The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

PIANOS—inspection invited—E. PEILER, 23 Market Square.

Ends on the Earth generally October 18th, 9h. 52m. A, in longitude $134^{\circ} 21'$ West of Greenwich, and latitude $33^{\circ} 20' N$.

EXPLANATORY.

Aphelion—The point of a Planet's orbit farthest from the Sun.

Apogee—That part of the Moon's orbit farthest from the Earth.

Astronomical Day is reckoned from noon to noon through the 24 hours. Thus July 21, 9h, is 9th A of July 21, and July 21, 15h, is 3h M of July 22.

Conjunction—A Planet directly between the Earth and the Sun is said to be in Inferior Conjunction with the Sun. A Planet with the Sun directly between it and the Earth is said to be in Superior Conjunction with the Sun. Planets are said to be in conjunction with each other, or with the Moon, when they are in the same sign and degree.

Declination—The distance of a heavenly body from the Equinoctial, measured north or south, in degrees or minutes, on a Meridian.

Ecliptic—The plane of the Earth's orbit, so called because Eclipses can take place only when the Moon is on or near it.

Elongation—The distance of a Planet from the Sun as seen from the Earth.

Equinoctial—The circle in the heavens traced by the Earth's Equator.

Node—That part of the orbit of a heavenly body which intersects the Ecliptic. If the body is passing from south to north, it is called the Ascending Node; if from north to south, the Descending.

Opposition—A Planet with the Earth directly between it and the Sun is said to be in Opposition to the Sun.

Penumbra—That portion of space around the shadow of the Earth passing through which the Moon diminishes in brightness, in consequence of a part only of the Sun's rays reaching her surface.

Perigee—That part of the Moon's orbit nearest to the Earth.

Perihelion—That part of a Planet's orbit nearest to the Sun.

Quadrature—Two heavenly bodies are said to be in Quadrature when they are distant from each other by one-fourth of the Zodiac, or three signs apart.

The Sun's Declination and fast or slow of clock are given for apparent noon, or time of passing the Meridian of St. John.

The Moon's Southing is given in Astronomical time for the Meridian passage at St. John; and her Declination, when on the Meridian.

The Rising of the Moon is given from Full Moon to New Moon; and the Setting, from New Moon to Full Moon.

The Tides in the Calendar are the Morning and Afternoon Tides at St. John and Charlottetown. In the Tide Table (page 13) will be found Constants for finding the approximate time of High Water at each of the places given in the Table.

It will sometimes be found that when a Constant is added to the time of High Water at the Port of reference the sum exceeds 12 hours; in this case subtract 12 hours from the sum and the remainder will be the time of High Water at the required Port on the succeeding afternoon or morning, according as the Tide at Port of reference was a Morning or Afternoon Tide.

PIANOS—on easy terms—E. PEILER, 23 Market Square.

It will sometimes be found that a Constant to be subtracted, is greater than the time of High Water at the Port of reference: in this case add 12 hours to the Time at the Port, subtract the Constant and the remainder will be time of High Water at the required place, for the previous Morning or Afternoon, according as the Tide at the Port of reference was an Afternoon or Morning Tide.

FORECASTING THE WEATHER.

Men have, from a very early period, studied the weather, on account of its great influence on their pursuits, in order if possible to predict its nature and prevent those losses to the Farmer and the Sailor which result from violent storms.

The earlier students based their predictions on the phases of the moon, but an examination of the Greenwich observations for more than half a century has shown that this theory is entirely unfounded. Weather prophets like Moore, Zadkiel and Vennor claim in their Almanacs to be able to forecast the weather day by day for a whole year; but meteorological science in the British Isles, and the Signal Service of the United States, with the Weather Bureau of the Dominion, does not claim to forecast, with any certainty, the weather for more than three or four days at the most.

If an observer could obtain, at regular and repeated intervals, readings of the Barometer at stations distributed over a large area, he would be enabled to trace the march of the storm, for it has been found that the wind always blows towards the place of the lowest barometer reading; and so, by means of the telegraph, he may warn those places the storm is approaching. Still, mistakes are often made, and the forecasts are not always infallible, so that much remains to be done before meteorology can be ranked among the exact sciences.

TIDE TABLE.

The time of High Water at the following places will be found approximately by adding to or subtracting from the time of High Water at the given Port of reference, as follows:

Give Baker's Island a berth of not less than half a mile, leaving it on the port hand, then run for Hospital Point Light, bearing about W by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N, until Derby Wharf light is in range with Fort Pickering light, when Salem harbor will be to the W S W of you, and Beverly harbor W by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N. Also, on Baker's Island a bell which strikes two quick blows each half minute. Minot's Ledge Light; latitude $42^{\circ} 16' 9''$ N; longitude $70^{\circ} 45' 34''$ W; entrance to Boston Bay; granite tower, natural color, 100 feet high; fixed white light, visible 17 miles. Davis' Ledge Buoy bears E by S; Boston light bears N W $\frac{1}{2}$ W, 7 miles. This course must be kept good, northerly, to pass Bell Boat, off the north side of the Hardings Ledge (about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Minot's Ledge Light). A good mark to clear the Hardings Bell Boat, after passing Minot's light, is to keep Long Island Head light (fixed white) just open to the north of the Narrows light, which is a red light.

Boston Light; latitude $24^{\circ} 19' 39''$ N; longitude $70^{\circ} 53' 25''$ W; on Little Brewster Island, north side of entrance to main ship channel to Boston; white tower; white flash light, flashing once every half minute, visible 17 miles. Also, an air trumpet, giving blasts of 7 seconds, followed by interval of 43 seconds. From Cape Cod highlands the course for Boston Light is N W by W $\frac{1}{2}$ W, which well clears Minots Ledge and the Hardings; then, when well past Minots, bring Boston light to bear W by N $\frac{1}{2}$ N and run for it until within $\frac{1}{4}$ of a mile of it or until the Beacon light bears about W by N, then run W $\frac{1}{4}$ S until the Beacon light bears W N W, then run W by N leaving the Beacon light 100 yards on your starboard hand, then steer N W $\frac{1}{4}$ W (keeping the middle of the channel) for the Narrows between Galloups and Lovell's Islands, then about N W $\frac{3}{4}$ N for the bell buoy off Nix's Mate, which leave on port hand, then run W by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N for Fort Independence, leaving the lower middle buoy, red can, No. 6, a good berth on your starboard, and State Ledge buoy, red, Nun, No. 8 close aboard on your starboard; then run about N W $\frac{1}{4}$ N for the upper middle buoy, black, Nun, No. 9, which, leave on your port, then the course to Long Wharf or to good anchorage is about N W $\frac{1}{4}$ W. If making Boston ship channel from Cape Ann, get Thatcher's Island light to bear N N W from 2 to 3 miles, then steer S W $\frac{1}{4}$ W until Boston light bears W by N $\frac{1}{2}$ N. Then proceed as before given.

In coming up ship channel, and after leaving Nix Mate buoy on the port hand, and Long Island Light bears W by S $\frac{1}{2}$ S, run W by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N for the south end of the Castle until the Castle North Wharf bears N W by W $\frac{1}{4}$ W, or abreast of the State Ledge Buoy (red, No. 8), then N W $\frac{1}{4}$ N to the Upper Middle Buoy (black, No. 9), which leave on port hand, then the course to Long Wharf is N W $\frac{1}{4}$ W. But in approaching Boston from Cape Ann, via Broad Sound, bring Long Island Light to bear S W by W, and run for it until Deer Island Point Beacon bears N W by N $\frac{1}{2}$ N, three-eighths of a mile distant, then W by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N up the harbor. Strangers should bear in mind that in the middle of Broad Sound there is but 8 feet of water at low tide; but by keeping on the southern side of the Sound, leaving the Graves Automatic Buoy half a mile on the port hand and the Devil's Limb Buoy (black can No. 1) $\frac{1}{2}$ mile on port hand, and running straight to Ram's Head Buoy (black can buoy No. 5) about W S W, passing Aldrich's Ledge Buoy (black can No. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ mile on port), then leaving Ram's Head Buoy 50 yards distant on port, and run about W $\frac{1}{4}$ S to clear Deer Island Point Beacon, you can carry 12 feet safely. From the Beacon you will steer W $\frac{3}{4}$ N for lower middle buoy, then W by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N for State Ledge buoy, when proceed as before given.

Time Ball on Northern Tower of Custom House.

The Ball will be hoisted half its elevation each day (Sunday excepted) at fifteen minutes before one o'clock. At one minute before one o'clock it will be hoisted its full length; and at one o'clock, mean time, the Ball will be dropped. A Chronometer keeping correct Greenwich time should then show 5h 24m 15s, and the difference between this and the time shown by a Chronometer, is its true error on Greenwich time at the moment. At the above hour of one o'clock when the Ball drops, represents 5h 24m 15s at Greenwich, the error of a Chronometer may be ascertained, no matter where the ship is lying. Masters of vessels arriving at Saint John should compare their Chronometers by the Time Ball, as it will enable them to get the sea rate, which frequently varies from harbor rates. Latitude 45° 16' 42" North. Longitude in Time 4h 24m 15s West of Greenwich. GEO. HUTCHINSON, Director.

SIMPLE RULES IN BUTTER-MAKING,

AS RECOMMENDED BY PROFESSOR SHELDON, OF THE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE, DOWNTON, SALISBURY, ENGLAND, AND DEMONSTRATED BY HIM AT THE WORKING DAIRY IN THE CENTENNIAL SHOW, ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER, 1883.

It appears to me that good butter can be made almost anywhere by almost any person, providing natural facilities are at hand, proper utensils are provided, and ordinary attention is paid to the details of the process. I do not say that the finest butter can thus be produced at ease, for to specially excel seems to be the reward of genius in butter-making as in everything else; but good butter, butter that will win approval wherever it goes, can certainly be produced where now only an inferior article appears, if due care be taken. And I may say, further, that the volume of care required is not by any means difficult to learn or irksome to practice, but that, on the contrary, it is just as simple and easy as the careless ways of unsuccessful people. Butter has to be made somehow, by every one who makes it, and the difference in the "how" makes all the difference in the butter. Bearing in mind that the work has to be done, it is well to remember that everything that is worth doing at all is worth doing well, and specially is this true when to do it well is just as easy as to do it badly, and far more satisfactory.

It is a slight on good milk that bad butter should be made from it; it is an insult, too, to the cow that gives the milk — the cow who has done her part of the contract well; it is anything but complimentary to the public who are invited to eat the butter, as if to say they have no such thing as delicacy of taste; it is, also, anything but creditable to any one to turn out such stuff, and a loss to the producer as well as to the consumer. Many butter-makers wonder how it is that they realize poor prices for the butter they have to sell; yet it is at the same time true that the public never object to pay good prices for a good article.

The best butter-makers in America command 70 to 100 cents a pound all the year round; the worst of them are down in the 'teens, or in the twenties at most; and the difference is the reward of the careful man, or the careful woman, as the case may be.

The first thing to do is to take proper care of the milk. Assuming that it is cleanly taken from the cow into a clean pail, it should be put into clean pans, in a clean room, whose temperature should not vary beyond reasonable limits the year round, say from 50° to 70°. The room should be clean, I say, and it should be outside the influence of impure odors; the last because milk absorbs such odors and reproduces them in the butter. I may mention here that cows should have food which does not communicate an unpleasant taint to the milk they give; should there be any such taint in the milk or odor in the room, a pinch of saltpetre in the milk will go far to checkmate them. But in any case, taint or no taint, odor or no odor, it is of the first importance that milk-rooms should be kept clean, should be lime-washed occasionally to sweeten them, and should be swilled tolerably often to remove dirt and other "matter out of place" from the floors. The utensils should be scalded each time after being used for milk, scalded with boiling water, rinsed with a solution of soda, and afterwards with clean, pure water. The room should be well ventilated, and only with pure air, and the windows should be screened so that no strong ray of light shall fall on the milk — this last because light develops the fermentive organisms which lead to the chemical decomposition of milk. Thus in milk-rooms cleanliness, ventilation, and regulation of light, are matters of importance.

The foregoing paragraph refers to dairies in which the centrifugal cream-separator has not yet found a place, and to the shallow-pan system of milk-setting particularly. To the deep-can system, and specially to the Cooley system, they refer only generally, as I would have them refer to any dairy whatever. I may say here that the best of butter may be made on any of the three systems of cream-raising — the shallow-pan, the deep-can, or Cooley, and the centrifugal separator — providing care and intelligence are employed. Annexed are cuts of the Cooley Creamer (p. 180) and the Centrifugal Separator.

The Separator is, of course, adapted only to large dairies of fifty cows or so, or to creameries; and it requires either steam or water as the motive power. A horse will drive it, and I have seen one drive it, but a horse is not to be depended on for a steady, sustained, and regular supply of power. The chief advantages of the Separator are that the cream can be got from the milk while both are new and sweet, that less of it is left in, and that fewer utensils are required in the dairy. Perfectly fresh butter from perfectly new milk may be thus obtained, if desirable; but the best authorities now consider that we get better butter from cream that has had time to mellow and ripen, rather than from fresh cream, because the latter is more or less insipid. But in any case, cream should be skimmed whilst it is quite sweet, and, no matter how long it is kept before churning, it should not be allowed to go sour. To let cream go sour is to injure the flavor and quality of butter, if not to diminish its quantity. To churn it while it is too young, as one may say, is to produce a pure flavored, but an almost tasteless butter; yet will such butter improve in flavor by keeping, though the flavor is better secured by keeping the cream to ripen — keeping it at a temperature of 50° or 52°, putting in a bit of saltpetre or glacinaline to prevent acidity, and stirring once or twice a day to have it all exposed to the air, and to prevent the formation of a crust on the surface. Glazed earthenware crocks are as good as anything to keep cream between skimming and churning; while pans of the same material, or the seamless ones of enamelled iron answer well for milk-setting.

Of churns there is a great variety, but I have found none better, or easier to keep clean, than the improved barrel churn, of which an illustration is herewith given. There is also another churn, called the "Victoria," an end-over-end churn, which has no blades inside, and, by opening at the end, affords great facility for taking out the butter, as well as for seeing that the interior is perfectly clean. I do not say that those churns are better than any other, but I do say that they are good enough for anybody, and that the finest butter can be made in them.

WAIDE'S BARREL CHURN.

SECTION OF CENTRIFUGAL CREAM SEPARATOR.

Assuming that the cream has remained free from sourness during the time it has been kept for ripening, and that it is not more than a week old, I may say that the principle of acidity, artificially introduced when the cream is put into the churn, will be found to do good in helping the cream to relinquish its butter, and in making the butter firmer in body and brighter in tint. And this is attained by simply adding to the cream about five per cent.

ing to coalesce together, it is a good thing to drain the buttermilk out of the churn through a fine sieve, and to pour in clean, cold water; the churn should then have a few turns, the water be taken out as the buttermilk was, and fresh water put in; this process should be repeated of its volume of sour butter-milk from the previous churning. The cream of different days should be all mixed together an hour or two before churning, so that it may all be old alike, as it were. Fifty-seven to sixty degrees Fahrenheit is the normal temperature which it is best to have the cream when it is being churned, but it may well vary from 55° to 65°, according to the time of the year and the temperature of the room. These points set right, the churning should be done at a regular speed, which is slowest at the start.

When the butter is forming in the churn, and resembles grains of mustard seed, which are just begin-several times, until the water comes clear of buttermilk out of the churn. This system of washing buttermilk out of the butter may be regarded as the simplest and most effectual that can be adopted; and as it is of the utmost importance to the keeping quality of the butter that all the buttermilk should be got out of it, so is it necessary that it should be carefully got rid of. Butter that is ridded of its buttermilk, which to a great extent is composed of caseine — nitrogenous matter which is addicted to early decay — will keep well for some time, providing the other preliminaries I have mentioned have been properly attended to.

BUTTER WORKER.

The butter well washed in the way described requires little or no purification from buttermilk after it is taken from the churn, simply because there is little or no buttermilk left in it. But it requires to be worked in order to compress and consolidate it, to compact it into a solid and coherent body, and to mix with it the proportion of salt which is thought to be desirable. If, however, the butter has not been well washed, or has been only partially washed, inside the churn, it must be washed outside of that machine; and for this purpose, as well as for compacting the butter, and for mixing the salt with it, it is always desirable to use a butter-worker, and not to touch the butter with the hand. The butter-worker, properly used, does its work much better than the hand; it does not soften the butter as the hand does, and it does less injury to its grain and texture — matters which are of no little importance to the appearance of the butter. During the process of working the butter, pressure, not friction, should be employed, for friction injures the grain of the butter. The quantity of salt to use will be governed by taste, and by the length of time the butter has to be kept, but it will vary from one to five per cent. of the weight of the butter.

The points, then, to be attended to in butter-making are these: cleanliness, temperature, and regularity in the performance of details, especially with regard to washing the butter in the churn.

Make your own provisions, fruit, etc.; they are better than you can buy.

• Ensilage.

The value of Ensilage as a desirable food for cattle has been clearly established, and large numbers of silos have been filled during the past season.

The writer, on the 4th of September, last, visited the farm of Theodore A. Havermeyer, situate about thirty miles from New York, and there found silos capable of containing eighteen hundred tons of corn fodder. They were then being filled at the rate of ninety-three tons per day; the corn fodder was hauled to the barn, cut to the length of one half inch by an Ensilage Cutter driven by steam, which carried the material when cut to the top of silos, where men were stationed to rake it in; after the silos were filled, planks were put over the fodder, and barrels containing about three hundred pounds of gravel rolled on top, nothing further is required until the ensilage is to be used, when the barrels will be rolled off and the fodder taken out as required. During my visit ensilage that had been put in in September, 1882, was taken from a silo and fed to the Jerseys; it was eaten with great relish.

In the fall of 1882 Thomas J. Hand, Esq., of Sing Sing, New York, made an experiment with ensilage, which proved during that season entirely satisfactory, and he has adopted the same plan this year. His method is to put the corn in the silos just as it comes from the field, and should he prove that the fodder corn can be preserved without being cut in small pieces—as is the universal custom—a great saving will be effected not only in the cost of machinery for cutting the fodder, which is quite expensive, but also in cost of filling the silos, and in the time used in cutting the fodder.

It is claimed that an acre of land under good cultivation will produce twenty-five tons of fodder corn.

Jersey Cattle.

We clip the following from an Essay on Jersey Cattle, written by Richard Goodman, Jr., who acted as Judge of the Jerseys at the Dominion and Centennial Exhibition recently held at St. John, N. B.

"We claim then that the Jersey is the most profitable butter producer. She makes more butter than any other cow; this butter is of a better quality than that produced by any other cow; she is as long-lived as the cow of any other breed, and she comes into profit earlier; she is as economical to feed, as easy to "handle," and more easy to make butter from, giving more butter in her milk in proportion to the other elements, making, in particular, a great saving in the amount of water to be milked from the bag, to be carried to the milk-rooms and to be provided with pan surface—this is no unimportant characteristic, from a practical point of view; no small amount of time, labor and material is thus saved in the course of a year.

"The Jersey not only gives richer milk, but in her milk the "globule" is larger than in the milk of other breeds; in consequence of this larger globule the cream rises quicker, and hence is exposed a shorter time to injury from fermentation, from odors, and from dust and insects.

"The larger globule, with its thinner envelope, churns more quickly and more satisfactorily, and is better adapted to all varieties of churns.

"It may also be said that cream cheese from the milk of this breed are highly esteemed; and Jersey veal brings a high price in the market.

"To sum up:

"First.—The Jerseys are a thoroughbred and well established race. As far as there is anything of value in systematic breeding with a particular end distinctly in view, purity of blood and a long line of worthy ancestors, and favorable conditions with respect to food and climate, the Jerseys compare favorably with any and all other breeds.

"Second.—They possess as fully as any breed the power of transmitting their desirable qualities to their offspring. They are thoroughly responsive to in-and-in breeding when intelligently carried on for the purpose of intensifying and perpetuating their peculiar powers as butter-producers. The leading Jersey cows in America to-day show in their pedigree much close breeding among their ancestors, and they are better than any of their ancestors.

"Third.—Having smaller bodies than any of the other leading breeds, they require less food to build up and develop these bodies while they are growing, and they require less food for the repairs of their bodies when they have reached their full size.

"Fourth.—They come into profit at least a year earlier than other breeds, and thus make a saving to their owners of a year's food, handling and housing. This is no small item considering the labor, the expense and the risk attending the younger years of valuable stock.

"Fifth.—They have shown a power unequalled by any other breed of adapting themselves to the various climates and to the varieties of foods of all parts of the United States.

"Sixth.—No cattle in this country are more quiet, gentle, hardy, prolific, or long-lived.

"Seventh.—They are the most persistent milkers of any breed. They seldom go dry for more than six weeks; many instances are on record of cows giving half a dozen calves in as many years without ever ceasing to give a good yield of milk.

"Eighth.—They make more butter from a given amount of feed than the cows of any other breed. Two pounds and a quarter of butter a day is not an uncommon yield for a cow in the Winter receiving a dozen pounds of dry hay and two pounds of corn-meal mixed with two pounds of wheat shorts.

"Ninth.—They will make more butter in twelve running months than will the cows of any other breed. Several cows in this country made in 1880 over seven hundred pounds of butter, two of them nearly eight hundred pounds, and none of these cows are believed to have yet reached the full limit of their powers. Records for herds of 300, 350 and 400 lbs. are to be found in many States.

"Tenth.—Their butter has a higher color in Winter, as well as in Summer, than that of any other breed except the Guernsey.

"Eleventh.—The milk, the cream, and the butter of the Jersey has a richer taste, and a more lively and agreeable flavor at all times of the year than that of any other breed.

"Twelfth.—The butter of this breed, in texture and grain, has no equal. Its firmness, its freedom from salvy character in the heats of Summer, is particularly noticeable.

"Thirteenth.—There is no breed which has been crossed upon the common stock of the United States with more immediate or more satisfactory results. It is an important fact in cross-breeding that the most favorable results are obtained where the bull belongs to a race whose bodies are smaller than are those of the race to which the cow is allied, and the same is true where the male represents a race older and better established than that to which the female belongs; both of these favorable conditions exist in the case of the Jerseys and our common stock.

"Fourteenth.—The Jersey breed is surpassed by no other in respect to the opportunities it offers for the efforts of the practical or experimental breeder."
