Upper Canada Capital to Develop New Industry in Annapolis Valley

Farmers to Have New Market to Dispose of Surplus Apple Crop

The Canada Lands, Produce and Cold Storage Company, of Belleville, Ontario, with Mr. E. J. Graham as manager, and Mr. Herbert Oiler, of Kentville, as financial secretary, have placed contracts for the erection of six apple evaporating factories, one each at Bridgetown, Middleton, Kingston Station, Kentville, Canning and Lakeville. Mr. Oiler, travelling in the interests of his firm, has interested local capital. The factories are run as a Stock Company, local capital having one fourth of stock. M. W. Graves & Co. one of the most active business concerns in the Valley, and the first to manufacture pure apple cider vinegar, were fortunate enough to secure stock for the new factory at Bridgetown.

The new factory will be erected in rear of Graves' vinegar factory, near Halifax and South Western Station. It will be 36 ft. by 60 ft. ground floor and probably two or three stories in height. About twelve or fifteen skilled workmen will be employed in running the plant.

The farmers of the Valley ought to appreciate a home cash market for those grades of apples which heretofore were almost worthless. The inferior grades will now be utilized and converted into a salable commodity and a palatable article of diet.

Verdict in the Miners Union Trial.

Boise, Idaho, July 28.—In the bright sunlight of a beautiful Sunday morning, William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, was found guilty of the murder of Frank Steenberg. The probability of a conviction was freely predicted after Judge Fremont Wood read his charge, which was regarded as strongly favorable to the defense in its interpretation of the laws of conspiracy, circumstantial evidence and the corroborations of a confessed accomplice.

It was also freely said that the State would abandon the prosecution of his associates, Charles H. Wagner, President of the Federation, and Theo. A. Pettibone, of Denver. Statements from counsel and from Governor Gooding today dispel this view of the situation. Governor Gooding said: "The verdict is a great surprise to me, and I believe in all citizens of Idaho, who have heard or read the evidence in the case. I have done my duty. I have taken care and my conscience is clear. As long as God gives me strength, I shall continue my efforts for government by law and for organized society."

"The State will continue a vigorous prosecution of Moyer and Pettibone and Adams, and of Simpkins, when apprehended. There will be neither hesitation nor retreat."

Application will be made to Judge Wood tomorrow to admit Moyer and Pettibone to bail, and it was said tonight that as to Moyer against whom the State is admitted to have the weakest case, a favorable consideration would not be unexpected.

Lord Strathcona and the All-Red Line Interests

Montreal, July 27.—The members of Parliament, who have interviewed Sir Wilfrid Laurier since the Premier's arrival in Canada (and Mr. R. Bickerdike is of the number) do not hesitate to say that Lord Strathcona's coming visit to this country has a great deal to do with the question of the All-Red Line.

It is said in fact on the best of authority that Lord Strathcona will use every effort to induce Sir Thomas Shaughnessy to not only abandon the strenuous opposition the C. P. R. has put up against the scheme, but he will advise the Canadian Pacific to throw in the towel in favour of the deal and in fact tender for the Atlantic service.

It is stated that Lord Strathcona is ready to abandon the Irish connection and either make the British port Liverpool or Southampton but that most are agreed that Halifax shall be the Atlantic port all the year round.

The idea is for the Canadian Pacific to build three new boats for the Halifax route, and place the Empresses of Britain and Ireland on the Pacific where they will sail in connection with the Company's fleet in those waters. The statement is, however, made that a very strong influence is being exercised in certain quarters to have the one Atlantic greyhound come up the St. Lawrence in summer, but it is not presumed that this alternative will prevail. In any case, the arrival of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal in Canada, on Saturday next, will be watched with the keenest interest from Halifax to Vancouver.

Would be a Struggle Such as the World Never Saw.

Nothing to Gain by Either Japan or United States in Going to War.

"If the United States and Japan should go to war the world would witness a struggle such as it never saw before."

This remark was made recently in an interview by Admiral Sir Cyria Bridge, retired, who for six years up to 1904 had command of the British squadron in the Far East, and who before that was at the Admiralty.

"But," added the celebrated naval strategist, "I see nothing that would be gained by either country in going to war. One might say without fear of a harsh contradiction that America is almost ready to give away the Philippines, which, on the other hand may be regarded as the sum and substance of all the possible gain that could come to Japan through a conflict with the American people. What America would like to give away however, she would not allow to be taken from her without a great fight."

"But really the Japanese people are too level-headed to rush headlong into war with America. One great restraining factor would be the treaty between England and Japan. The people of Japan, of course, know the strong relations of blood and friendship that unite Britain and America, and would, in my opinion, hesitate a long time before entering on a conflict that would greatly distress their allies. Again, the result of a war in the long run, regardless of what might be the immediate outcome, would be considered carefully by the Japanese. Even admitting for the purposes of argument that America should lose the Philippines in a war with Japan, the feeling in America against the Japanese would not subside. It would be like the feeling in France toward Germany over the lost provinces.

"America, a great nation, with almost 90,000,000 people and unknown resources, would be likely to build the world's finest navy if necessary to regain any lost prestige."

Admiral Bridge was asked a number of hypothetical questions, one of which came very close to asking him which nation, in the event of war, would, in his opinion, be the victor. The admiral absolutely declined to answer the question. What he said in reply to other questions seemed to indicate that he had formed no decided opinion as to which would be the stronger power in war.

"We must remember," said the admiral, "that the United States navy has made very great gains in recent years, so great, in fact, that Brassey's Naval Annual announces in its 1906 edition that America is the second naval power of the world. She has 22 first class battleships, as compared with 50 for Great Britain, 20 for Germany, 13 for France, and 11, or half of Uncle Sam's number, for Japan. Naval experts, whose business it is to find out the comparative strength of the nations on the sea, have known this all along, but it has not been shouted from the housetops. Even in first-class cruisers America could lose several and then compare evenly with Japan."

"I have had good opportunities in recent years to examine the personnel and equipment of American ships, and I can say that both are excellent. Japan would find the American gunners better than is generally believed."

FICTION NUMBER OF SCRIBNER'S.

The fiction number of Scribner's Magazine has been an institution for twenty years. In it have appeared some of the most notable short stories that have made the reputation of their authors. The present fiction number (August) preserves this worthy tradition, and each story in it is of unusual interest as a story and of remarkable skill in execution.

James E. Connolly writes one of his most amusing comedies of Gloucester fishermen, "The Commanding of the Lucy Foster," which tells, in the picturesque language of Captain Wesley Marrs, how a British revenue officer was outwitted by that astute sailor.

Nelson Lloyd has a humorous satire on ancestor worship, entitled "The Grandfathers of the Evolution." These were the maternal ancestors, who are much upset by the sudden appearance of the one strong man on the paternal side, who is really an ancestor to be proud of.

John Lynch Williams in "Mortimer's Failure" propounds an ingenious cure for nervous prostration.

Henry B. Fuller, in "Waldo Trench Regains His Youth," pictures a young enthusiast from Oklahoma against the background of ancient Italy, with an incidental love story.

Frank H. Sparanza, the author of the famous "Whispering Smith," in "The Ghost at Point of Rocks," tells a new kind of ghost story, which centres about a desolate railway station in the Far West.

A new writer, Lieut. Hugh Johnson, of the United States Cavalry, has a dramatic story of life at an army post on the Mexican border, entitled "Lascar," the hero of which is an old army horse.

Henry VanDyke's fifth "Days Off" paper is devoted to "Some Remarks On Gulls: With a Footnote on a Fish." The pursuit of the gull leads Dr. van Dyke to Jordan's Pond, near Bar Harbor, where he has a remarkable experience with a osannaniche.

Mrs. Wharton's serial, "The Fruit of the Tree," in this installment reaches a great situation, the solution of which is bound to excite much discussion.

The number has beautiful examples of color printing. The frontispiece, "Old Romans," is a charming drawing by Maxfield Parrish. There is also a series of drawings, "A Day at the Country Club," by Harrison Fisher, reproduced in color, and the elaborate cover in colors is from a design by S. N. Abbott.

STICK TO THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

Will be a Great Manufacturing Centre, is What a London Journal Says.

The Presbyterian published in Toronto, thus speaks of the prospects of our Maritime Provinces:

"While we have been strangely blind to the attractions and possibilities of our Eastern Provinces, others at a distance are beginning to learn something of the advantages which these Provinces present to those seeking homes within our borders. The British periodical, Canada, published in London, which has been studying conditions there through a representative, says: No better or more fertile arable lands for general or mixed farming exist in Canada. No better yields per acre on the average can be found in Canada for hay, oats, wheat, barley, flax, corn, etc., while in the vegetable and fruit lines the growths are rapid and yields good in every case. No better chances exist in Canada for the raising of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, etc., and in fact there are sections in all three Provinces where sheep raising could be made one of the most profitable enterprises that men with fair capital could engage in. I am now speaking of the farm advantages of the Maritime Provinces, but on the other hand the chances of engaging in lumbering, fishing and mining, are many, and in the matter of industrial, small though the population may be, the Maritime Provinces are making rapid strides along these lines, and it is by many confidently predicted that with their enormous quantity of coal, iron, water power and shipping advantages, the Maritime Provinces are destined to be a great manufacturing centre."

What the Wild Waves Say.

(By May C. Ringwall, in the "Sunday Republican.")

"Paul's question might well have stamped Florence!"

The comical old woman with the bobbing white curls, whom I had so often noticed seated on the beach under a vivid green parasol, pointed a finger of her black-mitted hand toward the surf rolling in on the sunlit sands.

"I'm speaking of the Dombeyes in Bakers, of course," she said as casually as though referring to some Neighbourly neighbors. "The waves say such different things to different people."

She drew confidentially close. "See them young people down at the Point? The girl with the yellow fluff of hair heaving loose from her head and anchoring on to an eyebrow, and the fellow with trousers wide enough for bolser cases? They're down for the summer school at the biological laboratory, and are out hunting specimens. Specimens!"

She gave a laugh like a wave bubbling over at some sea-shell joke.

"My hand! he's been holding her hand, helping her over the rocks for two hours, and they've only found one cat-fish between them! But the girl has heard the sea voices," she added softly. "You can tell by her eyes—the sort of surprised, exalted look that comes to a woman when love first begins to ripple in her heart—there, they're plumb tired out and are sitting down close together in the shadow of that rock. Ain't it lucky the shade under a rock is always so skimpy?"

Silence ebbed between us, like the pause that falls now and again upon the incoming waves. The old woman's needle flashed busily in and out.

"What are you making?" I asked less from curiosity than from a desire to set her talking afresh.

She shook out a small garment of tennis flannel, blue and soft gray in coloring like the sky with its floating clouds.

"It's a wrapper for a little incurable up in the city hospital. I love to sew on it out here on the beach," she continued, with her confiding smile.

"I suppose it is one of my fool notions," Cynthia thinks I'm chuck full them—but I like to make believe the salt air and the sunshine get wrapped up in its folds and are carried back to the little shut-in. Anyhow, each wrapper has its surprise pocket of sea-side treasures; seawearings, star-fish and shells. I reckon they'll carry the message of the waves just as if they were souvenir post-cards from the sea itself. You have to be mighty spry gathering them, though, if you don't want to get your clumsy old feet wet. Once when I was snatching them out and running back at the same time, I overheard a girl giggle and say, 'Isn't the old woman getting kittenish!' I've never laughed at my old cat when she played with a string since!"

"I was a shame!" I exclaimed. "When you were only doing it for the children, too!"

The tail of her eye winked. "How about the fathers that take their little boys to the cinema?" she leaned over the head with the bobbing white curls ducked in a convulsion of laughter. "You won't tell!"

"Never," I solemnly pledged.

"When I went behind the farthest rocks, and what do you reckon I did? I fixed up my skirts with safety pins, took off my shoes and stockings and went in wading! I had the time of my life, my dear, but I was scared stiff afterward for fear Cynthia would find me out—watch that man fishing now!"

My attention swung from beach to pier, where an old salt was leaning over a railing, his long bamboo fishing pole weighted down into a bow as a fish tugged heavily at the line.

"I've often wondered what the waves say to a man like him," murmured my companion, dreamily. "Whether they just talk shop—about the loaves and fishes of trade, or whether some great, ample word of life falls from their lips. And then there's the fish's point of hearing," she went on with her quick turn of thought. "What a roar and rumble it must be in his little ear. See the big bass that he's caught! Poor critter, a dash through a wave, a choking ache in his throat, a death squirm, and it's all over. The land only knows, though, how many minnows he's swallowed first. I wish it weren't fashionable for us to eat each other up—but, my dear, did you ever taste anything so delicious as fresh fish?"

She paused to bite off her rotton, and thread a fat little needle with an obnoxious silk.

"Yes, I'm going to do some feather-stitching," she gaily answered. "I'll be bound the charity children like pretties as much as other children. My grand-daughter thinks all fancy work

Mail Orders

Competition from retail mail order houses has become so strong on the other side of the line that the local newspapers have taken up the campaign in protection of their home markets. One of them recently made the following comment on the situation:

"When the catalogue comes from mail order houses, draw an eye chair to the table where the light will shine full upon the page, and put on your glasses that no bargain may escape your eye. What a wonderful book it is, to be sure! Wonderful for what it does not contain as well as what it does. You will miss some things you would be glad to see. Where is their offer to pay cash or exchange goods for your wheat, oats, corn, beans, butter, eggs and hay? How much do they pay for cattle, sheep and hogs? I. o. b. at your depot. How much tax will they pay to support your schools and educate your children—for improving roads and bridges; the support of the poor of the county; for the expense of running the business of the township, county and state? On what page is their offer to contribute money to the church? What line of credit will they extend to you when your crops are poor and money gone—when through illness or misfortune, you are not able to send 'cash with order' for your groceries, clothing, farm tools and crockery?"

THE DIP OF THE MOON.
A great many persons suppose that the crescent of the new moon promises wet or dry weather according as its horns are so inclined that the hollow between them looks as though it could or could not hold water. Of course there is absolutely no relation between the weather and the position of the new moon's horns. The inclination of the new moon may readily be accounted for at any time when we bear in mind the fact that a line drawn from tip to tip of the horns must always be at right angles to the direction of the sun.

To Help Consumptives

A Plan to Set Them at Work in Forest Reserves.
(From New York Tribune.)
The brain of a thinker in the Keystone State has evolved a plan for the utilization of natural advantages in the cure of consumption and the safeguarding of the community from tuberculosis infection.

Pennsylvania combines among its public utilities large State forestry reservations, a State school of forestry, devoted exclusively to training young men for its forest service, liberal forest laws which allow of improvement plantings, and a camp for consumptives, to which ailing persons may go if they cannot, for want of funds, go to more expensive health resorts. Thinking over this combination of State institutions, it occurred to Dr. J. T. Rothrock, of Mount Alto, that it would be a good plan to unite them in the interest of the great body of consumptives and of the community at large. His argument in favor of the plan is thus set forth succinctly by himself:

"The unguarded consumptives are probably more dangerous to the community than the insane persons who are now under State care would be if liberated. The latter would be restrained to a certain extent by their friends, whereas the public is seldom so guarded against consumptives, who are scattering the germs of disease in all directions.

"I believe a wide-reaching, economical system is possible, by which most if not all, such persons may be provided for. Pennsylvania has nearly a million acres of forest reservation land. Most of it must be replanted in young trees. To do this work not less than a billion seedlings must be raised and transplanted into the ground where they are to grow. It would require a large force of men to raise and transplant annually a million trees. Even if this were done the seedling supply would be exhausted in a few years. A work so slowly done would fail utterly to meet the economic exigencies which demand for the prosperity of the Commonwealth that all our rocky watersheds should be devoted to the growth of timber. It would be only a drop in the bucket if the State transplanted annually four million forest seedlings. That would simply cover the sand and acres of six and one-fourth square miles.

"Little of the labor required in raising and transplanting seedlings is of a hard or exhausting character. Most of it is very light. It is all out of doors, and it would be in our health belt where the air is pure. Life under such conditions would be for the consumptive more desirable in every way than life on a farm, and believe it would be safe for the community. In addition to this, willow culture and the manufacture of baskets and other wicker work could be extensively conducted. Small articles of rustic work would furnish an endless opportunity for those who had a constructive turn."

As a practical beginning, Dr. Rothrock points to the work at the Mountain Camp Sanatorium, in Franklin county, Pennsylvania. There the consumptive unable to pay for treatment is received and treated free. The proposition is to send all the consumptive patients from this sanatorium to the State school of forestry, and from there to the open reservations, where the life of the forest ranger, a pure, healthy, outdoor occupation, would not only serve to keep the consumptive from falling back into the old condition of ill-health, but would prevent danger to the public from the spreading of germs that might still be dormant in the system of the consumptive. Dr. Rothrock ends his plea for the consumptive with this significant argument:

"It will cost something less than any other plan proposed, and bear in mind, if you will, that, whether you cure these persons whose poverty appeals to your generosity or whether you support them in hospitals or county homes and finally lay them to rest in a plain coffin, you must do ultimately bear the expense. It is cheaper to cure them and restore them to the ranks of productive citizenship than to board and bury them.

It will be an interesting sight when the nation witnesses the forests of the country being built up by the army of sufferers from the great white plague, who themselves, in restoring the wasted ranges to their natural state, are being restored by the bountiful nature whose work they are assisting. Dr. Rothrock estimates that ten thousand citizens of Pennsylvania are now in the early stages of tuberculosis, and could be restored to reasonable health under proper conditions. When they loose in our forests," he urges, "and let them restore themselves while restoring the woods ranges. A plan so economical, safe and beneficial to all is not likely to find a single opponent."

Our informant says that "there is no place in Nova Scotia where the Order and its principles are more firmly established than at Freeport."

The cherries are ripening up fast and there is about an average crop the quality being very good but, like all other crops of late years, they have their troubles, an insect of some kind destroying about one-third them. We believe it would be a good idea to try spraying on the cherry trees next spring, for if something not done soon to protect this fruit, they will not be long before the huckberry, for which Bear River has long been famous, will be a thing of the past.

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME WHEN MOST NEEDED.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by W. W. WADE and BEAR RIVER DRUG STORE.

FARM FOR SALE
To be sold at Public Auction, at Round Hill, on the premises on Thursday, the fifteenth day of August next, at two o'clock p. m. the property belonging to the Estate of the late Frederic Sanders, containing 5 acres of cultivated land, 25 or 30 acres pasture and woodland, and 24 acres marsh.

There are 122 full grown apple trees, mostly Nonparis, 3 cherry and 2 pear trees.

There is a large, commodious house, with wood and carriage house connected, also a large barn.

This property is situated within half a mile of the Baptist and Episcopal churches, and one-third of a mile from Post Office and Station.

It is one of the most desirable situations in the Valley, affording an excellent opportunity for anyone who wishes a first class country home. Terms made known day of sale.

The Grand Imported Percheron Stallion "CRITON"

RECENTLY PURCHASED BY THE PERCHERON STALLION SYNDICATE.

Will make the season's route as follows:—
GOING WEST.
Will stand at Bridgetown, "Grand Central," Monday evening, May 20th.

Round Hill, Isaac Whitman's, Tuesday evening, May 21st.
Annapolis, Edward's Stable, Wednesday evening, May 22nd.
Lawrencetown, Stoddart Stable, Saturday evening, May 25th.

GOING EAST.
Middleton, Shaffer Stable, Monday evening, May 27th.
Aylesford, Brunen Stable, Tuesday evening, May 28th.

Centreville, John Bartheaux's, Thursday evening, May 30th.

"Criton" 58,450, will sire horses that the farmer wants and can drive to market or work on their farms, and will sell for the highest price of any draft breeds, and keep on one half of the feed and always be fat and their feet and legs will always be right.

Farmers wishing to breed should inspect this grand young stallion before breeding, and the farmers of Annapolis County should be proud to think that they have men with the enterprise to buy a high priced horse and bring him for them to breed to. For as the saying goes "There is none too good." It is hoped that he will be well patronized.

Terms: $10.00 for the season. For particulars as to pedigree, etc., see large posters.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO UNITED STATES SUBSCRIBERS

Since the enforcement of the new postal regulations by which all newspapers going from Canada into the United States are required to be paid for at regular postal rates, we find ourselves unable to continue our present accommodations to U. S. subscribers by which credit is allowed on subscription accounts, and SHALL HEREAFTER REQUIRE ALL UNITED STATES SUBSCRIPTIONS TO BE PAID IN ADVANCE. We must also request the immediate payment of all United States subscribers who are now in arrears. Such accounts as are not promptly arranged for will be placed for collection.

Not so many years ago the process of butter-making was considered one of the simplest and least scientific of household services. Today a dozen problems relating to quality, sanitation, economy, manufacture, enter into the preparation of this important article of food. No longer can the dairy farmer follow the slipshod, easy-going fashions of former days and compete with his contemporaries in the marketing of his wares. He deals with living machines in the manufacture of his goods and the utmost intelligence, care and skill are needed. Not only farmers, but all interested in the progress of the agriculturist, should attend the demonstrations of the travelling Dairy School which will be given in Warren's Hall this evening and tomorrow.

The English apple crop is reported to be a short one. This will be consoling news to our growers, as estimates as to the local crop are falling off.

Poison in Ice Cream Freezer

Fredricton, July 19.—Three members of one household at St. Mary's, Mrs. Rainford Staples, her son-in-law, B. V. Stenn, and the latter's wife, were poisoned last evening from eating ice cream and all had a narrow escape from death. The ice cream was made by Mrs. Staples in a new freezer. She gave it to her daughter and son-in-law and partook of it herself. In a very short time all the family were taken violently ill and Dr. H. H. McNally was summoned from here. When he arrived he found Mrs. Stenn in convulsions and unconscious. The doctor had his hands full, but had the satisfaction of seeing all three parties rally from the effects of the poison. The doctor's theory in regard to the poisoning is that it is due to the freezer which was a new one and used for the first time.

GOLD IN BRIDGEWATER

Bridgewater News of July 23rd in Halifax Herald states—Gold was discovered by the workmen who are excavating for the extension to Barnaby Bros' store yesterday. Several pieces of quartz with an abundance of the precious metal showing were found. News of the find spread rapidly around town and created intense excitement for a time. People flocked in crowds to the place, and the rich specimens were eagerly examined. After the first find, no other trace of a lead was seen, and although there are many who believe that there are good prospects for a further discovery, nothing is being done in the matter. It is an interesting fact in connection with this find that the gold was dug up in new ground, had never been broken before.

Express Train Wrecked on Halifax and South Western

The express for Port Wade while rounding a sharp curve about three miles south of Nictaux suddenly left the rails, the tender being turned at right angles to the track. The track was badly torn and twisted, and considerable damage was done to rolling stock. Beyond a few bruises and a severe shaking up, no one was seriously injured. It was necessary to send back to Bridgewater for wrecking train to clear the track. The arrival of the express in Bridgetown was delayed several hours, and the return trip to Middleton was made at a late hour in the evening.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC. It is said to be a good sign to leave any sort of kind of entertainment wishing for more. This certainly was the case with all those who ventured on the above picnic last Friday. All came home wishing for more, excepting rain. The rendezvous chosen this year was Hall's Island, Lawrencetown, an ideal spot for a picnic, affording opportunity for all the usual accompaniments of such an outing, games, races, swings, etc., together with boating and swimming. The journey to and fro was made by train, the party numbering about twenty-five. During the first part of the afternoon everything went well, but as the day advanced, the sun, which had been threatening for some time, commenced to fall. This meant eating and clearing up in haste, and bringing the real picnic to an abrupt conclusion. At this juncture Dr. J. B. Hall took kindly placed the Baptist Church at the disposal of the party, but also had a fire lighted for the drying of wet garments, a boon much appreciated. Word then came that the "accommodation" about one hour late, had just left Middleton, so a move was made for the Railway Station in haste. It is needless to say that each picnicer contributed his or her share to the enjoyment of the whole, but to the good people of Lawrencetown an especial word of praise is due, particularly to Mr. John Hall for the use of the grounds, to Mrs. H. Hall, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Whitman, Mr. Bancroft, Mr. Jefferson and others, and last, but by no means least, to Dr. J. B. Hall for their various acts of kindness and thoughtfulness. More generous hospitality and ready kindness was never shown to a picnic party, and the picnicers only regret that tress of weather prevented them showing their appreciation by giving three rousing cheers at each house as they passed along to the Station.

ONE PRESENT.

TUPPERVILLE.

Miss Bessie Whitman is loading a carload of lumber for Pickels & Mills, Annapolis. Mr. A. Parsals, of Rhode Island, and bride are spending a few weeks with her relatives and friends. Mrs. Hodgkin, of Lynn, is visiting her sister, Mrs. S. D. James, who has just returned from Bear River for cherries. Our farmers are getting pretty well through with haying on the uplands.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

When the Windsor Foundry and Machine Company was reorganized in 1902 one of the staff was Mr. B. W. Mills, who occupied a dual position being in the office a portion of the time, and on the road as traveller. On the retirement of Mr. A. E. Wall, Mr. Mills was promoted to the position of Manager. On Friday morning the employees met in the office, and presented the departing official with an address and accompanying gift (a merechaum pipe) the presentation being made by Mr. John P. Smith. To this unexpected testimonial Mr. Mills made a very happy response, speaking in feeling terms of the good will thus expressed, and wishing for the Foundry and workmen abundant success in the future. Mr. Mills came here from Moncton where he has been on the staff of the Record Foundry for eight years, and now, after a short sojourn in Windsor has accepted a position in the office of Barrow, Stewart & Mills, Hamilton Ontario, for which place he left on Saturday by Flying Bluenose train accompanied by Mrs. Mills, and carry with them the best wishes of very many friends for success and happiness in their new home. The above is clipped from the Hants Journal, Windsor, E. S. Mrs. Mills is the oldest daughter of Mr. Charles J. White of the Journal and Agriculturist, and spent last summer in Summerside where she made many friends. —Summerside Journal.

TENDERS

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Bridgewater, N. S." will be received at this office until Friday, August 9, 1907, inclusive, for the construction of a Public Building at Bridgewater, N. S. Plans and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, on application to the Postmaster at Bridgewater, N. S., and at the office of C. E. W. Dodwell, Esq., Resident Engineer, Halifax. Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a certified bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned. The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender. By order, FRED GELINAS, Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, July 19, 1907. Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department, will not be paid for it.

ANOTHER SOUTH SHORE WRECK.

The steamer Orinoco, a Fielder and Black liner, was wrecked near Cape Sable last Friday. She was bound from St. John to Halifax when she crashed into rocks at Seal Island, disabling her engines and filling her fire-peak and hold with water. The Orinoco had just returned from a trip to the West Indies, landing forty-one passengers at St. John, among them Mr. and Mrs. W. T. James, of Bermuda, who were en route for their summer home at Paradise.

THE SENEAC FLOATED.

After lying submerged on the Bartmouth side of the harbor since the night of July 1st, when she was in collision with the steamer Rosalind the coastal steamer Senecac was successfully raised by Beazley Brothers yesterday afternoon, and afterwards taken to the old Marine and Fisheries wharf.

The prize list of the Hants, Kings, and Annapolis Counties Exhibition to be held at Windsor, October 9th, 10th and 11th, has just been issued. $100 is the sum offered in prizes.

Mr. H. R. Best and Messrs. J. W. Lowe & Son have the contracts to build the new evaporating factories at Bridgetown, Middleton, Sheffield Mills and Cambridge. Mr. S. S. Stephens has the contract for that at Kingston.

Arthur Foster, who has been teaching the past year at Falmouth, is spending his holidays at his home in Hampton. It is gratifying to Mr. Foster's friends to know that he goes back to Falmouth with an increase in salary.

Our new department, "Just Our Own," receives favorable comment; but our readers of the gentle sex must lend a hand in keeping up the interest. The department is omitted this week, but we have in hand some contributions which will appear next week.

The Rev. A. S. Lewis, the new pastor of the Baptist Church, was given a royal welcome last Wednesday evening, when the members and friends of the Church gathered to spend a social evening at their church. A most delightful evening was spent and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The chat of our country correspondents is greatly appreciated, but we are sometimes obliged to curtail the space allotted them. We would request that they omit in future neighborhood visits, and the report of the coming and going of people whose business keeps them travelling.

Rev. Isa Wallace, D. D., and wife, and Rev. L. F. Wallace and wife arrived at the parsonage at Aylesford, after an absence of three months. Mr. L. F. Wallace is rapidly recovering from his recent operation. Dr. L. Wallace is in a critical state of health and an exchange reports that his children, Dr. W. B. Wallace, of Hants, and Mrs. C. Melick, of Regina, have been summoned.

What might have been a fatal accident resulting in the death of two children last Monday was miraculously averted by their falling through the ties of the Tisbury bridge, just as the west bound train whirled over them. So sure were the train hands that the children were killed, that they stopped the train and on going back found them holding on to the abutments, very much frightened but unhurt. Too much care cannot be exercised by parents in preventing their children from using the bridge at this season of the year.

A sad accident occurred at Annapolis Monday afternoon by which Willie, a colored lad, aged 9, lost his life. The boy was on his way to meet his father, who works in the shipyard, but being too early he and two other boys, all under ten years of age, went for bathing off the Garrison. Cromwell ventured too far and slipped off a ledge into deep water.

Dr. Beckwith saw him sink and had W. W. Clark and an Indian jumped in to his rescue in their clothes, but were unable to find him. The body, which had been washed up by the tide, was found by a dog about ten minutes after he was seen to sink. All attempts to revive him failed. He was a very bright little fellow and his parents will have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

The purpose of store advertising is not merely to sell goods but to sell more goods, to make friends and build up a patronage that will not only stick but grow. Newspapers reach the greatest number of people in the immediate vicinity in the most natural way, at the least expense, and they are therefore the best of all mediums for stores. In a newspaper you follow the lines of least resistance—you follow with the stream—you talk to an audience already assembled. To the people who want to read. They are on your wire and they won't ring off if you hold their interest. Attraction is the basis of all advertising. The store is the sun, the customers are the planets that revolve around it.

SOIL PREPARATION.

Too much attention cannot be given to the preparation of garden soils. The writer has experimented along this line for a number of years, and has never tried a crop that did not respond nobly and satisfactorily to deep turning and loosening of the soil.

Many people, in early spring, when sowing lettuce and radish seeds are heard to say, "Oh, my soil is light and friable, and such seeds just grow and bring good results by just raking them into the surface without spading or plowing."

Two years ago the writer was gardening in the lightest and most friable soil to be found, soil that never did and could not pack hard and cement-like. This soil had grown mixed garden crops the previous year, and had been freely cultivated and was in fair condition.

Two plots were selected and sown to the same seeds, three sorts of lettuce and three sorts of radishes. One bed was disturbed only to the depth of about two inches and the other was double spaded, that is, a furrow across the bed was spaded and the bottom of this furrow was spaded up. No fertilizer was used except a little sown on top of each bed, and this was extremely light.

The crops from the deep-spaded beds were little short of phenomenal. Never before, in nearly twenty years' experience, did the writer ever grow such satisfactory crops of the two esculents above noted. Next year four beds were so treated, spaded at four different depths, and results were in accordance with the depth of the seed bed. The value of deep stirring of the soil is beyond question, but we have occasionally to try some experiments like the above, in order to see what the profit over ordinary soil scratching.

After planting, soil tillage is just as necessary if we are not situated in a large city, and it is not to be despised, in order to conserve the soil moisture. It is also advisable to keep the soil well aerated, more especially while the plants are young and the root system undergoing its most rapid development. After time when the fruiting or maturing stage arrives, the roots harden up, cease their activities somewhat, and it is difficult to aerate the soil and water supply.—California Cultivator.

ADVANTAGES OF THINNING FRUIT

The experienced fruit grower knows where fruit spurs are, and in pruning will remove many of the weaker growths in the centre of the tree. He bears in mind, however, that some provision must be made to conserve the soil moisture. It is also advisable to keep the soil well aerated, more especially while the plants are young and the root system undergoing its most rapid development. After time when the fruiting or maturing stage arrives, the roots harden up, cease their activities somewhat, and it is difficult to aerate the soil and water supply.—California Cultivator.

POINTS TO OBSERVE IN SEPARATING MILK.

First, the speed of the separator must be uniform and up to the standard required by the makers of that particular machine. Second, the temperature of the milk should be such as will make it flow readily; the warmer it is the more perfect will be the separation. Third, the amount of milk run through the machine should remain constant, and should not be increased over that intended for that machine. Fourth, the machine should be set on a solid base or foundation, so there will be no jar or shaking about as it is turned, such as would tend to interfere with the even flow of the milk through the bowl and thus destroy its efficiency in skimming. Fifth, the separator must be kept thoroughly and scrupulously clean, particular care being taken that none of the tubes through which the milk flows become obstructed in any way. Sixth, the test of the cream can be readily changed by changing either the cream outlet or the skim milk outlet.

In the mechanical operation of a machine none but the best oil should be used, and this should not be allowed to gum or become dirty on the bearings. It is good practice to flush the bearings with kerosene occasionally by making a run with kerosene in the oil cups. This will serve to cut out any gum or dirt that has accumulated in the bearings, and will make the machine run much freer and easier, thus greatly increasing the length of time it will last and do perfect work.

FEEDING OATS TO POULTRY.

Will we ever learn the value of oats as a poultry food? Here is an experience of last year that is almost conclusive evidence to me. The last of February I hatched out about 40 Single Comb Reds, strictly for raising purposes. Nine of the pullets were such beauties that I could not kill them. June 1st, I turned them into a field of shocked oats and let them make their own living. On July 10th, two of them laid, the day they were five months old all were laying and averaged over five pounds weight, that is, above standard weight. I have never seen a more uniform or nearly perfect lot, and the answer again is oats.

MONEY IN CUCUMBERS.

I raised on my farm 22 acres potatoes averaging 140 barrels per acre and sold them for an average of $6 a barrel. My average cabbage yield is about 200 crates per acre, I frequently secure a larger yield, but always expect 200 crates. If I get less I consider that I have a poor crop. They sell from $1 to $2 a crate. Recently I had seven acres in cucumbers, on which I realized $3000. The cost of cultivation and all other expenses were less than $100 an acre, making my net profit on these seven acres over $2000.

The lands here are characterized by a great variety of soil from sandy loam to clay loam and clay subsoil. They will produce two and three crops a season. Perhaps the most common rotation of crops in a season is lettuce, two, ten cucumbers, and finally, a crop of orange crop. An early pea crop or early potato crop can be followed by corn or cotton, either of which will have plenty of time to come to maturity before frost. Then a late crop like melons can be followed by corn and make a good crop. Trucking lands can be bought in this vicinity for $10 to $15 an acre for improved lands and from $20 to $200 an acre for cultivated lands, the price depends largely on the location.—W. D. in Orange Judd Farmer.

FIGHTING POTATO PESTS.

The insects and disease that most seriously affect our crops are the flea beetle, potato bug and late blight or mildew. The flea beetle is not generally noticed, as it flies or jumps off the plants when approached, but its presence is easily detected by closely observing the plants. The application of Bordeaux mixture helps to keep the insects in check. The eggs of the potato bug should be closely watched, and when you notice them beginning to hatch, spraying with Paris green and lime should be done at once, as the young bugs commence feeding at the crown of the plant. They can easily be destroyed by a solution of Paris green, one-half pound to forty gallons of water, whereas, if they are allowed to gain size and scatter over the plant, it is harder to kill them, and the foliage is much eaten, which weakens the plant.

Any time after the tenth of July when weather conditions are favorable the plants are liable to be attacked by blight, as from that date on earliest date that I have ever seen the plants affected was July 22nd, and sometimes it does not show until late in August; but knowing that spraying with Bordeaux mixture is a preventive, or a straight case of insurance and not a cure, it is necessary to commence spraying soon after July 10th, for if the leaves of the plant are kept covered with the mixture, the spores are buried the same as if they touched a hot iron, and perish. By spraying on July 15, Aug. 1, Aug. 15 and Sept. 1, you practically have the foliage protected against living spores taking root. If heavy rains should follow a spraying it will be necessary to repeat it, possibly

WIRE WOUNDS.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, did so at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks, the sores have healed and best of all the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

Faces the World with Clean Hands

Chicago, July 7.—Edward W. Bailey, who fourteen years ago in the famous pork corner, lost $4,000,000 with the men associated with him, last night mailed checks for $50,000, thus wiping out the last cent of indebtedness. He has not much money left, but faces the world with clean hands.

For fourteen years the payment of his obligations has been an obsession. Under the rules of the game, he could have gone into bankruptcy, or "gone broke" and either method would have cancelled the litigation, in the eyes of the law. Mr. Bailey took a different view of things. He could certain men certain amounts of money and the repayment of these sums was a constant care, night and day. His name went for something and it stands for much today.

The crash in pork, which carried down many fortunes, came August 1, 1893. Cudaby failed for six million dollars and many of the lesser fry went under, never to emerge again. On the last day of July pork closed at $19 the barrel. At the top of the gong the next day it opened at $18.75 and the rout was on. Cudaby was carrying 200,000 tires of hard and magnificent efforts to borrow $300,000 to stem the tide, but bankers were cautious. When it became known he would be forced to unload, a panic began. Pork tumbled to $16.50 and had finally landed at $5.90, after starting the day at $9.75.

E. W. Bailey & Co., it was found after order was restored, was out about $4,000,000 and it is this day Mr. Bailey has just cleared after fourteen years' devotion to the work.

making five sprayings in a season. Bordeaux mixture for potato spraying is made by dissolving six pounds of bluestone and five pounds of stone lime to the barrel of water (forty gallons). First dissolve the bluestone in boiling water and pour into the spray barrel and then fill the barrel two-thirds full of water before straining the milk of lime in, then add half a pound of Paris green to kill the bugs and fill the barrel. Do not put the lime water on the strong bluestone solution or you will have a curdled mass that will not pass through the nozzle of the pump. This is very important if you wish to do good work, by adding the Paris green at each spraying the bugs will never be noticed at any time during the season.—

THE WOODEN SHOON.

Only a visit from Queen Wilhelmina and her consort, Prince Henry, who played so notable a part in the rescue of the Berlin survivors, is necessary to give the finishing touch to the "boom" in all things Dutch which is growing in London.

A visit from the young Dutch Queen who has never paid a state visit to London, is within the bounds of probability this year, and London seems to be unconsciously preparing itself for such an event.

Dutch art, Dutch songs—or songs about Holland—and Dutch shoes are becoming more and more popular. A few years ago Nico Jungman's Dutch pictures began to take the public fancy.

A year or two ago the print-shop windows began to be filled with Dutch figure sketches—rows of little Dutch boys in baggy trousers and sabots and Dutch girls in little round bonnets, pigtail and sabots, and old Dutch fishermen and fishwives in the quaint costume of the Low Country—including sabots.

The pictures of quaint Dutch clothes and especially the sabots, struck the popular taste, and now the real sabots has invaded London. It hangs in the shop windows in the West End and the suburbs, tied up with ribbons and labeled: "Dutch sabots for English feet."

A pair of sabots has become the latest fancy with the girl with a trim pair of ankles, and "sabot ten parties," with Dutch costume and Dutch songs, are beginning to enliven the suburban home.

The theater and the music hall have taken up the Dutch boom. "Miss Hook of Holland" is enjoying success at the Apollo, and at half a dozen halls in London and dozens throughout the country. "Dutch" songs are the order of the day.

The latest feature of the Dutch "boom" is in picture postcards and newspaper advertisement pictures after the pattern of the old Dutch title-London Express.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, did so at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks, the sores have healed and best of all the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

Joker's Column

HELD TO HIS BARGAIN.

A. H. Smith, the general manager of the New York Central Railroad, said of a financier the other day: "I am no wonder the man has succeeded. For the sake of money he would do anything. There is a story they tell about his youth. They say that when he was a burly young farm hand in Pennsylvania, a back tooth fell to aching, and he tramped in to Wyatting to have it out. The dentist pushed him back in the operating chair, stuck a cork between his jaws to keep them open, and examined the sore tooth carefully. Then, frowning, shaking his head, he selected his biggest and most substantial pair of forceps.

"Is this going to hurt, doctor?" said the farm hand, looking anxiously at the tremendous forceps. "The dentist answered with a smile: "Well, if it doesn't, we won't charge you anything."

"And he rolled up his sleeve, hooked the forceps on to the tooth, put his feet against the arm of the chair for a brace, and—ah, it was horrible.

"But all through the horrible ordeal the young farm hand neither howled nor groaned nor grunted. Like an image he sat. Indeed, a kind of smile flickered from time to time over his face.

"When the tooth was at last out, the dentist said compassionately: "It didn't hurt so very much, did it?"

"Hurt? Why, it didn't hurt at all," said the farm hand.

"And he took leave without paying, holding the dentist to his bargain."

COMFORTING THE CONDEMNED.

"I have," said a lawyer, as he entered his condemned client's cell "good news at last."

"A reprieve?" eagerly exclaimed the prisoner.

"No, not a reprieve; but your uncle has left you $500, and now you can meet your fate with the satisfying feeling that the noble efforts of your lawyer in your behalf will not go unrewarded."

ON BUSINESS AFTER ALL.

The manager of the big department store stood still outside the telephone chamber which held the telephone of the establishment, for he was a very startled manager indeed.

Within the chamber he could hear Miss Jones, the stenographer, speaking, and this in a scrap of conversation the scandalized man overheard:

"I love you, dear, and only you! I'm weeping my heart away! Yes, my darling, speak to me once more! I love you dear, I love you so!"

The young woman rang off and stepped out of the cabinet to confront the angry manager.

"Miss Jones," he said, "that telephone has been fixed where it is for the purpose of convenience in conducting business and not for love-making in office hours. I am surprised at you. Don't let it occur again!"

The young woman froze lim with a glance. "I was ordering some new songs from the publishers for No. 3 Department," she explained icily.

TOO MUCH FOR THE BOY.

The Episcopal bishop of a New England diocese was about to make his annual visitation to the parish of a country rector. In the family of the latter was an obstreperous boy, whom the father thought to bribe into good behaviour while the bishop was the guest at the rectory.

So the anxious parent told the small boy if he would behave well while the bishop was there that the following spring the father would buy the boy a pony and cart. The boy promised. The bishop arrived, dinner time came and the first course was oysters. The bishop said his doctor had told him never to eat oysters for fear of getting typhoid fever.

BLOOD OF SWINE FOR CANCER

Injected into Sore It Causes Improvement, German Surgeon Says.

BERLIN July 20.—Dr. Bier, professor of surgery at the Berlin University, where he succeeded Professor Bergmann, publishes a remarkable article in the Deutsche Medizinische wochenschrift regarding his experiments with cancer patients in the Berlin hospitals.

He found that the injections of the blood of animals cleared of fibrous matter, especially the blood of swine, into cancerous sores alter their appearance, complexion, character and direction, the improvement indeed sensibly approaching healing them.

He admits that the results do not appear quite so favorable under the microscope, but he believes the treatment to be good. He cites a case in which injections of swine blood enabled him to operate when otherwise it would have been impossible. In other instances the patients were considerably relieved.

A MATTER OF ECONOMY.

If the thousand and one things about the house that make money go fast—the little things that don't seem to count—were bunched together in one, it would not be so difficult to stop the leak. But they are usually such trivial things that it takes more than a sharp and ever-watchful eye to keep expenses down.

In flour, for instance. We buy a flour that our grocer recommends. He doesn't know for what particular purpose we want it—and it sells pretty well—so he sends it to our house. The flour may be good, but perhaps it takes a long time to knead. Or it may take more flour to make a batch of bread than it ought to. Or we may want it for cakes and pastry and it won't give the light, appetizing cake, or short crust in the pie that we expect. Most of us have found trouble of this kind.

If we had time to compare one brand with another, some household leaks would be avoided, and some household tempers would disappear. There is a big difference in flour. Some flour turns out a perfect baking, seems to do equally well for bread and pastry.

Bleached Flour—made from Ontario soft wheat and Manitoba spring wheat. Milled in just the right proportions—makes baking a pleasure, and is winning unexampled favor in the kitchens of our householders. It makes better bread, lighter cakes, more wholesome pastry and biscuits.

Note it! Good housewives, and use Bleached Flour next time. A young man proposed for the hand of a millionaire's daughter.

"Well," said the millionaire, frowning thoughtfully, "what are your prospects? Is there any chance of promotion in your business?"

"Age chance!" cried the young man. "Well, I should say so. Why, we employ two hundred men, and my job is next to the lowest in the establishment."

"I find Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to be the best remedy in the world," says Mr. C. L. Carter, of Skirum, Ala. "I am subject to colic and diarrhoea. Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have been troubled with it since, and this week when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five cent size Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." PUZZLE CORNER

Dear Boys and Girls: Are you losing interest in the Puzzle Corner? We expected to hear from hundreds of you last week, but have received very few responses to our prize offer.

Steeved in getting the prize last time is no reason you should not this time. We have decided to extend the time another week to give you all a chance to try for the prize. Some boys and some girls are missing an opportunity to get a nice book. Send us your answers to the puzzles anyway, if you do not care to write a letter. The prize offer was in the issue of July 7th. Perhaps you have an essay or composition written for the school closing. We should be glad to publish them. Come, now, let us hear from you this very day.

Yours truly, THE PUZZLE EDITOR.

Dear Boys and Girls: How many of you boys play baseball? I do and think it is fine. Last Christmas a few of us boys clubbed together and got a set of baseball gloves. We have played a great deal since then.

ARCHIE C. BEARDSLEY, Fort Lorne.

Dear Puzzle Editor: I am a little girl interested in your endeavor to make the paper attractive to the young as well as the old, and wish you the best of success.

I go to school and like my teacher real well, and am very fond of drawing and painting. Nothing pleases me better than a new box of colors. I am very fond of animals and have some pets of my own. I think all boys and girls should be taught to be kind to the animals entrusted to their care. I hope it may form a part of their education, and parents will aid their children in showing kindness to the animals God has given us for our benefit. Hoping this will cause some credit boy not to inflict needless pain and again wishing you success,

I remain, Yours Truly, PEARLE GILLIS, Age—10 years, Paradise.

Dear Puzzle Editor: I live in Grandville Centre, one mile and a quarter from the school-house. I like to go to school very much. We have about forty-three pupils in the school. We have a very nice teacher. I think that he is just great. I have only missed four days all this winter. My studies are arithmetic, geography, history, reading, writing, and drawing. We live in a very pretty place. Just across the road the river comes up, and it is very pretty in the summer. We have a dog. He is white and has a little strip of black down the front of his face. His name is Toby. He is very kind and would not bite anybody.

I have two brothers and one sister. I have written out the puzzles this week and think they are right, at least I hope so. *****

The writer of this nice little letter omitted to sign his or her name. Can you guess who it is?

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME WHEN MOST NEEDED.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house, you escape much pain and suffering and all risk of delay; it may save life. For sale by W. A. WARREN, Phm. B.

DISASTERS BY LAND AND SEA.

A freight train was wrecked last week near Simcoe, Ontario, by the explosion of the engine. The engineer was killed and Bremen and Brannan probably fatally injured.

By the capsizing of a launch at Toronto, during a thunder storm, ten young men were drowned, only one of the party being saved.

A fire on Mill Street, St. John, last Friday made eight families homeless and caused serious loss to three business firms.

For that Dandruff There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

AN UMPIRE STUMPED.

(Moncton Transcript) The recent trip of the Mohawks to Halifax reminded some of the players who used to be with the Y. M. C. A. team of an incident which occurred on an occasion when the Gray, then at their best, played in the Garrison City, and marked probably the only occasion on which "Shifty" Power, the competent Halifax umpire, was stumped.

Doc McCarthy was catching for the Y. M. C. A. at the time, and in one particular inning, things were not going altogether right with the Moncton team. To give the boys an opportunity to steady down, McCarthy, a clever diamond general, bent over and started to lace his shoes. Two or three minutes passed, and Power called out: "You're delaying the game." McCarthy snapped back that he would take as long as he pleased, and Power responded that the batter would be given his base. "Can't do it," retorted McCarthy, and to show that he could Power ordered the runner down. Next instant Pat Gallagher, the captain of the team, leaped in a rush for the bench, dug out a rule book and stalking over to His Umpire, showed him the authority whereby McCarthy had delayed the game. The base runner went back to bat.

Sheriff's Sale

1906, Letter "A", No. 1231.
Supreme Court of Nova Scotia

FRANK LEOPOLD MILNER, Plaintiff
And
Wilbert Budd Hick, Defendant

To be sold at public auction by the Sheriff of the County of Annapolis on the 9th day of August, 1907, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in Bridgetown, in the said County of Annapolis:

All the estate, right title, interest, claim and demand which the above named defendant had at the time the judgment recovered against him in this action by the above named plaintiff was registered in the registry of deeds for the registration district of the county of Annapolis, in, to, or upon, the several parcels of land, situate lying and being at Centreville, in the said county of Annapolis, and bounded and described as follows, that is to say:

First.—Commencing at a point where the west line of lands owned by John A. Stephens touches the south side of the Main Annapolis Highway, thence following the said west line of John A. Stephens south and south-westerly until it strikes the west line of land formerly owned by John Bruce and now owned by Wallace Bruce, thence following said Bruce's west line until it strikes the Hooper Brook so called, thence turning and running westerly along the said Hooper Brook until it strikes a lot of land formerly owned by Eben Bruce and now owned by Wallace Bruce, thence following the east line of the said Wallace Bruce lot to the east Main Annapolis Highway, thence turning and following the south side of the Main Annapolis Highway to the place of beginning, in all twelve acres more or less.

Second.—Commencing at a stake or post in the Main Annapolis Highway on the division line between lands of the said Wilbert B. Hicks and Sarah Wilson and running northwesterly on said division line to the Bruce Creek so called, thence turning and running northerly along the centre of the said Bruce Creek to a stake or until it comes to lands of John A. Stephens, thence turning and running easterly along the line of John A. Stephens land to the centre of the Old Annapolis Highway so called, thence turning and running northwesterly along the said Old Annapolis Highway so called to lands of John A. Stephens, thence southerly along the lands of the said John A. Stephens to the Main Annapolis Highway, thence westerly along the Main Annapolis Highway to the place of beginning, containing by estimation eight acres, more or less.

Also all that certain lot, tract, piece, or parcel of land situate lying and being in the County of Annapolis, called in Centreville, in the County of Annapolis, bounded and described as follows: Commencing at a stake on the east line of lands of Wallace Bruce and Edgar Bruce and running northerly along said Bruce's east line to lands of Sarah A. Messenger, thence turning and running easterly along the south line of the said Sarah A. Messenger's land to a stake in the centre of a ditch about six rods, thence turning and running northerly along said Sarah A. Messenger's east line to the Annapolis River, thence turning and running easterly to the Bruce Creek so called, thence turning and running southerly along said Bruce's Creek to lands of Alfred G. Messenger, thence turning and running westerly along the north line of said Alfred G. Messenger's lands, to the place of beginning, containing twelve acres more or less.

The said lands are to be sold under execution at the suit of the above named plaintiff and the judgment upon which the said execution was issued was registered in the said registry the 9th day of March, A. D. 1906, at two o'clock in the afternoon, and this sale is subject to all prior incumbrances.

Terms of sale.—Ten per centum of the purchase price to be paid at the time of sale and the balance upon delivery of the sheriff's deed.
