A Batch of Biscuits

Mother's make!
M—m—m!
What biscuit—what flavor—what tantalizing flakiness!
Broken into snow-white halves, could ever anything be more inviting! Scarcely.
It wasn't a happenstance, either. Experience has taught mother just how to heat her oven and just how to choose her flour.

And she always picks Rainbow Flour, because she's never found another brand that could make biscuits quite so flaky, so delicate in texture, or so digestible.

Rainbow Flour will help your reputation as a good cook.

Beautiful Cynthia;

Victory After Many Defeats.

CHAPTER XXVIII. NEWS OF A LOVED ONE.

"If that gentleman should call, please say that I am not at home, Parsons."
"I should think so, indeed!" responded Parsons, scarcely inaudibly.
But though repulsed, Sampson was not abashed or beaten off, and one evening he waylaid Cynthia as she was returning from a walk. She would have turned aside and avoided him, but Sampson lurched in front of her and held out his hand. She saw that he had been drinking, and with a shudder of loathing she tried to pass him, but he cried:
"Hi, stop! Don't carry it too far, Cynthia. I want to see you. They always tell me you're not at home when I come; but I'm not to be put off in that holly-tolly fashion. I've got something to say to you. I've been thinking about you a good deal since you came back, thinking about you and me—"

"Please let me pass, Sampson," said Cynthia, anger added to the loathing. "I do not want to hear you, to talk to you—"
"Oh, come!" he said, with a grin. "Those airs won't wash with me, Cynthia. I know you too well to be put off with 'em. What I was thinking was that you and me would step together well in double harness. Don't you understand?"
For Cynthia was looking at him in a kind of stupor of surprise and incredulity.

"I'm making you a regular proposal of marriage. That's what it is, and no mistake, Cynthia. I'm not surprised that you're taken aback. Suppose you thought I was only flirting with you? Well, that's what I thought at first, but I'm serious, Cynthia. I mean what I say. Of course, I know I could do better—bless you, I could aim at one of the best families! but I'm only speaking the truth when I say that there isn't one of 'em that could hold a candle to you, or could guess it better at the Court up there. What do you say, Cynthia? shall we make a match of it?"
Cynthia, red with shame—for was not such a proposal an insult and an outrage?—opened her lips to crush the wretch with one word, if that were possible. But Sampson misinterpreted the crimson flush, the indignant flashing of her eyes, and with a nod and a grin went on fatuously.
"Takes your breath away, doesn't it? But I'm serious. And I want to have you soon—"
Her voice found itself at last.
"Stand out of my way!" she said quietly, calmly enough, but with an accent that penetrated even Sampson's thick hide.
"Oh, that's it!" he said, between his teeth. "Riding the high horse, are you? I'm not good enough for you! Sampson Burridge, of Summerleigh Court, not good enough for a beggarly Drayle!" He laughed insolently, with a touch of rage, of malignant desire to wound. "I suppose your fancy's still set on that Frayne fellow? There now, don't blaze up!" Cynthia's eyes seemed to scorch—and sober—him. "What's the use of dwelling on him? He's a back number even if he's alive; and the odds are that he's a dead 'un."
Cynthia had turned away, but she stopped suddenly and looked over her shoulder at her tormentor. There was something in the expression of her face which shamed him into silence for a moment, and he went on in a half-apologetic manner.
"Looks as if you hadn't heard? But you must have. No? Do you mean to say that you don't know Darrel Frayne was killed—or missing. It's all the same, I expect—after that fight out there in India? Hi! Stop, Cynthia! I didn't mean to spring it on you. Here, you aren't going to faint!"

Cynthia, with blinded eyes, warded him off with her shaking hands, and after a moment walked on.

CHAPTER XXIX.

'TIS A SMALL WORLD.

One evening, in the vivid twilight which precedes the deeper shades of an Afghan night, Darrel and his preserver and guide, Abdurmahn, toiled slowly up the hill which casts its shadows over the small station of Dhinapur.
To recount their adventures since they left the nullah and started on their perilous way through the Afridis' country toward safety, would be but a recital of deadly monotony rendered hideous by insufficient food and water, and alarms which were not

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For twenty years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.
Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed.
"Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.
Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

seldom false, but always disquieting and irritating.
Darrel would have proposed a more daring and open course. But Abdurmahn, true to his sacred vow, would not permit his charge to imperil his life by foolhardiness.
He knew that should they be seen and detected by the Afridis, neither his nor Darrel's existence would be worth a melon seed, and even now, when they were passing through the last miles of the danger zone and would soon sight the station from the top of the hill, he did not relax his vigilance and caution. And his dark eyes were turned in every direction, as if he still expected an ambush and were ready to repel an attack.
But, indeed, with all the will in the world, Darrel could not have made the journey much more rapidly, for his wound still troubled him, and the scarcity of food kept him weak.
Abdurmahn foraged with all the skill of a hillman, obtaining supplies in the villages as they passed, or even purchasing them from the stray travellers they met, half-wild men trudging beside their mules laden with the merchandise in which their owners were trading; but a mess of dried beans, a chipati, or an occasional draft of goat's milk, though apparently quite sufficient for Abdurmahn, was scarcely the kind of diet for a man in Darrel's condition.
But, of course, he professed complete satisfaction, and Abdurmahn, in the course of that exceedingly trying and nerve-destroying journey, began to understand why it was that the English are so hard a nut to crack, even for an Afridi, and why those apparently weak white men always win in the long run.
"I should think we could make it to-night," said Darrel wistfully, as he looked up the steep ascent which had still to be made before they could see the haven of little huts which, Abdurmahn assured him, lay in the valley on the other side. "You know the way, and we're good for another ten miles."
Abdurmahn shook his head gravely and glanced at the slight and considerably wasted figure tottering beside him.
"No, sahib," he said. "It is not so near as you think, and it is dangerous to travel in this land by dark; there are always badmash"—he meant bad characters—"on the lookout for chance plunder. It will be wise to sleep in a nullah and go on with the dawn."
Darrel stifled a sigh. "A pretty pair we shall look when we do reach it," he remarked, with a grim smile, as he surveyed their travel-stained rags. "Perhaps you're right; for I should think it very likely that the sentry would fire on us at night, and without challenging, and the stiffest court-martial would exonerate him. Do you know what is the first thing I shall howl for, Abdurmahn, when we do get there?"
"Food that the sahib likes," ventured Abdurmahn; "bullock's meat, white bread, and whisky pawnee?"
"Not a bit of it," retorted Darrel. "They're all good things in their way, and I shan't say 'No' to them; but what my soul craves for is a cake of soap and a bath. I'd swap all the rest for 'em."
The Afridi looked at him pensively. "It is always so, sahib," he remarked, with the air of a man who muses over an extraordinary fact. "It is always the first thing the English soldiers ask for when they come to a village; they love to wash themselves; the bath first and then the food. With an Afridi it is the meat first and then the bath." He shrugged his shoulders. "It waits."
Darrel laughed. "A mere matter of habit, Abdurmahn," he said, absently, as he surveyed his hands, black with the sun and the grime, and knew that his face was a capital match for them.
They toiled upward in silence, each occupied by his thoughts; the Afridi doubtless thinking of Khastri, the Englishman also dwelling on the eternal feminine, the woman he had loved and lost. There were boulders on the way, and Darrel's feet, hardened though they were by the long march, often missed their aim and caused him to stumble; and presently Abdurmahn, whose watchful eyes had noticed the signs of the fatigue which comes close on exhaustion, called a halt.

9567. — A CHARMING GOWN FOR HOME OR CALLING.

Ladies' Dress with Chemisette. Blue ratine, combined with embroidery in Oriental tones and fancy buttons for decoration is here shown. The design has the fronts in surplice style, opening over vest pieces that reveal a chemisette of lace, and are tabbed trimmed. The vest portions form part of the collar at the neck edge. The skirt meets the surplice waist front at the right side, and its back is gathered, slightly—a new style feature. Crepe, chambray, linen, corduroy, gingham, chambray, voile, or tub silk will make of this model an ideal summer gown. The Pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. It requires 5 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 36 inch size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

9551.—A SIMPLE BUT ATTRACTIVE DESIGN.

Dress for Misses and Small Women. (With Vest and Long or Shorter Sleeves, and in Raised or Normal Waistline). Light blue ramic linen was used for this model, with trimming of wash braid and crochet buttons. The fronts of the waist outline a chemisette, that may be of contrasting material. A jaunty collar in sailor style finishes the neck edge. The upper portion of the sleeve is cut in one with the waist portions, and to it, the long or shorter sleeves, whichever is preferred is joined. The skirt has a tuck stitched front seam, where the closing is effected, and the panel back has plaited extension at the foot. The model is suitable for voile, panna, serge, gingham, ratine, corduroy, chambray, percale, satin or silk. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 4 yards of 44 inch material for a 17 year size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES LUMBERMAN'S FRIEND.

ON BACK-BITING.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

"He who backbites others does not whitened himself." — German proverb.

The following very interesting true story has recently been going the round of business circles in a certain city.

A young clerk in the office of a very large and prosperous concern, by a clever bit of work, gained the favorable attention of the senior member of the firm. He was a fine looking young man; he had a good presence and was always perfectly groomed; moreover, he had plenty of brains, and he easily held his favourable attention, and soon became a great favorite with the senior member who was, by the way, inclined to be eccentric. From a small clerkship this fortunate young man was advanced with startling rapidity. He was given a position of high authority and his salary was trebled within a year. At the end of this time his patron was due to make his annual trip abroad, and he still favored the young man by inviting him to go with him. His position was nominally that of a private secretary, but he was given a magnificent suite on shipboard, and in every way treated by his employer as a friend and companion. It had been planned that he should stay the full two months, travelling all over Europe, so everyone was much surprised when he came back by the next steamer.

They were still more surprised when he was followed by a cable from the senior member ordering his discharge. The secret of the sudden change in his fortunes leaked out into the office later. It was just this: He had taken that golden opportunity to knock his fellow workers, especially one or two of his superiors whose positions he thought he would like to hold. His employer listened without a word, which ought to have warned the young man. But he was success-drunk, and he kept it up during the whole voyage, while in the heart of his employer who hates a back-biter above anything on earth, admiration rapidly turned to disgust.

The Dutch have a proverb which goes one step farther than the German saying I quoted at the beginning. They say, "Slander flings stones at itself."

It's very true, isn't it?

Nothing arouses distaste and distrust in the heart of an honorable man any more than back-biting.

The fifteenth psalm has been aptly called "the gentleman's psalm" because it describes the qualities a gentleman should have. The "honorable business man's psalm" wouldn't be a bad name for it either, and one of the qualifications is, "He that back-bith not with his tongue." Evidently King David felt the same distaste for a back-biter as the 20th century business man does.

There are times when honor and expediency give a business man different counsel. This is one of the times when they agree. Don't back-bite; it isn't honourable and it doesn't pay.

Why Have "Nerves?"

This is the reason why women have "nerves." When thoughts begin to grow cloudy and uncertain, impulses lag and the warnings of pain and distress are sent like flying messages throughout limbs and frame, straightway, nine times in ten, a woman will lay the cause of the trouble to some defect at the point where she first felt it. Is it a headache, a backache, a sensation of irritability or twitching and uncontrollable nervousness, or something wrong with the head or back, a woman naturally says, but all the time the real trouble very often centers in the womanly organs. In nine cases out of ten the seat of the difficulty is here, and a woman should take rational treatment for its cure. The local disorder and inflammation of the delicate special organs of the sex should be treated steadily and systematically.

Dr. Pierce, during a long period of practice, found that a prescription made from medicinal extracts of native roots, without the use of alcohol, relieved over 90 per cent. of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in form of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that would make it easily procurable, and it can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

Mrs. LITA B. HAWKINS, of Zeus, Va., writes: "I had been falling in health for two years—most of the time was not able to attend to my household duties. My weakness was my trouble and I was getting very bad, but thanks to Doctor Pierce's medicine, I am well and strong again. I took only three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and used the 'Lotion Tablets.' I have nothing but praise for Dr. Pierce's wonderful medicines."

Household Notes.

The Oriental girl in bright coloring appears in costumes of crepe de chine, silks or cotton crepon.

There are lovely wraps and mantles of moire, corded silk chiffon lined with satin in Persian designs.

Deep cuffs are seen on many long sleeves. Some are three inches wide and some reach to the elbow.

A very taking blouse is made of silk crepon, trimmed with strawberry pink and white striped voile.

A pretty notion is the colored waist belt finished with flowers to match the flowers worn on the hat.

With white crepon draped skirts flowered crepe de chine boleros with habit sash basques are worn.

Favored shades worn in crepon soft and moire souple tailored suits are lilac, citron and amber.

A striking costume is made of lemon-colored chiffon broadcloth combined with corbeau-blue satin.

For the cooler days in summer, street costumes of worsted materials will be fashionable.

Beautiful evening gowns are made of satin combined with tulle, metallic lace and chiffon.

Many well-dressed women are taking the becoming color and using it on all their dresses.

The collarless shirtwaist predominates. It may have either half or full length leaves.

Fine lace and tulle flounced skirts are made with crepon linen tunic corse bodices.

Sailor and lime-green are two pale but very assertive colors of the Spring season.

MORGAN.

Outwardly self-sufficient, hard and gruff, he was within himself sensitive, sentimental and kindly.

Throughout his career, he was lonely, as only the very great can be alone.

His tremendous personality lifted him so far above even his closest associates, that few could realize the man overshadowed by the master.

When once the American was held in open derision and ridiculed for money-madness and crudity, he forced Europe to raise its estimate of his people and lived to stand foremost among the patrons of genius.

The contents of his galleries and library outranked even the collection of kings. Their refining influence upon future generations is beyond calculation.

The inspiration afforded by his example will do more to turn a coming generation of great men from sordid channels than contemporary judges can possibly estimate.

He entered Wall Street at the perihelion of his recklessness. Throughout the unscrupulous eras which tainted American finance with universal suspicion, he retained and sustained an irreproachable commercial code.

Neither a builder nor wrecker, he stood midway between the creative and predatory forces — monitor and sentinel — guard and guide.

In hours of peril, his wisdom and shrewdness automatically placed him in command of the field.

He maintained the right of the honest victor to a reward commensurate with his strength and service.

However great his exactions upon the stockholders of the billions of dollars' worth of industries dominated by his strength, the firmness of the market upon the day of his death is an astounding vindication of his theory that the "good laborer is always worth the full price of his hire."

No widow's wail nor orphan's plaint mingled with the nation's grief at his passing.

The alchemy of death transmutes a modest gentleman into a world immortal—a name into a tradition.

"Sun" Visits Coal Discovery.

The Sun visited the White Hills where the coal has been discovered, in company with Messrs. S. Loveridge and H. Colbourne. The spot where the lumps of coal have been found in a small valley which lies near the top of the range of hills between Gillard's Cove and Little Hr. The coal is found in small lumps lying among the turf and the bog, as though washed there many years ago. Some small pieces of slate were also found, but we were unable to find any similar formation near. Whether it is too early to say much, we fear we are not very optimistic. We understand Professor Howley has stated that the formation is against the probability of coal being there, but until some definite exploration work has been done it is impossible to say much. We hope, however, that some good may come of it.—Twillingat Sun.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DOING GREAT WORK IN PARRY SOUND.

Mrs. Jos. Desmasdon States That She Found the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy All That They Are Represented.

POINT AUX BARIL, Parry Sound, Ont., May 19.—(Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills cure young and old alike is shown in the case of Mrs. Jos. Desmasdon and her daughter of this place. In an interview Mrs. Desmasdon says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have given me the best satisfaction. They are just as represented. My little daughter Caroline, seven years of age suffered from kidney disease and one box cured her entirely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills only cure diseased kidneys. They cure it no matter where it is found, and they cure it quickly and completely. It is by curing diseased kidneys that they cure rheumatism, heart disease, dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease, backache, urinary troubles and other ailments. All these ills are caused by kidney disease, and the natural cure for them is to cure the kidneys.

The work of the kidneys is to strain impurities out of the blood. To have good health you must have pure blood. If your kidneys are diseased or out of order you can't have pure blood. You must cure the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys.

Do not overlook the introduction of color. It is a strong note and gives character to blouse and shirtwaists.

Notes and Comments.

From the last issue of the N. Y. Fishing Gazette, we learn that the Booth Fisheries Co., are erecting a $300,000 cold storage plant at Minneapolis. It is expected that a part of the building will be ready by next fall. The building will be constructed of concrete and will be 138 by 100 feet, and eight or ten stories high. We would like to know what has become of the Booth Cold Storage project in Newfoundland, which the Morris Government boomed so much a year ago. Then again there was the earlier move with Trefethen and Lord, who were in so great a hurry to start that one of them was most unfortunate in his enquiries from "Friend Morris" as to the meeting of the Legislature. Assemblies have opened and closed since then and several years have passed, but the project never materialized, but vanished into thin air, as all the industrial schemes, boosted by the Morris Government have done.

In reference to the success of Sir their eyes on the unofficial detectives.

"A Chronicle reporter, on Friday night, interviewed some of the strike-breakers. Ten of the thirty belong to the Thiel Detective Agency and have had considerable experience. They were in the Porcupine strike and passed through many trying experiences. They one and all, say that the Halifax mob is as likely as any they have met. The ten detectives have been in Halifax for the last three days in order to get in touch with the situation."

The Canadian Government has a bill before the Dominion Parliament to appropriate ten millions of dollars for the promotion of agricultural instruction. Canada has learned by experience the value of Agricultural Colleges and schools, so has England, Denmark and the States. It remained, however, for the Morris administration to destroy the foundation of such a policy, laid down by the last Liberal Administration, and to inaugurate a giving-out policy in which some $10,000 or more has been wasted. What is the use of Morris talking of an agricultural policy when he has negated the only policy which can ensure success? What advantage has Newfoundland reaped from the retaining of three members of the Tory Party as an Agricultural Commission? They were in no sense scientists or experts in agriculture. Some $6,000 a year has been wasted, in paying salaries and expenses for work that was in no way commensurate with the money spent on it. These men were provided with jobs. These jobs had good salaries attached to them. Such were the main uses to which the money spent on the Commission was put. The money formed golden chains to bind members to an extravagant and reckless leader.

Governor Visits C.B. Schools.

This forenoon, His Excellency Governor Davidson and suite visited the Christian Brothers' Schools, St. Patrick's Hall, and were conducted through the class rooms which they inspected. The distinguished party were received by the Superior, Rev. Brother Ryan, and also by Brother Kennedy. As the Vice-Regal party entered the rooms, they were greeted with the National Anthem beautifully rendered by the boys of the choir. His Excellency expressed his pleasure at what he saw after inspecting the schools, and congratulated the teachers and pupils on the great excellence evident in the work of both teachers and pupils. The boys were awarded a half holiday.

Prince Albert Has No Special Privileges.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

During the time that H.M.S. Cumberland is in port, there will be nothing in the way of celebration for H.R.H. Prince Albert, naval cadet on board the cruiser. The Prince is under the same discipline as his shipmates. His privileges are no more and no less. In common with the other cadets he will be allowed ashore in the afternoons. A number landed Thursday for a short time and he is said to have been among the number.

No civic or military demonstration in recognition of the presence of Royalty will be made during the cruiser's stay here. The Cumberland will be in port until the end of the month.

Yesterday morning, Captain Smith made his official call upon Lieut. Governor McGregor, which was returned in the afternoon. Commander MacDonald and others lunched on board the cruiser.

The whaler Cachalot arrived yesterday to go on dock for repairs before taking up her summer's work.

With heartfelt regret we record to-day the death of Miss Helen Duff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Duff. The sad event took place shortly before noon to-day. Abscess of the brain was the cause of the death of this popular young lady. Miss Duff occupied the position of organist of St. Andrew's Church here for some time, she also acted in the same capacity in the Sabbath School, and always took a special interest in Sunday School and Church work. Her death at the early age of 15 years is a severe blow to her parents and other members of the family. We join with the whole community in tendering our sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones.

The marriage of Mr. John Beckham, son of ex-Constable J. Beckham, and Miss Lavinia Downing, daughter of Mr. Ulrich Downing, took place at the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening last in the presence of a large number of friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. B. Darby. The bride, who looked very pretty in a becoming suit of sax-blue, with hat to match, was given away by her father, the bridesmaids being Miss May Beckham and Miss Ida Parsons. The groom was supported by Mr. William Downing, brother of the bride. Quite a number of useful and valuable presents were received by the young couple, testifying to the esteem in which they are held.

BEAUTIFUL SHIP FOR LABRADOR SERVICE—MARKS SPLENDID RUN.

The s.s. Kyle, Capt. Stephenson, the new ship built for the Reid Nbd. Co. at Newcastle-on-Tyne to run between St. John's and Labrador ports, arrived here at an early hour this morning. The ship left Newcastle on Saturday week at 5 p.m., and had very fine weather until Saturday night and Sunday past, when a hurricane of wind from the S. E., veering to N.W. with a heavy sea, was experienced, and last evening and night in making in for the land she had it very thick and hove up off the port all night. The ship proved herself to be a splendid sea boat, did 12 knots on the run out, and captain and crew are enthusiastic over her qualities as a sea boat and first class steamer. The purser and Marconi operator, Messrs. March and Baxter, of the Reid Nbd. Co., kindly showed a Telegram representative through this splendid specimen of marine architecture this forenoon. The boat is undoubtedly a beauty in every respect and her creation seems to have reached the climax in all that is handsome, luxuriant and staunch in vessels of her class. It is almost enough to say that she is a replica of the excellent Lintrose, though she is in length 35 feet shorter. The first place visited on board by our reporter was the music room, forward on the ship. This beautiful apartment is done in birdseye maple, polished in the natural color and as most luxuriously furnished, a feature in it being a grand piano of the same wood. The upholstery, carpets, etc., are in the same uniform color and the place is well worth a visit. Just aft of the music room is the main saloon, an apartment surpassingly beautiful and like that of the Lintrose, done in polished mahogany. The doors are panelled in rare colored plate glass, the fantastically tinted windows light the room and 40 persons can be accommodated at table at one sitting. The settees, chairs, etc., all splendidly upholstered and the wood work conforms with that of the walls and other parts. The pantry is off the saloon and just forward of the saloon is the smoking room, a place which one can enjoy the weed in the most comfortable and beautiful surroundings. The captain and chief officer's rooms are excellently furnished and beautifully wrought are off this room and above this is the wheelhouse, flag room, etc. The wireless room is aft in the upper deck and is fitted with every appliance and furnished neatly and with an eye to the comfort of its official. The ship's wireless has a radius of 150 miles. Below on the second deck are the wash rooms, toilets, bath rooms for ladies and gentlemen and these display every comfort and convenience. The state rooms are veritable miniature palaces. They contain from 4 to 6 berths and are painted dead white on the ceilings the rest enamel white. Each room has its own wash basin, and a cunningly devised little ladder to take one to the top berth without the necessity of climbing up by the lower berth. There are also state rooms to accommodate parties of 6 on either side of the ship. The ladies' cabin amidships is also an apartment fitted in a sumptuous way with mirrors set about, handsome furniture and oak and cloth carpets. The men's quarters (very comfortable and airy) are forward and the steerage which is aft is a fine place containing good berths, beds and furniture and capable of accommodating 120 men and 40 women. The ship is well ventilated and lit throughout with electricity. In the Marconi room is a Morse lamp and telephones run right through the ship. Her lifeboats are well built to suit the Board of Trade requirements and can carry 31 persons each. The ship is built with particular attention given to strength of structure for contact with ice. She has 5 water tight bulkheads and her gross tonnage is 1,055, net 548. She is 220 feet long, 32 feet beam, depth of hold 24 feet. Her engines are reciprocating three cylinder 1,580 horsepower. The ship will take up the Labrador service early in June. Today numbers of people inspected her and expressed the pleasure they felt on viewing such a fine boat.

CHINAMAN ESCAPES.—Yesterday a Chinaman, who was under quarantine for smallpox, in a boarding house on Bell Island, was found coming to the city in a motor-bus, he having broken the quarantine laws. The chink was arrested by Sgt. Mackey, and later taken to the smallpox hospital where he is now under observation. It is not likely that the celestial will be prosecuted for a breach of the Health Regulations, as he was ignorant of the law.

STYLES FOR YOUNG MEN.—We have made a specialty of catering to the young man's trade of this city, and by strict attention to their wants, we have established a business far beyond our expectation. How? By giving the young men up-to-date, well-made, dandy suits, that look well, wear well, and add a permanent and satisfied customer to our list. Are you a well-dressed young man, if not try the Spurrell plan. SPURRELL BROS., 35 Water Street, next door to Parker & Monroes.—may 20/13

DID GOOD WORK.—The Guarantee and Chief Engineer of the s.s. Kyle, is Mr. James McParlane, brother of the Asst. Inspector of Boilers. He brought the ship to port and handled everything in such an able manner, in the engine room, that for her maiden trip she did good work and averaged 12 knots. The ship can do 13 1/2 and Mr. McParlane speaks in glowing terms of the excellence of the engines with which the ship is fitted.

Painful Accident.
People who arrived here from Branch yesterday say that Edward Conway, of that place, met with a painful accident Thursday last. He went out to the s.s. Portia in a dory while a big log was running, and in trying to board her his hand was jammed between the boat and the ship's side. The top of one finger was completely severed and the other fingers were broken, some in two places. Men took charge of his boat and he had to proceed to Placentia on the ship for treatment from a doctor.

HOME'S REPORT.—The s.s. Home, which left Lewisport at 10 a.m. yesterday, returned again at 6 a.m. today and reports getting to North Head of Fortune Harbor. Here the bay was blocked with ice and no water was visible from the hills.

Rossley's Scores.
The very finest show ever seen at Rossley is presented by the Lorraine Buchanan Co., comprising dramatic and vaudeville, and last night was a record one and everybody was high in their praise of Rossley's selection. Cook and Bealle, in "Just Kids," were splendid, and Miss Bealle's imitation of a little girl is a marvellous piece of work, while the dancing of the pair was very fine and called for four encores. "The Detective and the Girl" by Lorraine Buchanan and Billy Devens, was a masterpiece of acting and proves both to be artists of the first water. The scene opens up in an art studio where a gang of thieves led by a clever girl burglar intend that night to plunder; a clever detective disguised as a statue in order to arrest the girl leader; the girl thinking the detective a statue kisses him and a happy climax is brought about by the statue singing a love song to the girl. Billy Devens is known as the South African actor and has a glorious voice. Rossley has a great show.

All this talk about Western wheat flours being "pastry" flours, is just plain talk. Anyone, who knows anything about wheat, knows that Western wheat flour cannot and does not, make as good Pastry as "Beaver" Flour.

Western wheat has what the bakers call strength. It makes a big loaf of bread—but the bread is spongy and lacks flavor. Ontario wheat, blended with spring wheat, makes the ideal bread and pastry flour.

The bakers of Toronto and London—the experts at the agricultural colleges—and thousands of homes in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—have proved that "Beaver" Flour is superior to any Western wheat flour, and is equally good for Bread and Pastry.

EDINBURGH, May 20.

Seven British bluejackets starting on a holiday trip, were drowned on Saturday, when the naval boat which they were in, was swamped by a heavy sea.

CORUNA, Spain, May 20.

A Mexican delegation arrived here to-day on the steamer Iporanga, for the purpose of trying to persuade General Porfirio Diaz, Mexico's former President, to return to Mexico and undertake the Government of the country.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 20.

At the first session of the Methodist Conference, Saturday last, a resolution commending the proper celebration of the centenary of peace between Canada and the States was passed. Dr. Chown, General Superintendent, proposed that the history of the text books of Canada and the States, be revised so that the rising generation might be brought up on facts instead of fiction.

LONDON, May 20.

Some confirmation of the hint that militant suffragettes are hiring women of the lower class as members of the arson squads, was received early this morning, when Nellie Robinson was arrested outside New College Chapel at Hampstead, in N. W. London. The woman described herself as a servant and said she was awaiting the arrival of the suffragettes, and with them was going to set fire to the church. The police magistrate remanded her, remarking that she seemed to be taking a course of training for a professional petroleum incendiary from miscreants worse than herself.

BERLIN, May 20.

A woman making a trip in a Swiss balloon, met a terrible death near Munich, Sunday. When the balloon was close enough to the ground for the occupants to alight, one of the aeronauts fell out and the balloon shot upward. The woman had begun to climb out of the car as the balloon ascended, and was unable to get back owing to the car swaying. Another aeronaut grabbed the woman and tried to pull her back, but was unable to do so. He held her until the balloon was 600 feet from the earth, when his strength failed, and the woman dropped to death.

AQUASC ALIENTIS, Mexico, May 20.

John Walker, British mine owner, and his wife, fighting shoulder to shoulder, recently killed five men and wounded three out of a band of eleven employees at their mine near Villa Garcia, Seacabesca. Mr. and Mrs. Walker arrived here under an escort squad of troops. The employees attacked Walker's office because he was unable to raise money with which to pay their wages. The attackers used knives and clubs, and Walker had been seriously cut and beaten when he opened fire on them with an automatic revolver. Mrs. Walker reinforced her husband with a rifle. After the battle, Mrs. Walker made her escape from the building.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.

All the great battleships of the Atlantic reserve fleet stationed at the Philadelphia navy yard are being stripped and prepared for instant action for the first time since the Spanish war. All the big ships are being put in fighting trim, and this very quickly, and with much secrecy. The officials of the navy yard deny they are taking unusual action in preparing the fleet for sea, but private investigation proves the contrary. The most significant part is the fact that several old cruisers, including the Minneapolis, which have not seen service for years, are being overhauled, repaired and outfitted for sea-going. The Ohio is being repainted, the Alabama is being overhauled. Commander Grant, who has been appointed to the new battleship Texas, building at Newport News, absolutely refuses to discuss activities, and simply said: "We are always preparing for war." Sea stores and ammunition are being put aboard the ships at night.

The Tramp.

He's idle, unsteady, and everyone's ready to throw him a demerick or give him a bit; he's always in tatters, but little it matters; he's ever more happy, so what is the diff? He carries no sorrow, no care for to-morrow, his roof is the heaven his couch is the soil; no sighing or weeping break in on his sleeping, no bell in the morning shall call him to toil. As free as the breezes he goes where he pleases, no rude overseer to boss him around; his joys do not wither, he goes on and on, till dead in a haystack or ditch he is found. The joys of such freedom—no sane man can need 'em! Far better to toil for the kids and the wife, till muscles are aching and collarbone breaking, then selfishly follow the vagabond life. One laborer toiling is worth the whole hoarding of idlers and tramps of whatever degree; and though we all know it we don't find a poet embalming the fact as embalmed it should be. The poets will chortle about the blithe mortal who wanders the highways and sleeps in the hay, but who sings the tollier, the sweet spangled motier, who raises ten kids on a dollar a day?

Britain Holds the Gun Record.

London, May 16.—A world's record with 13.5 inch guns has just been made by the superdreadnought King George V. during gun layer's tests. Forty shots were fired by these guns and the targets were hit thirty-nine times. These guns fire 100 pound shells as against the 1250 pound shells discharged by the 13.5 inch guns of the Orion and the Lion.

Nickel's Splendid Show

Nickel patrons were greatly pleased with the programme given at the Nickel Theatre yesterday. The Gaumont Graphic showed the English and Hungarian teams playing Rugby at Chelsea, an ice hockey match between St. Petersburg and Moscow, M. Delcasse, the man of the hour in France, Bradford City and Queen's Park in a spirited ball game. Paris floods, and several other items of interest including French dining gowns. "At Scroggin's Corner" is a story which appeals to all. It tells of the love affair of an abandoned child, Edith Halersan and John Bunny play the principal parts. "Winnie's Dance" is a bright comedy which gave pleasure to every spectator; "Old Kent's Road" is a Vitagraph drama in which the great actor Maurice Costello is seen to advantage. Miss Gardner sang New York's latest ragtime "At the Devil's Ball," and Miss Guerin "That's How I Need You." The entire programme will be repeated this evening.

Columbus.

By H. L. RANN.

This is the 40th anniversary of the untimely death of Christopher Columbus, who discovered America when there was nothing worth discovering here except the unbathed red man and the lithe form of the cholera morbus.

Columbus couldn't have chosen a poorer time to discover this country. Nobody knows why he didn't wait until somebody had opened a hotel or a saloon, where he could be received with pomp and tendered a rising vote of thanks, but when Columbus made up his mind to discover anything he went right out and hung the Spanish flag on it.

It had not been for Queen Isabella of Spain, who pawned several of her wedding presents in order to buy ships for Columbus, America would never have been discovered up to the present writing and the people of foreign lands would still believe that the earth is constructed on the order of a graphophone record. The American invasion would also have been postponed for several years with great unanimity.

As not many people cared at that time whether America was discovered or not, Columbus had to hire a lot of sailors who were not enthusiastic about getting anywhere in particular and who mutilated a number of times in a fervent and unbiased manner, making it necessary for Columbus to bury a few of the ringleaders in order to promote harmony. The shotgun with which Columbus pacified the mutineers is now on exhibition in several Spanish museums, and can be seen by tourists who have the price of admission.

Columbus made several trips after striking this continent, but did not succeed in discovering anything that afterward got into the geographies. King Ferdinand did not like Columbus because he had never redeemed Isabella's jewelry, and one time when Columbus was chasing around South America looking for the tree of life and running up a big hotel bill Ferdinand had him handcuffed to one of the Spanish militia and sent home. This broke the proud spirit of Columbus, and made him an easy prey to the Spanish gout, which foreclosed on him in 1506. Thus died one of the best discoverers that ever came to this country, but one of the poorest financiers outside of the treasury department.

Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Master), of the late barque "Colorado," of Glasgow. "Having lost our ship on Staten Island, on the 5th of July, and having saved neither effects nor provisions, we were then compelled to travel over the island for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shell-fish and seaweed. On the 19th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seventeen, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship "Dunkeld," of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 23rd of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of EPPS'S COCOA, was washed ashore out of the wreck. There was nothing saved except the Cocoa, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were kept alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer "Mercurio," of Buenos Aires.

"Too much praise cannot be given to this Cocoa. We had a good stock of it there; we used it in a liquid state for drink, we also baked it on the fire, which kept us alive and warm for 6 weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow."

Spaniard's Bay Briefs.

His Lordship Bishop March paid us an ecclesiastical visit last Thursday, and quite a number of young people received the gift of "Laying on of hands."

Wednesday was "Clean-Up" Day for the Anglican Church people. The Parish Church received a thorough good cleaning. We are glad to note that the Select Vestry and Wardens have turned their attention to the Rectory and surrounding grounds. The fences have been newly white-washed and the Rectory is now receiving a coat of paint.

Mr. Churchill was here on Friday and chose the site for the new public building. This is a thing badly needed, and we hope the Government will push the work and get it completed as quickly as possible.

The first cargo of coal for the season arrived on Saturday to Mr. J. F. Sheppard. It received a quick despatch from the vessel, being stored in twenty-one hours. Mr. Sheppard's facility for landing coal is an up-to-date one and the arrangement saves time and labor. A cargo of firewood, from Trinity Bay, has also arrived to the same firm.

Mr. M. M. Young's vessel arrived from St. John's on Friday with a full load of provisions.

Capt. Blandford, late of the s.s. Diana, has purchased a vessel and will prosecute the Labrador fishery the coming season.

Two motor boats were built here during the winter; one for Mr. L. Noseworthy, the other for Mr. Geo. Gosse. Both will be used on the Labrador the coming season.

The Agricultural people have purchased from Frost & Wood, Canada, the following farming implements: Four plows, one spring harrow and one scuffer. They are now being used on the farms and are giving every satisfaction.

We are glad to see Mr. Heber Gosse, son of our esteemed wheelwright, about again. We hope that within a week or two he will be able to resume his work as Principal of Island Cove High School. —COR.

Letter From "Traveller."

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I have read with amusement Mr. Newhook's letter that appeared in the Daily News of May 8th, stating how the money was shared among the people here this spring. He said it was through spleen or jealousy I wrote to your paper. But it couldn't have been, as Mr. Newhook says himself some got seven dollars while others got ten. Now, Mr. Editor, is that what he calls sharing? Why he is making himself out the jackass not me. I wonder if he would deny one man got twenty dollars while another that does not belong to the place was working here. Of course they were Mr. Newhook's relations.

He spoke of our member, J. R. Goodison, I am well aware, Mr. Editor, that he and a few more around get prompt and general response from him. That is why they do not want him to come over to see their needs. There was no one asked Mr. Goodison to come. It was a promise he made himself. I thought a member was to visit his district and to look after his people but Mr. Newhook says no, only to make laws. If he did come around he would see how some more money was wasted that was given to dig a well. It was a place where an old iron pump was sunk many years ago. A cover was put on that to serve for a well if water was to be got there which there is not. Their donkeys wouldn't drink it.

Now, Mr. Editor, our roads are little better than when I wrote before. We had one day's work but most of it was spent in on the main line where it was not needed. The Road Board and wharf builders and such like tells us they get their rules from St. John's to do what they like with the money. Spend it where they like or give it all to one man to work out if they like. What do we want a member for? I am writing the plain truth now. Let them do it if they can. Now, Mr. Editor, you will not hear from me again very soon as I am not plying my vocation here at the fishery, I will be leaving here in a short time. You can see our money wasn't spent fair, as Mr. Newhook said himself.

Hoping I have not trespassed too much on your valuable paper, I remain

Yours truly,
ONE WHO TRAVELS THE ROAD.
Bristol's Hope, May 15th, 1913.

Smallpox Spreading.

Yesterday it was gleaned that smallpox had been discovered at Bell Island, the person afflicted being Miss Murphy, of the post office, who is a sister of the young lady who has the disease at Conception Harbor. The health authorities believe the disease can be traced to the family on Pleasant Street, to whom Miss Murphy is related. The disease seems to be spreading, and no doubt the health authorities will do everything possible to stamp it out.

Poor Outlook.

At present the fishery at Quid Vidi looks anything but promising. Herring have not struck in there yet. The fishermen are on the fishing grounds every morning and so far have not handled enough for their own consumption. Salmon are exceptionally scarce and not one of these fish has been taken for the season. When cod strikes in there will be a shortage of bait unless herring makes their appearance very soon. The outlook for a successful fishery looks gloomy.

Died at Glace Bay

The death took place yesterday morning, of James Vey, aged 65, at the residence of his son, Bruce Street, Glace Bay. He had been in poor health for the past twelve months and on Tuesday, was attacked by a stroke of paralysis. He was a native of Bay Roberts, Nfld., and has been a resident of Glace Bay for the past 13 years. He is survived by a widow and one son, William. He is also survived by three sisters, two of whom are in Newfoundland, the other in Winnipeg, and one brother in Newfoundland. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment at No. 4 cemetery. —Sydney Record.

Firemen Meet.

The Firemen and Stokers' Union held a meeting last night which was largely attended. Some new regulations were adopted for the betterment of the Union, and for the benefit of the ship owners. The following officers were elected: President, Martin McAllister; Vice-Pres., Moses Baldwin; Asst. V.P., P. Lundrigan; Secy., W. King; Treas., P. McGrath; Delegate, Wm. Whalen. Mr. Frank Woods the former President, who resigned, received a hearty vote of thanks.

Had Narrow Escape.

People who came in by yesterday's express and who were in Channel when the boat and dories were driven off Saturday, say that had the Invermore not been in port the four men on-board the boat, a jack of 16 tons, would have been lost. The boat was fishing four miles off Fox Roost when the wind suddenly veered to the N. E. and blew a hurricane. The first blast tore the boat's sails into shreds and in the sea which ran her rudder became smashed and she was driven helplessly before the storm with the dories alongside. The light keeper at Channel notified the Magistrate of the men's predicament and the Invermore was despatched to the rescue and overtook them many miles off the land. The boat, unmanageable as she was, could not live much longer in the weather which prevailed.

Marine Notes.

The R.M.S. Mongolian is nine days out to Glasgow from this port.

The schr. Annie E. Banks, has gone to Grand Bank to load codfish.

The schr. Novelty, 50 days on the passage to Pernambuco from St. John's, has not arrived yet.

The s.s. Durango leaves Liverpool on Saturday next for this port.

The schr. Freedom is now on her way to Barbados to load molasses for this port.

The Redeemtorist Mission at St. George's

The mission for the men and the children began on the last Sunday in April. The children's mission continued until Wednesday, April 30th, when they received Holy Communion; they formed in processional order at the school hall the little boys in the lead followed by the little girls dressed in spotless white, veiled like the virgins in the Apocalypse; then similarly robed, bearing the banners of their sodality, came the children of Mary; the church was thronged by the parents and other relatives of the little ones.

After mass, Father McAndish closed the children's mission with a most impressive address, showing them the favors and graces they had that day received, by making their little souls, for the first time, the temples of our Redeemer in the Blessed Sacrament; a miracle which would make the vigil of Ascension 1913, ever memorable, ever blessed, the most perfect day in all their lives. He then pledged the boys to total abstinence until their twenty-first year, and the girls to keep from walking the streets at night until the same age, and both boys and girls to say three Hail Marys morning and night, in honor of the purity of the Mother of God.

The men's mission closed Sunday at 7 p.m. Every man in St. George's and Sandy Point attended, no matter how the weather, crossing by boat from Sandy Point, at 5 o'clock in the morning and at 10 o'clock at night; coming by land from Flat Bay, from Muddy Hole, from Barachois, the crippled and partially crippled hauled along the way in carts by their neighbors, sights most admirable and never to be forgotten in St. George's.

The effects of the men's mission is plainly to be seen in St. George's, a congregation of men pledged to total abstinence for twelve months, the hasty oath, the rude jest, the foul word, is unheard on the lips of any; courtesy and hospitality, virtues for which our people were already renowned, have increased an hundred fold, and during the days of the mission, one's house was not held to be so much his own as his neighbor's; it was an example of that wide hearted hospitality, sung by Longfellow: Long may the spirit and the grace of the mission sway the hearts of our citizens.

The women's mission began on the first Sunday of May, and on Thursday, the 7th inst., confirmation was administered by His Lordship Bishop Power, to two hundred and eighty-eight children; after the figure of the Babe of Bethlehem was borne on the shoulders of four little boys, in processional order around the church grounds; the sodality, all the newly confirmed and the tots not old enough to receive that sacrament taking part. The children were then dedicated to the Infant Jesus and were blessed at the altar rails; this was one of the most pleasing and beautiful of the day's ceremonies.

Twitching of the Nerves

A Distressing Symptom of Nervous Exhaustion Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. John McKellar, 11 Barton street east, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was injured some years ago, and that left me with a broken-down nervous system. I could not sleep, and suffered from twitching of the nerves and disagreeable nervous sensations. I then began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that I never used any medicine that did me so much good; in fact, I am entirely cured of my old trouble. The Nerve Food not only strengthened the nerves, but also built up my system in every way." Under date of Aug. 29, 1913, Mrs. McKellar writes, confirming her cure, and states that she has had inquiries from many people who had heard of the great benefits she obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, $ for $2.50. All dealers, or Edmans, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

On Sunday, the 11th, mass was celebrated on a hill three-quarters of a mile from the church; the spot that had been selected for the erection of the mission cross.

The procession of the whole congregation to Holy Cross Hill was a picture to linger long in the memory.

The Star of the Sea Society and the men of the Cathedral Parish formed up on the road toward the Court House, these then broke rank and the acolytes, the boys, the girls in their white confirmation garb, the Children of Mary, and Rev. Father Holland, who was the celebrant of the mass, in a carriage, accompanied by the Bishop and the other clergy, completed the procession. There were over six hundred people in line.

When the acolytes came within a few yards of the hill, the procession divided through its whole length, to allow the Bishop and clergy to be first at the spot where the cross was to be set up.

Father Holland vested with alb and stole, performed the impressive ceremony of the blessing of the cross, after which it was kissed by the people.

The morning had been cloudy and cold, but now the sun came forth gloriously and there in the middle of half an acre of land roughly cleared with an axe, surrounded by the gently swaying firs, which seemed to be offering incense, the mass was sung, the congregation joining in the chanting of the kyrie and credo and the responses and kneeling reverently on the rugged, and in parts, be-mired ground, regardless of their spotless attire, this ever memorable mass came all to swiftly to an end.

Then the word was given by Capt. Albert Garnier, to the waiting men and slowly the great cross, the symbol of our salvation, rose, while at the same moment, led by Father McAndish, poured forth the prayers of the congregation; slowly it arose and strong men wept as the memory of Calvary's glorious sacrifice struck home more forcibly than e'er before to their souls; slowly it arose, away, towered upright, slipped into its place, and the mission cross of St. George's erected to the honor of our Blessed Redeemer and the Most Holy Trinity was set.

The following inscription in English and Latin, was sealed in the cross:—

"The greater Honor and Glory of the Most Holy Trinity and the Most Holy Redeemer, as well as to the memory of the mission preached with great fruit by Fathers Holland and McAndish of the congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer, founded by St. Alphonsus, this Cross having been solemnly blessed and erected on Pentecost Sunday, A.D., 1913. Plus the Tenth Pope happily reigning, George the Fifth being Emperor of Great Britain, Davidson, Newfoundland, Vice-Roy, Most Rev. M. F. ### Co-operation is the Only Hope.

Earl Grey Says This Principle Must Be Applied in Labor.

London, May 12.—Several manufacturers interested in the question of profit-sharing co-partnership attended a meeting in London to hear the views of Sir William Lever, whose fortune has been estimated at $2,000,000. His model town, Port Sunlight, where the employees of his firm live in the happiest conditions, is the most successful co-operative establishment of the kind in England, probably in the world.

Sir William Lever said that the most important point in considering a co-partnership scheme was not to fetter the management. The first requisite was high-class management. The policy of the business should be free from any control of the rank and file. His experience was that if this was not guarded against the system of co-operation might eventually prove a source of great weakness in business. Without long experience, he continued, the rank and file could not partake in the management, but some, if they entered into the spirit of co-operation with a loyal manager, stood to benefit immensely, and it was only right that their loyal co-operation should find a reward in some share of the profits of the business in which they were engaged. In a scheme of that kind, however, there must be no maudlin sentiment. No faddist ideas must be allowed to govern the business.

Earl Grey, who was present, said that the hope of the industrial future of this country, the hope of industrial peace, the hope of the worker, the hope of the country, depended upon the application of the co-partnership principle to the industrial enterprise of the United Kingdom.

Ladies and Gentlemen!

PHILLIPS was RIGHT when he said, "With eyes and books the knowledge of the world is at your command."

If your sight is failing, consult us at once.

Properly fitted glasses overcome that trouble quickly—and at small cost.

Can you afford to miss the good books, magazines, etc., on account of not having a pair of glasses?

It is false economy to deprive yourself of that pleasure when it is so easily procured.

Consult us to-day about your eyes.

We manufacture every kind of an eyeglass mode.
