The Prospects of Reciprocity.

The Gloucester fishermen are up in arms against a renewal of any treaty that will admit Canadian catches to American ports. But we cannot help thinking that the arguments they use will be far more likely to act against themselves than to do any good. Their complaint is that they want protection, and they declare to Congress that "every treaty and every commission have sacrificed their fisheries, until the only protection left them is the duties on salt and pickled fish, leaving their immense market for fresh or ice-d fish open, duty free, to Canadian competition, and that Canada gives them no equivalent whatever." At the same time, however, they adduce figures to show the value of their fisheries which appear, now, from their statement of investments, to amount to $38,000,000, while the annual product there is over $40,000,000, and there are 131,426 men employed in the work. We fail to perceive, from these figures, how they require any more protection, nor how a renewal of the Washington Treaty would prejudicially affect their interests. If the value of their fisheries has so enormously increased within the past twelve years, can it be reasonably expected that it would decrease under any other agreement which is likely to be made. That they are moving heaven and earth to prevent the negotiation of a new treaty is a fact, but wait till the mackerel strikes in shore again.

The negotiation of a treaty whereby the natural products of the Dominion would be admitted, duty free, into the United States would be a boon to our people. There was no time at which the Island prospered so greatly as during the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854-66, but since then, it must be remembered that our conditions have greatly changed. We are now members of a vast country, which has largely developed its manufactures, and we cannot afford to have them ruined by the admission of American goods of which there always exists a large overstock. It is the history of every country that it must protect its own manufactures. Even England, the prize Free Trade country, is beginning to find this out. The success of the adjoining Republic may be, in a very large measure, attributed to the protection that she has afforded her manufactures.

What this Island chiefly requires in the way of Reciprocity is the free export of fish, potatoes and horses to the United States. How we shall obtain it, and what we shall give in return, are matters which only a Commission can determine. That Sir John Macdonald is using his best endeavors while in England to secure the passage of such a treaty as shall not only be favorable to us, but to the whole of Canada, there can be no doubt. We trust that his efforts may be successful, and that before very long, we shall be enjoying the benefit of a Reciprocal Trade Treaty with our neighbors over the border.

The Rev. Dr. McDonald, V. G.

One of our oldest and most revered priests, the Very Reverend Daniel McDonald, Doctor of Divinity and Vicar General, died and was buried on the 2nd inst. He was a native of the County of Down, Ireland, and was educated at the University of Glasgow, Scotland, and his mother, Catherine McMillan, was a native of the County of Down, Ireland, and was educated at the University of Glasgow, Scotland. He was a member of the Society of Jesus, and was ordained a priest in 1812. He was appointed Vicar General in 1821, and held that office until his death. He was a man of great piety and learning, and was highly respected by his fellow-countrymen.

The Reverend gentleman was born at Maple Hill, in St. Andrew's Parish, on the 19th February, 1822, and on the 23rd of the same month he was baptized by the Reverend and Right Reverend Bishop McEachern. His father, Allan McDonald, was a native of Midloth, Scotland, and his mother, Catherine McMillan, was a native of the County of Down, Ireland, and was educated at the University of Glasgow, Scotland. He was a member of the Society of Jesus, and was ordained a priest in 1812. He was appointed Vicar General in 1821, and held that office until his death. He was a man of great piety and learning, and was highly respected by his fellow-countrymen.

On yesterday morning the last solemn rites were performed over the earthly remains of the lamented clergyman. The church was tastefully draped under the superintendence of Rev. Dr. Grant, and through the solemnizing parishes of the beloved departed. Nearly all the clergy of the eastern section of the Island were in the Sanctuary, and as many of those resident in the western section were also present. After the chanting of the Office for the Dead a solemn Mass of Requiem was offered by His Lordship the Bishop of Charlottetown. The Rev. James McDonald acted as Assistant Priest, and the Rev. Charles McDonald, Rector of St. Dunstan's College, and the Rev. John McDonald, Assistant Rector, were respectively Deacon and Sub-Deacon. The ceremonies were directed by the Rev. A. J. McIntyre, who acted as Organist. The funeral oration was delivered by the Rev. Patrick Doyle, of Summerside, who spoke substantially as follows:

My Lord, REVEREND FATHER, DEAR COUNTRYMEN—It is my very sad duty to interpret the successful services of one who has been assembled in order to receive a long and public token of respect and affection to the venerable priest who has gone to his reward. It is the duty of the clergy to be faithful to the duties of his office, and to be a blessing to the souls of his flock. He was a man of great piety and learning, and was highly respected by his fellow-countrymen.

More Grit Election.

Another evidence of the great Grit reaction which is fast now alighted by that party to be convincing the Dominion, is afforded by the triumphant re-election of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries last night. Mr. Foster, a young Parliamentarian and an energetic man, and it was with not a few misgivings that his elevation to the very important portfolio which now he fills, was viewed by many of his opponents. Mr. Foster is a young man of great energy and ability, and he has shown himself to be a man of great courage and determination. The Subways Meeting in Charlottetown.

On Thursday evening, December 31st, a very large and enthusiastic meeting assembled in Market Hall to hear the Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. Foster, on the subject of the proposed submarine cables. The meeting was presided over by Mr. J. H. McEachern, and was attended by a large number of the public. Mr. Foster made a very able and interesting speech, in which he explained the advantages of the proposed cables, and the reasons why they should be constructed. He also answered a number of questions which were put to him by the audience.
