CONFERENCE HELD RE G. T. R. STATION REMOVAL Superintendent Gordon and City Engineer Discussed Matter Yesterday.

HAMILTON, Saturday, Jan. 22.—There is now taking place at the city hall a conference with the idea of asking the Grand Trunk to go further in the move of Mayor Watson to overcome the blocking of King and Main on Ferguson avenue by trains at the old station there. His worship's idea is to have the best possible route to the north, probably about Rebecca street, where the company owns property, so as to leave the main streets free. One scheme suggested to the engineers at the city hall yesterday was that the line be depressed so as to be underground at King street. The plan was gone into when railway activities were great several years ago. Ex-Ald. C. W. Heming, originating the idea in connection with a common line for C.P.R., G.T.R. and C.N.R. Yesterday Superintendent J. Gordon of the Grand Trunk was in conference with City Engineer MacAlum.

For Skins Affected By Winds and Weather

This is the season when she who would have a spotless, lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to melleo wax, the firm friend of the winter girl. Nothing so effective as melleo comes the despoiling effects of piercing winds and biting cold temperatures. The wax literally absorbs and binds her skin, forming a brand new skin, clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It is a lotion made of a fine oil, and is applied at night like cold cream, and washed off morning and evening. It is a most refreshing and invigorating skin treatment. She who clothes herself all day in an overhated hat and finds her skin chapped and flabby as a consequence, can quickly freshen up for the evening by bathing her face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saccharine in a half pint of water. She'll find this most refreshing. It smooths out wrinkles and draws in the saggy tissue.

He Believes Labor Will Be Satisfied When Bill is Better Understood.

LONDON, Jan. 22, 2.18 a.m.—"The provisions in the compulsion bill to bar the possibility of industrial compulsion are so definite that when they are clearly understood the bill ought to receive the general support of organized labor," says Arthur Henderson, chairman of the labor party, in a long statement addressed to his constituents.

THE statement justifies Mr. Henderson's support of the measure on the ground of absolute military necessity, and expresses the writer's willingness to stand for re-election at any time on a compulsion platform.

FOE MEETS OBSTACLE IN DESIGNS ON EGYPT

Lack of Coal to Operate Railroad Stands in the Way.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Germany's campaign in Egypt: it is meeting with unexpected obstacles, it is announced here, due to the lack of coal to operate the railroad, which they have constructed southward thru Syria to the edge of the desert approaching the Suez Canal. The construction of the railroad has been largely facilitated by French rails and material for a similar line, which was partially constructed, but the absence of coal prevents the actual opening of the road to transportation.

This lack of coal has led the Germans to reopen the old Turkish mines in Syria, used by the Romans, but abandoned by them a thousand years ago. The capacity of these mines is limited to 200,000 tons annually. A large force of Turkish laborers is engaged in developing the mines, which are now the chief reliance in getting the railroad to Egypt in operation.

FRENCH START FIRES Active Shelling of Sand Dunes in Belgium Proves Efficacious.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The British troops exploded a mine at a point east of Festubert today and observed four hostile working parties with their artillery. German gun positions were shelled with good effect in the sector southeast of Pleussbaix. Exchange of shelling is reported at points north of Albert and of Loos and near Givency. The Germans exploded their mines with a Prussian force without doing any damage.

Shelling German positions in the region of the sand dunes in Belgium, French artillery today started several fires, and they caught a German battery in action under their fire at a point between Sossou and Rheims and put it out of action. A battery of the Germans was destroyed and their trenches damaged during a bombardment in the vicinity of Reheles.

Artillery were active on both sides on the rest of the front.

The report in London has been general that it was Gen. Martinovich who headed the army in a revolt against the king's attempt to arrange a peace with Austria.

Story of Negotiations. The Daily Telegraph's Milan correspondent gives what he says is the inside story of Montenegro's negotiations with Austria regarding the capitulation of Montenegro.

"Since the defeat of Serbia," says the correspondent, "the court party, fearing a similar fate for Montenegro, had advised King Nicholas to surrender as the only salvation. The king sent for Gen. Martinovich to defend the approaches to the capital promising to cover negotiations. His defenses were futile. The general was unable to muster more than 1200 men, which number was obviously insufficient.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

BIG RECRUITING RALLY HELD IN NEW TORONTO

Lieut.-Col. Clarke, Returned From Internment Camp, Made Stirring Appeal.

Returned Soldier Declared if Voluntary Recruiting Fails, Conscription Will Come.

Lieut.-Col. Clarke, commanding officer of the 12th York Overseas Battalion, and Sergt.-Major Eccles were the chief speakers at last night's recruiting meeting held in the New Toronto school.

The chair was occupied by Dr. Forbes Smith, who was later succeeded by Lieut.-Col. Clarke, representing the Patriotic Fund, outlined the work of the organization in an able speech. "The fund is the outcome of the pledge of the people of Canada to the soldiers going to fight the cause of our country. We must not forget our pledge," he said. "Great Britain is determined to fight on account of a pledge and we must not renege it."

Mr. Knoxton told of the manner in which the funds have been handled by the organization since the commencement of the war, and the enormous amount of good that has been done. He pointed out that the expense of management will not be more than two per cent. of the total amount of money received until the close of the conflict, he said in conclusion.

Dr. Forbes Godfrey said: "What is the good of organizing our boys for the front, if we do not organize behind the front. It is up to us to do the decent thing, and I would like to ask any person to say if he has done all of his duty since the war broke out. It is up to us all from this day on, both in the city and county, to organize and help the patriotic fund."

"The fund has got to zero point now and organization is the keynote to force more money. The fair way is to put the municipal machinery in force and the people of York will support it and by this means we will get out of those who can best afford it."

"Let us stand together, man to man, and say that the fair way is to put the municipal machinery in force and the people of York will support it and by this means we will get out of those who can best afford it."

Ald. H. B. Bell, representing W. F. Maclean, M.P., who was unavoidably absent from the meeting, said he was absolutely opposed to conscription of funds. "It is foreign to a British subject," he said. "If you ask me to show them the need they will respond."

Mr. Bell praised the manner in which the patriotic fund is being conducted, as outlined by Mr. Knoxton, and said the people could rest assured that their contributions would be carefully administered.

If they asked the York Township Council to put a levy on the ratepayers they would support the voluntary effort. "In my opinion," said the speaker, "the methods adopted by the city might with advantage be adopted by the York Township Council."

J. Henderson, J.P., declared the matter would have to be maintained at no matter what cost to the nation. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That the whole of York Township be taxed according to assessment for the patriotic fund thru the County of York."

OFF BEAT FOR FRONT. Policeman Gardner (No. 147) attached to the Ontario division has been enlisted for overseas service in the 18th Battalion. Mr. Gardner, who resides on Ossington ave. has a wife and two children. He is well known and popular in the Earlscourt district.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt, which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain out of 500 grains of acid waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a cathartic cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, you'll find it most refreshing. It smooths out wrinkles and draws in the saggy tissue.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

BLIND KNITTER SENDS SOX IN TO THE WORLD

Sightless Woman Contributed Four Beautiful Pairs Now on Exhibition.

GOOD WILL EXPRESSIONS

Enthusiasm Among the Workers Is Heartily Shown in Many Ways.

The number of donations for The World "Sox Day" increase daily and many little expressions of good-will and sympathy are tucked into the soft, woolly toe of the socks that are going from The World Building on Feb. 15 to "the boys in the trenches." Yesterday afternoon a parcel arrived at the knitting room. When opened the card said: "These were knitted by my sister, who is blind." Four beautifully worked pairs of sox that might have been done by an expert were the contents. They are on exhibition in the knitting room.

Two lovely pairs of khaki sox came in yesterday from a patient in St. Michael's Hospital, who also composed a verse with kind wishes for the lucky Tommy who receives the gift of this knitter.

Loved Ones at Front. Practically all the women who have joined "The World Sox Sisters," as they have named themselves, have a sox brother or husband at the front. It is by experience that they learn the great necessity of a good and renewed application and also they have their own men to knit for they are equally willing to help others in need. Will you join these courageous women in the big campaign for sox? It is not necessary to wait till Feb. 15 to send in your donation, send it today if it is ready, and if not, purchase your wool and commence knitting today. Feb. 15, "Sox Day," is the last day for receiving before the shipment goes off, so start at once so that your sox will be ready in time.

Buy Now. The conveniences to suggest that wool for knitting be purchased at once. It is expected that the price will rise again in a very short time. At present enough good grey wool, for one pair of sox, four-ply fingering, can be bought for 35 cents. Six ounces of wool is required to see off No. 12 or 13 needles at five cents; so in figures, 40 cents will cover expenses for your gift to The World "Sox Day," and your hands will be a thousand times repaid by the comfort you give to one man in khaki. Will donors please put name and address in each pair of sox, and a little message too, for the soldier boy who will get them? Every little bit helps! All sox must be washed and should be pressed before sending in.

Today is school girls' day, as well as everybody else's day who will come and help along the work in the World Knitting Room, 40 West Richmond street. Call and see what is being done and lend a hand in the "Sox Day" campaign. It is the biggest "sox" scheme of the year, and with your help, will be the greatest success. Phone Main 6398.

WILL RELEASE MEN FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

Emergency Corps Decides to Enrol All Women Ready to Take Employment.

The principal thing considered at the executive meeting of the Toronto branch of the Women's Emergency Corps, held in the board room of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, 26 East King street yesterday afternoon, was the question of registration of women who are free and willing to take employment, having particularly in view the idea of releasing men for active service. Mrs. Willoughby Cummings presided and many plans were suggested. It was decided to accept the offer of meetings, beginning with district one, in the east end of the city, will be held, where branch bureaus will be established. It is probable that a form will be drafted to be filled out by the one registering, sufficiently detailed to give a fair idea of executive and physical efficiency of the one who registers. It is also hoped that working along similar lines there may be co-operation from manufacturers and other employers. A committee to look into methods and conditions was appointed. The members are: Misses Davidson, Duff, Cartwright, Boulton and Addison. Mrs. Campbell Meyers received the highest vote for vice-president and Miss Simms for treasurer of the Women's Emergency Corps. The members present were asked to send to Mrs. Cummings the names of women best suited to address meetings of women doing patriotic work for the purpose of stimulating recruiting; also to suggest centres where registration might be made.

FLEET LANDED TROOPS AT BULGARIAN SEAPORT

After Two Days' Shelling of Portos Lagos, Reconnaissance Party Went Ashore.

ATHENS, Jan. 21.—After a two days' bombardment, an Anglo-French squadron silenced the forts at the Bulgarian town of Portos Lagos and landed troops on Bulgarian soil. The allied land forces destroyed Bulgarian gun emplacements and after a brief reconnaissance, withdrew.

The landing was made on Wednesday, with only slight casualties. Anglo-French troops moved northward toward the Bulgarian railway, a few miles north of the Bay of Portos Lagos, but encountering a superior Bulgarian force, withdrew to their ships. An official statement from the Bulgarian war office, telegraphed here today, reported the bombardment of Portos Lagos and Dedegaghath by an Anglo-French squadron of twenty-four warships on Tuesday, but made no mention of the landing of troops the following day. On the same day, the Turkish war office reported that another Anglo-French squadron shelled Admiral De Robeck. It is thought possible the reconnaissance at Portos Lagos was preliminary to a troop landing in force.

Keep Cause and Effect Separate or Reason Badly

By DR. L. K. HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

ART is long, life is fleeting; experience is fallacious and observations miserably partial. Because a "cold" disappears when an onion is worn in the shoe, or "rheumatism" vanishes when a bronze ring is worn...

Some people, it sometimes seems, cannot keep sequence of events separate from cause and effect. Because some effects sometimes follow certain causes almost every Tom, Dick and Harry prattles every event which ensues as a definite effect of what preceded...

It is these errors of human intelligence that makes it seem almost a hopeless, certainly an ungrateful, attempt to try to disabuse the average human mind of the folly that an ancient, time-honored procedure done multi-millions of times is correct or does what you swear that it does...

Whenever this editor falls a victim to stomach ache, he takes a drop of asafoetida, as he has done for 30 years, and thinks that the gastric distemper's disappearance is brought about by some distilled magic of the medicine. Yet asafoetida is no different from a few drops of water or whiskey, for it has no physiology...

Answers to Health Questions

PATIENT Q—Will you tell me what to do for an offensive odor coming from the nose? Mucus drops into the throat, and sometimes a crust is expelled from the nose.

A—Go at once to a hospital and have the adenoids and tonsils removed. The turbinate bones of the nose must also be operated on or compressed, so as to allow more air space. In the mean time irrigate the nose twice a day with alkaline antiseptic fluid diluted three times in water. This trouble must not be neglected, but attended to immediately.

Revelations of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

What Helped Madge's Head "a Lot."

DICKY came rushing to the door of Mrs. Underwood's bedroom in which I sat where she had left me. I had wondered vaguely how she was going to persuade Dicky that I ought to go home. The result showed that as a strategist she was highly successful.

"Why, Madge dear," he said solicitously, "why didn't you tell me you felt one of your headaches coming? I've ordered a taxi and we'll go home at once. I'll be there in the morning. No wonder you were upset at finding she had been rummaging through your things."

"Oh, no, Dicky," I protested, then stopped, smiling faintly at Dicky's masculine idea of soothing a headache. Nothing mattered now. I was going home, and Dicky's voice showed that he was his natural, sunny, lovable self again.

"That's right," Lillian's voice broke in cuttingly. "Got her head to going good by promising a nice little domestic fruction in the morning. Trust a man to do a thing up really brown."

She handed me my hat, helped me into my coat, waited on me as deftly as a trained maid could have done. Harry Underwood lounged in the background, his hands in his pockets. I glanced up once, inadvertently, and found him smiling sardonically at me. I knew that he did not believe I had a headache, but his opinion weighed less than a feather now that Dicky was with me.

On one thing I was resolved. Headache, or no headache, I meant to tell Dicky everything that had happened since he had left me in the morning. He might be angry. I might have to endure another scene, but there should be nothing held back.

Harry's "Kind invitation."

I have always abhorred anything saving of deceit. I felt that I could not endure the least shadow of it in my life with Dicky.

The honk of a car sounded outside. "I guess there's your choo-choo," drawled Harry Underwood. "I say, Dicky, don't let this headache spoil everything. If the wife gets better, bring her back tonight, and we'll all go play a bit somewhere. If she doesn't and gets to sleep the way Lili does after a headache, she won't need you. Come back by yourself."

And I had thought Dicky inconsiderate sometimes! I cast a glance now of a selfishness so colossal that it hid Dicky's occasional thoughtlessness appear as nothing.

I waited breathlessly for Dicky's reply, but before he had a chance to speak Lillian interposed. "Cut that out, Harry," she said quietly, but her voice was like dirt. Dicky is not coming back here tonight. He's going to take care of his wife."

Her husband shrugged his shoulders, but did not reply. There is one thing certain about the Underwoods. Lillian strikes the dominant note in the family. Her husband bustles and sneers, but it is she who decides all questions of any importance, and there appears to be no appeal from her decision.

The auto horn sounded again. Dicky hurried me to the door. Lillian snatched a lace shawl from a chair where she had thrown it, and wrapped it around her bare shoulders.

"Come on Harry," she said as generally as if she had not just "called" him, as Dicky would have said, "we'll get that get in the machine all right."

"Curse That Headache." He snuggled up to me. Lillian patted my shoulder again as I got into the taxi.

"I do so hope you won't have much trouble with that head," she said anxiously. "I won't phone you, because you might just be dropping to sleep when the call came. But do call me up as soon as you feel better, and do you call me, young man"—she turned to Dicky—"if she should feel really ill, and you should need me."

WHEN Pandora—the Eve of the ancient Greeks—came down from Heaven she brought a casket in which were all the ills of humankind. One day she opened the casket and they escaped and spread over the earth, Hope remaining. Oh, if Pandora only hadn't been so CURIOUS!

The New Pandora is very different. Very different but just as curious. In the presence of the mysteries of 1916 she wants to know, without waiting, all about the romantic possibilities of the Era before her. And so she lets her imagination open the lid that hides the story. Yes, she ALWAYS wants to read the last page first. But in this case she can't—she must be content to take the chapters as they come, one at a time. But it's glorious fun GUESSING!

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT The Managing Wife

Copyright, 1916, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

I KNOW a woman who thinks she's a persecuted martyr because her husband wants beer with his dinner and insists upon having it.

She told me all about it the other day, and I could hardly believe my ears.

"I'm almost crazy," she said. "You know how it was at home—my father drank up everything he had in the world and broke my mother's heart. Before I married I thought my husband was a teetotaler, and now he insists upon beer with his dinner every night."

"No, he never drinks anything else that I know of, and the beer doesn't seem to do him any harm, but, oh, I know how it will end and I cannot bear it. I have told him that if he cannot sit at the table and see him drink, and he has told me that if he cannot drink beer at home he will go somewhere else and drink it."

"Isn't it terrible! I could never have believed it of him—could you?" The poor woman cried, and nothing would make her believe that her husband isn't on his way to a drunkard's grave, just because he wants a glass of beer with his roast beef or his steak or his chops in the evening.

Maybe he'd be better off without the beer—and in this particular instance I happen to think he would—but wouldn't that woman and her husband both be better off if she didn't try to be his conscience and his sense of right and wrong and his very owner, as well as his wife?

Not His Owner.

What does a man do when he marries, anyhow—give up his right to his own opinion in his own house? Why? No man in the world but an American would listen to such an idea for an instant. I wonder why an American listens to it.

I knew a man once whose wife wouldn't let him smoke in the house. She hated the smell of tobacco in the curtains, she said, so the man went out into the barn after dinner every night and smoked—and then the wife wondered that the neighbors laughed at him and made fun of him and called him queer names right to his face.

She never seemed to think that the curtains were his curtains, bought by his money, and that the house was, after all, quite as much his as it was hers. And the man didn't seem to think of that, either. He just went meekly along smoking in the barn, and then, one day, he ran away with the prettiest little Spanish girl you ever saw, who smoked at least two dozen cigarettes a day herself and who was very glad to light the cigar of the man who wasn't allowed to smoke in his own house, with her own supply, brown, little fingers.

Nobody was ever so surprised in the world as the man's wife. She couldn't understand why he left, she said, when she had always been such a good wife to him!

Now, I don't believe in doing anything you think is wrong to keep a man from running away with another woman, but I do believe in treating a man as if he were a man with his own will and his own conscience and his own sense of right and wrong, and not as if you thought you owned him, body, soul, brain and heart.

Her Husband's Keeper?

If this woman's husband wants to drink beer in his own home and not too much of it, what right has she to dictate to him? How does she know that she is so absolutely right and that he is so absolutely wrong. The question of moderate drinking or no moderate drinking has strong advocates on both sides. She has a right to a very decided opinion of her own, of course, and a duty, upon a question as vital as this, to express that opinion; but what right has she to assume that her opinion is so unmistakably the only right one?

Is there another human being in his circle of acquaintances who would dare to take the tone to him that she is taking? How dares she take it? When that husband of hers makes up his own mind that a glass of beer with his dinner is bad for him, he'll either stop drinking it, like a sensible man, or he'll go on drinking it, like a fool.

And in either case he will do it himself, and not one hour of tears and sighs from his wife will have a particle of weight in the matter.

Am I my brother's keeper? How much happier we women would be if somebody would translate that saying—"Am I my husband's keeper?"

How She Learned the Differences Between Vacuum and Suction Cleaners.

YOU'RE just the person I want," Helped Underwood greeted me enthusiastically as we met shopping yesterday. "I've decided to buy a vacuum cleaner for mother with the check Uncle Henry sent last night for me to buy her a present from him, and I don't know how to select one."

"Why, you use one yourself," I said to her in astonishment. "You know just as much about them as I do."

"Yes, but I don't want to buy one as large as mine. I want to get a smaller one, but a good one, maybe one as small as yours, and I know that you must have spent days in choosing yours and are full of information," she added, her eyes twinkling teasingly.

"There was nothing for me to do but to 'fess up.' 'Fact is I received my vacuum cleaner as a wedding gift, and don't know anything about the subject,' I admitted, 'but this is a fine chance for me to go with you and learn something.'

There are many makes of cleaners, there are just three principles that they operate on. First is the suction cleaner. This is constructed with a bellows which sucks in air, dust, matches, bits of paper, and what not, every time it is pulled. It operates sort of rhythmically, almost like breathing—a long pull and the dust and dirt are sucked in. Then there is a pause, just like there is in "letting your breath out," and the next intake of air "breathes" more of the dust inside the cleaner.

Second is the vacuum cleaner. Everything that is called a vacuum cleaner isn't really operated on the vacuum principle. Inside the real vacuum type of cleaner is a small motor. This motor—started either by attaching to an electric plug or by the hand process—operates one or more pairs of fans. At each rotary motion a vacuum is created, and then the surrounding atmosphere rushes in through the small opening of the "dust bag" and brings with it the dust and threads. The difference between the vacuum and the suction sweepers is in the "pull." The suction sweeper stops for breath at each pull, while the vacuum cleaner revolves regularly with its pair of fans and keeps on absorbing the dirt.

Third is the combination brush and suction sweeper, which is built like the suction cleaner except that it contains a brush, so that as it revolves the carpet is swept as well as having the dust and matter on the surface picked up. The new models they are putting out are being improved constantly, and I notice that the ones I liked best are the light-weight ones, easy to move about, and those with the wide nozzles. A cleaner with a small opening makes it necessary to go over the carpet so many times because you can only cover a small surface at a time. But with a wider nozzle you get over the ground much more quickly.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a young girl of 18, tall and rather attractive. I have had a boy friend call to see me several times since July, and during the past month he has been coming three times a week. I think very much of him, but on Sunday night he went home and didn't say when he'd see me again. He said, 'Maybe I'll see you again soon.' I told my girl friends and I asked them if I should 'phone him and ask him to come up and spend the evening. They tell me not to, as he'll think I'm crazy after him. Should I wait for him to 'phone me?

I have several other boy friends who would like to come and see me, but I do not care for their company as well as I do for this young man's. Please advise me what to do.

DIMPLES.

DIMPLES: There isn't any reason in the world why you should not invite any young man to call upon you if you really would like to have him. And yet there is every reason why you should not permit any young gentleman to believe that you are "running after him." In this your friends have given you very good advice, my dear. Why don't you simply wait for him either to call upon you or not to call, just as it pleases him?

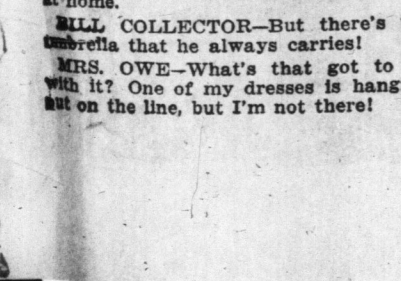

In the mean time, if I were you, I think I should accept the invitations that other young men offered me, and not only would I do this now, but I would continue to do so even when the young gentleman whom you like most particularly comes to see you again. Many good friends are usually ever so much better than just one until you are engaged to be married, my dear. Don't tie yourself down to any young man in particular.

SAURDAY MORNING, JAN. 22.

Your Money or Your Life!

People who do not go to the front in this war for any reason or no reason have a great opportunity to carry on a campaign in their own homes, and build trenches in their own circle of friends.

It is a miserable civilization which has forgotten what it owes to those upon whose shoulders the civilization rests.

We have confidence also in the heads of the departments, and if they are given a reasonable conception of the wishes of the controllers it should not be difficult to achieve a reasonable tax rate.

It was the Duke of Connaught, well informed on the results of war in the past, at whose instance in September, 1914, the patriotic fund was founded to care for the dependents of soldiers at the front.

Toronto raised a million dollars last year for this fund, but this does not represent her responsibility. In fact, Toronto and Ontario generally have overshadowed some of them in the province.

Another well-deserved recognition is that of the Very Reverend George Adam Smith, D. D., LL. D., D. Litt., principal and vice-chancellor of Aberdeen University.

There were 9,000 cases investigated locally, and of these, 6,000 were found to be eligible for assistance, these families representing 15,000 souls.

The living allowance to a soldier's wife is $30 a month and ten cents a day for two children would be $8, or $36 in all.

There are many men and many families, who would find the support of a family a tiling matter, and it is hoped that the whole province, and

Toronto particularly, will show a deep appreciation of the responsibilities resting on the people of Ontario in this matter.

Already some gossip has been in circulation about the tax rate for the coming season. We have no desire to embarrass the officials or the city hall administration.

"Business as usual," was much bragged about in the early days of the war. There is no reason to change that sentiment.

We have always condemned unnecessary extravagance and we are equally opposed to unnecessary parsimony.

The taxes were never paid so well as last fall, and this is an indication that the people are willing to stand by any administration which does the honest and fair thing by the public interests.

We have confidence also in the heads of the departments, and if they are given a reasonable conception of the wishes of the controllers it should not be difficult to achieve a reasonable tax rate.

To sum up, there is no money to throw away, but the city need not go in rags.

MARKHAM GAVE THE LOCALS GOOD BATTLE. Staged a Rally in Last Period and Scored Five Goals on Aura Lee.

Aura Lee got one healthy battle at least. Getting into their stride early in the last period at the arena last night...

They checked Aura Lee well in the first round and it took the local juniors fourteen minutes to get the only tally of the period. Three goals were Aura Lee's share in the second and Markham was still scoreless.

Markham showed one of the best little junior players seen around these parts in many a day. Reesor in his name and he is a younger brother of "Pete" of Riverside fame.

Aura Lee bunched badly for two periods, and their usual good combination was missing. Markham 9 to 0 on Markham on their own ice from now on. The teams:

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—The Donnybrook feature of the O.H.A. Friday game in the Island City on Thursday night may be the means of drastic action emanating from the headquarters of the O.H.A.

The nothing official has been given out, there is reason to believe that suspensions may be in order for one or more players of the Brockville team, some of which joined in the "mob riot" on Referee Tackaberry at the end of the game.

Up to the close of the second period Frontenacs were leading by an odd goal, the score standing 4 to 3. At the commencement of the final stanza the home players began applying the hickory and handing out the stiff jabs which were not favorably inclined to stand the punishment for long, and as a result penalties followed one another in quick succession.

Reg Crawford, a veteran of the Frontenacs, sustained a terrible gash which will likely cost him his eyesight, when he fell on Willy's skate when both players were chasing the puck in a corner. The injury was accidental. Crawford was rushed to a hospital and operated on. This morning a second operation followed. According to advices reaching Ottawa tonight, Crawford will likely lose the sight of his eye, or at least be badly scarred for life.

The salient factor of the mob riot is attributed to the tactics of W. H. Birks, a Brockville forward player. Birks, it appears, took a terrific fall, which was not favorably inclined to stand the punishment for long, and as a result penalties followed one another in quick succession.

NEW ROBERT SIMPSON BUILDING IS GOING UP

Property Committee Grants Permit for Mutual Street Structure.

For the purpose of approving the plans of a large warehouse to be erected by the Robert Simpson Company, a special meeting of the property committee was held yesterday. The part this committee dealt with was the height, which is to be above that allowed by the bylaw. The expert opinion of Fire Chief Smith was asked for, and when he stated that owing to the construction of the building, which is to be fireproof, he was satisfied there could be no added danger, permission in this regard was granted.

The building will be located on Mutual street, north of Wilton ave., and will be used for a warehouse, mail order department and stables. It will be 155 feet high with a frontage of 275 feet and a depth of 115 feet. The cost will be about $500,000.

Ottawa Girl's Message of Hope

Tells Tired Women of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Miss Logan Tells How They Relieved Her of Pains and Aches So Many Run-down Women Know.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 21.—(Special).—"I am glad to say I have found Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me a wonderful lot of good." So says Miss Gladys E. M. Logan of 284 Queen street, this city.

"I suffered from drowsiness and sharp pains across my back. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I had headaches and was subject to neuralgia and rheumatism. I was depressed and low-spirited and troubled with palpitation of the heart. "I was always tired and nervous and very sensitive, and there were hollows under my eyes.

"For two years I was in this worn-out condition, often having to lay off for a day or two. I was attended by doctors and wasted money on useless medicines, but only found relief when I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Miss Logan's statement is a message of hope to thousands of women in Canada. They are suffering just as she suffered. She wants them to know they can find relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

VARSITY TO FURNISH AN ARTILLERY BRIGADE

Major Part of Battalion is to be Formed in the Spring.

Differing only as to what form Varsity's next contribution to the empire's fighting forces should take, 400 University College men met yesterday afternoon in order to get expressions of opinion, and as a result of the meeting it is likely that the major part of an artillery brigade, or an overseas training battalion will be formed among men of all faculties early in the spring. President Falconer's advice was sought, and he gave the opinion of prominent military men that an artillery unit was not feasible at the present, because of lack of facilities for training. He brought out the idea of an overseas training battalion, which would go into camp early in the spring, and would contribute officers as they were needed. The advantage of this system, Dr. Falconer explained, was that the men fitted for leadership could be taken for commissions and that those who were not so fitted could

The World's Champion Athletes Are Not Teetotalers

In training for my own contest in athletics I have always used Ale as a stimulant and a preventive against the constant strain and overwork. I have always found the result beneficial and necessary to keep strength and prevent breaking down in the long training season. I have always recommended its use, within reason, of course, to any athletes who have come under my care, and have found it beneficial in every case.

Alfred Shrubbs

English walking champion at 2 and 7 miles.

P. O'Connor

Champion broad jumper of the world.

Alfred Shrubbs

Alfred Shrubbs, the holder of all middle distance amateur records, and the most famous runner that the world has ever produced, now coach of Harvard University distance runners, says:

"During my running career I always drank beer, and since, as a trainer, I have never prohibited its use in moderation by the men I handle.

"In my opinion, any men in training would be benefited by a glass of beer occasionally. Of course, excesses of all kinds are injurious to men, whether in or out of training."

Bob Dibble

Bob Dibble, for three successive years amateur champion sculler of America, and one of the finest specimens of Canadian manhood in the overseas army, says:

"I have always taken a bottle or two of beer while in my course of training, and have found it to be a big advantage to me."

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED has made an appeal to the sporting fraternity to join the new movement for Prohibition and "to line up with Connie Mack, Ty Cobb, Jess Willard, Hughey Jennings and Eddie Collins." To strengthen this appeal we are told that these well-known professionals and others have said as to the awful ravages of drink in the realm of sport.

The question is, however, whether these alleged statements were ever made. At any rate, Jess Willard, whose name appears in great, black type as champion of the Water Waggon, said some time ago, "I drink a glass of lager beer occasionally, and I believe the malted beverage is restful if drunk moderately," and then he added, "There is more bad liquor sold in Kansas than in any other State of the Union"—and he ought to know, for he, himself, is from Kansas, a Prohibition State.

But to come down to facts. Almost all great sportsmen and athletes have used alcoholic beverages, and the overwhelming majority have trained on them.

You Know These Men

Among these may be mentioned: Martin Sheridan, American all-round champion; John J. Flanagan, the weight-putter; Matt McGrath, champion 56-lb. weight thrower of the world; Melvin Sheppard, champion middle distance runner; Ralph Rose, weight putter; Alfred Shrubbs, champion runner; W. J. Sherring, Marathon winner; Fred S. Cameron, Boston Marathon winner; A. F. Duffy, champion 100 yards; B. J. Wefers, champion 220 yards; Tommy Conneff, mile champion; E. J. Webb, English walking champion at two and seven miles; G. E. Larner, champion walker of the world; P. O'Connor, champion broad jumper of the world; M. Sweeney, champion high jumper of the world; Fred Meadows, long-distance runner; Con Walsh, champion weight-thrower; Dorando Pietri, Marathon winner; Johnny Hayes, Marathon winner; Abel R. Kiviat, champion middle-distance runner, 1914; Battling Nelson, and a host of others.

That prominent athletes consider beer a great upbuilder, in fact a food rather than a stimulant—is proven by the signed declarations given herewith.

On Field and Stream

And what about the great mass of sportsmen in general—the golfers, oarsmen, ball players, bowlers, curlers, and so on in Canada? Stimulants have been beneficial in their training.

And what about the foreign sportsmen—the Belgians, who won at Henley; the French, who are the greatest swordsmen, and now rank among the best boxers of the world; and the Swiss, the finest gymnasts in the world; all trained and brought up on beer and wine?

But even were everything true that is said against drink by the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred, it has still to be shown that Prohibition is correct in principle, and workable in practice; and this cannot be done, for again and again has it been tried and found wanting.

Ale, to my mind, is one of the most necessary articles in diet, in training for any event. It must, of course, be used like any other stimulant, in moderation. I find that it tones the system and keeps one on edge through a long training spell, and prevents the running down of one's system, which comes too frequently to those of the young school. I have found it specially necessary when wanting to be right on edge for some event, and it has never failed to keep me in that top form for some time.

Champion runner.

Fred Meadows
Long distance runner.

I have been brought up in the old school, and to my mind the most successful school of athletic training is the one that calls for Ale as one of the general articles in diet. I look upon this liquor as a food and not a stimulant. Ale, of course, should be used in moderation the same as everything else in training.

TRADING WITH ENEMY TO BE STRICTLY BARRED

German Companies Have Been Contriving to Do Business in Britain.

BILL GIVEN APPROVAL

Second Reading Occasioned Little Debate—More Men for Navy.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—After a brief debate the house of commons today passed the second reading of the bill amending the Trading with the Enemy Act, empowering the board of trade to prohibit any person, firm or company of hostile nationality or associations from carrying on business in this country during the war.

The solicitor-general, Sir George Cave, explained that the purpose of the bill was to put an end to a situation which enabled German companies to continue business here during the war and to hoard their profits for their own benefit in the economic struggle which might be expected to follow the conclusion of peace.

Precautionary Measure.—"I have reason to believe that British property in Germany is being treated in a very high-handed way," the solicitor-general continued.

"While there is no desire to confiscate enemy property in this country, it is desirable that the hand of the state should be placed on such property and that it be kept safe until it is known what has happened to British property in Germany."

The house of commons also passed without discussion the supplementary navy estimates authorizing an addition of 50,000 men to the personnel of the navy.

EDITOR GIVEN NOMINATION.

BRIDGEN, Ont., Jan. 21.—Charles C. Rich, Peter Arthur, joint proprietor of The Fort Arthur Chronicle, was unanimously nominated Liberal candidate for the federal constituency of Peter Arthur and Kenora.

IMPORTANT COMMAND FOR COL. J. CURRIE, M.P.?

Ottawa Hears Rumor of Coming Promotion to Inspector-Generalship.

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—Rumor in Ottawa has it that Colonel John Currie, M.P., is to be made acting inspector-general in place of General Lessard, who has left for England. Gen. Hughes would make this morning no statement in regard to the matter.

Another Ottawa rumor is that Gen. Lessard will command the new fourth division and it is for that purpose he has left for England. However, this is doubted, and it is believed an officer who has seen active service at the front will be given the command. It is emphasized at the capital that it is the intention to make the new division entirely Canadian in every respect. This will mean the artillery, engineering, lines of communication, and every unit will be composed of Canadians and Canadian-equipped. This may mean several months longer before the men get into the firing line, but it will prove much better in the end. The first division from the outset was entirely Canadian, but owing to lack of artillery, the second division for a time has been only partly Canadian. However, this is being remedied, and it is the policy of the militia department to make every division completely Canadian from the commander down to the last line of communication at the base.

ANNUAL MEETING YESTERDAY.

PUT IT IN YOUR WINDOW

If anyone from your home has joined an overseas unit, The Sunday World will give you an excellent chance to show your just pride.

In next Sunday's paper will appear a placard, in colors, that can be cut out and displayed in the window of a home, shop or factory, with space to show just how many "are serving King and Country from here."

This is but one of the general features of interest in the coming Sunday World. Others will include three-score pictures of war life in Toronto, England and Europe—some of them are of men who have done their duty nobly. There will be several splendid stories of local attraction.

From the first page to the last you will find the paper crammed with remarkably good photos, war news, snappy reading matter, and magazine features.

The big feature is the colored window card. Thirty thousand Toronto homes should display this. If your boys are "Doing Their Duty" you should show it—others may thereby be moved to give them the help the Canadian soldiers and the empire needs.

SPY LINCOLN SHIELDED BY GROUP OF EXILES?

Secret Order Said to Be Caring for Former British Member of Parliament.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Government agents said today that they had reason to suspect that Ignatius T. F. Lincoln, the former British member of parliament, who has confessed that he was a spy for Germany, was being harbored by members of a secret organization of European exiles, known to the police as "Group B." This is the organization, it was said, which some years ago successfully interposed to prevent the extradition of Jan. Proust, wanted in Russia on a charge of murder, but whose return to that country was really desired, the organization claimed, for political reasons.

COUNCIL CHANGED BYLAW AFTER IT WAS CARRIED

Action of Windsor Authorities Has Been Sustained by Attorney-General.

The action of the Windsor town council, changing the reading and meaning of a bylaw after the electors had carried that bylaw, was ratified by the Ontario Government yesterday when Hon. L. B. Lucas received a deputation consisting of the mayor and councillors of that town.

The electors carried a bylaw authorizing the council to donate $5000 monthly to the Canadian patriotic fund; then the question arose as to whether it was not intended that local patriotic expenditures should not be paid out of that monthly $5000 fund. The council decided that the bylaw was erroneously worded and made the change which gives the Canadian patriotic fund $5000 less local expenses. Mr. Lucas sustained the action of the town council.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A special cable to The New York Times from Berlin says:

COURT ACTION RESULT OF MOTOR COLLISION

Herbert N. Cowan Appears as Plaintiff Against the City.

The city was sued for damages as an aftermath of an automobile collision on Spadina Crescent last October. Herbert N. Cowan asked for $1800 in an action heard by Mr. Justice Clute and a jury in the assize court yesterday. He stated that while going south opposite the old Knox College property his car was struck by a machine owned by the city property department. Negligence was claimed by the plaintiff, but the city deny this claim, and have lodged a counter-claim for $90 which is alleged as the cost of repairing the city car.

SALVATION OF FRANCE OFFRE'S ONE OBJECT

Victory is Assured if Civilians Hold Firm, He Tells Deputation.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—General Joffre says that the essential thing now is for the civilians to do their part in holding firm.
"If only the civilians will hold firm, that is the essential thing," said the French commander-in-chief to a deputation from the National Railroad Men's Union, formed to help the sufferers. "If Frenchmen keep steady we shall have victory, not immediately or even soon, but eventually."
The head of the deputation said: "There is one thing which encourages me above all others. It is that the commander-in-chief expresses the confidence of everyone. People do not say 'General Joffre', but 'our Joffre', or 'Grandfather Joffre'."
The general smiled, more deeply touched than he cared to show. Then he said gravely: "I have only one object, the salvation of the country. After that I shall disappear."

"FIXER" FINDS HIMSELF IN CLUTCHES OF LAW

St. Louis Attorney Committed for Trial by Magistrate Denison.

When committing Sheppard R. Evans, a St. Louis attorney, to trial for alleged conspiracy to defeat the course of justice yesterday, Col. Denison severely criticized the methods of certain members of the legal profession over the border in fixing cases for their clients. The colonel expressed pleasure that such methods did not obtain in Canada. Evans came to Toronto to "fix the case" for A. B. Brull, who about a month ago, stole diamonds to the value of $1000 from Abraham Rosenthal, a Queen street jeweler. Rosenthal, preferred against Evans had approached him with a request that he forego prosecution of Brull and take back the stolen property. This, the magistrate agreed, was enough to warrant Evans' committal to a jury. Bail was renewed. A second charge, bringing on a charge of forgery, preferred against Brull some time ago by V. S. Jones, manager of the College and Bathurst branch of the Royal Bank, was dismissed.

Fraud Charge Adjudged.
Francis Bedell, auctioneer, charged with obtaining money by false pretences from Mrs. Alice Kenmore, came up in the police court yesterday to answer the charge, and, at the request of his counsel, Frank Statton, was remanded for a week.

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS NEEDED FOR SOLDIERS

Mayor Thinks Local Seats of Learning Should Follow Example.

Mayor Church is of the opinion that the University of Toronto should place some buildings at the disposal of the military authorities for the housing of troops. The question arose when a letter was received from Provost Macklem stating that Trinity was pleased to allow the use of the grounds for training purposes. It was pointed out that universities all over the British Empire have given over what buildings could be spared to the soldiers for winter quarters.

Oni so it was the men that refused this "no profit"?

"Yes, and that was the first time I knew I was going to be stung," replied the witness, who had had previous experience in real estate deals.

It was not learned during the evidence taking, who made this offer of Detective Croome gave evidence that he had seized the papers in the Toronto office of the McCutcheon Brothers, and was present at the raid on the Brantford branch. All the papers, he said, were either in court or at the Brantford office. In answer to Hartley Dewar, K.C., he said he had not seen A. K. Goodman "boasting round the police court," but the recollection of the Brantford documents, he claimed, that he had seen Goodman, "I thought he had more knowledge than I had," said the detective.

No intention to Defraud. Continuing his examination of W. D. Spence at the morning sitting Mr. Dewar asked questions regarding the transactions of the accused man, who was familiar with the ideals and methods which have made such a wonderful success of the Briscoe Motor Co., as he has been for the past 1 1/2 years closely associated with Mr. Benjamin Briscoe.

Mr. Ellery Wright, the mechanical superintendent, is one of those who grew up with the motor industry, and has been associated with Mr. Briscoe since the first Maxwell-Briscoe car was put on the market from Brantford, N. Y. He drove the first car ever completed, a 10,000 mile non-stop run, has won the famous "Blue Bird" race, and has been in charge of the mechanical end of the old United States Motor Co. in Canada, and was assistant superintendent of the industry plant of the Briscoe Motor Co., so has had every experience to enable him to maintain the high standard in the Canadian factory that the Briscoe car has won for itself in the United States.

For 1916 the Canadian Briscoe is being made in four models—five-passenger touring car and a three-passenger Clover Leaf Roadster, with either a four or eight-cylinder engine.

The Briscoe Motor Co., of Jackson, Mich., is one of the largest American companies, and recently absorbed other interests, viz.: The Anglo Motor Co., The Jackson Motor Parts Co., The Jackson Motor Products Co., The Jackson Motor Car Co., Waterloo, Iowa, and the Lewis Spring and Axle Co., Jackson, thus adding a further area of thirty-five acres to their already large plant, and enabling them to make every part of the Briscoe in their own factories, 1916 production will run over 30,000 cars.

The new Briscoe will be exhibited at all the motor shows in the United States and Canada.
