Premier on Naval Defence

"I am not speaking without carefully
weighing my words when I say, as I say to you now, that at this very moment we may be on the eve of new developments in forms of naval construction which may ultimately affect many of the governing conditions of naval policy. I do not think I came to any decision with a strong deeper sense of responsibility, a deeper sense of its justice, than the one with which every one of my concerns. I do not think we justified, for the purpose of a common object which all our country honestly profess
we--namely, the maintain-ment of this as in every ship, if, at this moment

and under existing conditions, we are to take the course which is being pressed upon us, and to order those eight ships now and at once. Cheers. Before I leave the matter there is one less controversial and more pleasant aspect of it which we shall all be glad to acknowledge.
I mean the magnificent offers made-- with their value enhanced by the fine and generous spirit in which those offers have been made--on the part of our self-governing Colonies, Cheers. Nothing could have been,
I think more gracious and more tactful,
or indicate a more generous patriotic conception of the common obligations of Empire than the attitude of these Colonies in regard to this matter." Cheers.
--Premier Asquith.

If you Want to be Liked

O ye who taste that love is sweet,
Set way-marks for all doubtful feet
That stumble on in search of it.
Lead life of love; that others who Behold your life, may kill me too
With love, and cast their lot with you.
--Christine Rossetti.

I suppose if someone started a discussion as to what special trait of character
it is necessary to cultivate in order to be liked, there would be as many different opinions as there were people. Personally, I should plump for cheerfulness-- the kind of cheerfulness that will stand the wear and tear of everyday life, and shines out brightest in dark times.

For it always seems to me that the dumps is as infectious as the mumps.
To live always with people who shed a depressing atmosphere round them is rather like living in a perpetual fog.
After a time it seems to get right into your bones. That is what depression does.
After living for a time with people who are always depressed you are pretty sure to catch the infection, and become as gloomy as your gloomy companions.
Now, it is impossible to find any real pleasure in going to see people who take the spirit out of one like this. You may go and see them because it is a duty or because you are sorry for them; but you will not do so because it gives you pleasure.

And so, if we want to be liked, I think one of the first things to do is to make up our minds that, no matter what may happen, we will do our very best to keep cheerful, especially after being with people who insist on seeing the dark side of life.

It is a relief to turn to someone who is cheery natured, who looks on the bright side of everything, and who always has some little encouraging word to say.
If the one is like a fog, the other is like a sunny conservatory, under whose influence all one's little hopes and aspirations seem possible, so that one feels inspired to grapple again with all the difficulties of life.

I know a girl who asked her husband, as wives are apt to do, what attracted him to her first of all.
And this he said: "I liked you because you were so bright, and had such a cheery way of talking."

Here is a little poem that I came across the other day, and liked so much that I have cut it out and pasted it in a book, so that, in case I feel dull and out of gear, I may read it again:

"The wind was east, and the chimney
smoked
And the old brown house seemed dull
and weary,
For nobody smiled, and nobody joked,
The young folks grumbled, the old folks
croaked;
They had come home chilled and dreary.

Then opened the door, and a girl came in;
Oh, she was homely--very!
Her nose was pug, and her cheek was thin.

There wasn't a dimple from brow to
chin,
But her smile was bright and cheery.

She spoke not a word of cold and damp,
Nor yet of the gloom about her;
But she mended the fire and lighted the lamp,
And she put on the place a different
stamp

From that it had without her.
They forgot that the house was a dull
old place,
And smoky from base to rafter;
And gloom departed from every face,
As they felt the charm of her mirthful
grace.

And the cheer of her happy laughter,
Oh, give me the girl who will smile and sing,
And make all glad together!

To be plain or fair is a lesser thing,
But a kind, unselfish heart can bring
Good cheer in the darkest weather.

Veterans of the House of Commons

Of the score or so of men who sat in the first Parliament of the Dominion of Canada and who have not yet passed over to the great majority, eight sat down to dinner the other day in the restaurant of the House of Commons as guests of the Canadian Club of Ottawa.

Among the other guests were the Prime Minister, the leader of the Opposition, and several other members from both Houses. Five of the eight veterans are members of the present, the eleventh, Parliament of Canada, so that they dined with political associates of forty years ago and those of today. Among the surviving veterans are several of the most prominent members of that first Parliament, which, as Earl Grey aptly said, rocked the cradle in which reposed the Confederation baby. Several of them sat down that day to dinner, others were absent, in all probability destined never to meet again. Two who were missed were Sir Charles Tupper and the Hon.
Edward Blake. For many years they were conspicuous figures in the political arena, but their battles are over and their armor laid aside.

In the list of names of surviving members of that first Parliament published in one of the newspapers, strange to say, the name of Sir Charles was omitted, a remarkable omission to make, when every history of Confederation mentions the fact that Sir Charles (Dr. Tupper then) was the only supporter of the new order of things elected in Nova Scotia.
Cumberland stood firm against the anti-Confederation tide, electing Dr. Tupper by the rather narrow majority of 87.

Perhaps the error occurred by not remembering that although he was not taken into the Cabinet at its formation, he was in the House from the first. A portfolio was offered Dr. Tupper when Sir John McDonald was choosing his ministers, but with great unselfishness
it was refused in order that it might be given to a representative of another element of the population.

THE ELECTIONS OF 1867
The elections that returned the members of that first Federal Parliament were held during the late summer and early autumn of 1867. Those elections brought many surprises. One was the defeat in North Ontario of the Hon. George Brown
one of the Fathers of the then infant
Confederation, the leader of the Clear Grits, and a man who during the preceding twenty years had had as much to do with the making and unmaking of ministries as any man living. It was Brown's last election campaign, and like his first, it ended in defeat. The first was fought in Haldimand, and the memorable feature of it is the fact that the Grit leader was defeated by the penitent and pardoned rebel leader, William Lyon Mackenzie. "The contest was an exciting one," writes Mr. Charles Lindsay in his Life of William Lyon Mackenzie, "and created widespread interest on account of the political prominence of the candidates, both of whom belonged to the Reform party, which, at that time, was composed of groups or sections
not fully in accord on some of the questions of the day. The result of this election caused a certain amount of estrangement between Brown and Mackenzie, which was never wholly removed on account of Mackenzie's independence
in the Assembly and otherwise."

THE DEATH OF GEORGE BROWN
It will be twenty-nine years on Monday next since George Brown's life came to a close. His end was tragic, for he was the victim of an assassin's revolver.
Bennett, the man who killed George Brown, had been employed in the engine room of the Globe printing house, but had been discharged for intemperance.
On the afternoon of March 25, 1880,
Bennett entered the private office of Mr.
Brown, presented a paper for the latter to sign, stating that Bennett had been in the employ of the Globe for five years.
Bennett was told to go to the head of the department in which he had been employed, but Bennett replied that the head of the department had refused to give the certificate. He was then told to apply to the treasurer of the company, but he kept insisting that Mr. Brown should sign the paper, and finally he began to fumble in his pistol-pocket, whereupon it occurred to Mr. Brown, to use his own words, "that the little wretch might be meaning to shoot me." Bennett got out his pistol but Mr. Brown seized the man's wrist and turned his hand downward. One shot was fired in the struggle, the bullet passing through the outer side of Mr. Brown's left thigh.

The report of the pistol and Mr.
Brown's cries for help instantly brought assistance from the editorial rooms.
Among the first to arrive were Mr. Avern
Fardoe, now Librarian of the Ontario Legislature; Mr. Archibald Blair, head of the Census Bureau at Ottawa; and Mr. John A. Ewan, now leader writer on the Globe.

WOUND WAS NOT CONSIDERED SERIOUS
The wound was not considered to be mortal, and for a number of days, but against the advice of his physicians, Mr.
Brown transacted business in his room;
but as April wore away the case began to look serious. Periods of delirium occurred, and then the wounded man became unconscious. Early on Sunday,
May 10th, George Brown passed away.
Almost a third of a century has flown since then, and most of the men who worked with George Brown in public life or who fought against him are no more;
but his name is not forgotten, nor will his career ever cease to be a matter of interesting study to those who would understand the long struggle in Canada for responsible government and the arduous and delicate task of those who laid the foundations of our Dominion.

A YEAR OF MILE-STONES

The year of George Brown's death-- 1880--was marked by several events that stand like mile-stones along the course of Canadian history. One of these was the extension of Canadian territory to the Arctic Ocean. Twelve years before Canada had acquired the territorial rights of the Hudson Bay to Rupert's Land, but this land did not include all the Great North Land. There was still a sub-Arctic region that belonged by right of discovery and conquest to the British Crown, had not been passed to the control of the Dominion of Canada.
At Confederation the intention was to place all British North America under one federal government, and in order to carry out that plan it was necessary to extend Canada northward. This was done by Imperial orders-in-council an-nexing to Canada all the outlying parts of British North America, including the Arctic Archipelago. There was of course, one conspicuous and regrettable exception. It was that of Newfoundland, a self-governing colony which having refused to come in at Confederation, had to be left outside the Dominion.

It has been stated that the suggestion was made to Sir John Macdonald that Newfoundland, whether willing or not,
should be included in the British North America Act, but against such a suggestion he took a determined stand, believing very wisely that it was task enough to reconcile to the union one dissatisfied Province, which was Nova Scotia, and which had been brought in against the wishes of her people, as the first federal election showed when only one constituency, Cumberland, returned a member favorable to Confederation.

THE NEGOTIATIONS OF 1894

In 1894 there were negotiations with Newfoundland in reference to union with Canada, but unfortunately they fell through. Speaking at the veterans' banquet the other day in Ottawa, Sir Mackenzie Bowell denied the statement that failure to make a satisfactory financial arrangement with Newfoundland related only to a few hundred thousand dollars.
It was more than that, said Sir Mackenzie, the difference amounting to several millions. Perhaps it would have been better both for Canada and Newfoundland

had the terms of the latter been accepted, and the Dominion rounded out by the annexation of the great island colony.

In that same year, 1880, was signed the contract for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. That was twenty-nine years, the railway has been in operation twenty-five and the country now has on hand the construction of another transcontinental line. Things have moved in Canada during the past quarter of a century.

During that same year Sir A. T. Gait went to London as Canada's first High Commissioner, and Charles Fisher, another "Father of Confederation," passed away.

Actions of Canadian Heroes

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, which has just issued a report of its operations, mentions the following heroic actions have taken place in Canada-- Michael A. Doyle, aged 31, ship laborer, saved Charlotte L. de Kastner, aged 17,
from drowning, Quebec, Que., April 28th, 1904. Doyle jumped into the St.
Lawrence river, which was running with ice, and rescued the girl who was intent on suicide.--Silver Medal.

Arthur J. Gottschalk, aged 24, storekeeper, saved Phoebe Webster, aged 35
from drowning, Crystal Beach, Ont., July 6, 1904. Gottschalk's canoe was capsized in his effort to rescue Mrs. Webster who was intent on suicide, and he then supported her in the water until both were rescued.--Bronze medal.

Samuel M. de Sherbinn, aged 20, jeweller, saved Alfred O. Burnham, aged 25
carpenter, from drowning, Langham, Sask., August 23, 1905. De Sherbinn swam across thirty feet from shore, and after a struggle, effected rescue in Saskatchewan river, where the water was ten feet deep.--Bronze medal.

P. John Bibby, aged 29, mate, saved John Jamieson, aged 40, laborer, from drowning, Bracebridge, Ont., October 31 1905. Bibby jumped from a steamer into Maskoka Lake and swam to Jamieson, who had become benumbed and exhausted while clinging to a small boat, which had capsized during a heavy storm. It was impracticable to launch a lifeboat from the steamer. Supporting him until the steamer was brought nearer, Bibby
then caught hold of a life-preserver thrown from it, and both were hauled on board.--Silver medal.

William Gilmour, Jr., aged 34, printer
Montreal Star, attempted to save John
A. Moorhouse, aged 10, from drowning, Sorel, Que., July 1, 1905. Gilmour jumped from a steamer into the St. Lawrence river, and swam after Moorhouse, who had fallen from the boat and was being carried off by the current. He could not find the boy, and became almost exhausted attempting to swim back to the steamer, which was half a mile distant. He succeeded in reaching a raft which had been thrown from the steamer and was later picked up by a boat, which,
after much delay had been launched.-- Silver medal and $1,000.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustach-ian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition,
hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh)
that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Care. Send for particulars, free.

Cold in the Head NOTICE
What's the sense in Sneezing and Sniffing, dosing with purgatives, or bothering with tonizers?
Catarrhozone
A convenient inhaler treatment is the proper remedy to cure quickly and pleasantly Sensible people long ago abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.
To cure a cold in about ten minutes' time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic, delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.
Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic, and perfectly safe and harmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.
Catarrhozone never disappoints, it stops sneezing, coughing and running at the eyes, by a few inhalations. Inflammation, congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told.
C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."
To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung or throat trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 50 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

MODERN SEAPORTS

The problem of the improvements that it is necessary to make in order to bring a great seaport up to the level of modern commercial requirements is one which is occupying the attention of the representatives of the great shipping centres of the world.

Those interested in the well-being of each important seaport consider themselves under the necessity of providing for that port facilities equal to those possessed by rival ports in order that commercial business may not be lost through diversion. A struggle on the lines of a survival of the fittest is going on all over the world, and no doubt, it is this eagerness to provide whatever may be needed for the betterment of commerce that has been the main cause for the constant reduction that is taking place in the cost of water transportation for merchandise, and the great improvements that have taken place in the facilities provided for passenger transportation.

THE STREETS

Ever since incorporation the question of better streets has been the all important subject among the citizens. Street committees and commissioners have come and gone, and still the town has not the streets it should have, when the amount of money expended is considered. The men appointed to do this work have undoubtedly performed the task assigned to them, to the best of their ability, but can we expect merchants, book-keepers or farmers to do work, which at this day is considered a profession by itself. It seems absurd to expect that men of this class can build streets. We are always ready to put the blame on men who are doing the best possible, perhaps neglecting their own business. Would it not pay the town to engage a competent man and build permanent streets? Do the work each year along scientific lines, doing as much as the appropriation will permit. If this is done, in a few years we will have first class streets and thoroughfares, that will meet the requirements of all seasons.

CLEAN UP

A notice from the Board of Health appears in this issue. It tells householders to clean up yards, pavements etc. Happily such notices are hardly needed in this town. The citizens can be depended upon, to observe the law, without being pushed by the health officers. There are perhaps a few spots that do not present a charm sweet to the public eye, but these will probably receive attention this year. The health of a community depends on cleanliness, and any effort put forth to purge yards and premises of the accumulation of the winter will be for the well being of the town.

TO LIVE 1,000 YEARS

Dr. John Farr, who is the head of Boston's latest cult, "New Life," has laid down a few similar rules which, if followed, he says, will cause a man to live not only to be 100 but to be 1,000 years. Here are the rules:

"Dress always in white. White is the prime principle of life.

"Live principally upon vegetables and nuts. Abjure meat, milk, oil and flesh of all kinds, as well as all stimulants.

"Sleep eight hours daily, exercise eight hours and work eight hours.

"A man's most critical times in the day are the thirty minutes before and after meals. He should absolutely stop work for half an hour before each meal, and must not resume work until a half hour after each meal.

"Sleep with your bedroom window open every night all your lifetime. Always have a draught in your room."

BY THE WAY

Now catch May fish!

Street repairing is the perplexing civic problem.

The daily papers are full of robberies, murders, stealings and accidents. How seldom we read of a good deed.

Every man must settle the drink question for himself. If a man wants to cut out the drink habit, he must cut it out himself--no other man or body of men can cut it out for him.

Four thousand immigrants arrived at Quebec on Saturday. The nation-building process is going on at a faster rate in Canada than in any other division of the world.

A good laugh--a laugh, that is, which is pleasant to hear, thoroughly unaffected, and quite devoid of malice--is as rare, nearly, as a good smile. Both are among the best gifts of the gods.

"What are you going to do with all that counterfeit money?" asked Sapphira.

"My dear," answered Ananias, "I am going to pay my dues in the distinguished club that bears my name."

"I have been taking some moving pictures of life on your farm."

"Did you ketch the hired man in motion?"

"I think so."

"Ah, science kin do anything these days."--Louisville Courier-Journal.

The spirit of housecleaning is abroad in the air. The beatings of carpets is now a familiar song. The ladies of the house now assert their authority, and the male element has much ado to find a place to sit down let alone a place where to place his feet and his head.

Spring cleaning should be abolished in favor of a regularly conducted cleaning process kept up all the year round at comparatively short intervals. This is the course pursued by many careful citizens nowadays, and the public would do well to follow their example.--Lancet, London.

If the United States desires freer trade with us the way is open for a reduction in its own tariff rates. Canada is not going to be made the dumping ground for American manufacturers, but it is ready to meet its neighbor half way in a proposal for fair and equitable exchange of products.--Halifax Chronicle.

By spending a few thousand annually in game and fish protection, tourists can be induced to come into Ontario and invest millions of dollars annually in sun-burn and fish yarns. There is no outgo. All the money remains here, and the tourist takes away with him nothing but freckles and recollections.--Times Journal.

Teaching the children to watch things grow, each day unfolding new beauties, is to enlarge the child's capacity for enjoying nature's methods, and to understand how nature adapts itself to its environment, making the best of everything. This is why every family should have a garden patch, if it contains only a few square yards of dirt. The simplest flower contains the secret of the why and the wherefore of the universe.--Detroit News.

A merchant called upon his banker a few days ago for a loan, and was promptly given it, when the latter remarked: "It is strange how times have changed. Twelve or fifteen months ago, many of our customers were craving for loans and were willing to pay any figure in order to secure them, but we had not all the money they wanted to spare, and now when surplus means are ample and rates very low, borrowers seem to require less assistance. I sometimes question if business is as good as some endeavor to make out. I suppose, however, it is your turnings now, and our shareholders will have to be content with less dividends."

Senator Gillmor when a member was quick to reply. He was a great favorite with Sir John and many of the Conservatives. Upon one occasion he was speaking on the budget and could make no headway or even get into the swing of his speech for the tormenting interruptions hurled at him by his Conservative friends from the other side. He then told this story: "Mr. Speaker," he said, "honorable gentlemen opposite remind me of a board of bank directors that a friend of mine once had to deal with. His associations with them personally were so familiar and pleasant that when he wanted a note discounted he called at the bank while the directors were in session and his note was taken in by one of them and laid before the board. Very soon it was returned by the director who said he was very sorry but the board did not care to discount the paper. My friend thought for a moment and then, opening the directors' room, he looked them over and remarked: 'Individually I like you, but collectively you are a pack of damn scoundrels.'"

Sir John Macdonald led in the applause and laughter that followed; then turning to his followers, said: "That served you right; let Gillmor alone."--Telegraph.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

A number of juvenile baseball teams are in various stages of organization in the town.

Free Speech, a weekly paper published at Moncton has been prohibited from the use of the mails.

Abram Goss, section foreman, on N. B. S. Ry. was very badly injured, Friday, by falling from a pump car which was in tow of a train.

Weir owners along the shore, who neglected to build their weirs this Spring are regretting the fact that they were caught napping.

Counterfeit half dollars are said to be in circulation on the St. Croix border. Watch your coin and see that every fifty cent piece has the true ring.

The smelts are paying their annual visit to Utopia, but it has been too cold for successful trout fishing. A few good strings have come down.

Children attending the public schools, will celebrate Friday the 21st, Empire Day. A program consisting of reading and recitations is being prepared. It is hoped the parents and friends of the young people will attend.

Farmers in this section of the County are busy preparing for seeding. Some enterprising tillers of the soil possessing high ground, have already planted potatoes. With fine weather the prospects for early crops will be good.

Mrs. McVicar wife of Capt. Colin McVicar of Mascarene, was badly scalded, Saturday morning. While pouring boiling water from a tea kettle she was seized with a fainting spell and fell to the floor, the hot water going over her.

L. A. McAdam erected a handsome red granite monument in the Apohaqui cemetery for Wellesley Parke, in memory of his wife and children. The firm has also laid off plots at the Sussex Corner cemetery for Mrs. George Myers and Nelson W. Eveleigh. Both lots are enclosed in granite copings.—Kings County Record.

Fish have been fairly plentiful the past week at the factories, and what is not usual, they have been of excellent size and uniform quality. A and C in the village and D at North Lubec, are taking care of the Lubec Sardine Co.'s receipts, and the two Sea Coast shops have also commenced operations up town, making things somewhat more busy than usual this year.—Lubec Herald.

Concerning Fish—Vinegar is better than ice for keeping fish and a fish is often improved in flavor by putting a little vinegar on it. Vinegar added to the water for boiling any kind of fish, except salt fish, hardens the fish and is a great improvement. While baking, fish should be laid on strips of salt pork, as this not only improves the fish, but keeps it from sticking also.

Ottawa.—The Dominion Postmasters' Association held their annual meeting in Ottawa yesterday and today. J. V. Bourque, of Sherbrooke (N. B.), was elected president; G. H. Burgar, of Welland (Ont.), first vice-president, and R. Stratton, of Stonewell (Man.), secretary. Amongst the matters brought to the postmaster-general's attention by the association is the need for better labels on newspapers going through the mails and that certain cases where the minimum $35 allowance to postmasters in small centres should be increased. Mr. Lemieux promised consideration.

Since the destruction last year of the old wharf at Welchpool, Campobello, the steamers of Lubec, Perov Co., have not been landing at the Island, and the residents have been put to great inconvenience in consequence. Last week however the Owen pier was put in place and on Saturday the ferry boats resumed their usual schedule which is greatly appreciated. The large new wharf which is being built by the Canadian government, will it is expected, be in readiness for use sometime during the coming month of June.

Paper hangers and carpenters have been at work decorating and repairing Mount Vernon Lodge. Mrs. N. Richardson who will open this well known place on June 15th, has made improvements that will insure to the tourist comfortable and homelike surroundings. The dining room is bright and cheerful, and that which will be served therein will be of the best quality and calculated to make guests desire to return to the table of hospitality at Mount Vernon.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

We have had very few spring-like days so far.

The school trustees are advertising for two first class female teachers.

Charlotte County Orange Lodge will meet at Pennfield, Thursday 20th inst.

D. Bassen's big reduction sale is going on. His store is the centre of attraction for good buyers.

The store of O'Brien & Gilmor is being improved by a bright coat of paint. Capt. H. Douglas is boss painter.

Postmaster O'Brien is suffering from a badly sprained ankle, the result of a fall. He is able to go about with the aid of a crutch.

Schooner John R. Fell took the berth just vacated by the Sch. Ruth Robinson. Both loaded pulp and cleared for New York, Conn.

The juvenile element have been making life miserable for some of the newly married people. The chivari custom is an old one, but can be made very annoying.

"The Hustler" at Coutts hall, Wednesday evening 20th inst. will be the next attraction. The company is a large one, and is meeting with much success. Specialties will be introduced between acts.

Robert Maguire was found guilty of perjury at St. Andrews, Wednesday. Sentence was deferred until June. The case arose from a suit between Maguire and Henry Dyer, tried last May.

Rev. George Titus, in reply to a question last night, said he had about decided to accept the pastorate of the Coburg street Christian church, an offer of which was extended to him recently.

John Endini, the Italian who has been on trial at Burton, N. B., for killing John McKay at Minto, in November last, was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced by Judge McLeod to ten years in Dorchester penitentiary.

The S. S. Granville gave her farewell whistle to this place on Friday last to go on the route between St. John and St. Andrew's Bay ports, where she will be known as the S. S. Connors Bros. She has plied regularly each week between here and St. John for five years and did good service.—Annapolis Spectator.

If the fishermen's picnic is to be held here this year, it is time some move was made in the matter. The date and place will be fixed very soon by the Union, and if it is to be held here a decision must soon be reached. The Utopia Athletic Association might take the matter up. As this year promises to be a banner one among the fishermen the picnic will probably be on a much larger scale than usual.

The school building has undergone a thorough cleaning and scouring. The grounds have also received attention and both building and surroundings are in first class condition. Messrs. Martin and Wathen, who are deeply interested in all that pertains to the comfort of the pupils, had the work done under their supervision and were ably assisted by the boys and girls from the different towns.

Messrs. Hatheway & Co., of St. John, N. B., have evolved this year quite a good scheme of letter writing which ought to stimulate our school children to use the pen freely and well. This enterprising firm offers a prize list of $200, in all 545 prizes, for the best written letters sent them by any boys or girls from eight to fifteen years old. They have printed a copy of the letter which eulogizes the brand of tea known as Tiger Tea. Some of the cash prizes for the best written letters are $10 each, others $5 and others $3, and there are 500 prizes for which there is a gift worth $2 and a gift worth $1. We have the idea that our county should get some of these 545 prizes, and no doubt a good many of the boys and girls at school to-day are carefully writing out the necessary letter so as to receive the prizes sometime early in July.

This firm had a similar competition about eight years ago, and many of the prizes went to Kent Co., N. B., which showed the French children had very careful instructions in letter writing. Even though the child of eight years should not write the letter as well as the child of 15 years, still the age of the child will be considered when the prizes are awarded. As the prize competition ends the last of June we suppose many of the children will be sending in their letters immediately. If they drop a postal card to Messrs. Hatheway & Co., St. John, that firm will be glad to send them a copy of the letter required, which shows the conditions of the competition. Ten Dollars and Five Dollars in cash is worth trying for, and surely among the 545 prizes this county ought to get forty or fifty.

Put a little "Sunshine" in your home
An old-fashioned, ill-working furnace is a non-producer.
It consumes the coal, but through leaks and cracks wastes the heat.
It is not economy to have such a furnace in your own home, or in your tenant's home.
If you are thinking of building you should be interested in Sunshine Furnace. It adds 100 per cent. to home comforts.
As soon as you let the contract for your house decide on your furnace. The "Sunshine" man will be pleased to tell you just how the rooms ought to be laid out with an eye to securing greatest heat from the smallest consumption of coal.
If you want to experiment with the question don't specify "Sunshine."
If you want to settle the question specify "Sunshine."

The World Over
The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward and Queen Alexandra on board, is cruising in the Mediterranean.
An American named Baskerville, a teacher in the Presbyterian boys' school at Tabriz, accused of complicity in revolutionary movements, was killed in battle last week. The Presbyterian mission disavowed the acts of Baskerville, and he resigned from the mission.
The population of Winnipeg, about which there has been so much speculation, is placed at 122,500 by the city assessors. The assessors' figures are usually authentic and in consequence those who had expected that the population would be in the neighborhood of 140,000 are disappointed.
Rudolph Buol, aged fifty-five, was assassinated at a late hour last week while asleep. The murderer opened Buol's bedroom window and placed a stick of dynamite on his bed, exploding it with a fuse. Buol was instantly killed. His wife, asleep at his side, escaped without injury.
Charged with having committed some thirty murders, a woman named Popova has been arrested at Sumara, Russia. During the past thirty years, it appears, the woman has made a practice of ridding capricious wives of their husbands by poison. She charged small fee is alleged to have executed her work with much despatch. Made Popova has confessed to having killed the murders, but protests that she did an excellent work in freeing unhappy wives from their tyrants.

Implement Tariff
There is no industry in Canada that can as well afford to stand the pruning knife as the manufacturers of agricultural implements. There is no industry which has so abused tariff privileges it enjoys. How is it that the government and its newspaper organs which rant so loudly against the woolen duties, have not a word to say against the duty on agricultural implements? This is a question which the farmer will do well to turn over in his mind. All the fuss and furor about the phantom effort to increase the woolen duties is so much false alarm designed to divert the farmer's attention from protected industries which are more to be feared than the manufactures of woolen goods.--Winnipeg Telegram.

Two Preventatives Against the Moths
Take one fourth of an ounce each of ground cloves and caraway seed, one ounce of dried common salt, one half pound lavender flowers free from the stalk and one half ounce each of dried thyme and mint. Mix well together, and put in silk or cambric bags. These scented bags, if placed among clothes, will preserve them from moths and give a pleasant odor.
If you are troubled with moths in the house, try putting blotting paper well saturated with turpentine in the drawers, among the furs and bedclothes; or wherever there is any danger of the moths working their depredations; it can even be put along the edges of carpets. Turpentine is the best preventive of moths have discovered.--Woman's Home Companion for May.

Rheumatism for Several Years— Now as well as Ever

647 Main St., St. John, N. B., Nov. 27, 1908.
Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd.

I am writing to tell you I have been a victim to Rheumatism for several years, and have been treated by seven doctors without finding any permanent relief, until I got Father Morriscy's medicine. It has cured me so I am able to do my work and find I am as well as ever in my life.

Rev. Father Morriscy

Yours truly,
JOHN CRAWFORD.

Rheumatism cannot exist when the kidneys are in perfect working order for then they take out of the blood all the Uric Acid, which alone causes the Rheumatism.

Father Morriscy's "No. 7" Tablets

act directly on the kidneys, toning them up and helping them to clear the blood of the Uric Acid. If the Rheumatism is of long standing it may take some time to clear out all the poison, but almost from the first "No. 7" Tablets relieve the pain, and if used faithfully they rarely fail to cure.

Even if other remedies have done you no good, do not give up till you have tried Father Morriscy's "No. 7" Tablets.

In Adam's Aid

Madge Craven was a little hard to please. She loved her mother and she loved her garden, she loved her horses and she loved herself. Which of the four commanded most of her affection it is difficult to say.

Her mother was a lady of distinction, graceful, grave and gay. Her garden was a work of art and Nature. Her horses were well-bred, well-matched, and mettlesome. She was herself. Providence had endowed her with rare gifts and rich possessions, and she made good use of these. Tall, shapely, tolerant and stately, she knew her worth, and was not at all disposed to undervalue it.

Suitors came and went. It is a habit suitors have. Madge realized their limitations and her worth.

Which of the two was greater it is not for me to say. I deal with facts, and facts are stubborn things.

It happened in the year of grace nineteen hundred and as many as you please that a climax was arrived at. Madge was then 26. She had refused many offers as she was years and she had refused them well.

Ariel a grace she refused, and rejected remained her friends. Nineteen of her admirers found consolation. Seven were left. I knew them all. They also all knew me. I sometimes wish that they had not.

Other people's love affairs are put to be boring, and it is difficult to say the right thing exactly in seven cases. I did my best, of course. I told Phil Harte to make a little more of Madge's mother. I told Ben Symms to learn to ride. I told Elijah Hopkins he should change his name. I told the other four much that was good for them and trust that they appreciated it.

So matters ran. The countryside decided it was time Madge married. Mrs. S. declared that if she didn't she might lose her chances, and chances added Mrs. S. don't come again. It was rumored she had taken hers.

Madge did not seem disposed to do the same. Whose fault it was—hers or her suitors—let my readers judge. I merely record facts.

Madge, I repeat, was six and twenty. Nineteen admirers had tailed off. Seven still remained.

The favorite was Adam Bleaze. He asked for my advice. I gave it to him. "Girl and woman, I have known Madge Craven five and twenty years," and she will please herself.

In plain fact, she did. Adam worked hard. He made good ice with her mother, stormed arden, cultivated horses, danced and on her, and, to all appearances did well. The countryside promised him victor. But!—But is an sword word, it throws one back upon one's haunches—he made no progress. I once knew a man who paid two guineas for a "but!" That was a "but" of another kind. A kindly, genial, health-restoring "but" unlike Adam's. Adam would have gladly paid 5000 to have escaped his.

Now it fell upon a certain summer day that Adam came to me and said: "Look here, old man, I wish you would put a good word for me and Madge. I think a lot of you."

I promised him I would and meant to wait my opportunity. It came sooner than I had expected for it fell, upon the very next day that Madge rode over in the morning. She looked well. She always did, especially well in her riding habit. I may have noticed it. "I have been thinking about you," I said, after the usual greetings.

"You are very kind. And what have you been thinking?" "That it was time you married."

"So is it!" said Madge. "That's why I have called. I have come for advice."

"I shall be happy to give you what I can," said I.

"Yes, I know," said Madge. "You give a lot and you take none. That's you all over."

She said this rather sharply. I looked up. "Hello," thought I, "in fighting trim. All right."

"If you had not celled on me," I said, "I should have called on you."

"It's about time you did," said Madge.

"As an ambassador," said I.

"On whose behalf?" said Madge.

"A friend of mine is very fond of you."

"There's nothing new in that," said Madge. "All your friends are."

"This was quite true, but the directness of it was a little disconcerting."

"Well, which was it?" said Madge, describing little circles on the lawn with the handle of her whip.

I pleaded Adam's cause. I thought I pleaded well, but did not make much progress.

"He is very nice!" said Madge at last.

"What more do you want?" I asked.

"He is a real good sort. Good looking, rich, nice-mannered and devoted."

A Household Necessity

Father Morriscy's Liniment Should be in Every Home

How seldom a week passes without some member of the family suffering from a sore throat, chest or back, a burn or a cut, a sprain, strain or ache!

Such troubles will come, but there is no need of suffering much from them. Keep a bottle of Father Morriscy's Liniment in the house, use it freely, and the pain has little chance.

During his lifetime Father Morriscy prescribed this Liniment regularly, and it proved very effective in relieving all sorts of pains and aches. In Rheumatism it is valuable as a "rub" when "Father Morriscy's No. 7" Tablets are taken internally. Similarly, applied freely to throat and chest it helps "Father Morriscy's No. 10" (Lung Tonic) to quickly break up and drive away a sore throat, cold in the chest, or cough.

Taken all around it is one of the best family liniments in existence. Price 25c per bottle. At your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

The Man a Girl Likes

You couldn't get a girl to confess it, but the man she most admires is often—

He whose ideas never coincide with her own.

He who never says that some other girl looks pretty.

He who always appears interested when she airs her little tribulations.

He who does not overlook a slight or forgive a hasty word too quickly.

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by all dealers.

Hat Don'ts

Don't forget that if the hat is suited to the wearer, all else is forgotten and forgiven.

Don't hide a small face under a picture-hat of the Gainsborough type. Choose a style less pronounced in size.

Don't wear a hat turning back from the face if you are a long, oval faced beauty. It makes the face look longer.

Don't wear a hat that very closely follows the outline of the face if the face is round and plump. It suggests the framing of the full moon.

Don't wear a hat that is bent down directly in the middle if you possess a retousse nose. It makes the nose look as though it were trying to meet the hat. A hat that flares at the sides is becoming, as is also a toque or a turban.

Don't indulge in many flowers, feathers, and flares if you possess much height, weight and color. The modern Brunhilde must be as tauntly rigged as a yacht, and ready to take every breeze without a loose and fluttering.

What Dreams Mean

Candle.—To dream you are holding a lighted candle signifies that you will be happy in love and accomplish your plans.

Dogs.—To dream that dogs fawn upon you is very lucky. To those in love it denotes they will have a speedy and happy marriage.

Peacock.—To dream of seeing this bird is a very good omen. It denotes great success in business; and to a woman a good and wealthy husband.

Quarrelling.—To dream you are quarrelling with someone signifies that some unexpected news will reach you.

Stars.—To dream that you see stars is good. It foretells prosperity and advancement.

Well.—If you dream you are drawing water out of a well, it is a sign that you will be married speedily.

stopped in 30 minutes with Dr. Shoop's Restorative. One test will surely prove. No vomiting, no distress. A safe and pleasing syrup—50c. Druggists
