Intruder Shot Dead.

Philadelphia, July 8.—An unknown man entered the house of Lud Pritts, a mountaineer, living near Rockwood, Pa., last night, and proceeded to the apartments of Pritts' young wife, evidently supposing her to be alone. Her screams aroused her husband, who was in another room, and, hastily grasping his Winchester, he shot the intruder dead as he started to run from the house.

SIR REDVERS BULLER'S FAMOUS HELIOGRAM TO GENERAL WHITE

Message Dispatched Is Even Worse Than the Nation Had Been Led to Suppose It Could Be.

The Correct But Damaging Text Published by Himself.

HIS TELEGRAM TO GEN. WHITE

Has Destroyed His Own Reputation by Making Public His Craven Message.

The King's Condition.

London, July 8.—The bulletin regarding the condition of King Edward posted at Buckingham Palace at 10 o'clock this morning says:

"The King's progress is all that can be desired.—(Signed) Treves, Laking, Barlow."

London, Tuesday, July 8.—Just when the British public was becoming preoccupied with more recent things, Gen. Sir Redvers Buller, who was cashiered from the army, has rearoused the old angry controversy over his conduct of the Natal campaign. He has forwarded to the press copies of his dispatches relating to his first attempt to relieve Ladysmith. His first dispatch, dated December 15, 1899, is from Chieveley Camp to the secretary of war. In it he says explicitly that he does not consider himself strong enough to relieve Ladysmith. He says: "I consider that I ought to let Ladysmith go and occupy a good position south in Natal, and so let time help us."

The war office announces that Gen. Buller's telegram regarding the abandonment of Ladysmith was paraphrased for the protection of the cipher before it was printed. Gen. Buller now issues his exact message from his own record as follows:

"My view is that I ought to let Ladysmith go and occupy a good position for the defense of South Natal, and let time help us. The best thing I can suggest is that I should occupy defensive positions and fight it out in a country better suited to our tactics."

To the foregoing message the government replied that the surrender of Ladysmith would be regarded by the government as a national disaster of the greatest magnitude, and it urged Gen. Buller to make another attempt.

The text of Gen. Buller's hellogram to Gen. White in Ladysmith after his next failure to relieve the place over which there was such a controversy in England, contains this message:

"I suggest your firing away as much ammunition as you can and making the best terms you can. I can remain here if you have any alternative suggestion, but unaided I cannot break in. I find my infantry cannot fight more than ten miles from camp, and then only if water can be got. Whatever happens, recollect to burn your cipher, decipher and code books, and all deciphered messages."

Gen. White's reply was that he could not make his food last much longer, but he should not think of making terms until he was forced to do so.

The newspapers take the view that Gen. Buller has now destroyed his own reputation, and proved his own worst enemy. The Daily Mail says that Gen. Buller's attitude hitherto led many persons of weak judgment to imagine that he was cruelly maligned, but the full text of his message is worse than his own enemies supposed. His last is a craven message.

GEN. KITCHENER'S VALEDICTORY

His Letter to the Troops in South Africa.

COMMENDS THE BOERS' SPIRIT

Hopes They May Yet Serve Side by Side With the King's Forces.

Pretoria, July 8.—Lord Kitchener's valedictory to the troops, dated June 25, after extolling the conduct of the British soldiers in the face of great hardships and difficulties and against dangerous and elusive antagonists, commends the kindly and humane spirit displayed in all ranks, and concludes as follows:

"This message would be incomplete were no reference made to the soldierly qualities displayed throughout the campaign by our quondam enemies and the admirable spirit displayed in carrying out the surrender. Many of those who contended until the end have expressed the hope that they may have in the future an opportunity to serve side by side with his majesty's forces."

BIG FIRE STILL BLAZING.

Lorenzo Marquez, July 7. — After burning thirty-six hours the fire on the wharf of the Imperial Military Railway shows no sign of abatement. Stacks of burning forage resemble burning mountains. The fire has spread to the beach, and burned a number of steam launches and cranes. There are no appliances here capable of quenching the flames, and the fire brigade is helpless. Already two million bales and bags of forage have been destroyed. Incendiarism is suspected. A stack was found lighted in three places.

CANADIANS STRANDED.

London, July 8.—Many Canadians and Australians are in Cape Town in a stranded condition. They interviewed the mayor of the place on Saturday, demanding assistance, and threatening to raise a disturbance if it was refused. The mayor promised them assistance in the shape of employment until the arrival of expected transports to take them home.

Ottawa, July 7.—A cable from Newcastle, South Africa, reports the death from pneumonia of W. Smith, of the 3rd Canadian Mounted Rifles, St. Catharines.

COMING THIS WAY.

London, July 8.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, says that in an interview, General Botha stated that he was going to Europe, England and America with Generals De Wet and Delarey, to collect funds in behalf of the Boers who were ruined by the war, and widows, orphans and cripples. He added that he was arranging for the publication of an official history of the war from the Boer side, written by himself, Gen. De Wet and others.

BRITISH EMPIRE IS STRENGTHENED

By Victory of Constitutional Government at the Cape.

THANKS TO THE PREMIERS

Great Mortality From Cholera in Manchuria—Magic of Mr. Morgan's Check-Book.

London, July 8.—Speaking at different banquets in London, the colonial premiers now assembled here congratulated the empire and Sir John Gordon Sprigg, Prime Minister of Cape Colony, on the victory for constitutional government gained in that colony, by the decision of the Imperial Government against the proposal to suspend the Cape constitution. The premiers also referred with great regret to the accident to Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary.

COLONIALS OF ONE MIND.

Edmund Barton, Prime Minister of the Australian Federation, said he felt sure that every self-governing portion of the empire had been in sympathy with Sir John Gordon Sprigge, who had fought so strenuously against the suspension of the Cape constitution, as otherwise the colonies could not have been so enthusiastic in helping the empire in the South African war. Mr. Barton advised his hearers not to expect too much, especially in the way of written bonds, from the colonial conference. Nevertheless, he said, the outcome of the conference will be the strengthening of the empire.

Sir John Gordon Sprigg, speaking at the same banquet, thanked the other colonial premiers for having helped him to fight the battle of constitutionalism. He expressed the greatest satisfaction with the manner in which the rebels are laying down their arms in Cape Colony, and the progress towards peace and pacification.

GREAT RAVAGES OF CHOLERA.

Berlin, July 8.—It is announced here in a dispatch from Port Arthur that cholera is spreading in Manchuria, and that the mortality rate is very great. Out of 396 cases in Inkau 334 were fatal.

EVICTIONS IN IRELAND.

Dublin, July 8.—The sheriff and a large body of police visited the estates of Lord de Freyne, at Laugh Lynn, Roscommon County, yesterday, to enforce writs which Lord de Freyne had caused to be issued against tenants who were in arrears with their rentals. In several cases settlements were arranged, but in others the tenants were evicted, in the presence of sullen crowds. There was no disorder.

QUEEN'S TEA TO 10,000 DOMESTICS.

London, July 8.—Queen Alexander's tea of 10,000 domestic servants of London commenced yesterday. The local mayors and officials presided at the various gatherings, and many prominent ladies gave their assistance. Each of the Queen's guests received gifts from Her Majesty, consisting of a box of chocolate and a silver-gilt brooch. The proceedings were very enthusiastic.

SERIOUS RAILWAY WRECK.

Lisbon, July 8.—The Madrid express was derailed yesterday, owing to some unknown cause, near Guarda, Portugal. Nearly all the cars were wrecked. Six persons were killed and 27 were injured.

DUKE OF DEVON'S VIEWS.

London, July 8.—Presiding at the annual meeting here of the British Empire League, the Duke of Devonshire (Lord President of the Council, and leader of the Liberal-Unionists), discussing the conference of the colonial premiers, said the question of imperial defense was paramount. The question of imperial commercial relations would solve itself at no distant day in accordance with economic laws, which will inevitably assert themselves, and which he did not think would present any obstacle to the consummation of that which they all must desire, namely free trade or the nearest approach to free trade within every portion of the empire. Imperial defense, however, could not wait. If they waited for it to solve itself they might wait until there was no British Empire to defend.

CABLE NOTES.

The American steamer Rappahannock is aground at Holyhead, Wales, with a big hole in her port side, the result of a collision with the British steamer Dalegarth, in which one of the latter's crew was killed.

President Castro of Venezuela will take personal command of 4,500 government troops concentrated at Valencia, to oppose the main army of the revolutionists under Mendoz and Solaguie, marching on that point.

The Vienna Neue Freie Presse, in a satirical editorial on J. Pierpont Morgan lunching with Emperor William on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern at Kiel, July 3, remarks: "Without his check book Mr. Morgan would never have been the Emperor's guest."

Among the decorations and gifts given to foreign envoys to the coronation, the Most Noble of the Garter was bestowed upon the Grand Duke Michael, heir presumptive to the throne of Russia; the Duke of Aosta, of Italy; the Crown Prince of Portugal and Archduke Franz of Austria.

HE LEAPED INTO THE CHAUDIERE!

Still Another Sensational Suicide Near Ottawa.

YOUNG MAN BEHEADED BY CARS

Disaster at a Funeral—Veranda Fell and Twenty Persons Were Injured.

Ottawa, Ont., July 8.—A young man supposed to be George Mercier, jumped off the suspension bridge over the Chaudiere Falls Sunday night, and was drowned. He called, "Good-bye, boys," to some parties approaching, as he jumped into the surging caldron below. Mercier was not entirely wise, and attempted suicide some time ago by cutting his throat.

A car conductor says that Mercier crossed the bridge with him and told him that he was going to leap over the falls, and not to forget that has name was Mercier.

ASPHYXIATED.

Camden, N. J., July 8.—Col. George B. Felton, deputy quartermaster of the National Guard of New Jersey, was found dead in his office yesterday, having committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. It is believed that financial troubles caused him to end his life.

DISASTER AT FUNERAL.

Charleston, S. C., July 8. — Twenty negroes were injured Sunday by the falling of the front veranda of Emmanuel Church. The funeral of a colored preacher was being held, and after the body had been borne from the building, the negroes made a rush for the entrance to get a last view of the coffin. Just as the crowd assembled on the high veranda it collapsed, and 200 men, women and children were buried in the debris.

BEHEADED.

Kingston, N. Y., July 8. — Theodore Bayliss, a freight conductor on the West Shore Railroad, met a horrible death while jumping on a moving train with orders. He lost his hold, his foot caught, and he was dragged three hundred feet between the cars. His head was severed, and struck a workman in a sewer ditch under the track. Bayliss lived at New Durham, N. J. He was 58 years old, and was married three weeks ago.

SLEEPING ON THE TRACK.

Watertown, N. Y., July 8. — Alexander Shean, of Harrisville, aged 20, was struck and instantly killed by a Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg train at Lake Bonaparte on Sunday. When struck the man was sleeping on the track and the train decapitated him.

Charles F. Hill, a papermaker, of Carthage, aged 50, was instantly killed by a passenger train on the same division Sunday night while driving across the track.

SLEPT UNDER A CAR.

Oneida, N. Y., July 8.—George Moorman, of Syracuse, was instantly killed on the New York Central here early today, and Norman Hill, of Titusville, Pa., was probably fatally injured. They dropped off an eastbound freight, and went to sleep on a pile of ties. When it began raining Moorman suggested their going to sleep under a box car standing on a siding. A freight train sent some cars into the switch, and dragged some distance. Moorman was about 35 years old, and carried a cobbler's kit of repair tools.

YACHTING PARTY DROWNED.

New York, July 8.—The wife of Capt. Tieman H. Horne, of the 95th Company Sea Coast Artillery, his daughter Frances, aged 7, and Miss Alice McMahon, of Nyack, N. Y., were drowned in Sandy Hook Bay on Sunday by the capsizing of a small yacht in which Capt. Horne and Dr. Waterhouse had taken the party out sailing.

Lethbridge, N. W. T., July 7.—Thos. Davis and Wm. Kemp were drowned in the Bow River through the upsetting of a boat. Jos. Kemp managed to hang on till the boat reached an island.

FARMER'S SUICIDE.

Chatham, Ont., July 8. — Early yesterday Joseph Hawley, aged 35, son of Wm. Hawley, 10th concession of Harwich, committed suicide in his barn by hanging. The body was discovered by his sister. Deceased was subject to fits of melancholy.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Buffalo, July 8.—The inquest into the death of Marian Murphy, whose dead and mutilated body was found recently in a pond in Forest Lawn Cemetery, was begun yesterday. Charlie Wee, the Chinaman, who has been locked up pending the inquest, was represented by counsel. Witnesses told of the finding of the body, report of the autopsy showing that the child had been outraged and strangled to death before she had been thrown into the water. The child's father and a servant told of their identification of the body. The inquest was then adjourned. District Attorney Penney said that the stains on the wallpaper at Wee's laundry, which were, in part at least, responsible for the arrest of the Chinaman, are not blood stains.

Judge Murphy has issued a warrant against Wee charging murder in the first degree.

GREAT FLOODS IN NEW YORK

The Damage Will Amount to Hundreds of Thousands.

GENESEE RIVER A TORRENT

Thousands of Acres of Crops Destroyed—Many Towns Under Water Since Sunday.

Rochester, N. Y., July 7. — News from the flood-devastated districts in this section of the state are coming in slowly. Reports from Medina show that a cloudburst struck that place Saturday night, and early Sunday morning, doing great damage. Today there are evidences of a great flood, and wreckage is piled up along waterways which have been dried up for a month. Lightning destroyed barns at Shelby, Lyndonville and other points north of Medina. Lightning struck the house of George Benns, southwest of Medina, wrecking it, and burying the family in the debris. A boy was taken out of the ruins so badly injured that it is doubtful if he will survive.

From Churchville come reports that Black Creek is the highest ever known before. It is out of its channel and causing great damage to growing crops along its banks. Hundreds of acres of peas, corn, beans and potatoes, sugar beets and other crops are under water and ruined.

Honeyer reports six bridges, including an iron structure on Mill Creek, washed away, and heavy damage to crops.

Pennyan says that many thousands of dollars' damage has been done to residences along the course of the creek flowing through Hamondsport.

The Genesee River, which at this time of the year is but a mere raceway, is today a raging torrent.

The flood is as high, or even higher than ever known during any spring freshet. The cloudbursts have interfered with railroad traffic on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railroad and the Western New York division of the Pennsylvania system.

MANY TOWNS UNDER WATER.

Nunda reports the greatest flood in the history of that section. The state footbridge over Kishiqua Creek has been washed away and the town is in darkness. Large fields of growing crops have been washed away, ground and all. Dalton has also suffered greatly. Portageville, Pike, Lamon, Roseberg, Fillmore and many other towns have been under water since Sunday morning. The farms all about Portageville are laid waste and no field crops can be saved. Houses, barns and live stock are being swept down the river. The tracks of the Pennsylvania are washed away and a new roadbed will have to be laid at many places before trains can be moved.

Pike reports the loss of a large iron bridge, the postoffice building, Power's store and opera house, a meat market, cheese factory, drug store, two dwelling houses and the village warehouse.

At Lamont the mill dam has gone

M'ARTHUR WAS NOT DRINKING

Many People Were at the Hotel—Spectators Applaud Counsel's Protest.

The fourth session of the coroner's inquest into the death of Augustus Ninham, on June 21, took place at the court house last night before Coroner Ferguson and the jury empaneled by him. The session lasted till midnight and the evidence of five witnesses was heard. The most important development of the evening was the evidence given by Hugh Sharkey, proprietor of the Woodbine hotel, near which Ninham received his fatel injuries and at which some of the previous Indian witnesses claimed to have secured a bottle of liquor. Mr. Sharkey, in his story, discredited the majority of the statements made by the Indian witnesses. He said that he had not seen John McArthur, the prisoner, around his hotel for nearly an hour before he closed up, which he said he did at 11:30. One of his statements, as to the hour at which a man named Brazel Fox visited his hotel, brought a sharp series of questions from Crown Attorney Magee. Mr. J. F. Faulds, counsel for John McArthur entered so vigorous an objection to Mr. Magee's treatment of the witness that it moved the spectators to make quite a demonstration of approval. This was suppressed as speedily as possible by the constables, and the crowd was sharply rebuked by the coroner and the crown attorney. The balance of the evening's evidence was largely corroborative of the stories told by the Indian and other witnesses at previous sessions. Keen interest is still manifested in the case, the court room being crowded to the doors. The prisoner, John McArthur, maintained the same collected manner that has characterized his bearing all through.

THE FIRST WITNESS.

The first witness called was Albert Abel, who was one of the companions of Wm. McBride, the witness who said last week that he saw John McArthur leave Sharkey's about 10:30 on the night of June 21. He said he lef the city with a man named Quick about 8:30. They went down as far as Sharkey's on a Springbank car. Witness stayed at the hotel for about two hours, leaving for home in company with Quick and McBride, the latter of whom he had met about ten minutes before starting from the hotel. Witness said he was in two rooms at the hotel—the sitting room and the bar. He was in the bar three or four times. Witness said he saw the prisoner, John McArthur, at the hotel. The only other persons at the hotel whom he saw and recognized were Hugh Sharkey, sr., and Hugh Sharkey, jr. Witness met McArthur as he went in the door when he first came into the hotel. About an hour after witness again as he stood looking in the sitting room door where witness was sitting. Witness saw no more of the prisoner after this.

SAW THE PRISONER

Mr. Magee repeatedly asked the witness as to the exact time when he arrived at the hotel. As witness had no watch he said he could only judge that it would be about 9 o'clock. Witness while going home heard no one tell the time or saw no one look at a watch. Witness saw a party of four or five men when he arrived at Sharkey's that night, but he noticed no rigs. When starting for home witness saw no persons on the veranda. Witness saw no Indians in the vicinity and heard no row. On the Tuesday evening following the tragedy, witness saw McArthur at the Grand Central hotel. McArthur and witness said "Good evening," to each other, but had no conversation.

To Mr. Faulds, witness said he would not swear that William McBride did not look at his watch on the hill by Woodland cemetery.

Mr. Magee asked witness if Constables Ward and McLoud did not ask him what time he arrived home that night, some time ago, and if he (witness) did not answer 8:30.

"I did," replied the witness.

"Why did you say this?" asked Mr. Magee.

"Because I thought they had no business to ask me," was the answer.

"You knew who he (Constable Ward) was?" said the crown attorney.

"Yes," answered the witness.

A WILFUL LIE.

"Then you told a wilful lie, and were not telling the truth?" asked Coroner Ferguson.

"I was telling a lie then, but I am not now. I told the lie because I thought Ward had no business to ask me," replied Abel.

Witness said to Mr. Magee that he would not swear he was not home at 10 o'clock that night. Witness afterwards said that in his best judgment he was home at half past eleven.

"But that judgment won't permit you to swear it wasn't 1 o'clock," said the coroner.

Witness, in conclusion, said to Mr. Magee that he couldn't say whether he was sober or drunk. He had some drinks, but could walk straight.

The next witness was Mr. Charles Baker, who lives opposite Sharkey's hotel, and is the father of Wesley Baker, by whom Ninham was employed. On the night of June 21 witness said he was awakened about 1 o'clock by his son Wesley. Witness had heard no noise during the evening, as he had retired early and slept soundly.

SHARKEY ON THE STAND.

Hugh Sharkey, jun., proprietor of the Woodbine Hotel, was next called to the stand. Mr. Sharkey, in beginning his evidence, said he could not say how late his hotel was closed that night, but judged it would be about 11.30. He knew of no lights which were in his bar or any part of his hotel.

Witness at this point said: "I refuse to testify for fear of incriminating myself in this matter of selling liquor illegally."

"I'm not a lawyer," said Coroner Ferguson, "but as a coroner I don't think that I would be justified in not taking the evidence. I will make a note of your protest, however."

Continuing, witness said he was in bed on the night of the tragedy shortly after 11.30. There had been a number of people at his hotel that night after 9 o'clock, among them being the prisoner, Wm. McBride, Albert Abel, Quick, Brazel Fox, and James Dean. Abel, Quick, and McBride were the only ones in the bar when witness closed up. Witness swore

NO ONE WAS IN THE BAR

after 11:30. It was when Fox came in that he looked at the clock and saw it was 11:30. Witness did not sell or deliver a bottle of liquor that night, and had no idea where the liquor came from which the Indians claimed to have secured at the hotel. Witness took a lantern into the bar with him when locking up. There were two Gladstone rigs at the hotel that night. Brazel Fox was in one, and a man named Bricklin and John McArthur were in the other. Witness said there was a woman at the hotel that night, who looked after the rooms. Another woman had come with John McArthur and Bricklin.

McARTHUR WAS SINGING

that night at the hotel. The singing occurred at least an hour before 11:30 o'clock. He had also heard singing about ten minutes before the occasion mentioned. These were the only times he heard singing in the hotel that night. The clock in the bar was set by city time. Witness had gone across the road to see his children, who were staying in a cottage near by. He stayed there about 15 minutes, after which he returned to the hotel. He saw no persons there then. Witness had seen the party, of whom Brazel Fox was one, in a Gladstone, which had turned up the sideroad running north and south.

McARTHUR NOT IN THE BAR.

Witness had made an engagement with Jack McArthur to come and mind the hotel, while witness went to see his wife in the hospital. Witness did not go to see his wife.

"Did you ever say to anyone you had McArthur to tend bar for you that night?" asked Mr. Magee.

"Never," answered Mr. Sharkey.

"Can you swear you did not see McArthur after 10 o'clock?" asked the crown attorney.

"I cannot say what time I saw him. I saw him quite a few times, but could not state the time," was the answer.

"Did you see McArthur leaving?" asked the crown attorney.

"No, sir, I did not," was the reply.

"Was McArthur in your bar that night?"

"No, sir, he was not."

"Was McArthur drinking that night?"

"No, sir."

Witness came back to his hotel after seeing his children, and went to bed. He was aroused by what he thought was knocking at his own door. Witness found that it was Wesley Baker calling his father in the house across the road. Witness was told by Mr. Baker that he (Baker) thought there was in Wesley Baker's barn. Witness was not alarmed, as he supposed that the Indian was dead drunk. He ascertained the coroner's telephone number for Wesley Baker, and Baker telephoned the coroner.

AN INDIAN DEAD

"These Indians were all mistaken, then, who said there was a light in the barroom?" Mr. Magee went on.

"They are mistaken, and it was the worst lie ever heard," replied the witness forcibly.

Coroner Ferguson told witness that there was no need to express himself so vehemently.

Examined by Mr. Faulds, witness said he did not see McArthur for a considerable time before 11:30. Witness had known McArthur for twenty years.

Mr. Magee—Are your prepared to swear that Fox and his party were not at your place at 12:30?"

Witness—Yes, sir.

Mr. Magee—If I were to prove that these men were there at 12:30 would you still swear the same?

Witness—I would.

Mr. Magee severely cross-examined Sharkey upon this point, in a manner which was considered by Mr. Faulds to be unfair. He objected mildly once, and when the examination was continued in the same strain he rose to his feet and said, "This is merely an attempt to frighten the witness, and I object and demand that a stop be put to it."

A BURST OF APPLAUSE.

These words brought a burst of applause from the crowd which filled the courtroom. For several seconds the courtroom resounded with cries of "Hear, hear," the clapping of hands, and other sounds of approval. So loud was the applause that at first the constable's command for silence could not be heard. The crown attorney threatened to have the "barroom adherents" dismissed from the room, and the constables stood ready to put the order into execution. A discreet silence, however, soon fell on the crowd, and the proceedings continued. The coroner said the demonstration was quite out of place, and entirely unwarranted, and he warned the crowd that order must be maintained.

Regarding the objection which Mr. Faulds had raised, Coroner Ferguson said: "I don't see that witness is frightened, and I don't think he's in a mood to be frightened. I therefore cannot uphold your objection."

Witness finally swore positively that he was sure it was some time before 12:30 o'clock that Fox and his companions arrived at the hotel.

This concluded Sharkey's evidence.

INDIAN GIVES EVIDENCE.

Joshua Nichols, one of the four Indians who claimed to have obtained liquor from a man who came out of Sharkey's, was next sworn. He disclaimed a knowledge of English, and was questioned by an interpreter.

Mr. Faulds expressed the opinion that the Indians could all talk English, as he had lived near them. He believed that they desired to evade the giving of evidence in the English language.

Witness identified McArthur as the man who took the wheel belonging to one of the Indians and went for a ride.

Coroner Ferguson said he wanted the jury to look at this identification according to the circumstances which prevailed. The conditions surrounding such evidence were more favorable to the witness than to the prisoner.

The witness added no new facts to the evidence given by the other Indians who were with him and who have already testified.

William Anderson, who lives east of the Woodbine Hotel, on the Pipe Line road, was called, and said he came from the city on the car and got off at the Sharkey crossing about 10:30. He saw a man walking south on the sideroad. He did not know the man. He did not tell anyone about seeing the man.

The inquest was then adjourned till Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Old People's Favorite.

A Medicine That Invigorates the Kidneys and Liver, Takes Away the Pains and Aches, and Regulates the Action of the Bodily Organs, Strong Recommendation for

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The experience of Mr. Brown, as stated in his letter below, is similar to that of scores of men and women who feel old age creeping in upon them. The kidneys grow weak and inactive, the back aches, there are deposits in the urine, and pain and smarting in passing water. The legs swell and there come pains and aches not unlike rheumatism.

Under such circumstances old people turn to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for relief and cure, and are not disappointed. They have learned by repeated trial that they can depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills every time, and consequently they have become known as the old people's favorite medicine.

Mr. John Brown, 66 Nelson street, Ottawa, Ont., states: "I am getting up in years, and having been a hard worker all my life, I am beginning to fail. For some time past I have thought there was something wrong with my kidneys, I seemed to bloat up, was very short of breath, and feared heart disease, although I was told there was nothing wrong with my heart. I got so bad that I had to do something.

"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I began using them, and by the time I had used up the first box I felt considerably improved. I continued using this medicine, and today feel ten years younger. I am strong and hearty and do not suffer from my former ailments. I consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills an excellent medicine for old people."

There are people in nearly every town, village and country side road who have proven the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Ask your friends or neighbors about them. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ADVENT OF TORRID TERM

Six Deaths Result From the Heat at Pittsburg.

Several Persons Were Prostrated on Saturday in Detroit.

Pittsburg, July 7.—Six deaths and a score of prostrations is the heat record for the past 24 hours. At 10 o'clock this morning, the thermometer registered 85 degrees and the mercury was still rising. Last night was the hottest of the season. There was much suffering among mill workers and many were forced to go home.

Detroit, July 6.—While at work on a wall, ten feet high, at the new Murphy building on West Congress street, Pasquale Jennett, aged 23 years, of 275 Rowena street, was overcome by the heat at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and tumbled to the ground, landing on a pile of bricks. The contents of a barrow, filled with sand, fell on top of him and he was unconscious when carried into Grace hospital Last night, however, the authorities reported that it was thought that Jennett or Young, as he was also called, was not seriously hurt.

Charles Ritter, a driver living at 402 Dubois street, was overcome by the heat while driving near the corner of Rivard and Winder streets, yesterday afternoon. He fell from the truck and was painfully, though not seriously hurt. Boyd's ambulance carried him to his home.

Persistent and Glaring Attempts Made to Defraud the Public.

Several Vile Imitations of

Paine's Celery Compound

Now Sold in Some Drug Stores.

Recognizing the virtues, fame and wondrous sales of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's health restorer, unscrupulous and dishonest men are making persistent and glaring attempts to defraud the public by putting up vile imitations. These imitations by adopting the name Celery Compound, the style of bottle, etc. (marks peculiar to the genuine Paine's Celery Compound), have just brought themselves within the meshes of the law, and this nefarious work will be forcibly brought to the attention of the guilty parties in due time.

For the present it is deemed advisable to warn the public and to put them on their guard. The sick and suffering, and friends of such are notified that the following imitations are deceptions and frauds:

TOLD HIS AWFUL SECRET AND DIED

Confession Clears Up an Ohio Murder Mystery.

AFTER TEN YEARS OF SILENCE

Tired of the Fierce Battle With Conscience, Murderer Tells All, Then Ends His Life.

St. Louis, July 8.—After 10 years' battling with a conscience that day and night tortured him, E. E. Shannon, aged 25 years, of Winstanley Park, East St. Louis, confessed to his wife a crime committed 10 years ago, and then committed suicide.

Shannon's death revealed the secret that he had carried so many years, and cleared away a murder mystery that had long puzzled the authorities of Clayton, a small village in Montgomery county, Ohio.

Four lives paid the penalty of a game of cards engaged in by young men of Clayton.

Two men were killed in the fight over the game, a third was legally executed for the murder of the first two, and a fourth (Shannon) found relief in death from the burden on his conscience of being responsible for the death of the other three.

SHANNON'S STORY.

When a boy of 15 years Shannon engaged in a game of cards with a friend and two other young fellows. All of the youths were drinking. Shannon won, and was accused of cheating by two of the party. A fight followed, and Shannon drew a revolver and fired several shots, killing the two fellows who had attacked him.

Leaving the bodies in an out of the way place, where the tragedy occurred, Shannon and his friend fled. Shannon left Ohio and became a wanderer over the country.

DIED FOR HIS FRIEND.

His friend remained behind, and paid the penalty of loyalty to his companion with his life. The young fellow was arrested for the murder of the two men, whose bodies had been found lying near the gambling table. He was convicted. He went to the scaffold and died without revealing Shannon's name.

Shannon learned of his friend's death through the newspapers, and, haunted by the crime he had committed, fled farther from the scene. He wandered over the greatest part of the west, doing odd jobs here and there, but never remaining long in one place.

When the Spanish war broke out Shannon, reckless of his life, joined the engineering corps, hoping that he might find death fighting for his country. He served through the entire war without receiving a scratch and was discharged.

A TORTURED CONSCIENCE.

He sought his family, hoping to find relief from his tortured conscience among his relatives. He married and determined to settle down in East St. Louis, and led a quiet, retired life, in hope that he might in some way atone for his crimes.

But his conscience gave him no peace, and life became a burden. He determined to end his life and find peace from the pangs of conscience that had made his life miserable. Going to a drug store, he purchased a bottle of chloroform, telling the druggist he wanted it to make a liniment. Carrying the drug which was to end his life, Shannon went to his home.

CONFESSED TO HIS WIFE.

Just before retiring Shannon told his wife of the awful crime that had weighed him down for so many years. He told her all the terrible details and how he had been tormented by his conscience and had in vain sought to forget the deed, but that the blood of the man seemed ever before him, and that he had determined to put an end to a life that was so full of remorse and fear.

His wife quieted him and assured him that she would help him to try and forget the past, and making him promise that he would not take his life, she fell asleep.

Shannon waited until he was sure his wife slumbered, then quietly took some bedding out on the front porch and wrapping his head in a sheet saturated the sheet with chloroform.

DEATH OF ADA GRAY

Well-Known Star Actress Ended Her Days in Poverty.

New York, July 8.—Ada Gray, aged 60 years, the noted actress, who made the play "East Lynne" famous in every corner of this country and in England, died on Sunday at her home in Brooklyn after a long illness. Ada Gray was born in Boston, Mass., and was not 11 years old when she saw her first play. Her father, a journeyman mason, had died a few years before and left his family in poor circumstances, so at the age of 14 little Ada found a chance to earn a small sum of money each night at the Boston Museum and gladly accepted it. The play in which she made her first appearance was "The Hunchback." At 16 she was playing principal characters. She went to Ben DeBar's theater, St. Louis, as leading actress, and next to Louisville.

Ada Gray played "East Lynne" for 40 years. No actress ever became more closely identified with any one play than did she with the popular drama, which she played upwards of 5,000 times. The character of Lady Isabel was to her what Rip Van Winkle is to Joseph Jefferson, and for more than four decades theater-goers knew "East Lynne" for Ada Gray and Ada Gray for "East Lynne." The play and its leading character were never separated and there are few large cities in the country in which audiences have not wiped their eyes while the noted actress gave her portrayal of the sympathetic part to which she was inherently devoted. She was married to Charles F. Tingay when she was a member of Sir Henry Irving's company.

Smallpox at Dutton.

St. Thomas, Ont., July 8. — Dr. Van Buskirk was called to Dutton yesterday in a case which proved to be smallpox. A young man named Glover, residing in Dutton, contracted what he thought was chickenpox while visiting in Norwich a month ago. The time for the disease having expired, Dr. Lang was called, and he diagnosed it as a mild case of smallpox. This caused the hasty summons of Dr. Van Buskirk, who confirmed the decision.

TROUBLE THREATENED

Cheyenne Indians Indulge in a Sun Dance—Whites Alarmed.

Guthrie, Oklahoma, July 8. — The Cheyenne Indians near Calumet, in Canadian county, are reported to be holding a council of war, angry over an order issued by Major Stouch, Indian agent, prohibiting them from practicing the tortures, so called incident to their sun dance. The Indians are excited, and the whites near Calumet are becoming frightened. Major Stouch has apprised the war department of the situation. About 2,000 Indians took part in the dance last week in celebration of their religious festival, and the tortures were to have closed the doings. This is the first time that the dance of the Cheyennes has been stopped by the government authorities.

Collision at Sea.

Boston, July 7.—The steamer Cumberland, which left here today for Portland, Maine, and St. John, was compelled to return because of a collision with the United Fruit Company's steamer Admiral Farragut, below Boston Light. The Cumberland was considerably damaged, but succeeded in reaching her dock and landing her passengers. The Cumberland, a wooden vessel, had a large hole stove in her side. The Admiral Farragut, being a steel steamer, was less seriously damaged.

Bring Canadian Fruit Into Disfavor and Trade Suffers.

Ottawa, July 8.—One of the fruit inspectors for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, reporting to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, sates that after visiting nearly all the towns which are fruit distributing centers between Winnipeg and the Rocky Mountains, he finds everywhere great dissatisfaction from losses attending the handling of Ontario apples. Most of the merchants said to him that they would handle no more of such fruit packed as it had been in the past. They say they are disgusted with the dishonesty which leads packers to put small apples in the middle of the barrels and to put unsound and damaged fruit in packages which are represented to contain only sound fruit of first-class quality.

HAYMAKING LATE.

Toronto, July 8.—The farmers of Ontario are greatly behind in the haying operations, owing to the recent spell of wet weather. MAY BE A GUSHER

Gas Said To Be Rushing From an Abandoned Well at Maidstone.

Windsor, July 8.—Julien Masseau, a farmer of Maidstone, has made a discovery which may mean a fortune for himself and a boom to the vicinity.

Sixteen years ago there was an oil crane in the neighborhood, and everyone who owned likely ground sunk wells. Masseau, who owned a 100-acre farm, caught the fever and sunk a well to the depth of 1,100 feet. A quantity of gas escaped, but little oil, so Masseau considered his venture a failure and plugged up the opening to a depth of 250 feet.

Since then Masseau, who is about 60 years old, has retired from active work. A few days ago he was touring his farm, when he discovered that a pressure of gas from the old oil well had forced a way to the surface at a distance of several feet from the mouth of the old shaft.

Masseau visited Windsor yesterday, and told his discovery to Wm. McGregor, chief inspector of customs. He said gas is rushing from the opening with terrific force, giving indications of a large supply.

This find is one of the most timely that has come to Windsor for a long time. A recent examination of the wells in use at present has shown the supply to be nearly exhausted. The nearest gas well to Masseau's place is "the gusher," some 20 miles distant.

Susie Frazier, 10 years old, was presented in the Paducah, Ky., police court, charged with killing her uncle, George Jones. The child, it is claimed, saw her uncle beating his wife, and obtaining a pistol, shot him in the stomach, inflicting a wound which caused his death shortly afterward.

PANAMA CANAL VICTIM

Selection of the Route Drove B. W. Pyle to Suicide in Chicago.

Chicago, July 8.—B. W. Pyle, owner of one-third of the city of Greytown, Nicaragua, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head in the Garfield Park Sanitarium. After investing his fortune in the Central America city, living for 15 years in hopes that the United States would build a canal through Nicaragua, seeing another route adopted and finally becoming totally blind in his 73rd year, he became depressed and ended all by a well-directed shot.

Mr. Pyle came to Chicago about a year ago from his Nicaraguan home to be treated for cataracts.

AS THE OIL RUBS IN, THE PAIN RUBS OUT.—Applied to the seat of a pain in any part of the body, the skin absorbs the soothing liniment under brisk friction, and the patient obtains almost instant relief. The results of the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil have surprised many who were unacquainted with its qualities, and once known it will not be rejected. Try it.

It is well known that the palmlike nipa tree of tropical Asia has a sap exceedingly rich in sugar, but so salty that its utilization has not been found profitable.

HOW TO CURE ALL SKIN DISEASES.

Simply apply Swayne's Ointment. No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment.

Two landscapes painted by Constable E. T. Jones, the Leeds (England) policeman-artist, have been purchased at the Royal Cambrian Exhibition, Conway.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure Anaemia, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Weakness, Palpitation, Throbbing, Faint Spells, Dizziness, or any condition arising from Impoverished Blood, Disordered Nerves or Weak Heart. y

Meddle once signified "to concern one's self with." It is so used in the Scriptures, where the expression occurs, "meddle with your own business."

A MEDICINE FOR THE MINER'S PACK.—Prospectors and others going into the mining regions, where doctors are few and drug stores not at all, should provide themselves with a supply of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It will offset the effects of exposure, reduce sprains, and when taken internally will prevent and cure colds and sore throat, and as a lubricant will keep the muscles in good condition.

THE COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Meeting of the National Body at St. John, N. B.

Importation of Domestics Proposed—The Matter of Annual Meetings.

St. John, N. B., July 7.—The National Council of Women elected officers this morning as follows:

President—Mrs. Robert Thomson.

Vice-Presidents at Large — Lady Laurier and Lady Taylor.

Vice-Presidents — Ontario, Mrs. Hoodless; Quebec, Madame Dandurand; New Brunswick, Lady Tilley.

Nova Scotia—Mrs. R. L. Borden.

Prince Edward Island—Mrs. Anderson.

Manitoba—Mrs. McEwan.

Northwest Territories—Mrs. Kate Cummings.

British Columbia—Miss Perrin.

Treasurer—Mrs. Learmont.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Willoughby Cummings.

Recording Secretary—Miss Laidlaw.

The matter of change from annual to bi-annual or tri-annual sessions was left to a committee to consider and decide. The committee will consist of the six national officers and Mrs. Perrin, for British Columbia; Madame Forget, Northwest Territories; Mrs. McEwan, Manitoba; Mrs. Gibbs, Ontario; Mrs. Bovey, Quebec; Mrs. Ellis, New Brunswick; Mrs. Borden, Nova Scotia, and Mrs. McCready, Prince Edward Island.

On Saturday morning the National Council of Women heard a report from Mrs. Bullock on better protection of women and children, and from Mrs. McNaughton, of Montreal, on industrial and fine arts, which, among other things, recommended compulsory teaching of drawing in public schools. Mrs. Baxter, of Seattle, and Mrs. Dennis, of Halifax, supported the arguments of the report.

The Committee on Doukhobour Home Industries reported that a loan fund of $763 had been raised. Material was supplied to Doukhobour women, and the value of the work produced by these women and sold was $1,809. This paid off the debt and left $798 for the Doukhobour workers.

Mrs. Cummings reported for the committee on the care of aged poor and an interesting discussion followed, in which Mrs. Skinner and Mrs. Smith, St. John; Miss Machar, Kingston, and Mrs. Dennis, Halifax, took part.

Mrs. Boomer presented a report concerning women on school boards. New Brunswick is the banner province, with sixteen women school commissioners. The report stated that unwillingness of suitable women to serve was one of the obstacles.

A report on pernicious literature was presented by Mrs. Cummings and briefly discussed.

Mrs. Laidlaw reported on immigration, recommending that application for domestics be sent to different councils abroad. She suggested a training school on this side for immigrants who did not understand household work. Lady Taylor spoke highly of Icelanders as domestic servants.

In the afternoon the visiting delegates were the guests of the St. John ladies at a picnic at Manchester Beach, about five miles from the city.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN IN AN ACCIDENT

Colonial Secretary Thrown Forward in a Cab.

HIS HEAD BADLY LACERATED

Had His Injuries Dressed at Charing Cross Hospital—Parliament to Meet in Fall.

London, July 7.—the Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, was somewhat cut on the head today as the result of a cab accident in Whitehall. His hansom was passing through the Canadian arch, when the horse slipped and Mr. Chamberlain was precipitated forward with great violence. His head struck and shattered the glass front of the cab. When extricated it was seen that his head was badly lacerated and bleeding profusely. A policeman helped the Secretary into a cab and accompanied him to Charing Cross Hospital, where his injuries were dressed.

Mr. Chamberlain's wounds bleed a great deal. They were not serious.

AN AUTUMN SESSION.

In the House of Commons this afternoon, A. J. Balfour, the Government leader, announced that an autumn session of Parliament would be necessary, beginning about the middle of October, and that the house would adjourn early in August.

Replying to a question on the subject of the coronation stands, the First Commissioner of Works, A. Akers Douglas, said it was not proposed to remove them as it was hoped they would still be required for the purpose for which they were constructed.

THE "RUSTICATED" CADETS.

London, July 7. — Winston Spencer Churchill, Conservative, and Ivor Churchill Guest, Conservative, in the House of Commons today raised the question of the "rustication" of the cadets of the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, as a result of their failure to denounce the persons guilty of starting the recent fires at that institution.

The war secretary, Mr. Brodrick, after narrating the facts already known, said the rusticated cadets would lose terms of seniority. No charge had been founded against individuals, but the cadets who had left Sandhurst all belonged to companies whose quarters had been set on fire. Some of them had been seen entering a room shortly before on of the fires. There was, therefore, good reason to believe that several cadets were implicated in the unfortunate business. The commander-in-chief, Lord Roberts, considered that the safety of the college demanded the adoption of stringent measures.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

The lips of the colonial premiers are sealed while the Imperial conference is in secret session, and they content themselves with amiable platitudes when forced into after-dinner oratory. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, warned by the publication of an interview in New York, which he repudiates from beginning to end, tells me that he cannot discuss any question connected with the work of the conference. There is little faith among either the colonial premiers or the British Imperialists that any results of great importance will be accomplished, either political or fiscal. Something may be done toward bringing about the co-operation of the mother country and the colonies in protecting maritime interests by liberal mail subsidies, but the preferential treatment is regarded by the English press as impracticable at present.

The revenue returns have hardened Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's heart and induced the wavering Tories to exclaim: "Let well enough alone, and avoid upsetting the established order of British finance." The hospitalities offered to the colonials and the deliberations of the conference will create an atmosphere for Imperial federation, as was done in the jubilee in 1897. The Imperial institutions can hardly be regarded, however, as airplants; they need solid soil for business interests.

CHOLERA SPREADS.

NECKLACE FOR $111,000.

A very large and fashionable company was present at Christie's Saturday, the attraction being the disposal of the magnificent casket of jewels collected during a long life by a deceased nobleman, whose name was not given, but who is acknowledged to have been one of the greatest connoisseurs of his day.

One feature of the sale was the competition for a magnificent pearl necklace, which was put in at $75,000, and eventually was knocked down for $111,000.

A rope of 222 finely graduated round pearls began at $50,000 and ended at $33,500.

A matchless pear-shaped pearl fetched $67,500, and a beautiful pearl and brilliant tiara of coronet form brought $51,500.

The day's sale realized $447,630.

CORONATION OF THE KING

Is Likely to Take Place Between August 11 and 15.

His Majesty's Progress More Rapid and Satisfactory Than Expected.

London, July 7.—King Edward will be crowned between Aug. 11 and Aug. 15. His recovery has been so rapid and satisfactory that the above decision was arrived at today. No official announcement of the fact has yet been made, however. The pageant through the streets and the ceremony at Westminster Abbey will be much curtailed from the original plan. Their majesties will drive from Buckingham Palace to the abbey through the Mall to Whitehall, and thence to the abbey, the same route as taken at the opening of parliament.

A UNIQUE INSTITUTION

Free Sanitarium for Consumptives Formally Opened.

Trustees Rely Upon Large-Hearted People for Its Maintenance.

Gravenhurst, July 6.—The new Free Hospital for Consumptives erected by the National Sanitarium Association was formally opened this afternoon in the presence of a large number of the friends of the association. A special train from Toronto brought nearly five hundred persons, who were anxious to display their sympathy with the laudable object which the association has in view.

A CHARMING LOCATION.

The new hospital is about half a mile from the Muskoka Cottage Sanitarium, in a charming and well sheltered location near the shore of Lake Muskoka, whose sparkling and island-studded waters it overlooks. The hospital is a substantial and handsome building, resting upon a solid stone foundation. It is as yet not completely furnished, but will, the trustees hope, be shortly. The equipment and appointments are all designed with a view to the comfort and health of the patients. The hospital when fully equipped will provide accommodation for one hundred patients.

Among the visitors present were Hon. J. R. Stratton, who made a thorough inspection of the hospital, and was very much pleased with all that he saw. As he had to return by the afternoon train in order to make railway connections for Peterboro', Mr. Stratton was unable to take part in the formal proceedings, but before leaving heartily congratulated Mr. W. J. Gage and Dr. C. D. Parfitt, the physician in charge, upon the splendidly equipped institution they had succeeded in providing for the amelioration of the sufferings of those afflicted with disease.

THE FORMAL DEDICATION.

Sir Wm. Ralph Meredith, Vice-President of the National Sanitarium Association, presided at the meeting, which was held in the open air.

Sir William, in opening the proceedings, referred to the success attending the operation of the Muskoka Cottage years ago, which had justified the erection of the Free Consumption Hospital. He gave some statistics concerning the parent institution, the cost of which was $80,000, of which one-half was contributed by Mr. W. J. Gage and the late Hart. A. Massey in equal parts, and enumerated subsequent liberal donations.

The building, the inauguration of which they had met to celebrate, was designed to meet the need of those sufferers who could not afford to pay anything for treatment. The building was open to everyone who had no means, free of all charge; its doors would not be closed to anyone who was a fit subject for treatment within its walls, and who had not means of providing for the treatment necessary. Its erection cost $20,000, which had been donated half by Mr. Gage and half by the H. A. Massey estate. Sir William conveyed the thanks of the trustees to the pubic, who had generously contributed upwards of $8,000 towards the furnishing.

HANDED OVER

Mr. W. J. Gage related the various negotiations during the past ten years which culminated in the erection of the Muskoka Cottage Sanitarium, and the free hospital which was being formally opened.

Mr. Gage paid a warm tribute to the late W. E. H. Massey, whose demise was a great loss to the trustee board of the association, upon which he had been a most enthusiastic and sympathetic worker. In conclusion Mr. Gage said: "I think it an honor to have some share in this work. I am glad to have the privilege of joining in the erection of this building, which I would not desire to formally hand over to the board of trustees, with the hope that the hospital may enter upon a career of great usefulness."

Mayor Howland and others made short addresses after which the visitors returned to Toronto by a special train this evening.

CHANGE OF LIFE

A Time of Interest and Great Importance to All Women.

Wrecked health is produced by neglect during this trying period, and small wonder that women look forward with dread to its coming, for if not properly passed, it is but the beginning of an endless chain of troubles.

As soon as the unmistakable signs known to all women make their first appearance, Ferrozone should be used regularly, and if persistently taken will be a guarantee of happy, healthy, old age.

Nothing can bring more pleasure than to know that the days of sickness and suffering are over. This can best be accomplished by building up the system with Ferrozone, which produces blood, muscle, tissue, and strength to resist and ward off disease.

Ferrozone increases the appetite, strengthens and improves nerve tone and digestive processes, thereby strengthening and invigorating the whole system. It gives tone to the heart regulates its action, removes distressing palpitations, and it lays the sound foundation to perfect health.

Ferrozone is a sensible and efficient tonic; it brings back strength very quickly, and few people are so strong and healthy, that they would not be benefited by not using it.

Be advised and try Ferrozone. It is very pleasant to take, one tablet after each meal. All reliable druggists sell it for 50c. per box, or three boxes for $1.25. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

GOULDS AFTER ANOTHER SYSTEM

Want Baltimore and Soutnern as a Connection.

CHANGE IN M.C.R. MANAGEMENT

Assistant General Superintendent Atwater Has Resigned His Position.

Baltimore, July 8. — The Fuller syndicate, representing the Gould system, is negotiating for the Baltimore and Drum Point Railway. This road is 90 miles long and runs from Baltimore to Drum Point. There is 90 feet of water close to the shore at Drum Point, and it is considered the best harbor on the Chesapeake.

The line runs within 20 miles of Washington, and a bill has been passed by congress authorizing the construction of a line from Conways to the capital. A line from Pittsburg to connect with the Western Maryland at Shippensburg, via Greensburg and Somerset, is being surveyed by Gould engineers.

A gentleman in close touch with the Goulds stated that J. Pierpont Morgan had agreed to give the Wabash an entrance into Philadelphia over the Reading tracks from Shippensburg, if this line was built.

The Baltimore and Southern is owned by Edward Lauterbach, of New York, and Frank Beidler, of this city. Lauterbach is a member of a law firm closely connected with the Goulds.

The harbor at Drum Point was recently inspected by a commission appointed by the government with the intention of locating a naval coaling station and drydocks there. The commission reported that the place was exactly suited for the purpose, except it lacked railroad facilities.

DOUBLE-TRACKED TO OMAHA.

New York, July 8. — Announcement has been received that the Northwestern line has just completed its double track from Chicago to Omaha, being the first road to have such facilities between Chicago and the Missouri River gateways. This move not only puts the road in the front rank of western roads, but also puts it somewhat ahead of lines in the eastern and more densely populated district. The announcement, however, does not sum up the intentions of the western builders, who are bent on making the western service as good as, if not better than, the eastern roads afford. The Northwestern, with the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, make the announcement that they propose to build a double tracked road to the Pacific coast, a statement that is a little surprising

QUITS MICHIGAN CENTRAL.

Detroit, July 8. — A. B. Atwater, assistant general superintendent of the Michigan Central Railroad, has resigned, his resignation taking effect July 1.

His place has been filled by the appointment of W. S. Kinnear, who since last October was assistant to the general superintendent on the Canada division, and resided at St. Thomas.

Mr. Atwater began railroad work when 19 years old, first as telegraph operator on the Cleveland and Lake Erie. He soon became resident engineer of the Canada Southern. On the Dover and Huron he was assistant and next engineer and superintendent. Then he was chief engineer of the Stratford and Huron, and then general superintendent of the Georgian Bay and Lake Erie division of the Grand Trunk. In 1882 he became chief engineer of the Chicago and Grand Trunk, and three years later was appointed superintendent of the western division of the C. and G. T. He joined the M. C. R. in 1898.

Do You Realize What a Million Means?

If a man were able to save Ten Dollars a day for every one of the three hundred and sixty-five days in a year, to accumulate One Million Dollars it would take him just Two Hundred and Seventy-four Years.

This will give you a slight idea of what a million means.

HUDSON'S DRY SOAP has been used and is used by millions of satisfied people in Great Britain and elsewhere.

It was a household word when the present generation were toddlers.

It is a DRY SOAP, consequently when you buy soap you get soap, every particle in every packet having a cleansing value.

It saves what it is used upon, the person who uses it, and the purse.

These are a few points for your consideration when buying household soap.

PE-RU-NA

STRENGTHENS AND RESTORES.

A Congressman's Wife Uses Pe-ru-na for Nervousness.

MISS ADELAIDE CLAIRE, 446 W. Forty-first street, New York City, N. Y., writes:

"Peruna strengthens and restores the nervous system, builds up your worn out constitution and is just what women need who are afflicted with weakness of any kind. I hear nothing but praise for Peruna on all sides. Most of the members of my family have used it and all stand by it as a wonderful healthgiver." Miss Adelaide Claire.

Hon. Joseph B. Crowley, Congressman from Illinois, writes from Robinson, Ill., the following praise for the great catarrhal tonic, Peruna. Congressman Crowley says:

"Mrs. Crowley has taken a number of bottles of Peruna on account of nervous troubles. It has proven a strong tonic and lasting cure. I can cheerfully recommend it."—J. B. Crowley.

Catarrh a Systemic Disease.

Catarrh is a systemic disease, curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peruna does. Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears; then it is permanently cured.

Peruna cures the catarrh wherever located. Peruna is not a guess nor an experiment—It is an absolute scientific certainty. Peruna has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Peruna.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

DRS. KENNEDY & KERGAN

The Leading Specialists of America. 25 Years in Detroit. Bank Security.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects. The DRAINS, either by nightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no Pay. We treat and cure: Varicocele, Blood Diseases, Stricture, Gleet, Emissions, Urinary Drains, Spermatorrhoea, Unnatural Discharges, Kidney and Bladder Diseases.

The Political Situation.

The Globe and The London Advertiser are very anxious to avoid another general election. The machine is crippled, and the corruption fund is exhausted. They would rather try one constituency at a time.—Hamilton Times.

The Globe can speak for itself. The Advertiser candidly admits it is not anxious for a midsummer election, although London, South Oxford, and several other ridings would be redeemed by the Government in that event. Ninety-nine out of every hundred electors, Liberals and Conservatives, do not want another election either. The leaders of the Opposition want it only on one condition—that they shall control it themselves. What a furore they would raise if Mr. Ross resigned and went to the country forthwith! They would like to see Mr. Ross resign and Mr. Whitney called upon to form a cabinet. Of course, Mr. Whitney, being in a minority in the House, could not carry on the government one hour, and a dissolution would be forced. The effect of this little game would be to place the election machinery in the hands of the Opposition. From such a calamity the Province will be spared.

Mr. Ross will follow the constitutional course. He has no warrant for resigning or calling the Legislature together in special session, before the regular time. He will meet the House in February, and without doubt will find a comfortable working majority behind him. It is asking too much of the electors to expect them to worry over politics in midsummer.

The Submerged Tenth.

One-tenth the population of Old London, or between 500,000 and 600,000 persons, partook of the King's free dinner.

It is a wonderful feat—feeding over half a million people—but it is not nearly so impressive as the fact that there were over half a million people who wanted to be fed. What a comment on the boasted progress of the 20th century! One person in every ten steeped in poverty or willing to accept the charity of a free meal! It is a melancholy thought that an event which attested the human sympathies of the King, should also attest the appalling extent of human misery in his own capital. Is it any wonder there is a school of opinion in the mother country which regards the uplifting of the submerged tenth of Old London as a more imminent duty than subjugating alien races Whether they are called anti-Imperialists of Little Englanders, there is something to be said for the men who fear the Empire cannot be altogether sound while this terrible social canker is eating at its heart.

Edison's Latest Achievement.

It is seldom that Thomas A. Edison takes the public into his confidence, but he has broken his sphinx-like reticence to say something about his new storage battery. He announces its final perfection in an article in the July number of the North American Review. For years he has been working on the problem. The essential feature of a storage battery, Mr. Edison explains, is that it must be a perfectly reversible instrument, receiving and giving out power like a dynamo motor, without any deterioration of the mechanism of conversion. This condition is not met by the lead storage battery, which gradually becomes less and less efficient, and in a few months wholly inoperative; but the nickel-iron storage cell, which has been evolved from Mr. Edison's experiments, remains uninjured, he declares, under any condition to which one can imagine it to be subjected, even by the most inexpert person. He says this storage battery will make it practical for many people who cannot afford the luxury of a horse and carriage to possess a serviceable pleasure vehicle always ready for use. He predicts that automobile accidents, now so common, will be unknown. He says:

"We hear of fewer automobile accidents in France and in Europe generally than in our own country, and they are fewer in spite of heavy types of carriages. One reason for this is that in Europe there are wider roads and less traffic; another is that the public have been educated up to the situation. The electric carriage of the future, and of the near future, will, in my opinion, not only supersede other types of automobiles, but it will be built and run on such practical lines that accidents will soon become things of the past. Horse owners and drivers will educate their animals, as in old times they had to be educated up to the steam engine and later to the trolley car. The electric carriage will be practically noiseless, and easily stopped in an emergency."

The world has long waited for a perfect storage battery, and if Mr. Edison has found it, it will be the crowning triumph of his life. The uses to which it may be put are almost beyond the imagination. It is now known why Mr. Edison has become interested in nickel mining in this province. His new battery is to be of iron-nickel and he has been looking out for a source of supply in Ontario.

Canadians Capture the Trade.

It was rather an eye-opener when a New York committee issued a table the other day, showing that more grain had been exported from Montreal in the preceding week than from all the United States ports on the Atlantic put together. Discussing this phenomenon the Montreal Herald points out that grain from the Canadian Northwest does not, for the most part, go out by Montreal, so that Canadian grain probably accounts for a large portion of the traffic that the American ports did manage to get. The grain shipped at Montreal is largely from the American West. One reason is that the route is cooler; another is that the Parry Sound line, and the Grand Trunk, afford a direct outlet from the Western States. But these are not new factors. The Herald thinks that Montreal's lead in grain shipments at this particular time is accounted for by cheap steamship freights. "Very little grain," says the Herald, "is moving to Europe, as compared with the shipments in recent years. Montreal ships get the bulk of it, one would say, because Montreal ships can underbid those at other ports for what is in effect a ballast cargo. Ships coming to Montreal bring inward cargo. Our tariff is low enough to admit of that. American fiscal legislation is designed to prevent incoming ships from bringing any cargo. That is one advantage we have. Another is that ships coming to Montreal can always get a good load of lumber. That is our staple export. Even in poor years we ship enormous quantities. At the rival ports they have none to ship and nothing to take its place as a staple, bulky cargo. When one ship has a couple of thousand tons of lumber on board, and another ship has nothing of the kind, ship No. 1 is in a good position to underbid for the grain required to make 'heavy' cargo in the lower compartments. If it pays anything at all, it pays more than water ballast. If the grain rate by Montreal is lower just now than by New York or Boston, this is probably the explanation."

Whatever the cause of Montreal's lead, the statement of the New York committee, which was alarmist in tone, is an excellent advertisement for the Canadian route. The work of dredging and improving the river channel between Quebec and Montreal is being pushed with vigor, and when completed the insurance underwriters should have no pretext for keeping up their heavy discrimination against the St. Lawrence route. Some day Montreal may get a permanent lead on her Atlantic rivals.

Uncle Sam has a surplus of $200,000,000. If this keeps up the United States will soon be known as the Ontario of the nations.

London will have Kitchener's welcome as a substitute for the coronation. Kitchener is not the King, but if there is anyone who can fill the vacancy just now it is the South African hero.

It is too bad that the Colonial Secretary should meet injury directly under the Canadian arch, but all reports agree that the arch is a stunning affair.

Labor is reported scarce in South Africa, because white men consider it beneath their dignity to do unskilled work. There ought to be no difficulty in solving the tramp problem there.

The Toronto Telegram is giving Canadian politicians a rest, and is clubbing Grover Cleveland. Yet Grover Cleveland is a much greater statesman than the Telegram's idol, Joe Martin.

There are twenty election protests to date—thirteen against Conservatives, and seven against Liberals. This may not mean twenty bye-elections, but it will be just as well to find out if any more Billy Smiths were operating in May.

Argentina is pleading for immigrants but she cannot even keep them within her borders. Two hundred and thirty Welsh settlers have left there, and taken up land in the Canadian Northwest, where they will be under the old flag. This should be a fine object lesson for intending emigrants in the old country.

Mayor Beck was quite within his rights in voting last night to save Ald. Pritchard from being transplanted to No. 3 committee, where he properly belongs. But Mayor Beck felt no desire to vote when the street railway and electric power questions, which were vastly more important, were before the council. Why not do a good turn for the city, as well as for Ald. Pritchard?

Rock Bottom Facts.

[Kincardine Review.]

They thought Sanford would have died because his feet were held fast by brick and sand, but how on earth could he kick the bucket under such circumstances?

A curious circumstance of the case is that no sooner was he set free than he was hauled up.

How he happened to get breath down there is a pipe story.

Truth lies at the bottom of a well and so could not embarrass the reporter up above.

The Paris incident forever settles the slander that there is a woman at the bottom of everything.

Her Wedding Day.

[Detroit News.]

A pathetic story has come to light in connection with the death of F. W. McElroy, who was killed on a railroad wreck at Mingo Junction, O., on Monday. It was to have been his wedding day, and the girl to whom he was engaged waited his coming patiently at Fairmont, where he has promised to meet her. Early in the morning she was up and ready for him, and she was at the depot waiting for his train when the news was flashed over the wires that he was dead. The girl was dazed by the news, and almost lost her reason. For 4 hours she wandered around the streets of Fairmont, friendless and penniless, till she was discovered by one who knew her and was sent to her country home at Catawba.

Lead, Kindly Light.

[Cardinal Newman.]

Cardinal Newman was born in London in 1801 and died in 1890. He graduated from Oxford, and was ordained in 1824. He was the recognized leader of the high church party in England until 1845, when he united with the Roman Catholic Church. He was appointed rector of the Catholic University at Dublin in 1854, and was made a cardinal by the pope in 1879.

Lead, kindly Light, amid the encircling gloom,
Lead Thou me on!
The night is dark, and I am far from home,
Lead Thou me on!
Keep Thou my feet! I do not ask to see
The distant scene; one step enough for me.

I was not ever thus, nor prayed that Thou
Should'st lead me on!
I loved to choose and see my path; but now
Lead Thou me on!

I loved the garish day; and, spite of fears,
Pride ruled my will; remember not past years.

So long Thy power has blest me, sure it still
Will lead me on,
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till
The night is gone;
And with the morn those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since, and lost awhile.

When Sylvia Sprays the Lawn.

[Los Angeles Herald.]

When Sylvia in the morning takes the sinuous garden hose,
And flutters to the verdant spot in front,
She has a monster sun hat set to shield her piquant nose
While busy with that world-refreshing stunt.
Then woe to the pedestrian who doesn't watch and dodge,
When Sylvia sprays in front of where she's known to lodge.

Why Sylvia holds the nozzle pointed out toward the street,
And looks at the geraniums near by,
There's danger on the sidewalk—O, you never saw the beat!
For Sylvia has a wondrous wand'ring eye.
Then dodge like all creation when you pass the pretty place,
When Sylvia sprays the verdancy with such consummate grace.

O, many a stenographic job has fallen to the lot
Of that particular angel who records
The sin that is most common when humanity gets hot—
The habit of employing naughty words—
And all because of Sylvia with her careless little way,
When she takes out the garden hose and lets the nozzle play.

Five Boons of Life.

[Mark Twain in Harper's Weekly.]

In the morning of life came the good fairy with her basket and said:

"Here are gifts. Take one, leave the others. And be wary, choose wisely. O, choose wisely, for only one of them is valuable."

The gifts were five. Fame, Love, Riches, Pleasure, Death. The youth said eagerly:

"There is no need to consider," and he chose Pleasure.

He went out into the world and sought out the pleasures that youth delights in. But each in its turn was short-lived and disappointing, vain and empty, and each, departing, mocked him. In the end he said:

"These years I have wasted. If I could but choose again, I would choose wisely."

Hot Weather Wishes.

[Baltimore Herald.]

How we long for polar pleasure,
And for regions filled with ice;
Where it's cool and all is leisure,
And the iceman gets no price;
On a polar expedition
We would very cheerful go,
And discuss our cool condition
With a native Eskimo.

For with makeshifts are we sated,
Such as near a blaring band,
In a nook refrigerated
With a palm leaf in our hand;
Or aboard a whizzing trolley,
Or a-sailing down the bay,
Where the coy maids throw the jolly
And the waltz-song brings dismay.

Oh! for lazy exultation
With an iced drink by our side,
Reading "Polar Explorations"
With a 'lectric fan a'ded;
And indite the verse we cater,
And sad jokes about the heat,
Perched on cool refrigerator,
Philosophical and sweet.

MASSACRED BY ESKIMOS

Fate of Explorer Andree and His Party Learned at Last.

What "Old Huskie" Saw—Hudson Bay Co. Investigating.

Winnipeg, Man., July 7. — Rev. Dr. Farlies, a Church of England clergyman, has arrived from York Factory, Northwest British Territory, and brings authentic information of the fate of Explorer Andree and his companions. Two years ago, 1,800 miles north of York, a party of Eskimos under the leadership of "Old Huskie," saw the Andree balloon alight on a plane of snow in that vicinity, which is about two miles north of Fort Churchill.

Three men emerged from the balloon, and some of "Huskie's" people approached them. As they did so one of Andree's companions fired off a gun. This is a signal to uncivilized natives for a battle. It is regarded as a challenge, and almost instantly the natives fell upon the three explorers and massacred them. Everything pertaining to their outfit was carried away to the homes of the natives on the north borders of the Arctic region.

"Old Huskie" himself gave this information to Ralph Alstine, agent for the Hudson Bay Company, and the story, after being investigated by Dr. Farlies, was told by him today. He says that there is little room for doubt, as frequent reports have since come of the strange implements which the northern natives have in their possession, the telescope being particularly described.

The Hudson Bay Company has recently offered a reward for the recovery of any portion of the outfit belonging to Andree, and though natives have gone on the search for them, they have never returned, believing, as Rev. Dr. Farlie says, that they will in some way be punished, for they now understand that it was not an attack upon them, but an accident by which the gun was discharged that precipitated the massacre. Had Andree made friends with the natives, it is held that he would have been conducted safely south, and would eventually have reached civilization.

The Hudson Bay Company has recently sent another party in search of the balloon and outfit of Andree, and hopes to have conclusive evidence of the fate of the explorers within a few months.

finally becoming totally blind in his seventy-third year, he became despondent.

THREE BOMBS THROWN

Failure of Attempt to Wreck St. Vincent de Paul Prison.

Montreal, July 7.—An attempt was recently made to wreck St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, at the place of that name, some distance from Montreal, where over 600 convicts are confined. The attempt is believed to have been part of a plan by some of the convicts to escape.

Three bombs filled with explosives were thrown from an upper story in the inside of the penitentiary into a large corridor below. Fortunately, very little damage was done.

The authorities have not yet found out who threw the bombs, but a thorough investigation will be made. It is supposed some of the convicts got some powder from the quarries and made the bombs, which were very primitive affairs.

Having apparently built a nest on board, a swallow accompanied an Isle of Man steamer on its last voyage to and from the mainland.

Strong Again.

The woman who knows the full value of health is the woman who has lost it and regained it; the woman who from being weak and sickly is once again made a strong woman. Half a million weak and sickly women have been made strong and well by the aid of Dr. Pierce and his "Favorite Prescription." It cures the ills which weaken women. It regulates the periods, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It nourishes the nerves and so cures nervousness. It promotes a healthy appetite and infuses refreshing sleep.

"I had female trouble for eight years," writes Mrs. L. J. Dennis, of 826 East College Street, Jacksonville, Ills. "Words cannot express what I suffered. I sought relief among the medical profession and found none. Friends urged me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I commenced taking this medicine I weighed ninety-five pounds. Now I weigh one hundred and fifty-six pounds—more than I ever weighed before. I was so bad I would lie from day to day and long for death to come and relieve my suffering. I had internal inflammation, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pain, and such distress every month, but now I never have a pain—do all my own work and am a strong and healthy woman."

Use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets with "Favorite Prescription" if the bowels are inactive or irregular.

Fishermen Suffer.

St. Johns, Nfld., July 8. — A furious gale raged here Saturday night, and swept the whole seaboard, destroying much fishing property. It is feared that the storm worked great havoc with shipping. The steamer Harmony, at this port, broke from her moorings, damaged three ships, several wharves and a number of fishing vessels, and finally went ashore in Petty Harbor. Her crew was rescued. Other vessels were beached at different points, and it is believed that much damage was done to the fishing fleet on the Grand Banks.

Sleeplessness.

You can't sleep in the calmest and stillest night if your stomach is weak, circulation poor and digestion bad.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens the stomach, improves the circulation, perfects digestion and brings about that condition in which sleep is regular and refreshing.

It does not do this in a day, but it does it—has done it in thousands of cases.

The biggest wine cooler is at Windsor, and belongs to the King. It was made for George IV., and two men could sit in it with ease.

SOMETHING MORE THAN A PURGATIVE.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pill compounds depress. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enters into their composition.

AMERICAN MARKETS

CHICAGO.

Chicago, July 7.—The grip of the Gates crowd on the local supply of contract corn was again made evident today, when July corn broke the record of recent years by going to 84¾c; the next sale was at 83¾c. The market opened with corn, for this month's delivery, wanted, all the way from 77c to 79½c. All the forenoon bids hesitated below 80c. Later reports of further participation in the west frightened shorts, and the prices shot up by leaps and bounds. Little corn was sold, however, even at this advance. The close was at 84c—7c higher than the previous close (Thursday). Following early easiness, the grain markets rallied today on reports of additional rains in the west. September wheat closing ½c to ⅝c higher and September corn ⅝c up, while September oats closed unchanged. July corn shorts bid the tied-up option to 84¾c, but got little corn for their pains. Provisions closed 10c to 22½c higher. Local receipts of wheat (three days) were 98 cars, 9 of contract grade; Minneapolis (three days) and Duluth (three days) reported 958 cars, making a total for the three points of 1,056 cars. World's shipments were 6,560,000 bu. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour were equal to 657,000 bu for the past three days. Primary receipts (three days) were 1,343,000 bu, against 1,065,000 bu for the corresponding period a year ago. Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat, 70 cars; corn, 200 cars; oats, 180 cars; hogs, 18,000 head.

Peg's Secret.

When back I gaily come from town,
And bring guests one or many,
My Peggy wears no puzzled frown,
Nor seems to worry any.

But smiling to the pantry hies,
To number its resources,
And though there may be lack of pies,
There is no lack of courses.

The soup is clear, with such a zest;
The fish and meat—such savors!
That oft will ask the wond'ring guest
The secret of the flavors.

Then Peg retorts with pleased glance,
"Fried sole or kippered herrin's,
Just add to aught you would enhance
A dash of LEA AND PERRIN'S."

Thread Man Dead.

Newark, N. J., July 8.—Word was received last night that Wm. Clark, the thread manufacturer, died yesterday in England.

Mr. Clark was one of the largest manufacturers of thread in the world. He was born at Paisley, Scotland, in 1841. He came to this country in 1864 with his brother George, and in a small way began the manufacture of cotton thread in a little building on the banks of the Passaic River in the upper part of this city. From that beginning there grew the great works having a branch in Paisley, Scotland, and covering with immense buildings many acres on both sides of the Passaic in this city. Mr. Clark's second wife and four children survive him.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

A Long Time to Spend in Sickness and Suffering—But It All Had a Happy Ending.

Economy Point, N. S., July 7.—For over 25 years Mr. George S. McLaughlin, of this place, was an invalid through Lumbago.

At times his back was so lame that he could not turn himself in bed, and the slightest cold or hard lifting would bring on an awful attack, which gave him fearful pain.

He commenced a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in a short time all the pain left his back, and it became as stout and strong as ever, and since then he has had no return of the terrible Lumbago. He says:

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure any case of Lame Back, for they helped me out, and nobody could have it much worse than I had."

Horse Killed by Lightning.

Glencoe, Ont., July 8. — During an electrical storm, which visited this locality yesterday, a valuable horse belonging to the Woodburn Milling Company was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The horse was hitched to a post near the mill at the time, and one of the partners had just left the mill to unhitch the horse, but stopped to speak to a friend, or he would have been at the horse's side when the flash came.

Hood's Pills

PLATO reproved a man for daily playing dice. "You reprove me for a little thing," said the culprit. "Habit," replied Plato, "is no little thing." At first sight the choice of breakfast coffee seems trifling. Any coffee will do. But the question of daily habit is important. To gain a little extra strength one day is a trifle; but to gain daily strength continuously is to acquire a new vigor of health. That is why Chase & Sanborn's Coffee for breakfast is so important.

'Pinos Not Peaceful.

Manila, July 8.—A large party of Moros from Mascu, Island of Mindanao, armed with 21 rifles, recently planned to ambush a pack train of the Lake Lanao column, but Americans were warned in time and anticipated the attack. One shell from a mountain gun dispersed the Moros. The Moros in the towns of Massieu and Bacolo are growing more aggressive.

AUDITORIUM IN DANGER!

Big Hotel's Guests Roused by a $325,000 Fire in Chicago.

Swift & Co. Lose $500,000—$100,000 Blaze in New York.

Chicago, July 7.—Fire early yesterday destroyed the buildings at 305-313 Wabash avenue, causing losses aggregating over $325,000. For a time the fire threatened widespread destruction, as it was only through the most strenuous efforts of the firemen that the flames were prevented from spreading to the department store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., fronting on State street and separated from the burning building by only a narrow alley.

Much excitement was caused among the guests at the Auditorium hotel, who were aroused from their slumbers at 7 o'clock in the morning and the fire had gained such headway that it threatened buildings on all sides.

The fire originated in Bosch & Co.'s basement and had burned up to the second floor before an alarm was turned in. Explosion followed explosion in this building, and many of the iron shutters were blown from their fastenings and fell into the street.

New York, July 7.—A fire at 599 Broadway early to-day caused a loss of $100,000. A fireman fell one story with a falling roof, and was so badly hurt he had to be taken to a hospital. The fire was in a five-story building, and it destroyed the three upper floors. They were occupied by L. Wolf, leather goods, and Oppenheimer & Gensburg, hats.

Chicago, July 7.—By a fire which broke out in their plant at the stock yards Saturday night, Swift & Co. suffered a loss which is estimated by the officials of the company at $500,000. The fire was confined to one building standing at the intersection of Packers' avenue and Broadway. This structure was four stories high, built of bricks, and was three hundred feet square. The first floor was occupied by the wholesale meat market of the company, the second by the shipping department, and the third and fourth by the general offices of the company. The latter are said to have been the largest single offices in the United States, more than 800 employes working on one of the floors in a single room. The cause of the fire is not known, but it was discovered near the engine room. It spread so rapidly through the building that it was found impossible to save anything in the structure.

GOSCHEN ON THE CORN TAX

Takes Opposite Ground to That He Held in 1869.

Favors Broadening Basis of Taxation—Indorses Lord Liverpool's Plan.

London, July 8.—Lord Salisbury expressed the other day enthusiastic gratitude to Lord Goschen for having demonstrated the solvency of Great Britain, which nobody doubted. One good turn deserves another, and in the house of lords, Lord Goschen defended the corn tax.

The house of lords is not quite the best place for a financial debate, inasmuch as the peers cannot constitutionally amend a money bill, and to throw out a finance bill without changing the government would bring the ministery of state to a full stop. Nevertheless the house contains a few expert financiers, whose opinions are worth having.

Besides Lord Goschen himself there is Lord Welby, who for many years was permanent secretary of the treasury. Lord Welby is a moderate liberal trained by Gladstone and is chairman of the Cobden club. He condemned the revival of the duties on foreign corn and reminded the peers that at the close of the Crimean war the income tax was higher by a penny in the pound than now. He drew the inference it would have been better to raise the income tax than to raise the price of bread, though that course was not the only alternative. His appeal fell on deaf ears, for the lords dislike the income tax and care nothing for the price of bread.

Lord Goschen saw the chance, and, proved to the complete satisfaction of the audience that the more indirect taxes there were the better. His ideal would apparently be the tariff of 1842, under which no fewer than 1,200 articles were liable to customs duties. The great work of Peel and Gladstone was to reduce the number roughly speaking from 12,000 to 12.

FOR BROADENING BASIS.

Lord Goschen is for broadening the basis of taxation, or, in other words, returning to the finance of Lord Liverpool. By elaborate and extremely sophistical arguments Lord Goschen endeavored to prove that a duty of a shilling a quarter on foreign wheat flour could not be protective, because it would not be high enough to bring more land under the plow, so that there are at least two obvious answers.

In the first place it raises the value of agricultural land by raising the price of British corn which does not pay duty. In the second place, the true test of a protective duty is whether it makes the consumer pay money which does not go into the treasury, but into the private pockets. This duty undoubtedly does so.

CHANGED HIS GROUND.

Lord Goschen was responsible, as cabinet minister in 1869, for taking off the very duty now reimposed on the express ground that it was what he now denies it to be. The rest of his speech was devoted to showing how small the tax is and how little it will be felt.

The peers were delighted no doubt by the thought of how good it would be for the working classes. Really, according to Lord Goschen, it is so universally beneficial that the import ought soon to be enlarged until the hight of financial wisdom is reached with the return to the good old sliding scale abolished by those bad men, Cobden, Bright and Peel.

Lord Goschen has had a strange career since the days when he was a radical member for the city of London and Lord Russell was thought to be very bold for putting him into the cabinet, but he has seldom done anything stranger than his performance Thursday afternoon.

out, washing away a bridge. Large numbers of dead cattle were seen floating down the river during the day.

Stafford reports heavy damage from the flood. The embankments of Goodfrey pond, a large sheet of water owned by the New York Central Railroad and which furnishes its large standpipes at Byron, was unable to stand the strain, and with a roar heard for miles around, the large mass of water departed upon its destructive course, carrying bridges and everything movable before it.

Middleport reports all dams swept away in Johnston's Creek, with damage of hundreds of dollars and all business is at a standstill. The crop damage is also considerable. Five bridges in the town are gone.

BRIDGES DOWN.

Bliss reports the iron bridge of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg over Wiscoy Creek gone, leaving a gap of seventy-five feet; also that some 2,000 or 3,000 feet of bank are washed out from under the track from two to twenty feet deep between here and Eagle, and nearly every small bridge and cattle pass from here to Hardy's is gone. Four of the five large iron bridges of the highways in this town are in the creek. Every iron bridge between here and Pike, eight in number, is down, almost every small bridge and sluice is gone and highways are torn up, making travel impossible.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Offerman, Ga., July 7.—Three white men and two negroes were killed and one white and one negro injured in a severe thunderstorm here today. The men were stretching telephone wires and were working in two sections, about five miles apart. One lightning bolt killed the five and injured the two.

EIGHT DROWNED IN TOLEDO IN THREE DAYS.

Toledo, Ohio, July 7. — Since Friday night there have been eight drownings here, three on Friday, three on Saturday and two on Sunday. On Friday Oliver Heal fell from a tug, on which fireworks were being manipulated, and was drowned. Ernest Price was drowned while swimming, and 3-year-old Lilian Durwell was taken dead from a cistern the same afternoon. On Saturday evening an unknown man leaped from the Cherry street bridge, and was drowned, and the Hallett brothers, Charles and Theodore, were drowned while swimming in Ten Mile Creek. Yesterday Harry Arnold, aged 20 years, and Frank Van Davis, were caught by the under-tow while swimming in the Maumee and drowned.

SERIOUS OFFENSE CHARGED.

Gorden Gallagher was brought to jail last night from Newbury, having been committed for trial by Squires Amos Fennel and J. B. Kelley on a charge of attempting to criminally assault one Gertie Camplin. The girl's father, Robt. Camplin, is the complainant.

MANHATTAN CLUB ELECT OFFICERS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Manhattan club was held last night at the club rooms, Dundas street, when Mr. James Dunlop was elected president in place of Mr. Charles Tinsley, who recently joined the ranks of the benedicts. Mr. Frank Dewan was elected vice-president in the place of Mr. E. Leitch, who has left the city. Good reports of the club's progress were submitted.

A RIVER ATTRACTION.

Mr. Whit Lancaster has engaged the Kenwick Male Quartette to give a choice programme of popular songs and melodies on the river opposite his boathouse on Thursday evening next. Boating was never more popular in London than at present, and the river was never cleaner and prettier. Mr. Lancaster's enterprise will greatly enhance the enjoyment of the pastime, for, it is understood, the Kenwick Quartette, which by the way is an organization of clever vocalists, will appear regularly on the river. Anyone who has listened to music on the water at night will appreciate the treat in store for lovers of boating.

FINED FOR CRUELTY

John Begg Must Pay $10 and the Value of the Dog.

At the police court today John Begg appeared for sentence on a charge of cruelty to animals by breaking a dog's leg on July 1. The police magistrate lectured Begg severely, and said he meant to have inflicted a very heavy penalty. He took into consideration, however, the fact that Begg was angered by another dog, which had just previously spoiled a portion of the sidewalk he was constructing. He therefore found him $10, and ordered him to pay the owner of the dog for its loss, as else be imprisoned for one month.

NORTH WENTWORTH AND NORTH PERTH

Have Been Added to the List of Election Protests.

OVER TWENTY PETITIONS IN

Three Were Filed Monday—Lennox Case Comes Up Today (Tuesday)—The List.

Stratford, July 8.—Yesterday a petition was filed with the local registrar of the High Court against the return of Mr. John C. Monteith as member of the Legislature for the North Riding of Perth. It was accompanied by the necessary $1,000 deposit. The petitioner is Mr. John Brown, the late representative, who, in addition to the usual charges, makes demand for a scrutiny, and claims the seat. The charges comprise bribery, treating, personation and undue influence as against the respondent, his agents and others, alleged illegal hiring of teams, the practice of intimidation, counseling and the procuring of personation, betting, etc.

NO SAW-OFF.

Kingston, July 8.—The Kingston Conservatives have deposited the $1,000 necessary for the protest against Mr. Pense. The money was placed in the Toronto branch of the Bank of Commerce by Messrs. Bristol, Cawthra & Bayly, on behalf of Mayor Shaw, to the credit of the accountant of the High Court of Justice. The Kingston Reformers will not entertain the suggestion of the county Conservatives, that a saw-off be agreed to in the city and county protests.

NORTH WENTWORTH.

Hamilton, July 8.—A protest was filed with Mr. S. H. Ghent, Deputy Clerk of the Crown yesterday, on behalf of Mr. A. R. Wardell, the defeated Conservative candidate in North Wentworth, against the election of Mr. R. A. Thompson. North Wentworth has followed the style set by South Wentworth, and the defeated candidate figures as the petitioner.

TWENTY PROTESTS NOW IN.

Three more election protests were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday, bringing the number of protests now in up to twenty. The protests received yesterday were from Addington, against J. S. Reid; Frontenac, against J. S. Gallagher, and Center Simcoe, against D. Davidson, the former two Conservatives and the latter a Liberal. The protest against Dr. Jessop in Lincoln has not yet been filed at Osgoode Hall. Other protests filed and not yet received in Toronto are against John Monteith, Conservative, North Perth, and R. A. Thompson, Liberal, North Wentworth.

THE LENNOX CASE.

The cross-appeal made by Mr. Madole in Lennox will be heard before Mr. Justice Maclennan at Osgoode Hall at 10:30 this morning.

The following are the protests that have thus far been filed here:

TEDDY PLAYS TENNIS.

President Has Thrown Aside Cares of Office at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, July 7.—President Roosevelt did not come into town today, but spent most of the time in playing tennis with the children. This afternoon Mrs. Rosevelt will give a tea to about 40 of her neighbors, at which the president will be present, and to-night there will be a display of fireworks at Sagamore house and an informal reception.

The president doesn't intend to have his vacation at Oyster Bay interrupted, and delegations having business with the chief executive are requested to do their calling by mail. Only the most important public business will be done there, the rest being transmitted to Washington for attention.

GOOD WORDS FOR NURSES

The Prince of Wales Refers to His Father's Illness

And the Excellent Attention He Was Enabled to Enjoy.

London, July 7.—The Prince and Princess of Wales opened the Henrietta Raphael Nurses' Home at Guy's hospital to-day. The Prince took the opportunity to explain how much the King, Queen and members of the royal family had been supported in their time of trial by the deep sympathy which had been displayed in all parts of the Empire.

The Prince added that he would also like to say that those who had watched around the sick bed fully realized how much, speaking from a human standpoint, had been due to the surgical and medical skill displayed, as well as the highly trained nursing which it had been the King's good fortune to enjoy.

GIFT FOR THE KING STOLEN

An Old Bell That Was Intended as a Coronation Present

Found in Harbor at Kingston, Jamaica, Inscribed 'Prince of Wales, 1740.'

New York, July 8.—The British schooner Attractor, Captain William Scott, which arrived at Jersey City, on Saturday carried a bell which is believed to have a history. It was inscribed "Prince of Wales, 1740," and was on its way to England, where it was to be presented to King Edward, but it was stolen after the vessel reached Jersey City. It was found, Capt. Scott says, on a reef in the harbor of Kingston, Jamaica. This reef is rarely visited, but about six weeks ago the men took advantage of an unusually calm day to go to it. They found the water only eight feet deep, and among the rocks they saw two dark objects. One of the men dived, and on coming to the surface reported that one was a bell, the other a chest. Measures were at once taken to have the bell and chest raised.

In the chest, which was of iron, were round Mexican coins amounting to about $10,000. They had been coined, as their dates showed, from 1700 to 1735. The bell, which was wedged between two rocks, was blasted out, and in the process was badly cracked. The Kingston authorities decided to send the bell to King Edward, and it was placed in the hold of the Attractor, with instructions to Capt. Scott to have it shipped to London as soon as he reached Jersey City. The police were informed of the theft, but were unable to solve the mystery of the bell's disappearance. As it weighed some 200 pounds, it must have taken some time to raise it from the after hold, in which it had been stored. It is supposed that the bell belonged to a ship [illegible] of the [illegible] but [illegible]

IN SANFORD'S INTEREST

Action Taken by a Mass Meeting Held in Paris.

Heroism of His Rescuers Recognized—Benefit Subscriptions.

Paris, Ont., July 7.—At a mass meeting in the town hall tonight a resolution was passed expressing sympathy with Joshua Sanford, who was entombed in the well on the Skelly farm for four and a half days. Another resolution commended Sanford's rescuers for the bravery and determination they had displayed in the face of great danger to their own lives, and, further, a committee was named to investigate the claims of Sanford's rescuers, who are eligible for medals or parchments. The following committee was authorized to receive subscriptions for the benefit of Sanford or for those who were instrumental in saving his life. Mayor Brown will receive the subscriptions and acknowledge them in the press: Messrs. J. H. Fisher, F. Smoke, R. Thompson and T. Scott-Davidson. All day Sunday and last night Joshua Sanford suffered much pain owing to the development of several abscesses. One on his arm near the shoulder and another in the axilla were the most painful, and it will be several days before he is as well as he was on Friday morning, but this evening he is resting much better. Money offers have come to him from various parts of the country. A Chatham sanitarium offers free treatment, the Federated Business College offers free tuition, and others have written Mr. Penman offering to subscribe to a fund for Sanford or the heroes who rescued him.

LAST SHOT OF THE WAR

How the New Zealander Was Killed After Peace.

Two Officers Attacked by Cape Rebels —Boer Women Prolong the War.

London, July 7.—The Standard's Pretoria correspondent in a mailed dispatch gives the following account of the last shots of the war and the killing of Lieut. McKeech of the New Zealand contingent on June 3rd, after peace had been proclaimed. The last actual fighting appears to have taken place about Deelkraal, ten miles east of Frederickstad, on the Klerksdorp line of railway. On the afternoon of Friday, the day before peace, some Boers, anticipating the termination of the war, raided some cattle from the native location at Buffelsvei. The following day (Saturday) a body of the South African Constabulary, under Captain Fowler, went out to deal with the Boers. The attack was successful, 64 cattle, 13 horses, 30 rifles, 30 saddles and one prisoner being taken, while one of the British was killed and Lieut. Treddennickt and three men were wounded. The Boer casualties are not known. Exceptional precautions were then taken in order that not another shot might be fired between Briton and Boer.

Unfortunately, circumstances were against the peace being preserved. On June 4, three days after peace had been signed, Lieuts. McKeech and [illegible], of the 9th New Zealand contingent, which was encamped at [illegible], and which had not yet [illegible] active service, left camp to visit [illegible] ten miles out. CONDITION OF MR. CHAMBERLAIN

Evidently a Matter of More Than Ordinary Solicitude.

HE IS PROGRESSING NICELY

America Got the News of the New Date for Coronation in Advance of London Public.

London, July 8.—There was a constant stream of callers at Charing Cross hospital to-day, both to condole with Joseph Chamberlain, whose forehead was severely cut in a cab accident yesterday, and to congratulate him on his birthday. Mrs. Chamberlain was an early arrival with a supply of flowers and cushions.

The bulletin issued from the hospital at 11:30 a. m. read:

'Mr. Chamberlain is progressing very well. He passed a good night. Absolute quiet is essential. He will remain in the hospital for the present."

London, July 8.—The news that the coronation of King Edward was to be held before the middle of August was published in the United States and Canada before it was known here. But the London Times and other papers this morning confirm the Associated Press announcement.

From the same excellent source the Associated Press learns today that the pressing forward of the coronation was due to the personal

INSISTENCE OF THE KING.

His doctors were at first opposed to such an early date, but the King declined to agree to any other plans until he is crowned, and the doctors, finally realizing that more danger was likely to arise in opposing His Majesty on this point, agreed to it. They now see the King was right, and that it is far better for him to get through the turmoil of the coronation as soon as possible than to have it hanging over him for months.

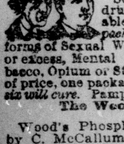

King Edward has determined not to break up the court at Buckingham Palace until after the coronation. He may go on board his yacht for a few days' cruise, but he is more likely to remain in London till the affair is over and then take a prolonged holiday.

THE C. N. R. STRIKE.

Winnipeg, July 8.—The strike situation remains unchanged. Both parties remain firm. A few laborers have returned to work, but no freight handlers of any account. It is said the Canadian Northern are hiring hands in the east, and will bring them out, but at the present time the merchants are considerably inconvenienced, owing to the strike of the freight handlers.

The Plumbers Go Back to Work.

Toronto, July 8.—The disagreement between the master plumbers of this city and their employes has, after a strike of three weeks' duration, been definitely settled. The result may, in the main, be looked upon as a victory for the strikers, the employers partially acceding to their scale, although not allowing the full advance asked for.

The plumbers get an increase in the minimum wages of 2½ cents to 30 cents per hour, and a promise of another equal advance in January next.

Over 600 delegates were present at the opening meeting of the 22nd annual convention of the Iron Moulders' Association of North America yesterday at the City Hall. Every State in the Union and every province in Canada is represented. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Howland. The delegates, who have their own band with them, formed on King street at 9:30, and marched to the City Hall. The sessions will be secret, but the officers state that the most important question to come before the convention is the proposal to establish a uniform nine-hour day for all the iron moulders of North America. At present the hours range from nine to ten. President Fox, who responded to the mayor's welcome, recalled the fact that the first meeting of the association in Toronto was in 1868, and referred to the wonderful growth of the city since that time.

Mild cases of smallpox are reported at Woodstock and Dutton.

—The lawyers of the city have all decided to close their offices on Saturdays during July and August at 1 p. m.

—Dr. J. H. MacLean, of Chicago, and Mrs. Phillips, 137 Bathurst street, are visiting their sister, Mrs. A. Martin, St. Thomas.

—Dr. J. H. MacLean, of Chicago, spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Roy MacLean and Mrs. A. R. Phillips, Bathurst street.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Joseph French, jr., a Caradoc Indian, was yesterday committed for trial on the charge of committing indecent assault on one Mary Noah, also of Caradoc.

SERIOUS OFFENSE CHARGED.

Gorden Gallagher was brought to jail last night from Newbury, having been committed for trial by Squires Amos Fennel and J. B. Kelley on a charge of attempting to criminally assault one Gertie Camplin. The girl's father, Robt. Camplin, is the complainant.

MANHATTAN CLUB ELECT OFFICERS.

The regular monthly meeting of the Manhattan club was held last night at the club rooms, Dundas street, when Mr. James Dunlop was elected president in place of Mr. Charles Tinsley, who recently joined the ranks of the benedicts. Mr. Frank Dewan was elected vice-president in the place of Mr. E. Leitch, who has left the city. Good reports of the club's progress were submitted.

A RIVER ATTRACTION.

Mr. Whit Lancaster has engaged the Kenwick Male Quartette to give a choice programme of popular songs and melodies on the river opposite his boathouse on Thursday evening next. Boating was never more popular in London than at present, and the river was never cleaner and prettier. Mr. Lancaster's enterprise will greatly enhance the enjoyment of the pastime, for, it is understood, the Kenwick Quartette, which by the way is an organization of clever vocalists, will appear regularly on the river. Anyone who has listened to music on the water at night will appreciate the treat in store for lovers of boating.

SUCCESSFUL PUPILS.

The pupils of Miss Elizabeth Walker have been most successful at the examinations held here recently by the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Dr. Edward Fisher was the examiner in piano, Dr. Ham in vocal, and Mr. Wheeler (New York), graduates at Toronto. The following are the successful pupils: Junior harmony, history and rudiments (first class honors)—Miss Clara Holmes, taking 90 per cent.; Miss Gertrude Rowntree, London, 88 per cent.; Miss Nettie Moore, Lion's Head; Miss Adelaide Bell, Hensall; Miss Edith Parker, Toronto; Miss Estelle Griffin, Wingham; honors, Mrs. W. B. Wilson, St. Thomas; Miss Ada Smart, Glencoe. Primary, harmony and rudiments (first class honors)—Miss Annie Marlatt, St. Thomas; honors, Miss Lydia Rammie, Zurich; Miss Flossie Snell, Dashwood; passed, Miss Ethel, Bradford; Miss Mabel Richards, London. Intermediate piano (honors) — Miss Adelaide Bell. Junior piano—Miss Lydia Rannie. Intermedial vocal (honors)—Miss Gertrude Rowntree. Final year, graduating at Toronto—Miss Ada Smart, Glencoe, with honors. At the Toronto University examinations, third grade, harmony and history, Miss Jennie Hunt, London, passed with first class honors.

Found a $5,000 Violin.

New York, July 8. — Jean Joseph Bott's $5,000 Stradivarius violin, which was stolen eight years ago, and for the alleged larceny of which Victor S. Fletcher was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary, will be returned to his widow today by Recorder Goff in New York. Bott is dead, killed, it is said by the loss of his favorite instrument. The violin was found in a pawnshop.

FINED FOR CRUELTY

John Begg Must Pay $10 and the Value of the Dog.

At the police court today John Begg appeared for sentence on a charge of cruelty to animals by breaking a dog's leg on July 1. The police magistrate lectured Begg severely, and said he meant to have inflicted a very heavy penalty. He took into consideration, however, the fact that Begg was angered by another dog, which had just previously spoiled a portion of the sidewalk he was constructing. He therefore found him $10, and ordered him to pay the owner of the dog for its loss, as else be imprisoned for one month.

TO CELEBRATE THE 12TH

West Middlesex Lodges Will Gather at Petrolia.

London and East Middlesex Brethren Go to Tilsonburg.

The Orangemen of London and East Middlesex will celebrate the "Glorious Twelfth" at Tilsonburg, leaving for that town at 8:45 a.m. by special M. C. R. train. The demonstration is expected to be a monster one, as lodges are expected from Hamilton and Wentworth county, Brantford and Brant county, St. Thomas and Elgin county, and Norfolk, Oxford and Haldimand counties. Indian lodges from Muncey, Southwold and Brantford reserves will also be present. W. Bro. W. C. Coo, of London, will be a speaker.

At Bothwell another monster demonstration will be held, in which lodges from Windsor, Chatham and Essex and Kent counties will participate. E. T. Essery and Caleb Simpson, of London, will be among the speakers.

West Middlesex Orangemen will celebrate the day at Petrolia, where they will be joined by the brethren of Sarnia and Lambton county.

TO BE TWO MORE SESSIONS

Ninham Inquest Will Probably Close This Week.

Jury Will Visit Scene of Tragedy on Thursday Afternoon.

It is believed that at least two more sessions of the coroner's jury will be necessary to complete the Ninham inquest. In addition to the four witnesses who remained to be heard when the adjournment took place last night, an effort will be made to secure the attendance of Fox, Bricklin, Dean, Ross and the other men mentioned by Hugh Sharkey, jun., as having been at his hotel on the night of the killing of Gus Ninham. It is hoped that the inquest can be concluded this week, so as not to further delay the preliminary examination of the prisoner, John McArthur.

Detective Ward has been investigating a rumor that a Mrs. Cox and her daughter, living near the Cove, on the Pipe Line road, had seen Ninham and John Charles, his companion at the time of the attack, fighting in front of a city hotel during the day of Ninham's death. Detective Ward found that the little girl had seen Ninham disputing with another Indian, but she says the latter was not Charles. She knew both Indians well, having picked berries with them on Mr. Baker's farm. She will be a witness at the inquest.

The jury will on Thursday afternoon take a Springbank car and go down to the scene of Ninham's death, in order that all may acquaint themselves with the locale of the place. Some of them are a little hazy as to the locale tion of the different roads mentioned by the various witnesses, while they also wish to understand the layout of Sharkey's house. They will visit Wesley Baker's barn, and other places concerned in the tragedy.

SIR JOHN BOURINOT

Is Seriously Ill But Not Considered In Immediate Danger.

(Special to the Advertiser.)

Ottawa, Ont., July 8.—Sir John Bourinot is better today. He passed a good night, and is not considered to be in immediate danger.

The Power of Great Britain.

Berlin, July 8.—The North German Gazette reviews a number of pamphlets treating upon Germany's sea power, and the possibility of an invasion of Great Britain, and concludes: "Such ideas are fantastic. England's fleet will remain the greatest in the world. It is quite impossible to land an army in England of sufficient force unless her navy is destroyed. The remarks of such pamphlets are outbursts from the new German feeling of sea power. They cause a very delightful sensation, but facts must be correctly measured, or else there is danger of illusions being indulged in."

In an interview at Sydney, C. B., the other day, David Baker, general manager of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, stated that the company had sold their entire production of steel billets and slabs for some time to come.

NORTH WENTWORTH AND NORTH PERTH

Have Been Added to the List of Election Protests.

OVER TWENTY PETITIONS IN

Three Were Filed Monday—Lennox Case Comes Up Today (Tuesday)—The List.

Stratford, July 8.—Yesterday a petition was filed with the local registrar of the High Court against the return of Mr. John C. Monteith as member of the Legislature for the North Riding of Perth. It was accompanied by the necessary $1,000 deposit. The petitioner is Mr. John Brown, the late representative, who, in addition to the usual charges, makes demand for a scrutiny, and claims the seat. The charges comprise bribery, treating, personation and undue influence as against the respondent, his agents and others, alleged illegal hiring of teams, the practice of intimidation, counseling and the procuring of personation, betting, etc.

NO SAW-OFF.

Kingston, July 8.—The Kingston Conservatives have deposited the $1,000 necessary for the protest against Mr. Pense. The money was placed in the Toronto branch of the Bank of Commerce by Messrs. Bristol, Cawthra & Bayly, on behalf of Mayor Shaw, to the credit of the accountant of the High Court of Justice. The Kingston Reformers will not entertain the suggestion of the county Conservatives, that a saw-off be agreed to in the city and county protests.

NORTH WENTWORTH.

Hamilton, July 8.—A protest was filed with Mr. S. H. Ghent, Deputy Clerk of the Crown yesterday, on behalf of Mr. A. R. Wardell, the defeated Conservative candidate in North Wentworth, against the election of Mr. R. A. Thompson. North Wentworth has followed the style set by South Wentworth, and the defeated candidate figures as the petitioner.

TWENTY PROTESTS NOW IN.

Three more election protests were filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday, bringing the number of protests now in up to twenty. The protests received yesterday were from Addington, against J. S. Reid; Frontenac, against J. S. Gallagher, and Center Simcoe, against D. Davidson, the former two Conservatives and the latter a Liberal. The protest against Dr. Jessop in Lincoln has not yet been filed at Osgoode Hall. Other protests filed and not yet received in Toronto are against John Monteith, Conservative, North Perth, and R. A. Thompson, Liberal, North Wentworth.

THE LENNOX CASE.

The cross-appeal made by Mr. Madole in Lennox will be heard before Mr. Justice Maclennan at Osgoode Hall at 10:30 this morning.

The following are the protests that have thus far been filed here:

Against Conservatives—Center Bruce, Hugh Clark; West Wellington, James Tucker; West Hamilton, J. S. Hendrie; Addington, Jas. Reid; Frontenac, J. S. Gallagher; Glengarry, W. D. McLeod; South Huron, Henry Eilber; East Hamilton, H. Carscallen; South Waterloo, W. A. Kribs; South Wellington, J. P. Downey; North Ontario, W. H. Hoyle; South Oxford, D. Sutherland; North Norfolk, C. Snider.

Against Liberals—North York, Hon. E. J. Davis; Stormont, W. J. McCart; Kingston, E. J. B. Pense; South Norfolk, W. A. Charlton; South Wellington, John Dickenson; East Wellington, Hon. J. M. Gibson; Center Simcoe, D. Davidson.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL

Quick-Firing Magazine Match Added to Rifle Contest.

Story of Bomb-Throwing at St. Vincent de Paul a Fake.

(Special to Advertiser.)

Ottawa, Ont., July 8.—In the Dominion Rifle Association programme this year a quick-firing magazine match has been arranged for prizes amounting to over $1,500, $500 of which has been subscribed by Sir Charles Ross.

There is no truth in the press report that an attempt was made to wreck the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

HEAT SWELLS SIDEWALKS

At Least That Is Assistant City Engineer's Story.

He Is Surprised by Queer Behavior of Cement Walks.

In the weather conditions that prevail at present, soggy humans can easily believe a story that Assistant City Engineer Kirkpatrick told at the city hall this morning. Mr. Kirkpatrick is an authority on cement walks. He knows just about all there is to be known about them. But at the present time he is studying them under conditions that are altogether strange to him. He says that the sudden heat of the last few days has been so intense that several blocks of cement walks around the city have not simply blistered, but have crept, wriggled, buckled and swelled up. Some scoffers doubted the story, but it was too hot to investigate. Mr. Kirkpatrick says it's a new one on him, and he believes that the only way to fix matters is to provide a place to take up the expansion.

THE TORRID TERM

Shows No Sign of Abating—Eleven Deaths From Heat in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, July 8.—There are no indications of an early abatement of the hot wave. The mercury at 11 a.m. was 84 degrees. Eleven deaths and six serious cases of prostration have been reported within the last 24 hours.

TEDDY PLAYS TENNIS.

President Has Thrown Aside Cares of Office at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, July 7.—President Roosevelt did not come into town today, but spent most of the time in playing tennis with the children. This afternoon Mrs. Rosevelt will give a tea to about 40 of her neighbors, at which the president will be present, and to-night there will be a display of fireworks at Sagamore house and an informal reception.

The president doesn't intend to have his vacation at Oyster Bay interrupted, and delegations having business with the chief executive are requested to do their calling by mail. Only the most important public business will be done there, the rest being transmitted to Washington for attention.

GOOD WORDS FOR NURSES

The Prince of Wales Refers to His Father's Illness

And the Excellent Attention He Was Enabled to Enjoy.

London, July 7.—The Prince and Princess of Wales opened the Henrietta Raphael Nurses' Home at Guy's hospital to-day. The Prince took the opportunity to explain how much the King, Queen and members of the royal family had been supported in their time of trial by the deep sympathy which had been displayed in all parts of the Empire.

The Prince added that he would also like to say that those who had watched around the sick bed fully realized how much, speaking from a human standpoint, had been due to the surgical and medical skill displayed, as well as the highly trained nursing which it had been the King's good fortune to enjoy.

GIFT FOR THE KING STOLEN

An Old Bell That Was Intended as a Coronation Present

Found in Harbor at Kingston, Jamaica, Inscribed 'Prince of Wales, 1740.'

New York, July 8.—The British schooner Attractor, Captain William Scott, which arrived at Jersey City, on Saturday carried a bell which is believed to have a history. It was inscribed "Prince of Wales, 1740," and was on its way to England, where it was to be presented to King Edward, but it was stolen after the vessel reached Jersey City. It was found, Capt. Scott, says, on a reef in the harbor of Kingston, Jamaica. This reef is rarely visited, but about six weeks ago the men took advantage of an unusually calm day to go to it. They found the water only eight feet deep, and among the rocks they saw two dark objects. One of the men dived, and on coming to the surface reported that one was a bell, the other a chest. Measures were at once taken to have the bell and chest raised.

In the chest, which was of iron, were round Mexican coins amounting to about $10,000. They had been coined, as their dates showed, from 1700 to 1735. The bell, which was wedged between two rocks, was blasted out, and in the process was badly cracked. The Kingston authorities decided to send the bell to King Edward, and it was placed in the hold of the Attractor, with instructions to Capt. Scott to have it shipped to London as soon as he reached Jersey City. The police were informed of the theft, but were unable to solve the mystery of the bell's disappearance. As it weighed some 200 pounds, it must have taken some time to raise it from the after hold, in which it had been stored. It is supposed that the bell belonged to a ship named the Prince of Wales, but there is no record at Kingston, Capt. Scott says, of the loss of any ship of that name in Kingston harbor.

NO CHANCE FOR MADOLE

The Cross Appeal in Lennox Dismissed by Judge McLennan.

Toronto, July 8.—The cross-appeal of Mr. Madole in Lennox was dismissed this morning by Mr. Justice Maclennan without argument.

Mr. Watson, for Madole, said the Conservative majority as given by the judge on the main appeal was three. The best he could hope to do by going into the cross-appeal was to get two votes and as he could not expect to turn the seat back for Madole, he would not go on. The appeal was then dismissed.

WEST HURON.

Goderich, Ont., July 8.—A petition was filed with D. McDonald, local registrar of the High Court of Justice, yesterday, against the return of M. G. Cameron, as member for West Huron. The petitioner is James Mitchell, the unsucessful candidate.

Christian Liberality.

Toronto, July 8.—The Christian and Missionary Alliance convention, which has been in progress for a week at Munro Park, here, closed last night after special services conducted by Rev. Dr. A. B. Simpson, the president, whose fame as an exhorter to Christian liberality is as wide as the continent. Dr. Simpson made a special appeal Sunday, and the result was a collection in cash and promises to pay of $5,600. Some of the most noted of the alliance missionaries, including Miss Rutherford, who went through the siege of Pekin, are from Toronto.

Object to Baptist Mission.

Ottawa, July 8.—At early mass in the Catholic Cathedral Sunday, Rev. Father Routhier spoke against the presence of a Baptist mission on Lar-ence street. He said it was an insult to the Catholic clergy and French Catholic people of Lower Town. He said the Protestants would strongly oppose a similar move in Upper Town on the part of Catholics. The mission is connected with the First Baptist Church, of which Rev. A. A. Cameron is pastor, and is conducted by Rev. Mr. McFall.

IN SANFORD'S INTEREST

Action Taken by a Mass Meeting Held in Paris.

Heroism of His Rescuers Recognized—Benefit Subscriptions.

Paris, Ont., July 7.—At a mass meeting in the town hall tonight a resolution was passed expressing sympathy with Joshua Sanford, who was entombed in the well on the Skelly farm for four and a half days. Another resolution commended Sanford's rescuers for the bravery and determination they had displayed in the face of great danger to their own lives, and, further, a committee was named to investigate the claims of Sanford's rescuers, who are eligible for medals or parchments. The following committee was authorized to receive subscriptions for the benefit of Sanford or for those who were instrumental in saving his life. Mayor Brown will receive the subscriptions and acknowledge them in the press: Messrs. J. H. Fisher, F, Smoke, R. Thompson and T. Scott-Davidson. All day Sunday and last night Joshua Sanford suffered much pain owing to the development of several abscesses. One on his arm near the shoulder and another in the axilla were the most painful, and it will be several days before he is as well as he was on Friday morning, but this evening he is resting much better. Money offers have come to him from various parts of the country. A Chatham sanitarium offers free treatment, the Federated Business College offers free tuition, and others have written Mr. Penman offering to subscribe to a fund for Sanford or the heroes who rescued him.

LAST SHOT OF THE WAR

How the New Zealander Was Killed After Peace.

Two Officers Attacked by Cape Rebels —Boer Women Prolong the War.

London, July 7.—The Standard's Pretoria correspondent in a mailed dispatch gives the following account of the last shots of the war and the killing of Lieut. McKeech of the New Zealand contingent on June 3rd, after peace had been proclaimed. The last actual fighting appears to have taken place about Deelkraal, ten miles east of Frederickstad, on the Klerksdorp line of railway. On the afternoon of Friday, the day before peace, some Boers, anticipating the termination of the war, raided some cattle from the native location at Buffelsvei. The following day (Saturday) a body of the South African Constabulary, under Captain Fowler, went out to deal with the Boers. The attack was successful, 64 cattle, 13 horses, 30 rifles, 30 saddles and one prisoner being taken, while one of the British was killed and Lieut. Treddennickt and three men were wounded. The Boer casualties are not known. Exceptional precautions were then taken in order that not another shot might be fired between Briton and Boer.

Unfortunately, circumstances were against the peace being preserved. On June 3, three days after peace had been signed, Lieuts. McKeech and Raine, of the 9th New Zealand contingent, which was encamped at Vereeniging, and which had not yet seen active service, left camp to visit a laager ten miles out. They took their sporting rifles with them. On arriving at the site of the laager they found the latter deserted, the occupants having left to surrender at Heidleberg.

The two officers were on their way back to Vereeniging when they were met by three Boers, who turned out to be Cape rebels, and, unthinkingly, believing that the peace had disposed of all our enemies, permitted the Boers to come up to them. The latter held up the officers and proceeded to strip them. Mr. Raine had to give up his trousers, and, while he was covered by one of the rebels, he drew his revolver from the inside pocket of his tunic, and, killing the man by shooting him through the heart, fired at a second Boer, and dropped him with a bullet, which lodged near the same spot. The third Boer, who was standing apart, then appears to have fired at Mr. McKeech, killing him on the spot and bringing down Raine with a bullet in the thigh. He then rode off leaving one of his companions dead and the other seriously wounded. Raine managed, badly wounded as he was, to get into Vereeniging, whereupon a strong body of his regiment went out and found the body of McKeech, as well as those of the two Boers. The remains of Lieut. McKeech were brought in and interred at Vereeniging on Friday, June 6th.

The Standard's correspondent also says that General Botha has taken no pains to conceal the fact that, had it not been for the woman, the war would have been finished at least eighteen months ago.

NEARLY ALL INFANTS are more or less subject to diarrhea and such complaints while teething, and as this period of their lives is the most critical, mothers should not be without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. This medicine is a specific for such complaints, and is highly spoken of by those who have used it. The proprietors claim it will cure any case of cholera or summer complaint.

The C.P.R. will reconstruct at once those portions of the Perth car shops destroyed by fire.

NO PERSON should go from home without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial in their possession, as change of water, cooking, climate, etc., frequently brings on summer complaint, and there is nothing like being ready with a sure remedy at hand, which oftentimes saves great suffering and frequently valuable lives. This Cordial has gained for itself a widespread reputation for affording prompt relief from all summer complaints.

CONDITION OF MR. CHAMBERLAIN

Evidently a Matter of More Than Ordinary Solicitude.

HE IS PROGRESSING NICELY

America Got the News of the New Date for Coronation in Advance of London Public.

London, July 8.—There was a constant stream of callers at Charing Cross hospital to-day, both to condole with Joseph Chamberlain, whose forehead was severely cut in a cab accident yesterday, and to congratulate him on his birthday. Mrs. Chamberlain was an early arrival with a supply of flowers and cushions.

The bulletin issued from the hospital at 11:30 a. m. read:

"Mr. Chamberlain is progressing very well. He passed a good night. Absolute quiet is essential. He will remain in the hospital for the present."

London, July 8.—The news that the coronation of King Edward was to be held before the middle of August was published in the United States and Canada before it was known here. But the London Times and other papers this morning confirm the Associated Press announcement.

From the same excellent source the Associated Press learns today that the pressing forward of the coronation was due to the personal

INSISTENCE OF THE KING.

His doctors were at first opposed to such an early date, but the King declined to agree to any other plans until he is crowned, and the doctors, finally realizing that more danger was likely to arise in opposing His Majesty on this point, agreed to it. They now see the King was right, and that it is far better for him to get through the turmoil of the coronation as soon as possible than to have it hanging over him for months.

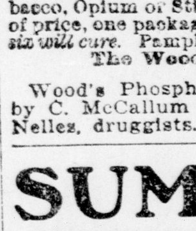

King Edward has determined not to break up the court at Buckingham Palace until after the coronation. He may go on board his yacht for a few days' cruise, but he is more likely to remain in London till the affair is over and then take a prolonged holiday.

THE C. N. R. STRIKE.

Winnipeg, July 8.—The strike situation remains unchanged. Both parties remain firm. A few laborers have returned to work, but no freight handlers of any account. It is said the Canadian Northern are hiring hands in the east, and will bring them out, but at the present time the merchants are considerably inconvenienced, owing to the strike of the freight handlers.

MRS. LATIMER'S LOVE

Bullingdon savored every drop of the golden liquid as it passed slowly down beneath the tie of his neckcloth; then he smacked his great lips and expressed his approval:

"It's good wine, Jones; good champagne, and just enough iced. You got it from Paris. There's no more left. I had the last of the batch myself."

No compliment could be greater. The alderman was delighted. Happy the man who can be so easily pleased.

Independent of her juxtaposition to John Gordon, which of itself was sufficient to make her a little preoccupied, Bella was a young hostess, and, unconsciously, somewhat fidgety about the success of the entertainment. Consequently, Gilbert's efforts to amuse her often fell short of the mark; and as he observed her eye and her attention fixed elsewhere, he had himself the more leisure to fol'ow his own inclinations and improve his acquaintance with the guest whose face and tones he knew too well possessed for him a peculiar fascination.

Gilbert! Gilbert! will you take no warning? What is this very instinct but a placard, so so speak, advertising to you that the ice is dangerous? On you skate recklessly, though it cracks and sways beneath you. In you will go, overhead! What a ducking you will have! Perhaps you will never get your head above the surface again!

I have heard it affirmed by the vanity of man that if you would make the agreeable to a fair neighbor at the dinner-table, it is judicious to abstain from hurrying her at first, and to give her plenty of time to settle before you commence operations. When she has pecked at her food, like some dainty bird, and sipped at her champagne, and has, moreover time to look about her, and to think, "Is he going to speak to me or not?" it is time enough to hazard your first observation. This is probably a harmless platitude, provoking an equally harmless reply; but from that moment your boat is launched. You are afloat on the stream that leads—who knows where? Dieu vous garde! If you get capsized, you are more likely to sink than to swim.

Ada had stolen a good look at her neighbor while he was dutifully conversing with Miss Jones. In her heart she distinctly approved of what she saw. His exterior was sufficiently pleasing to the feminine eye. His manner had a charm in it that seldom failed to work its way. It was far more refined, and at the same time more natural, than that of the men whom she was accustomed to meet, or of those who belonged to the dissipated set in which her husband used to live. The German blood, too, stirred within her, to sympathize with a certain leavening of ideality and romance, which all the conventionalities of society could not completely hide. His voice, too, was very taking and kindly. When he turned to her with the simplest observation she could not but feel and show that she was pleased, and she answered with more animation than was usual in the staid and retiring music-mistress.

They soon got deep into conversation. They talked of her mother's country and her mother's tongue. When Gilbert got rid of his dandyism he was worth listening to; and on the present occasion there was a tone of softness in his voice, a shade almost of embarrassment in his manner, such as women are very quick to detect, and which the haughtiest of them cannot but accept as an involuntary tribute of admiration. They liked the same places, the same books, the same flowers, the same music; and her eyes sparkled and deepened, while her cheeks glowed with the unwonted pleasure of a kindred's converse, though only for an hour at a dinner-table.

"Do you know, Mrs. Latimer," said he, looking straight in her face with frank and honest eyes, "that I have heard you sing?" And he went on to tell her of his attendance at the concert, and the delight he had experienced (only he rather broke down in the confession) at her song; all this quite simply, and as if her singing in public was as much a matter of course as her being there. She liked him all the better. She was pleased to feel that he thought none the lower of her that she did not belong to his own sphere of society; and her own tact acknowledged the intuitive delicacy by which he was certain that she would shrink no more from the allusion than he did himself. She thought she would like him to hear that song once again, not in public, but sung on purpose for him. Ada, too, was entering unawares into the stream. Already it was over her ankles. Let us hope her boots were waterproof, and her foothold firm.

She was quite sorry when it was time to retire to the drawing-room. When Bella, fitting on her gloves, telegraphed sailing orders to Mrs. Bullingdon, and that lady, rising from amid her draperies, shook out a cloud of canvas, and forged majestically ahead, she would have liked to indulge in one backward glance as she departed; but for that very reason, be sure, she avoided anything of the kind, or she would not have been Ada Latimer. Bella had no such scruple. Besides, she was the last of the covoy. So she shot a Parthian shaft at John Gordon, unfortunately lost on its object, who was at that moment reaching over for the grapes, and obeying his host's injunction to "close in."

Warned by Actaeon's fate, we do not presume to follow the ladies to their bower. Rather let us remain and discuss the magnum of claret which circulates so rapidly under the alderman's auspices—fresh, fragrant and blushing, like the cup of youth, to be quaffed as greedily, to ebb as quickly, and to leave at last nothing but an empty bottle.

Bullingdon liked good claret; so do I. He drank it in large quantities, and expatiated between whiles on his preserves at Bullingdon Butts, and the different projectiles with which he made war upon the feathered race. He mentioned from what a small particle of shot a woodcock might meet its death; and the conversation, becoming general, turned upon the tenacity of life in different natures, and at last upon the easiest method of quitting it for the human subject. Hitherto the one-eyed man had preserved unbroken silence, sticking like a leech, nevertheless, to a bottle or rare old port. This, however, was a topic with which he was familiar, and he stated his opinion without hesitation.

"Bleeding's easiest for grown men and women," observed the old gentleman, filling his glass. "I've bled a dozen and more to death while the men were at dinner. They scarce seem to feel it after the first gash."

Bullingdon pushed his chair three feet farther off, with a look at his neighbor which it is impossible to convey. There was a pause of astonishment, and the old gentleman proceeded with the utmost sang froid:

"I was running a cargo—a black cargo—from the Gold Coast. Got driven by bad weather to the southward, and found myself becalmed in the Bight of Benin. Water short, schooner overmanned, and the cargo bad off for stowage; though we had a third on deck, leg-hampered, day and night. It was warm down in the hold; for though she was a sweet craft, d'ye see, she hadn't been built for the trade, and I'd altered her run myself, when I ought to have known better. My first mate was a long-winded chap. I think he never left off whistling for a week; but the schooner headed all round the compass just the same. I thought I should never see a cat's-paw again. Well, the cargo suffered horrible. It's bad to be thirsty in these low latitudes when there is nothing to drink. I was obliged to make away with some of them to save the rest. I divided them into watches, and put the weakest of the men and the oldest of the women into the condemned watch, giving each a chance by lot, according as the weather should hold. First I took and hove them overboard one by one, thinking it was a cool and merciful death for the poor thirsty creatures; but I'm a humane man, sir, and I couldn't bear to see their eyes—'specially the women—as they went over the side. Have you ever watched a face, sir, just when the last chance is up? It's an ugly sight, sir, a very ugly sight," said the old gentleman, with a retrospective sigh, filling his glass the while.

Bullingdon, to whom this ghastly narrative was especially addressed, could not find a voice to reply. He set his wine down untasted, and looked as if he was going to be sick.

"Well, sir," resumed the slave-owner, "I'd a surgeon's mate aboard, a sharpish fellow enough—he was hanged afterward at Porto Rico—says he to me, 'Skipper,' says he, 'it's cruel work to frighten these poor devils before you put 'em to death.' Says he, 'If you'll give me leave, and a couple of hands to swab, I'll just 'tice 'em in here, in the cook's galley, and finish 'em off on the quiet, as nice as possible.' So I went in with him, as in duty bound—for a man's not fit to command a ship, I say, unless he knows all that's going on in that ship—and I kept a bright lookout, though I let him use his own tools in his own way. He was a neat workman, a very neat workman, to be sure. He just slipped a lancet into the jugular (here, you see, under the ear), and they bled to death—a baker's dozen of 'em—as easy as I could crack a biscuit. The breeze got up after this, and I'd a rare good run to the Cape de Verde Islands, but I never had a chance afterward. It was a bad speculation was that—a bad speculation from one end of the log to the other!"

CAN BE CURED

No Longer Any Doubt About the Cure of Dread Dyspepsia.

A Case Illustrating the Marvelous Results of the New Remedy Which Science Has Produced for This Disease.

Medical Science has made some very rapid advances in the last twenty years.

Diseases which had hitherto been considered absolutely incurable are being successfully treated now.

One of the latest discoveries of importance is the successful treatment of cancer by the X-rays.

Another one, more far-reaching, is the successful treatment and cure of Dyspepsia by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The former will be joyful news to hundreds of people, but the latter will be welcome and grateful information to tens of thousands, for Dyspepsia is one of the most prevalent diseases.

Few, if any, escape entirely from the pain and distress of Indigestion, Heartburn, Bloating, Sour Stomach, and other symptoms of Dyspepsia.

We know that cancer can be cured by the use af the X-rays, for hundreds of cases have been successfully treated.

We know that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure Dyspepsia, for tens of thousands of cases have been restored to perfect good health.

Adhemard Coderre, of St. Jacques de la Achigan, Que., suffered for years with Dyspepsia and Inflammation of the Stomach.

He took much medicine, but was not able to get any relief. He became discouraged and was feeling very blue, indeed, until at last one day he read an account of how Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets had cured a very bad case of Dyspepsia.

He commenced a treatment of this medicine and was very soon completely cured.

His is one of the cases which prove that Science has at last found something which will cure even the very worst cases of Dyspepsia.

Besides Mons. Coderre thousands of others have been cured of equally bad cases by the same remedy.

Dodd's Dyspepscia Tablets have permanently establishd themselves as the remedy for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

Henley, England, July 8. — In consequence of the unusual number of competitors for the diamond sculls, and in order that none of the eleven scullers will be obliged to row two heats the same day, three preliminary races were decided yesterday afternoon.

C. S. Titus, of the Union Boat Club, New York, beat Louis Scholes, of the Don Rowing Club, Toronto. Titus won by a length and a half. Time, 8:33.

H. B. Etherington-Smith, of the Leander Rowing Club, beat L. X. F. Prevel, of the Club Nautique, of Nice, easily. Time, 8:43.

J. Beresford, of the Kensington Rowing Club, beat K. Johnson, of the Twickenham Rowing Club, by two and a half lengths. Time, 8:47.

DEATH OF VETERAN OARSMAN.

Thomas Tinning, a member of one of the earliest Toronto families, died Sunday at the family residence, Harbor street, aged 70. Mr. Tinning was for over twenty years the champion oarsman of Canada. He rowed a championship race before the present King at Lachine, during his visit to Canada as Prince of Wales in 1860.

THE TRIGGER.

SERGT. ROBSON'S RECORD.

Sergt. Robson, of the 7th Regiment, established a new record for both the old and the new cove range on Saturday, when, in the rifle league match, he scored 101 points out of a possible 105. The scores were as follows:

First Team:

	200	500	600

THE TURF.

THE WINDSOR MEETING.

Windsor, Ont., July 8.—The first day of the Windsor Driving Park Association's meeting opened yesterday under favorable auspices as regards weather and track, but with very light attendance. The first race, a 2:30 pace, was won by Elderon, with Gold Brick second and Junius third. Only two heats were run off in the second race, the 2:17 trot, when a heavy downpour of rain caused a postponement until tomorrow. The Roman won two heats, and Prince Salma was second in both. Summary:

First race, 2:30 pace:

Elderon, W. A. Sims, Dayton, O.	1	1	1
Gold Brick, G. W. Spears, New York	2	2	2
Junius, J. L. S. Lesh, Goshen, Indiana	3	3	3
General Brino, R. Benson, Toronto	4	5	4
Dr. Scott, McLaren Bros., Winnipeg	6	dis
Viceregal, H. H. James, Hamilton, Ont.	7	4	7
Ethel Mac, W. H. McCarthy, Terre Haute	5	7	5
Dorothy Wilton, Cherry Tree Farm, Detroit	8	6	6

Time—2:12½, 2:09½, 2:13¼.

Second race, 2:17 trot, unfinished:

The Roman, R. C. Benson & Co., Kansas City	1	1
Prince Salma, M. E. McHenry, New York	2	2
Nut Bearer, W. C. Foote, Dallas, Texas	5	3
Silver Heir, W. S. Ervin, Kansas City	3	5
Sybil H., J. E. Goldberg, Detroit	4	4

Time—2:12¼, 2:10½.

Picked Up in the Paddock.

A representative of the Horse World who recently visited Chatham, Ont., writes as follows, of a successful amateur breeder whose horses, notably Attar, 2:11¼, have been seen on the Queen's Park track: Without doubt the most successful amateur breeder of speed in all Canada is Mr. D. McLachlan, of the Chatham Business College, and this gratifying result is due to the horse Wildbrino, and a couple of brood mares owned by Mr. McLachlan. The first of these mares, Beatrice, by Rooker, produced College Boy, 2:14½; Attar, 2:11¼; College Lad, 2:21¾; Jean C., 2:24½, and Little M., 2:22, all pacers, and all by Wildbrino. Another full sister to the performers mentioned, now owned by Mr. McLachlan, is College Queen, 2:24¼, and that can, with proper handling, step close to 2:10, though she has always been a little unfortunate through distemper. Beatrice's seventh foal, College Chum, is now owned by Robert Park, of Wawauesa, Manitoba, and is said to be very fast. This mare also has a yearling filly by Wildbrino and a suckling by High Noon, son of Red Wilkes. If Canada can show a mare living or dead with a better record than this, I would like to know her name. The other mare owned by Mr. McLachlan is Certainly, also a daughter of Rooker, and she has produced College Maid, 2:24¼, Wild Crocus, 2:25¾, both by Wildbrino, and Merritt Wilkes, 2:13¼, by Lord Ferguson. Wild Crocus' mark of 2:25½, was taken when she was a 2-year-old, and is the Canadian record. Certainly's dam was Lotta, 2:31, by Miltonian, a thoroughbred. Another of this mare's produce is College Girl, with a mark of 2:42½, nowhere near her speed, and still another is Collegian, a 6-year-old black gelding, by Wildbrino, just being educated, and showing wonderful bursts of speed. Mr. McLachlan tells me he has been timed by several an eighth in 14⅗ seconds, and that he regards him as the most phenomenal pacer he ever raised. He also owns College King, as fine a 3-year-old- colt as I have seen in many a day, sired by College Boy and out of College Girl, a catch colt I understand. Besides these he now owns High Noon, a bay horse, foaled in 1891, sired by Red Wilkes, dam Midday, by Lincoln Chief, son of Garrard Chief, second dam Midnight, dam of Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, by Pilot Junior. It is claimed that the only get of High Noon, so far trained for speed are Jennie Mac, that got a mark last year of 2:23½, and Nitchie, 2:24.

Probably the fastest pair of recordless pacers ever seen in one stable are Direct Hal and Dandy Chimes, in Ed Geers' stable. In company the pair recently paced a mile in 2:08½, last half in 1:03.

Horse World: Over in Canada the knights of the sulky race their horses over ice in winter time to work them into condition for the hot weather campaign. The mare Birdie Hayes, by Little Hamilton, won eight out of eleven races last winter. Over at Listowel last week she captured a seven-heat race in the mud, and took her first record of 2:24¼, pacing. They don't fuss 'round all summer in Canada with their horses, but start 'em racing right out of the shell, the same as a Polock kid picking up coal out at East Buffalo.

Articulate, owned by George A. Davis, of San Francisco, and trained by R. A. Smith, won his tenth straight victory yesterday. He started in the third race at Washington Park, and at a mile and a furlong easily outran the Derby winner, Wyeth, and the 4-year-old Wild Pirate, and the 5-year-old Barracks. Articulate was assigned equal weights by the scale, but Wyeth picked up two pounds in order that Lyne, the stable jockey, might ride, and the weights were: Articulate, 112, and Wyeth, 101. None of the others were considered a factor, and so it proved. The race was run in going exactly suited to Articulate, inasmuch as it rained heavily in several showers before 2:30 o'clock. In this sloppy going Articulate went right to the front, and although Wyeth hung to within two lengths of him for five furlongs, and weakened only a little before they turned into the stretch, Articulate eventually drew away and won easily by five lengths from the 3-year-old. Wyeth's race gained him friends, as he beat Wild Pirate and Barrack all the way by many lengths.

There are two good horses at the Detroit track at the present time that will attract unusual attention through the fact that they are named in the 2:07 trot. One is last year's champion gelding, Lord Derby, 2:06½, the other one being The Monk, that as a 4-year-old proved himself to be the greatest of that age out, gaining his present record of 2:08¼ that season.

Gus Goebel, of Mitchell, Ont., won a cracking good race at Listowel last week with Miss Delmarch, 2:14¼. This mare has been campaigned through the Lake Erie circuit, and is always a hard nut to crack. She has been stinted to Queen's Baron, 2:18¼, and will be given a fast record over a mile track in August, and retired at the close of the season, writes Frank L. Smith in the Horse World. Miss Delmarch has 100 winning heats to her credit, and has never been behind the money in a race. She is a tricky little "miss," and it would be dangerous for a stranger to attempt to team her. Mr. Goebel lets her have her own way, and the "lady" wins the money for him. Miss Delmarch is a regular Irish washerwoman, always ready and anxious to kick both ways at once.

A well-known turfman gives it as his opinion that Mr. George Hendrie has in Red Robe, winner of the Stanley, Produce and Woodstock stakes, one of the best 3-year-olds that has started this year. The son of Patrician and Noblesse has now won two derbies (Cumberland and Canadian), besides the two stakes mentioned, and in two of these he carried 127 and in the others 129 pounds. He has already won a place in the $5,000 and over winners of 1902, and is so far unbeaten this year. Red Robe traces to the Norice family, from which descended the wonderful Volente and Norfolk, who was unbeaten during his turf career, and was one of the most successful of Lexington's sons as a sire. Red Robe will go from Fort Erie to Saratoga, and be rested up until the summer meeting there, when he will try issues with the eastern cracks, and his admirers are confident he will continue his triumphant career.

Horace Lerch, sporting editor of the Buffalo Express, writes: "As expected the coming of the new race course to Buffalo will mean a general awakening in interest in the thoroughbred all about this vicinity of the Canadian border. The re-lease of the Woodbine plant at Toronto by the Ontario Jockey Club is in strict keeping with the all-round promise of improved sport, and the plans in contemplation for the improvement of the far-famed plant of the Canadian metropolis and the course at Fort Erie across the river will be hailed with satisfaction by followers of racing the country over. It is a source of gratification to find that the Fort Erie owners are anticipating an advantage to themselves in the institution of the Buffalo Racing Association's course, and that they will make an effort to keep thoroughly in step with the march of progress.

Advance Guard, the great old Canadian-owned horse, has started 143 times and been placed as follows: First, 40; second, 30; third, 31, which times, about a dozen of which happened before the firm bought him for $1,200. This year Advance Guard has started a baker's dozen of times, winning five and being second four, third once, and unplaced three. The son of Great Tom and Nellie Van has won in money this year, about $9,300. If Prince of Melbourne, the horse purchased Thursday at George Walbaum's Sheepshead Bay sale, by Carruthers and Shields, for $8,500, does as well he will be a cheap horse.

Toronto World: It is singular, to say the least of it, that just as pretty well all America has adopted the no-recall system, the English should decide that, owing to the recent starting gate fiasco, the stewards of the Jocky Club have decided that if the gate fails to act properly when the lever is pulled, or if the webbing is broken by a horse it shall not be considered a start, and the horses must return to the post. The stewards have also notified the trainers that, in consequence of the fact that horses of certain stables are persistently troublesome at the gates, trainers whose horses are not properly schooled will hereafter be fined.

LACROSSE.

HOW STRATFORD VIEWS THE GAME.

As was expected, the newspapers of Stratford in their reports of Saturday's game, express hearty disapproval of the unsportsmanlike conduct of the Iroquois in the game. When the followers of the game in London heard the story of Saturday's brawl, they could scarcely credit the story, for Stratford has always stood for clean, honest sport. It is now apparent that the hoodlum element, a very small element fortunately, was responsible for the rough work, and that the great majority of lacrosse lovers in the Classic City deprecate such tactics. Neither of the Stratford papers attaches any blame to London, both holding the Iroquois and the referee responsible. Both admit, also, that the Indians were hopelessly outclassed by the Cockneys. The Herald says:

"Of course the Londons were not altogether blameless. They gave some hard whacks, but for the most part took what they got good-naturedly. As a team they can catch better, throw more accurately, shoot swifter, and play finer combination than the Iroquois, and if there is anything left, they can do that better, too."

"Old players who saw the game, continues the Herald, "state most emphatically that it wasn't lacrosse at all. Lest anyone should think it was ping-pong, it might be stated that it didn't resemble that either. But anyway, Stratford was beaten, beaten badly, beaten deservedly. The visiting team was from London, a place with a bad name in sporting circles, and also hostile of old to Stratford, not that this team as a whole knows much about the Forest City, except as a summer residence. The fact that the team was from London may partially explain, but cannot at all excuse, the reception which they were given by the local players. The game was a carnage, and both teams are doubtless stiff and sore long ere this. The referee, who might have prevented it all, did not stir a finger to interfere. The spectators, who should have discouraged the rough play, at first showed signs of applauding it, one section of the spectators that is, for there were those among them identified with lacrosse interest for years, who frowned down the Iroquois' tactics from the first. Later on in the game the very ones who had encouraged the roughness turned against the players who had followed their advice, and jollied them on the side for their inability to get the ball. It may be said, however, to the credit of the spectators, that they did not interfere in any of the fights. They ran onto the field to see one of these, but it was not with hostile intentions."

The Beacon says: "Stratford never before suffered such defeat on their own grounds, and, what is more, they had expected to trim the visitors. It would be downright foolishness to resort to any form of excuse. The Cockneys were much too strong for the Iroquois at every point, and they certainly ought to be, seeing that their players are picked from all over the country. As mentioned at the outset, the game was of the rough and tumble variety. This cannot in justice be laid altogether at London's door, but rather more to the referee and the Iroquois themselves. Mr. Jas. Davidson, of Mitchell, was in charge of the whistle and a wooden man would have been just as capable. The main portion of the "mixing" was initiated by the Iroquois, and the Cockneys were not at all slow to respond. Six men, three from each side, spent long periods on the bench. Fists were used, and a couple of times, sticks. At one time the crowd rushed onto the field and a free fight was threatened, but fortunately, averted."

Toronto Telegram: "London is now getting right into the game. Their defeat of Woodstock followed by a victory over Stratford on Stratford's grounds on Saturday, puts the Cockneys' stock away up. In order to beat Woodstock out they have yet to beat the Baby City on their own grounds on August 9th, and again in a play-off. That game on August 9th will be worth going to see.

The Stratford Beacon thinks Paddy Kelly was the most effective man on the London team.

A team of Oneida Indians from the Muncey Reserve will play a match tomorrow afternoon with the Londons at Tecumseh Park.

The game between London and Paris scheduled to take place Saturday at Paris, may be transferred to London, negotiations to that end being in progress. If the change is made the Londons will go to Paris on the following Saturday.

Facts to Tickle the Fans' Fancy

The members of the St. Louis Baseball Club played rather a mean trick on Tom Jenkins, while they were in Cleveland, which is told by Henry Edwards to the Plain Dealer in this way: The team visited the champion's gymnasium on Superior street to see him work out, and after he had put in over two hours with the light dumbbells and a hot bout of half an hour with Doc Payne, somebody suggested that "Big Jack" Powell try his hand against Jenkins. Tom was pretty well tired out at the time, but he was glad of the opportunity to have some new man work with him. Powell got ready in surprisingly quick time, and he went at Jenkins as though he had a contract to throw the champion in ten minutes. Powell's attack was so surprising that Jenkins was taken off his guard and it was only after some of the liveliest kind of skirmishing that he finally got the big pitcher where he wanted him and then it was a case of making the big boilermaker "jump through, roll over and play dead." Then John Anderson, the gigantic first baseman, who is one of the best wrestlers of his weight in the country, and who puts in the winter months wrestling with Lundin, the Worcester Swede, said that he would like to have a whirl at Jenkins. Tom did not suspect that there was anything prearranged, and after a few minutes' rest he went on the mat with "Andy." The latter, taking advantage of Tom's tired condition, set a pace that would have carried the average wrestler off his feet in a very few minutes, and, as in the case of Powell, Jenkins was a mighty busy individual for a few minutes. Tom suddenly woke up to the fact that there was something going on, and when all hands broke into hearty laugh he grew red in the face, and then sailed after Jess Burkett, who had instigated the joke.

LAWN BOWLING.

THE TOURNEY AT TORONTO.

The annual tourney of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association begins at Toronto Island this afternoon. London will be represented by but one rink, skipped by Mr. A. Parfitt. The rink will enter the contests for the Walker cup and will doubtless give a good account of themselves.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Dr. George W. Fisher, of Baltimore, is the owner of a nineteen-weeks-old homing pigeon, which has just broken the world's record for birds of its class. In a 500-mile contest from Augusta, Ga., to Baltimore, the bird made the distance in a single flight at the rate of 1,050.18 yards a minute, or nearly 40 miles an hour. In a 200-mile contest it made 48 miles an hour.

WHEN CRICKET FLOURISHED IN LONDON TOWN.

"Cricket?" said a well-known London legalite, who has all his life been an ardent devotee of the noble old English sport, in answer to an Advertiser reporter's question; "I think it is the best game in the world, and it is a regrettable thing that it has been suffered to fall into such a state of neglect in this city. Other cities have kept up very good cricket teams for years, and there is no reason why London's citizens should not take more interest in the sport, and have one of the best clubs in Canada."

The legal gentleman then went on to give some interesting reminiscences of cricket in London in the early days. One of the most enthusiastic of local cricketers was the late H. C. R. Becher, Q. C., who brought to London the finest complete cricketing outfit ever seen here. The best local cricketer was Richard Waller Johnstone, at that time classical master at the old Union school on King street, later an Anglican clergyman, and now living in retirement in Port Huron. His daughter, Mrs. Boucher, is a respected resident of Alma street, in the north end of the city. Mr. Johnstone was seldom absent when a match of any importance was on, but in many of the old cricket scores his name will be looked for in vain. That of R. Waller, however, will be found frequently, the reason being that Mr. Johnstone feared the school trustees would think their classical master was devoting too much time to cricket, hence his temporary discarding of his surname.

Mr. C. S. Hyman, M. P., was another clever player, and he one season held the record for the highest average score made in the province. The best bowler London ever produced was Jack Gillean, brother of Mr. Thomas Gillean, and now a G. T. R. conductor. Judge Street, now of Toronto, was a famous longstop. The late Wm. Bayley always umpired the games, and gave great satisfaction by his decisions. Others who took a prominent part in the sport were the late R. R. Brough, the late Gilbert McLean, Chas. Shaw, of Chicago, City Treasurer Pope, H. V. Meredith, now of Montreal, the late Frank Cronyn, Judge R. M. Meredith, the late John J. Brown, W. C. Furness, Richard Bayley, K. C. Hammond and Inspector Joseph Sanders.

The cricket grounds and the barrack property which joined each other, occupied the space where Victoria Park now stands. The officers of the various regiments of the line, stationed at the old barracks, were most of them English, and they proved notable additions to the strength of London's available cricket force. Almost any afternoon a match might be found in progress, and large numbers of the citizens used to attend to watch the playing and show their interest in the game. It would be an encouraging and healthy sign could a similar interest be promoted now in a game which is essentially a genteman's game, clean and free from objectionable features. One which is at once a valuable exercise and a means of inculcating a spirit of manliness and live sportsmanship.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE.

M. C. R. Brakeman James Law, of Balaclava street, had a very narrow escape from death yesterday morning as his train was approaching the bridge across the Thames. He was "on deck" and walking toward the rear of the train when his head came in contact with the iron top beam of the bridge, the proximity of which he had forgotten. He was knocked flat upon the roof of the car but fortunately did not roll off. The wound inflicted on his head was a very severe one and it will be some time before he will be able to get around again. That he escaped more serious injuries is little short of a miracle.

Wretched Hot Weather Sufferers.

Paine's Celery Compound

Should Be Used in July and August.

The extraordinary variable spring and early summer weather of the present year has been the cause of a vast amount of sickness in every part of our country. Strong men and women have been victims; the weak, rundown and sickly have suffered intensely, and many families now mourn the loss of near and dear ones.

The nervous, weak, rundown and debilitated should now devote their best energies and attentions to health-building, so as to enable them to withstand the enervating effects of the approaching hot weather.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound will soon bring a return of true physical strength; the nerves will be fed and braced; the blood will be made purer and richer; digestion will be corrected, and sweet, refreshing sleep will take the place of insomnia and irritability.

Paine's Celery Compound is doing a marvelous work for the sick and suffering at this time. It is the only preparation that possesses value and virtue for recruiting the strength and spent energies of weakly and sick people in summer time. The trial of one bottle will give you happy results.

Sandstorm in Colorado Does Damage Estimated at $1,000,000.

San Francisco, July 8.—A sand storm has caused damage estimated at $1,000,000 in the Indo valley on the Southern Pacific Railroad in the Colorado desert. An artificial oasis of 900 acres had been made by digging artesian wells and planting melons. Judging by last year, when only sixty acres were in cultivation, a profit of more than $100,000 would have been made. Three hundred carloads of melons, for which $1,200 a car had been offered, were almost ready for shipment when the storm broke. For three days it raged, with the thermometer 126 degrees in the shade, and when it was over every bit of vegetation had been destroyed.

IN BLAZE OF ELECTRICITY

Detroit Street Car Surrounded by a Deadly, Dazzling Halo.

[To'day's Detroit Free Press.]

"It was a most peculiar phenomenon," remarked Dr. Arthur E. Gue. "I was standing at my office window during Monday afternoon's storm, when I noticed a ball of fire on the top of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, corner of Woodward and Adams avenues. The ball was quivering, vibrating.

"Suddenly it lost its form as a ball, and, as it fell towards the street, it appeared like a long chain of fire. Possibly it struck the trolley wire, but, at any rate, it seemed to land right on top of a street car and completely hid the car in its fiery cloak. I called others to come and witness the unusual sight, and we stood there wondering at the strange occurrence.

"Then the passengers began to jump off the car, the women screamed and all was excitement. The motorman, brave fellow, stuck to his post until he had shut off the power. Then, he, too, leaped from the car, which had experienced such a remarkable visitation from above."

Miss Emma Bauss, 358 St. Joseph street, and her sister Ida, were among those who leaped from the car. Emma struck the pavement on her head. She was picked up senseless with a deep scalp wound, and was carried into Dr. W. R. Chittick's office in the Homer Warren buildings, where it required nearly an hour to bring her back to consciousness.

"That motorman should have a whole book of merit marks," said Dr. Chittick. "I saw the whole affair from the sidewalk. He stuck to his car with the flames all around him. If he had immediately jumped half the men and women would have done so, and as the car was going rapidly they might have been killed. They certainly would have been seriously hurt."

The funeral of the late William Albert was held on Sunday at Windsor, under the auspices of the Colored Masons. The Detroit City Band headed the procession. Rev. Mr. Ball conducted the service and the remains were interred in Windsor Grove Cemetery.

Questions Answered.

ROAD ALLOWANCE SELLING.—If for certain reasons a township council should desire to sell part of a road allowance, which has never been opened up, or used as a road, what legal course must the council take? The land is worth about $400. What would be the probable cost? Upon whom would the cost fall? How long would it take? Would it be sufficient for the purchaser to take a deed executed by the reeve and clerk? Ans.—The road allowance can only be legally sold after written or printed notice for one month in six places in the township and in a newspaper weekly for four weeks; hearing any person objecting, and the passing of a bylaw authorizing the sale, and the execution of a deed by the reeve and clerk. Section 632 of the municipal act provides for the passing of the bylaw. The expense does not depend on the value of the land, and would be $50 more or less, probably more, if any complications. The cost should be borne by the applicant for this bylaw, and taken into consideration in the price to be paid by the purchaser, who should take legal advice on the title and deed before closing the transaction.

STREET RAILWAY SITUATION STILL REMAINS UNCHANGED

Aldermen Are All More or Less in the Dark.

Committee Named to Confer With the Company.

Fireman Smart Reinstated and Amendments Made to Bylaw Concerning the Case.

The street railway situation is still uncleared; rather the reverse, in fact. Deeper perplexity apparently envelops the way where formerly the aldermen saw only plain sailing. New obstacles have arisen, and with a majority of the City Council avowedly dead set against the bylaw, it comes out of another meeting in exactly the same state as it went in.

The meeting through which it passed was very intense, more so than any that have been held since those memorable sessions in the last decade when an important member of the council was in England. It was a quiet, fairly well conducted meeting, with comparatively nothing of extraordinary importance on the order sheet, excepting the street railway matter, but during the latter part especially a subdued imitation of Mount Pelee in action was housed in more than one alderman's breast.

Ald. Pritchard's was nearer the real thing than any of the others. He was hot under the collar, and most other places. It was around him that the excitement first kindled. He was the baby member of the council—the expression is figurative merely—as he had taken the declaration of office just that day, yet for a youngster he succeeded very well in arousing an exhilarating degree of excitement that, to say the least, was unusual, and once aroused, the excitement did not abate. It remained at its elevated pitch clear through until the climax came by way of a sensational announcement respecting the city's position in the street railway affair.

To return to Ald. Pritchard. Ald. Pritchard succeeds ex-Ald. Beattie on the council, but not upon the Finance Committee. The council names the committee that he goes on. Ald. Pritchard's aspirations, of course, are toward No. 1 Committee. This being the Finance Committee, it is rated somewhat higher than the others. Ald. Pritchard would like to be chairman of No. 1 Committee, but that's neither here nor there just at the present time. But while his aspirations take these Santos Dumont flights, a certain number of his new confreres believe that it would be unwise to place him on that committee. He acknowledges that he is totally ignorant of its affairs. They believe, therefore, that he should more reasonably be placed on No. 3 Committee, upon which he spent the last year of his municipal life, with whose workings he is more immediately intimate. Ald. McMechan desires to look more closely into the city's financial condition, so here, they reasoned, would be the chance to let him get into closer touch with them. But they reasoned without the mayor. If factions are as loquacious as they are credited to be, the mayor distinctly said when this plan was proposed that it is a good thing to put upon the most important committee of the council a new man, who admittedly knows nothing of the business that it has to do.

Ald. Campbell first brought the matter up. He moved that Ald. Pritchard be put upon No. 3 Committee, and that Ald. McMechan be transferred to No. 1 Committee. Ald. Gerry seconded his motion. Then Ald. Jolly moved, seconded by Ald. Cooper, that Ald. Pritchard be put upon No. 1 Committee, and in seconding this motion Ald. Cooper asked why any other proposal was brought forward. Ald. McMechan explained why it was. Ald. Greenlees said, too, that the council had the right to place all the members of committees, and if they thought that the arrangement suggested was the better plan, it was not to be called into question. It happened that Ald. Douglass was away, and when the vote was taken on the amendment it stood 6—5 against it. It was here that the mayor came in. He voted for the amendment, thus making it a tie vote, as follows:

Yeas—	Nays—
Pritchard,	Stevely,
Abram,	Greenlees,
Jolly,	Campbell,
Cooper,	McMechan,
Winnett,	Gerry,
The mayor—6.	Dreaney—6.

The amendment was lost, as it was a tie.

The original motion was then put, and lost in the same way, the mayor voting to make the tie.

Ald. Greenlees asked for an explanation. He did not question the mayor's right to vote to break a tie, but he asked if he could vote to make a tie. A majority of the council was in favor of a thing, but by the mayor's intervention their purpose was thwarted.

The city clerk ruled that the mayor was within his rights, which means that Ald. Pritchard is to wander forlorn of a billet until, as Ald. Cooper said, Ald. Douglass comes to disconnect the deadlock.

STREET RAILWAY MATTER.

Bylaw Would Not Have Had Ghost of a Show.

The street railway matter was the next thing to actively arouse the aldermen's attention. As the council stood last night, the bylaw that was passed at the useless meeting a week or so ago, didn't stand a ghost of a show. If it had been brought in, it would have got a very severe jolt in the solar plexus. Ald. Douglass, who would have voted for it, was away. Ald. Greenlees, who was absent from the other meeting, was present at this and was prepared to vote against the bylaw. Ald. Cooper was all ready to out-do Diavolo in the loop de loop somersault line. He was primed up to do a wriggle stunt that would have reminded the mayor of his investigating trip on the Midway. But the grand contortion act didn't come off. Instead the mayor gave the aldermen one of his heart-to-heart talks, and the end of it all was they did not touch the bylaw at all—let it stand just where it was. The mayor had his explanation all in mind before the meeting, but he became considerably excited, and did not get it off nearly as well as he intended. The result was that several of the aldermen didn't know just where they were at.

Shorn of its turnings and twistings, the explanation was this: Mr. Pritchard, of course, was not an alderman when the foolish meeting was held some time ago. Well, after that Mr. Geo. C. Gibbons, K.C., told the mayor that he intended to move to quash the bylaw, and he advised the mayor not to sign it. This advice was taken by his worship, who consulted then with the city solicitor. He learned that they had better make sure of Pritchard's legal status as an alderman before going on with the matter. When Pritchard became a real alderman the mayor wrote to Mr. Carr telling him that he must put back the Rectory street rails that he had removed. In a telephone conversation, Mr. Carr had told him that they had needed these rails, and would replace them, and put the line in running order as soon as the sewer under construction would permit of this. But in reply to his letter, the mayor received from Mr. Carr a communication in which he said that he did not understand the mayor. The stand that the company takes appeared to the mayor to be that they believed that any bylaw that held them to Rectory street cannot be legally right, and that they are repared to fight the city on these grounds. The mayor fears litigation. Moreover, he has been told that the present is a voluntary bylaw, to which both the city and the company must agree. If the council struck out the Rectory street clause, and the company would not agree to its withdrawal, the bylaw would be invalid. If the council could get the company to agree to striking out the Rectory street clause, well and good. If they cannot get them to agree to this they can bring in a compulsory bylaw. Such a bylaw requires a two-thirds vote; and when it is passed the company has a year in which to do the work. The necessary thing, so it seemed, was to get the company to agree to leave down the Rectory street line. Then the council could go on and pass its voluntary bylaw. If the company would not agree, the council could pass a compulsory bylaw. The mayor said that he had reason to believe that the bylaw as it stands would not pass the council. It would be useless, he said, to pass an amended bylaw, as it would involve the city in litigation. He therefore moved a committee consisting of Ald. Campbell, Ald. Cooper, Ald. Winnett, and himself, to confer with the Street Railway Company, and try to get them to agree to strike out the clause respecting Rectory street. The council agreed to this, and will receive the report of this committee at the special meeting next Monday night.

Another matter in which much interest was felt—the appointment of an assistant tax collector, was left over. The by-law for the appointment was read once, but Ald. Cooper objected to the second reading and the mayor ruled that the matter was not urgent and let it stand. Applications for the position were received from the following: R. E. Turner, W. F. Seccombe, T. H. Dreaney, F. H. Farnsworth, Arthur T. Essery, E. J. Simcox, F. G. Westlake, John G. Galpin, F. E. Wray, Walter V. Onslow.

SMART REINSTATED.

Council Amends Bylaw Governing Fire Hall Discipline.

In No. 3 committee's report, Chairman Winnett submitted Chief Roe's report upon the case of Fireman John Smart. The chief detailed the circumstances as have already been published.

Ald. Cooper strongly advocated reinstating Smart. He asked that he be given this chance, and that then, all the firemen understand that in future similar offences be punished by immediate dismissal.

Ald. Gerry seconded Ald. Cooper and Ald. McMechan and Ald. Greenlees, also, spoke in favor of restoring Smart to his position, their argument being that Smart should not be singled out for punishment that others, equally culpable, escaped. They said also that by reinstating him, they were giving him a chance to become a better citizen.

Ald. Winnett said, too, that he thought it would be better to let Smart back, but Ald. Pritchard was opposed to it, and the mayor left his chair to say that the only part that he had in the dismissal of Smart was that when appealed to by the chairman of that night, Ald. McMechan, as to what they should do in the matter, he had said that the only thing they could do was dismiss the offender. He said this, as he was not going to let Ald. McMechan force upon him the onus of dismissing Smart.

His explanation was the same as Ald. McMechan's, who had before said that on the night in question, he was acting as chairman and took no further part in the discussion than to draw attention to the course laid down for them in the by-law.

A vote was taken, and Smart was reinstated.

In connection with this, the following clause was passed.

That a by-law be introduced to repeal clauses 21 and 22 of by-law 758, relating to the fire department and to substitute the following therefor, viz:

The chief of the fire department may suspend without pay for any term not exceeding ten days for any one offense, any officer or member of the fire department for disobedience of orders, neglect of duty, using profane or improper language, or any misconduct or act, the omission or commission of which would in his (the chief's) opinion be detrimental to the efficiency and discipline of the department. For a second repetition of any of the above offences the chief is empowered to dismiss the offender or offenders from the department.

And officer or member of the fire department who shall become intoxicated while on duty, or who shall bring liquor into the fire stations, or who shall be convicted by any competent court of this country of intoxication, disorderly or improper conduct, while on or off duty, shall be forthwith dismissed from the service by the chief of the department, but shall have the privilege of appeal within ten days from date of conviction to No. 3 committee, who shall have the power to reinstate him by three-fourths of all members of committee voting in favor of the same, and shall have the privilege also, of appealing within ten days to the city council.

The clause "That a by-law be introduced to repeal clause 4 of by-law 758 relating to the fire department and to substitute the following therefore: In case of appointment to be made to the fire department the chief of the department shall first recommend one or more suitable persons and from said person or persons so recommended the council shall make the appointment or appointments," was dropped.

Another clause—"That a by-law be introduced to provide that when a member of the fire department reaches the age of 55 years, said member shall be retired from the fire department"—was referred back to No. 3 committee to consider the establishment of a superannuation fund.

McCLARY CO.'S REQUEST.

It Will Be Seriously Considered During the Week.

The McClary Mfg. Co. asked for the privilege of closing up a portion of Trafalgar street that is inclosed in their property near the river upon which their new establishment is to be built, and the right also to construct railway tracks upon Trafalgar street.

Ald. Winnett moved that the request be granted, but Ald. Cooper objected, saying that the matter should first be looked into by the board of works.

Ald. Stevely put the matter upon a safer and more expedient basis by moving that the request be granted and that the matter be referred to the city solicitor to safeguard the city's interests.

Ald. Greenlees protested against hasty legislation and urged that this matter be considered in committee before being voted upon.

Ald. McMechan said that it was not hasty legislation, as, if the matter were sent to the city solicitor, the bylaw would not be presented for two months.

Col. Gartshore addressed the council briefly. He said that his company were not asking for hasty legislation, but he explained the necessity for immediate action, without which they would be unable to proceed at once with the construction of their new plant. In respect to the railway track they proposed to build, Col. Gartshore said that it would form a portion of the belt line that is desired. They wanted to know the council's attitude before giving out contracts for their new buildings.

Ald. Jolly was opposed, he said, to conveying the land forming this portion of Trafalgar to McClary's or any other company.

The mayor favored doing all that the city could to help the McClary firm. He instanced Brantford, as a city where every assistance is given manufacturers, going even to the extent of building a switch and property along it, which was given to incoming manufacturers.

Ald. Winnett explained that it was a simple matter and should not be delayed. There was no necessity for it. He was telling the council about the property in that neighborhood.

"We want to learn about that," said Ald. Cooper.

"Well, I am telling you," Ald. Winnett retorted.

"And we don't take your word for everything," retorted Ald. Cooper.

Ald. Pritchard was opposed to dealing with the application at once, as he did not thoroughly understand it.

Ald. McMechan—Did you need so much time before voting against Rectory street?

"Now," said Ald. Pritchard, angrily, you needn't buck up against me like that—the first night."

Ald. McMechan aroused the anger of Ald. Cooper by saying that he would have attempted to change Ald. Coper's mind upon this application, but he was afraid it would require a public meeting to do that.

Immediate action upon the application was prevented, the vote against it being as follows:

Yeas—Stevely, Winnett, Abram, McMechan, Campbell—5.

Nays—Pritchard, Greenlees, Gerry, Jolly, Dreaney, Cooper—6.

It was thereupon agreed to have all the committees meet this week. The aldermen will visit the Trafalgar street district on Wednesday, and will hold a special meeting next Monday night.

SPITTING ON STREETS.

Council of Women Urge Passing of Prohibitive Law.

A resolution was presented to the council, which was passed at a recent meeting of the Local Council of Women, and in which the latter asked the council to pass a bylaw to prohibit expectoration in the public streets; also to effect protection from dust for foods that are exposed for sale. The advisability of such action was very forcibly presented by Mrs. (Ald.) McMechan, and Mrs. Thornley, on behalf of the Council of Women, and Ald. Campbell and Ald. Winnett spoke in favor of such steps as they proposed.

Upon Ald. Campbell's and Ald. Winnett's motion, the clause respecting expectorating was sent to No. 2 committee, and that respecting protection to foods, was sent to the board of healh.

The deputation of women that was present was assured that the council would support such action as they had suggested.

In consideration of Assistant City Engineer Kirkpatrick's very efficient and arduous work this year, when both Mr. Graydon and Mr. Ironside have, through illness, been away from the city hall for long periods, he was given an increase of $200 a year in his salary. This action of the council's was unsolicited and unanimous, and very complimentary remarks were passed upon the popular city hall official who benefits by it.

The council reversed No.2 committee's decision to construct no wooden curbs out of the general fund. In certain places the wooden curbs will be built.

The council adopted No. 2 committee's recommendation to refloor with 12-inch tamarack both Blackfriars and King street bridges.

The city engineer notified the council that he had canceled the contract for supplying gravel held by Contractor Fox.
