Liberal journals are trying to divert attention from the revelation of the government's scheme to make the millitia a cog of the machine by fixing upon that part of Lord Dundon-ald's statement in which he declares that the speech which caused all the trouble was made deliberately and with a full idea of what would follow its publication. How can the government be censured, they ask, for doing just what Lord Dundonald expected it to do; what he felt would be the inevitable consequence of his action?

Undoubtedly, Lord Dundonald knew when he made that memorable speech that he was signing his own discharge papers. But that was because he knew the ministers with whom he had to deal. He knew their lack of sympathy with the plans for the improvement of the militia; knew their hatred of anything imperialistic; knew that they cared for nothing save themselves and the advantage of their party; knew that they were determined to work the militia, primarily for petty political purposes and knew that any exposure of or protest against their methods would bring swift vengeance.

If the abuses which forced him to protest had been the work of one member of a patriotic cabinet he might have expected that the majority opinion would condemn and cause the end of those abuses by the discharge of the man to blame. But knowing the complexity of all in the political sine of each he had no hope in this direction.

He expected and was willing to be deceived of his office in the hope that deprivation would awaken the people to a sense of the danger under which they lay.

But does the fact that the cabinet did as any other body of similarly corrupt politicians would have done under the same circumstances, exonerate them from their criminal juggling with the country's safety and their insolent and treacherous treatment of the one patriot who had the courage to expose them?

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Though there will be the usual hurrah at the Republican convention now in session at Chicago, the proceedings are purely formal. Everything is already cut and dried by the few leaders who have the making of the program and politics and all the convention has to do is to endorse their decisions and work up a little enthusiasm as a starter for the open work of the campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt will undoubtedly be the presidential candidate. He has earned the honor and the last hope of the mal-the president. The minutes of the previous meeting were unanimously approved. Dr. Dawson, the secretary of the society, read the annual report of the council. The society was shown to be in a financial straits, with a balance of over $1,100 on hand. Reference was made to the losses which the

At the conclusion of the general meeting the different sections held their school building and completed their organization.

Section I, French literature, at one took up its program of readings and addresses. The English section was addressed by W. D. Lighthall, who in his address, Rev. Dr. Withrow read a paper on the Jesuit Missions of Can-section adjourned to today's meeting at 10 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present at society. The department of mathematics and physical sciences will hold its first meeting this morning at 10 o'clock.

before the geological and biological section of the society by H. S. Poole,

The feature of the evening was Col.

ture on "The Influence of the Loyalists on Canadian History." After a brief discussion of the causes of the Ameri-

ACADIA'S GOOD FORTUNE.

Acadia University has come in for another piece of good fortune. Professor J. P. Tutts, who is at present in New York, has telegraphed the president of the college that Dr. Charles F. Myers of New York, a graduate of Acadia, will assume at once the support of a chair in biology at Acadia, and will in all probability fully endow the chair within the next five years. It has been known for some time that Dr. Myers had provided in his will for the endowment of a professorship. Recently he had indicated that he might make the gift during his lifetime. Professor Tutts, who was a classmate, went to New York last week to talk the matter over, and with the above happy result. The gift is apart from and in addition to the second forward movement.

FOR THE REGATTA.

Heber Vroom, who visited Annapolis in the interests of the Neptune Rowing Club, had a talk with Admiral Douglas of the Ariadne. The admiral said he would be pleased to have a crew of 14 men row against the fishermen here. Capt. Slater of the warship undertook to give three entries in the man-of-war race.

Admiral Douglas' son will endeavor to arrange for a cricket match here on Friday.

SCHRS. GROUNDED.

In yesterday morning's fog two vessels had narrow escapes from serious injury by going around on places near the harbor. The schooner Nina Wancha, Capt. Crocker, which carries fish between Westport and St. John, grounded on the Round Reef. The schooner Genevieve, coal laden, from New York with a cargo for Geo. Dick, was held up for an hour or so at the Beacon Bar. No damage of any account was sustained by the vessel. She was removed from the bar by a tug and went in to Mr. Dick's wharf.

PHILIP O'NEIL A REGULAR.

The Boston Herald, speaking of Dougherty being sent to New York and O'Neill being put on the regular Boston team as left fielder, says:

Both sides have now been heard in the Dougherty case. Colquhoun, who had as saying O'Neill is a far better fielder than Dougherty, and thinks he will be as good a big league player as O'Neill in a nut shell. All depends upon the "will be."

If O'Neill turns out to be equal to the demands as a batsman, well and good. He is a very fast man, batted well in the western league last season, ranking among the best batsmen in that organization. He batted for 333 last season, ranking third of the hitters who participated in twenty games.

In 1903 he made 107 runs, showing him to be an excellent run-getter, and he stole forty-eight bases, which he excelled in the respect by but two men.

TAILORS' UNION.

A meeting of the tailors' union was held last night at the headquarters of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America, paid a return visit to St. John on his way west.

He reported on his tour of the headquarters. Resolutions of sympathy were reported from the Halifax, Moncton and Amherst unions, and they have pledged themselves to help the St. John men as far as they can.

It is probable that the St. John tailors will be represented in the trade congress to meet in Montreal in September. It is proposed to hold a tailors' picnic next month.

He succeeded Louis Mann as star of the "All on Account of Eliza" company, and season after next he will become a full fledged star under the management of those successful Boston managers Messrs. A POLITICAL COMPLICATION.

(Atlanta Journal).

Dr. Cyrus Teed, head of the Khorshani Unity, which believes that the earth is a hollow shell, of which the human race inhabits the interior, and John Temple Graves, the Georgia editor, who has been trying to swing Florida into line for Hearst, arrived in Tampa on the same night recently, each with the intention of addressing an audience on his favorite topic. Graves was delayed, and a crowd waited impatiently at the court house for his appearance. Dr. Teed took advantage of the opportunity, and, mounting the platform, proceeded without introducing himself to expound his theories about the coelestity of the earth's surface. An old-time Democrat from the country, who had come into town to hear Graves, listened to the Khorshani's arguments for some time, then arose and addressed the speaker from the middle of the hall.

"See here, Mr. Graves, I've stood for Cleveland Democracy and their radical-like tomfoolery, and I've voted or straight like a man; I've stood for Bryan Democracy, with their 10 to 1 never-can-win monkey business, and I've voted or straight like a man; but if you Hearst Democrats are a-going to try to make the people of this county believe that I've been walking on the inside of this earth, with our heads poked to hell and our toes planted to the angels, right here where I quit the old ship, by gum!"
