Capt. James Norris, M. P., Co. of Lincoln.

Hon. H. Benson, Senator.

The Clinton Insures only Insured Property, and is subject to no more than Two Thousand Dollars in any Risk.

This Company Effects Insurance as follows:

1st.—On the PREMIUM NOTE PRINCIPLE, that is, a small payment each year. In this branch for the past 15 years, a little more than one-half the notes have been sufficient to defray the expenses and pay the losses.

2nd.—On the SHORT DATE NOTE PRINCIPLE, that is, the amount to be paid in full at any time within six months at the option of the Applicant.

3rd.—On the CASH PRINCIPLE, that is, all down at the time of insurance.

In the latter method the Applicant knows at once the amount to be paid, and the Premium Note Principle, the Applicant is liable only for the amount of the note, and the good fortune of the Company tends to lighten his payments.

CHARLES C. CARLYLE, Esq., has been appointed General Agent for the Maritime Provinces, through whom we hope to secure a full share of the Insurance patronage.

NORTH SHORE STEAMERS.

Under Government Contract.

THE "STEAMER CITY OF ST. JOHN," Captain JOHN BELMONT, Commanding, will leave Point du Chene (Quebec) for St. John, EVERY THURSDAY, for BRIDGE, DUCTO, CHATHAM, NEWCASTLE, Bathurst, and Fredericton.

RETURNING—Leave Campbellton, Bathurst and Bathurst on Monday; Newcastle and Chatham on Tuesday; for St. John, and Chatham on Wednesday.

Passengers arrive at Miramichi the same day they leave St. John.

A train will leave Point du Chene over Tuesday evening, in order to bring through Passengers by the Steamer "City of St. John" to St. John, in time to connect with all lines leaving St. John on Wednesday morning.

To the lovers of the beautiful in nature, trip up the North Shore stands almost unequalled. The scenery along the Bay of Chaleur and Restigouche River is especially picturesque and grand; this, combined with the excellent fishing to be had there, make it a route particularly attractive to tourists and pleasure-seekers.

Daph's apprehensions were soon quieted, and, at the suggestion of the captain, she prepared to remove her baggage from the strange innkeepers to one of the small stables below.

The children did not wake while she laid them gently in the berth, and stretched herself beside them on the floor. Daph began to be troubled at the soundness of their long-continued sleep. She raised herself, and, crouching near them, she watched them with ever-increasing uneasiness.

"Captain Jones was on deck, giving a last look to see that all was right before retiring for the night, when Daph came hastily up to him, and, laying her hand beseechingly on his arm, she said:

"Oh! Captain! I've a-foared I've just killed my pretty ones! dey do sleep so."

"Dem was such little pills, dey didn't seem as if dey could be so mighty powerful!"

"Pills!" said the captain, with a start; "what have you given them?"

"I jus don't know myself," said Daph desperately. "Daph had de earache might be bad last week, and insens, dear creeter—she was always so kind—she gibe me two little pills, and she says, 'Here, Daph, you take dese when you goes to bed, and dey will sleep so sound, de head will all go away!'"

"I says, 'Tank'e, missus, 'of course, and she goes to de house quite satisfied. Daph neebder did take no doctor's stuff, so I puts de little pills in my pocket, and just roasts an orange soft, and ties it warm outside my ear, and goes to bed, and sleeps like a lizard. Now, when I thinks of putting de children in de basket, something says to me, 'You gib dem dose little pills, Daph, dey'll make 'em sleep sound 'nough.' So I've just did like a poor, foolish darkey." Here Daph began to cry piteously.

"Captain Jones went immediately to the cabin. The natural colour and healthy breathing of the little sleepers soon assured him that all was right.

"Courage! old girl! said the captain cheerily, 'turn in yourself, and I'll warrant you the youngsters will be none the worse for your doctoring!'"

Thus comforted, Daph lay down again beside her charge, and the silence of deep sleep soon prevailed, not only in the little state-room, but throughout the 'Martha Jane,' save when the measured steps of the watch sounded out through the stillness of the night.

The Union Advocate.

Established 1867.

NEWCASTLE, MIRAMICHI, N. B.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 21, 1874.

To THE PUBLIC.—Parties forwarding subscriptions to this office will please remember that on the 1st of May last we resumed the old rate of the paper, $1.50 per annum, in advance. We were compelled to pursue this course, finding that after 18 months trial of furnishing the paper at $1.00 per year, we were heavy losers.

The success of the late exhibition at Halifax, which was mentioned in our last issue, seems to have excited the belief in some, that the time has now arrived in which much good may arise from an inter-provincial exhibition of the products and manufactures of the three Maritime Provinces. We know of no definite reason why such an exhibition should not take place, and though it may be needless to record any argument of ours in its favor, it is very necessary to ask, what interest the northern counties of New Brunswick should take in the enterprise, or how the people of this district may best show, by the produce of their labour, what industry and skill prevail even in this remote part of Canada.

Annually we are made conscious of the fact that in Miramichi there is an association among some of our farmers for the promotion of our agricultural interests.—The ploughing match which takes place every year, brings this society and its efforts into notice, while the district exhibitions of produce and household manufactures, though probably not so interesting as they might be, have always had a beneficial effect upon our agricultural prospects. While the people of the three provinces by the sea are considering the propriety of having an inter-provincial exhibition, would it not be well for the people of the four counties bordering on the Gulf to discuss the possibility or practicability of having a local exhibition, at which might be brought together for competition the products and manufactures of the whole northern district? The position of Kent, Northumberland, Gloucester and Restigouche, the character of their soil and its products, and the similarity of the pursuits in which their inhabitants are engaged, are all in favor of such a scheme. The products exhibited for competition would evince industry more than the fertility of certain localities, and the improvements shown would be improvements which our farmers might make on their own property, and in their process of cultivation, without being accompanied with the chance of successful experiment or failure. They could see at such an assembly what was being done by others, with the same natural resources at their command. Fair and equal competition would naturally breed a healthy rivalry; the rivalry, a further inducement to increased industry. The climate and soil being the same, skill would alone gain the premium it so richly deserves. The farmers of the North cannot, of necessity, gain many prizes at the regular Provincial Exhibition. Their industry may have been as great, their management of a farm as excellent, as that of others, but their land in general is not so good, and thus its products will lack in value. Moreover, the place at which the exhibition is held, is frequently too far from the district, and the expense of transmitting goods great. Therefore in the spirit of doing the best they can for farmers and all others interested in the advancement of agriculture and home manufacture, should wisely consider what steps ought to be taken whereby a periodical exhibition for the northern district may be established. We are neither too late nor too early with our advice.—The prospect of such an exhibition for next year would be sufficiently satisfactory, and the interest with which we look forward to the fulfilment of the more extensive design of the Telegraph and other papers, will, without doubt, cultivate in us the desire to excel under the excitement of local competition, before trying our strength with the farmers and manufacturers of the other provinces. In Nova Scotia, district exhibitions have been attended with great success, and there is no reason why one of the northern counties in New Brunswick should not be as successful. We leave the question, for the time, in the hands of our correspondents and others who wish well to the scheme.

Excursion and Pic-Nic.

On Thursday last a very pleasant company of ladies and gentlemen spent a few hours together in a most enjoyable manner in an Excursion and Pic-Nic to Government House No. 2, across the Bartibogue bridge on Section 10. The day previous quite a number of invitations were given to attend the proposed excursion, and soon after eleven o'clock we were all ready for a start. Two platform cars were provided with seats and surrounded with evergreens, and soon we were on our way. "Long John" appointing himself conductor and general manager of both train and passengers. About one o'clock we arrived at our destination, the iron bridge across the Big Bartibogue, now under construction by Mr. John Lester, sub-contractor, and over which the rails were carried.

Porter's baskets to "Government House," and see to furnishing the tables with the solids and delicacies provided for the occasion. While the ladies were unpacking and preparing for the onslaught on the good things provided, which promised to be fierce, as the ride of twenty miles through the bracing air had sharpened the appetites of all, some of us went on a tour of inspection over the part of the section contracted and completed by Mr. James Rogers, at the extreme end of section 10, which extends from Bartibogue bridge to the commencement of section 16, (better known as the section contracted for by Messrs. King & Gough) a distance of 4 miles. Some of our party were contractors of well-known experience, others practical engineers, and the unanimous verdict expressed was that the work had been done in a most thorough manner, and was very creditable to the sub-contractor. While passing over a part of this splendid piece of road we descended to take a look at a very handsome culvert, the erection of which was contracted for by Mr. Jno. McDonald, and which appeared to us the finest piece of masonry we have seen on the line, although there may be others equal or good, yet we have never seen them. A short distance further on is a smaller culvert, which is equally well finished, the work of the same contractor. The stones were quarried and hauled to the spot from a quarry some six miles distant. The work of laying the sleepers and rails on this portion of the road will be pushed through as soon as the bridge over the Bartibogue is completed, and section 10 will then be completely finished.

By this time we commenced to think that something substantial would not go amiss, and on returning to Government House were at once set to work, and we did full justice to the splendid repast spread before us. After this—a most important part of the programme, we were requested to step outside, and found Mr. W. J. Williams getting ready to photograph the group, which he successfully accomplished. Then after hurriedly packing up we started for the train, the warning whistle of the locomotive telling us that we were soon to start. The journey home was enlivened with the practical jokes of the Consul and several other jolly fellows, whose bursts of laughter when some unfortunate was badly sold, excited merriment in all, and thus interested the time appeared quite short between our departure from Bartibogue and arrival in Newcastle, and all separated, having thoroughly enjoyed this trip provided for them by the kindness of the representative of the principal contractor, Terrence Rogers, Esq., and W. B. Buck, Esq., the engineer in charge of the section.

Annual Competition.

73rd Battalion Matches.

According to announcement the Annual Competition of the 73rd Battalion, commanded by Major A. D. Shirreff, came off at the Chatham Rifle Range on the 6th inst. The prizes to be competed for were the Brigade Major's Silver Challenge Cup, (which was won two years in succession by Company No. 2, Capt. Fenton), a Silver Watch and Gold Chain, and some money prizes. The first competition was for the Cup, the ranges being 400, 500 and 600 yards, 3 shots at each range, seven men from each Company competing. The scores were—

No. 1 Company, Bucton, Esq., Capt. Hutcheon,	Points.
No. 2 Co., Chatham, Capt. Fenton,	120
No. 3 Co., Black River, Capt. Templeton,	257
No. 4 Co., Black River, Capt. Templeton,	157
No. 5 Co., Bay du Vin, Capt. Cameron,	243
No. 6 Company, therefore won the Cup, No. 2 Company being only six points behind.

The second competition was for a Silver Watch and Gold Chain, and $11. The same teams competed as in the first competition, at 400 and 600 yards, 3 shots at each range. Scores were made as follows:—

No. 1 Company,	Points.
No. 2 Co.,	41
No. 3 Co.,	57
No. 4 Co.,	73
No. 5 Co.,	83

No. 4 Company therefore won the Watch and Chain, which is to be again competed for by the whole Company at their next range, the prize then to become the property of the winner.

No. 3 Company won the cash prize of $11.

The various prizes were presented in the evening to the officers commanding the squads.

The County Association, we understand, presented Capt. Hutcheon's Company with $10, to be competed for at their range at Bucton.

The competition passed off in a most agreeable manner.

Northumberland Co. Rifle Association Competition.

The Annual Competition of the Northumberland Co. Rifle Association was held at the Chatham Range on Wednesday last, 14th inst. The time appointed for the commencement was 9 a. m., but owing, as we are informed, to the inclemency of the weather, it was postponed for shooting.

Col. McCulley, Brigade Major and President of the Association, commanded the field, the general direction of the matches being under Captain Howard Sec'y-Treas. The matches and results were as follows:—

FIRST MATCH.
Ranges, 200, 300 and 400 yards, 3 rounds at each, open to members of the Association, who had never taken part in any previous matches. Twenty competitors entered.	Points.
1. Sergt. Alex. Edgar,	24
2. Lieut. D. G. Smith,	24
3. Gunner T. B. Forrest,	23
4. Lieut. David Cook,	22
5. Private James Perley,	21
6. Private Donald Ross,	21
7. Private James Thomson,	19
8. Private Alex. Harvey,	18

SECOND MATCH.

Ranges, 200, 400 and 600 yards, 3 rounds at each; open to members of the Association who had not been winners previous to 1874. Thirteen competitors entered. The following were the winners & prizes:	Points.
1. Lieut. D. G. Smith,	30
2. Thos. Johnston,	28
3. James Thomson,	24
4. H. McDonald,	24
5. T. G. Jones,	23
6. James Gillis,	22
7. Donald Ross,	21
8. Alex. Edgar,	20

THIRD MATCH.

Ranges, 400, 500 and 600 yards, 3 rounds at each; open to all members of the Association. The competitors numbered 40, and the prizes, winners and runners were as follows:	Points.
1. Corp. Jas. Pallen,	25
2. Prov. Association Medal & $5.00
3. Bombardier D. Johnston,	24
4. Bombardier H. Patterson,	23
5. Bombardier John McKee,	22
6. J. H. Pallen,	21
7. Capt. Fenton,	20
8. D. Edgar,	19

Those who fired late in the last match did so under great disadvantage, as it was dusk before it ended, and the darkness complicated that they could not see the true sights of their rifles. Jas. Thomson, who had made 19 points at the 300 and 400 yards, ranges, and Messrs. James Ulick and D. G. Smith, whose scores were respectively 20 and 22 at 300 and 400 yards, hit the target but once each at 600 yards, it being but chance work; and Major Gillespie, who, like Mr. Smith, was the last to fire in his squad, retired altogether owing to the darkness. The shooting, taken as a whole, was very good indeed, and with exception of the morning and its consequent delay, the competition was quite a satisfactory one.

New Enterprise.

We take much pleasure in making reference to an enterprise recently started by Mr. R. Blake, of Chatham. It supplies a want long felt, being a mill for the manufacture of small-dimensioned lumber, doors, sashes, &c., for the use of builders. The machinery consists of a 60 inch circular saw, small edge, double trimmer (the only one in use on the river) Planer, planer and matcher attached, and one of Drake's improved shingle machines; the whole being propelled by a first class engine. Arrangements are also being made for the purchase of a first class classboard machine. The mill is in excellent working order, and a large variety of lumber of all sizes is being manufactured. Builders will do well to visit Mr. Blake's establishment, which is a credit to the town, and we hope that the proprietor will reap the reward of his enterprise and industry by doing a large and profitable business. See advertisement.

Induction of Rev. F. B. McDonald.

The Paisley and Newfreeshire Gazette of September 26, contains the induction of Rev. F. B. McDonald, of the charge of the Martys' Church, was presided over by the Rev. G. W. Strang to Campbelltown. Mr. McDonald has been acting as assistant to the Rev. G. W. Strang, who has resigned his charge in Newcastle, and his many warm friends here join with us in congratulating him on his advancement. We take the following extracts from speeches made in presence of the congregation and replying to toasts at the dinner, &c.:—

The Chairman then gave the toast of the evening, "The newly induced minister of the Martys' Church."

These gentlemen, he said, who are former associates, probably know each other well, and require no introduction to be said in his behalf. To commend this toast, however, to those who are only now making Mr. McDonald's acquaintance, the fact of his being a native of Paisley, and having been educated in the University of Glasgow, is sufficient proof of having been brought up in the service of the Church.

He then proceeded to recount what I know of his life. Everything that I do know is highly in his credit. My acquaintance with him began in our college. It is a short time since he was in this room, and at that time he was esteemed as a distinguished and an active student. Those spheres in which his activity was then displayed will act as a preparation to meet him in the future, and in a high degree in the sphere of labor, which he is now called. Passing from the university, he proceeded in the spirit of apostolic zeal to the necessities of the people of the north of Scotland. He spent a few years of his life there, ministering with great success. He had a very important charge in that country, which he filled with great ability and success. He was then called to the charge of the Martys' Church, and he has since that time been engaged in the most important and successful manner.

He then proposed the toast, which was enthusiastically responded to. The Rev. Mr. McDonald acknowledged the toast, and said, "I believe it is customary for men occupying my position to inflict kindly gatherings such as the present with long speeches. I have been very much obliged to you for the toast which was received with enthusiasm. (Applause.) He then proposed the toast, which was enthusiastically responded to. The Rev. came me among them, and I trust that in our intercourse they will find life in an age of ceaseless changes, and in a time of much shifting of thought from old lanes, namely, Science, to be revenged on religion, Christianity is on the wane. And there is more truth than fiction in the affirmation. But we must bear in mind that there is such a thing as a true Christianity, just as we might say that there is a spurious science. It is this spurious Christianity that is destined to be destroyed, and the sooner the better; but the true, solid, like Christianity, is ever increasing and durable as the great Rock of Ages on which it rests. There is no fear of it. Meet the infidel with cold, here are Mr. McDonald's friends and former associates, probably know each other well, and require no introduction to be said in his behalf. To commend this toast, however, to those who are only now making Mr. McDonald's acquaintance, the fact of his being a native of Paisley, and having been educated in the University of Glasgow, is sufficient proof of having been brought up in the service of the Church.

He then proceeded to recount what I know of his life. Everything that I do know is highly in his credit. My acquaintance with him began in our college. It is a short time since he was in this room, and at that time he was esteemed as a distinguished and an active student. Those spheres in which his activity was then displayed will act as a preparation to meet him in the future, and in a high degree in the sphere of labor, which he is now called. Passing from the university, he proceeded in the spirit of apostolic zeal to the necessities of the people of the north of Scotland. He spent a few years of his life there, ministering with great success. He had a very important charge in that country, which he filled with great ability and success. He was then called to the charge of the Martys' Church, and he has since that time been engaged in the most important and successful manner.
