of frostless seasons) there is an interval of 111 days between the last descent of the mercury to 32 degrees in spring, and the first descent to that point in autumn. This period is 14 days longer than at Beatrice, in Muskoka, three days longer than at Stony Mountain, Manitoba, 6 days longer than at Port Arthur, and combined with the average temperature of the growing season, indicates a considerable agricultural capacity. The influence of James' Bay which, being very shallow, is covered with ice in winter and warmed by the sun in summer, is to retard the spring and prolong summer and autumn. The first fall to 32 degrees at Moose Fort occurs, on the average, not until 28th September. Large differences exist in the length of the frostless season in the comparatively level area of peninsular Ontario. There are differences of about 50 days within 50 miles. At Woodstock the season between frosts (of 32 degrees) averages only 127 days. At Stratford, higher and more to the north, and also more within the influence of Lake Huron, the average is ten days longer. At Hamilton the period is 176 days, at Windsor 172, and at Pelee over 200. In Quebec, there is a difference between Montreal and Cranbourne, in the Eastern Townships, of 64 days. Sometimes in Ontario the width of a township, or even a distance of less than a mile, separates localities which, though sometimes nearly alike in their general temperature, differ a fortnight or even a month in the length of their frostless periods, and therefore differ very greatly in their capacity for growing certain vegetables and varieties of fruit and grain. Differences such as these—differences even of a few days—often control the ripening of new wood, and the question, sometimes, of whether or not a particular variety can be cultivated on the average with success. It is evident, therefore, that they should be considered in their relation to the growth of varieties of fruit and grain. By fixing, with as much precision as possible, the isotherm of the growing season, the length of the period between frosts and the extremes attained of winter cold, you would know if you could grow a particular variety of the apple, vine or peach in a particular locality, having certain conditions of climate, you might expect it to succeed on suitable soils, wherever else similar climatic conditions were mapped out. Readily all over the country, the northerly, or rather the cold limit of successful culture of any variety dependent on climate, could thus be ascertained. Besides aiding the experimental work of the Government, it would aid our farmers and scientific fruit-growers and save a very large amount of disappointment and wasted or misdirected effort. The excellent service done by the fruit-growers' associations could be greatly increased beyond present possibilities, because the work of testing varieties and their suitability to locality could be conducted on an intelligible basis, instead of with the uncertainty and sometimes misconception that must exist now. The associations at present have only a vague idea of the differences existing between our local climates, and it is very important to facilitate their work by affording them definite information as to these differences.

Effects of misconception of climate upon growing certain fruits.

Peach culture has been neglected in some localities, through a misconception as to the proper varieties to plant in particular climates, and the general capacity of western Ontario for this fruit has been underestimated. So far as climatic conditions are concerned, there is reason to think that on suitable soils, the cultivation of some variety or other of the peach is possible over an area in Ontario of nearly 9,000 square miles. The Crawford, which requires a mild climate, is grown along the shores of Lake Huron and even on the south shore of the Georgian Bay. Inland, as in the Grand River valley, below Galt, where the Crawford fails, orchards of hardy, white-fleshed varieties flourish. A knowledge of peculiarities of local climate would enable farmers to grow this fruit with success in very many inland localities, instead of concluding, as has been concluded in very many instances, that because a variety has been tried by some one and has failed, the local climate is wholly unsuitable for peach culture.

Inadequacy of ordinary isothermal lines to local requirements and conditions.

The ordinary isothermal line, drawn with a freehand, is useful in its way, but inadequate for the science of the fruit grower or experimenter. To be of greatest utility, isotherms should bend and twist with the topographical features of the country, the neighbourhood of the lakes, &c. The length of the frostless season should be indicated by lines and the average and extreme winter cold should also be indicated. With our leading fruit districts mapped in this way, fruit-growers could determine accurately what varieties of fruit to grow on certain soils, in certain localities, and experimental work could be conducted, not only with greater efficiency, but with much greater economy than otherwise would be possible. Determination as to the best varieties to be grown could be reached quickly, instead of requiring the waiting for a long process of years of testing, and after all, failure and disappointment of fair prospects through those occasional extreme irregularities of the weather which climatology could indicate as features of the climate. For mapping the climatic conditions in several large and important areas of the Dominion, there is abundance of material accumulated. For remote parts, where meteorological information is more or less scanty, there are considerations of topography and measurable influences known to climatology that would aid in arriving at valuable approximate conclusions. There are probably between 300 and 400 localities where records are or have been made for the meteorological service. Some of the information needed for agriculture has been published, but requires reduction to a common basis for comparison; other information, such as the length of the frostless season, could be obtained by investigation of the unpublished records.

Superiority of large districts in Ontario, for grape-growing, as compared with leading vine lands of Europe, in the quantity of wine produced per acre.

The great capacity of parts of Canada for fruit-growing and the great present development of the industry, and its greater future possibilities, urge the wisdom of the investigation suggested. As to what might be done in the development of some of our fruit industries, and as indications of our capabilities in fruit growing I may mention that from personal examination of our vineyards I have found that the average yield per acre of Ontario vineyards, planted with our common Concord grape, is about two and a-half times as great as anywhere in the old world. The average yield of French vineyards from 1852 to 1872, before the phylloxera prevailed, was about 199 gallons per acre. In no country in Europe, nor at the Cape, nor in Australia, is the average above 240 gallons. The average of the Concord vineyards of the Niagara and Lake Erie country is about 650 gallons per acre. This grape is considered in Europe an excellent claret grape, and has been largely introduced from America. In four Departments of the south of France there are 600,000 acres planted with the Concord. It was introduced from America as a stock for grafting because it was phylloxera-proof, but the growers soon found that it yielded wine of as good a quality as the European grape and more abundantly. In Portugal, too, they are now cultivating it freely. So successful has this grape been that it promises to become the principal claret grape of the world. I mention these facts to illustrate the great capability of Ontario for fruit. We now produce about a million gallons of claret, besides a large quantity of sweet wine. It is not improbable that within a short time, if the requisite care and attention are paid to developing this industry, the export of Canadian wine may rival in total value—and may far exceed in total profit—our cattle and cheese exports combined. Some of our vine-growers are making dry wines, well adapted in point of quality to secure a large demand in the British market. It is important, not only for the fruit-growers, but for the sake of encouraging the immigration of farmers, that our climatic capacity for fruit-growing should be known. The impression produced by publishing the actual facts of the case in Europe would be distinctly favourable in disabusing the minds of British farmers, of the misconceptions entertained in regard to Canada. A country that grows the vine is associated in their minds with the sunny lands of Europe. It is of interest to notice that at Vevay (near Geneva), one of the wine-producing centres of Europe, the mean temperature of the summer season is about that of much of Muskoka; Vienna, which is in a wine country, and further south than Tokay, one of the best wine districts in Europe, has a mean temperature (66.4 deg.) for the five warmest months, exactly the same as Hamilton, Ont. Windsor, Ont. (67.3), and Spence's Bridge, B. C., (68.1), have summers still warmer. Cotton has been grown on *Pelee Island for 20 years, and without the special manuring given in the back parts of the Carolinas to mature the crop before the frost comes. Pelee has a longer frostless season than much of the inland portion of the southern States. Facts such as these, are encouraging to fruit-growers in Canada, and should help to counteract a tendency to underestimate our climatic capacity.

Method of obtaining reliable climatic information in Canada, local and general.

I may now briefly summarize some of the features of the work which I suggest should be undertaken in the application of climatology to agriculture. There should be a sort of climatic survey made of the whole Dominion, taking into account the average temperature of the growing season, the length of time between the last frosts of spring and the first of autumn, the average rainfall, the average and occasional extremes of winter cold, and such other conditions of local climate as have a direct bearing on agriculture. The large amount of meteorological data accumulating for many years in the meteorological office would furnish a basis for this work. Railway surveys could aid. So also elevation and many considerations of local and general topography, such as the existence of small lakes, mountains, cold-producing plateaux, the direction of the axis of valleys and the character of their surroundings, &c. The records could be supplemented for our remote and northern districts by correspondence with Hudson Bay posts, and with missionaries and others, so as to arrive at valuable tentative conclusions for such regions as have sparsely supplied observations.

The apple-growing region in Nova Scotia.

Subsidiary to this general plan, should be an investigation of the climatic capacity of our principal fruit provinces and districts. In Nova Scotia, for instance, the Annapolis Valley has been producing by far the greater proportion of the apple crop of the province; but there are many other parts where, on suitable soils, the climate admits of apple-growing with equal or nearly equal success. There is reason to think, from a consideration of the climate, that over a wide area across to the Atlantic coast, and almost as far south as Yarmouth, most varieties of the apple, on suitable soils, could be grown almost as well as at Annapolis. The climatic capacity of the Province of Quebec is very much underestimated. The Lake St. John district has capacities which are not fully realized in most parts of Quebec, and scarcely at all in Ontario. The country north east of Lake St. John, which a railway is very likely to traverse before many years, has a warmer climate than might be supposed possible at first glance, from the temperature which prevails along the shore of the Lower St. Lawrence.

Peach and vine regions of Ontario.

There should be an investigation made of the peach and vine climates of Ontario, and of the local climate of northern Ontario, where little lakes exist, and on the southern and eastern shores of which the frostless season is sometimes three weeks to a month longer than in the lands at only a short distance away. A difference of from ten days to two weeks in the frostless period, usually exists between *Pelee Island, situate in the west end of Lake Erie. The island is 9 miles long by 5 miles wide, and distant 8 miles, South West, from Point Pelee in Essex County, Province of Ontario.

Latitude 41° 46' N.; Longitude 82° 39' W. of Greenwich.

the western side and the eastern side of a small lake. The east and south sides have a longer season, because they are away from the north-west winds. By taking advantage of these little lakes, the culture of a particular fruit or variety of fruit might be extended, in spots beyond its general limit, and thus add to the resources of the settlers of our colder districts. We can possibly extend the cultivation of some varieties of tree fruit, up to the Height of Land.

Practical precaution against local summer frosts.

Another thing that might be investigated is the utility of smudge fires. Smudge fires are not much used in England, because after the time that the first severe weather occurs the temperature is usually too low to allow further gardening; but in the interior of Europe the climate is very much the same, in respect to the occurrence of frost, as on the continent of America. We generally have in September or early in October, one or two nights of intense frost that would kill tender vegetables, such as tomatoes, and yet afterwards there are two or three weeks of warm weather which would admit of gardening being carried on if the previous frost had not killed everything worth growing. On the continent of Europe smudge fires are used to prevent these frosts. A smoke so thin that it does not hide the stars should sufficiently check reduction of heat to maintain the temperature on the surface of the ground six or eight degrees, and that is usually sufficient to save gardens from the early frost. There are conditions in the North-West and in Ontario in regard to temperature, from which one may judge of the approach of frost. In western Ontario, when the mercury is as low at six o'clock, as 50 degrees, on a calm, clear evening, at least a light frost on the following morning may be expected; while in the North-West probably a higher temperature at that hour would allow for a frost before the following sunrise. I think the test of the effect of smudge fires would show results that could be put to practical account by market gardeners, and even by farmers, in the North-West and Manitoba. Of course, there would be a great deal of trouble in dealing with large fields, but smudge fires could be easily applied in preventing damage to orchards, hop yards and gardens, and in preventing destruction of blossoms by the later spring frosts.

Exceptional circumstances unfavourable to orchards.

Another matter worthy of investigation is the prevention of damage to orchards by long-continued periods of unfavourable weather. There was such a period between 1879 and 1882. Unseasonable winter weather broken by severe frosts occurred, and also extreme heat and drought in the summer of 1881. The rainfall, for years, was much less than usual. These general conditions obtained, from Arkansas to Ottawa, and from Chicago to New Jersey. Over this large area, yellows subsequently prevailed in the peach orchards, dry rot attacked the vines; the apple and other trees suffered from premature decay, and fungus growths played havoc with the plums. The rule holds in plant life as in animal life, that if a plant is weakened in vitality it becomes subject to parasites. We can recognize the occurrence of these conditions of weather almost every year in some part of the country or another, and could advise the farmers, where particularly unfavourable conditions are noted at any time, to specially cultivate their orchards and thus prevent the destruction of many trees, or mitigate, at least, other effects of the bad weather.

I think if, in connection with this work, articles were written, to a large extent non-official, descriptive of our fruit industries, and presented in an attractive way, they would be useful in inducing British farmers of means to emigrate to the older provinces as well as to the North-West. The price of land in Ontario might thus be enhanced by showing the real facts in relation to our climate and its capacity.

Comparative climatic conditions for the growth of Barley in Canada and Europe.

There is another question worthy of mention in this connection, that is, our capability for growing two-rowed barley. We have been experimenting with seed from England—from a cooler and moister climate than our own. It is objected to two-rowed barley that our summer is too warm at the time our barley matures; others say our climate is too cold and the season too short. The Saale barley is grown in a warmer climate than that of England, and yet it is better than the English barley. Some of the Austrian barley districts are warmer than the Saale valley, and correspond in climate with some parts of Ontario; yet the best barley from these parts of Austria has brought an average, for years, of over $1.20. It may be that by an examination of the climates of the great Austrian barley districts and of the Saale country, we could find parallels in various parts of Canada, probably in parts of New Brunswick, portions of the Eastern Townships, as well as further west.

By Mr. Watson :

Q. What is the price of the two-rowed barley you are referring to?—A. $1.40 has for a long time been the average for the Saale, and $1.23 for the Austrian barley.

Climatic determination of the Mackenzie River Basin.

The determination of whether we have barley climates corresponding in essential conditions with those of the best barley districts in Europe, would do much to an early and profitable determination of the course farmers in various parts of the country should pursue in regard to barley growing. It would in these districts lead to earlier and fuller utility of the advantages the British market can afford. This would be the case especially where the weather during the past few seasons, testing the seed has been less favourable than usual, and has resulted in grain somewhat inferior to that most in demand in Britain. In the selection of seed grain of varieties best adapted to the various two-rowed barley climates, the investigation of these climates and their correspondencies in Europe is important. This investigation also possesses a general commercial importance to the country at large as well as to the farmer. It may be that some of our barley countries will be found adapted climatically to the growth of two-rowed grain, while others are better fitted to continue cultivation for the United States markets. In view of contemplated railways and other developments in the country between Manitoba and Hudson's Bay, between Sault Ste. Marie and Labrador, and in the Mackenzie River Basin, it might prove of advantage in guiding Parliament as to land grants that may be asked, as well as in the general railway policy, if such agricultural resources as these regions possess should be measured from the standpoint of climatic capacity. The summer climate very rapidly improves in receding southward and westward from the chilly shores of Hudson's Bay; and there are climatic reasons for thinking that the country eastward of Lakes St. John and Mistassini is richer in farm resources and in climatic capacity than is popularly imagined. A demand has been made on the Government for an exploratory survey of the Mackenzie River Basin, where the climate is known to be mild compared with equal latitudes to the eastward. It would in a measure, satisfy the public demand, if an investigation of the agricultural capacity of the climate of that great valley were made. Climatic records, correspondence with missionaries and others would shed much light on the varying agricultural resources of the valley, and determine whether in its milder parts, northern grains might be expected to succeed. In regard to all the regions mentioned, it would throw light in a large measure, on how far a population connected with railways or other enterprises could depend on local supplies for subsistence.

There are other things connected with the application of climatology to agriculture and fruit-growing, which, had time permitted, I would have preferred to mention. I thank you for your patient attention to my remarks, which are, owing to the lateness of my hearing of the meeting of the Committee, not presented in as compact form as could be wished. I think the work proposed in saving expenditure to the Government, in economy in and better direction of experimental and agricultural work all over the country, would much aid in the proper direction of fruit-growing generally, and of tree-planting in the North-West. It would have the profitable result of directing attention to, and encouraging the settlement of excellent districts, the resources of which might otherwise long remain undiscovered, and in preventing much waste of money to farmers and fruit-growers, especially in the newer portions of the Dominion, in encouraging the settlement of excellent districts which would otherwise remain long undiscovered, and of preventing disappointment and waste of effort through mistaken judgment as to the capability of particular districts.

By Mr. Ferguson :

Q. You drew attention to the comparative value of the Canadian and French grape, and their wine-producing power. I understand that the greater richness of the Canadian grape largely depends upon the quantity of saccharine?—A. The amount of saccharine in the grape is chiefly governed by the heat of the season.

Q. Is it not true that the quantity of sugar largely depends upon the brightness of the sunshine during the time when the grape is maturing?—A. Both in Ontario and on the Rhine vine-growers look upon a hot August as important in securing a good and strong wine.

Comparative wine producing resources of Germany, France and Canada.

Q. What I wish to know is, whether we have a better growing period in summer—towards the end of summer—for the grape, than they have on the Rhine?—A. Yes; and we have a further advantage: In the central and northern parts of Europe the cloudy and often rainy weather sets in about the middle of September. In Canada it does not begin till October—generally late in October. The early cloudiness means delay in the maturing of the grape, and the rains involve the washing away from the grape of the “bloom,” which is a species of yeast plant, and thus fermenting the proceeds more slowly and less satisfactorily. Along the Rhine, where they produce hundreds of millions of gallons of wine per annum, the grape thoroughly matures, on an average, only once in three years. Frosts occur even as early as August. It is a very common thing for wine growers to pick off the green berries before throwing the bunches into the vats. The conditions of summer on the Rhine are inferior for grape-growing to those on the lower Ottawa. There are in Ontario and the St. Lawrence valley, nearly 30,000 square miles of territory climatically adapted to grape culture. In France 5,000,000 acres are devoted to grape-growing, and 1,000,000,000 gallons of wine are produced, yet the climate of the most of France is not more suitable for the production of wine than that of a considerable part of Ontario. The best wine climates are between a mean summer temperature of 64 and 73 degrees, for the three midsummer months. Our wines are stronger than the Rhine wines and many of the wines of central France, owing to the greater heat of our summer. Excepting in western New York and in the northern tier of counties in Ohio, the United States nowhere east of the Rockies, is as well adapted for the grape as southern Ontario. In the Ohio valley the heat and moisture are too great, and mildew plays havoc with the vineyards. Southern California is not better adapted for clarets, than Southern Ontario.

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,

FRIDAY, 28th August, 1891.

The Committee on Agriculture and Colonization in session.

Mr. JAMES GORDON MOWAT was re-called in continuation of his examination at the last preceding meeting of the Committee, on the Climatology of Canada. In response to the invitation of the Chair to proceed with his remarks on the subject under review, Mr. Mowat said:—

Differences in length of the frostless season, locally defined.

Mr. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN,—At the last meeting of the Committee, in a rambling way, I covered a good deal of the ground that I might otherwise have had to take up to-day. Many here heard that evidence, and it is therefore unnecessary to repeat it. But I wish to call attention to a few facts in regard to climatology that I perhaps did not bring out fully then. I proposed that a climatic survey of the Dominion be made. We have a Geological Survey, and it answers a useful purpose, but in a country so much given to agriculture, with such great agricultural possibilities before it, a climatic survey dealing with the agricultural capacity seems only second in importance to a geological survey. The reasons for asking for a survey are: That our climate differs remarkably within very short distances. In southern Ontario, for example, the frostless period—that is, the season between the last killing frost of spring and the first killing frost of autumn—varies 50 days within a distance, sometimes of 50 miles. That 50 days must include a large range of climate, a vast range of possibilities in the growth of varieties of fruits. A single degree in the mean temperature of summer and a single week in the average length of the frostless season, often determines whether one particular variety of fruit will succeed or not. Some of our apples that cannot endure the climate of Ottawa succeed admirably along the St. Lawrence River. Some varieties that will not flourish on the uplands of Grey, succeed 2 miles below along the borders of the Bay. We have an illustration of the difference of climate in the Beaver Valley—a valley running southward into the Georgian Bay through the uplands of Grey. Twenty miles inland even the peach is known to succeed. The peach succeeds with difficulty at Toronto, but we have it in the interior of Grey owing to local peculiarities. If we wish to take advantage of our immense fruit and agricultural capacity, it is important that we should know what these peculiarities are. Woodstock has one of the shortest frostless seasons in south-western Ontario, only 127 days between the last spring and the first autumn descent of the mercury to 32 degrees. This is the average of four years. Hamilton, again, has 176 days of a similar period, and Pelee Island has no fewer than 200 days. On that island the last killing frost of Spring occurs about the middle of April, and the first killing frost of Autumn not until November—giving nearly seven months of a season almost entirely free from frost. The difference in vegetation from parts of the inland counties in consequence of the long period for growth is remarkable. In the corner between Lake Ontario and the Niagara River, protected not only from the North-west winds but the due west winds, the fig and the almond are grown a little and succeed with very slight winter protection. The fig tree bears abundant crops. I have seen almonds grown that will compare with the fruit sold in the stores; while figs grow abundantly and ripen in August and September. At Pelee Island, cotton has been grown for 20 years without special manure. The guano which is used in parts of North Carolina is not needed here. Sorghum, both the Chinese and the Orange from South Africa, grow admirably in south-western Ontario, especially in Essex. All the species of the Magnolia known on this continent, but one, grow in southern Ontario. These are illustrations of what the extreme capacity of our climate is on the warm side. The peach, as I remarked the other day, could be grown on suitable soils over 9,000 square miles of Ontario; the Crawford peach, of course, over a much smaller area. The Crawford is grown, however, along the shores of the Georgian Bay from Thornbury or Meaford up to Owen Sound. It is grown along the coast of Lake Huron and here and there for a short distance inland, and the hard White Flesh variety of the peach succeeds even near St. Mary's and up the Grand River to near the town of Galt. Some variety or other of the peach may be said to be capable of cultivation over a great part of the western peninsula of Ontario. Possibly in some favourable situations, on sunny slopes, the peach may succeed on a limited scale—perhaps nearly a commercial scale—in Nova Scotia. In the Annapolis Valley and inland, a little back of Yarmouth, we may hope to find—judging entirely from climatic considerations—some areas where varieties of the peach may be grown a little, especially those varieties that do not require as great heat as the Crawford. In British Columbia there is a peach climate including many favourable situations on the eastern side of Vancouver Island—the other side is too wet—and the low lands at the mouth of the Fraser; also probably the Thompson valley. The records of temperature show that up the Thompson valley are climates—so far at least as summer is concerned—better adapted for peach culture than those of the coast district or than much of southern California. For the vine, the area capable of growing it, in Canada, with equal success, extends from a little above Quebec, over a large part of Ontario, south of the 46th parallel. In part of New Brunswick—in the interior—it would also succeed, with the trouble taken that is common in Ontario and Quebec, of laying the vines down in winter. There are other sections in the Maritime Provinces that could grow grapes with profit, but to a lesser extent than the most favourable parts of New Brunswick. The best grape climate in British Columbia is not on the coast, but in the interior. To the interior we have reason to look for a large—perhaps the largest—proportion of the fruit that will be sent from British Columbia to the North-West Territories. The coast climate will produce good fruit, possibly a little inferior in flavour; but in the interior we may, I am inclined to think, expect better flavoured fruit. Irrigation will be necessary in most of the inland parts where it is grown, as it is in Southern California.

Causes producing climate differences in contiguous localities.

As to the differences of climate that make this climatic survey desirable, we will turn to Ontario again. Small lakes are found over the northern and eastern parts of the Province of Ontario. In regard to differences of temperature near these lakes, that is a distance of 6 miles with only little difference in elevation produced in one case a difference of 30 days in the frostless period—the figures being 127 and 97 between the two stations compared. The season in the neighbourhood of the lake was the longer. The west sides of lakes in eastern Canada have not so long a season as the east or southern sides. This is owing to the fact that our frosts generally occur from the west and north-west. The water in these small lakes becomes heated up by the summer sun; this lengthens the autumn season, admitting of the ripening of new wood in many varieties of fruit trees that would fail in average situations in the country around. We may hope, by knowing what these peculiarities are and mapping them out, to extend fruit-growing along the margin of these lakes considerably beyond the present northern limit, and in that way add considerably to the resources of settlers in our northern and eastern counties. A suggestion may be made towards the utilization of some of the differences of climate. The ripening season of the strawberry, in much of Ontario is pretty well over in the early part of July, but along the north-eastern and northern shores of Lake Superior the summer is so cool that the berry ripens according to locality at various times of August and later. Settlers in these parts of the country might easily obtain, were the trade organized, a considerable increase to their income by the shipment of strawberries. Advantage has been taken of differences in climates in New Brunswick and along the shores of Gaspé to such an extent, that St. John and Boston are receiving shipments of strawberries two or three weeks later than formerly; in the north of Scotland a like variety in the time of berry ripening prevails. That in Ontario we have a greater variety in the ripening season of this berry—over two months—is not to be wondered at, when we find the climate on the north shore of Lake Superior differing in mean temperature both in summer and winter from the climate of the Lake Erie shore, as much as the climate of Lake Erie differs from the climate along the Gulf of Mexico. What the value of the far northern wilds of Ontario is we do not know. A great bog is said to exist over much of the interior, and at Moose Fort, 9 miles up the Moose River, the mean temperature of summer is about the same as in the north of England, the July a little warmer. The Fall is warmer than at Winnipeg; the Spring is later and colder. The mean length of the season between killing frosts is 111 days, or six days longer than at Port Arthur and fourteen days longer than at Beatrice, near Lake Muskoka. That fact, combined with the general temperature and season, would indicate a considerable agricultural capacity in that district. It is well to know what the capacity is, as railways are projected and very likely to be carried through before long to the shores of James Bay, perhaps to tap the alleged coal fields. It is important, too, that we should know something of the climate of northern Ontario and Quebec along these lines. As to the climate away to the north and north-east of Lake St. John, there are reasons to think that the temperature, owing to the vastness of the Labrador peninsula, has warmer summer than is popularly imagined. The cool shores along the River St. Lawrence give no indication of the real heat of that interior, and the probability is that the summer there is much more favourable than is commonly supposed, for the growth of vegetables and perhaps common grains, the supply of which would be a partial means of livelihood to settlers who may be drawn in there through spruce lumbering, railway or mining industries. British Columbia affords the most forcible illustrations of large differences in climate within short distances. Take the case of Agassiz and Spence's Bridge, on the Thompson River. The distance between these two places is about 90 miles. The summer of the former place has a mean temperature a little over 60 degrees in July, while at the latter the mean temperature is 75 degrees. This is very nearly the temperature of this month at Cincinnati, about the same as at Philadelphia, higher than at Jerusalem or Syria, and only about 3 degrees short of Alexandria in Egypt. At Spence's Bridge the month of March is as warm as April in Toronto; and the month of April as a Toronto May, and the month of May has almost exactly the same mean temperature as a Toronto June; the season is very long, fully five months without frost, and over seven months of growing weather. The winter season is very cold—about the temperature of Kingston in Ontario,—but with this difference that in ordinary seasons the thermometer falls little—sometimes not at all—below zero. It may be that in portions of the valley near this station at very long intervals—intervals of many years—frosts occur that will interfere in some measure with the successful culture of the peach. In regard to this, the evidence is not yet quite clear. Okanagan valley has an elevation of about 1,000 feet—that is to say, it is rather less than a large part of the midland counties of Western Ontario, or in Grey, where the altitude rises to 1,600 or 1,700 feet. The valley is exposed to occasional hot winds from the interior of Washington territory, but the climate is, in its main characteristics, much the same as in the Thompson valley, though probably differing much in different parts of the valley on account of the surroundings. From wide high plateaux which touch the borders of the valley here and there, the cold produced by radiation may pour, under the influence of certain winds, into the valley, and produce locally a cold extreme not found in other portions of the valley. The Arrow Lake valley and the Kootenay valley have an elevation but little higher than that of the Okanagan; it is important that the peculiarities of their climatic capacity should be known. Settlers are pouring into the Okanagan country, and unable as they must be, with but a few years of personal experience, to judge of the capacities of the climate, they may make serious mistakes of various kinds in agriculture. They may, for instance, be misled by the ordinary temperature of the winters and make serious mistakes in the planting of fruit trees in situations which, owing to the surroundings, are unfavourable, and neglect other situations, where, owing to different surroundings, fruit-growing could be carried on with success. Illustrations are quite familiar to us both in Canada and the United States, where the middle slopes of the valley are climatically more favourable to fruit-growing than the flats above and the valley beneath. In other cases again the plateau is the most favourable, and still in other cases the valley below. This is governed largely by the direction of the valley with respect to certain winds, and also by various other circumstances and local surroundings. In British Columbia, if in the direction of a cold movement of air from the north or north-east, there exists near by a narrow plateau or mountain range, the cold would not be nearly so severe as where the plateau is of wide extent and great elevation. There are very many circumstances of local topography which have to be taken into account in aiding in the determination of the peculiarities of local climate or in supplementing the meteorological records. Two valleys or two portions of the same valley at similar elevation may possess radically different climates. Where there is a small mountain range in the direction of the prevailing winds, a valley is not liable, other influences being equal, to so great cold as where there is a wide elevated plateau in the same direction. This difference, as I have said, may be found in different parts of the same valley; the climate differing radically according to the character of the surroundings. Wherever these peculiarities exist they would have to be taken into consideration in the mapping in detail of the climate. To the climatologist, the influence of surroundings are largely measurable. Analogies derived from all over the world decide this: That climate even so varied as British Columbia's, with even meagre records, can be so investigated as to afford valuable considerations to the farmer and fruit-grower. In Alberta the climate varies almost as much as in the interior of British Columbia, though generally the valleys, owing to their greater elevation, are colder. I think that much may be done in ordinary agriculture in some of these valleys, those in which the surroundings are such as to indicate favourable climatic conditions, and less of summer frosts than usual. This is a matter for test and future investigation. Along the slopes of the Rockies the rainfall is sufficient in some of the valleys for agriculture without the aid of irrigation. This is true also of much of the plain country, for the rainfall, although light, is usually well distributed over the early summer, and dew is often abundant at night in some localities. There is a part of the North-West lying in the district of Swift Current and Medicine Hat that probably will require irrigation for the successful prosecution of agriculture; but perhaps very little need be said of this at present, as with so large a surplus of free and cheap land elsewhere, the subject is somewhat premature. But the time will come when the country will demand irrigation, for irrigation will be a necessity, if good crops on the average are to be hoped for in this large section of the North-West. It is in place for me to state here that this portion of the North-West has a warmer summer than Manitoba, and a decidedly warmer average for the year. Medicine Hat is the warmest meteorological station in the North-West—with a July mean of over 67 degrees, and an annual mean (over 42 degrees) as high as Montreal and much of eastern Ontario. Under equal conditions other irrigated lands will produce more certain crops and larger yields than can be obtained from similar soils where the country has to depend upon natural rainfall. Under these circumstances, we may expect these plains that are passed by now, by the practical farmer, to ultimately become, where the soils are favourable, profitable portions of the territory.

By Mr. Trow:

Q. In reference to irrigation, where would you expect to supply the water from at a sufficient elevation?—A. In many localities in the extreme west from the slopes of the Rockies. In the southern parts, further east, large quantities of water are to be found in some localities by sinking wells where the slope of the underclay is favourable and admits of the water percolating through from salt lakes and marshes; but this is a matter of geology, and careful attention would have to be given to the geological structure of the local districts. It would be a matter of scientific observation to ascertain whether the character of the slopes indicated a sufficiently large supply of water. It does not depend so much upon what the surface may be, but what the slope is below the surface. We have an illustration of what I have just stated in southern Ontario. The sandy slope from near Ingersoll down to Lake Erie, the water percolates along the hard-pan, and is so abundant that in one place I found that the simple expedient of placing a few yards of tile down on the hard-pan and transversely to the slope of the hard-pan, and connecting this intercepting tile with the surface, resulted in abundant streams of water. By methods the same in principle there may be found large quantities of water in many localities in the North-West, which often can be cheaply turned to account for irrigation. There is much of the country, however, that cannot, by any of the means likely to be resorted to within a century, be profitably irrigated.

By Mr. Davin :

Q. I understand you to say that what the North-West needs is irrigation?—A. Yes; but it is a matter for the geological department to say what the prospects in any particular district are of getting water. There are portions that will need irrigation, for the average rainfall in some places is only 5 inches in the year. In Manitoba a problem to be solved some day, is getting rid of the injurious effect of swamps. The Gladstone district seems to be peculiarly subject to frosts, owing to the wetness of the soil. Owing to the features of much of the country, there are grave difficulties in the way of a practical solution of the matter.

Bases for correct climatic survey of Canada, defined.

The proposals which I wish to make in regard to a climatic survey and the development of the fruit-growing industry of Canada, are as follows:—

A climatic survey of the Dominion, with the special view to ascertaining the agricultural capabilities of the climate of each locality, such survey to take into account the average temperature of the growing season, the average length of time between the last killing frosts of spring and the first of autumn, the average and exceptional cold of winter, the average rainfall, and such other conditions of local climate as have a direct bearing on agriculture.

Material.—Published and unpublished abstracts of meteorological observations; manuscript temperature records of daily maxima and minima at several hundred places; correspondence to be had, facts of local topography, elevation, &c., to be derived from railway and other surveys.

(2). Ascertainment of correspondence between local climates in Canada, and local climates on the continent, with a view to ascertaining how far vegetals of the old world can be cultivated in corresponding climates in the Dominion.

Material.—Large accumulation of data furnished by the meteorological services and societies of Europe in regard to Siberia, Russia, Hungary, Germany, France and Britain, and found in the form of reports, abstracts, journals, &c., in the meteorological offices at Toronto; agricultural reports of governments and societies in Europe, forestry reports, correspondence to be had.

With respect to this, I wish to call your attention to an important consideration. The fruit trees which make up our orchards, and with which fruit-growers have been long experimenting, are nearly all introduced from the old world and are derived from varieties that have been grown for hundreds of years in western Europe, where the winters are mild. Therefore, they are not the best fitted to endure the severe winters of the more severe north-eastern parts of America. The vine of the west of Europe is more tender than the ordinary fruit trees with regard to winter, and in eastern America can be cultivated not much further north than the Ohio River. The winter climates further north are generally too cold for it. As we proceed eastward, in Europe, we find the conditions to approach those of this continent. In Roumania and along the Danube the climate is decidedly colder in winter. Bucharest differs but little from Toronto, in the temperature of either summer or winter. Moscow is colder in winter than Quebec, and St. Petersburg is about as cold as Ottawa. The winter climate beyond Nijni Novgorod approaches the winter climate of Winnipeg. In those parts, for hundreds of years, hardier varieties of fruits have been grown than in western Europe. They have simply become habituated to the climate. It is, therefore, to eastern Europe, from the Danube to the Baltic and eastward to the Urals, and beyond, that we must look for new varieties of fruit to introduce into Canada. Hungary Austria and eastern Germany as well Russia contain very desirable forms of vegetation for Canada. The more this matter is explored, with a view of ascertaining the climate in which these fruits are grown, the length of the frostless season and the cold of winter, and the mean temperature of the growing season, the more likely are we to make our experimental work efficient and economical. By investigating these climatic conditions we can reach many results at once, or in five to ten years that would otherwise take twenty to thirty years. As it is now, we can only slowly learn the climatic capacities of particular districts. Russia has spent money liberally in arriving at a knowledge of her own climate and mapping some of the conclusions reached. The Austro-Hungarian Government has done the same thing. Germany has abundance of meteorological data.

Subsidiary to these general lines of investigation are the following :—

(a.) Investigation of the peculiarities and differences of the local climates of the fruit districts of Ontario, with a view to economy in and better direction of effort and expenditure in fruit-growing and experimenting with varieties of fruit and vegetables.

(b.) Investigation of the peculiarities and differences of the local climates of the fruit districts of Nova Scotia.

(c.) Investigation of the peculiarities and differences of the local climates of the fruit districts of New Brunswick, with special attention to the great differences existing east of the Cascade Mountains.

(d.) Investigation of the peculiarities of climate in Alberta.

(e.) Investigation of the peculiarities of climate in Quebec, especially the Lake St. John country and inland region north-eastward towards Labrador.

(f.) Investigation of the peculiarities of climate and of the local agricultural capacity of the Mackenzie River country.

(g.) Investigation of the peculiarities of climate of the northern half of the Hudson Bay railway route.

(h.) Investigation of the peculiarities of climate of northern Ontario and Quebec, beyond the height of land.

(j.) Investigation of the peculiarities of the peach climates of Ontario and British Columbia.

(k.) Investigation of the apple climates of Canada and Russia.

(l.) Investigation of the vine-growing climates of Canada, Europe and the United States.

(m.) Investigation of northern climates of Canada adapted to growing strawberries and other cultivated small fruits.

(n.) Investigation of the northern Canadian climates, with special regard to their fitness for growing oats, barley, potatoes and such other vegetables as might support any agricultural settlements formed to supply local mining and other industries.

(o.) Investigation into the effects of swamps on local climate.

(p.) Investigation into the effect of the lakes—especially small lakes—of eastern and northern Canada, on the lengthening of the frostless season on their eastern and southern borders, and of thus permitting the cultivation of fruits, grains and other vegetables beyond their general northern limit.

(q.) Investigation into the effect of mountain ranges and valleys on the local climates and agricultural capabilities of the Interior of British Columbia and of Alberta.

(r.) Investigation (if deemed prudent) of the best means of remedying the aridity of portions of the North-West.

(s.) Investigation into the relation between periods of drought and extreme weather depressing to the vitality of fruit trees, the prevalence of parasitic diseases of fruit, which follows such depressing weather, with a view to promptly counteracting and mitigating the effects that may be feared at any time in any district subjected to such weather.

(t.) Investigation into the utility of smudge fires in preventing the destruction of fruit blossoms in spring and of prolonging the gardening season in autumn.

(u.) Investigation into the differences of valley, hillside and plateau climates.

(v.) Investigation into the climatic conditions of parts of eastern Europe, where more hardy varieties of fruit are grown than those familiar to America.

(w.) Investigation of the climatic conditions of the Saale, Austrian and other European districts noted for the quality of the two-rowed barley they produce, with a view of demonstrating whether or not Canada affords barley climates corresponding in essential respects, and of aiding in the selection of the varieties of that grain best adapted to our various barley climates.

(x.) Comparison, when desired, of a current season in any locality with the normal season of such locality, with a view to aiding in correct deductions from results reported to the Department of Agriculture by farmers who had been making experiments.

(3.) Articles in British agricultural journals on Canadian fruit and other agricultural industries, and districts—with a view to attracting the immigration of British farmers. These articles to embody, where desirable, appropriate comparisons between European and Canadian local climates.

(4.) Addresses to farmers' institutes and fruit-growers' meetings on the subject matter of some of the special lines of enquiry indicated above.

(5.) Scrutiny of prices current and demands of the fruit business abroad, with a view to the extension of the Canadian export of fruit and the opening of new markets.

(6.) Special reports for the guidance of the Government in regard to land grants to railways or other enterprises in parts of the Dominion, where the agricultural and timber resources are not well known.

Most of the objects of the work proposed are obvious, and require no mention.

Summary of important gains to Agricultural and Commercial interest from a correct Climatological Survey.

The investigation proposed will tend to greater effectiveness in the experimental work of the Department of Agriculture, to economy in the direction of widely-extended experiments, and to earlier and more trustworthy conclusions from the experiments made by farmers for one or more seasons, as these seasons may differ in essential respects from the normal.

The work would greatly aid in the profitable extension and conduct of fruit-growing, and, through accurate mappings of the peculiar differences of climate in the fruit-growing districts, greatly facilitate the testing of varieties and increase the value of experiments with them; it would also save much money, through enabling the Department to better utilize private experiment and experience with varieties grown in particular climates, and to avoid, by allowing experimental work to be confined mainly to methods of culture, much of the outlay on experimental fruit farms which may be established and which have been demanded by fruit-growers. The investigation into the climatic conditions of the best two-rowed barley districts in Europe, and the ascertainment of the districts in Canada where conditions exist similar in everything that relates to the growth of this grain would greatly encourage the development of an export trade in barley, and at once remove the serious doubt so often expressed on grounds of climatic unsuitableness as to the success of the Government's attempt to encourage the growth of two-rowed barley.

It is of the utmost importance to our farmers and to the commerce of the country that we should ascertain whether we have districts highly suitable for two-rowed barley. It seems probable, from climatic considerations, that in the eastern Provinces, a part of New Brunswick, for example, affords a climate very suitable for it,—a section, too, of southern Quebec and the northern part of the peninsula of Ontario. It is important to ascertain whether in these and other parts of the Dominion we may look for success in this direction.

The investigation would throw valuable light on the question of the culture of old-world trees in the North-West, facilitate and give better direction to experiments with fruits introduced or which may be introduced from the colder parts of the old world. The investigation, there is strong reason to believe, would show that some of the inland valleys of British Columbia possess remarkable climatic capability for fruit growing. The enquiry suggested into the agricultural capacity of the Mackenzie River Basin would, at trifling cost, do something to satisfy the demand for an exploration of that region, and would obtain in this particular respect results much more trustworthy than could be obtained by the exploration asked for. The investigation into the climatic capacity of the Mackenzie River region, the country between Lake Winnipeg and Hudson Bay and the country along and beyond the Height of Land, from the valley of the Moose to Hamilton Inlet, would be of service to the Government, by enabling them to better measure the agricultural resources of these regions, and therefore would aid in their decision as to railway enterprises projected or to be projected in these regions, and thus be conducive to economy. The climatic survey proposed with the European comparisons would show many localities in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, to possess capabilities for fruit culture hitherto scarcely suspected. Amongst other things, the survey would be likely to demonstrate that about 9,000 square miles in Ontario, besides a considerable acreage in the interior of British Columbia, as well as near the coast, is adapted to the cultivation of some variety or other of the peach, and that a very large portion of Ontario, is equal to any other portion of America, and superior to the Ohio valley and to much of the wine-growing portion of Europe, for the extensive prosecution of some important branches of viticulture.

Conjoined with results obtained in this survey, articles on Canadian fruit and other agricultural industries in British agricultural journals would prove a most potent and, at the same time, almost costless means of attracting to Canada British and other farmers of wealth and intelligence.

The survey would, in those new sections where topography exercises a controlling influence on agriculture, prevent waste of effort and, with it, disappointment, and would give a more intelligent direction to the agricultural occupation of the land.

By Mr. Armstrong :

Q. How many would you require to undertake all this work—how many hands in the various portions of the Dominion? I am under the impression that you recommend a bureau to be formed for this purpose?—A. Oh, no. I do not wish to give such a formidable idea of the enterprise as that. The meteorological data, to be used has nearly all been furnished already by the meteorological service. The printed abstracts of the service do not, however, give all that is needed from the records for the service of agriculture. The manuscripts would have to be studied carefully. One man can do the whole work. More or less mapping would be required. In this the isothermal lines should not be drawn with the free hand generally used for the purpose; the isothermals should curve and twist with the configuration of each district, so as to show, where possible, the gradations of climate in detail. The maps should show the number of days between the last frost of spring and the first frost of autumn, a very important matter in the growth of fruit and cereals, and the measure of ordinary and occasional extremes of cold.

By Mr. Walsh :

Q. It would take a long while to do that?—A. The material is at hand for the work, and in a short time many of the most important points inquired into could be put in compact form before the public. No staff would be necessary. The proposal is to utilize the data so as to make it directly serviceable to agriculture. There are records from probably between 300 and 400 stations. It may be necessary here and there to know the peculiar topography of a place, but in regard to most localities where observations have been made no other information would be required than we have at present. The material is simply waiting to be utilized.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. In following up these reports from various sources, do you think that they are all reliable?—A. Very nearly all of them. The Canadian meteorological service is very careful and accurate. Instruments, of course, are rarely perfect, but errors on the instruments are known by comparison with a standard, and applied to the observations. The instruments are exposed to the air on a uniform system, so that results may be compared fairly. There are, occasionally, stations peculiarly situated, but the local influence can be easily measured approximately and allowed for. Nearly all the records are thoroughly trustworthy. Great care has been shown by Mr. Carpméal and his staff in the work that they have done.

Q. With reference to those portions of our Dominion—Pelee Island and around Lake Ontario—their general character admits of close investigation. Those western sections of our country that have not been fully explored, will it not require some further search before data could be compiled?—A. For a considerable belt of territory in the North-West there are records that could be made the basis of fairly close approximation to accuracy in detail. For the southern part of British Columbia—south of the latitude of the Thompson River, the records admit of the drawing of valuable conclusions, generally, as well as here and there of detailed indication of the differences of climate in important districts. As the observations of the meteorological service become more extended in the remote parts of the country, relative approximations could give way to the detailed mapping that some of the older districts admit of. Topographical considerations would have, of course, to be applied to supplementing meteorological records. In most of our great fruit growing districts, a close mapping of the differences of climate is practicable from the material accumulated. The fruit-growers' association, especially the association of Ontario, has been labouring with great difficulty in the admirable work of testing varieties, through lack of definite information in regard to differences and peculiarities of local climate. Their work would be greatly facilitated—in fact, a stimulus would be given to it—if such conditions as the cold of winter, the length of the frostless season, the isothermals of the growing season, were definitely ascertained and indicated. The advantage this would bring in determining the varieties of fruits best adapted to local climate, is obvious.

Q. How about testing new varieties?—A. I refer to those common in America and those recently introduced from the old world. It takes time to test a newly-originated variety. You do not know the sensitiveness of a new variety to the extreme frosts, such as occur perhaps only once in ten years; but with respect to European varieties introduced, we have simply to compare the European climate with our own.

Q. Would not the soil have an influence?—A. Yes, to a large extent. The soil in which fruit, or even a variety succeeds best, is generally well known. This affects chiefly quality and quantity.

Q. You think it would not have so much to do with the soil as the climate?—A. No; the climate is the chief consideration. Whether you can grow at all or not, on any soil in particular, depends on the climate. If the climate permits of successful cultivation, of course, a cultivator will choose the best soil.

IMMIGRATION AND COLONIZATION

FOR

1890.

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,

HOUSE OF COMMONS,

FRIDAY, 29th May, 1891.

The Committee on Agriculture and Colonization convened this day at 11 a.m., Mr. SPOULE, Chairman, presiding.

Mr. JOHN LOWE, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, examined.

Total Arrivals and Net Settlement of Immigrants, as reported by Agents.

By The CHAIRMAN.—Will you tell us, Mr. Lowe, what was the immigration to Canada during the year 1890?—A. The statistics of immigration for the last calendar year are now published in the report of the Minister of Agriculture. It will not be necessary, therefore, for me to go into the same detail of figures as on previous occasions when I appeared before this Committee. The total number of immigrants for Canada, and immigrant passengers by our routes for the Western States, during the year 1890, was 145,403. In addition to these, the reports show that 33,518 entered as settlers with free entries of settlers goods at the Customs houses, making the grand total of 178,921. Of this total, the reports of our agents show the number as having settled in Canada during the year, not including the Customs returns, to be 41,549, and adding the Customs 33,518, (the greater part of whom are returned Canadians, and, therefore, cannot be classed in the same way as other immigrants) or a total of 75,607 of net settlers reported. The remainder were passengers using our routes.

Q. How do these figures compare with previous years?—A. They show a decline. The settlers entering Canada by way of the St. Lawrence were, in round numbers, 14,771, during the present year, against 18,732 last year. It is interesting, in connection with these figures, to state the total emigration from the United Kingdom, including foreigners, during the year, according to the Board of Trade returns, was 316,145, showing a decline of 26,500 as compared with 1889, and those of British origin only 253,789, showing a decline of 35,000. Mr. Giffin, the eminent statist of the Board of Trade, has promulgated a theory, which he calls a law, that emigration from the United Kingdom goes in cycles. There is a gradual ascent and a gradual descent spreading over a number of years. The causes of this movement have not been demonstrated, or at least not stated with any accuracy, and there are conflicting views. The fact, however, I think may be accepted as Mr. Giffin states it. Our figures show sympathy with it. It is rather early yet to say whether or not for the present year the figures will be on the ascending or descending scale.

Q. How do you account for the decline in the immigration last year, Mr. Lowe?—A. Well, I think we owe that very largely to the theory to which I have just referred. Our numbers, however, do not show a very large decline; and this year, so far, the tendency is one of increase. This is marked if we take the point of entry to the North-West and Manitoba at Port Arthur. Here there is shown a very considerable increase during the first months of this year as compared with those of last year. I think the figures at this port may be said to afford a test to show that we are now on the rising scale.

By Mr. TROW.—Is it not entirely times of adversity and depression or of prosperity in the old country which cause this decline, and not as Professor Giffin states?—A. Well, the theories are not in accord with regard to that, and as I have just stated, I do not think that the rule can be defined. It is said that times of prosperity give people who desire to move the means of doing so, which they would not have in times of adversity, but the decline in the emigration from England during the last year was contemporaneous with prosperity.

Distribution of Immigrant Settlers to the Provinces and Territories.

By The CHAIRMAN.—Can you give us the distribution of those immigrants throughout the different portions of Canada, that is to say, to what portions of the country they went?—A. Commencing at the extreme east of the Dominion, we have reports from our agents showing the net settlers in Nova Scotia to be 1884. The total number of settlers in Canada entering at Halifax, according to the report of the agent, deducting those who went to the United States, was 7,937, but they would be spread over the whole Dominion, and I cannot give further details in regard to them. In New Brunswick the number of settlers was reported at 926. In British Columbia the number of settlers was reported at 8,380; in Manitoba, 9,998, and in the North-West Territories 13,917. The remainder of the 41,000 would be distributed between Ontario and Quebec.

By Mr. Trow.—Do your various agents, Mr. Lowe, describe the avocation of these emigrants, and whether it is in the cities they will settle or in the rural districts?—A. At the points of Quebec and Halifax we have a registration of occupations, and at the point of Port Arthur the occupations of those going to the North-West are taken by question and answer. We have no means of giving the occupations of those who cross the United States frontier.

By The CHAIRMAN.—What is the character of the immigration of 1890?—A. The character of the total immigration was, on the whole, very satisfactory. Reports of all the agents are uniform in stating that it was on the whole of a very high character. We have no reports from anywhere of any persons having come out to find work and not succeeding. In relation to the character of the immigration as defined by the question of Mr. Trow, I may point out that the number of mechanics reported at Quebec is exceedingly small. The invitations of the Department to intending emigrants are confined to the class of agriculturists and female domestics. Mechanics and artisans are requested to take advice in their several callings before coming; and clerks and persons engaged in sedentary pursuits are dissuaded from coming, except to join friends or to situations previously provided.

By Mr. Trow.—The smaller the number of mechanics the better.

By Mr. Lowe.—The registered number of mechanics at Quebec was only 672 and at Halifax some 688.

Q. To what class do the immigrants who enter Manitoba and the North-West belong?—A. They are principally of the farming or agricultural class, or of those who desire to take up the avocation of agriculture. The number of the classes of mechanics engaged in the building trades would be relatively more than those which I gave as arriving at the port of Quebec.

Q. Does the Department make any investigation in reference to the standing and financial position of immigrants, in order to see that they are not paupers on the community?—A. No, we do not make individual investigation at the port of arrival. It has not in the past been found necessary from the facts. But we have a check as respects the shipping of paupers proper.

Q. Have they not in the city of New York?—A. Oh, yes; they have there a partial examination, but the circumstances are altogether different there. We are now told by the New York newspapers that they have all the immigrants they require, and that they cannot find room for many more.

Q. Is the great Republic filled up?—A. It is now no more open in the same way as in the past. There are no more large spaces of vacant eligible lands on which the world were invited to find new homes; and the proof of that may be seen by the rush which took place towards Oklahoma a couple of years ago by land-hungry people in the United States themselves. Thousands rushed in who afterwards came out again.

Abolition of Assisted Passages.

By The CHAIRMAN.—Are there any arrangements for assisted passages to emigrants now?—A. No; no assisted passages are given; there has not been a single assisted passage granted since the system was stopped in April, 1888.

By Mr. TROW.—Is there no allowance to Steamship Companies?—A. There is no allowance to Steamship Companies toward assisted passages.

Bonus to Actual Settlers upon Lands—Conditions upon which payable—Free Lands.

By The CHAIRMAN.—Arrangements were made for giving a bonus to settlers in Manitoba and the North-West. Can you state how much it was, and the nature of that bonus?—A. It was understood that the special vote of $150,000, which I understand was moved at the instance of the North-West members, according to the explanation given by the First Minister to the House, was to be appropriated for the purpose mainly of giving bonuses to actual settlers on land after they had settled. Effect was given to the intention of that vote as explained by the First Minister, by the definitions of an Order in Council. The bonus was offered in the proportion of $10 to the head of a family and $5 to each member of the family, on proof of settlement furnished by a Dominion lands agent. The intention was to afford an aid towards the expenses of travelling long distances from the United Kingdom or the continent of Europe to Manitoba or parts of the North-West.

By Mr. TROW.—Was it a cash bonus, or was it to be appropriated in seed grain?—A. It is a cash bonus of $10 and $5, as stated; but in addition to that the transportation companies, with a view of establishing as large a differential rate as possible between the St. Lawrence and New York, and to offer as much inducement as possible, have added an amount of 50 per cent. to that, making the total bonus $15 to the head of the family and $7.50 to each member of the family over the adult age of 12 years, that is, to the immigrants from the United Kingdom. In addition to that there is a further offer of a bonus of $7.50 to any male member of a family, over 18 years of age, who takes up land within six months after sailing, which will make his bonus equal to that of the head of the family. The Government proportion of $10 and $5 is open to all immigrants from beyond the sea, whether from the United Kingdom or the Continent.

Q. Is that applicable to a female?—A. A female cannot take up land unless she is the head of a family. Therefore, as a member of a family she would not be entitled to it. She would, if she were the head of a family and took up land.

By The CHAIRMAN.—To what portions of the country do these bonuses apply? Is it to the whole of Canada?—A. No; it is west, of the W. frontier of Ontario—that is, to the Province of Manitoba and North-West Territories and British Columbia. The amounts applied for so far have not been very great, but there has not been time for the system to work. The demand will shortly become more active, and especially in connection with the bonus to agents.

By Mr. CARPENTER.—Can you tell us how much has been disbursed in this way?—A. I cannot give the figures at this moment, sir, but the amount, I think, so far, is very small.

By The CHAIRMAN.—What is the demand for immigrants during the present year?—A. The reports from all our agents show that the demand for real agricultural labourers and female domestic servants is very good indeed. I also notice that in a bulletin which was published a few days ago, by the Government of the Province of Ontario, it was pointed out that in several counties there was a scarcity of agricultural labourers and consequently a demand for them; but taking the reports of all our own agencies, the demand is most active.

By Mr. McMILLAN (Huron).—Did this regulation granting a bonus to the heads of families exist during last summer?—A. No; it only commenced with the present immigration season.

By Mr. GIBSON.—Where is this money to be paid?—A. In Winnipeg, through Mr. H. H. Smith, the Commissioner, on the certificate of a Dominion lands agent. The emigrant must carry with him this form of certificate, which contains all the essential particulars desired for a check (witness here exhibited a printed form), and on handing this certificate over, with proof of having settled on 160 acres of land, he is entitled to the payment, but not before.

Q. By whom is the certificate given to the intending settler?—A. By the shipping agent. The immigrant brings it out with him from the old country or the continent of Europe.

Q. Then it applies to other countries besides?—A. Yes; the Government bonus applies to immigrants from the continent of Europe and the United Kingdom, but not the additional amount which is given by the transportation companies.

By Mr. DAVIN.—There is no difference or distinction made between settlers, I suppose. If a bonâ fide settler comes as the head of a family and settles he is entitled to that bonus, is he not?—A. Not that, precisely. The immigrant must bring with him this certificate. It is only applicable to immigrants from across the sea. It is not applicable to immigrants from this continent.

Q. No; I understand that—but what I mean to say is this. Suppose a bonâ fide emigrant from England comes, and he does not bring a certificate from the shipping agent, he shows himself to be a more independent and a more intelligent man than the one who has got a certificate. He comes with his family and settles. Would he not be entitled to the bonus?—A. That argument might appear just as an abstract proposition; but if the precedent were once established of giving a bonus to all settlers, that is those who did not bring this certificate of immigrant character, as well as to those who did, I do not think the $150,000 voted would go very far towards paying the amount required.

By Mr. McMILLAN (Huron).—What course has to be pursued in order to get the amount from the transportation companies?—A. The transportation companies are parties to this agreement, and they place the money in the Bank of Montreal, at Winnipeg, to the credit of the Land Commissioner, to satisfy their proportion of those claims.

By Mr. TROW.—It strikes me that there should be a time specified?—A. There is a fixed time. The certificate is good six months after sailing.

By Mr. McMILLAN (Huron).—Then it applies only to transportation companies in this country. It does not apply to steamship companies?—A. It applies to steamship companies and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. As regards the proportion that is paid by the transportation companies of that additional allowance, the Department is informed but not for the purpose of communication. It is only informed confidentially.

Immigration of Settlers upon Lands from the United States to Canada.

By The CHAIRMAN.—What is the nature of the movement of emigration from the Dakotas and various parts of the United States to Manitoba and the North-West? Have you any knowledge of that?—A. The movement has assumed very considerable activity, and there is reason to believe the activity would have been much greater if many persons who desired to move had had the means to do so. Inquiries were made during last summer by special agents employed by the Minister of Agriculture, who sent reports of a nature to lead the Department to believe that we might look for a very considerable immigration from various parts of both the Dakotas, but particularly that lying south of the line of the Northern Pacific Railway, and also from Nebraska and western Kansas. We also saw in the newspapers a public statement signed by Governor Fletcher of South Dakota. It is not a long statement, but it is very important, and I think I had better read it to the Committee:—

“There is destitution in South Dakota, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding; and what is more, I cannot see the wisdom of attempting to cover up these facts, or being at all mealy-mouthed about the business. If they are the truth they are bound to out, no matter how much any so-called boomers may attempt to cover them up. Impartial judges thought the situation a serious one last year; they will find it as much worse this year. There are some seven counties in the State that I know are suffering, and in destitute circumstances, resulting from the drought which has prevailed in these parts more or less for the last three seasons.

"In Brown County the south-western part had a fairly good crop. The rest is in most destitute circumstances. Then there are Marshall, McPherson, Campbell, Wallace, Edwards and Spink. These counties are all in bad shape, with hardly any crops to speak of. In one county we have an organization of some sixteen townships, with a representative in each township, through whom we distribute all we can gather in any way to alleviate the wants of those people suffering the most. What is going to be done? I am of the opinion that there is no danger of one getting too much assistance. I believe in asking aid whenever we can get it. It seems to me a false pride that we should keep serious facts as these suppressed. It is unnatural and uncalled for on any grounds that I can see." That is the statement of the Governor. We also saw in the newspapers that in Nebraska a commission was instituted by the Governor, and the commissioners reported a failure of crops in twelve counties. In some cases they only had 1 or 2 bushels to the acre. No vegetables and general distress.

By Mr. Trow.—That is a very deplorable statement from the Governor of a State; he must be a traitor to his country?—A. I cannot answer that.

Q. Yet I believe these are facts, notwithstanding, Mr. Lowe?—A. The statements coincide entirely with the reports which have been received by the Department. We were also favoured by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company with a statement of applications of enquiries at their offices from the western States. I hold in my hand a list, the number being 614 between the dates of January 12th and January 27th. The management of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company told us these were all bonâ fide applicants. The name and the address of every applicant is given in the list; and in the view of the Canadian Pacific Railway officers these applications are quite unprecedented.

By Mr. GIBSON.—Where do the people reside who made application for these lands?—A. In all parts of the western States. The names and addresses are given here. Considerable numbers have come, and this is a photograph (showing it) of a train arriving with the cars and decorated with mottoes. The photo. was taken at Winnipeg. The train was from Dakota. These are the mottoes:—

"Good-bye South Dakota."

"Bound for the Canadian North-West."

"Free land, plenty of timber and pure water."

"No more two bushels per acre."

"No more gasoline fuel."

"No more five mile water haul."

"No more grinding machine agents."

"Hurrah! for Canada."

By Mr. DAVIN.—I may say, for the information of the Committee, that a large number of settlers have gone from Dakota to Moose Jaw. I saw in the Winnipeg Free Press that a large number had gone there, and I have a letter from Moose Jaw stating they are all well contented with the country, delighted with it, in fact, as compared with the country from which they came. (Hear, hear.)

By Mr. LOWE.—I may further state that I saw myself a delegation from South Dakota in the Immigration Office at Winnipeg in February last. They were Germans. They had been to the West and had seen some of their friends who are settled along the new line of railway from Calgary to Edmonton. They reported themselves highly satisfied with what they had found, and they told me that the result of their enquiry would be the settlement of 150 German families in that locality. We have no reports of numbers from that part of the country, and it will be exceedingly difficult to obtain them. I read, however, a telegram in the Free Press of Winnipeg, to the effect that over 1,000 settlers had arrived in the Red Deer and Edmonton districts within the last six weeks. That was dated 18th May. Of course, I do not give that as a statistic of the Department, but I have no doubt that very large numbers have gone in there, and that the movement has commenced to be exceedingly active.

By Mr. Trow.—If these Dakota settlers are in such destitute circumstances, would it not be advisable on the part of the Department to grant them some aid. It is very expensive travelling before they can get to Edmonton?—A. That is a question which has had the anxious consideration of the Department, but the Minister of Agriculture has not so far seen his way to take the responsibility of a step of that kind. It would be very difficult to see the full proportions of it. As a matter of fact, however, there is a company in Winnipeg which is active in offering loans on chattel mortgages to these people.

Q. But they have no chattels—nothing but themselves and their families?—A. Some of them have. In some cases this company has sent an agent into the Dakotas, and where conditions have been such as to justify it, the indebtedness has been paid and the transport has been afforded. I may further state it is believed and reported to the department by our special agents employed there that we may look for a still further movement during the progress of the summer, when the grass will afford sufficient means for the food of the animals in their transport.

Q. What would be the probable fare from the country of Dakota to, say Devil's Lake, in the neighbourhood of say 150 or 180 miles west of Calgary towards Edmonton?—A. I cannot tell you the exact fare. Of course, these emigrants would not look for a reduction from the American railways, but the moment they touch our frontiers the C. P. R. makes the most liberal arrangements with them, as well when there is a special train, same as shown in the photograph laid before the Committee, and in individual cases.

By Mr. FEATHERSTON.—Do the land company's agents go to the States to solicit immigration?—A. Their course, as I understand, is not so much to solicit immigration as to send its inspector down to inquire into the position of applicants for loans.

Q. What interest do they charge on those loans?—A. I am not sure, but I think it is moderate. I am sure it is not a high rate. One object is to induce settlement.

Q. They are private individuals?—A. Yes. The Government has nothing to do in relation to loans.

By Mr. McMILLAN (Huron).—Have you any means of knowing whether the thousand settlers who went into the Red Deer and Edmonton district were settlers who had previously been there, and left with the intention of returning again some time.—A. I cannot answer as to whether these people had been in that district before. But they could not have been as settlers. As I stated before, I have no official information to enable me to speak with any accuracy of the figures, but I stated at the same time, my belief, that this immigration was most active.

By Mr. GIBSON.—This list of six hundred applications contains, applications only asking for information?—A. Yes, for information by people desiring to move. It was sent to the department in consequence of the unusual number of applications, each of the applications being registered and answered by letter. As you see, that paper contains the names and addresses in the western States.

By The CHAIRMAN.—Will you please tell us what steps are being taken to promote immigration from the Dakotas?—Have you any agents there?—A. There are still three agents employed there, Messrs. McInnes, Webster and Holmes. We had had some special agents for a few weeks to make representations. We had three Mennonites selected by Mr. Hespeler, the German Consul. Their names were, P. Weibe, J. Friesen and H. Weibe, who went among their brethren in those States. These agents made favourable reports. There were also two Scandinavians—Messrs. A. Hallonquist and H. J. Smith; and Mr. J. G. Palmerson, an Icelander. Mr. C. J. Caron was also employed in relation to the French-Canadian settlers. Five other special agents were also employed whose names are as follow:—M. McDonald, A. R. Code, G. P. Bliss, R. H. Mair and J. Siemens.

By Mr. GIBSON.—That $150,000 you mentioned some time ago has been given towards the encouragement of settlement. It is not included in the accounts in connection with the agents and others?—A. That sum, as I stated, has been specially allocated. It is all included in the immigration vote, but the administration in respect to that sum was held to be guided by the statements made by the First Minister in the House, which I have referred to.

By Mr. McMILLAN (Huron).—Do you think would it be better to spend some of this money in getting immigrants who are accustomed to the country from Dakota, rather than bring over old country immigrants, many of whom are not fit for settlement when they come to the country?—A. That is a question very difficult to answer directly on the merits, but there is a fact to be considered. The people who have lived in the country know all the ropes, and know what to do, and when they move, and they are able to shift for themselves. They would do so under any circumstances whatever, apart from any action of the Government. If the Government attempted to include them in any bonuses that might be paid, a very large amount would be required, and it might also be doubted to what extent it would accelerate the movement. With regard to immigrants from Europe, they have very much further to go and very much heavier expenses to meet, and everything is new and strange to them. It has been thought advisable to afford them assistance, especially in view of all the circumstances connected with the transit.

Immigration From Belgium and France.

By Mr. MOSSEAU.—Can you state the number of immigrants that have come from Belgium and France?—A. I can give you the number of those who arrived at Quebec and Halifax. These are the only points where we have registration. At Quebec last year the French and Belgian immigrants who arrived numbered 147, and at Halifax the French and Belgians reached the figure of only 317.

Q. Can you state the character of that immigration?—A. The character of the emigrants who have come from France and Belgium has been satisfactory. It has been very largely induced by special agencies, approved by Archbishop Taché, who has taken a very great interest in the immigration. The number of Scandinavian immigrants was 4,787 at Quebec and 636 at Halifax.

The Highland Crofter Settlements in Manitoba and the Territories.

By The CHAIRMAN.—There has been quite an immigration of a class called Crofters to Manitoba and the North-West Territories. Can you give us any information as to the number, their condition, and how they have succeeded?—A. We have a report from Mr. Bennett, our agent at Winnipeg. He says that, on the whole, they have succeeded fairly well. Many of them hired themselves out on the North-Western Railway, also on the C. P. R. at $2.50, a day. One of the colonies of Crofters is situated at a place called Saltecoats, and the other known as the Lady Cathcart colony is at Benbecula. They are in comfortable circumstances. We have also had a report from the Imperial committee giving the result of an individual inspection to the same effect. We also have had reports from some of the former delegates, giving exceedingly favourable impressions. Major Stevenson made a particular report. Mr. George Brown also made a very particular report. The condition reported by those two delegates was of general contentment and improvement of condition which would not have been possible in the old country.

Active Measures Adopted by the Department, to Promote Immigration.

Q. What were the measures taken to promote immigration during the past year?—A. There was generally an increase of activity, arising from the larger vote placed at the disposal of the Minister of Agriculture. The High Commissioner had in substance reported that the decrease in the immigration was partly owing to the increased competition and partly owing to the relaxation of efforts through the restriction of the vote. With the increased vote of 1891 there was an increased advertising, which has been found to be very effective. There was also a bonus offered to a limited number of "return men," so called—that is, farmers of the North-West who returned to their old homes to make representations. Then there was a bonus to immigrants who had actually settled on land at points in the Dominion west of the eastern frontier of Manitoba, and what is still more important as a means of propagandism, a bonus was also offered to the steamship agents of $5 per capita for all immigrants over the age of 18, on proof of settlement on land at points of the Dominion where the bonus to immigrants was paid. In the opinion of men who, from largest experience, understand the question of immigration, that is probably one of the most effective means we have yet taken. Then there was an invitation to thirteen Tenant Farmers' Delegates from all parts of the United Kingdom. Those who came were representative men, and very intelligent. They made a thorough and painstaking investigation, and they have furnished their reports to the Minister of Agriculture in the form of these four pamphlets (handing them to the Committee). I have looked through these pamphlets and I can say they are thoroughly well written and very clear in their definitions. They speak words which are likely to command confidence in the localities from which immigrants come.

By Mr. TAYLOR.—I would inquire whether these pamphlets are being largely distributed in the United Kingdom?—A. We have no supply for distribution in the Department, but as many as 800,000 copies of the separate reports have been printed. The demand for them is very large from all parts of the United Kingdom.

By Mr. FAIRBAIRN.—Are there enough copies to supply the demand, I think the report should be in the hands of every farmer in this country?—A. That is a question of money. No report or treatise of immigration to Canada has ever received so large a notice from the English press as have these reports. The London Times devoted a column and a half to an exceedingly able review of these reports, and it is the same with papers in other parts of the United Kingdom. That, coupled with the lectures the delegates themselves are giving, and the thousands of letters they are called upon to write, has diffused information and created a confidence from which I think we may fairly look for good fruits.

By Mr. DAVIN.—How much of the $150,000 was expended in bringing these gentlemen out?—A. We have not all the accounts yet in, but I think the expense was not under $10,000 nor over $12,000.

Q. That is very moderate.

Distribution of Immigration Literature in Europe.

By Mr. TROW.—What system is pursued in distributing those pamphlets in the old country?—A. They are in part distributed through the steamship agents and in part through our own agents. The object is to prevent what may be called a miscellaneous "sowing" of the pamphlets, and to place them where they will be likely to do the most good or where it is desired they should be circulated.

By Mr. GIBSON.—Have the steamship companies any means of communicating with the rural districts?—A. They have agents in every part—in every town and hamlet in the United Kingdom and the continent.

By The CHAIRMAN.—What is the number of immigration publications printed and issued by the Department during the year?—A. I have already mentioned the 800,000 delegate reports. There were also 125,000 copies of the official hand-book. It is a careful compilation of information referring to all parts of the Dominion. Then there were 30,000 copies printed of the pamphlet containing the evidence given by Mr. Gaetz before this Committee last session.

By Mr. TROW.—Is Mr. Gaetz now employed by the Government?—A. Oh, no sir; he is not employed by the Government.

By Mr. TAYLOR.—Were the Tenant Farmers' reports printed in Canada?—A. No; they were printed in England. They have not been set up in type in Canada at all.

Q. If they were, I think it would be advisable for this Committee to have them printed for distribution in Canada, because if we are losing our people by their going to the United States, I do not think we could supply them with better or more reliable information concerning our own country than we find in these books?—A. That is a question of policy. It has been thought the vote administered by the Department is applicable simply to promoting immigration. In addition to the other publications mentioned, I may say there were 175,000 copies printed of this little leaflet (showing it), with a map of Canada attached. The map is a very finely engraved one giving much information in relation to Canada. Then, by permission of the Postmaster General of England, we are allowed to put posters in every post office in the United Kingdom (showing one). It is very comprehensive, and the map affords very considerable information of matters in relation to the position of Canada in the world, and especially in relation to routes of travel.

By Mr. TROW.—Placing these posters in the post offices is a very good system of advertising?—A. It is the cheapest system of advertising we get. In addition to that, the High Commissioner causes to be prepared in Liverpool pamphlets in the German and Scandinavian languages, which are distributed through the continental agencies. These are copies of them (showing them).

By Mr. LOWE handed to the Committee the following summary statement of immigration publications for the year:—

125,000 copies of hand-book.
30,000 copies of Rev. Mr. Gaetz' pamphlet.
200,000 leaflets.
175,000 small black maps of the Dominion.
800,000 Tennant Farmers' Reports.
Continental pamphlets in German and Scandinavian languages, viz.:—
30,000 German.

1,543,000—Total of publications.

By Mr. COCHRANE.—I undersand Mr. Lowe to say the Tenant Farmers' Delegates brought out are lecturing in the old country?—A. These lectures are merely for the information of their friends, and are undertaken on their own responsibility.

Total Expenditure on Immigration, for the year 1890.

By The CHAIRMAN.—Can you tell us what was the total expenditure during the year for emigration?—A. The total expenditure for emigration during the last calendar year, 1890, for all establishments and all services, was $127,303. These figures may be, probably, slightly different from those published in the Auditor General's Report for the reason that that report takes in the fiscal year, or two halves of two calendar years, but we have always kept the immigration expenditure of the fiscal year to compare with the immigration of the calendar year.

By Mr. WATSON.—What part did the Government take in defraying the expenses or organizing the visit of the farmers of the North-West to the old country to deliver lectures last winter?—A. The Government did not send farmers from the North-West to the old country to deliver lectures. An Order in Council was passed to allow an amount of $50 to each of fifty "return" men, who were understood to have been selected because of their success as farmers.

Q. Was the selection made by the Government?—A. No; the selections were made by the transportation companies. The railway and steamship companies were understood to have combined in this movement, but they or the gentlemen acting for them generally accepted, I understand, the recommendations of members of the North-West as to men who were suitable to represent the different localities.

Q. Then the Department of Agriculture did not undertake it?—A. No; it only agreed to give $50 for approved service.

Q. What do you consider approved service?—A. The facts as to work done. We should receive reports as to what these men had done, and also know the number of immigrants they had brought out with them.

Q. Have you any detailed list of their operations?—A. I have not a detailed list of their operations, and only expect to get reports as to the work.

Q. Would there be any report published as to their operations?—A. They were not, as I stated, employés of the Department. They were not required to report to us.

Q. You said they will be paid $50 after receiving their reports?—A. To those whose work is approved. We shall of course give a list of those to whom we pay the $50.

Q. You spoke of receiving the reports of the agents as to what they had done?—A. We take the reports, as I stated, of the transportation company as to the effectiveness of the service.

Q. Will you have any report to make?—A. Not specially of these men. We shall have a list of the men, and give a general report of the service for which they were entitled to the payment of $50. But that does not constitute an employment which gives a claim to call for a detailed report from the person paid. We took pains in the first place to make it known that these "return men" could not in any way, either directly or indirectly, be considered as employés of the Department or as men sent by the Department. If anything of that kind had taken place it would have created the greatest embarrassment in many parts of Europe, particularly in Germany, France and I think also Sweden.

Q. I do not at all object to the Government paying $50 a head, but I would like to know whether there is any means of getting at the results. I do not think that $50 could be better spent than enabling men who have been resident in Canada for many years to return to their native country and give such information as would be thoroughly reliable. I think it is a good move on the part of the Government to give this $50 to suitable men, who could deliver addresses and meet people they knew in their younger days. No money could be spent to a greater advantage than money expended in this way.

By Mr. DAVIN.—I can give information in regard to one case. One man I sent out brought back with him seventy-one immigrant families. He is a German. Another man I sent out did not do quite so well; but I quite agree with my honourable friend that it is the very best way of getting immigration agents. You get them cheap—in fact, I was going to say you get them for too little. My own opinion is that $50 is not adequate.

By Mr. LOWE.—You would make them agents, if you gave them more, and if you sent them.

By Mr. DAVIN.—I would not make them agents, but I certainly do not think it is fair that the Government should ask a man because he takes an interest in the country and because he takes an interest in his people on the other side, to pay part of his expenses.

By Mr. GREGORY.—There has not been a very large amount paid out in this way, has there?—A. Oh, no; the limit of the Order in Council was $50 to every one of each fifty, and we have nothing at all to do with the selection. We do not even know how they are selected.

By Mr. WATSON.—What amount has been paid?—A. I cannot yet tell what amount has been paid. But I may explain that in order to comply with the terms of the Order in Council authorizing the Minister of Agriculture to pay $50 to each one of fifty of these "return men," the Minister must be satisfied with the bona fides or the amount of work done. For that we shall take the reports of the transportation companies, but I cannot yet tell what sum has been expended, because the amounts are not all in. I doubt, however, if the whole of the fifty payments of $50 will be taken up. We have kept no record of them. We did not send the men out, and we had nothing to do with them, other than I have stated. We were careful to make such definitions as to prevent these men being considered agents of the Government. The High Commissioner, the steamship companies and our own most experienced agents on the other side have insisted that agents should not be sent by the Government to make any immigration propagandism on any condition, either in the United Kingdom or on the continent of Europe. The question is very wide and intricate in its ramifications. I simply state to the Committee, without expressing any opinion, the advice which comes from the most experienced emigration authorities on the other side, and that is not to send any immigration agents, not because a Government agent might not make very valuable representations, but because of the distrust with which the representations of all emigration agents are received; and further, because it is stated that representations made by a Government agent would be sure to create complications and jealousies which would have an injurious effect.

By Mr. DAWSON.—What proof of results do these men put in?—Is it the gross results of his visit and the number brought over?—A. No; it may be the number of seventy-one as brought over by the man referred to by Mr. Davin just now, or it might be a report from the transportation companies that another man had done very active work, although he may have brought very few back with him.

By Mr. WATSON.—Mr. Lowe made a statement that it was very objectionable agents of the Government should act in foreign countries—did I understand that, Mr. Lowe?—A. No; not that. I stated that the Department had received advice from persons considered to be authorities on the other side of the Atlantic, that it would injure the immigration cause if the Government of Canada sent any agents, either to the United Kingdom or the continent of Europe.

Q. The Province of Manitoba has had an agent over there for the last two years—Mr. McMillan. I was always led to believe he was always doing very good work for the local Government. Have you heard anything to the contrary?—A. No; and I have not expressed any opinion on this question. I have simply reported to the Committee the information received.

Hon. Mr. CARLING.—It has been said by the High Commissioner and our agents in Great Britain that people coming from Canada to advocate emigration are looked upon with suspicion. They have had so many runners, land agents and railway agents from the United States, and others who went over from Canada years ago with promises which have not been found to be strictly correct. This was one of the chief reasons we asked them in the old country to select men like the Tenant Farmer Delegates, in whom they would have confidence, because we thought they would place more trust in the reports of their own men than they would in those of people who went from this country. The "return" men who went to England last year, as has been stated by Mr. Lowe, were not selected by the Government. They were selected by the people in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, and their fares were paid by the railway and steamboat companies, who gave them free tickets. They represented they were going home to see their friends, and would be able to do something towards assisting emigration, and might persuade their neighbours to come over to Canada. We were prevailed upon to give some assistance, but they did not go as our agents. They went on their own responsibility. We simply pay them $50. Our commissioner in Manitoba, Mr. Smith, has kept a list of the names of those who went, and I suppose will make every one report to the parties who selected them to go; and on satisfactory reports being presented that $50 will be paid by the Department.

The foregoing report of my evidence is correct.

JOHN LOWE.

Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Immigration.

COMMITTEE ROOM 46,
HOUSE OF COMMONS,
THURSDAY, 2nd July, 1891.

The Committee on Agriculture and Colonization convened this day at 10.30 a. m., Mr. SPROULE, Chairman, presiding.

Mr. W. A. WEBSTER, Dominion Immigration Agent, Kingston, called and examined.

Mr. WEBSTER being invited to proceed with his statement, said:—Mr. Chairman, during last session I appeared before this Committee for the purpose of giving some evidence in regard to the condition of agriculture in Dakota, and in reference to emigration from the Dakotas to Manitoba and the North-West. At the close of my statements on that occasion the view was expressed by members of the Committee that I had rather overdrawn some of the pictures, but I am in a position to say to-day, Mr. Chairman, that during the year that has since elapsed I have had an opportunity of looking over the same ground, and making further observations, and I now state positively that the statements I then made were a long way outside of the mark regarding the destitution in Northern and Southern Dakota. I have documents here, Mr. Chairman, that I think will show some matters that are of very great importance in connection with this movement with which I have been associated for the last two or three years.

Immigration Work in South Dakota, in 1890.

Last summer, not long after I had appeared before this Committee, I went over to the Dakotas for the purpose of continuing the work in which I had been engaged. From the character of the numerous letters I had received from farmers in Dakota, in the meantime, I came to the conclusion that the condition of affairs was very much worse in South Dakota, and I therefore went into that State. I entered the extreme south and travelled over the State and made as careful inquiries as it was possible for me to do with the limited time at my disposal, and by the time I reached the northern portion of South Dakota, I came to the conclusion that things were in about as bad a condition, from an agricultural point of view, as it was possible to imagine—worse, I think, than I ever saw or read of in any country. During the trip from Yorkton, into Brown County which embraces a large portion of the State, I mingled often with the farmers, going into the towns and villages, meeting the farmers as they gathered there, going out to their farms, and so ascertaining for myself the correctness of the statements made, from personal observation. At the time I reached the southern part of the State, harvest had just commenced—that is for that portion of the crop they assumed to harvest, for the crop was not all harvested by any means, there. In Brown County, when I arrived there, the harvest was over and threshing had commenced to some extent. Most of the correspondence I received came from farmers in South Dakota, in Brown, Macpherson and Edmunds counties. Brown County is situated in what is known as the Jim River valley, and styled by the local papers, "The Garden of the Dakotas," and "The Garden of the World." Mixing with the farmers in those three counties, as I did, and inspecting their farms, I found that the statements made to me over their own signatures, during the previous winter, regarding the crops, were strictly correct. They had entertained the hope during the harvest, and before threshing commenced, that the wheat crop would average four bushels to the acre. They had over estimated the crop by about 50 per cent., however, for the average yield was only about two bushels to the acre. I may say, Mr. Chairman, that the farmers had some knowledge that I had been in North Dakota, and when they found that I was here for the purpose of giving them information about Manitoba and the North-West, they wrote letters to me, asking me to meet them in some place where they could come together in numbers; in other words, they would call meetings, and ask me if I would appear at those meetings, and speak to them about the condition of affairs in my own country. I told them of where they could get free land, of the crops that were grown, how they could reach the most desirable places for settlement, and matters of that kind. I also endeavoured to give them some idea of our local institutions and other matters in which a practical farmer who had made up his mind to leave the country he was then in, for the purpose of settling in another, would be interested. As it was then reaching the season of the year when it was necessary for me to go further west, I suggested holding a meeting in the hall at Westport, in Brown County. I offered, if they would gather in sufficient numbers to justify me in sparing the time, to go and afford them the best information I could in regard to the agricultural resources of our own North-West. At the close of one of these meetings, one or two gentlemen expressed themselves in this way. They said:—"If the country is as good as you describe, it is a fine country, but we have not forgotten that we were once in a much better country than this. But a smooth-tongued man came into that country, and told us a story something similar to what you are telling us now, but at that time in regard to Dakota, instead of the North-West. We accepted his statements and other information as being correct, although he was a stranger to us, and on the strength of those statements and other information, we left our former homes." Many of these men came formerly from Ontario counties—Kent, Essex, Simcoe, Middlesex, and a large proportion are settled in the newer portions of South Dakota. "We should hesitate," they declared, "before accepting the statements of any stranger." I said, "That is true, but I don't ask you to take my simple statements. I am prepared to do this: If you gentlemen will meet in a formal way and organize a meeting, and appoint one of yourselves, a good substantial farmer, in whom you have entire confidence, who has the ability to judge the agricultural resources of the country and has the honesty to report those things to you, truthfully, on returning amongst you, I will take him up and show him Manitoba and the North-West."

Appointment of a Farmer Delegate to inspect Manitoba and the Territories.

It was the latter part of the harvest, and threshing was going on to some extent, and I thought it was the proper time for an eye-witness to judge of the resources of our country, and come back and report to them, so, I said, "We will take your delegate up at our own expense and show him over the country, and when he comes back you can govern yourselves entirely by his report." They said, "That is fair;" and they met and appointed a man in whom they claimed to have entire confidence. I have the resolution here:—

"LEOLA, MACPHERSON COUNTY,

"AND WESTPORT, BROWN COUNTY, SOUTH DAKOTA.

"A number of the farmers of this district met at Westport, W. A. Webster, Dominion Immigration Agent, being present, and after hearing his statement of the agricultural resources of Manitoba and the Canadian North-West Territories, passed unanimously the following resolution: 'Whereas, the crops in this section have been declining for years, and have proved almost a total failure, and we have decided that the time has arrived that we must emigrate somewhere, and having heard W. A. Webster's description of the agricultural resources of said Territories, be it resolved,

"That Mr. George Lounsberry be, and is by this meeting appointed a delegate, to accompany Mr. Webster to Manitoba and the western Territories, and carefully examine their resources and the opportunities they possess for farmers with their families to settle, and report the facts to the farmers of this district on his return.'
Carried unanimously.

"J. NAMOCK,

"Secretary."

"H. A. JESTER,

"Chairman."

MR. W. A. WEBSTER.

Well, Mr. Chairman, while these farmers were present I asked them, as soon as they would have completed their threshing, forty or fifty of them, to prepare me statements, each man over his own signature, giving his name, his home before he went to Dakota, his present address in Dakota, the number of acres he had in wheat that year, and the number of bushels he threshed. They did so, and here is the statement. (Statement produced). It contains the names of the men, their former address, their then address, with a column showing the acres in grain. The largest number of acres in grain was 500 acres, so you see they are not very small farmers. There is another column showing the number of bushels they have grown. The average for 44 farms was  $1\frac{3}{4}$  bushels to the acre. That I have every reason for believing is fully up to the average of that western portion of South Dakota, known as the Jim River valley.

Inspection and Report by Delegate Lounsberry.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I said that Mr. Lounsberry was appointed a delegate. We left the next morning for Winnipeg. On arriving at Winnipeg I interviewed the railway officials, there, and got transportation. We visited Brandon and various other points and proceeded as far as Moosomin. It was just the season of the year when the grain was in sheaf, whilst some was in stack, and in a few instances it was being cut. We had an opportunity of seeing it in all shapes and phases. We also visited the principal vegetable gardens in and around Winnipeg, and proceeded to several farming sections, taking all the time we could. We journeyed through potato fields, turnip fields—in fact, we had an opportunity of seeing all the greatest root-growing districts. I have the report here of Mr. Lounsberry. He was most careful and painstaking, not only in examining the crops by personal examination, but he took every opportunity of talking with the farmers wherever he met them. He would also visit stores in the villages for the purpose of making a comparison between the prices there and in his own settlement. He also visited the clothing establishments, and in every possible way sought to acquire information. His report is too long to read, but there are possibly one or two paragraphs I might give. The report was taken in the form of what newspaper men call an interview. After he had gone around the country pretty carefully, I took him into a newspaper office and a short-hand report was obtained. He was asked questions, and here are his answers to these questions. He was asked:

“Q. It appears the crops in your part of Dakota are not satisfactory the past few years?—A. No; in the two counties referred to—Macpherson and Brown—the wheat will not exceed 3 bushels to the acre, oats a little better, and hay next to nothing.”

This was previous to threshing. At that time it was hoped to get 3 bushels of wheat. Then he was asked:

“Q. How do crops run in the rest of South Dakota, which embraces a large territory?—A. A little better, but county for county, the wheat this year will not exceed 4 bushels to the acre.”

As I have already said, that was previous to the threshing, and the list I have shows exactly what the result was. Then this question was asked:

“Q. What were the wheat yields in 1887 and 1888 in the State?—A. In 1887 probably 15 bushels, and 12 bushels in 1888. It has been a continual failure.

“Q. But how is it possible for a man to keep a family in your part, under such circumstances?—A. It cannot be done; many settled there with money, and while they had money or chattels to mortgage they could exist, but now both are nearly exhausted and the worst stares them in the face.

“Q. What are your rates of interest there?—A. The best of farmers' paper at the ordinary bank pays 12 per cent., while on chattels 3 per cent. a month is the current rate, often more than that and scarcely ever less.

“Q. How do they pay this rate?—A. They don't pay it. Their chattels go to the hammer almost invariably, and good cows bring but from $6 to $8, and along there.

"Q. Why don't the settlers leave there?—A. They are prevented from doing so by the want of means. Their chattels are for the most part mortgaged, and many of them would be unable to bring even teams along with them.

"Q. What is the price of the Deering binder there?—A. $180 cash and $200 on time. Agents used to take security for payment on the implements, but now, crops are proving such a failure, agents must have security on other chattels as well, or they won't sell, and they ask 12 per cent. on payments overdue.

"Q. What is the cost of other implements there?—A. Good waggons cost $80, and gang and walking ploughs about $60 and $80.

"Q. What are your assessments and taxation?—A. The average quarter section is assessed at $1,000, and taxes on it are from 19 to 21 mills on the dollar.

"Q. How do you like our crops?—A. I have seen many magnificent yields and no poor ones, but of course these rains are against harvesting. I see on every hand the farmers of Manitoba are improving, while our people are losing all they had. We have a few that could buy good farms, others that could not, but the majority of them want free homesteads.

Q. How did you find the crops on your trip westerly?—A. Simply prodigious. I must say that in any reports of the crops of Manitoba and the North-West, nothing has been overdrawn. I never saw such grain crops; and as for roots—potatoes as big as a man's boot, cabbages like wooden pails, and beets as big as a man's thigh. I must report Manitoban and Western crops are all Canadians represent them them to be. There appears to be no trouble in growing ornamental trees and shrubs which are impossible with us.

"Q. Taking implement for implement, how do you find farming tools to compare in price with those of the States?—A. Gang ploughs are $90 here, against $65 with us; other implements are, according to utility, fully as cheap here.

"Q. What about the price of clothing, etc.?—A. Cottons are a little cheaper there, but woollen goods are from 30 to 40 per cent. cheaper here.

Q. From what county in Ontario did you emigrate? What induced you to settle in the United States, and what do you think of the representations of the Grit press as to the burdens of the Manitoba farmer under the tariff?—A. I was a Reformer in the County of Elgin and moved to Dakota through the representations of the Government and railway agents. I am convinced the representations of the press of my own politics in this country are misleading and untrue, as a farmer can live just as cheaply in Manitoba as in Dakota, considering food, clothing and implements, and he has four times the return in crops, for his labours. There is no grinding of the tariff or taxation here. In the United States, in addition to taxes on the farm, there are taxes on every chattel a man possesses. Even his household goods are taxed, the gun he shoots with, and the watch in his pocket—there is none of that here.

"Q. What will your report be?—A. Simply t'at any man who can't live and get along here by farming, can't live and grow anywhere. My report shall be most favourable."

By Mr. Davin :

Q. What is the date of that paper please?—A. Brandon Mail, September 11th, of last year. Shortly after this report was printed in South Dakota I received letters by the hundred, from farmers asking where homestead land could be got, the best locality to settle, and matters of that kind. It was then getting along towards Fall, and not a very desirable time to take delegates into our country, but the farmers exhibited so much anxiety, and the state of affairs down there was so bad, I thought now was the time to strike the iron while it was hot. I therefore went down and met the farmers in Macpherson and Edmunds counties and selected a number of suitable men. I might here say that just before Mr. Lounsberry left Winnipeg for home I gathered a large collection of vegetables, consisting of roots, beets, cabbages, and so forth, and sent them down by that gentleman. Mr. Lounsberry agreed to exhibit them at the village of Westport. He carried out his promise, and the consequence was, I received those letters asking me to go back and do something for them.

A Second and Larger Prospecting Delegation from South Dakota.

The upshot of it was I went down and selected seven other farmers who were to go up for the purpose of examining the several sections of the country and choosing the location in which the farmers who were going up would settle. Some of these men had many acres under grain. One of these men was Lincoln Chute, and the yield in his case with 500 acres was only 1,000 bushels. Herbert Chute was another. He had 160 acres in grain. Henry Hoover was another; Roger McCallum, J. J. Williams and E. E. Petit were others, and a number of other men whose names are not on the list in my possession. The delegates went as far as Brandon, and stopped talking to the farmers and going over the farms. They were persuaded it was foolish to go further west. The country was good enough, but there were no homestead lands, and it was necessary that these people should have free land, because they had no means. We travelled along the Manitoba and North-Western Railway and visited Yorkton and Prince Albert, where there are lots of free land. We got transportation by waggon and drove to Prince Albert along what is called the fertile belt. With the district known as the Touchwood District, in Ranges 9, 10, 11 and 12, west of the 2nd Principal Meridian, the delegates were particularly pleased. They said: "This country is good enough for us. You cannot tell us there is anything wrong with this; we are going to stop right here." We selected there six townships, and the place decided upon was in every way suited to their case. "There are a few things we must have," they said, "which are lacking in South Dakota. We want good land, and must have timber for fencing and fuel, and we want surface water, or at least if we cannot get surface water we do not want to dig holes 150 feet deep, as we had to do in Dakota." Some of the delegates had to dig 150 feet, and at least 53 feet on their farms in Dakota, and would probably get only 2 feet of water, and that strongly impregnated with alkali, whilst many of them had been driving their stock from two to five miles to water. They had made up their minds, therefore, that in settling in another country they would look out for timber and water. In the district selected by them there is plenty of timber for all purposes. One of the delegates, named Rodney Button, who was a leader of the party, and formerly was a very large farmer in Edmunds County, Dakota, and an American by birth, was so impressed with the country, that nothing could induce him to remain till spring. He pulled out of Edmunds County in the last days of February, in a big blizzard and drove 40 miles to Aberdeen, where he secured railway transport. Some of the railway companies did not want to convey the settlers out, but Mr. Button got away and settled in Yorkton County in the last days of February. Mr. Button was a prominent man in Edmunds County. He was for many years supervisor, and had filled the municipal offices ranking with reeve and warden in our Ontario provinces.

An Active Immigration Campaign—Strong Local Opposition.

Early in the spring we commenced a pretty active campaign in South Dakota. We thought all these circumstances I have been relating were calculated to greatly assist us in our work, upon which we entered on 1st March. Mr. Button having been for some time in Manitoba, upon the character of which he was well able, from careful examination, to express a competent opinion, and being a man well known over the three counties of Edmunds, Macpherson and Brown, I wrote to him asking for an expression of his views. I did so, for this reason. When: the local papers found that we had gone down there for the purpose of moving the people out, they made a series of attacks upon us, and there was a regular Waterloo for a time. The local papers styled us cut-throats and paupers, and all that sort of thing. It was no easy matter to contend against opposition of that kind. There each man has his own county paper; they have no State paper, and whatever difference of opinion may exist amongst them in politics, the influence of those attacks would be so great that they would all be agreed in trying to drive us out of the State.

Every money lender, every land agent, ever politician, and even the clergymen, were against us. The clergymen took a moral view, that even if they had had poor crops the people ought to stick to the country. We had all these things to contend against, but we had the farmers behind us, and therefore we could afford to snap our fingers at these influences. I wrote Mr. Button a letter, for the purpose of obtaining some statement from him in reply to a charge made by local papers in Dakota that the country where he and other settlers had gone round Yorkton was not fertile—that they had neither wood nor water, and that our statements were untrue. I wrote Mr. Button asking him several questions. I reminded him that he was an old farmer and an intelligent man, and asked him if they had timber, water &c., where they had settled. The reply I received is as follows:—

“YORKTON, ASSA., NORTH-WEST, 9th April, 1891.

“DEAR SIR,—Yours of 6th inst. came to hand to-day, and as I shall go out to-morrow to a tract of land, located near Mr. Holmes, 45 miles north-west of Yorkton, I will write you to-night. This is my second trip out to the land above referred to. There is plenty of timber for building, fencing and fuel for all time to come; soils splendid for growing crops, good water, plenty of lakes, hay splendid, wood cut two or three tons per acre; a noble country for people who wish to engage in mixed farming. Tell the people of the Dakotas to come. I believe if all the people in South Dakota thoroughly understand the advantages which this country possesses there will be a grand emigration from South Dakota to this place. I wish I had time to go down to Edmunds County and enlighten my old neighbours there, as to the advantages of this country, for I assure you that from our varied experience in South Dakota I have had quite enough on that great American desert. The average crops here the past season were—wheat 35, and oats 70 bushels per acre; other things in proportion.

“The weather here now is beautiful; farmers are now seeding; weather very warm: soil in fine condition; fine and moist.

“Yours very truly,

“RODNEY BUTTON.”

I hoped the county papers, in justice to themselves and the profession to which they belonged, would have published this letter; but they would not publish it, even as an advertisement. After that, Mr. Chairman, we had to do the work of the newspapers by getting fly-sheets struck off. In Aberdeen there was a Farmers' Alliance paper, and you would have thought that the editor would have been glad to help the farmers, but he told me his life would not be safe if he published any of our communications. I got him, however, to print some fly-sheets for us.

Actual Movement and Settlement of Immigrants Commenced

We then commenced moving people out of there, in the last week of April. We got up our first large train at that time. Seeing that some statements of mine before this Committee last year were questioned, I have taken the precaution this year of bringing my proofs along with me. When the train was about leaving Aberdeen it was something so unusual that it created a great sensation. The people that were going out on the train were glad to get away, and they were prepared to assist us in any way that was possible. The suggestion, thereupon, came from a number of farmers, 15 or 20 of them met in our office, and they said,—“We have been deceived and robbed, and now that we have found a better country the men who have skinned and robbed us want to keep us here until a new skin grows on, and then they want the satisfaction of taking that off.” To show their disgust they suggested that it take the form of putting mottoes on the cars. Accordingly, we got a couple of webs of cotton to reach from the tender to the last car, and on that they insisted certain mottoes should be put. I said if they did it there might be trouble, but they said they would defend them with their lives. Here is a photograph of the train as it arrived in Winnipeg. (Photograph put in.)

By Mr. Davin :

Q. Did they go through the States in that way?—A. Yes. The mottoes were put on in Aberdeen and the cars travelled through the whole of the State in that way.

Q. Was the train the length shown in the picture?—A. It was as long a train as the engine could pull; there is only half the train shown there. These people were all taken to Yorkton. It was early in the spring, and we adopted this plan. At Yorkton, which is at the end of the Manitoba and North-West road, we got the Department here to hurry up the erection of a building for immigrants, as the mothers and children wanted some shelter. It was a comfortable place, and the families remained there until such time as the men had time to build shanties. When they struck a place that they took a fancy to, and thought they would like to locate there, the men would soon run up a shanty. About the middle of May we got in the little colony there numbering 200 souls, all straight from South Dakota. Just at the time we got the colony planted, the county papers in Dakota, from where we had taken them, claimed they had sent up men to examine our country and write letters back, and their descriptions of the country were something terrific—snow 2 feet deep, icebergs, &c., and one paper went so far as to say that the country was over-run with rattlesnakes. These statements were simply outrageous. Men reading these in their county paper, particularly when they purported to come from agents sent to examine the country, might be impressed with the idea that they were true, and we had therefore to set to work to offset them, which we did in this way: After the men had got in their early oats and were settled down comfortably, they gave us this testimonial:—

“YORKTON, N. W. T., May 12th, 1891.

“We the undersigned, formerly residents of the State of South Dakota and now located in Townships 30 and 31, Ranges 9, 10, 11 and 12, west of the 2nd Principal Meridian, being what is known as the Touchwood District, hereby certify that the representations made by agents W. A. Webster, Alfred F. Holmes and E. E. Pettit, have been carried out in every particular.

“That we find the land and location to be better than represented, in that there is more timber, better water and finer soil.

“And we hereby express our thanks to the Canada Settlers' Loan and Trust Company for the facilities given by them to enable us to get to this country, also to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Manitoba and North-Western Railroad officials, for the courtesy and assistance given us to Yorkton, from the boundary; and the same to Mr. G. H. Campbell, Dominion Immigration Agent, for his kindness to our wives and children in Winnipeg.

“And we desire that this testimonial may be printed and circulated among our former neighbours in Brown, Macpherson, Edmunds and Marshall counties, in South Dakota, and we confidently recommend that they can have the utmost confidence in the representations made to them by agents Webster, Holmes and Pettit, as we have found them more than borne out by the facts, in every particular.

“Taxes are only for school purposes, and do not exceed $4 per quarter section, and money can be had at 8 per cent. per annum.”

This testimonial was signed by men representing at that time a colony of 189 souls; to-day that colony contains 250 souls. I asked the newspapers in South Dakota, as a matter of justice, to insert this testimonial in their columns. I said: “Here is the signature of your old subscribers,” but the newspapers there would not do it. We had therefore no recourse but to have fly-sheets printed and distributed by the thousands throughout the country. I may state to the Committee, that I have with me the surveyor's field notes of the land where these settlers located, and if any one is anxious to know the character of the country, he will understand from those notes what is the character of the land and water, there, just as if he were looking at the land. There is plenty of timber and water, and the soil is as good as Rodney Button says it is.

By Mr. Trow :

What kind of timber is it?—A. Principally poplar and balm of gilead. It is a very fine timber. The balm of gilead runs 40 feet to the first limb, and it makes first-rate timber for fencing purposes. Of course, fuel is no object there now. Many of the men whom I brought up from South Dakota, on arriving at the Red River at Winnipeg, saw trees for the first time in nine years.

Q. What distance is it from the Hudson Bay fort to the Touchwood Hills?—A. I do not know that. The location is right near the Touchwood Hills—45 miles north-west of Yorkton.

By Mr. Davin :

Q. Are there no trees in Dakota such as we have in Assiniboia?—A. No, sir. It is as bare as this floor, there. In South Dakota you can travel 200 miles one way, and 100 another, without seeing a tree.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. Do you think the climate will be good where these people have settled—is it not very far north?—A. There is a man who has been living there for nine years—a Mr. Mullin. The delegates visited his place, and he gave us his history. He said he came there nine years ago, his property consisting of a yoke of oxen and a waggon, and two cows behind. His wife and children were on the waggon, and he had but $30 in his breeches pocket, and he owed $60 where he came from. The delegates examined his property and his stock. He has been growing stock largely, and they reported to me that he was worth at least $15,000. They said, "If he came up here nine years ago, and has got along so well, this country will do for us."

Q. Have you ever visited the Birtle district?—A. Yes

Q. And this location is considerably north-west of the Birtle district?—A. Yes; it is straight north of Wolseley, in the Territories.

Q. To the best of my recollection, you won't find the timber there that you have described?—A. The timber is there to a tree. I know these townships as well as I know my own farm. I was determined this time, when I made statements before this Committee, I would know of my own personal knowledge that they were correct, so that there is no mistake about what I have just stated.

Satisfied Colonists Testify to the Agricultural Superiority of the Canadian Territories.

Not only that, but I have Mr. Button's letter, and he is living there now. Then we have this testimonial from all the colonists, practically the signatures of the two hundred men. I have here also a copy of the Winnipeg Free Press of 22nd April, giving an account of the train as it passed through Winnipeg. They devote half a column to it. Then the Free Press of 15th May, gives a further statement of the names of a large number of the settlers. I may say further that after the experience of these men in South Dakota, some of them came to the conclusion that wheat-growing was not worth touching in any country. They said they would not touch it again, and they wanted to go into a stock-growing country. I thought of Alberta, and I had with me some of the Rev. Mr. Gaetz's pamphlets issued by the Department of Agriculture. I filled the parties up with his report and other reports describing the resources of Alberta. The suggestions were made to me about the first of May, and there was a large number that would like to go up into that country to see with their own eyes what resources it had as a stock-growing country. We therefore got a number of delegates appointed in this way—there were none of my selection. I said, on every occasion, "Let the farmers assemble, organize a formal meeting, and select men in whom you have the utmost confidence. We will take them up to that country, and all that we ask is that they will make a fair, honest report." Ten delegates were therefore appointed from Edmunds, Brown, Macpherson and Mackintosh counties, so that we had them distributed pretty generally over that portion of Southern Dakota that is no good. Southern Dakota, I may say, west of the Missouri River is not worth a dollar. Well, we left Aberdeen on the 14th May. Before leaving I visited the localities in which the delegates lived, and made myself pretty well acquainted with the men and what they possessed in the portion of the country in which they lived, to be sure I was bringing out good and reliable men. We examined the country all the way from Winnipeg to Calgary, then north to the Red Deer country, and twenty-four miles further. We drove west and east, thirty to forty miles, in every direction. We examined a number of farms and men who had been cropping, in Dakota, 2 bushels of wheat, or one bushel of oats, to the acre, and here saw crops of 60 bushels of oats and 30 bushels of wheat to the acre. The sight almost paralysed these men. Then we visited Virden, Moosomin, Qu'Appelle, Regina and other places. At Regina we drove over the whole district, twenty-five miles north and south, as I desired to place the delegates in contact with the farmers themselves. Then we visited Moose Jaw, and from there drove thirty miles north and south, and found it a ten times better country than I had been led to believe. We found prosperous farmers there, who told us they never had failures of crops, but had grown 25 or 30 bushels of wheat without failure.

Yorktown,—Prosperous and Contented Settlers.

Then we went to Prince Albert, the Birch Hill country, the Carrot river country back to Portage La Prairie and then to the Yorkton colony. There were 230 persons there that day, the delegates being personal acquaintances of many of the Yorkton colonists. I left that visit until the last, in order that the delegates might witness the land being ploughed, and so that they might see the progress their old neighbours from Dakota had made in their new settlement on Canadian soil. The centre of the colony is on a little lake called Lake Sheho. The people were delighted to see the delegates, and gave us a picnic. All the colony turned out, and we spent a very pleasant afternoon. After eating and drinking, a public meeting was organized and speeches were delivered by A. L. Chute, Rodney Button, and the men who had lost ten years of their life in South Dakota. The substance of their speeches was that they were glad they had left Dakota and had come to a country where their prospects were so good. They only wished that they had been there before. When we got back to Winnipeg the delegates made a report. If I had had the whole State of South Dakota to select from, and had a year from which to do it, I could not have got better men. Some of them in South Dakota told me "if this man McLean, who goes up with you, decides to pull out from this place, he will take everything in the county with him." That is about the character of this man. I have here with me their reports, with the signatures of the men, which they gave me when they got back to Winnipeg. One of the Camerons comes from Lucknow West; F. J. Randall is an American of Irish extraction. McLean comes from Wellington County, a few miles from Guelph; his is an old Scotch family. When the McLean family left Wellington, a man by the name of Whitcher a first cousin of this man McLean, went to Dakota, but he only remained there for two years, when he left and went up to Manitoba, and settled near Portage la Prairie. As I said, these two men were first cousins, and had lost track of each other for several years. We happened to meet in Portage la Prairie, and there McLean discovered that Whitcher had become an independent, rich man, while he himself was an independent poor man. McLean said that, previously, he had been the best man of the two, "but now look at the difference in our positions. He is an independent rich man, while I have lost ten years of my life, and am to-day poor." So with regard to Cameron, he met a cousin in Nippawa. He found his cousin a comparatively wealthy man, while, as he said, he was a beggar. But their report is here. The report of these delegates, Mr. Chairman, is here. In it they say, after examining the Red Deer District:—

"It is a grand stock country, probably no better known, plenty of timber, water, hay and good soil easily tilled. We found many North Dakota farmers settling in this district. There is plenty of free homestead land here. Returning east we stopped off at Regina, the capital of the Territories; on invitation of the Mayor and citizens we visited the common and high schools, also the Indian industrial school, and expressed our admiration of them and the noble work they are doing. We examined this district thoroughly; no richer soil than here. North and south of here are fine stock sections, stock living out almost the entire year. We hear nothing of hard times here. From here we went north 250 miles, over a first-class railroad, to Prince Albert, in the Saskatchewan valley. We examined (as far as our time would permit) this district very carefully; we found here plenty of timber for all purposes, water in abundance, rivers, lakes, and well-water of first-class quality, at depths of from 10 to 50 feet. Rich, mellow soil, producing a luxuriant growth of grasses of the most nutritious kinds—in short, a first-class country for mixed farming, having now good railway facilities, and where good prices are had for stock and all kinds of farm products. There is plenty of free homestead land here. We wish to lay stress on this fact, that we met farmers all over Manitoba and the North-West that came here poor ten years ago and are now rich, while the very reverse of this has been the case of the farmers of South Dakota."

Wherever we drove, every hour or two, we met men on buckboards, all bent on locating themselves in that district. Many had driven across from North Dakota, and of whom we have no means of keeping a record. We can only keep an account of those who are transported on the railway. We found from conversation with those people that they had simply driven across and got on as best they could. Thousands of copies of the reports of those men have been printed and circulated. When taking their departure from Winnipeg they said: "Webster, when you come down we will give you a month each one of us, driving you over the country in which we live, for the treatment we have received at the hands of the railway officials and citizens generally. We feel ourselves under that much obligation, and will leave nothing undone, as far as our personal influence is concerned, to get our neighbours into this country." The colony I have referred to, the South Dakota colony, at what we call Lake Sheho, contains to-day about 155 souls. Two weeks ago I received a letter from Winnipeg stating that five families had arrived with their effects from Aberdeen on the way to Yorkton, and the tide of immigration is now setting in. I may say we have now 257 in that colony. They had journeyed from Aberdeen, having lived in the counties of Macpherson, Brown and Marshall, in the district styled by the local papers "The Garden of the Earth." We hope that with the evidence we have now and the influence of the colonists already settled in Canada that the number of emigrants who will leave Dakota during the next year will be surprising. I was just going to tell the Committee that the day before I left Winnipeg I went to Mr. Eden, of the Manitoba and North-Western Railway, and Mr. Hamilton, Dominion Land Commissioner, and said: "I would like to know from you before going down east how many emigrants have passed through. I know only from the point of shipping at Aberdeen we have 257." They were both positive, they stated, that over a thousand had come over this spring up to that time—that is, from South Dakota.

By Mr. DAVIN.—Into Manitoba and the North-West?—A. Yes. There is one very gratifying thing, Mr. Chairman, and that is that every man we brought over as a delegate has made his home in Manitoba or is going to. There are the Chutes, the McCallums, the Hoovers, Lonsberry, Petit, Williams, the Kettles and Hansen. Jack Hansen is a Norwegian, well known in South Dakota, and supposed to control a township called the Township of Willow. When Hansen was on the point of leaving there, this last spring, they persecuted him in every possible way. When I asked one of the citizens the reason of this, he said that "if Jack pulled out, the others would follow, and there would be nobody left." When I was down there we undertook to give assistance to many people who were in debt, and but for the assistance rendered by the Canada Homestead and North-West Land Company, we could not have moved many of them out. They were in this position: The land had no value and they could not sell it. I can buy 50 quarter-sections with pretty fair buildings on them, in South Dakota, which I could sell to any member of this Committee for $25. It was the same with their stock and farming implements. Chattels which would be worth from $600 to $1,000 in Manitoba were of no value there, because they had no money left. In addition to this, a man would invariably have a chattel mortgage on his stock. Of those who moved into South Dakota there were but three families that had not chattel mortgages, to a more or less extent. We tried to assist them to sell part of their stock, with a view of paying off the mortgages.

Q. Are there any more of them left?—A. Yes; many of them. As I was informed, the farmers could not get more than  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cents per pound for their steers, so it was found impossible to raise money by selling a portion of the stock, then this homestead company paid off the mortgages, drawing 40 per cent. interest, and gave loans at 8 per cent. The mortgage would perhaps amount to \$350, and the balance of the loan would cover the cost of transportation. When the immigrants arrived at their destination, stock that possessed very little value before, would assume a value of from \$600 to \$700. Chute brought up his property to Yorkton, and it is worth \$1,600.

This, in brief, is a statement of what we have been doing since I was before this Committee last year. I am more hopeful now than I ever was since I commenced, four years ago, of the success of this work. I saw then—and I made the statement in a report I presented to the Government at the time—that the Dakotas, outside of the Red River valley, were a total failure as a farming country; that it was only a matter of time for the people to leave there. Dakota is being now depopulated much faster than it was ever populated. I can name whole counties in which you can drive 35 miles and only pass two inhabited houses; and remember, that seven years ago there were families in every quarter-section in South Dakota. The land was taken up so rapidly that there was not much chance of pre-emption for a quarter-section homesteader. There is in North Dakota, the Red River valley, about 30 miles wide, extending from the boundary down to South Fargo, which, to my mind, is as good a country as there is in the world, but it is simply a speck.

Irrigation in South Dakota.

By Mr. O'Brien:

Q. You except irrigated lands?—A. There are no irrigated lands in the Dakotas.

Q. I know of some in neighbourhood of the Black Hills?—A. I am speaking now of the country east of the Missouri. I saw land west of the Missouri not worth a dollar. There is no farming country in South Dakota. Another attempt has been made to boom it, in this way: The farmers are told if they put down artesian wells they will all get rich. There have been a number of wells sunk in that State, some of them to a depth of 2,000 feet, and giving unlimited quantities, but we do not see the grass growing any higher than it was before. When I asked the people why they spent money in putting down artesian wells, they had no answer to give. My view is, there is something wrong with the water. There is only one farmer, as far as I know, who has made any attempt to irrigate, and he does not seem to have met with any remarkable degree of success. I think, Mr. Chairman, that is the information I have to give the Committee regarding this movement. Four years ago I went, at the request of the Government, to the Dakotas, to make a comparison of the agricultural resources of that country with Manitoba. I did so, and examined the country with all the care I could possibly command, and all the intelligence I possessed. I felt at the time I was describing the country more favourably than was the case, and the lapse of time has proved that my opinion was correct. The country has gradually been getting worse since 1887, when I made my first report, and it is now absolutely a total failure from an agricultural point of view. The counties are bankrupt. Take Brown County: It has $268,000 of taxes, and so on, with county after county. The wheat was taken as it was threshed to satisfy chattle mortgages drawing 30 percent., so that when the last bushel was threshed there was nothing to eat, and when next year comes around, no seed. In some cases the county was bonded, and bonds to the amount of $50,000 issued. Then they sent down to Minneapolis to buy seed, which was distributed amongst the farmers. This was sold at two prices, at big rates of interest, and caretakers and watchers appointed to see that the wheat was not eaten up or stolen. When the harvest comes the farmer is not a bit better off. In Macpherson County, after the formalities had been gone through last year, it was found that the bonds could not be sold, and the farmers were in a sorry plight, not being able to plough. This year not over 5 per cent. of the land is ploughed and sowed. The drilling is done amongst the thistles and stubble, and in many cases the horses are of such a poor stock that ploughing is an impossibility. Many farmers are prepared to leave there and come to Manitoba and the Canadian North-West. Nothing prevents them coming out to-day, by the thousand, but the lack of means to pay off their mortgages and pay the cost of transportation to where they could get free land. I could bring out from there between now and the 1st October, 500 heads of families. There is no mistake any longer; we are going to get them out.

I am now going to start away for Winnipeg and Aberdeen, and intend to stay as long as the Department will permit, with the object of bringing out men who, from their knowledge of prairie life and experience—and many have learned the rules of economy to a nice degree—will make valuable settlers for Manitoba and the North-West.

By Mr. Trow :

Q. What means of support have those settlers during the winter who are impoverished?—A. They have their stock.

Q. I thought you said they could not sell their stock?—A. They could not down there; they have their stock up there with them now. The homestead company having advanced money to pay off the mortgages, they would have a balance left after paying for transportation. Some of them got a loan of $500, and would probably have a couple of hundred dollars left after paying off the chattel mortgage. They can go right to work there. They have all their stock, and all they lack is food.

Q. What company is aiding them?—A. The Canada and North-West Homestead Company.

Q. What interest do they charge?—A. Eight per cent.

The foregoing report of my evidence is correct,
