CHAPTER XXXV.

"I don't think I can tell you," said Madge, with a heavy sigh, "and yet you will soon know the truth—all the world will know it. I have left the Towers, and—my husband, because I have brought shame and disgrace upon him—upon all of them."

She spoke with the awful calmness of despair. Why should she not tell the woman the truth? All the county knew it were probably discussing it at this moment.

"Shame, disgrace!" echoed Martha Hooper.

"Yes," said Madge. "You know—perhaps you do not, but it will be known before daylight—that I am a gypsy."

"A gypsy?" the woman looked at Madge's brown dress and red shawl—"a gypsy?" I thought you were—play-acting. You look like a gypsy in those clothes."

"I am a gypsy," said Madge, sadly. "It was in a gypsies' camp that Jack—that my husband first saw me, and—her voice broke—"loved me. I did not know the harm I was doing in letting him marry me. How could I have known?" She was scarcely speaking to the pale, frightened woman before her as communing with herself. "Then I came to the Towers, and—and I tried to be like the others, to be a lady, and—worthy of him; and to-night—her voice broke—"to-night I thought I had done so, that he would be proud of me. Then, just when I had forgotten what I had been a man came into the midst of them all, and told them all what I was!" Her eyes were dry and hot, yet as the washed tears were burning in them "Poor Jake!" she breathed, with a weary sigh; "he did not know the harm he was doing—"

Martha Hooper broke in with a low cry.

"Jake!" she breathed. Madge looked up at her wearily.

"Yes, that is his name," she said faintly. "He is one of our tribe, and he followed me, I suppose, to get money. I would have given him all I could get; Jack would have given him anything to spare me, I know that. But it is all over now. The blow has fallen. Everybody knows, everybody looks down upon me and him with scorn!" She put her hands to her face and sighed.

Martha Hooper looked straight over Madge's head, with a strange expression on her face.

"Did he—Jake—come only to tell the grand people all he knew about you?" she asked in a dry voice. Madge shook her head.

"I suppose so; I do not know. It does not matter. It is all over—all I can never go back. There is only one thing for me to do—to hide away from Jack till I die. I must never go back to my own people." She paused a moment, then raised her eyes to the white face in front of her. "Will you help me? You have known sorrow and trouble, have you not?"

"Ay," came from Martha's dry lips. "And you will help me, who am in such bitter need?" pleaded Madge. "I only want to rest until—the evening, if you will hide me somewhere, and keep me hidden from any one—any one who may come—Will you do that?"

"Yes," she said, with a long breath. "I will help you." Madge raised her eyes gratefully, and with a touch of surprise, for a change seemed to have come over Martha Hooper's face and voice. It was as if Madge's appeal had aroused a touch of resolution and an indication of strength in the nervous, fear-haunted woman. "Come upstairs with me," she said in her new and firmer tone. "You will be ill if you do not get rest. Do not be afraid, ma'am. You will be quite safe here, I will protect you—"

Madge looked at her with increased gratitude.

"If you will hide me till night," she said.

Mrs. Hooper put her arm round the slight girlish figure and helped Madge up the narrow stairs to a small room. It was scrupulously neat and clean, like Martha Hooper herself, and Madge looked round with a weary sigh of relief.

Martha Hooper helped her undress—and such help was necessary, for poor Madge was almost incapable of lifting her hand—and when Madge had dropped her tired, aching head on the pillow, Martha Hooper sat beside her and held her hand.

"You have been very good to me," Madge murmured, and her eyes closed. "You will not give me up to any one."

"No," said Martha Hooper. "You are safe here, no one shall harm you or take you away. You said that I had known sorrow and trouble. You spoke the truth. But I have deserved them, whereas you have not, poor lady."

Madge smiled bitterly.

"Don't call me 'lady,'" she said, almost inaudibly. "I am only a gypsy—only a gypsy!"

The sweet, sad voice continued to murmur—sometimes broken with a sob—for an hour or more, until sleep fell like a blessed calm upon the weary spirit, and all that time Martha Hooper sat beside the bed and held the hand which burned like fire one minute and then struck like ice the next. And the look of resolution which Madge had noticed grew stronger in the elder woman's face as the dawn broke, and the thin lips, usually so weak and tremulous, grew firm and determined.

Royce left the countess's room and mechanically went toward his own, but he stopped at the door. He would not go in and let Madge see the trouble in his face, for he knew that it would only add to her suffering. He listened a moment, expecting to hear her crying, but all was still, and hoping—though against hope—that she might have fallen asleep, he went down-stairs. The library door was open, and he went in to sit down and think over his future course, for he had resolved that he would take Madge away from the Towers that day.

There was no light in the room, and he struck a match. As he did so, he saw that he was not alone. Seymour was sitting in the chair by the table, his head on his arms. The room was redolent of brandy, and a decanter of that fascinating but destructive spirit had been overturned by the sleeping man's elbow.

Royce looked at him with infinite disgust. He had always doubted Seymour's elaborately paraded and loudly proclaimed virtues, but to-night Royce knew that the mask had been torn from the arch-hypocrite's face.

He went up to the motionless figure and shook it by the shoulder.

"Wake up!" he said sternly. "Wake up and get to bed." Seymour moved slowly and looked up at the stern face with the stare of a drunken stuper.

"Er—er—is that you, Royce?" he said. "I have been busy with my blue-books and reports, as usual, and dozed off—"

"Get up," said Royce, with increased loathing, "and spare yourself any lies. I know you quite well now, Seymour."

Seymour staggered to his feet.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" he snarled. "You dare come and talk to me after—after to-night's business, do you? You order me about! I should have thought you would have felt more like a beaten cur. But you don't know what shame is, do you?"

"Yes, I do—when I look at you," said Royce, grimly. "But I know what you mean, and I'll tell you, if you have sense to understand, what I am going to do."

"I can understand," said Seymour. "There's only one thing you can do. All the—the country's laughing at me—at us; do you hear?—not you alone. You've brought disgrace on my name—you and your gypsy—"

Royce caught him by the arm.

"Stop!" he said, with his face white, his eyes blazing ominously, then he remembered that he was dealing with a drunken man, and flung him from him. "There! go to bed. Wait," he said, as Seymour, sneaking at his door, he will not see me again, try and remember these, my last words to you: You are a fraud, Seymour. You talk of the shame and disgrace I have brought upon the old name. You forget that the people who have just gone have something else to talk about as well as that poor wretch's presence here to-night. You forget your performance in the card-room, and the man's assertion that he had seen you in a gambling den in London."

"It—it was a lie! He was drunk," stammered Seymour, glaring at the stern face.

"How do you like your tea? With hot milk as John Bull takes it; with lemon and sugar; with cloves, orange and candied cherries after the Russian; with ceremony and flowers, as in Japan; with cream and plenty of buttery muffins and jam like the lucky people who have no dangerous curves ahead, or feed in long slim glasses, whose tinkle brings a touch of comfort to the hottest July day?"

However you take it, please make it correctly. More crimes are committed in the name of tea than any other—unless it is coffee. Made correctly it is a precious beverage, fragrant, stimulating, delightful in aroma. Boiled and bitter it is atrocious. Read and heed. First of all, scald out a crockery teapot, and while it is warm, put in a teaspoonful of tea for every two cups—pour on freshly boiling water (but be sure it is "bubbling" boiling) and allow it to steep for five to eight minutes. Then pour it off the leaves into another warmed teapot and serve. It poured of the leaves in this way, it will keep fragrant and delicious to the last drop. Follow these directions and you will have perfect tea.

For iced tea, pour hot, freshly brewed tea over crushed ice. Sweeten and serve with sliced lemon. Do not try to make iced tea out of cold or left-over tea that has stood until every bit of bitterness is extracted from the leaves and every bit of delicious aroma and flavor destroyed.

Buried Treasure Found

The British Treasury has admitted the validity of the claim of the Bristol Corporation to a large number, several thousand, of ancient silver coins recently found buried on the Walsley Bank. They were claimed by the Town Clerk under the provisions of the old town charter, and will now be restored to Bristol.

It was on December 6th, 1923, that the hoard was discovered at the rear of premises occupied by Messrs. Elders and Fryde, Ltd. It comprised a number of silver coins of the reigns of Elizabeth, Charles I., Charles II., James II. and William and Mary. They had evidently been in a sack placed in a hole two or three feet beneath the floor. The sack was in shreds and the coins were in a loose heap. The coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary and the Treasury instructed the Chief Constable to send the coins to London, as Treasure-Trove, belonging to the Crown, which instruction was promptly obeyed.

The Town Clerk, however, soon took steps to recover the find under the provisions of one of the city's old charters. He formally made the claim on behalf of the Corporation. A Treasury official paid a visit to the Council House and read the Charter. Evidently he was satisfied, and the coins are to be returned. This is an important concession of the right of the Bristol Corporation to Treasure Trove discovered within the city bounds.

Crim, who served with him throughout the troubled days of his tenure, as head of the Department of Justice. In his long and close association with the former Attorney General, Mr. Crim said he never found ground to suspect him of corruption. He will take a lot of evidence, he told the Committee, "before I will believe that Harry Daugherty ever took a cent of crook money through Jess Smith." He had his faults but I'll have to judge the evidence before I'll believe he prostituted his office. He never faltered. Crim described Smith as a good natured fellow, a hanger on, a man of some means, who runs errands for the Attorney General.

"Out of a cabin Lincoln came," Said he, "a child of lowly birth, And many a son of greater fame Has been a curse upon the earth. 'Tis not heredity that shapes The lives of men—the twigs that's bent Will grow to strength if it escapes Its pitiful environment."

I answered him: "If that be true, Within a bed of roses fair, Suppose, to-morrow morning, you Find that one ugly think there, Though all its summer days are spent Where blossoms all their beauty spill, Despite its rich environment. That thing will be a thistle still."

Disgusted With the Advocate

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—I squandered the sum of one cent this evening on the Advocate to see who was getting killed. Sir John Crosbie was the victim. After reading it all it struck me as the poorest kind of campaign, especially owing to its source. Look at it from any angle you like, even put upon it the construction and impression the Advocate wishes to convey to the public and it becomes still the more ridiculous. The list of "clean-ups" as the Advocate puts it, were made from 1909 to 1919. Now during a great portion of this time the avowed political purist of the North, Sir Wm. Coaker, was the dominant and controlling factor in the different governments. How is it I ask, that he did not have it engraved into when the opportunity was his. Undoubtedly he had the opportunity from 1919 to date as he was the government. As he made no public move in this matter nor made any attempt to bring the culprit, if such to justice, I say and that is that there is nothing in it but base political misrepresentation. The fact that Sir John Crosbie received these sums cannot be denied but that in itself proves no graft. There are probably other government contractors whose contracts listed out over a similar number of years would make a tidy total. As a comparison Mr. Editor we have only to take two recent examples both of which were made under the recent government. They are the Hickman Coal Contract and the Normal School heating contract. In both cases the lowest tender was not accepted. In the first instance you have already stated the loss to the country and in the latter the loss to the country was $7000.00. The latter is an example for the electors of Twillingate to take note of in view of Dr. Barnes the sponsor of the Normal School seeking election at their hands. Economy is surely their watchword? I suggest, sir, that these two items be taken into consideration by Sir Wm. Lloyd when proceeding with investigations which the Advocate says he hopes to have ready in a few days.

Logic and horse sense appear to be two things the Advocate knows nothing about. The Editor of that paper has become an apt pupil of his master for one can hardly tell their methods apart. In closing I wish to say I hold no brief for Sir John Crosbie and do not even know him.

Yours truly for,
COMMON SENSE.

I answered him: "If that be true, Within a bed of roses fair, Suppose, to-morrow morning, you Find that one ugly think there, Though all its summer days are spent Where blossoms all their beauty spill, Despite its rich environment. That thing will be a thistle still."

Perhaps environment does much To shape our lives upon the earth. But beauty lies no power to touch. The life which knows it not at birth, That which shall make the child grow strong, Courageously the years to live, To choose the right and spurn the wrong, Only its parentage can give.

African Empire Being Built by French Govt.

France is building an African Empire far surpassing the ancient domains of Rome and Carthage, according to David P. Barrows, former President of the University of California, who is returning to the United States after a study of the French colonial administration, which, he said, compared most favorably with the colonial achievements of any country. Dr. Barrows left Southampton for New York on the Berengaria. Dr. Barrows travelled 5,000 miles in the interior of Africa, crossed the Sahara Desert, explored the Senegal and Niger Rivers, and visited Timbuktu and Dakar, in Senegal. The French plan to make Dakar, he said, one of the world's greatest seaports, because of its proximity to North and South America, it being as close to Hampton Roads as to London.

RESURFACE THE OLD FLOOR YOU CAN DO IT—YOURSELF

Put out a floor in your home that is scratched or stained or badly worn. An old, soft-wood floor, made from the grade is no longer fit for use. A few easy hours of Kyanize Floor Resurfacer will do the trick. It is a soft, creamy material that is applied with a brush or roller. It fills the pores of the wood, and when it dries, it leaves a smooth, hard surface. It is the only material that can be used on all kinds of wood. It is the only material that can be used on all kinds of wood. It is the only material that can be used on all kinds of wood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Six Die on Scaffold for Louisiana Crime

Alternately cursing and blessing their executioners five of the six Italians condemned for the murder of Dallas Calmes, three years ago, went to their death through the gallows trap at Amite, La. The sixth, Andres Lamantia, had stabbed himself three times in the chest, with a three-inch blade pocket knife a few minutes before he was carried from his cell. While the stethoscope of the coroner detected a slight flutter of the heart just before the trap was sprung, Lamantia was lifeless as far as consciousness of what was being done was concerned. The execution was the first in the United States where six men have paid with their lives for the death of one man.

Common Ailments of Middle Age.

Are indicated in women by nervous conditions, irritability, melancholia, indigestion and aches in the back, dizzy spells, headaches and heat flashes. These trying conditions may be easily overcome and such symptoms controlled by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will interest women to know that in a recent canvass among over one hundred and twenty-one thousand women, ninety-eight out of every hundred reported benefit from its use.

Worry is only Fear
Fear of Self--Fear of Others--
Fear of the Future

AND what is the cause of worry? Lack of nerve force, energy, vigor. The man or woman who has good health and is living a full, successful life does not worry.

It is when the nervous system gets run down that worry comes to sap vitality from your body and to torment your mind.

There is not much use in advising one not to worry unless you can also offer some means of restoring the depleted nervous system.

The most rational and most successful treatment available to all is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is popular because it does not merely afford temporary relief but gradually and certainly restores vitality to the run-down nervous system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can make a better human being of you, mentally, physically—everyway.

The benefits felt will be in the way of new energy, new vigor and confidence.

The utility of worry will dawn on you and you will be able to see the bright and hopeful side of the future.

You will realize that you have the reserve force necessary to withstand the strain of life's work and ward off disease and discouragement.

But do not expect this change in a day. Some perseverance is necessary on your part.

The reconstructive process is slow but certain. The depleted nerve cells must be nourished back to health.

You will soon notice signs of improvement which will encourage you to keep up this treatment until the desired results are obtained. The important part is to get the building-up process started now—to-day.

Dr. Chase's Medicines are for sale in Newfoundland by all druggists and dealers in medicines.

If your local merchant cannot supply you write direct to Mr. Gerald S. Doyle, Water St., St. John's, as he is sole agent for the Dr. Chase Medicine Co., in Newfoundland.

Lives on Lone Isle to Study Birds

WOMAN NATURALIST IN TENT TO LEARN OF MIGRATIONS.

An extremely interesting, though lonely, six months is ahead of an English woman naturalist, Miss E. I. Turner, who has just left London to take up her residence on Scott Head island, two miles out from the wild and desolate coast of Norfolk.

Miss Turner is marooning herself on this almost unknown and never visited island in order to learn more about bird habits. She has spent years studying birds, but confesses she has gained little real knowledge about them. She is particularly anxious to find out something more about migratory birds, and on this island in the North Sea she will be able to keep watch of their arrival.

There are no houses on Scott Head island, and Miss Turner has taken her own tent, a wicker painted affair which roused some curiosity among the scientists who accompanied her as far as the coast.

"The tent," explained Miss Turner, "is the one which I believe the British Army took the idea of camouflage. I used it in the Farna islands as a hiding place while watching birds there in the winter of 1914. It became a dirty yellow and could be seen all over the island, so one day I got some green paint on it. The day was windy. I clutched at the flapping canvas and dabbed paint on it as best I could. Then I walked away from it, and to my astonishment, it became invisible."

Appique of linen in a darker shade is used on a youngster's suit of linen to keep watch of their arrival.

Six Die on Scaffold for Louisiana Crime

Alternately cursing and blessing their executioners five of the six Italians condemned for the murder of Dallas Calmes, three years ago, went to their death through the gallows trap at Amite, La. The sixth, Andres Lamantia, had stabbed himself three times in the chest, with a three-inch blade pocket knife a few minutes before he was carried from his cell. While the stethoscope of the coroner detected a slight flutter of the heart just before the trap was sprung, Lamantia was lifeless as far as consciousness of what was being done was concerned. The execution was the first in the United States where six men have paid with their lives for the death of one man.

The executions, under direction of Archie Rennyson, Warden of the Orleans Parish Prison, were carried out smoothly. Roy Leona and Natali Desmore were executed first, then Joseph Giglio and Joseph Rini were being led to the gallows a deputy rushed up to Sheriff Bowden and told him Lamantia had stabbed himself. The procession was halted and after the coroner dressed Lamantia's wounds he and Joseph Bochoie were substituted, leaving Giglio and Rini for the last.

The necks of all men were broken with the ten foot drop, except Giglio. He struggled to death, his chest heaving as he fought for breath for eight minutes. Giglio and Rini were talkative on their way to the gallows, and while standing on the traps before the black caps were adjusted.

Dr. J. H. McClenden, coroner of Tangipahoa parish, tried unsuccessfully to get from Rini the name of the seventh man in the attempted robbery of the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Independence, which resulted in the slaying of Calmes.

Giglio and Rini were taken from their cells at 1:10 p.m., an hour and five minutes after the traps had been sprung on Leona and Desmore, the first pair to mount the scaffold. The executions began one minute after 12 o'clock, and the last pair were cut down at 1:26 p.m.

As Rini mounted the steps of the scaffold he glanced around at the deputy sheriffs and in a firm voice said: "I hope you devils will all be satisfied."

Home of the Grey Seal

On the least accessible of mist-shrouded Atlantic Isles, where the foot of man may not tread from one year's end to another, the great grey seal has its home, writes Seton Gordon, F.R.S.

It is in size far larger than the common seal, and some of the old males, or bull seals, as they are called, approach 600 lb. in weight.

Even in summer the islands of the grey seal are hard to reach; one may have to wait for months for a day, and then to venture across to them. It is not in summer that these seals bear their young, but in winter, and thus the difficulties of sailing out to and landing at a grey seal nursery are enormously increased.

But the weeks of patiently waiting are undoubtedly worth while for such a nursery is without doubt one of the most wonderful and charming sights to be seen in the British Islands, if not, indeed, in Europe.

Among some of the older Gaelic-speaking islanders of the Hebrides the grey seal is looked upon with superstitious awe. In North Uist lived a family known as Clann Mhìo-Odrum of the Seals, who were supposed to have been descended from some of these ocean rovers.

After many weeks of waiting, a winter morning at length dawned when the sky was cloudless, the wind light and from the land, and the Atlantic with little swell upon the lonely, sea-drowned shore.

Soon we were sailing westward through a sun-kissed ocean, with great snow-capped hills forming the horizon. Eagerly the crew spoke among themselves in Gaelic, and when at length the island appeared low on the horizon, they excitedly discussed amok themselves the possibilities of landing.

Seals of all Ages and Sizes. Lowering our mast lest the seals should be suspicious, we rowed steadily in-shore, and as the boat was drawn in upon the crest of a wave, leaped one by one upon the slippery rocks.

As we crept quietly round the margin of the rocky promontory we suddenly came in sight of a golden beach. Here, the sun glittering fall on them, many grey seals of all ages and sizes lay and dozed. They were "pups" not more than a week old, others a month or six weeks old, and a few old mother seals guarding their youngsters.

On seeing us the old seals endeavored to gain the shelter of the sea. A few succeeded, but others, finding us between them and the sheltering water, approached us warily, uttering low moaning cries.

Then, charging us so that we scattered for safety, the great animals leaped with astonishing speed into the surf.

On climbing to the grassy plateau above the beach a remarkable sight met our eyes. Everywhere the young grey seals lay. They were literally in hundreds; many dozed asleep in the warm winter sunshine, others bleated like sheep and gazing at us with amusement as we approached them.

In some of the clear rocky pools, a few of the older seals swam and dived. In each peaty-pool of a small stream they wallowed and splashed like giant salmon and disturbed the silent waters of a lonely tarn.

SO MODERN.

Little Flora is a snapper, modern culture's weird-est bet; in an oriental wrapper she consumes her cigarette; with her feet upon a table and a beaker by her side, she denounces as a table every moral old and tried.

Youth is everything that matters, she has no respect for age, and she fears to rags and tatters all the maxims of the sage. And the jarred and rattled thinker looks upon her with dismay. "She's a corker and a linker," said bystanders hear him say, in that far off youth of his' damasels followed sheltered walks, and a girl would be in prison who would talk as Flora talks. All the ancient things go smashing, all the landmarks are destroyed, and his teeth are sore from gnashing, he is angry and annoyed. But he thinks that Flora's springing just a harmless little bluff; as the hurried years go winging she'll be prim and staid enough. Youth is evermore revolted, planning some volcanic move, youth is always bent on jolting this old planet from its groove. But the years go speeding, speeding, and the scarred Jacks and Jills put on glasses and are reading labels on a box of pills. We old gents were once destroyers of upsetting this and that, but such matters only thrills us, now that we are gray and fat. So we should regard the blushing of the kisser with a smile; he will surely knock the tuffing from her pipe dreams in a while.

SOME MORE I-SHOULD-THINKERS.

The I-Should-thinkers are the people who are always thinking you had better do this or that than to do what you do do.

"I should think you would have the children help you more." "I should think you would have a garden when the sort of things they say."

"I should think you would have the children help you more." "I should think you would have a garden when the sort of things they say."

that porch while you are about it." And again: "I should think that instead of just a bowl you would make it a whole bathroom while you are about it. It would add a lot to the value of your house."

And then again: "I should think you would want a fireplace in the bedroom over the living-room while you are putting up that chimney. It will only cost a little more and it's a mighty fine thing to have. We have two bedroom fireplaces and I wouldn't be without them."

Keeping Up With the Joneses.

The man who was building apparently didn't have the strength of mind to say he couldn't keep up with the Joneses. He took all the suggestions. As a result he is struggling with a burden of debt.

Of course the financial I-Should-thinker doesn't always have as serious an effort as this. But he often causes dissatisfaction.

I remember one occasion some years ago when I had bought some little rugs that I wanted very much for my living room. I had first planned to buy three small rugs and then in a moment of expansiveness I had decided to get one of them in the larger size though it cost double. I was proudly showing them off to a friend who does not have to consider the cost of little things like new rugs. To her they were necessities while to me they were luxuries. She looked them over and admired the color.

But They Don't.

"But I should think," she said, "that you would have gotten all three of the larger size. They wouldn't have been any too big for the space."

I can feel even now just how embarrassed and uncomfortable that made me.

I know that she didn't realize that to me it was a matter of money. She looked at it as a matter of taste.

But isn't that just what's wrong with the Should-thinkers? They should think about the other person's position and point of view, they should think but they don't.

Delorme Case for September Term

The present intention of the Crown in the matter of the Delorme trial was foreshadowed by a statement from an authoritative source. As the case now stands Rev. Adélaïde Delorme will not stand trial for the murder of her half-brother at the May term of the Court of King's Bench.

It is more than a hazard that he will not be brought before a jury before the autumn term of the court which convenes in September.

Another point not definitely settled is the date of the appearance of the prisoners arrested in connection with the Bank of Hochelaga robbery and the murder of Henry Cleroux, the bank's chauffeur.

Bordeaux Holds Three for Rope

DEATH WATCH FINDS MURDERERS COMPOSED AND INDIFFERENT.

Composedly awaiting the arrival of Friday May 16 and Hangman Ellis, two condemned murderers at Bordeaux Jail while away their time reading and praying, giving the death watch no concern over their behavior. The prisoners are Edouard Fretellier and Alfred Dagenais, arrested by Captain Detective Mercier, and found guilty of strangling Mrs. A. Bergeron to death at her Beaudry Street home January 26, 1923. The murder was followed by robbery which netted $2 to the perpetrators, who failed to locate a wad of $700. This money was recovered by a relative who found it among the woman's belongings some months later.

The murder was a sordid one and its execution cruel. There were five persons in the house at the time. Two of them testified as witnesses for the Crown and later were placed in enquette.

One other prisoner is under the death watch awaiting answer to his appeal for commutation of the death sentence. He is Walter Muir, who is granted a stay of execution until July 12, for the murder of Ferdinand Lavolette. When told that the sentence had been deferred in February last, Muir was in the jail at Valleyfield and heard the carpenters at work on the scaffold.

He was resigned to his fate and paid no attention to the first report which reached him in the jail at noon the day before the hanging. It was not until his lawyer visited him, after informing the Sheriff of Valleyfield, that Muir realized the situation. At that time the execution was eight hours away.

Fretellier and Dagenais give the jail authorities no trouble. They are permitted to choose their food and often as not the guard is told "I'll leave it to you" when the question of what to eat is asked. They will hang on Friday.

Romance in the Automobile Industry

An interesting anecdote, in view of what has happened since, of the early days of the automobile industry is told by Roy D. Chapin, now chairman of the Hudson Motor Car Company, in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.):

"One day one of the Old engineers and I were returning from a visit to the Wilson Body plant," said Chapin. "When we were about a mile away the steering spring broke. We worked with the thing for a while without result and then we lifted the little car around in the road and guided it back again by kicking the front wheels, my companion having assured me that in a little shop adjoining the body plant was a very clever mechanic and inventor who could fix us up."

"I was willing to be shown, but will confess that I did not feel much enthusiasm when I saw his shop, which was nothing more than a lean-to. We went in and found a slender, blue-overalled man who came out to see what was wrong with our car. As soon as he went to work I saw that he was an expert mechanic, and his interest in what he was doing was compelling."

"He bolted a plate on our broken springs and before long he had us on our way. "As we left the shop my companion waved a farewell and called out: "Much obliged to you, Henry." "To-day that mechanic is the richest man in the world. "It was Henry Ford."

The following summer Ford came over to the Old plant to see how things were getting along. He was then experimenting with a heavy piston type of car and it was some time later before he built a lighter model. His plant was finally launched in 1903 and the company was financed with $25,000.

Economical for Cooking

THERE is no waste with Carnation Milk. It stays fresh in the can indefinitely and for several days when opened. It serves in place of cream at breakfast and later in the day will add richness to your cooking.

Carnation is just pure fresh milk, evaporated to the richness, kept safe by sterilization. By adding a little more than an equal part of water you have milk of natural consistency for every milk use.

Order several tall (16 oz.) cans or a case of 48 cans from your grocer.

Get this recipe and write for your copy of the Carnation Cook Book containing 100 tested recipes.

DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE: 4 egg yolks, 2 cups sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 cup butter or substitute, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 egg whites, 2 1/2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Cream the butter or substitute, add the sugar gradually, then the well-beaten egg yolks. Add alternately the milk, diluted with water and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder and salt. Add melted chocolate and vanilla, then the stiffly-beaten whites of eggs. Bake in a loaf from 45 to 50 minutes. This recipe serves from twelve to fifteen people.

Monroe Can't Lose

There are a few outstanding considerations which are mightily influencing the people at this time, in relation to the approaching election. There is a flood tide of feeling for the Opposition Party which is very generally exhibiting itself. "Monroe can't lose" is the cry!

Chiefly, it is felt very widely that Monroe is the better man to trust with the leadership. True, he is untried. But Hickman has been tried, and has failed to win public confidence. Bay de Verde tried him, and rejected him in 1919. Harbor Grace rejected him without trial in 1923. His record does not inspire confidence that he will be a good leader.

Then, there's the man behind the throne. Coaker has truly said, "a vote for Hickman is a vote for me," and the public generally do not want to vote for Coaker. It was a Coaker crowd which selected Hickman as leader. It is a Coaker crowd which surrounds Hickman at the Council Board. The majority of Hickman candidates, so-called, are Coaker men. It is as clear as noon-day that if Hickman were not elected personally, a Coaker man would succeed him as leader of the Government Party. And it is equally clear that if the Government won a majority, Hickman would be a prisoner, as it were, to the Coaker gang surrounding him. Hickman, in short, is camouflage for Coaker.

And then the public who were disgusted or astounded with the Coaker men in the Government from 1919 downwards, and who were, therefore, responsible for the infamous-misconduct thus exposed, are the same Coaker men who are now in the Hickman Government, so-called. Halfyard, Cave and Barnes, all were in office then, and were either useless or worse, and they would be as useless under Hickman. The best that can be said for them of the old—that they did not know—is a very bad thing to say of them with regard to the new, for why should it be supposed that they will be any better in the future.

Figure it how they will, therefore, the people at large are arriving at the conviction that "it is time for a change." Nobody, they say, "can do worse than the old gang did," and even if Hickman were regarded as new cloth, which he is not, the old garment to which he would be joined is too rotten to hold. In Monroe they see a new man of good reputation, who has had no such entanglements as surround Hickman. There is no fellow to Coaker to sit at Monroe's table. There is no such hungry scheme to feed upon the public chest as Coaker has ready to force upon Hickman. Coakerism has been kept alive for years past by feasting on the public treasury. It has an appetite unsatiated by what it has fed upon. The West Indies steam boat subsidy is a trick to make the taxpayer support Coakerism. It is a game which Coaker would induce Hickman to play by giving him an agency for the boats. The hungry maw of Coakerism gapes wide for crumbs from the public table, and the people at large see the danger. It has, therefore, become very apparent that the Opposition will win, and the Government lose badly in ten days, when the ballots are cast on the 2nd of June.

It is inconceivable that a country which has agonized under Coakerism for seven years, ever since the wretched coalition of 1917, will lose this opportunity to make a change. Consider the calamities which have fallen upon the Colony in that time, for all of which Coakerism is chiefly to blame, and then realize what a glorious opportunity is offered now to bury the accursed thing so deeply that it will never be resurrected. Electors, Coaker's day is done! Bury Coaker beneath an avalanche of ballots!

The Coal Contract

Some time ago the Government required 6000 tons of coal for the public institutions, and tenders were asked for. Morey & Co. offered to supply the coal for $13.52 per ton, but for some unknown reason, the contract was awarded to the A. E. Hickman Co., whose price per ton was $14.00 or forty eight cents more, making a total difference of nearly $3,000.

The coal was brought to Newfoundland on the steamer "Kriton," which was under time charter to the Union Trading Co. at that time.

Mr. Hickman's Manifesto promises economical administration of the country's affairs, but in view of the foregoing, very little faith can be placed in the sincerity of that promise.

The contract, by the way, was awarded to Mr. Hickman by the Board of Works, amongst whose members were the present Minister of Public Works, Mr. Hibbs, and Mr. J. Fitzgibbon, who is now one of the Hickman candidates in the West End. Hon W. Halfyard, the present Colonial Secretary, and the gentleman who charged the Government for his soap and cigars whilst travelling to Port Union, was the chairman of the Board.

It appears, therefore, that there were several members of the Hickman Party, including Ministers of the Crown, involved in this transaction which resulted in a direct loss of nearly $3,000 to the Treasury. Yet, Mr. Hickman promises economical administration.

The people will know what reliance they can place on the word of this man, and knowing this they will expect anything but economy from a Government of which he is the leader. They will prove this on polling day when they will roll up a tremendous majority for Monroe, Economy, and Clean Government.

Hickman-Coaker

Two Character Studies.

Hickman in Spaniard's Bay, April, 1924 with Coaker's photograph exposed to the audience. Look at the cry of renunciation of this man, and see if you could trust him. I could not. His activities have caused more distress to the fishermen of Newfoundland than the potato blight to the people of Ireland in the middle of the 19th century. As I said in H.C. Grace

I would rather see my hand wither than mark a ballot for Coaker. Coaker in April last at Newtown: "Don't listen to Hickman's lying messages to his dealers in the Bay. Treat him as a cur. This is the same Hickman who billed the F.P.U. for $60.00 election expenses in 1912, after we rejected him in Bay de Verde when he knifed a Valon candidate."

In the Toils.

The Fisherman in the entanglements of Coakerism, his fish held back from the clamouring markets of Europe. For what? For Coaker's gain? Therefore Vote for Monroe, Unhindered Business and a Bonus that pays!

Coaker's Insult to Conception Bay

Sir William Coaker has much to answer for to the people of Newfoundland.

He has impoverished a prosperous country; his extravagance has piled up the National Debt, and he has offered intolerable insults to sections of the people.

His insolent references to the men of Conception Bay must be placed in the last category.

Speaking at Bonavista, SIR WILLIAM SAID THAT EVERY MAN IN CONCEPTION BAY COULD BE BOUGHT FOR A TEN DOLLAR BILL, an insult as untruthful as it was intolerable and insufferable.

In spite of this statement of his, Coaker now asks the men of Conception Bay to vote for the party which he controls, a party which is led by a pawn of the F.P.U. President, and a man who but twelve months ago urged the people of Newfoundland to kill the menace of Coakerism.

Not only has Sir William Coaker the impertinence to put forward a pawn as a leader, but he has the added insolence of asking Newfoundlanders to entrust the office of Prime Minister to a man who has been found guilty of Bribery and Corruption.

Conception Bay will know how to show its resentment of the insult which Sir William Coaker has offered it, and in common with the rest of the country, will vote for Monroe and Clean Government.

Monroe Will Have an Easy Victory

We are now on the last lap for "A Clean-Up and Keep Clean Government."

Monroe candidates nominated and the greatest enthusiasm displayed everywhere.

Twenty-eight seats can be safely counted on for the "Clean-Up and Keep Clean" Leader—MONROE.

Just see us win in St. John's East and West. It will be a clean walk-over, and our opponents will not save their Nomination fees.

Hickman's Lie Nailed!

United Fishermen are Supporting Monroe -- Bonavista will Elect Monroe, Winsor & Little

Emphatic denials of a statement made by A. E. Hickman in Harbour Grace have come from the United Fishermen, who are working harder than ever in the cause of Monroe and Clean Government.

Hickman read a message on the public platform which stated that his candidates were sure to win in Bonavista. That this report was entirely false, the following message proves: A. E. Hickman, Harbour Grace.

The statement made by you about United Fishermen on platform at Harbour Grace Wednesday night is absolute lie. United Fishermen are stronger than ever and are working overtime for Monroe party. A great many of Coaker's strongest supporters are working with us this year.

Your candidates have no chance; Monroe's three seats in Bonavista Bay are sure with large majority. Hasty contradict what you said to your electors.

PETER ROBERTS, Chairman United Fishermen, May 23, 1924.

Occupants Had Narrow Escape

Through the collapse of a wheel three occupants of an express driving west yesterday evening narrowly escaped serious injury attached to the vehicle was a lively colt owned by Mr. Ted Kennedy. The driver crossed the street in front of a train not knowing that a horse and sloven was approaching in the same manner. With the collapse of the wheel the colt was thrown under the other horse. The occupants of the express escaped with but a few bruises.

Magistrates Court

Two ordinary drunks were discharged.

A labourer held on remand charged with the larceny of 2 coats, and 1 pair boots, valued at $15.00, the property of Captain of the S. S. Walter Kennedy, was arraigned this morning. Owing to the principal witness the captain of the ship having put to sea, and the unavoidable absence of Mr. Brown, lawyer for the defence the case was postponed indefinitely. The prisoner was put under his own recognizances to appear when called upon.

A few civil cases were disposed of.

M. G. Band Going to Carbonear

The Methodist Guards Band, accompanied by a number of leading artists are leaving the city by rail to-morrow morning for Carbonear to take part in a concert at the Methodist College Hall, to-morrow, (Empire Night). On Sunday morning a Church Parade will be held, when the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides of that town will form a part of the parade, headed by the Methodist Guards Band. The party will return to the city on Monday next.

Annual Horse Parade, August 23rd

At a recent meeting of the Nfld. Horsemen's Association it was decided to hold the annual Horse Parade on August 23rd. A Committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements, and were asked to report back at an early date. Judging by the enthusiasm manifested by the members present, the parade this year promises to exceed all previous efforts.

PROSPERITY Versus POVERTY

Monroe Stands for the Former—Coaker Rule for the Latter.

There is no mistaking the issue this time. The electors know that Coaker rule during the last four years plunged Newfoundland into the worst era of misery and poverty our countrymen ever experienced. Along with misery and poverty, wholesale squandering of the peoples' taxes has been the spectacle known and exposed by the Walker Enquiry. It paid the politicians associated with the rule of Coakerism to drive the people into poverty so that then they go abroad and borrow millions by mortgaging the country's credit. Take Collishaw's pit prop deal for an example. With a cold-blooded attitude he demands 70,000 dollars for himself the rawest deal ever made to fleece this little country of ours. The heblers of various degrees of avarice and voraciousness got out of the borrowed millions hundreds and thousands of dollars for themselves, whilst to the poor people on whose behalf money is borrowed are merely given enough to keep them from starvation. No one can deny that it is solely owing to the rule of Coakerism misery and poverty covered the land. The facts are plain as daylight, and the wonder is so many people are alive to-day after all they have suffered the past four years. The millions borrowed will hang like millstones around their necks forever and the weight will become more unbearable still unless we begin now by electing the Monroe Government with a big majority. More borrowed millions and more relief will only make the people worse and the only cure now to change conditions for the better is to vote for the Monroe Candidates all around the country. Only two districts are doubtful and these are Trinity and Twillingate, but we have faith enough in the intelligence of the electors to assure us they are not going to jeopardize their own interests for ever by slavishly following the dictates of Coaker and his henchman, Collishaw. Surely they are not going to say to the rest of their fellow countrymen that they prefer misery and poverty under Coaker rule to prosperity under a Monroe Government. Well-paid heblers like Mosdell, Clouter, Hibbs and the laugh at the idea of the voter of Trinity and Twillingate doing anything but as these heblers and their leader orders, but the independent electors of Trinity and Twillingate are not all subservient to be swayed to such orders, and that is why we believe the country as a whole will all be united by polling on the one determination place a Monroe Government in power and to restore prosperity again to this Newfoundland of ours.

Reasons Why You Should Vote For Monroe Candidates

- Because the so-called Hickman Party are in office by political trickery.
- Because the so-called Hickman Party are in the power of the Coakerites.
- Because the so-called Hickman Executive are in the custody of Sir W. F. Coaker who says DO AS YOU ARE TOLD—OR WE WON'T SUPPORT YOU.
- Because Newfoundland overburdened with taxation, is now prepared to bow still further to the tightening Coakerite Yoke.
- Because the Collishaw-Coaker-Hickman-Mosdell Executive can't clean up!
- They want to cover up! The Walker Report tells Newfoundlanders the reason why.
- Because the Collishaw-Coaker-Hickman-Mosdell Executive motto is "Get what you can"!
- Because Newfoundland doesn't want a Bought-and-Paid Government.
- Because the Collishaw-Coaker-Hickman-Mosdell Government will be assigned to that oblivion which its record so richly deserves.
- Because Monroe won't have in his Executive such men as Mosdell, the Bogus-Cheque-Writer.
- Because Monroe unlike Hickman and Coaker would not bring discredit on himself or his country by submitting to His Excellency the Governor the name of Dr. Mosdell as a member of the Executive. The Walker Report gives the reason why!
- Because Rossing Coaker and Pit-Prop Hickman don't want to clean up such as Monroe advocates.
- Because after June 2nd Mosdell will be asked to resign as a Member of the Legislative Council. "Arris you know why!"
- Because Newfoundland has no room for such men as Rossing Coaker, Pit-Prop Mosdell, Jack-in-the-Box Hawco or Czar Collishaw.
- Because Monroe stands for that truly wonderful word "ECONOMY" and a Square Deal for All.
- Because the so-called Hickman Party has the gun of the Coakerites against its stomach.
- Because the Collishaw-Coaker-Hickman-Mosdell Government is the most Profligate Government in the English speaking world.

Worthy Reception to Esteemed Pastor

REV. A. J. MAHER.

Very Rev. A. J. Maher, P.P., Ferryland, who was abroad during the last two months seeking medical advice and attendance, returned by S.S. Silvia a few days ago and was formally welcomed to his parish on Sunday last. At Ferryland and adjacent places flags floated gaily to the breeze, and at the celebration of Holy Mass in the beautiful church at Ferryland there was a very large gathering of worshippers, all eager to see their Sogarth Aroon again to officiate at God's altar and restored to health. In the evening after vespers the parishioners assembled in the large Presbytery Hall, where an address of welcome, couched in affectionate terms and a purse of gold was tendered to Fr. Maher, while the children of the parish also were in attendance and presented an address of welcome. Fr. Maher after thanking the Almighty for restoration to health, spoke feelingly to the people at some length for their respect to him, and expressed the hope that the harmony and love existing between priest and people would continue. Father Maher is well beloved in Ferryland, and throughout the whole Archdiocese, and the wish is that his present good health will continue and his labors be long in the Master's vineyard.

Tonight's Meeting.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Junior Football League takes place to-night in the T. A. Armoury, at 8.30 o'clock. Three applicants for admittance into the League will be considered after which the schedule of games for the season will be drawn up. The Juniors have been granted the use of St. George's Field two evenings each week, during the season. The various teams have already settled down to good hard practice, and a well contested series of games are being looked forward to.

Safely and Pleasingly

When you wash in Ivory soap you have the feeling of a safe, pleasant wash, for this delightful toilet soap does its cleansing in a most pleasing manner. Its rich, creamy white lather rinses off easily and leaves the skin refreshed and fragrant. If you are not using Ivory soap, you are missing a lot of real soap satisfaction. The cost of Ivory soap is only five and ten cents a cake.

Cricket Match To-Morrow

To-morrow, Saturday afternoon, the members of the Holloway Cricket Club will play a cricket match with the Associate Class of the Methodist College at the Ayre Athletic Field. Two members of the College staff will demonstrate their prowess as cricketers, while such old-time wielders of the willow as Steve Tucker and Billy Mews will go into action for the Holloway Club.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

AMERICAN WORLD FLIGHT AVIATORS NOW RESTING.

TOKIO, May 22.—The three globe encircling American airplanes arrived this evening at Kasumigaura, fifty miles from here, making the 720 mile jump from Hilo-kappu Bay in twelve hours and fifty minutes, stopping at Misato two hours for lunch. They will stay there a week resting and overhauling the planes. They will then jump off for Kani-mpo, 50 miles south to the extremity of the Island.

NFLD. SKIPPER REFUTES STATEMENT.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 22.—Captain Bullen of the schooner Gladys Bullen of St. John's, Nfld., said to-day that his fog horn was working properly and all precautions were being observed when he was struck in a fog off this harbor on Monday by the car ferry Prince Edward Island. This is in refutation of the charge of Captain Reid of the car ferry to the effect that the Bullen was not sounding the proper signals when the two craft collided in a fog.

Kelligrews Voters.

EMBITTERED AGAINST GIBBS AND COAKER'S CANDIDATES.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Whatever votes Hawco got around here a year ago will all slide from him on polling day because the people are embittered against any more Coaker rule. Since Hawco is only a political crony of M. P. Gibbs, and everybody is aware of that since Gibbs himself is "touting" for him, how do you expect sensible people here to be led by the nose by such a political character? It is far better for us to unite with St. John's in flattening out Coakerism with its never ending misery, for unless St. John's people are prosperous, there would be no prosperity along the South shore of Conception Bay. St. John's is a good market for our produce and as this shore is a summer resort for a lot of St. John's people who can afford to come along and spend money amongst us, it is not far better for us to have good times for all under a Monroe Government than misery for all alike under a Coaker one.

Woodford and Cahill will get a great vote from Upper Gullies to Top-sail so you can count on Hawco being knocked out badly. Carter won't get any votes at all around here so it is no use wasting time talking about him as he is only a joke candidate.

Yours truly,
W.T.B.

Municipal Council

WEEKLY MEETING.

The regular weekly meeting of the Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Councillors Martin, Vincombe and Collier were present.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, the following matters received consideration:

The residents of Victoria Street and vicinity protested against permit being given the Reid Newfoundland Company to build garage in this congested area as they were of opinion it would be the means of increasing the fire risks, etc., on the surrounding property. The City Engineer, in reporting on the matter, stated that an erection of this kind in such close proximity to dwellings in the neighborhood would constitute a fire menace. It was therefore decided that permit be refused.

The Secretary of the Grace Maternity Hospital wrote re the placing of a concrete curb along the front of this building. The matter was left over for further consideration.

The application of the Horwood Lumber Company, for water service to their Brush Factory, was granted.

A communication was read from the Nfld. Light and Power Company, suggesting the placing of manholes at certain places along the street railway route for the purpose of taking away the surface water which causes great damage to the road bed and rails. They considered that the placing of these manholes would tend to eliminate the difficulty; and also stated they were prepared to pay half the cost of installation of necessary drainage facilities. It was ordered that the City Engineer submit an estimate of cost of this work.

PLANS.

The following plans were passed, subject to the approval of the City Engineer:—J. A. Barron, LeMarchant Road; Capt. Moore, Hamilton Avenue.

PERMITS.

Permits are to be given the following:—E. Bowring, to repair dwelling, Renne's Mill Road; Pynn and Spurrell, to erect signboard at corner of Gear and Prince of Wales Streets.

The placing of a fountain on Warberry Street was agreed upon.

CONTRACTS.

The following contracts were awarded:—(1) Painting of Exterior of new Sanitary Stables, Hayward Ave., Chas. Gamberg; (2) Erection of Stable and Cartshed, at the Stables, Hayward Avenue, Messrs. Bolger Brothers; (3) Supply of Uniforms for the Inspectors, T. J. Aylward.

The Sanitary Supervisor reported on the work done in connection with "Clean Up Day." Some five hundred loads of garbage—over and above the usual daily collection—were carried to the various city dumps, the work being performed by the Department, and the Council's Motor Trucks being also engaged. The following kindly co-operated with the Council by sending horses and trucks to their assistance:—His Honour the Mayor, Hon. M. P. Gibbs, Councillor R. Dowden, John Coaker, Road Inspector, to whom the Council is most grateful.

It was ordered that the old fence at the Circular Road portion of Bannerman Park be replaced by a new iron one, with suitable gates.

The Medical Officer of Health reported ten new cases of Scarlet Fever and one Diphtheria in the city during the week.

The City Engineer reported on the work of the various Departments. With regard to the petition of the residents of King's Road, re stable erected by Mr. Andrews, he stated the sewer was complying with the regulations and directions of the Department of Public Health, who were quite satisfied that there was no reason for complaint.

Matters in connection with road work, oiling and sprinkling streets, etc., were discussed.

With the passing of the weekly accounts the meeting adjourned.

The one-sided circular draped movement is a feature of the new coats.

The most fashionable formal coat is of black satin trimmed with bands of fur fur.

The Seizure of Salt

Bulletin No. 5.
Like King Bruce of Scotland, the Convener had flung himself down in a lowly mood to think.

The spider in hisointment was the matter of decorations for the Big Dance of the Allies.

"I know a man named E. J. Salt," he mused, "who can take a few lemon crystals and make from them a Crystal Palace. I have seen him shake together a few empty cigarette cartons and make them look like the Taj Mahal.

But how to secure him? He is in such big demand, that I understand he is at a premium store.

He rang up Johnston and Ward's for quotations, and they came across with this one:

"He who hesitates is lost."
So he ordered out his trusty troops and Salt was soon bagged.

And then, "or I will decorate your 'Don't get fresh with me' he warned."

" . . . but they heeded him not and hid him to the Convener."

"You're a Gem of a decorator," said Tim, "and I want you to Anchor your attention and efforts to a good smoke—I mean cause."

Wherefore we are to have some very novel decorations for the Big Dance of the Allies in the C.C.C. Hall on the 28th.

"Just Then the Lights Went Out"

An advertisement which appeared in the evening papers yesterday stating that a meeting of the West End voters would take place in the Casino Theatre at night brought upwards of a thousand people to the scene of confusion.

Mr. Anthony Power called the meeting to (dis) order and started to explain something about the candidates of both parties in the field in the West End; and went on to review the financial condition of the country.

At this juncture he was interrupted and was asked to explain the purpose of the meeting. He did not reply to the question; but still went on talking and after a while said it was his intention, and that of a few other men to bring in a third party. He proposed that Mr. P. G. Butler, Mr. T. P. Halley and Commander Howley be nominated.

There was no second to the motion, but instead loud cheers for the Monroe candidates were given.

Mr. P. G. Butler gave a few remarks and said that although he came to the meeting as a private citizen he thought he should say a few words because he was a school teacher and naturally people expected him to be able to speak on the spur of the moment.

Shortly after this talk became general and the meeting was a fiasco generally.

At about 11 o'clock the lights went out and so did the audience. From people who were present, we learn that they thought it was an advance showing of the Musical Comedy Company who are opening an engagement at the Casino in June.

If your own dealer does not keep Ivory Soap, he is not doing his best to please you. He can get stocks of Ivory at a moment's notice from any jobber or direct from the agents.

Expense Account Plan That Works

Salesmen's expense accounts often run higher than they should. But a source of high selling costs which is quite as prolific is the needless loss of good producers through misunderstandings or downright injustice with regard to the necessary expenses of the man on the road. William R. Bassett, writing in Forbes Magazine (N.Y.), outlines a method of regulating the expenses of men on the road which several large concerns have adopted.

Briefly, this is the plan. Railway fare is allowed at exactly one-way rates. An individual may buy mileage or round-trip tickets and make a profit on his allowed expenses but he must assume the risk of loss through inability to use them.

Sleeping car berths are chargeable at lower berth rates, regardless of whether upper or lower is occupied.

Parlor car seats are charged when the distance traveled without change of cars is in excess of 99 miles. The living expenses, including meals, rooms, and tips with meals, etc., are allowed as follows:

Per Day
In towns up to 10,000 . . . . . $3.85
In towns from 10,000 to 40,000 . . . . . 4.86
In towns from 40,000 to 70,000 . . . . . 5.50
In towns from 70,000 to 250,000 . . . . . 6.50
In towns over 250,000 . . . . . 7.15

The population of a town or city is determined by the figures given in the latest issue of the World Almanac or Official Railway Guide, whichever may be the higher.

Certain allowances are made for tips, bag checking, etc and the day is divided into fractions, so that days spent in more than one town may be accounted for.

SOLID FOR MONROE AND CLEAN GOVERNMENT.

WINTERTOWN, May 22. Visited and held meetings at most of the following places yesterday—Hants Hr., Lead Cove, Sibley's Cove, New Melbourne, Brownedale, New Chelsea and Winterton. Received wonderful reception and all are solid for Monroe and Clean Government. People everywhere are sick of the professional politician and promises.

TAIT, MITCHELL, KING.

DETERMINED TO OUST THE GRAFTERS.

BRIG-BAY, St. Barba, May 22. Held very enthusiastic meeting at Bartlett's Hr. on Monday night. Have visited every settlement along the coast and find the people most determined to oust the grafters from office. You can depend on this end of the district giving Moore a substantial majority as they have not any further use for traitors, and those who have sacrificed the interests of the country for personal aggrandizement.

M. JENKINS.

RECORD MEETING AT WESTERN BAY.

WESTERN BAY, Day de Verde, May 22. The meeting here in Western Bay last night was the best on record. Mr. Levi Butt was chairman. A great change has taken place in Western Bay and vicinity and the people are determined to have Monroe and Clean Government.

BONAVISTA WILL ELECT MONROE AND COLLEAGUES SURE.

GREENSPOND, May 22. Messrs. Monroe, Winsor and Little arrived here last evening and were met with volleys from musketry and cannon. Flags were flying from practically every staff in the place. Crowds lined the road from the wharf to the new Orange Hall, which was soon filled to capacity.

Mr. Monroe was the first speaker, and dealt with the wasteful expenditures by the previous governments, showing where public money should have been saved. He then outlined his policy which was received with applause and cheers.

Mr. Little followed with a good political speech, and told why he was again seeking the votes of the electorate. He also was followed with the closest attention, and at the finish he received great applause.

Captain Winsor followed next and held the audience for nearly an hour, showing the why and wherefore for this general election, and then dealt with the policy of the Opposition. Captain Winsor made one of the best speeches we have ever heard from him and at the conclusion there was no doubt but that his popularity is still on the increase.

The Chairman then asked if there were anyone present that wished to ask any questions and no questions being put, he then asked if the electors of Greenspond were going to do their share to make this the Premier District and Mr. Monroe the next Prime Minister. He was answered by "yes, yes," from all over the building, and cheers being called for, the audience gave them again and again. We thought last year's reception and meeting good, but last night's beat it to a fizzle. Come on electors of Southern and Western Districts. Do your part for Monroe and Clean Government. THE NORTH IS CALLING and Bonavista will elect Monroe and colleagues sure.

Mr. Monroe holds a meeting at Fair Island to-night, where a good reception and meeting is assured. Although strongly Coaker last year a great change has taken place since and they also will help to swell the majority.

A CINCH.

A message from the Piacentia Monroe candidates last night reads as follows:—Whole St. Mary's Bay and Cape Shore better than ever before Sullivan, Walsh and Sinnott record majorities "its a cinch" for SULLIVAN, WALSH and SINNOTT.

GETTING WONDERFUL RECEPTIONS.

MARYSTOWN, May 22. Liberal Conservative candidates Lake and Long holding meeting at Marystown to-night wonderful receptions, people indignant over Harris and his joining Coaker party.

HICKMAN-COAKER CANDIDATES RECEIVE POOR RECEPTION AT BELL ISLAND.

A message telephoned last night from Bell Island contains a report of meetings held there yesterday by the Government candidates, Messrs. Emerson, Ryan and Caul. At the front of the Island thirty voters attended at the Star Hall—Mr. Michael Cahill was chairman, and the meeting was termed "the poorest ever held on the Island." At the mines a much better attendance greeted the candidate. Approximately 300 men took seats the C.L.B. Armoury and gave the speakers a good hearing to the end, but enthusiasm was completely absent and the party left for Portugal Cove last midnight without having realized the support they anticipated.

FOGO SOLID FOR MONROE AND CLEAN GOVERNMENT.

The following message was received from Capt. Dalton this morning. FOGO, May 23. Held meeting here last night, 80 per cent. of Fogo solid for Monroe and Clean Government.

Monroe's majority in Bonavista district will be over 500.

It's a Monroe Government make no mistake about it.

The Advocate is really funny.

In one column it says Higgins leader of the Opposition for the House, and in the next one it states: Higgins will be defeated by Caul.

Poor Mike, the Advocate should have said GAUL.

Right o' my friend the Journal, Lakins won't get a Look In(s).

It's his misfortune to be tagged and sent to Fortuna.

All of Hickman's employees are either candidates or canvassers for Coaker's cause.

The lowest Monroe candidate in Hr. Grace will defeat Albert by 400 votes.

Monroe "the Man of the Hour." He's little but he's wise, He's a terror for his size, But he does not advertise. KIPLING.

The employees in the Advocate office admit that "Monroe has 19 safe seats."

Last night one of the staff said "Hickman would get one man in Bonavista and two in Trinity."

Although he is not interested in politics himself he said that those in authority at the Advocate and Journal offices, and by messages received concede Monroe's election a certainty.

The North is with the West and South districts in destroying the Menace of Coakerism.

Reg Dowden was down to Broad Cove by himself on Wednesday afternoon looking for personal favors.

Duffy and Fitzgibbon were all over town looking for him.

Hawco won't even sit in Opposition when the Monroe Government is elected.

Everywhere the slogan is Monroe is the man. Altogether: Monroe Wins.

The Fete of Flowers in Japan

They call it the "fete of flowers"—"Hana Matsuri"—the Oriental Buddhist edition of the Christmas of the Christian Occident. For it comes in the cherry-blooming month of April. It is the general festival celebrating the birth of the founder of Buddhism, Gotama Buddha, Lord of Grace of Infinite Compassion.

On the day of the festival more than 30,000 children, out of the homes of the faithful in the City of Tokio, gather in the famous Hibiki Park beside the ancient castle moats of the Imperial palace, in the heart of the capital city. Everywhere throughout Japan and in the Orient, in all the Buddhist centres, the fete is observed with more or less pomp and ceremony.

Every year the devout ones have a temple erected in the centre of a great open space of the Hibiki Park. It is a temporary structure, of course. But it is modeled after the classic pattern, and faithful in every detail of an old temple. And in the fete it symbolizes the Garden of Lumbini, wherein Buddha was born some 268 years before the birth of Christ.

In Tokio, with the break of day on the 8th of April, all the devout ones of the ancient faith rise and greet the sun with bread new hearts. They drop their worldly cares with their working clothes. They dress up their kiddies in colors bright enough to blind the rainbow, load them with cherry and other flowers and then pour themselves into the great open space of the park. "Gorgeous fireworks—in which the Japanese create all comers—the reputation of heating the ceremony. Bands play—yes, brass bands. For the onrush of the modern civilization of blare and tumult has carried everything before it, even in that original home of culture called Nippon.

The Imperial Rescript

And then 10,000 child voices thrill in the chanting of "Kimigayo," the national anthem.

After this to the assembled children the chairman of the celebration committee reads the Imperial Rescript on Education, which was issued by the late Emperor Meiji, perhaps the foremost figure among the creators of what the historians are ever delighted to call the New Nippon.

More than 30,000 children of various ages, take off their hats as with a single gesture the instant the reading begins. They receive the message with bowed heads.

Then comes the presentation of a crimson banner on which are wrought the sacred symbolical text in gold to a man who has distinguished himself in the cause of Buddhist education, or in some philanthropic work. This is followed usually by a boy orator of the occasion, who tells the story of the Hans Matsuri and its meaning.

After that comes a speech from an eminent Buddhist divine or from a man of achievement in the field of education or of service to the state. Then comes the procession of thousands of little girls ranging from six to twelve years of age, all dressed in the bright robes of ceremony, filling up the steps of the temple, waving various colored flags of their respective sections. These small worshippers pass in front of the altar of the infant Buddha. And as they file past they, each and every one of them, lay their tribute of blooming cherry branches or other flowers at the foot of the altar with their little bows, which are a marvel of grace and of ceremonial correctness. These floral offerings are not permitted to be cast into the outer darkness. The moment the event is over they are carefully gathered and tanded and distributed to various hospitals of the city.

Ancient Buddhist Song.

One of the outstanding features of the Fete of Flowers is unquestionably the chanting of the ancient Buddhist song in which all the faithful present join. The song was sung, according to pious traditions, when Rome was a mere village and centuries before the birth of the Christian era. It runs something like this:

"Ages and ages ago, Buddha was born amid the opening of flowers in the spring, and he cried, 'I alone am supreme in heaven and in the earth! Though born into rank and splendor of a beauteous land, he left his palace for the wilderness. In the swirl of the crowded world he taught his mystery to his people. Many are the years which have passed since then, but there is always 'amacha' (the sweet tea made of the sap of hydrangea and which takes the place of holy water of the Roman Catholic Church), and the 'hori' flower blooms as fair as ever. Wear one yourself."

Immediately after the ceremony at the park the thirty-odd thousand children form themselves into a procession and proceed to the Nijsu River, cross the castle moat in front of the main gate of the Imperial Palace. There they pay their respects to the Emperor and Empress, lifting their child voices in "Banzai," and so bring the ceremony to a close. Thus the celebration of the birth of Gotama the Buddha ends at the palace gate instead of at the temple.

An Electric Farm

British farmers, already threatened by disaster, demands the application of new and scientific methods to secure more economic employment of available labour.

The British Electrical Industry has been wonderfully unselfish in showing, at the British Empire Exhibition, how the farmer may overcome the limitations which Nature has imposed upon him. Including in the Wembley wonders is an "Electric Farm": an amazing revelation to those who have not seen the electrically-operated farms of Holland and Switzerland.

The intention of the farm is to prove that, with electricity, more work is possible with less labour and less money. The exhibit demonstrates how electricity renders the farmer independent of weather owing to the fact that work can be done with extra ordinary rapidity. There is a 40-ft. windmill, generating electricity, and within the enclosure are chaff cutters, cake bakers, machinery for treating cattle food, butter churners, and cow-milking machines. In addition, there is a process for making hay without sunshine, the lighting of laying houses for increase in egg production, and a vast number of other farm, dairy, and country estate operations.

The development of rural areas has in the past been adversely affected by the unalterable dullness of English village life. But electricity sweeps this dullness away. The application of electric cooking in the farmhouse promises village communities many of the amenities of city life. This, again, and without the farmhouse, electricity saves labour and brings the farmer's life and the farmer's wife another step along the road of contentment.

Surgeon's Needle in Man's Body 14 years

LEOMINSTER, May 10.—A piece of steel believed to be a part of a surgeon's needle left inside of him following an operation for appendicitis 14 years ago, has been taken from the right leg of Ernest Metcalf, 25, Leominster drug clerk, at the Leominster Hospital.

Metcalf believes the needle has been working around all of these years, as he has been troubled at times by ill health. He also believes that the other part of the needle is still in his body and is working itself out, as there is another small bunch coming on his leg, similar to the one opened by Dr. James E. Grady which disclosed the piece of steel nearly two inches long. While not admitting that it is a piece of a surgeon's needle, Dr. Grady says it resembles one with its curved or hooked end.

FIRST DOMINION CONFERENCE.

Chairman, Major W. H. Parsons, of the Board of Pension Commissioners for Newfoundland addressed the Conference.

distinction overseas, and while as Chairman of the Board of Pension Commissioners he very often had to act against his good nature in performance of his duties, but in the interpretation of the Act Comrades may rest assured that everything possible would be done by him.

Major Parsons then addressed the Conference. He thanked the President for his kind remarks and the Conference for its reception, and stated his position, that, although, he was heart and soul with the ex-service men of Newfoundland, he still had to abide by the Pension Act as it stood on the Statutes. He then dealt with the history of pensions from the time of the Athenians, which showed his thorough knowledge of the subject. The pensions act was then reviewed in conjunction with that of Canada and the United Kingdom. The amendments recently made to both acts were made known to the conference and the interpretation placed upon them by their Governments. The ex-service men and dependants of Newfoundland are penalized under the present Act would benefit greatly by the adoption of those amendments. After his address Major Parsons undertook to answer any questions put to him that were not of an individual nature. Advantage was taken of the offer by delegates who had many points to raise. A vote of thanks was proposed by Comrade Nugent, Grand Falls, and seconded by Thomas Higgins, Catalina, and carried by acclamation. Comrade Parsons then thanked the Conference and assured it that anything he could do to help the Conference in its endeavours would be gladly done.

The programme of Veterans' Week was then laid before the Conference and explained by the President.

Reports of sub-committee were then tabled as follows:—

TUBERCULOSIS AND PENSIONS.

Report of sub-committee appointed to enquire into better treatment of tuberculosis ex-service men and the granting of pensions to same.

It was stated that there were roughly two hundred ex-service men in Newfoundland who were suffering from tuberculosis in one form or another and who were not receiving pensions.

Obstacles—The argument put forward by the Board of Pension Commissioners was that such disabilities were not due to Service as they were discharged at and that in the intervening time which has elapsed between their discharge and the present time should be considered as sufficient time for those men to have contracted tuberculosis while pursuing their ordinary post war avocations.

Remedy—Section 13 (Pensions Act, 1922) regarding date of application should be amended to seven years after discharge for pension application. Men affected with T. B. in this period should be considered to have incurred same on active service.

The case of men who subsequent to receiving wounds developed T. B. and who married and as a consequence thereof were ineligible for a married man's allowance, was considered and it was recommended for the approval of the Conference that married men's allowance should be paid to such men.

PENSIONS COMMITTEE.

The interim report of the Pensions Committee was received and ordered to stand over until the final report was submitted.

SUDBURY MILITARY HOSPITAL.

The report of the sub-committee appointed to investigate the conditions of Sudbury Military Hospital revealed a deplorable state of affairs in that Institution. As a result of this investigation drastic resolutions will be sent to the Government.

CONSTITUTION COMMITTEE.

Much progress was made with the redrafting of a new constitution which will have a wider scope than the original Constitution.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

At 10:15 a.m. the members of the Conference will be received by his Excellency and Lady Allardice at Government House. At 12:30 a. meals will be laid on the Sergeant's Memorial 1 p.m. the visiting delegates and Dominion Command will be photographed at the Colonial Building. During the afternoon it is hoped to arrange through the courtesy of the Motor Association, a short motor tour.

At 8:30 p.m. the closing session of the Conference will be held. On Saturday the visiting delegates will be escorted to dinner by their Comrades of the Dominion Command, at which his Excellency the Governor will be present.

Bandit Round up

Six men were arrested and $50,000 in loot was recovered in connection with three automobile truck holdups in the last three weeks. Detectives of the truck and lot squad expect to arrest others, who are members of organized bands that in the last year have stolen loot amounting to about $4,000,000, according to insurance men, after holding up and kidnapping drivers.

Two men were captured after a chase by detectives in which five shots were fired. The detectives said that the prisoners, Joseph Grassano and John L. Tedesco, were unloading $5,000 worth of tobacco and cotton goods from a truck in front of No. 23 Madison Street, which had been stolen less than an hour before.

Both men recognized the detectives and started to run. The detectives opened fire and the fugitives threw up their hands and surrendered. With the truck and its contents they were taken to police headquarters, where a grand larceny charge was lodged against them.

At about the same time other detectives retrieved $72,000 worth of cigarettes which had been obtained by the six armed men in hold-ups of motor trucks in Manhattan and Brooklyn, in April. The detectives were passing a warehouse in Union Avenue, Brooklyn, when they noticed Harry Fuchs, of 140 Norfolk St., and Thomas Gordon, of 267 West 127th Street, loading an automobile truck with cases of cigarettes.

URNS DOWN BURNAY PLAN FOR AIR LINE TO INDIA AND AUSTRALIA.

LONDON, May 14.—Premier MacDonald announced in the House of Commons to-day that the Government had rejected Commander Burnay's elaborate plan for a giant dirigible air service between London, India and Australia.

He proposed, however, that the Air Ministry initiate forthwith a comprehensive programme of airship research and experimentation, and the early construction of an airship with a capacity of 8,000,000 cubic feet, for which $1,500,000 would be needed.

It was also planned, said the Premier, that the Air Ministry construct, in addition, an airship terminal and an intermediate base overseas, to enable the safe operation of airships between England and India.

The Premier also announced that the British Government has ratified the Tanager agreement, establishing the status of England, France and Belgium in Tanager, North Africa, and that he would not consider calling a conference on the inter-allied war debt until conclusions have been reached regarding the issue raised by the reports of the experts' committee.

How a lovely SUNSET scarf brightens up a simple suit

A SCARF in harmonious tones, a tiny colored handkerchief, silk stockings in the latest color vogue—how a touch of pleasing color does enliven even the plainest and simplest of costumes!

Smart, up-to-date dress accessories always lend distinction. Even last year's garments often may be made effective again with a blouse or giraffe or collar and cuff set, charmingly dyed to an unusual shade with convenient SUNSET.

And with SUNSET, how easy it is! The most exquisite color-effects are yours as if by magic! By mixing two or more of the 22 beautiful SUNSET colors, you can get any shade, light or dark, soft or brilliant, and the color is fast.

SUNSET dyeing takes only 30 minutes, and its cleanliness amazes every woman who uses SUNSET for the first time. Hands unstained, utensils unspilled. Wash the pan (as after any cooking) and use it to cook in again. Each cake of SUNSET dyes all fabrics—silk, wool, cotton, mixed goods—the same color at the same time in the same dye-bath.

Let us send you our folder "The Season's Colors" and our direction sheet for tied-and-dyed work—they will tell you the popular shades and how to have them, with SUNSET.

St. John's Boy Life Survey

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir.—As I happened to have been chairman of the Boy's Work Committee of the Rotary Club when the Boy Life Survey of the city was made, and, as there seems to be some misunderstanding as to the actual information obtained on that occasion, it is perhaps fitting that I give some of the figures which were then secured, and which may be of interest to your readers. The number of boys in the city between the ages of 5 years exclusive, and 12 years inclusive, is 2,077, and of this number 1,986 are enrolled in school, leaving 91 boys not enrolled. I take the age of 12 years as this age has been frequently taken in places where the compulsory attendance law is in force, as, for instance, our nearest neighbour, Nova Scotia permits boys to leave school at 12 years of age, provided they satisfy certain requirements of the common school curriculum.

The misunderstanding probably arises from the fact, that between the ages of 6 years inclusive, and 18 years inclusive, the number of boys not attending school is 1,122. Of this number 192 are 6 years of age and have not yet been enrolled in the school. Some parents do not send their children before 7. Thus we have 930 from 6 years of age to 18 years of age inclusive, who are not on the school roll. Of this number the greater majority has left school, having completed the school course, 600 of them being at work.

The above figures are as nearly accurate as we can expect to get them as we have index cards giving particulars, name, age, and address of every boy in the city with the exception of three and we have their names and approximate ages but not full particulars.

It is to be regretted so many boys have to leave school at 12 years of age, owing to the financial condition of the home, and I trust the day will soon come when we shall see a great improvement in this direction. But taking all in all the above figures are very creditable to our city, much more so in fact than many have heretofore realized. Thanking you in anticipation for publication.

Yours very truly,

VINCENT P. BURKE.

Tremendous Sea Storm Approaching Here

DEE TO REACH ST. JOHN'S ON MONDAY.

A terrific sea storm has been raging along the American coast for the past few months with short intervals between. Some places have been entirely devastated. This storm is now heading towards Newfoundland and from authoritative sources we learn that St. John's will feel the effects on Monday.

This forms a part of the gigantic motion picture, entitled "Gloom-sweep," which has been secured by the Nickel Theatre management for next week's opening attraction. The stars in this great picture are Wallace and Noah Beery and the beautiful Arline Pretty.

It has in it every element that has made the sea and the lives of its followers productive of the most absorbing stories of literature. H. H. Van Loan, the author, who also wrote "The Virgin of Stamboul" and other successes, provided Director Robert Thornby with some new twists which, transferred to the screen, are really gaspers.

And how those Beery brothers seem to revel in their roles! They are living, breathing, moving interpreters of parts that fairly reek with the tangiest odor of salt; they breathe the very essence of that spirit which has made the conquest of the sea one of man's mightiest achievements.

To-Night is a Big Night at the Crescent

BIG AMATEUR CONTEST WITH MANY ATTRACTIONS.

To-night is a big night at the popular Crescent Theatre, as the usual big Amateur Contest takes place. Some interesting and novel turns are promised and there will be fun and entertainment in galore. This part of the bill is an extra attraction, as the usual picture programme will be exhibited.

"Triumph is the term which may be applied to the return of Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne to the screen world. Warmly received by capacity audiences the stars came again into their own at this Theatre yesterday. While "Modern Marriage," a dramatization of Derek Yane's novel, "Lady Varley" was the medium through which the Bushmans were presented to the public, it can safely be said that it was the ingenuity of the stars, their radiant personalities and magnetism that brought into the place an atmosphere which otherwise would have been lost."

By all means let nothing keep you away from this wonderfully big variety show at the Crescent to-night. Attend early and get your choice seat.

Sparks from the Political Anvil

A complete wash-out. The Hickman-Coaker outfit in the last spasms of despair.

St. John's, Conception Bay, North and South districts all up in arms against Coakerism and all united in supporting a Monroe Government.

Never was the like of it: it's victory, victory all along the line.

The visions of the West India contract which would embroil this unfortunate country with another wasteful expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars is the lever which has doomed the Coaker-Hickman fantastic combination.

The taxpayers of St. John's will see that Messrs. Evans and Dowden will receive their just deserts.

Property owners and business men of this city elected these Councillors to safeguard their right. To-day both men are doing their level best to help Coaker to grow the grass on Water Street.

The policy of every Coaker Candidate in St. John's is to keep poverty hovering around homes where happiness and plenty would abound under a Monroe Government. To make the poor poorer and to strip those who have little means or property right down to the last cent.

The affrontery of Hibbs and Gibbs and others, in assuming that they can influence the voters from Topsail to Seal Cove in favor of Hewco is only equalled by the gall of Collishaw who boasted to Nova Scotians that he can manipulate the votes of Newfoundlanders any way he (Collishaw) likes.

Four years more of Coaker domination and the spirit of the taxpayers will be broken for ever.

Four years more of the intriguing influences of Coaker and that mysterious individual Collishaw and its "good night" to prosperity.

This is the last chance Mr. Grace will have to recover its old time prosperity. Any more misdeeds under the Coaker rule will break the hearts of the people and drive the last independent voter from the district.

St. John's is asking Mr. Grace to join in the big effort to kill Coakerism, and from information to hand the voters in the Second City are going to answer the call by ringing up big majorities for the Monroe candidates.

Bay de Verde has suffered as much as any other part of the island from the rule of the Coaker-Collishaw policy during the past four years. How many of the villages have been abandoned and many of the younger folk forced from the district by the hard times that Coaker's domination has caused. That is the question which Bay de Verde people will consider before marking the ballots for Cave and Goobie, the pliable tools of Coaker rule.

And so with Port de Grave and Carbonear, whose people were sacrificed in this and many other respects. All are thinking seriously of the advantage of a new progressive government which is at the present time possible with a Monroe Government. Their homes and families must be considered.

The day has arrived and they are going to avail of this, the last and only opportunity to make right a great wrong. Coakerism must be strangled if we are to have a prosperous country. Prosperity will reign again under a Monroe Government.

State Convention

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

The Knights of Columbus State Convention, opens at Bell Island tomorrow. It will be attended by State Deputy J. Meenan, and State Secretary J. G. Higgins, of St. John's; Grand Knight M. J. Nugent, of Grand Falls, and Past Grand Knight J. M. Greene of Conception Council, Bell Island, all of whom will go over to the Island this afternoon. Representatives of Dalhousie Council, St. John's, will also attend. Grand Knight Giovanni of Bell Island, and members of his Council, are making great preparations for the event.

Valuable Horse Drowns

A valuable horse, owned by Mr. Peter Summers, the truckman, was drowned in Quiddi Vidi Lake yesterday morning. The horse, which is one of a pair recently purchased in the Prairies, was out grazing in a field at the side of the lake and in some way got into the water, presumably to take a drink. The purchase price is said to have been $500.00. The loss to the owner is a heavy one.

London Letter

By PANTON HOUSE.

(For The Canadian Press.)
LONDON, April 24.—The opening of the British Empire Exhibition by the King on April 23rd, was without doubt the finest spectacle seen in England since the Coronation, nearly 14 years ago. But whereas that more than 2,000 people could follow the King in Westminster Abbey, the Wembley stadium (where the opening ceremony was held) has room for 125,000. No other building in the world could contain such an audience, it covers over 16 acres of ground, and the green British turf of the central playing fields surrounded by a quarter-mile running track. In shape it is a wide and blunt oval, its width being about two-thirds of its length.

At ten o'clock on the morning of St. George's Day, by which time more than half the spectators were in their places the massed bands of the Brigade of Guards, with the massed pipers of the Scots and Irish Guards, appeared in the arena, where they marched, playing stirring airs. At 10.30 arrived the three guards of honor: first the Navy, welcomed by the massed bands with "Hearts of Oak" and "A Life on the Ocean Wave"—50 bluejackets and 50 Marines; then the Army—100 men of the 3rd battalion of the Grenadier Guards, greeted, of course, with "The British Grenadiers"; lastly, 100 men of the Royal Air Force, played in with their own rather less familiar march.

The Royal Dais, or grand stand, covered in scarlet picked out with gold and canopied in purple, carried a semi-circle of 1,600 seats for distinguished guests with two big golden chairs of state in the centre. Before it were banks of flowers—dark blue carnations and pale blue hydrangeas. At the opposite end of the stadium were the massed choirs of the great London churches, 10,000 strong, mainly in white surplices, with the Westminster Abbey contingent in red cassocks; and the "Choirs of the Chapels Royal" in scarlet and gold. With them was the band of the Royal Military School of Music.

ROYALTY ARRIVES

A few minutes after 11 the Prince of Wales President of the Exhibition, drove into the arena and was received by the Duke of Devonshire, the whole audience rising to cheer and wave its hats and handkerchiefs. Then the trumpeters of the Guards—whose uniforms carry more gold lace than any other in the Army—blew a fanfare. The first of the escort of Royal Horse Guards, in dark blue and steel, rode in under the archway, preceding three State carriages and the King's coach, drawn by six brown horses in trappings of black and gold and crimson, with postillions and outriders. The King wore the uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet, and the Queen was in grey velvet and fur. The massed bands crashed out the National Anthem, the Royal Standard was broken out on the dais, and the guests of honor gave the royal salute, while the great audience cheered and cheered again.

EXHIBITION DECLARED OPEN.

The Prince of Wales read his official request that the King would declare the Exhibition open, standing before his father's throne-like chair, in Admiral's uniform. His first few words were lost while the multitude settled down into silence, but all the rest of the speech was heard from end to end of the stadium. The King's reply was even still audible, amplified as it was by five instruments in the child balcony above his head. The Bishop of London recited, first a special collect then the Lord's Prayer. Many of those present say the most impressive moment of the ceremony was this, as more than a hundred thousand voices joined in the familiar words with a reiteration like distant thunder.

The King pressed a gold and enamel button in the globe-shaped golden cast-iron presented to him by the Exhibition authorities. This was the signal for another fanfare of trumpets. All round the top of the stadium flags, each in charge of a Boy Scout, were broken out, and in the grounds of the Exhibition, the flag of each Dominion, Colony and Dependency was hoisted, while an artillery salute of 21 guns announced the opening of the imperial show. Just 80 seconds later a telegraph messenger boy entered by the main gateway and walked to the royal dais where, saluting solemnly, he presented to the King a huge envelope. It contained the King's own message—"I have at this moment opened the British Empire Exhibition—George, R. I." It had passed completely around the world before its reception back at Wembley by Imperial cable through the General Post Office, travelling 31,500 miles in 1 minute 20 seconds by way of Penzance, Halifax, N.S., Montreal, Vancouver, Fanning Islands, Fiji, Auckland, Sydney, Adelaide, Perth, Cape Islands, Rodrigues, Durban, Cape Town, St. Helena, Ascension, St. Vincent and Madeira, and so back to London.

Finally Sir Edward Elgar conducted his enormous choir in his own composition, our second National Anthem, "Land of Hope and Glory." The Royal Salute was given, the King

Our Dumb Animals

REPORT FROM CHIEF AGENT FOR WEEK ENDING MAY 23RD.

Attended the landing of one hundred and sixty head of cattle, two hundred and forty pigs, seventy sheep, and four horses, all landed from the Canadian Sapper. Two bulls were slightly injured. All were watered and taken in charge by Mr. Halliday. The cattle were in fairly good condition considering the long passage. I also attended two sales at Cliff's wharf where the cattle were sold by Mr. McKay, who had them all removed immediately after the sale. I attended the Police Court where a man from Manuels was summoned and fined two dollars for allowing a calf's head to hang out over a cart and strike the wheel. The Judge called me to give an opinion, and my opinion was that calves or sheep carried over long roads in express wagons should be crated or have very high sideboards at the expense, as there are continual complaints of filthiness. One complaint is that people going to nearby outposts stop at a half-way house for refreshments, and then drive furiously over the road and the sheep or calves heads are thus treated very badly. I may say for the benefit of all concerned that this must not be continued. I do not want to summon the people and bring them 12 or 15 miles to a court house when a little carelessness and carelessness on the part of the driver will prevent me from so doing. I hope all butchers will take this warning. I would like to state in reference to the dog which was run over by a motor car on the 11th inst. that this matter has been settled satisfactorily. I also shot a dog for a man who resides on Patrick Street; another for a resident of Barnes' Road; another for a resident of Mundy Pond Road. I also humanely put to death a pony which had been injured in a field in the East End. There were two horses taken off the street for lameness. By the order of the police I put to death a dog, owned by a lady residing on James Street, which was complained of as being a public nuisance. Arrangements are being made on August 27th. Prizes and ribbons will be awarded to men who take care of their animals. Medals for truck horses, cabs and teams, also for private driving horses and ponies. The public are asked to telephone 653

Hints for the Housewife

Repainting Furniture.
Polished, painted furniture that has become shabby will need a good washing down, then when dry, fresh coat of enamel. It is a good idea to touch up shabby places first, then when they are dry to give the whole piece a fresh coat. If the furniture is to be used in a nursery, where finger marks will be likely to show, paint the furniture, giving it first a filling or priming coat. When it is dry, give it a good second coat. When that is dry, make any decoration desired, then use a good water-proof varnish. Polish in this way, the marks that appear from day to day may be washed off with a soft cloth wrung out of soapy water. Afterward polish the pieces with a dry cloth.

Removing Grass Stains.

With the season at hand for grass stains on children's white clothes the suggestion of so simple a remedy as kerosene may be timely. The garments are soaked and washed in kerosene before going into the regular wash.

Stains of Chocolate.

To remove stains of chocolate or cocoa, moisten with cold water then cover with borax and let stand for a few minutes before you rinse with boiling water.

On the Wringers.

If the wringer works with difficulty, put a little kerosene oil on the gears and work them for a minute or two, then wipe and put in a few drops of machine oil.

Clean Leather.

A solution of white soap, to which water and oil have been added, makes a good cleaner for leather.

Plant Disinfectant.

Clean soapy water is a good disinfectant and if poured on plants or around the roots often keeps a plant free from objectionable insects.

Bud Fisher Owns Big Race Winner

FAMOUS CREATOR OF MUTT AND JEFF CLEANS UP $54,000 IN PLEASNESS.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Bud Fisher, nationally known cartoonist, was shaving on the steamer Majestic this morning when he was told that Nellie Morse, his three-year-old filly had won the $54,000 Pleasness at Pimlico yesterday.

"That's great," he said; "but it's no more than I expected. I expected great things of that little filly when I named her after my mother." Fisher said plans had been made to enter her in the Kentucky Derby and added "If Mr. Mutt does not win the Derby, Nellie Morse will." He said he regretted that Wise Counsellor, Sarazen and St. James would not start in the Derby. "My entries would have stopped anything in the race," he said.

Fisher said he had not bet on the Pleasness and allowed that $54,000 was enough to win on one race.

At the present time we are operating 27 Buick Cars. Some of these were purchased in 1918 and have been rendering dependable and satisfactory service.

We purchased five of the new 1924 cars with four-wheel brakes and I have driven them personally. The performance is good. In fact there is a feeling of safety that does not exist with two-wheel brakes.

The body design is a great improvement over previous models, but the most important feature is the four-wheel brakes.
