So Declares German Journal in Anti-American Propaganda - U. S. Called Vampire Sucking Both Gold and Blood From Europe

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Oct. 16.—A cable from London to the Herald says: Anti-British propaganda is now raging in the German press as never before, and also for purposes of propaganda, the Prussians are issuing at Amsterdam a Deutsche-Wochen-Zeitung, in the latest issue of which there is an article full of fierce invective against the United States.

Her war is a one-sided war against which we are unable to retaliate. She is the vampire who sucked the blood from Europe's arteries, because she is able to suck in at the same time Europe's gold. CHOLERA SUSPECTS. By Courier Leased Wire. Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 16.—Thirteen cholera suspects have been found among the 150 steerage passengers landed at the Diamond Point quarantine station from the Japanese liners Panama Maru and Manila Maru, which arrived from the Orient last week. The suspects were placed in isolation today pending final bacteriological examination to determine definitely whether they are affected with cholera germs.

HEARTY AND ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME IS EXTENDED BY BRANTFORD TO 215TH BATT.

Second Brant County Regiment Returns to the City For Winter and is Met by Demonstration of Most Cordial Nature

In the presence of one of the largest gatherings ever assembled in the city, the 215th Battalion, home for the winter from Niagara Camp, detrained at the T. H. and B. station here this afternoon, being accorded a reception, which for hearty cordiality and sincerity has never been excelled, if, indeed, ever equalled, in the days of the present war.

At an early hour in the morning the Battalion was astir at Niagara, and with such zeal and enthusiasm was the work of breaking camp entered into by all that at 10 o'clock the special train waiting at the camp pulled out of Niagara-on-the-Lake with its full convoy aboard, and eager for the homeward trip. Word of the journey was sent at almost every stopping point on the way to the local depot of the 215th, so that an accurate knowledge of the progress made was obtained, and the time for the Battalion's arrival here fixed definitely.

Shortly after two o'clock, amid the ringing of bells and the blowing of whistles, as requested by the officials, accompanied by the cheers of the assemblage the train bearing the 215th drew into the station. In good order the battalion detrained, in full marching order, and headed the procession from the T. H. and B. station to the Market Square.

Here, in accordance with arrangements capably made by Lt.-Col. H. F. Leonard, City Clerk, were gathered together the Mayor, and Aldermen of the City Council, together with other civic dignitaries and officials. Addresses of welcome to the Battalion were delivered by a number of speakers, the soldiers being assured of every comfort and courtesy in the city during the winter.

Following the civic reception, an adjournment was made to the mess rooms of the battalion, where a tasty luncheon was served by the ladies of the Women's Patriotic League, who have ever been prominent in the work of administering to the comforts of the soldiers of Brantford and Brant County. Tonight the battalion assumes the quarters in the Armories occupied last winter by the 84th Battalion.

DEPARTURE OF DUKE AND PARTY WAS VERY INFORMAL

Vice Regal Party Went Quietly Aboard Steamer, and Departed With No Public or Military Display

By Courier Leased Wire. Halifax, N. S., Oct. 16.—The departure from Canada of Their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia, was remarkable for the entire absence of formality and display, this being in accordance with the wishes of His Royal Highness. Nothing more informal than the closing incident of the Duke's distinguished regime in Canada could be imagined. His Royal Highness's party arrived in Halifax by special train, which was quietly run direct into the big concrete shed at No. 2 pier. There was no military display attracted no public attention as the interest of what spectators were about, was centered upon the operations of

WEEK'S BRITISH CASUALTIES

5,600 Odd Killed, and Many Wounded; Large Number of Officers.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Oct. 16.—(New York Sun cable)—In the last week 5,372 British soldiers and 313 officers, a total of 5,685 were killed in the fighting on all the fronts, where there are British troops, the war office announces. The total wounded and missing last week was 24,994, the war office announces. Of this number 1,023 were officers.

A CRISIS REACHED

In Connection with Strike at Bayonne.

By Courier Leased Wire. Bayonne, N.J., Oct. 16.—A crisis in the strike of about 11,000 workers in the oil plants and other manufacturing plants at Constable Hook was reached today when the Tidewater Oil Company opened its doors and invited the strikers to return to work. A meeting of the 3,000 skilled workers who claimed they were forced to join the strike against their desire, was held this morning. The men planned to march back to the plant of the Standard Oil Company in a body in the belief that their action would break the strike. Another meeting of those who have taken a most active part in the strike, was held to decide whether it should be declared off.

FRENCH PENETRATED GERMAN POSITIONS.

Paris, Oct. 16, Noon.—Continuing their attacks on the Somme front last night, the French penetrated German positions at Sailleis-Saillisel and Saillisel, the War Office announced today. They occupied houses on the edge of the road to Bapaume. The Germans made a violent counter attack and the fighting is still in progress.

FOOD DICTATORSHIP TO BE ESTABLISHED FOR HUNGARY

Riots Take Place in in Budapest and Other Places, Citizens Demanding Food and Storming Public Buildings

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Oct. 16.—(Montreal Gazette)—The Morning Post's correspondent at Budapest sends the following despatch, under date of October 8: "The appointment of a food dictator for Hungary is in contemplation. The government is trying to find a suitable person for the post, but nobody appears anxious to undertake to dictate with regard to food that has no existence. The order will give an idea of how things are managed in Hungary. "So far as food stuffs are concerned, I need only quote a few items at hazard out of this morning's newspapers. It is reported that in Ujpest, one of the suburbs of Budapest, workmen stormed the town hall last night after waiting in vain for hours outside the shops to get a pound or two of potatoes. They broke the windows in the building, assaulted the burgomaster and police when they tried to restore order. Eventually the women were driven out of the place by a dozen mounted policemen.

"At the Budapest town hall Transylvanian refugees made a similar disturbance. The police had to disperse a crowd of refugees who went to the town hall to get their daily allowance of two croner to buy food. They waited over three hours and at length their patience exhausted, rioting began. Windows were broken and a number of people were assaulted. A large number of rioters, all women, were arrested. They said they could not buy if they got the money, after eleven in the morning, by which time the shops would have sold out their scanty stocks. This delay in payment meant that they would be without food for the next 24 hours. "Here is another picture among the reports in to-day's newspapers: "One big department store on Andrassy street, advertised that they would sell sugar from ten to eleven o'clock in the morning and every customer could buy half a pound. People began to gather before the shop long before the time indicated and when the shop opened, thousands of people were standing on the pavement, knocking up the road all around the place. The mob rushed inside the place, and there was an indescribable scene of confusion so that military assistance had to be summoned to save the establishment from being looted and destroyed. "The people rushed for sugar and other provisions, took all they could lay their hands on, only to have them torn out of their arms by others before they could get clear to the place."

GERMANY ALREADY MAKES PLANS FOR BUSINESS AFTER THE STRUGGLE

Preparations for Transition of Industries to a Peace Basis are Made—Special Commissioners Appointed.

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, Oct. 15, via London, Oct. 16.—The German Government has already made plans for the transition of Germany's industries from a war to a peace basis. Dr. Karl Helfferich, the vice-chancellor, yesterday addressed the budget committee of the reichstag at length on the situation, saying the transition would be made under the government's participation and supervision. A special imperial commissioner has been appointed to take charge of the task. Attached to the interior department of the ministry he will be assisted by a large advisory committee of men selected from all departments of business, with the function of examining and giving expert opinion on all proposed economic measures. He will recommend methods for mobilizing credits, enlarging and distributing labor supply and substituting men for women and girls now doing man's work, and replenishing stocks of raw materials. Dr. Helfferich indicated that the committee would have some sort of control over imports, with a view to keeping foreign exchange rates within safe limits, so as to protect the gold basis and Germany's currency system. He further said that the committee was not intended as a permanent organization, but that it would disband as soon as its task had been performed. The representatives of all the parties expressing themselves as in accord with Dr. Helfferich's program. Only the Socialists demanded that many of the organizations and methods created for war purposes must be permanently retained.

and to return to the city, but not for long. Resolved to bear his part in the fray, he applied for a commission more upon regaining health and strength, and became attached to the 36th battalion, commanded by Lt.-Col. E. C. Ashton. Since the arrival of that unit in England, he was drafted to the front, where he received his wounds. Expressions of hearty sympathy will be extended by all his numerous friends, and countless wishes for a safe recovery will be tendered Lt. Dickson and his relatives. W. R. Brown Pte. Wm. R. Brown, this morning reported wounded, enlisted in the 76th battalion through the local recruiting office of the Dufferin Rifles. He is 24 years of age and married, residing at 45 Aberdeen avenue, and served for a year in the Dufferin Rifles. R. G. Hepden Pte. Reg. G. Hepden, listed as wounded in the casualty list this morning, enlisted and went overseas with the 58th battalion. His home is in the city at 37 Grey St. W. Slattery Pte. Wm. Slattery, late of the 84th battalion and now of the 75th, is at present wounded, both in London and in England. (Continued on page six.)

OTHER CASUALTIES. Brantford Pays Heavy Price For Recent British Victories.

Suffering from multiple grenade wounds of a serious nature, Lt. Frank Dickson of this city, was admitted on Oct. 10th to the Duchess of Minister's Hospital at Latouque, France.

Such was the tenor of a telegram received yesterday by Mr. W. Roberts of 151 1-2 Brock street, father-in-law of Lt. Dickson. The message was addressed to Mrs. Dickson, who is at present residing in England. Lt. Dickson bore deservedly the reputation of being one of the most popular officers ever to leave Brantford. Previous to enlistment he held the position of principal of King Edward school, in which capacity he won the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. The call of duty summoned him, however, and unhesitatingly relinquished his position he joined the 19th battalion here in October of 1914. During the unit's stay at Toronto during the winter, illness compelled Lt. Dickson to resign his commission

BOOK PAPER Can Be Made from Hemp Hurds.

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Oct. 16.—Specialists of the department of agriculture are convinced that a satisfactory quality of book paper can be made from hemp hurds, the waste stalk fragments produced in preparing hemp fibre for the market. A report on the subject issued today, says that commercial tests made in co-operation with a paper manufacturer, demonstrated that hurds can be reduced chemically to paper stock by the soda process under practices only slightly different from those employed for the manufacture of pulp from popular wood. Somewhat more bleach as well as beating was necessary. At present about five thousand tons of hurds are produced from hemp grown in various states. This is not sufficient, the report states, to justify the erection of a pulp mill or the transportation to existing mills, but it is expected that the available tonnage will be increased. The view is expressed that the time may come, owing to the increasing cost of wood pulp and the increasing acreage of hemp grown in this country when the use of hurds in the paper making industry will be profitable.

RECRUITING WILL RE-COMMENCE

Advent of 215th to City Will See Renewed Activity.

WILL BE BIG CAMPAIGN
Good Results Accomplished Here During the Summer.

With the return of the second Brants to Brantford for the winter, after an absence of several months at Camp Niagara, it is fitting that some tribute should be paid to Pte. Tatt and his associates, who have conducted the affairs of the battalion so well. Since August 10th, 29 recruits have been secured, and many more prospects have been lined up. In addition to this, eight applicants for enlistment have been refused a medical examination, and fourteen men have been found unable to meet the strict military requirements and have been rejected. Although the 215th battalion have been exceptionally free from deserters and those absent without leave, those few among the soldiers who did get into difficulties under this heading were also looked after. Immediately upon the return of the battalion to-day, a great recruiting campaign is to be inaugurated, when a final effort will be made to complete the battalion in three months. In this regard, all the recruiting signs about the city have been taken down, including the two large boards in Victoria and Alexandra parks, and will be replaced by new ones. This work has also been done by the above mentioned members of the battalion.

Thus, while the results may not seem as satisfactory as the condition of affairs would warrant it will be seen that the local recruiters are not responsible for the dearth of recruits, as every effort possible has been put forth by them in this respect.

OUR DAILY PATTERN SERVICE

Valuable Suggestions for the Handy Homemaker—Order Any Pattern Through the Courier.

LADY'S HOUSE DRESS.

By Anabel Worthington.

A proper autumn model for practical wear is shown in this illustration. It indicates that the interest in the dress with a separate blouse to be worn outside the skirt is being gradually revived. Those in sympathy with the Russian blouse will perhaps class this model as really better than a house dress, and accordingly, choose a material that will take it out of the commonplace.

The blouse, as pictured, is made with the body and short sleeves in one section, but it may be made with set-in long sleeves. The collar, sleeve cuff, belt and pocket are of material in opposing color, to suit the prevailing mode, but all one material will give a neat effect. The upper portion of the blouse is semi-fitting and below it is finished with what appears to be a gathered plastron, but which is really a continuation of the blouse belted in at normal waist line.

The three gore gathered skirt, measuring in size 36 2 1/2 yards at the lower edge, flares and ripples identity. You can reproduce the design just as you see it pictured, with the pattern before you.

The dress pattern, No. S.8001, is cut in sizes 36 to 42 bust measure. To make in size 36 will require 1 1/2 yards of 36 inch material and 3/4 yard of contrasting goods. Or 6 yards all one material.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

SMITH COMMITTED FOR COURT TRIAL

Jail Breaker and Desperado to Appear in Fall Assizes Here.

Identified by Turnkey Cook as Man Who Assaulted Him.

William Smith was arraigned in the police court once more this morning, to face the adjourned charges against him of assault, jail breaking and bicycle theft. After the taking of evidence, he was committed by Magistrate Livingston for trial at the first court of competent jurisdiction.

The only evidence taken was the assault cases. Jail Governor Brown and Turnkey Cook both taking the witness stand and giving their testimony, which was practically a resume of what has already been told. Mr. Cook positively identified Smith as the one who assaulted him, and stated that the two men were concerned in the attack on Mr. Brown. The stolen bicycles were not produced, owing to a delay in their transportation, so the theft case was relegated. Smith will appear at the fall assizes on Oct. 24th next. He was represented this morning by Mr. H. Hewitt.

LT. F. DICKSON BADLY WOUNDED

don hospital, according to word received yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Slattery, 112 West Mill St. The information was conveyed in a letter from Pte. T. Slattery of the 125th, a brother of the wounded man.

Harold Chaplin
Pte. Harold Chaplin, wounded, is a Paris boy, employed previous to his enlistment as a hoseier borderer at Penman's mill there. He is unmarried and 21 years of age. He enlisted in the active service contingent of the Dufferin Rifles which left Brantford on Nov. 6, 1914, and became attached to the 19th battalion.

Corp. A. Stroude
Corp. Aubrey Stroude of Norwich was reported this morning as having been killed in action.

Other Names
This morning's casualty list contained several other local names: Pte. A. S. Post, and Pte. W. W. Precious, wounded, and Pte. H. Cox, Paris, died from wounds. All of these have already been reported in the Courier.

Pte. Fred Wade
Pte. Fred Wade, formerly of Waterloo St., in this city, who enlisted in the 25th Brant Dragoons, and was afterwards transferred to the Princess Patricia Regiment, has again been wounded at the Somme, shrapnel wounds in arms and back, and transferred to one of the hospitals at Wimbledon, England.

He left Canada with one of the early contingents, and was severely wounded and buried in one of the shell craters. After removed, he was treated in various hospitals, suffering from above, also shock and partial blindness. He was an inmate of the hospital at Ramsgate when it was struck by a Zeppelin bomb. Recovering sufficiently, he was again sent to the front about 6 weeks ago, and was in one of the bomb throwing contingents.

His wife and two children left Brantford last January to be near him during his sickness, and are still at Ramsgate, but are able to visit him at the hospital at Wimbledon. They hope he may again be sent to their hospital at Ramsgate, after he has been operated on in London.

About 370 Hamilton men have been reported killed in action or died of wounds, and about fifty dependents of these men are benefiting by the Soldiers' Insurance Fund.

The Directors of National Service have issued a summary of their conclusions and proposals for utilizing Canada's man-power to the best advantage for the rest of the war.

sloner would have no more power to commit summarily for contempt. It is a summary process, and should be used only from a sense of duty and under the pressure of public interest. . . . Committals for contempt of court by scandalizing the court itself have become obsolete in this country. Court are satisfied to leave to public opinion attacks or comments derogatory or scandalous to them. . . . Meanwhile, Judge Galt will be generally regarded as having done something in a burst of arbitrary temper, not in accordance with the true traditions of the bench.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

What are shirkers in Canada afraid of? They have shown themselves to possess skins so thick that any German bullet would have a hard job getting through them.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, member of the British House of Commons, who is visiting Canada, says that there are more motor cars being used in Toronto to-day than in all of Great Britain, whose citizens have sent their autos in tens of thousands to the front for service. To which it may be added that the Canadians as a people, do not yet know what war sacrifice means.

Canada still stands the third best customer of the United States. For the past eight months of the calendar year, according to official statistics given out at Washington, we imported articles from our neighbors to the tune of $473,736,569, or an increase of $163,000,000 over the same period last year. Without much doubt there will be quite a change after the war.

It is reported from Germany that in the matter of food, the lack of fats is hitting the Teuton stomach the hardest. They shouldn't have leaned so much on the war party.

The latest generous donation of Col. Harry Cockshutt to the Y. M. C. A. for privileges on behalf of the 215th Battalion, and other soldiers, is simply one more evidence of his high spirited citizenship.

CHIEF OF FRENCH STAFF General Dupont has been made chief of the General Staff of the French army. He is a man of energy and has exceptional ability. His appointment is very popular with the French army.

TIN SICKNESS IN GERMANY

New Disease Makes Its Appearance Caused by Canned Goods.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Oct. 16.—"According to travellers from Germany," says the Exchange Telegraph's Amsterdam correspondent, "a remarkable disease is spreading in many parts of Germany, especially in Berlin, Hamburg, Munich and Cologne, caused by continual feeding from preserved foods. The sickness is described as 'tin sickness.' It is considered a serious form of blood-poison. Thousands of cases are reported in every large city, although the authorities exercise strict control over the tin used for preserving foods."

OLAV CAPTAIN

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Oct. 16.—In a wireless message from the Danish Steamship Hellig Olav received here to-day by agents of the Scandinavian-American Line, Captain Holst, master of the ship, stated that no submarine had been sighted during the voyage so far. His message dated 8 a.m. Sunday, read: "Have not seen any submarine. Nothing true in the story. (Signed) 'HOLST.'"

Observers aboard the White Star Line Steamship Borie on the steamer's arrival here Saturday reported they had seen the periscope of a submarine Friday morning when about 200 miles out and that the submarine was apparently in pursuit of the Hellig Olav, eastward bound. Representatives of the Scandinavian American Line here sent a wireless message to Captain Holst of the Hellig Olav, advising him of the report and asking for details.

NEWS FROM SIMCOE

Norfolk Couple Detained by Officials at the Border.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Jail Breaker Is Recaptured By Officials Promptly.

From our own Correspondent. Simcoe, Oct. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Hunter of Norfolk Street, South, who have two sons in service, started out recently to visit their son and Mrs. Hunter's brother were detained at Black Rock by immigration officials from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. part of the time under lock and key and then escorted back to Bridgeburg as undesirable. Here they were given passage to Simcoe and arrived home in true Scotch dignity. They were well dressed and answered all inquiries with civility and frankness characteristic of the family. They had cold cash with them too, much more than the regulation required. Mr. Hunter is a shoemaker by trade and has worked at the bench continuously.

Their friends over the border are taking the matter up with Washington. It is another vexatious experience due to the lack of judgment on the part of border officials, the fallibility of whom the public finds evidence from time to time.

"They may have thought we might become subjects of charity on their hands," was Mrs. Hunter's explanation, "but when in fear of misfortune we shall not likely depend upon the Yankees for assistance."

During the hearing of candidates for the vacant pastorate at St. Paul's, the membership is turning out to church in unexpected numbers. Yesterday regular attendants expressed surprise at the presence of so many whom they had not known before were connected with the church. If the present state of affairs continues St. Paul's will require extension.

Apple packing is at its maximum throughout the county this week. The crop is not a failure as is quoted, but owing to the difficulty in spraying due to excessive rains, here will not be the usual percentage of No. 1. The tendency to small fruit on account of the drought has to a degree been offset by insufficient pollination, followed by a natural pruning out of weaker apples during the dry summer with a ripening of larger, if fewer, apples on each tree.

Simcoe, Oct. 14.—Pte. James Potts, who escaped from custody with James Leslie McDonald on July 23, is again behind the bars here. Turnkey Isaac McQuilly was his captor and even the wily James was not a match for the official, who repeatedly assured the reporter that "Jim" would "turn up some day." McQuilly left town yesterday forenoon to follow what appeared to be a good clue. He took a pair of cuffs of course and knocked at the door of a small shop five miles out of Rodney, at the tea hour. Mrs. Potts answered the knock and advised her caller that Jim was off to Dutton with the horse and "rig," and would probably be home some time. The officer left.

Next morning, proprietor F. C. MacGregor, of the village inn at Rodney drove Mr. McQuilly and high constable J. Lundy Nicholas out at grey dawn. A thorough search was made of the house and barn, but James was not in evidence. He then remembered how the pig used to burrow in the straw stack on the old farm in Windham, so he determined to look the stack over. He found his man wrapped up in a blanket, and the game was up.

Potts grew tired waiting for his trial on a charge of deserting from the 133rd. His was one of a dozen cases at least where prisoners were kept over time in custody here. There are at present three other prisoners under sentence here, all of whom have been here for weeks, some for months, awaiting transfer.

Their three children and Mrs. Potts slept on some rags in the corner of one room. They had an old stove, but no chairs, and no table, practically nothing in the house. Potts in the straw stack with a

In response to a notice for a special meeting called by Mayor Williamson to dispose of the Red Cross matter, and the request of the school board for additional funds for building, there were present Aldermen Cropp and Slater. The mayor had advised the board of education desiring their presence. The board, however, had arranged for a meeting of their own, having decided to go ahead with what funds they have. After waiting for some time for advice that the council was under way, the board passed a resolution authorizing the closing of school for Thursday afternoon next, Fair Day and sent for Mr. R. E. Guitton to confer regarding the immediate commencement of the south ward school.

The heating plant at the public school was put in working order today. Some classes were dismissed this week for lack of heat in the rooms. Manager King of the Bank of Commerce was at a mass meeting of citizens made secretary-treasurer of the British Red Cross subscription at a meeting held last Tuesday evening. Since then Manager Groh has called on the mayor with an offer from Molson's to handle the subscription. The whole question, however, is still in the air till the council gets together.

CASE DISMISSED.

The case of Hyslop versus Yeo, tried before Judge Hardy in the County Court on Saturday, was dismissed.

BANK CLEARINGS.

For the month of September, the bank clearings in Brantford totalled $2,656,570 as compared with $1,931,039 in September of 1915. Increase $665,331.

ONE RECRUIT.

Another recruit, Neil Racher, 18 years old, was accepted by the 215th Battalion on Saturday. He was born at Petrolia, Lambton county, and previous to his enlistment, was a laborer. He was put to work this morning to assist in getting the quarters in shape for the occupation of the men, who returned to-day.

BUILDING PERMITS.

A slight improvement in building conditions is indicated in that three applications for building permits were made at the city hall over the week-end. The permits were granted to Wm. Yates for a glass addition to his greenhouse at 76 Superior St. to cost $150; to Lewis Parsons, for the erection of a brick cottage at 18 Strathcona Ave. to cost $1,000, and to Geo. W. Every Effort of This Store is to Reduce "The High Cost of Living"

BUSINESS MEN DISCUSS THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The high cost of living consumed a large portion of the time at the regular meeting of the council of the Board of Trade, held yesterday. President Parke occupied the chair. M. Cummings reporting for a special committee of the board and the Retail Grocers' Association, recommended that the board urge the appointment of a permanent government commission to regulate food prices.

Hamilton Spectator

GOVERNMENT CONSENTS

The Borden Government has consented to receive on the 20th inst. a deputation from the municipalities of the province, which will wait upon him to ask that it interest itself in seeking to control the high cost of living by following the example of the governments of other countries in controlling the price of the necessities of life. This is a matter as to which the Government cannot afford to confess itself a mere "fly on the wheel."

SOLDIERS' WIVES

The meeting of the Soldiers' Wives and Mothers was held Tuesday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. Hall. The Bible study was the creation of man. The practical talk was on things to reduce the High Cost of Living. The meeting grew in interest.

Victor Ridder charges that Senator William J. Stone assured him and other prominent German-Americans at a conference at Terrace Garden, Sept. 16, 1916, that administration's "anti-hyphen" attitude was merely for public consumption. Mr. Ridder says Postmaster-General Burleson afterwards made an attempt to enlist the German-American vote for Mr. Wilson.

Charles S. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York, who was sponsor for the report that Germany was seeking to get the United States to act as peace mediator for her with the allies, has just been divorced. An interlocutory decree was granted to Mrs. Sabin at Kingston, N. Y.

O. S. B. HELD FIELD DAY

Fine Programme of Sports and Contests Played Off There.

On Saturday afternoon a happy company assembled on the lawn at the school for the Blind, when a number of sporting events took place, in which the pupils all took part and which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Principal James was master of ceremonies and he was assisted by Messrs. Wickens, Ryerson, Hickey, Gourlay and Temple, while a number of other officers and teachers were interested spectators.

The pupils entered into the contests with enthusiasm and zeal and the afternoon proved most enjoyable to all. The weather was all that could be desired and everything passed off most successfully.

In the evening the pupils all assembled in the Billiard room, prizes were awarded to the successful contestants as follows:

Fifty-yard foot race, girls under ten—First prize, Emily Philpott; second, Ruth Truscott; third, May; fourth, Edna; fifth, these little girls was presented with a doll.

Fifty-yard foot race, girls under fifteen—First prize, Helen Webster, a pencil-case; second, Lydia Hilton, a workbox; third, Lillian Clark, a workbox.

Fifty-yard race, girls fifteen and over—First prize, Doris Hawley, a shopping-bag; second, Agnes Macgillivray, a pencil-case; third, Gladys Slay, a workbox.

Walking race, large girls—Agnes Macgillivray's team, a large box of candy.

Tag-of-war, large boys—Leonard Paul's team, a dozen handkerchiefs.

Are you there Bill?—First prize, Leonard Sherman, an umbrella; second, Edward Kennedy, a necktie.

Putting the shot—First prize, Walter Simmons, a pair of socks; second, Sparling Beach, a package of handkerchiefs.

Fifty-yard race, boys under eight—First prize, Albin Konopki, a mouth organ; second, Charlie Campbell, a package of handkerchiefs; third, Terry Duncan, a package of handkerchiefs.

Hundred-yard dash—Boys from bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is social. Their little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. The United Empire Loyalists' Association of Canada held their first meeting of the season, as is their custom, in celebration of the battle of Queenston Heights, October 13, 1812. Addresses were delivered by the President, Lieut.-Col. F. W. MacQueen, Rev. Canon Macdonald, Col. Belcher and Mr. Allen Johnson. Col. MacQueen referred to the present war, and gave a fine rendition of Dr. Wilfred Campbell's poem, "The Ballad of Langemack." Mr. Allen Johnson gave interesting incidents of the war of 1812, as related to him by his grandfather, Chief Smoke Johnson, who took part in all the principal engagements. Mr. Johnson was of the opinion that historians have not accorded the Indians the credit due them for their part in the wars.

There has been some trouble over the receipt of Brantford mails at Bramshott Camp by the members of the 125th Battalion.

On Oct. 5th, Mr. W. F. Cockshutt wrote the postal authorities on behalf of Mrs. Sheldrick in this regard.

On Oct. 11th, he wrote Hon. Dr. Colter Deputy Postmaster-General, and Mr. McCurdy, M.P., under secretary of the Militia Department, complaining that it was reported that no Brantford papers were being received at the camp, although certified sent from both offices, and also by friends of the members of the regiment.

In reply, Mr. Cockshutt received a department letter to-day, stating that the war had caused the Atlantic service to be disrupted, but stating that the complaints forwarded by Mr. Cockshutt "will at once be gone into."

Were Almost Upon Touch-Line When Game Ended.

In its first league game of the season at Galt, the rugby team of Brantford Collegiate Institute went down to defeat at the hands of Galt on Saturday afternoon by the close score of 14 to 10, after a thrilling game of fast clean and brilliant playing the whistle for time cutting short a buck of the locals with less than six inches needed for the touchdown which would have given them the game. They were fairly beaten, however, and the true spirit of good sportsmanship was never evidenced better than in the manner in which the defeat was borne by the Brantford boys.

Exceptionally clever and clean playing, individual and combination, by both teams, featured the encounter, conspicuous for its few penalties. Brantford led off with a fine rush, bucking the full length of the field and scoring a touchdown in the first four minutes of play. Galt came back with renewed efforts, concentrating the play and scoring first a rouge, then a buck from the field, followed by two touches. The locals, in fine fettle, put up a firm fight, and resolutely held their opponents from further gains, the while they strove to equalize the score. The last four minutes of play saw another splendid buck, when Brantford went the full length of the field and lacked only three inches for a touchdown at the final moment, the score standing 14 to 10 for the home aggregation.

Stellar play by Buckborough, who was exceptionally good in his tackling, featured the play of the locals, while Cook also worked hard throughout. No casualties of any serious nature were recorded in the course of the encounter.

INDIA

At the doll convention in the fairy forest there was a strange doll from India. Jane the little mortal girl, who came each night in a fairy balloon with her doll, Clarissa, thought she had never seen so queer a doll. Her complexion was brown, her eyes dark, her hair black and shiny. She wore a good many metal bracelets and metal anklets on her bare feet. Moreover, she had a metal band around her brown throat and huge clay ear-rings stuck full of colored beads. Jane saw at once that the earrings were so heavy they had to be hung around her ear with a chain. It was almost impossible to see her dress, for she wore a strange white cotton garment piped with scarlet that seemed to be a hat and cloak in one. Altogether she looked so odd that Jane had to speak to her. "What's your name?" she said shyly.

Instantly the doll from India handed Jane one of the strange candies which all the dolls at the doll convention seemed to carry. And the minute she'd eaten it Jane was able to repeat her question in a queer foreign tongue that the doll seemed at once to understand. She told Jane her name, but it was so long and queer that Jane shook her head. "I can't remember that," she said. "I'll call you India. Tell me about your country."

"Better still," said India. "I'll show it to you." And she took Jane by the hand and hurried her away from the fairy grove where all the dolls were sitting. Now Jane did not at all want to go to India. She fancied that the Indian doll most likely had a fairy balloon with an elf in it like the rest, and Jane was afraid to venture so far. But India merely led her away to a pool of moonlit water, took a powder from her girdle and sprinkled it over the pool and Jane, staring began to see queer beautiful water-plantures. She saw jungles and paths and thatched huts. She saw queer brown people like India, carts drawn by oxen, a tea plantation on some hills. She saw a great square filled with pigeons, and India told her animal life was sacred there, but her eyes grew big as saucers when elephants appeared, tattooed and hung with bells.

Then, dear me! Jane never forgot it—she saw a man-eating tiger in a cage. The tiger started toward her, Jane ran. Nor did she stop until she reached the fairy balloon moored to a tree in the forest.

And the elf took her home.

Money is a wonderful—and sometimes a fearful—thing. There are many fine things that you can do with money and some things not so fine that money can do with you.

Money is power. The right kind of people often do much good with money, but it takes a strong character to have a great deal of power without being hurt by it.

Once upon a time I knew a dear lady who was much beloved by many people. She was always interested in other people's interests, and she was always eager to do gracious things for others. Her means were limited so she could not give away a great deal of money, but she gave generously of what she had, and in addition of self and service.

She didn't trouble to be interested in other people's interests she didn't put herself out to perform little services. She lost the keen sympathies of her humbler days. In short she tried to pay all her debts with money.

The doctor says that pies are harmful, I must eat them no more; and that is why they seem so charming I'd like to eat a score. Before me there are wholesome vittles that I may safely try; I'll have of them no jots or tittles, my system shrieks for pie. I didn't much enjoy my smoking until the doctor came, informing me I'd soon be croaking unless I quit the same. Then fascinating and enchanting seemed my old pipe of oak, and here I'm sitting, yearning, panting, for something I can smoke. Last winter, when the boys were skating—a sport of which I'm fond—I, too, began acquainting along the village pond. The boys all said I was a winner, for fluent legs are mine, until I saw, where ice was thinner, a big square "Danger" sign. I skated up to see it closer—you should have seen me sink! It took two blacksmiths and a grocer to drag me from the drink who cares a kopeck for a warning? Man to his doom indeed because he takes a pride in scorning all sorts of danger signs.

ACCUSED MAN TAKES OWN LIFE

Held for Murder of Brother, Joseph Montgomery Suicides.

Belleville, Oct. 16.—Joseph Montgomery, who was accused of having murdered his elder brother, Walter, on the latter's farm near Madoc thirteen days ago, succumbed at 3 o'clock this morning to a self-inflicted wound. The accused man, who during his incarceration at Madoc, had been very much perturbed, slashed his throat with a jackknife sometime Friday night in his cell at Madoc jail. He was the only occupant of the lock-up. Life was almost extinct when he was found the following morning. After receiving medical attention he rallied for a few hours, after which his condition became serious, and he was rushed in an automobile to the hospital at Belleville. He never regained consciousness.

CATARH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the brain, deranges the digestion, and breaks down the general health. It weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarh.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's, and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.

EVERY WOMAN

Drew Two Large Audiences to Opera House.

The morality play "Every Man" is supposed to have been written by a monk, and it has made a strong appeal in many lands. "Every Woman" built upon somewhat similar lines, is from the pen of Mr. Walter Brown and it brings the message that true domestic love is the crowning joy of members of the fair sex. Miss Paula Shay took the title role in a most admirable manner. She is a woman of exceptionally attractive stage presence and showed interpretative powers of a high order. In the depiction of her career she is surrounded by such allegorical characters as "Nobody," "Beauty," "Youth," "Modesty," "Flattery," "Conscience" and so on. In fact all human attributes are depicted. Of the above characterizations Mr. G. Sydenham as Nobody took the palm. It was his part to indicate the course of the play and his resonant voice and clear enunciation were exceptional. As Conscience Miss Jane Buchanan sang very sweetly and Miss D. Milburn as Youth was very charming indeed. Mr. F. Kilday as Bluff and Mr. F. J. McCarthy as Stuff, theatrical agents, and Mr. F. McDonald as Wealth took their parts in a manner calling for mention—in short, the whole caste was good, a fact which is always guaranteed in connection with any production by Mr. Henry W. Savage. The stage settings were beyond the ordinary of travelling companies, especially "Every woman's apartment

WM. HARRIS NOT YET CAPURED

Man Detained at Sarnia Was Not the Local Jail Breaker.

From Sarnia to the local authorities came on Saturday evening word that a man had been apprehended there by the immigration officials believed to be Joseph Harris, who in company with Wm. Smith, since recaptured, escaped from the local jail last week. The belief had spread that Harris had reached the United States in safety, but the news from Sarnia roused hope in the hearts of the police once more. County Constable Taylor was accordingly dispatched to Sarnia to identify and assume charge of the man, but upon arriving there found that the man detained was not Harris at all, and returned to the city empty-handed. The man was at once released.

"Where would you like to go first, my dear?" asked Mrs. Lebreton when tea was over and Gipsy with kindling eyes, replied—

"Oh, if I might see the horses and those dear dogs!"

With a smile Madame Lebreton led the way out into the garden first and Gipsy caught her breath at the beauty of the great herbaceous borders, one on either side of a wide gravel path, lying bathed in the radiance of the western light. Only in a big English garden can such a sight be seen, and at a moment the girl stood spellbound, drinking in the beauty with a look of enrapture on her face.

This expression deepened as they reached the end of the walk and looked down from a balustrade into the green, sloping waters of a small lake. For a time the girl forgot her desire to see horses or dogs; she was arrested by the exquisite and solemn loveliness of the scene before her.

"Are those the ruins we see through the trees across the lake? And are those ruins haunted?" she asked.

"The ruins are there," answered Madame, "and nobody cares to go near them by night." She paused and a curious expression flitted over her face. Her next words seemed to be spoken rather to herself than to her companion, though Gipsy listened to them, her eyes aglow, her lips parted. Perhaps he would be better away—in some new place—away in some new place—away from the fetters the past have forged."

Then she caught the wondering glance of the girl's eyes and recovered herself and smiled.

"Forgive me, my dear, I was thinking aloud."

"But—but do really mean that?"

"I do not know that I meant anything very definite; but sometimes Gaston speaks of selling off everything here and going away to begin life afresh in some new country."

"Giving up all this?" ejaculated Gipsy, with a comprehensive wave of her hand. "Going away from the place that bears his name? Oh, Mrs. Lebreton, how strange!"

"Yes, my dear, it seems strange to you, no doubt, but there are reasons. If a man is not happy—"

"Why is he not happy? He has everything."

"Yes—everything except friends."

"But surely—"

"That it is his own fault were you going to say. In most cases you would be right, but here at Gaston's the circumstances are a little unusual."

Gipsy slowly rested her elbows on the balustrade and her face was held in the cup made by her hands. Suddenly she turned her gaze upon Madame Lebreton and her eyes seemed to hold dazzling lights.

"Don't let him go," she said, in a strange tone of voice. "It would be too horrid to leave everything! Can't he stay and be happy here?"

Chapter XII

Allardye was to leave Clumbermere on the morrow. There had been a ray house party, and the girl had made herself useful in a hundred little unobtrusive ways.

She felt that Miss Willoughby liked to have her there and yet that she avoided being alone with her. She sent her on innumerable errands; she made use of her skillful fingers in a dozen different ways. The girl arranged flowers decorated the table, waited with pretty deference and eagerness on a delicate lady visitor, and charmed the company in the evenings by her playing. She would take her violin out under the stars and play herself, unseen, and gradually the hum of talk would die away and silence reign in the big room with open windows.

The girl had many invitations showered upon her. She could have spent the whole summer in visiting had she chosen, but she did not choose. She wanted already to go home. She had stayed longer than she first intended, but the sea seemed calling her back now. She wanted to go home—to her sisters, to the sea, to the lonely old man watching on his reef. So many strange things would have to be spoken between them when she got back. She would meet him with a knowledge that she might not impart, but she could bring him hope, if she could not bring him help yet. And deep down in her heart Allardye knew that before very long the help would and must come.

This last evening she and her hostess was alone. Miss Willoughby had been looking worn and almost ill, the girl thought; but she was not surprised. It would have been strange had it been otherwise. She had to make up her mind to a hard task; and she was a proud woman who had kept a secret long and resolutely and had resolved to keep it to the end. And now she knew she could keep it no longer. Of that Allardye was perfectly well aware by a species of intuition without a word more having passed between them on the subject.

Suddenly Miss Willoughby spoke. Her Allardye had not had the grace of reticence, if she had been constantly seeking to open the subject afresh or lead up to it by hint or question, it is probable that Miss Willoughby's lips would have remained sealed.

"When you go home, Allardye, you will go and see General Kildare. What are you going to say to him?"

"What would you wish me to say?"

"What do you wish to say yourself?"

"May I say what I really would wish?"

"Certainly, child! The comfort of dealing with you is that you speak the truth, you do not beat about the bush. One can trust what you say and what you do."

"I want to say, I have talked with Captain Willoughby's sister; she has told me a great many things, and she is coming herself very soon to Sunset Crags. Then she will tell you everything herself, and till that time comes I am not to speak except just to say there is hope."

"Child, what do you mean?"

"Then Allardye rose with her sudden grace of movement and, crossing the dividing space, knelt down beside her hostess and laid her arms upon her knee. She looked up into the contrasted face, with its weary look and sunken eyes, and she spoke with soft distinctness, her own eyes moist with pity and love.

"I mean that you will have to speak. I mean that you will have to tell everything now. You have been very unhappy. Yes, I have always known it, and I have wondered about it. Of course it is very sad to lose those we love. I know, because we lost first our mother, then our father. But that is a sort of sorrow which we think is unbearable for a little while, and then we find—how shall I say it?—that something comes and helps us not to forget, but to find that life is not altogether spoilt. It is like that when people die. I suppose that Heaven helps us to bear it, or else the world would be too sad a place to bear. But soon I felt that your sadness was more than that."

"Child, you see too much."

"I used to wonder if—if there had been any—"

"Blighted romance in my life? Well, how do you know that there has not? Why may I not be credited with pining in secret for a love which I shall never win? Remember, my dear, unrequited affection is credited with inducing many forms of melancholy and bitterness."

"It is not that with you," said Allardye firmly. "It is the knowledge that Jim Kildare is in prison and that you have the power to clear his name and get him out."

"And blacken my own and blast the fair fame of one more dear to me than any other! Oh, Allardye, do you think I am going to do that?"

"I know that you are," Allardye replied, with one of those keen flashes of intuitive perception which had never yet played her false.

"You will do it because you know that it is right. You will do it because Captain Willoughby himself laid that charge upon you."

"What do you mean?"

"Just what I say. You did not tell me quite all the story. You stopped short before you reached the part about the full account which he was going to write on shipboard. I do not know of course what the whole story was. What I am sure about is that Captain Willoughby, who was a brave and honourable soldier, laid a charge upon you to tell all the truth if there was cause. He would never want some one else to suffer for any deed of his. He left you to clear Jim Kildare—if ever this thing became known. He trusted you to do this, and it is not done."

Miss Willoughby set with her face hidden in her hands.

"How dare you say such things to me!" she exclaimed. "I wish I had never spoken a single word to you about it."

By this time Allardye had moved away a little, sitting back in her chair and watching Miss Willoughby with a curious intensity and comprehension of gaze for one so young. "Yes, I know you will feel like that sometimes. Perhaps it will make you hate me; and I shall be sorry for that. But you know it was coming to this—you had to speak to some one. You could not beat the burden alone much longer."

"I could have borne it to my grave if you had not told me that his old father was still alive."

"You thought him dead?"

"Yes, I heard he had died from grief and shock. I did not verify the report. I wanted to believe him dead."

"Ah, no! You must have felt like this—"

CO-OPERATION OF LAURIER ASKED

Premier Would Consult with Liberal Leader on National Service.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The formation of a Parliamentary national service committee is proposed by the directors of national service.

It would include members from both sides of the House and to that end Premier Borden has written to Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressing his desire to undertake the formation of such a committee and asking Sir Wilfrid to co-operate.

It is expected that such a committee will be selected in the immediate future for the purpose of making the proposed call.

The Resolution.

The resolution passed by the directors of national service is as follows:

"The directors of national service in conference at Ottawa, having regard to the duties imposed on them and to the work which lies before them, are strongly of the opinion that the following recommendations given effect to by the Government would materially assist in that work:

"That a Parliamentary national service committee be composed of representatives of all the political parties in parliament be formed at the earliest.

"That such committee as soon as possible after its formation issue by proclamation and through the public press possible date.

"(A)—A strong and explicit call to the manhood of Canada of military age and fitness to enlist for overseas military and naval service.

"(B)—A similar call to the men and women of Canada, individually, and through their various organizations to serve the nation in such capacities as their services may be of most value.

"(C)—A similar call to all employers to effect such industrial reorganization as is necessary to meet emergencies arising out of war."

WILL ROUMANIA BE INVADIED?

Question Which Now Occupies Attention of Editorial London.

London, Oct. 16.—The situation on the Roumanian frontier occupies the leading position on the news and editorial pages of the London newspapers. The Roumanians, according to the latest official statement, have been forced back six or seven miles at one point into their own country. They are making a stand at Rucuru, which is a small town toward the southern end of the Torzburger Pass. At Rucuru, the Austro-Germans are well below the level of the pass. South of this town the road runs ten miles through a rolling country to the rail head of Campulung, which is practically on the edge of the Roumanian plain and 75 miles from Bucharest.

The Times notes: "The enemy has advanced into Roumanian territory through the Torzburger Pass and the Roumanians are fighting a bitter battle at Rucuru. Apparently they have temporarily lost possession of all but the southern approaches of Torzburger Pass. Further north the enemy penetrated to the crest of Gitoz Pass, but was then driven back in a fierce encounter. In the other passes the enemy is making no progress, but until effective help reaches the Roumanian second army we must expect varying fortunes in this district."

NEW PHASE IN THE GREEK SITUATION

This Week Will Probably See Decision Made There.

London, Oct. 16.—A despatch to The Daily Chronicle from Athens, dated October 14, says:

It is believed that early in the coming week the situation in Greece will enter upon a new critical phase. Premier Lambros stated to-day that the cabinet might be regarded as having the same foreign policy as the Kalligeropoulos' administration. This statement is interesting as a reply of the Entente governments to proposals formulated by the late cabinet relative to the abandonment of neutrality by Greece will be delivered early in the coming week, probably Monday.

I learn that this reply while couched in very friendly terms will be of a categorical nature with the aim of preventing all further discussion on the main point at issue.

The conference on the cost of living between the representatives of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario and the committee of the Cabinet will be held on Friday next.

	1-Year Subscriptions . . . . .	160,000 Votes
	6-Monthly Subscriptions . . . . .	80,000 Votes

This Gives Each Candidate the Great Chance to Store Up Votes Required to Win Prize Desired!

Big Cut in Votes Next Week!

Candidates will have to cash every possible promise this week if they expect to win. Each week candidates have been complaining to the Contest Department about not being able to cash their promises, and have been asking for more time. We have gone the limit—it is up to you, candidates, this week to win or lose. Those who expect to win have got to cash their promises if they expect to win. Excuses will never secure anybody an automobile. It takes votes to win. There is only one way to get them, and that is by securing subscriptions to The Daily Courier. This is no contest for the loafer—it is for live, energetic and popular men and women. Success will crown the efforts of the candidates who have the grit and determination to fight to the finish.

Success or Failure This Week

This is the critical week for every candidate. There are still plenty of subscriptions to be secured, and the candidate who is not strong enough to go out and get them will fall by the wayside. There is not a candidate in the entire contest who could not win if they would do their best. Get up this very minute, make up your mind you will win that grand prize Touring Car this week. Let this week be your banner week. You can if you are determined and do your best.

Candidates must have at least one club of four in order to get these votes. Read conditions in the contest story on another page.

Get Busy Stay Busy

Call your friends together, tell them you want to get enough votes to win the grand prize Auto, and you must have their assistance. United efforts will bring amazing results—do not blame anyone but your self if you are not in the land of plenty of votes next Saturday evening—do not be over-confident, for there is not a candidate in the contest to-day who has anywhere near enough votes to win the automobile. This is a great contest—the very best and strongest people in this part of Brantford are competing—it will be a great honor to win. Those who produce the greatest results this week are likely to be in the land of plenty of votes. Start right out this second, make up your mind you will be there.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Paris, Oct. 17.—The form of French political methods a war resulting in a concentration government, is predicted by Briand, according to a conversation the premier has had with which is recapitulated in The official and authorized, the dramatic member of the French Academie Capus quotes the premier as:

"I do not pretend to do more sketch the main outline. As a result of lessons which it cannot be strictly the notion of the official and authorized. There will be a difference, that while under regimes this authority was upon it historically and to-day it is the country itself demands it from its own sensitiveness as well as its business."

SIR THOMAS TAIT HAS RESIGNED

Recently Appointed Director of National Service Quits.

New Director Appointed Is Mr. R. B. Bennett.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—It is announced officially that Sir Thomas Tait has resigned his position as director-general of the national service. He will be succeeded by Mr. R. B. Bennett, M.P.

Mr. Bennett is a man of great ability, energy and enthusiasm. He has had a long and successful career at the bar, and during the past five years he has represented the City of Calgary in the House of Commons. On several important questions he has taken a very independent attitude. Mr. Bennett is a very strong imperialist, and most earnest in his desire to aid in every possible way in the vigorous prosecution of the war. He will act without any remuneration or compensation, although in devoting his whole time and energies to this work he is making a very considerable personal sacrifice.

Objection was taken to the proposed appointment of Mr. Murray in the ground of the a circular which he issued to the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association misrepresented a communication to him from the Minister of Finance with regard to the use of Canadian products and materials for the equipment of forces while in Great Britain. It was felt that while this circular remained uncorrected, the government could not consistently approve of Mr. Murray's appointment to the position mentioned. On the 10th of October Mr. Murray wrote a letter to the Hon. Mr. Kemp, and also a letter to the Hon. Sir Thomas White, in which he frankly admitted his error in framing the circular. Upon receiving the letter from Mr. Murray containing the acknowledgment that he was wrong, no further objection on that score could be raised. However, Mr. Murray apparently thought that as objection had been raised in the first instance, he could not consistently accept the position, which had been offered to him by Sir Thomas.

Letter to Premier

As a result of this Sir Thomas Tait felt called upon to resign and his resignation has been accepted by the Prime Minister.

Music and Drama

In presenting the Alexandra Players, Messrs. Priestland and Chamberlain are presenting the same organization with two exceptions that they had in Toronto when they played The Royal Alexandra Theatre for 17 weeks this season and 12 weeks last year.

After closing their season this year at the Royal, Mr. A. J. Small prevailed upon them to play a limited tour of Ontario, presenting a few of the plays that earned for them the title of "The Alexandra Players," while lowering their price of admission, will not lower the standard or excellence of their performances.

A few of the plays they will present are as follows: "The Conspiracy," Chas. Frohman's last big success "The Chauffeur," Nat Goodwin's satirical comedy of society, "The Slaves of the Mills," Cecil DeMille's great labor and capital bill, and "The Big Idea."

Messrs. Priestland and Chamberlain guarantee that no old plays under new titles will be played, every play presented is new and played under its own name.

The opening play "The Conspiracy" is one of the plays that packed the Alexandra Theatre to capacity for one solid week at $1.00 top price.

FOUND LIQUOR ON THE STREET

Is Plea of Foreigner Arrested With Booze in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Oct. 15.—Vadick Kadamas was in the police court yesterday on a charge of having liquor in his possession on the street. He stated that he picked the liquor up after some men had placed it on the street. Magistrate Jells and Crown Attorney Washington, K.C., discussed the matter for a short time, and decided that he should be allowed to go until called upon in the meantime they will endeavor to ascertain if this is an offence under the new temperance act.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Oak Hill branch of the Women's Institute held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Laird, October 11. The meeting opened in the usual way, Mrs. Jennings the president, in the chair. After the business part was finished a number of letters from boys at the front, who had received parcels from the Institute were read. These were very interesting and showed how delighted the boys are to receive anything from home. Miss Milburn then read a splendid paper on "Mother." After which Miss Margaret Laird sang a patriotic song, accompanied by Miss Robinson. A dainty lunch was then served by the hostess, which was greatly enjoyed. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Laird and those who had so kindly taken part and the meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King" all having thoroughly enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable time together.
