On Friday afternoon Doctors McDonald, Burnett and Robinson amputated the Burnett and Robinson amputated the limb. The injured man never came to his senses. He was buried, last Sunday, in the Methodist cemetery. Deceased was a native of Prince Edward Island. He came to this place, last September, bringing his wife. He used to often speak of his mother, who he said had endeavored to bring him up as a christian. He seemed prepared for death, and hoped for a bright future.—Maple Leaf.

This unequalled expectorant for curing Consumption and all diseases leading to it, such as of the Throat, Lungs, to it, such as of the Throat, Lungs, and all diseases of the pulmonary organs, is introduced to the suffering public after its merits for the cure of such diseases have been fully tested by the Medical Faculty The Balsam is, consequently, recommended by physicians who have become acquainted with its great success.

London, Ap. 6 .- A press association gives the following account of Sarah Bernhardt's marriage:—Mile. Bernhardt gave no previous notice of the wedding. At eight o'clock this morn-ing a gentleman called at the church and said that he desired to make arrangements for a marriage. An official informed him that a license was necessary. The gentleman I ft the church to procure a license, having obtained which he returned, accompanied by the Bernhardt. They were attired in ordinary dress. A French lady and gentleman and the officials of the church were the only witnesses. As announced, M. Damala and wife left for Spain. Sarah Bernand wife left for Spain. Strau Bernhardt will appear at a Madrid theatre on Sunday. M. Damala will perform with her in London in May. Sarah Bernhardt wore a very long, closely fitting sealskin cloak, trimmed with fur. M. Not many cattle, says a New England farmer. are sent to the butcher before that age, and if that is true of Maine and Massachusetts, we may say, that it is also true of New Branswick. The calf ought to be well fed from its birth, and to secure rapid growth, the supply of food tive capacity of the animal. The high feeding of young animals is the secret of successful stock raising, ceding it. The careful experiments that was all that kept them alive. of Mr. J. B. Lawes, of Rothamice glaciers reached quite down to the stead, England, proved that the cost of putting on live weight is in the day we took them off and we left direct proportion to the age and there is a snow storm." size of the animal, and that a young animal will make a greater daily gain than a mature one and with less food. A calf which had been fed upon the milk of its dam, with a quart of meal and oats daily, weighed 385 pounds at the age of three months; its feed was then increased to two quarts of meal, and at six months old it weighed 565 pounds, having gained in three months, 285 pounds, or over three pounds each day. At two years old. the same animal weighed 1616 pounds, having gained during the last six months of that time, 562 pounds, or not quite one and onehalf pounds duly. It will be seen that, in this case, the daily rate of increase was more than twice as much during the time it was from three to six months old, as it was between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four months, yet the daily cost of food for the first period must necessarily have been much less than for the second. At four years the animal wegled 2360 pounds, and during the nex four months, gained 86 one-hundredths of a pound daily, or only a little more than half as much as in the six months before it was two years old, and only onefourth as much as in the second three months of its existence. The importance of such facts as these is evident. If four times as much flesh daily, can be put upon a calf, as upon the same animal at the age of four years, even if we admit that the cost of feeding is the same, it is plain that it costs four times as much per pound to produce beef by feeding fouryear olds, as it does by feeding calves. Will it not pay then to feed calves generously? The only limit should be their capacity to as similate food. As far as possible we should seek to gain the increase in weight, at the time when it costs
