FURIOUS AND DESTRUCTIVE STORMS SWEEP THE PROVINCE

From Every Part of Ontario Come Stories of Farm Structures Destroyed, Crops Seriously Damaged, Stock Killed and Other Havoc of Wind and Lightning.

A series of electrical storms swept across Ontario from east to west, starting early yesterday morning and continuing until late last night. It was one of those storms that struck Toronto late yesterday afternoon, typing up the car lines and the Toronto electric light service, and doing great damage to standing crops and cut grain in the fields in adjacent counties.

From nearly every point in old Ontario come stories that recorded the havoc wrought by one of the fiercest electrical disturbances known in the province and one that for destructive power surpassed those remembered by oldest residents. With the rain and lightning, in many parts, was a high wind, almost a hurricane, and this added to the desolation. Many farmers have been set back years.

POWER LINES DAMAGED.

BELLEVEILLE, Aug. 26.—(Special).—This section of the community was on Sunday visited by a severe electrical storm, causing considerable damage to the lines of the Toronto Electric and Water Power Company in Thurlow Township. A horse owned by George Bodley was being driven along the road when it was struck by lightning and killed.

SERIOUS FARM LOSSES

BRANTFORD, Aug. 26.—(Special).—Three electrical storms from different directions converged into one here late Sunday night and put this district in a blaze of electric light for over an hour. Several fires were reported throughout the country, while no great damage resulted in the city, although the fire department responded to two fires during the storm. The box factory of James Elliott at Scotland was totally destroyed and several residences were threatened in the village. The T. H. and S. Railway sent a number of men to assist, but a change in wind and the heavy downpour of rain saved the situation for the rest of the village. Five large barns belonging to George L. Teller, a well known sheep expert, and Robert Peart, near Paris, were totally destroyed with entire seasons' crops.

RECORD STORM AT RIDGETOWN

RIDGETOWN, Aug. 26.—(Special).—Ridgetown was the centre of the worst electrical storm in years last night. The sky was ablaze with lightning flashes from ten o'clock until three a.m. William Thorold's two large barns, just west of the town, were struck and burned with all the contents. The loss is hardly covered by insurance. Trinity Schoolhouse on Talbot street was struck and damaged, also the schoolhouse at McKay's corner. Mr. Pickering's barn, near Blenheim, and William Knight's, in Howard, were struck and burned, besides several in Harwich. The oldest settler has never experienced storms like those of the past two weeks in this district.

ZORRA BUILDINGS GONE.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—During the severe electrical storm which passed over Zorra early this morning, lightning struck the barn of John Todd's farm and the structure was totally destroyed by fire, together with the season's crop and some of the live stock. Some of the pigs and sheep were saved. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

SARNIA SHOP DESTROYED.

SARNIA, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—One of the most severe electrical storms of the season passed over this section last night about 12 o'clock. The large cooper shops owned by Mr. Pickering, near Huron Salt Co. were struck by lightning about 2 a.m. and by 5 o'clock the entire plant was destroyed. A large barn near Courtwright was also destroyed by fire during the big electrical storm, which passed over this section last evening.

BARN LOST NEAR PARIS.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—Paris was visited last night by one of the worst thunder and lightning storms in its history. The lightning was very vivid, and the rain came down in torrents, lasting from about 11 o'clock until after three. No damage is reported in town, although the country around suffered. Mr. Joseph Peart, who lives in Brantford Township, a few miles from Paris, lost his barn.

KICKS WIRE OUT OF WAY AND DROPS DEAD ON SPOT

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 26.—(Special).—Lightly putting out his foot to kick from the path a wire that might trip up passers-by, Edward Day fell dead on the sidewalk. The wire carried 250 volts. It had dropped at his feet as he was hurrying home in the furious electrical storm that swept this city this evening.

Mr. Day was 52 years of age and was most favorably known here. He was president of the St. Catharines Trades and Labor Council and local correspondent of The Labor Gazette. Some few years ago he served as an alderman.

FREDERICK WYLD DIED YESTERDAY

One of the Most Prominent Members of Local Financial Circles Had Hundreds of Friends.

Local financial circles lost one of their prominent members yesterday in the person of Mr. Frederick Wyld, who, up to the time of his death, was vice-president of the Confederation Life Association.

The late Mr. Wyld was born in Scotland in 1832 and came to Canada in his twenty-first year. He first settled at Rowan Mills, Ont., where he was engaged in the woolen mills, afterwards moving to Hamilton, where he was for many years in business and where he formed a partnership with H. W. Darling, who is now treasurer of the General Electric Company at its headquarters in New York State.

The firm moved to Toronto forty years ago, and located on Front street, and it was at this juncture that the firm of Wyld, Brook and Darling came into being, and dissolved about 15 years afterwards. Mr. Brook going into business for himself, and the firm of Wyld, Grasett and Darling was formed by the former, from which firm he retired after the fire in 1904.

Mr. Wyld married Miss M. L. Barrett of Port Rowan, just 55 years ago, who, with her only child, Mrs. W. C. MacDonald, wife of Colonel MacDonald, survives.

Several important financial institutions will lose the advice of a conferee who was an expert in money matters, and among the many offices held by him were the vice-presidency of the Standard Bank and Confederation Life Association. He was also on the board of directors of the Fire Insurance Exchange, Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, and the Toronto General Trust Company.

He was also a member of the York, Toronto, Royal Yacht and Toronto Golf Clubs.

The interment will take place from his late residence, 127 George street, at 3.30 p.m. Wednesday.

THREE DROWNED AT MUD LAKE

Three Farmers Go Down to Death Thru Upsetting of Canoe by Sudden Breeze.—Bodies Recovered.

ENGLEHART, Aug. 26.—A triple drowning occurred at Mud Lake, near Charlton, when three farmers, Grossman, Phillips and Levy, were capsized from a canoe. The bodies were recovered. The men were fishing and a heavy breeze struck the bow of the canoe, overturning it.

ARCHBISHOP McNEIL TO BE CREATED CARDINAL?

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—There is a report, apparently well founded, in ecclesiastical circles here, that Major Joseph Medard Emaud, Bishop of Valleyfield, will be called to Rome and at the consistory of February, created a Cardinal de Curia, and then, as the Bishop of Montreal, Archbishop Neil McNeil of Toronto, will be created a cardinal in the country.

STRIKERS WANT A NEW CHARTER

Freight Handlers Now on Strike Will Appeal to Longshoremen's Union for Organization.

At a meeting held at the Labor Temple yesterday, the Toronto steamship packet freight handlers, now on strike, decided to make application to the International Longshoremen's Union for a charter. The international headquarters of this union are in Buffalo, and it is expected an answer to the application will be received today. There is some doubt as to whether the application for a charter will be granted. The Toronto local of the Longshoremen's Union, it is understood, are opposed to the charter being granted. They take the ground that the striking dock freight handlers should have made application and received a charter before going on strike. Instead of that they do not do this until they are practically defeated and then they want the backing of the union to help them out of a hole. This, an officer of the Toronto local informed The World last night, he did not think the international headquarters would stand for.

TIDY IN THEIR EASY ESCAPE

Three Men Locked Up in Ancient Amherstburg Keep Picked Bricks From Wall and Piled Them Neatly

WINDSOR, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—The three men arrested at Amherstburg early on Saturday morning for looting two drill scoops, which were tied up there, made their escape from the town jail between midnight and 5 a.m. today.

The building in which the lock-up is situated is moss grown and ancient, and there is no one on duty there after p.m. The robbers, who are all from the America side of the river, had no difficulty in ganking their freedom. They simply removed the bricks one by one, piled them neatly to one side, and when a hole of sufficient size had been made in the wall, walked out.

The men were to have been tried before Police Magistrate McGee this morning.

LIKES TORONTO

President of Typographical Union Pleased With Traffic System Here.

Among those who registered at the Prince George last week was Mr. Walter W. Barrett, president of the Printers' Typographical Union, Chicago. He was en route from the recent convention held in Cleveland, O., to make a visit to Canada. When asked his impression of Toronto he stated that in the interests of the union he traveled extensively thru the States and had an intimate acquaintance with all their large cities and from the standpoint of beauty, cleanliness and good order, in his opinion Toronto was second to none. He expressed himself as very much pleased with Toronto's system of street traffic, especially that regulating the passage of motor cars versus street cars, at the crossings, and said he would like to see the system adopted in some of the larger cities of America, where the congested traffic is such a menace to life.

CARS STOPPED FOR EIGHTH TIME

Interruptions Happened Three Times Yesterday, and Third One Was Most Serious — T.E.L. Service Improved But Not Perfect—Fire at Scarborough Beach Park.

For the eighth time in almost as many weeks, Toronto's chief transportation system was put out of the running, which occurrences created the usual chaotic conditions. The interruptions happened three times yesterday; the first stoppage commenced at ten minutes past twelve and lasted for six minutes; the street cars came to a standstill at 12.30 and were restarted at 12.36.

The new chief engineer of the Toronto Street Railway Company, R. C. Brown, when asked as to the cause, stated that it was due to some little trouble locally, as he had had no report of trouble on the main line from Niagara.

The third stoppage occurred between five and six o'clock, just as the office workers, artisans and laborers were leaving for home, and many were forced to either take supper down town or walk home.

A Good Effect. The Toronto Electric Light Company's experiences of the past few weeks had a decided beneficial effect upon that company's adaptability to an emergency. Although things are not by any means perfect, the recent reorganizations of staff and equipment have been productive of somewhat better results.

Six or seven intermittent stoppages occurred during the day, and although they caused considerable inconvenience among the denizens of factorium, the complaints were not of the order naturally expected under the circumstances of the past.

The cut-off which occurred at noon, was the sequence of a short circuit at Ward Seven. The aggregate duration of the current cut-out was 42 minutes.

Some Damage. The storm wrecked havoc in more than one place. At 206 De Grassi street the roof was blown off. At Scarborough Beach Park the wire connecting the power house there was blown out. The place ignited and in a moment or so a nice blaze was in evidence. However, the fire department was on the spot before the blaze had become serious and soon had the fire under control. The damage, at the last mentioned place, will aggregate at least $500. The amount is entirely covered by insurance.

ALL ENGLAND IS INUNDATED

Some Counties Are But Vast Swamps—Military Manoeuvres May Be Called Off—No Cessation to Rain.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—The flood situation in England is becoming increasingly serious. Six inches of rain fell to-day.

The City of Norwich on the Wensum, 53 miles southeast of London, is almost isolated. The whole train service between London and Norwich and Cromer has been suspended, and many local services are affected. The entire County of Norfolk is a swamp and Lincolnshire, Suffolk and the other eastern counties are in an alarming condition. Everywhere crops are being destroyed by the swollen rivers, and there is no sign of a cessation of the rains.

The condition of the military camps at Aldershot, Salisbury, Plain and Swinham is so serious that many regiments had to be moved. There is a probability of all the summer manoeuvres being abandoned.

DARROW'S TRIAL JUDGELESS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press).—All of the twelve superior court judges of Los Angeles County have refused to preside at the second trial of Clarence E. Darrow, the Chicago lawyer, charged with jury bribing in his handling of the McNamee murder trial.

DECLARE $20,000 DROWNING "FAKE"

Oppose Paying Claims for the Death of Howard B. Spence — Upset From Launch Close to Vancouver Harbor Shore — Was Former Swimming Instructor.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—Four months ago Howard B. Spence, a well-known business man, was supposed to have been drowned from a launch in Vancouver harbor. He was saved by his wife and several friends to have fallen overboard. It developed to-day, however, that two insurance companies are fighting against payment of policies of twenty thousand dollars, which Spence took out on his life two weeks before he disappeared.

In affidavits presented in court, counsel for the insurance companies declared that Spence's body was never found, that the accident occurred forty feet from shore, and that he was such a good swimmer that he had at one time held a position as instructor. The case is causing unusual attention, for Spence was well known and to outward appearances quite wealthy.

GENERAL BOOTH SENDS MESSAGE

Acknowledgment of Expressions of Sympathy by Canadians on Late General's Death Received Here.

General Bramwell Booth, the new leader of the Salvation Army, yesterday cabled his acknowledgments of expressions of sympathy sent him by Canadians.

The message was addressed to Commissioner Rees, executive head of the Canadian forces, and read as follows: "My Dear Commissioner,—The greeting you have sent me on behalf of yourself and the staff and field officers and soldiers of the Dominion and Newfoundland, strengthens my heart in the presence of the mighty task which in the providence of God and by the appointment of our beloved general is now devolved upon me. My confidence is in God, and I know I may rely also upon you. My dear father loved Canada, and had high hopes for the progress of God amongst you. To-day it is my joy to believe that you will respond to His highest ambitions for you in spreading the honor of Christ and the power of His salvation thruout the world. The army is marching on and the future shall be Christ's. Let us fight for Him and never flinch. Pray for me and Mrs. Booth."

"Bramwell Booth."

GALT SECURES BIG MACHINERY INDUSTRY

GALT, Aug. 26.—(Special).—Galt secured another large industry in Haro Engineering Co., capital $400,000, to manufacture power equipment and pulp machinery. Haro Engineering Co. months ago secured five acres in River-view Park for a group of massive buildings. Following this, representative went to England to have stock to the amount of $400,000 underwritten, and a cablegram today says he has been successful.

Local shareholders are W. D. Sheldon, J. Ferg, McGregor, and Allan Hills.

Airship Protection On New British Ships

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(Can. Press).—The new battleships provided for by the current year's estimates, The Times says, will be longer than the Iron Duke class now building. They will be armed with 14-inch guns, and will be provided with a curved armored upper deck and funnel protection to resist attacks from air craft.

More People Attended the Exhibition Yesterday Than on Any Opening Day Since Its Inauguration—Duke of Connaught Officiated at Opening Ceremonies—Rain Had No Effect.

Even the rain did not in the least mar the opening of Canada's greatest exhibition. Under lowering clouds crowds waited for admission at the gates at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and before the commencement of the performances last night the largest throng for the first day in the history of the fair was scattered about the grounds, in the grand stand, sauntering thru the many buildings and down the midway. Everything augurs well for the management achieving its greatest ambition—the attendance of a million people during the twelve days of the Exhibition. It was impossible to even obtain an estimate of the number that passed thru the turnstiles. But Dr. Orr is the authority for the statement that there were thousands more than on any other opening day since the inauguration of the Canadian National.

The opening was featured by the presence of three members of the royal family. The Duke of Connaught officially started the machinery, and with one new spacious building erected by the Canadian Government, with many more attractive exhibits, with 250 cadets from all parts of the world under canvas and numerous other attractions, this year's Exhibition is bound to eclipse all past records and prove still more worthy of the name of being the greatest annual affair of its kind in the world.

Harassed by loud thunder and forks of lightning there was a heavy downpour of rain at 5 o'clock which lasted nearly an hour. This deluge threatened to cause a necessary postponement of the grand stand performance, but the sky cleared off shortly after and the show took place sharp on the scheduled hour.

All Exhibits Ready. Unlike other years, nearly all the exhibits were in readiness for the public gaze. The dairy building and machinery hall were practically the only places where all the exhibits were not set up in working order, but towards the end of the day things were put in ship-shape.

Two noticeable features of the fair are the presence of the musical aggregations from the old country—the Scots Guards and the Besses of the Barn bands. Both performed yesterday before thousands and proved beyond doubt their worthiness to their great reputations. During the Exhibition the bands will play every morning and afternoon, and besides these there are several provincial bands engaged by the Exhibition to keep the crowds in good cheer.

The advantage of paved roads was clearly shown when the rain fell. Instead of quagmires, as in the "olden days," there were hardly any puddles.

All in Good Order. All the exhibitors were setting their houses in order, putting on the last touches of attraction and decoration, save those, and they were many, who had taken time by this forelock and were all ready to utilize every moment of the big fair to set their wares before the great public, so large a block of which was present even on this opening. The wisdom of this course is being rapidly borne in upon exhibitors and despite the numerous changes and improvements, on no previous opening have there been so few whose exhibits were not fully set in shape when the big fair opened.

The First Joke.

Nothing the lack of signs upon the various tanks and cages in which fish, reptiles and birds are shown in the government building, some way, seeking to give a hint that here was a real lack, pulled off a good joke on said government. He took a sign from the Visitors to the Fair.

The Toronto stores offer many attractions not possible in the big Exhibition. Notably among these are Canadian furs. A Canadian exhibit of furs would take a building in itself for the Dominion is the largest producer of fine furs in the world to-day. Mink, Fox, Sable, Fisher, Marten and Ermine are the principal lines in demand, and they command very steep prices in Paris and London. The Dominion Co., at 140 Yonge street, have prepared for Exhibition visitors an exceptionally complete showing of all new garments in native and foreign products. The display includes the latest Paris designs in coats, capelines, stoles, capes, muffs, ties and novelties. Remember, 140 Yonge street. Get a new folder and price list.

NO CANAL TEST CASE FOR YEARS

Washington Believes Ditch Must Be Open Before Judicial Determination of Foreign Rights Could Be Given.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Altho Mr. Hines, the British charge and counselor of the embassy, who was recalled from his vacation on the Maine coast to carry out certain directions of his government regarding the Panama Canal legislation, remains in Washington, he has made no sign of a purpose to present any fresh representations to the state department on this subject.

The original British protest having been ineffective in preventing the enactment of the objectionable legislation, and there being now a year and a half to elapse before the question of the actual payment of tolls in the canal can become a practical one, there does not seem to be special reason for urgency in negotiations.

Altho President Taft was not himself convinced of the soundness of the assertion that foreign ship owners already have at hand the means of testing legally their right to use the Panama Canal on even terms with American shipping, it is believed that he is perfectly willing to allow this issue to be made up and tried out. The possibility of the adoption of this method of securing a judicial determination of the British right may prevent the negotiations between the two governments from being carried to the point of an ultimatum, for several years at least. The test case could not be made up until the canal is in operation. Then when a British vessel protests against the imposition of tolls, her owners, if represented by any agency in this country, might apply to a United States circuit court for a determination of their rights and from what court an appeal might be taken by either party to the United States Supreme Court.

INCREASE IN SOO CANAL TRAFFIC

Tonnage Thru Canadian Waterways is Three Millions Greater This Year—Popularity of Soo Responsible

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—(Special).—The Canadian canal statistics just issued from the department of railways and canals for the period from the opening of navigation to July 31 show an increase in the volume of traffic over the corresponding period last year of 2,927,077 tons.

The greatest increase is thru the Soo Canal. The increased volume of traffic thru this waterway is almost equal to the total increase thru all the canals, the gain being 2,793,682 tons.

A decrease, however, is shown in the volume for the Chambly, Rideau, St. Peters, Murray and Trent Canals. Tho the proportion of American and Canadian tonnage is not given, it is understood that the American traffic still exceeds the Canadian by 60 per cent.

Royalty Performs Opening Ceremony

HUGE CROWD THRILLED BY GRAND STAND SHOW

Opening Performance Last Night Eclipsed the Greatest Ever Seen at the Exhibition—Cadets' Military Tattoo, the Siege of Delhi, and Various Other M.itorious Acts Made Up the Bill.

Surpassing anything ever attempted before the grand stand bill-of-fare at the Exhibition is indeed praiseworthy. Every act, and there are many, is above the usual standard. From the frolicsome clown to the great representation of the Siege of Delhi is one continuous round of delightful comedy, interesting gymnastics and thrilling episodes. A darkened sky undoubtedly handicapped the attendance at the opening performance last night, but the grand stand was more than half filled and the award fronting the structure was lined with spectators. The big show began at 8 o'clock and concluded with a gorgeous display of fireworks, which for brilliance even outdistanced those of former years.

Plenty of interest was evinced by the military tattoo by 800 cadets of the Scots Guards Band and the cadets from the mother country and the colonies. This was the feature of the performance. To the strains of the "God Save the King" the cadets marched before the grand stand in the roomy enclosure. First came the Toronto cadets, then the Western Canadians, the Quebec boys and finally the English, Irish, Scotch, Australians, Newfoundlanders and New Zealanders. No doubt there was considerable rivalry among the youthful soldiers in the matter of marching. The New Zealanders seemed to be the best at this, at least the most spectacular, even over the Scotchmen, and the Montreal Highlanders, who wore the showy kilts. The New Zealanders, wearing khaki, kept better alignment and marched with a quicker and snappier stride than the others and consequently got the most applause. However, there was only a shade of difference, for all the cadets marched almost to perfection to their respective regiments.

Wonderful Acrobats. The sensation in the great three-stage vaudeville and hypodrome performance was Sir Hassan, the Egyptian, whirlwind tumbling. Aras, this troupe of whirlwind tumblers opened their act with a marvelous pyramid work, in which one man holds up another at one time, while at another two base men support the fourteen other members of the troupe. They close their act with a series of individual and group tumbling, the line of which has never been seen in Toronto.

One up with these wonderful tumblers in the favor of the crowd was the admirable drilling of the Withington Zouaves. There are 18 of these, who, in the picturesque uniforms of the famous regiment, drilled in the way of fancy drill and wall scaling under the command of Captain Sparks. They are all athletes trained to the minutest detail of physical condition and nicety of drill.

Powerful elephants, of which two are of the Indian breed, also provided a deal of interest, and amusement and were widely applauded.

The boxing kangaroo was an act which also found favor with the crowd, and the four-legged pugilist never failed to send his sparring partner to the ropes with a double-hind foot drive to the wind.

Other acts there were in plenty, so much so that one would have to see this big three-stage show at least twice to get anything like an adequate appreciation of the merit and variety of the acts offered.

Fireworks and Spectacle. Despite the downpour of rain which in the late afternoon threatened to put a stop to the evening performance before the grand stand, this important feature of the big fair came off without a hitch. The great spectacle, "The Siege of Delhi," was reproduced in a wonder of minute detail and effective varying panoramic pictures. Hundreds of performers, perfectly drilled in their various parts, portrayed the great historic event, filling every moment with the thrilling interest of the siege. The story of the siege was carried thru all its stirring incidents working up to the great battle scene at the close of the spectacle, when after the walls had been scaled in the face of the last fire of the defenders that pictured city was given over to the ravages of the flames. The story was told in a surprising reality and is, as is indeed the whole pictured story, one of the most brilliant and moving military spectacles ever produced at the Exhibition. Appreciative comment was everywhere heard during and after the action of the piece.

This spectacle is once more produced by the Hand Firework Co., who have supplemented this production with an elaborate display of fireworks. The new and beautiful fireworks were the feature of this part of the performance. Some of these burst in a surprising number of showers of varicolored lights, while others descended in great fluttering masses closely resembling butterflies.

The series of large and more elaborate than in previous years. They line out before the grand stand in dazzling array of ever changing color and light. The explosion of the fireworks, one hundred feet long and all in fireworks, is a show in itself, portraying the disturbance of the world's peace and active volcano in vivid and active color. To enumerate all the striking and beautiful features of this wonderful series of fireworks would be a difficult task. No one should miss any of the grand stand performance, who pays a visit to the fair, and there should be a vivid and does not see the greatest exhibition of the fair. No one should leave before the great display has been fired, for to deprive oneself of a great enjoyment.

DYNAMITE CLEARING TRACK

REVELSTOCK, B.C., Aug. 26.—(Can. Press.)—Work progress is being made in clearing the slide and washout two miles east of Rogers' Pass and traffic has been resumed. Six passenger trains are stalled between Bear Creek and Golden, westbound, and seven eastbound at Rogers' Pass. This was the first serious slide in August, being caused by a cloudburst Friday night, and three hundred men with steam shovels and dynamite have been working day and night to clear the road.

ST. LATE TRADE THE EXHIBITION AND SET HIGH STANDARD

Duke of Connaught, in Reply to Address, Referred to the Great Educational Value of Exhibits, and Especially Congratulated the Cadet Corps Now in Camp.

Replying to the address read by the president, his royal highness said: "Mr. Kent and Gentlemen, please accept my very best thanks for your address of welcome; not only for its expressions of deep imperial feeling, but also for its most friendly references to myself as well as to the duchess and to my daughter."

"It is now nearly a year ago since I made my first official visit to Toronto. I came among you then as a stranger, but the impression of strange-ness quickly disappeared in the cordiality and warmth of your reception."

"Now in coming to Toronto I feel that I am coming to friends; for in the course of my visits here I have learnt enough about your city, and your citizens to be able to identify myself with your aspirations, your difficulties and your successes."

"His Majesty interested in the representative of His Majesty the King, but here, on the occasion of the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition, I feel that I represent His Majesty even more closely, for he has evidenced his interest in the Exhibition and in the imperial nature of your endeavors, by presenting a challenge cup for competition among the imperial cadets who, by the broad-minded generosity of the organizers of the Exhibition, have been assembled here this week."

"I hope that this competition may stimulate the lads of the Dominion to join the cadet corps, and that parents may try to encourage their sons to do so. I know that Toronto itself needs no such stimulus; that was shown me by the review of cadets which I had such pleasure in attending in May last."

"But I hope that other cities and towns may try to emulate the success which you have achieved in inspiring your lads with enthusiasm for the cadet corps."

"I have dwelt at some length on the cadet question, for your directors introduced into the program this new feature, which merited special attention."

Value of Exhibition. "For the rest I can only reiterate what I have said on a similar occasion, namely, that the educational side of such exhibitions as this is of the greatest value to the public, for they can see and examine the best that can be produced in the various lines of exhibits, and the material profits may be small, and exhibitions may sometimes be conducted under financial difficulties; yet the indirect profits to the nation are great, for exhibitions tend to bring the world to a high standard for those who visit them with intelligence."

"This is especially true in a new country, where permanent exhibitions are less general and more widely separated than in the old countries, where there has been time to establish such exhibitions and where cities lie close together."

"I now have much pleasure in concluding my remarks by declaring that the Canadian National Exhibition of 1912 opens."

Machinery Hall

THE CHAPMAN DOUBLE BALL BEARING COMPANY, LIMITED.

This enterprising young company has a most interesting exhibit in the centre row of the machinery hall. Some of the outstanding features are two testing machines, one measuring or weighing the amount of power used on the Double Ball Bearings as against the ordinary journal boxes.

These tests are so clear that no doubt can be left in the mind of the power user as to the loss or gain in his plant; then it is up to him as to whether he shall use the same economy in this matter as he does in his other raw material entering into his product, or still keep wasting it by friction. The same can be said of lubrication and attention.

There is also a smaller testing machine for the purpose of testing bearings for all kinds of clothing and underwear. In this line cleanliness must be an object.

All engineers and power users are cordially invited to satisfy themselves as to these most interesting tests.

BERLIN HAS REALTY BOOM
BERLIN, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—A real estate boom is on here at present, which fairly surpasses that of a western city. Ever since the passing of the rubber tire factory bylaw, and its location in the west ward, real estate has gone up with leaps and bounds.

THE EXHIBITION AN EMPIRE BUILDER

President John G. Kent, in an Address Presented to the Duke, Called Attention to the Fact That the Exhibition Helps in Binding Bonds of Friendship and Commerce.

Mr. Kent had the following address to make: To Field Marshal His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and Strathearn, K.G., K.T., K.P., G.M.B., G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.C.I.E., G.C.V., O., P.C., Governor-General of Canada.

"Your Royal Highness, it is fitting that we should welcome to this imperial year of the Canadian National Exhibition, a member of the illustrious house under whose wise and beneficent rule the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland has developed into the family of nations that make up the greatest empire the world has ever known."

Loyalty to Crown. "We need not assure you of our loyalty to the crown you represent or the empire to which we are all so proud to belong. For while our Exhibition is primarily intended to demonstrate the wealth of Canada's resources and the progress she is making along national lines, that demonstration has always been impregnated with the feeling that loyalty is the keynote of success in all things Canadian. And to that feeling we believe that a large part of the success of the Canadian National Exhibition is undoubtedly due."

An Empire Builder. "Nor need we call your attention to the small part we are playing towards binding the empire more closely in the bonds of friendship and commerce. Of you will see here today in addition to Canadian manufactures and products, exhibits from the United States, the British Empire, and from others of the overseas dominions; music and art loaned by the old land to help the culture of the new, and cadets from the various nations of the empire who will carry to their homes beyond the seas a knowledge of the other component parts of the vast empire to which they belong, that must ensure far-reaching results in helping on its unification."

"What We Think of You." "But your royal highness will perhaps permit a word of personal welcome to yourself, to her royal highness the duchess, and to the Princess Patricia. Since you have come among us our ideals of royalty have been realized. We have found you kind, sympathetic and possessing all those qualities which go to make up the true nobility. We feel that your sojourn among us is bearing fruit in the strengthening of the tie that binds this great commonwealth to the crown, and also by making Canadians realize more fully than ever before that they are an integral part of a mighty and worldwide empire that is one and indivisible."

"I have dwelt at some length on the cadet question, for your directors introduced into the program this new feature, which merited special attention."

Value of Exhibition. "For the rest I can only reiterate what I have said on a similar occasion, namely, that the educational side of such exhibitions as this is of the greatest value to the public, for they can see and examine the best that can be produced in the various lines of exhibits, and the material profits may be small, and exhibitions may sometimes be conducted under financial difficulties; yet the indirect profits to the nation are great, for exhibitions tend to bring the world to a high standard for those who visit them with intelligence."

"This is especially true in a new country, where permanent exhibitions are less general and more widely separated than in the old countries, where there has been time to establish such exhibitions and where cities lie close together."

"I now have much pleasure in concluding my remarks by declaring that the Canadian National Exhibition of 1912 opens."

UNIQUE OPENING WITNESSED BY SOCIETY

A Thousand of Toronto's Representative Citizens Sat in the Dairy Building While the Duke of Connaught Pressed the Button, and Cheered the Duchess and Princess.

Unique in the presence of three members of the royal family, the opening ceremony will become historic. A thousand of Toronto's representative citizens participated in the auspicious proceedings. The amphitheatre of the dairy building was quite inadequate for the number desiring admittance. It was up with sunshine and radiant with orange and green bunting, the significant colors being harmonized by a profusion of white, the color scheme proved effective and appropriate, while the scarlet and gold of the Scots Guards band contributed a rich, gorgeous, picturesque effect. Awaiting the arrival of the royal party from the luncheon, the assemblage listened with delight to a series of selections by the Guards. Nothing classical was attempted, but the band gave a taste of their quality with beautifully rendered popular airs.

The arrival of Sir John Gibson and party, Mayor Geary and members of the city council and board of education, and local members of the legislature, who sat at the right and left of the dais, was speedily followed by that of President Kent escorting the Duke and Duchess and Princess.

After the usual national anthem was by the band, the royal visitors and public sat down for a moment, to rise to their feet again almost immediately for the opening prayer by Rev. Dr. Briggs. The prayer was fervid and eloquent and besought material and moral national progress.

Cheered the Princess. "And the princess," through the opening ceremony H. R. H. Princess Patricia appeared to be very much interested. But the just incident of the function afforded the princess an opportunity, just for once, to centralize, recognize and respond to public attention. In the excitement of the moment the enthusiastic gentleman who called for the usual three cheers uttered the word "the duke and duchess." This done, stood while the cheering resounded, and accepted the loyal ovation with an entrancing sweeping bow. The address of welcome was read in clear, firm tones by President Kent, while the Duke of Connaught manifested in the earnestness of tone in which he replied that the formal expressions were true and sincere. This seemed to be especially the case in the tributes paid by him to Toronto.

VISIT AND PROFIT
Great Exhibition. Attraction, Kinemacolor Motion Pictures Free.

Actual profit is to be gained by attending the lectures here in the National Cash Register Company's Motion Picture Hall. It is situated just south of the arts building on the Exhibition grounds. Several times a day the lecturer, Mr. H. C. Ernst, gives a talk illustrated by Kinemacolor Motion Pictures telling all about the wonderful organization and plant of this company.

The lecture is both interesting and instructive. It deals in part with landscape gardening, showing how to cultivate the smallest backyard as well as how to cultivate great acreage. The countryside with beautiful flowers developing in their natural colors is pictured right before your eyes.

The famous Boys' Gardens of Dayton are shown, and the work of the company in teaching the future generation this profitable industry is thoroughly explained.

Interior views of different sections of the National Cash Register Company's factory are depicted. You see thousands of employees at work, their rest-rooms, bath rooms, travelling libraries, and many other features for which the company has become world-famous.

Not the least pleasing feature of the lecture is that after you have been entertained, you are invited to be the company's guest and enjoy a refreshing cup of tea.

The lecture is given at brief intervals and is free to the public.

"Six for a Dollar" Tickets. The strips of "six for a dollar" tickets issued by the Exhibition Association are pretty well sold, but some can still be had from A. F. Webster & Co., corner King and Yonge streets.

ATTENDANCE RECORDS FOR FIRST FAIR DAY BEATEN BY THOUSANDS

On the midway the attractions are in full swing and the voice of the barker is heard in the land. There are even more attractions than heretofore and the grounds, which have never looked so well or provided so great a degree of comfort.

The new gates are wonders of convenience and safety. The old gates were far and away above the old danger and inconvenient way, of years gone by.

Exhibition Notices.

Bird's for Meals. At Bird's Dining Hall, just across the road from the grand stand, is where you will find one of the most attractive places in the grounds to dine. Once having eaten at Bird's, you will never think of leaving the grounds for a meal. It is a waste of time, and at Bird's the cooking and food are of the highest order. The price of a meal at Bird's is 35 cents, and you cannot beat those meals within the gates of the big fair.

Eat at Brown's. At Brown's Restaurant, just across the road from the grand stand, is where you will find one of the best meals at the fair grounds. There is plenty of room and the service is rapid and efficient. The food is and all appointments are scrupulously clean. Here there is no smell of cooking, nor the clammy heat of a kitchen. The building for the restaurant is in a capacious tent, open to the cool breeze on every side. The price is 25c and 35c.

Nasmith's Restaurant and Grill. At both ends of the grand stand at the fair, you will find Nasmith's Restaurant, where you will get the best meal in the grounds. The dining rooms are spacious, and the service is efficient, the food clean and appetizing.

At the west end of the stand is a new feature, a grill room, where the most exacting taste will be satisfied. This is a place where you may take your guests, being assured that you will add no more pleasure to their visit to the Exhibition.

Course in Engineering. Great success has attended the engineering courses taught by mail by the Canadian Correspondence College, Limited. Call at their offices, 15 Toronto Street, and find out about home study courses in Stationary, Traction, Gasoline and Automobile Engineering.

MORE THAN 2000 BOYS IN CAMP BY TODAY

Fine Looking Young Soldiers Under Canvas, and Drill Competition Will Be One of the Main Attractions—Royal Review by Governor-General Takes Place This Afternoon.

Over two thousand cadets and boy scouts will be encamped in the west end of the Exhibition grounds today. Such is the expectation of the management. About 1800 more boy scouts from all points in Ontario will likely arrive some time today to join about 70, mostly Toronto boys, now under canvas in charge of Vice-Commissioner H. G. Hammond.

It is a real military camp where the colonial cadets and Ontario scouts are living for twelve days. The cadets' camp is situated on the lake shore, while the scouts are located near the entrance to the grounds, immediately west of the new Canadian Government building. Yesterday the 70 odd scouts did nothing but routine work—pitched tents, dug trenches around them and so forth, preparatory to the arrival of their comrades today.

Some Big Fellows.

Physical exercises and the ordinary military drill look up the greater portion of the day among the cadets. These lads from across the water are by no means small; all of them are manly-looking and loom up rather large alongside the little fellows from the Toronto public schools, now under canvas. The colonial corps as regards physique would pass for a company of the Queen's Own Rifles. About 350 all told are encamped under the command of Col. J. L. Thompson, head of the Toronto juvenile soldiers.

These boys from the old country and the colonies are up to the eyes in soldiering. They go thru their drill with precision and accuracy of veterans. New Zealand delegates drilled yesterday before the rain came and showed great efficiency. They were quick and displayed some knowledge of the soldiering game. The other corps were also up to a short grind and covered themselves with glory as far as the spectators were concerned.

Another Corps Today. All the cadets scheduled to attend the Exhibition will be on the grounds with the arrival of No. 3 Corps from England, consisting of a dozen youthful men. An inspection of the camp by His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, is expected soon, and it will certainly please his expert eye.

There are divers types of uniforms, khaki predominating, although the kilts are pretty strong. The most outstanding color is the green worn by the Irishmen, which is a new one in Canada. The boys from the Emerald Isle wear a flashy green from head to toe and look fine. The Mount St. Louis cadets from Montreal wear a uniform similar to that of the old days, a rifle green with all kinds of trimmings.

Shoot for King's Prize. The initial appearance before the public was at the tattoo last night. This morning at 9 o'clock they go to the rifle ranges. Long Branch, for practice, and on Thursday the first stage of the competition for the King's trophy takes place. Of the Canadians, Calgary and Harbour Collegiate Institute have the best chance against the visitors from other lands. Calgary captured the cadet match in the recent Ontario Rifle Association meet.

This afternoon the royal review of the cadets will take place. The troops are divided into two composite battalions. The first consists of the Montreal Highlanders, and the cadets from Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba, Woodstock, Ont., and Ontario collegiate institutes. The second battalion is made up of cadets from Trenton, Ont., New Zealand, Australia, Newfoundland, Ridley College, and St. Catharines collegiate corps.

Ennisclarc Hunt Halton Co. Farmers And Sons in Runs

Cool, bright sunshine greeted the opening of the Ennisclarc Hunt's third season on Saturday morning. The meet was at 8 a.m., at the farm of Mr. Halton, and a good field awaited the Master and the hounds, ladies being on hand to see the start. The hounds, which are looking very fit and ready, were thrown off directly behind the house, and immediately took up the line at a merry pace, following it strongly over the very varied and difficult country for some ten miles, finishing at Mr. King's farm on Dundas street.

One of the features of the Ennisclarc Hunt has been the number of farmers and their sons who have taken part in the runs, and this season the Master purposes making the Wednesday drag hunts with a special view to their participation. The fox hounds will meet every Saturday afternoon, when it is expected that good sport over good country will be shown to those who follow. Among those who were out on Saturday morning were the Master on The Strand, Mr. Wilson on Goldstone, Mr. Gordon, Myles on Paddington, Mr. Padghoe on Marquis, Mr. Gordon Willis on his chestnut, thoro-bred, Mr. Halton also on a thoro-bred, Mr. Bate, Mr. McKay, and others.

THE MERGER AND THE MELON.

The big merger between the Royal Bank and the Bank of Montreal has been ratified and approved by the Dominion Government. The World has all along contended that the merger should not be passed upon until it could be discussed by parliament in connection with the long overdue revision of the Bank Act. We ventured to recommend a special session of parliament for the discussion of the financial question and of the railway question. We believed there was strong opposition among the people to the bank merger and to the railway melon. We believe that opposition is stronger than ever and that the people will resent any attempt to forestall parliamentary discussion and parliamentary action. We hope there is no room for the conjecture that the melon will follow hard upon the merger in receiving the sanction of the government, while Mr. Borden is out of the country and before the meeting of parliament.

Two reasons are assigned for approving the merger without the advice and consent of parliament. One is that the government could not withhold its approval without violating the Bank Act; the other is that none of the stockholders objected.

The government did not have to approve of this merger any more than it has to approve of the Canadian Pacific melon. Section 106 of the Bank Act, which governs the situation, reads as follows:

106. The approval of the governor-in-council shall not be given to the agreement, unless—
(a) the approval thereof is recommended by the treasury board;
(b) the application for approval thereof is made, by or on behalf of the bank executing it, within three months from the date of execution of the agreement; and,
(c) it appears to the satisfaction of the governor-in-council that all the requirements of this act in connection with the approval of the agreement by the shareholders of the bank and the shareholders of the bank purchasing banks have been complied with, and that notice of the intention of the banks to apply to the governor-in-council for the approval of the agreement has been published for at least four weeks in The Canada Gazette, and in one or more newspapers published in places where the chief offices or places of business of the banks are situated.

2. Such banks shall afford all information that the minister requires. 3. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the governor-in-council or the treasury board from refusing to approve of the agreement or to recommend its approval. 65-64 V., c. 26, s. 23.

There is sardonic humor in the announcement from Ottawa that:

In this particular case, the shareholders of the two institutions, at their respective meetings, unanimously approved the agreement negotiated by the directors. No objection has been filed against the transaction by any shareholders. But are all protests by the public to be disregarded? Perhaps we may some day be told that the government had no choice but to authorize the C. P. R. melon because "in this particular case, the shareholders failed to protest against the $60,000,000 gift with which they are to be presented."

BRITISH LIBERAL DIFFICULTIES.

All governments, at least in Great Britain, gradually lose electoral strength. Rarely, and only then under special circumstances, do cabinets that have run their parliamentary course receive a new lease of office. It happened with the Boer war election of 1900 and again with the present government in its conflict with the house of lords, but both instances afforded the exceptions that prove the rule. Not only is there a recurring desire for a change on the part of the floating electorate without marked party affiliations, but a government that shows itself active in reform cannot avoid stirring up hostility. Progressive policies cannot be carried out without offending vested and privileged interests or imposing burdens that are new and may be heavy.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the Liberal Government and party now in power has been sustaining reverses at the by-elections. In two cases seats were lost through the intervention of independent labor candidates, a circumstance which, while explaining the defects, has a sinister meaning of its own. The government's majority is a composite one, requiring the co-operation of the Labor and Nationalist parties with the Liberals and Radicals, who form the straight ministerialist section. Until recently the coalition remained unaffected, but a rift once begun has more tendency to widen than to close. Nor is there the same strength after reunion as before the occasion of difference.

Another cause of weakness has arisen from the fact that the government's foreign and naval policies have not met with the approval of the humanitarian Radicals. They have severely criticized the understanding with Russia, the failure to protect the independence of Persia and the proposal to construct an Indo-Persian railroad. They see in the last the prospect of an invasion menace which will prompt the demand for an increase in the Indian army and in the former more than inducement to sacrifice Russian and Persian liberties for diplomatic advantage over Germany. Unless it is found possible during the recess to restore confidence within the party and harmony within the coalition, the government may find it hard to secure the requisite majority in what promises to be the fiercest parliamentary battle for many years.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS.

Should a political party solicit or accept campaign contributions from great corporations which are frequently applying to the government for executive and legislative action? It is contended in some quarters that such contributions are entirely proper, unless coupled with an express stipulation that they shall be gratefully remembered by the party receiving them. Yet, in the case of judges, we all agree that gifts from suitors are most objectionable.

Of course, as the late Mr. Tarte once observed, "elections are not made with prayers"; political parties and political candidates require a certain amount of money for the legitimate expenses of a campaign. Business men who have invested their means upon the faith of the fiscal policy, long maintained by the government, will naturally and properly enough oppose revolutionary changes which threaten their own business and the business prosperity of the country at large. The U. S. manufacturers who are today insuring at Lloyd's against the election of Woodrow Wilson, might reasonably enough take out a little more insurance, as it were, by contributing to the Taft or Roosevelt campaign fund. The Democrats have frequently complained, in the past, of a disposition on the part of the Republicans to "fry the fat out of the manufacturers."

But it must be apparent that the maintenance of the protective system depends upon the will of the majority of the whole people. The tariff question is discussed by the people and decided by them. If they stand by the tariff they do so knowing that it will benefit the manufacturers, but at the same time believing that it will benefit the nation. A different question presents itself when great corporations, subject to government control, present large sums of money to political parties or to politicians charged with the administration of the government.

One test to be applied in doubtful cases is this: Would the corporation giving the money and a person receiving it be embarrassed by publicity? For example, the Liberal party in the last Dominion election could not have afforded to accept any campaign contribution from the U. S. Government or from U. S. manufacturers, if there were the slightest risk of the transaction becoming known. Either party in that campaign might have publicly accepted a contribution from a Canadian railway company, but not from its American competitors.

The general belief has been for years that our big Canadian railway companies have been throwing a sheet to windward by contributing to the funds of both political parties, possibly in varying proportions. It is noticeable that in Canada we hear few demands for publicity in the matter of campaign contributions by the big corporations which are constantly applying for orders-in-council and acts of parliament.

Perhaps we are less keen about investigating things over here than they are in the United States, because our politics are so much better and purer than theirs. Perhaps, on the other hand, our more rigid party system, and our less inquisitive press, facilitate "saw-offs," which are not always in the public interest. Were the Oliver charges, for example, not proceeded with because of an indisposition on the part of the politicians to take the public into their confidence respecting railway contributions?

"ABOUT IT AND ABOUT"

Prof. MacCallum makes an interesting editorial note on "Pragmatism" in The University Monthly. We are all pragmatists, so far as we have any common sense, for pragmatism is merely applied common sense. The real meaning of anything, says the pragmatist, depends on the difference its acceptance makes in human conduct. Creeds and beliefs and theories and speculations which have no fermenting quality, which do not work, are no good. What works is all right, no matter if it does upset some cherished views.

One wonders if it be not a reduction ad absurdum which leads Prof. MacCallum to instance Prof. Frazer of "The Golden Bough" and his theories as an example of the value of the pragmatic philosophy. Prof. Frazer says that superstition has occasionally strengthened respect for government, for private property, for marriage and sexual morality, for human life and other pillars on which rests the fabric of modern society. Therefore, superstition is an excellent thing in its way. "Once the harbor lights are passed and the ship is in port, it matters little whether the pilot steered by a jack-o'-lantern or by the stars." So says Prof. Frazer.

New London Resorts Popular. The inauguration of a new train service by the Grand Trunk between Montreal and New London, Conn., this year has induced many Canadians to visit this comparatively speaking, new territory on Long Island Sound. The number of people from Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal who have visited Block Island, Watch Hill, Fisher's Island and other resorts in the vicinity of New London have returned enthusiastic over the attractions offered there, and many prominent people have stated that the environments are delightful and that the district is without doubt one of the finest on the Atlantic Coast. The company are much gratified with the business that has offered this year, and the probabilities are that a heavy passenger traffic during the summer will be experienced next year and as the district becomes better known.

The finest brass band effects that are to be obtained with such instruments. Those who associate fortissimo effects with brass would be disappointed if they went to hear more noise and clangor. Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the "Bess of the Barnes" players is their sweetness and mellow body of tone. In the afternoon they played a varied program, including Meyerbeer selections, the Panzerlied, where their attack and precision were notable; Carmen selections, in which the cornets were particularly good; a selection from Tannhauser, where the treble accompaniment of the strings was given by the cornets with a facility equal to clarionets; the clarionet quality of the cornets was frequently marked. Exquisite picture and phrygian bands have grace were many passages in the Wagner and Bizet items, and the prelude to a Walden scene was given in this mood. The star evening solo in Tannhauser was one of the gems of execution of the afternoon. The softer passages are given with remarkable delicacy, and there is a corresponding resonance in the cornet solos. Every phrase is made to tell and helps to constitute the impression of organic perfection. The horns are of rare quality; the trombones smooth and mellow and the tenors and tuba have a fine diapason quality without any brazen intonation. The auditors were highly appreciative. Two numbers were encored in the afternoon and in the first place the band responded with great devotion to the music, in the beautiful melody to the new version of "I to the hills will life mine eyes."

BESSES O' TH' BARN BAND

Besses o' th' Barnes is a village near Manchester, where a brass band has achieved a world-wide reputation. They played at the Exhibition yesterday and they made good. Consisting of 26 pieces, entirely brass, it was not to be expected that orchestral effects were to be attained, nor does the band sustain its reputation by a successful imitation of something else. It produces the finest brass band effects that are to be obtained with such instruments. Those who associate fortissimo effects with brass would be disappointed if they went to hear more noise and clangor. ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Coroner MacCallum's jury last night found that the death of Harry Mundorf on Saturday last was due to purely accidental causes. Mundorf was killed instantly when he was jammed between the wagon which he was unloading and a wall.

NO HOME RULE FOR ULSTERMEN

Rev. Dr. Patterson Says No Necks Will Be Bowed Under the Roman Yoke.

"Ulstermen do not want to fight, but they will not bow their necks under the Roman yoke." Loud cheers were given by the large audience in Cooke's Church last night when Rev. Dr. Patterson with these words summed up his address on Irish home rule. Dr. Patterson, who was pastor at Cooke's about nine years ago, occupies the pulpit at May street Presbyterian Church, Belfast, Ireland.

The address was a vindication of resistance on the part of the anti-home rule party in Ireland. Mr. Patterson declared that the passing of the home rule bill would result in the crushing of Ulster and Irish Protestantism and freedom of the empire.

"John Redmond is pulling the wires and Patrick Ford of New York is supplying the dollars," declared Dr. Patterson. "Shall Ulsters forget the triumphs of the past, the occasions on which she has saved the empire for freedom?"

Some are inclined to laugh and ask what little Ulster can do against the weight of the imperial mandate. But what imperial army will suffer itself to be led against Britons whose only offense is that they have cried their loyalty from the housetops? Who will lead this army? Will Lord Roberts, or Lord Kitchener, good Irishmen both of them?

"No," declared Dr. Patterson. "The Roman Catholic laity, said the speaker, was the base of a pyramid, at the apex of which was the pope, who controlled the whole structure. It was not against Catholics the fight must be waged, but against Catholicism."

BANDIED ABOUT IN PARLIAMENT

The Financial Post, speaking for the "interests," objects to the open and free discussion of freight rates and questions about stock issues by those most interested. It says these problems should not be "bandied about in parliament."

Here we have a frank statement of the position of the special interests. Any more impudent assertion of the position of entrenched privilege would be difficult to recall.

If parliament is not to discuss railway freight rates, and the conditions upon which issues of stock shall be made and the cutting of "melons" prevented, then the country will soon be asking why it is necessary to call the parliament together at all.—St. John Telegraph and Sun.

City Treasurer Coady, who returned home from London on Saturday, yesterday reiterated the statement of Mayor Geary that the city's credit was never better. When Electric Power IS RELIABLE

You who use electricity for any purpose know what that means.

To the manufacturer it means power all the time. Full power—steady power.

To the householder it means light all the time—bright, steady light.

Hydro-Electric is weatherproof power.

The transmission wires that bring Hydro-Electric power to Toronto have been tested to 300,000 volts. They are fully protected, and none but the most extraordinary bolt of lightning could do them damage.

The machinery and equipment used to distribute Hydro-Electric power in the city is reliable. It is as near perfect as modern engineering skill can make it. Hydro-Electric current is in itself an evidence that its production and distribution is of the most modern kind. Hydro-Electric comes to you in the most modern form—

25 "Cycle" Current

You who plan to buy a little electric motor to run the sewing machine—a fan to cool the office or home—or high power motors to drive machinery—you should learn the significance of 25 CYCLE Power.

The royal party went over from the Yonge street dock by Sir Wm. Mackenzie's yacht, accompanied by the commodore, His Honor the Lieut.-Governor and Lady Gibson and Miss Gibson, Mrs. Aemilius Jarvis and was met on the yacht club pier by the officers of the club in uniform. The royal yacht passed thru the fleet drawn up in two lines and gaily decorated with pennants, the bright colors of which were repeated in the lovely autumn flowers bordering the velvety lawn, where two huge marquees were erected for tea and the 18th Highlanders Band was in attendance. The tea tables were especially pretty with an artistic arrangement of crimson and gold flowers in handsome brass vases of all shapes. The governor-general was accompanied by H.R.H. the Princess Patricia, who was wearing a gown of silk embroidered cream net over satin with touches of deep rose color, the same becoming shade facing her wide hat, which was trimmed with cream ostrich plumes tipped with rose. Over the gown was worn a long pale grey wrap. Miss Adam, lady in waiting, was all in grey and a hat with natural ostrich feathers. Mrs. Jarvis, who walked with the governor-general, was in a pearl grey dress trimmed with white guillemots and black velvet, and hat with shaded pink roses. SHRINKING CLOTH

Having tried several methods of shrinking cloth, I find the following easiest and best, and am glad to pass it on. Thoroughly wet the goods in cold water, then procure a round stick, a curtain-pole will do, and wind the cloth around this, keeping it smooth and the edges even. Do not dry the goods before winding. Let dry, and your gingham, linen, or any kind of wash goods, will be shrunk and very smooth. No ironing is required.

CANTALOUPE ARE NOW PLENTIFUL

Canadian Melons Are Abundant and Cause a Drop in Prices—Potatoes Sell for $1.25.

Canadian cantaloupes are becoming prominent on the Toronto Fruit Market, and share with the peaches a large proportion of the floorpace on the platform. They range widely in size, some being so large that the eleven-quart basket holds only three. There is a good market for melons at this time of year when the native fruit is available and prices fall.

Marrows are the despair of the dealer. There are baskets which have been on the market now for a week without a buyer, and the terms "drug on the market" and "white elephant" are used freely when the vegetable in question is under discussion. Ten cents a basket is the best price now offered.

American potatoes have been forced from the market by the competition of Canadian shipments. The native vegetable sells at $1.35 the 50-pound bag, or 20c the 11-quart basket.

Lemons are a trifle dearer than last week owing to the fact that the season is past its prime. July and August are the good months.

Blueberries are low. The Ontario berries are being hoarded by boxes shipped from Montreal. The baskets, which brought $1.75 a week ago, now sell at $1 with an occasional sale at $1.25.

Yesterday's prices are as follows: Canadian fruit—Apples (per basket), 20c to 40c; peaches, 40c to $1.25; plums, 20c to 30c; pears, 50c to $1; California peaches, $1.25 a case; plums (very few), $1.35 a case; pears, $3 to $2.25 a case; celery, 25c to 30c; peppers, 20c to 30c; green corn, 12c to 15c the dozen ears; carrots, 25c the basket; tomatoes, 30c to 50c; potatoes, 20c the basket; beans, 25c; cucumbers, 35c; blueberries, 15c to 25c; California malaga grapes, $3 to $2.25 a case; lemons, $5.25 a case; Spanish onions, $1.15 a case; Canadian melons (cantaloupes), 50c to 60c the double basket.

OUTLINING

When outlining round forms, it is much easier to find the outline stitches from left to right, as they will then conform to the rounded shape. Knots should never be used in embroidery of any kind, as they are a source of trouble in the outlining round. A few stitches to the commencing point and then cover these stitches with the outlining. After the work is finished, the thread can be pulled out from under the stitches, and fasten with a buttonhole stitch.

SOFT HATS

Brown and white corduroy hats which are excellent for motoring or general wear and serge hats of the same sort are round and soft, trimmed only with a narrow band and a tiny fancy feather at the side.

ALUMINUM TREES

Aluminum slipper trees are recommended for the traveler, as they are light to pack. They are supposed to let the slipper for more freely than the wooden ones, which is an undeniable advantage.

THREAD-HOLDER

Put a thread thru the hole in your spool of cotton and pin it to the arm of your chair or other convenient place. The thread will run smoothly, your work will be more regular and you cannot lose the spool.

DONE IN COLORS.

In the dainty hand embroidered linen Dutch collars the scalloped edges are in many cases worked in colors. A collar of white lace decorated with dots worked in white has a brown edge, while another pretty collar in fine white linen is worked in dark blue. These form a pretty finish at the neck of the tailored blouse, and the back of the skirt of the coat suit, when the coat is taken off a pretty little color scheme is revealed.

Miss Haswell In Two Plays
Princess Opens With Fine Show

Toronto has learned to regard the opening of the National Fair as marking the end of summer. It marks also the close of Miss Percy Haswell's season at the Royal Alexandra, an engagement which was popular at its first essay and has become more successful with each recurring year. Success has come not only because of Miss Haswell's own charming personality and polished interpretations, but on account of the care she has always taken to assemble a really artistic and talented company. This has resulted in a series of admirable representative stagings in a style that is only too seldom associated either with stock or traveling companies.

For her farewell week, Miss Haswell selected a double bill in deference to repeated demands from her large circle of friends. One was "The Marriage of Figaro," a sparkling comedy with many good and attractive situations. The theme while not altogether novel, is clearly treated and provided constant amusement. Miss Haswell as "Kitty," had ample opportunity to reveal the wide range of her art and her sprightly humor. She was finely supported by Miss Dala, as the designing French woman, Albert Brown as Sir Reginald Folgate, gave a sympathetic presentation of the role, and Charles Kennedy was easy and unaffected in the part of the family solicitor. The other roles were all acceptably filled.

The second it was "Master Willie's Flayers," a vaudeville sketch by Allan Wallace. In it Miss Haswell had an opportunity to reveal her poetic interpretation of Rosalind, one of Shakespeare's most fascinating heroines. The first act is a masterpiece of characterization, and the second act is a masterpiece of farce. The Standard of the road about a beauty has been shattered by the village actors. The standard of the village actors is shattered by the beauty. The standard of the village actors is shattered by the beauty. The standard of the village actors is shattered by the beauty.

It is impossible to describe in mere words the grandeur of the production at the Star Theatre this week. And it also appears unnecessary to give it any puff, for the real is here and won on its merits before a packed house last night. It is an entirely new musical and musical burlesque, and has only been on the road about a week. The Standard of the road about a beauty has been shattered by the village actors. The standard of the village actors is shattered by the beauty. The standard of the village actors is shattered by the beauty.

Washington Society Girls. Five vaudeville acts are also staged and are as good as this season at the vaudeville houses. The first act is entitled the Three Brown Hats, and is a product of amusing complications that set the house in a roar. But the real fun occurs in "The Trial of Miss Pin," a comedy sketch by Allan Wallace. In it Miss Haswell had an opportunity to reveal her poetic interpretation of Rosalind, one of Shakespeare's most fascinating heroines. The first act is a masterpiece of characterization, and the second act is a masterpiece of farce. The Standard of the road about a beauty has been shattered by the village actors. London Belles Have Fine Show. The London Belles at the Gayety this week are what may be termed an exceptionally classy gathering of artists. The production is unusually good and no person should fail to see this fine show. The performance opened to a great house yesterday. The chorus is composed of comely girls who deliver the goods. The principal characters are also worthy of comment. No money has been spared to make the show in its way to a long run. The show is especially attractive and the classic side of a burlesque should see the London Belles.

Miss Haswell's Good-by Message
It is a genuinely sorry little lady that reigns at the Royal Alexandra this week.
"Am I sorry to leave Toronto?" Miss Haswell echoed. "I can't reproduce the tone, but if you had seen her amid the dismal surroundings of a morning rehearsal you would have needed no other evidence of her regret than a glimpse of her pretty, almost woe-begone face."
"It's almost like leaving home," she added whimsically. "The people of Toronto have treated me so beautifully, that an audience does not seem to me like more theatregoers, but rather like a company of very dear friends. And I am so sorry to leave them all, especially my matinee girls. You can hardly imagine what they mean to me. They come here week after week, and altho it is impossible that I know them individually, yet they seem like real friends. My biggest regret is that the stress of work I am under prevents me answering all their nice letters. You know, I'd love to do that. They write such splendid, appreciative notes that it is an inspiration to read them, and it would be a sincere pleasure to answer them. If I could only arrange the time. Perhaps if I could say goodby personally to each one I would not feel so badly at leaving them, but that, too, is impossible—unless—here, the penance, facing rehearsal you would have needed no other evidence of her regret than a glimpse of her pretty, almost woe-begone face."

Humorous Bill
At Shea's Shop
Vaughan Glaser
At The Grand

Mr. Shea must have wanted to make a good impression on Toronto's visitors, for this week he has a bill that is rich in humor and bright with clever work.
"Early Morning Reflections" is a one act playlet reminiscent of many a gray dawn comedy on the vaudeville circuit; but Sager, Midgely and Company have a way of presenting it that is all their own. The act took well.
Two funny, clean Irishmen, retold and refaced, are James H. Donovan and Charles M. Macdonald. Their stage business got the hands nearly as much as their funny work and songs. Winsor McCay's lightning-like drawing is a good feature of the bill. Besides being quick, his work is exceedingly well done and original.
Borden, who is surely quick on his feet, and Irene Shannon, his partner, do a versatile character act. They're even better than they were last year.
The "Eight Palace Girls" deserved every bit of the encouraging applause they got. These old favorites have added a couple of new ones to their repertoire of dances.
Kené, Walsh and Melrose are wonderful acrobats, and the Rials' Ring act is also a sensation. Mahoney Bros. and their Daisy dog cut amusing capers.
The lone pianist still toots the ivories with very pleasing, but not voluminous, musical effect.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF NEW 'MAISON BOYLE'
The Superbly Fitted Establishment
Devoted to Women's Exclusive Outer Apparel.

The smart women of Toronto who visited this most attractive store yesterday were certainly confronted with a bewilderingly effective scene. The showrooms are decorated in a style the finest in New York. The exquisite taste displayed would excite attention, apart from the truly handsome nature of every fitting and fixture. But it may be taken for granted that the throngs of visitors did not stop long to admire the correlative side of the store with the latest New York and Paris models around in profusion. Dear, no. The feminine instinct is too strong to permit of it. When we visited the "Maison Boyle" yesterday afternoon many were the appreciative remarks we heard. "What a smart store!" "What a lovely dress!" "Isn't that an exquisite evening gown?" and so forth. Mr. Boyle informed us that he will carry only one of each model, thereby ensuring his customers of absolutely exclusive garments. Ladies won't find their suit, coat, dresses or evening gown duplicated and while that is a comfort they have the additional satisfaction of knowing they are wearing a similar creation to that worn by the smartest women in New York and Paris.
It would certainly appear to us that the best dressers in the city have secured one more "strong card" to strengthen their claim to the title of "Canada's smartest dressed women" in the "Maison Boyle." We wish this enterprising house success and certainly deserves the commendation of the community for adding lustre to the shopping centre of the city.

CLEAN UTENSILS.
Bread boards and other kitchen utensils made of wood may be kept clean, white and stainless by rubbing with soap and lukewarm water, to which may be added a little common soda or household ammonia.

JAPANNED WARE.
Japanned ware should be washed with a sponge dampened in warm water and dried immediately with a soft cloth, says an exchange. Obnoxious spots can be quickly removed by rubbing with a wooden cloth dipped in sweet oil.

Conservatory Opening.
The Toronto Conservatory of Music will open on Tuesday next, the twenty-sixth session, with largely increased facilities and staff. Students should not delay enrolling, but should make an early beginning to derive the full benefit from a complete season's work. The new illustrated year book, giving full particulars, will be mailed on application.

Following Up the Opening at The Simpson Store

THE COMING EVENT Our Formal Opening and Celebration Sale

One week from to-day (viz. on Tuesday, September 3rd) will be the Formal Opening of this store, when we celebrate a complete building, after years of construction and rebuilding. Covering an entire block, the building is pronounced one of the most attractive and suitable structures on the Continent of America for conducting a retail business. The building is ornate and simple in architectural effect, and has the high artistic merit of being suitable for the purpose for which it was designed. First and paramount, the safety of customers has been insisted on, as witness the massive foundations, the fireproof construction, the superb light, the perfect ventilation, and the complete equipment. The lofty basement is the admiration of customers and visitors alike, while each of the seven floors presents a magnificent area, with view unobstructed from Yonge to James street and from Queen to Richmond. Wide aisles, comfortable seats where necessary, a spacious rest room, a first-class restaurant, together with parcel check office, telephone and telegraph service, are among the conveniences that make shopping here a pleasure. Visitors to Toronto are invited to make this store their rendezvous. Look out for details of our Celebration Sale.
